Navy Orders More Warships To Turbulent Far East Area

AIR FORCE DENIES HIGH SPEED—The controversy over the reported speed of the Air Force's X-1, shown above, continued Thursday as the Air Force denied reports that the plane had hit 1,989 miles-per-hour—three times the speed of sound. The Air Force said, in commenting on a report in a Los Angeles paper that the plane had flown almost 2,000 miles-an-hour at Muroc Dry Lake, Calif., that no specific speed could be revealed. However, an aviation expert claimed the plane had hit 963 miles-an-hour more than a year ago. (AP Wirephoto.)

Rocket Plane Speed Denied

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — The Air Force denied today a published report that its experimental rocket plane has flown 1,989 miles an hour.

The Air Force said "recent reports of specific speeds which have appeared in the press are not correct."

The statement was issued after the Air Force had been asked to confirm a story in the Los Angeles Times that the experimental plane, the X-1, had achieved a speed of 1,989 miles.

Official Speeds Secret

A spokesman for the Air Force said that specific speeds cannot be given because of "security considerations."

The official's statement recalled that the Air Force had previously said that the X-1 has flown "hundreds of miles per hour faster than the speed of sound."

This would indicate more than 1,000 miles an hour.

(Meanwhile, another report said that the plane had attained a speed of approximately 963 miles an hour at an altitude of 53,000 feet more than a year ago, the United Press reported.

Security Policies Hit

(The speed and altitude figures were published by James J. Haggerty, jr., military writer for American Aviation magazine, in a column berating Defense department security policies.

(Haggerty knows military security first hand. He was, during the war and after, an Air Force captain. He was in on the bombing of the Ploesti oil fields. Later he was press information officer for the Air Force and wrote some of the original material concerning the X-1 supersonic program, the United Press added.

The United Press also reported: In putting the rocket ship information on record Haggerty said that for more than a year he had "carefully kept it out of print in the honest belief that it was information which would be kept

One Killed As Trains Collide In Blizzard

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Dec. 29. (INS)—One man was killed and at least 30 other persons were injured today when two Canadian Pacific passenger trains collided in a blizzard near Southesk, Alberta, 80 miles west of Medicine Hat.

The trains were the No. 3, Montreal to Vancouver, and No. 8, Vancouver to Toronto.

Canadian Pacific officials at Medicine Hat identified the dead man as Reid B. Hefferen, 23, of Regina, a CPR employe enroute to Vancouver, British Columbia.

Many of the injured wer described by a railroad spokesman as "stretcher cases" and at least six were reported to be in serious condition.

The fierce blizzard and snow drifts blocking highways in the area hampered rescue efforts.

Damage Widespread As Three Quakes Rock Luzon Island

MANILA, Friday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Three heavy earthquakes hit the main Philippines island of Luzon yesterday, cracking buildings in Manila and other cities and opening geyser-like fissures of steam, mud and water.

Hundreds of thousands of Filipinos spent the night in the rain as the earth quaked for almost 14 hours. The shocks wrought damage throughout the big island.

Only one death and 20 injuries, mostly minor, were reported today.

Other Parts Of State Receive Moisture

Light Rains Blanket South Plains Area

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

DRIZZLY, misty rains laid a damp blanket over the South Plains Thursday afternoon and night as the Weatherman called for a continuation of occasional light rains until noon today.

No heavy rain was reported at any point on the South Plains, but all sections received moisture ranging from a damp trace up to .15 recorded at Lubbock by 12:30 a.m. today.

Rains also fell at a number of other West and South Texas points, the Associated Press reported, with Van Horn getting a 1.50 inch share of the needed moisture.

More Rain Seen Today

Occasional rains today in both East and West Texas were predicted by the state weather bureau.

Mild temperatures are expected to continue in the Lubbock area today, the forecaster here said, with an afternoon maximum of 55 predicted to follow a morning low of 40.

However, colder temperatures are slated to move into the South Plains and Panhandle Saturday. The Lubbock forecaster wouldn't hazard a guess on the arrival time or severity of the cold snap expected, but indicated the temperature drop would come late Saturday.

Fog Covers Area

On Thursday, the Lubbock mercury went to a high of 54 after an early morning low of 27.

Heavy fog blanketed much of the South Plains area Thursday morning, moving in the Lubbock area at 6:55 a.m. to reduce visibility to one-sixteenth of a mile and the ceiling to zero most of the morning.

Airline operations in and out of Lubbock were halted until 11:30 a.m. At 10:30 a.m., the ceiling was only 100 feet at Municipal airport north of Lubbock.

Plane Passes Over

Soupy flying weather Thursday night forced one commercial airliner to bypass Lubbock to land at Amarillo. While visibility remained fairly good, the ceiling was near zero.

The rains over the South Plains were not expected to affect cotton still in the fields or piled on the ground. Gins in the area are still swamped by the incoming harvest and much cotton remains piled in fields. However, no heavy damage is seen if the rains do not continue for any length of time.

Off and on showers began at Levelland at 4 p. m. and continued into the night over most of the area. Plainview reported an

2,800 Marooned By Snow, Floods

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 29. (INS)—Snow and flood gripped the northwest today, marooning an estimated 2,800 travelers in British Columbia and isolating at least one town.

Provincial authorities reported some travelers stranded 40 hours.

They dispatched emergency planes to parachute supplies to the long lines of stalled autos near the isolated town of Hope, 99 miles east of Vancouver.

Snow Slides Block Roads

Huge snow slides blocked the Canadian National rails and smothered the Hope-Princeton highway at the town of Flood, B. C.

No less than 14 Canadian National and Canadian Pacific passenger trains were said to be stalled completely or merely crawling through the Fraser valley toward Vancouver.

One CPR locomotive slithered off the rails 60 miles east of Vancouver, again tying up the line after a 12-hour slide block was cleared.

Occupants of 80 automobiles stalled along the highway waited relief from the skies as fliers prepared to drop food.

Many Trains Canceled

All east bound trains from Vancouver were canceled last night with new slides between Stout and Yale.

British Columbia telephone lines to eastern Canada were out. Communications routes through Seat-

Russians Told U. S. Preparing For Bacteriological Warfare

MOSCOW, Dec. 29 (AP) — Russians were told today the United States is preparing for bacteriological warfare, while also harboring Japanese charged in a Soviet indictment with actually carrying on a germ assault against Chinese.

The statements were made in Pravda, the Commmunist party organ, in reporting the Siberian war crimes trial of 12 Japanese Army officers at Khabarovsk.

Pravda said the United States is maintaining a bacteriological warfare experimental station near Washington.

Four Hurt In Haskell Blast

(By The Associated Press)

HASKELL, Dec. 29. — A mysterious explosion rocked the Hassen department store here about 5:45 p. m. today, injuring four persons and causing damage estimated in excess of $35,000.

The blast occurred in the basement of the two-story structure housing the store, which is on the ground floor. It raised the floor of the store, shattered all glass show cases inside, blew out the store front with its windows, cracked an eight-inch sidewalk in front of the store and blew off a manhole cover on the sidewalk. Its force shattered glass windows a half block away.

Seriously injured were Shahir Hassen, about 60, the store owner; his son, Rajah, about 20, and Mrs. Marvin H. Hancock, about 50, a clerk. Another clerk, Mrs. Lucille Clifton, about 35, suffered slight injuries.

Blast Cause Unknown

Fire Marshal Marion Reeves said officials had not been able to determine the cause of the explosion. He said there was no sign of fire following it and no smell of gas.

Mrs. Hancock had a fractured leg, a possible jaw fracture, and cuts on her hands and face. Hassen had possible internal injuries. Both he and Mrs. Hancock were knocked unconscious by the explosion. Hassen's son suffered severe burns on his face, arms, and hands. Mrs. Clifton had cuts on her hands and legs.

Fire Chief Ray Lusk said damage to the store and fixtures was estimated at $35,000.

Wall Is Cracked

He said damage to the building had not been estimated. In the basement a brick partition was blown out, and in addition to interior and front damage, a wall of the building was cracked.

The basement had not been in use.

The Hassen store is in Haskell's business district on the north side of the town square.

Mrs. Clifton said the four injured persons were closing the store when the blast occurred and were the only ones in it.

She said she and Mrs. Hancock were standing at a wrapping counter in the center of the store.

"All of a sudden," she said, "the floor seemed to raise up and merchandise and fixtures and parts

Scurry Land Is Under Dispute

AUSTIN, Dec. 29. (AP) — A temporary restraining order to prevent the state school land board's awarding oil and gas leases on 555 acres in Scurry county was issued today by Dist. Judge Jack Roberts.

The order followed filing of suit by O. H. Wolters of Fayette county. He asked the court to declare him the rightful owner of the West Texas land and to issue an injunction against the three members of the school land board.

Wolters' suit questioned the constitutionality of a 1941 legislative act which put a five-year limit on the right to reinstate a contract on land declared forfeited by the state.

Early Sale Claimed

He said he bought the land in 1935 at a sheriff's sale.

The state declared the land forfeited in July 1941, because of non-payment of a $1,665 balance on the original purchase price and $779 in interest, penalties and fees. Wolters said in his suit he knew nothing of the forfeiture until after he leased his land for 1949.

Then, he said, he sent the state a check for the $1,665, but the check was rejected because of the five-year limit. Wolters contended the 1941 law was unconstitutional because it did not require

One Killed, Two Hurt As Train Crashes Into Gasoline Truck

AZUSA, Calif. Dec. 29. (INS)—The Santa Fe Super Chief streamliner crashed into a 24,000-gallon gasoline truck and trailer at an Azusa crossing today cremating one man, injuring two others and engulfing the 12-car train and a nearby house in flames.

The terrific impact exploded and ignited the truck. Flames engulfed the locomotive and baggage car of the streamliner and seared the other cars. Flaming gasoline also set fire to a house by the tracks. All fires were extingushed within an hour.

Killed was the truck driver, identified as Axel Olson. Injured were train Engineer Glenn J. Hennessey, 61, and Fireman Frank L. Hanna, 39, both were severely burned.

ARMED BANDIT TAKES $50 FROM ATTENDANT HERE

Service Station Robbed

A NERVOUS bandit walked into the J. and K. service station at 1619 Ave. H at 7:40 p. m. Thursday, held a gun on the station attendant and walked away with at least $50 from the cash register.

The attendant, Frank Barnes, 24, of 704-A Ave. X, said the armed man was "twice as scared as I was and I was plenty scared."

After being told not to try to follow the man, Barnes called police about four minutes after the bandit walked away from the station, going east on Seventeenth street.

First Time Held Up

"It was the first time I have been robbed," Barnes said, "and it must have been the first time he robbed anybody."

"His hands were shaking and he was so scared he could barely talk. He kept looking out the station window while he was taking the money from the register," Barnes said.

Barnes said the armed robber was white, about 35, about 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighed around 155 pounds. Barnes said he had a black or brown snap brim hat, khaki clothing, a brown check sport jacket—and a blue steel revolver, probably a .38 caliber. The man had brown eyes and needed a shave, Barnes added.

Had Walked By Station

About 10 minutes before the robbery, Barnes saw the man walk through the driveway of the station as if he were coming into the office.

"He went on by, but it was the same man who came back later," Barnes said. "I had just finished talking to my wife on the telephone when he came in.

"He had this blue steel revolver, holding it under his jacket."

Barnes said the bandit, in a shaky voice, said: "I want all the money in the cash register."

Opening the cash register, Barnes stepped back and sat down while the bandit removed the money and stuffed it into his coat pocket, he said.

After taking the bills and part of the change from the register the bandit told Barnes "I won't mess with the rest of the change."

"He walked out the door sideways and told me not to try to follow him," Barnes said. "I just kept sitting there for two or three minutes and then I called the police."

Barnes was working alone at the station, owned by James Kirkland, when his visitor called for cash and carried it away.

Barnes said the man took at least $50 in bills and change, possibly a few dollars more. No exact count was available, late last night, it was reported.

Meanwhile, police were kept busy with reports of numerous thefts.

Police said burglars entered the Parkdale church at Fourth and Ave. D Wednesday night, but that nothing apparently had been taken. Rev. I. W. Walker, pastor, said the church had been ransacked. A screen was torn from a window by intruders to effect entry.

L. G. Wilhite, proprietor of a clothing store at 1211 Ave. G Thursday complained to police that two Latin-American women had taken $25 in cash from a strong-box in his store.

The women entered the place with several children, Wilhite said, and asked to look at some coats. The complaint stated he had left the room briefly and returned to find the people gone—along with three $5 bills and one $10 bill from the cash box.

R. P. Johnson of Shallowater informed officers here that an overcoat valued at $45 had been taken from his car parked in the 1000-block Fourteenth. The vehicle was not locked, he said.

Roosevelt Darty, 30, an Anderson county negro charged here recently with assault with intent to murder another negro, was delivered to county jail Thursday afternoon by Dep. Sheriff Gene Lewis. Lewis went to Athens to accept custody.

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION PLANNED

Probe Of Civilian Defense Against Atom Bomb Slated

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — Congressional hearings on civilian defense against the atomic bomb will start early in the next session and be aimed at preparation for the "worst possible atomic war."

This was reported today by Senate-House atomic committee sources who said that the public investigation may start as early as Jan. 15.

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), chairman of the joint committee, is said to be anxious to avoid a needless public "scare" but equally determined that the hearings consider a grave problem in a "realistic" manner.

Action Demanded

Widespread demands for action on civilian atomic defense were touched off by President Truman's disclosure last fall that Russia had exploded an atomic bomb.

Committee sources explained that in seeking a defense for civilians against the worst possible atomic attack, the hearings automatically would cover problems involved in a lesser emergency.

McMahon is to call the atomic committee into session early next month to determine the dates for the hearings and set the agenda.

He said the scope and complexity of civilian atomic defense are "enormous."

New Problems Faced

Problems utterly new are said to include defense against radioactivity including how to deal with contaminated areas and how to treat a person who has been exposed to radiation.

Also involved, it was explained, is the question of how to test land and buildings to determine if they are safe for use.

Committeemen said it is likely the hearings will include testimony on damage to Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the only two cities to have undergone an atomic bomb attack.

Other questions to be explored include the stock piling of geiger counters along with food and clothing.

Controversy Seen

Almost certain to be covered by the hearings is the issue of whether the federal government and industry generally should be decentralized as a safeguard.

A committeeman said he will insist that the investigation cover, too, the issue of federal vs. state

Woman Preacher In Dallas Accused Of Taking Church Bell

(By International News Service)

DALLAS, Dec. 29—A woman preacher was charged today with stealing the bell from the Dallas church where she formerly led services.

Mrs. Alma Putnam Murray was arrested on a complaint signed by the Rev. Jesse Pleasant, pastor of the Four Square Gospel church.

Pleasant accused Mrs. Murray of hauling the bell from the church to her home. She was held on $300 bond.

Terry Man Faces Murder Charge

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 29 (Special)—A 20-year-old youth tonight was charged with murder in the death of Jimmy Metzger, 21, of Brownfield, after Metzger died this afternoon from a head injury allegedly received in a fist fight.

Louis Loe, 20, of near Brownfield, was released on $2,000 bond tonight, after waiving examining trial before Justice of Peace J. W. Hogue. His case will come up for grand jury action Monday.

Brought To Hospital

Metzger was brought unconscious to the Treadway-Daniell hospital here at 11:35 a.m., over five hours after County Attorney George W. Neill said that he and Loe had engaged in a fist fight. Metzger died at 4:45 p.m., without regaining consciousness.

Neill said the fight occurred about 6 a.m. today, at a cotton gin north of town where both men worked a late night shift. After the fight, Metzger and Loe went back to work. Metzger drove home after work, and, according to his wife, appeared to be normal when he entered the house.

Half an hour later, he collapsed, and was rushed to the hospital. Dr. T. L. Treadaway, attending physician, said cause of death was due to a brain injury, probably

HST To Give Views In Three Messages

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — President Truman's answers to a cluster of billion-dollar questions will be packed into three messages to Congress in five days starting Wednesday.

Mr. Truman is tentatively scheduled to present his views as follows:

Jan. 4—"State of the union" message, in which he is expected in 5,000 words to demand enactment of further sections of his "fair deal" domestic program.

Jan. 6—Economic message, stressing trends in the nation's economy now and the outlook under long-range planning.

Jan. 9—Budget message, probably disclosing whether Mr. Truman will insist on higher taxes to avoid red-ink financing or whether the administration will undertake some drastic cuts in federal spending.

330 Traffic Deaths Seen For New Year's

CHICAGO, Dec. 29. (U.P.)—New Year's weekend traffic accidents will take 330 lives, the National Safety council predicted today.

The council said the death toll on the highways will be that high unless a blizzard "sews the country up tight."

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, urged Americans to "depend on themselves and not on the weatherman," observing four precautions:

"1. Leave the car in the garage and use public transportation, especially if you intend to do any drinking.

"2. Go on the theory that the other fellow, driver or pedestrian, may be woozy and allow for it.

"3. Don't ride with a drinking driver.

"4. Double your caution if the weather is bad."

Navy Defense Line Is Studied

By WILLIAM THEIS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — The Navy ordered a large aircraft carrier and two destroyers transferred to the Far East while President Truman and his National Security council discussed the fate of Communist-threatened Formosa.

Meanwhile the State department warned all United States shipping companies and shipmasters that the Chinese Nationalists have "mined" the approaches to Communist-held Shanghai and "no channel has been left open."

U.S. Is Notified

The Chinese Nationalist government notified the U. S. that the approaches had been mined to enforce the Nationalist blockade of Communist China.

The Navy said the 27,000-ton carrier USS Boxer with about 130 military planes aboard will embark from a West Coast port Jan. 11 for Far Eastern waters, accompanied by destroyers USS Buck and the USS Thomason.

Formosa Studied

A defense department official confirmed reports that the council considered the thorny problem of how to handle Formosa, now the stronghold of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government which has been pushed out of China by victorious Red forces.

The meeting was held at the White House after it was reported that Mr. Truman has ordered a "positive" military program in the Far East to offset the sweeping surge of Communism.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Smith (R-NJ), who visited Formosa in November suggested that the U. S. and Nationalist China jointly occupy and develop Formosa as a "symbol" of President Truman's point four program in the Far East.

The Boxer will be the only carrier in the Far East. It and the destroyers will augment the strength of the Seventh Task fleet which patrols waters around Formosa.

Another carrier, the USS Valley Forge also is in the Pacific but it is based on the West coast. The Boxer and its destroyer escorts reportedly will leave from San Diego.

Old Age Security Expansion Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. (INS)—President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers called today for a new extension of rent control and insisted that expanded federal old age security should take priority over private pension plans.

In its fourth annual report to the president, the council said many businessmen are questioning whether "the random development of unequal pension systems in scattered industries" would leave the economic system more free and promote national stability.

The council's recommendations served as a preliminary report to President Truman's economic message to Congress next week which probably will contain his adviser's viewpoints.

Congress Blamed

The two-man group said it was not prepared to "censure" the private pension development, which it blamed on delay in enactment by Congress of expanded old age security. It added:

"It seems to us that many workers and employers have had no choice but to do what they have done.

"Nor do we take the doctrinaire position that some thoughtful combination of public and private insurance against old age may not usefully emerge, although we incline strongly toward immediate expansion of federal old-age se-

SLIGHT DECLINE IN FARM INCOMES, STOCKS, INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY INDICATED FOR 1950

Babson Forecasts Easing Off In Economy During Next Year

By ROGER W. BABSON

1. The total volume of business for 1950 will be less than that of 1949, due primarily to the unfortunate labor conflicts. Considering that the innocent consumer will be the chief sufferer and will be obliged to pay the bills, it seems too bad that labor troubles should upset the applecart.

BABSON

2. Even with all the threats, there will be few wage increases during 1950. On the other hand, all labor negotiations take the minds of both employes and management off their regular business. However these negotiations come out, they result in a loss from the standpoint of the country as a whole.

3. There will be fewer strikes in 1950 than in 1949, but there will not be fewer negotiations which are very expensive in themselves.

4. The Taft-Hartley Law will continue to stand throughout 1950, although many schemes for detouring this law will be devised.

5. The great drive against the big companies will be for pensions and, or for sick and other benefits. These will probably be helpful to the wageworkers and may aid in ironing out the business cycle, but they will be paid for by consumers.

6. It is hoped that all parties will begin to realize during 1950 that the real road to national progress is through increasing production and greater efficiency. This is the bright light we see in the labor situation.

COMMODITY PRICES

7. Movements in commodity prices during 1950 will vary with different groups of industries and of products, but altogether there will be a general lowering during 1950.

8. We, therefore, advise going easy on inventories. 1950 is a time to get out of debt and stay out of debt. Speculation in commodities should be discouraged in 1950.

9. We believe that the cost of living index has turned down for the present. The average for 1950 will be less than for 1949.

10. Practically all retail prices will average less in 1950 than in 1949, notwithstanding the excess of money mentioned under 27-28 and 29 below.

FARM OUTLOOK

11. The total farm income for 1950 should be less than that of 1949, which means lower prices on the average for wheat, corn, pork, poultry, eggs, and certain dairy products. Farmers should diversify more in 1950, get out of debt and put their surplus money into savings, in preparation for the next crop failure.

12. The supply of certain canned vegetables and fruits (except citrus) should be greater during 1950 than at the same time during 1949. The prices of these products should fall off, barring some weather, insect or blight catastrophe.

13. Poultry and dairy products will especially increase in volume during 1950 with prices averaging less than in 1949.

14. Farmers will continue to work to hold present subsidies. It is popular to criticize the vast amount of crops which the government owns or is making loans on, but this surplus in storage may be a great blessing when the next crop failure or war comes.

TAXES

15. The federal budget will be increased during 1950 over that for 1949.

16. Over-all federal taxes will not be increased during 1950 and there may even be some readjustment to encourage venture capital. Moreover, some of the nuisance taxes may be eliminated or reduced.

17. The long-term capital gains tax of 25 per cent will remain unchanged.

18. There will be many increases in local and state taxes, and more

Great Airstrip, Built By Chinese Coolies, Falls Into Hands Of Reds

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—It wasn't much of a story in the papers or on the air. About two paragraphs. The Chinese Reds, which meant Russia, had captured another temporary capital of the sprinting Chinese Nationalist government. Place named Chengtu.

