Prison Locating Committee Recommends Site Near Austin

SELECTION OF CAPITAL SURE TO OPEN FIGHT

Defeated Minority Members Promise to Carry Case To Legislature

LAND NOT OWNED

Committee Named to Draw Up Report for Governor and Solons

AUSTIN, Oct. 24. (AP)—The prison centralization committee, authorized by the present legislature to recommend to it plans for a modernized and centralized penitentiary plant, voted in favor of putting the proposed new central prison within approximately 20 miles of Austin, the state capital, today.

A minority composed of representatives A. H. King, of Throckmorton, A. T. Murphy of Livingston, and Harry N. Graves of Georgetown and Senator Nat Patton of Crockett lost in a determined effort to get the commission to vote for a site on present owned lands.

Senator Patton and Representative Murphy gave notice they would take to the legislature the fight to put the new prison on lands owned at present rather than purchase new acreage.

Committee Named

A committee of five, with W. A. Paddock of Houston, chairman of the commission, as an ex-officio member was authorized to draw up the report and recommendations to be submitted to the governor and the legislature. Paddock named the five members as follows: Senators E. E. Witt of Waco and J. W. Stevenson of Victoria, Representative John P. Wallace of Teague, and Dr. A. C. Scott of Tem-

Boy, 12, Strangles Woman to Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy was arrested tonight charged with having strangled Mrs. Clara Hewes, 76-year-old widow of "Hewes the Magician," in the bedroom of her West Seventeenth street apartment. Police said the boy, Edward Mocan, confessed he killed the woman because she awoke while he was stealing three dollars from her dresser.

Tulsa Officials Fined By Nebraska Game Warden

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 24. (UP)—When City Commissioner T. C. Hawkins, of Tulsa, Okla., and his three companions of Okmulgee, were stopped during their Nebraska hunting trip by game wardens, they were told they had violated laws to the extent of $406.

First they had failed, the game authorities said, to obtain non-resident licenses. Second, they were charged with getting resident permits at Grand Island through misrepresentation. And third they were charged for killing three female pheasants. They had bagged seven male pheasants in addition to the hens.

Hoover Back at Capital After Strenuous Trip

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—President Hoover returned to Washington this afternoon from his four-day trip to Detroit, Cincinnati and Louisville.

With Mrs. Hoover he drove directly to the White House and then went to his offices to dispose of an accumulation of business. The president was in excellent physical condition and fine spirits after the rather strenuous trip.

Hope Definitely Abandoned For Lake Ferry After Finding of Bodies

Bits of Wreckage With Life Belts Marked "S. S. [illegible]" Followed by Discovery of Two Victims

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 24. (UP)—The giant car ferry Milwaukee foundered in the storm-whipped waters of Lake Michigan, sometime during the past three days, carrying to their deaths Capt. Robert McKay and his crew of 51 men, it was established definitely tonight.

The worst storm in 30 years, which suddenly turned the lake into a maelstrom of mountainous gray waves, wind and snow last Tuesday, caught the ferry ploughing from Milwaukee to Grand Haven, Mich.

Nothing was heard of the vessel with 27 loaded freight cars in her hold until today when bits of wreckage, a cabin, mattresses, parts of a white superstructure and electric bulbs were found bobbing about the lake.

Then tonight fate of the 25-year-old ferry was sealed completely when the steamer Steel Chemist found bodies in the storm tossed water near Waukeegan. Around two of them were life belts marked "88, Milwaukee."

For three days, gales which at times reached a velocity of 53 miles an hour, swept over the lake, sent steamer after steamer onto rocks and disabled many others. During that time fears began to mount for the Milwaukee on her short run connecting terminals of the Grand Trunk railway at Milwaukee and Grand Haven.

$40,063 NOW IN CHEST FUND

City School Division Is in Lead

Four bright red feathers on four immense gray hats visible at downtown corners Thursday night signalled another milestone in the community chest drive. The four feathers indicated the subscription so far as "four-sevenths of the way up." The progress was reported by all divisions Thursday night, when it was announced that partial subscriptions already taken total $40,063.30.

One division, that consisting of the city schools and headed by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, led all the rest in its unprecedented response. With a quota of $600 assigned it, the school division turned in $900, or one and one-half times as much as was asked of it. The county division also went over the top, and districts 9, 11, 15, and 29 had turned in complete quotas.

Victim of Baffling Kidnaping Is Safe

DETROIT, Oct. 24. (UP)—Five-year-old Jackie Thompson slept peacefully in his wealthy father's home here tonight while police investigated what they termed Detroit's most unusual and baffling kidnaping.

The boy was abducted 24 days ago and his father, Henry S. Thompson, real estate dealer, was warned that his son would be killed unless $25,000 were forthcoming.

Police said that Thompson paid the kidnapers most of $25,000 last night. Shortly thereafter officers found the boy unharmed in an isolated house on the outskirts of the city.

State Solidarity Is Plea of Governor's Talk to Convention

By FRED DYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 24.—State solidarity was one of a triumvirate of thoughts given the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for consideration during the next two days of its 11th annual convention today by Governor Dan Moody of Texas, at its opening session.

Several hundred delegates passed out of the rain and blustery weather into the vast confines of Liberty hall for the opening session and heard Andy M. Bourland of Vernon, president, heads of important committees, and the state executive in addresses calculated to engender enough patriotism to keep the West Texas chamber going for not only another year but another decade.

Caldwell Tells 'Em

The speeches, together with a one-minute address by Cliff M. Caldwell, Abilene banker and oil man, were calculated as sufficient to still the previous harsh rumblings of dissolution of the chamber, engendered by the actuality of an $18,000 to $25,000 deficit, and a general lack of interest throughout the vast reaches embraced by the West Texas chamber.

"That idea of doing away with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is no good," said Caldwell, who yesterday volunteered to reach into his pocket for his share of the chamber's deficit. "If any of you are small enough to think so, withdraw. We do not need you. Get out. In less than 24 hours the debt will be a thing of the past. We will have the solution worked out in a short time."

Moody Mentions Prison

Stirred by the strains of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You," Governor Moody followed Mr. Bourland and various official welcomers with his chief address of the opening session.

In addition to his thought about state solidarity the youthful governor, standing with his left hand in the left hand trousers pocket of his pin striped blue business suit, excepting when he withdrew it to wave home emphasis of a point, added thoughts about the Texas highway system and the state prison system as fodder for the mills of the vast organization.

Both he called archaic. The road system was suffering from lack of plan and financing. An elective highway department never would do. It was the outcropping of colossal demagoguery to suggest it, he said. Texas would have good

New Vice President of Electra C.-C. Elected

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—At the board of directors meeting of the Electra Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, E. W. Barr was elected second vice president of the board to succeed Ed Klein who moved to Wichita Falls last week to assume the managership of Saul's annex. J. L. Chowning was elected chairman of the special committee of the Merchants Bureau association at the same meeting.

PRINCE ESCAPES

Humbert of Italy Shot at Shortly After Announcing His Engagement

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 24. (AP)—On the day of the official announcement of his engagement to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, Crown Prince Humbert of Italy narrowly escaped death from the bullet of a political assassin from his own country.

As the prince was placing a wreath on the tomb of the Belgian unknown soldier this morning, a shot was fired at him. It went wild and as the assassin prepared to shoot again, two Belgian detectives knocked him down.

According to the official account of the Brussels chief of police, the man ran a few steps forward from the crowd which was waiting to watch the ceremony and fired one shot. Before he could shoot again the detectives were on him.

FLOOD CONTROL BOARD FORMED

Orville Bullington Heads Red River Association

Special to The Record News.

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Red river flood control and navigation association was formed permanently in Denison today by representatives from four states who gathered here for a one-day session in interest of flood control on Red river.

A board of directors representative of the states was named by the association and the directors in turn elected the following officers: Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls, president; George Moulton, Denison, secretary; A. N. Leecraft, Durant, Okla., A. G. Mayse, Paris, M. L. Bath, Shreveport, and H. Moore Jr., Texarkana, vice presidents. Dr. Alex Acheson was elected vice president for life on account of his insistent work for 57 years on Red river navigation flood control and irrigation.

Sam Rayburn, congressman, spoke tonight to a large crowd pledging his support to the flood control project but warning that it would be necessary to enlist the support of every man and woman in the Red river valley to assist in selling the idea to others and ask that they begin immediately to talk and work on the proposed dam on Red river as a means of flood control that would also give navigation, irrigation and hydro-electric power.

Many prominent men spoke during the day. Among them Major Lee of the United States army engineers under whose direction surveys and soundings for a dam site on Red river have been made. It is the opinion of the leaders in this movement from four states that with consistent work by all cities and towns interested the matter may be brought to speedy attention of congress in the near future.

Second Pantages Juror Stricken

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. (AP)—Illness of another juror late today interrupted the trial of Alexander Pantages, when Mrs. Lotta Steiner declared that she was too ill to continue longer in the box.

Joseph Ford, defense attorney, was giving his summation of evidence in favor of the vaudeville magnate, on trial on a statutory charge, when the woman juror was taken ill.

She was the second juror to be stricken during the long court case, Harvey N. Connett previously having been pronounced in an unfit mental condition resulting from the strain of the trial.

Deputy Marshal Awaits 11 o'Clock to Lock Up Deliberators

FALL AWAITS VERDICT

Accused Former Secretary Refuses Dinner While Justice Grinds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (UP)—Apparently deadlocked, the jury which is considering the fate of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of interior, charged with bribery, was locked up for the night at 11 p. m. after having been out 11½ hours.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—The jury charged with finding Albert B. Fall guilty or not guilty, of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny for the Elk Hills oil lease had deliberated for more than nine hours as 9 o'clock neared tonight without bringing a verdict.

As the tenth hour drew to a close, a deputy marshal announced that if no verdict was reached before 11 o'clock he had been instructed to lock up the jury for the night. In that event it will be held in the District of Columbia supreme court building.

The former interior secretary was abed in his hotel awaiting instructions to return to the courtroom. His two daughters at the court said he had refused any dinner.

Justice William Hitz, who presided at the trial, was waiting at his home for any information as to when the jury indicated its readiness to return.

Dynamite Blast Kills Five Men

HOUSTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Four unidentified Mexicans were blown to bits this afternoon near Sugarland, 21 miles from here, when several cases of dynamite exploded. The four men, members of a dredging crew of the Sugarland industries, were eating their lunches while seated on cases containing the explosive.

The foreman of the crew, one of those killed, left the other three and borrowed a knife from another workman and began preparing fuses for use during the afternoon. The explosion followed his return to the group sitting on the cases. Part of the torso of one man was found.

Edison, in Good Spirits, Arrives at Orange, N. J.

ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 24. (US)—Thomas A. Edison arrived here today on his return from Dearborn, Mich., showing as much vigor as he has enjoyed at any time in the past decade. He was unusually high-spirited.

He nudged a camera man in the ribs, slapped the engineer and fireman on the back and pulled a chauffeur's cap down over his eyes. He posed for a photograph and then spoke into a microphone, saying: "I had a good trip—a very, very good trip. Henry Ford is all right."

Tickers Run Until After 7 o'Clock to Register All Of 12 Million Shares Sold

Heads of Largest Banking Firms Meet When Exchange Shows Signs of Going Into Panic and Issue Reassuring Statements

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—With a crash that unnerved the entire nation and caused worried banking conferences in Wall street, the stock market today broke out of bounds and dropped to ruinous depths before America's billions in wealth thrown into the gap, could stay the reaction.

All records went by the board. Sales totaled 12,894,650 shares, compared with the 8,246,740 shares traded on March 26, the previous record.

Sales in the first half hour reached the staggering total of 1,676,800 shares as blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares came out. This was at the rate of 16,736,000 shares for a full session.

Tickers Run Late

Tickers lagged far behind the market. At 2:50 they were reported 2 hours 40 minutes behind. They did not print the last quotation until 7:08 p. m., the longest period the ticker has ever run after the final gong.

The curb set a new record with sales at 6,337,400 shares, against its previous record some 3,000,000 shares less made two days ago. Curb tickers ran until 6 p. m.

Chicago stocks were hammered down with other financial markets and tickers also ran far behind. Sales on the Chicago market set a new mark at 1,220,000 shares.

Opening Is Calm

The opening price levels were mostly lower but none was depressed unduly. The big blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares on the big board were taken to represent forced liquidation of the day before when prices also were collapsing and no one appeared worried.

Then without notice the bottom fell out of the market. The leaders were under terrific pressure in a few minutes. Tickers got behind and prices were dropping so fast that stop loss orders were caught in profusion.

Small Traders Unload

Traders passed the word back from the floor. Brokerage wires carried out the information all over the country. Small traders who had been hanging on were unable to do so any longer. They unloaded their holdings without thought of what they would bring.

By noon the decline had gathered such momentum that heads of large financial institutions gathered at hastily called meetings.

Exactly what transpired in those

Advance Expected

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (UP)—The stock market today began laying the foundation for the constructive advance which will characterize 1930, according to the overnight market letter sent out today by Hornblower & Weeks, one of the largest brokerage houses in the financial district.

This letter was sent out after a conference of partners of 30 leading brokerage firms called by Col. J. W. Prentiss of Hornblower & Weeks.

'NIGHT AFTER' BUSY ONE FOR WALL STREET

Usually Quiet Old Canyon Brilliantly Lighted as Offices Work on

By DEMING SEYMOUR
New York Columnist

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—Wall street, normally as silent and deserted after dark as Trinity church grave yard which faces it, was alive with workers and ablaze with light tonight.

In every brokerage office the order had gone down the line that every employe from junior partners to switchboard girls and messenger boys must be prepared to work all night, so that the tangled affairs of the financial sector, resulting from the busiest day of trading in the street's history, might be set in order before the beginning of another day on the stock exchange.

Restaurants Prepare

Restaurants in the Wall street district which ordinarily are open only six hours a day and serve no meals but lunch to workers in the brokers' offices, hurried in extra stocks of food this afternoon and got ready to serve and send out meals until midnight or later to the more than 50,000 employes kept overtime at their desks.

The standing-room-only sign went out at all the hotels along

Mrs. Coolidge's Mother Is Dead

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the former president, died at the Cooley-Dickinson hospital here tonight.

Mrs. Goodhue had been a patient at the hospital since Dec. 11, 1927. On that date she suffered an attack of influenza from which she later rallied. Subsequently she relapsed, due to the infirmities of old age and had several sinking spells, two of which brought Mrs. Coolidge from the White House to her mother's bedside.

Since her return to Northampton, Mrs. Coolidge had spent two hours daily with her mother. Mr. Coolidge also was a frequent visitor at the hospital.

Mrs. Coolidge was at the bedside when her mother died, having been at the hospital since the afternoon. The former president also was at the hospital.

Bowie Man Named To Post by Homeopaths

DALLAS, Oct. 24. (AP)—Reduction of weight by dieting is "both foolish and harmful," the Texas Homeopathic association was told at its convention here today by Dr. J. M. Goss of Houston.

Dieting, Doctor Goss asserted, reduces strength as well as weight, inducing bodily weakness and leading to nervous disorders, tuberculosis and in cases insanity.

New officers were selected at the closing session today. They are Dr. F. V. Bryant, Martin's Hill, president; Dr. W. Henry Schwartz, Houston, first vice president; Dr. Jessie L. Givens, Bowie, second vice president; and Dr. William L. Smith, Denison, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting will probably be held in Houston next fall, it was announced.

Rev. Shuler Pays His Contempt Fine in Gold

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24. (US)—Gold, not pennies, was the medium in which the Rev. Robert P. Shuler today paid a $75 fine for contempt of court.

After the preacher was fined for statements about the trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages, convicted of manslaughter for fatally injuring Juro Rokumoto, Japanese, while driving while intoxicated, he announced he would pay off with 7,500 pennies.

The court clerk promptly announced pennies aren't legal for amounts over 25 cents. The Rev. Mr. Shuler paid his fine with three twenty, one ten and one five dollar gold pieces.

Mrs. D. W. Mulvane Dies At Home in Topeka

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 24. (UP)—Topeka mourned today the passing of one of its most prominent women with the sudden death here last night of Mrs. D. W. Mulvane, wife of the Republican national committeeman from Kansas. Mrs. Mulvane was frequently a guest at the White House in Washington.

She died after an acute heart attack.

Cash Powell Dies At His Home in Megargel

Special to The Record News.

MEGARGEL, Texas, Oct. 24.—Cash Powell, 28, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Stella Powell, here this afternoon after a brief illness.

Funeral services are to be held at Seymour Friday afternoon, it was announced.

Boy Inmates of Reform School Testify in Guard's Murder Trial

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., Oct. 24. (UP)—A vivid picture of an exhausted boy, cowering under the lashes of a prison guard, was drawn late today by several inmates of the state reformatory here, testifying in the trial of R. E. Davis, former guard who is charged with causing the death of Stanley Kelley, a 16-year-old inmate.

The youths have told the story three times before; once in a prison investigation, again at Davis' preliminary hearing and at a board of affairs investigation. The boys told how Kelley was beaten by the guard. Their voices were subdued and they showed no emotion.

J. L. Fleming led the procession of youthful witnesses to the stand. He was followed by Robert Jenkins, John Jackson, Elmer van Ness, Elmer Norton, Roy Hopewell and Harry Whistler. All were members of the "peanut patch detail" and worked alongside Kelley during the two hours which preceded the latter's death.

They said Davis beat Kelley with a hoe handle, struck him with his fist and kicked him as he groveled in the dust, on a torrid afternoon last July. The boy died soon afterward. Institution physicians said he died of sunstroke.

Boy, 17, Charged in Brownwood Bank Robbery; Second Suspect Is Held

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Oct. 24. (AP)—Bill White of Brownwood, a 17-year-old youth, was charged with robbery with firearms here tonight in connection with the $8,000 robbery of the Brownwood State bank earlier in the day. The bank was robbed by three unmasked men who escaped after Earl McClatchy, assistant cashier, had taken a shot at one of them through a porthole in the vault in which they locked him.

