BRITISH ARMY MEDICS TREAT WOUNDED VILLAGER
Settlement overrun, flamed in attack by Greek Cypriot forces

Fresh Violence Roars In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A chain reaction of violence threatened Cyprus today after Greek Cypriots burned a Turkish village, claiming the Turks had ambushed Greeks from a neighboring town.

Seven Turkish Cypriots and four Greek Cypriots were killed Thursday in the heaviest fighting since the cold feud between the two factions erupted again during the Christmas holiday.

The six-hour battle left the village of Ayios Sozomenos, 19 miles south of Nicosia, in flames. Its ramshackle huts were ablaze when British forces won a cease-fire.

The wails of Turkish women and children filled the air after the rattle of machine-gun fire died down.

British armored cars arrived shortly after noon, but it was dusk before British officers could persuade the two sides to lay down their guns.

Greek Cypriot police and civilian irregulars overran the village of some 30 homes after Greeks charged Turkish youths ambushed a police vehicle carrying a policeman and six Greek civilians on a daily journey to a water pump serving the Greek town of Athienou. The Greeks said the policeman and one civilian were killed and three others injured.

Police reinforcements chased the Turkish youths toward Ayios Sozomenos, but guns opened up from the village, the Greeks said.

The 1,200 Americans still on Cyprus were warned to stay in doors.

A U.S. Embassy official refused to confirm or deny reports there had been further threats against American property, but he said, "We are prepared." The embassy was bombed and two U.S.-owned cars were burned Tuesday night.

Final Tax Cut Okay Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appeared ready today to give its final approval, by an overwhelming margin, to the $11.6 billion tax cut bill.

Majority leader Mike Mansfield, calling his colleagues in two hours early for the sixth straight day, said he was confident the passage vote would come this afternoon.

Practically all individuals and corporations would get a break under the bill. Most individuals would get reductions of about 19 per cent.

IN CONTROL

One major hurdle remained for Johnson administration forces who have been in control throughout the long debate.

It was an amendment of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., to clamp on a $100 billion government spending ceiling so that the individual and corporate tax cuts in the bill would be rescinded any time federal outlays exceeded that figure.

The spending total for the current year ending June 30 is estimated at $98.4 billion. President Johnson has submitted a $97.9 billion budget for the year starting July 1.

UNWORKABLE

Democratic leaders expected to beat down the McClellan proposal with arguments that it would be inflexible and unworkable.

A second major amendment, to be voted on ahead of the spending limitation, would knock out the present stock option plan for corporation executives. It is offered by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

Some additional minor amendments may be offered but Mansfield obtained agreement to limit the time on any further proposed changes in the bill.

"A Man Of Mankind"

The career of Lyndon B. Johnson as a great Democratic leader is traced with many anecdotes and photos, in a 40-page magazine that is part of Sunday's Herald.

"Profile of a President" is the title of the magazine, written by a well-known Washington correspondent, Leslie Carpenter.

The magazine is something to be treasured by every Texan—indeed every American.

Czech Talks With Jailed Cuba Fishers

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—An official from the Czechoslovakian Embassy in Washington conferred today with 36 Cubans arrested for fishing in Florida waters. The normal water supply to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, appears to depend on their fate.

The Czech Embassy's first secretary, Frantisek Telicka, talked in the Monroe County Jail gymnasium with 29 adults held in lieu of $1,000 bond each. A report on the conversation was awaited.

JUVENILES

Then he conferred with seven juveniles, ordered freed Thursday by Criminal Court Judge Thomas Caro.

Telicka said he did not know how the seven youths would be returned to Cuba or when.

The 29 adult Cubans are held at the jail in a 10x20-foot cell without bunks.

Their conversation, heard outside the two-story red brick jail Thursday night, indicated they were unhappy.

"All Yankees to the firing squad," one said. After some laughter came the reply: "Yes, everybody practice shooting."

In Tallahassee, State Atty. Gen. James Kynes said Florida would not drop charges of fishing illegally in Florida waters against them because of Fidel Castro's threats. The Cubans could be fined $500 and sentenced to one year in jail.

COOPERATE

But Kynes emphasized that Florida would cooperate with the U.S. State Department in handling the case.

Cuba says it will partially cut water service to Guantanamo until the fishermen are released.

The Cubans were held incommunicado in Monroe County jail. They spent the night on the floor and benches after eating a meal of Cuban "picadillo"—a spicy hash—prepared by the jail's Cuban cook.

Seven juveniles in an original group of 38 caught fishing off Florida's Dry Tortugas, 65 miles west of here, occupied a separate cell.

Lavish Resort Home Offered

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos will enjoy a spectacular hillside view of this desert resort when they meet for talks later this month.

Wealthy real estate man Louis Taubman has offered the President use of his lavish stone and glass home, nestled on the slope of mountains two miles west of here.

President and Mrs. Johnson are expected to stay at the Taubman home and Johnson is slated to meet with Lopez Mateos there beginning Feb. 21.

The Mexican president will stay at the Riviera Hotel in Palm Springs.

Tense Alabama Expecting Negro Demonstrations

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Tension grew in Alabama's racial difficulties today in the face of expected protest demonstrations by Negro students at Tuskegee Institute.

There was less apprehension at nearby Notasulga but a white boycott of newly desegregated Shorter High School gained momentum. Six Negro pupils remained in the school without disorder.

An estimated 300 students marched quietly around the Tuskegee Institute campus Thursday in what appeared to be a trial run for protests to come.

The dean of students, Dr. S. Bertrand Phillips, said the students would remain on campus through today, but after that, "I can't be sure."

City officials rejected an application for a parade permit.

The Notasulga High School, still segregated despite a federal court order to admit six Negroes two days ago, remained closed while city officials rushed repairs on a fire-damaged filter plant at the municipal waterworks. Mayor James Rea said he hoped the Notasulga High School and two other schools closed because of the water shortage could be reopened Monday.

Rights Bill Advances With Warning By South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House moved into the final stages of the civil rights fight today with a threat that unpleasant things will happen if the leadership tries to speed the bill to a final vote.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, served warning that delaying tactics may be resorted to if efforts are made to cut off debate.

Smith sounded the warning after minority leader Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., sought approval for the House to meet before noon today and Saturday so a final vote can be taken by Saturday night.

Republicans want to have the 10-part bill behind them when they take to the speakers platform around the nation next at Lincoln Day rallies.

Halleck's request called for unanimous consent under the House rules, and Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., taking his cue from Smith's warning, made the single objection needed to block it.

Smith said the Democratic leadership had promised that no effort to cut off debate would be made if the bill could be finished by next Tuesday. Halleck said he had an agreement with the Democrats to finish the bill by Saturday night.

After Williams blocked an early session Halleck said "If motions are made to terminate debate, I'm going to support them."

"If efforts are made to violate solemn agreements," replied Smith, referring to the arrangement to finish by next Tuesday, "some unpleasant things can happen."

The fight over debate-limiting came as the opposing forces neared a major battleground of the 1964 civil rights act—the section dealing with equal job opportunities for Negroes.

The provision is one of two remaining tough ones. The other one would authorize the cutting off of federal funds for programs in which racial discrimination is practiced.

LBJ, Aides Mapping New Cuba Strategy

Fidel Softens In Water Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and his top military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers met for nearly two hours today on how to deal with the new Cuban crisis over the cutoff of water from the Guantanamo Naval Base.

There was no immediate announcement of any decisions on what to do about the new gesture from Fidel Castro.

At the Capitol, meanwhile, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, expressed full confidence Johnson will see to it that the United States is not "parched out" of the Caribbean base.

It is obvious "we have no intention of being pressured out" of Guantanamo, Mansfield told the Senate.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, acting Republican leader, commended Mansfield's statement.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara headed the group of advisers who met with Johnson on U.S. counteraction.

Cuba cut off the base water supply Thursday and first advised the United States it would remain off until 38 Cuban fishermen seized off the Florida coast last Sunday are released. The men are charged with illegal fishing in U.S. waters.

Johnson, in a speech in New York Thursday night before flying back to the capital, said the Castro government's cutting the flow of fresh water to the U.S. Guantanamo Naval Base had been expected sooner or later and contingency plans are already in force to keep the base supplied "indefinitely."

TO HAVE WATER

"Our troops in Cuba and their families will have the water they need," he declared.

Originally Havana announced it was shutting off all water to the big base until the United States released all of the 36 Cuban fishermen arrested for sailing into U.S. territorial waters.

But at a news conference Thursday night, Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared Cuba had no desire "to harm civilians, including women and children" and would therefore supply the base with water for their needs for one hour a day, from 8 to 9 a.m.

But he stressed the cut-off would remain in effect for the rest of the time and that "we are ready to fight before accepting humiliation and blackmail."

Seemingly a greater threat than a water shortage was the danger the dispute would grow and involve prestige and cold war rivalry of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Johnson advisers were said to be studying evidence that the penetration of U.S. territorial waters by the Cuban fishermen was staged by Havana to provoke an incident.

In line with that, the Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba quoted a defector from the trawler crews as saying the Castro government deliberately sent the vessels into U.S. waters.

"All of us knew we were going to fish in Florida waters," the Cuban, Reynaldo Saniz Romero, was quoted. "Anyone who says anything else is lying."

He said the men were told what to say if they were caught.

Some officials questioned whether the arrest of the fishermen was really the reason for Havana's action and Johnson referred to it as an "excuse."

COORDINATED

The officials noted the turning off of the water could have been coordinated with the Soviet Union's warning that the seizure Sunday of the fishermen and their boats off Florida could lead to disastrous consequences.

Thus there was speculation Castro might be setting the stage for a new crisis to try to force the United States to abandon its base on his island.

Johnson, who interpolated his statement on Guantanamo into his New York speech after receiving notes on the matter from his aides, said the State Department had clearly established the fishing vessels were inside U.S. territorial waters.

"The captains of these boats reported this fact by radio to Havana just before the arrest came," he added.

The President said that since Castro allied himself with the Soviet Union the United States has known "that he would some day cut off the water to Guantanamo base. We have made such plans for such an eventuality."

Johnson, who spoke before Castro's pledge to supply an hour's flow of water a day, said there was enough water at the base to last for 12 days and "in addition to which water can be brought in and will be brought in indefinitely by ship from Port Everglades, Fla."

Heart Fund Tags On Sale

Rainbow Girls Saturday will be performing their annual service to the Heart Fund by becoming salesgirls of lapel tags which call attention to the heartbreak associated with cardiovascular disease and the battle being waged to overcome them.

As in the past, the girls will be contacting shoppers and others in the downtown business area of Big Spring. All are welcome to wear lapel tags. All that is asked is that some donation be given in exchange to the Howard County Heart Fund campaign this year. Last year the Rainbow Girls raised $90 through lapel tag sales.

In Big Spring, the girls will work in two shifts. Mrs. Orbin Daily, said. A group of perhaps a dozen girls will work from 10 a.m. to noon and a second group of 15-16 will take over then for another two-hour shift. They will have their headquarters in the Settles Hotel lobby.

Freshman Future Homemaking girls at Coahoma will be performing the same chore there Saturday morning.

Another activity of the current heart drive is a telephone campaign being conducted by members of the Student Squadron Wives club at Webb Air Force Base. They are trying to recruit volunteers to participate in the Heart Sunday canvass Feb. 23.

