Chief Returns From Academy

"I think that the knowledge I gained at the academy will mainly benefit the department in the area of management of our time and resources," Colorado City Police Chief Fred McWhorter said Tuesday.

McWhorter has for the past three months been attending the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy at Quantico, Va., where he, along with about 250 other law officers underwent a rigorous training program in a number of areas of law enforcement.

McWhorter said that he attended classes for eight hours a day during the program and then spent his nights studying.

He stated that while the courses in police management did much to help make him a better law officer, he also learned a lot from the criminal law course which he had to take. He had, as part of the training, to review some 57 supreme court cases.

In addition to these courses, he also had to take and pass courses in collective bargaining, communications, crime scene techniques and investigation, and psychology.

He mentioned the psychology course as particularly interesting and he told of a case that had been brought to the academy during his training.

The instructors at the academy had done a psychological profile of the murderer in a case which was two-years-old and which was considered to be at an end. As a result of the profile, the murderer was apprehended and their profile of him fit almost exactly.

McWhorter said that his experiences at the academy caused him to be proud of the department here because based on the information he gave officials See CHIEF, Page 8

City Guns Down Police Budget

"I really can't say how much the cut is going to affect us yet, we'll just have to wait and see," Colorado City Police Chief Fred McWhorter said Tuesday when asked about his department's cut in the 1979-80 city budget.

The amount which city council has set for the police department in the budget which will go into effect May 1 is $136,670 as compared with a figure of $143,560 for the 1978-79 budget.

McWhorter said some services would probably have to be curtailed somewhat but that all emergency calls would get first priority.

At present there are eight patrolmen on the force including McWhorter. However, two of these are on the CETA program which will end on April 30. McWhorter said that he was going to try to work out a way to keep them but if he couldn't, then of course the force would be cut to six men. This would mean that everyone would be working seven days a week, with no days off and probably no vacations.

Baseball Meeting Monday

A meeting of officials of the Freshmen Little League and Midget League will be held at 7:15 p.m. Monday in the Texas Electric Service Company Reddy Room.

Managers and board members, as well as persons interested in the program, are urged to attend.

Also invited to attend is anyone interested in managing a team as well as a t-ball group.

JACK GREEN (left) received a $15 check Tuesday from Don Stewart, representative of the Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee. Green was the winner of the 1978 cotton bale guessing contest, submitting an estimation of 37,895 bales during the Annual Mitchell County Farm Tour held in September. Total bales produced this year tallied 37,944. Marnie Hargrove submitted the second closest guess in the contest at 38,000. Average estimation was 29,612. For the 1977 bale guessing contest, Green was winner with an estimation of 69,742. Some 71,421 bales were produced in 1977.

Benson Reports Results From Ag Demonstrations

Results of agricultural demonstrations conducted in Mitchell County during 1978 were below average due to limited growing conditions.

Bob Benson, County extension agent, noted that "many of the demonstrations were far below the normal yields that we would expect." Lack of moisture was the main reason Benson cited for the decrease in yields.

Average rainfall for Colorado City is 19.6 inches. During 1978, data obtained from the Texas Electric Service Company Morgan Creek Power Plant indicated that 17.07 inches of rain fell. The most rain—5.89 inches—was received during May.

Benson noted that although the amount of rain received during 1978 was not markedly under the average, the moisture came at the wrong times for good growing conditions.

"Cotton production in Mitchell County was cut about 50 per cent from 1977," said Benson. Lack of underground moisture to begin the crop was extremely detrimental.

This year, however, Benson said that "the prospects are excellent" for the cotton crop.

"Fertilizer dealers in the county are reporting more fertilizer being applied than ever before," said Benson.

In the 1978 Mitchell County agricultural demonstration report, 16 demonstration results are contained.

Demonstrations carried out in the county included:

—Cost of production demonstration on cotton by Don Latimer.

—Dryland cotton variety demonstration by Wayne Oliver.

