Odd Bits Salvaged
At Random

The wheat harvest has done and started. It started—and was almost completed—earlier than all of us intended for it to be.

The weather has done some "harvesting" during the past week, some very destructive harvesting.

On Wednesday night of last week, there was a cloud that missed Knox county as far as hail was concerned, and again we thought we were extremely lucky.

Only a light shower was received in Munday and Knox City areas.

But at Bomarton, the hail came for the second time this year, and nearly wiped out some of the wheat.

It also got down into Throckmorton County and the edge of Haskell County, where it got some of our very own wheat.

We say our very own, because it was wheat that belonged to our own townspeople.

Hail damage wasn't too bad, but the rain and wind got the wheat and straw into a matted mess which is difficult, and almost impossible to untangle.

Damage to some was estimated at 50 per cent, while others wouldn't make an estimate until they could see just how the combines are going to work.

Among local people hit by this disaster are L. W. and Donald Hobert, W. R. Moore and son, W. R., Jr., C. P. Baker, and others.

Then later in the week, the combines started rolling. The wheat began coming in to the elevators at a fast clip, and it looked like the major troubles were behind.

Mr. Linden of the Texas Employment Service stated the combines were "really running" between Munday and Knox City.

Troy Lindsey had 15 machines going in his wheat Saturday morning and expected two more to get into high gear that afternoon.

The prevailing price of $1.65 and $1.55 wasn't exactly up to everybody's liking, but it was money in the till instead of the wheat in the field.

The tractors and planters were going, too, putting that cotton and other crops into the ground.

But another wheat harvesting cloud hit the area on Saturday night, one that brought on an electrical display that only the elements can give.

Lightning played along the ground. Those who got up to watch the cloud said you could almost sweep them away with your hand, they were so low.

A few hailstones fell here in Munday, and we went back to sleep, hoping our farmer friends had again escaped crop destruction.

But not so, not so. Next morning came reports from the area north of Goree. Their wheat had been harvested good and proper.

We went out to see Truman Winchester's new home, which is under construction, Sunday afternoon. He said the damage there ran from 25 to 50 per cent.

It was heavier to the east. Reports came that Ross Bates and farmers around him were almost completely wiped out.

And it will be quite a few days before some of the fields will be dry enough to plant. A farmer's life is full of troubles.

But we have ours, too. This week we are trying to get out a paper without an operator. It is almost like trying to harvest wheat with a hand scythe.

Yours truly is pecking out the

Contract Let On Two County Road Projects

C. Hunter Strain, San Angelo contractor, was the successful bidder in two road projects in Knox County. The contract was let by the Texas Highway Department on Wednesday of last week.

The Knox county contract was awarded to Mr. Strain in a bid of $57,621.

The contract is for 9.53 miles for grading structures, flexible base and single asphalt surface treatment from State highway 222 north to Sunset school and east to State 222, and from Munday north to the Brazos River.

The contractor has 30 days in which to make bond, get machinery on the scene and start construction, according to officials, but he has indicated that work will be started earlier. It is expected the project will be completed by September 1.

These projects have long been sought by local people, and they welcome the fact that construction is soon to be under way.

Suggestions For A Cleaner Town

Get rid of those 50-gallon oil cans and heavy containers in which you dump trash to be hauled off. They are too heavy for one man to handle.

Have your tree cuttings cut into 4-foot lengths. If you want them hauled away.

If you want grass cuttings hauled off, put them in paste-board boxes.

Keep your premises cleaned up and in containers that one man can handle. This will help everyone in keeping the town cleaner.

These suggestions came from Alston Morrow, who is operating the truck in town. The cooperation of everyone is requested.

LOCAL NEEDS FOR 1949

We're pulling for these needs in 1949. What will the year bring?

1. A modern street sweeper. Our paving cost us money, let's protect it!
2. Paving of road through Rhineland, and definite progress on Throckmorton road.

The Munday Times is Democratic, yet supporting only what it believes to be right, and opposing what it believes to be wrong, regardless of party policies, publishing news fairly, impartially.
NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC: Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice being given to the publisher, at the Munday Times office.

3. Completion of our drainage system. It's gonna rain one of these days.
4. An adequate waterworks system. This is a must for the continued growth of Munday.
5. Building of more housing projects. There continues to be a housing shortage.
6. Recreational facilities for our youth of today—our citizens of tomorrow.

