$100,000 Damage Feared In Two Fires

Billy Mitchell Is Victim Of Freak Mishap

(Special To The Avalanche)

ANDREWS, Dec. 28. — Billy Verne Mitchell, 19-year-old Texas Tech student from Denver City, was crushed to death in a truck accident about 14 miles north and east of here at 5:30 p. m., today.

The accident seriously injured Mitchell's companion in the truck, Brady Leneman, 38, also of Denver City. He was rushed to Andrews County hospital here by John Carigan, service station operator at Frankel City, near where the accident took place.

106th Fatality Of Year

(Mitchell's death marked the 106th traffic fatality of the year in the South Plains area.)

Sheriff's officers here said Mitchell was killed when a jackknife drilling rig being hauled on the trailer of the truck he was driving broke loose from its moorings and crashed the cab when the truck's right front wheel struck some loose dirt in the road and stopped the vehicle suddenly.

Leneman, who was thrown clear of the cab, is reported to be in serious condition by hospital attendants, who said he was suffering from a broken clavicle, a broken thumb and finger on his left hand, and numerous bruises and lacerations.

Sophomore At Tech

Mitchell, a sophomore in the division of engineering at Texas Tech, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mitchell, of Seminole. He and Leneman were working for the S and G Trucking company of Denver City. The accident happened in a company truck.

The mishap occurred in the Shafter Lake region on a county road about eight miles west of State Highway 51 between Seminole and Andrews. The road joins State Highway 51 about six miles north of Andrews. The oil community of Frankel City is about two miles west of the accident scene.

Ed Van Zant of Andrews, an oil field worker, was behind the truck when the accident occurred.

Texas Accident Toll Hits 100

AUSTIN, Dec. 28. (AP)—Texas' staggering toll of violent deaths during the Christmas-New Year holiday season spiraled steadily higher today.

One hundred victims of traffic, fire, other accidents and shootings, had been reported in a tabulation for the 10-day holiday period beginning at midnight Dec. 22. Ninety-five were listed by the State Department of Public Safety. There were five others not yet counted by the department.

A Department of Public Safety prediction of 80 traffic deaths by midnight Jan. 1 appeared likely to be low. Forty-four persons had been killed on highways and streets when the DPS reported at 4 p. m. today.

Latest victims of violent deaths included:

Donald Gene Chauncey, 17, Wink musician, killed when car overturned on highway 115 in Winkler county yesterday.

Phil Schmitt, 78, Dallas barber, killed when he was struck by a car in Dallas yesterday.

Raymond B. Vance, jr., 15, student, killed in a car-truck accident in Dallas yesterday. The driver of the truck did not stop.

Gary Wayne Carter, 2, died of strangulation after swallowing a pecan at his home Dec. 23. (Hometown not given).

James Edward Deckard, 50, Marlin preacher, killed when shot four times at a roadside park between Calvert and Bremond in Robertson county yesterday.

William Marion Myers, 52, Navasota carpenter, found in a Houston apartment Dec. 27. A justice of the peace said fire in a kitchen stove apparently consumed oxygen in the apartment and Myers suffocated.

James Archie Hutchings, 12, of Atlas community, near Paris, shot to death accidentally today while duck hunting.

Jack Gilbert Jones, 26, of Texhoma, Okla., struck and killed today by equipment at a drilling rig

Mine Group Flays Lewis

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. — Southern coal operators charged John L. Lewis today with unfair labor practices and requested that the government end the current three-day mine work week with a court injunction.

President Joseph E. Moody, of the Southern Coal Producers' association, filed the charges against the United Mine Workers, union with the National Labor Relations board.

Moody accused Lewis and the mine union of refusal to bargain in good faith and coercing the mine operators, through the three-day work week schedule in an attempt to compel them to accept an "illegal" wage contract.

Court Action Urged

At the same time, SCPA attorney John C. Gall urged NLRB General Counsel Robert Denham immediately to seek a court injunction to halt the alleged unfair labor practices.

The southern association represents about 100 million tons of bituminous coal production annually.

Southern mines, along with those in other sections of the country, were ordered on a three-day work week by Lewis Dec. 5 in an attempt by the UMW to pressure the industry into accepting the union's new contract demands.

The southern group previously asked President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley law to place the mines back on a full production basis.

Presidential aides indicated, however, that the President planned no action because he does not consider the country faced by a coal emergency.

Senate Republican leader Wherry Tuesday charged Mr. Truman with "negligence" in failing to use the Taft-Hartley law in the coal situation.

Wherry said there would be a "very serious industrial crisis within a few weeks unless the President acts.

Contract Claimed Illegal

The association charged that the 1948 soft coal contract which expired last June 30 was illegal because the miners never had voted on its union shop provision as required under the Taft-Hartley law. Moody declared:

"We have reluctantly resorted to filing charges with the labor board after six months of vain effort to induce Mr. Lewis to recognize his responsibilities for bargaining in good fath.

"Our attempts to get the indus-

New Regime Must Behave, Connally Claims

Recognition Of China Reds Believed Certain

By WILLIAM THEIS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Sen. Connally (D-Tex), Senate Foreign Relations chairman, believes that American recognition of Communist China is inevitable but that the new regime must first mend its behavior.

Connally returned to Washington from Texas today and, it was learned, is ready to set forth his views on the critical China situation in these terms.

The senator will hold a news conference Thursday morning at which the Far Eastern crisis is certain to be discussed.

Connally has told friends that there is virtually no escape from legal recognition of the Red government in China under all the circumstances.

But he has cautioned against too great a rush and has insisted that a government which mishandles American diplomats must end such actions and show respect for international law.

Connally declined to comment for publication on the China problem in advance of his news conference. He appeared fit and rested following his brief Texas visit, during which he talked issues and vacationed last week by going on a deer hunt.

Agrees With Vandenberg

Connally's view on the China problem parallels that of Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), the GOP foreign policy spokesman and ranking Republican on the foreign relations committee.

Vandenberg returned to Washington last week and said that the Chinese Communists have not yet "qualified" for recognition by the United States.

Some friends of Connally's, however, believe he may be inclined to go stronger for China recognition, under conditions which would not sacrifice American principles, because the southern cotton belt areas are more conscious of China's market for their big staple crop. This market now is closed.

Vandenberg, who declined to go into details, asserted that Communist China must demonstrate that it has "competent control" of its people and a "willingness to observe the rules of international law."

Sen. Thomas (D-Utah), another member of Connally's committee and an authority on the Far East, said last week that the United

Winter Storm Hits Northwest

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 28. (INS)—Floods, rain and snow combined to raise havoc in western Washington and British Columbia today, causing one death, blocking highways and disrupting communications and power lines.

Rescue crews liberated three men isolated in a Cascade mountain canyon after breaking trail eight miles into the Fortune creek area near Ellensburg, Wash.

Winds Bring Rain

Winds almost as warm as the snow-melting "chinook" brought rain to elevations as high as 4,000 feet, turning snow to slush and loosing heavy runoffs in the western Cascades of Washington.

District Weather Forecaster Tom Jarmin at Seattle said the next 24 hours is "fraught with possibilities" of serious floods induced by rain and warm temperatures.

WEATHER EXPECTED TO CONTINUE MILD IN AREA

Continued fair weather and seasonally warm temperatures are scheduled for Lubbock and the South Plains today, the local Weatherman said last night, but colder weather may move in Friday afternoon.

The mercury is expected to hit 63 this afternoon to match the Wednesday high in Lubbock, the forecaster said, with the morning low today near 24. Low here Wed-

Canadian Dam Plan Studied By Officials

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Rep. Worley (D-Texas) discussed with Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman today plans for an $85,000,000 Canadian river development program in the high plains and Panhandle areas of Texas.

Legislation has been passed by the House authorizing the project, which would include a $27,000,000 dam and a $54,000,000 conduit to deliver water to a dozen cities. The bill is pending now in the Senate.

"I simply wanted to be sure that Dr. Chapman was thoroughly familiar with the Canadian project," Worley told a reporter.

"He assured me of his keen interest in all phases of the development and his willingness to cooperate with us."

New Pension Policy Urged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 — The government's top labor peacemaker said today that a new national policy on pensions is needed to avoid some bitter strikes.

Without suggesting what the policy should be, Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation service, said it's time for a real study of the whole problem.

For the past several years, Ching added, the nation has been drifting into a system whereby existing federal benefits are supplemented by benefits from private employer plans "established by means of collective bargaining or strike action."

National Policy Urged

"Before the drift goes too far," he said, "it would be well to take our bearings and devise a national policy which will help us to set our future course with deliberation.

"If this is not done promptly, the nation may have to pay a high price in additional stoppages (strikes) called to compel institution of private employer plans."

The veteran labor relations expert gave a prominent place in a 10-page year end report on industrial relations to demands of labor unions for pension and welfare benefits.

He declined to take sides on their merit or demerit, but spoke of them as a real problem in keeping labor peace.

Ching said that most workers consider the federal social security program inadequate. A considerable number of workers is exempt from the federal plan.

On one hand, some labor unions are winning supplementary pension and welfare plans from employers. On the other hand, other groups of workers are not.

Ching foresaw unrest developing between groups of workers because one would get a better pension-welfare system than another.

And even where a group of workers has a pension-welfare plan supplementing social security, he said, the plan is good only so long as a worker remains with his employer. If he changes jobs he loses his equity in the plan.

Ching said this could harm "the free mobility so characteristic of the American industrial system" —that is, the shifting of jobs by workers as products and demand for them change.

Officials To Attempt Averting Phone Tieup

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith comes to St Louis tonight in the role of a troubleshooter seeking to avert a threatened strike against Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

He will meet tomorrow with executives of five other affected states in a conference similar to that which brought an end to the recent strike against the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Time of the meeting is 10 a. m. (CST). Union and company representative will attend.

Before leaving his office in Jefferson City today, Smith said there is a good possibility the conference will produce an answer to negotiation difficulties.

He said the governors may be able to arbitrate the dispute tomorrow. Failing that, he added, they may succeed in setting up a method of arbitration.

As in the previous conference, both sides will be heard before a plan of settlement is advanced.

Manila Is Rocked By Series Of Three Sharp Earthquakes

MANILA, Thursday, Dec. 28. (AP) — Three sharp earth shocks rocked Manila today. No casualties were reported immediately.

Stucco showered down in great chunks from the eight story Far Eastern hotel as the first tremor began at 11:05 a. m. (9:05 p. m. CST, Wednesday.)

Crowds jammed their way from the entrances of offices and other buildings in downtown Manila and into the streets.

The shocks lasted two and one-half minutes and reached a maximum of intensity 5.

American Released By Hungarian Reds After 12-Day Imprisonment

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Associated Press Staff Writer

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 28 — Israel Jacobson, American Jewish relief administrator, returned to Vienna today tired and a little leaner after 12 days in a Budapest jail. Hungarian officials had concluded he was "not quite" a spy.

Released yesterday, the director of the American Joint Distribution committee (AJDC) in Hungary was delayed in arriving here by an overnight stay in the hands of Russian officers. His permit to travel across the Soviet occupation zone of Austria had expired.

Jacobson, 37, told newspapermen he was questioned about alleged spying activities from mid-afternoon on the day of his arrest, Dec. 15, until 5 o'clock the next morning, and for periods of more than 20 hours at a time for the next four days.

During these periods he was made to sit at attention, and was warned that if he continued to cross his legs or slump in his seat he would be "sent to the cellar" —a term he took to mean solitary confinement.

After the first five days he was

$50,000 Fire Destroys Gin At Becton

By CLIFF BLACKBURN
Avalanche Staff Writer

FIRE last night totally destroyed the Tudor cotton gin at Becton causing an estimated $50,000 damages. The blaze, which was believed to have started from a butane explosion, started in the gin's engine room and rapidly spread to the cotton storage room, destroying 30 bales of cotton there. No one was injured.

The gin, owned and operated by R. H. Tudor of Lubbock, burned down about three years ago in a similar fire.

Roy Taylor, gin employe, noticed the fire from his residence approximately 100 feet from the gin at about 10 p.m. A passing motorist, J. W. Shadon of Becton, drove to nearby Heckville to turn in alarm to the Lubbock Fire department.

The flaming gin was visible from Lubbock, Tom Crow, one of the four-man booster truck crew sent to the blaze, reported. The firemen, unable to halt the flames, stood by to prevent the blaze from spreading to the Taylor residence or the cotton piled close by.

Plant Ablaze In Minutes

Taylor rushed into the blazing engine room to shut off a 1,000 gallon butane tank when he saw that the flames could not be controlled. He stated that the whole building was an inferno in a matter of minutes.

An alarm was also turned into the Lubbock Fire department by Kenneth Pugh, tower controlman at Lubbock Municipal airport, who spotted the flames more than 17 miles away.

Albert Smith, manager of the gin, said that men had been working there two hours before the fire started. His wife, the daughter of Tudor, estimated the loss at about $50,000. Tudor was unavailable for an estimate on the damages.

Warden Fires Prison Guards

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 28. (AP) — Two Texas state prison guards were discharged tonight following investigation of the escape of seven convicts from the main prison here Monday.

Warden Emmet Moore of the Huntsville unit said he has discharged guards Alton Harmon, about 60, and Dave Langley, about 57.

Moore said both were picket guards on top the prison wall Monday as the men escaped by digging a 21-foot tunnel through the hard clay.

"Our investigation of the escape," Moore said, "revealed carelessness and negligence on the part of the two guards. If they had been alert this escape never would have happened."

Moore said Harmon has been with the prison system since 1939, Langley since 1945.

Prison System General Manager O. B. Ellis in reporting the escape Monday had said he would leave the investigation and any resulting action up to Moore.

Three of the escapees have not been captured. Two were captured six hours after the escape shortly before noon Monday and two others were arrested yesterday morning.

Still at large are Thomas W. Tucker, 38, serving 64 years for murder from Brazoria and Tar-

Spectacular Blaze Hits Lumber Yard

Arson Suspected; Loss Estimated At $50,000 At Home Lumber & Supply Co.

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

FIRE roared through the Home Lumber and Supply Co. at Nineteenth street and Ave. L late last night and early today, causing damage estimated at more than $50,000.

Firemen from all Lubbock stations battled the spectacular blaze for an hour before bringing it under control at 12:30 a.m. Water was still being poured on smouldering piles of lumber early this morning.

Investigating officials said that arson was suspected in the fire — believed biggest of the year for Lubbock — but were waiting for the ruins to cool sufficiently to permit an inspection.

Homes Damaged

Three houses north and east of the lumber yard were damaged by fire, smoke and water as the roaring flames, fanned by a southwest wind, leaped from the lumber yard. At least six cars and trucks were burned and scorched by the flames.

Five airmen stationed at Reese Air Force base turned in the alarm at 11:30 p. m. when they noticed a fire in the rear of the lumber yard as they drove past.

Nolan F. Gordon, 26, of 2717 N. Sixth street, fireman from Fire Station No. 2, was taken to West Texas hospital after being knocked down by a lashing hose. Attendants said he received a possible fracture of his right hip.

Other firemen first believed that Gordon had either been overcome by smoke or had come into contact with an electrical wire.

Flames Leap High In Air

Flames leaping from the lumber storage bins reached more than 100 feet into the air at the height of the blaze, lighting up an area of several blocks.

All available fire equipment in Lubbock was sent to the scene, and the police department directed heavy traffic that converged on the scene.

L. H. McLarty, one of the lumber yard owners, made a quick survey of the damage and estimated the loss between $25,000 to $30,000, but added that it might run higher.

Other partners in the corporation are Otis J. Felty and Aline McLarty. The lumber yard has been in the Nineteenth street location since April 1, 1938.

L. H. McLarty said the fire would force the lumber yard to move to a new location to rebuild because of city fire zoning ordinances.

Blaze Seen Five Miles

Flames shooting in the air were visible all over Lubbock, and the Lubbock Weather bureau at Municipal airport, five miles north of town, reported the glow was seen clearly.

Residents north and east of the lumber yard were asleep when the fire broke out, but all fled to safety.

Bonnie Thompson and Mary Burnett, who room at 1812 Ave. K, said they were awakened by flames about 11:30 p. m. and tried to call the fire department but found the line busy.

Garage Damaged

Owners of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Jones, were not at home when the fire began. Only fire damage was to the rear end of the garage, but flames threatened to break across the alley before the roaring blaze was brought under control.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. West of 1811 Ave. L, directly north of the back end of the burning lumber yard, said they were awakened by three men who stormed onto the front porch and attracted their attention.

They said 15 or 20 men helped move out their furniture and load

HST Warned On Budget

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—President Truman flew back to Washington today from his Christmas holiday at Independence, Mo., and ran into a Republican warning not to submit a "slap-happy" budget to Congress.

The President and members of his White House staff landed in his personal plane, the Independence, at 2:59 p. m. CST, after taking off from Kansas City at 11:27 a.m. CST. The plane stopped briefly in St. Louis to pick up Treasury Secretary Snyder.

White House newsmen, who made a record-breaking flight from Kansas City in two hours and 42 minutes, landed well in advance of the President at National airport. Mr. Truman greeted them in a jovial mood. He said:

"You boys beat me in. I had a good trip and a good Christmas."

Goes To Office

The President immediately went to his office at the White House where his council of economic advisers held a full-dress review of the nation's economic outlook for 1950.

Mr. Truman's advisers will make public tomorrow night a preliminary discussion of the nation's economy looking forward to the annual economic report the President will send to Congress.

The hour and a half meeting was in progress when the Presi-

Wrecked Plane Of Houston Man Found

CRAB ORCHARD, Tenn., Dec. 28 (AP) — A ground search party reached the wrecked plane of John Anderson of Houston on Devil Step mountain near here today but Anderson was not in it.

Cpl. Charles Johnson of the Tennessee Highway patrol said he believes Anderson parachuted from his plane before it crashed Dec. 22.

Anderson's brother, James Anderson of Bristol, Tenn.-Va., was with the ground party which found the plane.

The patrol said "the search for Anderson will be discontinued tonight but will start again the first thing in the morning."

Devil Step mountain is in the Cumberland range.

The patrol reported earlier a plane's wreckage was sighted during an extensive air search. The ground party was organized immediately and spent several hours working its way up the rugged mountain.

Anderson has been missing since he took off from Columbus, Miss., for Bristol on Dec. 22.

Truman Extends Recognition To New Indonesian Republic

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—President Truman, bidding for close ties with the United States of Indonesia, said tonight the new state "may count upon sympathy and support of all who believe in democracy and the right of self government."

He added that the newly-born state has already shown that it will fight against encroachments by foreign dictatorships—an obvious reference to Russia.

