Turkey walk pledges sought

Pledge sheets are now being circulated in the city by walkers and runners as plans for the American Heart Association's 10-mile Turkey Walk are finalized.

Pledge forms are available also at all Snyder banks and savings and loan associations and at local schools.

The fund raiser is planned for Nov. 12 — a Saturday — beginning at Snyder Junior High School. Those pledging donations will pay for each mile completed by the participant they are sponsoring.

Prizes are offered to those participating as well with turkeys given to all who turn in at least $100 in pledges. Other prizes range from T-shirts to a 10-speed bicycle and a weekend for two in Dallas.

Further information about the Turkey Walk may be obtained by calling Linda Guerry at 573-0876. Each pledge form contains information about the event also.

Walkers and runners are scheduled to complete their 10-mile effort by 1 p.m. Nov. 12.

Q. — How much chloride does Snyder water have?

A. — The latest report from the state lists the amount of chlorides in treated city drinking water at 64 parts per million gallons. A general recommended level statewide is from 250 to 300 parts per million, making Snyder's water very low in chlorides or salty content when compared to most of the state.

Greyhound strike continues

By The Associated Press

Trailways buses have been filling up with Texas passengers who have had to scramble to find alternate means of transportation because of a strike that has shut down arch-rival Greyhound Lines Inc., officials say.

The picket lines are expected to shut down Greyhound for about a week, the company says. Drivers and other employees struck the company at 1 a.m. Thursday over proposed wage cutbacks.

Trailways, meanwhile, reported an influx of new passengers from Greyhound.

Discuss security measures

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Lebanese leaders met today to review the cease-fire in their country, just hours after an Israeli army post was struck in the latest of a series of devastating suicide car bombings in Lebanon.

The Sept. 26 cease-fire and the issue of internal security had been on an agenda drawn up for the fifth day of the "conference of national reconciliation" before the early morning bombing at Tyre in southern Lebanon and later reports that Israeli warplanes had attacked Syrian and Palestinian targets in Lebanon.

State jobless rate declines

DALLAS (AP) — October unemployment figures reflect a continued upswing by the state's economy as the number of jobless Texans dropped to 7.4 percent, down from 8.5 percent in September and from 8 percent in October 1982, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"From its peak of 9 percent in March of this year, the trend in unemployment has continued downward. July and September's figures rose, but those were just blips in what would otherwise be a nice, steady downward trend," said Nic Santangelo, chief of the bureau's southwest regional office.

The number of jobless fell from 659,000 in September to 571,000 in October. Compared to a year ago, the state has seen significant improvement in the number of employed, up by 329,000. Meanwhile, the number of unemployed has declined by 21,000.

E. German arrested as spy

BOSTON (AP) — The FBI wants to know why an East German physicist, charged with being a spy, was at a scientific conference on vacuum technology where an official said "no one... had any idea who he was."

"That's part of the question we're trying to get the answer to," agent James W. Greenleaf said at an FBI news conference Thursday night, shortly after the arrest in Boston of 44-year-old Alfred Zehe.

Zehe was described as the first East German ever arrested as an intelligence operative in the United States. "We allege he was successful in getting information into a foreign country," Greenleaf said, adding that Zehe had been under investigation for two years.

The FBI said Zehe has been living in Mexico as a resident alien and had been working as an exchange scholar at the University of Puebla. He was among 2,600 people registered at a three-day meeting of the American Vacuum Society, a society official said.

Israel retaliates against bombing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)

— A suicide bomber attacked an Israeli command post in Tyre early today, killing at least 14 Israeli troops, the military command said. Israeli jets swiftly retaliated with two big air strikes on Palestinian positions in the central mountains.

Beirut radio said waves of bombing, strafing jets blasted targets around Sofar and Bhamdoun at midday, then returned to pound the same area in midafternoon.

Private radio stations said the jets made at least 10 bombing sorties that reduced several artillery positions and tank concentrations in the Syrian-controlled central mountains to a smoking wreckage.

Meanwhile, a White House spokesman said President Reagan deplored the truck bomb attack and that the latest violence demonstrates "how far radical elements" will go to disrupt a Middle East peace process.

Spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan was informed of the bomb attack when he awakened. Reagan received a briefing from national security adviser Robert McFarlane before 8 a.m. EST, Speakes said.

Speakes talked to reporters aboard Air Force One while Reagan was en route from Washington to Cherry Point, N.C., for a meeting with the families of Marines killed in Lebanon and Grenada, and to attend a memorial service at nearby Camp Lejeune.

It was the first time the Israeli air force has attacked in Lebanon in 14 months. The Israeli command said the raids were a retaliation for the daybreak bombing near Tyre, 50 miles south of Beirut.

In addition to the dead, the command listed 21 Israelis wounded and 13 missing. Beirut radio said 25 Palestinian and Lebanese prisoners also were killed in the blast.

Responsibility for the bombing was claimed by Islamic Holy War, the same fanatical pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem group that claimed the suicide truck bombings of the Marine and French bases in Beirut Oct. 23 that killed 230 American and 58 French troops.

Meanwhile, Yasser Arafat and his beleaguered Palestine Liberation Organization loyalists continued battling Syrian-backed guerrilla mutineers in camps outside the northern port of Tripoli. Police reported more than 50 dead and 200 wounded in two days of fighting.

It was just over two months ago that Israeli forces pulled out of the central mountains to what they believed would be safer positions in southern Lebanon. But today's truck bombing near Tyre showed how vulnerable the occupation forces were.

CRMWD budget reflects decrease

A 1984 budget just slightly under this year's was approved Thursday by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Expenditures of $11,735,331 in the new budget are $35,459 or .3 of one percent under this year's budget. This almost unheard of decline results not in immunity from inflation, but rather from power cost estimates which did not materialize in 1983 as anticipated.

It is expected in the 1984 budget that electric energy—the primary cost item for operations—will be $5,832,122, which is $254,507 less than budgeted for this year when power companies projected a higher fuel adjustment than was actually the case.

Power companies now have under consideration a request for a base rate increase. O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, told the board that a 25 percent increase in base rate has been calculated into 1984 power projections, plus some fuel adjustment and a small amount for contingencies. This would come out to about 16 percent more than the actual energy costs for 1983.

