VOTERS SWAMP ROAD BOND ISSUE

Deputies Protect Burrier From Slain Man's Brother

Faith

Mr. Rush in Town—
Not a Flatterer—
Without Bitterness—
A Human Sheriff—

FRANK RUSH, manager of Craterville Park in Oklahoma, is an old-timer. That is, Mr. Rush is an old-timer in experience, for he is one of the men even a stranger would dub a typical "westerner" of days past.

In Wichita Falls Friday, Mr. Rush had much to say of the Wichita Falls Camp Fire Girls, who made their annual camp at Craterville Park.

"That's the finest, liveliest and prettiest bunch of young ladies I ever saw," said Mr. Rush to the writer. "Wichita Falls should be proud of these girls for I don't know of a finer type of womanhood produced any time or anywhere."

Coming from a man like Mr. Rush, young ladies of Wichita Falls may take that as a distinct compliment. A younger and more agile tongue might have said more, but certainly with less sincerity than the philosopher of Craterville park.

* * *

WICHITA FALLS residents disagree, but on the whole seem to disagree without any great bitterness. Persons touring the various business houses and office buildings Saturday in the bond election on the whole, met with a friendly and courteous reception, although there was often a wide divergence in the views of the various groups.

This is the true spirit of Wichita Falls, and the spirit of which all the town may well be proud. Disagreements and differences of opinion are better forgotten by individuals and communities once they have been settled.

Whatever the division of public thought in Wichita Falls on questions of the moment, there is no doubt that the great majority of the residents of this city have a deep affection and loyalty for their home town, and though divided perhaps at times on the candidate, the issue or the matter of the moment, are sincere in following what they believe is the best course.

* * *

SINCE taking office in January Sheriff W. G. Bralley has shown himself to be a man of vision and tact, as well as a capable and efficient administration of the law of the county. A recent example of this was the handling of the case in which two young farm boys were arrested for the theft of $60, and the money recovered.

An officer of less understanding, of narrower viewpoint, might have obtained the same results, for it was no extraordinary feat to capture two inexperienced youths. Many officers would have felt these two young boys should have been shown how unrelenting the law may be, should have been taught that the star of a sheriff or policeman is to be feared, should have been impressed with the great crime that had been committed.

These might have been the courses of the average officer. Not so with Sheriff Bralley. He took his young prisoners with kindness, and he left the question of guilt and restitution to their "consciences." Kindness and frankness won, and the two boys made their confession and returned the money.

* * *

FRANKNESS, human understanding, vision and kindliness should not be altogether foreign to the law and to law enforcement especially if we consider that the purpose of law enforcement is not to break men's spirits, but to turn them again into the ways of useful citizens.

If there is anything of the good in the two young men mentioned above, this urge to do right must have been strengthened by the contact with the Wichita sheriff. Boys who admit voluntarily their guilt and make restitution will think much more seriously in the future before violating the law, and certainly should make better citizens than those who might have been browbeaten and made to feel the shame of their wrong doing.

JUDGE SETS $10,000 BAIL IN TWO CASES

"Let Me At Him," Cries E. H. McDaniel As Hearing Ends

ALIBI CLAIMED

Thornton Grants Burrier Bail in Hearing At Archer City

Bonds totaling $10,000 for the release from jail of J. W. Burrier, accused of slaying John McDaniel, Lake Wichita filling station owner, were set Saturday by Judge E. G. Thornton in the 30th district court at Archer City.

Burrier, who in addition to being accused of the slaying is also under indictment for robbery with firearms, in connection with the alleged robbery of the Three-Way Filling station, in Archer county, which is owned by E. H. McDaniel, the slain man's brother.

$5,000 In Each Case.

Judge Thornton, who presided at a habeas corpus hearing for the release of Burrier, set the accused man's bond at $5,000 each in the murder and robbery with firearms charges.

As Burrier was being escorted from the courtroom to the county jail, in the custody of Sheriff Goodwin of Archer county, E. H. McDaniel attempted to reach Burrier.

"Let me at him," McDaniel cried. However, he was stopped by several deputy sheriffs. McDaniel was not armed.

During the hearing which started Saturday morning and was concluded at 3:30 p. m. Saturday afternoon, the defense attorneys attempted to prove an alibi for the accused man.

Offers Alibi.

The defense attorneys presented 10 witnesses to prove that Burrier arrived at his home in Mitchell county on the afternoon of May 5. John McDaniel was slain on the night of May 5 and E. H. McDaniel, at the Three-Way filling station, was robbed about an hour before his brother was slain.

The state, represented by E. F. Fruechte, assistant district attorney, and R. S. Morrison, county attorney of Archer county, in rebuttal testimony introduce as witnesses, Mrs. E. H. McDaniel, who witnessed the slaying of John McDaniel, and Dewey Phillips, who transported in a truck the man who shot and killed McDaniel, and Mrs. Felton, a cafe owner in Archer county.

Mrs. McDaniel and Phillips identified Burrier as the man who is alleged to have slain McDaniel and Mrs. Felton testified that Burrier had partaken of breakfast at her cafe on the morning of May 5.

At the conclusion of the testimony, Judge Thornton ruled that in view of the alibi defense set out by the defense that the accused man was entitled to his release on bond.

Beer Bottles Seized by Sheriff Sold For Good Sum For Milk-Ice Fund

Wichita county bootleggers indirectly and unwillingly contributed to The Record News Milk and Ice Fund Saturday.

The direct and real contributor to the needy children and aged persons of Wichita Falls, however, was Sheriff W. G. Bralley who turned over to the Milk and Ice Fund a check for $36.50, which amount was realized from the sale of 1461 empty beer bottles seized by the sheriff's department in the past eight weeks.

The law directs that the sheriff dispose of all such equipment and Mr. Bralley could have legally kept the money for his own use. He paid two negroes to count and assort the bottles but did not deduct the amount from his contribution to the milk and ice fund.

Sheriff Bralley stated that the contribution might have been much larger had not the officers destroyed so many bottles while conducting raids. Deputies estimated that at least 1000 bottles have been destroyed in making raids this summer because of the fact they had no way to bring them to the court house.

Saturday contributions follow:

Sheriff W. G. Bralley	$ 36.50
Cash	5.00
Total Saturday	$ 41.50
Total to date	$630.80
Grand total	$672.30

Gotham Makes Ready To Gild Tinsel For Big Welcome to 'All-Texas Special'

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Plans are being made for the entertainment of the Texas "Good Will" delegation, headed by Governor Dan Moody and consisting of 120 representatives of the Lone Star State, which will be in New York next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Grover Whalen, chairman of Mayor Walker's committee on receptions, and a group of former Texans who now make New York their home make up the welcoming committee.

Arriving here Tuesday morning on their elaborately equipped special train, the visitors will have breakfast as guests of the N. Y. Junior board of trade and transportation.

The mayor's committee will have luncheon for the Texans, who will subsequently meet the mayor at city hall. A motor sight-seeing trip has been arranged by the Merchants' association, and there will be a harbor trip on the official municipal boat, the "Macom" and a dinner at Coney Island given by the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce.

The local committee will take the party in motors to the stock exchange on Wednesday morning, followed by luncheon given by the cotton exchange. A baseball game and a theater will complete the day's activities.

MA FERGUSON OUT AGAINST LEGAL REFORM

Former Governor Opposes Proposed Changes In Constitution

SHE CITES REASONS

Declares Salary Hike For Governor Not Now Necessary

AUSTIN, June 25.(AP)—Former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson today came out against all four of the constitutional amendments to be put to popular vote August 1.

In a statement professing belief that "the purpose of all these amendments is to raise taxes and give the legislature more power to increase the tax burden," the erstwhile first women executive upbraided efforts to provide increase of the governor's salary as "unpatriotic," and expressed premonition of divers costly dangers in other propositions.

Recalling that one amendment would allow increase of the governor's salary from $4000 to $10,000, a year, and legislators' pay to $1500 a year and traveling expenses, Mrs. Ferguson said: "In the first place, I do not think the present $4000 a year governor's salary is half as bad as a lot of people contend."

Governor's Salary

"Everybody knows," she added, "that if you give the legislature the right to raise their salaries to $3000 a term, they will surely raise it at the first opportunity."

Equipped with first-hand information by having lived twice in the governor's mansion, Mrs. Ferguson listed the things a governor gets free, besides his $4000 salary. These, she said, are mansion rent, a carpenter, a yard man, servant, cook, ice, lights, water and telephone.

The amendment to abolish the county office fee system, Mrs. Ferguson said would "remove the incentive in three-fourths of our offices now charged with the arrest, prosecution and conviction of criminals to enforce the law."

"If this amendment carries, the officer will get his salary after the fashion of 'rain or shine' the money is mine,' and very few of them would be so eager to enforce the law."

Although holding "no special opposition" to raising supreme court salaries, Mrs. Ferguson opposed the amendment to transform the present three-member court and six commissioners of appeals into a full nine-membr court.

Charges Politics

"I see no reason," she elaborated, "in making any change to enable somebody to legislate somebody out of office in order to give the present governor authority to determine the personnel of the supreme court for the next four or six years."

WOMAN MUST DIE FOR CRIME

Chicago Court Sentences Woman to Hang

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Mrs. Catherine Cassler of Crown Point, Ind. was today sentenced to be hanged on October 21 for the murder of William Lindstrom after she refused to plead guilty to save her from the gallows. A motion for a new trial was denied after her refusal.

At the same time her two co-defendants in the trial, Loren Patrick, bootlegger also of Crown Point, and Mrs. Lillian Fraser, of Chicago, common-law wife of Lindstrom, were sentenced to life imprisonment for their share in the slaying.

While no woman has ever been hanged in Cook county, two have been sentenced to be hanged. Both later won reprieves to life imprisonment.

Lindstrom was beaten to death, the testimony of the trial revealed in his home, by Loren Patrick, at the instigation of both women. The purpose of the death plot was to collect his $7500 life insurance money.

Mrs. Fraser and Patrick, in receiving their sentences of life imprisonment, were ordered to spend every December 6 in solitary confinement for the rest of their lives to remind them of the day on which Lindstrom was slain.

BYRD PLANS TO HOP FOR PARIS EARLY SUNDAY

Weather Conditions Near Favorable Point For Start On Trip

THE WIND DIES DOWN

Weather Reports Not All To Be Desired Yet Experts Say

ROOSEVELT FIELD, NEW YORK, June 26. (Sunday 2 a. m.) Commander Richard Byrd at 3 a. m. today, New York time, announced another postponement of his flight to Paris because of unfavorable weather.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)——The monoplane, America, will hop off for France between 4 and 6 o'clock this morning if there is not a cross wind on the field at that time.

Shortly before 1 o'clock Grover Whalen, vice president of the American Trans-Oceanic company, announced that a take-off had been positively decided on if the wind swings around to make leaving the runway possible.

At that time the wind was southwest and would have to swing almost to due west to give the plane the headwind it needs to take the air.

The cross wind makes a hop-off impossible. The wind during the night had been swinging in the right direction and it was believed it would be in excellent position by dawn.

Decide to Go

"We have decided to go," Whelen said. "Conditions are not ideal but we have never asked that."

"They are good and if this local wind gets right to let the ship into the air it will start as soon as it's all loaded."

He set the earliest possible moment for a take-off at 4 o'clock and said that if the wind was not right then they would stand by until six. If the wind should not come around by then, he said, the flight would be put off another day, as an early morning take-off is deemed advisable.

At Whalen's statement activity was redoubled about the great plane, where it squatted in the glare of an army searchlight at the top of the runway.

The men who had been pumping gasoline into the great tanks for the past hour accelerated their motions and mechanics oiled and greased and tested stays and bolts a though racing against time.

Food for the fliers was packed away in the cabin, two roast chickens, 20 sandwiches, coffee and tea.

Commander Richard E. Byrd and his thre associates, Bert Acosta, George Noville and Bernt Balchen, continued to rest, or try to rest at their hotel in Garden City as the final preparations were made for their flight.

Shortly after Whalen made his statement the breeze, which had been blowing briskly, suddenly died.

The flag atop the hangar, which had been snapping in the wind all evening, hung limply straight down.

Such remaining wind as was still recorded on instruments, however, indicated a continuing swing to the west, auguring well for a 4 o'clock take-off.

Slight Rain Falls

With the dying of the wind, a fine drizzle started falling but it was not believed this would develop enough to do any damage.

James H. Kimball, weather bureau meteorologist, however, reached on the telephone by newspapermen at the hangar, said one storm was brewing in Pennsylvania and another was sweeping over from Lake Erie.

"In my opinion," he said, "it would take fancy navigation for the 'America' to get off at 4 o'clock in the morning."

Four o'clock in the morning, Byrd said, is the best time for a take-off as the air has better lift at that time and by leaving at that time the daylight is assured over the the first leg of the flight to Newfoundland.

Total	1259	2287	3546

Swamped by a 928 vote majority, the $1,110,000 bond issue for the improvement of Wichita county roads went down to an overwhelming defeat Saturday at the polls when voter cast 2287 ballots against the issuance and 1259 for it. The total cast was 3546.

Of the 25 polls within the city limits of Wichita Falls only three voted majorities in favor of the issuance of the bonds. The boxes were: Barwise school, precinct No. 3; Alamo school, precinct No. 15 and Charles I. Francis garage, precinct No. 21.

All of the polls outside of Wichita Falls carried large majorities in favor of the issuance of the bonds. The polls were: Allendale schoolhouse, precinct No. 25; Clara schoolhouse, precinct No. 31; city hall, Iowa Park, precinct No. 32; Helton hotel Iowa Park, precinct No. 33 and Valley View schoolhouse, precinct No. 34.

The largest precinct vote was at the Buchanan street fire station in precinct No. 23, where 285 ballots were cast. A large vote was cast against the issuance at this box, 220 being cast against it and 65 for it.

The smallest precinct vote was at the Allendale schoolhouse box, only nine ballots were cast, five were for the issuance and four against it.

Heavy For Bond Vote

Although the total vote was comparatively small for an election it was large for a bond issue election, using past bond elections in Wichita county as a criterion.

The total number of ballots was approximately one-fourth of the number of voters registered in the district in which the election was held.

The district composed county precincts Nos. 1 and 3, which comprised road district No. 2 created by the county commissioners court for the $1,100,000 road bond issue.

Voting on the bond election did not get underway to any great extent until Saturday afternoon. Only a light vote was cast Saturday morning and the heavy vote anticipated as a result of the noonday rush did not materialize.

However, Saturday afternoon a larger percentage of voters went to the polls than in the morning.

Afternoon Vote Heavy

A check on the polls Saturday afternoon showed that approximately one-fifth of the voters listed in the various polling districts as having obtained poll tax receipts had cast ballots in the road bond issue.

The average during Saturday morning at each box was about one-tenth of the registered voters, however, the average was increased Saturday afternoon to about one-fifth.

Proponents and opponents of the issue were busily engaged during the entire day in canvassing votes. Each side had representatives on the principal streets of the city and in the large buildings, all soliciting votes for or against the bonds.

Heavy Bond Vote

Automobiles were also put in service by the opponents and proponents to carry voters to the polls.

Although the voting was comparatively light for an election, nevertheless the Saturday total was larger than that cast in most bond elections.

The voting was cut down to a considerable extent by the fact that only citizens possessing receipts who pay taxes on real and personal property, were allowed to cast ballots in the election.

AL IRELAND BACK IN PEN

Archer County Man One of 35 In Break

HOUSTON, June 25.—(AP)—Alvin Ireland, one of the convicts who escaped from the Ferguson state farm Tuesday night, was captured near Leona Thursday night, according to reports from Huntsville. No details of the capture are available here.

The first news of the recapture of Alvin Ireland, sent to the Texas penitentiary for 20 years from Archery county for robbery was received in Wichita Falls Saturday night, although he had been in custody since Thursday night. Ireland's escape with the 35 prisoners who fled from the Ferguson prison farm several days ago was his second.

HUNTSVILLE, June 25. (AP)—Five of the 35 convicts were recaptured from the Ferguson prison farm near Madisonville this week have been recaptured without resistance within a short distance of the farm, an announcement at the state prison here today said. It added that but two of the number concerned in the escape were now at large, and the indications were, they said, that they would soon be behind the bars.

Two of the men were retaken last night and three today. They included Theodore Whitehad, Bexar county, murder, life; Jeff Smith, Cook county, theft, five years; Raymond Parker, Panola burglary, two years; Clarence Bayless, Dallas county, robbery, 25 years; F. L. Irvin, Ellis, theft, five years.

The two men who are still at liberty are O. C. Wells, Taylor county, burglary and murder, 15 years and Arthur Pace, Bexar, theft, 10 years.

Society Erects Bar To Unbid Guests

By Universal Service.

LONDON, June 25.—The dark flames of anger is blazing in the eyes of the beautiful Duchess of Sutherland, and it's all because of —"The uninvited guest!"

He is polite, debonair, immaculate. He is witty and dances divinely. And his companion—She is pretty and dainty with a frock that is a dream. But the hostess of Mayfair hates them, for they are—"The uninvited guests!"

The problem of these social parasites has become such a pressing one in the drawing rooms of the social leaders of London that a campaign has finally been initiated for their elimination. The Duchess of Sutherland has taken the lead in the move by issuing a formal declaration that all guests asked to her dances must bring their invitation cards in order to gain entrance.

EGG EXHIBIT SET JULY 15

$100 in Prizes Posted For Best Displays

Organization of an annual egg exposition was practically assured for Wichita Falls Saturday when five members of the North Texas Poultry association met in the office of G. C. McGowan, county agricultural agent, to formulate plans for holding the egg show here.

Although final plans for staging the first exhibit were not definitely completed at Saturday's meeting, it was decided that the initial show would be held July 15, and that approximately $100 in cash prizes would be awarded for the best exhibits.

The show will continue throughout the day of Friday, July 15, with both morning and afternoon exhibits, according to early plans.

The amount of interest shown in this first show probably will determine whether or not the exposition will be adopted as a regular yearly feature of the North Texas poultry industry, it was said.

Entries in the show will be accepted until the evening of July 14, it was announced, and the eggs will be judged according to shape, tint and firmness, and other qualities found in the "ideal" egg.

Attending Saturday's meeting were, Mr. McGowan, A. B. Moller, Mrs. A. B. Bevers, Ralph Maricle and M. B. Oates.

July 2 "Zero Hour" For War Time Insurance

Policy-holders of war risk insurance have only a few more remaining days in which to reinstate and convert their premiums to some of the other forms of insurance offered by the U. S. government.

After midnight, July 2, United States government yearly renewable term insurance which is now in effect, automatically becomes void, according to a letter received by J. F. Friberg, post adjutant of the Wichita Falls American Legion, from Read Johnson, regional manager of the United States Veterans bureau in Dallas.

In his letter Mr. Johnson declared that it was his desire, and that of the office of the Dallas veterans bureau, to render the greatest possible aid to ex-service men who wish to have their insurance reinstated or converted. He announced that the office of the bureau will remain open until 9 p. m. each day from Monday, June 27, to and including Friday, July 1, and that on Saturday, July 2, the last day on which the premiums may be converted, the office will remain open until midnight.

Mr. Friberg announced that for further information concerning the insurance ex-service men should make application to the local post of the American legion.

Board of review will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings at 5:30 at scout headquarters. Tests for second and first class will be passed Monday evening and for merit badges Tuesday.

TROOP SEVENTEEN.

Troop Seventeen, a dead troop for a long time for lack of a scoutmaster, reorganized Friday night with six members: Harold Davis, Norman Tittle, James Maxwell, Fred Barron Jr., Edward Fry and Curtiss Miller. The members consist of four tenderfoot scouts, one second class and one first class.

The troop chose as their name the "Keystone" and they bid other troops "Watch Their Smoke."

The next meeting will be held at the First Baptist church Thursday, June 30, at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present and to bring a visitor.

TROOP THREE.

Troop Three the Campers, held their weekly meeting at the First Methodist church Friday night. Assembly was blown by the troop bugler, J. G. Dixon.

The Black Bear patrol had charge of the meeting and Rollin Dixon, assistant patrol leader, took charge, as Homer Lee, patrol leader, was out at the scout camp working.

The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag, led by Springer Williams. Roll was called and each scout answered with the number of tests he had passed.

Troop Three will have nine boys at the next board of review. Dues were collected by the scoutmaster and the boys signed the dues chart.

Patrol inspection came next and, although the Black Bears were best represented, the Ravens won because of their fine attention.

The scoutmasters' bulletin was read by Howard Douglas and discussed by the scoutmaster. It was found that five Troop Three boys will attend the patrol leaders conference to be held July 11, 12 and 13.

Songs and yells were led by the scoutmaster and Rollin Dixon.

John Kettner and J. C. Daniels were unanimously voted into the troop and are to be trained in the way of a good scout by J. G. Dixon and Jereme Jenkins.

It was announced that the tennis court is being fixed and the markers will be laid by Sunday evening.

All scouts in Troop Three are requested to attend church services Sunday, July 3.

Next Friday Troop Three will meet at 6 o'clock and journey to Electra to visit Troops One and Two in that city. It was decided that every other Friday during the summer an outdoor meeting will be held.

Patrol stunts were next on the program, the Raven patrol having the best, a pie-eating contest with big, juicy pies.

The never-ending circle of friendship was formed and at each note of taps the scouts shook hands.

TROOP TWO.

Troop Two had a very interesting meeting last Friday night. Scoutmaster Bill McClure was away on his vacation so Assistant Scoutmaster John Weiler took charge.

The meeting opened with the scout oath and laws, followed by the pledge of allegiance. Then came roll call and nearly everybody was there.

John Waller gave a short talk and the scoutmasters' bulletin was read by Kenneth Waggoner.

Games were led by "Hunky" Ramey. Several games were played, including "nigger baby." Ed Eiter and Cooper Jones chose up for relay races and Ed Eiter's side won the best two out of three.

The meeting adjourned with the scout oath and the scout laws.

Troop Two is proud of the fact that in the last six days, R. T. Crain has passed nine merit badges, Cooper Jones eight and Ed Eiter eight.

Last Sunday the troop went on a swimming party and had a wonderful time.

TROOP FOUR.

A novelty inter-patrol meeting was held and conducted by each patrol leader. Each patrol held its regular position in troop meeting after general assembly was blown. This period lasted for 30 minutes, with Scoutmaster Tevis, judge of all proceedings. Each patrol brought out some very interesting scoutcraft and Scoutmaster Tevis announced that a contest during the month of July would be conducted between the patrols to see who conducted the best general assembly patrol meeting. These patrol meetings will be held instead of private patrol conferences which have been preceding each meeting.

Roll call by patrols showed everyone present or accounted for, making a 100 per cent attendance. Ed Sutton, senior patrol leader, reported 23 present, with 11 away on vacation.

J. R. Burrows and Bob Young were voted into the troop. This makes a total of six new members received into the troop in the past month. A new patrol will be organized soon to take care of new members.

Scout Bryant Creighton and Scout Herbert Wiley, who have been on the sick list for the past week, were reported doing nicely.

The Pirates rehearsed the stunts they will put on before the big moving picture machine Sunday. This machine was recently given to the scouts of Wichita Falls and Troop four will have the honor of being the first troop to appear in pictures. All members of the troop will meet at the troop headquarters at the First Christian church Sunday at 2 o'clock. All the boys expressed much enthusiasm over the picture and all expected to have a good time Sunday afternoon. It is planned to show the picture soon with the parents and friends of the troop present.

J. C. Man introduced a visiting scout from Waco and Joe Williams' mother was a visitor during the meeting.

After a series of interesting scout games the meeting was adjourned at 9:30 with the scout motto and the scoutmaster's benediction.

JAMBOREE

The third quarterly jamboree of the Boy Scouts will be held at Bellevue Park July 14. All scouts from Wichita Falls and scout troops from Vernon, Electra, Burkburnett, Petrolia, and Iowa Park will participate and it is expected that the best exhibition of scouting ever held in Wichita Falls will be held that night.

Events for the jamboree are as follows: Push-em-over, fire by friction, pup tent pitching, tower building, swing ball, attendance, visitors, uniform and advancements. Pennants will be awarded in each of these and the plaque will be awarded the troop scoring the most points.

Several troops have had trouble getting material for towers so Chief Creighton has announced that the nine-foot bamboo which can be secured from any furniture store may be used in the tower building event.

TROOP 15

Troop 15, A. King Davis, scoutmaster, opened its meeting Friday night with the scout oath and laws, led by Ed Mulligan.

Trees and birds and their colors were the subjects of an interesting discussion.

Edward Mulligan and Eugene Cope gave a demonstration of lashing and tower building. A business meeting was held and the scoutmaster read the bulletin.

The meeting place was then transferred to the Junior college lawn where the following games were played: Antelope race, won by J. W. Adair's team; human signalling tower, pyramid building, black man come through, and capture the flag.

Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan and Carl Mulligan were visitors at the troop meeting.

The meeting adjourned with the scout oath, led by Walter Cope, senior patrol leader.

CAMP

A camp circular telling of the Scout Camp at Diversion Dam and special features of the three periods of camp has gone to press and will be sent each boy within the next week.

The camp will start July 15 and will last for three 10-day periods, starting July 15, July 26, and August 6. The rates will be $8.50 per boy for a 10-day period.

TROOP 16

Troop 16, Kenneth Erwin, scoutmaster, opened its meeting Friday night with the pledge of allegiance.

Plans were made to attend summer camp at one of the three periods and the Scoutmasters' Bulletin was read by the scoutmaster.

Troop Seventeen again withdrew to themselves, having found a scoutmaster, and there are now two troops at the First Baptist church.

Slap duck, hand wrestling, and Indian wrestling were the games of the evening.

Thursday night Troop Sixteen accepted Troop Thirteen's invitation to a council fire. The two troops met at the First Baptist church and hiked to the river where they cooked and ate their supper. Troop Twenty-four, after getting lost on the opposite side of the river, joined them and a very interesting program was enjoyed, including patrol stunts, the patrol failing to perform a stunt being run through the spanking machine.

Troop Sixteen will have an overnight hike next Friday night instead of their regular meeting.

DUFFLE BAGS AND MESS KITS.

Scout headquarters has duffle bags and mess kits on sale that boys may buy to complete their camping equipment. The duffle bags sell for forty cents each and the mess kits for twenty cents.

TROOP ELEVEN.

Troop Eleven, Floyd Billingsley, scoutmaster met at Boone's Park Friday night for a weiner roast.

Baseball was the first game played and all the boys took part. Next came horseshoe pitching. Mr. Billingsley and Clifford Mann were champions in this sport. Washer pitching was also enjoyed.

The weiner roast itself was the most pleasant part of the program. Everyone was agreed on that.

After an exceedingly warm game of capture the flag the boys returned home.

TROOP PICTURES.

Troop Four will have moving pictures taken of themselves performing their favorite stunts Sunday afternoon. It is planned to take pictures of every troop in the city and show them at the Jamboree, to be held July 14. Chief Creighton has announced, however, that all pictures must be taken within the coming week in order to have them ready by July 14. All troops interested in the matter are asked to report to scout headquarters.

TROOP TWENTY.

Troop Twenty, R. E. Davis, scoutmaster, opened their meeting Friday night with the scout oath.

The first twenty-five minutes were spent in practicing First Aid, after which the boys practiced signalling, sending and receiving messages. Several scouts passed their signalling tests.

Swing ball, push-em-over, sack race, and swat 'em were the games enjoyed by the troop.

The scout bulletin was read, dues were collected and roll was called.

Troop Twenty will have several boys at board of Review Monday evening for second class.

The meeting closed with the pledge of allegiance.

The troop will enjoy a hike to Haven Park next Friday night.

PATROL LEADERS CONFERENCE.

A conference for all patrol leaders, assistant Patrol Leaders, Senior Patrol Leaders and Junior Assistant Scoutmasters will be held July 11, 12 and 13 at the scout camp, under the leadership of E. Clay Venable, camp director. This will be a very helpful course and all scouts who are qualified to attend are urged to do so. The rate will be $2 per boy. This will cover the cost of food, handicraft material, and transportation and is a very reasonable price considering the advantage the scouts will get from attending.

J. T. Hamilton, former scoutmaster of Troop One of this city, is back in the city after an absence of two years in Chicago. All scouts who were under Mr. Hamilton's leadership and many others who knew him before he left the city are glad to hear of his return.

TROOP THIRTEEN.

Troop Thirteen enjoyed a meeting held at the home of Aaron Kruger Wednesday night. The meeting opened with the scout oath and troop finances were discussed quite freely.

Games were played and refreshments were served after the meeting. Bradford and Charls Bodkin, who were leaving for their vacations the next morning, were given a warm send-off.

Troops Thirteen, Sixteen and Twenty-four enjoyed a hike Thursday night up the river. Troop Twenty-four arrived late and, not being able to get to where Troops Thirteen and Sixteen were, camped on the opposite side of the river and signaling by auto lights followed.

After being devoured by mosquitoes two or three times, everyone went to Westmoreland addition and held a council ring fire. Several patrols from each troop give stunts. The Panthers of Troop Thirteen failed to give a stunt and proceeded through the gauntlet.

A progressive ghost story, started by Mr. Kauffman of Troop Thirteen, proceeded around the ring, only to turn into a comic novel halfway round.

The scouts returned home about 1 o'clock and lived happily ever after.

Sunday Dinner "Real Meal" For Inmates of Wichita Jail

That old idea about bread and water being the bill of fare for men within prison walls is somewhat crimped when one looks over the menu for prisoners in the Wichita county jail for Sunday dinner.

John Riggs, veteran negro cook at the jail, confided that the following will be served today: Green peas with new potatoes; "lye" hominy with bacon; sour kraut, apple cobbler and coffee.

Riggs is now in his seventh year as chef to the prisoners. He dons spotless white clothing when he goes on duty and is king over the kitchen. "Trusties" who assist him learn the real meaning of cleanliness, jail attaches say.

"The prisoners are getting better food now than at any time since I have been here," Riggs declared.

Riggs is unexcelled as a bargain hunter and has charge of purchasing all kitchen supplies for the jail, Sheriff W. G. Bralley stated. He buys high quality food and always manages to get the lowest prices, Mr. Bralley said.

Burkburnett Man In Critical Condition

The condition of Hugh Dutton, employe of the Skelly Oil company at Burkburnett, who was accidentally shot with a shotgun at his home Thursday, was reported critical at the Wichita General hospital early Saturday night. Relatives of Mr. Dutton were at his bedside Saturday.

Mr. Dutton lost the thumb and two fingers of his left hand in the accident which now threatens to result in his death. The charge of the shotgun tore away the flesh over his heart. He was rushed to the general hospital immediately after the accident.

Mr. Dutton is married and has three small children. A brother, Ernest Dutton, is production superintendent for the McMann Oil company.

Oklahoma Youth Wins In Honors in Navy

Marlin U. Gilbreath, of Faxon, Okla., who enlisted in the United States navy, January 18, 1927 at Wichita Falls has received high honors in the navy, according to information received by A. F. Clayton, chief machinist mate, in charge of the Wichita Falls navy recruiting station.

During his training period at Hampton Roads, Va., Gilbreath was selected as "honor man" of his platoon, which is considered a high honor for a recruit.

Gilbreath's parents reside at Faxon, where he was born and reared.

Craterville Park Ready For Program

CRATERVILLE PARK, Okla., June 25.—The annual three-day round up and rodeo will be held here July 2, 3 and 4 with one of the best programs ever prepared for the event.

A complete racing program has been arranged with many fast horses assured. Both Indian and white men will ride in the races. The roping contest, wild cow milking, wild steer and bronco riding will be of the highest order, according to Frank Rush, manager of the park.

The show arena with its half mile race track, surrounded by beautiful Granite mountains, is in good condition. Free camping grounds with good spring water and plenty of shade are to be had by those who attend the round up.

Cash prizes amounting to approximately $500 are to be awarded winners in the various contests.

Floral Heights Class Has Picnic and Hike

The senior class of the Floral Heights Baptist church hiked to Lake Wichita Thursday evening when a picnic lunch was spread and cold drinks consisting of grape juice and punch were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Franks. Games were played and music furnished by the class.

Those enjoying the picnic were Lillian Jones, Daisey Straley, Willie Mae Gillispie, Fay Brown, Ruth Brown, Fetna Bivins, Maude Norris, Thelma Straley, Bobbie Carter, Helen Box, Gene Cantrell, Nomia Ward, Juanita Wages, Loraine Aynes, Mary O'Neil, Louise Aynes, Vera Featherstone, Madeleine Davis, Ruby Wood, Corene McReynolds, Annie Maude Boring, Wilma Windsor, Mr. Edmons, Woody Featherstone, Joe Johnson, Howard Baldridge, Bill Box, Zillman Davis, Guy Middleton and Russell Franks.

Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Solon Featherstone, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Franks, Mrs. Noah Daves, Mrs. Gillspie and Mrs. Ritter.

W. P. Ferguson was able to be returned to his home Saturday from the Wichita General hospital where he underwent an operation several weeks ago.

Oklahoma City Man Scout Camp Leader

E. Clay Venable of Oklahoma City has been selected by the executive board of the Wichita area Boy Scout council as camp director for the council camp to be held at Scout camp, Diversion lake, July 15 to August 15, according to Frank Creighton, executive for the area.

Mr. Venable has had a wide range of experience in scouting and is well known throughout Oklahoma scouting circles, having served as scout executive for two years at Ponca City and as field scout executive for the Red River council with headquarters at Ardmore for one year, prior to his employment by the Oklahoma City board of education as an instructor in a junior high school, Mr. Creighton said.

The Wichita area camp will be the third camp on Mr. Venable's schedule this year. He conducted the patrol leaders conference for Oklahoma City area and he has spent one week at Craterville Park where he camped with troop 48 of Oklahoma City.

He is considered an important instructor in two very important phases of camp work, craftwork and in wood and leath and swimming and life saving, Mr. Creighton stated. He holds an examiner's certificate in the Red Cross life saving corps and has had several years' experience in teaching swimming.

Mr. Venable plans to arrive in Wichita Falls on July 10 and will begin work with the council here on Monday, July 11.

The Wichita area is composed of Archer, Baylor, Clay, Jack, Throckmorton, Wichita, Young and Wilbarger counties.

MEXICAN IMPROVES

Luis Rico, Mexican, who was shot early Friday morning, is improving at the Wichita General hospital and will be out of danger within a few days, it was said Saturday. Arrest of the Mexican alleged to have shot Rico has not been made. The injured man told Officer Jimmy Gonzales that he had a long knife in his hand when he was shot. Officer Gonzales has been leading the search for Rico's assailant.

JOINS MOTOR COMPANY.

C. M. Kinby, who formerly was connected with the Lloyd Weaver company as used car manager, has returned from a vacation in San Angelo to assume charge of the used car department of the McKama Motor company. Mr. Kinby is well known in local automotive circles, having been connected with automobile firms here for several years.

MRS. W. H. MOORE

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Moore of Archer City, sister of Mrs. H. W. Jagers, 1617 Collins, will be held in Archer city at the residence Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Burial will be in the Archer City cemetery under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company. Mrs. Moore died Wednesday night in Edinburgh. She is survived by her husband, her mother, four sisters and four brothers.

Mrs. O. B. Kell is reported much improved at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

MOODY DRAWS TERRELL'S IRE

Veto of Funds Criticized By Executive

AUSTIN, June 25. (AP)—Gov. Moody, because of his recent veto of $26,500 from the agricultural department appropriations, was criticized today by George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture as "unjustly crippling" the department.

Mr. Moody "blue pencilled" Terrell's budget as made up by the 40th legislature with the statement that items eliminated were not essential.

Agriculture appropriations struck some rocks in the legislature before going to the governor. Representatives Reagan of Beaumont and Stout of Ennis made an effort to abolish the entire department, along with four others as "officious, needless, worrisome burdens on the state."

Stout and Reagan asserted that "all the department of agriculture does is to occupy much needed office space and send out seed tick inspectors to pester people."

Clerk's Salary Vetoed

Mr. Terrell's statement in part:

"He (the governor) evidently did not give these items careful consideration, as he had so short a time before leaving on his northern trip. I could have explained the absolute necessity for these items if I had been requested so.

"Mr. Moody vetoed the salary of the mimeograph operator who does this work for the entire department—we have no filing clerk or mailing clerk and no substitute to do this work.

"He vetoed the salary of the chief of the nursery division which position was created 24 years ago when the nursery inspection law was enacted—the salary was fixed at that time to make it a permanent position.

"This division now receives and turns in to the treasurer more money than the salaries amount to—fees collected doubled yet our inspection force is continually cut down. The governor vetoed the appropriation for two weight and measures inspectors and the item for equipment to test heavy duty scales. We think the farmers should have benefit of correct scales on which to weigh their products. The weights and measures division has paid into the treasurer $18,040 since 1919, and it seems to me that the public weighers who pay these fees are justly entitled to have their scales tested so as to enable them to give the public correct weights.

Will See Moody

"When Gov. Moody returns to Texas, I shall confer with him about the appropriation for the agricultural department and try to get him to recommend the reinstatement of some of the appropriation vetoed in case there is a second called session of the legislature, as I cannot believe he intended to cripple the work of this department."

'Tex' Thornton Buys Hale County Shallow Well; Morton Sells Half

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, June 25.—The Engle King Drilling company today sold its 414-foot oil well and block of 1188 acres located in section 21, block 8, of R. M. Thompson survey, and near Hale Center, in Hale county, to Tex Thornton, noted oil well shooter for $50,000. Thornton plans to clean the well out and deepen it and drill more wells in the shallow pay.

The well is now making 5 barrels a day. Oil firms are skeptical of its real worth. The oil is 31.2 gravity corrected. It is the shallowest oil found so far in the Panhandle area.

A. D. Morton of Bartlesville, is reported to have sold a 50 per cent interest in his Moore county discovery, No. 1 Reeder, in section 191, block E 5 N. of T. and N. O. survey, to the Prairie Oil and Gas company for more than $300,000. The sale included an interest in 1240 acres and the Dalhart Gas franchise. Confirmation is lacking. The Morton well is fishing at 3393 feet with tools in the hole and the well making 100 barrels a day.

In Cimarron county, Oklahoma Panhandle, W. R. Ramsey is reported about to wind up its fishing job at No. 1 State, in 27-5-5, which is the first well in the Sooner Panhandle to find oil. It is bottomed at 4289 feet, with the oil temporarily killed.

Capital Ships Will Be Incorporated In Naval Disarmament Discussion

By Universal Service.

GENEVA, June 25.—The capital ships proposals of Great Britain will be discussed at the present disarmament conference between that country, the United States and Japan, according to a statement made this afternoon by Hugh Gibson, chief American delegate. Mr. Gibson said:

"No one wants to deny the right of Great Britain to discuss capital ships here. How far we Americans will discuss capital ships or whether we will only state our position remains to be seen."

This view of Mr. Gibson is considered as an initial victory for [illegible] quarters that the tonnage of capital ships does not come under the scope of the present conference.

Private Agreement

There were rumors, which were not confirmed, that a private agreement had been reached whereby Great Britain would bring the capital ship question up for discussion and then would drop it.

The conference adjourned until Monday at 1 o'clock this afternoon just after Mr. Gibson had made his statement. However, the experts of each delegation are considering their work individually. The technical questions regarding the cruiser, destroyer and submarine limitation is occupying most of their time.

There has been considerable criticism in the British press on the United State's actions after the Washington arms conference. Some English naval writers have charged that America scrapped only useless and obsolete battleships after that meeting.

The American delegation pointed attention to statistics which show that after the Washington conference, the United States scrapped 531,000 tons under construction comprising ships which were of the latest models. This was in comparison to the pledge of Great Britain which simply agreed not to construct 98,000 tons authorized.

Private Ships Next

The American delegation also made it plain that it thought that while privately owned vessels should not be discussed at this conference, that did not mean that the question might not arise incidentally.

Wichita Potato Growers To Plant Heavy Crop For Fall Production

At least two full car loads of seed potatoes will be required to seed the fall acreage to be planted in potatoes in Wichita county, according to an estimate made by members of the Wichita County Potato Growers association at a meeting at the chamber of commerce Saturday morning.

Approximately 125 acres will be devoted to the raising of potatoes in the county this fall, it was announced. The estimated acreage of various members of the association is as follows:

J. A. Kemp, 30 acres; R. O. Harvey, 20 acres; J. N. Sherrel, five acres; G. W. Anderson, 30 acres; H. L. Ray, five acres; G. V. Mitchell, one acre; Solon Downing, two acres; H. J. Cathey, 25 acres; A. V. Moehler, three acres, and Greer-Atkin, four acres.

Included in the business of the meeting was a general discussion of ways of planting, and the kinds of seed potatoes to be used to secure the best possible results.

The meeting was presided over by Solon Downing, president of the association. It was announced that the next meeting will be held in the council rooms of the chamber of commerce July 2.

HONEYMOONERS DROWN.

FOX LAKE, Wisc., June 25. (AP) Edwin Jobschke, 32, of Chicago, who was spending his honeymoon here, was drowned last night in an unsuccessful effort to rescue three girls, two of whom also were drowned when their skiff overturned in Fox lake.

WAGE INCREASE DENIED

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—A wage increase was denied nearly 65,000 conductors and trainmen on 55 western railroads by a board of arbitration today. They asked an average advance of $1 a day.

ATLANTIC AIR STILL STORMY

Byrd Irkes Under Delay To Paris Hop

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 25.—"Monday morning looks like the time of the hopoff."

Such was the semi-prediction today of Commander Richard E. Byrd, who is waiting for calm weather over the Atlantic before attempting his non-stop flight to Paris.

Storms over the ocean today covered a 600 mile area right in the path of Byrd's proposed flight.

If they clear up by tomorrow the jump will start then but that is doubtful.

"Doggone the weather," exclaimed Byrd, "but I have to be patient."

Byrd said he had not received a proposal from Clarence Chamberlin that the plane America and the plane Columbia fly back to the United States together.

"That would be an interesting thing," said Byrd. "If I receive any suggestion of the kind from Chamberlin I will inform him I will be glad to discuss such a proposal when I reach Paris."

Byrd had another conference today with James H. Kimball, United States meterologist.

"Mr. Kimball told me there is a chance of getting away Sunday," said Byrd, "but the probability was that Monday would be the day. We probably will hop off at dawn, as I would rather get away at that hour instead of at mid-day or at sunset.

There is 600 miles of bad weather, with adverse winds, fog and storms over the Atlantic east of Nova Scotia."

Byrd expects to remain at his hanger until he flies.

LOOK 'IN COFFIN"

Wichita Falls Folks Can See Comet Tonight In East

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—The come Pons-Winnecke, which is now visible as it speeds the earth, can be seen for several nights for hours, according to Professor Phillip Fox, of Northwestern university.

