Ask Us

Q—If you weren't registered to vote for Tuesday's primary elections, can you still register and vote for the April 12 runoffs?

A—Yes, however you don't have much time. Friday is the last day to register to vote in time for the runoff election. You should register at the county clerk's office.

In Brief

12 killed

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP) — A pickup truck jammed with 20 people went over an embankment and slammed into a culvert today, killing 12 and seriously injuring seven others, authorities said.

The pickup careened out of the southbound lanes of Interstate 15 and slammed into the culvert about 20 feet off the pavement shortly before 6 a.m., crushing the cab, said Bill Peters, a spokesman for the San Bernardino County Fire Department.

Fritz wins Republican nomination

Gannaway, Bell and Reynolds win in Democratic Primary

Both Democrats and Republicans in Scurry County rejected an incumbent and nominated political newcomers Tuesday in local voting that outpaced state voter turnout.

Chamber of Commerce manager Ricky Fritz, 35, defeated first-term County Judge Bob Doolittle in the Republican primary while Deputy Sheriff Charlie Reynolds nudged incumbent Wanda Rushing for the Democratic nomination for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1.

In other contested Democratic races, County Treasurer Charlie Bell held off a strong challenge by Beverly "Bunky" Glasscock, and Precinct 4 Commissioner Jerry Gannaway easily defeated challenger Forrest Wemken.

In November, Fritz will face former County Judge Bobby Goodwin who was unopposed in the Democratic primary. When early voting returns came in, Fritz took a commanding lead and went on to carry nine of 12 Republican boxes to garner 536 votes, 57.8 percent. Doolittle received 391 votes or 42.2 percent. Goodwin's vote total was 1,574.

The 927 votes in the Republican primary was a record turnout for Scurry County. Some 2,303 voted in the Demo primary, for a local voter turnout of 34 percent.

Reynolds polled 1,070 votes, or 52 percent, to unseat Rushing for the JP spot. Rushing, who is serving her first term, garnered 983 votes or 48 percent. Reynolds, who runs the DARE program, does not have a Republican opponent.

Bell, who was appointed county treasurer last year, was elected with 55 percent of Democratic votes and faces Republican Janet Merritt in November. Bell, a former banker, polled 1,217 votes while Glasscock, a deputy in the county clerk's office took 993 votes, some 45 percent. Merritt, running unopposed on the GOP ticket, garnered 643 votes.

First-term county commissioner Jerry Gannaway of Hermleigh easily won his bid for renomination in precinct 4 with 73 percent of the votes. Gannaway collected 406 ballots while Wemken picked up 149 votes. Gannaway will now face Republican Charlie Henderson who ran unopposed and received 127 votes in the Republican primary.

Snyder public schools board approves contracts, requests

Snyder public schools trustees on Tuesday approved teaching contracts, the 1994-95 calendar and a resolution relating to unfunded and underfunded mandates.

The board also approved a number of other business items, including curriculum course offerings and employment of an ESL/Spanish teacher at the high school, an agreement for the annual outside audit, a request to purchase a van and a request to submit a waiver to the Texas Education Agency for two staff development days.

Trustees approved 250 contracts Tuesday, including 25 one-year extensions on continuing contracts, 188 one-year renewals of term contracts, 20 new additions to term contracts and 17 probationary contracts.

The board unanimously approved a request from Larry Scott, high school principal, to hire a teacher for English as a Second Language (ESL) and Spanish for 1994-95. Currently, the high school has one Spanish instructor teaching six classes and an aide for ESL.

A second request from Scott, to employ a third counselor at the high school was tabled by a 6-1 vote, with trustee Luann Burleson casting the "nay" vote. In making the motion to table the request, trustee Charles Anderson said the board will be facing some "tough" financial decisions in making up the new budget. He suggested that the request be reviewed along with other budgetary requests.

Dr. Tom Scannicchio, assistant superintendent, informed trustees that it may be possible to fund part of a counselor's salary through vocational funds granted to the district.

A request to make two curriculum changes at the high school was approved by the board. Keyboarding will be dropped from two semesters to one and microcomputer applications will be added. Also, for 1995-96, advanced typing/word processing will be dropped and office support systems will be added.

In an effort to join with other school districts across the state in opposing federal and state unfunded and underfunded mandates, board members agreed to

Miller is appointed to RPUWCD board

Appointment of a board member, planning for an election and changing meeting locations were items discussed and approved Tuesday by the Rolling Plains Underground Water Conservation District (RPUWCD) board.

Brent Murphy, vice-chairman of the board, resigned, due to health problems. Directors David Stubblefield and Bill Eiland accepted the resignation, with regret, and acknowledged Murphy's efforts in getting the water conservation district started.

Ralph Miller of Borden County accepted a nomination by directors to replace Murphy.

In other business, the board outlined an upcoming underground water district election. Stubblefield said the election will serve three purposes: to establish the underground water conservation district; to elect six directors, two from each of the three counties in the district; and to establish a taxing authority.

The board is anticipating receiving information regarding election requirements from the Secretary of State's office and plans to set an election date when it convenes on Tuesday, March 15, in the Snyder National Bank community room. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m.

Stubblefield reported to the board that he had received word that a resolution has been passed by the Scurry County Farm Bureau in favor of the RPUWCD. Miller said Snyder National Bank board of directors have also passed a resolution in favor of the underground water district.

Miller also reported that Snyder National Bank has offered the use of the bank community room for future conservation district meetings. The board agreed to accept the bank's offer because the room will accommodate more people. The board has been holding its meetings at West Texas State Bank.

Haywood gets 2nd chance at Carriker

Tom Haywood, a Wichita Falls businessman who narrowly lost a general election to State Sen. Steve Carriker two years ago, Friday won the right for a rematch with the Roby Democrat.

Haywood racked up a 2-1 victory in the Republican primary by defeating Haskell pharmacist Doyle High. Haywood carried all but three counties in the vast 30th Senatorial District.

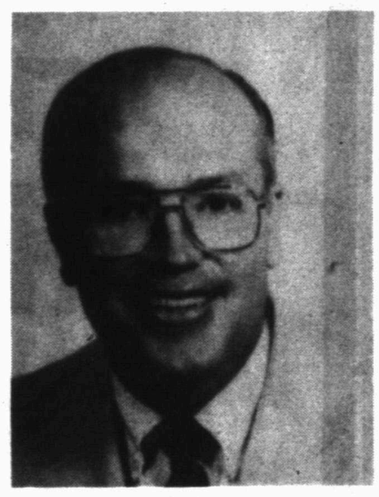

District-wide, Haywood collected 9,290 votes compared to 4,871 for High, representing 65.6 percent of the Republican votes.

Haywood's margin of victory was even greater in Scurry County where a large Republican turnout, fueled by a hotly-contested race for county judge, saw Haywood reap 76 percent of the votes.

"We're thrilled to death," Haywood said this morning, "particularly with the support in Scurry County. I'm not sure Scurry County was our best, but it was among the top."

Haywood said he looks forward to the November general election battle with Carriker, a race decided by one percentage point when Carriker was re-elected two years ago.

Haywood said he talked Tuesday with State Republican Chairman Fred Meyer who said he shared Haywood's goal of unseating Carriker from his District 30 seat. Haywood also said he expected the support of Republican Agriculture Rick Perry in the general election, but he had not spoken to Perry since the election.

TOM HAYWOOD

Both Perry and Meyer supported High in the Republican primary.

Carriker, running unopposed for the Democratic nomination, polled 1,519 votes in Scurry County.

Accountants are starting their busiest time of the year - income tax preparation time. Accountants are the bean counters that we depend on to understand the tax laws, know about the changes and take a layman's bookkeeping system and turn it into something that will pass government muster.

We had to grin a little recently when the General Accounting Office said the IRS made failing grades on its own financial management and record keeping.

While we might gain a little satisfaction over the news, we don't suggest that taxpayers use it as a reference point in personal explanations.

