Moscow Sources Say Khrushchev Out

Hurricane Isbell Aims At N. Carolina Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Isbell, crossing up the Weather Bureau, swung today into a broad turn that aimed her 100-mile winds at the North Carolina coast.

An advisory at 8 a.m. EST said the hurricane was expected to make a right turn away from land. But an hour and a half later, Isbell had swung instead to the left.

A still bigger turn then was forecast and North Carolina residents were warned that hurricane force winds and high tides probably will reach the coast this afternoon.

Gale warnings and a hurricane watch were issued from Charleston, S.C. northward through North Carolina.

Isbell was centered about 240 miles east of Brunswick, Ga., and moving straight north at 25 miles an hour. Earlier, it had been moving north-northeast.

The hurricane moved into the Atlantic after a fast Florida crossing that spared the state the devastation Isbell brought to Cuba. But she gave birth to tornadoes that injured 39 persons in Florida.

At least six and possibly more tornadoes whipped out of the leading edge of the small but vicious storm, demolishing house trailers, unroofing homes and other buildings in several communities.

The hurricane went out to sea after passing just north of Palm Beach, famed winter playground of the wealthy, leaving the city largely without electricity and its streets littered with debris.

But Isbell brought nothing to Florida to compare with the devastation she left behind in Cuba, where four died, hundreds of homes were destroyed, thousands evacuated from flooded lowlands and crops ruined.

The worst of the tornadoes whirled out of the Atlantic and ripped through Boynton Beach, a coastal city of 14,000, destroying about 20 house trailers and injuring at least 22 persons.

"It sounded like a freight train," said Mrs. L. S. Chadwell who with her husband and two sons-in-law watched in terror as the twister tugged the roof off their 54-year-old home.

"Everything turned dark and it hit us," Mrs. Chadwell said. "I screamed for them to fall on the floor when the roof started coming off."

They were not injured.

Seventeen persons were hurt at Eau Gallie when a tornado demolished a dozen house trailers, lifted the roof off a church during services and blew a house across a road.

The twister ripped through the town of about 19,000 while the center of the hurricane was about 80 miles down the coast near Palm Beach.

"We were all sitting in the church listening to the preacher when the tornado hit," said a woman member of the congregation of the Glad Tidings Church of Eau Gallie.

Part of the church's roof was blown away and its doors and windows were smashed, but the small congregation escaped without injury.

Brezhnev, Kosygin Assume Top Posts

MOSCOW (AP)—Usually reliable sources said today Premier Khrushchev has resigned.

Leonid I. Brezhnev has taken over as first secretary of the Communist party, the key job in this country, and Alexei Kosygin has become premier, the sources said.

There was no official confirmation.

Khrushchev's name was omitted tonight from an official list of Soviet leaders.

The unexpected exit of Khrushchev from the dominant position in the Soviet Union which he has held for almost a decade was decided upon at meetings of the party's Central Committee beginning Monday, the informants said. It was not clear just when the meeting ended and the decision came.

The informants said Mikhail Suslov, a top aide of Joseph Stalin and the Kremlin's chief spokesman in its dispute with Communist China, delivered the key report to the Central Committee.

Brezhnev, 57, has been regarded for some time as Khrushchev's successor. Khrushchev himself appeared to be elevating the former steelworker into that position.

For the last two days Khrushchev, 70, has not been seen or mentioned publicly. He met a French minister at his vacation home on the Black Sea on Tuesday but the minister, Gaston Palewski, was hustled out of town with unexpected haste afterward.

Kosygin, 60, has been a first deputy premier. He ran the government during Khrushchev's frequent long trips abroad.

Most prominent among those other leaders recently has been Leonid Brezhnev, whom Khrushchev removed from the figurehead job of Soviet president last July to take a more important job in the party. Khrushchev is first secretary of the party as well as premier.

The government paper Izvestia, which usually publishes in the evening, delayed its appearance until Friday morning. It will coincide with publication of the Communist party paper Pravda.

Such simultaneous publication is the traditional way of making announcements of supreme importance here.

A collection of black limousines was noted today outside the headquarters of the party's Central Committee, indicating a major meeting.

Unconfirmed reports earlier said Premier Khrushchev had returned to Moscow from a vacation on the Black Sea, but he was not listed among those attending a Kremlin luncheon for the visiting president of Cuba, Osvaldo Dorticos Torrado.

Every other active member of the Soviet Communist Presidium and Secretariat attended the lunch.

Texas Oil Production Up Slightly

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission ordered today that Texas oil production be held to 28.4 per cent of potential during November, slightly higher than the October percentage.

The order calls for a maximum statewide production if 2,884,856 barrels daily next month.

October production was limited to 2,866,252 barrels daily under a 27.9 per cent order.

The commission adopted the order after hearing only four of 13 major purchasers of Texas crude ask for a higher percentage.

It compares to a November, 1963 order of 27.5 per cent, allowing production of 2,808,183 barrels daily.

Nominations by purchasers showed a 3,200 barrel - daily decrease to 2,511,849 next month. The Bureau of Mines estimated November demand at 2.67 million barrels daily.

Purchasers' nominations, in barrels per day, by per cent:

29—Texaco 140,000.

28—Sun 103,930, Humble 420,605 and Gulf 210,800.

27—Sinclair 100,000, Mobil 230,300, Pan American 245,975, Atlantic 76,220, Standard of Texas 36,000, Cities Service 82,000 and Shell 165,700.

26—Phillips 12,904 and Continental 26,500.

Sun Oil Co.'s Jim Owens told the commission the decrease in refinery runs during the last month was caused mostly by Hurricane Hilda, and did not represent a trend. Owens predicted refinery runs will resume normal levels in November.

Suspicions Stay Despite Hurrahs, Says Goldwater

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today there is "a rising tide of doubt and dismay. . . all across the land" concerning the presidency and charged President Johnson is "shadowed by suspicions which no amount of handshaking and hurrah can chase away."

The Republican presidential nominee said Johnson's "great and good friend, Bobby Baker, has been exposed as a manipulator of high office," and the President's "name and office is linked with that of a convicted criminal, Billie Sol Estes."

Goldwater swung into south Texas for a day of campaigning after two days before large, enthusiastic crowds as he moved back and forth across the Midwest farm belt and on to the edge of the Rocky Mountains for a rally Wednesday night in Denver.

In a speech prepared for his first Texas stop in Harlingen, Goldwater returned to the attack on the Bobby Baker case — the issue he said hurts Johnson most. He paired this with the Billie Sol Estes affair.

Estes, a Pecos, Tex., financier, has twice been convicted for fraud.

The Arizona senator said the President "must be using every power of his great office, right now, yesterday and tomorrow, to cover up one of the sorriest rumors we have had in the nation's capital."

In response to a question before he delivered the speech, Goldwater said he meant rumors about Bobby Baker's ties with the White House.

In his campaigning, Goldwater said he had found something troubling the people of America.

He added: "The people have looked at the White House and have found it dark with scandal. The latest Bobby Baker investigation has been called off until after election. The latest report on Billie Sol Estes has been a whitewash."

LBJ Aide Arrested On Morals Charge

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter W. Jenkins, a top assistant to President Johnson for 20 years, was arrested at the Washington YMCA on morals charges in 1959 and again last week, police records show. The White House has announced his resignation.

A soft-spoken Texan who was an Army major in World War II, Jenkins, 46, and the father of six, has been associated with the President since Johnson was a congressman. His resignation was announced in New York where the President was campaigning Wednesday night.

Records of the police morals division showed that Jenkins was arrested five years ago on a charge of "disorderly conduct (pervert) and on Oct. 7 this year on a charge of "disorderly (indecent gestures)." He forfeited collateral in both cases.

The Jenkins development may carry political implications as the presidential campaign heads into its stretch run.

