Autopsy Indicates Girl Not Victim of Phantom Killer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—The unclad body of an attractive young woman, stabbed 28 times and with a nylon stocking tied around her neck, was found Wednesday night sprawled across a bed in her apartment.

Dr. Peter A. Delmonico, Middlesex County medical examiner, said an autopsy early today revealed that Miss Beverly Samans, 26, died of multiple stab wounds. She had not been raped, police said.

Apparently the stocking and kerchiefs were knotted around her neck after she had been stabbed, police said.

They said the results of the autopsy tended to eliminate Miss Samans as the 9th victim of the phantom strangler in the past 11 months.

Like the victims of the phantom strangler, Miss Samans had close hospital ties and had an interest in music. The other victims either had been patients or had worked in greater Boston hospitals.

Miss Samans, the only child of Herman Samans of Beckley, W. Va., would have received a master's degree in physical therapy at nearby Boston University in June.

Quiet Turf

OXFORD, England (UPI)—Six Balliol College freshmen admitted today they slipped into Trinity College, quietly laid a carpet of turf in the Commons Room, replaced the furniture on the indoor lawn and left.

"I must admit they made a good job of it," said Trinity Dean David Raven.

The father's home address is 317 Woodlawn Ave.

Delmonico said Miss Samans' hands were tied behind her back with a large kerchief. She was unclad except for a lace mantilla draped over the upper part of her body, officials said.

Food Centers Hark Back to Depression

CHICAGO (UPI)—Food distribution centers set up to feed families on relief facing hunger harkened back today the dark depression days.

With relief checks halted because of a legislative deadlock, welfare agencies organized food centers and issued pleas for donations of canned food and powdered milk.

payment of rent and utility bills by persons whose relief checks have been delayed.

The relief checks stopped coming earlier this week when the Illinois Public Aid Commission ran out of money for its Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) and general assistance programs.

The Federation of Settlements organized the food centers at 32 neighborhood settlement houses. A group of businessmen and community leaders set up another food center in the Woodlawn area on the South Side.

The Salvation Army and Catholic Charities passed out food rations to families with no breadwinners, whose sole source of income has been cut off.

Most of the thousands of recipients live on Chicago's South Side. Normally, the legislature steps into such a breach and votes an emergency appropriation until the start of the next fiscal year.

This year, however, the majority Republicans and the administration Democrats have been deadlocked over whether a ceiling shall be placed on the aid payments.

The Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago asked Mayor Richard J. Daley to intercede with landlords and utility companies on behalf of relief recipients.

At an emergency meeting, executive director Richard Bachman said Daley would be asked to request a moratorium on the

Cool Front Stalls; Hot Weather Due

By United Press International

A Pacific cool front stalled in the Texas Panhandle today and forecasters said the front would have little effect on Texas' warm, humid weather.

Low cloudiness hung over East and Central Texas, extending into the Hill Country south of Austin.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said southerly winds would disperse the clouds, and predicted warm, humid weather would continue through Friday.

Overnight lows ranged from 55 degrees at Dalhart to 76 at Corpus Christi.

The mercury rose to 93 at Amarillo, 95 at Dalhart and 89 at Midland and Laredo Wednesday. Precipitation had the high with 97 degrees.

Appeal To Be Withdrawn By Preacher

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rev. LeRoy Daniels, 27, the preacher who ran off with a 16-year-old choir girl last November, will withdraw an appeal of his conviction on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, his lawyers said today.

Daniels' plea for a new trial was received by the Court of Criminal Appeals April 6. His lawyer, Bob M. Lloyd of Henderson told the court Daniels would withdraw the appeal, the appeals court said.

Daniels was sentenced to 90 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Daniels left his bride of four months last Nov. 2 and ran away with Flora Jean Cole, of Tatum, Tex. They were found Nov. 21 in Wichita, Kan. Daniels was working in a liquor warehouse.

Daniels has since divorced his first wife and married Miss Cole. Miss Cole sang in Daniels' choir at Christal Farms Baptist Church and was an honor student at Tatum High School.

Attorney General To Be Witness

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr was expected to appear as a witness today in the tax-evasion trial of Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Sadler spent more than an hour on the witness stand Wednesday in an effort to refute the federal government's claim that he owes $125,238.93 in back taxes.

The government claims Sadler owes back taxes for the period from 1954 to 1957.

Judge Howard A. Dawson Jr. is hearing the trial.

Sadler maintains he actually overpaid his federal income taxes for the period in question by $4,358.

His chief attorney, Wright Matthews, asked the court to order a redetermination of Sadler's tax status.

The government's case centered around a $290,800 legal fee Sadler got July 20, 1956, as co-counsel in a lawsuit to break the will of the late Murry Case Sells in Longview.

The government charges Sadler reported only $150,000 of the legal fee.

Carr was paid $5,000 in legal fees for helping Sadler in the Gregg County case.

WWII 'Actor' Dies in London

LONDON (UPI)—An actor whose greatest role may have helped win World War II died here Wednesday.

Meyrick Edward Clifton James stood in for Field Marshal Bernard (now Viscount) Montgomery and in a masterpiece of war time impersonation is believed to have hoodwinked the Germans into thinking the D-Day invasion had been postponed.

Coincidentally James' death, at 65, came on the 18th anniversary of V-E day.

"He did a very good job, and fooled the Germans at a very critical time of the war," Montgomery said Wednesday. "I am proud to have known him."

PPROA Told Healthy Industry Is Vital

"The maintenance of a strong and healthy petroleum industry is a necessity, both in peacetime and as a strategic reserve in times of emergency," Jerome J. O'Brien told the 33rd annual meeting of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association here today.

Speaking at the noon luncheon at the Coronado Inn, which officially opened the meeting, O'Brien, director of the Office of Oil and Gas of the Department of the Interior, told the assemblage that the federal government is inescapably involved in the petroleum industry as a lessor, researcher, programmer and consumer.

O'Brien explained that the role of federal government in the petroleum industry is a broad subject, and his remarks would only touch on some of the general highlights of interest.

"The unique ingredient of the industrial civilization of the United States is its cheap and abundant energy," said O'Brien, illustrating what energy performs that could not be accomplished by muscle power.

"Oil and gas are the dominant suppliers of energy in the United States," he said, showing that statistically oil supplies almost 45 per cent and gas, nearly 30 per cent of our energy, while coal supplies 22 per cent and water and atomic power only 4.1 per cent.

"The involvement of the federal government in the petroleum industry will grow rather than diminish in the years ahead. The petroleum industry itself, on many counts, has actively sought this involvement as being in its own best interests."

Conversely, it must willingly accept government as a referee of the industry and as its shield in foreign affairs.

O'Brien summarized the impressive total of the government's direct business dealings in the field of oil and gas, and pointed out that the government is the largest landowner and lessor of oil and gas rights in the United States.

He then went on to explain that the department of the interior is the federal agency with direct responsibility for the exercising of authority involving oil and gas.

For this reason it has been closely associated with oil and gas exploration and development and in mineral leasing, touching on the outer continental shelf fields below the surface or in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana and Texas and prospectively in California.

O'Brien closed his speech by saying "To maintain a competitive but harmonious industry and a reserve producing capacity capable of meeting any emergency, it is imperative for the industry, state and federal governments, to have a close working relationship."

State Sen. Grady Hazlewood, of Amarillo, serving his 23rd year in the state legislature, also spoke.

JEROME O'BRIEN
... Speaks on importance of oil and gas

"The progress and speed of the current session will undoubtedly enable them to finish in record time," said the elder statesman.

Hazlewood also spoke on the work done by the Legislature on the oil and gas industry, reporting it as extremely favorable.

He reported on a gas bill passed yesterday, which will permit overproduction during peak periods, (when there is a shortage), and of his own amendment to the bill, which had been proposed by the Panhandle group.

The amendment would necessitate the showing of an unforeseen emergency existing before being permitted by the Railroad Commission to overproduce.

Following the dinner, the Board of Directors of the PPROA went into session to elect new officers and propose resolutions, after which open seminars on various aspects of the industry were held.

Shaky Truce Threatens To Break Down

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Negro and white leaders plunged into 11th hour negotiations today in an attempt to head off another outbreak of civil rights demonstrations.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the massive racial protests that have seen more than 2,000 Negroes to jail, and two of his aides departed abruptly from their motel shortly before noon EDT, enroute to a conference.

It was learned that top leaders representing the white community also had been summoned to another negotiating session somewhere in the city.

A shaky truce prevailed. Negro leaders said they were hopeful that some accord could be reached prior to a 2 p.m. EDT news conference called by King.

While the talks were going on, a large force of helmeted state troopers patrolled the vicinity of a park adjoining the Negro Baptist Church that has been the rallying point for the Negro demonstrations.

More than 600 officers were on duty in the city and local authorities expressed confidence they could maintain order.

The troopers moved into position around the park before 10 a.m. EDT.

The patrolmen, in charge of enforcing law and order, were augmented by some 400 plain-clothesmen carrying sidearms and clubs.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, two top Negro leaders in the desegregation campaign here, said they were hopeful a solution to five weeks of demonstrations could be found.

A bi-racial committee met again Wednesday night but made no announcement of results.

Negro Leadership Divided

The big problem in a settlement appeared to be among the Negro leadership, sharply divided as to whether full scale demonstrations were warranted.

School Board on Record Against 'Personal' Tests

Pampa's Independent District school board went on record today in opposition to giving "personal inventory" tests to students in Pampa schools.

The tests recently have raised controversy between parents and school authorities wherever they have been given because of the personal nature of the questions which in many instances delved into the home, family life and personal problems of the student.

The motion against the tests was made by board member John Gikas and seconded by Floyd Watson. The vote was unanimous in opposition.

McHenry Lane, curriculum director, was quick to explain to the board that none of the tests objected to had ever been given here and none had even been contemplated.

The anti-personality inventory motion also included a proviso for continuance of Pampa's regular ability and achievement tests and school board called for no change in the present system of testing without approval of the school board.

With the return today of R. D. Wilkerson, board vice president who has been ill, there was a full attendance of board members.

In a reorganization of the board for the 1963-64 year, Wilkerson was elected president. Watson, vice president, and John Gikas, secretary. All three nominations brought election by acclamation.

The board approved a summer school session extending from Friday, May 31, through Friday, July 26, and named the following instructors for the summer session: English — Ancel Joyner and Randy Ruten.

Mathematics — B. G. Gordon and Perry Sikes.

History — Howard Graham and Bill Haynes.

