

Trustees Consider New School Building Program

A school building program now under consideration by Olton school board members calls for the following:

1. A new science building.
2. A new agriculture building.
3. New bus barn and garage.
4. New physical education facilities including a new football stadium, new football field with track and new field house.
5. Repairs on the present junior high and senior high buildings.

At a meeting of the board Tuesday afternoon, board members instructed Superintendent John Clark to proceed with an investigation into the cost of the proposed program.

Clark had recommended the additions and repairs to the board.

He pointed out that the present agriculture building is not meeting minimum requirements and the football field house is not now large enough for all boys going out for the sport.

Board members discussed putting a new football field just west of where the field is now located. Some felt that the visitors' stands should be replaced with new stands for the home fans. The present home stand would be retained for visitors.

No estimate was made on the cost of the project, although Clark did point out that some federal aid could be secured.

He said that it would be impossible to estimate the cost until more definite plans were made.

Columbian Securities Corporation of Texas was retained as financial advisor on the building program.

In other action, the board amended the budget, accepted a gasoline bid, heard lunchroom, enrollment and tax collection reports, renewed a contract, accepted a resignation, elected a custodian and reviewed the music program.

The budget was amended to include $3,400 for relighting of the high school.

A low gasoline bid by Olton Butane of approximately 18 cents per gallon was accepted. This will be good through August.

In the past, the board has divided gasoline purchases among local companies. A spokesman said the bid method was employed to save the school money.

Elmer Moore, school business manager, was given a new contract with a $446 per year raise.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Eleanor Mayberry, Bohnert teacher, on condition that the board can find a competent replacement.

William Isbell was elected custodian.

The music program was reviewed and the group voted to move eighth grade band students back into the junior high band next school year.

Some complaints on the matter had been received from parents who felt that eighth grade students were too young to go on band trips with the senior high band.

A small graduating class this year, along with a large eighth grade class going into high school next year, will keep the size of the senior high band from being greatly reduced by the move.

An enrollment report showed that there are now 699 students in elementary school, 318 in junior high, 248 in high school and 156 in Bohnert, giving a total enrollment of 1,421 students.

There are eight students enrolled in the special education class.

The present school enrollment is an increase of approximately 120 students over the enrollment at this time last year.

INSPECTING PLANS---Looking over plans for a new building which will house their businesses are, left to right, M.T. James Jr., Bob Duncan and Bill Kelley. The building will be located on Olton square. Construction is expected to start Feb. 1.

Three Firms To Expand To Location On Square

$90,000
Investment
By Three

Olton's square, sitting idle for several years, will be the site of a new business center. Owners of Duncan's 5 and 10-Cent Store, Kelleys and White Auto announced this week they will re-locate in a new building to be constructed on the square.

This will represent an investment of approximately $90,000 by the three businessmen, Bob Duncan, Bill Kelley and M. T. James.

Construction on the 150 by 100-foot building is expected to get underway Feb. 1. Each store will occupy an area of 50 by 100 feet.

To be located on the northeast corner of the square, the new steel building will have an eight-foot glass front with brick trim and butterfly awnings.

The building will be equipped with glass and aluminum doors in front, asphalt tile floors and central heating and air conditioning.

Builder is Stout Steet Builders, Tulsa.

"We purchased approximately two-thirds of the square," James said this week. Land was bought from Dr. Lynn Fite, Nederland, a former Olton resident.

All three businessmen said they plan to expand their present lines and add new ones. White Auto will include a shop area in the back, a tire department and a seat-covering department.

Both Kelley and Duncan are planning on adding new features and offering "a wider selection."

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley moved to Olton in 1953, when they opened Kelley's Men's Store. They expanded the store to include ladies' wear almost three years ago.

Members of the Main Street Church of Christ, they have three children, Gary, 11; Vicki, 8; and Brad, 4.

Kelley has served on the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture board, has served as treasurer of the ORC board, held every office in the Lions Club except president, and served one year as president of the Quarterback Club.

He has represented Merit Clothing as sales representative in west and south Texas for the past two years, traveling approximately five months per year. He now has resigned this post and expects to devote full time to his store.

Mr. and Mrs. James are nine-year residents of Olton.

He served as mayor of Olton for four years and was city councilman for two years previously.

BORUK GETS TV CABLE BID

Judge Put On Salary

Olton city council piled through a raft of business Tuesday night at a regular meeting and came up with these decisions:

---Provided a regular monthly salary of $125 for the city judge, rather than paying him according to cases handled.

---Purchased a new police car from Thompson Chevrolet Co.

---Approved plans to set up a Municipal Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Committee, headed by Tom Smith as coordinator and James Hall as assistant coordinator.

---Awarded a 10-year TV cable franchise to Steve Boruk. ---Called the city election for the first Tuesday in April to elect three councilmen. Terms of Doug Jones, Basil Johns and Bob Gullett expire.

That was just part of a full night's work which also saw the council discuss the need for a new fire truck, accept the annual city budget, award holiday compensation to two peach officers, and discuss possible new policies on inspections of move-in buildings before building permits are granted.

Approval of a monthly salary for the city judge drew a unanimous vote, following City Attorney Andy Stroebel's recommendation.