Aides traveling with Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate for president, declined to comment immediately. But in Washington, Clifton White, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Goldwater-Miller, said in a statement "the effects upon America both nationally and internationally can only be surmised at this time."

Republican National Chairman publican National Chairman Dean Burch charged today that President Johnson "covered up for 5½ years" a morals charge arrest of Walter W. Jenkins, a top Johnson aide.

Burch issued a brief statement on Jenkins' arrest, and said he would say no more until Johnson addresses the nation tonight.

The GOP chief said he assumed Johnson would talk about the case on nationwide television tonight.

The reference was to a 10-minute campaign talk Johnson has scheduled for 9 to 9:30 p.m. EDT, Democratic program tonight over the Columbia Broadcasting System television network.

A Democratic source said he had no reason to believe Johnson's taped speech would deal with any other subject than nuclear power.

Burch said "the Walter Jenkins episode raises grave questions of national security which only the President can — and must—answer. The story up to now is only partially revealed."

He continued:

"President Johnson, who talks about responsibility, now has the responsibility to explain why he covered up for 5½ years—since Jan. 15, 1959—that his top aide had been arrested on a similar perversion charge."

Police records show Jenkins was arrested again Oct. 7 on a morals charge.

"Knowing, as he must, the vulnerability of morals offenders to blackmail," Burch said, "the President should tell us whether Mr. Jenkins was permitted to sit in on meetings of the National Security Council, meetings of the Cabinet, and otherwise given access to top military secrets."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, campaigning in Denver, said earlier that he would have no comment "at any time" on the Jenkins case.

LBJ IN NEW YORK

Avoids Comment On Resignation

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — President Johnson carried his election campaign to upstate New York today with smiles and waves.

He continued his drive for votes by flying here from New York after the arrest in Washington on a morals charge of one of the President's top aides.

The aide, Walter W. Jenkins, a special assistant and longtime friend of the President, quit his post Wednesday night after it was learned he was arrested last week on a charge of disorderly conduct involving indecent gestures.

Johnson declined comment on Jenkins resignation.

On his upstate trip, Johnson was accompanied by Robert F. Kennedy, the Democratic-Liberal party candidate for U.S. senator.

Kennedy told newsmen that despite a New York Daily News poll showing him leading his opponent, Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, by a 3-2 margin, he believed he still faced a tough fight.

The poll reported Johnson leading Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater by 3-1 in New York State.

Johnson, appearing in Rochester and Buffalo before returning to New York for a Liberal party rally in Madison Square Garden tonight, showed no signs of the hoarseness that bothered him in public appearances Wednesday.

However, he decided against delivering a prepared speech in Rochester in favor of making an informal stop there.

In remarks he had prepared to deliver in Rochester, Johnson said "the No. 1 issue in the campaign is responsibility" and that it has "become a crusade for the ideals and values which inspired John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

Johnson's upstate campaign swing had the dual purpose of seeking the state's 43 electoral votes for himself and to help the Kennedy campaign.

In a speech for a Democratic rally at Buffalo City Hall, Johnson said there are people "crying out against the policies and programs that have gotten America moving" and "there are voices urging us to change our course of direction and move in a radically different direction.

"They are people who want to arrest our progress and turn back the gains of four years," he said.

"But one of them is not your President.

"I intend to press forward the attack on the problems that beset us — the enemies of idleness and ignorance and infirmities of age."

On his trip with Kennedy, Johnson scheduled speeches in Rochester and Buffalo.

Truman Said Recovering From Fall

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman, recovering from injuries suffered in a bathroom fall, looked at newspaper headlines about Walter W. Jenkins today and said: "I see the President has got his troubles, too."

He was commenting about Jenkins, a presidential aide who resigned from the White House staff after his arrest on a morals charge.

Truman, who suffered two broken ribs and a cut over his eye Tuesday, is recovering well, the hospital said.

Late Wednesday night a huge bouquet of mums and gladiolas was sent to Truman by President Johnson. Earlier in the day Truman received a dozen carnations from the Republican presidential candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Truman spends most of the day in a sitting position to ease congestion in his left lung, which doctors say is a secondary reaction to the broken ribs. His reading matter in the room include a paperback edition of the Warren Commission Report on President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

A "no visitors" order remained in effect for his two-room suite in the hospital's maternity section — the only suitable quarters available when he came in as an emergency patient late Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Truman spent more than seven hours with him Wednesday.

Pair Slightly Hurt By Viet Grenade

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two American soldiers escaped with slight injuries Wednesday night when one of them picked up a grenade thrown at them and pitched it into a ditch.

Pfc. Gerald D. McMenonin of Philadelphia, Pa., said the grenade bounced off him and landed in the seat of the native vehicle in which he was riding with Pfc. Walter Sayaya of Detroit, Mich., in Sadec, 85 miles southwest of Saigon.

McMenonin and Sayaya jumped out of the trishaw and hit the ground as the grenade exploded.

The grenade was tossed by one of two men on a motorcycle. The men escaped.

UAW Talks Are Recessed

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. and United Auto Workers Union negotiators unexpectedly recessed today as they debated the fate of the auto industry's only profit-sharing plan under the threat of a midnight strike deadline.

The two sides scheduled a return to the main bargaining table at 2 p.m. (EST), only 10 hours ahead of the strike deadline.

Keeping profit sharing was "the single most important question" as AMC and UAW bargainers met, said Douglas Fraser, head of the union's American Motors department.

The 52-member UAW negotiating committee voted Wednesday night to negotiate continuance of the unique plan won by the UAW in 1961 or call 25,000 AMC production workers off the job. The vote was "over two to one," Fraser said.

On virtually all other major issues, the UAW and AMC were reported in agreement.

AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman declared he was "shocked and amazed that the union would strike to continue progress-sharing on their terms."

ARSENAL FOUND—Nueces County Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell holds up an automatic pistol, submachine gun and a .270 caliber rifle equipped with a 10-power telescope sight as he stands amid part of the large arms cache picked up at two houses in Corpus Christi, Tex. A 29-year-old plumber, Julius Schmidt, was arrested and is to be charged with violation of the federal weapons law. Mitchell said the cache was found and the man arrested after informers reported loose talk about assassinating the President. President Johnson is scheduled to speak in the city this weekend. Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last year we moved from the country to the city so our children could go to the best schools, study with the best music teachers and get all the cultural advantages of the art museum, symphony, ballet and so forth. Well, the children haven't learned much, but their father has learned plenty. Every Saturday night I have to send my brother down to the burlesque house to drag my husband home. My man has gone hog wild. He signed up for a course in ballroom dancing and he goes by himself every Monday night and I don't see him again until after work on Tuesday. He says I don't need lessons because all I have to do is "follow." HE needs lessons because he has to "lead." (Is that true?) I suggested moving back to the country and he refused to go. How can I straighten him out?

SORRY WE MOVED

DEAR SORRY: I don't know what your man "sowed" in the country, but it wasn't his wild oats because he appears to be sowing them now. Waltz your overgrown kid back onto the straight and narrow if you have to enlist a marriage counselor or clergyman to help you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl, and people tell me I am cute looking and have a good personality, but I have never had a real date. I think I know why. Boys are afraid to ask me out or come over because my father is a policeman. How can I get boys to date me with this handicap? I am hankering for a date.

DATELESS

DEAR DATELESS: Only a thief runs when no one pursues. I hope you aren't hankering for dates with boys who fit this description.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son is just 20 and the girl he went steady with for four years is 18. She graduated from high school last June and Jim has had one year of college. They begged us to let them get married in July, saying she would work and they would have an apartment on campus. Her parents agreed to continue her allowance. We consented to their marriage on the condition that they promised not to have a family until Jim graduated from college. Well, they weren't married two months when she announced she's one month pregnant! We are so angry at that stupid girl! Do you think we are justified in asking our son to quit school and go to work? How do other parents handle situations like this?

