GOVERNMENT TO PROBE KLAN!

Thousands Gasp As Mystery Girl Leaps From Plane

AIR AMATEUR BEGS TO JUMP OPENING DAY

Girl Dives Head First Toward Earth

"Now, just climb up on the side of the plane and dive over head first."

Ed Lirette, stunt pilot and daredevil parachute jumper shouted the directions above the roar of the airplane motor.

The words were addressed to a girl seated in the cockpit of his plane, 2,000 feet above the earth.

The girl was "Miss Mystery" and she was up in the plane to make her first parachute jump. She had never ridden in a plane until a few days ago.

Without a reply, without a sign of hesitation, she climbed up on the edge of the cockpit, and without a pause, dived headfirst toward the earth.

Her body shot into the sight of 3,000 spectators watching the plane from the field below. The parachute followed. Her body dropped like a lead weight for several hundred feet, with the parachute harness following, while spectators watched breathlessly to see if it would open.

Lands With Jolt.

Open it did, and the girl dropped more slowly, although still approaching the earth at a rapid pace. She hit the ground with a jolt, but was uninjured.

"Proud," declared A. L. Taylor, chairman of the legion committee in charge of the meet. "Why she was so proud we could hardly stand her round.

"She was not supposed to jump until today, but she worried the life out of me all Saturday afternoon to let her jump on the first day too, that I finally told Ed Lirette to take her up and shove her out—even if she got killed, it would mean a little peace."

Every precaution that she would not get killed, was taken, however. The harness was arranged to insure its opening, and she used a small parachute, which, although it dropped her quickly, was easier for one of her light weight.

Spellbound spectators ahed and ahed, applauded, screamed and rubbered through the most successful event of its kind ever staged in the South yesterday afternoon, when the seven scheduled and two special events of the first day's program of the American Legion aviation meet were flown, jumped and stunted with mechanical precision.

Ships of all kinds, colors and speed were on the line. Army planes and civilian ships mixed and mingled in an aerial frenzy, unmarred by accident or default, and prompted the

SENATE ORDERS TEA POT PROBE

Denby Says Quiz Is Welcomed

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Attacks on the government lease of the Wyoming naval oil reserves to the Sinclair interests today culminated in the senate ordering an investigation.

Under a resolution presented by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and adopted 58 to 0, all private leases in the two California naval oil reserves as well as the Salt Creek, or Tea Pot Dome district, to the Sinclair interests are to be investigated. The inquiry promises to cover acts of the last administration and furnish another spectacular conservation controversy.

Secretary Denby said so far as the navy department was concerned the investigation was welcome. Secretary Hall is out of the city.

To put through the La Follette resolution the senate laid aside the tariff bill by unanimous consent. The resolution was adopted with brief debate, but for more than two hours afterward discussion with a partisan tinge, ensued.

During this discussion, Secretaries Fall and Denby were attacked and defended for having made the Sinclair lease.

The Greatest Game—
And Secret Processes—
To Eliminate Waste—

By H. N. F.

PETROLEUM HUNTING IS THE greatest game in the world.

There are billions behind the Titans who are playing the game. It is said to be the third greatest industry and there is at least one billionaire in America who owes his vast fortune to oil. There are several Americans whose individual wealth is placed all the way from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000. Not long since it was announced that John D. Rockefeller and his associates had been placed on a fifty-fifty basis in the fields of Persia, that they were promised an equal break in the fields of Mesopotamia and that the Baku fields of Caucasia were ripe to fall into their hands. Production for North Texas had a 6,000 barrel gain last week. There was an average 127,000 barrels daily production. Burkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park and other fields came in strong. Now it is said that the Standard Oil has absorbed the West India Oil Refining company of Kentucky, an idependent operating company in South America. It is said that Sinclair earnings in 1921 were almost $11,000,000. It is said that secret processes have made it possible to make gasoline from all waste oil, including asphaltum, oil shale, oil waste and tar. According to the inventors all the "below grade" oil will be subject to refinement and this process will add annually hundreds of millions of gasoline to the American output. New companies have entered the Laredo field; new sands have been discovered in the South Bend field; many producers are being brought in in the South Electra field; drillers have found the true oil sands in the Young county field and lastly it is announced that there was a decrease of 14,100 barrels in production in the United States for the week ended April 22. A great game is the oil game. Consumption is increasing all the time and the scouts and the prospectors and the geologists are getting busier and busier all the time. Civilized man makes certain demands. His needs must be supplied. There is a new industrial civilization here. This is one of the reasons why petroleum hunting is one of the greatest games.

ON SATURDAY PRESIDENT Harding received 25 little children from Oklahoma and other western states. They asked amnesty for their fathers and brothers who are at Leavenworth as war time offenders. They carried banners reading, "Debs is free! Why Not My Daddy?" Yes, Debs is free and the children asked a very pertinent question. It is true that a man is his brothers keeper. It is true that the doctrine of personal responsibility has not been set aside and the greater the influence of a man the greater his responsibility if he teaches false doctrine. Eugene V. Debs is a brilliant orator and he is sincere. He struck at his government in its hour of danger. He was sent to a federal prison. Woodrow Wilson refused to pardon him. Warren G. Harding granted him a pardon. The writer is not criticising the president for his action. "But Debs is free! Why not my Daddy?" Why should the whale be returned to the big pond to enjoy liberty and the minnows be kept away from the pools, on dry land to gasp out their lowly lives? Debs was their apostle. They followed his flag. They accepted his gospel. They landed in prison. "Debs is free—Why not my Daddy?" This is an argument that goes home and touches the heart.

FEDERAL JUDGE JOHN C. POLlock of Kansas dismissed a suit brought to test the industrial court law of that state. He gave as a reason that neither of the Kansas miners in whose names the suit was

Wichita Pastor Will Broadcast His Sermons to Radio Fans Throughout This Section From Church Pulpit

Rev. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be the first Wichita Falls minister to have a radio broadcasting transmitter in his pulpit, according to present plans.

The transmitter will be connected with the broadcasting station of Ralph Parker on Colling avenue, the connection being established over a telephone wire, according to present plans.

The Parker station is one of the best in Texas.

Beginning of operations of the station, however, is still a matter of conjecture as to date, as the necessary government permit has not been obtained to date.

P. A. Rogers and C. C. Kirby, local radio enthusiasts, are taking an interest in the installation of the transmitter in the church. Sermons are heard by radio fans regularly by preachers in other places in Texas, but this will be the first broadcasting arrangement made for a Wichita Falls audience.

HEREFORD, Texas, April 29.—Governor Neff closed his speaking tour of Northwest Texas and the Panhandle country here tonight, where he addressed a large audience. During the day, he filled speaking engagements at Tulia and Canyon where he drew large audiences.

He spent Friday night at Amarillo going there from Claude where he addressed the people on matters of state, patriotic endeavor and the duty of the citizen.

Loudly Cheered.

At Pampa, Carson county, Friday he promised to return to the Panhandle during the summer. He was given a big reception at Pampa and 800 persons were in the auditorium. This was his morning talk. He made another address at Panhandle where he said that he hoped the day would never come when the great state of Texas will be divided. This declaration provoked tremendous applause.

An audience of a thousand greeted him at Panhandle and his speech at that place the governor said that he believed that the people of the Panhandle country are more nearly a hundred per cent American than people of any other part of the state.

Representative Lee Satterwhite, law-maker and editor, headed the Panhandle reception committee. White City was another town visited Friday where the chief executive talked for twenty minutes and told the people something of the cost of government and the possibilities of their state. BATHING POOL WEDDING NULL

Couple Lived as Married 30 Days

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 29.—The bathing pool marriage, performed at Medicine Park near Lawton, Oklahoma, last summer by the Rev Thomas J. Erwin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Lawton, one of the matters over which the membership of the church has split, was annulled today by Judge J. I. Philips in district court here.

Last Wednesday the El Reno Presbytery which has jurisdiction over the Lawton church, decided to try the pastor on charge of "Conduct unbecoming a minister of the Presbyterian church." The charges mentioned the bathing pool marriage. The trial is set for May 9.

The principals in the marriage were Helen Breinsfield, 17-year-old and Frank L. Wells, 40 years old.

The annulment proceedings were instituted by Mrs. Breinsfield.

It was brought out at the hearing that the marriage had been performed in a spirit of revelry and that the couple had lived together only 30 days. Judge Phelps restored Mrs. Wells her maiden name.

Many Parrish Voters Still Looking For Leader; Ousley Has No Organization

By H. N. F.

CHILDRESS, Texas, April 29.—James Stephen Hogg was the first native Texan elected governor of the state. Horace Chilton was the first native Texan elected to the United States senate. Chilton served by appointment of Hogg to fill a vacancy and was his own successor for a full term of six years. He was defeated for reelection by Joseph Weldon Bailey who had served ten years as a member of the lower house.

Morris Sheppard, the junior senator is a native son. All the other senators from annexation down to this time with the exception of Chilton and Sheppard have been adopted sons. Hogg broke the ice for the elevation of native sons to the office of governor. Since his passing James E. Ferguson, William P. Hobby and Pat Morris Neff, all native sons, have been elected to the office of governor. Hogg and Chilton hailed from East Texas. Sheppard is a product of East Texas.

Parrish Leader

Lucian W. Parrish was born and bred and educated on Texas soil. He had won signal success as a law maker as the representative of the Thirteenth Congressional district when he aspired to a seat in the senate. His home was in Clay county, far from East Texas and his admirers and followers called him "The Man of the West." He had made many stirring speeches before his brilliant and useful life was snuffed out by fate and his book forever closed.

NEFF MUM ON NAPIER ENTRY

Governor's Answer to Query Recalled

Governor Pat Neff would make no comment on the announcement of Judge E. W. Napier as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination against him when approached at Fort Worth, according to a message received in Wichita Falls Saturday night.

The announcement came as a frank surprise in state capitol circles, however, according to messages to Wichihta Falls' friends of Neff from Austin, particularly coming at a time when the governor was giving northwest Texas an "account of his stewardship."

The governor's recent utterances on the Ku Klux Klan issue, according to observers quoted in the message from Austin, as having effectively disposed of any possible opposition on this him on that particular issue, and few around the capitol were expecting an opposition candidate.

The governor's answers to questions at Dallas that he was not a member of the klan, and that he did not consider that there was any place for a secret organization in the enforcement of law, was recalled in this connection, together with the decision of Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson, mentioned by those who looked for the opposition to the Ku Klux Klan for a candidate, and who picked on the lieutenant governor for his scorching anti-klan statements early in the year, not to be a candidate until two years hence.

Protective Tariff Is Denounced by Candidate

Denouncing the protective tariff as wrong in principle and as a burden to the American public, and voicing a strong advocacy for a soldier's bonus, Sam A. L. Morgan, candidate for congress to fill the unexpired term of the late Lucian W. Parrish from the thirteenth district, addressed a large assemblage of persons at the Wichita theater Saturday night, and was roundly applauded when he drew the lines between his own plaform and that of his opponent, Guinn Williams.

"I announced at Vernon that I was for the soldiers' bonus. I ought to be because I had a brother who answered the first call of war and went to the border.

"He faced blood and shot and shell for democracy and for me, and I appreciate the sacrifice that he made for me. I not only appreciate his sacrifice, but I appreciate the sacrifice that every other soldier boy made for his country, and no man who has an ounce of gratitude in his soul can oppose a platform that favors a soldiers' bonus," Mr. Morgan said.

He outlined his stand in the race on the merits of his achievements, and said that when "Guinn Williams told the people that I was a city man and not qualified to serve the country man, my answer was 'just look me over.'"

The speaker was preceded by Judge P. A. Martin and C. C. McDonald, the former asserting that Orville Bullington, who recently announced as a candidate from the 13th district "is a republican and can't run on an independent ticket."

Judge Martin, who said that he had once been a law partner of Mr. Bullington, declared that "Bullington is out of sympathy with all things democratic," and said he hoped "Bullington wouldn't get 25 votes."

"Morgan Vs. Williams"

Judge Martin declared that "men must recognize that this race is between "Sal" Morgan and Guinn Williams."

Mr. McDonald praised Mr. Morgan

HOUSTON, April 29.—The city hall and the school board completed a drama at noon today that certainly had two starring acts and, but for a milder third, might have turned into a tragedy. Scene 2 was a meeting this morning at the city hall, in which the board resented the affront. Scene 3 was an apology from the city hall for the alleged affront.

CHORUS GIRLS IN REAL FIGHT

Scrap Starts Over "Gentleman"

NEW YORK, April 29.—Helen Lee Worthing, beauty girl famous for her smile and beauty, is lying on a cot in Bellevue hospital while physicians are battling to save her life.

How maid save Miss Worthing took the poison by mistake for headache tablets.

Gossip along the theatrical rialto is that the poisoning is the result of a fight staged back stage by Miss Worthing and another girl recently.

If the gossips are correct—it is but one more bit of evidence that stage queens like beauty are not skin deep. For both the alleged participants in the fistic engagement smiled amiably at each other while on the stage, only to fly at each other's throats in the dressing room.

Further reports have it that rivalries of gentlemen friends started the fracas.

Miss Worthing is the daughter of a wealthy Brookline, Mass., business man, she has been known as the $1,000 paid chorus girl on the stage.

MAN WILL JUMP MILES TO EARTH

Chambers Seeks New Record Today

Did you ever see a man dive a mile head first? No? Well you will get a chance to see just this thing at the American Legion's Air Circus this afternoon if the weather is clear according to A. L. Taylor, chairman of the legion aerial committee.

That man is Sergeant Enoch Chambers, the world's champion parachute jumper, who has the record of over 26,000 jumps. He is going to try for 30,000 today. He did not go up yesterday on account of the clouds which would prevent him being seen after the first few thousand feet.

About the mile dive? Well Taylor says, it comes from his holding the parachute harness grasped tightly to his breast for a few seconds after his head long dive from the plane, quick cuing the descent.

What if he gets unconscious and Taylor? Well you know he did become unconscious when he made his record and blood spurted from his nose and mouth. But when he became unconscious he loosened the harness through reflex action.

The parachute jumpers dive head foremost. How Taylor's secret was explained to him, is to prevent tangling with the harness attached to the plane. When the parachute opens, it rights the jumper. Of course it means a jolt to the jumper, and it means another jolt when he hits the ground.

of 1922 will soon have passed. Will your business progress or your business growth have been up to your expectations all things considered?

If not, do you honestly feel as head of your concern, that you have made every effort possible to keep things moving, growing?

Sometimes it's mighty easy to persuade ourselves into feeling that business is quiet" so when, in many cases it's quiet because we permit it to be so. We should remember that people must eat, wear clothes, shoes and hats, indulge in pleasure and recreation, and that somebody is supplying these needs.

And never in our history did the reading public depend so completely upon newspapers for their merchandising information. The Record News is a GOOD advertising medium.

POET'S INSPIRATION NOW WICHITA OIL MAN

'Malemute Kid' of Robt. W. Service Fame, Recalls Writer

Memories of Klondike days will be recalled to many in Wichita Falls and other oil centers in this district by the publication of the verses of Robert W. Service in the Record News—for there are many here who have followed the lure of "liquid gold" into Texas just as the lure of the gold itself drew them into the Yukon and the Klondike years ago.

And first among them, without a doubt, will be Al Harris, the "Malemute Kid" of Service's verse, an intimate friend and comrade of the Yukon and Klondike, and a man whose claim to the "sour dough" title is probably the clearest of them all.

It was the "Kid" who was with Service at Rampart on the Yukon, about two hundred miles below Dawson, and was with Service when he composed his "Spell of the Yukon," his masterpiece. And it was the "Kid" who committed it to memory as it was composed, line by line, and who first gave it to the world, standing in front of the bar in the Malemute saloon in Dawson and reciting it to the men who had been gripped by the spell of which Service sang.

Al Harris is now an oil man here and is room mate at a local hotel with I. G. Balyeat, former newspaper man, who has seen something of the Klondike himself, having been at Nome in comparatively early days, later going over to Dawson, but the year after Service had left, and got to the civilization which proclaimed his verses of the wild. Balyeat, who had deserted the newspaper game for the oil game, recently found the old comrade of his Nome days, the man

TEXAS LEADERS BELONG TO K. K. DECLARES JURY

Some of Doctrines Endorsed by Probers

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, April 29.—In its final report today the Travis county grand jury said that the federal government will soon make an investigation to ascertain if any of its employes belong to the Ku Klux Klan.

"We learn from what we think a reliable source that the federal government will soon have a general house cleaning among its servants that those in the federal service who belong to this organization will have to disassociate from the organization or quit the federal service," the report said.

State Heads Linked

"We find in our investigation that representatives of the state government have become involved in this organization," it continued. "This we think is unfair to the great mass of citizenship of this state."

Speaking of the principle of the klan, the jury in its report said that it indorsed some of the doctrines of the klan but condemned other parts of it.

"It is dangerous in the extreme and violates the most sacred principles of free government," the report said.

"We do not believe that any officer of the law whose duty it is to execute the law fairly and impartially alike to every citizen, be he ever so humble, can be true to his oath of office and at the same time be true to the oath of the present Ku Klux Klan organization and its teachings.

Officers Should Quit

"We believe that every peace officer, both state, county and city, should immediately renounce his allegiance to this organization or else retire from office, because there is dangerous, however, conscientious an officer may be, that he will favor his brother klansmen."

The report said that the klan had "succeeded to an admirable degree in enlisting all peace officers throughout the state as well as the military organizations of the state, into its toil and measures."

No indictment for the killing of Peeler Clayton on Dec. 16, 1921, in an alley near the "Klan hall" was re

Hill & Jones Drill Into Sand

Hill and Jones, No. 1 Cropper, drilling just west of the Laning and Moninger producers in the new north end, south of the Burkburnett town site, drilled into a sand Saturday said to show up for pay at 1,370 feet according to reports from the field Saturday night.

The Camp Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Hardin just south of the city limits of Burkburnett, reported on a sand around 1,200 feet earlier in the week, is drilling deeper, and is now around 1,300 feet. The sand was dry.

The No. 1 Fowler of the Stumpf Oil company, reported on a 1,370 foot sand a couple of weeks ago, is preparing to complete. A Star machine is rigged up, and the well is estimated for a good pumper.

The Ben F. Hunter No. 3 Murdock got the 1,200-foot sand on Saturday according to reports, this lease being just south of the Laning and Moninger Cropper lease. Just west of the Hunter lease the Hobbs Oil company No. 1 Murdock is drilling around 700 feet. Work has just been resumed here after a shut down of several days with boiler trouble.

On the railroad right of way the Weaver Oil and Gas company's No. 16 is drilling around 1,300 feet.

The Laning and Moninger No. 4 Cropper, lease 2, is drilling around 500 feet. The nos. 5 and 6 Cropper lease 1, were spudded in Saturday.

HOSPITAL PAYS ITS OWN WAY

Thousand Dollars in Treasury

Despite the fact that nearly $7,000 free work was done, the Wichita general hospital, the city-county institution, was self-sustaining during the past year, with a balance of near $1,000 after payment of expenses out of its $50,000 revenue. This is shown by the report submitted to the city hospital board by Miss Helen B. Boughton superintendent.

Over 1,000 patients were handled in the institution, 139 of whom were free patients. The total number of days hospital care given was 9,860, 8,678 of which was paid for, and 1,182 of which was free care. With the capacity of 35 beds, this indicates that the institution was filled to capacity, for nearly the whole of the year.

Vital statistics show a balance on the credit side, too, there being 88 births against the year's 77 deaths.

The institution was the first to be erected in Texas under the law which permitted cities and counties to jointly construct and maintain hospitals built to primarily serve those who are unable to obtain and pay for hospital care, the institution has been self-sustaining for some time—in fact it has been several years since the city or the county was called upon to contribute anything to its support. Expense of erection and expense of the new wing now building, was jointly borne by the city and county.

The new board, appointed recently by joint action of the city council and the county commissioners, is composed of Dr. M. M. Walker, president, Dr. O. B. Lee secretary, G. Clint Wood, Mrs. B. Lee Huston Fain, Dr. Frank Clark of Iowa Park and Dr. Shepherd of Burkburnett.

KIRBY SPEAKS IN WICHITA

John Henry Kirby, Houston lumber and oil man, and president of the Southern Tariff association, will be one of the principals at the Tariff Congress to be held here next Friday, according to information received here.

A complete program will be announced in a few days, it is expected. A large number of farmers, stockmen, oil men and business men from Wichita Falls and points within a hundred mile radius from here is expected for the meeting.

Tariff protection on products of the farms, ranches and mineral fields of the Southwest equal to the tariff protection accorded the manufacturing centers of the country is the aim of the tariff association.

who had known Service in the early days at Dawson, when the latter came over the "rainbow" trail.

A. Walker Harris is another Westerner, now, who has had his experience. He spent the winter in Dawson which was Service's home, and met him there at a time when his poems were known in the Klondike and the Yukon country, but were not known to the world outside that area. Walker Harris did not go to the Yukon after gold, he went for his health when the strain of business in Vancouver threatened a serious breakdown. He went to the Yukon with a few months' stake, and struck a winter trail a winter which still holds the record for intensity during the cold season. Service was still with the bank at Dawson this winter, and took an active part in the winter amusements. Mary Hardman was another of those who took a part in the amusements designed to pass the bitter winter months. Walker Harris, playing with her in some of the amateur plays which were staged during this season. Several of these with the pigment of years furnish other memories for this year.

Robert "Malemute Kid" is the pioneer of them all. He left the call of the Klondike in 1897 while in Seattle. He was only 15, but he had run away from his home in San Francisco the year before. He went in by way of Nome. He first knew Service as the cashier of a bank at White Horse in '98. This was before the Dawson days, and before he had felt the call to verse which was to make him famous.

Being "only a kid" and the time being the real time of trial for the "sourdoughs," Harris was put to it to live. He made his way, before coming to the estate of a miner and prospector in which he experienced the ups and downs well known to the old timers, by driving a dog team—a team of "malemutes"—which carried the mail.

"The Spell of The Yukon" was written three years later, in 1900. It was in 1905 that Service left the Klondike, and went to New York. Harris then in Seattle, cried his friend on his way east. He has seen him once since that time, in New York about 12 years ago. The first of a series of 26 Service poems is published on the editorial page of the magazine section today.

unquotable remark. The greatest thing I ever saw."

Major E. A. Lohman commanding officer, Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla., chaperoned 14 De Havilands (D H's in lingo of the day) and twice that number of pilots, aerial fiends or whatnots. More than a score of privately-owned commercial and pleasure craft of the nether regions were brought from all sections of the country to participate in the flying frolic.

Opens With Formation

The program opened with one of the greatest pieces of flying ever staged when Lieutenants Brookley, Wagner and Davis piloted their powerful ships through 15 minutes of formation flying—close formation it was, and flying extraordinary.

Speeding through the overhead at a rate of a hundred miles an hour, their wingtips seemingly bound together, they banked, zoomed, dived. They drove the gallery to cover as they gazed hat tops, plumes and foliage of the hundreds of spring bonnets there. Working their ships with control and mastery, officers demonstrated the accuracy with which the heavier-than-air crafts can be handled. Delicate to the touch, yet possessing the sheer brute strength to pull themselves almost straight up on the "prop," the big D H's cavorted, roared and spilled their fiery breaths to the amazement of 5,000 or more who paid admissions to the airdome.

Miss Mystery Jumps

While the formation was flying, Miss Mystery was gaining altitude far to the south. As the last of the big air leviathans settled to the ground, a Canuck bore down from far afield and a tiny speck was seen to leap clear of the fuselage. Plummet-like it fell for a hundred feet, then taking the breeze, a 30 foot chute opened and Miss Vernon Welch, making her first leap, settled gracefully to mother earth barely to the northeast of the field and direct in front of the old hospital. An attendant side-car was waiting her descent and immediately rushed her back to the applauding crowd, to congratulations, and a thousand questions.

"Most wonderful experience I ever had," Miss Welch said after the jump, "and I'm going to do it again tomorrow."

"I didn't know what to do, but when we flew over the field the pilot asked if I as ready. I supposed I was, and when he told me to jump, jump I did, and here I am. It was wonderful." This is the opinion of Miss Mystery on the most hazardous feats of the upper air.

Fancy Racing

Four times around a triangular seven and one-half mile course was the race staged by four Curtiss ships. Hedge hopping, fence jumping and skimming the terrain, at times seemingly racing on the ground, the ships roared the four laps in a beautiful race for the first two positions, with the third and fourth entries trailing closely behind. H. Foster of Dallas took the lead at the first turn and was never headed, although threateningly pursued by his business associate B. Good. Foster's time for the race was 19' 06½", Good finishing in 19' 21" and Burrell Tibbs finished third in 19' 49". Erritt Williams finished fourth.

Following the race, an altitude climb by six of the government planes afforded a world of speculation as to the winner. The half dozen aerial giants rapidly climbed to the lower clouds, each striving to obtain the level of the judging ship. Honors fell to Sgt. Colby who was declared to be the first up, and plane Number 33 captured the loving cup offered by the American Legion.

"Daredevil" Lirette

"Daredevil" Ed Lirette fulfilled every promise to offer something new in wing walking. All over the ship from propellor to rudder, wing tip to wing tip, and from landing gear to center section, climbed the man whose faith in his footing and grip far outweighs his fear of death. He swung high and wide on a rope ladder suspended beneath the ship piloted by M. M. Merrill of Dallas. Suspended by his knees, his elbows or feet he circled the field in a series of gymnastics, and discarding the ladder, started his minute inspection of the ship. Back and forth, over, around and under he went, and offered the thrill of a lifetime when he stood erect on the center section directly behind the roaring propellor while the pilot described a perfect loop overhead, and gracefully descended to the air dome. Lirette still erect atop.

Three new Laird Swallows, yellow as a buttercup, sped around the 30-mile course in still faster time than the Curtiss race. Beech finished in the lead, timed 17' 45" Garner was second with 17' 50" and Laird third in 18' 20".

Williams First.

The first ship in the acrobatic contest took off as the Swallow race started on its last lap and had gained his altitude by the time the judges flagged the winner. Five loops, five Immelmann turns and five times around in a tail spin constituted the activities and ship after ship executed the maneuvers in long graceful overs, rolls and flops. Judged by the accuracy of their stunting, Erret Williams was awarded first place, M. M. Merrill second and B. Good was third. The judge were forced into extra session to determine the winner, so perfects were the movements executed. The work of these pilots bore out the statement that some of the best fliers in the country were assembled here for the meet.

Climaxing the day was an event listed as "Parachute spot landing." And it was just that. Quieting his ship at a height of 2,000 feet, T. L. Armstrong guided his umbrella-shaped canvas to a point barely 75 feet distant from a sheet, anchored well out on the field. His achievement was cheered equally to that of Miss Mystery. Charles Bretel was not so accurate with his leap and landed considerably further away, while Ed Lirette came down in an adjacent wheat field.

Army Present.

Army regulations prohibit the contesting of army fliers with civilians in an open meet of this kind, and Major Lohman announced that the ships brought from Post Field were simply here to insure the success of the Legion meet. However, their part in the program was conspicuous because of their brilliancy of performance. Although the majority of their ships returned home, every pilot was so enthusiastic over the meet that they announced the big D H's will return today.

Among the army fliers here yesterday were a number who have taken part in various military meets over the country, and they all expressed themselves as firmly convinced that this was the most successful ever attended. The "Aviator's Ball" at the Kemp last night held many of them here, and they saw their "busses" take off for home in the hands of another pilot. Due to a shortage of planes at the field at this time, every incoming plane brought a capacity crew, and two ships made return trips for men who could not find a vacant belt.

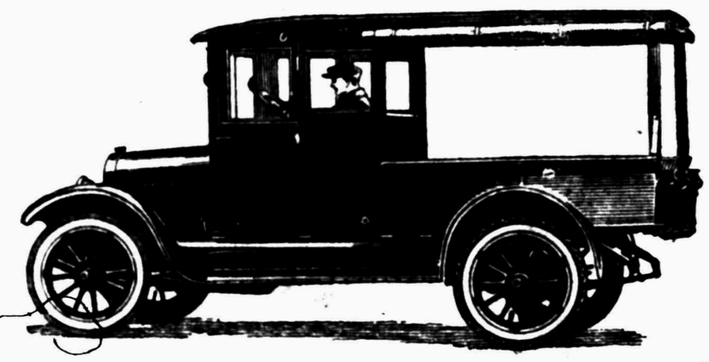

New Thrills Today.

Sergeant Encil Chambers who holds the worlds record for parachute jumps from altitude will attempt to beat his former record of 28,000 feet. Weather conditions did not permit the attempt yesterday, but with a breaking of the clouds last night, prospects for a perfect flying day were in the making, and a world's record may be established today. Sergeant Chambers is still in the service and is stationed at Post Field. His home is Cameron, W. Va., that is, he explains that was his home at the time of his enlistment, but now, his home is in the air.

