

FIRST BALE OF 1961 COTTON

Barney Glenn, right, brought in the first bale of 1961 cotton, ginning it Thursday, August 24, at the Farmers Co-op Gin. With Glenn and the bale of cotton is Dick Sweat, left, gin manager. The cotton was grown on Glenn's farm a mile southeast of Wellington. He got a 475 pound bale from 1900 pounds of seed cotton.

746 Students Begin Classes in City Schools

Enrollment in Wellington's three schools through the first two days totals 746, Supt. J. L. Harper said early Wednesday.

In addition to this 130 are in Booker T. Washington school giving a total of 876 students now enrolled in the Wellington system.

Wellington high school has an enrollment of 207, up slightly from last year. Both elementary and junior high are down a few students, the former enrolling 329 and the latter 210.

It is expected that additional students will enroll for several days yet.

Washington school opened two weeks ago.

Old Settlers to Gather Saturday

Old settlers of Collingsworth County will gather Saturday, Sept. 2, to reminisce about another era of the county, and take time out for the big fish fry prepared for them.

Plans for the reunion were announced this week by the chairman, Zook Thomas, and his assistants, Emil Kersten and Winfield Brewer.

The reunion will be one day only, Saturday.

The pioneers will begin gathering at Ellison Park about 11 a. m. and the fish fry will be served at noon. Kersten is in charge of securing and preparing the cat fish.

A program will begin about 1:30 p. m. and for an hour these attending will sing the songs of other years, the popular songs of 50 or 60 or 70 years ago. Mr. Brewer will lead the singing.

After this, the pioneers will visit for as long as they wish or do whatever else they may wish.

Who is an old settler? Those in charge have set up these regulations: An old settler must have lived in Collingsworth county prior to 1925 and must be 60 years or older.

There will be no registration fee and there is no charge for old settlers who attend the fish fry.

First, second, third and fourth place ribbons will be awarded old settlers in four categories: the oldest persons attending, those who traveled

Barney Glenn delivered the first bale of 1961 cotton in the county on Thursday, Aug. 24, ginning it in Wellington, while the first bale to be delivered in Dodson was brought in by Ross Swift Saturday, Aug. 26.

Glenn's cotton was pulled on his home place, a mile southeast of Wellington. Swift harvested his from his farm just east of Dodson in Collingsworth county.

Glenn brought in approximately 1900 pounds of seed cotton and got a 475-pound bale with 810 pounds of seed, Dick Sweat, manager of the Farmers Co-op Gin reported. He estimated the cotton would grade 15/16 middling. The bale reached Wellington about 11 a. m.

The cotton was planted April 20 and is a stormproof variety. Glenn estimated he will make about three-fourths bale per acre on the field from which this bale was pulled.

Swift's bale reached Dodson at 11:30 a. m. Saturday and was ginned at the Davis Gin. Marvin Wynn, manager, reported that he had 2,350 pounds of seed cotton, got a 495-pound bale and 1,000 pounds of seed. This also was from April cotton and the yield was estimated at three-quarters of a bale per acre.

Wynn gassed the cotton at middling 31/32.

With the cotton now almost ready to harvest, area farm-

Fourth Annual Collingsworth County Free Fair Opens Two-Day Run Friday

The 1961 edition of the big Collingsworth County Free Fair officially opens Friday, September 1, when the big parade rolls onto the square to the stirring music of the Skyrocket Band. There will be no slowing down of Fair events until some time around midnight Saturday night, September 2.

This is going to be the biggest parade in the Fair's four-year history, according to Polly O'Neil and Henry Sullivan, who are in charge.

But the growth of the entire Fair is in keeping with that of the parade, Dr. Chas. B. Jones, superintendent, declared. In every department, advance information is that there will be more entries than in the past.

Pre-Fair events are already under way. Led by the merry-go-round, the S. B. Rhodes rides were set up Monday and fun booths sponsored by local organizations went in. Monday night care-free adults and children thronged around them for their first participation in Fair Week.

The Fair itself is several big events rolled into one . . . the traditional fair exhibits covering agricultural and horticultural exhibits and commercial booths; women's and girls' departments to be held in the Community Building and American Legion Hall; the Youth Project Show at the project show barn; the old settlers' reunion on Saturday, at Ellison Park; the Quarter Horse Show Friday afternoon at Marian Airpark; a flower show and an art exhibit, both at the Community Building.

Added to these will be Terrapin Races, for which time and places will be announced by public address system at the Fair itself; nightly matched roping at the Rodeo Grounds; and a square dance on the square to close out the Fair.

