CITY ELECTION

Recount Yields New Totals, Same Results

The three incumbents, named as winners in the April 2 city commission election in canvassed returns of the balloting, were confirmed as victors by a special recount committee today.

However, the vote recount stretched the margin of victory to 21 votes, as compared with 13 in the original totals.

The committee's report stated it counted 3,096 votes, which compares with 3,120 in the original returns.

Mrs. Mary Thomas, who ran fourth in the field of nine candidates to elect three city commissioners, was given 1,257 votes in the recount, compared with 1,238 in the first totals, an increase of 19 votes.

Walter Stroup, who ran third in the race, was given a recount total of 1,278 votes, 27 more than he received in the first tally.

Jimmy Morehead, who finished second in the contest, received 1,281 recount votes, a jump of 26 votes above his original total.

The committee recounted the votes in all five voting boxes for only these three candidates. They recounted all the votes for all the candidates in the Northside box only.

The tally for the Northside box, with the original report in parenthesis includes:

Mrs. Thomas 265 (266), Stroup 48 (48), Morehead 90 (88), A. A. Porter 47 (47), E. A. Fiveash 91 (91), Arnold Marshall 88 (89), M. M. Hines 36 (35), Eddie Acri 287 (286), W. A. Fitzgerald 60 (60).

The recount was called by the city commission at the request of Mrs. Thomas. Mayor Marshall named a committee of John Currie, chairman, Bill Sheppard, and Mrs. Ivanelle Marr to recount the votes.

The committee began work at 9 a.m. Monday, recessed at 7 p.m., then resumed counting at 9 a.m. today, completing its work about noon.

The recount committee plans to make a recommendation to the city commission and to the local bar association to investigate the possibility of conducting school or information sessions for election judges and clerks in future elections, according to Currie. He added that this provision is part of the new election law of the State of Texas.

Mrs. Thomas said she had no comment to make regarding the recount other than "the committee has done a good job."

Lassies Are Ready

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP)—A hundred Scots lassies want to marry John J. Andrews, a 21-year-old California advertising man who is looking for a Scottish bride.

Andrews, of Newport Beach, Calif., wrote Dundee's mayor last week that an aunt had left him $100,000 on condition he married a Scot.

He asked to be put in touch with blondes or redheads 18 to 27 years old.

Mayor Alex Mackenzie said he has received 100 replies for forwarding to Andrews, most of them from girls in Glasgow.

County Redistricting

FORT WORTH (AP)—County commissioners, responding to a federal mandate, have ordered a redistricting of all precincts in Tarrant County.

They authorized creation Monday of a six-member committee to draw the lines for the new voting precincts, which should be completed "before August."

The committee includes the chairmen of both major political parties, the district attorney, county clerk, county public works director and the county tax assessor-collector.

The decision came in the wake of a Supreme Court ruling which held that commissioners' precincts must be nearly equal in size.

People living within commissioners' court precincts are entitled to equal representation, the high court ruled.

Also, El Paso County commissioners court Monday ordered redistricting of commissioner precincts by Aug. 12. The county's largest precinct in area has fewer than 9,000 voters. The most heavily populated precinct has more than 33,000.

Quints Doing Fine

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Quintuplets — three boys and two girls—born Saturday to an Iranian farmer and his 35-year-old wife were "doing fine" today in a town accessible only by mule, Tehran newspapers reported.

The babies were reported to have been delivered by a midwife in Lalan, a village near Kaliber in a mountainous region near the Soviet border.

Drivers of cars on the Major Deegan Expressway in the New York borough of the Bronx avoid piles of paper spilled from the trailer section of truck yesterday, after the truck crashed into railing of ramp above the Expressway. Firemen on ramp at right survey trailer's precarious position and traffic below. No one was hurt and no cars damaged by the falling bundles of paper, firemen said.

Four More Aircraft Lost In Viet War

SAIGON (AP)—The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States four more planes Monday, two shot down over the southern panhandle and two lost when they collided in the air, military sources said today. Five of the fliers were rescued and one was lost.

A U.S. spokesman suggested the North Vietnamese may be moving more anti-aircraft guns south to counter the increase in American bombing of the panhandle since President Johnson banned raids farther north.

F105s DOWN

The two planes shot down were Air Force F105s and both were hit near Dong Hoi, about 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone. The U.S. spokesman said anti-aircraft fire around Dong Hoi was extremely heavy and possibly the enemy had been installing new weapons positions in the panhandle area.

Since President Johnson halted U.S. bombing north of the 20th Parallel on April 1 in an attempt to open peace discussions with Hanoi, U.S. pilots have more than doubled their usual number of daily raids on the panhandle.

One of the F105 pilots, Col. David W. Winn, 44, of Minneapolis, Minn., maneuvered his crippled Thunderchief 100 miles south over the South China Sea, bailed out at 18,000 feet, and was picked up by a "jolly green giant" helicopter.

The pilot of the second F105 is listed as missing in action.

PHANTOMS

Military sources said two Navy F4 Phantoms from carriers in the Tonkin Gulf collided southeast of Vinh, a North Vietnamese city about 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone, but all four crewmen parachuted into the gulf out of reach of enemy ground troops. Navy helicopters quickly rescued them.

The four planes raised the total number lost in the air war against North Vietnam to 825. They were the first planes reported down in the North in two weeks, since an Air Force F4 was downed April 2 the day after Johnson's curtailment order.

Overcast skies spawned the lingering northeast monsoons limited U.S. pilots to 88 missions against North Vietnam Monday, a big drop from the 143 the day before.

For the 12th consecutive day, the American bombers stayed below the 19th Parallel, with the northernmost penetration a strike by Navy bombers on a causeway one mile below the parallel.

Brooke Pushes Low Cost Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation will be introduced in the Senate this week aimed at a start on enactment of White House riot commission's recommendations that would cost an estimated $350 billion over a decade.

START

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., a commission member, plans to introduce bills Wednesday to make a limited, low-cost start on the recommendations, including a congressional study of a plan for a guaranteed annual income.

He also will propose federal incentives to eliminate racial imbalance in schools and the denial of federal aid to school districts that decline to abolish such imbalance.

Other Brooke proposals will include:

—A change in distribution of federal education funds to redirect $1.2 billion exclusively toward low-income school districts.

—A congressional study of the welfare system to "hopefully prepare the Congress for a thorough and imaginative reconstruction of our presently inadequate public assistance programs."

—Extension of antidiscrimination provisions in employment to all federal, state and local government agencies.

—Relaxation in qualifications for Small Business Administration loans in slum areas.

Brooke did not estimate the cost of his proposals but aides said it would run to thousands, rather than millions of dollars. They said he avoided introducing more costly measures because of congressional resistance to new spending programs.