Moffett Gives Views On Work Of Legislature

Dear Friends:

The present session of the Legislature is drawing to a close.
At this writing, 486 bills have been introduced in the State Senate and 955 in the House of Representatives. Some of those bills are duplicates. Many of them will never pass or even be considered because of insufficient

time to properly consider them.
I cannot say that this is any great loss as far as the people are concerned, because it seems to me that Texas has enough laws already.

My guess is that people are much more concerned about saving a good wheat crop or getting a cotton crop planted than they are in what the State Legislature is doing.

However, since quite a number of people have asked me how the state tax dollar is being spent, I have secured the following breakdown of just where the money goes:

For education (does not include local school taxes) $.37.

For highways, roads and maintaining them, .28.

For old age assistance, aid to blind, etc., .24.

For institutions for insane, orphanage, reform schools etc., .03.

For National Guard, Rangers,
Highway Patrol, .01.

For health and sanitation, .01.

For development and conservation of natural resources, .01.

For operating the offices of the state government, .01.

For operation of Supreme, Appellate and District Courts, .01.

For regulation of business and industry, .01.

For parks and monuments, .005.

For operating the Legislature, .005.

For payment of the public debt owed by the state, .01.

Total, $1.00.

The above figures are for the year 1948 and are taken from the official records of the State Comptroller's office in Austin.

These items change somewhat from year to year. The first three items will be increased for the year 1949. Public sentiment has strongly favored an increase for education, road construction and old age assistance. Among the educational items that will be increased is one for the establishment of a new medical school to train more doctors.

The state unquestionably needs more trained doctors, as many small towns are entirely without a doctor. The people are entitled to the best possible medical care and health service and they cannot receive it unless doctors and hospitals are available. An increase in medical training facilities is clearly justifiable. Texas now has seven million people. Twenty years ago it had only slightly more than five million people. That partially explains why a shortage of doctors has come about.

The location of a new medical school has been left up to the

Weekly Health LETTER

of Texas
Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox
M. D., State Health Officer

AUSTIN—There is an old slang expression that would make a good slogan for living a longer and more comfortable life, and that is "Be your age". According to the state health officer, Dr.
George W. Cox, many persons injure their health and endanger their life through indulgence in exercises and vigorous sports unsuited for their age and physical condition.

"While a young man in prime physical condition may benefit from a fast game of tennis, older men and women have been known to collapse and suffer good judgment of the board of Regents of the University of Texas, since it will be a branch of that institution. Very likely this board will locate the school at Dallas so that there will be a medical school in North Texas as well as one at Galveston, where the original medical school was established more than fifty years ago.

Within the next few days and probably before this is printed,
the House of Representatives will likely place a stamp of approval on the veterans land bill which passed the Senate some time ago. This bill is a follow-up on the constitutional amendment approved by a vote of the people some three years ago, and authorizes the state to loan up to $7,500 to disabled combat veterans to buy farms. It will not reach as many veterans as I would like to see, but in my judgment any law which encourages home ownership is a desirable law. More next week.

Sincerely yours,

George Moffett

serious heart attacks following such a game. The same thing applies to golfing, swimming and other vigorous sports," Dr.
Cox said.

During the hot summer months, it is of especial importance that you know your physical limitations, and indulge in only in such activities as will benefit, and not harm your physical condition.

Persons of middle age should never participate in activities requiring violent physical exertion, and should confine their physical exercise to such bounds
as their doctor prescribes," Dr.
Cox asserted.

The state health officer suggested that all persons of middle age be examined by their physician before planning their summer vacation activities. A vacation can easily be more exhausting than refreshing, and in such event, more harm than benefit results from the time spent. Fishing, boating, hiking in moderation, and many other light exercises can be engaged in by older people who must avoid heart strain, and it is a wise precaution to have your doctor advise you as to what sort of vacation you should plan.

The silo is the best way to store abundant supplies of nutrients found in pasture and hay crops. In silage form, feed is available summer or winter.

Producers of eggs, chickens and turkeys must keep in mind the consumer demand for their production if market outlets are going to continue to increase their volume of business.