A timetable for the various events is found elsewhere on this page of The Wellington Leader.

Approximately $1200 in money awards will be paid in the livestock division, girls' departments and the horticultural and agricultural sections.

Ribbons will be awarded in all divisions.

County Fair visitors will be well fed. The big ranch style barbecue will be served Friday, beginning at 11:15 a. m. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office.

There will be a fish fry for

Long-Time Abra Woman, Mrs. Breeding, Dies

Mrs. W. W. Breeding, Collingsworth county ranch woman and Abra resident for 53 years died in an Amarillo hospital at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 27. Although she had been under treatment for a broken hip there for two weeks, her condition had been improving and her death came suddenly and as a shock to both her family and the community in which she lived.

Mrs. Breeding was 82 years of age.

She and her husband, the late Mr. Breeding, came to the ranch not long after their marriage at McLean Jan. 13, 1907, and that continued to be her home through the remainder of her life.

Mrs. Breeding joined her husband in many of his activities as a community and agricultural builder, and as long as she was active she was much a part of all phases of life in the northwest part of the county.

She was especially interested in developing those institutions that build sturdy individuals and stable communities — the church and the schools.

She had been a member of the Church of Christ since early in life, and with Mr. Breeding helped to establish the church at Dozier. In a period when rural education was confined to one- and two-room schools, she was instrumental in seeing they were the best available and when her own children passed beyond those grades, she, with her husband, made it possible for them to continue their studies as far as they wished.

A good neighbor and kindly friend, Mrs. Breeding was generous with her time, her talents and her work to those who lived about her.

Meeting at Buck Creek

Elder David Hartman, whose family formerly lived here, will conduct a revival meeting at Friendship Baptist Church opening Sunday, Sept. 3. The revival will continue through Sunday, Sept. 10.

Services will be held twice daily at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. and the public is invited to attend. Elder E. E. Rijts is pastor.

Elder Hartman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hartman of Lockney, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hartman Sr., of Wellington. He is a graduate of Lockney high school and Hardin Simmons University, Abilene. He is pastor of a church in that city.

Marsh Attends Officers Course

Police Chief Troy Marsh returned Saturday from the School for Criminal Investigators sponsored by the Texas Department of Public Safety at its headquarters in Austin.

The school was in session from Monday through Friday, Aug. 21-25, and included instruction in criminal law, in methods of investigation and interrogation and investigation at the scene of crime.

Attending were 50 experienced officers from over the state of Texas, including 44 city and county officials and six Texas Rangers.

These schools are held each two or three years as the need arises, Marsh said.

COLLINGSWORTH FAIR TIME

Every girl should have a frisky horse to ride to the Fair, especially if he belongs on the Merry-go-round. Kathy Bartlett rode this one Monday just as the rides were put up around the court house square. It was a red-letter-day, for this was also the first day in school for six-year-old Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bartlett who live in the Lutie community. Mrs. Bartlett is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce office.

Work Slowed by Caving on Wildcat Test

Work on Monsanto Chemical wildcat test on the Everett Fair farm east of Lutie has been slowed due to drilling trouble, a representative of that company said late last week.

Because of the gyp formation through which the well is now being drilled, caving has occurred, causing loss of drilling mud, according to Shelton Goodwin of the Amarillo office of Lion Oil Division on Monsanto.

This is known in the drilling profession as losing circulation.

Four days were required to drill 480 feet, as drillers tried to set the surface casing. The drilling contract for the well is held by Cantrell Drilling Company of Pampa.

The wildcat test is located approximately eight miles due east of Lutie on FM road 1439.

Biggest Yet

Parade Opens Fair at 10 a. m. Friday

No one has had a peek at the floats that will make this year's Fair Parade the most colorful in the event's history but it's a well known secret they've never been more beautiful. This will be borne out Friday, Sept. 1 at 10 a. m.

But the floats are only part of it!

Polly O'Neil, chairman of the parade, and Henry Sullivan, assistant chairman, have announced plans for the parade, the route it will take, and instructions to those who will take part.

All persons participating are asked to be at the corner of Dallas and Ninth streets in order that the parade may be formed by 9 a. m.

Floats will line up on Dallas street and horses on Ninth, Sullivan said.

"Texan by Choice"

Nunn Will Autograph Books During Fair

The Rev. Roy Nunn of Greenfield, Mo., will be in Wellington Friday and Saturday to attend the Collingsworth County Free Fair and an autograph party in the office of The Wellington Leader. He will autograph copies of his book "Texan by Choice" for those who wish a pre-publication copy. He will also be at the Old Settlers Reunion on Saturday. He will be at The Leader office from 10 until 12 in the morning on Friday, and 9 to 11 on Saturday.