JIM'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Why handicap Jim for life by refusing to help him get an education? He needs his college degree more than ever now. Give them a break and don't withdraw your support. Most parents help their married college children as much as they possibly can.

Former Resident Dies In Texarkana

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Mary Jane Glass, 84, a former resident of Snyder.

Mrs. Glass died Oct. 7 in a Texarkana hospital. She had returned to Texarkana about five years ago after living in Snyder for several years.

Funeral services were held last Thursday in Texarkana.

'Parked' Cars Collide

The Snyder police department investigated a two-vehicle mishap at 10:30 a.m. today in which a driverless pickup truck struck a parked car.

A 1961 Ford pickup which had been parked by James Weldon Bills, Route 2, rolled north on Avenue V and struck a 1959 Chevrolet in the carport of the Roland Bell home at 3602 Avenue V, damaging both the car and carport. Damage to the pickup was estimated at $10 and to the Bell car at $150.

5 Lincoln Graduates In College

Five of the ten 1964 graduates of Lincoln High School are enrolled in college, Daniel Johnson, Lincoln Principal, reported today.

The Lincoln P-TA is encouraging the former Lincoln students to continue their college work, and in this connection the P-TA unit has appropriated $30 to give financial assistance to the five students.

Barbara Durst is enrolled at Odessa College where she is a member of the 33-voice college choir. The Odessa College choral group is scheduled to present a program for the Federated Music Clubs district convention Oct. 30 in Midland.

Linwood Durst, another 1964 Lincoln graduate, is attending Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. An athlete, Durst plans to play basketball at HCJC.

Three 1964 Lincoln graduates are at Bishop College in Dallas. They are Mathel McLaughlin, Velma Jean Clayton and Ronald Green. Green is a member of the Bishop football squad and has been cited as an outstanding first-year man on the Bishop team.

Officers Again Eluded By Ashley

HOUSTON (AP) — Escaped mental patient Leslie Ashley again has demonstrated his ability to elude peace officers.

Denver police searched for him without success Wednesday night after his traveling companion for a week turned herself in.

Ashley, 26, one-time female impersonator under indictment for his part in the 1961 gun-torch slaying of a Houston man, has been hunted across the country since he escaped a state hospital at San Antonio Oct. 6.

The Denver search began after Mary Lou Wiederkehr, 25, a former patient at the same hospital, walked into police headquarters.

Patrolman Frank Tanko quoted her as saying: "I helped a murderer escape from Texas."

San Antonio authorities said Mrs. Wiederkehr and Ashley left together in a car belonging to Mrs. Cora Hobbs of San Antonio, her guardian.

The car was found Wednesday in Tulsa. Authorities said a note in the automobile indicated the two planned to be married.

Denver police quoted Mrs. Wiederkehr as relating:

She and Ashley boarded a bus and rode to the Colorado city, where they arrived Monday.

They went to a downtown variety store Wednesday and Mrs. Wiederkehr told Ashley she was "getting out."

Then she went to the police department and rode with detectives while they cruised the area looking for Ashley without results.

Denver officers said Mrs. Wiederkehr told them she and Mrs. Hobbs went to the hospital to visit Ashley and learned he had escaped.

They returned home, she related, and found Ashley on the front porch at Mrs. Hobbs' house. They left in the Hobbs car and abandoned it in Tulsa, she said.

Rattlers Are Looking For Winter Homes

Billy Bob McMullan, vocational agriculture teacher at Snyder High School, killed a three-foot rattlesnake in a residential area on Forty-second Street Wednesday.

McMullan suggested that people keep a close watch, especially this time of year, for rattlesnakes.

"As cold weather approaches," he said, "the snakes are moving around looking for a place to den up." Cluttered garages, McMillan said, make wonderful spots for snakes to build dens.

AOSC Meet Set Monday

The West Central Texas Chapter of the Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors will meet at 7 p.m. Monday at the Colonial Inn at Abilene. The meeting site is located at Interstate 20 and Highway 277 North.

The program will be a discussion of the care and maintenance of internal combustion engines by RAMCO Oil Field Rentals Co.'s national engineer.

A special invitation has been extended to all users of heavy machinery and industrial engines to attend the meeting.

The AOSC is a national organization composed of well servicing and workover contractors in oil producing states over the country.

Mrs. Tidwell Guest Speaker Of Altrurians

Mrs. Hugh Taylor entertained the Altrurian Club and nine invited guests Friday at her home, 2312 Avenue M. Invited guests were Mmes. V C. Thompson, Horace Eiland, L. E. Jackson, Earl Wilson, Sterling Williams, Wayne Boren, Dan Gibson, Mike Wharry and James Tidwell.

As the group assembled they were seated facing a screen and projecor. Mrs. Dewey Odom introduced Mrs. Tidwell as the operator of the slides, and narrator of her experiences in the region of the Holy Land. Mrs. Tidwell and her husband, Rev. James Tidwell, pastor of First Methodist Church, made the slides last spring, with these particular ones made Easter Sunday.

The Tidwells had a destination in view when they left Bethany near Jerusalem, that morning. They traveled by car five hours before embarking, by horse, to the object of their interest, the land of the Nabateaens, in the ancient land of the Edomites. The route taken to reach this place was necessarily circuitous, and after leaving Jericho, fairly monotonous.

Several slides were taken in the narrow gorge 'Sic". This gorge was one mile in length, and appeared very sheer, even overhanging in some places. The frisky Arabian horse required some restraining in these confines.

At the end of this gorge, the Tidwells were repaid by the view of the ruins left by this Nomadic tribe who had sought out this barren waste-land for an independent nation for themselves. It became a link between the trading from the Orient to Europe, and these people prospered.

When they were over run and conquered by Rome, the people lost their identity, and were absorbed by their conquerers. The amazing ruins left by them, are carved into the cliffs. Since they lived in their tents mostly these places were used for tombs. The outstanding ruin, might have been a church, and as such it was used by early christians. It has a portico in Greek styling, with reliefs showing the influence of the Egyptains, and oriental.

East P-TA Meeting Held

Lewis Reunion Held Sunday

The children of the late Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lewis of the Ira community held a "Get Together" at the Ira community center Sunday, along with their relatives and friends.

The day was spent getting to know those who they had never met, as some had never seen most of their near kin, because it had been many years since they had left this part of the country.

The children of the Lewis family were: Walter, Ralph, Richard, Ernest, Clydie, Georgia and Angie. Those unable to attend were Lula, Eloise and Homer. Many friends visited with them through the day.

A basket lunch, plus all the trimmings was the menu. A good time was reported.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Lewis, and Mr. Ralph Lewis of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Auther Lewis, Kay and Gwen, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lewis, Gaylon and Becky, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Leland Autry, Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Lewis, Snyder;

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Davis, Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goldsmith and Jimmy, Abilene; Stanley Lewis, Raymonsville; Mr. and Mrs. Quincey Deck, Teresa and Lisa, Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Deck, Graham; Mr. and Mrs. R. Lewis, Cleburne; Barbara and Jack Lewis, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Coffee, Christy, Tanya and Kelly, Snyder;

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lewis, Ricky and Keith, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hanks, Kelly and Knicky, Big Lake; Paula Helms, Post; Melvin Lewis, Snyder; Mrs. Nora Bruce, Snyder; Oleta Ikard, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ikard, Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis, Lyford; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis and Sherri Ann, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis, Jimmy and Tonya Lee, Snyder; Mrs. Steve Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carlile, Ira.

The eldest of the family was J. W. Lewis and the youngest was Tonya Lea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis of Snyder.

It was decided to be an annual affair which will be held the first Sunday of October each year.

Whipped butter has become widely available; it is made by strring or whipping ordinary butter with air or some inert gas.

U. S. Olympians Still Shine

More Records Fall At Tokyo

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

TOKYO (AP) — Burley Bob Hayes and tall Wyomia Tyus matched world sprint records, Al Oerter collected his third straight discus gold medal and American swimmers continued to dominate their specialties Thursday in the Tokyo Olympic Games.

