Fair Weather Due For Opening Of Big Spring Rodeo Tomorrow

PARADE TO OPEN FETE OF WEEKEND

Predicted fair weather, a potentially colorful parade, more than a score of pretty cowgirls, large numbers of talented performers, and salty stock combined on the eve of the eighth annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Thursday to give promise of one of the fastest and most exciting western shows this city has witnessed in several seasons.

The parade, being directed by Burke Summers, was due to shove off soon after 1 p. m. Friday up E. 3rd street toward downtown and over the usual route. First performance of the rodeo will be at 2:30 p. m. Friday, followed by an evening show at 8:30 o'clock. Other shows will be at 8:30 p. m. Saturday and 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

General admission tickets will be 50 cents plus tax for adults and 25 cents for children. Grandstand seats will be 25 cents plus tax additional. Entrance is on the west side of the rodeo grounds at the end of 11th street.

Summers gave instructions for assembly of the parade. The band, color guards by ex-servicemen, non-commercial floats, the bicycle brigade will form on Nolan street south from 3rd. Commercial floats, vehicles and cars will assemble on Goliad south from 3rd and the mounted division, in which more than 200 riders are expected to participate, on Austin south from 3rd.

An appeal to all business firms and organizations to be represented was issued again by Summers. He especially urged all who can to ride horses in the mounted division. This extends to all local people who have or can get horses. A near record number of spozzors was in prospect for the rodeo with 22 entries listed. Friday the names of Mrs. Opal Etheridge, Sweetwater, Mrs. Nell Snyder, Melvin, Irene Giles, Dalhart, and Bonnie Carpenter, County Line (Mitchell-Scurry) were added to the sponsors field.

At the same time, Mrs. A. Swartz, added by Mrs. Ray Lawrence and Mrs. Curtis Driver, completed plans for a sponsors' luncheon Saturday at the Crawford. The Mexican theme will be carried out, some Latin-American children will dance the jarabe, and favors will be given guests. Saturday evening after the rodeo sponsors will be honored at a dance.

Wednesday evening lights at the rodeo ground were tested and found to be giving ideal illumination. Many people were attracted to the grounds during the test period.

All stock was in rodeo pens and being accustomed to the layout. Calves appeared to be particularly spirited because they have not been roped for rodeos before. Red Lyons' broncs and steers have reputations for meanness, and the wild mules have never been ridden before.

At Midland Wednesday afternoon, a committee enthusiastically took 400 tickets to sell and to organize a Midland motorcade here Sunday afternoon for Midland Day. At Odessa Jerry Debenport, chamber of commerce manager, said "we can do anything Midland can do."

With the city decorated to the hilt and individuals sporting rodeo regalia, Big Spring was ready for another weekend of lively entertainment.

AFL Votes To Resume Work On Propellers

Telephone, Aluminum Tieups Continue To Worry Defense Chiefs

By the Associated Press
Striking AFL machinists voted unanimously today to go back to work at Curtiss-Wright's Caldwell, N. J., propeller plant engaged on $100,000,000 of defense orders.

The dispute, which involved the question of a proper bargaining agent and wages, was certified by Secretary of Labor Perkins to the defense mediation board last night.

There were strike threats, meanwhile, in the huge telephone and aluminum industries.

Members of lodge 703, International Association of Machinists, voted to stop the Caldwell strike after their delegates to the mediation board conference told the strikers they were "not gaining anything by staying out now."

The strikers were asking wage increases of 20 cents an hour over a scale which the company said averaged $50.07 weekly. The management declined to enter negotiations with the AFL group, contending that Propeller Craft, an independent union, won a recent collective bargaining election.

War department officials had expressed grave concern over a sharp increase in work stoppages. As of last Tuesday, they said, 30 strikes were holding up production of army equipment, and 23,400 workers were idle, compared with an average of 14,000 idle since early June.

The CIO aluminum workers union told Secretary of Labor Perkins last night that 20,000 workers would strike at five key plants of the Aluminum Company of America (Alcoa) to support demands for elimination of north-south wage differentials, unless the government intervened in the dispute.

Leaders Make Public Eight Point Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain, after a secret meeting at sea, joined in a declaration of war aims today which voiced a determination to achieve "the final destruction of the nazi tyranny."

A White House announcement embodying the eight-point joint declaration, said the two national leaders, with their high ranking military chiefs, examined "the whole problem of the supply of munitions of war" for "those countries actively engaged in resisting aggression."

These covered the supply problems of the Soviet Union. Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, is coming to Washington to discuss further details.

In several conferences, the announcement said, they "considered the dangers to world civilization arising from the policies of military domination by conquest upon which the Hitlerite government of Germany and other governments associated therewith have embarked."

The statement said they "made clear the stress (explained here as probably meaning steps) which their countries are respectively taking for their safety in the face of these dangers."

The joint declaration, constituting the most concrete war aims yet disclosed on the British side, set out "certain common principles in the national policies of their respective countries on which they base their hopes for a better world."

The president and prime minister declared their belief after their historic meeting at sea, that after "the final destruction of the nazi tyranny" the disarmament of aggressor nations "is essential" pending the establishment of a "wider and permanent system of general security."

Points In Joint Program:

The eight points on which the president and Mr. Churchill agreed to "base their hopes for a better future for the world" were:

- "First, their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other;
- "Second, they desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned;
- "Third, they respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them;
- "Fourth, they will endeavor, with due respect for their existing obligations, to further the enjoyment by all states, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access, on equal terms, to the trade and to the raw materials of the world which are needed for their economic prosperity;

- "Fifth, they desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security;
- "Sixth, after the final destruction of the nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford to all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries, and which will afford assurance that all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want;
- "Seventh, such a peace should enable all men to traverse the high seas and oceans without hindrance;

- "Eighth, they believe that all of the nations of the world, for realistic as well as spiritual reasons must come to the abandonment of the use of force. Since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armaments continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten, aggression outside of their frontiers, they believe, pending the establishment of a wider and permanent system of general security, that the disarmament of such nations is essential. They will likewise aid and encourage all other practical measures which will lighten for peace-loving peoples the crushing burden of armaments."

First Tanker Of Gas Goes To Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes announced today the first shipment of aviation gasoline to Russia aboard an American tanker would leave Los Angeles today for Vladivostok, flying the United States flag.

"Other tankers will leave shortly," he said.

Ickes reported at his press conference, also, that deliveries of gasoline in the east were up 8 per cent last week, despite the night time "blackout" of filling stations and he said "more rigid steps" may be expected immediately to curtail gasoline consumption on the Atlantic seaboard, where a shortage has been forecast.

Although declining to discuss what "rigid steps" might mean, petroleum sources have considered the possibility that Ickes' next action might be through a rationing of supplies to service stations.

Ickes revealed that he had sent a representative, Edwin W. Pauley, to London "to study the oil situation in all its stages and the British rationing program in all its phases."

Darlan Promises To Follow Petain

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 14 (AP)—Vice Premier Jean Darlan, in his new role as minister of national defense, told France's land, sea and air forces today that he will lead them along the road designated by Chief of State Petain.

Darlan's message was contained in an order of the day broadcast to the empire as newspapers from Nazi-occupied Paris indicated belief that defense powers both at home and overseas now concentrated in Darlan's hands give him complete power over colonial commanders-in-chief.

RAEN IN UKRAINE

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (AP)—The weather again has turned rainy in the Ukraine and German sources said this may mean a slowdown of action on that front.

Bill Extending Draft Service Finally Passed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Final senate approval sent to President Roosevelt today legislation extending the service periods of all army enlisted personnel for 18 months.

The measure, passed by the single vote margin of 203 to 202 in the house Tuesday, would authorize the president to retain selectees, national guardsmen and reservists for a total of two and a half years. Regular enlisted men, who signed up for a three-year period, could be held for four and a half years. Today's senate action was acceptance of the house bill.

Under the legislation, all men who had served 12 months would receive a $10 monthly pay increase.

Japs Charged With Taking Hospital

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (AP)—Japanese seizure of the American Southern Presbyterian mission hospital and other property of the mission as Tsingkiangpu and the virtual imprisonment of American physicians and missionaries there, was charged here tonight in reports received by Presbyterian mission executives.

Tsingkiangpu is in northern Kiangsu province, in which Shanghai is situated, and the report was brought here by Chinese courier. Americans at the mission include three men and six women.

The alleged Japanese action was called retaliation for Washington's freeing of Japanese assets in the United States.

Port Arthur Steel Mill Work Starts

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 14 (AP)—Actual construction of Port Arthur's $2,000,000 national defense steel mill will begin today.

Demonstrators In France Fired Upon

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 14 (AP)—Paris newspapers disclosed today that police fired on demonstrators yesterday at the Porte St. Denis, wounding some of them, and that 16 others were arrested at the Gare St. Lazare, a main railroad station.

The newspaper Aujourd'hui said those involved were "solely Jews and foreigners."

(A German broadcast, heard in New York, said communists provoked the incident and that all arrested persons were Jews.)

FD Still At Sea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—As far as Washington knew today, President Roosevelt was still at sea. The joint declaration of policy by the president and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill was radioed to the White House, for release here, from a point unknown to the public.

Germans Say It's A Bluff

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (AP)—The first authorized German reaction to the war aims statement of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill was that the whole declaration was a "propaganda bluff."

"Churchill and Roosevelt are unfortunate in their declaration being made at a time when every hour brings new reports of impressive successes for German arms in the Ukraine," one spokesman asserted.

Previously, there had been only DNE's brief, factual report that the United States president and British prime minister had met and issued their joint statement.

Japanese Situation Probably Taken Up

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The United States is now pledged to the reconstruction of post-war Europe and the support of the Russian-British cause on every front, informed British sources said today in reviewing the jointly-issued Roosevelt statement.

Things left unsaid in the statement are regarded as fully as important as those of the eight-point joint declaration.

Omission of reference to Japan "implies that Japan was one of the main points of discussion," a Japanese diplomat admitted.

British informant said the meeting was at Mr. Roosevelt's invitation. The Japanese source said that the tempo of the Japanese advance in South Asia was slowed even as rumors of the historic meeting between the British and American leaders sped around the warring world.

News of the meeting was broadcast by radio to Britain by Lord Privy Seal Clement Attlee, who has been acting as Churchill's deputy in his absence.

With the entire nation warned a day ahead of time to stand by for a "momentous announcement" dealing with the war effort, radios in millions of homes and in offices and shops were tuned to the broadcast.

Short wave transmitters in addition carried translations of the deputy prime minister's words to Germany, France and other parts of the world.

It is quite probable, according to these informants, that the two leaders agreed on:

1. The precise moment when the British and American governments would discard passive resistance for action against Japan.
2. Mutual use of British and American bases in the South Pacific.
3. A request to the Soviet Union to open a northern front with a Siberian red army of 1,000,000 men if war should start in the South Pacific.

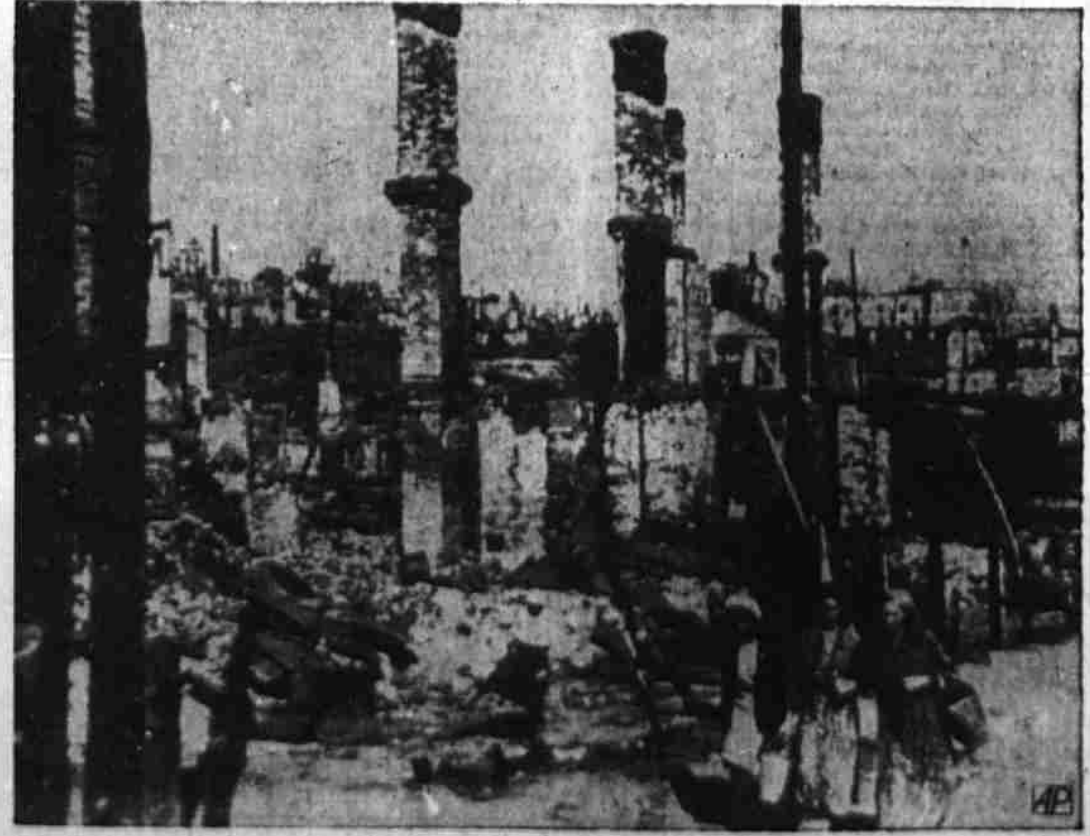

Japanese sources admitted ruefully that "all these are possibilities, not necessarily probabilities."

U.S. To Improve Iceland Harbors

The United States will provide the material and will employ Icelandic labor, and will have absolute priority on the use of facilities, it was stated.

Warehouse facilities also are being extended.

Robinson, Knott, dressing center; Mrs. J. H. Reeves, R-Bar, attractive foods for defense; Mrs. Jess Henderson, Fairview, beautifying home grounds. Other entertainment included a sing song led by Mrs. Roy Tonn, Midway; special music by Knott 4-H and H. D. club members; a reading by Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, Overton.

Lora Farnsworth, county home demonstration agent, presented Wynelle Jones, Knott, with a gold star pin awarded her as the outstanding 4-H girl of 1940. After the program, several of the club women and Miss Farnsworth participated in an over-night encampment.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers believe nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about a pint a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Dry Weather Puts Firemen On Run

Dry weather is beginning to show up in the fire department run book.

A blaze originating from a trash fire ignited a fence at the home of Dr. W. B. Hardy, 1304 Runkles street, Wednesday afternoon and caused small damage. Earlier in the week the department had made two runs to extinguish grass and weed fires.

Previously, Fire Chief Ole Cordill had warned residents to clear their premises of weeds and dry grass and to at least make sure that these were cleared from fences and buildings.

These men, who help make and deliver grand-tastin' Grand Prize Beer, are now qualified to give prompt and efficient first aid whenever it may be needed.

Where office workers or executives have to hop from place to place or wish to take work home, the portable adding machine is quite as popular as the portable typewriter.

... now I'm ace-high in clubs!

A while back, at my club, I was nothing but a fourth at bridge. Another fellow to fill up a pool. Then came the momentous day when the conversation turned to beer. While the lads made claims and counter-claims, I maintained a sphinx-like silence. Not until my opinion was asked did I signal for a round of Grand Prize for the crowd.

One by one they tasted this grand-tastin' beer. A sip, a smile. Hurrahs galore then greeted my ears. In a matter of seconds, I became the man of the hour and Grand Prize, the new favorite of the club.

Now that I'm ace-high in the outfit, I give due credit to this fact—a man's first taste of Grand Prize tells him it's one of America's truly great beers. So, next time be sure the brand you buy is Grand Prize. It's your guarantee of grand-tastin' refreshment.