Mr. Truman addressed a message to the people of Indonesia just a few hours after this country —a day behind schedule—extended formal diplomatic recognition to the anti-Communist government.

Mr. Truman also named H. Merle Cochran as the first U. S. ambassador. A loan for economic development and possibly a limited amount of military assistance is expected to follow.

In his statement, the President welcomed Indonesia into "the community of free nations" and said this country looks forward to its becoming a member of the United Nations.

"Indonesia has already demonstrated that the goal of the new

Indonesian Independence Will Cost U. S. Taxpayers Heavily

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The American State department's interest in the new United States of Indonesia will not come cheap to the American taxpayer.

American tax dollars to the tune of $101,600,000 have already been poured into that string of islands.

Those were Marshall plan dollars, gifts to the Netherlands, which ruled the islands until Tuesday when Indonesia gained its independence.

Colony Aid Okayed

Under the Marshall plan act it was permissible for a European country to spend part of its American gift on colonies, provided those dollars would help to put Europe back on its feet.

It was decided that $100,000,000 of the aid to the Netherlands could go to the East Indies. Some $64,100,000 was spent to put cotton, food and other items into the islands. Then the fighting between the Dutch and the Indonesians got so rough that Marshall plan headquarters cut off the funds.

But meanwhile, before the United Nations, U. S. State department representatives took a stand sympathetic to Indonesian independence.

Swiftly, this fall, the Dutch and the Indonesians came to a final decision. On Tuesday this week the Indonesians were granted their freedom. They are no longer a colony of the Dutch and hence no longer free to receive help from the American taxpayer under the Marshall plan as it was written.

Officials Jumped Gun

Marshall plan headquarters acknowledges that, seeing the deadline ahead, it quickly let out a bunch of "authorizations" so that the Indonesians would get the rest of that $100,000,000.

This promises a battle in the Congress ahead, at least from Senator Wherry (R-Neb). Wherry says "we didn't think this kind of transfer would go on when we voted for the Marshall plan. From here on out I will only vote for funds for the Far East if they are tied to a solid and well thought-out anti-Communist policy in the Far East. I don't think this last rush of money to Indonesia was justified."

After the final authorizations to Indonesia had been put through it was found they totaled $37,500,000, making the grand total $101,600,000—slightly over the authorized amount.

Elliott Roosevelt Arrives In Fort Worth To Visit Children

Churches Asked To Follow Preachments On Racial Question

AUSTIN, Dec. 28. (AP)— Texas Attorney General Price Daniel today in effect advised the Federal Council of Churches of Christ to practice what it preaches concerning non-segregation of races.

Daniel said he was willing to let the council file a brief in support of the Herman Marion Sweatt anti-segregation suit before the U. S. Supreme court on one condition:

The brief would have to disclose that denominational members maintain separate churches, church schools and congregations for whites and negroes in Texas and other southern states.

New York attorney Charles H. Tuttle requested permission to file the brief for the council, Daniel said.

Answering Tuttle's letter, the Texas attorney general wrote:

"On the point you seek to cover as to 'necessity and desirability' of separate facilities in this state, your practice is equally as important as your preachment."

Daniel noted that the largest denominations represented by the council in Texas are the Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

He said the Presbyterians declined to join in the council's brief. He also doubted that the council "speaks the true sentiment of its southern congregations or the actual practice of the northern congregations on this issue."

Sweatt, a Houston negro, has asked the Supreme court to declare Texas' segregated school system unconstitutional even if facilities are equal.

Sports contests at Chelmsford Jail, England, had cigarettes and tobacco as prizes.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Lubbock Couple Purchase Texas Avenue Drug Store

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Green have purchased the Texas Drugstore at Thirteenth and Texas avenue and assumed management Tuesday, it was announced Wednesday.

The name of the firm will be changed to Dick Green Drug, but no changes in policy are contemplated, Green said. He will restock the drugstore and is making plans for remodeling.

Green was connected with Wyle-Jarett Drug and later Jarett-West Drug from 1927 on. He entered the service during the war, and after returning was a member of the Avalanche-Journal advertising staff, working at Lavender and Hull drugstore at night.

Mrs. Green has been active in welfare work. During the war she was city juvenile officer, and she has also worked with the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association, the City-County Welfare association, and the State Department of Public Welfare. She taught school in Lubbock county for several years, at Roosevelt school.

Mr. and Mrs. Green are members of First Methodist church.

Lend-Lease Ice-Breaker Finally Returned To U.S. By Russians

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (U.P.)—Russia, after innumerable delays, has returned an ice-breaker which it got under wartime lend-lease.

The State department announced today that the ship was returned to U. S. naval authorities at Yokosuka, Japan, yesterday. U. S. Navy representatives reported that it was in satisfactory condition.

The ship, the South Wind, was one of three virtually new ice-breakers which the United States loaned to Russia in 1944 and 1945. The United States has been trying to get them back ever since the war ended.

The Soviet reported on Nov. 12 that the other two were caught in ice and could not be delivered until next spring.

Dewey Seen In Advisor's Role

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28 (U.P.)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has abandoned all presidential hopes, but wants to continue as a power in Republican politics, it was learned reliably today.

The twice-defeated GOP presidential nominee would prefer to return to a private law practice and play the role of "elder statesman" as former President Herbert Hoover and Alf Landon did.

Dewey, in a letter to his Oregon campaign manager, John Higgins, definitely removed himself as a presidential threat. He said "nothing could arise in the present or the future" which would make him change his mind.

The letter to Higgins was written to pave the way for Dewey to take up his activities as a titular leader effectively.

"Governor Dewey is planning on making numerous speeches on policy within the next few months," a source close to the governor said. "He will make what he believes is constructive criticism of Republican policies.

"Now, if the governor had not written that letter to Higgins taking himself out of the presidential picture you know what everyone would be saying. They would say that Dewey is a candidate again."

The New York Times said Dewey will "temporarily" leave politics and try to make a comeback in 1956 or 1960. The Times cited Dewey's recent announcement of plans to make political lectures at Princeton university. High sources at Albany, however, could give no support to the interpretation.

Democrats Keep Eyes Peeled For Pigeon Carrying Note To Truman

HAVANA, Ill., Dec. 28. (INS) — Democrats of all ages along the flyways from Illinois to Washington, D. C., kept their eyes peeled today for a pigeon—winged type —carrying a message addressed to President Truman.

The pigeon, bearing the tidings that Sen. Scot W. Lucas (D-Ill.), has announced his candidacy for reelection, struck strong headwinds and voluntarily called his trip to a temporary halt by perching atop of a nearby building.

Officials said the bird later resumed its trip, but they decided to backstop the pigeon message with a telephone call.

Texas Boy Is Fatally Shot While On Duck Hunting Trip

PARIS, Dec. 28. (AP) — James Archie Hutchins, 12, of the Atlas community near here, was accidentally shot and killed while he was out duck hunting today.

The boy was with his older brother, Lewis, 19.

The younger boy jumped up directly in the line of fire as ducks rose from a pool. A charge from a 12-gauge shotgun struck the side of the boy's head.

Justice of the Peace Fred Julian gave a verdict of accidental death.

MORNING THOUGHT

HERE is something to think about this week as you take inventory of the last year and of other times, noting that we are about to cross over into the latter half of the Twentieth century. The author is unknown:

If all the losses of the years,
The things which you have missed so long,
And mourned with unavailing tears,
Came trooping back with dance and song,
And stood expectant at your door
Would you take them back once more?

CRANBERRY SALAD

HERE is a recipe for the cranberry salad as used in the university dining service in Iowa City, Iowa. This particular one will serve 14 people, so you'll want to cut it down for your family.

Boil one cup of water with two cups of sugar until syrupy. Put one quart of washed and picked cranberries in syrup and cook until they burst. Remove from fire and let stand covered for ten minutes. Remove cover and cook another five minutes. Chill

When the cranberries are cooled, add two cups cut marshmallows, two diced apples, three sliced bananas, three cups orange sections and one-half cup broken pecans to the mixture. Keep cold until ready to serve.

LORENE McCLINTOCK

OUR nomination for the personality of the week is Miss Lorene McClintock, who has been the holiday guest of her parents in Slaton and who is returning to New York City via train by January 8.

Miss McClintock is a chic, slender young woman with light blue eyes and dark brown hair; a winning smile and a head full of sense. If you want to hear her, you might give a listen to KFYO at 10:15 o'clock this morning, because she is to be on the air for an interview.

Lorene and the Woman's Angle have been friends since several years ago when she sponsored an exhibit of oils in Lubbock and we introduced ourselves and talked for hours about everything in the world, including the paintings. She is an artist, a musician and her talented fingers turn out hats that would make Mr. John Gasp.

After teaching piano for a time in Pampa, Lorene went to New York because she had an idea that would revolutionize teaching at the ivories and decided she might as well present it where it would do the most good. She was successful and since then has written a book, "Everyone Can Play the Piano," that has been well received by teachers and critics alike.

The young Texan lectures and teaches. She devotes part of her time to helping to teach in the veterans' hospitals and also has classes at New York university.

All of this fame has not gone to Lorene's head. She says, with great sincerity, "I am grateful for whatever I may have done. It's true that everyone can learn to play the piano. It's amazing to learn the number of adults who at last are realizing an ambition they have cherished secretly from childhood."

Town Talk

MISSES Pat Mansell, Nancy Hess, Sandra Toombs, Ernestine Gammill and Sandra Stanton will be hostesses tonight at a holiday dance from 9 until 1 o'clock at the Lubbock Country club. Approximately 285 high school and college students will attend the affair.

Burl Hubbard's orchestra will provide music for the semi-formal dance.

A coke bar will be open to guests. During intermission, Mexican pinatas hanging from the ceiling will be broken, pouring forth an assortment of gaily-colored confetti and bubblegum. Other decorations will carry out a Christmas motif.

Honor guests will be Messrs. and Mesdames Fred Brown, E. J. Lowrey, Marlin Hayhurst, "Pat" Pattison, Bill Floyd, Bo Sexton, Scott Ballard, H. J. Bingham, R. B. Luker, George Langford, Mrs. Fred Standefer, and Misses Laurene Bussey and Dorothy Lomax.

Chaperones are to be Messrs. and Mesdames Walker Stanton, J. D. Gammill, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Mansell, Mrs. Tom Toombs, Dick Sugarick, Glen Hess and Misses Peggy Hess and Jane Hess.

Miss Fran Louise Roth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Roth, 3107 Thirty-first, left Lubbock Monday via plane to spend the holiday season with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Amster of Austin.

Miss Roth will return Jan. 2.

Miss Vicki Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Martin of 2508 Twenty-second, will leave Lubbock Jan. 10 to go to Washington, D. C., where she will join Congressman George Mahon's staff.

The attractive young woman will travel by train and will assume her new duties Jan. 16. She will stay at the YWCA until she finds an apartment.

Miss Martin is a graduate of Slaton High school and Texas Tech college. She is presently employed as Woman's Editor on the Southwestern Crop and Stock magazine.

Visiting in the C. C. Caldwell home, 3201 Twentieth, during the holiday season have been Mrs. Caldwell's cousin, H. L. Case, and his wife of Pampa, and her sister, Mrs. Emilu Betty of Jal, N. M.

The Cases will return to their home today, and Mrs. Betty left Lubbock Wednesday.

Christmas Eve about 25 of the Caldwell's friends payed them a traditional holiday visit at their home. The playroom was decorated in typical Yuletide fashion and added to the festive spirit which prevailed.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Welborn are in Lubbock from their lodge in Ruidoso, N. M., for a short holiday visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Morrisset have been Christmas guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Leonard of 2211 Twenty-second, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morrisset of 2420 Twenty-first.

The younger Mr Morrisset is a senior in the University of Texas Medical branch in Galveston. He recently received an appointment at the Parkland hospital in Dallas, where he will spend one year in internship in surgery beginning July 1.

The Lubbock visitors will leave Lubbock Friday.

OES Chapter Gives Party For Matron

Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, worthy matron of Freedom chapter of Order of Eastern Star, was honored with a surprise birthday party after a stated meeting of the lodge Tuesday night at the IOOF hall. She was presented with gifts and a cake was served.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Fred Holloman, A. L. and Vernell Bridges.

Mrs. Kleinschmidt presided for initiation of Mrs. Sybil Rose. Mrs. C. G. Millspaugh and daughter were guests.

Newlyweds Will Be At Home In Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Dick King, who were married in the Methodist parsonage in Veribest Dec. 21, will be at home in Lubbock at 1406 Ave W after the first of the year.

The bride is the former Miss Billie Jean Weatherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Weatherford of Veribest. Rev. H. G. Birdwell read a double ring service.

Mr. King is a student at Texas Tech college.

Use Turkey Leftovers

BEFORE—The noble bird in all his glory . . .

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Two important points about your holiday turkey are how you stuff it when it makes its first appearance, and how you extend it for later meals. If you use soft bread crumbs for the stuffing, keep them fluffy. No packing down while measuring—or after! If you pull the bread apart lightly with fork or fingers a one-pound white loaf should make about eight cups of crumbs. You'll need about one cup of dressing for each pound of turkey.

One of the best ways to extend leftover turkey is to cube the meat and couple it with noodles and a rich cheese-topped sauce, as directed in the following recipe. That turmeric called for gives the sauce a lovely golden color.

TURKEY TETTRAZINI

Ingredients: 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces egg noodles, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups turkey broth, 1/8 teaspoon turmeric, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 cups diced cooked turkey, 2 three-ounce cans sliced mushrooms (drained), ½ cup blanched shredded almonds, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 1/4 cup grated Swiss cheese.

Method: Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add egg noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler over boiling water. Blend in flour; add turkey broth and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add turmeric, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Remove from heat and stir in heavy cream. Add half the sauce to the noodles and place in a greased shallow baking dish. Add turkey, mushrooms and almonds to the remaining sauce. Place turkey mixture in the center of the noodles and sprinkle top with a mixture of Parmesan and Swiss cheese. Bake in a moderate (375 F.) oven for 30 minutes or until topping is lightly browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

AFTER—Turkey Tettrazini: glorified leftovers.

Open House Honors Mr. And Mrs. Day On Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Day, sr., were honored at their home in the Becton community Christmas Eve at an open house on their Golden Wedding day. All of their children and grandchildren were present, with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paden and children of Rome, Italy. Mrs. Paden is the former Mrs. Betty Burnett and lived with the Days from the time she was four years old.

Relatives in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Day, Jimmy and Patsy, of Galveston; Mr and Mrs. E. M. Fleniken of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Day of Petersburg; Miss Bobbye Day of San Angelo; Jerome Day, Jerry and Polly Day of Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cole and Sterley Bob of Petersburg.

Other relatives attending were Mrs. R. A. Rushing of Oklahoma City and Mrs. J. A. King of Fort Worth, Mrs. Day's sisters.

Miss Bobbye Day registered guests and Patsy Day played and sang old-time love songs at an organ.

Mrs. Day wore yellow roses; Mr Day wore a lapel bouttonniere of yellow carnations and members of the house party wore white carnation corsages, highlighted with gold ribbons.

The refreshment table was covered with a gold cloth with gathered skirt and centered with yellow roses. A three-tiered cake, lettered in gold, was served with punch ladeled from a crystal bowl.

The Days moved to their farm forty years ago and are a well-loved couple in the Becton community where they are active members of the Church of Christ. Mrs. Day, recently was given a life membership in the Becton Home Demonstration club, of which she is a charter member.

Vows Read Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Childers of Lubbock, Rt. 4, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Wilda Reynolds, to Crate Snider, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Snider of Spur, which took place in the parlor of First Methodist church Wednesday.

Miss Hallie Wall, pianist, played "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Indian Love Call" and traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Miss Dovie Parr as she sang "My Wonderful One."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue suit, with navy and winter pink accessories, and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Nan Powell, matron of honor, wore an ice blue suit with navy and rose accessories, and a corsage of rose camellias. George Link of Spur served as best man. Only family members attended the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will be at home near Ropesville.

Steel Tops Old Prewar Record

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (U.P.) — The steel industry's 1949 production topped any prewar year by millions of tons and its "order picture continues to look good," the Iron Age said today.

Output in the year now drawing to a close, the national metal-working weekly predicted, will be very close to 77,500,000 net tons of ingots and steel for castings; while finished steel shipments for 1949 will exceed 57 million net tons. While not a record —because of the partial satisfaction of demand pent-up during the war, the spring recession and the steel strike—this year's production topped the boom year of 1929 by 14 million tons and was also better than any other prewar year.

Picture Looks Good

Predicting that high level operations between 85 and 95 per cent of capacity will continue at least through next March, the magazine pointed out that "the steel order picture continues to look good," with cancellations "practically nil."

As the year ends, it added, there are at least the following five bright business prospects on the horizon:

1. Tremendous public works plans.
2. Continued heavy buying by utilities.
3. New road-building programs.
4. A high level of housing construction.
5. Good prospects for office buildings.

The Iron Age estimates the steel ingot operating rate at 85.5 per cent of rated capacity this week, off 9 points from last week because of the Christmas holiday shutdowns.

'Braille System' For Deaf Described To Scientists' Society

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.— An ingenious "braille system" for the deaf which may eliminate deafness as a social problem was described today to the American association for the Advancement of Science.

The 10,000 delegates to the convention also heard a woman scientist report that fungus may be a cause—possibly the cause—of cancer.

Dr. Norbert Wiener, mathematics professor of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, told the American Mathematical society how ordinary conversation may be "heard" by the hands through the breakdown of sound into five frequency bands—one for each finger.

Portable 'Receiver' Wanted

Dr. Wiener, delivering the annual Josiah Willard Gibbs lecture at the McMillan theater of Columbus university, described how he and several colleagues are working toward a completely portable "receiver" which may be worn in a flexible glove.

A tiny microphone will pick up the sounds of conversation, split them electrically among five finger keys, and transmit the vibrations to the fingers in a set of sensations which can be memorized beforehand, much as a blind man memorizes braille.

Although warning that much work yet remains before conclusions can be drawn, Dr. Irene Corey Diller of the Philadelphia Institution for Cancer research reported that she had found fungi in every type of cancer examined by her.

Twenty human beings and more than 100 mice suffering from cancer all showed the fungus growth. Significantly, Dr. Diller added:

"The fungi have been found in no control animals and in no tissues of normal animals and humans, except in breast tissue of a strain of mice which developes breast cancer in almost 100 percent of the cases."

Under previous techniques, Dr. Diller said, the fungal particles in tissue cells had been mistaken for degenerating blood cells.