Of the total budget, $8,206,729 will be for operations, down approximately $65,000 from this year's budget. Pumping expense accounts for $6,448,854 of operations, about $244,000 less than this year. Source of supply expense is pegged at $912,592, up $50,000; administrative and general $690,382, up $94,000 due to addition of an engineer to the staff and some $61,000 more employees benefits mainly in higher medical protection; recreation $154,901, up $14,000 due to more labor and capital equipment.

Debt service, after interest earnings on trust funds are deducted, will cost $1,800,149, or $9,000 less than provided for this year. Required bond coverage will be virtually the same at $270,022.

Directors also included $1,458,431 for helping provide additional water facilities in view of probable Winkler County ground water developments and initial work when the Stacy reservoir permit is cleared.

Revenues of $11,645,331 from sale of about the same volume of water this year, plus $90,000 from recreation permits and leases, will be down from this year's estimates. There will be a slight shift in the source of revenues because Midland, under terms of a rate contract, will be catching up to the Odessa 1983 rate.

United Way at 85 percent

Scurry County United Way continued its final climb to the top Friday as the campaign grew five percent more since the last report session one week ago.

The effort is now 85 percent complete with near $66,000 raised.

Drive officials have said it is now hoped the effort can reach its full $77,300 before Thanksgiving.

Friday's report meeting also prompted considerable discussion on ways to streamline and expand the campaign next year. Greater attention in contacting individuals was stressed.

To finalize the 1983 goal, division chairmen pledged to rework areas where contributions have lagged this year.

In addition, discussion centered around possible "one-time" campaign events to raise the final

Trinity United Methodist observes 30th year

(Editor's note: The following has been submitted by the membership of Trinity United Methodist Church in observance of its 30th anniversary.)

By Christine Killgo

Trinity United Methodist Church will observe its 30th anniversary Sunday. Charter members will be recognized during the 11 a.m. service and a Thanksgiving dinner will be served at noon.

The Rev. B.W. Lewis organized the church July 29, 1953 in the auditorium of Travis Junior High. Dr. Orin W. Carter delivered the first sermon.

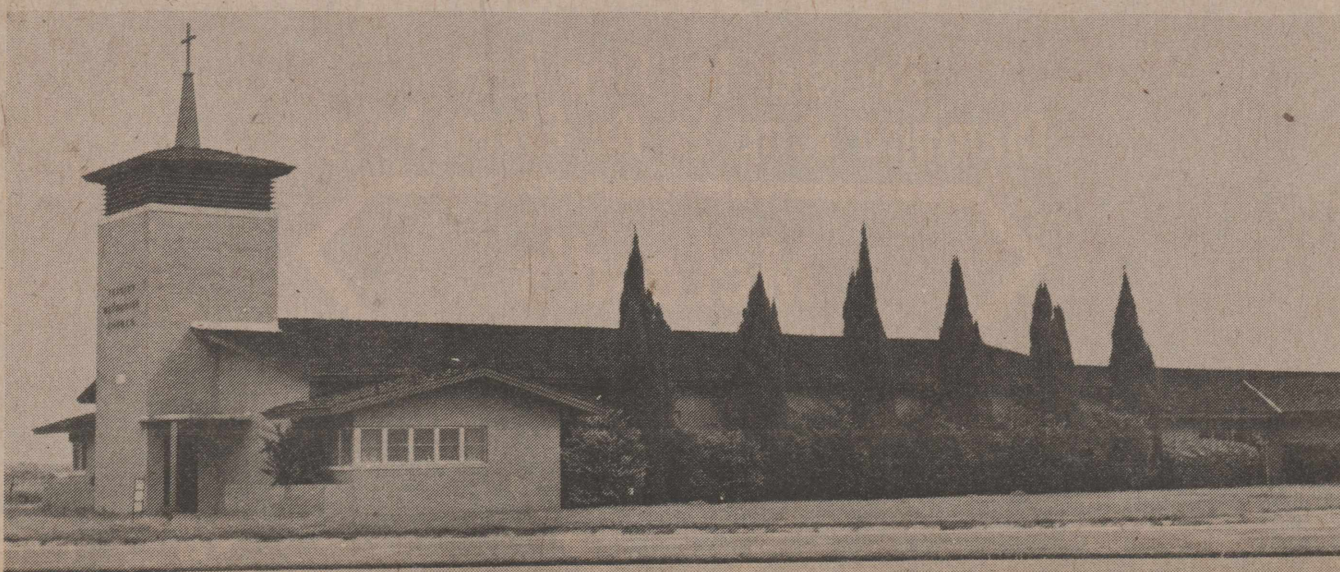

There were 151 charter members by Aug. 17 of that year.

A church school was formed with Dale Clemmer as the superintendent and Mrs. Vada Burleson as the head of the children's division.

The official board was organized Oct. 7, 1953 with Ford Kenner serving as chairman of the board of trustees. Pete Pitner was named church treasurer.

In August, 1953, the Women's Society of Christian Service was organized and Mrs. Dale Clemmer served as

Underwater probing of sunken ship is to begin

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials with the company that owned a sunken drilling ship say they have little hope of discovering why the Glomar Java Sea went down in a typhoon near China Oct. 25 until divers can investigate the vessel.

Dick Vermeer, a spokesman for Houston-based Global Marine Drilling Co., said the divers will probably begin examining the ship Saturday.

"That is the key," Vermeer said of the pending undersea investigation. "We're dying to find out, as is everybody."

A Coast Guard board of inquiry was to begin in Houston Friday.

The divers will look for clues as to whether any of the crew got off the ship before it went down, Vermeer said. The divers also will count the life boats and life rafts and look for other evidence, he said.

Vermeer said the divers also will try to get evidence to indicate why the ship sank.

Meanwhile, the search for the 80 crewmen who had been aboard the ship continued Thursday, Vermeer said.

About 10 Chinese ships were involved, as were two or three U.S. Air Force planes and several fishing vessels, he said. But Vietnam insists the searchers stay at least 23 miles off its shores.

The ship sank while drilling for oil about 200 miles east of Vietnam, officials said. A Chinese ship using sonar found the vessel under 300 feet of water Tuesday.

Gary Kott, president of Global Marine, told the Houston Chronicle his firm has been pressing the State Department to appeal to Vietnam for humanitarian reasons to let the searchers look closer to its shores.