Nights Of Terror Described

MIAMI (UPI)—The guns of President Francois Duvalier's personal militia, the "Ton Ton Macoute," clattered nightly and their torches set fire to homes, Americans who arrived here from Haiti reported Wednesday.

Mothers among the 184 Americans who arrived aboard two Pan American World Airways flights said they had kept their children inside their homes for the past two weeks because of the nocturnal activities of the Ton Tons.

Two more plane loads of dependents were to be flown out today, according to Pan American. The schedule was to be the same as Wednesday's—about 100 evacuees were expected on a special DC-8 flight directly from Port au Prince, and another hundred were expected to fly to Jamaica and board a Pan American jet clipper.

Wednesday's flights carried wives and children of American diplomatic and military personnel stationed in the tense Negro republic.

"I've seen shootings and heard machine guns firing and seen them burn houses," said Mrs. Donald Eugene Heald, wife of a Marine Corps captain from Pensacola, Fla.

"For two consecutive Fridays there was gunfire all night long and you could see houses burning," she said.

One woman told of driving three miles to visit her husband's office and wound up in a jail cell in Port au Prince.

"Soldiers searched my car and my purse. Then they tried to leave me alone," said Mrs. Helen Sunrall of Williamsburg, Va.

Pampa to Mark Hospital Week

Bill Robertson, Head Administrator for Highland General Hospital, has announced that next week (May 12-18) has been proclaimed National Hospital Week. Mayor H. Raeburn Thompson has also signed a proclamation marking the week in Pampa.

Robertson said each department at the hospital had been asked to work up displays with information regarding the types of job classifications they have in their particular department. This is in accordance with the theme of Hospital Week this year—"Today's Hospital, Tomorrow's Center for America's Youth."

These displays will be located in the visitors lounge, along with various types of hospital equipment.

"We will not hold any open house, as such, but everyone is certainly welcome to come by and see our displays," Robertson said.

According to Robertson, hospitals employ more than 1.5 million workers in some 200 different job classifications.

Highland General Hospital itself has 230 employees in 55 job classifications, ranging from accountant to x-ray technician.

For every hospital patient, there are nearly two and one-half employees, and for every physician

BERRY'S WORLD

"One of the governors wants to know how much he could raise state taxes if the tax cut bill goes through."

Foreign Commentary

By CHARLES R. SMITH
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI) — Communist North Viet Nam must not take sides in the Sino-Soviet ideological dispute because it needs aid from both Russia and China.

That, in essence, is what Premier Pham Van Dong told the North Vietnamese national assembly at its recently-concluded session in Hanoi.

He did not put it quite so directly, but the meaning of his remarks could hardly be missed.

For the past several days, Hanoi Radio has broadcast lengthy accounts of speeches made and resolutions adopted at the assembly session. The broadcasts were monitored in Tokyo.

Reports On Policy
Reporting on North Viet Nam's foreign policy, the premier told the assembly the economic progress the country has made is "thanks to (the) cooperation and mutual assistance" of Russia, China and other Communist bloc countries.

"We must further strengthen the cooperation and mutual assistance between our country and the Soviet Union, China and the other socialist countries in the fields of economy, science and techniques," Pham said.

"The more the cooperation and mutual assistance between our country and the other socialist countries broaden and strengthen," the premier added, "the further our cause advances."

"Our people always realize clearly that all the successes of their revolutionary cause, in the past as well as in the future, cannot be separated from the sympathy, support and assistance given by the Soviet Union, China and the other socialist countries in the noble spirit of proletarian internationalism."

The Vietnamese people, Pham said, "always feel a sincere and profound gratitude for this disinterested and priceless sympathy, support and assistance."

Comments On Relations
He then commented on Vietnamese relations with the other Communist countries, touching on the ideological dispute between China and Russia. Red China has attacked Russia's declared policy of "peaceful coexistence" with the West.

"In a situation where in the Communist movement has become powerful, the Communist and workers parties are carrying out their activities in very different conditions and the development of the revolutionary movement has raised before the parties many complicated problems," the premier said. "The fact that one party and another have different views on certain questions is something difficult to avoid."

"We are very happy to note," he added, "that the brotherly relations in all fields between our country and the Soviet Union, China and other socialist countries have consolidated and developed."

North Viet Nam apparently is the only country in the Communist bloc that has successfully avoided siding with one of the Communist giants.

Walk Fence Successfully
According to Western intelligence sources who study Communist affairs closely, the North Vietnamese not only have walked the fence successfully in the Sino-Soviet dispute but also have played a leading role in trying to settle it. Pham's speech reflected this.

He carefully laid out the equivocal Vietnamese position, urged the Chinese and Russians to get together and settle their differences and expressed confidence that Communist unity would be strengthened.

The premier said that capitalist countries "are rejoicing at such divergences of views" within the Communist movement "and are scheming to deepen discords between socialist countries and within the international Communist movement."

Communists throughout the world he said, "have all the conditions necessary to overcome divergences of views."

"We have a common enemy—imperialism."

"We have a common ideology—Marxism."

"We have a common goal to struggle—Socialism and communism."

"We have a common program—the Moscow declaration of 1957 and the Moscow statement of 1960."

What Pham neglected to say was that Russia, China and some other Communist countries do not have common interpretations of the ideology, nor do they have common views on how to achieve the goal and interpret the program.

House Votes Pay Increase To Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, in a rare revolt against its dean, has voted pay increases of up to $5,000 for some retired generals and admirals, and a special combat allowance for servicemen.

The provisions were added to a $1.2 billion military pay increase bill Wednesday before the House passed the measure 34 to 10. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Both the extra increases in retirement pay and the $5-a-month allowance for men serving under fire were opposed by Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the armed service committee.

Vinson, who has served in the House longer than any member—48 years, is rarely overruled by his colleagues on military matters.

His committee had recommended general increases, but turned down the combat allowance and the special "recompensation" benefits for 108,000 officers and men retired before 1935.

President

chat" on civil rights would serve a constructive purpose in improving race relations, the chief executive replied that if he thought it would give one.

"I attempted to make clear my strong view that there is an important moral issue involved of equality for all of our citizens," he said. "And until you give it to them you are going to have difficulties as we have had this week in Birmingham."

"The time to give it to them is before the disasters come and not afterwards."

Recalls "Ole Miss" Speech
Kennedy then noted that he had made a speech on the night of the rioting at the University of Mississippi last fall and others "that did not seem to do much good." But, he said, "this doesn't mean we should not keep on trying."

The President said that no federal laws were involved in the recent demonstrations in Birmingham. In the absence of such federal jurisdiction, he said, his administration was focusing its efforts on getting both sides together "to settle in a peaceful fashion the very real abuses too long inflicted on the Negro citizens of that community."

The Birmingham situation dominated the questioning at the President's news conference. On other subjects, he took these positions:

Nuclear: He is "not hopeful at all" about prospects for a nuclear test ban treaty. If there is no agreement, there will be another round of nuclear testing by Russia and the United States.

Middle East: The United States would support United Nations measures or adopt other courses of action to prevent any aggression in the Middle East. He does think the balance of military power has been changed in the Middle East recently.

Anderson: He denied that Adm. George W. Anderson was being dropped as chief of naval operations because of his opposition to the administration on the TFX plane and other issues. He said Anderson had agreed to accept a new government post of "high responsibility," but did not reveal the position.

Amendment: He thought that efforts to amend the Constitution to reduce the powers of the Supreme Court "will come to nothing, and I will be glad when they do not."

Caribbean: He backed attempts by the Organization of American States (OAS) to deal with the Dominican Republic. He said "we ought to wait and see what they are able to do in the next two or three or four days" before making further decisions.

very sorry to hear of his death. At the time of his great impersonation, the Australian-born James was a pay corps lieutenant in the British Army and Montgomery was commander of the 21st Army. An intelligence major spotted the likeness between the two men.

A few days before D-Day, June 6, 1944, James was seen off in style to the Mediterranean by senior members of the imperial general staff. None of his own officers realized he was not Montgomery as he flew to North Africa, ostensibly for a tour. Back in Britain, Montgomery continued preparations for the D-Day landing in Normandy. But German intelligence agents are known to have informed their headquarters that Montgomery was in North Africa and no Normandy invasion could therefore be imminent.

On June 6, the Allies attacked and the Germans were caught off guard.

To impersonate "Monty," James studied the field marshal's voice, speech, gestures, walk and salute. After the war he went on the stage.

Toastmasters Discuss Rocky, Mental Health

Dr. Harris Kimbrough was the Table Topics Chairman at the regular weekly meeting of the Pampa Toastmasters. Two topics discussed were "Mental Health" and "Rockefeller's Marriage and Its Effect on His Political Career."

Toastmaster for the evening was Lloyd Kuntz, who introduced the following speakers: Dave Osborne, who spoke on "The Congressman's Pocketbook"; Don Stephens, voted best speaker of the evening, spoke on "The Workhorse of the Petroleum Industry," and Lloyd Laramore spoke on "Termites."

General evaluator for the evening was Dub Morgan. Evaluation is practice in constructive criticism of the speakers and speeches. Evaluators were John Darnell, John Wortman and Harry Mitchell, who was voted best evaluator of the evening.

Tech to Host Soil Judging Competition

LUBBOCK.— Texas Tech will be host Saturday for the third annual National Collegiate Soils Judging Contest.

Ten regional winners will compete at a secret site within a 50-mile radius of Lubbock.

Teams will come from North Carolina State, Ohio State, Kansas State, Colorado State, New Mexico State, Texas A & M, and the Universities of Illinois, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Minnesota.

The contest is sponsored by the student section of the American Society of Agronomy. Five regional contests are held in the U. S., with the two top teams in each region eligible to compete in the national contest.

Judges in the national meet will be state and area soil scientists and members of the Texas Tech agronomy faculty.

Teams will begin arriving Thursday: Meet registration will be held at 8:30 a.m. Friday at Aggie Memorial Auditorium. An orientation will follow, with talks on the contest region's geology, soils, climate and agriculture.

Visiting teams will be honored with a banquet Friday evening in the Tech Union Building. In the principal address, Dr. Alton Wade of the Tech geosciences faculty will report on his research in Antarctica.

Culture Kick

CHICAGO (UPI) — Statistics from the Stanford Research Institute show that Americans are on a culture kick.

Of the 50 million Americans actively participating in amateur art activities, 34 million play musical instruments, more than twice the number of any other group of leisure-time artists.

Lia Wills Talks To Rotary Group On Communism

Pampa housewife Mrs. Lia Wills spoke on communism's threat to our freedom, at a luncheon meeting of the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday at the Coronado Inn.