"There's a lot of pressure on the judge under our present system," Stroebel said. "A good monthly salary would leave a better taste in the people's mouth. When they're fined, they wouldn't be able to say it was because the judge was getting a cut."

Stroebel and police officers said that charge has been made many times by disgruntled recipients of the judge's decisions.

A check of the records for the past three years revealed the judge's wages had averaged $113 per month. The group then settled on a monthly salary of $125.

Taking up the purchase of a new police car, the issue was settled by a 2-1 vote, after two councilmen abstained.

Two bids were received, one from Thompson Chevrolet and the other from Fisher Ford Center, both of Olton.

The Chevrolet bid was for a trading difference of $2,197 on a car listed at $3,262. The Ford bid was for a difference of $1,951 on a car listed at $3,001.

After discussion of features of both cars, along with equipment offered in each bid, Mayor Bill Thomas called for a vote.

Councilman Gullett told the council he was against the purchase of a new police car at this time and abstained. He was joined by Councilman Johns.

Councilman Jones cast his vote for the Ford bid and councilmen Bill Kemp and Russell Rucker favored the Chevrolet bid.

Fire Chief Tom Smith offered the proposal for a local civil defense unit, outlining the organization as set up in some other towns.

The council gave the project a quick go-ahead and scheduled further discussion and study once it is set in motion.

Taking up the TV cable franchise, the council came to a decision between two proposals, one from Steve Boruk and the other from Basil Sherman. Both had sought 10-year franchises for TV cable service here, with Boruk offering the city 5 per cent of gross receipts and Sherman 2 per cent.

The group took a secret ballot, with results favoring Boruk's bid, 3-2.

In calling the annual city election for April 7, the council named W. G. Finney as election judge, C. A. Cox as assistant and Naomi Hair as clerk. Alternates were Eldon Franks, assistant judge and Winona Cure, clerk.

Filing deadline for candidates is early in March, 30 days before the election.

Fire Chief Smith brought up the need for a new fire truck, saying "Olton can save $2,500 a year on fire insurance with

Floral Shop Will Expand

Plans to move the House of Flowers to a new location and to expand stock were announced this week by owners, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Polk.

The business will be moved the first of March to the building formerly occupied by Oliver Jewelry.

House of Flowers was opened in October of 1958 when the Polks moved here from Tahoka. Located in the building now belonging to the Masonic Lodge, the business expanded in February of 1962 and moved to its present location.

Mr. and Mrs. Polk have two daughters, Deborah, 11, and Denise, 9. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Chamber Slates Member Drive

"64 More In '64"

With this slogan, Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture will kick off its membership drive in the morning with a 7 a.m. breakfast at the Ideal Cafe.

Charlie Young, executive vice-president of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, will speak at the breakfast.

Letters were sent out this week urging individuals and businesses to join the Chamber. A complete list of present members appears in this issue.

The membership committee is planning to call on as many people as possible during the next two weeks in an effort to secure new members.

The drive will end at the Jan. 31 CC-A banquet, when new members will be recognized.

Rex Chitwood and Eldon Franks are co-chairmen of the drive. Three team captains are Basil Sherman, Dan Gregory and Charles Polk.

Chamber projects for the year include:

1. Promote widening of Highway 70 and more paving.

Fertilizer Plant To Locate At Hart

The rapidly growing community of Hart soon will receive another boost, in the form of a major fertilizer blending plant.

Tide Products of Edinburg, Texas, a Union Carbide subsidiary, will invest between $150,000 and $175,000 in the plant.

A company spokesman, M. W. Marsh, said Wednesday that construction on the facility will begin in the next few months.

It is one of several planned by Tide Products in this area. Land has been purchased for other such plants at Littlefield, Hereford, Seagraves and Farwell, according to Marsh.

Three of the facilities have been completed---at Hearne, El Campo and Jennings, La.

Marsh said the plants will blend raw materials "to desired soil analysis specifications."

At Hart, the firm will employ about four persons on a year-round basis, including an agronomist and plant manager, a salesman and warehouse personnel.

Marsh said the company will offer its services directly to farmers, utilizing a "push-button" operation for "prescription blending" of fertilizers.

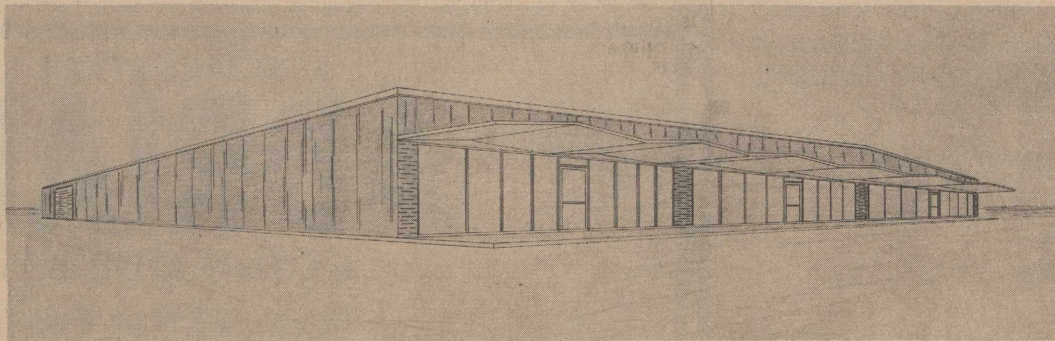

The plants will be designed to serve areas of 20 square miles, enabling soil samples, tests and custom blending for individual plots.