Chengtu...

Quite a place, really. Quite a place.

Chengtu cost you a bundle of money. But it cost the people of that region much more, when we chose it as a launching base for what we hoped would be a lot of B-29 raids against Japan.

Reds Get Airstrip

Remember those pictures of hundreds of Chinese men, women and children pulling a gigantic road smoother by hand? And the occasional stories that some of them fainted from exhaustion, or were pulverized beneath the incredible roller? They were taken at Chengtu during building of its incomparable airstrips, now in the hands of the Reds.

The next time you get real civic-minded about your city's airport, and all proud, think of Chengtu. You built yourself quite an airport there in the province of Szechwan in western China. It bears little resemblance to your nice airport at home where if you are lucky, you may have one or two 5,000-foot strips.

Strips Unusually Long

I moseyed around Chengtu's strips in 1945, after the B-29's had moved on to the better roosts of Saipan and Guam. Two of the strips measured 10,000 feet each. Two were 12,500 feet long. Surrounding them were four or five fighter strips about as long as La-Guardia's best.

They were built under excruciatingly primitive conditions by multitudes of workers...multitudes which the western mind can hardly envision. The rock beneath the concrete surfaces was broken by hand, carted in tens of thousands of squealing Chinese wheel barrows and painstakingly set in place by acres and acres of human beings working on hands and knees night and day in all weather.

Tremendous Number Employed

Individuals were not hired; whole villages were put to work. I saw the employment books during that visit there, and few can believe what they contained. On an average day we employed as many as 200,000 Chinese to work on those strips! During one period when a speedup was ordered, to hasten the hour when the B-29's could strike Japan, we employed 320,000 Chinese every day!

In the process we ruined the economy of the people for miles around Chengtu. It had been a fine rice-farming country since a remarkable engineer named Li Ping developed a superb irrigation system in that region 300 years before the birth of Christ. Li Ping's plans never had to be changed.

But to humor or help the strange men from the young United States who spoke so intensely about the Japanese (the people of Chengtu had never seen a Jap, nor had the war even approached them) the Chinese gave up those ancient lands that had supported them and their ancestors, drained their paddies, and went to work on the strips intended for the great metal birds.

We paid them money, to them a strange pagan medium of trade. We brought great poverty to them by throwing them off their ancient rice standard. We created great housing shortages. In desperation, the people of one dismantled village built themselves a lean-to community beyond the end of one great runway...and nearly all of these people were horribly killed when a B-29, loaded to the gills with bombs and 100-octane, accidentally plunged into them.

Americans Believed Guilty

It was then that the people of Chengtu decided that we, the Americans, were the true enemy. We had ruined their lives and enslaved them with the consent of the Chinese government, while sounding warning of an enemy they had never seen or felt. Finally we had to send a corps of psychological warfare men over there to placard the countryside with protestations of our good faith.

The B-29's made only one or two missions from Chengtu, then moved on to the islands the Marines had won in the Pacific. The war moved on, too, and the last shooting heard around Chengtu was the sound of the firecrackers with which the children greeted some of us on July 4, 1945.

The weeds of the great Chinese plain inched toward the strips. But the Reds moved faster...and I wonder what the puzzled people of Chengtu—who learned to like us the hard way—are thinking today. And I wonder if we care.

The Senate committee has already approved a program for flood control along the middle Rio Grande, causing considerable concern to water users in the El Paso valley.

Baruch Urges Hike In Retirement Age To Benefit Nation

GEORGETOWN, S.C., Dec. 29. (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch said today the retirement age of 65 should be raised so the nation can use the skills an dknowledge of its older citizens.

The 79-year-old advisor of presidents made the statement in a copyrighted interview with Walker Stone, editor o fthe Scripps-Howard Newspaper alliance.

He also suggested a revision of social security laws to permit an accumulation of larger pensions and prevent the aged from being "short-changed" by increased living costs.

Baruch called the increase in life expectancy the nation's big opportunity of the next half century," but he said the growing older population could become a "tragic liability if abused."

Pointing out that the average person can expect to live 65 to 67 years compared to only 44 at the turn of the century, Baruch said:

"With the advance of longevity we should push back the retirement age, not hurry it up. We must get away from employment policies based on cold, arithmetical averages and take advantage of the skills and judgement of older people."

It would be a "hideous mockery," he said, "if science made it possible for people to live and work longer and then society deprived them of something useful to do."

Proof Reported Of Continued Life In 'Dead' Human Brains

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Proof that human brains do not die quickly after death was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

This is shown by some grey brain tissues of babies kept alive for months in test tubes at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. The tissues came from babies which had died natural deaths.

In two cases the brain tissues came from unborn babies, which had died. One of these was an unborn infant about three months along. It had enough developed brain to continue living under artificial cultivation.

The report was made by Dr. Mary Jane Hogue. These tissue cultures are part of a study of good health from conception through birth.

Outlook For Winter Wheat Crop 'Good'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 29. (AP)—The Cargill Bulletin today reported that the winter wheat and rye crop outlook was good in the Southwest although there was a slight scarcity of surface moisture in some areas.

The wheat crop has entered the winter dormant stage when moisture requirements are low and there is little danger of excessive winter killing.

The crop generally has grown excellently, the bulletin said. The government estimated Dec. 1 that 1950 winter wheat production would be 885, million bushels, compared with 902 million bushels this year.

Acreage seeded is down 15 per cent from 1948, which means that a higher percentage of the crop is planted on fallowed ground where moisture reserves are larger and better yields can be expected.

The area seeded to rye was 3,291,000 acres, 12 per cent more than in 1948. Some increase was anticipated, the Bulletin said, as a result of the acreage limitations placed on wheat.

In Canada, autumn precipitation in the prairie provinces totaled 71 per cent of normal. No shortage was reported for Manitoba, while Alberta received only 58 per cent of normal. Since winter rain is of minor consequence so far as added moisture is concerned, more than average precipitation must come during the 1950 growing season to obtain average yields, the Bulletin said.

Because it might give the wrong idea about Irish asylums, Belfast, Northern Ireland, banned the Hollywood film "Snake Pit."

Italian Land Reform Program Is Given Backing Of Marshall Plan

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

For some months now one of the old European patterns has been breaking up in Italy, with American help. The huge old land-holdings of the rich are being parceled out to poor peasants.

Americans have a stake in the deal.

Since the U. S. army of occupation went into Italy more than two billion American tax dollars have been poured into Italy as a gift.

First the aim was just to feed hungry Italians. But then it changed to putting Italians back on their feet so they can earn their own living.

Red Propaganda Feared

Back of the Marshall plan is the American desire to prevent Italy from going Communist. The landless peasant has been open to Communist pleas for decades. Now the Communists are playing on his resentment over the large estates.

A billion dollar land distribution program is going on, with the blessing of the Marshall plan staff in Italy. The greater the number of landless peasants who can put their name on a few acres, the less convincing is the Communist argument.

Of course Italian holders of large estates are irate. But many of their acres have either not been cultivated at all or have been neglected so badly that their fertility is low. Those neglected acres are now being just plain taken by the government and handed out to peasants. There are 3,700,000 such acres in Italy.

Land Reforms Planned

Premier De Gasperi's big land reform bill will reach the Italian parliament early next year. Under it no land-holder would be permitted to hold more than 2,470 acres. No one can be cut below 74 acres, under the program.

The Italian government hopes to accomplish two things, and Marshall planners approve:

1. It hopes to put unused acres back into production and to bring neglected acres up to par.

2. It hopes to give thousands of Italian families a stake in a stable government so the Communist arguments will sound as empty as they do to an American farmer.

L. D. Casey is serving as chairman of the Arrangements committee.

Houston Detective Kills Self After Shooting Wife To Death

HOUSTON, Dec. 29. (AP) — A veteran city detective shot and killed his wife and then fatally wounded himself with his police pistol early today.

The bodies of Homicide Lieut. W. P. Brown, 46, and his wife, Sarah, 39, were found in their Houston home.

Justice of the Peace Tom Maes returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

Relatives of the couple said Brown had been despondent over a heart ailment which had bothered him about a year.

Brown, fatally shot in the mouth, was found lying on top of his .45-caliber automatic pistol in a bedroom. His wife's body was found in a hallway between two bedrooms. She had been shot three times.

INJURIES ARE FATAL

WACO, Dec. 29. (AP) — Injuries received in a traffic accident Christmas morning caused the death today of the Rev. Grady M. Feller, 42, pastor of the Emanuel Baptist Church of Brownwood. His car overturned when a tire blew out near McGregor. Mrs. Feller was injured, but her condition was described as good today.

Tech Offices Moved To Make Way For Building Activities

Dean of Women Margarett W. Walker of Texas Tech got "kicked upstairs" Thursday.

The dean's office was moved from the ground floor of the Administration building to the third floor in order to make room for construction activities on the building's two new wings.

She will occupy space formerly utilized by the history faculty until the wings are completed. The history faculty is moving into the new Museum building on the campus.

Dean of Men James G. Allen and his staff will also be moved to other quarters in the Administration structure some time next week. The two dean's offices are located directly adjacent to the excavations for the new wings and will be partially undermined and torn down during the construction work.

EL PASO MAN WOUNDED

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

DO YOU observe New Year traditions at your house? We do.

As far back as we can remember we have eaten black-eyed peas on New Year's day, because they are supposed to bring luck. The dish also tastes good after a week of rich Christmas foods.

A NEW YEAR'S salad from Mrs. Thord Dockray's files also is a favorite with the family. It should be prepared at least five hours before serving and if you eat it on the first day of the year, you are supposed to become rich. (The promise is filled before the end of the year, we suppose. It has not fulfilled that promise to us yet.)

Here's how: Four red beets, four boiled potatoes, one onion, two apples, two hard-boiled eggs, two dill pickles, cold roast, celery. Chop fine and moisten with your favorite homemade or bought salad dressing.

WE ALWAYS burn bayberry candles on New Year's Eve, because it is said "candles burned to the socket, bring good luck to the house and gold to the pocket." And "if it makes a blaze that is bright and healthy, you will be happy and wise, be good and be wealthy."

GREETING THE YEAR

HOLIDAY revelers who are concerned with the possibilities of the next fifty years must first consider the absolute necessity of being present to greet the daylight on New Year's day itself, not to mention Jan. 2 and 3.

This sounds as if it should be relatively simple and so it is. Nevertheless, the fact remains that more than 200 sane, healthy people probably will not accomplish this simple beginning. According to the National Safety council, statistics from last year's holiday indicate they will lose their lives on the very weekend this new half-century begins. Why? Because they may drive an automobile when they are in no condition to drive, may be driven by someone in no condition to drive, or have the misfortune to meet such a driver on the road.

We think that New Year's fun is fine and that such an auspicious New Year as this is deserving of a pretty special celebration. But, to assure other new years in the future, here's a simple suggestion that could go a long way toward reducing the ominous prospect of more than 200 traffic deaths over the weekend: "When you leave a party to drive home, be sure that your "one for the road" is coffee—plenty of coffee, hot, strong and black."

THIS New Year's Eve, as always, there will be more drinking of alcohol than any other night in the entire year. Whether you imbibe or not is a personal matter quite beyond our concern. However, we think most thoughtful hosts will provide coffee for guests who, either have had one too many or who are just plain sleepy. That way all will have a chance to return to normalcy before they get out on the highway.

To the ones who sent us copies of Christmas greetings after the holiday: Thanks and we are sorry they arrived too late to be included in our columns.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

IF YOU'D like to drop some of your prettiest Christmas greeting cards off at the Salvation Army headquarters, 1112 Seventeenth, they'll be appreciated. They will be sent to hospitals in Korea and India to brighten the lives of children in hospitals.

• • •

MRS. D. J. Wilhelm, teacher of first and second grade pupils, also has a plan for the cards. She tears her cards in half, removing the writing and saving the colorful pictures which she uses next Christmas to decorate her room. The children choose a card and use it to enclose in the gifts they make for their mothers at school.

Mrs. Wilhelm thought perhaps other teachers would be interested in the suggestion.

Civic Shortcomings Cited As Breeders Of Venereal Disease

AUSTIN, Dec. 29. (INS)—Antiquated court systems, tolerance of vice operations, and a lack of recreational facilities have been listed by State Health Officer George W. Cox, as the chief breeder of venereal disease.

Dr. Cox said the final solution to the venereal disease problem in Texas "rests squarely on the shoulders of the people in each individual community."

"The medical profession and health authorities know," he declared, "that venereal diseases can be controlled and ultimately eliminated. All that remains now is for communities to eliminate conditions which lead to a high VD rate."

Antiquated court systems, Dr. Cox said, permit juveniles to be confined with hardened criminals. This and other factors lead to juvenile promiscuity, he added.

Well over 13,000 cases of syphilis and 21,000 cases of gonorrhea have been reported in Texas so far this year, Dr. Cox said. Thousands of additional cases have gone unreported.

Japan Faces 'Year Of Tiger' With Hopes Given Lift By Swiftly Reviving Economy

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Dec. 29. — Reviving Japan looks hopefully to the new year—the year of the tiger.

Japan's ancient astrology says 1950 is the "year of the tiger." This means a period requiring courage and fortitude.

Most Japanese agree with that. It takes fortitude for their battle to restore their economy. It takes courage to face a year of tense international relations without a gun. And Japan is disarmed.

The biggest Japanese hope for the year is that a formal peace treaty can be concluded. Thus Japan would be restored to an international position.

Greater Market Desired

The second Japanese desire is an enlarged foreign market for the trade they need to become economically independent.

The Japanese believe their ancient astrologists called 1949 correctly. It was the year of the rat. This signifies diligence and hard work.

There was much of both in the past year, which was one of the most important for the nation since the end of the war.

There was an extensive loosening of bonds imposed on Japan as a beaten aggressor. Occupation authorities cut out 40 percent of the controls they had exercised over many aspects of Japanese life.

More Travel Permitted

More Japanese were allowed to travel abroad. Japan was represented at a number of international conferences. Plans were made to open trade offices abroad. There was a feeling of belonging once more to the world.

The proud Japanese lifted their chins higher when Dr. Hideki Yukawa won the Nobel prize for physics and Hironoshin Furuhashi broke world swimming records.

The new feeling may explain in part why Japan in 1949 did more to restore itself to normal than in the three previous years.

Bureaucrats, once content to let the occupation run things, began to accept the responsibilities being turned over to them.

Coal Production Rises

Coal production, a weather vane of production, suddenly exceeded minimum levels set for a reviving Japan. Hitherto the Japanese had said the levels were "impossible" to achieve.

General industrial production was 97.1 percent of the high 1932-36 average. That was a gain of 14 percent over the previous year.

It seemed the Japanese had decided they were about to regain their country and they wanted it in good shape when the time came.

The policies of Joseph M. Dodge, the Detroit banker brought out as General MacArthur's economic adviser, resulted in an economic stability unknown in Japan for nearly 20 years.

For the first time in that period, the national budget was balanced. Yet by economies it became possible to cut taxes in a country which was on the verge of unchecked inflation three years ago.

Some consumer prices were reduced. Others remained fairly steady. The worker got more in real wages—that is, his pay might be no higher but it would buy more. Stores were stocked with goods.

With millions of Japanese living better than ever before, Communism lost some of its punch.

A violence-marked campaign by the Communists to prevent mass firings from padded government payrolls collapsed. The Communists failed to excite Japan over problems of unemployment. In fact, unemployment was at a low total of 400,000. And the Communists were unable to capitalize on Red victories in China.

Hardest for the Japanese Communists to bear was the fact that they lost the allegiance of perhaps 2 million union members who swung away from the extreme left. Conservative or moderate leadership now governs more than 4 million workers, two-thirds of organized labor.

Whether the victory will be permanent depends, of course, upon future economic conditions.

Japan's long-range problems are by no means solved. But even pessimistic Japanese are saying that things are getting better.

North Carolina Solon Backs Drive Against Tax Chiselers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. (AP)— New backing for a drive against tax chiselers came today from Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee.

"If the government collected every dollar owed it under present law, it is my hope and opinion that we could just about balance the budget," Doughton said after arriving here for the opening of Congress.

He aligned himself with Rep. Forand (D-RI), who called earlier this week for a crackdown on federal tax evaders. Forand said he believes if enforcement were stepped up and loopholes plugged, the government might channel $5,000,000,000 a year more into its money bags.

One-fifth of all deaths in Vienna, Austria, now are due to cancer, doctors declare.

TASK FLEET CHIEF MAY HAVE RANK REDUCED

Admiral Bogan, Bitter Foe Of Unification Plan, 'Kicked Downstairs' In Navy Command Shakeup

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Vice-Adm. Gerald F. Bogan, commander of the first task fleet and author of a letter which touched off the bitter unification row, was demoted tonight in a general shake-up of top Naval commanders.

The Navy announced that Bogan has been transferred from command of the First Task fleet. He apparently will be reduced to the rank of rear admiral.

At the same time, the Navy announced a list of 23 promotions to rear admiral which included Capt. Arleigh A. Burke, who headed "Operations 23" the group that reportedly prepared Navy propaganda in the unification fight.

Crommelin Not Promoted

Capt. John G. Crommelin, the firebrand who secretly released Bogan's letter to newsmen, was eligible for promotion but his name was not contained on the list.

Reports that the White House and Navy Secretary Matthews would turn down Burke's promotion had threatened to cause a congresisonal furore. It was said his name had been removed in favor of Capt. Richard P. Glass.

The official promotions, however, included both Burke and Glass and the Navy said they were approved by President Truman.

Crommelin and Burke were far down the list, ranking 203rd and 211th, among those eligible for promotion.

Last October's congressional investigation of the unification fight was launched after Crommelin released Bogan's blistering letter charging that naval morale was being destroyed by Defense department policies.

Ordered To Shore Duty

An announcement said that Bogan is being ordered to shore duty, "probably to Jacksonville, Fla., in the billet vacated by Rear Admiral John H. Cassady."

Vice Admiral Calvin T. Durgin, now deputy chief of naval operations for air, will relieve Bogan in command of the first task fleet.

Bogan's letter was endorsed by his superior, Admiral Arthur W. Radford, commander of the Pacific fleet and Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, who later was ousted as naval chief of operations for blasting the unification policies before the House Armed Services committee.

The bitter fight and the congressional probe followed publicizing of Bogan's letter by Capt. John G. Crommelin.

Crommelin was given a severe reprimand by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, Denfeld's successor and has been shifted from his post with the joint chiefs of staff to the west coast.

Blandy To Be Retired

Cassady, now commander of fleet air at Jacksonville, will relieve Durgin as deputy chief for air.

The Navy also announced that Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the Atlantic fleet, expects to be retired Feb. 1, 1950.

Blandy backed Denfeld's position in the unification row, but it was said that his retirement has been expected for some time and has nothing to do with the fight.

Blandy will be relieved by Vice Admiral William M. Fechteler, now deputy chief of naval operations for personnel.

Rear Admiral John W. Roper, chief of naval personnel, will assume Fechteler's functions as an additional duty.

Other Changes Announced

A lengthy list of other transfers included the following:

Vice Admiral Robert B. Carney, now deputy chief of operations in logistics, to relieve Vice Admiral Donald B. Duncan in command of the Atlantic's Second Task fleet next April.

Duncan will relieve Vice Admiral Arthur B. Struble as deputy chief of naval operations in May or June.

Struble will be given a "sea command" in the Pacific fleet.

Vice Admiral Francis S. Low, now conducting a special survey of undersea warfare, will relieve Carney as deputy chief for logistics.

Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger, former Far Eastern commander, will get the eastern sea frontier command to be vacated when Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid retires May 1, 1950.

Vice Admiral Harry W. Hill, now chairman of the Navy's general board, will become superintendent of the Annapolis Naval academy "about April."

Rear Admiral James L. Holloway, jr., present Annapolis superintendent, will become commander of the Atlantic fleet cruiser force, relieving Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith.

Smith will become commander of the 13th Naval district at Seattle, Wash., when Rear Admiral Howard H. Good retires Sept. 1, 1950.

The Navy previously announced that Vice Admiral John D. Price, now vice chief of operations, will become chief of naval air training May 1. Rear Admiral Lynde D. McCormick was previously announced as the new vice chief of operations.

Houston To Vote On Annexation Today

HOUSTON, Dec. 29. (AP)—Houston residents are to decide tomorrow whether the city will annex 79 miles of land with an estimated 110,000 residents.

Unofficial estimates of the city's current population approximate 508,000.

Should the voters give approval, an annexation ordinance will become effective tomorrow night.

The city council already has approved the ordinance on two readings. Approval at the polls would constitute final adoption and would make the annexed property available for 1950 tax rolls.

Residents of the areas proposed for annexation will not participate in the election.

Leadership among opponents of annexation has concentrated primarily in an anti-annexation committee comprised of businessmen residing in the affected areas.

This group contends annexation would mean increased taxes within the current city limits because of expenditures that would be needed to provide services to the annexed areas.

Holcombe, in reply, has promised there will be no tax increase next year as a result of annexation.

Residents favoring annexation contend the action is necessary to prevent Houston being "choked" by territorial claims of the residential municipalities on the city's outskirts. Residents of these municipalities would not be affected by adoption of the ordinance.

Barkley Holds Up Hood Of Cab While Driver Checks Oil

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 29 (U.P.) — Cab driver Oscar Osmund admitted today that he wasn't very tactful when he asked Vice-President Alben Barkley to hold up the hood of his cab while he checked the car's oil supply.

The 26-year-old cabbie said he was checking the oil in his taxi at Little Creek, Va., when a dignified man and woman drove up in a black convertible and asked the way to Norfolk.

Osmund, peering at the oil stick, said, "wait a minute."

The man came closer. Osmund said he pressed him into service to hold the hood while he got a closer look at the oil stick.

Barkley Helps Out

The gray-haired man agreeably helped out.

Osmund walked back to the convertible with him, offering to drive ahead to show the way.

Then the woman in the car said, "The FBI will meet us at the dock."

Osmund blinked. Then another cabbie told him—the the dignified gentleman was vice-president of the United States.

"I got pretty nervous then," Osmund said. "They must think I'm a terrible driver."