Mrs. Wills, a native of Yugoslavia, said that she and her people had to submit first to the rule of Nazism and then to Communism.

"I lost my religion under communism," Mrs. Wills said. "We were taught to be communists first, soldiers second, and our profession came last."

"One of the best ways to combat communism," the speaker said, "is to cut foreign aid to all countries. Communist controlled countries are in such poor economic condition that communism could not survive without our assistance."

She warned the group that freedom cannot be denied to one without it being denied to everyone.

Preston Fowlkes served as program chairman.

It was announced that the Junior Rotarians will present the entire program next week.

Torture Test

WRIGHT - PATTERSON AFB, Ohio (UPI) — For nearly nine months, the most ingenious scientific torturers in the U.S. Air Force kept an F-105 on their rack while they hunted for its "breaking point."

They hung an average Thunderchief, picked off the Republic Aviation production line, in a maze of steel rigging nearly eight stories tall — and made it "fly" every kind of fighter — bomber mission in the book under every conceivable condition of operation and combat. The F-105 thwarted its torturers for the equivalent of 5,700 flight hours, giving it a service life at least one and a half times the combat lifetime designed into it by its builders.

Young Scientists Told of Opportunities

By CARLTON WILSON ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — U.S. Air Force Gen. Bernard Schriever told young scientists today at the National Science Fair-International that "they live in a time of unlimited opportunity."

"The future of science is very bright — provided we continue to use our scientific knowledge wisely," he said at a noon lecture today at Highland High School. The lecture was open to the public.

"You truly live in an age of great promise. I urge you to make full use of the opportunities you have been given," Schriever told the students and their teachers from across the nation.

The general, who is director of all Air Force aerospace research, procurement and production, said "the most challenging scientific enterprise we have today is the exploration of space."

"It is an unknown and unexplored medium, which is certain to contain many surprises," he said.

He added that space is also "a tempting region for a nation that is bent on aggression."

"Our responsibility in the free world is to maintain the strength that will prevent any nation from using modern technology for aggressive purposes," he said.

Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, principal developer of the Navy's nuclear-powered submarines, speaks tonight.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, told the students last night that their brains are a "precious natural resource."

"Because of our inescapable dependence on modern science and technology we must regard trained manpower as a precious natural resource," Seaborg said. "The extent to which we discover exceptional intellectual talent, encourage and develop it, and provide conditions for its effective flowering will be a measure of our success in meeting the truly challenging problems which technology and population growth are posing."

The AEC chairman said it is "quite proper that we pause on regular occasions to acknowledge the intellectual, esthetic and idealistic aspiration of our young people and encourage them by recognizing their academic excellence. If praise is reserved only for athletic prowess or monetary success, who can blame (a young person) if he seeks these even if it means sacrificing a great potential in some other field."

FRATERNITIES

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Dr. William Koch Jr., professor of diagnosis at the Washington University school of dentistry, thinks dental fraternities are worth their weight in gold.

Koch said the public needs to be made aware of the contributions of fraternities. He said they help develop leadership and responsibility in its dentist members toward institutions of higher learning.

CHEAPER HYDROGEN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A revolutionary catalyst is expected to reduce by as much as 25 per cent the cost of many of the new plants needed to meet soaring industrial demands for hydrogen. Aspirin-size pellets called "G-66" do such an efficient job of converting carbon monoxide impurities, according to Chemetron catalyst specialists, that up to $1 million may be cut from the cost of typical large plants producing eight to nine billion cubic feet of hydrogen a year.

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, May 9, the 129th of 1963 with 236 to follow.

The moon is approaching last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening star is Mars.

Those born on this date include abolitionist John Brown in 1800.

On this day in history:

In 1502, Christopher Columbus, accompanied by his 13-year old son, set out from Spain on his fourth and last voyage to the new world.

In 1926, Commander Richard E. Byrd of the U.S. Navy and Floyd Bennett became the first men to fly over the North Pole.

In 1933, the Nazis began their series of book burnings by throwing 25,000 books into a huge bonfire in Berlin.

In 1946, King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy abdicated, yielding the throne to his son, Crown Prince Humbert.

A thought for the day—English author John Morley said: "You have not converted a man because you have silenced him."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whether it takes two weeks or two months for the industrial average to reach a new record high, Ashley Thorndike of Harris, Upham & Co. says several technical indicators should then be closely watched to determine whether the breakout is false or will carry through to — possibly 800.

Danger signs, he says, would be a sudden swing to the buy side in the odd-lot statistics, a further decline in the customer's free credit balances figures published by the exchange, a drop below 50 per cent in the number of stocks outperforming the average, and a decline in the ratio of 1963 highs to lows.

Edward F. Underwood of Ira Haupt & Co. said his technical analysis of the 30 components of the Dow-Jones industrial average suggests materially higher levels for the average itself. He says a level of about 800 this year or early next would not be surprising.

Spear & Staff says the Dow has performed well in recent sessions — "so much so that we believe the prospects of a near-term reversal have diminished, and that a penetration of the 1961 peak of 734.91 is likely within the next two or three weeks time."

past three weeks, all of the printed material coming from the various departments... as well as the volumes of reports from the government agencies of all kinds," Dent told Freeman.

Notes Paper Use

More reports are printed than anyone could possibly leaf through, let alone read, he noted. In addition, Congress consumes a great deal of paper, as do the daily newspapers, he said.

The contemplation of all that paper gave Dent an idea. He suggested to Freeman that the vast amount of printed material might might be feasible for us to make paper from wheat and other grains, Dent said.

In other words, the surplus reports would be printed on the surplus grain. Or, as Dent puts it, "if we can't eat our surplus food grains, we may be able to read them."

He offered to introduce legislation setting up a study program if Freeman thought the proposal had merit.

Cites Research In Progress

In reply, the secretary informed Dent that the department already was doing research along those lines and was "making good progress in several directions."

"This country uses around 35 million tons of paper products each year, and to supply even a part of this market would provide a substantial outlet for grain," Freeman said.

Maybe so, but I fear such a program would cause complications of the sort that Dent and Freeman apparently have overlooked.

Most newsprint and paper stock used in this country is made from woodpulp. If we started using paper made from grain, what would that do to the timber industry?

"It tells you what it would do. It likely would create a surplus of woodpulp.

Then, the next local step would be for the timber industry to undertake a research program to find a way to use woodpulp for a breakfast cereal.

That, in turn, would create another grain surplus, and a lot more government reports.

U.S., Russia Exchange Medical Knowledge

By WALTER C. EVA
SEATTLE (UPI) — In the world race for scientific superiority, at least one branch of technology seems to have escaped the web of military security on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Dr. Robert L. Van Citters, a heart and blood vessel researcher at the University of Washington, said in an interview that no restrictions hinder the exchange of medical information between the United States and Russia.

After a three-month visit in Russia where he met and talked with many prominent physicians and scientists, Van Citters said he regards the Russian doctor as no less than his "medical colleague."

Likewise, he indicated the quality of American medicine is highly regarded by the Russians and they keep up with its progress.

knowledge of American medical developments is generally better than our knowledge of Soviet advances in this field.

Van Citters said Russian medical libraries carry up-to-date issues of all major medical journals published in the United States.

In this country, Russian medical publications are available only in the larger libraries and are usually at least six months old or older, he said.

He also was permitted to visit and study the activities at several heart research institutes and observe a number of Russian heart-lung teams in action.

Van Citters said the Russians openly profess their admiration for American achievements in the field of heart disease. Most of the Soviet open-heart surgery teams were trained in the techniques of heart-lung surgery in U.S. hospitals, he said.

Soviet scientists, on the other hand, have developed a method for splicing blood vessels during

Kentucky Gov. Roams State to Meet the People

By JOSEPH VARILLA
United-Press-International

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Gov. Bert Combs is one of those men who feel that modern day government has gotten too far away from the people. But, unlike most of those who complain about it, Combs is doing something about correcting the situation.

Periodically, since he took office in 1959 he has taken the seat of state government from the capital in Frankfort and set up shop in other towns in the state.

He has visited the biggest city in the state — Louisville — and some of the smallest, including the little mining town of Haymond, where most of the residents are receiving relief check.

The trips normally last one full day. He has made about 30 such trips so far. Some state capital wags refer to the mobile government experiment as "Combs' government in exile."

Combs says the trips give him an excellent vehicle for discovering the sentiment of the electorate.

When he sets up shop in a town, the welcome mat is out to everyone who has a problem or who just wants to say "hello." Like little Susan Lewallen, Paris, Ky., who wanted to see a "real live governor."

The residents of the communities like the idea, too — they figure that if they tell the governor himself about the problem that something will be done. Usually, some action is taken.

In almost every town he visits, there appears the parents of some youth who has been sentenced to the penitentiary. Sometimes they ask for a pardon, other times for a parole.

The governor admitted it's difficult at times to refrain from immediately signing the necessary papers. Instead, he can only say the case will be looked into. But a number of prisoners have been paroled because of these personal appeals and the subsequent investigations.

Wherever possible, action is sought the same day of the request.

An example was when the family of Henry L. Ford asked the governor if the elderly man could be transferred from a tuberculosis hospital in West Kentucky to one closer to Louisville, where the family lives. They explained that Ford's wife was 76 years old and crippled and couldn't visit her husband in the western part of the state.

While the group was still chatting with the governor, one of his aides called up the nearby Hazelwood tuberculosis hospital and made arrangements for the man to be admitted there.

Sometimes the attempt for quick action backfires. Like the time a woman came in and asked the governor to approve changing the name of the little village of Possum Trout to Vaughn's Village. Since it was unincorporated, the only thing necessary was the governor's signature. He signed and before very long there were howls from other persons in the village and the name had to be changed back.

Fontaine Banks, one of Combs' aides who accompanies the governor on most of the trips, said occasionally someone walks in who is really angry.

"They'll usually raise hell with us," Banks said. "But once they get in front of the governor, they calm down. I've found a real respect for the office."

Device Listens To Silent Sound

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — A super-sensitive listening device developed by a Palo Alto electronics firm is helping to make life in space safer.

The device, called an ultrasonic translator, is able to pick up the "silent" sound of oxygen escaping from holes smaller in diameter than a human hair.

With it, technicians can check for leaks in the complex double-wall space suits worn by astronauts. They also can track down leaks in other pressure and vacuum systems in the missiles and space program.

The device, developed by Delcon Corporation, can make it possible to hear sounds ordinarily audible only to dogs and cats.

Delcon also markets the battery-operated device to private firms for finding leaks in pressurized telephone cables and industrial air pressure or steam systems.