Despite the inclement weather, possibly three thousand fans turned out for the meet. Long before the starting hour arrived, a long string of human laden cars streamed to the field. More than two hundred cars were parked alongside the road both on the east and west sides of the old post. The Legion is making an appeal to all to pay their admissions today and help swell the fund of the Pat Carrigan post, under whose auspices the meet is being held. An expense of more than $3,500 has been entailed in staging the mammoth card, and every possible admission is desired. Since this is not an individual enterprise, and promoted solely for the benefit of the legion, it is the duty of citizens of Wichita Falls to support them in the exhibition that will make history for the city.

Following an appeal last night by officers of the local post, county officials announced that full-fledged deputies will be stationed on the Lake road and others in that vicinity to keep traffic moving, and that parking along the roadside will not be tolerated.

The program this afternoon will begin on scheduled time, 1 o'clock as proclaimed by the officials in charge.

DECATUR MAN RAPS WILLIAMS

Ridicules His Stand On Bonus

Special to the Record News.

VERNON, Texas, April 29.—Mack Burch of Decatur, home town of Guinn Williams, congressional candidate, spoke in Vernon this afternoon in a well-filled district court room in the interest of S. A. L. Morgan of Wichita Falls, an opponent of Mr. Williams.

Mr. Burch made no bitter attack upon his fellow citizen, but accused him principally with wavering loyalty to the democratic party, with insincerity in respect to his friendship with Lucian W. Parrish, and criticized him roundly for his stand on the soldier bonus.

In detailing Mr. Williams' alleged infidelity to the party on whose ticket he is now running, the speaker related an incident in 1916 when Mr. Williams ranking under the defeat of one of his friends for county attorney of Wise, persuaded the candidate to offer himself in the general election on the independent ticket and in addition voted for him.

Charges He Fought Parrish

Mr. Williams, said Mr. Burch, fought the election of Parrish bitterly, but after the death of the latter was heard to say as he stood by the bier: "This was the best friend I ever had, I loved him like a brother."

The speaker questioned the sincerity of his fellow townsman in making this statement.

Attacks Bonus Stand

The Decatur candidate was accused of taking no positive stand on the soldier bonus by Mr. Burch. Williams, he said, is advocating a program already in effect by the government and his proposal to raise a cash bonus without taxing the people, Mr. Burch characterized as ridiculous.

1,000 HEAR—

as a wise man, and asserted that "it takes a student of government to make laws and Morgan measures up to the job." It was Mr. McDonald's opinion that doctors, merchants and bankers should be called upon for service only when there is a place for such a person, and he averred that "congress is no place for a banker."

Introduced by Judge R. E. Huff, chairman of the occasion, Mr. Morgan stood silent for several minutes at the edge of the stage while loud handclapping broke into louder stamping of feet and shouting.

"It is good to come home," he said when the din had subsided, "I haven't been home much during this campaign because I have felt that I could leave my interests here to the care of my neighbors—if I can't, then I'm not the kind of man for the office."

Mr. Morgan said that he has held 19 joint debates with Mr. Williams, and that the latter had been the reason for their discontinuance.

"I'm not saying he's a quitter," the speaker said, "but I know that I was convincing him that I ought to be the congressman. My unequivocal stand against the tariff could not be fathomed by Williams, and Guinn said at the last three meetings that if he believed I could do some of the things I was promising, he's quit the race himself and vote for me."

Knows Needs

Declaring that he was not asking to be sent to congress as the representative of Wichita Falls alone, Mr. Morgan said "if you honor me by sending me there, I assure you I shall go to Washington to represent all of the people in this district. I know the needs of this town and I shall devote my self to a solution of the problems which confront it, but I want to serve them all."

The candidate said that he had gleaned from all the joint debates that he and Mr. Williams are agreed on every issue that has arisen except the tariff and the soldiers' bonus, and speaking of the latter, Mr. Morgan expressed the opinion that the United States is not able to pay a cash bonus because, he said, this country is already tax-ridden and "money has been driven out of circulation." He didn't believe, he said, that the government is able to raise the billions of dollars necessary to pay a cash bonus.

Believes in Clear Issues

"Williams is opposed to the cash bonus," he said, "if it has to be raised by 'taxing the common people.' He says that many men became immensely wealthy as a result of the great war, and he suggests that if the soldier boy can show him a way to take that money away from the rich to pay a cash bonus, he would gladly help them do it—when he knows that nothing like that can be done.

"I believe every candidate for congress and the senate should make himself clear on all the issues so the people can understand where he does stand."

Williams, the speaker said, offers no hope for relief from the high taxes, and this, Mr. Morgan stated, "is one of the paramount issues."

The man who has money to invest in business is not encouraged to put into anything in the business world and thereby place it in circulation, he said, because "if he does and is successful, the government takes it all away from him in taxes.

For Cutting Expenses

The speaker advocated the reduction of governmental expenses, and said that he would foster the complete abolition of protective tariffs.

"I subscribe to a rigid program of economy," he announced, pointing out that for every dollar that goes into the United States treasury, "it costs the average American from $5 to $10 to get it there."

He illustrated his point by saying that if a suit comes into this country and is taxed an admission of $10 tariff, the customer pays that $10 in the end, "just to get one dollar into the treasury."

Mr. Morgan said he favored raising revenues by income and direct methods of taxation, and it was his expressed belief that if the high tariffs didn't stand in the way at the present time, "cotton which American farmers cannot sell would be shipped to Europe for the merchandise that Europe can't afford to ship to us," and momentary conditions would be bettered.

The meeting was completed at 9:10 o'clock, and Mr. Morgan said that he will spend little time in Wichita Falls from today until May 13, going direct to Denton, where a schedule will be worked out for the remainder of his campaign.

"I plan to follow Guinn Williams to every place that he goes," he announced.

PEOPLE PICK—

He was a type of the West as well as a product of the West and astute politicians say that he would have made a clean sweep of the West and been in the run off for United States senator.

A vast majority of the leaders had declared for Parrish and the rank and file of the Democrats were proud of the son of the West and his achievements. It was a tragedy of and for the western democracy when the life of Parrish ceased to be and the loss of his leadership smashed the ranks of at least 150,000 democratic men and women. They had lost their idol and leader and their ranks were broken. Now they are finding themselves and many of the veterans of hard fought battles have drifted into the camp of Culberson and others into the camp of Thomas with men here and there for Ousley, or for Ferguson or Henry or Mayfield.

Yet there are many Parrish supporters who have not yet found themselves. They are watching and waiting.

Culberson and Thomas

The writer has traveled over many counties and discussed the senatorial race with many Democrats. They say that today Culberson and Thomas are the leaders; that Culberson has always had an organization and that Thomas built up a fine organization in his campaigning in 1920. This is true in the counties of Jack and Young and Archer and Baylor and Knox. It is true in the counties of Wichita, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard, Cottle and Childress.

Culberson hasn't visited these sections in years but he has powerful supporters everywhere, especially among those known as the old liners. Thomas has made many speeches in West and Northwest Texas, in the plains country and in the Panhandle. His views are not acceptable to the so-called conservatives. They do not like his supreme court decision views, his advocacy of the doctrine of the restriction of private fortunes and his blistering criticism of the wealth of the land and the wealthy.

Woodrow Wilson has a tremendous following in West Texas and the Panhandle and the Plains. Culberson always stood for the Wilson policies and does today. He is for the Wilson League of Nations. Thomas has ever been a pronounced Wilson man and these two are looked upon as Democrats who never trail the Wilson banner in the dust. Culberson voted for the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Amendments and their submission to the people. Thomas advocated them from every stump in Texas. Everywhere in the country west of Fort Worth the followers of Wilson made an almost clean sweep of the opposition two years ago and the Wilson policies including the Federal Reserve Act and banking system are stronger today than they were at that time.

The writer interviewed editors, lawyers, farmers, business men, mechanics and laborers in the cities and towns and at the cross roads. Of those who were willing to express a preference Culberson and Thomas easily led.

Places Thomas First

Harry Koch of the Quanah Tribune Chief is one of the leaders of the Thomas forces in the west. He places his favorite first in Hardeman county, but there are others who place Culberson first and Thomas second, with the other candidates, with the exception of Strong, bunched as to popularity.

Judge T. J. Fires of this city, who was a Hogg leader in his youth and a stalwart Parrish man until the latter passed on is said to be of the opinion that Culberson is the leader here. Judge John W. Davidson, a son of East Texas, said to the writer that Culberson appeared to be the leader, and he ventured the prediction that Ferguson would win a surprising vote in many sections, from among those who favor light wines and beer, who are renters or sympathize with the renters, or who are in sympathy with the demands of the farm labor and labor union organization.

In Foard county, Dow Tate was of the opinion that Culberson and Thomas were the favorites, with Thomas holding a slight lead. Over in Cottle county, where the farmers and stockmen constitute the bulk of the voters, these two were given the best of it as far as the voters had declared themselves, although Editor Carlock of the Paducah Post was of the opinion that a realignment of democrats had not taken place since the death of the popular thirteenth district congressman.

Lead Here

Culberson and Thomas, according to those in touch with public sentiment, are the leaders in the counties of Clay, Montague, Denton, Cooke and even in Wise, the old home county of Sterling P. Strong, where the candidacy of the latter does not appear to be taken seriously. Clarence Ousley has supporters everywhere but no organization. Really the two organizations working in the name of Culberson and Thomas are the only ones worthy of the names, but it is a long time until the July primary and the battle is on by the other senatorial aspirants for the thousands of democratic men and women voters who lost a leader and candidate when Parrish died.

The thirteenth congressional district which Parrish represented comprises the counties of Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Denton, Jack, Montague, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise and Young. There is a special election to be held Saturday, May 13, to fill the vacancy created by Parrish's death and the bitter campaign now on has delayed an alignment of democratic voters to a great extent, in the senatorial sweep stakes race. After the May 13 election there will be lively times in the district as all the senatorial candidates with the exception of Charles A. Culberson have invaded the vast territory or are ready to invade it to build up organizations and to lure to their respective individualities the men and women who will make a senator in the July preferential primary or in the run-off which is certain to be necessary.

There are four democrats and one independnt in the race, Judg S. A. L. Morgan of Wichita Falls; Stat Senator Guinn Williams of Wise; W. S. Moore of Cooke, and Miss Annie Webb Blanton of Denton are the democratic contenders. Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls is running as an avowed independent with strong protective tariff leanings, hoping, no doubt, if the protectionists and independents and republicans of the district turn out on election day that he will win the prize. Bpt, as Kipling said, this may make material for another story.

turned, the evidence of this grand jury being left for the next one in a secret report.

Attack Klan Oath

The grand jurors said they had been maligned, criticized and even libelled by papers over the state and in a special report gave the business and religious connections of each member.

Attached to the report were copies of what was said to be the oath and requirements of a member of the present Ku Klux Klan, and a copy of the creed of the Ku Klux Klan of the Civil war days.

In thanking the jury for its labors, District Judge Hamilton said:

"Future grand juries will make a thorough investigation of this killing (Peeler Clayton) without any reservation, from every angle of the law, or witnesses before the grand jury will pay enough money into the register of this court to reimburse the taxpayers of Travis county for a session of the grand jury. This court is not going to be trifled with, nor will it turn over the government of society in Travis county to the imperial government of the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan."

AUSTIN MEN ANSWER GRAND JURY QUERIES.

AUSTIN, April 29.—J. D. Copeland, police commissioner and F. G. Reynolds, clerk of a local fraternal organization this afternoon appeared before the grand jury and answered questions about the Ku Klux Klan which they had previously refused to answer, adjudged in contempt of court and fined $100 each and sentenced to jail until they should answer the questions.

The answers were made on advice of counsel, it is understood, the two men conferring with their attorneys a few minutes before they entered the grand jury room.

The answering of these questions brings to a close a case that has gained statewide attention. It started when the grand jury was directed to investigate the killing of Peeler Clayton in an alley bordering the "Ku Klux Klan Hall?" and the alleged activities of the klan in Travis county. Reynolds and Copeland refused to answer the following questions:

"Are you a member of the Ku Klux Klan?

"Who are the officers of the Ku Klux Klan?

"Who are the members of the Ku Klux Klan?

"Who have you seen at meetings at the Ku Klux Klan Hall?"

PLAN WINE WEEK FOR ENGLISH PALATES

LONDON, April 29.—English palates, long noted for their appreciation of fine old wines, are in danger of deterioration because of the lower price of vintages, according to a group of prominent wine merchants who propose an English "wine week" in emulation of the French custom. Wine, they declare, is no longer a luxury as the lower price has brought it within reach of all.

The purposes of wine week, it is said, will be to educate the English taste for wines and also to instruct diners in the elementary rules and traditional usages of beverage selections. It is planned to gather a representative group of speakers and writers to sing the praises of wine, and to tell those who would learn how to drink it.

brought had been arrested under the industrial court law. In dismissing the suit the court made a significant remark. He said that it appeared to him that as legislatures might delegate the power to fix rates they might also properly delegate the power to fix wages. If the courts carry this to its logical conclusion the day may come when American commonwealths will fix wages and regulate the hours that an employe shall work. This old world is jogging along at a rapid rate.

PRESIDENT R. F. VINSON OF the State University is out after the scalp of the Texas Scalper and the scalps of its twenty student editors and publishers. Howard S. Aronson of Dallas is chief editor of the Scalper which is a monthly humorous publication privately owned by members of the student body. All the student scalpers must resign from the Scalper publication or be dropped from the University roll. And this, too, before May 5. History must repeat itself. In the not remote past University students goaded one James E. Ferguson into a mental condition bordering on desperation. He should have overlooked their attacks but he didn't. He vetoed the appropriation bill and what happened to Ferguson is ancient history. To quote from the profane writings of a well known Texas lawyer and law maker, "The University boys played hell with Jim." Of course it is different now. Dr. Vinson is president of the University. He wields the official bludgeon and should the bludgeon fall the Scalpers will find themselves on the outside of the University grounds.

OLD JIM IS ON THE ROAD again" speaking of former Governor James E. Ferguson. Hill county is one of his old stamping grounds. He advocated a return of light wines and beer at Hillsboro and at one time Hill county gave 2,500 majority for prohibition. For years the county was dry in the good old days, but there were many wet pros among its leading citizens. Hon. Walter Collins introduced Ferguson to the voters of Hill county. This reminds the writer that Collins was for four years chairman of the state executive committee of the democracy of Texas and ever a stalwart supporter of the Bell county man. Collins expressed himself without evasion. He said he had always been a supporter of Ferguson in former campaigns, had no apology to offer as he felt that in the years to come his friend, the former governor, would be vindicated. It appears that there are men on earth who remain loyal to friendships regardless of what has happened and who are willing to go down in the ditch fighting for dethroned or discredited political idols.

All rulers and all military conquerors that invaded Russia in those four centuries went down in defeat. Russia swallowed them up. Russia and Germany came very near swallowing the Genoa Conference. China for many centuries has swallowed all invaders and all people who invaded the land of Confucius. China has never been conquered although the Chinese have been an non-resisting race. A Slav is half Tartar and half Caucasian and the Slav has never been conquered. Germany and Russia have made a pact. There is an alliance that may make history some day. speech, speaking of the eleemosynary institutions and other state departments.

"You could not and would not live in Texas if all those institutions were closed up and we are not going to close them up. We are going to provide the necessary revenues to maintain them. Never so long as the women of Texas vote will a single orphan be cast on the trash pile of the state or a single Texas boy or girl be denied the educational opportunity to which he or she is justly entitled."

Visits Normal.

On Monday, the governor and the state board of regents will visit the West Texas Normal College at Canyon, Randall county, to inspect the work that is being done there. Business houses of Canyon will be closed from 9 until 12 o'clock. After the inspection and the address, the governor and party will take the train for Denton where they will spend Tuesday May 2, inspecting North Texas State Normal College. Governor Neff is scheduled to visit the College of Industrial Arts during the afternoon and address the student body. Tuesday night he will leave for the state capital after an absence of ten days.

He is deeply gratified with the results of his long trip, the large crowds, the splendid territory and evidence of prosperity and progress everywhere in evidence.

MUCH FOODSTUFF IS SENT FROM AMERICA

LONDON, April 29.—Walter Lyman Brown, director for Europe of the American Relief Administration has announced that between March 1 and March 26 the distribution of American foodstuffs from the Russian ports amounted to 132,220 tons. This brought the grand total arrived in or moving toward the Volga Valley up to 168,273 tons. The average for the 26 days of March was 5,085 tons daily.

The total arrivals in Black Sea ports at that time amounted to 282,652 tons, of which 155,032 were corn cargoes. Of the amount moved into the interior 8,108 tons have arrived in Tzaritzin, 1,385 tons are being distributed in Samara and 3,350 in Ufa.

The adult corn ration is also being issued in Kazan, Simbirsk, Saratov and Orenburg.

75,000 FRENCH DIED BY THEIR OWN GUNS

PARIS, April 29.—"Because of a false conception of offensive principles, by lack of liaison between artillery and infantry and by the irrational use of heavy artillery 75,000 French men were killed in the war by their own artillery." This is the astounding revelation made by General Etienne Percin, once commander of a French army corps, in his latest book "The Massacre of Our Infantry."

NEW SCHOOL PLAN BILLED FOR EL PASO

EL PASO, Texas, April 29.—El Paso high school and the Junior college, both public schools, will operate summer terms and have three graduating classes a year instead of two, according to Dr. Frank H. ABILENE TO PLAY MUNDAY HIGH

MUNDAY, Texas, April 29.—Arrangements have been made to bring the Abilene High School Baseball team here for two games on Friday and Saturday, May 5-6, with the Munday High team.

Abilene has not been defeated this season and is after the state championship in baseball, and as Munday has not been defeated this season in a regularly scheduled game, this will likely be one of the best series of games played on the local park this season in the way of high school baseball.

Keep your weather eye on this Pie Traynor of the Pirates. Shifting him to third base has turned the trick. He is going great guns.

TEX TIES UP DE MAGGIO FOR HITS

Fifty Texans Rap in 300 or Over Class

Texas League hitting has not yet begun to seek its natural level, as far as the number of .300 batters is concerned, although the downward trend in individual figures is already evident. Fifty-one Texas Leaguers are still rapping the old apple in the .300 division.

While other players who have participated in fewer games have better averages, including Possum Moore, the hefty Fort Worth catcher, who has been swinging a terrible av this spring, the real batting leader of the men who have taken part in every game is Nic DeMaggio of Beaumont. He has outscored and outhit the loop and, with twenty base blows to his credit in fourteen games, is well on his way toward the coveted first century. Tex McDonald of Wichita Falls has tied DeMaggio in the number of hits, as has Ewell Gross of San Antonio, while two more Beaumonters, Edington and Strong, come right along behind with nineteen each.

The .300 hitters through Thursday's games were:

Pitcher's Records.

It is early yet to determine much from the winning records of pitchers but only a quarter of beavers have managed to win three games. Eddie Donalds, who holds the Texas League record for high winning average on a season, is still undefeated, but Hill of Dallas and Bowman of the Spuddders have each lost one game along with the three wins. Pitchers winning half or better of their games through Thursday were:

Errorless Games.

The batting in the league to date has been terrific for most clubs. Galveston and Shreveport alone having few .300 hitters. Eleven Wichita Falls players, including six regulars are above the mark. Houston has nine and Fort Worth eight.

But this batting has not been reflected on the defensive side. In the entire league today only three errorless games have been played. Dallas vs. Shreveport, Fort Worth vs Shreveport and Galveston vs Houston. The Galveston club and the Beaumont team, however, have played four tilts each without a bobble, while Houston has three errorless games, Dallas Wichita Falls, Shreveport and San Antonio two each and Fort Worth one.

A-A AVERAGES

Initial averages of the American association show Gossett, the Milwaukee catcher, basking in the leadership with an average of .419. Mayer, a catcher with Minneapolis, is runner-up with .405.

Other leading batters for 10 or more games, Kirke, Louisville, .400; Krueger, Indianapolis, .400; Lamar, Toledo, .395; Russell, Minneapolis, .395; Murphy, Columbus, .392; Hartley, Columbus, .390; Sicking, Indianapolis, .390; Lear, Milwaukee, .385.

HUGGINS HAS BIG CHANGE TO MAKE

Can Miller Huggins, forced to do so by necessity turn the Yankees from a slugging to a pitching team? Last season Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and the other ball murderers on the club slugged their way to the pennant despite the handicap under which poor pitching placed the club. Now the Yanks' hitting brigade has suffered through the suspension of Ruth and Meusel and the pitching staff has been strengthened by the addition of Sam Jones and Joe Bush and the apparent change of form of the other hurlers.

Will Huggins combine most of his attention this year to the pitching staff and depend more upon tight hurling than the big bats lugged by his crew to return the pennant this fall? Or will he still try to strengthen his slugging crew?

CONTRACT OF ONCE UPON A TIME

Speaking about the demands of the baseball lads of today who are asking anything from a city block to $50,000 a season for their services as ball players, here is one that sounds refreshing.

Elmer Sutcliffe was a famous catcher during the nineties and made good in big league baseball. In his amateur days he drifted into Chicago and located at the ball park of the Nationals. The players were practicing.

Texas Promises Race For First Base Honors

FIGURES SHOW CLUBS WELL FORTIFIED

Homer Race Will Probably Lie At First

By "Spike" Cooper

The old story that first base is the "old man's job" finds little to substantiate that fact in the Texas league. The adage has been applied to both age in years and years in service in the game. There are veterans of the game found in the Lone Star loop, but considering the averages and the game put up around the first station, the Texas league promises one of the merriest races for high honors in that position, above all others perhaps.

Take our own Fred Beck, veteran that he is, was good enough last year in the Western league that he fielded his position for an average of .986 in 106 games. His hitting average was .324, a mean figure at that, and included in his knocks were 35 homers, 45 doubles and eight triples.

Hack Eibel, the Shreveport fence mauler, fielded his position in 1921 for an average of .988 and he hit .337, leading the league in homers with 35, in addition to 41 doubles and 18 triples.

Clarence Kraft, the elongated Panther first station guardian, was the leading hitter in his class last year with .352. His fielding average was .986 for third position in the standing. He also got 47 two-base hits and 12 triples and 31 circuit smashes.

James Catoe Galloway, skipper of the Dallas nine was one of the leading players of the league last season both in fielding and hitting. Taking the first station as a new position to him, he fielded for an average of .982 while his average with the stick was .325. Galloway was credited with 38 doubles, 7 three base knocks and 11 homerun clouts.

Cool Cecil Coombs who is now holding down the job for the Panthers has had quite a bit of experience on the corner, both while a member of the Dallas Marines and also the champion Cats. Last season he put in part time at first, seven games all told, but his outfield job brought his total games up to 150, the majority of which were in the outfield, but he hit for an .293 and his fielding average was .987 all told. Included in his batting were 29 doubles, 6 triples and 30 homers.

Houston is using Bailey at first part of the time this year, alternating him with DeNoville, a new comer. Bailey played 36 games at first last year for an average of .986 while he hit .297 piling up 24 doubles, 4 triples and 3 homeruns. DeNoville, secured from Jersey City in the International league fielded an average of .988 at first last year and hit .304 getting 26 two base hits, 9 three ply swats and five round-trip clouts.

Down at Beaumont, Harry Strong is pasting the pill for a fat average. Last season with Rockford in the Three-I loop he had a fielding average of .973 in 137 games and hit for .288, getting two homers, 13 triples and 22 double knocks. He is a young ster and fields his position like a demon, and has been hitting like wild fire so far this season.

Beatty is shouldering the first base ing burden for Hub Northern at San Antonio. Beatty is a new comer to the league, hailing from the Western league where he fielded .986 for St. Joseph in 1921 in 165 games in addition to hitting for .289, not a bad average. He got 42 two base hits, nine triples and 2 homers.

All told and summed up, it looks like a merry chase for high average this season. Of course outfielders are supposed to lead the league in hitting, but they are going to find some lively competition during 1922 in the Texas league.

FAITHFUL OL' "KITCH"

Youth plays the game with the flash of a star
And fills the fan full with hope,
A big hand today when he pulls a neat play
And fulfills the sport scribes' spring dope.

But age stands the strain with a steady, fair game,
Giving daily what you've seen every year.
Few applaud when he makes it, delivers the punch
Which wins many games, though he's seer.

For they've all become used to the grand old man
Who has borne the brunt of the load
Of a dozen campaigns. And yet they forget
Every year's one more mile down the road.

Maybe he doesn't hit .300 or more
In the spring when the youngsters are right.
But after the game, when he's all by himself
He thinks of the "razzing" that night.

That's faithful old "Kitch," the truck horse of old
Who has served the Spud nine many moons.
He knows that he's slipping, but he's in there to fight
For the game that he loves, 'till he swoons.

He knows more about pitchers than they do themselves,
And knows where the hitters can't swing.
That will win ball games, a HELL of a LOT,
Before the "Kitch" curfew will ring.

INDIANS DROP ANOTHER TO BROWNS

Kenneth Williams Ties Score and Beats Tris

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—Ellerbe's single in the tenth inning scoring Van Gilder, who had doubled, gave the Browns a six to five victory over Cleveland today. It was Van Gilder's fourth straight victory of the season. Kenneth Williams, home run champion of the Majors for this year, added two to his total, giving him nine in seven games. His first came in the fifth with Tobin on third, against Coveleskie, while his second came in the ninth against the same pitcher, tied the score.

Tobin also hit a homer in the 7th.

NEHF REGRETS BEANING HIGH

When Art Nehf beaned Andy High of the Dodgers in one of the opening tilts this season the Giant hurler felt as bad about the incident as anyone could. Until the mishap to High, Nehf had beaned but one player in his big league career. That man was Joe Schultz of the Cardinals. That accident happened last season in St. Louis, and although Schultz was only dazed and continued in the game it upset the pitcher considerably.

FITZ DEVELOPING KNOCKOUT WALLOP

Young Bob Fitzsimmons has at last decided that he is on the wrong track. This son of Old Bob has striven to follow in his dad's footsteps without the main asset his dad possessed, a knockout wallop. So far Young Bob has failed to get going. He has spent most of this time acquiring a clever style and speed. Now he has changed his tactics. He is training diligently at Little Falls, N. Y., to perfect a knockout punch and develop the strength needed to put it over. Maybe we'll hear better things about him soon.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Boston Americans broke their long losing streak here today, winning a tight 14-inning game from New York 5 to 2. Hoyt got in a hot argument with Huggins after the 14th inning and took a punch at the New York manager, because he had been ordered to pass Smith, filling the bases. BLUE SETTLES TO ONE SIDE

Lucerne Blue, young Tiger first sacker, expects to set a better mark for himself with the bat this year than he registered last season. Last year he was batting from both sides of the plate. He was hitting fairly well, but both he and Ty believe his natural place is on the south side of the plate, so he'll hit lefthanded exclusively this year.

IS M'INNES BAROMETER?

Stuffy McInnis hit safely in every one of the first five games the Indians played. They won all five. McInnis failed to get a safety in the sixth, and the Browns broke the Tribe's winning streak. Which may or may not mean that McInnis will be the barometer of the Cleveland club.

CHICAGO CUBS SURPRISE OF SEASON

Killifer Has Made Great Change In Team

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The surprise of the National league. That's what the Chicago Cubs are right now.

Doped by everyone to take the dust of at least six clubs in the league they are fighting it out with the world's champion Giants for the league lead, giving dust to six other clubs.

Bill Killefer is doing wonders with a team of nutried youngsters and deserves the big share of the credit for the team's showing.

Shining among the kids who are playing heads up ball are Arnold Statz in center, Hack Miller in left, Callahan, Percy Jones, a rookie hurler, and Hartnett, a youthful catcher.

Statz hails from the Frisco club in the Pacific Coast league and Miller from the Oakland club in the same circuit. Jones came up unheralded from Worcester.

Still ranking as a youngster, but more experienced, is Charley Hollocher. He is exceeding his form of last year when he took rank with the best shortstops in the business.

Only two members of the team which Killefer has pieced together appeared in the Cubs' lineup last season. They are Hollocher and Grimes, first baseman.

The green outfit took two out of three games from the Reds to open the season, collecting 35 hits in the three games and hammering Rixey, Luque and Donohue, considered the Reds' best bets so far. Then they met the battering, ball murdering Cards and gave a good account of themselves.

Killefer's kids may not stand the strain through the season but they deserve the spotlight right now.

PUG WON ON DONOVAN

When Donovan was managing the New York Yankees he became enraged one afternoon over the remark of a fan who sat well back in the stands. This man, a husky looking fellow, kept chanting the Yankees and finally Donovan could stand it no longer. Without an expression of some sort, he hustled off the bench and went across the field opposite the spot where the fan sat. Making a megaphone out of his hands, he yelled out, "Any more of that kind of talk and out you go."

"Say, if you try that, you're liable to wake up some morning and find somebody has placed a fly in your hands," the fan shouted back.

THE CUBS WINNING ROOKIES

REMINISCENCES OF POP ANSON

Old time Chicago baseball fans, discussing baseball that was played in "Pop" Anson's time, are telling of the wonderful feat of Ed Delehanty, another one of the old boys, back in 1807. That was Anson's last year as manager of the White Stockings he helped make famous.

