Trade Evangels to Oklahoma Today

125 LEAVE TO GLAD-HAND OUR NEIGHBOR CITIES

Wichita Valley Will Be Followed to Waurika On First Day

RETURN WEDNESDAY

14 Oklahoma and Three Texas Communities To Be Visited

With Southern Oklahoma as the sector to be captured and with plenty of ammunition in the form of facts and figures on Wichita Falls' trade advantages, this city's trade trip army, 125 strong, launches its first offensive of the year at 7 o'clock this morning.

The campaign is to last until 6 o'clock Wednesday night during which time 14 towns in Oklahoma will be subjected to an intense bombardment by the high-powered trade emissaries of Wichita Falls.

Its Big Purpose

Bearing messages of good cheer and well wishes to the northern neighbors, the trade trip mission is one of peace and harmony, but at the same time it has a definite object in view—that of establishing Wichita Falls as a base of operations for the commercial world of this section.

All plans for the jaunt were completed last night. The baggage car of the special train was loaded and each representative holding a reservation instructed as to the what, when and why of the trip. The men are to pull out of town promptly at 7 o'clock, traveling via the Wichita Valley to Waurika.

Transfers will be made to the Rock Island & Frisco lines in Southern Oklahoma and the string of counties fringing the Red river traversed. Stops will be made at 14 Oklahoma points and at three communities in Texas. The special returns at 6 o'clock Wednesday night, coming in via the Northwestern from Altus, Frederick and Burkburnett.

Costumed Correctly

Garbed in line dusters, fancy hats, carrying gaudy parasols and augmented by a full brass band, the trippers promise to be the whole show wherever they may chance to alight. Advance arrangements call for parades through the various points visited.

The work of preparing for the trip has been carried on largely by the trade extension committee of the chamber of commerce, headed by J. C. Mytinger, chairman. Other members of committee are E. S. Goodner, Joe Goodner, Ivan Murchison, R. E. Nolen, George Wilson Jr., W. W. Anderson, Hubert Harrison, O. D. McCoy and J. W. Chatham. Mr. Harrison is general manager and Mr. McCoy, assistant manager, of the chamber of commerce, while Mr. Chatham, formerly traffic manager of the organization, has arranged for the railroad connections.

Other members of the chamber, of course, worked faithfully in behalf of the trip, but the bulk of the burden has fallen on the shoulders of those named above.

TEXAN TAKEN AFTER 5 YEARS

Fled to Mexico Disguised As Woman After Embezzling

Associated Press Dispatch

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Corey C. Slaughter, wanted in Pueblo, Colo. on charge of embezzlement of funds from a national bank of that city, was arrested tonight at Phoenixville, Pa. He had been a fugitive since 1918.

Announcement of Slaughter's arrest was made by Walter C. Foster, in charge of the department of justice agents in this district. He said that Slaughter admitted his identity and agreed to waive extradition and return to Colorado at once.

DENVER, April 9.—Corey C. Slaughter is wanted in Colorado on a charge of looting the Mercantile National bank of Pueblo, of $352,162, when acting as its cashier May 29, 1915.

The flight of young Slaughter, who was in his early thirties at the time, caused a nine-day sensation in banking circles of the West. When he left he took with him an order for $10,000 in currency on a Kansas City bank. The order was honored without question, as the fugitive gave as collateral, certain negotiable bonds which had been deposited with the Pueblo bank.

His father, William B. Slaughter, president of the wrecked institution, was arrested March 31, 1915, a few minutes after he had arrived from his home at Dallas, Texas. He was indicted by a federal grand jury in April the same year. His trial was brought to an abrupt close when Judge Robert E. Lewis, on motion of former U. S. Senator Bailey, of Texas, Slaughter's special counsel, dismissed the indictment and discharged the defendant. Slaughter immediately was re-arrested on a state charge of conspiracy to loot the bank, and taken to Pueblo for hearing Judge John W. Shenfer directed a verdict of not guilty. After four days of argument by Senator Bailey, assisted by two other Texas lawyers, the elder Slaughter was set free and returned to Texas immediately.

Search for the young Slaughter has continued since. At one time he was reported to have escaped into Mexico disguised as a woman.

Earlier in the day it was reported that the body had been identified as that of Ed Douglas, a painter, of Pittsburg, Texas, but late today authorities stated Douglas was alive, in Texarkana.

Many persons have viewed the body, which is being held here in a local undertaking parlor, but thus far no one has thrown any light on the case. Officers say the man was murdered, but that they have no clue as to the identity of the slayer.

Texas Girl Adds Barefoot Step As Lagniappe After Trotting 50 Hours

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, April 9.—With a Texas whoop, Miss Alma Cummings shook her worn slippers from her feet tonight and did a barefoot pirouette on the floor of an uptown dance hall, and thus was created formally a new world's record of 50 hours' continuous dancing.

Miss Cummings is the San Antonio girl who resented the breaking of her world's record for continuous dancing last week by a pair who went six more hours than her 27-hour record. She started off on a new attempt at 7:10 last Saturday evening. At 9:10 tonight she finished her stepping, having gone 50 continuous hours.

She said she was not tired. She used up the energy of two orchestras and seven men partners. Some grapefruit, tomato soup and peanuts were her only food.

She would have gone beyond the 50-hour mark, Miss Cummings said, except that her head began to ache when she was exposed to strong sunlight for three hours this afternoon.

SOLONS REJECT A. & M. RAISES

Bizzell Attacks Plan Followed By State Committee

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, April 9. — Salaries of presidents of state normal colleges will remain at $4,200 a year under action of the senate finance committee today. The committee rejected the recommendation of the board of control that such salaries be increased to $4,500. The board spent most of the day considering the budget of the Agricultural and Mechanical college.

President W. B. Bizzell of the A. & M. college asked the committee for a higher salary scale, and removal of existing restrictions on the expenditures of public funds regarding itemization and limitations on salary adjustments. Bizzell expressed opposition to the proposed grading of state education institutions as favored by some officials.

"Any arbitrary classification of state institutions by arranging them in a fixed order of importance must necessarily lead to erroneous conclusions. Such a classification does not provide for consideration of the functions of the several institutions," the president said.

SMALLEST CROP OF WHEAT SINCE 1918 FORECAST

Big Portion of Grain Fails To Germinate Says U. S. Report

MILLION ACRES LESS

Complete Failure in Some Sections of Panhandle Reported

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, April 9. — This year's winter wheat crop was forecast today by the department of agriculture at 572,317,000 bushels, the smallest crop since 1918, and 17,537,000 bushels less than the average production for the last 10 years.

The forecast was based on conditions prevailing April 1, and upon the assumption of average abandonment of acreage through the winter, and average influences from now on until harvest.

In the May crop report, but in summarizing conditions as they existed April 1, the department said abandonment promises to be heavy, although irregular, from Ohio westward to Kansas and Nebraska.

Drouth Is Felt.

"Owing to the extensive drouth or scanty rainfall last fall," the department said, "much wheat failed to germinate, or barely germinating, perished from the winter. The plains area, extending from western Nebraska through west Kansas into the Panhandle region of Oklahoma and Texas, conditions are extremely poor, ranging from 50 per cent downward to complete failure. These conditions extend with lessening severity over the adjacent area, including the southwestern half of Nebraska, the western half of Kansas, practically all of the Panhandle section of Texas, eastern New Mexico, eastern Colorado, and southwestern Wyoming, in all of which territory the condition is below 65 per cent."

Acreage Is Less.

The acreage sown to winter wheat last fall was about 1,500,000 acres less than sown in the fall of 1920, the total having been 46,069,000 acres for this year's crop, compared with 47,611,000 acres for last year's crop. The abandoned acreage last year amounted to almost 5,500,000 acres and indications are that the abandonment this year will be more extensive.

This year's production was forecast at 76,784,000 bushels, which is almost 20,000,000 less than last year's record crop, the third largest ever grown.

Salaries Cannot Be Fixed By Law Rules High Court

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Wages cannot be fixed by law, the supreme court, dividing five to three, held today in a case brought to test the constitutionality of an act of congress fixing minimum wages for women and minor girls in the District of Columbia.

The decision was delivered by Justice Sutherland, Justices McKenna, Van Devanter, McReynolds and Butler joining with him. Chief Justice Taft delivered dissenting opinion for himself, and Justice Sanford, while Justice Holmes read a dissenting opinion, which followed in its main features that of Chief Justice Taft. Justice Brandeis did not participate in the decision.

The majority of the court based its position broadly upon the right of contract, insisting that while laws could be enforced to regulate working conditions, the employer and the employe must be free of restraint in determining between themselves what wages are acceptable.

The Miller case came before the court today with the completion of the Foster Bell case. Motion for continuance was offered by the defense on grounds of absence of material witnesses.

Caleb Ridley, imperial kludd of the klan, by issuing a statement, denying that he is now or has ever been the enemy of Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler Crow. Edward Young Clarke, former imperial wizard, protempore, or Colonel Simmons.

JOHN CRAIG IS MADE CHIEF OF NIGHT BUREAU

All Members of Department Go Out As New Chief Comes In

CLEAN SWEEP MADE

"I'll Expect All Of You To Make Good," Hodgins Warns

The city police department changed its complexion completely Monday night, just as Police Commissioner Young had promised, when, after being sworn in by the council, the Commissioner and Chief Hodgins visited the city hall, relieved the old force down to the last man and assigned the new men to their beats.

Mr. Young was administered the oath of office at the council meeting early in the night. He later submitted the name of Mr. Hodgins for the chief's job and he was accepted and sworn in. The names of the new force were submitted to the council and some discussion taken, but it was the consensus of opinion that the appointments should be left in the hands of Mr. Young and Mr. Hodgins.

50 Applicants.

There were probably 50 applicants for positions in the council room during the meeting, together with all those who had previously been selected by the new commissioner. Following the appointment of Mr. Hodgins, Jr., and Mr. Young, with the whole force, paraded to the city hall where Night Chief Glenn and a handful of the old force were still on the job.

Commissioner Young announced that all old members of the force were relieved from further duty, and Chief Hodgins immediately made assignments to the new officers. Badges were passed out and those named for night duty sent to their beats.

"All Must Make Good."

In addressing his force, Chief Hodgins declared that every man selected was on probation and that it was up to him to make good.

"You fellows have jobs just as long as you show yourselves worthy of holding them," he said. "If you don't make good, don't be surprised if I tell you about it, because I'm not going to be a bit bashful about letting you go if you deserve it."

The new officers immediately took up their duties.

Hall Crowded.

The city hall was crowded to suffocation as the old force moved out and the new administration took up the reins. A few of the night force were still at work when Commissioner Young, Chief Hodgins and their following entered the station, while a number of the day force were hanging around to see what happened.

