UNITED PRESS SERVICE BRINGS LATE NEWS OF THE WORLD TO TIMES READERS

RANGER, TEXAS, SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 28, 1934

An Omaha women's claim for a $50,000 legacy rests on the word "happiness." But many suits for larger amounts rest on the word "promise."

Plans are Completed for The President's Ball

ENROLLMENT IN R. J. C. IS INCREASING

Fifty additional students have enrolled in Ranger Junior College for the second semester, and it is expected that others will enroll Monday. The total enrollment for the present session is 89 students. While this is somewhat lower than the enrollment for last year, the college is enjoying a very successful year.

H. S. Von Roeder, Dean, who made a recent study of Texas colleges, a report of which is contained in the last issue of "The Texas Outlook," found the enrollment in the private and denominational junior colleges in Texas decreased an average of 22 percent with the last biennium, while the enrollment of state supported colleges of the junior colleges of Texas increased slightly. However, most Texas colleges suffered a decrease in enrollment for the present session, no doubt due to the fact that more people were unable to send their boys and girls to college because of having suffered from the effects of one more year of depression and because economic conditions were still in somewhat chaotic condition.

When the fall term opened locally, a part of the drop in enrollment for Ranger Junior College is accounted for by the fact that more rigid regulations regarding financial arrangements to cover the tuition and fees for attending the college were put into effect. However, a large percentage of out-of-town students are enrolled in Ranger Junior College than ever before. Among those enrolling many come from nearby towns, Galand, Gorman, Carbon, Desdemona, Olden, Straun, Breckenridge, Albany, etc., while several come from more distant points in Texas, such as Lockhart, Seminole, Brownfield, Waco, and other places. Three students from other states are enrolled, namely, New Mexico, Kansas and Iowa.

Thus, Ranger Junior College is gradually receiving more and more widespread recognition. Plans are being formulated for offering a more extensive course of study and for securing another big increase in enrollment next year.

Ranger Junior College had the highest increase in enrollment of any other college in the state last year. Ranger also secured the highest rating that any college may attain in Texas, that of a first class unconditional junior college, by the state department of education, the Association of Texas Colleges and Universities, and the American Association of Junior Colleges.

The courses offered the second semester in Ranger Junior College are: plane and spherical trigonometry; analytical geometry; English composition and rhetoric; a survey course in English literature, a course in elementary methods of management, methods and management in American government, college typewriting, stenography, and typing, two years in French, and two years in Spanish. All who wish to take courses the second semester are urged to enroll at once.

For information regarding tuition charges and other details, call on or phone C. C. Davis, Registrar, R. F. Holloway, President, or H. S. Von Roeder, Dean.

We invite candidate announcements in the Times, both daily and weekly, which assures them complete coverage of voters in this voting locality. The price for this service this year will be $10 for precinct announcements; $15 for county offices; $15 for the legislature, $10 for Congress.

RANGERS SEEK A 'CONFIDENCE' GAG WORKER

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27.—State rangers today sought a "confidence" man believed to have worked in this vicinity for the last several months, whose latest trick was to fleece a prominent Fort Worth independent oil dealer out of $2,250.

The method employed by the confidence man, rangers said, was the old money machine racket by which the oil dealer was induced to withdraw money from the bank to manufacture other currency. With the money in his possession, the confidence man went for a sandwich. He has not returned.

The incident occurred several weeks ago and rangers have been working quietly, believing him to be one who worked a similar game on a West Texas rancher here last fall.

Woolly Windham, terrific young puncher from Breckenridge, was signed for a six round fight against Smitty Smith, Cisco, on the card next Monday night at the Elks club.

Roosevelt Has Power to Correct Mail Inequalities

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Full power to correct inequalities and abuses in air and ocean mail subsidy contracts such as have been revealed by senate investigation, is possessed by President Roosevelt.

In the bustle of emergency programs which has marked the new deal even Mr. Roosevelt had overlooked a paragraph in the 1933 independent office appropriations bill which armed him with the authority.

Ft. Worth Teacher Resigns After Alleged Padding

GRAPEVINE, Texas, Jan. 27.—Miss Miriam Lumpkin of Dallas teacher in the public schools here, resigned today after relatives of J. E. Huffman, 11, had complained to the school board the teacher had whipped the boy with a wood paddle until "he was black and blue."