LBJ Presses Hanoi For Peace Talks

Meets Today With Pacific Forces Chief

HONOLULU (AP)—President Johnson, pressing Hanoi for an early and serious response to Vietnam peace efforts, is also bearing down on military problems in conferences at the U.S. Pacific command post.

Johnson's schedule today centered on a visit to the hilltop headquarters of Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, the Pacific commander in chief who will retire in July. The President said he wanted to talk about the military situation in Vietnam with Sharp and his designated successor, Adm. John S. McCain.

NEW PHOENIX The President gave North Vietnam a new peace prod Monday, soon after arriving in Honolulu.

As friends and critics vied for attention with shouts, chants and placards—the friends clearly were more numerous—Johnson reviewed peace efforts in an address from the steps of Iolani Palace, seat of the Hawaiian government. These efforts focus at this stage on finding a mutually acceptable preliminary meeting site.

Declaring "precious time is being lost," Johnson said: "For us, this is not a propaganda exercise. We have sent serious and considered messages aimed at bringing about the earliest possible contact."

"What is needed today is an equally serious reply, reacting to our proposals for neutral sites or offering additional suggestions of neutral capitals where both of us have representatives and communications."

'LACK'

Several hours after Johnson spoke the official North Vietnamese Communist newspaper Nhan Dan said the United States showed "lack of good will" in turning down two sites Hanoi has proposed, Warsaw and Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

A Nhan Dan article broadcast from Hanoi flung back in the President's face his offer in the past to send U.S. negotiators anywhere at any time for talks.

"This statement is big-sounding and allows no misunderstanding," the article said. "Yet, after making many such statements the Johnson administration now changes tune."

While here, Johnson said, he would discuss what he termed the twin paths to peace with the top military command and, on Wednesday, with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea, a somewhat restive ally concerned about American steadfastness in the Pacific area.

Park was flying in from Seoul tonight.

Johnson is expected to remain in Hawaii until Thursday. He is living about 10 miles outside the city at the seaside estate of the widow of the late millionaire industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

WHO IS GALT?

Deadend Clues Confront Agents

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Deadend clues to a man who vanished without a trace apparently confronted FBI agents today in their investigation of the sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

False leads multiplied in the hunt for Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious quiet-talking man whose last known address was a Birmingham rooming house. His former landlord said Monday he had identified drawings shown by FBI agents as resembling Eric Galt.

IDENTIFIED

"It's him," said Peter Cherpes, 72, who runs a two-story Southside boarding house where an Eric Galt lived for six weeks last fall.

Galt's abandoned white Mustang was impounded last Thursday by the FBI in Atlanta. It fit the description of a car seen leaving the scene after King was killed April 4 by a sniper firing from a rooming house in Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis witnesses described the suspected assassin, who registered as John Willard at a rooming house opposite King's motel, as about six feet and sandy-haired and "a clean, neat man."

No trace of Willard has apparently been found.

An FBI alert for Eric Starvo Galt in a white Mustang was issued in Florida last Thursday, but was canceled. However, the FBI has continued a search for Galt's whereabouts or clues to his past.

LICENSE

In addition, a duplicate driver's license for Eric Starvo Galt was mailed to the Birmingham address March 1, nearly seven months after he left, and it apparently vanished. The Birmingham post office indicated no forwarding address was left for Galt.

"The papers said he went down March 1 to ask for a duplicate license and he put the same address, which was wrong. He wasn't here," said Cherpes, who recalls Galt as "nice and friendly, quiet."

Texas GOP Challenges Reopening Filing Period

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Republican Party served notice today it will go to court to challenge the recent reopening of political filing periods by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

LATER

John Stokes, state GOP executive director, said the suit was being prepared and would be filed later.

"The announcement today merely serves notice to the people of Texas that the disregard for the law displayed by the state Democratic committee will not go unchallenged," Stokes said.

Texas Republicans protested, along with several other groups, after the State Democratic Executive Committee in Corpus Christi March 11 voted a second filing period of March 13-30 for counties where no candidate had qualified for the Democratic nomination before the original Feb. 5 filing deadline.

State Democratic Chairman Will Davis explained that the situation was brought about by the resignation of Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville, who filed for re-election without opposition and then resigned as representative and withdrew as a candidate after the Feb. 5 filing deadline. Davis said state election law was silent on such situations and where the election law does not cover a subject then the state party can provide regulations covering a party primary. After a brief discussion the resolution was enlarged to include filings for party as well as public offices.

BASIC

Stokes said today the state Democratic committee action raised "a very basic question: whether the law of Texas as reflected in our election code, or the whims and policies of the Democratic committee is supreme in deciding Texas electoral matters."

NO OPPORTUNITY FOR UNANIMITY OF OPINION

Demo Governors Agree To Wait, Watch

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Democratic governors have decided not to tamper with "the events of history" in this explosive political year, agreeing instead to wait and see what happens before announcing preferences in the race for the White House.

They didn't even reach an accord that would have declared advance support for the man their party eventually nominates to run for president.

Even before their 2½ hour political talk Monday, the governors acknowledged they could not possibly agree on a consensus candidate for the Democratic nomination that President Johnson said he would neither seek nor accept.

They matched their forecast,

A handful of Democratic governors declared their choices in advance of the conference which drew 17 of the 24 Democratic state executives. There were no new public commitments at that meeting.

Its major product: A statement rejecting any mass attempt by governors to step into the developing race between Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the latter still undecided.

Instead, the governors agreed to wait and watch. Even that wasn't unanimous.

Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi abstained from the decision and Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia wasn't present when it was made.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey raised the question of an advance endorsement of the 1968 Democratic ticket, but dropped it when Southern governors objected.

"It appeared that there was no opportunity for unanimity of opinion," Hughes explained. Without unanimity, he said, a governors' pledge to support a party nominee would have been pointless.

Williams raised an instant objection when Hughes talked of a statement of loyalty to the ultimate nominee. The Mississippian said he could not pledge support without knowing who will be on the ticket.

Louisiana Gov. John Mc-

Keithen, who favors Humphrey, agreed and Maddox declared he would not support Kennedy or McCarthy, saying only that he might not actively oppose Humphrey if a Southern conservative became the vice presidential nominee. Maddox wants Democrats to nominate Alabama's former Gov. George Wallace, who is waging a third-party presidential campaign.

Texas Gov. John Connally refused flatly to promise his support should the ticket be Kennedy-led. "I think he's entitled to the same consideration he gave President Johnson," Connally said of Kennedy, who refused to pledge support of the chief executive before Johnson bowed out of contention.

The major product of the St. Louis meeting was a statement declaring:

"We are mindful of the example of a President who places the unity and security of the country above every other consideration. Each Democratic governor with the same concern for the well-being of the country is determined to observe the events of history as they develop in the next few months and as the issues are discussed, and then reach a decision of conscience as to the man who should be nominated by the Democratic party and elected president of the United States to lead our country in these difficult times."

Williams, who abstained, said

"the statement says nothing."