Knowing what was coming, all had previously submitted their resignations and had turned in their badges, which were laid out on the court room table. A throng of curious spectators also crowded in to watch the proceedings.

The whole thing took less than a quarter of an hour. The retiring officers left the place with various expressions of relief. Chief Hodgins seated himself at the table, called the roll, made his inaugural speech, passed out the badges, sent the men to work and it was all over.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—Meetings incident to the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, which begins Wednesday forenoon, will get under way here tomorrow with the opening of the annual convention of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Arrangements had been made to quarter 1,000 of them in a huge warehouse, beginning Wednesday morning and that number with scant funds had been invited to come to the city, to arrive on the day designated. At least 600 stole a march on the others, for they already are here, and the warehouse has not yet been prepared to receive them.

ANGLIN ADDS TO HER LAURELS

"Different" Love Drama Fulfills Expectations When Seen Here

Margaret Anglin, enjoying a rich distinction as one of the foremost actresses of America, thoroughly delighted her audience at the Palace theatre last night with her splendid characterization of the leading role in "The Woman of Bronze."

The vehicle, written by Paul Kester, was admirably suited to Miss Anglin's diversified talent and the cast which supported her was unusually well balanced and smoothly capable of co-starring with her.

The part in which Miss Anglin was cast called for a variation of histrionic ability and she carried it through the several human emotions with a grace and ease that was warmly accepted by the audience. Playing opposite her was Harry Mitnurn, as the wayward husband, with a personality well fitted for the role.

Max Montesole as Patrick Griggs, was capital in the role of the male juvenile, which blended together a fine feeling of pathetic understanding with a rich vein of quaint Irish humor, imparted with perfection.

Harry Barfoot, in a dual mental role, was one of those rich actors who played his part in such a manner as to revolve a practically minor part into one of the most pleasing characters on the stage. He was especially fine in the part of Papa Boneil, an Italian imbued with the art of the sculptor.

Reginald Morton went a long way to carry the comedy of the piece and his droll work was thoroughly appreciated. Vera Berliner and Henry Mawbray, though in comparatively minor roles, played their parts with a polished finish and Janet Cameron was called upon for several fine bits of acting in the difficult role of the third corner of the eternal triange.

Something Different

The plot of the play was cleverly worked out and there were noticeable instances of deviations from the usual form, which lent a strong note of individuality to the production.

The plot of the play dealt with that tragic triangle of life involving Leonard Hunt, a sculptor, his wife, played by Miss Anglin, and Sylvia Alorton, musician cousin of Hunt. Not blessed with an abundance of worldly goods, Sylvia and her father come under the roof of the Hunts where Leonard is working upon a masterpiece to place in competition against a field of masters striving for a handsome prize offered for the execution of a symbolic memorial.

Slowly but surely the net is woven and Hunt finds himself infatuated with his cousin. Sylvia realizes the circumstances and is herself a victim of the lure to which she knows she is not entitled.

—And the Cord Snaps

With the premonition endowed to all women, Mrs. Hunt feels the tragedy eating its way into her heart and home but bravely lives and acts that the work of her husband may be crowned with the glory of success.

To the disregard of other suitors, Sylvia sails deeply into the affections of Hunt and the cord which has drawn so taunt, finally snaps a month before the completion of the work.

Failing time and again to be inspired for the face of the women of his symbolic figure, Hunt gives up and succumbs to the love which has worked its way into his life. The call of motherhood proves stronger even than the call of wifehood and Hunt and Sylvia depart after the maddened sculptor, regarding his work stands as a mounment to defeat rather than victory, flies into a fit of rage and crashes his work to a thousand pieces.

A year elapses and the second love dies out as it had burst into flame. Hunt returns for a breath of the atmosphere of his first home and during his visit comes mace to face with his faithful wife who has borne her sorrow in the hope that her prayers for the fulfillment of Hunt's work may be answered.

All Ends Well

The trusty Bonelli has toiled with the fineness of his art in assembling the broken bits of the memorial piece and it is with this that Hunt is confronted as his wife is present. Reconciliation seems impossible under the circumstances, but suddenly the long sought inspiration which so tantalized and evaded the sculptor dur-

Anglin Is More Than An Actress She's Also Shrewd Business Woman

Unique is a most overworked word. Yet the personality of Margaret Anglin, billed as the foremost actress of America, has the uniqueness which is the necessary part of supremacy.

There is uniqueness in her crooked smile; uniqueness in the sanity of her offstage viewpoint; uniqueness, in fact, in her upbringing.

In the business of acting, Miss Anglin has covered a wider range than any present-day star. She is the only actress successfully to have played Oscar Wilde; making definite successes in Lady Windemere's "Fan"; "A Woman of No Importance," and the "Importance In Being in Earnest." She has played Shakespeare, succeeding in "As You Like It," "Twelfth Night," "Taming of the Shrew," and as the famous Cleopatra. She has played the Greek classics, "Sophocles" and "Euripides." She played New York as "Joan of Arc" more successfully in scope of production and revenue than did Bernhardt, the originator, in Paris.

As a common-sense business woman, she very much knows her business of acting. She bought the now famous "A Woman of Bronze" in France and had it worked over for America by Paul Hester. She has had practically four years of solid success with this play, a year and a half of it in New York and Chicago. Next year, with the enthusiasm of a young girl, yet with the sanity of an adult business woman, she will produce Charles Dickens in American drama.

A literary furore of last year was "The Revolt Against Civilization." The biological argument is the old, old story that blood will tell—that there is an under man, a middle man, and a superman, quite as definitely based upon heredity as are the horses at Latonia or Sheepshead. As to Miss Anglin, her father was a classical Greek scholar, the editor of a famous Canadian newspaper and a speaker of the Canadian house. Her brother is chief justice of the supreme court of Canada. She has never changed the name her men folk have honored, and she herself, shrewd-eyed, and yet youthful-eyed, is moving from success to success, with the ease and yet the watchfulness that are a part of the supremacy of breeding and genius.

and Luke Hart as detectives, will head the new city police department. These names were presented Monday night by Commissioner Hodgins and the men put to work after the old force had been relieved.

Patrolmen were named as follows: D. D. McIver, C. M. Willis, C. W. Lewis, Bud Knight, William Ogle, J. E. Lewis, Tom Roark, Mace Davis, O. M. Tanner, J. E. Robertson and W. B. Scott. Seven of the new patrolmen have been members of the police department in the past, having served at one time or another under the Bralley and Fitts administrations.

Hodgins' Salary Fixed.

Chief Hodgins' salary was fixed by the council at $300 per month, the same as that paid retiring Chief McCormick, and the salary of patrolmen placed at $125 per month. It was intimated that an increase might be expected by these men if they proved themselves worthy. The salary of the night chief, sergeant and detectives was not determined last night.

Commissioner Young announced that the entire force of patrolmen would be uniformed and that orders for these would be placed immediately. He also announced it as his intention to thoroughly patrol the downtown streets and alleys at night as well as day.

New Recorder Coming.

The position of city recorder and prosecutor of the police court will be unchanged for the balance of the week, although it is understood that John Davenport, filling both places at present, is anxious to be relieved. Commissioner Young stated that he would have further recommendations to make in regard to this in the near future.

At the council meeting Monday night it was virtually decided to place the chief of police under bond, something that heretofore has never been done. The desk sergeant who handles all fines collected in court has been under $1,000 bond for some time, but the chief has never had to make this provision. The amount of bond has not been decided, but City Attorney E. M. Mann was instructed to prepare an ordinance for submission at next Monday's meeting, this to cover all phases of the matter.

SALVI SCORES SUCCESS HERE

Master of Harp Plays To Packed House At Palace

Alberto Salvi, world's greatest harpist, in a concert at the Palace theatre Monday afternoon, attended by one of the largest crowds to hear a musician in Wichita Falls, took his hearers by storm, drawing outbursts of applause at both the intermission and close that lasted for several minutes. The concert of Salvi here is the last of a series of resentations of noted artists, by the Musicians and University clubs.

The master of the harp won the hearts of his hearers with the first chord, and held their attention throughout th hour and a half. At the intermission he responded to thunderous applause, with an encore and again at the close was forced to come back. As the last strains of Tarantelle died away ending the concert, silence was turned to applause, the crowd refusing to leave the theatre. After several minutes, during which time no one left, Salvi returned for an encore.

Members of the Musicians club stated following the concert that the presentation of Salvi was the most popular of the entire season's concerts of artists. The program follows:

Allegro from C minor concert. (Zabel.)
The Fountain (Debussy.)
Spanish Dance (Tedeschi.)
Fantasie Impromptu (Chopin.)
Norwegian Ballade (Poenitz.)

Intermission.

Impromptu (Schuecker.)
Danse Des Sylphes (Posse.)
Valse Brilliante, (Salvi.)
Italian Serenade (Salvi.)
Barcarolle from Tales of Hoffman (Offenbach, Salvi.)
The Music Box (Tedeschi.)

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG "THE WOMAN OF BRONZE"

Woman Whips Out Weapon and Puts It On Speed Sleuths When They Halt Her Machine on Charge of "Over 25"

When K. B. Kinsner and Joe Blocker, county officers, attempted to arrest a young woman speeder on Tenth street late last night, they looked into the barrel of an automatic pistol.

The officers, seeing the woman pass Van Buren street at a high rate of speed, gave chase, riding alongside the racing car, when their quarry flashed the gun in their faces, declaring that she would not be arrested. The officers stopped the car, however, and after a scuffle forced the gun from the driver's hands.

Blocker, in attempting to remove the pistol, was badly scratched about the face and neck, the driver resorting to natural means of attack when relieved of her pistol. She was taken to the county courthouse by the officers, where she was charged with speeding, as was the original intention of the officers. No charges were filed in regard to the use of the gun, the officers taking the incident as all in the day's work, according to Kinsner's statement.

The pistol taken from the woman by Kinsner and Blocker was later returned to her husband by the officers, who asked that he keep it in his own possession in the future.

HEARING CLOSED ON AVENUE F PAVING

The hearings were closed Monday night by the city council on the Avenue F paving project and the contract for the work awarded to the West Texas Construction company. The work involves a two-block stretch on Avenue F from Giddings to Monroe street and is to be of Warrenite bithulithic paving.

A Kansas City man who was struck by an auto and had one leg broken, still was in luck. It was his wooden leg.

Did Winter leave you with that tired feeling?