Cancer Victim Believes in 'Non Conformist'

By JAMES T. YOUNG
United Press International
RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—

Cancer victim Diane Lindstrom, 38, of Pockford, Ill., said today she was putting her faith in Dr. Isaac Newton Frost, an 82-year-old "non conformist" physician who admits his vaccine cancer treatment has drawn criticism.

Diane had been undergoing treatment with the controversial drug Krebiozen. The American Medical Association has called Krebiozen worthless.

She was flown to Raymondville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Monday and checked into Frost's clinic.

Parents Along

Diane, accompanied by her parents, was told she would undergo "at least three months" of treatment at the clinic. Frost said she would not receive any more Krebiozen.

Frost, who has practiced medicine for 60 years, said evidence supporting his vaccine as a cure for cancer was presented to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy last year.

The Texas Medical Association said in Austin that Frost has never been a member of the organization.

The Texas division of the American Cancer Society in Austin said Frost has not produced any conclusive evidence that his vaccine will cure cancer.

Licensed in 1926

Frost was licensed to practice medicine in Texas in 1926. He graduated from medical school in Tennessee in 1903.

Frost said other physicians and the drug and medical equipment companies have combined to suppress his vaccine.

A Butte, Mont., doctor, whom Frost would not identify, presented 26 pages of evidence supporting the vaccine to the attorney general, Frost said.

Television In Review

By RICK DUBROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It's hard enough getting along with a wife, let alone a neighbor — especially a new neighbor you don't have much in common with — and this was the fascinating reminder Wednesday night in a CBS-TV special.

Technically, the one-hour documentary was an appraisal of Israel during its 15th anniversary of independence. But the well-worn political-military aspects, which have been covered thoroughly at timely intervals, are not what fascinated this viewer most.

What seemed supremely incisive and urgent in the larger view was the lesson that even such a tiny and United Nation has the internal problem of how to make its citizens of different social and ethnic backgrounds get along; and that this problem is not limited to one country, or one section of one country, or one city in that section. It is not a new lesson, perhaps, but one that is ever timely.

Many Ethnic Groups
In Israel's case, the documentary pointed out — with the aid of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion — the problem is that a great many of the new settlers are from Africa and the Orient and not just from Europe. Some Israelis, for instance, wonder whether school levels for their youngsters might be lowered if children of less advanced background are taught together with them.

As the mobile American resident might have trouble adjusting to the suburbs after living in a big city, so the Israelis must try to adjust and blend new settlers from industrial backgrounds. As the American farmer, or his offspring, migrates more to the city, so the Israelis must find a place for those with agricultural inclinations.

Differences Still Exist
Narrated by Douglas Edwards, written and produced by Don Kellerman, using large chunks of interviews with Ben-Gurion, and concentrating on one small community, the program made clear that the differences of the mixed groups are far from settled. One lady in the community, for instance, came from Britain some years ago, expecting a large English-speaking population. When she arrived, there were 25 English-speaking families, but not as many as there now; and she feels the new immigrants from Africa and Asia are overwhelming them.

The problem of the Arab minority in Israel also was brought up; and of course there were many settlers who were happy with their lives in the young nation. However, it is to the credit of Kellerman that he did not produce a publicity puff just because he talked to the boss.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV's long interview with Fidel Castro, to be seen Friday night in a one-hour special, was filmed by a Cuban crew though conducted by the network's Lisa Howard. ABC says it could not obtain necessary visa clearance to get its own crew into Cuba in time for the interview. Castro was preparing to leave for his Moscow visit. ABC also says the film was developed in Cuba and is not as well-processed as it would have wished.

Cat Wins Swimming Contest

Hollywood
By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—We had a swimming race with June Lockhart's aquatic cat "George" the other day and lost.

George seemed like a pussy cat possessed as he streaked along the water, all four paws feverishly clawing up a wake.

It's not easy to lose gracefully to a swimming feline, but it should be pointed out that Miss Lockhart's cat gets plenty of practice in the actress' hot water pool.

Most humans don't have a hot pool, let alone a cat.

George, a two-year-old cat with a strain of Persian in his background and little else, is the pride of Miss Lockhart's household zoo which consists of two dogs and four other kitties who don't dare go near the water.

They look at George with stars in their eyes, not to mention a bit of wonderment when he joins June for a paddle around the pool.

"I'm sure George could go the whole length of this 45-foot pool if he paced himself," bragged Miss Lockhart as she dried off the winner. "George's motivation is quite simple. He wants to get on the other side. That's the same with all of us."

Miss Lockhart, who plays the mother on CBS-TV's "Lassie," said the cat's swimming victory marked its debut in competition.

"I don't know what we call his stroke," she said. "It's certainly not the dog paddle. I guess you could call it the cat paddle. This was his first freestyle open competition. Actually, though, George is nothing with his backstroke."

The pretty actress, wearing a fetching black bathing suit, joined George for his first race. The cat was understandably nervous when he saw a photographer alongside the pool waiting to record the winner.

George might be a good swimmer, but Miss Lockhart admitted he's no good as a mouse catcher. That's probably because he spends all his time hanging around the pool.

One fact is certain, Miss Lock-

FOREST LAND

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—About three-fourths of all the commercial forest land in the United States is privately owned, and most of it is on small farm tracts.

John D. Hunt, extension forester at Utah State University, says farmers who have forest property can get loans under the consolidated Farmers Home Administration Act to get the land to full productivity.

Soup 'N Sandwiches Please Friends

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We have found a pleasant way to have friends in "for supper on busy days. In the living room, a hot soup in bowls is served first, plus seconds if wanted. Then a tray of good sandwiches (turkey, beef, ham, etc.) is brought in. After that a dessert that is easy to serve, and coffee.

Everyone seems to get enough to eat, is relaxed and the hostess enjoys it too. It really works. Try it.

HEARTY SUPPER SOUP

(3 to 4 servings)
3 cups boiling water
1 can (2 ounces) dry vegetable soup mix
1/2 cup diced cooked beef
1/2 to 1 tablespoon Burgundy if desired

In saucepan, stir soup mix into water. Partially cover, simmer 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Add remaining ingredients; heat, stirring.

Favors done graciously are no trouble at all.

Surprise Mother With Lemon Cheese Cake

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Mother's Day is the most sentimental of all holidays. With gifts and special kindnesses and, traditionally, with something extra good to eat. For this year's surprise, instead of the usual hearts-and-flowers type of cake, bake this tender and delicious Lemon Cheese Cake. She will be delighted.

LEMON CHEESE CAKE
1 zwieback crumb crust
1 pound cottage cheese
1/4 cup corn starch
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Prepare zwieback crumb crust; cool. Press cottage cheese through coarse strainer twice. Add corn starch and beat with spoon until fluffy. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Beat egg yolks slightly; add 1/2 cup sugar and beat until thick. Mix in lemon juice, rind, vanilla and salt. Fold in cheese mixture, then whipped cream. Fold remaining 1/2 cup sugar into beaten egg whites. Fold into cheese mixture gently, but thoroughly. Pour into spring form pan. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in 325-degree oven (slow) 1 hour. Turn off oven; let cheese cake stay in oven until firm, about 45 minutes longer. Cool completely. Remove from pan.

ZWIEBACK CRUMB CRUST
1 1/2 cups zwieback crumbs (about 19 slices)
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup corn oil margarine, melted

Blend zwieback crumbs, sugar and melted corn oil margarine until fine, even crumbs form. Press 3/4 of the crumb mixture onto bottom and sides of lightly greased 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in 325-degree oven (slow) 5 minutes. Cool.

degrees until egg is firmly set, about 10 minutes. Use tops to "cap" the eggs.

FRESH PINEAPPLE CRABMEAT SALAD
(6 servings)
1 1/2 cups fresh pineapple wedges
2 cups chilled cooked crabmeat
1 cup diced celery
1-3 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

Head lettuce
Fresh parsley
Combine pineapple, crabmeat, celery, mayonnaise, salt and ground black pepper. Toss lightly and serve on lettuce leaves. Garnish with fresh parsley.

TAKE 'EM ALONG
If you're planning a trip outside the United States, take along several collapsible plastic clothes hangers. Most European hotels don't supply enough hangers for the traveling gal.

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (UPI) — Two men, one of them from Texas, were killed Tuesday in the crash of a jet plane at Wickenburg airport. They were identified as Capt. William C. McCord Jr., 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. McCord of Beeville, Tex., and William H. Gurley, 28, of Glendale, Ariz.

RECALLS WORKERS

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) — General Fireproofing Co. said it will recall about 100 workers to its plant here this week because of a step-up in government buying.

Domineering Parents

NEW YORK (UPI) — Parents of unwed mothers should get much of the blame for the nation's high illegitimacy rate, according to a noted psychologist. Revenge against a domineering mother or tyrannical father often is given by girls and young women as the basic reason for their illicit sex relations, says Dr. Evelyn Millis Duvall.

In a report, "Love and the Facts of Life," published by Association Press, the publishing division of the YMCA, Dr. Duvall said:

"The great majority of the unmarried mothers studied wanted to have a baby without a husband. In fact, the men in most of the cases were not particularly important to the girls except for the purpose they served in getting the girls pregnant."

Teen-agers are defended by Dr. Duvall. She said research has shown the greatest increase in the illegitimacy rate in recent years has been among women between 25 and 34 years of age, not among teen-agers. In 1958 alone, she said, 79 per cent of all illegitimate births were to women over 18.

The basic reasons a girl or young woman becomes pregnant out of wedlock were given as follows:

—She wants an illegitimate baby as a way of "getting back" at her father or mother.

—She does what she sees others doing.

—She is starved for affection.

—She impulsively gives rein to her feelings and does not practice restraint.

—She does not know enough about the facts of life to protect herself.

—She may have been the victim of an unscrupulous boy or man.

The first reason appears to be the most dominant one, Dr. Duvall concluded.

AIR-CLEANSER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The gas industry has offered its assistance to the campaign of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, to step up air pollution control efforts.

A new type of smokeless, odorless gas incinerator, developed for both residential and commercial use, will do much to eliminate air contamination caused by the burning of garbage, trash and industrial waste, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers' association.

House Puts Land Program in Another Committee

AUSTIN (UPI) — The House blocked numerous attempts to report the Senate-passed proposal to extend the veterans' land program out to a new committee after proponents said they were unable to get the proposal approved for floor action. The proposal was the subject of a bitter squabble Tuesday night in the constitutional amendments committee headed by Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford. Cotten blocked numerous attempts to report the Senate-passed proposal that would raise the ceiling in the veterans' land program from $200 million to $350 million. More bonds are needed to keep the program going. Today Rep. John Traeger of Saigon asked the House to take the proposal out of Cotten's committee and put it in the committee on military and veterans' affairs. The House approved the move 122-23.