Those various victories, along with surprise triumphs by Philadelphia's Vesper Boat Club and young Lesley Bush plus Don Schollander's third gold medal, helped build the American medal total to 32—14 gold, nine silver and nine bronze. Russia has 21—seven gold, five silver and nine bronze.

Hayes, the powerful, 190-pound flash from Florida A&M, solidified his claim as the world's fastest human with a 10-second flat victory in the 100-meter dash after an earlier, near-incredible 9.9 performance in the semifinals had been disallowed because of a trailing wind.

The wind was well within the allowable standard, however when he equalled the record with his 10-flat performance in the final.

Schollander, 18-year-old ace from Lake Oswego, Ore., won the 400-meter freestyle in world record time of 4:12.2, breaking his own mark of 4:12.7. He previously had won the 100-meter freestyle, anchored the winning 400-meter freestyle relay and has a chance for a fourth on the 800-meter freestyle relay Sunday.

The American men's string of six straight victories in swimming was broken by Australia's Ian O'Brien in the 200-meter breaststroke as he won in world record time of 2:27.8. Chet Jastremski of Toledo, Ohio, the former record-holder, was third in 2:29.6, and promptly announced his retirement from swimming.

Yankee prestige was restored in the next race, however, when the U.S. girls hustled to a world record clocking of 4:03.8 in the women's 400-meter freestyle relay.

Team members were Sharon Stouder, Glendora, Calif.; Donna de Varona, Santa Clara, Calif.; Pokey Watson, Portola Valley, Calif., and Kathy Ellis, Indianapolis.

The Philadelphia crew's triumph in the premier eight-oared shell competition capped a great comeback. Vesper had been beaten in the first heat, won in repechage, then swept past the favored Germans in the final.

And Miss Bush, from Princeton, N.J., turned a major upset in edging Germany's Ingred Kramer-Engel for the gold medal in women's platform diving.

Helping swell the leading Yankee medal total was the first-place finish of the pair oars with cox Ed Ferry, Seattle; Conn Findley, Belmont, Calif., and cox Kent Mitchell, Berkeley, Calif., who finished the 2,000-meter course in 8:21.33.

Oerter, a 260-pounder from West Babylon, N.Y., shook off his various ailments and won his third consecutive discus gold medal with a toss of 200 feet, 1½ inches, breaking his own Olympic record. Dave Weill, Walnut Creek, Calif., was third at 195-2.

"Every time I threw, it felt like someone was trying to tear out my ribs," said Oerter, who competed with his right side frozen to prevent internal hemorrhaging from torn muscles in his rib cage.

The big noises of this fifth day of the 18th Olympiad, however, were the two magnificent performances by Hayes.

The wind was blowing at just over 5 meters per second when he clocked the 9.9 in the semifinals, but it had subsided when he bolted off the blocks in the finals.

A great gasp went up from the throng of 85,000 in the National Stadium when it was apparent that Hayes—not usually a good starter—was on his way to a great race. He flashed down the track, his churning arms and legs generating great power, and steadily lengthened his lead.

He finished some two yards in front of Enrique Figuerola of Cuba and Harry Jerome of Canada. Jerome shared the world record of 10 flat with Armin Hary of Germany.

Miss Tyus, a tall Tennessee State co-ed, matched the world record held by Wilma Rudolph with an 11.2 performance in winning her heat in the second round of the women's 100-meter.

Two other American girls, Edith McGuire of Atlanta and Marilyn White of Los Angeles, also made it through two rounds and into Friday's semifinals.

The United States also took second in the team standings in modern pentathlon, a second in double sculls and a third in four oars without coxswain.

BILLY MILLS CAN'T BE PASSED — Mohamed Gamoudi of Tunisia presses his hand to arm of Lt. Billy Mills of U. S. team as he tries to squeeze past the marine, who pulled a major upset in winning the 10,000-meter Olympic race in Tokyo. Mills survived the jostling to earn the victory and a gold medal, running the race in 28 minutes, 24.4 seconds; the first American to win the event. Gamoudi finished third and Ron Clarke of Australia, the world's record-holder was second. Neither Mills or Gamoudi have been highly rated for the race. (AP Wirephoto)

Spotless Records To Go On Line

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fifty-six teams defend unbeaten, untied records this week in Texas schoolboy football with a doubled hazard—they also will be fighting for district championships.

It's all-out conference play as 91 of the 96 districts in the four classes that play to state titles have games that count in the standings, some of most vital nature.

The big game comes in Class AAAA, where Galena Park and LaMarque tangle with each fearful that a perfect record may go into the discard. It is an important Dist. 12 clash with the winner due to assume a favorite's role.

Prospects are that the unbeaten, untied list will shrink below 50 and it's certain that three teams will fall from the ranks.

Two of the games matching undefeated, untied teams come in Class AA, where Ballinger collides with Anson in a crucial Dist. 4 clash and Dublin tangles with Granbury in an important Dist. 7 battle.

Mighty Garland, with a 17-game winning streak, goes after its fourth district victory against Carrollton. But the story of this conference race probably won't be written until Oct. 30 when the Owls face Denison.

The defending champions of Class AAAA are going through without a week off as they drive toward a repeat—which they are favored to attain.

Dumas, the top-ranked team of Class AAA, continues to play outsiders. This week the Demons take on Lawton, Okla. don't start the district drive until next week.

Rockwall, defending champion of Class AA with the longest winning streak in the state—19 in a row, swings into the district race, clashing with Lewisville. The Yellow Jackets don't appear to have much competition in a push back toward the state playoffs.

Petersburg, the Class A King, meets Idalou in going after a third district victory. Idalou once was considered a tough contender but no more. Petersburt has a 12-game winning streak.

Phillips, the No. 1 team of Class AA, takes on Dalhart in a conference test and there appears little doubt that the Hawks will hurdle it in stride.

Hull-Daisetta, the sensation of the state—five victories with 286 points to the opposition's none, tackles East Chambers in a Class A conference go.

CAROL OF LOUMAC is shown going winners bitch, best of winners and best of variety of breed, opposite sex, at Las Cruces, N. M., under Judge T. C. Trudgian of Denver, Colo. The handler is breeder-owner Nita Louise Keeble of Snyder.

Keeble Dachshund In A Fast Start

Carol of Loumac, young Wirehair Dachshund bitch, bred and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Keeble of Snyder, is off to a fast start toward her American Kennel Club Championship.

At Corpus Christi on Sept. 6, under Judge Lee Murray of Fort Worth, Carol went up for winners bitch, her first show, and a three-point major win. Carol was 13 months old.

At Las Cruces, N. M. under Judge T. C. Trudgian of Denver, on Sept. 19, Carol went all the way for another three-point win.

Next day at the El Paso All Breed Show under Judge Elbert E. Vary of Sterling, Ill., Carol went from bred-by-exhibitor class all the way to best of variety of breed over a champion Wirehair Dachshund special for her third straight three-point major win.

The AKC requires 15 points for a championship including two major wins under two different judges. A major win is three, four or five points. A three-point win requires five competing bitches.

On Oct. 4 at Odessa under Judge George Plummer of Dallas, Carol was winners bitch for her fourth straight three-point win. Thus, Carol now has 12 points toward her championship.

Carol's sire is champion Mister Mac of Loumac and her dam is Miss Lou of Loumac. Her grandsire is International Champion Fir Trees Coco and her grand-dam is Her Majesty, the Queen, Champion Red Locket Nita Louise, top wire bitch in the nation for two straight years.

George Poole, former assistant trainer for Greentree Stable, has replaced Jimmy Jones as Calumet Farm's trainer. Jones is the new director of racing at Monmouth Park in Ocenaport, N. J.