WINTER'S confinement, with its lack of pure air and sunshine, shows its effect in Spring. To be underweight, easily tired, listless, and have a poor appetite, indicates a weakened condition of the blood. Nature must have help—your blood is minus fighting strength! More red-cells mean cleaner, purer, richer blood. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells. It builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! It builds nerve-power,—thinking power. It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexions, and makes the flesh firmer. Stronger and more useful nerves depend on blood-power. S. S. S. will improve your appetite and give you greater energy, strength and a more youthful appearance.

Mrs. Lizzie Palmer, Crowell, Texas, writes: "I was in a run-down condition—had lost forty-four pounds in weight. Also suffered from pimples and blackheads. My druggist recommended S.S.S. It made me a new woman. I think S.S.S. to be the best medicine on earth."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

WOMAN DESPAIRED OF EVER GETTING WELL

Mrs. Bodiford Became Despondent Over Condition of Her Health But Is At Last Restored By Talking Stella Vitae

"I had suffered so much before taking Stella Vitae that I just despaired of ever getting well," said Mrs. W. C. Bodiford, living at 1301 Lenway street, Dallas, Texas.

"I simply lived in dread of the approach of my monthly period, she continued, for it always brought on such suffering that I could hardly bear it. The most terrible cramps all through my body made me perfectly miserable and often I felt like death itself would be a relief.

"I took all kinds of medicines trying to find something that would do away with my trouble, but nothing did me a mite of good and I got so I just believed nothing would help me and I would have to go through life a weak and broken down woman, unfit for anything and a burden to my family.

"Finally I was induced to try Stella Vitae, but to tell the truth I never expected it to do me any good, as I had been disappointed so many times before. I began to feel better soon after starting on it and was sure surprised and thankful to find when my period came round I didn't suffer a bit from cramps like I did before. It is certainly a great joy to me to feel that I am free from that old trouble and I shall gladly recommend Stella Vitae to every suffering woman I hear of.

Stella Vitae is not to be confunded with the ordinary advertised remedy. It is not a cure-all. It is a preparation that is asknowledged to be properly proportioned and correctly combined from ingredients that are known to possess the powers of furnishing help for the relief of the peculiar diseases to which women alone are subject. WHENEVER you play a phonograph record made with the old style surface, those two irrepressible imps, Scratch and Scrape, immediately begin to shout, "Hear me! Hear me!"

But, put a Columbia New Process Record on your phonograph and from it surges music of a crystal-clear beauty that will amaze and delight you.

It is as if Columbia had caught those boisterous rogues and bound and gagged them.

The only method ever discovered which successfully reduces surface noise to a negligible quantity is Columbia's new process for making records in layers or leaves. The centre leaf is an extremely hard material. Over this are laid the playing surfaces, of a material so marvelously smooth and fine that the needle traveling over it creates but the veriest whisper of a sound. At the first note of music even this disappears.

All Columbia Records are now made with this delightfully noiseless surface. They can be played on any phonograph.

If you would know the perfection of phonograph music, go to a Columbia Dealer and ask to hear record A-3829 from the accompanying superfine program. It is "Falling," one of the newest and snappiest fox-trots, played by the Manhattan Dance Orchestra. As you listen you will catch all the subtle orchestration which these masters of dance music have so ably rendered.

The actual voice of the singer, the instrument itself, the full harmony of the orchestra, unblurred by obnoxious needle noise, is the wonderful reality which the Columbia new surface has given to the phonograph. You can secure it only in Columbia New Process Records.

The process is patented. No one else can employ anything like it in making records.

Work Starts On Ninth Paving At Denver - Baylor

Work was started Monday morning by the L. E. Whitham company on paving the one-block strejch of Ninth street between Denver and Baylor streets, with the prospects that the project will be completed before the end of the week. The paving is of concrete, heavily reinforced.

The present job, when completed, will add another block toward the Ninth street stretch that will ultimately give another straight run from the business district out to the western part of the city. This will leave only four blocks of unpaved street between the business section and the outer rim of town.

DRESS DEMONSTRATION TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

A dress form demonstration is to be given April 13 at the home of Mrs. D. L. Langford, two miles north of the county line community, for the benefit of Wichita and Wilbarger county women. Women Voters Meet in Des Moines in Fourth Annual Convention

By EDITH E. MORIARTY.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 9.—"The most powerful factors in the world today are clear ideas in the minds of energetic men and women of good will."

This is the "sentiment" the League of Women Voters has taken for its fourth annual convention to be held in Des Moines, Iowa, April 9-14. When universal suffrage was granted in 1920, the Woman's Suffrage association was no longer needed, but the women who had worked so long, so hard and so faithfully knew that the mere winning of the vote was not enough. They still had a long, hard task before them in preparing women for the vote and educating them to use it and use it intelligently. It was with this idea that the League of Women Voters organized in Chicago in 1920.

The second convention, held in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1921, reported on the results of the year's program and the weaknesses were strengthened and the scope expanded. Then came the third meeting in Baltimore last year, when the league met in conjunction with the Pan-American Conference of Women and created a feeling of international friendliness which cannot soon be forgotten.

In the months since then the league has carried on a strenuous program, studying public questions, seeking information about candidates for public office, teaching women not only the mechanics of voting, but the need of forming their own convictions and then voting them. It is the sum of this information and experience which will be given at Des Moines.

The convention will not be addressed by any foreign woman, according to the program as it is now planned, but one man from abroad will speak. He is Lord Robert Cecil, foremost British exponent of the league of nations. The remainder of the program will be all-American. Secretary Hoover is to address the mass meeting, which is a feature of every convention, and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania, will be heard on the same occasion.

Other speakers on the program are: Miss Julia Lathrop, first chief of the children's bureau and now president of the Illinois league; Mrs. Florence Kelley, secretary of the Consumers' league; and one of the outstanding speakers of the week will be Justice Florence E. Allen of the Ohio supreme court.

No woman—or man—who has not learned from experience something worth telling has been asked to speak, and the program as arranged covers all the phases of good citizenship to the fostering of which the league is pledged.

Mrs. F. Louis Slade of New York, director of the second region, will tell how the league can get better candidates for office, and Mrs. Maud Wood Park, in her president's address, will offer an original solution to the problem of how to get out the vote and make it intelligent. Mrs. Park states that she has a plan whereby the league can get 75 per cent of all the men and women in the country of voting age to register and vote in 1924.

The general elections for the new officers of the league will take place Friday, April 13.

Recruiting Increases

Recruiting business picked up considerably in Wichita Falls last week, according to Chief Machinists' Mate W. E. Kelly, in charge of the local naval recruiting office. Three applicants for enlistment, to the navy were sent from here to Dallas Sunday, and several others were sent out late last week.

Recruiting business over the entire north Texas district was much better than the week before, Kelly reported. Not a single applicant was obtained in that time from any of the stations.

Arkansas Lady Says Mother Gave Her Cardui and She Had No More Trouble of This Kind

LAMAR, Ark.—Mrs. Edith Seeman, here, recently made the following statement describing her experience in the use of Cardui:

"I had pain in my back and sides; had sick headaches and my nose would bleed. I couldn't sit up at all.

"My mother gave me Cardui. I took about a half bottle and at this .....I was able to get up and help with the work. Next time I took it again, and now, after taking two bottles, I do not have any trouble at all at this time. I gained, my skin cleared up, I am healthy and strong.

"My mother took Cardui for a weak, run-down condition. It did her more good for weakness and nervousness than any medicine she has ever taken. She took six bottles in all. We recommend it and certainly know its worth."

The foregoing is one out of thousands of statements which have been received from users of Cardui, the woman's tonic. If you are a sufferer from womanly ailments, try Cardui. It may be just what you need. Get it at the drug store.

CHICAGO DEMOCRATS ARE WINNERS

Chicago is the third American city in point of population and wealth and in time will become the greatest of American cities in population and wealth and progressiveness.

For years it has been a democratic stronghold. Then William Hale Thompson, a Roosevelt republican and young man of great wealth was elected mayor. He built the most powerful political machine that Chicago had ever known and in time he became the boss of the state.

He made Len Small, one of his henchmen, governor. He almost controlled the legislature. Thousands of negroes drifted to Chicago. These became known as "Thompson's black reserves." He was the monarch of all he surveyed. He ruled with an iron hand. He imagined himself the Napoleon of American politics and a dictator of the republican party of the West.

It is possible for a political boss to survive for a few years. It is possible for him to be the absolute dictator or autocrat of an American city but he can't go on forever. Len Small, his governor, was accused of having looted the state treasury, this while serving as treasurer of the state of Illinois. His trusted lieutenants were accused of having looted the school fund. His black reserves became insolent and hard to handle.

A year ago he decided to name all the judges of Cooke county and Chicago. He hand-picked them all. Then came revolt on the part of the independent citizens. They organized and they defeated Thompson's hand-picked slate. Then the judges became anti-Thompson. Then grand juries began to grind. Then a political boss who was the power behind the Thompson throne was indicted.

Then the machine began to crumble. Then the democrats buried their animosities and all factions came together. They nominated as their mayorical candidate William E. Dever, for a quarter of a century one of the great judges of Illinois. What happened is ancient history. Dever won by a majority of more than a hundred thousand and carried every candidate on the democratic ticket with him to victory.

He redeemed Cooke county; he placed Chicago in the democratic column of cities; he buried the republican candidate of all factions and the voters gave the democrats control of the city council to help the cause of Dever and cause of democracy along. William Hale Thompson is a college-bred American, a man of princely fortune. He comes of an old and distinguished family, he controlled the third greatest American city for eight years, he aspired to a seat in the United States senate and those who had his confidence or his ear promise that he will be president some day.

His Waterloo came Tuesday. Democrats tumbled down his little house of cards. Democrats and independents pulverized his once powerful and easy running machine. Now that they are back in power the democrats of Chicago and Cooke county should do what they have promised and give the people the cleanest and the least costly municipal government that Chicago has ever known. But will they do it? Is it possible for a great judge to make a great mayor?

EVOLUTION OF A POLICEMAN

Governor Jack Walton of Oklahoma was mayor of Oklahoma City when he captured the highest office in the gift of the people of that state. Now O. A. Cargill, democrat, is mayor-elect of Oklahoma City and carried the entire democratic ticket to victory with him. All democratic candidates were elected by a large majority. This is the land of opportunity. In the year of 1916 Cargill was a policeman and walked a beat. He studied law and was admitted to the bar while a member of the force. Then he invaded the political arena and served two terms as county attorney. This did not satisfy his political ambition. He aspired to be mayor of the leading city of his state and he won hands down. Two years from now he may go after Governor Jack's job. Politically speaking they are quick workers in the state of Oklahoma.

This is the message the governor sent to the gentleman from Nueces: "Courts are proper forces to determine legality of contracts, not the legislature." And the expected happened.