Fun With Flowers— This Time It's Something For Baby That Catches The Eye

By FRANCES JONES

No. 1—Here's something appropriate and cute for a baby shower. Why they're milk bottles containing—but GLORIFIED milk bottles! A regular pint size milk bottle becomes much more effective as a flower container if you color it soft pink or blue. It's easy too! Just empty a tiny can of paint (stirred well) into your well dried milk bottle and swirl it all around. Pour out the paint when the bottle is evenly coated and let it dry.

No. 2—On the above bottle a tiny corsage of baby roses is tied with soft blue as a novel presentation at the place of the guest of honor. Long after the baby shower is over you will be using these "glamorized" milk bottles for emergency flower holders. They're surprisingly satisfactory for blooms on tall, slender stems.

No. 3—In the milk bottles you might place airy bunches of either the fresh or partly dried "Baby's Breath." For emphasis use the "baby" varieties of any garden or green house flowers. Baby ramblers and baby gladioli are the flowers I chose for the table above. Since both blossoms were pink a tiny blue baby ribbon was selected for the line on which little doll clothes were pinned. Baby rattles, shower gifts to the little one, are the decoration of the central unit. Pink and blue ribbon bows hold them in place. Dollies under the milk bottles give the table a lacy dainty look.—(Distributed by Esquire Features, Inc. Reproduction strictly prohibited.)

Meat Institute Denies Charges

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP)—The American Meat Institute, one of 118 defendants in a federal indictment, told the nation's housewives today that if they paid more for their Easter hams than for others, it wasn't because of any conspiracy in the meat industry.

The packers' promotional organization said neither it, any of its committees, officers or employees "have violated the anti-trust laws or any other laws" but have engaged only in "proper legitimate activities."

A federal grand jury yesterday charged the institute, 81 packing and provision firms and 36 men operating in 30 states with conspiracy and provision firms and 36 men operating in 30 states with conspiracy to fix the price of ham during the Easter season the last five years.

Payson, Ariz., was named for Louis Edwin Payson, representative in Congress from Illinois, who never visited the town.

Army May Feed Soldiers Dose Of Vitamins

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14 (AP)—Science is almost ready to pep up the army, navy and defense workers in capsule doses—the idea is to put most or all of the important vitamins in one pill.

So says Dr. Roger W. Truesdell, nutritional expert and president of Truesdell Laboratories here. He returned yesterday by air from conferences with chemists and executives of the federal security administration in Washington. "Within a short time," he declared, "a new capsule containing all the known 'B complex' factors is expected to be ready. With it can be combined A and C vitamins, thus assuring required vitality, resistance and other health elements."

Such a capsule, Dr. Truesdell explained, probably will be welcomed since it will permit soldiers to eat almost anything they please. With all the nutritional requirements fulfilled by the capsule, hardback can be replaced by energy-building high carbohydrate foods, fats and the like. "Defense activity and its needs have created new interests in the fields of chemistry, nutrition and drugs," the 38-year-old scientist continued. "This may result in discoveries of immense benefit to civilian populations of the future." For those few who may have an aversion to capsules, it will be a simple thing to put all the elements in capsules.

Dykes Signs New 3-Year Contract

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes can take off his shoes now without having to worry about grabbing them in a hurry. His new contract says he has three more years to sit around the hearth at Comiskey park. The 44-year-old White Sox manager and Mrs. Grace Comiskey, club president, put it down on paper that Dykes should continue in the job he's held longer than any of his 14 predecessors. "Jimmy got a raise," said Mrs. Comiskey, and the guesses were that it meant his current $25,000 stipend had been boosted to around $27,000 or $28,000.

DODGER-BABE PHELPS DEBATE STALEMATED

ODENTON, Md., Aug. 14 (AP)—Babe Phelps is ready to return to Brooklyn and help the Dodgers in their pennant drive, but he won't beg for the opportunity and the Flatbushers could use their hard-hitting receiver but won't plead with him to re-enter the fold. That's the way matters stand between himself and the pennant.

bidding National league club, says Phelps, rotund, gentleman-farmer of Odenton, discussing his two-months-old break with the Brooklyn, whom he left June 12 with a complaint he was sick.

Measurement Of Farms Is Near Finish

Measurement of Howard county farms for compliance with the AAA program is nearly complete, M. Weaver, administrative officer, said today.

Only "odds and ends" remain to be rounded up, along with a recheck of several fields where cotton has been plowed up. At a date to be fixed soon—about the 20th—Weaver plans to ask all farmers in the county to come to the AAA office to make applications for parity payments, receive cotton marketing cards, and receive cotton stamps. Big Spring merchants are all ready to receive these stamps in exchange for manufactured cotton articles.

MATTER OF WEAR AND TEAR—While American women are stampeding stores to buy silk stockings, the agriculture department's experimental hosiery mill at Beltsville, Md., is testing cotton and lisle hose that may have later use in this time of grave emergency. Insects Cause Damage To Cotton Crop All Over State

By Associated Press
Many a Texas farmer, hampered by a shortage of poison to fight a heavy insect infestation, is wondering what his cotton harvest will be. The crop ranges from extremely poor in the lower Rio Grande valley to spotted but generally good in West Texas. In East Texas the outlook is fair, but some county agents predict half will be destroyed by insects. Calcium arsenate is unobtainable in many sections and there is a lack of other poisons. Some farmers are resorting to makeshifts. In McClennan county, for instance, they are using cattle dip, and County Agent J. C.

Patterson said one-third to one-half of the crop might be lost. An excellent feed crop is going into silos. Corn is mostly mature but of poor quality in many areas. Ranges are superb. Panhandle farmers are ending the harvest of a wheat crop which some grain men estimate as small as 18,000,000 bushels, in contrast to the 27,000,000 bushels predicted before damaging rains extended through July.

With less than 4,000 bales ginned in the valley, the cotton total will run about 45,000 bales which is less than half the 1940 production. In the blacklands belt, cotton prospects are only fair with infestation heavy in some areas. Improvement is reported in cotton in 19 counties of the South Plains, but heavy insect damage is feared. Late feed needs but little rain and a bumper crop is in prospect around Lubbock. Taylor County Agent Knox Parr says the mild weather caused boll weevils to emerge earlier and in large numbers than ever before. Hot weather has helped cotton recently. Good prospects are reported in Howard county where the crop may make 40,000 bales—the best in history. Conditions are similar in Martin and Dawson counties.

Paper Protests Screen Drinking

Protests from different sources that the movie industry cannot long afford to disregard are rising up to show the trend of general feeling of a long suffering public that perhaps is being pushed too far. Expressing nation-wide disapproval of drinking in the movies, an article by Father Daniel A. Lord, S. J., of St. Louis, appearing in fifteen diocesan publications of the Catholic church, entitled "Screen Tippling" said: "Motion picture directors often run out of ideas. Now when they can think of nothing else to do they have the hero call for a Scotch and soda or the heroine mix a highball. "The liquor companies are so convinced of the power of motion pictures' suggestion that they asked the movies to stop calling for Scotch and soda and ask for bourbon or rye, since people were getting from the movies the habit of asking not for American whiskey but for Scotch whiskey. "But the point remained that they were getting a habit of asking for any kind of whiskey. "Now, on the stage or on the screen, a drunk, male or female, may be funny. In real life, there is not a laugh in a tankful. "If our daughter came home reeling like a sodden film heroine, we'd go on a diet of bread and water for her repentance. Comedy must be clean to be funny. Humor must be dry, not soaked and alcoholic, to deserve a place in the family entertainment which is the films." (Submitted and published at the request of the local W. C. T. U.)

LAMESA, Aug. 14—Everything happened in the Wichita Falls-Lamesa baseball tilt here last night, but the Lobos rallied to edge out the Spuds, 9-8. The Spuds scored five times on four hits in the first and three on no hits in the ninth to take an eight to five lead, but the Lobos came back in their share of the frame to score four and sack up the ball game.

Cats Given Twin Bill Walloping By Rebels

By The Associated Press
Since the Texas league season opened the Fort Worth Cats have been trying to annex just one victory over their arch-enemies, the Dallas Rebels, on the latter's home grounds. Now they'll have to wait until next year.

The Cats muffed a beautiful chance last night when the Rebels edified a home crowd by sweeping a double bill, 7-5 and 3-2. The twin victory over the Panthers put the third-place Rebels within a game and a half of the second-place Tulsa Oilers, who were busy dropping an 8-5 decision to the Indians at Oklahoma City.

The Houston Buffs repaid a large crowd of fans who had gathered at Buff Park for Appreciation Night with an 8-7 triumph over the San Antonio Missions in a 15-inning affair.

The Shreveport Sports took a doubleheader from the Exporters at Beaumont, 4-0 and 2-1.

Ace Golfers Open Nat'l Qualifying At Houston

HOUSTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—A small field bulging with talent assaulted Braeburn Country Club's 36-36-72 par today in search of five places allotted this section for the National Amateur golf tournament.

Only 19 players were entered for the sectional test but the roster included two National champions and the ruler of the Texas Golf association.

Bill Welch of Houston, national public links champion, was one of the early starters in the 36-hole trial. Also in the field were Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas youth, who won the recent intercollegiate title as a student at Louisiana State university, and Billy Bob Coffey, San Antonio oil operator who holds the state amateur association championship.

Other satellites entered were Reynolds Smith of Dallas, former Walker cup player; Bobby Riegel of Houston, ex-state champion; Jack Munger of Dallas, Jack Tinsley of Houston and Edwin McClure of Shreveport, who has won the Louisiana title many times. One of the few outstanding linksmen missing was Harry Todd of Dallas, low amateur scorer in the national open, who qualified earlier at Broadmoor, Colorado Springs.

The long Braeburn course was reported in top shape, despite recent rains.

Players teeing off included: 9:35 a. m., Ed Herron, Houston, and Chester Drake, Austin; 9:40 a. m., Bill Finnlin, Houston, and Claude Wild, Jr., Austin; 9:55 a. m., Bobby Riegel, Houston, and Ed McClure, Shreveport.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—With a place in the field at Omaha Aug. 25-30 their goal, 607 golfers were scheduled to tee off this morning in 27 widely scattered precincts for the national amateur tournament 36-hole qualifying rounds.

The entry list this year is a little on the scanty side, but it by no means lacks the usual class. In addition to defending champion Dick Chapman and the list of former champions, all of the quarter-finalists of last year's tournament except one—George Dawson of Chicago—will make their bid.

COACH NAMED
BROWNWOOD, Aug. 14 (AP)—Bill Stephens, high school football coach at Levelland for the past seven years, today was named head coach at Daniel Baker college to succeed I. E. Ransom, resigned. Stephens played on the Austin college and the Abilene Christian college teams in the early 20's.

B'Springers Open Road Trip At Borger Friday

Last night was definitely not Big Spring's night to blossom baseballistically—the Bombers were skinned, not defeated mind you, by the visiting Lubbock Hubbers, 10-2, in the second set of a three-day engagement. The series now stands even-all.

This is the last game of the current hometown series. Friday the Bombers inaugurate their next-to-last road trip of the season, when they tangle with the present top-ranking club, Borger, in a three-day engagement, August 15-16-17.

—Steve Knight, Hubber rightfielder, led the attack on the Big Springers, hammering out a homer over the rightfield fence in the second inning with the bases loaded—the second time this season that such a feat has been turned in on Roberts Field.

For one of the few times in his hometown card, Bob Kohout failed to have much stuff on the ball. After Kohout gave up six hits and seven runs over five frames, Left-hander Mel Reeves was brought in from centerfield to finish the night. Reeves turned in a creditable performance against Lubbock, his first relief role on the home field, although he has done some hurling work on the road. He held the Hubbers hitless and scoreless for three innings but was bopped for three outs and three hits in the ninth stanza.

Tonight the two clubs tee-off for their last taste of the regular season on Roberts Field. Manager Jodie Tate said last night Willard Ramsdell or Charlie Wheelch were the ones most likely to draw the pitching assignment in the finale.

Led off by J. L. Haney's triple Big Spring made a desperate attempt to do the impossible in the ninth—a try that netted three runs and a trio of hits. Haney was driven in by Jack Lindsey's single, then Hayden Greer, on base by fielder's choice, was brought in by Mel Reeves' hard hit three-bagger. Previously, Lindsey had been thrown out as Greer landed on first, and the side was retired as Larry Drake filed out to Bartkowski at centerfield and Eddie Stevens popped out to Lorenz at second base.

Lubbock's Sakas pitched a brand of ball that seemingly was not too fiery but gave the Bombers trouble. Greer, usually one of the more consistent lads with the stick, was unable to do anything with the Lubbock right-hander's toss. Haney, Reeves, and Ratliff got the range with a fair degree of accuracy, the three of them picking up a pair of hits each.

Art Shilling, taking over the centerfield spot when Reeves took up the mound job, reaped 500 dividends for his two times at bat, and the side was retired as Lindsey, filled the bill so far as Big Spring's slugging show was concerned.

Croquet Champs Crowned Monday

A city wide elimination croquet tournament sponsored by the City WPA recreation department attracted twenty-five entries at the City Park courts Wednesday afternoon. Bud Maxwell, 12 years of age, competing against a group of six other boys and girls won the midjet championship. Weldon Hartin, 14 years of age, competing in a bracket of seven junior boys and girls, won singles honors in this division; then teamed with Jess Clark, also copped the Douglas crown.

Melvin Logan, last year's adult singles champion, retained his title again by barely edging out Olin Brazzel in the finals. Olin was for the last wicket when Melvin hit the post. There were seven entries in this division.

Logan and Brazzel playing as partners won the adult doubles championship competing in a bracket of four teams. Awards were given winners in each division.

Arlo Royce Of S'Angelo Wins TAAF Title

Soldiers Take Two Championships In State Boxing Show

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14 (AP)—Two Fort Sam Houston fighters given furloughs from the Louisiana military maneuvers to compete in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation boxing tournament here carried state championships with them as they hurried towards the mock battle lines today.

Benny Brast, a sergeant in the Ninth infantry, knocked out Aubrey Poole of Houston in the first round to take the heavyweight championship in last night's finale, and Tony Franco, a buddy from the same regiment, outpointed another Fort Sam Houston contender, Santos Hernandez, to win the lightweight crown.

Arlo Royce of San Angelo, last year's flyweight champion, climbed onto the featherweight throne with a two-round technical knockout over James Butler of Austin and Carl Hilger both of the middleweight title by decision. Simon Luna of San Antonio, who upset defending champion Andy Eagleton of Fort Worth Tuesday night.

San Antonio won two championships and Austin, Fort Arthur, San Angelo and Camp Bowie one each.

Bantamweight Robert Delgado shaded Celestino Cortez of Galveston in three rounds and Roger Sanchez, flyweight, won by default from Babe Serna, also from San Antonio, to account for San Antonio's titles.

Morris Corona of Fort Arthur retained his welterweight crown by taking a close decision over Eddie Russey of Wichita Falls and Tom Attra of Austin, the 1940 light-heavyweight winner, protected his championship with a decision over Herbert Johanson of Galveston.

Lookin' 'em Over

With Jack Douglas

Finally, Borger's Gassers have graciously cooperated with the Big Spring Bombers in their efforts to climb back on top of the West Texas-New Mexico league list—Borger lost to the ever-dangerous Clovis Pioneers last night, 6 to 4.

Now, some way needs to be devised that will give the Bombers a victory when the Gassers get the reverse. At the rate they are moving now, the count will remain the same. But, Borger has a slump somewhere down the line. It's been some time now since the current loop leaders have taken a series of whippings—they're overdue.

Friday the Bombers start on the road and will lead off their jaunt by attempting to take matters in their own hands so far as the Gassers are concerned. The Big Springers open a three-day engagement at Borger, August 15-16-17, then jump over to Pampa, where they are slated to have a two-day battle with that city's Oilers, August 18-19. Then, the Bombers return home for a couple of days with the Pampa club, August 20-21.

Starting August 23, after resting up on the 22nd, the Big Springers wind up the last home series on their regular '41 calendar. This game of Manager Jodie Tate and his Bombers, the Gassers, will be entertained over the doubleheader route on August 23 and 24.