In the game talked of Ed, playing with the Phillies, collected five hits in five times up and four of them were home runs. And according to the dope Ed dropped them into all corners of the lot. The first hit a homer, went into the bleachers in left. The second blow, another circuit smash, traveled to right field. Then he weakened and poked out the single. His next smash, a homer, went center field way and his last hit and home run went back to left.

"Adonis" Bill Terry pitched for the Chicago club. It's interesting to know that the Phillies lost the game, 8 to 6.

Due to muddy grounds yesterday afternoon, the scheduled games in the city league were not played. Secretary Carter announced last night that other dates will be set for the postponed games, and that the regular schedule will be adhered to.

"ALL CLASSES" FIGHTERS FEW

Eastern boxing fans who have seen Joe Johnson, New York negro heavyweight, in action are remarking about the fact that he must be numbered among the ranks of the fighters who have battled their way up through all the classes. Eight years ago Joseph as a bantam-weight, fought Johnny Buff, now bantam-weight champ.

Few well known fighters have weighed in for all classes. Georges Carpentier is the best known of these. Georges started in as a bantam although he won his fame in the upper classes. On this side of the water Willie Meehan is one of the birds to turn the trick—if Willie can still be classed as a fighter.

Harry Wills, negro heavy, who is being boosted as the logical contender for Dempsey's crown, started in as a featherweight. Previous to becoming a boxer Wills was a jockey and weighed in around 100 pounds.

PENN WINNER IN RELAYS

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Racing to victory in the world's record time of 7 minutes, 49 2.5 seconds, the University of Pennsylvania two mile relay team captured chief honors here today in the twenty-eighth annual relay carnival of its own institution after a thrilling spike shoe battle with Penn State and Georgetown runners. This contest and time was the outstanding feature of a series of team and individual track and field competition such as is seldom witnessed outside of Olympic games.

While Pennsylvania with its record breaking stood foremost in the limelight, Cornell, Syracuse and Georgetown won relay titular places of prominence.

WILLIAMS HITS 9TH; LEADS BATTERS

Tris Follows Him In American; Kelly on Top

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Kenneth Williams, the hard hitting outfielder with the St. Louis Browns who startled the baseball word by cracking Babe Ruth's home run record for the first two weeks of the season when he smashed out his ninth circuit drive, is at the top of the batters in the American League, according to averages released today and which include Wednesday's games.

Williams knocked out his second home run in today's game with Cleveland in the ninth inning, tying the score 5 to 5.

It was his ninth homer in seven games, he having slugged out three circuit drives in the game last Saturday. Both of today's homers tied the score, the first one coming in the fifth with Tobin on base, and making the score 2 to 2. Both of today's circuit clouts were off Coveleski.

Tied With Tris.

Williams is tied with Tris Speaker, the veteran leader of the Cleveland Indians. Each has an average of .449. Williams is not only topping the hitters, but is showing the way to the base stealers with eight thefts. His six home runs is a big advantage over his rivals, and if he maintains his present stride, Ruth will have a big handicap to overcome when he returns to the game on May 20. The St. Louis slugger also is out in front in total bases with a total of 42.

George Sisler, another star of the Browns, has been wielding the willow with telling effect since the curtain rose, and is trailing the leaders with an average of .444.

Other leading batters for five or more games are: Pratt, Boston, .432; E. Smith, Boston, .429; E. Collins, Chicago, .380; Scott, New York, .378; Wood, Cleveland, .375; Jamieson, Cleveland, .370; Blue, Detroit, .364; Heilmann, Detroit, .364; Cutshaw, Detroit, .364; Rice, Washington, .346.

Kelly Tops Nationals.

George Kelly, the Giants' first baseman, who last season led the National League home run hitters, is out to repeat this season, but appears to have some keen competition in his teammate, Meusel and Cy Williams, the Philadelphia outfielder. This trio has clouted out three homers apiece.

Kelly is topping the batters with an average of .445, while Tierney, the Pittsburgh second sacker, is three points behind with a mark of .452. Hornsby of St. Louis, who carried off the league's batting honors last season, is down in the list with a mark of .368.

Rabbit Maranville of the Pirates and Rawlings of the Giants are having a nip and tuck race for the honors among the base stealers. Each had pilfered four.

Other leading batters for five or more games are: Tierney, Pittsburgh, .429; Harper, Cincinnati, .421; Hollocher, Chicago, .388; Williams, Philadelphia, .385; Maranville, Pittsburgh, .378; Parkinson, Philadelphia, .370; Hornsby, St. Louis, .368; Bigbee, Pittsburgh, .362; Henline, Philadelphia, .351.

ANOTHER BLACK PUG SHOWING

The latest of negro heavyweight sensations, Tut Jackson, has a wonderful chance to win fame and coin. You'll recall, he is the bird who knocked out the crafty, cunning, hard hitting old Sam Langford the other night.

The time is made for Tut. McVey is dead. Langford is through. Jack Johnson is done. Joe Jeannette isn't scaring anybody any more. Harry Wills is the only heavy drawing attention and crowds. Jackson if he continues to make good; will be a drawing card. It won't be long before he can claim a chance at Wills. Wills is now passed his best form. When Wills slips Jackson may be in a position to succeed him as the "logical contender" for a chance at Jack Dempsey.

There is little chance of Wills and Dempsey meeting for several months. Mayhap Jackson will get a crack at Harry first. Wills, in view of his eagerness to tackle Dempsey, cannot put Jackson aside without drawing unfavorable comment.

BILLIE MISKE HAS COME BACK

The St. Paul heavyweight who seemed to be through at one time is stepping right along with the rest of the prominent heavies just now. And judging by his recent work he can hold his own with Gene Tunney, Harry Greb and Tommy Gibbons, who have been hogging the limelight. And a change in style has helped him turn the trick.

When Jack Dempsey knocked Billy out in three rounds at Benton Harbor two years ago experts thought the defeat spelled curtains for Miske. Billy insisted that a year's illness previous to the battle had hurt him. Now it looks as though Billy had a reasonable alibi.

Miske isn't an old man. He's 28. A good age for heavies. He stands six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds, an ideal weight. He always was a good boxer and fast, but he lacked a good wallop. Now he has changed from the stepping around style to a two-fisted attack and has shown that he has developed a knockout. In addition to bringing him good results, this style is making him more popular. Heavyweight fans like the mule kick boys.

ANOTHER GOOD ANSON STORY

The recent death of "Pop" Anson of course opened up a flood of stories about the old-time baseball hero.

To my mind, the best one I've heard tell on Anson goes something like this.

Anson was interviewed by an eastern sport writer a couple of years ago and about the first question fired at Anson was:

"After all is said and done, who was the best hitter you ever saw?"

"Anson," replied Pop without batting an eye.

FOR CONGRESS
Thirteenth District
SPECIAL ELECTION MAY 13th

FOR CONGRESS
Thirteenth District
DEM. PRIMARY JULY 22nd

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE THIRTEENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

A congressman is to be elected in this District for the next two years. We present for your consideration the name of Senator Guinn Williams of Decatur, Texas. We are his neighbors, living in the same county with him; most of us have known him intimately for several years. He is a life-long Democrat, always found in the ranks battling for the good of his country and party. He is an upright christian gentleman—one of the very best neighbors, and the truest friend one ever had. When his country called he was ever ready to answer the call; when his party called the Democratic hosts to arms to battle for its principles, its tenets, he asked no further questions, but with the Democrats' declaration of war in hand, his only inquiry was: "Where is the enemy that dares tread upon the people's right?" and the battle was on.

From his earliest boyhood the cry of the distressed found a sympathetic hearer and a ready helper in him. From his early youth to his present status, he has heeded the admonition: "Remember thy father and thy mother." As a business man he adopted as his slogan: "Honesty is the best policy," and on this principle, adding to it economy and industry; he has succeeded. His neighbors have always found him ready to help them to bear their burdens. As an officer in the county, he applied the same principles as he used in his own business and succeeded in honoring the office, as well as the office honoring him. As a thinker and statesman we point you to his record from his earliest manhood, culminating in his record as a Senator.

Having a splendid personality and a happy way of meeting people, armed with a great fund of business and political information, and a diplomatic mind, no wonder on entering upon his duties as a Senator he at once took front rank. His great work and service in the Senate will appeal to all men and women who believe in great Democratic principles; you will not be disappointed if he is elected. He has never disappointed anyone who put his trust in him.

ENDORSEMENT

We, the undersigned Democratic citizens of Wise county, Texas, hereby endorse Guinn Williams of Decatur, Texas, as a candidate for Congress from the Thirteenth Congressional District of Texas, and will do all in our power to fairly and honestly secure his nomination at the Democratic Primary Election to be held July 22, 1922, and we pledge ourselves at all proper times and places to work, talk and vote for his election.

ENGLAND WILL PASS UP CHAMP

No Contenders in Position for Bout

NEW YORK, April 29.—Charles B. Cochran, the famous sporting and theatrical promoter of London whose name has been mentioned as promoter of the Dempsey-Carpentier, Dempsey-Beckett and Dempsey-Bombardier Wells contests in Europe, will have absolutely nothing to do with any of those bouts and believes that no other British promoter will have the temerity to stage them.

The information comes straight from Cochran through a personal friend who says:

"I made it my business to have a long private chat with Cochran and you can say that beyond the shadow of a doubt he will have absolutely nothing to do with any of the suggested Dempsey bouts. He also believes that no other responsible British promoter will attempt to float them; that there is nothing doing pugilistically for Dempsey in Europe and that the world's champion probably will be back in the United States before the middle of June.

No Opponents For Dempsey.

"'I'm out of boxing for good,' says Cochran. 'It is useless and laughable to couple my name with any of the contests mentioned. To my mind it is a joke to suggest any such thing as a return Dempsey-Carpentier match or a bout between the 'Man Killer' from America and poor old Joe Beckett.

"'Why, Dempsey would slaughter the two of 'em. In fact, he would massacre any three boxers we have over here at the present time, in the same ring, the same night, without working up a perspiration.' The British boxing world knows that as well as I do. If the impression in America is that we over here will fall for any such hippodromes and setups they are sadly mistaken.

"'Certainly the British public will pay to see Dempsey fight. They also will pay to see him exhibit his wares on the stage. Just his mere name and reputation will make him a great drawing card. But the British people will not pay to see Dempsey meet any Carpentier, Beckett or Billy Wells.

"'The only possible match over here for Dempsey I can see is the proposed one with Harry Wills, the negro. That would go big, but from what I can hear you couldn't pull Dempsey into the ring with Wills with an auto truck.'"

PROTEGEE OF COOMBS

Jack Coombs as he is today, and Infielder Freeman in action.

Jack Coombs, once star pitcher with Connie Mack's great White Elephants and now baseball coach at Williams college, believes he has a coming big league wonder in Freeman, an infielder on the Williams team. Freeman, who of course will be dubbed "Buck" if he ever does climb into the big show, handles himself well about the infield and is a heady batter and baserunner, Coombs says.

OLD HEADS MAKE YOUNGSTERS STEP

While youngsters were starring in many of the opening struggles in the big leaguers some of the veterans of the sport refused to be crowded out of the limelight. Stuffy McInnis of the Indians and Del Gainer of the Cardinals were among these.

Gainer's terrific hitting was the main factor in the Cards' victory over the Pirates in their initial battle.

Gainer is a comeback. He was called through when the Red Sox sent him to the minors in 1918. Last year with the Milwaukee A. A. team he hit .340 in 185 games and fielded so well in the outfield that Manager Rickey of the Cards signed him. An injury to Jack Fournier this spring put Del on first. Now he's booked to stay there a while.

Gainer is 36. He won his baseball rep at first for the Tigers from 1911 to 1915. Then the Red Sox got him at the waiver price. In the world's series of 1916 he starred, winning one extra inning game with a timely hit.

PENN'S STAR DIDN'T RUN

News dispatches didn't make much of the fact that Don Head, one of the University of Pennsylvania runners, was unable to run in the four mile relay event against Oxford and Cambridge. The fact was, however, that overwork in an effort to pay his own way through college cost him a chance to enter the race. He had become worn out by his efforts to attend college and train during the day and then earn his expenses by working in a bank from 7:30 p. m., to midnight. He draws the admiration of the public.

MOORE IN SEYMOUR

Special to the Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, April 29.—H. W. S. Moore of Gainesville, was in Seymour Friday in the interest of his candidacy for congress from the 13th district. He is a candidate for the unexpired term of the late Lucian W. Parrish. The inclemency of the weather preventing his arranging a speaking date at this time, but he availed himself of the opportunity of meeting personally many of the people in the business district.

INDIAN FIZZLES BACK IN SHAPE

When the big league ball clubs journeyed to their northern homes from the south most of them reported that rainy and cold weather had handicapped their training and as a result their pitchers were in poor shape. The Cleveland Indians had as tough a break as any of them.

And then the season opened. Manager Speaker sent in Guy Morton against the Tigers in the opener. Guy had failed to hit his stride for three or four seasons. But he turned the Tigers back in an exhibition that indicated he may be back in form.

In the second game young George Uhle, former sandlot star held the Tigers down although Stan Coveleskie finished the game for him.

Then in the third game Sarge Baumgardner, star of 1920, but a disappointment last year, held the Tigers to one run until he could afford to let up.

Then along came the Browns. Walter Mails, star southpaw of 1920 and a fizzle last year, turned them back by shutting them out on five hits.

This doesn't mean a pennant or second place or anything right now for the tribe. But if ought to throw a scare into a few other ball clubs in the league.

MIXING THEM ALL UP NOW

Did the recent proposal to match Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey against Ed Lewis, world's wrestling king, start an epidemic of freak sport contests? Looks that way. A mixed football game is planned now between the elevens of Johns Hopkins University and Toronto University. The game is to be staged at the Polo grounds, New York, next December. The first half of the contest will be played under American rules and the second half under Canadian rules. May the best rules win.

CALDWELL HAS RECORD ALL HIS OWN

The release of Ray Caldwell by the Cleveland club marks the passing from the majors of a man who for several years was one of the leading pinch hitters in the American league, besides his pitching ability.

And more than six years ago Caldwell achieved a feat which is worthy of a Ruth, the securing of three home runs in three days, the first two drives being made while he was a pinch hitter.

It was in 1915 that the pitcher-hitter turned the trick. Two days in succession he went to the plate to bat for a fellow player on the New York club, and slugged out home runs. The third day he went into the box and pitched a full game, winning his game and also getting his third home run.

DIXIE AVERAGES

In the Southern Association, McMillan of Memphis is on top of the batting heap with an average of .444, with Mayer of Atlanta leading in home run hitting with a trio to his credit. Henry of New Orleans has shown himself the fastest player on the bases. He bagged five in fix first fourteen games. The averages include games of Tuesday.

Other leading batters for ten or more games: Burke, Nashville, .429; Jackson, Little Rock, 413; D. Williams, Mobile, .407; Connolly, Little Rock, .406; Mayer, Atlanta, .400; Zoellers, Little Rock, .400; Barrett, Little Rock, .394; Henry, New Orleans, .365; Lapan, Little Rock, .364.

GIPSON NAMED FOR CITY JOB

Council May Elect Him Prosecutor

E. H. Gipson, local attorney, will probably be suggested by J. B. Fitts, police commissioner, as the man to fill the position of city prosecutor recently created by the city council.

E. M. Mann, who has been reappointed city attorney, will in future act as the legal advisor of the city council and as the legal representative of the city in the civil suits to which it is a party—a former function of the office which has grown to such an extent as to require undivided attention in order to care for the city's interests.

Commissioner Fitts presented Mr. Gipson's name to the commissioners at the last regular meeting, with the statement that "I try as much as anyone in this council to hold down the expenses of Wichita Falls, but I believe that Mr. Gipson's services as city prosecutor will overpay the salary that we offer to him."

While Mr. Gipson has made no statements concerning his stand on the office should the office be tendered him, it is believed that he would accept the post.

Mr. Gipson has had considerable experience as a prosecutor, having come to Wichita Falls from Oklahoma where he was prominent as a prosecutor. He was at one time assistant general of Oklahoma, and served during the world war in judge advocate general's department handling a number of criminal cases.

He is familiar with the routine requirements for such a post as proposed by Commissioner Fitts for it.

Commissioner Fitts suggested at the closing minutes of the meeting on Monday night that he would present his proposals relative to certain changes in the corporate court, and that he would urge Mr. Gipson as city prosecutor.

MEADORS FOR CLERK'S POST

A. F. Kerr, clerk of the district court here since the creation of the office, and who has had no opposition for re-election for many years, will have an opponent this time, it became known Saturday with the announcement of J. W. Meadors for the position.

Mr. Meadors, who came here nearly four years ago from Haskell county where he had lived practically all his life, made the following statement in connection with his announcement:

"In entering the race for district clerk, I do so feeling that I am fully competent to fill this important office. I have had 12 years of actual experience in the county and district clerks' office in my former home county. Since coming to this county I have served two years as deputy tax assessor and over a year in the delinquent tax department for the county and county attorney.

"I expect to see every voter in the county between now and the July primary and lay my claims before them, and, if elected, to the district clerk's office my motto will be courtesy and service to everyone during the discharge of my duties."

And n't believe there are any 100 per Americans as to citizenship quali-tions and obligations except those make that grade in living up to abiding by the laws of the land in accord with their best intelli-e and understanding of what those gations require. And I challenge one to defend the proposition that erican ideals, democratic govern-t, either requires or can justify, a et caucus, or society as a political ement, and in my judgment only e failing to grasp the fundamental s of such a government or other-deluded can honestly advocate secret manipulation in political ements that are so dark they blush laylight or that fears daylight. I never held an honest idea in tics that I'd blush to advocate in open or fear to do so.

It is my opinion that the new districting Bill is valid, but if held ontrary, I solicit the votes of cit-s in the district including Wilbar-and Wichita counties.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Thirteen United States senators, many of them known as leaders and firebrands of the senate, will face bitter opposition in their campaigns for renomination and re-election.

The fall elections are still a long time off, but already spirited primary campaigns are under way in the thirty-four states which will elect United States senators this fall.

Many of the contests are of more than passing interest as upon their outcome depends the future of men long in the public life of the nation.

In Massachusetts political opponents of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge are confident that they will send a new face to the senate.

Hiram Johnson, the California bitter-ender, faces a hit fight in his campaign for renomination and election. Political enemies are banking on his so-called radical tendencies to send him back to private life.

In Wisconsin the re-election of Senator Robert M. LaFollette is taken more or less as a matter of course.

Supporters of Senator Park Trammell of Florida are predicting his re-election even though William J. Bryan decides to oppose him.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge is after the seat of Senator Harry S. New in Indiana and a spirited fight is looked for.

Mrs. Peter Oleson will oppose Senator Frank B. Kellogg for re-election providing both are successful in the primaries. The outcome of the fight is being awaited with interest throughout the central west.

Senators Reed and Hitchcock, Missouri and Nebraska, also will be in the race for re-election.

In Ohio, Senator Pomerene probably will have little opposition in his fight for re-nomination, but the result of the November election probably will be close.

Senator C. A. Culberson, Texas, ranking member of the senate on the democratic side, also is seeking re-election. His friends say his success is certain.

Senators Ashurst, McCumber and France complete the number of better known senators who will wage campaigns this summer and fall to retain their seats.

SHAKEDOWN IN WHEAT IS LATE

Prices Break During Last Hour

CHICAGO, April 29.—The shake down in May wheat looked for today was delayed until during the last hour of trading, when prices broke nearly five cents when selling came into the pit. A tense feeling existed from the start and everyone was looking for some sort of a break. Market lacked support, but a few cash houses bought a little at the bottom and that accounted for much of the loss. The finished was unchanged to 2-3-4 cents lower with May $1.39 1-2 to 1.39 3-4 and July 1.26 1-8 to 1.26 1-4; corn was 3-8 to 5-8 cents down and oats were off half to one cent. Provisions were unchanged to 15 cents higher.

Strength in Liverpool and an absence of liquidation brought about a higher range in prices early. Outside interest however, was small and the local traders were disposed to act with a great deal of caution on account of Monday being the first delivery day on May contracts. The market was easily influenced and price changes rapid. Firms with eastern connections were buyers of July, and some export in the new crop was understood to have put through further changing from May to the July deliveries.

INTERPRETING COPS FOR BUENOS AIRES

BUENOS AIRES, April 29.—Globe trotters who have acquired two or three languages in their wanderings and who would like to settle down to steady jobs will be heartily welcomed by the chief of police of Buenos Aires.

This city has become so cosmopolitan that the police force decided to muster in a large number of linguists as patrolmen, but discovered there were not sufficient men here to complete the personnel. Deciding to invite foreigners to apply for the jobs, the authorities have specified that applicants must speak two foreign language and be willing to become citizens of Argentina.

As part of his uniform, each member of the linguistic squad wears on his sleeve a flag of the country whose language he speaks, with corresponding inscriptions such as "Je parle francais," "Ich spretcht Deutsch," "Io parlo Italiano" and "I speak English." Some of the men wear as many as seven placques.

PRICE OF SPARKLERS JUMPS IN MOSCOW

ODESSA, April 29.—The price of diamonds is soaring so rapidly here and in Moscow that German jewelers who spent huge sums buying up collections from the impoverished Russian nobility are now back in Russia selling their wares at double the prices they asked in Germany.
The diamond market owes its rise to the scramble of traders and merchants to get rid of their rubles. Never sure of the value paper money will have from day to day, they literally invest bales of Soviet currency in precious stones. Good diamonds sell for about $200 a carat and those of inferior quality bring from $20 to $60 a carat.
The recent heavy trade in these stones has resulted in many false diamonds being offered on the market. Levantine traders operating from the Black Sea ports are said to be responsible for bringing these imitations to Russia.

TRACE OF SABOTAGE FOUND IN FLORIDA

LEESBURG, Fla., April 29.—What is believed to be an example of sabotage practiced by enemies of this country during the world war has come to light here. A concern in the north manufacturing bolts and castings for the government had a large quantity of material left at the time of the armistice and a corporation constructing a factory here purchased several thousands of the bolts. They appeared to be perfect until mechanics attempted to use them. Then it was discovered that many had been sawed almost to the center from both sides at the threaded end, leaving a bare eighth of an inch of metal intact. The nuts on the damaged bolts had been screwed down to a point where they concealed the cuts.
Had the bolts been sent abroad they would have been useless for the purpose for which they were designed

RAINS STEADY COTTON PRICE

Rise at Opening Is Not Sustained

By Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—A higher market was seen in the early trading today, but the gains were not sustained as a great deal of liquidation on the near months was encountered and it softened the whole list, especially in the late trading when May was 8 points net lower at 16.90. The close was 8 points down to 5 points up, net for the day. May closing at the lowest.
The early steadiness on which the list went to net advance of 10 to 16 points, was due to further rains in the belt and to the raising of estimate of Fall River sales of print cloths for the week to 150,000 pieces, as compared with estimates of only 100,000 pieces yesterday. May rose to 17.05 and October to 17.40, the new crops being stronger than the old ones.
The forecast called for dry weather in all sections of the cotton region and had the effect of checking the buying movement. A little later a great deal of liquidation of long contracts came upon the market and a sagging tendency was acquired.
The large receipts here today, 11,454 bales attracted attention and caused prediction of a large export to come.
Export for the day from all ports were 28,004 bales, of which New Orleans shipped out 13,954.

SOVIET RAILROADS TO BE REHABILITATED

MOSCOW, April 29.—Four of the largest locomotives ever bought by the Soviet government arrived in Moscow recently from Germany, each weighing 196 tons.
While a certain amount of section work has been done on nearly all lines under the Soviet regime, foreign railroad experts say the railroad beds are badly in need of repair everywhere and much will have to be done this summer if Russia's railways are to be kept in running order.

GOVERNMENT TO SELL OHIO PROPERTIES

LORAIN, Ohio, April 29.—Uncle Sam, Lorain's biggest individual landlord, is going out of business next month.
The government has announced that it will dispose of its 282 dwellings in Lorain by auction with May 4 set as the tentative date for the sale.
The property is in the name of the United States Shipping board. The real estate was acquired and the buildings erected in 1919 to house the families of men employed in the Lorain yards of the American Shipbuilding company. Scores of ocean going steam ships were built here during the war period by the thousands of men in the shipyards.

Democrats Plan Effort to Retire Lodge as Senator

WASHINGTON, April 29.—There will be some pretty senatorial battles waged during the forthcoming fall campaign, but none of them will hold more national interest than that to be decided in Massachusetts in November.

For thirty years Henry Cabot Lodge has sat in the United States senate watching men come and go. He has seen a lot of them come in like lions and go out quite lamblike once that chill fourth day of March back in '23 when he came to the senate for the first time and Grover Cleveland moved into the White House for his second term.

Senator Lodge has always smiled a sort of superior little smile at the political difficulties of his colleagues. He has never had many himself, at least any serious enough to really likes to be called, the democrats believe that by pouring a great number of nation speakers into Massachusetts this fall they can repay Senator Lodge and even up a lot of old scores. At any rate, they are going to try hard. James M. Cox is one of the democrats who is intending to speak his mind concerning Henry Cabot Lodge in Massachusetts this fall. There are numerous others.

It is conceded in Washington that Senator Lodge will have little difficulty in being renominated by the Bay state machine. The primary is yet a long way off. September 12, and to date no real opposition has developed within his own party.

RALEY OUT FOR ASSESSOR

Guy C. Raley, for the past two years deputy tax assessor of Wichita county, announced for the position of tax collector on Saturday. Mr. Raley's formal announcement follows:

"In making my announcement for the office of tax collector of Wichita county I feel that the voters of this county have a right to know something of my qualifications for this office.

"I worked my way through high school, graduating in 1904 from the Bellevue high school, attended the summer normal that year at Henrietta, obtaining a first grade certificate. Taught school two years.

"Came to Wichita Falls February 1, 1905, obtained a business course and worked eight years for O. W. Bean and Son, and the Bert Bean Coffee company, and have been deputy tax collector of this county since Mr. Deaton's election in 1920.

"I feel that I have a just cause, and a right to ask the voters of this county for their suffrage on July 22, in view of the fact that the present incumbent, M. L. Tittle, is now seeking his third term and was deputy in the office for a number of years previous to his election, four years ago. I believe in the old doctrine of rotation in our county offices.

(Signed) "Guy C. Raley."

The invitation was extended by Hugh J. Hughes, director of markets of the state of Minnesota at St. Paul.

His duty also will be to locate the source of their trouble. He will report to the National association at its meeting in Chicago next winter.

SUNDAY CLOSING LAW REPLACED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, April 29.—Compulsory closing of the capital's business places on Sunday has brought such a hail of protests upon the head of Celestino Garza, governor of the federal district, that he has modified the order and will allow all classes of business to remain open on Sunday provided they give each employe one day of rest a week.

Motorists! Look Out! Danger Sign Issued to Violating Motorists by Eyerley, Who's After Bad Parkers

Eighty per cent of 302 arrests made by the traffic officers of the city police department for violations of city traffic laws have resulted in convictions, according to statements made Saturday morning by Captain M. D. Eyerley, head of the motor cycle officers. A list of 171 arrests have been made by the police officials for other offenses, making a total of 473 arrests which have been made by the entire department since January 1, 1922.

In speaking of the long list of arrests Saturday, Captain Eyerley stated that they included all kinds of violations of traffic and other city ordinances, which, he said, will be more stringently enforced in the future than they have in the past.

Warning Issued.

A warning to traffic ordinance violators, similar to one issued some time ago by Chief J. W. McCormick of the police department, was issued Saturday by Captain Eyerley, who acting in conjunction with the chief of police, stated that citizens here have been negligent of the parking laws especially.

Cars must not be parked in alleys in the fire limits of the city except for loading and unloading merchandise, Captain Eyerley said. Parking on the wrong sides of the streets in the residential sections of Wichita Falls, he declared, will result in punishment, while driving on the left hand side of the public streets will also be severely punished.

Captain Eyerley said that no further notices will be given to the public except in cases of speeding, where they may have to be summoned into the corporate court.

Extend Arm.

He urged that drivers follow all customs of the traffic rulings, indicating their turns by extending the left arms, which is also a signal for halting the vehicle. Cars without sufficient lights burning at night, cars without tail lights, and cars without dimmers will result in arrests for the persons driving them, he warned.

He warned against excessive blowing of sirens, and said that only the fire department trucks should make any noise with these. A warning to citizens who follow trucks to fires was also issued.

The arrests in the list of his report include 19 for operating cars without tail lights or for lights too bright; 46 for running with cut outs open; 51 for cutting corners; 25 for reckless driving; 41 vagrancy cases and 130 miscellaneous cases.

BRAZOS BRIDGE AT GRAHAM GIVES WAY

Reports reaching Wichita Falls' railroad officials Saturday morning stated that the bridge used for highway traffic over the Brazos river between Graham and Oil City, Texas, had been washed away as a result of the turbulent waters in the river.

As a result of the washout travelers must now detour to South Bend to reach Oil City, the only route at this time which is open being by rail from Graham.

ANOTHER USE FOR RADIO

Stanley B. Igoe and his radio "medicine."