Lou-Lou

By H. BEDFORD JONES

Soon after Franks and Trehearne inform Hamed that Lou-Lou is safe and in Manila, Franks is found dead—stabbed with a dagger, which is identified as having been the property of the old Sultan, and buried with him in his tomb. Superstitious natives believe the old sultan has avenged himself on Franks for some wrong done him.

Franks entrusted a letter with Trehearne to be delivered to Lou-Lou.

Neither Trehearne nor anyone else could imagine how Franks had drawn upon himself the vengeance of the old sultan. Common report had it that somehow Franks had betrayed the secret which he was supposed to know—the secret of that great wealth, amassed from old pirate days, the like of which no man youth of China had ever known.

Still, this was nothing more than bazaar gossip.

Trehearne was not worried about any secret; he never bothered his head with such abstruse things. He was worried, much more practically, about himself. He was haunted by the possibility that, after all, some human hand might have driven home that steel blade.

It occurred to Trehearne, very naturally, that he would like to put some pointed questions to Rais Hamed ben Yusuf.

At this junction Hamed's ship, the Gazelle, returned from a voyage on a hot, sunny morning. With her came a native craft from Manila, which sailed crabwise and made astonishing leeway, and which bore the fat, droopy-eyed youth known as Zahri ben Muley.

Trehearne puffed down to the white beach, with all the world and his wife, to see the home-coming of this venturer into far lands.

It was worth seeing, after a fashion.

Zahri was comfortably drunk, spilled himself into the surf and ruined a new silk shirt, and came out dripping but fairly sober. Rais Hamed looked on with a paternal tolerance, tugged his gray beard, and gleamed in his coal-black eyes. Evidently these two had met somewhere at sea.

Zahri grunted up to the waiting councilors and listened to a speech of welcome with very bad grace, and after a few minutes decided that he had heard enough compliments, so he waved his hand and walked through the crowd toward the palace.

One of the councilors bellowed something after him. He turned and bellowed a reply.

"I came alone, because I came alone! That's enough. Allah knows where Tuan Hvarson and Sultana Lou-Lou are, but I think they will be along later."

Trehearne, who understood Spanish excellently, perceived that Rais Hamed had gone out to meet Zahri and had schooled him in what to say.

So Trehearne went home again, with an uncomfortable idea that Rais Hamed was an efficient devil by himself, but that when Hvarson got here he would have old Grandfather Satan to help run things and then there would be all hell to pay.

The following day Trehearne saw that the Gazelle was gone again from the lagoon, and he did not have to be informed that Rais Hamed had gone with her—somewhere. This made him breathe a little more easily.

That evening, after his native woman had cleaned up the dishes and gone home, Trehearne lighted a candle at his desk and sat there, thinking of Franks.

Suddenly, however, he glanced up with a start, and saw a girl known as Cerise standing before him, a white placard under her arm.

"What the devil!" he exclaimed.

"Is that a fitting way to greet me, monsieur? Mille pelochons. Tiens-toi tranquille—I have business to transact with you; and there are few men who would not listen when I say that in their ears!" she said.

This was very true—so true, indeed, that Trehearne relaxed in his chair and stared quite ignorant that the young lady who viewed him so smilingly had received certain pieces of gold from Rais Hamed for the purpose of inducing her to transact this busines with Trehearne.

It could not be denied that Cerise was an adorable creature. Trehearne had seen her more than once, but never so attractively close.

Her fluttering silken garments were calculated to reveal as well as to conceal, and there was no one in Sibuko to object to this. The council did not pretend that the sight of a marvelously rounded bosom or a thigh which would have drawn rapturous sighs from Phidias caused them any particular pain.

Trehearne rallied desperately, for he had no illusions.

"Come, my dear girl," he said in stumbling French, "I have no business to transact with you, Cerise."

She laughed very prettily, as she laid upon the desk a very fairly made ouija-board.

"You have the pointer," she said, "and I have the board. Now, between us, I imagine that we might do a good deal fith this outfit, non? I shall sit across the desk from you, and we shall work together, eh?"

Trehearne considered this, and finally nodded with grave solemnity.

"By all means."

He set the board neatly before him and put a new pencil into the clip he used.

"You see," he explained, "sometimes I get a control that wishes to write instead of to spell by letters. It ain't often, but sometimes."

"I see," said Cerise. "But you must put away that candle, my dear monsieur! I find the best thing is to begin in perfect darkness, then use a dim light when the control comes."

"That idea is not so bad," ruminated Trehearne, reaching out his hand toward the candle. Darkness came upon the room—not an absolute darkness by any means, for outside the moon was shining.

"Put your hands on the board," said Cerise, "and I'll lay mine on yours. By establishing a contact, mon ami, we increase the control, n'est ce pas?"

"Ah," said Trehearne, as her soft hands fluttered upon his. "I am not so sure that it does not decrease the control! That is, of course — but never mind."

"Oh, I understand perfectly!" she returned, laughing a little.

In that laugh of hers Trehearne comprehended that she did indeed understand — only too damnably much! Only too damnably well! And he perceived that he was a lost man.

Meanwhile, in Zamboanga Hvarson and Hamed met and exchanged stories. The former disapproved the killing of Franks, saying he knew something about the treasure of the old sultan.

As for Hvarson's story, Hamed had this comment to make: "You failed, Allah worked against you. To counterbalance this, Allah worked for me. You understand"

"It is a little silly," said Hvarson, "to work and strive for the treasure, since money can be honestly got in other and easier ways."

Rais Hamed laughed a little. "You forget that I have seen the treasure, Tuan Hvarson; and I am not of your blood. To me, those stones and pearls must be loved for their own sake, as much as for their intrinsic worth."

"Oh, of course," conceded Hvarson. "But to me, Lou-Lou is more than treasure. I had arranged to leave her in the madhouse until I could come back for her. Now the plan is changed, but the end is the same. We are working together, and we shall win."

"Bismillah!" amended the skipper pious. "The treasure aside, we must seat Zahri on the throne; that will be treasure enough, in time! I have arranged for a monthly supply of opium from the Japanese factories. By removing Lou-Lou, you benefit us both. A perfect arrangement!"

"But not yet perfected." Hvarson smiled, showing his white, even teeth. "I think that I shall stay in Zamzoanga until you send for me to take Lou-Lou away. And I shall need money."

Rais Hamed took a package of American currency from a chest.

"There is half my money," he said simply. "If you need more, go to the broker, Ch'ien Lu Lung, in the Calle Felipe II; he has my remaining welath in trust."

At Manila, where Rais Sipek, a devoted follower of Lou-Lou, was engaged to bring her party to Sibuko, Fortesque learned something more of Lou-Lou.

One night he musingly asked Mr. Quail if he had known her mother.

"Why no," said the missionary. "When I first knew her, she was a child of 4; her mother was dead. The sultan did not object to my baptizing her—he said the mother had been Spanish and Christian. I think that he felt sorry for me. It was not long after I came to Sibuko that my wife died."

He paused, his blue eyes curiously bright.

"You see, Fortesque," he went on, "when I first came out to the Orient, I had misfortunes, sad misfortunes. I was not a young man then. There was a mission station in Sarawak, where I visited. It suffered a raid by the sea Dyaks and afterward one of my children was found dead, and the youngest child, a babe in arms, was utterly gone; my wife was prostrated for months. That was as though the hand of God had touched us very bitterly; I do not know why, although I shall know in His good time. Not a year later, the oldest boy died of fever. Three in one year! Well, we did not complain."

On the last afternoon of their voyage, when Rais Sipek predicted that with the next morning Lou-Lou and her friends would behold Sibuko, they encountered a sakayan filled with brown men—who brought news that Franks had been killed and Trehearne was very ill. At this news Lou-Lou burst into tears and fled to her cabin.

And the next day they found Trehearne dying. He was not quite helpless, but he had lost all power of speech. His eyes were terrible.

There was no way in which to account for his condition; none knew how it had come about. The aspect of the man was dreadful. The flesh had in large measure fallen away from his face, leaving it flacid and flabby.

Only Trehearne knew what had passed between him and Cerise, and Trehearne could not tell. He could only lie there and move his head a little to the questions of Luke Quail.

"Was this sickness caused by poison?"

Nod. Yes!

"Some one poisoned you?"

Nod, again.

"Was it a man?" asked the clergyman.

A negative.

Then suddenly Trehearne made a convulsive effort and half lifted his head. His lips opened. A new light blazed in his eyes, as though he had only just recollected something tremendously important. Two words jerked from his lips, bringing with them a red froth.

"Franks—note—"

He fell back. Luke Quail made the sign of the cross in the air.

Other changes in the health department will be of a minor nature, Mr. Patton indicated to the council. Dr. A. H. Douglass will be retained as director of the department and Dr. L. I. Lucey will continue as sanitary and dairy inspector. The name of P. A Alverson was submitted by Mr. Patton for the post of quarantine officer and he will be placed at work by the department officials.

Texas Cafe Damaged By Nocturnal Fire

Fire, starting in the kitchen, caused several hundred dollars' damage at the Texas cafe, 908 Indiana avenue, at 11 o'clock Monday night. The flames were confined to the rear of the building, but smoke and water loss in the main room was heavy.

Firemen from the Central station saved what might have been a disastrous blaze when they nipped the flames before they had eaten out into the open. A long row of small wooden structures to the south of the cafe building would have provided plenty of fuel had the fire once obtained a good start.

Evangelist Crouch To Arrive Tonight

The second night of the First Christian church revival witnessed a "good Monday night crowd" with a splendid song service, Mr. Roper's special selection on the piano was "Think of the Home Over There" in which he gave wonderful and beautiful interpretations. His playing is original in its style and has a heart reaching quality. Mr. Hancock spoke on "Christ's Standard of Success."

Evangelist W. P. Crouch will arrive in the city Tuesday night and will begin his work Wednesday. The services begin promptly at 7:45 each evening.

HOLCOMBE WINNER

Associated Press Dispatch

HOUSTON, Texas, April 9.—Mayor Oscar F. Holcombe and the four candidates for city commissioner on the regular democratic ticket were re-elected here today virtually without opposition. The $1,250,000 bond issue for general city improvements was given a good majority. The voting was extremely light.

Reported scratching of the democratic ticket by ku klux klan sympathizers did not materialize to any marked extent.

Carrigan, president of the board, will be out of town until Wednesday and it is expected that the reorganization will be effected as soon as he returns. WOLF OUT RUNS FAST FLIVVER IN TEST ON PRAIRIE

County Officers K. B. Kinsner and Joe Blocker tested the skill of their high-speed Fords Sunday afternoon, when they went wolf hunting in Archer county. Although they returned to the city empty-handed, they had an exciting time, they report, chasing the coyotes over the prairie in the fast fliver. One wolf found his equal in the car, and was run to his lair by the men, but escaped when dogs failed to surround the place. The officers report that they found several wolves in Archer county.