Mistrial Ruled For Beckwith

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A mistrial was declared today in the trial of Byron De La Beckwith, a crusading segregationist charged with murdering a Negro civil rights leader.

Circuit Court Judge Leon Hendrick declared the mistrial after the all-white jury, called for individual polling at the end of about 12 hours' deliberation, declared themselves hopelessly deadlocked.

Beckwith sat quietly, his hands clasped in his lap as the judge asked individual jurors if there was any hope of a verdict.

Early predictions had been that the case would end in quick acquittal because of the deep passions due to racial aspects.

The 43-year-old fertilizer salesman from Greenwood, Miss., was charged with shooting Medgar Evers in the back with a high-powered rifle. Evers was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The courtroom was under heavy police guard. Spectators were searched before being allowed to sign in.

Judge Hendrick thanked the 12 jurors for their services, dismissed them and remanded on.

Beckwith to the sheriff's custody.

Dist. Atty. William Waller commented after learning the verdict:

"Well, that was our second expectation. Our first was a guilty verdict."

No immediate date was set for the retrial. The next term of Circuit Court opens in March.

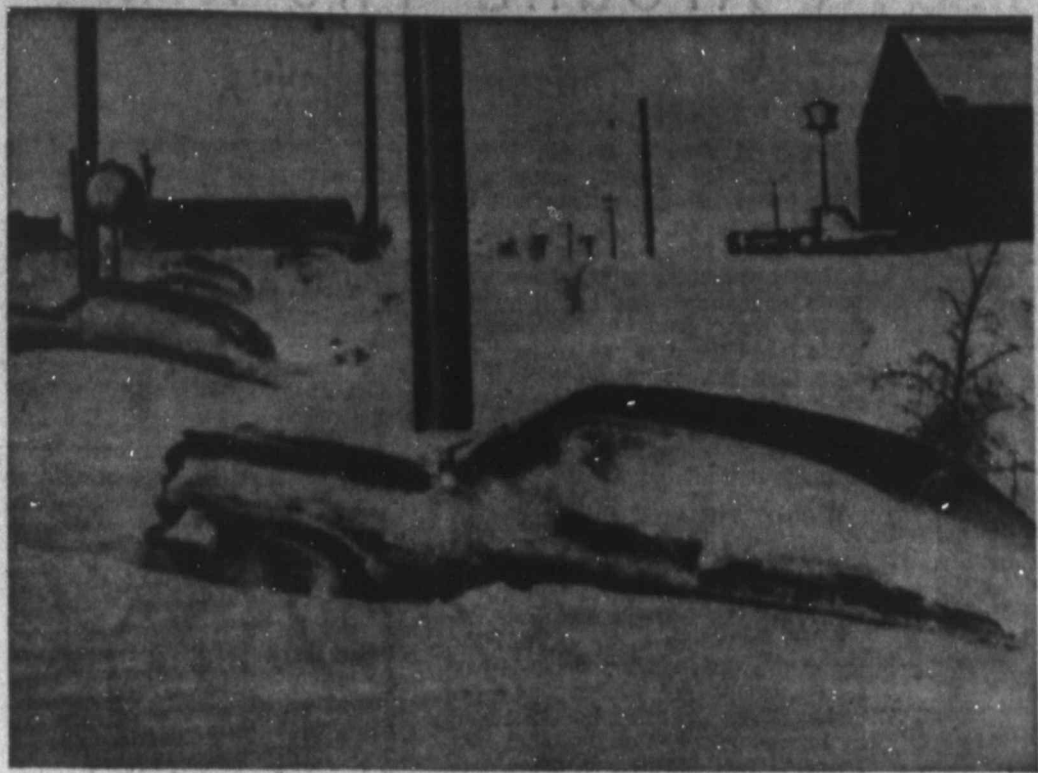

During the morning, one-time Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, who resigned from the Army in a quarrel over politics, walked into the courtroom. Beckwith rose from the defense table and walked to the railing to shake hands with Walker, now a right-wing political spokesman.

Walker stood talking to Beckwith and Mrs. Beckwith for about a minute before moving on.

Life Saved By Radio Hams

P. C. Coates, 52-year-old rancher, is comforted by his wife, Rachel, at a Fort Stockton, Texas, hospital where he is recovering from a heart attack. Coates suffered the attack on his ranch, 55 miles from Fort Stockton, and put in a call for help on his short wave radio. Two radio hams in Houston, 500 miles away, heard the call and were able to call Fort Stockton and have an ambulance and doctor rushed to the ranch. (AP WIRE- PHOTO)

AUTOMOBILES LIE IN SNOWY DITCH AT BORGER
Fresh storm follows 26-inch that paralyzed Panhandle area

Mercury Sags In Fresh Snow Wave

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dropped to 5 above zero today in the Southwest where unusual back-to-back blizzards paralyzed entire communities and marooned thousands of travelers.

But skies cleared in the region giving relief from the snow and cold. One blizzard began Monday and another struck Thursday.

The new cold air mass, with snow-whipping winds, complicated attempts to clear highways of as much as 30 inches of snow and to get supplies to isolated towns. Temperatures should rise sharply during the day, however, the Weather Bureau said.

WITH TANKS

Three counties in New Mexico were declared emergency areas—San Miguel, Union and Quay counties—and about 100 National Guardsmen worked with M42 tanks to take ranch families to town.

Unless the new storm keeps temperatures below twenty degrees the economic damage was expected to be light.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said the over-all effect of moisture in long-parched areas greatly offset any immediate damages.

The biggest losses so far come from cattle being slaughtered when they wandered onto railroad tracks. Other livestock were being taken feed in six-wheel drive trucks and were expected to survive the weather unless the freeze intensified.

TEN ARE DEAD

At least 10 persons were known dead, five in Texas and five in New Mexico. Helicopters from Cannon Air Force Base scoured the countryside for families who needed help and other possible victims.

Skies cleared Thursday night over New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle, after the new blizzard's blast of snow ended in mid-afternoon.

Early today, temperatures were as low as six degrees at Amarillo, 10 at Dalhart and 18 at Lubbock. They ranged upward to 59 degrees at the opposite end of the state, in McAllen and Brownsville. No precipitation was reported.

Forecasts for Texas through Saturday were clear to partly cloudy for northern areas and mostly cloudy in the south with occasional rain tonight.

The Weather Bureau said it should be colder today but warmer Saturday. Skies were generally clear over Northwest

Institute On Water Suggested

LUBBOCK — An institute to provide a continuing program for development of West Texas water will be proposed during a Water Conference today at Texas Tech.

An institute charter will be presented and voted on by representatives of business, the petroleum industry, agriculture and government, Tech agriculture dean Gerald Thomas said. Tech president R. C. Goodwin has appointed Thomas institute chairman to initiate institute activities.

The proposed agency would tackle specific problems of using water resources in West Texas through programs of education and research. It would draw its officers and membership from all area businesses and professions interested in the problem.

"West Texas has water problems that are uniquely its own, problems that can be solved only by those who have a direct interest in water utilization in the area," Thomas said.

Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere over the state. The only road still reported closed in the two states was U.S. 66 from northeast of Amarillo at White Deer, Tex., to the Oklahoma border.

STILL CRAWLING

Activity on highways was still at the crawling stage, however, as blowing snowdrifts kept the icy roads dangerously narrow. One-lane traffic only was permitted in some areas.

Snow chains were at a premium. Amarillo stores sold out early in the week, and one of the last buyers had to pay $25 to get his pair.

Most schools remained closed until Monday. West Texas State College in Canyon and Amarillo College, were among the few planning to register students today.

CROPS HELPED

Wheat farmers benefited most from the snow. Their crops, dormant from the long winter drouth, stood a good chance to revive with the moisture.

Unless the new blizzard lets loose another smothering blanket of moisture, farmers said, they will have gotten "a million dollar snow."

Wool growers in eastern New Mexico said the wet quality of the snow would help their lamb crops.

Homicide Ruled

FORT WORTH (AP)—Justice of the Peace Whit Boyd ruled the death of Raymond Lopez Benavides, a cook's helper at Texas Christian University, was homicide.

The body of Benavides, 21, an ex-convict from Corpus Christi, was found Saturday beside the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad tracks.

Airman Frozen To Death Seeking Milk For Babies

STINNETT (AP) — A young airman stationed at Salina, Kan., and the others continued on to the house.

Rescue party members told this story: Lamb and two companions, Richard Wayne Verdon of Amarillo and Eddie Allen, who lives at the ranch, set out on foot Tuesday morning during the height of the storm in search of milk.

The swirling snow cut visibility to zero, and after they had walked about three miles they decided to return to the house. About 1,000 yards from the house young Lamb stopped and told his companions, "I'll be all right. I just have to rest."

He stretched out in the snow, and the others continued on to the house.

FOUND FROZEN

One of the two, rescuers were not certain which one, returned with the grandfather to get young Lamb but found him frozen to death. They covered the body with a blanket and buried it in the snow.

Verdon and Allen made another attempt Thursday to get milk for the babies and to replenish the ranch's food supply.

As they walked through the deep drifts they met the bulldozer crew.

Lamb's body was later taken to Borger, Tex.

"What is your life?"

It is even a vapor, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away" for the future; his future includes this life and death and the life to come. Only the faithful Christian can face the future with confidence. He has obeyed his Lord. His sins have been forgiven, and he is living the Christian life . . . with the assurance of life eternal.*

In meeting the problems of life, the Christian realizes that "it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jeremiah 10:23). He therefore avails himself of the rich resources of God's word to guide his steps. He is not unduly concerned with material values since he has learned of the true riches that are eternal (Matthew 6:19, 20). He is not promised freedom from illness or tragedy but he does have the promise that "all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose" (Romans 8:28). Regardless of what may happen or when, he is prepared. His soul is safe in God's keeping and cannot be harmed by accidents, illness, or atomic blasts. Truly, he has "the peace which passeth all understanding" (Philippians 4:7).

Are you a Christian? Jesus said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28). Indeed, Christianity offers the solutions to all the problems of life.

"Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. What is your life? For ye are a vapor that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away" (James 4:14).

Are you a Christian?

*He believes in Jesus as the Son of God (John 3:16).

He repented of his sins (Acts 2:38).

He confessed Christ's name before men (Romans 10:9, 10).

He was immersed for the remission of sins (Acts 22:16; Romans 6:3, 4).

He is living a faithful Christian life (Revelation 2:10).

Newspapers report daily of those who have departed this life. Some have a sudden illness, some have a heart attack and others die from accidents. Truly, life hangs by a thread. Each time we travel the highways we risk the chance that one slight mistake by a sleepy or drinking driver may terminate our lives in a grinding head-on crash. Add to this the recurrent world crises with the possibility of atomic warfare. If this occurs multiplied millions of people will suddenly be annihilated.

For anyone to face these facts and yet feel that "this couldn't happen to me," is sheer folly. The hazards of illness and sudden death are a very real part of everyday living. In view of this, thousands of people are extremely uneasy. While trying to ignore the frightening hazards of this age they engage in frantic activity and become engrossed in social and material affairs. They work hard at being "happy," but underneath it all they realize that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (Luke 12:15).