Tonight the celestial visitor will appear soon after twilight almost directly eastward about half way between the horizon and a point directly overhead. It is in the constellation Belthinus, popularly known as "Job's Coffin."

Pons-Winnecke will be closest to the earth on June 27 when it will be 4,000,000 miles distant, Professor Fox said.

Wichita Falls folks who desire to see the Pons-Winnecke comet should look for it Sunday night about nine o'clock at a point between 50 and 60 degrees above the eastern horizon. This is slightly more than halfway between the eastern horizon and a point directly overhead.

BOOM ATMOSPHERE MARKS MUENSTER TOWNSITE DEVELOPMENT

SMALL TOWN IS OIL MECCA

Wichita Operators Active In Drilling

Muenster, scene of North Texas' newest townsite oil play, has taken on the airs of a boom town within the past week and today ranks as the busiest shallow district in Texas with the possible exception of the Fry area of Brown county.

New brick buildings, large apartment houses, oil supply houses, trackage extensions, loading racks, a refinery and numerous cottages are springing up amid the clatter of rotary rigs and the shouts of pipeliners, where a few short months ago a handful of citizens of German origin struggled with the soil to keep the little town on the map.

Oil has not yet crept into the inhabited portion of the townsite but the derricks are within sight of anybody's front yard and the development is gradually going toward the homes of the pioneer citizens of the town.

The town itself has already realized a nice profit directly from the oil business. The city park, covering one block leased for $12,000 and guarantee of a well. The park is considered semi-proven land and when a well is brought in on it the corporation will be assured a steady income which will materially aid in reducing taxes.

Wichitans Active.

Wichita Falls operators have been identified with the development of the field since Camp-Hedrick Drilling company of Wichita Falls and Oil Operators Trust of Fort Worth brought in their No. 1 Ben Luke for a small well in the shallow pay. The real boom, however, has resulted from the discovery of the 1600 foot sand which is the more prolific.

The most important completion in the field was Ed Ruwaldt's No. 1 Koelser, extending the field 1200 feet to the north and carrying production to the right-of-way of the M. K. & T. railroad, which incidentally is benefitting immensely from the oil play. This well flowed and swabbed 400 barrels after a shot and is the pivot for numerous new tries at the Muenster pay.

Stahl and Lynch, Ardmore operators, went across the tracks to drill a north offset to the Ruwaldt well. Stahl and Lynch are drilling on land they purchased in fee while the play was still lukewarm.

Oil Operators' Trust is putting down a south offset to the Ruwaldt strike. While this activity is at fever heat, the Sinclair Crude Purchasing company is rushing work on a four-inch pipeline through the field to relieve congestion in storage and transportation.

West Extensioner.

McElreath and Suggett, indomitable wildcatters of Wichita Falls and among the earliest exponents of the virtues of Cooke county land, are displaying their usual boldness and are pushing out 1600 feet west of the Ruwaldt producer for an extensioner. The test is to be a joint operation of McElreath and Suggett and the Texas Company on the Klement farm. The location is in the southeast corner of block 3, Thomas Scott survey.

McElreath and Suggett have drilled about 10 tests in Cooke county without having brought in a producer but their influence on the present activity is easily recognized.

The most easterly drilling well in the pool is Gainesville Oil and Development company's No. 1 Stoffels which is now looking for the 1300-foot sand. It is just east of the City park.

"Little" Clarence Houseman, Dallas operator is putting down a test in block 21 of the townsite.

Carey Brothers of Wichita Falls, several years ago very active in Young county, have made location to drill their No. 1 Walterschied in block 73 of the townsite, a southwest corner location.

Texas Co. Enters.

The Texas Company has made location to drill its initial test in the townsite pool proper, the location being No. 1 Hacker in the southeast corner of the north 45 acres of the Hacker land in block 13 of the Thomas Scott survey.

Sun Oil company has the rig up for No. 2 Hacker while Stahl and Lynch are putting down their Nos. 2 and 3 Koelser.

The Roxana Petroleum corporation is setting casing on the sand at its No. 2 Walterschied at 1600 feet and No. 3 is drilling.

Saturday's best completion in pool was Camp and Hedrick's No. 6 Kleiss which is swabbing 240 barrels daily from sand at 1653-92 feet. Their No. 7 is on the sand and will be a completion within the next few days.

Another Big Pool.

While Muenster is so busy, there are other pools which are not being neglected. The more prolific area in Cooke county is in the south extension to the Hooser pool. The Texas Company has a 40-acre lease on the Dennis land there which produced 10,504 barrels of oil in the first 15 days of June, an average of 700 barrels per day from only two wells.

Many oil men looked askance when the Kewanee Oil and Gas company paid John Hooser $500,000 for his holdings in the Bulcher area. Kewanee's judgement has been justified in one well alone, No. 1-B Dennis which averaged 615 barrels daily in the first half of June.

Near St. Jo, in the western part of the county, Gist and Graddy opened up a pool recently on the Harris farm. The producer is being placed on the pump which Danciger Oil and Refining company of Wichita Falls and McElreath and Suggett are preparing to put down offsets.

Many Wildcats.

A glance at the wildcat districts of Cooke county shows that the Nelson Holding company of Wichita Falls has made location for No. 1 Mrs. Kate Allen, on a lease previously held by the Scientific Oil company in the Silvis Bend area. The location is in the northeast corner of the Allen land in the A. A. Powers survey.

Chronic Oil company is drilling at 1265 feet at an important wildcat near the south line of the county in No. 1 Mrs. Kelly, located four miles southwest of Era and in the M. E. P. R. R. survey.

Five miles east of Gainesville, Jack Abernathy is drilling at 425 in No. 1 Sellers.

Petroleum Investment company has a hole full of water at No. 3 Hire-Seagraves after drilling out the plug from a sand showing some oil.

Fever Spreads.

Cooke county's southern and eastern neighbors, Denton and Grayson counties respectively, are catching the oil fever and each has an interesting test. In Denton county the Hudson Brothers No. 1 Jacob Triecht cored a likely looking sand at 722 feet. Grayson county's showing came in Tucker's No. 1 Handy which is now drilling ahead.

Panhandle Field Declines Only 84 Barrels As Three Counties Gain

AMARILLO, June 25.—Daily production in the Panhandle oil field the past fiscal week declined only 84 barrels a day, in comparison with the daily output the week before.

The field averaged 125,372 barrels a day from 1,297 producing wells, and a week before the field averaged 125,466 barrels from 1283 wells. This showed a gain of 14 new wells, and a loss of 84 barrels a day in daily output. The week's average indicates a total output of 877,632 barrels for the week. A week before it totalled 878,262 barrels.

Hutchinson, Moore and Wheeler counties indicated gains in output for those areas, while Carson and Gray declined. The gain of 689 barrels placed Hutchinson county back in the "over 100,000 barrels" a day list. The previous week was its first drop "under 100,000 barrels" this year.

The weekly summary follows:

County—	Prod. wells	Daily output (bbls)	New wells	New In. output (bbls)	Gain (bbls)	Loss	Well average (bbls)
Carson	145	11,864	2	275	...	94	81.13

Baylor and Clay Counties Only Area Failing To Decline in Week

While Baylor and Clay counties were holding their own during the past week in daily pipeline runs, every other field in the Wichita Falls district slumped with the result that the total daily average was 1945 barrels less than the previous week's figure. Young county was the only area showing a large decrease, falling 945 barrels due to decline of production in the South Bend field.

Cooke county shows a loss of 95 barrels in pipeline runs but actual production was probably greater than in the previous seven-day period when initial shipments by the Roxana of stored oil boosted the runs. With the Sinclair Crude Purchasing company's pipeline rapidly nearing completion, the transportation problems will soon be greatly relieved and pipeline runs are due for a climb.

Wichita county's aggregate decrease was 155 barrels, divided proportionately between the three fields. Archer county again slumped and Montague county is credited with its sixth consecutive fall in pipeline runs.

Daily runs by fields follow:

Field—	Past Week	Prev. Week	Difference
Electra	15,320	15,360	loss 40
Burkburnett	11,565	11,645	loss 80
Iowa Park	4,305	4,340	loss 35

This Is What Was Done Here In The City Faith Built

SAN ANGELO, June 25.—"Get something out of the oil boom besides oil."

This is the advice given San Angelo by M. L. Benedum of Pittsburgh, dean of the oil wildcatters, director of both the Plymouth and Big Lake Oil companies and part owner of the Transcontinental Oil company. He was here this week on a special train carrying officials of these companies on an inspection tour over the Big Lake and Upton county oil fields.

"I have seen so many oil towns—seen them come and go—that I can't help but give you the benefit of my experience," he said. "Get some other enterprises.

"Build your railroads now. Get some sort of manufacturing. Cotton mills, woolen mills—whatever is best adapted to your country, that is what you want to go after and go after it now."

Deepest Pay In Wilbarger Test

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 25. — Coming from a saturated, lime struck at from 3510 to 3512 feet, 40 feet of oil is now standing in the Sloan Oil company's No. 2 Waggoner, located in the Noble field of the Rock Crossing pool. The well is now drilling at 3518 and the operators may shoot the hole.

Completed, this well will be the deepest producer in Wilbarger county. It is located 150 feet south and 450 feet east of the northwest corner of section 32, block 4, Waggoner. Completion of the well from the deep level would result in a renewed drilling campaign in this county, it is believed.

Operators are of the opinion that the lime encountered in the Sloan test is what is known as the Cisco lime, which has been found in several West Texas fields.

Phillips Petroleum company's F-11, Waggoner, located in the Rock Crossing field, pumped 65 barrels in 12 hours after encountering oil sand from 2390 to 2398 feet.

Smith & Brady are drilling at 1875 feet in their test in section 30, block 4, Waggoner. The Waggoner Refining company's B-1 is swabbing at the rate of 120 barrels daily from the Noble lime. B-2 is rigged up for a rotary test, and C-1 is drilling below a depth of 1600 feet.

Consolidated Oil company's No. 5, section 57, block 4, is flowing 8 barrels of oil daily through tubing and packer, and a million cubic feet of gas daily. Barkley & Meadows No. 1 Streit, section 29, block 9, has casing at 2595 feet.

Smith & Brady are drilling at 1875 feet in their test awell, section 30, block 4, Waggoner. Landreth Production company is drilling at 1235 feet in No. 1, section 36, block 6, in rank wildcat territory in the Waggoner lands. There are a number of other wildcat tests over the county.

BUTLER VISITS POPE.

ROME, June 25. (AP)—President Nicolas Murray Butler of Columbia university was received in private audience by Pope Pius today.

MILLETT POOL IS SPREADING

Jack Co. Shallow Looms As One of Largest

JACKSBORO, June 25.—Jack county may have the largest individual shallow pool in this section of the state if present developments continue to progress as they have been doing on the Millett ranch during the last few months. This remarkable shallow pool is located on the James W. Williams survey, abstract 887, in the western part of Jack county a little north of west of Jacksboro 12 miles distant.

To date five wells have been drilled and four are producing oil on the pump while the fifth one has oil standing in the hole, but as yet it has not been placed on the pump. There are no dry holes on the survey and the proven area will cover 160 acres and with continued development it is likely that approximately 400 acres will be developed in this field.

The oil is encountered in a thick sand at 514 feet and the average production from the producing wells is 20 barrels each daily. The oil tests 40.6 gravity and is free from water. At the present time storage tanks are being erected and preparations are being made to get pipe line connections.

Interest in this shallow field is growing and leasing is active. Three new locations have been made as follows: Dick Wynn-Millett No. 2, James W. Williams survey, abstract 887, north offset to his Millett No. 1, digging slush pit. Fred Strang-Millett No. 3, Jas. W. Williams survey, abstract 887, north offset to his Millett No. 1, moving rig material on location. Giles-Millett No. 2, Jas. W. Williams survey, abstract 887, north offset to his Millet No. 1, moving rig material on location.

Crude Oil At Deep Level Most Valuable In Spindletop Area

The characteristics of crude oils from the Spindletop, Texas, field, which have been examined by the United States bureau of mines, department of commerce, have discussed in serial 2808, recently published, showing the deeper crude to be most valuable.

There are apparently three distinct types of crude oil in the Spindletop field, although all three belong definitely to the naphthene base (wax free) class. Samples from the old shallow production in this field were found to be very high in sulphur and deficient in gasoline, naptha and kerosene distillate fractions. The gravity is therefore heavy and the viscosity relatively high.

Samples of the oil produced from depths of 2700 to 3300 feet contained considerable gasoline and naptha, although the gasoline distillate fractions were entirely lacking. The gravity was, therefore, fairly light for a napthenebase crude and the viscosity relatively low.

A sample representing the deep production from 3300 to 5000 feet contained more gasoline and naphtha and had a lighter gravity and lower viscosity than the oil from the 3000-foot level. The sulphur and carbon residue figures indicate that the shallow oil contains a much larger percentage of asphalt than do the deep oils. This not only indicates that a larger percentage of valuable products can be made from the deep oils, but also that lubricating oils can be made more readily.

The Spindletop field was discovered in 1901 when the pay sand was found at depths of about 800 feet. During the following 25 years a number of attempts were made to find a deep productive sand. All attempts were failures until a well drilled by the Yount Lee Oil company found oil late in 1925. An intensive drilling campaign began at once, and the production of the Spindletop field increased to a daily average of 93,217 barrels in September, 1926; the present production is estimated at 66,000 barrels daily.

MONSTER WELL AT ADA, OKLA.

Seminole Field Falls Just Short of 400,000

TULSA, June 25.—Interest was momentarily shifted from the Seminole field to Pontotoc county, when attention was centered on the monster wildcat gusher brought in by T. B. Slick and others, seven miles due north of Ada, in the bend of the Canadian river.

The well is No. 1 Walker, SW corner west half SE of 21-5-6, and at eight o'clock Thursday night started flowing wild, and made almost a ten inch stream to the crow's nest of the Rotary Derrick, or 80 feet high. It flowed at this rate all night long according to owners, and estimates on the production were placed at from 5000 to 6000 barrels daily. The oil is 36.5 gravity, and is producing from the Hunton lime, which was topped at 2545 feet, and penetrated to 2692 feet. It was reported that the hole bridged at nine o'clock yesterday morning, due to caves in the hole.

Friday afternoon, the well was flowing by heads, every 30 minutes, and making 25 barrels each flow, and in several instances flowed cavings from the hole, indicating that the hole is caving badly, as there is considerable open hole. Each flow but takes the top off the oil in the hole.

Mr. Slick had a great deal of tankage in the Seminole field, and he is rushing tanks from that field to the Pontotoc well.

No New Operations.

There are seven companies interested in the new well, they having pooled their acreage, total amount of which is 1730 acres, and at a meeting Friday morning, of representatives of these companies, it was agreed to start no new operations surrounding the well for the present.

Companies interested, are Barnsdale Oil company, Sinclair Oil and Gas company, Atlantic Oil Producing company, Margay Oil company, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas company, Tidal Oil company and T. B. Slick.

Seminole Field.

The Seminole field almost reached the 400,000 barrel mark in production for the 24 hours ended yesterday morning the total for that period being 399,770 barrels, from 547 wells. This is 4466 barrels higher than its former peak on last Sunday morning when it was 395,304 barrels. The production by pools was:

Bowlegs, 165,990 barrels; Earlsboro, 91,775 barrels; Seminole City, 105,558 barrels, and Searight, 36,447 barrels.

The total increase of the field over the previous day, is 9668 barrels of this gain being in the Earlsboro field, where additional gushers have been brought in.

Carter Oil company brought in the largest new well in its No. 1 Payne, NW corner SE of 12-9-5, Earlsboro pool, which is flowing 150 barrels per hour from the Wilcox sand topped at 4205 feet, and drilled ten feet in.

Gas Price Low In Comparison

The outstanding point in regard to the tank-wagon price of gasoline during the past five years is its low level as compared with prices of most other commodities, points out the United States bureau of mines, which has from time to time compiled reports on the prices of the major refined petroleum products. At the end of 1925, for example, the tank-wagon price of gasoline in New York City was only a little more than the average price for 1913, whereas the calculated price of all commodities combined was more than 50 per cent higher.

Prices of gasoline were highest in 1920 and the early part of 1921, when the tank-wagon price in New York for a time reached 31 cents a gallon. The period from 1921 to 1924, inclusive, witnessed a general reduction in gasoline prices throughout the country, followed by a slight reaction in 1925, which brought the prices for that year about on a par with those for 1923. During 1925 the average tank-wagon prices at New York, Washington, Chicago, New Orleans and San Francisco were all less than 20 cents a gallon.

The price of the raw material—crude petroleum—inevitably affects the price of gasoline. The usual early spring advances in the price of crude, occasioned by the decreased output during winter months, has generally been accompanied by higher prices of gasoline. Prices of gasoline always are particularly sensitive to increases or decreases in stocks of crude, perhaps more so than to fluctuations in stocks of gasoline. The upward reaction of gasoline prices in 1925 was caused primarily by greater firmness in the market for crude through a cessation of additions to stocks.

Former Wichitan In Charge McMann Office

SAN ANGELO, June 25.—The West Texas oil fields have attracted another Oklahoma oil concern, and San Angelo again has been selected as headquarters for the company. The geological department of the McMann Oil & Gas company, with general offices at Tulsa, has opened offices here on the third floor of the Mays building.

This department will be under supervision of F. H. Schauten, formerly connected with the Marland Oil company of Texas, in the Wichita Falls district. Associated with Mr. Schauten will be Ira Bullington, also from Wichita Falls, who has been in the employ of the McMann company for the last five months. R. S. Bynum of San Antonio will have charge of the land department for this district, with headquarters in the McMann offices here.

Derrick Up For Fourth Test In Unique Wichita Wildcat Campaign

With the derrick on the location for another deep test on Dr. C. W. Wallace's 387-acre tract of the S. B. and Tom Burnett land, southwest of Iowa Park in Wichita county, the fourth step in one of Wichita county's most unique wildcat development programs is under way.

Dr. Wallace has drilled three deep tests on this tract, each of which is understood to have been carried to a depth of approximately 3000 feet. What the drill showed in the deeper formations has never been publicly divulged, but none of the tests have been completed as commercial producers.

It is a policy of the developers not to give out detailed information as to results of the actual exploration but operators watch the lease constantly with the hope that the continued efforts of Dr. Wallace and his associates will uncover a new deep pay for that section of the county.

The lease is the northeast 337 acres of the James S. Bradford survey and is about three and one half miles southwest of Iowa Park, being on the south shed of Buffalo creek. Dr. Wallace also owns in fee a tract in the south half of the Bradford survey containing approximately 500 acres on which he has drilled several tests.

The first test on the Burnett lease was drilled 1200 feet from the east line and 700 feet from the south line of the lease. It was abandoned at a depth of 2200 feet. The next location to be drilled was in the northwest corner of the lease and No. 3 was recently completed in the northeast corner.

Great care is said to be used in putting down the wells and considerable coring is resorted to with a patented core barrel, said to be more than 25 feet in length.

Oil men see in Dr. Wallace's drilling campaign the expression of the faith and confidence of the true wildcatter and should the new test "hit" it will be the reward of remarkable teancity.

HALE COUNTY GETS OIL WELL

Shallow Strike at 414 Feet Brought In

AMARILLO, June 25.—Will another Yates pool be found in the Panhandle-Plains sector of West Texas?

This question is now being asked following the finding of from 10 to 20 barrels in the Clark M. Mullican estate, in section 21, block B, of R. M. Thompson survey, some 10 miles west of Hale Center, in Hale county. The well, drilled by the Engle King Drilling company, had a sand from 412 to 414 feet.

The Mullican's were satisfied with the showing of the No. 1, that they took the well over from the Engle King Drilling company, contractors, and gave it authority to drill two other shallow wells on their ranch. The locations of these tests to be was not learned.

The samples of the oil that were brought to Amarillo and tested showed it to be a blackish oil, fairly high in products and to test 40 gravity at 80 degrees, and corrected to be 38. It was also said that the oil was free of sulphur content.

The source of the oil in the Hale Center well, as it is termed, has oil men and geologists guessing. Some have asserted that it was migratory oil, but this has now been almost discarded, and the opinion that it might be an asphaltic oil, with a small gasoline content, is now being bandied about.

Well Shut In

W. C. Brumbaugh, head driller, said that the first oil showing was had on May 25, and casing was ordered, but it did not reach the well until the other day and when it was run, the well was bailed. It made sufficient oil after it was bailed to satisfy Judge Mullican, his father and brother, who constitute the Mullican estate, for them to take it over. It has been shut in for a future market.

The find, as people of Tulia, Lubbock, Plainview and Hale Center call it, has excited them considerably, and all are talking about oil. Leases are beginning to sell, but all land owners are "way up" in the values they are asking for acreage. Many are insisting on a drilling clause, and this is also hindering trading for oil men say the market does not warrant a drilling play there now, even though the oil is not keep and can be reached with a drilling machine. The Engle King Drilling company used what is termed an Exter machine, similar to the well-known Fort Worth spudder.

Getting the accurate dope on the Hale Center well was not as easy as one would imagine.

"Sandy" Told It

John Kegan, one of the officials of the Engle King Drilling company lived at Tulia, and still maintains an office there, but he could not be found at that place. He was not located at Plainview, or at the well, and inquirers were "sicked from pillar to post" in getting a "bit of information" here and there. And then Sandy Brumbaugh, the driller was found.

Brumbaugh said that the original plans was for a 3500-foot test in the Mullican ranch well, but difficulties halted this plan, and then the show was had at a shallow depth, and it was decided to complete.

Plainview is a pretty town of 8000 souls, and a thriving market center for a rich agricultural territory. Its people welcome the find, but refuse to become stampeded over the future. Lubbock, another city of similar size and also attractive in appearance, is claiming it, while Hale Center is throwing itself into ecstacies. Its 500 souls are already claiming and boasting that Hale Center will be a second Borger.

In the arrangement of plains territories, many of the major operators place the Hale Center well in the Midland territory, although it is nearer to Amarillo. The supply firms of Amarillo will undoubtedly serve it if a field develops.

Morton Deepens Well

The size of the Morton extensioner to the Panhandle field, and in northeastern Moore county, will be known shortly.

The Morton and company, owners of the No. 1 N. W. Reeder, in section 191, block 3T, of T. and H. C. survey, some 35 miles due north of Amarillo, and more than seven miles northeast of Dumas, are now deepening this well from 3378 feet in search of more pay.

The first deepening to 3380 feet did not help the well materially, the well was swabbing 95 barrels and finding pure lime. The oil that was found slightly over a week ago at 3373 feet, was in sandy lime, and from 3375 to 3378 feet, it was in lime. With adequate storage up, A. D. Morton of Bartlesville, Okla., president of the Morton and company, felt that it was time to test out the well.

Should no more pay be found, field geologists declare that it will infer that the Morton well is on the edge of a pool, with the area believed by some to lie to the northeast. Acreage nearby is dragging, oil men waiting to buy heavily until they know just what the Morton well will do.

Southeast Sherman, southwest Hansford and northwest Hutchinson counties are more active since the Morton find.

Dumas Browning

Dumas, county seat of Moore county, is booming as a result of the Morton strike. A. C. DeWolfe and Fern Miller have established a weekly newspaper at Dumas, called the Moore County News, and the little inland town is looking up.

One learns that 14 tests have been drilled to date in Moore county, and three of them have had oil showings. All tests have gone between 2500 to 3000 feet to find gas. One test well had 20,000,000 feet of open flow, and another 40,000,000 feet. Ten wells are drilling in the county today.

Much Gas Is Stripped

The 25 natural gasoline plants in the Panhandle field are treating the extraordinary volume of 650,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, a survey of the area discloses.

They are recovering better than one and one-fourth gallons of natural gasoline per thousand cubic feet of gas treated. The May recovery totalled 8,765,009 gallons.

The areas, number of plants, gas treated, gasoline recovered, follows:

	Plants	Feet	Gallons
Hutchinson	14	425,000,000	6,823,975
Carson	3	88,000,000	829,115
Wheeler	2	50,000,000	142,828
Gray	5	47,000,000	923,091
Potter	1	20,000,000	45,000

In addition the Western Carbon Black company's plant south of Borger, and one of the largest carbon plants in West Texas, burns 200,000,000 feet of gas a day.

The remaining 450,000,000 feet of dry gas is available for use in natural gas distribution systems, a number of which are now being built in the Panhandle-Amarillo oil fields.

Storage Being Lowered

Due to the two major pipe lines now operating from the Pahandle oil field working to their utmost capacity, and refineries taking more oil and the railroads hauling out a large volume, a survey disclosed that Panhandle producers were running but 22,000 barrels of oil a day to storage the week just ended. Recently it was as high as 70,000 barrels a day and for several weeks the runs were around 50,000 barrels a day.

Gulf Pipeline company-Magnolia Pipeline company is moving close to 34,000 barrels a day through their joint 10-inch line from Panhandle to Ranger.

Humble Pipeline company is pushing 32,000 barrels a day through its 10-inch artery from Burnett station to Comyn.

How Long Will Storage Hold Out? Is Question In Panhandle Field

AMARILLO, June 25.—If the Panhandle field continues to produce at the rate of 125,000 barrels a day, as it is now doing, and the pipelines are only able to increase their runs to around 50,000 barrels a day, and producers keep on running 50,000 barrels a day of oil into storage, how many days will the present empety storage hold out?

A study of this double-jointed question indicates that there is now only 75 to 80 days of room left in the field, figuring on a basis of the present production and there being 4,399,910 barrels of unfilled tankage in the field.

Tank car shipments are accounting for considerable oil that the pipelines are unable to handle, and the first 15 days of June the Santa Fe moved out 1854 cars of crude. Each car contained an average of 240 barrels or 444,960 barrels by rail, and a daily average of 29,664 barrels.

Pipelines in May averaged 47,635 barrels a day, so that tank cars and pipelines were handling 97,683 barrels a day, and 47,317 barrels a day going into storage.

While some new tankage is going up, the major operators have quit erecting large tankage.

RIVER TEST IS EXTENSION

New Pipeline May Follow Officials Visit

SAN ANGELO, June 25. — Extension of the shallow, heavy producing field in eastern Pecos county one mile east through the bringing in of Allsman and Bell's well in the Pecos river bed, the addition of two producers each by Landreth Production company and Gulf Production company in Crane county and an increased amount of oil in Roxana-Llano No. 1 Scarborough in northern Winkler county were features of oil development this week in the Trans-Pecos, on the Edwards plateau and in far western Texas. Mid-Kansas No. 6-A Yates came in flowing 415 barrels hourly on Friday.

The fields in Reagan and Pecos counties were visited by over 30 oil men, bankers and brokers of New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Chicago—the majority stockholders in the Plymouth, Transcontinental and Big Lake oil companies—and M. L. Benedum of Pittsburgh, leader of the group, declared that West Texas petroleum possibilities are unequalled anywhere. He added the belief that Pecos county will produce more heavily than Reagan county, and his associates voiced like opinions. A tour of a larger number of areas was made by Edward T. Moore of Dallas, president, and other officials of the Simms Oil company, who also were optimistic over production to date and the outlook.

New Pipeline

Construction by the United Producers Pipeline company, pipeline division of the Transcontinental, of an eight-inch, 27-mile pipeline from the Yates field in Pecos county to Texon, on the Orient railroad, is expected to be an early result of the visit by the eastern officials. Production of seven Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental wells remains pinched in to around 5000 barrels daily, due to lack of storage and pipeline facilities, while Mr. Benedum said he believed the wells would make 35,000 to 40,000 barrels daily if opened wide. This figure would eclipse Reagan county's daily yield. The Illinois Pipeline company is completing an eight-inch 28-mile pipeline from the Yates field to McCamey, paralleling its six-inch line. This will permit the daily movement of around 30,000 barrels of oil.

Deepened to 1068 feet, Allsman and Bell's well in the bed of the Pecos river that forms the boundary between Pecos and Crockett counties, flowed 15 barrels hourly and had produced 373 barrels in 32 1-2 hours. The well is more than a mile east of Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental No. 1C Yates, nearest producer, and is just south of the north line of section 60, Allsman and Bell are developing the holdings of the Ozona Development company, which include filings on 12 miles of the Pecos river bed. The land cost the company only 10 cents an acre. Marland Oil company has offset the river bed well on the west and is setting up a machine to drill its No. 1A Yates 110 feet west and 110 feet south of the northeast corner of section 60, block 1, I. & G. N. Ry. Co. survey. Another important location was that made jointly by the McMan Oil company and the Marland Oil company for their No. 1 Yates, two and three-quarter miles airline northwest of the Pecos county discovery well, reported to be 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 36, block 194, C. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey. A big extension of the Yates field is a possible outcome of this test, and, accordingly, it will be watched closely.

Llano Swabs Dry

Twenty miles north of the Hendricks pool in Winkler county and only two miles south of the Texas-New Mexico line, Roxana-Llano No. 1 Scahborough late Wednesday swabbed dry, making 60 barrels of oil from 3137 feet, and Thursday had drilled to 3143 feet. Production in this well not only would open a big territory in Winkler county but would form a connecting link with southeastern New Mexico. The top of the present pay in Rime was at 3121 feet. At 2992, the well struck a showing estimated to be good for 15 barrels daily, but it was cased off and drilling was continued.

Two locations in Winkler were among a number during the week. Southern Crude Oil Purchasing company began rigging up a rotary to drill its No. 1B Ida Hendricks, one and a half miles south of the discovery well, 990 feet from the north line and 2310 feet from the west line of section 4, block B5, public school land. Still greater possibilities are offered in Gulf's location for its No. 1 O'Brian, 10 miles south of the Hendricks pool, 330 feet from the south and west lines of section 28, Gunter, Munson, Maddox and Anderson survey. Humble made a location in Crockett county offsetting on the north P. H. Williams and family No. 1 Powell, which recently extended the Powell field a mile south. Humble's test, its No. 3B Powell, will be 150 feet each way from the southeast corner of the west half of section 62, block BB, E. L. & R. R. Ry. Co. survey.

Gulf Adds Two

Gulf Production company added two more producers bordering on the south the Landreth Production company's vacant strip of university land in Crane county, increasing its number to four. Gulf No. 14 McElroy made 600 barrels at 2895 feet and No. 14 McElroy flowed 1410 barrels at 2876 feet in 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. Both still were drilling. Gulf's four wells, Nos. 11, 12, 14 and 15, produced 4825 barrels during the period mentioned, while Landreth's Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 5 university made 5203 barrels. Production June 20 in the Church-Fields area, including the wells on and bordering on the Landreth strip on both sides, totaled 49,519 barrels. There are 45 drilling tests in the area, of which the Gulf still has four south of the Landreth strip and Landreth four on the strip.

Crowell and others No. 6 university, being completed along the north line of the Landreth strip, flowed 976 barrels in 24 hours, drilling at 2985 feet. Cromwell and others No. 7 universit ywas drilling at 2785 feet, after encountering a showing of oil at 2772 feet.

Gulf made six more locations along the north line of its lease, bringing its total number of drilling tests and locations bordering the Landreth strip on the south to 14 and forming a double line of wells. The latest locations follow: No. 19 McElroy, 771 feet from the north line and 12 feet from the west line of the Gulf's lease, in section 200, block F, C. C. S. D. R. G. & N. G. Ry. Co. survey; No. 20, McElroy, 200 feet from the north line and 1650 feet from the east line of the Gulf lease, in section 201, block F, C. C. S. D. R. G. & N. G. Ry. Co. survey; No. 21 McElroy, 770 feet from the north line and 660 feet from the east line of the Gulf's lease, in section 201, block F, C. C. S. D. R. G. & N. G. Ry. Co. survey; No. 22 McElroy, 771 weet from the north line and 660 feet from the west line of the Gulf's lease: No. 23 McElroy, 771 feet from the north line and 1980 feet from the west line of the Gulf's lease, and No. 24 McElroy, 771 feet from the north line and 2640 feet from the east line of the Gulf's lease, all in section 200, block F, C. C. S. D. R. G. & N. G. Ry. Co. survey.

Crockett Well Steady

With P. H. Williams and family's No. 1 L. P. Powell in Crockett county maintaining a steady flow of around 600 barrels daily from 2690 feet, Humble offset it on the north with its No. 2B Powell, 150 feet each way from the southeast corner of the west half of section 62, block BB. E. L. & R. R. Ry. Co. survey. The Williams well several weeks ago extended the Powell field a mile south and is the best well in the county. Two other locations were made in Crockett county, both by Corbitt and Gill. Their No. 1 university will be in the center of the northeast quarter of section 17, block 29. The other test will be on the ranch of J. S. Todd of Fort Worth, in the center of the northeast quarter of section 43, block WX, C. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey.

Four locations were made by three companies in the Hurdle district in southeastern Upton county. Pure Oil company will drill No. 1 John Lane, 330 feet out of the southwest corner of the north half of section 3, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey. Gulf has offset it on the south with its No. 3 John Lane, 2310 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of section 3, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey. Pure also will drill No. 1 Hughes, 2015 feet from the east line and 1500 feet from the north line of its 300-acre tract in section 4, William Teer survey. T. & P. Coal & Oil company made a location for its No. 1 Burleson, 330 feet from the north and east lines of its lease in section 2, John Nidever survey.

Morton Well Delayed; Fishing For Tools

A fishing job is on at the Morton and Company's wildcat discovery well northeast of Dumas, in northeastern Moore county, and as a result the completion of this test is delayed.

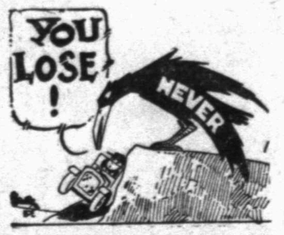

The tools pulled loose from the drilling line at 12:30 p. m. Friday, after the hole had been deepened to 3393 feet, present total depth, and they will be fished out.

In the meanwhile the well continues to head up every eight hours and produces around 90 barrels a day. The oil is going into the storage awaiting the laying of a pipeline from the Oil City-Merchant pool some 40 miles to the southeast in Hutchinson county.

ARIZONA TAKES CARE TO BLOCK KIMES' RESCUE

Oklahoma Officer En Route to Take Desperado in Custody

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., June 25. (AP) Matthew Kimes, Oklahoma bandit, captured at the Grand Canyon, was held under double guard in the county jail today while police posses scoured all roads seeking members of his gang believed intent on rescuing him from the law's grip.

CLOVIS, N. M., June 25. (AP)—James Brown of the state bureau of criminal identification of Oklahoma passed through here today on his way to Flagstaff, Ariz., where he will take charge of Matthew Kimes, Oklahoma outlaw.

Brown stated that Kimes had admitted his identity and that he will be returned to Oklahoma to answer a score of charges ranging from bank robber to murder in connection with the slaying of a deputy sheriff at Sallisaw, Okla.

Sheriff John Russell of Okmulgee county, Oklahoma, is traveling to Flagstaff in his car and should reach there tonight. Brown said today he knew nothing of the man and the woman with whom Kimes was traveling when they reached Grand Canyon.

It is believed here that it was while the outlaw was making headquarters at Borger, Texas, he staged the robbery of the Pampa, Texas, bank in which robbers secured $35,000.

The first charge facing Kimes on his return to Oklahoma is one of complicity in the death of W. H. McAnally, chief of police at Beggs, who, it is alleged, was killed when he attempted to arrest Kimes and his gang after they are alleged to have robbed two banks.

KIMES IS PUZZLE TO ARIZONA OFFICERS.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., June 25. (AP) Sheriff's officers who have questioned the Oklahoma outlaw, Matthew Kimes, since his capture Thursday in the Grand Canyon near here, were admittedly puzzled today over the maze of "confessions" and self implicating statements made by the accused murderer and bank robber.

Early in the day, Kimes was said to have confessed to a reporter that the last "job" he "pulled" was the robbing of a bank at Beggs, Okla., of $18,000, but later in a more complete statement he said he had "heard of persons being killed" at Beggs, but denied connection with the robbery. He expressed surprise when told he was quoted as "confessing to it.

The outlaw and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kady, with whom Kimes rode west, will be closely guarded pending arrival of Oklahoma officers who suspect that Kady and the woman may have some connection with Kimes' activities. Kimes is wanted in connection with the killing of W. K. McAnally, chief of police of Beggs.

OKLAHOMA OFFICER TRACED DOWN KIMES.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 25. (AP) A move on the part of civic leaders was started here today to obtain for Clark Compton, Muskogee chief of police, a large share of the $6000 reward offered for the capture of Matthew Kimes, Oklahoma outlaw. Kimes was arrested yesterday in Arizona on information furnished by Chief Compton.

Compton left hurriedly today for Flagstaff, Ariz., to assist in the return of Kimes to Oklahoma.

Due to the county criminal fund being exhausted Compton's expenses on the trip were financed by the Muskogee Clearing House association and business men here.

Claims to a share in the rewards by Compton's backers are largely based on the telegram sent by Compton to authorities in Grand Canyon, Arizona, the scene of Kimes' capture. The telegram, dated June 17, follows:

"Have information that Matthew Kimes, Earl and Fred Jarrett, Jack Whitehead, noted outlaws, will be in your town June 18 to 25. Am informed they will attempt to rob two payrolls while there. If traveling by automobile will be driving Packard, Studebaker or Buick sedan. Kimes five feet six one-half inches tall, weight 153 pounds, medium complexion. Photos and descriptions following. These men are dangerous."

Recognize Him?

Fame's fleeting, and, although just a few months ago the whole American continent rang with the praises of George Young, the Toronto youngster of 17 who won the Catalina channel swim, when Young returned to Santa Monica to train for the $50,000 race to be held at Toronto, which William Wrigley Jr., is sponsoring, nobody recognized him. So he went fishing, and very wise, too.

Playground Activities

The children are taking advantage of the organized play in Bellevue Park and enjoyed a picnic Wednesday. They were taken to Scotland park by Mr. Ward aand Mrs. A. G. Deatherage, supervisors. An impromptu ball team was formed by Bellevue children with a score of 16-2. Bellevue winner. A regular team is being formed which will play all opposing park teams. The girls have been making reed mats and the boys are going to make tie racks, bookends, etc.

Scotland Park group has started a small log house and furniture cut from willow and cottonwood trees. They also had a very interesting treasure hunt on which several kinds of leaves and wild flowers were found, of which they will make prints. These children are very interested in nature study.

The Sibley Taylor ball team went on a sunrise breakfast and swim to Haven Park. They also had a harmonica program, besides the various games that are played daily and the other instructive work they are taught.

Kemp Library had practically the same program. Their ball team played the Austin Sluggers the score being—10-11 in favor of Kemp Library.

Mat making was started in Barwise playground. This group is planning a picnic for next Friday.

The O'Riley park group is making mats and learning a number of new games. Grant street and Marshall Elizabeth parks are carrying out the same program. Work in other parts is expected to start real soon.

More than a thousand attended the Sing-songs that were given by the park department and more than 4000 attended the free motion pictures. About 75 per cent of this number were children from the ages of four years to sixteen years.

Woman Found Dead Victim of Strangler

PORTLAND, Ore., June 25. (AP) Her half-clad body stretched out on her bed, her hands tied behind her back, and her feet bound together, Mrs. Zell Stebbins, 32, was found strangled to death in her well furnished apartment in a residential district here today. It was believed the crim ewas committed yesterday. A man's hanqerchief wadded up, had ben stuffed in the woman's mouth as a gag. No evident motive for the murder had been discovered by police tonight.

SHIPS CARRY 12 EXPLORERS

MacMillan Expedition Will Visit Arctic

WISCASSET, Maine, June 25. (AP) Optimism ran high among members of the Rawson-MacMillan field museum expedition to the Arctic today as anchors of the little fleet that is to carry 12 scientists on a 15-months trip to the interiors of Labrador and Greenland were lifted.

Lieutenant Commander Donald B. MacMillan, who is making his 11th voyage into the frozen north, declared his belief thtat the complete series of meteorological investigations which the expedition is to undertake would prove of the greatest value to aviation, particularly trans-Atlantic fliers.

He also expressed the belief thtat the study of punic ruins which is to be undertaken under direction of Dr. Duncan Strong of Chicago, anthropologist for the Field museum, might solve the secret of the strange race reputed to have settled among the Eskimos hundreds of years ago.

The three vessels are carrying Christmas presents for every child on the desolate Labrador coast.

Toys for Arctic Tots

Candy, toys, dolls and the other appurtenances of Christmas in this country will replace the usual raw turnip as festive delights. The cargo of holiday presents will be distributed as the flotilla proceeds toward Kauk, where the first permanent scientific station in the far north is to be established. Kaukis to be the base of MacMillan's operations.

A call will be made at Hopedale, the Moravian Eskimo mission village of 300 souls established on the bleak peninsula 162 years ago. Explorers will present to Rev. William Walter Perritt, head of the mission, $1000 collected in voluntary contributions during his lecture tour last winter. The Morgvian mission is a part of the work of a denomination which has its head in this country at Bethlehem, Pa.

Discussing the helpfulness of the Arctic meteorological data to the trans-Atlantic flier the explorer said "this is the very thing that lieutenant Commander Byrd is waiting to obtain from weather officials and ships at sea to determine whether he can fly to Europe. The aviator depends so much on atmospheric conditions that the value of this station which we will construct at Kauk ought to be great."

MacMillan recalled that Byrd had his first Arctic flying experience as a member of the 1925 expedition with the schooner Bodwoin and the steamer Peary a year before he made his successful flight to the North Pole and return.

To Study Punic Ruins

Special study is to be undertaken of the Punic ruins which are to be found up and down the Labrador coast and which, according to Eskimo legend, are the remains of houses built by a curious race which came to the shores in boats without decks or sails. The remnants of the structures which still stand resemble the Norse ruins in Greenland.

"If we can get good evidence that they are the homes of Norsemen, then we have real grounds for believing America was discovered at least 300 years before Columbus came across," said MacMillan.

"Volumes have been written and many places on the coast of the United States claim the honor of having been visited by the Norse, but as far as we know there is not a single bit of evidence that is authoritative. I believe we are going to find something in Labrador that will shed light on the Punic race."

Abraham Bromfield, whose home is in Jack Lane's Bay, 180 miles south of Kauk, is the party's official Eskimo interpreter. He returned with MacMillan to the United States from a previous trip.

The squadron consisting of the schooners Bowdoin and Radio and the 35-foot power boat Seeko, so-called from the Eskimo word meaning ice, quit this historic old seaport whence all of MacMillan's expeditions have gone forth to the Arctic, at 3 p. m., eastern standard time.

Frederick H. Rawson, Chicago banker, is financing the expedition. His son, Kenneth, is making his second trip with MacMillan.

The boats will remain at Christmas Cover overnight, leaving there tomorrow morning, the Radio and Seeko to go directly to Sydney, N. S., while the Bowdoin will call at Rockland to pick up Dr. Neil Fogg, MacMillan's nephew, who will accompany him to Sydney.

