Ask Us

Q. — Can anything be done about people who throw trash on vacant lots causing their owners to continually clean them up?

A. — While an irritating problem, littering is a difficult violation to enforce unless officers see the offense occur or the items discarded in some way identify the offender. Regarding keeping the lots clean, this responsibliity must fall to the owner.

New warning to terrorists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration today issued yet another warning to terrorists and governments that support them, saying its response "will be proportionate to the losses incurred" when Americans are attacked as they were recently in El Salvador.

Responding to a New York Times report that the administration considered attacking a Nicaraguan training base in retaliation for the murder of six Americans in El Salvador last month, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said he would not comment specifically on the story, which was similar to others published earlier elsewhere.

But "the United States will not tolerate terrorist actions against our citizens," the spokesman said. "We will be prepared to take steps."

"We have outlined in firm tones our policy on attacking terrorist centers or those responsible for terrorist attacks," Speakes told reporters at a morning briefing. "That policy remains. The governments responsible understand that. We will take appropriate action."

"The level of our response," the spokesman added, "will be proportionate to the losses incurred. Those that perpetrate such incidents, or governments that support state-sponsored terrorism, are on notice."

Asked if his use of the term "proportionate response" indicates the United States would avenge "an eye for an eye, a life for a life," Speakes said, "We'll make those judgments at the time."

Asked when the United States might act, he replied, "Wait and see."

The administration has been warning of its intention to retaliate against terrorism since President Reagan took office in January 1981, when he pledged "swift and effective retribution" against those who violate international standards of behavior.

Similar "notices" to terrorists have been posted in the wake of the recent hijacking of TWA Flight 847 and the murder of one of its passengers, the sidewalk cafe murders in San Salvador and a rash of terrorist bombings that followed around the world.

Rural rainfall heaviest

Heavy rains fell in the Hermleigh, Ira and Dunn areas Monday and Tuesday while Snyder managed .82 of an inch since the weekend.

Most of the measurable rain in the city occurred Tuesday as .72 of an inch fell, bringing the year's total to 16.82 inches.

In contrast, Hermleigh reported 2.80 inches; Ira 2.50 inches; and Dunn 2.40 for the two-day period.

Fluvanna didn't receive any measurable precipitation Tuesday, but on Sunday recorded nearly 1 inch.

The relatively wet summer has benefitted Lake J.B. Thomas, which now stands approximately 2 ft. higher this summer compared to last.

The lake elevation reported Wednesday morning was just over 2,220 ft. above sea level. Since the weekend, this level has risen some .10 of an inch, accor-

Effort rewarded to help retarded

Scurry County's Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) — active here the past 20 years — has won the statewide program involvement award from the Texas ARC.

Accepting the award at the 36th annual meeting of the ARC-Texas was local chapter president Wortham Loyd. The presentation was made in Arlington.

In citing the chapter, the awards committee commended ARC-Scurry County for its accomplishments which include initiating a continuous garage sale in 1968 which primarily finances its local activities.

This operation is located in the 2500 Block of Ave. V and includes a permanent box where county residents are encouraged to donate clothing and other items to benefit these sales.

Thanks to the funds raised by the garage sale, the ARC chapter was able to later open the Scurry County Work Center, which employs some 15 local persons with retardation. This center is located on the Humble Smith campus.

Those employed by it aid with the garage sale in addition to hiring out to clean churches, do yard work and clean driveways.

Also, ARC has purchased vans for transportation as well as equipment for the work center.

A recent project of the chapter entails purchasing a home at 2511

United Way due budget 'warmups'

Two budget work sessions related to the 1985 United Way campaign will be conducted here Wednesday and Thursday, a warmup for the fund raising entity's meeting with its requesting agencies next July 31.

The two sessions will allow budget committee members to discuss their individual meetings with the representatives of agencies seeking United Way dollars this year.

The meetings both days will begin at 5 p.m. at the conference room of the Snyder Daily News.

Requests in excess of $121,000 have been submitted this year. Eight of these have come from member agencies with two new requests submitted by groups not currently a member of United Way, SCOOP and Project Noah.

During 1984, United Way raised some $91,000, a record amount for the local effort.

The budget committee members and the agencies they have been assigned to cover include: Boys Club, Rex Robinson; Buffalo Trails Council of Scouts, Joee Gainer; Snyder Child Day Care Center, Frank Castillo; West Texas Girl Scout Council, Rodger Sullenger; Oil Patch Foster Parents, Rick Conner; Red Cross, Fran Farmer; Salvation Army and West Texas Rehab Center, Donny Brown.

On July 31, the full budget commitee will be in afternoon sessions with the representatives of the various requesting agencies.

Murder trial has new date

The pending murder trial of 30-year-old Bharat N. Bhakta of Snyder was postponed for three weeks following a pre-trial hearing in 132nd District Court Tuesday.

Bhakta — indicted by a Scurry County grand jury last May in connection with the death of his wife Kumud on April 25 — had been scheduled to go to trial next Monday.

That trial is now scheduled for 9 a.m. Aug. 19.

The postponement was requested Tuesday as part of motions filed on Bhakta's behalf by defense attorney Pete Greene. Granting the motion to delay trial proceedings was District Judge Gene Dulaney.

The defendant remains free on a $40,000 bond posted shortly after his arrest April 25.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The trouble with a screened porch in the summer is the mosquitoes can't get out."

Unlike the weather–many folks in Snyder are downright predictable. Many of us follow the same pattern day after day.

For instance, insurance man Tommy Deffebach's routine is so rigid that his day can't start without a trip to the coffee shop while the mail is being put up.

Deffebach is just one of many who standby, starting about 9 a.m. each day, to wait for the mail to be put in the boxes. For a lot of folks, mail is a highlight of the day. Deffebach says he doesn't know his work routine until he's had a chance to sort through the mail.

Another 9 o'cock post office regular is Delbert Downing of Ezell-Key Grain Co. Delbert enjoys visiting with other guys waiting for the mail.

From time to time, Downing asks us a question--one we usually don't know the answer to. He'll suggest, "You might want to check it out."

Last week was rodeo week in Snyder, and it is tradition that it rains during the Scurry County Rodeo. This time it was a mere .10 inch, but during last year's drought it would have been recorded as a downpour.

Downing said a customer at the grain company had told him the county had received 44 inches of rain since the beginning of November. He asked us if our records indicated that type of moisture.

The answer is no, but we are quick to add that our records reflect those readings taken by the official U.S. Weather Bureau observer located at the city water plant.

Scurry County covers a vast area, and so rainfall may be heavy in one part of the county while only a trace is recorded elsewhere.

According to our records, rainfall since November has totaled 21.28 inches--a nine-month rainfall that just about equals the average received for a full year.

If you include October, the total is 25.43 inches. In October, there was 4.15 inches of rainfall. The wettest month so far this year was May with 5.28 inches. April was close behind with 5.28 inches.

At any rate Delbert, it was a good question and we hope all your mail tomorrow is checks only.

Skipper Joyce says one reason he likes watching major league baseball on TV is the opportunity to see millionaires make errors.

Gliding trophy to local

Snyder gliding enthusiast Charles Shaw has won the 1-26 Glider Championship held July 4-11 near Reno.

It was his first time to win in the solo category, he said, although he has flown in this competition many times in the past.

Last year when the glider championship was held near Hobbs, N.M., Shaw and his wife Joann won first place in the team category.

To win this year's glider competition, Shaw had to accumulate the most points over a six-day flying period. Because flying conditions were not ideal during the competition — in part due to the brush fires burning in the area — the flying was spread over an eight-day period, Shaw explain-

Drug raids capture 120 plus

CHICAGO (AP) — Raids by law officers in seven states, Puerto Rico and Mexico led to the arrest of 120 people and confiscation of 47 properties in a crackdown on a "Mexican connection" that authorities say has pumped heroin into the United States for two decades.

More than 400 state and federal agents took part in the raids Tuesday in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Texas, Colorado, Florida, California, Puerto Rico and Mexico, authorities said.

One of those arrested was Jesus Herrera-Diaz, described as "a chieftain of the Herrera organization in Chicago," which authorities say is part of a ring involving thousands of people. Many of those arrested in Indiana were members of the Zambrana family, which is allied with the Herreras, authorities said.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials believe the Herreras have been operating since the early 1960s, growing opium in the Sierra Madre Occidental around Durango, Mexico, refining it and shipping heroin north.

"We're not dealing with small quantities," said DEA Agent Phillip E. Jordan in Dallas. "We're dealing with multi-kilo distributions. We're dealing with the godfathers of organized crime in Mexico who use the Juarez-El Paso area to smuggle their narcotics into the United States.

"This shows the importance El Paso plays in the Mexican connection."

Eight people were arrested in El Paso, Texas, which sits across the Rio Grande from Juarez, Mexico.

The FBI would say only that millions of dollars' worth of marijuana, heroin and cocaine were seized in the raids, which netted more than 120 of 134 people named in recent federal indictments. Forty-seven pieces of residential and commercial property in the Chicago area were seized, authorities said.

The names of some of those indicted or arrested were withheld for security reasons, said U.S. Attorney Anton Valukas in Chicago. "There would be blood spilled if the names of the individuals in the undercover operation were revealed. It's a dangerous expedition and the largest of its kind in the history of the U.S. attorney's office."

Valukas said 99 people were charged in eight indictments alleging six distribution networks involving heroin, cocaine and marijuana — operating in the Chicago area. Another 35 were named in three indictments in Indiana.

The indictments charge conspiracy to violate drug-trafficking laws, use of telephones to commit narcotics offenses, interstate travel in aid of racketeering and the distribution and sale of heroin, cocaine and marijuana.

Valukas said the properties seized in the Chicago area include residences, taverns, jewelry shops, frozen food restaurants, hot dog and taco stands, a candy store and two service stations.

He declined to speculate on the value of drugs seized but said in one raid agents found 10 pounds of heroin. Police in Lake County, Ind., said one man was arrested in a Gary warehouse containing $8 million worth of drugs.

Leland might leave Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Houston Rep. Mickey Leland said Tuesday he is considering leaving Congress to run for a high-profile Harris County judgeship if the incumbent does not seek re-election.

Leland, a four-term Democrat, said he has "left the door open a crack" and will make a decision next month, presumably during Congress' August recess.

Leland's press secretary, Ellen Boyle, said the congressman had been asked to consider running for Harris County administrative judge if Jon Lindsay decides not to seek re-election next year.

The administrative judge presides over the powerful county commissioners court.

"He (Leland) was asked to consider it and he said he thought he ought to at least do that," said Ms. Boyle.

Leland is the only black member of the Texas congressional delegation.