The wise person faces the facts. Instead of burdening himself with useless anxieties, he plans

A Devotional For The Day

He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good: and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? (Micah 6:8)

PRAYER: O Father, we pray that our religion may not be one of form and ritual only. May we keep in mind the teachings of Thy prophets of old and the example of Thy blessed Son, who came not to be ministered unto but to minister. In His name we ask, Amen.

Pardon Our Pride

Big Spring and Colorado City can pop a few buttons with pride in the accomplishment of two young people.

Douglas H. Brandon, Big Spring High School, and Anne Rhode, Colorado City High School, each are among eight students in the area to qualify as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition. Previously they had qualified as semi-finalists, which put them among the elite in academic accomplishments. As finalists, there is no assurance they will share in the 1,600 Merit Scholarship awards, but as finalists we are assured that they rank in the upper one half of one per cent of all the high school seniors in the nation. This is an accomplishment of no mean proportions, the sort of thing that gives parents, the school and community just pride. At a time when it seems sometimes that all the glory is centered in other arenas, it is stimulating — yes reviving — to spotlight the achievements of the mind.

Please Don't Ask

There are some questions in this life which should never be asked. For example: Are cow's ears in front or behind the horns?

This nettlesome and completely unnecessary question was raised in a quiz program on an Australian radio station. A woman contestant answered "behind" and was told she was wrong. The station's telephone began to ring almost immediately. One farmer called to say "I've just been out to look at my cows, and the ears are definitely behind the horns."

Now in a quandary the radio station asked for an authoritative answer from a professor from the University of Sydney's department of veterinary science.

"The area to which the root of the ear is attached is almost directly under the horns," the professor replied. "But when the animal pricks up its ears they tend to be forward and when it is frightened it tucks them back. Also, when it has its face down the ears are behind the horns and with its face up the ears are in front. However, when it is standing normally a cow's ears tend to be slightly in front of the horns."

Talk about asking for bread and being given a stone! What kind of answer is that which alternately places the ears in front of, then behind, the horns? In the face of this there's no use going outside and surveying Old Bossy. You're hooked either way you go.

The question should never have been asked. It's sure to haunt the waking hours and trouble the dreams of Grandpa sleeps with his beard under or over the cover.

Where Is Wilson's Idealism?

WASHINGTON—Forty years ago this week—on Feb. 3, 1924—Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington. The anniversary has passed almost unnoticed. Yet it was a notable event in world history, for it not only marked the demise of a great President but called widespread attention to the decline of American idealism as a moral force in the world.

PRESIDENT WILSON had failed at Paris to convince the pragmatic leaders of Europe that the time had come to put idealism above commercialism, and he also had failed at home to convince the voters that a League of Nations needed American participation.

The diplomacy of those days was not far different from what it is today—each government in Europe was primarily concerned with what it could get in the way of territory and what financial benefits could be derived from colonies or possessions. In vain, Mr. Wilson had cried out for the principle of self-determination of peoples. But, in the few instances where independence was granted, a selfish imperialism soon took it away.

THERE ARE STILL some persons in the press and in public life who remember vividly those troublesome times. Herbert Hoover, for instance, who had served as food administrator in Europe under Mr. Wilson and for eight years as a member of the Cabinet before he was elected President in 1928, wrote a book entitled "The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson." It was published in 1958, and one passage said:

"The United Nations' organization except in one particular, follows very closely the pattern of Woodrow Wilson's League. But the admission of aggressive dictatorship to its membership would never have been accepted by Woodrow Wilson. He conceived the League as an association of free nations—not to include men and dictatorships conspiring for its ruin. He stated among his principles of peace:

"... ONLY FREE peoples can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common end and prefer the interests of mankind to any narrow interest of their own."

"A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within it or observe its covenants. It must be a league of honor."

But today's "liberal" argues for "peaceful co-existence," commercial trade with aggressor nations, abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine and surrender to what is called "realistic facts."

AS FOR "self-determination" of peoples, the "liberal" politicians of today—who are interested, for example, in winning the Negro vote in the United States—may ardently espouse the cause of independence among the African nations, but they have just about forgotten the captive peoples in Eastern Europe, as well as the people in China, whom the United States for decades endeavored to help. Nowadays, however, the government in Moscow is accepted as a partner in the United Nations by this country as well as by the major countries of the Western World, and shortly Red China, another Communist dictatorship, probably will be admitted to the international organization. All this is supposed to come under the heading of "practicality" in present-day diplomacy. Those who reflect the true liberalism and morality of yesterday are labelled as "reactionaries" or "war-mongers."

Billy Graham

I admire and respect people like you who believe in God, but tell me: How can you believe in God in a world like this with all its injustices and turmoil? If God made this world He has nothing to boast about!

Intellectually, it is much more difficult not to believe in God than to believe in Him.

If you rule out the possibility of things, from whence came the matter and energy which formed the universe?

From whence come the laws that govern the universe?

From whence come beauty, goodness, love?

You say you do not believe in God because of the evil in the world. How then do you explain the patience, the loyalty, the self-sacrifice in the world? How do you explain Livingstone and those missionaries who took the Gospel to the Aucas Indians, knowing full well they might die in the attempt? More difficult than all, how do you explain Jesus Christ, His selfless, selfless life, His noble death, His resurrection? His influence today in the world, 2,000 years after He lived upon earth? How do you explain His power to change the lives of people today?

If you do not believe in God you've certainly got a lot of explaining to do. If and when you are able to explain these and many other difficulties of your point of view, drop me a note and tell me if such explaining has brought you peace of heart and mind.

Water Issue Finds U.S. Embarrassed With Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sheer embarrassment of power from which this country suffers was reflected best, perhaps, in Congress as Fidel Castro cut off most of the water supply of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo in Cuba.

One member after another Thursday got up to say this country must do something, while being vague on what. Not Sen. Barry Goldwater, up in New Hampshire campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination.

He had a very simple solution:

Send in the Marines to turn on the water. But the answer isn't quite that simple, as President Johnson decided later.

WHILE this country has the power to crush Castro in a minute, it first has to worry about a couple of other things, either of which, if it happened, might do more damage than Castro:

1. It must be careful how it throws its power around at a time when it is preaching reasonable settlements, trying to influence small and backward nations, and arguing their right to self-determination.

2. It doesn't know what Russia would do. If this country took military action against Castro and Russia leaped to his defense, what started out as a minor foray would be a world war.

RUSSIA, THE other big master power, suffers exactly the same problems, never knowing what to expect from this country if it gets aggressive.

Thus the two giants, clothed in more power than any nations in history, are in a dreadful kind of stand-off. A war between them would destroy them both, and aggression by either would unhinge their influence.

Nobody understands this embarrassing immobility of the giants better than French President Charles de Gaulle. He feels free to butt in all over, talking of French prestige while looking for business for French traders.

AND CERTAINLY Castro and others, like Panama, understand it. Both Cuba and Panama have defied the United States but in such a way—by arguing legality—as to have some plausibility and win sympathy.

This country could make life easier for itself by yielding to Castro and releasing the prisoners, provided he turned on the water again. But this would be a Castro victory.

The Castro and Panamanian defiance, if successful, would be an encouragement to other small nations, knowing this country's embarrassment of power, to twist its nose at a time when the United States is trying to play big friend, if not big brother, to small nations.

THE UNITED States can't take direct action without appearing an aggressor. If it stands pat, some will look on it as a bully. If it yields, it may be considered a patsy.

Johnson said Thursday night this country will supply the base with water from Florida. Since he said the United States could keep this up "indefinitely," it may be a long dispute.

Hives Or Urticaria A Form Of Allergy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Instead of affecting eyes and nose, as with hay fever, or causing digestive upsets as foods can do, hives or urticaria is a red, blotchy, itchy wheal.

Hives usually occur suddenly, sometimes within 20 minutes of contact with whatever is causing it, sometimes longer, but usually within a fairly short time.

This gives the patient at least a sporting chance of noting what has been eaten, or touched, or experienced, shortly before the hives appeared.

It can be foods—and it may be that a food can be eaten (seafoods are an example) in small quantities without reaction, but causes trouble in larger quantities, or under certain circumstances. I refer here principally to the presence of nervous tensions, but there are others.

It can be the result of something you touch, and I've seen people break out from such diverse things as shrubs in a garden, a neighbor's cat and eating strawberries.

Nuts, chocolate, vegetables, sunlight, cold, menstruation, drugs, violent emotional upsets, injected extracts (such as pollen extracts) and a few more examples.

If eating or contact with the particular factor stops, so, in a short time, will the hives. Repeated contacts, however, will bring new attacks.

At the immediate time, however, it is often possible to subdue the hives quickly. Antihistamine drugs usually give quick relief, since allergy involves an excessive release of histamine in the body. Counteracting it allows the body to return to normal.

In severe cases, and particularly if the breathing is involved to the point of jeopardy—and this can happen—injection of adrenalin or one of the steroid drugs may be necessary as an emergency measure.

Allergy in some forms becomes downright dangerous. I'll continue the subject tomorrow.

Dear Dr. Molner: Referring to your statement that sunflower seeds "won't help your eyes or anything else. Let the birds eat 'em." These seeds when shelled and toasted with corn oil and salt are delicious. They taste like nuts. I have been eating two teaspoonsful after meals and believe they have helped me keep healthy. I am 74.

May I have your comments, please?—M.F.

I have nothing against sunflower seeds if you like them. What I said was that they contain no magic formula for health, nor does any single food. There are multiple sources for every constituent of nourishment.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write in care of the Herald for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Christmas Is Coming

Nearly 11 months remain before Christmas, but already merchants have taken the decorations bull by the horns in an effort to bring it down before the season is past.

The merchants splurged several years and from what I gather, the results were good. An economical route taken the past two years, however, has proved to be a flop in spite of the work of several individuals and firms who gave more than their share of time and money to try to make it work out.

ONE OF THE problems brought out at a meeting of the retail committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce only this week was that in the past two years there has been no specific goal—no cost figure—to offer the men and women who have to pay for the decorations. This may be overcome in 1964. The group hopes to have a plan for decoration to offer and specific cost figures for each business person. Some have given generously each year; others have not been quite so cooperative. Cards on prospective shapers in the cost will be brought up to date to make it a genuine community project.

IF I MAY BE so bold, let me say that I hope last year's idea of an immense display in a single area will be discarded. This may be fine for the few in the immediate vicinity of it, but it won't lure much money out of merchants in other areas. The idea that all will benefit from it because of the Christmas spirit generated sounds fine, but let's be practical.

THE NEARER a display is to each store or firm, the more likely it is that a part of that Christmas spirit will be translated into gifts in those stores. This is especially true if the family makes a trip a joint venture to look at decorations and do a mite of shopping.

One observation I have made about Christmas decorations is that nothing is quite as effective as lights—rows and rows of them. Some smaller communities which cannot afford massive displays do no more than line their courtyards with lights, often streaming strings of them to the ground. The effect is simple, but impressive. We have in our midst a perfect example of the effectiveness of lights. Cooden's refinery east of Big Spring stands out like a jewel against the night sky and travelers from any direction are impressed with its beauty.