To Watch for Fliers

On July 3 all will leave for Battle Harbor, Labrador, whence they plan to continue northward to Kauk.

Lieutenant Commander Donald B. MacMillan does not expect to find any trace of the missing French trans-Atlantic fliers, but he believes that the section of Labrador west of Battle Harbor is a possibility that has generally been overlooked by searchers for Captains Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli.

"If the noise of their plane was heard in Newfoundland they probably could not have reached the southern Labrador coast, but if they missed Newfoundland they very likely would have landed above Battle Harbor," the explorer said today. His own party will go far north for any hope of finding the men, he explained.

MILLER FREES NEGRO LIFER

Acting Governor Pardons Frank Morgan

AUSTIN, June 25. (AP)—Frank Morgan, serving a life sentence from Dallas county on conviction of murder after the slaying 15 years ago of an aged white Confederate veteran, today was granted full pardon by Acting Gov. Barry Miller.

"If Morgan was guilty, he killed an old white man for the purpose of robbing him of a few dollars. If there had not been a serious doubt in the minds of the jurors of his guilt, my judgment is they would have assessed the penalty. He was proved a wonderful character for a negro by some of the best white people in the county," Mr. Miller said.

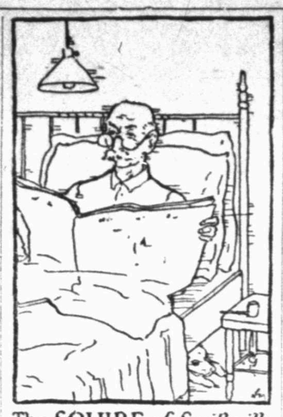

Doubts His Guilt

"I was doubtful then, as I am now, of the justice of the verdict that I granted him a new trial—one of the few I granted while serving as Dallas county criminal district court judge. A second jury tried the case and rendered the same verdict, and though I still was uncertain as to correctness of the finding, I did not feel that I should set it aside again. Morgan went to the penitentiary in 1912. He has been a model prisoner, and at this time, by reason of his record, has more than 21 years to his credit, practically 15 years of actual service.

"The manager and other employes of the farm on which he served are unanimous in asking for his pardon and speak most highly of him and his services. Some of the best people in Dallas county, who have known the old negro, join in the application. He is old and gray-haired and cannot have many more years to live. He has a son and daughter who are very high-class, respected negroes, and who will see to it that the old man is taken care of during the rest of his life.

Serves Faithfully

"If he was guilty he has served almost an average life time; if he was not guilty he has paid a penalty no one would justify. Because I still have the doubt in my mind of his guilt; because of the long time that he has faithfully served the state as a convict; because of the fact that he never before was accused of any offense against the law; because I believe the ends of justice demand it, I am issuing to him a full pardon."

TAXI KILLING SUSPECT HELD

Waurika Sheriff Trails Down Jack Slater

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, June 25.—Wanted by Tulsa police authorities for the alleged slaying of taxi-cab driver and by Waurika officials for the robbery of men at an oil well, a few miles south of this city, Jack Slater was captured Saturday morning by Frank Driscoll, Waurika sheriff, in the Seminole oil field.

Slater, with two other men, Bill Pierce and Bob Hawkins, are alleged to have stolen several diamond bits at the oil well. Going to Tulsa after the oil well robbery the three men are alleged to have slain a taxi-cab driver and to have stolen his car.

Pierce and Hawkins were captured following the alleged slaying, however, Slater made his escape to the Seminole oil field.

After Slater was taken into custody by Sheriff Driscoll, he was lodged in the Tulsa jail. The three men are charged with murder at Tulsa and with robbery with firearms in Waurika.

Sheriff Driscoll recovered the diamond bits after the arrest of Slater.

RUNYON SAYS

"Ask Me Another?"
The Matter With Reds.
Mr. Allison Inquires.
Those Good Old Days.
When Nobody Even Cared.

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright 1927 by International Features Service, Inc.)

That Dapper Daniel of journalism, Mr. Jim Allison, New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star, was pursuing a curious line of thought not long ago.

"What's the matter with the Reds?" asked Mr. Allison, in a note that struck me as somewhat curt, not to say peremptory as if I might be in possession of some valuable information that I was holding out on him.

I assure Mr. Allison that I do not know what is the matter with the Reds. If I did I would be the first to let him know, unless it tended to incriminate and degrade me. I shall detail some of my best baseball operatives, including Mr. Harry Keene, on the case in the near future, and they may be able to find out something, though I doubt it.

I assigned Mr. Keene to the Yankees just before the season opened to find out what was the matter with them, in case there might be something the matter with them, but Mr. Keene enthusiastically reports from day to day, "Nothing." Mr. Keene is of the Friars' club, and one of the most ferocious baseball fans in all the roaring Forties.

I doubt if anyone ever knows exactly what is the matter with a baseball club when anything is the matter. Old George Fan's idea of something being the matter with his favorite club is when it shows symptoms of trying to sneak out of the league, and every fan always has his own private opinion as to what is the matter.

Offhand I recall quite a number of reasons advanced by exasperated baseball insects for a club's slump, including the following:

1. Bad management.
2. Punk pitching.
3. Horrible fielding.
4. Awful base running.
5. Too many old timers.
6. Too many youngsters.
7. Weak hitting.
8. Bum catching.
9. No teamwork.
10. Booze.
11. Late hours.
12. Boneheadedness.
13. Women.
14. Bad luck.

There are many others, but these will serve.

I remember when hot weather was put forward in St. Louis as a reason why the clubs there didn't do so well, but since the Cardinals snagged a world's series championship that reason was abandoned.

But no man, not even the manager of a ball club, is always able to put his finger on the matter with his outfit. If he could, there would never be any change in managers. They would all be successful.

The manager, as well as the fan, may have a hazy idea of what is the matter, but often the best he can do is to poke around in the in'nards of his club, like an automobile mechanician hunting some mysterious trouble, hoping to eventually chance upon the defect.

Mr. John J. McGraw never used to trouble himself to find out what was the matter with his ball clubs when anything was the matter. Mr. McGraw would simply fire everybody in sight, and start all over again. It was a fairly efficacious method. I believe of late years Mr. McGraw has dropped into the more conservative custom of trying to find out what is the matter with them. In other years it was quite simple. The matter with the Reds was that they were The Reds. No one ever thought to go beyond that, not even my old friend the late Bill Phelon, the most rabid Cincinnatiac of those times.

Finally the Reds got to be a baseball club, of pennant pretentions, and since then the Cincinnati fans have risen to such highly scientific inquiries as is indicated in Mr. Allison's note. It seems that the Cincinnatiacs, having had one pennant winner, are not content to quietly revert to those good old days when the matter with the Reds was that they were the Reds.

In those good old days, life was more carefree and happy in Cincinnati, and there was a bar under the grandstand, looking out on the ball field, where beer, drawn from the wood might be—and, in fact, was had. Gentlemen, THAT was beer.

The Cincinnatiacs could stand there inhaling the heavenly brew, and lightly pegging the glasses and stray bottles at the umpires. Baseball teams were then regarded merely as something that brought the umpires to Cincinnati, and afforded the Cincinnatiacs the delightful outdoor diversion of chucking at the umpires.

In those good old days, my friends, the world was a pleasant place to be and no one ever thought of asking such a fatuous question as "What's the matter with the Reds?" because everybody knew.

TIGERS 4, WHITE SOX 2.

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—Detroit made it three straight over the White Sox today when they shut Chicago out, 4 to 0. Kenneth Holloway held Chicago to seven scattered hits and was given spectacular support by Gehringer and Tavener. Detroit on the other hand, bunched their hits including a home run by Tavener with a man on and won handily. The score:

SPUDDERS WIN FINAL, 3 TO 2

Fussell Holds Cubs While Jenkins Wallops

WACO, June 25.—The Wichita Falls Spudders nosed out the Waco Cubs here Saturday to win the last of the three-game series, 3 to 2, the Cubs having annexed the two previous games. Moore, Cub left fielder, made one of the prettiest throws seen on the local diamond this season when ne threw out Lamb at home in the fourth inning, who attempted to score on a long fly to deep left.

Jenkins knocked out a home run in the ninth to untie the score after West had tied it up with a homer in the eighth. Umpire Christian had to be escorted off the field by police after the game. He had previously chased Shires out of the game for talking back to him.

Waco broke the scoring ice in the second inning. Shires singled and was thrown out in an attempted steal by Tobin to Turgeon. Vigare grounded out to shortstop. Murphy doubled to center and Caldwell singled, scoring him. Windle walked and Moore grounded out to second.

Tied in Fourth

Wichita Falls knotted the count in the fourth. Fitzgerald singled and Lamb hit to the box, both men being safe when the pitcher threw late to second. Jenkins singled to right, scoring Fitzgerald and sending Lamb to third. Benton flied to left with no advance. Swenson walked, filling the bases. Tobin flied out to left and Moore threw out Lamb at the plate.

Wichita Falls took the lead in the sixth. Lamb opened with a single to right. Jenkins popped out to short right and Lamb was doubled off the base. Benton hit to first and drew a life when Caldwell dropped the throw to the bag. Benton stole second and went to third when Swenson single past third. Benton and Swenson staged a double steal, Benton scoring. Swenson continued on to third when the catcher threw wild to second. He was cut down a moment later trying to score on a passed ball.

Swenson Hits Three

West tied it up by hitting a homer in the seventh and Jenkins untied it in the ninth with a homer.

Lefty Fred Fussell held the Cubs to 10 hits. The Spudders made seven hits win for them. Swenson got three of these and Jenkins two.

Bears Beat Sports, 2-1, In 16 Stanzas

SAN ANTONIO, June 25. (AP)—Leonardo Alanis Najo's bat, after having been in omnious silence, belched forth like a big Bertha to beat the Shreveport Sports in the final game of the series Saturday in the 16th inning, 2 to 1. After the Sports held the lead for seven innings, before the Bears had gauged Joe Brown for a hit Najo supplied the blow, a two bagger, to tie and in the 16th with none down, Najo put over the necessary hit

BUFFS 6, STEERS 5.

HOUSTON, June 25. (AP)—Hack Miller spotted Dallas to a three-run lead in the third round with a smash over the left field fence, but Houston came back fighting and finally won, 6 to 5, a hard fought encounter. Carlton for the most part pitched good ball after relieving Jacobus, though he loaded the bases with two down in the ninth, and Penner went in to stop the rally, Morse forcing Tate at second for the final out. Warwick, with a brace of two-daggers led the Houston attack. The score:

SHARKEY IS A COMBINATION OF DEMPSEY AND TUNNEY

Bostonian Can Adapt Himself to the Particular Style of His Opponent

By ROY GROVE

NEW YORK, June 25.—You're going to hear a lot of things about Jack Sharkey, the chattering gob, in the next few months. Some are going to be nice things and some are not going to be so nice. The young man has punched his way through Tex Rickard's elimination tournament until only Jack Dempsey, the once great Manassa Mauler, stands between him and a chance to lift the heavyweight crown from the brow of gentleman Gene Tunney.

When it comes time to set forth the capabilities of Sharkey and estimate his chances of some day sitting in the throne room now occupied by Tunney, a certain percentage of the fistic populace is going to forget all about his wagging tongue and proceed to figure his chances on what he has done in the ring and not on what he has said in the newspapers.

The Boston sailor's willingness to emit long statements about what he was going to do to Jim Maloney 'put the self-styled experts in a tough spot when they were trying to dope his chances against his fellow townsman. They couldn't make up their minds whether he was just a first-rate conversationalist or whether he really possessed some or the requirements of a truly great fighter. Since he slapped Maloney into the resin in five rounds the boys are now taking him seriously and the feeling is mounting with each passing day that he is going to make things along the fistic rialto before the summer is over. The experts handed him his greatest compliment when they came out with the statement after the Maloney brawl that he was a greater fighter than he was a talker.

• • •

Those who already like Sharkey's chances to get past the Dempsey threat and go on to engage Tunney in September are basing their choice on two things. They are:

First, he LOVES to fight, and Second, he has proved he is capable of adapting himself to any style.

In this respect Sharkey is something of Tunney and Dempsey. Where Dempsey in his heyday loved to fight, he lacked the ability to shift his tactics to adapt himself to the particular style of his opponent. The rushing, tearing, mauling, clubbing Dempsey was the unbeatable Dempsey. When he lost his love of the game, as he did while preparing for the Tunney brawl, he lost his chief asset.

Tunney, on the other hand, has admitted a hatred for the sport which has brought him his fame and fortune, but he does possess that trait, which Dempsey lacked—ability to change his style and beat the other fellow at his own game.

• • •

In the three fights which really made Sharkey the threat that he is, he was forced to combat three entirely different styles. Against the rough-house Harry Wills he beat the big black man at his own game. Then he went out and cut up Mike McTigue, always a great counter fighter, so badly they had to stop the fight. Pitted against Maloney he became the killer and displayed a punch nobody thought he possessed.

His display of versality in those three engagements combined with the fact he is known to glory in the work connected with the fight game, has made him a threat that can't exactly be laughed off.

If Tunney and Dempsey could win the title with only one of the two chief requirements for success, why can't Sharkey reach the heights when he possesses both? That's the question Boston Jack's supporters are asking. And that's the only one they want answered before they'll figure their favorite out of the running.

MACKS SMACK YANKS IN PAIR

Pate Does Overtime Duty In Box Relief Role

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics handed the Yankees a double drubbing today by 7 to 6 and 4 to 2, breaking New York's winning streak which had been stretched to nine straight. At the same time the Mackmen sheared two full games off the Yankees' hold on the league pinnacle which is now eight contests.

In the first tussle Lefty Grove worked well up to the ninth, striking out 10 batters. Three successive hits were bunched off him in the final frame and he gave way to Pate who barely held the Philadelphia lead. New York had four runs in and runners on third and first, when Lou Gehrig was called out on strikes to end the game.

Babe Ruth again had trouble with his right knee and retired after the first inning of the final struggle. Lamar's bat was responsible for the Yanks' downfall in the second game. He hit a home run in the first inning and after New York took the lead in the sixth, crashed a triple with two on base.

Wilberg yielded only five hits in seven innings when he retired and Pate went into the box for the second time, retiring six men who faced him in order.

Baseball Is Without A Miracle Man Should McGraw Resign

Calling Harris From Bench Puts Pirates On Feet

John J. McGraw's recent announcement that the season of 1927 would be his last as manager of the New York Giants, coming as it did, a few days after George Stallings resigned as pilot of the Rochester club of the International league, leaves baseball without a "miracle man."

When Stallings took a hopeless looking Boston Brave team in 1914 from eighth place in July and led it to a National league pennant and then a world championship in September, he performed one of the miracles of the national pastime and earned himself the title of "miracle man."

McGraw has done so many great things in his 24 years as boss of the Giants that he has won the same sobriquet. Twenty times in the 24 seasons McGraw has piloted the Giants his teams have finished either first or second. Only twice have they landed in the second division. McGraw teams have won 10 National league pennants, finished second 10 times, third once and eighth once. Three of his teams have been world champions.

McGraw harbored a secret ambition to lead another pennant winner in his twenty-fifth campaign and then call it quits. But things have been going none too smoothly for the "Little Napoleon" and he decided to make this his last campaign, pennant or no pennant.

McGraw and Stallings have meant much to baseball. They have been noble leaders and colorful characters. Members of the old school, each left no doubt in the minds of his players as to who was boss at any time. Their names are written in indelible letters across the baseball horizon. They may drop from the picture but their deeds will live long after them. Both gave much to the national sport and both take much away in return, in the form of glory and money. There will be no benefit performances for John J. McGraw and George T. Stallings, which is the way it should be.

There is no game in which a fraction of an inch one way or another can mean so much as in golf. As an example of this, somebody sat down when Tommy Armour, the new Open champion, and Lighthorse Harry Cooper finished the regulation distance in a tie for the 1927 title and figured that eight strokes had been added to Cooper's total and six to Armour's by putts that missed dropping into the cups by the mere fraction of an inch or so. In several instances the balls veered from the line just enough to miss connections while in others another turn of the pellet would have taken it to its destination. Every sport has its moments of uncertainty, but in none can the tide of battle change quite so quickly as in golf.

Officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates will no doubt think several times before they pass waivers on any cast-off first baseman the American league might present. In the world series of 1925, with their infield wobbling badly and Washington about to make a clean sweep of the series, Bill McKechnie, then manager, replaced Grantham at first base with Stuffy McInnis, an American league discard. The Pirates took on new life that afternoon and went on to win the championship. This year with Pittsburgh hitting the skids the new manager, Donnie Bush, called Joe Harris, another discarded American league first sacker, from his seat in the bench and instilled him at the initial sack. Pittsburgh rose from its slump and quickly jumped into first place. Harris began pummelling the ball in the same form he did when opposed to this same Pittsburgh club in the 1925 series and went out to set the pace for National league batsmen with an average of just a fraction below .450. It would be one of the prize coincidences of all time if the man who caused Pittsburgh so much uneasiness in its last world series would be the one to carry the club through to another title.

Moore Goes Into Individual Lead—Stump Next

Randolph Moore of Waco took the Texas League batting leadership away from Edington of Beaumont over week, maintaining an average of .398 through Thursday, 7 points better than the Exporter who had slumped slightly. West of Waco, just short two hits of reaching the first century in base blows, was third with .370. Jenkins of Wichita Falls tied West for the lead in hits. Miller of Dallas led in runs scored with 61, while three players tied for second place with 60, Fitzgerald and Jenkins of Wichita Falls and Martin of Houston. Miller of Dallas continued to stay in front of Kraft's home run record schedule, pounding out his 23rd circuit swat with Turgeon and Galloway tied behind him at 13 to Pratt's 12. Gross, Dallas, ran his stolen base total to 24 against 17 for Martin and 12 for Turgeon.

Waco held the lead in club batting with three teams now hitting .300. Waco also leads in home runs, Wichita Falls in hits and runs, Dallas in stolen bases. Steengraff has won five games without a defeat, but McColl, who has won seven straight starts, has the best winning average for pitchers in many games. Pence has made 60 strikeouts to E. Love's 67. .300 hitters, club batting, and pitchers winning half or better of their games through Thursday follow:

CHICAGO TAKES PIRATE SERIES

Home Runs Feature 6 to 4 Cub Victory

PITTSBURGH, June 25. (AP)—Pittsburgh lost to Chicago again today, 6 to 4, giving the Cubs a clean sweep of the two-game series.

The game was featured by three home runs. Hack Wilson, Chicago outfielder, and leading home run hitter in the league, cracked out his 15th circuit drive in the fifth inning, scoring Webb ahead of him. Pick of the Cubs, and Cuyler of Pittsburgh, also poled home runs. The score:

ROBINS SPLIT WITH BRAVES.

BROOKLYN, June 25. (AP)—Brooklyn split a twin encounter with Boston today, annexing the first contest by 4 to 3 and dropping the nightcap by 7 to 3. Max Carey's all-around brilliant playing was a feature of the first game, in which Bill Doak weakened in the seventh after six innings of shutout ball. Carey had four hits, including a triple, in four times up, stole a base and cut off a prospective tying run with a great throw to the plate in the eighth.

*The Robins made 13 hits off Goldsmith in the second fray but left 12 runners aboard Butler hit a homer with two on for all of Brooklyn's runs in the fourth. The score:

CARDS SPLIT WITH REDS

ST. LOUIS, June 25. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, after winning the first game of a double-header with the Cincinnati Reds today, 2 to 1 and going into a tie with Pittsburgh for the league leadership, lost the nightcap, 10 to 7, and dropped half a game behind the Pirates. The score:

Rinehart was invincible in the first game, allowing only four hits. Frankie Frisch got a single double, and triple in three times at bat and stole his 21st base this season.

Rhem, who started for the Cardinals in the second game, was off form, allowing four hits in the first inning. The Cardinals rallied in the seventh for five runs, tying the score, and batted Nehf out of the box. The Reds got a run in the eighth when Southworth lost a fly in the sun and got three more in the ninth when they batted Alexander hard. The score:

FRISCH LEADS RAJAH AT BAT

Cooley's Dolan Second, War Eagle Runs Third

CHICAGO, June 25.(AP)—It may ere long be safe for San Breadon to walk the streets of St. Louis again and perhaps remark "I told you so" for Frankie Frisch, the erstwhile Giant who went to St. Louis in a trade for the favorite Rogers Hornsby, has finally passed Hornsby in the batting averages. Figures compiled today including Wednesday's games give Frisch .381 and Hornsby .376.

They have played in the same number of games and Frisch has lined out nine more hits, even though many of them did not travel quite so far as those which bounded off Hornsby's club.

Frisch's efforts have taken some of the spotlight beams away from the Pirate trio who still dominate the National league's list of premier hitters—Clyde Barnhart, Joe Harris, and Paul Waner.

They are in that order this week, Harris slumping a bit more than Barnhart in the past week. Even the redoubtable Harris could not stick for long at a batting mark of .451, though he is still above .400. Tied with Waner for third place is Mueller of the Giants, who takes the week's batting honors with nine hits in three games, raising his figures from .281 to .391.

Southworth Climbs

The other newcomer in today's big ten in the National league is Bill Southworth of the Cardinals. Freddie Lindstrom of the Giants found the pace a bit too swift and dropped back. Mueller's performance edged out Glenn Wright of Pittsburgh, although the Pirate shortstop's figures remained unchanged at .340.

Specs Meadows of Pittsburgh is the leading pitcher today, with a row of 10 victories to one loss. Jess Haines of St. Louis has 11 wins and Charley Root of the Cubs 12, but with several defeats. Crowding these two is old Grover Alexander, who pitched out of turn Wednesday to down his old team, the Cubs, for his ninth.

Leading hitters in the National league: Barnhart, Pittsburgh, .418; Harris, Pittsburgh, .417; P. Waner, Pittsburgh, .391; Mueller, New York, .391; Frisch, St. Louis, .381; Hornsby, New York, .376; Farrell, Boston, .375; Harper, New York, .353; Southworth, St. Louis, .351; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .345.

Although the Yankees seem hardly in need of batting strength behind the plate, it is there if the wrecking crew shows signs of faltering. Pat Collins is the slugging backstop, and his average of two hits per game this week has landed him today among the first 10 hitters of the American league, in averages compiled today including Wednesday's games.

Even better than that is the performance of Wally Schang, wearing shin guards for the St. Louis Browns. He gathered two hits per game, too, and jumped back to the top of the heap. His collection of swats included two homers.

Heilman Back in Form

Harry Heilman of Detroit makes his 1927 debut among the top 10 today, a group he has adorned for many years. This year, however, he seemed to be waiting for some hot weather pitching. Collins and Heilman crowded out Goslin of Washington and Schulte of St. Louis. Babe Ruth passed three more stick experts in his slow but steady climb toward the top, landing in twelth place today.

Ruth on Wednesday had 24 homers, leaving Lou Gehrig's 18 far behind. Lou, however, might try for George Burns' two-base hit record, also 59. Gehrig has 22 doubles to 23 for Burns.

With such socking back of him, Waite Hoyt may soon catch the White Sox pair of flingers in victories. Hoyt of the Yankees has 10, Thomas 11, and Lyons 12. Lyons leads the trio in hard work with the equivalent of more than 15 full games. Hoyt and Lyons have each been sunk three times, and Thomas five times.

Goose Goslin's slump at bat has also spread to his base running, though his total of 10 is still two ahead of a group of fleet-footed pursuers. In team batting, only the Cleveland Indians bettered their figures of a week ago, gaining three points while all the others dropped back a bit.

Leading hitters in the American league: Schang, St. Louis, .418; Gehrig, New York, .384; Dykes, Philadelphia, .380; Simmons, Philadelphia, .378; Meusel, New York, .377; Cobb, Philadelphia, .365; E. Miller, St. Louis, .364; P. Collins, New York, .362; Fothergill, Detroit, .358; Hallman, Detroit, .385.

M'DONALD RELEASED

FORT WORTH, June 25. (AP)—Tex McDonald, veteran infielder who joined the Panthers late last season when a third baseman was needed, was today given his unconditional release. Retained as utility infielder this spring, although succeeded at third base by yong Nolan Richardson, McDonald hurt his finger and was inactive when most needed, causing the Cats to acquire Jake Hurt. A plentitude of younger and better infielders inspired McDonald's release, Fort Worth baseball officials said.

BaseBall Game By Moonlight

LYNN, Mass., June 25. (AP)—The Lynn and Salem clubs of the New England league last night played professional baseball by artificial light.

Members of the Washington and Boston clubs of the American league and illuminating engineers from New York, Chicago and many other cities witnessed the game which Lynn won, 7 to 2, in seven innings.

The game was arranged at the instance of engineers of the General Electric company who wished to test the possibilities of staging outdoor athletic meets at night. Bill Carrigan, manager of the Red Sox, and Bucky Harris, pilot of the Senators, said after the contest that they saw possibilities for future big league contests by artificial light.

Four flood light projectors lighted up the "ceiling" of the General Electric field so that outfielders had no trouble with high flies.

Huggins' Pennant Knockers

What chance has any pitcher with three of the American league's champion sluggers on the same team and following each other in batting order? The moundsman's only hope is to pass them in wholesale lot if he is not to be scored upon. Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri are the moppers-up shown in the photo. Babe leads the league in home runs with Lou next, followed by Lazzeri. Tony recently performed the amazing feat of knocking out three home runs in one game.

Chicago Would Welcome Big Go

Chance For Tunney Battle At Soldier Field

BY FRED VAN DEVENDER

Universal Service Staff Cor.

CHICAGO, June 25. — Heavyweights are permitted to fight in Illinois, the boxing commission will welcome a Tunney championship fight, and will even welcome Tex Rickard as the promoter, if he conforms to the letter of the law.

All that was brought out with the report that the fight would be held here in October.

Not so long ago, the Illinois boxing commission ruled that heavyweight fighters would not be allowed to mangle ears within the limits of Illinois. This ruling was put into effect to keep out the Dempsey-Tunney championship affair, which later was held at Philadelphia.

The genetlemen wanted to keep it out, principally because Tex Rickard promoted the Dempsey-Tunney championship affair, which later was held at Philadelphia.

Different Now.

The gentlement wanted to keep it out, principally because Tex Rickard, did not hold an Illinois license, it was said.

All that is changed now.

But if he comes, Rickard must conform to the law. Chairman John Righeimer of the athletic commission said that very emphatically today.

Secretary Walter George, issued a statement from the commission office, as soon as he heard of the report that Rickard intends to stage the next big fight at Soldier Field stadium. The statement said:

"There is nothing in the commission's office to indicate that the Tunney fight will come to Chicago, but I believe that the commission would welcome it if it could be arranged in conformity with the state boxing law."

That means, of course, that although Tex, the world's greatest promoter, could not be the official sponsor of the fight, he could be the brains behind the figurehead who might have the title of promoter.

In this class, he can call on Jim Mullen, who staged the Taylor-Canzoneri fight here last night, Joe Coffey, or any number of others, who are regularly licensed promoters.

Mr. Mullen, states, however, that he will not be the figurehead. He will run the show, or he wil stay out of it entirely. He admitted, though, that he might accept financial backing from Rickard, if it could be arranged.

Mullen wanted the Sharkey-Dempsey fight, to be staged in New York July 21, but didn't get it.

The Soldier Field stadium officials said the place could be put in readiness for the fight by October. They would arrange to seat 150,000 people.

The commission has not stated whether or not they would allow a higher top price than they have allowed heretofore, which has been $10.

FROM TEE TO GREEN

By BILLY ALVES

There is hardly an excuse for more than two putts on any green; that doesn't excuse the professional golfer and he knows it as well as any who have ever tried to play.

Harry Cooper took three putts on five greens on the morning of his second round at Oakmont. He also took three putts on the seventeenth green when he had an easy birdie three to sew up the title tighter than a drum.

But Harry, as well as many who are hot on any course, deliberately tried to sink his only putt, and in getting to the cup he overran and missed coming back. Cooper will tell you that, as well as he told it to me.

The putt is the most delicate of shots and the feel must be natural if you are to control your game.

Cooper putts very fast, probably faster than George Duncan. The style is all right if you are accustomed to it.

Bobby Jones is one of the most consistent of good putters. The photo at the left shows how he holds the club at his stance and the picture at the right demonstrates the wrist movement after the ball is hit.

Bob lets the club head do his work. His method is only to keep the club in a straight line or on an accurate curve. Three putt greens for Jones are very rare indeed.

The grip upon the putter relays the natural feel of the stroke and with Bobby holding loosely the iron he sends the head on through the ball, hitting it on the down stroke, which makes it hug the ground, and in turn stays on the line all the way.

HANDY MANDY COPS LATONIA

Barnhart Tops Nat'l Loop, Schang in American

LATONIA, Ky., June 25. (AP)—Handy Mandy, owned by Hal Price Headley, won the Latonia derby here Saturday.

E. F. Cooley's Dolan, ridden by Jockey J. Callahan, was second and E. B. McLean's War Eagle, ridden by Jockey N. Huff, was third. The time for the mile and a half was 2:28 3-5.

This is a new track record.

The purse was $24,250 to the winner.

Jockey Earl Pool had the mount on the winner.

The old record was 2:29 1-5.

The daughter of Brown Prince and Mandy Hamilton was three lengths to the good when she crossed under the wire to claim the major end o fthe $25,000 added pudse.

She was the third filly to ever win the Latonia purse.

Handy Mandy also set a new American record for one mile and half. Her time was one-fifth of a second faster than the previous record set by Man O'War.

It was the first victory the horse of Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., had ever won. Handy Mandy finished second to Hydromel at the Washington Park, American derby, at Chicago last Saturday and that had been the closest she had ever come to a victory before.

Sonsidered a third, at best, by handicappers, she made some folks happy by paying $9.80 for $2, parimutuel tickets. The race was worth $24,250 to her.

Jock and Buddy Bauer who had been favorites to win trailed in the field out of the money.

Smith Fined $500 For Clouting Dave

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Earl Smith's assault on Manager Bancroft of the Boston Braves, termed a "disgraceful attack without warrant or warning" by President John A. Heydler of the National league, will cost the Pittsburgh catcher a fine of $500 and suspension for 30 days dating from June 18.

The league had classed the attack as "vicious and brutal" in handing down punishment Friday. Bancroft was knocked unconscious by a blow from Smith's fist during a game between the Pirates and Braves at Pittsburgh June 18. Several stitches were necessary to close a wound in Bancroft's head.

Ross Plans July 4 Fight Program

Wine May Clash With J. Matlock in Feature

Possibility of Frankie Wine, the Montana mauler, meeting the rugged Jack Matlock of Los Angeles in a 12-round bout at the Ross stadium July 4 was held out by Matchmaker A. B. Ross Saturday, who said he was dickering with a number of boxers for the staging of a mammoth all-star show similar to the one staged the past week here in milk and ice fund benefit.

Fred Whittington of McAlester has been lined up tentatively for a 10-rounder with Pug Humphries, Ross said with Dummy Mahan of San Antonio probably appearing against Roy Edwards of Hollywood in an eight-rounder.

Wichita Falls In 1893

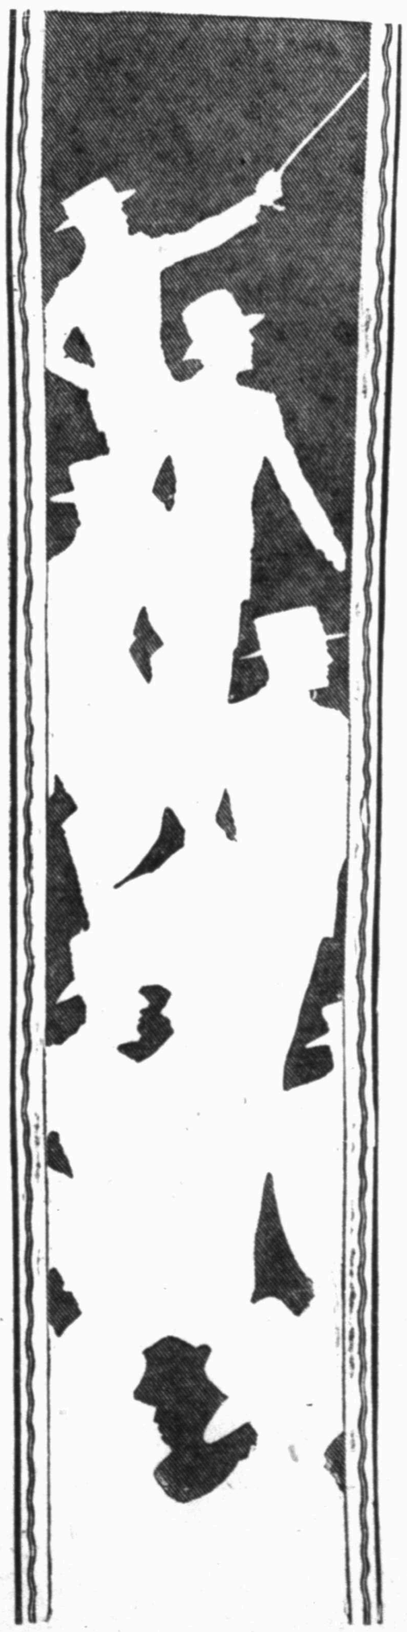

DURING the year 1893 when the nation-wide panic made its sweep—Wichita Falls did not fail to suffer like other sections of the country. Although in surrounding territory, people were sometimes restricted from drawing more than $50 of their money on deposit, the panic was very successfully handled by the local banks at that time, through the co-operation they received from their large depositors.

By Blondy Cross.

WELL

Wow! She looked there for a tichlish several minutes as if that rambunctious young Waco team was going to take the proud loop leaders for a clean sweep. But T. N. T. Tom rallies with the war bludgeon in the nick of time.

* * *

They, supposedly, never repeat in the Texas league, yet the mighty Jenkins is creeping back little by little until he's dangerously near to copping the league slugging palm again this summer.

* * *

On to Houston today for another "crucial" series. Harlem Joe has been suggested the past two afternoons for chunking chores. Maybe he'll go this p. m.

* * *

Waco, Texas, 25.

"Blondy Cross.

"Arrived O. K. and gave team good moral support today. Result game won. Exceedingly exciting game. Fans charged umpires, too, and after game city of Waco furnished a couple of uniformed officers as guard of honor and about 1500 fans to accompany them from park.

"AIREY."

* * *

Habits of great men: R. Shepherd, the melodious mayor, singing a song as substitute for oratory whatever may be the occasion.

* * *

TIDINGS

After that second setback in Waco Friday, Pilot Carl took pen in hand and night-lettered to this col thusly:

"Well, Blond, we lost again. But don't give up, for we are not. Estell pitched a good game today. Better than the score indicates. Regards to all Wichita Falls fans.

"W. CARL WILLIAMS."

* * *

And with wronghander being right again yesterday, F. Fussell standing the enemy on its collective domes, we couldn't help but come back at the boys, retrieving a portion of those lost laureis and returning to a five and a half game lead over the second-runners.

* * *

SNAP OUT OF IT

Fight bug scribbles in line from Electra to-wit: "I see where you say Wine beat Sparks in Wichita Falls the other night; also where the sports writer on the afternoon paper called the fight a draw. Why don't you fellows get together?"

Answer: Why ask such foolish questions? Wine took seven of 12 rounds. Sparks had a possible shade in the third and eleventh. The other three rounds were fairly even with an edge, if any, going to Wine, whose superior weight and heavy body punching kept Sparks backing up practically all the way. If you want to call that fight a draw, then you'd have to kill a guy before you said he was licked.

* * *

Speaking of fights, Pug Humphries was the surprise package of that all-around first-class biff offering Thursday, the milk and ice fund show. They haven't been giving Humphries the credit due him.

* * *

Pug's kind of a tough little nut, too. Reminescences of Charley Grip, the bullet-head. Pug showed a Grip tendency in several rounds against the bulkier Pete Charley, winding up like a baseball pitcher then running in and butting the other bird in the mush.

* * *

HE'D CROOK HIS GRANDMA

Zero in sports: The bimbo who gave a cold check in payment for milk and ice fund boxing tickets.

YURP

Lamped along the boulevard:

Solemnly sober male escorting hilariously inebriated female of the hennaed blonde type up the sidewalk at 4 p. m. A stagger and a. "Whoopee! If I feel as good today as I did tomorrow . . . . . whe-e-e-!"

Fair-haired large guy with face of baby, if you want to overlook milky down on upper lip, talking roughly to news urchin, then swaggering away with shoulders back like he thought he was tough because he had on oil field boots.

? ? ? ?

Unusual in sports: F. Armstrong, fellow who catches mud cats barehanded and doesn't brag about it. Honest, driving car along road out of Country club estates, finds bridge near Weeks' stables under water, large catfish flopping over, dismounts and makes haul by dint of swift movement and strong grip in the fingers. Naw, never told a soul about it.

* * *

Which for some unknown reason reminds that. West of Waco and your own T. Jenkins passed the century mark in base blows Saturday, each bringing his notch up to 102. And the umpiring was sad.

NOCONA LOSES TO PANHANDLE

Rawls, Phillips and Stone Hit Home Runs

NOCONA, June 25.—The Panhandle Longhorns of Wichita Falls captured the first game of a two-game series here this afternoon from the Nocona team, 7 to 5, behind the superb pitching of Roy Cannon who gave up only one earned run.

Home runs and double plays were frequent, three four-baggers being knocked off and five two-ply killings being staged. Rawls, Phillips and Stone contributed the homers. Hoehn, McMahon and Stone slapped out triples. Williams of Nocona got three singles.

Wichita Falls plugged away at Stewart, amassing a comfortable lead in the early stanzas, but Nocona threw a scare into the Longhorns by coming up in the ninth and blasting across four runs coupled with safe hits and misplay. Stone drove out his home run with the bases full in the ninth. Phillips homer came in the fourth with the sacks empty.

Stone's triple in the eighth went him for naught, McMahon taking J. Janeway's line drive to center and pegging Stone out at home plate with a perfect whip for the sharpest double play of the day.

McMahon turned an ankle in the ninth, chasing Stone's homer, and was taken from the game. The injury was not serious.

Hoehn and Roberts fielded sensationally.

The second game of the series is carded Sunday afternoon.

Walker Defends Title Thursday

Britons Bet Even On Tommy Milligan to Win

By HENRY CAVENDISH
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.
Special Cable Dispatch.

LONDON, June 25.—The eyes of the boxing world are turning towards the Olympic, London's great sport center where America's Mickey Walker will defend his title as world's middleweight champion against British Tommy Milligan, European middleweight champion, on Thursday night.

The interest of London in all other topics has disappeared and everybody is wildly excited over the forthcoming big time fistic affair.

Betting which a week ago favored Walker 2 to 1 has been whittled down to 3 to 2 the last few days and tonight even money is being quoted. The change in odds is the result of the English backers of Milligan early snapping up all offerings of Americans now in London.

A group of backers of each boxer met at the West End hotel today and wagered more than $50,000 at even money. Both boxers are confident of victory as the time for the match approaches.

After an active day's training yesterday when he boxed 10 rounds, wearing out five sparring partners, Walker declared he would win the battle easily and quickly.

Milligan, who is training in a little mining village near Glasgow, is quoted as saying:

"I am feeling more fit than I have ever felt in my life and I am ready to fight and win. I think I shall beat Walker."

The American world champion has been going through the hardest kind of training at Camp Tagg's Island near London for the last several weeks but is expected to slow up a little in the next few days as the fight draws near. He is in the pink of condition and never looked better in his life.

Milligan is proving a glutton for work, according to reports being received from Scotland, punching bags, shadow-boxing and doing a lot of road work daily. Milligan is also punishing his sparring partners unmercifully.

Dallas Amateurs To Mix It Here

The Schepp's Bakery Doughboys, Merchants' league champs of the first half race in Dallas, play the Texas Electrics and Continental Oilers in double bill at Spudder park July 3 and the Conitnentals in double header again July 4, it was announced Saturday night.

The Merchants league is Dallas' major city league.

George Schepp was in the city over the week-end in connection with the putting in of a new bakery here.

REPAIR WARDS SCHOOLS

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 25.—Work of improving all ward schol buildings in Vernon will probably be started Monday, according to W. T. Lofland, superintendent of schools. The first contract, calling for the improvement of the Shive school building, has been let to McCall & Adams of Wichita Falls.

HIT AND RUN SIGN FRIGHTENS MAJOR LEAGUERS

By GEORGE MORIARTY.

There are ball players in the major leagues, and not a few of them by any means, who are literally afraid of signs.

I am here referring to hit and run signs. They are afraid to give the sign and some of them are also afraid to take it.

The average patron of baseball lacks a full understanding of the hit and run play so I will attempt to make it clear here, simple as it is to the experienced player. I mean it is simple to understand but its execution can by no means be described as simple.

It was first made famous by the old Baltimore Orioles. They had a number of batsmen who could shift quickly and who could chop. They were the ideal type for working the hit and run.

* * *

It is worked today just as it was worked in the days of Jennings, Keeler, McGraw, Robinson and the other stars of the Orioles.

With a runner on first the batter discovers whether the second baseman or the shortstop will cover second in the event the man on first should make an attempt to steal. Ascertaining the identity of the man who is to take the catcher's throw, the batter will signal the runner on first. This signal is flashed between pitches, while the catcher is returning the ball to the pitcher for the next delivery.

As the pitcher winds up the runner on first starts for second and the batter, meeting the ball, hits it through the spot vacated by the fielder who is lured to second by the dash of the runner.

* * *

That sounds simple, indeed, but consider all the things that can happen to spoil the play.

We will assume that a right-handed batter is up. There is a man on first. The batter flashes the hit and run sign. The pitcher guesses that the "sign is on." The pitcher knows that the second baseman is to cover. He pitches the ball over the inside corner. The batter swings on the ball and tries to push it through the spot left vacant by the second baseman, but instead of hitting it to second he will hit the ball to short and since the shortstop did not move out of position he is able to field the ball.

The pitcher does not necessarily have to guess the play. He may for other reasons pitch the ball on the inside when the hit and run sign has been flashed and when the second baseman is covering the bag.

* * *

Pennants have been won on the successful execution of the hit and run play; they have been lost on the failure of the hit and run play.

It is the one offensive weapon in baseball that absolutely can not be worked without a signal.

There are choice spots for working the play and the signal is usually flashed when the count is two balls and no strikes, three balls and one strike and, on rare occasions, when the batter is "up" with three and nothing. Under these conditions the pitcher generally tries to lay a fast ball over in order to get out of the hole and put himself on even terms, or near even terms, with the batter. The chance is excellent of pushing a groove ball to the right or to the left.