—Dryland cotton variety demonstration by Billy Cornutt.

—Dryland cotton variety demonstration by Bob and Whit Holman.

—Irrigated cotton variety demonstration by Kenneth Merket.

—Dryland grain sorghum variety demonstration by Bob and Whit Holman.

—Dryland grain sorghum variety demonstration by Don Latimer.

—Dryland cotton variety demonstration by Billy Cornutt.

—Integrated insect pest management, countywide.

—Boll weevil pheromone trap demonstration, countywide.

—Cotton systemic insecticide demonstration by Gerry Ritchey.

—Bollworm population prediction demonstration, countywide.

—Avitrol control on sparrow birds demonstration by Jimmy Kelley.

—Rabon insecticide demonstration on beef

The musical opened last night and, as expected, received fantastic approval from a packed house. The cast is hoping for more of the same as they make plans to put on another magnificent performance tonight (Thursday) when the curtain rises promptly at 8 p.m. The show will continue on Friday and Saturday nights and there will be four more performances next week, also on Wednesday through Saturday nights, April 4-7.

Tickets for "Oklahoma," are $3.50 per person and may be reserved by phoning 728-3491 or by going by the Playhouse which will be open from 1-8 p.m. today through Saturday, from 1-5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, April 2-3, and from 1-8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, April 4-7.

Local citizens are encouraged to make their reservations as soon as possible or they will likely miss the chance of a lifetime to see this unforgettable Rodgers and Hammerstein musical.

The immensely talented cast of the production includes the following performers—Diana Davenport, Chris Hubbard, Bill Martin, Quin Thornburg, Nell Holman, Greg Chaney, Porter Richardson, Elaine Fugate, Tandy Curlee and Mac McKinnon.

The play takes place in Marlborough House, in London, England, in 1936. The time span covered in the play is from 1936-1945.

According to Charlotte Northcutt, director of the production, the play revolves around the Duke of Windsor at the time he was courting and married the American woman "Wally" Simpson.

There are nine parts to be cast in the play which include the following:

ham, a 20-40-year-old woman.

Bicycler Comes Through C-City

Scott MacGillivray of Carpinteria, California, bicycled through Colorado City recently on his way from California to the east coast. He plans to go into Canada and go back to Carpinteria, California.

He estimated that this bicycle trip would take him approximately 10 to 12 thousand miles and would take somewhere around seven months to complete. He started three weeks ago and has traveled 1,370 miles as of Tuesday.

The 23-year-old came through Colorado City because it is on the Lone Star Bicycle Route.

He graduated from college in September and began saving for the trip. He took four weeks to prepare for the trip and changed a 10 speed bicycle into a 15 speed modified bicycle.

He stays in camp grounds and occasionally in a motel.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin - After months of tedious and sometimes mind-boggling work, the Texas House of Representatives this week gave final approval to legislation implementing the voter-mandated 1978 Tax Relief Amendment.

Passage of the bill-HB 1060-came after three days of debate over the legislation's major provisions.

Texas voters approved the Tax Relief Amendment in November and automatically got a $5,000 homestead exemption from school district property taxes.

The legislation sets aside more than $400 million for state payment to local school districts to replace tax revenues lost because of various exemptions created by the bill.

The legislation would also:

-Add another $10,000 homestead exemption for the disabled and those over 65, and would freeze school taxes for the elderly for the rest of their lives.

-Exempt two cars or light trucks for each family from property taxes, and the state would reimburse an estimated $17 million to local school districts because of tax dollars lost in 1979 due to the exemption.

-Exempt intangibles-stocks, bonds, and bank accounts-from measurements of a school district's total wealth.

-Keep state spending at levels equal to the percentage of growth of Texans' personal income each year.

-Set up methods of taxing farm, timber and ranch land on the basis of its productivity rather than its market value.

The omnibus tax bill now heads for the Senate where committee hearings on the House members' work will begin soon.