McClatchy was alone when the men entered the bank and forced him into the vault. They seized a package of currency in the vault and took the money in the teller's cage. When McClatchy shot they fled, escaping, according to those who saw them go, in a small coupe.

Sheriff M. H. Denman rounded up White and another man, who had not been charged tonight shortly after the robbery. The charge against White was entered after McClatchy and persons who saw the robbers leave the bank had been taken to his cell in the jail.

One of the robbers was thought to have left with several buckshot in his body as only 9 of the 12 in the shell could be found in the wall behind the spot the robber occupied.

STOCKS CRASH TO BOTTOM

Billions Poured Into Market To Halt Dive

meetings will never be known. If it were, one wonders what really might happen to the market tomorrow and the next day and the next.

Across from the stock exchange in the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., where many a conference of world-wide importance has been held, several of America's leading bankers gathered to discuss today's crisis, for such it was.

Today's market has never been equaled. Col. Leonard Ayres, economist of Cleveland, said that no country but America could withstand such a shock. Whether it did withstand the shock remains to be seen.

Leading Bankers

The bankers in Morgan's office included Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, largest bank in the world; Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National bank; William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company, and Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co.

At the close of the conference, Lamont called in newspaper men and, nonchalantly as he could, said: "There has been a little distress selling on the stock market this morning and we have held a meeting of financial institutions to discuss the financial situation."

Five Billions Lost

As he spoke the din of the stock exchange floor could be heard across the street. Tickers were nearly two hours late. Stocks had lost $5,000,000,000 from yesterday's last levels.

Reporters hurried out and their papers quickly published the result of the conference that was divulged. In a minute after the newspaper statement, Dow, Jones tickers had carried the news to the floor; brokers wired it all over the world. The part of Lamont's statement that turned the market was: "We have found that there are no houses in difficulty and reports as to the maintenance of margin are very satisfactory. We consider the situation on the stock exchange this morning a technical one rather than fundamental, and that it will result in a betterment."

Steels Comes Back

At about the same time that Lamont's statement was issued bankers began to support the leaders. Their buying brought U. S. Steel from 194 to 207, and other pivotal shares rebounded 10 to 20 or 30 points from their lows.

The effect was electric and that whole market steadied. Consistent buying by the biggest financial interests was barely able, however, to absorb the huge amount of offerings.

Brokers clerks were busily sending out margin calls; in fact they kept at this so long that they were unable to get prices from the floor for traders. As a result buying and selling was done in the dark. With tickers two hours or more behind, it was impossible to know what was going on. Sometimes there was a spread of 20 points between prices on the tape and on the floor.

During the afternoon pandemonium reigned in the brokerage offices and on the floor of the exchange.

Under the barrage of hammering one of the big bears of old days Jesse L. Livermore was bullish today. He admitted that he was buying all morning, and this helped matters also.

Charles E. Mitchell reiterated his bullish statement of a few days ago that there was nothing wrong with business, that the break in stocks had not affected it and that the brokers' loan total should not worry anyone.

Despite the assurances from the leaders, the rumor will ground out some really fantastic tales when the market was at its lowest and when it started to recover.

Holiday Saturday

Word was passed around the street that the stock exchange was to close its doors until the panicky situation had cleared up. Another was that the curb had stopped trading in Cities Service. These were promptly denied. There was good reason to believe, however, that the exchange would close Saturday all day to give harassed workers time to catch up with books in the financial district.

Commodities Break

The stock exchange and other financial markets were not the only ones to suffer. Commodity markets broke abruptly. At one time wheat at Chicago was down more than 11 cents a bushel. It came back as the stock market steadied. Cotton dropped to new lows for the season and rallied. Coffee and sugar declined and closed lower.

On the curb Utilities took a terrific beating. Prices broke in other groups but the decline was not as drastic as in that group. Cities Service broke all records for a single transaction, opening on a block of 150,000 shares at 53½, a deal involving more than $8,000,000.

As the excitement spread through the city crowds surged down to the financial district congregating about the offices of the stock exchange, J. P. Morgan and company and the sub-treasury. So great was the number of visitors to the stock exchange gallery that it was necessary to close the gallery entirely temporarily.

While the financial markets were in the throes of despair, the federal reserve board was meeting in Washington. The atmosphere was indeed gloomy. So tense had the situation become that Andrew W. Mellon made it a point to attend. The first meeting lasted until 1 p. m.

Rate to Remain

In the afternoon discussions were continued. What transpired was not divulged. At the close no announcement was made regarding the New York federal reserve rediscount rate of 6 per cent. This ordinarily means that the rate will remain the same, but it is easily possible to reduce the rate any time the board sees fit.

The biggest piece of financial news of the day of market import came in the announcement by the reserve that brokers' loans at New York had decreased $167,000,000 and that bill rate had been reduced to less than 5 per cent this usually precedes a rediscount rate reduction.

Call money was plentiful dropping from 6 to 5 per cent. Time money also was easier. This ease helped the market for U. S. government bonds, but the remainder of the bond market met with some selling that brought irregularity. Sales topped $24,000,000, a record for more than a year.

ple and Lee Simmons of Sherman, who, with Paddock, are members of the state prison board.

The committee will meet Nov. 5 in Houston, Paddock announced.

The subcommittee appointed by the commission to inspect land adjacent to Austin and recommend its choice for a prison site, merely reported back a list of the properties it had considered and stated that much of the land visited was "suitable and valuable." It said it could be had for from $40 to $125 an acre.

Advantages Told

It reported that many of the tracts had both highway and railroad transportation facilities and were accessible to power and gas lines. There were fine water springs on some and also gravel pits, the report said.

The commission voted to recommend a tract of approximately 1,000 acres for the central plant. It was recommended that farming activities should be continued and industrial endeavors added for state use only.

It was proposed that the major farming and stock raising activities and such processing of farm products as may be practical be confined to the part of the present owned state land that may be later determined to be the most suitable; that the centralized prison plant be built on the unit plan, part cell block and part dormitories along the line suggested by Dr. F. E. Giesecke, of A. & M. college, in the tentative plans submitted, and that prison labor be used as far as practicable in the construction.

It was recommended that the sum of $1,000,000 be appropriated to start the construction of the central plant and that $500,000 be appropriated annually thereafter for continuing the construction program until the system is completed.

It was agreed however, that the minority would be permitted to employ experts to make a survey and study of present owned penitentiary lands for the purpose of obtaining data to be used in submitting to the governor and the legislature its report.

Those voting for the Austin site were Paddock, Doctor Scott, Simmons, Wallace, Stevenson, Witt, Joseph Wearden of Goliad, J. B. H. Hoiderby of Fort Worth, E. H. Astin of Bryan, Fred Horton of Greenville, and Frank L. Tiller of Rosenberg.

Sir Howard Sails To Renew Old Friendship

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 24. (US)—Sir Esme Howard, ambassador from the Court of St. James to Washington, now aboard the S. S. Lady Hawkins bound for Tobago, British West Indies, is bound for the little British possession to renew a business friendship after an absence of 30 years.

Sir Esme disclosed, as he sailed Thursday, that his principal reason for visiting Tobago, which is 50 miles northeast of Trinidad, was to see Thurleigh Orde, a planter.

Population of Kansas Increases Slowly

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 24. (UP)—The population of Kansas has increased by only 92,321 persons in the past 10 years, figures released today by the census bureau of the state board of agriculture revealed. The state has a population of 1,852,114.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Pape's COLD COMPOUND to STOP a Cold

A disturbing cough and reddened nose, on the day she should appear to best advantage! How lucky that a certain compound will rout a cold in four or five hours! A simple thing, in pleasant tablet form—but it conquers a cold. One tablet of Pape's Cold Compound, as it is called, may ward off a cold that's just coming on; a bad cold that you've had for days may take several.

No laxative is necessary when Pape's Cold Compound is used. No sweating or other discomfort. These little tablets are all you need to knock your cold. 35c, at all drugstores.—Adv.

USE WANT ADS FOR QUICK RESULTS

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink good water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.—Adv.

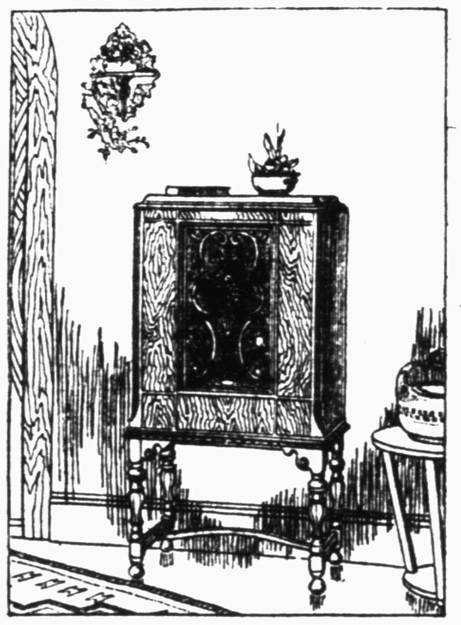

How Dallas Mother Keeps Children Well

When a person can depend on one medicine to keep herself and her family free from the effects of constipation for more than ten years, what more can you expect?

Mrs. H. A. Lawson, who lives at 2015 Terrace Drive in Dallas, says "Nature's Remedy hasn't failed us in the ten years since I first started using it for myself and children. I give these little tablets the credit for keeping us healthy all these years."

Results like that are what make Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) so popular. More than three million tablets are used a day. Any druggist will tell you to use them if you suffer from biliousness, sick headaches, indigestion, rheumatic aches and lack of energy. The cost is only 25c.—Adv.

DEATH CLAIMS S. M. WINTERS

Funeral Services to Be Held Friday Afternoon

Funeral services for S. M. Winters, 64, who died about 10:25 o'clock Thursday morning at his home, 1510 Fifteenth street, will be held from the First Methodist church at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon with E. F. Bohmfalk, director of religious education, officiating. Interment will be in Riverside. Arrangements are under the direction of the Dalton-Powell Funeral home.

Active pallbearers will be L. E. Cowling Jr., C. C. Randle, John A. Stulken, J. A. Deaton, C. O. Roark and R. M. Jones. Honorary pallbearers will be members of the board of stewards of the First Methodist church, of which Mr. Winters was a member at the time of his death.

Mr. Winters is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harold Smith of San Jose, Calif., two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Julian and Mrs. J. A. Clement, both of Pine Bluff, Ark.; one brother, Scott Winters of Pine Bluff; and three sisters-in-law, Mrs. E. G. Pease of Wichita Falls, Mrs. E. S. Foster of Dougherty, Texas, and Mrs. J. P. Cody of Pine Bluff. His wife died here last February.

He had been in the furniture business in Wichita Falls for many years until two years ago when his health became bad and he was forced to retire. He had been confined to his home for the past two years. He was a Mason and a member of the Methodist church.

TOMMIE JOE MIXON

Funeral services for Tommie Joe Mixon, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Mixon of Crowell, who died in Crowell Wednesday, were held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside. Mr. and Mrs. Mixon formerly lived in Wichita Falls.

E. L. Nichols Makes Self Defense Plea

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (UP) E. L. Nichols, 46, on trial for murder, told a jury here today that he killed his nephew, C. G. Burns in self-defense after he had been attacked under a viaduct. Burns' body was found under the viaduct last August.

Nichols testified Burns had threatened his life because Burns blamed him for a breach between Burns and his wife. State witnesses told of seeing Nichols near the scene of the murder.

Body of Man Found In Burned Automobile

WEWOKA, Okla., Oct. 24. (UP) —The body of a man found in his burned car was thought today to be that of C. F. Whistler, Seminole garage man who has been missing several days. The car bore a license plate issued to W. W. Walker, Earlsboro, but police said Walker had sold his car to Whistler. The car and the body were found north of Konawa yesterday.

SOCIALIST MAY FOLLOW BRIAND

First Cabinet of This Kind In France Forecast

PARIS, Oct. 24. (AP)—Following the success of the MacDonald Labor government in England, France may see her first Socialist ministry replace the government of Premier Aristide Briand, resigned.

A Socialist cabinet under the ist lawyer Paul Boncour, who has long represented France at the league of nations, was envisaged today by politicians as a possible solution of the French cabinet crisis.

M. Paul Boncour, one of the picturesque figures of French politics, is considered to have the best chances of succeeding to the office resigned by M. Briand, because the Socialists are the best-united group in the opposition and are better able to keep their men in line.

DAN AND JIM MAY RUN AGAIN

Pen Issue May Revive 'Fergusonism'

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—"Fergusonism" the disturbing factor in Texas politics for the last 10 years, threatens again for 1930 and, as little as some think, the situation is shaping itself to make probable a race between Gov. James E. Ferguson, with the penitentiary problem the uppermost issue, observers believe.

There are some prone to dismiss the Moody third term talk lightly, but the governor himself has lent a little dignity to it by his silence with reference to it.

Keeps His Plans Secret

Governor Moody is a man of his own mind and his closest friends are not likely to know exactly what his plans are. This much is certain: He has his heart set on accomplishing some kind of a solution of the vexatious penitentiary problem and make a modernized, industrialized and centralized plant something of a monument to his administration.

Now comes the former Governor Ferguson with the challenge that he "is some pumpkins when it comes to penitentiary matters." He threatens to enter the governor's race and make the matter the real issue. He said in a formal statement that he would spend about $500,000 fixing up the buildings at Huntsville instead of expending $5,000,000 for a new plant, and pardon some 2,000 convicts whom he insists are entitled to pardons.

Several weeks ago when the legislative penitentiary centralization commission came to Austin to hold a meeting, former Governor Ferguson was waiting outside for the session to begin. He was an interested spectator during the discussions.

Dan Didn't Like It

Governor Moody showed plainly while he was in the room that the former governor's presence was distasteful to him. When he was not occupied otherwise Governor Moody could be seen studying Ferguson and the thought he entertained could be pretty nearly interpreted by the expression on his face.

Governor Ferguson's poking fun at Governor Moody's penitentiary reformation plans and his threatening to enter the race for governor with that an issue is pretty apt to make Governor Moody alter his plans if he has any, and go to bat with his old-time antagonist.

Some say Governor Moody is too orthodox to run for a third term, but there are good Democrats who have done such things. Witness former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, who served four terms as governor of the empire state. Besides Governor Moody is a "Wilsonian" Democrat rather than a "Jeffersonian" Democrat. He said so himself last winter in the course of an address before a joint session of the legislature and then went on to explain that the only difference between the two is the "Wilsonian" Democrat is a little more up to date and believes in doing modern things.

Certain to Be Issue

It seems certain that the penitentiary problem will be the issue in next year's gubernatorial campaign. The prediction is now freely made by many who formerly believed the matter would be solved by the special session in January, that the legislature will be so badly split on the proposal of buying land on which to locate the central plant that there will exist a deadlock.

If this should be the case, Governor Moody could be expected to take the matter to the people and ask them to give him a third term and elect to office with him a legislature in accord with his views.

Fact is, there is such a wide divergence of opinion among legislators now that the close advisers of the governor are urging him to do this very thing. They are advising a special session of the legislature to consider the centralization commission's report since it is virtually certain it will recommend centralization on a site near Austin which would cost several hundred thousand dollars, and they have "felt out" the legislature sufficiently to know that it would not vote to do this, but on the contrary likely would express a desire that the central plant be on lands now owned.

Electra Oil Field Workers Hold Meeting

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Electra Oil Field Workers union, No. 156, met Tuesday night at the I. O. O. F. hall. W. P. McCarthy, president, presided over the meeting. J. T. Kee, new member, was initiated. Reports were given on J. L. Coulter's, international secretary of the union, trip to the American Federation of Labor convention at Toronto, Canada.

A letter from Mr. Coulter, who represented this union at the convention was read to the members. Mr. Coulter made this statement: "The convention was a great success and our work is great but we will not be satisfied until we have organized a union in every oil field in the United States."

J. M. Dale was chairman of the entertainment committee and presented Mrs. S. L. Orr, J. D. Martin and R. Chambers in several musical scores.

PISTOL SHOTS KILL WOMAN

Estranged Husband of Lubbock Woman Held

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 24.—Two pistol shots, evidently from close range, snuffed out the life this morning of Mrs. Vergie Lester, 26.

Clay Lester, 38, estranged husband of Mrs. Lester, who returned to Lubbock last night after four months' absence, surrendered five minutes after the shooting. Lester is being held in the Lubbock county jail without bail, charged with murder.

Mrs. Lester was rushed to a local hospital, where physicians who examined the wounds in the head, stated that she was killed almost instantly. Officers were out searching for Lester at the time of the shooting, his former wife having filed charges of assault early this morning. In the charges, Mrs. Lester declared that she was beaten by her estranged husband last night.

Asked for a statement, Lester replied to officers: "I have no statement to make today, but I will tell everything tomorrow."

DAWSON ROAD ISSUE PLANNED

Petitions Seek to Call Election

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 24.—Petitions are being circulated in Dawson county to call an election for a $1,250,000 road bond issue, according to Henry J. Price, president of the Dawson County Good Roads association. Committees are busy this week in each of the 32 school districts of the county carrying the petition. According to reports made here Tuesday of this week, after the petitions had been out only one day, the committees declare that there is a majority sentiment for the issue. Each voter in the county will be given an opportunity to sign the petition.

The plan of the good roads association is to hard surface six highway outlets from Lamesa including highway No. 9, north and south; highway 83, east and west; and the Brownfield and Stanton highways, northwest and southwest. The money will be distributed, including what state and federal aid that will be received, as follows: Highway No. 9, $984,481.65; No. 83, $755,281.80; Stanton highway, $225,146.00; Brownfield highway, $334,719. A total of 99.5 miles of highway will be built in this program. On highway No. 9, which is a federal highway, the county will pay one-third. On highway 83, a state road, the county will pay half. On the other roads which are county roads the county will pay all. The petitions will likely all be in with the next two weeks, according to Price.