"There was no effort on the part of any one there to speak in terms of candidates," Connally said. Instead, the governors discussed political conditions in their own states and talked of possible favorite son candidates.

"What we were trying to do is to express the fact that the governors are waiting," said Warren Hearnes of Missouri.

While Hearnes said the governors' attitude on a presidential choice was one of watching and waiting, he said Connally was a favorite among them as a prospective vice presidential candidate.

Connally would not discuss such speculation. "I have no such aspirations," Connally said.

Briscoe Bouyed By Local Reception; Predicts Victory

Dolph Briscoe came to Big Spring for some early campaigning for governor Tuesday and found himself in the midst of a testimonial meeting. After the mid-morning Uvalde businessman-rancher banker had spoken briefly to some three score persons who turned out for an 8 a.m. reception at the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, several who knew him for years began voicing their testimonies for him.

One was a former Big Spring resident now living in Austin, another was the former head of a state agricultural organization, another was a district judge. Bouyed by the reception he is receiving, Briscoe predicted that with the help of friends telling others, he could make the Democratic runoff, the first big step toward the governor's chair.

He touched on a number of his platform planks and later said that if he had to assign priority, it would be to education.

Only one half of those who enroll in our public schools now graduate," he said. While voicing support for the educational system at all levels, he sounded a call for greater emphasis on technical and vocational training.

"We need to equip more of our young people to become productive, constructive members of society," he said. "Today there is a shortage of skilled workers in Texas, yet there are unemployed men because they lack skills."

Only one minor accident was reported to police Monday. James Weldon Ray, 700 E. 16th, and Paula Marie Bauer, 600 Steakley, collided at Third and Donley.

H-SU Speakers Are Announced

Dr. Landrum P. Leavell II, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wichita Falls since December, 1963, will be baccalaureate speaker on the afternoon of May 26.

Scheduled to make the commencement address on May 27 is Dr. Jack K. Williams, commissioner of the coordinating board, Texas College and University System.

Officers Check Wes-Tex Burglary

Sheriff's officers are investigating the burglary earlier this week of the West-Tex Wrecking yard.

The deputies reported that a new 4-speed shifter, two carburetors, one manifold, two chrome air cleaners, a case of oil and five or six fifths of whiskey, along with two tires, are known to have been taken from the yard.

This morning William N. Martin reported that his automobile had been stolen between 9 and 10 p.m. last night. The car was taken out on the Moss Creek road and stripped. It had been robbed of its transmission, two front wheels, two tires and other equipment, when found.

VA Checks Not Delivered

About $1 million in undeliverable checks is returned to the Veterans Administration each year.

This means that some 12,000 persons miss at least one payment of their monthly compensation, pension, or other VA benefit. To help solve this problem, the VA advises all recipients to give the VA and the Post Office Department their new address, including zip code, when they plan to move.

Training Meeting For Baptists

The Texas Baptist Student Union will sponsor a Leadership Training Conference on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University Friday through Sunday.

Theme of the conference, which is expected to draw 1,200 participants from 84 junior and senior colleges throughout the state, is "Presence, Fellowship, Actions - Now." Keynote speaker will be Clyde E. Fant Jr., associate professor of preaching at Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary.

Rap Brown Must Face Riot Rap In Maryland

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Preparations were made today for transferring Rap Brown from Virginia to Maryland where the Negro is charged with inciting to riot and arson.

Brown's lawyer, Philip Hirschkop, asked the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Monday to drop appeals of extradition proceedings against Brown. Judge John Butzner granted the request, which marks an end to Brown's seven-month legal effort to avoid being sent to Maryland.

Hirschkop notified U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Merhige Jr. that the appeal to the Supreme Court of habeas corpus decisions by Merhige and upheld by the circuit court, was also being dropped. Merhige promptly instructed Virginia Asst. Atty. Gen. Reno Harp III to move ahead with the arrangements for sending Brown to Maryland. Harp said Monday night no specific date has been set for moving Brown but it will be "at the earliest possible time that it can be arranged."

Absentee Voting Gets Fast Start

Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy in the office of the Howard County clerk, said that so far the office has mailed out five requests for absentee ballots by Republicans, 23 mail applications for votes by Democrats, and has accepted ballots from eight Democrats at the office.

The absentee voting is for May 4 primary, which opened Monday.

Grand Jurors To Check Murder, Rape Charges

One murder case and one complaint alleging statutory rape are on the list of 14 felonies the Howard County grand jury began investigating this morning.

The grand jurors are the members of the panel accepted last January for the June term of the 118th District Court. This will be their second round of work in a day if it works hard.

The panel should complete its work in a day if it works hard. Wayne Burns, district attorney, said. However, it is most probable the body will continue in session on Wednesday.

The one murder case on the list of matters to be heard by the jurors accuses James Doe of shooting Clifton C. Hendricks to death on the afternoon of March 18. The shooting occurred on Pennsylvania Street in front of the Hendricks residence.

Other matters on the grand jury's list are: J. W. Reynolds, worthless check; Jack A. Kruse, worthless check; Patricia Williams, forgery and passing; Larry Cahill, worthless check; resaper; Russell Headrick, forgery and passing; Jessie Lee Edwards, worthless check; Willie Roy English and Charles Tillis, burglary; Joaquin Cantu, destruction of private property; Albino Ortega, possession of a prohibited weapon by an ex-convict; Alberto Ortiz Gonzales, DWI second; Merlin Eugene Clemons, possession of a narcotic drug; Leonard Leroy Moore, burglary.

Y Board Meet

The YMCA board of directors is expected to meet in regular monthly session today at 5:15 p.m. at the Y. Wade Choate is president.

'Come On In' Play By Nixon Continues

By JACK BELL, Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — If Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's likely challenge for the Republican presidential nomination is disturbing Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president is concealing it with a "come on in" public stance.
 Charles McWhorter, a top Nixon lieutenant, said in an interview Nixon believes a Rockefeller candidacy would revive public interest in the Republican convention.
 "It certainly will live things up," said McWhorter.
STARCH REMOVED
 Most of the starch went out of the GOP contest when Michigan Gov. George Romney withdrew and Rockefeller subsequently announced he would not become an active candidate for the nomination but would accept a draft.

 The New York governor and Nixon will match major speeches before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington this week. The New York governor's appearance is being touted as a sort of unofficial re-entry into the nomination race.

Son Of Rights Leader Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Innis Jr., 13, son of the associate national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, was shot and killed Monday night while playing outside a Bronx apartment house near his home.
 Police arrested David Newborn, 49, a postal clerk who lives in the apartment house, and booked him on a charge of homicide. Newborn, like Innis, is a Negro.
 Police said young Innis, his brother, Alexander, 12, and two other boys were running in and out of the building playing when a man leaned out of a second floor window and shouted: "Stop the noise."
 After the youths failed to heed his warning, the man came downstairs and suddenly appeared on the stoop holding a pistol. As the youngsters started to run he fired one shot.
 Young Innis was struck in the back and fell face down in the street, fatally wounded. Two patrolmen on duty nearby seized Newborn.