ATLANTA. (U.P.) —J. W. Maxwell, a professional bondsman, wen to the police station to post bond for a theft suspect. When he returned to his office, he discovered his radio had been stolen.

Lucille Moore Marries At Church Here

First Presbyterian church was scene of the marriage of Miss Anna Lucille Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Moore of Amarillo, and Robert Lee Hicks, Tech student, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Dr. Jack M. Lewis read a double ring service before a setting of traditional white candles and greenery.

The bridegroom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Grady Hicks of 2717 Ryan Place Drive, Fort Worth.

Miss Eleanor Jackson, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Joan Booth who sang "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a bridal blue taffeta suit with matching nylon net hat and carried white camellias, showered with snapdragons.

Miss Kate Moore, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore plum moire and carried pink carnations.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Misses Kate and Susan Moore, who wore plum moire taffeta and carried pink carnations.

Jimmy Randals of Snyder was best man and ushers were Scott MacDonald of Dallas, Bedford Raley of Lubbock and Billy Bob MacMullun of Snyder.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jackson, 2113 Sixteenth. The bride's table was laid in white and silver and centered with a white double-heart cake which was served with green punch. Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview served the cake and Miss Dorothy Brown presided at the punch bowl.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Bedford Raley sister of the bridegroom. Misses Barbara Jackson and Elizabeth Stanley were other members of the house party.

When the couple left for a trip to Santa Fe, the bride wore a black and white sharkskin dress with black wool jersey jacket and blue spruce accessories.

After Sunday the couple will be at home in Lubbock. The bride, who attended Southern Methodist university where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, is a student at Texas Tech college. She is a member of Ko Shari club.

Mr. Hicks, who is a member of Kemas club, is a member of a pioneer West Texas family.

BAND LEADER SERIOUSLY ILL

AUSTIN, Dec. 28 (AP) — Col. George E. Hurt, director of the University of Texas Longhorn band, has developed a respiratory infection. His condition is slightly worse than it was several days ago, his physician reported today. Col. Hurt suffered two strokes eight days ago and was in serious condition. He had been reported greatly improved Sunday.

Famed American Author Claimed

MIAMI, Dec. 28 (INS) — Author Hervey Allen, who gave the world a story of love and adventure in his historical novel "Anthony Adverse," died today of a heart attack at his Miami home.

The novelist, who once remarked that his problem in writing was "to dig around the material that can be left out," was 60 years of age.

Allen lived with his wife in a small home known as "The Glades" in Miami's fashionable Coconut Grove suburb.

Wrote Many Books

Other books written by Allen include "Wampum and Old Gold," "The Bride of Huitzzil," "The Blindman," "Earth Moods," "Towards the Flame," "Israfel" (a biography of Edgar Allen Poe,) "New Legends," "Songs for Annette," "Action at Acquila," "The Forest and the Fort" and "The City in the Dawn."

Allen was also editor of "The Rivers of America" series.

The writer was born in Pittsburgh, Dec. 8, 1889. He attended the U. S. Naval academy, the University of Pittsburgh and Harvard.

The author served as a first lieutenant during World War I and also saw service on the Mexican border in 1916. During World War II he acted as a consultant for the War Manpower commission. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity and Sigma Chi social fraternity.

Allen is survived by his wife, Ann Andrews Allen, and three children, Marcia Andrews, Mary Ann and Richard Francis.

Westerner Quintet Defeats Abilene Eagles, 38 To 35

Accuracy On Free Throws Enables Lubbock To Win

Turner, Sexton Lead Scoring As Cookmen Avenge Earlier Defeat

(Special To The Avalanche)

ABILENE, Dec. 28. — Accuracy from the free throw line enabled the Westerners of Lubbock to defeat Abilene's Eagles, 38-35, here tonight in a non-district basketball clash before a large crowd of Eagle supporters at the high school gym.

The two teams fought on even terms throughout the contest, and each shared the lead on many occasions before Lubbock pulled ahead in the last three minutes and then held on. With the lead tied at 33-33, Westerner Guard Morris Turner hit two field goals and Carl Ince looped in a free throw to insure the victory, Abilene got but two points on a goal by Hub Ingraham as Lubbock controlled the ball.

10th Win For Lubbock

The victory was the 10th for Lubbock in 12 starts and gave the team revenge for a 43-41 loss to the Eagles last week on the Westerner home court.

Abilene held a decided edge in field goals, hitting 14 from the field while Lubbock was making but 11. From the free throw line, however, it was a different story. Coach David Cook's visiting Westerners connected 16 times on charity tosses while the Eagles were able to hit but seven. Lubbock missed six and Abilene missed 12 free throws.

High scorer for the evening was Guard Morris Turner of the Westerners with 11 points, and Jimmy Sexton had 10 markers. Abilene was led by Jack Stuard with 10, and Don Strange made nine points. The accuracy of Stuard in the first meeting of the two teams spelled the difference.

Take Early Lead

The Westerners took an early lead, pushing it to 11-8 at the end of the first quarter and then holding a 16-15 margin at halftime.

In the third stanza the Eagles wrested the lead from the Lubbock quintet, going ahead, 26-25. The two teams battled on even terms through most of the final quarter, with the score deadlocked at 33-33 with three minutes left.

Then Lubbock took the initiative once again after the three minute rest period to go out in front for the last time.

Turner hit a shot from far out to push the margin to 35-33, and then Carl Ince sank a charity toss to make the score, 36-33. Another bucket by Turner, this time from close in, gave Lubbock its final score, with Abilene able to make but two points the remainder of the game.

The nearness of the battle in the closing minutes was shown by the score, and the count was knotted four times in the latter stages of the final quarter.

Each team had 21 fouls marked up against it, and two Westerners, Jim Wilson and Ince, fouled out of the contest while Vol Montgomery went out through the five-foul route for Abilene.

Big Spring Next

Lubbock's next opponent is Big Spring at Big Spring on Jan. 3. District play opens Jan. 6 for the Westerners when Odessa invades Chapman fieldhouse in Lubbock.

Lubbock won the "B" team game by defeating Abilene, 28-24. High scorer for Lubbock was Sammy Adams with seven points. Tommy Yelvington had six, Garnet Reeves five and Dean White four.

Abilene led at the half, 14-12.

Seixas Scores Upset Over Earl Cochell

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. (INS). Earl Cochell, the nation's sixth ranked amateur, was eliminated this afternoon as other seeded players advanced in the annual Sugar Bowl invitational tennis tournament at New Orleans.

Cochell, of Los Angeles, beat Sidney Schwartz of Brooklyn in an initial match this morning, 6-0, 6-4. He lost this afternoon, however, to Vic Seixas, of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-4. Seixas got a similar victory earlier over Dick Mouledous, of New Orleans.

Top-seeded Gardnar Mulloy, of Miami, Arthur Larsen, of San Francisco, Herbert Flam, of Los Angeles and Seixas moved to the semi-finals with second round victories this afternoon.

Mulloy, fourth-ranking in U. S. amateur tennis, defeated Vincent Distefano, of New Or'eans, 6-4, 6-1, then beat Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, Ohio, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4. Trabert eliminated Herbert Behrens, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 7-5, 6-3.

Ben Hogan To Attend Three West Coast Golf Tourneys

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28 (AP) — Ben Hogan was in a mood to get back to playing golf today.

He and his wife, Valerie, boarded a train here this morning for the west coast to attend three tournaments.

But he wasn't sure he will be out on the course competing.

"There's a possibility that I'll play," Hogan said. "But right now I can't say.

"I'll just have to wait and see how I'm feeling and how my game is working. One thing for sure; I'm not going out there and shoot in the eighties!"

Wyoming Quint Moves Into Finals

Oklahoma City Gains Upset Win Over Ags

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 28 (AP) — Darkhorse Oklahoma City university and second-seeded Wyoming university tonight moved into the finals of the All-College basketball tournament here. They meet at 9:15 p.m. (CST) Thursday.

Oklahoma City upset defending champion Oklahoma A. and M. 37-35 and Wyoming breezed by Arkansas 40-26.

A. and M. and Arkansas meet for third place in the first night contest. In tomorrow's afternoon games Baylor plays Texas for the consolation title and Vanderbilt goes against Alabama for seventh place.

Wyoming jumped into an early lead and was never threatened by Arkansas in their semi-final contest.

Wyoming's Arnie Flinn led the scoring with 12 points while Arkansas' Bob Ambler scored 10 to top his team.

The Wyoming-Arkansas game was anti-climatic after the hectic OCU-Oklahoma Aggie game which broke A&M's five-year domination of the tournament.

The final minute of the contest turned into a hectic fight for the ball with two men thrown out of the game for swinging it out at each other. OCU, coached by Doyle Parrack—a former pupil of Aggie Coach Hank Iba, jumped into the lead in the opening minute and led the entire contest.

The Aggies were seeking their sixth straight All-College title and ninth in the 14-year history of the meet.

Oklahoma City took a 23-15 edge at halftime against the Aggies and began freezing the ball with five minutes left and the count at 33-28.

Miller Helps Aggies

Neither team could score for three minutes but the Aggies finally broke through when John Miller, six-five sophomore center, hit two free shots. OCU came back to make the score 35-30 when Ferrill Craig, little five-ten guard, dropped in a goal. Norman Pilgrim cut the score to 35-32 on a two-pointer and with one minute left OCU Center Don Slocum dropped in a free shot.

Seymour cut the lead to two points when he stole the ball and scored.

In a tempestuous final 45 seconds, Aggie Don Johnson and Craig bumped into each other and began swinging. They were put out of the game. Don Haskins hit a free shot for the Aggies to make the score 36-35.

As time ran out, Slocum was fouled and added the winners' final point.

Craig led the scoring with 14 points while Aggie Center Jack Shelton hit 11 before fouling out with four minutes left. The victory is OCU's seventh straight and the Aggies' first loss in 18 All-College tournament games. Their last loss was in 1943.

Texas defeated the University of Alabama 48-41 today in a first round consolation match.

Texas held the lead all the way with a 19-15 margin at halftime. Tom Hamilton of Texas was high scorer with 15 points.

Alabama's Dick McKenzie trailed him with 14 points.

Baylor broke a half-time tie to defeat Vanderbilt in the second consolation match of the day, 61-53.

After the intermission score of 24-24, Ralph Johnson's six straight points put the Southwestern conference team on the road to victory. Baylor's Bill Hickman and Odell Preston took scoring honors with 16 points each. Dave Kardokus hit 15 points for Vanderbilt.

CAGE WINNERS NAMED

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 28. (AP) — South San Antonio and Harlandale won opening games in the 16th annual San Antonio Invitational tournament today. South San Antonio eliminated New Braunfels, 35-32 and Harlandale whipped Edison, 43-29 in open class competition.

Wrestlers Beat Bear In Arena

Man defeated beast last night at Sled Allen's wrestling arena, but it took five grapplers 10 minutes to subdue Gorgeous Gus, the wrestling bear, in a wrestle royal.

Gus put up a fine struggle for nine minutes, but with Pat O'Dowdy, George Overhull, Bob Cummings, Jack Papenheim and Pierre LaBell working against him, he was unable to keep his footing and was finally spreadeagled.

Then the five men went after each other, with Pat O'Dowdy being the first to go. Next two eliminated were Papenheim and LaBell, and this twosome put on a fine display of wrestling in the semi-final bout.

In 17 minutes of the first fall, the two traded many holds before LaBell dropped Papenheim with a series of dropkicks and a shoulder pin.

Papenheim evened the match in the second canto, winning it in 13 minutes with an inside twist toehold, but LaBell won the third fall and the match in three minutes with an armlock and twist.

The semi-main event was mostly clean, hard wrestling, and a large crowd of fans showed their appreciation of the match.

Meeting in the final event were Cummings and Overhull, with Cummings outlasting Overhull to win.

The Oregon grappler dropped Overhull after 11 minutes of the first fall with a cat toehold, but Overhull won the second in 13 minutes with a full Nelson.

The final fall was a good one, with fast action before Cummings trapped Overhull with an inside cat toehold in 14 minutes to end the show.

Miler Jack Lovelock Killed In Accident

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP) — Dr. Jack Lovelock, a slender, curly-haired athlete who came out of New Zealand to become the world's greatest mile runner in the mid-thirties, died under a subway train in Brooklyn today.

Three cars of an eight-car local ground over his body after he apparently had suffered an attack of dizziness and fallen upon the track.

A seemingly effortless runner, Lovelock gave perhaps his most brilliant performance in the 1936 Olympics at Berlin when he set a new world and games record of 3 minutes, 47.8 seconds in winning the 1,500 meters race, metric equivalent of the mile.

Earlier, in July of 1933, the shy, diffident Oxford scholar had set a world's record of 4:07.6 for the mile in a dual meet at Princeton between Oxford-Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell. It was a stirring duel in which Bill Bonthron of Princeton also lowered the existing standard with his time of 4:08.7.

Both the world records for 1,500 meters and one mile now are held by Gundar Haegg of Sweden at 3:43 and 4:01.4, respectively, but Lovelock took his Olympics mark with him in death today.

Checker Cab Drops Tech, 61-55

Jackson Sparks Raider Rally

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 28. (Spl.). The Checker Cab independent basketball quintet of San Angelo choked off a last-half Texas Tech rally here tonight to down the Red Raiders, 61-55.

The Cabbies' victory avenged their 62-43 loss to the Techsans 10 days ago at Lubbock.

Coach Polk Robison's Raiders were ice cold throughout the first half of tonight's game, hitting only six of 40 floor shots during the first 20 minutes.

By halftime, the San Angeloans had piled up a 36-17 margin which Tech never overcame, despite a strong finish. The closest the visitors came to pulling even was three points, at 59-56, in the last two minutes of play.

Jackson Paces Rally

Chester Jackson sparked the Tech rally, getting 12 of his 14 points in the final period. Verdell Turner, however, was top Raider scorer for the night, with 16 counters.

John Klick, a forward who formerly played for Eureka, Ill., college, led the Cabbie scoring with 17 points. Keith Long, ex-Indiana university cager, pitched in 16, and Herman Hopkins, a center from North Texas State Teachers college, came through with 11.

Fouls proved costly to the Techsans, who committed 24 personals. Gene Gibson, rangy center who turned in yeoman service off the backboards, fouled out after seven minutes of play in the last half.

The victors' winning margin came from the free throw line, where they hit 17 shots to only nine for Tech. The Raiders had a 23-22 edge in field goals.

The Robisonmen, who now have a 5-4 record for the season, return to action at Lubbock Friday night when they play hosts to the Wayland college Pioneers of Plainview. Gametime will be 8 p.m., with tickets available to the public at $1 each.

Three Golden Gloves Entries Are Received

Robert L. Stice, a 19-year-old Reese Air Force base soldier, is the first fighter to enter Lubbock's 1950 regional Golden Gloves tournament, to be held Jan. 30-Feb. 3 in Texas Tech gym.

Stice, a member of the 3500 Medical group at the local air base, entered the open middleweight division. Information on his official entry blank indicated that he has had previous amateur ring experience on Guam, winning four of his nine fights to date. He has never before competed in a sanctioned Golden Gloves tourney.

Two other entries, both in the novice class, also were received Wednesday by tournament officials. Gilbert Garcia, 16-year-old Latin-American residing at 202 Ave. K, Lubbock, entered the featherweight division. Garcia competed in last year's Lubbock GG meet, winning one of his two bouts.

Kenneth Crawford, a 16-year-old residing at 606 Ave. B, Lubbock entered the lightweight division. Crawford also has seen previous action here, winning a bout in last year's novice competition.

Plans for the five-night regional tourney are progressing satisfactorily, officials said Wednesday. Ticket reservations for the event, jointly sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal and the Texas Tech Matador club, are now being accepted at the Tech athletic office.

A Gold Coast $4 stamp dated 1889 was sold in London the other day for $420.

WESTERNER DRIVE-IN WINS

Westerner Drive-In Theater racked up a 71 to 50 practice basketball victory over the Lubbock VFW quintet at North Air Base Wednesday night. Dave Loyd led the Westerner with 32 points. W. C. Self scored 24 points for the winners. High point man for the losers was Washington with 24 points.

Tech Gridders Due To Arrive In Fresno Today For Saturday Tilt

Entertainment Is Set For Alumni

Texas Tech's football team will get a rousing reception this afternoon when it steps off the train at Fresno, Calif., and plans are underway in that city to entertain the squad and alumni.

The Raiders began their trip at 8:40 a. m. Westerday, with arrival in Fresno scheduled for 2:05 p. m. today. In addition to Tech personnel, there were 14 fans accompanying the team on the special pullmans.

On Saturday the Techsans meet San Jose State's Spartans in the Raisin Bowl, and earlier a breakfast has been planned for Double T alumni, with a booth set up in a Fresno hotel for registering former Tech students.

Planned for the Raiders late today is a brief workout to get the team limbered up after its long train ride across New Mexico and Arizona, and a drill Friday afternoon will put the finishing touches to the Raiders' preparations.

Members of the team were in good shape mentally and physically for the trip, and hopes of a victory were riding high in practice. Last minute injuries were sustained by Jerrel Price and J. B. Mahler, but both are expected to be ready for action Saturday.

From San Jose comes a report that the Spartans were boning up on the Raiders' style of play Wednesday through movies of previous Tech games, with an offensive line scrimmage scheduled for that afternoon.

Coach Bill Hubbard's San Jose eleven is in good shape, with the exception of Bill Bonietti, a guard, who has a bruised side.

GEORGETOWN TEAM ARRIVES

EL PASO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Georgetown university's football team landed here shortly after 6 p. m. (CST) and was paraded through downtown El Paso. The Georgetown eleven will meet Texas Western university in the Sun Bowl game here Jan. 2.

It is encouraging to note that entries for next month's local Golden Gloves regional tournament already are trickling in, for this indicates that some of the participants are beginning early preparations for the event.

As anyone familiar with Golden Gloves competition will substantiate, there's no substitute for proper conditioning. In fact, I would estimate that in at least 70 per cent of all GG bouts (and I consider this a conservative figure), conditioning is a more important factor than boxing skill. For this reason, not to mention the fact that well-conditioned boys put on a much more interesting show, I hope that all the 1950 Lubbock entrants will begin their training programs without delay.

Incidentally, if any prospective entrants are interested in obtaining information outlining a sound training routine, I'll be glad to supply a conditioning program given me by LaVern Roach, one of the most conscientious physical conditioners I've ever known. Drop a post card to this department if you would like a brief outline of the training program recommended by Roach, himself an ex-Golden Gloves national champ who later attained fame in professional boxing ranks.