Spouse Plays Flute To Applaud Singer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24. (UP)—Kansas City music critics today were disposed to regard the flute player who came here as accompanist to Florence Austral, Australian opera star, as a novel sort of claque.

The critics praised the singer's work but were amazed at the flutist, John Amadio, who, when he was not playing went to a box seat and joined the applause by blowing shrill staccatos on his instrument. Amadio is the singer's husband.

Electra Public Library Receives Many Gifts

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The reference department of the Electra public library has been greatly increased recently through gifts of books to the library. The library gift received from O. L. Anderson through Mrs. I. K. Williams will make a great difference in the literature department. These sets include 33 volumes of the "Universal Anthology," 14 volumes of the "Author's Digest," a complete set of Sir Walter Scott's Waverly novels which includes 22 volumes, and seven volumes of "Anglo-Saxon Classics." These books were slightly damaged in a recent fire, but are all valuable as they come from limited editions.

Other books were presented by Mesdames W. N. Cornelius, Grace Jennings, and Ada McDannald. Most of these books are classics and will be of special benefit to the English classes of the local high school.

For any BABY

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother does not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Castoria is readily obtained at any drugstore, and the genuine easily identified by the Chas. H. Fletcher signature that appears on every wrapper.

98 out of 100 Women Report Benefit.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the written endorsement of half a million women.

By accurate record, 98 out of every 100 women who report after taking it say, "It helped me."

What other medicine has such a record of success?

ETHEL FLEETWOOD
3023 Bandin St., New Orleans, Louisiana

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I couldn't stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help me. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your good medicine to many girls and I assure you that they have found the same good results. I will gladly answer letters from women or girls."—Miss Ethel Fleetwood.

MRS. ANGELINE MAJKOWSKI
517-153rd Place, Harvey, Illinois

"This is to thank you for helping me get my health. After I was married I had to be operated on and it didn't do me any good. I was so worried and cried all the time for I had spent over $800 for sickness and yet I didn't get better. I saw a sign about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a drug store and I took four bottles. Now there is happiness in our home, for we have two little boys with nice red cheeks. I am healthy myself and the more Vegetable Compound I take the better I feel. I have told my friends about it for I believe it will help anybody if they take it regularly."—Mrs. Angeline Majkowski.

MRS. W. OVERMANN
918 Regina Ave., St. Louis, Missouri

"Nine years ago when my little girl was born dead, I seemed to lose every bit of strength and vitality. I had an awful pulling down feeling in my back and my legs were so stiff I could hardly walk. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11-pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. About four months ago I became very nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable would relieve so I started taking it and now I feel fine again. Many of my friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done them."—Mrs. W. Overmann.

DOLORES WINTERS

"My! you look lovely to-night"

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last pimple had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love, may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities state it is an indication that the body's power of resistance to disease and infection is low. Meaning, that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to diseases.

S.S.S. is Nature's own tonic for improving the appetite, building strength, and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles, by increasing the red-cells of the blood.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years.

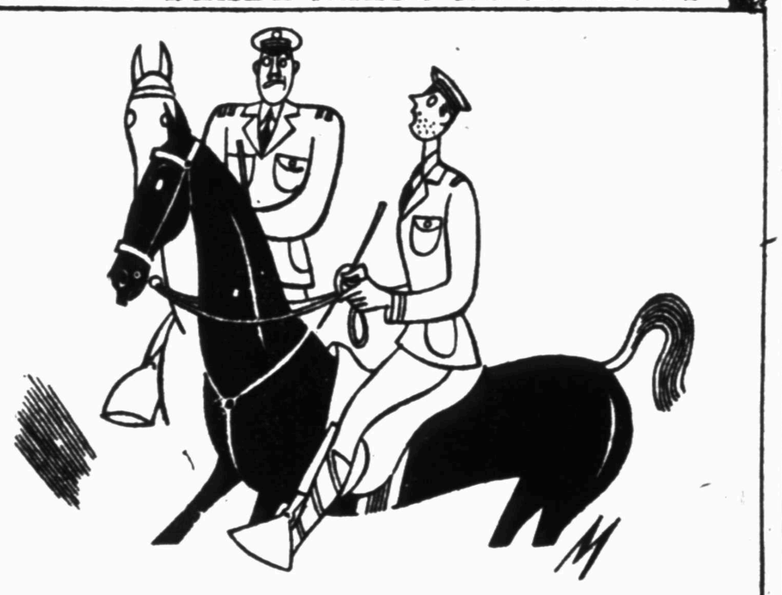

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

WAURIKA ROAD TO OPEN SOON

Grading Work Nearing Completion

Special to The Record News

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 24.—Work on highway 81 leading north from Waurika is almost completed and will be open for travel soon. The road has been closed during the summer for grading in preparation for paving early next spring.

All of the bridges are in and most of the work to be done now is on East D avenue from the edge of town to the end of the pavement on D avenue.

A new detour of two miles leads to the highway which is completed to the Stephens county line. The old detour which was closed this week was 14 miles long.

The contract for paving this strip of highway has been let and work will begin early in the spring. Work of surveying the rest of the way across Jefferson county was halted by an injunction from the supreme court following a proposed change in the course of the road.

The bonds were voted for the road to come into Waurika from the east and then on south into Ryan. When the new state highway commission came in, they planned to change the course of the highway, so it would not turn into Waurika but continue on south at a point a mile east of town and passing through the east edge of Ryan.

The supreme court has not yet made a decision as to route which the highway will go.

Electra Pastor Leaves For Conference Today

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—Rev. H. E. Anderson, pastor of the Methodist church, has just completed his third year's work at Electra and will leave Thursday for McKinney to attend the North Texas conference, to be held there over the week-end. While there he will be appointed to his field of labor for the coming year.

The Rev. Mr. Anderson made this statement: "I have just finished one of the most successful year's work in my life. The work at Electra has been great and successful. All church claims have been paid and there were 200 members added to the church."

The congregation gave a farewell luncheon for Mr. Anderson several days ago. J. H. Harris, member of the Methodist board of directors, stated that the church hopes that Mr. Anderson might be assigned here for another year.

'Trade in Electra' Campaign Discussed

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The publicity committee of the "Trade in Electra" campaign, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, called a special meeting at the Marriott hotel Wednesday noon. A luncheon was held in connection with the meeting. The committee is composed of H. H. Pearlman, chairman; Kenneth Bruhs, E. B. Marchant, and J. L. Chowning. The principal speakers at the luncheon were H. H. Pearlman and Robert P. Hall, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Pearlman explained what the "Trade in Electra" campaign was and gave a very suggestive outline that might be followed in making the campaign successful. Prizes totaling $1,500 will be given away at the close of the campaign which is Jan. 6, 1930. The high point stressed in Mr. Pearlman's address was that every merchant in Electra ought to enter into this campaign and help build a greater and better Electra.

Wichitans Address Rocky Point P.-T. A.

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Rocky Point P.-T. A. held its regular meeting at the school house Monday night. Mrs. Frank Creighton of Wichita Falls, president of the 13th district P.-T. A., gave a talk on "The Value of a P.-T. A." Mr. Creightotn gave a talk on "Community Entertainment."

The following program was given: Song, Lima and Vivian Butler, Mildred Hunter, Rose Nell Hunter and Doris Drake; violin solo, Miss Lois Cheaney; "Causes and Prevention of Fires," Mrs. P. J. Scott; "Loss of Dife Due to Fire," Mrs. P. H. Parsons.

DIRECT DEBT PLAN TALKED

Agreement Independent of Young Plan Discussed

BERLIN, Oct. 24. (UP)—Negotiations have been started between the United States and Germany to conclude a direct war reparations agreement which would be independent of the Owen D. Young plan.

The conversations opened five weeks ago, the United Press learned today, when Ambassador Jacob Gould Schurman presented an aide memoire to the foreign office suggesting a separate treaty.

The German government accepted the proposal in principle but raised technical points to be settled. Washington has replied to the points raised in a manner believed to be acceptable to Germany and no difficulties were expected in concluding the agreement.

It is scheduled to be signed before the European governments adopt the Young plan.

The purpose of the proposed agreement is threefold:

1. It will enable the United States government to adopt an attitude of benevolent neutrality towards the Young plan without signing or ratifying it.

2. It will permit the United States government and federal reserve to maintain an aloofness towards the international bank, created by the Young plan, but allow private American citizens to participate in operation of the Young plan and the international bank's machinery.

3. The proposed accord would be similar to the United States debt agreements with Great Britain and other former allied nations, thus granting Germany the moral and psychological advantage of being placed on the same footing with other United States debtors.

There are 400,000,000 women in Asia in need of education, it is said.

MEXICO CHURCH ROW RENEWED

Minister of War and Delegate Exchange Views

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—Controversy over the status of the Roman Catholic church in Mexico has begun again, with the minister of war, Gen. Joaquin Amaro, and the apostolic delegate, Archbishop Leopold Ruiz y Flores, the principal actors thus far.

Tuesday night General Amaro in a long published statement bitterly assailed the church, charging the clergy had opposed the workers in their revolutionary aspirations and stating the Mexican army would go to its own records and write its own history of the religious wars of the last few years.

Today the archbishop replied with a brief statement lauding the desire of the army to make itself truly illustrious and invade the literary field.

But, he declared, the time was not yet ripe to write the history of the "Cristero" rebellion and that calmness that only time will bring was needed to give a true picture of the religious conflict and place responsibilities where they belong.

General Amaro's statement, which asserted the Mexican clergy was the greatest enemy of the Mexican revolution, was played prominently in Mexico City newspapers today as the first pronouncement of a high government official on the religious controversy since partial settlement of the question last June.

Work on Electra Landing Field Starts

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—Work has begun on the Electra aviation landing field on the tract secured from the Magnolia west of Electra. W. A. Asbil, chairman of the committee of the chamber of commerce, sponsors, stated that the weeds were being cut and that the runways were being oiled and that in a short time the field would be completed. The Electra Lions club have cooperated with the chamber of commerce in securing the field. Letters of appreciation have been sent to the Magnolia company for their hearty cooperation in the matter.

Dawson County Bank Deposits Show Increase

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 24.—Bank deposits at this time show a large increase over the same period last year, according to the records. Combined deposits in Lamesa total $1,200,000. The cashier of the First National bank reports a healthy financial condition for Dawson county at this time. The banks have sponsored and backed a diversified program here for the past three years and as a direct necessity of this financial assistance Dawson county farmers in the main are now making a living at home.

ESTATE FIGHT COMES TO END

Aged Princess' Will Filed For Probate

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (INS)—The fight over the estate of Princess Clara von Hatzfeldt Wildenberg, of California, said to range between two and five million dollars, has been settled "to the satisfaction of all," it was learned today when Max D. Steuer, counsel for the estate, offered the will for probate.

Charges of fraud submitted by Edward W. Prentice, grandnephew, and three other minor heirs were withdrawn by their attorney, George Gordon Battle.

The Principal legatees under the will, who were accused by Prentice of unduly influencing the aged princess, were Henry Beauchamp Harrison and Com. Philip de Crestigny of the British navy, each of whom received $615,000 and Joseph Jackson, Ernest Nathaniel and Florence Montefiere Guedella.

Princess Clara, who died abroad last December, was the daughter of a Sacramento, Calif., grocer, and was adopted by the late Collis P. Huntington, western railroad magnate.

"Pilgrim's Progress," next to the Bible, has been translated into more languages than any other book.

Altrusans Give Lovely Dinner-Bridge Party

Orange balloons, Spanish moss and orange drapes from the lights gave the dining room at the Country club a gala aspect Wednesday night when members of the Altrusa club with their guests enjoyed a dinner spiced with fun before the bridge games that followed in the sun parlor downstairs.

The large table was made in the shape of a hollow square with another table in the hollow piled high with masses of Orange cosmos. Frills of orange and black crepe paper down the center of the tables were almost hidden by the orange cosmos that made the flower decorations so vivid. Place cards were decorated with black cats and orange pumpkins.

A punchboard which each person punched for his or her fortune and read aloud at the table, was the first thing to do away with formality. Three telegrams delivered to Mrs. Kathleen Nelms, Miss Mineola Harding and to M. A. Ellis, were hilariously received and a game of questions and answers played at the table made fun the note of the evening. A question was read aloud and some one at another table read an answer which might or might not fit.

Everyone was said to be perfectly at home by the time the party went downstairs, where great logs burned in the big fireplaces, to enjoy the bridge games there.

In the games, Miss Pearl Rorabaugh won high among the ladies, and was presented with a lovely Dresden flower basket. The ladies' low, a jewel case, went to Mrs. Helen Kendall, who also won the cut prize, a pretty bridge set. M. A. Ellis won high among the men and received a handsome desk smoking set. The men's low went to C. W. Helms, a cigaret box.

Miss Frances Brooks, chairman of the social committee, with Misses Lucia Powell, Juanita Kinsey, Mineola Harding and Catherine Walker, were largely responsible for the success of the evening.

Members present were Mesdames Kathleen Nelms and H. F. Weldon, Misses Maude Thomas, Juanita Kinsey, Florence Watson, Eva Wallace, Frances Brooks, Lucia Powell, Mineola Harding, Olive Olson, Myrle Neely, Maurine Williams, Catherine Walker, Dr. Maude Lindsey and Dr. Fleta Woolsey. The guests included Misses Dora Landrum, Erma Schnelle, Pearl Rorabaugh, Loretta Stephenson, Pearl Carlyle, Ethel Louise Webb, Nannie Mae Scott, Lenora Shaw, Nell Gibbs, Zula McKay, Lucile Doak, Elizabeth Brown, Mesdames Edna Vogt, Hermione Stewart Vaughn, M. B. Oates, Helen Kendall, Evelyn Bain, Messrs. and Mesdames T. S. Andrews, John Rhea and M. A. Ellis and C. W. Nelms.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

C. P. Brewer is, so everyone at the Rotary club will agree, a most generous man.

◇ ◇ ◇

This idea of pie and sandwich sometimes calls for "More pie" and at one table Thursday, they were matching to get a left over piece. A certain young lady began reconnoitering other tables for extra slabs that had been passed up. She saw a gentleman who had brought candy and cried, "Oh candy!" He began to toss her pieces of candy, which she nobly divided with her hungry table mates. One man called her a "go-getter."

◇ ◇ ◇

Someone remarked that the speaker of the day had not eaten his pie. She saw who it was and called, "Mr. Brewer, will you give me your pie?" He stopped, picked up his sandwich and pie and came round, put them down before her and took off his wrist watch, his ring and placed them beside the food. He seemed ready to lay down all his worldly goods.

◇ ◇ ◇

She kept the pie but gave back the jewelry and now the members of the Rotary club are offering her a commission to sit at their different tables.

◇ ◇ ◇

There's a sort of spirit of comradeship at these different luncheons that goes a long way toward promoting goodwill.

◇ ◇ ◇

But it seems to us that in the West, this spirit of comradeship is a part of the spirit of the country.

◇ ◇ ◇

The gentlemen who make up the club are not at all afraid to talk directly to the "Press."

◇ ◇ ◇

The Gentleman at the Keyhole tells of the first time Arthur James, now Lord Balfour, came to America in war time and when told he must talk to the press; flatly refused. They told him that it was as customary a thing in America as wearing knee breeches to court in England, and he finally said he would talk.

◇ ◇ ◇

All one night he was sleepless, dreading the ordeal. He made his appearance the next day like a man being led to the gallows. He fixed his eyes about 100 feet above the heads of the reporters awaiting his address, and after talking a few minutes, was led away perspiring.

◇ ◇ ◇

How differently newspaper folk are looked on in this country. No one is afraid of a reporter!

◇ ◇ ◇

And not many reporters are afraid of any public person. All their awe is for the man who uses a blue pencil on their copy.

◇ ◇ ◇

The extreme dignity that used to be practiced in public life is a thing of the past anyway. We have not long since heard one of the best loved ministers in the town offer to bet $5 on a ball game, (though he didn't mean it.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Another day, the same preacher, seriously pulled a cigar or tobacco coupon from his pocket and said he was saving them; that when you saved a thousand, you got a salt shaker. But how his eyes twinkled!

◇ ◇ ◇

To Prevent Fine Things Fading in Washing Machine

Simple Way To Stop Fade And "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap is Used

Soap eat of fragile things and fading of delicate colors in either washing machine or tub can easily be corrected now, even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

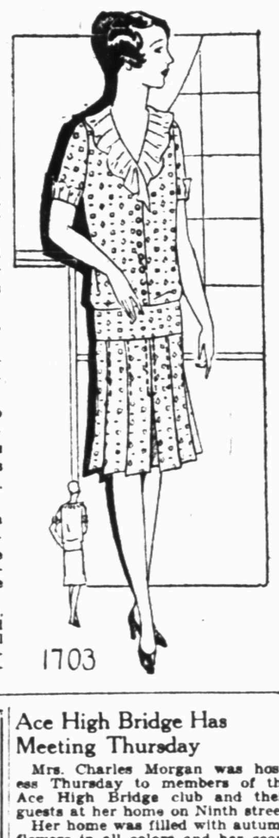

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For small wash basins, use 1 teaspoonful of CLIMALENE.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

Pattern 1703

An adorable frock for wear about the home is developed in a gayly printed cotton fabric. The front bodice opening is both practical and smart. The skirt is side pleated and stitched to hold the pleats neatly in place. A snug hip band gives a decidedly slender effect.

Design 1703 may be made of gingham, percale, pique or rayon, printed in colorful geometric or floral designs on a white ground. The softly becoming collar and cuffs are made of white lawn or pique. Tiny colorful pearl buttons finish the frock.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42.

Size 16 requires 3 yards of 40-inch material and ¾ yard of trimming.

This model is easy to make. No dressmaking experience is necessary. Each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions including yardage for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of 15 cents in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

The fashion book is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

Members of division four of the Highland Heights Christian church met in an all-day session Thursday with Mrs. C. R. Haile, 1204 Kemp boulevard.

