

County Might Pay Employees' Social Security

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County will pay both halves of social security for employees beginning in October instead of providing across-the-board salary increases if the county commission approves the preliminary budget submitted Monday by its auditor.

The commission conducted a preliminary budget meeting and a hearing for proposed uses of revenue-sharing money Monday afternoon following its regular semi-monthly session.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter submitted the tentative budget, which, if approved and followed to the letter, will result in a $49,895 surplus for the fiscal year which begins Oct. 1, 1979. The preliminary budget is for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1978.

If approved, it also will mean a 6.05 percent pay increase for county employees, who would have both halves of their social security taxes paid by the county. Employees presently pay half their social security, with the county picking up the balance.

Budget, Revenue-Sharing Funds Discussed by Commissioners

The tentative budget does not call for an increase in taxes even though the commission raised the tax rate last year to pay for across-the-board salary increases.

According to the tentative budget, the total assessed value of all property in the county is $412,500,000. With a 24 percent valuation rate, the tax base is $99,000,000. If 90 percent of the tax roll is collected and the $1.25 tax rate is applied, the total amount to be collected is $1,113,750.

Since taxes needed to finance the budget total $1,203,930 and the officers salary fund and law library must have $81,600 to continue operation, the county is faced with a $171,780 shortage. The deficit will be paid out of the balance of $221,675, resulting in a $49,895 surplus to be applied to the following year's budget.

Commissioners will have their final budget hearing on June 26.

The commission, in its hearing on proposed uses of revenue-sharing funds, heard recommendations from representatives of numerous organizations on how to spend $206,765 in government money.

A woman representative of the Hereford Community Players said the money should be used to finance a civic auditorium which would seat between 1,000 and 1,500 persons.

Ruby Sears, representing the Deaf Smith Historical Museum, said the museum needs display cases for textiles and costumes and the Black house, an adjunct to the museum and a project of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society, requires repairs additional brickwork and

Separate Churches Can't Use Bull Barn

Churches or religious groups can no longer use the Bull Barn for private purposes or profit, the Deaf Smith County Commission decided Monday.

In discussing what Commissioner James Voyles "the most difficult thing to come up since I've been on the commission," the court began formulating policies for use of the Bull Barn, the subject of numerous misunderstandings and scheduling conflicts over the years.

Discussion will continue in the commission's next regular meeting, scheduled for June 26. Public opinions have been solicited by the commission for the last two weeks, but County Judge Sam Morgan said as of Monday there had been no response.

Only religious events having the support of a cross-section of churches in the community will be allowed to take place in the Bull Barn, although the court decided Monday to permit this year's obligations to proceed as scheduled.

"It's going to be impossible to write a policy that suits everybody," Voyles told the other commissioners. But they began the arduous task anyway, eliminating individual churches from using the facility.

Commissioners talked about not allowing any dances in the Bull Barn but saved final action on the subject for their next meeting.

"I think it's wrong to use tax money to build a public dance hall," Bruce Coleman said.

Austin Rose Jr. suggested charging groups to use the Bull Barn.

Coleman said, "I don't want to start charging fees. It wasn't built to make money. Anything for the general public should be free."

The commission, in other business, agreed to look into county participation in a national flood insurance program after high waters devastated parts of the county in late May. Commissioners will attend a workshop in Amarillo to examine the program.

The court resolved to ask Governor Dolph Briscoe to specifically declare Deaf Smith County as a disaster area so residents may be eligible for low-interest, long-term loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

Morgan said that crop damage in the county was great in Precincts 1 and 2 even though a survey taken by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, showed that losses suffered

Busy Commission

Deaf Smith County Commissioners tackled a varied assortment of agenda items Monday, including policies governing use of the Bull Barn, national flood insurance, a request to the governor declaring the county a disaster area, the proposed budget for 1978-79, revenue-sharing money and bookcases loaned to the courthouse by a

Hereford attorney. A large crowd packed the commissioners' courtroom during the hearing on proposed uses of $206,000 in revenue-sharing money and offered suggestions on how to spend the funds. (Brand photo by Paul Sims)

Light Harvest Expected

First Load of Wheat Goes to Elevator

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Deaf Smith County's first load of wheat for the 1978 harvesting season was delivered to the Hereford Grain Corporation's east elevator Monday afternoon, marking the beginning of what should be a short-lived wheat harvest in the Hereford area this year.

Lawrence Bromman brought in a 12,000 pound load of irrigated wheat from a farm 6 miles northeast of Hereford.

According to Francis Backus of Hereford Grain, the first load had a light test weight of 53 pounds, and the moisture content was 11.5.

"I'm afraid we're going to see a lot of wheat weighing in light this year," Backus predicted.

"After the recent heavy rains, the ground was black wet, and then some hot days came along and just baked the wheat. It has been ripening just too fast, and that has hurt the weight of the grain," he explained.

According to Backus, the delivery of the first load of wheat came at about the normal time here this year, with the first load normally being delivered sometime between June 12 and 15.

The harvest will in all likelihood move ahead much more quickly and peak much earlier this year, however.

"After this week, there will be several loads of wheat coming in, and I think we will be pretty well into the harvest by June 20-22, judging strictly from the way things look and the rapid rate at which the wheat is ripening. A week or ten days could pretty well get the wheat crop in, once we get started," Backus commented.

"Although the harvest will probably move rapidly here, prospects are poor for any outstanding wheat yields in Deaf Smith County.

"A lot of the wheat will be awfully poor this year. It was dry all winter and the markets were so poor nobody got real excited about growing any wheat. Cattle prices went up and there was more money for most folks in using the wheat to put pounds on their cattle, rather than looking at hauling grain to town at a loss, so a lot of wheat was grazed out, even when it was about to head. People didn't work as hard taking care of their

Son of Sam Gets Life Terms

NEW YORK (AP) — As a friend of one of his victims screamed, "You're gonna burn in hell," David Berkowitz was sentenced Monday to consecutive 25 year-to-life prison terms for three of the Son of Sam murders.

He was to be sentenced later for three other murders. Under New York State law, Berkowitz, 25, will be eligible for parole in 30 years.

Berkowitz first appeared to be sentenced for the murders of his last victim, Stacy Moskowitz. After sentencing was pronounced in that case, Daniel Carriague, a friend of the Moskowitz family, bolted from his courtroom seat and went screaming after Berkowitz.

However, armed guards in the court building, which was overflowing with heavy security measures, got to Carriague first and carried him from the courtroom.

Then, Justice Nicholas Tsoucalas of Queens took the bench and sentenced Berkowitz to consecutive 25 year-to-life terms for the murders of Christine Freund and Virginia Voskerichian.

A third judge was scheduled to sentence Berkowitz for the three Son of Sam murders which occurred in the Bronx.

Berkowitz appeared somber and docile as he entered the courtroom manacled and wearing a blue suit and open shirt. He did not break into the wild outbursts that forced postponement of a similar session last month.

Justice Joseph Corso, sitting in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, informed the court that a psychiatric examination filed last Thursday found Berkowitz competent to be sentenced.

Twice, Corso asked Berkowitz if he wanted to address the court. Berkowitz answered, "No," and "No, sir."

Then, Corso imposed sentence for the July 31, 1977 murder of Miss Moskowitz, 20, ordering Berkowitz to serve "25 years behind bars" for her murder.

Then, Corso sentenced Berkowitz to another 25-year sentence for the wounding of Robert Violante, Miss Moskowitz' date, who lost one eye and most of his sight in the other eye when Berkowitz opened fire as they sat parked on a Brooklyn lovers' lane.

It was after both sentences had been imposed that Carriague, a family friend who has accompanied Miss Moskowitz' mother, Neysa, to the hearings, leaped to his feet and charged toward Berkowitz.

"You're gonna burn in hell, Berkowitz!" the burly Carriague screamed as a group of armed court guards grabbed

Conservation Meeting Wednesday

Local residents will have an opportunity to comment on the future of conservation and protection of soil, water and related resources in Deaf Smith County tomorrow during a special meeting to be held at 9 a.m. at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

The meeting is being held in keeping with the Resources Conservation Act signed last November, which requires an appraisal and evaluation of the state and nation's soil and water conservation program.

According to Johnny Jesko, chairman of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District, the act directs the secretary of agriculture to develop a national soil and water conservation program in cooperation with the public.

"This program will establish new directions for future soil and water conservation efforts in Texas, based on current soil, water and related resource appraisals," Jesko explained.

"The interests and welfare of privately owned farms and ranches must be served, and programs must be acceptable to their owners," he added.

