Meat Consumption Lower in 1957

Washington.—The Agriculture Department has forecast 1957 per capita meat consumption at 159 pounds compared with a record 167 pounds in 1956. The department said livestock prices will be higher this year than in 1956 and that beef and pork consumption will be down from 1956 levels.

Overstocking May Result in Much Smaller Fish

A South Texan has just determined that overstocking of his private pond, and not some mysterious ailment, was responsible for the abnormally small catfish he has been catching.

Communicating with Marion Toole, Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission, the man learned that the 700 plus big and little channel cats he placed in his one-acre tank originally comprised about 15 times more than recommended by technicians. He had complained that, after four years, the catfish he was catching were only five or six inches in length.

Toole explained that planting 50 catfish fingerlings in a tank the same size will produce amazing growth. He wrote to the mystified landowner:

"It is a truism that waters are capable of producing a given amount of fish weight. For example, if a pond is stocked with 100 fish per acre and a like pond is stocked with 1,000 fish per acre, the two ponds will produce the same poundage of fish. You can readily see that the pond with the 100 fish per acre will be the pond that produces the large fish. — Texas Game and Fish."

Predict Higher Crest For Rising Lake Texoma

Red River, swollen by a record overflow from big Lake Texoma, went out of its banks in southeastern Oklahoma Tuesday flooding farmlands and closing a highway.

The Red River cut across one of its loops south of Hugo, Okla., stopping all traffic on U. S. Highway 271 to Paris. It was expected to reach a depth of 27 feet during the night. Flood stage is 26 feet.

Meanwhile the U. S. engineers announced they had increased the flow from Denison Dam on Lake Texoma after 3-inch rains on Oklahoma tributaries of the Red River and warned of additional flooding as far as Fulton, Ark., on the lower Red River.

Lake Texoma's level measured at mid-afternoon 642.71 feet above sea level, 2.71 feet over the top of its flood pool. A crest of 643.7 feet was predicted by late Thursday or Friday.

Most of the 34 resorts in the area continued to take a beating from the rising waters.

Federal Report Shows Slight Farm Price Increase

Washington.—The Agriculture Department reports that farm products increased about four tenths of 1 per cent between mid-April and mid-May.

Higher prices for cattle, melons, apples and cotton were primarily responsible for the increase. Partly offsetting these were lower prices for strawberries, milk, wheat and eggs.

The mid-May prices were about 1.26 per cent higher than a year ago but about 22½ per cent below the record high reached in February, 1951.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living remained unchanged from a month earlier. The level is, however, the highest on record.

Farm prices as a whole in mid-May averaged 82 per cent of parity. This was the same as a month earlier but 2 points below that of a year ago and 36 points below the record high in October, 1946.

May Brought 11.29 Inches Rainfall 41.68 For 5 Mos.

Sunshine peeped thru partly cloudy skies Wednesday for the first time in a week. Rains, from scattered showers to flash floods, had dumped much water on this area. The water all ran off as the soil was already water-logged from previous downpours.

May was a wet month, all agreed, for 11.29 inches was measured at Deport on the official government gauge, according to A. C. Nixon. The last day of the month, a total of 1.95 inches was recorded to reach a record of 41.68 inches for the first five months of 1957.

June is following in the footsteps of previous months as 3.29 inches has been measured up until Wednesday noon. Of this amount 2.91 inches was recorded Monday night and Tuesday. Reports of a flash flood Monday north of Deport, unofficially reported to be four inches, sent Mustang creek overflowing its banks in many sections along its route.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms for a week had dumped three inches of rain at Bogata up until Tuesday. T. P. & L's Rivercrest plant reported 1.24 inches for the same period.

The heavy continued rains have washed out numerous bridges, damaged roads, and washed farming land. The grain and vetch crop has taken a beating and much of the crop is lost by the rains.

Miss Stephenson Buried Monday

Funeral services for Miss Lallah Stephenson, 70, a lifelong resident of Mount Vernon, were held Monday at the First Baptist Church.

Miss Stephenson died Saturday in a Mount Pleasant hospital.

She is survived by two sisters, Miss Mary Stephenson and Mrs. T. E. Posey, both of Mount Vernon. Burial was in Mount Vernon.

Increase Noted In Farm Values

Washington.—Dollar value of Texas farm land increased 3 per cent from November to March, the same as the national average increase, the Agriculture Department reported.

Texas farmland was worth an average of $70 per acre on March 1, compared to the nation-wide average of $94.52 per acre.

This was an increase of 9 per cent in the dollar value of Texas farm land since March 1956, the report said, compared to a national increase of 7 per cent.

Lamar County lost one of its most stalwart farmers and stockmen when a heart attack proved fatal to Robert Harvey. He was intelligent, industrious and he and Mrs. Harvey reared a fine family of boys and girls who are a credit to them and to the community. Harvey was the substantial type man whose word was as good as his bond. His bankers trusted him implicitly and he was always ready to lend a helping hand where needed. This area has lost a fine citizen.