IN AUSTIN, Congress Avenue is a row of strings of lights each year. No attempt is made to change it, yet I know families who drive 30 or 40 miles each year just to look at them. And most of them take advantage of stores which are open late during that time of the year.

Merchants might take a cue from this. Simplicity is often more effective than clutter. —JOE BEYER

Bulging Storehouse Of Destruction

WASHINGTON—Twenty tons of dynamite for every human being on this globe—that is one measure of the incredible store of nuclear explosives on both sides of the Great Divide.

Yet if only because it is so far beyond the scale of human understanding, no measurement can convey the meaning of these great storehouses of death. This reporter the other day was given by a high official of the government, on a strictly off the record basis, a figure for the volume of nuclear explosives in place in Western Europe, virtually all in the American stockpile.

WITH THE TWO bombs that wiped out Hiroshima and Nagasaki as a reference, it is sufficient, in an exchange with a comparable arsenal on the other side of the Iron Curtain, to destroy everything—every human being, every landmark of Western culture—in half-an-hour to an hour. The European stockpile — tactical nuclear weapons and bombs — is only a fraction of America's total stockpile.

In the new defense budget a small beginning has been made at checking the growth of this vast accumulation. How small the start is in cutting back the production of fissionable material, defense officials make abundantly clear when they try to look ahead to further cuts.

IN THE PAST three years, the rate of production of nuclear weapons has increased by 50 per cent. Proposed in the new budget is no more than a slowdown in this rate of increase. This is to be done by closing three reactors at Hanford, Wash., and one at Savannah River, S. C., for a saving over two years, of $125,000,000.

The inevitable pressure to keep defense payrolls is the biggest roadblock in the way of cutting back not only the overgrown nuclear arsenal but the whole swollen total of the defense establishment. There is only one way to remove this roadblock. That is by making a start at planned reconversion to peacetime production.

SEVERAL PROPOSALS have been put forward. One is Sen. George McGovern's bill calling for a reconversion commission to line up private enterprise with every level of government, national, state and local, to find new peacetime work for those made jobless by armament contract cut-backs. Without a sense of urgency expressed in hearings to show the dimension of what must be done, any real disarmament will be stalled.

Republic Aviation on Long Island, N. Y., with a payroll a few years ago of up to 90,000, is an example. For more than two years McNamara has been standing off the New York congressional delegation which is determined to continue defense contracts for Republic. As the big payroll has been steadily cut back, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has warned that Long Island could become a distressed area.

THE DEFENSE Department under McNamara is moving to cushion the blow when obsolete bases are shut down. But as top engineers and technicians are let out—1,200 in Sperry Gyroscopes, as an instance—major adjustments can be made only by a far-reaching effort. Sixty per cent of all the aviation industry has been living on military contracts and much of this will go in the years ahead.

Overkill is a dangerous word, full of technical pitfalls. Prof. Seymour Meilman of Columbia University says our own overkill is 1,250 times. However gross an exaggeration that may be, measured in Pentagon specifics, it is surely worse than futile to fill new storehouses with more killer capacity.

FORTUNATELY in McNamara, President Johnson has a Secretary of Defense with the ability and the courage to move against any and all obstacles to gain that end. And the President has placed the highest confidence and trust in the secretary. (Copyright, 1964, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

One Way Of Licking The Government

Fellow citizens, I ask you to remember two glorious names the next time some viewer-with-alarm mounts a soapbox and begins to decry the fact that all Americans are sad sacks from whom the rugged individualism of the old frontier has drained and have become Caspar Milquetoasts cut from the same gray flannel mold.

Along with the Alamo and the Maine, remember the name of Edward I. Striegel of Grand View, Idaho, who not only decided to fight city hall but licked the stuffing out of it.

MR. STRIEGEL singlehandedly took on the U. S. Air Force, the Strategic Air Command and, by inference, the awesome Department of Defense, including Secretary Robert McNamara, and won by a knockout.

Mr. Striegel, one of 230 souls who live in Grand View, a private telephone system with fewer than 1,000 subscribers. A perfect exemplar of the free enterprise system, of the small, hustling business organizations that made this country rich, and of the American way, Mr. Striegel out-finned other and bigger bidders for a $555,000 contract to build the communication systems to two of the three mighty Titan missile sites around the vast Mountain Home Air Force Base near Boise, Idaho.

THE LITTLE utilities company had to float a loan to swing what for it was a big deal. But Gem State and Mr. Striegel delivered on time and satisfactorily, for the Air Force accepted the finished job a year and a half ago.

Then came the dawn for the utilities company and its general manager: Both discovered it wasn't easy to make that great, faceless, nebulous colossus known vaguely as "the government" pay up. Jack Murphy, attorney for Gem State Utilities, went to Omaha, Neb., SAC's home base, and—in his own words—after "five different go-rounds" managed to collect all that was owed except $41,378.03.

AND THERE the case rested for months. So, after considerable brooding, Mr. Striegel did what he would long since have done to any other delinquent customer. He cut off telephone service to the two missile sites. (A stand-by communications facility went into instant operation.)

Now, undoubtedly this was naughty of Mr. Striegel. Missile sites must have communications. But picture the Striegel plight. Utilities, especially small ones, must have the money owed them. And "the government"—always worrying about the health of small business—had certainly been an indifferent debtor.

AT ALL ODDS, Mr. Striegel did what all Americans are supposed to do, and in these times are so often accused of avoiding: he took direct action. He pulled the plug on the missile sites, but only for one hour and 30 minutes.

And what happened? Exactly what always happened to the heroes of "Luck and Pluck." "Sink or Swim" and "Do or Die." Mr. Striegel won. He licked city hall to a fare-thee-well. The mighty SAC saw the light. It wrote a voucher in the sum of $41,378.03 for Mr. Striegel and Gem State Utilities.

ALL OF WHICH proves that the rugged American still exists. It's possible to push some Americans around all of the time, and all Americans around some of the time. But try pushing all Americans around all the time, and you're begging to be clubbed.

MRS. CHARLES R. GRIGGS

Garden Club Hears Flower Show Judge

Mrs. Charles R. Griggs, a native of Norway, was the guest speaker Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. E. Hogan, 509 Westover Road, was hostess to the Big Spring Garden Club. Cohostess was Mrs. Robert F. Polk.

Mrs. Griggs is a nationally accredited flower show judge and president of District 8 of the Texas Flower Show Judge's Council. Also, she is an Honorary Life Member of Texas Garden Clubs. Her home is in Sweetwater, and she was accompanied here by Mrs. Buck Wetzel.

Using the topic, "Interpretive Floral Art," Mrs. Griggs described and explained the construction and principles of design in floral art ranging from period pieces to modern, abstract and modern interpretations.

During the lecture-demonstration she used seven arrangements, the final one being interpretive of her native country. She read a description of Norway then showed how it could be said with flowers.

An open double heart in pink net framed an arrangement of pastel pink carnations; sweet heart roses and leatherleaf fern which graced the buffet where refreshments were served. Mrs. Garner McAdams presided at the punch service.

Mrs. John Knox announced that the club placement show would be held from 3 to 5 p.m., April 23, in the home of Mrs. J. I. Balch, Western Hills. The next regular meeting will be March 4 in the home of Mrs. G. E. Peacock.

Church Has Challenge

Prayer by Mrs. W. A. Laswell opened the Tuesday meeting of the Mary Zinn Circle of First Methodist Church. The group met at the church with Mrs. J. P. Meador, hostess, assisted by Mrs. T. B. Vastine.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. S. R. Nobles. Mrs. H. H. Stephens introduced the study, "The Inner City," by saying that the changing city challenges the church. A silhouette display showed the needs of city people for things the church can supply.

Participating on the program were Mrs. T. G. Adams whose part was entitled, "Come, Let Us Build a City"; Mrs. W. A. Miller who gave her views of the city, and Mrs. Dave Duncan who told of the people of the city. Each speaker was answered by Mrs. Laswell. She said that people should learn to live together and work to build a city belonging to God.

The devotion was given and prayer led by Mrs. Jackie Bishop. Mrs. W. A. Miller will be hostess for the Feb. 18 meeting.

1946 Hyperion Club Awards Scholarship

Miss Yolanda Torres was named recipient of the Howard County Junior College scholarship when the 1946 Hyperion Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. M. W. Talbot Jr., 1508 Dayton, Cohostess was Mrs. Bennett Brooke.

Mrs. M. A. Porter made the announcement and said that proceeds from the club's Christmas pilgrimage would be applied to the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Wes Shouse conducted the brief business session which preceded a program on Switzerland given by Mrs. Rene Brown.

P-TA Unit Establishes Library

The establishment of a school library was planned as Mrs. Joe Moss presided at the Tuesday evening meeting of Park Hill Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association. The Rev. Don Hungerford led the group in an opening prayer.

Wendell Huddleston, principal, led the discussion of the library project. Books will be purchased with proceeds from the school carnival, and the suggestion was made that students and parents be allowed to furnish books. They may either buy the books or donate them to the library or donate money to a purchasing fund for that purpose.

A total of $363 was reported collected by the 20 women from the organization who participated in the March of Dimes project.

Fourth grade students presented a program of music directed by their teachers, Mrs. Dewey Stevenson and Mrs. Jack Gulley. The announcer was Larry Margolis and the accompanist was Ellen Gossett. Songs by the chorus saluted famous people having birthdays in February. The group concluded with numbers noting Valentine's Day.

Approximately 150 persons were served refreshments by mothers of fourth grade students.

FOUR TYPES

Spaders Club Told Of Carnivorous Plants

"Fly Traps—Insect Devouring Plants" was the topic of Mrs. Charles Sweeney, guest speaker, when Mrs. W. D. Caldwell, Silver Heels, was hostess to the Spaders Garden Club Thursday afternoon.

As Mrs. Sweeney spoke, she showed slides illustrating an article by Paul Zale which appeared in National Geographic magazine.

According to Mrs. Sweeney, there are four types of plants that devour insects. The Venus fly trap exudes an odor which attracts flies which are caught when their feet touch prongs of the plant. The Sun Dew type works like flypaper and is approximately the size of a dime. The third type described was the pitcher, or trumpet, plant which grows to a height of three feet.

Mrs. Sweeney said that the Cobra plant resembles the snake it was named for and that the head section holds the fly trap.

The club's placement flower show was scheduled for April 23 in the home of Mrs. Dale Smith. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Caldwell and the cohostess, Mrs. V. A. Whittington, to

Chuck Wagon To Jet Is Luncheon Theme

"Chuck Wagons to Jets" was the theme of a chuck-wagon luncheon given at Webb Officers Club Thursday with the wives of the 331st FIS as hostesses. Mrs. L. L. Patton, president of the Officers Wives Club, presided.

Big Spring's western background was woven into the program with informal remarks by R. W. Whipkey, Herald publisher. He gave a capsule history of the town, citing the "discovery" of the big spring by Captain Randolph B. Marcy, and related Big Spring's development through the frontier period, its railroad days, oil boom days, and latter-day expansion in industry and commerce.

The buffet table, rigged as a chuck wagon, was where the 125 members and guests were served. Cooks and their assistants were attired in Western jeans, hats, chaparajos, boots and similar garb. Saddles, ropes, spurs, bridles and riding gear were used throughout the dining area. The stage featured a cowboy, rolled in his blanket, a campfire and a star-studded prairie scene.