Authorities arrest Italian mine owner

TRENTO, Italy (AP) — Authorities arrested an owner of the mine whose dam collapsed last week, wiping out an alpine resort, and charged him with involuntary manslaughter in the deaths of more than 200 tourists and villagers, prosecutors said today.

Meanwhile, two provincial officials, among 60 wanted for questioning in connection with the disaster, resigned their posts.

Giulio Rota, one of two brothers who own the Prealpi Mining Co., was arrested Tuesday night and was being interrogated, Trento Prosecutor Francesco Simeoni told The Associated Press.

Rota turned himself in to authorities Tuesday night after an arrest warrant was issued, Andrea Di Francia and Aldolfo De Bertolini, the arrested man's lawyers, also told the AP in Trento, the provincial capital.

Simeoni said the charges were involuntary multiple manslaughter and involuntarily causing a disaster.

The prosecutor on Saturday questioned Rota for several hours as part of efforts to see if negligence caused the earthen dam to give way at noontime last Friday, unleashing a torrent of mud, water and debris onto the hamlet of Stava in northeastern Italy.

More than 60 other people, many of them local government officials, have been given official notices by the prosecutor that they are wanted for questioning.

Two of them resigned their provincial government posts. Gianni Bazzanella, who heads the department of industry, told reporters after handing in his resignation: "A politician cannot remain in his post if there is even the slightest shadow over his job."

A co-owner of the mine, Rota's brother, was hospitalized a couple of weeks ago for a heart attack, press reports have said.

Giulio Rota holds both West German and Italian passports, officials have said.

By Tuesday night, rescuer workers digging through the mountain of mud, which flattened three hotels and a score of houses, had recovered 02 bodies, 34 of them unidentified. Authorities said the unidentified bodies might be among the at least 50 people reported missing.

Husband's Vasectomy Story Is Pregnant With Meaning

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Thomas (not his real name) and I have been married for nearly 21 years and have four children. He's 48 and I'm 43.

Yesterday I accidentally came across a receipt for a doctor's bill showing that Thomas had a vasectomy five years ago. He never told me he'd had one. I was shocked, especially since I had a tubal ligation nine years ago, after the birth of our fourth child.

When I confronted him, he said he'd had a vasectomy to prevent kidney stones, and since we didn't intend to have any more children, he didn't see any point in mentioning it.

I have never heard of a man having a vasectomy to prevent kidney stones; have you? Please consult your medical advisers. I'm too ashamed to ask a local doctor.

Also, why would a man want a vasectomy when his wife has had a tubal ligation?

DOUBTING THOMAS

DEAR DOUBTING: A man wants a vasectomy for the same reason a woman wants a tubal ligation—because he doesn't want any more children. And there is no correlation between a vasectomy and kidney stones.

DEAR ABBY: My question is about ankle bracelets. My mother has always worn one, and I admired the way it looked on her, so she gave me an ankle bracelet of my own to wear.

My mother wears hers on her left leg and I wear mine on my right leg. My sister says it's important on which leg you wear it—one leg means you're straight and the other leg means you're not. (You know what I mean.)

Please tell me which leg means straight and which means the other. I need an answer as soon as possible.

ANKLET IN FRESNO, CALIF.

DEAR ANKLET: I am not aware that wearing an ankle bracelet on the left leg or the right has any special significance. And meanwhile, don't believe everything you hear. The same story has been circulating about males who wear one earring—another undocumented bit of rubbish.

DEAR ABBY: We want to warn others about the adoption pains we have just experienced. We have been approved as adoptive parents for several years, but we grew impatient. Last month we were approached by the parents of a 16-year-old pregnant girl who wanted to place her child for adoption through our lawyer. Everything was arranged except the signing of the papers. After the baby (a girl) was born, the young mother decided not to give up her baby, so the deal was off.

Five days later she changed her mind and told us to come and get the baby. We were thrilled and went immediately to pick up the baby, and when she placed that little girl in my arms I was the happiest woman alive. The young mother promised to sign the papers and never bother us again.

Two days later, my husband and I took the baby shopping for baby clothes and furniture when this young mother phoned us. Nobody answered our phone so she kept calling until she found us home. She accused us of lying, saying we had left the baby all alone. She ranted and raved like a mad person! Abby, we had the baby with us, but she wouldn't believe us. She demanded that we bring the baby back immediately, so of course we had to, because we had no legal right to keep her.

Please advise adoptive couples to get all the papers signed before taking a baby. We learned a valuable lesson the hard way.

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Thank you for wanting to spare others from the painful experience you endured. The young mother was obviously distraught and ambivalent. Don't be surprised if she changes her mind again.

More than 200 detainees ups South African total to 653

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police said today they had detained 212 people in the previous 24 hours, increasing to 653 the total rounded up in the three days since a state of emergency was declared.

The emergency measures, the first imposed on South Africa in the past 25 years, had led to "a decrease in the number of incidents in which serious injuries or death have resulted, the police claimed in a statement.

The statement said damage to property "has shown a marked decrease."

Police said two more blacks were killed Tuesday in eastern Cape province, bringing the death toll to at least 10 since Sunday. Police opened fire when a crowd of about 150 stoned a patrol — one of five incidents reported in the area.

Also Tuesday, Bishop Desmond Tutu pleaded with fellow blacks to halt the killings of other blacks they view as tools of white-minority rule.

Police said they also have made about 70 arrests not related to the state of emergency in riot incidents.

Nearly 500 blacks have died in 11 months of rioting against apartheid, South Africa's legal form of racial segregation in which 5 million whites dominate 22 million voteless blacks.

President P.W. Botha imposed the emergency in 36 riot-torn cities and towns, mainly around Johannesburg and in the eastern Cape Province, to try to end the unrest.

Newspapers provide the most efficient means of reaching the best prospects in Texas.

Daily and Sunday newspaper readership is strong. The majority of adults in Texas read a daily newspaper everyday of the week; two thirds read every Sunday. In terms of where Texans get most of their shopping information, newspaper leads mail by more than 2 to 1 and TV by almost 3 to 1.

Southern Living buys local woman's recipe

Mrs. Borden Gray Sr. recently received notification from "Southern Living" magazine that her recipe, "Curried Rice Salad", had been published in the Left Over Rice section of ..."another state's edition"... of the magazine.

The recipe had been submitted for possible publication when Mrs. Gray was serving as president of the Martha Ann Woman's Club board of directors. They had discussed with "Southern Living" costs of advertising a regional cookbook compiled by the members of Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The cost was too high according to Mrs. Gray, but the staff member she spoke with asked to see some of the recipes in the collection.

"I didn't feel that I could chose just one, so I sent in one of mine," she explained. She refers to herself as a cook with cooking experience and is quick to point out that she is not a "fabulous cook", just a country cook.

"My grandmother was a ranch woman and she could tell cooks how to cook without a recipe. I learned to cook from scratch," she laughed.

Her cooking experience was gained following her marriage and move to the ranch where she cooked for the cowboys. She still cooks for the round-up crews and feeds an average of 10 cowboys each meal.

"My daughter-in-law helps a lot with that now. We share the duties of planning and organizing the cooking," she said.

Some of Mrs. Gray's favorite recipes are listed below.

APRICOT SALAD

1 (6-ounce) package apricot flavored gelatin
2-3 cup boiling water
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 (15 ½-ounce) can crushed pineapple, undrained
2 (7 ¾-ounce) jar apricot baby food
1 (8-ounce) carton frozen whipped topping, thawed
Lettuce, optional
Fresh or canned apricot slices, optional

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Cool slightly and set aside.

Beat cream cheese until smooth. Gradually add gelatin, beating well. Stir in pineapple and baby food. Fold in whipped topping.

Pour mixture into a 12x8x2-inch dish and cover and chill until firm.

To serve cut into squares and place on lettuce leaf, garnish with apricots.

Serves 12.

SQUASH DRESSING

1 box cornbread stuffing (chicken)
1 cup sour cream
1 can diced pimento — small can
1 can cream of chicken soup
2 cups squash (cooked and drained)
½ cup diced onion
1 finely grated carrot

Combine sour cream, pimento, chicken soup, cooked squash, and onion.

Grease a long casserole (6x12 or 8x12) and layer ½ box of stuffing mixed according to directions in the bottom of the pan. Pour the combined ingredients over the stuffing mix and place the remainder of the stuffing on top of that. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 8—10.

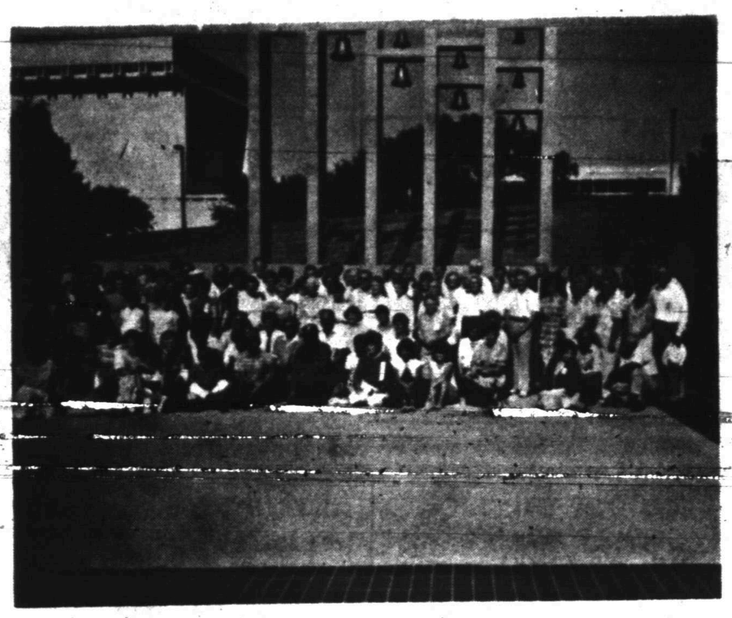
This is good served with ham, baked chicken or smoked turkey breast.

TORTILLA FLAT

Fry one six inch flour tortilla in hot oil until golden and puffy. Drain on paper towel. Brush with 1 tablespoon melted butter. Generously sprinkle with 2 teaspoons sugar and cinnamon mixed together. Top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Garnish with fresh fruit such as blueberries, strawberries, peaches, raspberries and nuts.

Makes one serving.



100 YEAR REUNION — The Burleson family all got together for the first time in 100 years in Austin during the month of June. The cousins attended a concert at the Burleson Bells on the University of Texas campus during the reunion. These bells were donated to UT in 1929 by Albert Sidney Burleson who was valedictorian of the 1884 graduating class.

Burleson klan holds reunion

Mrs. Mickey Sterling and Vada Burleson, both of Snyder, recently attended the Burleson family reunion in Austin. This was the first reunion involving the entire klan in 100 years.

According to tradition Edward Burleson was the first to come to the United States from England. He is said to have settled in Connecticut in 1716.