The GAO, a congressional watchdog agency, said it had found significant weaknesses in the way the IRS manages its finances. The GAO says it couldn't even audit about $4.3 billion of the $6.7 billion that the IRS reported spending. The report also found examples of duplicate IRS payments to vendors. The GAO concluded that the IRA data on its operating funds was unreliable.

And there are other items of note: For example, as of Dec. 31, the IRS said it had 577 regulations that still need to be written. That number was up from 571 at the end of November.

The Tax Foundation provided the following information of how our taxes are spent:

--Social security, federal retirement and unemployment compensation, 32.95 cents.
--National defense, 19.92 cents.
--Interest on debt, 13.92 cents.
--Medicare and Medicaid 14.16 cents.
--Commerce and housing credit, 6.26 cents.
--Education, training, employment, social services, 3.07 cents.
--Veteran benefits, services, 2.43 cents.
--Environmental and natural resources, 1.32 cents.
--International affairs, 1.20 cents.
--Science, space and technology, 1.18 cents.
--Agriculture, 1.03 cents.
--Administration of justice, 0.98 cents.
--General government, 0.89 cents.
--Community and regional development, 0.44 cents.
--Energy, 0.25 cents.

Spending totals $1.11 instead of a $1...which may explain why things don't add up.

190 units drawn at drive here

Despite an election and poor weather conditions, Tuesday's blood drive here resulted in 190 pints being drawn.

Local officials estimated that the amount is the largest in at least three years.

"The response was just great," said a United Blood Services spokesperson. "The people of Scurry County really came through and we appreciate it so much."

Scurry County Advisory for United Blood Services and Cogdell Memorial Auxiliary sponsored the drive.

Receiving pins were Shirley Stewart, five gallons; Rusty Dickerson, three gallons; Naomi Almquist, David Guzman, David Pena and Bernhard Bartels, two gal-

Two judges headed for runoff election

AUSTIN (AP) — Two state district judges from Houston are gearing up for next month's runoff for the GOP nomination to challenge Democratic Attorney General Dan Morales.

Pat Lykos, 52, will face Don Wittig, 52, in the April 12th runoff election, since neither topped 50 percent of the vote in Tuesday's Republican primary. Morales had no Democratic primary election opponent.

With 95 percent of the precincts reporting, Ms. Lykos had 134,615 votes, or 29 percent, and Wittig had 128,839 votes, or 28 percent.

They were closely followed by State District Judge John Marshall, 50, of Dallas, who had 114,738 votes, or 25 percent. Cameron County Judge Tony Garza, 37, was last with 81,359 votes, or 18 percent.

Morales, 37, said he was ready to take on any one of the Republicans in November's general election.

"I consider it an honor to have the chance to run on a ticket headed by someone like (Democratic incumbent Gov.) Ann Richards," Morales said. "We're going to win big."

Morales has touted his record, including efforts to remove state agencies from federal court control. He gave as an example the settlement ending the 20-year-old Ruiz lawsuit against the prison system, which was named after the inmate, David Ruiz, who initiated the action.

The incumbent said he also had initiated new activities to fight crime, such as targeting money-laundering schemes, and pointed to $1 billion collected in child-support payments from parents who owed it.

But the Republicans have blasted some of the very items claimed as successes by Morales, such as his handling of the Ruiz lawsuit. They cited their own credentials for taking over the responsibilities of the state's top lawyer.

Those duties mainly focus on non-criminal matters, such as consumer protection and environmental lawsuits, child support enforcement and defending state laws when they are challenged in court.

Ms. Lykos, a trial judge who presides over criminal cases, previously was a civil trial lawyer and, before that, a police officer.

She cites her experience on the "front lines," her work to implement such programs as a Harris County residential treatment center for probationers and her intention to heed the voice of "decent, hard-working Texans."

"They no longer feel powerless or helpless. Their voices can be heard," she said.

Ms. Lykos said the attorney general's office affects public safety, business and family issues.

She said she could save the state money by re-opening the Ruiz case, obtaining greater leeway in the way the state may house prisoners, and by "getting parents to support their children born out of wedlock."

Wittig also advocates reopening the Ruiz case because he believes the state gave away too much in the settlement. He was a prosecutor in the U.S. Marine Corps in Vietnam and then a civil trial lawyer before becoming a state judge presiding over civil cases.

He says he has the experience to ably manage the attorney general's office, and notes that he is certified as a specialist in personal injury trial and family law — "the main areas of the attorney general's practice."

"We need somebody who can step right in, take over the reins, and run it right," Wittig said.

Republicans say Richards rebuked on gun law veto

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican voters on Tuesday overwhelmingly approved a handgun proposition in what GOP officials said was a rebuke of Gov. Ann Richards' veto of a similar measure last year.

Richards' campaign called the non-binding referendum a political stunt. It passed by about a three-to-one margin in GOP precincts.

The proposition read: Should the citizens of Texas be allowed to vote on the following question: "The Department of Public Safety should be authorized to adopt rules for licensing and training qualified citizens to carry handguns for self protection."

Last June, Richards, a Democrat, vetoed a measure that would have let Texans vote in the November general election on a non-binding question that would have asked whether they should be allowed to tote handguns.

At the time, Richards called the proposal a taxpayer-funded opinion poll for gun interests, and said handgun legislation would make Texas more dangerous.

In killing the bill, Richards was backed by law enforcement, crime victims and other groups. James Brady, who was shot in an assassination attempt on former President Ronald Reagan, praised Richards for the veto.

But Karen Hughes, executive director of the Texas Republican Party, said, "Gov. Richards took away the people's right to vote on this.

"Republicans want to have the right to vote on this issue at a time when crime is the No. 1 issue," she added.

Your Birthday

Thursday, March 10, 1994

In the year ahead you could get involved in a new enterprise or project in which you'll utilize all of your resources, mentally, physically, socially and financially. If things work out, the results will be worth it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your leadership qualities are quite pronounced today and should be evident to others. Even though you may soar off in a new direction, you might collect new followers. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are aware of the fact that someone you know is in need of your help, make every effort to do what you can today without any fanfare that could embarrass the recipient.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might have to deal with a friend of yours who can occasionally be cantankerous and moody. It may be your turn today to experience his/her acid tongue, so be careful.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you might be inclined to go after something you haven't been bold enough to attempt previously. Your motivating force will be strong, ambitious urges.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your probabilities for success look good today, but you could experience some limitations owing to your own negative thinking. Don't be counterproductive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The apprehension you've been nurturing about getting involved in a joint endeavor might be reinforced today when new information about your counterpart is brought to the surface.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Two close friends of yours may have a serious disagreement with one another today. Try to arbitrate this matter immediately or else it might be very slow in healing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you should be able to do rather well in developments that are competitive or require staying power. If you find yourself involved in something significant, don't let it intimidate you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An arrangement in which you're presently involved can enhance its efficacy if you reorganize it properly. It's something you can do better than the others involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It may not be the optimum end result you've been anticipating, but a matter can be concluded today in a reasonably close manner if you're determined to do so.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It isn't likely you'll experience a lack of assignments today, the problem could be in finding adequate time to do everything you'd like to do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is a good day to make an effort to call in a long overdue obligation. You might not be able to stamp on it "paid in full," but you could get a partial payment.

Dear Abby

If You Get in Johns Hopkins, Mind Your P's and Q's and S's

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading with amusement the letters from people who have had trouble with their names.

The name I had trouble with was not my name; it was the name of the university I attended. When I would tell people I was at Johns Hopkins University, nine out of 10 would say, "Oh, so you go to John Hopkins ... and you want to be a doctor!"

Abby, to set the record straight, the name of the school is Johns (note the "s" after John) Hopkins. And not everyone at Hopkins wants to be a physician; in fact, two-thirds do not. I have seen Johns Hopkins written as "John Hopkin," "Johns Hopskins," "James Hopkins" and "St. Johns Hopkins." The admissions office has received letters with at least 20 other spellings.