All which means this—between now and the 24th the crisis will be passed, one way or the other. Fortunately or unfortunately, according to how you look at it, the two top clubs will be battling it out face to face. Big Spring need not look to another club to hand the Gassers a licking—working on the premise that a job well done is one done by yourself, the Bombers hold the decision in their own hands.

Right now, it happens that the Bombers are second-choice on the card, but just a short while ago the reverse was true.

Therefore, the best bet is to sit tight, hope for the best, and not go off on the deep end for either club—it's still a long way to August 24.

Kramer Faces Unknown Today

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14 (AP)—Earl Coehell, youthful Southern California student, who upset seeded Wayne Sabin Tuesday in the Newport Casino Invitation tennis tournament, faces a stern test today as he meets another Los Angeles resident, Jack Kramer, in a quarter-final singles match.

In the other half of the bracket, top-seeded Don McNeill, Oklahoma City, is linked with Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla., in a duel to decide which will meet the winner of the Kramer-Coehell match in the semi-finals.

Ted Schroeder, Glendale, Calif., and Frank Parker, who crashed Bryan "Buzzy" Grant, of Atlanta, Ga., from the tourney yesterday, are set for a Friday meeting in the other semi-final clash.

Here They Go Again—

Brooks Narrows Cards' Lead

By The Associated Press
The tangle in the National league is as hopeless of an early solution as a star-day bicycle race on the first day.

Last night the Cardinals crashed 3-8 in 10 innings at Cincinnati as the Dodgers drummed out a 7-3 triumph over the Phillies to game—where the matter is bound to rest today, because neither team is scheduled.

In another National league night game the Chicago Cubs sent the Pittsburgh Pirates sprawling to their third straight defeat, 6-4, for their longest losing streak in seven weeks.

The New York Giants and Boston Braves divided a doubleheader. Babe Young sparked the Giants to a five-run lead in the first three frames of the opener by getting two doubles, one with the bases loaded, and New York made it last for a 7-6 victory. Then Lefty Art

(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Briets)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (Herald Special News Service)—Here it is Thursday already, and Ben Jones hasn't signed a rider yet to steer Whirlaway home in the Travelers Saturday...Southern golf experts tip you to keep an eye on Louise Suggs, the Georgia gal, in the women's national the next year or two...Her pop's old Johnny Suggs, who once did a pitching hitch in the Yanks' farm chain....

Today's guest star—Frank Tolbert, Fort Worth Star-Telegram: Big John Kimbrough's handsome face decorated a large cigarette ad the summer. Usually, these ad layouts have a 30-day run in magazines, newspapers and billboards. But the Kimbrough picture was used for 60 days, which should make John the Tobacco Road of the cigarette ballyhoo business. And he doesn't smoke.

Kicking it around—Stagg didn't fear Purdue any more than the scare Bo McMillin is cooking up for the rest of the Big Ten when he uncovers his 200-pound sophomore, Billy Hillenbrand, at Indiana this fall...And down in the wide open spaces, they say if Southern Methodist goes anywhere in the Southwest conference it'll be because Red May, another soph ball lugger, is carrying the mail—

Caught in the draft—Uncle Sam's about to grab The Senators' Buddy Lewis. Leaving the Nats on a limb. Without a bit of ju-ke. For up to now the Nats have been Barely out of the cellar. But if Bud goes, they're sure to sink. And then will the Old Fox beller!

Hit-and-run—Frank Leahy is tipping Notre Dame alumni not to be too disappointed if the Irish drop as many as three decisions this fall. . . . Among other things, Pauline Betz, the tennis-ette, also plays field hockey, golf, basketball, the piano, volleyball, bridge and a typewriter (she's studying journalism at Rollins)...Just to show how much chance the Indians still have of winning the pennant, an agent is contacting syndicates to see who wants to buy Bobby Feller's byline for world series coverage.... Marquette's dormitory and stadium will be so loaded with the American Legion convention next month, the football squad'll have to start its training at a lake 30 miles from the campus.

Texas Power Offered For Defense Use

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — A proffer of additional hydroelectric power in Texas for defense industries provided the government would finance such projects was considered by federal officials today.

The offer was made by officials of Brazos and Colorado river agencies yesterday.

The Lower Colorado River Authority, through its attorney, Sam Glendon, already had volunteered to aid the government in utilization of potential power on that river.

R. D. Collins, secretary of the Brazos River reclamation and conservation district, arrived in Washington yesterday ahead of Brazos river representatives to suggest a power pool in which the river district might have a part.

Collins said that he would confer in New York with Lewis Mims, chairman of the board of directors of the Brazos district, and New York engineers associated with the district in advance of a conference with federal officials at Washington tomorrow.

Pilots To Convene In Portales Sunday

PORTALES, N. M., Aug. 14 (AP) — The air over Portales will be filled with hungry breakfast guests Sunday as the city plays host to 200 members of the Oklahoma-Texas-Eastern New Mexico Pilot's association.

Some 40 to 100 planes are expected to bring the club members from as far as Fort Worth for the first breakfast club meeting of the year—weather permitting.

Colorado To Have Larger Stadium

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 14 (Sp) — Construction of additional seats at Colorado City high school athletic field is to begin as soon as materials are received.

The school board this week closed a deal for the materials. All the bleachers now on the east side of the field will be moved to the west, filling out the full length of the field. New seats with a capacity of around 1,200 will be constructed on the east side.

Mrs. Housewife Fortifies Her Kitchen Cupboards For Winter

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

Now comes the midsummer mobilization of berries, fruits and melons.

Mrs. Housewife snaps to attention and launches the perennial drive to fortify her kitchen cupboards against raids of next winter, with shelves lined with spicy jams, gay quivering jellies and spreads like grandmother used to make.

How about some MINT JELLY? It's bright in color and its saucy flavor sets off lamb, pork, chicken or veal. Used as a garnish, it gives extra zip to salads, fruit sauces and desserts. In fancy containers, this jelly is ideal for gifts.

Gather enough fresh mint to make three tightly pressed cups. Wash well, cover with boiling water and a lid. Steep an hour or so, drain and put into apple juice.

To make the apple juice, cut up, but do not peel, 3 quarts of green apples. Pour in 3 quarts of water and cover. Cook slowly until apples are very soft—about 30 minutes. Pour into a jelly bag and drain, without moving, until all the juice is out of the pulp. Combine the mint and apple juices and add a mint green tint with fruit coloring.

Boil hard 5 minutes, cool and measure. For each 3 cups of juice, stir in 2 cups sugar. Boil rapidly until a small portion jells on a cold plate. (Remove the cooking jelly from the heat while testing.) Pour into clean, sterilized glasses, cap and seal with melted paraffin.

FRUIT CONSERVE LENOX, a spread with a fine reputation makes a perfect foil for hot breads, waffles or pancakes or it can be used as a pudding top. Mix 4 cups each of seeded red cherries, cubed pineapple, raspberries and gooseberries, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon each of grated orange and lemon peel and 1-4 teaspoon salt. Simmer under cover 25 minutes — or until very soft and blended. Measure and mix in 2 cups sugar for each 3 cups fruit. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and a cup of raisins. Boil gently 20 minutes, pour into sterilized jars, cool and seal.

Peaches and raspberries are an interesting team. PRESERVES NORMANDY. Wash 2 oranges, cut in halves and discard seeds. Put pulp and skins through food chopper. Combine orange with 6 cups sliced peaches and 5 cups raspberries. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Measure and add equal portions of sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon and a teaspoon cloves. Boil gently until preserves thicken. Use wooden spoon for the stirring. Pour into jars and seal at once.

Cantaloupes with pears and berries makes a delicious new spread fit for any occasion. Mix 3 cups cubed cantaloupe, 4 cups each sliced pears and blackberries, 1 cup orange juice and 1-4 cup lemon juice. Measure the amount and add 2 cups sugar for each 3 cups fruit blend. Let stand an hour or so. Mash and cook gently until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Black cherries are fast coming into their own and this CHERRY SURPRISE will make a hit to serve atop frozen desserts. It's grand as a mere spread for hot breads. Mix 2 quarts seeded cherries, with 4 cups sliced peaches, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup lemon juice and 8 cups sugar. Let stand 20 minutes and boil gently until jam thickens. Mix in a cup pecans, pour into sterilized jars and seal.

BLACK RASPBERRY-GOOSEBERRY JELLY
5 cups raspberries
1 cup water
3 quarts gooseberries
1-2 cups water

Sugar
Cook the raspberries and cup of water in covered pan until very soft. Cook gooseberries with 1-2 cups water. Pour both fruits into jelly bag hung over a bowl. Let drip dry. Carefully tip side of bag to let juice run out. Do not squeeze. Measure and add equal portions of sugar. Cook 5 cups fruit at a time. Boil quickly until a test jell. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal when cool.

Texas Cotton Crop Small

AUSTIN, Aug. 14 (AP) — The general crop report for Texas issued by the U. S. agricultural marketing service today said that, based on Aug. 1 reports, every crop except cotton was expected to exceed the 1930-39 average.

The service added, however, that corn, oats, tame hay and peanuts for nuts crops would not equal the excellent outturns of 1940. Cotton production, on one of the smallest acreages on record for Texas, was forecast at 2,572,000 bales, compared with 3,264,000 in 1940 and the 1930-39 average of 2,766,000 bales.

Legless Pilot Believed Safe

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP) — An authoritative source said today information had been received that Wing Commander Douglas R. Badger, legless RAF pilot reported missing two days ago, is alive and a German prisoner.

Efforts are being made, the source said, to confirm the information.

Editorial — Rodeo Needs Community Effort

Once again Big Spring comes to rodeo time, and once again the city is reminded that this is a community endeavor.

Thus, success or failure of the venture is not merely one for a private entertainment, but one in which the entire city is interested. In fact, if there has been any mistake in directing the affairs of the rodeo in past years, it has been in fostering it with too little demand for community support.

Those who have put funds into the rodeo association and have developed a plant valued in the thousands of dollars have realized no profit from their investment. They have no hopes of doing so. All they make goes back into the institution, and if they ever come near getting their money back they will be satisfied.

For the past two years the fate of the local rodeo has been uncertain, and only last minute support of businessmen in underwriting it has accounted for its continuity. This, naturally, has brought in a larger measure of community support, for where men feel they are involved financially, they immediately become more interested. Unfortunately, the air of uncertainty has been allowed to persist until the 11th hour and this has some effect upon preparations.

However, there is every indication that the show this year, although planned on an extremely short margin of time, is going to prove successful, so much so that any doubts about a show next year will be dispelled before they arise. Perhaps then, from the very beginning, it will be understood that putting on a big rodeo is a job for the entire city.

MADE UP TO KILL

Chapter 23

JEFF SMILED FETTERINGLY at the woman. "Oh," he said, "I didn't know Mr. Ashley had a wife."

"I didn't either," said the woman.

"Are you his sister, then?"

"Hell, no! I ain't related. I wouldn't be! My name's Baumer. You must've rang the wrong bell."

Jeff snapped his fingers in disgust. "Yeah, I must have. What a dope!"

"That's okay. Ashley lives on the top floor," she inspected me over Jeff's shoulder.

I knew Philip's door when I saw it. There was a knocker on it shaped like a tiny black cat. Jeff marched right past it and started climbing another flight of steps, steep and narrow. Panting, I followed him. He pushed open a door at the top of the stairs and pulled me through it after him. We stood in the shadow of a chimney on the gravel roof.

"Jeff?" I whispered. "What are we doing here?"

He moved to the edge of the roof and looked down. "We're using the fire escape. That would be it and that would be Ashley's window. C'mon."

"Jeff, you can't! You get ten years for that!"

"Not if you catch a murderer."

"But somebody will call the police! Or take a shot at us!"

"Who?" We looked around over the adjoining roofs. There was no one in sight but a little boy with big unhappy blue eyes. He was leaning on the parapet across the shaftway. In his hands was an enormous homemade kite. He was waiting for some wind. "Hey, kid," Jeff said, pointing to the fire escape. "Is this the way to Perry Street?"

"I don't know," the little boy said.

"He'll tell his mother on us, Jeff, and..."

"My mother isn't home."

"See, Halla. See, Jeff. The window won't be open."

"It would be if you hadn't said that."

I eased myself down the iron steps gingerly after Jeff, until we stood on the balcony outside Ashley's window. Jeff put his hands against the pane and turned his head to me. "Cross all your fingers, Halla. I did. Jeff pressed upward; nothing happened.

"Damn!" Jeff said.

The little boy said helpfully. "The next one to it is open."

We looked and he was right, but it wasn't on the fire escape. The sill was a good three feet from the rail of the fire escape.

"No, Jeff!" I said. "You'll kill yourself!"

"Don't be a sissy!" the little boy shouted.

Jeff grinned at me. "See, I got to."

He managed it very easily. That made me the sissy. Jeff opened the window and the fire escape and helped me in.

Ashley's apartment was a large sized edition of his dressing room, as scrupulously clean and astonishingly neat, considering the amount of knickknacks he had amassed and assiduously arranged. Every square inch of flat surface was buried under tiny figurines in terra cotta and ivory, china, animals, mostly cats, little snow scenes in crystal balls, cactus plants in hand-painted pots and an assortment of ash trays and cigarette boxes that ran the gamut.

"Snooping Again!"

I stood there staring about me helplessly. I looked at Jeff; he was smiling and shaking his head. "The government should plow this room under."

"Find what you want and let's get out of here, Jeff. I'm nervous."

"As a cat?"

"Please, Jeff!" I went to the window and looked down. Perry Street. Jeff started opening drawers. I thought I might as well cooperate. I opened a door; it was a closet kitchenette. I went into the bathroom, a tiny almost infinitesimal room, with dubonnet and white monogrammed towels hung tidily over the tub. Between it and the lavatory was wedged a red bathroom scale.

In the medicine cabinet, nestled behind a bottle of Listerine, I found three white tablets, the size of aspirin. "Jeff!" I called. When he stuck his head in the door, I held out a tablet to him. "Look!"

"Yeah!"

"They're the same as I found in his dressing room!"

"I don't want them." He was examining some kind of electric vibrating contraption with avid interest.

"Don't be stupid, Jeff, we'll have them analyzed. They may be morphine!"

Jeff went back into the living room. I followed him. We both stopped. There was the sound of steps on the stairs. They came briskly down the hall and halted before the door. I looked frantically at Jeff.

The door swung open and Ashley closed it and slipped his keys into his pocket before he saw us. His expression changed from startled surprise to indignation, then to fury.

"Hello," Jeff said.

Ashley looked at me. "Snooping again?" His lips were compressed into a thin, prissy line. "This is unacceptable. I wish I hadn't caught you. I'm not up to a vile situation like this."

I couldn't talk. I would have given anything to have been in a concentration camp; any place some place else.

"Ashley, I dragged Halla into this," Jeff said. "I'm the snooper and I'm sorry."

"Sorry! Don't be ridiculous!"

"I'm trying to solve a murder; that partly justifies my intrusion. You've been holding out on me; that completes the justification. And on top of that, I apologize. Do you forgive me and can we be friends and have a little chat?"

"Now, if you want to see Mr. Troy," Philip sneered. "How did you get in here? Did that fool janitor..."

"We didn't see any janitor. We crawled up through the plumbing."

Jeff sat down on the arm of a chair and pulled a pack of cigarettes out of his pocket. Ashley opened the door.

"Now, I started toward the door, but Jeff stopped me. Ashley glared at us; he was shaking. So was I. I wanted to run. But Jeff said I hadn't moved from his chair."

"Ashley, where were you born? Was it London?"

"Portsmouth? Hmm. Is that near Salt Lake City?"

"What are you driving about?"

"About where you were born. And reared. Did you know a family named Young? The Brigham Youngs?"

"Please stop trying to be funny!"

"Or a family named Blanton? There was a daughter, Carol Blanton?"

"Oh, so that's it!"

"Yes," said Jeff. "So you better answer my questions. I'll be more open-minded than Peterson."

"I doubt that! But, yes, I was born in Salt Lake City. I adopted England as my native land for purely professional reasons. It was advantageous..."