The story continues that some 10 years later his brother, Aaron Burleson, came over looking for him, but was unable to locate him, so he settled in North Carolina.

Until the Civil War, the separate klans were unaware of each other.

The last complete reunion was held in New Orleans in 1885 and was organized by Solomon Burleson, an Episcopal priest from Wisconsin, and Rufus Burleson, an early president of Baylor University.

The family founded the Burleson Family Association about five years ago and started making plans for the 100 year reunion. Austin was selected as the site since a large number of the family resides in Travis and Bastrop counties.

One of the high points of the reunion was a concert held at the Burleson Bells on the University of Texas campus. The bells were given to UT in 1929 by Albert Sidney Burleson who was valedictorian of the first graduating class of UT in 1884.

Recipe box

GRAHAM NUGGETS

3 cups coarsely crushed graham cracker crumbs
6-ounces (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
½ cup coarsely broken walnuts
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk

In a medium bowl mix together crumbs, chocolate and walnuts. Add milk and stir well. Drop level tablespoonfuls of the mixture 1 inch apart onto well greased and floured cookie sheets. Stir mixture often as you drop to ensure even distribution of chocolate and nuts. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven until set — 12 minutes. At once run a metal spatula under cookies and remove. Makes about 3 ½ dozen.

Eye-makeup base

A cosmetics specialty house has formulated a luminous beige makeup base to attract light to the eye area and give a satin finish to skin there.

It smooths on as easily as a cream, then disperses. If it's worn alone it provides only a long-lasting gleam, but it also makes a base for eyelid colors. Makers say colors will stay in place better and look brighter when applied over the base.

Dark sunglass lenses may not protect at all. Dark lenses cause pupils to dilate, letting more ultraviolet light reach deep regions of the eye.

While green and gray are the best filters, with brown a close third, the lens must also be ground optically to filter out 95 percent of ultraviolet and infrared rays.

Getting around king-fourth

In a partnership where there are loose agreements, North's second-round bid of two diamonds is dangerous. True, it's a reverse bid, and it's also true that reverse bids are forcing, but sometimes partner responds to one club with more imagination than high cards. If that were true in today's bidding, partner might also decide to violate a rule by passing a forcing bid. The reasoning would be: "I didn't have to bid over one club with this miserable hand, so I'll pass two diamonds, which looks like a makable contract.

Because the North-South pair was a seasoned partnership with firm agreements, the two-diamond bid was safe. Anyway South had plenty of strength to bid further. He rebid spades, North jumped to four, and South asked about heart control with his five-spade bid. North's bid of six spades confirmed a heart control.

Simple bidding, and the play was quick and simple too. East won the heart ace and continued with the queen, hoping to assure himself of a trump trick. Declarer trumped the second heart in dummy, took a spade finesse with the jack, then played the spade 10 to the queen. When West showed out, there were not really any choices in the play. The A-K-Q of clubs were played. When East discarded on the third club, declarer ruffed in hand and returned to dummy's queen of diamonds. Now the clubs were paraded. If East were to ruff, South would overruff and draw trumps. If East did not ruff, the lead would be in dummy at trick 12, and East would h to ruff in front of declarer.

Lips need special protection from the sun. Sun lotions made for body skin are easily washed away by saliva.

The lips are covered only by a thin mucous membrane, which needs a salve or waxy balm as a protective coating, according to Dr. Charles Zugerman, assistant professor of dermatology at Northwestern University Medical School. His advice is to look for a product with a sunscreen.

Molded rice desserts are especially good as make-ahead treats for busy cooks who enjoy entertaining but are short on time.

Add fresh whipped-cream topping and fresh or canned mandarin orange segments just before serving. If desired, pass chocolate chips and chopped pistachios or other nuts for guests to add or serve a homemade chocolate sauce as an added temptation.

Cold's effects are very real

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have what I think is Raynaud's disease — my fingers turn white if they get cold, or if I'm holding an iced beverage or walking outside when it's cold. I think I start to wear gloves sooner than anyone else in the country. What can I do to prevent this? Will it have any ill effects later on? Is it all in my head?

DEAR READER — It sounds as if you have Raynaud's disease, but check with a doctor to make sure. Raynaud's disease is caused by periodic spasm of the small muscular arteries leading to your fingers and toes. The condition is frequently precipitated by cold and can be made worse by smoking or by certain activities, such as using vibrating machinery. Electrically heated gloves may help; so may certain medicines that your doctor may prescribe if he finds that your symptoms are not the result of some other disease.

If the arterial spasm is prolonged or repeated, tissue damage can result. If it's any consolation, the problem is not in your head ... unless your ears and nose turn white in cold weather.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I used to be pretty skinny and always thought I was in good shape, but I took a stress test a few years ago and was wiped out a lot faster than anyone expected. I decided to try to get into better condition and I started exercising in a carefully watched program. I do have better muscle tone now, but I've been slowly gaining weight. I'm female and in my 40s. I'm tempted to stop exercising if my new program is causing this.

DEAR READER — Your question is more a series of statements. I'll counter with a question: Exercise is beneficial, so rather than stopping it, why not eat less?

DEAR DR.GOTT — I'm trying to have a healthy lifestyle. I never smoked, and now I've quit drinking coffee. I only drink one glass of wine a night and I've cut down on red meat (estrogen helped me decide this). I'm not overweight. However, I still eat sugar. Does this really matter?

DEAR READER — Probably not. All of us need a little vice, and, from the sound of it, you're coming up short. In moderation, sugar won't hurt you if you're not a diabetic or overweight. Although I am impressed with your efforts to maintain a healthy lifestyle, remember that stress will continue to affect you. Sometimes people who covet immortality tend to follow rather restrictive living patterns, with the result that life loses vibrancy and enjoyment. This can cause a type of stress which stems from their inability to live the model existence you feel you must. Relax; take it easy. Let down your hair and have a Hershey bar.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Former hostage Dozier retires

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) — The Army general who spent six weeks as a hostage of Italian terrorists will retire to the orange groves Thursday.

Maj. Gen. James Dozier's 35-year military career will close at a ceremony at Fort Hood, where he has served as deputy commanding general for two years.

On Dec. 18, 1981, while serving as the highest-ranking American in the allied land forces in Italy, Red Brigades terrorists posing as plumbers kidnapped Dozier. He was freed six weeks later by an anti-terrorist squad, becoming the first Red Brigades hostage to be rescued.

Arrests sparked by the rescue led to prison sentences for 17 people. Almost 400 other people were arrested on related terrorism charges.

Since the incident, Dozier and his wife, Judy, have lectured about the kidnapping, telling about the effect of international terrorism on CIA and State Department workers.

Vets frustrated by still missing soldiers

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Ambivalent feelings lingered in the bare, muggy meeting room where about 200 people had gathered for a candlelight vigil to remember men still missing in Vietnam.

The Texas veterans cried and boasted as they remembered their past. Several dressed in their old uniforms beamed with pride and saluted as they watched an American flag pass by them in a silent parade.

But those same men quickly chastised their government for its slowness in arranging the return of American soldiers still missing in Vietnam.

"It's a long time overdue," said Sam Atwood, a 1966-67 Army veteran. "I don't think they are doing enough about it. It's really still going on over there."

Atwood was left paralyzed by wounds in Vietnam.

Hanoi announced in an early July meeting that it would return the remains of 26 Americans. Negotiations between the United States and Vietnam have been ongoing for the last 10 years. Most recently, at a February meeting, the countries agreed to meet six times a year to trade information and search for the missing.

Lewis and Lora Wall, of Jacksonville, Texas, said they are afraid one of the bodies to be returned may be their son who has been missing for 19 years.

"We're not convinced he's dead. They never found his body," said Mrs. Wall, mother of Jerry Wall, who was sent to Vietnam in 1966.

Mrs. Wall said her son had been in Vietnam for six months before she received a telegram that he was presumed dead.

"Someday, I'm afraid I'll get that call and it will be mine," she said. "If it is, I'd like to have it, but that's not all I want. I want a person."

She and her husband said they don't believe the government has done enough to find the missing soldiers.

"If they can get a task force together to rescue the hostages," said Lewis Wall referring to hostages of Trans World Airlines Flight 847, "why can't they get together a task force to rescue the MIAs? Someone needs to care."

The Texas veterans and MIA families met last weekend in Tyler for National POW-MIA Day of Recognition. The veterans said they plan to use their political forces and encourage government officials to speed negotiations with Hanoi.

Officials estimate that 2,464 American soldiers still are missing in Southeast Asia. Among the missing are 161 Texans.

"It'd be the same if a brother was missing from a boat in the Gulf," said Ron Edwards, Vietnam veteran from 1964 to 1968. "I'd want someone to find him ... I'd want something nice said over his body. They (the missing) are family."

Edwards said he thinks the Vietnamese are using the still unreturned soldiers as a political tool for receiving recognition from the United States.

But Col. James Lamar, a retired Air Force officer who was a prisoner of war in Hanoi for seven years, said he didn't know that anything more could be done to speed the search for missing soldiers.

"I don't know if there is anything more we can do. The U.S. is doing a lot of things a lot of people don't know about."

The U.S. trade balance has slumped to a record deficit. Last year's deficit of $101.6 billion more than doubled the 1983 total. Why? U.S. buying abroad far outstripped the foreign purchases of U.S. goods and services.

Attorney urges tougher plea bargains

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Attorney Henry K. Oncken says he is urging his prosecutors to negotiate stiffer plea bargains so judges will be stricter in sentencing defendants.

But defense attorneys say the crackdown will only encourage defendants to take their chances in costly courtroom trials.

Oncken, a former state prosecutor and former state district judge, said he has ordered his staff to enter into agreements that call for defendants to plead guilty to a substantial part of the indictment.

He said that when he took the federal attorney's post earlier this year he was concerned by the many one-count guilty pleas he saw.

"Having been on the bench myself, I believe it sends a signal to the judge that the case is not all that great," he said.

Oncken said he is not trying to discourage plea bargaining, but is merely trying to strengthen the guidelines.

However, some defense attorneys say the new policy will result in more trials, which are costly, rather than stiffer sentences.

"It isn't going to result in one day more in prison for defendants," said Assistant Federal Public Defender Tom Berg. "If it is a means of encouraging judges to assess stronger sentences, there are more sophisticated ways to do it."

Berg said the reason many defendants get probation is because "the U.S. attorney's office spends so much time prosecuting probation-type cases — like small-scale mail fraud, welfare and social security violations."

"The judges are not timid about imposing serious sentences for serious crimes," he said.

Defense lawyer Edward Mallett said prosecutors — particularly in drug cases — often bring multi-count indictments as a result of a single transaction. He said a defendant is likely to take his chances in trial rather than plead guilty to substantial counts stemming from one incident.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda said the new policy probably will not affect the sentences he assesses.