The Rev. Mr. Nunn, who was born in Arkansas, came to Collingsworth county with his family while he was a small boy. The Nunn farm was located a short distance north of Wellington on what is now Highway 83. He attended school here in the old white wooden building located north of the Katy railroad tracks.

Later the family moved to the high plains.

Rev. Nunn received his bachelor of divinity degree at the McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, having previously received his B.A. degree at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Lumber Firm Changes Name to Home Center

Cicero Smith Lumber Company has announced that effective the first of September it will be known as Cicero Smith Home Center. The corporate name of the pioneer West Texas company will still remain Cicero Smith, but to better describe its current operations, it will be advertised as Home Center.

In announcing the change in the advertised name of Cicero Smith, Dudley McMillin, manager of the Wellington Home Center, said the new name was a result of changing times. The addition of such varied items as carpeting, appliances, kitchens, remodeling and completely engineered component homes makes the name Home Center an appropriate one to describe the current Cicero Smith operation, he concluded.

Carson on FHA Board

John Carson of Quail has been named a new director of the Farmers Home Administration, Alton Pyburn, manager, announced this week. He replaces J. I. Morgan, also of that community.

Other directors are Wood Coleman and Walter Camp. They are elected for three-year terms.

Mrs. S. R. Lowrie Pioneer City Woman, Dies

Mrs. S. R. Lowrie, whose home had been Collingsworth county longer than almost any other woman now living here, died in Wichita Falls Wednesday, Aug. 23 at 3:15 p. m. She had been ill for four years.

Mrs. Lowrie was the former Laura Buerger, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Buerger. She was born Oct. 18, 1881, in Gainesville, and she was only eight years old when the family came here in 1889, 72 years ago. They lived near Wellington, where Mr. Buerger was a leader in the development of this section.

She was married to the late S. R. Lowrie, a pioneer business man of Wellington and for many years a real estate dealer. The family home was at the corner of Ninth and El Paso streets.

Mrs. Lowrie became a member of the Methodist Church in childhood, and through most of her life remained active in its work. For many years she taught a Sunday school class. Funeral services for Mrs. Lowrie were conducted at First Methodist Church Friday at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Davis Edens officiating.

Pall bearers were James Sullivan, Henry Sullivan, Zook Thomas, Earl Hunter, Billy Hatch, and Luther Sullivan.

Burial was in the family plot in West Wellington cemetery.

Surviving are two nieces and eight nephews: Mrs. Inez Darrah, Mrs. Mabel Burden, Walter Buerger, Ernest Buerger, Milton Buerger and Henry Buerger of Oklahoma City; Lewis Christoph of Manzanola, Colo.; Albert Christoph of Dallas; August Christoph of Arlington and R. A. Zigler of Jacksonville, Fla.

Smalls Visit in O'Neil Home

Senator and Mrs. C. C. Small of Austin visited recently with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Austin O'Neil at their ranch in the north part of the county.

Sen. Small also was in Wellington for a short time attending to business.

Also visiting in the O'Neil home is their son, Walter Lee O'Neil, of Washington, D.C. He will be here about three weeks.

Home Safety Program Kickoff Due Sept. 1

A year-round home safety program will be launched on Sept. 1 by the Lone Star Gas Company and The Wellington Leader.

"National Safety Council findings," Lone Star Gas Co. Manager Billy Joe Throgmorton said here today, "show that home accidents are fundamentally the result of inadequate knowledge, insufficient skill and faulty attitudes. In line with these findings we have produced, as a public service, a home safety program having as its objective the saving of lives and the prevention of home accidents by teaching the individual how to detect and eliminate home hazards."

"A home accident kills an American man, woman or child every 19 minutes," Throgmorton continued, "and injures 480 every hour. These National Safety Council figures are stark reminders that our lives and the lives of our loved ones are in jeopardy every second of the day or night. We must learn to detect and eliminate home hazards now if we are to make our homes safe places in which to live."

Advertisements and stories on home safety will be published in The Wellington Leader during September and October.

Other home safety program materials are kits for home study and discussion, and for group meetings.

The home study and discussion kit is designed for effective home study and discussion by family groups. It contains materials describing and picturing home areas in which accidents can occur and suggesting methods of eliminating accident hazards. It contains home safety reference and guides. These free home study kits may be obtained at Lone Star Gas Company and co-sponsor offices.