Tickets for the Feb. 13 banquet of the South Plains Officials and Coaches association, at which Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson will be guest speaker, now may be obtained from Curtis Barrett at the city recreation department office for $2.50 each. A full-length movie of the Jan. 2 Sugar Bowl game also will be shown at the banquet, to be held in the local VFW hall, which has a seating capacity of about 500 persons . . . The Kramer-Gonzales tennis tour swings into Texas in mid-February. Scheduled dates are Dallas, Feb. 17; Corpus Christi, Feb. 21; San Antonio, Feb. 22; Houston, Feb. 24; and Austin, Feb. 25. The pro troupe now is staging an exhibition series in Europe, with Kramer continuing to mop up on Gonzales with monotonous regularity . . . The 61 points scored by Vanderbilt against Oklahoma A&M Wednesday night constitutes a new scoring mark against the Aggies. The previous single-game high against Hank Iba's team was 54 tallies . . . Another grid banquet worth noting on your calendar is the Jan. 19 all-District 3-AA affair at Lamesa, which has TCU Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer as featured speaker. Tickets, at $1.50 per plate, may be obtained from Bob Harrell, Lamesa High school mentor . . . Hohum dept.: The University of Arizona basketball team now has won 55 consecutive games on its home court. Too bad they don't hold national cage tournaments at Tucson —where the Wildcats probably would win in a waltz!

Except for the date of a tilt here with the Fort Worth Cats, the Lubbock Hubbers' 1950 spring training exhibition schedule has been completed. It includes: March 18, McAllen at Donna; 20, Harlingen at Donna; 22, Brownsville at Brownsville; 24, McAllen at McAllen; 25, Corpus Christi at Donna; 27, Harlingen at Harlingen; 9, Brownsville at Donna; 30, Alice at Alice; April 1, Robstown at Robstown; 2, Corpus Christi at Corpus Christi; 3, Comfort (semi-pro) at Comfort; 4, San Angelo at San Angelo; 5, Abilene at Abilene; 6, Lamesa at Lamesa; 8, Oklahoma City here; 9, Amarillo here; 11, Albuquerque here; 12, 13, Wichita Falls here; 15, Borger at Borger; and 16, Amarillo at Amarillo. There's a possibility that Austin and Waco will be added to the road exhibition schedule, according to General Manager Harry Faulkner . . . Bob Kennedy, the Cleveland utility man, has been hit by a pitched ball only once in his eight years as a major leaguer . . . George Kell, Detroit dynamiter who won the American league batting championship last season, is the only third baseman ever to gain the AL crown . . . Did you notice that all five of the regular pitchers with the lowest earned-run averages in the National league were lefthanders? . . . Steve Van Buren established a new one-game pro grid record by carrying the ball 31 times from scrimmage in this year's 60-minute playoff between Philadelphia and Los Angeles, which gives you a good idea as to the tremendous "workhorse" effort of Littlefield's Tom Bailes in lugging the leather 36 times during the 48-minute state Class A championship tilt with Mexia.

Tar Heels Get Big Welcome

DALLAS, Dec. 28. (AP).— North Carolina's Tar Heels flew into Dalla today, received the biggest welcome a Cotton Bowl team ever got and went through a brisk work-out to which everybody except the press and photographers were barred.

Cotton Bowl officials and Dallas civic and business leaders were in the crowd of 3,000 who turned out to meet the first of the bowl teams to arrive. Rice, the other eleven, won't come to Dallas until Sunday — the day before the game.

Dan D. Rogers, chairman of the board of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association, told the visitors they had snubbed the bowl last year but that this time "when you leave old "Big D' you'll say phooey on the rest of this bowl business, and you'll want your sons to come to the Cotton Bowl."

He told the team, which last year switched to the Sugar Bowl at the last minute, "you slapped us last year but we are turning the other cheek."

Coach Carl Snavely said his team "in the overall" was in good condition but that it needed work. He planned morning practice sessions until the day of the game, figuring it would be easier to meet the busy Cotton Bowl schedule of events that way. He said Joe Neikirk, his offensive center, would not play in the game. Neikirk suffered a cut hand when he fell on a bottle after the regular season was over. The injury has not responded sufficiently to treatment.

Charlie Justice, the All-America back, is in better condition than anytime since early season but still has trouble with an akle injury. Others on the squad are in tip-top shape.

On hand to greet the squad were President Tyree Bell of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association; Jim Hudson, Dallas man representing the North Carolina alumni; Rogers, and Otto Eisenlohr, Dallas business man who represents Rice on the Cotton Bowl board. Eisnlohr substituted for. Mayor Wallace Savage of Dallas, who was unable to attend.

The North Carolina players each received a 10-gallon hat from a Southern Methodist university coed.

Doak Walker, the Southern Methodist All-America, was on hand to greet Justice and the two had a long talk. They never had seen each other before although strong admirers of each other.

Immediately, they decided to go together next Tuesday to Jacksonville, Fla., where they will captain teams in the Senior Bowl. Art Weiner and Kenny Powell, North Carolina ends, and Dick McKissack, Southern Methodist fullback, will go with Walker and Justice, the party flying to Jacksonville.

Warm, Rainy Weather Slows Kerr County Deer, Turkey Kill

KERRVILLE, Dec. 28. (AP)—Long periods of warm and drizzly weather cut down the expected kill of deer and turkey in Kerr County this year.

But approximately 900 buck deer and 400 wild turkey gobblers have been placed in cold storage here since the start of the 46-day hunting season. The season closes one half hour after sunset Saturday.

Texas Western Solid Favorite In Sun Bowl

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)— Georgetown's football team left by air for the Sun Bowl today in a familiar role: They are 13-point underdogs in their Jan. 2 game with Texas Western at El Paso.

This is the sixth time this season the Hoyas have been cast in such a role. Yet on the road they proved to be giant killers when they were supposed to come out on the short end of the score. On foreign gridirons, they met Holy Cross, Wake Forest, Boston college, Fordham and Denver university. And only Fordham downed Georgetown.

Despite their mediocre record of five wins and four losses for the whole season, the Hoyas were confident when they left National airport that their first bowl victory was in the offing. Only once before have they participated in one of the annual classics. That was back in 1941, when they dropped a 14-7 tilt to Mississippi State in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Unlike most bowl teams, Georgetown has gone through only light workouts for the game against the Miners. The team hasn't scrimmaged since Dec. 20, and only three pregame drills are scheduled at El Paso.

This past regular season was the Hoyas' brightest since before the war, when the Washington (D.C.) school was one of the East's grid powers.

The school first came to the fore as a football giant in the early 1900's. In 1938 Georgetown started an unbeaten streak which lasted until its last game of 1940. Those three years produced some great stars, among them Augie Lio at guard and Al Blozis at tackle.

Since 1948 the Hoyas have completely revamped their setup, and all the changes seem to have worked out well.

Kentucky Hit By More Injuries

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 28. (AP)—Kentucky's Wildcats, plagued with injuries since the start of their Orange Bowl training more than a week ago, went through a rough workout today and suffered some more casualties

Big Doug Moseley, first string offensive center, received a shoulder bruise during the 90-minute workout but the injury was not believed serious enough to prevent him from playing against Santa Clara in the 16th annual Orange Bowl classic Jan. 2.

Bill Boller, 173-pounder of Gary, Ind., who recently was shifted from center to fullback, passed out during a huddle but he too was believed all right for future practice and for the game.

Captain Harry Ulinski, first string defensive center, and reserve End Ben Zaranka both watched the workout in street clothes. Ulinski came down with a bad case of flu yesterday but is recovering rapidly. He probably will work out tomorrow.

Zaranka is recovering from a bad knee sprain, whether or not he will be in condition to play next Monday is still undecided.

Fullback Ralph Genito worked in shorts on the sidelines for the first time since his ankle injury last Thursday. He said the injury was healing well and probably would be in shape for the game.

The Wildcats went through the toughest workout since their arrival here Saturday from their training camp at Cocoa, Fla.

TEXAS CALLED HEART OF GROWTH

Economic Health Of Southwest 'Extremely Good' Sawyer Says

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.— Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said today business conditions in the Southwest are "extremely good" and should continue so in 1950.

Reporting to the White House on his personal inspection of the economic situation over the country, he said:

"The Southwest has been experiencing a period of economic growth reminiscent of the opening of the western frontier."

"The heart of this development is in Texas," he added:

"Striking testimony was provided in all of my meetings there of what it has meant in terms of business conditions through the present year.

"The 1949 declines experienced in areas and business lines elsewhere appear to have been not nearly so noticeable in Texas, and recovery seems to have been achieved more rapidly.

"Indeed, numerous individual businessmen made reports to the effect that in many instances bank loans and debits, drugstore, restaurant, gasoline, automobile and general retail sales would run ahead of 1948 levels both in dollars and otherwise."

The only somber aspects of Sawyer's report on the Southwest concerned the petroleum and livestock industries.

Domestic Cut Forced

Large imports of oil from the Far East have forced cutbacks in domestic production, hitting independent operators in particular, he said, and lower livestock prices adversely affected ranchers.

He reported the effects were felt more severely in Oklahoma than in Texas.

"Comments made to me on business conditions in Oklahoma indicate that, while the same general pattern described above has also been felt there, business conditions have conformed more closely to national trends," his report to John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, said.

Lower Income Noted

"That situation was in part related to a lower volume of livestock sales, lower livestock prices, and thus, lower levels of farm income and stockyard and packing house employment than prevailed in 1936.

"An exception to the otherwise satisfactory picture given me on conditions in Texas and Oklahoma concerned a falling off in domestic crude oil production and in employment in that and related fields."

Businessmen in the Southwest, as elsewhere, "were much disturbed over the federal deficit" and urged greater economy in government, he noted.

Recognition Likely

States should recognize the Chinese Communists if that will "best serve America's interests."

Connally has been in the position of defending the administration's China policy on the Senate floor during the last session of Congress. He is known to have felt strongly that there was little which could be done to straighten out the Nationalist government during the past year.

Whatever views he expresses publicly tomorrow will lay the foundation for the stand he will have to take as Senate Democratic spokesman on foreign policy in the new session which opens next Tuesday.

Fire Razes Gin

nearby Heckville quit work and rushed to the blaze to see if their aid was needed, H. Heck, gin owner stated. "By the time we arrived," he said, "there was nothing anyone could do to stop the flames."

Spectators from farms in the vicinity and passing motorists crowded to the scene of the fire and watched until the building was a smouldering shambles.

A water storage tank, containing approximately 1,000 gallons, was within 25 feet of the burning building and could not be utilized because there was no way of pumping the water.

Julius Yetts of Becton, one of the first to arrive on the scene of the blaze, said, "I have never seen anything go up in flames so fast. There was no way of stopping the fire moments after it began."

where he was working 25 miles north of Sunray, Tex.

Jesse McCauley, 38, sought for robbery jobs in Edna and Pasadena, who died yesterday from gunshot wounds suffered Saturday night.

Billy Verne Mitchell, 19, of Denver City, was killed late Wednesday in a truck accident near Andrews.

RESIGNATION ASKED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28. (AP)—Resignation of James Roosevelt as Democratic national committeeman was asked today by the Young Democrats of California. An announcement by William J. Tiernan and Henry James, southern and northern chairmen respectively of the group, said the action was a result of Roosevelt's entry into the race for governor.

American Released

treated "fairly well," but had to write an explanation for each entry in his personal and official appointment book. He said he must have written more than 10,000 words a day in longhand for five days.

Jacobson said he was asked about alleged activities of the AJDC in helping Hungarian Jews leave the country illegally, and about relations with Robert A. Vogeler, an American official of the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation, and Edgar Sanders, a British official of the corporation. Vogeler and Sanders have been held by Hungarian police for nearly six weeks. The two are accused of turning the Hungarian subsidiary of the corporation into a spy and sabotage organization.

Did Not Know Others

Jacobson told police he did not know Vogeler and Sanders.

Throughout the imprisonment, he was kept in a small office at 60 Andrassy UTCA, police headquarters. He was not allowed to see anyone from the American legation.

A small divan was his bed, and when he was allowed to sleep he had to face an electric light and keep his hands uncovered.

He said he is returning to his family in the United States as soon as possible. His wife and two children are in Chicago. He is a native of Buffalo, N. Y.

Jacobson was arrested soon after crossing the Hungarian border after a recent visit to the United States.

Student Killed

He reported it to Sheriff F. E. Peacock and Deputy Sheriff John Suggs, who then investigated.

Sheriff's officer said the road on which the accident happened is being repaired by road crews.

Victim's Chest Crushed

A Singleton Funeral home ambulance from Andrews was sent out to get Mitchell's body. The driver said Mitchell had suffered a crushed chest, and that both legs and arms had been broken. He was dead upon arrival at the hospital.

The body was taken to the Singleton Funeral home in Seminole, but funeral arrangements were incomplete late tonight. Funeral home attendants said services would be at the First Baptist church in Denver City.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Dorothy Jean and Linda Kay, both of Denver City.

Oilmen Charge British With Ban On U.S. Petroleum Sales

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP) — Oil executives said today they would protest to U. S. government officials what they termed an extension of a British ban on American oil sales.

Representatives in Japan of American oil companies reported to their home offices yesterday the British government had decreed that sterling balances built up by the Japanese may not be used to buy oil from U.S. companies unless the crude comes originally from sterling sources (British companies).

A further restriction was that sterling obtained by U. S. companies from such sales must be used to buy Japanese goods for export to sterling countries.

Oil sources here complained that if the British plan proceeds unopposed, American companies may be frozen out of Japan, as well as the sterling areas.

The latest British action carried forward another step a recent British government suggestion that Japan use part of her 10,000,000 pound ($28,000,000) sterling balance to buy British oil. Earlier this month the United Kingdom, British Empire countries and colonies took action to ban dollar oil and substitute sterling oil for consumption.

Dewey Declares He Will Not Run For President Again

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared flatly tonight that he will not seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1952 or at any future time.

The governor characterized as "untruthful" a report that he planned to bide his time and seek the White House nomination again in 1956 or 1960.

Dewey said:

"Those reports were unfetted by knowledge of the facts."

The 1944 and 1948 Republican nominee said that the 1952 situation was covered in a letter he wrote to John C. Higgins, of Portland, Ore., in which he asserted he would not seek nor accept the nomination at that time.

"No more definitive statement could be made," he said.

Victoria Man Dies Of Hurts Received In Street Gunfight

VICTORIA, Dec. 28. (AP)— One victim of a gun battle here Monday was buried today and two others who were wounded remained under treatment.

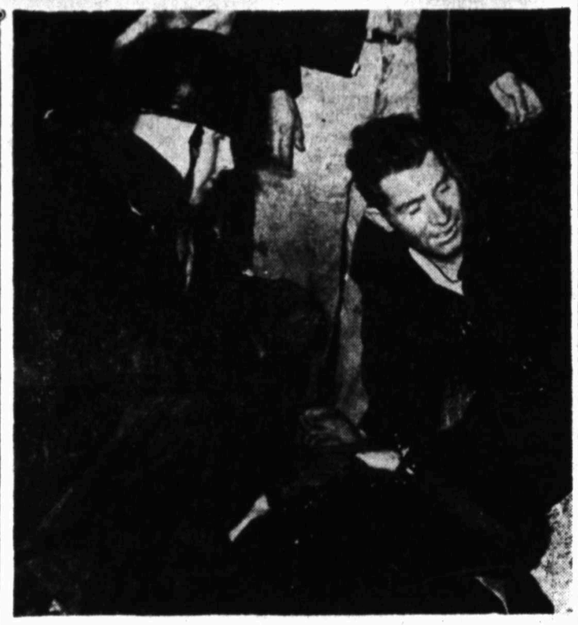

The victim was Bryan Messick, 28, year-old oil field worker.

He was with Chester Cawthorn, 26, who started firing pistol shots into a house on the outskirts of Victoria.

Sheriff W. F. Crawford said the shots brought Roy Eackelbary, 41, from a house next door and Eackelbary started returning the fire.

Eackelbary, who was wounded, was charged with murder in Messick's death. Cawthorn, wounded also, was charged with assault with intent to murder.

Two Hobbs Men Are Hurt As Well Burns In Monument Field

(By The Associated Press)

HOBBS, N. M., Dec. 28. — Flaming crude oil and gas shot flames 40 feet into the air tonight as a well burned in New Mexico's largest oil-producing pool.

Two volunteer firemen were burned when a gasoline tank on a swabbing unit exploded from the heat.

M. L. Buskin, 40, a garage parts manager, received burns on his face, hands and ankles. Harry King, 42, a switcher for Standard Oil company, received burns on his face.

The fire broke out about 6 p. m. in Amerada Petroleum company's LP2 well about eight miles from here in the Monument pool. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The Hobbs volunteer fire department was called to the scene. Tractors and trucks were used to drag white hot pieces of debris from the fire. Foam trucks were used in an unsuccessful attempt to control the fire.

The fire was extinguished three hours and 14 minutes after the blaze broke out. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

The fire belched flames 200 feet into the air three times, scattering some 1,500 spectators for safety each time.

Truman Extends

state will be true nationalism for Indonesia and that aggressive acts and efforts on the part of foreign dictatorships to subvert this newly won independence will be resisted with vigilance," Mr. Truman said.

New Nation Emerges

"The world has seen a nation grow in the vast archipelago of Indonesia. A new republic now has emerged from the chaos and disruption of war and a new state is demonstrating that it will follow a course of peace and order so that all men in Indonesia may work fruitfully in your richly endowed islands to fulfill the promise of a new era."

Cochran, American representative in the long negotiations which brought political freedom to the 77,000,000 Indonesians, reached Batavia and presented his credentials even before the White House acted. A delay to his plane, due to weather, prevented carrying out the original plan to time this gesture with yesterday's inaugural ceremonies.

The choice of Cochran, an ace career diplomat, produced several shifts in the assignments of American representatives abroad. Cochran was named ambassador to Pakistan last March but never filled the post because of his service on the United Nations commission for Indonesia.

To succeed him in Pakistan, the State department said Avra M. Warren, of Maryland, also a career diplomat, will be transferred from Finland, where he now is ambassador. Warren's successor at Helsinki was not disclosed.

Mr. Truman named Edward A. Dow, jr., of Nebraska to succeed Cochran on the UN commission. He is a career diplomat who has seen service in Batavia.

The State department had planned in advance to make a gesture of American friendship when sovereignty was transferred by the Netherlands. As it turned out, however, the U.S. lagged behind a dozen or more European and Oriental nations in extending the hand of friendship to the Indonesians.

If military assistance is extended to enable the new regime to deal with expected Communist trouble making, funds presumably would have to come out of the current $1,310,000,000 arms aid program.