"It has not been smooth," he said. "But the State Department is cooperating. They're using avenues we're not even aware of."

Officials said two or three Vietnamese boats have been searching their coastal waters for survivors.

But Kott said the Vietnamese have refused to admit searchers from his company:

Stretching by yoga

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I know that you stress the importance of stretching and flexibility for a person's body and level of health. Could you please explain that Hatha Yoga is purely a physical way of stretching the muscles in our body and not a far out or weird religious belief.

I have practiced Hatha Yoga for a number of years and credit it for seldom having a headache, backache or a number of other modern day ailments.

I am more flexible today than I was 20 years ago. It has helped me so much and I know it can help others if they would get some silly notions out of their heads. Will you set the record straight?

DEAR READER — Stretching is not a religion and when done properly is a great aid to people, particularly as they advance in years. But it must be done right or it can be harmful.

Today, as practiced in this country, Hatha Yoga involves stretching, postures and breathing exercises. But you may be surprised to know that its origin is from the Hindu culture and religion.

That doesn't mean the exercises or postures are either good or bad. They must be evaluated on their own merit and what they do for the body.

Stretching, combined with developing muscle strength, is the key to maintaining good posture. Stretching also is valuable before and after exercise, whether it is jogging or tennis or swimming.

I would caution against over-stretching, which can injure tissues. And because some yoga exercises involve breath holding and breathing

The head-stander beetle of Africa's Namib Desert extracts life-giving water from fog by standing back-to-the-wind on a sandy exercises, I must caution against over-breathing and breath holding. Both can set off powerful reflexes that can stop the heart or induce fainting.

To give you a guide on my thoughts about stretching, I'm sending you The Health Letter 19-10, Stretching and Flexibility. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. I think the slow gentle stretch that is held is best, not bobbing and over-stretching.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read about pills to help monthly menstruation and have used them all. None seem to help my cramps. I get them the day before my period is due and the cramps last for two days straight. The pain can be so bad I can't even walk.

I've tried pills, hot tea, even a hot water bottle and nothing helps. Why do I get them? Otherwise I'm a very healthy 16-year-old.

DEAR READER — Studies in recent years suggest that the type of cramps you have are caused by formation of too much prostaglandin in the lining of the uterus. This hormone is the same one that initiates uterine contractions for childbirth.

You may think you have tried all the pills but perhaps not. Medicines that neutralize the prostaglandin help relieve pain for many. These include Motrin, Indocin, Ponstel and Naprosyn. Talk it over with your doctor and if you have not used all of these maybe he would like for you to try some of them just during the time you have cramps.

Paul Harvey

You think you could run your own company better than present company officials are running it.

You see so many things that cry out for improvement, you and your union figure you could run the company better.

It's possible. A significant sorting-out is taking place in American industry. Airlines, flying backward financially, are trying to rescue themselves with bankruptcy.

The corporations taking "Chapter Eleven" blame soaring labor costs and plummeting ticket prices.

Some unions allege that the bankruptcy proceeding is nothing more than "union busting," an effort to cancel existing labor contracts and re-employ workers at half wages.

Employees of any troubled industry have to blame somebody. Administrators may blame greedy unions. Unions may blame the "fat cats" at the top.

With increasing frequency, corporations are giving their employees a turn at bat.

"You think you can run the company better — run it."

Weirton Steel was just sold to that company's 10,000 employees.

Dan River Mills will be owned by its 12,000 employees.

And there is something "heroic" about worker ownership, especially when it is an alternative to closing a plant altogether.

The Conference Board identifies 60 United States corporations have been "taken over by the workers"; buyouts or partial buyouts.

Only two have failed.

The Wall Street Journal notes that the most successful of these companies continue to rely for day-to-day supervision and decision-making on a select handful of administrators.

Rath Packing Company employees thought they could operate the company "by committees" — with a "town-meeting on every decision." They soon found they had to revert to traditional management.

Workers who feel they own their own company are more likely to work more diligently and to expect co-workers to discipline themselves.

On the other hand, workers taking over a company frequently forget the company retirement benefits which have been forfeited.

As I study the several workers buyouts which have at least three years of experience behind them, it seems to me that the ones which are succeeding the best are the ones which have been most willing to delegate any management prerogatives to an independent board.

Naturally, one wonders if the same objective might not have been accomplished with less trauma if early on in their employment experience those workers had bought stock in their respective companies.

Colombian man held in big cocaine bust

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Bond has been raised from $1 million to $2.5 million for a 41-year-old Colombian man jailed after 74 pounds of cocaine was found in a hidden compartment in his pickup truck.

State troopers arrested Gustavo Alberto Roldan after they stopped a pickup truck on Interstate 10 about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Beaumont. Earlier, law enforcement agencies had received a bulletin from Houston alerting police of a blue, 1983 Chevrolet pickup suspected of hauling cocaine.

After State District Judge Larry Gist signed a warrant, state narcotics agents searched a handcrafted iron box welded under the truck's bed and found 70 pounds of cocaine in 32 bundles weighing a kilogram — about 2.2 pounds — apiece, they said.

If sold in gram-sized quantities, the cocaine would have brought about $4 million, police said.

Theft reports filed locally

City police detectives are investigating a house burglary reported in east Snyder Thursday afternoon.

Terry Trusty of 304 30th St. reported the burglary of her residence at 4:49 p.m. She told investigators that two pairs of earrings, one gold and one with diamonds collectively valued at $185, had been taken from her house sometime between 3:15 and 4:40 p.m.

In addition, Bill Minyard of Dupree Motors on the Lamesa Highway called police to report a misdemeanor theft at 9:33 a.m. Thursday. He told investigators that some parts had been taken from a 1984 Jeep and a battery had been stolen from a late model Chevrolet parked at the dealership sometime over the past several days. No value was estimated for the missing merchandise.

In other action, local officers arrested one 22-year-old man on misdemeanor theft charges and three other subjects were jailed for public intoxication Thursday evening. The suspect arrested on the theft charge was also charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

President Gerald Ford granted former president Richard Nixon a full pardon in 1974.

Producer fee, nuke attack on ballot list

(Editor's note: The SDN continues its review of the 11 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

These will be decided by state-wide vote next Tuesday).

