Big Caroline Island Base Hit Monday

Ponape Only 410 Miles From Jap Bastion At Truk

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

Far-flying American bombers, blazing a trail into the heart of Japan's island outposts, have broadened operations against enemy bases athwart the strongly-guarded approaches to the Philippines and the Japanese mainland.

In one raid aimed at Kavieng, New Ireland, Allied fliers continued the systematic reduction of Japanese positions in the Bismarck archipelago, southwestern sentry for war-won Nipponese territory in the Pacific.

But the first aerial assault on Ponape announced yesterday marked a significant extension of American bombing missions into the mandated Caroline islands between the Marshalls and the Philippines.

2,000-Mile Roundtrip

Big Liberators probably flew a 200-mile roundtrip from new American fields in the Gilberts last Monday to smash at the largest of the Carolines, only 410 miles east of the Japanese naval stronghold at Truk.

The Japanese sent up no fighter planes to oppose the pounding of their important administrative center, and the Navy communique made no mention of anti-aircraft fire at Ponape.

Continuing the Central Pacific offensive, Army and Navy bombers hit two enemy-held atolls in the Marshalls Monday and Tuesday.

Allied planes met intense ack-ack bursts in a low-level sweep over Kavieng Tuesday. Eight of the raiders were shot down, but 15 crew members were rescued through the heroic efforts of Lt. (jg) Nathan G. Gordon, Morrilton, Ark., who landed his flying boat in the teeth of enemy shore fire to pick up the men.

General MacArthur's communique reported that the town of Kavieng was left a "mass of flames and smoke" by the 65-ton bombing which also destroyed a 3,000 ton enemy cargo ship, three

NAVY GETS HITLER—German-born William Patrick Hitler, above, 32-year-old nephew of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, was inducted into the U. S. Navy at New York and soon will go on active service against the forces of his uncle. William Hitler's father, Alois, was a half-brother of the Nazi leader.

Farmers' Draft Plan Tightened

Easing Of Dads' Calls Uncertain

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said today that between 60,000 and 70,000 fathers were drafted in January and that a new program for tightening up agricultural deferments now held by 1,700,000 men of military age had the "primary" purpose of putting men where they are "most valuable."

The farm checkup might ease the father draft, but this is uncertain, Hershey said at a news conference. He did not know whether there would be many registrants available from the farm group.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson meanwhile told a news conference that the Army is approaching its maximum strength and the induction of men for limited military service is being reduced. The chief need now is for combat replacements, he said, adding that partially disabled veterans henceforth will be given limited service assignments.

Placed Where Needed

Hershey said selective service's "primary interest" in the farm group was to see that they were placed where most valuable—and "in seeing that everyone stays on a farm" if that is where they are of most valuable.

The number of fathers drafted in January compared with about 45,000 in December, making father induction since Oct. 1 between 160,000 and 170,000.

Hershey estimated that 1,500,000 men were in class 1-A as of Feb. 1; 2,700,000 in classes 3-A which contained almost 7,000,000 last September; 3,200,000 in classes

Ouster Of Two Officials Urged

AUSTIN, Feb. 17. (AP)—The legislative audit committee today in a forma lreport recommended that two division heads of the State Department of Education be "removed or replaced."

The report, unanimously approved, suggested removal of John Olsen, school census director and T. P. Walker, auditor of the department of education, on grounds that the committee had found "improper practices of financial administration," the keeping of "improper records," and "general incompetency."

The legislative audit committee, head by Lt Gov. John Lee Smith, has been studying recommendations of state auditor and efficiency expert C. H. Cavness this week following his preliminary audit of the department of education.

Both Men Appeared

Both Olsen and Walker appeared before the committee.

The joint audit committee, created by statute passed by the 48th legislature, looked principally into matters relating to collection of fees for checking the supplementary census rolls, which the attorney general has held to be illegal and which was discontinued immediately.

Olsen and Walker told the committee that they had worked under the belief that the method of collecting, disbursing and administering these fees was legal, and that operations under it were stopped when the attorney general wrote his opinion that they were not.

Walker told the commtitee that

Subsidy Repeal Bill To FDR

Veto Of Measure Believed Certain

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Congress will toss the anti-subsidy bill to the White House today, and then wait for it to bounce back.

Administration leaders said President Roosevelt is certain to veto this legislation which strikes at what he considers the heart of his wartime economic stabilization program. And they voiced confidence that the veto will be sustained.

On the other hand, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), anti-subsidy leaders in the Senate and House, respectively, said they believed they had a good chance of overriding a veto.

CCC's Life Involved

Involved in the fight over subsidies is the life of the Commodity Credit corporation, a government agency supporting farm prices, which expires at midnight tonight. Steps were being taken on capitol hill, however, to preserve this agency, irrespective of the outcome of the subsidy fight.

The subsidy repealer was expected to be routed to the White House today when the House approves the final form of the legislation drawn yesterday by a Senate-House conference committee. The Senate approved the conference action yesterday.

The bill permits the administration's consumer subsidy program to continue only until June 30, and directs federal agencies to adjust milk prices upward to offset production cost increases since January 1, 1941, meaning that milk prices probably will rise 1 to 2 cents a quart to consumers.

Borrowing Extension Killed

Conferees struck out a Senate provision giving the CCC $250,000,000 more borrowing authority to carry out its crop loans, price support and other transactions.

The CCC, which now has borrowed power up to $3,000,000,000, meanwhile prepared to carry on regardless of its impending lapse as an agent of the government.

CCC officials said that inasmuch

New Cancer Research Center Is Dedicated

HOUSTON, Feb. 17. (U.P.)—Hailed as the beginning of a great program of health education and medical research for the entire state of Texas, the million-dollar M. D. Anderson hospital for cancer research was dedicated here today.

Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the University of Texas, said the Anderson hospital was the mere beginning of a great medical center visualized for development here.

The medical center, in turn, he said, was "a part of a much larger projected program of health education for the entire state."

The dedication ceremony was attended by leading state officials, including Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, and medical authorities from all over the nation, including some of the foremost cancer specialists.

The Anderson hospital, to be controlled by the university, will be housed in "The Oaks," a three-story residence made available by the M. D. Anderson foundation. The foundation also matched a legislative appropriation of $500,000 to launch the new hospital with a one-million dollar fund.

When the war ends and building materials are available, a new building for the hospital will be erected on a site near Rice institute.

Delinquency Blamed On Movies And Radio

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (U.P.)—Sen. Charles O. Andrews, (D.-Fla.,) who became acquainted with problems of juvenile delinquency while a criminal court judge, today denounced "Pistol Pete" movies and radio programs.

"As soon as children are big enough to understand, they hear these 'thriller' stories over the radio and see these rootin', shootin' cowboy movies," he said. "Then a boy begins to think he won't amount to anything unless he becomes a two-gun Pete. And when he decides to become a two-gun Pete he usually is on the road to juvenile delinquency."

He said Florida authoriites apprehend many of these would-be Pistol Petes as they migrate from one state to another. Florida, he said, seems to be a favorite destination for these children. And 100 of them are now being held by the state.

Andrews had introduced a bill to combat such migration by juveniles. It empowers federal agencies having access to social security funds to detain them and return them to their parents.

Lubbock Man One Of 15 Fliers Picked Up From Pacific In Most Spectacular Rescue By Plane

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Gen. Douglas MacArthur gave official recognition today in his Southwest Pacific communique to the daring feat of a Navy Catalina plane which landed under the very muzzles of Japanese shore batteries at Kavieng, New Ireland, to pick up downed American fliers. Here is the gripping story of that exploit.)

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
Associated Press War Writer

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 17 — The Navy Catalina, "Arkansas Traveler," weathered stiff fire from shore batteries of the Japanese at Kavieng, New Ireland, Tuesday—also 15-foot swells on the water that burst some of her rivets—to make the most spectacular rescue of downed American airmen of the Southwest Pacific war.

LUBBOCK MAN INCLUDED

A partial list of those who were rescued in the daring foray described here included Lt. Melvin Best, of Lubbock, the Associated Press reported.

Members of that crew, led by

BEST

Lt. (Jg) Nathan G. Gordon, 27, of Morrilton, Ark., a former end on the University of Arkansas football team, told today of rescuing 15 fliers. That entailed making four landings in the face of shore gunfire.

The rescues came during the height of a massive air strike by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Mitchells on Kavieng Tuesday before noon. Bombs still were falling on the flaming townsite as the Catalina made the hazardous landings. Several of the rescued Americans had been injured seriously.

Six Men Sighted On Raft

Six men were sighted on a life raft two miles off shore. Gordon and his crew circled for the dangerous landing in 15-foot swells.

When the "Arkansas Traveler," a pig painted on her sides, hit the surface some of her rivets broke and she began to take water. The plane taxied to the raft which contained several injured men. Life preservers on lines were tossed to them.

"We had to hurt a few of the injured to get them aboard," Gordon said in an apologetic tone.

After being 20 minutes under fire of shore batteries, the Catalina took off while billowing smoke from badly hit Kavieng was swept before a stiff wind.

Then a Mitchell pilot radioed that another crew was spotted on

Shipments To Britain Curbed

Capital Goods Are Virtually Banned

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Virtual elimination of capital goods shipments to Britain under lend-lease is understood to have been agreed upon by British and American supply officials here. The decision is one of numerous adjustments being made to keep lend-lease exports closely geared to military needs.

For several months the quantity of machinery going to Britain has been decreasing steadily, largely because British plants now have about all they need except for occasional replacements.

The approaching climax of the war in Europe has brought a tightening up of the policy of limiting all lend-lease supplies to those needed primarily for war purposes. Lend-lease officials apparently are determined not to leave themselves open to congressional criticims that they have supplied other countries equipment having more use in the post war period than in the months remaining to victory.

This is understood to be in keeping with a view President Roosevelt has expressed to some of his aides that there must be a clean break between expenditures under lend-lease and those designed to help other nations reconstruct their industries once the war is won. Beginning on the day of victory or as soon afterward as possible lend-lease shipments will stop and capital goods exports will be made on either a cash or credit basis.

Efforts already are being made to return exports to regular commercial channels where possible.

So far as could be learned there have been no major changes in lend-lease shipments to Russia except that the proportion of railway equipment has increased considerably in recent weeks. The Russians urgently need track materials and rolling stock to replace that stolen by the Germans in their retreat back into Poland and the Balkans.

Reshuffling Due In Argentine Regime

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—President Pedro Ramirez was reported today to have scheduled a conference with Gen. Arturo Rawson, his co-leader in last June's revolution, and informed sources said they might reshuffle the entire cabinet, call elections and return Argentina to constitutional government.

Ramirez staved off a cabinet crisis temporarily yesterday by accepting the resignations of four leaders of his revolutionary regime.

Two of them—Gen. Alberto Gilbert, foreign minister, and Col. Enrique P. Gonzalez, secretary to the presidency—were forced out at the insistence of a group of younger officers of the army because they had attempted to force a declaration of war against the Axis.

Rawson served as president for three days following the revolution of last June 4 in which the so-called "colonel's group" of the army overthrew the government of President Ramon Castillo. Ramirez took Rawson's place when the latter was unable to form a government.

Apostolic Delegate Relays Papal Message

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—The Apostolic delegate to the United States, the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognanai, today stated on behalf of the Vatican, that the papal villa at Castelgandolfo, Italy, could not be considered a military target.

The delegate issued this statement:

"His eminence, Cardinal Maglione, secretary of state of his holiness, Pope Pius XII, has instructed me to state that the recent report appearing in the press and credited to the Allied high command, to the effect that the actual territory of the papal villa at Castelgandolfo is 'saturated with Germans and therefore subject to bombing,' is not true.

"His eminence declares that no German soldier has been admitted within the borders of the neutral pontifical villa and that no German military whatsoever are within it at present.

Motion To Dismiss Paternity Suit Fails

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17. (U.P.)—A sudden legal move to dismiss the paternity suit of red-haired Joan Barry against Charlie Chaplin failed today.

Superior Judge William S. Baird denied permission to Chaplin's attorney, Loyd C. Wright, to enter a motion immediately to dismiss the suit on the basis of a stipulation he said had been signed last night by Miss Barry's lawyer.

Her attorney, Jack Irwin, was not present in court, and Judge Baird instructed Wright to follow the regular procedure in seeking dismissal — a procedure usually taking about five days.

New Halifax Bomber Being Used By RAF

LONDON, Feb. 17. (U.P.)—The Royal Air force has used a new bomber—the Halifax Mark 3, an improved version of earlier Halifaxes—in recent raids on Berlin, it was disclosed today.

The Mark 3 travels farther, faster and higher than earlier models, carrying bigger bomb loads. It uses Bristol-Hercules 1,650-horsepower engines instead of Rolls Royce motors and carries nine 303 caliber guns.

Actual performance of the new bomber is secret, but earlier Halifaxes had a speed of 300 miles an hour, a range of 3,000 miles and carried a bomb load of about five and a half tons.

Strong Attack Lashing Narva

Warships Pound Estonian City

(By The Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 17—Russian parachutists have landed behind the German lines at Narva and Russian naval vessels in the Gulf of Finland are pounding the defenses of the ancient Estonian city as Soviet forces press in from the east, Helsinki dispatches said today.

The dispatches said the parachute landings were made in the vicinity of Vaivara, which is about 15 miles west of Narva on the road to Reval, Estonian capital.

German troops were reported still fighting from positions on the east bank of the Narova river, which flows through Narva into the Gulf of Finland, but the Russians were said to have encircled them.

The Russian bridgehead south of Narva is still intact, the Helsinki advices said, but is difficult to supply due to weak ice covering the Narova river.

FDR Will Veto Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—President Roosevelt was reported authoritatively today to have informed congressional leaders that he plans to veto the new $2,315,000,000 tax bill because it fails to produce sufficient additional revenue.

The President's reputed decision came as somewhat of a surprise to administration lieutenants, who urged him earlier in the week to sign the measure, contending that Congress was unlikely to pass any other revenue-raising bill this year.

Additional Income

As it finally went to the President's desk, the measure was geared to extract about $664,900,000 additional in individual income taxes, add $502,100,000 to corporation tax bills and collect $1,051,300,000 more in excise levies.

However, the measure was far short of the $10,500,000,00 additional revenue originally requested by the Treasury.

Recently Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee, called for at least $16,000,000,000 additional taxes and the President told a press-radio conference that he and Mr. Willkie were both looking toward the welfare of future generations in asking for higher tax payments now. The President added, with a smile, that he had not had the nerve to ask Congress for as much as Mr. Willkie suggested.

Mrs. G. B. Shaw's Will Draws Articulate Barrage From Irish

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—The Irish were articulate today, and the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw was responsible.

Stung by the report that the will would set up a $400,000 fund to teach people of her native land "self-control, elocution, deportment and the arts of personal contact and social intercourse," they made these comments:

In New York—

Charles F. Connolly, editor of the Irish Echo: "It was the Irish themselves that taught the English manners and Christianity when the English were savages. Why, when the Irish were civilizing the world, the English were barbarians. Sure, the English were so steeped in denseness they would kiss the clay on an Irish boot, and I've history to prove that."