Mrs. Barkley thanked him for guiding them, he said, and tipped him $5.

Young Boy Cured Of Desire For Popcorn

DAYTON, O., Dec. 29. (U.P.)—Billy Shumaker's desire for free popcorn had dropped considerably today as a result of the bout he had with a popcorn machine at a neighborhood bowling alley.

Billy, eight years old and a third-grade pupil, and his playmate, Garry Summers, 10, tired of playing cowboys and Indians yesterday and slipped into the bowling alley to watch.

When Billy saw some overflow of popcorn in the slot of a vending machine, he stuck his hand into the opening to get it. He shoved his hand and arm so far up the funnel for dispensing popcorn that steel traps of the machine closed on his fingers.

It took bowling alley attendants and firemen an hour and five minutes to free the howling youngster.

Billy's only injuries were three swollen fingers on his left hand.

AMERICAN EXECUTIVES JAILED

Hungarian Reds Seize Foreign Plants In Nationalization Move

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUDAPEST, Dec. 29.—Numerous western-owned businesses, officially termed nests fo rspies and saboteurs, were seized by Hungary today. Nationalization engulfed every industrial enterprise, Hungarian or foreign, with more than 10 employes.

The Communist government's list included American, British, Swedish, Dutch and Swiss companies. Compensation was promised the owners.

The Standard Electric works, Hungarian subsidiary of the American-owned IT&T is among the big ones to change hands.

Standard Officials Held

Three Standard executives have been held incommunicado since Nov. 18 on charges of espionage and sabotage. They are Robert A. Vogeler of New York, an American; Edgar Sanders, a Briton; and Imre Geiger, Hungarian managing director.

"Nationalization of undertakings still in the hands of foreign capitalists is absolutely necessary to develop our nationalized socialist industry," Minister of State Enro Goro asserted.

"Foreign imperialists have been using the owners and leaders of these undertakings to build up espionage rings and prepare sabotage actions. This happened at Maort (Hungarian subsidy of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey) and at the Standard Electric works, which now will be nationalized.

Claim Used For Spying

"Thus we will prevent these undertakings from being used for subersive machinations, spying and sabotage against our people's Democracy."

The Russians are not affected. They operate in Hungarian businesses and industry through Hungarian-Soviet companies owned jointly by the Hungarian and Soviet governments.

In addition to the IT&T subsidiary, the nationalization program takes in the Hungarian Shell, Vacuum and Standard Oil companies, the Dutch-owned Phillips Radio company, the Swiss-owned Brown-Boveri Electrical works and several textile plants.

The foreign companies had been exempted in 1948, when every Hungarian manufacturing firm employing more than 100 persons was nationalized.

Sweden Protests Action

Sweden delivered a strong protest and announced indefinite suspension of the implementation of a recent Swedish-Hungarian trade and payments agreement.

Britain cut off trade talks with Hungary recently over the detention of Sanders.

The United States forbade private American citizens to go to Hungary, a form of pressure Washington may extend to Communist-ruled Poland and Czechoslovakia. A U. S. State department official told of the plan.

Similar seizures have been made previously by other Communist nations. All are obligated by international law to pay adequate compensation. Only Yugoslavia, now warring with the Soviet bloc, has actually made any such payments for American property.

A spokesman for the IT&T in New York, referring to loss of the $6,000,000 standard electric works, said the action follows the pattern of procedure "for the seizure of American-owned properties in Communist-dominated countries."

Rubber Company Boosts Prices On Tires To Car, Truck Firms

AKRON, O., Dec. 29. (AP)—The B. F. Goodrich Co., following a similar move by Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., today increased its tire prices to automobile and truck manufacturers.

Goodrich said the boost would be "comparable" to the five percent minimum raise announced yesterday by Goodyear.

Families Of Slain Men Meet In McAllen To Push Investigation

McALLEN, Dec. 29 (U.P) — The families of the two men George Ochoa is charged with slaying met here today.

The parents and sister of James Lindsay, 33-year-old ex-Air Force corporal, called upon the father and son of 31-year-old Henry Whittenburg, jr.

Whittenburg and Lindsay were found slain in a Laredo hotel last July 31. Ochoa has been a hunted man since then from Mexico City to Laredo.

Food, Money Demanded

Only Christmas morning, broke and hungry, he returned to the home of a friend in Laredo, knocked the door in, demanded food and money, and then slipped away before police arrived.

Ochoa, naturally, was the subject of conversation at the meeting today in the spacious home of Whittenburg's father in McAllen. Frank J. Tigh, Lindsay's step-father, Mrs. Tigh, Lindsay's mother, and their daughter, Madeline, arrived in McAllen last night ending a motor trip from their home in Huntsville, Tenn.

In the words of Mrs. Tigh, a grey-haired little lady, "I hope we can get something accomplished here. I've been praying I could get well enough to make the trip. . . . And it would be such a let down if we had to go back to Tennessee with nothing accomplished."

Stepfather To Push Case

Tigh, the stepfather and man who reared Lindsay, said: "We came here especially to push this case. We're interested in justice."

The Tighs and Whittenburgs have retained lawyers. The Tighs are driving on to Laredo today to call upon law enforcement officers and do what they can to spur the search for Ochoa, a well known border broker.

So far, there has been no announcement of a reward from the families but the idea has been discussed. The only public reward offered for Ochoa, so far, is one of $500 by William Prescott Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times, to anyone who will arrange an interview with Ochoa.

As the Tighs and Whittenburg discussed Ochoa this morning, the son of slain Whittenburg, two-year-old Henry, III, played with Mrs. Tigh and Madeline. Lindsay, too, is survived by a small son in Fort Worth.

To encourage fur exports, a foreign company in Northern China has increased fur prices by 30 per cent and made loans to the fur trade, Tientsen reports.

Oklahoma City Wins All-College Tourney

Winners Come From Behind To Best Wyoming, 36 To 35

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 29. (AP)—Oklahoma City university came from behind in a thrilling overtime game tonight to defeat Wyoming, 36-35, and win the 14th All-College basketball tournament.

Defending champion Oklahoma A & M college won third place easily, romping over Arkansas, 57-33.

A & M unthroned as defending champion last night in the semi-finals by Oklahoma City university, came back strong to beat Arkansas for the third time this year.

The University of Texas won the consolation finals this afternoon, defeating Baylor, 49-41, in a last half scoring spree.

Baylor held the lead throughout the game until the last five minutes. At that time the score stood at 41-40 in Baylor's favor. Then Texas' Frank Womack hit a free throw to tie the score at 41-41 and Bill Huffman sank a set shot to put Texas in the lead 43-41.

Baylor didn't hit a field goal in the last 13½ minutes of play.

Baylor led at halftime, 27-21.

Earlier, George Kelly tossed in 22 points to lead Vanderbilt to a 53-44 victory over Alabama in the other consolation round game.

The game, a second-round consolation match, gave Vanderbilt seventh place in the tournament.

Big Spring Next For Westerners

Fresh from a 38-35 victory over Abilene's Eagles in a return game, the Lubbock Westerners went through a long drill Thursday at Chapman fieldhouse.

The Lubbock cagers were scheduled for another short session this morning before adjourning over the week-end. Next action will be Tuesday, Jan. 3, in Big Spring. Previously in a game here, the Westerners downed the steers, 56 to 31.

After early shooting drills from close in and far out, the team worked on controlling the ball Thursday.

In the "control" drill the team with the ball tried to freeze it without losing possession in a fast exercise against a defending team.

Emphasis was placed on dribbling and passing the ball while freezing it, and at times the offensive quintet was able to keep possession for several minutes.

One of the most obvious shortcomings of the team as a whole was in passing the sphere, and Coach David Cook stopped the drill several times to demonstrate how passing should be done.

Practice will be resumed Monday afternoon following today's workout.

Ramblers Beat Thomas Tinkers

ANTON, Dec. 29. (Special)—Two teams kept their records unmarred in independent basketball play here tonight, with Levelland's Mason Ramblers and Lubbock Barber college winning their second games.

The Ramblers overcame Thomas Tinkers by a 53-44 count after getting an early lead and holding it all the way. It was a fast game from start to finish, with some of the best action of the American Legion-sponsored tourney.

The Barbers had little trouble with Reese Air Force Base, winning, 57-42.

Anton kept in the double elimination tourney by downing Spade, 45-23. The loss dropped Spade from the tournament with its second loss.

The final game saw Morton down Plains Ice Cream, 42-36.

Friday's pairings match Barber college vs. Levelland at 7 p. m.; Reese Air Force vs. Anton at 8 p. m.; and Thomas Tinkers vs. Morton at 9 p. m.

Murphy of Barber college led scoring for the night with 24 points, and Willis with 15 for Morton was next high. Other individual scores were Jake Broyles, Thomas Tinkers, 10 points; Wolley, Reese AFB, nine; Woods, Anton, 13; and Dodson, Plains Ice Cream, 11 points.

Dallas May Be Site Of Girls Cage Meet

DALLAS, Dec. 29 (AP) — A committee from the High School Girls Basketball League of Texas met tonight with Dallas recreational directors regarding this city's bid for the state tournament.

Dallas, Waco and Hillsboro are seeking the tournament which in the past has been held at Hillsboro. But the League has discussed moving it because, some claim, Hillsboro does not have facilities to handle the rapidly expanding organization.

A decision on whether the tournament is to be held in Dallas will be made Wednesday, L. C. McKamie of Gatesville, director-general of the League, said.

The Dallas Chamber of Commerce offered trophies and made arrangements for housing the contestants in Dallas hotels. Rental on the Dallas recreation building, which seats 5,000 spectators, was set.

Attending the conference were McKamie, T. C. Stell of Irene, Harvey Ballew of Lampasas and Lloyd Raymer of Hillsboro, representing the League, L. B. Houston, Dallas parks director; W. H. Keeling, superintendent of Dallas recreation; Grover Keaton, assistant superintendent, and Z. E. Black, conventions manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Sports Editor Predicts That Arkansas Will Protest Censure

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 29 (AP) — Sports editor Jack Keady of the Arkansas Democrat predicted today that the University of Arkansas will protest the Southwest Conference's censure of the Razorbacks for roughness in the TCU football game this year.

The faculty committee on the Conference took the action on complaint of Coach Dutch Meyer of TCU, who supported his contentions that Arkansas used rough tactics with motion pictures of the game.

Writing in his column, Keady stated:

"The sting of the slap from the Southwest Conference fathers still lingers upon the cheeks of the Razorbacks."

Georgetown's Hoyas Hold Sun Bowl Drill

EL PASO, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Georgetown university Hoyas held their first grid practice here today but they found no sun in the Sun Bowl.

The Hoyas practiced more than an hour in a rain that started as Texas Western wound up its morning workout. The teams meet Monday in the annual Sun Bowl game.

Coach Bob Margarita's squad wore warm-up suits while running through plays and sprinting.

The rain cleared during the afternoon and Margarita ran his squad through a closed drill at El Paso High school field.

Skies continued overcast and that had El Paso Chamber of Commerce officials looking anxious. Sunshine is forecast for the weekend.

A comparison of weights between the tentative starting lineups announced by the two coaches today gave Georgetown an edge of six pounds for the entire team. The difference was in the backfields. The Westerner line will have a half pound advantage. But the Hoya backs average 191 pounds to 172 for the Miners.

Georgetown Player Will Try To Throw Pigskin Across Rio Grande

EL PASO, Dec. 29 (INS)—Frank Mattingly, who fires with the accuracy of a Texas sheriff, will attempt an historic feat Friday when he tries to toss a football across the Rio Grande river—the stream that separates El Paso from Juarez, Mexico.

Mattingly, sophomore quarterback of visiting Georgetown university, will try to peg the pigskin over the water and into the arms of a Mexican senorita stationed at the southern side of the border.

Georgetown is in El Paso for the Sun Bowl game against hometown Texas Western.

Crozier Tech Beats Adamson To Win Cotton Bowl Cage Crown

DALLAS, Dec. 29. (AP)—Crozier Tech of Dallas beat Adamson, a hometown rival, 28-26, tonight to win the championship of the Cotton Bowl High school invitation basketball tournament.

Bloomburg, a darkhorse team, beat Sherman, 41-38, to take the consolation title.

Earlier, Sunset of Dallas won third place in the championship flight with a 44-43 decision over North Dallas.

Adamson gained the finals by beating North Dallas, 37-29, and Crozier eliminated Sunset, 43-27.

Raider Team Arrives In Fresno

Slow Field May Aid Tech Eleven

(Special To The Avalanche)

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 29 — Texas Tech's Red Raiders, numbering 36 and looking in the best of condition, arrived in Fresno at midafternoon today, and after an official welcoming and parade through the business section of Fresno, were bused to Ratcliffe stadium where they were shoved through a long, spirited workout.

Coach Dell Morgan said his squad is in good shape.

"They are as ready as they ever will be, and all we need now is some finishing off work," Morgan said.

Dunn Welcomes Tech

He has two workouts Friday, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. Morgan did not work his men on the trip.

"If the team members show signs of needing body contact work they will get it," Morgan predicted.

Mayor Gordon (Slinger) Dunn, one time Stanford university discus throwing star, led the official welcoming party, made up chiefly of Fresno Junior Chamber of Commerce Raisin Bowl game committee members.

A warm, balmy sun greeted the Texans, but the weatherman is predicting a light rain Friday and possibly a slow field on Saturday. This figures to aid the Raiders as San Jose State, their opponent, is fast and goes to the air a great deal.

Techsans Dress Up

Over the full season the Spartans built up a .518 pass completion percentage. A total of 228 passes were attempted, with 118 being completed for 1,882 yards and 18 touchdowns. Only 15 were intercepted.

Some 250 persons greeted the Texans, who showed up garbed in cowboy hats and boots, typical of the Lone Star State.

In addition to Morgan, coaches making the trip were G. B. Morris, Tipp Mooney and Allie White, plus Mason Gorby, trainer, and team managers E. J. Hutchins and Edgar Hawkins.

Texas Tech alumni here had a party for the squad and followers tonight, and a breakfast fete was scheduled Friday morning before practice.

San Jose Coach Says Spartans In Top Form For Raisin Bowl

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 29. (AP)—Coach Bill Hubbard pronounced his Spartan football squad in top shape tonight for its encounter with the Red Raiders from Texas Tech Saturday in the Raisin Bowl.

"If we lose it will be only because we have met a better team," the San Jose State college coach said after the squad's final home workout.

Hubbard will take 41 players to Fresno tomorrow. The only man out of his lineup is Bob Edminster, reserve guard, center and end. Edminster tore a leg ligament in practice.

"Very satisfactory," Hubbard said of the final drill. It was mostly on signals and kickoff and punt return.

Santa Clara In Good Shape For Bowl Tilt

MIAMI, Dec. 29. (INS) — The Santa Clara Bronchos ended their four-day, 3,000-mile train trip to Miami today for their Orange Bowl tiff with Kentucky Monday.

Coach Len Casanova said his boys seemed to be in good shape. The team held three workouts while en route to Miami.

They stopped off at Yuma, Ariz., Del Rio, Tex., and New Orleans.

The Kentucky Wildcats, who have been in town since Saturday, returned to almost full strength today as several injured players reported for work.

Ralph Genito, hard-plunging fullback, remained on the sidelines, however, and Coach Bear Bryant expressed fear that he will not be able to play Monday.

Oklahoma Downs Kansas State To Gain Finals In Big Seven Meet

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 29. (INS)—The Oklahoma Sooners advanced to the finals of the Big Seven Conference holiday basketball tourney at Kansas City tonight by defeating Kansas State, 55 to 50.

A crowd of 9,000 fans saw the Sooners outplay their adversaries completely. Oklahoma displayed a successful attack on both long and short shooting.

Wayne Glasgow, scoring 23 points for the winners, captured point-getting honors.

The game became a tug-of-war battle from the opening whistle and the score was tied at 15-all after ten minutes. But Oklahoma then built up a 30-18 lead with less than three minutes left in the first half.

COLLEGES SET UP NEW RULES

N. Y. Outlaws Two-Minute Rule

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—New York City colleges no longer will abide by the controversial two-minute basketball rule when playing each other, it was announced tonight.

The Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association, embracing the 12 colleges in the New York area, held a meeting outlawing the rule which provides that the team fouled in the last two minutes be given a free shot and possession of the ball.

The action of the Association, taken with nine of the 12 coaches in attendance, will have no effect on games pitting New York colleges against outsiders.

Here is what the New York colleges will do in place of the two minute rule:

1. There will be no further waiving of fouls at any time during the game.

2. A jump ball at the nearest foul line will be made between two opponents designated by their captains after all foul shots, successful or unsuccessful, in the last two minutes.

3. The clock will be stopped on every whistle, in the last two minutes.

Nation's Bowl Games Ready For Saturday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The New Year's Day football binge approaches with the customary tumult surrounding a parcel of 15 attractive games.

There will be no Jan. 1 action this time because it's Sunday. But the holiday will be surrounded with Bowl games fore and aft. Three on New Year's eve and an even dozen Monday.

A total of 649,500 fans is expected to pay more than $2,500,000 for the privilege of watching.

Santa Clara arrived on the scene at Miami today for its Orange Bowl game with Kentucky but most of the others have been on the grounds and working out.

Play Opens Saturday

The big program opens Saturday with the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala. And the Raisin Bowl pairing of San Jose (Calif.) and Texas Tech at Fresno, Calif.

California and Oklahoma, the only major unbeaten teams to accept Bowl bids, put their spotless records on the line Monday but they don't meet.

California, No. 3 in the season end poll after winning 10 straight, faces Ohio State, the Big Ten champ, in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. That will provide the day's top crowd of 103,000 and top receipts of some $450,000.

Oklahoma's coach, Bud Wilkinson, has been pessimistic about the form of his second-ranked team in its drills for the Sugar Bowl contest. Coach Gaynell Tinsley of Louisiana State admits Oklahoma's tricky split T formation no longer is a mystery.

That game will draw 83,000 fans.

Rice Keyed Up

Rice, the Southwest Conference champ, and North Carolina with its All-America back, Charlie Justice, are all keyed up for a high-scoring battle in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas where 75,500 can be accommodated. Rice has All-America Jim (Froggy) Williams at end.

The enlarged Orange Bowl at Miami can take care of the 65,000 who want to see Kentucky and Santa Clara. Kentucky coach Paul (Bear) Bryant is crying the blues about injuries to regulars in recent scrimmages.

Jacksonville, Fla., has a top flight game for its Gator Bowl with Maryland, a late season power which lost but once, facing unpredictable Missouri.

Other Bowl Games

Wofford, winner of 11 straight in a perfect season, takes on Florida State in Tampa's Cigar Bowl and Emory and Henry, unbeaten in 10 games, plays St. Vincent, another non-loser, in the only duel of two undefeated teams in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Other bowl games Monday include the Pineapple Bowl at Honolulu where Stanford meets Hawaii; the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz. where Arizona State (Tempe) plays Xavier of Ohio; the Oleander Bowl at Galveston, Tex., where McMurry of Texas takes on Missouri Valley, and the Prairie View Bowl at Houston where it's Fisk against Prairie View.

After the New Year's business is finished, there still will be one more game to go. That's the Senior Bowl at Jacksonville, Jan. 7 presenting two All-Star teams of college seniors captained by the All-America halfbacks Doak Walker of Southern Methodist and Justice.

Rice Owls Stress Defense In Drills

HOUSTON, Dec. 29. (AP)—Coach Jess Neely today said his Rice Owls will play a good game against North Carolina Monday in the Cotton Bowl.

Neely had just sent his Owls through their last rough training session prior to their Sunday departure for Dallas.

"We're as ready as we can be," he said. "It looks as if we'll play a good game. The boys want to win this one and they can be pretty darn tough when they want to win."

Neely credits this will to win as one of the biggest factors in Rice's successful season that saw the Owls go undefeated in six Southwest Conference games and win three out of four non-conference tilts.

"I don't think I ever saw a bunch want to win any more and that's a big part in football or any sport," he said.

Rice's last tough scrimmage concentrated on defense against anticipated North Carolina plays.

Tomorrow and Saturday Neely has scheduled dummy scrimmage for polishing timing, passing and punting.

Tomorrow morning the team will study motion pictures of two North Carolina games.

Except for End Jack Wolcott, the squad is in excellent physical condition. Wolcott suffered a back strain in a Tuesday scrimmage but is expected to be ready for the starting lineup position Monday.

Of the 34 players who received letters this year at Rice, 22 will be playing their last collegiate game.

The losses for next season will include nine of the probable starting lineup against the Tarheels.

PORTALES, N. M., Dec. 29 (AP) — Oklahoma Baptist university, Shawnee, Okla., decisioned Howard Payne, Brownwood, Tex., 47-45, today in the semi-final consolation bracket of the Sunshine basketball tourney.

Oklahoma Baptist moved out in front after about nine minutes and held the lead until 11 minutes before the game ended. The score was tied then 33-33.

ROSWELL WILL ENTER TEAM HERE

Reservations For Golden Gloves Tourney Go Fast

A heavy advance ticket sale for next month's Lubbock regional Golden Gloves tournament was announced Thursday by Morley Jennings, tourney director.

Approximately 100 reservations for "full tournament" tickets (which will be good for the entire five-night program) have been accepted since the windows opened Wednesday, Jennings said.

Roswell Enters

Reservations for GG ducats may be made by contacting Jennings at the Texas Tech athletic office. Prices are $1.80 and $1.20 per night.

The tournament is scheduled Jan. 30 through Feb. 3.

Meantime, word was received from Roswell stating that that New Mexico city again would have a team in the open class of the Lubbock tournament.

Roswell last year sent a small, but efficient, squad to Lubbock, and walked off with second place in team ranking. This year, according to Roswell GG officials, a full eight-man team will compete in Lubbock. The Roswell squad will be chosen from a field of more than 100 fighters in a district tournament there Jan. 12-14.

Two Roswell representatives won regional titles here in 1949, and a third lost a disputed decision in the finals of his division. All three of these fighters—Flyweight Carlos Martinez, Welterweight Mario Hernandez and Featherweight Albert Pacheco — are entered in the forthcoming Roswell tourney, and may return to Lubbock.