Amendment 3

Number three of the 11 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution would no longer allow Texas producers to be exempt from paying fees to support their respective commodity boards.

Such groups have been formed to promote marketing and production of these commodities and are financed through the assessment of the product paid by producers. Currently, there are seven commodity boards in the state which support corn, grain sorghum, mohair, peanuts, pork, soybean and wheat production.

If passed, producers would no longer be exempt from paying an assessment at the time the products are sold. Local affected products include grain sorghum, mohair, pork and wheat.

Currently, producers can sign up for an exemption before the assessment is taken out. If the amendment is passed, they will have to pay but they still may have the assessment payment back after applying for a refund.

Opponents note that the Texas Supreme Court in 1975 said the fee was illegal because it entails an occupation tax prohibited by the constitution.

It is noted also that Texas voters have twice rejected similar constitutional propositions.

Supporters argue that the assessment amounts to a small contribution by individual producers and adds nothing to the cost of food and fiber for consumers.

They add the proposition entails no cost to the Texas taxpayer as a group, but would allow Texas producers to "help themselves."

Wording of the proposal on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the advancement of food and fiber production and marketing in this state through research, education and promotion financed by the producers of agricultural products."

Amendment 4

Number four of the 11 proposed constitutional amendments would outline procedures used to replace the state's 181 lawmakers in the event they become "unavailable" because of nuclear war or enemy attack.

Currently, there is no explicit provision for convening the legislature at a location other than Austin in the event of an attack. The amendment would provide for emergency interim successors to take the place of these "unavailable" lawmakers.

Supporters say the plan could help alleviate disorder in the event of attack.

Detractors, however, call the proposal "at best an exercise in futility." They note that a nuclear war would likely reduce state governments to "an anachronism."

Wording of the proposal on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing statutory provisions for succession of public office during disasters caused by enemy attack, and authorizing the suspension of certain constitutional rules relating to legislative procedure during those disasters" the first president.

After a brief time, the Methodist Men was organized with Bill Starnes the first president.

On Nov. 10, 1953, a $250,000 church was planned. D.M. Cogdell Sr. offered the congregation a plot of land and financial help to construct the church plant.

Members promoted various projects to help furnish the church such as rummage sales, bake sales, Christmas bazaars and the selling of church plates and stationery.

The Women's Society also served lunch for several civic clubs over a period of time.

On Jan. 2, 1954, the congregation held the first church service in the new building. The sanctuary was not complete and would not be completed for several months so services were held in the fellowship hall.

The classrooms were furnished and new equipment was purchased for the nursery. The new kitchen was finished in February. The men of the church painted the classrooms and halls and laid the tile. Later a tile man was employed to finish the job.

A Hammond organ was also purchased and the church office was equipped with new furniture. A church secretary, Betty Hunt, was employed part-time.

In February of 1954, the furniture for the new sanctuary was purchased, another gift of the Cogdell family who had already built the church building and bought a pipe organ and sanctuary furniture.

During the fall months of 1954, the membership began a fund raising effort which was known as the Furnishing Campaign, headed by Jack Cole and Dale Clemmer.

About $3,500 was raised for the purchase of church and school furniture. A note was secured at the West Texas State Bank for $3,000 was retired Dec. 31, 1954. A new note was again secured at the west Texas State Bank for $2,000 to finish purchasing the furnishings for the church and school.

On Dec. 11, 1954, with Bishop W.C. Martin presiding, the completed church building was dedicated.

Four classrooms and a parlor were added to the east of the building in 1973.

Trinity United Methodist Church has experienced a continual growth in membership for the past 30 years. Mrs. John Jarrell is the educational director of the church's school program and Raymond House is the superintendent.

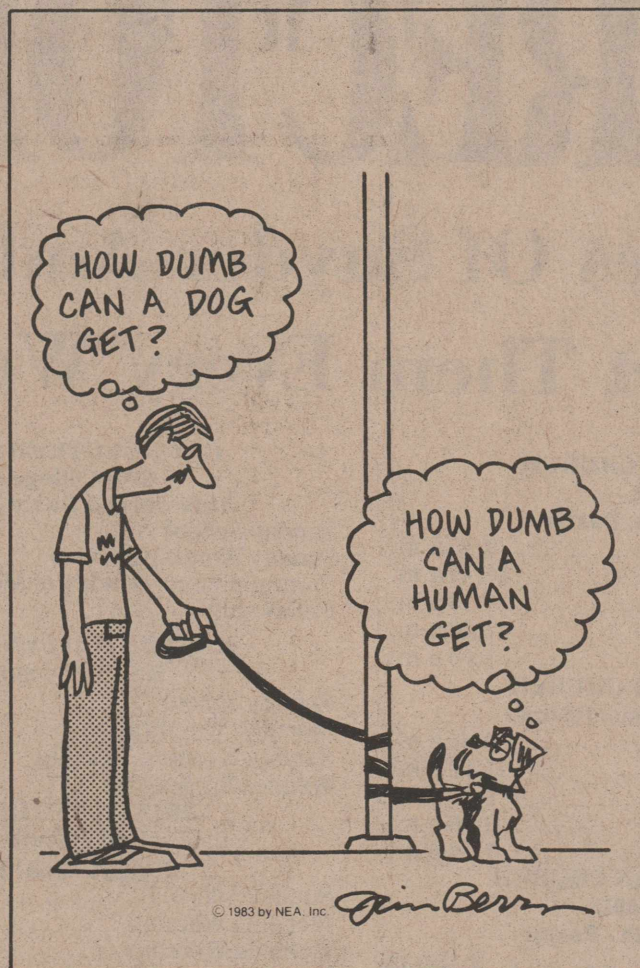

A vacation church school is conducted each summer. The nursery department is presently being redecorated and rearranged, offering a separate room for infants.

The church has adult classes and youth classes for all ages and Mrs. Jimmy Black has recently organized a singles class.

Rev. James Merrell serves as pastor. Max Von Roeder is the current head layman and Howard Harrington will be serving as chairman of the administrative board for the coming year.

Members on the memorial committee who helped plan the 30th anniversary observance are: Betty and Ray Atkinson, Rev. and Mrs. James Merrell, Mrs. Vada Burleson and Mrs. Christine Killgo.