Two Different Wills

The Rev. Joseph J. Lynch, Fordham university seismologist: "The Irish have always paid strict attention to the will of God, but they're not apt to pay much attention to the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw."

John McCaffery, fiction editor, American Magazine: "Any person

Movie Actor, Former Texan Proves Investment Was Good

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17 (AP)—This is a different kind of Hollywood story, and contains nothing of sex or sensationalism.

It's about a youth who came here from Austin, Tex., with a terrific yearning to be an actor, and of two older men who thought the kid had something and who gambled their cash, quite a lot of it, on their judgment.

Six-foot curly-haired Dana Andrews, who gets star billing in the movies these days, borrowed more than $7,000 from these men, paid them back over $20,000, finishing up yesterday, and figures all hands got a good break on the deal.

Worked In Filling Station

Andrews came here with plenty of ambition and not much else. He got a job as handyman in a Van Nuys filling station operated by Stanley Twoney and John Wardlaw, but found little inspiration in his chores about the grease racks and gasoline pumps.

"Look," said Twomey one day. "I doubt if you'll ever contribute much to the service station industry. What say we pay you $50 a week to stay out of the station,

Allies At Anzio Holding Against Fierce Attacks

Germans Strike After Strong Artillery Barrage; Aerial Fighting Increases In Violence; Rail Yards At Rome Blasted

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, Feb. 17.—A fierce battle has broken the lull on the beachhead south of Rome with the Germans launching heavy attacks in the northern sector, but all evidence today indicated the Allied forces were holding against continuing enemy thrusts.

An announcement at headquarters said the Germans struck yesterday morning after a heavy artillery preparation. Both sides threw tanks into the heavy fighting.

The Americans and British were said to be grimly holding to their positions in the face of tremendous pressure.

It was the second all-out German attempt to smash the Allied beachhead. The enemy was said to be throwing his full strength of infantry, tanks and artillery into the struggle which was hourly increasing in violence.

Air Fighting Heavy

Enemy aircraft swung into the battle in unusual force, some 130 sorties attacking objectives in the battle zone. But the Allied air forces met the air attack, blow for blow, shooting down nine of the attackers and blasting targets in the fighting area.

The beachhead fighting far eclipsed that in strategic Cassino where, however, American forces still were bitterly contesting the Nazi strangle hold house by house. RAF and Australian Kittyhawks again bombed the ruins of the Monte Cassino monastery. American planes hit German positions elsewhere on Abbey hill.

In a day of extensive and wide-ranging air activity, Allied bombers, large and small, and fighters flew approximately 1,200 sorties. The enemy railway yards in Rome were hit for the second straight day and heavy and medium bombers attacked communications at many points north of the Italian capital. Four Allied planes were lost.

Concentrated Nazi Barrage

After the long and concentrated German artillery barrage yesterday morning, the first enemy shock troops struck in the first phases of the new beachhead attack with tanks in support. The Allied armor immediately went into action against them.

The Germans kept coming in wave after wave throughout yesterday and last night.

The enemy attack came in the Carroceto (Aprilia) area, 10 miles due north of the port of Anzio. Much of the previous heavy fighting has taken place in that sector and various vantage points there have changed hands several times. Carroceto itself was in German hands at latest report.

Nazis Recover From Losses

The Germans opened the new offensive after apparently recovering from losses suffered in the first major effort to drive American and British troops into

Pessimism On Beachhead Hit

Davis To Protest On Censorship

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today urged everyone to "keep your shirt on" about the Anzio beachhead battle in Italy and inferentially approved the halting of direct news dispatches from the scene of fighting.

Director Elmer Davis of the Office of War information, however, said he was going to make representations to the War department about the handling of news from Italy. He indicated that he felt the censorship there has exceeded the necessities of military security

Stimson said at his news conference that there was "uncalled for pessimism near the end of last week" about the beachhead situation although still heavier German attacks may have to be met and "much bitter fighting is ahead."

Allies "Firmly Established"

But the Allies are "firmly established," he continued and "the fact remains that the enemy tried very hard to cut up our beachhead forces during the past week and failed to do so."

Questioned about the halting of dispatches from the beachhead and the high command's order that news reports be sent by carrier to

NAZIS STRIKING FURIOUSLY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—German armored forces, attacking with fanatical fury over a battleship littered with their dead and the wreckage of burned-out tanks, broke in waves against an unyielding Allied line on the Anzio beachhead today in all-out attempts to drive the British and Americans into the sea.

WRITER DESCRIBES DIFFICULTIES
BY KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, Feb. 17 The Anzio beachhead action, which has blown hot and cold in the world war news for the past ten weeks, has been one of the most difficult of all stories for correspondents to cover—due to censorship restrictions. (The writer spent several days in the beachhead.)

Correspondents actually with the Fifth army amphibious forces have been forced to confine their reporting to individual feature stories or submit their copy to such lengthy delay that its perspective is entirely out of focus with the day's news.

At one time the correspondents neared a state of open rebellion, many leaving the beachhead because of the futility of trying to present any semblance of a prompt day-to-day story of the developments.

Now, with short-wave radio facilities from the beachhead to the cable point removed due to fixed belief there has been "alarmist reporting," the problem is even more intense. The only means of getting copy back to the cable point is through the courier method, which sometimes requires two days or more for transit.

Fund Asked For Navy Biggest In History

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt today asked the largest appropriation in history for the Navy—$30,789,000,000 for the 1945 fiscal year.

The outlay, subject to congressional approval, would compare with $27,435,037,198 appropriated for the 1944 fiscal year and $23,808,852,547 for the preceding year.

The tentative 1945 estimate for the war program of the War department is $18,001,451,840, compared with a 1944 appropriation of $59,036,297,571.

The tentative estimate for the War department would be supplemented by the reappropriation of approximately $34,300,000,000 previously approved.

O. H. Koch To Speak At Meeting Tonight

Although O. H. Koch arrived too late for his scheduled talk before the Kiwanis club at noon today, other arrangements made for the Dallas city planning engineer tonight and Friday will be carried out as planned, according to L. Wesley Read, chairman of the city planning commission.

Koch will address a dinner meeting of members of numerous city, county and school groups in Hilton hotel tonight at 7 o'clock and a general mass meeting in the American Legion hall, 910 Texas avenue, Friday night at 8. He will discuss and invite questions pertinent to the master plan for the future development of Lubbock which has been recommended to and adopted by the city commission.

He was due to arrive here this morning. Missed train connections at Sweetwater delayed his arrival until early this afternoon.

Texas Oversubscribes Quota By Ten Million

Closing Of College Military Plan Seen

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—The end of the military training program within a year is foreseen by Dr. Homer P. Rainey, University of Texas president.

This possibility, he told a Senate educational investigating committee, has highlighted discussions among educators as to the advisability of retaining accelerated 12-month college programs.

The advent of college training for military reservists caused institutions to switch their semester systems to fit those prescribed by the armed forces and results included considerable rearrangement of college fiscal affairs

Dr. Raisey said that University of Texas expenditures for the year ending next June 30 will be $2,938,149. Toward this expense $1,960,109 in legislative appropriations is available. The Navy will pay approximately $378,204 as its share for naval trainees and the remaining expense of $599,836 will come from university local funds which ae derived from student fees and similar sources.

He told committeemen the university cannot return an appreciable amount of its legislative appropriation at the end of the year because the officials anticipated a decrease in the number of regular students and asked for $232,000 less this year than was appropriated last year.

He said further that salary increases of approximately $100,000 had been granted on a cost-of-living basis; the average number of courses taken per student has increased, and the school now operates on a 12-month basis, even for regular students, compared with appropriations based on nine months per year.

Student enrollment for 1943-44 was 7,634 (cumulative basis for fall and winter terms) compared with 11,146 for 1940-41 and equivalent full time teachers have decreased from a peak of 446 in 1941-42 to 361. The respective declines were 31.5 per cent and 19.1 per cent.

Beachhead Pessimism Is Laid To Politicians

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP) — The British press today blamed high military and political officials—both American and British—for pessimism over the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead battle and called the new censorship regulations governing Italian frontline dispatches "stupid" and "intolerable."

"If there was any pessimism it was not, as Alexander (Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in Italy) has imputed, the fault of the correspondents on the spot but of highly placed American and British authorities," the News Chronicle said. "For five days last week most of the gloomy and disconcerting statements were being made from President Roosevelt downward."

Two Held In Alabama Not Wanted In Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (U.P.) — Two youths held in Birmingham, Ala., on a variety of charges were cleared of one cloud of suspicion today as Inspector of Detectives Will Fritz said they were not wanted in Dallas for abducting a Dallas girl.

Earlier reports from Birmingham said the youths were suspected of being involved in the Dallas case, but Fritz cleared up that angle yesterday after witnesses viewed pictures of the youths airmailed to Dallas from Birmingham.

Fritz said the girl, reported missing since Feb. 3, "had been found and is still alive, and we'll settle our case here in a few days."

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (AP)—Penicillin is released for civilian use only to gain information that may help the armed forces, Dr. Chester S. Keefer of Boston, chairman of the national research council's committee on chemotherapy and other agents, said today.

Soviet-Finnish Talks Started

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 17 (U.P.) — Juhok Paasikivi, former premier of Finland, and Mme. Alexandra Kollontay, Soviet envoy to Sweden, have begun Russian-Finnish peace discussions, the Stockholm Tidningen said today, as 400 Red air force planes raided Helsinki in what may have been an attempt to hasten Finland's decision.

(The London Daily Mail quoted a Vichy broadcast as saying that Paasikivi had left for Moscow. CBS heard Radio Bern broadcasting that Helsinki had confirmed Paasikivi's departure and also had announced "an official exchange of notes between Finland and Germany.")

Tidningen said it had learned that "the first real peace conversation" between Passikivi and Mme. Kollontay occurred yesterday. Another report circulated that Paasikivi had met M. Semjonov, chancellor of the Russian legation.

Mme. Kollontay arrived in Stockholm yesterday from Saltsjoebaden, where she had been recovering from a slight illness.

First reports indicated last night's two raids by forces totalling 400 planes were the heaviest ever made on Helsinki. The first attack lasted little more than an hour, but later waves pounded the capital from shortly after midnight to 6 a. m., a United Press dispatch from Helsinki said.

Finnish censorship clamped down on details of damage, but the Stockholm Svenska Bagbladet's correspondent reported that more fires were set than in the two Russian raids the night of Feb. 6.

Numerous fires were started in workers' quarters and an official statement said 12 persons were killed and two wounded. More than 100 planes participated in the night's first raid, while some 300 attacker in waves at five to 10-minute intervals during the second alarm.

The Finnish legation in Stockholm said that Helsinki's defenses shot down "some" of the raiders. Other Finnish sources said Russian planes also had raided Abot (Turku), 95 miles west of Helsinki, thrice during the night.

Swedish observers discounted suggestions that renewal of Russian air raids on Finland should be interpreted as an indication of a breakdown in Finnish peace efforts. In the Russian-Finnish war of 1939-40, Soviet planes pounded Finnish positions after an armistice had been signed and right up to the time it took effect.

WPB Directive Due On Scarce Articles

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP) — The War Production board (WPB) soon will issue a directive designed to bring about more equitable distribution to retailers of essential but scarce consumer goods such as children's underwear garments, bed sheets, and numerous other commodities.

Authoritative sources, reporting the directive is in the works, described it today as "one of the most important steps forward" in stabilization a somewhat turbulent situation in essential civilian supplies.

WPB has had field men conferring with manufacturers and wholesalers and says it has their cooperation "nailed down."

GERMANS ESCAPE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 17 (AP) — Three German sea officers are missing from the Papago Park internment camp near here, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

Lyndon Johnson 4th On Naval Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — The death Sunday night of Representative Schuetz (D-Ill) automatically elevated Representative Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) to the position of fourth ranking Democratic member of the important House naval affairs committee.

By virtue of a series of deaths and political defeats of senior members, Johnson has risen from the foot of the 27-man committee, to which he was appointed upon coming to Congress in 1937, to within three places of the chairmanship.

Democratic members still ranking ahead of the 35-year-old Texan are Representative Vinson (D-Ga), who has been in Congress 30 years; the ranking majority members, Representative Drewry (D-Va), 24 years; Representative Magnuson (D-Wash), who took his seat in January of 1937, anly three months before the Austin congressman.

Should the Republicans gain control of the House, the senior members of that party on each committee would become chairman. The present ranking minority member of the naval affairs committee is Representative Maas (R-Minn).

Filing Tax Returns Pays Service Men

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — Many service men here are finding that it pays—literally — to make out their income tax forms.

Seventy-five per cent of 300 soldiers and sailors who sought assistance at a local internal revenue office were informed they were entitled to some benefit or refund on taxes paid before they entered the service.

Soldiers Medal Is Awarded Col. Dyess

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — Lt. Col. William E. Dyess, of Albany, Texas, who escaped from the Japanese prison camp and reported to the War department the enemy atrocities against prisoners recently disclosed in an official announcement, was awarded the Soldiers Medal post-humously Wednesday.

Dyess was killed Dec. 22, 1943, when his plane crashed at Burbank, Calif., and the decoration was awarded him because he sacrificed his life "by crash landing his plane in a small vacant lot in order to avoid hitting civilians traveling on a broad road where a comparatively safe landing could have been made."

Dyess had taken the P-38 fighter plane from the Grand Central airport at Burbank and was returning to the field when engine trouble developed.

NEW SULFA DRUG

GALVESTON, Feb. 17. (AP) — Discovery of a new sulfa drug, 'sulfathalidine" which is expected to help in combating intestinal infections common to troops overseas, by Dr. Edgar J. Potht, professor of surgery of the University of Texas school of medicine and his associate, was announced today by Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, vice president and dean of the medical college.

GOP Begins Talks On Its Farm Plank

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — The Republican party's farm experts began preliminary talks today looking to an agreement on a detailed agriculture plank for submission to the national convention. Among other things, the plank would call for:

1—Increased farm production.

2—Decentralization of federal control.

3—Considering agriculture as a "non-partisan" economic question.

Gov. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, vice chairman of the Republican post-war advisory council's committee on agriculture, created last September at Mackinac Island, Mich., conferred at the capitol with two other committee members, Reps. August H. Andresen, Minnesota, and Clifford R. Hope, Kansas. He previously had lunched with Chairman Harrison E. Spangler of the Republican National committee and members of the Iowa House delegation.

Spangler said an announcement on the farm plank study would be forthcoming within a few days.

All three need WACS —which branch will you choose?

The Army Air Forces—Will you choose this branch? If you do, you may inspect parachutes, keep delicate instruments adjusted, plot or brief flying missions, or do an administrative job. Will you share in our victories in the skies?
The Army Ground Forces—Will you choose this branch? If you do, your job may be at a drawing board, drafting the mechanical details of a tank or a tank destroyer; or you may drive and repair cars, jeeps, or trucks. Dozens of other vital behind-the-lines jobs need Wacs to fill them. Will you fill one of these jobs?