Mother's March Is Scheduled

The annual Mother's March of Dimes is set here Monday, Jan. 20 from 6 to 8 p.m.

Bykota Study Club, in charge of the march, said this week that they plan to call on all homes in Olton.

The business drive will be held during the afternoon.

NEW STORE FRONT WILL BE ALMOST ALL GLASS.

Olton Huffs And Puffs Over Cigarette News

To smoke or not to smoke.....that is the question.

Since the report Saturday by a blue-ribbon science panel on smoking and health, the mighty cigarette has been a familiar topic of conversation in Olton, just as it has been, no doubt, throughout the nation.

The report said, in effect, that heavy cigarette smoking is the principal cause of cancer of the lungs and the larynx and a health hazard so grave as to call for remedial action.

What effect is this likely to have on smokers?

Most people seemed to feel this week that the effect would be slight. It is certainly highly unlikely that smoking is going out of style overnight.

Why? As one man put it: "Most of us just don't have the guts to quit."

On the other hand, some Oltonites contacted this week had already decided to give up the habit.

Here are some of the reactions:

DR. BASIL JOHNS---"Certainly, the report is true and I would recommend to anyone that they quit smoking. I quit about a year ago. Anyone can quit, you know. This will power thing is just an excuse. It's simply a matter of intelligence. If a person is convinced it's injurious to his health, then his basic common sense should tell him to quit and that should be all there is to it."

"I think we should do something about teaching our young people the dangers of smoking.....not as a moral wrong, but we should stress the health hazard. The only thing morally wrong with smoking is that it injures your health....and of that I am definitely convinced."

MELVIN MCREYNOLDS---"I feel like the report is probably true, but I am not going to quit smoking. I am going to cut down some and smoke a pipe."

MRS. BETTY TRUELOCK---"I've cut down. I'm thinking about quitting because I don't think it's good for you. I've tried to quit before, though."

HERMAN MEYER---"I don't plan on quitting. I do think a person should cut down some."

GEORGE CADDEL---"I quit! I had planned on quitting for a long time and this is all it took. I think the report is factually true. I wonder if they ran a report on coffee and cokes, if they would find something on them too."

MRS. ROBERT DENNIS---"It didn't stop my smoking even though I believe there is a lot of truth to the report."

BASIL SHERMAN---"I'm not gonna quit smoking....I'm just gonna quit inhaling!"

CARROLL COX---"I don't know. I just wouldn't want to say whether I'm going to quit or not."

BILL TURNER---"Yes, I'm convinced smoking is a health hazard. I haven't quit, yet, but, I'm sure giving it some serious thought."

MRS. C. J. DORRIS---"I have planned to quit long before now but never did. I don't believe much new came out in this latest report that hasn't come out before."

ED THOMPSON---"Common sense should tell us that smoke inhaled from any source is detrimental to our health. If a person doesn't have enough common sense and judgement to quit the cigarette habit when he knows it is detrimental to his health, then it is very doubtful if he will refrain from the habit even on the recommendation of his doctor or the federal government."

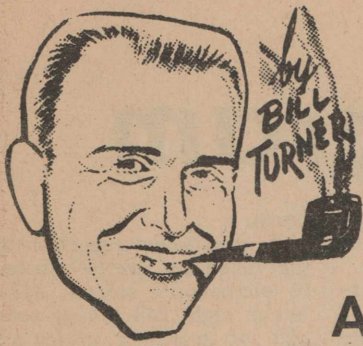

GERALD RAY---"I have to study it some more. I'm still undecided really as to what I'm going to do."

MRS. FRED THOMPSON---"I think it is an exceptionally strong report. We had anticipated the report before it came out because Fred's doctor had already told us about it. Some of our friends said, 'Well, that's it', when they heard the report and others seemed to think that if they were going to have cancer, they already had it anyway, so the heck with it."

FRANK EADES---"I'm not gonna quit smoking because I don't think it's going to kill me any faster."

MRS. JOE HALL---"Joe and I have both quit. We just thought we should. We had been talking about it for quite a while."

LESTER THOMPSON---"I think, with the information that has been put out, we should all quit....but I haven't. I'm thinking very seriously about it....but I doubt that I will. I certainly wouldn't encourage any to start."

Are You A Real Fan?

"AFTER MAKING a touchdown a tight end can get an extra two pints."

That ain't no misprint, either.

A fellow by the name of Bob Jones, Seagraves, penned that little epistle and forwarded it to me the other day. Bob has a hobby of dreaming up such stuff and sending it to newspapers, so he writes.

He just does it for the kick he gets out of it.

NOW, IF you aren't a football fan, such puns won't make a bit of sense to you.

Most folks in Olton, however, are pretty good football fans when it comes to watching the Mustangs play ball.

Along about this time of the year, though, I begin to wonder how many real football fans we have.

I think maybe we neglect our boys when it comes time to honor them at the annual football banquet.