Kissing Disease Linked To Cancer?

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — There may be a positive link between infectious mononucleosis, widely known as the kissing disease, and a malignant tumor which is quite common in Africa but rare in the United States.
 That was the report today by Dr. Julius S. Horowitz of Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y.
FIRST TIME
 If the link, a virus, is established definitely, it will be the first time that a virus has been indicted as a cause of cancer-type disease in humans.
 The virus has already been shown by other researchers to be associated with infectious mononucleosis, usually not a severe disease that causes fever, chills, general bad feeling, fatigue and sometimes headache and chest pain.
 Researchers have shown that the virus reacts with protective antibodies from humans who have already had the kissing disease, the Roswell Park report said. The reaction is the same as an infecting virus would produce in a vaccinated person, indirect evidence that the virus causes infectious mononucleosis.
SAME VIRUS
 The New York researcher, associated with Dr. James T. Grace Jr., and Dr. Virginia C. Dunkel, gave his report to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology meeting here.
 They found that the same virus associated with infectious mononucleosis is the one often

Candidates Talk Of Higher Wages

By The Associated Press
 Candidates seeking the Texas governorship are talking about many things this week—higher education for policemen, better teacher pay, integrity in government, foreign aid to Communist countries, civil disorders and preservation of wildlife.
 With 10 candidates in the Democratic gubernatorial race and three in the Republican contest a lot more subjects are likely to be discussed between now and the first primaries on May 4.
ISSUES IGNORED?
 Again challenging his opponents to make known their sources of income, Ed Whittenburg, a Democrat, said Monday the No. 1 issue in the governor's race is integrity in government. He said "the real issues are being ignored by the professional politicians."
 Another Democrat, John Hill, said in San Antonio "We want to upgrade the professionalism of police work—just like teaching." He said that policemen should receive the "best police education possible."
 Preston Smith, a Democrat, who scheduled stops today in Stamford, Fort Worth and Haltom City, promised he "will do everything possible to expand our wildlife areas to insure that every boy and girl, man and woman has the opportunity to enjoy the forests, the lakes, the seashores, and the wide open spaces of Texas."
'ME TOO'
 Saying that his opponents were trying to outbid each other for teacher support, Eugene Locke, another Democrat, said he favors "a substantial pay raise" but "to tie it down to any specific figure at this time is premature. Locke planned to continue campaigning in Dallas County today.

 Campaigning in Houston, Democrat Waggoner Carr said he is worried about what he called "the apparent absence of adequate protection of all Texans in the event of civil disorders."
 In a swing through far West Texas, Democrat Dolph Briscoe said that other candidates are now approving recommendations he had made earlier: "Every day I hear reports of 'Me Too' on parts of my program... an effective governor must initiate ideas, not imitate the suggestions of others."
 One of the three Republican candidates, John Trice, said in Austin "It is high time we stopped squandering our inheritance of a solvent America on foolish foreign handouts and especially foreign aid to Communist countries."

REAGAN EYED
 Representatives of Rockefeller and Reagan are pulling for an uninstruced delegation. Nixon wants the 24-vote slate pledged to him.
 While Nixon's forces consider Rockefeller their biggest threat, they are not taking their eyes off Reagan. Expected to have California's 86 convention votes as a favorite son, Reagan has said he is not a serious contender for the nomination.
 Nevertheless, he sent F. Clinton White, a 1964 delegate hunter for Barry Goldwater, to Iowa to look out for his interests there.
 White told the members of Reagan's favorite-son delegation in Los Angeles Monday that the governor is a leading contender for the nomination and would win in a wide-open convention.

Immunizations Up In Howard County

The Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit reported a busy month for March, with 392 immunizations being given by the county health nurse, up 90 from the previous month, and 49 major or corrections made by the sanitation department, an increase of five over February.
 There were 51 tuberculosis cases supervised by the health nurse, an increase of 25 over February and a total of 118 for the year.

Five Structures Being Demolished

Five hazardous structures are in the process of being demolished by owners and six other owners have been notified to either move or demolish their buildings, according to a report prepared through March 31 by the building inspector and the fire marshal.
 There have been 48 notices posted for the year, and of these, the report said, 25 have been moved by the owners, five moved by the city, and 18 are pending.

'Columbus Day Caper' Creating Confusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around the House Judiciary Committee they call it the Columbus Day caper and if it succeeds, four national holidays will provide three-day weekends each year.
DON'T PACK
 A bill calling for the observance of Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Veterans Day and Columbus Day on Mondays has been approved by the committee. But don't pack that weekend bag yet.
 A favorite of the business community, which thinks it would make for more efficient work and production schedules and less absenteeism—and strongly backed by the travel agencies and airlines—the bill hasn't stirred much enthusiasm among the general public.
 And it has aroused surprisingly strong opposition from patriotic societies and veterans organizations with an interest in a specific holiday, and church groups with an interest in Sunday church attendance.
FEARS
 They've expressed fears that regular three-day holidays would lure people into unpatriotic and impious endeavors on those occasions.
 Such opposition pretty well scuttled the original Monday holiday bill before the committee last year. When the first session of Congress ended, only Memorial Day remained in a bill that would have also moved Washington's Birthday, Independence Day, Veterans Day and Thanksgiving to Monday.
 It was then that Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., chief sponsor of the bill, discovered Christopher Columbus.
 For years Americans of Italian descent have cherished the idea of a national holiday commemorating Columbus. And for years, Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., a senior Judiciary Committee member, has introduced bills establishing such a holiday.
 Many states observe Oct. 12 as Columbus Day but the bills for a national holiday never got anywhere. They served mainly to stir counter campaigns by Americans of Scandinavian descent for a Leif Ericson Day in honor of the man they are convinced discovered America.
BILLS BOTTLED
 Rather than try to legislate history and reluctant to impose two new holidays on the nation, Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., kept the Columbus Day bills well bottled up.
 They one day McClory looked at Rodino. Rodino looked at McClory. And a new bill was born.
 With Rodino delivering the Democrats who have large Italian blocs in their districts and McClory lining up the Republicans, Celler was outmaneuvered and the bill was approved last month.
 It would fix Washington's Birthday on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October. It would apply only to federal employees unless states enacted similar legislation.
 But chances are that without strenuous lobbying by its backers, the bill may not get much further. And if it should get to the floor, Leif Ericson's friends are sure to be waiting.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord is risen indeed. (Luke 24:34)
PRAYER: O God who art the author of life, we thank Thee that Thy Son triumphed over death and lives to show us the way from mortality to immortality. We testify that He lives in us, help us to give proof by the testimony of our lives. In His name we pray. Amen.