* * *

Connie Mack's famous Athletics, the team that carried the still talked of $100,000 infield (a steep figure in those days but a mere sack of peanuts now) developed the habit of putting on the hit and run sign at the most unexpected moments. Not infrequently did the Athletics of those days hit and run with the count one and nothing, two and one and often on the first ball pitched. This could be done with good chance of success against certain pitchers who make it their aim to get the first ball over on every batter. They completely out-figured and out-guessed the opposing teams and won many games as a result. It was the most unorthodox thing in baseball attack at the time.

* * *

The great thing behind the hit and run plays of the old Baltimore Orioles and Athletics, was supreme confidence. They could work the play because it never entered their minds that the play might fail.

This confidence is lacking in some of the professional teams today. Some players will do everything they can to dodge the hit and run sign. They fear failure. As they stand at the plate and flash the signal to the base runner that they intend to swing on the next pitched ball, they become gripped with a fear that the next pitched ball will not be near the plate. They become panicky and they will swing or chop late and miss the ball entirely or foul it. The fear of failure destroys all chance of the play going through.

* * *

Many ball players insist that they are "straightaway hitters," using a professional term. This insistency is employed as a dodge. They want to evade the responsibility of working with the runner on the hit and run play. By hitting free of signs they have a chance to slam the ball in any direction and their opportunity for hitting safely is therefore much enlarged.

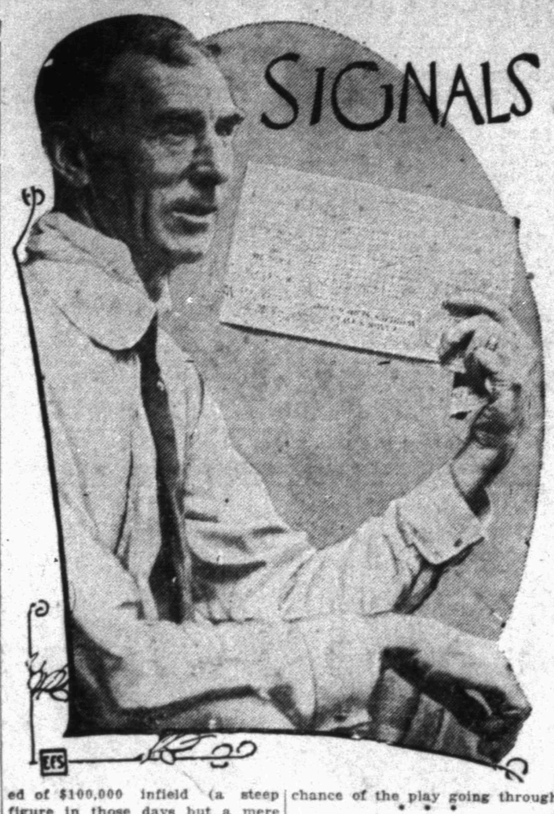

These same players on defense take every chance in fielding balls but they will not take that chance at bat.

These same ball players will take many other chances. They will drive an automobile at 60 or 70 miles an hour but that may be because you can not cut down a batting average by driving an automobile 60 or 70 miles an hour.

Many double plays could be avoided by giving the hit and run sign. When the runner starts with the pitch it is next to impossible to double him on a grounder.

But many double plays are made possible either because of the base runner's failure to receive the signal or the batsman's refusal to give it. Or, his timidity in swinging at the ball after giving the signal.

The selfish trait in human nature crops out in sports as well as anywhere else and here we have a glowing example of it.

SAND LOT SLANTS

BIG GAME TODAY.

The Texas Electric company baseball team, leading the last half of the twilight league race with two victories and no defeats, cracks loose again Sunday afternoon against the Municipal Gassers, the third of the former city league clubs now in the twilight league the Kilowatts will have met within one week's play. The game starts at 3 o'clock sharp.

* * *

The Gassers lost a tough game the past week to the powerful Panhandle Longhorns, 5 to 2, after starting out like a sure winner and giving the Hoehn outfit a real scare. The Gassers right now look like the toughest of the former city league clubs in the twilight.

* * *

THE WEEK'S SCHEDULE.

Sunday 3 o'clock, Texas Electrics versus Muny Gassers.

Tuesday, Continental Oilers versus Scotland Plumbers.

Wednesday, Panhandle versus Jackson Tires.

Friday, Scotland Plumbers versus Muny Gassers.

* * *

Everebody is putting on steam for the last half and no less than six teams in the Twilight league have the firm belief that they will win the last half of the league pennant race.

* * *

The Texas Electrics are the only players who have put on many changes for the last half and this team has done some extensive work to get itself strengthened. Three new men have been added and all three of them have been started playing. They are all three stars of the Twilight league in the past.

* * *

The first of the trio and probably the most important one of the crew is Jud Waller, rangy outfielder. Waller has the build of a big cornfed country boy and he makes a great specialty of slapping the ball a long ways and taking his time with rounding the bases.

* * *

The sceond is Curley Christian who like Waller is a hard hitter and good infielder. Christian in the past has been one of the best third base guardians in the loop and now he is on short. Doc Allen held down this post through the first half but a weak heart forced Allen to quit the game and Christian has been appointed to take his place.

* * *

The third member of this trio of new players is Rabbit Gordon, former American Refinery center fielder. Rabbit has been a star in the league for a good many years and will be of great help to the Kilowatts.

Jack Kniesel has resigned as the captain of the Scotland Plumbers and in the future will devote all his time on the field to hitting the ball and fielding.

Kniesel says that the worry of managing the ball team and also playing in the game has been too great. Kniesel has to be given much credit for the work he did for the Scotland Plumbers in the first half of the city league.

* * *

Kniesel handled the team like a veteran skipper and played the game well. He was known in the league as somewhat of a Babe Ruth for his ability to hit the ball far and hard.

* * *

Rufus Neal was the player who succeeded Kniesel as the field captain of the team and Rufus will be at the helm in the last half. It will be a tough job for Neal to bring the Plumbers through in the manner in which Kniesel has done.

* * *

Two more of the Wichita Falls youngsters who this year took a whack at playing professional ball came back from their former teams. Roy Cannon was with Eldorado in the Gulf coast league where the unofficial averages gave him a record of six wins and two defeats.

* * *

Jimmy Parker is back in Wichita Falls after a short trip with the Monroe team in the Mississippi Valley league. Jimmy has plenty to talk of about high waters and long jumps but very little to say of baseball.

* * *

Parker was used mostly as relief hrler with Eddie Palmer's team in the Mississippi Valley and had very little of this. Jimmy and the climate couldn't get along and he lost weight fast. It was a tough trip for Jim and one that he is glad to say is over.

* * *

Right now Jimmy is laying out his plans for another try at the game this summer. He has his eye set on Springfield, Mo. for the next crash at the professional game. Jim has the stuff and should be able to deliver sooner or later.

* * *

Many of the men who have watched Parker in action have predicted a great future for him and chief among these was Jess Winters. Winters was the manager of the Panhandle Longhorns last year and a former pitcher with the Philadelphia Nationals.

* * *

Last year Winters was heard many times to say that Jimmy Parker was by far the best pitching bet in the league. Parker has worlds of stuff and plenty of nerve and should sooner or later make a success in baseball. Professional ball is the one and only dream that Parker has for his future.

* * *

Slim Horn still has hopes for a good close race in the league for the last half and a race that will bring out the fans in bunches enough for the league to get in dry dock.

* * *

The tighter the race the better Slim will feel and from the present angle it sure looks like at least three clubs in the battle for the leadership in the last half. With three teams looking almost like a cinch contender the chances are that a fourth one will crop up.

Jones and Kirkwood Leave For Scotland

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Bobby Jones won a race against time when he sailed today to defend his title as open golf champion of Great Britain. The titleholder reached New York less than two hours before noon but he was on the Transylvania when the Anchor liner put out at mid-day for Glasgow.

Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick shot artist who lives at Albany, Ga., came from Atlanta with the champion and also sailed on the Transylvania but had only 11 minutes leeway, after a quick dash for passports and a visa.

Jones was accompanied by his father, Robert P. Jones, Atlanta lawyer; Stewart Maiden, Atlanta golf pro, who taught Bobby how to swing a club and two friends, C. E. Freeman and Sherwood Hurt.

The invasion of Great Britain was decided upon in Atlanta Wednesday, leaving little time to perfect arrangements.

BIG REGATTA AT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, June 25. (AP)—The The largest field in the history of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association will face the starter in the 20th annual regatta to be staged over the Houston Yacht 3 and 4.

More than 100 boats, coming here from all parts of the United States, have been entered for the annual blue ribbon clash and the speed obtained by the crafts in preliminary trials and other regatta this season gives every indication that a number of records will be shattered during the three-day meet.

BAM PAYS FOR BIG SPOTLIGHT

Spent Nine-Grand in 1924 For Publicity Play

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Although fame is fleeting, Babe Ruth seems to be determined that it will not flit away from him while he sits idly by.

The baseball celebrity in a tax appeal filed at the treasury has disclosed that during the year 1924 he "expended the sum of $9000 for the purpose of establishing and maintaining good will to the extent of entertaining sports writers, press agents and other similarly situated in order to constantly keep himself before the public."

This item, more than most baseball players receive in a year, Ruth wants deducted from the deficiency assesment placed on his earnings of 1924, which were given as $66,215.34.

Counsel for the famous batsman declared the case had been "tentatively disposed" of, but it was said at the board of tax appeals that it was recorded as still at issue.

Goodman Captures Trans-Mississippi

BROADMOORE, Colo., June 25. (AP)—John Goodman, Omaha, captured the trans-Mississippi golf crown today by defeating James Ward of Kansas City, 3 and 1.

Goodman won on the thirty-fifth hole after the thirty-fourth had been halved in par fours. Ward hooked his drive to the rough. Goodman reached the green with his second. Ward almost holed a 15-foot putt to halve in four. Goodman laid a thirty-foot approach putt dead to the hole and Ward took a five giving Goodman the championship.

Wichita Poloists At Fort Reno

The Wichita Falls Polo club engages the Fort Reno outfit at Fort Reno Sunday afternoon in the first of a series of week-end games between the Texans and Oklahomans.

The regular Wichita Falls line-up of Robbins, Featherston, Minnick and Whyte will be used. Dr. J. H. Fletcher, also, may play a few chukkers after several weeks' absence from play.

PARK BAND IN LAST CONCERT

Iowa Park Bids Farewell To Director

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, June 25.—A large and representative audience attended the farewell concert given by the Gateway band last evening at the W. F. George high school building in honor of W. R. Bradford, superintendent of the Iowa Park schools, who leaves about the first of July to become the head of the Panhandle schools. The program, featuring classical operas and old southern melodies, was well received. Jim Nugent in a negro dance made the hit of the evening. A Spanish waltz, La Albuera, was probably the most appreciated of the band numbers, though each selection received generous applause.

Dr. Frank Clark made a short talk of appreciation of the splendid work which Mr. Baadford has done for the town during his seven years residence here. Mr. Bradford responded by saying that Iowa Park would always remain dear to him, and the nearer the time came to leave the more he realized that this is a good place to be in. He was presented with a handsome bouquet by Miss Katherine Sue Ralston in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark.

The band was assisted in the program by Mrs. James A. Sewell who played a brilliant piano solo. W. D. Kidd sang "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" with band accompaniment, and "When Lindy Comes Home," with Miss Jewell Thompson as accompanist. Misses Thompson and Katherine Sue Ralston gave a couple of ukelele selections.

Wimbledon Honors Split Three Ways

WIMBLEDON, England, June 25.(AP)—France, England and the United States were sharing honors as the first week of Wimbledon's tennis tournament ended tonight in a blaze of glory before the largest attendance in its 51 years of existence.

With the men's singles narrowed to the last eight, four Frenchmen —Jacques Brugnon, Henri Cochet, Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra—remain in competition. No Englishmen are left and the United States has only William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter. But there were 10 Frenchmen and four Americans whe nthe tournament started.

The women's singles likewise have reached the quarter finals with Helen Wills and Elizabeth Ryan among the eight survivors. No French players remain in the competition, but there are four English women left—Misses Joan Fry and Betty Nuthall, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree.

Americans, however, remain favorites to capture both singles. Tilden is the general choice to win in the men's division while Helen Wills shares the popular fancy with Mrs. Godfree in the women's singles.

Miss Wills reached the quarter-finals today by a pretty victory over Miss Elsie Goldsack of England, 6-1, 6-3.

Green Corn From Wichita Valley Arrives For Local Truck Market

Fresh Vegetables Show Decline in Price During Week; Produce and Butter Markets Unchanged

Green corn is the latest delicacy to be delivered to the Wichita Falls produce markets from farms in the Wichita Valley. The "roasting ears" sell to retailers for 35 cents per dozen and a sizeable shipment was made to other Texas cities Saturday.

The week will open with lower prices on six items in the fresh vegetable list selling at lower prices. Hot pepper drops from 20 cents to 15, new potatoes from 5 1-2 cents to 5 cents; green beans are coming down to earth and Monday they will be quoted at 12 1-2 cents per pound instead of 17 1-2 cents.

White wax onions dropped from $2.75 to $3.50, cabbage prices have hit a toboggan, dropping from 8 1-2 cents to 5 1-2 and 6 cents; yams had the distinction of being the only article to advance in price, going from $2.50 to $2.75.

Fresh fruits are unchanged with no additions and blackberries being sold out.

Milk and cream and poultry and egg markets are unchanged.

VERNON CALLS STADIUM BIDS

1000-Seating Capacity To Be Incorporated

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 25.—Bids are now being received by the city park commission for the construction of a stadium to seat more than 1000 persons in a new city park being provided here. Work on the grandstand is expected to be started within a short time. The stadium will be used for football, baseball and other athletic events.

It is planned to build a stadium with lockers, shower baths, dressing rooms and other features. If funds are now sufficient at this time, only the grand stand will be completed and the other equipment will be added later. The grandstand will be 120 feet in length with 12 tiers of seats, each tier seating eighty persons. Space will be provided for several hundred knock-down seats.

A baseball diamond has already been provided at the park and a football field will be located there this fall. No longer will Vernon have to use makeshift equipment for a place to play its football, baseball and other athletic games. Beginning Sunday, when the Vernon Tigers meet the Chillicothe nine in a game, baseball games will be played each Sunday at the new park.

TELEPHONE THEFTS

New Aggravation Pesters Vernon Owners Of Telephones

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 25.—One of the most aggravating forms of thievery ever developed is committed by the "long-distance thief" who "steals" a talk over long distance while the owner of the phone is absent, leaving him to pay the bill, according to increasing numbers of Vernon people who report being thus victimized.

As a result, phones in many hospitals and other public places now bear a sign informing various and sundry that "this phone is not to be used for long distance calls." The practice is expecially prevalent in hospitals where persons who are ill or have been operated on used the phones to give anxious relatives the details of the operation or illness.

Concrete Forms in Place On Harrold Gap

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, June 25.—Workmen have begun setting forms for the concrete on the gap of highway between Harrold and Oklaunion and pouring of concrete is expected to be started Monday, according to W. V. Buetlman of the J. P. Foty company, which has the contract for the work of paving the gap.

Work has been delayed for several days because of inability to get rock for the concrete, but the company has obtained a few cars of rock and are expecting more.

Mr. Buetlman says the work will be rushed, being pushed from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily. The contract allows Foty 100 working days in which to pave the 6.9 miles. The paving in on the Colorado-Gulf highway.

Traffic is being detoured over the rock road via Elliott, the main highway being closed for the paving.

Rivals Under Same Roof

It was purely by accident that Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, and William Gibbs McAdoo, deadly competitors for the 1924 Democratic presidential nomination, found themselves together at a White Sulphur Springs hotel recently, where these pictures were taken. They did not meet.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Delpha Small, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county to appear at the next regular term of the 30th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls on the 4th day of July, 1927; then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of June, 1927, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court, No. 19931-A, wherein J. F. Small is plaintiff, and Delpha Small is defendant, wherein plaintiff is suing defendant for divorce on the ground of cruel treatment, and also for the title and possession of plaintiff's separate property, to lot 12, blk. 20 of Westside to Floral Heights Addition, and south 50 feet of lots 9 and 10 in blk. 106-A of the Highland Addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Wichita county, Texas, for special, general, legal and equitable relief.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 4th day of June, 1927.

EUNICE JACKSON, Clerk, District court, Wichita county, Texas.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Thomas L. McDowell by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 89th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in July A. D., 1927, the same being the 4th day of July, A. D. 1927; then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of June, A. D. 1927, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 19930-C wherein Jannie Mae McDowell is plaintiff and Thomas L. McDowell is defendant, and said petition prays for a divorce upon the grounds of harsh and cruel treatment, in that defendant severely whipped the minor children there having been born to said inter-marriage seven children and just prior to their separation on or about Feb. 15, 1925, the defendant did so unmercifully, severely whip one of their minor children, then about seven years of age and when plaintiff asked defendant to stop whipping said child, he, the said defendant, in an angry insolent manner struck the plaintiff with a stick on the arm and during the month of December, 1926, when said defendant visited with his children and stayed in the home of plaintiff, though said plaintiff and defendant did not live together as husband and wife, he, while in an angry fit of temper, all without cause or provocation struck said plaintiff and then left said plaintiff and neither plaintiff nor her three minor children have since heard of his whereabouts nor has he contributed to them anything since Dec. 12, 1926 to said minor childrens' support which said minor children living with plaintiff are Mildred McDowell, 14 years of age, Gwendolyne McDowell, 12 years of age and J. W. McDowell, 9 years of age, that said other children are of mature age and supporting themselves but said three minor children have for years last past been been wholly supported, clothed and educated by said plaintiff and the grown children of the parties hereto, wherefore plaintiff prays for divorce and for the care, custody and control and education of said minor children, and for costs of suit, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 4th day of June, A. D. 1927.

BRAKE SERVICE

Since the discontinuance of DUDLEY'S SAFETY SERVICE I have associated myself with the WICHITA BRAKE SERVICE STATION, thus combining the two stations into one exclusive brake service station. We specialize on BRAKE RELINING, inspection and adjustment of brakes on all cars.

We operate the only TRU-DRUM LATHE in North Texas, built for trueing brake drums. Brakes properly relined and installed on trued drums insure longer life of lining, equalized brakeing and prevents undue wear on tires and SAFETY.

We guarantee and stand back of every service we render. Will be pleased to meet all my customers and friends at my new location.

CORN PRICES SKID LOWER

Sunshine in Fields Puts Scare in Traders

BY CHARLES J. LEYDEN.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Sunshine and high temperature over practically the whole corn belt today brought out further liquidation in the pit. All gains dropped sharply in the wake of corn. The September delivery sold down to the dollar mark again and finished slightly above that level. Shorts were probably the best buyers on the break.

In wheat absorption was more impressive, and at one time this grain almost completely recovered its early loss. Houses with export and foreign connections bought while southwest hedging comprised much of the offerings. Weather conditions were ideal for harvesting of winter wheat.

July wheat opened at $1.40¼@1.40½, dipped to $1.40, rallied to $1.41, sold off to $1.40⅝ and closed at $1.40⅝@1.40½. September opened at $1.38⅝@1.39, sagged to $1.38½, rallied to $1.39½ and closed at $1.38⅝@1.38⅞. September corn opened at $1.01¼, hit $1.00 and closed at $1.00⅛@1.00⅜.

Export wheat sales were 250,000 bushels and rye 100,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ⅜⅝@ pence lower.

Locally wheat finished ⅜ to ⅞c lower, corn 1⅜ to 2¼c off, oats ¼ to ½c down and rye ⅜c lower.

Corn was distinctly weak, and at no time did this grain show any recuperative power. Commission house liquidation was heavy at the opening bell. Some of the bulls picked up corn on the break, but they did not attempt to advance the market.

Oats trailed other grains into lower ground. July liquidation was on tap at the outsetand induced scattered pressure in the September.

Rye recovered appreciably from the low point on scattered absorption late, part of which was short covering.

Week-End Profit-Taking Weakens Stocks During Two-Hour Market Session Saturday

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 25.—Week-end profit taking developed in the leaders and special stocks were weak in the smallest two-hour session in several months today, but at the close there was nothing to indicate that the market was not in strong hands. The market has demonstrated its ability to turn about following the recent weak spell and this has greatly encouraged the forces on the constructive side. Expansion in brokerage loans is not taken with alarm as the wealth of the country has grown enormously. No better demonstration can be had than the flotation of $4,374,329,245 new securities since Jan 1. Bankers' estimate that only $700,000,000 or 16 per cent of this large amount remains undisturbed shows the wonderful absorptive capacity of the investment market. What the infusion of nearly a billion dollars in new funds which will be released in interest payments around the first of next month, the amount of held over securities should be materially reduced. Trading commodities and foreign exchange yesterday was quiet and on a small scale. The best kind of buying is going on in Steel common. Accumulation of this stock is understood to be for the insiders of the General Motors corporation and it would not surprise Wall street if one of the Duponts went on the steel corporation board shortly with the possibility of succeeding Judge Gary.

Railroads were rather quiet but quiet accumulation is going on in Southern Pacific and Rock Island. Earnings of both roads are holding up well and large western interests regard both as selling out of line. New Haven held ground. The company may take care of its obligation to the government. The speculative urge in this stock has been rumors that Durant had become interested in its market.

General Railway Signal entered new ground. It was pointed out here recently that the company had secured a contract from the Missouri Pacific calling for signals stretching 178 miles along the line. The New York Central is now said to be conducting negotiations for the installation of Automatic train control on its main line from New York to Chicago.

Oil stock went lower on the increased production in the Seminole field. Stocks like Marland and Phillips went lower on short selling. Another reason for the selling of such stocks as Phillips, Marland and Skelly is that they were forced to borrow in a market glutted with securities and the present condition of the oil business. Oversupply of oil dies not warrant a quick disposal of the bonds to the public. The view prevails that they are loaded with oil stocks and past experience would not cause them to be intrigued by oil bonds.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, June 25. (AP)—With 174 cars of wheat estimated as Saturday's receipts and with 152 on hand, cash wheat on the Fort Worth market continued its downward course Saturday and closed ½ to 1 cent lower. Exporters however, were showing more interest and dealers reported demand from that source very good. Basis No. 1 hard for July delivery at Texas gulf ports exporters are bidding 4½ cents over Chicago July or $1.43⅝ to $1.44 in carload lots but not loaded on ships.

Receipts for Friday were: Wheat 152 cars, corn 5, oats 8, barley 3, sorghums 1, shapped corn 12 and milo and kaffir heads 2 cars.

Estimates on Saturday receipts included: Wheat 174 cars; corn 23; oats 7; barley 3, and sorghums 9 cars.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—Regulation Fourth of July weather today, hot and sunny, just right for wheat and corn, gave all the grain markets a decided downward slant. Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛ to ½c decline, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents.

Provisions reflected the downward trend of grain values and of hogs.

KANSAS CASH GRAIN.

KANSAS CITY, June 25. (AP)—Wheat: No. 2 hard $1.32@1.55½; No. 2 red $1.36@1.37½; July $1.30⅝; Sept. $1.30; December $1.34.

Corn: No. 2 white 93¼@95c; No. 2 yellow 94½@96c; No. 2 mixed 92¼@95c; July 91⅝c; Sept. 95⅛c; December 95c.

CHICAGO CASH GRAIN.

City Council to Hear Four Paving Projects

Bids for 7500 feet of fire hose for the Wichita Falls fire department will be received Monday night at the weekly meeting of the city council.

An ordinance regulating the placing of signs in the city will come up for second reading. The third and final reading on an ordinance to close Colorado street, from Pecan to Oak, will also come before the council.

Four hearings on the paving of streets are scheduled for Monday night. The streets are: Mississippi, from Elm to Jalonic; Jalonic, from Mississippi to Virginia; Virginia, from Jalonic to Henrietta road, and Giddings, from Avenue J to Avenue L.

Army Planes Will Survey Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—At the request of the state department army airplanes will make a photographic record of water ways along the Mexican border to provide information for the international water commission which is charged with equitable distribution of border waters between the United States and Mexico.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today with final price quotations disclosing widespread irregularity. Trading, which was relatively light in volume, was almost entirely professional in character, probably as a result of the cautionary advices of the larger commission houses against adding to commitments at this time. Total sales were the smallest of any half holiday session since November 20, 1926.

The credit situation came to the fore again when the weekly clearing house statement, issued after the close, disclosed the fourth consecutive deficit in reserves, amounting to $6,657,830, as compared with a deficit of $13,887,140 the week before. Earlier in the day, a more cheerful sentiment regarding the credit outlook had been created by the fact that new bond flotations this week had shown a sharp shrinkage in volume, and that cal lmoney held steady yesterday at 4 per cent in the face of a previous stiffening of time money rates and the approach of month-end settlements.

Weakness again cropped out in the oil and copper shares today as a result of the unsatisfactory trade conditions. New low prices for the year were registered by Anaconda, Chile, Cerro de Pasco, Nevada and Ray Coppers and Marland Oil, Phillips Petroleum, General Asphalt common and preferred, and Beacon Hill.

Clearing house officials reported that four successive deficits in reserve had never before been reported, but attached no significance to the occurance. Aggregate reserve totalled $615,850,000.

Outside o fthe establishment of another new high since 1920 in Italian lire at 5.83½ cents and a 25-point drop in Japanese yen to 47.20 cents, there were no developments of importance in foreign exchange trading. Demand sterling and French francs held steady around $4.85 5-16 and 3.91½ cents respectively.

Wichita Man Honored By Insurance Firm

Grover Monroe, prominent insurance man, has been honored with a complimentary trip to the Travelers Insurance company convention at Quebec, Canada. Mr. Monroe is the only leader in Texas in his line, entitled to make the trip. He is accompaned by his daughter, Miss Geraldine Monroe. Their plans include a visit to Chicago, Boston, New York City and Washington, D. C., returning to Wichita Falls about the middle of July. Mr. Monroe has been leader in Texas for the past four years.

Two Men Found Dead With Bullets in Heads

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Downing street, battle ground a decade ago of the notorious Hudson Duster gang, was the scene early today of two killings.

The bodies of the two men, Frank Russo, 30, and J. Biano, 28, Brooklyn, each with three bullet wounds, were found by a passerby in a pool of blood. Police believe the men were fired upon from a passing automobile.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, June 25.—The small run of cattle and the absence of sheep on the Fort Worth market Saturday resulted in a nominal market in these divisions. Hogs were five cents higher.

Virtually no market was seen in cattle, but the general price for beefy cows were $6.00 and around $4.00 for canners.

Heifers were here in small lots of grass quality selling at $6.50@9.00. Yearlings $6.50@7.75 in small lots.

Hogs advanced five cents to a top of $8.95 to a shipper. Packers paid $8.80 to $8.85 for their butcher hogs. Sows made $7.25 to $8.00 and pigs $5.00 to $8.00.

Cattle receipts 175; market steady; beeves $6.00@11.25; stockers $5.50@8.50; fat cows $5.25@6.65; cutters $4.25@4.85; canners $3.25@4.00; stocker cows $4.50@5.75; yearlings $6.00@10.25; bulls $4.25@6.25; calves $5.50@10.60.

Hogs receipts 300; market steady; lights $8.90@9.05; mediums $8.80@8.90; heavy $8.60@8.70; mixed $8.40@8.50; common $8.25@8.40; sows $7.75@8.00; pigs $7.00@7.50.

Sheep and lambs receipts 40; market steady; genuine lambs $12.50@13.00; shorn lambs $10.50@11.00; feeder lambs $10.00@11.00; wethers $7.25; ewes $6.50@7.00; culls $1.00@2.00; stockers $5.00@6.00, goats $2.25@4.25.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Prospects for a renewal of showers in the cotton belt over Sunday led to rallies from an opening decline in the cotton market today. October sold up from 16.85 to 16.93, or 7 points net higher, but there was a spurt of realizing in the last few minutes and it closed at 16.91. The general market closed steady, net 4 points higher to one point lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points. Active months showed net losses of about 5 to 8 points in early trading under liquidation, promoted by favorable early weather reports. The map showed less rain in the belt than it has for some time, and the trade seemed hopeful of the dry warm weather which is said to be much needed over the south.

Offerings were comparatively light, however, and the forenoon market firmed up on the official forecast for showers in most sections of the belt. July contracts which had sold off to 16.50 advanced to 16.64, while December rallied from 17.08 to 17.23, net advances of about 7 to 9 points on the general list.

Buying was held in check by continued uncertainty as to the effect of possible notices on Tuesday, or by the usual week-end consideration, and the market lost a good part of its gain during the last few minutes. July was relatively steady during the greater part of the morning, compared with later months, narrowing slightly as if previous liquidation had improved its technical position and left it a little more sensitive to covering by shorts. At the close July seemed to be about 32 points under October, compared with a closing difference of 37 points on Friday.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 107,000 bales, against 25,000 last year.

Private cables reported trade calling in Liverpool and that continental interests were buying July in the market there against sales of later months.

A report by a New Orleans authority placed the condition of the Texas crop at 77.7 based on reports from correspondents as of June 20.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 25. (AP)—Prompt stoppage of notices for 8500 bales of July cotton rallied the cotton market today after prices had declined 8 to 10 points in the early trading. After dropping to 16.78 October rallied to 16.92, six points above the previous close, but eased off a few points in the late trading and closed at 16.87. The general market closed steady net unchanged to one pont uip.

Although Liverpool cables were about as due the local market opened easier due mainly to the circulation of the July notices. First trades showed losses of 6 to 9 points. Prices eased off a few points additional in the early trading and July dropped to 16.39 and December 17.00, eight to ten points net down. The decline was helped somewhat by the favorable weather in the belt.

When it became apparent that the notices for July delivery would be handled easily and the official forecast promised showery weather over Sunday the market rallied. July rose to 16.52 and December 16.92, 10 to 14 points up from the lows.

In the final trading prices lost 2 to 5 points on realizing and the market closed at a little net change for the day. Exports for the day 10,519 bales.

ANNOUNCEMENT

BRAKE SERVICE

Since the discontinuance of DUDLEY'S SAFETY SERVICE I have associated myself with the WICHITA BRAKE SERVICE STATION, thus combining the two stations into one exclusive brake service station. We specialize on BRAKE RELINING, inspection and adjustment of brakes on all cars.

We operate the only TRU-DRUM LATHE in North Texas, built for trueing brake drums. Brakes properly relined and installed on trued drums insure longer life of lining, equalized brakeing and prevents undue wear on tires and SAFETY.

We guarantee and stand back of every service we render. Will be pleased to meet all my customers and friends at my new location.

CORN PRICES SKID LOWER

Sunshine in Fields Puts Scare in Traders

BY CHARLES J. LEYDEN.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Sunshine and high temperature over practically the whole corn belt today brought out further liquidation in the pit. All gains dropped sharply in the wake of corn. The September delivery sold down to the dollar mark again and finished slightly above that level. Shorts were probably the best buyers on the break.

In wheat absorption was more impressive, and at one time this grain almost completely recovered its early loss. Houses with export and foreign connections bought while southwest hedging comprised much of the offerings. Weather conditions were ideal for harvesting of winter wheat.

July wheat opened at $1.40¼@1.40⅛, dipped to $1.40, rallied to $1.41, sold off to $1.40⅝ and closed at $1.40⅝@1.40½. September opened at $1.38⅝@1.39, sagged to $1.38¼, rallied to $1.39⅛ and closed at $1.38⅝@1.38⅝. September corn opened at $1.01¼, hit $1.00 and closed at $1.00⅛@1.00⅝.

Export wheat sales were 250,000 bushels and rye 100,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ⅜ @ pence lower.

Locally wheat finished ⅜ to ⅞c lower, corn 1⅞ to 2⅛c off, oats ⅛ to ½c down and rye ⅝c lower.

Corn was distinctly weak, and at no time did this grain show any recuperative power. Commission house liquidation was heavy at the opening bell. Some of the bulls picked up corn on the break, but they did not attempt to advance the market.

Oats trailed other grains into lower ground. July liquidation was on tap at the outset and induced scattered pressure in the September.

Rye recovered appreciably from the low point on scattered absorption late, part of which was short covering.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, June 25. (AP)—With 174 cars of wheat estimated as Saturday's receipts and with 152 on hand, cash wheat on the Fort Worth market continued its downward course Saturday and closed ⅜ to 1 cent lower. Exporters however, were showing more interest and dealers reported demand from that source very good. Basis No. 1 hard for July delivery at Texas gulf ports exporters are bidding 4½ cents over Chicago July or $1.43⅝ to $1.44 in carload lots but not loaded on ships.

Receipts for Friday were: Wheat 152 cars, corn 5, oats 8, barley 3, sorghums 1, shapped corn 12 and milo and kaffir heads 2 cars.

Estimates on Saturday receipts included: Wheat 174 cars; corn 23; oats 7; barley 3, and sorghums 9 cars.

Wheat: No. 1 dark hard, old milling $1.50@1.51; No. 1 dark hard new milling $1.45@1.47; No. 1 ordinary hard old $1.47@1.48; No. 1 ordinary hard new milling $1.44@1.45; No. 1 red milling $1.49@1.51; No. 1. 75 per cent red, $1.48@1.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—Regulation Fourth of July weather today, hot and sunny, just right for wheat and corn, gave all the grain markets a decided downward slant. Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛ to ½c decline, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents.

Provisions reflected the downward trend of grain values and of hogs.

City Council to Hear Four Paving Projects

Bids for 7500 feet of fire hose for the Wichita Falls fire department will be received Monday night at the weekly meeting of the city council.

An ordinance regulating the placing of signs in the city will come up for second reading. The third and final reading on an ordinance to close Colorado street, from Pecan to Oak, will also come before the council.

Four hearings on the paving of streets are scheduled for Monday night. The streets are: Mississippi, from Elm to Jalonic; Jalonic, from Mississippi to Virginia; Virginia, from Jalonic to Henrietta road, and Giddings, from Avenue J to Avenue L.

Army Planes Will Survey Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—At the request of the state department army airplanes will make a photographic record of water ways along the Mexican border to provide information for the international water commission which is charged with equitable distribution of border waters between the United States and Mexico.

Week-End Profit-Taking Weakens Stocks During Two-Hour Market Session Saturday

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 25.—Week-end profit taking developed in the leaders and special stocks were weak in the smallest two-hour session in several months today, but at the close there was nothing to indicate that the market was not in strong hands. The market has demonstrated its ability to turn about following the recent weak spell and this has greatly encouraged the forces on the constructive side. Expansion in brokerage loans is not taken with alarm as the wealth of the country has grown enormously. No better demonstration can be had than the flotation of $4,374,329,245 new securities since Jan 1. Bankers' estimate that only $700,000,000 or 16 per cent of this large amount remains undisturbed shows the wonderful absorptive capacity of the investment market. What the infusion of nearly a billion dollars in new funds which will be released in interest payments around the first of next month, the amount of held over securities should be materially reduced. Trading commodities and foreign exchange yesterday was quiet and on a small scale. The best kind of buying is going on in Steel common. Accumulation of this stock is understood to be for the insiders of the General Motors corporation and it would not surprise Wall street if one of the Duponts went on the steel corporation board shortly with the possibility of succeeding Judge Gary.

Railroads were rather quiet but quiet accumulation is going on in Southern Pacific and Rock Island. Earnings of both roads are holding up well and large western interests regard both as selling out of line. New Haven held ground. The company may take care of its obligation to the government. The speculative urge in this stock has been rumors that Durant had become interested in its market.

General Railway Signal entered new ground. It was pointed out here recently that the company had secured a contract from the Missouri Pacific calling for signals stretching 178 miles along the line. The New York Central is now said to be conducting negotiations for the installation of Automatic train control on its main line from New York to Chicago.

Oil stock went lower on the increased production in the Seminole field. Stocks like Marland and Phillips went lower on short selling. Another reason for the selling of such stocks as Phillips, Marland and Skelly is that they were forced to borrow in a market glutted with securities and the present condition of the oil business. Oversupply of oil dies not warrant a quick disposal of the bonds to the public. The view prevails that they are loaded with oil stocks and past experience would not cause them to be intrigued by oil bonds.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—The stock market alternately blew hot and cold today with final price quotations disclosing widespread irregularity. Trading, which was relatively light in volume, was almost entirely professional in character, probably as a result of the cautionary advices of the larger commission houses against adding to commitments at this time. Total sales were the smallest of any half holiday session since November 20, 1926.

The credit situation came to the fore again when the weekly clearing house statement, issued after the close, disclosed the fourth consecutive deficit in reserves, amounting to $6,657,830, as compared with a deficit of $13,887,140 the week before. Earlier in the day, a more cheerful sentiment regarding the credit outlook had been created by the fact that new bond flotations this week had shown a sharp shrinkage in volume, and that cal lmoney held steady yesterday at 4 per cent in the face of a previous stiffening of time money rates and the approach of month-end settlements.

Weakness again cropped out in the oil and copper shares today as a result of the unsatisfactory trade conditions. New low prices for the year were registered by Anaconda, Chile, Cerro de Pasco, Nevada and Ray Coppers and Marland Oil, Phillips Petroleum, General Asphalt common and preferred, and Beacon Hill.

Clearing house officials reported that four successive deficits in reserve had never before been reported, but attached no significance to the occurance. Aggregate reserve totalled $615,850,090.

Outside o fthe establishment of another new high since 1920 in Italian lire at 5.83½ cents and a 25-point drop in Japanese yen to 47.20 cents, there were no developments of importance in foreign exchange trading. Demand sterling and French francs held steady around $4.85 5-16 and 3.91½ cents respectively.

Wichita Man Honored By Insurance Firm

Grover Monroe, prominent insurance man, has been honored with a complimentary trip to the Travelers Insurance company convention at Quebec, Canada. Mr. Monroe is the only leader in Texas in his line, entitled to make the trip. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Geraldine Monroe. Their plans include a visit to Chicago, Boston, New York City and Washington, D. C., returning to Wichita Falls about the middle of July. Mr. Monroe has been leader in Texas for the past four years.

Two Men Found Dead With Bullets in Heads

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Downing street, battle ground a decade ago of the notorious Hudson Duster gang, was the scene early today of two killings.

The bodies of the two men, Frank Russo, 30, and J. Biano, 28, Brooklyn, each with three bullet wounds, were found by a passerby in a pool of blood. Police believe the men were fired upon from a passing automobile.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, June 25.—The small run of cattle and the absence of sheep on the Fort Worth market Saturday resulted in a nominal market in these divisions. Hogs were five cents higher.

Virtually no market was seen in cattle, but the general price for beefy cows were $6.00 and around $4.00 for canners.

Heifers were here in small lots of grass quality selling at $6.50@9.00. Yearlings $6.50@7.75 in small lots.

Hogs advanced five cents to a top of $8.95 to a shipper. Packers paid $8.50 to $8.85 for their butcher hogs. Sows made $7.25 to $8.00 and pigs $5.00 to $8.00.

Cattle receipts 175; market steady; beeves $6.00@11.25; stockers $5.50@8.50; fat cows $5.25@6.65; cutters $4.25@4.85; canners $3.50@4.00; stocker cows $4.50@5.75; yearlings $6.00@10.25; bulls $4.25@6.25; calves $5.50@10.60.

Hogs receipts 300; market steady; lights $8.90@9.05; mediums $8.80@8.90; heavy $8.60@8.70; mixed $8.40@8.50; common $8.25@8.40; sows $7.75@8.00; pigs $7.00@7.50.

Sheep and lambs receipts 40; market steady; genuine lambs $12.50@13.00; shorn lambs $10.50@11.00; feeder lambs $10.00@11.00; wethers $7.25; ewes $6.50@7.00; culls $1.00@2.00; stockers $5.00@6.00, goats $2.25@4.25.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Prospects for a renewal of showers in the cotton belt over Sunday led to rallies from an opening decline in the cotton market today. October sold up from 16.85 to 16.99, or 7 points net higher, but there was a spurt of realizing in the last few minutes and it closed at 16.91. The general market closed steady, net 4 points higher to one point lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points. Active months showed net losses of about 5 to 8 points in early trading under liquidation, promoted by favorable early weather reports. The map showed less rain in the belt than it has for some time, and the trade seemed hopeful of the dry warm weather which is said to be much needed over the south.

Offerings were comparatively light, however, and the forenoon market firmed up on the official forecast for showers in most sections of the belt. July contracts which had sold off to 16.50 advanced to 16.64, while December rallied from 17.08 to 17.23, net advances of about 7 to 9 points on the general list.

Buying was held in check by continued uncertainty as to the effect of possible notices on Tuesday, or by the usual week-end consideration, and the market lost a good part of its gain during the last few minutes. July was relatively steady during the greater part of the morning, compared with later months, narrowing slightly as if previous liquidation had improved its technical position and left it a little more sensitive to covering by shorts. At the close July seemed to be about 32 points under October, compared with a closing difference of 37 points on Friday.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 107,000 bales, against 25,000 last year.

Private cables reported trade calling in Liverpool and that continental interests were buying July in the market there against sales of later months.

A report by a New Orleans authority placed the condition of the Texas crop at 77.7 based on reports from correspondents as of June 20.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 25. (AP)—Prompt stoppage of notices for 8500 bales of July cotton rallied the cotton market today after prices had declined 8 to 10 points in the early trading. After dropping to 16.78 October rallied to 16.92, six points above the previous close, but eased off a few points in the late trading and closed at 16.87. The general market closed steady net unchanged to one point up.

Although Liverpool cables were about as due the local market opened easier due mainly to the circulation of the July notices. First trades showed losses of 6 to 9 points. Prices eased off a few points additional in the early trading and July dropped to 16.39 and December 17.00, eight to ten points net down. The decline was helped somewhat by the favorable weather in the belt.

When it became apparent that the notices for July delivery would be handled easily and the official forecast promised showery weather over Sunday the market rallied. July rose to 16.52 and December 16.92, 10 to 14 points up from the lows.

In the final trading prices lost 2 to 5 points on realizing and the market closed at a little net change for the day.

Exports for the day 10,519 bales.

M'CRORY STORE OPENS SOON

Public Invited to New Quarters Wednesday

One of the most up-to-date stores in merchandise assortment and customer service will be the new McCrory Five and Ten Cent store which opens Wednesday in the recently remodeled location at Ninth and Indiana.

F. S. Bennett, formerly of Houston, will hold the office of store manager. Mr. Bennett is thoroughly experienced in the policies and systems employed in this type of store and feels confident that the service and shipping values offered to the public under his supervision will be highly satisfactory.

Well Equipped

The interior of the store is a striking arrangement of large counters, beautifully finished display backgrounds and glass bins. The latest equipment has been used throughout with especial care given to the convenience of the customers, in arrangement of departments, and shopping facilities.

The McCrory employes are trained under the careful guidance of the manager, learning the business from the bottom up, with efficient service always in view. A perfectly equipped ladies' rest room has been installed as part of the store policy toward comfort and satisfaction.