Stanley B. Igoe, Massilon, O., underwent what he terms a painless operation, all due to a radio set he had installed in his room. Both before and after his operation he listened in and he claims he felt no pain while the radio was working. He says it helped him to keep a "stiff upper lip."

Man Speeds Upon One End of Bridge As Other Side Is Washed Away, Then Slams In Reverse for Quick Retreat

His automobile out on the bridge, almost to the middle, when the far end suddenly slipped from the bank, separated at the middle span and drifted down the driver, a Young county oil operator during the high flood tide of the Brazos river this past week, had barely time to reverse his car and back off the remaining half of the structure before it too was washed away.

This experience, which fell to the lot of the Bunger pool operator, whose name was not learned in connection with the story, was one of the high lights of the flood period in Young county. The high water has damaged pipelines to a certain extent, and slowed up operation, as well as interrupting connections with the field. However, Saturday's reports showed road conditions improving somewhat, with respects, after several days fair weather of a return to normal.

DRY LAW HAS MADE HYPOCRITICAL NATION

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 29.—"Conditions arising from the enactment of the Volstead law are a disgrace to the country," said Senator James W. Wadsworth, republican, New York, here last night. "The wave of hypocrisy which has swept over the country as a result of that enactment is a menace," he continued. "Not only are the people living lives of hypocrasy but so are public officials of high and low degree. I believe that there will be modification—very material modification—of the Volstead act soon. The popular feeling will demand it."

Rains Interfere With Irrigation

With rains interfering with most of the work during the past week, the lowest progress which has yet been registered on the irrigation project was made during the past week. With favorable weather, however, it is expected that a good part of this will be made up during the coming week. Excavation for the concrete conduits in the base of the storage dam, was scheuled for completion this week. The finishing touches here will be resumed Monday, as will work on the power transmission wire.

BOYS URGED TO CLEAN FUTURE

Athletics Play an Important Part

By "HANK" HAYES.

The delegates of the Older Boys' conference had the opportunity yesterday in their morning sessions, of hearing some educational, forceful, and helful addresses.

Rev. H. B. Brous, of the Christian church of Fort Worth gave a very interesting discussion on "Training For Leadership in the Church." Among the many points that he brought out were: That the prerequisites for leadership are: Honesty, faithfulness, industry, and co-operation. He further indicated that leadership is only salesmanship, and the secret of good salesmanships is creating a desire and demand for the wanted article."

Value of Athletics.

Charles Francis, of Denton, gave a talk on "Athletics" and impressed the delegates that every one present should try to be a "four-square man, and to be a four-square man one must be true to himself, to his country, to his church and God. A strong body is the best asset a fellow can have for future work. Athletics teach one how to take both victory and defeat like a man." The delegates of different sections were called upon to express their views and the athletic conditions of their locality, and chief among the reports were the benefits that students were deriving from the athletic field; inadequate finances and poor gymnasium equipment decree; the desire for athletic participation; the smaller towns had nothing in the way of equipment, but by hard, faithful work, the athletes won laurels for their schools.

A motion was made and carried unanimously that representatives of the different schools of this district will do their best to help the University inter-scholastic league in their athletic rules.

The Paysical Basis.

Dr. J. J. Terrill of Dallas, gave the boys one of the most vital addresses of the whole conference in his talk on "A Physical Basis For Service," and was greatly appreciated by the membership. In his speech he vividly portrayed the fact that only the physically fit can ever be leaders in anything; that happiness of life, home and community at large depends on the cleanliness of the individual.

With the close of the morning session, all delegates assembled in front of the Methodist church for a group picture. The boys took advantage of the Rotary club's offer and were at the Aviation meet at Call Field in the afternoon.

WOODMEN'S SOCIAL DRAWS BIG CROWD

The social meeting of the Woodmen of the World camp 3001 held at the Labor Temple Friday night was one of the enjoyed and most enjoyable affairs of the season. The Woodmen band furnished a number of selections of excellent music.

Special readings rendered by Mrs. P. H. Leath. Violin music by P. H. Leath and Mr. Elliott. A black face comedy was put on by some of the band boys which was extra good. The Woodmen circle team gave an excellent rendition of their drill work, after which a bounteous repast was served by sovereigns Espe, Gregory and Pratt.

GIRLS! LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rose-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

Senior Boys, Full of Vim, Vigor, And Vitality, Demonstrate Their Enthusiasm at Conference Dinner

By "HANK" HAYES.

When two hundred and seventy-five youths are all assembled under one roof, they can make more noise, do away with more food than twice that number of any others, so the Wichita club discovered last night at the conference banquet.

Yells were yelled until the yellers yelled themselves hoarse and then they ate for a while and something else would be cheered for. The Wichita delegation was equal to the sum of all the others present, but the smaller delegations made themselves seen and heard, as a typical example, the Clarendon member was the only one that was enrolled from the city, but not daunted he arose and gave all the yell unassisted. Everything from the noise to the most highest official were cheered again and again.

Orchestra Present.

The high school orchestra, under the supervision of Miss Geneivie Goff of the music department of the high school, gave splendid selections and were encored until they played all they knew, and they were played over again. The Shrine quartet rendered a few choice selections and Miss Alzada Knickerbocker had the happy members all the more happy by some of her talented readings.

After the four course luncheon was served, the speaker from each of the groups expressed their opinions, thanks and impressions of their clubs. President Bizell of A. & M. college, principal speaker for the afternoon, wired yesterday that owing to very important business at the college he would be unable to attend. Walter Cline of Wichita Falls presided as toastmaster and in addition gave an address on "Training for Service in Civic Life."

Morning Meeting.

Today, the final day of the conference, the boys will meet at 9 o'clock at the Empress theatre for church service. Later they will be dismissed to go to the church of their preference. In the afternoon the reports of the committees will be read, a platform adopted. Mr. Demand will give the final address on "A Living Sacrifice."

CALOMEL GOOD BUT NEXT DOSE MAY SALIVATE

It Is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lost a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

GREEKS RUSHED OUT OF TOWN

Mob Gathers at Illinois Jail

By Associated Press.

RUSHVILLE, Ill., April 29.—Indictments charging thirty Greek section hands with murder or manslaughter in connection with the slaying last night of Sheriff Edward Lashbrook and Deputies Frank Utter and Carl Neff were tonight declared probable when Schuler county grand jury reconvenes here Monday. The Greeks are safe from mob violence in the Morgan county jail at Jacksonville and the dead sheriff and his two slain deputies are lying at their homes, producing a feeling which the acting sheriffs said is decidedly "Anti-Greek."

A mob of one thousand gathered about the city prison at Bardstown today, but their threatened violence was frustrated by co-operation by Chief of Police Patterson and a freight crew. An automobile bearing the Greeks ran alongside the moving train and transferred the prisoners, while the mob raced toward them from the other end of the yards.

WICHITA PICKED BY TWO FIRMS

Town'll Be Used as Distributor

Entry of two additional firms who will use Wichita Falls as a distributing center, and who will carry stocks in the bonded warehouse, the Texas Storage Co., newly formed, together with the statement of the representative of another that their business had doubled since using this city as a distributing center, featured chamber of commerce announcements Saturday.

The new firms are the United Chemical Co., of Dallas, selling acids and chemicals and the Thompson-Monroe-Robbins Co., of Dallas, selling caustic soda in wholesale lots. The first named company has taken over the chemical products of the Sugarland Manufacturing Co., of Sugarland, Texas.

H. F. Stribling, salesman for the Park Cigar Co., of Fort Worth declares that the business of the company has increased 100 per cent in this territory since Wichita Falls was established as the distributing center, the chamber of commerce announcement sets out.

The location and business experience of these firms are being used by the chamber of commerce in its campaign to promote the location of wholesalers and jobbers here.

LAST DAY FOR REVIVAL

Today will be the last day for the revival, which has been in progress at the First Baptist church for the past two weeks. Dr. Scarborough will preach both morning and evening, with special messages for the church and all visitors.

In many respects, this has been one of the most successful revivals the church has ever experiences, according to a statement issued last night. Additions to the church numb. around the 100 mark and many more conversions.

The work he has done will stand the test of more than a season, and the ones who have united with the church since he began preaching in this series of meetings will add much strength to the church, whose membership already included many of the strongest layman of the city, the statement asserts.

In addition to conversions, Dr. Scarborough has done much toward increasing the church's contributions to the 75 million campaign, according to the statement, which deserves special attention just now, this being the season for making yearly reports to the Southern Baptist convention which meets in Jacksonville, Fla. next month.

Rev. O. L. Powers, pastor, reports that he is expecting this to be the biggest day the church has had in the past year, both from the standpoint of conversions and additions to the church.

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, April 29.—One of the strongest lectures ever delivered here was heard Tuesday night at the Methodist church when Rev. R. L. Flowers spoke on "Five Roads That Lead to Hell From Burkburnett."

Rev. Flowers had divided his address into five sub-subjects, "Why the Ku Klux Klan, Can a Gambler, Be An Honest Man? Is America Jazzing Herself to Hell, Pussy Foots and Molly Coddles, and Parking Cars Along Country Roads."

Despite the heavy downpour of rain the church was filled to its utmost capacity.

ADVANCE DATE EGG LAID BY PROGRESSIVE CANADIAN PULLET

(By International News Service)

WINNIPEG, April 27.—Just as the fish has been adopted in the United States as the source of all tales, weird and phantasmagorial, so is the hen to be hailed by all Canada as the harbinger of the impossible.

The story of the most recent accomplishment of a Candian pullet was brought here recently by Ronald James, a well known poultry dealer.

According to Mr. James a hen owned by Angelo Colbertaido, of Bedson, Alberta, has produced an egg with the figures "1926" plainly inscribed on both sides of the shell. Just what is to occur in that particular year the egg did not reveal.

Sufficient to say however, the feat actually eclipsed that of the Ontario hen, which laid the egg with the dire legend "World ends 1920" inscribed on the shell.

Colbertaido, according to James can attribute nothing to the accomplishment of his marvellous pullet. The egg, he said, remains just as it was taken from the nest on February 28.

The figures are about an inch in height and successfully resist all efforts to remove them from the shell, Mr. James said.

MUSICAL TYPEWRITER TO BEAT MONOTONY

(By International News Service)

LONDON, April 29.—Anxious about the results of the monotony and dullness of London commercial offices, a society is being formed with the intention of brightening the existence of these dark places so far as may be possible.

It is pointed out that hundreds of thousands of people live the greater part of their lives in the dingy institutions known as offices and that the atmosphere therein must have its effect on their dispositions when elsewhere. Anything, therefore, that can help to make offices places of delight must be for the good of the community at large.

The first great attack is to be made on the monotonous, tapping typewriter. It is suggested that, wherever possible, musical typewriters should be installed forthwith and that stenographers should be instructed in the art of playing their correspondence to airs that might be deemed appropriate.

KANSAS TOWN TAKES JOY OUT FLY'S LIFE

(By International News Service)

M'PHERSON, Kan., April 27.—As far as the city commission can make it this town will be "flyless" this summer.

McPherson, in fact, is going to be a town where a fly will be as much a curiosity as a horse is in Detroit.

An ordinance has been passed which contains these provisions for taking all the joy out of a fly's life:

All barns, stables, chicken houses and other animal abodes must be thoroughly cleansed three times per week and the refuse carted outside the city limits to a place where it will be burned.

Every home and business place must have a garbage can kept covered. The city will collect the garbage.

Wire fly traps must be placed at the front and rear of every business place.

The Federation of Women's clubs and the Chamber of Commerce are also planning anti-fly unpleasantness which will make the buzzers think McPherson is starving Russia as far as flies are concerned.

MAIN STREET'S AUTHOR RAPS BRITISHERS

LONDON, April 27.—London, like Gopher Prairie, needs some American uplift.

That at least is the impression given by Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street" in a rather scolding speech which he delivered here to a group of English authors, publishers, actors and dramatists.

Lewis, who is in England writing another novel, caused somewhat of a sensation when he was introduced as a speaker at an informal gathering at an exclusive Bohemian club, for he failed to dispense the usual "hands across the seas" patter which pleases. Instead he read a sort of literary riot act to the English intellectuals.

"American literature has just got to be recognized by you Britishers," Lewis scolded. "We've got there. We're going to stay there; and you have got to realize that whether you like it or not."

SWALLOWED NEEDLE FOUND IN HIS LEG

SUPERIOR, Wis., April 22.—The swallowing of a needle by two-year-old Donald David Meyers, son of Patrolman Ben Meyers of this city, two months ago resulted in the strangest case ever recorded in local medical circles here Wednesday when the small steel head of the needle projected from a sore above the right knee of the child and was extracted by the mother.

A sore resembling a boil was noticed on the child's leg a few days ago and the mother prepared the boy to take to a physician. In dressing the leg she noticed what appeared to be a sliver and discovered the needle.

Dr. J. G. Barnadale, called to attend the child, stated that the case was remarkable in that the steel was not pierced the child's heart in its downward course to the leg. He stated that no infection would result. The needle was bright and without rust when extracted.

MUNDAY MAN SELLS EGGS TO WISCONSIN

MUNDAY, Texas, April 29.—For many years, J. M. Heald & Son have been shipping hatching eggs and stock from their famous S. C. Children Crusade Gets Cold Shoulder

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON April 29.—Checked somewhat by failure to see President Harding, the "Children's Crusade", which invaded the capitol, 35 strong, today on behalf of 114 war law violators, serving prison terms got little encouragement from Attorney General Daugherty as to recommendation for executive clemency and were uncertain tonight of their next move.

There was some talk that Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare and other leaders in the American Civil Liberties union, the organization having in charge the efforts, mothers and children of the prisoners that have come all the way to Washington to release from prison, would attend the president's church with their charges, in the hope he would hear their appeal.

REHEARSAL FOR SHRINE SHOW

It's Called Big Town Stuff by All

After a careful selection from among available talent in the city, last night, at the invitation of several members of the Wichita club who are in the cast, the first rehearsal of the Shrine minstrels, which will be staged May 11, 12 and 13 at the Wichita theatre, was held amid much enthusiastic praise from the number of visitors present.

All were unanimous in declaring that the show had more of the appearance of the professional than any ever witnessed by them and will carry much more than the minstrel idea, for the benefit of the audience.

The minstrel is described as surprisingly clever, carrying a well developed plot, and offering several prominent people full opportunity to display their ability as artists.

As described by Lewis L. Lacey, the director in charge, the production comes under the head of a musical farce comedy, and carries the audience from the piney woods of Virginia, via the Steamship Hokum-ia, to the long sought "Island of Koo-Koo" far in the south seas, where no one was ever either directly or indirectly accused of being possessed of a full set of brains.

"It's full of cannibals, and wild women, says Lacey," and if you don't believe J. T. Yeargin is a handsome man eater, come to the show, and prove to yourself how far wrong you are." Yeargin says he will do anything to help the show be successful, except wear a grass skirt. He seems to draw the line at that.

BAYLOR PAPER PICKS MORGAN

Supporters of S. A. L. Morgan's candidacy for congress were jubilant yesterday over the receipt at campaign headquarters of a marked copy of the Baylor County Banner, published at Seymour in which that newspaper announces itself editorially for the Wichita Falls candidate. The editorial, which appeared in the issue of April 27, last, is as follows:

"The race for congressman is drawing to a close and voters of this district will be called upon May 13 to cast their ballots. It looks to us that the race lies between Morgan and Williams. Miss Blanton is very highly respected, but there are many who believe she would have had better opportunity to remain in her present position than to have gone to congress. Mr. Moore is considered good timber, but he is likely not known widely enough to be elected.

"Of the other two Williams is the smoother politician and is long on handshaking. If he ever sees a man once he will know him again. He is a shrewd man and would make a good congressman. However, from the viewpoint of ability, Morgan is the best man in the race and has more qualifications for the place. The fact that Mr. Williams has been able to go as far as he has without the education of Morgan is a credit to him, but for this place we need a man who has a mind trained as far as possible.

"If Williams is elected we are for him, but our vote will go to Morgan."

The Seymour paper's editorial is considered by Mr. Morgan's friends here a reflection of Baylor county sentiment, according to a statement from his headquarters, especially in view of the fact that recent reports from campaign workers in that county have been unusually favorable to Mr. Morgan.

RUTH NOLEN

Miss Ruth Nolen, popular member of the younger set, will take the part of "Imagination" in the Shrine minstrel which will be staged at the Wichita Theater in May.

BRICK WORK ON HOSPITAL BEGINS EARLY THIS WEEK

Concrete frames for the first two floors of the new wing, which, with the addition of a third story, will practically triple the capacity of the Wichita General hospital, has been completed and brick work on the first two floors will begin early this week according to information Saturday.

Work on the third story will start within the near future.

The new wing and the additional story will give the hospital, jointly owned by the city and county, and the first erected in Texas under the law authorizing such institutions, a capacity of better than 100 beds in place of a present capacity of 35.

Provision for the most complete and modern X-Ray and laboratory equipment procurable is made in the plans of the new institution.

The Call Field hospital is leased and is being used as the city-county hospital while the construction work is in progress.

M'BROOM IS AUDITOR

It became known Saturday that W. E. McBroom, who for several months has been a statistician in the city tax assessor and collector's office, has been appointed city auditor and has taken up his duties in that capacity for Wichita Falls.

Mr. McBroom's appointment was made at a recent adjourned session of the city council and was not made public until yesterday.

Mrs. Customer, Meet Miss Saleslady Such is Get-Acquainted Plan Put in Effect at P. B. M. Store in Wichita

Because they believe that the prospective customer and the visitor leaves the business store better satisfied, whether they have made a purchase or not, if there is a spirit and feeling of personal interest in them shown on the part of the salesman, the manager ment of the P. B. M. company has inaugurated a novel system of "getting acquainted" with their guests.

A citizen, a stranger and the smallest of children can speak the name of any one of their 40 clerks after they have been in the place of business less than five minutes, and the management of the store believes there is an opportunity for a quicker sale when the visitors feel a privilege in pronouncing the name of the salesman.

The secret of the scheme is a little name plate pinned in a conspicuous position on the waist or coat of the salesman, on which is printed in clear type the name of that individual.

The idea behind the scheme is that the instant a person enters the front door he becomes a prospective purchaser; to be courteous to that prospect, the management points out, will only make him happy regardless of the amount of goods he buys, and if he feels that he is at liberty to call the name of the man who is "selling" him, he might return, to buy again.

The idea was conceived in the east and was first introduced in Texas at Dallas, when A. Harris put name plates on all his clerks.

The Wichita Falls house of P. B. M. followed the lead of the Dallas house in quick order, and it is declared to have been found a striking success.

Dream of Day Nursery Officials to More Efficiently Care for 20 Tots Under Their Care May Come True

A permanent home for the Day Nursery, which is the day time abode of about 20 little tots, while their mothers are busy earning their support, and which has been the "dream" of the Federated Missionary society for the past three years, will be realized in the near future if the plans made since the election of new officers this week, materialize. A big move at least in that direction has been made.

Mrs. J. C. A. Guest, the newly elected president, announces that she has appointed a committee to take charge of the work of finding out what kind and style of building will be most suitable for the new home and that as soon as this is done work will begin on finding one already built or on plans for building one immediately.

The children have been housed in a small rented home since the organization of the nursery, three years ago, and the quarters have become inadequate as the benefits of the institution were realized and the number of children to be cared for grew.

A report from the house committee showed 6,283 children taken care of the past year at an expenditure of $5,791.54, averaging about 92½ cents per child. After the expenditures, a balance on hand is given at $1,291.06. The management of the home since it became a separate organization from the Welfare council a year ago, has been under the auspices of the Federated Missionary society, and has become the main object of Wichita Falls' women's work.

Donations by local business firms and individuals for the last quarter ending in April, include: Mrs. Guy Rogers, Federated Missionary society, Mrs. C. M. Miller, Mrs. J. T. Perkins for the First Methodist Church South, Junior Auxiliary of the Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal and First Baptist churches, Floral Heights Methodist church, Westminster Guild of Presbyterian church, Bertha Mae Kruger and brother, Mrs. E. W. Carter, Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. A. H. Burnside, Central Presbyterian and First Methodist Episcopal churches, Catholic ladies, Mrs. C. Taylor, Mrs. A. Allen's Sunday school class of the Episcopal church, Mrs. A. K. Davis, First Christian church, Virginia Sisters' cafe, Presbyterian Sunday school, Mr. Cunningham of the City Laundry, Mrs. Burnap, American Legion, Sunbeam society of the First Baptist church, services donated by Wichita Medical clinic, Drs. Hartsook & Stripling, Dr. Wells, Mrs. F. T. Craw Crawford and Mrs. L. E. Whitham, Blue Triangle club, drugs by the Pal ace drug store, Mrs. Ivan Murchison, Mesdames Murchison and Dayton, Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. C. L. Fountaine Jr., Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. G. E. Bates, Mrs. C. E. McCutchen, Salvation Army.

An "S. O. S." call from the nursery is made for play ground equipment and a load of sand will be acceptable.

Bullington Will Cover District

Orville Bullington, candidate for congress on an independent platform, is expected to arrive from Washington today, and to make plans for his campaign and to announce his platform immediately.

Friends of Mr. Bullington declare that his plans include a whirlwind covering of the entire congressional district in the two weeks remaining until election.

Death Follows Search for Rat

Rat hunting with a pistol resulted fatally for Mrs. T. L. Crowson of 2120 Avenue C Friday. Mrs. Crowson was alone at home Friday morning and while attempting to kill a rodent, accidentally discharged the weapon into her own body.

Neighbors found Mrs. Crowson in an unconscious condition and summoned physicians. Recovering from her stupor late in the afternoon, the wounded lady seemed to rally, but later entered into a sinking spell and death resulted at 8:20 o'clock.

Mrs. Crowson is survived by a husband, one son, George, and a sister, Mrs. Nail of Dallas. The sister arrived yesterday morning to attend the funeral services, which were held at the family residence at 9 o'clock last night, after which the body was shipped to Ladonia.

City Lets Out Night Watchman White But He'll Stick By Beat If Service Is Satisfactory to Merchants Here

"If my work is unsatisfactory to the merchants, I will go—if not, I expect to stay." This statement was made to the Record News Saturday night by J. H. White, night watchman who is jointly employed by the city and the local merchants as a watchman in the business district, who said that he had been informed by Police Chief McCormick that his services would be discontinued the first of the month.

White's duties include the turning on and off at the proper intervals of the show window lights in the downtown stores, and the trying of the front and rear doors to the various places of business after they are closed to see that they are locked—something which is frequently overlooked in many local establishments. In case he is not able to lock the door himself, the watchman remains near until some employe of the store answers his call—if he does, he leaves a note to the effect that the store was found open, he said.

He said that Commissioner Fitts started to discontinue his services some time ago, but that he presented a petition from the merchants which resulted in his being retained. He says that he has given satisfaction to the merchants and to four chiefs of police with whom he has worked, and that until he fails to please the merchants he expects to stay. The fact that he is not a married man is the only reason advanced for discontinuing his services, he said.

KLAN CALLS ON LOCAL CITIZEN ABOUT HIS STILL

He Promptly Decides To Quit Mixing His Mash

Although the report of the grand jury recently called to investigate the Ku Klux Klan contained little information of the existence or workings of the Klan, the organization is functioning just the same, according to reports.

The functioning of the klan is along the lines claimed by the field lecturer of the order, J. G. Camp. There has been nothing on the order of rough stuff, nor is likely to be—yet the organization has functioned and is declared to have done some good. The functioning, according to reports is this wise—

The klan found out that John Doe, for instance, living in a certain residence section, was operating a still in his servant's house. Friends of his were appointed to see him and to advise him to cut it out.

He cut it out, the report says, and is now treading the straight and narrow, as are several others who have been guilty of other and sometimes far different lapses.

So far the information that 1,000 pairs of eyes were on the individuals, and the individuals not knowing what 1,000 pairs of eyes it was, has been sufficient, and it has not been necessary to take the legal steps which follow. At least that is what report running along one business street has it.

STORY ON JAZZ GETS KICK-BACK

Crazy Music Tires World, Claim

"The world is tired of jazz!" exclaims a Wichita Falls dealer in phonograph records, taking violent issue with another salesman who recently informed a Record News reporter that nine out of ten Wichitans who bought phonograph records picked the jazz, and were turning cold shoulders to the reproductions of Caruso, Mary Garden, et cetera.

All in Salesman.

"Its all in the one who sells the record," declares this purveyor of lyric creations, who by the way, is a member of the controlling sex.

"If the salesman likes jazz, plays jazz, and jazzes while he is playing, then he will sell that record—yes, nine out of ten.

"If he plays better music, and shows his appreciation (not an assumed appreciation, but a real one, acquired by educating himself to fully appreciate really good music) of that real music record, then the same nine out of ten will buy that one along with the dance record. And he will come back and ask the salesman for another 'good piece, something like the one you selected for me.'"

All Dances Not Jazz.

In connection with the mention of dance record, she brings out that all dance records are not jazz, and a great many of the dance records other than jazz are purchased, even when the jazz is featured in the playing.

Improvement in the recreation of operatic selections, and a general improvement in musical appreciation by the public, the latter getting a distinct impetus from the teaching of musical appreciation in the public schools, are helping, this witness declares, in the jazz fadeaway and the return to favor of the classical pieces.

MAN-KILLER TO BUCK UP HERE

Fog Horn Tells How Bad They Are

Few people realize how scarce real bucking horses are in these modern times, and how much time and money it has taken for Ed McCarty, America's greatest conniseur of bucking horses, to gather the great string on which Tom L. Burnett is paying an enormous rental.

Visitors to the fourth annual Round-Up will see the greatest bucking horses in the world match their bucking prowess against the skill of the world's greatest riders.

"I am going to start at what I believe to be the head of the list," says Fog Horn Clancy, "but you would tire before I could tell you about the entire string numbering 75 head of animals that shake a wicked hoof, but if you are going to be present at the Round-Up, just remember the names of these horses and, to use the phrases of the race track, see if I have not pegged them right.

"First, let me explain that at eight o'clock on the evening preceding the opening day of the Round-Up all riders who have entered for the bronc riding will meet at Round-Up headquarters to draw their mounts for the following day. The names of all the bucking horses will each be written on a slip of paper sealed into a little ball and placed in a hat.

"As each rider's name is called he or she will step forward and draw from the hat one ball, the name on the little slip of paper names the horse that contestant will have to ride in the contest. Here as the list of what I consider the greatest buckers of the herd, and with all due respect to the talent assemble here, any of

MOVIE MAN SKIPS THRILL

Errett Williams, one of the premier stunt flyers of the American Legion's air circus, was discussing co-operative arrangements with a moving picture man representing a pictorial weekly, sent here to shoot the legion's meet. Taking of a picture of a looping plane was under discussion.

"We will loop with it, so you can get the picture—the plane turning over on its back, with the clouds above us, and the ground and the lake gradually coming into view beneath our heads as we come bottom side up with it—it will make a marvelous reel," enthusiastically declared Williams.

But the movie man had already adjourned.

HOBBS CAREER SHOWS WAY FOR POOR YOUTHS

Ounce of Energy Is Worth More Than All the "Pull"

Henry Hobbs, president of the Texas Chief, knows what it means to be a poor boy, for he was poor himself.

He has travelled the whole journey from a cowboy at $15 a month on the plains of Texas to the presidency of a ten million dollar oil company. He has been all the way and he knows every foot of the trail.

He is on the pinnacle now and he stops to look back and beckon to the poor boys of today and tell them the secret of his success. It is not in a vain and boastful manner that this young man, who is not yet 38 years of age, tells the story of his rise over poverty and adversity.

He tells it in the hope that from the story of his life the poor boys of this country, the boys who have never had the chance of an education will take courage and learn that opportunities await all who are willing to make the necessary sacrifices to get on top.

Put Aside Excuses.

So often boys say: "I have never had a chance." So often we hear a father say: "The oppotunities are not present now for my son as they were in the days of long ago. If I only had wealth I could do this, that or the other for him." So often we find boys diffident and unwilling to try, simply because they do not have a college education, or rich and influential friends who are powerful.

Henry Hobbs' career belies all these doubts and fears; his achievements put them out of the way and behind him. He has climbed up despite adversities, hard knocks and droughts. He has made good amidst all the obstacles and barriers and brambles as well as pitfalls that beset one who tries to climb the rounds of a ladder in the financial world. He arrived long ago.

"I wouldn't give one ounce of courage and spunk for 40 tons of pull and influence," he says to the boys of Texas and of the world. The only thing in the world which a healthy boy needs for success is a determination to succeed.

We Can Do Anything.

"We can do anything we want to do—if we want to do it badly enough. I made one resolve early in life and that was that I would not become discouraged no matter what happened. I admit that many has been the time that I felt that the whole world was against me. Many has been the time that it looked as if I would be swept clean. On these occasions I would just grit my teeth a little tighter and take a new hold on myself. Good, hard, intelligent work is the answer to every problem. Live clean, be respectful, keep your head and work with every bit of energy you have and you need not worry about your future or your success.

Diamond In Rough.

