KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Five armed Japanese Red Army terrorists, still holding the U.S. consul and 14 other hostages, waited at the airport today to fly to another country. Difficulties developed in finding a country willing to take them.

The Japanese Foreign Ministry said in Tokyo it was making efforts to obtain Libya's permission for the terrorists to land there but that Libya had so far expressed reluctance. It said

Japan was also asking Cuba, Syria and South Yemen. Malaysian officials, who earlier reported that Libya had granted permission for the terrorists to land, said snags had developed over such things as whether the terrorists could carry weapons on the flight and the size of the crew. There were reports the terrorists wanted to limit the crew to six, and the crew wanted 11. The crew reportedly objected to weapons.

The Japan Air Lines DC8

which the terrorists and their captives boarded earlier today remained on the ground at the airport 14 miles from downtown Kuala Lumpur.

A government spokesman said two Malaysian officials would make the flight as hostages — Ramli Omar, parliamentary secretary to the communications ministry, and Osman Cassim, secretary-general of the home ministry.

It was not clear how the remaining 15 hostages would be removed from the plane or whether the terrorists would try to take them along. Civil aviation officials said the DC8 can carry 20,000 gallons of fuel and it should be sufficient for the flight to Libya.

The terrorists, masked and armed with automatic revolvers and hand grenades, left behind 28 of the hostages they had held in the U.S. Embassy since they invaded the building Monday.

One of the hostages said the terrorists said farewell to the 28 captives with, "Sayonara. We are very sorry we had to do this to you."

Nine others were freed earlier. Four persons had been wounded during the two days.

The raiders left the 12-story building that houses the Embassy in separate groups, each in control of some of the hostages who walked to a waiting bus with their hands clasped behind their heads.

Police motorcycles flanked the bus for the 14-mile drive to the airport, where heavy security was enforced.

Among the hostages taken to the airport were U.S. Consul Robert C. Stebbins and Swedish Charge d'Affaires Fredrik Bergenstrahle.

At the airport the terrorists joined five radicals freed from prisons in Japan and flown to Kuala Lumpur on Tuesday on board a Japan Air Lines DC8 in response to the raiders' demands. Four of the freed convicts were also members of the Red Army, a fanatical left-wing group, while the other was a member of a separate organization.

The terrorists boarded the plane while their five colleagues continued negotiations in an airport lounge with Malaysian officials on a possible destination.

SMILES — President Ford and Japanese Premier Takeo Miki exchange smiles during a working dinner hosted by Ford Tuesday night at the White House. An interpreter is seated between them.

Miki Cautions United States Against Commitment Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki today cautioned the United States against any sudden change in the U.S. commitment to defend South Korea, saying the stability of Asia is at stake.

"We view the continued presence of American troops in the Republic of Korea as an important contribution to Korean peace and to Asian stability," Miki said. "We trust there will be no sudden change in this U.S. policy."

His remarks were prepared for a National Press Club luncheon which followed two days of talks with President Ford on global economic and security problems.

Speaking on the 30th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Miki noted that modern Japan is a nonmilitary state under its constitution and by "the deep-rooted convictions of its people."

"We have foresworn the acquisition of offensive weapons and will never acquire nuclear weapons," he said. "A rearmed Japan or a nuclear-armed Japan would only create fear and instability among our neighbors."

He also said he expects Japan will ratify the nuclear nonproliferation treaty in the near future.

Miki's views on the Korean situation are shared by the Ford administration, which in recent months has repeatedly warned North Korea against engaging in any military adventures against the south.

Discussing that possibility several weeks ago, Ford refused to rule out use of nuclear weapons against North Korea.

Miki spent several hours in consultations with Ford during his two-day official visit here.

After a Tuesday night working dinner at the White House, Ford expressed appreciation for the transformation in U.S.-Japanese relations since World War II days, pronouncing them "respectfully intimate and remarkably free of problems."

By all accounts, the first day's talks went smoothly. Ford gave Miki assurances that the United States is "firmly committed" to the American alliance with Japan.

He said the American setbacks in Indochina should not be interpreted as a prelude to a general American withdrawal from the Asian region.

A White House statement said Ford told Miki "the United States will stand by its allies and friends in Asia and elsewhere."

Miki, here on an official visit, reportedly stressed the need for closer Japanese-U.S. relations if the goal of peace and stability in Asia is to be achieved.

This is Miki's first trip to the United States since he became prime minister last December. His visit is viewed as a prelude to that of Emperor Hirohito in September.

Since arriving Sunday, Miki has been preoccupied with the Malaysian incident in which Japanese Red Army terrorists held up to 50 hostages in the U.S. Embassy in Kuala Lumpur.

One tangible result of Miki's visit was the signing of a joint agreement providing for bilateral cooperation in addressing common environmental problems. The agreement covers a number of specific areas, including automobile pollution control and solid waste management.

Big Spring residents will get a chance to shape the future of Big Spring later this month when a series of planning conventions will be held to compile a list of goals for government, schools, and organizations to strive for in the future.

The program, headed by the Goals for Big Spring steering committee will list suggestions from citizens at five meetings slated for the 25th, 26th and 27th of this month to be further refined into a list of Goals for the city at a Town Hall meeting set for a couple of months later.

Tom Locke, steering committee chairman, said, "This is not a program where anybody tells the citizens 'this is what we need' or that we don't need something they want. The purpose is for the citizens to tell us what they want Big Spring to be like in five or ten years, so we can compile the list and give it to the people who can make the changes."

Locke said that eight committees have written eight essays in eight different areas, outlining existing situations for the information of citizens. The purpose of the essays is to allow citizens to learn just what shape Big Spring is in.

Essays on Health and Education, Government, Community Relations, Design of the City, Culture and Entertainment, Housing, Economy and Parks and Recreation have been compiled and persons knowledgeable in each of the fields will be present at the meetings to answer questions.

Locke said that any and all suggestions will be recorded at the conventions, and that records of suggestions for goals will be condensed by eliminating duplications for the consideration of the population again at a Town Hall meeting.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets will fire Manager Yogi Berra today after 3½ years on the job and reportedly will name Roy McMillan to replace him on an interim basis. The Associated Press has learned.

The abrupt dismissal comes with the Mets struggling through a five-game losing streak that has seen them fall 9½ games behind front-running Pittsburgh in the National League East.

McMillan, a Mets coach since 1973, was expected to begin his duties tonight when the Mets host Montreal.

Berra, 50, took over as the Mets' field boss four days after the death of Gil Hodges on April 2, 1972. He guided New York to a third place finish that season, then led the Mets to the pennant a year later.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A felony charge against Morris Dees, one of Joan Little's attorneys, was dropped today by Dist. Atty. Burley Mitchell.

At the same time, Dees dropped a federal suit seeking reinstatement to the Little defense team. Dees also filed a motion with presiding Superior Court Judge Hamilton Hobgood to formally withdraw from the Little case and the motion was granted.

Dees could not be reached for comment, but a spokesman said Dees will remain on the case in an advisory capacity.

Dees was thrown off the case July 30 after a prosecution witness told the court Dees had asked her to change her testimony. Dees denied the charge but Hobgood ordered him barred from the trial area.

Mitchell subsequently filed the criminal charge against Dees, charging him with trying to get a witness to commit perjury.

BOGOTÁ, Colombia (AP) — Donald Cooper, assistant manager for the Sears Roebuck and Co. Colombian branch, was kidnapped and probably injured here Tuesday night in an ambush by unidentified persons, police reported.

Cooper, 50, was accosted by a number of assailants when he reached his home in his chauffeur-driven car, police said. Eyewitnesses said the kidnapers fired submachine-guns when Cooper's driver tried to resist.

Authorities listed Cooper's home town as North Platte, Neb.

The driver and a maid from Cooper's household both were injured in the shooting and it was feared Cooper himself might have been wounded.

Cooper's wife and children were reported to be on vacation in the United States.

Police said his kidnapers had not yet made ransom demands or identified themselves in any way.

Felony Charges Dropped

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI is studying some of Jimmy Hoffa's private notes in an effort to retrace activities of the ex-Teamster boss just before he disappeared, a source said today. Hoffa vanished a week ago after he left for a scheduled luncheon meeting at a fashionable suburban restaurant. A man who identified himself as Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, told a Detroit television station that he, O'Brien, was safe. But he offered no explanation for the fact he hadn't talked to the Hoffa family since last Thursday. FBI officials said O'Brien is one of several persons they would like to talk with.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council today begins public debate on a topic it has been quarreling over privately for the past week — how to deal with United Nations membership applications from the two Vietnams and South Korea. A council meeting on the applications called for this afternoon was expected to produce more backstage bickering over whether the three applications should be taken up together or separately.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Palestinian guerrillas rocketed an Israeli border settlement early today and Israeli artillery retaliated by pounding South Lebanon in the third straight day of frontier clashes. The action followed a major series of Israeli attacks Tuesday on Tyre and surrounding Palestinian refugee camps in South Lebanon that left 18 killed and 44 wounded.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Omaha's 1977 mayoral campaign is off to an early start, or is it?

Fifty-two billboard signs proclaiming the candidacy of Jim Haubenschild now dot the city, but nobody seems to know Haubenschild.

Al Johnson, manager of Imperial Outdoor Advertising, Inc., said his firm was asked to design and erect the signs by an agency that asked to remain anonymous.

"The agency has assured me he is a real live person," said Johnson, adding that he has been doing business for about 10 years with the agency involved.

He said there didn't seem to be anything unscrupulous or illegal about the ad campaign, so he felt obligated to take the order.

"I don't know Mr. Haubenschild," he said, "I was told that his identity and other information will be made known later this month."

If Haubenschild really intends to run for the office now held by Mayor Edward Zorinsky, he had better check the rules.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. defense analysts hope the recent talks between U.S. and Soviet leaders may help break a 22-month deadlock in negotiations over mutual force reductions in central Europe. They are looking for signs of progress when East-West diplomats enter the next round of the force reduction talks in Vienna next month in the wake of meetings between President Ford and Soviet party chief Leonid I. BILLBOARDS BLOSSOM

Mayor Who?

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Omaha's 1977 mayoral campaign is off to an early start, or is it?

Fifty-two billboard signs proclaiming the candidacy of Jim Haubenschild now dot the city, but nobody seems to know Haubenschild.

Al Johnson, manager of Imperial Outdoor Advertising, Inc., said his firm was asked to design and erect the signs by an agency that asked to remain anonymous.

"I don't know Mr. Haubenschild," he said, "I was told that his identity and other information will be made known later this month."

If Haubenschild really intends to run for the office now held by Mayor Edward Zorinsky, he had better check the rules.

Haubenschild is not a registered voter in Omaha, a must to become mayor. And spokesmen for the Douglas County Republican and Democratic Committees are questioning the legality of the signs because they don't say who is paying for the political advertising.