Only the real football fans turn out for it. The true-blues, the never-say-dies, etc. We ought to pack the house for it, like we pack the stadium in the fall.

Better buy your tickets Friday. You can get 'em from any Quarterback Club member. There won't be any sold at the door Monday night.

THIS WEEK'S QUIP: Basil Sherman was asked about his plans following the government's announcement on smoking. "I'm gonna quit inhalin'," declared Basil.

Said Basil Johns, sneering: "What he means is, he's gonna quit breathing."

OUR TOWN is showing some real signs of getting a move on. Banker Owen Norfleet is optimistic, and he should be. Olton State Bank is growing at a faster pace than any other bank in Lamb County, showing 11 per cent greater deposits at the end of 1963 than at the end of 1962.

Local business is beginning to expand and new business has come in.

Personally, I think the announcement this week of a new building on the square may spark further development of our downtown area.

And I believe the Chamber's Highway 70 widening project, once it is completed, will lead to further business development along the highway.

Stop and think about it. New homes are going up all the time and we still are far behind in the demand for residential rent property.

I think we're showing signs of progress, in spite of ourselves.

No telling what might happen next if we really worked at it.

INCIDENTALLY, we have the makings of a real force for progress in our Chamber of Commerce, but it's going to take more of us working together to get anywhere.

FRED AND ED THOMPSON and their wives got pretty sore at the newspaper last weekend.

We led them, and maybe a few others, astray. We accidentally announced the wrong date for a going-away party honoring the Lacy Armstrongs.

There was nothing going on at the ORC when they arrived there Saturday night, so they went to the PCA building, found a lot of cars there and walked in, presents in hand.

Seems they crashed another party, and after red-faced apologies, wound up at home playing dominoes.

At any rate, they're still looking forward to the Armstrong party, which is THIS Saturday night.

A FINAL NOTE---Speaking of the last word, Bill Smith had it on his brother, Tom, the other night.

Tom had made the statement at a city council meeting that he was sure there weren't any ex-fire chiefs in this town. It seemed logical, since Tom has been fire chief since heaven-knows-when.

Bill took issue with him, though.

"I guess I'm gonna have to take you to the woodshed," grinned Bill. "I was a fire chief before you ever heard of fire school."

A PRESIDENT SPEAKS

EDITORIAL

Guns And Laws

AN EDITORIAL from the Winchester News Bureau is reproduced for consideration of citizens who own guns. It is presented as 1964 will see much discussion and much legislation directed at gun owners.

"It would be an ironic footnote to history if one of our liberties--the 'Right to Keep and Bear Arms' as guaranteed in the Second Amendment of the Bill of Rights--were to be sacrificed in the name of our late President, who was himself a member of the National Rifle Association.

"We need not state that honest gun owners everywhere are being challenged with the most serious threat to their constitutional right to private ownership of firearms--a threat more serious than ever before, at both the national and state level.

"We sincerely urge that each and every man who cherishes this right do his utmost to defend his heritage for future generations as others have done for us in the past.

"We urge that you write your congressional and state legislators and reaffirm your dedication to the principle of the ownership of firearms by all free, non-criminal, mentally sound adult Americans. We are not against any law that deprives the criminal, the mentally ill or the untrained juvenile of access to firearms.

"But we are unalterably opposed to the deprivation by bureaucratic and autocratic restriction of firearms owned by the vast majority of honest citizens. We have yet to witness any 'gun law' that effectively disarmed the criminal.

"Unfortunately, the record is full of abuses inflicted upon honest men by sweeping anti-gun laws. Once a law is passed a near miracle is required to reverse it. Now is the time to fight anti-gun laws--not when it is too late."

Every gun owner is involved in this issue. It's more than just a shotgun for quail hunters, a rifle for deer hunters--it gets right inside the door of the Bill of Rights. Since the end of World War II there has been a tendency toward group thinking, group planning, legislation for the multitude. This is a highly personal matter with every sportsman, and if he doesn't act in every way he can he may not have a gun by this time in 1965. It's up to you, and what you want.

Philosopher Tangles With Age Of Computer Machine

Editor's note: The Running Water Philosopher on his careless weed farm on Running Water Draw tangles with computer machines this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:

According to some articles I've been reading in the newspapers lately, we're now entering the Computer Age.

As I understand it, electronic brain machines are being used more and more in business and government and science, and they seem to work. For example, one computer machine in a big insurance company of office can do the work of 1,000 clerks, and do it faster and more accurately, without coffee breaks, summer vacations, or head colds.

Furthermore, man is using the machine to solve complicated problems, to analyze figures, to detect trends, to balance bank accounts, to advise what business course to take. All you do is feed the facts and figures to the computer and it grinds its gears and flashes its lights and types out the answer in two or three seconds, and you can rent one of the smaller, compact models for $100,000 a year.

I am not in the market for one.

I guess it would be fascinating to collect all the facts and figures on this careless weed farm, all the things that need to be done to increase its efficiency, tell the machine what the weather has been like for every week for the past 25 years, what the production has been, what the market has been, etc., and feed them to it and sit back and let it type out what my jobs are for 1964, but I would be uncomfortable with a machine that can tell me in three seconds what I ought to be doing for the next twelve months. One day at a time suits me fine, and hour by hour is even better.