Computer raiders are apprehended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three computer raiders known as "Ron," "Kev" and "Kar" ran amok in UCLA's vast government, business and school computer files until their electronic chatter and carelessness gave them away, an investigator says.

UCLA physics student Ronald Mark Austin, 19 — who officials said was known to computer users as "Ron" — pleaded innocent Thursday to 14 counts of malicious computer entry and theft of two round-trip airline tickets to London.

Municipal Judge Michael Tynan lowered bail from $10,000 to $2,000 on the condition that Austin stay away from computers.

Austin's Santa Monica home and that of Kevin Lee Poulsen in North Hollywood were raided by investigators Sept. 22. Their computers were seized along with equipment, telephones and thousands of sheets of data.

No charges have been filed against Poulsen, a juvenile, and court documents mention only one name for the third person, Kareem.

On UCLA's electronic computer billboard, Poulsen was known as "Kev" and Kareem was known as "Kar," said district attorney investigator J. Duane Trump.

On Aug. 25, there was this cryptic message between "Kev" and "Ron":

"Who is this?"

"Ron."

"Why are you using Betty (a password)?"

"I can't tell you."

But the owner of the Betty file found out soon enough. On Sept. 3, UCLA student Betty Lee found she couldn't get into her own file. A supervisor used a special code to open the file, and Ms. Lee discovered that 50 to 60 hours of research work was missing.

Besides breaking into the UCLA research computer and allegedly changing the codes of scores of files, the three discussed their conquests via computer hookup which, unknown to them, was being monitored by school officials, then the campus police, and finally the district attorney's office.

Deputy District Attorney Clifton Garrett refused to comment on the case after Austin's arraignment, but reports filed by Trump indicate that the three raiders had access to some of the most sophisticated computer networks in the country for two months.

Austin and Poulsen both admitted tapping into files when Trump interviewed them after the raids on their homes, Trump said.

A break in the case came when Austin gave his full name, address and phone number by computer to Poulsen. And it was Austin who bragged to Kareem one day about how he was capturing files, Trump said.

The illegal access was first noticed on July 7 by Terry Gray, associate director at UCLA.

Rainfall curbs water deliveries

Late October rains, which came too late to prevent a cutoff of deliveries from Lake Thomas to oil companies, caused a drop in monthly municipal water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

This equaled an 8.23 percent decline when compared to 1982. Deliveries totaled 1.3 billion gallons, with 1.1 billion gallons going to member cities.

The municipal deliveries were down 4.3 percent, or approximately 53 million gallons. Oil companies used only 135 million gallons, due largely to the cutoff

Kidnapped infant girl has been discovered

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A private investigator says that a 7-month-old child found here has been identified as Cherie Ann Kennedy, who was kidnapped May 10 from a Fort Worth hospital.

Two children — a blonde 7-month-old girl and a dark-haired 3-month-old child — were taken to police headquarters in El Paso Thursday after a woman they were with was stopped crossing into the United States from Mexico, the El Paso Times reported today.

Cotton

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were higher at midday dealings today.

The average prices for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton declined 22 points to 73.75 cents a pound Thursday for the eight markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were 25 cents to $1.30 a bale higher than the previous close. Dec 80, 25, Mar 81, 60, May 82, 40, Jul 82, 45, Oct 76, 25, Dec 74, 95, and Mar 75, 85.

"Information has been given me ... that the suspect has already related her involvement in the case," the investigator, Bill Dear, said here today in Dallas.

Asked if the baby was Cherie Ann, Dear replied, "Yes, that's what I understand."

Cherie's mother, Penny Jo Kennedy, and Dear, the family's private investigator, were boarding a commercial flight for El Paso from Dallas Love Field about 7 a.m. today when a man, who identified himself as an FBI agent, told them the baby would be flown to Fort Worth this afternoon and asked them to stay there.

Dear later told reporters that he understood the baby was in good condition.

Investigators "are in El Paso currently interviewing the suspect, checking the conditions of Cherie Kennedy," he said. "I understand that it is in perfect health."

A FBI spokesman in Dallas this morning, Larry Hawes, declined to comment on the case, except to say that investigators had "been covering some leads" overnight.

El Paso police Sgt. Dennis Shelley said Fort Worth investigators, who flew to El Paso Thursday after the arrest, would release a statement sometime this morning.

Police arrested Linda Lee Ashmore Gomez, 32, of Fort Worth about 11:30 a.m. after she was stopped by U.S. Customs agents on a Rio Grande bridge.

El Paso police said they didn't think either child belonged to the woman, the Times reported.

Ms. Gomez was booked on charges of forgery and of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, both out of Las Cruces, N.M., and was Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Nov. 1 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

President Dena Ellis called the meeting to order with the Opening Ritual. Sue Sewell, secretary, read the roll call and minutes of the last meeting followed by the treasurer's report given by Cyndee Gayle.

Mrs. Ellis read correspondence from the Beta Sigma Phi international office concerning an ambassador program within the sorority and also a letter from the Martha Ann Woman's Club on the refurbishing of a room in the clubhouse.

Carolyn Limmer, program chairman, announced that the program for November 15 will be given by Ruth Fleer on "Conduct: Effect of Morals and Customs in Living."

A social committee report was given by chairman Beverly Mitchell. The

Here is the sort of hand that causes no comment at all in most bridge games. South wins the heart lead and starts on clubs. West wins the first club and leads a second heart, whereupon South knocks out the last high club and takes the rest of the tricks to make five odd.

If there is any comment at all, it concerns the opening lead of the fourth best spade. South remarks that he would play low in dummy, that East would have to play his king and that the defense would get two spade tricks and hold South to his game.

Now let's go into another world where West is a real expert. He opens that same 10 of hearts and wins the first club, but then our expert goes into some expert thought.

He decides that he can't beat the hand with a heart continuation and that his only hope is to shift to a spade. What's more, he decides to lead that spade which will give him his best chance to set the suit right up. He leads the 10 spot.

This play effectively destroys the value of South's nine spot. If the jack is played from dummy, East's king holds the trick and a spade is returned up to West's Q-8, which now surrounds that unfortunate nine. The defense gets three spade tricks and 50 points.

Rock Cornish hens good for Thanksgiving

By TOM HOGE

AP Wine & Food Writer Thanksgiving, more than any other American holiday, has become famous as an annual feast.