"I don't think I'm influenced that much by the number of counts a defendant pleads guilty to," DeAnda said. "Every judge in every case looks at the gravity of what a defendant did."

The judge said he also examines the nature of the offense, family background and the likelihood of rehabilitation.

Guardianship fight is lost

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — A lesbian who lost a court battle to become the legal guardian of a severely brain-damaged woman she says had been her lover maintains the ruling proves that homosexuals are treated unfairly.

Karen Thompson of St. Cloud said Tuesday night she would appeal Sherburne County District Court Judge Bruce Douglas' appointment of Donald Kowalski as guardian for his daughter, Sharon Kowalski.

The ruling gives Kowalski the power to determine who may visit her.

"If Sharon and I were a man and a woman, we'd be married and this couldn't happen to us, and therefore we're not protected equally by the law," said Ms. Thompson.

Ms. Kowalski, 28, received massive head injuries when a drunken driver hit her car in 1983. Psychologists say she has the mentality of a 6-year-old.

Ex-leader's relative faces cocaine charges

HOUSTON (AP) — The son-in-law of a former Bolivian president arranged for the shipment of 110 kilograms of cocaine from South America, an assistant U.S. attorney charged during the Bolivian national's cocaine trafficking trial.

During the first day of the trial Tuesday, Assistant U.S. Attorney Albert Ratliff said Jorge Arroyo, 25, was a "broker putting one deal together after another."

Arroyo, son-in-law of former Bolvian President Hugo Banzer Suarez, is charged in a nine-count indictment with conspiracy, importation, distribution and possession with intent to distribute cocaine, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Ratliff said Arroyo arranged for the shipment of multi-kilogram loads of cocaine from South America, then distributed the drug from Houston and other states.

But Arroyo's attorney, Kent Schaffer, said his client, a Bolivian national living in Houston, was implicated in drug dealing by two Houston drug informants who were looking for a way out of their own difficulty.

The informants tried to involve Arroyo in a drug transaction because they knew his family ties would interest the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, Schaffer said. Banzer was a front-runner for Bolivian president in a July 14 election.

Arroyo has been living in Houston since 1982 attending the University of Houston and running a pastry business that has since failed, his attorney said.

The government's first witness, DEA special agent Roger Norman testified Tuesday that he met with Arroyo in a meeting set up last summer by two informants, Dan de la Garza and Harvey Davis. The two were Houston partners in a body guard business, the Chronicle reported.

Norman, posing as a cocaine buyer, said he discussed purchasing 110 kilograms of cocaine from Arroyo, who allegedly wanted to complete the transaction in California.

Norman said Arroyo told him they could "have a good time and party" in a "big house with big gates" in California.

But Schaffer said that de la Garza, now jailed in Colombia, and Davis, who is charged in Harris County with drug offenses, tried to threaten Arroyo into participating in drug deals because of money Arroyo owed them.

Schaffer said any drugs that were delivered wound up in the informants' hands and were illegally sold by them.

The trial in U.S. District Judge Carl O. Bue's court is expected to last a week.

When you are defrosting the refrigerator, put an old bathmat in front of it. It will help catch spills, says Family Circle magazine. Another hint from the magazine says an easy way to clean the grater is to spray it with no-stick vegetable spray before using it. Lemon rind, cheese, onion or whatever will be much easier to remove from the grater holes.

Nuclear accords are signed 15 months late

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration and China have signed the first nuclear cooperation agreement between the United States and a communist government.

President Reagan gave his final approval Tuesday shortly before meeting with Chinese President Li Xiannian, and the accord wes signed later in the day by Energy Secretary John Herrington and Chinese Vice Premier Li Peng.

A senior administration official offered assurances that the accord, which is still subject to congressional approval, would not strengthen China's nuclear weapons capability.

"China is a nuclear weapons state already without our help," said the official, who briefed reporters on condition he not be identified. "And nothing under this agreement is going to help China's military program."

Reagan in his first full day back on the job after cancer surgery, said at a banquet in President Li's honor Tuesday evening that he felt fine. Although the 74-year-old president appeared thinner and a little less sure of foot than before, the outward indications were that he was recovering nicely from the major surgery just 10 days earlier.

In remarks prepared for a banquet toast, Reagan told the 76-year-old Li that "I am happy to say I remain confident that Chinese-American cooperation will grow and strengthen in the years ahead."

Reagan also announced that Vice President George Bush will visit China at the Chinese government's invitation. The head of the Chinese Communist Party, Hu Yaobang, is expected to visit Washington within the next year also.

Li said in his toast he hoped his talks with Reagan had further strengthened the U.S.-China friendship. But he warned that differences over Taiwan could "become an obstacle" to the development of such ties. He expressed hope the differences could be resolved.

Li also called for improved U.S.-Soviet relations and "a drastic cut in their armaments, particularly their nuclear armaments."

Li, on the third day of his four-day visit, was to tour the National Air and Space Museum this morning, accompanied by his wife, Lin Jiamei. He also planned to attend a lunch hosted by the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, then meet with Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger.

Rabies shots given

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Sixty-eight employees of Hendrick Medical Center have received the first of five inoculations against rabies after coming in contact with a man who died of the disease, health officials said.

The employees were those who might have come in contact with Santiago Martinez, a 19-year-old man who died of rabies on May 20, the Abilene Reporter-News reported today.

At a press conference Tuesday, Hendrick officials said once again that the risk that Martinez might have passed the disease to other humans is very small and that there is no risk to the community.

There have been no documented cases of rabies being transfered from one human to another, except in the case of corneal (part of the eye) transplants, Dr. B.B. Trotter, chief pathologist at Hendrick said.

But, because rabies is almost always fatal, about 100 Hendrick employees who might have come in contact with Martinez during his stay here were informed of the risks of catching the disease and offered the opportunity to be inoculated.

Your Birthday

July 25, 1985

In the year ahead you may enter into several partnership arrangements. Strong associations will be rewarding, but weak alliances could cause you problems.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Neither you nor your mate should make important decisions today without first consulting one another. Each may see something the other has overlooked. Major changes are ahead for Leos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you really know what you're talking about, it's best you don't give others instructions. You'll be held accountable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might be a trifle too loose with your resources. This could cause you problems later when you start wondering why your funds have run out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Common sense will work for you today where your four-leaf clover or rabbit's foot won't. Be sensible regarding how far you can push your luck.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's important today that you try to see things as they really are and not as you'd like them to be. Optimism is an asset, wishful thinking isn't.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Expensive activities today are likely to be the ones that turn out to be the least fun. Try to enjoy yourself without blowing your budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There is an abundance of opportunity about you today, but there is also a possibility you might take things for granted and not make of them what you should.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Make it a point today not to repeat past mistakes. Just because you got away with something previously doesn't mean you'll be as lucky this time.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Avoid involvements with friends today who are better able to spend than you. You could be embarrassed if you can't match their extravagance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you fail to think for yourself today, someone with whom you're involved may make decisions for you that won't be well thought out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Action, not words, is what counts. It's best not to talk to others about what you intend to do today unless you're sure you can follow through.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Normally you're a conservative and practical person, but today if you let your guard down, you might throw caution to the winds and gamble on something you shouldn't.

Kitty Hawk leaves port for Indian Ocean

WASHINGTON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk will leave U.S. port for the Indian Ocean as scheduled despite claims that evidence needed for fraud and theft investigations might be compromised, officials said.

Assertions that the carrier's presence were vital to an investigation were made Tuesday in a telegram sent to President Reagan by a crewman aboard the ship. The sailor, Petty Officer 1st Class Robert Jackson, already has touched off one Navy probe involving missing spare parts and falsified records.

Jackson claimed in his telegram he had also figured out how spare aircraft parts were diverted from the carrier to Iran. That smuggling ring was broken up recently by the FBI, which was continuing a separate investigation.

White House officials had no immediate comment late Tuesday on whether the president had seen the telegram from Jackson. The telegram was released here by Rep. Jim Bates, D-Calif., who also said he had been informed by Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger that the carrier would depart on schedule today from San Diego, Calif.

"I think it would be better if the carrier didn't go," Bates added. "But the bottom line is I can't get them to seriously consider stopping the deployment."

A Navy official who spoke only on condition of anonymity confirmed the Kitty Hawk would deploy on schedule. Concern about the investigations must be balanced "against the major operational impact of holding the ship up," the source said.

The official also asserted the ship's departure would in no way affect the continuing investigations.

"I can't think of a better place to conduct a probe," the source said. "It's hard to escape a ship. And every carrier has a full-time Naval Investigative Service agent on board."

Jackson wrote in his telegram, however, that "valuable evidence necessary to the investigation of my charges will be altered and destroyed" if the ship leaves port.

"I have discovered the means by which Iran and USSR were able to steal F-14 parts and Phoenix missile system components from the USS Kitty Hawk," Jackson wrote. "I believe a thorough investigation of this matter is crucial to national security. Please halt the USS Kitty Hawk."

The FBI so far has arrested seven suspects in the purported scheme to smuggle spare parts to Iran for U.S.-built jet fighters purchased before the downfall of the Shah of Iran in 1978. One of those arrested was a Navy storekeeper on the Kitty Hawk.

Jackson, in a 25-page statement sent to the FBI, Navy investigators and Bates over the weekend, accused Kitty Hawk crew members of throwing excess military supplies into the ocean, stealing Navy [illegible] and parts, and falsifying financial records to conceal the abuses. He also asserted that his audits turned up millions of dollars in orders for parts and other products that were unaccounted for in ship's records.

Jackson has been transferred to shore duty from the carrier and is said to be cooperating with federal investigators.

Huge losses posted

DALLAS (AP) — Diamond Shamrock Corp. officials say an $810.3 million writedown of company assets led to a second-quarter loss of $764.4 million.

Officials of the energy firm, which announced a reorganization earlier this month, said Tuesday that without the writedown the company would have reported earnings of $45.9 million for the second quarter, or 33 cents per share, compared to $64.3 million, or 48 cents per share, in the second quarter of last year.

Sales declined from $1.1 billion in the second quarter of 1984 to $1 billion for the three-month period ending June 30.

The writedown is also expected to mean the company will show a loss for the entire year, said Diamond Shamrock chairman William H. Bricker.

"By taking this writedown, we are acknowledging the impact of disinflation and worldwide competition on all segments of our business," Bricker said. "But for the future, this means earnings will not be burdened with the depreciation required by the unrealistic book values."

Industry analysts were cautious in their reaction to the second-quarter results Tuesday afternoon, saying they were awaiting more information from the company.

"I certainly expected the results to be a little better than 33 cents," said Katherine Stults, of Dean Witter Reynolds in New York. "It's disappointing."