The Army Service Forces—Will you choose this branch? If you do, your job may deal with administration, communications, equipment, finances, food, or transportation of men and supplies to the theaters of war. Will you share the work of winning the war in this branch of the service?
1. Now—Select Your Branch of Service—Army Air Forces—Army Ground Forces, Army Service Forces, within certain geographical limits.
2. Now—Choose Your Job. Now, you may be recommended for an Army job you're already trained to do. Or if you've never worked before, you have a chance to get expert Army training.
3. Now—Choose Your Station. Now you may ask for your first Army assignment at an Army Post in the Service Command in which you enlist.
• For Full Details about these new opportunities—apply at your nearest U.S. Army Recruiting Station. Or write: The Adjutant General, U.S. Army. Many Killed In Raid On Berlin

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 17. (U.P.) — Berliners, many still dazed from the impact of Tuesday's heaviest air raid in history, were reported digging in the ruins of hundreds of buildings today for the dead and trapped.

Fires continued to burn in the center of the city and its outskirts, though they gradually were being controlled.

The Stockholm Morgontidningen reported from Bern that so many persons were killed in RAF's 2,800-ton attack that mass "emergency graves" were prepared for some of the victims.

A Stockholm resident who was in Berlin during the raid told the Swedish telegraph agency that "damage couldn't have been greater."

Hotel Reported Hit

The traveler said the widely-known hotel Bristol on Unter den Linden, previously hit but repaired and reopened, was struck by a land mine. One report, he said, was that 200 persons were buried in the debris, but this was not confirmed.

The Bristol was near the Wilhelmstrasse and it was possible that many government buildings also were hit.

The Henkeel chemical factory was understood to have been damaged.

German censorship appeared much more rigid than after previous raids on the capital and the full story of destruction still remained to be told.

Frankfurt - on - Oder, 50 miles east of Berlin and Tuesday night's secondary target, had its heaviest attack on the war, Morgontidningen said. The city was crowded with bomb refugees from Berlin and other German cities.

Speculation Rife On Successor To Brown

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Speculation ran high today on who would replace head football Coach Paul Brown at Ohio State if the popular and highly successful mentor is inducted into the armed service.

It was believed generally that university officials would choose an acting coach from one of the four remaining members of the coaching staff.

Brown, recently reclassified 1-A by his Massillon, O., draft board, refused to allow the university to request a deferment, saying he wanted to be treated just like any other fellow.

He came to the Big Ten school in 1941 and in '42 his Buckeyes smashed to a conference title.

Remaining on the coaching staff and presumably from whom a successor would be named, were Ernie Godfrey, Carrol Widdoes, Paul Bixler and Fritz Mackey.

AT FULL STRENGTH

ALICE, Tex., Feb. 17 (AP)—The District 39 Interscholastic League meet will be held here March 24 on a full-pre-war schedule instead of by zoning districts as was done last year.

San Diego was admitted into the conference. Other members are Alice, Benavides, Sinton, Taft, Aransas Pass, Freer and Falfurrias.

Ten Service Command Officials To Confer

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (AP) — Mutual problems and future plans will spotlight discussions during a three-day conference of representatives of the War department general staff, of the air, ground and service forces and of all ten service commands which opens here today.

Heading the list of more than 40 general officers attending are Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war; Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervill, commanding the Army service forces and Lt. Gen. George Grunert, commanding the eastern defense command.

Major Gen. Richard Donovan, commanding the Eighth Service command, is host for the conference.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Storm Of Complications Due In Change To Ration Tokens

BY MARLOW AND ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — The ration blues — and reds — are coming back.

During the three weeks starting Feb. 27, you'll be wrestling with two sets of values in figuring how many points you have for meat and canned goods.

Rationing Will Be Simpler

But when those three weeks are over, OPA believes food rationing will be a lot simpler for housewives and storekeepers than it has been so far.

The fiber-tokens, dime-sized, will be worth one point each. You'll get them in change for ration stamps. There'll be two kinds of tokens, red for meat and fats, blue for canned and other processed foods.

During the overlapping three weeks, some of the old brown and green stamps still will be good for 8, 5, 2 and 1 points as marked on their faces.

Stamps Worth 10 Points

New red and blue stamps in ration book No. 4 will be worth 10 points each regardless of what figures are printed on them.

So you can keep them straight by the colors.

Starting Feb. 27, you'll get 30 points for meat and fats every two weeks (instead of 32 at the present rate of 16 a week).

You'll have 50 points a month for canned and other processed foods every month (instead of the present 48).

Meat Points Lowered

To adjust for these changes, meat point values will be lowered somewhat and canned goods point values will be somewhat higher.

Stamps will come out of your ration books horizontally instead of vertically. All those numbered with 8s will be used up first, all through the alphabet.

On Feb. 27, three red stamps will be valid — A-8, B-8 and C-8. Two weeks later D-8, E-8 and F-8 will come good, and so on.

Also on Feb. 27, five blue stamps will be valid, A-8 through E-8. Others will be validated five at a time.

Valid For Longer Periods

The stamps will remain good for longer periods than at present. Up to now, stamps have been valid for approximately one month and 20 days. When the token plan starts, stamps will be good for about two months plus 20 days.

Thus the stamps which become valid on Feb. 27 can be cashed any time up to May 20.

The tokens will have no expiration dates.

Some time later, if a need appears, OPA may have some five-point tokens made in a larger size, also to be used for change.

News Briefs

A song, "Roll a Bandage for a Soldier," written by Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, faculty member at Texas Technological college, was featured Wednesday night on the weekly KFYO broadcast from Lubbock Army Air field. The song is dedicated to the American Red Cross. Cadet Robert Fitzgerald, formerly an officer in the Civilian Air Patrol, was presented as the "cadet of the week" and Lt. Claude O. Turner, 1942 graduate of LAAF, who earned the Silver Star in the Ploesti raid, was recognized.

Lubbock business houses visited by the advanced marketing class of the division of commerce at Texas Technological college Wednesday were the Carpenter Paper Co. and Bell Ice Cream Co., according to Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the division.

Students and teachers in Roscoe Wilson school bought $1,415.70 worth of war bonds and stamps during the past week, boosting their total for the Fourth War Loan drive to $12,693.15, according to Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal. Miss Murl Ratliff's third year primary students invested $933.15 last week, and Mrs. O. P. Thomas' third year intermediates $157.50.

Pfc. William T. Perry, USMCR, son of Mrs. Lola Perry, Floydada, was announced by the Navy department Wednesday as wounded in action. There were 95 casualties of the U. S. naval forces listed in the announcement.

The names of 255 United States soldiers missing in action were announced Wednesday by the War Department, including four West Texans: 2nd Lt. Thomas C. Butler, jr., Mrs. Doris C. Butler, wife, Graham; T/Sgt. Woodrow Callahan, Mrs. Grace M. Callahan, wife, Coahoma (European area); T/Sgt. Coy W. Bryan, Mrs. Edna P. Bryan, wife, Borger (Mediterranean area), and Cpl. Carl A. Butler, John Henry Harrison Butler, father, Trent (Southwest Pacific area).

The farm and livestock of the T. Teal place four and a half miles north of Lubbock have been bought by J. E. Mann, jr., of 2117 Eighth street. Two registered Jersey cows were included, and each has had a male calf since their purchase.

Interested in riding the Southwest as a border patrolman? Mrs. Lesta Boles, Lubbock civil service representative in the Federal building, can give full details.

Its quota of $70,650 has been reached in the Fourth War Loan drive by the Wolfforth community, it was announced Wednesday night by Fred Worsham, chairman.

Conferences Set On Denison Dam Power

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP) — Conferences are expected to be held here the next few days between Texas Power & Light company and Southwestern Power administration (SPA) officials concerning disposal of the power to be generated at the new Denison dam on the Red river between Texas and Oklahoma.

Officials of the Interior department's power division said last night it was likely an agreement would be reached soon with the T. P. & L. by which the company would take over the biggest production of the electricity to be generated when the 35,000-kilowatt hydro-electric unit begins operating some time this spring or summer.

Arthur Goldschmidt, power division official, said that although negotiations have been carried on for months between the T. P. & L. and the power division, there has been no agreement.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), in whose congressional district the Texas side of the dam is located, said it was contemplated that about 80 per cent of the power generated at the dam would be directed to war plants.

Farm, School Victory Day Set February 25

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP) — In recognition of the vital part Texas farmers, ranchers and public school teachers and students have played in the war effort, Governor Coke Stevenson proclaimed February 25 as Texas farm and school victory day.

Despite shortages of labor, machinery, fertilizers and other essential items, farmers and ranchers of Texas produced more in 1943 than ever before in the history of the state, said Stevenson.

Texas public schools received commendation for "furnishing labor, canning facilities, machine repair shops, and mechanics for farmers and ranchers."

More than $14,000,000 worth of war bonds and stamps was sold by the high school victory corps last year, the governor noted.

Artillery fire may be heard at points distant from the origin, but not at an intermediate point.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Dean Allen To Review Book

Lubbock Garden club is meeting Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Hilton hotel ballroom. Dean James G. Allen of the faculty at Texas Technological college will review "The Walsh Girls" (Elizabeth Janeway). An executive board meeting has been set for 2:15 o'clock.

Four Topics Discussed At Becton H-D Club

"Other Hands Than Mine" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Lon Lincecum when Becton Home Demonstration club members met in the home of Mrs. Oscar Peden Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Robert Collier gave "A Friend of a Friend of His"; Mrs. G. C. Nieman, "What Your Boy at the Front is Thinking" and Mrs. Jack Phipps, "If He Isn't Coming Back."

Others present were Mesdames N. A. Hunt and Chester Gilmore. The club's March 1 meeting will be with Mrs. Nieman.

Herminia Morales Is Wed To Lt. Curtis Whittington, Jr.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

Uncle Sam isn't likely to get as many women into his war plants as he needs so long as nobody bothers to explode the old myth that keeping house for one man and no children is a full-time job.

When that myth is finally exploded then a lot of young childless housewives will have to face the unpleasant truth that they are slackers in wartime.

And make no mistake about it—it is a myth.

It is a fairly simple matter for a wife to take on a job with decent hours and still not slight the job of making a home for her husband.

Of course it takes planning and a systematic schedule. There is no time for afternoon bridge parties, long sessions at a beauty salon, or aimless shopping trips.

And there is no time for puttering, for doing housework in a haphazard fashion. Every hour in the day has to be put to some use.

But the healthy, able - bodied young woman who thinks it can't be done either never has tried and just doesn't know, or else she is hopelessly incompetent.

HUSBAND WON'T SUFFER

And the husband of a working wife doesn't have to suffer in any way. Not even his ego need suffer. A smart wife can have a job of her own without coming into any kind of financial competition with her husband, without robbing him of his feeling of being the "provider" of the family, and without letting him build up any resentment against her working. Of course, it takes tact—but it takes tact to have a happy marriage under any conditions. So why doesn't Uncle Sam explode that myth that to be a good wife and homemaker a woman has to spend 24 hours a day at the job?

He would if he knew how many healthy young women are hiding behind it.

QUILT IS MADE

Mesdames George R. Bean and Erle Thompson were hostesses for a covered dish luncheon meeting of Kongenial Klan Wednesday afternoon in the home of the former, 1614 Nineteenth street. A quilt was made for the Red Cross. Twenty-one women were present.

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Herminia Morales, former Lubbock resident, and Lt. Curtis Whittington, jr., of Liberty, Miss., which took place Feb 10 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening at the San Antonio residence of Mrs. Tom Carson with Rev. A. C. Morris officiating.

The bride wore a pearl gray crepe afternoon dress with embroidery trim and carried violets. Miss Margaret Studhalter of Lubbock, maid of honor, wore a pale blue dress and a corsage of pink camellias.

The couple has gone to Liberty to visit his relatives and will go to Miami, Fla., March 1 where Lt. Whittington will report for a new assignment.

Mrs. Whittington came to Lubbock from Colombia, S. A., and attended Texas Technological college for a semester after being graduated from Lubbock High school.

Lt. Whittington spent a year and one-half in Panama and the Galapagos islands before going to India where he has been stationed for a year as a fighter pilot in the U. S. Army Air Force.

John Wilson Discusses Juvenile Delinquency

When Senior High school Parent-Teacher association met at the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon it heard a discussion on juvenile problems presented by John W. Wilson, juvenile officer. Carolyn Cole played piano numbers.

Dr. Bernice Moore of the Hogg foundation will speak at the next meeting, March 7 at 3:45 p. m. in the auditorium on "The Problem—Parents Are Children." All P.-T.A. units will be guests at the program.

The organization voted to cooperate with the Tuberculosis association in giving tuberculin tests to high school students.

A nominating committee consisting of Mesdames J. D. Hassell, jr., Henry W. Lawson, Alex McDonald, Miss Mayme Alexander and Floyd Honey was appointed. The committee is to give a report at the next meeting.

Club Visitor Lectures On Living In England

Living conditions in England were discussed by Mrs. C. A. Renton before Tech Newcomers club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. F. E. Hangs, 2317 Seventeenth street. Mrs. R. L. Mason was co-hostess. Mrs. Renton has been living in the United States for about six months. Her husband is in the British army.

The visitor discussed rationing in England from a house wife's viewpoint. She is the house guest of Mrs. A. C. Bowden, 2321 Fourteenth street.

Members present were Mesdames B. M. Hays, D. L. Webb, Fred Assadourian, E. R. Cleavinger, Clark Wilkes, Raymond Glass, Polk Robison, R. L. Dolecek, George B. Long, Cecil Ayers, L. J. Powers, Bowden, L. E. Parsons, Mrs. James L. Quicksall, a guest, and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, sponsor.

Covered Dish Luncheon Is Served To Society

A covered dish luncheon was served to Lubbock Army Wives society Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lee Hardgrave, 2406 Twenty-ninth street. Twenty-two women were present.

Bridge games were played in the afetrnoon. The LAWS will meet at the USO next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

AT TOILET-GOODS COUNTERS

Shower Honors Miss Hamill

Mrs. John K. Wherry, 2614 Twenty-third street, gave a miscellaneous shower Wednesday night at her home in compliment to Miss Christine Hamill, bride-elect of Lt. Robert B. Dean. The rooms weer decorated with cut flowers and leaves and with a miniature bridal scene.

Miss Hamill was presented with a corsage by the hostess.

A pink and white motif was featured in the refreshment plate. Miniature cutouts of a bridal couple and a wedding slipper tied with ribbons were plate favors. Pink napkins were lettered with "Christine and Bob."

Games were played.

Guests were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. T. D. Hamill, her grandmother, Mrs. U. W. Stanley and Mesdames E. A. Tipton, C. D. McGehee, Turner Adams, S. C. Rawlings, Lester C. Cooper, C. N. Kennon, Wayne Warren and sending gifts were Mesdames Paul Hamill, Laura Futhy and Miss Laphane Clabaugh.