The RCA outlines a five year plan for USDA assistance to conservation districts, and requires an evaluation of the effectiveness and progress of ongoing programs. Reports will be made to the public and Congress.

According to Jesko, tomorrow morning's meeting will deal primarily with discussions on soil and water him. The guards lifted Carriague off the floor and carried him horizontally from the courtroom.

A brief recess was declared before Berkowitz was to be sentenced for the three other Son of Sam murders and the six other woundings.

Outside the courtroom, Mrs. Moskowitz said of Berkowitz, "I want him dead."

Mrs. Moskowitz said she was not satisfied with the sentence and called for the restoration of capital punishment in New York State.

Berkowitz signed himself "Son of Sam" in notes sent to a newspaper columnist before his capture. The reference evidently was to a neighbor of Berkowitz's, Sam Carr, through whose dog Berkowitz said he got messages ordering him to kill.

Equalization Board To Meet With Taxpayers

The City-School-County Tax Board of Equalization has scheduled two meetings this month to discuss valuations with taxpayers, the first set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

The second meeting, scheduled for June 27, was scheduled because the city and school district tax assessor-collectors failed to publish notifications of Wednesday's meeting in the newspaper as required by law.

"We just forgot to do it," said Hereford Independent School District tax assessor-collector Fred Fox. "We just got so involved in the tax roll that we failed to get it in there."

"It (the June 27 meeting) is just a legal technicality. We needed to get a notification in the paper 10 days before the final hearing. We notified people by letter that we were going to meet on the 14th but we failed to get out a timely notice in the paper."

"We can settle most of it tomorrow but

The Branding Iron He Chases Old Parts When Not Selling Insurance

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Lone Star Agency Inc. president Ken Rogers could be described as a progressive civic leader, even though he dabbles in what some folks might consider a regressive pastime.

Rogers, when he's not involved in the workings of his insurance, real estate and land development company, probably is in his garage, restoring a 1929 Auburn or a '57 Thunderbird.

"Antique cars are fascinating and interesting. It's fascinating the way they were built and the history behind them. America is what it is today because of the automobile," said Rogers, who this week is adding a '35 Auburn to his collection.

"The workmanship back then was so much better than it is today because most of these cars were hand-built."

Rogers' hobby started five years ago. "Old cars have always interested me. I grew up in a garage—my dad owned a service station."

He proved last year that his fervidness for restoring old automobiles is contagious. Rogers coordinated Hereford's first antique car show, sponsored by the Rotary Club, drew a large crowd and resulted in an approximately $1,000 profit for the club.

"It was a great success—we had visitors here from Pampa, Roswell, Clovis and Amarillo. I hope this year's show (Sept. 9-10) will be as good as last year's. We'll have a lot of good cars. We had all we could accommodate last year."

Rogers has common hobbies, too, like hunting and fishing. Hanging from the walls of his Lone Star Office are a pheasant and the antlered heads of two deer.

He also enjoys flying. "I like to do all those things, but I don't have much time. It takes all my time running this thing (Lone Star) and chasing parts for my cars."

Rogers is vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. He is Rotary Club director, past president of Friends of the Library, a former Hereford Opportunity Plan director and past district chairman of Boy Scouts of America.

"I like to get involved because I think Hereford's a great place to live. You're only able to get out of a community what you put into it. We all need to

U.S., Yugoslavia Offer Food Program

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The United States and Yugoslavia are proposing an $8.3 billion program to help poor nations improve their agriculture and fight off the threat of starvation.

The two countries are sponsoring a resolution before the U.N. World Food Council asking developed countries to contribute $6.5 billion in long-term, low-interest loans or grants and the rest in other aid for food production by 1980.

The 36-nation council, set up by the U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization four years ago, began a three-day meeting Monday, and experts told it malnourishment and starvation is spreading in the poorer nations even though the wealthier countries are producing more food.

A survey, approved as a working document for the meeting said "the number of starving people is growing in America and the Far East, at least at the rate of population growth."

Grand Jury Indicts Former Houston Chief

HOUSTON (AP) - Former Houston Police Chief Carrol Lynn faces five felony indictments accusing him of perjury, obstruction of justice and public corruption today following the action of a federal grand jury.

The grand jury returned the indictments against Lynn, 45, Monday. He had been free on $50,000 bond since his arrest April 10 on a charge of obstruction of justice in connection with an alleged scheme to extort $25,000 from John Holden, a former oil company sales manager.

Two counts in the indictment allege

Lynn committed perjury while testifying before a federal grand jury in February. Two other counts adhere obstruction of justice. The fifth accuses him of public corruption in the alleged extortion scheme.

Lynn, police chief in 1974-75, is the highest ranking Houston policeman ever to be named on criminal charges.

Railroads Receive Lower Sugar Rates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - While many utility companies are clamoring for rate increases, Texas railroads have requested and received lower rates for hauling refined sugar.

The Texas Railroad Commission approved the lower rates, which the railroads said were needed to compete with lower truck rates.

The Imperial Sugar Corp., Missouri Pacific Railroad, Southern Pacific Railroad and the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad testified for the rate decrease.

Testimony at a commission hearing showed that rail traffic from the Imperial facility at Sugar Land, Texas, had decreased from 95 percent of all outbound traffic in 1956 to only 8 percent currently.

The decrease allows for reductions which range from 43 percent on short hauls to 19 percent on longer runs.

Earthquake Kills 21 Persons in Japan

TOKYO (AP) - Eight thousand troops and policemen carried on relief operations today along Japan's northeast coast where a powerful earthquake killed 21 persons and injured nearly 500.

The quake destroyed several hundred houses, most of them in Sendai, 180 miles north of Tokyo, leaving nearly 2,000 persons homeless, police said. It hit at 5:14 p.m. Monday and registered 7.5 on the Richter scale.

Supermarkets and grocery stores in Sendai were jammed today by residents rushing to buy up instant and ready-cooked food because gas was still cut off in most of the area.

Trains, buses and auto traffic remained paralyzed in the quake region, with national highways closed at 15 places in Miyagi Prefecture state. Rail lines were wrecked in 38 places, 21 bridges were destroyed or damaged, and one small fishing boat was sunk.

Five thermal power plants on the coast of Miyagi were shut down because of damage.

Police Report

Hereford police assisted in directing traffic late Sunday afternoon on U.S. Highway 385 after an automobile plunged into Four-Mile Lake and was pulled from the overflowing water by a tow truck.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office investigated the accident. There were no injuries, and other details were sketchy today.

Pioneer Natural Gas Monday reported the theft of gasoline from a pump at Cook Oil Co., East Highway 60, between Wednesday and Monday. There were 118.5 gallons taken, according to police.

Cecilio Garza, whose address is listed as the San Jose Labor Camp, was stabbed at 1:16 a.m. today in front of the Wishing Well dance hall on Main St. Police reported they have a suspect in the stabbing, which sent Garza to the hospital. He was released shortly after being treated.

Joe Frank Garcia, 122 Lavilla, said that in the past few days someone broke into a house at 127 Ave. B. Nothing apparently was taken in the incident.

Police arrested a juvenile for shoplifting at M.E. Moses, Sugarland Mall, Friday.

Supreme Court Goes Along With Employers

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday left intact a decision giving an employer authority to replace all union-represented workers when its operations are sabotaged during contract negotiations.

The justices refused to review a ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that such employer action is justified because worker sabotage is the same as "an in-plant strike."

Today's denial does not preclude the chance that the justices at some future date will study the same issue as presented in another case and eventually disagree with the 5th Circuit court.

But until that time, the lower court's ruling will stand as a precedent for all states within its jurisdiction - Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

The labor dispute sparking today's action began in late 1973 in New Orleans.

The Johns-Manville Products Corp. and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union were stalled in negotiating a contract for some 110 maintenance and production workers at the firm's roofing materials plant there.

While negotiations were under way, equipment breakdowns increased sharply at the plant. Attributing the breakdowns to employee sabotage, Johns-Manville locked out all its union workers and closed down operations on Oct. 31, 1973.

Two weeks later, it resumed partial operation of the plant with employees from other plants and temporary help. By March 1974, plant management had permanently replaced all its regular workers.

The union appealed to the National Labor Relations Board, which ruled that although the company acted legally in locking out and temporarily replacing its employees, it could not permanently replace all its regular workers.

The board ruled that the lockout and temporary replacement was "based on a legitimate and substantial business purpose without anti-union motivation."