Other analysts said there appeared to be no major surprises in the Diamond Shamrock results.

"At the moment the 33 cents a share before the writeoff was only about 2 cents below my expectations," said Frank Knuettel of Prudential Bache Securities in New York.

Malaria warning issued

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — State health officials are urging people traveling to coastal resorts on the Pacific Coast of Mexico to take precautions against malaria, the San Antonio Light reported today.

The warning Tuesday was prompted by a malaria outbreak that struck six members of a Live Oak family on vacation in Acapulco.

Health officials recommended that travelers consider taking chloroquine tablets once a week to ward off the mosquito-borne disease, which causes stomach cramps, chills, fever and headaches.

The agency also reported two malaria cases among Houston residents visiting the Acapulco area. Additionally, the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta has reported that two New Mexico residents came down with the disease after vacationing earlier this summer in Puerta Vallarta, the Light reported.

"It's the largest number we've had in a while," Dr. Courand Rothe, director of the Metropolitan Health District, told the newspaper. Seventy-seven Texans contracted the disease last year, but just one was a resident of the San Antonio area.

U.S., China...

Nuclear accords are signed 15 months late

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration and China have signed the first nuclear cooperation agreement between the United States and a communist government.

President Reagan gave his final approval Tuesday shortly before meeting with Chinese President Li Xiannian, and the accord wes signed later in the day by Energy Secretary John Herrington and Chinese Vice Premier Li Peng.

A senior administration official offered assurances that the accord, which is still subject to congressional approval, would not strengthen China's nuclear weapons capability.

"China is a nuclear weapons state already without our help," [illegible] reporters on condition he not be identified. "And nothing under this agreement is going to help China's military program."

Reagan in his first full day back on the job after cancer surgery, said at a banquet in President Li's honor Tuesday evening that he felt fine. Although the 74-year-old president appeared thinner and a little [illegible] outward indications were that he was recovering nicely from the major surgery just 10 days earlier.

In remarks prepared for a banquet toast, Reagan told the 76-year-old Li that "I am happy to say I remain confident that Chinese-American cooperation will grow and strengthen in the years ahead."

[illegible] Vice President George Bush will visit China at the Chinese government's invitation. The head of the Chinese Communist Party, Hu Yaobang, is expected to visit Washington within the next year also.

Li said in his toast he hoped his talks with Reagan had further strengthened the U.S.-China friendship. But he warned that differences over Taiwan could "become an obstacle" to the development of such ties. He expressed hope the differences could be resolved.

Li also called for improved U.S.-Soviet relations and "a drastic cut in their armaments, particularly their nuclear armaments."

Li, on the third day of his four-day visit, was to tour the National Air and Space Museum this morning, accompanied by his wife, Lin Jiamei. He also planned to attend a lunch hosted by the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, then meet with Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger.

Rabies shots given

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Sixty-eight employees of Hendrick Medical Center have received the first of five inoculations against rabies after coming in contact with a man who died of the disease, health officials said.

The employees were those who might have come in contact with Santiago Martinez, a 19-year-old man who died of rabies on May 20, the Abilene Reporter-News reported today.

At a press conference Tuesday, Hendrick officials said once again that the risk that Martinez might have passed the disease to other humans is very small and that there is no risk to the community.

There have been no documented cases of rabies being transfered from one human to another, except in the case of corneal (part of the eye) transplants, Dr. B.B. Trotter, chief pathologist at Hendrick said.

But, because rabies is almost always fatal, about 100 Hendrick employees who might have come in contact with Martinez during his stay here were informed of the risks of catching the disease and offered the opportunity to be inoculated.

Mexican leaders announces new program

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Miguel de la Madrid, facing a deteriorating economy, has announced a five-point program to slice government spending, reduce protectionist trade measures and bring order to the chaotic currency markets.

Analysts said Tuesday the steps were needed but some noted the president failed to spell out details of the measures and that he had called for such changes previously.

"What worries me is its the third announcement of this type (on reducing government spending) during the year and that may be an indication that things are not going very well," said Ignacio Trigueros, director of economic research at the Mexican Autonomous Institute of Technology.

In unveiling his plan at a bankers' meeting Monday, de la Madrid said, "In the last weeks a climate of worry and excessive nervousness has become obvious among the principal economic agents."

"[illegible] circumstances require us to redouble our efforts," he said.

Among the problems confronting the economy are lower oil prices, sluggish demand for non-oil exports, high inflation, strong government spending and sharp falls in the peso currency on the free market.

As a result, de la Madrid said the government will adopt "profound and energetic measures that will attack the bottom of the problems."

The actions, he said, will "demand still greater efforts from society. There are no other viable options. I cannot offer the nation complacency or indecision."

These steps, he said, center on five areas: reducing government spending, stepping up efforts to lower protectionist barriers by replacing the current import permit program with a modern tariff system, and bringing order to the currency markets to protect the holdings of international reserves. They also include stepping up efforts to collect back taxes and stop the illegal sale of goods, and channeling financial resources to needed parts of the economy.

Jesus Murcio, an economist at the consulting firm of Data Resources Inc. in Lexington, Mass., said a reduction in Mexican government expenditures would slow the "troubled" economy and relieve pressure on inflation, running above the 50 percent mark on an annual basis.

With the slowdown, analysts predicted the economy would grow 3 percent to 4 percent, after adjustment for inflation, this year. It expanded at a faster-than-expected clip of 6 percent to 7 percent in the first half of the year.

Murcio did not foresee the government stepping so hard on the brakes that the economy would slide into a recession. But Trigueros predicted such a downturn in the last three months of the year.

Mexicans in recent weeks have expressed concern that the recent falls in oil prices and the devaluation of the currency are a replay of 1982 when the oil bubble burst and the economy collapsed.

Some also worry that further economic turmoil will hinder the nation's ability in the future to meet the interest payments on its foreign debt.

Criticize waste proposal

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Critics and supporters of the U.S. Department of Energy's proposal to store nuclear waste in the Panhandle aired their differences at a public briefing where some said the plan could hurt farmland and water sources.

A crowd gathered at the Amarillo Civic Center on Tuesday to talk about the department's proposal to locate the nation's first high-level nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County 30 miles west of Amarillo. Two other sites are being considered.

Angela Lamb, district manager of the Texas Department of Agriculture, said the DOE has failed to protect its own laboratory workers from radiation hazards.

"DOE's record for health and safety is about as clear as the Amarillo sky in a heavy dust storm," Mrs. Lamb said.

Other people at the briefing expressed a lack of confidence in the energy department's ability to construct a safe high-level nuclear waste respository in Deaf Smith County, the Amarillo Daily News reported.

Mrs. Lamb said she doubted that the DOE underground waste dump could be constructed without damage to the Ogallala Acquifer and Panhandle farmland.

Deaf Smith County is the one of the state's top agriculture producing county.

Don Hancock, a member of the Southwest Research and Information Center in Albuquerque, N.M., said he does not believe a permanent seal can be constructed in the shaft to insure that the Ogallala and Santa Rosa acquifers would not be polluted and that the water from them would not eventually flood the mine shaft.

The DOE's proposal to freeze both acquifers to drill through them is not proven technology, said Wayne Wyatt, manager of High Plains Underground Water Conservation District in Lubbock.

"They don't know what is going to happen, we don't even know what's going to happen and it could get us all in trouble," Wyatt said.

The DOE is finalizing drafts of its environmental assestments of the area and records of public comment.

Accident closes highway

LLANO, Texas (AP) — State troopers closed Texas Highway 71 for 12 hours after a tanker overturned, spilling about 20 gallons of a hazardous substance.

The highway was reopened to traffic a little before 3 p.m. Tuesday, said Keith Ray, Lampasas dispatcher for the Department of Public Safety.

Vinyl acetatate, a flammable and toxic substance, remaining in the overturned trucker was loaded into a Union Carbide truck, officials said.

The tanker overturned about 15 miles east of Llano around 2:22 a.m. Tuesday, leaking the hazardous chemical.

No one was injured in the one-vehicle accident.

Drug busts show significance of El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — This border city played a key role in a major Mexican narcotics smuggling operation that drug agents believe was broken up with the arrests of more than 120 people in six states, officials say.

"We're not dealing with small quantities. We're dealing with multi-kilo distributions. We're dealing with the godfathers of organized crime in Mexico who use the Juarez-El Paso area to smuggle their narcotics into the United States," said Phillip E. Jordan, special agent in charge of the Drug Enforcement Administration's Dallas field division.

"This shows the importance El Paso plays in the Mexican connection," Jordan said, referring to the arrests that culminated a two-year investigation by the DEA and the FBI of the activities of the Herrera family of Durango, Mexico.

More than 400 law enforcement officials launched early-morning raids Tuesday in Illinois, Texas, Florida, California, Colorado and Indiana, and arrested residents of those states and of Puerto Rico and Mexico, according to U.S. Attorney Anton R. Valukas in Chicago.

Valukas said 134 people had been indicted on various charges that included conspiracy to violate drug trafficking laws use of interstate communication facilities to violate drug trafficking laws and interstate travel between Chicago, El Paso and Mexico for the purpose of acquiring illegal drugs.

Eight of those arrested live in El Paso, said Ron Hoverson, special agent in charge of the El Paso FBI bureau.

Jordan said officials believe the Herrera organization has used El Paso and neighboring Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, for several years to import drugs into the United States.

El Paso is separated from Juarez, a city of about 1 million people, only by the Rio Grande.

"The Herrera organization has been targeted by DEA and other agencies for a long time," Jordan said. "When you talk about the Herrera organization of Durango, Mexico, you can compare it with some of the best organized crime out of Mexico and in the United States."

The operation is considered to be a multimillion-dollar drug network, involving thousands of people, Jordan said.

Agents say that at times, the Herreras have had such control over heroin sales that they were able to set the price, quality and availability of the drug.

In addition to Tuesday's arrests, authorities in Chicago said they seized $197,000 in cash, along with large amounts of marijuana, cocaine and heroin.

Hoverson said neither property nor drugs were seized in El Paso.

The eight people arrested in El Paso were: Rodolfo Esparza-Corral, 29; Gustavo Aguilar-Arias, 44; Alfredo Herrera-[illegible], 55; Manuel Jurardo, 30; Julian Nevarez, 51; Juan Rios-Guzman, 52; and Antonio Salcido-Salcido, 40.

Hoverson said the men appeared Tuesday afternoon before U.S. Magistrate Philip Cole, who denied bond for all. A detention hearing for the eight is to be held today, according to assistant U.S. Attorney Tom McHugh.

Modest increase reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department economists say food prices are likely to continue a modest upward creep the rest of the year.