Hubette Groups To Give USO Leap Year Dance For Enlisted Men

Through the combined efforts of two Hubette hostess groups, Aerodonnas and Serviceaires, a leap year dance for service men is to be staged Saturday night between 8:30 and 12 o'clock at the USO, 1211 Thirteenth street.

Sandwiches, coffee and cake will be served throughout the evenins.

Decorations will carry out a leap year theme and will consist of sketches of lasso throwing girls, cardboard rolling pins and flat irons and roping.

The girls will serve refreshments and act as hostesses Saturday beginning at 5 o'clock for the regular group who calls at the soldiers' center.

Tech Art Institute To Have Illustrated Talk On National Gallery

"Our National Gallery — Washington, D. C." is the subject for the meeting of the Tech Art Institute Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Tech engineering auditorium.

The paintings, which will be shown on the screen in full color, will be accompanied by recorded comments by Dr. Dudley Watson of Chicago Art Institute.

Dr. Bessie League will be in charge of the program.

Former members have been invited to attend the showing.

Workers Are Needed For Red Cross Production

Because so few women are going to the Lubbock Red Cross rooms, production is lagging, Mrs. C. P. Carlock, chairman, said Wednesday afternoon.

Workers are needed in surgical dressing rooms to roll bandages and also in sewing rooms.

Only 12 hospital robes have been issued. There are still 60 in the sewing room to be made. One hundred seventy bedside bags are yet to be issued. Chairmen are urging women to check out material to make these articles because hospitals are needing them badly here in the United States and overseas.

Red Cross rooms are located at 1605 Avenue J and are opened Monday through Friday from 9:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.

Final Typing Of Blood To Be Made Tonight

Final typing of blood this season for the "walking blood" bank will be made at St. Mary's hospital tonight between 8 and 10 o'clock. Hostesses will be Misses Velma McCandless, Agnes True and Grace Padley.

Thirty-one persons called at the West Texas clinic Tuesday night to have their blood typed. Mrs. Vera Chapman and Miss Ella May Butler from Altrusa club and Mesdames M. C. Butler and L. L. Miller from City P-T council were hostesses.

The names will be placed in the Red Cross files and volunteer donors will be called on for charity cases and for emergencies.

Needle Club Party Held At Mullins Residence

L'Aiquillee club members were the guests of Mrs. Carl Mullins, 1502 Fifteenth street, Wednesday afternoon. A Washington motif was carried out.

Present were Mesdames H. T. Wilins, J. P. Elms, J. W. Philips, Earl Ellison, Eugene Wilson, P. R. Patterson, W. A. Roberts, T. L. Biggs and guests, Mesdames J. A. Addington, T. Z. Bruce and Harold Bruce.

The club will meet with Mrs. Elms, 2809 Twenty-eighth street March 1 at 3 p. m.

News Briefs

A bicycle was stolen Wednesday night from Dean Wylie of 2430 Twenty-third street, police said this morning.

Another Lubbock 17-year-old boy, Lee J. Pharr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Pharr, 2608 Twenty-second street, was enlisted in the Army Air Forces Enlisted reserve Wednesday, Capt. R. T. Hammond of the Army recruiting office announced today. He is a student at Lubbock Senior High school. Truett Tyler, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tyler of O'Donnell, was another who enlisted Wednesday. He is employed as a cotton handler there.

Dr. G. A. Foote, Lubbock physician, who sustained a fracture of the left hip in a motor vehicle accident at about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, was reported to be doing satisfactorily at Lubbock General hospital this morning. No details were given on the accident, which occurred a short distance from Lubbock on the Slide road.

Slight injuries were suffered about 10 o'clock Wednesday night by J. L. Evans of 2405 Twenty-sixth street when struck by a car in 2200-block Nineteenth street. Police said driver of the car was Barry Lofland, 18, of 2022 Sixteenth street, who delivered Evans to Lubbock General hospital. Lofland said he was "blinded" by lights of an approaching car and did not see Evans before the impact.

A fine of $50 and costs were levied against Avery Barrett, about 32, in Gaines county Wednesday afternoon after a grand jury there had no-billed him on a charge of assault with intent to murder his wife, officials who had gone to Seminole from Lubbock said. A shortwave radio broadcast of KGZW in Lubbock had asked for his arrest earlier Wednesday when it was learned he was en route to Lubbock. Texas State Highway patrolment of Lubbock arrested him, it was announced.

Valentine Party Given For Homemaking Class

Second period 1-A Junior High school homemaking class attended a Valentine party Monday night in the home of Mrs. Dick Cozby. Guests were greeted by Lillian Smith and Richie Ann McCrummen who served as hostesses.

Valentines had been placed in a box made in class and guests registered in a book also made during class period.

Lois Rogers and Joyce Littlejohn directed games on prophecy, "1944 gossip" and "Don't Mention It."

Valentines were distributed by Shirley Jackson and refreshments were served by Jean Fralin, Faye Haynes, Juanita Weir and Betty Jo Tucker.

Others present were Frances Goodman, Zelda Webb, Laverne Lindsey and Jean Miller and the student teacher, Miss Iva Lea McKay.

Margaret Henderson Is Now First Lieutenant

First lieutenant's bars have been pinned on Margaret Henderson, who is in the U. S. Marine Corps Women's Reserve and stationed as an instructor of marine administration at Camp Le Jeune, N. C. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Henderson, 2420 Twentieth street.

Sorority To Be Hostess At Dance For Squadron

Honoring members of the 307th headquarters squadron at South Plains Army Air field, members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha are giving a dance at the USO, 1211 Thirteenth street, tonight beginning at 8 o'clock.

PRESENT BIBLE

Mrs. W. H. Trice's Bible class has given a Bible to be placed in a day room at South Plains Army Air field. Fifteen women attended a meeting of the class Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. A. Conely, 2114 Sixteenth street, with Mrs. Carl A. McEachern of Austin as speaker.

REVIEWS BOOK

"Madame Curie" (Eve Curie) was reviewed by Mrs. O. L. Byrd at the Book-of-the-Month club meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Ernest Pope, 2518 Twentieth street. Mrs. W. B. Price was co-hostess. Eighteen were present.

Officers Continue McEachern Manhunt

An amended announcement was all that was new this morning in the hunt for Robert McEachern, Southwestern desperado who broke from the Texas prison system Feb. 2 and came into this section for a series of car thefts, robberies and burglaries—but it was "highly significant."

So announced peace enforcement authorities who learned on the morning summary of KTXA, the state police shortwave broadcast station at Austin ,that contrary to earlier announcements the person who took nine guns from a shop in Odessa this week "also obtained nine boxes of shells."

There were no reports of stolen cars in the section where the bandit was presumed to be hiding out, and only one hijacking of the sort frequently indulged by McEachern was reported, "and a man and a woman pulled that at Giddings. Doesn't look like McEachern. McEachern is a lone wolf and usually won't travel with a woman or anyone else."

McEachern was identified as having been the man who robbed T. B. Taylor, a filling station attendant, here Saturday morning. Several other robberies, including one at Carlsbad, N. M., and the burglary at Odessa "probably" were his work," officials had theorized.

Baker Arrives To Aid In Marine Recruiting

Sgt. Wynn Baker, who has been on recruiting service for the United States Marine corps for the past two months in El Paso, arrived in Lubbock Wednesday to take up his duties as assistant to his brother, S/Sgt. Charles G. Baker, in charge of the Marine recruiting office in the federal building.

Wynn Baker was enlisted about two years ago by his brother and received his "boot" training at San Diego. He saw service in the South Pacific, returning to the states last summer to be hospitalized. After several sinus operations he was transferred to Corpus Christi, going to El Paso in December.

He graduated from the Masonic Home school in Fort Worth with the class of '34 and was a member of the "Mighty Mites" football teams of 1932-33.

Cartridge Removed From Boy's Lung

An unusual case was reported by Lubbock General hospital today when an operation was performed at the hospital for the removal of a .22 calibre cartridge from the lung of a 9-year-old negro boy this morning.

The boy, Henry Williams of Sudan, had the cartridge in his mouth about 18 months ago while he was suffering with "whooping cough." He swallowed the shell, which lodged in one of his lungs and had remained there since that time until its removal this morning with a bronchoscope. Although the boy is in a serious condition, he is expected to improve rapidly.

Mrs. Eskridge Is Party Hostess To Needlers

Mrs. C. E. Eskridge, 1910 Twenty-eighth street, was hostess to Fit and Fashion club Friday afternoon.

Members present were Mesdames C. C. Cox, G. E. Dawson, Henry Elder, Ishmael Hill, Floyd Honey, E. E. Key, Sam Leifeste, R. W. Matthews, H. J. McCabe, J. W. Reid, M. E. Witt, Dixie White and W. C. Watts.

The club will meet with Mrs. Leifeste, 1905 Twenty-sixth street, March 1 at 3 p. m.

Aviation Cadet Tests Given Amarillo Boys

Capt. R. T. Hammond and Sgt. W. A. Strickland of the Army recruiting office in the federal building here, returned to Lubbock Wednesday night from Amarillo where they gave aviation cadet mental alertness tests to 68 17-year-old boys of Amarillo High school.

Of the 68 who took the examination, approximately 40 passed the tests. Capt. Hammond said this was the best percentage of any group in this section of the state thus far. He said that 50 per cent is considered a good average.

Colder Weather Is Forecast For Area

Clear skies prevailed late Wednesday night and this morning following the light rain which wet Lubbock streets about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

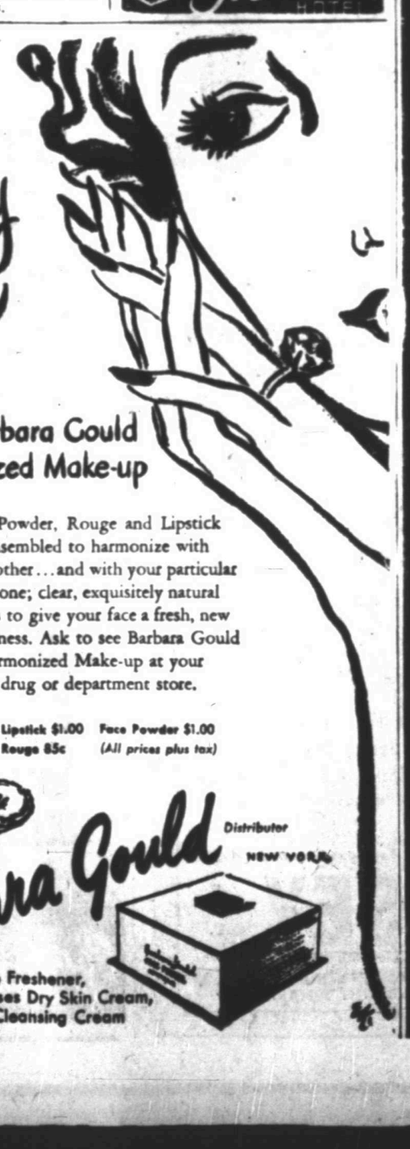

Partly cloudy and colder weather was forecast for the Panhandle and South Plains for this afternoon, tonight and Friday. Minimum temperatures of 24 to 30 degrees were expected tonight in the South Plains area.

HOW TO RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS

It's tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it! It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.

Use Arrid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arrid is safe and dependable for these 5 reasons:

1. Does not irritate skin. Does not rot dress or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. Helps stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure white, antiseptic, stainless cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering — harmless to fabric. Use Arrid regularly.

Arrid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods—10c, 39c and 59c a jar.

Londoner Tells Of Convoy Trip

Members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club were held spell-bound by the vivid description of an Atlantic crossing by Mrs. C. A. Renton of London, England, at the weekly luncheon of the club today noon in the Lubbock hotel.

Mrs. Renton, a native Texan who is married to an Englishman and has spent three and one-half years in the British Isles, told of a 22-day voyage on a 6,000 ton banana boat about a year ago, coming from Belfast, Ireland, to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

The boat, one of a convoy of 68, was terribly crowded, so crowded in fact that only one lounge was avaiable in which the 13 children on the boat could play. The bar was the only well-ventilated room on the ship, she said.

Passengers slept with their clothes on and were forced to wear their life jackets constantly. No one was allowed in the dining rooms unless they were wearing a jacket. She added that each passenger was drilled in abandoning ship and was required to gather up their belongings and go to the lifeboats within a matter of seconds.

Attacked By Bombers

The convoy spent three days in Belfast harbor and, while there, was attacked by enemy dive bombers about dusk one afternoon. On the third day the convoy got underway. A terrific storm was encountered in the North Atlantic, and Mrs. Renton had her first experience with sea-sickness when the storm was at its height. At daybreak on the morning after the storm, just as the fog was lifting, her ship almost collided with another ship going in the opposite direction.

In closing, she said, "When you sing 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' you should sing it as though you mean it, for it certainly is paradise, compared with England and other countries who are not blessed with the things you are blessed with here."

O. H. Koch, Dallas city planning engineer and designer of a master plan for this city, was due to have addressed the club today, but he was delayed in arriving here.

The program committee was composed of R. W. Wright, Frank Brown and Ben Brewer. Wright introduced Mrs. Renton. President T. E. Buckner presided at the luncheon.

Farm Deferments

3-A and 2-B; and 3,500,000 in class 4-F.

Hershey said there is a gross deficit in inductions, over the last four months, of 430,000. This will tend to keep monthly inductions at a high rate at least until July 1. Hershey said yesterday in an address at Philadelphia that calls would run about 250,000 a month until July.

Tighten Farm Deferments

Plans for tightening farm deferments were revealed in an official announcement.

A statement noted that farm workers heretofore have received deferments when they farmed eight food units as defined by the Agriculture department. But because of the manpower and food shortages, it said, the objective has been raised to 16 units.

"It is now believed," the statement said, "that the deferment of any registrant who produces less than 16 war units minimum each year is unjustified."

Is Not Rigid Rule

It emphasized, however, that this was not a rigid rule and that the nature of crops raised, and registrant's age, health "or any other compelling circumstance" should be considered.

The new policy was expected to result in close scrutiny of deferments of over 1,000,000 nonfathers in the II-C and III-C classifications, 400,000 of whom are under 22 years of age. Selective service last month ordered drastic restrictions on industrial deferments of men 18-22.

It will, in effect, abolish the III-C classification of about 900,000 men, who will be transferred into class II-C if they meet the new 16-unit standard.

Class II-C Reopened First

Local boards were directed to reopen first, according to order number, the cases of over 700,000 registrants in class II-C and to proceed next with the III-C registrants.

The new policy also provides that department of agriculture county war boards may request deferments for persons regularly engaged in essential farm work, and that the ordinary appeal machinery will be available to all registrants.

Following former policy, local boards will continue to classify 1-A all farmers who leave for other jobs. Registrants may return from other activities to agriculture and request deferment provided they are not in 1-A.