When Milton Eisenhower (brother of President Dwight Eisenhower) was president of Johns Hopkins University, he spoke at the University of Pittsburgh, and was introduced as the president of "John Hopkins." When he got to the lectern, he said, "Thank you; it's nice to be speaking in 'Pittburgh'!"

CHRIS GREGG, BALTIMORE

DEAR CHRIS: Thanks for an amusing and informative letter. Read on for more information concerning Johns Hopkins from the university's Office of News and Information:

Who was Johns Hopkins? First things first: Why the extra "s" after John? Because his first name was really a last name. His great-grandmother was Margaret Johns, daughter of Richard Johns, who owned a 4,000-acre estate in Calvert County, Maryland.

Margaret Johns married Gerard Hopkins in 1700. One of their children was named Johns Hopkins.

The second Johns Hopkins, grandson of the first, was born in 1795 on his father's tobacco plantation in southern Maryland. His formal education ended in 1807 when his parents, devout Quakers, decided on the basis of religious conviction to free their slaves and put Johns and his brother to work in the fields.

Johns left home at 17 for Baltimore and a job in business with an uncle, then established his own mercantile house at the age of 24. He was an important investor in the nation's first major railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio, in 1847 and became a director and chairman of its finance committee.

In 1867, Hopkins arranged for the incorporation of the Johns Hopkins University and the Johns Hopkins Hospital, and for the appointment of a 12-member board of trustees for each. He died on Christmas Eve, 1873, leaving $7 million to be divided equally between the two institutions. It was, at that time, the largest philanthropic bequest in U.S. history.

Readers, I may have told you more about Johns Hopkins than you really cared to know, but I found it fascinating!

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Well-Adjusted Reader," who said that when an 80-year-old man remarries, all he wants is "a nurse or a purse":

I'm so fortunate and thankful that my wonderful 84-year-old husband of 55 years wants only "a cook and a book."

You may use my name.

Kimberly Mays, girl swapped at birth, moves in with Twiggs

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Kimberly Mays, the girl who was switched at birth, has moved in with the biological parents she "divorced," The Tampa Tribune reported today.

She tearfully pleaded with a judge last year to allow her to stay with the only man she has known as her father, Robert Mays. The judge severed ties with her biological parents, Ernest and Regina Twigg.

But Tuesday, Kimberly left a Sarasota YMCA youth shelter for troubled teen-agers and went with the Twiggs to their Sebring home, the Tribune reported. She had gone to the shelter last week for help with what her lawyer called typical adolescent problems.

Kimberly, 15, is expected to enroll at Sebring High School, sources close to the Twiggs told the newspaper.

The baby switch came to light in 1988 when blood tests on the girl the Twiggs had raised as their own, Arlena, showed she wasn't their daughter. After Arlena died, the Twiggs tracked down Kimberly, and determined she was their biological daughter. They spent the next five years battling for custody and visitation rights.

George Russ, the attorney who represented Kimberly, would not confirm if Kimberly was with the Twiggs on Tuesday night.

"Right now it's in Kimberly's best interest to have her privacy," he told the Tribune. "The thing she needs most in the world is to be left alone."

Judge Stephen Dakan, who allowed Kimberly to severe ties to the Twiggs, said Tuesday he had no knowledge of the situation.

Voters say no to third term for Congressman Washington

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Congressman Craig Washington, ousted from office in a bitter Democratic primary race, says he is through with politics after serving more than two decades in elected office.

The race had been considered a close one, but Washington, instead, suffered a stunning defeat Tuesday night to Houston City Councilor Sheila Jackson Lee.

With 100 percent of the vote tabulated, Mrs. Lee had 26,664 votes, or 63 percent, to Washington's 15,371, or 37 percent. The defeat made Washington the first incumbent to lose in the nation's mid-term congressional elections.

Mrs. Lee, 44, had fought hard for the Democratic nomination to the congressional seat once held by Barbara Jordan and the late Mickey Leland. She outraised and outspent him, attacked his voting record in Congress and accused him of being out of touch with constituents.

Washington, an unorthodox politician who first served in the Texas Legislature before going to Congress, turned the defeat Tuesday into his exit from political life altogether.

"I'm not going to run for office again," said Washington, 52. "I've done my time in the barrel. There are things I believe in more important than holding elective office."

The district is heavily Democratic, and the unchallenged Republican candidate, Jerry Burley, is considered a longshot to win the November election. All three candidates are black.

"All of my thanks go to the people who worked on this campaign," Mrs. Lee said late Tuesday at a raucous victory party. "We simply said we wanted two things — delivery of services to the district and inclusiveness."

Mrs. Lee said she didn't expect such a resounding victory.

"I attribute it to going to people and telling them that we care about you," she said.

Washington had said he knew he was in trouble, but he expected the race to be decided by as little as a thousand votes. When asked what happened Tuesday night, he quipped: "She got more votes."

"I'm not a political analyst. I wouldn't have done anything differently," he said.

"There are things I believe in. I've been casting votes since 1973 and there's not one vote I would take back. This was not about whether I would mold myself to suit the desires of a certain number of people. This was a question of whether they would accept me just as I am.

"They said no, and I accept that."

Mrs. Lee joined the race just hours before the filing deadline. She spent much of her campaign attacking Washington's attendance record, one of the worst in Congress.

Washington countered by criticizing Mrs. Lee's support from Houston business people who work but probably don't live in the district, which embraces some of the city's poorest neighborhoods.

Nabers, Nugent win Demo nominations for RR posts

AUSTIN (AP) — Incumbents Jim Nugent and Mary Scott Nabers began focusing on November after winning the Democratic nominations for their seats on the Texas Railroad Commission.

Meanwhile, their Republican opponents in the general election, who were both unopposed, found positives in Tuesday night's results.

Nugent, 71, received 63 percent of the vote in defeating state Rep. Robert Earley, D-Portland, setting up a race with Republican former Garland mayor Charles Matthews, 54, for the full six-year term currently held by Nugent.

Ms. Nabers, 53, who is attempting to fill the two-year unexpired term vacated by Bob Krueger, got 60 percent of the vote in beating former insurance regulator David Young. She will face Republican former Austin mayor Carole Keeton Rylander, 54, in November.

"It is on to the general election," said Nugent, who has been a member of the commission that regulates the state's oil, gas and trucking industries since 1979.

"I will continue to focus on the things Texans really care about — jobs and economic opportunity. Under my leadership, the Railroad Commission has worked to provide both."

Ms. Nabers, 53, was appointed by Gov. Ann Richards to replace Krueger on the commission after the governor appointed Krueger to the U.S. Senate.

"We feel very good," Ms. Nabers said. "I have been all over the state in the last five weeks. I felt like we had real good statewide support, but it's always nice to see the numbers backing that up."

But Ms. Rylander, who has campaigned for the deregulation of trucking in the state, criticized Ms. Nabers' margin of victory against Young.

"Considering the money Mary Nabers spent to get on TV and the fact that her opponent didn't have any resources at all, she had a difficult time," Ms. Rylander said.

"I am excited about the fall, I think you are going to see one of the clearest choices the electorate has ever had in a Texas Railroad Commission race," she added. "The appointed incumbent is an apologist for the status quo."

Ms. Nabers countered, "I think it will be an interesting race against Carole Rylander. She is very aggressive. But I feel very confident about that race too. She is trying to make trucking an issue and I think if you will look at my votes, you will see I have voted for reform more than any of my peers."

Matthews, 54, said he found comfort in Earley's showing against Nugent.

"I am really encouraged," said Matthews. "If 35 percent of the Democrats aren't happy with a fella who has been in office for 40 some odd years, I think that speaks well for what will happen in November."

Earley had campaigned for trucking deregulation and said that Nugent had grown stale in office, even accusing him of using state money to pay a maid. Nugent denied the allegations, calling Earley's campaign "meaningless rhetoric."

"We gave it our best shot," said Earley, who has served in the Texas House since 1984 and is chairman of the House Energy Resources Committee.

"I don't regret anything we did. I think there is a need for change at the Railroad Commission and I will continue to communicate that to Mr. Nugent. I will still work hard to deregulate trucking in this state."