Al St. John, district superintendent, has been in Wichita Falls for several days, attending to the opening of the establishment.

Tells of Policies

"It has been my desire and the policy of the organization to formulate an example of systematic efficiency. Forces of the McCrory organization have been mobilized in Wichita Falls for the last two weeks, since the contractors turned over the building to the store operation department, and have put through the work of getting it ready for the opening.

"The opening day will offer extraordinary values to mark this event but we desire to be featured as a store for everyone to patronize every day. Our endeavor will be to make this store bright, attractive and worthy of the confidence of the buying public of Wichita Falls."

WHEAT YIELD SHOWS GAIN

Receipts at Elevators Above Expectations

The wheat yield in the Wichita Falls territory is proving by receipts at elevators to be greater than expected early in the season as the plant improved under favorable weather conditions late in April and early in May, an official of a Wichita Falls elevator company said Saturday.

Wheat of excellent quality is being received here, samples averaging 58 pounds to the bushel except in some fields where there was a mixture of oats. The early sown wheat is yielding better than the late sown crop, it was stated. The average yield per acre is 10 to 15 bushels.

Heat Aids Harvest

The harvest in the territory was the earliest on record due to the abnormally warm weather in the last half of May, the temperature having reached a record high mark of 107 degrees on May 30. An early ripening resulted from the warm weather.

The price this season is considered good for an ordinary year, running from $1.10 to $1.20 per bushel, which is said to be a profitable figure for the growers.

Although insect pests impaired the crop in the late winter months there is very little damaged grain on the market, it is reported.

Construction of additional farm storage for grain is expected to result from the spreading use of the combine machines which cut and thresh the grain at one operation, reducing the cost of harvest and expediting the work to a great extent, it was stated.

Rail Problem

A problem for railroad compaines is presented for the first time in this district in the fact that the use of the combine allows the grain to go direct from the hands of the grower to the railroad car. Additional equipment had to be put into use for the grain, movement which formerly extended over four to six weeks. The railroads have met the situation with adequate equipment this year, according to the elevator official.

Combines have been put into use in Wichita county during the past week although they have been used extensively in Oklahoma for several years. This method eliminates the period of one to two weeks in which grain lies in the shocks as is the case in using ordinary binders.

"Wild" Motorist Fined by Police

Officers from the Archer county sheriff's department arrested a man Saturday morning in connection with the reported terrorizing of motorists on the Wichita Falls Archer City road Friday night, according to Police Chief Burns who talked to George Stinnett of Olney, who was stopped and threatened three times by the man.

The man was fined when brought to trial in Archer City, Chief Burns was told. Chief Burns did not learn what charges were filed against the man, who was identified by Mr. Stinnett.

First reports of the man's activities were given in Wichita Falls by T. L. Ward, 703 Filmore, who talked to Mr. Stinnett by telephone Friday night. Other motorists were said to have been molested by the man.

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—A parting judgment that advocacy of "unmarried unions" and "sex experiments" is not only shameful, but damnable—a sin against God," was left today by Bishop William T. Manning, head of the New York Episcopal diocese, who is bound for Europe on the Majestic.

Tree Owners Warned Of Insect Menace

A warning that unless tree owners, in Wichita Falls are more careful relative to the upkeep of the trees that there is liable to be a considerable loss from the activities of the borer insect, was issued Saturday by C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of the park department.

A strong solution of lye and lime wash should be used on all trees so that the borer eggs deposited on tree trunks will be destroyed, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

The park department will give any information relative to trees requested by citizens in the city, Mr. Bunnenberg asserted.

Unkept Hands Spoil Entire Effect

Every woman should have soft, white, youthful hands to complete the picture of daintiness expected of her.

While eating, dancing, playing cards, in act, whatever you do, your hands are noticed as much as your complexion. You can't neglect them without spoiling the impression you make by being well groomed in every other detail.

The easiest way to keep your hands soft, white and firm is to massage them with the dainty lotion you can make by simply squeezing the juice of two lemons into a bottle of Orchard White, which you can get from your nearest dealer. It clears and refines the skin, making toll-worn and stained hands look like a queen's. —Adv.

A Public Institution—

Banks are privileged to do business primarily for one reason—public welfare. This fundamental thought is the key to understanding and appreciation of a bank's decisions methods, traditional attitude toward proposals, etc.

As a public institution, chartered under special laws for the public good, a bank must always choose the safe course. It must invest safely, loan safely, collect strictly.

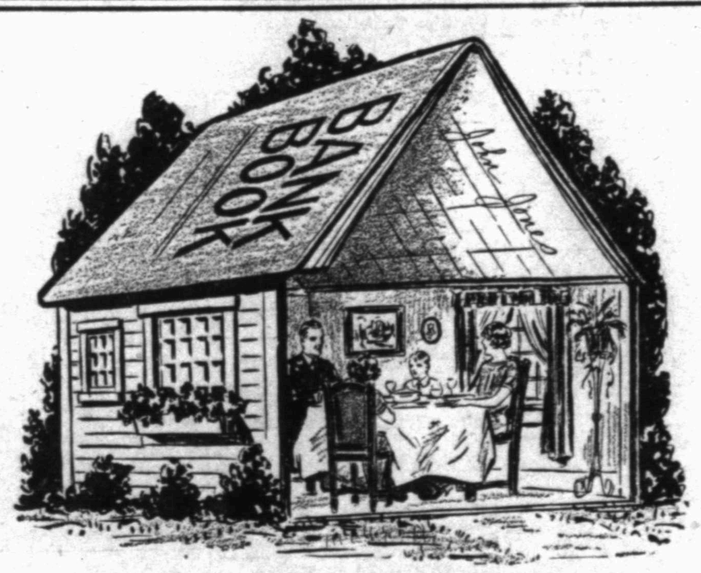

A Bank's decisions on loans, therefore, are determined by established principals which experience has proved sound and safe.

To Helga, her husband Alphonse's stories of the night club where he worked as waiter, were full of the glamor of fairy tales. Of a world of money, where delicate foods, soft lights, rich furs, beautiful clothes—music and dance, enjoyment and freedom—could be reveled in.

Alphonse did not mean to paint this picture of the glamorous world he hated, but to Helga, starved for excitement, his story of the sordid night life was a tempting, disturbing canvas on which were depicted all the lovely things of life.

ALPHONSE was a waiter in a night club in the whitest part of Broadway.

Four hundred incandescent bulbs chased a flame of light before the restaurant in which he was employed, and spelled out "CLUB BOULEVARDE."

It was not a club, of course. It was just that it was more convenient in an era of prohibition to get around certain strictures of the law by calling it that.

Curious how Alphonse had drifted into the role of waiter. By trade a pastry cook, he had moved from Duluth with his family to seek larger pastures and by this and that inadvertence had wound up finally at Club Boulevarde.

After all, rent had to be paid, small mouths fed. And the elysium of pastry cooks which Alphonse had visioned while out in Duluth did not somehow materialize. It was frighteningly difficult to obtain any kind of work in the big town which had beckoned and lured him for so long. Even his wife, Helga, who was a serene and placid soul, began to experience panic as the weeks rolled around and their little fund of savings began to dissipate with alarming rapidity.

Then the opportunity at the Club Boulevarde presented itself. Alphonse was quick, agile and successful at his new work. Although the hours were trying, with tips the earnings rolled up.

At least there was no longer worry about rent and small mouths to feed. For that Alphonse breathed a daily prayer of thanksgiving.

Dawn after dawn, staggering tired, bleareyed with smoke, Alphonse made his weary way homeward, with tales of the all-night doings of the cabaret to tell Helga that fairly made her pretty blue eyes start from her head.

Sometimes there were fifty-dollar bill tips and hundred-dollar bill tips to bear out the fantastic recitals of the doings of folk whose names blazed across the society and professional newspaper columns of the town.

Even with the fifty-dollar and sometimes hundred-dollar tips in his pocket, Alphonse detested his work. The act of accepting a "tip" was nauseous to his soul and his spirit. His search for work as an expert pastry cook was unrelenting. But meanwhile, dawn after dawn he continued to come home to his Helga, who usually rose from her sleep at the hour he arrived, her children all snugly tucked into their little cots around her, and her round eyes eager for the tales of revelry by night that Alphonse was sure to bring her.

Evening after evening, alone in the little flat on Third Avenue, a cozy enough place done in the chromesque mood of Norwegian communities in Duluth, the joyous picture of Club Boulevarde as Alphonse had etched it for her pressed itself against her eyes.

Not that Alphonse had ever intended to paint a glamorous picture, but just by turning on their little home-made radio and getting the drift of this and that hotel or dance orchestra along the air, Helga could close her eyes after the house was quiet and the children abed, and imagine herself whirling on the arm of one of those New York "scions", who gave one-hundred-dollar tips and, as Alphonse described it, smothered the girls they brought in ermine and green orchids.

Sometimes the quiet little flat, livid under electric light with pink tissue paper wrapped around the bulbs, the bright green velour furniture, the shiny mahogany bed set that had given her such initial happiness, palled horribly on Helga.

They were long evenings. Incredibly listless evenings, even with the radio to redeem them and sometimes the visit of a neighbor from across the hall who had seven children and, for a husband, a motorman, who even with carful watching would sometimes drink away half of his week's earnings before he reached home.

Alphonse's recitals at dawn were the only relief. Helga waited for them. Helga knew by name the most reckless frequenters of Club Boulevarde. Rich young men about town. Movie queens whom Alphonse actually served and before whom he set viands of a rarity Helga's little pink tongue had never even tasted. Sometimes Alphonse brought her home an orchid corsage that had been trampled or a hot-house tangerine that had fallen from a tray.

More than anything in life, Helga wanted to look in upon one of these spectacles. To behold it first hand. To smell of their wines and taste of their delicacies.

Alphonse poo-hooed the idea. Bad enough for one of them to have to live through the sordidness. The hot, fury nights. The tipsy, garrulous nights. The dance floor where couples oozed shoulder to shoulder, so jammed that the dance became a mere gellatinous sway, feet unable to push their way through the maze.

Unconsciously, Alphonse painted his pictures. The girls in the spangled dresses cut to the waist. Low-lidded ecstasy of the dance. Aroma of wine. Whine and rhapsody of saxaphone. Sparkle of conjetti. Love. Lust. Song and desire.

Once in a while the neighborhood woman, for the consideration of a gift of a dish of Helga's delicious strudel or a bit of ribbon, would let her eldest girl, Winona, come and sit in the little flat while Helga ventured out on this or that shopping mission. But for the most part, the days were long and arduous—what with Alphonse at home and sleeping them away in a darkened bed room from which the children must be kept all day—and the evenings were tedious. More and more tedious they became, to the tune of Alphonse's recitals of how frenzied with gaiety the evenings of the rich could be.

While Helga sat listless and bored, there were doings at the Club Boulevarde. Sitting there visualizing the gaiety and the spangled dresses and the scene of the dance and delight, heavy tears would cover Helga's blue eyes. Sometimes she let her head fall forward into her arms and cried.

And always she nagged Alphonse. Helga wanted just a look-in at the spectacle of the gaiety. Helga wanted to see for herself the shimmering women and the men in white shirt fronts that were just like Alphonse's waiter's one and yet so different. So different!

Clod of an Alphonse. He had no feeling about it. He donned his "dickey" of a shirt front that fitted in like a bib, as if it were the beautiful soft linen of an evening shirt. He wore his uniform of service with servility. Sometimes Helga almost hated him.

Well, finally Alphonse, who feared for the arrangement, capitulated, and with Winona at home to watch the children, permitted Helga to accompany him to the Club Boulevarde, finding her a place on a camp chair behind a swinging door so that, unmolested, she might watch the spectacle of night-life through an aperture in the door.

For seven hours Helga sat there. Once Alphonse, hurrying through, in and out, in and out constantly, deposited a plate of delicate food upon her lap and a glass of ginger ale which grew warm as she held it. But the food and drink remained untouched as Helga's fascinated eyes clung to the scene before her. The girls, sure enough in their spangled frocks, cut to the waist in the rear, and their lovely heads like the heads of flowers. The men arriving in their white shirt fronts, most of them with boutonniers. The incredibly lovely drift of snow-white fur coats hanging over the backs of chairs. The yelling mad-cap saxaphone. Confetti. Wine. Colored balloons like those her own children owned, which somehow at home had no glamor. Razzle-dazzle toys. Great bowls of fruits and steaming foods that Alphonse handled with such skill.

For seven hours Helga sat with her eye to the aperture. Long enough to see the flower-like heads of the girls wilt, puff. and grow frowsy. Grow tipsy. Grow drunk. Long enough to see the shirt fronts of the men crumple and bulge. Long enough to see the dance floor become a shambles of dizzy, fumy figures, lolling and drooping.

How alert and tall and decent Alphonse seemed among them. Serving them the drinks he did not consider fit for himself to drink. Pocketing their generous tips, but with only contempt for the faltering fingers that fumbled for the bills.

By five in the morning, the crowded, airless room had the scent and the look of a jungle. A horrible jungle. A den of dead desires.

When Helga and Alphonse came out finally into a morning that was just beginning to pinken with sunrise, the clatter of milk carts met them and over the roofs of the still sleepy city a faint, clean pink trembled.

A clean, fresh day. A clean, fresh world. A clean, fresh Alphonse who belonged to the life of the clean, fresh little flat of chromos.

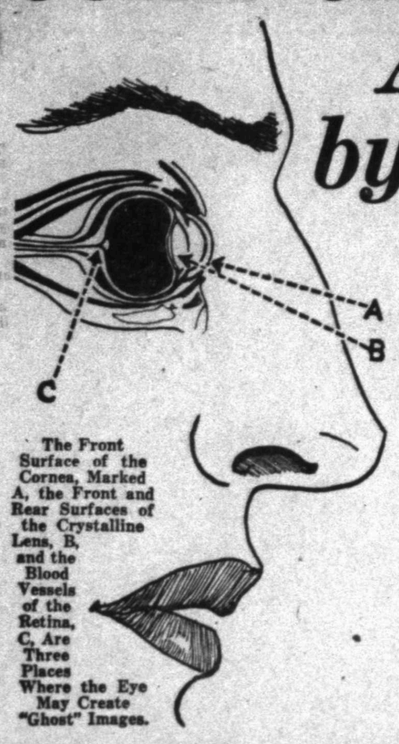

In that flat, clean, fresh children—their children—were sleeping safely and sweetly.

Helga could scarcely wait, as she hurried, with her arms hooked into Alphonse's, to get to them. To kiss them awake. To feel the sweet, fresh reality of the life she shared in her home with them and with Alphonse.

Latest Facts from Science, Mechanics and Invention

SCIENCE Explains How "GHOSTS" Are Really Created by the EYES

The Front Surface of the Cornea, Marked A, the Front and Rear Surfaces of the Crystalline Lens, B, and the Blood Vessels of the Retina, C, Are Three Places Where the Eye May Create "Ghost" Images.

GHOSTS have always had one drawback in the light of careful scientific investigation, for they are usually seen by people who do not want to see them, and almost never by persons who go looking for them. A simple explanation for this is given by a contributor to Popular Mechanics, and also for the ghosts that are heard as well as those that are seen. The visible ghosts, scientific investigators declare, exist only in the eye of the beholder, and the audible ones in his ear.

Everybody, even those who have never claimed to have seen a ghost, has lain awake at night and heard queer sounds, abnormally loud, even though they would have been inaudible to anyone else, because they existed only in the hearer's own ear. The sounds were made by blood pulsing through the veins of the ear. Picked up by the eardrum, which amplifies them just as a radio receiver amplifies an incoming signal, the ear sounds, heard in moments of apprehension or nervousness, can easily be imagined to be the stealthy steps of a burglar or the movements of a more ghostly visitor, particularly if one is sleeping in a centuries-old castle well supplied with ghostly legends.

"As for the ghosts that are seen," says this authority, "they are classified medically as Purkinje images or Sanson specters, both named after their discoverers, and it is in seeing them that the weak light from a candle plays such an important part. Purkinje discovered that under certain conditions the blood vessels in the retina, that film at the back of the eye which is directly connected with the nerve leading to the brain, and which really sees the image focused on it by the eye lens, could produce images of its own. To do that, though, a dim light is necessary, as a bright illumination furnishes so much light that the blood vessels do not cast their shadowy reflections. It is as when one meets an approaching automobile at night. If the car has bright lights on, that flood of light blinds the eye, whereas, if the dimmers are turned on, the retina is able to distinguish all the details of the roadway clearly.

"Like the Purkinje image, the Sanson specter is produced within the eye, either on the front of the eyeball, or on either the front or back surfaces of the crystalline lens, a convex lens like that in a camera, which focuses the image on the retina. When you look through a street-car window under certain light conditions, you not only see the passing buildings outside, but likewise images of the people behind you, or buildings on the opposite side of the street, the images being formed on the window glass. The Sanson specters are something of the same sort, tiny images, usually badly blurred, of things which are at one side, out of the direct line of vision. But the optical nerves, accustomed to placing things they see by their size and relation to other objects, transmit a message to the brain saying that these blurred specters are ahead, and, like the images on the street car window, you can look right through them and see solid objects behind.

"Given a dim candle flame and a condition of nervousness, grief, or even indigestion, it isn't hard to imagine that you are seeing images of ghostly figures, particularly as they appear to be almost transparent, and move and shift position as you move."

According to Dr. Frederick Graves, an English scientist, "ghosts are mostly figments of the subconscious mind that gives us dreams. Certain abnormal states, as when toxic matters linger in the system, produce visions readily; even from errors of diet, a person may have startling revelations.

"That unconscious element that slumbers not and, when unfettered by the will of the conscious mind, can act by itself, as in hypnotism, somnambulism, automatic walking and writing, accounts for many queer things. Those myriad cells on the verge of the gray matter of the cerebrum are always storing impressions, and now and then throw the surplus out, often jumbled together and wildly distorted, as in a nightmare. There are two sides to the brain, and there have been many Jekylls and Hydes in real life."

But despite the scientific laying of the whole ghost story, specters remain popular. Ghost stories are being bought and sold in the London real-estate market as a result of the discovery that old castles with spooky reputations are preferred by buyers, particularly wealthy Americans. Not that the purchasers believe in ghosts, but there is something about owning a home with a tradition of being haunted that makes it worth thousands more, in the estimation of many.

England is well supplied with good ghost stories, and the list is constantly being added to, largely, it is believed, because candles are still extensively used for illumination and the dim light of a candle is very favorable, according to scientists, for producing the condition that leads many persons to assert that they have seen what they really believe are the "ghosts" of former occupants of medieval castles.

How FOOD COLORS Are TESTED

SOME kinds of foods are colored with harmless dyes to make them more inviting to the human appetite. A familiar example is butter, which is sometimes dyed with annatto, a harmless substance obtained from the pods of the bixa plant of Mexico.

Candies are quite generally colored to make them look pretty and more tempting. In a box of bonbons, many colors are represented which are vegetable dyes. They are absolutely harmless. It is this natural dye in the vegetable that gives it its distinctive color.

The United States Government keeps a keen eye on all such dyes and none is permitted to be used that has not been tested and approved. Dyes that have undergone tests satisfactorily are called "permitted" colors. For example, a green dye that is merely chlorophyll, the coloring matter of harmless plants, is obviously unobjectionable. Use of harmful dyes is punishable by law.

A method used in testing such dyes is to try them out on rabbits. Bunny is dosed internally with some of the dye under inquiry. Does it disagree with him? Some of it is painted on his skin, and more of it is introduced beneath his skin. Has it any bad effects? If the rabbit does not react unfavorably to any of these treatments, and the dye is otherwise proved harmless, its use in coloring foods is permitted.

Dyes Used for Coloring Foods Are First Tested on Rabbits by Being Administered Internally, Painted on the Skin of These Animals or Introduced Beneath It. If the Rabbit Suffers No Ill Effects from the Coloring Matter and the Dye Is Absolutely Proved to Be Harmless in Other Ways It Is Then Classified as a "Permitted" Color.

Bathing in "RADIUM" MUD to CURE Various DISEASES

THE mysterious healing power of radium is now enjoyed by taking radio-active mud baths. It has been found that the Beta and Gamma rays, which emanate from this mud, will cure a variety of serious disorders. These rays are closely related to the more familiar X-rays, but can be applied to the human body with perfect safety. It is difficult to use radium as a medicine otherwise, because of the problem of applying it in doses small enough to be harmless. This remarkable radio-active mud, which is found in Germany, is sixty times stronger, it is claimed, than other so-called medicinal muds but the quantity of radium is so microscopic that radium burns are said to be out of the question.

Although radium is a comparatively new discovery its curative powers have been known and used for at least 400 years. In the sixteenth century it was determined that if the mud, found at Johannisthal, were applied to the human body, pain would be relieved. Long after, this region became famous as the principal source of radium in Europe. Several other regions were discovered where the mud had this magical power, and great health resorts sprang up about them.

Mud bathing has recently been reduced to a fine art. The radio-active mud is first ground and chemically prepared. The mud baths are taken amid luxurious surroundings with perfect comfort. The bather first dons a suit of thin, coarse mesh, which entirely covers the body but allows the mud to come in contact with the skin. A cap to cover the hair, especially in the case of women bathers, is worn.

The bather decends into a deep basin filled with a thick solution of the mud, thus completely submerging the body. On emerging from the pool, the bather is washed off by an attendant.

The radio-active mud baths have become a feature of the famous health resorts at Mergentheim, Pyrmont, Orb, Ellsen, Salzschlirf and many other spas in Germany and are regularly taken by thousands of visitors. The baths are, of course, taken according to medical direction. The exact strength of the mysterious radium forces is carefully prescribed, the temperature and other details of the bath arranged to suit the individual bather's needs. Many of the baths are very luxurious and in some cases are even taken to the accompaniment of music.

Dr. Christrics of Geneva has recently conducted a series of experiments which indicate that radio-active mud has, in many cases, effected remarkable cures in a variety of serious diseases.

HOW to MAKE a MICROSCOPE

MOST boys would like to have a magnifying glass, but in many cases they must hold off because it costs so much to buy a factory product. If they had one they could increase their knowledge of insect life and other things. Yet any boy handy with tools can make a simple magnifying glass that will serve his purposes. It can be made from a common spool and a few other materials found about the average home. The accompanying diagram, which is reproduced from the Pathfinder, shows how the finished glass should look. First, select a short spool and bevel the edge of the hole at one end. This end is used for the under side, to which is fitted a small piece of clear glass which is held against the spool by two little hooks. The entire inside of the spool is painted black. A piece of black cardboard is used to cover the top. In the exact centre of this cardboard and the hole in the spool a tiny hole is pricked with a needle or pin.

The stand for this home-made "microscope" can be made of almost any old piece of stiff metal. The stand is then mounted to a heavy piece of wood for a base. The spool arrangement should be fastened to the long arm of the stand, as shown in the diagram, and about two inches from the base. A small hole is drilled into each arm of the metal stand, equal distances from the base. Into these holes is squeezed the opposite corners of a square piece of old mirror. This is to permit the mirror to be tilted at any angle desired to reflect the light up through the hole in the spool.

The "specimen" to be examined should be transparent to give the best results. It is placed upon the piece of plain glass at the bottom of the spool and the latter put into proper position. By tilting the mirror until the light is thrown up through the object on the "slide," then, looking through the pinhole in the black cardboard on top of the "mike," many interesting things about the various insects can be seen that are not visible to the naked eye. The magnifying power and clearness of this instrument depend entirely upon the size of the hole in the cardboard on top. The hole should be made as small as possible. However, it is well to make several of these top pieces with holes of different sizes so that they might be tried until the best one is found for the particular specimen on the "slide."

A Self-Defense Gun

A DISMAL surprise for the enterprising bandit is provided by a "self-defense gun" invented by Manuel W. Howell, of Monroe, La. It is meant especially for use by bank messengers and other persons whose duties require them to carry large sums of money.

The gun is a fixed cylinder containing eight cartridges mounted on a metal disk which is attached by snap fasteners at the front of the user's body, concealed by his buttoned coat. The cylinder or magazine is wound against the tension of a spiral spring, and held by a detent or a ratchet wheel until released by the operator.

A cable, threaded through one sleeve of the operator's coat, leads to the palm of his hand, in which are concealed two small levers, the latter terminating in rings worn on the thumb and little finger. When the levers are pressed toward each other by a light movement of the little finger and thumb, the above-mentioned detent releases the ratchet wheel, causing a cam to strike in quick succession the firing pins that set off the cartridges in the cylinder.

The money-carrier, in response to the bandit's request that he "stick 'em up," promptly obeys. Up go his hands, but when they are uplifted he makes the slight requisite movement of his fingers, and eight bullets are discharged, as if from his stomach, at the robber, in a time not exceeding half a second.

The Gun Is a Fixed Cylinder Containing Eight Cartridges Which Are Discharged by Mechanism Concealed in the Hand of the Bandit's Intended Victim.

LONDON.

WHEN the jocund and fast-stepping baronet, Sir Gerard Arthur Maxwell-Willshire, awoke one fine morning recently to find himself accused by a pretty young assistant to a hairdresser of having "played too rough" with her as the climax of a midnight lark on a country road, there was much wagging of noble tongues and cupping of aristocratic ears in London and its principal environs of fashion.

Sir Gerard, once well known on Broadway and Fifth Avenue, New York City, he being one of the more reckless and picturesque blades of England's younger nobility, it was to be expected that in time he would find himself enmeshed in legal entanglements. Hence there was genuine concern and a great deal of curiosity over the actual details of the incident, all of which were carefully veiled in most newspaper account of the hairdresser's suit.

"Aha!" clucked the wise ones. "The Maxwell-Willshire influence is at work in court. A mighty slender chance of finding out just what Gerry has been up to with such a heavy hand over the mouth of justice. Ah, well, perhaps it's better that way—it might not be good for the rising new generation to know too much!"

But now the truth is out. The details of that hectic night are divulged, not by London newspapers, which seldom bestir themselves to seek scandal, but by the girl herself and there's even more of a smile in the story than had been expected by the most sanguine laugh-hunters.

According to the little hairdresser, she and Sir Gerard had gone out for a night of fun on May 9 of this year, just one day after she had met him at Maidenhead, a suburb. Since he was a real baronet and a noble son of Queen Victoria's favorite family, Jean Olds—for this is the pretty plaintiff's name—saw no reason why she should not spend the evening with him. Let her tell the story as she remembers it, and told it on the witness stand:

"He called for me in his car," she said, "and we went to the Hyde Park Hotel and later to the Carleton, where we had champagne and some cocktails. Then we drove to the Maidstone Hotel, where we had coffee. From the Maidstone Hotel we started on a drive into the country.

"We drove for about half an hour when Sir Gerard stopped the car and told me he wanted to show me a certain spot in a woods along the roadside. I accompanied him, and we had walked a short distance when he seized me by the arms and tied them behind my back. I struggled and finally, after much pain, succeeded in releasing my hands.

"I was furious, but he laughed and seemed to regard the affair as a joke. I knew he had been drinking, so I said nothing, and we sat down for half an hour or so, saying little. The next thing I remember he was trying to push cotton wool into my mouth. I tried to shut my mouth, but he succeeded in forcing some of the cotton wool between my teeth and tying a handkerchief over my mouth, gagging me. He then tied my hands behind my back with a string. Then he said terrible things to me——"

Here, with the consent of the Court, Jean wrote on a bit of paper the things she claimed Sir Gerard had said to her and, blushing furiously and averting her gaze, handed them to a bailiff, who passed them on to the justice. She then proceeded with her revelations.

"While he was talking to me, I succeeded, by carefully manipulating my wrists and fingers so that he could not see what was going on, in freeing myself. But he seized my hands and retied them. Then I worked the gag loose and began to shout for help at the top of my voice. Sir Gerard clapped his hand over my mouth and hissed:

"'If you don't stop shouting, I'll do you in'."

"Do you in" is British slang for "killing you."

"I pleaded with him to take me back to London and eventually he agreed. We walked back to the motor. He started the engine, but then stopped it again and, looking fiercely at me, his brows beetling and his fists clenched, muttered:

"'Now you've got to tear off your clothes'."

"I screamed in terror and he threatened me again. I refused to do as he ordered, and he again told me to tear off my clothes, at the same time moving menacingly toward me. I was so terrified and so helpless that there was nothing for me to do but obey. He forced me to disrobe completely, leaving me not a stitch. Then he smeared me from head to foot with some black stuff, shoe-polish, I learned later, holding my wrists with one hand to subdue my struggles as he did so.

"I screamed again, and again he threatened me. Then he released my wrists, and I ran into the woods, leaving my clothes behind and just wandering about, distracted and helpless. Eventually I reached a house, but I was so ashamed that I waited for a long time before I presented myself. I was taken in, given a bath and my clothes recovered from the roadside where he had thrown them. Later I took a train for London."

Asked, upon cross-examination, if she had disrobed of her own free will, Jean denied the charge indignantly. She said she had not run away when first threatened because it was long past midnight, she was on a road unfamiliar to her and she had no idea of where she might go.

To all of which Sir Gerard Arthur Maxwell-Willshire of the very old and very aristocratic Maxwell-Willshires of Tubbendens Manor, Orpington, Kent, could only look nonplused and mutter:

"I must have been very, very drunk, or else I am being blackmailed—I don't know which."

And then, after some meditation of a decidedly sober character, he added:

"No more liquor for me. When I get a lot I don't seem to know what I'm doing. I'm off it for life."

To Harness the Ocean's Tropic Heat With "Anchored Islands"

300,000 Horsepower Daily from a Single Floating Factory, Is the Remarkable Forecast of a French Scientist.

Principal factors in Prof. Claude's "anchored island," shown above and at right. A: Electric generator; B: Condenser and turbine; C: Evaporator, D: Intake for warm surface water; E: Return pipe from evaporator; F: Return pipe from condenser; G: Cold-water pipe from sea bottom.

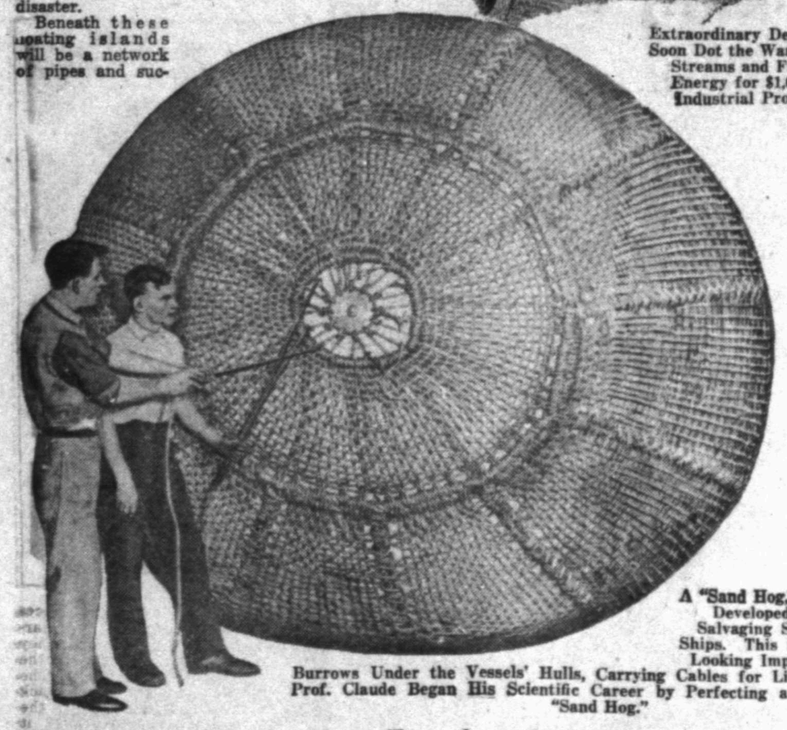

Electric Suction Dredge, Intake Valves of Which Are Schemed Similarly to Those of Prof. Claude's Device.

FLOATING factories, dotting warm southern seas or strung along the tropic stream that washes California's shores and even touches the lower boundaries of British Columbia—this is the newest phenomenon promised by science as a result of the researches of Professor Georges Claude, a young French inventor.

These floating factories will, to be sure, be built on "anchored islands" and the islands, in turn, will be harnessed to the bottom of the sea to prevent their drifting out of the warm zone or getting into the path of some steamship, with consequent disaster.

Beneath these floating islands will be a network of pipes and suction valves, reaching deep into the ocean. The deep pipes will furnish the cold water and the shallow taps the warm water and by a peculiar application of everyday chemistry there will be distilled from these a "thermal energy" that can furnish thousands and thousands of horsepower daily.

Artist Louis Biedermann's Drawing, from Cabled Descriptions, of Prof. Georges Claude's Floating Power Plant. Replicas of This Extraordinary Device May Soon Dot the Warm Ocean Streams and Furnish Energy for $1,000,000 Industrial Projects.

A "Sand Hog," Device Developed for Salvaging Sunken Ships. This Strange-Looking Implement Burrows Under the Vessels' Hulls, Carrying Cables for Lifting It. Prof. Claude Began His Scientific Career by Perfecting a French "Sand Hog."

Even majestic Niagara Falls, with its tremendous power possibilities, and the sun's rays, already harnessed and diverted to man's needs, might pale into insignificance as sources of energy when placed beside these floating islands and the great dynamos to be built upon them. As much as three hundred thousand horsepower per day could be produced with a single plant, Professor Claude believes.

Professor Claude, in explaining his plan before French scientists and industrialists, said:

"The island would be from four hundred to eight hundred meters in diameter, depending upon the manner of factory to be located upon it. There would be docks around the edges, all of capacity sufficient to permit landings by the heaviest freighting ships. In calm weather great barges could be towed to the islands, since they would be but a short distance from the shore, and the movement of their products greatly facilitated.

"In order to make the islands safe, they would be pontoon-supported, that being the best means of rendering any great body buoyant. Anchors would be attached at intervals—say six to the island—by means of great hydropneumatic shock absorbers. These in turn would be made secure on the bottom of the sea. The shock absorbers would eliminate the great strain that would be placed upon the structure by the anchors and any motion that might result from heavy seas would be greatly reduced by them.

"Beneath this island would be a series of pipes, the number depending upon the horsepower of the plant. One would extend only a few feet below the pontoons and would serve as an intake for the tepid water from the surface. This tepid water could be drawn into an evaporating chamber, about which would be a condensing chamber.

"Into this condensing chamber would be drawn the cold water from the bottom of the sea, a much larger pipe being employed for the purpose. The cold water about the evaporating chamber would bring about a sharp reduction in pressure and a consequent development of steam flashes in the evaporating chamber.

"This steam would be led into immense slow-speed turbines, where, after having been condensed by the cold water, it would drive their whirling blades at tremendous speed. From these turbines would be developed gigantic electrical power, as much as three hundred thousand horsepower in a single day from a single plant.

"It would be my plan to operate factories on the islands, but this would not be necessary. It would be a comparatively simple matter to carry the electricity, by pontoon-supported lines, from the islands to the shore and there distribute it.

"It would be impossible to exhaust the supply of power made possible by such a method. There would be no limit to the amount of steam that could be developed and the cost, after the first investment, would be slight."

Professor Claude, with Paul Boucherot, his coworker, exhibited a model of their plant before the French Academy of Sciences, and the learned men of that body acknowledged that the plan was feasible and promised to work a tremendous change in power engineering.

Plans for exacting a toll of power from nature, exclusive of her waterfalls and coal mines, are far from new. For many years experiments in harnessing the sun's rays and diverting them to the industrial concerns of man occupied hundreds of scientists and engineers with the result that in recent years such projects have approached realization with great strides.

A short time ago another young Frenchman, Marcel Moreau, astonished the scientific world with the announcement that he had perfected a device whereby he was able to produce, through the harnessing of the sun's rays, a heat of 15,000 degrees Fahrenheit, of 8,000 degrees centigrade, a point 2,000 centigrades higher than was ever achieved by means of the most powerful electric furnaces.

Fire brick, babbit, mica, diamonds, strips of scrap iron and many other hard substances disappeared in a vapor before the heat of his device, Moreau said. Gold, silver and copper melted within ten minutes, his experiments showed. Babbit stood the intense heat less than one minute before it disappeared completely.

Moreau's device consisted of mirrors within a great open cylinder, the face of which was turned to the sun. By the action of the several mirrors, which concentrated the sun's rays more minutely with each succeeding mirror, the heat was tremendously intensified until it reached a series of lenses, which acted to intensify it to an even greater degree.

These lenses, fixed in the bottom of the cylinder, or receiving bowl, concentrated the heat on the objects to be treated in such a manner as to attain a tremendous centralizing of the heat units over a very small area. The power possibilities of Moreau's device, now accepted as practical and readily applicable to industry, like those in Claude's invention, are virtually unlimited, engineers say.

Because both are dependent upon the sun for their energy, Moreau's and Claude's inventions quite naturally have a scientific affinity. And in order that there may be no doubt about their permanency, scientists have advised the world that the heat of the sun will continue for approximately 15,000 billions of years more, which assures these young men ample opportunity to develop their schemes to the highest degree.

For years the French have pioneered in experiments in harnessing the energy of the sun. Years ago they began working out devices, having the sun's rays as their basis, for increased buoyancy in balloons and other aircraft, and during the World War their scientists perfected many means of diverting the sun's rays to the machines of combat. Many of their mines were dependent upon the action of the sun for their explosions.

A few years ago they began experimenting with a device for "feeding" sunlight to tenement dwellers as a means of combatting disease. After years of study, they developed a process which now has come into general use throughout the world and is beginning to make its appearance in American apartment houses, particularly in New York.

This device is a series of mirrors and lenses by which the sun's rays are caught, deprived of their burning qualities and concentrated on an area in such a manner as to furnish a "sunbath" for apartment house dwellers, or hospital patients, without the necessity of going out of doors, or suffering the irritations of the direct rays of heat.

The device was one of the most significant features of all French hospitals during the war and, through later experimenting, it was so simplified as to be made available for use in private homes. At least two apartment hotels proposed for New York are to be equipped with these devices in each suite and American hospitals are rapidly installing them as the surest means of fighting tuberculosis.

This newest move of French science to discover a means of obtaining power without the necessity of using coal is an outgrowth of the ever increasing coal shortage in European countries. In spite of her concessions from the Ruhr and Saar basins, France is in a ticklish situation insofar as coal is concerned and every discovery that will tend to conserve the supply is hailed as a great national benefit.

Should the plan of Professor Claude prove feasible, the need of using coal to produce power will be virtually eliminated. It would be possible to obtain ample locations for warm and cold water supplies and the matter of extending conduit lines to meet these floating plants in Winter or Summer would not be difficult. Since France is not overly supplied with waterfalls that might be diverted to the production of electric power, the Claude method stands out as the most likely solution of a tremendous economic problem—one that has caused much concern among French industrialists.

MAGIC The Weekly Puzzle Page RIDDLES

Find Two Insects Hidden in This Picture

NATURE enables a great many animals and insects to protect themselves from their enemies by giving them a coloring that blends with their surroundings and makes them difficult to detect readily. Perhaps this drawing offers such an instance. Anyhow, see how quickly you can find the two insects, noted for their industry, which the artist has concealed in the picture.

Two Tongue Twisters

HOW fast can you repeat the following tongue-twisting sentences without making an error?

1. Round, rough, rugged rocks radiant, rich, rapacious rogues rapidly ran ragged rascals raiding a raven's roost.

2. Filipino filibusters find filets of fried fish fine food for fainting felons.

Riddles to Tease Your Brain

1. What has eight fingers and two thumbs, is usually made of skin and yet is both boneless and fleshless?

2. In the alphabet of what nationality does the letter "S" make a title for a woman of rank?

3. What is it that every girl is looking for and never wants to find?

4. Why is everything you buy like a shoe?

5. Why can a hen lay eggs only during the day?

6. What sort of a cravat is most suitable for a pig?

7. In what liquid does a sick woman take her medicine?

8. Why was the whale that swallowed Jonah like a hospitable person?

9. What woman has several mouths and never speaks, and a bed in which she never sleeps?

10. Why should gloves never be sold?

11. What is lighter than a feather yet harder to hold?

12. Why is coffee like a dull knife?

13. What are the most stubborn mountains?

14. When do cows and horses become part of a farm?

15. What weapon is the earth like?

16. Why are big men more likely to be sad than small ones?

17. When is a talkative person like a pig?

18. What color do you name when you are surprised?

19. What coat has no buttons, pockets, lapels or seams?

20. If you should gaze at a waterfall too long what affliction might befall you?

21. When do 2 and 2 equal more than 4?

22. What age is often roughly treated?

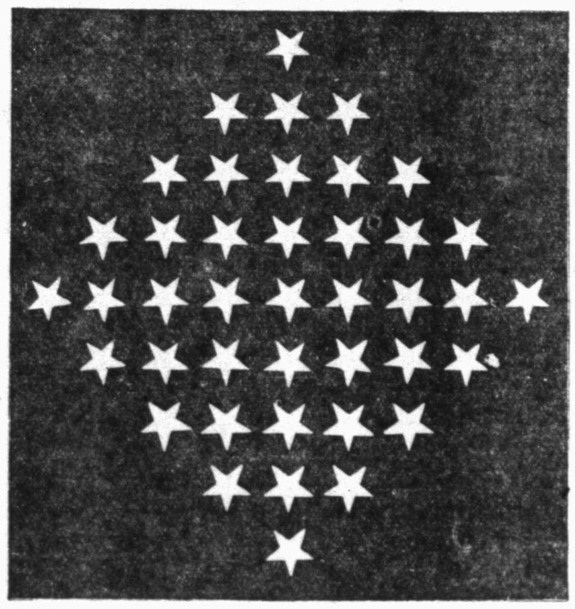

23. What three girls does every sailor have while on board ship?

24. In what way are tears and potatoes alike?

25. What is it that grows out of doors during the Winter and with its roots upwards?

26. Why are birds so greedy?

The Diamond of Stars

EACH of the forty-one stars in this diamond represents a letter of a certain word, a clue to which is given in the following nine definitions: 1. A consonant having two sounds and silent when final after m or l. 2. Lair of a wild beast. 3. Energy. 4. Those who talk idly. 5. An agency for disseminating information. 6. Ornamental dress. 7. Thick, twisted cords. 8. A tame animal greatly loved by children. 9. A letter that is a semi-vowel.

Set down the letters of the correct words as indicated by the stars in the diamond and you will find a word in the form of a cross, which is the name of an object used daily by practically everyone.

A Jumbled Word Square

HERE is a puzzle that will make you exercise your wits. It is a jumbled word square, and its solution consists of rearranging the letters in each of the five rows extending from left to right so that they will spell a real word.

Next rearrange the five words to form a word square; that is, when correctly arranged the letters will spell two words, reading across and downwards.