"We know about that."

"You seem to know a great deal. But I left Salt Lake City when I was eighteen...before Carol Blanton was born. And I've never been back since. Now get out of here! I won't stoop to talk to a pair of sneak thieves who pretend they're trying to solve a murder and..."

The Ashley Secret

I couldn't keep quiet any longer. I thrust the three white tablets I had found in the bathroom before Ashley's eyes.

"What about these? You're going to be very embarrassed, Mr. Ashley. If they turn out to be morphine! And what about your own sneaky tactics? Ducking us and pussy-footing around Radio City!"

"For the last time, get out of here!" Ashley's face was ugly. Instinctively, I stepped behind Jeff.

"If Mr. Ashley won't talk, Halla, I will. I know the answer to the mysterious mission at Radio City. And the tablets."

Ashley clenched his fists and started toward Jeff who glided around his back of me and spoke to Philip over my shoulder.

"The answer is strictly glandular. Fat! Obesity! That middle-aged spread!" Philip yelled and looked as if he were about to burst into tears. "An actor must keep that schoolgirl figure. Those are reducing tablets. In Radio City, on the same floor as Vincent Parker, is the emporium of Madame Somebody, Corsetiers. In the bathroom, note the scales, the

Manhattan—Sketches Of Broadway In Slump Days

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Thumbing an interview with William Fields: "Plays with stunts in them often make the most money. . . . Take 'Our Town' . . . That was a stunt play. . . . It didn't have any scenery. . . . Take 'Strange Interlude' . . . It employed double talk. . . . The actors spoke their conversational lines, then they said aloud uncomplimentary things that went on in the back of their minds. . . . It was a sensation, but it was a stunt. . . . O'Neill liked to work with stunts. . . . Such as 'The Great God Brown,' that drama where all the characters held masks up to their faces. . . . When they tried to lower the masks and reveal their true characters, no one believed them. . . . Those were great stunts, and they paid great dividends."

Add things I don't love: Artificial boutonnières in men's lapels. . . . Loud brass sections on phonograph recordings. . . . Paper napkins. . . . white socks. . . . rubarb pie. . . . double features. . . .

Broadcast: "Ma, don't drop down on your knees to pray. . . . Just sit right there in your rocking chair. . . . I'm all right, it was a good fight. . . . Don't worry about me, Ma. . . . That was what Red Cochran bawled into the mike after he whipped Zivie for the welterweight title. . . . At that, it was novel. . . . Most pugilists seem to use the same script writer. . . . You could have gotten ten to one Red was going to say, 'Hello, Ma. I win easy.' . . . That's what most of them say. . . . Red crossed 'em up."

Only 11 plays left on Broadway. . . . It's a hell tide for the drama these days. . . . August, and people out of town, and the weather. . . . But the new ones are already in rehearsal. . . . There's going to be a new Noel Coward play, with Clifton Webb in the title role. . . . Coward has had uniformly good success with his plays here. . . . The one that proved the worst flop was the one I liked best. . . . It was "Point Valaine," with the late Osgood Perkins. . . . There was an actor for you. . . . Broadway has never seemed the same to me since he dropped dead in a Washington, D. C., theatre several years ago. . . . Now back to those 11 current shows. . . . All but two are comedies or musicals. . . . Only "Watch On the Rhine" and "The Corn Is Green" are serious.

One of the lonely heart clubs announces it has opened a Hollywood branch office in order to combat the incompatibility of movie marriages and apply scientific techniques to the domestic problems of the stars.

Another lonely heart club sends in photostatic copies of pictures proving it has received more than a million letters through the years from lonely men and women who are anxious to become acquainted with other women and men. . . . This club says it has more than 300,000 registered members, each of whom paid $2 for the privilege.

What the directors of this club can't do for Old Dan Cupid, they say, isn't worth mentioning. . . . How are you feeling today, Sugar? . . . Lonely?

reducing machine. In that closet is a girdle for every day of the week. No wonder our friend raised a rumpus when you borrowed his tablets at the theatre. You might have discovered what they were and ruined his glamour."

A small "Oh!" was all I could manage.

"It's nothing to be ashamed of, Ashley."

"You son..." Ashley started to say.

"Uh-uh!" Jeff wagged a finger at him. Ashley turned his back and stamped to the window. I caught Jeff's eye and motioned toward the door. I wanted to get out of there.

"Ashley," Jeff said, "you shouldn't let your pride make

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Wanting An Actor, Movies Finally Land Mr. Whorf

HOLLYWOOD—Something is happening—again—to the mould in which they cast our leading men. Just as we get used to a Bob Taylor and a Vic Matur, they hand us a Richard Whorf.

Whorf just isn't pretty. He's rugged and stocky, and he won't hurt the eyes in the ladies' corner, but his looks aren't the "Gee, girls, ain't-he-cute?" kind.

Maybe he can act. Maybe? A fellow doesn't spend seven years in the hallowed company of the Lunts if he can't.

Hollywood does crave actors. Hollywood has been after this one for years. Got him once, briefly, in "Claudette Colbert's 'Midnight'."

Wanted him to test for others. But there was always a hitch. Whorf was in a play, or resting up from a play, and there were Mrs. Whorf and the three children. He wanted some time off to see them, after all, and pictures could wait.

"Until," he says, "I decided I'd better take them up on it before they quit asking me. I talked it over with Alfred (Lunt) and he thought it would be a good idea—I'd gone as far as I could with them. And I wanted to settle down and have a home and be with the family. This is going to be it."

If his fondness for movies is still unabated after such a morning as he has just put in, he'll stick around. His first picture is "New Orleans Blues," Story of a jazz band leader (that's Whorf) with a true love (Priscilla Lane) and a fatal fascination (Betty Field).

This morning Whorf and Lloyd Nolan, the heavy, hoping some day to close quarters while Betty Field, on a stairway, looks on and registers fright, suspense, the gamut. Sticklike Anatole Litvak, directing, is shooting the fight "with art." The camera pans from a close-up of the two men tussling over the gun to a medium shot of Betty emoting with the shadows of the fighting men behind her.

Two stunt men on a platform, with bright lights behind them, throw the shadows. But shadows are hard to control, and Whorf and Nolan "fought"—and sweat in the sultry heat—through a dozen rehearsals and takes. Both were drenched at the end.

But not Whorf's enthusiasm. "The things you can do with pictures—I'm hoping some day they'll let me take the loudest 'B' story they have and slip out to the back lot with a good technical crew and see what I can do with it. . . ."

Whorf, 35 now, got his acting start near his home town of Winthrop, Mass., in stock. He worked in Boston for 11 years. He owes his break with the Lunts to Broderick Crawford, a long-time friend—and still a friend despite what happened.

"I was doing radio in New York when Brod dropped in and told me he had the role of Christopher Sly in 'Taming of the Shrew.' He said there might be something in it for me, and why didn't I go around. I had a re-broadcast that afternoon, but Brod said he'd take over for me. I went—and came back with Christopher Sly, the part Brod would have had. He was swell about it, too."

suspicious people like Haila think you're a murderer."
He pivoted around to Jeff. His voice was loud with righteous anger. He was his old pompous self. "Now are you satisfied? Now, will you leave before I have you thrown out by the police? I won't touch you; you nauseate me!"
"We'll go in a second. Quietly," Jeff said. "As soon as you explain this." He held out a small slip of paper.

"What's that? Where did you find that?"
"In your desk."
Ashley whitened. "You've been in my desk? How contemptible of you!"

Jeff read from the paper: "I. O. U. five hundred dollars. Signed: Carol Blanton. How do account for that, Ashley?"
Ashley looked uncertain for a second, then gave a little deprecating laugh. He went to one of his porcelain boxes and got himself a cigarette.

"Oh, that," he said. "I must tell you about that."
"Yes, you must," Jeff said.

Japan's Vice Premier Shot

TOKYO, Aug. 14 (AP)—An assassin posing as an autograph-seeker shot and gravely wounded Baron Kikichiro Hiranuma, 75-year-old vice premier and minister without portfolio, today.

The senior statesman, a moderating influence on Japanese policy, was struck in the chest and jaw and his condition was reported as serious.

The gunman gained entry to Hiranuma's home by the autograph ruse and fired three shots from a pistol he had hidden in a parchment scroll on which he pretended to want the baron's signature.

He was captured before he could flee the grounds of the Hiranuma home.

Hiranuma has been regarded as a mainstay of the cabinet of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and definitely a moderating influence.

Observers said, therefore, that the fact that such an attack should occur was not considered a good sign in a time of tense international relations.

There was no immediate report, however, on the motive of the baron's assailant.

The attacker, identified as Naohiko Nishiyama, 33, called at Hiranuma's home before 8 a. m. today and gained access under the pretext that he wished the vice premier's autograph on a roll of parchment. Nishiyama hailed from Okayama Prefecture, the same as Hiranuma does.

Man Reduces From 568 To 302 Pounds

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Aug. 14 (AP)—At a mere 302 pounds, Tom Grisnik is only a shadow of his former self.

Fourteen months ago the 28-year-old meat cutter weighed 568 pounds.

The first six weeks he was on a diet he lost 150 pounds.
Doctors said today Grisnik actually has gained strength while losing 266 pounds on the 600 calories allowed him daily.

Straw mulched into surface soil leaves it spongy and capable of absorbing greater quantities of water.

family in a remote Chinese village, the people on the Russian Steppes, the cowering men and women in Poland, those in the rabbit warrens of Paris, on the dykes and fjords of Holland and Norway, all the disarmed and helpless — are crying silently to the Anglo-Saxon world to "rescue us." And the price of all this suffering . . . our transitory lives . . . not all of us will grow old.

Again an abrupt change of tone. "Why should the people work and toil and never have a fully belly or a secure roof and wealth going to waste everywhere? Why not strike an international balance sheet on surplus commodities . . . give . . . share . . . produce . . . use."

"Must the Chinese peasant live forever on rice and scrap fish? Why should he?"

"Did the Dutch ever do anybody any harm. Did they govern their colonies badly? Did they neglect their people? Did they waste their wealth? Did they trample on other nations?" he glared. "There will be so much to do when all this is over. This can be a wonderful world or a shambles and a prison. It will be a wonderful world if you help make it so. We can do it only with the help of Americans. You know that, don't you? We can't do it alone. This is clear, isn't it?"

He mutters something to himself and breaks away from the deliberate walk. "That speech," he says, "I must finish it."

Sponsors Add Glamour To Rodeo

Girls Will Compete In Arena Events

Nineteen charming young girls between the ages of 14 and 20 years will add glamour and beauty to the eighth annual rodeo opening here Friday afternoon.

Mounted on their favorite horses, the girls will compete in the sponsors contest during the first three shows and the top eight will ride for the championship at the final show.

Dressed in their bright and handsome riding habits, the girls will also take part in the opening parade and the opening act at each rodeo performance.

Lending pulchritude to the fascinating shows are Anna Belle Edwards who is hostess sponsor for the rodeo and Louise Ann Bennett who is Miss Big Spring.

With only two weeks notice, the officials at first feared they wouldn't have time enough to secure sponsors. But when the show opens Friday afternoon there will be a number of them on hand.

Addie Ruth Fulkerson will represent Lamesa here and Dorothy Merkett will be the Colorado City sponsor. Dorothy Childers is Cisco's delegate. Patricia Clark will represent Abilene and Sally Jim Small was nominated from Shamrock.

Billie Marie Miller of Coleman, Elizabeth Miller of Gail, and Carolyn Cox of Garden City will also participate in the sponsors competition. Velta Battenfield, Lubbock and Helen Barnon, Lamesa will also take part.

Others include Nancy Benniford, Will Rogers Ranch Riders, Amarillo; Mary Wasson, Lucas ranch; Betty Glover, Chinagrove; Lura Davis, Sand Springs; Marilyn Lowe, Crane; Nancy La Force, Midland and Earline Jeffrey, Penwell.

The sponsors contest will be based on a flag race, graded 75 per cent on speed, 25 per cent on horsemanship, equipment and horse.

Powder Plant To Have Special Motor Patrol

PINOLE, Calif. — To create a foolproof guard against any attack or attempt to sabotage its plant here, the Hercules Power Co., is constructing a motorcycle road that will completely encircle the entire plant.

Around the highway will be constructed a barbed-wire fence.

Entry to the plant will be impossible without climbing barbed-wire fences and a motorcycle patrol will spot anyone before he gets over the top.

Car Demonstration Ends With Thief Driving Off

FORT WORTH—As they sat in the car, the man with the glass eye opened a little brown box. C. E. Jordan's eyes bulged. A gun popped into sight.

"Is there anything I can do to relieve you of responsibility for the theft of this car?" he asked politely.

Jordan, a car salesman, could think of no answer as he climbed out and the one-eyed man drove away.

Country Rodeo Held On Banks Of Bull Creek

Some of the boys up in southwestern Scurry county are hoping for a revival of the real country rodeo held there last year.

Two rodeos were held during the summer of 1940 on the R. O.

Bishop ranch, 17 miles southwest of Snyder.

Each event attracted a crowd of folks from the neighboring country to spread dinner on the ground, eat barbecue, and rope calves and goats.

Bishop put up the arena fence and supplied most of the cattle. Country boys from all around entered, paying small fees and then dividing up the purse among the winners. The event was held in a beautiful glade on the banks of Bull Creek.

Bishop has now moved to Moun-tainair, N. M., however, and has sold his ranch. So the boys are hunting another location for the event.

Thief Turns Honest.

ALTADENA, Calif.—Dr. T. W. Snipes, unlike Diogenes, did not have to look for an honest man; the honest one came to him. First, he stole Snipes' electric cigar lighter from his car. Later, apparently conscious stricken, he returned the lighter and took advantage of his second visit to repair Snipes' car radio which was out of order.

PRESIDENT of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Association, Inc., is Tom J. Good, veteran cattleman of this section. This, however, goes without saying, for Good is perched on the top rung of a corral, watching his cowhands weigh hundreds of steers for delivery. Since the turn of the century he has been developing his ranch holdings in Howard and Borden county and in recent years has extended them to include a ranch at Yaso, N. M. He's unassuming, and rodeo fans don't see much of him, but his co-workers like to get his advice whether its on some business or procedure matter.

Roamer, 90, Heads West When Freed as Vagrant

ALBANY, N. Y. — The police judge thought there must be a typographical error when he read the vagrant's age as 90.

"Yep, I'm 90 all right," asserted William Mahar, attired in polo shirt and slacks. Then he asked for leniency to resume his journey. Where to?

"I'm a-heading west," he replied. "I'm just a roamer. It's the only life I've ever known and I'm afraid if I stopped now I'd die."

The judge suspended sentence and the old man walked into the heavy rain outside.

Method in the Heat

HOLLIS, Okla. — Secretary Bill Medaris of the Hollis chamber of commerce couldn't get the board of directors interested in installing a cooling system in his office. So he scheduled directors' meetings daily in the office at 2 p. m.—hot-test part of the day.

5,000 Used Muny Pool During July

Approximately 5,000 individuals made use of the municipal swimming pool and golf course during July, the monthly financial statement of the city indicates.

During the month a total of 1,022 individuals paid for playing privileges on the golf course. Of this number, 853 paid in for nine holes and 169 for 18 holes. In addition many others had monthly golf cards, and most of these were used regularly.

As for swimming, this activity hit a new high during July. No less than 2,719 children paid for dips in the pool and a flat 1,200 adults did likewise. Season tickets accounted for still more.

During the month revenues to the pool and golf course amounted to $1,333, and with expenses of $453 pulled out, the system balance had pulled back to $1,597. All in all, it was one of the best months on record for the two park units.

PEORIA, Ill.—Sidney Perrot, 8, lost her best doll in the flames but saved her home from destruction by fire.

She was so busy looking after the safety of two young brothers and getting the garden hose to extinguish the blaze, which started from kerosene in the kitchen, that she forgot all about "Susie." Her mother, away shopping, promised to buy her another for her birthday.