Gas Bill Passed

The Senate today amended and then passed a bill letting gas firms produce up to four times their allowable in peak emergency demand periods. The bill is bitterly opposed by independents, who contend producers would take the extra gas from favored wells.

Candidly It's A Snap To Record Pre-Nuptials

By KAY SHERWOOD

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Among all the gifts the bride-to-be receives, nothing is given with greater frequency and generosity than good advice. Whether it pertains to which skillet to buy or where to go on a honeymoon, few homemakers can resist the urge to launch a well-chosen lecture, beginning: "If I were you..." Precious little of this advice is heeded, but that doesn't inhibit the dispenser.

For some time now—ever since I lured a bride-to-be to sleep with solid information on refrigerators—I have kept my peace.

What causes me to dust off the oratory and give with advice is "The Box." Recently, packing to move again, I was confronted by "The Box." This sturdy cardboard carton from some far-distant grocery store is a shameful monument to procrastination. In it are bundles of pictures, souvenirs, invitations, tickets, etc., all relics of wedding days.

When I gathered these up and dropped them into the box, I fully intended to make a scrap book "when I have the time." Now, 15 years and three children later, there are the mementos—still in the box.

So, if I were you, girls, I would

Review Club Has Fine Arts Topic

WHEELER (Sp) — The Thursday Review Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Harrison Hall. Mrs. Bud Henderson, president presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. R. J. Holt, Jr. gave a report on the District Convention held in Amarillo.

Mrs. David Britt, assisted by Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Henderson presented a Fine Arts program.

Following the opening prayer, Mrs. Britt gave an illustrated narrative on the last days on earth of Christ, as portrayed in several masterpieces of art. One of the outstanding portions of the program was the poem "Simon of Cyrene" by C. A. McPheters, as presented by Mrs. Britt. Mmes. Hall, Britt, Holt accompanied by Mrs. Henderson sang "The Psalms" and "The Holy City."

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Joe Miller, Farrell Baird and Grady Burnett guests, and club members Mmes. Earl Barnes, David Britt, Richard Brown, Robert Denson, Holt, Henderson, H. C. Johnson, Gene Mack, E. M. Moore, Grainger McIlhenny, Bob McNeil, Bob Patterson, Coy Revious, Henry Kisher, Thurman Rives, John Vise, N. D. Ware Jr., Hynand Weaver, Dennis Wilks, Miss Wilma Helley and the hostess.

Small, instant-loading camera easily records highlights of the wedding days, and the best snapshots are taped in the book. Other souvenirs are first wrapped in transparent plastic or mounted on colored cardboard.

discipline myself to start a memento book of wedding souvenirs now. You will have a record you and your future children can enjoy without delving into a dusty box in the basement.

The backbone of a memento book is snapshots and, perhaps, a posed portrait or two. While you and your friends will be snapping dozens of pictures — candid shots of showers and parties, the ceremony, the reception, etc., not all of these deserve saving.

Select a few of the best—those that have special meaning. If a young brother takes a picture with his new camera, even though the subject is slanted uphill or the head is lopped off, the picture is fun to keep, properly labeled as to photographer.

Telegrams, the wedding invitation, a pressed rose from the bridal bouquet, a swatch of bridal lace, wedding trip ticket stubs — those are a few of the likely items to be included. A good trick to use in mounting these souvenirs: place them on colored cardboard, wrap in transparent plastic and seal with magic mending tape. The complete unit can then be mounted on the page with tape. Wrapped in plastic the lace, paper, pressed flowers, etc., is not likely to discolor.

Pictures of the wedding trip and your new home should be included. If the intricacies of many modern cameras baffle you, remember that the small, inexpensive, box-type cameras are nearly fool-proof, and can snap a satisfactory record.

Frigid Wife Needs Thawing

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the coldest woman this side of Alaska. I'll bet she hasn't kissed me in two years. I met a cute little woman who is just what the doctor ordered. Am I justified? A man is not made of wood, you know.

ONLY HUMAN
DEAR ONLY: I KNOW a man is not made of wood. (Just his head.) The cute little woman may be "just what the doctor ordered," but she is NOT what fortune dealt you nor what your pastor delivered. Forget her, and try to thaw out your wife.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a factory with many girls. One day last week one of the girls had what she called a "Charlie Horse" in the calf of her leg. Our foreman (a married man of about 55) said his wife got them all the time and he knew how to get rid of them. Well, this girl (she is also married) let the foreman massage her leg. That very evening all the other girls went home on time and the foreman asked this one girl with the "Charlie Horse" to stay. She got an hour's "overtime" pay. What do you think about that?

WORKING GIRL
DEAR WORKING GIRL: I would have to know more about the girl, the foreman, the "overtime" — and you!

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that women cannot bear to see a happy, moderately well-to-do bachelor enjoy his freedom without wanting to ruin everything for him by getting him married to a "lovely woman" (either themselves or a friend) who is looking for a lifetime of support, or a father for her noisy, spoiled brats?

I am 41 and perfectly contented to remain a bachelor for the rest of my life. And I know many other bachelors who feel the same way.

I wish these women would leave us happy, hard-working bachelors alone once we have refused their advances on the subject of marriage. You probably won't publish this, but if you do, sign me—

DEAR J.: The next time a woman tries to interest you in marriage (for herself or a friend), recite your little speech to her and that will be all, brother!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J": The easiest way to teach children the value of money is to borrow it from them!

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Willis H. Edmund, executive consultant to the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., told the 69th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs that of the record 23 million women workers today, more than 12,000,000 are married and living with their husbands.

LONDON (UPI) — Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. ordered eight suits at a tailor's shop.

"I go for British tailoring in a big way," Davis said.

STILL A YOUNGSTER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The local Young Republicans Club, faced with a membership shortage, Monday said it had signed its 36th member—former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 72.

"In this predominantly Democratic area," the group explained, "membership is open to anyone up to 88 years of age."

REAL BITE

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (UPI) — Charles Delp, 58-year-old professional diver, has even recovered a set of false teeth. He has been diving since 1924, and once recovered a B-25 bomber.

Ingo Denies Reports That He Is Done

GENEVA (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson, insisting that he never felt better, today was busy denying reports that he is planning to retire from the ring.

"All reports like this are a lie," said the former heavy-weight champion. "They are quite untrue and have upset a lot of people in Sweden."

Johansson also denied that the Swedish Boxing Federation ordered him to undergo a brain examination after his recent fight with Britain's Brian London when he survived a last round knockdown to win a decision.

He said his health was "very good" and he plans to fight again, "although I have not decided anything for the present."

Regarding a return bout with London, Ingo said he was "quite ready" for such a fight "if it pays."

"He is easy to beat," the 30-year-old former champ declared. "The trouble when I met him before was that I lost concentration after he floored me because I knew the bell was due for the end of the fight."

Queens Tryouts

Thursday and Friday are the last two days remaining for tryouts for the Pampa Queens Women's Softball Team.

All girls and women from 15 years old up are eligible to play with the team. Tryouts are being held at the North Hobart ball park at 7 p.m.

The Queens have tentatively scheduled a home opener with Panhandle next week.

ACC Announces New Grid Sked

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—A nine-game Abilene Christian College football schedule involving four of five teams in the newly-formed Southland Conference was announced Wednesday.

The Wildcats said they will play Southland members Lamar Tech, Trinity and Arlington State next fall. They were unable to schedule Arkansas State, fifth member of the conference.

None of the games will be conference games, since league play will not start for at least another season.

The complete schedule:

Sept. 21 — East Texas at Commerce, Sept. 28—Lamar Tech at Abilene, Oct. 5—Hardin-Simmons at Abilene, Oct. 12—Northwest Louisiana at Abilene, Oct. 26—Trinity at Abilene, Nov. 2—North Texas at Denton, Nov. 9—Arlington State at Arlington, Nov. 16—McMurry at Abilene, Nov. 23—Fresno State at Fresno, Calif.

SHS Advances To Playoffs

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — San Houston State advanced to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics baseball playoffs Wednesday with an 8-3 win over Sul Ross.

Trailing 2-0 in the bottom of the fourth inning, the Bearkats blasted six runs and added two more in the fifth for the win.

Pitcher Freddy Beene held Sul Ross to six hits to get the victory. Reliever Jerry Tyson took the loss for the Lobos.

The Bearkats go to Waco May 13 for the first round of the playoffs and a best of three game series.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A half dozen or more of the top major league stars of a year ago will tell you with glum vehemence today that it's only a short step from who's who to who's he.

It's an all-star list that's having the leaping miseries as the season's shakedown cruises ends and the long grind really gets into full swing. Fellows like Pete Runnels, Harmon Killebrew, Ralph Terry, Tommy Davis, Willie Mays, Don Drysdale and Bob Purkey.

All of them were departmental leaders of one sort or another when all the hits, runs and errors were tallied up last year but as of right now there have been a lot of damaging changes made.

PETE RUNNELS

Trade Didn't Help

Runnels won the American League batting crown last season with a fine .326 mark but then the roof fell in. He was traded to Houston, developed a stomach disorder which couldn't have been helped by the switch and currently is gently bruising the ball at an anemic .194 clip.

Killebrew led the AL with 48 home runs the last time out but hurt himself in spring training. Blame housemaid's knee, or water thereabouts, for his current output of one circuit clout. Proving that everybody in Minnesota doesn't laud the rippling waters.

Top man among the Americans in the matter of victories last year was Terry. To polish off his 23 wins he collected the final game of the World Series. Big Ralph may have to buy a ticket to get in this time if he doesn't improve his current 3-3 mark.

His counterpart in the National League, 25-game winner Don Drysdale, isn't even doing that well. The big man of the Dodgers holds a mere 2-3 mark and you don't win many pennants with that kind of a seasonal split, either.

Davis Pulls Muscle

Drysdale's teammate, Tommy Davis, copped the NL batting crown with a .346 barrage and such was Tommy's power and grace that they figured he could do it once again while making third his base. And if that ain't poetry, neither is Tommy's current production. Defensively he made like a five-thumbed Pepper Martin, pulled a hamstring muscle and is limping along at a .250 gait at the plate.

Gene Returns Quietly to Cleveland

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gene Green's return to the Cleveland Indians wasn't anything to write home about.

The veteran utility player was fined an undisclosed amount when he rejoined the Indians Wednesday after "jumping" the club in Los Angeles. Hours later, he appeared as a pinch-hitter against the Washington Senators and struck out.