Dana Andrews

and you go ahead and study your dramatics? When and if you get a movie contract you can pay us 25 per cent of your earnings for five years."

Starts On Payments

Andrews took them up on it. He studied for nearly three years, then got his first job, at $150 a week, and began his payments to his sponsors. He's made 13 pictures since and now is working on his 14th, "Wing And A Prayer," at 20th Century-Fox.

Yesterday Andrews dropped out to Van Nuys, a little town a few miles out, to pay the final installment on his debt, the five years being up. The three men had intended to make a sort of celebration of it, as Twomey and Wardlaw were just as pleased over Andrews' success as was Dana himself.

But there was no celebration. Andrews found when he got there that Twomey had died last week of a heart attack.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

RAIL STOCKS REVIVED

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Rail stocks revived briskly in today's market, after a morning of considerable indecision, and, while scattered industrials followed with more or less enthusiasm, numerous leaders continued to exhibit a high degree of apathy.

Slight irregularity ruled at the opening in slow dealings. The pace quickened later but again slackened at intervals. Gains running to 2 points or so were well distributed but losers were plentiful at the last. Transfers were around 800,000 shares.

Union Pacific touched its best level for 1943-44, along with Rustless Iron. Favored were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Park and Tilford, Evans Products, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck and Douglas Aircraft. Backward were Bethlehem, Kinney, Texas Co., Anaconda, International Harvester, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse and Philip Morris.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Independent firmness of nearby positions was outstanding in an irregular cotton market today. Covering before first delivery notice day next Thursday lifted the spot month to 20.75 cents a pound, the highest price for old contract deliveries since last July.

Further buying credited to tire mill accounts and trade price fixing against government textile contracts helped to bolster nearby months, but later positions gave ground under increased hedge offerings and profit taking.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale higher to 40 cents lower.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Rye prices dropped about a cent and all other grains were weak today following a Washington report that a final contract between the United States and Cuba for importation of Cuban molasses and industrial alcohol had been signed. The molasses would supplant grains in manufacturing industrial alcohol.

Commission houses were persistent sellers of rye. Some local traders gave the grain support in early dealings, but this type of buying was not aggressive. Interest in the wheat market was light. Houses with cash connections were on the selling side. Weather was considered mostly favorable for the winter wheat crop.

Final prices wer eat the day's lows. Wheat finished ¼-1 ⅛ lower, May $1.68 ⅝, oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 78 ⅛, rye was down 1 ¼-1 ⅝, May $1.26-1.26 ¼, and barley was ⅝-1 ⅛ lower, May $1.21.

Anti-Subsidy Bill

as both subsidy proponents and opponents favored its continuance, they would proceed with present non-controversial programs pending final outcome of the subsidy battle.

The only program placed in an uncertain status is that of a $300,000,000-a-year milk and butterfat subsidy program, under which dairymen are offered subsidies on their milk protection.

Although none would specifically promise it, most officials expressed the opinion that dairymen would get subsidies for the period between tonight and the time that new legislation is finally approved extending the CCC's authority. They said administrative orders undoubtedly would be issued directing payments retroactive for that period. This opinion was based upon the assumption that a presidential veto of the anti-subsidy legislation would be sustained by Congress.

Former Masonic Home Football Star Killed

HUMBLE, Feb. 17. (U.P) — Services will be held here tomorrow for Ray Vernon Musselwhite, 19, former football star of Masonic Home school at Fort Worth.

He was killed Tuesday near Ganado, Tex., when the automobile in which he was a passenger crashed into the rear of a truck loaded with pipe. He won the Jack Bridges award in 1942 as the most popular football player in the Fort Worth district.

RUSSIANS REGAIN 12,000 SQUARE MILES IN MONTH—Shaded area is approximately 12,000 square miles of territory regained by the Russians since start of their Leningrad offensive one month ago. Moscow announced that Soviets had cleared Germans from east shore of Lake Peipus and had captured Ostrovtsky, Polna and Dolzhitsy (1) while other Red troops captured rail junction of Luga (2). Battle Raging On Beachhead the sea, but during the lull the Allies also had built up new strength.

In a statement released yesterday, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Italy, declared that the Americans and British were winning the second round of the bridgehead battle and ultimately would smash to Rome without assistance from the Cassino front.

"There is absolutely no Dunkirk here—there's no basis for pessimistic rubbish," he told his troops three days ago.

While the Monte Cassino monastery has been reduced to ruins the Germans are holding out in around it and this has apparently prevented ground troops from occupying the crest of Abbey hill.

On the Eighth army front patrols were active, including those sent out by newly arrived Polish troops. Canadian artillery fire caused a large explosion and fire near Francavilla. An Indian formation dispersed an enemy party of 60 forming up near Orsogna.

Ouster Of Officials

he had not considered the fund for checking the census as state money, inasmuch as it was contributed by the school districts for defraying expenses of emergency school census check-ups in districts where military or industrial development incident to the war had put an undue load on school systems. The fund was kept in a separate account in an Austin bank.

During the course of the hearing, both Walker and Olsen told the committee that these check-ups against supplemental school census reports would be impossible without the additional funds. Walker said that his department had insufficient personnel.

Help Shortage Cited

Walker told the committee that he had less clerical help in his department than he had in 1928, but that the load of work has increased tremendously. He has been auditor of the Department of Education since 1923. Walker also told the committee that the school laws of the state were so complex as to be "almost impossible to administer."

The committee's report was addressed to Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction. The auditor's preliminary report of Feb. 14, addressed to the committee, Gov. Coke Stevenson and Woods, was made a part of the formal motion recommending the changes in the department.

The law passed by the 48th legislature, altering the state's audit set-up, empowered the joint committee to make such recommendations as the one submitted to Woods today. The committee is made up of the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House, the chairmen of the Senate finance and state affairs committees, and the chairmen of the House appropriations and revenue and taxation committees.

The preliminary audit of the Department of Education covers the period from Sept. 1, 1937, to Aug. 31, 1943.

Red Cross Denies Unnecessary Delay

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17. (U.P)—The American Red Cross today denied reports that relief and medical supplies had been reaching Canadian prisoners in Japan through Russia, but not Americans, or that lack of cooperation had delayed unnecessarily supplies sent through the American organization.

The official statement issued by the national headquarters of the American Red Cross in St. Louis was a rebuff to Dr. W. H. Spensley, Albuquerque, N. M., head of the Federated Relief organization for Bataan, for his recent statements that "dilly-dallying" had resulted in a "definite lack of cooperation between Japan and the American Red Cross" that was not experienced by Canada or Russia. Spensley said Canadian supplies were reaching war prisoners while American supplies were piling up at Vladivostock, through no blame on the part of Russia.

News Briefs

Firemen said interior of a 1937 automobile was burned out at 11:20 o'clock this morning when a fire alarm was telephoned from Snodgrass Wrecking yard, "just this side of 'Cemetery' curve." There was no further damage.

A charge of drunk driving was filed at noon against James Peyton York, 48, of 1909 Thirtieth street who, according to police reports, was arrested at 1:15 o'clock this morning at Fourteenth street and Avenue H. Wm. S. Bell of the police signed the complaint prepared by Syrian E. Marbut, county attorney. Another man, police said, was held for investigation into drunk driving. He is 34, of Childress.

Sec. Stimson

Naples for censorship, Stimson said:

"Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, commanding the Mediterranean theater, is the best possible judge of factors affecting the operations in that theater."

Davis, preparing to meet with high military and naval officials, told a reporter:

"We fully realize the requirements of security in such a military situation and certainly don't want it violated in any respect. However, I think the public is entitled to the fullest and rapidest supply of news consistent with security."

Asked if he considered the news from the Anzio beachhead "the fullest and rapidest supply," Davis replied.

"The public certainly hasn't been getting very much."

When it was pointed out that dispatches of American correspondents were subject to orders of a British general, Davis noted that it was the customary thing for the theater commander to have control over the question of censorship. He pointed out that the copy of both British and American correspondents was under the jurisdiction of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower when he was in charge of the Mediterranean theater.

Asked if he thought his representations would help the situation, Davis said:

"They (the War department) can certainly transmit our views on the subject, and they should have some weight."

The enemy has sent reinforcements into southern Italy and reports indicate that 17 German divisions are now gathered there.

On the main line in southern Italy the Allies hold the initiative and are slowly fighting ahead in the Cassino area.

Ickes' Department Takes Over WRA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (U.P) — Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, in accordance with an executive order from President Roosevelt, today assumed jurisdiction over the War Relocation authority, long the target of congressional criticism for its administration of Japanese relocation centers.

Neither the President's executive order nor an accompanying White House statement specified the future position of WRA Director Dillon S. Myer but Interior department officials said he would work under Ickes at least for the present.

The White House statement explained the WRA would be transferred in its entirety for reasons of administrative simplification and "in accordance with the President's frequently announced belief that the number of independent agencies should, when practicable, be reduced."

Feed Is High, But This Calf Literally Eats Owner's Cash

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 17. (AP) — Feed may be scarce, but Bob Bond, Gainesville dairyman, isn't going to stand for his cattle eating his money.

Bond missed several greenbacks from his purse shortly after he dropped it while feeding calves.

Then Bond placed a blank check on the ground to find the guilty animal. A two-months-old Guernsey snatched the check.

Bond slaughtered the animal, recovered two ten-dollar bills, three fives and four one-dollars.

"And all but two were in good enough condition to be used as legal tender" rejoiced Bond.

CONVICT RECAPTURED

AUSTIN, Feb. 17. (U.P)—State police headquarters reported today that notice had been received of the capture at Memphis, Tenn. of George E. Carter, escaped lifetermer, who left Retrieve prison farm in Brazoria county last Nov. 14. Carter was serving a term for rape in Kleberg county, state police said.

And from Boston, veritable seat of Irish culture in America, came these comments on the matter:

Wilfred F. Kelley, president of the charitable Irish society: "It doesn't speak well of her companionship with him all these years if that's what she thinks of the Irish."

Patrick F. Shannon, state president of the ancient order of hibernians: "Apparently Mrs. Shaw didn't know many Irishmen—only her husband."

James M. Curley, U. S. representative: "The real Irish had culture and refinement and a knowledge of the arts of literature when the people Mr. and Mrs. Shaw descended from were sharing bones with the troglodytes in the caves of England."

CADETS IDENTIFIED

VICTORIA, Feb. 17. (U.P) — Aloe Army Air field authorities today identified as Aviation Cadets Glenn G. Wieneke, 23, of Hardin, Ill., and Ralph E. Starrett, 21, of Wilsonville, Neb., the two men killed when a training plane cashed near Port O'Connor Tuesday.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blackwell, Route 2, Levelland, on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 10 3-4 ounces at 6:29 p. m. Wednesday in West Texas hospital. The father is a farmer.

Girl Seriously Hurt By Pack Of Dogs

ELECTRA, Tex., Feb. 17 (AP) — Edith Lavern Bentley, 10, was injured seriously when attacked by five dogs when she went on an errand to a neighbor's home.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Bentley, was brought to an Electra hospital where physicians worked for two hours sewing gashes in her arms, legs and abdomen.

The dogs were killed and their heads were sent to Austin for rabies tests.

Free Trade Across Rio Grande Urged

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 17 (AP) — Free trade across the Rio Grande was urged yesterday in an address by Ulises Irigoyen, auditor of the finance ministry.

The Mexican economist said such a policy "would strengthen our frontier towns and the American ones, as well as the general economy of the two countries." He added that "the only enemy of free commerce at the border is ignorance, since no one has taken time to study these problems in detail."

Ration Token Plan Explained

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP) — One-point green stamps as well as the new blue ration tokens will be given as change in processed food sales during the first three weeks the token plan is in operation.

The Office of Price administration (OPA), announcing this today, said the arrangement was a precaution against the possibility that tokens may not be well distributed immediately in some sections. They will be put in use Feb. 27.

It will be the first use of green stamps as change. One-point brown stamps for meat are currently being used in this manner and the policy will be continued during the change-over to the token plan.

Two sets of stamps will be used for processed foods and two for meats and fats during the three-week transition period.

Valid Through March 20

The last of the green stamps—K, L and M—and the brown—Y and Z — will be valid through March 20 and will be worth 8, 5, 2 and 1 points, as at present.

Ration book four blue stamps A8, B8, C8, D8 and E8—each with a 10-point value—will be valid for processed foods from Feb. 27 through May 20.

Blue tokens — and through March 20, one-point green stamps —will be given as change for both sets of processed food stamps.

Red 10-point stamps A8, B8 and C8 in book four will be good from Feb. 27 through May 20, while stamps D8, E8 and F8 will be good March 12 through May 20.

Change for the two sets of meat stamps will be given in red tokens and—through March 20—in one-point brown stamps.

coastal vessels and several smaller craft.

While other Allied bombers pounded enemy positions at Jacquinot bay, on the southeast coast, and Talasea and Cape Hoskins, on the north central sector of New Britain, American ground forces cleared the Borgen bay-Cape Mensing area on the invaded western tip of the 800-mile long island.

U. S. and New Zealand troops have consolidated their positions on the Green islands, 120 miles east of Rabaul, MacArthur announced. The little coral bases were occupied Monday and Tuesday to cut off supply traffic for an estimated 22,000 Japanese in the northern Solomons.

On the biggest land front of the Pacific war, Indian troops fought off Japanese attempts to encircle Allied forces in the Mayu mountains of southwest Burma. The Indians held to their position commanding the Ngakyedauk pass, main communications link between the Allied Army and its bases in India. More than 700 enemy dead have been counted since Feb. 4.

The New Delhi communique said Japanese attempting to cross the west bank of the Chindwin river to the north were driven back, American-trained Chinese forces continued their push across northern Burma.

Negro Wins Damages In Jim Crow Case

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Maggie Mack, negro, former school teacher at Springfield, Mo., now working in an aviation plant at Milwaukee, Wis., had a $1,500 court judgment today for being forced to move from a front to a rear seat of a Dixie Greyhound bus when it crossed the state line from Missouri to Arkansas.

Federal Judge Richard M. Duncan ordered a jury yesterday to return a verdict in favor of Miss Mack, but left the amount of damages to be determined by the jurymen.

Miss Mack asked $500 actual damages for bodily harm and $20,000 punitive damages because the bus driver called a Steele, Mo., policeman when she refused to change seats. She said the policeman slapped her and shoved her into a rear seat.

Probe Planned On Foreign Oil

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—American dabbling in foreign oil has become so important to Congress that a special committee of members of three regular Senate committees is going to investigate.

Its first concern is the government's proposed $165,000,000 pipeline to bring crude oil from Persian gulf areas to Mediterranean ports for U. S. tankers.

The special committee will succeed the Senate interstate commerce subcommittee which called off its scheduled hearing this week on every angle of the American petroleum problem.