The menu was typical including barbecued ham, ranch beans, corn muffins and the like, served with coffee. Tables, spread with red-checked cloths were marked with small

'Park' Loose Needles On Pencil Erasers

Dear Heloise: Have you ever "parked" a threaded needle through the thread on the spool you were just using?

Stop! This is why thread sometimes breaks right in the middle. After washing manufacturers would build miniature pin cushions in the hole in my spools of thread, I discovered many already lying around the house.

You know those little stubs of pencils we never seem to part with? Just stick one through the hole in the end of your spool of thread. The eraser (no matter how worn down) — even to the top! will hold your needle and several pins.

The pencil will also control the loose end of the thread. Lay the thread across the hole, then insert the short-stemmed pencil in the hole in the spool.

Or the eraser can be removed from that pencil with a pair of pliers and inserted in the hole in the spool. Great for needles — Ardella

Dear Heloise: A few days ago my baby cut her finger. I tried, without success, to keep a bandage on the cut but she always chewed it off.

I put one of her socks over her entire hand and secured it with a piece of tape (not too tight) at the wrist. A mother may have to change the sock a few times each day but the bandage will stay in place and more important, it will stay clean. — Barbara Repko

Dr. P. W. Malone Shows Slides At LVN Meeting

The Licensed Vocational Nurses Association viewed slides of Hawaii, the Philippines and Japan at a Tuesday evening meeting in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

SKI PARTY SCHEDULED

A "ski" party will be held Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Robbins, 2513 Rebecca, for members of the Junior Woman's Forum and their husbands. Couples attending are requested to wear ski resort clothes and bring a covered dish.

The pictures were taken by Dr. P. W. Malone when he toured the area last summer. In his commentary Dr. Malone said, "We need not go any farther than Hawaii to see the most beautiful scenery in the world." Among the pictures shown were those of Shinto and Buddhist shrines, some intricately carved and overlaid with gold leaf. Many are more than 1,000 years old.

During a social hour Dr. Malone answered questions concerning the geography of the islands and social customs of the people.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. W. D. Miller, and yearbooks were distributed. Members voted to present a gift of appreciation to Mrs. Thomas Brown who compiled the books.

Mrs. Willie Butler was hostess and served refreshments to 13 members and 12 guests. They were Mrs. Joe Peay, Miss Bertha Schuchert, Mrs. T. J. Sherrill, Mrs. Elizabeth Hines, Mrs. Faye Glass, Mrs. T. W. Mauldin, Mrs. R. R. Fields, Mrs. Anne Kemp, Mrs. Belva Jones, Mrs. Jesse Graves, Mrs. Guy L. Mitchell and Gene Tuckness. The meeting place for March 3 will be announced.

Four Men, Youth Held In Burglaries At Lake

Four suspects in burglaries dating back to 1960 were in city jail Friday as officers attempted to determine a 14-year-old boy's part in the offenses.

The youth was arrested Thursday, according to Detective Jack Jones, who said the investigation ultimately may result in the arrest of others. The youth has been turned over to juvenile officer Bob Darland for questioning, he said.

Charged with burglary here are Horace Lee Atkinson, 20, Route 1; Kendal Webb, 19, 905 Abrams; and William Clark, 17, 905 Abrams. Also, detectives said, burglary charges have been filed in Scurry and Borden counties against a 19-year-old airman, who was apprehended Wednesday.

The three men charged here in Sterling City after they were stopped for a routine traffic violation, detectives said, adding further investigation led to the burglary charges.

Jones, who is investigating the case with Detective Wayne Tollett and area law enforcement officers, said the four men and the teen-ager are suspected of taking thousands of dollars worth of property from cabins at Lake J. B. Thomas.

The arrest of Atkinson, Webb, Clark and the airman apparently clears up a number of cabin burglaries at the lake. They were questioned Thursday by officers.

"The burglaries occurred all around the lake," Jones said. He added the suspects also may be implicated in burglaries or thefts elsewhere in Howard, Scurry, Borden, Martin and Mitchell counties.

Most of the property taken from the cabins at Lake Thomas included guns, television sets, coffee pots, cooking utensils and bedding. In addition, a power saw, blasting caps and an evaporative air conditioner were taken from Lake Colorado City.

Big Spring detectives said the men have signed statements concerning burglaries at Lake Thomas. Their arrest, Jones said, also clears up a number of local incidents.

Items taken in local burglaries believed to have been cleared are: Jimmie Jones Conoco Station (four tires), VA Hospital (two guitars), Butler's Col-Tex Service Station (a battery charger and a case of oil), Tom McAdams' Cabinet Shop (a drill and between $15 and $30), Smith's Tea Room (food) and Alcoholic Anonymous (bowls.)

Jones said the suspects may be involved in an attempted burglary at Snyder's Liquor Store, on the Snyder Highway, and the theft of an auto engine from a wrecking yard on the San Angelo Highway.

All of the recovered items are locked in a storeroom at police headquarters. Jones said known owners of the property will be notified by telephone or letter. Most of the items were recovered at the house of one of the suspects, detectives said, adding the remainder was picked up at local pawn shops and "second hand" stores.

Jones said some of the alleged crimes date back to 1960. Detectives said three other persons, arrested at Midland and Odessa, have admitted burglary.

J. C. Peters Dies Thursday Near Stanton

STANTON (SC) — Joseph Clemmens Peters, 71 and a lifetime resident of Stanton, died Wednesday at his residence about four miles northwest of here. He was found Thursday, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

Mr. Peters was born Dec. 23, 1892, in Stanton, a member of one of the first pioneering families to make their home a decade before, when the town was still known as Mariensfeld. He was a farmer and a veteran of World War I.

Considered by many as an eccentric, Mr. Peters lived alone at his home northwest of the city. For the last 20 years of his life he labored to turn his land into a memorial to Mariensfeld, the first West Texas town between San Angelo and Amarillo. It was his dream to have his land converted into a park as a memorial to that former city.

In the process of his work, he had hand-dug a well nearly 70 feet deep and five feet in diameter. Under another part of his estate, he had chiseled out a huge cavern.

Funeral will be at 4 p.m. Saturday at the St. Joseph Catholic Church, with the pastor, Rev. Pierce, officiating. Burial will be in the St. Joseph Catholic Cemetery under the direction of Arrington-Gilbreath Funeral Home.

Mr. Peters is survived by three brothers, I. G. Peters, Stanton, Paul Peters, Comanche, and John Peters, Midland; one sister, Mrs. W. C. Flanagan, Stanton; and a host of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Ramsey's Funeral Slated

Graveside rites will be held in Trinity Memorial Park at 2 p.m. Saturday for Mrs. Sadie Ramsey, 74, 1703 W. 2nd. Mrs. Ramsey died in a local hospital Thursday following an illness of about one year.

She was born March 31, 1889 and came to Big Spring in 1928 from Mineola.

Oscar D. Graham, of the Big Spring Branch of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, will officiate. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home will be in charge of burial.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Grady Wren, Mineola, and Mrs. Lucille Eudy, Austin; one son, Fred Eudy, New Orleans, La.; one sister, Mrs. Robert Pearson, Big Spring; four brothers, Floyd Merworth and Johnny Merworth, both of Big Spring, Hawley Merworth, Texarkana, and Griff Merworth, Fort Worth; and four grandchildren.

Gillilands Are In Car Accident

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy Gilliland, 1306 Lamar, and their son were hospitalized overnight Thursday in a hospital at Ephrata, Pa., following an automobile accident there which demolished the car in which they were driving.

All three were released this morning, according to Mrs. M. R. Gilliland, 367 Mesquite. They suffered only minor bruises and shock. The Gillilands were returning from Dorchester, Mass., where they had gone to attend the funeral of Mrs. Charles O'Brien.

Two Accidents

Only two motor vehicle accidents occurred within the city limits Thursday. Locations of the mishaps and drivers involved: Third and Birdwell Lane, Billy Hass, 619 Ridgelea, and Ola Williams, 1208 E. 6th; "66" Cafe parking lot, Robert Schuckman, OK Trailer Courts, and Phillip Hoover, Tipton, Ind.

Injured Men Recovering

Sam Mellinger and Clyde Waits Jr., both injured in an automobile accident Jan. 5, are improving. Mellinger is still in Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital, but Waits has been released and is at home. They were injured in the accident in which Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withcombe died.

Mellinger said Friday morning that the cast will be removed from his left arm in a few days, and that he has good use of it.

"I appreciate the visits, calls and gifts sent me, since I have been in the hospital. Such concern makes a man take a good, long look at himself," Waits said Friday morning that he is feeling fine. He has been home for a couple of weeks and is getting around. His jaw is still tied up as a result of a break, but he can talk without pain.

"I'll be as good as new now," he said.

E. J. Harrison Dies Thursday

Ervin Jackson Harrison, 62, of Ranger, died Thursday night in a Fort Worth hospital after a lengthy illness. He was the father of Mrs. Ralph Newman, Lomax.

Funeral will be held at the Ranger Church of Christ at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, and burial will be in the Ranger cemetery. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maurine Harrison; four children, one step-son, two sisters, a brother, and 13 grandchildren.

Junior College Trustees Ask For Re-Election April 4

Two members of the Howard County Junior College board of trustees have filed for re-election.

After the board Thursday officially called the election for April 4, Dr. P. W. Malone, the only member of the original board still serving, and John A. Coffey, vice president of the board, announced they would offer their services for another term.

Deadline for filing was fixed for March 4, and the absentee voting period will be March 16-31, inclusive. Voting will be at independent school polling places in Big Spring, Fortson and Coahoma.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, said that enrollment had established a spring semester record and might approach 750. The board elected Joe Chance, who holds his masters degree from Texas Tech and who has been teaching there, as a math instructor.

A gift from the Kiwanis Club toward a tennis practice device was acknowledged with gratitude.

Plans were made for attending the annual meeting of the Texas Association Junior College of Board Members and Administrators in Austin Feb. 11. The HCCJC board is due to have 100 per cent attendance at this annual affair. Dr. Robert Gates, Florida State Department of

JOHN A. COFFEY

Education, is to be the consultant.

Dr. Malone was on the Chamber of Commerce committee which led the campaign which resulted in establishment of the HCCJC countywide district in 1945, and he was persuaded to be a candidate for the initial board. He was elected and has been returned for successive terms since that time.

"Having served on the board of trustees since the organization of a junior college district, I feel that possibly I can still render a small amount of service to this very wonderful institution," he said. "I am therefore making application for placing my name on the official ballot, subject to the April 4 election."

Coffey, a former Big Spring High School principal and for many years a payroll officer for Cosden, had this to say: "Howard County Junior College has shown a steady gradual increase during the past 12 years. This growth has been due to the combined efforts of the taxpayers, parents, students, faculty and administrative officers."

In asking for your consideration of election to another six-year term as trustee, I pledge my best effort to continue the steady, gradual growth of Howard County Junior College. "In the next year or two the trustee will probably ask the taxpayers for approval of a bond issue to build one or more new buildings. We believe that more local students will attend Howard County Junior College for the first two years before going out of town to a senior college. It is cheaper on a pocket book for the student to remain at home for the first two years of college work. Also the money which a college student would normally spend in a college town would be spent here in Big Spring."