Javelinas Are No. 1

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Texas A&I's Javelinas, undefeated in three games, hold down the No. 1 spot in the NAIA football ratings this week. Two other colleges rank in the top 10.

Texas A&I received 141 points of a possible 150 in balloting on the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletic leaders. It was followed by Findley (Ohio) with 102.

Prairie View A&M of Texas, another three-game winner, ranks fourth behind third-place Lewis and Clark (Ore). Sam Houston State is No. 9 and Southwest Texas State is No. 19.

Yanks Back As Favorites

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — For the seventh time in the last 10 years, the World Series went down to the seventh and final game today with the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees all knotted up at three victories apiece.

The odds favored the Yankees 10-13 although the Cardinals never had lost a seven-game series in four previous appearances. The Yanks, 20-8 in all Series play, had won five of nine in seven games.

And for the third time in this Series, the Cardinals' Bob Gibson and the Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre prepared to match pitches, each seeking his second triumph, with only two days rest.

Playing with their backs to the wall, and in enemy grounds, the American League champions averted elimination Wednesday with an 8-3 victory behind young Jim Bouton featuring some old-time Yankee bombing.

The victim was Curt Simmons, 35-year-old left-hander who vainly sought his first Series triumph. Simmons did well through five innings but ran afoul of the home run bats of Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, who connected back-to-back in the sixth to break a 1-1 tie.

Joe Pepitone's grand slam climaxing a five-run inning in the eighth put the game on ice and made Bouton the first two-game winner of the Series.

"I'm glad we're playing the last game in this park," said Yankee Manager Yogi Berra, his broad face spread even wider in a large grin.

"The boys seem to hit better here than in Yankee Stadium. The way they hit today, they wish we'd play here all year."

Failure to wind up the Series in six games didn't appear to disturb Johnny Keane, the Cardinal manager.

"I said at the start the Series could go down to the wire," he said. "We're use to this kind of scrambling. We've had to scrap all year so why not now?

"I still think we can win it. We're better off than we were at the start. We have to win only one and in our own park. That should give us the edge."

Keane said he would pay close attention to how Gibson warmed up before the game.

"I don't think the short rest will affect him," he said. "But if I see he doesn't look sharp in his warm-up I'll switch to Sadecki."

Gibson toiled 10 innings in his 5-2 winning effort Monday striking out 13 batters. At that time, he was pitching with his normal three-day rest after having been beaten 8-3 in the second game.

Berra had no doubts about his seventh game starter.

"It'll be Stottlemyre," he said. "Whitey (southpaw Whitey Ford) is still hurting. He limbered up during Wednesday's game and told me he couldn't make it. That hee'- injury he aggravated in the opening game still bothers him."

Johnson Is Top Gainer

By The Associated Press

Texas A&I's Randy Johnson, a San Antonio junior who has quarterbacked the Javelinas to a 3-0 won-lost record, paces Lone Star Conference athletes with total offense gains of 250.6 yards per game.

He has averaged 178 yards passing.

The result is that A&I heads the list in total team offense with 368.6 yards a game and leads in passing with 178.7 yards a game.

Reynaldo Farias, Southwest Texas halfback, is the leading scorer with 42 points and the top rusher with an average of 84.5 yards a game.

McMurry's James Christopher is the top receiver. He has snagged 13 passes.

Sul Ross' Sam Sparks remains the leader in punting with an average of 46.8 yards.

The toughest team to move against is Sam Houston State which has allowed 102 yards per game and only 48.3 yards a game through the air.

Southwest Texas continues to hold the rushing lead, averaging 273.7 yards. It has given up only 51.2 yards on the ground per game to rank as the toughest rushing defender.

Dvorak Leads Skeet Meet

DALLAS (AP)—Ed Dvorak of Albuquerque, N. M., posted a perfect score in winning .410 gauge competition Wednesday and led 116 entrants today into the 28 gauge class of the Pan-American Skeet Championships.

Dvorak didn't miss a bird in 100 shots. It was a performance described as equalled only on eight other occasions in .410 gauge skeet competition.

"Hitting 100 straight with a .410 is like running a 9-second 100-yard dash," said Martin Wood of Dallas, who was awarded second place after deadlocking with W. T. Session III of Los Angeles at 98.

Kathy McGinn of Houston won the women's title with 91 of 100.

The 28 gauge event will be followed by 20 gauge competition Friday. Both are 100-bird events. The 12 gauge event, involving 200 birds, will be held Saturday and Sunday.

Over Million See Weekly HS Games

AUSTIN (AP)—More than a million fans attend high school football games throughout Texas each week.

Rhea Williams, athletic director of the Interscholastic League, put the figure at 1,046,000 Wednesday. He said an average of 2,000 persons turn out each week for 523 high school and junior high games.

This means more than 12 million persons will attend Texas schoolboy games before the regular season ends.

A breakdown in attendance figures for last week gave Dallas 45,678, Houston 34,000 and San Antonio 31,500 for senior and junior high school games, and Fort Worth 18,782 for four senior high games.

Three Games Here Tonight

Big Spring Gohad football team goes to challenge Travis Junior High teams here in a full slate of games this evening on the local junior high field.

Activity was to get underway at 5 p.m. when the 7th grade teams of the two schools were to clash. Following on tonight's local schedule were the 8th grade game at 6:30 and the 9th grade game at 8 p.m.

Meanwhile, the Snyder High School B Team was off to Midland to take on the Lee Rebels at 7:30 p.m. and Lamar Junior High 8th grade was in Sweetwater to meet Sweetwater 8th at 7:30.

Royal Pondering Manpower Problem As Hog Date Nears

By The Associated Press

Coach Darrell Royal had manpower problems with his No. 1 ranked Texas Longhorns Wednesday and did some shuffling to remedy the situation.

It all stemmed from a forced replacement of Knox Nunnally, the Longhorns' top defensive end, and the possible sidelining of starting tackle John Elliott. Both are injured.

Texas is involved in a key clash in the Southwest Conference this week against Arkansas.

Nunnally suffered a dislocated shoulder against Oklahoma last Saturday, and Elliott reinjured a shoulder he first hurt in the Army game.

Royal moved sophomore Barney Giles from linebacker to end on defense, sophomore Charles Holman from weak to strong guard and Tommy Mankin from tackle to guard.

Royal said his squad also was having trouble stopping a simulated Arkansas "I" formation.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said meanwhile that his club looked crisp in a workout Wednesday but he didn't want his boys hitting a peak too soon.

He said quarterbacks Fred Marshall and Billy Gray were hitting their targets in passing practice.

Baylor stressed passing and eyed the absence of six starters from its defensive platoon while preparing for Texas Tech Saturday night at Waco.

The Baylor Bears' linebacker Bobby Maples, ends James Rust and Ramsey Muniz, halfback Eddie Whiddon, guard Arturo Delgado and tackle Fred Allen were sidelined with injuries. Only Muniz, however, and possibly Maples and Rust were expected to miss action against Tech.

Tech likewise worked on passes—long ones—in the Red Raiders' final contact work of the week. Tom Wilson, James Ellis and Ben Elledge did the throwing and Coach J. T. King said he was pleased with the way they hit ends Jerry Don Balch and Jerry Shipley.

Texas A&M welcomed the return of sophomore halfback Ronnie Lindsey, who has been hampered by a thigh injury all season. He immediately began challenging Jim Stabler and Lloyd Curington for the left halfback assignment as the Aggies spent equal time on offense and defense preparing for Texas Christian.

Rice Coach Jess Neely, reviewing the Owls' 34-7 defeat by Stanford, indicated some changes may be in order for his lineup against Southern Methodist. He named no one, saying:

"We'll just have to see what happens in practice."

SMU ran through its offensive paces, cheered by word that quarterback Danny Thomas would start against Rice. Thomas hurt a knee in the season opener against Florida.