Two Important Considerations

Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) of the Senate interstate commerce committee says the special committee will have two important considerations:

1. Will United States negotiations for foreign oil discourage private enterprise or retard orderly development of world oil reserves?

2. Will they lead to international friction and the growth of dangerous rivalries?

Calling off of the scheduled hearing postponed the replies of Interior Secretary (and oil administrator) Ickes and his first assistant secretary, Mike Straus, to Senator Moore (R-Okla)—a millionaire oil man—who challenged them to prove they weren't trying, through the state department, to set up government ownership or control of private shipping and transportation "by water and by air."

National Policy Urged

Moore and Senator Brewster (R-Maine) proposed the subcommittee get busy right now to determine "a national policy on petroleum."

They didn't like that 1,250-mile pipeline deal, saying this unprecedented step put the petroleum reserves corporation, an RFC subsidiary, into competition with private oil interests or, at best . . . subsidized, against free enterprise of other companies, the Arabian American oil company (owned by Standard Oil of California and the Texas company) and the Gulf Exploration company (owned by the Gulf Oil corporation).

These two companies expect to obtain American oil rights in Saudi Arabia and in Kuwait as soon as the "agreement in principle" with PRC can be sealed by contract.

Under the announced plan, the pipeline, if put through, would be available to any other American oil company which paid a pro rata share in repaying the U. S. government cost of development.

Ickes says the pipeline is needed. He expects it to tap 20 billion barrels of oil. That's as much as there is known to be left in the United States, he says. President Roosevelt says the pipeline is needed. The Truman committee estimates a scant 14-year known reserve in this country.

British and American experts soon are to sit at a State department roundtable here to work out a plan for Anglo-American development of untapped world oil deposits.

Spectacular Rescue

the water.

Three More Are Rescued

Closer in to shore, three men were seen floating in the water. Ten minutes later, they had been taken aboard.

The big Catalina got off again. "I was happy as hell it was all over," Gordon sighed.

"I at first had been nervous; then I was so busy that I forgot that; but when we got the second batch aboard I began to have nervous indigestion."

Another Mitchell radioed it had spotted more men on the water. This time the fliers were so near Kavieng that the Catalina had to overshoot the landing by 200 yards to keep from hitting land.

"I thought it a damn foolish stunt," Gordon said, "for I thought we wouldn't get out with the nine we had rescued and it was a terrible chance to take to rescue one man—for we had seen only one head bobbing near the partly capsized raft that had been strafed from shore. When we taxied up, they were really pouring 75 mm. shells at us. The man, meantime, had drowned and disappeared."

Six More Men Spotted

Once back in the air, the second Mitchell radioed that six more men had been spotted on the water. The Catalina crew groaned. Her popped rivets caused her to ship much water every time she hit the heavy sea.

But back down she went, plowed through the water and picked up the six—two from one raft, four from another.

Heavily laden, and with the Japs pouring more shots at her, the "Arkansas Traveler" rose for the last time and headed for home.

Lt. Col. B. W. Fridge of Baton Rouge, La., who participated in the Mitchell raid, said today "we are going to try to get every one of those members of that Catalina crew every medal in the book."

GOP Bloc Seen In 3 States

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—It begins to look as if New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, with a powerful bloc of 198 votes, intend to look over the field at the Republican national convention before committing themselves on a presidential candidate.

Party leaders in all three states are working for uninstructed delegations—and the way New York with 93 votes, Pennsylvania with 70 and New Jersey with 35 eventually go will play a vital part in the convention.

The New York delegation, largest in the convention, will be dominated by friends and associates of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, who says he isn't a candidate but who is mentioned prominently, nevertheless, in presidential speculation.

Dewey Assured Support

If a "draft" starts for Dewey, or he gives the green light, he can count on almost the solid support of the New York delegation, politicians believed after checking today the nearly completed list of organization candidates for delegates.

Petitions to put Dewey's name on the New Jersey ballot May 16 have been circulated by E. Bertram Mott, former state chairman, but leaders favor an uninstructed delegation.

In Harrisburg, Governor Edward Martin, who will head Pennsylvania's delegation, said the organization would oppose efforts of any presidential candidate to line up delegates in his state at the April 25 primary.

Military Officials At Dallas Meeting

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (U.P.) — Military dignitaries were a dime a dozen in Dallas today as an imposing array of high-ranking Army officials opened a three-day conference of the Army Service forces as guests of the Eighth Service command.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Lt. Gens. Brehon Somervell, commanding general of the ASF, and George Grunert, commanding general of the Eastern Defense command, headed the list which included 23 major generals, 17 brigadier generals, 16 colonels, five lieutenant colonels, five majors, two captains, one lieutenant and one civilian — a director of industrial personnel of the ASF.

of the Lake Peipus narrows, which are less than a mile wide in some places. Any push across here, followed by a drive to the south, would land the Russians along the railway and highway leading to Riga. All told, it would mean a march of only 25 miles.

New Threat Most Dangerous

This newest threat to Pskov is the most dangerous confronting the city, anchor of the German defense system in that area.

The Army newspaper Red Star said that the Germans were counterattacking violently south and southeast of Gdov in the Lake Peipus region, where the Russians are 30 miles from Pskov.

On the twin drive south and southwest from Luga, where the Russian troops swept up 30 towns and villages during the past 24 hours, the Red army met hard going as it pressed down both sides of the Leningrad-Pskov railway. Red Star said the Nazis were blowing up all railway and road bridges in the sector and were building tree barricades across the trunk highway between Luga and Pskov.

Soviet Tactics Successful

The Russians, however are using tactics which the Germans seemingly are unable to meet—going off the highway to cut around fortified villages and then seizing German communications in the rear.

In the upper corner of the Dnieper bend the Red army subdued Field Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's heavy tank thrusts north of Zhenigorodka yesterday and recaptured two important towns, Yablonovka and Taraschcha, respectively 10 and 22 miles southeast of Belya Tserkov.

Defeated here, Von Mannstein launched new counter-blows to the southwest of Zhenigorodka seeking to penetrate Russian lines and relieve the encircled 10 German divisions near Korsun, but dispatches reported the attacks were repulsed and that the toll of Nazi tanks soared toward the 100 mark.

The trapped Nazis were making desperate efforts to get out of the narrowing pocket with their remaining tanks. All such attempts so far have been repulsed by Soviet artillery and mortar fire, while hundreds of enemy troops have been cut down by machine-guns.

Thousands of prisoners have been taken, dispatches said.

Sedition Laid To 'Peace Now'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. — The Dies committee turned over to the Justice department today evidence it said showed that the "Peace Now" movement has engaged in "acts whose nature is clearly seditious and which tend toward the encouragement of treason."

Chairman Dies (D-Tex) said he would recommend prosecution under the sedition laws. Dies, head of the special House committee investigating un-American activities, told reporters he believed his group's formal report on "Peace Now," made public last night, "spells the end of that organization," but added that the committee "will continue to keep a watchful eye on those connected with the movement."

One of the main items Dies said he would hand over to Attorney General Biddle was a letter which committee investigators obtained from the organization's files and which, the committee said, was sent to 57 prominent religious leaders last October.

Laying Down Arms Urged

The letter, the committee report said, invited the religious leaders to "publicly request all the followers of Christ under your banner at once to lay down their arms and cease supporting this war."

A follow-up letter, the committee reported, expressed the belief it would be preferable for Christians to be "guilty of treason to this administration than guilty of treason to the Christ."

The committee said Peace Now was organized last year to work for a negotiated peace. Its officers were identified as George W. Hartman, chairman; Dorothy Hutchinson, associate editor; Marjorie Ewbank, treasurer, and Bessie Simon, secretary.

Dies said he would ask the Justice department to determine whether deportation or detention proceedings should be started against John Albert Collett, a native of Oslo, Norway, whom the committee identified as field secretary for Peace Now.

Tech, SPAAF Fives To Tangle Tonight

High-Scoring Tilt Is In Prospect

The Texas Tech Red Raiders will take on another try at the Army tonight as Coach Polk Robison's kids invade South Plains Army Air field for a battle with the high scoring Winged Commandos at 8 o'clock.

A game scheduled last night at SPAAF between the Winged Commandos and the Childress Army Air field Bombers was postponed until next Thursday night because the Bombers were unable to keep the date. The two teams will play Saturday night at Childress.

The Red Raiders haven't set any woods on fire with their basketball playing to date, but they have never been short on hustle and fight, and have made it interesting for the fans.

At South Plains, coaches and players are taking nothing for granted in the game tonight and have been sharpening their fangs for the battle with the collegians.

Scoring Stars

The battle is expected to develop into a scoring duel between Don Grove of Texas Tech and Leason McCloud, the All-American star from Colorado who has spearheaded the attack for the Winged Commandos into their position as perhaps the top ranking service team in the state.

Grove has paced the Tech scoring parade to date with 221 points while McCloud is the pace setter with SPAAF with 218 points, and the battle between this pair looms as one well worth watching.

The greatest aid for the two high scoring stars has come from a pair of colorful performers in Nolan Weeks, the rangy Fort Worth redhead who plays along with Grove, and John Kline, smooth working star from Ohio who is teamed with McCloud. Weeks has totaled 183 points this season while Kline has hit the bucket for 135.

Army Average Better

The South Plains records, however, have been compiled over a shorter schedule than that of the Texas Tech lads, and the Army pair has shown a much better average per game figure, with Texas Tech averaging only 39 points for 18 games while SPAAF has shown a 53 point average over 12 games.

McCloud has shown an average of 19 points per game, and in the last five games has shown an average of 23 points. Grove and Weeks have shown an average of 12 points a game, but both have shown ability to "get hot" on their shots and have had nights that have sent their scores into the 20's.

The Army five is expected to start Kline and McCloud at forwards, Doug Wakeland at center, Ed Kalfain and Charles Conley at guards. Coach Robison indicated Wednesday night that he would start the same lineup that started against LAAF which found Weeks and Hubert Bechtol at forwards, Grove at center, Delbert Cooper and Texas Wallis at guards.

Both teams will go into action again Saturday night with the Winged Commandos going to Childress to battle the highly rated Childress Army Air field while Texas Tech will return to its home floor to face the always tough Texas Tech Engineers unit.

Tahoka, Petersburg High School Boxers Clash Friday Night

PETERSBURG, Feb. 17 (Special)—Fighting here Friday night promises to give fans a big evening as the Tahoka High school leather pushers invade the local gym to battle the Petersburg High school boxing team. Fifteen fights have been paired for the show.

The matches start in the 88 pound class and work up, and will again bring together many of the stars of the District Golden Glove tournament staged in Lubbock earlier this month.

The team from Tahoka, announced this week by Coach Leo Jackson, revealed nine of the Golden Glove boxers from Tahoka would be on the visitors squad here. Two Tahoka battlers, who won titles at Lubbock, will not be with the Tahoka team here. They are in Fort Worth at the state Golden Glove tournament.

Two scraps in the 88 pound class head the lists for Friday night with pairings announced today. Clubb of Petersburg and Mueller of Tahoka meet in the first bout with Flower of Petersburg and Claiborn of Tahoka meeting in the second. In the 98 pound class there will be one scrap, pitting Foote of Petersburg with White of Tahoka.

A battle that will recall memories of two popular Golden Glove scrappers will be the scrap Friday between Frank Stanton of Petersburg and J. A. Dodson of Tahoka. Dodson looked good in one fight before he injured his hand while Stanton went into the finals before being beaten.

The Byrd-Driver battle in the other 105 pound scrap announced on the card should be another thriller. Driver looked good in the Golden Gloves fights in Lubbock, but in workouts here, Byrd has looked very impressive.

In the 112 pound class, the Wilson of Petersburg and McMillan of Tahoka scrap looms as a real battle. McMillan was one of the early sensations of the Lubbock tournament. Another 112 pound class battle will pit Thompson of Petersburg and Schafner of Tahoka.

In the 118 pound class will be two scraps with Bruington of Petersburg meeting Glen Newton of Tahoka while Eaves of Petersburg will clash with Dwain Vaughn of Tahoka. Newton and Vaughn were both Golden Glove fighters with the Petersburg team.

Three fights have been billed in the 126 pound class with the Krouse of Petersburg and Miller of Tahoka battle expected to take the spotlight in this weight division. Others will match Eaves of Petersburg and Ramsey of Tahoka in one match with Black of Petersburg and Dorman of Tahoka meeting in the other.

The lightweight scrap between White of Petersburg and Grider of Tahoka looms as a whale of a scrap. White was the lad who stole the show by beating Papps, the South Plains Army Air Field sensation, while Grider was a strong candidate from Tahoka, but unable to compete in the Lubbock tournament.

The Kelley of Petersburg and Caraway of Tahoka battle in the middleweight class will also loom as a top feature on the card and will bring together a pair of colorful scrappers. The card is completed with a heavyweight battle between Hegi of Petersburg and Hodge of Tahoka.

Scoring Record Set By Henry

Rice Owls Down Longhorns 62-43

(By The Associated Press)

Big Bill Henry, Rice center, garnered a Southwest conference basketball scoring record totaling 231 points and pushed the Owls into what will likely be a tie for the loop championship when the Rice quintet downed the Texas Longhorns in Austin last night 62-43.

The win gave the Owls a 10-1 record against nine victories and a loss for the second-place Arkansas Razorbacks. The loss shoved Texas into a tie with idle Southern Methodist for third place. Arkansas has only winless Texas A&M remaining on its schedule and is due to complete the season tied with Rice with 11 victories and a defeat.

The towering Henry sank 17 points last night to break Dwight Parks' record of 214 tallies set in 1942. Rice has one game left to play, that against Baylor in Houston Saturday night.

Tight Guard On Henry

In trying to stop Henry the Longhorns put two and sometimes three men on him. This left two unheralded Owls free to roam the court, Ray Hilton, a substitute, who sank eight field goals, and Don Suman, who garnered seven.

The Longhorns gave the Owls an early scare at first, with young Bob Summers doing good rebound work. They jumped into a 17-11 lead midway of the first half. Henry and Hilton put the Owls ahead, but little Roy Cox dropped in three goals near the close to leave Texas trailing only 24-25.

Summers led the Longhorns with 16 points.

Schedule for the remainder of the week:

Tonight — Southern Methodist vs. Texas A. and M. at Dallas; Friday—Texas Christian vs. Texas A. and M. at Fort Worth; Saturday—Baylor vs. Rice at Houston.

Idalou, New Deal To Clash For Cage Title

The New Deal and Idalou basketball teams will tangle tonight at New Deal with the county Class B championship riding with the winner.

The curtain raiser to the game, brings together Frenship and Roosevelt in a battle for third place in the county race. The two games were postponed until tonight after last Saturday's county tournament held here in which the Idalou girls won the county title in the girl's division.

Both New Deal and Idalou have strong teams, and have gone through a very successful season this year and the meeting between these two high scoring teams promises to be a real thriller.

Packer Mentor Favors Limit On Number Of Pro Grid Teams

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. — When the National football league holds its annual schedule meeting at Philadelphia on April 19, Coach Curly Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers will propose that circuit play be limited to eight teams for the duration.