Our Citizens Of Tomorrow

All girls, and pretty as a picture, are the ones in this sextette. They are, left to right, top row: Linda Gayl, 6 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King; Carol, 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moore; Nancy, 3 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Taylor. Bottom row: Judy, 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Loffler; Mary, 3 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Guley; Carol, 5 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Floyd.

Hygiene in the garden is as important to vegetables as cleanliness is in the home. Many diseases of vegetables are carried over on the stems, roots and leaves of the plants which have spent themselves in spring production. Such plants should be dug up, and not cut off at the ground level.

Frozen butter may be kept in the home freezer for as long as six months if it is good quality. Wash the butter well, get all the milk out, mold it, wrap in parchment paper and press all the air out that's caught under the paper. Then it's ready to pack in wax cartons.

Dr. Joe Davis of Boerne spent the latter part of last week here, visiting with friends and attending to business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Phillips and family of Lubbock were week end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Phillips.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Explains Why He Doesn't Keep Farm Records; Doesn't Want To Know What He Lost

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller creek may be speaking for himself, but we doubt he's speaking for most farmers in his letter this week.

Dear editor:

Was talkin with a government man the other day and he was complainin about the way I keep my farm records, wanted to know how he was gonna give me a crop allotment if I didn't know what I'd been plantin for the past five years on every foot of land I got.

"Trouble with you farmers is you don't keep proper records," he complained. "If you'd be more business-like, you'd be a lot better off," he added, although I didn't tell him if we was he'd be worse off, as he might not have a job if we was as efficient as he thought we ought to be. In fact, I have sometimes thought it would be an interesting experiment to have all the agricultural experts swap places with farmers for a year, just to see what would happen. Might cut down on the crop surplus, would if nothing else, as raisin a crop from a tractor seat is different from raisin it from behind a desk, and once I got to be an expert, it might be hard to ever get me to go back to farmin.

But I can tell you why farmers, at least why I don't keep farm records.

In the first place, it's a lot of trouble. Ain't many farmers got secretaries, and writin down all your own figures is out of our line of work. Ain't many business men who'd have any better records than I got if they have somebody to keep em for em.

But the main reason, if you want to get to the bottom of it, is that we don't want to know how we're comin out. If all the farmers in the country kept accurate books on what they was doin and makin, the country might face starvation on account of so many farmers quittin to get into something profitable. I don't mind worryin with a crop all year, fightin the weather and the weeds usin up my equipment and myself to boot, and haulin it to town and askin somebody what it's worth, since I was the fellow that raised it and wouldn't have no idea myself, and I don't mind takin home what I get and startin all over again on another year's crop, but I just don't want any accurate figures on my operations starin me in the face. Like it is now, I can say well I come out pretty good on cotton this year I guess, made a little on cattle, and so forth, but if I had a accurate set of books showin to the penny my profit and loss, it would take all the fun out of farmin.

You can call me lazy and triffin and backward, but the fundamental reason I don't keep books on my farm operations is that I just don't want to know how bad the financial situation out here is. Them experts can carry record-keepin too far, and undermine the entire farm situation. Yours faithfully,