The devotional was given by Mrs. G. W. Curd and "Hidden Answers" were given by each member present.

A delicious luncheon was served to Mesdames G. W. Curd, Edgar Weehunt, Mont Groves, C. C. White, Charles Nachtigal, C. R. Haile, C. E. Russell, E. L. Moore and one guest, Mrs. O. G. Norwood.

Federated Mission Society Has Inspiring Program

One of the most inspiring and interesting meetings of the Federated Missionary societies was the quarterly meeting held at Temple Israel Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. G. R. Ellis, in the chair and opening the meeting. Following the congregational singing, a prayer was offered by Mrs. J. Lem Keevil and Mrs. Harry Hines, program chairman, presented the program.

Mrs. Paul Greene gave the devotional, followed by a prayer by Rabbi Schwab.

Mrs. L. E. Trout sang "In the Garden," accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Wilcox, after which Bertha Mae Kruger read "Patsy."

Mrs. Wilcox gave a lovely organ number, the "Largo from the New World Symphony," by Dvorak.

In the business session, standing chairmen gave their reports and Mrs C. E. Bailey, parliamentarian, read the constitution and bylaws.

Mrs. W. H. Downing, chairman of the juvenile jail work, introduced Mrs. Graham, the matron, who thanked the society for the splendid work done at the juvenile jail.

Mrs. J. A. Kemp reported on the work at the day nursery kindergarten, saying there were 25 to 30 in average attendance.

Mrs. F. T. Datson, superintendent of the day nursery, gave a report of gifts of money, clothing and food received at the nursery since last May. She also reported an average daily attendance of 60 and more for the last three months. The First Presbyterian and Grace Methodist churches were reported to have held a birthday party at the nursery this month.

Mrs. Ginsberg, membership chairman, reported 1,080 members.

Zenobia Trimble reported 1,282 children cared for at the colored day nursery in the last three months.

Dix Tells Youth How to Become Girls' Favorite

It's No Trick at All for a Boy to Get a Girl to Make a Date With Him, But to Make Her Consider Him an Answer to Prayer Takes Looks and Skill and a Vast Sophistication.

A boy, who is just beginning to step out with girls asks me how he can make a hit with the flappers. Well, son, that is no trick at all, for girls are simple creatures and easily pleased and they do not turn a critical eye upon a date. Young men demand much of the girls they take out, but girls demand little of their escorts. A girl has to be a combination living picture, vamp and daily hint from Paris in order to be popular with the boys, but a boy doesn't have to be anything but a member of the masculine sex to have the girls remember his telephone number.

Still and all, there is a difference between being regarded as a makeshift and an answer from heaven to a maiden's prayer, and so if a boy wants to really be a wow with the girls there are certain things he does well to bear in mind.

First, be as easy on the eyes as you can, and this refers more specifically to your clothes than it does to your face and form. Girls are not particularly enamored of beauty in a man. They prefer to monopolize the good looks themselves and they hate a man who always has to be told what beautiful eyes he has and who is smirking in every mirror he passes.

So it doesn't make any difference whether you have a classical profile or a snub nose or straight locks or hair with a natural wave in it, but it does make a world of difference whether you are freshly barbered or need a shave and a haircut and whether your clothes have just been to the presser or look as if you had slept in them.

In a way, the chap that a girl goes out with represents her personal achievements. He is something she flaunts in the faces of the other girls and, this being the case, she wants him to look as if she had made a killing instead of something that the cat brought in and left at a spinster's door.

Next, learn how to do things. Men tolerate inefficiency in women, but women never forgive it in men. They have a contempt for men who remain bungling amateurs, who never learn their way around.

So learn how to do things. Learn how to dance. If you were an Apollo and Solomon and Mr. Ford rolled into one, every girl would groan inwardly when you cut in if you stepped all over her feet. Learn how to play a good game of bridge. Learn how to order a nice dinner at a restaurant. A girl could forgive you all the seven deadly sins sooner than feeding her on corned beef and cabbage.

Learn how to get the good seats at a theater and how to take care of a girl in a crowd without getting her trampled on. Learn how to get along without having rows and arguments with ushers and waiters and taxi drivers. There is nothing that makes a greater impression on girls than sophistication, so pull that man-of-the-world stuff if you want to make a hit with Arabella.

Next, cultivate a line. When you are with a girl don't sit up like a dummy and expect her to feed you conversational cues. Don't make her work like a coal heaver to entertain you. Do some of the talking yourself. It is no harder for a boy to manufacture conversation than it is for a girl. Display some human interest in the topic she introduces. Play up to her. If you are one of the great silent ones who can never think of a word to say, for goodness sake take her to the movies or somewhere where there is something doing so she won't die of boredom before the evening is over.

But here is a warning: If you do talk, don't talk about yourself. Don't think that you are giving a girl a treat and that she is having a perfectly thrilling time when you make her sit up and listen for two hours while you monologue along about yourself. She isn't enjoying herself. She may wear the smile that won't come off, but that is because girls have to endure the tedious Tommies while they are waiting for the man who really interests them to come along. Just remember that your mother is the only woman on earth who wants to hear all about your radio and your car and how many miles you make on a gallon of gasoline and what you said to the boss and he said to you.

But if you want to be a spellbinder with the fair sex, just tell the girl how beautiful and wonderful she is and how different from the other girls and that there is something, you don't know what, about her, etc., etc. A bigamist, who had had 47 wives, once told me that it was no trouble in the world to make a woman fall in love with you. All you had to do was to talk to her about herself.

Don't patronize girls. There is nothing that women resent so much as that. There is nothing that fills them with such cold fury as for a man to disparage their sex and to assume that all women are morons. This is a mistake that many callow young boys make and it makes every girl who knows him long to give him a bump that will deflate his egotism.

Nor does any girl like the boy who adopts a condescending attitude toward her and who treats her as if she should be down on her knees in gratitude toward him because he condescends to notice her and take her out now and then. No girl wants a date thrown at her as you would throw a bone to a hungry dog. She wants to feel that a man considers it a favor to have the honor of her company.

Be generous, but don't let girls work you if you want their respect. They despise a tightwad, but they have a contempt for a sap. So be neither. Remember that girls work nowadays and they know just how many hundred cents are in a dollar and they can make a mighty shrewd guess at how much you earn.

So, when you take your little sweetums out give her a good time within your means, but don't let her hold you up for champagne and caviar and six birthdays a year. The right kind of girls won't want to run you in debt and the less popular you are among the gold-diggers the better for you.

Finally, son, be a gentleman. That is invariably a knockout with the girls, because there aren't so many boys now who don't demand that a girl shall pay with a petting party for every 10 cents that he spends upon her. And in her heart every girl, even the wild one, longs to have a man treat her with chivalry and respect, as a gentleman treats a lady.

Try it, son, and see if it doesn't work. —DOROTHY DIX.

CANAL DREAM COMING TRUE

Inland Water Route Nears Completion

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 24. (AP)—The prospective materialization of what was once a dream—a big inland water route connecting North and South—will be described before some 500 delegates from Texas and Louisiana in the 25th convention of the Intercoastal Canal association of Louisiana and Texas here Oct. 25 and 26.

Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, active vice president of the organization, is ready to report that within three years the "canal will be doing business and boats, pulling tremendous cargoes of raw materials and basic products, will be plying between Pittsburgh and Corpus Christi."

A number of prominent figures in the development of inland waterways throughout the country will tell of their hopes and their plans. They include Representative S. Wallace Dempsey of Lockport, N. Y., chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee, and Congressman John McDuffie of Alabama, W. E. Hull of Illinois, J. J. Mansfield of Texas, all members of the committee; Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, general counsel for the Mississippi Valley association; J. Ralston Cargill of Columbus, Ga., president of the Chattahooche Valley and Gulf association; Republican National Committeeman R. B. Creager of Brownsville.

Officers of the organization will make their reports and recommendations. They are C. S. E. Holland of Houston, president; Kyle S. Hamblen, treasurer, and Mr. Miller.

In Saturday's session the gulf coast will be treated of, particularly by Col. Mark Brooke, government engineer of the division. Officers also will be elected.

Oklahoma's Farm Loan Fund Short

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (UP)—The state school land department soon will be forced to reject applications for farm loans unless the department is able to sell some farms, Walter Hart, secretary, said today.

A part of the permanent building fund of the state is invested in bonds and unless the department can sell some of these bonds they will be forced to transfer them to the farm loan fund to obtain $500,000 needed in connection with the building of the new historical building on the capitol grounds, Hart said.

The farm loan fund already has $625,000 in educational and road bonds which have been transferred from the permanent building funds.

The commission recently sought to sell $1,250,000 worth of bonds but did not receive a bid on them.

Hart pointed out that the law prohibits the state from selling bonds at less than par and accrued interest. He said he explained the high rate of interest on call money in New York is the reason the state received no offer for these bonds.

77 Counties Sent Checks for Schools

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (UP)—Checks totaling $526,485.10 went to the 77 Oklahoma counties today as their share of the first apportionment of the fiscal year of state common school funds, Walter Hart, secretary of the state school land commission, said.

Amounts of the checks were based on scholastic population of 750,893. Part of the money was for rent and interest on oil leases on sections set aside for common schools. The rest of the money was from the quarter mill tax levy for common schools. Part of the checks were based on an apportionment of 50 cents per capita and those from the quarter mill levy were based on apportionment of 20 cents per capita.

Tulsa county received the largest amount based on scholastic population of 47,463, an increase of more than 1,000 population. Tulsa county's two checks totaled $33,224.10.

Oklahoma county was second with $32,707.50, based on scholastic population of 46,725, which exceeded last year's population by 6,000. The smallest amount of money went to Cimarron county, with a scholastic population of 1,496. Apportionment totaled $1,047.30.

Girl Reserves held the second of a series of three candy sales Thursday afternoon in the front corridors of the junior college. Their next sale will be Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, according to Miss Juanita Kinsey, faculty sponsor.

Football Rally

High school and junior college assembly was given over entirely to a football pep rally Thursday morning at the regular assembly period. C. C. Frazee, boy gym instructor, and six boys presented a mock parade to advertise the football parade to be held Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The parade will form at the Producers Creamery and will march through the main business section of the city. Mrs. Hermione Vaughn, musical director of the high school and college, led a short peppy singsong with Miss Mary Sue Elliott at the piano.

Girl Reserve Party

The Girl Reserves expect a large crowd at their party Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, according to Miss Juanita Kinsey, faculty sponsor. Members of the social committee will act as hostesses while the program committee will be responsible for the entertainment. The party will be held in the junior college cafeteria.

Biology Display

Mounts and charts from the biology department of the high school make the display case in the front corridor very attractive this week. Each student in this department has collected various types of insects and rare flowers or plants to mount for the biology work. Each week there is a new display in the case representing some department of the school to inform the students what their classmates are accomplishing.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

A Stomach Remedy That Seldom Fails

No matter your condition or how many remedies you have tried for stomach trouble, ask any druggist what he thinks of GORDON'S—the stomach and bowel antiseptic. He will likely tell you about some of your neighbors with stomach trouble of long standing, who learned its value after taking many other medical treatments without result.

Why not take it before your case becomes serious? It costs no more than ordinary remedies—less than three cents a dose. One dose will bring quick relief from indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, bloating, heartburn, sour stomach. GORDON'S soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated stomach lining made raw by acids and poisons. Get a bottle today. If not satisfied, the druggist will refund your money.—Adv.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

THE CRUMB EATER

Daily Editorial

THE FIRST strokes of the artist aren't wasted, even if they are erased.

The first formulas of research are seldom correct, but they tell what need not be further considered, and thus narrow the field of possibility.

Experiment involves mistakes, but if you don't make the same mistake twice, the error becomes an asset—you've learned something else not to waste time on.

Until every outcropping has been investigated, the prospector stands a show to find ore. And until every expedient of law has been applied, the attorney has a chance to win his case.

Until every selling plan has been considered, ingenuity may still hope to turn the tide.

It's the won't-quits, the men determined to make good next time, the old guards who'd rather die than surrender, who live to sign pay-checks instead of wage receipts.

While you're scrambling for windfalls with other job-cowards—waiting for something to fall your way—they are up in the top branches collecting the juicy plums.

Timidity's struggle for mere existence tears harder than ambition's fights for distinction.

Even a king can't read without learning the alphabet. Princes must spend as much time on the A B C's of anything as scullions. Roses in imperial gardens die as quickly from neglect as those in the peasant gaffar's yard.

◇ ◇ ◇

YOU MUST do as much as the next man to possess as much as he owns. You can't cut across lots while straight highways are the shortest distances to success.

You can only reduce the trip to the goal by developing a different stride and maintaining a faster pace.

When you judge yourself clever enough to get more by giving less—you've furnished absolute proof you can't.

Every century has known thousands of such fools, but they have never been known beyond their century.

If half-enoughers were permitted to seize and hold opportunities reserved for thoroughness, there'd be no impetus for merit.

Success has left few foot-prints on the plains—they're marked on the up-slopes.

One finds none but cultivated laurels in the wreaths of fame.

You play too safe, to play a vital part in the affairs of this highly competitive century.

You miser your cheap pinchbeck present as though it were the golden hour of destiny. You'd rather have a poor certainty than a rich venture.

Wishing for things is like fishing for things—wasted effort without perseverance and the right bait.

There's a chance for every man in the country, but you haven't spunk enough to earn yours.

Had wills of your caliber prevailed in America, there'd be no transcontinental systems, no Hudson tunnels, no hydro-electric plants, no pre-eminence in arts or industries or commerce.

Nothing valuable was ever bought or wrought with counterfeit attempts. Or plucked from the wish bush.

You refuse to meet the terms of independence or promotion and consequently will remain a raven, packing at worthless leavings—a crumb eater condemned by indifference and irresolution to accept what's left when ability has satisfied its appetite for "white meat."

Today in Texas History

OCTOBER 25

1692—Withdrawal of Spaniards from Mission San Fernando de los Tejas.

1823—General Burleson routed marauding Cherokee Indians at Pecan bayou.

1839—Dallas held a tournament of Knights Errant.

If they start convicting buyers as well as sellers of liquor, who is going to give the testimony?

A radio is a device that sounds fine in your own house and terrible next door.

Tribute Paid to Texas Trail Drivers

TEXAS old trail drivers to the number of 400 held their annual convention in the city of San Antonio. Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt was one of the orators. He paid tribute to the "men who have camped on every river and stream, in every valley between the Rio Grande and the Red river and who fought Indians day and night that civilization might be established in the Southwest."

Memories of old Texas were recalled by Col. M. L. Crimmins. He furnished facts and figures. He said that in the period following the civil war there was little cash in Texas; that the first ready cash brought to the state came as a result of selling herds of beef cattle and that from the year 1868 to 1888 50,000 Texas cowboys drove 10,000,000 head of cattle north.

He declared that the first great cattle trail was called the Northern trail and it started a few miles south of Austin, crossed the Brazos river at Kimbleville and went on through Cleburne, Fort Worth and Gainesville. It was then called the Chisholm trail and crossed the Red river into Indian territory and finally into Kansas City.

Gone are the old cattle trails, gone are the longhorn steers, gone are the Indians and the buffalo, but 400 trail drivers who "fought wild Indians day and night that civilization might be established in the Southwest," remain in the land of the living. They drive autos now. They speed over concrete highways. They were in the old picture. Now they are in the new picture whose makers have forgotten all about the Chisholm trail and the range riders who made history in the long ago.

Law Is Law in Carolina

JUDGE A. M. STACK of North Carolina has ruled from the bench that a man's religion, political or social belief are not competent to discredit him as a witness. It seems the question of impeachment of a witness by showing he is an atheist or holds to Communist doctrine bobbed up at the trial of four men charged with flogging a textile union organizer.

Fourteen men were arrested in connection with the flogging, but the number was reduced to seven.

A witness for the state was pounced upon by the attorneys for the floggers. They demanded his impeachment, because of his alleged beliefs. Arguments on the point followed.

Judge Stack declared a supreme court opinion of the past century holding a witness must believe in God in order for his testimony to be competent, had been nullified by the 14th amendment of the constitution of the United States, which guarantees equal protection of the law to all.

It appears that the 14th amendment has been resurrected and revived in the Tar Heel commonwealth.

Black Diamond Passed On

BLACK DIAMOND is in his grave. Black Diamond was a ferocious elephant, a Dr. Jekll and Mr. Hyde of the elephant family. He was as loving as a cooing dove one day and as mad as a March hare the next. He was a killer in his mad moments. Away down here in Texas his antics, his slaying and his funeral made it possible for his owner to receive a million dollars worth of newspaper publicity.

Publicity is the thing and all wise men know it.

Advertising is the thing, but men who are not wise are in sublime ignorance of the important fact. There are many kinds of publicity. Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, who planted an expert from the mills of his native state in senatorial committee meetings to help along the tariff cause, is a very irate as well as a very humiliated statesman and all on account of the razzing given him by his fellow senators and the Washington correspondents and editorial writers of the country. He had it coming.

Views of a Medico

DR. EDWARD MARTIN of Philadelphia, former president of the American College of Surgeons, at the 11th annual clinic congress now in session said he emphatically disapproved use of alcohol by younger persons, but he recommended moderate use of alcohol during or after middle age. His conclusion is interesting: "Liquor prolongs life and adds to its joys, but it must be used moderately. When a man is fatigued one high ball is an excellent tonic, but it must not be too high. When you have had a drink you have had enough." Now Dr. Edward Martin of Philadelphia will be given a run in the pictures, and the potshotters in the pro camps the nation over will make life interesting for him. He is 70, he is wealthy, but he is said to be happy and why should he worry?