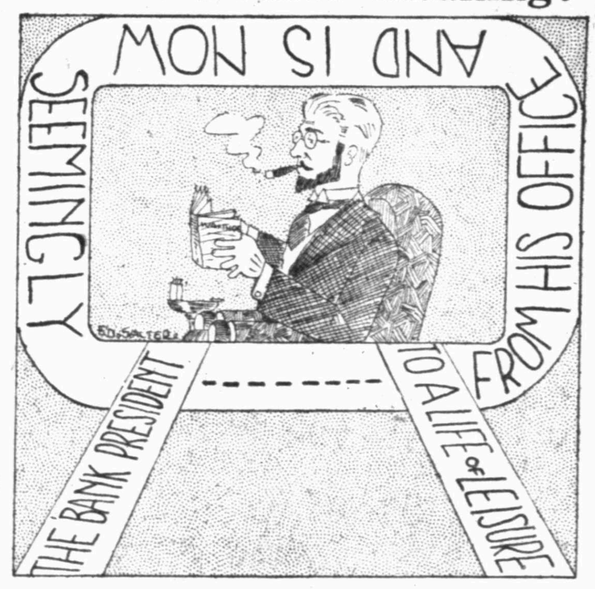

I	N	B	O	R
N	E	R	A	C
E	B	O	N	I
T	E	N	E	R
O	B	T	A	B

Have You Seen Them?

DID you ever see any of the following familiar yet strange things which you are always hearing about?

A blanket for the bed of a river.
A dog in the manger.
A wolf in sheep's clothing.
A bull in a china shop.
A knife with a blade of grass.
A bridle for a nightmare.
A fly in the ointment.
A needle for hemming a sheet of lightning.

What Is the Missing Word with a Double Meaning?

THE eight dashes in the drawing represent a word composed of an equal number of letters and used in such a way that it has two different meanings in the sentence. Can you supply the correct word?

What Did Susie Buy?

SUSIE SANDS is a very independent little girl and likes to earn her own money. So during some of her leisure hours, when she is not busy helping her mother or studying her lessons, she runs errands for the neighbors or minds their babies. In this way she earned four dollars, which she saved to buy some things she needs.

Here you see Susie doing some "window shopping" and figuring out just what articles on display she can buy with her four dollars. Each article is marked in plain figtres. Name what Susie can buy and the price of each article.

Krazy Kut

EACH of the odd-shaped pieces are to be cut out and rearranged in such a way that they will form the figure of one of the world's most curious animals. The figure is not composed of the black pieces themselves, but when the pieces are correctly assembled it will appear as a white silhouette.

An Orange Trick

THE amateur magician first shows his audience an orange the skin of which, upon inspection, appears apparently, to be unbroken. The conjurer next picks up a fruit knife and cuts the orange in halves, which are shown to the spectators who are suprised to find a coin buried in the center of the fruit. Everyone immediately wants to know how the coin got inside the orange without breaking the skin. Here is the secret:

The magician first sticks the coin on one side of the knife blade with soap and puts the knife on the table coin-side down.

After the orange has been inspected by the audience the conjurer picks up the knife and showing only the bare side of the blade to his friends, divides the fruit, inserting the blade almost to the point where the coin has been stuck to the knife blade. As soon as the orange is sufficiently cut he then inserts the blade to the hilt and at once squeezes together the halves of the orange as he withdraws the knife. In this way the coin is detached from the blade and remains inside the orange.

Take a Coast-to-Coast Motor Car Tour

A LARGE party of tourists who live in the Pacific Coast states met in San Francisco and planned a motor car trip that would take them through various sections of the country with New York City as the end of the tour.

In order to make a number of side trips and visit many interesting points, stop-overs were arranged in seven cities indicated by numbers on the map.

Trace on the accompanying map the route of the touring party through the cities in the order as shown by the numbers and give the name of each city.

Solve the Spy's Message

DURING the war a spy was captured. When he was brought to headquarters and searched the strangely lettered double circle shown at the left was found on him. After much difficulty it was deciphered. There was no clue, except that the hand seemed to point to A as the beginning of a sentence, and that the Roman III indicated the sequence of the letters. Can you solve it?

When Death Played For the Dance

How the Brilliant Career of Maurice Mouvet, the Celebrated Dancer, Was a Constant Struggle Against Disease and Other Heartbreaking Misfortunes

Maurice and the former Eleanor Ambrose, his last partner-wife, whose loyalty and love comforted him on his death-bed

Gliding gracefully across the stage, or the ballroom floor, Maurice seemed to his thousands of admirers the happiest man in the world, for he had fame and wealth and the fairest of young women for partners. But he was in the depths of misery, for he knew that he was dancing to the music of Death and that every step took him nearer to the grave

MAURICE MOUVET, the dancer, died a few weeks ago in a quaint old country house on a dairy farm high in the hills of Switzerland.

And then the tens of thousands who had enjoyed his marvelous spirit and skill and grace upon the dance floor learned something about the lithe, dark-eyed master of rhythm most of them had never even suspected. Maurice, the dancer, died of tuberculosis, and he had been relentlessly haunted by the "White Plague" most of his dancing days.

That was the explanation of his periodic disappearances from the clubs and cabarets and theaters of Paris and New York. He went away to rest. To build up his frail, suffering body to withstand the demands of his fiery, impetuous, impatient spirit.

For years the greatest male dancer of his time danced to the tune of a musician invisible and inaudible to everyone but himself—and that musician was Death. For years his slender frame was wracked and torn and weakened by the constant ravages of the dreaded "White Plague."

Ever since 1920 he had been fully aware of his condition, suspected that his final bow was only a matter of a few short years, yet he had danced on with the optimism that is often the hall-mark of the consumptive, and the feverish enthusiasm that is the distinguishing characteristic of the artist born.

When he felt his time getting short, last fall, Maurice Mouvet informed the management of the Club Mirador in New York that he would have to end his engagement there. His last dance in that temple of mirth will not soon be forgotten. When it was over, Maurice, the dancer, went back to his native France, without taking any of his many American friends into his confidence as to his condition.

In France, he was equally taciturn. He did not stop in Paris, where he made his reputation more than 10 years ago, and from which he was lured by the big salaries paid artists in America. He went, instead, to his Swiss dairy farm, a modest and not expensive little place not far from Lausanne. When he bought it, with his cabaret earnings a few years ago, Maurice laughingly told his friends he wanted a place for his old age, and pictured himself doddering about the farm at 70, telling the urchins of the neighbors of his triumphs when he was young. The farm is as near a replica of that French farm on which Maurice was born about 1888 as landscape gardeners and architects could make it.

"I've come back to my own rooftree to rest," he told the villagers. "After a while, I shall be strong again, and return to the dance floor. Not to America, where they want nothing now but the Black Bottom. But I shall dance again. Never doubt it."

Even as he said it, the dancer must have known it was not to be. His frame was wasted. Unnatural perspiration had beaded his brow as he danced at the Mirador. His eyes had that strange light that comes to the eyes of people who have burned themselves out living, and on whose shoulders the finger of the white angel of consumption has been laid.

Leonora Hughes, Maurice's third partner, who nearly broke his heart when she left him to marry a wealthy Argentinian

When Maurice went back to the peaceful rural environment from which he came, he did it realizing that the days of his glory were over. So, at the end, after living and being and playing in smoke-filled cabarets and under the incandescents, he died amid green fields. So, at the end, the greatest of dancers heeded the tune of the spectral musician that had played for his dance for years.

If any man ever was an artist, in the true sense of the word, Maurice Mouvet was, and in his private, inner life he had all the unhappiness and frustration that so often are the lot of the man who is an artist in his soul. Much as he was applauded, fine as were his performances, Maurice the dancer was never quite satisfied with his own achievements, and was always burning up his slender supply of nervous energy trying for greater heights.

And his partners! They were at one and the same time the joy and bane of his existence.

Whole books might be written about Maurice, the dancer, and his partners. The care with which he selected them. The heartbreaking thoroughness with which he trained them, instilling into them some of his own fire, imparting to them some of his own skill.

Some of them he loved, and married. Some of them he loved and wanted to marry, and they married other men.

Always, when that happened, the temperamental star wept loudly and bitterly, threw his arms toward high heaven, swore he would never take the trouble to train another girl. Always, of course, he picked up the shattered pieces of his heart, and the loose ends of his life, got another partner and went on. For Mouvet was an artist. And not to dance was not to live.

Little is known of the early life of Maurice. There is probably little to be known. He was a country boy, reared on a farm. He had a brother, Oscar. When in their twenties, they went to Paris, where Oscar was to become the Tex Rickard of the cabarets, a high-powered promoter of entertainment, and Maurice was to become the finest dancer of the decade.

In the years just after the World War, Maurice shot upward into fame in Paris, and his services were in great demand at the expensive cabarets. He got money he never dreamed of as a country boy, and considered himself on the pinnacle of the world. Then American promoters heard of him and brought him to America to amuse the entertainment-hungry millions who had the price to pay.

Joan Sawyer was his first partner. He fell in love with her even while he was teaching her the intricacies of his complicated steps. He proposed to her, and got the first taste of frustration when she declined to become Mme. Mouvet.

Maurice comforted himself by thinking that in time her heart would soften, and in the meantime she was his dancing partner, and he was privileged to hold her in his arms every evening, even if it was all part of a show for the crowds in the cabarets. Then she informed him that she had changed her mind and was ready to be married, but not to him. And Maurice's first partner was his partner no more.

"Is it not terrible?" he cried to the universe in unrestrained and unashamed grief. "To lose the girl you love and a dancing partner at the same time. To lose the one is bad enough. If you lose a partner you can carry on somehow. If you lose a sweetheart, you can keep your heartache to yourself. But to lose both at one blow! Alas, I was born unlucky."

For a time he was disconsolate, but then he found a second partner, who was Florence Walton. In the beginning they were partners only, then he found himself taking a warmer interest in her, and about the time the public accepted her as a worthy successor to Joan Sawyer as an artist, she and Mouvet were married.

"We are much in love," explained Maurice. "And it is a good arrangement in other ways. No other man can marry her, and obviously she will not act as the dancing partner of a rival of her husband." But he gloated too soon, for their married life was not one of unalloyed pleasure, and eventually Florence divorced him and married another man.

Leonora Hughes, Partner Number Three, was in some ways the best known of all the girls made famous by association with the master of rhythm. She was a dancer of the sort usually described as "having a great deal of promise" when she met Maurice, and her destiny was changed.

Memories of Florence and Joan faded from his mind and Leonora became to him the most desirable and adorable of young women. Her principal qualification as a partner was her ability to meet the moods of Maurice and their work together was remarkable.

With past experiences in mind, Maurice seemed to have decided to keep his friendship with Miss Hughes on a high platonic plane, although friends put their tongues in their cheeks when he assured them he felt toward his diminutive partner as a brother ought to feel.

"I have tried love with Joan, and marriage with Florence," he elaborated. "And both times I lost my dancing partner. With Leonora it will be platonic affection. It will work. You will see."

Leonora, however, had no intention of remaining always the platonic friend and partner and inspiration of Maurice Mouvet, a sort of little saint set in a stained glass window for him to bow down before. Maurice was the only man in cabaret and club circles in New York who did not know she was being favored with a much warmer and more earthly affection by Don Carlos Ortis Basualdo, a wealthy Argentinian.

Florence Walton, the partner who became Mme. Mouvet only to end their dancing triumphs and their romance in the divorce court

When she told Maurice it was time for him to be looking about for another partner, he was desolated. Looking like a chief mourner, he attended the wedding. He wept through the service. Leonora kissed him in sisterly fashion as she passed down the aisle. Don Carlos patted his shoulder comfortingly, but Maurice would not be comforted.

After the disappearance of Leonora on her honeymoon, the dancer began to cast about for a new partner, and finally made some business arrangement with Barbara Bennett, a talented dancer, and a member of a very famous theatrical family.

"I have tried friendship, love and marriage to hold partners," said he. "This time it is strictly business. I shall not let myself think of Miss Bennett as a friend, sweetheart or wife. Only as a business associate. It is the only way for one of my disposition."

Joan Sawyer, who became world famous as Maurice's first partner and who spurned his love to marry another man

Miss Bennett had been dancing for some time, to her own satisfaction, and that of a large circle of admirers.

M. Mouvet found her not as docile or satisfactory as Leonora, and took the liberty to tell her so. There were spats. At last he made up his mind she did not have enough fire in her dancing and got really severe in his criticism. One night, after a performance that fell short of what he wanted, he "gave her a fine bawling out," as she afterward said, and she grew tired of Maurice and told him he was fired.

Then it was learned that in spite of his eminence as a dancer, the contract with the Lido was in Barbara's name, and she continued to dance with her new partner, Billy Reardon, while Maurice hunted still another partner and a place to work.

His last partner seems to have given the temperamental Maurice some comfort, and was by his side when he died.

She was Eleanor Ambrose. Maurice found her in Kansas, trained her, and married her. Unlike the others, she realized most of his temperament was caused by suffering, and bore it quietly. So at the last Maurice, who had reason to complain of the fickleness of woman, faded out of the limelight and the world with a loyal, loving partner-wife at his side.

Lovely Party Given For Nashville Guest At J. I. Staley Home

Among the many lovely affairs given in honor of Mrs. J. LeRol Harper Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., who has been the popular house guest of Mrs. John W. Harris Jr., none proved more delightful than the bridge party given Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Staley at their home on Rose avenue.

A color scheme in orchid and pink was featured in the decorations of garden flowers and candles, and eight tables were arranged for the games. Ray Arnold won the high score among the men, a cigar container, and Glen Kincaid was consoled for low with a lovely bridge set. Miss Vera Hale made high among the women guests, and received a Dresden figure. Mrs. J. E. Hall was consoled for low, with a needle point tray, and the guest of honor was remembered with pretty Dresden figures. Cut favors were miniature Italian Mosaic picture frames.

An ice course was served to Mesdames J. LeRoy Harper, Ida Overstreet, Anna Owen, and Messers and Mesdames Glen, Lynn and Tom Kincaid of Burkburnett, John W. Harris Jr., Chester Wynne, D. L. Fritz, Claude Gilcrish, J. E. Hall, W. L. Hawkins, Dan Rubsam, Misses Vera Hale, Bernice Hindman, and Messrs. Ray Arnold, Tim Thompson, Frank Bolin, Allen Motter, Jean Brickmiller and Morgan of Fort Worth.

Mrs. McCoy Hostess To Thursday Bridge Club

Mrs. O. D. McCoy was hostess to the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club and a few guests at a "kitchen party Thursday morning. All wore kitchen dresses and enjoyed the hours playing bridge.

Mrs. James P. Bowen won the high score favor, a set of cooking knives, forks and spoons, and Mrs. Hubert Barr won the second prize, a half dozen custard cups. Miss Frances Dashner was presented the guest favor, a flower bowl, and Mrs. W. J. Whatley of Seminole, Okla., and Mrs. L. E. Erwin of Fort Worth, out of town guests, were remembered with pretty gifts.

A two course luncheon was served to Mesdames Whatley, Erwin, Franklin, Henderson, Eugen Graham, Louis Abernathy, Hubert Barr, George Keith Jr., Grady Payne, J. P. Bowen, Dick Cocke, Joe Farabee, Van Lesley, Shadie Hale, and Misses Elizabeth Smith, Ruth and Eleanor Stovall and Frances Dashner.

Walther League Has Hard Time Party

Members of the Walther league of St. Paul's Lutheran church enjoyed a novel entertainment in the basement of the church Tuesday evening, in the form of a "hard time" party. Mrs. C. M. Beyer received the first prize for the most characteristic costume.

Refreshments were served to the Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Beyer, Misses Frieda Serrien, Margaret Boust, Llewellyn Weeth, Dora Rathke, Linda Serrien, Leona Thom, Marie Rathke, Clara Boust, Eva Schultz, Betty Nuss, Gertrude Birkman, Esther Krottinger, Ruth Fienhold, La Verne Kuehn, Alma Holtzen, Flora Rathke and Messrs. Vogtsberger, Henry Rathke, Carl Rathke, Carl Rathgeber, Emanual Bernhardt, Carl Keuhn, Edward Rathgeber, Walter Fienhold, Gilbert Fahrenkamp, Paul Bernhardt, Robert Rathgeber, Eldor Jeske, Will Krottinger, Raymond Krottinger, Noel Evans and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roenfelt.

Minnie Evelyn Bass Celebrates Birthday

A group of children were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. G. S. Bass, 1511 Kemp boulevard Thursday afternoon, when the ninth birthday of little Miss Minnie Evelyn Bass was observed with a pretty party. Readings, piano solos and folk dances furnished diversion, and punch was served throughout the afternoon.

An ice course was served to Mary Joe and Virginia Jane Lawrence, Blanche and Mary Penick, Elizabeth Perkins, Phoebe Jane Chenault, Jean Elizabeth and Lucile Hodge, Jeanette Beckhart, Modena Earle Long, Artineva King, Pauline Aynes, Pauline King, Ruth Tucker, Arch Tucker Jr., Josephine Smith and Margaret Keith Breneman.

Mrs. Ballew Hostess To Alathean Class

Mrs. H. J. Ballew was hostess to the Highland Heights Baptist Alathean Sunday school class at her home Thursday afternoon. Decorations of cut flowers were used throughout the reception suite, and members of the Amoma class presided at the guest register and also served punch.

Road Bond Meetings— Camp Fire Girls—
And Summer Visitors— To wTo Be Charming—
Busy Times for Wichita— You Answer, Kitty—

THIS has been a big week, Kitty, for while you were celebrating the return of the conquering hero, Colonel Charles Lindbergh, we were equally busy holding road bond meetings and giving parties for summer visitors. And while some of our most popular ones have departed after winning their way into the hearts of all who met them, others are coming in on every train, and the rounds of parties, luncheons and dances are going merrily on. Two charming girls furnishing inspiration for some of the most delightful affairs given recently, were Frankie Nash and Rebecca Voiers of Kaufman, who spent two weeks with Mrs. A. R. Dillard. Parties for these visitors were almost every day occurrences, and their names were included with other visitors as honorees at some of the largest affairs of the past month.

Others who are still here and for whom many lovely parties are being given, are Lucy Allen Andrews of Kansas City, Mo., guest of Martha Ellen Hines, Mary Dolores Welder of Victoria, Texas, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. G. Criley, Gayle Brown of Frederick, Okla., guest of Helen Box, Sadie Jackson of Dallas, guest of Mrs. A. M. Gaunt, Virginia Bryan of Lake Charles, La., who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Bryan are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Larkin and Icy V. Larkin, Madalyn Joines of Brownwood, guest of Margaret Smith, Hazel Alexander of Mabank, Texas, guest of her sister, Mrs. Earl Pickle, and Lorena Pace of Frederick, Okla., guest of Mrs. W. S. McAfee.

NOR has the half yet been told along the line of visitors, for on Friday, two more lovely girls were added to the list, when Noima Clay of Houston, and Esthma Alderson of Electra, arrived to spend some time with Doris Bradley. And then the first of this week, Alma Willis will return from a visit with Gertrude Melat in Fort Worth, and Dell and Frances Bacon (the Bacon twins) at Dallas, and will bring the twins home with her for a visit. They are well known here in the younger set and their visit is being looked forward to with pleasure.

A cordial welcome is also being extended Mrs. John Barnard, a recent bride, who has returned from her wedding tour to points in South Texas, and Friday, Mesdames Eugene Clark and Anderson Kemp Jr., introduced her to a bevy of the younger matrons at a lovely luncheon given at the Wichita club. Mrs. Barnard is a Palestine girl who is already well known here where she visited Retta Barnard on numerous occasions before her marriage.

And when I mention brides, I know you will think we have had our share of them. For there has been as many as there are June roses, and they just keep on plighting their troth and having more showers than ever April sent, and still I believe they don't intend to do it all up in the month of brides and roses hither, for from rumors I hear, they're going well into July, and not even the glorious Fourth will put a stop to the march to the altar.

* * *

COMING home to lend zest to the summer activities, are more than 70 Camp Fire Girls and while some have already returned others went to Craterville last week, and the road from Wichita Falls to the mountain resort was constantly traversed by trucks and cars filled with girls in white middies and black skirts.

Camping in true pioneer fashion has been done by more than 50,000 Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts this summer, according to Miss Louise Price, secretary of the national department of Girl Scouts and the girls at Craterville have had a wonderful time. The water was too cold for them to enjoy much swimming when they first went up there, but the latter part of their stay was made more delightful by the swimming contests and water sports, added to hikes, tennis and many other diversions.

* * *

BUT speaking of so many visitors coming and going, reminds me of the all important question these days, "How to be charming?" We admire the persons who are so winsome in their manners that we feel uplifted after having been in their presence. Recently a friend told me of a guest in her home whom she declared possessed all the qualities that we class as charm and said that everyone to whom she was introduced, was fascinated by her. After describing her physical beauty, she said:

"It was with interest that I watched her every move—she was so utterly unconscious of self. Never a moment did she direct the conversation on her own plans or dreams or interest of self. One minute she was telling some very clever incidents in the lives of those whom she knew, soon afterwards she was discussing some important problems of the day and at intervals she was directing conversation to different individuals in the room on events vital in their lives.

"Someone asked her to play the piano, so that the living room group might gather around and sing. She quickly answered by saying, 'Oh, I am no musician at all, but if my playing will give you any pleasure, I shall be glad to make the attempt.' And the whole evening was one of laughter, joy and song. She had made it so. When she left, everyone who met this visitor, said, 'Well she is certainly charming'."

Soon afterwards I was reading some questionnaires on "Charm." The first asked was: "What is your secret ambition—the one you never talk about? What have you done to realize this ambition?"

Often we think more about the person who does little talking. There is a certain glamor of mystery about that type of person.

Other questionnaires asked were, "Are your day dreams centered entirely on yourself? "What is the real cause of the moody fits of depression you have?"

Another question which causes us to ponder is, 'How many friends have you who can be counted on in a pinch?" "What kind of a friend are you? Are you envious? Do you like people? Are you a good listener? Do you find it a bore when somebody asks you to do them a favor? Are you constantly asking favors of other people? Do you talk too much about yourself? Are you conceited? If you were giving a party would you pick yourself as first choice of a guest to be asked? Are you ready to give more than you get?"

These are just a few things for you to consider, Kitty, if you are thinking of going a visiting, and when you solve all of this you can mail your answers to your friend—

Store Employes Enjoy Picnic On Beach

Employes of the W. T. Grant store enjoyed a picnic at Sand Beach Wednesday evening. A Weiner roast added to the pleasure of the evening and dancing and swimming were also diversions. In a bathing beauty contest, Mrs. Y. Riding won the first prize, and Miss Christine Williams, second.

In the party were Misses Louise Kroeger, Leona Hunt, Genelle Davidson, Christine Williams, Dovie Lee Brown, Emma Jean Brown, Lillian Jones, Arline Jackson and Mesdames Margie Gray, Velma Putnam, Anna Hall, Ira Ezzell and Y. Riding.

IN THE PICTURES

Of interest to Wichita Falls friends, is the marriage of Miss Estellyn Allday to Walter Achning of Houston which will take place in Dallas Wednesday. The bride-elect was reared in this city, and the approaching nuptials were announced at a lovely party given by Mrs. N. E. Roberts, grandmother of Miss Allday, while she and her mother, Mrs. Mamie Allday, were guests of relatives here.

* * *

Eloise and Jimmy Curtis are five and seven years old, and are unusually talented. They were seen recently in a recital given by expression and dancing pupils of Miss Ella Merle Mathis, and received prizes for having the most complete and attractive note books kept during the year. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. J. A Curtis.

* * *

Miss Madalyn Joines of Brownwood is the charming guest of Miss Margaret Smith. She was honoree at one of the most elaborate parties of the summer given at the Country club by her hostess, and has furnished inspiration for numerous informal affairs.

* * *

Miss Neva Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Black, is attending the Gamma Phi Beta sorority convention at Macinac Island, Mich., where she was sent as a delegate from the chapter at the University of Oklahoma. She was joined in Tulsa, Okla., by Miss Katheryn Younger.

Greek Letter Societies Well Represented By Residents of Wichita

If there's one group of girls more than another that have a good time both during school and in vacation time, it is the members and pledges of sororities. And there are probably more sorority girls in Wichita Falls than in any other city of its size in Texas considering that it is not the home of a dniversity. Six of the best known organizations in the United States are represented here, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Chi Omega, with the Kappas leading in membership.

Two Wichita Falls girls are attending sorority conventions as delegates and will spend the remainder of June at these affairs. These are Neva Black, who went to Macinac Island, Michigan, where she was sent by the Gamma Phi Beta chapter of the University of Oklahoma, and Helen Grisham, who will represent the Pi Beta Phi chapter from S. M. U. Dallas, at the biennial convention at Breezy Point Lodge at Pequot, Minn., and not only do these girls attend wonderful conventions during the vacation season, but flit from one house party to another among their sorority sisters which make the long summer days spent in various cities, one continual holiday with the hours filled with delightful bridge parties, luncheons and teas not to mention the informal swimming parties and picnics in the evening.

Helen Snider, a Kappa Kappa Gamma girl, has had her share of entertaining and being entertained this summer, and has recently returned from a short stay in Fort Worth where she accompanied her friend, Gertrude Melat home, after Gertrude spent several days here, her former home. Ina Merle Robinson, a Pi Beta Phi pledge at the University of Oklahoma, has recently returned home after attending a series of house parties at Oklahoma City and Fort Worth, and was also one of the hostesses to a group of college girls who visited here en route to their various homes. And Lillian Randle is another sorority girl, a member of the Chi Omega chapter of the state university, who attended an enjoyable house party in Laredo before coming home for the vacation.

An alumnae association is being planned by the Wichita Falls Kappa Kappa Gammas and a chapter has been applied for and local Kappas who are no longer in college, including young and middle aged matrons, will have their memories of school days refreshed once a week during the fall and winter season by having weekly luncheons.

Kappa pledges are Wilton Wade, Ethel Moran, Catherine Moore, Margaret Smith, Ruth Morrison, Lucille Smith and Mesdames G. G. Criley, Britt Cranfill, Wilbur Cahoon and John Willis formerly of this city now living at Pampa. Members are Mesdames Raymond Myers, Fred Elbert, Tenu Sorey, C. W. Snider, Robert Collier, Gordon West, Almond Gates, and Misses Davida Oellinger, Helen Snider, Nancy Jane Harlin, Anabel Couper, Helen Knotts, Ruth Moore, Elizabeth Carrigan and Mary Jo Kell. The list of rushees who will leave here this fall from the Junior college, has not yet been announced.

The Pi Beta Phi is one of the largest chapters represented in Wichita Falls, and the membership includes Elva Killingsworth, Fern Sides, Helen Grisham, Dorothy Campbell, Elizabeth Brown, Margaret Lewis, Mrs. Jimmy Allred, Q. B. Lee, Mrs. Charles McGaha and Ina Merle Robinson, the latter a pledge at the University of Oklahoma.

And Kappa Alpha Theta, the oldest national sorority in existence established in the year of 1870, is well represented in Wichita Falls. With an active membership list of 14 active members, a club has been formed, and many lovely social affairs are enjoyed by the local chapter. A feature of the Theta club is the monthly luncheon given during the social season. Wichita Falls members include Mesdames J. T. Montgomery and her daughter, Mrs. Stayton Bonner, Lanton H. Cullen, Carroll Sherman, Leslie Stringer, J. B. Hatchitt, Orville Bullington, John O'Donohoe, Everett McCullough, O. B. Kiel, Curtis Atkinson, and Miss Mary Lindley, and pledges are Mesdames Anderson Kemp Jr. and Fajl stokes.

While definite plans have not yet been made for "rush week" which begins at state university about September 12, and continues until the opening of school, sorority girls, especially the pledges, are already beginning to look forward to this most delightful experience—their first round of entertainment in a sorority house, and members, all of whom act as hostesses during this series of parties and introducing of new girls, are already thinking of the important event, and those who are no longer in college are looking forward with enthusiasm to this week of association with former school mates.

Children Examined At Day Nursery

Forty-three children were examined at the clinic held at the Day nursery Thursday and Friday mornings, and plans have been made to hold them every three months. A record is filed of the children examined, and follow up work will be done. Physicians donating their services, were Drs. A. D. Patille, R. E. Hilburn and J. M. Whitworth.

The clinic was under the supervision of Mrs. Knox Finley, president of the Federated Missionary society, assisted by Misses Rosa Lee Harkins, Red Cross nurse; Mary Southerland, Red Cross nutritionist; Mrs. W. N. Ferrell, matron at the nursery, and Mesdames W. B. Chauncey and J. N. Sherrill.

Mrs. Cook Honoree At Pretty Shower

Mrs. R. E. Cook was complimented with a pretty surprise shower Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. S. Allday. In the contests, prizes were won by Mesdames A. N. Johnson and I. S. Smith.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames C. B. Higginbotham, C. R. Higginbotham, T. R. Bennett, Johnson, R. L. Mansell, Ralph Lindsey, Lloyd Dunn, R. G. McClung, T. M. Smith, I. S. Smith, C. L. Anderson, W. E. Raines, Jessie Raines, V. Dove, I. M. Littrell, L. V. Moody, C. B. Owens, W. A. Johnson and Misses Hazel Pratt of Corsicana, Hazel Allday, Rae Littrell and Daisy Smith.

Marriage of Miss Vera Cain to Take Place July First

Complimenting Miss Vera Cain, whose marriage to Russell Barnes Kerbow of Lubbock, is announced to take place July 1, Mrs. J. D. Metcalf entertained with a delightful party at her home, 2125 Avenue G, Wednesday evening. Decorations of garden flowers were used, and dancing and "42" furnished the diversion.

At the close of the evening, the hostess presented the honoree with a pretty gift.

A buffet luncheon was served to Messrs. and Mesdames M. T. Clements, J. S. Crumpler, J. D. Metcalf and Misses Dorothy Clements, Katherine and Lillian Hudson, Vera Cain, Mesdames V. W. Cain and T. F. Smith, and Bobbie and David Metcalf and little Miss Vollie Jean Cain.

Announcement Made Of Wedding July 19 Of Virginia Lomax

Announcing the approaching marriage of her daughter, Virginia, to Carroll Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maxwell, Mrs. P. G. Lomax entertained with a lovely bridge party at her home Thursday afternoon. A color scheme of pink and white was featured in the decorations, and Shasta daisies were used in profusion. Wedding bells were also noted on the score pads, tally cards and the motif was further carried out in the refresment course.

As the guests entered, they were presented a booklet entitled "The Old Story", which contained pictures of the bride and bridegroom elect, and the date of the approaching nuptials, July 17.

Four tables were arranged for the games in which Mrs. D. L. Fritz won the high score favor, and Miss Georgia Maxwell was consoled for low. Both received pieces of dainty silk lingerie. Mrs. Edwin Weldon won the cut prize, a pottery candle stick holder.

An ice course was served to Misses Catherine and Mary Dobson, and Ellen Castleberry of Vernon, Georgia Maxwell, Helen Holder, Dorothy Dale, Katheryn Marcus, Fern Sides, Vera Hale, Josephine Cummings, and Mesdames Dick Carpenter, Henry Shaw, D. FOAM COSTLIER

Price of Beer Climbs As Judge Clamps Down Bar

By Universal Service.

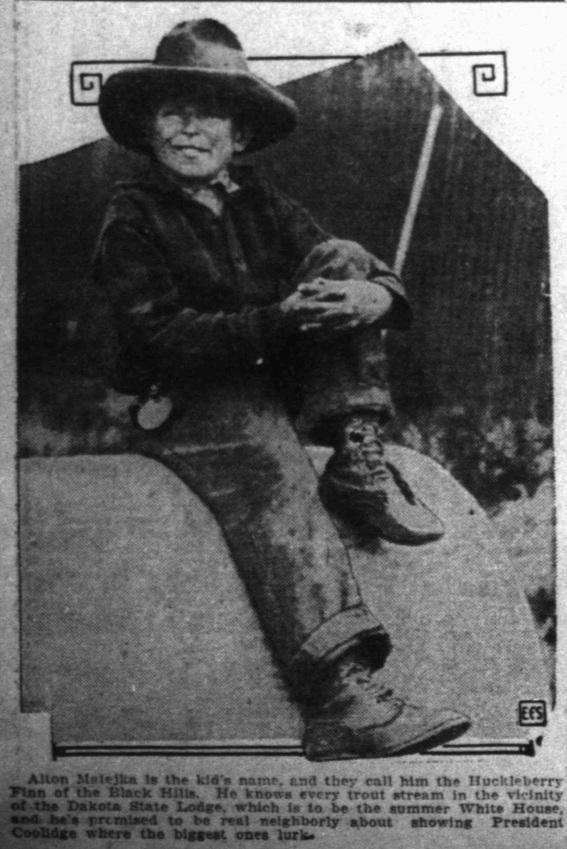

SAN ANTONIO, June 25.—Since Federal Judge Duval West fined two merchants for displaying and selling equipment needed in the manufacture of home brew, the price of the brew has been jumped by professional brewers.

Thirsty customers who planked down 25 cents on the barrel head for a cold bottle of beer today were asked by bartenders to add another dime to the sum.

"Since the dry agents launched their war on home brew aparatus dealers our trade has brown thirstier and thirstier," the barkeeps said.

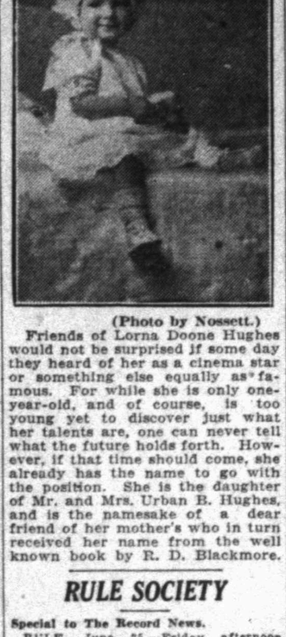

"Supply and demand warrants the increase," they added.

He'll Be Neighborly

Alton Matejka is the kid's name, and they call him the Huckleberry Finn of the Black Hills. He knows every trout stream in the vicinity of the Dakota State Lodge, which is to be the summer White House, and he's promised to be real neighborly about showing President Coolidge where the biggest ones lurk.

Young Wichita Falls

Friends of Lorna Doone Hughes would not be surprised if some day they heard of her as a cinema star or something else equally as famous. For while she is only one-year-old, and of course, is too young yet to discover just what her talents are, one can never tell what the future holds forth. However, if that time should come, she already has the name to go with the position. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban B. Hughes, and is the namesake of a dear friend of her mother's who in turn received her name from the well known book by R. D. Blackmore.

RULE SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

RULE, June 25.—Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock the T. E. L. class of the Baptist church honored Mrs. M. W. Rogers with a pretty lawn party at the home of Mrs. L. W. Jones. An interesting program, consisting of music and readings was rendered. Mrs. Rogers has been an efficient teacher of the T. E. L. class for the past six years and to show their appreciation for Mrs. Rogers, the class presented her with a beautiful floor lamp. The hostess, assisted by Mesdames Homer Chambers, A. Buchtein, C. E. Leon and Audie Verner served a lovely salad course to the following guests: Mesdames Luther Rose, Dee Cannon, Charlie Fouts, W. A. Williams, A. B. Arnett, John May, O. E. Reese, Claude Ashley, Roy Chambers, M. T. Raybourn, W. L. Arrington, Earnest Hunt, Elgin Carothers, John Behringer, John Herron, Claude Norman, Clarence Ray, Elmer Turner, Less Lewis, A. C. Jobe, Jasper Cole, Billie Hills, Winifred Cole, Joe Cloud, Hartwell Smith, C. E. Ball, Carl Howell, Luther Watson, Miss Ina Mae Henry and the honoree.

Dallas Visitor Honored With Social.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Davis honored the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis of Dallas, with a pretty lawn social Monday evening. The spacious lawn was brilliantly lighted for the occasion and the veranda was decorated in a profusion of ferns, pot plants and summer flowers. On entering the lawn the guests was served with delicious punch by the hostess. The piano was moved to the veranda and Mr. Davis, who is an accomplished pianist, favored the guests with a number of his favorite selections in classical and ragtime music, which was highly appreciated and enjoyed by the guests. Mr. Davis has just recently returned from an extended tour of the north where he played in the principle cities. Rule radio fans were fortunate several times last winter in hearing him broadcast over the radio. Guests enjoying this social were: Messrs. and Mesdames H. R. Glass, W. E. Penick, Joe A. Jones, Jess Bell, Server Leon, L. W. Jones, E. B. Harris, C. J. Tye, R. C. Cole, Elgin Carothers, James E. Lindsey, John A. Lee, J. D. Westbrook, Billie Hills, Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Rogers, and Mesdames W. H. Wilson, M. V. Davis, Audie Vernor, Lent Cox, Miss Sarah Hudspath and Messrs. W. D. Payne, Frank Turner. Out of town guests were Messrs. and Mesdames J. G. Foster, W. P. Trice of Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hill of Amarillo; Mrs. Chester Jones of Colorado; Mrs. G. C. Lagow of Menard, Miss Madge Westmoreland of Lamesa and the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis of Dallas.

Rule Ladies Hear Missionary.

Through the courtesy of the Woman's Missionary societ of the Haskell Methodist church, the Woman's Missionary society of Rule were invited over to Haskell Monday afternoon to hear one of our returned Missionaries. Mrs. Vera Lowry, who with her husband is doing missionary work in China and who are now on their vacation. The guests were greeted at the door by Mesdames R. C. Montgomery and S. R. Rike and then introduced to the receiving line, composed of our district secretary, Mrs. P. O. Campbell of Munday; Mrs. Lowry and Mrs. Vaughn. The guests were then served delicious punch and sandwiches. The church was beautifully decorated with pot plants and cut flowers. Guests from Rule attending this social were: Mesdames David Crockett, E. B. Harris, L. B. Smallwood, Grady Keith, F. M. Jackson, Ben Sellers, A. C. Pruitt, Earl Brashar, R. P. Cole, J. C. Davis, Oswald Cole and W. H. McCandless.

Kinser, 11:30 a. m. personal influence in soul winning by P. D. O'Brien of Munday, 1:30 p. m. how to keep alive the spirit of soul winning in the churches by Rev. C. E. Bell of Rule, 2 p. m. the kind of preaching we need in soul winning by H. R. Whatley, 2:30 p. m.

Chinese Civil Strife End No Nearer Goal

By Universal Service.

PEKING, June 25. —The end of civil war and chaos in China is not in sight, and the re-establishment of peace and the restoration of authority is remote, Premier Pan Fu told me today.

The statement was made during an interview in which Chang Tso Lin's new premier outlined an ambitious and commendable, but unexecutable program.

DECLARES DIVIDEND

Semi-annual dividend for shareholders in the Guaranty State Building and Loan association was declared Friday during a luncheon held by the association board of directors in the Wichita club.

Five per cent on all installment and prepaid shares and three and one-half per cent on full paid shares were the amounts declared as dividends, effective July 1, by the directors.

The association statement shows a steady growth during the past six months and all loans were reported as being in a satisfactory condition.

The assets of the association are approximately $1,200,000, which has been gained since the organization of the association, Jan. 1, 1925.

Viola Dana, noted movie star, has confirmed the report of a separation from her husband, "Lefty" Maurice B. Flynn, former Yale football star.

Adventures In The Shops

CARE FOR YOUR EYES

ALL your life you will need them, every waking moment. Yet this pair is all you will ever have.

They are very delicate, so care for them by having them examined by an expert.

Service and precision is our slogan.

THE 34th Anniversary Sale of P. B. M. Company is proving even more satisfactory than previously! What more can I say? For this event of the year is one the old customers of the store have learned to look forward to and which delights newcomers. This is really a big birthday gift from P. B. M. to the people of Wichita Falls and its vicinity and just think—there is another week of this pleasurable shopping, when the things which have been bought at the world's choicest markets will be offered at wonderfully low prices.

There are exceptional reductions on fine coats and dresses—reductions which place things formerly beyond the allowance within reach. The consistent courtesy and attention always found at P. B. M. is as evident as ever in sale time.

DO YOU need another piece of really beautiful furniture for your living room?—and again, a really good sewing machine which is easy to run and is faultless in stitch? It is no longer necessary to choose between the two or to find an inconspicuous corner for an unprepossessing sewing machine. The new Free Westinghouse Console electric sewing machine solves the problem. This is the famous Free machine, which has been on the market for years, with a Westinghouse motor and knee control which eliminates the most tiresome part of sewing. The Texas Electric Service Company offers it in two designs which, when closed, do not even remotely suggest any usefulness beyond that of holding a card tray and vases.

The console type in walnut is beautifully carved with especially fine legs braced and carved in the Flemish style. Two sizes are offered in the console.

The desk design to all appearances is a distinctive little writing desk and may be used for that purpose, all but it's drawers, "between sewings." Those with a knowledge of historic styles of furniture will immediately recall Savonrola's desk when they see this second design, for the smooth planes and straight lines of construction are unmistakable.

THE excellent collection of pioneer pictures, placed by Mr. Lester Jones in the lobby of the Wichita State Bank and Trust Company, will be taken down the middle of this week. These photographs of pioneer life have attracted deservedly wide attention—if you have not seen them, drop by before the middle of the week, they are well worth while.

WONDER VALUES IN FELT HATS

CHIC mid-season models just arrived at Jora Dickson's.

THOSE who enjoy camping and picnicking will be glad to hear of the sale Bailey-Moline Hardware Company has on Aladdin Thermos Jugs. This well-known gallon thermos is now priced at one dollar, so plan to have an Aladdin before that jaunt on the Glorious Fourth. Bailey-Moline has everything for good times in the open—croquet sets, fishing tackle — on through the list to your favorite sport!

Photographs Live Forever

ANNOUNCEMENT of the opening of Merrell Ellis' new downtown studio has already been made, but I should like to tell you of the importance of the work which is to be done there. Mrs. Ellis is a member of the American Association of Photographers and plans to devote ability and artistry to turning out portraits of distinction at a medium price. Statistics show that the majority of Americans are in medium circumstances financially, but in taste and discernment rank with the highest. It is to these that the Merrill Studio will prove a wonderful satisfaction.

The studio itself is very attractive, having been redecorated throughout with bright chintz and many improvements. Call 8995 for appointment.

TOMORROW is the last day to get a set of thirty-one dishes (the quality and daintiness of design may be observed in Nunn's window) free with either a 16-inch oscillating fan or Victor Portable, bought at the Nunn Electric Company. Drop in and hear one or two of the late records on this good-looking Victor Portable—it has the tone and volume you've been wanting in a portable vacation Victrola.