The large majority are liquor law violations, although a few cases charging using the mails to defraud may be given attention by the court.

Another term of federal court will be opened here June 25, it was announced Monday by Judge Atwell, a large number of cases scheduled to have come up for trial during the present term having been reset for the summer session. In each case where defendants have failed to appear when their cases were called, the bonds have been increased and the cases set down for the opening day of the June term.

Quite a few cases have been disposed of in this manner.

LUMBERMEN MEET

Associated Press Dispatch

SHREVEPORT, La., April 9.—With the score 9 to 2 in favor of Little Rock in the sixth, Umpire Weir forfeited the game to Shreveport by the score of 9 to 0. Manager Elberfield called his Southern association off the field in the sixth when it began to sprinkle slightly, and when Shreveport had the bases loaded with none out.

Smiling Dave To Present the Ring

"Who'll get the diamond?" This will be the question of the day on board the trade trip special. Dave Paul, the minstrel jeweler, is up to his old stunts again and promises a diamond ring to—well, that would be telling. Anyway, there'll be lots of excitment between Wichita Falls and Tipton.

Dave confidentially imparted the news to a few close acquaintances that he would blossom forth in the most striking regalia today and there would be no difficulty in identifying the "man who gives away diamonds."

PLANE RIDDLED BY SHOWER OF HAIL

TEMPLE, Texas, April 9.—George Williams, local aviator and pilot for one of the Daily Telegram's airplanes, fled into a hailstorm while en route to Taylor with his wife today, and the upper wings of the craft were literally riddled with pellets. When the hail became severe, Williams headed back to Temple and the landing field, nervously watching the wind rip away half of the canvas that supported him and his family.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

THE HELP HUNTER

This is not, as may be suspected from its title, an article on the difficulty of securing good domestic service.

Nor is it a story of the man who finds profit by reading the Want Ad columns of this newspaper.

If the reader is engaged in any business or in any profession, if he attends any school or college, he knows how prevalent this person is.

Perhaps, if he stops to think a minute, and is wholly honest with himself, he will discover that he, too, is something of a help hunter.

Within the last few minutes a HELP HUNTER who operated a typewriter in an office adjoining ours was overheard asking one of her young associates to put a new ribbon in her machine.

There was no reason that she shouldn't have performed this service for herself. It is easily done.

But the HELP HUNTER would rather have someone else do it so she plied a lip-stick while her obliging associate very foolishly did the work for her.

Help Hunters never learn to do anything well. Learning how to do anything well involves thought and toil. So the Help Hunter flies the flag of distress when difficulty heaves in sight and somebody else answers the call.

In school the Help Hunter gets hard working students to solve his difficult problems.

In business, he gets other men to straighten out his mistakes.

In life, he tries to get his friends to lend him money when his slovenly habits of spending get him behind. When the friends weary of this, as they soon do, he turned to the loan shark for help. And the loan shark makes of him a permanent victim.

For most of us help is to be had when we really need it. But natural pride should forbid asking for it except in cases of the most dire necessity.

One who hunts help often finds it, but it is never of any protracted assistance when it comes. And the big and permanent thing that results in his quest is the discovery that the habit of being helped destroys all ability to help one's self—which is the only possible means by which one can ever amount to anything.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE

The aspects today are somewhat better than yesterday's and you will be inclined to intense mental activity, quick perception, ready expression, rapid intuition, and, in some cases, clairvoyant visions. This is a day on which your judgment on important questions will be extraordinarily keen.

A child who is born on this day will have wonderful foresight but will be most successful in the employ of others rather than being his own master.

If this is your birthday, you have an adventurous nature, fond of discovery and travel. You are likely to open new fields of trade, to exploit new lands, or advance some new line of thought.

You are aggressive, active and full of resources, with great executive ability. You should guard against a tendency to be a trifle unscrupulous in the means employed to gain your end.

Indomitable of will and action, you lack caution and are frequently over-sanguine, especially as to the success of your own projects; in fact you will often fail through too much self-confidence. Though keenly intuitive you are prone to rely upon your mentality, and thus you frequently misinterpret emotion or feeling.

In many ways you are much too erratic naturally and you must cultivate the habit of weighing your actions before you do anything. It is wrong for you to follow the rule of "obey that impulse"—as there is almost no impulse possible to man that you do not feel at some moment of the day. You would not be at liberty now if you had given way to all of them.

On the other hand, you should study your reasons for checking your impulses as it is only thus that you can build up the philosophy of balance necessary to your impetuous nature.

In matters of love you are ardent in the beginning and cool in the finale. You will have many affairs, both flippant and serious, and you will not go entirely unscathed through them, but your love life will be one of colorful romance and there is no way of your avoiding it.

Your ensuing year will be one of considerable trouble, and probably a legal contest which you can not possibly win. You should settle any legal controversy out of court.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE FALSE PROPHET

The robin roosted on his bough
Outside the kitchen door,
He raised his voice and said as how
That winter was no more.
His word is all that we require,
Without a clouding doubt
We calmly let the furnace fire
Go out.

The robin perched upon the stoop
To shelter from the storm,
A cough, suggestive of the croup,
Convulsed his fe.hed form.
And with a justifiable ire—
The angriest of men—
We went and built the furnace fire
Again.

The robin raised his clarion voice
And sang in accents clear
That everybody should rejoice,
For spring once more was here.
And though we felt he was a liar,
Again his tip we tried
And let the newly lighted fire
Subside.

The robin's in the kitchen now—
A snug and safe retreat—
His former perch upon the bough
Is glazed with chilly sleet.
And neither he nor we'll go out
Till winter slips its bether;
That bird don't know a thing about
The weather.

THE ONLY EXPLANATION

The fare that robbed a taxi driver must have been another taxi driver, spending his day off in the only fashion that appealed to him.

TOO TROUBLESOME

WHITEWASH THOSE TREES

Trees in their natural state are beautiful, but like most things in nature, they may be improved on by careful cultivation and care.

Whitewashing them, for instance, not only helps to destroy parasitic diseases that attack trees, but adds about 75 per cent to the looks of the trees.

Last year when the West Texas chamber of commerce convention met at Plainview, the thousands of trees in that hustling little city were whitewashed from the ground to a height of several feet. The effect was splendid. The whitewash enhanced the beauty of the trees immensely, and served to accentuate the well-forested condition of Plainview.—Abilene Reporter.

OKLAHOMA ECONOMIZES

Governor Walton's action in slashing the institutional appropriation bill will meet with popular approval, which will be increased if he should follow this with further reductions of other appropriations.

The legislature which adjourend appropriated money in an extravagant manner, with seemingly small regard of how the revenues were to be raised.

It often happens that excess appropriations occur from trades made on part of legislators with institutions and special measures to be taken care of. A legislator from an institutional town hardly dares to go back home without heaving used his utmost endeavor to get every dime he can for his home institution. That is natural. To do this he has to consent to similarly generous appropriations for other institutions—and for hobbies of other statesmen.—Frederick Leader.

$6,000 FIRE AT IOWA PARK

Blind Father of Mrs. Davis Rescued, But Furniture Is Lost

Special Dispatch to Record News

IOWA PARK, April 9.—The residence of C. C. Davis, postmaster and pastor of the Methodist church here, was destroyed by fire this afternoon.

The loss is estimated at $6,000 and $3,000 of this amount is covered by insurance.

Mrs. Davis' father, who is blind and advanced in years, had a narrow escape from the fire. Mrs. Davis spent some time in rescuing her father and it was because of this fact that scarcely any furnishings were saved. Everything was destroyed with the exception of a Victrola, three chairs and one mattress. Mr. Davis was attempting to cope with the fire and summoning help.

The residence burned quickly. It was located four blocks from a hose plug and for this reason, firemen were delayed in getting water on the blaze.

The house caught from burning grass. Both Mr. and Mrs. Davis were at home at the time, watching the grass and tending it, but a sudden gust of wind caught the flame and carried it to the house, which was quickly ignited.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

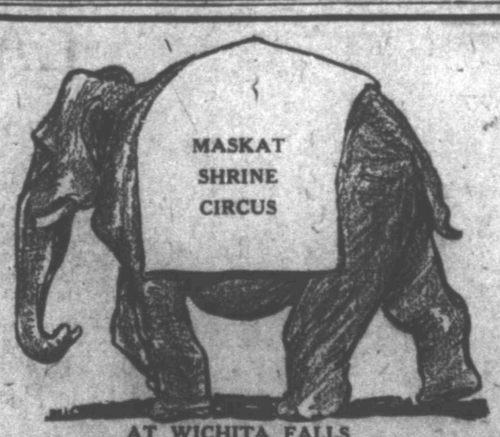

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N. Y.

SIX BIG DAYS—LET'S GO!

It Is Better That Guilty Man Be Not Indicted Rather Than Have Him Beat His Case, Judge Martin to Grand Jury

The second grand jury ever to be impanelled by the Eighty-ninth district court started work Monday afternoon, with prospects that it will complete its efforts within a week or less. W. F. George was named foreman, and other members are C. E. McCarty, Roscoe Stayton, J. L. Jackson, Mike Emmert, Martin Bowe, Frank Lebus, Paul Browning, G. R. Kincaid, T. T. Reese, P. V. McGee and J. R. Lawrence.

In delivering his charge, Judge Martin stated that he believed the point had been reached where a grand jury should always be on call while a district court was in session. In view of this, he stated he believed that the grand jury should adjourn when its work was complete, but that it should always be subject to call by one of the district judges here.

The court warned against the presentment of indictments in which a reasonable doubt existed that a conviction could not be obtained. "It is better," the court declared, "that a guilty man be not indicted than to have him indicted, beat his case and then walk from the courthouse with no respect for the law."

Judge Martin advised the grand jury not to "fool with evasive witnesses," stating that he and his good friend, Pat Murphy, had ample facilities for freshening the memory of those who were unable to answer questions properly.

In regard to the liquor laws, Judge Martin declared that he believed drastic punishment to be the only way to curb violations, and that he was planning to enforce them to the best of his ability.

The grand jury will consider cases of those arrested since the adjournment of the Thirtieth district court grand jury in February.

Soft Moonlight; Hot Desert Sands; Norma, Gene and Great Love

A windless night on the desert; soft moonlight falling on the sands cooling from the heat of the day; the silence unbroken save for the commotion in the camel corral; a youth on his way to the Holy Land; a beautiful girl, fleeing from a brutal husband.