I don't want any machine coming on this place and telling me the gate in the front yard is sagging, the kitchen roof has a leak, a board on the back step is loose, the pasture fence on the west line needs re-building, my tractor's valves need grinding, I ought to use more fertilizer, or I ought to modernize my bookkeeping system.

I've known this for years, and if the machine wants to do something about it, let it go ahead, I don't intend to.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Barry Backslides

(FROM DIBOLL FREE PRESS)

Senator Barry Goldwater did something Friday which--back in the 1960 presidential campaign--he said no candidate should be allowed to do. He announced that he was a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and for re-election to the Senate.

In speeches in Houston on August 27 and September 30, 1960, the Arizona Republican condemned Lyndon B. Johnson for running for senator and vice president at the same time.

"There should be a rule," Goldwater said then, "that candidates can't run for one position when they aren't sure of winning the other."

In announcing his candidacy for the two offices this past Friday, however, Goldwater said, "...I can see no incompatibility of the two candidacies."

And so it seems that what was not all right for Mr. Johnson to do in 1960 suddenly becomes perfectly legit for Mr. Goldwater in 1964. After all, it isn't the principle of the thing, it's the office that counts, seems to be Mr. Goldwater's thinking at this time.

And since he has found it expedient to change his mind on this point, we wonder if Mr. Arizona will stick to his statement--also made Friday--that he will not even consider the position of vice president or somebody else's ticket? He said Friday that "I'd rather be a Senator than Vice President..."

The same thing happened to Lyndon Johnson back in 1960. Many folks continue to hold it against him that he went back on his word. What these same folks failed to recognize, and many still do, is that you simply do not settle for second while still in the heat of battle for first. And so we can't blame Barry if he should change his tune about the vice presidency in the days ahead, the same as he changed his thinking about running for two offices at the same time.

MISS MABLE PARKER

Teacher Can See Progress In First Grade Students

BY SHARON RAY

"I like seeing the children start out in their school days adventures", says Miss Mable Parker, a first grade teacher in H. P. Webb Elementary School.

Miss Parker teaches the first grade "by choice", because, as she says, "The progress is more apparent at this age."

The majority of Miss Parker's students don't know their alphabet and numbers when they start school.

"The students with older brothers and sisters usually know a little more and learn readily," says Miss Parker.

There are 17 Latin Americans and 13 Anglos in her class. All of her students speak English and she has had no problem with a difference in languages. She had no trouble remembering all the students names.

In her methods classes in college, reading was a subject that had no real method to follow in teaching.

"Each child has to be thought of as an individual and taught individually, especially in reading," notes Miss Parker.

"Other subjects have more concrete foundations to follow in teaching," says the first year teacher.

Miss Parker would like for her class to do some handcraft next semester. She has many ideas along this line. "I am learning along with my class, but I hope they are learning more," she says.

Many of her teachers have had a strong influence on her decision to attain a higher education. She helped slower students when she was in the first grade, and in the fifth grade she was allowed to preside over a class in the teacher's absence.

Miss Parker's final decision to be a teacher came when she was in the eighth grade.

"We did research in careers and I was allowed to substitute in the lower grades at different times. My eighth grade teacher was a strong influence in my decision as well as many of the teachers I had later", states Miss Parker.

She worked her way through college and graduated from Texas Women's University at Denton last year with a BS degree in elementary education. She did her practice teaching in the second grade.

Her second interest in college was library science.

While in college she was a member of Athenaism Social Club and Alpha Beta Alpha, National Library Science Fraternity. She lived in the cooperative system where they did their own housekeeping and cleaning. When she was a senior she lived off campus and worked.

Miss Parker graduated from Breckenridge High School, where she was a member of FTA and Library Club. She was a charter member of the FTA Club and was voted Who's Who in Library Club her senior year.

Her parents live in Abilene and she has one brother who is stationed with the Army at Ft. Bliss and two sisters, one of whom is married and lives in Abilene. Her other sister is a senior in high school.

"I like Olton very much. I had my application in at other places but I like the way Mr. Clark handled the application. He answered my application right away while I got no reply from the others until August."

Miss Parker thinks Olton has a very good school system. She attends First Baptist Church.

Miss Parker's hobbies are reading and handcraft. She enjoys painting by numbers. She also enjoys meeting people.

Last year American doctors received 25 per cent of the medical care dollars, a reduction of almost five per cent over the 1950 figure.

Drivers Hit Gas Pedal With New State Speed Law

Texas motorists tramped a little harder on the gas pedal when the state's new 70-mile-per-hour speed law went into effect Sept. 1, 1963.

In fact, they began easing down on the throttle months before the law went into effect, probably because of publicity which followed approval of the new speed limit by the Legislature and during the 90-day lapse before the law became effective.

This information was made public today by the Texas Highway Department in a review of its annual speed survey. The survey is a research study project used by highway designers and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to determine traffic requirements.

The Highway Department surveyed vehicle driving practices twice during 1963, both before and after the new speed limit law went into effect. Concealed radar units were set up at 29 locations on key highways during an eight-hour period during June-July and again in October-November to check driver speeds. More than 25,000 vehicles were tested each time.