Pancake Night Ducats Pushed

A stepped up effort to sell tickets to the 12th annual Kiwanis Club Pancake Supper was launched Thursday at the regular luncheon meeting of the club.

The date for this feed is Feb. 21 and relatively little time remains in which to canvass the town for sale of tickets.

Soc Walker, general chairman of the committees on the pancake supper, said it is important that this year's ticket sales be ahead of last year. The goal is 2,000 advance tickets.

All Kiwanians have tickets for sale—adults, 75 cents, children, 50 cents. The supper will begin at 5 p.m. Feb. 21 and continue through 8 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building.

All profits from the supper go into the Kiwanis fund to further its work with underprivileged children.

Announcement was made by Bob Travis, program chairman, that next Thursday the club will have a Valentine Day program, and members are urged to bring their wives as guests. Horace Whiteside will be speaker.

Program for Thursday dealt with the March of Dimes campaign. George Zachariah was the speaker. He screened a short film dealing with the efforts the National Foundation is pursuing to combat birth defects.

Oswald Mom To Talk Next

WASHINGTON (AP) — The other woman in Lee Harvey Oswald's life, his mother, will try on Monday to convince a presidential tribunal that only "trumped-up charges" make out her son to be an assassin.

Oswald's young widow, Soviet-born Marina Oswald, wearily completed Thursday night a four-day interrogation on the facts which convinced her that the malcontent Marxist fired the fatal shots at President John F. Kennedy in Dallas last Nov. 22.

But the mother, Marguerite Oswald, 56, fiercely insisted that "no one saw Lee fire the gun," demanded and won the right to talk, bring a lawyer, and submit evidence to the seven-man investigating commission.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said she will be the second witness in the closed assassination hearings.

'BRAVE WOMAN'

He made the announcement after telling newsmen that Marina, 22—whom he called "a very brave little woman"—had identified the rifle found in the sniper's hideaway in the Dallas building where Oswald worked, as the one her husband had "kept at their home prior to the assassination." He bought it by mail in March.

Disclosed that Oswald used the name "A. Hidell" in New Orleans last summer. That was the name under which the Italian-made carbine was purchased from a Chicago mail-order house.

Told the commission that "while she did not like to believe her husband killed President Kennedy, the facts presented to her since the assassination would not permit her to reach any other conclusion."

UNAIDED

"Filled in and elaborated on much information she previously had given in interviews—in information which helped lead the FBI to its conclusion that the sharpshooter Oswald, discharged from the Marines as undesirable, was the sole and unaided perpetrator of the tragedy.

Questioned on whether the slender widow might have had prior knowledge of Oswald's plans, Warren said the marathon testimony, taken through an interpreter, indicated that "she had no knowledge of the assassination before it happened—none whatsoever."

However, official sources have disclosed that Marina has told other investigators her husband boasted to her, on the night of April 10, 1963, that he had shot at former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in his Dallas home that evening.

That bullet, fired from an alley through a window, was a near-miss. The conservative leader was cut by flying glass. Police never found the sniper. The Warren commission is known to have questioned the widow on that incident, but the chief justice declined to discuss her answers.

FATIGUED

Mrs. Oswald is expected to remain in Washington today. Her lawyer said a press conference would be arranged if she is physically up to it. She was visibly fatigued Thursday; the morning session was cut short to give her a bit more rest.

Oswald's mother, a practical nurse in Fort Worth, Tex., denounced in many interviews and statements the "theory" that her son fired the three shots that killed Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

Oswald was "a fine, high class boy," she has insisted. And: "Any guilt I have for making him what he was, I will accept. But this is not for the assassination."

"He did not have a trial. He did not have his day in court."

Her story is one of poverty and hardship, of having been "married three times and altogether had husbands for only eight years," and of having been seven months pregnant with Lee when her second husband died. He was Robert E. Lee Oswald, an insurance salesman.

Belli Likes Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The chief attorney for Jack Ruby says he would be "tickled" if his client's trial is moved to Houston on a change of venue.

A hearing opens Monday in Dallas on a defense motion to move the trial out of Dallas. The defense contends Ruby could not get a fair trial there in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

"If we are sent to Houston, I'd be tickled to death," Melvin Belli told the Houston Post Thursday by telephone. "I've lectured in your city," the San Francisco attorney said. "I think you are tolerant. I think you are a terrific Texas city."

The Post asked Belli to comment on a report he had predicted the trial would be held in Houston next summer or fall.

"I don't think I said Houston," Belli replied. "I did say I don't think the case can be tried in Dallas. I would be happy to go any place they send me."

He said the defense would not ask to delay the trial if a change of venue is refused.

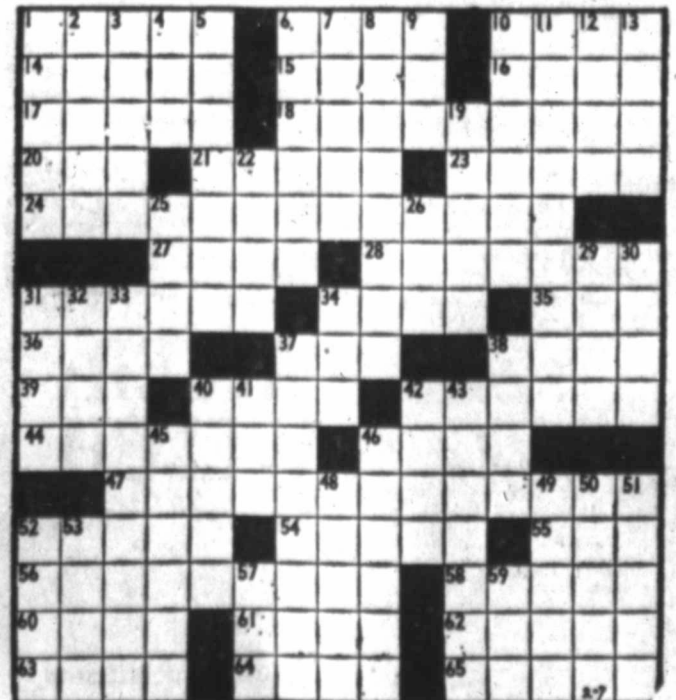

"If they go ahead in Dallas, we'll go," he said. "But they won't have a case in any court that will stand up on appeal."

Ruby now is scheduled to go on trial in Judge Joe B. Brown's court in Dallas Feb. 17.

By GAY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—It's hard to explain what makes the Beatles so wonderful because I don't completely understand why I think they are.

Anti-Beatleites (there are a few) simply cannot understand why other people are crazy about the Beatles, who arrive here from London today.

"Good heavens!" they exclaim. "They're not even good looking." As if that should explain everything.

A friend of mine got so disgusted when people kept telling her the Beatles weren't good looking that she screamed, "I don't care if they're four dogs! Their music is fantastic and that's all I care about."

And their music is fantastic. To the average adult it would sound like nothing more than a conglomeration of noises, screams, howls and other unclassified sounds.

To the ecstatic teen-ager lying in front of her hi-fi, it's sheer heaven.

Its insistent beat (which is how the Beatles got their name) is great to dance all the latest dances to, including the new one called "The Beatle." Perhaps most important, the songs are about subjects teen-agers can identify with.

What teen-ager, feeling depressed, wouldn't be comforted by the glorious voices of The Beatles singing "Misery?"

The title of one record, "Boys," is enough to send millions of teen-age girls to the record stores. With a title like that, it has to be good!

Whether The Beatles are good looking or not, they're certainly different. They have wild senses of humor. When asked why he wore four rings on his fingers, Ringo replied, "Because I can't fit them all through my nose."

For heaven's sake, I don't know exactly why girls fall in love with The Beatles.

All I know is, when John growls during a song, "Okay, George—give it to 'em," a chill runs down the spine of every girl listening.

Enrollment Up At HCJC

Enrollment continues to gain for the spring semester at Howard County Junior College as the deadline nears this weekend.

Thursday afternoon 725 had registered, which compares with a final enrollment of 652 for the spring semester last year. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that the totals might increase slightly before classes start Monday, the last time for enrollment.

One interesting development, aside from setting a new spring semester record, was in the increase of local students. A year ago registrations from Webb AFB personnel amounted to 179, whereas so far they have aggregated only 150.

The men's dormitory is almost filled, Dr. Hunt reported, and the women's dormitory has slightly less.

Gen. Sam Houston's Granddaughter Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Funeral services for Miss Marguerite Houston, 82, of La Porte, granddaughter of Texas hero, Gen. Sam Houston, will be held here Saturday.

Services will be at 10:45 a.m. in Earhman's Funeral Chapel and at 11 a.m. at the Annunciation Church.

Burial will be in the Garden of Gethsemane here.

Miss Houston died Thursday at San Jacinto Methodist Hospital in Baytown. She was in ill health the past year and a half and entered the hospital two weeks ago.

She was the daughter of the late Col. Andrew Jackson Houston, son of Gen. Houston, who led the Texas army to victory in the battle of San Jacinto. He served as first president of the Republic of Texas and later as United States senator and governor of Texas.

TWO SISTERS

Miss Houston, a native of Tyler, is survived by two sisters, Miss Ariadne Houston of Houston and Mrs. Dave Paulus of Floresville.

After her mother died in 1884, Miss Houston attended the U.

suline Academy at Dallas, a convent for girls, and later attended Southwestern University in Georgetown one year.

Her father was appointed by President Theodore Roosevelt as a United States marshal for the eastern district of Texas at Beaumont in 1902.

He served until 1910 and retired from public life in 1918. The family then moved to La Porte.

Over the objections of his daughters in 1941, Houston accepted an appointment by Gov. Lee O'Daniel to fill the unexpired term of U.S. Sen. Morris Sheppard, who had died.

24 DAYS

Marguerite and Ariadne accompanied their father to Washington and were with him when he died June 26, 1941, just 24 days after he took office.

They returned to La Porte and built a new home. In 1960 this one burned, destroying three shelves of books on Texas history.

Fortunately their father had donated some of the original writings of General Houston to the Houston Museum at Huntsville and the sisters reported after the fire that no important papers were lost.

The two sisters devoted themselves to art, literature and church work. Both had written poetry.

H. S. Moss Given $100 For Tract

H. S. Moss was awarded $100 damages by a special commission Thursday for a small tract of land the city is taking for street improvement. The tract has just 88 square feet. Judge Lee Porter, county court, said the special commission named to assess damages consisted of Worth Peeler, Bill Sheppard and E. P. Driver. The tiny tract of land is on Birdwell Lane.

No telling how long the Pearl Bock recipe has been cheering up winter nights. It came from the Old World, and its ruddy goodness takes you back to the times when hearty living called for a hearty beer.

Now that Pearl Bock's back, stock up. Have it handy to enjoy the next time a norther rattles your windows. Or build a party around it (Bock 'n Beans go great together). But hurry! Pearl Bock Beer is available for just a few weeks!

MODERN STRUCTURE

College Baptist follows current trend in design

College Baptist Plans Sanctuary

Within the next few weeks College Baptist Church plans to ask bids for construction of its new sanctuary. Members hope that the building can be under way within about 30 to 60 days.