Mary Pickford Is Guarded By Police

FALMOUTH, Mass., Jan. 27.—Mary Pickford arrived in this town today with a police escort, but she denied she was being guarded because of a mysterious letter which she received in Boston.

She declined to discuss the reason for her special police escort. Meanwhile, in Boston, it became known the police escort was assigned after a mysterious and crudely addressed letter had been delivered to her at the hotel.

One report, entirely without confirmation, was the letter demanded a large sum of money.

MORATORIUM BILL WRITTEN FOR SESSION

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—Feb. 10, 1936 is the maximum date for operation of the new moratorium against forced farm and real estate sales provided in a bill prepared today for submission to the special session convening at noon Monday.

The new law follows the Minnesota statute, whose validity has been upheld by the United States supreme court.

Governor Ferguson entrusted drafting the bill to Secretary of State W. W. Heath, who has made a study of the supreme court decision in the Minnesota case.

The new bill differs from the Greathouse moratorium act of the regular session, effectiveness of which has expired.

The bill the governor will send to the legislature with her message provides when an attempt is made to sell property on a deed of trust, the owner may apply to the court, asserting such sale will work injustice. The district court then orders a hearing and no sale can be made without court order.

The Greathouse authorized a 180 day stay of sale on affidavit without hearing.

Home Hygiene And First Aid Classes Will Be Organized

Mrs. Schuman, district field representative of the National Red Cross, J. E. Spencer, Eastland county chairman for the Red Cross and Mrs. W. D. Conway, Mrs. R. H. Hodges, Miss Beulah Boles and B. H. Peacock, met in the office of the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon and discussed plans of the organization and for the establishment of first aid and home hygiene classes under CWA and Red Cross supervision.

A committee composed of Mrs. Conway, chairman, and Mrs. Bob Norman, Mrs. L. H. Flewellen and Mrs. Roy Jameson was selected to cooperate with the Red Cross and the CWA in establishing the classes.

Mrs. Schuman pointed out that the Red Cross had been so busily engaged in distributing government flour and clothing in the past that little time had been available for the regular program of the organization, but (with the distribution completed) the work could be pushed more in the future.

Miss Boles, who is a registered Red Cross nurse, has been conducting the classes twice a week for the past few weeks and it is hoped that enough can be registered to have it included in the federal adult school courses being offered. Demonstrations in home hygiene, including care of the sick, making of bandages, sterilization of instruments, application of bandages, food values, diet and nutrition will be included in the courses offered. These classes are now being conducted at the high school building from 7:30 to 9:30 five nights a week and anyone interested in the subjects offered can register for the instruction.

It is hoped that a membership of at least 30 can be obtained for the night classes and if enough are interested afternoon classes will also be organized.

B. H. Peacock was appointed to contact the doctors of the city and see if he could secure one of them to conduct classes in first aid, which will be taught free of charge to CWA workers or to others who might care to attend the classes.

Home Making Classes Being Taught Daily

Mrs. B. H. Peacock is conducting classes in home making at the Church of God, Hodges Oak Park school and the Cooper school, one class being held each afternoon and an additional class on Friday morning.

Subjects for discussion will be: Clothing for Women, Selection of Clothing, Individuality of Dress, Machine Sewing and Well Dressed Women, according to the demand for the subjects.

The schedule for the classes is as follows:

Church of God, Straun road, Wednesday and Friday, 2:30 to 5. Hodges Oak Park, Monday and Thursday, 2:30 to 5. Cooper, Tuesday, 1:30 to 4 and 8:30 to 11 a. m.

Pay Poll Tax By February 1 Allred Warns

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—James V. Allred, attorney general, in a statement warned Texans qualified to vote that they would be disenfranchised should they fail to pay their poll taxes by Feb. 1.

"Propaganda is being circulated over the state that citizens need not pay their poll taxes now because the legislature will likely extend the period for paying them," Allred states. "Evidently this is being put out by certain cliques for the purpose of disenfranchising citizens of this state who fail to pay their poll taxes before Feb. 1. I am informed that this is seriously cutting down the number of voters registering all over the state.

"The constitution requires poll taxes to be paid by Feb. 1. The legislature cannot change the time of payment because it is fixed in the constitution."