But the board said the company went too far when dismissing all union employees for what might have been the actions of only a few.

The 5th Circuit court reversed the board's ruling last August.

That panel, voting 2-1, said "that, as a matter of law, the employees were involved in what amounted to an in-plant strike." Thus, it said, Johns-Manville's lockout and hiring of permanent replacements "were not violative of the National Labor Relations Act."

Calling the 5th Circuit's decision "startling," union lawyers said in their Supreme Court appeal that the ruling conflicts with "all prior cases."

The NLRB told the high court it thinks the 5th Circuit panel was wrong in its "in-plant strike" rationale, but the board chose not to file its own appeal.

If the union's appeal were granted review, the board said, it would defend its now-invaluated decision and order that Johns-Manville rehire its dismissed workers.

In urging the court to reject the union's appeal, Johns-Manville contended that the plant disruptions over a seven-month period had cost it $1.5 million. It argued that the "unprecedented factual context" of the New Orleans labor dispute made its actions necessary and legal under federal labor law.

Hart Hearing To Continue Today

By GIL BROYLES Associated Press Writer

PRYOR, Okla. (AP) - A dozen witnesses set the scene: a summer camp, its dark woods still dripping with fresh rain, the bloody and sexually molested bodies of three young Girl Scouts, two still in their sleeping bags.

But testimony so far has failed to link the deaths to Gene Leroy Hart, the man accused of the killings. A preliminary hearing, which will determine whether Hart stands trial, reconvenes today and will stretch beyond the tragedy's anniversary Tuesday. The hearing began Wednesday.

Hart, 34, is charged with three counts of first-degree murder in the deaths of Lori Lee Farmer, 8; Michelle Guse, 9; and Doris Denise Milner, 10, all from the Tulsa area.

Hart, a lifetime area resident and high school football star, has drawn support from local citizens who believe he is innocent. Hart is of Cherokee heritage and Indian groups have raised money for his defense.

His mother, Ella Mae Buckskin, and other family members have attended the hearing. So have parents of the victims, for whom the gnawing need to know brings them back day after day.

"We decided long ago to come," said Dr. Richard Farmer, Lori's father. "We had to see for ourselves before we could accept what had happened to our daughter."

"In a year, we've asked a lot of questions and received very vague answers or no answers," Mrs. Farmer said. "We put our daughter on a bus at 1 p.m. Sunday, then we got a call that our daughter was dead."

Better Milner attended the hearing for the first time Friday.

"It is better being here than waiting at home," she said. "I was about to go to pieces waiting at home. I'm anxious for results just like everybody else."

The parents say they carry no malice for any particular person about the deaths.

"We have seen nothing that links this evidence to anyone," Mrs. Farmer said. "We would be the last persons to want someone who wasn't guilty convicted. That would mean the person who did it is still out there somewhere."

"The person who did it" crept into the tent where the three girls slept in the predawn hours of June 13, 1977. The stealthy intruder awoke none of the 27 other girls near tent No. 7. Camp Scott counselors have testified.

The medical examiner, Dr. Neal Hoffman, said the girls, whose bodies were dumped several yards from their tent, probably died between 4 and 6 a.m. One was strangled. The others died from blows to the head.

An extensive search turned up only ticks, snakes and rumors of fleeing figures seen in the rugged hills around the camp.

Hart was charged in the case more than a week later. He had escaped in September 1973 from the Mayes County jail, where he was serving terms for kidnapping, rape and burglary.

Gifts Said Illegal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The attorney general said Monday it would be illegal for the Polygraph Examiners Board to accept money from the persons the board must regulate.

Joe S. Gonzalez, chairman of the state board, said the 300 members of the Texas Association of Polygraph Examiners had offered to underwrite certain board expenses, including the cost of hotel rooms for board members during the meetings association and all or part of the salary and expenses of a systems administrator for the board.

The attorney general said the legislature has allowed some agencies to accept gifts, such as the Commission of the Deaf, the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness, the Texas Aeronautics Commission, the Commission for the Blind and the Adult Probation Commission. However, there has been no specific legislation authorizing gifts of the polygraph examiners board.

The attorney general's opinion pointed out that all fees collected by the polygraph examiners board must go into the state treasury and the legislature may not make appropriations to the board that exceed the amount of fees collected.

repairs to its foundation and original chimney.

The total cost of the cases and repairs would be $10,000, Mrs. Sears said.

Jerry Don George, president of Kids Inc., asked the commission for "about $45,000" to help pay off a debt with Hegford State Bank on the organization's new baseball complex at 15th and Whittier.

Patsy Giles, of Big Brothers-Big Sisters, requested $11,000 to meet our current budget."

Gene Brock, a director of the Hereford Satellite Center, cited new housing as a priority for the center and asked the commission for $2,000 or $3,000 to be used for rent on a building.

Mike Moon, Family Services Center director, asked for $2,000 "to assist us in our delivery of mental health services."

Schroeter, a director of Hereford Campfire Girls, asked the commission that $4,000 of the revenue-sharing funds

be used to assist that organization in its operations.

22nd District Judge Wes Gulley, who did not attend the meeting but had talked with County Judge Sam Morgan, asked that $4,000 be spent for law books.

Commissioners scheduled a 10 a.m. Wednesday hearing to file the revenue-sharing budget with the county clerk's office. They will decide in that meeting how to use the government funds.

"Hereford has so many advantages over a larger town that it would take a day to list them all. For one thing, this is a very good business community with lots in the May 26-27 storm were not too extensive.

Deaf Smith County residents already may be eligible for loans from the Small Business Administration for losses due to the flooding, according to Morgan.

In other business Monday, the court:

agreed to allow County Survey Major Schroeter to continue using his large office on the third floor even though he plans to move his private company, A.O. Thompson Abstract, from the courthouse.

permitted Schroeter to use a duplicating machine for $50 a month.

tabled a discussion on speed-limit and no-parking signs for roads in Precinct 1.

agreed to purchase a house and five acres of land in Precinct 4 to be rented by a county employee.

agreed to advertise for bids for a truck and mowing tractor for Precinct 2.

acknowledged in the minutes that attorney James Witherspoon had loaned four, six-tier bookcases to the county in 1961.

Witherspoon requested the acknowledgment to make county officials aware that the bookcases were his and still in the courthouse. Then-county Judge Hank Williams and former sheriff Lowell Sharp wrote letters to Witherspoon stating they remembered the loan, and Witherspoon in turn mailed copies of the letters to Morgan.

Harvest

wheat this year either. Farmers with irrigation water couldn't justify the expense of additional irrigations on wheat when they were looking at a loss for the trouble of growing the crop," Backus explained.

Adding to the paltry wheat harvest here this year is the fact that much of the county's dryland wheat crop fell victim to drought, and dryland wheat will be harvested only in isolated pockets that received favorable moisture.

"Around here, there won't be many combines pulling into dryland wheat fields," Backus pointed out.

Although in most years, the lack of a bumper crop might prove a disaster to farmers, the drastic reduction in wheat production here this year might be looked upon by some as a triumph of sorts.

With the market held down for many months by a heavy oversupply of wheat, farmers were hoping to avoid adding yet another massive crop to the already oppressive surplus.

It's clear now that Deaf Smith County farmers, whether through their own decision to graze or plow up instead of harvest, or through the workings of nature, drastically reduced their wheat production for this year, and will play no role in building up any additional wheat surplus.

The local wheat crop setback is in line with a predicted 30 percent reduction in overall wheat production in Texas this year.

"Credit it to the weather, markets, the American Ag Movement, or whatever, but one thing is clear. We won't have any big wheat crop here this year," Backus concluded.

Taxes

we will have to call another meeting on the 27th. This will allow those who were confused about the notification to have a timely date to go before the board."

The 10-member board will analyze taxpayer problems and make recommendations to the respective tax assessor-collectors. Persons with complaints or questions about property valuations are invited to meet with the tax board of

The governmental bodies of the city, school district and Deaf Smith County appointed representatives to the board.

Conservation

resources in this area, and how they may be conserved.

"Our district and the SCS will need to identify specific resource concerns and associated problems, in addition to determining the extent and severity of these problems. We urge any local residents with an interest in natural resource conservation to attend tomorrow's meeting and present their views," Jesko emphasized.

Hart Hearing To Continue Today

PRYOR, Okla. (AP) - A dozen witnesses set the scene: a summer camp, its dark woods still dripping with fresh rain, the bloody and sexually molested bodies of three young Girl Scouts, two still in their sleeping bags.