Initiative & Referendum

Late last week, after hours and hours of testimony before the Senate Jurisprudence Committee, a constitutional amendment giving voters initiative and referendum powers got only two votes-one from a conservative and one from a liberal.

The seven other members of the committee decided the whole issue was too hot to handle and sent it packing to a subcommittee where most Capitol observers expect it to sit quietly out of the way while the Legislature goes about the business of the 66th session.

So, despite the fact that Gov. Bill Clements has called initiative and referendum the foundation of his "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," the issue appears to be stuck on the sidelines and indefinitely out of action.

Is this a victory for Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby-Clements' chief adversary in the Legislature? Probably. Hobby, the man at the tiller in the Senate, has sounded his outright opposition to adding any more levers to the already complicated and delicately balanced machinery of democracy.

What would initiative and referendum powers mean? It would mean voters could pass laws at the local level, constitutional amendments that applied state-wide, and voters could also strike down laws already on the books.

Simply stated, voters would be able to get a proposed law or constitutional amendment on the ballot by rounding up a certain percentage of signatures of those who voted in the most recent elections. The ballot box and voting booth would become an even more important part of the lawmaking process.

But critics of the idea point out that it is difficult to verify signatures on petitions, and go on to ask: "How many times would you have to vote on the same issue?"

Local officials registering their opposition at the senate hearing said elections are costly for school districts to hold. Initiative and referendum powers would give voters on the local level an accessible tool in lowering taxes. That has school board members worried in light of tax cuts that have already been mandated and by further tax base reductions that loom ahead.

At issue for some critics of initiative and referendum powers is not the public's ability to decide wisely on an issue, but whether or not voters will have at their disposal all sides of the question before making a decision.

One witness before the senate committee hearing testimony on initiative and referendum powers pointed out that a single minute of advertising on prime-time television costs almost a thousand dollars. Ad time on radio approaches $200 a minute. Some fear only the rich and economically powerful will be equipped and financially armed to get their side of the issue before the public.

Over minor issues, there are already examples where large corporations have been able to use the electronic media to bend the public's opinion, almost against its will.

The Governor

An idea posed more than a month ago by Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, suddenly has the backing of Gov. Bill Clements.

The idea is a single-year state budget instead of the traditional two-year spending plan drawn up by the Legislature when it meets in regular session every two years.

A one-year state budget may be needed because of an unpredictable economy. The uncertainty over predicted states sales tax revenues-the source of 40 per cent of the state's income-may have forced Clements into Jones' (and Hobby's) corner.

If the Legislature decides to write only a one-year budget, that means a special session will be in order.

Clements was quick to point out that he thought a one-year budget fit the situation the first time around but that he was absolutely opposed to annual sessions of the Legislature.

Clements this week also signed a $2.4 million appropriations bill to keep afloat the idea of a superport off the coast of Texas. And the governor said he hasn't made up his mind yet about whether he is for or against raising the home loan interest rate from 10 to 12 per cent.

Everyone, probably even the governor, is waiting to see what the interest rates will do on their own before tinkering with the law.

Clements told teachers this week he favors the 5.1 per cent pay increase suggested by the Legislative Budget Board for all state employees (including teachers), but the governor reiterated his hope that automatic step increases will be done away with. The 3.2-4.9 yearly pay hikes for teachers were mandated by state law in 1949. Clements prefers pay raises based on merit, rather than those based primarily on experience.

Colorado Middle School Chatter

For the last few days Colorado Middle School students have been taking achievement tests. We took them on the mornings of Thursday and Friday the 22nd and 23rd and on Tuesday and Wednesday the 27th and 28th of March.

Each student was assigned a testing room and reported to these rooms each of the set days. Tests were scheduled for about an hour and a half each day.

Teresa Gorham

This week in eighth grade home economics, the students have been studying about their kitchens. The kitchens are each supplied with bowls, cups, saucers, plates and utensils. The students were taught how to use their utensils and other objects correctly. The use of the range was also shown correctly. In a few days the students will prepare their first dish.