As Cunning as a Fox

ATTORNEY GENERAL WILLIAM D. MITCHELL is said to be a very able lawyer. He isn't a petifoger or a practical politician. Regardless of this, he is just as cunning as he is cautious. Senator Sheppard asked for a ruling. Attorney General Mitchell declared a determination of the liability to arrest of the purchaser of bootleg liquor could be obtained only through the arrest and conviction for actual purpose and then the carrying of the case to the supreme court. He let it be known that carrying the case through the various courts to the highest tribunal would take many months. John Barleycorn refuses to give up the ghost, and the practical politicians of the country are having a merry time of it.

To a Foe

I gather you're a most attractive boy,
Your phone calls often send her from my side;
It's rather hard to listen to the joy
That bubbles in her voice and will not hide.

I envy you the trysts that you will share,
I envy you the throne on which you sit,
But really, sir, I think it only fair
To pierce your glowing bubble just a bit.

She walked a beach with me one star-hung night,
Our phrases faltered—but our lips were bold;
We laughed and touched the stars—the moon in flight
Looked down and did not have the heart to scold;

That beach was bare except for just us two—
And where were you, young man, and where were you?
—DON WAHN.

Puns Upon a Time

At the Conde Nast's party in honor of the Earl of Birkenhead on the Sabbath night Gwladys (who spells it that way) Hopkins of Philly made up a sentence with the word potato, thus: "I got a potato 'clock this morning," which was only fair. A better un, if you asked us, happened when Marjorie King of the Ziegfeld corps went here and there pensively searching for Ben Finney.

"Hmmmm," hmmmm'd a clown, "she's Finney that way."

Making Scoopee

At the same affair Marjorie Oelrichs, who last week repudiated authorship of the story about society in Liberty, said that the magazine had threatened her with a suit for slander if she didn't retract her wise crack. So welcomes the suit, for the story, "Tough Luck," she says, was originally sold to the Ladies' Home Journal which sold it to Liberty, and that Liberty cannot possibly have her canceled check for the article, as it claims, but that it can only show the Ladies Home Journal's receipt.

The Wayward Press

The May issue of Photoplay, according to a contributor, reported: "Nils Asther will be Garbo's leading woman in her next picture."

But if Photoplay wanted to, it could snap back by pointing out that the N. Y. Daily Mirror's Robert Bruce Coleman, covering Sophie Treadwell's play recently wrote: "It is regrettable that Miss Treadwell's wife . . .

And the N. Y. Times, of Sept. 27, recorded: "Others have been bumped off by the police and other gangsters."

Credo

If you should one day say to me,
"You are, my dear, a harmony,
Rare mosaic, tight with worth,
Precious to me as the birth
Of a hope, faith intense,
You embody permanence."

I would smile sadly, hardly pleased,
Hope that it was being teased.
Rather would I flash than glow,
Knowing men preferred me so.
—ESTELLE SAFIER.

Hams Across the Sea

Mr. St. Yawn Ervine, as he was affectionately called by some of us when he was here, has replied to Mr. Robert C. Benchley's recent New York article called "The Wayward Press" in which Mr. Benchley criticised the British journals, their methods and their personalities. In an English magazine called Time and Tide, Mr. Ervine rebukes some of the American publications and their representatives.

Of course, he soundly scored Mr. Heywood Broun, who made him uncomfortable when he was here guest-reviewing for the World, and of another tormentor he writes: "The gossip journalists in America are horrible." The star turn of a tabloid was an ex-hoofer or dancer from vaudeville theaters or music-halls, as we would call them, named Walter Winchell, who looked like an overgrown choir boy who had taken to bad ways in the vestry.

"He reported scandals garnered from night clubs and speakeasies. (Ed. Note: And in apartments where a British journalist insulted a woman, which made the page twos of the tabs, incidentally), and he specialized in information about impending births and divorces. His paragraphs were brief and full of pep—generally they contained only a sentence. One of them ran something like this: 'It will be a boy over at the Ikey P. Mosenheim's 12 months from next November.' He was the darling of the pseudo-intellectuals of New York. I nicknamed him Little Boy Peep."

Oh, all right, and you're Little Boy Poop!—a-doop-a-doop.

By Way of Report

Encountering Chic Sales in a Times Square restaurant the other evening, we asked him about his best-seller, "The Specialist," which threatens to out-peddle the Bible. The $1 tome has reached the 750,000 sales mark already, and Chic, who has been telling the 30-page fable since 1912 at stag affairs and other gatherings, never dreamed he would acquire fame as an author. It appears that two St. Louis newspaper men suggested that he put the story between covers, figuring that it would serve as a Xmas gift to friends and admirers.

It took him three months to polish it up, and when it came out it was ignored by the book reviewers, who suddenly discovered that it led the non-fiction lists and that they had to review it.

Chic rates no royalties. He gets half the proceeds!

Hehehh

Two of Mr. Ziegfeld's better lookers met on the way out of the stage entrance after the matinee the other performance. "Say," chirped the first, "it seems to me that you have been getting orchids every day for a week. You must be getting bad."

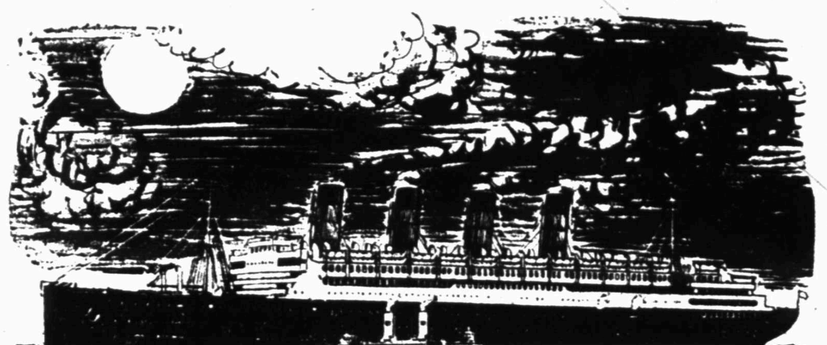

"On the contrary," flipped the other, "I'm just beginning to get good!"

'EASY' The Love Story of a Modern Girl

By BEATRICE BURTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann Marie Macy is the "easy" type of girl who is continually imposed upon. Young and pretty, she dreams of a future as an artist, saving from her earnings by painting cards and working in her father's bookstore, but, as her selfish, flapper sisters, Alice and Jeanie, borrow her dresses for their own ends, so her brother, Howard, borrows her savings. The art course plan is shelved when Ann Marie uses the money in extricating Howard from an entangling alliance with Leota Ingram, the town's bad girl. Even her mother's pendant is pawned to pay Howard's fare to the West when he loses his bank job. Neal Forsythe, dashing Don Juan, visiting the wealthy Lawlers, wins Ann Marie's heart. Mrs. Lawler forbids her son to further accompany the Macy girls, calling them "night-time friends." Alice evens accounts by getting herself engaged to John Lawler. To celebrate, Johnny, Alice, Ann Marie, Neal, Jeanie and Brookie have a party at a roadhouse.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXI

Ann Marie didn't know how to make herself pretty enough that afternoon.

She did her hair four times. She rubbed rouge and lipstick on her face and then washed it all off again.

"Could I borrow some of my own perfume?" she asked, going into Jeanie's room to get it.

But the bottle stood on Jeanie's dressing table, empty.

"Don't you dare stir out of this house without mixing up the batter for the waffles," said Jeanie, hard at work with a small contraption that was used for curling the eyelashes. "And please do set the table for the four of us. You always know how to do it so beautifully."

Ann Marie glowed. Praise always warmed her and made her happy.

"It might not be a bad idea to give dad a couple of sandwiches and a cup of coffee before you go out," Jeanie went on. "Then he won't expect to eat with us four. It's a terrible bore to have him around when the boys are here."

That was at 15 minutes before 5.

"Well, if I have time—" Ann Marie half promised, with her eyes on her wrist watch. "Neal said he was coming right over."

But she had plenty of time, as it turned out. For Neal did not come until six.

"I'm one of those terrible people who are never on time—so you may as well get used to it," he said when he came into the hall, wearing one of Johnny Lawler's fur-collared driving coats and a pair of his gloves.

"I shall love getting used to it!" sighed Ann Marie, looking at him with eyes like blue stars. . . . Wonderful to get used to him and his ways. Wonderful to know that she was going to live with him all her life!

She flew upstairs to get her hat and coat.

On the bed lay her handbag filled with two clean handkerchiefs, a box of powder, a small round mirror and an empty coin purse. Into the coin purse went the $5 bill—Ann Marie's half of the Dutch treat money.

Seated in Johnny's roadster she took it out and rolled it up until it was about the size and shape of a cigaret.

The thought of giving it to Neal embarrassed her. . . . Surely it would be embarrassing to him, too, to take it from her.

Just as the roadster was turning in at the gates of Simonds' she took one of Neal's hands in hers and slipped the bill under his glove.

"Thanks!" His swift eyes flashed a smile at her. "You don't mind paying your half this way, do you? Remember, it was your own idea—"

"Don't say that!" Ann Marie put her hand over his mouth as the car came to a stop under the low-hanging bare branches of a willow tree in the yard of the inn. "I'm glad to pay my half! I think it's perfectly all right for a girl to share the expenses of a party with a man—especially when she works and earns money of her own the way I do."

Neal gave a wry little smile and opened the door of the car for her. "Especially when the man is too poor to pay for two—even at a hot-dog stand," he said quietly, and Ann Marie's heart ached for him.

What a shame that he should be so poor when a lot of other men, not nearly so fine and good-looking and clever—Johnny Lawler for instance—had more money than they needed!

"Don't you care," she said to him, and getting out of Johnny's roadster, she patted Neal's shoulder, covered as it was by Johnny's driving coat. "Don't you mind, Neal. There'll come a day when you'll be the highest-priced illustrator in the country, and then you won't have to go fifty-fifty with me!"

"You bet you won't!" the man declared. "You'll have everything that the highest-priced illustrator in the country can buy for his wife!"

They went up the steps of the inn, arm in arm.

A roadhouse on a rainy Sunday can be the loneliest place under the sky.

And, on this particular rainy Sunday evening, Neal and Ann Marie had the whole big dining room of Simonds' to themselves.

An old white-haired waiter, who knew that lovers want to be all by themselves, took them to a little table in the corner that overlooked the courtyard with its wet, blowing trees and its puddles that gleamed like silver in the light from the porch outside.

"Two club sandwiches, a pot of coffee and a package of Mustapha Royale cigarets," Neal gave his order.

Ann Marie never had heard of "Mustapha Royale" cigarets until the night before when he had asked Johnny to order them for him. She had noticed that they were 75 cents a box.

"You don't smoke, do you?" he asked, when the waiter had brought them. "You don't realize what a treasure you are, Ann Marie, and what an economical wife you'll be! No cigarets and no liquor to buy for you!"

Ann Marie twinkled at him.

"Every time you say the word 'wife' to me, I lose my breath!" she said, and she was breathless and excited enough to prove it. "Oh, if you only knew how much I think of you, and how happy I am to be here with you!"

Right from the beginning she was more in love with him than he was with her. She had fallen in love the way she did everything else—generously, whole-heartedly and without stint.

She had given her heart away as she had always given away things—almost before it was asked for.

"Isn't this cosy?" she asked. "It's almost home-like to be here together, isn't it?"

It was. The corner was quiet and warm and cosy, with the rain hissing and gurgling outside, and the yellow lamp glowing on the table.

The food came, and Ann Marie poured the coffee from a fat round pot of German silver.

"I shall do this for you every day—after a while," she said, beaming at Neal through the steam and the blue smoke of his cigaret. "And isn't that the cutest little coffee pot you ever saw in your life?—We shall have one just like it when we are—after a while."

She couldn't touch a mouthful of food for very happiness and excitement. She sat, glowing and quivering, and broke her sandwich to bits with nervous little fingers, chattering like a magpie.

"You know, I've been planning to go to New York for ever so long and live there, anyway," she said. "I had a lot of money saved up for it and then I—well, I had to lend it to someone. Too bad was it not?"

Neal nodded, his mouth full of club sandwich.

"But I'll soon have some more saved up," she went on, her eyes dancing like blue butterflies. "I get three dollars a dozen for the place cards I make. Only in a town like this there aren't so many people who order them. If I were in New York I know I could get a lot of work to do."

"Why don't you go up there some day and ask for work at one of the big book stores?" asked Neal, puffing smoke at the ceiling. "I know a shop down in Greenwich Village that sells your sort of stuff, too—"

"Oh, do you?" Ann Marie fairly bubbled. "Just think! If I could be sure of some money right from the start in New York, I wouldn't have to have so much saved up before I start, would I?"

Neal shook his dark, sleek head.

"No. I wish I could lend you what you need. But I can't," he said in a melancholy way. "I suppose I'm not much of a man to say this—but even our getting married depends on you. Because you'll have to stand on your own feet, in a money way, for a while. The plain truth is that I can't marry a girl unless she's willing to support herself."

"This girl is," answered Ann Marie in a low tone, looking down at the table cloth.

She was ashamed to look at him as she said it. . . . It sounded as if she were asking him to marry her, and she knew it.

It sounded like Dickens' "Barkis is willin'."

The waiter brought the bill presently, and Ann Marie couldn't help seeing how much it was—three dollars and a half.

She could not help seeing that the $5 bill that Neal laid upon the tray with it was the $5 bill that she had given him. It was rolled into the shape of a cigaret.

When the change came Neal put a dollar into his pocket and left the silver for the waiter.

For an instant Ann Marie wondered why he had not split the bill and given her back the $3 that were coming to her.

"He's forgotten that we're making this 'Dutch treat'," she decided as they walked out of the dining room. "He's forgotten that that was my money he paid the bill with."

The rain had stopped and the moon swam in the dark sky like a gold fish in a pool of blue-black water. . . . It was very dark under the willow tree where Johnny's roadster was parked.

"Look here," said Neal, and when she turned to him, he took her in his arms, pressing her so close to him that he hurt her. He kissed her until she was breathless and dizzy. . . . Oh, she never was really sure that he loved her until a moment like this one came along. Never really sure of him when they sat talking. His gray eyes seemed so cold, sometimes. Once or twice they had made Ann Marie think of Mrs. Lawler's hard, calculating eyes.

"But that's just a family resemblance," she had decided.

Certainly there was nothing hard and cold and calculating about him now as he held her tight and murmured into her hair and covered her face and neck with kisses.

They got into the car.

It was warm and dark inside, with the side curtains closing them in as if they were in a cave.

"Here's something for you," Neal said, and Ann Marie held out her hand, expecting him to give her the three dollars that were left over from her share of the "Dutch treat" money.

Instead her hand touched something smooth and cold and round. Her other hand closed round it. . . . It was the little fat silver coffee pot from the restaurant!

DUCK HUNTING LIALOGUE
(In the Moran and Mack manner)

Wanna go duck shooting?
What for?
To get some ducks, of course.

PHILLIPS

But who wants any ducks? I couldn't think of a thing to do with a duck even if I got one. What's the idea shooting ducks, anyhow?

Why they're good eating.

So are chickens good eating, but I never shot any.

You don't care for hunting, I guess.

There's no sense to it?

What's the sense in gettin' all dressed up in heavy clothes an' spendin' a whole day trampin' around the woods with a gun when you can get what you're after by telephoning any butcher? Now if I wanted to get a quart of milk how would yo uexpect me to get it?

Go to a milkman, I suppose.

Sure. You wouldn't want me to get up a hunt for the cow, would you?

No, but there's no comparison between getting milk and getting ducks. You go duck hunting for the sport of the thing.

Where's the sport? Go on and tell me just how you hunt ducks.

Well, you go out in the marshes and wait for the ducks to fly over.

But suppose they don't fly over?

They always have.

And when they fly over, what do you do then?

You try to hit one.

If you hit one, what do you get?

You get the duck.

Does that end it?

It ends the duck.

But, I mean, does that end the duck hunt?

It all depends.

On what?

On whether one duck is all you want.

One duck would be all I could possibly want. Even that would be too much.

Very well, then, I'll go duck hunting alone. And you're out of it, understand? You're out of this duck hunt for good.

Good!

SKITS ENLIVEN KGKO PROGRAM

Frederick, Okla., and Vernon Entertainers Heard

Entertainers from Vernon and Frederick, Okla., were heard in special musical and novelty numbers broadcast over KGKO Thursday night. The Vernon musicians were heard first, their broadcast starting shortly after 9 o'clock. The entertainers included A. T. Underwood, baritone soloist, Mrs. J. C. Rogers, violinist, with Miss Voina Norsworthy at the piano, and Roy Norsworthy at the guitar. They offered a group of songs and instrumental selections that kept the telephone and the wires busy with applause.

Introduced with songs and other musical numbers offered by Miss Mary Lou Wilson pianist, Miss Helen Smith, saxophonist, Mrs. R. L. Case, soprano, and Miss Dora Lou Case in both piano and violin numbers, the Frederick program was interspersed with barnyard imitations and novelty comedy skits offered by Art Wright and Dalton Jones, a radio team that is already famous. The program from Frederick was climaxed with an imitation of a coon hunt, in which the two star performers reproduced all the sounds and the excitement of the chase.

Countless thousands of underweight men and women have got rid of that scrawny face and figure by a simple easy treatment that is sure and inexpensive.

It's really marvelous how quickly those who try it take on flesh where flesh is most needed.

Hollows in neck and chest fill out and narrow sunken chested men begin to take on a decided manliness in just a few weeks.

The one great scientific weight producer that people who need more flesh can depend upon is McCoy's Tablets and besides helping you to develop an attractive figure these sugar coated tablets bring to all that take them more energy, strength and vigor — they have proven a superb tonic.

McCoy takes all the risk — Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60 cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two $1 boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.—Adv.

Financial Probe Will Be Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24. (UP)—Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, will ask immediate action on his resolution authorizing an investigation of the financial and credit structure of the nation when the new congress opens in December, he announced today.