Funeral Rites Are Held For Former Brownfield Resident

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 28. (Spl.). Graveside services for Paul E. Bagley, 32, former Brownfield resident, were held at Brownfield cemetery at 4:30 p.m. today. Burial was in charge of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock.

Bagley was found dead in a room he rented in Lubbock about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The city physician there said death was due to asphyxiation caused by fumes from a gas heater.

Survivors include his mother and a sister, both of Brownfield, and a brother Regie, of Sweetwater.

Lotteries were legal in Georgia until 1877 and included some operated by the state government.

HST Warned

dent returned but he did not attend the session.

At the Kansas City airport to see the President take off were Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret. Present also were Mr. Truman's sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, and his brother, J. Vivian Truman.

Mr. Truman's first task will be to put the finishing touches on his state of the union message containing his legislative recommendations which are expected to include a strong demand for repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act.

While Mr. Truman was enroute to Washington, Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), issued a warning against submitting a "slap-happy" budget to the new session of Congress.

Taber, GOP economy chieftain who headed the House Appropriations committee in the 80th Congress, charged Mr. Truman with being "unable to distinguish between the treasury of the federal government and the treasury of the Democratic party."

The President's state of the union address will review world and domestic affairs along with setting forth his legislative goals.

Mr. Truman will deliver this message in person to a joint session of the Senate and House, probably next Wednesday, the day after Congress reconvenes.

Highlighting the state of the union message is expected to be renewal of the President's fight for Taft-Hartley repeal despite the fact that his legislative and labor supporters virtually have abandoned hope until a new Congress is elected.

In typical Truman fashion, the President is set to buck the odds and demand outright repeal of the act, despite complete failure of his Capitol strategists to achieve this objective during the first session.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Labor committee, and the AFL and CIO unions have stated that the only chance of repeal now appears to be in the Congress that takes over after the 1950 elections.

In addition to his state of the union message, Mr. Truman has two other documents to prepare for the new session of Congress, which meets on Tuesday.

These are his annual economic report, reviewing the business outlook, and his annual budget message — which Republicans are awaiting with the economy axe.

Mr. Truman has indicated that his annual economic report will be the second of his messages to go to Capitol Hill, an that the budget will follow.

In that case, the economic report probably will go to Congress Jan. 6, and the budget message Jan. 9.

Funeral Services Are Slated Today For Former Lubbock Man

Funeral services for William H. Blackstone, 82, former South Plains resident who died Tuesday night in Enid, Okla., have been set for 3 p. m., today, at the Broadway Church of Christ.

Dr. M. Norvel Young will officiate, assisted by Liff Sanders. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery under the direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Blackstone, a former resident of Enochs and Lubbock, had moved to Enid several months ago to live with a daughter. He died there at 10 p. m., at the home of Mrs. K. C. Moser, the daughter.

His wife died in 1939, and is buried here.

Survivors besides his daughter at Enid are two other daughters, Mrs. C. M. Moser of Brownwood, and Mrs. D. P. Connelly of Toronto, Ohio; two sons, V. E. Blackstone and Longview, and W. L. Blackstone of Brady; and two cousins, A. C. and Chester Blackstone ,both of Lubbock.

Grocery Firm Representatives To Open Meeting Here Today

About 65 branch managers and salesmen for the Waples-Platter company, a wholesale grocery firm, will open their annual two-day meeting in the Hilton hotel today.

Representatives from Amarillo, Clovis, Roswell, Odessa, Abilene, Vernon, and Memphis, as well as executive officers from the home offices in Fort Worth, will be present.

C. C. Files, manager of the Lubbock office will act as host for the meeting, which, up to this year, had been held in Fort Worth. He said the group would discuss plans for the coming year.

Officers present from the Fort Worth offices will include J. W. Shugart, vice-president and general sales manager; C. C. Braggans, general buyer; and Harry Echlebeger, manager of the Fort Worth house. Also present will be Campbell Smith, manager of the Dallas house.

Banquets are scheduled for tonight and for Friday noon.

Loss Is Heavy In Lumber Fire

it onto lumber trucks that had been driven from the yard by two of the airmen who first discovered the blaze.

Furniture Broken

Severe water and smoke damage was done to the house, which is owned by the lumber company. Several pieces of furniture were broken in the hurry-up job of moving.

Bruce Barrier, who lives with his mother, Mrs. Clifton Barrier at 1213 Eighteenth street, also north of the lumber yard, estimated water damage and breakage to their home and furnishings at $1,000.

Barrier, his mother, and sister, Margaret, had gone to bed and were awakened by the fire about 11:30 p.m., he said. Taking a garden hose, Barrier climbed to the roof of his house and sprayed water to keep the house from burning.

About 30 men helped the Barrier's move all their furniture into the front yard, but water from firemen's hoses so soaked the house that it will have to be entirely re-decorated, he said. Parts of the house were less than six months old.

Mrs. Barrier said her son's billfold, containing $100, disappeared after it was left on top of a dresser. Mrs. Barrier also was looking for her silverware, which she hoped was somewhere around.

Airmen Move Trucks

The five airmen who discovered the fire, telephoned the alarm and moved two trucks from the yard where Sgt. Glenn Milam of Austin, Sgt. Frank Watson of Oklahoma City, S/Sgt. D. C. Carroll of Alexandria, La., Sgt. Everett Stull of Frederick, Md., and Sgt. R. P. Anderson of Minnesota.

Milam and Watson ran into the lumber yard and found flames pouring from a center shed in the rear of the yard. Milam drove one truck through the west gate of the yard, knocking it down. Watson drove the other truck behind him.

Carroll, Anderson and Stull went to telephone the fire department. Milam said they were returning to RAFB, driving along Nineteenth street, when they spotted the fire.

Treated For Burns

Milam was later treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital for second degree burns on his left hand. He said he burned his hand on the hot steering wheel of the truck.

At least four cars parked on the Faulkner Motor Co. used car lot at 1202 Nineteenth street, east of the lumber yard, were partially burned. Paint was burned off the rear of the cars and there was some water damage. There were approximately 16 cars on the lot.

Several men pushed away the four cars nearest the alley beside the lumber yard. Joe Ed Wright and J. C. Wicker, whose addresses were not learned, were among those moving cars. Wright received first and second degree burns on his hands in moving the cars.

City Patrolman Pat Crow was injured about 12:42 a.m. today as an indirect result of the fire.

Crow, driving home after assisting firemen while off duty, was rushed to Lubbock Memorial hospital suffering concussion and deep lacerations about the head and face after he had been thrown from his car in a collision at the intersection of Twenty-third and Ave. N.

Crow's condition was described as fair early today.

Driver of the other vehicle involved was identified by police as Johnny Ray Lawson, 22, of 1019 Seventeenth. Crow's car was traveling west on Twenty-third, Lawsons's north on Ave. N when the mishap occurred, official reports showed.

Both drivers swerved their cars a moment before the impact, officers said. Crow's car spun around after the impact, its left rear fender striking the right door of Lawson's car and throwing Crow to the pavement. He was carried to the hospital by Sanders ambulance.

Firemen battling the blaze were both helped and hindered by the hundreds of people who swarmed by car and foot to the fire scene. The bulk of the crowd kept out of the way, but a few persons wandered in and out among the firemen.

Welcome aid was given by several men, who helped firemen to drag and hold hose. Among the first volunteers was Durston Gillean, 18, of 1517 Ave. F, who went in with one of the first hose crews. With Gillean were Jimmy Stringer, 17, and Marvin Click, 18, of Des Moines, New Mexico.

Other fires reported Wednesday included:

A residence owned by Avinger Lumber company which was badly damaged at 12:07 a.m.; a grass fire 100-block Ave. U, 12:55 p.m.; Nesbitt Bottling company at 3405 Ave. H, 11:35 a.m.; a car fire in the 800-block Eighth, 3:05 p.m.; and a trash fire in 1200-block Ave. H at 8:57 p.m.

Although the major portion of the lumber storage yard was burned, the front office building was not damaged.

William L. Finch, Longtime Lynn County Resident, Dies

TAHOKA, Dec. 28. (Special)—William Leroy Finch, 38, Lynn county resident since 1916, died about 6 p.m., today, in a local hospital. He had been in ill health most of his life.

Funeral services have been set for 3 p. m., Friday, in the First Baptist church, with the Rev. C. T. Aly, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Tahoka cemetery under the direction of the Stanley Funeral home.

He is survived by his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Finch of Tahoka; and a sister, Mrs. Alvin Shelton of Slaton.

Italian farmers now are allowed to export live pigs for the first time since the war.

NEWS BRIEFS

A. V. Womack, proprietor of a second hand store at 1208 Ave. F. was fined $75 in corporation court Wednesday on a charge of failure to keep proper records on second hand clothing. Police filed the charge against Womack after a negro informed officers that a suit of clothing recently stolen from him had been sold to the second hand dealer. Womack entered a plea of guilty.

Theft of two suits, a radio, a woman's purse, two fountain pens, a quantity of groceries and $3 in cash from the residence of E. P. Boyd of Idalou was reported to the sheriff's office Wednesday.

Theodore L. Houghton, 40, of Lubbock was fined $75 and county court costs on a plea of guilty of drunk driving, a judgment of County Judge Walter Davies showed.

Joe E. LaBay of Vernon, district manager for the Franklin Life Insurance Co., was a business visitor Wednesday in the general offices of the West Texas agency of the Franklin Life Insurance Co. here.

The condition of Miss Helen Ray Gossett, 21-year-old registered nurse who was injured seriously in an automobile accident six miles north of Lubbock Christmas afternoon, was reported as "fair" late Wednesday afternoon by attendants at Lubbock Memorial hospital. Miss Gossett lives at the nurses home at the hospital. Her physician said x-ray examination had disclosed no fracture or dislocation, but that there were indications of a hemorrhage at the base of the brain.

Negro Minister Shot, Killed In Attempted Roadside Holdup

CALVERT, Dec. 28. (AP)—Road blocks were up in this area today for a negro who shot and killed the Rev. J. E. Deckard, a negro minister from Marlin in an attempted robbery.

Deckard and Dottie Johnson, a negro woman from Hearne, were sitting in a car in a roadside park near here last night when the robber came up and demanded their money.

The woman told Calvert city Constable J. L. Crocker that Deckard attempted to grab the robber's gun. The robber started shooting, the woman said, and she fled to get help.

When Crocker returned to the site with her, they found that the robber had left in Deckard's car. Deckard's body was on the ground and his wallet with $12 in it was about six feet away.

Argentinian Is Nabbed Here On Charge Of Tax Evasion

Adolfo P. Portela, 64, an Argentinian who listed his residence as Corpus Christi, was arrested here Wednesday on a federal indictment charging he had evaded payment of a large part of income and victory tax by filing false and fraudulent income and victory tax returns.

Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commission, set $10,000 bail returnable instanter in Austin division of federal court.

The bond was about to be posted late in the day, the sheriff's department indicated.

Lewis Accused

try and our employes back to work on a mutually profitable basis have constantly been met by ruthless, monopolistic tactics, childish name-calling, and shakespearian caprice.

"That is all we have to show for a half-year of discord."

Moody was asked whether operators in the northern and western associations were joining SCPA in filing the charges with the labor board.

Others Informed

He replied that the other operators were informed of the southern association's intentions, but he added that any action taken by them would be a separate matter.

Moody charged that Lewis has brought many coal companies to the brink of bankruptcy. He said:

"Our employes have been placed on a starvation diet by his (Lewis) personal dictatorship over their lives. Merchants of coal mining communities are desperate.

"Consumers are faced by a coal shortage just as cold weather envelopes them. And the entire national economic order is being injured by the three-day weeks and no-day weeks ordered at will by Mr. Lewis."

RAIL PASSENGER SERVICE MAY BE SLASHED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—A 25 percent slash in passenger service on coal-burning railroads is being considered by the Interstate Commerce commission, it was reported tonight.

The step, if taken, would become effctive after the holidays. It would be a result of John L. Lewis' action in putting his miners on a three-day week. His aim is to cut coal reserves and induce the operators to agree to a new contract calling for increased wages and welfare payments.

The cut in passenger service is to be discussed at a meeting of ICC members tomorrow afternoon.

The ICC last week ordered a priority for the railroads on coal produced in mines from which they normally get their coal supplies.

rant counties; Walter Thorp, serving 25 years from Dallas county for robbery, and Collin M. Mershon, 38, serving life from Limestone county as an habitual criminal.

Ellis and Moore tonight said there had been no developments in the widespread search since two of the escapees were arrested shortly before noon yesterday near New Waverly, about 20 miles southeast of here.

The search turned briefly to White Settlement, a village near Fort Worth in North Texas, last night as an automobile stolen from Huntsville Monday was found there.

A posse of about 75 men has been searching the Boswell creek lowlands east of here the past 24 hours.

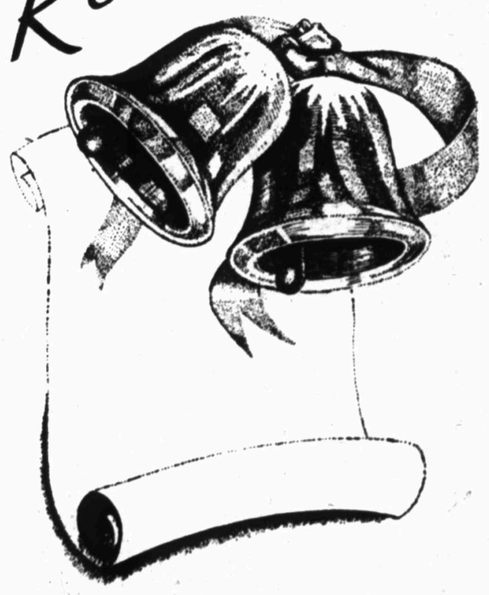

Captured yesterday were Don Kemper, serving six years for forgery from Mitchell, Comal, Scurry and Howard counties, and Weldon Green, serving life as an habitual criminal.

Cecil Bill Isom, serving 45 years for robbery from Harris county, and David Crockett McCullough, serving 22 years for robbery from Dallas county, were the two arrested Monday.

Connecticut Hiker Gets Bitter About Arkansas Troubles

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 28. (U.P.)—The feet that carried Robert Benoit halfway across the continent were marking time here today until the Connecticut barber could dig up the money to pay a hotel bill.

The hotel confiscated Benoit's luggage when he told the management that he could not pay the bill until after he returned to Connecticut.

Benoit arrived here a week ago after hiking 2,025 miles to spend Christmas with his former wife and their small daughter.

Upon arrival, Benoit said he had walked far enough and fully intended to ride back to his home at Putnam, Conn. But the state of his finances today caused him to renege on the promise. He said he would hoof it out of here again when he starts back—only this time he will accept rides offered him. The hiker-turned-hitchhiker said he refused more than 3,000 rides on his trip to Arkansas.

Benoit had a few words today about Arkansas hospitality.

He admitted that Gov. Sid McMath gave him $20, that a good Samaritan paid his first night's bill at the hotel, and that a clothing store gave him a new suit and Christmas toys for his four-year-old daughter, Cheryl Lynn.

But the governor failed to give him an Arkansas Traveler certificate and Mayor Sam Wassell of Little Rock never gave him an audience, Benoit complained. The failure of the hotel to give him a free stay was the last straw, Benoit said.

"I never had that trouble with hotels in other states I came through," he said.

"Little Rock stinks!"

Mayor Displays Black Eye As Evidence Of Duty Well Done

STEGER, Ill., Dec. 28. (INS)—The mayor of Steger added the duties of police officer to those of village administrator — and today had a black eye and a prisoner to show for his efforts.

Mayor Herman Piacentini pursued Robert Hall, 24, of suburban Chicago Heights, for ignoring village stop lights. Piacentini gave chase in his automobile, nabbed Hall and then held on to his prisoner despite pummeling administered by two of Hall's friends.

Years Required For Proof Of Einstein's Gravitation Theory

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 — Prof. Albert Einstein believes it may be many years before his new theory on the forces of nature is proved correct and put to work, sources close to him said today.

The white-haired super mathematician resting in his modest, white frame dwelling in Princeton, N. J., knows of the hullabaloo caused in scientific circles by announcement of his new theory which relates gravity to electro magnetism. But shy and modest as he is, the man who made the atom bomb possible declines to comment.

Reporters Invited Back

To reporters who asked him for an explanation of his theory he sent out word:

"Come back and see me in 20 years."

It was learned, however, that Einstein was amused over some of the interpretations on the announcement that he at last—after 30 years toil—found a formula which he believes to be a "unified field theory." A hypothesis that will explain the phenomena of gravitation and electromagnetism as they are related to each other.

Many Years Required

In 1905, Einstein, then a young man, announced his special theory of relativity, and in 1916 he announced his general theory of relativity. It took years for most scientists to understand what the great scientist was trying to tell them.

They did learn, however, as world history records, on that day in 1945 on a New Mexico desert when the first atom bomb exploded. It was Einstein's theory that showed there was tremendous energy locked up inside the atom.

His new theory, according to the best interpretations possible at the moment, will unlock more secrets of the atom, and in turn, of the universe.

Answers Not Ready

Scientists the nation over and the world over have been asked for comment, or better still an interpretation of what the new Einstein theory means to the man on the street. The answers were not forthcoming—not today. But they may be ready in years to come as Einstein himself believes, according to his friends.

The question of whether the new electronic brains can be put to work on the new theory has been raised around the press headquarters of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The consensus is that such an achievement is doubtful as Prof. Einstein probably is using a mathematical language known only to himself and his students, who do not include an electronic brain.

Judgement Filed In $12,075 Suit Here

Judgment based on a recent jury answer of 50 special issues was filed Wednesday afternoon by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue whereby it was ordered that Sam Hallmark recover against Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Graves $12,075.58, interest and costs.

The court also ordered that Hallmark have foreclosure of a mechanics lien against Mr. and Mrs. Graves on Lot 1, block 6, Central Heights addition to Lubbock, together with improvements there; and that an order of sale issue to the sheriff directing disposition of the property and application of proceeds to satisfy the judgment.

Also, it was ordered that Hallmark recover from the defendants $1,207.56 for attorneys fees, as a personal judgment not secured by a valid lien on the premises referred to.

The suit grew out of a dispute over settlement for a house Hallmark constructed for the defendants. Hallmark was represented by the law firm of Davison and Irvin and that of Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam.

The Graveses will ask a new trial, it was indicated, through Berry and Ball, their attorneys.

Veterans In Mental Hospitals In Need Of Aid From Friends

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Some veterans now in mental hospitals could step back into normal life if their relatives and friends would help them, the Veterans Administration believes.