No Need To Be Stamped

A foretaste of what may be involved in exploratory talks with North Vietnam is cropping out in the inability so far to agree on a site for the talks.

This has elicited from some public figures a criticism of our government because we do not conform literally to the rhetorical offer of talking anytime, any place. This is simply not realistic, and it is a reckless indulgence for the sake of a few headlines and votes. If we are expected to go anywhere, why not the capital of North Vietnam?

By specifying Cambodia and Poland, the North Vietnamese have picked on the one hand a nation without diplomatic contacts with the United States and also with a record of aiding and comforting our enemy, and on the other a nation which is unabashedly Communist. The United States has proposed half a dozen potential sites, mostly in historically neutral nations in the Orient.

Despite vocal internal clamor for peace in some quarters, we are not obliged to capitulate and compromise our position before talks even start. Some reports to the contrary, most experts conversant with the situation agree that we are not offering to negotiate from weakness. Indeed, our military position is probably better than even before the Tet paroxysm by the Communists. Attrition has not incapacitated the enemy, but it has hurt him severely.

It would therefore be a grievous mistake to be swept into costly haste because of the harrangue of the Communist press abroad, or the apologists at home.

Serious Problem

Between now and next January, the federal government is likely to experience a serious management difficulty at a critical time as a by-product of President Johnson's retirement decision. It is going to be very difficult to keep top-echelon appointive administrators or recruit replacements to fill vacancies. Already Larry O'Brien has departed as postmaster general.

For now there is certain to be a change in administrations ten months from now. Whether party control of the executive branch changes or not, there will be a wholesale overturn of Cabinet and sub-Cabinet personnel.

Business and industrial leaders with high-caliber management expertise have to make severe personal financial sacrifices to take even the highest-level government jobs. And foundation and academic prospects for top-echelon federal positions must consider career interruptions and personal security loss, as well as in fewer cases financial sacrifice.

It will be difficult to attract such people into government service that can be counted on only for a few months. And it will be tempting indeed for present federal administrators and specialists to resist immediate attractive offers outside government.

Art Buchwald A New Postmaster General

WASHINGTON — When the looting in Washington started last week, the first thing Bobby Kennedy did was throw a brick through a White House window and steal Postmaster General Larry O'Brien.

This left President Johnson without a postmaster general for the rest of his term.

IT IS NOT generally known, but President Johnson's one ambition before leaving the Executive Mansion is to save the United States post office. And so when O'Brien was looted Mr. Johnson called in Marvin Watson, his loyal White House aide.

"Marvin, I've been watching you lately and the thing I admire most about you is the way you handle the mail."

"Thank you, sir. I was a four-letter man at college."

"No jokes, Marvin. You heard, of course, that Larry O'Brien is no longer with us."

"WELL, MARVIN, O'Brien's departure left us with a big hole in the post office. We have a billion-dollar deficit, and I was hoping Larry could make it up by January."

"I thought he was going to sell the post office," Marvin said.

"The only one who made a bid on it was Howard Hughes, but he said he wouldn't take it unless we sold him Arizona and California at the same

Billy Graham

I am a recreational director, and I feel that physical exercise is essential to the development of the whole man. What do people in your category, who at times seem to discount the importance of our physical natures, do for personal relaxation and refreshment?

K.T.

I am an enthusiastic exponent of physical exercise, and try to practice what I preach along these lines. The Bible says, "Bodily exercise profiteth a little, but Godliness is profitable unto all things."

Each of us has a body, a mind, and a spirit. The spirit is the real YOU which resides in a body, and uses the mind to relay orders to the physical members. So, I believe that to be a full-orbed person, we should develop all three of these components.

I try to exercise regularly in each of these areas. For example, I begin my day with some food for the spirit by reading the Bible and spending time in prayer. Then, I read a great deal. I read the news magazines to see what is going on in the world. I read some of the contemporary writers to see what thinking men think about some of our modern problems. Then, every day I try to get some vigorous physical exercise. Sometimes I play nine holes of golf, which gives me both physical and mental refreshment. In addition, when I am not ill, I run at least two miles a day. Most of us moderns are not developing these three vital areas of our lives: body, mind and spirit, and we are all the poorer for it.

Age Makes Cowards Of Most Of Us

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping But nobody over 55, who can still remember the last one, it costs more today for a man to buy his French poodle a good hair trim than it does to pay for one for his wife—but look at the results he gets. It is often a better investment. A wife comes back from the barber looking like a French poodle does before it goes.

Age makes cowards of most of us. Few people over 40, no matter how much they enjoy a simple pleasure like an ice cream cone, will eat one unless they are accompanied by a child. Then they can do it without feeling self-conscious.

Actresses are more likely than secretaries to chew their fingernails. That's why so many wear false nails.

James Marlow Programs For Poor Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's decision to delay indefinitely his address to Congress on a program dealing with the racial crisis is largely a reaction to political realities.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has made clear that Johnson would have trouble winning approval of massive new spending programs when budget cutbacks are being pushed in line with efforts to raise taxes.

But some Congress members, including Republican Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Charles H. Percy of Illinois, as well as GOP Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, have criticized the "business as usual" attitude that sees Congress taking its regular Easter recess.

ACTUALLY the House is taking much more of a holiday than the Senate, which returns to work Wednesday with major measures on the agenda such as the school breakfast program, military procurement and the anticrime bill.

While House leaders insist they can only schedule business as fast as committees approve bills, the fact is that three- and four-day-a-week sessions cut down the time committees can have enough members present to meet.

In this atmosphere, the major effect of a Johnson speech to Congress would probably have been a psychological one, to get action on parts of his program pending in committees.

But there are signs that Congress is becoming more receptive to the need for programs aimed at helping the poor in urban slums and rural areas.

ONE IS THE HOUSE vote on the open-housing bill, particularly the surprisingly large amount of support from younger Republican congressmen who represent predominantly white suburban districts.

It is this group which has frequently in the past year determined the outcome of fights over urban measures, helping for example to put over funds for the model-cities program while sharply cutting back on rent supplements.

In the Senate, meanwhile, a bipartisan coalition handed the "establishment" a rare setback in rejecting a compromise money bill that cut funds for the impacted areas school aid program.

To Your Good Health Different Locations Of Heart Attacks

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I know that myocardial infarction means some damage to the heart muscle, but you might explain acute or anterolateral. Would this mean a mild attack?—T. Y.

You are right in that myocardial infarction means that one of the coronary arteries has become plugged and the portion of the heart muscle served by that artery is damaged. In short, a heart attack.

An acute attack is one which comes on suddenly, in contrast to an attack in which encroachment on the circulation is gradual. Changes in electrocardiogram readings will reveal this.

There are two main coronary (heart) arteries, the anterior (in front) and the posterior (in back of the heart). An anterolateral attack would be one involving the anterior or front branch.