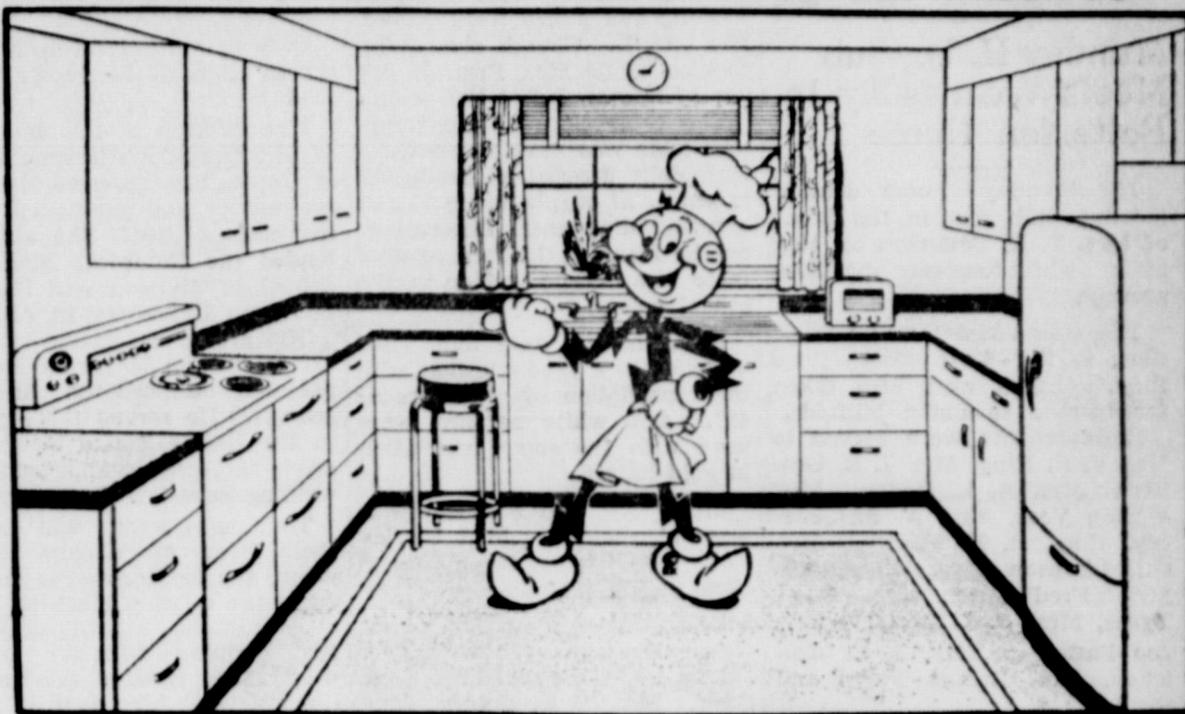

J. A.

Mrs. Carl Jungman and children, Ira Jo and Mike, of Vernon visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Michels and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jungman last Saturday.

After cleaning and moth-proofing your clothes, you can store them in trunks, chests or pasteboard boxes, first lined with paper. Be sure the containers are airtight. After placing them in the boxes, lay a piece of tissue paper over the top and sprinkle about four ounces of paradichlorobenzene crystals on the tissue.

This world of ours is never more than a year from starvation.

WHEN A KITCHEN IS PRACTICAL and PRETTY

. . . OF COURSE—IT'S Electric!

There was a time when you had to choose between a pretty kitchen and a practical one, but not nowadays. An All-Electric Kitchen is both practical and pretty. It is practical because you base your plans on an Electric Range, Electric Refrigerator, Electric Dishwasher, and plenty of electric outlets for the convenient use of electric mixers, waffle irons, toasters and many, many other electrical appliances. Around these appliances you build "Electric Time-Saving Centers." This equipment does so much of your work for you automatically that you'll have more time for leisure. And it's pretty, because there's practically no limit to what you can do decoration-wise with an All-Electric Kitchen. If you plan to build or remodel, our Home Service Department will be glad to help with your kitchen plans. When a kitchen is both practical and pretty...

OF COURSE—IT'S Electric!

A MODERN KITCHEN INCLUDES

Refrigeration Center, built around your electric refrigerator which provides ample food storage and large freezing capacity. Adjacent work surfaces provide space for food preparation.

Dishwashing Center, featuring electric sink with automatic dishwasher and garbage disposal unit. The Electric Dishwasher handles not only dishes and silver, but pots and pans as well—washes them shining clean, and dries them without wiping.

Cooking Center, with electric range as central unit. The Electric Range provides safety, better meals—due to controlled heat—coolness, easier cleaning, durable, reliable simplicity, and beauty plus economy of operation.

ADEQUATE WIRING: This simply means: 1. Large enough electric wires. 2. Enough circuits. 3. Plenty of outlets and switches.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON — There is no question but what we have many trained communist agents working in this country. This means that we should all be the more careful about the people we permit to come here. This week the House will debate a new DP bill by Congressman Celler of New York. This bill will permit the entry into this country of more of those who still remain in the DP camps of Europe, including a hundred thousand who came out of Russia 18

Do Your "Gums" Spoil Your Looks?