Stanley To Fight

Two additional local entries for the regional meet were received Thursday.

Fred Stanley, a Texas Tech student residing at 2606 Twenty-fifth, will fight in the open welterweight division. Stanley, 19, has had no previous competitive ring experience.

Alex Garcia, 17, a Latin-American residing at 123 South Avenue N, has entered the novice lightweight division. Garcia has had three previous amateur bouts, winning one.

KENTUCKY WINS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29. (AP)—Kentucky gave Villanova its first defeat of the year tonight, 57-56, in an overtime period of the second game of the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament. Bradley won easily from Tulane, 78-46 in the early game and meets Kentucky in the finals tomorrow night.

Mulloy And Flam Gain Court Wins

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29. (INS) Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Herb Flam of Los Angeles won their way into the singles finals of the Sugar Bowl Invitational tennis tournament in New Orleans today.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Dick Savitt of Ithaca, N. Y., earned positions in the doubles finals along with Arthur Larsen of San Francisco and Earl Cochell of Los Angeles.

Final matches in both the singles and doubles play will be held tomorrow.

Top-seeded Mulloy eliminated Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. Flam ousted second-seeded Larsen in the other semi-final, 6-4, 8-6, 6-3.

Outfielder Charlie Keller Signs To Play With Detroit Tiger Nine

Long-Ball Hitter Fills Bengal Need

DETROIT, Dec. 29 (AP) — Outfielder Charlie "King Kong" Keller, who had become almost a fixture in the New York Yankees baseball picture, was signed today by the Detroit Tigers.

Keller's entire baseball career up to now had been spent in either a uniform of the Yankees or their Newark, N. J., farm club of the International League.

"King Kong's" slugging ability won him recognition as one of the top distance hitters in the American League, but he had been below par physically since he underwent a back operation in 1947.

He played in only 61 games for the Yankees last season. This winter he was offered a job managing one of the Yankee farm clubs.

The 33-year-old Keller turned that offer down, saying he still felt he had "quite a bit of good baseball left."

The Yankees then reluctantly granted him his unconditional release and Keller dickered with a couple of ball clubs before signing with the Tigers today.

Keller said today he was "glad to get the chance to play," although he added it "will feel funny to play against the Yankees."

Arthur "Red" Patterson, secretary of the Yankees, said that club was "happy that Keller has been able to sign a contract with another major league club."

By joining the Tigers, Keller will be playing for his old teammate, Manager Red Rolfe.

The Tiger manager indicated through club spokesmen that Keller's place in the Tiger outfield picture would be settled at spring training in Lakeland, Fla.

Keller is still regarded as a long-ball hitter and that has been one of the Tigers' chief needs.

Vikings Arrive For Oleander Bowl Game

GALVESTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Thirty-three Missouri Valley Vikings, fresh from the snow and freezing temperatures of their home state, arrived in sub-tropical Galveston today and immediately started working out for their Oleander Bowl game here Monday with the McMurry Indians.

The Indians are due in town at 4 p.m. tomorrow. They held their final scrimmage at Abilene yesterday.

The Vikings, who left Marshall, Mo., yesterday morning, spent most of this afternoon getting acclimated to the quick change in temperatures.

Three days of color, pageantry and action are scheduled for the two squads. Sightseeing, deep-sea fishing, parties and a tour of local night spots are on the agenda.

The game itself pits two champions of long standing against each other for the third time. The Vikings, who have ruled the roost in the Missouri Valley Athletic Conference for the past six years, and the Indians, titleholders in the Texas Conference since 1947, met in the Boys Ranch Bowl in 1947 and in regular season play in 1948. On both occasions, the Missourians eked out identical 20-13 victories.

The game will also feature a battle of little All-Americas. High-scoring Brad Rowland, Indian halfback and Tackle Herb McKinney of the Vikings, both made the AP's first team this year.

Washburn College Wins Third Place In Enid Cage Tourney

ENID, Okla., Dec. 29. (AP)—Washburn college of Topeka, Kas., took third place in the Enid Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament here tonight, cruising past North Texas teachers 61-48.

The Kansans held a comfortable edge nearly the full route, leading 30-21 at halftime.

Individual scoring honors, however, went to a North Texan, Benny Rutherford, who had 14 points.

Bob Celeri Expected To Set Pace For Bears In Rose Bowl

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 29. (INS)—As goes Bob Celeri, so goes California in the Rose Bowl four days hence when the champions of the Pacific Coast Conference and Ohio State, co-champions of the Big Ten, stage their titanic struggle for football supremacy.

That seemed to be the consensus around the Bears practice camp since California's star halfback, Jack Swaner, reinjured his knee in practice and it was considered unlikely that he would see action on January 2.

Lanier, Corpus Christi Gain Wins In San Antonio Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 29. (AP)—Lanier and Corpus Christi, the Class AA division favorites, won opening games in San Antonio's 15th annual cage tournament today.

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Let's go bowling—not on the hardwood lanes, but through the maze of post-season football contests that will clutter the sports scene for the next few days.

Running rapidly through the list of major games—with starting hours (Lubbock time), radio networks and play-by-play announcers—here are my guesses (which probably aren't any truer than the guy's next door). Starting with Saturday's scraps, it's:

RAISIN—3:30 p. m., KFYO. Texas Tech has drawn a bead on four bowl targets without hitting the bullseye yet, and most forecasters give San Jose State the nod in this one. Frankly, I'm afraid some of the Raider players are more interested in the California trip than in the ball game (their rejection of the Sun Bowl and subsequent acceptance of the Raisin Bowl being the tip-off in this respect). Still I have a totally unexplainable hunch that Tech will come through. Texas Tech 20, San Jose State 14.

EAST-WEST—4:10 p. m., Mutual, Ernie Smith. You never can tell about these all-star things. The East seems to have a slight manpower edge, so I'll say East 14, West 13.

BLUE-GRAY—1:30 p. m., Mutual, Harry Wismer. Same as above—it's pure guesswork. On the theory that the Northerners haven't looked at a pitcher like Adrian Burk this season, make it South 20, North 7.

Moving on to Monday's melees, we find:

ROSE—3:45 p. m., CBS, Red Barber. Lynn Waldorf has done a great rebuilding job at California. He almost whipped Northwestern in the 1949 Rose Bowl. This year I expect him to make the grade. California 21, Ohio State, 13.

SUGAR—1:30 p. m., ABC, Harry Wismer. This one probably will produce the most rugged battle. Oklahoma has one of the nation's top ground games, but LSU proved its land defense by stopping Tulane cold. After a poor start, the Tigers improved steadily. So I'm going 'way out on the limb with LSU 13, Oklahoma 7.

COTTON—1 p. m., NBC, Bill Stern. Rice has too much all-round strength for Charley Justice to overcome. Rice 20, North Carolina 7.

ORANGE—12:45 p.m., CBS, Mel Allen. A real tossup, with Kentucky getting this corner's vote because the Wildcats have always played well in Miami. Kentucky 13, Santa Clara 7.

Nick Barone and Dick Wagner meet tonight in a light heavyweight bout that highlights this week's national boxing card. The last time these two got together, they staged a real "pier sixer," with Barone coming from far back to gain a narrow decision.

Tonight's fight will be broadcast by ABC . . . Bill Hubbard, coach of the San Jose State gridders, is quoted as saying his team has shown recent improvement—but that it still is not up to its mid-season form . . . Former All-American Glenn Davis, who expects his release from active Army duty next spring, is leaning toward a pro baseball career. Davis says that should he go into pro football, it will have to be with the Los Angeles Rams (he's a native Southern Californian, you know) . . . Bill Coltrin, sports ed of the Salt Lake Telegram, reports that Coach Wes Fesler of Ohio State will be replaced by Sid Gillman shortly after the Rose Bowl game. Gillman, now head mentor at Cincinnati, was coach of the Miami U. team which edged out Tech in the 1948 Sun Bowl. . . Billy Herman, former infielder with the Cubs, Dodgers and Braves, has signed to play with Oakland in the Pacific Coast league in 1950. Despite his 40 years, Herman vows he's ready to play the full 200-game PCL schedule.

Ralph Kiner May Sign 1950 Playing Contract For $60,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29 (AP) — Walloping Ralph Kiner is thinking in terms of a 1950 baseball contract for $50,000 or $60,000 but you can't pin general Manager Roy Hamey of the Pittsburgh Pirates down to any definite figure.

Hamey, vacationing here, said he didn't care to quote figures now but conceded the 50-60-thousand price wasn't far wrong.

He and Kiner played golf yesterday.

TRACK MEET SLATED

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29 (AP)—Ninety-three track stars from colleges, high schools and athletic clubs race Sunday in the 12th annual Sugar Bowl invitational meet. The mile relay race between teams from Oklahoma A and M, Texas A and M and Louisiana State university appears to be the hottest competition.

Cotton Bowl Tournament Set

DALLAS, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Cotton Bowl's first intercollegiate basketball tournament opens tomorrow night with St. Louis university and Navy top-heavy favorites to win their way to the . . . .

Baylor and Southern M. both in the midst of their worst season in years, furnish the opposition. Southern Methodist, which has managed to win only two games out of nine, plays unbeaten Navy in the opening game at 7:30 o'clock. Baylor, which has done a little better than break even in 10 games, tackles St. Louis at 9 o'clock.

Saturday night the winners clash for the title with the losers battling for third place. St. Louis, although it has lost one game out of five, is the general choice to win the title. The Billikens licked Texas A. and M., South Dakota, Texas Christian and Georgia Tech but lost to Illinois.

Navy swamped Penn Military, Harvard, Virginia and Maryland, averaging 67 points per game. But the Tars' opposition doesn't appear to be quite comparable to that of St. Louis which averaged 58 points per game.

Sun Carnival Cage Meet Opens Tonight

EL PASO, Dec. 29 (AP) — Cage crews who will compete in the first annual Sun Carnival basketball tournament converged on El Paso today.

They came from the University of Arizona, West Texas State college, and the University of New Mexico. With Texas Western college of El Paso they make up the tournament entries.

Arizona meets New Mexico in the opening game of the two-day event tomorrow night. West Texas and Texas Western clash in the second game of a double-header.

On Saturday night tomorrow night's losers meet in the first game, and the winners battle for the championship in the second game.

All four teams are members of the Border Conference and the tournament may offer a preview of the Conference cage race. West Texas and Arizona, favored to battle for the Conference flag, also are favored to meet in the Sun Carnival finals.

Arizona carries the best record in the meet: Six wins in seven starts.

The three visiting teams held practice sessions tonight at Fort Bliss, where they are quartered.

LaMotta Ordered To Defend Middle Crown

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — Middleweight champion Jake LaMotta was warned by the State Athletic Commission today that he either must sign by Feb. 1 to defend his title in March or it will be vacated.

The Bronx fighter, in turn, advised the Commission through his attorney that he does not intend to defend until next June, after he has had a series of tune-up bouts.

Commission Chairman Eddie Eagan read a statement to the press in which he said that, in the event LaMotta fails to sign for a title defense in March, the Commission will conduct a tournament among the four leading contenders to find his successor. The four were not named.

Camphor dumping is reported continuing in Taiwan, China, but at prices which still have failed to attract United States buyers.

Techsans Seek Sixth Victory

Tech Meets Wayland Quintet Here Tonight

Lubbock townspeople will have an opportunity to see Texas Tech's basketball team in action tonight when the Red Raiders meet the Wayland college Pioneers at 8 o'clock in Tech gym.

There will be an ample supply of tickets, priced at $1 each, for all fans, since the Tech student body currently is on holiday vacation. Ducats will be available at the gymnasium box office.

Coach Polk Robison's Raiders will be seeking their sixth victory in 10 starts this season. Earlier this month, they tacked a 58-50 defeat on Wayland in a game played at Plainview, thanks to a fast getaway which saw Tech run up a 17-3 lead in the first few minutes of play.

The Techsans lost their last outing, bowing by 61-55 to the independent Checker Cab quint at San Angelo Wednesday night.

Probable Raider starters tonight are Verdell Turner and Charley Pinnell, forwards; Gene Gibson, center; and Chester Jackson and Jack Alderson, guards.

For Coach Harley Redin's Pioneers, the likely starters are Ed Billings and Bill Knighton, forwards; Leon (Runt) Burch, center; and Billy McClellan and George Goodson, guards.

In games to date, Jackson, Alderson and Gibson have sparked the Raider scoring, while Billings, Burch and McClellan have been the top point-makers for Wayland.

ICE BOWL SET MONDAY

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 29 (AP) — Maybe you just won't believe it, but football players were happy as snow larks today over a forecast of way-down-below-zero weather for their Monday game. It just wouldn't be the Ice Bowl game otherwise, explained the gridders of Ladd Air Force Base and the University of Alaska. The first annual tilt was played last Jan. 1 with the thermometer at 20 below.

A 13-hour "working day" is considered the maximum for laying hens.

RETAIL TRADE

19. Goods on counters will be of better grade in 1950 than they were in 1949.

20. Markdown sales will continue during 1950 as consumer spending slackens due to a decline in employment and other factors.

21. The dollar values of all retail sales in 1950 will be moderately downward, and the unit volume of retail sales will also be less in 1950 than in 1949.

22. Less will be spent on new buildings and equipment by stores and factories during 1950.

FOREIGN TRADE

23. Our exports will be down during 1950 and our imports will be up during 1950—comparing both with 1949. This will partly be accounted for by the devaluation of the English Pound and other foreign currencies.

24. Foreign credits will continue to be granted during 1950, but some of these will be direct by American business firms and investors. If our Government will get foreign governments to agree that such investments will be exempt from anynew tax or other legislation by the foreign country in which the investments are made, considerable progress would be noticeable along foreign trade channels.

25. American interests will have more competition from foreign producers of raw materials and of manufactured goods during 1950 than they had during 1949. This will benefit some American concerns, but be harmful to others.

26. Fear of war with Russia will continue during 1950. World War III will come sometime; but it will not start during 1950. Those in large vulnerable cities should use these years of peace to get some small farm or country home to which they can go in case of war. Such places will be almost unobtainable when war actually comes.

DEFICIT FINANCING

27. The supply of money will be increased during 1950, but the price of government bonds will not change much one way or the other during 1950.

28. In addition to the anticipated federal deficit the three billion dollars being distributed as insurance refunds to veterans will be mostly spent.

29. Congress will not change the price of gold during 1950.

STOCK MARKET

30. Most stocks will work up and down in about the same range during 1950 as during 1949.

31. Stocks of companies with assets mostly in natural resources, known as inflation stocks, should have the greatest demand.

32. There will be more investment buying for income during 1950 and utilities and companies making labor-saving machinery may be more popular than other industrials or railroads.

33. The wisest investors will keep a fair amount of their funds liquid throughout 1950 pending the great break in stock prices which will come someday.

BONDS

34. High-grade taxable corporate bonds bearing low coupon rates should continue at about the same prices during 1950, but of course, they will sell for much lower prices when money rates increase.

35. 1950 will see a further fading off in certain tax-exempt bonds due to the new Housing Authority Obligations to be issued during 1950.

36. The federal reserve will continue during 1950 the same general policy which it followed in 1949.

37. The importance of diversification will be given more attention in 1950 and wise investors will watch their bond maturities to see that they are either short or systematically staggered.

REAL ESTATE

38. The city real estate outlook is uncertain. It should continue to hold firm throughout 1950 due to less available rental space caused by pulling down old structures to save taxes and to provide parking spaces. Owing to high costs and the fear of World War III, there will be little inclination to build new city property. On the other hand, the continual movement out of our large cities—in the interest of decentralization—may cause prices to soften.

39. There will continue to be a fair demand during 1950 for suburban real estate with a shading of prices for large places but the residential construction boom should continue well into 1950.

40. The demand for large commercial farm acreage will be less during 1950; but small sustenance farms, especially those located close to established communities, will hold up and, perhaps, increase in price.

41. There will be some decrease during 1950 in industrial and private building. The cost of such building will decline a little and the quality of workmanship will improve. There should be an increase during 1950 in publicly financed building.

42. There will not be much change in business rentals during 1950, but residential rents will average higher in 1950. Only as property owners are granted higher rentals will there be more houses built for rental purposes.

43. Mortgage interest rates during 1950 will continue about the same as during 1949.

44. The growth in industrial pensions should help real estate sales in Florida, California, New Mexico and Arizona.

GENERAL BUSINESS

45. Many business concerns find their operations sliding down toward the break-even point. There will not be as much margin between costs and selling prices during 1950 as during 1949. Unemployment will gradually increase due to the installation of labor saving machinery and other causes.

46. Military preparedness will continue to bolster general business and employment during 1950, but this is not a healthy development.

47. Excluding government owned commodities, the physical stock piles of manufacturers will remain about the same during 1950 as during 1949.

POLITICS

48. 1950 will be an election year. The Republican Party will remain in the doghouse. The Administration will continue to talk radically against Wall Street and the so-called "Self Interests," but at heart the Admmistration will be fairly conservative. Its bark will be far worse than its bite.

49. The administration will continue to be sympathetic to organized labor unless someone like John L. Lewis goes too far. In that event, such a man will be made the whipping boy, but with the consent of other prominent labor leaders.

50. The congressional elections of 1950 will not change the political status of Congress to any great extent.

Folklore Society Nods Okay To Popular Figure

All-American Hero Found In Hard Riding Cowboy Of West

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Yippee! This country has found its all-around, all-time, all-American hero — the hard-ridin', sharp-shootin' rootin'-tootin' cowboy.

That's the folksy word today from the American Folklore society, holding its annual meeting.

Mody C. Boatright of the University of Texas, an old cow-hand himself, said in a speech, "The Cowboy as Folk Hero," that there's no roping that cowboy now. During 1945 to 1948, he said, the sale of western magazines zoomed up another 28 million copies.

All Tests Met

"The cowboy meets the test of any folk hero," said Boatright. He must have prowess—brave, strong, unconquerable. And he must have cleverness, the defense of the weak against the strong. The cowboy has both prowess and cleverness."

The whole nation is now cowboy conscious. "They're even wearing levis and jeans to school in New York," said Boatright.

Listening to the inevitable jukebox git-tar, it's hard to realize that for many years the cowboy went unsung.

Americans adopted the cowboy techniques from the Mexicans, lock, stock and saddle, in the 1820's. But not until the 20th century did the cowboy come into his literary own.

Grandpappy Appeared Early

The grandpappy of all westerns, Boatright thinks, appeared in 1891. It's appropriate that, like so many of his offspring, this cowboy was named Buck:, "Buck Taylor, the Saddle King," in six thrilling volumes.

He was succeeded by "Hustler Harry, the Cowboy Sport." Harry was invincible, courageous and moral, cowboy traits in literature to this day.

"Hustler Harry couldn't be anything but moral," Boatright explained, "because the highly complicated plot kept him busy day and night."

Hustler Harry spoke for all heroes of cowboy fiction when he said:

"Fact is, if I war rollin' in yaller wealth, I never cud give up the range. Just one whiff of the trail, one beller from the herd, one rattle of longhorn sets my blood to bilin' and seethin' like I was set fair into a red hot furnace."

Cowboy Jackpot Hit

The cowboy jackpot, literarily speaking, was hit in 1902, and it's been paying off ever since. That's when Owen Wister started the cowboy into the big leagues with "The Virginian."

All this talk brought 77-year-old George R. Laird, who used to teach at Wisconsin university, to his feet to say that fundamentally it's true what they say about cowboys.

Laird said his father moved west from Maine—"a Mainiac"—and went into the cattle business. Cowboys helped to build the west, Laird said, and, "in a small way, I was a cowboy myself."

Laird's conclusion on the high courage and high principles of the cowboy in literature:

"They have solid historical foundations," the onetime, small way cowboy said.

Greek Queen Issues Appeal For 28,000 Kidnaped Children

By ALKAIOS ANGELOPOULOS
INS Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, Dec. 29.—Greek Queen Frederika said tonight "I go down on my knees and beg American mothers" to help get back 28,000 Greek children kidnaped by the Communists.

The entire Greek nation of eight million persons joined the plea by dramatically stopping all work in a declared "day of mourning" for the children who have disappeared as completely as the captives of the legendary Pied Piper.

Queen Issues Appeal

In an appeal issued through International News Service, Greece's first lady declared:

"I am appealing not as a queen—because queens are not supposed to beg—but as a mother I go down on my knees and beg every American mother to help us bring back our children to our bosoms.

"Help me arouse the world's indignation over this crime, because if the world continues to remain silent our whole civilization will share the guilt."

Red Cross Baffled

(The case of the "28,000 missing children," according to United Nations observers, may never be solved, the children—and whole families—have been scattered in Greece's northern border states and the international Red Cross admits it is baffled in its attempt to track them down.)

The children, of all ages, were abducted during the Greek civil war and reportedly distributed among families in Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia to be brought up in Communist training.

UN Asked To Help

(The UN General assembly, in a resolution adopted last month, has asked the IRC to continue its efforts. All UN members were asked to help. But it is feared the children have been "absorbed" in Communist satellite lands and some may have been taken to Russia.)

The Greek queen, "confident" that American mothers would understand her nation's plight, added:

"The great family that is Greece cannot permit itself to be torn by this most ruthless method.

"To maintain the unity of the Greek people as a family is a fight that will continue long after the armed battle we have gone through has ceased to echo from our blood-stained mountain heights."

Church bells in every corner of the land pealed out the signals for national prayers and flags hung at half-mast from private homes and massive public structures.

Rocket Plane

out of the files of a foreign power."

"But we get a little bit tired of Pentagon brass 'declassifying' classified information in order to get a headline out of an after-dinner speech," the writer said.

Here is how Haggerty figures a foreign agent could use official information and come pretty close to deducing the X-1's true accomplishments:

In its original announcement on the plane, which Haggerty wrote while still in uniform, the Air Force said the X-1 was capable of 1,700 MPH but would be held to 1,000 MPH because of power plant difficulties. Sometime after official acknowledgement that the plane had bettered the speed of sound, Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington said it had flown "hundreds of miles faster" than sonic speed. Sonic speed at 40,000 feet and higher, where the X-1 flies, is 660 MPH.