This advice comes from Henry Hobbs, a diamond in the rough. He is honest, capable and worthy in a thousand ways. He has the confidence of the banks and people of Wichita Falls. He has the confidence of his old friends and neighbors

JUDGE HARRIS MAY BE NAMED POLICE JUDGE

He Would Take Part In Clean-Up Drive By City

Judge Harvey Harris, former county judge, will in all probability be appointed judge of the city police court at an early meeting of the city council, it is learned from an authoritative source.

Judge Harris' nomination for the place, and his acceptance of the appointment, which is at this time expected, will be in connection with the "clean up" plans of city authorities, initiated with the appointment of W. J. McCormick, former ranger, as chief of police, and with the decision to employ a special prosecutor for the police court.

Now In Denver.

Judge Harris is at present in Denver, but he has signified a willingness to undertake the duties of the court for at least several months if his professional and business affairs can be so arranged. In case he is not appointed, it is believed that councilmen are pretty generally settled on another man

Native of Wichita.

Judge Harris, as head of the county affairs and as judge of the county court, proved himself a fearless enforcer of the law. It was as the result of this record that authorities have urged him to undertake the administration of the police court.

He is a native of Wichita county and a graduate of the University of Texas. Although a young man, he has, since his retirement from office, built up a large law practice in addition to handling extensive oil interests in this district.

GETS RELIGION: WOULD PAY UP

He's Going Straight To Reach Heaven

"A Holy Ghost" revival which is "revealing sins" is on in a small Oklahoma town in the near vicinity of Wichita Falls, a local railroad official was surprised to learn on picking up a letter in the morning's mail from an individual who wanted to "get right" for keeping four railroad car grain doors back in 1916 to "get even" for a freight charge to which he objected.

The railroad was the Wichita Falls & Northwestern. The shipper handled three "immigrant" cars between two Oklahoma points that year, in one of which, he indicates, he was actually handling cattle. One of them, he says, was bedded with earth and the road charged him $9.25 freight on the bedding.

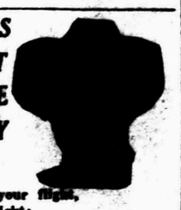

"To get even for this," he tells, "I kept four grain doors which I was using to carry kaffir corn." Now the revival has stirred him, and he wants to straighten up, so he can go to heaven.

A reply advising him to get straight with the interstate commerce commission, who might, it is suggested, not only keep him from going to heaven, but send him to jail for shipping kaffir corn as cattle, is being considered.

Wildest Cowboy Is Also Funniest

Red Sublett, the famous cowboy rube, is said to be the wildest cowboy alive. Red has been engaged to make special wild rides and cut other capers for the amusement of the spectators at the round-up. Panther Pete is one of the many outlaw bucking horses that will be used in the round-up in connection with his tricks.

IT'S POETRY, BOYS; BUT IT'S GOOD; READ IT AND WISH THAT YOU COULD GO OUT ON THE PLAINS WITH FOG HORN CLANCY

By FOG HORN CLANCY

BACKWARD, turn backward, oh time in your flight,
Let me ride herd again, just for tonight;
O'er moonlit prairies, where soft breezes blow,
Driving the herds, as I did long ago;
Give me my cowpony, and once again let me feel him respond,
To my touch on the rein;
Let me circle the leaders, as they dash with fright;
Give me the excitement of a stampede tonight.

GIVE me my lariat and show me that bird,
Just any old longhorn that would dare quit the herd;
Let one break from the bunch and just watch me ride,
Watch my loop go over and lay him flat on his side;
Let me out in the open on the hills and the plains;
Let me feel the freedom of the range once again.
Take me back to the plains where the prairie dogs play,
Give me the life of a cowboy again—just for today.

I AM TIRED of the city and of being shut in,
On narrow streets amid traffic's din,
Of breathing the rubbish of a city's great wealth,
I long for the open, for freedom and health,
So dear father time will you turn back a page,
And blot a few wasted years out of my age;
Give me my cowpony and the life I have lost,
The life of a cowboy in the last and best West.

ONE BRAHMA CAN LICK ALL MEX BULL ARTISTS

Steers With Eyes Open Would Make Toreadores Jump

"Yes, one wild Brahma steer could whip all the bull fighters in Mexico." Fog Horn Clancy, publicity artist and right hand man to Tom Burnett in the staging of the annual rodeo, was the speaker making this assertion.

He made it following a discussion of bull fighting, and of the bull dogging abilities of American cowboys. Although the bulls used in the Mexican rings are bigger and stronger, and call for a greater display of skill—for skill is needed to throw them rather than strength—he expressed the belief that any first class bull dogger would have little trouble in handling the Mexican fighting bull, or even the Spanish bulls occasionally imported from Andalusia for state occasions.

The cowboys skill, the proper twist to the neck as the rider flings himself from his horse to the animals horns, and the bull which is slain by the toreador amid pomp and the acclaim of the excited multitude would roll in the dust Clancy avers. To bear this out, he points to times when it has been done by American cowboys—not often, however, for such unceremonious treatment of an animal standing so high in popular esteem is not exactly looked on with favor south of the Rio Grande, he has been told.

From the bull dogger's standpoint, however, the vicious Brahma has one advantage over the bull, he points out. Its horns, curving outward, are of such shape that the cowboy, missing his wild fling from horseback, may escape being gored by lying flat on the ground until the other riders drive the steer away.

Substitution of steers for bulls would never make a hit with the Mexican bull fighters, says Clancy. This proposal, made to the Mexican bull fighters who visited Dallas and Fort Worth last year, met with a number of excited Latin negatives, says Clancy.

"Bull, he shuts his eye when he charge," they answered to this proposal, Clancy says. "Steer, he keeps his eye open."

PRETTY PONY ASKS CHEW OF CUT PLUG

Tricks that will almost rival Policeman Miller's dog, "Joe" is the claim of a farmer who rode a beautiful pony up to the front of the Wichita Valley railway offices the other day and commanded the animal to ask a man standing on the sidewalk for a chew of tobacco.

The horse, executing the command of his master, promptly stuck his nose forward and touched the man on the arm, holding his head outstretched in a pleading manner as if to say:

"Have you got a chew?"

The man answered the appeal of the animal by petting him on the nose and telling him:

"Ol' top, I've seen billy goats that would take a chew, but I never saw a horse that would before."

Policeman Miller's dog's friend claims many tricks to his credit, among his latest achievements being answering the telephone and running errands for his master. "Joe" recently saw Mr. Miller leaving the police department, and, noticing that the officer had dropped his keys to the floor, the faithful canine took the key-ring in his mouth and hurried after the departing "law" returning the lost articles.

Bob Calen Invents Automatic Feeder

Bob Calen, clever trick rider and fancy roper, has entered for the Round-Up. Calen is doing a shoulder stand on his grey wonder "Gordon Russie." Calen, aside from being a cowboy is something of an inventor, having invented a patent feeder which is attached to a time clock and which pours the feed into the manger at any hour designated; with this machine the modern cowboy can have his mount fed while he himself is still in the land of dreams.

MAYFIELD WILL SPEAK TUESDAY

Senate Candidate to Spend Busy Day

Two speeches will be made here Tuesday by Earle B. Mayfield, railroad commissioner, and the candidate for the senate who said injection of the K. K. K. as an issue was "political bunk."

Mayfield, who has a number of personal friends among the oil and railroad men in this section, will speak at the University club at their noon luncheon. He is the fourth candidate for the senate to accept the invitation addressed by the club to all senatorial candidates. He cancelled a previous engagement due to the tragic death of the late Lucian W. Parrish, one of his opponents. "Open house" will be the order of the day at the club meeting, and all Wichitans, whether prospective supporters or not, are invited to attend the luncheon.

The second speech to the general public, will be made at the court house at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday night.

A reception and arrangements committee for Mr. Mayfield's visit has been named, and includes the following: Reese S. Allen, W. M. Priddy, Norris Ewing, Roy I. Carter, W. J. Townsend, E. O. Kenley, J. R. Monroe, F. G. Swanson, Arch Dawson, S. H. Horton, J. E. Sharpe, T. P. Adams, C. N. Alexander, Fred Morris, C. B. Albritton, T. P. Duncan, Dr. P. S. White, Horrace Robbins, T. F. Hunter, G. H. Watson, V. E. Jackson, Judge P. A. Martin, Walter Robbins, George S. Anderson, Wayne Somerville, J. D. Byron, E. E. Eubank.

Oklahoma Curley To Tussle Steers

Oklahoma Curley, one of the fastest bulldoggers in the country will tussle with a longhorn steer here. Curley will be one of the contestants in the bulldogging of the Round Up at the ball park. He will also be one of the entries in the bronco busting and in this event seldom fails to finish in the money.

Daring Cowgirl Will Ride Here

Fox Hastings, one of the most daring cowgirl bronc riders after Miss Hastings has ridden in practically all the largest contests in the United States and Canada, and seldom fails to land in the money, she will be a star in the rodeo here this week.

COWBOYS AND COWGIRLS FLOCKING TO CITY FOR BIG ROUND-UP THIS WEEK

Daredevils of Plains to Match Skill With Each Other for Big Purses Which go to Winning Riders of Outlaw Ponies and Champion Ropers of Bulls and Longhorns

"Let 'er Buck" is the slogan of the Fourth Annual Round-Up to be staged at the Ball Park, May 3, 4 and 5.

"Let 'er Buck" is the command of Tom L. Burnett, the producer, who's bank roll would have been rained out of about $15,000 had the dates of the "Fourth Annual" fallen with the heavy rains of last week.

"Let 'er Buck" is on the lips of the scores of cowboys and cowgirls who have already arrived in the city for the big annual contest. They are all here or are on their way to the annual fete which is a vacation for the cowpuncher. They may be seen in little groups strolling about the streets, gathering here and there discussing this or that contestant's chances of winning the big prizes hung up for the winners of dare-devil cowboy stunts. When a new one arrives he is given the glad hand by those who arrived earlier.

There is the keenest rivalry among the various contestants, but in a friendly rivalry, the kind that causes the loser to congratulate the winner and the winner to console the loser. They are ready and impatiently waiting the call of the arena in the opening of the first event.

Cowboys and cowgirls who have won highest honors at Cheyenne, at Pendleton and at Las Vegas, who have thrilled thousands by their daring horsemanship, whose capability of winning large sums at the round-ups, puts them outside the class of any traveling wild west show. They love a contest—they enjoy risking their necks and limbs for the honor and prizes that go to the winners. These experts, who are regular contestants at all the big round-ups, have had many narrow escapes from death; many of them have been seriously injured on more than one occasion by some out-law bucking horse or wild longhorn steer. They have become calloused to danger, and although ambulances, emergency kits and other first aid paraphenalia will be in waiting each day of the round-up, the cowboys will pay little attention to them.

Woman Injured.

The injuries at the last round-up included those of Rose Smith, whose ankle was badly sprained when a fiery buck over stepped himself and fell upon her; Oklahoma Curley injured in the same manner; Bud Timmans, whose leg was broken when a longhorn bucking steer fell, pinning the rider underneath before the animal was released from the chute; Gus Schultz, who had two ribs broken in an attempt to bull dog a wild Buffalo and Tommy Douglas, whose arm was broken in dismounting from a wild longhorn after an otherwise successful ride.

But did they quit the game?

The answer is that they are back again, ready for a try at the big prizes, with as much confidence as human being ever possessed.

Girls Confident.

There is a peculiarity about the

WAURIKA LINE DECISIONS DUE

No Objection Filed Against Extension

Action by the interstate commerce commission on the application for permit to build the Byers-Waurika rail extension, recently filed by Frank Kell, is expected here Monday.

So far as is known here there have been no objections filed to the granting of the permit, and it is believed here that unless objections are filed the permit will be granted immediately.

In case objections are filed it is expected that the application will be referred to the Texas railroad commission for a hearing, as was the case when application to extend the Wichita Falls & Southern to Graham and Breckenridge was filed, and when four objecting roads were decisively defeated. In the event the matter is referred down here another wait will be necessary while the permit is granted at once, construction is expected to begin immediately.

The application was made in the name of the Wichita Falls & Oklahoma, the corporate name of the Byers branch of the Wichita Valley which will be taken over and improved as a part of the Waurika line.

The new construction will be only 14 miles in length, but will be a big undertaking on account of the necessity of bridging Red river, a factor which has kept the Rock Island from carrying out the desire to build in here for many years past.

The new line owes its importance to Wichita Falls not only by reason of a direct tap to new territory to the northeast of the city in Oklahoma, but by reason of affording a direct transportation line to the important points of the middle west. The new line will without doubt rank extremely high with respect to tonnage handled in relation to its mileage as all of the Kell lines do.

"Miss Texas" Will Show Cossack Stand

Ruth Roach, known as "Miss Texas" has a favorite horse named "Bob by." Her favorite stunt is known as "the Cossack Stand" and is one of the stunts she performed in the lobby of the Hotel Texas at Fort Worth on the evening of March 11th when she was christened "Miss Texas."

Miss Texas will be one of the many cowgirl contestants in the trick and bronc riding at the Round-Up here next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Federal Court May Delve Into Lost Trail of Some 1800 Choice Quarts Of Old Bottled-in-Bond Sunnybrook

When the grand jury of the federal district court convenes here on May 1 it is expected by some that it will take up a famous lost trail where the last grand jury was reported to have "left off"—the lost trail being for the 1800 quarts of Sunnybrook whiskey which was seized in a sensational raid in a vacant residence about a year ago. It was reported at the time, and is still considered the biggest haul ever made in the history of Texas, and its value was reported close to the $50,000 mark.

It was stored in a certain room in the court house but is entirely gone now, and was gone before the holding of the last grand jury, according to report. Federal officers who turned the whiskey over to the proper custodian after its seizure, are reported to have a clue as to its disappearance, but whether the clue can be materialized is not given in current reports.

The 1800 quarts was the remainder of a shipment of a car load, billed in here from Vancouver, British Columbia, as a car load of shingles. A considerable part of the total is thought by officers to have been disposed of before they made their big seizure.

Officers here got a clue to at least one of the men who was believed to have had a hand in the engineering of the deal, and he was arrested on information from here at his home in Seattle. He was released on bond following a hearing by the federal court, and the case apparently has stopped there.

BONIFACE WILL SAIL TO EUROPE

Jubilee Exercise to Be Wednesday

Celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, the Rev. Father Boniface O. S. B. who has spent five years in Wichita Falls as pastor of the Sacred Heart church, will sail for Europe the latter part of May, the trip being planned as his Jubilee vacation.

On Wednesday the local congregation will participate in Jubilee exercises which will be celebrated with High Mass at 9 a. m., the Right Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, D. D. bishop of Dallas officiating. Many priests of the diocese will also be present. This will be followed with a dinner for the clergy in the Academy of Mary Immaculate dining hall when students of the academy will present an appropriate program for the occasion.

Following his trip to Europe, where he will visit all the principal places of interest, especially Rome, Father Boniface will not resume his duties as pastor of the Sacred Heart church, but will direct the financial management of the Subiaco college in Western Arkansas where the Benedictine Order of which he is a member, owns a large tract of land, and conducts a college.

During his residence here as pastor of the church, Father Boniface with the co-operation of his parishioners has finished paying for the fine church building, installed an expensive pipe organ; improved a beautiful cemetery; had the church decorated with fresco paintings, and made arrangements for the installation of [illegible] plant for next winter.

The parish organizations which have grown under his leadership include: The Knights of Columbus and St. Joseph's Society for men; the Altar Society and the Catholic Daughters of America for women; the Guilds of the Blessed Virgin for [illegible] and the Holy Angels for the children.

Musical Artists Entertain Society-Goers of Wichita Fal

Sunshine May Revive Social Whirl During Coming Week in City

WICHITA Falls' society interested itself in music the past week. The re-awakening of the art has returned this season. Music of some sort drew large crowds in spite of unfavorable weather to concerts almost every day. The finishing touches of inspiration being on Tuesday evening when the noted pianist and composer, Leopold Godowsky entertained a large audience at the Wichita theater. The affair also proved a social event of the season, local hostesses taking advantage of the opportunity to entertain large box parties.

WEDNESDAY evening was pleasantly spent by a large number of friends of Miss Florence Sammons when she presented two of her pupils, Miss Beulah Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cardner and Miss Annabell Couper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Couper in a piano recital at the Wichita club.

The young women played a charming and well arranged program displaying wonderful technique and careful training. They were the recipients of hearty applause and many encores. The program was interspersed with a solo dance by Miss Anna Mae Cato who graciously responded with an encore number, and by a reading by Miss Vaugn Buchanan.

UNDER the leadership of Mrs. George Thorburn, members of the Musicians' club enjoyed a program at the Wichita club Thursday afternoon on "Texas Composers." Those taking part included F. F. Loew, who gave two piano numbers of his own compositions; vocal solos by Mesdames Louella B. Thompson, John Wegg King, N. M. Clifford and Miss Gertrude Ray and Margaret Kaye; and a violin duet by the Misses Beulah and Julia Ross.

Piano numbers were given by Mrs. Harwood Stacy and Miss Joe Betsy Miller.

ROUNDING out the week of music, as a grand finale, Miss Gertrude Ray, talented vocalist, entertained a large audience at the First Christian church Friday evening with a group of numbers with Mrs. Harwood Stacy at the piano and Paul Rutledge playing violin obligatos.

ON ACCOUNT of April showers which developed into torrential rains, the spirit of society was somewhat dampened last week, and whatever social spirit especially for elaborate parties and out-of-door picnics that might have planned were postponed until more favorable weather.

With a calendar for this week that is clear of everything except informal affairs and club events, there is little prospects of things brightening socially although a few days of sunshine might revive interest in entertaining. The usual church society meetings and civic activities will occupy the interest of maids and matrons regardless of the weather.

ALTAR SOCIETY PRAISED FOR BENEVOLENCE

The Altar Society of the Sacred Heart church is given grateful recognition by the local chapter of the Red Cross at Charleston, West Virginia, by the Charleston Gazette for a box of clothing sent to the children of the miners in that district recently. The clipping reads in part as follows:

"Who says the world isn't growing better and more generous all the time? Well it is, anyhow. All the way from Texas last week came a box to the Charleston chapter of the Red Cross carrying baby clothes for the little ones in want in Kanawaha county's coal fields. And there was no request made for the clothes either. Because a former West Virginia woman whose heart is still in West Virginia, though she lives in Texas, heard from relatives here that there were women and children in want in the coal fields, she went before the Altar Society of the Wichita Falls church and suggested that the members of the organization hold a shower for the children, and as a result many little ones in this county have been benefited. Besides many dainty little dresses, there were night gowns, booties, bands, sacques, shirts and the daintest of little caps. In fact everything that the little ones might need."

PUBLIC TO HEAR HANDEL'S LARGO

Music lovers will be privileged to hear the famous composition, Handel's Largo, Sunday night at Floral Heights Methodist church. Composed by the mighty Handel as a tenor solo for one of his oratorios, its flowing dignity was soon found to be eminently suited for the violin and organ and its rendering on those instruments has almost entirely eclipsed its original design as a vocal piece. The arrangement that will be given Sunday night is one of great beauty and nobility, being played as a violin solo joined by two other violins, accompanied by a harp effect on the piano, supported by the pipe organ.

Those taking part in the ensemble are well known performers on their instruments and are honored in being able to include the artist who gave such a masterly performance on the organ at the recital Friday night.

They are Mrs. O. E. Nichols, violin solo, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Greenwood and Miss Marion Muer, on the violin; Mrs. R. F. Collard on the piano, and Miss Sandel at the organ.

The general public is invited to this service.

PLAYERS' CLUB TO REPRODUCE DRAMAS

The Players' club will reproduce two of their popular one-act plays as a "benefit" for the Federation of the Parent-Teachers' association at the Kemp hotel ball room, Friday evening.

The public will have an opportunity to see at this time "Fourteen," by Alice Gerstenberg, and "Op-o'-Me-Thumb," by Frederick Penn and Richard Pryce. Both of these plays were given by the Players' club at their last performance and most heartily received.

"Op-o'-Me-Thumb," with its pathetic human story, never fails to make its appeal. In its original production in America, the leading role was taken by Maude Adams. It also furnished the story for the screen version "Suds," which was played by Mary Pickford.

Wichita Falls drama lovers will have the opportunity at this time of seeing Miss Marjorie Schuester play the part of Amanda Afflick. Miss Schuester is by no means a novice, having played for two years before New York audiences. "The Man of the Shirt" as he is termed in the play, is ably represented by B. D. Martin.

The hotel management is giving special attention to the stage setting. For this particular occasion the stage will be enlarged and additional screens built.

A general admission of 50 cents will be charged. Tickets for the performance may be procured from any of the Mothers' clubs or at the door.

The Community Recital given by Miss Ada Emily Sandel organist, and Miss Hurt, reader, Friday night was attended by a great audience that filled the auditorium and the gallery of the Floral Heights Methodist church. The program was one of the best ever given in a local church. Every number was well received and Miss Sandel was given almost an ovation at the close of the program. Miss Hurt captivated her audience and ran the whole gamut of human emotions. She was recalled again and again and finally had to refuse in order to catch her train for Dallas at 11 o'clock.

This recital was an experiment by the congregation to see if the community would support such a concert and Dr. Groseclose, the pastor said that he was pleased with the outcome and was already planning another program for the latter part of May.

BUSY MONTH FOR SHRINERS

Ceremonial Tops All Affairs

Shrine affairs scheduled for the month of May are sufficiently numerous to provide a busy time for both officials and members of this, the largest fraternal organization of Wichita Falls.

They include a big ceremonial session to be held in the evening of May 23, for which indications promise a large class of novices as well as a big crowd of members from other towns in the Wichita Falls territory.

Walter D. Cline, potentate of the temple, has returned from a visit to his Louisiana farms and is now busy in lining up officers and committees to arrange for this ceremonial. An illuminated evening parade through the downtown district will be a feature of the ceremonial.

The other May events on the Shrine schedule include a Shrine minstrel, given under auspices of the band and patrol, on May 11, 12 and 13; and two series of baseball games between Capt. "Dinty" Booth's Wildcatters with teams from outside temples—the Ben Hur Temple of Austin being here on May 20, 21 and 22 and the Alfazar temple of San Antonio May 28, 29 and 30.

The May Wildcat, full of the smiles which are characteristic of Shrinedom, is largely devoted to the features of the coming ceremonial, laying especial emphasis on its being scheduled for the evening to permit all Shriners in Northwest Texas to attend.

FLOWER DAY AT HEIGHTS

Today is "flower day" at the Floral Heights Methodist church.

A musical program will feature the evening services. The choir will sing an anthem "When the Lord Turned Again?" by Hayes. Miss Sandel will play three numbers, "The Largo" by Handel will be given by Mrs. O. E. Nichols, Mrs. Bruce Greenwood and Miss Marian Maer, violins; Mrs. F. R. Collard, piano, and Miss Sandel at the pipe organ. Dr. J. H. Groseclose will preach a sermonette on the theme "Light in Darkness."

TWILL CORD

By ELOISE.

With the advancing spring days, the lighter weight wraps are gaining favor. Light colors are also more popular than they were earlier in the season. Very light tans are the rage just now. This adressy wrap shown here is made of light tan twill cord trimmed with a simple motif embroidered in silk in tan and navy blue shades.

The back of this model is blocked and the throw collar may be worn in any one of several ways. The throw ends are finished with embroidery and long fringed ends. The sleeves which are wide and bell shaped are covered with the embroidery. They are faced with navy blue crepe as is the whole coat. The narrow tie belt is finished with a little wood and metal ornament. This kind of coat may be worn throughout the summer and into the fall.

BAUM-GARDNER STOCK IS SOLD

Grisham Buys It on $46,000 Bid

Baum-Gardner's stock of merchandise was sold to W. J. Grisham, local oil man, for $46,000 Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when the stock of goods was disposed of at public auction.

The accounts receivable and the merchandise and furnishings had sold separately at first, and were then resold, the former being bid in by C. J. Cole, at $3,250, while the latter was also bid in by Cole at $52,000.

On the reselling of the two together, the bids ranged from $50,000 to the sale price.

Mr. Grisham said that he and associates would probably sell out the stock at its present location if the court approves the sale.

DE MOLAY DANCE

Arrangements for a De Molay dance to be held on May 5, at the Wichita Dancing academy on Tenth street, have been made by Hope chapter. The dance will be for Masons and De Molay members only.

Preparations are also being made for a June ceremonial, the date to be announced later. A class of a hundred will be initiated. A patrol has recently been organized and will have charge of the third degree which was conferred for the first time on April 22.

The chapter, which was instituted March 1 of this year, now has a membership of 125 and will likely reach a membership of at least 500 on its first anniversary. Master Masons' sons and their chums 16 to 20 years of age are eligible.

BABY FASHION

By Eloise

Baby's wardrobe this spring is to be just as fashionable as that of her grown sister. The cape coat which is the newest thing in the wrap world is to be found in baby wear just as it is found in the women's and misses' shops. It comes in all the soft, pretty materials of the regular coats and in many materials which grown-ups cannot wear.

This pretty little cape coat is made of pink broadcloth. It has a plain front and loose cape back. A wide collar cut square and tied under the dimpled chin with strands of braided ribbon in pink and blue shades is the only trimming feature.

In the spring the housewife only lightly turns to thoughts of trash.

If you're overweight, you owe it to yourself to reduce.

PAINS SO BAD WOULD GO TO BED

Two Women Tell How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Stopped Their Suffering

Iron Mountain, Mich.—"I had terrible pains every month and at times had to go to bed on account of them. I saw your advertisement and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with very good results. I can work all day long now at my sick time. You may use these facts as a testimonial and I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. A. H. GARLAND, 218 E. Brown St., Iron Mountain, Michigan.

Xenia, Ohio.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of my abdomen that I could not lie quietly in bed. I suffered for about five years that way and I was not regular either. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women, so I decided to try it. It surely has helped me a lot, as I have no pains now and am regular and feeling fine."—Mrs. MARY DALE, Route 7, Xenia, Ohio.

If you suffer as did Mrs. Garland or Mrs. Dale, you should give this well-known medicine a thorough trial.

HORSES TRICKY IN THEIR LEAPS

None Buck Alike As Riders Discover

There is a great deal of difference between what is commonly called a bronc and an out-law bucking horse, says Fog Horn Clancy, secretary of the fourth annual Round-Up.

The bronc is simply an unbroken range horse; the chances are ten to one that he will buck at least a few jumps and after those few leaps may decide that further exertion is unnecessary and become reconciled to be the servant of man, but should the animal be of the right disposition, nervous, headstrong and fiery, of a type to defy and continue to defy the efforts of man to subdue and then get away well with his bucking the first attempt that is made to ride him, in fact, should he throw his first rider, then he is almost sure to become an out-law.

It is seldom indeed that a real out-law horse ever becomes broken, one may be ridden until it will give up for a time and carry its rider without bucking, but a few days rest and a little feed brings back the old spirit of resistance and the animal is an out-law, again ready to buck the moment he is saddled, and the more they buck the more tricks they learn.

They All Buck Differently.

Each out-law bucking horse has its own individuality; they may be as gentle as lambs in harness and as vicious as a jungle lion under the saddle. In summing up the history of most noted out-law bucking horses, there are three that stand out more prominently than any of the rest; first, the most famous bucking horse the world has ever known—"Steamboat," the Cheyenne bucker, vicious from a colt, mounted by all the best riders of his time and never ridden until at the Cheyenne Frontier days ten years ago.

Dick Stanley, until then, a comparatively unknown rider, out rode all other contestants to the grand finals and then drew for his last mount the "Unridable" steed; all but the judges scratched Stanley off the list and they only kept his name on scratched through mere formality, but the grandstand and the judges were soon to witness one of the greatest rides ever made.

Stanley rode the famous bucking demon until the strong will and resistance that had spelled disaster for more than a hundred riders snaped and the famous out-law was done. After that many mediocre riders had the pleasure of saying that they had ridden the famous "Steamboat" but the great out-law spirit had been broken and the animal became a common bucker that would give up after a few jumps.

The Agreeable Bucker.

"Red Hoy," eight years ago known to every person in Texas, who was in the least interested in bucking horses or bronc busters, had his individuality, any cowboy was perfectly safe to sleep in the same stall with "Red Hoy."

He had not the slightest trace of viciousness. One could sit two or three little tots upon his back or children could play about his feet, he seemed to like them and he was not hard to hold while saddling, but always seemed a little anxious to get under way with his bucking, and when the saddle was placed he immediately became a hair spring of action and was without question one of the fastest bucking horses ever raised in this state, and the peculiar part was that "Red Hoy" threw nine tenths of his riders on the third jump and threw them right down his left shoulder, and the minute they were thrown "Red Hoy" would stop bucking. To him piling cowboys was fun and he never tried to hurt any of them after he had thrown them from the saddle.