Under such circumstances was born a romance that neither the youth nor the girl believed could be shattered until death parted them. They had met in a strange manner—and love had come to them in the desert. The past was no longer even a memory; they lived in the present and in the future.

Their travels brought them to the city of Damascus, the ancient city where civilization had met rebuffs throughout the centuries of its history. Customs of thousands of years ago still lived—and five times a day the muezzin, standing on the parapet of the minaret, called to the faithful to fall to their knees, face the east and pray to Allah.

And it was in this city that the youth and the girl were brought up short to face stern realities. The voice from the minaret, monotonously intoning the command to worship, seared their souls. To them it was more portentous than to the Mohammedans who went through their ritual automatically. To them it meant the end of their romance, for it reminded them that they were not free to love—that the one was still wed and that the other was fitting himself for clerical orders and was in duty bound to bring a severance to their relations.

This is a portion of the story of "The Voice from the Minaret," a First National picture starring Norma Talmadge, which is now playing at the Olympic theatre. It is a powerful tale of love, hate and revenge, and has Eugene O'Brien in the leading male role. Robert Hichens, famous novelist, wrote it, and Frank Lloyd was the director.

MAIL FRAUD CASES ARE DROPPED HERE

The mail fraud cases against D. A. Connell, Eugene S. Shannon and Porter Oakes, trustees of the Postmaster's Oil company, formed here during the boom days, were dismissed in federal court Monday morning on motion of the district attorney's department. The three men were indicted by a federal grand jury over a year ago, it being alleged that they had used the United States mails fraudulently in promoting the sale of their oil stock.

Mr. Shannon was formerly secretary of the Nashville chamber of commerce and was well known in this section of the country, as were Mr. Oakes and Mr. Connell.

WICHITANS GO TO VETS MEET

Sponsor, Maid of Honor and Delegates Now At New Orleans

Vivian Railey, sponsor, and Lucy Hudgins, a maid of honor, left Sunday for New Orleans to represent the thirteenth district at the confederate veterans' reunion opening there. Judge Edgar Scurry of this city has also gone to New Orleans as a delegate from this district.

Very few representatives from Wichita Falls are attending this year's reunion, the long trip and arduous reunion days causing many of the veterans here to give up plans for attending.

Misses Railey and Hudgins were appointed recently as representatives of this district by J. A. Kemp, district commander of the veterans organizations.

Miss Railey will spend a week with relatives in Houston on her return trip from New Orleans.

Monthly reports of all fees collected by them will be submitted to the county auditor by county officials working on the fee basis, it was decided Monday by the county commissioners court. The new ruling becomes effective immediately and is in accordance with a revised section of the state statutes.

The reports will be preserved permanently for future reference.

GOLDBERG PREACHES ON THE SOJOURNER

In a sermon at Temple Israel, Friday night, Dr. David Goldberg, speaking on the subject, "Sojourner or Citizen, Which?" said the Jew was now a citizen and no longer a sojourner.

In the course of his lecture Dr. Goldberg pointed out of how little value to the community was the sojourner. "The things we are allowed to call our own are the things we take best care of. Just as the tenant farmer will not, as a rule, expend pend himself on adding to the permanent value of the land in which he is interested but temporarily, so will the mere sojourner as a rule, not exert himself on adding to the permanent civic values of his municipality. Their interest lies in the exploitation, but not in the enhancement of values."

Cub Regulars Trim Spudders In Finals, 9-3

FINCHER SLOWS VISITORS UP AFTER THEY DRIVE FIVE TALLIES IN OPENING INNING

Mokan Bears Brunt of Attack After Which Heavy Scoring Ceases and Game Is Tighter—Spudders Let Down With Five Hits By Dumovich and Steuland.

By "DINK" ADDINGTON

One bad inning right at the start, played havoc with the Spudders' chances and Bill Killefer's Cub regulars left a 9 to 3 defeat as a parting token yesterday afternoon. Steve Mokan had trouble locating the platter in the first round and he was touched freely for a total of five runs. After that the tornado settled and the fracas resolved itself into a ball game with the Spudders keeping right alongside the visitors.

Mokan walked the first two men to face him and Grantham, Grimes and Friberg singled in succession. Two forceouts came along with a double steal by Heathcote and Friberg which was cinched when Berger dropped the throw and the Cubs owned five runs.

Elliott Starts It.

Ace Elliott started the Spudders off in the second when he opened with a single and was forced by Berger. White smashed an odd double off Dumovich's shins, the ball carroming to left field and sending Berger to third. Joe scored when Bischoff rang out a sacrifice fly to Statz.

Big Bill Fincher took the mound for the homelings in the second and his work was more than pleasing and indicative of the fact that Bill didn't flash when he turned in a five game against Sioux City last week. He allowed but one run and four hits in the five stanzas he flipped. Two hits, a stolen base and a fielder's choice accounted for the run in the second and that was the last damage the Windy City boys did to Fincher.

Meanwhile Dumovich was hurling tight ball and the Spudders failed to get across again until the sixth. Silva drew a walk and Tanner was smacked with a pitched ball. Whiteman singled into center, filling the sacks and Silva registered as Adams and Grimes were disposing of Elliott.

Score in Eighth.

The Spudders cracked across again in the eighth with their last tally. Tanner strolled and took second on Whiteman's infield out. Elliott delivered his second whack of the afternoon past Grimes and Tanner tallied.

Pat Flaherty took up the pitching burdens in the seventh and yielded one run in each of the three remaining canto. Barrett's double and Grimes' single told the story in the seventh; a walk to Viveiros, his stolen base and Weis' blow was the way it went in the eighth and singles by Barrett, Grimes and Callahan put over the final in the ninth. Pat gained three batters during his reign.

Although the first inning took the edge off in a way, as related heretofore, the game worked out to satisfaction for the balance. The Spudders did extremely well to score three runs, considering that they gathered but five hits all afternoon. Four of them came off Nick Dumovich, brother of Cupie, who remains with the Spudders, and Steuland allowed but a solitary mark against his delivery. The work of Al White at second was one of the sparkling points of the day. He had five putouts and five assists, some of them difficult, and at the plate he got two of the five hits which went to his club.

Today and tomorrow the Spudders will get back to their morning and afternoon workouts preparing for the Saint Paul Saints, who open up Thursday for five days.

Keene, Adams and Weis Get Watches As Spudder Gifts

By way of showing its appreciation for past work and service, the Spudder management presented three of its former players with gold watches as testimonials to their honest endeavors. Vic Keene, Shorty Adams and Art Weis were the recipients of the tokens and the presentation was made at the home plate just before yesterday's Spudder-Cub game.

The presentations were made by the Rev. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. He paid a fitting tribute to the players before presenting them with the gifts and extended to them the well wishes of Spudder fans wherever they went. "Our baseball association wishes to show its appreciation to these players in presenting these gifts," Rev. Grafton said, "and we are all going to watch them as they go higher up in their new places and make Wichita Falls proud of them."

HACK MILLER, CUB STRONG MAN, SHOWS SOME OF HIS STUFF

Hack Miller, left fielder of the Chicago Cubs, is a strong man. He can bent iron bars, play toss with a couple of grown men and perform all sorts of stunts that are featured by the circus Sampsons.

He demonstrated his ability at the ball park yesterday just before the game. Taking a long spike in his doubled fist, Miller punched it through an inch board as if he had been sticking a pin through a sheet of paper. The spike protruded through the reverse side of the board several inches.

If you don't believe that one, you can take a squint at the short fence which fronts the first tier of boxes on the Spudder stands. You'll find the hole and possibly the spike, close to the water bucket by the visitor's dugout.

Fohl said, however, that he did not expect Sisler to be in condition to begin the season and that he did not know how long it would be before he could report.

Sisler is now in St. Louis and it is said it may be necessary for him to undergo an operation in order to correct an impairment of his vision.

Keeping Pace In The Chess Match Between Houston And Wichita Falls

Wichita Falls' fourth move in the tournament marked the first capture of the play when the locals' pawn took the Houston pawn. The move still leaves the Wichita Falls knight in an advantageous position.

Chief Strategician Charlie Fuller received a wire last night from Judge Charles F. Spencer at the Smackover oil fields, where he has extensive holdings. Judge Spencer insists upon being kept posted on every move as the game progresses and the following is the subject of his wire:

"Concur in opinion balance advisory council. Would certainly take pawn. Thought from the outset something should be done with that yawn, one way or other."

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, April 9.—News from New York that President John Heydler had restracted his stand against the reinstatement of Pitcher Rube Benton of the Cincinnati club by Commissioner Landis, was treated lightly by baseball men here today. Commissioner Landis declared that in his mind, the statements against the reinstatement of Benton, attributed to Heydler, were over-rated and that the National league had not set his mind against the clearing of the big pitcher for play in the National league.

We didn't get but one game from the Cubs, but if those four new players stick, the games can go to grass seed.

They pounced on Steve,

The Rev. Nat Grafton, who made the presentation of the Spudder testimonials, is a real fan. And it's a mighty tough job for a minister to be one of those things.

* * *

He cannot afford to use "foul" language. He is not much on "short-stops" and he dare not be "base" or a "high flier." He cannot "fan," while preaching, nor he cannot "strike" because he does not belong to a union.

* * *

If he attempts to "play" to the "grandstand" they roast him. He may "score" his audience, but they will "put him out" in the end.

* * *

All he can di is "pitch" the tune, "coach" his team and "hit in the pinches." He don't even get a "rain check" from his congregation, and he gets his full reward only awter he has made the "home run."

They gave the players watches,
Upon their former rep;
So now they'll have to make the grade,
And closely "watch" their step.

SPUDDERS PURCHASE HODGES FROM CUBS; COTTER, GRIGSBY AND DUMOVICH ALSO LANDED

Leading Pitcher and Leading Hitter of Western Association and Another Pair of Comers Added to Salm's String.

—SPORT—SPUDDERS PURCH ..

A question which has been on the lips of Spudder fans for the past several weeks was answered yesterday when Bill Killefer dropped off four of his Chicago Cubs to don the uniforms of the Knights of Sir Walter Salm. The new quartette includes Pitcher Byrd (Hippo) Hodges, Pitcher Martin (Cupie) Dumovich, Outfielder Denver Grigsby and Leo (Hook) Cotter, who has performed at first base, but who is no stranger to the outfield and will be moulded as such with the Spudders.

Hippo Hodges was purchased outright from the Cubs for a consideration which was not announced. He was with the Joplin Western association club last year, and was leading hurler of the circuit with 26 wins and but three losses. He started the year before with Springfield in the same league, where he won 23 and lost 13. Last season he was under the guiding wing of Gobby Street, veteran major league receiver, who was responsible in a large measure for the development of Walter Johnson. Hodges learned much under Street, and while he may not be major league timber, he should be able to hold his own in the Lone Star circuit.