THE influence of Charles A. Lindbergh promises to make itself widely felt in fashion circles. Already Miller-Ferguson is showing chic close-fitting felt hats inspired by his exploit. The propellers of the plane in felt make an interesting motif — perhaps the most effective and most often used, though there are others, par example, Lindy's head and plane in color appliqued on the hat's crown. They look as if they would be becoming to many types and are shown in all shades.

Lucky Lindy French Panties are the tribute of the lingerie designers. These are priced at $2.48 and $2.95.

Cool and smart are Miller-Ferguson's tub silk and printed ensemble suits at $16.75 and $19.75. Women's Wear Daily devotes a page to figured linens and states that the Fifth Avenue shops reiterate the importance this medium in plain with prints in the popular ensemble. It describes the costumes of many titled and famous women whose linen sports outfits are particularly smart.

DON'T worry about a trifling grass stain or grease spot on your frock as the price of a glorious holiday today and tomorrow. If this fate falls to you at the picnic, let the Wichita Cleaning and Dye Works, Tenth and Austin, do the worrying. They don't mind at all because they're such experts at removing spots.

It is well to say while we're talking about the Wichita that it is a superbly satisfying shop for retinting and dyeing last summer's faded frocks. They charge a mere fraction of the price of a new dress. Phone 4877.

SETTING, or atmosphere, means so much and there is one time in her life when a girl should have this just as she has wished and planned it with beauty, and not economy, the first consideration. That is her great moment—her wedding. Morgan Floral Company, 716 Tenth street, has incomparable ideas for decorating either home or church. The bridegroom, too, may be assured that his bouquets will be the most correct and beautiful from Morgan's. Telephone 7500.

QUESTION: When are you glad to see an ice man coming?

ANSWER: When he delivers pure, clear ice of full weight and wipes off both the ice and his feet in order not to bring mud or dirt into your kitchen and ice chest.

The Wichita Ice Company's men do this. Their service is always courteous and a special truck fills emergency orders. A new and most modern friendly ice station is under construction at Ninth and Brook and will soon add another convenience to those offered by this friendly company.

When you are a patron of Wichita Ice Company's "friendly ice service" you are not only providing yourself with the very best method of refrigeration but are helping to maintain more than one hundred families who are employed by Wichita Ice Company.

The company also very materially assists in building and maintaining the public schools and city government and renders very material assistance in maintenance of Chamber of Commerce and other valuable service organizations. Practically the entire amount paid for Wichita ice service is spent in Wichita Falls.

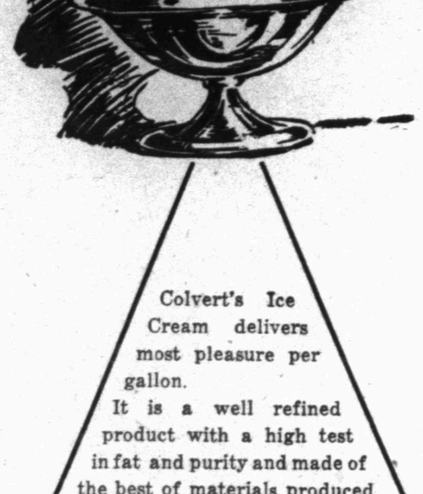

All of our stockholders live in Texas and practically all of the securities issued on Wichita Ice Company plant and properties are held by citizens of Wichita Falls.

Phone 3101 — for friendly ice service.

A GLIMPSE of one long-lashed eye makes you wish to see both, and the eyes beneath a wide-brimmed hat are never sun squinted — two good reasons for buying a flop-brim Milan or Milan hemp at William's. Priced $1.95 (how much more would be asked for the same hats elsewere?)

Cool wash crepes and ultra smart prints are among the pretty summer dresses offered. Voiles and batistes, printed and plain, are only $4.98. Advanced fashion sheets devote pages to prints and William's, as usual, keeps pace with the mode. Among the most attractive prints shown here are georgette frocks.

To Discourage Bandits; Rapid-Fire Pistol

E. L. NELSON, WAR VETERAN, NOW A CITY DETECTIVE, HAS INVENTED A NEW DEVICE WHICH LOADS A SIX-SHOOTER IN BETWEEN TWO AND THREE SECONDS. PICTURE SHOWS INVENTOR AND DETAILS OF THE RAPID-FIRE RELOADER.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25. (EFS)—As a result of an idea born during the battle of the Argonne, bandits hereafter will have greater difficulty in escaping.

E. L. Nelson, who served in the world war as a lieutenant, and now is a detective on the Kansas City police force, has invented a rapid-fire revolver reloader that fills a six-shooter in 2 to 3 seconds, beating the hold finger loading system from 17 to 20 seconds.

Nelson's invention is a small cylinder device and can be carried on an officer's belt conveniently. It is shaped to hold six cartridges on a spring that is released through the use of a plunger, which is on the end of the instrument. Whenever the plunger is pushed in the bullets flip into the revolver chamber.

The Kansas City police department has ordered the device as regular equipment for all policemen and detectives.

Several other large middle-western cities are interested in the invention.

Calomel Attacks the Bones and Deadens the Bowels

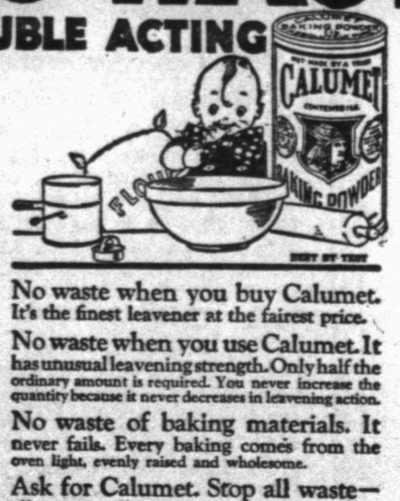

Never take calomel. It is mercury—a dangerous drug. If you are constipated, bilious, sick, headachy, stomach sour, meals don't taste right, hot days make you drowsy and lazy, take Dodson's Liver Tone. That's all you need.

Calomel sallvates. That's why you have to take salts the next day to get it out of your system so it will not eat your bones. You have to stay at home a day to recuperate from the shock it gives you.

No wonder Dodson's Liver Tone is so popular. All you do is to take a spoonful at night. By morning you are cleaned out good, head is clear, you feel as light as a feather; you are not sick, no danger of sallvation, and you can eat anything you want. Think of that.

Get the big bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone from your nearest store. They all have it. Keep it in the house so you will have it handy to take nights before going to bed.

NO WASTE
DOUBLE ACTING

No waste when you buy Calumet. It's the finest leavener at the fairest price.

No waste when you use Calumet. It has unusual leavening strength. Only half the ordinary amount is required. You never increase the quantity because it never decreases in leavening action.

No waste of baking materials. It never fails. Every baking comes from the oven light, evenly raised and wholesome.

Ask for Calumet. Stop all waste—all worry—all uncertainty.

Every ingredient used officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities.

Fable of Open Champion, the Porch Ornament and the Once-a-Weeker

By GEORGE ADE.

The so-called guests at a summer hotel put in most of their time changing clothes and inquiring for mail. Grand View was the name of the hotel because, by climbing to the roof, you could see the county seat.

On the table could be found everything that the city market had afforded three days previously.

The princess who waited on the table had agreed to bring chow from the kitchen but she had not agreed to meet any of the guests socially, so every one had to be careful and not jar her temperament.

The manager had arranged for the mosquitoes to keep away, but the mosquitoes broke the contract.

Still, the hotel was not altogether Gorgonzola. The stationary was great.

For six days in the week there was a man-famine. To be sure, there was a clerk with a wrist watch and a wisp of oakum on his upper lip, who worked along the verandas and chatted about the weather so as to keep people from discussing the table and service. After he had conversed about 15 minutes he would run out of thoughts and words.

But on Saturday when the bus came up from the station loaded down with the boys who were expected to sign the checks—Oh, then there was joy indeed! Everybody was glad to welcome the bread-winners. Each would have on her most scrumptious toggery and the turquoise brooch, and she would have out her little four-inch lace handkerchief, all ready to wave at him. All the married couples would clinch at the hotel steps, and those who didn't have the right would postpone it for a while.

The Field and Porch Girls.

Among the men who came out on the Saturday special was a bachelor named Albert. Albert knew two girls at the hotel, and he didn't care who caugh him with either one. Albert was susceptible. He had a cool head for business and in his calmer moments he would decide to scratch matrimony until he could flash a hundred thousand. But when he was up at Grand View and found himself in a secluded corner with either Susie or Grace and the crescent moon would be playing hide-and-seek among the oak branches and somebody out in a row-boat plunking a little uke and the night bird calling to a companion that had broken the date—then Albert would get reckless and not care what became of him.

Susie and Grace were not alike in any particular.

Susie was ever so athletic. She went around bare-headed all summer so as to get a coat of tan. Usually she had her sleeves rolled up to display a fore-arm that reminded one of Mr. Dempsey. She wore a short skirt and flat-bottomed shoes. It was a positive pleasure to see her bounce up into the air and lam a tennis ball. She was a De Palma at the wheel and she had won a cup over an 18-hole course. Susie could take care of herself at any point along the road. If any one had told her she was a weaker vessel she might have given him a whang on the jaw.

Grace was quite the antithesis. She was a limpid creature who kept out of the sun and wore filmy white materials. She tottered along on French heels all summer, and whenever she saw a cow she squealed and caught hold of the nearest man.

Grace once tried to hit a golf ball because it seemed to be the thing. She pecked at it a couple of times and sent it about 18 inches, and then she felt something give and returned to the rocking chair.

Every time she ventured out she wore a three-foot Hat covered with Battenberg and carried a Parasol so as to protect the Complexion. She never was keen for Physical Culture, but preferred to het herself tucked in just right and then sit and read something by Booth Tarkington. She had a slow, languorous Walk, leaning forward from the Hips. If you didn't know, you might think she had Casters under her. The other Girls rapped her for being Affected, but then she wasn't doing it for their Benefit. When she executed the Glide into the Dining Room, the Men would tell one another to Pipe the Tall One with the Miserable Shape.

As already intimated, these were the two that had Albert on the Guessing Block. It kept him busy looking after both, but he knew the advantages of a healthy Competition. A Girl always throws herself rather more earnestly if she thinks some other Maiden is trying to sew Buttons on her. So Albert had a lot of Attention paid to him every time he came out.

As the Summer Weeks slipped by, it became evident that Grace's Work on the eVranda was more effective than Susie's violent Efforts in the Field.

One Saturday Night Albert brought out a Ring and forced Grace to wear it. Next day there was an awful Buzzing. A Majority of the Wise Ones had picked Susie as the logical Winner.

It happened that an Intimate Friend asked Albert if he had not got Twisted and given the Ring to the wrong Party.

"It is generally conceded," said the Friend, "that Susie is the most Superior Thing that puts up at the Hotel."

"Superior is the Word," responded Albert. "As a Type of the New Kind she is the Best Ever, and that is why I can't keep up with her. Think of a large man who wants to retain his Self-Respect going out on the Links and getting waxed good and hard by a Child just budding into Womanhood. She can hit the Ball right in the Eye every Clip and send it to the Green in about 2, while I worry it off into the Bunch Grass and beat it until it looks as if some one had been chewing it. For six Days in the week and 50 Weeks in the Year I get round-shouldered talking through a 'Phone and hanging over a Desk. When I do put on my Flannels and rush to the Country, I am not prepared to enter the Lists with Miss Vardon. Naturally, I do not wish to say that Susie is a Bell-Ringer and he who Marries her will always Respect her. If he doesn't he had better take to the Fire-Escape. The Trouble is that when Susie and I are together, I am with her and not she with me. She takes me to Places. As soon as I realize that I was a Candidate for Satchel-Carrier I began to slow up on Susie.

"Now, Grace is different. She clings to you and wants Advice. It's all up to you. You don't have to lean back and look up at her. She doesn't pity you because you Foozle or take you in hand as if you were a Boy. I have a Feeling that if I wanted to marry Susie I would be put into the Nine-Hole and kept there forever. I am proud t oknow such a Woman, and every time she plays a Match I will be on hand to Pull for her, but when it comes to the Practice if Stuckology in the Gloaming and then a Clasp of the yielding form, I pans up the Party with the Iron Muscles. When a Lady is trained so hard that the Form refuses to Yield, what's the use? There's nothing to it. Then there is always the horrible Fear that if you do anything to Vex her, she may pick you up and throw you into a Rose Bush. It's pretty hard to love a woman and be afraid of her at the same time. No dainty Weight Lifter for little Albert, the Office Slave! For me the simple, sinuous, old-fashioned Variety."

So he married Grace and Susie married a little Chap who wore Specs. He is now acting as Caddie for her.

GEORGE ADE'S PUBLIC

CHICAGO.—A burglar walked into the country home of George Ade and took everything he considered of value. He walked off with a collection of antique coins and $1200 worth of clothes, including three dozen hats, shoes, eight sweathers, seven suits of clothes and a great array of shirts and socks. While Mr. Ade regrets their loss, he is filled with deeper sorrow to confess that while the house was filled with valuable manuscript, the burglar gave it a careless glance and threw it in the waste basket. He considered it without value.

NOT ONTO HIS JOB

NEW YORK.—According to Gus Schumaker, times have come to a pretty pass in this city. Incredible, but nevertheless, true it is, says Schumaker, that there are cops on the island of Manhattan who won't direct a thirsty citizen to the nearest speak-easy. Gus was arrested yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct by Patrolman Swobodo who said that Schumaker came up to him on the corner of Broadway and 56th and swinging his cane jauntily, demanded to know the location of the nearest gin mill. Refused the information Gus started off on a search of his own, but the luck didn't hold and he was soon back again, with a similar request for information. again repulsed, he became very mad, threw his cane to the sidewalk and called upon Heaven to witness the dumbness of Patrolman Swobodo. "Then I pinched him," said the cop. The latter's fair name has been cleared, however. When indignant friends asked him why he didn't open up for the thirsty one, it appeared that the only reason was because he didn't know there was a speak-easy in the district. Which is interesting, if true.

FLIVVER RETURNS

NEW ORLEANS.—No longer is Clyde Hodges singing dolefully, "Where is my wandering Ford tonight?" The candle has been taken out of the window, too. Clyde's flivver, lost for three years, is back home again. Theft of the car was reported to the police in May, 1924. The other day police found the car abandoned, and suffering the effects of three years of homelessness, on a street corner near Clyde's home. Clyde went out and killed a can of fatted gasoline.

Principals In Charming Sunrise Wedding at Nocona

In the above picture are shown little Miss Minneth Rowland, leading Sue Allyn Stripling, and Mrs. E. C. Hall, principals in a lovely sunrise wedding which took place in Nocona Saturday morning, June 4, on the lawn at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Stripling. Mrs. Hall was before her marriage, Miss Laura Bratcher, daughter of Mrs. Mary Bratcher, and a protege of Dr. and Mrs. Stripling for the past eight years. Minneth Rowland, was flower girl in the wedding and led tiny 23-month-old Sue Allyn Stripling, who carried the wedding ring in the heart of a rose in a dainty basket. Mr. Hall is connected with the Humble Oil company at Vernon, where the couple will make their home.

HASKELL PERSONALS

A Man From Texas

A MAN from Texas let loose a bolt in Chicago. His name? Louis Gough. He hails from Amarillo and is president of the Texas Wheat Growers association. He was addressing the American Institute of Co-operation. He assailed the Chicago board of trade as having the grain farmer absolutely at its mercy.

He declared it was the height of folly to talk farm relief and not eliminate the cause, and furthermore, that the Chicago board of trade is the dominant exchange and has absolute power to fix the price of every bushel of wheat. He did not mince words. He said five men on that board determined what the farmer is to get for his grain, "and under the law they are nameless and are known by numbers only and I'll admit they ought to have numbers."

It is evident that the man from Texas would jail the five if he had the power and give them Joliet numbers. Political farm relief did not appeal to this man from Texas. He volunteered the information that farming will never be profitable until there is a change of the system and the farmer can control the flow and price and distribution of his product the same as other industries.

President Coolidge is preparing a farm relief bill. This is the latest from the Black Hills summer White House. The president was born on a farm; he is the owner of a farm; he is the best hay pitcher in Vermont. He is for boards of trade. He is for exchanges. If the man from Texas is right then the president is on the wrong trail.

An Especially Gratifying Action

"AN especially gratifying action was the assignment of Rabbi Cohen of Galveston to the immediate direction of the educational and welfare work," editorializes the Dallas News in speaking of the board of prison commissioners. "This, there can be no doubt, is in pursuance of Governor Moody's purpose in choosing that gentleman to be a member of the board. There are few men in Texas so well qualified—and none better—for that particular task and qualified not only by an extensive study of penology but by a lively sense of the duty the state is under to attempt the moral and social rehabilitation of the men and women whom it takes into its custody. Heretofore, but little has been done toward that end; that heavy and solemn obligation, though not repudiated, has been defaulted."

Rabbi Cohen is a humanitarian. He believes in the doctrine of reclamation and regeneration. He insists that there is good in every man no matter how vile he may appear to be to the world. For a quarter of a century he has been known in the ranks of the intelligent social uplifters of the south. Now he is in a position where he may be able to give his cherished theories an acid test.

This Is The Latest

IS IT permissable to suspend the state compulsory school attendance law? Its suspension has been suggested in order to provide a divided school term in agricultural districts so farmers' children can go to school six months, chop cotton awhile and then attend another three months school. As for the compulsory law, it is claimed that in many districts public opinion is not behind the measure and it is a dead letter. Why not state truant officers? Is it more important that cotton should be chopped than children in the rural districts be given educated brains and trained hands?

Millions of Jobless Men

A FAMOUS professor, alleged to be a high authority on economics, declares that out of the working populations of Europe, upward of 20,000,000 are now unemployed. Not in Italy. There was an army of unemployed in Italy until the coming of Mussolini.

There was an army of beggars in Italy. There was an army of loafers in Italy, loafers who insisted that the world owed them a living. Dr. Mussolini administered his famous castor oil treatment. It must have worked like a charm. All the professional beggars disappeared from the street. All the street walkers and night prowlers, regardless of sex, disappeared from the street. All the real workers who were idle found employment.

Dr. Mussolini abolished strikes. He abolished lock outs. After he found all the workers working, he ordered a 12 per cent decrease in wages. After he had permitted this to sink in he ordered the merchants and manufacturers to cut the prices of all salable goods 12 per cent.

In order to make conditions lovely, he ordered employers and employes to dwell together in brotherly harmony, all for Italy and the Italy that is to be. An iron handed dictator is Dr. Mussolini. A benevolent dictator is Dr. Mussolini. He has throttled Democracy. He has throttled the freedom of the press.

He works himself and he makes all his subjects work. He lifted Italy out of the ditch.

Heroic measures? Yes. Barbaric, if you like, but there is a new Rome, there is a new Italy. Mussolini is their creator.

They Are On The Fringe

"WHILE we have reached the highest point in material prosperity ever achieved, there is a considerable class of unskilled workers who have not come into full participation in the wealth of the nation," remarked President Coolidge in his Hammond address to war veterans of Indiana. There is a considerable class of unskilled workers. They are to be found in large numbers in the corn and wheat belt. Is the farmer a skilled or unskilled worker? Calvin Coolidge was born on a farm. He should know. Is he planning farm relief legislation late in the fall?

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON ROSCOE

NEW YORK, June 25. (EFS).—O. D. McIntyre is under the erroneous impression that John Farrar is out of a job. There is the type of man who waits until he thinks his opponent is strapped to the boards and then goes up and gives him a swift kick. And there is the journalist with the peculiar sense of ethics who waits until he thinks a man is gagged and then he biats. Thus McIntyre:

"There seems nothing bright in the prospectus (sic) of what is to me the dullest of all publications—the Bookman. The editorship has passed from John Farrar . . . . . Farrar is one of these poetical pale blondes (sic) who seems to have achieved nothing on the job save prying a few lines of publicity for being the youngest magazine editor. The sorriest young printer's boy might have filled the job as capably."

Very well, ignoring McIntyre's ignorance of the dictionary and his ugly syntax:

McIntyre is a cadaverous, sour-faced hack, a former hotel press agent who dresses like a Negro sheik from the Harlem black and tan belt. He lives in silken ease in a suite at the Ritz Carlton by writing pieces, designed to flatter the small town men, about how he yearns to be back slopping the pigs in Plattsburg, Mo., and by stealing the ideas, phrases and whole paragraphs of brighter and worthier men.

He flatters those in power, particularly bootleg kings, night club hostesses and shimmy shakers. Among the most eloquent tributes he has ever written were anthems in praise of Texas Guinan, a $2,000-a-week night club hostess, frequently in the toils of the prohibition law, and to Gilda Gray, who gets as much as $14,000 a week for shaking her hips. He rarely writes a paragraph that does not seem calculated to get him something, whether it is the deduction of a cover charge in a night club, a reduced rate on an ocean liner, or a commission for a magazine article.

Mr. Farrar is not being thrown out of a job, as McIntyre mistakenly assumed when he wrote that paragraph (he would not have written it, I believe, if he thought Mr. Farrar could retaliate.) Mr. Farrar is the editorial director of the George H. Doran company, a publishing house which lists H. G. Wells, Arnold Bennett, Hugh Walpole, Frank Swinnerton, Irvin S. Cobb, Compton Mackenzie, Michael Arlen, Mary Roberts Rinehardt, George Barr McCutcheon, Robert W. Chambers, P. G. Wodehouse, T. E. Lawrence, Du Bose Heyward, Aldous Huxley, Hervey Allen, Thomas Burke, Cyril Hume, Floyd Dell, Osbert Sitwell, Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Conan Doyle. If "the sorriest young printer's boy" could be the editorial director of a list like that then this very Odd McIntyre could bat for Babe Ruth.

Mr. Farrar has no less than nine books to his credit, three of which are of very charming verse for children and adults. He writes fiction and essays for such worthy publications as the Woman's Home Companion, McCall's and the Ladies' Home Journal. He has had two plays produced on Broadway. He is a lecturer much in demand throughout the country. He is an instructor in journalism at New York University. He conducts a summer school in the art and technique of writing. He was a first lieutenant in the U. S. Air Service during the war. He is married and has a son. And he is only 31 years old.

Oscar Odd McIntyre is 43 years old. Though affluent and without offspring he had no war record even as a Liberty Loan orator. And, though he has been a writer most of his life, he has published but one book, which was so roundly slated by the reviewers and so generally ignored by the public that Oscar Odd has had ever since a grudge against anyone remotely connected with or interested in books.

* * *

These writers who continue to live in New York and yet who are always writing about what a hellhole it is and how much happier they would be if they were in Gumbo, Mississippi, burn me up. There are trains leaving for the west, north and south out of New York every four minutes. I did not like living on the Island of Manhattan, and so I moved to the suburb of Mamaroneck. But I go into the city every week day, and if I did not like it I would go elsewhere.

I have earned my living as a farm hand. I have picked cotton, pitched hay, dug potatoes, chopped corn, plowed land, rounded up cattle, chopped and corded wood, and helped at hog killing time. I have run a candy, hot-dog and lemonade concession at a county fair. I have sold shoes in a small town. I have worked in a cotton gin. Those jobs were all right; but if I liked any one of them better than the job I have, that would be the job I would go after.

And, if you ask me, my suspicion is that those who write otherwise would do the same.

"My Plane and I—"

FROM THE LIPS OF LINDY HIMSELF"

(When Col. Charles Lindbergh landed at LeBourget Field, Paris, after his epochal flight from New York, William Hillman, Universal Service writer, was waiting for him. They met and never separated until New York's great reception for the Atlantic ace. To Hillman, Lindbergh told his story intimately as friend to friend. Hillman is now writing under title "My Plane and I From the Lips of Lindy Himself," a 60,000-word story for The Wichita Falls Record News and associated newspapers in Universal Service. The eighth chapter of this story appears in today's issue.)

BY WILLIAM HILLMAN
(Copyright 1927, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Hectic hours of "stunt" flying, occasional dashes over stretches of American deserts, and intense study of aeroplane motors took up the thoughts and time of Lindbergh for two years.

"I got a lot of hard training and experience," he said, "during the months I appeared at fairs and carnivals.

"I was interested in finding a motor capable of great endurance though I was not thinking then of any long distance flight proposition. I always was thinking of motors.

"Early in 1924, I decided to go to the army flying school at San Antonio, Texas. I wanted to learn more about airplanes."

Lindy's arrival at Brooks field was as incongruous and typical as his arrival at Lincoln, Neb., where he had learned to fly. He came in his own plane, the second one he had purchased, a Standard biplane which had seen considerable usage. Those who remember his arrival tell how part of the lower wing had strips of canvas missing.

His tall gawky form was clad in a suit that seemed sizes too small for him. He was bashful and unassuming. He immediately got to work. Work was his ambition, his inspiration. A new field was opened to him. He acquired a good deal of technical and special information.

Completing his work there he went to the army flying finishing school at Kelly field, San Antonio. Just a few days before he was to finish he had his first accident.

Jumps For His Life.

He was flying in a 12-ship battle formation attacking a plane flown by Lieut. Russell Maughan, who later gained fame as the "dawn-to-dusk" pilot.

Lindbergh's plane suddenly got tankled and embraced in a death grip with a plane flown by Lieut. C. D. McCallister. He was called upon to use a parachute to save his life.

"This was the first itme I had to use a 'chute to save myself," he said. "I didn't enjoy the experience though I can't say I was really frightened. No aviator likes jumping for his life."

Lindy graduated March 15, 1925 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the air service officers' reserve corps.

Lindy then went to St. Louis and after a short stay started out as a stunt flier again.

But he was too ambitious to remain a stunt flyer for long.

In October, 1925, he joined the Robertson Aircraft corporation, doing all sorts of odd jobs and occasionally commercial flying. The Robertson corporation shortly after obtained a contract to carry the mail from St. Louis to Chicago and in April, 1926, Lindy became a mail pilot.

In less than a year he was to begin work on a plane to carry him across the Atlantic. In that short period, Lindbergh laid a firm foundation for a flight which he considered only a little more trying than flying across country with mail.

"The mail service is the best developer of pilots,' Lindy said.

"A mail pilot knows that mail has to be moved daily, no matter how disagreeable the weather.

"A mail pilot knows that mail has to be delivered on time and safely.

"He has to fly by night as well as by day, over cities, over desert, over water.

"Flying by night gave me great training for my trans-Atlantic flight. And I had flown through rain and sleet and fog, flown at times when I had to mount above clouds.

"Mail pilots have to stand great strain. They have to go many hours without sleep. The experience I got in the mail service was of great use to me later."

Lindy tells of occasionally feeling sleepy in the air.

"Once in a while I would want to doze off, and undoubtedly did doze for a second or two, just as a driver of an automobile dozes off without losing control of his wheel or getting into an accident.

"On my flight across the Atlantic there were one or two times I felt like sleeping but I do not think I dozed off at any time."

During his career as mail pilot, Lindy had three more escapes, being compelled to use a parachute to save his life.

"The highest I ever had to jump from was 13,000 feet," Lindy told me. This was near Springfield, Ill., in November 1926.

Lindbergh's luck was uncanny. The epithet of "flying fool" was not meant to characterize him as a reckless daredevil, though he seemed to be reckless enough before he joined the mail service. It was tacked on him as much for his lucky escapes from death.

But a close study of his escapes show that there is more than an element of luck. It shows that when an emergency arises, Lindy is so well equipped that he can take the proper step to save himself with the shortest amount of energy and quickness of precisioin.

Never Sought Trouble.

"I never took any foolish chances," Lindy confessed one day, revealing for the first time that he thought of the epithet "flying fool."

"Sure I had lot's of luck. But I never was 'fool' enough to invite trouble."

Added to his ability to escape accidents without serious injury, is his gift of guiding himself toward his destination with the keenness and sureness of a bird.

All the world wondered at his ability in coming within three miles of my destination in Ireland on his trans-Atlantic flight. Lindy, himself, grows sarcastic when asked about it, never wearying of saying his oft-repeated gem:

"Because I came within three miles of my destination they call it luck. If I had come within 25 miles of it they would have called it navigation."

But even such experienced long distance flyers as Sir Alan Cobham and Captain Neville Stack are puzzled how Lindbergh could have flown so straight with only the instruments he had.

"But didn't you use a sextant " Sir Alan asked him.

"No," Lindy replied. "In the first place, I couldn't use one if I wanted since I don't know anything about it. In the second place, even if I had a sextant with me I couldn't use it since my hands were otherwise busy."

It was uncanny the east with which Lindy found the French coast and then Le Bourget in the dusk. He had never been over this territory. It was his first trip to Europe.

I asked him the evening before he was to leave Brussels for London how long he expected it would take him to make the flight.

"I don't know," he said. "How far is it to London? Have you got a map?"

Charge d'Affaires Dunn brought out a map.

Lindy flattened the map out on Mr. Dunn's desk and studied it for a few minutes.

"Well, let's see," he said. "I ought to make that in less than three hours. Where abouts is the Croydon flying field in relation to London?"

Lindy was told it was southwest of London.

And that's all the advance information Lindy had about Croydon or London of the Belgian and English coast. He just found his way like a bird, and with no lost motion.

That was not the way, of course, he prepared for his trans-Atlantic flight. He devoted much study and careful poring over maps before he started.

But Lindy always declares his training as an air pilot was largely the basis of his success.

"I know a dozen men in the air mail service," he said, "who could have made the trans-Atlantic flight!

"With proper preparation they would have gone through as I did. They would get through because they would have to get through as they always do with the mail!"

(Next chapter — Lindy prepares for the trans-Atlantic flight; some of his observations about the flight.)

John Coolidge To Wed Flo Trumbull When He's Got His College Diploma

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, June 25.—When Miss Florence Trumbull and John Coolidge marry depends largely upon when the son of the president finishes college, according to information in social circles here tonight.

Miss Trumbull, daughter of Governor Trumbull of Connecticut, was one of the bridesmaids at the Houston-Sandegren wedding here this week. She discussed the romance with close friends before her departure for home.

According to "The Chaperon," in a special article in today's Chicago American, President Coolidge only objects to his son marrying before he finishes college. "The Chaperon" says:

"Florence says John is planning to spend most of the summer with a tutor, with the idea of hastening the day when his diploma will serve as a credential for his marrying licenses. The girls who met Florence like her greatly and are eagerly anticipating the announcement of her engagement to the president's son."

Inquiry at the summer white house in the Black Hills of South Dakota, brought the information that President and Mrs. Coolidge have done nothing to discourage the friendship that developed when John and Miss Trumbull met on a train en route to the presidential nomination in 1925. But it was made quite clear that the father would never consent to John leaving college and belief was expressed at the summer white house that there is little probability that John would ask his father's consent to marriage while in college.

"This Too Will Pass"

By BRUCE BARTON

Illustrated by RAEBURN VAN BUREN

IN the summer of 1921, when pessimism was everywhere, a well-informed man told me that the business depression would last for several years.

Immediately I thanked God and took courage. I knew from the remark that we must be on the very threshold of better times.

In the spring of 1918 well-informed men predicted another three years of war. But the war ended that autumn.

In the spring of 1920 even well-informed bankers spoke of three or five years of prosperity. The prosperity was even then nearing its end.

It is a settled trait of human nature to assume that whatever situation exists at the moment, must continue to exist a long time.

The facts, of course, are entirely to the contrary. You can absolutely depend upon this—that whatever is, is not going to continue to be. Nothing is certain in this world except one thing—and that is change.

Philosophers recognize this truth; ordinary men and women do not, which accounts for many misfortunes.

Both start the journey of life together and pursue it under precisely the same circumstances to a common goal.

But the ordinary man travels as though he were the first human being who had ever gone over the path. When he reaches a little hill, he throws up his hands and shouts and assumes that all the rest of the journey will be over high ground.

When, a few months later, he is plunged into the valley, he abandons his courage and his hope. From such depths, he cries, there can be no escape.

The philosopher, knowing something of the records left by those who have journeyed on before, understands in advance that the journey consists of alternating ups and downs. He expects them, discounts them and travels on without undue perspiration or dust.

What pulled Lincoln through the Civil War? In the blackest hour he would lean back, draw a deep breath and remark: "This too will pass."

In the winter of his old age Emerson's house burned down. It was a tragedy, destroying many prized possessions and very nearly costing him his life. I imagined, when I read his "Journals," that I would find a full acount of it. Instead I found an entry consisting of these two eloquent words:

"House burned."

Most of us will never acquire quite so much of the philosophic spirit. We will insist on extracting quite a good deal more conversational material from our misfortunes than that.

But the time may well come when we will all have a little better historical and economic perspective—when we will know that periods of inflation and deflation succeed each other with much the same regularity as day and night—when we will neither go wild with extravagance in the daytime, nor abandon all hope in the dark.

When with Lincoln we will say: "This too will pass."

Women Political Leaders

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, left, who leads republican women, and Mrs. Andrius A. Jones, democratic chieftain. Below is the new headquarters of the Women's National Democratic club.

By JOHN LEO COONTZ
Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright, 1927.

WASHINGTON, June 23.(EFS). The coming year bids fair to be one of unusual activity among the politically minded women of the United States if the women leaders of the two major political parties, with headquarters in Washington, have their way. These ladies are Mrs. Alvin T. Hert of Kentucky, vice chairman of the republican national committee in charge of the women's division of that party and Mrs. Andrius A. Jones, wife of the senior senator from New Mexico, president of the Women's National Democratic club.

The two organizations fostered by these two women, respectively, are quite different in character, though designed for the same end—that of serving the women voters of the democratic and republican parties.

At democratic headquarters Mrs. Jones is whipping her organization into shape for an educational drive. Chiefly in mind is a series of round table conferences at new offices—in a recently acquired mansion just a few doors from the president's temporary abode on Du Pont Circle—at which will be present state leaders. These round table conferences will last a day or so, augmented by luncheons and talks by prominent democrats on national and international subjects. The conferences will be by states. The first to come will be Pennsylvania. Others have booked for the conferences, the series of which will begin in August.

The Women's Democratic club is extremely active — due largely to the fact that the present administration is republican and much is to be done in the matter welding a stout opposition to the coming 1928 presidential campaign.

State Co-operation

A monthly bulletin is sent out to the members of the club, the personnel of which ramifies into every nook and corner of the land. Local and state club co-operation with the national club is a cardinal preachment with Mrs. Jones.

The democratic women also conduct a school of organization. In this school permanent club organization is stressed and information as how to accomplish it disseminated. Other topics taken up in the school are, campaign organization, political parties and the federal government in action.

At the state club conferences—which start in August—and which is a brand new idea, specific problems within the states represented will be taken up and discussed thoroughly. Mrs. Hert works as a part of the republican national committee as her title in the forepart of this article indicates. There is no such thing as a women's unit in the republican camp as is in the democratic stronghold. Mrs. Hert has offices with the republican national committee.

At present she is extremely interested in getting republican women's clubs — local ones — throughout the country organized by states. Her method, as pointed out to the writer, is to build an organization from the ground up. This is a new, novel development of hers. To date she has three states lined up with strong state clubs composed of local clubs. They are Michigan, California and Maryland. In each instance the honorary president of the state club is the woman national committeeman from that state. Seventeen states are organized locally.

Mrs. Hert stresses the fact of non-interference on the part of the national organization with the state or local organization. Their affairs are peculiarly their own and the extent to which her national activity obtains with them is that of supplying them with literature on current questions and acting as a clearing house for ideas.

State Magazine

The vice chairman points with pride to the establishment by the local and state clubs of papers or magazines for circulation among the members. This is a new development in women's political activity, she says. Her idea in respect to them is to see a chain of them across the continent, which she felicitously describes as a "Chain of Elephants."

Mrs. Hert declares that the American women are more deeply interested than ever before in politics and that their interest is increasing daily as the active days of the presidential campaign approach.

Much is written about picking the right kind of workers. Very little is written about picking the right kind of employer. He next went to work for a company that was on its last legs, and he found himself idle when it failed. His third experience was with a small firm. It did not take him long to discover that there was no possibility of promotion; the business was not making any progress and the good positions were filled by relatives.

SWANSON HIT AT MAJESTIC

Stars in "The Love Of Sunya"

"The Love of Sunya" is Gloaria Swanson's greatest picture.

The enthusiastic audiences at the Majestic theater yesterday saw a new and vibrant Gloria whose brilliant an ddominant personality gripped and thrilled them from the first scene to the final fade out.

They saw Gloria in the characterization of an Egyptian girl, who calmly faced death with her lover. Next they saw her in the characterization of a modern young girl. Then as a struggling, prematurely aged school teacher. Next as a temperamental prima donna, whose daring and unconventional conduct shocks even the sophisticates of Paris. And finally, as the wife of a millionaire.

Gloria arises to great emotional heights with the material supplied by this strong story. At moments she has the audience in tears and then, with her great flair for comedy, moves them to laughter. Briefly, "The Love of Sunya" is the story of a Yogi who goes out into the world to right a wrong he committed in his incarnation of centuries ago and the struggle of a girl to decide between love, ambition and duty.

After years of search, the Yogi finds in Sunya, who is played by Miss Swanson, the incarnation of the girl he wronged. In recompense, the Yogi offers to draw aside the veil of the future and within a crystal shows Sunya what would happen if she followed her ambition to become an opera singer, if she married Robert Goring, the millionaire, or if she remained at home in an attempt to support her family.

Faced with the danger of losing her lover, Paul Judson, Sunya seizes the opportunity. It is hard to say which of Miss Swanson's characterizations is the greatest, for in each of them she displays her full talents as an incomparable actress. Not to forget the hundreds of women who follow the styles set by Miss Swanson, it must be recorded here that she wears numerous dazzling creations in several of the characterizations.

The new photographic effects employed in the crystal sequences heighten the dramatic values of the picture. Here we have novel camera angles used for only one purpose, that is, to emphasize the drama and acting of the players. Also of interest is the new method of presenting titles. These are given to you in such a way that the interruptions of pictorial action with printed words are virtually eliminated.

Gloria Swanson in "The Love of Sunya," now showing at the Majestic theater through Tuesday.

"Moulders of Men," starring Conway Tearle, the attraction at the Olympic theater Sunday for four days.

Bang! Bang! All On Gem Screen

While thousands of boys all over the country are making it their daily ambition to some day run away and be cowboys, there comes a report from the cattle ranges of Wyoming, Texas and other western states that they are up against a shortage in cowpunchers and other types of ranch hands these days. And who do you think the irate cattle raisers blame for this situation? None other than the movies. They claim reproachfully that at all—or at least the biggest percentage—of their best cowboys have joined the movies and are actors now.

And out of the ranks of these cowpunchers who have deserted the chuck wagon and roundups, have come a number of regular heman screen stars who are making Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson and others look to their laurels as cowboy stars. Among this younger crop are two most promising and popular personages. Buffalo Bill Jr., and Buddy Roosevelt, both romantic and dare-devil types, are the pair. After years of real cowpunching and a term with wild west circuses and rodeo outfits both signed up with the Lester F. Scott Producing company to make a series of western pictures as stars in their own right.

Buffalo Bill Jr., has already made a number of productions which found immediate favor with film fans and has just started on a new series. The first of these has been titled "Rawhide," a whirlwind story of the plains which comes to the Gem theater today.

BEER SIX CENTS; 'S TUFF!

PARIS.—All Paris is agog. Public demonstrations are being held in the streets. Native Parisians are organizing parades of protest and the "Marseillaise" is being sung. There is great excitement. Why? Beer has gone to six cents a big schooner! To the thrifty Parisian this means a lot, and the brewers are kept busy explaining that the high cost of labor, the rising price of hops and the tag on beer are jointly responsible for the increase of one cent a glass. But the newly arrived American, observing the tumult and the shouting, and learning its reason, reacts only with the question "Real beer at six cents? Then what's all the shooting for?"

"Fatty's" Comeback

After many years of enforced absence from the screen, Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle will return to the stage shortly in a New York production of "Baby Mine," for which he is seen here making up.

BERT ACOSTA DARING FLIER

Just Type Needed On Hop Across Atlantic

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 25.—When a person looks into the clear eyes of Bert Acosta he concludes that Commander Richard E. Byrd selected a winner as his pilot for his New York to Paris airplane hop.

But when one looks at Acosta's strong steady hands he is convinced of it.

Because Acosta is going to drive the big tri-motor aircraft he is coming more and more into the limelight in spite of his natural modesty.

Everybody around Roosevelt field is paying more attention to Acosta into whose hands has been placed the valuable ship and its daring crew.

He's Steady One

And they are finding in Acosta the kind of person one would wish in control if he suddenly found himself in a tight place.

He is calm, unassuming, steady. His eyes and his hands show that.

Acosta has been clasified as the daredevil type. That is true to a certain extent. But with all his daring he has an equal amount of skill and poise.

That is why he has been enabled to make the records that he holds. The last record was made when he and Clarence Chamberline kept the Bellanca monoplane, Columbia, in which Chamberlin and Levine flew to Germany, in the air 51 hours and 11 minutes.

Before that he held the flying record from Omaha to Philadelphia, a distance of 1220 miles in 11 hours and 20 minutes.

He once held an altitude record of 28,000 feet.

Acosta has always liked speed. In school he was a track team sprinter and hurtler.

Later he learned to fly and went in for automobile racing. He dropped out of the automobile game, however, to follow aviation exclusively.

He Likes to Tinker

Acosta is also a motor boat and yacht fan. If there isn't a plane handy he wants to tinker with a motor boat.

He served in the aviation division of the Canadian army until the United States entered the war and then got a transfer to the American army in which he was a captain in theaviation corps.

Acosta who is of Spanish descent, was born in San Diego, Cal. He is married and has two children.

Star in "The Love of Sunya" Relates Her Picture Struggles

BY GLORIA SWANSON.

My life in motion pictures has always been a struggle.

It began with hard work back in the days when I made my start in the old Essanay Studios in Chicago. There are those who think, perhaps, that achievement of stardom would bring a life of ease. But the truth is that harder work and more responsibility come with this success. Now that I have acquired an interest in United Artists as an independent producer I have less idle time than ever.

My first public appearance was as a child of seven when I sang in a benefit show at Key West, Fla., where my father, an army officer, was stationed at the time. A few years later, I was the "leading lady" of an operetta given by my school at San Juan, Porto Rico.

When I returned to Chicago, the city of my birth, I had no intention of entering the movies. Like every young girl, however, I was interested in them. One day my aunt took me to the Essanay Studios and I was fascinated with what I saw there, I expressed a desire to work in some of the pictures. Not long after that I got my opportunity.

At first, my work was that of an extra girl, but a few months later I had bits slightly more important.

Then I decided to go to California. An impresario had tested my voice and had given me much encouragement for its development. He recommended a teacher on the coast and I planned to study under him when I reached there.