Beyond that, no one at either Democratic or Republican headquarters has ever heard of him. He is not listed in the telephone directories for the past five years, and he does not have a car registered in Douglas County.

An official of one major Omaha advertising firms says he thinks the whole thing is part of a project to test the community's awareness of outdoor advertising.

"The signs are probably testing the power of billboards, and later someone will make a survey in the community asking if people know Jim Haubenschild," the advertising executive said.

Whoever is undertaking the campaign must be serious or rich, because the signs each cost about $100 per month, according to Johnson.

Now That's Meddling

Those howls careening across the Potomac River come from congressmen, who have just found that the Federal Election Commission intends to try out its teeth.

The FEC has adopted a regulation which would about wipe out congressional "slush funds." Those are office funds maintained by many lawmakers to supplement regular office allowances. Folks are encouraged to contribute to these funds, and they are used to pay for extra staffers, travel, newsletters, gifts to constituents and the like. In short, they can come in awfully handy in meeting campaign expenses — but since they are not subject to campaign laws, no reporting of contributions or expenditures is required. And most importantly, expenditures by the slush funds do not count as campaign expenses — and so don't count against Congressman X's campaign spending limit.

All of this makes the slush funds invaluable to officeholders. It gives them a clear edge over challengers, for one thing, simply because it provides the opportunity to outspend any foe.

What the new regulation would do is treat such funds as campaign contributions and expenditures. That's what they are, for the most part. Doing this will subject the funds to all the controls erected as election reform measures, and would count them as part of the allowable total campaign spending.

The FEC is dead right. Now it's up to Congress, which can overturn the new regulations by a majority vote within 30 days. The vote, if it comes, will tell voters who in Congress is really for election reform.

What It Was — Trash

After a mountain of publicity, National Enquirer has delivered a mouse.

The weekly newspaper dispatched one of its reporters to dip around in Henry Kissinger's trash cans. Protests followed: freedom of the press was righteously defended. Now the story is out.

Henry Kissinger's trash contained well, trash.

National Enquirer wins the silliness award. This sort of grubbing around in the dustbins of public figures is as degrading to journalism as it is to the persons whose trash is rifled.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Can you explain to me why there are so many denominations in the Christian world? My neighbors, for example, do not believe in blood transusions, saluting the flag, or celebrating Christmas and Easter. Yet, they claim to be Christians of sorts. I have often wondered where these various teachings and beliefs come from. I am a member of an established denomination but I trust that my faith goes deeper than mere church membership.

K.C.

The differences in the denominations are the result of the freedom of interpretation which has existed since the 16th century.

The Bible itself gives us the only sure test for determining the difference between truth and error. The Bible says: "Which things we also speak, not in words man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual." 1 Cor. 2:13. Scripture must be "compared with Scripture," and isolated texts must not be taken alone, and whatever we base our faith upon, whether John 3:16, or Revelation 3:20, these must harmonize with the rest of the Scripture. Most people belonging to cults or sects base their teaching on a few isolated texts which fail to stand the test of all Scriptures.

Too few professing Christians know much about the Bible, and this is a threatening danger to the cause of the faith. The early disciples were firmly established in the Scriptures. One of the most encouraging signs of the Christian horizon today, is the emergence of hundreds and thousands of Bible study groups. The church can only exert an influence upon the world in comparison with its love and knowledge of the Scriptures.

Pressure Clouds Ethics

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Business pays a lot more attention to ethics than you might suppose or even than business itself, wary of being thought soft, might admit.

Companies ranging in size from Exxon Corp., the world's largest, to the corner newsstand have printed codes of conduct in which they commit themselves to God, honor, community, employees, customers and sometimes profit.

But recent scandalous activity involving illegal political contributions, bribes and other conduct that sometimes falls into a nebulous area between ethics and law, makes critics wonder if the codes are only paper.

Moreover, sometimes outright violations of the code are committed by managers who are aware, intelligent and in their own view, morally upright.

One possible and partial explanation for the behavior was found recently in a poll of managers in business that suggests subordinates may commit unethical acts out of loyalty to the firms or to superiors.

Loyalty, that is, seems to obscure the code. The allegiance of subordinates to superiors, in much the same way former President Richard M. Nixon's subordinates claimed loyalty to him, might subvert the company's higher intentions.

Archie Carroll, a faculty member in management at the University of Georgia, chose managers from various levels of business and asked if they agreed with these, among a total of 10, propositions:

1. "Managers today feel under pressure to compromise personal standards to achieve company goals." Almost 65 per cent agreed with the statement, Carroll found, but the greatest agreement was at the lower ranks of management.

2. "I can conceive of a situation where you have sound ethics running from top to bottom but, because of pressures from the top to achieve results, the person down the line compromises." The respondents agreed, overwhelmingly.

3. "The illegal business campaign contributions of the last year or so are realistic examples of the ethics of business today." Carroll found the majority of both middle and lower managers agreed, but top managers disagreed.

Perhaps the most significant finding came in response to this statement:

"The junior members of Nixon's re-election committee who confessed that they went along with their bosses to show their loyalty is just what young managers would have done in business."

Carroll relates: "Almost 60 per cent of the respondents agree that young managers in business would have done just what the junior members of Nixon's re-election committee had done."

Coupled with earlier findings, Carroll believes this response "adds support to the belief that managers are under strong pressures to adhere to their superiors' expectations of them."

Magnesium Need Is Small

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How is magnesium used by the body, and for what essential function? If magnesium is essential for the body, how much is recommended?

I was wondering if these magnesium supplements were essential to good health, or if too much of them could be harmful. — R.C.

Magnesium is one of the trace elements found in all human tissue, muscles and bones. It is essential to good health, and deficiency (always rare) can produce problems in any of the structures mentioned.

But this is not to say that dosing yourself with supplements is necessarily helpful to good health. Consider the fact that human protoplasm is roughly 65 per cent oxygen, 18 per cent carbon, 10 per cent hydrogen and 3 per cent nitrogen. This leaves only 4 per cent of its substance made up of dozens of other minerals.

Of this remaining 4 per cent, magnesium is present in such minute amounts that it cannot be measured in ounces. We have to resort to grams and milligrams. The daily requirement of magnesium is thought to be 200 to 300 milligrams. The average diet yields between 250 and 500 milligrams a day. And, as I said, magnesium deficiency is rare. The tiny amounts needed are easily obtained, since such trace elements are available in just about all of the food we eat in a normal diet.

As you may know, magnesium is used in some laxative preparations, so overdosage of supplements could result in diarrhea.

The important point is that such supplements are usually unnecessary to provide normal body levels, and excessive amounts are excreted in the urine and the feces. They should be used only when diagnosis shows a deficiency. Otherwise, it is at best, an unnecessary expense.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 19 years old. Last year I went to the doctor because I had a vaginal discharge. He told me that there was nothing abnormal about this. However, recently I have had to urinate frequently. This came and goes.

I was wondering if the two symptoms could be related. I get very nervous. Could this be a factor? B.S.

Such discharges are common, especially in the early years of menstruation. However, frequency of urination is not.

The two may or may not be related. If there is a burning or other discomfort along with urination, then this may signal the existence of an infection in the urinary tract.

Your urinary frequency should be reported to your doctor on your next visit, so he can conduct appropriate microscopic examinations of both the urine and the discharge.

Nervousness, of course, can be a factor in the urination.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can lack of blood circulation cause hair to fall out? I've been losing my hair for almost two years. I am a male, 27 years old. — B.B.

Poor circulation can be a factor in poor scalp health, and thus in hair vitality. I suggest you try massaging your scalp briskly but gently from time to time. See if this doesn't help you. Otherwise, I suspect your condition is hereditary, a matter of what is called "Male pattern baldness."

There isn't much you can do about that, short of hair transplants.

So long as the printed word is handled by mortal beings, so long will there be the footprints of that embarrassing (and often-times amusing) gremlin, the Typo.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, the typo involves dropping or inserting a letter so that a meaning utterly different from that intended is achieved. But not all of them are mechanical, for often they result from misplaced lines or from words mysteriously snatched from the air and put down in the middle of something wholly unrelated. And finally, there are those that result from careless grammatical construction, chiefly putting modifiers and phrases in the wrong position. At any rate, here are a few examples gleaned from around the country (modesty forbids using our own).

Reason For Debacle

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — The administration's failure to reverse Congress on Turkish aids leads to an inescapable conclusion with far-reaching implications: the tragic, perhaps irreversible break in the U.S.-Turkish alliance quite likely would not have occurred if Dr. Henry F. Kissinger were not Secretary of State.

THE DIRECT CAUSE for Congress irresponsibly cutting off aid to Turkey is the brazen pressure campaign of the Greek-American lobby. But ethnic politics would not have been enough. What provided the margin of defeat was Dr. Kissinger. Feeling he had transformed Turkish aid into a test of who runs foreign policy, some liberal Democrats were tilted against Turkish aid. Even more damaging, rabidly anti-Communist Republicans opposed aid because of Kissinger's detentist foreign policy.

While not condoning such motives, Republican congressional leaders blame Kissinger for the Turkish debacle. Some even feel his usefulness as Secretary of State has ended, a view now shared by a few officials in the administration. These still anonymous critics are not Kissinger-haters of the far left or far right but responsible Ford supporters who until recently considered Kissinger indispensable.

PRESIDENT FORD views Kissinger as his most valuable adviser and wants him at the State Department through 1976, raising this question: what to do with a Secretary of State whose presence on Capitol Hill hurts more than helps in a Congress wildly assertive about foreign policy?

When Congress ended Turkish aid last December because of the Cyprus problem, Kissinger still cut a masterful figure on Capitol Hill. But Turkish aid quickly became personalized between four highly intense personalities — Kissinger on one side and three champions of the Greek lobby on the other: Reps. John Brademas of Indiana, Ben Rosenthal of New York and Paul Sarbanes of Maryland.

MATTERS GREW WORSE Feb. 11 when the three Congressmen visited Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger, who suggested a compromise to conceivably break the impasse. The Congressmen reported this to Kissinger, who gave them the impression of resenting Schlesinger's interference. Indeed, such resentment was promptly relayed from State Department to Defense Department.

At that point, Brademas and his colleagues hardened their conclusion — erroneous or not — that Kissinger was more interested in executive branch dominance over foreign policy than in compromising the Turkish problem.

NEVERTHELESS, the administration's position improved through spring and early summer as the Turkish aid cutoff failed to soften Ankara's position on Cyprus. Lobbying to reverse the house, Kissinger met late July 9 with the huge Democratic freshman class of 75 members.