Average speed of all vehicles surveyed by the Texas Highway Department was 56.5 miles per hour before the law became effective and 59.3 miles per hour after. By comparison, the 1962 survey of all vehicles—passenger cars, trucks, busses—indicated an average speed of 53.2 miles per hour.

Average speed of different types of vehicles in 1962, 1963 before the new speed limit law, and 1963 after the new law became effective, respectively: Passenger cars—54.1, 57.7, 60.7.

Single unit trucks—Panel pickup 50.3, 54.1, 57.1. Other 48.1, 51.1, 54.3.

Truck combinations—3 axle, 49.8, 51.2, 55.3. 4-axle, 50.7, 53.5, 56.6.

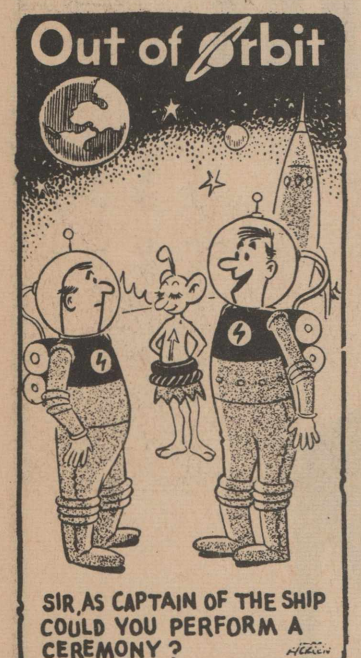

Total trucks—49.9, 53.1, 56.1. Buses—62.8, 65.0, 69.8. All vehicles—53.2, 56.5, 59.3.

Although the state's maximum speed limit was boosted 10 miles per hour, eight per cent of the motorists checked in the latest survey still didn't find that speed fast enough.

Of the vehicles surveyed, 11.1 per cent of the passenger cars were exceeding the new speed law.

In 1962 the number of passenger cars which exceeded the then-speed limit of 60 miles per hour represented 16 per cent of the total. In June-July, 1963, this number had jumped 32.8 per cent, although the old speed law still was in effect.

After the new speed law became effective, the October-November survey showed 51.4 per cent of the passenger cars checked were driven over 60 miles per hour—only 40.3 per cent of the total observing the new maximum limit of 70 mph.

Smith said one of the city's two trucks will not meet state requirements and the other needs factory work done on it.

He added that his estimation of savings on insurance "doesn't include any additional property which might be annexed in the future," indicating the savings would be greater in that event.

Smith estimated the cost of a new truck at around $12,000. Councilmen tabled the matter until the chief could have more information available on costs.

The council voted to compensate Police Chief Emmett Burrow and Night Officer Harvey Castleberry for eight days of work during the year while other city employees were free for holidays.

Also coming in for discussion were present building inspection policies.

Bank Break-In Nets Nothing

Whoever tried to play "Break the Bank" in Hart last Friday night came up empty handed.

Burglars broke the glass in the front door of Farmers State Bank but apparently made off with nothing.

The incident happened sometime between 11:30 p.m. and 3:30 a.m. Saturday, when the break-in was discovered.

The bank was checked at 11:30 and again at 3:30 by an armored service driver. The driver saw the front door smashed and left to alert bank president Norlan Dudley.

To my friends and citizens of Lamb County:

"Due to so many friends and business people over the county expressing their wishes for me to seek this office, I will be a candidate for sheriff in the coming election. I was born in Kill-

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We were happy to receive our first regular edition of your wonderful paper, which our granddaughters, Gayle and Lucy are sending us for the year.... Especially enjoyed the articles, "What is a Farmer", and "Running Water Draw Philosopher... We lived on Running Water Draw once, but left there in 1956...."

We just found out this week that Farm and Ranch Safety Council want to select a Texas Rural hero of the year, and are asking for nominations from all over Texas from anyone who knows someone who performed an act of bravery in saving the life of someone else....

We immediately thought of the incident in Olton last July when Ronnie Upton saved the lives of two small boys, age 2 and 4 years, from drowning in a cess pool.

We would love to nominate him for the award, but do not have the story or pictures nor the names of the little boys etc....and don't even live in the state...We wondered if you would not be glad to send this information to: WBAP Radio, Fort Worth, Texas, Farm and Ranch Safety Council....This radio station will see that the proper authorities get the story. You may send any pictures you have of the near tragedy, or of the little boys now, whose lives he saved or anything you think may help elect him the hero of the year....

Jumping into a clear lake or stream to save the life of someone is one thing, but diving into a cess pool is another...Believe one of our boys told us that after he had rescued both of the little fellows, all Ronnie said was, "You know where I can take a bath?" I guess one reason we were so impressed with what he did is because we lost a little 2 year old boy in a water tank on our farm near Bushland, Texas in 1930, and there was no Ronnie Upton close by to save him when he fell in....

So we would so love to see him get this award, and think he is deserving....

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gunter Sr.

"A GOOD PLACE TO BUY A CAR"

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS
AUSTIN, Tex.—Austin has settled back to being just the capital of Texas after nearly two hectic weeks news-wise as the vacation White House.

Dozens of top cabinet officers, military leaders and federal agency heads followed German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and his advisors to the LBJ Ranch for conferences with President Lyndon Johnson.