One look at some "GUMS" is enough to upset anyone. —Drugs refund money if the first bottle of "LETO'S" fails to satisfy. TINER DRUG months after the war was over. This week, I have received letters from leading ministers in the Baptist and Methodist denominations, asking me to support this bill. I, of course, am very much opposed to it. Since half of my family are Methodists, I have felt free in writing both these religious leaders and frankly expressing my opposition. Congressman W. R. Poage of Waco wrote similar letters to these ministers. Two paragraphs from Congressman Poage's letter are as follows:

"I value your opinion on these matters very much, and always hate to find myself in disagreement with you, but in all frankness my observation of most of the Displaced Persons which Congressman Celler wants to bring into the United States has led me to the definitely conclusion that they would certainly be no asset to this country. There are undoubtedly many people in Europe who would like to come to the United States, and who are suffering from a great many handicaps in Europe. Among this group are many fine and worthwhile people, but there are surely many very undesirable citizens among the group.

"I recognize that we are told these immigrants will be 'screened', but I am sure we must all agree that the 'screening' would be no better than the individuals who do the job. I think it is perfectly evident that what is intended by the change in the law is to bring in a lot of people who could not meet the qualifications of the old law. Primarily these people are from East and Southeast Europe. Their philosophy of life is entirely different from ours. I have seen some of them in concentration camps in Germany and Austria. Many of them utterly refuse to work. I cannot see where the United States would be benefitted by bringing these people in, but I can very clearly see where the United States and the world at large would get hurt by lowering the quality of American citizenship. If we ever come to a point where our people have the same outlook on life which these people from Southeast and Eastern Europe have, we will have no better country than they have. There is nothing wrong with Europe at the present time except the Europeans.

Another reason for being careful about those we bring into this country is that we find it almost impossible to get rid of those whom we discover to be a menace to our society. For several years, I have been trying to get the Department of Justice to denaturalize and deport one Gustavo Duran, who came to this country in the early 40's, and became a naturalized citizen. Gustavo Duran was the head of the secret service in the Spanish Republic forces. He was placed there by the Russians and has a long record as an international Communist. Shortly after he was naturalized, he went to work for our State Department and has since that time held some important government job.

For several years, a number of Congressmen, including myself, have been trying to get one Constantine Georges deported. He came to this country in February, 1936, as a Greek priest. He is a proven pervert and has been run out of a number of communities because of his conduct. It is admitted that he came in under false passport. He has insulted women in various congregations and was known to patronize a colored house of ill-fame in one of the communities in which he lived. Still, by numerous appeals and technicalities he has remained in this country.

The record of Harry Bridges is another case in point. He came into this country from Australia and while denying his Communist Party membership, he has fomented trouble and followed the Communist Party line. His stooges are now busy wrecking the economy of the Hawaiian Islands, according to reliable information. He is the master of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union and has completely tied up the ports of the Hawaiian Islands. In 1940, I voted for a bill to deport the said Harry Bridges. His deportation was recommended by the Justice Department but he was able to remain. Now he has been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco and charged with perjury and conspiracy. If convicted, he will again be subject to denaturalization and deportation. Authorities are quite sure that a number of unsolved murders and attempted murders in this country are the work of Communists. The shooting last year of Walter Reuther, famous president of the United Auto Workers Union, was supposedly the work of Communists. The recent assault on his brother is thought by authorities to be the work of Communists. The Communist program is to destroy the social and economic foundations of this country.

Munday Seniors Visit San Antonio, Corpus Christi On Annual Trip

On Saturday morning, May 14, at 4:00 p. m. the senior class of Munday high school, accompanied by their sponsors, Mr. Bardwell and Mrs. D. F. Swindall,

KILL RED ANTS!
In your premises of Red Ant Bait with ROXOL'S ANT BALLS for less than 5¢ per dozen. Just dissolve balls in water, pour in beds. Goodbye Ants! Ready 35¢ and 60¢ jars at your druggist or

REXALL DRUG STORE

and three room mothers, Mrs. D. D. Clough, Mrs. J. B. Scott and Mrs. A. L. Smith, launched off on their trip to San Antonio and Corpus Christi. With this early start behind them, they were ready to eat breakfast by the time they were in Coleman. All was going well with bus until Mr. Swindall, their capable chauffeur, discovered that it was "brakeless." They stopped in Boerne, a town 20 miles this side of San Antonio, to have them repaired. However, by the time they reached San Antonio for dinner, the brakes were ready to be repaired again. While the class was eating dinner at the Chicken Shack, Mr. Swindall took the bus to have it repaired again. They had planned to leave directly after lunch for Corpus, but instead they had to stay in San Antonio for several hours waiting to have the bus fixed. During this time, they visited the museum and Breckenridge zoo. They found the zoo amusing and the museum educational. They enjoyed their stay in San Antonio so well that they hated to go on to Corpus. However they left about 5:15 p. m. and arrived in Corpus at 9:30 that night. They were soon at the Plaza Courts where they had reservations, and were beginning to refreshen themselves before taking their first view of the bay.