The results were disastrous. Some freshmen felt Kissinger was "conceding in declaring that 'you politicians' ought to understand motives of the Turkish leaders. Others felt him arrogant in asserting executive domination over foreign policy. Rep. Abner Mikva of Illinois, more experienced and usually calmer than his freshman colleagues, entered the meeting leaning toward support of aid; he left opposed, fearful that Kissinger intended the issue as the opening wedge to drive Congress out of foreign policy.

EVEN SO, the administration would have won had Republicans held firm. They did not. The 223 to 206 defeat was authored by 39 Republican defection, 27 of them conservatives. Voting against the President were the vanguard of the right wing, including Reps. John Ashbrook of Ohio, Robert Bauman and Marjorie Holt of Maryland, John Rousset of California and Philip Crane of Illinois. The underlying reason: Kissinger.

Should Dr. Kissinger now stay out of the firing line on this issue? Beyond Turkish aid, should he abandon congressional duties and stick to diplomacy? But handling Congress has been part of a Secretary of State's basic duties for a generation.

Thus, the President must decide whether Dr. Kissinger's talents in negotiation with the Communists and in the Mideast outweigh his now obvious liabilities in Congress. Mr. Ford obviously thinks so, but some Republican congressional leaders may soon tell him they do not agree.

A Devotion For Today

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life."

(John 14:6)

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

August 9, 1775:

Two American schooners encounter the British sloop-of-war Falcon off Cape Ann near Gloucester, Massachusetts. Under the command of Captain John Linzee, the Falcon gives chase — capturing one of the schooners and pursuing the other into Gloucester harbor. Linzee dispatches his lieutenant and 36 men in a whaleboat and two barges to take the schooner that has escaped. Angry Gloucester militiamen take aim on the small armed party as it is boarding the schooner through the cabin windows; the militiamen kill at least one and wound several, including the lieutenant. Whereupon Linzee sends the captured schooner and a cutter to cannonade the town. The broadside accomplishes little except to infuriate the townspeople. Linzee finally is driven off on the 10th, but not before he has lost both of the schooners, the cutter, the barges, and half his crew (35 men) — ten of whom turn out to be impressed American seamen.

WIFE OF ASTRO SAYS: 'I Don't Ever Want To Leave'

HONOLULU (AP) — While at least one of the wives wants to stay here, a medical examination today is expected to clear the three Apollo astronauts for release from semi-isolation and a return to the mainland. Depending on the results of the physicals, the astronauts will leave Thursday or Friday, said Bob Gordon, spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It was not known whether their destination would be Houston or Washington, he said.

"I don't ever want to leave. This is a little piece of heaven right here," said Marjory Slayton.

Her husband, Donald K. "Deke" Slayton, and his fellow astronauts, Vance Brand and Thomas Stafford, were scheduled to return to the Army's Tripler Medical Center for what National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman Bob Gordon said would be a final medical assessment.

The checkup was to include X-rays to detect any lingering lung irritation from the astronauts' accidental inhalation of toxic rocket gas during their splashdown near Hawaii July 24, climaxing the historic Apollo-Soyuz space mission.

Stafford, the Apollo crew commander, said in a telephone interview Tuesday that details of the mishap would be discussed at a news conference Saturday in Washington after the astronauts meet with President Ford.

He declined to discuss the matter before then. After spending five days at Tripler for treatment of the lung irritation, the astronauts moved into beachfront cottages at the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station near here July 30. Their families joined them in the semi-isolation prescribed by doctors to reduce the chance of infection.

"We've been cooking our own meals here and eat here most of the time," said Mrs. Slayton in a telephone interview Tuesday from her

Girl Trying To Smuggle Gas To Soldiers Gunned

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thai policemen shot and wounded a 12-year-old girl as she attempted to smuggle less than a gallon of gasoline to Khmer Rouge soldiers in Cambodia, a police spokesman said today.

She was taken to a clinic for treatment after being wounded in the thigh Tuesday, the spokesman said.

Police said the girl, Mong Chamsil, was with about 10 adults carrying gas in plastic bags when policemen told them to stop. They ignored the order and police started shooting.

Over the weekend police killed two persons trying to smuggle fuel across the border at Aranyaprathet, about 150 miles east of here.

Thai adults and children buy gasoline for about 60 cents a gallon in Aranyaprathet and sell it to the Khmer Rouge near the Cambodian border town of Poipet for $1.80 a gallon, police said.

Roundtable Is Set Thursday

The Roundtable for Cub and Boy Scout leaders will be Thursday 7:30 p.m. at the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Meanwhile, a Thai official at Nakhon Phanom on the Laotian border said he is seriously concerned about a possible attack by Pathet Lao troops. The two countries share about 1,000 miles of border.

"We are being affected by the aggressiveness of Pathet Lao troops along the Mekong River, and we are really worried about their demand we halt naval patrol activities on the Mekong River border," said Vichien Vechawan, governor of Nakhon Phanom province.

He said the pro-Communist Pathet Lao claim that the Mekong River is a territorial water of Laos and only Pathet Lao boats have the right to patrol it.

Declining Birth Rate Means Fewer Students

Declining birth rates usually mean fewer students in public schools and the Big Spring Independent School District is no exception.

The local schools likely will enroll about 100 less students than they had at the end of the last school term. Last year, the total enrollment at the end of the year amounted to about 6,275.

Noel Reed retires as assistant superintendent of schools' personnel. His place has been taken by Harold Bentley, former principal at Runnels Junior High.

Other changes in the administration include: Tom Henry, moving from Cedar Crest Elementary to Runnels JH as principal; and Herman Smith, who will double as principal at both Boydston and Cedar Crest.

Three teachers have been added in the compensatory program, balancing in part the attrition felt on the elementary and secondary level.

The school's staff, including administrative and maintenance personnel, bus drivers and teachers, will total about 626. The school budget will reach a record figure slightly in excess of $7 million this year.

New programs include Elementary PE, with a unit of four teachers handling duties.

With the co-operation of the PTAs, several schools have installed air conditioning systems. Bauer school was also refurbished with a clean-up and paint-up undertaking.

Emmett McKenzie will be starting his second year as superintendent of schools here. Registration day is scheduled for Aug. 15 while students report for classes Aug. 18.

Forsan ISD Offers New Policy On School Meals

Forsan County Line ISD today announced its policy for free and reduced price meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast, and Special Milk Programs.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family Size	Free Annual Income	Reduced Price Meals
1	$0-3,200	$2,200-4,200
2	0-4,200	4,200-5,200
3	0-5,200	5,200-6,200
4	0-6,200	6,200-7,200
5	0-7,200	7,200-8,200
6	0-8,200	8,200-9,200
7	0-9,200	9,200-10,200
8	0-10,200	10,200-11,200
9	0-11,200	11,200-12,200
10	0-12,200	12,200-13,200
11	0-13,200	13,200-14,200
12	0-14,200	14,200-15,200
Each Additional Family Member	$750	$1,050

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-price meals and free milk.

In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or natural origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the building principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to J. F. Poyner, Drawer A, Forsan, phone 263-6571, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

He qualified for his Masters' degree at Sul Ross in 1966 and has done doctoral work at four colleges — the University of Texas, North Texas, West Texas State and Sul Ross.

He is the father of three girls — Carrie, 14, a ninth grader; Julie 13, an eighth grader; and Joni, 11, a sixth grader. All reside with him at Forsan.

Miss Debra Neighbors Weds O. W. Gressett

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Neighbors, 2701 Carol, was the setting for the Tuesday evening wedding of their daughter, Debra Mae, to Orval Wayne Gressett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gressett, 1002 Baylor.

Judge Bill Tune officiated at the ceremony. The wedding party stood before an improvised altar featuring an arch decorated with greenery and pink and white roses. Matching candelabra entwined with greenery and roses flanked the arch.

Miss Roxanna Cummings, pianist, and Ricky Berryhill, vocalist, provided nuptial music. Both are of Lubbock.

For the wedding, the bride was attired in a floor-length white satin gown with sheer yoke and sleeves. The princess style gown featured a lace panel accenting the front of the dress. The sheer yoke was edged with a lace ruffle. The long tapered sleeves were enhanced with lace and seed pearl flowers. The train fell from a pearly satin bow at the waist.

The bride's finger-tip-length tulle veil fell from a Camelot cap embellished with lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds centered with a pink orchid.

Miss Karla Grace was the bride's honor attendant. She wore a floor-length, dark pink crepe dress styled with a lace yoke and short, full sleeves. A headpiece of pink roses and a fan bouquet of light pink roses and streamers completed the attendant's accessories.

Mrs. Kathy Smart, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Pam Neighbors of Odessa, sister-in-law of the bride, were bridesmaids.

They wore light pink gowns identical to the honor attendant's gown.

Serving as best man was Danny Smart, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Barraza.

Steve Wilson was usher, and candlelighters were Johnny Shafer, Shallowater, and Steve Franks, Midland.

After the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the home. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a branched candelabrum featuring pink candles and roses. The bridegroom's table was laid with lace over a green cloth. Silver coffee services and crystal appointments were used at both tables. Ms. Tammy Shafer, Ms. Liz Sieler, Ms. Kim Crawley and Ms. Sunny Kelley served.

MRS. ORVAL WAYNE GRESSETT

After returning from a wedding trip to the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, the couple will reside at 605 E. 13, Apt. 3. The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School where the bride will be a senior in the fall. The bridegroom is employed at Berkley Homes.

The invocation was by Mrs. Melvin Tindol who also presented a devotional on prayer. Her program was based on the book, "Resources for Christian Growth."

The next meeting will be Sept. 6 at the church with Mrs. A. D. Shive, Mrs. Carl Bates and Mrs. Joe Miller as hostesses.

Guests Attend Class Meeting

A $50 donation to the church improvement fund was made by the Friendship Class, Wesley United Methodist Church, according to a report made by Mrs. Alta King, class secretary, at Monday's meeting.

The women met in the home of Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, 2200 Carl, who is not a member of the class. Other guests were Mrs. Ellen Schaffer, Garden City; Mrs. Doris Pryor, Fort Stockton; and Mrs. Ben Boadle.

After a business session conducted by Mrs. J. C. Ray, a social hour was held during which the birthday of Mrs. Vera Bumgardner was celebrated, and cake was served.

Prayer was led by Mrs. J. W. Brigrance.

Dear Abby

Parents Rear Children In An Undemocratic System

DEAR ABBY: We are supposed to be living under a democratic system, right? Well, what kind of justice is there when the mother and father of a family can do anything they want, including things they tell their kids they can't do, but nobody can say a word to them about it?

We have to hang up our clothes or we get docked, but I notice their clothes aren't always hung up. We are told to keep quiet while an adult is talking, but both my parents interrupt other people while they're talking. Is that fair?

They are constantly correcting us about how we eat and the grammar we use, but just let us correct THEM, and we get a fat lip. So what are kids supposed to do?