A Republican took the trouble to check Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson's past economy record and found he didn't have one. The investigator went over the votes of Johnson and Sen. Harry F. Byrd (Dem.) of Virginia during 1955 and 1956. He reported that on 57 roll calls, Johnson voted for economy 3 times, against 53 and wasn't recorded on one occasion. Byrd's record was for economy 50 times, against 2, and not recorded 5 times. — Walter C. Hornaday, Washington Correspondent for the Dallas News.

Homecoming For Bogata Students Saturday, June 8

Various committees are working on plans for the annual homecoming of ex-students and ex-teachers of Bogata school. The event, to be held at the high school, is set for June 8. Former students and teachers are urged to attend, bringing a picnic meal. Festivities are due to start at 6:00 p. m.

An Omaha man shot two people because he was denied a job. A jury will see that he gets one now.

Opportunity Vs. Security

The Dallas News devoted a page Sunday to pictures of forty of its carrier boys who graduated from high school last week. Thirty-eight of them plan to attend college. All did remarkably good jobs as paper carriers and solicitors and as students.

The page told another story in our national life that is inspiring and uplifting despite the influence of the do-gooders and welfare state men who have sent to Washington for a quarter century.

Those newsboys believe in an opportunity to do something for themselves or they would never have become newsboys. They are looking forward to doing something for themselves by going to college, rather than the so-called Social Security, a pension and a soft job.

There is still hope for the nation as an Independent Democracy if we can raise enough men like those Dallas News carriers.

Debts Coming Due

June 1, 1957, Uncle Sam was asked to pay off $562 million in F and G series bonds. He had just borrowed the money to pay. June 24 is the date when $4.5 billion in Treasury certificates and tax-anticipation bills come due. Aug. 1 is when $12 billion in Treasury notes have to be paid off. On Aug. 15 there is the little matter of $4 billion in 2 percent notes to be met. Then on Oct. 1 there will be $7 billion due, with another billion due by the end of the year.

Next year will be just about as difficult. Being Secretary of the Treasury is just one long headache. You see, under Mr. Roosevelt, we just owed the national debt to each other. But since then, we find that we can't borrow fast enough from ourselves to pay ourselves and some of us have too little to lend to ourselves to pay ourselves. It gets complicated and the debt gets bigger and bigger.

Instead of tax cuts, we ought to cut expenditures and pay off the debt. The sooner we see that, the safer our economy will be. — Dallas News.

Mrs. Rolf Has Car Accident

Mrs. Eloise (Roberts) Rolf was enroute to the home of Mr. Rolf's parents in the Greenhill community on Tuesday when she had to detour from a by-way leading from Highway 271 to Greenhill road, due to a bridge washed out.

After detouring she met a truck and in pulling to the side of the road applied her brakes, which failed. The car went into a creek. Men working on the road nearby assisted Mrs. Rolf and her small sister-in-law riding with her, in climbing through the car window. There was no serious injuries, only shock. The car was slightly damaged.

Alcorn Claims Ag. Scientists About To Break Surplus-Ridden Farmer

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur may be mixed up in his thinking, his letter this week indicates, but then again he may not be.

Dear Editor: The trouble with farming is that science won't leave it alone. For example, I was reading last night in a newspaper which an insurance salesman left out here yesterday, he didn't sell me any insurance but I think I sold him on taking my name off his prospect list, where scientists at an agricultural research center in Indiana have developed a pill which, when you feed it to livestock they gain a lot faster on less food.

In one test on cattle, steers showed "11 per cent improvement in gain and 9 per cent improvement in feed efficiency." The scientists immediately hailed this as an important step forward, but that's not the way I see it, and if Sec. Benson is on his toes instead of the farmers' for a change he won't see it that way either.

If cows are going to gain 11 per cent faster and use 9 per cent less feed doing it, anybody who knows arithmetic can see this means a 11 per cent increase in the meat supply and a 9 per cent increase in the feed surplus.

Also, not only are scientists getting cows to use less feed, although I've got one old cow here I don't believe would respond to their treatment, they're teaching farmers how to grow more per acre.

What this means is that every time a scientist succeeds in growing two bushels of corn or maize or wheat or what not where only one grew before, somebody has to put up two warehouses to store it in where only one was before.

You keep this up for any length of time and you can see what'll happen to the surplus, which is already bigger than the national budget.

As I see it, scientists are the worst enemy of the farmers, and if they can't do any better, they ought to give up agricultural research and work on the hydrogen bomb or space ships.

What the farmer needs is a pill which will slow down, not speed up, agricultural production. What he needs is something that'll make a cow eat twice as much as she's eating now and take three times as long to get ready for market, with of course an adequate price to take care of the long-drawn-out process.

What he needs is a chemical to spray on his seed to make cotton for example take two years to mature instead of six months. As for corn, with a two-year supply already on hand and another crop on the way, something in the nature of a century-plant type corn, which makes ears every ten years, would be ideal. The same thing would apply to practically everything else grown on a farm.

The way it looks from here, agricultural research is about to bust not only the warehouses but the farmers to boot.

Yours faithfully, A. A.