New Comic Feature Will Start Monday; Here Are Principals

This is Alley Oop, the comical, pre-historic gentleman whose trials and tribulations in the dark ages, is the subject of the latest comic strip, which will begin in this paper Monday, Jan. 29. Alley Oop has been gaining such favor over the country that this paper will run them in the future so the people of this section can enjoy his antics.

And this is Foxy, Alley Oop's pal and side kick, who helps him out of many of the scrapes into which Alley falls. The pair have a pet dinosaur, which they captured and trained, and which gets them into and out of trouble almost daily. You will enjoy Foxy's queer talk along with the other features of the strip.

Here is King Guzzle, mogul of Moo, the pre-historic country in which these characters live. Old King Guz is the sworn enemy of Alley, but the famous trained pet dinosaur, which is Alley's pet, is enough to keep the king in constant fear of Alley, except on occasions.

Queen Umpeede, wife of King Guzzle, and at time friend of Alley because he is the owner of Dinny the dinosaur, and a hero in the country of Moo leads King Guzzle a hectic life and is the real ruler of the kingdom as well as King Guzzle.

Last, but by no means least, as far as Alley Oop is concerned, is Ooola, the heroine who has designs on Alley and hopes to make him ruler of the land of Moo before long. She, Alley and Foxy are steadfast friends and have many wild and exciting adventures together. She possesses a baby dinosaur, captured and tamed by Alley, which he presented to her.

Watch for these characters in this paper each day beginning next Monday. After a few days you too, will become an Alley Oop fan.

Administrator Harry Hopkins announced the move was two-fold. He said it was intended to promote efficiency on the local undertakings, for which the government had provided money and to stop grafting of politically appointed officials who have turned their jobs to mercenary ends.

Hopkins made it clear appointment of an army engineer to any locality did not imply there had been graft there.

BRUNK'S BAND WILL PLAY FOR THE OCCASION

Bridge and Square Dance To Be Features For Night of Jan. 30th.

Plans have been completed for the President's Ball, which is to be held in Ranger Tuesday night, Jan. 30, simultaneously with similar affairs which will be held over the entire nation for the purpose of supplying an endowment fund for the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The President's Ball will be not only a ball but a bridge tournament and square dance, too.

Beginning at 8 o'clock a bridge party will be started in the colonial ballroom of the Gholson hotel, sponsored by the ladies of the American Legion auxiliary and the ladies of the Elks lodge. The committee in charge of this affair is composed of Mrs. Pat Downing, A. P. Shirey, J. D. McClister, Wade Swift, D. W. Johnson, T. A. Tane and Charles Surbrook. Anyone who purchases a ticket for the ball will be entitled to attend the bridge instead of the ball or square dance if he prefers.

At the same time the bridge function begins, the square dance will start at the American Legion hall. A regular square dance orchestra, composed of old time fiddlers will play for the square dance, which has been arranged by Wade Swift, Pat Downing and D. W. Johnson. A regular President's Ball ticket will entitle the holder to take part in the square dance.

The ball proper will begin at the Elks clubrooms at 9 o'clock, with the Brunk's Comedians orchestra furnishing the music. This orchestra is furnishing its services at the ball free of charge, their offer being accepted when they agreed to play for the occasion. This is a good dance orchestra and will furnish music equal to, or better, than that could have been secured at considerable expense.

A feature of the ball will be a program by the American Legion Tickville band under the direction of Dr. Harry A. Logsdon. The band will be in full regalia for the occasion.

One ticket, which costs only $1 will admit anyone to either or all of the three functions planned. By presenting the ticket at the door the holder can visit any one of the affairs, or may make the rounds and take in all, it was stated Saturday by the committee in charge.