Encouraging predictions of progress toward world peace emerged from the President's international discussions. The federal budget and economy were spotlighted in the domestic talks.

Before he departed, White House sources gave these insights into the President's thinking:

He does not feel the U. S. can drag its feet until after elections this year before pressing for new peace breakthroughs.

He regards civil rights and the $11,000,000 tax cut as legislative "musts." Also, he has expressed support for the medicare program of aid to the aged.

Reducing the budget to save money for essential human needs, including education, is regarded by the President as of concern to all Americans. He hopes cost cutting will serve as a pattern for future years.

Slum clearance and "a home for every American" are seen as goals of his administration. Some newsmen interpreted this as a likely 1964 campaign slogan.

Johnson hopes to steadily improve American preparedness. But he is strong for elimination of military obsolescence, particularly old bases and installations retained in the budget for political reasons.

Congressional leaders will run their own legislative show. But the new President won't hesitate to ask old congressional friends for what he thinks is needed.

Johnson hopes to draw on the talents of both business and labor to render public service.

He is concerned about unemployment and is called for new solutions.

PRISON POPULATION REDUCED—For the first time in 18 years, the number of prisoners in the Texas Department of Corrections shows a decrease.

Department Director Dr. George Beto reports that the December 31 count was 12,150 compared with 12,203 the year before. Since 1945, there has been a steady climb in number of prison inmates.

Beto cited these reasons for leveling off: more adequate parole supervision; opening of a new first-offender unit; a pre-release program of preparing prisoners for freedom; and expanded trusty program; and overall improvement in the prison treatment program.

Prison chief said the reduction not only will save money on prison care, but also in welfare funds spent on families of inmates, not to mention restoring prisoners to productive lives as citizens and taxpayers.

PRISON SYSTEM INCOME—Farm products and livestock produced more than $6,500,000 of the prison system's 1962 income, according to the auditor's report just released. Other sources were: manufactured products, $3,704,616; oil and gas leases, $39,237; miscellaneous, $3,287,167.

Report placed total income from farms and farm industries at $10,144,773, with expenses of $14,304,734 for a deficit of $4,159,961.

Manufacturing operations include license plates, shoes, textiles, clothing and other products.

SCHOOL INCOME THREAT—Texas school income will be drastically reduced unless the Federal Power Commission sets an adequate price for gas in the Texas Gulf Coast area and the Hugoton-Anadarko area of the Texas Panhandle, Attorney General Carr contends.

Carr has filed a petition to intervene in price hearings ordered by FPC to determine reasonable rates for sale of natural gas in the areas.

Earlier he filed briefs requesting FPC to set the price of all gas in the Permian Basin area at 21 cents MCF. The FPC staff sought a nine cents MCF rate for casinghead gas and 13.7 cents MCF for gas well gas.

Attorney General noted in his brief that Texas levies a 7 per cent occupation tax based on market value of the gas at the well head to help support state government.

He also pointed out that the University of Texas system owns more than 4,700,000 acres of land in the Permian Basin area. Bonus money and royalty income from this acreage goes to the permanent school fund for Texas education. More than 18,000,000 acres of state land are involved in the Gulf Coast hearing.

IMPORT PROGRAM "INEFFECTIVE"—Basic structural deficiencies in the mandatory oil import program have rendered it "both ineffective and politically inappropriate," according to a Texas representative to the Sixth World Petroleum Congress.

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin so concluded to his report to Gov. John Connally.

The time has arrived, Herring stated, "for a comprehensive review of the program, leading toward the evolving of a whole new approach."

The Senator found "evidence of a serious monopoly trend within the petroleum industry" and no basis for assuming that corrective forces "will emerge from within the industry itself."