On Tuesday, the Labor Department reported that retail food prices in June rose 0.1 percent. All of the increase was due to a 0.6 percent increase in the price of food eaten away from home. Grocery store prices actually dropped 0.2 percent last month, the fourth straight decline.

In a new outlook report written before the June prices were released, USDA economist Ralph Parlett said that 1985 food prices are rising at "a slightly lower rate" than they did last year.

The retail food price gain in calendar 1984 was 3.8 percent. This year, says Parlett's report, food prices are headed for a gain of between 2 percent and 4 percent. The gain in the first half was about 2.5 percent from a year earlier.

"Large supplies of many farm foods, particularly meats, have kept food price increases small this year," the report said. "In addition, the rate of increase in disposable personal income has slowed, reducing the upward pressure on consumer demand."

According to the latest outlook, total production of red meat and poultry this year is expected to about match the 1984 level. Beef and pork output is forecast to drop slightly this year, but larger turkey and broiler production will more than offset the decline.

"Slaughter weights of cattle and hogs have averaged higher than normal this year, contributing to the larger-than-expected production of red meats," the report said. "Also, the number of pigs saved per litter has averaged higher, adding to the number of slaughtered hogs. Poultry producers have increased production in response to a more profitable outlook and lower feed costs."

Thus, the report said, 1985 average retail meat prices probably will be near last year's mark. Beef prices are expected to average slightly lower than in 1984, pork slightly higher. Retail prices of turkeys and broilers are likely to average slightly lower.

Supplies of fresh vegetables have been larger this year, despite the late January freeze in Florida. Many vegetables had been harvested prior to the freeze, and imports from Mexico were in abundance.

As a result, prices of fresh vegetables did not rise as much as they did after the Christmas freeze in 1983, the report said. Also, this January much of the damaged acreage was replanted, which helped keep the supply ample in the spring.

But fresh fruit supplies this year have been small because of a reduced apple harvest in 1984, smaller winter pear production, and a freeze-reduced citrus crop.

"Supplies of most fresh fruit will remain in tight supply this summer because of harsh winter weather and late spring frosts," the report said. "Damage to peach trees in the Southeast will substantially reduce the summer crop. Supplies of apricot, plus and sweet cherries also will be smaller than last year."

With smaller supplies of many fresh fruits, prices "will likely be much higher than in 1984," the report said. Overall, those prices could rise an average of 12 percent to 14 percent from last year.

President Abraham Lincoln signed a bill in 1862 to end slavery in the District of Columbia.

Former employee is accused of stealing

HOUSTON (AP) — A former business manager of Arabian American Oil Co. who allegedly forged a signature to accept $3.75 million to settle a contract dispute is being sued by the company.

T.S. Roberson, who until June 10 served on a team that supervised a gas-gathering project for Aramco off the Saudi Arabian coast, is named as the defendant in the lawsuit filed in state court.

The suit filed by Houston attorney Carol Vance, alleges Roberson used his knowledge of a contract dispute between Aramco and Brown & Root Alireza Ltd. to swindle his employer out of $3.75 million.

A telephone company recording indicated the Houston number listed for Roberson is no longer in service.

According to the suit, Roberson forged the signature of a Brown & Root employee and a letter claiming Brown & Root decided to accept $3.75 million to settle the contract dispute.

But Aramco later learned Brown & Root officials had reached no such agreement.

Roberson then allegedly forged a second letter — using a bogus signature for an Aramco vice president — requesting a liabilities waiver in exchange for the payment to Brown & Root.

Roberson left Saudi Arabia June 11 with a check drawn on an Aramco account, according to the suit. He was scheduled to take a vacation through June 30 but never returned to work.

According to the suit, inquiries by Aramco revealed Roberson "sold all of his personal effects before leaving Saudi Arabia" and tried to "eradicate all Aramco records indicating his current contact addresses in the United States."

The suit says Roberson also cashed funds he received under a company savings plan.

100 Lebanese prisoners freed

ATLIT, Israel (AP) — A group of 100 Lebanese prisoners freed from an Israeli military jail today crossed the border into Lebanon to return to their homes, U.N. officials said.

The prisoners, mostly Shiite Moslems, were among hundreds whose release had been demanded by Shiite extremists who hijacked a TWA plane last month, killed a U.S. Navy man and held 39 Americans hostage for 17 days.

Traveling in three Israeli buses, the prisoners crossed the border at Rosh Hanikra and were driven up the Mediterranean coastal highway, according to U.N. officials contacted at Naqoura, headquarters of the U.N. peacekeeping force in South Lebanon. They spoke on condition of anonymity.

Israel radio reported that the Red Cross, as was the case in previous prisoner releases, was overseeing the operation as the freed men boarded buses to carry them back to their towns and villages.

Israeli military sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said most of those freed today were members of the Iranian-backed Hezbollah, or Party of God group, which is engaged in a internal power struggle with the mainstream Shiite militia Amal headed by Nabih Berri.

Davar, an Israeli newspaper, reported that the estimated 330 inmates remaining at the prison would be released in three groups at two-week intervals. Israeli sources said the next group probably would be freed in about two weeks.

Prisoners, dressed in blue-and-white track suits, boarded three buses at the prison 50 miles north of Tel Aviv on the Mediterannean coast.

They were among 1,200 Lebanese and Palestinians who had been transferred to Israel from the Ansar prison camp in southern Lebanon in April.

Arab and Western governments, including the United States, as well as the International Red Cross, protested the move, claiming it violated the Geneva Conventions against transferring prisoners of war across international borders.

Israel maintained that the detainees were not prisoners of war, saying that Israel and Lebanon were not in a declared state of war when the prisoners were taken. Most were picked up in raids carried out by the Israeli army in southern Lebanon before most of Israel's occupation force was withdrawn in June.

The prisoners were accused of participating in acts against the Israeli forces or their allies during the 1982-85 occupation, but none have been formally tried or convicted.

Radical Shiites who hijacked a Trans World Airways jetliner on its way from Athens to Rome last [illegible] demanded release of the Atlit prisoners. The hijackers killed a U.S. Navy diver and held 39 passengers hostage for 17 days.

Israel refused to give in to the hijackers demands, saying the release of the Atlit prisoners was part of an ongoing process linked to security in southern Lebanon.

On July 3, three days after the TWA hijack ended, Israel released 300 of the prisoners. Thirty-one were let go during the hijacking.

Israel has freed 807 of the prisoners since they were moved to Israel.

Four prisoners interviewed by The Associated Press at the prison complained Tuesday about strict military discipline, but said they had not suffered any systematic abuse and had received adequate food, shelter and medical care.

Justice won't seek Presser's indictment over alleged scam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department, after a lengthy investigation of an alleged phony payroll scheme, has decided not to seek an indictment against Teamsters President Jackie Presser, government sources say.

Presser's name has been dropped from the proceedings of a grand jury that has been sitting in Cleveland, the sources said late Tuesday.

The grand jury had been investigating allegations that Presser, who ascended to the helm of the Teamsters in early 1983, had engaged in a "ghost payroll" scheme in his role as secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 507 in Cleveland. Presser became Teamster leader when former union president Roy Lee Williams was forced to resign because of a bribery-conspiracy conviction.

Earlier this year, Justice Department field investigators recommended to top officials in Washington that Presser be indicted in connection with the alleged scheme in which people were paid for work they did not perform.

Terry Eastland, spokesman for Attorney General Edwin Meese III, said late Tuesday: "We just don't have anything to say right now" about the Presser investigation.

Meese, who became attorney general in late February, had close ties to Presser during Meese's more than four years as a White House counsel to President Reagan. Presser also threw the support of his union behind President Reagan's election campaign.

At a news conference last March, Meese was asked whether he would excuse himself from any involvement in the department's deliberations on whether to seek Presser's indictment. He said if he thought it necessary to take himself out of the case, he would make that known at the appropriate time.

Presser has maintained his innocence regarding the Local 507 allegations.

The probe had been initiated jointly in 1982 by the Department of Labor's Office of Labor Racketeering and the Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force.

"The Office of Labor Racketeering at the Department of Labor has no pending investigation of Jackie Presser," a high ranking official said Tuesday.

A government investigative source said said there would be no withdrawal of Labor Department racketeering authorities from the case if any chance for an indictment by the grand jury remained.

All the sources spoke only on condition of anonymity.

Robert Reading Jr., a Cleveland real estate sales manager who headed the grand jury, would not discuss the matter in a telephone interview from his home late Tuesday.

"I have no comment. I have to maintain this posture for this time," he said.

Activist health group seeks ban on lotion

WASHINGTON (AP) — An activist health group asked the Food and Drug Administration today to ban a popular lotion for treating diaper rash, contending its active ingredient has been shown in animal tests to cause nerve damage.

The Public Citizen Health Research Group said in a petition being filed with the FDA that the drug, most commonly known as Vioform, can be absorbed through the skin of infants in amounts that raise serious concerns about its dangers.

The active ingredient in the drug is iodochlorhydroxyquin, also known as clioquinol, which already has been banned in the United States and most other countries in its oral form because of its hazard, the group said.

The petition acknowledged there have been no cases of nerve damage attributed to the lotion, but argued that "there is reason to believe that this form of the drug poses a significant threat of toxicity."

Recent tests on dogs at the University of Nebraska indicate that as much as 40 percent of the drug rubbed on the skin for treating diaper rash can be absorbed through the skin and can accumulate in tissue, the group said.

Vioform, a non-prescription drug, and Vioform-Hydrocortisone, the main prescription version, are produced by Ciba-Geigy Corp. of Summit, N.J. The prescription version also is produced under other names in smaller quantities by other manufacturers.

At Ciba-Geigy, spokesman Joe Boyd said company officials had not seen the petition, making it difficult to respond. But, he said, "we have checked all our adverse reaction reports on our computers, which date back to 1968, and we do not have a single report which documents harm to infants or adults."

Senior teens blank Plainview nine, 12-0

ANDREWS—Snyder Bucs opened play Tuesday in the West Texas State Senior Teenage tournament with an impressive 12-0 triumph over Plainview.

A two-hitter by Snyder pitcher Justin Webb and 11 big hits by the Snyder offense were too much for Plainview to overcome. Webb aided his five strikeout mound effort with an early two-run homer.

Snyder jumped out front, 2-0, in the bottom of the first inning on the homer by Webb that drove in Chris Fryar who had been issued a walk.

In the second, Plainview failed to capitalize on two walks allowed by Webb. Snyder added four more runs with singles by Brad Holcomb, Dennis Osborn and Jimmy Velasquez and a double by Mike McWilliams to enjoy a 6-0 advantage at the end of two frames.

After scoreless third and fourth innings, Snyder bats came alive again, pounding in four additional runs. With Webb at second and Ricky Hunter at first, Holcomb singled to add a run. Pinch hitter Kenneth Pickering slammed a homerun to bring in Hunter and Holcomb.