Young had campaigned against Ms. Nabers on a platform of reform, criticizing the incumbent for accepting campaign contributions from oil and gas companies.

"Obviously I lost the battle here tonight," he said. "But I think we may be getting closer to winning the war in terms of reform.

"When you are outspent 100 to 1 and you get more than 40 percent of the vote, that shows me people want reform even though I didn't have the money to get on TV."

Marcel Proust claimed: "We don't receive wisdom; we must discover it for ourselves after a journey that no one can take for us or spare us." True, it is satisfying to work out something for yourself, but did Proust never have a teacher?

Have a look at today's deal and decide which of the acolytes of Proust displayed bridge wisdom. Against five hearts, West led a trump. South won in hand with the seven and cashed the heart ace, East discarding the diamond two. Now South led his spade three and, after West played the seven, he called for dummy's king. When that held, South cordially conceded two minor-suit aces. How many errors were made?

The errors started in the auction. True, North was unlucky that his partner had only one ace. But if he had made a strong jump shift of three clubs and followed with heart support, he could have left the next move to his partner.

Knowing his side had at least two aces, West might have chosen a different initial attack. But it is hard to say the trump lead is definitely wrong.

Once the aceless dummy appears, both defenders should realize that they have three aces between them. So it was at best weak for West to say that he ducked the spade because he was afraid South was void in clubs.

However, there was one other mistake, which you might have missed. On the second round of trumps, East should have discarded the spade queen. Now even this West wouldn't duck his ace.

So there was little wisdom in today's deal. Maybe the players should find a teacher after all.

Texas' Tyler leads All-SWC selections

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Guard B.J. Tyler, who made four 3-point shots per game and averaged 23 points, has been selected The Associated Press Southwest Conference Player of the Year.

Tyler, who led No. 25 Texas to the regular-season Southwest Conference title, also led All-SWC balloting by conference coaches.

The Port Arthur senior, who transferred from DePaul, also averaged six assists and three steals per game.

Austin senior Albert Burditt joined Tyler on the first team. He averaged 15 points and eight rebounds per game to give the Longhorns and strong inside presence to go with Tyler's outside shooting.

Texas Tech's Jason Sasser, who averaged 20 points and nine rebounds for the Red Raiders, also made the first team.

Junior Kurt Thomas of Texas Christian averaged 21 points and 10 rebounds to make the first team, and there was a tie for the fifth spot between Texas A&M teammates for the fifth spot.

Joe Wilbert had 15 points and six rebounds per game for the Aggies, and senior guard David Edwards averaged 12 points, five rebounds and seven assists.

Texas A&M's Tony Barone, whose Aggies faded at the end of the regular season with three straight losses but tied Texas Tech for second place, beat out Penders and Tech's James Dickey for SWC Coach of the Year honors.

Rice's Torrey Andrews who averaged 21 points to lead the second team. He was joined by Mark Davis of Texas Tech, Jerome Lambert of Baylor, Aundre Branch of Baylor, and ties between Terrence Rencher of Texas, James Gatewood of SMU and Anthony Goldwire of Houston.

Davis, who averaged 18 points and eight rebounds per game, was named the SWC Newcomer of the Year.

Local boxers earn berths in finals

PECOS — Five Snyder Boxing Club fighters have advanced into the Golden Gloves Finals in Lubbock after preliminary-round wins here over the weekend.

Anthony Vasquez, a 65-pound 9-year-old, defeated Greg Soto of Andrews in his Saturday match, teammate Alfonso Delao, 14, beat Colorado City's Steve Alcala in a Saturday 125-pound bout, while 8-year-old Elisio Delao eliminated San Angelo boxer Gabriel Segura.

Gabriel Vasquez, a 1993 national finalist in the 14-year-old 119-pound division, won here by walkover. His scheduled opponent, Shavon Price of Lubbock, was a no-show.

In addition, Snyder Boxing Club captured the team championship here.

Slated to fight in Lubbock for SBC are Greg Herrera, David Herrera, Gabriel Vasquez, Alfonso DeLao and Johnny Vasquez, Jr.

Player of the Year finalists named

NEW YORK (AP) — Donyell Marshall, junior forward from Connecticut, was among five finalists for the U.S. Basketball Writers Association Player of the Year Award, along with Grant Hill of Duke, Glenn Robinson of Purdue, Clifford Rozier of Louisville and Jason Kidd of California.

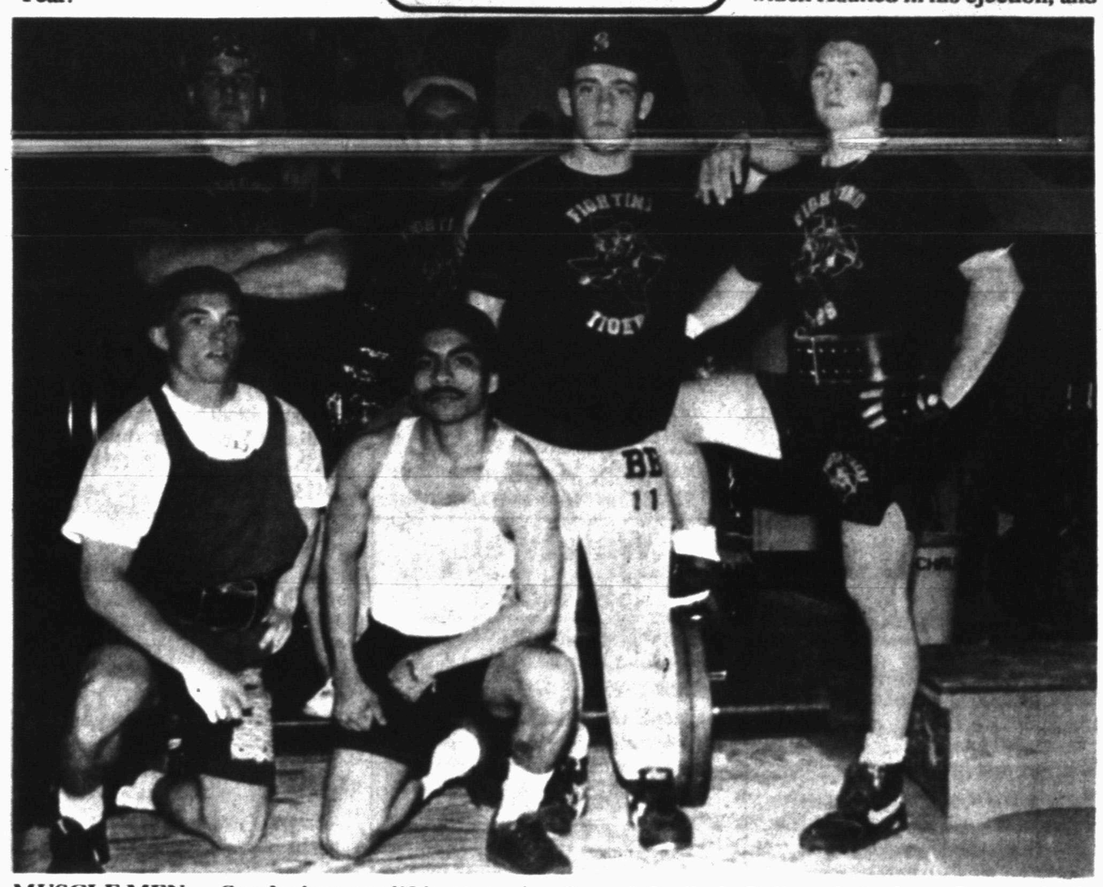

Marshall has averaged 25.5 points and 9.0 rebounds as No. 2 Connecticut reached its highest ranking in school history and won the Big East regular-season championship.

Robinson, a junior forward, has led No. 6 Purdue to the top spot in the Big Ten, and leads Division I in scoring at 29.7 and the Big Ten in rebounding at 10.2.

Hill started his career at Duke with consecutive national championships and is averaging 17.1 points, 6.3 rebounds and 5.5 assists for No. 5 Duke this season.