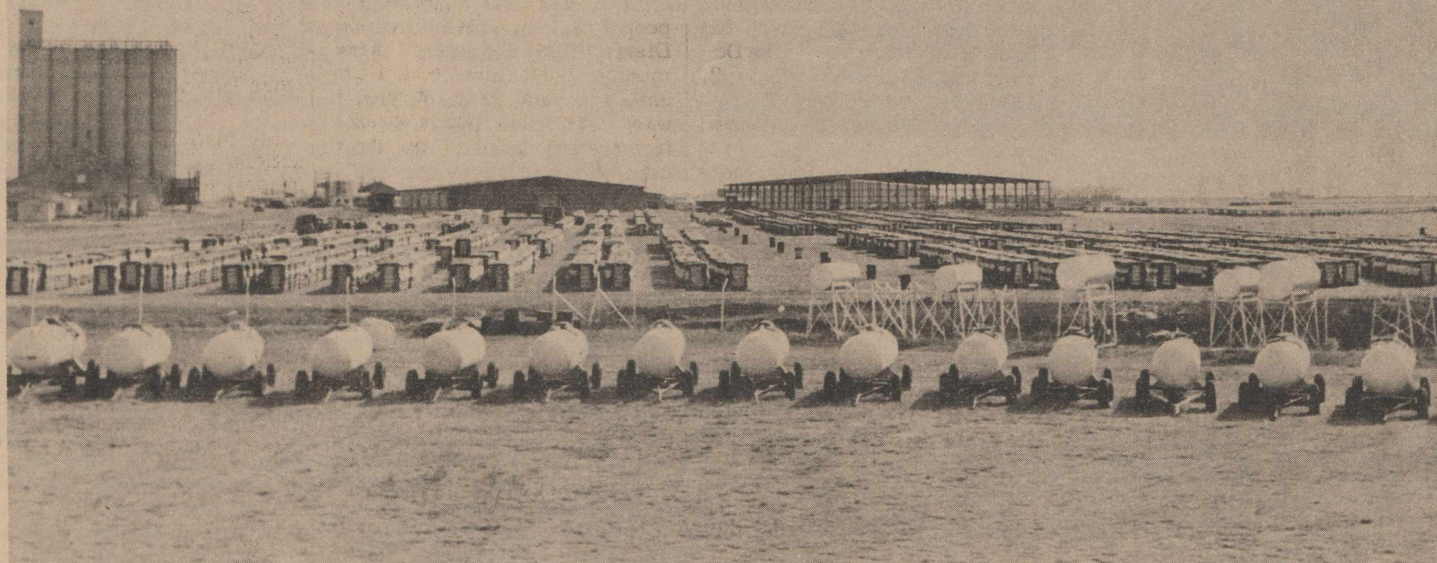

Herring said Texas is suffering "grave economic damage" from its attempts to balance supply with effective demand and to "serve as a balance wheel to world oversupply."

HAY FREIGHT HIKE SOUGHT—Although the hay shortage has shoved prices up to double the normal, hard-pressed Texas ranchers and dairymen may have another cost increase in sight.

Railroad Commission already has been asked by the Livestock Carriers Association of Texas to increase truck freight rates on hay and cottonseed hulls.

A hearing on the application has been set by the Commission's rate division for January 20. In some cases this would mean a rate increase of more than 100 per cent.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL—Jack Edwards returned home Saturday morning from the Plainview Hospital, where he underwent surgery last week. He is reported improving.

COTTON, COTTON, EVERYWHERE is the scene at Panhandle Compress and Warehouse as cotton bales stretch out across the yard. The cotton harvest in this area is, with a few exceptions, completed.

Auto Inspection Deadline Nears

AUSTIN--The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison Jr. today reminded Texas vehicle owners that the 1964 vehicle inspection deadline will soon be upon them.

He reported that some 60 per cent of the allotted inspection period has elapsed and only 20 per cent of the vehicles have been inspected.

"If this trend continues, vehicle owners can expect to have to wait in line in order to get their vehicles inspected by the April 15 deadline," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas experienced its worst traffic fatality record in 1963 and vehicle defects were involved in some of these fatal accidents. He urged all Texans to begin the new year with safe vehicles and to keep them safe throughout the year. He added that vehicles involved in traffic accidents should be re-inspected after repairs have been made.

This committee, authorized in a resolution authored by Rep. Clayton is directed to study the problems incurring as a result of the growing shortage of water in the State with the responsibility of offering new methods of protecting the vital natural resources of both water and soil within Texas.

On announcing these appointments, Speaker Tunnell commented, "The vital interest of all of these men in the problems of conservation will undoubtedly yield an informative study which will serve as an invaluable aid to the next session of the Legislature in formulating constructive legislation in these fields."

County War Veterans Get $21,300 In Dividends

A financial plum in the amount of $21,300 will be arriving in Lamb County this month for local war veterans.

It represents a stepped-up payment of dividends, under their GI insurance policies. Payment at this time is being made in accordance with an order issued by President Johnson. In the normal course of events, the money would not have been paid until the anniversary dates of the policies.

The speed-up is taking place on a national basis, with 225,000 veterans of World War I and 4,500,000 World War II veterans on the receiving end.

The distribution, which will amount to $234,000,000, is being made now to give an added stimulus to business. It is expected to be completed by Jan. 25.

Of the 1,976 war veterans who live in Lamb County, an estimated 425 will share in the current payment.

Not all ex-servicemen are eligible to receive these dividend checks. Only about a fifth of the 22,000,000 throughout the United States qualify. They are the ones who hold Federally-sponsored life insurance policies.

Those who were in World War II are covered by National Service Life Insurance. They will get just under $50 each, on the average.

The World War I veterans, who acquired U.S. Government Life Insurance policies, will average about $65. The size of the policy will determine the amount in each instance.

No part of the distribution is to veterans of other wars since they were not covered by this type of policy.

The total sum going to the Lamb County recipients is estimated at $21,300.

Much of it, it is expected, will be spent within a short time in local retail stores.

In its announcement of the pre-payment of dividends, the Veterans Administration explained that it represents, essentially, a return to the policyholders of part of their premiums.

The money became available because the mortality rate among the GI's has been lower than was figured on when the premium rates were set.

Policyholders are advised that no application for the payment is necessary. It will come to them automatically.

Fifty per cent of Texas physicians have held an elective office in some type of civic or community organization.

IF NOT . . .

Now is the time to put it there. These are the people who are giving their time, energy and money for your benefit now and in the future. They need your help! Representatives of the Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture will be personally calling on you during the next two weeks, to ask you to take your fair share of the load. Don't say no!