This never came about, because Mack Sennett gave me a place in his company when I reached California. Later I co-starred in his light comedies with Bobby Vernon. From there, I went to the old Triangle company, where a starring contract gave me a long sought opportunity to forge ahead in sericus roles. After this came my career with Cecil B. DeMille, and then the long starring contract with Famous Players.

In 1926, I became on owner-member of United Artist. "The Love of Sunya" is my first independent picture for United Artists to release. I look upon this as the most significant step in my career, and I hope the enthusiasm and the determination I am putting in my work will result in pictures meriting the approval of the public which has been so kind to me.

Air Lines to Cut Travel Time Down

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, June 25.—New York, San Francisco, Dallas and other far distant points from Chicago will be brought within a hop according to promises of fast airplane service here today by A. R. Martine, president of the Bankers Service company of New York.

Instead of 20 hours from Chicago to New York, the fastest schedule time now made by railroads, the airplane service will take eight hours. Other distances will be cut in time proportionately.

But the fare will not be standardized for some time to come, Mr. Martine added. From present indications, the schedule of rates and time in passage from Chicago to other cities will be, approximately:

New York, 8 hours—800 miles, $49.05.

Detroit, 3 hours—237 miles, $14.71.

St. Louis, 3 hours, 25 minutes—278 miles, $15.61.

Kansas City, 5 1-2 hours—460 miles, $24.81.

Boston, 12 hours—918 miles, $54.94.

San Francisco, 24 hours—1,900 miles, $119.76.

Dallas, 12 hours—1,000 miles, $51.54.

St. Paul, 4 1-2 hours—377 miles, $21.40.

The Biography of a Caddy

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE.

Bill was born in a little side street not far from the golf course. The street was locally known as "The Caddy Hatchery." Its supply was steady and unfailing, each child accompanying his caddy brother to the course at the age of five, and going out with players the following year. Bill's right name was Luigi Guiseppi, Garibaldi Iorocci. But he never used it. Asked his name he would say "Bill." Bill is easy to say, and not so formal and condescending as "Caddy." The kind of players Bill was out for are not formal or condescending. They like to be chummy with the boy who carries their clubs, and somehow they feel flattered at their ability to remember his name. People are queer. Especially golfers.

Bill loafed around the caddy house and listened in for the names of the good tippers. When a brother in the profession announced that he had got a half dollar tip from Mr. Smithers, Bill memorized "Smithers" and made it a point to have its owner identified for him by one of the other boys.

He watched for Mr. Smithers week days, and of course a chance came along to caddy for him. Mr. Smithers was a rotten player, but Bill was no hero worshipper. He knew he could see good golf if he wanted to by going to the tournaments at a near by course. But he didn't want to. Bill wanted success in his profession.

The first day he went out with Mr. Smithers, he kept fairly ahead of him, and when he got into the rough carefully improved his lie, so it wouldn't be so much trouble to get out again. That day Mr. Smithers made the round in one hundred and fifty instead of his customary two hundred. He was transported. Bill got thirty-five cents. The regular tip was fifteen—or on some occasions a quarter.

As Mr. Smither's game improved, Bill's finesse and tact improved along with it. He constantly complimented the player on his shots.

"That was a peacheroo," he would say, when Mr. Smithers managed to make a drive of 150 yards without getting off the course. "I wisht I could make a shot like that."

Give Bill a battered old brassie, and he could lay a ball down two hundred yards away without any perceptible effort. But no player ever caught him practicing.

If Mr. Smithers sung a two-foot putt Bill would clap his hands and dance around the green. "You sure do know how to allow for them rolls on the green" he would say. "I seen pros who would have missed that putt a mile."

Mr. Smithers slowly improved. He had already begun to notice that he played much better when Bill was with him than when he had any other caddy on the course. He reserved Bill for every game.

The tip had grown to be a dollar.

Mr. Smithers could not help commenting in the locker room on Bill's sterling qualities. He began to be in demand by other players. He carefully studied the requirements of his principals. He was quick to observe that some players did not like caddies to talk much, but he also observed that none of them were averse to a low compliment, or to a beaming smile when they won a hole.

He also found out that practically all the players did not object to adverse comment on the game of their opponents, and to the most invidious sort of comparisons. Bill made these comments and comparisons, sparingly or often, according to his observation of the disposition of the players. He also learned that a smile is quite out of place when a shot is missed, and quite welcome when it happens to be a good one. He used his smiles to the best advantage.

In match games Bill was always out ahead, and never did the man for whom he caddied find a bad lie.

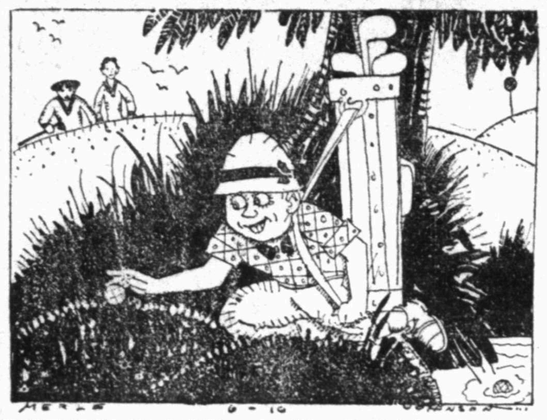

"Funny how that ball happened to roll," he would say as the player came up, "it picked out the one spot in his here rough where there wasn't no long grass. You can get it out with the wood and make the green on it."

He omitted to say that his niblick toe had done a great deal toward adjusting the position of the ball.

Bill was best in tournaments. He has a tactful way of getting ahead of the other caddies and depressing the ball of an opponent—provided he was a stranger—so that it took three or four shots to get it out. His eager feet always managed to roll a ball into a creek or pond or bunker, if the ball was that of the man who was playing against Bill's principal. Very often after a tournament was won, Bill would come into the caddy house with a five dollar bill, and exhibit it proudly. The fact that the other boys believed that he had stolen it out of the coat of the player for whom he had been working didn't disturb him. He knew he had come by it honestly.

With women Bill was at his best. Women as a rule like to be told what to do. They lack the blatant self sufficiency which prevents most men from finding out what is wrong with them. Bill furnished first-class professional instruction to women when he was far enough out on the course to be out of sight of the pro. He showed them how to swing and hold their clubs, and he praised every good shot they made. He was "a little dear" to all the women players, and they competed for his services by giving bigger tips than women commonly do. Some of them even called at his house and brought fruit and flowers for Bill's mother.

Bill gave up caddying at twenty-one, and entered business as a clerk. He applied the same methods to business that he did to the game of golf. He did a little lying and flattering, and now and then a little cheating in behalf of the man who employed him. And I am credibly informed that he is regarded by his boss as a brilliant young man, with a great future before him. It will be a great future, unless he gets into jail before it is achieved.

He Kept Fairly Ahead of Him, and When He Got Into the Rough Carefully Improved His Lie.

Negro Gets 74 Years In Prison For Thefts

FORT WORTH, June 25. (AP)—A total of 74 years service in the penitentiary was imposed on Son Peterson, 27, negro, by a jury here today following his pleas of guilty to 14 cases of burglary in criminal district court. He was given 25 years in each of two cases charging burglary of the private residences of Miss Mattie Perkins, formerly of Fort Worth but now of Amarillo and R. E. Brodkey.

NO FAT MEN JAILED

PEORIA, Ill.—Police officials here are surely perplexed. A weighty problem has their nerves on edge, and the authorities are exercised to decide whether or not they shall build a bigger jail or insist on smaller prisoners. It all started when an incautious policeman arrested Albert Harris of Chicago, who a local inkeeper said, was trying to beat his board bill. Not until the police department, aided by a small motor truck, had got Harris as far as the jail was the discovery made that the prisoner was too big for the jail. Harris, who weighs 423 pounds, was pulled and pushed into the doorway, but there he stuck, and the combined efforts of the night force at police headquarters couldn't budge him. Under the strain the prisoner fainted, and it took the fire department and a couple of ambulances to remove his weighty torso from the front entrance.

Chevrolet Might Reach One Million-Car Mark

With production running at the record clip of more than 5,000 units daily and demand for the product constantly attaining new levels, the Chevrolet Motor company, announces a $2,000,000 development of its properties at Flint, Mich., to relieve congestion brought about by steady increases in production.

This will include two buildings, a three-story office building and a new parts building. The new buildings will be completed Oct. 1, according to Charles F. Barth vice president in charge of manufacturing.

On the completion of the new buildings, the present office and parts buildings will be razed and a modern factory building erected in their place, Mr. Barth declared.

Franklin Pioneers Air Principle

Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris; Byrd flew around the pole and Acosta stayed aloft for more than 51 hours breaking all previous records for flight endurance. All these epochal flights were made possible through the use of the modern air-cooled engine, according to aviation and automotive engineers.

As stated by Charles Lawrance, president of the Wright Aeronautical corp., the air-cooled "Whirlwind" motor used on all these flights and to which all these intrepid airmen attribute a big share of their success was first considered a mechanical possibility by reason of the success of a similar type of cooling in the Franklin automobile. Studebaker Adds New Limousine

The president limousine, a car for those who desire the exclusiveness of chauffeur-drive cars, has been added to the Studebaker line according to word received by D. L. Fritz, local Studebaker dealer. The new car is a striking example of Studebaker's blending of custom design and economical building.

The driver's compartment which is upholstered in genuine leather is separated from the rear compartment by a sliding glass partition. The plate glass panel forming the principal part of the partition may be lowered by a crank device as used in door windows. When lowered, the car is equivalent to a seven-passenger sedan.

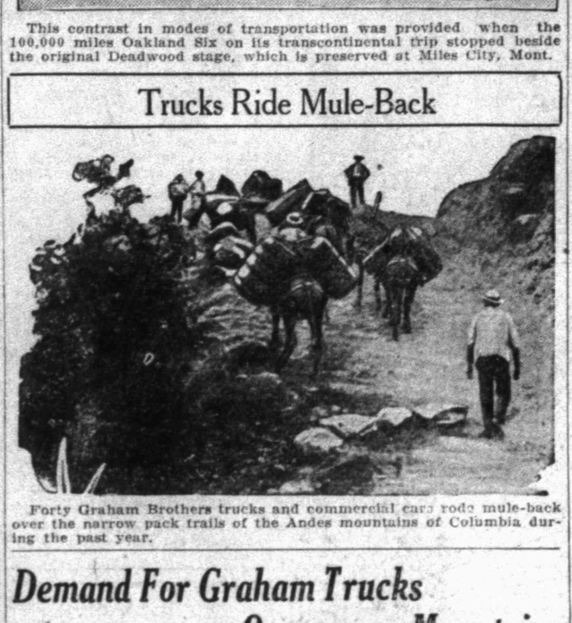

The broad deeply-cushioned form-fitting seats of the rear compartment are upholstered in gray broadcloth or genuine mohair, embellished with a distinctive broad-lace trim. Silver finish hardware, inlaid with lacquer; silk curtains; opal iridescent corner and dome lights, the latter automatically lighted when the right rear door is opened; toggle grips; smoking set, vanity case and an autophone connection with the driver suggest the completeness of fitments. The auxiliary seats are deep and wide.

Trucks Ride Mule-Back

Forty Graham Brothers trucks and commercial cars rode mule-back over the narrow pack trails of the Andes mountains of Columbia during the past year.

Demand For Graham Trucks Overcomes Mountains

The need for Graham Brothers trucks in out-of-the-way places as well as in centers of population is strikingly illustrated by the story of Bucaramanga, Columbia.

In the midst of a large and fertile agricultural district, this city is completely walled in from the outside world by the Eastern Cordillera Range of the Andes Mountains. The only practicable means for getting persons or manufactured goods into the city or shipping farm produce out is by pack mule over narrow and perilous mountain trails. Yet, in and around Bucaramanga, Graham Brothers trucks and commercial cars are being operated in large numbers on a net work of roads which abruptly end at the mountain confines of the valley.

These trucks and commercial cars, 40 of which were imported during the last year, were brought into the valley like everything else—on muleback.

DODGE 'SIX' SALES LARGE

Production Ranks With Other Companies

One of the most remarkable accomplishments in the history of the automobile industry is to be created to Dodge Brothers this summer. The new Dodge "six" which has been introduced less than a month has been put on a production basis ranking with that of a majority of the long established sixes of other manufacturers in the same price field and the cars are being sold by dealers as fast as they are received.

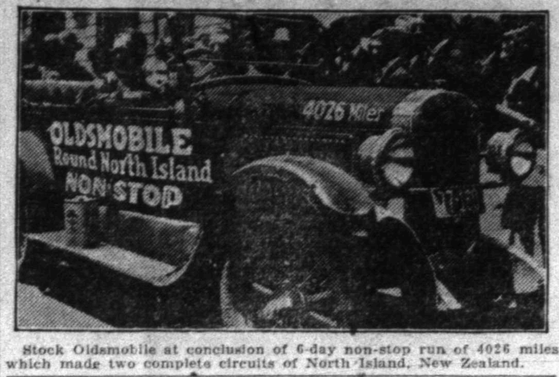

The exceptionally favorable reception which the public has given the new Dodge Brothers Senior line has caused production at the new $4,500,000 factory to be increased rapidly since May 1 when the first car was made and at present the daily output is running from 250 to 275 cars per day. By the end of June it will be 300.

Since the first cars were shipped the factory has been deluged with telegrams from its dealers all over the country, ordering additional cars immediately and expressing extreme enthusiasm over the new line.

A typical telegram says: "After thoroughly testing the senior we feel that you were very conservative when you announced that it would be a car of unusual performance are away beyond our expectations. It is a masterpiece and has created the utmost enthusiams in our entire organization." Another reads: "Six wonderful sensation. Competitors warmest praisers, wishing us success."

Only one body type—the four-door sedan—has been displayed yet but within a few days a four passenger coupe and a new type of cabriolet roadster will be added to the line. These cars are particularly distinctive in appearance and production will be increased as rapidly as possible to enable dealers to make prompt deliveries.

Oldsmobile Ends Run

Stock Oldsmobile at conclusion of 6-day non-stop run of 4026 miles which made two complete circuits of North Island, New Zealand.

Stock Oldsmobile Proves Worth In New Zealand

With amateur drivers alternating at the wheel,a sotck Oldsmobile Six recently proved to natives of "the other side of the world" the wonderful stamine and craftsmanship that are built into the better American automobiles. For more than six days and nights without coming to a stop this Oldsmobile ran over a course comprised of all type roads and grades, piling up a mileage of 4,026.

The run was made on North Island, New Zeland, and consisted of two complete circuits of the island, starting and finishing at Auckland. Sixty per cent of the route was thorough hilly, mountainous country with road surfaces consisting of an assortment of cement, bitumen, metal, dirt and, in many sections, long stretches of deep, greasy mud. The roads varied from the sea level shore of Hawke's Bay to an elevation of 2,625 feet. The longest run on flat land was less than 30 miles. Weather conditions during the run varied from hours of drenching rain to mile after mile over scorching sands.

The run was arranged to show what a car would do under the same conditions if in the hands of an owner-driver. A schedule was therefore outlined of the whole trip whereby the car was given fixed times to pass certain specified points enroute, based on the estimated running time possible by the average driver over the same routes.

NASH SHOPS PAY TRIBUTE

Workmen Praise Lindy's Plane Artisans

Tribute to the unsung heroes of the trans-Atlantic flight, the men in the shops who built Col. Lindbergh's "silent partner," The Spirit of St. Louis, was paid by the men in the shops of the Nash Motors company. The skilled workmanship which went into the making of the Lindbergh monoplane challenged the admiration of the Nash artisans with the result that at the company's weekly quality meeting the following telegram was sent to the Ryan Air Lines Inc., of San Diego, Cal., and to the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, Paterson, N. J.: "The superintendents and foremen of the Nash Motors company," representing all of the boys of our shops, assembled at our weekly 'quality meeting,' extend to your entire organization and particularly to the boys in your shops, our congratulations upon the great compliment which President Coolidge in welcoming Colonel Lindbergh, paid to the product of your skill. You all must be very proud and very happy over having contributed this wonderful 'silent partner' in which the president of the United States expresses pride that in every particular this partner represents American genius and industry."

Chevrolet Announces $2,000,000 Development

DETROIT, June 26.—Indications that Chevrolet production will reach, if not pass, the million mark this year were seen here today, following the announcement by the Chevrolet Motor company that production for the first five months totaled 494,953 units. This is a 60 per cent increase over the corresponding period of last year and testifies to the phenomenal demand that has kept Chevrolet factories constantly at capacity, since early in the year.

Since January Chevrolet has bowled over production records each month, reaching a new all-time monthly mark in May with an output of 115,623, units as compared with the record 74,617 units in May last year.

In an effort to keep pace with the demand Chevrolet factories are now averaging more than 5000 units a day, working on the heaviest schedule ever undertaken by a manufacturer of gear shift cars.

Motor Car Approaches Universal Ownership

The average family in America has a telephone, a motor car, phonograph, a piano and a radio. Statistics bear this out.

The General Federation of Women's clubs recently canvassed 4,101,581 families, living in every clasification of cities and towns and on farms. Of the number interviewed, 56.5 per cent have telephones. A total of 2,285,739 of the families canvassed have motor cars—a 55.7 per cent ownership. Forty-six and two-tenths per cent have phonographs, 40.4 pianos and 24.1 per cent radios.

It is an interesting fact that the largest percentage of families owning cars is in towns of 1000 and less. The survey discloses that 60.5 per cent of all families so located enjoy motor car ownership. The lowest ratio was found in cities of 100,000 and up, but even here 54.0 per cent have one or more cars.

Whippet Beats Crack Atlanta Train Limited

Under official observation, Chick Murray, driving a Whippet touring car, beat the crack Dixie Flyer in a race from Atlanta, Ga., to Macon, a distance of 92 miles, during the past week. In the last 10 months Murray has achieved notable economy, speed and stamina records in his Whippet.

Murray set off from Atlanta on time with the crack limited train and covered the 92 miles to Macon in one hour, 53 minutes, 20 seconds, finishing the jump ahead of the fast train. In this hard drive, Murray averaged nearly 50 miles an hour in the race with the limited.

Seated beside Murray was Al S. Jones, official observer.

Drive the wonderful Chrysler "70" and appreciate its great reputation

We invite you to take a real ride in the finer Chrysler "70"—you to drive the car in the way you are accustomed to drive.

Such a demonstration, we are confident, will convince you of its outstanding superiority.

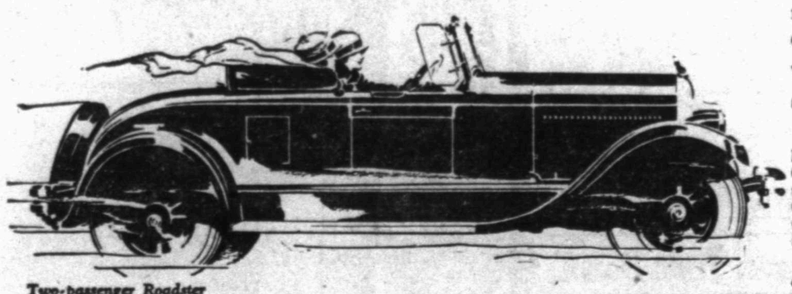

That's the sure way to learn the results of the constant progressiveness which maintains today's finer Chrysler "70" as far ahead of its field as when it first swept the country three years ago.

We can recite to you the advantages of its speed of 70 miles plus, its astonishing pickup of 5 to 25 miles in 7¼ seconds.

We can tell you what its scientifically balanced 7-bearing crankshaft and impulse neutralizer contribute toward its greater smoothness; how much more comfortably you ride because of its low chassis design, its unique spring suspension and its shock absorbers; how much more easily it handles because of its pivotal steering gear; and how much safer you feel because of its four-wheel hydraulic brakes.

But the real way for you actually to discover these things for yourself is to learn them today in an extended test over all sorts of roads, through all sorts of traffic, with you doing the driving.

We gladly accord you the opportunity for such a demonstration.

CHRYSLER CAR SETS RECORD

Good Time Made On Coast-To-Coast Trip

Coast-to-coast and back again!

A round trip transcontinental automobile record was hung up Tuesday, June 7, when a Chrysler Imperial "80" phaeton driven by its owner, L. B. Miller, arrived in Los Angeles at 9:59 a. m., 167 hours and 59 minutes out of San Francisco—by way of New York.

The time for the double transcontinental trip was just one minute less than seven days.

Miller started from San Francisco Tuesday, May 31, at 10 a. m. His primary purpose was to establish a round trip American record, but in doing so, he also broke the one-way cross-country automobile record, which he himself had made last August. He arrived in New York Friday, June 3, having driven the 3385 miles of the Lincoln highway in 79 hours and 55 minutes. This was three hours and 17 minutes faster than he covered the same route last year.

Not content with thus breaking all one-way transcontinental records, Miller waited in New York only one minute, no longer than was needed to have his time card officially stamped to verify his arrival at 8:55 p. m. and his departure at 8:56, and then he was on his way back to the Pacific coast. On the return trip he took a southerly route by way of the National Old Trails, and over a distance of 3336 miles he reached Los Angeles in 86 hours 20 minutes.

The entire distance covered on this unprecedented trip was 6721 miles. The elapsed time between the departure from San Francisco and the arrival in Los Angeles was one minute less than seven days.

Nash Announces New 1927 Models

The Nash Motors company announces today that on next Wednesday, June 29, it will introduce three entirely new series of cars featuring sweeping changes and improvements throughout the entire line.

Intense interest has been aroused throughout the automobile industry in the forthcoming Nash announcement for, according to the Nash Motors company, the new models which will be presented at this time will mark a new step forward in the manufacture of motor cars both in beauty of appearance and in mechanical improvement.

It is rumored that changes have been made in the lines of the cars which will make the new models the most striking ever produced by Nash. Since this company has always been famous for the attractive appearance of its cars, this report hs naturally aroused widespread speculation concerning the new models, and it is expected that the showrooms of Nash dealers all over the country will be thronged by eager crowds when the new cars are put on display nex Wednesday.

In all three series, including the special six, advanced six and the standard six, it is understood that a number of very important mechanical refinements will be presented to increase performance, ability and ease of operation. This fact, together with the increased beauty which is predicted, will undoubtedly emphasize more than ever the place of leadership which Nash has gained in three price fields, extending from less than $900 to slightly over $1900.

President Cites Strong Position Of Company

John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, sailed on Saturday on the Leviathan to attend the International Chamber of Commerce meeting at Stockholm, where he will address the highway transport session as chairman of the foreign trade division of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"May was the biggest month in the history of Willys-Overland," Mr. Willys stated. "Shipments for the month were 26,948 cars having a value of approximately $23,000,000. Exact figures of retail sales for this month are not yet available but it is safe to estimate that they undoubtedly exceed the shipments.

Automobile Manufacturers Expand Plants to Meet Increased Demand

BY FRED R. RIPLEY

There can be no question that motor manufacturers decidedly are not worrying about overproduction or the so-called saturation point of the automobile market.

Motor manufacturers, who ought to know their business better than anyone else, apparently have supreme confidence in the ability of the world to absorb from three and a half to four millions of cars each year and allow for a substantial growth.

This confidence in the future market for American products is easily seen in the millions of dollars that are being spent for enlarged and new plants and new equipment, to say nothing of the sums being spent on advertising and in experimental work.

There have been some startling steps taken this year by some of the larger manufacturers along the lines of expansion. The activity of some of the General Motors units has been noteworthy.

Oakland Motor Car is now obtaining production from the new plants which were included in the $15,000,000 expansion program started last year. Within a short time it is expected that this company will be able to turn out 1350 cars in a nine-hour day. Further expansion planned by this company includes the construction of a foundry which will cost approximately $2,700,000.

Another General Motors unit, the Buick, recently completed facilities for turning out 1300 complete cars a day. In addition the company has projected a foundry which will represent an investment of $5,000,000.

By the end of this month the Flint plant of the Fisher Body company will have a capacity of 500 closed Buick bodies daily and completion of another unit will raise this total to from 1200 to 1500 bodies daily. This last named unit, however, will not be completed for some time.

In an effort to speed up its output, Hudson has curtailed production temporarily to permit installation of facilities which will add more than 200 units to its daily capacity. It has been well known for some time that Hudson has experienced difficulty in meeting its demand. It is expected that the new production schedule will be put into effect the first of July.

The steady flow of business which has been coming to Packard Motor this year has necessitated the appropriation of more than a million dollars for factory improvements. The company is reported as operating night shifts in nearly all of its departments, with business continuing steadily.

Reo Motor Car, too, has experienced the stimulus of new business and, within the past year, has invested about $2,500,000 in new equipment and plant improvements. The advent of two new passenger lines and a lighter truck have undoubtedly been a great benefit to Reo's sales.

In order to meet the manufacturing requirements of the new "six," Dodge Motor has added more than 500,000 square feet to its floor space. This brings the total Dodge floor area to well above 6,000,000 square feet.

It is estimated that about $1,750,000 has been spent thus far in equipment for the new plant. The plant itself represents an investment of $2,750,000. The company's total plant capacity has now been raised to 2000 units daily. This includes both passenger cars and trucks.

Willys-Overland is another company which has seen fit to lay out a sizable sum in facilities which will help take care of expanding business. Its new heat and forge plant, which cost $1,250,000, will provide all the forgings necessary in the manufacture of 1500 cars daily.

Erskine Export Trade Increases

A highlight in America's growforeign trade is reflected in the export sales figures for the Erskine Six, which have just been made public by the Studebaker corporation of America.

Export shipments of Erskines for April totaled 3272 cars, an increase of 25 per cent over the previous month. Export demand, coupled with the pressure of domestic sales, forced production to jump from 225 cars to 300 cars a day in April.

Shipments were made to virtually every country in the world. At the loading platforms of the Studebaker plants in Detroit, where the Erskine is manufactured, a steady stream of Erskine Sixes boxed for overseas shipment has been pouring out in the last 60 days to such points as Nairobi, British East Africa, Algiers and Casablanca, in North Africa, Singapore, Tokyo, Tientsin, Hong Kong, Oslo, and Danzig as well as the principal cities of Great Britain and the continent of Europe. In South America, where the Erskine was first exhibited at Buenos Aires and later at Sao Paulo, 2500 cars were ordered for May and June delivery.

MARMON EIGHT MAKES RECORD

Speedster Is Driven Mile-a-Minute In Michigan

Breaking the former record by one hour and 20 minutes, a standard stock Mormon eight speedster, driven by Lex Kennerly of the Marmon Detroit company, established a new record on the open road between Detroit and Grand Rapids, June 8, when it covered the distance of 146 miles in just 146 minutes.

The start of the run was made in the center of Detroit and 26 miles of the run was made through traffic in Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids. The route followed carried the car through 14 different cities and towns including Lansing, which has a population of 100,000. The fastest train between Detroit and Grand Rapids requires three hours and five minutes and the best previous automobile time over the distance was three hours and forty-six minutes.

Time for the run was checked by offices of the Western Union in both cities and has been registered as authentic by officials of the telegraph company.

WOOD TO KEEP FILIPINO POST

General Has No Intention Of Resigning Job

By Universal Service.

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 25.—Despite his impaired health, Major General Leonard Wood has informed President Coolidge that he will return to his post as governor general of the Philippines this fall, it became known today.

General Wood gave absolutely no indication of any desire to retire.

He told President Coolidge that he is anxious to carry on his administrative policies and President Coolidge is known to have expressed his desire for General Wood to represent the United States in the Archipelago.

Rests at White House

General Wood had a very comfortable night in the summer White House and at breakfast today he conferred again with the president on the Philippine policies.

President Coolidge came here for his bi-weekly conference with the newspaper correspondents and General Wood rested on the veranda of the state lodge.

General Wood's personal physician repeated his denial of the consistent report that the general is suffering a paralysis of his left side. The general, nevertheless, is getting about with difficulty and has somewhat the same appearance of the late President Wilson during the last part of his regime in the White House.

Due to Operation

The physician insists that the illness is due entirely to the abdoinal operation and the auto and ship accidents suffered by the general.

General Wood leaves here on his special car this evening. He will stop briefly at Chicago. He expects to go from Chicago to Washington for a conference with the war department and then to New York for transaction of personal business.

QUANAH NOTES

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, June 25.—The community revival led by Dr. Burke Culpepper of Memphis, Tenn., and under the auspices of the Methodist church closed Sunday night. Dr. Culpepper is an evangellst of wide reputation and the revival was a success from every standpoint. Two hundred and fifty additions to the different churches came as a result of his preaching. A free will offering resulted in $1250 being presented to him and his choir leader, Dr. John Robinson. The party left for Sequoiah, La., to begin a meeting.

The Y. M. B. L. of Quanah is perfecting all arrangements for a big fourth of July celebration to be held at the Fair Park. A barbecue will be had and everything will be free. A good program has been arranged. All neighboring towns are expected to attend.

Damage Suit.

Earl Stine of the City Tailor shop has been notified that a suit has been filed against him and the Crowdus Drug company of Dallas for $50,000 damages for the death of Dr. J. T. Horton. Dr. Horton was run over and killed one night last winter during a severe hail storm as he attempted to cross the street at Mercer and Second. It is claimed that a car and a delivery car both ran over him.

Something like two thousand acres of land has been terraced in Hardeman county in the last three months. Many acres before this had been terraced and it is becoming very popular with the farmers. Much work along these lines has been done by the county agents.

WHERE WATER'S BANNED.

ROME.—There is no question in the mind of the Italian populace but that water is bad to drink, and wine a far more beneficial beverage. Although the nation as a whole is sober, the idea of drinking water with, or between meals, is horrifying to the average Italian. Water, in the Italian theory, interferes with the action of the digestive organs, and creates unhealthy tissue. Two Italians in conversation may frequently be heard exchanging such remarks as "I used to drink water, but I gave it up. Now I feel 100 per cent better.

ROBBER APPREHENDED.

COLUMBIA CITY. — Lem Schroeder phoned the sheriff, Jim Haynes, the other night, that some pesky chicken thief had got into his yard again and made off with two of his choicest hens. Strapping on his guns and tightening his belt, the sheriff started out in hot pursuit. The thief hunt ended when the sheriff ran to earth a weasel which had killed, in one week, 48 chickens, dragged their bodies to a hiding place under a board, and was taking them out of storage as seemed necessary.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.(AP)—J. M. Walsh of Memphis, Tenn., was elected president of the American Association of Railroad Superintendents and Memphis was selected as the 1928 convention city in the closing session of the association's thirty-fourth annual conclave here today.

New York Shown At Worst In The Book Of The Week

By BURTON RASCOE

BY BURTON RASCOE.

The book of the week is "YOUNG MEN IN LOVE" By Michael Arlen, published by the George H. Doran Co.

Michael Arlen made his reputation by writing glamorously and sentimentally about a beautiful lady with a loose reputation, who came to a bad end through circumstances in which she was really innocent and in which she had acted nobly; but nobody knew it, and everybody suspected the worst of her.

Venetia Vardon, of "Young Men in Love," is, like Iris March of "The Green Hat," beautiful and doomed to luxurious and spectacular unhappiness. She is the daughter of Jasper Vardon, the great financier. Her mother is dead. The Vardon establishment is mysteriously ruled over by a lady known as Aunt Alice, though she is no kin to the Vardons and her relationship with Jasper Vardon is equivocal.

Venetia thus had grown up with unconventional notions of propriety. And when she made her debut at the age of 18, it was into a society, not of the proper sort, but into the upper Bohemia of London. Her coming out was not into respectable drawing rooms, but into tawdry night clubs. And her friends and playmates were careless in their habits and in their morals.

Venetia's set included:

Charles Savile, a popular novelist.

Peter Serle, a brilliant but undependable politician.

Townleigh, a great newspaper magnate.

Ralph and Michael Townleigh, sons of Townleigh.

Esther Sass, a dilettante of arts and life.

Ysobel Fuller, an American actress born in Kansas, who was the rage of the season on the London stage.

This set lived expensively and swiftly. They had, it would seem, no private life. They were always in restaurants or night clubs or at Richmond and Ranelagh. They pursued pleasure as though they were hounds in a pack. They were addicted to week-end parties.

Peter Serle was in love with Venetia. Charles Savile was trying not to fall in love with her and was not succeeding. Ysobel Fuller was infatuated with Saville and made no secret of her passion. Ralph Sass was mad about Ysobel Fuller.

There you have a nice ring-around-rosie of love and Mr. Arlen makes the most of it, in a setting particularly appropriate. They had motor cars and country homes and jewels and servants and Mr. Arlen alludes to these possessions in a way to make them seem very wonderful to have. But, rich and leisured and with nothing to do but amuse themselves, not one in the set had what he or she really wanted.

Venetia fell in love with Savile and tried to cut the tangle by giving herself to him, proposing that they run away, get clear of it all, be married, settle down and live happily together ever after. Unfortunately Savile wanted to wait long enough to finish his novel. And so did Mr. Arlen. If Venetia and Savile had run away and got married the story would have ended too quickly.

But, after some delay, they come to a decision to run away.

Unfortunately, Venetia yielded to a kindly impulse and granted Serle one last interview to say good-bye to him. The result was disastrous. Savile understood then, for the first time, that Serle had been Venetia's lover. He felt that it was no use trying to win and hold Venetia's love. At the very moment she was preparing to go away with him, he thought, she was having a sentimental passage with Serle, her lover.

Venetia saw that with Savile in his frame of mind, and thinking as he did, that it was no use trying to explain. Like Iris March, she preferred to bear her cross of unhappiness and let appearances be against her, even when she was not guilty. She loved Savile, but if he did not understand that she loved him, she would not try to make him understand.

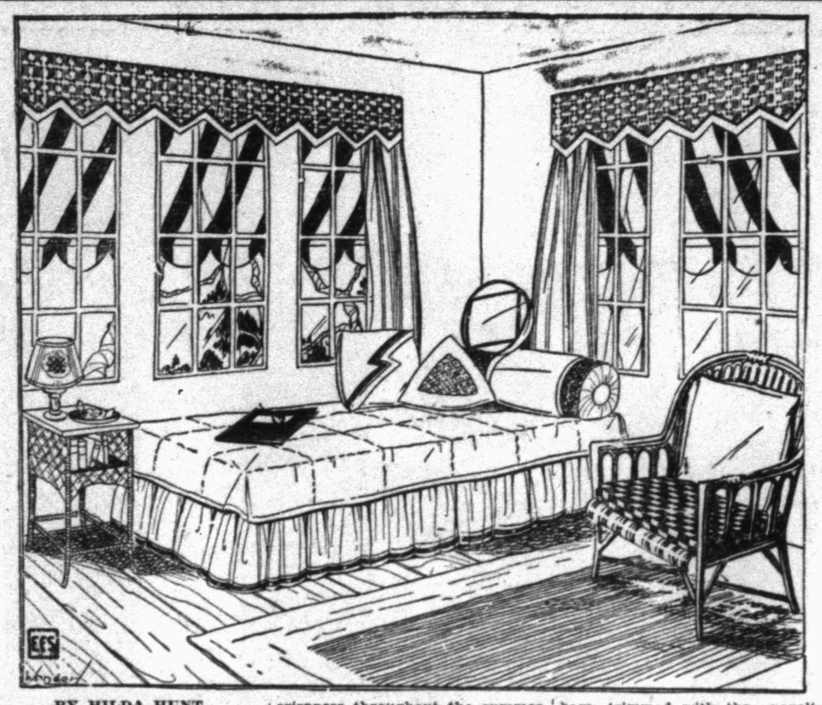

So Venetia, nursing a broken heart in secret, affected a cynical abandonment to the joyless joy of loose living and pleasure, and let Ysobel Fuller have Saville.

The story has very little contact with reality. It is a glittering spectacle in which pretty marionettes, gorgeously dressed, are danced about on strings. There is good entertainment in the spectacle, which comprises figures representative of all that is most fashionable, most contemporary and most evanescent in the "gay world," not as that gay world actually is, but as romantic writers and romantic readers like to imagine it.

The novel falls into three sections. The first part is more like an essay on contemporary social life and politics in London than like a novel. There is an elaborate depiction of the character of a big newspaper magnate, of a wealthy and influential Jew and of how these men run things in English politics and finance. The second part is descriptive mainly of London night life, and the third part is the romance proper.

Arlen's style in "Young Men in Love" is not so sticky as it was in "The Green Hat." It is more straight-forward, with less cheap ornamentation.

Changing Your Furniture's Dress For the Summer Season

BY HILDA HUNT

With spring housecleaning comes slip cover time. The house is going into summer raiment. Heavy draperies that have done duty all winter are about to take a vacation—a rest in moth balls—and lightweight curtains of tub fabrics must be put in place for the summer. Naturally the upholstered furniture, that winged chair, the sofa, the window seat cushions, are not going to harmonize in fabric if in color. What's going to be done about it? The slip cover solves the problem, and at the same time preserves the upholstery.

If the housewife is handy with the needle she can make her own slip covers. But it is no easy job to fit a chair like the winged model in the sketch. The services of an upholsterer may be engaged at no very great expense. The cover for the window seat cushion is another matter—merely a matter of correct measurements in rectangle, with a five-inch strip for the box effect. The pieces are joined with a cording, the top and bottom being sewed to the covered cord before they are joined to the box strip. One end is left open and finished with buttons and tailored buttonholes, or with ties or snappers.

Where buttons are used a flap about an inch in depth is attached to the top of the cover to support the buttons, and buttonholes are tailored in the box end attached to the lower side. A flap of less depth should be used with snappers or ties. The boxed end is finished and left open at the sides to permit the cushion to slide in. As a tub-fast, sunfast fabric is essential if the room is to retain its fresh crispness throughout the summer, gingham is to be recommended. The slip covers may then be laundered weekly, if need be, without injury to color or fabric.

Green, brightened with dull reds and rose reds, is the color scheme of the room illustrated. The walls are papered in a light green paper with a floral design in rose red and pink. A novelty plaid gingham in dull reds, dull jade green and a yellow stripe on an oyster white ground, was used for the window drapes. Leaf green one-tone gingham, trimmed with the novelty, was used for the slip covers. Pipings and a deep pleated flounce on the chair cover tie up with the window drapes, and the boxed sides of the cushion perform the same function for the window seat. Thus the danger of over-design in the room is avoided and the monotony of an all one-tone effect broken. Cross draped glass curtains of yellow marquisette are used. Color spots of accent are furnished by the sofa pillows in yellows, greens and rose.

Plans Completed For Texas Derby To Be Inaugurated in 1930 Season

By Universal Service.

AUSTIN, June 25.—The "sport of kings" is to be revived in Texas with the running of the first Texas derby in 1930, according to an announcement today by Houghton Brownlee, Burnet rancher and race horse breeder.

The derby will be an annual affair and will go to the city offering the largest purse, if plans of the Texas Breeders' futurity, recently organized, to promote the breeding of race horses in Texas, equal to and superior to the Kentucky bred racers, materialize.

The futurity is composed of widely known stockmen, capitalists and business men of the state, including former United States Senator Joseph Bailey, Dallas; T. W. Waggoner, millionaire race horse breeder of Wichita Falls; Gus Schreiner, wealthy stockman of Kerrville, and M. H. Reed, cotton broker and race horse fancier.

Sixty-five brood mares have already been entered in the futurity and the foals from these mares will participate in the first derby in 1930, Brownlee said.

Dynamited School Soon To Be Reconstructed

BATH, Mich., June 25. (AP)—The Bath consolidated school district board has accepted a formal offer from United States Senator James Couzens to rebuild the school house destroyed May 18 by blasts of dynamite planted by Andrew Kehoe, demented Clinton county farmer.

Forty-four persons, mostly small children attending class, were killed.

FLORENCE STRATTON WHO MADE SIZEABLE SUM OF MONEY DOING SOMETHING W HICH MIGHT JUST AS EASILY HAVE BEEN DONE YEARS BE FORE.

BEAUMONT, June 25. (EFS)—Ten thousand dollars for an idea that should have occurred to that many persons has been the reward of Miss Florence Stratton, Texas writer, who picked up O. Henry's postscripts and caused them to be published. And it was the easiest $10,000, says Miss Stratton, a person ever made.

O. Henry started his journalistic experiences on the old Houston Post, where he conducted a daily column known as "Postscripts and Pencilings." These daily gems of the genius who was later to become famous, remained unnoticed in the Post files year after year, until, in fact, Miss Stratton dug them up a short time ago.

A newspaper syndicate seized them at once, and broadcast them throughout the land to 30,000,000 readers. And then Harper & Brothers, publishers, put them into book form. From both enterprises Miss Stratton is still receiving revenues and her sum total of labor on each has been nothing more than the exchange of several letters and the writing of an introduction for the Postscripts book.

Miss Stratton has since published a book of "Favorite Recipes of Famous Women" and a history of the city of Beaumont. And she has an alert eye looking for another feature such as occurred to her in the Postscripts.

Just Money Overlooked.

"But I will never again have such good fortune," she says. "I don't, for the life of me, know why these Postscripts weren't dug up before. They represented the only unpublished writings of O. Henry and were available to anyone who would take the bother to look up the files. Biographers were writing at great length about his history, of course mentioning his time on the Houson paper, but it seems never to have occurred to anyone to revive his journalistic writings."

O. Henry remained in Houston a little more than a year. A column a day during that time offered ample material for a book, some being eliminated altogether, in fact.

Prisoner Escapes By Taking 22-Foot Leap

BROWNWOOD, June 25. (AP) — Earl Copling, said to be wanted in Borger and Comanche, escaped from Sheriff White Thursday night by leaping through a second story window 22 feet above the ground. The sheriff was talking by telephone to Comanche when Copling made his escape. No trace of him was found today.

A. Winder, member of the general committee in charge of the affair, said today.

Richest Bachelor Dies With Penny in Pocket

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Wilson B. Hickox of Cleveland, Ohio, known a few years ago as that city's "richest bachelor," died suddenly last night in his room at the Hotel Roosevelt. He was about 45 years old. Only 10 cents, a gold watch and a passport were found in his clothing, although he is said to own considerable real estate in Cleveland.

CURTAIN CALL.

NORTHAMPTON, England. — Complaints by jealous wives that the silk stockings of the choir girls caused their husbands' attention to wander from the more serious matters of the service caused the vestry of a local church to place a curtain around the lower part of the choir benches. "If there is a question of the girls giving up their stylish dresses, or the choir," remarked a vestryman, sadly, "they'll give up the choir."

G-E FANS

Add to Your Summer Comfort

ONE of those wonderful oscillating fans, will accomplish four times as much as a stationary one. By turning from side to side on its base, all parts of the room receive the same cooling breeze, and the objection of a strong draft in one direction is overcome.

That's why we sell so many of these G. E. fans. They give wonderful service, and during the heated spell, are worth their weight in gold.

Next to going to the mountains or sea-shore, the best thing is to install an electric fan. Try one, and you'd never be without one.