1,000 MPH Mark Doubted

So far, the official reports therefore meant that the plane had flown somewhere between 860 and 1,000 MPH. Then came the pilot, Capt. Charles Yeager, to state that he had flown "more than 200" MPH faster than sound. He seemed to knock out the likelihood that 1,000 MPH had been bettered, even in the later tests.

(Splitting the difference between the brackets (860 to 1,000 MPH) the Air Force had put around the X-1's speed, the figure of 930 MPH is reached. That, says Haggerty, is "certainly close enough" to the actual speed for enemy "planning purposes."

The miles per hour figures are conversions. Military men and scientists express high speeds in mach numbers. The mach number is the speed of an aircraft in relation to the speed of sound in the air through which it is moving. The X-1's mach number was 1.46 or 146 per cent of speed of sound, sound always having a mach number of one.)

E. E. Mullin of seven miles northeast of Lubbock informed the sheriff's office that someone had burglarized his home Wednesday, taking a set of silverware, two piggy banks, one of which contained $3 in money and the other an unknown amount, and a hat.

Entrance was at a rear door.

M. C. Darby identified a trailer that had been overturned Nov. 26 on the S. A. Gibson farm on Lubbock route 5, spilling out unginned cotton. Gibson had asked deputies to publicize the case so that he might deliver the property to its owner. Darby said he read the story in The Avalanche-Journal

Ships Ordered To Far East

manded by Vice Admiral Russell S. Berkey, has a "floating assignment," calling most frequently at Philippine ports. Formosa lies off the China coast between the Philippines and Okinawa.

Decision Made Dec. 6

The Navy said the decision to augment the Seventh Task fleet with an aircraft carrier was made Dec. 6 and has no connection with the Formosa problem.

Mr. Truman met with the National Security council this afternoon, but White House spokesmen declined immediately to confirm the reports.

Asked whether the conferees considered the reported new Formosa policy, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross replied:

"I am not in position to say."

Ross emphasized that the council was meeting at a regular twice monthly session and was not called to consider any particular problem.

Solon "Gratified"

Smith said he was "greatly gratified" by reports that the joint chiefs of staff had reversed position and recommended that action be taken to keep Formosa from the Chinese Communists.

The senator, a member of the foreign relations committee, told a newsman:

"I would like to see consultations started right away with K. C. Wu, the new governor of Formosa, whom I know very well. He is a Nationalist and is loyal to Chiang Kai-Shek but I feel that if we talked with him on the basis of a joint occupation of Formosa that might be the best approach."

Threat Is Feared

Smith emphasized that from the beginning he has been interested only in keeping Formosa from being seized by the Chinese Communists and used to threaten America's defense line in the Far East. He said:

"We might make Formosa a symbol of what an organized democratic Chinese province could be. We could make it a symbol of what President Truman's point four might do for a partly backward people."

Some Republicans have criticized President Truman's point four plan for assisting backward areas to become economically self-supporting. It has made little progress so far in the 81st Congress.

Smith said one "obvious problem" would be whether the United States could consent to the Nationalists using Formosa as a base for aggressive war against the Communists.

NATIONALISTS DECLARE RED ASSAULTS SMASHED

HONG KONG, Dec. 29. (AP) — Several Communist landing attempts on the island of Hainan have been smashed by coast artillery, Chinese Nationalist military sources reported today.

These small-scale operations were described as feeling-out preparations for a future major assault on the big island which lies only 10 miles off the southern mainland of China.

Simultaneously the Communists were reported reinforcing the pro-Red guerrillas who for years have roamed the interior of the island.

Foreign military sources in Hong Kong said small parties of Communist troops already were landing secretly on Hainan and vanishing into the interior.

The Nationalists fear that the guerrillas will seize beachheads to facilitate the main amphibious attack which they anticipate. The Nationalists guess total guerrilla strength now at 20,000 to 50,000 men.

curity as the more urgent requirement."

Controls Claimed Needed

The council said that wartime controls, which "could have been helpful in curbing the inflationary boom," were abandoned too soon "and rent control is still necessary."

The 38-page report, largely a profound dissertation on economic concepts, was signed by Leon H. Keyserling, acting chairman of the council, and John D. Clark.

Keyserling has headed the group pending appointment by President Truman of a successor to Dr. Edwin G. Nourse. Nourse resigned two months ago after a long dispute with Keyserling over the council's role.

Nourse Gives Views

Nourse insisted that the council should be an impartial reporter to the President of economic facts, and should not appear before congressional committees as the upholder of administration economic policies.

The council steered clear of current conditions, although it expressed the belief that the national economy will "grow in 1950."

The group asserted that American economic growth "can create within less than a generation a truly good standard of living for all."

The council said the mild 1949 recession was evidence that businessmen are becoming better educated to the need for "economic balance," but it conceded that conditions were not severe enough to provide a real test.

Foreign Policy Harmony Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) said today foreign policy must remain "non-partisan" and that no change is planned in Senate procedure on such legislation.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, gave no sign that the administration would alter this course despite a blast of chilly criticism by some Senate Republicans.

The Texas senator, speaking to a news conference, also said:

1. Marshall plan appropriations for the 1950-51 fiscal year will be cut "a sizeable amount." He mentioned "up to $1,000,000,000" as his own target for the reduction. The nation's military budget should be trimmed a "substantial sum," he said. Both these funds are believed tagged for cuts in President Truman's forthcoming budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951.

Consultations Pledged

2. Secretary of State Acheson has assured him that there will be "full consultation" with the committee before any steps are taken to recognize the Chinese Communist regime.

3. "The most important thing we can do now is to use our influence and resources to prevent the further expansion of Communism in Asia." The administration awaits a report from roving Ambassador Philip Jessup before making a decision on the next diplomatic move in Asia, Connally said.

4. Spain should get full diplomatic recognition by this government despite a United Nations recommendation against sending ambassadors there. He said Spain should be admitted to the North Atlantic defense pact if she meets her obligations.

Arms May Be Needed

5. Additional arms aid for Europe may be needed, but the amount should be less than the present $1,000,000,000 program.

As a foreign policy fight took shape, Connally showed himself in substantial agreement with Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), a leading GOP spokesman on international affairs, who has called for an "unpartisan approach."

Vandenberg has urged frank co-operation and free debate, indicating he is not entirely pleased with the administration's attitude toward the minority. Attacks from his GOP colleagues on the present formula have produced mutterings at Vandenberg's own role of unofficial party spokesman.

Seven Injured In Area Mishaps

SEMINOLE Dec. 29. (Special)—The condition of Wiley Perrigan, Odessa oil field worker, who was injured in one of four separate accidents near here Thursday morning, was considered good, attendants at Seminole General hospital reported late tonight.

Slippery highways resulting from fog and mist were blamed for the series of accidents this morning.

Four other Odessa men accompanying Perrigan when his car skidded and overturned 10 miles south of here on the Andrews highway about 8:30 a.m. today were uninjured.

Six Others Injured

Perrigan suffered a fractured collar bone and chest injuries.

Six members of a Jackson, Miss., family were injured when the car in which they were riding overturned about 15 miles east of here on the Lamesa highway about the same time as the Perrigan accident.

None of the occupants of the car were injured seriously. Suffering cuts and bruises were the driver, L. C. Owens, 36; his wife; a son, Roy; and three sisters, Georgia, Holly and Sarah.

Owens apparently applied the brakes on a straight section of the road and the automobile overturned.

Two other West Texas men escaped injury in truck accidents at the same site of the Perrigan wreck a few minutes later, it was reported.

George Washington Reynolds of Odessa, an oil truck driver, apparently tried to stop his vehicle near the wreck and it skidded and overturned. Later a meat company truck driven by Ramos Antonio Chavez of Odessa tried to stop at the scene of the two accidents and also overturned. Both truck drivers were uninjured.

County Attorney Neill said witnesses told him a brief fight started after a quarrel between the pair.

Brownfield Funeral home announced that arrangements for Metzger's funeral had not been completed tonight.

He had been working at the cotton gin for about eight weeks, they said.

He came to Terry county three months ago from Nebraska. Survivors besides his wife are a three-day-old son; his father, Richard Metzger of Modesto, Calif.; and D. Ruark of Brownfield, an uncle.

Floydada got a trace of rain around 6:30 p. m., with cloudy and damp weather continuing. At Hale Center, the drizzle began around 7 p. m. and was still falling at 10:50 p. m. when the total was estimated at .10.

Crosbyton, after a foggy morning, drew a slight drizzle around 6 p. m. Mist and light rain began at the same hour at Post, but skies were clearing at 11 p. m.

A light drizzle started in downtown Lubbock and at the Weather bureau north of the city about 5:20 p. m. and continued intermittently throughout the night. It was still raining intermittently early today.

Muleshoe received an estimated .15 from a light rain that began at 8 p. m. and continued lightly at 11 p. m. At Littlefield, mist and quiet drizzles began around 5 p. m. and continued at 11 p. m.

Lamesa reported overcast skies and damp weather all day Thursday, with a trace of rain last night as the mist continued. Similar weather was reported at Tahoka.

Brownfield's dampness began around 3 p. m. and was continuing late last night. At Seminole, mist and sprinkles beginning at 1 p. m. left an estimated .05 moisture total.

Denver City saw the overcast move in at 2 p. m. and drizzling rain was still falling at 11 p. m.

Other state rain reports included El Paso .27, Guadalupe Pass .28, Salt Flat .20, Big Spring .10, Del Rio and Presidio .13, Ozona, Wink and Laredo .06, Marfa .11 and San Angelo and Junction .03.

NEWS BRIEFS

Bond of $700 returnable Saturday was set for Brewster E. Dillard, 38, of 1200-block Sixteenth in connection with a pistol-carrying complaint, the sheriff's department said Thursday. The charge grew out of a disturbance Wednesday night at a cafe in 1000-block Ave. H, arresting police said. A .32 pistol was seized in the case.

Two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Aniceto Albarez were admitted to Lubbock Memorial hospital at 6:15 p.m. Thursday suffering effects of carbon monoxide gas. The children, Carmen, three, and Mary Lou, 18 months, were left with their four-months-old sister in a car while their parents shopped at a grocery store. Hospital attendants said fumes from the car's motor gathered inside the vehicle, causing the older children to become ill. The family's residence address was not available.

Condition of Pat Crow, city patrolman who was injured early Thursday as he drove home after assisting firemen at a lumber-yard blaze, was listed as "good" at Lubbock Memorial hospital last night. Crow suffered concussion, and multiple abrasions and lacerations of the head when his car was in collision with another vehicle at Twenty-third and Ave. N.

Plan Is Offered In Phone Dispute

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29. (AP)—A plan for averting a threatened strike by 50,000 employes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company was recommended tonight at a governors' conference—but did not immediately result in a settlement.

"At this time we are neither accepting nor rejecting the entire proposal," a company spokesman told a newsman.

The governors or their representatives from the six states served by the utility recommended that negotiations be resumed for a period of 15 days with the dispute to be submitted to arbitration if no settlement is reached in that time.

Agree To Plan

Leaders of Southwestern Division 20, CIO Communications workers, agreed to accept the full plan provided the company does likewise.

"Unless the company accepts the proposition, we will feel free to strike on Jan. 1," said Everett Cotter, counsel for the union.

That is the date set for the end of a 10-day truce arranged when the governors' conference was called last week.

"This is all we can do," said Governor Forrest Smith of Missouri, who called the conference.

"We are willing to resume negotiations at any time," the Southwestern Bell spokesman said.

All For Now

Then he added that was all the company was prepared to tell the governors at this time.

Federal conciliator A. E. Johnson said he would try to arrange for negotiations to be resumed tomorrow.

The governors spent most of the day listening to union and company leaders in separate sessions.

Governors besides Smith are Roy J. Turner of Oklahoma, Frank Carlson of Kansas and Sid McMath of Arkansas. Texas is represented by M. B. Morgan, state commissioner of labor statistics, Rauch, assistant director of the Illinois Labor department, and George Green, chief of the Illinois Conciliation and Mediation service.

Union Presents Case

Officials of the CIO Communications Workers of America presented their case in a three-hour session this morning. Company representatives were called in later.

Negotiations broke down between the union and company after numerous sessions that started last Oct. 25. In asking Smith to mediate, the union agreed to postpone a strike until Jan. 1—pending outcome of today's conference.

Everett E. Cotter, union attorney, told reporters this morning he was "optimistic that a strike can be averted."

The company said in a prepared statement that it, too, felt a strike can be avoided.

Union demands for pay boosts represent one of the principal issues in the dispute.

responsibility.

He said he had in mind a possible atomic attack on New York harbor and the jurisdictional row which could result if Washington as well as New York State and New Jersey attempted to administer disaster relief.

Other issues slated for exploration are warning services, including plane-spotting, protective construction, personnel shelters, evacuation, emergency housing, medical assistance, inter-community collaboration and fire-fighting.

of the building came tumbling down from everywhere."

Thomas B. Roberson said he had just walked past the store when the building erupted and debris narrowly missed him.

Roberson said he ran inside and saw Mrs. Clifton, still standing. He dug Mrs. Hancock from under debris which covered her.

MAN FOUND HANGED

ENID, Okla., Dec. 29 (AP)—A man identified as Calvin Smith Brnmley, 25, Pampa, hung himself tonight in the Garfield county jail. He had been arrested a few hours earlier by highway patrolmen on a driving charge. Identification was made by the patrol from a drivers license. Officers said he had tied his belt around the foot of the bed and his neck. The patrol had no further information about the man.

Arson Probed In Lumber Yard Fire

Arson possibilities in the Home Lumber and Supply Co. fire at Nineteenth street and Ave. L were closely checked Thursday, but no clues were reported by investigators.

More accurate estimates made Thursday on the fire which began about 11:30 p. m. Wednesday placed loss in the lumber yard between $20,000 and $30,000

This figure did not include damage to houses and cars in the fire area, estimated at several thousand dollars. Early estimates had placed the total damage at $50,000.

Gin Fire Investigated

Another investigation into the Wednesday night fire which destroyed the Tudor gin at Becton, northeast of Lubbock, failed to indicate the cause of the $50,000 blaze.

R. H. Tudor, gin owner, said he had been told no fires had been going in the gin during the day Wednesday and that he was not convinced that a butane explosion was to blame as had been earlier reported.

The theory that the Lubbock lumber yard fire had been started by a firebug had several factors to support it.

One was the report that two men were seen jumping off the lumber yard shed building shortly before the fire was discovered.

Other Fires Reported

Several other fires in the vicinity, some of them started with street marker flares or smudge pots, also were being investigated.

One flare wrapped in newspapers had been thrown into a car owned by Monroe Dunn and parked at 1119 Eighteenth street. A fence in the vicinity of Eighteenth and Ave. K also was reported afire about the same time the lumber blaze began. It was extinguished by firemen.

At 1:30 a. m., a burning flare was found in the office of the Bill Dean Motor Co. at Fourteenth street and Ave. J by Moore's Bonded patrol. A window glass had been broken.

Pine Tree Burned

E. I. Shelton of Shelton's Typewriter Service at 1610 Ave. H reported to police at 9:18 a. m. Thursday that a pine tree left by the building overnight had been put into a barrel and burned.

Three other small blazes in the vicinity of the lumber yard also were reported.

Bradley Black, city fire marshal, was investigating the fire, but he said it would take "two or three days" to complete the check.

L. H. McLarty, one of the lumber yard owners, said Thursday that firemen failed to find any of the street marker flares in the burned out lumber yard.

To Continue Operation

McLarty said the business would continue to operate on a limited scale at its present location. About half the lumber in the yard was not burned, and the main office building escaped the flames.

Nolan F. Gordon, 26, of 2717 North Sixth street, who was held overnight at West Texas hospital after a lashing fire hose knocked him to the ground, was dismissed from the hospital Thursday When admitted, it was thought that Gordon might have received a fracture of his right hip.

The loss in the lumber yard fire was only partially covered by insurance. Six policies located Thursday covered a total of $20,500.

The fire was brought under control at 12:30 p. m. Thursday, but stacks of lumber continued to smoke at mid-morning as firemen remained on duty at the yard.

In the Becton gin fire, it was reported that the $50,000 loss was only about half covered by insurance.

Hiss Ends Defense Testimony Insisting He Is No Communist

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (AP) — Alger Hiss ended his perjury defense testimony today, still insisting he was no prewar Communist spy tool.

The 45-year-old former high State department aide stepped down from the witness stand after nearly five court days of questioning.

Later his 46-year-old wife, Priscilla, took his place to try and bolster her husband's defense against perjury charges.

But in between the defense sandwiched a surprise witness, a pal of Whittaker Chamber's schoolboy days.

This witness, Karl F. Helfrich of upper Montclair, N.J., was introduced as a preliminary to a probable defense attempt to attack Chamber's sanity.

He testified that he and Chambers, who is Hiss' chief accuser, made elaborate plans in 1920 to enter Williams college as freshmen. But, he added, Chambers shut himself up with a Bible the night before school opened and then suddenly left Williams in the dead of night, never to return.

Abilene Nurse Found Dead With Scarf Knotted Around Neck

ABILENE, Dec. 29. (AP)—Mrs. Harrietta McClure Johnston, 36, Abilene nurse, was found dead yesterday in her apartment home here.

Sheriff H. T. Fleming said a scarf was knotted tightly around her neck. Justice of the Peace W. T. St. John said he was awaiting the report of a physician performing an autopsy before returning an inquest verdict. The verdict was not expected before tomorrow.

Officers said Mrs Johnston's husband, Dave J. Johnston, told them he found the body on the floor of the kitchen of the apartment about 5 p.m. yesterday.

1949, Year Of 'Slow Bridge,' Saw Nation Gain Economically, Build Anti-Red Front

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — Except in time of war or great emergency when moves are vast and fast, each year that passes is like a slow bridge between the years behind and the years ahead.

The year 1949, at home, was like the slow bridge.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt took over the presidency in 1933 and the country was in its greatest depression, Congress practically gave him a blank check and whipped through the steps he recommended.

Pace Gradually Slowed

This was the period of emergency. The pace gradually slowed down although, still under depression's spur, the Roosevelt administration put through a number of actions for reform, change and remedy.

By 1938 the last of the big New Deal measures—the wage-hour law—was passed. The country was coming out of the depression. Congress became increasingly conservative.

Then war. The U. S. turned upside-down in its all-out effort. War ended. The nation painfully adjusted itself to peace and President Truman began to pick up where the New Deal left off.

What he recommended finally took shape as his "fair deal" but he made his program a primary issue only when he ran for the presidency in his own right, and won.

HST Has Three Years

How did he make out with his fair deal program in 1949, his first full year as elected president? His supporters think he made out pretty well.

But he has three more years in which to push his program before his Democrats, facing the voters in the presidential year of 1952, can say: "We have done so and so. Do you want more?"

Part of his program went through in 1949, some more of it probably will go through in 1950.

This year Congress, controlled by his Democrats, raised minimum wages from 40 to 75 cents an hour; started a low-rent housing and slum clearance plan; kept rent controls.

And the House passed a bill widening social security, increasing the benefits to old people. The Senate probably will make this change in social security a law in 1950 by folowing the House's action.

Civil Rights Action Balked

On other things, like his civil rights program, Mr. Truman got nowhere in 1949 and he'll probably get no further in 1950, 1951 and 1952.

Congress itself didn't stir into action on improved social security and better old-age pensions until the CIO steelworkers made it clear that labor was going to make security one of the big issues in the years ahead. They won a pension from the steel companies.

This is the threat—security—which has run through the New Deal and the Fair Deal. More security is what President Truman harps on, it's the main ground on which he fights.

But just as the New Deal's security programs didn't all come about in one week or one year, so no one expects Mr. Truman's to be slammed through Congress at one stroke.

Slow Advance To Continue

The New Deal, in the five years between 1933 and 1938, pushed here, pushed there, getting its security program over piece by piece. Mr. Truman is trying the same.

At home—on international affairs—the Democrats and Republicans saw pretty much eye to eye and together they put through the Marshall plan again, the Atlantic pact, arms for Europe, reciprocal trade, and voted gigantic sums for national defense.

No matter how they disagreed on what should be done at home, they were as one, more or less, in their efforts to stop Communism, not only at home but abroad.

All in all 1949 was a year, at home, of slow moves, many pushes, some results, leaving much to be done, or finally passed over, in the year, and years, ahead.

Brush Fire Threat To Homes Of Film Stars Blamed On Firebugs

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 29. (INS)—Firebugs were blamed today for the spectacular Beverly Hills brush fire which menaced the haciendas and mansions of several film stars.

When the fire was at its heighth shortly before midnight actress Loretta Young and her three children fled with their belongings from the family ranchhouse.

Other homes of film notables threatened for a time by the blaze were those of the late Richard Dix, George Murphy, Johnny Mack Brown and Harold Lloyd.

Two hundred fire fighters brought the blaze under control after a four-hour battle.

Prisoner Gets Swift, Accurate Answer From Houston Detective

HOUSTON, Dec. 29. (U.P.) — A prisoner who had just been arrested jumped from a police car in front of police headquarters here today, shouted to officers, "Let's see how good you can shoot," and found out fast.

Detective R. E. Blanchard shot the man through the heel and felled him after he had run only a few yards.

The prisoner was identified as R. L. Mark, 42, of Dallas. He had been arrested a few minutes earlier at the request of Dallas police, who said Mark was wanted on a charge of felony swindle.

Beauty Contestants Complain Selection Of Winner 'Fixed'

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 29 (U.P.)—Ladene Von Wagoner, slender blonde airlines stewardess from Salt Lake City, Utah, reigned as queen of the Orange Bowl festival today, and some of the other beauteous contestants for the title didn't like it.

Not that they begrudged the lovely Miss Wagoner her crown, they said. But it looked to them as if the contest was "fixed."

One of the 38 finalists said newspapers were carrying news of the Utah girl's selection before the judging was over.

Winner Crowned At Ball

Miss Wagoner was crowned at the Orange Bowl ball at the Coral Gables Country club last night while more than 2,000 spectators looked on. The judging was to have taken place at the ball.

But seven of the contestants flounced into the offices of the Miami Herald last night after it was all over and said it looked "fixed" to them.