But the nation's "forgotten men" are shunned by those who knew them before their illness; one-third of the more than 52,000 mental patients in veterans hospitals have not had a visitor in over a year, a VA survey shows.

Telling this story of tragic neglect in a statement yesterday, the VA explained that families "just drift away or want nothing to do with "crazy" men.

Hog Again Escapes Visit To Butcher By Versatile Abilities

PORTLAND, Ind., Dec. 28. (INS)— Barney, an Indiana hog with a penchant for living, has escaped the butcher's cleaver again.

Barney is a talented hog belonging to farmer Jack Hough of Portland.

Some time ago, Barney was slated for pork chops when he developed the amazing faculties of a hunting dog, and soon won wide acclaim for his ability to "flush" and "point."

True Character Shows

But Barney, like any other hog, ate and ate. He blossomed to a handsome 325 pounds —a trifle too heavy for pussyfooting around the woods in search of rabbits and pheasants.

Again the butcher was slated for action, and Barney was to be the victim. But Barney never gives up without a fight. He became a riding hog.

It seems that farmer Hough's son, Jackie, clambered aboard the comfortable back of Barney one day —and now the son does his cowboy riding, piggie back so to speak.

Services Slated For Morton Civic Leader

MORTON, Dec. 28. (Special) — Funeral services for David C. Todd, 28-year-old Morton furniture store owner and one of the town's young civic leaders who died at 7:30 a.m. today in West Plains hospital, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the First Methodist church.

Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor, will officiate, assisted by Rev. R. L. Kirk of Perryton. Burial will be in Slaton cemetery.

Todd's death was attributed to pneumonia and complications.

Todd was president of Morton's Lions club, a member of the board of stewards of First Methodist church, and was active in the Morton Chamber of Commerce and the Quarterback club.

A native of Slaton, he attended Slaton schools before enrolling at Texas Technological college in 1939 and 1940. He was a veteran of 39 months' service in the Army Air Corps during the war. He was an ardent sports fan.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Donna Todd, a son, Michael, 3; two brothers, R. H. Todd, jr. Slaton, and Frank Todd, a student at North Texas State Teachers college at Denton; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Todd, sr., of Slaton.

Roy Bass Is Principal Speaker At Lubbock Rotary Club Meet

Lubbock Rotarians were given a note of optimism for the future by Roy Bass, who spoke on "Why It's Fun to Live in America," at a luncheon meeting of the club Wednesday at the Hilton hotel.

"It's fun to be part of a growing concern, and certainly the United States still is a growing concern," he said. With the cost of government at a fabulous height, Bass said that it still was fun to pay taxes here, "more fun, that is, than in any other country."

He compared our judiciary system and our individual rights with those found elsewhere, and concluded with a note of warning that our rights will not be forced from us all at once, but will go one by one if our vigilance slackens.

New Members Presented

Bass was introduced by Thomas B. Duggan, jr. Arch G. Lamb, first vice-president, presided in the absence of Guy C. Victory, club president.

Two new members were introduced, H. T. "Buck" Luther was presented by Chas. A. Guy, and Frank A. Madden was introduced by LeRoy Land.

C. R. "Pat" Pattison introduced visiting Rotarians, which included Skeet Roberson of Brownfield, Weldon Skinner of Abilene, Robert G. Mills of Amarillo, Vance Favor of Quanah, and Murrell Miller of Atlanta, Ill.

"Chuck" Wilson, junior Rotarian from Senior High school for December, expressed his thanks for being honored by the club. Dr. H. I. Robinson offered the invocation. Rex Webster and Roy Bass led a song.

Civil Service Examinations For Positions Announced

The Civil Service commission announces examinations for filling vacancies in the position of medical record librarian at salaries ranging from $3,100 to $3,825 per annum.

Employment will be with various federal agencies in Texas. Application forms may be obtained from the Lubbock post office or from regional directors of U. S. Civil Service regions at St. Louis, Mo., New Orleans, La., Denver, Colo., or Dallas.

Tidelands Victory For States Foreseen

Early Action By Congress Seen

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. — The states will get clear title to their tidelands regardless of the pending Supreme court cases, one of the states' spokesmen predicted here today.

Walter Johnson of Washington, special counsel for the National Association of Attorneys General, said Congress would hand the unqualified right to own and operate the off-shore lands to the states early in the session which begins Jan. 3.

The former Nebraska attorney general said "there is no question about the majority of Congress being in favor of the states."

Such a move by Congress would nullify any action by the Supreme court in favor of the federal government, since the law-making body can give title to the tidelands by law.

Early Action Seen

"Legislation introduced by 31 senators and a large number of representatives will pass early in the session," Johnson commented in an interview here.

Representatives of the states seeking ownership of the mineral-laden sealands met in New Orleans today to draw battle lines for the next phase of the struggle.

Bolivar Kemp, Louisiana attorney general, called the meeting which was attended by delegations from Texas, California, Louisiana and Maryland.

Texas Attorney Attends

Kemp and Price Daniel — Texas attorney general — have their suits coming to trial in February.

California lost a suit two years ago when the U. S. Supreme court ruled the federal government has paramount rights over the tidelands.

Johnson commented that Louisiana has more at stake than any other state.

"In fact, Louisiana has more proven oil fields in its tidelands than either Texas or California," he said.

He praised the work of Louisiana congressmen who have been in the thick of the tidelands fray. The fact that so many congressmen are taking the states' part in the question "is a strong reminder that a matter of principle is being decided,' Johnson said.

He referred to the principle of government control as opposed to the certain measure of sovereignty which remains with the states.

Daniel, who has carried the bulk of the Texas fight, said "we are working night and day" preparing briefs on the states' case which comes up Feb. 6 .

The representatives explained that although California's case was lost, Congress has never passed an enabling act to actually

LAST OF EIGHT MILLION—Roy Prescott, secretary-treasurer of the Production Credit corporation of Houston, holds 21 checks totaling $105,000. The money is being returned to the U.S. Treasury as the last installment on an $8 million loan which was advanced to 36 Texas Production credit associations, as capital stock under the terms of the Farm Credit Act of 1933. Rankin Opens Fire On Cotton Controls

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The cotton acreage control program was termed "the dangerous road to government regimentation" today by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss).

Rankin said that cotton acreage control is driving many small farmers from the field in this country while production is unrestricted abroad.

"If this policy is carried to the ultimate," he told a reporter, "the government soon will be telling the farmer how many cows to milk, how many chickens he can own, how many hogs to kill and how many beef cattle to graze.

"In other words, it is the dangerous road to government regimentation that has carried England into extreme socialism and other European countries into Communism."

Senator Expects Special Session Call

New Resources Tax Favored By Corbin

A natural resource tax appears to be the solution for financing the state's eleemosynary institutions in the approaching special session of the Texas Legislature, State Senator Kilmer B. Corbin said on a visit to Lubbock Wednesday.

Senator Corbin said he expected Gov. Allan Shivers to issue the call for the session during the latter part of January. Appropriation bills for operation and improvements for the eleemosynary institutions may be the only subject for which the governor will call the session, Corbin said.

"The way I see the problem right now," Corbin said, "is that the state is still trying to operate on approximately the same amount of funds it was operating on 10 and 15 years ago. And they just won't meet the state's needs."

Sees Five Alternatives

Corbin said he had made several trips to Austin in the past three months and from the talk with other members of the legislature, he surmises that one of five proposed solutions may be followed in the special session:

1. The recalling of the general appropriations bills passed by the Legislature in the past session, including departmental, eleemosynary and education bills, and cutting down on them to save money;
2. The levying of a state income tax;
3. A state sales tax;
4. An omnibus tax bill (endorsed by Gov. Shivers); and
5. A natural resources tax.

Cut Would Hit Here

The recalling and paring of the general appropriations bill would hit right here in our own district, Senator Corbin pointed cut. Texas Technological college would probably be included in the cut of funds, which would work a great hardship on the school, he declared.

"I'm not against cutting some corners," Senator Corbin said, "but I couldn't be for the cut generally. If I had not wanted the bills as they now stand, I would not have voted for them."

A state income tax or sales tax would create too big a burden on the general public, Corbin believes.

Opposes Tax Program

"I have always been against both of them," he said.

An omnibus tax might be workable, Corbin said, but it would still increase the heavy burden on the public.

"The best solution, I believe, would be the levying of taxes of new resources which can absorb them," Corbin said. "The appropriation of money for the elee-

Clothing Prices Strike New Low

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. — A new government living cost index today showed clothing prices have reached their lowest level in more than two years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which prepares the index, said average retail prices for apparel reached their lowest level in mid-November since August, 1947.

Apparel prices began rising after August, 1947, to a peak in October, 1948. They are now 7½ percent below October, 1948.

A further decline in average prices for men's, women's and children's clothing and furnishings may be in progress now — due to post holiday sales.

Index Steady

The new living cost index — showing a new gradual rise in rents — remained virtually unchanged from October to November. The index rose only one-tenth of one percent, a very nominal change.

The index for November stood at 168.6 percent of the base period, which is the five-year span 1935-39. The index is 2 percent lower than a year ago, but 71 percent higher than the August, 1939 prewar level.

Rents rose four-tenths of one percent from October to November, continuing a steady rise. For the three-mont' period ending in November, the bureau said, the largest rent increases were 11 percent at Houston, and 10.7 percent at Milwaukee.

Food prices rose fractionally in

Boys' Club Pool Dedication Set

Formal dedication program for the new swimming pool in the Lubbock Boys' club will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 16, O. B. Ratliff, chairman of the project for the American Business club, announced Wednesday.

Principal speaker for the event will be Cal Farley of Amarillo, guiding hand in the famous Boys' Ranch at Tascosa. He will be introduced by Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal.

Others To Attend

G. H. Nelson, local attorney and formmer state senator, will be master of ceremonies. Geo. T. Dale, retiring ABC president, will introduce special guests and contributors to the swimming pool project. Mr. and Mrs. Retha Martin gave a major portion of the cost of the pool and numerous other individuals and business firms, incluading various labor unions, contributed cash, materials and labor.

John Wilson, Boys' club director, will speak on "What the Boys' Club Has Meant to Lubbock." A Boys' club member will respond on "What the Boys' Club Has Meant to the Boys of Lubbock."

Invocation and benediction will be by local ministers to be selected at a later date, Ratliff said.

Following the program, several members of the Boys' club will stage a swimming and diving exhibition for visitors after which refreshments will be served.

The general public will be invited to the program, Ratliff said.

The swimming pool is practically complete now and will be in operation by the time the dedication is held, club officials said Wednesday.

Moslem Prince Plays 'Proud Papa' Part

Princess Yasmin Is Born To Rita Hayworth And Aly Khan

By HARVEY HUDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Dec. 28. — A 5½-pound princess was born today to screen star Rita Hayworth and her husband of seven months, the Moslem Prince Aly Khan. Happily, Aly announced: "Yes, everybody is all right."

Claude Payot, handling the babys' public relations, said tonight both mother and daughter are "doing extremely well, despite a long and difficult birth."

The child was named Yasmin, the Persian word for the jasmine flower.

Baby Praised

" She is a very gracious, delightful little girl with harmonious features and tiny wisps of black hair," said Miss Olga Besson, head nurse of the exclusive Montchoisi clinic.

She is the first granddaughter of the wealthy Aga Khan, who is worshipped by 5,000,000 Ismaili Moslems as an earthly god. Aly is heir to the title of Aga Khan. He has two sons and Rita has a daughter by previous marriage.

The prince told newsmen weeks ago that seven-months babies were "common" in his family and he expected the newcomer might be premature. He and Rita came to Lausanne Nov. 5 to await the birth. They were married May 27.

Rita's time came in the night. She was clad in a mink coat for the drive from the Palace hotel to the clinic at 3:10 a.m. (2:45 a.m. CST).

Prince Aly was haggard and unshaven, but he grinned with the pride of any new papa as he announced the birth about an hour and a half later. The delivery was a normal one, under gas.

Questioned by a score of newsmen, he gave details:

"It's a girl, two and a half kilograms.

"Yes, everybody is all right. She has had a very tough time, but everything has gone off all right.

"Rita is very tired. So is her nusband.

"Yes, she has just seen the baby. She seemed awfully pleased.

"She (the baby) is a very good looking girl, but I suppose, being the father, I shouldn't say so myself.

"Let's all have a drink."

Toast Is Drunk

Aly waved a glass of grog in a toast.

The grog had been supplied by his hotel to those waiting outside the clinic.

The birth was supervised by Dr. Rodolphe Rochat, a widely known Swiss obstetrician who delivered Princess Marguerite, daughter of ex-King Mohai of Romania and Princess Anne of Bourban-Parma, and other royal offspring.

Rita's first child is Rebecca Welles, daughter of the screen star and actor-producer Orson Welles The parents were divorced in 1948.

Aly's sons are Prince Karim Aga, 13, and Prince Amyom Mohammed, 11.

Aly divorced the boys' mother, Joan Yarde-Buller, in Paris only a few weeks before he and the actress were married.

UN Fails To End Kashmir Dispute

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 28 (INS)—United Nations efforts to settle by short-cut method the India-Pakistan dispute over princely Kashmir state failed today when India rejected the Security council's compromise plan.

The UN proposal involved the demilitarization of Kashmir and Jammu province through simultaneous withdrawal of India's and Pakistan's occupation troops as a preliminary step to the plebiscite agreed upon early in the year.

The decision of India foreshadows long and heated debate for weeks in the Security council, with Pakistan bitterly assailing India on charges of holding by force territory outside its boundaries. The Security council meeting, twice postponed to await the answer of the India government, will be held tomorrow afternoon for consideration of its next step.

It is understood on reliable authority that India, far from couching its reply in blunt language, will assure the 11-nation body of its readiness to cooperate in continued UN efforts to reach a practical solution.

1950 AND TAXES:

AT least one prospect of 1950 should inspire optimism among Americans. This is the probability — barring war or other catastrophic emergencies — that federal taxes will not be increased.

The reason is obvious and persuasive. Nearly all members of the House of Representatives and about one-third of the senators will be running for re-election in 1950.

Few of them will risk defeat by supporting, or voting for, tax increases. As a matter of fact, the chances appear reasonably good that they might cut taxes somewhat to boost their personal political strength.

Many of these congressmen, of course, might prefer to support the President's demands for increased taxation. But most of them like their jobs far better than they do Mr. Truman.

If support for reduced taxes will help keep them in Congress — as, in most cases, it would — it is a safe bet the great majority will climb aboard the lower tax bandwagon, which already carries enough congressional riders to make this particular outlook exceedingly bright.

It's Up To Us

THE people of the Western Hemisphere ordinarily should be justified in complete confidence that the U.S. will forbid, if necessary, the abuse of absolute power to declare war as given Rafael Trujillo, presidential dictator of the Dominican Republic, by his rubber-stamp Congress.

Unfortunately, the supine record of the present U. S. State department does not permit confidence that it will be prepared to deal with Trujillo promptly and sternly if circumstances should call for that sort of treatment.

The situation is one which thoroughly justifies uneasiness. Just as the smallest spark may explode a mountain of powder, so the tiniest war might touch off a world conflict. No one knows where a war started by Trujillo might lead. The possibilities are terrifying.

The particular objects of Trujillo's present wrath, and threats, are Cuba, Guatemala and Costa Rica. He has accused those governments of knowingly providing sanctuary for plotters seeking to overthrow the Trujillo dictatorship in the Dominican Republic. Based upon these accusations, he demanded, and was given, blanket power by his Congress to declare war against whomever he might choose.

The probabilities are that Cuba, or Guatemala, could defeat Trujillo without help. Almost certainly the three little nations he has threatened could give him the beating he richly deserves. But any sort of Caribbean war would endanger the Panama Canal. And no one knows how many other nations might be drawn into such a struggle, if one ever should be allowed to start.

The United States is the nation which should do the stopping before anything like that is started. And it can stop it if President Truman insists that the State department pour a little sand into its craw.

Without this recent development, Trujillo has been a disgrace to the American hemisphere and to the democratic form of government. For almost 20 years, he has been the tyrannical dictator of an American nation.

He has been permitted to escape an accounting for his criminalities because they have been confined to his own tiny nation. He should not be allowed to continue his enjoyment of luxurious immunity if he attempts aggressions against any other countries. He must not be permitted to become a menace to the peace of the Western Hemisphere and, possibly, of the entire world.

An old timer is the one who can recall when a man could render a public service without being a victim of character assasins.

As man reaches a higher state of civilization, it seems to enable him to think up and commit the more heinous kind of crimes.

The quarantee to peace is just like any other guarantee. It is only as good and strong as the one standing behind it.

Highway Deaths Can Be Stopped!

I Love My Doctor

By EVELYN BARKINS

Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: John and I, after an elopement, decide that our first big problem is to find a suitable place to live. We want four rooms, to accommodate both home and office, but we can only afford two. We want a middleclass neighborhood, but can only pay for a poor one. But we are honeymooning and these things don't bother us too much.)

III

AFTER almost two weeks of intensive house hunting, I was on familiar terms with most of the building superintendents within a five-mile radius, knew their favorite brands of beer and troubles, but little else.

"Lady," said one of them that very day when I had wandered into his territory again while making my usual rounds, "if you could only pay a higher price, I know where you can get a beauty of a place. On Linwood Street South."

"And that's exactly it," I said to John, after repeating my accounting that night, "if we could pay a higher price, we'd have no trouble at all."

That much was certainly true. It is all very well for us Americans as a nation to theoretically traditionalize contempt for material things. Poor but honest sounds magnificent, and perhaps money is the root of all evil and surely isn't everything, but there comes a time in most young couples' lives when it seems like it is. Maybe Hollywood is right, John and I agreed. Maybe the poor little rich girl does nothing but weep; and maybe the millionaire is never happy until he meets the penniless stenographer who teaches him to do the jitterbug and sing, but did Samuel Goldwyn ever try to find a four-room apartment that costs like two and looks like five?

"Don't worry, darling," John consoled me as, womanlike, I complained the loudest, "maybe you'll find something tomorrow; and if not, we've still got a whole week in which to look. Besides, tomorrow's Saturday, and the fellows are throwing us a combination wedding and farewell party, remember?"

"I almost forgot that," I exclaimed, jumping up off the bed to get my curlers, my one outstanding sop to all social affairs. Then I got a better idea. "Let's make a date of it," I said eagerly, "I'll meet you at the Chinese restaurant before the party; we'll eat and then go. And I bet I'll have good news to tell you about the housing situation!" I finished ferociously.