The resolution, introduced by the Utah senator early in the special session of congress last spring as a result of call loans reaching unprecedented heights, is pending before the senate banking and currency committee. Senator Fletcher, Democrat, of Florida, ranking Democrat on the committee, said today most of the membership of the body favored the King measure and indicated it would be approved by the next congress.

"It was inevitable that a day of reckoning would come," King said, commenting on the New York situation. "It was inevitable that billions would be lost as the water and hot air were eliminated from hundreds of stock issues. In my opinion there will be further declines as the people begin to learn the facts and use common sense."

Airport Notes

In accordance with "an old Spanish custom" at the Municipal airport, begun among the first students of the Lone Star Aviation company flying school, Bland Omohundro gave a "solo luncheon" for several members of the flying school at the Club cafe at noon Thursday. Mr. Omohundro, a local oil operator, made his first solo flight several days ago following a course of instruction under Pilot Fred Ridenour and Thursday gave the customary "feed" which is expected of each student after his solo. Those present were Pilot Fred Ridenour, J. O. Dotson, T. H. Blanton, Thornton Lomax, Jack Brodie, W. P. Hood and Mr. Omohundro.

Mrs. Lawrence Rollins, student flier at Staley field, made her first solo flight about 10 o'clock Thursday morning following a course of instruction requiring about 12 hours and 15 minutes. She made a perfect three-point landing and gives promise of making an excellent pilot, her instructor said. Activities of the Wichita Falls Flying Club, Inc., are well under way, according to Dudley Rider at Staley field, and members are making flights daily in the club's new Eaglerock biplane.

Roy Riner and Fulcher Armstrong landed at Staley field about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Mr. Riner's new Stinson Junior cabin monoplane from Chattanooga, Tenn., where they had gone on a business trip. They left the field Wednesday morning. Aided by a tail-wind on the return trip, they averaged 150 miles per hour in the new ship, they said.

Loftin May Seek Office

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Oct. 24.—Ruben Loftin of Henrietta, former member of the legislature, who spent the day here, said he was contemplating entering the race for the state senate from the 23rd senatorial district. This senatorialship is now held by Senator McFarlane of Graham, who is serving his first term in the upper branch of the 41st legislature. Loftin was one of the leading members of the house during his tenure of office. He did not make the race in the last legislature.

LAST CLUE TO DITEMAN FAILS

Fate of Atlantic Flier Is Yet Mystery

(By The Associated Press)

A clue to the fate of the midget monoplane Golden Hind was born yesterday only to live a few hours and when it died the plane and its one man crew seemed beyond even the faintest hope of survival in their attempted crossing of the Atlantic.

The New Foundland government steamer Kyle relayed a report that an unidentified ship had found a bit of black and orange wreckage—a description fitting the craft of Urban F. Diteman Jr.—and for a time the flier's fate was tentatively decided. The New Foundland government, however, denied the authenticity of the message, and there were left only the chances that Diteman had landed in Greenland or had been picked up by a ship without wireless.

Both these chances were slim. It had been reported that Diteman had ordered a supply of gasoline sent to Julianshaab, Greenland, but the governor of Greenland denied that any gasoline depot had been established there. Mrs. Diteman at her home in Billings, Mont., said that while her husband had considered attempting his flight from Harbor Grace, New Foundland, to London by way of Greenland and Iceland he had decided against it before he took off at 10:45 a. m. (E. S. T.) Tuesday with a fuel supply sufficient for only 23 hours.

Airmen pointed out, however, that the cold fog and northern winds which Diteman faced on the first 500 miles on his flight might have forced him off his course to land in the north. Others theorized that he may have been forced down at sea and picked up by a ship without radio.

Curious Throng Old Wall Street

the Brooklyn waterfront across the East river, soon after mid-afternoon. Brokers rented whole floors in order that their clerks might get, sometime before 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, an hour or two of hurried sleep.

Curious Throng Street

Men who have lived and worked in Wall street all their lives said more people thronged today to the intersection of Broad and Wall streets, bounded by the stock exchange, the Morgan bank and the United States subtreasury, than than ever before within their memory.

Most of them were merely curious. Newspaper and motion picture cameramen who sought places of vantage about the tumultous corner were joined by dozens of amateur camera clickers taking views of the extraordinary scene and occupants of offices in the neighborhood were swarmed upon by visitors asking permission to stand in the windows and look down upon the eddying crowds.

A hundred uniformed police, mounted and afoot, were focussed in the district to keep the crowds moving. The force included not only the regular Wall street contingent of the police department, but an emergency squad whose duty it was not only to prevent any sidewalk congestion but to reroute and keep in order the abnormal motor traffic

Peak at 3 o'Clock

The multitudes heard newsboys shouting "Stock market crashes," and pleading hoarsely with patrons not to stop to read their papers on the spot, but to move along so others might get close enough to buy.

The crowd in the street grew greatest at 3 o'clock in the afternoon as the market closed, and police gave up their efforts to keep the multitude off the subtreasury steps, but when nothing happened the gathering dispersed. An hour later the throng was only the normal, hurrying one, and the gray roads only when the highway department had the power and the funds to disregard county lines and the voting of funds by county initiative and go straight through with "roads that run somewhere."

Prison System "Failure"

The prison system was pronounced virtually in toto as a failure in its three great functions: to punish, to make an example of, and to reform. In reforming it probably had met its greatest failure, said the boyish appearing governor.

Stressing state solidarity, Governor Moody asserted he believed three great state chambers of commerce, representing West, South and East Texas should reach accord and a strict working agreement, but doubted whether an all-state chamber of commerce was feasible at this time.

Rumors of the last few months of dissolution of the West Texas chamber after 11 years existence seemed well dammed after today's general and numerous sectional sessions.

The 60-second talk of Banker Caldwell of Abilene was received with rousing applause and a bit later sectionalist efforts to split off the Panhandle and North Plains from the mother body seemed to have received their death blow in meeting of the chamber of commerce secretaries of the Northwestern Plains area.

Numerous delegates pointed out that to cut loose from the larger body would be to sacrifice much political weight at Austin.

The West Texas chamber has operated without a manager since July 15 last when President Bourland added that to his duties and tonight the chief talk about the next two days of convention effort centered about the selection of a president, with the manager choosing temporarily in the background.

Clifford B. Jones, Spur capitalist; Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell, Judge C. E. Coombes of Stamford, and W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls were injected into early contemplation, but that of J. Pat Williams of Mineral Wells remained as the most liberally discussed candidate, despite the fact that in a letter today to directors he requested he be given no more consideration.

Neuralgic Pains Stopped By Capudine

Capudine quickly relieves the neuralgic headaches, rheumatic pains, and the aches accompanying colds that make life so miserable for so many people, especially during the winter months. It soothes the tense nerves, quickly stops the pain and affords peaceful relaxation. Being liquid, Capudine acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore is most desirable.

The next time you suffer from such pains take two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water and note how quickly the pain fades away. Capudine has been sold by druggists for more than 30 years. 30c and 60c bottles.—Adv.

JUNIOR COLLEGE INDIANS SCRAP TIGERS AT DALLAS TODAY

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

The Unbeaten

Unbeaten teams that go into action tomorrow include, among the leaders, Stanford, Southern California, Notre Dame, Carnegie Tech, Harvard, Dartmouth, Army, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Fordham, Missouri, Texas, Tennessee and Purdue.

A flock of these must fall. Stanford and Southern California meet in a battle between two of the greatest teams in football. Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech hook up and one must go in a case a decision is reached. The same angle applies to Harvard and Dartmouth. Many of these teams mentioned above have been tied up. In this list you have Harvard, Army, Carnegie Tech, Harvard and Illinois. The team that has turned in the best job to date is Notre Dame, with victories over Indiana, Navy and Wisconsin, the latter two being high grade teams in every way.

Tomorrow will be a large scramble, one of the best afternoons of the season, with a long line of games that will play to capacity and attract national attention. Notre Dame, for example, plays its fourth hard game in a row, and Carnegie Tech happens to be one of Rockne's Jonahs, one of the hardest teams his South Bend delegation has to meet each year. But Carnegie Tech will need more football than it has shown so far to check the Irish on this occasion unless they happen to be due for one of those mid-season slumps.

Harvard and Dartmouth

Here are two of the best teams in the East. Neither has been beaten, although Dartmouth hasn't yet been put to any hard test. Harvard has rammed a good, rough game under her belt and that always helps. These are stormy days for the Crimson defense. Last Saturday this defense was called on to handle Cagle. On Saturday it will be asked to stop Marsters, and he is just as hard to handle as Cagle is. In addition, he can kick like a mule.

This should be one of the best contests of the season, a stirring party replete with dash and action and no decisive margin either way.

Both have good lines and strong backfield casts, but Harvard has no one to match Marsters. Dartmouth has been yearning for some time to hook Harvard and Yale on successive Saturday's, and this will be her big chance.

The Come-Back Group

Michigan and Princeton, rated in the most polite football society of the season a few weeks ago, have each been trimmed twice.

Tomorrow Michigan meets Illinois and Princeton tackles the Navy. This gives the two beaten teams a fine chance to scramble out of the rut, but unfortuantely they will have to beat two high class football teams to put on any come-back march.

The odds are against both. Illinois has looked stronger than Michigan to date and the Navy has shown better stuff than Princeton. Yet both Michigan and Princeton have the material that might be whipped into shape at any stated moment, and this material is good enough to go a long way once it happens to hit its stride and play its best football.

Michigan and Illinois, just as Princeton and the Navy happen to be, are traditional rivals where all other scores can be thrown out as far as general interest goes. Ohio State, Minnesota and Purdue are all ahead of Illinois at this moment, as the first three have won every game, and this will be enough to get Dr. Zuppke hustling to the limit.

Yale and the Army

Ten days ago Yale looked to be badly outclassed by the Army, despite the latter's ragged set of forwards. But Yale had enough to beat Brown, the team that beat Princeton, and that means that the Blue is coming along. And a football teaem that is coming is no setup for any one. This game is always good for capacity, and it would be good for capacity if they had 100,000 seats.

It is a question as to whether Yale has enough speed to handle Cagle. It takes counter speed to check this flying cadet, and it was lack of counter speed that gave Cagle his chance to run wild a year ago. This is always one of the most colorful games of the year —the most colorful game in the East with the Army-Navy war abandoned for the moment. The Yale bowl can put on a show that no ball park no other eastern stadium can match, especially with the Army on hand to turn in its full share.

The Southern Scramble

The scramble in the South is something terrific. So far Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Alabama and Florida have all been beaten. Vanderbilt was beaten, but Minnesota is out of southern range. Georgia in turn has beaten Yale and North Carolina, two impressive victories. Georgia Tech has beaten Florida. North Carolina has beaten Georgia Tech. Tennessee, with a victory over the strong Alabama team, holds at least a temporary lead, but the best job in the South has been turned out by the red and black Bulldogs of Athens, meaning Georgia, with wins over Yale and North Carolina.

Lacoste and His Fiancee To Stay With Their Sport

PARIS, (AP)—The name of Lacoste is destined to become as much respected in the golf world as it has on the tennis courts of two continents.

Mademoiselle Simone Thion de la Chaume hopes to bring that about when she becomes the bride of Rene Lacoste whose ill health this year prevented him from again demonstrating his world tennis supremacy, as he did i previous years.

The marriage next month of the men's tennis champion of France and France's golf queen will form one of the most formidable combinations in the sport world.

Both expect to continue their sport activities, according to Mlle. de la Chaume.

"I like golf much too well to give it up," she said. "I am certain also that Rene likes his tennis also as well that he will be right at the top again next year."

The breadfruit, with the cocoanut and banana, furnished the chief food of the natives of the Pacific islands.

CRIPPLES HURT TEAM'S CHANCE

Harvey Black May Call the Signals

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

Like the calm before the storm everything is in readiness and now only awaits the shrill of the referee's whistle to send the Wichita Falls Junior college Indians flying in all their Redskin fury at the Terril School Tigers Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Highland Park High school field, Dallas. The contest is a non-conference affair and will mark the fifth start of the season for the Wichitans.

Cripples Handicap Team

Unfortunately for the Tribe, they will enter the fray Friday afternoon under the handicap of several of their star performers. Both of the tackles and Luttrell, regular quarterback on the squad, were pretty badly bungled up and it is doubtful whether they will start the game for the squad. Both Captain Hutto and Waggoner have rather severe injuries and are likely to see the game from the sidelines. Luttress, however, stands a chance to get into the game. Should the little field marshall not go in, he will be succeeded by Harvey Black, right halfback, who has been serving at the quarterback post since the injury of Luttrell.

Backfield Plenty Strong

But the backfield is not worrying the Indian coach, for he has a splendid array of capable performers in this department of the game. The line weakness caused by the crippled up tackles is what is giving the coach his real apprehensions. If his forward line should buckle and give under the powerful plunges of the reputedly strong Tiger backs the team would assuredly be in bad way.

Tribe Trained Hard

The Indians have put in a week of strenuous training in preparation for the Terrill school and feel that they are on edge for one of the greatest battles of the year. And those who have seen the tribesmen in action know what they can do when they do cut loose.

Tigers All Primed

News from the Tiger lair has that the Tigers are in fine fettle and straining at the imaginary leash, waiting to get at the Baggettmen. Not a man has been ruled ineligible or has suffered injury that will keep him from the Friday game. Coach Faulkner is optimistic about the outlook and is anxious to add the Indian scalp to his belt.

Nick Dobbs, Charlie Trigg and Howard Allen have been selected as the officials for the game this afternoon.

Pack Draws Training To Fine Point for Tilt

Thursday afternoon saw the Coyote training program for the week drawing to a rapid close as they pointed for the Saturday battle with the Electra Tigers at Athletic field here. The intensive work of the past few days was eased up and the players given a breathing spell before the week-end onslaught.

Coach Holton went through a general review of his entire repertoire of plays with the squad during the afternoon and appeared satisfied with the results obtained. After that a turn was taken at the tackling dummy and at some light blocking.

The game with Electra will provide the Wichita public with the pleasant spectacle of two traditional football rivals girded for "the" game of the season.

The Tigers are not as impressive this year in their strength as in years gone by, for they have tasted the cantankerous dregs of two defeats at the hands of class B schools and have dropped their only conference game thus far to Lubbock by the score of 20 to 6.

Despite these losses the Tiger-Coyote game promises to be a thriller because of the long unsettled accounts between the schools. Especial interest hinges about Electra outfit on account of a pair of backfield stars that have shone so brilliantly in their battles of the season. Capt. Bill Crass, hailed as one of the best backs in the district, and Hub White, spectacular broken field runner, are two men who will make the going worth watching from the start to the finish of the tilt.

The Coyote forward line will present new men in starting lineup. Ineligibilities have necessitated a shift in this department of the game and the coach has several men whom he will use as trial horses in the Tiger game. Sam Fowler will very likely get a chance to prove whether he is capable of filling the shoes of Chick Holton. Earl Hutcheson who made his first appearance in a match game last Saturday against Quanah and showed himself to be fairly good man, will probably be used also.

Longhorns Sluggish In Practice for This Week

AUSTIN, Oct. 24. (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns, who play Rice here Saturday, have appeared sluggish in practice so far this week but that isn't worrying their followers because the Herd looked the same way the first of last week and came back strong to beat Oklahoma, 21 to 0.

The Steer camp, however, is somewhat concerned over the siege of injuries. Rut Vining, end, is the latest casualty. "Bull" Elkins, who had about won a place in the regular Longhorn backfield, and Nick Gatours, reserve guard and center, were forced to the sidelines Monday. None of the three is expected to be able to play Saturday.

Sport Loose Ends

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

School and athletic officials in Wichita Falls and the Southwest in general can now sit back and stick out their chests in a holler than thou attitude. The recent startling and "shameful" disclosures with respect to "commercialism in college athletics" made by the Carnegie foundation in its searching probe and investigation covering some 130 American and Canadian colleges and universities finds that the schools of the Southwest are, with but one or two exceptions, the freest in all the country of this "deepest shadow that darkens American college and school athletics."

Maybe it is that good athletes are so plentiful out here in the great open spaces that the institutions of learning here do not have to stoop to the low practices which the other schools over the country seem to find necessary. We notice that there are some mighty sweet playing football teams in the Southwest conference this season—teams that have been giving other non-Southwest conference teams coniptical gyrations whenever they met in intersectional tilts.

"Bulletin No. 23," as it is called, goes on to enumerate the methods, practices, and conditions of this subdizing of athletes in the schools, and leaves the inference therefrom that the country is very likely headed into national disintegration of the very roots of its culture.

Though there may be older and wiser heads cogitating the matter, we are not the one to get all het up and excited over the so-called gravity of the situation. From what we can glean by sight and by conversation with collegians representing dozens of schools and colleges scattered over the country this tendency or element of "commercialism" in school life has been seized upon by alarmists and magnified beyond all proportion of its real import in the scheme of things. In the larger institutions only one or two in a hundred or five hundred ever go out for the varsity. Now, if every single member on the team were literally dripping with the turpitude of athletic commercialism (which he isn't), the sum total would hardly permeate through to the student body in sufficient amounts to cause a general contamination. Most students and "outsiders" know that there are some instances of "commercialism" and favoritism in college athletics, just as they know that the political records of Chicago and Washington officials, are not always lily white, but they do not think, therefore, that perhaps athletics had best be abolished for the common good.

Our findings are that as a rule the college athlete leads rather an exemplary life when compared with some large part of the hangers-on and the no-accounts that infest the campuses of our colleges and universities.

Well, anyway, maybe the football schedules between Harvard and Dartmouth, Army and Yale, Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech, Arkansas and Texas A. & M., S. M. U. and Ole Miss, and so on will go on uninterrupted in spite of the "revelations" of the Carnegie foundation. At least, though, the bulletin has given us something to think about, if we want to. Thanks for that.

Continuing our glance over the day's news we notice that a new expert basket ball coach has been employed to coach a certain girl team in a Dallas school. It won't be long now before the alarmists have girls going into rapid decadence via the route of tainted athletic commercialism in the schools. They can then lay off the present shortcomings of feminine ways and sail out on a new polemical tangent about the women.