But testimony so far has failed to link the deaths to Gene Leroy Hart, the man accused of the killings. A preliminary hearing, which will determine whether Hart stands trial, reconvenes today and will stretch beyond the tragedy's anniversary Tuesday. The hearing began Wednesday.

Hart, 34, is charged with three counts of first-degree murder in the deaths of Lori Lee Farmer, 8; Michelle Guse, 9; and Doris Denise Milner, 10, all from the Tulsa area.

Hart, a lifetime area resident and high school football star, has drawn support from local citizens who believe he is innocent. Hart is of Cherokee heritage and Indian groups have raised money for his defense.

His mother, Ella Mae Buckskin, and other family members have attended the hearing. So have parents of the victims, for whom the gnawing need to know brings them back

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday left intact a decision giving an employer authority to replace all union-represented workers when its operations are sabotaged during contract negotiations.

The justices refused to review a ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that such employer action is justified because worker sabotage is the same as "an in-plant strike."

Today's denial does not preclude the chance that the justices at some future date will study the same issue as presented in another case and eventually disagree with the 5th Circuit court.

But until that time, the lower court's ruling will stand as a precedent for all states within its jurisdiction - Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

The labor dispute sparking today's action began in late 1973 in New Orleans.

The Johns-Manville Products Corp. and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union were stalled in negotiating a contract for some 110 maintenance and production workers at the firm's roofing materials plant there.

While negotiations were under way, equipment breakdowns increased sharply at the plant. Attributing the breakdowns to employee sabotage, Johns-Manville locked out all its union workers and closed down operations on Oct. 31, 1973.

Two weeks later, it resumed partial operation of the plant with employees from other plants and temporary help. By March 1974, plant management had permanently replaced all its regular workers.

The union appealed to the National Labor Relations Board, which ruled that although the company acted legally in locking out and temporarily replacing its employees, it could not permanently replace all its regular workers.

The board ruled that the lockout and temporary replacement was "based on a legitimate and substantial business purpose without anti-union motivation."

But the board said the company went too far when dismissing all union employees for what might have been the actions of only a few.

The 5th Circuit court reversed the board's ruling last August.

That panel, voting 2-1, said "that, as a matter of law, the employees were involved in what amounted to an in-plant strike." Thus, it said, Johns-Manville's lockout and hiring of permanent replacements "were not violative of the National Labor Relations Act."

Calling the 5th Circuit's decision "startling," union lawyers said in their Supreme Court appeal that the ruling conflicts with "all prior cases."

The NLRB told the high court it thinks the 5th Circuit panel was wrong in its "in-plant strike" rationale, but the board chose not to file its own appeal.

Maine Voters To Replace Independent Governor

By ROXINNE ERVASTI
Associated Press Writer

Voters in Maine will nominate candidates to succeed the nation's only independent governor and Arkansans will unofficially pick two congressmen while nominating a Democratic candidate for Senate in primary elections to be held today.

In other elections, South Carolina Democrats will decide who will oppose veteran Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond and both parties will pick gubernatorial nominees. Virginia Republicans will pick a nominee to face incumbent Rep. Herbert E. Harris, whose district includes the Washington, D.C., suburb of Fairfax County.

In Arkansas, two-term Gov. David Pryor, who forced the late Sen. John McClellan into a run-off in 1972, faces Rep. Jim Guy Tucker in the Democratic runoff for the Senate seat held by Kaneaster Hodges Jr. since McClellan died in March. The winner will face newcomer Tom Kelly, who won the May Republican primary.

The races between Pryor, 43, and Tucker, 34, has captured most of the attention in the state. It heated up last week with accusations that Pryor's campaign manager attempted to influence the outcome of a utility rate case. A prosecuting attorney's investigation concluded there was no evidence of wrongdoing on Pryor's part.

Pryor was elected to Congress in 1966 and served one term. Tucker succeeded Wilbur Mills in the House after four years as state Attorney General.

The lack of Republican candidates in Arkansas congressional races will make the November election a formality.

State Reps. Doug Brandon and Cecil Springs are vying for Tucker's 2nd District seat in the Democratic runoff. In the 4th District, which is 31 percent black, Secretary of State Winston Bryant and former prosecutor Beryl Anthony seek to succeed moderate-to-liberal Ray Thornton, who lost to Tucker and Pryor in the May 30 primary.

Maine's popular Gov. James Longley, a registered Democrat who ran as an anti-politician independent, promised during his 1974 campaign to serve only one four-year term, and there are three-way races to succeed him in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

Indian claims to 60 percent of the state's land are a key issue among Democrats in the campaign. State Attorney General Joseph Brennan wants Congress to eliminate all land claims and allow the Indians to sue for money only, with any payment to be made entirely by the federal government. State Sen. Phillip Merrill and state Rep. Richard Carey both favor negotiated settlements of the Indian claims.

On the Republican side, contenders are state Rep. Linwood Palmer Jr., state Sen. Jerrold Speers and attorney Charles Cragin III.

Republican candidates for Maine's two congressional seats are unopposed in the primary. Incumbent David Emery, who at 30 is seeking a third term in the 1st District, will face one of four Democrats seeking the nomination. Two Democrats are competing for the nomination to oppose state Sen. Olympia Snowe as a successor to Rep. William Cohen, who as a Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee voted to impeach Richard Nixon.

In South Carolina, former Harvard quarterback Charles "Pug" Ravenel, 40, is considered most likely of four candidates to emerge as the Democrats' nominee to challenge the 74-year-old Thurmond, a physical fitness enthusiast and 24-year veteran of the Senate.

Ravenel, a Charleston investment executive, ran for governor in 1974 but midway through the campaign the state Supreme Court ruled him ineligible on grounds he had not fulfilled residency requirements.

Former Congressman Ed Young and former state Tax Commissioner Ray Finch are the Republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, and agree their race is a tossup. The Republican primary for governor is only the second in the state's history.

A runoff is expected to be necessary to pick the Democrats' nominee. Former Congressman W.J. Bryan Dorn, who lost to Ravenel in the 1974 gubernatorial primary, is challenged by Lt. Gov. W. Brantley Harvey Jr. and former state Sen. Richard Riley.

Former reporter Jack Bass and businessman B.E. "Bud" Hadley are vying for the Democratic nomination to face incumbent Republican Rep.

Floyd Spence in November. Greenville mayor Max Heller and state Rep. Nic Theodore are competing for the Democratic nomination to succeed retiring Rep. James Mann, a Democrat, while state Sen. Carroll Campbell and Greenville businessman Robert Watkins are the GOP contenders.

Murderer Request Denied

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday turned down a request by a condemned Texas murderer that it appoint a lawyer to help him continue to appeal his conviction.

After receiving a letter from Billy G. Hughes Jr., the justices decided not to provide him with legal help.

A coalition of groups opposed to capital punishment had urged the court to use Hughes' case to rule that all convicted criminals sentenced to death are entitled to a lawyer's free service throughout the appeals process.

"The desperation of a person under the sentence of death is unique...and becomes particularly acute after his conviction has been affirmed by the highest appellate state court," the justices were told.

"In general, it is at this point that the individual finds himself without counsel," a Georgia-based group called the Team Defense Project argued.

The American Civil Liberties Union and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund asked the high court to fashion a rule under which it could order lawyers authorized to practice before it to represent such prisoners, free of charge.

The groups said they backed Hughes' request because they have discovered that "the problem of state-appointed counsel being unable to continue representation of defendants is a growing and serious one."

Hughes, charged in the April 4, 1976 shooting death of Texas Highway Patrol trooper Mark Frederick in Austin County, was represented by a court-appointed lawyer in his state trial.

After his conviction, the same court-appointed lawyer prepared Hughes' appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. The conviction was upheld by that court last March 15.

Although Hughes still was entitled to file a federal appeal, his lawyer told him he was free from his obligation to help.

In a typed letter to the court, Hughes said: "I know the court does not ordinarily appoint lawyers to file appeals but since I am poor, under sentence of death, without a lawyer and of the opinion that there are issues in my case which the Supreme Court might want to consider I am requesting that counsel be appointed for me."

In 1974, the Supreme Court ruled that persons bringing appeals before it do not have a right to a court-appointed lawyer. But the groups supporting Hughes argued that capital punishment defendants should be the exception.

Two judges on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals voted to overturn Hughes' conviction based on what they found to be improper jury selection.

EEOC Loses Battle Over Private Lawsuits

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court today let stand a lower-court ruling the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission says could impede its efforts to end illegal on-the-job discrimination.