So the next moring, I started out especially early, determined on an apartment "or else." It was "or else." By 4 o'clock in the afternoon, I was hungry, heartsick, physically harassed and still homeless. Since I was near my mother's house, I decided to drop in there and recuperate before meeting John at 5.

"Hello," my mother said pleasantly as I entered. "What's wrong with you?"

Nothing makes a girl feel as bad as to be told she looks bad; and since I was feeling bad in the firs' place, I began to feel worse.

"Everything's wrong," I groaned.

"No apartment yet?" my mother asked.

"Not a one." In an effort to emerge from my gloom, I opened up the refrigerator, and stood there appraising the contents for a good take. "I just can't find a thing within our means," I said, reaching for a likely looking chicken wing. "If only we had more to spend!"

* * *

MY mother gave me that blessed-are-the-poor look as I swallowed my first bite. "You made your own bed," she said virtuously; and I will never understand why people who make their own beds aren't at least allowed to forget and enjoy them. "But, anyway," she continued as I silently munched my chicken, "I think I've heard of something worth while. Interested?"

"Interested!" I jumped at her, food and all, reviving suddenly like a drunk under a cold shower.

After a while, when she considered me reasonably calmed down, she causally completed her account, as if it hadn't taken her days to track it down. Like many other fortunate people, my mother always had a friend of a friend of a friend, who had a further friend, with the right information tagged at the end. To someone like me, who never in my life won at bingo, such ability was downright remarkable. In this particular case, it was a plain miracle.

"Mrs. Bodenheim told me that her cousin has a sister-in-law whose uncle lives in a house where the doctor just moved out," said my mother.

"Where is it?" I interrupted anxiously, as I gave up trying to follow the genealogy.

"42 Longview Road," she answered. "And it's got four rooms."

I threw my chicken bone in the

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

AN eleven-word sentence in a circular asking me to contribute to the Peabody Home in New York City has impressed me more than a dozen elaborate charity solicitations such as most of us get in the mail at this season of the year.

"ADD LIFE TO THEIR YEARS —NOT JUST YEARS TO THEIR LIFE."

That is the sentence—and how true it is.

The Peabody Home is a home where gentlewomen over 65 may find a haven for their remaining years.

BRANDEIS

There is nothing snobbish about the word gentlewomen. It means simply women of gentle manners, gentle background, gentle character, gentle habits.

It is a small home, but a home where they are trying to make life mean more than just existing, where they are doing their best to add LIFE to years, not just YEARS to life.

And what does "adding life to their years" mean?

Please don't criticise me for having written about this subject before.

When you were in school you were told the same things over and over again, until you remembered them.

There is no new gospel for every Sunday. The same old Ten Commandments have to serve you for all your life.

So I hope you will give me the liberty of repeating something which is so vital, so important—and so tragic if it is not etched into the hearts of all of us.

We hear so much these days about prolonging life.

Just a few weeks ago an eminent English physician came over here at the behest of three millionaires who want to hang on to life as long as possible.

This physician will conduct elaborate research, sponsored and financed by these and other rich men, and, as a result of the research, we may all live to be a hundred.

As a matter of fact, the visiting authority on geriatrics (that being the new word for the study of the ailments of the aged) told newspapermen that when we have learned to live properly we will all be able to live as long as we want to.

* * *

BUT I have not seen anything in all these searches for longer living that will add LIFE to the years. It is all just a matter of adding YEARS to life.

What good is it to gain years unless we also gain the capacity to use and to enjoy those years?

Is there any sense to longer living merely so that we may have arthritis fifteen years instead of ten?

Is there any advantage to being in the discard and in the way an extra few years?

Living is DOING, FEELING, BEING USEFUL.

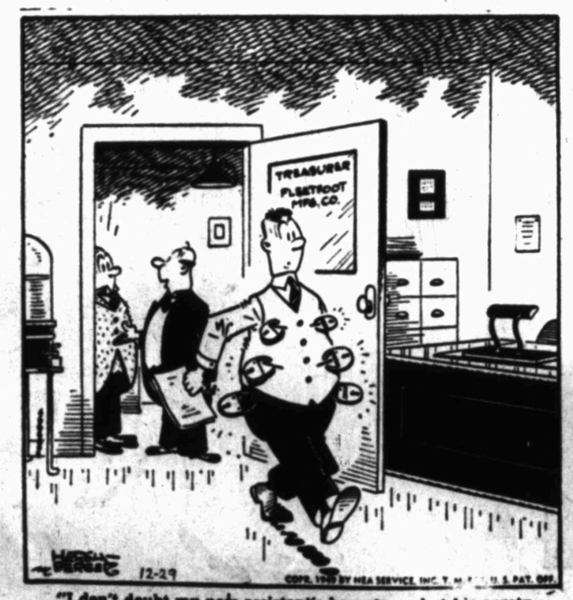

Giuseppe Verdi was 88 when he died, Robert Burns lived only 37 years.

Both are immortals— not because of the number of years they lived, but because of what they did with their years.

Welcome to that scientist from Britain who is going to make all of us centenarians.

But thrice welcome to the far greater wise man who will add not YEARS TO OUR LIFE, but LIFE TO OUR YEARS.

ON FEDERAL PROGRAM

Labor Dispute Rages

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: — Secretary Maurice J. Tobin's demand for a wholly federal controlled system of unemployment insurance standards has been jeopardized by a bitter conflict between the Department of Labor and the states of California and Washington over interpretation of state laws governing this problem.

TUCKER

Unless the politically astute Secretary of Labor, who would like the vice-presidential nomination in 1952, backs down before January 1, California employers will be out of pocket to the extent of $130 million a year.

Moreover, all unemployment benefits of any kind to the jobless in that state would be halted by federal fiat. The estimated loss to industry in the state of Washington would be about $25 million annually.

* * *

LOSS: Hearings on the two states' difficulties with the federal government have been concluded, and Mr. Tobin's lawyer, Gordon Wagenette, showed a distinct bias against the local authorities.

Unless the examiner disagrees with Mr. Wagenette in his final report to Mr. Tobin, the states will be thrown for a loss. It would then be up to the Secretary of Labor to make the final ruling.

Regardless of the outcome, which will affect employers and employees in many other jurisdictions, the case has attracted wide attention as indicating an attempt by Washington to override state laws and officials.

OPPOSITION: They regard it as a forerunner of the manner in which the Department of Labor would administer unemployment benefit provisions if it gets complete control through new legislation already demanded by President Truman.

It is known that the California-Washington situation will be cited by state executives, both Republican and Democratic, in opposition. It will also be advanced by other groups —physicians, educators, farmers—as an example of the federal dictation that might result from inauguration of the so-called "federal welfare state" in their fields.

STRIKE: The current controversies arose as a result of Harry Bridges' damaging 'ongshoremen's strike of 1948. When Bridges' men on the docks refused to unload the vessels, maritime workers such as engineers, cooks and stewards refused to work. Others refused to pass picket lines thrown by the strikers.

The appropriate authorities in both states refused to certify the strikers and picket nonpassers as entitled to unemployment insurance. They based their decisions on their interpretations of state laws on the question, and on precedents handed down by the highest courts in the two commonwealths.

At the Washington hearings, which were concluded on December 20, Mr. Wagenette challenged these interpretations. He insisted that the striking maritime workers and those who refused to violate the picket lines were entitled to unemployment compensation. He held that the California and Washington laws and precedents did not apply.

APPEAL: If the examiner agrees with Mr. Wagenette, and if Mr. Tobin follows suit, California and Washington will be held as not complying with the federal statutes. Therefore, they will lose all federal benefits as of January 1.

California-Washington lawyers believe they can upset an adverse ruling through an appeal to the courts. But it is obvious there can be no judicial test before New Year's. Therefore, there is a possibility that both the employers and the unemployed of these two states will suffer seriously in the midst of winter.

The inside betting, of course, is that Mr. Tobin will not pull any strong-arm stuff against these two influential and Democrat-minded states because of his own political ambitions.

But, regardless of how he decides, the Wagenette attitude is cited as an indication of what will happen if the federal government achieves the power it seeks in so many fields of human activity.

BACKGROUND: Mr. Wagenette's background is interesting, especially as it matches that of many former disgruntled state officials now helping to administer federal laws and authority.

He used to be Director of Unemployment Security in California. In that post, he took the same attitude he does now on paying benefits to wild-cat strikers and others who quit work at a moment's notice. Almost every one of his decisions was reversed by the Supreme Court of California.

The Legislature eventually investigated his administration, and adopted a reorganization which wiped out his job. After a short interim, he caught on with the Department of Labor, where he used his authority to crack down on his former state employer.

CORRECTION: In a recent column describing the activities of the National Small Businessmen's Association and the Small Business Economic Foundation, the writer said that they were "anti-Taft-Hartley." That was a slip of the typewriter. On the contrary, they want the law strengthened so that, to quote their literature, "the labor bosses and their radical and communistic coherts" may be checked. The president of both these organizations is DeWitt Emery of Chicago.

An optimist is the man or nation who thinks the problems of either can be solved by "deficit" financing.

Mrs. Gib Jackson of Amarillo, who has been the holiday guest of her daughter, Mrs. V. D. Shell, 2409 Nineteenth, was honored at a number of attractive parties during the past week. Mrs. Jackson returned to her home Saturday.

Mrs. D. Robinson of Dalhart and Mrs. Peterson of Fort Worth also were named honor guests for a party given by Mrs. Shell, Friday afternoon in her home. Mrs. Peterson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Tom Overby of Slaton, and Mrs. Robinson is the guest of Mrs. Albert Taylor, 2404 Broadway.

Five tables were arranged for games of bridge. The New Year theme was used in a salad course served after the game hour to Mesdames Howell Arnett, A. T. Biggers, Fred Caylor, Joe Hilton, G. P. Jackson, L. A. Kittrell, Edwin Lovelace, L. S. Mast, W. W. Rix, Newma Roberts, Claude Gouch, W. B. Powell, R. H. Stroup, C. E. Slaton, Tom Overby of Slaton, and W. R. LAW FOLLOWED PROBE OF DEALS

Utility Firms' Actions Recalled

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Often an event of today gives a sudden flashback to a past era and, at the same time, helps explain some aspects of current affairs, particularly in politics. Frequently it is an event recorded in the newspapers among "obituaries."

So with the news of the death of Howard C. Hopson, that wizard of finance who, starting with a shoestring, erected in the fabulous twenties a giant utility pyramid known as Associated Gas and Electric, a billion-dollar system that collapsed about him in the thirties when the depression broke. Subsequent revelations about his financial manipulations sent him to jail finally in the early forties on conviction of charges of defrauding stockholders of $20,000,000. He was 67 when he died.

STOKES

His career brackets an era. Its effects are projected forward into our own time.

Past Is Recalled

Memories aroused by a name often center upon comparatively trivial incidents. As, for example, the late afternoon when this reporter was sitting in a suite at a local hotel with Ferdinand Pecora, chief counsel for the Senate banking committee in its investigation of financial and stock market practices in 1933-34, now a State Supreme court judge in New York.

The interview was interrupted by the jangle of the telephone. Mr. Pecora answered it. He listened for a few moments. Then he said rather firmly:

"Well, you'd better get him there tomorrow morning. You're the third lawyer he's had. The others never could do anything with him."

ON THE other end of the telephone was Patrick J. Hurley, calling from his home at Leesburg, Va. He was engaged in the private practice of law then, an interlude between his service in the Hoover administration as Secretary of War and his later career during the second World War as special envoy for President Roosevelt on numerous assignments, including a tour of duty in China.

Pat Hurley came through. The next morning he turned up with Mr. Hopson, now his client, who had been sought for several weeks by both the House and Senate Lobby investigating committees, one of the "missing" witnesses who create a minor sensation. Carted into the Senate committee room behind the utility magnate and his lawyer was a trunk. It was loaded with a mass of documents that Mr. Pecoara had requested relating to the Hopson business transactions.

Mr. Pecora was annoyed about the trunk. He wanted the documents sent to New York where the committee's expert staff was at work, and he upbraided the utility man for delivering the trunk in the committee room. Quite a wrangle resulted.

Story Finally Told

Some time later, after the voluminous data was combed over by the committee's expert staff, Mr. Hopson was led through the story of his amazing operations. It was this story, along with the similar one of the Samuel Insull utility operations, that brought about enactment of the utility Holding Company act to prevent such practices and to reorganize the nation's private utilities into smaller, integrated systems.

Mr. Hopson's was not an isolated case. It was but a phase in the protracted and exhaustive investigation by the Senate Banking committee, which concentrated chiefly on banking, investment and stock market practices and threw a lurid light upon a group of free-booters of the free enterprise system.

THE EXPOSE shocked the nation and made the public very receptive to reforms by the Roosevelt New Deal regime, not only in the field of regulation of banking, investment and finance, but later in other directions more directly affecting the average citizen. Franklin D. Roosevelt was provided with easy targets, which, in his second inaugural in 1936, he called "economic tories" and "princes of privilege."

It was a turning point in our history. The death of Howard Hopson serves to remind us of that: It also reminds us, if we look about today, that what happened then is still having its influence in our politics. The exploits of the freebooting crew forced the government to step in to protect its citizens, and so the New Deal continues in the Fair Deal.

Business and finance learned much from the sorry performance of a tiny minority in its midst. But so did a lot of others who got a liberal education in the way some parts of the system had been managed for the beenfit of a few, and they have continued their education.

UNPLEASANT ALTERNATIVES OPEN

Army Families Prevented From Taking Adopted Children To U. S.

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 28 (U.P.)—One hundred U. S. Army families who have adopted German children today faced the alternative of returning home without them or waiting five years or more until the youngsters can enter the United States under the German immigration quota.

The American consulate in Frankfurt told families scheduled for early home postings that adopted German children must await their turn behind 242,734 other Germans already awaiting visas to enter the United States.

"That probably will take five years—maybe more," a consulate official said.

Consul Byron B. Snyder said he sympathized with the foster parents and has notified the State department of their plight. But only Congress can change the 1942 immigration quota law, he said.

German girls who marry Americans can be admitted to the United States as non-quota immigrants, but the law makes no such provision for children adopted by American parents.

Mrs. Ralph E. Hall of Lufkin, Tex., wife of an Army sergeant and foster mother of a 13-month-old German baby, Eugene, is one of the foster parents affected.

"My husband was told we would be transferred to a new assignment in the United States, effective Dec. 20," she said. "We got the shock of our lives today when we were told we would not be able to take the baby with us.

"If I can't take him back with me, I'll just have to stay here. Gene was adopted legally, both under German law and under the laws of our home state of Texas. He's just as much my baby as if I'd borne him. I couldn't walk off and leave him behind."

Odorless Paint Developed; Sensitive Noses Given Resi

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (INS) — Homeowners can now paint without opening their windows — or closing their noses.

An ordorless paint has been developed after 15 years of laboratory experimentation. It can be used on walls, ceilings and woodwork.

The makers say the odorless characteristic is not achieved through the use of a deodorant or a perfume to mask the usual fumes. Instead, an odorless solvent has been developed to replace the turpentine, and an odorless binding to replace the linseed oil in paint.

The new product purportedly makes possible year-round interior painting, increased efficiency in application and occupation of newly-painted rooms without waiting.

Actress Wins Second Film Critics Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (U.P.)—Olivia DeHavilland is the winner, for the second straight year, of the New York film critics' annual award for the best actress of the year.

Miss DeHavilland's performance in "The Heiress" won her this year's award. The critics picked her last year for her role in "Snake Pit."

The critics voted Broderick Crawford the best actor of the year for his role in "All The King's Men," which was voted the best picture of the year.

Two Britishers, Dame Edith Evans and Ralph Richardson, were runners-up for the best actress and best actor awards for their performances in "Dolwyn" and "The Fallen Idol."

Directing honors went to British Director Carol Reed for "The Fallen Idol."

The critics voted "The Bicycle Thief," an Italian motion picture, directed by Vittore de Sica, as the best foreign language film.

"Intruder in the Dust" was named the second best film of the year, and its director, Clarence Brown, was runner-up for best director.

"Devil in the Flesh," a French film, was voted the second best foreign movie.

The awards will be presented next month. They were voted by 17 motion picture critics.

Missouri Pacific Given Okay On Purchase Of New Engines

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28. (AP)— The Missouri Pacific and its subsidiary railroads were authorized today to buy 63 diesel locomotives at a cost of $11,299,900.

The purchase of 34 freight, eight passenger and 21 switchers was authorized by U. S. District Judge George H. Moore on petition of Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the railroad.

Chevrolet To Offer Automatic Shift As Optional Equipment

DETROIT, Dec. 28 (AP) — Chevrolet will introduce its new 1950 model automobiles publicly on Jan. 7 with automatic transmissions as optional equipment.

Announcing this today W. E. Fish, general sales manager, said promotion of the new models will be the most widespread in Chevrolet history.

U. S. Distress Areas To Be Given Priority In Defense Contracts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (U.P.)— The Defense department today announced a policy giving preference on military contracts to firms in areas where unemployment is a serious problem. It also will give preference generally to small concerns.

The policy applies to Army, Navy and munitions board contracts. The preference is to be given in cases where two or more equal low bids are made.

Action Boosts Policy

The policy was adopted "to give further impetus to the policy expressed by Congress that a fair share of military procurement of supplies and services be placed with small business," a defense announcement said.

Preference will be based on four factors:

1. When a small business concern submits one of two equal low bids, award will be made to the small business concern. If two or more small business concerns submit equal low bids, award will be made by drawing by lot.

2. When equal low bids are submitted by small business concerns, and one is from a small firm in a distressed employment area, award will be made to it.

3. When two or more equal low bids are submitted by small business concerns in a distressed employment area, award will be made by drawing by lot.

GOOD CONSTRUCTION IS THE BEST BUY

Located on 25th St., in exclusive Tech Terrace. Owners offer their beautiful three-bedroom and two-bath home at a sacrifice price. It contains an abundance of closet and linen storage space, and is near Roscoe Wilson School and Shopping Center. Only $17,500 with a good loan.

ONE-HALF SECTION

320-acre farm near Lariat in Parmer county with 2 sets of good improvements and good 10" well, is being sold at a sacrifice price to settle estate. A loan of $19,000 has been approved, and the price is only $125 per acre. Immediate possession.

GOOD FARM AND GOOD HOME

The home won't make a farm, but it took a good farm to build this home. 160 acres good soil, and a modern six-room rock home. Better investigate this buy at $140 per acre.