Green's absenteeism cost him one day's pay for his failure to show up for Tuesday night's game against the Senators. It was reported he also would be docked for missing the team's plane in Los Angeles Monday.

While "holding out" in Los Angeles, Green said he was "fed up" with the Indians because Manager Birdie Tebbets has used him only sparingly this season.

"I've only been at bat four times this season — and that's ridiculous," he declared.

Lou Ambers Puts Blame On Managers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Lou Ambers, twice lightweight champion of the world, believes that fight managers hold the key to the large number of mishaps and mismatches in boxing today.

Ambers, born Louis D'Ambrosio, will be 50 years old Nov. 8. He now resides here with his wife, mother and the youngest of three children.

"Managers can see more in a fight than the boxer himself, the referee or anyone else," Ambers claims. "I believe that more managers should throw in the towel when they see their boys taking a beating. This practice has not been barred and a number of good boys could have been saved had their managers done this."

Praises Former Manager

Ambers continued: "A good manager knows the condition of his fighter and can spot weaknesses and failures and should be the first to know whether the boxer can continue."

Ambers had high praise for his former manager, Al Weill.

Dale Taylor Wins at Tulia

Dale Taylor, assistant pro at the Pampa Country Club, finished first in the pro-pro division of the recent Tulia Country Club Pro-Am Tournament. Taylor was paired with Fred Pendergrass, Olden pro, in the two-pro lowball and the duo finished in the top spot of that division. Taylor will play Monday in the Hereford Country Club's Pro-Member Tournament.

Hustlers, Top Pins Teenage Titlists

Teenage championships for both the High School Stars bowling league and the North Crest Juniors pin loop were decided this week by rollofs.

The Hustlers, composed of Jan Grady, Larry Braly, Tommy Johnson and Dennis Huntley, edged the Alley Cats (Sharon Hackley, Cherie Harms, Ronnie Browning and Mike Sullins) for the High School Stars title.

In another close battle, the Top Pins (Danny Mecker, Charles Clifton, Wesley Willhoyt and Vic Keyes) topped the Playboys (Wesley Perkins, Sam Bryan, James Matney and Roger Flowers) for the North Crest title.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player have entered the $110,000 Cleveland Open golf tournament at the Beechmont Country Club, June 27-30.

Ambidextrous Anzac Tops Colonial Start

The 27-year-old New Zealander, who has been in the money in eight of his 11 starts and capped his first full effort on the U.S. pro tour by turning in a $9,000 first-place victory in the Houston Classic, out-stroked the field in Wednesday's pro-amateur warm-up.

Charles, putting for birdies on every hole but the fifth, managed to roll-home four of them from 4, 10, 18 and 30 feet on four of the first eight holes, then matched Colonial's regulation figures the rest of the way for a 31-35-86, worth $350.

Charles, putting for birdies on every hole but the fifth, managed to roll-home four of them from 4, 10, 18 and 30 feet on four of the first eight holes, then matched Colonial's regulation figures the rest of the way for a 31-35-86, worth $350.

Finds Rest Agreeable

The lean New Zealander, ranking ninth in money winnings with $14,007.64, found the week's rest he took prior to Colonial agreed with his weight and his golf game. He added a welcome six or seven pounds to his weight and got his fairway game back on the line after finishing out of the money in the Texas Open the week after his Houston triumph.

While Charles was clipping birdie coupons Wednesday, the tour's "big four"—Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema and Gary Player—found the 25-mile-an-hour winds and the tortuous Colonial layout a real test.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

WHY IS it that complimentary letters to a newspaper are always signed while nasty ones are almost never signed? Latest missive in the mailbag, from "Disgusted Reader," seems to be either tearing up this department, the Pampa baseball team, or both. Since he, she or it did not have the courage to sign a name, it is the News' policy not to bother answering unsigned letters. If DR would send in his name, the sports department would be glad to print the letter and try to answer it.

GETTING OFF that subject, how about a couple of pitches for help for Pampa athletes? The first is for the American Legion baseball team and the second for Randy Matson.

The Legion team is primarily next year's high school baseball team. Many of the sophomores and juniors who did so well this year have had nothing but Little League experience due to the fact that they have had to work summers to help their families out or save money for their educations. Most of the jobs they have been able to obtain have been out of town-on farms, in the oil fields, etc., so that they could not play Pony League or Legion ball, which would give them even more experience and give the Harvesters a big boost toward a district title next season.

If readers have any job openings, or know of any jobs that high school boys from 15 to 18 years old can do which would leave them free to play at night and on Sundays, this department, the Legion and the boys themselves would be tremendously grateful, and you will have given a boost toward helping Pampa and youth. Please contact this department or athletic director Weldon Trice before the school year ends. Outdoor work.

indoor work, yard work, any kind of job opening that you might have would be appreciated, and we guarantee that neither you nor the name of Pampa will be anything but proud.

AS FAR AS the Mighty Matson, Randy has one more chance to break the national records in the discus and shotput. . . at the Abilene Christian College Meet coming up next weekend. There are several more meets Randy will probably enter before going off to college. . . one in Houston and one in California, but the school year would be over, so that a record set in those meets would not count toward a high school record. The ACC meet, therefore is the last chance for Randy to put the name of Pampa High in the permanent record books.

Coach Norm Phillips reports however, that the school itself cannot send Randy to the meet since it was not on their regular schedule, and that the cost of transportation would have to be furnished by fans and well-wishers. This would be entirely legal, said Phillips. Since everytime Randy Matson picks up an iron ball or a discus, the name of Pampa is spread throughout the state and the nation, we feel that it would be entirely proper for one of the local civic or service clubs, or for two or more of them joined together, to provide funds for the trip. Since these organizations are devoted to improving Pampa and making it a city to be proud of, there seems no better way than to give Pampa's greatest athlete one more chance to make the name of the Harvesters city ring through the ears of the nation. Any groups wishing to help are asked to contact coach Phillips or Weldon Trice.

Frank Lary, Eli Grba Go Back to Minors

By United Press International

It was back to the minors for such players as Eli Grba, Jim Constable and Ty Cline today as the major league clubs cut their rosters to the 25-man limit.

Grba, the veteran pitcher who won 19 games over the last two seasons, was shipped to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League by the Los Angeles Angels along with infielder Tom Satriano, who lost out in a battle with Felix Torres for the regular job at third base.

The Angels also sold pitcher Ron Moeller outright to Hawaii, cutting their actual roster to 24 players. The 25th man, bonus player Bob Darwin, is with Hawaii, but is counted on the Angels' roster under the new bonus rule.

Shipped To Tacoma

Constable, recently purchased from the Minnesota Twins organization, was shipped to Tacoma of the PCL by the San Francisco Giants, who also sent catcher Jim Coker to Toronto of the International League. Neither saw much action with the Giants.

Cline, the speedy outfielder with a light hitting average, also went to Toronto, as the Milwaukee Braves recalled bonus pitcher Dan Schneider from Denver of the PCL.

The Cleveland Indians dispatched pitcher Jack Curtis to Jacksonville of the IL and returned catcher Bob Lipsk to Little Rock, also in the IL, while the Kansas City A's optioned catcher Jose Azcue to Portland of the PCL.

The Washington Senators got down to the limit by optioning pitcher Jim Hannan to Richmond of the IL and selling catcher Bob Schmidt to the same club after purchasing catcher Hobie Landrith from the Baltimore Orioles.

Frank Lary Sent Down
Earlier Wednesday the Detroit Tigers sent pitcher Frank Lary, one of their stars over the last few seasons, to Knoxville of the Sally League. Lary, fighting an ailing arm, hopes to be able to return to the Tigers within a month. In eight seasons Lary has won 119 games and lost 101. The New York Yankees were his easiest victims as he beat them 28 times.

The Tigers later swapped players with their Syracuse affiliate in the IL, sending relief pitcher Bob Dostal and outfielder Purnal Gody to the Chiefs in exchange for third baseman Don Wert and pitcher Mickey Lolich.

The world champion Yankees got down to the limit by optioning utility infielder Pedro Gonzalez to Richmond.

Veteran catcher Hank Foiles was handed his unconditional release by the Cincinnati Reds, thus making him available to make a deal for himself.

The Baltimore Orioles also handed veteran lefthander Pete Burnside his unconditional release and optioned relief pitcher Buster Narum to Rochester of the IL.

The Boston Red Sox got down to the limit by optioning pitcher Hal Kistad to their Seattle farm club in the PCL.

Chisox Take Over First, Dodgers Ride Again

Third AL Leader In As Many Days

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

A cynical observer of the early American League pennant race might well remark today that while the cat's away the mice will play.

The role of the cat in the AL is played, of course, by the New York Yankees — tyrannical rulers of Joe Cronin's house for the last three years. And the role of the mice is being played on a day-to-day basis by long-suffering teams supposedly doomed for the second division.

Result: A different first-place occupant in the AL on each of the last three days. First it was the Kansas City Athletics. Then it was the Boston Red Sox. And today it is the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox moved into first place Wednesday night when they scored eight runs in the seventh inning and went on to wallopp the Athletics, 8-3. The White Sox' uprising came after Ed Rakow had pitched a perfect game for six full innings — retiring 18 consecutive batters on a total of 60 pitches.

Orioles Wallop Boston

The Red Sox tumbled out of first place when they were walloped, 10-4, by the Baltimore Orioles while the Yankees (are they just slow getting started or is this going to be one of those years?) were beaten, 7-8, on a two-run ninth-inning homer by Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers.

The Washington Senators defeated the Cleveland Indians, 6-3, and the Los Angeles Angels beat the Minnesota Twins, 4-3, in other AL games.

Mike Hershberger broke Rakow's perfect-game spell with a single to open the seventh inning and also had a double before the big frame was over. Big blows of the inning were a two-run double by Pete Ward and a three-run double by J. C. Martin. Eddie Fisher went eight innings to win his second game for the Sox while the loss was Rakow's second against three wins.

The Orioles lathered four Boston pitchers for 17 hits, including Jim Gentile's fifth homer of the season and three singles and a double by Brooks Robinson to deal Gene Conley his first defeat. Steve Barber allowed 12 hits but went the distance with the aid of three double plays to become the season's first six-game winner.

The Tigers beat New York when Jim Bouton walked Norm Cash to start the last of the ninth and Kaline followed with a drive off the second deck of the left field stands at Detroit. Jake Wood hit two homers and Bubba Phillips one for the Tigers while Tom Tresh hit two and Yogi Berra and Clete Boyer one each for the Yankees, who have lost three of their last four games.