Tickets can be obtained Monday or Tuesday at the office of the chamber of commerce, or they will be on sale at the doors by the tickets takers at the Legion Hall, Colonial ballroom or the Elks clubrooms after 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

The New Ideas Department

By Mrs. Alice D. True, Secretary, Retail Merchants Association
In Union There Is Strength
Again we would continue our discussion of the "High C's" in business; it was Elbert Hubbard who said that the one who can any business is the one who can and will co-operate with others. Men succeed only as they utilize the services and ideas of other men. Organization is the funda- mental basis upon which is erected the structure of success. If pro-notes ambition, creates higher ideas, and inspires us to strive for bigger and greater objectives. We all have hobbies, and the man or woman who is without a hobby has never made a mistake; they never get very far. It is un- deniable that through organization we secure those things which would be utterly impossible through individual efforts. The weakest link in our business meth- ods is often the lack of organiza- tion and co-operation. To the merchant who is afraid of his competitor, he needs organ- ization more than any other. If for no other reason than bringing them into personal contact with each other and becoming better acquainted—to let him see that his competitor is a human being, just as he is. Competition does not destroy trade. It builds trade, and organiza- tion is the foundation which holds together the structure, and in our retail business, is the very life- blood of safe and sane business. Business Today Wants Facts

The rule of "guess" has no place in modern retailing, and the finan- cial streaks of the past, due to un- wise credit extension, are a monu- ment to the folly of the "guess" method. The outstanding successful re- tailers of today are those who have not alone taken the guess out of their own business, but have as- sisted in building organizations to assist fellow merchants, even their competitors. Facts are only ac- quired through research, and re- search is simply a collection of ex- periences, which can be secured only through organization, a unity of minds, a unity of pur- posing. We all want success, but are we willing to pay the price? Capital- ize on the experience of others; it is the cheapest way out. John Wanamaker said: "He need not go over his road in the dark—if he can take with him the light of other men's experience." It is true that in our little city we have some organizations which are worth while, backed by men with ability and the spirit which builds cities and nations, but please let's each one ask our- selves this question: "What kind of organization would ours be, if every member was just like me?" As we are all fighting together to make a success of the New Deal, and for a better and bigger Ran- ger, we would again state that IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH.

KENOSHIA, Wis. — Sixteen years ago next month the troop- ship Tuscania sank off the coast of Ireland with a heavy loss of life. Most of the troops on the ship were from the 32nd division, comprising units in Wisconsin and Michigan. Grov- er J. Rademaker, Marion, Ind., is president of the association.

From Headquarters Goes Behind Scenes In Crime Detection

A revelation of the inner workings of a metropolitan police force in tracking criminals is made in the Warner Bros. newest murder mystery drama, "From Headquarters," featuring George Brent and Margaret Lindsay, which comes to the Columbia theatre today.

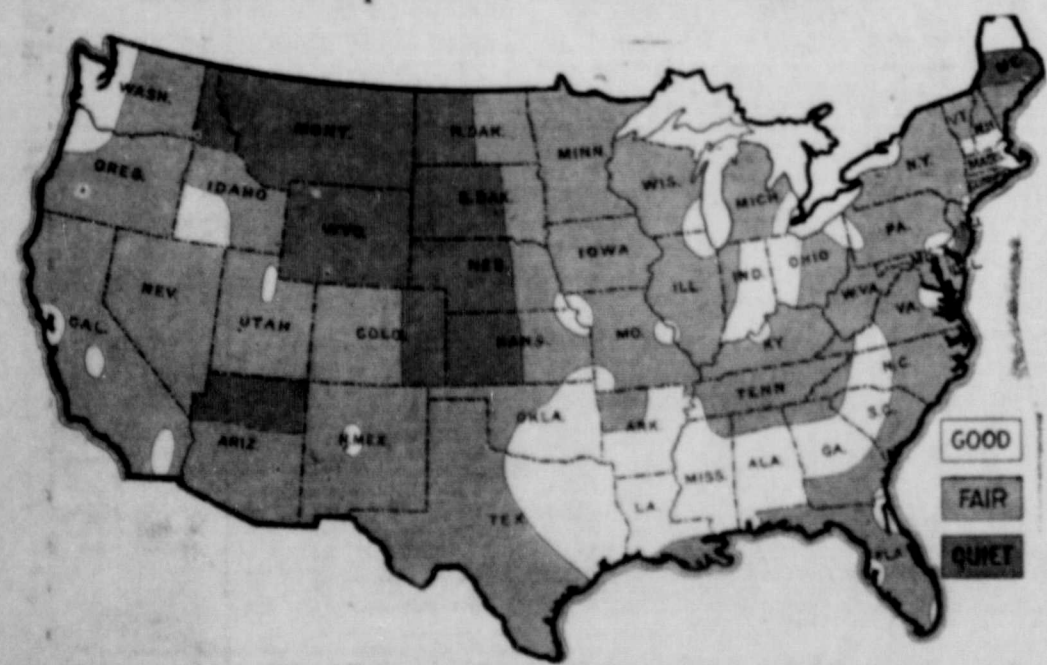

The sketch is of RALPH WALDO EMERSON JUNEAU, the capital in Alaska's largest city. The bridge shown is the CANTILEVER type.