From one end of the land to the other, families gather to put away a gargantuan spread, usually featuring roast turkey with stuffing, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, creamed onions, mashed turnips and, finally, baked Indian pudding or pumpkin pie.

As I grew up, I eagerly looked forward to the annual gettogethers at my parents' house. But eventually I began to harbor a guilty wish that we could have a substitute for turkey, at least once in a while.

Later, when I had grown up and moved away from home, I was often a holiday guest, especially in bachelor days. Soon I realized that others also felt the need for an occasional switch from the traditional gobbler, delicious as it is.

My first experience was when I was introduced to a crisp, brown leg of venison, dressed with lingonberry sauce, that gave forth a heavenly aroma. Any remaining pangs of conscience were removed when my host informed me that in colonial times when the head of the family went gunning for the holiday meat, wild turkey and venison were both popular. Today it is rarely served, since venison is obtainable only in rural areas where deer abound, and butchers do not sell game in most parts of the country.

Over the years, I have enjoyed other substitutes for the holiday turkey. One friend, who was born in England, serves roast goose stuffed with dried fruits and spices. Another goes in for roast duck with oranges.

My favorite substitute for the gobbler is roast Rock Cornish hen, a small fowl with tiny bones and all white meat. It is served with a variety of stuffings, but none compares for my taste to chopped pecans, onions and celery. Here's a recipe.

6 Rock Cornish hens, about 1 pound each
Pecan stuffing (see below)

½ cup butter, melted
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup beef bouillon
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Thaw hens, if frozen. Stuff with pecan dressing; secure with toothpicks and tie legs together. Put in shallow roasting pan. Pour butter over birds. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roast in preheated oven at 425 F, for 1 to 1½ hours, basting twice in pan drippings. When done, glaze with hot bouillon, thickened with cornstarch mixed with a little cold water. Serves 6. Good with chilled dry white wine.

PECAN STUFFING

1 medium onion, chopped

½ cup chopped celery
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
5 cups diced, stale bread
1½ cups chopped pecans
½ cup chopped parsley
Saute onion and celery in butter 5 minutes. Add salt and paprika. Mix with other ingredients.

Dear Abby

Ex-Waitress's Husband Is Serving Her Raw Deal

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am in a marriage that stinks. Freddy (not his real name) is a macho man who doesn't think a married woman should work outside the home. When he met me I was a waitress. (He owns a cattle ranch.) We've been married three months, and I feel like I'm in prison. He still goes out with the boys, stays out late and never tells me where he's been.

I wanted to take a course in flower arranging, but Freddy wouldn't let me. He knows that the man who teaches flower arranging is gay, but Freddy says you don't have to go to bed with a man to fall in love with him. He feels threatened by every man I say hello to.

To make sure I didn't have a car of my own, right after we got married he sold his car and "borrowed" mine and never gave it back. Now he's begging me to get pregnant, so I'll really be tied down. I'm 22 and Freddy is 32. Please help me.

FREDDY'S PRISONER

DEAR PRISONER: You are your own "prisoner"—not Freddy's. Nobody owns anybody else, and if you allow Freddy to control you, it's a choice that you made. Tell him how you feel. Then ask yourself if you'd be better off with him or without him, and go with your feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My son was engaged for 16 months to a girl who lives in another state. She broke the engagement last night by telephone. She also said she was keeping the ring because Dear Abby said an engagement ring is a gift and belongs to the girl if the engagement ends.

Abby, did you really say that? My son spent a whole year paying for that ring. As a matter of fact, he still owes money on it.

The girl broke his heart, and now she's breaking his pocketbook. Have the rules of etiquette changed?

NO CITY, PLEASE

DEAR NO CITY: The rules have not changed. An engagement ring symbolizes a promise to marry. If the engagement is broken—regardless of who breaks it—the ring should be returned.

DEAR ABBY: I have always taught my children never to eat anything unless they know exactly what it is. But my mother-in-law, normally a sensible woman, has a habit of sampling plants that grow wild to see how they taste and whether she would like to use them in cooking.

Recently our family and my husband's parents went on a camping trip. The third day, I came upon my mother-in-law urging my children to share some "wild dill seeds" she had found. Fortunately, neither of them had eaten any. The "wild dill" was actually water hemlock, one of the most poisonous plants in the United States!

My mother-in-law protested that the government wouldn't "allow" poisonous plants to grow in a federal park, but she agreed not to eat the seeds. Now she is angry with me for "undermining" her with her grandchildren. (Never mind that I probably saved their lives.)

I am a botanist. My specialty is field taxonomy; I am often called upon to identify "weed" plants. I know what I'm talking about, Abby.

Please tell your readers: Never, never eat any unidentified wild plant or berry because it looks good. Know for certain what you are putting into your mouth. If you don't, it may cost you a serious illness, maybe even your life!

FORMER FARM GIRL

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Auto insurance...

Rate increase okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas automobile insurance rates will go up 3.9 percent statewide next Feb. 1, the State Board of Insurance has decided.

The 2-1 vote of approval of a staff recommendation came Thursday after the three-member board split three ways on how much profit insurance companies should make from insurance policies and investments.

Cosmetology applications are available

Applications are now being accepted for a new cosmetology class starting Dec. 1 at Western Texas College.

Cosmetology students receive 1,500 hours of training in a 12-month period and are then ready to take the State Board of Cosmetology examination for licensing.

Persons interested in enrolling are to contact Judy Border, instructor, in the cosmetology lab at the east end of the WTC campus or to call her office at 573-8511, ext. 267. Persons wishing to enroll in the December class need to complete preliminary arrangements now, Mrs. Border said.

The increase will mean $88 million more income for the companies.

Chairman Lyndon Olson said later the board actually had no philosophical difference on whether investment income should enter into the ratemaking procedure.

"Our differences of opinion as reflected in voting today go mainly to the extent, procedure and timing of its (investment income) inclusion," Olson said.

The impact on insurance buyers in the 40 rating territories will range from an annual premium increase of $39 in Dallas County to a $17 decrease for the East Texas oil field area.

The industry had asked for a statewide increase of 11.1 percent, saying the number of claims continued to increase along with soaring health care costs.