SOME GOOD BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Among them one of Lubbock's better small laundries, making money. Owner will sell one-half interest. $3000 will handle — buyer take over management.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Littlefield Independent School District, at the School Tax Office, Littlefield, Texas, until 2:00 p. m. o'clock C. S. T. on Tuesday, January 24, 1950, for the construction of a high school building to be erected at Littlefield, Texas, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Any bid received after closing time will be returned unopened.

Copies of plans and specifications and other proposed contract documents are on file in the office of Atcheson & Atkinson, Architects, 304 Sanford Building, Lubbock, Texas, and are open for public inspection. Plans and specifications may be examined without charge in the office of the Architect and may be procured from the Architect upon a deposit of $35.00 as a guarantee of the safe return of the plans and specifications. The full amount of this Deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon the return of the plans and specifications in good condition. No refund on contract documents and plans returned later than ten (10) days after the award of the contract will be obligatory. Additional sets of plans and specifications may be procured from the above upon a deposit of $25.00 each as a guarantee of their safe return within ten (10) days from the date of opening bids, in which event $15.00 (amount of deposit less actual cost of reproduction) of the deposit will be returned. The wage scale shall be in accordance with the schedule approved by the Littlefield Independent School District and is fully set out in the specification.

The character and amount of security to be furnished each bidder are stated in the above mentioned documents.

No bids may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for at least thirty (30) days.

The Littlefield Independent School District reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities.

Versatile Actress, Formerly Ignored By Hollywood Studios, Now In Great Demand

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28 — A year ago any studio could have had Helene Stanley for $75 a week. I am told she went knocking at every studio door and got the cold shoulder.

But things are different now. Oh, my, yes! Helene, petite, red-haired, a glamor girl who can sing, dance and play the piano, stole the show when she opened in "A La Carte." Every Hollywood producer started bidding like mad —and the poor little girl who couldn't get a job, has now signed a wonderful contract with 20th Century-Fox.

Her first picture is "I'll Get By," a William Perlberg number which goes into production in February, and which Mary Anita Loos and Richard Sale are scripting.

Bacall Gets Comedy

Lauren Bacall (Mrs. Humphrey Bogart on her income tax forms) and her boss, Jack Warner, won't have a tiff over her next assignment. For a long time, Baby has wanted to do a comedy and she gets it in "Stop! You're Killing Me" opposite Danny Kaye.

For a girl who is so sultry looking, Baby is quite a comic and wise-cracker, and she expects to hold her own even with a comic as funny as Danny. It is a Harry Kurnitz story and he will also produce with Phil Rapp directing, and it's Baby's first comedy. She's been a strictly dramatic girl.

Offer Reported Made

A few days before Greta Garbo sailed for America there were headlines saying that she had accepted an offer to star in "Phedre," Jean Cocteau's adaptation of the famous Greek tragedy, to be presented in Paris.

All that was really true about the story was that Garbo had had luncheon with Cocteau and said she would like to play Phedre. Cocteau mentioned it to a newspaper reporter—and bingo, it was in the papers.

The lady who will really be seen on the Paris stage is the favorite Parisian ballerina, Tamara Toumanova. Toumanova, who has been in Hollywood spending the holidays with her husband, Casey Robinson, leaves Feb. 1 for Paris to prepare for the Easter opening of "Phedre," expected to be the season's most brilliant theater event.

Actress Hit By Flu

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gertrude Lawrence is recovering from virus flu which had her down Christmas Day. Hardly a family seems to have escaped from some form of this infection.

Andre Previn is not happy over his break with Gloria de Haven. I wouldn't be surprised if she and John Payne reconcile again. They parted and went back together three times, and there could be a fourth.

The day Clark Gable's elopement broke, Minna Wallis was in court because of a minor traffic charge. Her secretary called in a panic and said every news service had been trying to get in touch with her. "I thought maybe I was going to jail and the boys had heard about it," said Minna. I didn't know why else they'd all want to talk to me."

Daughters Get Escorts

Jack Warner took his pretty daughter, Barbara, to Santa Anita opening day, and L. B. Mayer escorted his lovely daughter, Suzanne.

Maureen O'Sullivan, John Farrow and five of the little Farrows stopped to see us Christmas. Those happy boys and girls certainly were a picture.

Jane Wyman is giving a holiday dinner dance on Thursday. It will be the biggest event of the yuletide season, with the exception of the Harry Cohn New Year's party.

Small Party Given

Lorena and Louis B. Mayer had a small birthday dinner for Joseph Schenck, and it was a happy affair. Only Joe's closest friends were there. His real birthday is Christmas and heretofore he has always gone out of town, so we were especially happy to be with him this year. The table was lovely with small white Christmas trees trimmed in gold and white flowers. There were only three speeches, but they were super, with George Jessel never wittier.

Milton Berle has again been warned by his doctors to take it easier and to cut down on his work.

I Love My Doctor

sink and went looking for my purse.

"Where are you going now?" asked my mother.

"To see it, of course," I replied automatically, as if she had asked me who was buried in Grant's Tomb.

"Look, dear," said my mother patiently, "it's too late now. Go tomorrow with John, and besides, I thought you had a date with him, It's almost 5 already."

"Is it?" I had to look to be convinced. Reluctantly, I decided to wait until Sunday morning before inspecting the apartment, and settled instead on a 10-minute cleanup and personal redecoration drive before going to meet John.

AS I washed and powedered, my mother insisted on giving me detailed instructions on how to act and what to say when I would go to Longview Road the next day.

"Don't show that you're too anxious," she said, "and don't accept the first price quoted. Mrs. Bodenheim said the rental was reasonable, but you say it's too high. They're always a few dollars out of the way anyhow. And wipe off some of that lipstick," she finished, handing me a tissue.

Poor mother. Since then I have come to realize how difficult it must be for any parent to face the thought that her children are grown and independent, and how especially difficult it must have been for mine to permit me to arrange things myself, knowing, as she did, that the mere possession of a wedding ring did not necessarily endow the owner with sudden maturity, wisdom, and shrewdness.

But then, of course, I was only annoyed.

"Oh, Mom," I spoke impatently, "you talk as if I were a child."

To which she sniffed. "Have a good time, baby," she said and kissed me goodby.

I flew to Tum Foo's in a spirit of joy. Yesterday, time had been marching by to the tune of Chopin's funeral dirge, but today it was Alexander's Ragtime Band in Blue Heaven, and the difference was immeasurable.

'You've found it," John exclaimed as I reached our meeting place. It was the best kiss in nearly two whole weeks.

"Not exactly," I said, after I caught my breath again. "But this time we've got a real lead."

I told the story, and in three minutes he was equally enthusiastic.

After we had eaten, and while John got up to get my white jacket, I examined the check. The thought occurred to me as I did so, that such conduct would have been unpardonable before marriage when a girl was supposed to be totally blind to the pecuniary transactions taking place under her very nose. While, after marriage, a financial statement in any form expects and receives the avid interest of a love letter.

"Let's take a cab," John said, when we stood on the street again. "We're a little late, and we're celebrating."

A budget must have been an original female invention for all that most men undestand of it.

"Too expensive," I protested "and we really don't have anything definite to celebrate yet," I finished, crossing my fingers behind me.

"A celebration," said John hailing a cab, "should have rhyme, but no reason, to be the nicest kind," and I quickly conceded the point. My best times have always been unpremeditated, unprovoked, and unquestioned.

THE ride was short, but pleasant, and John and I did right by the taxi's baskseat in the best of such tradition.

All too soon we arrived. The hospital, where the party was being held, was an old red brick building with the interns quarters in a wing on the main floor. My mother always used to say, when we attended social affairs there during our engagement: It's terrible! You young people carrying on downstairs, laughing and dancing, while upstairs those poor people are sick and may be even dying!"

But somehow it never seemed that way to any of us. To all the boys living and working there, the hospital, and espeically their own quarters, was like a wonderful, shabby home. To those of us visiting, it was just a social hall, with no scientific connotations at all. Of course, the loudspeaker would call at different intervals: Dr. Hines wanted in Emergency," and so forth. And sometimes someone would have to leave because a baby was being born on the fifth floor, or a new patient needed an immediate transfusion. But, generally, everyone listened only to make sure his particular name wasn't being paged, without ever thinking about what someone else's was being paged for; and many a young girl was wooed and won in the rare privacy of the laboratory alongside the morgue.

"Here we go," John said, and as we entered the interns' quarters it seemed that everyone else was already there. I was also glad, as I stood looking about, that I knew almost all of the crowd, because, for my money, there is no worse ordeal for a young bride than to endure the scrutiny and appraisal of her husband's friends for the first time.

STOCKS SOAR TO NEW HIGH

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—A surge of power in the railroad division hauled the stock market to a new 1949 high today.

At the final bell the general level of prices, as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, was at the highest mark since July last year, which in turn was a peak since August, 1946.

A rise during the last week of the year is a traditional affair in the stock market. Today's advance, though—and, in particular, the strength of the rails—surprised a good many traders who figured the market was due for a resting spell after an advance that has been under way since mid-June.

The AP 60-stock average advanced 7 of one point to 71.7, a high since mid-July last year and just a shade under the 1948 peak of 72.4. The figure of 72.4, in turn, has not been matched since August 1946.

The rail group was an easy first, followed loosely by industrials. Utilities fetched up in third place. At 101.1, the industrial average was at its highest level since Aug. 21, 1946.

A total of 1,155 individual issues changed hands, of which 540 advanced and 328 declined.

N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania, second and third most active issues, were in heavy demand.

Central closed ¾ higher at 11½ and Pennsy gained ¼ at 16½. Central had the benefit of a November earnings report which showed net operating income at $3,356,124, against $3,177,357 a year ago, and net income at $3,487,446, compared with $1,327,300 last year. Net income fo rthe first 11 months, however, come for the first 11 months, however.

Atlantic coast line set a fast pace among the carriers with a jump of 4 points to 43½.

Up fractions to nearly 2 were Chesapeake and Ohio 28½, Northern Pacific 19¼, Frisco 11, Santa Fe 101⅛, Union Pacific 82¾, Southern Pacific 50¼, and Nickel Plate 101½.

Also higher were American Cable and Radio, Studebaker, Chrysler, Pan American Airways, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Western Union, American Smelting, Du Pont, American Can, International Paper and Standard Oil (NJ).

On the losing side were Republic Steel, Packard, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Boeing, Admiral Corp, Southern California Edison, Texas Co., Gulf Oil, and Barnsdall Oil.

Marked up in the curb were Humble Oil, Le Tourneau, Mesabi Iron, Raytheon Mfg., United Light, Creole Petroleum, Cities Service, American Republics, and American Bantam Car.

Lower were International Petroleum, Pancoastal Oil, Colonial Airlines, and Cornucopia Gold. Sales of 310,000 shares compared with 350,000 Tuesday.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Cotton futures drifted lower today in slow trading. Scattered hedging and New Orleans selling were absorbed through mill buying and short covering. Quiet conditions in cotton textiles and the primary spot cotton markets contributed to lack of interest in futures.

Some traders anticipated 12 to 25 points increase in the mid-December cotton parity to be announced this Friday. The mid-November cotton parity was 29.76 cents a pound.

Cotton closed steady.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28. (AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at 10 designated southern spot markets was 5 cents a bale lower at 30.62 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 29.94; middling 15/16ths-inch average 29.14.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Grain futures started firm today but then dipped rather sharply on liquidation that met little demand.

Corn held up better than other grains and soybeans, with some buying stimulated by talk of export sales. A rally in corn strengthened other pit trading near the close.

But there was little in the news to bolster wheat.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to ¼ higher than the previous finish, March $2.17-$2.16⅞, corn was ⅞ up to ⅛ down, March $1.31⅞, oats were ¼ to ⅜ lower, March 71¾, rye was ¼ to ⅜ higher, May $1.41⅜-⅞, soybeans were unchanged to ¾ down, March $2.28¾-$2.29, and lard was 5 to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $10.57.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28. (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 2.27-42.

Oats No. 2 white 93¼-94¾.

Corn No. 2 white 1.62-64, nominal.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs 2.40-45.

November. Many food items were down a bit. But coffee retail prices jumped 24 percent during the month, and prices for fresh fruits and vegetables rose 5 percent.

The fuel, electricity and refrigeration group rose one-half of one percent, maily due to higher prices for anthracite, bituminous coal and coke.

The index, called the consumers price index, is considered as the government's official measurement of living costs. It averages out the retail prices of goods and services bought by city families with moderate incomes.

'Atomized' Seed Potatoes Are Found To Grow Faster

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP) — Potato tubers with built-in atomic energy are the latest thing down on the farm.

The Atomic Energy commission, describing the experimental spuds today, indicated that its scientists might be shooting for a method of using atomic energy "rays" to speed the growth of potatoes.

The AEC reported that researchers at its Brookhaven (N. Y.) national laboratory had exposed potato tubers to various dosages of x-rays which are virtually identical with a type of ray released in the explosion of an atomic bomb.

The scientists found that seeds developed from the x-rayed tubers were (A) much more likely to start new growth than were other seeds, and (B) did it faster.

Actress Recovers From Spasm Resulting From Auto Mishap

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28. (INS) — Actress Marie McDonald, known as "the body," was recovering today from a spasm of the chest and heart muscles following a hit-run accident.

The actress said that a hit-run motorist rammed the car in which she and her husband, Dr. Harry Karl, were riding yesterday. The jolt caused Miss McDonald to develop the spasm, first feared as a heart attack.

Arthritis Treatments Made Big News For Nation's Ill In 1949

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. — The passing show:

Despite what you may read about the possible ill-effects of cortisone and Acth, the hormone treatments for arthritis and rheumatism, these essences from the glands of beef cattle and hogs made some of the most exciting news of 1949.

Millions of Americans in wheelchairs and hospital beds prayerfully await the day when enough of the precious injections are available to care for run-of-the-mill rheumatics. If you know any of them, you know they will be willing to take whatever chances are involved — if there really are any.

Oldest Of Diseases

Rheumatic diseases are among the oldest and certainly most neglected known to man. The National Research council in a 1948 survey found that nearly 100,000,000 work days are lost annually because of these troubles. That is equivalent to 320,000 Americans unemployed continually. U. S. taxpayers shell out about $128,000,000 a year relief allowances to arthritis victims — yet spend only about $300,000 a year in search of a remedy.

Jap Travel Ads Appear

If you don't think that the hot war and a portion of the cold one are ended, for better or for worse, you missed Wednesday's papers.

As for the ex-hot war, there was a nice ad in the New York papers urging people to take a "festival cruise" to Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines — respective scenes of the plot to attack Pearl Harbor, Camp Stanley, and Bataan and its death march.

In regard to the cold conflict, Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Edward Kardelj of Yugoslavia was authorized to tell that country's parliament that the world bank (which means you) soon will lend Tito — who shot down and killed U. S. fliers and refused to pay the indemnities asked — $25,000,000.

Soviet Athletes Ready

Soviet Sport, the official organ of the committee on physical culture sports, says that the USSR's sports teams are ready to accept challenges from teams which believe in friendly relations with the Soviet Union and do not knock it or its athletes.

Sounds like a close-knit competition. Barred, apparently, would be those iron curtain countries whose athletes, once across the borders, took it on the lam after the last Olympics, Davis cup matches, etc. etc. Barred, too, would be this country, though there's always a chance that the State department will apologize for crude U. S. sportswriters who have had the effrontery to question some of those sports records the Russians have been releasing — including the recent announcement that Russians swam the equivalent of two and a half round-trips across the English channel in less time than it took Gertrude Ederle to make a single trip.

With the proper number of eliminations it would appear that the Kremlin's sports decree of December, 1948, would soon bear fruit — for it ordered that the athletes of the USSR must gain an abundance of championships and "world" records.

Movies Use "Stock" Shots

Newsreels and so-called "stock" shots are getting so good that Hollywood is leaning more heavily upon them to lend realism to the fiction of its semi-documentaries.

Two forthcoming pictures, both excellent, make dramatic use of real McCoy film to help tell their stories. One is "The Sands of Iwo Jima," the greatest Marine film you ever saw. The other is Texas Jack Wrather's production, "Guilty of Treason," the courageously told story of the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and the tribulations of U. S. newsmen behind the iron curtain.

A couple of films you'll never forget, because they're as real as a front page.

Indonesians Urged To Extend Goodwill To Former Masters

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 28 (AP)—President Soekarno, who headed the rebellion that led to independence for the new United States of Indonesia, told his people today to show goodwill and hospitality toward their former Dutch masters.

About 200,000 cheering Indonesians jammed into the square before the government palace to greet Soekarno as he arrived to establish the capital of the new nation that officially came into being yesterday.

Calling for "work and work and work," to build prosperity for the U.S.I., Soekarno added:

"We now are on peaceful terms with the Dutch and other foreigners."

His speech echoed the appeal for Dutch-Indonesian cooperation voiced yesterday in Amsterdam by Queen Juliana as she signed the papers making the United States of Indonesia an independent nation.

MAN FATALLY INJURED

ODESSA, Dec. 28 (AP)—Donald Gene Chauncey, 17, of Ashdown, Ark., was fatally injured last night when his car overturned three miles south of Wink.

Good Drivers Relax, Visual Expert Says

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 28 (U.P.) — The safe driver is the one who drives along with a relaxed stare on his face, an Ohio State university visual expert said today.

Prof. Hoyt L. Sherman, co-director of Ohio State's visual demonstration center, told the national meeting of the College of Physical Education association that a safe driver must be relaxed. The bad driver, he said, often concentrates only on an oncoming vehicle.

"His retina must contain the whole ipcture of what's ahead—not only the image of an oncoming auto," he said. "The position and size of objects is more important than an analysis and detail of the center of vision.

"The driver must retain the image of the field while acting on one point. And the bad driver, in acting on one point, sometimes forgets the rest of the field."

Sherman said that if a driver is confident in his perception and does not anticipate what he will see, a lot of accidents will be avoided.

Exchange Club Announces March Of Dimes Donation

Members of the Exchange club Wednesday contributed $123.68 to the March of Dimes fund by giving ties received as Christmas presents to be auctioned off by Dr. Jim Reynolds.

Dr. Reynolds paid the highest price for a tie with a bid of $6.30 at the luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock.

M. B. Hilburn, jr., president of the club, told members they would not be allowed to leave without a tie.

Glenn Lawson bought the most ties, three, and then gave them back to Reynolds to be sold again.

The club is sponsoring the March of Dimes campaign in Lubbock this year.

Max Rutledge, chairman of the project, assigned every member of the club a job to do in the drive.

LOST MONEY FOUND

A woman in Cape Town, South Africa, recently sold a coat to get a little ready money after she had lost $200—then remembered there was a hole in the coat pocket, returned to the dealer and found her $200 in the lining.