They spent their time that night at the Sand Beach Amusement Park. Since they were all very tired after the long ride on the bus, they soon returned to their rooms and were ready to get some needed rest.

The next morning, the 15th, they were up and ready for breakfast by 7:30. As soon as they finished eating, they drove out to see the largest naval training base in the world. Mr. Swindall and Mr. Bardwell got permission for them to drive through the base, and they all marveled at how large it was. On the way back to town they decided to go out to one of the "T-heads" and hire a boat. They found a 33-foot auxiliary sloop, and as soon as they could go to the cabins and change into their bathing suits they were all ready for their boat ride on the bay. They say it was indeed some boat ride.

It was long after lunch time when they got back, but they just loaded on the bus and as soon as they could get ready, they were in their favorite cafe, Miller's Grill, ordering fish, fish and more fish. Jesse Smith always liked to be different, and that time was no exception. Mr. Bardwell knew that the individual fried trout that they brought Jesse was nothing but a young whale!

Soon after lunch, they were again donning their bathing suits to go for a swim. Here, on the beach, the majority of them experienced one of the biggest thrills of the trip—riding the waves on a float. After their swim, they were ready to bring part of the Sand Beach back with them.

That night, when their weary bones were crying for rest, they decided that a show would be an ideal place to go—and so it was.

The next morning, while the bus was again being repaired, they all went to town and shopped at noon. When the bus was in perfect condition, they loaded on and left for San Antonio.

They hated to leave Corpus, but they were anxious to get to San Antonio to see the Alamo and other things of interest.

When they got to San Antonio, at about 5:00 p. m., they went to Grande Courts, where they had reservations, and got ready to see the town. Some of the class ate at Milam's Cafeteria, while others ate at the original Mexican Cafe. Frances Nance seemed to appreciate the Mexican food more than anyone else. After they had finished supper, they walked through town, and down to the Buckhorn Salon where they purchased all that they could of its famous souvenirs. After leaving there they were content to be taken to the amusement park, where they "whiled" away their time on the roller coaster.

Soon it was off to bed to get their beauty sleep and rest before the trip back home. The next morning, too bright and early, they went to see the Alamo and the Sunken Gardens. After this they went to the Chicken Shack for dinner, and then left for home. Just as they passed a large grocery store leaving town, some of them discovered that they still had money left. They went in and purchased some fresh cherries, pineapple, corn on the cob, and fresh baked goods. This showed that they were determined to go home full, but broke.

They hated to leave San Antonio, for they realized that their trip was fast drawing to an end; however, they were all glad to get home once more. That trip will be in their minds when they recall pleasant memories of their senior year in Munday high school.

BOYCE HOUSE

While in my old home town of Memphis, Tenn., some months ago, I called on several schoolmates of Central High days.

One was Eric Hirsch, a cotton dealer, and his well-tailored clothes were besprinkled with lint and his phone rang continuously, one long distance call after another pertaining to deals. His office is on Front Street, which is to cotton almost what Wall Street in New York City is to the stock market—for Memphis long has been the greatest inland cotton market in the world.

Another schoolmate was Henry Waldauer. We had lunch together and in a long, rambling and thoroughly enjoyable conversation I was impressed with how carefully Henry had planned his life and how well he had carried out the plans. He is a court reporter—one of the best. He has taken down enough words to fill a library, just as fast as a man (or woman) can talk.

On one occasion, he took down the speech of a Northern governor who was a strong contender for the Republican presidential nomination (and the Republicans won that year). The address was filled with sentences which the speaker didn't finish and with poor grammar. Waldauer "edited" the speech so it would read smoothly. The governor read the report and then said: "Young man, let me congratulate you on being the first shorthand reporter to get exactly what I said."