MAN KILLER—

them are very liable to come to grief on any of these mentioned:

"First, I must mention the present unridable demon 'Coyote'; this horse will not be used in the regular contest; he is a spinning, whirling, freak bucker, that has thrown so many riders that his owner has long since lost track of the exact number. He will be used only on special rides or exhibitions for a special purse, as to ask a rider to come all the way from Wyoming, Montana or some like distance, and then mount him on this whirling freak and spin him out of any chance to win, would be unfair, and Tom Burnett will hang up a special purse on this bucker and 'Coyote' will have one little corner of the contest all to himself—but for the contest—First, 'High Power,' an extra heavy rough horse, in fact about as rough as a bucking horse can be, and out of the 30 odd riders entered there are but three whom I believe could qualify on this animal, and not more than eight who could stay above him and pull leather—watch for 'High Power,' and if any but the very best riders draw him, there's a cowboy bucked off; next 'O'Bar O'Flaxey,' a wicked sunfisher, a fast high jumper, with a wicked twisting jerk, when her front feet hit the ground usually steps from under the rider on a quick turn to the left and is liable to step from under any cowboy on the lot; next, 'Headlight,' a beautiful sorrel, what is known as a fence row bucker, one jump to the right, next to the left.

"This is the horse upon which Bryan Roach won the world's championship at the Chicago contest two years ago. It is the same horse upon which Yakima Canutt won the grand finals at the Round-Up here last year, an excellent sure fire bucker upon which a good rider if he gets the animal's number so to speak, can ride to the capital prize. 'K. C. Roan' a never failing high jumping, rough straightaway bucker, not as apt to buck a rider off as he is to disqualify them by making them lose a stirrup or pull leather. 'Deerfoot' the mankiller, one of the most vicious horses in America. This animal has thrown and trampled the life out of two riders, has seriously injured several others. He is a rough semi-circle bucker, with a wicked jerk as his hind feet go into the air, that usually knocks the rider out of the saddle with the cantle when bucked off this animal it is hard for a rider to fall free of the horse, in some manner it seems hard to free the left foot of the stirrup and if they do fall free this vicious steed is apt to turn on the fallen rider, pick up men and extra horsemen ride close to the contestant mounted on 'Deerfoot' and everyone acquainted with the nature of this wicked sorrel sighs relief when the ride is over if the rider is uninjured.

"'Dunn Gone,' a meodish dun horse, that of the weather is extremely warm or cold is apt to, as the cowboy expresses it, 'turn on' and when Dunn Gone does turn on he is one of the most spectacular bucking horses of the McCarty string; in fact the first victim Dunn Gone, after the animal was captured near Wagon Mound, New Mexico, was Leonard Stroud, then the champion rider. In 1918 and 1919 Dunn Gone was unridden, although mounted more than fifty times. In June, 1919 McCarty purchased this horse and took him with his string of buckers to the Cheyenne, Wyoming Frontier Days contest; the latter part of July McCarty was entered in the riding and drew Dunn Gone for his final horse and rode the bucker, winning the championship, and the judges also awarded the horse the prize offered for the greatest bucking horse at the contest. 'Square Deal,' a black horse, rough and straight away, an animal that the further he goes the rougher he gets; there are plenty of riders who can ride Square Deal a short distance, but few who can stand the punishment to the finish should the judges be the least tardy with the whistle. 'P. J. Nutt,' another sunfisher, which is a manner of going up and sticking all four feet out in a horizontal manner, in fact, a sunfisher acts as though he was going to hit the ground broadside and the next jump sticks his feet out on the opposite side, producing a twisting motion that makes it exceedingly difficult for the rider to keep his balance.

"'Flashlight,' a sorrel horse as quick as his name, a fast, snappy bucker that is liable to leap into the air, reverse and come down with his front feet where his hind ones were when he left the ground. There are scores of others of the McCarty collection, anyone of which might buck off any of the top riders, and when you see them perform you will understand why Tom Burnett had them shipped all the way from Wyoming for use in the contest here; my predictions are that there will be a lot of good riders bucked off at this year's Round-Up, but keep your eye on these I have mentioned and when it is over tell me whether I know bucking horses."

COWBOYS AND—

confidence of the cowboy, and yet he puts over his undertakings in a manner that one could hardly class them as foolhardy feats of a fanatic, but rather a superb exhibition of one's confidence in his own ability. The cowgirl too is possessed of the same confidence—fair haired daughters of the plains, who can and do cut an excellent figure on the floor of a fashionable ball room, who seem as if they would be much at home at lawn fete or tea, yet who mount the most untamable bucker with about the same nonchalence as with which the cowboy would roll a cigarette.

The bucking horses which will try their utmost to pile the cowboy and cowgirl on the ground beneath their hoofs, are as noted as the riders. Real bucking horses with ability to really test the skill of such riders as those who have gathered here for the round-up are scarce; true there are many bucking horses left in this state, but there are few that would not give up under the riding of such experts as Bryan Roach, Yakima Canutt, Ray Bell, Lloyd Saunders and others of this calibre who will ride at the round-up.

Spectators at a round-up expect as much of the bucking horses as they do of the riders. Tom Burnett realizes this. That is why he has shipped all the way from Chugwater, Wyoming, the greatest string or collection of real untamable man-hating outlaw bucking horses in the United States. These horses are the property of Ed McCarty, owner of the S Lazy S ranch, near Chugwater. His hobby is the collection of unridable horses, and whenever a bucker wins a reputation for unseating riders it soon becomes the property of McCarty if money will buy it. It was he who paid $1000 for the famous unridable horse "Coyote" and had him shipped from Texas, California, to the round-up here two years ago. He also paid $800 for the noted unridable bucker "Dunn Gone," an animal that had thrown every rider of New Mexico and Arizona who had attempted to ride him. During the world war a collection of $2315 was taken up at the Magdalena, New Mexico round up for the Red Cross society on an attempt by Ed Wright to ride the famous bucker, the ride lasting just three seconds, until Wright was hurled to the ground with an impact that rendered him unconscious.

"Mankiller" Coming.

Other noted buckers belonging to the McCarty string, and to be used in the bronc riding of the round up, are Headlight, a bucker that three world's titles have been won upon; "Deerfoot," the mankiller that has thrown and trampled the life out of two riders; Morning Glory, belying its name in disposition; Vampire, as cunning as its name; K. C. Roan, a sure fire bucker, that none but the very best riders can begin to ride; Fever, as much a terror as the disease from which it was named, and more than two score of other bucking demons including about twenty head of buckers that have never been seen in a contest here before.

But with all the bucking prowess of McCarty's horses they will probably be overshadowed when Tom Burnett's famous Bucking Longhorn Brahmas are turned loose; all the pent up viciousness that could be possessed by an animal will be unleashed in the wild Brahma steer riding. This type of steer is said to be the greatest bucking animal in the world and the rider is placed in a most precarious position, as to be thrown from the back of one of the longhorn demons means that the animal will turn and attempt to gore out the life of his fallen victim.

In the wild steer riding cowboys on horseback are stationed in various parts of the arena to make a dash and rescue those who are thrown, but the vicious Brahma will attack a horse as readily as he will attack a man. The horse, however, has a better chance at getting out of reach of the long sharp horns.

The cowboys, the cowgirls, the bucking horses and Brahmas are all ready for the opening of the contest next Wednesday afternoon, so "Let 'er buck."

at Matador, where he was raised. He may not know how to wear an evening suit; he does not lay claim to any Chesterfieldian airs; he is just a plain, unvarnished American who by industry, energy, integrity and common sense has made good.

Henry Hobbs' life, character and rise in the financial world may well be a stimulus to every poor boy in the land and instill in them hope where now resides despair and show them opportunities which theretofore have gone unseen. Hobbs is a regular fellow—he has not lost his way. He is as near and dear and as plain to his old friends out at Matador today as he was when he rode astride a broom tail pony, chasing a few half-Jersey heifers across the sun-baked plains of West Texas. In the language of the street, "He's a regular fellow." He has made good. He will continue to make good. He is a product of Texas. He is a resident of Wichita Falls. He is a self-reliant and dependent citizen.

TAYLOR'S FOR FLYERS SO LONG AS THEY SAIL WITHOUT HIM

Stunt flying might be a pleasure to a famous aviator, but it is all serious to A. L. Taylor who narrates some thrilling events of his experiences in the air during the advertising campaign of the American Legion aviation meet.

Taylor had charge of all arrangements for the flying circus staged at Call Field by Pat Carrigan legionnaires, and during the weeks prior to the meet, he spent many hours in the air with "Daredevil" Ed Lorette, who never failed to show his "victim" as Taylor termed himself, the thrills of the atmosphere.

Making a sensational landing in a small town in Oklahoma many miles off their path, one of the numerous residents who had been attracted to the landing spot of the ship that had executed nose dips and tail spins above them rushed to the side of the plane and shouted:

"You fellows are some flyers—why, you had half the people down here frightened to death!"

"Yes," replied Taylor who had regained his nerve, "there was half of us up there that were frightened the same way."

THE RODEO MASTER

TOM L. BURNETT

Here is Tom L. Burnett, the Wichita county ranchman, who for four years has given Wichita Falls an annual rodeo which shines with the most famous in the country, and last year was considered the premier meet staged in the United States.

Burnett's free hand in the staging of [illegible] he is not in the local rodeo for profit—together with [illegible] among the cowboy and Indian participants, is a big factor in making for the success of the event which draws an average of 25,000 spectators annually.

The Car That Turned Your Head!

THE CAR that you turned to admire the other day, as it flashed past you in the street, was a USED car.... You would be glad to have it.... It is possible that the very counterpart of this car can be found, at a remarkably low price, in the used-car salesrooms of the reliable automobile dealers listed below.

There's a vast difference between a USED car and an OLD or WORN-OUT car.

Nobody wants a worn-out car. No one would buy one.

A USED car, of the type offered you by these dealers, is far from an OLD car. And they have no worn-out cars, at all.

In fact, you will be surprised at the splendid values in their USED cars; if you will visit their salesrooms.

Some of these cars have been in service for comparatively a short time. They have been in careful hands. They still possess thousands of miles of economical, satisfactory service for you.

And they can be bought at remarkably low prices.

As you go about the streets, all of the cars you see are USED cars. Yet you admire many of them. Likewise you would admire many of the cars you would find in the salesrooms of these reliable dealers.

Every car they offer is a bargain, for the owner in disposing of it made; necessarily, some sacrifice.

You reap the benefit of this sacrifice, for these dealers only expect to get out of these cars the money they have put into them. They are content with that. They are not selling them to make a profit.

A USED car is always a bargain if bought from a reliable dealer, who KNOWS the value and service remaining in the car, and gives you his frank and honest judgment.

The one vital point, therefore, in purchasing a USED car, is to buy from none but an established, reliable automobile dealer. The dealers listed below are entitled to your full confidence. They display in their salesrooms the symbol shown at the bottom of this page—the symbol assuring "Used Cars of Known Value."

Call on these dealers—inspect their offerings and learn their prices. The very car you are wanting may be there!

Why These Dealers Can Give You Better Values

Go only to reliable dealers for reliable used cars.

The dealers named below are established merchants in this city. They are here to stay. They have a reputation for honesty and square dealing to maintain; they conduct their used-car department on a high plane of frankness and square dealing. Go to them for "Used Cars of Known Value."

The sale of used-cars is a necessary part of the business of every established automobile merchant. These dealers are organized to conduct their used-car business in accordance with the highest standards of square dealing. Their used-car departments are permanent, convenient salesrooms where you may see their offerings and inspect them at your convenience and with the utmost comfort.

These reliable dealers handle only used cars of merit—cars still holding legitimate service and satisfaction for you.

The used cars they offer you are acquired in the conduct of their business, not by trading or buying in for the sole purpose of re-selling at a profit. They are satisfied with the original profit on the new car, therefore, you may buy good used cars from them at very remarkable prices.

SPRING TRADE TRIP PLANNED

Several Days May Be Spent on It

Discussion of the big spring trade trip, favored by the business council, chamber of commerce, and continued discussion of the good roads movement, featured the meeting of the organization at the Kemp Friday noon.

The spring trip—one of several days duration and covering the entire Wichita Falls trade territory—was suggested by E. S. Goodner. Mr. Goodner's suggestion of improvements in the methods of organization and carrying out of recent trips lead to a general discussion in which B. J. Bean, B. Frank Johnson, Horrace Robbins and Norris Ewing took part. Several suggestions for increasing the value of the trips were made by those participating in the discussion.

Further action in this connection will be recommended by a committee consisting of B. J. Bean, Horrace Robbins, R. E. Shepherd, B. Frank Johnson, Eugene Liepold and J. W. Thatham, Jr., named as a committee to make further investigation of the trip.

Harry Gray, manager of the City Laundry, made the buy-at-home discussion, showing why hardware and other materials for the laundry were purchased elsewhere because they could be purchased from wholesalers, while he must pay retail prices if purchased in this city. This situation reminded B. J. Bean that grocers objected to buying coffee from him because he sold direct to restaurants, while they purchased coffee from salesmen from outside houses who sold indiscriminately.

Hubert Harrison, general manager of the organization, used this as an illustration of the matters of this nature which might be ironed out by the special business men's committee working in connection with this campaign, to the mutual profit of Wichita Falls business men.

Mortgages Total Quarter Million

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The bureau of the census today announced that the total mortgage debt on owned homes and farms in Texas in 1920 was $263,829,752 and the total value of these mortgaged homes and farms was $892,969,092, the mortgage debt thus representing 29.5 per cent of the total value. Rented homes, tenant farms and farms that are partly owned and partly rented, it should be noted, are not included in this report.

RADIO HOTEL

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A radio hotel is the latest!

Announcement was made here today that the new six million dollar Walker hotel, which is to be erected here, will feature the radio.

Allen E. Walker, head of the company erecting the hotel, believes that within the fourteen months it will take to complete the big structure the radio will be devoted to hundreds of uses now little dreamed of. More than 50 long distance radio outfits will be installed throughout the building, with one large hall devoted entirely to radio entertainment.

A. & M. COMMENDED FOR DIPLOMACY

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 29.—The A. & M. College of Texas has been highly commended for the work that it is doing in fostering closer ties between the United States and the Latin-American countries by Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the Pan-American Union at Washinton.

In a communication to President B. Bizzell, Dr. Rowe says: "I know the excellent work that the Agricultural & Mechanical College is doing in fostering closer ties with the Latin-American countries, and I regard this as one of the most important international services that any institution can perform."

McGINNTY STEPS OUT AS MANAGER

The once great "iron man" has signed to manage the Danville, Ill., club in the Three-Eye league.

Well over forty, the veteran pitcher took his turn in the box a couple of years ago with the Vancouver club in the Pacific Coast league, being one of the league leaders in percentage of games won and lost.

The "iron man" helped win two National league pennants and a world's championship for McGraw. Long after his arm gave out he used a deceptive underhand ball and his brains to fool the hitsmiths.

Now, if he delivers as a manager he may stick in the game another quarter of a century. Who knows?

Lift Off with Fingers

Don't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.—Adv.

POLAR TRIP HALTED

The polar plane, Elizabeth, as it crashed upside down.

Roald Amundsen, noted Norwegian explorer, is undaunted by the series of mishaps which has befallen him. "Bad luck now means good luck later," Amundsen says, "and I'm just as well satisfied." Amundsen, with Lieut. Oskar Omdal, was flying from New York to Seattle when the plane crashed at Miola, Pa. Then the train on which he was continuing to Cleveland was tied up by a wreck. The passengers suffered slight injuries.

DITCH ROJECT COST IS SPLIT

Farmers Partners in Irrigation

With the Wichita [illegible] project in full swing toward realization as a result of the bond financial backing of the people of Wichita Falls, officials of the irrigation district are fully satisfied that the farmers of the irrigated districts are to be full partners with the residents of the city in the completed project.

In fact, the farmers part in the project is a matter of discussion between the directors of the two boards—the board of district No. 1, which includes Wichita Falls and its environs, and of district No. 2, which includes the lands to be irrigated. The directors are attempting to apportion the cost of the project so that the people of the city and of the irrigated lands will each pay their equitable parts in the cost of the project—a problem which will take several months to fully solve.

At present the amount of acreage to come "under the ditch" is only a matter of estimate, as it may be found that a far larger amount of acreage can be irrigated with perfect safety during a two year drouth—the longest on record—than the engineers have placed in their estimates, based on the minimum acreage for safety's sake. Consequently the per acre cost can not be figured definitely at this time, and the costs which are mentioned in this connection are only guesses.

How the second district will pay for their share of the project is also a question to be decided. It will probably result in the voting of bonds and the support of the bond issue on a benefit basis of the lands.

The full cost of construction was borne at first by the people of Wichita Falls for a very simple reason. Bonds of an irrigation district could not sell in the bond market existing at the time when it was important for the project to be started. Bonds backed by the city of Wichita Falls would sell, and at a good price.

When the cost is apportioned between the people of the town and the people who will own the irrigated land, it is expected that the irrigated land owners will vote bonds which will be placed in the treasury of district No. 1 to reimburse them and to carry part of the $4,500,000 bond issue. All of these bonds will be retired, it is estimated, in about 20 years, when the project will be permanently owned by the two districts and its benefits from that time on will cost nothing but a nominal charge for upkeep.

JUDGE WILSON TO SPEED CASE

He'll Show How Fast Wheels Can Turn

When the summer term of the 30th district court meets in June, the first term here since Ben. Wilson, maker of the enviable record, during the short time he served as prosecutor, became judge of the court, the people of the district will have an opportunity of seeing a district court proceed at full speed for six days of the week. Judge Wilson promised while here on an over Sunday holiday last week.

Judge Wilson has been out of Wichita Falls practically since his appointment holding terms of court at other points in the district, and working on the schedule he expects to show the people of Wichita Falls.

He expects to take up civil cases coincidently with the calling of the grand jury, and to go far toward cleaning up the civil docket by the time the grand jury turns out some criminal cases for attention.

The 30th district court has in the past been expected to handle the big end of the criminal business in Wichita county. Putting all this business into one court has been blamed for the congestion of criminal dockets in this county.

"Do you think that the one court is sufficient to handle the criminal business?" Judge Wilson was asked.

"Wait and see," was the reply, and the tone carried a hint of a promise.

SPARK PLUG IS INVENTED HERE

Saves Gas, Cleans Self, Is Claim

Giving a sturdy crank, which set the motor of an antiquated automobile to running, the mechanic picked up the rubber hose, and directed a stream of water into the carburtor.

The little old four cylinder motor kept puffing right along. Still more water ran into the carburetor, but the cylinders missed not a single firing, though the water was running out of the exhaust, and oily water oozed and bubbled up around the spark plugs. The water kept pouring in a steady stream, through the motor, and the engine kept on running as regularly and smoothly as an engine that had been outlawed about eight years ago could.

Invented Here.

This was merely a test that was being given the new Wichita Falls invented and assembled spark plug, the "WK" self cleaning plug which is just now making its debut to motorists, as a solution of one of the worst ailments that automobiles are heir to.

Two Wichita Falls automobile mechanics invented the plug, L. S. Williams and Bevie Kerr, and the patent has been applied for. Two other Wichitans, Sanders Walker and F. D. Woodruff, have taken an interest in the invention and will market the plug.

For several months work of assembling the various parts which go into the making of a spark plug has been under way, and now the inventors and marketers are ready to make public the results of their labors.

Self Cleaning

The WK plug in appearance is exactly like any other plug except that in the side of the barrel is a tiny check valve. It is this valve which performs the most miracle. A steel ball, inside the brass screw tube, with a fine steel bar across the inner opening forms a valve that opens with each downstroke of the cylinder, letting a current of air pass over the points keeping them free from carbon. Very simple it all is, but it is the only one of the many spark plugs which have been offered as self cleaning, considering that has this feature or anything approximating this.

It has been two years since the first one of these plugs was made as the result of experiments of the two young men, who in their work found much trouble from spark plugs becoming dirty in a very short time. Perfecting the valve was the matter of only a short time, as simple was it's construction. The first plugs were made by boring holes in the side of an ordinary spark plug and inserting the home made valve.

Sixty sets of the plugs are already in use in and around Wichita Falls. Up until last week not enough parts had been secured to fill the demand even before any public announcement was made. There are eleven different parts to the plugs, coming from eight different states.

The plugs are assembled by hand in the workshop [illegible] building on N[illegible]. It is the plan of the company to market the plugs through dealers just as other plugs are sold.

Uses Less Gas

One of the promises made for the WK plug is that ten per cent less gasoline is used. As high as 25 to 30 per cent reduction has been made in some machines which have been experimented with, it is stated. But ten per cent is a guarantee.

It had been planned to introduce the new WK plug to aviators in the American Legion meet yesterday and today, but the special shells necessary for airplane motor plugs failed to arrive in time.

BUYS WAY OUT OF RUSSIA

Prof. Alexander Maximoff and wife.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Smuggling himself, wife and daughter out of Russia and across the border into Finland, Prof. Alexander Maximoff of the chair of biology, University of Petrograd, Russia, has arrived here.

"Thank God. I am at last in America," said the professor, as he stepped from the gangplank to the pier with his loved ones.

The professor is on his way to the University of Chicago. He is an author and has written several works on histology. He told of the manifold miseries that, with his family he had suffered during the last four years in Petrograd, on the verge of starvation and without proper material to carry on his work of research. He determined if, with his family, he was to live, he must escape across the border.

"I was near the Finnish border delivering a lecture," said the professor. "My wife and daughter were with me. I hired professional smugglers to take me across the border, paying them over a billion rubles, or about $1,000 in regular money. Lenin and Trotzky are firmly intrenched. Untold misery prevails. Nothing is being done because of the apathy of the people. Millions are dying of starvation and the people have lost all hope. Seemingly nothing can be done for the cultured professional classes. But now I am in America with hope and ambition anew to go on with my work."

Those re indicted were W. E. Stewart, C. F. Adams, J. A. Kenagy, D. F. Keegan and C. F. Ladd. MARCH EXPORTS FROM TAMPICO MAKE JUMP

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A report from Vice Consul George P. Shaw at Tampico to the department of commerce shows that petroleum shipments from the Tampico consular district to all destinations during the month of March averaged 604,183 barrels, of 42 gallons each, per day, compared with average daily shipments in January of 588,171 barrels. Due to the fact that February was a short month the total shipments amounted to only 16,917,127 barrels, or 1,316,195 barrels less than the January shipments of 18,233,322 barrels.

SURVEY SHOWS CROP AVERAGE

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 29.—Cotton acreage in Texas will be increased 6.9 per cent this year, according to reports which have been collected by the state department of agriculture from all principal cotton producing counties. The reports were gathered from as many as 14 separate estimates for each county, averaged together and are believed to be conservative and reliable. Reports were secured by Agricultural Commissioner George D. Terrell, by sending out numerous questionnaires to leading farmers and other citizens of all parts of the state.

The estimates, not showing exact acreage, but comparison of acreage with last year, covers 16 crops.

A decrease in corn acreage is indicated by the averaged reports that there will be only 98.6 per cent as much planted as last year.

Wheat shows a decrease of 20 per cent from last year.

Sorghum shows an increase of 2.9 per cent; syrup, decrease of 1 per cent; and ribbon cane production a gain of 9 per cent.

Other crops: Oats, decrease of 13.1 per cent; hay, decrease of 4.6 per cent.

Vegetables: Tomatoes, increase 11 per cent; strawberries, increase 5 per cent; cantaloupes, increase 5 per cent; watermelons, increase 9.9 per cent; peanuts, decrease 5.9 per cent; sweet potatoes, increase 7.3 per cent; Irish potatoes, increase 2 per cent, and field peas, increase 2.7 per cent.

The probable yield of tomatoes this year is [illegible] according to these estimates, will be from 1500 to 1800 cars, as compared with 1400 cars last season.

The yield of cabbage in the lower Rio Grande valley will be 3380 cars; as compared with only 1507 cars last season. Onion acreage has been increased but the yield was not greatly increased, and the total yield will be about 3500 to 4000 cars.

The decrease in wheat acreage makes no allowance for the acreage planted which did not come up; and the yield of wheat is estimated not to exceed 65 per cent of last year's crop.

The greatest increase in cotton acreage, according to these reports, is in the southwestern part of the state, and in the central western parts, with a slight decrease shown in the eastern and southern parts of the state.

The acreage reports on crops of fruits and vegetables grown in particular localities have not been included as the reports are not sufficiently complete to give a fair comparison with the production last year.

ROGERS HEADS NON-PARTISANS

Farm and Labor Puts Out Candidate

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, April 29. — Texas has what is known as the Non-Partisan Political State Conference which is said to be a combination of farm organizations and labor unions who believe in direct political action.

This conference has placed in the field a candidate for governor, Fred S. Rogers, of Bonham. He was born at Beeville in 1887. He received his education in the public schools of San Marcos and studied law in the offices of Young & Adams at Kaufman. Members of the firm were Congressman Young and Jed C. Adams, now of Dallas. Mr. Rogers was admitted to the bar in 1909 and has since practiced law at Bonham. He is married and is the father of a son about 5 years old. Mr. Rogers was a major with the Thirty-Second division that trained at Waco and went overseas with that organization where he served as division adjutant. He will open his campaign at Sulphur Springs Saturday.

Professor Will Study Oil Waste

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—An investigation of the dehydration of oil field emulsions is to be undertaken by the bureau of mines, D. B. Dow, associate organic chemist having been assigned to the task. The object is to collect information on methods that are being used successfully on different types of emulsions; to make a thorough study of the reasons why emulsions are formed; and to develop new methods for treating. It is said that thousands of barrels of oil that are now being burned in sumps could be saved if satisfactory methods could be developed for recovering this oil from tank bottoms and from "cut" oil. The work will be performed at the Petroleum experiment station at Bartlesville, Okla., and at various points in the Mid-Continent field, and will probably extend over a period of two years.

HARDING ASKED TO RETURN TO PEOPLE

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—One of the most remarkable interviews that has taken place in Washington was that between "General" Jacob S. Coxey and President Harding, when the chief executive the other day granted an audience.

Coxey requested the president to "come back to the people." Probably the president thinks he had not wandered very far from the people, for he likes to refer to himself as a "Main Street" president, or, in other words, a small town fellow and he is rather proud of the fact, too.

RADICALS WIN

President-elect Marcello T. de Alvear and his wife.

Marcello T. de Alvear, according to the latest returns, has been elected president of Argentina to succeed Hipolito Irigoyen. His election spells victory for the radical element of the republic. De Alvear has been Argentine minister to Paris.

CONGRESS MAY BE CONVENED BY AIR

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—If plans now being discussed are carried out, scores of senators and representatives now maintaiing residences both here and "back home" will give up their Washington homes altogether.

Certain wealthy members who live within a radius of 300 miles of Washington are giving serious consideration to the possibility of the joint purchase or rental of a number of large airplanes to take them to their homes when congress adjourns in the afternoon and bring them back the next day in time for the opening at noon.

LOAD RESTRICTION CURTAILS HIGHWAY

(By International News Service.)

BUCYRUS, Ohio, April 29.—The good roads subject is given a new angle by a situation just developed in this county. Under the new Ohio law the loads hauled over the roads is being restricted during the soft weather of spring. The Lincoln Highway through this county has been brick paved, twenty-two miles, except one mile between Bucyrus and Galion. This one mile was improved with a mixture of stone and asphalt because the mile could be built about $10,000 cheaper.

The load restriction law limits the loads on the entire distance, thus depriving the road user of the quality purchased in twenty-one miles of road because of an economy in building one mile. The total investment was $750,000 in the whole road. There is no restriction on the twenty-one miles but the load must be reduced 25 per cent on the one mile.

Why is One Motor Oil Better Than Another?

Not because of any secret process of manufacturing (the processes are similar and are known to all of the larger manufacturers.)

The real difference in the value of oils, as Automobile Lubricants, is due to the difference in the quality of the curde oil from which the lubricants are made. It is not possible to give to an oil qualities in a manufactured state that it did not possess in its crude state.

ALL AMALIE LUBRICANTS are manufactured exclusively from without question the highest grade crude oil in the world.

That's why AMALIE lasts longer, lubricates better and forms less carbon than oils made from any other crude oils.

BRITISH NOT TO QUIT CHEMICAL

Commission Studying Gas Methods Here

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Great Britain is going ahead with the development of chemical warfare regardless of the sweeping condemnation of poison gas and the treaty prohibiting its use agreed upon at the Arms Conference, it was learned in official quarters recently.

A commission of British army and navy experts now in the United States is under instructions to make a thorough study of American methods of making poison gases, with a view to adopting into the British service any improvements which may be discovered.

This commission, which is headed by Colonel M. L. Wilkinson, of the British army, has just been granted permission by the American war department to visit the main plant of the Chemical warfare service at Edgewood, Md., and will be allowed to make a thorough inspection. According to American army officers, nothing will be kept secret from the commission.

British on Inspection.

The Britishers will also visit the Proving Grounds at Aberdeen, Md., the Army Infantry school at Camp Benning, Ga., and the army establishment at Fort Sill, Okla.

One of the members of the commission is Captain J. D. Pratt, of the famous Gordon Highlanders, who is a specialist in chemical warfare and has done much to increase the efficiency of the British gas service. A third member of the commission is Dr. Charles Rotter, of the admiralty.