Three Optionals.

The other three performers come to the Spudders under option of recall as payment of a debt which the Bruins owed the locals. Dumovich was with Springfield in the Western association, the same club with which Cotter performed. The young left-handed pitched had a record of 10 and 13, but he had a club behind him which gave him little, if any, aid in winning. Many of his games were low score affairs, and with a better club he would have prospered.

His teammate, Cotter, led the league in hitting with a swat mark of .396. He played at first the greater part of the time, but went into the outfield toward the close of the year. Cotter was always regarded as a dangerous hitter in his league, and was one of the most popular players throughout the circuit.

With Pennant Winner.

Denver Grigsby cavorted with Sapulpa, winners of the Southwestern league last year. He was high in the hitting order with .336, and was always considered as among the cream of the gardeners. In the championship series with Joplin, Western association pennant winners, he sustained a broken collar bone, which had to be reset several times, and it was feared that his playing would be impaired. But he seems to have fully recovered and is ready for action. He throws right-handed and hits from the left side. Cotter is also a left-hand hitter.

Just how these four new members will stack up is, of course, a matter that remains to be seen, but they are worthy of the opportunity, and with their addition Salm should be able to select the entry he wants for the summer campaign. Two left-hand pitchers and two left-hand hitters are in the lot, and such as they have been more or less scarcities about the Spudder camp.

The outright purchase of Hodges was closed yesterday after telephone communication with President Veeck of the Cubs.

HIGH GAME OFF

Cancellation Caused By Sickness

The game that was to have been played between the Coyotes and the Byers aggregation yesterday afternoon was called off because of sickness of some of the Byers players.

The Coyotes are rapidly rounding into mid-season form and should be ready to stack up against some of the stronger teams in this section in the near future, Coach Henderson said he was well pleased with the way the men are hitting, saying that they were improved in this department of the game to a greater extent than they were last year and considering they were the heaviest hitting team in this part of Texas last year, prospects are indeed bright for the local boys.

SHORTY ADAMS TO STICK WITH CUBS, KILLIFER STATES

Shorty Adams, former Spudder, will stick with the Cubs. So says Manager Bill Killifer. When Shorty first bit into camp every one figured he was too little to cut any great capers. But he made good with a vengeance and now he's a highly prized little piece of timber.

With Charlie Hollocher on the sick list, Adams is the big man for the shortstop position, but Killifer says that he would stay with the squad even if Hollocher was on the job. That's the kind of a hit Shorty has made with the Cubs.

'MUNY' GOLFERS INITIATE LINKS

Many Take Advantage of Seven Holes Which Are Completed

Although but seven holes of the new municipal golf course have been completed, a large number of members took advantage of them Sunday and went over the abbreviated course with much pleasure.

When completed the course will boast of nine holes for the present and while the course will not be a difficult one it will offer plenty of sport for the lovers of the game. Par will run about 37, Mayor Collier said yesterday.

The first two holes of the present country club will become the last two of the "muny" course as soon as vacated and will be retained as grass greens. The others will not be grassed as there is a possibility of changing the location of the course at a later date.

New Texhoma Well Looks Good for Over 250 Barrels

PAY SAND HIT AT 1770 FEET

Well Makes More Than 105 Barrels for 12 Hours

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's Burton and Ruff well No. 1, Kemp & Kempner tract, Archer county, was brought in yesterday morning at a depth of 1,770 feet, and is showing up to exceed even the expectations of the drillers.

During the first 12 hours after being brought in, the well made more than 105 barrels, increasing.

It looks good for at least 250 barrels daily.

Morrow Well At Mexia Blows In

(Special Correspondence)

MEXIA, Texas, April 9.—The J. W. Morrow No. 1 of the Texas company, situated on the J. W. Morrow farm, about two and one-half miles northeast of Wortham, blew in as a gasser about 4:30 Saturday afternoon. The well is between 2,400 and 2,500 feet deep and was shut down when it blew out. The pay sand is struck in the Currie field at about the 3,000-foot depth, and the well was being drilled to go to that depth. The drillers believe that the gas comes from about the 900-foot level, where considerable gas was struck. It caught fire as it blew in, and the theory is that a fragment of rock was blown out with the gas and struck fire from contact with the top of the T-joint that is on the well. The derrick and all the woodwork was completely consumed by fire, and when your correspondent saw the well at 5 p. m. Sunday it was still burning, shooting a flame of gas for at least 25 feet horizontally. At that time workmen were busy removing the boilers that were used in drilling the well, and preparations to install boilers to cut off the flame with a steam jet were being rushed with all possible speed. Should this well be a producer, it will mean an extension of the Currie field of about a quarter of a mile southwest. No estimate of the amount of cubic feet of gas the well is now making was obtainable.

The Humphreys Oil company announces that the Welch well No. 2, 12 miles southwest of Mexia and three miles west of Groesbeck, would be put on the pump at once, and they felt sure the well would produce from 300 to 400 barrels. Indications are very flattering for a field at Groesbeck, and there is considerable interest among oil men in the new developments, and some excitement at Groesbeck.

NO. 1 IN BLOCK 75 FAILS TO GET OIL

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 1, a wildcat being drilled on block 75, Kemp & Kempner, Archer county, tested sand at 1,607 feet, and failed to find oil.

After the dry test, drilling was continued and will be continued to at least 1,900 feet, according to operators. Texhoma No. 1 stands a bit more than a mile north of Zane Cetti No. 1, which was drilled in as a wildcat about a month ago, and because of the fact that it is in a new territory, in a different direction than other drilling, it is drawing interest. Texhoma's G. No. 1, Ferguson, south of Cetti No. 1, proved a producer when completed two weeks ago, and if the new well pays, the strip of pay will be widened to three-quarters of a mile.

TEXHOMA BRINGS IN WELL ON FERGUSON

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company brought in a good well yesterday morning in the E. No. 4, Ferguson, which tested 110 barrels. No. 4 is in now at 1757 feet, and had the appearance of a good producer. Nos. 1 and 2 are already producing on the same tract.

NEW GRANDFIELD TEST

Special Dispatch to Record News

GRANDFIELD, Okla., April 9.—L. Loper is securing acreage for a test on the Mapel and Owen tract of land west of town near the Fort Auger well, and as soon as he gets the required acreage will start a well.

This is favorable territory and should be set the acreage and test it out. It will be watched with much interest.

OIL BRIEFS

Location for well No. 1, section 2 Southern Pacific railroad survey, of the Helm ranch, in Archer county, have been made by A. T. Sibley, who will drill at once. The well is in unproven territory and will be drilled to 2,000 feet.

John Hampton of the Freeman-Hampton Oil company, is in Fort Worth on business.

I. R. Sheldon of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company, returned yesterday from Sayre, Okla., where he has made inspections of the fields.

Oil Lease Development gets two wells, one on the Biles-Wilroy properties at East Eldorado, Ark., making 300 barrels initial (five other wells are authorized on this acreage), and the other in Young county, Texas, northwest of Graham, swabbing 75 barrels of 42 gravity oil, proving 513 acres, heretofore carried in the "nominal valuation" class. Oil Lease Development is owned one-third each by Southern States, Middle States and the stockholders of the latter.

Sayre Well To Increase Value Of Holdings Here

Wichita Falls leaseholders in the territory around Sayre, Okla., should face the world today with a smile on their faces, according to Henry Ford, who last night telephoned The Record News from Sayre that the Martin & Kissenden well had come in. He said it looks good for 2,500 barrels.

The well is six miles southwest of the first gasser, the Rubana, and will open up territory for an area of several miles.

Ford, W. W. Noe and others in Wichita Falls own acreage in this section. The well was reported to be flowing by heads.

NEW OFFICIALS ARE SWORN IN

Vote of Election Is Canvassed By Old Members

J. T. Young, J. H. Patton and L. E. Shepherd were sworn in Monday night as commissioners of the police, park and sanitary, and finance departments, respectively, after the old members of the city council had canvassed the vote of the last election and had declared the three men named elected.

The oaths of office were administered by Mayor Collier and the men took their seats at the council table.

Business matters to come before the body were made up largely of those items pertaining to the police department. The council went into executive session after disposing of some paving matters and then considered the new list of appointments submitted by Commissioner Young.

Granting of a permit for a grocery store and unofficial action on application of the International Fireworks company of Chicago to stage a big pyrotechnic exhibition at the ball park some time this summer were among the smaller items taken up.

Fire Chief McClure called the council's attention to the unsafe condition of the North Side Methodist church and requested that a committee of contractors be named to investigate the building and pass on it. If found unsafe, it will be condemned and ordered torn down.

The meeting lasted until after 11 o'clock, but did not start until nearly nine, the delay being caused by the inability of Commissioner Shepherd to arrive before that time.

STOCK PRICES HOLDING FIRM

Irregularity Develops On First Buying Orders

NEW YORK, April 9.—Prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of today's stock market. Multiple evidence of business prosperity contained in weekly trade and industrial reviews encouraged a resumption of professional operations for the rise. The initial demand was most effective in the oils, Mexican Seaboard, Middle States, Shell Union, the Pan-American issues and Producers and Refiners all opening fractionally above Saturday's closing prices.

Some irregularity developed after the first buying orders had been disposed of, but the main trend continued upward. Sugars were again in good demand, Punta Alegre leading the advance with a gain of one point. Erie first preferred advanced a point, but some of the dividend paying issues, notably New York Central and Union Pacific, were heavy. With the exception of Otis Steel, the independent steel issues were slightly reactionary. Computing, Tabulation and Recording, National Department Stores first preferred and American Steel and Foundry all advanced a point or more, but most of the other early changes were of a fractional character.

Experiments by bears who were trying to pick out weak spots to start general liquidation met with some success in the afternoon, when American Cotton Oil shares fell to new low figures. Gulf States Steel, California Petroleum, the leather and American Woolen were also weak, the last mentioned sagging on announcement of a new issue of $10,000,000 preferred stock. Strength, however, developed in General Asphalt, Phillips Petroleum, Marland Oil, Simms Petroleum, Martin Parry and American Waterworks and Electric.

Closed irregular; sales 750,000 shares.

WHEAT GOES TO HIGH PRICE

Close Is Quarter to Three-Quarter Cents Up

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, April 9.—With prospects that seeding will be abnormally late in the Northwest, and the acreage much reduced, wheat today reached new high price records for the season. Closing quotations were unsettled at 1-4c to 1½c advance, May $1.23¾ to $1.23 7-8, and July $1.20 7-8 to $1.21. Corn and oats, as well as wheat, outdid the season's previous top figures for some deliveries. Corn gained 1.1-8@1 1-4c to 1 1-2c net, and oats 3-8c to 5-8c. In provisions, the outcome varied from 2c decline to a rise of 10c.