Waldauer has worked hard, saved his money, invested it well and, when some annuity policies mature in a year or two, he will have an income for the rest of his life which will provide Mrs. Waldauer and him with all the comforts of life and they are thinking of making their home in the serene and cultural atmosphere of a small city where there is a university.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Willoughby and son returned to their home in Edmond, Okla., last Monday after spending several days here visiting Mrs. Willoughby's mother and sister, Mrs. F. della Moylette and Laura.

Miss Charlotte Williams returned home last week to spend the summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams, and other relatives and friends. She has been attending TSCW in Denton.

Munday Seniors Visit San Antonio, Corpus Christi On Annual Trip

On Saturday morning, May 14, at 4:00 p. m. the senior class of Munday high school, accompanied by their sponsors, Mr. Bardwell and Mrs. D. F. Swindall,

KILL RED ANTS!
In your possession of Red Ant Bait with BARDWELL'S ANT BALLS for less than 5c per doz. Just dissolve balls in water, pour in beds. Goodbye Ant! Handy 35c and 60c jars at your druggist or

REXALL DRUG STORE

and three room mothers, Mrs. D. D. Clough, Mrs. J. B. Scott and Mrs. A. L. Smith, launched off on their trip to San Antonio and Corpus Christi. With this early start behind them, they were ready to eat breakfast by the time they were in Coleman. All was going well with bus until Mr. Swindall, their capable chauffeur, discovered that it was "brakeless." They stopped in Boerne, a town 20 miles this side of San Antonio, to have them repaired. However, by the time they reached San Antonio for dinner, the brakes were ready to be repaired again. While the class was eating dinner at the Chicken Shack, Mr. Swindall took the bus to have it repaired again. They had planned to leave directly after lunch for Corpus, but instead they had to stay in San Antonio for several hours waiting to have the bus fixed. During this time, they visited the museum and Breckenridge zoo. They found the zoo amusing and the museum educational. They enjoyed their stay in San Antonio so well that they hated to go on to Corpus. However they left about 5:15 p. m. and arrived in Corpus at 9:30 that night. They were soon at the Plaza Courts where they had reservations, and were beginning to refreshen themselves before taking their first view of the bay.

They spent their time that night at the Sand Beach Amusement Park. Since they were all very tired after the long ride on the bus, they soon returned to their rooms and were ready to get some needed rest.

The next morning, the 15th, they were up and ready for breakfast by 7:30. As soon as they finished eating, they drove out to see the largest naval training base in the world. Mr. Swindall and Mr. Bardwell got permission for them to drive through the base, and they all marveled at how large it was. On the way back to town they decided to go out to one of the "T-heads" and hire a boat. They found a 33-foot auxiliary sloop, and as soon as they could go to the cabins and change into their bathing suits they were all ready for their boat ride on the bay. They say it was indeed some boat ride.

It was long after lunch time when they got back, but they just loaded on the bus and as soon as they could get ready, they were in their favorite cafe, Miller's Grill, ordering fish, fish and more fish. Jesse Smith always liked to be different, and that time was no exception. Mr. Bardwell knew that the individual fried trout that they brought Jesse was nothing but a young whale!

Soon after lunch, they were again donning their bathing suits to go for a swim. Here, on the beach, the majority of them

experienced one of the biggest thrills of the trip—riding the waves on a float. After their swim, they were ready to bring part of the Sand Beach back with them.

That night, when their weary bones were crying for rest, they decided that a show would be an ideal place to go—and so it was.

The next morning, while the bus was again being repaired, they all went to town and shopped at noon. When the bus was in perfect condition, they loaded on and left for San Antonio.

They hated to leave Corpus, but they were anxious to get to San Antonio to see the Alamo and other things of interest.

When they got to San Antonio, at about 5:00 p. m., they went to Grande Courts, where they had reservations, and got ready to see the town. Some of the class ate at Milam's Cafeteria, while others ate at the original Mexican Cafe. Frances Nance seemed to appreciate the Mexican food more than anyone else. After they had finished supper, they walked through town, and down to the Buckhorn Salon where they purchased all that they could of its famous souvenirs. After leaving there they were content to be taken to the amusement park, where they "whiled" away their time on the roller coaster.

Soon it was off to bed to get their beauty sleep and rest before the trip back home. The next morning, too bright and early, they went to see the Alamo and the Sunken Gardens. After this they went to the Chicken Shack for dinner, and then left for home. Just as they passed a large grocery store leaving town, some of them discovered that they still had money left. They went in and purchased some fresh cherries, pineapple, corn on the cob, and fresh baked goods. This showed that they were determined to go home full, but broke.