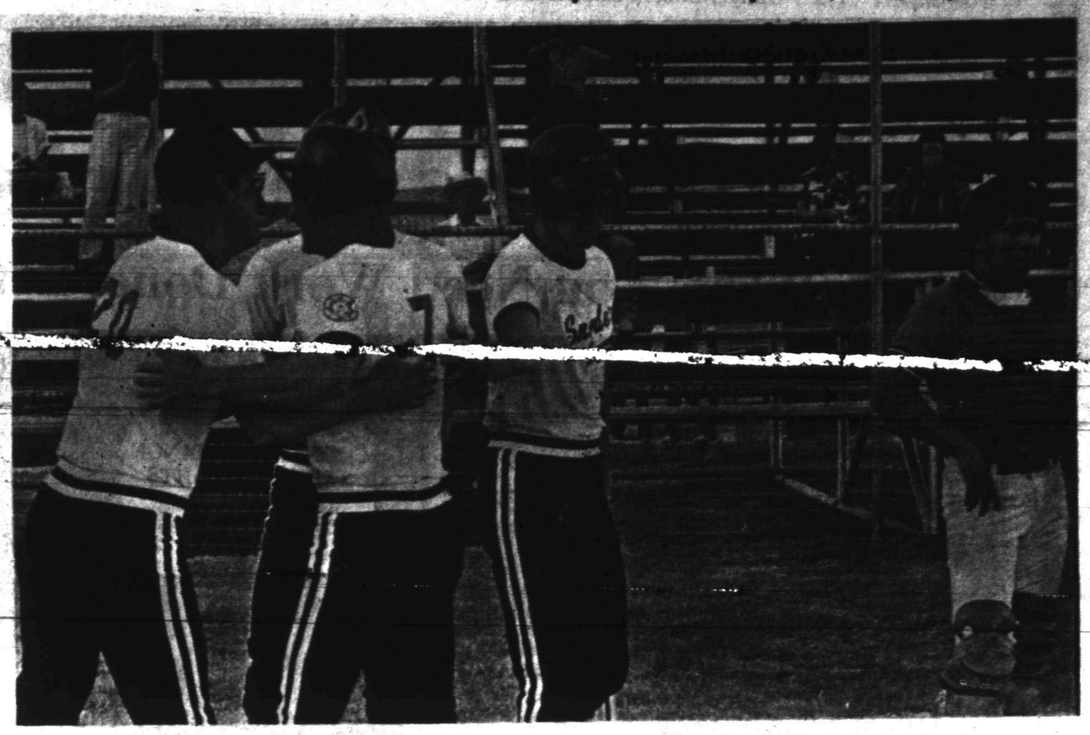
In the bottom of the sixth, Hunter whacked a double to push across Fryar and Steve Parker.

Coach Albert Lewis was pleased with the team's performance. "They played a good defensive and offensive game. Brad Holcomb had an excellent game on defense."

Plainview had only one hit each by Jerry Perez and Paul Forbes. Jason Wheeler was losing pitcher.

In addition to the homers by Webb and Pickering, Webb also chalked up a single. Holcomb connected for three singles while Mike McWilliams and Hunter each had a double. A single each were collected by Jimmy Velasquez, Fryar and Michael Long.

Thursday at 6 p.m. Snyder will face the winner of the Graham-Andrews game scheduled for 6 p.m. Wednesday.



TOP PLAINVIEW — Coach Rickey Howell (no. 20) congratulates no. 7 Justin Webb after Webb smashed a two-run homer in Snyder's victory over Plainview. Steve Parker offered a quick slap on his way to the plate while a disgruntled Plainview catcher looked on. Snyder pounded Plainview, 12-0, in Tuesday's game.

If weather permits, Snyder Jr. Teens play in Roscoe

ROSCOE—In a game rain delayed twice, the Buffs, representing Snyder in the Texas Junior Teenage League playoffs, open competition at 2 p.m. today. The team will face Colorado City, who defeated Tri-City in the first game.

Mavericks' assistant eyed for Nets head position

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dallas Mavericks assistant Coach Bob Weiss will interview for the head coaching job of the New Jersey Nets early next week, according to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Nets President Bernie Mann told the Associated Press Tuesday that he hoped to name a coach within the next two weeks, but no one has the inside track at this time.

Financial problems plague Dorsett, IRS seizes houses

DALLAS (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service could sell two homes it has seized from Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett within 30 days if Dorsett's alleged $400,000 tax debt is not satisfied, an IRS spokeswoman said.

The homes in a far north Dallas subdivision and in Lucas, in neighboring Collin County, were seized by the IRS Tuesday in an effort to collect more than $400,000 in income taxes allegedly owed for 1979, 1980 and 1983, said IRS spokeswoman Marlene Gaysek.

The sale of the homes would satisfy the tax liabilities, but Dorsett has 180 days from the date of any sale to pay the taxes and reclaim his property, Ms. Gaysek said.

Dorsett, 31, reportedly was in Los Angeles with his agent attending to business matters and could not be reached for comment by The Associated Press.

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said Dorsett was not required to be at training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif., until Thursday night, although the eight-year veteran from Pittsburgh had been asked to be at camp on Sunday. Landry said he only recently had become aware of Dorsett's financial problems.

"I'm always concerned when players have things on their mind that they have to handle," Landry said. "It's a distraction from football. But these things happen and they have to be dealt with.

"My bet is that Tony will be here Thursday night when everyone else is reporting," Landry said. "If he's not, he'll be fined $1,000 a day."

The IRS began filing liens against Dorsett's property in November 1984, when agents first cited a $156,085 debt for his 1979 income taxes, officials said.

That figure was revised in March to $74,143, according to the IRS and deed records in Collin and Dallas counties, The Dallas Morning News reported in today's editions.

Since February, however, the IRS has filed liens for more than $339,000 for taxes owed by Dorsett for 1980 and 1983, according to the IRS and the deed records. The latest lien was filed on July 10 against Dorsett's residence in in Lucas.

In addition to the tax liens, Dorsett was named June 25 in a civil lawsuit filed by First City Bank of Richardson, alleging that he had failed to pay a $175,000 unsecured note signed in late March, The News said. State district court records indicated that Dorsett had not responded to the suit as of Tuesday, the newspaper said.

Team is reviewed as players waived

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The 46 players released by the San Antonio Gunslingers remained on the waiver wire today as the United States Football League franchise was placed under review.

The franchise, unable to pay its players two overdue paychecks, released the entire team late Monday just minutes before they were to be placed on the waiver wire anyway.

The USFL Players Association had won a grievance ruling ordering payment or the players would be waived.

But owner Clinton Manges beat the deadline by releasing the team himself.

USFL spokesman Bob Rose said the players would remain on the waiver wire until 3 p.m. CDT today. At that time, he said, the league would release the names of the players picked up by other USFL teams.

Any team picking up a player from the waiver wire would assume the athlete's contract and would have to pay up the two overdue paychecks.

"I regret that the players are unpaid," USFL Commissioner Harry Usher said in a brief statement issued Tuesday from the USFL office in New York. "I hope that they are paid in the near future.

"The San Antonio franchise situation is currently under review, but we have no further comment at this time," Usher said.

Rose said he could not elaborate on Usher's statement.

"I don't think there's much more that could be said," Rose said. "There has been a past history of problems. This is just the worst yet."

But he did confirm that any move to pull the San Antonio franchise from Manges would require a vote by other team owners.

Rose said he expects the owners to have a meeting sometime before the end of the summer.

News reports in San Antonio three weeks ago indicated Usher had written Manges a letter threatening to pull the franchise if the rancher-oilman didn't alleviate problems with the team.

Manges has had payroll difficulties all season.

Kennedy vote can't break filibuster plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even the unexpected help of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy left President Reagan short of the votes needed, to break a Senate filibuster on a bill giving the White House line-item veto power.

Kennedy, D-Mass., broke with his liberal allies Tuesday and endorsed a measure that would give Reagan the authority to veto individual portions of spending bills.

"The budget process is in shambles, the deficit is out of control, and Congress is part of the problem," Kennedy said. "Congress has too much control over the purse, and the president has too little."

For the past week, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., has been leading a group of mostly liberal senators blocking action on the line-item veto bill, which they call a threat to the Constitution. On Tuesday, the filibuster survived a second vote to cut it short, despite Kennedy's support and Reagan's first lobbying since his cancer surgery 10 days earlier.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole said he would try today for a third time to break the filibuster, but he doubted he'd get the 60 votes needed. Tuesday's motion failed by three votes, 57-41. One Republican and one Democrat did not vote.

Another loss could force Dole to remove the bill from consideation to clear the way for other pending legislation. The Republican-controlled Senate has less than two weeks before its August recess.

Reagan has long called for the power to kill individual spending items, saying he would make cuts Congress has been unable to accomplish. He telephoned wavering senators on Sunday and Monday to lobby them.

But Kennedy's support is newly developed.

"It's a dramatic step in the sense that he's not on this issue with most of his liberal allies in the Senate," noted a Kennedy aide, speaking only on condition of anonymity.

Kennedy's position was the first major indication on the Senate floor that the possible 1988 presidential candidate was moving toward the center of the political spectrum, a shift that was foreshadowed in a speech last March in New York.

In that address, Kennedy said many programs supported in the past by Democrats — including public housing and public service jobs programs — were failures and should be cut.

Kennedy in the past has opposed the line-item veto, including a proposed constitutional amendment. But his aide said Tuesday the senator, concerned about $200 billion-a-year deficits, decided to support the more limited measure proposed by Sen. Mack Mattingly, R-Ga., and co-sponsored by 46 senators.

Under the Constitution, a president must either accept or reject entire bills and cannot veto parts of them.

Mattingly's bill would break up each appropriations bill into individual items, so the president could veto portions without having to kill an entire spending program. Congress, by a two-thirds vote, could still override any of those vetoes.

The measure would last for a two-year trial period, expiring before the end of Reagan's term.

State insurance board has rate under consideration

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Insurance is considering recommendations from both its staff and from industry experts that Texas' rates for workers compensation insurance should increase.

During a long hearing Tuesday the three-member board was urged to allow increased premiums to cover increased operating costs, unexpected insurance losses and hot competition within the state.

The board will make its decision later.

The state board staff called for a 27.5 percent hike, which would raise premiums paid by Texas employers by about $500 million based on the $1.8 billion insurance sold in 1984.

Industry spokesman said the rate increase should be 40.8 percent, which would increase premiums by $730 million.

"We are just coming out of the most difficult period in the history of the insurance industry," Edwin Budd, chairman of the Travelers Corp., told the board. "During this period, we did suffer painful losses in Texas. In the last three years, we had an operating loss of well over $48 million in our casualty-property business. In 1984, we lost more than our entire payroll ... Recently, we have had to put severe restrictions on both new and renewal (workers compensation) business."