Final plans for the structure are being completed by Gary and Hoberg, architects. The sanctuary, facing north on Eleventh Place opposite Howard County Junior College, will be 38 x 117 feet. It will be designed to seat 715 people, including 125 in the balcony. The building will be brick veneer with laminated wood arches supporting the entire roof. Adding to the beauty of the building will be stained glass windows in the front, and a cedar shake roof. The plant will contain central air conditioning, and it will be equipped with new furniture and carpet.

Part of the plan includes choir

New Book Traces Bible Through 60 Centuries

Book stores plagued with thefts of Bibles by those who steal them with the intention of selling them, might take a hint from the Middle Ages. Then Bibles were so expensive they were chained to a wall or shelf in churches and monasteries to defeat the light-fingered.

This is one of the old customs described in the book "6000 Years of the Bible," just published by Harper and Row. It is written by G. S. Wegener.

The 60 centuries of anecdotes and history covered by the book begin with ancient civilizations which "nourished the traditions, the stories and the songs that eventually became Holy Writ."

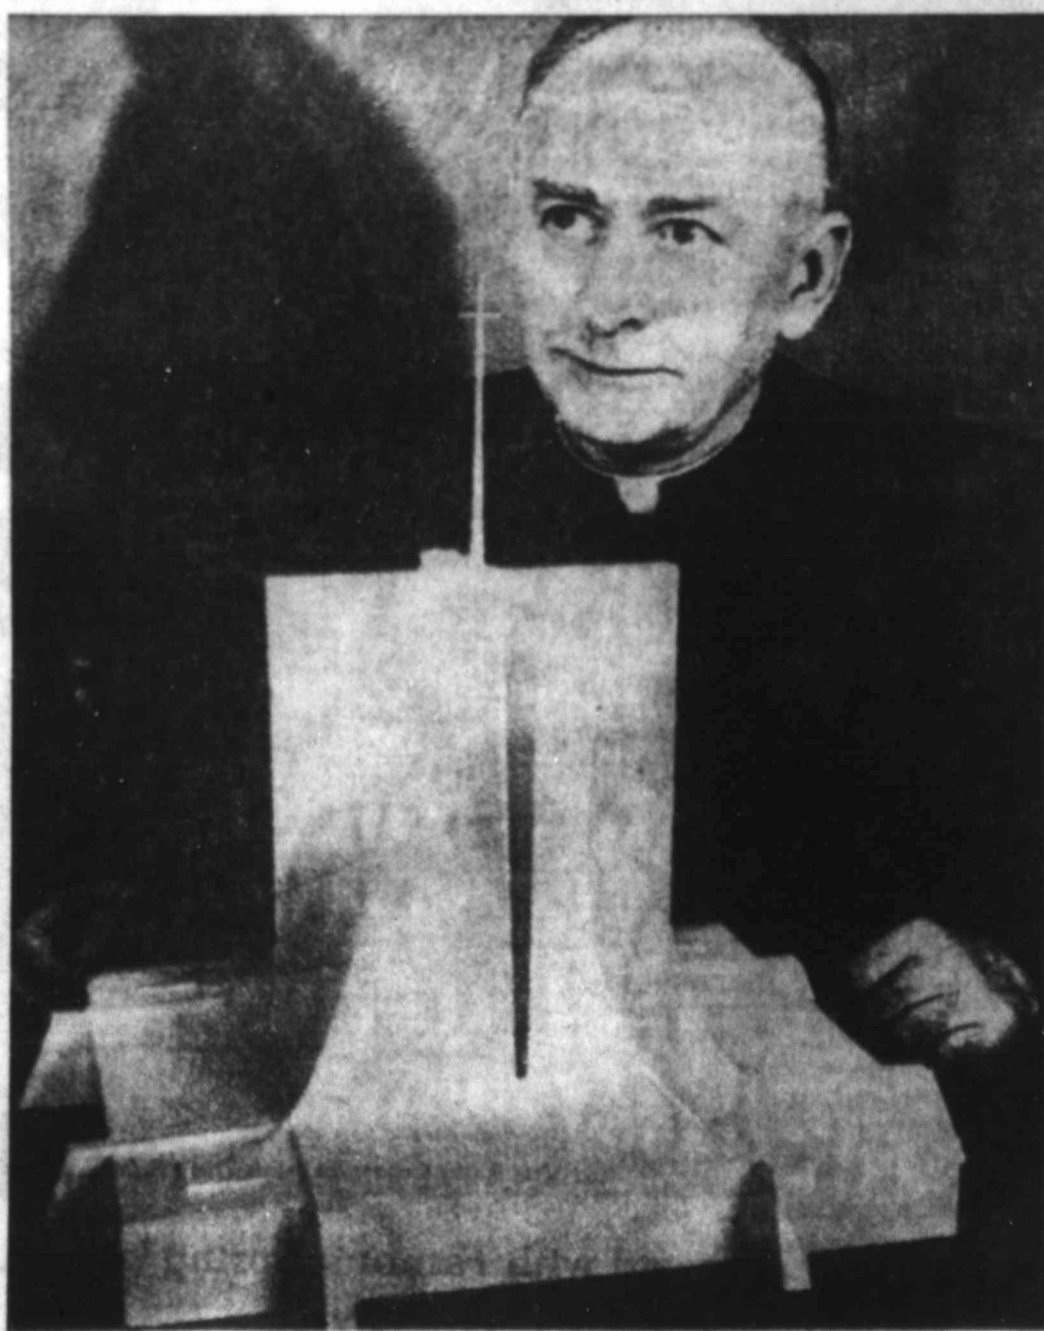

The opening chapters recount experiences of archaeologists in discovering ancient cities which form the background against which the story of the Bible unfolds.

One of the most noteworthy excavations described by Wegener was uncovering the site of the Biblical flood of 4000 B.C. This was located near the Persian Gulf by the British archaeologist Leonard Woolley in 1929. Woolley had dug up the city of Ur of the Chaldees, then beneath that had found rubble from buildings of a still earlier city. Digging even further, he found another layer of history in the pure, clean clay deposited by waters.

Sweeping through the centuries, the book traces the history of the beginning of reading and writing, the rise and fall of civilizations, the development of the Bible and the great excitement it engendered.

The lesson taught us in this week's International Sunday School Lesson is that contact with Jesus Christ makes humble men great. If this could happen two thousand years ago among ancient disciples, it can happen today among us.

Radical New Design

Archbishop Joseph T. McGuckey displays a model of the new cathedral destined to replace St. Mary's Cathedral, which was destroyed by fire in September, 1962. Of radical design for a cathedral, this new edifice in San Francisco, Calif., will be an immense white hyperbolic paraboloid 17 stories high. The archbishop said the new San Francisco church will cost $6 or $7 million at a bare minimum. Construction should begin in a year or two.

Methodism's Founder Was Man Of Medicine

Many persons know that John Wesley, founder of Methodism, was a man of God, but few know he was also a man of medicine who read medical books as avidly as he read theological volumes.

Although he never enrolled in a medical school and never was licensed to practice (not unusual, since few doctors were school-trained in the 1700s), Wesley became one of his age's most remarkable physicians and has been called "the greatest health educator of the 18th century in Britain."

MEDICAL CAREER

Kenneth N. Anderson, editor of "Today's Health," and Richard Dunlop, author of "Doctors on the Frontier," outline Wesley's medical career in the February "Together," Methodism's midmonth family magazine. The issue reproduces on its cover a painting by Illinois artist Jack White showing Wesley treating patients at his free medical dispensary, which he opened in 1746 at Bristol, England. The painting, owned by Chicago's Wesley Memorial Hospital, will be formally unveiled at the 75th anniversary of the hospital's founding this spring.

Although Wesley began reading medical books when he enrolled at Oxford University at the age of 17, he seriously began studying medicine to prepare for his missionary trip with General James Oglethorpe's expedition to the remote coast of Georgia in 1738, when he was 32. While there, Wesley was fascinated by the medical practices of the Indians, and with an exiled Huguenot physician, John Reimer, performed the first autopsy in Georgia.

Wesley, who once said that to be a man "the body a physician, he will never attain the genuine spirit of healing," pioneered modern concepts in curative and preventive medicine, the authors point out.

He was one of the first to explore the psychosomatic relationship between human emotions and health. He also saw the possibilities in new scientific discoveries. Upon reading reports of Benjamin Franklin's experiments with electricity, Wesley devised a method of electrotherapy for nervous disorders. In 1756 he stopped a girl's epileptic seizure with a gentle shock from his friction machine, and discovered he could cure hysterical palsies with electrical shock.

OPPOSED BLEEDING

He opposed the age's usual practice of bleeding patients, and insisted upon cleanliness in a day when hospitals stored dirty linen under a patient's bed and a surgeon casually wiped one person's blood from his knife onto his apron before plunging it into the next. He argued eloquently against London's open sewers and overcrowded houses. He also rejected the prevalent medical philosophy that if one drug was good, 20 drugs would be 20 times as effective, and prescribed simple herbs and drugs.

He wrote a family medical book that went through 23 editions in his lifetime. In some of his curative suggestions he was ahead of his time, Anderson and Dunlop say. In the 1747 edition, Wesley urged scurvy victims to "live on turnips for a month." In the 1780 edition, after having learned of the dramatic use of lemons in the British navy, he suggested instead the drinking of lemon juice.

STRANGE POULTICE

In the light of the discovery of penicillin, his prescription of a poultice of rotten apples for running sores is not so strange. For a coronary thrombosis, he advocated laudanum. But he saw daily, healthful exercise as the greatest preventive medicine.

Wesley was up-to-date also in dental care, says the authors. He recommended that people wash their mouths with cold water every morning and clean them after every meal. In his medical writings and in his practice, the authors point out, Wesley sought to join common-sense and his experience to the benefit of common humanity. But his work was always carried on in the understanding that the love of God is the sovereign remedy.

MY

PRAYER

I'll never forget the first time I saw a harp. I was walking by a music store with my mother and it was there in the window, tall and golden. I knew, then and there, that I wanted to be a harpist.

But, my heart sank, for I knew my parents could afford neither the instrument nor the lessons. I started to pray every night to God to send me a harp.

Nothing happened. My small spirit rebelled, and I blurted out to my Sunday School teacher that my prayer hadn't been answered. My teacher was a wonderful woman. She just said, "You've been going about this in the wrong way, Ann. You've been demanding something of God. Don't you think it would be better if you asked Him?"

Her quiet words made an impression. The tenor of my prayers changed. And the teachings of the Church meant more to me than ever.

Well — in time I did become a harpist. Recently, I played my first concert. And as the great, golden instrument came to life beneath my fingers I hoped that the angels, too, were smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

Help and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Steers Host Permian In 8 O'Clock Bout

The Big Spring Steers try again tonight to end their losing streak in an 8 o'clock game with Odessa Permian.

The task won't be easy. Permian is one game removed from the lead in the league standings. When the two teams played previously in Odessa, Permian made off with a 44-35 victory. The Steers fought the Panthers to a standstill on defense but couldn't score consistently. No other team on the Big Spring schedule this year has done so well at stopping the Longhorn gunners.

Gregg Slaye and Jack Mercer are the chief scoring threats for Permian. Others who will probably start for Permian are Royce Berry, Alan Moravcik and Jay Collins.