The British make no secret of the fact that their government places little dependence upon the resolution against the use of gas adopted at the Arms Conference. They believe it would be foolish for them to place themselves at the mercy of any nation which might in a pinch look upon the poison gas treaty as a mere scrap of paper. They point to the fact that there are many more or less powerful nations which have never subscribed to the gas resolution.

(By Central Press.)

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 29.—"Tractorettes" and the farmer's wife, that is the solution of the farm labor problem this spring. That is what the Ohio farmer is doing to meet the situation.

The women of the farm are becoming the real farmers. The women are operating the tractors and solving the big problem created by the lack of farm help everywhere in spite of the thousands of city unemployed. One woman operating a tractor can do the work of three plows, three men behind them and six horses.

SCHOOL WHIPS FOUND THAT TORTURE BOYS

(By International News Service.)

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29.—Two whips resembling the "cat o' nine tails" of old, capable of inflicting cruel punishment upon children's flesh, are on exhibition at the offices of the state board of education.

The lashes were confiscated at the St. Michael's independent Polish school at East Chicago, according to E. B. Wetherow, state school inspector, who said the conditions of the whips indicated they had been used in punishing pupils. The first was taken by the Lake county attendance officer who, upon his return to the school, found that it had been replaced and confiscated the other.

There is no law to prevent the use of whips in schools, but understanding that such practice is contrary to public policy.

OXFORD HIGHBROWS GET LEGS PULLED

(By International News Service.)

OXFORD, Eng., April 29.—Even the highbrow is gullible.

Oxford intellectuals were interested in posters broadcasted through the quiet university town announcing that under the auspices of the "Home Counties Psychological Society, Dr. Emil Busch, professor of psychology at the University of Frankfurt, would deliver a lecture on 'Freud and the New Psychology.'"

The intelligentsia turned out in large numbers for the lecture.

"Dr. Busch" was introduced by an unknown "Dr. Heythrop" as one of Europe's greatest students of psychology. There were loud cheers from the intelligentsia and cries of "Hear! Hear!"

"Dr. Busch" took the platform and gave a lengthy discussion of "claustrophobia" and "motors of centre." His remarks seemed a bit vague, but the advanced thinkers were not for admitting that any German savant was more advanced than they. Cheers greeted many of the statements.

Now the intelligentsia of Oxford is full of chagrin. It has developed that the lecture was promoted as a college boy prank. "Dr. Busch," the lecturer, and "Dr. Heythrop," who introduced, are both Oxford freshmen.

RAIN BRINGS EVA OF BATH TO TOWN

(By International News Service.)

EMPORIA, Kan., April 29.—This town has been on its greatest souse since last fall.

No, don't call Izzy Einstein, the New York rum sleuth.

It's a souse in the bathtub, with plenty of water.

Emporians have been on reduced water rations during the long-continued drought in this part of the wheat belt, broken only recently by a perfectly nice little rainfall. The water supply had to be guarded, and the town was put on water rations, so to speak. The use of the bathtub anytime but Saturday nights was regarded as a downright crime, and there was even an agitation at one time during the drought to have a bathtub inspector make the rounds on Saturday nights to see that no bather was using more water than was properly needed to get wet.

But all that is now at an end. Folk here can take two baths in rapid succession if they think one soaking is not enough, and a brighter and even a cleaner era has dawned on the community.

There's water again, and Emporia has been having a grand "soak."

ORIENT TAKES TO JAZZ NOTE

Opera Star Says All Fall for It

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Japan, China and other Oriental countries will sooner or later succumb to jazz, just as France, Italy and Great Britain are following in the footsteps of the United States, according to Miss Nobu Hara, famous Japanese opera singer, who recently appeared in "Madame Butterfly," with the Metropolitan Opera company, in New York.

These statements were made by Miss Hara, advices just received from Tokio state, upon her arrival at the Japanese capital, after a ten months' tour of the world.

"Jazz music may now be heard all over the United States," she declared, "Its growth however, is recent. Yet it had no such vogue when I first went to America, at the time of the Panama Exposition, six years ago."

In England, Miss Hara said, she found the people were not as enthusiastic about jazz as in America but its popularity is constantly growing, though at a slower pace. Upon crossing the English Channel she heard much more jazz, the French having adopted the new music wholeheartedly.

WANT LESS ADMIRALS AND MORE TEACHERS

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, April 29.—"Give us fewer admirals and more university professors," is the demand of one of the weekly political reviews. The paper cites Le Journal as to the plentiful crop of admirals in the French navy.

"At Brest there is a vice-admiral, two contre-admirals, another admiral commanding the devision of schools, a post recently created to occupy more admirals; a fifth admiral commands the division of the Voltaire, Diderot and Condorcet, old egg-shells out of fashion and without value; a sixth admiral commands the cruisers Michelet and Victor Hugo, which are not worth more."

"On the other hand the appropriations for our faculties and laboratories have necessitated reducing the number of professors," says Le Carnet de la Semaine.

BOOZE COLOR NOT DETECTED BY ODOR

(By International News Service.)

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29.—Sergeant Cox, of the Indianapolis police force, one of whose special chores is to sniff the breath of policemen for traces of alcoholic aroma, admits that while he can detect a whiskey breath "a mile away—almost" his olfactory sense is by no means keen enough to establish the color of the liquor which scents the breath which he smells. Red or white, his nostrils can't tell.

This frank confession was made at a hearing of the Board of Safety on charges of intoxication preferred against Patrolman William Schalangen. Ex-City Judge Walter Pritchard, who was Schalangen's attorney, boasted that his own olfactory accomplishments even go into the color of liquor.

"There's as much difference between 'white mule' and bonded whiskey on a man's breath as between the scent of roses and carnations," he declared.

To which Cox replied: "All I know is that he had been drinking whiskey."

The color of the liquor in the case was still a moot question when the board took the patrolman's fate under advisement.

CANADA TO COLLECT DEBT FROM ENGLAND

OTTAWA, Ontario, April 29.—It is reported in Montreal that the British government has agreed to pay off Britain's war debt to Canada at the rate of $5,000,000 per month. The total amount owed is about $130,000,000, which was the balance due after the respective accounts covering war purchases and other transactions were set off against each other.

The British government desired to discharge this debt at the par rate of sterling exchange, but with this proposal the Canadian Finance Department did not agree. It has been agreed that this dispute is to be left in abeyance at present, and it is possible that the gradual recovery of sterling will minimize if not end it.

The monthly payments of $5,000,000 are to be made in the interim and this arangement is reported to be already in operation.

Two stone benches at the Burroughs memorial tablet were unveiled and were accepted for the State of New York by Secretary Prescott of the Conservation Commission.

Boom Day Activity Expected to Return Soon to Electra Field

2 GOOD WELLS FLOW HEAVILY

Best Producers in History Reported

Activity approximating that of the early boom days of the Electra pool is forecast for the South Electra district, following the developments of the past week, which included completion of the best wells in the South Electra district's history, and the striking of the 1900 foot sand again in a wildcat three miles to the northeast of the pool. A number of new locations to go to the 1900 foot sand were made this past week, though the heavy rains, which left the roads almost impassable, have delayed rigging up.

The Planet Petroleum company's No. 37 Burnett, made 750 barrels during the first 24 hours connected with the pipe lines, it is reported and the Harvey-Cullum No. 2 Rio Bravo, three miles from the Planet Petroleum well which is in the heart of the old shallow pool, was swabbing and flowing at about the same rate, when first drilled in, and not yet cleaned out.

The Planet well is a short distance southwest of the Lincoln and McDaniel well on the Burnett, the first well in the original shallow pool to get the deeper sand. This latter well is reported still making around 150 barrels.

Extends 1850 Sand.

Just north of the McDaniel well the Gulf Production company's No. 6 Burnett, lease C, has been completed in the 1850 foot sand, making 150 barrels. This well extends the 1850 foot sand several locations to the north. The No. 7 on this lease is going down for the deeper sand, and is about at sand depth now.

On the Harvey-Cullum Rio Bravo lease two new wells are to be started as soon as the rig can be moved on. The No. 3 will be put down with a star, to the 800 foot sand, and the No. 4 will be drilled to the 1000 foot sand. These operators already have two discovery wells to their credit on this lease.

The Spencer D'Yarnett No. 3 drilled for the Eureka Producing company, is not as large a producer as the No. 2, in the 1500 foot sand. It is reported, due to trouble in seating the casing. It is reported making around 75 barrels. Three other wells are to be drilled on this lease. Three new producers are reported from the shallow pool opened up several weeks ago by the Petroleum Producers company, on the Waggoner and between the Harvey-Cullum wells and the old deep pool.

The Petroleum Producers No. 6 is a 30 barrel well in the 475 foot sand and the No. 7, same lease is a five barrel well.

North of the Petroleum Producers lease the Bankers Petroleum company has brought in a 10 barrel well in the 470 foot sand and has two other drilling, one of them to be a rotary deep test.

The McCallister and Graham No. 1 Waggoner south of the 470 foot pool, is reported down around 1100 feet.

The Panhandle's wildcat on the Waggoner, southwest of the McCallister and Graham, is reported drilling around 500 feet.

Tests On Waggoner.

Practically no change is reported from any of the several tests that are going down on the Waggoner pasture, in all directions from the old pool, and the weekly opened extensions. There has been a general clean up during the heavy rains, since there are only dirt roads in this part of the field, and, where the wildcatting is most general, only trails. The ground is so soft and spongy when wet, that it is practically impossible to move a heavy rig, so that a number of new tests have been delayed.

An announcement of interest during the past week was that of the purchase by the Griswold Oil company of the Bryan Oil corporation's 100 acre lease on the Burnett, in the old South Electra pool. The Griswold company has already resumed operation of the property.

This new lease, which joins the Griswold's original 90 acres on its south is only about one tenth developed, having only seven wells drilled, though it is surrounded by production. Two new wells are now drilling, and immediate development of the new 1950 foot sand is one of the first plans of the new owners. Production at present is from four sands, 800, 1400, 1900 and 1800 feet.

On the original lease of the Griswold company No. 23 is drilling around 1880 feet, and No. 24 drilling around 1520 feet. Both of these are to go to the 1900 foot sand, these being southern offsets to the Lincoln and McDaniel producer, which opened up this deep sand. No. 15, which is now producing in the 1900 foot sand, is rigged up to drill down to the deep sand.

To Offset Gulf Jennings.

The first test to be started, south of the Beaver-Electra refinery, following the Gulf strike of the 1900 foot sand, on the Grace Jennings, will be drilled by the Griswold Oil company. Location has been made for the No. 1 Grace Jennings, and the rig is now being moved out, it is reported. Drilling should begin early this week, if no delay is encountered.

Between Electra and the Fowlkes pool the Gulf Production company is skidding the derrick from the No. 1 Powell to the location for No. 2. The No. 1 was abandoned around 2,000 feet.

Don't swear in the presence of ladies or sneeze in the presence of gentlemen.

Little Change in Young Following Downpours During Past Week Which Check Operations in All Pools

Heavy rains, which have been general throughout the Young county oil fields this week, have checked operations in all pools, with the result that there is little change over last week end conditions.

The well of Miller and Horner, on the 2,500 foot sand, to the north of the Penn Cities discovery well in the 2500 foot sand, East Bunger has continued to make good on it's early promise of a new sensation for the pool. Early in the week, before rain tied up the fields, the well was making about 400 barrels a day. A number of additional new tests are planned for the territory between this well, the Penn Cities, and the Pitzer test on the Costello, which is testing out a 1900 foot sand, actual developments of course being held up until the roads reach passable condition.

It is understood that the Sinclair company which has a large amount of acreage in this section, will probably begin drilling in a short time.

The Penn Cities No. 3 Herron, a new rig this past week, and another new rig on the Herron property, has been built to be drilled by the Penn Cities company and McGar and son. The No. 1 Herron of Wells and Spelling was spudded in this week.

Show at 3540.

A show at 3540 feet in the Roxana No. 2 Burgess on the outskirts of the town of South Bend, is practically the only new development from the South Bend field. This lime is now being tested. The Roxana's No. 3 Scott is drilling around 2900 feet and the No. 3 is reported down around 1250 feet. The No. 11-A Ford is drilling around 2455 feet.

In the South Bunger pool a new test was spudded in one the Greenwade, in the territory opened up as deep lime possibilities, by the Roark well of the Ralco and the Gulf well on the Carmack. This new well is the No. 1 of the McKenzie Oil & Gas company.

Another new rig is up on the Greenwade, the No. 1 of Collett and O'Keefe.

Drilling Summary.

A summary of drilling operations in the main Bunger pool follows:

Gulf Production company No. 1 Askew, drilling around 1170 feet.

3 MILLIONS AT CALL OF FRANCE

Huge Force Ready in Spite of Cut

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, April 29.—France can put in the fiel and army of 3,000,000 trained combatant troops despite the reduction of the time of service to one year, declares General Tauffieb, Senator of the Department of Bas Rhin, in writing an editorial for the Petit Parisien.

Officer circles have been making a strong stand to prevent the reduction of the term of military service to one year, and have put up a strong campaign to influence the passage of a law which will call for eighteen months' conscriptive service with the colors.

"Service of one year will not only create in the world an atmosphere of confidence in France, but also will recuperate our financial situation and will free our arms for the economic fight, which will keep us actually strong," writes the general.

"Between the ages of twenty and thirty-five we have fifteen classes of about 200,000 men each, which would enable us to dispose of approximately 3,000,000 combatants on mobilization, who could be assigned to active and reserve units. This would give about 120 brigades, forty divisions and twenty-five to forty-five years of age could be used for the reserves and for the service of the rear."

WITHDRAWING TROOPS BRINGS ON INVASION

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 29.—A series of battles for the possession of Tabriz, second capital of Persia, has been in progress since the British troops were withdrawn last year as a result of which the city has recently been taken by Lantih Khan, according to advices received here from Teheran. Lantih Khan was commander of the Persian gendarmerie forces in the region of Urmia. He set his troops in movement against the Teheran government on the ground that they had not been paid for five months. His forces surrounded the Persian Cossacks and Armenian battalion at Sherefhane and disarmed them and some of the prisoners joined his ranks.

With an army of 10,000 men Lantih Khan then organized an expedition against Tarbriz which was defended by the Shah's loyal Cossacks and Persian gendarmes commanded by Swedish officers.

Overcoming their resistance, or made a triumphal entry in Tambriz occupied all public buildings and issued a manifesto to the people proclaiming his intention to work for and assure the prosperity and independence of Persia. The Shah's governor and his assistant in Tambriz, have been arrested and tried by Lantih's courtmartial.

EL PASO PLANS BIG MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

EL PASO, Texas, April 29.—El Paso will spend $10,000 this year on mosquito lotion and its application. The "lotion" is "gas," oil which will be poured on swamps and placed in irrigation ditches to kill 'wiggletails' and mosquito eggs.

The city also will spend $50,000 this year doing drainage work to solve the mosquito problem. The principal drainage job consists of digging a ditch to carry off water following the heavy rains and subsequent rises in the Rio Grande.

LONDON NIGHT LIFE SCORED

Deaths Precede Cry From Public

(By International News Service.)

LONDON, April 29.—The "night club" is under fire in London.

Restricted drinking hours and orders closing dancing places at 12:30 have led to the establishment of numerous so-called "night clubs." Membership in these clubs entitles one to dance until daybreak, and the restrictions upon the sale of liquor are not rightly adhered to. Membership is easily attained, generally for a sum equal to one dollar.

Recent sensational deaths in which the traces of "night club" life are seen, have led to a public demand for the extinction of these clubs. The death of Freda Kempton, a beautiful young dancing instructress, at one of these clubs, which was probably caused by an overdose of cocaine has caused a sensation. A hCinese has been held as a witness in the case, when the coroner's hearing is resumed April 17. The press has taken up the campaign against the night clubs and alleges that these places are centers for the distribution of "dope" in London.

Thirty years of service to the business and agricultural interests of the Wichita Falls district has enabled the City National Bank of Commerce to accumulate resources large enough to permit the handling of banking transactions of any volume.—Adv.

NO. 4 CROPPER IS COMPLETED

Laning & Moninger's No. 4 Cropper lease 4, was completed this week in the 1280 foot sand, making 80 barrels. This new well is in the new Laning & Moninger pool, north of the old Texhoma pool.

The No. 5 on this same lease is rigging up to drill. The No. 3 also on the No. 1 lease has set casing and cemented.

Just south of the Laning & Moninger wells, on the Murdock, T. F. Hunter is about down to the sand on his third well, started since the opening up of the new pool.

The rains have hindered operations to this pool to a considerable extent, it is reported, the roads being in bad condition. As a result there are very few new developments reported from the several semi-wildcat tests now under way.

KEERFUL MEN!

(By International News Service.)

LONDON, April 29.—Mere man is about to be swept off the face of the earth if "ultra-feminists" have their way, Elliott O'Donnell, author, and investigator of distinction, informs the International News Service.

The tenets of the "ultra-feminists" who are organized to unthrone man, are, according to O'Donnell as follows:

"In the beginning there was only one sex, the feminine-man was a mistake, a mere after-thought.

"There is no need for any sex other than the feminine.

"Love between the sexes is only weakness, temporary madness.

"Life begins as female, life is feminine.

"Parthenogenesis or virgin birth proves the oneness of the substance out of which all things are made."

When you build—build well. Build with brick for permanency.

The small difference you will save by using lumber instead of brick will soon be wiped out by costly repairs.

A COMMUNITY INVESTMENT

One of the biggest single investments in any community is its public UTILITIES. Upon the hinges of Utilities rests the gate which swings open to progress of any city or town. The utility company in order to give adequate service, must invest large sums of money in plants and equipment. Once installed, electric light and power becomes as much a part of a city as its city government, sidewalks or streets. If it is necessary to improve this property or extend it in order to meet the public demand for service, the same expense must be incurred as when a similar improvement is made in building sidewalks or laying sewers.

In other words, when the Wichita Falls Electric company has to extend new electric light and power lines in order to give increased service the company must put up the money for this improvement, in going out to borrow the money it must have a sound proposition to lay before the bankers.

THE WICHITA FALLS ELECTRIC COMPANY must not fail in presenting financial soundness and show that it is able to pay the going rate of interest or it would be refused the credit, and needed improvements could not be made if it did, progress would stop, expansion would end and community welfare would be seriously hampered.

ANOTHER WELL FOR E. BUNGER

No. 1 Herron Comes In at 100 Bbls.

East Bunger got it's second well in the 2,300-foot sand, opened up several weeks ago by the Penn Cities No. 1 Herron, the new producer coming in Saturday, producing at the rate of 100 barrels daily, from the top of the sand at 2,365 feet. It will be drilled deeper and from indications improved production is expected. The No. 1 well is pumping.

The new 2,500-foot well of Miller, Horner and Taylor on the Herron, north of the two 2,300-foot wells, is still making 300 barrels daily, coming in for 400 barrels the latter part of last week. The well has never been cleaned out, and completed, and the drop is attributed to sanding up. It will be drilled deeper, according to present plans, and it is believed that the present good production will be improved.

GOLDEN SNARE HAS ROMANCE

Teeming with that mystery, suspense and fascination which mark the vigorous and refreshing James Oliver Curwood stories of the Far North, "The Golden Snare" which shows at the Olympic Theater from Thursday to Saturday, is without doubt the best screen version yet made of any of the author's works.

Produced and directed by David Hartford, who has filmed other Curwood successes, "The Golden Snare" is released through Associated First National Pictures, Inc. Lewis Stone, in the role of an officer of the Royal Northwest Mounted, is the featured player, and the leading feminine part is taken by Ruth Renick, who portrays Celie, a mysterious golden-haired girl of the North.

The motion picture camera has never recorded a more beautiful panorama of the picturesque northland than in the production. The story itself is a pulsating tale of adventure—a man hunt of the most unusual kind—and out of it comes a happy romance.

Sergeant Raine is detailed to bring back dead or alive Bram Johnson.

Justice Court Makes $1 Verdict

Judgment for the plaintiff for damages amounting to $1 was the verdict of a jury in the justice of the peace court Saturday in the case of W. H. Vancel vs. Charles Dodgen.

The case was tried before Judge G. R. Gwinn, and was the result of an automobile collision on the streets of Wichita Falls.

FEDERAL RESERVE ACCOMPLISHED MUCH

TOLEDO, O., April 29.—That the Federal Reserve system of the United States had done a great service to the world and was a deciding factor in winning the war for the allies, was the statement made here to bankers representing the Toledo Clearing House association by John Jacob Arnold, of the Bank of Italy.

Mr. Arnold who represents his institution in its foreign service in this country said in part:

"Previous to the great war European bankers looked upon the banking system of the United States as a rather incomplete affair, but since the establishment of the Federal Reserve system the completeness of your banking system is recognized by all the great bankers of the world. Especial are the London bankers appreciative of its make-up and results it has achieved since its beginning."

"BREAD LINE" STOPPED FOR MANY IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, April 29.—Many of the millions of persons hitherto fed by the government and who are now being thrown upon his own resources are finding life in Russia complicated by depreciation in the value of the paper ruble, growing constantly more difficult.

Only 6,000,000 persons including the Red army and navy are now receiving government rations, says the Moscow Pravda. Last September the number was 11,500,000.

Factory workmen, government employes and others cut off the free ration list receive, in theory, pay increases supposed to be adequate to permit them to buy their food on the open marqets.

MUCH AMERICAN CORN SHIPPED TO MEXICO

EL PASO, Texas, April 29.—Bulletins at the Mexican consulate state that the Mexican corn market is in peculiar condition. Last year Mexico paid $10,130,649 for American corn, most of which went to Mexico City.

There was a big crop this year, and although freight rates have been reduced so that it can be shipped to Mexico City at a good profit, farmers have found a better market in the United States. The duty has been lifted on corn shipments out of Mexico, so that for the next two or three months Mexico will be shipping corn to the United States.

"MOLLY O" WINS FOR SENNETT

Mabel Normand in Mack Sennett's "Molly O."

A production which has attracted wider attention than any that has been produced in years, because it is the result o fa reunion of three factthe result of a reunion of three successful picture ever released is announced as the attraction that is comin gto the Olympic Theater beginning Monday.

The picture is "Molly O," produced by Mack Sennett, starring Mabel Normand, and directed by F. Richard Jones. The same three people produced "Mickey" which was shown in more theaters and to more people than any motion picture production up to the present time. Mr. Sennett began planning the present production as soon as "Mickey" proved itself the enormous success which it became, but it was not until last year that he was able to secure the services of Miss Normand and Mr. Jones to begin "Molly O."

The story of "Molly O" is primarily strong comedy, but it has a tense dramatic background and many of the incidents in the development of the plot are sufficiently thrilling so that it might safely be classed as a melodrama.

The production is the most expensive one which Mr. Sennett has ever made, but despite its great cost there was nothing wasted in it. The locale of the story runs from the slums of a great city to the grand ball room in the most fashionable hotel in the same city, and the actual requirements to cover the story resulted in the building of many lavish and exclusive sets.

Moore Here on His Second Visit

Two of the three outside candidates for congress from this district spent Friday in Wichita Falls while both of the local men were out of town. W. S. Moore, Gainesville attorney, was here on his second visit. Mr. Moore, who is the only one of the five candidates who is asking for the unexpired term only, makes a strong point of the belief that the regular candidates for congress should not seek the short term too.

Guinn Williams of Decatur, was also on one of his frequent calls here, and radiated confidence when approached on his campaign. Mr. Williams claims a strong support from Wichita Falls, home of two of the candidates, entirely outside members of the former residents of Wise and Montague counties who form a considerable colony here.

BIG CAST IN GEM DRAMA

Edgar Lewis' newest feature production for Pathe, "The Sage Hen" is announced for exhibition at the Gem Theater Tuesday. It is a big, gripping tale of the old West, relating the story of a woman who was unjustly branded a "Sage Hen" a name applied to strange women of doubtful character.

The leading role—the woman of the title—is played by beautiful and talented Gladys Brockwell, who is said to give the greatest performance of a brilliant career. Lillian Rich and Wallace McDonald have been entrusted with the leading romantic roles, while character parts are filled by James Mason, Arthur Morrison, Helen Case and Alfred Allen. Richard Headrick, a three year old boy who is the youngest swimmer in the world, and a trained horse do work not to be overlooked.

FIGHT LA FOLLETTE

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Political forces now at work in Washington appear to mark Wisconsin as the "dark and bloody battle grund" of this year's primary and general elections.

Co-operating with its local supporters in Wisconsin, the administration is ready to invade the "Badger State" primaries on September 5 to give battle to Senator Robert M. La Follette, the most outspoken critic of the Harding policies in the republican ranks. La Follette's uncompromising "insurgency" against the party chiefs dates from his election as governor of Wisconsin twenty-two years ago.

"The Truth About Husbands" Reveals Secrets of Present Day Benedicts To the Wives of Today and Tomorrow

So truthful, yet so scathing is the story told in "The Truth About Husbands" that those who have seen the picture feel a hesitancy in committing themselves about it. But nevertheless two Wichitans who are frank enough with their friends to express their opinions have written the management of the Empress where the picture will be shown this week.

That the people may really know the class of picture which is being exhibited here, the following communications are published.

Manager Empress Theater:

I feel it my duty to protest against your picture, "The Truth About Husbands." I realize that men are not perfect, that even my own husband has short-comings, but I have tried to hide them from myself. After all, a wise wife doesn't mind what her husband has done before marriage, because she knows that it is the nature of the man. It's what takes place after marriage that counts. It is not the moral tone of the picture on which I protest. That could scarcely be better. It is the light in which it places all husbands. Every family has a skeleton in its cupboard—or else the wife is too love-blind to see her husband in his true colors—but why parade the skeleton in full view of the public. Please do this. Put on an explanatory title that the picture refers only to one man—not to all.

Sincerely,
ONE WIFE.

Manager Empress Theater.

Sir: It certainly seems a pity that husbands and fathers should be held up to the ridicule and disrespect shown in "The Truth About Husbands." Were the alleged "truths" confined to the one particular man in the picture it would not be so bad but the statements are of a general and sweeping nature. For instance: A male animal has learned the lesson of life before he becomes a husband——and always somebody pays for the experience. Such a statement can only come from one who has spent a dissipated bachelorhood and thinks everyone else has done the same. To say that all men have before marriage entered into some liasion with a woman is too libellous and too false to be allowed to pass unchallenged. Why not change the title to "The Truth About a Husband?"

Yours truly,
A FATHER.

THREE STATES FIGHT FOR DANUBE TRADE

PRAGUE, April 29.—Keen rivalry for predominance in the Danube shipping is developing among the three-land-locked fragments of the dismembered Hapsburg Empire—Austria, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. The Danube river is their sea and port facilities mean traffic and national income. Hence one form of their competition is to build up their respective ports—Vienna, Pressburg (now called Bratislava) and Budapest, situated close to each other on a bend of the river.

With the prospect of a connecting canal system between the Danube and the Rhine through Bavarian enterprise, the Danube is coming to be regarded here as the greatest artery of trade in Europe of tomorrow and the British were aware of this when they founded their River Syndicate.

The first struggle between the three ports was to get the Allies' Danube commission. Bratislava won but the term was fixed for five years and the commission will next go where the biggest traffic is. This is spurring the Czechs to increase the traffic capacity of Bratislava to 1,000,000 tons this year and ultimate plans call for a capacity for 3,000,000 tons.

FIND SKELETON OF PREHISTORIC "GOOF"

BUENOS AIRES, April 29.—In the midst of the popular interest in the report that some monster of prehistoric species has been seen alive in Patagonia, workmen near the town of Las Rosas in the northern province of Santa Fe have accidentally excavated fossilized parts of the skeleton of what was evidently a pleistocene mammoth.

The newspapers publish a photograph of a section of a tusk three feet and one inch long and five inches in diameter at its thickest point.

The bones are being brought to the Musuem of Natural History at La Plata where there are many fine skeletons of animals of the geologic epochs found in Argentina.

RUM RUNNERS AID TO SLEUTHS

'Dog Eat Dog' Policy Is Pursued

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Volstead law enforcers insist they are beating the "bootlegs" at their game.

Their explanation is that the bootleg industry is firmly embedded on the principle of "dog eat dog."

Elucidating this theory, prohibition officials say a surprising majority of dry law cases are made upon facts supplied dry agents by bootleggers, or others in the rum-running fraternity.

Bootleggers fall out with each other and do the inevitable, "squeal act." The result, they say, is the fact that the government obtains valuable information which might not be secured in any other way, leading to the prosecution and possible punishment of prohibition law violators.

Commissioner Haynes's record today bore ample proof of this contention. State directors reported this as a feature of their work. Liquor informants, within the none too restricted bootleg circle, are actually being relied upon to come forward and give the data needed to clamp down the jail braces.

The "informers" in the bootleg set differ in no great degree from other informers. Their purpose is revenge for some act committed by a former confederate. They have lost money, or were made the victims of plots possibly by other members of their old gang.