NO DEMOCRACY

DEAR NO: Kids are supposed to do what their parents tell them to do — unless it is dishonest, harmful to others or a violation of law. I wish more parents realized that the most effective teacher a child can have is the example set for him by his parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very pretty daughters I'll call "Lucy" and "Ann." Lucy is 24 and Ann is 17. Lucy is married and has a small child. The child was hospitalized recently, so during that time, Lucy stayed at the hospital with him.

I just found out that when Ann was at the hospital to visit, her brother-in-law took her home. When they got here, no one was home, so he came in and tried to take advantage of her. She pulled away from him and ran into the bathroom and locked the door and stayed there until he left.

Nobody knows this except Ann and me. If I told my husband, he'd kill his son-in-law.

Should I tell Lucy what a terrible man her husband is? I don't think he should get off free like that. Or should I tell my son-in-law that I am wise to him and that if he ever pulls that stunt again, I'll tell Lucy? I can hardly look him in the face.

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't tell Lucy, and don't mention it to her husband. But do tell Ann to let you know if her brother-in-law ever gets out of line again. THEN, lower the boom on the bum.

DEAR ABBY: You passed over the problem of sweaty palms much too casually. It's a serious handicap. My husband had that condition (it's called "hyperhidrosis") for over 25 years. He recalled that in the second grade, other kids would say, "Get your clammy hands off me!"

In today's society, a man's handshake is analyzed. A clammy hand is supposed to mean its owner is sneaky or insecure. My husband's hands weren't merely clammy; perspiration literally ran off them! When he had to shake hands, he did so unwillingly after drying them on his handkerchief or trousers.

Last year, Dr. Donald F. Dohn, a neurosurgeon at the Cleveland Clinic who performs surgery on the sympathetic nerves to the hands (exclusively), successfully operated on my husband, and now his hands are bone dry. Only those who suffer from hyperhidrosis can appreciate his relief.

Perhaps this letter will give hope to others who were told that their condition was hopeless. Sign us.

GRATEFUL IN ANCHORAGE

DEAR GRATEFUL: And I am grateful to you for informing me that excessive sweating is not a curse that one must simply accept and learn to live with. Dermatologists have also been successful with yet another approach.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and take piano lessons, but I hate it very much. My lessons are almost over for this year, but my mom says I have to take piano lessons again next year, and I don't want to.

What should I do?
PIANO LESSON HATER
DEAR HATER: Take lessons and practice! Many adults have told me that one of the biggest regrets of their lives is having quit music lessons. But not one who has quit has said that he was glad he did.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Gardeners Tour Ranch Museum

Members of the Organic Soil Builders toured the Hillcrest Ranch museum and gardens Monday evening. Hillcrest Ranch, north of Colorado City, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Mrs. J. D. Leonard, club secretary, explained that the ranch was established in 1881. Mrs. Smith's father built the museum, housing in it antique tools, guns, knives, and other artifacts. Mrs. Smith's father produced some artwork on display in the museum, among them a portrait of an Indian chief made entirely from arrowheads and a map of Texas made from rattlesnake rattles.

The members also toured the organic and herb gardens, sampling the produce. They concluded the evening with a patio supper prepared by the Smiths.

Reunion Slated Near Gustine

The annual Choctaw Bill Robinson reunion will be held Saturday beginning at 8 p.m., and all day Sunday at Proctor. A great-granddaughter, Mrs. W. T. Bradberry, will be among those attending from here, and all descendants and friends in the area are invited to participate. Those attending will discuss restoration of a tabernacle where Mr. Robinson served as pastor.

Food Prices Still Rising In August

By LOUISE COOK

AP Press Writer
Higher prices for a wide range of food items pushed up the family grocery bill during July, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The bill went up in more of the cities surveyed than in any month since last November.

The survey findings coincided with the announcement Thursday that prices paid to farmers rose 3 per cent from June 15 to July 15. There were indications that some of the increases already have showed up at the supermarket and others are on their way to consumers.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed: —The marketbasket total increased at the checklist store in 10 of 13 cities, rising an average 3.4 per cent. There were increases in seven cities during June and three cities during May. It was the most wide-spread increase since November, when the bill went up at the checklist store in 12 cities.

—Butter, eggs and sugar led the list of price increases. Pork chops also increased, going up in 10 of the cities surveyed, reflecting higher prices paid to farmers for their hogs.

On the bright side, chopped chuck generally was unchanged and all-beef frankfurters went down in six cities, partly because of specials. The decreases reflected a decline in the price of cattle — one of the only farm products to drop in the month ended July 15.

—Prices of nonfood items remained stable. There were only half a dozen increases in paper towels, detergent and fabric softener.

The Department of Agriculture, in its Thursday report on farm prices, made no mention of recent Soviet purchases of U.S. grain. But the figures showed prices for commodities bought by the Russians went up during the month.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz repeatedly has said that he does not expect the Soviet purchases of 9.8 million metric tons of wheat, corn and barley from U.S. firms to cause a sharp increase in food prices.

Other sources aren't so sure. They cite the controversial 1972 U.S.-Soviet grain deal after which wheat prices tripled and domestic food prices soared. The latest USDA report showed that the price paid to farmers for their wheat averaged $3.33 a bushel on July 15, up about 14 per cent from June 15.

Rape Victims Are Studied

CHICAGO (AP) — Women raped by men they know suffer greater psychological damage than those raped by strangers, a University of Illinois medical school sociologist says.

"It is certainly not surprising that when a woman is raped by a man whom she has known well and has probably trusted, her ability to function sexually is very likely to become impaired," Dr. Pauline B. Bart said.

"To be raped by a stranger is a violation of your body; to be raped by someone you know adds an even crueler violation of trust," she said.

Dr. Bart, from the school's department of psychiatry, analyzed 1,070 questionnaires returned by rape victims in a survey by Viva magazine. Forty-one per cent of the respondents said their attackers were total strangers. When the attacker was known to the victim, the survey showed, he was most likely to be an acquaintance or a date.

"The more intimately the victim has known the attacker, the more likely she is to suffer sexual problems after the attack," Dr. Bart said in her analysis.

Almost half of the victims indicated they suffered loss of trust in male-female relationships as a result of the experience, the doctor said. She said about a third were affected sexually, had nightmares, and felt hostility toward men, about 25 per cent sought psychiatric care and 16 per cent had suicidal feelings.

CHECKING WEST TEXAS Steelman May Run For Senate Seat

AMARILLO (AP) — Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Tex., said Tuesday he may run in 1976 for the Senate seat held by Lloyd Bentsen, a Democrat whose own fortunes may be wrapped in a presidential bid.

Steelman, who was in Amarillo for a luncheon with business leaders and to visit area Republican workers, said Bentsen "has turned 180 degrees from his campaign promises" as part of Bentsen's effort to capture the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

"Bentsen and Senator (Jacob) Javits of New York introduced a bill for the federal government to bail New York City out of its financial problems," the Dallas congressman said. "Bentsen has come out in favor of public employees having the right to strike."

Steelman described the large number of Democratic presidential candidates as a "whole herd with no leader," and said, "I think his (Bentsen's) chances to be the presidential nominee for his party may be increasing with some of the stands he is now taking. But I don't think they are stands voters in Texas would want from their U.S. senator."

Steelman said he is making a tour of West Texas to keep party interest alive in a nonelection year and to ask area Republicans whether a race can be made for the Senate against Bentsen.

"I'm interested in that race," Steelman said. "I don't expect to make a decision until November."

"It takes a full year for a candidate to become well known, and if I run, I would have to take a full year to campaign. I'm not a household word in the Panhandle, for example."

Steelman said he knows of no plans by President Gerald Ford to drop Vice President Nelson Rockefeller as his running mate in 1976. But he said former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and former Texas Gov. John Connally would be "high on the list" of people to be selected if Rockefeller would drop from the national Republican ticket.

He said Connally, a Democrat who joined the Republican party during the Richard Nixon administration, "would like to re-enter public life. Connally was vindicated in a court of law, of course, the court of public opinion is the important one. And I think he has been vindicated there. But that can only be shown by an election."

Good, Bad News For Beef Lovers

DALLAS (AP) — Here's good news and bad news for beef lovers.

First, the bad news: the beef in your butcher's shop this fall is likely to be tough and stringy.

Now the good news: there will be lots of it.

"I think the consumer will see her best deals on meat this fall will be with lower grade beef," says Dr. L.S. Pope of Texas A&M's College of Agriculture.

Charles Ball, vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, said high grain prices and a lack of profit incentives means a shortage this fall of choice, grain-fed beef. The shortage is likely to drive prices for prime beef even higher, he said.

Some steak and roast eaters may not appreciate how fortunate they are in today's world of grain fed cattle. Years ago, especially during the days of the open range, many herds of young steers were driven north from Texas to graze on the high ranges of Wyoming and Montana. Persons accepted the result—somewhat tart, muscular beef—as natural.

But then came the popular practice of penning cattle and feeding them heavy grains, the product being tender, succulent beef.

"We have non grain-fed beef which is plentiful and which will be much cheaper than scarce choice beef. The problem for the consumer is she'll have a lower quality product—not in nutritional value—but in tenderness, juiciness and taste," Ball said.

Nearly half of all slaughter cattle today are grass-fed, compared to about 20 per cent 18 months ago.

"There is no question grain deals (like big Russian purchases) have increased the price of grain," Pope said.

BARTERED MARRIAGES

Wanna Get Hitched But Short Of Money

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—The recession hasn't really hurt the marriage business in this southeastern Oklahoma community, but it has caused payment for the ceremony to range from legitimate money to bartered food items.

The Rev. Ross Beal Nix doesn't mind, though.

"I never have turned down anyone because they don't have money," he explained. "I'm always just a little bit flattered that they selected me to perform the ceremony."

The former justice of the peace has had payment in rolls of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters. He thinks 50 cents is about the lowest amount he was ever paid to perform a ceremony for a couple.

"People are coming by with fish, fowl and even fresh vegetables and offering them as their means of bartering for a wedding," the Rev. Mr. Nix said.

He remembers one country couple who came to him to perform their wedding vows offering barter for payment.

"I got some packages of steaks out in the truck," the farm-dressed youth said, nodding nervously in the direction of a pickup where a young girl was sitting. "Me and my girl wanna get hitched but I'm a little short of money. Could you fix us up for the steaks?"

The Rev. Mr. Nix suggested instead that the steaks could make a nice wedding night supper for the couple.

"We butchered a steer, so there's plenty more at home," the prospective bridegroom said earnestly. "I just wanted to swap these for the wedding."

Durant, not far above the Texas border, attracts brides and bridegrooms from the surrounding area like a modern day Gretna Green. Last year marked the first time in three years that the total of marriage licenses had fallen under 2,000. Only 1,885 were issued.