He also will advise the grid moguls to regard as nonsense recent intimations that owners of major league baseball parks might try to invade the realm of pro football.

Favors Combinations

Chunky Lambeau, whose black locks are now flecked with silver, does not oppose granting requested new franchises this year, so that there will be 11 or 12 clubs in the circuit. But he insists that a proposed new club, like Boston or Buffalo; or a club resuming operations, like Cleveland, should combine with a second-division club — like the Chicago Cardinals, Detroit or Brooklyn — to form a combination team because of the manpower shortage. He advocates that Philadelphia and Pittsburgh continue their Phil.-Pitt. combination of 1943.

Eight teams, including the Phil-Pitt. outfit, operated during the '43 season; and Curly — drawing upon the experience of 25 years at the Packers' helm — is convinced that it would be against the best interests of the game to attempt to put additional teams upon the gridiron now, in view of the increasing service inroads on the players.

Hagberg Will Coach Navy

Submarine Skipper Succeeds Whelchel

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 17. (AP) —The United States Naval academy announced officially today the appointment of Commander Oscar Emil (Swede) Hagberg as head football coach, thus confirming reports which have been widely circulated for many weeks.

Hagberg, a submarine skipper who recently returned from active duty in the Pacific, was a versatile Navy grid performer 15 years ago, and a former assistant middie football coach.

Hagberg, who succeeds Capt. John E. Whelchel, was visiting his home town of Follansbee, W. Va., when the announcement came today, but others on the coaching staff indicated he would disclose spring football training plans soon after his return about Feb. 25.

Former Aide To Larson

The new Mentor, a member of the Navy varsity in 1928-29-30, was an aide to Major Emory E. Larson at Annapolis in 1939, and previously coached the sailor plebe and junior varsity outfits.

Thus it was expected that he would retain the Navy's single wing system, with its occasional T formation variations, since a fairly sizeable number of Welchel's 1943 squad will return next fall. In nine games last year, Navy lost only to Notre Dame for one of the best seasons in the Midshipmen's football history.

HOOVER PASSES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (AP) — "It looks like I'm in," commented Joe Hoover, 27-year-old shortstop for the Detroit Tigers, announcing he had passed his pre-induction physical examination today at the Army induction station.

Amherst Tournament Will Open Friday

AMHERST, Feb. 17 (Special)—The Amherst High school invitation basketball tournament will open Friday afternoon with eight teams represented in both boys and girls divisions. Winners will receive war bonds with awards also arranged for sportsmanship and for all-tournament teams in both boys and girls play.

Teams have been entered in the boys division from Springlake, Spade, Cotton Center, Sundown, Littlefield, Amherst, Muleshoe and Olton. Girls teams have been entered from Springlake, Spade, Cotton Center Sundown, Littlefield, Amherst, Muleshoe and Sudan, drawn in that order on the brackets.

There will be a consolation bracket for boys, but not for the girls.

The Littlefield and Amherst girls will start the play Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock with the boys teams from the same schools opening the play for boys at 2 o'clock. Muleshoe and Sudan girls play at 3 o'clock with Muleshoe and Olton boys playing at 4 o'clock.

Springlake and Spade girls play at 6 o'clock with the boys of the same schools meeting at 7 o'clock. Cotton Center and Sundown teams play at 8 and 9 o'clock.

Semi-finals and finals will be played Saturday. Consolidation finals for boys will be played at 8 o'clock, girls finals at 9 o'clock and boys finals at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Basketball Is Family Affair At Sidney Lanier; Team Looms As State Titlist

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 17 (AP) — Basketball at Sidney Lanier is a family proposition—and that explains why the school always comes up with a strong team.

The other night the Voks won their third straight district 28-A interscholastic league championship. And they'll bet you here that Sidney Lanier repeats as state titlist at Austin next month.

Fans over the state may wonder why the same names appear in the Vok lineups season after season. That would be explained, however, if first names were used in box scores.

Year-Around Sport

Whole families come up through the neighborhood play and intramural league system that makes basketball a year-around sport at Sidney Lanier.

A hard-surface court on the school grounds is available to ambitious youngsters in the Lanier neighborhood.

The boys look forward to the day when they will realize the big ambition—to toss in a few goals in the Lanier gym.

In addition to the constant supply of kids on that outdoor court, the school has a secondary "feeding" system for its basketball teams—the intramural league. Each of the 14 home rooms has a team and they play two days a week during recess periods.

The result has been that the Voks won the state 1943 championship, were runners-up in 1939 and went to the semi-finals in 1942.

And this year's team looks as good as any of the others. It has won 16 games and lost none, scoring 568 points to the opposition' 218.

British, Dominion Casualties 36,626

LONDON, Feb. 17. (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today that British and Dominion casualties in Italy from the initial landng on Sept. 3, 1943, until Feb. 12 were 7,635 killed, 23,283 wounded and 5,708 missing — a total of 36,626.

These figures do not include casualties suffered by the RAF or the Royal Navy, Churchill said.

Amrica cut its pre-war traffic toll almost in half the first six months of 1943.

We see by the papers where collectors of rare coins are increasing. There's quite a few of them, in fact, in the Department of Internal Revenue!

BECAUSE he moved into the White House at an age less than that of the average resident of 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, most people are prone to think of Mr. Roosevelt as being younger today than he really is. The cold mathematics, however, are that he was 51 when he took office; is 62 now as he is poised to run for a fourth term as President.

Certainly 62 is not old in this day and time. Especially if a man is in good physical shape, he may really be at his zenith at 62. Men who do nothing but "brain work," such as lawyers, judges, bankers and other executives, often are at their wisest and best in their 60's.

So whatever else may be said against Mr. Roosevelt's being kept in office another four years after next January, "advanced age" cannot be made a factor.

* * *

But if and when he is inaugurated again, the President will be the fourth oldest man to take the oath as the nation's chief executive.

As Al Smith would say, "let's take a look at the record."

In 1841, William Henry Harrison was inaugurated at the age of 68.

In 1847, James Buchanan was sworn in at age of 65.

In 1849, Zachary Taylor was inaugurated at age 54.

They are the only ones whose inaugural ages will top that of Mr. Roosevelt if the President is re-elected.

Incidentally, a Roosevelt was the youngest President ever inaugurated—but it was Theodore, not Franklin. The head of the Oyster Bay Roosevelt clan was only 42 when he took the oath in 1901.

Next youngest was U. S. Grant, who became President at age 46.

WASHINGTON, as everyone knows, is "the darndest town" when it comes to rumors. At one time or another, almost every kind of a yarn emanates from the capital.

The currently interesting "lowdown" seeping out of the city along the Potomac is that Wendell Willkie may be Mr. Roosevelt's choice for vice-president when what is now called the Democratic party holds its national convention in Chicago come July.

Personally, The Plainsman does not believe there is much—if any — basis for the rumor. But whether it is baseless, or not, it wouldn't be the strangest thing in the world.

Willkie was a Democrat all his adult life until he kidnaped the GOP presidential nomination in 1940. On the other hand, President Roosevelt has crossed and recrossed party lines so often that certainly he is no stickler for regularity. Furthermore, he has made the Democratic party into something entirely foreign to what it was in the years previous to 1933, so a lifetime Socialist may today lay better claim to being a "Democrat" than many who have "voted 'er straight" for 40 years.

While we doubt very seriously that there will be a Roosevelt - Willkie ticket in November, we do not believe either man would hesitate to be part of such a ticket if it looked like "the best politics." If we were Mr. Roosevelt, we'd run with a one-eyed Patagonian if it would help us get re-elected and we certainly credit the President with being fully as practical and realistic as we are.

And if we were Mr. Willkie, and wanted as badly as he does to be an official brass hat, we'd run with anything but an out-and-out Communist in order to "get there."

Mr. Willkie doubtless would, too. He certainly hasn't stopped at anything to keep before the people. Why would he stop at anything to stay before them?

THE late "Sage of Emporia," William Allen White, used to say: "Whenever anything is going to happen to this country, it happens first in Kansas." Whether he was right, or not, something of interest to West Texas stockmen recently has happened in Kansas — and may spread elsewhere in the West and Southwest.

Over the "open spaces" of Kansas, two cattlemen were engaging in a coyote hunt the other day. They ran across a pack of five of the animals, noticed two were black.

The hunters' hounds finally caught and killed one of the black "prairie wolves," but only after a hard fight. And the hunters discovered it was a hybrid—apparently half coyote and half police dog.

Shaped like a coyote, with pointed ears and a sharp nose, the animal weighed in the neighborhood of 50 pounds, which means it was much bigger than the average "prairie wolf." Furthermore, it showed more inclination to fight than the coyote does, and much less inclination to run.

Later investigations uncovered the fact that in the lesser populated areas of Kansas there are many of these hybrids, which are much more to be feared than the pure coyote.

It is not unusual in the Southwest for hunters to run across a mixture of coyote and dog.

But those who know both police dogs and coyotes know that if that particular mixture becomes frequent, sheepmen and cowmen have double-trouble ahead of them.

The coyote population of this section of West Texas has grown in recent years—especially since men have less time to hunt and less ammunition for the purpose; since tires and gasoline have become too precious to use in motorized coyote hunting.

Let's hope we have no epidemic of crossing between police dogs—which, thankfully enough, are rather scarce in West Texas — and coyotes around here.

INCIDENTALLY, a police dog needs no wild strain to make him a killer of livestock. All he needs is a taste of blood and the opportunity to range.

Those who lived here 10 years ago know that, for they will remember what a pack of police dogs did on the west and south edges of Lubbock about a decade back.

They killed or maimed several fine calves on the farm acres of the campus of Texas Tech and, on the extension of south College avenue, literally "ate alive" a cow they found tethered in an open shed.

Nobody likes dogs better than The Plainsman, and few people admire a fine, big, intelligent police dog more than the writer does.

But police dogs, Doberman Pincers, black shepherds and even some collies must be closely watched. Even after years of domestication, the wild strain still is with them. They are natural foragers, natural rangers and they revert easily to their past eras of freedom.

Blood Runs Cold

YESTERDAY: Charles Whitefield, the artist who lives on the third floor, is interviewed. Dirck surprises him into admitting that Miss Wells was in his apartment the evening of the murder.

Chapter 17

Dinner With Dirck

I didn't like having to come into the murdered girl's apartment so often, and I had to keep my eyes away from the dressing table.

The portfolio was propped against the wall behind the desk. Dirck laid it on the bed, untied the tapes and brought out about a dozen drawings. They were all done in charcoal, heads sketched from casts. I looked at them carefully.

"Well," I said, "in the first place, Mr. Kolff, this is the work beginners are given in art school, but it seems to me they are very well done."

The drawings had been sprayed to keep them from smudging, so the dates in the corner were legible. The last ones were beautifully done, so she had improved a lot from the time she started.

"You think she had talent?" Dirck asked eagerly.

I nodded. "Quite exceptional, I should say. Why?"

And then I knew the reason why he was so interested. Her mother had said since she had so little talent they'd decided she should give up art school. We stared at each other.

"I can't see for the life of me what they would have gained by doing a thing like that," he said. "If her mother felt that the girl needed restraining it seems like a petty way of showing her authority."

I nodded. "Mrs. MacDonald didn't seem like that to me, either," I said.

"No," Dirck said slowly, "but I could have sworn that she was frightened about something, yet that would seem impossible. After all, she is the girl's mother."

I looked at him sadly. "Dirck," I said, "your illusions are all very touching, but they don't mean a thing. Home life isn't always cream and roses."

"You may be right," he said, but he looked annoyed. "We can't jump to conclusions."

I felt sure that he was trying to convince himself that Joan Kent's mother had nothing to do with it. "She must have been home last night," I said half to myself, "even though Richard didn't see her when he got in."

Dirck dug in his pocket for his pipe. "I talked with Richard. And from all he told me, their mother wasn't particularly dominating, and yet—"

"How did she get along with Richard."

"Oh, fine. He said, though, that he'd been home very little. He went to Prep School and then to college for a year. And this fall he got a position with a brokerage house downtown, so he hasn't lived home for a couple of years." He broke off abruptly. "Chris, be a good girl and wait a couple more minutes. I've got a hunch."

He dashed upstairs, so there was nothing for me to do but take my gnawing appetite back to my own apartment.

During the day I didn't mind the house, but now that it was dark I felt depressed. The room was shadowy in the candlelight and I felt uneasy. New York and this house on George street were strange now, and frightening. I was glad when Dirck finally came back. He closed the door behind him and walked over to me.

"I know all," he whispered, his eyes gleaming.

I was pretty well sunk and practically starving. "All about what?"

"Mrs. Evans. I ran into her while I was upstairs." His lips twitched with laughter. "Her husband, James Evans, for whom, you might be interested to know, her dog is named, departed this life eight years ago. But she keeps in touch with him through the medium of the spirit and he has warned her several times that there would be trouble in this house."

I raised a skeptical eyebrow. "Did she really tell you all of this, Dirck Kolff, or are you making it up?"

He nodded solemnly. "I heard much more, a lot of which has slipped my mind, except that he owned a laundry and died, leaving her, as you would say, very well heeled."

"I never said that in my life. And if she has money, why is she living here?"

Dirck raised his eyes to the ceiling. "The money has gone to the four winds because she didn't follow his spiritual advice about investing it."

I was annoyed. "The more I see and hear of that woman the surer I am that she isn't quite right."

The Sergeant called to us from the hall and Dirck opened the door.

"Well," said the officer, with no evidence of good humor, "that man, Whitefield, doesn't know a thing. I've been up there all this time trying to get him to admit that he heard some of the commotion last night. He didn't hear a sound. I asked him if he was deaf and he admitted that his left ear gave him a little trouble sometimes."

I couldn't help laughing. The Sergeant looked so funny when he got excited. But my mirth didn't improve his disposition. He turned to me and murmured something about making several arrests during the evening.

"Do you mind if I have dinner first?" I asked. "I didn't have any lunch."

He looked at Dirck. "You going too?"

He nodded. "Yes, Sergeant. And I'll have her back here by nine o'clock at the latest. I promise you."

He made me feel like a convict. The Sergeant said O. K. reluctantly, and the three of us went downstairs together.

"It's quite a responsibility, taking you out, Miss Howarth," Dirck said as he helped me into his yellow roadster. "Little did I dream when I showered and shaved this morning that by nightfall you'd have me embroiled in a murder."

"And little did I reck," I retorted, "that after years of pure living I'd be taken for the criminal type."

"Don't be cross," he said soothingly. "You'll have your dinner soon."

"It better be soon," I said darkly.

That was the wrong thing to say, and he drove like one possessed. But it didn't last long. We were parked in front of the restaurant at one jump.

"A thick steak for two, medium rare," Dirck said to the waiter when we finally got settled at a small table.

I lighted a cigarette. The German band was playing a drinking song. "This is grand," I said. "It's the first time I've felt human since I moved."