Langston hurls Angels to 11-4 win

by The Associated Press

Mark Langston is practicing getting out of trouble.

The left-hander allowed four hits in three innings but just one run Tuesday as the California Angels lost to the Milwaukee Brewers 11-4 at Chandler, Ariz. He escaped two jams, including a bases-loaded situation in the third.

"It was a good thing, getting in those situations and having to struggle a little bit to get out of it," Langston said. "It gets the juices flowing a little bit. I knew I had to make my pitches, so I was a lot more focused then than I was the other times."

Tom Brunansky hit a three-run homer to lead Milwaukee's 14-hit attack. John Farrell was tagged for five hits, two walks and seven runs in 2 1-3 innings.

In other games, Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 14-13 in 10 innings, the Chicaco White Sox beat Minnesota 3-1, the New York Mets beat a Florida split squad 5-0, a Kansas City split squad beat the other Marlins squad 4-3, Cleveland routed the other Royals squad 15-4, Houston beat Atlanta 7-4, Detroit beat Texas 6-5, the New York Yankees beat Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings, Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 4-3, Boston beat Montreal 8-5, Toronto beat Baltimore 7-4, Seattle beat Colorado 5-2, San Francisco beat San Diego 9-3 and the Chicago Cubs beat Oakland 4-2.

Astros 7, Braves 4

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Tony Tarasco, trying to become Atlanta's starting left fielder in place of the injured Ron Gant, hit a three-run homer and singled.

Tigers 6, Rangers 5

At Port Charlotte, Fla., Shawn Hare blooped a two-run single and scored in a four-run seventh.

Reds 14, Phillies 13

At Clearwater, Fla., pinch-hitter Adam Hyzdu homered in the 10th inning as Cincinnati won after taking a 13-11 lead after three.

White Sox 3, Twins 1

At Sarasota, Fla., Scott Sanderson pitched two innings of two-hit relief in his first appearance for Chicago.

Michael Jordan went 0-for-2 and is 0-for-10 in four spring games. He almost got his first hit on a close play at first in the eighth inning, but was called out by umpire Matt Winans.

Mets 5, Marlins (ss) 0

At Melbourne, Fla., Pete Smith, acquired by New York from Atlanta during the offseason, pitched four shutout innings in his second spring start.

Royals (ss) 4, Marlins (ss) 3

At Haines City, Fla., Russ McGinnis hit a two-run double with one out in the ninth.

Indians 15, Royals (ss) 4

At Winter Haven, Fla., Jim Thome and Ruben Amaro homered to lead a 21-hit attack.

Pirates 4, Cardinals 3

At Bradenton, Fla., St. Louis errors led to Pittsburgh's final two runs, and non-roster outfielder Darren Reed homered.

Red Sox 8, Expos 5

At Fort Myers, Fla., Greg Blosser broke a seventh-inning tie with a three-run double.

Spurs down Rockets 115-99 to claim NBA Midwest lead

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs backed up their boasts.

The Spurs won their third straight and 17th of 20 on Tuesday night, beating the Houston Rockets 115-99 to take over first place in the Midwest Division.

The game featured four technical fouls, two on Dennis Rodman, which resulted in his ejection, and some trash talk.

"There was a lot of taunting during the game. It was an emotional game," Spurs coach John Lucas said. "I told our guys to stay focused. But you've got to be a little cocky ... to be good."

Players for both teams often work out together during the summer at Houston playgrounds.

"When you have as many players on both teams who have played for each other, I guess that's to be expected," David Robinson said. "There was a lot of trash talking going on all through the game on both sides."

The Spurs had four players with at least 20 points. J.R. Reid led San Antonio with a season-high 24, Willie Anderson scored 22 and Vinny Del Negro and Robinson each had 21.

"This was a very good win for us," Lucas said. "We came out very, very focused and did what we had to do to win. It was a solid game for us."

Reid had a big game despite being matched with Hakeem Olajuwon. Olajuwon had 28 points and 11 rebounds.

"It wasn't really any big thing to play against Hakeem," Reid said. "I wasn't surprised when he told me. I just wanted to go out and have a solid game.

"They were doubling David and when they do that, it leaves somebody open," Reid said. "That guy tonight usually was me. I just went out and buried those shots like it was practice."

Vernon Maxwell, with 12 points, was the only other Houston player in double figures. The Rockets shot just 43 percent and missed their first 12 3-pointers.

"Defensively is where they really hurt us," Houston coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "They got some real good cuts to the baskets and it opened up their game."

Rodman had 14 rebounds, six points and six assists before he was ejected with 10:58 remaining. It was his fourth ejection this season.

"Rodman was a big factor," Tomjanovich said. "He was diving after loose balls, setting picks, making some passes, just being involved in the game."

San Antonio hit 54 percent of its shots in the first half, taking a 60-50 lead.

"I just don't think we matched their intensity from the start," Tomjanovich said. "I thought we were lucky to be down just 10 at the half. They were killing us on the board and beating us to loose balls."

San Antonio outrebounded Houston, 52-38, even though Rodman played only 22 minutes.

"I thought we played a very intense game in the second half against Orlando and just picked it up tonight even more," Robinson said. "This was one of our most intense games of the year."

Tomjanovich, a former teammate of Lucas when they played on the Rockets, was disappointed in his team's effort.

"I just can't remember a time where I felt we had the game in control and were doing what we wanted to do," Tomjanovich said. "We just didn't match their intensity tonight."

L.A. escapes with victory over Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — It wasn't easy, but the Los Angeles Clippers managed to escape Texas without being swept in a three-game trip across the state.

Clippers coach Bob Weiss described his team's 116-110 victory over the Dallas Mavericks on Tuesday night as "scary."

The Clippers watched a 17-point second quarter lead melt away, then followed the scoring punch of Ron Harper and Dominique Wilkins down the stretch for the victory.

Harper scored 36 points, 13 in the fourth quarter, and Wilkins added 34, 19 in the first half, as the Clippers beat the Mavericks for the 10th straight time.

The Clippers, who had lost nine of their previous 11, had dropped the first two legs of a three-stop road swing through Texas in San Antonio and Houston.

The Clippers did get the fast start Weiss was looking for, bolting to an 18-point first-quarter advantage, but they were unable to sustain it, waiting until the final two minutes to take control.

Wilkins scored four consecutive points during a critical stretch as the Clippers snapped a five-game road losing streak.

Jim Jackson had 31 points and Tony Campbell added 18, both season-highs, to pace the Mavericks, who lost their fifth in a row.

"It (the points) doesn't matter to me," Jackson said. "We lost, so stats don't mean anything. It seems we've got to get behind by 12 or 15 points before we get serious and you can't just do that."

The Clippers shot 53 percent from the field and outrebounded the Mavs, 46-41.

TIP proposals subject of two public hearings

ABILENE — The Texas Department of Transportation will conduct public hearings at two sites in the Abilene District to discuss the 1995-1997 Transportation Improvement Plan (TIP).

The public hearings will be held April 5 in Stamford and April 7 in Colorado City. Both meetings will begin at 6 p.m. In Stamford, the hearing will be held in the V.I.P. Building, 508 East Gould, and the location in Colorado City is the District Courtroom, 349 Oak Street.

The 1995-1997 TIP is a three-year plan developed by the Texas Department of Transportation for Borden, Callahan, Fisher, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Kent, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, Stonewall and Taylor counties.

The TIP includes a priority list of projects and project segments that will be carried out within the 3-year period, and a financial plan that demonstrates how the TIP can be implemented.

The financial plan indicates resources from public sources and private (if any) that are reasonably expected to be made available to carry out the plan, and recommends any innovative techniques to finance needed projects and programs.

Those desiring to make oral comments or presentations at the meetings may register starting at 5:30 p.m. Any interested persons may appear and offer comments, either orally or in writing. Comment cards will be available at registration.

A 10-day comment period following the public hearing will permit other interested persons to submit written comments to Maribel P. Jaso, P.E., District engineer, Texas Department of Transportation, Abilene District, P.O. Box 150, Abilene, Tex. 79604.