GOOD START! How well the ride goes from here will determine what chance the rider of this Brahma steer has of catching the judge's eye. But if the brute keeps up this brand of wild cavorting, he may jar the rider loose and then turn a pair of massive horns upon his tormentor. All of which adds more thrills to make a rodeo a popular sport for West Texas entertainment. (Perry Photo).

Buck Jackson Is Announcer

Buck Jackson of Pecos, known throughout West Texas as a rodeo announcer par excellence, has been engaged to keep the ball rolling during the three days of Big Spring's Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, August 15-16-17.

Jackson has just completed calling 'em out and chasing 'em back at Alpine's rodeo and is scheduled to be in fine fettle for the Big Spring show. He's no Easterner turned cowboy. Jackson is a Pecos business man now but he is one who knows every angle of the cow business, and is ready, willing and able to keep the show angle of cowdom moving with neatness and dispatch.

FAST OR SLOW? Perhaps the all-important time it requires this performer to tie his calf will be decided in the split second which follows this shot. Out quickly on the calf, the horse has pulled the rider into throwing range long before the calf has reached the stands. Will the loop snare the calf? If it does, maybe he will make good time and share in cash awards. If he doesn't, the second loop will throw him too late for honors. (Kelsey Photo).

Midland Rodeo Scheduled For Last Of Month

MIDLAND, Aug. 24 — Contestants, both professional and amateur, at the seventh annual Midland rodeo, August 30, 31 and September 1, will compete for purses and prizes amounting to approximately $6,500, including all entrance fees. It has been announced by members of the rodeo committee of Midland Fair, Inc.

Included in the regular contest events, open to the world, are calf roping with $600 purse and a $100 saddle, entrance fees to be added; saddle bronc riding with $550 purse, plus all entry fees; bull-steer riding, $500 purse, with entrance fees added; bareback bronc riding, day money only with entrance fees to be added to a purse of $300; steer wrestling, $500 purse plus all entry fees.

In the boys' calf roping contest, entry fees of $15 each will be divided for day moneys in proportion 40-30-20-10 per cent. Attractive prizes for average, including $100 saddle for first average, are being offered. Boys between the ages of 14 and 18 are eligible to compete in the boys' roping.

Livestock to be used, with the exception of the roping calves, will be furnished by the World's Championship Rodeo corporation and will be the same stock as used at New York's Madison Square Garden Rodeo.

Midland Rodeo, again this year, is a member of the Rodeo Association of America and the Southwestern Rodeo association, and is approved by the Cowboy Turtle's association. It is open to all amateurs.

Judges in the contests are to be selected by contestants and approved by the management.

Extra attractions will include a cowgirl sponsor contest, galloped horse show and colt show.

Willingham, Arnett To Judge Rodeo

Judges for the Big Spring rodeo this year are W. B. Willingham, Rotan, and Dad Arnett, Gail.

It is Willingham's first year here, although he is recognized among rodeo fans and performers throughout the Southwest for his service as judge at the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford each year.

Arnett has judged two other shows here. This year the number of judges has been reduced to two instead of the usual three.

Boulder Dam in High Gear

WASHINGTON — Boulder Dam will generate more than 3,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity in 1941, Reclamation Commissioner John C. Page estimates. Summer rains which have flooded California, Arizona and New Mexico have been stored behind the dam. This water will be released for irrigation purposes.

Sheriff Has 225 Deputies

MOBILE, Ala.—Sheriff William H. Holcombe has enlisted an army of deputies totaling at least 225 Mobile county citizens. He has declined comment on the unusual force, equal to the strength of the Mobile National Guard.

SECOND PLACE in the sponsors contest here last year went to Bobbie Ruth Harris, riding for Rankin. This year she will be back, representing the K-Bar ranch. Naturally, her good showing last year entitles her to a place among the list of favorites.

Old Marriage License Unusual In Wording

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The following marriage license was uncovered in Sumter county, dated early in the last century:

"To all the world greeting. Know ye that John Smith and Peggy Myres is hereby certified to go together and do as old folks does, anywhere inside this precinct, and when my commission comes I am to marry 'em good."

It was signed "O. H. R., justice of peace."

He's Guilty 58 Times Then Finally Innocent

FLINT, Mich.—William Hutch, 37, Flint resident who had pleaded guilty 58 times to charges of being intoxicated, won acquittal the 59th time because a jury was impressed with his honesty.

Hutch's attorney argued that after 58 times Hutch would really have pleaded guilty again if he had been intoxicated. The jury agreed.

Batch Boot shop is posting a pair of boots for the second best time in the event in finals Sunday afternoon. Third place will draw a hat from Albert M. Fisher Co., and fifth place a pair of bits from the Big Spring Hardware Co. Fourth place will be announced during the show.

Indiana Wars on Marijuana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Adopting the slogan, "Stamp out marijuana before it goes to seed," the

Bullet Wound Blamed To Coon Dog's Elation

TORRINGTON, Wyo. — Trouble started when Frank Brown, Jr., treed a coon.

His dog scampered 'about between Brown's legs, upsetting the hunter who fell down an embankment. His .22-caliber rifle was discharged, sending a bullet downward through his face near the nose.

It penetrated the roof of his mouth, going out at the chin—narrowly missing the jugular vein.

Pony Express Race Promises Plenty Of Spills—And Spills Make Thrills

Spills make thrills—and exciting spills come a dime a dozen in the Pony Express race, injected into this year's rodeo as a new and different feature.

The race has historical foundation on the old Pony Express riders who dashed to one post, changed to a fresh mount and dashed to the next, partly to speed up mail transit and partly to evade hostile Indians. In its modern sense it has foundation on the sound premise that haste makes waste.

Rules call for the rider to kick his horse out from one end of the arena to the other or around the arena and back. Then he must dismount a-running, quickly jerk off the saddle, slap it on the back of a waiting second mount and repeat the procedure. Back again —if a hastily done job hasn't produced a fall, he must repeat the process.

There is always the possibility that the cinch will not be pulled tight enough or that someone will ride without its use, increasing the prospect of a spill many fold. Too, cowponies seem to have an aversion to all this hullabaloo about dashing up and jerking saddles all over the place. Nothing brings down the house like a frantic rider and a shieing horse.

TSK! TSK! Here it is again, folks—that "famous old painting 'The End of the Trail.'" Who said it was famous anyhow, and can't there be a rodeo just one time without this travesty upon an indulgent public. Certainly not the eighth annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, for it's due to turn up a scene somewhat similar to this. Brace yourselves, folks—that famous old painting . . ." (Perry Photo).

California Produces Poppysseed For Bakers

WOODLAND, Calif.—California appeared today as a successor to eastern European countries as the principal source of poppyseed, used in baking, as a result of war conditions shutting off importation of the product.

A. J. Nohel, a former resident of Czechoslovakia, reported an excellent yield from 80 acres of experimental growth in Yolo county, Calif. He said normal imports formerly were 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 pounds from Holland, Poland and Czechoslovakia. The normal price of 8 cents per pound has gone up to 30 cents, with only limited supplies available.

Ike Gronsky Was Champion Western Bum

From the Sterling City News-Record, over the signature of "Uncle Bill" Kells comes the following story:

Most every old-time rancher between Colorado City and the Rio Grande remembers Ike Gronsky as the greatest moocher that ever pastured a cowman. . . Ike was a funny fellow. It was said that at one time he owned 40,000 head of sheep with never an acre of land on which to graze them, and yet, he managed to graze them on the choicest range.

After shearing his sheep at Colorado City and shipping the wool to market, he would steer his numerous flocks toward the Rio Grande. It took him six months to drive them back again. When these vast bands of sheep would enter a pasture, before they left it, the range would look like a swarm of Kansas grass hoppers had been there.

When Ike parked his outfit in a pasture he always had a good excuse for staying there as long as the grass and weeds lasted. The cowpunchers would cuss him until they exhausted their vocabulary of cuss words. Ike was a gentle-natured individual, and would never fuss or fight back. He would willingly take a beating if he knew that his sheep were grazing on his attacker's land.

One day he drove his flocks into a fresh pasture and the owner proceeded to kick Ike and otherwise add to his discomfort. When asked the next day about the affair, Ike replied: "Vell, velle he vas kickin' me aroundt, my sheeps vas eatin' his veeeda."

Another day, Ike invaded a pasture in which Bill Hiler was the foreman. Bill tried to get Ike to move on. Ike said he would do so as soon as his man got back from Colorado City with a wagon wheel which he sent there to be repaired. Bill saw the chuck wagon with one wheel missing but had his doubts about the wheel being broken. Ike assured Bill that as soon as he got his wheel he would move on. As Bill rode away, he noticed a wheel track in the dust and followed it to a waterhole. Bill fished the wheel out, tied his rope to it and dragged it back to Ike's camp and held him to his promise. With Bill's help, Ike moved on to fresh trouble.

Bill afterwards became the first sheriff of Sterling county. The reason the boys didn't shoot Ike was because he never resented a wrong or an insult, but took what he wanted by passive force. Ike is dead. So are most of the men from whom he mooched grass and water.

Program Again Includes Wild Cow Milking

Return of wild cow milking to the program of the eighth annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo will find favor with the many who caught well placed kicks from Bossy's hooves back in youthful days.

And what man hasn't seen the full pail go sailing or felt the cruel weight of a cow on his toes with the thermometer flirting with zero.

Of course there won't be anything like that in a wild cow milking contest, but the difficulty in getting a kicking cow to yield a few precious drops will stir a feeling of kinship between the avid fan and the performer.

There's really not much to it. All the contestant has to do is first rope the cow—which isn't exactly as easy as it looks. Then he has to dash off fearlessly while his cohort—properly referred to as the mugger—runs aft to control the indignant female bovine.

If she objects to this ignominious treatment, the mugger is in for a skid and the milker is for a wild chase with a milk bottle in one hand—and by the grace of God, an udder in the other.

Coke Stevenson Averts 'Dead End' That Lieut. - Governor's Job Usually Means

By BRACK CUREY
Associated Press Staff

For the first time in 24 years and for the second time in this century, a lieutenant governor of Texas has escaped the political dead end that for decades has marked the second ranking state office, and ascended to the governorship.

Coke R. Stevenson—rancher-lawyer-statesman from Junction, and lieutenant governor from 1939 until Aug. 4, 1941—now presides over the capitol office in Austin as Texas' first citizen and chief executive, following the swearing in of W. Lee O'Daniel as junior United States senator in Washington.

Since 1853, when J. W. Henderson became the first lieutenant governor in Texas history to succeed to the governorship, only eight of 31 Texas lieutenant governors have attained the governorship.

Not since 1917—when Gov. James E. Ferguson was removed from office and succeeded by Lieut. Gov. William P. Hobby—has Texas' lieutenant governor won the governorship, either through direct election or succession through death or resignation of the governor.

Extending back to 1845, when Texas was admitted to the union, the lieutenant governorship of the state has with few exceptions marked the political demise of its incumbents in Lone Star state politics, leading politicians to term it the jinx office of state government.

Political chronology of the state substantiates the prevalent belief among politicians that, except on rare occasions, the No. 2 state position is a death trap for aspiring politicians.

Last lieutenant governor to buck this perverse political tradition was Edgar E. Witt of Waco, who smashed a large field of opponents to win his post in 1930 and clinched a second term without opposition polling more than 1,000,000 votes.

The gubernatorial campaign of 1934 witnessed him running fifth in a race which gave youthful, vigorous Attorney General James V. Allred the democratic nomination.

In 1930 Dallas' Barry Miller dared the 11-man gubernatorial melee following completion of an unprecedented third term as lieutenant governor. He ran sixth in the field.

In the governor's contest of 1924 and again in 1926, entrants included either the incumbent lieutenant governor or a former lieutenant governor.

Lieutenant Governor T. Whitefield Davidson, now a federal district judge, braved the historic jinx hovering over his office in 1924 and announced for governor along with former Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davidson. They ran fourth and third, respectively, in the democratic primary which prepared the way for the election of Texas' first woman governor—Miriam A. Ferguson.

Again in 1926 ex-Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davidson made a try for governor and emerged third.

Impeachment of James E. Ferguson in 1917 paved the way for Lieut. Gov. Hobby to fill the unexpired term. Hobby was re-elected to a full two-year term in the primary of 1918 over ex-Governor Ferguson, who never again was to hold state office.

Prior to 1917, no Texas lieutenant governor for 19 years had succeeded to or won the gubernatorial toga. In 1898, Joseph D. Sayers was elected governor, ten years expiration of his second term as lieutenant governor.

Lieut. Gov. Richard B. Hubbard, who succeeded to the governor-ship on Dec. 1, 1876, was the last in his position before Stevenson to follow a governor who resigned to enter the United States senate. Gov. Richard Coke inaugurated his 24-year senatorial tenure in that year.

On Feb. 22, 1870, Lieut. Gov.-elect J. W. Flanagan became the first Texas senator to be readmitted to the United States senate following the readmission of Texas to the union after the fall of the confederacy. Flanagan never was inaugurated lieutenant governor.

Lieut. Gov. Fletcher S. Stockdale served as governor from June 11 to July 25, 1865. Edward Clark, lieutenant governor, became governor in 1861, succeeding the venerable Sam Houston, who resigned in protest against succession.

Lieut. Gov. Francis R. Lubbock followed Clark as governor in 1861. His predecessor, H. R. Runnels, became governor in 1957 after two years as presiding officer of the state senate.

Oil Refuse Decimates Lake Michigan Fish

HAMMOND, Ind.—Oil refuse blanketing the waters of Lake Michigan is causing death to the remaining edible fish and constitutes one of the two hazards to be combatted by commercial fishermen.

Fishermen have banded together and are called the International Board of Inquiry for Great Lakes Fisheries and are urging support of uniform regulations to preserve the dwindling supply of fish that furnish a living for 4,000 fishermen.

Marital Bliss Formula, 70-70
BUFFALO, N. Y.—Couples who consider matrimony a 50-50 proposition will find a 70-70 basis adds up to more bliss, in the opinion of the Rev. Herbert A. Bosch, pastor of Concordia Lutheran church. "Marital bliss," the cleric said, "can be achieved only when each contracting party is eager to do more than the mathematical half."

Cash Rodeo Awards Will Total $1,500

Calf Roping To Pay Top Money Prizes

Cash awards will approximate $1,500 in the annual rodeo which gets underway for four shows here Friday afternoon.

As announced, the amount is $1,440, but to it will be added awards for winners in the Pony Express race, an added feature of the rodeo this year. By the time the show is over, awards will have gone over the $1,500 mark.

Calf roping will pay the biggest dividends, for competition is at least most crowded if not the keenest in this division. Day money will total $230 in this event, or $460 for the show, plus $40 cash to the grand champion. Day money awards are split as follows: $100, $60, $40, $30 and $10. Entrance fee is $15.

Awards in the wild cow milking contest amount to $165 for each of two day money divisions and is split $75, $40, $30, 20. Grand champion gets $40. Entrance fee is $10.

Bronc busters and steer riders each will share in $110 day money split between best and most fortunate performers. Top man will get $50, the next $30, then $20 and $10. Entrance fee is $4.

Those who indulge in riding wild mules will share in $65 day money in the two "official" days. Winner will receive $30, second man $20, third man $10, and fourth $5. Entrance fee is $4.

Shortage of Police Revolvers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Traffic violators and highway crooks generally might infer mistakenly that the Golden Era is about to dawn for them in California. Owing to the national defense program, highway patrolmen are faced with a revolver shortage. No new ones are available—but they warn the old ones will still shoot.

Boy Climber Humiliated

PHILADELPHIA — When 9-year-old Morton Levin climbed to the roof of a school building to retrieve a ball, two fire trucks and two police cars were summoned to get the boy down. After being carried down a ladder, Morton told reporters: "It was just a tough break. I'm really the champion climber of the neighborhood."

RODEO AND WESTERN LINGO COLORFUL AND EXPRESSIVE OF COWBOY'S WORK

Do you know your rodeo lingo? You can't hoolihan the puncher's lingo—you have to get down and twist and wrestle with it. For the benefit of the tenderfoot, these definitions should give a lift if you really want to know what the boys are talking about:

Bicycling—The act of scratching a horse first with one foot and then with the other in the manner of riding a bicycle.