Don Lock hit a grand slam homer in the last of the 13th to give the Senators their victory.

That bomb Walter Alston was supposed to be sitting on has exploded—and all but tore apart the St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff.

It only goes to show what the Los Angeles Dodgers can do when they stop fighting among themselves and concentrate on the enemy. Forty-eight hours ago the Dodgers looked like they were coming apart at the seams.

Today they look—at least to shell-shocked Cardinal pitchers — like the team that is favored to win the National League pennant.

The Dodgers accomplished the turnaround with a two-game display of power that accounted for 22 runs on 26 hits. The fireworks included six doubles, two triples and four homers powering the way to successive 11-1 and 11-5 victories over the Cardinals.

Musial Sets Record

The latter, accomplished with six runs in the last two innings Wednesday night, enabled the Dodgers to celebrate despite a home run by Stan Musial which enabled the 42-year-old Cardinal star to pass Babe Ruth and set a new major league career record of 1,357 extra base hits.

Musial's history-making homer came in the fourth inning off Bob Miller and was his second round tripper of the season.

The San Francisco Giants walloped the Milwaukee Braves, 13-5, the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-5, the Cincinnati Reds topped the Houston Colts, 3-2, and the New York Mets edged the Philadelphia Phis, 3-2, in other NL action.

Willie Davis drove in three runs with two homers and a triple, Wally Moon had a double and two singles, Maury Wills, Jim Gilliam and Ron Fairly had two hits each and Dodger base runners stole four bases in the eighth-inning rally touched off by Nelson Mathews' homer and given further impetus by doubles by Jim Schaffer, Lou Brock and Ron Santo. The bulk of the attack was against Elroy Face, Pirates' relief ace, who suffered his second loss of the year.

The Giants scored seven runs in the fourth inning—their single-inning high for the season and went on to tag Bob Hendley with his second loss. Willie McCovey had a homer and a single and Jim Davenport, Felipe Alou and Jose Pagan also had two hits each to lead the 11-hit San Francisco attack.

Cubs Keep Winning

The Cubs ran their winning streak to five games—their longest since 1961—with a four-run eighth-inning rally touched off by Nelson Mathews' homer and given further impetus by doubles by Jim Schaffer, Lou Brock and Ron Santo. The bulk of the attack was against Elroy Face, Pirates' relief ace, who suffered his second loss of the year.

Joe Nuxhall pitched a seven-hitter to win his second game of the season for the Reds with Johnny Edwards' two-run fourth-inning single providing the winning margin. Bob Bruce struck out eight Reds in six innings but was tagged with his third defeat.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Khrushchev Knows All

The life of a Soviet leader is not all parades and shoe-pounding. There is plenty of work of what might be called "cultural" aspects.

The thing we can't understand about a totalitarian government is that it is precisely what the word means — total. It doesn't confine itself to the economic and political, but also extends into the moral and cultural aspects of life. We might have to go down the road with the Administration's politics, but we aren't required to accept Jackie's tastes in interior decoration.

But in the Soviet, the head of the government has to lay aside his other duties to be an art and literary critic.

The point, of course, is summed up by Khrushchev in his address to a "meeting of party and government leaders with men of letters and arts" on March 8. The Soviet embassy has kindly sent us a translation of Comrade Khrushchev's speech. He says:

"We have to bring into play all the (Communist) party's ideological weapons, including such powerful means of communist education as literature and art. . . . What greater satisfaction can an artist gain than that brought by the knowledge that his talent is devoted entirely to the struggle of the people for the construction of communism. . . ."

You get the picture — the picture according to Khrushchev, that is.

If the arts are considered to be a vehicle for furthering the revolution, then admittedly the supreme leader of the revolutionary forces must become the arbiter of what is good and what is poor in literature and the graphic arts.

Khrushchev accepts the crown and goes about his task with the same finesse he displayed when he took off his shoe and banged on his desk to knock off the oratory of glibly old Adlai Stevenson.

Speaking of one Ernst Neizvestny, an artist, Khrushchev had this to say:

"Sickening concoctions. . . devoid of talent, repaying the people with black ingratitude. . . (Khrushchev doesn't like abstract art.) . . . Such deformities we denounce without reserve and will continue to do so. . . . You get the feeling Comrade Neizvestny presently is enjoying a rest in Siberia."

'An Act Of War'

Administration spokesmen in Congress have recently proclaimed that a Cuban blockade would be an "act of war."

This is truly an interesting observation. And it raises many interesting questions:

Was the establishment of Soviet missile bases in Cuba an act of war? Is the current Communist aggression in Southeast Asia an act of war? Was the Berlin Blockade an act of war?

A review of recent history quickly reveals that there have been many acts of war since the end of World War II. And all have been committed by the Soviets!

The truth is that we have been in a constant state of war — not just since the Cuban crisis, or even since the end of World War II. This war began in 1917 when the Communists established their regime in Russia.

Since that time, they have carried on an unrelenting war of subversion, espionage, sabotage, propaganda and military aggression against us. The only pause was when they turned all of their attention toward Germany.

The Third World War started before the end of the First World War. Since that time, the Soviets have broken any commitment that was no longer to their advantage; they have grown fat off of our lend-lease and foreign aid; they have stolen our military secrets; laughed in our faces, and played us for every kind of a sucker imaginable.

As Khrushchev himself is report-

In the field of literature, Khrushchev teed off on one Comrade I. Ehrenburg who "is making a gross ideological mistake and it is our duty to help him to realize it."

You know Khrushchev is going to give this boy just a lot of help! It is the sin of E. Ehrenburg to have said that communist and capitalist ideologies can co-exist. Says Khrushchev: "A lot of nonsense. . . . We must remember that a sharp struggle is going on in the world between two irreconcilable ideologies — socialist and bourgeois."

Plain enough. Turning to architecture, Comrade Khrushchev finds that the Rusakov club, built by Comrade Melnikov is "ugly as sin." (What is sinful in a godless society?)

The Soviet Army theater in Moscow "built to the designs of architects Albyan and Simbirsev is an example of unreasonable passion to form in architecture. Kaganovich foisted the ridiculous idea of building a theater in the form of a five-pointed star upon the architects. . . . How many useless corners. . . . The Soviet Army theater is probably the craziest building erected. . . . Stalin approved. . . . A silly idea, homage to an immature conception of beauty and reason in art and in life. . . . A most absurd work. . . ."

On the subject of abstract art, Khrushchev says: "Daubs which can be made by any ass with his tail." And about the self-portrait of B. Zhutovsky: "You can get a fright looking at this self-portrait. A monster. Disgraceful thing. He should be ashamed of himself. Abomination and monstrosity. It makes you sick to look at such a filthy mess and to listen to those who defend it."

Formalists in art are "perverted people whose brains are, so to speak, upside down."

Most jazz and modern dances (Western version) are "indecent, frenzied and heaven knows what."

Heaven in a godless society? Stories about concentration camps have been appearing in Soviet magazines. "Impermissible for a Soviet writer."

Whatever else you may say, Khrushchev doesn't shilly-shally. When he doesn't like something, he lays it on the line. And the misguided artist can fairly hear the footsteps of the police on his doorstep.

ed to have said, "We spit in their faces and they call it dew."

How much does it take to convince our foreign policy "experts" that this is war? How much longer will we sell the Soviets critically-needed industrial equipment and subsidized wheat? When will we finally quit giving foreign aid to Poland and Yugoslavia?

Presidents Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover recognized this state of war and all refused to do business — of any kind — with the Communists. As a result, the inefficient Communist machine was flat on its back — when we finally ran to the rescue in 1933. At that time, we established diplomatic relations and extended credit.

Since then, the Communists have grown fat and dangerous at our expense. Now, because of our naivete, they are a terrible threat to our existence.

Yes, we are at war. Simple logic demands that we recognize that fact and do the obvious: break off all relations with the Communists. We should immediately withdraw our diplomatic representation, end government — to — government trade negotiations, stop all aid, and bring home our negotiators from Geneva.

Because of the weak, inefficient nature of communism, withdrawal of our support is tantamount to collapse of the Communist menace.

No foreign policy by our government can be regarded as logical so long as we continue to do business with our sworn enemy.

The greatest challenge that the airlines face today is to broaden their passenger business because jet capacity exceeds demand. They are plagued with multi-fares and multi-class services that apply to various hours and days and to different types and sections of planes. The United Air Lines reports that if this conglomeration could be simplified and replaced with a one-class service and one standard fare, not only would their headaches disappear but $5 million would be saved annually. Today, because of competition, they must offer 30 different classifications of ticketing. Recently United was granted permission to try out a one-class service on a number of its flights, which blends the comforts of first class with that of the economy jet coach. There is a considerable saving over first class and the fare is only slightly higher than coach. A complete meal, with two complimentary cocktails, is included without charge. Airlines are watching United's new operation because it could mean the end of super deluxe air transportation. British European Airways is planning one-class schedules on all of its European routes.

Slight typographical error in the Buffalo (N.Y.) Courier-Express reads: "He died after being stung on the toe by a bee." . . . Inequities in transportation regulations should be removed, say the American railroads. They are still governed by laws passed over 60 years ago, when they had no competition. But today it's a different story, with two-thirds of truck traffic and nine-tenths of inland waterway tonnage completely unregulated.

Country Editor speaking: "Two are supposed to be able to live as cheaply as one. Whoever said that must have been a good eater. . . . Just 23 years ago today, Winston Churchill delivered his immortal "blood, sweat and tears" speech. Many Englishmen rate it with Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

With the coming of jet age, accident insurance rates on many airports soared, but during the past 12 months they have been reduced considerably. A good example is San Francisco, where the insurance fee has been cut from $65,000 to $33,000 a year, but this is double what was paid before the arrival of the jets. . . . Most of the people who play dumb really aren't playing the observation of the Marshalltown, Iowa, Times-Republican.

A bow tie fits some men's personalities and yet it does not become others. The same can be said of pipe smokers. . . . Exposing widespread-touting of substandard lots in remote areas of the West; developing guidelines for the sale of seat belts, and eliminating deceptive claims regarding air conditioners were some of the top services performed by the National Better Business Bureau during the past year. The Bureau, now in its second half-century, worked closely with newspapers, who rejected a considerable amount of objectionable advertising. . . . The servant problem is a most difficult one in Germany at this time, with thousands of jobs as maids, waiters, and service positions going begging. . . . Some of the most spectacular seascapes in the world are to be found in New Brunswick, the "Picture Province" of Canada, on its north shore and along the Bay of Fundy. THE ULTIMATE IN 'NO-WIN'

From the 1820s to the 1960s, it was American policy to bar foreign powers from this hemisphere. This policy, embodied in the Monroe Doctrine, was a cornerstone of U.S. foreign relations. Indeed it was one of the fundamental principles of the Republic that no European state could bully its way into the Caribbean.