Both these main branches in turn have networks of smaller branches, spreading out much as the branches of a tree fan out from the trunk. The point at which the artery is plugged has a great deal to do with the severity of an attack. If it is in a large part of a branch, it is naturally more severe than if only a smaller sub-branch is involved.

However, I dislike the word "mild" applied to coronary attacks. Even though they may—and do—vary considerably in severity and degree of muscle damage, one does not know the extent until the patient's progress has been watched and a series of electrocardiograms has been obtained. Every heart attack leaves some damage to the heart muscle, however minimal, and every heart attack must be regarded as a serious matter, with every precaution being taken to keep the damage as limited as possible.

The posterior vessel is involved more frequently than the front one in coronary attacks, but the anterior attacks tend to be more severe.

Dear Dr. Molner: I get headaches for about two or three days. Pills don't help me. I have stomach trouble. I get very nervous and my stomach gets upset and I throw up. I can't take anything for my stomach, because I get these headaches at the same time. They are on the side of my head. I would like your advice.—G.L.

For headaches as severe as yours, you certainly need some medical help, although it might be simpler than you think. I'd suggest that you read my booklet, "How to Tame Headaches," which you can get by mail—send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner, care of this newspaper.

But besides reading the booklet, see your doctor. Your description includes all the classic signs of the migraine type of headache. There is little that can be done after that type of headache starts, but it is usually possible to make them less severe, and often to prevent them entirely, if you learn the signs which show that one is about to start—and then take suitable medication in advance.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim The Spell Of The Big Bend

A couple of weeks ago I wrote of a one-day tour I made from Big Spring southward to the Mexican border and north from Comstock to Ozona and back home.

I recommended it as an enjoyable trip, and I waxed pretty eloquent about the spring beauty which prevailed.

I DID ENJOY the trip. To my eyes the scenery was lovely, the evidence of spring's presence overwhelming. Apparently I wrote even more effectively than I had thought. During the week that followed I had a number of phone calls from residents of this community. They wanted me to tell them exactly the route I followed and to relate what I saw and where.

They all wound up the phone calls with the statement they planned, on my say-so, to go to the country I had described last weekend.

APPARENTLY a considerable number of Big Springers did just that. When I heard about that I began to feel a little uneasy. I wondered about the soundness of judgment on what was beautiful in nature and what wasn't.

I liked what I saw — of that I was sure. The trouble is, nearly everyone who knows me is of the opinion I am a little off the beam, as you might say. What I do and what I like doesn't appeal to a lot of fellows who know me. I suspect they comment that old Blackburn is just a little nuts when they have an occasion to speak of me at all.

SO I DID a little worrying about the trusting folk I had sent scurrying southward.

Apparently I need not have worried. Some of those who made the trip have returned and have told me that the trip was all I had said of it. And further, they told me of encountering a number of other Big Spring sightseers who were making the same loop because of what I had written of it and who were also well pleased.

What was even more interesting to me was that some of the folk who make the trip had never before been in that vast open country to the south and west of here. Many had never before seen the semi-desert which marks the expanse of Texas from the El Paso country to Del Rio.

TO MY VIEW of things it's the most delightful country to be seen anywhere. (The fact that we go back to the area year after year on vacation is one of the things that my friends ponder in deciding that the Blackburns are not quite all there.)

"You've been there," they argue. "Why do you want to go again?" Or they say, "There's nothing there to do."

I have no answer to this argument. But I remain unchanged. When my vacation rolls around, I automatically head southwestward. And for my poor worrying friends, there's nothing likely to change me. I am sort of set in my ways as one might say.)

WHEN FOLK from far places go to this country and come back as enthusiastic as I am, I feel a great warmth. These folk, I tell myself, are solid citizens. They're real crude guys, and I am glad I know them.

Marquis Childs Humphrey On The Run

WASHINGTON — Hubert Horatio Humphrey's father was a small-town druggist who kept his store open from 7 a.m. to midnight. He once told Hubert: "Stay out of bed as long as you can. Ninety per cent of all people die in bed."

The Vice-President has followed that advice through 30 years of a strenuous career in public life. And now that he is starting to campaign for President the hours will be longer than ever and the exertion greater if that is possible for one who seems to have discovered the secret of perpetual motion.

THE MIRACLE is that for all the fierce energy he expends and the roller-coaster ups and downs of his career he retains a warm and sanguine temperament. His drive is tempered by large draughts of humor often directed at Hubert Humphrey.

Although he has yet to make a formal announcement of his candidacy — expected soon — Humphrey has talked with each of the 24 Democratic state Governors. His is the soft sell. It's not, "Will you support me?" but, "How do things look out your way? I'd like to talk to you again. A lot of people are after me to run."

ONLY TWO WEEKS have passed since the President told the nation he could not accept nomination for another term and hardened this in a press conference by saying his decision was "completely irrevocable." Yet already Humphrey is confident he has as many delegates leaning to him as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

BEGINNING WITH his work as a young man with the World War II War Manpower Commission Humphrey has had broad experience in government. As Mayor of Minneapolis in 1945 he fought Communist-aligned forces that had sought to take over the Democratic — Farmer Labor party. At the same time he was a leader in Americans for Democratic Action. When he was 37 he got national attention by compelling the Democratic convention in 1948 to adopt a strong civil-rights plank. That same year he was elected to the Senate.

BUT IT IS HIS relationship with the President that is crucial in his newest endeavor. Humphrey has been unwaveringly loyal to Johnson. On the deeply divisive issue of the Vietnam war he has at times seemed to go even further than his chief in rallying support for the policy. This cost him the adherence of many liberals for whom he had long been a hero.

The President has thus far given no indication that he means to throw his weight behind his Vice-President. When Bobby Kennedy called on him following his renunciation of another term, Kennedy, according to White House sources, expressed the hope the President would remain neutral. Johnson replied that the Vice-President had made no request for his help.

FORCES SHAPING events quite beyond the power of either the President or the Vice-President will have as much to do with Humphrey's destiny as his own prodigious energy. The President's initiative opening the way to preliminary talks with North Vietnam sent a current of hope around the world. If this initiative should lead to actual negotiation Humphrey would be the beneficiary with the peace issue blurred.

But in Saigon, Hanoi, Moscow, Peking and, for that matter, in Washington are contending forces that could tip the balance in either direction. Should the initiative fail the reaction could stir all the old passions. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick and the sickness of Vietnam revived in more virulent form could hardly help a candidate with an Admiration stamp.

Holmes Alexander A Story Of The Riot

WASHINGTON — He was aboard Northeast Airline's nonstop from Boston which discharged its ignorant passengers at the National Airport about 9 p.m. last April 4. He stopped in the terminal, still ignorant, phoned Western Union. He asked for a messenger to meet him at his home to pick up a column that had been written in flight. Only when he entered an airport taxi was he told that Martin Luther King Jr. had been murdered in Memphis.