Biting the Dust—Being thrown from a horse.

Blowing a Stirrup—Losing a stirrup, which disqualifies the rider.

Broncho—Mexican word for "mean," shortened to bronc; a vicious, unbroken horse.

Broomtail—Wild mare.

Bronc-Buster—Cowboys who "break" horses.

Buckaroo—Cowboy.

Bucking, Buck-Jumping, Pitching—Gyrations of a bronc in trying to unseat rider.

Bulldogging—Often termed steer wrestling; throwing of a steer by his horns by a "bulldogger."

Cantle-Boarding—When rider scratches back of cantle.

Cavy—Saddle horse on a roundup.

Chaps—Leather or hair leggings worn by cowboy to protect his limbs from thorns and rain.

Chuck wagon—Rangeland cafeteria which follows roundup and to which cowboys come for their meals.

Community Loop—Extra large loop thrown by roper.

Crow-Hops—Term contemptuously applied to mild bucking gyrations.

Cut-Out—To separate animal from herd.

Dog-Fall—Putting a steer down with its feet under him. Throw is not complete until steer is on side with all four feet out.

Dogle—Weakling calf.

Eating Gravel—Being thrown from a bucking bronc or steer.

Four-Footing—Roping animal by feet in order to throw it.

Grabbin' the Apple—When bronc rider grabs the saddle horn to keep from being thrown.

Hazer—Bulldogger's assistant, who picks up the bulldogger's mount after he has leaped to the steer.

High Roller—Horse that leaps high when bucking.

Hobbled Stirrups—Stirrups tied under the horse's belly.

Hoolihaning—Leaping on the horns of a steer in bulldogging in a manner to knock him down without having to resort to twisting him down.

Logging—Holding the saddle horn.

Jughead—Foolish horse.

Mail Order Cowboy—A tenderfoot in custom-made cowboy regalia and devoid of range experience.

Man-Killer—A wild horse with homicidal mania, that strikes at mounted or unmounted men.

Maverick—An unbranded stray.

Nose Bag—A canvas receptacle for holding horse feed and which is strapped to the horse's head at feeding time.

Outfit—Equipment of rancher or rodeo contestant.

Pegging—When bulldogger sticks steer's horn into ground.

Pulling Leather—Holding to saddle while riding bronc.

Rodeo—Officially pronounced Roday-o with emphasis on the second syllable, but just plain, old rodeo to the cowhand; Mexican word for "round-up" or gathering of cattle on open ranges.

Screwing Down—Sinking spurs into the cinch while riding a bronc and failing to "scratch" as required.

Seeing Daylight—When daylight can be seen between the bronc rider and the saddle.

Sougan—Part of the cowboy's bed equipment, similar to a quilt.

Spade—A Spanish bit.

TREAD WEARS

10% SLOWER!

This is an unretouched photograph. Run exactly the same mile, on the same test car, these two tires clearly show the advantage of Seiberling's NEW Saw-Tooth Tread. It wears 10% slower—gives extra thousands of safe miles.

Seiberling's Special Service Tire has always been a "bear for wear"—the most popular tire we ever sold. But now Seiberling engineers have made it tougher than ever—given it a new "Saw-Tooth" tread that wears 10% slower by ACTUAL TEST!

The photographs above are from actual comparative tests. Two Seiberling Special Service Tires with the NEW tread were put on each test car with two of the former design. Three shifts of test drivers then drove these test cars day and night—1,000 miles every day over blistering Florida roads. All tires were rotated to different wheels at the end of each driver's run to make certain that each tire had exactly the same amount of wear. You can see for yourself how much slower the new Seiberling "Saw-Tooth" Tread wears—how much more safe mileage it gives you!

WE'LL TRADE YOU!

We're anxious to spread the good news about this new Seiberling Special Service, so we are offering unusually generous trade-in allowances for the next 10 days. Come in—see this amazing tread—let us have a look at your old tires and tell you about the BIG allowance we can make.

Rodeo Moves About Over Many Dates

The date of the Big Spring rodeo is always a matter of conjecture. It has been held everywhere from June until September, from week days to weekends.

The eighth annual rodeo started out as a Labor Day feature and for the first two years, but when rains threatened the show the third and fourth years, directors thought a change ought to be made.

The fifth year, the date was set for July 4th and the weather was perfect, but other major shows in the area, Stamford and Pecos, split the holiday crowd.

The sixth year, the postmasters association meeting was held late in June and the association obliged the visitors by holding the rodeo so it would coincide with the convention. This enabled many who had never seen a rodeo to attend all the performances.

Last year there was doubt as to the advisability of holding a rodeo until the business men came to the rescue of the directors and voted to underwrite the show up to a thousand dollars. The dates were set for August 14-15.

Perhaps this will become the annual date, for this year, the directors again set the dates for August 15, 16, 17 or a full weekend of rodeo events.

With Horns Like Devil, Brahma Is Nearly As Mean

The Brahma steer has horns like the devil and a wicked hump to boot, and if you met him on a dark night you might think he was the Old Man himself.

Rodeo steer riders would subscribe to that belief, for they have learned the hard way to have respect for these oddly conformed brutes.

Salty is the word for Brahmas, for they have an inbred mean streak. What little mental process they have seems to center around getting anything pertaining to a man off their backs. Frequently they succeed in this ambition, and some are 'onery enough to polish off the job with a bull-ring charge at the unlucky rider.

To the everlasting delight of fans, humiliated and shaken riders can come through with some masterpieces of extemporaneous acrobatics.

Rodeo Stock Makes Performance Good Or Bad In Western Event

Outside of the buckin' horses, they never get their names on the program, but that doesn't keep rodeo stock from being the most important actors in any western show.

By this standard, the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, beginning its eighth season Friday afternoon and continuing through Sunday afternoon, has prospects of four action-packed performances.

It's not what the performers do that insures the success of a show, although a good roper or rider is due and usually gets the plaudits of the crowd. It's how difficult the stock makes it for him to do what he does that spells the difference between fair and good with the rodeo fan.

Horses and steers that have been ridden with success too often have the old fighter instinct taken out of them and rarely put on a big show. However, some of the most diabolical among this class are the old heads—the ones that can't or won't be ridden. Red Lyons, who is furnishing 20 head of broncs and a like number of Brahma steers, claims his are new or particularly salty members of the range.

To insure activity on calf roping and wild cow milking, the rodeo association is securing 20 of each class from the Capps-Lucas ranch of A. L. Wasson this year. Neither cows or calves know what it is like to be roped and they won't like the idea, all of which will make it better than a bunch that know enough to get it over with in a hurry.

Lyons is also furnishing 20 wild mules, purportedly never before ridden. Thus the rodeo is due to have 120 mean hombres.

Thrill Surprises Official

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Ray W. Wilson, assistant to the city manager, decided Kansas City's expense of $14,000 a year to collect $28,000 in dog taxes was too great so he wrote other municipalities asking information on their expenses. Now he is telling officials in other cities how Kansas City manages a profit from the dog tax, for it seems that in most cities that department operates at a loss.

The world's largest fig tree stands 18 miles west of Kingman, Ariz., near U. S. highway 66. It is 50 feet high, with branches 100 feet in diameter.

Large Rodeos Owe Success To Floodlighting

Floodlights can be thanked for putting rodeo shows on a general big time basis, for before they became practical for large-scale illumination, rodeos had to be confined largely to afternoon holiday dates.

But now night shows are the thing. Floodlights give the arena a daytime atmosphere while fans appear much more comfortable than under a sweltering sun.

This year there will be two evening performances, one Friday and one Saturday. This is one less nocturnal set-to than has been the custom here for several seasons.

Unlike other rodeos, the lighting situation here is worked on a sort of double-utility plan. The rodeo lends the schools part of its equipment during football season and when rodeos are on, the schools kick in with part of their lighting paraphernalia. Naturally it cuts down on the investments for both and gets the job done on two fronts.

Tree-climbing fish abound in Ceram, an island in the Dutch East Indies.

This year's show promises the visitors from all over this area one of the finest displays of Rodeo Thrills you'll have an opportunity to see. So, take off a little time and come on over to our show this year.

We invite everyone—Visitors—Cowboys . . . Cowgirls, to avail yourselves of this bank's facilities while in Big Spring. We are proud to be able to serve this section of the great State of Texas, proud too, of the many that we call friends, both old and new.

Pounding Horses Hoofs Set Rhythm For Songs of the Western Ranges

FORT WORTH—The real rhythm of the range comes straight from the horses' hoofs.

Take the word of Dr. Newton Gaines, Texas Christian university professor who made a study of the west's cowboy songs, the puncher had to fit his music to the gait of his pony.

"Anybody that has ridden a hard trotting western horse knows a cowboy would have had to let the horse set the rhythm," he said.

"We are talking, of course, about the characteristic rhythms of the real folk songs of the range and not the distorted versions of night herding songs that have been set to an accompaniment imitative of cathedral bells."

Dr. Gaines gets his knowledge of cowboy songs first hand. A rancher and rider himself, he drops his academic title to roam the cow camps and to talk with the old timers who rode up the Goodnight and Dodge City trails before the turn of the century.

Also Twangs Guitar
An expert in the classroom, he also twangs a guitar and sits a horse with the best of them.

"The most outstanding quality of the cowboy songs, to me, is the rhythm," Dr. Gaines said. "I have discovered and am able to differentiate three — and only three — rhythms. They are the gaits of the overwhelming majority of western horses—the walk, the trot, and the lope."

The jerky, rollicking "Chisholm Trail" fits the cowpony's broken trot, and songs like "A-Walking the Streets of Laredo" swing along with the lope. Based on the horse's walk are the lullaby tunes like "Barbara Allen" and "Bury Me Out on the Lone Prairie."

"I am confident that there is in the cowboy song something distinctive and different from any other spontaneous song product of a people," he said.

Components of this distinctiveness are the rhythm and the freedom of expression of the singers.

Night and Day Songs
Although basically all the cowboy songs sprang from the beat of the horse's hoof, there is a difference in the way the songs were by day and by night.

At sun-up the herd was on the move and the puncher kept it stirred with songs punctuated by staccato yells—like:

I woke up one morning October twenty-third,
I woke up one morning with the old cow herd

Come a ti-yi-yippee yippee yay yippee yay,
Come a ti-yi-yippee yippee yay!

That's a verse from the rollicking "Chisholm Trail."

At night, however, when the cattle were bedded down by some water hole and the night riders sang to keep them from stampeding, the songs were sweet and low, even mournful. For example:

Bury me out on the Lone Prairie
Where the coyote howls and the wind blows free,

In a narrow grave you can bury me
Neath the starlit sky on the Lone Prairie.

Thousands of cattle have been lulled by the night rider, as his pony walked him around the outposts of the herd with those plaintive words and music.

Three-Year-Old Does Trick Riding

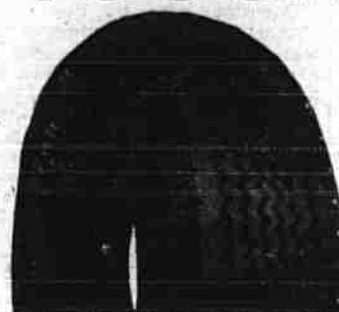

Three years is a mighty young age to be doing anything, much less ride a horse.

But that's what Little Brown Jug Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fess Reynolds of Graham, does—and does it well enough to perform in rodeos.

Last week he did his trick riding routine at Snyder and got a big hand. He is so small that his Shetland pony must be down in order for him to mount. The tiny star is the only featured performer in the show this year.

Calf Roping, Bulldogging Are Fights Against Time

Unlike other events scheduled for the 1941 Big Spring Rodeo, calf roping and bulldogging are races against time rather than only an actual contest between man and beast. Of course, the cowboy must best his steer in the wrestling event and he must maneuver his mount, catch his calf, and put on the string in the calf-roping show, but since majority of contestants can do those things, the competition settles down to a case of who can do it the best in the shortest length of time.

For that reason, three or four judges stand ready, stop watches in hand, to catch the exact moment when a rodeo performer gets to his feet after tying up his calf or finally persuades an irritated steer that it is better to take a final fall. These judges decide the official time by taking a majority reading of each watch.

Cowboys who do their bit in either event in the quickest time win day money—those who are successful in two performances are awarded show money.

Therefore, "tempus fugit" means a lot in a rodeo. A tenth of a second might mean the difference between a champion and just another entry—judges cannot guess at time, they have to be right or keep clear of ired cowboys.

Community Cooperation Puts Big Spring Rodeo Over Top

There's bound to be a lot of community cooperation in Big Spring, or else the rodeo couldn't be brought into being in the short space of two weeks.

While most rodeos are planned for a year in advance and work is underway for a couple of months, this year's Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo was not definitely scheduled until July 31, leaving less than three weeks for making of all arrangements. Last year, the situation was similar.

And in both years, a sudden flurry of cooperative effort as made the ball roll.

The local rodeo originated seven years ago. With everyone "traipsin'" off over the country for Labor Day celebrations, local leaders figured a rodeo would keep 'em home. It did, after many business men subscribed prizes and financial support and everybody did a lot of work. The event was held in an open pasture with a simple wire fence marking off the arena.

Success brought about the erection of a $10,000 plant the next year, with a chartered association handling the matter.

September rains jinxed the Labor Day date, however, so, the event was moved to July 4. There competition with similar shows was too great, so year before last the date was moved to June and last year the event tried to die.

But rodeo enthusiasts wouldn't let it die, and at the last minute an August date was fixed and the rodeo held. This year it tried again to die, and again rodeo enthusiasts came to the rescue, setting a mid-August date.

Once the leading rodeo supporters had underwritten the costs, however, even those not so enthusiastic about the event pitched in and worked, and prospects are for success again attributable to community cooperation.

Short Period Of Preparation Precedes Rodeo

Only two weeks of preparation were possible for the eighth annual rodeo held in Big Spring, but where time was lacking, enthusiasm reached an all time peak.

Rodeo headquarters will be set up at the Crawford hotel and advance headquarters were established at the chamber of commerce.

Dr. M. H. Bennett headed the sponsors group and Anna Belle Edwards was named hostess sponsor. Louise Ann Bennett, who has represented Big Spring in other rodeos this year, was selected as Miss Big Spring, a non-competitor.

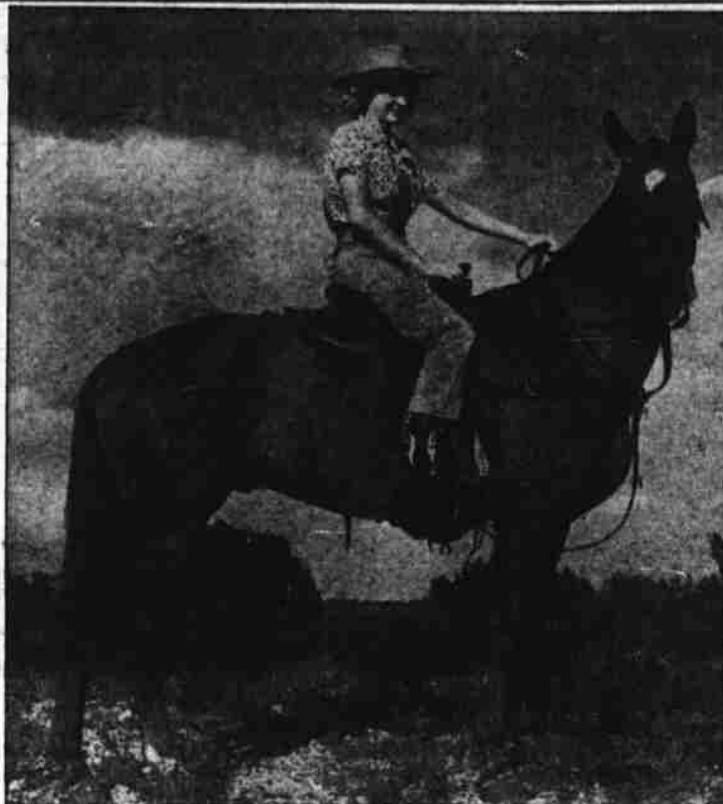

Cal Boykin, Jake Douglass and Bill Edwards were to have charge of the decorations and Bill Tate, C. L. Roden, Harry Stalcup and A. Swartz headed the concessions committee.