All written comments must be received by the Abilene District office no later than 12 noon on April 17.

The Texas Department of Transportation's TIP proposal can be examined during business hours through March 31, at the Abilene District office, 4250 N. Clack, Abilene.

Summer MDA camp in need of volunteers

How would you like your summer vacation filled with friends, laughter and good times? If your answer is yes, and you are a young man or woman 18 years of age or older, then the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) invites you to become a very special part of the MDA Summer Camp Program.

This year's camp will be held at Ceta Canyon near Happy from Sunday, June 5, through Friday, June 10.

Volunteers willing to spend the week at camp are needed to act as companions to a child or teenager with muscular dystrophy.

For further information and an application form, please call the MDA at 806-793-5632.

Anyone between the ages of 6 and 21 diagnosed with a neuromuscular disease covered by MDA and who lives in the Amarillo, Lubbock, Permian Basin and Concho Valley areas is eligible to attend.

The camp is free to patients and their attendants.

Those in the Amarillo area provide their own transportation, but, a bus is provided for people from the Permian Basin, Concho Valley and Lubbock areas.

Each child, whether walking or in a wheelchair, has his/her own attendant who provides care, close attention and supervision. Volunteers are usually high school or college age.

A paramedic will be at camp the entire week. He has attended camp for the past eight years and is very familiar with the neuromuscular disorders involved.

All activities are designed and adapted so each camper can participate according to his or her own abilities. Some activities take place in small groups so they can be varied according to age group and interests.

Some examples are baseball, swimming, table games, volleyball, singing, dances, camp fires, horseback riding, talent show, arts and crafts and fishing.

People's Choice Awards announced

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — People can't seem to get enough of Roseanne Arnold. She was named best female TV performer at the 20th annual People's Choice Awards.

Tim Allen of ABC's "Home Improvement" was honored as the best male TV performer.

ABC's cop drama "NYPD Blue" was named best TV dramatic series and best new TV dramatic series. "Frasier" and "Grace Under Fire" tied for favorite new TV comedy. "Jurassic Park" won the award for favorite movie.

Winners were determined by a Gallup Poll of more than 4,000 people nationwide. The ceremony was broadcast Tuesday by CBS.

Major snowstorm strikes Texas Panhandle

PAMPA, Texas (AP) — A major late-winter snowstorm moved east through Texas early today, leaving behind nearly a foot of snow in the Panhandle.

The storm closed some schools for a second day today and hindered voting Tuesday.

Eleven inches fell in Dalhart with three inches in Amarillo and an inch in Childress. This morning, Amarillo was experiencing some fog but no precipitation and Dalhart, where it was 10 degrees, had a few flurries.

The storm hit on Election Day, keeping many voters away from the polls as it dumped as much as two inches an hour.

One person was killed in a traffic accident that was attributed to the bad weather conditions in Northwest Texas on Tuesday. An Amarillo man died and three people were injured when a pickup truck and car collided about 6:50 a.m. Tuesday about 18 miles northwest of Amarillo.

Northerly winds of 15 to 25 mph with higher gusts created blowing and drifting snow, making roads hazardous.

The late-winter blizzard hit the Panhandle early Tuesday. Prefaced before dawn by thunder and hail, the storm dumped 10 inches of snow on Dalhart by Tuesday afternoon.

Sections of I-40 east of Amarillo turned to a sheet of ice, the National Weather Service reported. "Whiteout" conditions — zero visibility — blanketed Shamrock, the NWS said.

David Hotz, a weather service forecaster, said 4 inches to 6 inches of snow coated most of the northern Panhandle. Temperatures hovered in the 20s and 30s.

Tuesday's storm arrived two weeks before spring and with sudden fury. Days earlier, temperatures had climbed to near 80 degrees in Amarillo, Hotz said.

"We've had several accidents on I-40," said Gray County Sheriff's dispatcher Donna Cross. "A lot of them, they're just sliding into the ditch."

A strong upper-level storm system in New Mexico was responsible for the winter weather. High pressure building today over West Texas should end the precipitation and decrease clouds, the weather service said.

The moisture cheered farmers in the Panhandle, where crops in fields were drier than normal.

"Most of the wheat farmers are probably jumping for joy," Hotz said. "We needed it pretty bad."

Light snow was reported as far south as the San Angelo area.

Low clouds covered North Texas, along with patches of fog and drizzle, on Tuesday. Scattered showers dampened North Central Texas.

Mattox, Fisher to runoff; Hutchison cruises

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic Gov. Ann Richards and Republican challenger George W. Bush already are slinging barbs after winning their primaries.

U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, who handily dispatched six Republican challengers, awaits the outcome of an April 12 runoff to determine her Democratic opponent.

She will face either between former attorney general Jim Mattox or former Ross Perot adviser Richard Fisher, who finished one-two in Tuesday's primary.

Meanwhile, U.S. Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, will be looking for work. He was defeated by Houston City Councilwoman Sheila Jackson Lee, who made an issue of his absenteeism and votes against projects considered important to Texas.

There were a few other surprises as Texas held the nation's first major primaries of 1994.

The dean of the Texas House, Rep. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, found himself in a runoff against Lon Burnam. Willis has been in the Legislature for 40 years.

After a mudslinging primary, Texas Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez is in a runoff against Rene Haas, a former district judge from Corpus Christi.

Neither Richards nor Bush waited to begin their November election battle.

"It's going to be every bit as tough, I think, as it was four years ago," the governor said. "But I believe sincerely that you have got to prove yourself for the people of Texas. ... They had to work for everything they got. None of it has been handed to them on a silver platter."

Richards got 79 percent of the Democratic vote against political novice Gary Espinosa of Palestine.

Bush, eldest son of the former president and managing partner of the Texas Rangers baseball team, had a few words for Richards. "There's no question I'm running against a very popular person, someone whose got some of the funniest one-liners in history. But I think this race is more about the issues," he said.

Bush swamped Abilene demolition contractor Ray Hollis, 93 percent to 7 percent.

Mrs. Hutchison, who was found innocent of state ethics charges last month, received a resounding 85 percent of the Republican vote.

"I am conservative, I'm a reformer. After nine months in Washington, I think there's a lot more to be done," she said.

Mrs. Hutchison had gotten 67 percent of the vote in a June 5 special election over appointed Democratic Sen. Bob Krueger to complete Lloyd Bentsen's term. Bentsen was appointed U.S. Treasury secretary.

Mattox and Fisher said they looked forward to the runoff, which quickly shaped up as a slugfest.

Mattox attacked Fisher's history as an adviser to independent presidential candidate Ross Perot. Fisher attacked Mattox's record as politician who's been running for office since the 1970s.

"I think what we'll probably try to do is explain to the Democrats exactly who Richard Fisher is, explain that he's more of a Republican than a Democrat," Mattox said. "He's not the kind of Democrat that ought to lead the troops into battle."

Fisher, a millionaire Dallas investor who billed himself as the outsider, responded: "The government is stuck in the politics of the 40's, 50's and 60's."

sign a resolution Tuesday. The resolution states that the mandates imposed on SISD restrict local governmental initiative and judgment, are often inflexible and have unrealistic time frames and do not take into consideration funds to implement them.

The resolution also points out that mandates have increased significantly in recent years.

"I strongly support this resolution," said Supt. Dalton Moseley. "The Legislature must stop mandating without funding. The taxpayers are facing too much of a burden. I certainly hope that they will hear what we are trying to tell them in Austin."

The resolution will be sent to state and federal elected officials, and Snyder ISD will take steps to encourage other school districts in the state to pass similar documents.

Board members approved a calendar for the 1994-95 school year, which schedules the first semester to begin Aug. 15 and end Dec. 16. The second semester will be Jan. 2, 1995 through May 25, 1995, with graduation set for May 26.

In other action, trustees approved submitting a waiver to the Texas Education Agency for two staff development days next school year. The days requested are Aug. 10 and Jan. 30, 1995.