The justices refused to review a decision reached last July by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals imposing more stringent requirements on EEOC lawsuits against private employers.

Only Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall voted to hear the government's appeal. Four votes are need to grant review. The lower court's ruling requires the commission to prove that the specific alleged employment bias over which it is suing reaches many employees before the EEOC can seek a broad remedy in the courts.

Such requirements are imposed on individual employees seeking to sue on behalf of themselves and others in so-called "class action" lawsuits.

The lower court's decision "could well impede the commission's ability to enforce federal anti-discrimination in employment laws, particularly in cases involving small-scale employers," government lawyers argued.

"Under the ruling, the EEOC would be prevented from seeking road relief unless the charging workers could have brought their own class action," the government said.

"Unless the EEOC can show that it would have been impractical for the charging parties to join all the other potential plaintiffs individually, the EEOC would apparently be limited to seeking relief for the charging workers alone," the Supreme Court appeal argued.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Federal expenditures in Texas came to $20.2 billion, or $1,651 for every person in the state, during the last state budget year.

Comptroller Bob Bullock calculated the outlays increased 14 percent over the previous fiscal year, when they totaled $17.7 billion or $1,446 per person.

Overall, Bullock said 5.1 percent of all federal spending during the 1977 U.S. fiscal year went into Texas—an increase of 4.9 percent over 1976.

As usual, the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare accounted for the biggest chunk of federal spending in the state—about $6.8 billion.

The HEW outlays were up 19 percent in Texas, primarily because of increased social security benefits, an increase in medical assistance grants and higher Medicare costs.

Department of Defense spending also increased, by 13 percent to $6.35 billion, and Department of Agriculture spending jumped 19 percent.

Texas retained its 35th place ranking among all states and the District of Columbia in per capita federal funds obtained.

Bullock said state governmental revenues totaled $597 million in January, boosting total income for the current fiscal year to $2.96 billion, a 14 percent increase over the first five months of fiscal 1977.

Spending through January came to $3.34 billion, an increase of 17 percent over last year.

Duval Boils Again

Secretary of State Steve Oaks launched an investigation of allegations that welfare money and county property had been offered for absentee votes in Duval County.

Oaks, after conferring with law enforcement officers and witnesses in the politically-turbulent area, told reporters that amounts the equivalent of $15 to $25 had been offered for votes in the runoff election. He said road surfacing materials were mentioned as county property involved in the vote bribery allegations.

"I have formed no conclusions," Oaks said after his first visit to interrogate witnesses. "It is appropriate for a grand jury to form conclusions. . . . The investigation is ongoing. There is nothing of more urgency or greater priority to this office. . . ."

Counties Troubled

House Speaker Bill Clayton is surveying Texas counties on the extent of their increasing economic hardship due to indigent patients in public hospitals.

Many people who are not eligible for Medicaid, the state program of medical assistance to the poor, still are not able to pay their medical bills, Clayton noted in a recent newspaper column.

In many cases, public hospitals are caring for residents of other counties which do not maintain hospital facilities.

"The magnitude of the problems is increasing rapidly, and I feel that in the next session of the legislature we will see legislation introduced which will attempt to solve these problems," said Clayton.

The speaker has sent questionnaires to the counties asking them to evaluate the problem, describe their policies for dealing with indigent patients and to recommend solutions to the problem.

Courts Speak

A divided State Supreme Court held couples can waive constitutional homestead rights of surviving wife or husband by a formal agreement before marriage.

The Court of Criminal Appeals threw out a life sentence conviction of a Dallas man for possession of heroin. Upholding the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals, the Supreme Court agreed a Conroe man and his mother cannot collect on a damage suit against a Shreveport bank whose chairman set up a loan and bank stock deal which resulted in heavy losses.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed an aggravated robbery conviction and 50-year sentence given in a Benton court, but upheld a 20-year sentence for attempted murder assessed the same man.

The U.S. Supreme Court, in a divided verdict, concluded police armed with search warrants can enter newspaper or broadcasting station offices and seek evidence of crime, even though no staff members are suspected of violation.

produced from the Gibson Field in Terrebonne Parish, La., to United Gas Pipe Line Co. The gas is produced under leases from the land's owner, Williams, Inc.

Under terms of the leases, Williams collects a royalty based on a fixed percentage of the value of the gas produced, calculated at the "market rate" or "market price" prevailing at the well. Essentially at issue is the definition of "market rate."

Williams was being paid on the basis of regulated rates of gas sold in interstate commerce, rightly regulated by the federal government.

But in 1973, Williams demanded royalty payments from Pennzoil and Shell based on intrastate market rates - unregulated and far higher than interstate rates. After the two gas producers challenged the demands in court, Williams countersued, claiming it was owed $3.7 million in royalty underpayments.

The three firms eventually settled but Pennzoil and Shell had to go the Federal Power Commission, now the FERC. The two producers sought permission to pass on to United Gas Pipe Line the higher royalty rates or permission to abandon to Williams the portion of gas produced under the leases that would satisfy Williams' increased royalties.

Either provision presumably would tend to hike consumer prices for natural gas - one by a series of increased cost persons and the other by decreasing the amount of natural gas for interstate sale.

The commission turned down the request but the 5th Circuit reversed the commission's decision. Urging Supreme Court review, government lawyers said the appeals court's ruling "will substantially undercut the commission's effective regulation of interstate sales" of natural gas.

Businesses May Keep Newspaper, Station

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday ruled unanimously that virtually all businesses now owning both a newspaper and a broadcast station in the same community do not have to get rid of one.

The justices, however, ruled that the Federal Communications Commission is authorized to block all such "cross ownerships" in the future.

The high court, in a lengthy opinion written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, upheld the FCC's 1975 regulations on media cross ownership while striking down a federal appeals court's ruling that would have required divestiture of all existing cross ownerships.

That ruling by the U.S.

Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington had stunned media groups across the nation by requiring that virtually all existing cross ownerships would have to be broken up.

Although the circuit court had not ordered publishers and broadcast stations directly to divest themselves of some business properties, the court told the FCC to adopt rules bringing about such divestiture.

The lower court's ruling was appealed by the commission, the National Association of Broadcasters and the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Spokesmen for these groups were not immediately available for comment.

Aside from 16 divestiture orders handed down by the FCC, the justices' ruling appears to allow the owners of some 150 newspapers, 65 television stations and 130 radio stations in 44 states to continue owning their properties. The FCC had acted in 16 cases where the only newspaper and broadcast properties in a community had the same owner.

The court had been told that the appeals court's ruling would have made necessary the transfer of some $2 billion worth of properties.

Today's ruling involved cross ownership in the same community only.

Ann Landers Annoying "Foxy Lady"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been happily married for five years, but something is bothering me. I've always been very intuitive and now I have a nagging hunch that a certain person is after my husband.

A certain unmarried woman friend has become very friendly with us this past year. She maneuvers me into inviting her to dinner quite often and manages to get herself included in "family" get-togethers by chumming up to my sisters. Miss "X" is extremely fond of my husband and he seems to enjoy her company. They always have a lot to say to each other.

Maybe I'm doing her an injustice, but I have the feeling she would break up my marriage if she could. I trust my husband and am almost certain he has never cheated, but I don't trust Miss X. Any advice?

DEAR PAUL WEBB: I am indebted to you for clarifying the issue. With so much red tape streaming out of Washington these days, it's a pleasure to receive something from a government agency that is comprehensible.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "What did the termite say to the bartender?"

"Beat me Daddy, I ate the bar!"

That's an old joke, Annie. I thought surely you would have heard it. -- Hip To The Jive In Tennessee (Born In '28).

DEAR HIP: Sorry, I never heard that one but a lot of other people did. Most of them were from Kentucky, Missouri and -- like you, from Tennessee. It must have been a regional gag, Bub.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you printed a letter pointing out changes in the Social Security Act. The person who wrote that letter said, "Widows, widowers and divorced spouses over the age of 60 will no longer lose Social Security benefits if they remarry."

Please make sure readers understand the facts. They are as follows: The change in the Social Security law regarding marriage and its effect on benefit payments applies ONLY to widows and widowers who remarry at age 60 or over. It does not apply to divorced spouses. The amended law also permits payments to a divorced wife, age 62 or older, based on her ex-husband's Social Security record, if he is getting payments and the marriage lasted at least 10 years. A surviving divorced wife may bring receiving benefits as early as age 60 (or 50 if she is disabled). However, these provisions apply only to divorced wives and widows, not to husbands and widowers.