J. Alvin Gardner has given up his highly successful administration as president of the Wichita Falls Spudders. We only hope that his successor, William E. Huff, has as much "luck," as Mr. Gardner himself called it, in piloting the Spudders toward pennant goals. Though we doubt that it was as much "luck" as it was baseball managerial knowledge and hard work that gave Wichita Falls one Texas league pennant and a Dixie series championship, and two last halves of split season races—all in the short time of four years. That sort of thing happens few times and far between. To Mr. Huff we extend a felicitating hand at his proud heritage and wish him well in his venture as a Texas league baseball owner.

Jimmy Dykes, star first baseman with the Philadelphia Athletics, comes out in a public banquet in the Quaker city and states that he and his fellow Athletics knew Cub signals in the late world series. The evidence at hand certainly does not bear out such an hypothesis. In two of the five games played the Athletics won only after the most remarkable rallies ever made in baseball—literally snatched the game from the fire, so to speak, after it looked as if they had irrevocably lost to the Mackmen. The third game they did lose to the Cubs. Why Connie Mack, probably the most astute strategist in the annals of baseball, would have gone ahead taking chances and letting the Cubs pile up a lead when he could have stopped them without endangering his team's chances is beyond us. If he had known the Cubs' signals he certainly would have been smart enough to make use of them, which he apparently did not.

The only way we can figure it is that the loquacious Jimmy is vacationing now, being banqueted and toasted. Maybe Smedley D. Butler failed to subdue all the Quaker spirits in Philadelphia before he left that city by special request.

'BULLETIN 23' STIRS COUNTRY

Report Charging "Dough" Riles Prexys

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The immediate reaction to the Carnegie foundation's report on commercialism in college athletics has been surface indignation accompanied by universal curiosity as to details.

The first echo of the foundation's cry of "dough" came back from the four corners of the country an emphatic "No!"

School Officials Study Report

A little later on, when heads of American educational institutions have had an opportunity to study in detail the frank accusations of recruiting and subsidizing levelled against them, it is impossible to believe that conditions generally will not be greatly improved.

Two things should not be overlooked in the general uproar occasioned by publication of the now famous "Bulletin No. 23."

1—Nothing not generally known and accepted in the American college world was disclosed by the report.

Report Occupied Three Years

2—The committee, headed by Dr. Howard J. Savage, which took three and one-half years for its investigation, admitted it found "growing attention" in a majority of the schools investigated to the problem of bringing athletics into "a sincere relation to the intellectual life of the college."

But a veritable hornet's nest has been stirred up, and right smack in the middle of the football season. When a carefully studied report such as "Bulletin No. 23" declared unqualifiedly that approximately 50 per cent of all the college football players who will be seen in action on the nation's gridirons next Saturday afternoon are subsidized by the schools whose colors they wear, that certainly rates grade A-1 in attention calling.

Aggies' New Kyle Field Stadium to Seat 35,000

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 24.—The final section of concrete in the new Kyle field stadium of the Texas Aggies, which when completed will seat nearly 35,000 spectators, was poured during the past week. Finishing work is under way and it is believed the stadium will be ready in time to handle the large crowd expected when the S. M. U. Mustangs make their invasion of Aggieland Nov. 9. Formal dedication of the stadium will be at the Thanksgiving day clash between the Aggies and Texas Longhorns.

Waurika Eagles Tangle With Temple on Friday

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 24.—With their conference standing unchanged by their defeat by Marlow, the Waurika Eagles are working this week for their fray with Temple next Friday. The game will be played on the Temple field.

With four teams in the conference tied for first place, and Waurika holding a .500 score, which places them in fifth place for the conference honors, the Eagles are determined to win in the Friday game.

Childress Junior Hi Ties Memphis Juniors 13 to 13

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Oct. 24.—Childress Junior High school Bobkittens played the Memphis Junior high Whirlwinds to a 13 to 13 tie on the latter's field today. Childress came from behind in last half to score both her touchdowns.

Local high school Bobcats, winners over Plainview class A Bulldogs, battle Quitaque, baby conference member, here Friday. Childress is favored to win by heavy score.

Coach Morrison Says Mustangs Will "Shoot the Works" Against Ole Miss

DALLAS, Oct. 24. (AP)—Contrary to early predictions that Southern Methodist would use only a few of its plays against Mississippi university here Saturday and be content to win by the barest of margins, Coach Ray Morrison of the Mustangs announced today his team would "shoot the works" in the intersectional tilt.

"We have been misled as to Mississippi's strength before it defeated Loyola last week," the Pony mentor said. "But we know they have something now. My team will take the field with orders to show everything it has and to win at all costs."

There was thought to be little chance of scouts from rival conference schools charting the Mustang plays accurately. Morrison has given his squad such a great repertoire that it almost could use a different one every down and never repeat.

Ponies Work on Defense

The Ponies concentrated today on perfecting a defense against the peculiar style of offense scouts reported Mississippi using. Captain Choc Sanders, big guard, was injured slightly in scrimmage yesterday and was given the day off, but will be ready by Saturday. The remainder of the squad, not having had a real bruising for three weeks, was in perfect condition.

Full Lineup Against Miss

With one possible exception, the Mustangs will go against Mississippi with the same line-up that faced Nebraska. Davidson, a halfback candidate, has shown such sensational form in scrimmage that he may succeed Kattman in the starting backfield. Davidson promises to make the dynamic Weldon Mason a fine halfback running mate. Bob Gilbert will call the signals Saturday, with either Winters or Hopper at fullback, probably the latter. The line, featuring the two all-conference stars, Powell, center, and Sanders, guard, is beginning to stack up as one of the most powerful in the circuit. Long and Koontz are holding down the wings, Hammon and Skeeters are at tackles, and Neely at the other guard.

Carlsbad Cavern to Play Lamesa Eleven on Friday

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Carlsbad "Cavern" will invade the grid camp of Lamesa Friday this week. The local Tornadoes visited the camp of the Cavemen three weeks ago and was able to score 40 to 0 against them after being held to a nothing tie in the first half. The locals admit that they will have a hard fight to down the visitors in Friday's game as the visitors have had recruits and special training for the Lamesa game. A large attendance is expected for this game. The business men of Lamesa have organized a Business Men's Prep Squad for this game and all succeeding games for the local high school team. Some 50 business men have joined this squad to give backing to the team here.

To Rebuild Track

DES MOINES, Iowa. (AP)—The Drake cinder track, scene of some of America's greatest track and field performances, will be completely rebuilt for the 1930 relays. The track, with a new drainage system, will be faster than it has been for years.

MAY ABOLISH SPLIT SEASON

Texas League Meeting to Decide Issue

DALLAS, Oct. 24. (AP)—Texas league club owners are expected to abolish the split season at their annual fall meeting here Saturday and Sunday. Indications are the split will be the only important matter brought before the magnates.

The league constitution now provides that the season may be split at any time by a majority vote of owners. It is understood an amendment will be offered at the meeting here making a unanimous vote necessary to divide the schedule. The owners, influenced by slim gate receipts during the past season, are said to be solidly against another split and ready to vote for the amendment.

Roberts May Not Resign

Those in close touch with league affairs doubt the subject of electing a new league president to succeed the veteran J. Doak Roberts will be discussed, much less brought to a vote. Roberts is serving the second year of a five-year term, and unless he voluntarily tenders his resignation the problem of a successor will not arise.

President's Health Improved

The president's health has improved materially in recent months and it is known he hopes to resume his duties at the start of next season. He is at present on a six-months leave of absence due to failing health. The leave expires Jan. 1, when he is expected to reach a decision. Until he does, the league will take no action.

In the event President Roberts decides to give up the post he has held many years, J. Alvin Gardner, former owner and president of the Wichita Falls club, virtually is assured the office. All but one club owner has announced in favor of Gardner.

Ga. U. May Balk At Negro on the Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—Whether Dave Myers, New York university negro backfielder, will be in the lineup when the University of Georgia clashes with the Violets at the Yankee Stadium Nov. 9 was still an open question tonight.

Georgia, speaking through Dr. S. V. Sanford, announced that a "gentlemen's agreement" had been drawn up between the officials of the two universities barring Myers from participating against the southern team. Sanford's statement followed that of Prof. Giles Courtney in which the chairman of the New York university board of athletic control board said he knew of no such agreement and that Myers would not be benched for the Georgia gridiron fray.

Chick Meehan, coach of the New York eleven, refused to state his position, saying he would announce his starting lineup at the proper time.

The argument pro and con came as the result of an official protest filed by Walter White, acting secretary of the national association for the advancement of colored people, on rumors that New York university would bench Myers for the game. White's letter was addressed to Elmer Ellsworth Brown, chancellor of the local university.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY,
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, Oct. 27th:

Sunday — Breakfast: Coddled eggs, waffle (browned through), stewed pears. Lunch: Asparagus, steamed carrots, lettuce. Dinner: Tomato consomme, baked chicken or rabbit, parsnips, combination salad of cold cooked string beans, cucumbers and lettuce. Peach whip.

Monday — Breakfast: Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple. Lunch: Boiled rice, cooked string beans, raw celery. Dinner: Broiled steak, spinach. Salad of grated raw carrots and diced celery. Molded minced prunes, with whipped cream.

Tuesday — Breakfast: French omelet, melba toast. Stewed figs. Lunch: *Vegetables with wholewheat noodles. Dinner: Roast pork, cooked turnips, okra. Salad of raw spinach leaves. Baked apple.

Wednesday — Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins with peanut butter. Pear sauce. Lunch: Baked squash, cooked lettuce, cucumbers. Dinner: Mushroom soup. Broiled lamb chops, steamed carrots. McCoy salad. Apricot whip.

Thursday — Breakfast: Baked eggs, melba toast. Stewed raisins. Lunch: Buttered noodles, cooked turnips, celery. Dinner: Roast beef, cooked string beans. Salad of tomatoes, spinach and asparagus. Pinapple sponge.

Friday—Breakfast: Coddled eggs, broiled ham, waffle. Applesauce. Lunch: Sandwiches of real wholewheat bread and peanut butter. Shredded lettuce. Dinner: Baked halibut, stewed tomatoes, spinach. McCoy salad. No dessert.

Saturday — Breakfast: Cottage cheese, stewed peaches. Lunch: Carrot loaf, cooked lettuce and parsley, celery. Dinner: Vegetable soup. Salisbury steak, buttered vegetables consisting of carrots, turnips and beets cooked separately and diced together when tender. Head lettuce with olive oil. Ice cream.

*Vegetables with wholewheat noodles: Cook together for about 20 minutes in a heavy, tightly covered pan (without water) the desired amounts of fresh spinach, chopped cucumbers and celery. Cover the bottom of a baking dish with cooked wholewheat noodles, add a layer of the vegetables, including half of a small can of bean sprouts. Continue until the dish is filled, covering all with the noodles. Each layer may be seasoned with a little salt if desired. Bake until slightly browned on top and serve with butter.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dry Hands

Question: Miss H. G. asks:—"Will you please tell me what causes my hands to be exceedingly dry—so dry they often wrinkle in the palms? This is mostly at night. Also, I have a craving for fresh fruit and cool, tart drinks—anything cold and juicy. I have been this way for several years."

Answer:—Satisfy your craving for fresh fruit by eating nothing else for a few days. This treatment will help to correct the dryness of your skin. For temporary relief rub cocobutter on the skin. Use a small amount over the body each night before you retire.

Protein is Necessary

Question: Reader asks:—"What do you consider as really the most important food elements?"

Answer:—Protein is the most important substance used in the building of the body. An ample amount in the daily fare is of the utmost importance in order to effect repairs in the cell structure and muscles, and to bring about the necessary changes in the cells, themselves. These cells cannot be replaced or built up with any other substance any more than the worn out parts of an engine can be replaced with gasoline.

Bowlegs

Question: J. K. asks:—"Is there any possible cure for bowlegs at the age of 18?"

Answer—Bowleg may be straightened to some extent if you are only 18 years old. Rigid dieting is necessary, for you must supply the blood with plenty of bone-building elements. Next in importance is to take all kinds of physical culture exercises to strengthen the entire body. Spinal treatments are also helpful in increasing the circulation of blood to the legs.

Farm Official Visits Waurika Advisory Board

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 24.—Dan Diehl, district farm agent of the southwest district, was in Waurika yesterday and met with the Jefferson county agricultural advisory board to discuss the program to be carried out by the county agent for the coming year.

The program for the year has been divided into four main projects, dairying, soil conservation, better feed crops and feeding and poultry. Clarence Joachim is county agent of Jefferson county.

The work is carried on under the direction of the extension division of Oklahoma A. & M. college in cooperation with the United States department of agriculture.

Wichitans at Turkey Growers Meet at Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Turkey growers' meeting, sponsored by the Electra Chamber of Commerce, held Monday night at the city hall parlors, was a huge success. Mr. and Mrs. Ned Randolph of Wichita Falls and Mr. G. C. McGown county agent, were present and addressed the rally on subjects dealing with turkey raising and the problems that are confronting the growers today. Plans were discussed to market the turkeys Thanksgiving and questions were asked by some 50 farmers in regard to turkeys and were answered by Mr. and Mrs. Randolph and Mr. McGown.

Electra C.-C. to Give Program Over KGKO

Special to The Record News.

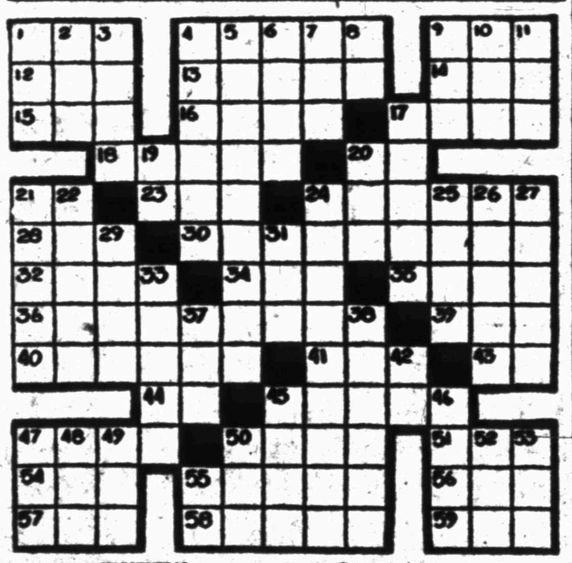

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Electra Chamber of Commerce will broadcast over KGKO Saturday, Oct. 26 from 8:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. Robert P. Hall, secretary, will have charge of the program. The main announcements will deal with the Electra trade campaign, being sponsored by the chamber of commerce, in which some $1,500 prizes are to be given away Jan. 6, 1930.

Dawson County Jail Issue Up Saturday

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 24.—On Saturday, Oct. 26, Dawson county voters will decide whether the county will have a modern jail. The issue if carried will mean warrants to the amount of $48,000 will be issued for the purpose of building a bastile for this county. Little interest has been taken in this election to date.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—Cotton gray goods prices were steady today with markets quiet on further cotton declines. Some colored goods were in moderate demand; burlaps were inquired for with spots and afloats unchanged. Futures were of little interest. Spring wool goods reordering continued. Spot raw silks were quiet and unchanged in price here and abroad, buying movement in Japan for American delivery. Merchandise still quiet as style tendency continues uncertain.

O. C. Discovery 'Good as Ever'

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 24.—The discovery well in the Oklahoma City field is again producing as much oil as it was the first part of May, almost six months ago.

The well known as No. 1 Fee, drilled by the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company and Foster Petroleum company in the center of the southeast of the southeast of 24-11-3w, was deepened, making the total depth now 6,588 feet corrected, and during the past 24 hours produced 2,959 barrels of oil and 4,959 barrels of water. The gauge Tuesday was 1,340 barrels of oil and 4,293 barrels of water.

Sinclair Oil and Gas company No. 3 Stamper, in the southeast of the northwest of 30-11-2w, produced 1,490 barrels of oil in 12 hours and was then shut in. It made 3,215 barrels during the 24 hours. The product of the well is described as crossed between oil and gasoline. It is almost high enough gravity to be pure gasoline, but yet it is necessary to refine the oil.

Shell Petroleum corporation No. 2 Petty, in the southwest of the northeast of 30-11-2w, is drilling ahead at 6,700 feet with 5,500 feet of water in the hole. It had a rainbow show of oil from 6,695 to 6,697 feet.

The production of the field totaled 73,939 barrels from 20 wells, showing an increase of only 509 barrels of oil.

Poor Farm Inmate Is Found Sane by Jury

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24. (UP)—S. O. "Dad" Shelby, 78-year-old jockey, was returned to the county poor farm today after a county court had found him sane. Shelby testified he left the farm "to do some business" in the city. Social workers attempted to have the aged man sent to the insane hospital at Norman.

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Oct. 24. (AP)—Hand-shaking your prof's flivver won't do, according to Frank Jordan, student in the San Marcos Teachers college. Young Jordan broke an arm while cranking a car belonging to H. M. Greene, professor of history in the college here.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Oct. 24. (AP)—Demand is slow on 56's and 48 50's domestic wools. Occasional sales of small quantities are being closed at a slightly lower level of prices than prevailed during the past week. Some inquiries for these grades are being received but business in volume appears to be retarded by the uncertainty of values of crossbreds in South America.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (AP)—Nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today seemed to be chiefly influenced by the action of the stock market. Sharp declines from an early advance were followed by recoveries. December contracts after selling off from 18.27 to 17.80, closed at 18.21, or 41 points above the lowest and 9 points net higher. The general market closed firm at a net advance of 30 points on October and off 6 to 9 points on later deliveries.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 1 point. There were some overnight selling orders brought in by the declines of the previous day, but they were quite readily absorbed by trade buying and covering.

October was relatively firm on covering, selling up to 18.21 or 34 points net higher with offerings very light. Trading in that position will end at noon tomorrow.