TCU stressed passer protection. The Horned Frogs likewise had injury problems. Tackle Bobby Smith and halfback Jim Fauver are favoring sprained ankles and fullback Larry Bulaich is not quite recovered from a chest injury.

Trend Of US Government At Stake In Coming Election

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1964 presidential campaign, boring in many ways up till now, isn't altogether different from the 1960 race of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

But two things make it unique in recent American history:

1. Sen. Barry Goldwater's repeated charge that "scandal" hovers over the White House, although he offered no proof, and his preachments on the need for morality in government. Voters haven't heard that for a long time.

And then Wednesday night, it was learned that Walter W. Jenkins, an aide to President Johnson for many years, was twice arrested on a morals charge. He resigned.

2. This year's election will decide the direction of the government for years to come, since Johnson wants continuation of big government, with new programs as he thinks they're needed. Goldwater wants smaller government.

Because of this No. 2 problem the 1964 campaign, unlike that of 1960, is not strictly a personality contest. There is a real issue and a real difference from the Nixon- Kennedy contest.

There was no basic difference between them on domestic or foreign affairs or the kind of government needed. They didn't offer to change it but to improve it.

So the main question for the voters then was: Which of the two men could run the government better? In 1960 Nixon and Kennedy wrangled over their ideas on how to defend the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu from Red Chinese attack.

This was a pretty empty dispute, as time proved, because the problem of defending the islands has never arisen since 1960. It was an issue which hardly caught fire: the islands were too far off for voters to visualize the problem.

Something like that is happening now in the dispute between Johnson and Goldwater over whether the NATO commander — or the President alone — should have control over the use of "conventional" atomic weapons.

This is a complicated subject, shrouded in national security, and so far out of the experience of ordinary voters that most of them can't understand or visualize all that's involved.

As for the needling business, without which a campaign would be no campaign, Nixon and Kennedy needled each other and so do Johnson and Goldwater. Nixon and Kennedy were a little clumsy at it. So are Johnson and Goldwater.

Goldwater came up with an idea: He'd cut taxes 25 per cent at the rate of 5 per cent a year but he had to attach a couple of ifs to it: If Congress approved and if the budget was balanced each year.

No one can predict what shape the budget will be in five years in a row. This suggestion didn't raise sparks and Goldwater doesn't mention it much if at all anymore.

Johnson, on the other hand, has been trying to play it cool, making practically no promises he didn't make before the campaign began. Since he's out front in the polls — or has been until now — he seems to be coasting.

But as this is written early today — just a few hours after the news of Jenkins' arrest broke — there's no telling what's going to happen in the campaign or to it.

Nixon and Goldwater faced the same problem: Trying to pull the conservative and liberal wings of the Republican party together long enough to vote for them since a Republican needs all the party votes he can get to win.

Frothersbee Finds Culture Doesn't Pay

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Once upon a time there was an ambitious young man named Clarence Frothersbee-Smythe.

Frothersbee, as his friends called him, was doing pretty well as a customer's man in Wall Street, plus what he made driving a taxicab on Saturdays and Sundays.

But Frothersbee was a bit of a snob.

"I do not want to be a soulless money-grubber," he said. "Culture is above cash. I want to be the most cultured man in the world."

So he set out in pursuit of culture.

"Socrates was the most cultured man of his day because he knew everything there was to know then," he told himself. "I will become the most cultured man of my day by learning everything there is to know now."

At first everything went swimmingly. He read all the great books. Then he began reading not-so-great books. He became prodigiously informed about everything from the Aardvark to Zygotes.

Frothersbee became the life of every party, because he could answer every question but insisted on answering every question so finally, his friends dropped him.

"You are a cultural bore," one told him.

Frothersbee still was doing all right at his office, because they found his tremendous fund of information useful. But the day his bosses bought a computer, they fired Frothersbee, who hadn't sold a stock or bond in two years.

"Culture may be paying you dividends, but it isn't doing a thing to help pay ours," they said.

"Boors!" sneared Frothersbee. "Philistines!"

Once he was depressed momentarily, when he saw a newspaper item that said the sum of man's knowledge was doubling every seven years.

"It just means there's that much more culture to assimilate," he told himself.

Frothersbee grew a beard. His clothes became tattered. He ate out of garbage cans. He slept in railroad stations and abandoned houses.

But every hour it was open he spent at the public library.

In time there didn't really seem much that Frothersbee didn't know.

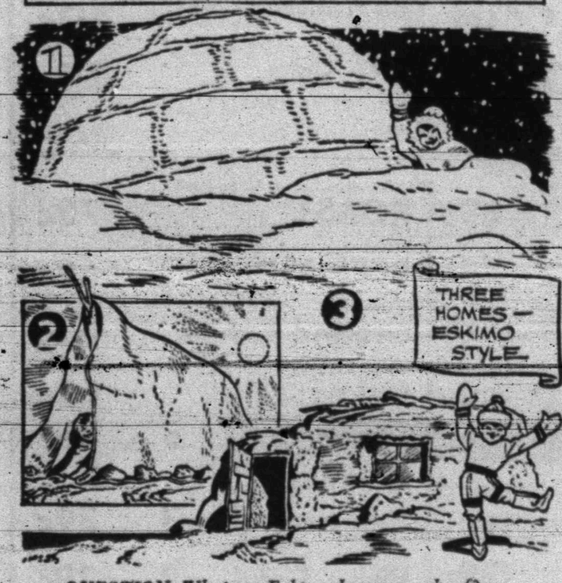

On his 60th birthday, as he sat alone in the public library mumbling and scratching himself, two men in white jackets approached Frothersbee, threw a net over him, and took him to a booby hatch.

There you can find him still endlessly lecturing his fellow inmates on such topics as "The historical influence of the zither on Austrian economics."

They don't know what Frothersbee is talking about — and he doesn't know that they aren't listening.

Moral: It ain't culture that makes the man. It's man that makes the culture.

Junior Editors Quiz on ESKIMO HOUSES

QUESTION: What are Eskimo houses made of?

• • •

ANSWER: The Eskimo snow igloo (1) is so well known that many people think Eskimos live in snow houses and nothing else. But these wonderfully ingenious little dome-shaped homes are mostly built in the central Canadian Arctic region, where there is an absence of other materials. Using long bone snow knives, Eskimos slice blocks of closely-packed snow and lay these on edge in a spiral, winding up and sloping inward. A single key block is fitted on top. The entrance leads down first, and then up, conserving the heat. A sleeping platform of packed snow, with skins piled on it, acts like a bed. These houses are warmed with seal and whale oil, burned in lamps made of stone or pottery, over which the cooking is done. Such snow igloos are winter dwellings. Some families build them in a community near the sea, where fish and seals can be caught. In summer, the families separate, many striking inland to follow the caribou, which give them valuable hide and fur as well as meat. On these journeys they live in skin tents, some as in (2), others shaped like an Indian tepee. Where it is possible to obtain driftwood or flat stones, Eskimos will build winter houses of sod piled over an inner structure (3).

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Compare these tiny Eskimo dwellings, where seven or eight people live crowded together in a space about 10 feet square, with your own house where you have so much room and comfort.

Sleek Supersonic Fighter Unveiled In Fort Worth

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force unveiled today the supersonic F111, a sleek fighter plane designed during the heat of industrial competition and assembled amid a Senate investigation.

Known familiarly as the TFX, the F111 emerges now as a political issue in a stormy presidential election year.

The aircraft made its debut in a brief ceremony at General Dynamics' huge Fort Worth plant.

General Dynamics Corp. joined Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. in pursuing the coveted contract, worth eventually in the neighborhood of $6.5 billion.

The award touched off widespread controversy. Charges of favoritism and politics echoed in Congress, the Pentagon and offices of administration leaders.

The dispute centered around a contention that Boeing Co. submitted a superior design while promising considerable long-range production savings.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara hailed the F111 as the "greatest single step forward in combat aircraft to occur in several decades."