Kerry Spivey

The cast of the Colorado City Opera House presentation of "Oklahoma" includes two Middle School students. The two are eighth graders, Mickie Palmer and Ron Potts.

Betty Holder, the Middle School Choir Director, will be playing the piano.

The Colorado Middle School Chatter Staff want to wish these students and Mrs. Holder the best of luck; and as the old theatrical saying goes, "break a leg."

Dear Pep:
I have a problem. If I don't like a boy and he asks me to go with him and I say no, then he asks someone else. I get jealous. Why is this?

Confused

Dear Confused:
Well, it seems as though you want him to pay attention to you and no one else. So, for the time being, let him be with whom he wants to be with.

Dear Pep:

I like this boy very much. He is my ex-boyfriend. Should I flirt with him and take chances of losing him or should I leave him alone and play hard to get.

Undecided

Dear Undecided:
Don't you take chances on anything. Leave the chances to "ex."

Dear Pep:
I'm going with this girl that I'm really crazy about. My problem is that it seems as though she doesn't like me because every time I see her she's talking with another guy as if she's going with him instead of me. Do you think I should quit her or not?

Unsigned

Dear Unsigned:
The advice is up to you, not to me. First of all find out if she likes you and then ask yourself if you like her. Now, you take it from here. Good luck.

Dear Pep:
I have this friend who acts big. She used to be kind and nice, but somewhere along the way she changed. When my other friend and I want to talk by ourselves, she just comes along like we want her to know what we're talking about. Other times when we act crazy, she'll copy us. That really bothers me. Once and a while we have talks about what we don't like about each other. That doesn't do any good. She'll just be the same. What can I do?

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:
Has it occurred to you that your No. 3 friend hasn't been getting any attention and is trying to gain some?

Patricia (Pep) Holguin

The Colorado Middle School Band will be going to contest Friday the 30th of March. The band will be traveling to the Cisco Junior College campus in Cisco, Texas. The Middle School band will be the first band to perform after the lunch break.

They will perform two numbers: "Spartans of Tomorrow" and "Salute to Brahms." After performing the two numbers they will go into a sight reading room and try their luck at sight reading.

We will be returning home around 9 p.m. Read the chatter next week and find out how we came out.

Teresa Gorham

sparrows were "causing health hazard to household and barn areas." Also, the birds were eating young vegetable plants.

To control the problem, Avitrol was mixed at the rate of one pound to nine pounds of chicken scratch. Bait was placed in areas such as rafters where the birds were roosting and on the ground.

April 22, 1978, the mixture was applied and excellent control was reported on April 28, 1978. Cost of the bait was about $1.25 to $1.50 per pound for the final mixture.

Besides the Avitrol control demonstration, 11 demonstrations were conducted in the area of cotton, two demonstrations regarding grain sorghum, one demonstration on beef cattle and one demonstration on pecans.

According to the report, varieties included in the cotton demonstrations contain new strains just released by research and some which will be released in the near future.

Cotton varieties having a high tolerance to fusarium wilt and nematode damage have been promising over the past several years, according to the report.

Concerning the grain sorghum demonstrations, several greenbug varieties were tested and look very good. Benson noted that the insect population across the county was lower than it had been in previous years. Boll weevils did not cause problems in the cotton fields this year, Benson said, due to the dry weather.

For 1979, about the same number of demonstrations will be conducted across the county.

Results of the 1979 demonstrations will be viewed by participants in the Annual Mitchell County Farm Tour to be held in August.

Information contained in the 1978 agricultural demonstrations report was compiled by Benson, the Mitchell County crops committee, the Mitchell County livestock committee and the Mitchell County pest management board.

UPS Applies For Intra-State Service

United Parcel Service has filed for authority to provide intra-state service in Texas, thereby possibly forcing TEX-PACK Express, Inc., out of business.