Betty Baldwin, a tiny honey-blonde, displayed a copy of a newspaper announcing Miss Wagoner's victory. She said the paper was in her boyfriend's hands before the selection was announced.

Committee Promise Related

"We believed we had a chance. The Orange Bowl committee promised us the contest was not fixed," fumed brown-haired Joy Redmon.

It's not fair to us," said Ellen James, a flashing blue-eyed blonde.

Several of the princesses said they had lost as much as three days from work to participate in the contest. When they learned of the "fix," they first thought they would walk out on the parade and ball but changed their minds "because it would have hurt Miami."

But the princesses said they did not "begrudge" Miss Wagoner the crown. "She's a beautiful girl and she deserves it," they said.

Missing 'Body' Merits Verdict 'Dead-Drunk And Disappeared'

JACKSONVILLE, Tex., Dec. 29. (AP)—Justice of the Peace J. S. Simpson was asked to return a corcner's jury verdict on a "body" found near the railroad tracks.

Justice Simpson found the "body" had gone. After investigating, he returned this verdict:

"Dead-drunk and disappeared.

Little Pennsylvania Town Expects To Make Major Comeback After Disastrous Fire

HYNDMAN, Pa., Dec. 29. (AP)—There's a bright future in the cards today for Hyndman — scene of a million-dollar fire that wiped out the town's business district.

The blaze last Sunday night was just the climax to a run of bad luck this year that knocked the props out from under the economy of this southwestern Pennsylvania community.

Many of Hyndman's residents formerly were employed at the plant of the Celanese Corporation of America near Cumberland, Md., 15 miles south of here. In recent months the plant laid off nearly half of its labor force.

Lumber Yard Burns

Hyndman's biggest industry was the Pennsylvania Lumber and Post Co. A week ago the lumber yard burned down. And three days later another fire wiped out the other major source of revenue — the business firms which made the town a trading center for farmers in the area.

But the nation wide attention Hyndman gained as it burned brought more than sympathy. As the citizens moved to rebuild their fire-swept community, Pennsylvania's Governor James H. Duff ordered all departments of the commonwealth to cooperate in providing immediate aid.

As a result, representatives of the state departments of forests and waters, commerce, military affairs, highways and public instruction, and the state public school building authority met with town officials at the high school today.

Federal Aid Possible

Among subjects discussed is the possibility of getting state aid to rebuild the town under the new federal housing law. The statute provides Pennsylvania with $15,000,000 for slum clearance and housing.

Private industry is looking to Hyndman, too. Members of the local Lions club excitedly showed representatives of a furniture manufacturing company around town today. The name of the furniture maker can't be disclosed yet, they said, but the firm is interested in all the unused manpower located right in town.

It telling of the latest developments in Hyndman's reborn economy, Acting Mayor Lloyd Christner declared:

"Unquestionably, the fire has made Hyndman's economic future better than ever before."

New Road Planned

Christner is acting as Hyndman's chief executive in the temporary absence of Mayor Earnest Harden. Mr. and Mrs. Harden and Mrs. Helen Turner, the courageous telephone operator who stayed at her post while the fire raged 35 feet away, left for New York yesterday to appear on a Friday night radio broadcast (We The People).

Another new development may make Hyndman a mecca for tourists. Admiral Milo F. Draemel, Pennsylvania secretary of forests and waters, yesterday gave top priority to the acquisition of lands at the Shawnee dam recreational project 20 miles from Hyndman. The state plans a road near Hyndman to the project.

The dam already is under construction. The road building doubtless will give jobs to townsfolk.

A separate postoffice building may also be in the works. Christner said Congressman Richard Simpson (R-Pa), representative for the district, is trying to get that project approved.

Scientists now can explore unknown substances with X-rays and determine in a few minutes what elements the substances contain and how the atoms in them are arranged, by means of a new automatic instrument.

Two Texas Brothers Charged With Theft Of Car In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 29 (U.P.)—Two brothers from Dumas, Tex., were in the county jail today after a 20-minute career that wound up in car theft charges.

Marcus Ballew, 19, and Bill John Ballew, 21, were charged with auto theft on the complaint of B. D. Wolfe, Apalachicola, Fla., and a State Highway patrolman who caught them in a 15-mile chase after they stepped into Wolfe's car and headed down the highway.

The brother said they had been hitchhiking and "just decided to take the car" when they saw it sitting by the road.

Texas Marks 104th Birthday As State

AUSTIN, Dec. 29 (AP) — Texas marked its 104th birthday as a state today.

It was on Dec. 29, 1845, that the United States approved the new state constitution of Texas.

But it was not until Feb. 19, 1846 that Anson Jones, last president of the Republic of Texas, pulled down the Lone Star flag at the capitol in Austin and J. Pinckney Henderson, first governor of Texas took office.

80-Pound Arizona Meteorite May Be Given To Museum, Or Library

BISBEE, Ariz., Dec. 29. (AP)—An 80-pound meteorite which fell at a ranch near here last month probably will be given to a library or museum.

The meteorite struck about 2:30 p. m. on Nov. 30. It plunged 14 feet into the ground on the ranch of Robert Forrest.

He dug it up and found it to be of irregular spheroid shape about 12 inches across at its largest diameter.

Charles L. Cassady, Marion, O., bought the meteorite from Forrest. He said he planned to give it to a museum or to the University of Arizona if the school wants it.

SALE OF BONDS MAY BE SPEEDED

Investors Service Boosts Credit Rating For Civic Divisions Here

The city, county and independent school district have been given an improved bond credit rating, officials here learned Thursday.

The county's rating has been advanced from "BA" to "A" and those of the city and school district from "BA" to "BAA." The highest rating is "AA."

These listings were included in a recent compilation by Moody's Investors service, of New York, an authoritative agency which specializes in the study of the financial condition of state's, cities, counties, school districts and other political subdivisions and their ability to pay their bonded and other indebtedness.

Lower Interest Likely

Local officials explained that the bonds of the political subdivision with the higher Moody rating usually can be sold more readily and at a lower interest rate.

City Manager Steve Matthews said the city has been seeking an improved rating for more than two years.

Prior to the war, the city, county and school district held AA ratings. Bond issues voted in the effort to keep pace with growth resulted in lower ratings as the proportion of indebtedness to assessed tax valuations increased.

Matthews said that, in support of the effort to obtain an improved rating, a survey was made recently which showed that the valuations of property on the city tax rolls are only about 30 to 35 per cent of their true value. Reappraisals of valuations for taxation purposes now are being completed and, according to officials, will be reflected in the 1950 tax rolls of the city, school district and county.

Congress Of Parents, Teachers Board To Hold Austin Meeting

AUSTIN, Dec. 29. (INS)—The annual midwinter session of the Board of Managers of the Texas Congress of Parents and teachers is scheduled for Austin Jan. 16-18.

Among matters due consideration by the 57 board members are field service, district spring conferences, selection of delegates to the national convention next spring, and choosing a program outline for 1950.

The national convention of the congress will be held in Long Beach, Calif., in May.

Powdered Milk To Be Tested In Area School Cafeterias

Cafeterias in 135 schools of this area will learn in January whether they like powdered milk for cooking.

The Federal Surplus Commodities administration has sent a shipment of powdered milk to Lubbock for distribution to 135 schools in 30 counties.

Eight hundred cases containing 38,400 pounds of powdered milk has arrived by railway car from Manawa, Wisc., since opening of the holidays in the schools and almost all of it has been delivered to representatives of the schools.

Home Economists Visit

For four years, request has been made that no powdered milk be sent into this area, said Roy Boyd, Lubbock county superintendent of schools who also serves as food distribution agent in this area of the federal surplus food program.

Home economists recently visited school cafeterias to prepare them for use of powdered milk.

The milk is to be used for cooking purposes, according to information to Boyd from the federal agency which sends surplus commodities to the schools without cost to the schools.

Apples Shipped

Boyd has been notified that 798 bushels of apples are to arrive from the state of Washington next week for use in the school cafeterias participating in the surplus food program. Three carloads of apples arrived about Dec. 1.

Rent of a warehouse in Lubbock for storage purposes was sought early in the school year, but it was learned that a portion of the warehouse already was in use and the entire warehouse would not be available until after Christmas. Arrangements are expected to be completed early in January, said Boyd.

Food now must be sent directly to the schools from railway cars. After a warehouse is obtained, many surplus commodities can be stored and sent to schools when needed.

Rites For Tech Student Held

DENVER CITY, Dec. 29 (Special) — Funeral services for Billy Verne Mitchell, 19-year-old Texas Tech student of Denver City who was killed in an oilfield truck accident near Andrews Wednesday were held at 10 a.m. today in the Denver City First Baptist church.

Rev. Clifford Harris, pastor, officiated. Rites will also be held in the Belmont Baptist church of Odessa at 2:30 p.m. Friday. Rev. C. T. Aly of Tahoka will officiate. Burial will be in the Odessa cemetery under direction of the Singleton Funeral home of Seminole.

Companion Also Hurt

Condition of Brady Leneman, 38, of Denver City, his companion at the time of the accident, was reported improved at the Andrews County hospital this morning.

Mitchell was crushed to death when a jackknife drilling rig being hauled on the trailer of the truck he was driving broke loose from its moorings and crashed into the vehicle stopped by loose dirt on the road. He was dead on arrival at the hospital.

His death marks the 106th for the South Plains area during the year.

Leneman, who was thrown clear of the cab at the time of the accident, suffered a broken clavicle, thumb and finger on the left hand and numerous cuts and bruises.

Mitchell, a sophomore at Texas Tech in the engineering division, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mitchell of Denver City.

Johnny Sands, Movie Actor, Visits Mother In Floydada

Johnny Sands, Hollywood movie actor, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Ora Gough in Floydada and will return to the West Coast early in the New Year. The young man was known by his real name, John Harp, when he lived here and attended Lubbock Public schools.

The young actor completed his new role in the comedy picture, "Once Over Lightly," Christmas Eve. In this he plays comedy situations as an ex-GI and has a scene with Wanda Hendrix, who is the picture's feminine star, opposit Edmond O'Brien.

Sands' first break, after a succession of youthful roles came when he was cast as a heavy in "Outrage," a Paramount production starring MacDonald Carey and Gail Russell. His career was given a shot in the arm recently when he ranked second in Photoplay's Popularity poll.

With no serious romances in his life, Johnny lives in a bachelor apartment in Beverly Hills. He drives a modest automobile—without the heavy foot on the accelerator that marked his hotrod days.

When it is completed, a man with asthma, heart ailment and tuberculosis and his wife will move into it,

The man and his wife are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mahon and Mrs. Mahon is anxious that Lubbock residents who are building her home should know whom they are helping.

Work And Generosity

The determination and work and gifts of neighbors coupled with the generosity of other Lubbock residents is making the house possible.

Mrs. Wallace Gibson of 2800 N. Seventh several months ago decided to help Mrs. Mahon prepare for the time, in January, when Mrs. Mahon's husband would leave the state Sanatorium near San Angelo. Mrs. Mahon and her 10-year-old son have been living with a daughter here since last spring.

That Was Her Worry

"I have never asked for anything," said Mrs. Mahon. "Mrs. Gibson came to me and asked if I wasn't in trouble. She said I was losing weight and she knew there was a great worry somewhere. That was my worry: Wondering about what I was going to do when my husband came out of the hospital."

In February of 1945, her husband became sick while working as a pipe fitter at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic bomb plant. Mr. and Mrs. Mahon returned to their home at Texarkana and he spent part of the time in hospitals and part of the time at home. About three years ago, they sold their home and traveled, thinking his condition would improve.

Family Came Here

Last spring, he entered the state Sanatorium and his wife and son came to Lubbock.

Mrs. Gibson was determined that a house should be provided. She was spurred in that determination by the belief that Mr. and Mrs. Mahon should have their own home, in view of his illness, and that Mrs. Mahon would need to stay home with her husband rather than work during his serious illness.

Organizations have indicated that food, medical supplies and perhaps clothing might be made available, she said, "but nothing I knew of could get shelter for them."

Two rummage sales were conducted by neighbors. They netted $168, which was placed in the building fund. A food sale was conducted. Neighbors provided the food and Mrs. Mahon sold it. The proceeds totaled $28.

Mrs. Mahon put $10—earnings from 40 hours of baby sitting—into the fund. Sometimes at night she takes care of babies. During the day, she cares for the baby of the daughter with whom she lives.

Mrs. Mahon also has sold rummage. She has said that if anyone has clothing they do not need, they may call her at 2-7369, and she will call for the clothing and sell it. She has had several requests for children's clothing.

Takes Charge Of Fund

Mrs. F. H. Bashore of 2711 N. Seventh, telephone 7623, became the treasurer of the group of neighbors, taking charge of contributions and earnings placed in the building fund.

Mrs. Gibson visited firms and individuals and received many gifts for the Mahon building fund. Five churches—Seventh Day Adventist, First Church of the Nazarene, Williams Memorial Nazarene and Myrtle Drive Baptist church in Lubbock and the First Church of the Nazarene at Texarkana—made gifts. Various firms and individuals have given money and building products and furnishings for the house.

About $400 additional money is needed, said Mrs. Gibson. "If I can get that, we may be able to squeeze on through."

The carpenters, electricians, bricklayers and plumbers unions have said they would donate labor.

The plumbing has been roughed in and fou..dation has been laid. Pumice blocks are to be laid Saturday. Efforts will be made to complete the house by Jan. 5, said Mrs. Gibson.

The house, which is being built at 806 University St. in Carter-Coffee addition, will contain four rooms.

Air Academy In Texas Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (U.P.) — Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex), today reaffirmed his support for locating a proposed Air Force academy at Randolph Field in Texas.

Randolph Field, Connally said, "is the most available site" for the proposed Air Force school which would be a counterpart of West Point and Annapolis.

Texan Offers Bill

Connally introduced a bill last February to give the Air Force a service academy of its own at the Randolph Field site in San Antonio.

He told reporters today that he intends to support that bill when it comes up for Senate consideration "in due course."

Randolph Field, Connally said, "is already known as the West Point of the air."

He added that he is working closely with Rep. Paul J. Kilday, (D-Tex), sponsor of a similar measure in the House, to get the San Antonio site approved.

Connally recently was advised by Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington that a team of Air Force technical experts will visit Randolph Field "in the near future" to survey its facilities. Similar surveys are being made of other sites suggested for the proposed Air Force academy.

The survey teams will report to a special Air Force site selection board headed by Gen. Carl (Tooey) Spaatz. The board will make its recommendations to Defense Secretary Louis Johnson.

Chairman Carl M. Vinson of the House Armed Services committee has said that Congress will not necessarily follow the President's recommendation.

Merger To Boost Fort Worth Weather Bureau Headquarters

FORT WORTH, Dec. 29. (U.P.) — Fort Worth will become headquarters Sunday of the U. S. Weather bureau's largest region.

On that day, the Atlanta, Ga., regional office will be merged with the Fort Worth regional office as part of an economy move.

Regional Director Erle Hardy today said preparations for the merger were nearing completion. Records and supplies of the Atlanta office have been moved here.

Although the merger will reduce the number of weather bureau employes in Southern states, it will create 25 additional jobs in the regional office here from Georgia.

Territory of the new region will extend from New Mexico to Florida. The office here will be responsible for maintenance and supply of equipment of 106 weather stations, in addition to preparation of payroll and other personnel records.

Connally Hedges On Oil Problem

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (Special)—Senator Tom Connally declined today to say yes or no when asked if he thought imports of oil should be limited.

He said he had voted for the Thomas Amendment before to limit imports and thought he would vote for it again if it came up.

Explains Oil Tax

Asked what he thought about a tax on imported oil, he said that would be nothing short of a tariff and that any plan to tax oil imports or to limit imports in any way would have to go through the normal procedure in Congress for tariffs, that is, it would have first to be approved by the House Ways and Means committee. Then after that committee makes recommendations and the question comes to the Senate in the usual manner he would consider it.

Connally was asked what he thought about the British plan to cut back extensively on buying oil in the U.S.; and said he did not oppose the British in this.

"I guess they are doing like we would do and any one else for that matter—buy oil where it is cheapest."

Asked if he found much unemployment in Texas because of the oil import situation, he said, "No, I didn't find much unemployment anywhere. Of course some folks are not working because always some folks won't work."

TITO IS SOLVENT

Why Give Him More?

THE Tito dictatorship announced with pardonable pride recently that the Yugoslav treasury contains a surplus.

This fortunate condition is one that Americans might envy. It also might set them to wondering about a good many things.

The government of the United States is in debt approximately 250 billion dollars. Yet the U. S. has provided practically the whole amount of a multi-million dollar loan obtained by Tito, with more in sight — from the World Bank. The United States has supplied more than 75 percent of the operating capital of that bank, and is the only nation which has put money into the enterprise without strings attached. Most of the other nations have borrowed more than they have put in.

In addition to this, some of the striped-pants boys of the U. S. State department and various relief agencies persistently urge that Yugoslavia be added to the list of Marshall aid nations, eligible for handouts totaling many millions of dollars.

Perhaps the prosperous condition of the Yugoslavian treasury may silence the advocates of loans and "relief" for that government — although the indications are that Tito still is grabbing for everything he can get from every source in sight.

But, regardless of what Tito may want and our own international do-gooders may urge, Yugoslavia clearly is one nation which now can and should be eliminated from the recipients of any sort of American bounty.

A Fine Example

THE residents of the little Pennsylvania village of Hyndman has added its chapter to the record of almost innumerable chapters which inspire pride in the spirit of our fellow Americans.

Flames destroyed most of the business section and many of the residences in Hyndman on Christmas Eve. It was a terrific blow for a small town. But, before the ashes were cool, the residents were planning to rebuild "bigger and better than ever."

This spirit was typical, rather than exceptional. The same thing happened in Galveston after the great hurricane, in San Francisco after the earthquake, in Chicago after the fire, in Johnstown, Pa., after the flood and in a great many other communities after disasters.

Hyndman offers just one more proof that terrible misfortune, which understandably might cause hopeless despair, almost invariably becomes the inspiration for magnificent achievement.

It demonstrated that the knockdown of an American community may not be too difficult. But Hyndman is another proof that keeping such a place down borders upon the impossible.

"Flying Saucers"

FEW people are likely to get excited because of the claim in one of the so-called "truth" publications that the flying discs reported seen in many parts of the world during recent years actually are space ships from another planet. The source, which regularly has indulged in sensationalism, is not worthy of reliance either in its presentation or evaluation of alleged "facts."

However, there is no denying that the discs still are an unsolved mystery. Too many persons have reported seeing them to permit reasonable doubt that something strange and unexplained has been sighted in flight. It is conceivable that such things could be manned by intelligences alien to Earth.

The most conservative scientists acknowledge this as a possibility. But they apparently are unanimous that the possibility is so remote as to be unworthy of serious consideration. The experts apparently are losing no sleep because of fear that the discs might be dangerous. Their convictions should be more than sufficient to allay the uneasiness of anyone who might have become disturbed by the claims of a publication which relies upon sensationalism to attract readers.

There is one thing that may be said in favor of the correspondence school. It has no sports-minded alumni to bring pressure on having the coach fired.

I Love My Doctor

By EVELYN BARKINS
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: After our elopement, John and I decide to look for a place for John to open his office as a doctor. We want four rooms to accommodate both home and office and the location must be dsirable. Mother has just given me a tip on the location recently vacated by a doctor and we are going to see it tomorrow. Today we are going to a farewell party at the hospital where John is finishing up as intern.)

IV

IT WAS a moment or two before anyone became aware of our presence. Bob Abbott, John's best friend, was playing ping-pong with what looked like a brand new girl, in the corner. Bob was the Beau Geste of the medical tribe. He dressed like a Fifth Avenue dummy, behaved as much like a Casanovic sultan building up a harem as society allows, and seemed to think that he was What Every Young Girl Should Know. Karl Holzmann, and his wife Trudy, a pretty Austrian girl, were dancing in the center of the room, while about five other couples were floating around.

"Hi," said Bob, dropping his racket, "look who's here!"

Everybody else pounced on us too. Janet Grayson began to pound "Here Comes the Bride" on the piano, but was almost completely drowned out by their noisy greetings.

Gert Shaw, Alec's wife, imported two years before from the wilds of Montana, came forward next. "Blankety blank," she began, and we all roared expectantly. Gert's profanity, which slipped so effortlessly and naturally into her everyday speech, had long since passed the shocking stage, and became, instead, a hospital landmark. Her words were all uttered with the casual detachment of a radio announcer rendering the baseball scores, followed by a forecast of the weather.

"Bring on the gifts" said Hilda Emmett, and I knew immediately that with her usual officiousness, Hilda had put herself in sole charge of selecting, wrapping, and producing the presents. She was born to collect dimes on street corners for worthy causes, to organize polite assistance for expectant catastrophies.

There was a pop-up toaster for us, a cocktail shaker with six glasses, and two guest towels.

"Oh, you shouldn't have," I said, knowing that they had spent their entire last month's pay, "but I'm glad you did."

By now, the party was in top swing, with the radio going full force and everyone dancing with everyone else. Suddenly, we all stopped moving, as Miss O Grady, the night supervisor of nurses came and stood in the doorway with a plea for less noise.

"It's carrying a little into the wards, upstairs," she explained.

"We're terribly sorry," we apologized immediately, and offered her a quick drink before going back on duty.

"You take one too," Bob said to me, as she left, but John, who had come up to where we were standing, answered for me: "She doesn't like it, Bob, and I'm getting tired of drinking the ones everybody forces on her."

My dislike for alcoholic beverages had often been a major social sin during my adolescent years. Not that I am against liquor as such. I would certainly never demonstrate against the Demon Rum, or write my Congressman about it either. If everyone else wanted to go on a 10 day binge without bothering me, I would never complain—even if I do privately think that inebriation is a pitifully foolish state, and smells bad. It is unfortunate, however, that as far as I am concerned, the stuff tastes like a mixture of floor shellac, castor oil, camphor balls, and medicated cough drops.

But so great is the intolerance of the drinker for the root beer fan, that for years I would order drinks upon request, and leave them wastefully behind, purely as a gesture of self-defense. Now as John spoke, I sensed a new liberation.

"You do as you please," he went on, turning to me, "and ignore the remarks. Come on, darling we'll get you a good ginger ale before you die of thirst."