Since President Kennedy took office, however, the Monroe Doctrine has been brutally murdered — and the administration has been an accomplice to the murder. What's worse, not only has the New Frontier allowed Russia to take over Cuba and turn it into a Soviet satellite but it has decided to give protection to the Russians in Cuba.

In recent weeks, the New Frontiersmen have been devoting their best energies not to aiding anti-communist Cubans but to tracking them down whenever they attempt to strike a blow for freedom in their homeland. American ships and planes have been deployed in the Caribbean, not to repel the Soviets, who have arrogantly moved into this hemisphere, but to capture and neutralize the small craft used by free Cubans in hit and run raids against Fidel Castro and his Soviet overlords.

It is an incredible performance that the American people have been witnessing. The administration is using the agencies of this country to protect the Russians. We announce to the world that we deplore free Cuban attacks on Russian ships in Cuban harbors. The New Frontier ignores the fact that the Russians are our deadly enemies, that they have no right to be in Cuba, and that the Cuban government is an illegal body that cruelly represses the Cuban people.

Haven't the anti-communist

Cubans the right to fight for the freedom of their country? Not according to the New Frontier. In the older America, people loved liberty. The U.S. government did what it could to assist brave people who wanted to be free of tyrannical government.

The United States would never have come into existence had the French government in the 1770's and 1780's adopted an attitude toward the rebellious colonies such as the Kennedy administration has adopted toward the free Cubans. The French government of that time could have said, as the Kennedy administration says today, that rendering assistance to the Americans would result in too great risks. But the French monarch of that day had more courage than the New Frontiersmen of 1963.

When the New Frontiersmen give the order to capture free-Cuban motorboats operating out of Florida, it is worthwhile remembering that the French government in the 18th century outfitted John Paul Jones' ships in a French harbor. But Mr. Kennedy has no intention of allowing any Cuban John Paul Jones to display their courage.

The Kennedy administration attempts to excuse its moral weakness and irresolution by saying that hit-and-run attacks, if they are made, should be under American direction — that we can't allow Cuban refugees to involve us in a war threat. But the Kennedy administration has had no compunction about letting the United Nations in effect make foreign policy for the United States. The U.S. supplied money, arms and aircraft for the U.N. intervention in Katanga, an act of war over which we in the USA had no direct control and from which we stood to gain only injury to our interests.

As for the attacks being ineffective, since when has ineffectiveness troubled the New Frontier? The administration is spending billions of dollars on foreign aid without any effective results for the USA. Within recent months, the Kennedy administration has poured millions of dollars into Brazil. Each day's headlines tell of further communist gains in that country. In Southeast Asia, American soldiers are being killed in an undeclared war that is not notable for improving the U.S. position in that part of the globe.

The truth is that the Kennedy administration has done nothing to stop the Russians in Cuba and won't let the Cubans themselves strike back at their enemy and ours. The foreign policy of the Kennedy administration, as set forth in the President's statements, is nothing else but a policy of protection for the Russians in Cuba.

This is the ultimate in no-win policies. It also is betrayal of the Cubans who love liberty and want to be friends with the United States. Even worse, it is a betrayal of the American people's own hope for victory over communism.

The Organization of American States, which on February 11th received from its security committee, a sensational secret report on Cuban subversion in Latin America, has a whole series of such reports backlogged awaiting action.

All Latin American initiatives to call for OAS action were suspended by a "Gentleman's Agreement" suggested by Secretary of State Dean Rusk last September just before the U. S. — Russian confrontation over nuclear arms in Cuba. This agreement renewed at U. S. request in December, 1962 remains in force, say Caribbean diplomats.

The most recent top-secret OAS security committee report is a 60-page summary of subversion confirmed in several Latin American countries by a 7-man committee of experts, it is learned. Specific countries that are the scene of subversion are not named.

OAS sources reveal the report established that:

1. Russia, through an elaborate apparatus based in Cuba, has given orders for unremitting subversive pressure against "Latin America's Constitutional Governments."

2. "Thousands" of Latin American saboteurs and experts in guerrilla warfare have been trained in Cuba by Communist specialists and dispersed for action throughout Latin America.

3. Castro has established 14 training camps in Cuba to which young Latin Americans have been brought for various kinds of instruction. A Spanish Communist officer, Gen. Alberto Bayo, is named as a chief in the training command.

4. Cuba-trained Latin Americans are responsible for the activities of "riot teams" that in other Latin American countries disturb the public order whenever Havana says the word.

5. Cuba-trained demolition squads in other countries have blown up bridges, oil installations and lines of communication as part of Havana-ordered terrorism.

6. Other Cuba-trained specialists are spreading chaos by infiltrating Latin American Labor Unions, student groups, governments, political parties, etc.

No wonder the Central American States urged strong action against Castro at the March meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica! There is great wonder as to why we would not join with them but even restrained them, just as we now oppose anti-Castro guerrilla warfare.

In maps published in two recent issues of the New York TIMES the nations of the world have been divided into three divisions: Western, Communist and Unaligned. Incredible as it may seem, Cuba was placed in the Unaligned group. Questioned by telephone, states the NATIONAL REVIEW, the map section of the TIMES answered, "We do not consider Cuba a part of the Communist bloc."

Proxmire Planning $25-a-Plate Dinner To Raise Funds for His Tough Re-election

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Senator William Proxmire is adding a new dimension to his favorite oratorical topic — "fiscal responsibility." He is promoting a $25-a-plate fund-raising dinner in his own behalf.

Last week this column disclosed that the highest-paid employee on the senatorial payroll of the Wisconsin liberal Democrat was a full-time graduate student at the University of Wisconsin. Frank J. Campenni, 33, was getting $14,596 as "legislative assistant," although he does not live in Washington and hadn't done a lick of work in Proxmire's office.

This column pointed out that this curious situation was in striking contrast to a pet role of Proxmire — of declaiming often and at length about economizing, fiscal responsibility (a favorite expression) and the need to balance the federal budget.

When Proxmire got wind of this column's interest in his high-salaried absentee employee, he suddenly issued a three-page statement announcing he was repaying the government upwards of $9,000 — the salary plus interest Campenni had received since Proxmire put him on his payroll last August.

The Senator solemnly explained he was doing this wholly on his own initiative, and that Campenni would come to Washington in June to head his office staff.

Several days later Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., who also faces a tough re-election struggle next year, warmly lauded Proxmire for his high sense of public responsibility. Mansfield carefully said nothing about Proxmire having had this high-paid absentee employee on his payroll for eight months and acting only when he learned this was to be published.

The $25-a-plate dinner Proxmire is now busily organizing is avowedly to raise funds for his re-election campaign next year.

Proxmire's unannounced goal is $25,000.

The affair is to be a buffet on June 25, in one of Washington's new hotels that seems to specialize in fund-raising events. No speakers have yet been selected, and other important arrangements are still up in the air.

Proxmire has encountered some difficulty in putting together an imposing list of "sponsors." At least several prominent Democrats turned him down.

PROFITABLE SHINDIGS — Proxmire's fund-raising dinner is the latest to be launched. It will be the last if Senator Warren Magnuson, Wash., chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, has his way. He wants to concentrate all fund-raising in his committee, and is urgently appealing to other Democratic senators up for election to support his plan.

In return, Magnuson is offering them $5,000 each this year and at least $10,000 next year. How far he will get with that remains to be seen.

So far, individual fund-raising dinners have been far more productive.

One for Senator Howard Cannon, D-Nev., in Las Vegas, raised $100,000 for his 1964 reelection. This was a $100-a-plate affair attended by more than 1,000. A special plane with some 70 Washington notables flew to the famed resort city for the occasion. From their c'ted accounts, a "wonderful time" was had by all.

APPOINTS NEGRO EDUCATOR

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Gov. Frank Clement Tuesday appointed a Negro educator to the State Board of Education, the first such post ever to be held by a Negro in Tennessee.

Dr. Harold West, president of Meharry Medical College, was the second Negro to be appointed to a high post in the Clement administration within the past week.

Clement earlier had named Willard Bowden, a Negro, to the State Pardons and Paroles Board.

LOOK FOR THE SPECIAL "AMERICA" CAPS

Look for the Coke or Sprite caps with the shield on top!

Then lift the liner...

and mail the liners... or acceptable substitutes (see rule 3) TODAY!

DO NOT MAIL METAL CAPS

There are 102 different illustrations under caps with the shield on top. They represent points of interest from all over America. Collect them all while you enjoy refreshing, ice-cold Coca-Cola or tart and tingling Sprite!

IT'S EASY TO ENTER... ENTER AS OFTEN AS YOU LIKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by The Pampa Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Sweepstakes Rules — Read Carefully.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO ENTER:

- On an official entry blank, or a plain piece of paper, hand print or write clearly your name and address along with the name of your favorite retail store. Mail to: "Go America" Sweepstakes, P. O. Box 114, New York 46, N. Y.
- Enter as often as you wish. Each entry must be mailed separately. Entries must be postmarked by June 30, 1963 and received by July 1, 1963.
- Each entry must be accompanied by the liners (cork or plastic) from 3 caps from Coke or Sprite (caps with the shield on top) or by 3 pieces of paper 3" x 5" on which you have hand drawn "Coke-Cola" in block lettering. (Liners may be detached by inserting small point under edge and lifting. Plastic liners are easier to remove after caps are placed in warm water.) Do not mail metal caps.
- Winners will be selected in random drawings conducted by the U. S. Blair Corporation, an independent judging organization. Its decisions with respect to all phases of the Sweepstakes will be final. Only one prize to a family. No substitutions will be made for any prize offered. All entries become the property of The Coca-Cola Company and none will be returned.
- Sweepstakes is open to residents of the United States. Not open to employees and their families of The Coca-Cola Company, Coca-Cola Bottlers, the U. S. Blair Corporation and their advertising agencies. Offer void in Alabama, Florida, Missouri, Wisconsin and wherever prohibited by law (residents of those areas are eligible to enter a special contest—free entry blanks and rules available where Coca-Cola and Sprite are sold).
- Winners will be notified by mail approximately 30 days after final drawing. For a list of prize-winners, send separate stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Go America Winners' List, P. O. Box 24, New York 46, N. Y. Do not send this request with Sweepstakes entry.