UPS has applied for a permit through the Texas Railroad Commission. A decision will be made later this year.

Currently, UPS—a national firm based in Connecticut—has authority to provide interstate service to points in Texas. Now it has filed for authority to provide service between points in Texas.

According to Jack Kahler, local TEX-PACK agent, if the application is granted to UPS, the Texas operation will probably be forced out of business.

Kahler noted that TEX-PACK began in Colorado City in 1971.

"The amount of freight has picked up quite a bit since the beginning," said Kahler.

When TEX-PACK first started in Colorado City, there was a limit of 50 pounds per waybill. Now it is 100 pounds per waybill.

If UPS is granted the application to begin intra-state service, the cost will probably be a little higher for the individual customer than with TEX-PACK, according to a comparison survey.

For UPS, there is a $2 per week pickup charge while the pickup and delivery charge for TEX-PACK is included in the rate.

Minimum charge for TEX-PACK is $1.60 for a one pound shipment, regardless of the number of packages in the shipment. For UPS, charge will be 84c for each package shipped.

"If the authority sought by UPS is granted, local businessmen will be put out of business," said Charles Lynch of Lubbock, general manager of O&A TEX-PACK Express, Inc., which operates in the area. "The ultimate result will be that citizens in various parts of the state may no longer be able to ship small packages to and from their communities at low costs."

Lynch noted that if the authority is granted to UPS, big shippers will be the beneficiaries and occasional shippers in small towns will be the big losers. He said that TEX-PACK is able to serve hundreds of small communities only because of its overall system revenues.

Comprising the livestock committee are L. S. Girvin, (chairman), Dink Rees, Bobby Northcutt, Curtis Latimer, Travis Branch, Jack Bowen, Joe Maddox, Morris Hammond, Frank Brownfield, J. W. Schlee, Dennis Moore and Lee Roy Cornutt.

Pest management board members are D. M. Smith, president; Curtis Shaw, vice president; Alton Raschke, secretary-treasurer; Rex McKenney, director at large and Ronnie Feastor, director at large.

Hospital Board Approves Conversion To Computer

After hearing a lengthy presentation by a representative of Shared Medical Systems of Dallas, the Mitchell County Hospital Board passed a motion Tuesday night to convert its business records from the present manual system to computers.

At the beginning of the meeting, hospital administrator Charles Root recommended that the board consider the computer system. He stated that the hospital was having severe problems keeping up with the volume of records and financial reports necessary for its operation.

Root went on to say that it wasn't feasible for a hospital with less than 300 beds to have an inhouse computer and that was why he had investigated the possibility of going with a shared computer system.

Bob Flippen, a representative of Shared Medical Systems, then made a presentation in which he went into detail about the benefits and costs of going with his company.

Flippen said that when the company was formed in 1969, its founders saw the market potential of setting up a system in which small hospitals would have access to a shared computer setup. He said that now his company served 528 hospitals ranging in size from 50 beds to 1,700 beds and that through the use of rented telephone lines they were connected to a huge computer center in Philadelphia.

Flippen presented the board a cost proposal for the systems. This included one time costs of a $2,000 installation fee, $1,250 for other equipment installation, freight, etc., $250 for the purchase of other supplies and $500 for the purchase of three viewers which are optional to the system.

The proposal gave estimated monthly costs of operating the system as about $3,000. This figure included the following estimated costs for services each month—census and inpatient billing, $1,100; outpatient billing, $200; accounts receivable, $100; accounts payable, $200; payroll, $140; general ledger and financial reporting, $300; equipment, line costs, maintenance, $900.

Flippen went on to say that some of these costs would be offset by productivity increases and by revenue increases. He finally added, "I'm convinced you should do something to modernize your business records, if not with us then with someone else."