The pace is also off this year with 858 licenses issued during the first six months compared with 923 for the same period a year ago.

The Rev. Mr. Nix performs many of the weddings in this Bryan County community, and he has come up with another innovation which may increase his work load.

He has designed a "Re-Marriage License" for couples who have been wed 25 years or more.

"Many couples come back and want to renew their vows," the Rev. Mr. Nix said. "This certificate is designed along the lines of a regular marriage license, but it is just a re-marriage license. All I have to do is just fill in the names and sign it and it makes a nice memento of the occasion."

Although county records show that the issuance of marriage licenses is down from the first six months of last year, the Rev. Mr. Nix is confident that the situation will improve.

In the meantime, he is enjoying himself "just like in the good old days" when people paid things besides money for their weddings.

And, if the trend toward wedding-less marriages is winding down, Nix is prepared to reaffirm vows with his own special brand of matrimonial ceremony.

Burial Vaults Deemed Superior

A steady increase of requests for the concrete burial vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park has been noticed lately as more and more people have realized the superior protection by the vaults.

The vaults are constructed of dense concrete that can withstand pressure of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch. Tests have shown that this concrete increases in strength as the years go by.

A concrete vault prevents sunken graves, and rust and corrosion are not possible. Trinity Memorial Park officials believe that a more lasting vault cannot be built at any price.

The strength and durability of the vaults are provided by steel reinforced concrete, and a water-proofing agent mixed with the concrete before it is formed adds impermeability.

Trinity Memorial Park has been making the vaults for 16 years. They are available through the various area funeral homes, including Big Spring, Stanton, Lamesa and Snyder. Rigid standards insure the quality of the concrete and the workmanship of each vault.

Bentsen Renews East Texas Ties

MOUNT PLEASANT, Tex. (AP) — Texas' entry in the field of Democratic presidential hopefuls for 1976, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, drove his campaign deeper into East Texas today with appearances scheduled in a half dozen cities beginning with Longview.

Before the day finished, the Texas Democrat also planned stops at Gladewater, Quitman, Tyler, Jacksonville and Nacogdoches.

Bentsen is taking advantage of a congressional recess to renew his ties in Texas, working from north to south down the eastern side of the state this week.

The senator, traveling with aides in a large motor home, makes several stops each day. His speeches have been mostly restatements of positions he has taken earlier.

The campaign swing began Monday with stops in Dallas and other North Texas towns. By Thursday evening, the schedule calls for Bentsen to reach Houston.

At a joint civic club appearance Tuesday in Mount Pleasant, Bentsen ripped through a variety of issues, ranging from his attempt to capture the Democratic presidential nomination next year to energy and the economy.

"The reason I am running (for President) is that I know the rest of these fellows that are trying to get the nomination and I know that I'm just as good as they are," he said.

He criticized what he called the Ford administration's "stop and go" approach to the economy, saying the constant change of direction by the administration was bad for labor, business and farmers.

He cited President Ford's initial advocacy of a tax hike to fight inflation and his subsequent reversal to supporting a tax reduction.

On energy, Bentsen advocated gradual removal of price regulation on "old" oil.

"The President has suggested 39 months for deregulation. I would prefer to see it happen over four or five years," he said. A quicker deregulation would cause considerable inflation, he said.

Bentsen also had stops planned Tuesday in Paris, Cooper, Sulphur Springs, Linden, Jefferson and Marshall.

Many Seeking Permits To Open Gas Stations

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of the Federal Energy Administration office here say they're being flooded with applications from people who want to open service stations.

"We're spending about 80 per cent of our time processing applications from people who want to open a service station," said Delbert M. Fowler, regional FEA administrator.

This amounts to between 200 and 300 applications each month from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico and Louisiana, he said.

"Of course we can't tell them not to buy land and build a station," Fowler said, "but the FEA must approve an allocation of gasoline from the dealer."

Although gasoline supplies are adequate now, Fowler said the situation may change in the future since the motorists seem to be demanding more and more gasoline.

The latest figures for consumption show that motorists used 5.5 per cent more gasoline this May than last, he said.

Fowler said the FEA is obliged by law to veto new allocations for dealers if it feels supplies are insufficient.

The FEA also must notify service station dealers in the vicinity of a planned new station and give them an opportunity to oppose the new station.

The entire process of allocating gasoline to dealers as well as business may end this month if Congress allows the allocation act to expire on Aug. 31.

Fowler speculated that new applicants may be attracted to the business by increased profit margins. Traditionally, profit has been limited in Texas to five to seven cents a gallon. Recent price increases, plus the FEA's own rules, now allow a dealer to make 10 to 12 cents a gallon, higher in some areas.

Fowler said most applicants apparently have not checked with a major oil company to see if a gasoline supply could be obtained, provided the FEA approved the allocation for a new station.

LAMESA — White's Super Market here has been purchased by Almata Thomas and her son, John. The firm will be renamed A & J Supermarket.

Gains Noted In Counties

VERNON — Population changes have been noted within 19 rural counties of District 1 of the Texas Agricultural Extension service, according to William D. Benson, resource development specialist.

He listed the counties as Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Howard, Lamb, Lynn, Mitchell, Scurry, Swisher, Terry, and Yoakum.

He said that although seven counties out of the 19 listed lost 15,700 people from 1960-70, they have gained an estimated 6,813 from 1970-73 according to latest census bureau reports. The others in the group were shown to have a greatly reduced rate of decline.

Benson said that many of the counties are taking positive steps to not only reduce out-migration but also to improve living conditions and encourage new residents.

ANNOUNCE REWARD — James P. Hoffa and Barbara Crancer, children of missing ex-Teamster boss James R. Hoffa, announce Tuesday afternoon at the Hoffa family compound in Lake Orion Mich., a $200,000 reward for information revealing the whereabouts "and — or" leading to the safe return of their father.

FBI Would Like To Quiz Jimmy Hoffa's Foster Son

DETROIT (AP) — The St. Louis Post Dispatch reported today that the foster son of missing ex-Teamster President Jimmy Hoffa — who served as Hoffa's bodyguard — was seen in the company of a close associate of Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's rival for Teamster leadership, the day after Hoffa disappeared.

Hoffa's family has said it is looking for Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, Hoffa's foster son, since Thursday — the day after Hoffa disappeared. And the FBI also has said they would like to question O'Brien.

A man who identified himself as O'Brien called The Detroit News Tuesday night and said: "I don't want to tell you where I'm at but I'm out of town. I'm safe and all right." A Detroit television station received a similar call. The station was told O'Brien was away on union business.

Hoffa's daughter, Mrs. Barbara Crancer, told The Associated Press today that the family still had not heard from O'Brien. "All we're asking is for him to tell the truth," she said.

Mrs. Crancer would not elaborate on what she meant by that, nor would she say if the family believes O'Brien is linked in some way to the disappearance of the former Teamster chief.

The Post-Dispatch quoted unnamed sources as saying that O'Brien had been seen getting into a car on the morning after Hoffa's disappearance. The sources said the car was driven by a man close to Fitzsimmons, but the sources refused to identify the man.

The sources also told the Post-Dispatch that O'Brien got into the car at about 7 a.m. Thursday near the Machus Red Fox restaurant. Hoffa was last seen outside the restaurant last Wednesday afternoon.

Friends said it was not unusual for O'Brien to be missing for days at a time, but that it was expected he would want to be with the Hoffa family during their ordeal.

Hoffa selected his one-time close friend Fitzsimmons to become Teamster president after Hoffa was forced to step down from the post, but they became bitter rivals when Hoffa tried to reassert his control of the union upon his release from jail.

Hoffa was released from federal prison in 1971 after former President Richard M. Nixon commuted his 13-year sentence on the condition that the former union boss not engage in union activities until 1980.

Hoffa is appealing the restriction in the courts, arguing the union ban was a deal worked out by the White House and Fitzsimmons.

Meanwhile, the FBI said it is studying some of Hoffa's private notes in an effort to retrace activities of the ex-Teamster boss just before he disappeared, a source said today.

FBI officials also said they would like to question O'Brien, who was raised by Hoffa from the age of 3, but there is no official search for the 41-year-old O'Brien, himself a Teamsters' official.

The family also said today that it had received no responses to its offer Tuesday of a $200,000 reward for information revealing Hoffa's whereabouts.

Meeting Called For August 12

COLORADO CITY — A special aviation meeting, called by J. O. Dockery, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, will be held at 7 p.m., Aug. 12 in the Medallion Room of the Lone Wolf Electric Company building.

Co-sponsors of the event will be General Aviation Manufacturers Association and the Federal Aviation Association.

HUNT FOR BOY'S ARM

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Police are helping an 11-year-old boy search for the $500 artificial arm he left at a park near his home.

The youth, who was born without a left arm, removed the device while playing and apparently forgot it when he went home, police say.

Bumper Yield Is Forecast For Howard Cotton Crop

Estimated cotton yield in Howard County this year is 80,000 bales, according to the first crop forecast of the season made by the Plains Cotton Growers Inc., and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange.

The county has 85,000 acres planted in cotton. Only 14,100 bales were produced in the county last year. Rains arrived too late to benefit the crop. In contrast, this year has had abundant moisture after a late start.

In the 25-county area covered in the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and PCG estimates, projected production was 2,103,000 bales, up from last year's drought-ridden 1,930,000 bales.

If the prediction comes through, the crop would be the seventh largest ever harvested on the South Plains and could pump as much as $133.2 million into the region's economy.

Most of the cotton in Howard County will be late, due to rains in late July. An early frost, for that reason, would be disastrous.

Lubbock County led the state in cotton production last year with 174,800 bales and likely will do the same thing again.

In an ordinary year, the High Plains will produce 50 per cent or more of the state's cotton crop and from 15 to 20 per cent of the nation's output.

Martin County has 115,000 acres planted in cotton this year and expects to get a bale to the acre. Last year, Martin County produced only 30,900 bales.

Dawson County farmers have planted 250,000 acres of cotton and may harvest as much as 200,000 bales. Only 38,800 bales were gathered in Dawson last year, which in 1973 led the state.

Borden County has 21,000 acres devoted to the commodity and expects to harvest 19,000 bales. That would be a considerable improvement over last year, when only 1,300 bales were reaped.

Intruder Fires At Interloper

A Big Spring woman residing on N. Johnson, reported to police that an acquaintance broke into her home Tuesday night, and fired a shot at another man in her bathroom before he fled.

Police found a hole in the bathroom door and a .22 caliber bullet lying on the bathroom floor. No one was injured.

WTCC Calls For Developing Park

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce wants the Department of Interior to develop the Big Bend National park for full use of the public, else deed it back to the State of Texas. This was stipulated in the deed by which Texas conveyed it to the national parks service, WTCC pointed out.