Charles Porter, chief actuary for the board, said he considered the staff-recommended 27.5 percent raise "fair and reasonable" and adequate for to cover business risks taken by firms in Texas.

Donald Frahm, president of Hartford Fire Insurance Co., said his firm is represented by more than 600 Texas independent insurance agents. "We have, however, been viewing with increasing concern the deterioration in our Texas underwriting results, both for workers compensation anad other lines. During the period from 1980 through 1984, our workers compensation loss ratio has risen from 68 percent to 95.9 percent," Frahm said.

"We have the largest share of the (workers compensation) market in Texas," said Dan Stevens, Dallas, chairman of the Texas Employers Insurance Association "I don't know her to brag or cry."

Bob Davis, Dallas attorney representing the Texas Compensation Consumers Association, questioned all witnesses closely as to whether much of the increased rates was not caused by the intense competition in the state.

Porter said 2 percent of the increase recommended by the staff was caused by a change in state law, effective Sept. 1, that would increase minimum weekly benefits from $35 to $37 a week. Maximum benefits would increase from $203 to $217 a week.

However, Porter said, the remaining 25.2 percent was caused by increased operating costs and losses paid by insurance firms on injuries and deaths reported for employees.

The staff recommendation would allow firms 19.7 percent of their premium income with 80.3 percent reserved to pay expected losses.

However, the staff recommended that 7.2 percent of the cost of expenses come from investment income, not from premiums.

Biker falls to miss car

No injuries resulted from a non-contact car-motorcycle accident which occurred here shortly after noon Tuesday.

Involved in the 12:12 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 26th St. and Hidetown Dr. were a 1981 Ford driven by Barbara Elam Cofer of 1808 37th St. and a 1979 Kawasaki motorcycle driven by Timothy Allen Wilson of 3007 Ave. Y.

According to accident reports, Wilson fell off the motorcycle while attempting to avoid a collision with the car. No injuries were reported.

Thefts reported at WTC campus

Police are investigating a series of thefts — thought to be misdemeanor level — at Western Texas College reported Tuesday.

WTC Physical Plant Director Rex Hopkins filed the report at 11:25 a.m. He told police that a number of small miscellaneous items had turned up missing from various location around the campus over the past month or so.

The total number of missing items and their value remains undetermined but the case is expected to remain a misdemeanor.

In other action, city officers logged one misdemeanor arrest Tuesday evening, charging a local man with driving while intoxicated and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

DPS works 2 accidents

Snyder-based highway patrolmen investigated two minor rural traffic accidents Monday and Tuesday.

The first was reported at 6 p.m. Monday on Farm Road 1606 about 11.4 miles south of Snyder, according to Department of Public Safety accident reports.

According to reports, J.C. Watson Jr. of 2310 Merrill Ave. was driving a 1980 Chevrolet pickup pulling a boat trailer when the trailer came disconnected from the truck. It left the roadway and struck a highway department-owned sign.

Watson was driving west on 1606 just west of the intersection of County Road 3109 when the mishap occurred.

A minor two-vehicle collision was reported at the intersection of Farm Road 1611 and a county road about 2.4 miles east of Snyder at 4:25 p.m. Tuesday.

Involved in it were a 1982 Ford driven by Michael Truman Reeves of Snyder and a 1978 Ford driven by Toby Dean Hinshaw of 4515 Garwood Ave.

No injuries were reported from either mishap.

Tropical storm drifting to sea

MIAMI (AP) — A disorganized Tropical Storm Bob drifted steadily out over the Atlantic Ocean today after whipping up surf, flooding roads and ripping off the roof of a condominium as it stirred up two tornadoes.

Forecasters warned that while Bob was not likely to return to Florida, the Eastern Seaboard may see more of the tropical storm, the second named storm of the Atlantic hurricane season and the first to hit shore.

Bob crossed Florida from west to east Tuesday as a lively storm that brought high seas, gusting winds and torrential rains, punished beaches and temporarily closed coastal roads but caused no serious injuries.

At 3 a.m. today, the broad center of the storm was located near latitude 28.3 north and longitude 80.2 west, about 30 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral, the National Weather Service said. It was moving toward the north northeast at 10 mph and was expected to gradually turn toward the north during the day.

The greatest dangers Bob posed along the southeast coast between Vero Beach and West Palm Beach were flooding and beach erosion, officials said.

Gale warnings were posted and seas as high as 10 feet off Palm Beach, St. Lucie and Martin counties were predicted through today. Gale warnings also were in effect from the upper Florida Keys through Broward County, where heavy thundershowers spawned were forecast to continue through today.

The storm hovered 130 miles off Florida's southwest coast for two days before its center came ashore Tuesday morning, dumping 11 inches of rain on the resort town of Marco Island and 9.72 inches on Naples from Monday to Tuesday.

Severed palm fronds littered flooded streets and severely eroded beaches. In Naples and Marco Island, home mail delivery was halted for the day by impassable roads lined with stalled cars.

The storm peeled back the roof of a Sanibel Island condominium, allowing rain to collapse ceilings of 16 apartments. About 7,000 Naples residents were without electricity until it was restored Tuesday afternoon.

Bob lashed the Miami-Fort Lauderdale area with squalls, non-stop heavy thunderstorms and spawned at least two tornadoes, which broke windows and snapped trees in northern Dade County, said forecaster Frank Revitte.

Rain reports in the 24 hours ending 5 p.m. Tuesday ranged from 2 to 4 inches along the southeast coast.

Florida Power & Light Co. reported about 1,500 southeast coast customers lost power Tuesday afternoon, but said little other trouble was expected.

Free cab rides

HOUSTON (AP) — Twenty-five local businesses that serve alcohol are joining forces with a chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving to offer free cab rides for intoxicated patrons.

Businesses that serve alcohol pay $400 if they wish to participate in the experimental project, sponsored by Yellow Cab Co. and MADD's Harris County chapter, said Bill Killingsworth, director of the project.

The participating businesses will receive ride vouchers to give to taxi drivers when a client needs a ride. Yellow Cab then bills MADD for the service.

MADD has sponsored the free cab ride program on New Year's Eve for the past four years but will now offer it throughout the year, Killingsworth said.

The program has been offered on a test basis since February, but Killingsworth said it was so successful that MADD is trying to recruit more business members.

After a general rainfall Tuesday morning in the county, skies cleared during the afternoon. The outlook Wednesday for the Snyder area was for only a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms.

This was to decrease Thursday to a 20 percent chance.

Hospital denies cancer report on Hudson

PARIS (AP) — The American Hospital today denied that movie idol Rock Hudson is being treated for inoperable liver cancer, and said tests have not yet revealed what ailment is responsible for the star's collapse and hospitalization.

"As far as we know that report (of liver cancer) is false, and it certainly wasn't given by the doctors at the American Hospital in Paris," said hospital spokesman Bruce Redor.

Redor was replying to a question from the CBS Morning News.

Hudson's publicity agent has said the actor is suffering from liver cancer and being treated by specialists from a Paris institute that specializes in medical research and has conducted a search for the cause of AIDS.

The agent, Dale Olson, said in Los Angeles on Tuesday that the actor had collapsed at the Paris Ritz Hotel on Sunday night. "He's been in and out of a coma. He's a very, very sick man," Olson said.

"My official statement is that Rock Hudson is in the American Hospital in Paris, where his doctors have diagnosed that he has cancer of the liver and that it is not operable," Olson said.

Hospital spokeswoman Joyce Gray told The Associated Press: "Mr. Hudson was hospitalized July 21st, Sunday, for fatigue and general malaise. He is currently undergoing a series of examinations. As of this moment the results of these examinations have been inconclusive."

Redor said late Tuesday that the 59-year-old Hudson was under observation and was in satisfactory condition.

Hudson had gone to Paris to see doctors at the Pasteur Institute, said his Beverly Hills physician, Dr. Rexford Kennamer. Olson said: "I believe people from the Institute Pasteur have been treating him. He has not been in the Institute Pasteur as a patient."

The institute specializes in research, and has conducted recent work to seek the cause of AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Hudson had made a public appearance last week in Pebble Beach, Calif., to help Doris Day promote her television series on pets. He looked gaunt at the time, but his publicists said only that [illegible] weight.

Beginning in 1948, Hudson's commanding 6-foot-4 size, strong presence and good looks led him to starring roles opposite some of Hollywood's leading ladies in more than 50 Westerns, war epics, comedies and tear-jerking dramas. He later went on to star in the television series "McMillan and Wife" and "Dynasty."

Olson also said tests were indications of cancer in Hudson's blood. However, he said reports that Hudson is suffering from acquired immune deficiency syndrome were speculative and have not been confirmed or denied by doctors. AIDS destroys the body's immunity to infection.

"The doctor in Paris indicated that at this point he has seen no indication of AIDS," Olson said. Asked what Hudson's prognosis was, he said, "I haven't been given one." He said he believed doctors wanted to wait until after sessions with specialists today before making a prognosis.

He said Hudson was being tested for "everything." Asked whether that included AIDS, he repeated: "Everything."

AIDS, believed to be caused by an unusual virus discovered in France and the United States in 1984, is most likely to strike [illegible] abusers of injectable drugs and hemophiliacs. It is apparently spread by sexual contact, contaminated needles and blood transfusions, but not by casual contact.

Hudson underwent a quintuple bypass heart operation in 1981 while making the "The Devlin Connection" for NBC, but then bounced back to resume his career, most recently on "Dynasty." He appeared in six episodes [illegible] popular ABC television series until his character, wealthy horse breeder Daniel Reece, died in a scripted plane crash last spring.

Reagan eying work

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is walking a little stiffly but keeps displaying an upbeat attitude as he adds to his workload at the White House. And his wife, Nancy, says she has to "hold him down," he is so eager to return to the Oval Office.

Appearing Tuesday at an official White House event for the first time since his cancer surgery 11 days ago, Reagan appeared somewhat stiff. But he grinned and laughed often and managed to shoot back terse and positive answers to reporters' queries about his health.

Tuesday evening the president accompanied his wife — glittering in a high-necked, side-slit, red Chinese silk dress — to the North Portico to greet the high-level guests at a state dinner marking the visit of Chinese President Li Xiannian.

The two leaders had met for 30 minutes earlier in the day following a rather abbreviated, formal South Lawn welcoming ceremony. Asked by reporters how he felt on the first active day on the job, Reagan replied: "just fine." Queried whether the load had been too much for him, the president shook his head as if to say "no," and laughed.

But Mrs. Reagan, speaking with reporters after her husband had left the dinner to retire early, said she has been after him for trying to do too much since his abdominal surgery.