The board also:

—Ratified the local textbook committee report for 1994;

—Approved an agreement with Davis, Kinard & Co. for the annual outside audit;

—Elected Jack Gorman, former teacher, principal and Snyder ISD assistant superintendent for business, to the Region 14 Education Service Center board of directors;

—Approved the appointment of Phyllis McGinnis, Polly Autry, Treva Moore, Jo Ashley, June McGlaun, Francene Allen-Noah, Georgene Galloway and Joni Gonzales as election clerks for the May 7 election;

—Approved bills and previous minutes;

—Approved a request to purchase a vehicle, replacing one which was damaged in an accident. In making its decision, the board approved a bid of $21,696.13 from Big Country Chevrolet for a Suburban. Insurance will pay $13,500 on the wrecked vehicle and $8,000 will be taken from the transportation budget to pay the difference.

Following an executive session to discuss the assistant superintendent, the board convened in open session and announced that it would take no action.

Wayne Kennedy, principal of East Elementary, gave the monthly campus report.

Because the board will be reviewing applications and interviewing candidates for the superintendent's position the week of April 11-16, the April board meeting was rescheduled for April 5 at 7:30 p.m.

All board members were present Tuesday, to include Burleson, Anderson, Geraldine Parker, Janet Stribling, Glenn Clarady, Mark McCormick and Terry Martin.

7 killed in bombing, shooting in courtroom in town in Germany

EUSKIRCHEN, Germany (AP) — A man convicted of beating his girlfriend fatally shot the judge and set off a bomb that killed his mother and the girlfriend and hurled him through the courtroom window today.

A total of seven people, including the bomber, died in the bloodbath. At least six people were wounded, two of them critically, prosecutor Joerg Pietrusky said.

The massacre took place in an unguarded, three-story brick misdemeanor court in Euskirchen, a town of 50,000 people about 15 miles west of Bonn.

The bomber was convicted last year of beating his girlfriend and sentenced to pay a fine and court fees of $3,900.

After losing an appeal today, he left the courtroom with the girlfriend, then came back shooting a pistol as she screamed a warning, Pietrusky said.

The man shot the judge and a witness, police said, then left the courtroom again, returned with a knapsack and took out a bomb. The explosion blew the killer through the window and into the street.

"He didn't say a word," said Pietrusky.

Early reports said the 39-year-old man was a Yugoslav. But Pietrusky said at a news conference that he believed the man was German and lived in Euskirchen. His name was not released.

The bomb blew out the windows on the ground floor of the courthouse and buckled masonry and walls. Bloody law books, broken glass and furniture stuffing littered the street. The bomber's body was covered in a white sheet.

Among those killed were the judge, the killer's girlfriend and mother and two lawyers, said Michael Hermans, an attorney in the prosecutor's office. The prosecutor in the man's case and at least one witness were among those wounded.

The street in front of the courthouse was full of injured people being loaded into ambulances and helicopters immediately after the attack, witnesses said.

for U.S. Senate will be held. Jim Mattox, former state attorney general, led local balloting with 855 votes while Richard Fisher of Dallas was second with 786 votes. State-wide, Mattox led with 42 percent of the votes while Fisher polled 38 percent. Congressman Mike Andrews of Houston took 14 percent and in Scurry County also ran third with 180 votes.

The winner of the runoff will face Republican Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchinson who led state voting with 83 percent, including 80 percent in Scurry County, representing 657 votes.

In other local uncontested races, Democrats renominated Elois Pruitt for district Clerk. Pruitt, serving her first term, received 1,841 votes and will face Polly Echols who received 627 votes to win the Republican nomination.

Incumbent GOP County Commissioner Roy Idom was unopposed and garnered 212 primary votes. The first-term precinct 2 commissioner will face Wayland Huddleston who won the Democratic nomination with 451 votes.

The county's top vote getter was County Clerk Frances Billingsley. Running unopposed on the Democratic ticket, Billingsley chalked up 1,919 votes and does not have a November foe.

John David Williamson won the Democratic nomination for Peace Justice, Precinct 2, by receiving 139 votes, and Jimmy Wilson was nominated as Constable, Precinct 1, with 1,561 votes. Neither have a Republican opponent.

Democratic State Rep. David Counts, also running unopposed, polled 1,577 votes and faces Republican newcomer Wilma Hogan of Munday for the District 70 seat. Locally, Hogan received 518 votes.

Also on the Republican ballot, Abilene's Phil Boone collected 63 percent of local ballots and outpaced two other GOP candidates in District 17 to win the right to challenge incumbent Democrat Charles Stenholm in the general election.

Boone had 353 votes in Scurry County while Don Schmidt of Stephenville polled 176 votes and Roy Falls of Granbury finished with 130 votes. On the Democratic ledger, Stamford's Stenholm, running unopposed, picked up 1,271 votes.

In concert with state-wide results, Gov. Ann Richards easily won renomination as governor and will face George W. Bush who also coasted to the GOP nomination.

In a contested race, Bud Arnot won the Democratic nomination for chief justice, 11th Court of Criminal appeals. In Scurry County, Arnot polled 1,022 votes while challenger David Stubbeman collected 605 votes.

Dryer fire extinguished

Snyder Fire Department personnel responded to a residential fire Tuesday morning.

Firefighters were dispatched to 320 25th St. where a clothes dryer had caught fire in a laundry room. The fire was confined to the dryer.

The residence is owned by E.G. Castillo and occupied by Locadio Luerra.

GET THE SKINNY ON LEAN FOOD CHOICES

A diet lower in fat doesn't need to leave you feeling deprived. Today, a number of foods are available in reduced-fat versions, making it relatively easy to lower your intake of fat. In addition, there are many basic food alternatives that can help you cut back on fat.

Choice include:

•Drink skim or 1 percent milk instead of whole milk and select reduced-fat salad dressings instead of regular.

•Use plain nonfat yogurt to top a baked potato instead of sour cream, butter or margarine.

•Buy leaner, lower fat cuts of meat. Select beef round and loin instead of chuck or rib cuts.

•Select lower grades of meat. For example, choice or good grades have less fat than U.S. Department of Agriculture prime grades.

•Try lower fat foods, such as skinless chicken instead of beef, fruit instead of premium ice cream, and cereals instead of sausage and eggs.

•Choose tuna packed in water versus tuna in oil. You'll cut the fat in a single serving by 6 grams.

•Instead of adding cream, use pureed potato or rice to thicken soups.

•When making omelettes or scrambled eggs, use two to three egg whites in place of each whole egg.

•Salsa, jam, mustard and barbecue sauce have no fat. use them instead of gravy, hollandaise sauce, butter, margarine and mayonnaise.

•Use herbs and spices versus high fat flavor enhancers.

When selecting foods, be sure to consider all of your alternatives. You'll be surprised at the number of lower fat options available to you.

Judahs place in Fort Worth

4-H members Jacinda Judah and Jenise Judah recently participated in the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show Junior Sheep Show held in Fort Worth. The two exhibited southdown breeding ewe lambs in the Texas Southdown Association Futurity Ewe Lamb Show.

The futurity program begins in the spring and members accumulate points based on placings at shows throughout the summer and fall. Fort Worth is the final futurity show of the year.

Twenty-eight lambs were entered in this year's futurity show at Fort Worth. Jacinda Judah placed 5th and Jenise placed 9th at the Fort Worth show. End of year standings were Jenise Judah — 5th place and Jacinda Judah - 8th place.

Local 4-H'ers in San Antonio

The San Antonio Livestock Exposition was held February 14-19. 4-H members exhibiting livestock projects at this year's San Antonio Show were: Jackie Beck, Jamie Beck, Jessica Eicke, T'Leah Eicke, Brady Hackfeld, Laurie Huddleston, Elyse Merritt, Dana Stribling and Katie Voss.

Placing lambs in the premium auction were: Jackie Beck — 18th place — Light Weight Finewool; Brady Hackfeld — 15th place — Middle Weight Finewool; Jamie Beck — 7th place — Heavy Weight Finewool Cross; Jamie Beck — 17th place — Light Heavy Weight Medium Wool; Brandon Hackfeld — 10th place — Heavy Weight Medium Wool.