Tickets were in charge of R. R. McEwen, Charles Vines, C. L. Rowe, H. W. Smith, D. D. Douglass, G. H. Hayward, Roy Reader, T. J. A. Robinson, Cliff Wiley, Shirley Robbins, V. A. Merrick, W. A. Satterwhite, Cal Boykin, W. W. Barker, and J. L. LeBlau.

For policing the grounds, Andrew Merrick, J. T. Thornton and Jim Crenshaw were named as a committee while B. J. McDaniel, W. S. Morrison, Harry Lees and Pancho Nall were named to handle the grounds.

Kirby Miller was selected to serve with Jess Slaughter as co-director of the arena, and Miller was given the task of caring for stock.

Aiding Burke Summers in the organization of a parade were King J. Sides, Dan Conley, Randall Pickle, Pappy Steele, Vernon Wintheliser, Cliff Wiley, Groven Dunham, Chester Cluck, D. J. Sheppard, L. M. Harris, L. L. Spear and K. H. McGibbons.

MISS BIG SPRING won't be trying to win in the sponsors contest at the annual Big Spring rodeo Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but as a non-competitor and representative of the host city, she will be trying to set a good pattern for nearly a score other girls. She is Lois Anne Bennett, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Bennett. Louise Anne cut short an excursion through the north and east to fly back home Wednesday to serve in her place as the city's representative. This year she has ridden for Big Spring in several rodeos in this region, and although this is her first time out, she has placed in some of the shows. (Kelsey Photo).

Rodeo Widows Form Club As Hubbies Desert Homes

Although the group of nine women have been unofficially rodeo widows for about eight years, the organization of Rodeo Widows wasn't formed until three years ago.

The nucleus of the group was the wives of the rodeo directors, Mrs. Tom Good, Mrs. Marion Edwards, Mrs. Jess Slaughter, Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mrs. Charles Creighton, Mrs. Rowan Settles, Mrs. Harry Lees, Mrs. Ira Driver, and Mrs. Curtis Driver.

From rodeo season until after the last show was held, the group of women found themselves temporarily minus husbands as the men spent their time figuring plans for the shows.

And even when the rodeos were on, if these "widows" got to see the shows, they had to go by themselves. So, they decided to organize.

Later their organization had other purposes. As an entertainment committee for sponsors, they saw that the visiting girls were entertained between shows.

Also the organization proved to be an advertising medium for the rodeo and had a spot in the parades that always preceded the opening show.

However, as the number of towns sending sponsors increased, the load was pretty heavy for the nine women to carry. This year the Rodeo Widows will be in their boxes at show time, but will have no special part in the entertainment of the sponsors.

NAUGHTY! NAUGHTY! The old cowhand won't like this, although it makes a swell picture. While the roper works fast to tie his calf, his horse does what every roper dislikes. By rearing and pawing the air, the excited pony could jerk the calf and undo all the roper has done, thus keeping him out of the money. The perfect pony merely backs off and patiently keeps the rope taut for his master. (Perry Photo).

New Handicap Provided In Calf Roping

Exceptionally fast times scored in roping events in the eighth annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo will be doubly impressive because of rule changes, officials have pointed out.

Most radical of the changes has to do with location of the barrier—that band through which the rider may not pass without 10 seconds penalty in pursuit of calf or cow until it is snapped by the starter. Instead of being located only 12 feet from the chute, it is now shoved back 20 feet.

Eight feet at full stride give a calf a big advantage over a reasonably still horse. Naturally, ropers cannot be expected to catch calves or cows as quickly.

In the calf roping event, the animals must be tied more securely this year, for before it is considered official, the roper must remount and ride up to whip off the rope. If the calf breaks before this is done, no time will be allowed. Few rodeos require this.

Added difficulties in the cow milking contest arise out of the rule which requires the helper or mugger to stay in his ring until the first loop is thrown, thus preventing him from steering the cow toward the judges and shortening the time required in rushing the milk from the cow to the judge.

Rubber Plant Prefers Late Start In Life

FALL RIVER, Mass. — Thirty years ago a kindly Fall River woman appeared at Oak Grove cemetery with a 22-inch high rubber plant which she wished to donate to the conservatory.

"It won't grow very big," she told an appreciative clerk. "It's 20 years old now."

Cemetery caretakers now are faced with the problem of building some sort of penthouse in the top of the glass-covered conservatory.

The 22-inch rubber plant, now 50 years old, is 25 feet high and has a limb spread of 25 feet.

Aspiring 'Chute Trooper Cites Circus Experience

SAN ANTONIO — Lawrence Nicklaus thought he'd make a good parachute trooper for the U. S. Marines and he told the recruiting sergeant so.

Dubious, the sergeant inquired about Nicklaus' health and found it satisfactory. Then as a matter of routine he asked the applicant if he had any previous experience.

"Just your years," Nicklaus said. "I used to be a parachute jumper with an aerial circus."

Cadwaladerite, New Mineral
PHILADELPHIA — The Academy of Natural Sciences has announced the discovery of a new mineral, which has been named "cadwaladerite" after Charles M. B. Cadwalader, academy president. The mineral was discovered in the Atacama Desert of Chile by Samuel G. Gordon, associate curator of minerals, on a recent expedition.

Side-Saddles Praised By Early Users

The modern young woman, with riding habit, boots, or in slacks swings herself up on a western saddle and mounts like a man. But in former days, a woman, complete with long full skirts, sat on a side saddle.

For those who have ridden a side saddle a great deal, they claim it is much more comfortable than riding astride but to others who are used to western saddles, the side saddle stumps them.

One of the few in this area is owned by Mrs. C. E. Shive, who has had it since she was a girl. And as for Mrs. Shive, well, she wouldn't trade for it. She declares it is not only more comfortable but easier to ride than any other kind of saddle.

Two years ago Mrs. Shive, dressed in old fashioned riding habit, rode her side saddle in the rodeo parade. One little boy watched with open eyes. "How do you stay on," he demanded. Mrs. Shive replied gravely, "I'm glued on." And to this day, she thinks he may still be wondering.

But however it may look, Mrs. Shive is a booster for the side saddle as the easiest and best way to ride.

Kremlin, in Russian, means Citadel.

Saddle Is Award In Cowgirl Race

Pretty young cowgirls from West Texas will ride hard in the sponsors' flag race during the four performances of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo this weekend, for a decorative saddle will be at stake.

The rodeo association has posted a saddle as top award to the sponsors, and will give away a pair of shop-made boots to the young woman placing second in the judging, which is based 75 per cent upon the race.

Other prizes have been arranged by Dr. M. H. Bennett, chairman of the sponsors committee. Last year the contest here was won by Elizabeth Miller of Gail.

Brands Form The Ranchman's Coat Of Arms

Closely identified with the boot-ed men, sweating horses and bawling cattle of the old west are brands, which have a history much older than the cattle business, but which have come to be associated almost entirely with that following.

Branding is almost as old as the human race, as some of the Egyptian inscriptions dating as early as 2,000 B.C. show that the Pharaohs branded their cattle, and their slaves. The early Greeks branded their slaves with the Delta and the Romans placed the letter F on the cheeks of convicted robbers as a symbol of the Latin word "fur"—meaning thief.

Galley slaves were branded in France as late as 1828. Cortez, in conquering Mexico, burned a G for guerra (war) on his Aztec slaves.

The story of the branding of cattle is imbedded deep into the history of Texas, and today there are ranches better known for their brands than by the names of their owners.

Examples include the Spade outfit, north of Sterling City; the T Half Circle, between Sonora and Ozona; the Bar S, out in the Merton country; the XIT in the Panhandle; the old-time 101 ranch in Oklahoma; the Rocking Chair and the Crow's Nest in Tom Green county; and others too numerous to name.

Branding has become almost universal in the West, and every county courthouse has volumes of cattle brands filed for record. In this modern time, cattle owners continue to add new brands to these records.

Ranchmen, proud of the brands which have become their trade marks, have them worked onto their handmade boots, on necktie and watch ornaments, paint them on the sides of their trucks, and use them as an identification in advertising.

Brands in West Texas have developed into an authentic heraldry, brands becoming the escutcheons of the wild aristocracy as were the coats of arms of medieval knights. For the "lion couchant," "fleur de lis" and others, the ranchman has substituted the "hog eye," the "turkey track" and such symbols of the frontier.

Branding combines artistry with practicality, with the latter usually predominating. Brands were hard to alter, and such designs weren't always pretty. Nevertheless, they were often colorful and expressive.

A majority of brands probably are built around letters, but one letter presents opportunity for a wide variety of brands. A plain W becomes a flying-W when short straight lines, representing wings, are drawn out from each of the upper tips.

If, instead of being sharp at the angles, it is drawn with a single waving line with the angles rounded into curves, it is a running-W. Topped over on its side, it is a lazy-W; with a square drawn about it, it becomes a box-W. A gable-shaped mark above makes it a rafter-W, while a curving line beneath, with the W resting on the line, makes it a rocking-W. The list of variations is infinite.

Symbolic of simple things that played an important part in the early cattleman's life are such brands as hash-knife, pig-pen, mustache-A, Bible, crutch, cinch-buckle, Spanish bit, anvil, cow's head, stirrup, teacup, frying-pan, and curry comb.

Now the trend is toward simpler designs, for the danger of re-burning of the brands by rustlers is less, while cattlemen recognize the fact that complicated brands mean just that much more damage to the hide from the burning.

6,500 Seats Are Available At Rodeo

Fans won't have to worry about seats at the Big Spring rodeo—for there are fully 6,500 of them available for any one performance.

The grandstands, erected in 1935, will accommodate more than 4,000 persons. In addition, the bleacher area across the arena will seat 2,500 more people. Besides this the field has a small stand for performers.

Other investments in rodeo equipment include stock pens, troughs, saddle house and feed barn at one end, chutes, pens and judges stand at the other end of the arena. In addition, the association owns 20 acres of land upon which the plant is located.

WINNER of the contest among cowgirl sponsors here last year was Elizabeth Miller, Gail. She will return this season as a representative of the Miller ranch, thus keeping up her record of having never missed serving as a sponsor in three years the contest has been held as a part of the local rodeo.

Ranchers Have Much To Celebrate At 1941 Model Big Spring Rodeo

At the original rodeos, the punchers came in to celebrate good conditions on the ranches, just as farmers like to celebrate a good harvest by throwing a big bounty fair.

So the rodeo was a thanksgiving celebration which meant that all was well on the ranges and a man could forget work and make merry for two or three days.

West Texas ranchmen this year have opportunity to throw a really big celebration at the Big Spring rodeo, and their reasons for celebrating are plenty, what with good ranges, plenty of feed, plenty of water, and top prices.

Many old-timers will opine that the ranges have not been in better condition since the early settlement of the country. Of course, the first few years that cows grazed in this country, the land was practically belly-deep in fine grasses, but closer settlement soon put an end to such virgin wealth.

Poor years and good have followed, but none more than equal this year. Plentiful early spring rains brought up a plentiful weed and grass crop, and now the weeds are giving way to summer sun and grass is "curing" out. Even the worst overgrazed pastures look good this year.

The weather has had help in building up ranges, however. During recent years, ranchmen have become increasingly aware of the damages caused by overstocking land. Number of head per section has been reduced, and, with encouragement from AAA, the practice of letting certain pastures lie entirely ungrazed for long periods has been adopted.

Such deferred grazing has allowed the grass to get a firmer hold and solidly carpet the land. And with good rains this year, it has flourished up into fine grazing.

Stock water is plentiful, as virtually every surface tank in the territory is full or nearly so. Tanks have increased, too, during the past few years.

Teacher Spends Vacation Serving Army Library

FORT CUSTER, Mich.—Dorothy Ann Blinn, English teacher, was bound to do her bit for national defense, even if it turned out to be a busman's holiday in vacation time.

She volunteered her services to the 6th Corps Area Headquarters in Chicago, and was assigned to establish the Post Service Club Library at Fort Custer.

During the school year, Miss Blinn teaches at Newark, O.

ANOTHER DIRECTOR of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo is Charlie Creighton, who had a rather active part in finally bringing about the rodeo performance for 1941. Although a businessman here now, Creighton was reared on a ranch and has for years participated in many shows as a contestant. Last year he took part in the Cheyenne, Wyo., rodeo, considered as one of the top one of the nation.

NEW ORLEANS—Mrs. Don L. Harwell's hobby is collecting salt and pepper shakers, and she has 271 different sets in her cupboard.

And That Means

CLUB CAFE

Everybody's Headquarters!"

For good food served 24 hours a day, make the Club your stopping place before and after the show.

DIRECTOR for the local rodeo since its inception back in 1934 is Harry Lees. He helped plan the first show when it was held in open country where the association's plant now stands and had an active part in the rodeo's activities since then. Like others, Harry did lots of riding and cow-punching as a young man.

Rapid Ropers Plentiful In Rodeo Arenas

A rabid rodeo booster is just about as bad or as good as a rabid baseball fan. They know all the points of a good rodeo and never miss a performance.

Many of them have never ridden a horse, but that doesn't keep them from getting a thrill out of watching the roping, bronc busting and steer riding.

Some of them can quote you record breaking times in roping and know the names of all the best. Some, who follow the shows with regularity even know the names of the worst of the wild horses.

Many of the women have husbands, brothers, or sons who keep them informed as to the ins and outs of rodeos but some get all their information through the newspapers. Regardless of age, a woman rodeo fan, is a true booster. Through dust, and rain, heat and sun she will sit fascinated for three days and enjoy the "most exciting shows on earth."

(3) The management assumes no responsibility or liability for injury or damage to the person, property or stock of any owner, contestant, or assistant. Each participant, by the act of his entry, waives all claim against the management for injuries he or his property may sustain.

(4) The timekeeper, judges and all of the other officials shall be appointed by the management and their decisions will be final in all matters relating to the contests in which they are called to officiate.

(5) Contestants should be at the place indicated by management when drawing for horses and places are held. Stock will be drawn for each contestant by officials of the show. Numbers will be furnished by the management to all contestants and must be worn on the back.

(6) Contestants must be on hand to answer call of arena director and must comply with all other rules of the management of each particular contest or exhibition.

(7) The management may withdraw any contestant's name and entry, bar him from any or all events and withhold any money due for any violation of the governing rules of the judges, or for any of the following offenses:

Refusing to contest on animal drawn by or selected for him.

Being under the influence of liquor.

Rowdiness.

Mistreatment of stock.

Altercation with judges or officials.

Failure to give assistance when requested to do so by the arena director, or for any other reason deemed sufficient by the management.

The management wishes especially to announce to all contestants that any attempt to "cheat" the judges, the rules, or the stock may result in the contestant being disqualified and barred from further participation.

(8) All contestants must participate in grand entries and parade on call of the management.

(9) All entry fees must be paid in advance. Contestants should ask for a receipt by the Secretary and should obtain their number when entry is made. Name must be signed in full and correct post office address given.

(a) The management reserves the right to make any additional rules as circumstances may require in any event, or to change any event, the time of any event or add any event.

(b) Any contestant who mistreats or in any way enacts cruelty to any animal automatically disqualifies himself in all events and forfeits any money due him. The management will not permit any cruelty of any nature to any animal.

CALE ROPING

There will be two timekeepers, a tie or field judge, a deadline referee and as many other officials as the local management finds necessary. Arena conditions will determine start and deadline rules. Ten second fine for ropers' horse breaking barrier.

After calf crosses deadline he belongs to contestant (roper) regardless of what happens. Two loops will be permitted and should he miss with both he must retire and no time will be allowed. Roping calf without releasing loop from hands is not permitted. Catch as catch can. Catch must hold until roper gets his hands on calf. Contestant must use neck rope in all roping events. If calf runs on rope and "busts" itself, no penalty shall be imposed, but if the rider deliberately "busts" calf he shall be penalized 10 seconds.

let up to his feet and then thrown assistance of any kind from the outside. If horse drags calf, the field judge may stop horse and the penalty for dragging will be ten seconds. Rope may be dalled or tied hard and fast, either is permissible.