This was one of several actions to come out of the executive board meeting last weekend in Stephenville. Included was approval of a new public service program under the theme of "Free Enterprise, for 200 Years America's Strength."

SENATORS TO MULL 10 COUNTS OF ALLEGED WRONGDOING

Impeachment Trial Of Carrillo To Start Sept. 3

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Senate will begin trying State District Judge O. P. Carrillo on Sept. 3 on 10 counts of alleged wrongdoing.

The House impeached Carrillo by a 128-16 vote Tuesday.

Speaker Bill Clayton presented the impeachment resolution to Gov. Dolph Briscoe at 4:30 p.m. and by that act officially suspended Carrillo from office pending the trial in the Senate.

The Texas Constitution gives the governor 10 days in which to set the date for Senate trial, and he must set the date within 20 days of the day he announces that decision.

JUSTICE

In order to give senators the Labor Day weekend at home, Briscoe said he would wait until Aug. 14 to officially announce the trial date will be Sept. 3. He said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby asked that it be set on that date.

Seventy representatives signed a petition asking Briscoe to leave Carrillo's bench vacant in the event the Senate votes conviction.

"This request is made in the interest of the maintenance of impartial justice in this district and in order to leave the Texas Legislature free to decide in the future if this district court should continue," the petition says. Carrillo's court, the 229th Judicial District Court, was created by the 1969 legislature under the sponsorship of Carrillo's brother, Oscar, then a member of the House.

ONLY THREE TIMES Only three times in a century has the House impeached a public official, Gov. James E. "Pa" Ferguson was convicted by the Senate and removed from office in 1917. Another state district court judge was impeached in 1931, but the Senate did not convict.

A special House investigating committee recommended 11 articles of impeachment. The House approved three of them Monday and seven others Tuesday.

It rejected one article Tuesday after Rep. Ben Reyes, D-Houston, asked the speaker, "Are you advised that this is the article we are supposed to vote down?" "The chair is not advised," Clayton said.

Reyes explained to a reporter that he felt this weak article, which was approved by the special committee on a 5-4 vote, was deliberately included to give the House an appearance of fairness when it refused to approve it.

LIKE A MOB The article accused Carrillo of using county fuel in his personal vehicles. Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, asked the House after all articles had been voted on to postpone the final vote on the impeachment resolution until Oct. 10 in order that the Judicial Qualifications Commission could do the same job cheaper.

But the House tabled Kubiak's motion, 107-38. Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, argued for a no vote on the impeachment resolution on the ground that "O. P. Carrillo may be the biggest crook in the world," but that he deserved due process. Washington lost on five constitutional points of order Monday.

"We have acted, in my opinion, like a mob," Washington said.

Many House members privately criticized the entire proceeding as one of political revenge by Rep. Terry Canales, D-Premont, an ally of the George and Archer Parr forces in Duval. Canales authored the impeachment investigation resolution approved by the House in May.

O. P. Carrillo publicly broke with George Parr on March 19. The next day he ousted four Parr members of the Benavides school board and replaced them with Carrillo supporters. Four days later he removed George Parr's nephew, Archer, as county judge on the ground that Archer Parr had been convicted on a federal perjury charge. George Parr killed himself April 1. Canales was a pallbearer at his funeral.

GOOD IDEA

Rep. James Kaster, D-El Paso, a member of the special committee, told the House he had begun to wonder if there were any honest people in Duval. "It might be a good idea, if it could be done, to export everybody from Duval County for five years and let no one live there for five years, and then move them back in and let everybody start all over," Kaster said.

Former Rep. Terry Doyle of Port Arthur, hired as prosecutor, estimated the Senate trial would take "two to three weeks."

Eight of the 16 votes against impeachment were cast by members of the 14-man Mexican-American Caucus in the House.

The seven articles approved Tuesday, and the vote on each, allege that Carrillo:

—Used county equipment and vehicles for his personal benefit. 104-29.

—Conspired with others, as judge and earlier as a county attorney and a member of the Benavides school board, to do private business with governmental agencies they served. In some cases this was with the Farm and Ranch Store that Carrillo had an interest in, and in other cases this was through sham transactions with the so-called Zertuche General Store. 127-13.

—Filed a false financial statement with the secretary of state for 1973. The statement makes no mention of the $6,000 a year Carrillo received from a family trust, the article says. 116-27.

—Conspired to bill the county for rental of non-existent equipment from two Duval County stores. 116-27.

—Conspired to have $225 in county funds paid each month to Arturo Zertuche as a county employee at a time when Zertuche was attending North Texas State University in Denton, 500 miles from Duval County. 114-26.

Fiesta Night Gets Big Hand In Starlight Series

By JO BRIGHT

An enthusiastic audience applauded the antics of Chico Rubio and other individual performers, also a lively mariachi band that appeared on stage Tuesday evening at the amphitheatre.

The show, billed as Fiesta Night, was the second in this year's summer entertainment series, Starlight Specials, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and sanctioned by the Howard County Bicentennial Committee.

The specials climax Thursday evening when Western Night will feature three country-western bands, with solo performances by several vocalists and musicians.

Joe Dunn, general chairman, will be among the performers as will be the "Sons of Dunn." Also on the program will be Tom Castle and the Twin Fiddles, along with Gene Madry's Fiddle Band and a number of other musicians who are well known in the Howard County area.

Among those scheduled to perform are Melody Dabney, Dr. J. Gale Kilgore, Bill Horton, Howard Dodd, Bill Madry, Morris Townsend, Don Tolle, Marvin Holland, Leon White, Smokey Burgess, Brad Ingram, Arnold Lloyd, Danny Dunn and Tim Dunn.

The program will begin at 8:30 p.m.

TSTA DRIVE LEADERS — Loyce Phillips (left), a teacher at Kentwood Elementary School in Big Spring, will have a key role in the 1975 membership campaign of the Texas State Teachers Association. Mrs. Phillips, membership chairman for TSTA District XVIII, recently conferred in Dallas with Miss Jerry Walker (above), of Austin, state chairman, on plans for enrolling a record 162,000 members in TSTA state and local units and the National Education Association for the 1975-76 school year.

GOING TO WHIP THE COURSE — South African Gary Player pauses on the 16th green to watch Arnold Palmer putt during a practice round on the Firestone Country Club course in Akron, Ohio, site of the 57th National PGA Championship. Player is one of the favorites in the field of 139 teeing off Thursday over the 7,180-yard par 70 course.

Course Still Villain With South African

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The familiar "Watch Out for Jack Nicklaus" chant reverberated over the Firestone Country Club today on the eve of the 57th PGA Golf Championship, but Gary Player had his hearing aid turned off.

"I never go into a tournament thinking this man or that man is the man to beat," the gritty little South African said. "When I first took up the game I was taught that the course and not the individual is the adversary.

"The course is the monster. The course is the villain. My job is to whip the course. I try to concentrate on that. I don't look over my shoulder at anybody."

Winner of the event twice with a 10-year gap — 1962 and 1972 — as part of his cache of 24 national championships, Player is one of the favorites in the field of 139 teeing off Thursday over the 7,180-yard, par-70 course.

Nicklaus is the No. 1 favorite at 6-1, followed by Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller at 8-1; Player, Tom Weiskopf and Tom Watson at 10-1, and Gene Littler, Hale Irwin and host pro Bobby Nichols 12-1.

"Of course, if you pinned me down," Player added, softening his original statement somewhat, "and asked me who I pick outside of myself — a man must always figure he's going to win — I would follow the expected line."

"I would have to say Nicklaus. He has to be the choice because of his strength, hitting power and the best brain in the game."

"I have great respect for both Nicklaus and Lee Trevino. Trevino can't be overlooked because he drives the ball so straight and is so good around the greens."

As for his No. 1 antagonist, this sprawling layout which has been the regular site of the annual World Series, Player called it "one of the most difficult tests in golf."

"It is long, it is tough. There's a lot of heavy rough and the greens are generally small. It will take a good player in full control of his game to win here."

This hasn't been a good year for the 38-year-old perfectionist from Johannesburg, following a banner 1974 season in which he won the Masters and British Open and finished in the top 10 in the U.S. Open and PGA.

"I have no excuses," he said. "I went into the Masters after being away from the tour for 2½ months. I had two days practice before the U.S. Open and played only 16 holes before the British.

"I've played like a bum in the majors. But my game feels as if it is coming around. I hope it does this week."

Trevino Conquers Fears

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — There was a time when the mere mention of Firestone's sprawling acres gave Lee Trevino a severe case of the unhappy muttering mumbles.

It ranked right up there with Augusta National on his list of least favorites.

"I can't play the track," he said. "It's just too damn long."

And he stayed away. He made a practice of skipping the annual American Golf Classic.

Sometimes he had to play. That involved the World Series of Golf, the fall classic that annually brings together the winners of the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters. The first few times he played he was last or, at best, next to last.

"I just can't play the course," he said time after time.

"I just come here to get my $5,000 check (last place money in the World Series) and get out of town."

But last year, on the same 7,180 yards of lush Ohio countryside that will serve as the site of this year's PGA, Trevino won the World Series. He tied South African Gary Player at the end of the regulation 36 holes then won a dramatic, two-day, seven-hole sudden death playoff.

And he changed his mind about the course.

"It's still long," he said. "It's still tough. But maybe, just maybe, I can play it."

He'll be defending his PGA national title this week in the 72 hole chase that gets underway Thursday over a course that ranks as one of the country's most familiar to television fans. It's the site of two, and sometimes three, events a year.

Its length is its greatest feature. Seven par-four holes are 450 yards or more. Three of the par threes are 225 or more. And the par-five 16th, "The Monster," stretches 625 yards with a pond in front of the tiny green.

Texans Shaded By 2-1 Score

WACO — The Big Spring Texans were edged by the Big Spring Air Force Base, 2-1, in the consolation round of the State Little League Tournament here Tuesday.

The loss ushered the Big Spring team to the sidelines in the meet.

Angels Tip Mexico In Meet Opener

Haskell emerged as the favorite in the State Junior Teen-Age Baseball Tournament after the first round of competition here Tuesday night.

Haskell won its 20th straight decision by knocking off the defending state titlist, Port Lavaca, 10-1. The Haskell squad has ten 15-year-olds on its roster.

In other contests, Palestine edged Killeen, 2-1; Conroe edged Brownwood in ten innings, 3-2; and Big Spring's Angels decked Mexico, 5-4.

Two defeats are required to eliminate a team.

Big Spring returns to competition at 8 o'clock this evening on the Junior diamond against Conroe. Haskell and Palestine will have it at 6 o'clock on the same diamond in the other winners' bracket game.

In the losers' bracket, Port Lavaca clashes with Killeen at 6 p.m., and Brownwood squares off with Mexico at 8 o'clock. Both of those games will be untelevised on the Senior diamond.