Youth Wins Top Honors In State 4-H Food Show

An energy-saving dish and high quiz scores won a Hereford youth top place in the 1978 State 4-H Food Show.

Phylecia Rowland's "Meat Potato Balls" won first place in the main dish division of the state contest last week.

Miss Rowland also won a $500 scholarship from The Morrison Milling Company of Denton—a co-sponsor of State 4-H Food Show along with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"I use a glass dish for this recipe, and that saves energy because it collects heat. It also saves time," Miss Rowland explains.

She admits there's one problem with it, though... "the potatoes stick to your hands when you work with them to form the balls."

The Hereford High School junior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Rowland of Hereford.

A six-year 4-H member, Miss Rowland has prepared more than 2,500 different dishes as part of her 4-H foods and nutrition project.

In the project, 4-H'ers learn principles of nutrition, menu planning and food buying, as well as food preparation. The state contest quizzes them on these, too.

Two ideas made the most lasting impression on the coed, she says.

"I learned more about nutrition that helps me plan balanced meals, and I learned about saving energy."

Other 4-H projects she has completed include clothing, lambs, swine and gardening. She also has served as a junior leader, teaching younger 4-H members in various projects.

Miss Rowland has worked with the Meals on Wheels Program for the Elderly in addition to regular 4-H foods project activities.

Locally, she also has served as president of the Horse Club and the Merry Maidens, and she was vice president of a team leaders group. In addition, she competed in a regional track meet recently.

SAWO Adjourns Until Fall

Beginning with the celebration of the Mass, St. Anthony's Women's Organization (SAWO) held their last session of the year Thursday at the Catholic Church.

After the Mass, six women were formally installed into the Confraternity of Christian Mothers. They included Janice Pope, Jane Matthews, Delores Gerber, Donna Lindeman, Mariellen Homfeld and Janet Betzen. Also during the service, a special blessing was bestowed on expectant mothers present.

Afterwards, the SAWO members assembled in the church's Antonian Room for a business meeting and refreshments. Donna Lindeman presided. She opened the session with a prayer and salute to the U.S. flag.

Members agreed to support the Muscular Dystrophy drive in September. Also, Leona Miller gave a report of Catholic CCD (Currency of Christian Doctrine).

The SAWO then adjourned until September.

Holtzman's Vacation Over, But He's Not Complaining

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer

The vacation may be over for Ken Holtzman, but the newest member of the Chicago Cubs isn't complaining. Holtzman, a forgotten man during the past two seasons with the New York Yankees, returned to action Monday night, pitching three innings and chalking up his first save of the year in the Cubs' 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. "I feel young again," the left-hander said after combining with Rick Reuschel on a four-hitter. "I got into it for the first time in a long time. It felt good to have the game on the line," said Holtzman, who had not pitched in four weeks and appeared in only five games with the Yankees before being traded to the Cubs over the weekend. "I'm going to put that behind me and start fresh," the 32-year-old veteran said. "The last couple years weren't pleasant." Holtzman relieved Reuschel in the seventh after the big right-hander's arm stiffened up. He allowed two runs, including a solo home run to George Foster, as he made his first appearance in a Cubs uniform since 1971. "I didn't think Herman Chicago Manager Herman Franks would use me this early," Holtzman said. "But I guess his philosophy is for a player to get his feet wet right away...and I couldn't be happier." In other National League action, Houston edged Pittsburgh 6-5. Los Angeles nipped Philadelphia 6-5. San Diego clipped New York 3-2. San Francisco shaved Montreal 1-0 and Atlanta scalped St. Louis 2-1. Giants 1, Expos 0 Right-hander Ed Halicki pitched a one-hitter and teammate Jack Clark rapped a run-scoring double in the sixth inning to give San Francisco its victory over Montreal and hard-luck pitcher Steve Rogers. The only Montreal hit off Halicki was Ellis Valentine's single leading off the second inning. Braves 2, Cardinals 1 Jeff Burroughs' sixth-inning home run broke a 1-1 tie and Mickey Mahler fired his first career complete game, a seven-hitter, as Atlanta edged St. Louis.

Burroughs' homer was his seventh of the season, while Mahler fanned nine and didn't walk a batter. Dodgers 6, Phillies 5 Dusty Baker crashed a grand slam home run and Rick Monday added a solo shot, leading Los Angeles over Philadelphia and offsetting a pair of homers by the Phillies' Greg Luzinski. With the Dodgers trailing 2-1 in the sixth inning, Baker connected off Phillies starter Jim Lonborg to give Burt Hooton his fifth win in 10 decisions. Mike Schmidt also homered for the Phillies. Padres 3, Mets 2 Fernando Gonzalez's single to center field scored Dave Winfield from second base as San Diego rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat New York.

Zett-Goodwin Partnership Champs Following Playoff

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor
John Zett and John Goodwin of Amarillo walked away with first place in the Championship Flight of the Annual Hereford Mens' Partnership Sunday, but it took the winners two holes of sudden-death to do it. Zett and Goodwin were tied with Scott Roberson and Roger Thompson of Olton following the regulation 36 holes Sunday. Each team carded identical rounds of 66-69-135 to set up the playoff. Goodwin gave his team the championship on the second hole of sudden death with a birdie putt on the second hole at the Pitman Municipal course. A very large field entered this year's event, which included eight flights. Local pro Mike Horton had received a total of 112 entries (Teams) for the tourney. Amarillo golfers won five of the eight flights with Hereford teams claiming two titles and a Vega team one. Fidencio Cantu and Joel Frausto tied with Correa-Neilson of Amarillo for Fifth Flight crown, while Ron Mullins and Howard Johnson of Hereford took the Seventh Flight title. Vega's Larry Richardson and Arnold Galbraith won the Fourth Flight in a runaway over Hereford's Dick Sims-Clyde Whitaker. Richardson and Galbraith outdistanced the rest of the flight with a 70-71-141 total. Sims and Whitaker shot 76-74-150 in taking second. Joe Kerr-Monte Roach topped local entrants in the First Flight with a third-place finish behind a 73-69-142 total. Hereford duo Tom Simons-Mack Tubb finished fourth in the flight with a 70-73-143. Dana Rush-Glenn Short's fifth place finish was the best by a local duo in the Championship Flight. Rush and Short carded a 70-69-139 to edge out two other local teams, Keith Kitchens-Kelly Kitchens and Tommy Weaver-George Youcum (70-70-140) for fifth place. Zett and Goodwin split a winners' purse of $314 for nabbing the title. Robinson and Thompson had to settle for a split of $235. # Goforth Tops IYC Qualifiers

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor
Miles Goforth heads a group of three Hereford youths who have taken the first step toward playing in the 10th Annual Insurance Youth Classic (IYC) Golf Tournament in August. Goforth won a local IYC qualifying round at the Pitman Municipal course here Monday with a nine-over 80 in windy conditions. Goforth will be joined by Barbara Scott and Alan Wartes at the state-level round at the Morris-Williams Golf Course in Austin July 17-18. Miss Scott and Wartes finished with 82s for the round Monday and both earned trips to Austin. Miss Scott nabbed the second-place trophy over Wartes with a win on the first hole of sudden-death. The local qualifying round held Monday had to be postponed from June 5 due to rainy weather. A total of 25 young linksters signed up for this year's event, down from the 40 or so who played last year.

The round was sponsored by the Tri-County Insurance Agents Association, and is just the first step toward the national IYC championship to be played at the Silver Lake Country Club in Orlando Park, Ill. August 12-15. "Strict compliance with the rules of the United States Golf Association, the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, and the National Collegiate Athletic Association regarding amateur status protects the junior golfers in the tourney," local director Charles Wagner said. INSURANCE YOUTH CLASSIC RESULTS

Oliver Gets Mad; Saves Texas Win

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Even-tempered Al Oliver got mad Monday night and won a baseball game for the Texas Rangers. In the seventh, with his friend and teammate Ferguson Jenkins trying desperately to hold a lead over the Kansas City Royals, Oliver fielded Clint Hurdle's single in left field and threw to the plate. The runner could have waited home. Oliver's throw sailed high and wide, so far off target that Hurdle easily made it to second and considered taking third. Before the inning was over, Jenkins was in the clubhouse and the Royals had pushed across four runs to knot the game at 5-5. Oliver, leading off the next inning, was seething. The first offering from reliever Steve Mingori brushed him back off the plate. The next, a high, inside fastball, would up in the right field bleachers 375 feet away. And with Paul Lindblad closing down a Royals' threat in the eighth, the Rangers left the park with a 6-5 victory over their bitter American League West rivals. "My wife tells me I'm a better hitter when I get mad, and I guess I proved her right tonight," Oliver said. "What a terrible throw that was. If I'd been able to get my footing, that ball might have gone into the press box. I was especially mad because Fergie had been pitching a good game up until then and my bad throw contributed to him being taken out of the game."