McNamara, here to see the unveiling of the plane he defended against congressional opposition, said:

"For the first time in aviation history, we have an airplane with the range of a transport, the carrying capacity and endurance of a bomber, and the agility of a fighter plane. Its performance is as versatile as its missions are varied."

He was joined on the speaker's platform by Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze and Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert.

Featuring a variable-sweep wing, the F111 grew from a search for one fighter plane that would satisfy requirements of both the Air Force and the Navy.

The Air Force version has been designated the F111A, the Navy version the F111B. They are largely similar in design with a high percentage of interchangeable parts.

The multipurpose, all-weather tactical fighter has a top speed two and one-half times the speed of sound or 1,655 miles per hour. The two-man craft is capable of supersonic speed at sea level as well as high altitudes, and landing at speeds under 150 m.p.h.

The F111 will be able to change its wings in flight from the virtually straight position to the sharply swept position.

Its maximum operating ceiling is about 60,000 feet and its minimum operating altitude under 500 feet.

Military men call it "trants-oceanic" — capable of flying anywhere in the world within one day. It contains in-flight refueling capabilities.

The plane can be armed with conventional or nuclear weapons of all types.

It will operate readily from short, unimproved runways or from Navy carrier decks. Two turbofan engines with afterburners, developed by Pratt & Witney, power the aircraft.

An unusual feature is a combined crew compartment-escape pod developed by McDonnell Aircraft Corp. This permits the two crewmen to abandon the craft together, taking with them the crew compartment and part of the fuselage and wings.

Initial test flights are scheduled around the first of the year.

The final decision to award the contract to General Dynamics came from McNamara Nov. 24, 1962.

Competing furiously for the lucrative contract was Boeing, whose bid was lower than that of General Dynamics and, contended Boeing supporters, clearly superior.

Congressmen from areas where Boeing operates charged favoritism. Cries of conflict of interest arose. Disputes occurred in military circles over which design was the better. A Senate investigation followed.

Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth resigned, although his resignation never was linked officially to the controversy. He previously headed a Fort Worth bank.

Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater recently accused the Democratic administration of "playing politics with defense." He said the contract went to the "highest bidder with the second-best airplane."

"The shadow of doubt hangs over the award of this contract," the Arizona senator asserted before a Fort Worth audience, "and it can be cleared up the minute the President tells the investigating committee to go ahead with this politically oriented piece of business."

TV Personalities Join In Campaign

By The Associated Press

Both major parties are calling up television personalities to bolster appeals to Texas voters, over whom an unprecedented presidential campaign struggle brought Sen. Barry Goldwater charging back again today.

With Goldwater to stump at Harlingen, Beaumont and Houston was TV western actor Clint Walker of the Cheyenne show.

Democrats countered with word that another cowboy star of television, former Texas resident Dan Blocker of the Bonanza series, will appear in the state this weekend to support President Lyndon Johnson.

Candidates for statewide offices meanwhile kept up a drumfire of oratory and nonstop handshaking.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., likewise accompanied Goldwater. After a midmorning speech in the public school football stadium at Harlingen, the GOP candidate flew to Beaumont for an afternoon talk in the Lamar Tech stadium.

Republican leaders predicted 20,000 would hear an evening address by Goldwater in Colt Stadium at Houston, where he planned to spend the night.

President Johnson is due back in the state to be host to his campaign leaders at the LBJ Ranch and then to campaign Sunday and Monday in half a dozen Texas cities.

Blocker, who once went to school in Abilene and Alpine, will plug for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket Saturday at Abilene, San Antonio and Lufkin, and Sunday at Giddings.

George Bush, the Republican challenging a bid for re-election by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Wednesday in Dallas that seniority thrice has entitled Yarborough to a place on the Senate Appropriations Committee "and three times he was not given this seat."

"It is regrettable that my opponent's ineffective record and intemperate attitude cost Texas this seat to which we are entitled," Bush said, "but it is evidence that his colleagues have no respect for his judgment."

Yarborough was winding up a swing through Southeast Texas and down the coast.

Aides said Yarborough will return to Washington for the signing by the President of a bill extending the Natural Defense Education Act on which the senator did committee work.

In addition they said Yarborough will receive the 10th anniversary commemorative medal of the Assembly of Captive European Nations, citing him for Senate activities in behalf of 100 million people behind the Iron Curtain.

Gov. John Connally saw the three-day Southern Governors Conference, to which he was host, to a finish in San Antonio. He was elected chairman of the conference.

Jack Crichton, the GOP nominee opposing Connally, said at Greenville that the Democratic governor pledged in the 1962 campaign to cut state expenditures 10 per cent.

"Instead," said Crichton, "they are up by 20 per cent to a record level. In view of his bad record of performance on cutting state expenses, how [illegible]

Panel Studies Objections To Biology Texts

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Textbook Committee weighed in closed session today a big stack of protests against biology and civics books under consideration for use in public schools.

An all-day public hearing Wednesday was devoted mainly to three biology books which a series of witnesses condemned as presenting only one side of the evolution controversy.

The three are "High School Biology," a Rand McNally publication; "Biological Science: An Inquiry into Life," Harcourt, Brace and World, and "Biological Science: Molecules to Man," Houghton Mifflin Co.

The volumes are among 226 under study for recommendation to the State Board of Education for public school use.

Witnesses included ministers, two scientists and the publisher of a religious newspaper. They assailed the theory of organic evolution as atheistic, unscientific and materialistic.

Mrs. Joe Guthrie of Houston said it would be an "obstacle for parents to overcome if their children are indoctrinated in a theory that is against the Bible."

Publishers' spokesmen said the books are objective and present evolution as a theory, not a proved fact.

Also under protest were five other biology books, 10 eighth grade and four high school civics books and one eighth grade reader.

R. A. Kilpatrick of Cleburne criticized an eighth grade civics text, "Our Living Government," published by Allyn and Bacon, Inc.

"This could be a bible for those who think the government should take care of its citizens from the cradle to the grave," he said.

"We the People," published by Benefic Press, and "Our Democracy at Work," Prentice-Hall, were assailed by Kenneth Ryker Jr., executive director of the Fort Worth Freedom Center. He said both gave a one-sided and uncritical picture of the United Nations.

THIS SUPERSONIC air-to-surface Hound Dog missile is on display at the Mitchell County Fair which opened today in Colorado City. Carried under the wings of B-52 intercontinental jet bombers, these missiles can be released more than 500 miles from the target and can be controlled in flight to confuse enemy radar before streaking to their actual destinations. The display is sponsored by the Dyess-based 96th Strategic Aerospace Wing. The Fair lasts through Saturday. (Air Force Photo)

Missile Is Shown At Mitchell Fair

DYESS AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. . .One of the most versatile Air Force strategic missiles, the AGM-28A Hound Dog, will be on display October 15-17 at the Mitchell County Fair in Colorado City.

Sponsored by the 96th Strategic Aerospace Wing at Dyess AFB, the Hound Dog will be setup by displaymen from the United States Air Force Orientation Group at Wright - Patterson AFB, Ohio. They will be on hand to answer spectator questions during the Fair showing.

The Houng Dog is a supersonic air-to-surface missile carried under the wings of Strategic Air Command B-52 intercontinental jet bombers to form a powerful, deceptive weapons system. Two Hound Dogs on a B-52 can be released more than 500 miles from the main target to quash enemy defense centers and clear the aircraft's path, or to destroy the main objective itself with their nuclear warheads.

These missiles can be used to confuse radar by making feints at pseudo-targets before heading on their final course. For further deception, the Hound Dog can fly at high or low altitudes enroute to the strike zone, regardless of the altitude of release.

The AGM-28A is a jet-powered, inertially guided missile designed and built for the U. S. Air Force by the missile division of North American Aviation, Inc., at Downey, Calif.