HE THOUGHT, "My God, how terrible. And what's this country coming to?" When he reached home, a Negro messenger stood in the dark at the doorway and was asked inside while the four pages of copy paper were stapled. "We're awfully sorry," his wife said helplessly to the messenger who did not answer. It was a small instance, but its awkwardness said much. Communication between the American races was not very good that night.

Next morning a Negro maid arrived. "He's the one who started all the trouble," said the plain-spoken Negro woman about the martyred Dr. King.

AT LUNCHEON the old Negro waiter at the National Press Club seemed testy and unwontedly clumsy, but perhaps that was just our embarrassed imagination at work.

By 5 p.m. the crackle of blazing midtown buildings and the wall of sirens cut through the hum of moving traffic, and the city's Northern skyline was sordid with rising and drifting smoke. He, the reporter, rode his customary vehicle, his bicycle, through a melee of jerking automobiles and creeping buses, in what was a fense but strangely non-talkative caravan of refugees.

ONE IDEA prevailed — to get out of the trouble zone — and rules about one-way streets and left-hand turns were not for now.

Next day, Saturday, he rode to the White House, to his office and through the militarily patrolled streets where knots of covetous Negro youths were archly window-shopping but nothing more. The riot had subsided, and everybody had a tale to tell or an opinion to give. "I've been 35 years trying to get rid of my prejudice — but now!" exclaimed a businessman from Georgia. "They ought to shoot 'em all!" a furious housewife raged.

BUT THE best story that the reporter found was that of his Jewish grocer and the grocer's Negro deliveryman. This grocer is a terrible-tempered fellow if he doesn't like you. He bawls out customers who ask him to change a dollar bill to purchase a 10-cent newspaper. His special aversion is "niggers" who buy little and try to charge much. But the warmest and most incongruous friendship in the neighborhood is between the choleric grocer and his merry Negro helper.

Last winter the deliveryman brought a basketload to the reporter's home and declared that the store would be closed on the morrow. He was attending a bar mitzvah for his boss's son.

WELL, ON Friday night of the riot the deliveryman's residence in dark-town was burned out, and so were the stores where he ordinarily buys his food. But he wasn't as bad off as many of his roofless and foodless co-racials. The Jewish grocer and his white invited him in to live with them until the violence should pass.

SOVIET SPACE DOCKINGS EXPECTED

Reds Ready For Moon Mission?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western space experts believe the latest linkup of two Russian satellites has provided the Soviets with technical knowledge to move forward with two programs: to build a man to the moon and to build a manned space station for military purposes.

While the Soyuz ship was being redesigned, the Soviets used the unmanned Cosmos 186 and 188 flights last October to gain their initial docking experience. They duplicated the exercise Monday with Cosmos 212 and 213.

The repeat may have been necessary because of problems which cropped up on the October test. American specialists said the Russian radar on the main satellite (186) lacked the long-range precision of that on the Gemini craft.

Edward Welch, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, said after the first Soviet linkup that the United States long has had the capability of docking unmanned satellites, but that this was not necessary because the technique was proved in the Gemini program.

The Soviets have said their man-to-the-moon plan involves first assembling a large space station in earth orbit, using it as a launch pad for lunar journeys. This would involve five or six launchings and hookups. If most of these could be achieved with unmanned launchings, the price tag would be considerably cheaper and the risk of life reduced.

Rewards For Tax Tipsters On Wane In United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite its complex tax computers, the Internal Revenue Service still relies on tipsters to catch some of America's tax cheats.

But the number of rewards for supplying usable information is on the wane. Now that Monday's income tax deadline is past, IRS can expect a flood of mail claiming that one person or another cheated on his tax return.

Officials said they receive about 100,000 tips each year from persons looking for rewards, seeking vengeance, disgruntled with their employer—or simply patriotic.

SIXTH ANNUAL EVENT SLATED SATURDAY

Spelling Bee Judges Selected

By SAM BLACKBURN
John Burgess, attorney, Jack Worsham, loan association executive, and Mrs. Thomas A. McMichen, a leader in the Mothers Club of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic church school, are to serve as judges for The Herald's Sixth Annual Howard County Spelling Bee.

The bee is to be staged at the Big Spring High school Saturday, April 20, at 10 a.m. The actual room where it will be conducted will be announced later in the week.

The three judges will join County Judge Lee Porter, who will preside as chairman, and Mrs. O. T. Brewster, the official pronouncer, in conducting the bee.

There will be 17 school champions from as many schools in the county competing for the championship. Winner of the county championship gets a chance to compete in the regional spelling bee in Lubbock May 4. Winner at Lubbock, in addition to a number of valuable prizes, also gets an all-expense paid trip to Washington in June and a chance to compete in the National Spelling Bee.

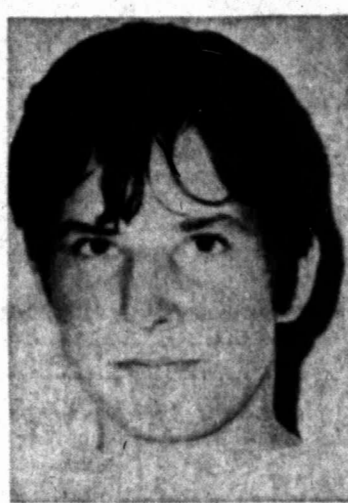

Mrs. Brewster, who is a member of the high school faculty, is a veteran pronouncer for the Howard County bees. Her work has been so outstanding that no thought has been given to finding anyone else to serve in this important role.

The judges for these annual spelling bees are changed each year and the men and women who have served in the past have described it as a most refreshing experience.

This will be Judge Porter's first appearance as moderator of the bee. In the past, Walker Bailey, former county superintendent, has filled this post. The office of county superintendent has now been abolished and Judge Porter has assumed the extracurricular duties of the post. As county judge he also

The plaque, which will go to the county champion, is en route to Big Spring. The winner will have his name engraved on the plaque and will keep it as a permanent memento of his victory.

In addition to the 13 elementary schools in the Big Spring Independent School District, two Big Spring junior high schools are also fielding spelling champions in the bee.

For San Junior High has a champion competing and St. Mary's Episcopal School and the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School will also have spellers trying for the title.

Each school in the county, which entered the county bee, selected a champion speller and an alternate — the youngster who was second best to the champion — in their school eliminations. If the champion cannot compete Saturday morning his alternate will step in to represent their school.

Parents, teachers and school mates of the young spellers, as well as all other persons who may be interested are invited to the spelling bee. In the past, the bees have been completed in about an hour.

Gay Hill has a 10-year and an 11-year-old team in the bee.

The champion is Roxie Ann McDaniel, a fifth grader, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McDaniel. Her alternate is Mary Melyn Mickler, also a fifth grader; the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Mickler. Both girls live on the Gail Route.

Brenda Tynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Tynes, 900 Lancaster, is the Cedar Crest champion. Her alternate is Robert Bradshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Bradshaw, 608 Bell.