Bobby Bonds drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a two-run homer in the third for the Rangers, who took a 5-1 lead into the seventh. Then the Royals chased Jenkins with doubles by Darrell Porter, Frank White and Tom Poquette, plus Hurdle's single. In the Royals' eighth, Porter led off with a double and went to third on a wild pitch. Al Cowens then drew a walk, bringing up John Wathan with none out. But third baseman Toby Harrah made a stabbing stop of his line drive at the bag, tagged out Porter and threw to first for the double play. The Royals, who have now lost eight of their last 10, went meekly afterward. "They give us a run and we hit it right at the third baseball," said Royals Manager White Herzog in disgust. "A ground ball to second or short and we've got a tie game. But that's the way it's been going." Mingori, 1-1, was the loser while Steve Comer, 3-1, was the winner in relief of Jenkins. The victory was a costly one for the Rangers. Centerfielder Juan Beniquez suffered a broken left hand when struck by a pitch from starter Doug Bird. The hand was placed in a cast and Rangers spokesman said he would be sidelined indefinitely. Known primarily as an outstanding defensive specialist, Beniquez has been enjoying one of his most productive seasons at the plate, batting .265.

Spurs Ink Paultz

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Free agent center Billy Paultz has signed a new contract with the National Basketball Association's San Antonio Spurs. The signing was announced Monday. The terms of the contract were not disclosed. Paultz averaged 15.8 points and 8.4 rebounds per game last year in his third season with the Spurs. He became a free agent at the end of the season. "Billy has been and continues to be one of the key players in our plans," said Spurs General Manager John Begos. "We are most happy that Billy's contract is something we won't have to worry about any longer." Paultz came to the Spurs in 1975 from the New York Nets of the old American Basketball Association. He has never averaged less than 15 points per game in his three seasons in San Antonio. No filly has won the Belmont Stakes since Tanya in 1905.

DU Meeting Here Tonight

Sportsmen from Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties will have an opportunity tonight to learn just how they can organize their own local Ducks Unlimited chapter and conduct a fund-raising event for the national conservation organization during a dutch treat dinner at 7 p.m. The meal will be held at K-Bob's Steak House, and is open to interested sportsmen and bird lovers. Farrell Copelin, North Texas and Oklahoma regional director for DU, will be tonight's guest speaker, and will present a film on the functions of the renewed conservation organization. Ducks Unlimited is a non-profit organization funded solely by tax-deductible contributions, which centers its work on the preservation and restoration of wetlands in the Canadian provinces. These wetlands have been shown to be the primary nesting area for most of the North American waterfowl population. DU work has done much since the 1930's to save ducks, geese and swans from the threat of extinction due to drought and market hunting.

The organization sends funds beyond the American border, where U.S. duck stamp funds cannot go to carry out this conservation work, which benefits not only waterfowl, but numerous other wildlife species. RICHARDSON, Tex. (AP) - Mickey Mantle Jr., who only last week quit organized baseball, captured the Northern Texas PGA Sectional long-driving contest Monday with a prodigious belt of 319-yards, 4-inches at Sherrill Golf Course here. He outslugged his famous father, Mickey Mantle Sr., former slugger for the New York Yankees, who hit the ball 302-yards.

GAS COOKING OUTDOORS

Gas cooking outdoors sure makes sense in the summertime. It keeps the heat out, so your house stays cool. You save on air conditioning. Plus there's no charcoal or lighter fluid to buy, and no wait. Gas reaches cooking temperature fast and cooks full family dinners, everything your inside range and oven can cook, with that great outdoor flavor.

Take the heat out of the kitchen. Install a gas grill on the patio. It sure makes sense in the summertime, or anytime!

Charmglow 2000
With 251 square inches of cooking surface and deep hood design, this popular grill has the capacity to cook a big turkey or whole ham. Heat sets with the turn of a knob, and the special H-shaped burner and permanent briquettes heat the entire cooking area evenly.

HEALTH Recovery from heart attack
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

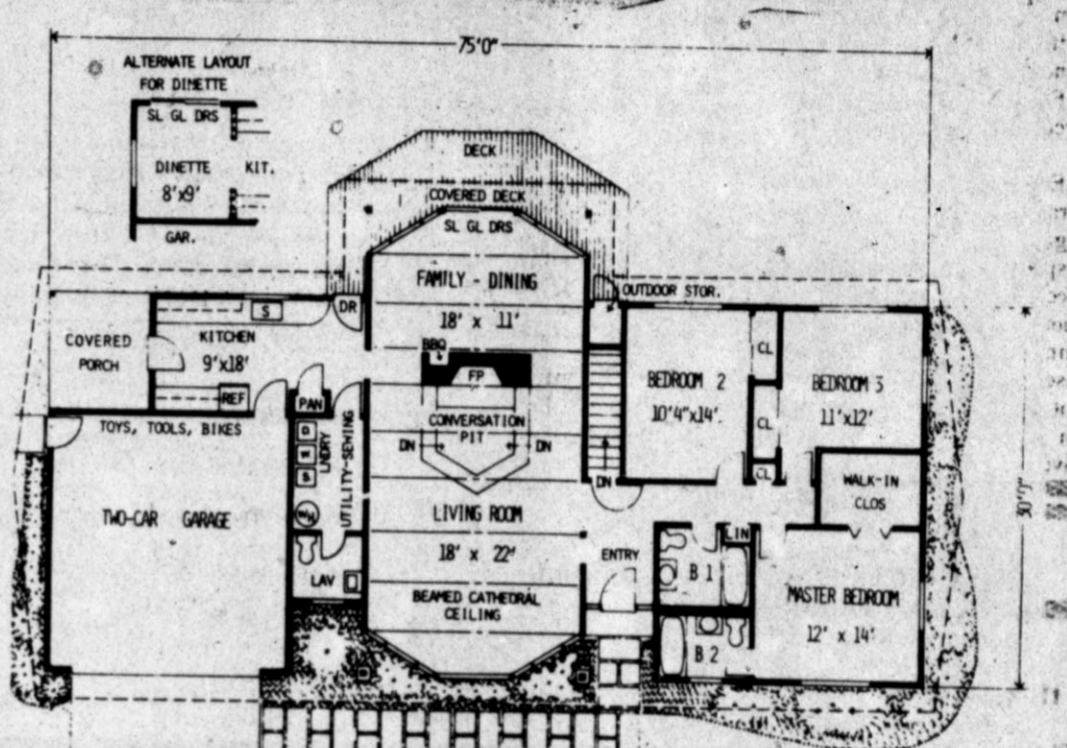

DEAR DR. LAMB - About four months ago I had an attack of chest pain and was hospitalized for 10 days. The blood tests were OK, but the electrocardiogram showed that I had a myocardial infarction. About six weeks later I went back to the hospital and had enzyme tests that showed I'd had some more heart muscle damage and so I was hospitalized. After I got out of the hospital that time I didn't have any more chest pains. I take Inderal four times a day and walk about one mile a day for exercise.
Now I'm getting some tightness across my chest when I take my walking exercises. I can relieve this with nitroglycerin. Do you feel that all these attacks were coming from the same artery that was closing off? How long will I have this soreness and discomfort in my left chest? Will I have to take the Inderal the rest of my life? I am 54 years old and was in good health before my attack although I was a heavy smoker. I have completely quit smoking and my weight is about normal. Should I expect to return to work and lead a normal life? My personal doctor expects me to be off from work six months.
DEAR READER - It's impossible to know which or how many arteries were involved in causing you to have heart problems without special X-ray dye studies that outline the coronary arteries themselves. It is probably true that the major difficulty that caused the heart muscle damage (myocardial infarction) was caused by the progressive blockage of one coronary artery but that doesn't mean that you couldn't also have disease in the other major arteries to the heart. The key to deciding what should be done to evaluate you further and what you should do in the future depends on how well you recover at this point. The chest discomfort that you are experiencing with exertion suggests that you still have some problem of providing sufficient circulation to your heart muscle. This is probably due to the blockage of your coronary arteries that caused the heart attack in the first place. The tightness or squeezing across the chest is a frequent way that inadequate circulation to the heart muscle causes discomfort.