Early advance carried later months about 14 to 15 points net higher, with March selling up to 18.68. At these figures the market met increased offerings.

Reports of severe breaks in the stock market were accompanied by Wall street selling, while there was more or less commission house liquidation on the break which carried October contracts off to 17.80 and March 18.21, with the general market selling 7 points net lower on October and 32 to 36 points net lower on later deliveries. Prices rallied about 37 to 43 points from the lowest, with March closing at 18.63 or 9 points net higher.

The detailed weather reports showed minimum temperatures of 32 degrees or below at a number of points in North Texas, in Oklahoma and at several points in the Little Rock and Memphis districts but some doubt was expressed as to whether they would have much effect on the ultimate yield. Another private report was published estimating ginnings to Oct. 18, at 8,862,000 bales.

Port receipts today 62,318. U. S. port stocks 2,111,588. Exports today 38,459, making 1,801,575 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24. (AP)—In one of the most active sessions in recent weeks, cotton prices fluctuated violently today sagging $2.50 a bale in sympathy with the decline in New York stocks, and rallying later when shorts endeavoring to cover found contracts scarce. December contracts, after trading off to 17.70, rallied and closed at 18.11 for a net gain of 3 points. The general market closed steady at net advances of 1 to 4 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady and as the weather in the belt was unfavorable with frost reported in some sections the market opened steady at an advance of 2 points. Following a slight recession after the start the market strengthened under buying on the cold weather in the belt and December advanced to 18.16, with active positions generally showing net gains of 10 to 12 points.

The sharp break in New York brought out heavy liquidation and short selling and in active trading prices slumped rapidly until January traded at 17.80 and March 18.10, or 47 to 50 points below the highs. This represented a loss of approximately $2.50 a bale.

Offerings appeared absorbed at the decline and as there was active trade buying on the slump, shorts endeavoring to cover found contracts scarce. As a result prices recovered briskly, December rallying to 18.04, January 18.18 and March 18.46, or 36 to 38 points above the lows.

The market ruled very steady all afternoon in active trading and prices at one time nearly reached the early highs but encountered realizing and final prices showed a small net gain for the day. January closed at 18.21, and March 18.50, or 1 to 4 points net up.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 24. (AP)—(USDA)—Opening hog trade around the 11-market circuit was fairly active at 10@25c higher prices, but the close at some points was slow with most of the early advance erased. The day's extreme top of $10.00 was realized both at Chicago and St. Louis. Total offerings 70,900, a decrease of 15,000 from a week ago and 25,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs were unevenly steady to 25c higher, and steady values were maintained on mature classes of sheep. Chicago secured $13.25 for closely sorted native lambs, and $13.00 for rangers. Choice range lambs in Kansas City brought $12.90. The supply was 52,900, against 70,553 last Thursday and 56,738 a year ago.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 30,700, a decrease of 4,000 from a week ago and 8,000 less than a year ago. Killing classes, steady to strong. At most markets values of replacement stock held steady. A reduced supply of low grade slaughter steers has resulted in a broadening in the demand for fat cows. Chicago had a top of $16.00 on weighty steers, and received $15.90 for best yearlings.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—About a normal offering of cattle arrived for Thursday's livestock market here.

New York Stock Exchange Swept Off Its Feet by Liquidation Wave

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. (US)—The worst day in history was experienced on the stock exchange today. A liquidating wave started at the opening and gained momentum throughout the morning. It was not stemmed until the "Big Four" of the banking world met at the office of J. P. Morgan and company after noon. As the lows of the day reached position around the noon hour losses ranged from 10 points in Steel to from 20 to 40 points in some of the recently active Utilities and Industrials. With the exchange machinery swamped prices were unobtainable, the selling hysteria bordered on a panic. After the banking conference Steel and other good stocks staged good rally so that Steel finished two points higher, Gold Dust gained ½, while American Can finished three points higher on the session. Radio was off 10¼ at the close, Johns Manville 10, Westinghouse 5, General Electric 6 and other losses ranged from 1 to 12 points in the more active stocks. Turnover reached the record total of 12,894,000 shares. Further easing in call money from renewal of 6 to 5 per cent passed unnoticed.

"Technical rather than fundamental" is the explanation of the bankers as to the current market situation. The "explanation" was given after the bankers met at Morgan's. Such a meeting would not have been held unless the bankers recognized the situation was threatening to get out of hand and thereby become a fundamental factor of extreme importance. Views of economists and other developments were mentioned as the reason for the wild rush of the public to get out of stocks. The shakeup could and would not have been experienced however without at least the passive assistance of the banking powers. When the federal reserve warned and took bearish action throughout 1928 it had no market influence as bankers gave support and leaders issued bullish statements. The drastic shakeup has improved the technical situation only to the extent that the public has been driven out. None can tell what the fundamental influence will be in the way of effecting automobile and other trades, as well as retail business, for the next fortnight or so.

To comment on individual stocks is impossible. Those who have maintained that the stock market no longer could be considered as a unit now recognize their error. When international or domestic plans of the banking powers are such as to bring about a "shakeup" the respective developments of individual companies make no difference. That the stock market uneasiness had already affected the automobile industry was self-evident. How much the cataclysm of the last two days will hurt other lines of industry is anyone's guess. Those who have been fortunate enough to escape the stampede are in a position to pick up bargains. By far the greater majority have been cruelly crushed, however, so it will take some time before the sentiment aroused by the crash will be wiped out. As repeated here several times the last words of advice of Secretary Mellon was to "buy bonds!" Those who saved any funds now will be inclined to take such advice.

Meetings held after the close did not result in much cheer. Reserve board reported loans down $167,000,000, but as none knew how much new financing had offset liquidation the figure is not very important. Charles E. Mitchell was the only one to issue a courageous statement as he emphasized he was standing behind belief that the market cataclysm did not truly represent business conditions. The Steel directors—officially—only considered and postponed action on purchase of Columbia Steel. The street had to wait until next Tuesday to learn whether they will pay an extra dividend that seems warranted. Bethlehem directors reported record earning of $13 a share for nine months but declared only the regular dividends. Position of the Reserve banks shown in the statements were further reason for belief that there is nothing fundamentally wrong with the credit picture but that does no good to those who have been squeezed out.

While our stocks went to pieces, sterling again moved higher and the British currency closed at a new high for the move in a generally strong foreign exchange market.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Oct. 24. (AP)—Giant swings in price both down and up came with bewildering swiftness in the wheat market today duplicating the wild course of stock exchange values. Transactions in wheat mounted far up into millions of bushels, with Europe reporting a big buyer here of future deliveries of wheat after the market had collapsed under panicky selling 12½c a bushel today to the lowest level yet this season. Subsequent rallies amounting to as much as 7¼c a bushel took place to the accompaniment of sudden huge purchasing that whirled the market upward almost as excitedly as an hour previous it had plunged headlong down.

On the late rebound, wheat closed nervous, 4⅝c ot 4⅝c below yesterday's finish. Corn closed at ⅜c to 1½c net gain, oats showing ¼c to ⅛c net decline and provisions ranging from 12c setback to a rise of 2c.

Contrasting, in striking fashion with the lightning like wide fluctuations that later developed, the wheat market today opened in some cases at only ⅛c difference from last night. It was not long, however, before execution of an immense pile of orders to sell out and put a stop to losses of wheat owners put a staggering load on the pit. A crash of about 5c a bushel resulted, and yet the market recovered somewhat. Then came a new onslaught of selling, and brought about a nearly perpendicular fresh drop of 8c, with the market reeling downward so quick that ½c to 1c smashes ensued before brokers could pencil the figures on their trading cards.

At the bottom point reached, wheat was 22½c a bushel under last week's top level.

Corn owed its advance chiefly to absence of any important selling except for a brief interval when wheat weakness was most acute. Oats derived relative steadiness from the surprising firmness of the corn market.

Provisions were unsettled by the rapidly changing action both of grain and of stocks.

GINNINGS NEAR 1928 TOTAL

13,019 Bales Produced Here To Date

Ginning of cotton in Wichita county Thursday enabled the season's total to mount to within 2,000 bales of the 1928 yield reported in the state's figures for last year, 452 bales having gone through the machinery during the day. The total reported now is 13,019.

More rapid increase in ginnings are evidenced in daily reports from Electra than those from any other section. That territory was late in starting, and for several weeks ginned only a few bales daily. The Mt. Carmel gin, located six miles north of Electra in the lands near Red river, is now running steadily, and is turning out a large volume every day.

Burkburnett, with 168 bales reported for Thursday, went to a total of 4,005 bales for the season.

Prolonged discussion of the development of dairying in this community during the past three years at the meeting of the chamber of commerce directors Wednesday noon indicated that members of that body consider milk production one of the largest assets of the Wichita Falls area, both now and for the future.

J. T. Harrell, president of the City National bank, and active in agricultural activities of the chamber of commerce, stated that tremendous progress had been made not only in the increase of dairy herds, but in the quality of stock maintained, and the grade of milk produced. It was said that during the coming year, the chamber of commerce would attempt to give every possible assistance to the recently elected dairy supervisor toward the further development of the milk industry in this and surrounding counties. Commendation of Iowa Park citizens was voiced for their aggressive leadership in bringing about the employment of a county dairy supervisor.

First Solid Carload Of Cucumbers Shipped

LAREDO, Texas, Oct. 24. (AP)—The first solid carload of cucumbers ever to leave this section was shipped to eastern points last week. Other seasons have seen parts of full shipments loaded on trains but last week's was the first shipment to completely fill a car. Carloads of eggplant also have been started to eastern markets.

Both products are being grown in large quantities in the Laredo district this season.

Tramp Printers Still Visit On Bankhead Road

ODESSA, Texas, Oct. 24. (AP)—Although the day of a tramp printer is almost gone, towns along the Bankhead highway, on the southern route to California, still get occasional visits from these old fellows, when they make their trips south for the winter. One of the most famous of the vagabond masters of the stick and case, Weary Willie Waterhouse, of Walla Walla, Wash., comes through this part of the country almost every year.

Old, broken, bleary-eyed, and bent, Weary Willie shuffles along, catching rides from town to town, stopping occasionally for a day or so, to help out in a country print shop. He travels yearly from coast to coast. He usually gets work, and seems to make enough for more than an ordinary living. He doesn't want a permanent job, and even refuses one when it is offered. Although well past 60, Willie continues his wanderings and says he will until the end.

He is one of the last of a famous crew who were the boon of the country print shop in the old days before the advent of the mechanical type setting machines.

CITY REPAIRS WATER PLANT

Winter Improvements to Aid System

Necessary replacements and repairs to filtration apparatus at the city water plant will begin Friday in accordance with the announcement made during the summer that extensive repairs and patching of the old system would become necessary if no new apparatus were installed, according to Dr. A. H. Douglass, manager of the water department.

The work will include complete replacement of sand and gravel in the filtration beds, repairs on valves and replacement of a large amount of pipeline equipment in the filtration plant, Doctor Douglass said. About 110 cubic yards of sand and 30 cubic yards of gravel will be required for the beds. The work will require several men and will take about two weeks for completion.

Flood Control Leader Speaks Here Friday

H. Morrison, president of the Denison Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker at the weekly membership meeting of the Junior chamber of commerce at the Kemp hotel Friday noon.

Mr. Morrison will speak on "Combined Navigation, Irrigation and Flood Control for Red River." He heads the organization which has been active for some months in an effort to obtain the construction of a large dam near Denison as part of the federal flood control program.

A reception committee headed by Floyd Randel will function for the first time at Friday's meeting, greeeting all those present prior to the luncheon.

Students to Attend Army Band Concert

All pupils of the city schools holding tickets for the matinee concert to be given by the United States Army band next Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 29, will be excused from classes in ample time to reach the Memorial auditorium before 3:30 p. m. when the concert will open, according to an announcement made Thursday by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent.

It was announced by H. C. Cheshire, under whose management the military band will appear here, that Dr. Cantwell will introduce the organization to the childrens' concert.

Theft and Burglary Reported to Police

Two cases of petty theft were reported at police headquarters Thursday, according to the stolen property records. Paul Stanford of Liberty, Kan., notified police of the theft of a suitcase containing several yards of silk goods, dresses, slippers, baby's clothing and miscellaneous small articles, the case having been taken from his car while it was parked on a downtown street Thursday. H. H. Taylor, 1816 Eighth street, reported that an overcoat and hat had been stolen from his home during his absence from the city for the past two weeks.

Norwood Makes Bond On Two Liquor Bills

Dan Norwood, indicted Wednesday afternoon on two whisky counts, Thursday was released under two $750 bonds, according to information given by Sheriff W. G. Bralley Thursday afternoon. Norwood was arrested last week when Wichita and Archer county officers raided a still near the county line. He is charged with manufacturing whisky and with possessing material for making whisky in two separate indictments.

Amarillo Painter Noted Big Change

Gifford Eats Better, Sleeps Better And Works Better Since Taking Orgatone

"It has been over a year since I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Orgatone," said F. D. Gifford, who resided at 2500 Tyler street, Amarillo, Texas.

"Before taking Orgatone," he added, "my appetite was very poor and my stomach in such a condition that I couldn't eat anything but what would ferment and cause me trouble. My breath was very offensive and I was constipated, had intense pains in my stomach and was seldom free from headaches.

"I noticed Orgatone in the window here at the City Drug store, and I heard so many people telling what it had done for them that I decided to try it, and I had hardly finished my first bottle until I noticed a big change in my condition. I commenced to eat better and enjoy my meals. Before I got Orgatone my food seemed to do me very little good, but now everything I eat agrees with me perfectly and is giving me strength. My nerves are in fine shape and I sleep so sound that it takes a good, strong alarm clock to wake me in the morning. Orgatone has made a clean sweep of my stomach trouble and put me in shape to where my work is no longer a burden to me. I don't believe any one suffering from stomach trouble and liver disorders could take Orgatone without benefiting from it, and I only wish I had known about it long ago."

ODD FELLOWS

All of 'Em Invited to Home-Coming Event Monday Night

Every man who has ever been an Odd Fellow has been invited to attend an elaborate home-coming event which will be staged at the local Odd Fellows' hall, 807 Austin street, at 7:30 o'clock next Monday night, it was announced Thursday.

The program has been arranged by a committee whose aim has been to provide as much of fun, frolic and fellowship as is possible, it was said. Following the program, an old-fashioned Dutch lunch will be served to all present.

Woman Makes Bond On Drunk Driving Charge

Miss Anne Houser, indicted by the 30th district court grand jury Wednesday afternoon on charges of driving a car while drunk, was arrested here Thursday afternoon by Dick Morris, deputy sheriff. She was released later under a $750 bond.

Miss Houser was arrested first Tuesday evening by members of the police department after an automobile collision on Ohio street.

Jury Considers Verdict In $11,500 Damage Suit

After about two hours of deliberation, the jury trying Mrs. M. C. Grubbs' $11,500 damage suit against A. H. Hudgins was excused for the night without having arrived at a verdict late Thursday. The jurors were instructed by Judge W. W. Cook to resume consideration of the case at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Mrs. Grubbs claims to have been permanently injured in an automobile accident at the intersection of Burnett and Twelfth streets in December, 1928. She is joined in the suit by her husband.

GANT TO DALLAS

Charlie Gant, deputy sheriff, left late Thursday for Dallas where he will take into custody A. C. Wright, to be tried here next Monday morning for burglary under the terms of the Texas habitual criminal act. Wright is being held in the Dallas county jail and will be brought here on the authority of a bench warrant signed by Judge Vincent Stine. The deputy and his prisoner are expected back Friday.

DOG HOSPITAL HELD NUISANCE

Property Owners Upheld in Jury Report

The operation of a veterinary hospital at 1405 Lamar avenue was ordered stopped Thursday afternoon in a writ of injunction signed by Judge Vincent Stine after a jury in the 89th district court had held the institution a nuisance to the neighborhood. The prohibitory order, directed against Dr. Fred Gross, veterinary surgeon, becomes effective at once unless a motion for a new trial is filed immediately.

The injunction was sought by Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Bauknight, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cato and Mrs. A. A. Thom, property owners near the hospital, on the plea that noises and odors coming from the place were objectionable. The jury which defined the institution as a nuisance withheld the $1,500 damages sought by the plaintiffs, represented in the trial by E. W. Napier, attorney. B. Y. Cummings was counsel for the defense.

The verdict was returned Wednesday afternoon after the jury had been sent back to reconsider its earlier report of a hopeless disagreement. Judge Stine told the jurors to answer all the issues they could agree upon and was presented later with a complete verdict.

Army Band Plays for Coolidges

Presentation of a Thanksgiving day concert for the nation's chief executive has become an annual affair since ex-President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, shown in the picture with the United States army band, requested it three years ago, when the first such concert was given. The band will appear here in concert next Tuesday.

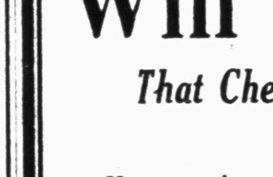

AUTO CATCHES FIRE

Loss estimated at $50 was caused by flames which damaged an automobile belonging to J. A. Young of Holliday shortly before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon near the intersection of Ninth street and Lamar avenue. The chemical truck from central fire station was called and the blaze was quickly extinguished. Damage was confined to electrical apparatus on the motor and the finish on the hood, which was badly scorched.

Rotary Club Hears Tribute to Edison

Contributions of Thomas A. Edison to the world through his accomplishments as a scientist and inventor during the past half-century were reviewed by Albert E. Myles before the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon.

Contrast was drawn by Mr. Myles between the dollars-and-cents valuation customarily placed upon a life and that generally accorded the life of Mr. Edison.

Albert E. Kelly, community chest campaign director, made a brief report on the progress made to date in the annual drive. C. P. Brewer, representing the extension department of the University of Texas, announced that classes in salesmanship and personal development will open next Monday night to continue two weeks.