Joy Linn Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Murphy 2304 Marcy, is Washington Place's champion. Her alternate is Faustino Aguilar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Faustino Aguilar Sr., 1201 Lamar.

Paul Talbot, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Talbot Jr., of 1508 Dayton, is the champion of Park Hill School. His alternate is Marianne McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, 112 Cedar.

Texas Menu Lists Rain

By The Associated Press
Scattered thunderstorms were expected to develop over the northern and western sections of Texas today as afternoon temperatures again climbed today.

A warming trend was expected to send readings above Monday's which ranged upward to a sultry 94 degrees at Presidio.

Pre-dawn readings today were unusually mild ranging from the upper 50s to the lower 70s.

A low pressure trough that extended from Amarillo southwestward across New Mexico into the Big Bend country caused a southerly flow of warm air across Texas.

The Weather Bureau predicted some early morning fog and said that cloudiness would increase during the day over the southern part of the state.

A Pacific front was expected to push in from the west by Wednesday bringing cooler air to the western and northern sections of the state.

DOG DRIVER DENTS CARS

BEAUMONT (AP)—A dog was listed as a driver of a car on an accident form mailed recently to the Department of Public Safety.

It occurred in Liberty, Tex., when a car owned by a Beaumont attorney, George Camp, was struck by another in which a dog was behind the wheel. Camp said he was sitting in his car when it was smashed in by the other, after it had rolled down a slight incline.

Upon investigation, it was determined the second car was owned by another attorney, C. D. Cain Jr., of Liberty, who had left his car for a short time, leaving his dog inside.

They theorized the dog accidentally knocked the gear shift out of place, causing the vehicle to start rolling.

TEXANS FACE NAGGING PROBLEM Horse Betting On Ballot

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series on horse racing. Each voter will be asked to say if he is for or against state lottery commission, liquor by the drink and horse race betting. The results will be merely an expression of opinion and will not be binding on the legislature or anyone else.

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

Horse racing—to some "the sport of kings"—has been a nagging political problem for Texas lawmakers.

Whether to allow race track betting has been the burr under the saddle, the troublesome point.

Taking a cue from the past, the last legislature agreed to let voters say again what's their pleasure.

OPINION POLL

Democrat and Republican May 4 primary ballots will include a referendum—an opinion poll that has no force or effect as law.

It will ask voters if they are for or against "enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law permitting horse racing with pari-mutuel wagering on a local option basis; creating a Texas Horse Racing Board with the power to regulate pari-mutuel wagering on horse races; granting two per cent of the total pari-mutuel pool each day to each county where there is a licensed race track; and apportioning among all other counties one-half of the total state net revenue from that source."

"I don't see anything inherently wrong in it," Gov. John Connally recently told the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association. "This would open up a whole new industry in this state."

MOB FEARS
On the other hand, former Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson warned the newly formed Anti-Crime Council that race track gambling "is an open invitation to organized crime to enter Texas on a widespread wholesale basis."

"Wherever legalized race track gambling persists, the bookies move in to set up illegal off-track operations. It has been established that for every pari-mutuel dollar bet, three more illegal dollars are bet with bookies who operate outside the law."

Race track betting as an industry, a tourist lure, was the main argument supporters of horse racing used to the 1967 legislature. One committee witness, the Rev. Walter Campbell of St. James Episcopal Church at Conroe, placed the potential value to the state at $2 billion.

Legislative opposition centered on betting as a moral issue.

First Driver Class Booked

The first class session of four in driver license lessons opens at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Howard County court room.

The classes are sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and are designed to assist persons who need drivers licenses.

Instructors will be officers of the Department of Public Safety. Slides, charts and other material will be used and the Texas Drivers handbook will be the official text book.

The classes run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Classes are to be held tonight, next Tuesday night, April 30 and May 14.

There is no charge for the course and all persons who need help in passing the written test required for drivers licenses are invited to attend all sessions.

HD Council Going To Fair

Home Demonstration Council, sponsoring a bus tour to HemisFair, has sold out its full quota of tickets for the first tour.

Thirty-nine women will leave Big Spring April 23 in a chartered bus en route to San Antonio, for a three day visit.

Mrs. Neil Norred was general chairman of the drive to sell fares on the chartered bus. The package deal included transportation to and from the fair, two nights lodging, two admission tickets to the fair area, and one ticket to the Tower of the Americas.

Response to the trip invitation was described as heavy and the available seats were disposed of in rapid fashion.

Forged Check Warning Issued

Business establishments in Big Spring have been warned to watch for forged checks on forms used by the Ace Specialty Co., of Odessa.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that burglars broke into the company office recently taking a safe and 352 of the company check forms. It is believed the thieves will attempt to pass the checks in this area. A check writer was also stolen from the company office. The safe has not been found, Standard said.

A LOVELIER YOU

The Way You Walk Reveals Personality

By MARY SUE MILLER

A popular song has it that a lovely's walk is a mirror of her personality and mood. If the lady clumps, she seems willful, bossy or mad. Loudly clicking heels suggest a "show me" or "I'll show you" attitude. Scuffing feet — teens please note — tell the world that you couldn't care less.

To project attractive qualities one's steps must fall softly and rhythmically. And there is little excuse for lapses. Heavy women can learn to tread lightly. Even a tiny girl can be taught to pick up her feet.

A graceful walk stems from good posture, muscular control and rhythmic movement. Your posture is on the good side when you always pull up tall. Regular exercise keeps muscles performing without a hitch.

So far, so easy. Rhythm is harder to achieve, unless you are the rare one who just naturally has it. For real groovy rhythm the feet must touch the ground with equal force and speed. When one foot sounds louder or faster, you're off beat, out of step.

Correction comes from practicing to music—a waltz, not rock—until your footfalls tick off the beat evenly and soundlessly. Once you've got it, you chalk up a prized feminine grace - ability. And so you look lovelier.

O. H. Ivie Gives Talk On CRMWD

O. H. Ivie, manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, spoke on "Looking Ahead" at the Monday meeting of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The group met in the Silver Star restaurant.

Ivie stressed the need for future planning in industry, business or city growth so that adequate water resources will be available for expansion.

He said that the growth of a city depends on the utilization of the water supplies available, and although water may seem plentiful at the time, future resources must be constantly planned for and developed.

A map of the Robert Lee reservoir was shown, which Ivie said will be 22 miles long and two and one-half miles wide, with an approximate depth of 108 feet near the dam site.

Mrs. A. C. Moore spoke briefly on the duties of treasurer, saying that bills should be paid by check for accurate records.

Mrs. Robert McDonald presided and appointed Mrs. Edgar Phillips nominating chairman.

Thirty members and three guests, Mrs. Jimmie Hopper, Mrs. Edward Cole and Miss Dorothy Atchinson, attended.