Contestants must dismount, go down rope and throw calf with his hands and cross and tie any three feet. If calf is down when roper reaches it, the calf must be let up to his feet and then thrown by hand. The tie must hold until passed on by the judge and roper must not touch calf after finish signal until the judge has completed his examinations.

Roper must ride horse up and calf will be turned over, before tie is considered official.

Upon completing tie roper must mount his horse, ride up, and give the calf slack as soon as possible.

Contestants in this event may carry two ropes and two tie ropes and shall not receive assistance in any manner. The busting of calves in this event and the dragging of them will absolutely not be tolerated and the roper in doing so, in addition to the penalty, makes himself liable to arrest and fine.

Ropers will please live up to this rule, as it is a humane regulation and must be lived up to if we are to continue calf roping in future years.

BRONC RIDING

Any rider turning down or refusing to ride when called upon shall be disqualified and not allowed to ride for day money that day or any day following in this event.

Riders and horses for each day will be selected by management; horses to be furnished by management and riders will draw for mounts. Contestants must ride as often, and on any horse as judges deem necessary to determine winner. Riding to be done with plain halter or hackamore, one rein and saddle, all of which will be furnished by the management. Only association saddles furnished by the management, will be used.

Strips, nails or tacks on soles or heels of boots will not be permitted. Rein to be three or four strand braided grass or cotton rope and not to exceed one inch in diameter, rein must be without tape or knots and must not be wrapped around hand. One arm free. Riders must not change their hands on rein and rein hand must show daylight above horse's neck. Riding rein and hand must be on the same side. Horses to be saddled in chute or arena as management may direct. Horses will be saddled and cinched under direction of the Arena Director. Rider must leave starting place with both feet in stirrups, and both spurs against horse's shoulders and for the remainder of ride must scratch back. The matter of re-rides will be decided upon by the judges. Ride is completed when the bell rings. After the horse leaves the starting place everything the rider does will be counted for or against him.

Any of the following offenses will disqualify a rider in this contest.

Being bucked off.
Changing hands on rein.
Wrapping rein around hand.
Losing stirrup.
Pulling leather.
Failure to leave starting place with both spurs against horse's shoulders.

Not being ready to ride when called.

Use of any substance or prepared assistance on any part of rider's clothing or on any part of his equipment.

BULL RIDING

Any rider turning down bull or refusing to ride when called upon, shall be disqualified and not allowed to ride for day money that day or any day of the event.

Riders draw for place. This is a one-hand contest. Riders must ride with one hand on rope and the other hand in the air, and must leave the chute with both spurs in the bull's neck and scratch him all the time until sound of gong which is signal to dismount. Riding to be done with loose rope. No freak hand holds, no knots, or hitches will be permitted which would prevent rope from dropping off bull after rider leaves bull. Each bull must have bell on. Any device that gives an unfair advantage is barred. Rider must be ready to ride in his turn or he will be disqualified.

BAREBACK MULE RIDING

Any rider turning down mount or refusing to ride when called upon, shall be disqualified and not allowed to ride for day money that day or any day of the event.

Riders draw for place. This is a one-hand contest. Riders must ride with one hand on the sirsingle and the other hand in the air, and must leave the chute with both spurs in the mule's neck and scratch him all the time until sound of gong which is signal to dismount. Riding to be done with sirsingle, which will be furnished by the management. No freak hand holds, no knots, no hitches will be permitted. Rider must be ready to ride in his turn or he will be disqualified.

WILD COW MILKING

Each roper will be allowed a helper, who must stay within designated ring until roper takes one loop or cow crosses line in middle of arena. A ten second fine will be assessed for helper leaving ring before loop is taken or cow crosses line; breaking barrier, or jerking cow down (if cow's belly touches ground, cow will be considered down). Otherwise, regular roping rules will be followed.

Either man is eligible to milk cow. After milk is secured, same must be taken to judge who will signal for time.

Reporter Gets Story on Self

FINDLAY, O.—Robert Rosen-crane, reporter for a daily newspaper, made his usual call on the local draft board. Yes, he was informed, one man will be sent to the army. Yes, he was further informed, the selectee's name is Robert Rosen-crane.

The combined pre-war area of France, Germany and Spain was about 2,600 square miles less than the area of Quebec.

PONY EXPRESS

Each rider will be given a deadline start and must ride to designated station where he will dismount, unsaddle and place same saddle on new horse. He then must circle the arena, and returning to the station, repeat the unsaddling and resaddling before circling arena for his final lap. Each man will be allowed two helpers to hold horses only.

Texas Extension Service Employs Mohair Grader

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 14.—Walter Garth, Jr., of Sanford, Maine, has been employed by the Texas Extension Service, effective August 1, to supervise mohair grading in Texas during the fall season, Director H. M. Williamson announces. Garth was associated with the Texas mohair grading committee during the fall and spring seasons of 1940-41 in developing proper grades and methods of grading. The committee is composed of mohair producers and warehousemen.

W. R. Nisbet, extension service animal husbandman, with whom Garth will work, said that it was the purpose to develop in the early fall season a definition of the standards by which mohair is to be graded. Garth will help define the grades and after these have been accepted by growers, warehousemen, dealers and mills, effort will be made to have them established as standard grades for the United States.

Meanwhile, Nisbet will conduct a series of meetings with growers and warehousemen in all of the goat-raising counties. The first meeting was held at the Norton ranch near Goldthwaite on Aug. 5, and others are scheduled for Bandera, Menard, Sabin, Junction, Mason, Brady and other points in the mohair raising region.

Cookie Jar in Army
FORT RILEY, Kas. — On the theory that the cookie jar is one of the most potent symbols of homelike atmosphere, cookie jar extension service has been installed in the Service Club at Camp Funston to preserve such atmosphere for possibly homesick lads now in the service.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY duties fall to Curtis Driver, son of the secretary for the Big Spring rodeo and a stockholder in the corporation. More than any other man, Curtis has headed up preparations for this year's show on short notice and completed all necessary arrangements in record time.

Royal Windsor Household Aids War With Pig Club

WINDSOR, Eng. — Like other patriotic citizens up and down the country, members of the Royal Household at Windsor has formed a pig club—the 1,000th to be registered with the National Pig Breeders Council.

The scraps from the castle are being put to a new use. They go straight to the pigs.

Each member of the club paid a subscription of $4 and between them they now own 52 pigs. The Royal Family has shown great interest in the pigs.

Stalled Driver Suffers Chagrin Upon Chagrin

MADERA, Calif.—Those persons whose automobiles have run out of gasoline at night, forcing them to trudge to the nearest service station, may well sympathize with a man who called at the gasoline station owned by J. A. Whitaker.

The station had been closed for the night and Whitaker's bulldog forced the prospective customer to make a hurried retreat. The dog retained a section from the seat of the man's trousers. The man also dropped a three-gallon gasoline can, a siphon hose and a gasoline credit card.

Alert State Policeman Saves Wind-Blown Pie

BETHEL, Conn.—No problem is too minute for the attention of the Connecticut constabulary.

State Policeman Robert J. Murphy heard a woman's scream and dashed into the home of Mrs. Joseph Leo. He saw her gazing out the second story window with a look of dismay. Officer Murphy quickly sized up the situation and just as quickly climbed out on the porch roof and retrieved Mrs. Leo's newly-baked pie that the wind had blown from the window-sill to the rain gutter.

Snowflake, Ariz., was named for its founder, William J. Flake, and a friend, Erastus Snow.

TREASURER of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo since its inception is R. V. Middleton, whose banking experience qualifies him for the job and whose rearing on the range makes him a good rodeo official.

Vacation Relief Work Extends For 30 Years

LEE, Mass.—In 1911 policeman Frank F. Coughlin of Pittsfield was sent to this town to serve a two-week vacation relief trick.

Folks liked Coughlin and Coughlin liked Lee and the relief job stretched out. Now he is just ending his 30th year as a member of the Lee police department of which he has been chief since 1913.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY—And don't pull leather, either, for the judges won't like it. Maybe this is a hard way to make a living, but as bumpy and rough as it is, not a few rodeo performances get a thrill out of trying to stay with a cavorting, twisting, bucking bronc. Note how stiff-legged the horse above is landing. It all adds up to one big jolt for the rider. (Kelsey Photo).

Rowan Settles Had Important Duties In Past Rodeos Here

Missing this year from the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo will be a faithful hand of whom the public saw little during seven previous performances of the show.

Yet his work was of such a nature that the whole precision of the performance depended upon him and his helpers.

That was Rowan Settles. Rowan died last December not many days before he was to have become sheriff of Howard county.

During the years the rodeo had been a regular feature here, his big job had been attending to the stock. Not only did this entail the feeding and watering of animals to insure their good condition for all shows, but also that the broncs, steers, calves and bulls were in the chute and ready to be run out the minute the announcer announced the next event, the next rider, roper or bulldogger.

Nobody ever saw much of Rowan, but his work was responsible for the fast moving shows. This year his job falls on new shoulders. Kirby "Slick" Miller has that task, and if Rowan were here today, he probably could tell him it is a big one.

Crow Shooters' Outfit Like Klu Klux Klan

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—A group of men clad in white robes and carrying shotguns gave residents a scare recently and led to reports that the Klu Klux Klan was on the march.

Sheriff deputies encountered the men huddled together in a lonely wood.

It was quite simple, the white garbed group explained.

"We're members of the Pointer and Setter club and we've gathered together here to shoot crows. We're dressed in white because crows can't see white objects at night."

Arizona Indians are not permitted to vote, although they are United States citizens.

Want To Stage Rodeo? It Takes Heap Of Money

Rodeos such as the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo association has staged here for the past seven years and such as will be held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday definitely get into a money proposition.

In the six years the show has been incorporated and accurate records on receipts and disbursements have been kept, actual disbursements for the show have aggregated $37,775.

Add to this $15,140 expended for plant construction, improvements and land and you have a total outlay of $52,915.54 for the period. Not available are figures for the initial show held back in 1934.

Revenues for the period have aggregated $39,023, the difference being accounted for by $10,000 in capital stock and the surplus between receipts and expenditures. This surplus, however, was put back into the show and none of it distributed as profits.

Expenses in staging a show have ranged as high as $7,681 and as low as $4,532. Peak year from a revenue standpoint was in 1937 when the intake was $9,337. Receipts at one time dropped as low as $4,156.

Marching Troops Pause To Quench Fire Alarm

WEST PLAINS, Mo.—The national defense program was slightly impeded recently by a fire at the Howell County Welfare Farm. A detachment of 500 men en route from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., to Camp Robinson, Ark., happened past while the fire was blazing in the laundry at the farm. The soldiers, using chemical equipment and cans of water from their trucks, doused the blaze and went on. Seven other buildings at the farm had been endangered.

Hornets' Nest Had Honesty

MARTINEZ, Calif. — Traffic Officer Roy Nickola left little to the imagination when he made his report on a flying trip to the municipal stadium where some boys had knocked a hornets' nest out of a tree. "When I arrived there was no one in the park, and I did not stay long," he admitted.

Conservation Now Makes Possible More Intensive Use of West Texas Rangeland

Time was when ranchmen in the Big Spring country turned their herds loose to roam more or less at will, with the Rio Grande as their back fence.

Grass was free and plentiful. There was enough land that every cow-critter could eat his fill and never nick the waving meadows of native grasses.

But settlement increased. Barb-wire came into use despite the proficient use of wire-pliers and shooting irons. Herds were confined within certain limits and the cattle found it necessary to crop grass more closely.

With roads and fences plentiful, prairie fires were eliminated and mesquite and cedar scrub grew up to choke out the fine prairie grasses. Wells pumped dry the underground streams and springs dried up.

Thus a new era in ranching was ushered in. The transition for extensive to intensive ranching began. That transition is still under way.

With less acres, ranchmen are finding it necessary to make every acre count more. At first they simply turned more cattle into the pastures, but that soon emptied the stock of grass.

Now ranges are being built up to accommodate heavier grazing. Little by little the productive capacity of a West Texas section is being increased.

The AAA, through its range conservation program, is helping the rancher to improve his lands. It is subsidizing him for allowing part of his acreage to go ungrazed, so that denuded pastures may take on new growth of grass.

It is sharing the cost of riding range lands of moisture-and-sunshine-stealing mesquite and cedar, along with prickly pear. It is helping to build surface tanks to store water for the long, dry summers. It is encouraging ranchmen to contour furrow sloping ranges, with the result that water is held where it falls and can do the most good.

The result is the grazing capacity of the land is being noticeably increased. Some day two cows will graze where one grazed before.

Direction Of Rodeo Is No Small Task

Directing the affairs of a big rodeo such as the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo is no small task.

The job here falls to eight men, all old timers in the county and who have at one time or another been associated in various capacities with the cattle industry.

Heading the group as president is Tom J. Good. Marion M. Edwards, whose father, W. P. Edwards, is also a stockholder in the concern, is vice-president. Robert Middleton serves as treasurer and Ira Driver is secretary.

Other directors are Charlie Creighton and Harry Lees, both of whom have been with the association since its inception, and Gene O'Daniel and H. Noble Read, both veteran ranchers but comparatively new members of the board.

SECRETARY of the Big Spring rodeo for the past six years has been Ira Driver. Brought up in a frontier atmosphere, Driver once made a junket to South America with a group of other West Texas cowboys. Like other officials, he also serves as a director in the local show.

Woman Credits Longevity To Hard Work On Farm

HAVERHILL, Mass.—Miss Almeda F. Cobb says the way to long life is to work hard on a farm.

A native of Mechanic Falls, Me., Miss Cobb recently celebrated her 100th birthday at the home of a niece.

"I was brought up on a farm," she said in discussing her longevity. "I pitched hay in the fields, hoed vegetables and performed the usual farm chores. That's how I managed to store up energy enough to live in this world as long as I have."

Police Ball Irks Town Folk

CANTON, N. Y. — Remember how your resentment rose when that policeman "sold" you a ticket to the police ball. Well, citizens of nearby Massena got so incensed at the sale of tickets and requests for contributions by their policemen that they instituted a grand jury investigation. No indictment.

Auto, 1915 Model, Chugs Along At 40 Per Clip

ILION, N. Y.—John and Frank Cacciatori were a little dubious when they bought a 1915-model automobile. But a little gasoline in the cylinders and a turn of the crank, and they were off at 40 miles an hour.

They purchased the car when their truck broke down on the road. And they find their new acquisition economical. They get 29 miles to a gallon.

Old Cannon Ball Unearthed MONTEREY, Calif. — An ancient Brass cannon ball, believed fired by the French privateersman Hypolyte Bouchard when he sacked the city in 1818, harkened Monterey back to its colorful Spanish era. The ball was found several feet underground during excavations at Casa Munras, an original hacienda built not far from the site of the Spanish Presidio.

The Cowboy And The Traffic Cop--

BOTH VITAL TO WEST TEXAS

Truly characters of the west—the ranchman, portrayed by the cowhand with his sombrero and his lariat, and the Cosden Traffic Cop, symbolical of the power and prestige behind Cosden Higher Octane Gasoline.

Both are producers, contributing immensely to the stability and expansion of West Texas. The ranchman sends meat to the nation's tables, doing his part to develop the natural resources so important to our country. Cosden sends petroleum products to the nation's machinery, doing its part to keep the wheels of industry and defense turning, and to see that vital automotive transportation has the best in fuel and lubrication.

The ranchman's income means much to West Texas, for his returns are the source of wealth to this great natural resources area. West Texas salutes the cattle raiser as a builder of the empire.

Cosden means much to West Texas, too, as a large purchaser of the area's petroleum production, as a transporter and refiner, and as a marketer of highest quality petroleum products.

All West Texans know, just as they know the sterling worth of the "cowhands", the real merit in Cosden products, and the real power in Cosden Higher Octane Gasoline—"always at a bargain."