Initially known as the GAM-77, Hound Dog is rated as a supersonic jet - propelled, air-to-surface standoff strategic missile. It is carried in pairs under the wings of B-52 Stratofortress bombers. The missile has its own unjammable guidance system, effective at high or low altitudes.

Twenty - nine of SAC's B-52 bomber squadrons are equipped with Hound Dog missiles. A B-52 pilot can use the Hound Dogs' engines for added power on take-off, or in the air, and then refuel them for their target runs.

The missile has approximate dimensions of twelve - foot wing span; forty - two foot length and gross weight of more than four and one-half tons.

Says Lone Man Involved In Plot To Kill Johnson

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said Wednesday his investigation of what an informer told him was a threat to shoot President Johnson indicated "it was just one man involved."

He said an unnamed former mental patient was being sought.

Two ex-convicts, arrested after seizure of a small arsenal, Nazy flags and other items, were turned over to federal authorities, who charged them with violating the national firearms act.

Officers confiscated the weapons, including machine guns, automatic pistols, rifles and ammunition, at the home of Julius Schmidt, 29, and his mother in Corpus Christi.

Schmidt and Jerry Bird, 27, of Calallen, Tex., were held in lieu of $5,000 bond each on charges of illegally possessing machine guns. Both served prison terms for the 1956 slaying of a man who caught them burglarizing an auto parts store.

Mitchell said his informants quoted the mental patient as stating he wanted an automatic weapon to shoot President Johnson and hoped to obtain it from Schmidt. The President is due here for a campaign speech Sunday night.

"I don't believe Schmidt knew he was to be contacted," the sheriff said. "I don't think he knew anything about any assassination attempt."

Mitchell said there also was no evidence to link Bird with such a plot.

Dixie Governors Oppose Legislative Redistricting

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Southern governors agreed to disagree with federal courts on legislative reapportionment.

But a move by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace to demand an end to federal intervention in public school affairs met formal defeat, although receiving a majority vote Wednesday at the final session of the 30th Southern Governors Conference.

Action on resolutions highlighted the final few hours of the annual meeting, which was dominated the first two days by presidential campaign talk. Most of the governors — 16 Democrats and one Republican — predicted President Johnson would carry all but a few Southern states.

Texas Gov. John B. Connally, a former secretary of the Navy and a friend and long-time political worker for Johnson, was named conference chairman. Virginia Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. is vice chairman.

Wallace told newsmen at the opening of the conference about his resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to give states exclusive control over public schools. He conceded then it had little chance of success because conference adoption requires unanimous approval.

When the Wallace resolution was presented for a voice vote, Gov. Edward Breathitt of Kentucky and Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware said "No" loudly. Connally said later he did not vote.

Carvel told newsmen he thought at least two other governors also voted against the measure.

"I just want to say that I think it is highly significant that the majority of this conference voted in favor of the resolution," Wallace told fellow governors.

The 11 conference members attending the final session voted unanimously for a resolution by Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson supporting a constitutional change that would let one house of a state legislature be picked on some basis other than population.

Federal courts have held that population is the sole criteria for legislative representation.

Another resolution calls for a government study of what effect foreign trade has on jobs under the antipoverty program.

Other resolutions ask that the cotton subsidy program be made permanent, that legislation be passed to regulate oil imports, that distribution of federal research funds be revised to include more universities, that a study be made of a possible interstate compact on surface mining, and that the conference continue its fight for equitable freight rates for Southern lines.

Invitations were presented for the 1965 conference to be held in Charleston, S.C., and Sea Island, Ga. A decision on the site will be made later.

American Shares Medicine Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) The 1964 Noble Prize for Medicine was awarded jointly today to American Konrad Bloch and German Feodor Lynen.

The two were awarded the $53,123 prize for their discoveries concerning the mechanism and regulation of cholesterol and fatty acid metabolism.

Bloch is German-born, and became a naturalized American in 1944.

Bloch, 52, was born at Neisse, Germany, and studied at the Munich Technical University. He married in 1941 and has two children. The family lives at Cambridge, Mass., where Bloch is associated with Harvard.

Feodor Lynen, 53, was born in Munich and is professor and director of the Biochemical Institution of the Max Planck Institute for Cell Chemistry. He married in 1937 and has five children.

In its citation, the awarding College of Professors of the Royal Caroline Institute noted that cholesterol during recent years has become a word of common usage in relation to the connection of arteriosclerosis to dietary and blood cholesterol.

Circulatory diseases are the foremost cause of death in many areas of the world. The great majority of these cases have a gravely disturbed metabolism. The prerequisite for correcting faulty function is to know the intimate details of the mechanisms involved.

The therapy against these circulatory diseases and related disturbances in steroid hormone metabolism will, in the future, rest upon the firm foundation laid by today's Nobel prizewinners, the awarding body said.

Bloch was credited with brilliant investigations which have shown how cholesterol is built up from acetic acid.

Cholesterol, a fatty substance occurring in some foods and also developed by the body itself, long has been suspected as a cause of arteriosclerosis—artery hardening or narrowing—and of coronary heart attacks, especially if present in the system in large quantity.

Sweden's Royal Caroline Institute said Lynen has made the foremost contribution to clearing up the different enzymatic steps of the fatty acid cycle. It said his recent discovery of the mechanism by which the vitamin biotin acts in a fundamental reaction in the metabolism of fatty substances "is in itself a discovery with the most far-reaching implications."

The Royal Caroline Institute picked today's winners in medicine.

Steam Builds Under Metal Price Lids

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure is building up under the metal price lids. It's the hottest thing in the price picture today. And it carries with it the hint that increases in metal costs could spread in time to consumer goods prices, even those products using very little metal.

Steel executives are lining up, without waiting for the election to get out of the way, in plugging for higher prices they say are badly needed. The talk is bubbling like the molten metal in company mills.

Copper prices soar — and then tumble at the suggestion the U. S. government might tap its sizable stockpile to ease the current shortage. But even this prospect, which government officials call unlikely, carries little weight beyond the daily commodity futures market.

Silver prices are held in leash by still another, and comparably much bigger, government stockpile of that metal. But it's getting harder to quiet talk of turning from silver to baser metals for minting U. S. coins. And silver users won't bet on price stability as a long-range prospect.

Tin, zinc and lead have climbed steadily in price as world industrial demand currently exceeds world production. Aluminum prices have risen.

Various steel products have gone up in price as demand mounted. But basic steel has held at the list prices. Now the top men in almost all of the biggest steel companies have gone on record as saying basic steel, too, must rise — even before the union starts its announced drive to get higher wages and more fringe benefits next spring.

The presidential election campaigning has muted the sound of the steel companies' plugs, but the talk builds up almost daily.

Copper prices are about as confused as they could be. U. S. producers recently increased their prices [illegible] a pound. Chile has put a 35-cent tag on its copper, exports. Other world producers are quoting 32.5 cents.

Wilnsboro's Mayor Dies Wednesday

WINNSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Miss Elizabeth Suiter, mayor of this North Texas town of 2,000 since 1962, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Wednesday night. She was elected to succeed her father, Will Suiter, as mayor after his death. Miss Suiter was a former member of the legislature.

Bricks Fall From New Dallas Building

DALLAS (AP) — A section of brick facing cracked loose and fell 19 stories down the side of the new L-T-V Tower in downtown Dallas Wednesday.

Brick and mortar crashed through the roof of a pool hall and injured two men.

Owner John Hunter, 42, said there were about 40 people in the pool hall and "It came on us like a big loud thunder."

Police and firemen evacuated stores and shops adjacent to the 30-story building for fear more brick might fall.

Building Supt. Howard Ges said a bricked area 5 feet by 26 feet fell under pressure of a "heat bulge."

Firm's Chief Dies

DALLAS (AP) — Fred Alford Sr., 64, who headed one of the biggest refrigerated warehouse firms in the world, died Wednesday.