Greenbugs in Texas and Oklahoma tended to stimulate further buying. General buying and scarcity of offerings lifted corn and oats.

Provisions rallied in sympathy with oats and corn.

COTTON CLOSES 17 POINTS UP

May at 29.26 and October 25.19 on Final Prices

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—Extra strength in cotton today was due to further unsatisfactory weather in the belt and to an almost sensationally high Liverpool market.

The close was 5 to 17 points higher on the day, May closing at 29.26c and October 25.19c.

The early gains amounted to 18 to 36 points, after which there were small setbacks from which the market came back and then rose to the highest of the day, gains of 19 to 39 points, May being carried up to 29.53, and October to 25.34. The weather map was considered unfavorable, because of scattered rains in Gulf coast and Eastern belt sections, and prices were put to their highest following private reports of more rain during the day, mainly in Texas.

At the lowest, prices were four points up to four points down net, with May at 29.15 and October at 25.10.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, April 9.—The cattle market was active today, and prices on all kinds were steady. Around 2,000 head of cattle and 500 calves were on offer. Some fairly good steers sold at $7.25, the top on cows was $5.60, and good yearlings brought $8.25@9.25.

Hog buyers remained inactive throughout the morning, although only 1,800 head were on offer. A shipper took one car at $7.90.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
The State of Texas, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita county, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Maude Walker by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the Thirtieth district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the third Monday in June, A. D. 1923; the same being the 18th day of June, A. D., 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 18th day of January, A. D., 1923, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 13905-A, wherein William W. Walker is plaintiff and Maude Walker is defendant and said petition alleging, That plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married about Jan. 19, 1908, and continued to live together until about Nov. 6, 1921, at which time the defendant moved the cattle from Wichita county to Oklahoma and has failed, neglected and refused to return, and that her whereabouts is unknown at this time. That during the time they lived together as husband and wife, plaintiff treated defendant with kindness and forbearance, but defendant disregarding the solemnity of her marriage vows did commerce acts of cruel, harsh treatment toward plaintiff of such a nature as to render their further living together insupportable.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to appear and answer this petition, for judgment dissolving the marriage relations for absolute divorce from defendant, costs of suit and for general and special relief, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 21st day of March, A. D., 1923.
A. F. KERR, Clerk, District Court, Wichita County, Texas.

Junior Students Collecting Clothes For Rummage Sale

Active collection of old used material and clothes was begun Monday by the college students in preparation for the Junior college rummage sale, which they intend to hold next Saturday in the 700 block on Indiana avenue. A committee has been appointed by the class president, Carroll Johnson, to do all the collecting as fast as names are turned over to them.

A complete canvass will be made in all the high school roll rooms during the week, in order to secure as much material as possible, as the sale that was conducted two weeks ago by the college students was handicapped because of the lack of material.

The money derived through the sale will be used to finish paying for the college section in the Coyote. At a recent sale the collegians cleared approximately $50 and, according to officials of the class, if enough material is collected they intend to double this amount at the sale Saturday.

$1,000 FIRE AT FEED COMPANY

Boys Puffing Forbidden, Cigarette Blamed For Blaze

Fire thought to have been started by small boys enjoying the forbidden weed, caused damage estimated at $1,000 at the Wichita Feed and Fuel company plant, 2000 Austin street, at 4:30 Monday afternoon. The blaze practically destroyed a mule stable and several coal bins. A span of mules housed in the stable were also badly burned and may have to be shot, it was said.

Officials of the company declared that youngsters had been repeatedly warned to keep out of the stables with their cigarettes, but that small groups made a practice of avoiding paternal wrath by taking a few puffs in the dark recesses of the building. This, it was thought, was responsible for the blaze.

The flames had gained considerable headway before being discovered, and for a short time threatened to spread over an open court and ignite other buildings of the feed company plant. Timely work by the fire department, however, prevented this danger.

The two mules were tied up in the stable and could not be freed until they had been severely burned. It was feared that they were too badly burned to live.

Clark's Right To Hold Two Jobs Will Be Tested

A legal test of C. H. Clark's right to hold both the office as director in irrigation district 2, and the place on the school board, which he gained in the election Saturday, will be made this week. A ruling will be sought, definitely stating whether it is possible for one man to hold two public offices at the same time.

Neither of the offices pay salaries and it is doubtful if the ruling that a man cannot hold two offices will apply to Clark.

Mystery Couple Will Be Married Free of Charge At Shrine Circus

By FRANK S. REID
Publicity Chairman.

It is a real pleasure for Maskat temple to start this young couple off in married life. Guess who they are. They are the couple to be married on the evening of April 28 at Maskat's circus, and get everything furnished.

This young fellow has fully realized the enormous cost to him, and he to bear the expense—but Maskat is going to do it for him with all the solemnity attendant upon a wedding.

Yes, everything will be furnished free of cost to this young couple, from the license to the various things needed to set them up in housekeeping. The merchants who are donating to this young couple are doing it with a great deal of pleasure.

Vic Stampfli is going to bake the wedding cake, and they say his best baker is the cream of the land when it comes to baking wedding cakes. Vic wants to see this couple get started off right, so he has done this much.

And, after the ceremony, the couple are not going to be driven away in anything but the best, and so the Munger Auto company has volunteered to furnish the best limousine they have available. If the couple ever rode in style in their life, it will be at this particular time.

And, too, they are not going to sit down at their first meal without having a beautiful set of dishes to gaze upon, for the Noble-Little Hardware company has promised the young couple one of their choice sets of dishes. This is just a start of all the nice things they will get through the generosity of the merchants of Wichita Falls.

They just simply don't have to worry about anything, for the committees having the wedding in charge are working overtime to see that the young couple's fullest dreams come to a realization.

Remember, they are to be married Saturday evening, April 28, the last night of the circus.

Mexico More Peaceful Than Texas, Wichitans Are Told By McDonald, Just in From Neighboring Republic

A. J. McDonald, who recently returned from Mexico, where he has traveled extensively, was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon Monday noon, giving a graphic talk on conditions in the southern country. He stated that the exaggerated idea of conditions in Mexico, so general among those do have never visited it, is entirely unfounded, and that as a whole Mexico is more peaceful than Texas, from a point of crime and bloodshed.

"The greatest trouble with Mexico is the existing relationship of the classes, which has caused what is practically a system of slavery," said McDonald. "Large landowners in the agricultural sections have placed the peons, or lower classes, in bondage, through systems of graft and debts, from which they can only be released through drastic legislation. It is this system that is the great trouble to be overcome by the Mexican government."

Mr. McDonald stated that only in sections is the idea of rebellions justified. He stated that in the northwestern part, bolshevism predominates, with the result that work has ceased and crime set in. Obregon, however, according to McDonald, is taking action, with the result that the leaders of the bolshevic party are being punished, generally by death.

The silent boost was given by Dave Paul, local jeweler.

Discussion on an invitation made by officials of the Callahan Construction company that members of the club visit the dam was held, although no action was taken. A trip will probably be made soon, however, according to members of the board of directors. A record crowd attended the meeting.

Myrtle Stedman Scores Hit In Strand Feature

One of the most finished, ably presented photoplays to be offered here for some time is "The Famous Mrs. Fair," which opened a three-day engagement at the Strand Monday.

The story deals with the career of Mrs. Nancy Fair, who becomes famous through her bravery and heroic work during the war, and who, upon arriving home is besieged with offers of lecture tours and government work at fabulous salaries. Thinking the continuance of the work she started during the war is of vital necessity, she sacrifices her home life, only to return home to find a changed family, and her domestic life in peril. How the difficulties are straightened out and the coming to the front of her mother instinct forms a play that is gripping and vital and one that should appeal to everyone.

A strong cast, headed by Myrtle Stedman, as Nancy Fair; Cullan Landis, Ward Crane, Marguerite De LaMotte, Carmel Myers and several others of equal note are seen in the picture, which ranks in dramatic and artistic value with the best photoplays presented here this season.

Collier Says Business Thoroughfares Will Be Improved

An improvement of the business district streets is promised sometime this year by Mayor Collier, who has announced that when the city council cleans up some of the numerous paving projects now under way it will turn its attention to either repairing or repaving the wood block stretches down town.

The business district has the reputation of being the roughest and most poorly paved of any section of town. Put down under adverse conditions during the boom days, the creosote blocks have never proven satisfactory and repairing has seemed to aggravate rather than relieve the situation.

Whether the streets will be entirely repaved or not is still undecided, it was indicated, but there seems to be a feeling that the business district pavement will never be in the shape it should until the whole thing is torn up and relaid correctly.

The work, it was indicated, probably cannot be started until late summer or early fall.

Florence Hughes, Daring Trick-Rider, Reaches Iowa Park For Big Rodeo

Florence Hughes, the trim and daring little bronc and trick rider of Moran, Texas, arrived at Iowa Park Monday, and immediately journeyed to the Triangle ranch, where she will work in the arena in preparation for the Triangle ranch Rodeo and Pageant of Progress which will be staged on Burnett's ranch April 19-22.

"One has to be in condition for a contest such as this will be," said the 90-pound rider, as she saddled her horse for the first gallop across the open stretch near the arena. "But the first thing I will have to do is to get some of the edge off my pony. You see," she continued, "my horse was shipped up here three weeks ago and has been well fed; in fact, too well fed, but not exercised enough, and the lack of exercise has caused him to get some bronc ideas in his head that will have to be worked out by plenty of exercise, and just as soon as he gets so that he realizes that this is work and not all play, then I will begin doing my trick riding stunts and get myself in shape.

"With the field of cowgirl trick riders who have entered for the contest here, the going will be anything but slow," said Miss Hughes, "but I am not worried, as when I am in condition I can hold my own with any of them, and by the time the first contest is called I will be in as good form as I ever was. I am doing a number of new vaults and tricks that I will rely upon to place me in the winning," she continued, "and when the judges announce their decisions you can look for the name of Florence Hughes at or near the head of the list."

New Rumpus In County Court On Foreman's Salary

Another rumpus broke out Monday in the county commissioners court session when Commissioner Jackson of Wichita Falls brought up the road foreman salary question.

At last week's meeting, the commissioners passed an order over the protest of Commissioner Jackson, reducing the salary of Jackson's road foreman from $200 to $175 per month. Mr. Jackson requested Monday that this order be rescinded and the salary be allowed to stand at $200. Some spirited discussions developed, but in the end the order was allowed to stand.