Baylor Looks to Summer Boom With Bumper Fruit Crop

TREES LOADED WITH BLOOMS

Frost Danger Passed Say Old Settlers

Special to the Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, April 29.—A bumper fruit crop in Baylor county is the prediction made by County Agent O. C. McGown.

He reports bearing trees loaded with blooms and fruit, and the heavy foliage of all trees, he says, is an indication of an abundant yield.

Mesquite trees are in full leaf and old settlers claim that the danger from late frost or freeze is very unlikely, as they never knew frost to follow the putting out of the mesquite.

The fruit crop is very important in this section. Baylor county usually produces a surplus when a crop is made and there are several commercial orchards in the county. Apples, peaches, apricots, pears, plums, cherries, grapes nad berries are prolific here, and many new orchards will produce their first fruit this year.

BURK WATCHES TOM MARRIAGE

Children Take Part In Social

Special to the Record News.

BURKBURNETT, April 29.—Among the most unique entertainment in Burkburnett was the "Tom Thumb Wedding and Fairies Flirtation" given recently by the junior league under the direction of Miss Laura Logan, a popular kindergarten and expression teacher of the city. The entertainment was given at the Methodist church.

The stage was prettily decorated with pot plant, cut flowers, vine and green branches, with here and there a butterfly. From the lights were hung streamers of pink and white maline. At each end of the stage small chairs were placed in rows for the accommodation of the tiny wedding guests. Miss Erma Montgomery, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Montgomery, played the piano throughout the entire entertainment. The lady guests were as follows: Dorothy Basham, Janice Smith, Marguerite Williams, Bessie Laura Parsons, Macy Alvin Moore; the gentlemen guests: Elmer Tinker, Rowan Fisher, Vinson Goodlet and Clarence Townsend.

The bride's mother was Oree Vaughn, the groom's mother was Shirley Steel. Among others who took part in the affair were Tex Logan, as minister; Robert Faver, Aston Allison, Dannie Steele, Ted Harwell, George Davis, Donald Roberts and J. C. Parsons as groomsmen; W. C. Rushing was Tom Thumb and Dennis Key his best man. The bridesmaids were Nancy Elizabeth Faver, Christine Bons, Doris Ferris, Lucille McFarland, Mary Helen Gosnell, Marie McFarland and Frances Durham. The ring bearer was Kenneth Smith. Then came the tiny flower girls, Nedra Berry and Oma Gene Lane. Last of all came the beautiful little bride. Evelyn Montgomery, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Montgomery.

She was on the arm of her father, Robert Layne. Her long veil was carried by two tiny train bearers, Billy Faver and Fred Dickson.

In the interlude, between the two divisions of the program Miss Laura Logan gave a humorous reading which was very much enjoyed. The second part of the entertainment, "The Fairies and Brownies' Flirtation" was a lengthy and pretty drill by the larger children. The fairies were: Mattie Marie Kiker in blue; Mable Moody, blue; Helen Gene Ferris, in rose; Chiquita Grennell, in rose; Johnnie Dunn, in white; Harriett Peterson, white; Marguerite Duncan, red; Oletu Stadler, in green; Ruth Lough, in yellow; and Cordia Ouzts in yellow. The Brownies were: Earl Golf Clarence Lowery, Wilson Fisher, Robert Key, L. T. Tinker, Tex Logan, Douglas Moody, "Bunk" Ward, Mike Maloney and Tom Send.

Miss Logan deserves much praise for her ability and effort in preparing such an enjoyable entertainment. The ladies assisting Miss Logan were Mesdames Key, Basham, Faver, Davis and Montgomery. Those assisting with the decorations were Mesdames Lough, Gosnell, Smith and Miss Jewel Logan; with the rehearsals, Mrs. Faver. The door receipts, amounting to about $63 will go to pay the league's pledge with a generous margin over for the treasury. Miss Logan has been requested to repeat this entertainment sometime in May.

Brides Prepare for Nation-Wide Organization to Reject Prefix "Mrs."—They'd Be "Married in Fact Only" Instead of "Married in Name Only!"

The Lucy Stone League Has a Tea Party. Left to Right—Rebecca Drucker (Mrs. Oscar Bernstein), Grace Cr[illegible] Signe Toskvig (Mrs. Fr[illegible] Hackett), Margaret Garvin Ston[illegible] Jane Grant (Mrs. Harold E. Ross), Ruth Hale (Mrs. Heywood Broun).

Thousands Know the "Brain Children" of Anita Loos, the Scenario Writer, but Few Know Her as "Mrs. John Emerson." Wife of the Playwright.

Mrs. J. S. Danielson. Do You Know Her? No? Yes You Do, Too! She's Fannie Hurst!

Wife of Dudley Field Malone, Who Goes by Her Maiden Name, Doris Stevens. At Right—Fola La Follette Has Never Been Known as "Mrs. George Middleton," Although She Is the Wife of the Well-Known Playwright.

By Betty Van Benthuysen

THE never-give-up-your-maiden-name movement is spreading countrywide. Its advocates preach the gospel of being wives in fact, but not in name, thus reversing the old melodrama theme, "Married in Name Only." Although many a romance has turned to tragedy over the ineligibility of Jane Doe to sign herself "Mrs. Richard Roe," the up-to-date bride spurns the appellation. She declares she'll remain Jane Doe, even when she's a grandmother. The ultimatum in the thrillers used to be "Marry her to save a woman's name!" Now she saves her own.

All of which gives the punster a chance to remark: "Some Misses miss being married, but these are 'Miss'-ed though married."

In New York City a group of women have formed the Lucy Stone League for the retention of the maiden name by married women. "My name is the symbol of mine identity and must not be lost," the late Lucy Stone, suffragist and feminist, remarked years ago. This idea has been made the object of the League and its slogan is:

"Keep Your Own Name."

A Serious Movement

This serious effort on the part of women to keep their identity is, they say, a logical outgrowth from the advance in the marrying age. Two decades ago a girl married before she was twenty-five or her friends felt sorry for her. Now most girls wait until they've passed the quarter century mark before they take a husband. In the meantime they have, in many instances, made their names and their personalities known. This makes repugnant the idea of surrendering their own for their husband's name.

Heywood Broun and Arthur Somers Roche recently debated the question: "Should a Married Woman Retain Her Maiden Name?" The audience gave the verdict to Mr. Broun, who had the affirmative side of the question. There seemed to be little on the negative side except the hereditary right of a man to call his wife by his name. Of those who attended and applauded the [illegible] were: Zona Gale, Crystal Eastman, [illegible] Perkins Gilman, Gilda Varesi, Fannie Hurst, Frieda Kirchwey, Michael Strange, Rose Falls, Elsie Ferguson, Helen MacKellar, Sophie Treadwell, Katherine Anthony, Susan Glaspell, Mary Shaw, Fola La Follette.

To cite some instances. Begin with Anita Loos. Who does not know her plays and name? They are familiar to thousands and thousands of persons the world over. Yet when she wed John Emerson, the playwright, who is a big figure in the literary and motion picture world, there was an agreement that she retain her own identity. As a matter of fact it might have been difficult for her to write under the name of "Mrs. John Emerson."

Fancy someone asking what you thought of the new picture or the latest story by Mrs. J. S. Danielson? Wouldn't it cost you some moments of thought to hitch up the married name with that talented writer, Fannie Hurst?

Of course it would.

Fannie Hurst did not bargain to quit writing or to quit being Fannie Hurst when she promised to love, honor and obey Mr. Danielson, assuming that she promised to do any such thing as obey anybody. It would have been like rubbing out and starting all over again to have opened a fight to make the name Fannie Danielson worth as much per word as the original, unmarried, unfettered cognomen.

As a matter of fact, Fannie Hurst announced to the world when she took Mr. Danielson, or when he took her—no intent to offend either side of a family party—that it was quite possible for a man and his wife to see too much of one another, and that they purposed to live separately, having breakfast, or maybe an ice cream soda, together, at stated intervals, and waiting to be invited to each other's parties.

Then there is Ina Claire, who doesn't allow Jimmy Whittaker's prerogative of paying the grocer's bills to interfere with her maintenance of a separate name for business purposes. It is very doubtful if the average theatregoer knows that she is the wife of the critic who sometimes writes about her own mimic world doings.

And those of you who know anything about New York must know that there is there a Kiddie Klub which interests thousands of youngsters. It was started by the Evening World, and its fame has reached other parts of the country during the six years of its existence. The originator and director of the Kiddie Klub is "Cousin" Eleanor Schorer. She was just a little slip of a girl when she started being a "cousin" to all of the children in the big town. But, when Chester R. Hope, a newspaper editor, recently made her his wife, he agreed that she would not have to quit being Eleanor Schorer. For the children would hardly recognize "Cousin Eleanor" in the person of Mrs. Hope.

A Year's Matrimonial Probation

Every day one may see a well-groomed man at his roll-top in a Fifth Avenue bank, attending to such duties as fall to the lot of a vice-president of a metropolitan bank. He is Thomas Clarke, one of the best known young men in banking circles. He is the husband of Elsie Ferguson. But the actress never mixes home life with stage life, and nobody ever hears of her as Mrs. Clarke. It is said she put him through a year of probation to see if he could stand the gaff of being husband to a celebrity, before she married him.

Of course most everybody knows that Michael Strange is Mrs. Jack Barrymore, and that she was Mrs. Leonard Thomas before that, and before that she was Blanche Oelrichs. She keeps to the masculine pen name for her writings, which include everything from a poem of passion to a play for her actor-husband.

So, likewise, does Ethel Barrymore remain herself in name while before the public eye, although her visiting cards bear the name, Mrs. Russell Griswold Colt. Nobody expected her to drop a name so thoroughly interwoven into stage history as hers.

Some years ago, if one asked anybody who Alexander P. Moore was, the answer would have been given: "Why, he's the Pittsburgh publisher and the champion of Teddy Roosevelt." But when he married Lillian Russell his name was not big enough to hide hers. The newspapers tried to print it "Mrs. Alexander P. Moore" and then gave it up as a bad job and went back to writing about Lillian Russell.

Folk knew something about Prof. Albert Leavitt, of the University of North Dakota, until he married Elsie Hill, chairman of the National Woman's Party. Then they began to talk about "the man Elsie Hill married," and she joined the league which stands for the maintenance of single names.

One of her compatriots in the suffrage movement, Doris Stevens, followed suit when she became the second wife of Dudley Field Malone. She says that she is going to be known as Doris Stevens, but Dudley Field Malone is so often in the spotlight that she will have more of a struggle than her sisters of the independence party.

Fola La Follette, actress-daughter of "Battle Bob," the senator, never insisted particularly upon holding her maiden name as a distinguishing mark, but nobody ever thinks of her as Mrs. George Middleton, although Mr. Middleton is a playwright of ability and a man who has made his own name worth while.

When Robert Tremain married Irene Castle it was his announced intention to allow Irene Castle to become a memory. But if one will take a stroll around the White Way, he will find the name "Irene Castle" in box car letters of incandescent light.

Amelie Rives is a personage in her own right, notwithstanding the fact that she is Princess Troubetskoy, and the further fact that mankind, as a rule, has a fancy for using titles and foreign names when they may be used at all. And there is Edith Wynne Mathison, the wife of Charles Rann Kennedy, and a whole list that would fill a volume.

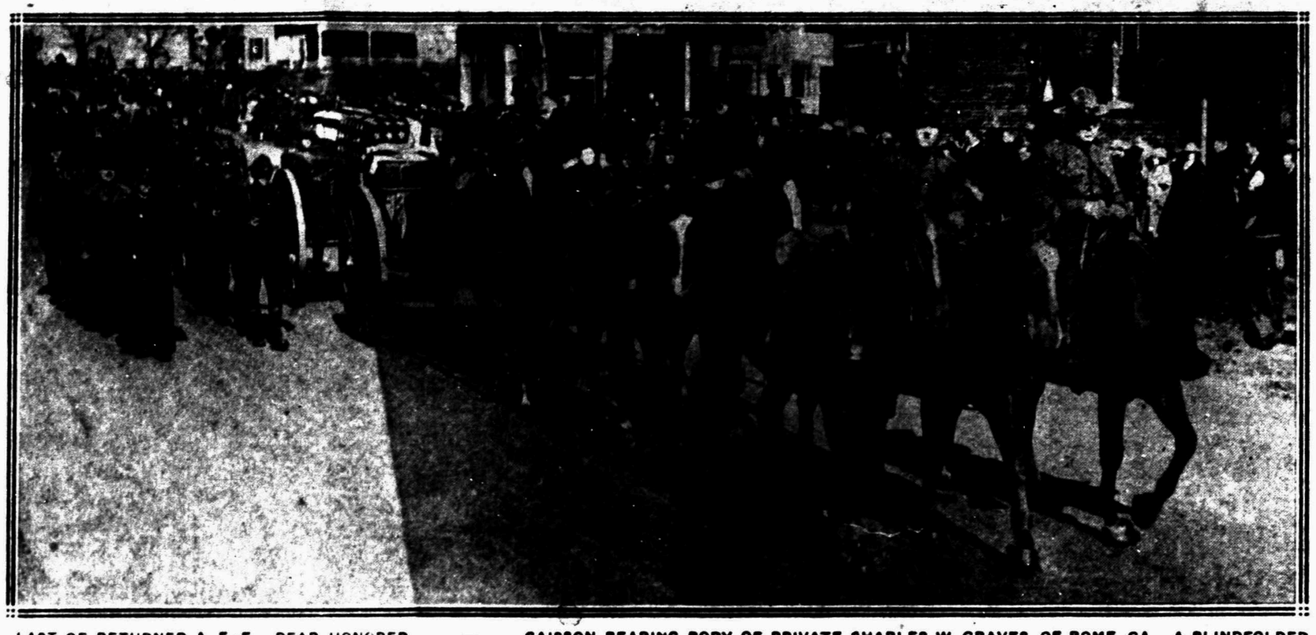

The new woman, and especially the new woman who has won her own way and her own fame, is going to hold onto her own name, and Mer-Man might as well look the situation in the face and be happy if he can. If he cannot, he may recall the words of Talleyrand:

"One must have loved a genius in order to appreciate the happiness of loving a fool."

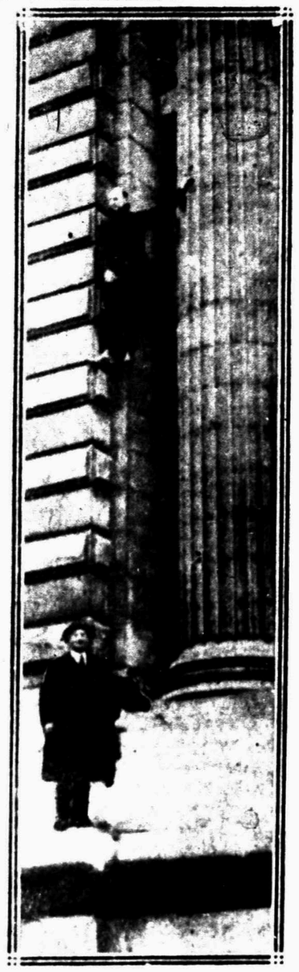

But somehow or other the man of the time doesn't seem to take to the Talleyrand idea, and there seems to be a lot of happiness to be derived from loving a genius.

TEXAS AND ITS POSSIBILITIES.

NOT many years ago the late Theodore Roosevelt visited Texas for the last time and declared that it was the garden of the Lord—not the garden of the gods. Governor Neff is completing a speaking tour of a vast section of Texas and he is of the same opinion as the great departed. He has touched points during the week never visited by a Texas governor before his coming. In all his speeches to the people of the counties traversed from Wichita to the Colorado foothills Governor Neff compared the state government to a huge ten billion dollar corporation in which 5 million people are the stockholders and the governor chairman of the board of directors and stated that he would like to see the stockholders take more interest in the corporation. He remarked incidentally that the moral misfits and the curbstone crooks never lost interest in the corporation but in an important election two years ago 250,000 qualified voters failed to go near the polls on election day—either primary or regular election. He made an appeal everywhere to all the voters as well as all the people to interest themselves in the future saying that a government is just as strong or just as weak as the people who make it. Why shouldn't all the stockholders in the 10 billion dollars corporation of Texas take more than a passing interest in the affairs of the corporation? They are stockholders; they are tax payers; they say they believe in economy; they believe in efficiency; they believe in the education of all the children of all the people. Then why shouldn't they be on the firing line when there are public servants to be elected and laws to be made?

NEWS ABOUT STATE

IT IS well for the people to know what is going on at the seat of government. Governor Neff has been telling the people of the West and Northwest Panhandle country something relative to the penitentiary system of this state. This system or penal institution owns thirteen farms, comprising 80,000 acres of land. There are now 3,500 convicts a gain of 1,000 since he went into office. More than 500 white men or boys under the age of 25 have been sent to the penitentiary within a year. Before the coming of Neff as governor there was 1,000 pardons or paroles granted every year and 1,000 new comers every year. This made it fifty-fifty as the incomers balanced the outgoers. Governor Neff has granted 86 pardons and paroles since he became governor and the convicts pardoned were without influence, without money, without friends on the outside, and the convict with friends on the inside alone hasn't a political or financial pull. He pardoned one man who had been in the penitentiary 28 years and no one knew how he got there or who had sent him there. There wasn't a black mark to his credit and all the fellow convicts of the unfortunate man insisted to the governor in reply to a straight question to the chief executive that the poor old chap was entitled to his freedom. Not a one of the 86 pardoned or paroled had a lawyer retained to ask for executive clemency or to plead his cause. Governor Neff is just as pronounced as ever against the suspended sentence law. He believes there is only one way to break up crime wave and that is drastic law enforcement and the punishment of the guilty as provided by the written laws of the commonwealth. There are more whites than blacks in the prisons of Texas. In the good old days there were more negroes than whites. Governor Neff is a Baptist. He says all denominations are represented among the convicts with the Baptist first, the Methodist second and the Catholics third. That is convicts gave these denominations as their religious affiliations before they had entered the road that leads to perdition. There are hundreds of convicts without religious affiliation. Now there are night schools for the convicts; religious instruction for the convicts and segregation. Old and incorrigible offenders are not herded with first offenders or young men who are looked upon as reclamation possibilities. There are prominent men in Texas, lawmakers and men who hope to be lawmakers, who would junk the penitentiary plants, sell the prison farms and utilize the labor of the convicts in the construction of public highways.

THE SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

GOVERNOR Neff told the people of the West and Northwest that the suspended sentence law was largely to blame for much of the crime wave in recent years. He said that every day appeals came into his office from Central and East Texas for aid in law enforcement but that none had come from the northwestern part of the state. The northwestern part of Texas is a white man's country. There are very few negroes or Mexicans. All the sheriffs are terrors to rum-makers or rum-runners. For more than a hundred miles on the trip Governor Neff road on a car that was captured from rum-runners. This car contains evidence of shot-gun strife. There are bullet holes visible. A western sheriff halted the car and was fired upon by its occupants. He was game. He captured the car but the rum-runners escaped. They are death on moonshiners and rum-runners in all the western and northwestern counties.

WHAT A SHERIFF SAID.

SHERIFF Brittain of Knox County traveled from Knox to Foard to pay his respects to the Governor of Texas. This is what the sheriff said to the Governor: "I am with you on law enforcement. I am with you for the repeal of the suspended sentence law. Our people believe that when a man has been convicted of crime he should pay the penalty regardless of his position in life or his wealth or poverty. There is only one way to put down crime. Enforce the written laws of Texas and punish the guilty." This pleased the chief executive. He is for law enforcement and he isn't for the suspended sentence law. He thanked the sheriff of Knox County and sent a message through the sheriff to the people of Knox County who stand for law enforcement, the punishment of the guilty, an economical administration of governmental affairs and the rapid development of the latent resources of the West.

TEXAS GEOGRAPHY.

IT IS well to tell the people of Texas something of the possibilities, potentialities, the principal products, the population as well as the romance of Texas history. Texas is the biggest of all states in area. Texas is the greatest of all states in its output of cotton, its output of petroleum, its livestock industry, its lumber and rice industry, its gas and lignite industry, its irrigation projects, its tilled acreas and its army of wealth producers on the farm who have made it the only billion dollar state. Texas has the longest coastline of any American state—600 miles on the Mexican Gulf. Texas ships its products to all civilized lands. Texas has 170,000,000 acres of land. Texas is a third larger than the old German Empire. There are counties in Texas larger than Rhode Island or Delaware. Texas is at the very door of the Panama Canal. West Texans are shipping their hogs to Los Angeles and San Francisco and their cotton to Pudget Sound and Pacific ports whence it is carried to Japan and China in the bottoms of Japanese ships. Texas is the only state of the Union that has a history. There is no other state that can claim a Goliad, an Alamo or a San Jacinto. There is no other state that worked out its own destiny and through choice alone became a member of the sisterhood. It is the proud boast of Governor Neff, born on a Texas farm in lowly walks of life, that the second highest office in the United States is the governor of Texas for the reason that Texas from every viewpoint and standpoint is the greatest of all American states. He has not exaggerated or overdrawn the picture. Texas produces all the cereals, all the vegetables and all the fruits and berries of the temperate zone and in the lower Rio Grande Valley all the fruits as well a all the oil product of the tropics are grown in rich profusion and the prediction is that in the coming years the California of America will be that section of Texas lashed by the waves of the Gulf of Mexico and made fruitful by the impounded waters of the Rio Grande River.

NEFF DOES NOT CRITICIZE.

WHAT did the governor talk about in the Northwest counties of Texas and the Northwest Panhandle country? Why, he discussed the health department and its cost, the market and warehouse department, the industrial accident board, the game and fish and oyster department, the reclamation department, the labor department, the educational department, state training schools for boys and girls—in fact all the departments and their costs to the stockholders in the ten billion dollar corporation of Texas. He had been governor a year and all the information he had gathered he spread before the people in the cities and towns and country cross-roads where duty and a love of the open called him. He made known the appropriations made by the legislature by all the departments, the estimates for the future made by the state board of control, the duplication of effort and expenditure of money in many departments. Always with the foreword that he was attempting to bring home to the people the fact that all these things are theirs and that they should know more about them. He made no criticisms. He advocated no change or reform but he stated that later in the year when he would announce as a candidate for renomination and re-election that he would formulate for the people a constructive program outlining definite policies, including law enforcement, with reference to public affairs and would then take all the public into his confidence. There are fifteen state senators to be elected this year and a full membership of the lower house. A constructive program will make state issues paramount and then candidates for legislative place will be given an opportunity to speak out and tell the people just where they stand.

FOR THE WRITTEN LAW.

GOVERNOR Neff does not believe fame-making or money-getting should be placed first. He does believe that as man passes through this world but once it is his paramount duty to render to the world the very highest and best service possible to make the world better than he found it and he insists that money making is not the highest mission of man but that real service to God and country and home should be his goal and chief ambition. As a sermonizer he excelled. His addresses everywhere were non-political although dealing with the affairs of this imperial commonwealth. He emphasized at all times the imperative necessity of written law enforcement, the participation of moral and law-abiding men and women in political affairs, the building of churches and colleges and schools and hospitals and the inculcation of the golden rule gospel everywhere regardless of religious creed, political affiliation, class or condition. He said repeatedly that he had a message of good will for all the people wherever he touched and "service" was his slogan in all his talks.

THE CREMATION OF SAM McGEE

By ROBERT W. SERVICE

ILLUSTRATED BY ROBERT TODD

There are strange things done in the midnight sun
By the men who moil for gold;
The Arctic trails have their secret tales.
That would make your blood run cold;
The Northern Lights have seen queer sights,
But the queerest they ever did see
Was that night on the marge of Lake Lebarge
I cremated Sam McGee.

NOW Sam McGee was from Tennessee, where cotton blooms and blows,
Why he left his home in the South to roam round the Pole, God only knows.
He was always cold, but the land of gold seemed to hold him like a spell;
Though he'd often say in his homely way that "he'd sooner live in hell."

On a Christmas Day we were mushing our way over the Dawson trail.
Talk of your cold: through the parka's fold it stabbed like a driven nail.
If our eyes we'd close, then the lashes froze till sometimes we couldn't see;
It wasn't much fun, but the only one to whimper was Sam McGee.

And that very night, as we lay packed tight in our robes beneath the snow,
And the dogs were fed, and the stars o'erhead were dancing heel and toe,
He turned to me, and "Cap," says he, "I'll cash in this trip I guess;
And if I do, I'm asking that you wouldn't refuse my last request."

Well, he seemed so low, that I couldn't say no, then he says with a sort of moan:
"It's the cursed cold, and it's got right hold till I'm chilled clean through to the bone.
Yet 'taint being dead—it's my awful dread of the icy grave that pains;
So I want you to swear that, foul or fair, you'll cremate my last remains."

A pal's last need is a thing to heed, so I swore I would not fail;
And we started on at the streak of dawn; but God! he looked ghastly pale.
He crouched on the sleigh, and he raved all day of his home in Tennessee;
And before nightfall a corpse was all that was left of Sam McGee.

There wasn't a breath in that land of death, and I hurried, horror-driven,
With a corpse half hid that I couldn't get rid, because of a promise given;
It was lashed to the sleigh, and it seemed to say: "You may tax your brawn and brains,
But you promised true, and it's up to you to cremate those last remains."

Now a promise made is a debt unpaid, and the trail has its own stern code.
In the days to come, though my lips were dumb, in my heart how I cursed that load.
In the long, long night, by the firelight while the huskies, round in a ring,
Howled out their woes to the homeless snows—O God! how I loathed the thing.

And every day that quiet clay seemed to heavier and heavier grow;
And on I went, though the dogs were spent and the grub was getting low;
The trail was bad, and I felt mad, but I swore I would not give in;
And I'd often sing to the hateful thing, and it hearkened with a grin.

Till I came to the marge of Lake Lebarge, and a derelict there lay;
It was jammed in the ice, but I saw in a trice it was called the "Alice May."
And I looked at it, and I thought a bit, and I looked at my frozen chum;
Then "Here," said I, with a sudden cry, "is my cre-ma-tor-eum."

Some planks I tore from the cabin floor, and I lit the boiler fire;
Some coal I found that was lying around, and I heaped the fuel higher;
The flames just soared, and the furnace roared—such a blaze you seldom see;
And I burrow a hole in the glowing coal, and I stuffed in Sam McGee.

Then I made a hike, for I didn't like to hear him sizzle so;
And the heavens scowled, and the huskies howled, and the wind began to blow.
It was icy cold, but the hot sweat rolled down my cheeks, and I don't know why;
And the greasy smoke in an inky cloak went streaking down the sky.

I do not know how long in the snow I wrestled with grisly fear;
But the stars came out and they danced about ere again I ventured near;
I was sick with dread, but I bravely said: "I'll just take a peep inside.
I guess he's cooked, and it's time I looked"; .....then the door I opened wide.

And there sat Sam, looking cool and calm, in the heart of the furnace roar;
And he wore a smile you could see a mile, and he said: "Please close that door.
It's fine in here, but I greatly fear you'd let in the cold and storm—
Since I left Plumtree, down in Tennessee, it's the first time I've been warm."

There are strange things done in the midnight sun
By the men who moil for gold;
The Arctic trails have their secret tales
The Northern Lights have seen queer sights,
That would make your blood run cold;
But the queerest they ever did see
Was that night on the marge of Lake Lebarge
I cremated Sam McGee.

ABOUT THE INSANE.

THERE are nearly 7,000 persons confined in the asylums of Texas and there are hundreds of insane persons in the jails and poorhouses of Texas. Insanity is increasing at a fearful and an alarming rate. In his address at Paducah in Cottle County, Governor Neff declared that some day he would make the most unpopular speech ever heard in the state and when he made this speech he would advocate a system that would prevent the breeding of the criminal insane under the skies of the commonwealth. Those who caught the full significance of his words understood. They grasped his meaning. The Governor believes in the sterilization plan of reducing the criminal insane as well as insane from tainted families in order to minimize their number in future years.

Ten fat jobs are to be created by congress and ten hungry republicans are to be given the fat jobs. Number of internal revenue collection districts are to be jumped from sixty-four to seventy-four. Poor old Jones! They promise him turkey and they feed him the feathers.

Voters Pay $2,500 for Blanton's Envelopes, Public Printer Says In Replying to Charges of Texan

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Public Printer George H. Carter in a recent speech at Chicago spoke specifically in answer to various attacks made on the government printing office by Representative Blanton of Texas, and for the first time publicly answered them.

In one speech Blanton is quoted as saying that if his fellow congressmen would help him he could send home 2,500 useless employees of the government printing office and that he had succeeded in bringing about a reduction of 700 employees. Mr. Carter said that Blanton "had no more to do with the reduction that he had to do with the invention of printing."

Referring to Blanton's charge of petty graft, specifying the practice of congressmen in having book binding done at government expense, the public printer said:

"The records of the government printing office show that Mr. Blanton himself has had his share of books bound at public expense, more than one hundred of them having been specially bound on his order at a cost of $277.

"In addition to this free binding at government expense, Mr. Blanton has ordered from the government printing office more than a million envelopes, to which he was entitled without charge, it is true, but for which the taxpayers of the country have had to pay $2,500, that his speeches might be franked throughout the country, also at government expense."