AS WE approached the refreshment table, I suddenly remembered that we hadn't told anyone of our new housing lead.

"That's a pretty good neighborhood," Janet Grayson said, after I made our announcement. She and Hank would be needing a place of their own in another few months, and it was obvious that she had already been brushing up on locations.

"I hope you get it," Bob said sincerely, "and if there's anything I can do, just let me know."

Alec and Gert Shaw promised to come over and answer the tele-

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

ONE way to realize what a wonderful country we live in is to read our enormous production figures, to compare our incomes with those of other countries, to see our great factories and oil wells and mines.

BRANDEIS

However, that takes study, research, traveling.

There is a much more simple and even more graphic way of realizing what a privilege it is to live in America.

Come with me to Oscar's delicatessen store in our little Connecticut town.

Or, if you haven't time to do that, go to a nearby delicatessen or grocery store in your own town.

I happened to drop in at Oscar's yesterday afternoon with my wife.

While she was doing her shopping, I looked around.

(Incidentally, delicatessen stores are one of the reasons it is so difficult for men to keep their weight down.)

I was amazed.

Oscar's store is quite small, certainly no more than twenty feet wide and about seventy or eighty feet deep.

But here in that little store I saw shelf after shelf of cans and bottles and jars and boxes—each with a different food item, each with a different brand name.

When the cash register had rung for my wife's purchase, I had a little chat with Oscar.

"How many items do you carry in your store?" I asked him.

"About seven hundred," he replied, "and if I could afford to please all my customers I'd have to carry more than a thousand."

There happened to be a little lull in Oscar's store, so he and I went on a little journey over his shelves.

"Take the sardines," he said and took down a few cans. "Some people want Maine sardines. Others want the Portuguese brand. Some want them small, others large, still others medium size. So I have to carry about eight different kinds of sardines."

Then he showed me his coffee. Six different brands and each brand in the bean, in coarse grind, in drip grind and maybe in a couple of other grinds that I overlooked.

Then the pickles. Unbelievable! I never knew there are that many different kinds of pickles in existence.

And the cheeses! American, Swiss, Roquefort, Liederkranz, Limburger, Edam, Camembert. But do I have to tell you? You know how many different kinds of cheese you DON'T like. Oscar has to carry them all.

I COULD go on for pages enumerating all the items Oscar and every other delicatessen or grocery man has to carry if he wants to stay in business.

And all that because you and I —their customers—are spoiled by the abundance of this wonderful country of ours.

In Russia or in Germany it's BREAD—black bread, and if you don't like it you can lump it. Here it's white bread and rye bread and graham and whole wheat and French and Italian. It's hard rolls and soft rolls and round rolls and long rolls—and if your baker or delicatessen man or grocer doesn't like your or my fastidious tastes—then we go somewhere else and he goes bankrupt.

You know that song "God Bless America," don't you?

NEW STRIKE FEARED

Lewis' Plan Backfires

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis's supposedly shrewd move in signing new contracts with a few small operators has backfired so explosively that he may be forced to call another nationwide strike after New Year's in a last, desperate move to stave off the most crippling reverse in his stormy career.

TUCKER

The terms of his off-the-cuff deals, which were designed to break the solid front of the operators, have so frightened and antagonized them that his new friends in that group have deserted him.

Besides insisting on a $15-a-day wage as against the present $14.05, and a 35-cent-a-ton royalty for the welfare fund in place of the current 20 cents, he has insisted on the provision that his men will work only when they are "willing and able."

WORRIED: That safeguard enables him to call a walkout or declare a three-day work-week without making himself liable to the Taft-Hartley Act. In a moment of weakness, the operators included it in the 1948 contract, but they are formally against renewing that clause for the future.

The new contracts also irritate the miners not covered by the $15-a-day scale. They are working at the old rate, and the disabled are receiving no payments from the frozen welfare fund.

As a result, Mr. Lewis discovers that he has antagonized even the friendly operators, his miners, the politicians, Congress, and, most important of all, the stubborn man in the White House.

His plight has had an effect on his own personality, making him moody, arrogant and worried. At such times he does not show his usual skilfulness and resourcefulness in negotiations.

ONUS: Mr. Lewis does not want to order another strike because he does not care to challenge the Taft-Hartley Act again, remembering the heavy fines recently levied against himself and his union. But the unexpected turn of events may force him to defy the government again.

The three-day work-week, for one thing, is producing coal at the rate of nine-million tons a week. Together with supplies on hand, current output means that industry, the railroads and residential consumers can get through the winter without hardship. Therefore, prospects for a Lewis victory are slim.

Thus his only out may be to throw the onus for his defeat on the Truman administration. If he can cause a January-February crisis of coal supplies, the President might have to invoke the statute against him. Then John L. will be in a position to say that he would have won, if it had not been for the politicians.

INSULTED: The oddest feature of the new situation is that President Truman is extremely reluctant to resort to the law which he has denounced so roundly, and which he wants repealed. It would furnish Capitol Hill opponents with an argument for retaining it on the books.

Mr. Truman had planned to invoke the statute about six weeks ago, after the futile Winchester, Va., conference attended by Mr. Lewis, Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching and two key operators' representatives.

It was at this session that Mr. Lewis insulted the two men who had always shown sympathy with him in past controversies. They are George Love, president of the Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal Co., and Harry Moses, head of U. S. Steel's captive mines.

The UMW boss denounced them as "operators' stooges and hirelings." He threatened that "every day you don't sign a new contract, it will cost you more money!"

FIGHT: The amiable Mr. Ching, who had expected that the difficulties would be settled at the Winchester get-together, made an extremely bitter, anti-Lewis report to the White House. The Lewis defiance angered Mr. Truman.

Messrs. Love and Moses reported to their group that the time had come to stage a fight to the finish with the union leader. Whereas in the past they had a counseled compromise and amicable settlements, sometimes in the face of influential operators' opposition, they advised that the only strategy was to "sit tight." They had also been given to understand by Mr. Ching that the next move would be invocation of Taft-Hartley.

Mr. Truman agreed. But other labor politicians, including CIO president Philip Murray, argued against Taft-Hartley action. They warned the President that, if he used the hated law against Lewis, there would never be any chance to obtain its repeal or modification from Congress. Mr. Truman took this advice. Like the operators, he decided to fight it out with his old enemy.

SURRENDER: Thus Mr. Lewis does not yearn for a strike lest he be hit again with the T-H weapon. But he may have to use extreme measures so that he can save himself and embarrass the coal and political operators.

Mr. Truman does not want to invoke the law, hoping he can discredit it by settling the controversy without it. He recognizes the new twist in his enemy's strategy. But empty coal bins and coal cars in the dead of winter may force him to surrender to circumstances.

Believe It Or Not

OF STATING PARTY PRINCIPLES

GOP Head Takes On Tough Job

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: — Very early in his career as chairman of the Republican National committee, Guy G. Gabrielson has taken upon himself a task that has stumped his predecessors and is really the supreme test of a Republican chairman in these times.

STOKES

This is to draft a statement of party principles — this one to be used to try to win the 1950 congressional election. For this job he has designated a group of 15 members of the national committee which is to co-operate with the Republican policy committees of House and Senate, as well as state chairmen and chairwomen, governors and others.

News stories of the chairman's announcement stress the very conservative character of the group he has picked from the national committee. That is correct. But the truth is that any such group of 15 selected from the national committee could be so characterized. Anybody who is familiar with national committee membership recognizes the very conservative stamp of most of them always.

Chief Function Cited

This is because of the function of the committee, which is to organize and raise money to organize, principally the latter. For that reason national committee members, both men and women, traditionally represent the business and financial element almost exclusively, as it is essential that they have contact with that element in their states. They are, colloquially speaking, definitely upper crust. Many of them mix business with politics to their advantage and so achieve a sort of vested interest locally in the party and its affairs from which it is hard to dislodge them.

These are merely plain facts in American politics.

IT is the same with the Democratic National committee, the make-up of which has been much more conservative in recent years than the party's national leadership. The difference is that when a party is in power, as has been the case in recent years with the Democrats, the national committee plays a subordinate role as far as policy goes. The party leader, the President in the White House, defines and makes policy, and personally selects a chairman of the national committee who will carry out his policies. The national committee, of itself, does not have a great deal of influence in shaping policy.

With a party out of power, such as is the Republican, the national committee assumes considerably more importance as the central party organization and exerts more influence in the absence of a single party leader esconced in power in the White House.

All of which prompts the natural deduction that Chairman Gabrielson's success in drafting a statement of principles that will have popular appeal will depend upon how much weight he gives to the advice and counsel of those outside of the national committee, including more progressive party elements, both in Congress and outside of Congress.

Strong Temptation Felt

It is the natural inclination of those on the national committee to express the attitude which is their own instinctively, and which is likewise the view of those upon whom they must rely for campaign contributions. The temptation is particularly strong just now to try to please and appease the latter, since the party treasury is depleted.

While this may help to fill the party coffers, it can be said without fear of contradiction that it will not increase votes. Experience has demonstrated that the philosophy espoused by the membership of the Republican National committee is not sufficiently attractive in these times and chiefly because it does not meet the needs of the times. For it to dictate a statement of principles would be unfair to the party as a whole.

FURTHERMORE, it might be pointed out that while the Democratic party is well-heeled financially just now, it always has had less money to spend on campaigns in its last 16 successful years than have Republicans. That includes the 1948 campaign when, for example, the party was unable to put its best campaigner, Harry Truman, on the radio as often as it wanted, because there was just no money to pay for it. Financing that campaign was a strictly improvised, shoe-string, hand-to-mouth operation.

Winning elections is more than campaign funds. Or, as this reporter once heard Senator Hubert Humphreys (D-Minn.), say to a group of young Democrats to whom he was emphasizing the necessity of a program and of door-to-door canvasses to sell it and get out the vote on election day:

"After all, you don't put dollar bills in ballot boxes. All they count there is ballots."

HST Urged To Stabilize U.S. Economy

Changes In Tax Setup Advisable

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Holding out an olive branch to business, President Truman's council of economic advisers tonight called for greater stability in federal economic policies—notably on taxes.

In a cautiously worded report to the President, the council repeatedly cited a "need for more stability" in the government actions affecting the nation's economic well-being.

The group took no specific stand on taxes—whether for higher or lower—beyond hinting that some change may be advisable.

Reasonable Stability Needed

His advisory group put it this way:

"While we should aim in the long run for reasonable stability in tax policy, the great changes in the tax structure over the most recent years and the double reversal of economic trends in 1949 may make it necessary to alter the tax structure somewhat before a basis of stability in future years will have been laid."

On the recurrent theme of general stability in government policies, the council declared in its 38-page annual report:

"As government economic policy becomes increasingly consistent, it should also become somewhat more stable . . .

Gradual Change Urged

"Our federal government should strive gradually to modify its habitual practice of carrying almost all of its major policies and programs on a year or a year and a half basis.

"The credit and spending and regulatory and tax policies of the government are so highly conditioning to the whole economy that the degree of stability of these policies affects the degree of stability throughout the whole business world."

Again, the report declared:

"If the government moved gradually toward placing somewhat more of its own activities on a somewhat more stable and longer-range basis, this might add greatly to the stability of the whole economy."

Greater Harmony Stressed

Again and again the report stressed the need for greater harmony between free enterprise and free government.

It spoke of "the drama of adjustment between business and government" and of "an increased appreciation by business that business and government are not enemies but friends." And it went on:

"In the struggle to preserve freedom, the businessman needs government; and government needs the help of businessmen in

Andrews-Odessa Project Urged

A last-minute appeal for the widening of State Highway 51 from Andrews to Odessa was made by a two-county delegation before the State Highway commission in Austin Thursday, the Associated Press reported.

The delegation, from Ector and Andrews counties, was among 11 county groups asking for farm roads to be built jointly by county and state before the law governing such agreements goes out of effect Jan. 1. Under the plan, counties pay 75 per cent of costs and the state pays the remaining 25 per cent and provides maintenance.

No Commitments Made

No actual commitments were made by the highway commission, although it promised to study all requests.

Ector County Judge Raymon Stoker of Odessa led the two-county delegation in asking the widening of the Andrews-Odessa highway. They asked that their request be granted in an effort to relieve the hazardous conditions contributing to 163 traffic accidents and 10 deaths on the highway this year.

Other counties trying to get projects "under the wire" included Falls, Leon, Cass, Zavalla, Frio, Cherokee, Howard, Milam and Orange, the AP report said.

Police said burglars who broke into Willis Drug store, at 404 Ave. H, made off with a sack containing $50 in "change."

Police said they did not believe that a broken window at Alcoholics Anonymous club house, 1502 Main, signified more than the work of mischief-makers.

Standard Oil To Start On Scurry Test

More Wildcats Are Set In Area Fields

Standard Oil Company of Texas is to start drilling at once on an Ellenburger wildcat in northeast Scurry county, 10 miles northeast of the town of Snyder, and three miles northeast of the nearest completed oil wells from the Canyon reef lime on the northeast side of the North Snyder field.

The prospector will be Stanotex No. 1 Goldie West. The drillsite will be in the southwest corner of section 268, block 2, H&TC survey.

It is expected that the venture will drill to around 8,000 feet in order to explore the Ellenburger. Material for the rotary drilling rig is now being moved to the location.

PERMITS SOUGHT FOR NINE NEW SCURRY WELLS

Applications for permit to drill nine new locations in Scurry county have been filed with the Midland office of the Railroad commission of Texas.

Wilshire Oil company plans to drill six new projects within the next seven months in an unproven area on the northwest side of the Kelley field.

Wilshire Oil No. 2 Lunsford is to be 1,817 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of section 253, block 97, H&TC survey, six miles northwest of Snyder. Drilling will start March 6, 1950, on the rotary operation, which has a contracted depth of 7,000 feet.

The other five operations will be in the same section as the No. 2 Lunsford, and have the contracted depth of 7,000 feet.

The locations are:

Wilshire No. 3 Lunsford will be 3,167 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of the south half of section 253. Drilling will begin April 15, 1950.

No. 4 Lunsford is to be 3,167 feet from west and 2,130 feet from south lines of the south half of section 253. Drilling will begin May 5, 1950.

No. 5 Lunsford will be 1,828 feet from west and 2,130.6 feet from south lines of section 253. Drilling will begin July 4, 1950.

No. 6 Lunsford will be 467 feet from west and 2,308.7 feet from south lines of section 253. Drilling is to begin Aug. 14, 1950.

No. 7 Lunsford is to be 1,387.9 feet from north and 1,488 feet from west lines of section 253. Drilling will begin September 24, 1950.

TERRY WILDCAT TO TEST FUSSELMAN ZONE

Tide Water Associated Oil company, and others, No. 1 Nystel, Southeast Terry county deep wildcat, 14 miles southeast of Brownfield, and four miles east of the shallow Adair-San Andres field, bottomed at 12,094 feet in the Ellenburger, and will plug back to approximately 11,715 feet in the Silurian and run casing and test the Fusselman zone of the Silurian, which showed considerable free oil in the section between 11,469 feet and 11,595 feet.

The Ellenburger had only water. The last drillstem test in that horizon was at 12,000-094 feet. The tester was open one hour and 45 minutes.

Recovery was the 1,115-foot water blanket, 94 feet of drilling mud, cut with sulphur water, and 280 feet of clear sulphur water.

Revised top of the Ellenburger has been placed at 11,905 feet. Elevation is 3,171 feet.

Operators plan to set 5½-inch casing at 11,715 feet, and then perforate it between 11,500-600 feet, for the first testing in the Fusselman.

If that zone fails to develop commercial oil and gas production the project probably will be plugged back further to test the Pennsylvanian between 9,350 feet and 9,400 feet, where an oil flow was developed on a drillstem test. The pay zone there is extra thin and the water comes near the top of the oil zone.

The wildcat is located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey.

Amerada Petroleum corporation, Cities Service Oil company and The Texas company are interested in the exploration, and are contributing to it.

RESULTS OF TEST ON WILDCAT DISAPPOINTING

Showings for oil and gas production so far developed from the Canyon reef at Ted Weiner, and others, No. 1 Moore Creek Baptist church, central-west Scurry county wildcat, eight miles west of Snyder, and seven-eighths of a mile northwest of the nearest

School Additions Planned Here

Two Lubbock architectural firms have been instructed to proceed with plans and specifications for two new additions to Lubbock's school plant, A. C. Jackson, public schools business manager, said Thursday afternoon.

A four- or six-classroom addition will be made to Roscoe Wilson school at 2801 Twenty-fifth. Haynes and Kirby were named as architects at a special meeting of the school board in Hilton hotel at noon Wednesday.

Negro School Planned

The wing will be added to the south of the building, according to present plans.

Butler-Brasher company was named to draw plans for an eight- to 12-room elementary school in the negro section. The new school will adjoin the present Dunbar school property if land can be obtained at a suitable price.

Board members attending the special meeting were Clyde G. Tatum, president, G. C. Dowell, W. H. Evans, O. A. Woody, Ruel C. Martin and Don L. Jones. Dr. M. M Ewing, the seventh board member, was unable to attend

Fight Seen In Move For Quota Changes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. (Special)—Senator Tom Connally said today that it now looks as if Congress will have to amend the present cotton allotment act to bring relief to cotton farmers "if the Department of Agriculture does not back up on its present stand" regarding the act's interpretation.

Connally, just back from Texas where he was confronted with angry farmers wanting credit for their war crops and desiring additional cotton acreage allotments, was asked if he thought the department had any intention of backtracking on its present stand.

The department has consistently maintained that Texas must have applied to it the California formula which takes Texas outside of the act's provisions relating to war crops.

Connally said: "I don't think the department will back up. And we may have a problem on our hands getting the act amended."

SANTA NO TREAT

NEW YORK, (U.P.)—New Yorkers don't even get excited when Santa Claus is in their midst. On a Brooklyn-bound subway train an off duty department store Santa Claus in full regalia swayed back and forth with the rest of the straphangers and nobody even looked up from his evening newspaper to give him more than a glance.

REPORTED FIANCEE OF KING FAROUK—This is Miss Norriman Sadek, 16-year-old daughter of an Egyptian civil servant and the reported financee of Egypt's King Farouk. The New York Post said that the king, despite the opposition of the royal family, plans to marry her on Feb. 11, his 30th birthday. The Egyptian embassy in Washington denied that King Farouk had split up the romance of Miss Sadek and Zaki Hachian, 27-year-old Harvard-educated economic expert of the Egyptian UN delegation. Roosevelt Made Greatest Impact On U. S., Plains Residents Say

By CLIFF BLACKBURN
Avalanche Staff Writer

Franklin Delano Roosevelt made the greatest impact on the lives of the persons living in the first half of the twentieth century, or at least as far as Lubbockites are concerned, a survey here has shown.

For the last two weeks staff members of The Avalanche-Journal have conducted a survey in Lubbock by means of telephone and personal interviews to see which ten personalities in the world have affected more people in the last 50 years.

Adolf Hitler was a good second place winner, proving that those interviewed took seriously the comment that the impact made by the personalities could be for either good or evil.

Winston Churchill barely edged Joe Stalin out of the third place spot, moving the Russian leader down to the number four post.

The other ten selected by the residents of the city for their prominence in world affairs thus far in the century were:

5. Woodrow Wilson
6. Thomas A. Edison
7. Mussolini
8. Mahatma Gandhi
9. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower
10. Albert Einstein

Personalities gaining votes, but not enough to include them within the ranks of the top ten, were Nikolai Lenin and Karl Marx, Communism's early luminaries; Henry Ford, Guglielmo Marconi, the Wright brothers, inventors; Dr. Alexander Fleming and Madame Curie, scientists; master thinkers Dr. Oppenheimer and Sigmund Freud; national heroes Will Rogers and Charles Lindbergh;

Soldiers and military leaders Marshal Tito, Chiang Kai Shek, Gen. J. Pershing, Kaiser Wilhelm and Gen. George Patton; famous women Sister Kenny, Mary Baker Eddy and Eleanor Roosevelt; religious personalities Jesus Christ

Pan-Tech Is Discussed

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Five members of the Pan-Tech farm staff visited the Texas Tech campus Thursday for consultation with Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel.

The group reported to Dean Stangel that equipment for a laboratory to be set up at the farm is expected to arrive soon, enabling the staff to analyze material without sending them elsewhere. The farm is located near Amarillo on the site of the former Pan-Tex ordinance plant.

Party Members Named

Included among those making the trip to Lubbock were J. P. Smith, manager of the farm; L. A. Maddox, animal husbandryman; Dr. H. R. Crookshank, animal nutritionist with the bureau of animal industry of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, stationed at Pan-Tech; Dr. M. R. Callihan, associate veterinarian for Texas A. and M. college, stationed at Pan-Tech; and Dr. Rado J. Kinzwieber, head of the farm's weed control division.

The laboratory to be set up on the farm is expected to facilitate current experiments into animal poisoning, especially that regarding poisoning of cattle grazing on wheat pasture. In the past, all materials to be analyzed have been sent to Texas A. and M. or the USDA station in Beltsville, Md., for study.

Progress Report Expected

A progress report on the feed poisoning project itself is expected to be ready within a few days on that part of the experiment finished up to the present feeding period. More than 400 ewe lambs have been added to the farm for additional studies along the same line, but no results have been tabulated on that portion of the project as yet, the group told Stangel.

The cattle portion of the research is being conducted with 105 head of cattle, all grazing on wheat, with varying types of mineral supplements. Aim of the experiment is to determine the cause and the cure or preventative of wheat poisoning in cattle.

Aiding in the research is blood taken from cattle which have contracted the poisoning. As a service to the cattlemen in the area, the farm treats cattle stricken with the poisoning in return for blood samples which are used in trying to track down the cause and symptoms of the disease.

Other Experiment Noted

Also being conducted on the 16,000 acre farm is an experiment into methods of killing bindweed. Directed by Dr. Kinzwieber, the research will move into its second stages early this spring, following initial experiments on six patches of the weed on a 10-acre plot of ground last fall.

Solutions attempted in the control of the pest so far have included 2-4D, acid, salt, and four different soil stirilants. No con-

New Rash Of Wildcats Scheduled For Near Future In Area Fields

completed producer from the reef lime, were disappointing.