David Irons, Dallas attorney representing the industry, said a rehearing would be asked but it was "premature" to say if there would be a court test.

The board, for the first time, set maximum rates for premiums that will not cover the auto industry's estimated losses.

Staff members said income from investments made by the insurance companies would make up the difference.

Irons said the amount of loss on premiums was small, less than 1 percent, "but it is a significant fraction to us because it sets a precedent for moving to a negative profit provision."

Board member Carole McClellan made the successful motion.

She said the board decided three years ago to directly consider investment income in setting rates, not just the income from policy premiums.

She said she felt the staff proposal was "just, reasonable and adequate ... both reasonable to the insured and the insurers."

Earlier, a motion by Olson to modify the staff proposal to insure insurance companies would lose nothing from their underwriting income was defeated 2-1.

A motion by Daves would have asked the staff to recalculate its rate proposal giving insurance companies less return on their underwriting business because of increased investment profits. The motion failed, 2-1.

Olson then had a motion to leave rates just as they are now. That also failed, 2-1.

The actual premium each motor vehicle owner will pay depends upon his geographical location and the type of vehicle driven, type of insurance coverage, and other factors.

In addition, the rate set by the board is only a guide. Companies can "deviate," charge lower prices and give other benefits in order to meet competition.

Statewide auto rates were increased 14.8 percent by the board in 1982 and 16.3 percent in 1981.

QB Morrison keys Mustang attack

By BILL MCCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

He's no one-man team, but Andrews quarterback Bill Morrison may be the key to stopping the Mustangs tonight when they invade Tiger Stadium for Snyder's final home game of the season. Kickoff is 8 o'clock.

"They are a solid team, but their offense is keyed around Morrison. He's been a super player for them all season and we've got to slow him down. He's a threat to score everytime he takes the snap," said Snyder Coach George Byerly of the 150-pound senior, who has 12 touchdowns and a combined passing-rushing total of 980 yards.

"The biggest threat is probably out of their passing game, because if you cover their receivers well, Morrison is liable to tuck it in and run. He's a good scrambler and he also throws the ball well. We're going to have to put a lot of pressure on him - probably more than one person - and have the receivers converged too."

But Byerly warned that Morrison wasn't the only threat with the football.

"Their fullback (Mike Harmon) and their tailback (Jeff Tidwell) are both good backs too. As far as receivers, they like to get the ball to Chris McWilliams, but they get all their people in routes and they can hurt you with any of them."

"I think one of their biggest keys too is they have a real good line, both offensively and defensively. There aren't any super players there but they are all good high school players and they do a good job," added the coach.

Defensively, the Mustangs like to blitz, and Byerly said, "We've got to be able to pick it up. If we do, we'll put them in a bind. If we don't, they are going to throw us for a loss. It's difficult to know how Andrews will come at us offensively or defensively, because they haven't played any teams that pass as much as we do. So we haven't been able to see them work against a similar team. All we can do is look at last year's films."

The Tigers are expected to continue throwing the ball a lot, with junior Jimmy Cain at quarterback. His key receivers have been Chad Peterson and Peyton Claxton, though a half-dozen Tigers have caught balls this season.

Defensively, there are no major changes in the Tiger theory. Byerly did praise the efforts of senior linebacker Eddie McClure, who got in on 26 tackles against Fort Stockton last week. Safety Peterson and backers Jimmy Hunter and Jeff Minor had 14 tackles apiece, while cornerback Bobby Velasquez, and tackle Jeff Sisneros were in on 11. Cain, playing at safety, was in on 10 while noseguard DeWayne Williamson and tackle Ricky Vaughn contributed with nine.

Game captains for the Tigers tonight are David Gandy and Richard Wesley.

Over Weatherford...

WTC shows poise in 80-72 win

Coach Barry Davis put 12 players in the game and 11 contributed to the scoreboard as Western Texas rode out an 80-72 victory over the Weatherford Coyotes here Thursday.

The victory was Western's second in as many outings, giving the squad a 2-0 slate before it heads into the Laredo Classic next weekend.

Westerner fans are reminded that the Ranger Classic, which included WTC, has been cancelled this weekend.

Davis found little to fault his Westerners about, except a dismal freethrow shooting percentage, which made the contest closer than it could have been. But the coach was even optimistic about that.

"We will do a better job as the season goes on. I don't think that (46 percent) is a true indication of how well we can shoot freethrows. We shot 70 percent our last four times (three scrimmages and one game)," he said.

There was plenty to praise, perhaps the most noteworthy of which was WTC's poise down the stretch. The team led most of the game until Larry Jones hit a go-ahead field goal for Weatherford with about 10 minutes left, 58-57. The Coyotes pushed the advantage to three points moments later, but sophomore Fred Johnson responded with back-to-back buckets for Western, and the hosts never trailed again.

Weatherford kept it close, however, until Bryan freshman Billy Chambers and Richie Fells sandwiched freethrows between a Robert Mitchell field goal. Chambers then stole the ball and passed to Johnson, who made it 71-64 with 3:42 to play. The lead stretched to 11 points when Mitchell stuck in consecutive points, 75-64.

The Coyotes had a chance to get back into the game when Mitchell was ejected from the game for what officials termed an intentional foul. Weatherford's Mark Renfro went to the line for a pair of technical freethrows, but missed them both.