Kyle Pfeiffer started on the mound for Big Spring in the game with Mexico and was relieved in the fifth by Javier Hernandez.

Plan your fall Texas hunt by picking up one of these guides and contacting the landowner about permission to hunt before the season starts.

Smith Due Astro Job

HOUSTON (AP) — Sources here today said Talbot M. "Tal" Smith, executive vice president of the New York Yankees, will be named the next general manager of the Houston Astros, possibly this week.

The Houston Post and KTRK-TV sports director Bob Allen said they had learned that Sidney Shlenker, recently elected president of the Houston

Sports Association, owners of the Astros, will name Smith as the new general manager.

They said the appointment could be announced sometime during the Astros' next homestand, possibly before the weekend. The Astros return home from the West Coast Thursday.

Smith, a former employee of the Houston Sports Association, would take over for John Mullen, who was appointed interim GM by Shlenker when H.B. "Spec" Richardson was fired July 11.

Richardson was relieved of his job one day after Shlenker was elected to his new post. Richardson had held the GM job for eight years.

Smith, 41, served the HSA in varying capacities for 13 years before accepting the position with the Yankees. From December 1965 until July 1967 he shared all decision making regarding Astros baseball with Grady Hatton, the team's field manager. Richardson was business manager and there was no general manager as such.

Jim Palmer Gives Bossox Hard Time

By the Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles had the Boston Red Sox right in the hand of their Palmer.

"I can't pitch any better than that," said Jim Palmer after his gorgeous two-hitter led Baltimore to a 3-0 victory over Boston Tuesday night. "It was a blend of concentration, control and stuff."

The Baltimore ace was at the top of his form — because he was on top of the batters. "I really got on top of the hitters tonight," said Palmer, whose major league-high 16th victory pulled Baltimore within 7½ games of the American League East leaders.

In the other American League games, the New York Yankees trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3; the Kansas City Royals turned back the Minnesota Twins 6-1; the Cleveland Indians whipped the Detroit Tigers 8-4; the Oakland A's beat the Texas Rangers 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 15-2, and the California Angels trounced the Chicago White Sox 10-4 in the opener of their twin bill before dropping a 4-1 decision in the nightcap.

Palmer struck out eight and walked one to give the Orioles a sweep of their two-game series with the Red Sox. Palmer, 16-7, outduelled Luis Tiant, 19-11, who was tagged for nine hits and all three runs in seven innings.

YANKEES 4, BREWERS 3

GAME WINNER — Baltimore Orioles' Jim Palmer soaks his arm in a bucket of ice in dressing room after defeating the Boston Red Sox in their game Tuesday night at Fenway Park 3 to 0. Palmer pitched a two-hitter to become the major leagues' first 16-game winner this season. Palmer struck out eight and walked one to give the Orioles a sweep of the two-game series and move them within 7½ games of the first-place Red Sox on the American League East.

prove his record to 15-10. Hunter scattered nine hits.

ROYALS 6, TWINS 1
John Mayberry hit his third home run in as many games, a two-run shot during a four-run fourth inning, as Kansas City defeated Minnesota behind Al Fitzmorris' two-hitter. Fitzmorris allowed both of Minnesota's hits in the fifth inning when Johnny Briggs doubled and scored on a single by Eric Soderholm.

INDIANS 8, TIGERS 4
Rookie right-hander Eric Raitch broke a personal threegame losing streak and Rico Carty drove in four runs, leading Cleveland over Detroit. Raich, 6-6, was staked to a 5-0 lead in the first two innings as the Indians sent eight men to the plate in each session.

ANGELS 10-1, WHITE SOX 4-4
Mickey Rivers collected four hits and Jerry Remy drove in four runs with a pair of singles to lead California over Chicago in the first game of their doubleheader. Jesse Jefferson and Rich Gossage teamed for a four-hitter and Pete Varney's two-run double highlighted a four-run sixth, leading Chicago's victory in the second game.

Bosman Beginning To Earn His Keep

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Dick Bosman has pitched for losers nine years but the way he performed Tuesday night in 90-degree heat his World Series playoff dreams may be just around the corner.

And did the defending champion Oakland A's ever need Bosman, considering the way he was battered about like a church softball team in the nightcap of a doubleheader against the Texas Rangers. Bosman, taking the mound for the first time in 10 days, handcuffed his former teammates on two hits over eight and one-third innings to gain his seventh decision against just three losses—the only one at Oakland since his trade from Cleveland.

With relief help from Rolfe Fingers, the A's downed the Rangers 3-2 in the first game and then took a 17-hit pounding, including a grand slam home run by Roy Howell, in a 15-2 Rangers victory in the second game.

Howell also hit a solo homer in the nightcap as lefty Clyde Wright retired the first 15 Oakland hitters, before coughing up a leadoff home run to Angel Mangual to lead off the sixth inning. It was Mangual's first homer of the season.

Wright coasted to his third victory in seven decisions on a six-hitter, with Sonny Seibert suffering the loss. But piteer Jim Todd, Oakland Manager Alvin Dark wanted to rest his bullpen, so he let Todd stay in for three innings in which the Rangers combed him for nine runs on 10 hits.

The loss in the nightcap was the worst suffered by Oakland since 1973.

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Rain Boots, a filly who seems to run hot and cold, gets back into the Ruidoso Downs spotlight in Thursday's allowance topper.

The 5½-furlong sprint for three- and four-year-old distaffers packs a purse of $3,100 and headlines a 12-race agenda which starts unreeing at 1:30 p.m.

Weekend turf action in the cool pines extends through Sunday. Two stakes are on the slate. Saturday's program will be sparked by the $7,500-added Three Bars Handicap at 400 yards. On Sunday, homebred two-year-olds mix it up in the $34,705 Rio Grande Futurity at six furlongs.

In Thursday's main showdown, Rain Boots will break from the No. 2 slot with Robert Gibboney in a 109-pound package. The filly is owned jointly by Nigel Montano, Roger Peterson and Jerry Chandler of Albuquerque.

Last time out, Rain Boots was launched as a 5-2 shot in a field of $6,500 claimers and turned in a good front-running effort while settling for third. Before that, however, the filly ended up a well-beaten sixth.

The story of Rain Boots appears to be a mix of sharp and lackluster performances. For example, earlier in the meeting, she turned in back-to-back live efforts, ending up second and third.

But prior to those two, the filly ended up sixth — 18 lengths off the pace. But she went against such crackcrack company as Arran Duncie in that one.

Jeff Severson To Broncos

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers have traded cornerback Jeff Severson to the Denver Broncos and acquired tight end Bob Adams from the New England Patriots.

The Oilers acquired an undisclosed draft choice for Severson and gave up an undisclosed draft choice for Adams in the Tuesday transaction.

Bonham, Cubs Battered By Philadelphia, 13-5

By the Associated Press

It was first and 10 for Philadelphia. Unfortunately for the Chicago Cubs, it wasn't the Philadelphia Eagles they were playing, it was the Phillies. And the game was baseball.

Bill Bonham started Tuesday night's game for the Cubs. He never knew what hit him.

What hit him, in succession, was Dave Cash, Larry Bowa, Garry Maddox, Greg Luzinski, Jay Johnstone, Tommy Hutton and Mike Schmidt.

There was no call for unnecessary roughness. The only call was for reliever Ed Crosby, who might well have been covering in the Cubs' bullpen.

Johnny Oates, Maddox and Johnstone proceeded to hit him, too, and when the first-inning carnage was complete, the Phillies had 10 hits — the first eight in a row — and 10 runs. The other eight innings were academic. Philadelphia walked to a 13-5 victory.

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 6-1, Los Angeles shut out Atlanta 5-0, Cincinnati defeated San Francisco 6-3, San Diego edged Houston 6-5 in 10 innings and, in a twin-night doubleheader, Montreal blanked New York twice by 7-0 scores.

PIRATES 6, CARDS 1
Despite the offensive explosion, the Phils failed to cut into Pittsburgh's 4½-game lead in the East Division. Richie Zisk, Duffy Dyer and Bill Robinson made sure of that, driving in two runs apiece to beat St. Louis.

Dyer and Robinson each had two-run trips while Zisk divided his work with a double and a homer to back Jim Rooker's seven-hitter.

DODGERS 5, BRAVES 0
Like the Phils, the Dodgers came out on top but went nowhere in the standings, remaining 15½ games back of Cincinnati in the West.

Don Sutton blitzed the Braves with a five-hitter to chalk up his 40th career shutout and become the NL's first 15-game winner. Jimmy Wynn's 16th homer gave him all he needed.

REDS 6, GIANTS 3
Cesar Geronimo hit a tie-breaking single in the seventh inning and kicked in with an RBI single in a two-run eighth to beat the Giants and keep Cincinnati's Big Red Machine rolling.

PADRES 6, ASTROS 5
It was a rolling ball that knocked Houston off the tracks against the Padres. Bobby Tolan singled with two out in the 10th and moved to second on a balk before Fred Kendall hit a roller to shortstop Jerry Granger.

WORLDWIDE EPIDEMIC

Sexually Transmitted Diseases On The Rise

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
LONDON (AP) — One by one, Dr. Ambrose King ticked off the roster of what specialists now call the STD — sexually transmitted diseases.

There are at least 14 of them, and they've exploded into a worldwide epidemic. STD is a more exact, more encompassing word for VD or venereal disease. It embraces gonorrhea and syphilis, of course... but also trichomonas... herpes virus... chlamydia... genital warts... even hepatitis.

And around the world are increasing except perhaps for syphilis, says King, who has been what he terms "a pox doctor" in London for nearly 50 years.

"The public would panic if any other disease were advancing at the rate gonorrhea is," declares Dr. Bruce Webster of New York Hospital-Cornell University Medical College.

He and King were among specialists sharing the latest knowledge and concerns here at a recent Anglo-American Conference on Sexually Transmitted Diseases, with some amplifying their remarks in interviews.

How casual sex can speed STD was illustrated in one British study that found that 1,639 persons had become infected from one source, in a chain reaction.

Perhaps 800,000 American women have gonorrhea and don't know it, and can pass it on to sex partners.

It's not true that women do not have warning symptoms of gonorrhea, said Dr. King K. Holmes of the University of Washington, Seattle. Many do, and could get early treatment, he said.

Further, said Holmes, 2 to 3 per cent of men who get gonorrhea do not have telltale symptoms, and can unwittingly infect women or homosexual partners. Other reports put this far higher.

In Africa, up to 20 to 40 per cent of women of child-bearing age have some form of STD, said Dr. G.M. Antal of the World Health Organization in Geneva. He urged better worldwide reporting of STD.

On another worrisome side, Dr. Andrew Falkow of the University of Washington reported that resistance to antibiotics by gonococci germs has been gradually increasing in many parts of the world. Potentially, the resistance could burgeon to put the disease out of control.