After some discussion, the board passed a motion to accept the proposal of Shared Medical Systems and begin the process of putting their records on the computer. It was hoped that this changeover could be completed by the beginning of the next fiscal year on Oct. 1. In other matters, the board passed a motion to accept a bid by Higginbotham Bartlett Company for the purchase of maintenance supplies for one year.

Motions were also passed for the purchase of a blood cell counter for $3,263.25 and to accept a bid by Aetna Life and Casualty Insurance Company for an employees deferred compensation plan. A committee made up of Bob Reilly, Herbert Mearse and Charles Root was named to work out the details for this plan.

As a final matter on the agenda, Business Manager George Witten presented the monthly financial report which showed that in February the hospital had operating revenues of $177,708 as compared with January revenues of $160,244 and February, 1978 revenues of $132,468.

Root Memorial Hospital in February, 1979 and total operating expenses of $167,838. When this figure is subtracted from the revenue figure given previously, it gives the hospital an operating profit for February of $9,870. In January the hospital had operating expenses of $171,704 and an operating loss of $11,460.

Root Hospital admitted 170 patients in February. This was the same number as were admitted in January and is 22 more than the 148 admitted in February, 1978.

South Plains Farm Show Is To Open In Lubbock

Doors will open April 5 at 10 a.m. in the Memorial Civic Center for the 2nd Annual South Plains Farm Show and Invitational Tractor Pull which promises to be the largest exhibition of farm and ranch equipment and supplies ever assembled in the area.

Millions of dollars of tractors, tools, buildings, seeds, supplies and other items used by crop and livestock producers will be on exhibit, both indoors and outside the Center exhibit hall, according to R. B. Allen, Executive Vice President, Southwest Hardware & Implement Association, sponsors.

"This will be our largest show for Lubbock," Allen said. "It's all free and we'll give away thousands of dollars worth of door prizes each day to those who register at the door."

The Farm Show will be open for three days through Saturday and will close each day at 6 p.m.

Allen pointed out that a series of exciting special events have been planned in connection with the Farm Show.

A 4x4 truck and tractor pull will be in the Municipal Coliseum on April 6 & 7 beginning at 7 p.m. All seats are reserved for the hot rod pulls and may be purchased at the Coliseum ticket office, Hemphill Wells or Furr's Family Center.

A Farm Forum is set for the Civic Center Banquet Hall April 5 to begin at 10:15 a.m. Dr. Ron Knutson, Texas A&M Extension specialist in economics and governmental policy, and Tom Benson, President, Federal Land Bank, will discuss "Money for the Farmer—Where will it come from; Where will it go!" There is no charge for the forum.

Thursday afternoon, homemakers from around the area will model personal creations of cotton, wool and mohair in the 2nd annual Natural Fibers Fashion Revue. It begins at 2 p.m. in the Center theatre.

Stockholders Meeting In Houston

Representing the Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado City at the 34th Annual Stockholders meeting in Houston was A. Kenneth Smith of Snyder.

The meeting was attended by members of 64 Federal Land Bank Associations in Texas.

Thomas H. Benson, president, in his report to the stockholders, noted that there was an increasing demand for new loans in 1978. This was the second largest year in the bank's history with $245.5 million in loans and it appears that the demand for loans will continue.

"In this time of historic highs in interest rates, the advantages of the variable rate loans is apparent to the farmers and ranchers of Texas," Benson said.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long-term loans on farms and ranches and currently has 35,020 loans for about $1.5 billion outstanding.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado City makes and services loans in this area.

Colorado City Receives Less Sales Tax Payment

Colorado City has suffered a 57 per cent decrease in payment for 1979 in contrast to 1978 for city sales and use tax allocation.

Payments to date for 1979 - total $15,364.32 while payments to date for 1978 tally $35,766.55. Last period-for the month of January-Colorado City did not receive any payment.

The reason for the non-payment in January and reduced payment for February was that a large Colorado City taxpayer had been paying taxes on non-taxable items.