Results from the steer show were: Jessica Eicke — 1st place — Light Weight Hereford; T'Leah Eicke — 8th place — Middle Weight Hereford; and Elyse Merritt — 2nd place — Middle Weight Chianina. This steer was selected as Reserve Champion Chianina Steer.

Several members will be finishing this year's stock show season at Houston and San Angelo the next two weeks.

'Don't Bag It'

The "Don't Bag It" Seminar will be held March 22, at City Hall, 1925 24th Street, at 7 p.m. Interested residents and businesses can learn how the program works by attending. There will also be a speaker covering the subject of 'Backyard Composting.'

Cattle raisers in convention March 27-30

FORT WORTH — The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association's 117th annual convention, trade show and silent auction are shaping up to be the state's premier cattle event in 1994, says John W. Jones, TSCRA president from Brady.

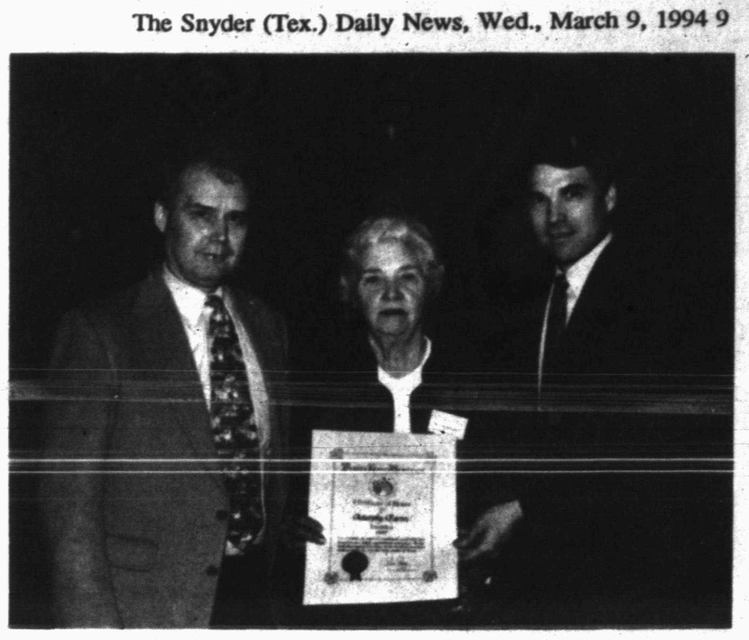

More than 2,500 cattle producers and agribusiness people are expected to converge on Fort Worth, historically recognized as Cowtown, for the March 27-30 business and social extravaganza. All activities will be held in the Tarrant County Convention Center and the Worthington Hotel in downtown Fort Worth.

TSCRA is a livestock trade association based in Fort Worth with approximately 15,000 cattle producers as members in Texas, Oklahoma and surrounding states.

"Fort Worth has been TSCRA's home for more than a century," Jones said, "and we take great pride in sharing with our members and guests the western heritage and hospitality of our city."

Election of new officers and a new board of directors will conclude the convention by Wednesday noon.

Also meeting in conjunction with TSCRA will be the Texas CattleWomen and the Texas Purebred Cattle Alliance, Jones said.

Egg production up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year saw growth in both the number of laying hens in the nation's chicken coops and the volume of eggs they produced, Agriculture Department statisticians report.

U.S. egg production totaled 6.14 billion during January, up 2 percent from the 6.03 billion recorded a year earlier, the National Agricultural Statistics Service said.

Dr. Gott By Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I just asked for a computer printout of all the medications my doctor has me on and was shocked to learn they cost in excess of $120 a month. This is really too much to be spending to keep alive and try to keep going. I have a non-functioning thyroid, high blood pressure and anemia. I presently spend more for prescriptions than I do for food. Why, then, at the young age of 70, am I constantly fatigued? I need your sensible advice on how I can rectify this terrible dilemma.

DEAR READER: You have three serious medical conditions, any one of which could cause lassitude and malaise. In addition, some medicines used for these diseases could aggravate feelings of fatigue.

I assume that you are receiving appropriate therapy for hypothyroidism, hypertension and anemia. Were you not being treated, you would undoubtedly feel less well than you do now. Consequently, the high cost of your medications may simply be the price you have to pay to remain in relatively good health.

Nonetheless, you do have options.

Your family doctor may be able to supply you with free samples of some of your medicine. Or he may be able to substitute generic varieties that are much less expensive than the brand names. Finally, most drug companies have programs to supply necessary medications to needy patients. Ask your doctor about this. If you are eligible, he can put you in touch with the proper resources.

In this, as in other issues relating to diseases and their treatments, your own doctor can best explain your disorders and their therapy, act as your advocate and assist you in obtaining the help you need.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife claims that her allergies act up from the moment our cat enters the room she is in. The poor cat used to sit in her lap and now settles for mine at the opposite side of the room. I told my wife her reaction is all in her mind, that it isn't possible to be affected unless fur or dander is flying. Now the cat and I are in the dog house. Who's right, please?

DEAR READER: I'm afraid that you and the cat will have to remain in the dog house.

Animals constantly shed tiny flakes of dead skin (dander) to which some people are highly allergic. Your wife's reaction is telling you that the cat is the cause of her allergies, even though you cannot see the dander shed by the cat when it enters the room and plops on your wife's lap.

An allergist might be able to help your wife cope with the problem, using antihistamines or desensitization injections.

In the meantime, if you keep telling your wife that it's "in her head," you'll really get her dander up and see the fur fly.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my new Health Report "Allergies." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I underwent radical mastectomy at the age of 41. After surgery I received 20 radiation treatments. Now, 30 years later, I'm getting blood transfusions every two to three weeks because of myelofibrosis. Why does my blood count drop, causing such overwhelming fatigue?

DEAR READER: Myelofibrosis is a bone marrow disorder, usually of unknown cause, marked by an inability of the body to form new blood cells. Consequently, patients have anemia and too few white blood corpuscles. Symptoms include fatigue, malaise, weight loss and susceptibility to infection.

The condition is diagnosed by blood tests and a bone marrow biopsy. The only satisfactory standard treatment is transfusions, which periodically replace the deficient blood cells.

You had a serious affliction 30 years ago, for which you received appropriate therapy: surgery and radiation. You are fortunate that your breast cancer was so successfully treated.

Nonetheless, I'm concerned that the 20 radiation treatments may have affected your bone marrow's ability to produce blood cells, leading to what appears to be a radiation-induced myelofibrosis.

I'm guessing at the relation here; your oncologist/hematologist may disagree. You should ask him about this, because it may explain the blood disorder that now affects you.

From a practical standpoint, the cause probably doesn't matter. You will still continue to need periodic blood transfusions to compensate for the malfunctioning bone marrow.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Blood." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from bursitis of the shoulder and was not aware how painful it could be. Is there a remedy?

DEAR READER: When the covering of the shoulder joint becomes inflamed, from overuse or injury, excruciating pain can appear. The inflammation can often be relieved by drugs (such as Motrin or Butazolidin) or by cortisone injections.

Your shoulder problem should be diagnosed and treated by an orthopedic surgeon, who will X-ray the shoulder, prescribe medication, and (perhaps) inject the shoulder to reduce your pain.

Axl Rose sued again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Axl Rose's ex-wife says he punched, slapped, kicked and gagged her.

Erin Everly also claims in a lawsuit that she passed out after one beating and woke up in a hospital to learn she had been injected with heroin and cocaine and gone into cardiac arrest.

Rose forced her several times to have sex and claimed to be "in touch with spirit and extraterrestrial beings," the former Mrs. Rose said.

Rose, lead singer for the rock band Guns 'N' Roses, wouldn't comment on the lawsuit filed Monday. Neither he nor his lawyers had seen it, said Bryn Bridenthal, a spokeswoman for the band's label, Geffen Records.