Delegates agreed that the public in general is not well enough aware of the terrible costs of STD in causing sickness, death, sterility, miscarriage, nerve damage

STD CLIMBING — Chart illustrates the incidence of venereal diseases in the United States since 1950, according to Public Health Service figures. Specialists say there are at least 14 of what they refer to as STD — sexually transmitted diseases — and they have exploded into a worldwide epidemic.

symptoms at all. It's caused by an organism midway between a virus and bacterium. While many women may not know they are carriers, it can cause serious pelvic disease in women, arthritis and heart troubles, and during birth the organism may enter a baby's eyes, causing conjunctivitis. Routine use of drugs in newborn eyes takes care of it. Tetracycline is the main treatment for men and women.

—Nonspecific urethritis or NSU, also known as nongonococcal urethritis. Chlamydia is known to cause many cases, but others stem from other organisms. It affects both men and women, and its incidence is probably under-reported, says Wiesner.

—Genital warts "are common throughout the world, and becoming commoner," says Dr. David Oriel of University College Hospital, London. In the 1970-74 U.S. study, one in five women was found to have genital warts, which appear to be a variant of common skin warts. One or more of a few drugs may help in treatment, and occasionally the warts disappear spontaneously. Half the people with genital warts have some other STD at the same time.

—Candida albicans is a fungus disease that can invade the vagina, and other mucous membrane tissue. —Chancroids are soft sores or ulcers on the genitals. They are caused by a bacterium different from the spirochete.

—Public lice or "crabs" are not uncommon. Victims may seek their own treatment, saying nothing about their problem.

—Scabies is an inflammation caused by a mite, and specialists say they are seeing more cases of it recently.

—Lymphogranuloma venereum is an infection of lymph nodes in the groin area caused by an organism resembling those causing psittacosis—parrot fever—and trachoma, a serious eye infection.

—Granuloma inguinale is a chronic, progressive disease involving the skin and lymphatics, marked by small, round swellings in the groin area.

—Hepatitis, the destructive liver disease caused by a virus, now is being found to be transmitted sexually, but just how is not yet clear. The virus is present at times in blood, saliva and semen.

STD rarely goes singly, so a person having one should be checked to see if another one is present requiring treatment.

Why the STD explosion? More people travel now to other lands, or far from home and engage in sex. Some blame the so-called sexual revolution. And, says Dr. Richard Willcox of St. Mary's Hospital in London, while "the young man has always sown his wild oats," the young woman had more family and social brakes on her sexual behavior, including fear of pregnancy.

The Pill and IUD can prevent pregnancy, but not transmission of some STD.

There are so many STD that "it may justly be stated that with very few exceptions, all society is at risk at some time" of contracting one, Willcox remarks.

"The difference between those who contract no infection in their life and many of those who do so but once may be dictated more by luck than behavior."

PROPOSED CONSTITUTION

Briscoe Undecided On Three Articles

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The executive, legislative and finance articles of the proposed new state constitution are causing Gov. Dolph Briscoe "concern."

But Briscoe told reporters he has not yet made up his mind on whether he will oppose adoption of those articles.

The governor spoke at an impromptu news conference Tuesday after accepting an impeachment resolution against State District Judge O. P. Carrillo from Speaker Bill Clayton.

Briscoe said he definitely is opposed to annual legislative sessions, which the legislative article would require.

But he said would have to "balance out" the parts of the document he likes with those he dislikes to see how he will finally stand on it.

In answer to a question, Briscoe said he "certainly was something to consider" whether opposition by the governor to any portion of the constitution might jeopardize the entire document.

"There are many things to weigh... It's an extremely difficult decision for me to make. There's nothing easy about it," he said.

Asked if he had any reaction to Comptroller Bob Bullock's characterization of Briscoe's and other top Democrats' participation in the fund-raising dinner for Republican John Connally as "ridiculous," the governor said: "Well, I'm a Democrat, of course. I certainly would do it if it was done over again. I think it was proper to pay respect to a man who has done a lot for Texas."

The newspaper reported in a story from its Austin bureau quoted Arlington Police Chief Herman Perry as saying, however, that the surveillance equipment — a portable television camera and recorder — has never been used for campus surveillance.

Perry also said surveillance of such meetings by plainclothes policemen, a long record of which was compiled by the Arlington police to show the need for federal funding for the portable TV equipment, has been discontinued since campus unrest "died down."

The Post said Arlington police received a $25,000 grant of federal law enforcement assistance funds from the Texas Criminal Justice Council (now the criminal justice division of the governor's office) Oct. 8, 1971. The grant was to help the department buy $33,360 worth of equipment, including a closed-circuit TV system.

The Post said the grant application said the portable units would be used to provide "on-scene information on individuals arrested, surveillance locations, scenes and disturbances, riots, subversive groups and their activities."

"Naturally, a university of this size attracts a certain fringe element of undesirable as well as desirables as well as desirables," the application stated. "It also contains student elements whose activities demand surveillance and are associated with it all the 'campus problems' of today."

The Post said the outline listed scores of UT-Arlington meetings "requiring surveillance" in the years 1965 through part of 1971.

File $5 Million In Tax Liens

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state comptroller has filed about $5 million in tax liens against Coastal States Producing Co. and Lo Vaca Gathering Co. to protect state and local claims for sales taxes.

A spokesman for Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday the liens were filed the last two weeks with county clerks of Bexar (San Antonio), Harris (Houston) and Nueces (Corpus Christi) Counties. The liens would give the state a prior legal claim on any assets of the firms in the case of any bankruptcy proceedings or sale of holdings.

John Ricketson, a native of Winter Park, began his newspaper career as a classified advertising salesman for the Ocala Star-Banner in 1965.

Spying On Campus Reported

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post said today records showing spying on University of Texas at Arlington campus meetings were used by Arlington police as partial justification for obtaining a federal grant for electronic surveillance equipment.

The newspaper reported in a story from its Austin bureau quoted Arlington Police Chief Herman Perry as saying, however, that the surveillance equipment — a portable television camera and recorder — has never been used for campus surveillance.

Perry also said surveillance of such meetings by plainclothes policemen, a long record of which was compiled by the Arlington police to show the need for federal funding for the portable TV equipment, has been discontinued since campus unrest "died down."

Couple Of CIA's Front Operations Profitable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency has made significant profits on two of its front operations, CIA Director William E. Colby testified today.

Colby told the House intelligence committee in prepared testimony that the CIA made considerable profits from Air America, an airline that aided CIA efforts in Southeast Asia, and from a CIA pension fund.

Air America is being disposed of while the pension fund continues to operate, although Colby said the profits have been turned into the Treasury since 1973. Colby did not specify the profit levels.

Most of the CIA's front operations, which the agency calls "proprietary," have been unprofitable, the director said.

"I foresee a continuing need to use the proprietary mechanism to further accomplishment of agency operations," Colby said.

Colby defined "proprietary" as "apparently commercial entities that are in reality controlled by the agency." He said, "Such companies provide cover and support for clandestine activities and enable us to carry out administrative tasks discreetly."

Most proprietaries have fewer than ten employees, but "a very few of our former proprietaries, such as Radio Free Europe and Air America, have been fairly large entities."

The pension fund was described by Colby as "a financial enterprise which enables the agency to administer certain sensitive trusts, annuities, escrows and insurance arrangements without attribution to the agency. It enables us to insure with a controlled company some of our activities we could not expose to regular insurance companies. It enables us to pay annuities to individuals whose links with the U.S. government must remain secret."

In the past, the proprietary companies retained their profits, Colby said. The intelligence chief said that by 1973 "accumulated profits amounted to a considerable sum" so the excess was reported to Congress and used to reduce the amount appropriated.

Deputy Is Arrested

MIDLAND — A Midland County sheriff's deputy whose references checked out favorably when hired here three months ago was in jail Tuesday under $20,000 bond in connection with a burglary in Mena, Ark., in October, 1973.

Alvin Simmons, 35, was arrested Monday by fellow deputies Mickey Clark and Bill Cornell.

Simmons was taken into custody on a warrant from Polk County, Ark.

Mena police said $150 was taken in the burglary. Simmons and one other man were charged in connection with the incident. The other man was apprehended in Polk County Thursday and later released on $20,000 bond.

Midland County Sheriff Ed Darnell said that Simmons' references were checked when he was added to the force about three months ago.

Simmons was a member of the Mena Police Department at the time of the burglary. Sheriff Darnell said.

Herman Picked For AP Post

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Steve Herman, 28, a newsman with The Associated Press for five years, has been named Indiana AP sports editor.

However, the CIA's general counsel advised that this did not constitute the full appropriations process and "subsequent profits have been and will be delivered to the Treasury," Colby said.

A Pentagon official was quoted as telling the committee Tuesday that two U.S. intelligence agencies split over whether Egyptian troop movements in 1973 meant maneuvers or an attack.

Dr. Robert C. Hall, assistant secretary of defense for intelligence, said publicly that the advance intelligence also was discounted by Israeli officials. The Israeli officials have admitted they were caught by surprise by the Egyptian attack, which set off a Mideast war.

Hall refused to say if the disagreement was between the U.S. military intelligence agencies and the CIA. Colby also refused Tuesday to say if the CIA was one of the two agencies.

"These things happen," Colby said. "It's a complicated situation."

Hall told the committee that "one agency was absolutely convinced there was not going to be a war and another believed war was imminent."

"It was a question of judgment in terms of what the information meant," he said later.

"The Israelis did not believe the information," he said. "One of our agencies did and one of our agencies did not."

Committee members said Hall told them in closed session that the disagreement was whether Egyptian build-ups were for war or for maneuvers.

One member said it was clear from Hall's secret testimony that the agency that accurately predicted the war was the National Security Agency, whose jobs include gathering intelligence from military radio and other communications.

Members said Hall did not tell them in closed session what agency predicted there would not be a war.

The assistant secretary disclosed the split in arguing that duplicating intelligence systems often are needed because they give decision makers more than one point of view.

Johnson Is Beautiful Set Free

LAMESA — A jury found local service station attendant Odell Johnson innocent of assault with intent to murder here Tuesday in 106th District Court.

Johnson, 30, was accused of shooting 27-year-old Antonio Castillo Saldivar Aug. 19, 1973. The incident followed an argument over payment of a gasoline bill.

Another jury was due to hear testimony today in the Faustino Vasquez murder trial. Vasquez, 21, is accused of slaying Juanita High, 32, by running over her in a car Feb. 4.

Already before the court is a motion by Vasquez's defense attorney for a change of venue in the case. Attorney John Mann of Lubbock claims that a prejudiced jury would result Wednesday since the trial follows so closely the trial of Faustino's brother.

Ray Vasquez 18, was found guilty May 22 of murdering Juanita High and was assessed a 99-year prison term.