During the audit, the error-totalling about $14,000-was discovered and the money was refunded.

In order to pay the state comptroller's office the $14,000, January's city sales and use tax allocation of $7,600 was paid back. The balance of $6,314.32 was deducted from the February payment.

Acting City Manager Brenda Tarter noted that the budget will not be affected too greatly by the decrease in sales tax rebates.

"Our anticipated funds for state sales tax will still hit pretty close," said Mrs. Tarter.

Suzanne Knight, State President for Texas Future Homemakers of America, says that homemakers can be "bachelors, parents, working men and women and elderly people living by themselves. Everyone is a homemaker."

With an emphasis on consumer education, family life, and explorations in career fields, FHA chapters help young men and women prepare for their responsibilities as parents and adult citizens. Students are encouraged to participate in local, area, state and national programs designed to promote leadership, self-confidence, motivation and communication.

Knight adds that "Homemaking is not just cooking and sewing; it is caring for children, managing families, and good consumerism." "Opportunities Unlimited" is designed to promote this new image of the homemaker as a vital role in today's society.

The Texas Association is sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, Austin. Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith is the State Director of Home-making Education and Mrs. Betty Romans is the State Advisor of the Texas Association.

High school homemaker teachers and members of the state homemaker education staff serve as advisors to the local chapters and the area, state and national associations.

Edens To Escort Club Group On Tour

Rev. and Mrs. Davis Edens of Stanton, pastor of First United Methodist Church, have announced plans to escort a travel group on a Mediterranean jet cruise pilgrimage to the Holy Lands July 29-August 10, 1979.

The 13-day adventure to six countries and four Greek isles was designed under the auspices of Meier International Study League, Inc., (MISL) a firm headquartered in Hurst, Texas and specializing in Middle Eastern travel.

The Edens and their group will be participating in one of seven Holy Land cruises designed by MISL and scheduled during June or July and August. Traveling on the deluxe cruise ship Victoria, the group will visit Greece, Egypt, Israel, Italy and Yugoslavia, plus Turkey, Rhodes, Patmos, Crete and Santorini.

The itinerary has been especially designed to follow the life of Christ and retrace the best of the Journeys of Paul. Noted scholars from a variety of faiths and institutions will accompany the group to deliver optional lectures on the Biblical, archaeological and historical significance of the cities and sites on the itinerary. Graduate and undergraduate credit will be available.

"We are especially pleased to have again secured the magnificent ship Victoria for our 1979 jet cruise pilgrimages to the Holy Lands. Staffed by an international crew, the ship may boast of consistently superior accommodations with more than 90 per cent of the staterooms being outside cabins. The Victoria's six decks, which are serviced by three elevators, include a cinema, a ballroom, a balconied dining room, sun decks, two swimming pools and sports deck," said Dr. David Meier, president of MISL.

"The Victoria is newer, faster and three times the size of any previous MISL ship. The superior ship, the itinerary we've perfected during the past seven summers and the scholars who add another dimension to our cruises will make our 1979 jet cruise pilgrimages the best yet," said Dr. Meier.

The package price is from $1,700 and includes all meals, round-trip transportation, sight-seeing tours, all accommodations, cruise ship passage, regular lecture-study program, transfers, portage a Jerusalem hotel, and travel with professionals.

For further information and a free brochure, contact Rev. and Mrs. Davis Edens, P.O. Box 426, Stanton, Texas 79782.

"A clean filter can save on your electric bill, so I check mine once a month."

At Texas Electric, where I work, our job is to provide you with the electricity you need. But higher construction and fuel costs are making it more expensive to do.

I can tell just by looking at my electric bill. One thing I do at home is to keep a check-list right on my heating/air-conditioning unit. I have the months listed, and every time I clean the filter I check off that month—so I make sure I check it at least once a month. I couldn't remember it otherwise, and it's important.

A dirty filter limits the air flow through there—and that uses more energy.