They hated to leave San Antonio, for they realized that their trip was fast drawing to an end; however, they were all glad to get home once more. That trip will be in their minds when they recall pleasant memories of their senior year in Munday high school.

A Munday Times Classified Ad Pays.

While in my old home town of Memphis, Tenn., some months ago, I called on several schoolmates of Central High days.

One was Eric Hirsch, a cotton dealer, and his well-tailored clothes were besprinkled with lint and his phone rang continuously, one long distance call after another pertaining to deals. His office is on Front Street, which is to cotton almost what Wall Street in New York City is to the stock market—for Memphis long has been the greatest inland cotton market in the world.

Another schoolmate was Henry Waldauer. We had lunch together and in a long, rambling and thoroughly enjoyable conversation I was impressed with how carefully Henry had planned his life and how well he had carried out the plans. He is a court reporter—one of the best. He has taken down enough words to fill a library, just as fast as a man (or woman) can talk.

On one occasion, he took down the speech of a Northern governor who was a strong contender for the Republican presidential nomination—and the Republicans won that year! The address was filled with sentences which the speaker didn't finish and with poor grammar. Waldauer "edited" the speech so it would read smoothly. The governor read the report and then said: "Young man, let me congratulate you on being the first shorthand reporter to get exactly what I said."

Waldauer has worked hard, saved his money, invested it well and, when some annuity policies mature in a year or two, he will have an income for the rest of his life which will provide Mrs. Waldauer and him with all the comforts of life and they are thinking of making their home in the serene and cultural atmosphere of a small city where there is a university.

M. A. Verhalen Buried May 23 At Rhineland

Funeral services for M. A. Verhalen, Knox county resident for many years, were held from the St. Joseph's Catholic church in Rhineland on Monday, May 23, at 9:30 a. m., with Rev. Fabian Diersing, O. S. B., officiating. Burial was in the St. Joseph's cemetery in Rhineland.

Mr. Verhalen passed away at the Knox county hospital Sunday, May 22, following an illness of about four months.

Mathias A. Verhalen was born March 17, 1877, at Hales Corners, Wisconsin, the son of Theodore and Mary Verhalen. He was 72 years, 2 months and 5 days of age.

He came to Texas from his native state with his brother in about 1897. His brother had to leave Texas because of illness. Mr. Verhalen worked in Stephens county for a year, then made his way to Knox county.

He was married to Mrs. Leon Herchenbach in Henrietta on February 15, 1906.

He was a member of the Catholic church and the Sons of Herman.

Surviving him are his widow; four daughters, Mrs. T. B. Hertel of Munady, Mrs. W. E. Brown of Paris, Ark., Miss Lillian Verhalen of Knox City, and Mrs. W. R. Hertel of Benjamin; one son, M. L. Verhalen of Knox City. One daughter, Pauline, preceded him in death.

Paibearers were H. N. Claus, Hubert Bellinghausen, Eugene Michels, Joe Brown, Matt Krietz, and August Schumacher.

Grasshopper Bait Mixing Station Is Now Operating

Knox county's grasshopper poison bait mixing station is now open and bait may be obtained by contacting County Agent Kenneth O. Lewis. A charge of 25 cents per 100 pounds is being made to take care of expenses incurred by the county.

Grasshopper bait is made available through the cooperative efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, in cooperation with the state and county.

Sodium fluosilicate is now the principal insecticide used for control of grasshoppers and Mormon crickets, and is used in the standard bait formula as follows:

Bran, 100 pounds (1 part by volume.)

Sawdust or hulls (3 parts by volume.)

Sodium fluosilicate, 16 pounds.

Water, 20 to 30 gallons.

Commercial insecticides now recommended by the Extension Service for grasshopper control are:

1. 10 percent chlordane, 40 percent sulphur applied on breeding areas when hatching is complete, at the rate of 10-12 pounds per acre.

2. 10 percent chlordane, 40 percent sulphur applied on breeding areas when hatching is complete and applied as is needed.

3. 3 percent gamma B. H. C. or 3-5-40 mixture.

In order to get the best results and kills and to insure against damage to crops, farmers are urged to begin poisoning early this year.