Nuisance And Nitwit

It was a wonderful dinner. For half an hour I concentrated on the steak and we didn't mention the George Street goings-on until we were having coffee. Then Dirck said:

"Much as it hurts my pride, Miss Howarth, the Sergeant is forcing me to conclude that I'm not only a nuisance but a nitwit."

I leaned back in the chair and looked at him critically. "Dirck," I said, "you must admit that the Sergeant, for all his faults, is a perspicacious man."

He paid no attention to me. "I'm not really trying to interfere with his investigation," he said, "and he is only letting me stay around because I know a higher-upper in the Police Department." Then he added with a grin, "if it weren't for keeping you out of jail I'd take my bow and depart."

"That's white of you, my friend," I said. "But I'm willing to bet ten dollars that you're more interested in finding the murderer than in saving me from the gallows."

He considered that seriously. "There are a couple of drawing cards," he admitted. "Red-heads have always distracted me, and

NO SLACKENING UNTIL VICTORY

When the final tabulations of the Fourth War Loan drive are completed, it isn't likely they will show many counties in the United States with better records than that of Lubbock.

The present indications are that our county has done more than exceed every quota assigned it in the drive. Present records indicate that the final report will show that every community and each agency in the county has reached the goal assigned it.

This, of course, will not mean that the county, nor anyone in the county, has done more than should have been done. Anything less than the very best falls short of duty in an undertaking like the Fourth War Loan drive. Nor does the Lubbock county record reflect in the slightest upon those of counties which have failed to reach their quotas. Doubtless some quotas were too high. It would be impossible to make every quota entirely equitable in a financial undertaking as huge as the Fourth War Loan drive.

But it is a fact that Lubbock county was assigned a particular job to do in the campaign. It was given an objective to reach. The county has done its job. It has reached its objective, and passed it.

However, this doesn't mean that anyone can now rest on his oars. We merely have over-reached one objective. Others still lie ahead perhaps many others. Somewhere ahead—perhaps far ahead—lies the final objective. That will be victory. There can be no slackening of effort until it is reached.

As If There Isn't Enough Trouble in the World

Men Under Fire Dig Elaborate Foxholes For One-Night Stays

Resting Doughboys Find Store Of Fancy Wines

BY ERNIE PYLE

Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Feb. 17 (By Wireless) —When I joined "X" company it was in one of those lulls that sometimes come in war. The company was still "in the lines," as you say, but not actually fighting.

ERNIE PYLE

They had taken a town a few days before, and since then had been merely waiting for the next attack. We moved forward twice while I was with them, always in night marches, and on the last move the company went into battle again.

These intervals give the soldiers time to restore their gear and recuperate their spirits. Usually they come weeks apart.

A regiment will be bivouacked over an area a mile or more square, with the men in foxholes under olive trees, and the company, battalion and regimental command posts set up in farmhouses.

"Name Your Poison, Boys!"

In areas recently passed over by battles the towns have been largely evacuated —in fact practically all of them are mere heaps of rubble from bombing and shelling—and no stores are open. There is little chance of buying wine.

But this regiment had gone sniffing into cellars in a depopulated town and turned up with all kinds of exotic liquors which they dug out of the rubble.

The result was that you could make a tour on foot of a dozen company and battalion command posts around the perimeter of the town and in nearly every one discover a shelf full of the finest stuff imaginable.

It was ironic to walk into a half-demolished building and find a command post set up in the remaining rooms, with soldiers sitting in front of a crackling fireplace, and at 10 o'clock in the morning, with enemy shell bursts making the old building tremble, be offered your choice of cherry, peach, apricot and half a dozen other varieties of fine brandy out of fancy bottles. But I must say a windfall like that doesn't come often.

OUR company command post consisted of one table, one chair and one telephone, in a second-story room of a stone farmhouse. In most of these two-story farmhouses the stairway goes up the outside. You hang blankets at the door for blackout, and burn candles.

Five platoons of the company were bivouacked in olive orchards in a circle around the farmhouse, the farthest foxhole being not more than 200 yards away. Some soldiers just dug regular foxholes and put their blankets at the bottom. During the day they would sit at the edge of the hole cleaning guns, writing letters or just talking, and at night they would sleep at the bottom of the foxhole. Others dug more elaborate places.

Fire Has Been Heavy

I've always been struck by the work some men will put into a home as temporary as a foxhole. I've been with men in this company who would arrive at a new bivouac at midnight, dig a hole just big enough to sleep in the rest of the night, then work all the next day on a deep, elaborate, roofed-over foxhole, even though they knew they had to leave the same evening and never see that hole again.

In the olive groves throughout this bitter Cassino area there are pitiful testimonials to close-up warfare. In our grove I don't believe there was a single one of the thousands of old trees that hadn't at least one bullet scar in it. Knocked-off branches littered the ground. Some trees were cut clear down by shells. The stone walls had shell gaps every so often, and every standing thing was bullet-pocked.

You couldn't walk 50 feet without hitting a shell or bomb crater. Every house and shed had at least a corner knocked off.

SOME soldiers were sleeping in the haymow of a stone barn. They had to get up into it via a stepladder they had pieced together, because the steps had been blown away. Between the house and the barn ran a footpath on a sort of ledge. Our men had been caught there that first night by a tank in the valley below firing at them point-blank. One soldier had been instantly killed, and as we walked along the path a few days later his steel helmet was still lying there, bloody and riddled with holes. Another soldier had a leg blown off, but lived.

The men were telling me of a replacement—a green soldier—who joined the company the day after, when this soldier's leg was still lying in the path. The new soldier stopped and stared at it and kept on staring.

The other boys watched him from a distance. They said that when anyone came along the path the new man would move off to one side so as not to be seen. But as soon as they would pass, he would come back and stare, sort of hypnotized. He never said anything about it afterwards, and nobody said anything to him. Somebody buried the leg the next day.

I might add when the red-head has brown eyes it's fatal."

"Hip hip, hurrah." I swallowed hard. So he had liked Mary Ann.

"You aren't, by any chance, mocking me, are you?"

I looked up at him wide-eyed. "It's this way," I explained. "Men are so consistent it's depressing. Wave red-hair in front of their noses and they fold up like deck chairs."

"It can never be said of Dirck Kolff that he travelled with the pack. I'll have to look around for the blonde, I think."

"Have you ever tried advertising?" I asked lazily.

"There are times, Miss Howarth, when a beating would do wonders for you."

He ordered more coffee. When the waiter left he asked abruptly whether I liked Richard MacDonald.

"Yes, pretty well," I said. "He isn't my idea of a strong character, though."

"You're probably right. He's awfully upset over this, because he was devoted to his sister."

"She was keen looking."

"So I gathered, and very popular, too. But for the last few months she's been seeing mostly one man. That Lathrop chap. They were much in love."

"And Mr. Lathrop is still in hiding."

Dirck nodded. "That gets me. I can't see where he's keeping himself. It's in all the afternoon papers and he should have turned up by this time.

"After Lathrop got his affairs straightened out he was going to marry Joan," Dirck went on.

"I think he murdered her for her diamonds," I said.

"Did you happen to meet Mr. Kimball's cook, valet and amanuensis, Ishi, when you went to look at the apartment?"

"No, he wasn't there. Isn't he ill? It seems to me that Mr. Kimball said when I moved in last night that both of his assistants were ill."

"He's away, upstate for a week, because his father is dying. Kimball hopes he'll be back soon. He's very fond of Ishi and he's helpless when he's away."

He reached for a cigarette. "Well, finish your coffee and we'll skip along. It's almost nine."

We skipped all right. That yellow car skidded on every piece of ice between Fourteenth Street and the house. I crawled out of the car, exhausted but grateful to be on two feet again.

The result of ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, this new and potent product is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. It supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in—

STANTON'S 18% LAYING MASH

For millions of years, the sea has surrendered its rich treasures of minerals and vitamins to the fish which live in it. Well-nourished in these vital elements, fish are among the world's healthiest living organisms.

Today, the sea's abundant food reservoir of these elements is being tapped. Through two ingredients—ManAmar and B-G plus — both made from products of the sea, Stanton's 18% laying mash brings you an abundant supply of the animal proteins, minerals and vitamins which will help keep your flock healthy and productive. Try this fine feed on your flock at once. Stanton's Feed Dealer or The Standard Milling Co. 1303 4th Street Dial 5571

Cattle Feeding Being Reduced For Winter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — Livestock experts of the War Food administration (WFA) say reports from the Southwest indicate cattle feeding operations are being curtailed this winter because of a shorter supply of feed and a less favorable price for finished cattle.

They said it was impossible to make any definite estimates as to the possible effect of reducing feedings on the total amount of meat which will be supplied from cattle marketed from this area.

The amount of better grades of beef will be reduced considerably, but it may be offset by a somewhat larger supply of lower grades.

A narrower margin between prices of unfattened cattle from the western ranges and fattened cattle was said to be discouraging to those feeders who normally buy range cattle and fatten them. The margin is fixed by a government beef subsidy program.

Another discouraging factor is a shortage of a supplementary feed. National production of protein feeds last year was below requirements of present record livestock numbers. It was this shortage that led the government to request a smaller pig crop this year and a reduction in the production of finished or fattened cattle.

Case Against Leaders Of Klan Dismissed

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 17 (AP) — Judge A. Marshall Thompson Wednesday dismissed the case of five leaders of the Ku Klux Klan on trial on a charge of conspiracy, the court holding that a conviction would "abridge the right of freedom of speech."

Judge Thompson freed James A. Colescott, of Atlanta, imperial wizard of the Klan and four Pennsylvania associates, by sustaining defense counsel's demurrer that the prosecution had not made out a case nor introduced any evidence to merit continuation of the trial.

Pacific Coast Visit Planned By Rayburn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — Speaker Rayburn, being boomed by influential elements in the Democratic party for the vice presidential nomination on a Roosevelt fourth term ticket, will visit the Pacific coast next month.

Edwin W. Pauley, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, announced today that Rayburn will be the principal orator at two major Jackson day dinners in California. The dinners, party rallies which are being spread over a two months' period, will be held March 28 at Los Angeles and March 30 at San Francisco.

Possibility Of Nazi Collapse Considered

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Observers in London, taking a rosy view of the amazing way the Red armies are raviging the Hitlerian war front, are speculating on the possibility of the Russians completely clearing their territory of the invaders during the five remaining weeks of winter.

Well, that certainly is super-optimism, but it must be admitted that it's within the range of extreme possibility—if. The "if" would be a collapse of the Nazi front, either resulting in debacle or quick withdrawal to, say, the Brest Litovsk-Carpathians line through Poland, which might be Hitler's last stand before falling back to the German frontier.

The whole Nazi front in the Ukraine is shivering like an autumn leaf, and the northern flank, in the Leningrad zone, is in jeopardy. Should Finland suddenly make peace terms with Russia, thereby uncovering the German wing on the Baltic, almost anything could happen.

Consider Nazi Withdrawal

However, the purpose of this article isn't to dilate on this highly speculative contingency of wholesale German retreat, but to consider what happens when the Hitlerites do make their big withdrawal, as they surely must. Daily one hears the query:

Will the Russians keep on driving right into Germany, no matter whether the Anglo-American invasion has reached Hitler's western border? Supposing (and this is asked in sepulchral voice) the Red Army is first in the reich?

It would be interesting to know whence comes the odd notion that the Russians are bound to withhold the coup de grace from Hitler until the western Allies are on the ground, or that the latter will hold their hands if they happen to be first in the field. The idea is absurd.

Of course the Red forces will continue the chase until the Nazis yell for mercy. Indeed, the Hitlerites will be lucky if they're able in some cases to holler loud enough to make themselves heard.

Present For "Barbecue"

Human nature being what it is, it's likely that neither the Muscovites nor the Anglo-American pair would be happy to arrive in Berlin last. All the Big Three would like to be present at the barbecue to keep an eye on developments—political, for instance.

However, the war will go forward hell-bent, irrespective of these undercurrents of human nature.

Presumably the Moscow and Tehran conferences of the Big Three discussed all the possibilities which could sprout from war's end, and planned accordingly. The Moscow pact pledged unity in war and in peace, and the United Nations will have to place their trust in that.

ATHLETE DEPORTED

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — The Swedish newspaper Afton Tidningen said in an article reported today to OWI that the Nazis had deported Birger Ruud, Olympic ski-jumping champion, who was placing in a concentration camp in Norway last February.

ACID STOMACH DISTRESS!

If you suffer from sour stomach, gas, bloating, acid indigestion, or heart burn, due to gastric hyperacidity, by all means get a box of Neutracid, put a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water and drink slowly. Neutracid is new — nothing quite like it. Neutracid neutralizes acid—relieves gas—brings amazingly fast symptomatic relief. adv.

Texas Liquor Control Makes Annual Report

AUSTIN, Feb. 17. (AP) — The Texas Liquor Control board, in its annual report to the governor, disclosed today there were only 19 local option elections held in the state last year.

The year before, board records show, there were 29, the smallest number for any year since repeal in 1935.

Of the 1943 elections, 12 were county-wide and seven were in precincts. Three precincts and one county voted dry to bring the year's only changes in status of wet areas.

The annual report showed revenues for the year totaled $10,638,060, an increase of $132,802 over 1942. Expenditures were $86,162 less last year.

Collections on liquor imported for personal use at El Paso, Laredo and Hidalgo amounted to $274,905, an increase of 129 per cent over the previous year. Law permits an individual to import one quart of liquor.

Border collections by cities included: El Paso $129,486, Laredo $93,728, Hidalgo $51,691.

Yanks Capture Nine Jap Soldiers With Empty Machinegun

ABOARD A COAST GUARD ASSAULT TRANSPORT, Feb. 11 (Delayed) (AP) — How four Coast Guardsmen captured nine Japanese soldiers on a tiny sand spit on Kwajalein Atoll with the help of an empty machinegun was told today by Yeoman William A. Haffert, U. S. Coast Guard correspondent.

The Japanese were almost covered with sand in a large foxhole and appeared to be dead when Zabe P. Truesdell of Breckenridge, Tex., and Robert Quinn of Gastonia, N. C., found them Feb. 1 near Roi islet.

"Then one of them moved his arm and we knew we had a problem," Truesdell said.

Boat Was Disabled

They raced back to their disabled and beached boat and returned with two machineguns and their shipmates — Charles Newsome of Houston, and John R. Darr of El Paso.

"I pointed at the one who had moved his arm and motioned for him to get up," Truesdell, 20-year-old former cowhand recounted. "They broke out of the sand like gophers and raised their hands. Just then I realized my gun wasn't loaded. But the Japs didn't know it and nothing happened. Ensign Russel M. Keith, Brockton, Mass., came ashore and had the prisoners marched through the water to his boat. Like the Texans' craft, it was stranded.

How the Japanese came to be on the sandbad, without weapons, few clothes and apparently no rations, is a mystery none of the Coast Guardsmen could answer.