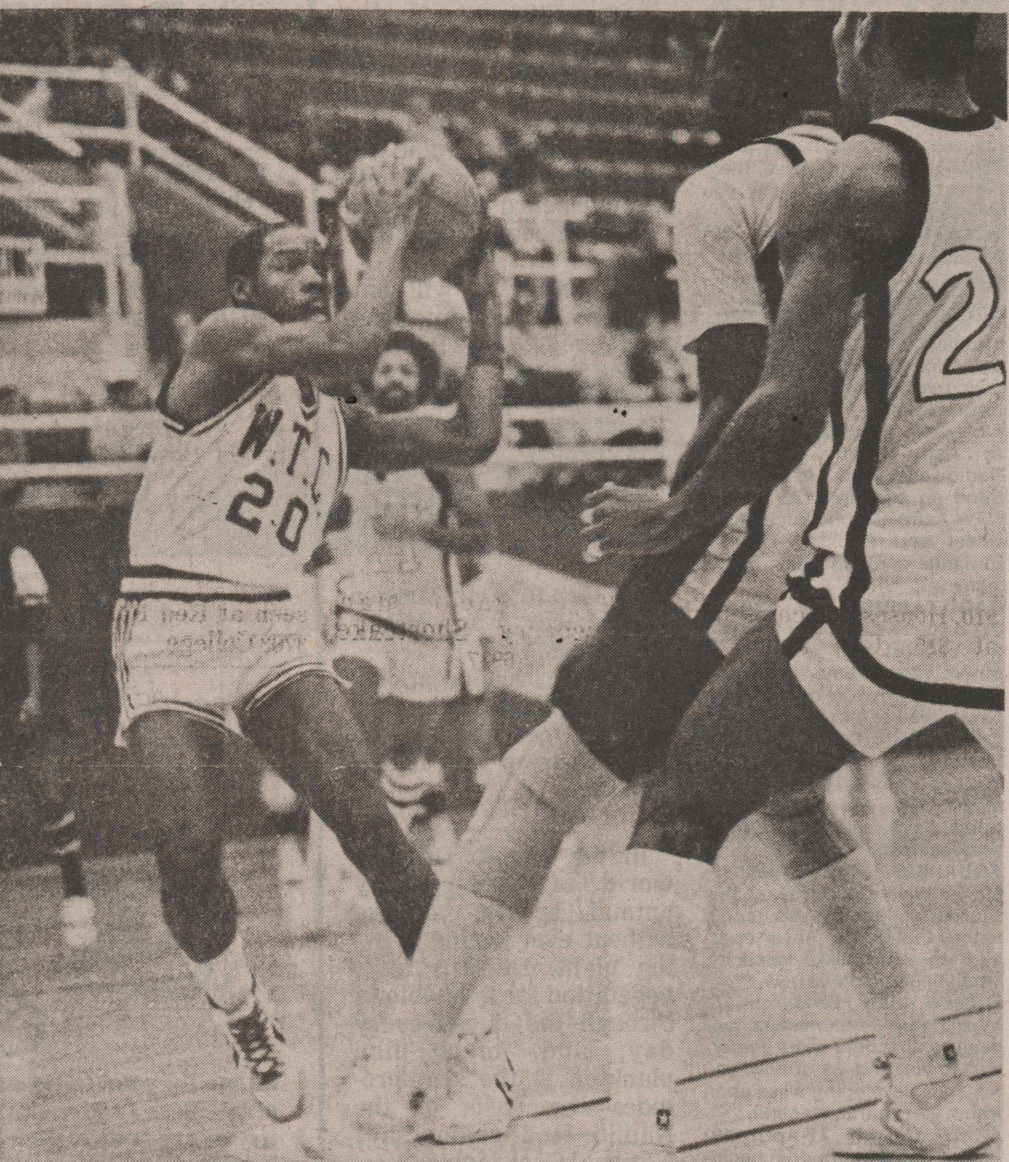

Still, the visitors got buckets from Maury Hayden and Scott Flynn to make it close. Fells knocked down a freeshot with 43 seconds left to keep the Coyotes at bay, and Victor Spencer added three more to insure the win.

"I thought we showed a lot of character," said Davis. "We played better defense toward the end when we had too, and we were able to create some turnovers and score with them. I was real proud of the character the young men showed."

Davis got strong play from a number of people, including Fells, a 6-3 sophomore from Brooklyn. Fells led the team in scoring with 14 points, and yanked down 11 of WTC's 50 rebounds - several of them down the stretch. Mitchell, who scored 12 points, had several key baskets late, and also grabbed 8 rebounds. Anthony Smith scored 10 points while Johnson, Spencer and Larry Banks had 9 apiece. Dwayne Lister scored 7.

Jones drilled 15 points for the Coyotes while Hayden had 14, Billy Carmdek 12 and Renfro 11.

INSIDE FAKERY - Western Texas freshman Billy Chambers will take a giant leap to the hoop after faking to the post. Chambers scored four points, had nine assists and four steals as the Westerners defeated Weatherford here

80-72. Chambers was only one of several WTC guards who played well in the contest. Western came away with 15 steals and had 20 assists. (SDN Staff Photo by Noble Young)

Duster defense paves victory

Cushing had said he thought defense would carry his team early. He was right.

Western Texas' Dusters opened the season with a strong defensive showing Thursday, defeating Weatherford 61-44 before the home crowd.

The contest was the first of three in a row for Coach Joe Cushing's girls, who play Cooke County in Gainesville tonight and Grayson County in Denison on Saturday.

"We set a goal to not allow any more than 50 points and we gave up 44, so I felt real good about that," exclaimed Cushing, who called the defensive effort, "the best team defense for a first game we've had in the six years I've been here. We were very intense on defense and maintained it throughout the game."

Western's defense did it proud, even when the offense slumped early in the second half. Leading 37-20 just into the second period, the Dusters hit a dry spell that left them just 12 points richer in 11 minutes. But when Weatherford did eventually chip a 20-point deficit to 11 with five minutes left, Western responded.

Roby sophomore Mary Nell Clayton scored off of a rebound to make it 53-39 and freshman Patti Hayes struck up another bucket moments later as Western's offense began to percolate. Clayton then hit a freethrow, and Dinah Nichols' three-point-play with 1:26 remaining made it a 59-39 ballgame.

"We didn't execute well there for awhile, but I think I have to take part of the blame for that," said Cushing. "At halftime, I harped on us not relaxing and letting them (Weatherford) come back, and I probably harped on it too much. We worried about them coming back and we were tight."

Cushing played everyone - 14 girls - in the game, and 10 scored. Dallas freshman Clara Campbell, 6-2, led with 16 points and 16 rebounds. Clayton had 12 points while Hayes had 9 and Renny Evans 8. Rhonda Hoelting had six of WTC's 21 steals.

Western shot 23 of 64 from the field and 15 of 26 from the line.

Weatherford was led by Darea Jefferson's 9 points. Sherron Smelley and Della Riewe had 6 apiece.

"We answered a lot of questions about ourselves," said Cushing. "Some players surprised me. We didn't get to play some of the girls as much as I would have liked, but the game dictated that. They'll have to understand that their time will come and when it does, we want them to be ready."

"We're glad to get that first one behind us. It was just a great team effort."