The prospector was bottomed at 6,910 feet in the reef, at last report, and was circulating while waiting on orders. At that depth operators figured the project is only a short distance above the water level in the reef.

Located 208,335 feet from north and west lines of section 246, block 97, H&TC survey, this exploration topped the Canyon reef at 6,830 feet, to give it a datum of minus 4,388 feet on that marker.

It drilled to 6,910 feet and then took a one hour and 50 minute drillstem test at 6,834-6,910 feet. There were a few weak bubbles of air at the surface at the start of the test. The air gradually increased to a good blow and continued in that volume until the end of the test.

Recovery was 90 feet of gas cut drilling mud, 90 feet of slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud and 30 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from zero to 150 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 20 minutes built up to 700 pounds.

There is a possibility that the venture will be drilled on down to the Canyon water—and there is also a probability that arrangements may be made to carry it down to the Ellenburger.

There is no official confirmation of either of those surmises.

SKELLY PLANS NEW KELLEY EXPLORATION

Skelly Oil company has one exploration planned for the Kelley field. Their No. 1 Jake W. Smith is to be 467 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of 157.5 acre lease in section 15, block 1, J. P. Smith survey, three miles northwest of Snyder. Contracted depth is 7,200 feet.

Sun Oil company No. 2 G. D. Boyles will be 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeastern quarter of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey. That location is in the Diamond M field, nine miles west of Snyder. Contracted depth is 6,900 feet.

James L. Woods, of New Orleans, No. 1 M. M. Maule is planned as a possible addition to the North Snyder field. Location is 330 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of southeast quarter of section 451, block 97, H&TC survey. That is 10 miles northwest of Snyder. Drilling is to begin Feb. 15, on the planned 7,000 foot rotary operation.

THREE COMPLETIONS ARE REPORTED IN SCURRY FIELDS

Scurry county fields have reported the completion of three more wells.

Lion Oil company has accounted for two of them in the Diamond M-Canyon Lime field, 12 miles west of Snyder. No. 26 McLaughlin flowed 389.81 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil on a 24 hour test. Flow was through a 16/64th-inch choke. No water was developed in the test.

The pay area had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Tubing pressure was 625 pounds, and gas-oil ratio was 742-1.

Pay was topped at 6,677, and total depth was 6,901.5 feet. A 5½-inch oil string was set at 6,-901 feet. Location of the Lion Oil producer is 610 feet from south and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey.

Lion Oil No. 30 McLaughlin flowed through a 16/64th-inch choke on a 24-hour test 522.31 barrels of 44.1 gravity oil.

The pay had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 731-1. Pay was topped at 6,-679 feet, and total depth was 6,-896.5 feet. A 5½-inch oil string was set at 6,896 feet.

Location of the No. 30 McLaughlin is 660 feet from south and 1,-988.61 feet from west lines of section 201, block 97, H&TC survey.

Sun Oil company No. 2 Mae Lemons, et al, in the Kelley field, flowed natural 110.04 barrels of 39 gravity oil on a 24-hour test. A ¼-inch choke was used, and no water was developed.

Tubing pressure was 50 pounds, and gas-oil ratio was 790-1. Pay was topped at 7,643 feet, and total depth was 7,680 feet. A seven-inch oil string was set at 7,667 feet.

Location of the Sun well is 853 feet from south and 1,787 feet from east lines of section 205, block 97, H&TC seurvey.

BORDEN COUNTY WILDCAT ABANDONED AS FAILURE

Don Ameche, and associates, No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, central Borden county wildcat, five miles west of Gail, and 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 30, block 31, TP survey, T-5-N, has been abandoned and is to be plugged as a failure.

This prospector drilled to a total depth of 9,554 feet in the Ellenburger. That formation was entered at 9,524 feet. A drillstem test in that horizon recovered 3,100 feet of sulphur water during one hour.

It plugged back to 8,630 feet and ran one hour test on the Pennsylvanian lime section between 8,550 feet and 8,630 feet. Recovery was 8,050 feet of salt water. There were no shows of petroleum in either section.

This venture was on a checker board spread of 10,800 acres which Ameche and his associates acquired in the Borden county district several weeks ago. They paid $10.00 per acre cash for the leases. Stanolind Oil & Gas company owns alternate quarter sections in the spread of acreage with the Ameche group.

It is understood that Ameche and his associates are obligated to drill another Ellenburger wildcat somewhere on the block during the next few months.

No official information has been released regarding the location of that project, or when it will be started.

FDR Leads Poll

and Pope Pius XII; writers George Bernard Shaw and Will James; politicians John Dewey, Herbert Hoover and Wendell Willkie; labor leader John L. Lewis; gangster Al Capone; financier J. P. Morgan; and ruler Hirohito.

Many Lubbockites cast votes for Jesus Christ, explaining that His presence here on earth in the last 50 years has been just as real as that of any human being.

Named On Most Polls

Most of the people selecting President Roosevelt for the number one spot justified their choice by saying that he lifted the depression-ridden citizens of this country back onto the road to prosperity and because of his major role in fighting the world-wide powers of evil during the last war. Roosevelt was only omitted from five ballots and usually held a high position on the lists of all of those interviewed.

The reasons for selecting Hitler for the second most influential personality of the period was because he typified the dangerous leaders of the "ism" variety and plunged the world into its most dreadful war.

Winston Churchill was named third, voters said, because he was an early prophet of the Nazi menace and because of his leadership during the war.

Connally Tops Texans

Voters were also asked to name the biggest personalities of Texas during the first part of this century. Tom Connally, dean of the United States Senate, was the first place winner by a wide margin. W. Lee O'Daniel, Texas governor and senator for many years, was second choice. John Nance Garner, former vice-president of the United States, was third.

Rep. Sam Rayburn, present speaker of the House, was the number four choice and Jim Ferguson, controversial Texas governor, was number five.

Others nominated by voters were Jesse Jones, Ma Ferguson, Homer Rainey, W. C. Post, Admiral Nimitz, James A. Hogg, George W. Truett and Amon G. Carter.

Those polled in the election included in person and over the phone teachers, students, farmers, housewives, salesmen, oil field workers, carpenters, machinists, store owners, Air Force personnel, policemen, government employes, laborers andd professional men.

Those interviewed by telephone were selected at random from the city phone directory.

The students at Texas Tech in general leaned more toward current political figures such as Roosevelt, Stalin and Hitler, while their professors were more apt to consider men of the past like Wilson and Wilhelm.

The older men and women also seemed to feel that men of the first part of the century had more impact than those of the last 25 years.

Male interviewees were more forward and definite with opinions than were the women.

SELLING HALTS RAIL STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (AP)—Late selling flagged down a fast early advance by railroad stocks today.

Gains among the carriers were either trimmed or, in a few cases, eliminated entirely. Rails started out the day with a surge of power that helped lift the market close to the 1948-49 high.

The balance of the market moved up with the rails but later wavered.

The net result of the day's maneuvers was a clear majority of advances. Gains were small, though.

Turnover was 1,820,000 shares.

Quick profit taking appeared to be the main drag on the railway group.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 71.7, high for the year. All components of the average—industrials, rails and utilities—were also unchanged. A total of 1,178 individual stocks were bought and sold. Of these 556 advanced and 313 declined.

New highs for the year were established during the day by 72 stocks while four touched bottom for 1949.

New York Central took top place in the most active list, gaining ⅜ at 11⅝. Pennsylvania R. R., fourth most active stock, gained ⅛ at 17.

Others ahead by fractions in the rail division included Southern Pacific 50⅝, Frisco common 11⅛ and preferred 43½, Great Northern Preferred 41, Rock Island 40½, St. Paul common 7⅝, and preferred 32⅞.

International business machines shot up 14 points to 232.

Also up were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Schenley, American Telephone, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Pan American Airways, United Air Lines and Johns-Manville.

Superior Oil of California, which recently scored a spectacular rise, dropped 13 to 197.

Consolidated Edison, second most active stock, was a weak spot following an adverse court decision affecting rates. The price was marked down 1⅝ to 27⅜.

Grain

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 29 (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard, 2.38-43.

Oats No. 2 white 95¼-96¼.

Corn No. 2 white 1.62-64, nominal.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.45-50.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Grain futures generally were firm today, with a lot of dipping and bouncing above and below the previous close. Gains or losses were confined to fractions most of the time.

Soybeans were weak early, then advanced a little, then turned downward in scattered selling, and then climbed again.

Buying of grains was influenced by favorable export news in corn and oats. Wheat received some support because of the tight cash situation in the northwest and southwest, and also on reports of unfavorable moisture conditions in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma.

Wheat closed ⅜ to ¾ higher than the previous finish, March $2.17⅜-¾, corn was ⅛ up to ½ down, March $1.31⅜-½, oats were ¾ to 1⅛ higher, March 72½, rye was ½ lower to ½ higher, May $1.41½-⅝, soybeans were up ½ to 1, March $2.29¼-½, and lard was 3 to 12 cents an hundred pounds higher. January $10.60.

CATTLE: Generally steady.

OATS: Firm on export news.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Cotton futures were steady today in quiet trading. Mill and export buying met only limited hedging and profit taking. Some buying was influenced by a prospective tightening in spot cotton supplies next year as more cotton accumulates in the government loan. Traders also felt that current market prices for middling 15/16 inch cotton are 1¾ cents a pound under the likely government selling price for its cotton stocks.

Cotton futures advanced into new high ground for the day as aggressive trade covering of a year-end nature developed in late dealings. All deliveries, except new May, established new season's highs.

Futures closed 25 to 85 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Managers Of Grocery Firm Given Awards

Managers of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico branches of the Waples-Platter grocery wholesale company were presented with buttons of service at a banquet in the Yaqui room of the Hilton Hotel Thursday night.

J. W. Shugart, vice-president and general sales manager, and D. A. Fielder of the Fort Worth office of the company received buttons for 50 years of service.

Fred H. Rea of the Lubbock house was presented a 35-year service button. C. C. Files manager of the Lubbock office, received a 25-year award. He has been with the company for 26 years, but the awards were for periods of five years. Files will complete 25 years in Lubbock on Feb. 6.

The program for the meeting concerns work for the coming year, which company officials look to with optimism. The managers also reviewed work of this year in the meeting which began Thursday morning and will continue today.

The West Texas-Eastern New Mexico district of the company led in sales for the company again this year, it was announced at the meeting.

Shugart is in charge of the meeting and C. C. Braggans, general buyer, and Claude Ferbee, credit manager, of Fort Worth contributed to the program Thursday.

The Thursday afternoon program following the banquet Wednesday night concerned modern food merchandising problems. The men saw a film on food merchandising, having to do both with retail and wholesale selling.

The meeting will continue today, adjourning at 3 p. m. after a noon luncheon.

More than 60 officials of the company are attending the meeting from Amarillo, Clovis, Roswell, Odessa, Abilene, Vernon, Memphis, Lubbock and Fort Worth.

Eire recently had so many motorists charged with traffic offences that Dublin established a special court to deal with them.

the development of practical programs. These are not times for bickering or prejudice."

Major Suggestions Made

Among its major recommendations, the council proposed:

1. The lifting of low-income families to a "far higher standard of living."

2. "More efforts" toward solving the financial problems of small business.

3. Continuation of rent controls and perhaps even "a broader range of restraining measures available in reserve."

4. Government encouragement to steady business expansion toward President Trruman's goal of a $300 billion-a-year national economy "within a few years."

5. Systematic development of uniform federal old-age security as an "immediate" and "urgent" requirement.

6. Gradual efforts to put the government's social security system "more nearly on a 'pay-as-you-go' basis."

7. Joint government-private enterprise efforts to safeguard against a future depression.

Researchers Visit

clusive results have been reported to date, the farm officials said. Cultivation and crop competition methods of trying to control bindweed will be used in future tests, they said. Other weeds will follow.

The Thursday visit was the first to Tech since all the farm staff members, except Smith, became associated with the college in September. Experiments on the farm are being conducted in co-operation with Texas A. and M., and the USDA.

Voters Say Nationalization Of Banks, Industry Unlikely Soon

By GEORGE GALLOP, Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 29.—Government ownership of banks and big industries is envisioned in the next 50 years by approximately one-fourth of the persons questioned in a national opinion survey by the Institute.

A slightly larger number, approximately one-third, look for government ownership of the railroads in the next half century.

Those are the highlights of a mid-century survey on what the public sees ahead in government-industry relations. This question put to a balanced cross-section of adults in the country:

"During the next 50 years do you think the government in Washington will own and run any of the following?"

RAILROADS?

Yes	34%
No	44
No Opinion	20

BANKS?

Yes	28%
No	54
No Opinion	18

BIG INDUSTRIES—LIKE AUTOS, STEEL, ETC?

Yes	24%
No Opinion	18

Quite apart from what it thinks, is likely to happen, the public is uniformly opposed to nationalization. Sentiment on that score has shown little change over the years. In fact, a smaller number of people favor government ownership this year than was the case 13 years ago.

Shown below is the comparison of the vote surveys conducted by the Institute on government ownership of railroads, electric power companies and coal mines — one survey in 1936 and the other in January, 1949.

"Do you think the United States government should own the following things in this country — Railroads? Electric Power Companies? Coal Mines?

RAILROADS?

	Yes	No	Undec.
1936	30%	60%	10%

ELECTRIC POWER COMPANIES

1936	40	52	8

COAL MINES?

1936	27	64	9
1949	25	58	17

Views In Other Countries

In England, where nationalization has been a key policy of the Labor government, public sentiment at first approved the principle as applied to coal and other industries, but the latest sounding of opinion shows strong opposition to nationalizing the British steel industry.

The British Institute of Public Opinion reports 56 per cent against in November, 23 per cent in favor and 21 per cent undecided.

From Australia, the Australian Gallup Poll, which accurately forecast the recent defeat of the Labor party, reports that nationalizing of the banks in Australia caused a sharp drop in the popularity of the government which was turned out of office Dec. 10.

In Canada, the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion reports public sentiment there opposed to nationalizing the banks, the Canadian Pacific Railway, the farm implement industry or the telephone service.

Three Persons Killed In Train, Truck Crash

SANGER, Dec. 29. (U.P.) — The stream-lined passenger train, Texas Chief, struck a pickup truck at a grade crossing within the Sanger city limits today, killing three persons.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Jake Keith, about 60; her daughter, Peggy, about 20, and Burl Taylor, about 30, a relative of the Keith family. All three lived at nearby Pilot Point.

The impact of the northbound Santa Fe train knocked the three out of the truck, scattering their bodies along the right-of-way. The twisted wreckage of the pickup jammed under the front of the locomotive.

The train was delayed more than two hours on its run toward Oklahoma City while workers used acetylene torches to cut the wreckage free.

Dr. J. M. Sullivan identified the bodies of the victims. He said the crash occurred only about 10 minutes after Mrs. Keith, one of his patients, had left his office to return home to Pilot Point.

Sanger is on U. S. Highway 77 in Denton county, about 12 miles north of the city of Denton.

Decrease Reported In Daily U.S. Crude Oil Production

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (AP)—Daily average crude oil and lease condensate production in the United States decreased 4,700 barrels last week, American Petroleum Institute reported today.

The total daily average was 4,995,450 barrels, compared with 5,693,150 a year ago.

Refineries operated at 85 per cent of capacity and ran 5,482,000 of crude oil to stills daily.

U. S. heavy fuel oil production was estimated at 8,046,000 barrels last week, against 8,056,000 the week before and 9,562,000 a year ago.

Light fuel oil production in the latest week was 7,335,000 barrels, 7,263,000 the week before and 7,808,000 a year ago.

Gasoline production in the United States amounted to 18,045,000 barrels, against 18,329,000, the preceding week.

phone for us when we wanted to go to a movie.

"That's right," Janet said, "you need a baby sitter for a doctor's telephone. You'll find yourself rather tied down."

John laughed. "Who'll call?" he asked. "I don't even have an office yet, or a patient, either."

At this point, old Dr. Krentzman, the resident pathologist, spoke up in his ponderous English: "Just you wait," he said thoughtfully, "you'll have them both, office and patients alike. They'll come, and soon you'll work and work all the time and life will never be like this again," he waved his glass about the room.

THE next morning, of course, we overslept, but soon after we did awaken we were heading for Longview Road.

As we neared our destination, I could see that we were in a middling part of town. Not that King Midas had any relatives there, but a careful appraisal assured me that this wasn't Tobacco Road, either.

The apartment houses on either side, were high and well kept, and the children crowding the streets were noisy and messed, but not in rags. No. 42, the house on the corner, was only one block and a half from the subway station, and a cross-town bus stopped at the far east side. With quick sighs of relief, we both checked off "location" and stopped still in front of the building.

It was red brick and ugly, like a homely, freckled face, but it was also neat.

We both noticed the black and white sign, in the street entrance of the ground floor apartment, which said: "Four room apartment for rent: Inquire Superintendent in rear."

John obediently set off for the rear, while I waited impatiently up front. Restlessly, I tried the street door, and to my surprise, it opened. The invitation was too pointed to ignore.

There was a short entrance hall leading ahead into a medium-sized foyer about six feet wide and 12 feet long. On the right of the foyer were two doors leading into two large rooms. In the center of the foyer's back wall, there was the opening for the unusually-large kitchen, while to the far left was a little hall with a bedroom and bath off of it. The entire apartment was immaculately clean.

So engrossed was I in examining the place, that I never even noticed John's entrance with the superintendent's wife, until a voice behind me asked, "Like it?"

I JUMPED and turned around. "Darling," I nearly hugged him in my excitement. "Isn't it wonderful? Isn't it perfect? Can't you just see us living here, John?"

The superintendent's wife, who until then had seemed bored with the routine of showing a vacancy, smiled.

"Newlyweds?" she asked, more as if stating a fact.

I grinned back at her. "Doesn't it show like a rash, Mrs—"

"Lang," the superintendent's wife replied. She was a heavy-set woman, but with a surprisingly young-looking face, and kind, bright blue eyes. As we stood laughing at each other, I felt that I had made a new friend.

"Oh yes," she said merrily, "when you're married over 20 years like me, you can always spot it when it's brand new."

"A whole month," I told her, "next week."

"Tell you what," Freda said, when she heard how we had looked and looked for a place to live, "this is a good apartment for a doctor. Feller here before, Dr. Trent, do you know him?" We shook our heads, no. "Well, anyway, he did fine here. Had to move just because they were having twins. They were newlyweds also when they moved in, but a lot older than you two."

We opened closets and looked in cabinets and even Freda joined in the fun of planning the layout.

John looked sober. "Darling," he said, groping for words, "I wish I could give you a better start, and not have to crowd into a place like this for home and office both. Do you mind very much?"

"Never will," I answered, equally serious. "Of course, I think there's something wrong with a civilization that makes you put the best years of your life into hard work and leaves you free to enjoy it only when you're too old to learn how or care. But you didn't start the custom. As for this," I pointed to the street, "I know it's not exactly beautiful with all the clamor and congestion, but that's supposed to be good for a young doctor starting out, isn't it? And we have our own private street entrance, so we can feel apart from the other tenants, as if we had a separate home of our own. And think of what we can tell our grandchildren some day: from rags to riches in two easy lessons."

Suddenly I stopped short. "For Heaven's sake," I remembered. "My mother said not to seem overanxious or they'd quote the highest price. Have we spilled the beans!"

John laughed. "Two big financiers," he said, "that's us."

Mexico Determined To Boost Economy With Or Without Aid

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 29. (AP)—Meixco is going to paddle her own canoe.

She expects some loans from Uncle Sam and she will use all she can get but Mexican leaders now are out to build a better Mexico with or without help.

Her peso is low, her people are poor and she needs more industries.

To help the peso which fell in a year from 4.85 to 8.65 to the dollar, the government and businessmen promise to reduce imports, make more goods, keep down living costs and fan the flames of patriotism.

More Food Grown

Mexico is growing more food. Five years ago she imported yearly 400,000 tons of corn to make tortillas. This year she has just enough of her own. She buys abroad some wheat but she exports tremendous crops of vegetables and cotton with which she just manages, nowadays, to sell about as much as she buys. Five sixths of her foreign buying and selling is with Uncle Sam.

Oil yet may put Mexico solidly on her feet. The old year goes out with the Pemex oil monopoly producing 229,300 barrels daily and with new wells being drilled by private United States capitol on a sharing basis for producing wells, and nothing for dry holes. Mexico takes most joy in the first well that is pulling oil from under the Gulf of Mexico. She thinks there is a big field there as well as in several land areas.

Living Costs High

Living costs, very low for people with dollars, are high for Mexicans, three times 1939 figures, but wages also are up. Government subsidies for bread, and control of other basic needs, is holding down costs.

With exports and imports about balanced, Mexico has a net income from nearly a thousand tourists a day, spending dollars. That means they leave $100 million or so here while Mexicans about a fourth of that in the United States.

Part of that goes to pay interest on dollar debts and for the oil properties exproviated in 1938. But Secretary of the Treasury Ramon Beteta has said repeatedly that Mexico's dollar reserve is growing from the dangerously low $114 million she had when the peso was fixed at its present 8.65 where it has been steady for half a year.

Threat Of Radio, TV Strike Averted For At Least Month

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—The threat of a radio and television strike against four major networks at midnight Saturday was averted today for at least a month.

Frederick H. Bullen, executive secretary of the State Board of Mediation announced that the networks and the AFL radio and television directors guild had agreed to continue negotiations and program operations until Jan. 31.

Bees, Flowers Set 60 Million Year Record Of Co-Operation

PALO ALTO, Calif., Dec. 29. (AP)—You know, of course, about the bees and the flowers.

But did you know that they have been trying their darndest to be true to each other for the last 60 million years, and they have succeeded pretty well?

Dr. Verne Grant, Carnegie institution plant geneticist, told about it today in a paper for delivery before the Western Society of Naturalists.

Flowers have changed their shapes, colors, the pattern of their petals and the number of their stamens or pollen tubes just to accommodate th bees, Dr. Grant said.

And bees have "flower constancy," Dr. Grant added. This is an instinct to visit the flowers of a particular plant as long as they will yield pollen or nector.