Coach Delmer Poss of Big Spring is apt to open with a lineup consisting of Albert Pardo, Ronnie Banks, DeeRoby, Gattman, Charley West and either Simon Terrazas or Joe Jaur.

Monty Clendenin will see a lot of action for the Steers, as will Paul Thomas.

The Panthers have a conference record of 7-3 and are 19-6 overall. Midland upset them last time out, so the Odessans should be fighting mad tonight.

Big Spring is 2-8 within the league and the eight defeats have all come in a row. The locals opened 2-AAAA play with

Palmer Needs Sharp Rally

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arnold Palmer's bid to win a fourth straight Phoenix Open Golf Tournament title faced increasing opposition today with 14 golfers ahead of him, Don Fairfield leading the list.

Never has a golfer won the same PGA tour event four consecutive years and going into the second 18 holes, Palmer's attempt rates a long shot—yet isn't impossible.

His opening one-under-par 70 over the flat Phoenix Country Club Course left him four strokes behind Fairfield's 66 and two behind four players deadlocked at 68. Tied for second were Champagne Tony LeMa, Bill Collins, Herman Schallau and George Archer, the rookie San Francisco pro who won the Trans-Mississippi amateur event on this course last year.

In all, 42 shot par or better over the wind-whipped course in the first round of the 72-hole event with its $50,000 purse.

In addition to the 14 ahead of him, Palmer was grouped with nine others at 70. This gathering included British Open champion Bobby Charles.

Radatz Cuts Off Weight As New Campaign Nears

BOSTON (AP)—Hulking Dick Radatz is eager to resume his role as the American League's best relief pitcher and is 27 pounds lighter than a year ago to prove it.

Veteran Gene Conley has scrapped basketball and his dual major league career to concentrate on his attempt at a pitching comeback from 1963 arm trouble.

Both are among seven players who have signed contracts, the Boston Red Sox announced today. The others include Bill Spanwick, the man the club hopes becomes the first starting southpaw since Mel Parnell; Bobby Gindoin, Jim Gosger, Jerry Dorsch and left-hander Bill Rohr.

Salary figures were not disclosed.

Radatz, 6-foot-6 former Michigan State teammate of National League bullpen ace Ron Perranoski of the Los Angeles Dodgers, was named American League Sophomore of the Year by The Associated Press last fall.

Known as "The Monster," Radatz had a hand in 38 per cent of Boston's 1963 victories, winning 15 and saving 14 more. His 2.03 earned run average was the lowest in the league among pitchers with 10 or more decisions.

In two years of major league pitching the blazing fast-baller has struck out 306 in 257 innings.

Conley, 33, retired from pro basketball last week when he quit the New York Knickerbockers. He'll be on hand when battery candidates report at training camp Feb. 24 for the first time in several years.

Conley won 15 games two years ago but a late season basketball injury contributed to arm trouble, and he had only three victories last season.

Three U. S. Skiers Qualify In Slalom

By TED SMITH

Associated Press Sports Writer

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Three of America's top skiers—Bud Werner, Billy Kidd and James Huega—qualified today for Saturday's men's slalom race while Canada won its first gold medal and Russia its 23rd in the ninth Winter Olympic Games.

The slalom apparently is America's only hope to add to its medal collection, which consists of two Alpine skiing medals for Jean Saubert, a figure skating bronze for 14-year-old Scotty Allen and the lone gold by speed skater Terry McDermott.

Vic Emery, a towering 5-foot-2 Canadian, drove his four-man bobsled to an upset victory over the favored Italians on the dangerous Igle chute and Claudia Boyarskikh, a 25-year-old Russian school teacher, anchored a Soviet triumph in the women's 15-kilometer relay ski race.

It was the third gold medal for Miss Boyarskikh. Russia now has an all-time high of 10 gold, eight silver and five bronze.

The men's slalom qualification runs were staged on the steep slope of the Bergitzkogel Mountain, on the outskirts of Innsbruck. Twenty-five qualified today and 25 qualify Saturday before the finals.

Werner, 27, a 10-year international veteran from Steamboat Springs, Colo., and Kidd, 20, from Stowe, Vt., are the chief U.S. hopes although Huega, 20, from Tahoe City, Calif., had the best giant slalom time before being disqualified for missing a gate.

Three Austrian girls who grew up on mountain slopes swept Thursday's downhill ski race. Christl Haas, tall and husky, won it, followed by Edith Zimmermann, petite and pretty, and Traudl Hecher, a sparkling-eyed pixie.

The 1,500 speed skating honors went to Ants Antson, a Russian from icy Estonia, with second place going to Holland's Cornelius Verkerk and third to Norway's Villy Haugen.

Manfred Schnedderger, from West Germany where figure skating is a major spectator sport, took the gold medal in to win by a score of 74-73. All seemed lost when Terry Williams accepted a long pass from Dick Ebling and scored the winning basket.

The Hawks might be primed for an upset. Odessa lost to HCJC by 20 points (87-67) in a previous game here but the Wranglers have always been hard for the Hawks to handle at home.

Too, the Odessans are smarting from the effects of a six-game losing streak. They gave the Lubbock Christian College Pioneers a fit before losing in Lubbock earlier this week, 71-69.

Odessa, coached by ex-Big Spring Larry McCulloch, has won only one conference game.

McCulloch will probably start a lineup consisting of Buddy Othick, Gus Buchanan, Dean Self, Kenny Kaminski and Chic Keifer.

HCJC got by NMMI in Roswell, N.M., by the skin of its teeth earlier this week, scoring in the final two seconds of play.

Briggs To Tech

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Guard Jerry Briggs, 200-pound bulwark of a San Antonio Lee defense that held opponents to 62 points in 10 schoolboy games, plans to attend Texas Tech.

Senate Repels Attempt To Slash Oil Depletion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., was ready and waiting for the first attack of the new congressional session on the oil and gas industry's tax depletion allowance—a provision of tax law that has stood for 38 years.

When Sen. John Williams, R-Del., offered an amendment Thursday to reduce the 27½ per cent allowance in three steps to 20 per cent, Monroney promptly drew on the verbal ammunition he had assembled. Other oil state senators joined in defense of the allowance to help defeat the amendment, 61-33.

The 27½ per cent figure, fixed in 1926 when Congress determined that oil and gas producers should have help in replacing capital assets lost through depletion of their mineral properties, has weathered annual attacks for many years. The allowance was set up also as an incentive to encourage oil and gas operators to assume the financial risks involved in exploration for new sources of supply.

TAX-CUTTING

Senate consideration of the administration's tax-cutting bill opened the way for the latest attack on the provision.

Some points made by Monroney:

The nation has a reserve supply of oil which would last only 11 or 12 years if no new oil were discovered; 1962 was the 10th year in a row in which more oil was consumed than was discovered.

—The depletion allowance is part of the basic national policy on natural resources, a policy that has afforded citizens and industries a cheap and abundant source of energy.

HIGHER COSTS

—The depletion percentage for oil is higher than that for other minerals because the probability of failure is greater and costs are higher.

—Reduction of the allowance would mean higher prices for petroleum products and a drastic reduction in capital funds spent in search of new oil and gas reserves.

—The need to find new reservoirs in the United States and abroad is more imperative today than in the past and the amount of capital required for the job is staggering.

—The oil industry is no more profitable than other industries and, in fact, it has had a lower return on its investment in the last few years than most manufacturing companies.

CONSUMPTION

—Additions to crude oil reserves each year must exceed consumption by 20 per cent if a constant ratio of reserves to consumption is to be maintained. Increased gasoline consumption and more and more automobiles demonstrate the need for finding new oil supplies.

—The role of the depletion allowance has become increasingly important in maintenance of national security.

—Objectives of the Soviet oil offensive are threefold—economic, political and strategic—and make for an economic war which the United States cannot afford to lose.

Mental Health Clinic Studied

The Chamber of Commerce committee on public health and safety took a look at a challenging program Thursday evening.

Charles Weeg, chairman, brought out the possibility of a mental health clinic in Big Spring. The 20 persons attending witnessed a film showing some of the aspects of a clinic to help bridge the gap between hospitalization and society, or to help avoid the need for hospital care.

James Cape will head a steering committee on this special project, said Weeg, and a more detailed report on some of the problems and possibilities will be heard at the February meeting of the committee. Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, is a member of a state committee on mental health clinics and was in Austin Thursday for a meeting of this panel. A report may be expected from him at the February committee session.

Weeg also told about his audience with the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees concerning the feasibility of closed parking during the noon hour for high school students. The board has an open mind on the subject, he reported, and follow-up consideration will be given. Parental acceptance may be the key to the matter, it was suggested.

Schantz Named Festival Judge

Ira Schantz, choral and vocal instructor at Howard County Junior College, will serve as one of the judges in district Baptist music festivals.

He begins this weekend with an assignment at the First Baptist Church in Odessa today. Saturday morning he will be at the First Baptist Church in Midland. Feb. 28, he will judge a third festival at the First Baptist Church in Lamesa.

In addition, he has an engagement Feb. 15 to judge the vocal division of the South Plains Music Teachers Associations competitions at West Texas Museum on the campus of Texas Tech. March 14, he will judge the Federated Music Clubs vocal festival in Lubbock.

He was chosen last November as one of three judges for the first annual Young Artists Competition sponsored by the Abilene Philharmonic Orchestra. He has been a soloist with this orchestra in the past, most recently in Bach's "Passion According to St. Matthew."

The bidding:

Opening lead: Five of ♠.
 A deft touch in the timing of his attack was an essential element in declarer's campaign.

North made one effort to try for a suit contract by a jump shift to three spades, forcing to game. When South returned to three no trump North had no choice but to retire.

The opening lead was the five of clubs and East's queen forced out the king. Declarer had four top tricks aside from the diamonds with the prospect of winning five additional tricks in that suit provided the queen fell quickly. He cautiously led to the dummy's ace of diamonds but, when the queen did not appear, he paused to reassess the situation.

If both remaining diamonds were located in the same hand, then the suit could not be established without letting the opposition in to drive out South's remaining club stopper. Furthermore, if declarer could not gain control.

run all of the diamonds, he would have to look elsewhere for a ninth trick, which would involve surrendering the lead once again. By this time the defenders would surely have established enough tricks to defeat the contract.

Declarer saw that he would require an insurance trick in spades to cover the possibility of an unfavorable diamond break. Since he could not afford to cash the other top diamond first without removing North's last entry card, he switched his attack at once. The South hand was entered with the ace of spades and a small spade was led toward the dummy. West promptly played low — to have gone up with his king would have established enough spade tricks to bring declarer's total up to nine, but South had already decided to play West for the king, and he went up with the dummy's queen.

With a spade trick in declarer was in a comfortable position to switch back to the diamond suit, for he could no longer be defeated. The king of diamonds was cashed and, when East showed out, West was given his diamond trick. Declarer regained the lead with the ace of clubs and ran for cover with his nine tricks.

Observe that, if South cashes a second high diamond early, he will no longer be in an advantageous position to switch his attack to the spades, for the North hand lacks a quick card of reentry. Even should the declarer guess how to establish the dummy's suit, the defenders will be able to take three clubs, one diamond and one spade, before South can regain control.