Business Map Shows Trend of Conditions

This map represents business conditions in every state of the Union as shown in February, 1934, issue of "Nations Business," official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

December retail trade was undoubtedly the best in a long time in a number of large cities, holiday trade, helped by public and civic works expenditures, was reported a virtual "sell out."

FRED FRAME—famous racing driver. Winner of Indianapolis Speedway Classic, 1932. Winner of Elgin Stock Car Race, 1933. Holder of twenty-one national and international world's straightaway records.

The NEW FORD V-8

"I PICKED a Ford V-8 for the 1933 Stock Car Race at Elgin and I thought it was a great car when it brought me home in front. It takes a lot of automobile to average 80.22 miles an hour for 200 miles over a course like that.

"When I heard that the 1934 Ford V-8 was even better than the 1933 job I was just a little doubtful. It just didn't seem possible, but I thought I'd find out.

"I could see it was better-looking, but I wasn't much interested in that. The thing a racing driver looks at is the engine. How does it sound? How is it built? How fast will it go? How does it stack-up on gas and oil?

"So I took it out on the road and opened it up. It held the road like a veteran and the way that speedometer touched the top numbers was something to talk about. If I'd had that car in the Elgin race I'd have averaged closer to 90 than 80.

"You can put me down as saying this New Ford V-8 is going to go places in 1934. It's a sweet job all the way through and that new dual carburetion system is going to save you a lot of money on gasoline."

part of "Junie" in this presentation and gives a screamingly funny portrayal of the character. He works opposite Little Dorothy, his sweetheart, in a juvenile team that the audience will love, cry with and laugh at.

Joe Goodwin is "Papa." One of the features will be Bonnie Brunk as "Granny," who gives motherly protection to the prodigal boy, "Hector," played by Everett Evans.

The show, which returns to Ranger better than ever after a six-year absence, carries a concert band and a jazz orchestra. Vaudeville from the "big time" is presented between acts. One of the flashiest musical acts of this sort is given by H. Oton Marr, solo accordion player, who takes the whole gamut, from classics to jazz. "The Century of Nonsense," a straight and eccentric dance and act is another vaudeville treat of the cleverest sort.

The big tent is rain-proof and well heated with five underground furnaces. Seating of the audience and comfort of the spectators is courteously and efficiently supervised.

Prison Break And Man Hunt Scene In "Fugitive Lovers"

All the sensations of a rapid, thrilling cross-country trip are promised by advance reports to audiences at the Arcadia theatre, when "Fugitive Lovers," new M-G-M melodrama, opens here for a two-day engagements, starting Monday.

In addition to authentic scenes shot from a great Greyhound bus as it actually sped from New York to Hollywood, the audience will also see the most daring prison break and thrilling man-hunt ever screened.

A huge "road cruiser" rolls out of its terminal in New York city and, on its first night out, encounters a prison break as it passes a penitentiary. Repeated firing halts the bus. Robert Montgomery, in the role of Porter, leader of the break, manages to climb onto the luggage rack. Later, in clothing stolen from an unlocked bag, he enters as a passenger. Inside, Letty, New York chorine (played by Madge Evans), is repelling the advances of the gangster backer of her erstwhile show. In the role of "Legs" Caffee, the gangster, Nat Pendleton, is trying to force Letty to return with him to Atlantic City.

Porter enters the bus and befriends Letty. "Legs" plots revenge. Then, suspecting Porter to be the man whom the police are hunting, he attempts to aid in his capture.

Montgomery gives an exciting performance in his effort to evade capture and at the same time protect the girl with whom he is in love. Dally, the cold-blooded detective, is played by C. Henry Gordon, ace character actor.

As on any cross-country coach, the bus in "Fugitive Lovers" is filled with variegated passengers, some humorous, some pathetic, Ted Healy is a jolly traveling salesman; his three stooges compose an hilariously funny vaudeville team, and Ruth Selwyn is another interesting passenger.