I'm glad you have quit smoking because that should help a great deal. In addition you should make every effort possible to decrease your weight to the point that there is no evidence of any significant fat deposits under your skin, regardless of what the bathroom scales read. The thinner you are and the longer you stay that way the better chance you may have of cleaning out some of the fatty-cholesterol blockage in the arteries of your body.
There have been some good experiments done on monkeys that demonstrate reversal of fatty-cholesterol deposits when the diet is completely changed. You should also be on a very low-fat, particularly low saturated fat, and a low-cholesterol diet and limit your salt.
I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-12, After the Heart Attack. It will provide you information on what kind of program a person should follow after they have recovered from heart attack. Primarily it's

Crayon marks on the wall
By Polly Cramer
POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY - I have some colored crayon marks on a wall painted with latex paint. Is there any way I can remove such marks without having to repaint the wall? I also have ink spots on a green leather chair and hope you have some answers. - JOAN
DEAR JOAN - When her children were small one of my daughters-in-law removed crayon marks from painted walls with toothpaste.
If your chair is real leather washable ink can be removed with a leather soap - follow directions. Mild soapsuds might even do it, but anything must be followed by the use of a leather conditioning dressing. If you are using the word "leather" loosely and your chair is covered with a leather-like plastic fabric ink should be removed immediately with an alcohol dampened cloth. Wipe away with a cloth wrung out of clear water and then rub dry with another dry cloth. - POLLY
DEAR POLLY - I am retired and find your column most helpful. When screwing a top on a bottle or a lid on a jar turn it back until it seats itself. It will then go on easily. This also applies to placing a nut on a screw. - FRANCES
DEAR POLLY - After you buy a new string mop tie a single knot at the end of each string before using the mop. It will then last twice as long and the knots help to scrub the floor. - VEE
DEAR POLLY - When using the telephone book to look up a number - whether it be the number of a friend or a business place - I underline the name and number with a red pen so it is easy to find another time. - MRS. L.D.

Carew Trade Said Imminent

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

A year ago, it was Tom Seaver.

Now it is Rod Carew.

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

The June 15 trading deadline is closing in and the word from Minnesota is that it is entirely possible that Rodney Cline Carew, the very best hitter in baseball, could be wearing a different uniform by Friday.

In another time, that would not be possible. But times and baseball have changed and so, when a star collides with management, as Seaver did last year and Carew has now, he is invited to work elsewhere.

In Carew's case, there are five elsewhere to consider—teams he has told owner Calvin Griffith he would accept for purposes of a trade. They are California, Texas, Kansas City, the New York Yankees and Boston. It is no coincidence that each of those clubs is stronger than the Twins and that each is a candidate for World Series activity—something Carew has never experienced in his decade in Minnesota.

According to the Twins, only two of those five teams, Kansas City and the New York Steinbrenners, have made bonafide offers for Carew.

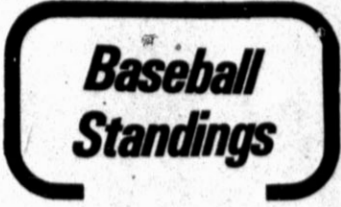

The next question is what constitutes a bonafide offer? How much could the Twins get for a Carew? How much should they get? What would be a fair exchange?

Every team likes to offer a row boat for a battleship," noted one general manager.

A battleship of Carew's dimensions should bring at least a package of row boats similar to the mini-team of seven players that Charley Finley got from San Francisco this spring in exchange for Vida Bluz. It should be noted that the small Giants expedition force also carried $400,000 of San Francisco money with them across the bay to Oakland.

That brought the transaction in under the Bowie Kuhn guidelines which limit cash transactions between teams to that amount. Apparently, you can send as many players as you want on their way, but don't try to substitute dollars for bodies. The commissioner just won't sit still for it.

COMBS SYNDICATES

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — When Bromwell Combs II arranged the world record syndication of $12 million for Seattle Slew, it was the second time in less than three years that he put together a record syndicate. In 1975 he formed a group to syndicate Wajima, the three-year-old champion of that year, for $7,200,000. Wajima is a son of Bold Ruler, and Seattle Slew is a great grandson of that champion sire.

COMPUTER FOR JACK

NEW YORK (AP) — Money usually talks but not to a computer. In 1977 Tom Watson won the most money on the PGA Tour but a computer ruled that Jack Nicklaus was the No. 1 golfer. It gave Nicklaus a Productive Efficiency Rating of 88.63 to 85.65 for Watson. That was good enough to win for Jack a $10,000 prize as the top golfer in the Seven Crowns of Sports competition.

WATERVILLE VALLEY

N.H. (AP) — The young American skiing star, Phil Mahre, has exceptional eyesight which is helping him, according to Coach Harold Schoenhaar. "Phil has the fastest eyes of any ski racer I have ever seen," Schoenhaar said. "He sees everything in front of him and reacts instantly to it. He changes edges faster and more precisely than any skier. One thing he must improve on is to finish his longer turns in the giant slalom."

Braves' Plans To Be Revealed Today

DALLAS (AP) — John Y. Brown doesn't understand Dallas Mayor Bob Folsom sometimes.

"He wants an affair on the first date," said Brown Monday about the possibility of moving the Buffalo Brave National Basketball Association franchise to Dallas. "You have a persistent, aggressive mayor." And sometimes Folsom does not think he understands John Y. Brown.

"You can't pin him down...he worries about so many small things...like where are the players going to park? Does the press have to pay to park?"

Asked why his decision whether to move to Dallas or six other cities had taken so long, Brown said Monday: "We're gonna be married a long time. We want it to be the right decision."

The Advisory Board Committee of the National Basketball Association gets the word in San Diego today on Buffalo's plans and Brown was playing it mum in a list-ditch visit to Dallas Monday.

Brown, admitting he was "worn out" shopping for a new location for the Braves, said "I can't say in good faith a move to Dallas is imminent."

"I would say it's 50-50 we will make a recommendation to the committee," said Brown after another long session with a smiling Folsom.

Once the committee gets a recommendation then it will pass on the facts to the NBA Board of Governors.

"It could be 10 days to possibly two weeks before the Board of Governors' act," said Brown.

Folsom said "I'm encouraged. Maybe it is a false feeling but I think we accomplished a lot. We made some slight changes on our lease."

Brown said he still didn't get the parking and concession arrangements he wanted but concluded "It's something we can live with."

Club President Norm Sonju said Monday "I still stand on my recommendation. Nothing has made me change my mind about another city. Dallas just has too much going for it."

Dallas last had professional basketball in 1973. The old Dallas Chapparals folded and moved to San Antonio where they became successful.

Brown is concerned about Dalals' temporary facility which will not be replaced until 1980. The old facility seats only about 10,500.

He also likes a cold weather site and wonders if the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League own the hearts and pocketbooks of the town.

"The fans make a big difference in the won-loss record," said Brown. "I can promise you one thing—if we do come to Dallas we'll have a better record than the mayor's old Chapparals."

Brown was last seen in the wilting 95-degree Texas heat waiting for a cab to take him to the airport. His mind wasn't exactly made up because he asked two sports writers "Well, what do you think?"

Guidry Wins 10th Straight

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

With all those gold-plated arms on the New York Yankee pitching staff, a player who is earning less than any of them has emerged as the diamond of the bunch.

Ron Guidry doesn't command the lofty salary of, say, a Catfish Hunter, Don Gullett or Sparky Lyle. But he currently sports the richest record in the major league.

"He's the best we've seen in the American League," Oakland Manager Jack McKeon said Monday night after the unbeaten Guidry won his 10th straight game with a 2-0 triumph over the A's. "He was overpowering."

Guidry has been as flawless as you can be of late - winning 20 of his last 21 decisions in games dating back to last season. His victory string this year marks the quickest start of any Yankee pitcher since Atley

Donald went 12-0 in 1939.

"Everybody wonders what it would feel like to go through a real good stretch," said Guidry after his classy three-hit, 11-strikeout performance. "In 30 years, I'll be able to say I went through one."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the California Angels 10-9; the Texas Rangers took a 6-5 decision over the Kansas City Royals; the Baltimore Orioles edged the Seattle Mariners 5-4; the Milwaukee Brewers turned back the Detroit Tigers 7-4 and the Chicago White Sox blanked the Cleveland Indians 1-0. Rain postponed the Minnesota-Toronto game.

Jim Brown, now a movie actor but formerly a star running back for the Cleveland Browns, made 126 touchdowns in his National Football League career, the most for any player.