The group meetings kit contains a discussion on home safety and a booklet of charts. These materials are for use in employee and public home safety meetings. They are available to interested companies and groups desiring to conduct home safety meetings in their plants and may be obtained from Lone Star's office at 915 West Avenue.

ATHLETICS NOT SELF-SUPPORTING

State colleges and university athletic programs, with few exceptions, are not self-supporting, says State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

He made the statement in connection with a report on the operations of Sul Ross State College at Alpine where the athletic program showed a $26,357 loss for the year. Income was $56,245, while expenditures amounted to $80,136.

Pete Smith, son of Mrs. Allen I. Smith of Samnorwood, has returned from Waco where he spent the summer working on a ranch. He is a senior in Samnorwood high school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mabery have returned from a vacation to points in Alabama. Near Birmingham, they visited with Mrs. Mabery's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Knight. He is a brother of the late Mrs. Fred Cox.

Mrs. Terry Adams and little son, Timothy Don, returned to Bovina Saturday after a three weeks visit here with relatives and friends. They will leave soon for Boston, Mass., where they will join Adams, who is stationed there with the Navy.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Savage were her mother, Mrs. J. B. Tidwell of Bowie, and two of her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chaney and Mrs. Paul Funk, Mike and Terry, all of Fort Worth.

New Deer Film Released by Game Commission

AUSTIN — "Trail of the Whittail," a 16mm color, sound movie of Texas wildlife, has been completed by the photographic section of the Game and Fish Commission, and now is available for public showing. The picture has been announced by T. D. Carroll, director of information and education of the Commission.

The picture, which was made by photographers Lon Fitzgerald, Tom Diltz and Leroy Williamson, has been three years in the making, and covers a hundred years' history of the white-tailed deer in Texas.

The picture can be obtained without cost by service clubs and sportsmen's organizations for public showing, by writing to the film booking department of the Game and Fish Commission, Walton Bldg., Austin.

In beautiful color and professional sound, it runs 28 minutes, enough time to provide an adequate service club program with superior entertainment, according to Carroll.

Many other subjects also are available from the Commission for public showing.

Invertebrate refers to animals without a backbone.

Most of the world's iodine supply comes from caliche in Chile.

County in 25-inch Rainfall Belt

Collingsworth county is in the Texas rainfall belt which receives around 25 inches per year in the eastern part, where this area is found, to 20 inches along a line south in the Mid-Panhandle.

This belt extends southward, passing to the west of San Antonio, and into the Rio Grande Valley.

On Feb. 27, 1954, the first steam catapult ever installed on a Navy ship was tested aboard the aircraft carrier USS Hancock at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, Wash.

Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Damron Observe Golden Wedding with Open House

An open house, held in their home here Sunday, Aug. 27 honored the Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Damron on their golden wedding anniversary.

Their children were hosts. The Rev. Mr. Damron is a retired Methodist minister, and the couple has been associated with the county's religious life since the early 1930's when he served his first pastorate here.

He was pastor of Trinity Methodist Church three times, from two to four years each, and the couple lived a total of 9 years in Trinity parsonage. Part of the pastorates were before the rural churches were consolidated into the present Trinity, and he traveled over the county to serve them. He built the present Trinity building sanctuary when it was the Quail Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Damron served a number of other churches, most of them in the Abilene and Lubbock areas.

While they were at Southland, near Lubbock, the Rev. and Mrs. Damron were awarded a certificate for outstanding rural service to their church.

He also was chosen to attend the Commission of Town and Country Work of the Methodist Church at College Station.

The Rev. and Mrs. Damron were married Aug. 28, 1911 at Zephyr, Brown county, the community in which they grew up.

He farmed until he entered the ministry in 1924, when he enrolled in McMurry College, Abilene, which he attended at intervals for six years. At the same time he was pastor of churches in that area. He also built a number of churches and parsonages.

Rev. Damron was superannuated at the age of 65, and he and Mrs. Damron returned to Wellington to make their home, living on their farm several years before moving into town.

At the open house Sunday, the couple greeted approximately 80 guests. At the guest register was a granddaughter, Kathy Damron of Ingleside.

The reception table was laid with a linen outwork cloth, centered with an arrangement of gold birds. The doorniece to their home also heralded their 50th wedding anniversary, and flowers used through the entertaining rooms came as the gifts from friends.

Mrs. R. G. Rogers of Houston, a daughter, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. B. C. Damron of Ingleside, a daughter-in-law, poured. Mrs. A. L. Elliott, another daughter, was in charge of the arrangements.

Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Damron

Rev. and Mrs. Damron are the parents of five children: Mrs. Elliott of Wellington, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. J. C.

Ward of Canyon; B. C. Damron of Ingleside and Dr. Frazier Damron of Madison, Wis.

MORE WORK FOR NEXT SESSION

Governor Daniel has found several more items to be submitted to the next special session of the Legislature. He plans to call the lawmakers back to Austin again before the end of the year.

Daniel's package now includes maintenance funds for farm roads, loan shark control, municipal annexation, tourist attraction, lobbyist controls, adding banks to the abandoned property seizure law, improved law enforcement measures, and action on juvenile crime.

"As long as Texas continues to grow," he said, "there will be more problems to solve, but there are some which should not be delayed. It will be my aim to meet the more urgent of these later this year, or in January of next year."

Governor Daniel vetoed the second year appropriation of $15 million for construction of new farm-to-market roads, in an effort to free these funds for maintenance. The $15 million for this purpose for the first year of the new biennium was not affected.

A law passed in 1949 provides for the use of this year's amount for new construction. But the Governor insists "It is just as important to maintain our vast and important 33,000 mile farm road system as it is to build new roads. Maintenance costs now amounting to $18 million annually, are taken from the basic interstate highway fund which is the poorest of all the department programs."

HIKED TRAIN FARES ASKED

On Sept. 6 the Texas Railroad Commission will consider the request for increased passenger rail coach fares of five railway companies operating in Texas.

Companies asking for the hike in fare include Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company, Fort Worth & Denver Railway Company, the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company, Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Company, and Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway Company.

SELLING TEXAS IS BIG JOB

The State Industrial Commission, given $100,000 by the Legislature and charged with the duty of selling Texas as a place for industries to locate, faces a challenge.

Cairman E. B. Germany told the commission, "It is a challenge to make that $100,000 do what it is supposed to do even though it is not enough to do what we want to do."

Executive Director Walter Dickerson reported 3,000 copies of a brochure entitled "Texas: A Strategic Location" have been printed. Brochure will be distributed to a "very carefully selected group of people who have responsibility for making decisions," says Dickerson.

He appealed to Texas cities to contribute information for the commission's industrial surveys. Such information would be kept on file for the use of industrialists considering Texas sites. This would make it possible for industrialists to choose an area without it being known in advance.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roberson recently were her son and his family, the Rev. and Mrs. A. Wayne Jones and daughter, Teresa Kay, of West Columbia. Rev. and Mrs. Jones went on to New Mexico for several days and Teresa Kay remained here with her grandparents until their return. The Rev. Mr. Jones is pastor of Columbia Methodist Church.

- We take special pride in this year's Fair, for many of the fat calves and hogs you see were raised on Purina feed. Many of the fine grain sorghums were grown from DeKalk seed, for which we are the dealers. We are proud to do our part in making Collingsworth county farming better.
- And if you want more information about a livestock feeding program, or improved crop production, we invite you to visit us.

Ko-Shari Introduces Seniors and Pledges at Presentation Ball

The annual Ko-Shari presentation ball was held at the community building Saturday evening, Aug. 25, in a setting of glittering blue and silver crowns and white streamers.

Centering the stage was a large white satin covered base topped with a blue and silver crown, surrounded by white candles. At each side of the stage was a white cardboard house trimmed in blue. The pledges entered the stage from one house and their escorts from the other house. After meeting in the center they were escorted down a blue satin ramp to the ballroom floor and seated at their tables. Across the front of the stage were blue and white crowns, with letters on each crown to form the word Ko-Shari.

Senior girls who were presented on the stage were Andrea Carter, Gayle Peoples, Jennifer Singley, Janice Wood and Elaine Crawley.

Pledges and their escorts who were presented were Vicky Allen, Chester McLain, Janyth Estes, Richard Carter, Joyce Holton, Stanley Harrison, Beverly Singley, Kenneth Patterson, Susan Sullivan, and Gregg Wood.

Ko-Shari President Janice Wood welcomed the guests and Bobby Sanford was master of ceremonies and introduced the pledges and their escorts.

Mrs. Lynn Carter furnished background piano music during the presentation ceremony.

As guests arrived they were met by Nancy Sanford, Marsha Elbert, Linda Richardson, Jeannie Antoon, Janice Tarver, Sandra Carter and Joyce Curry and escorted to their tables. These girls were dressed in black and white costumes with sparkling rhinestone tiaras atop their heads. These were gifts to the girls from the Ko-Shari members. This same group of girls also alternated at the refreshment table.

The formal dance was held immediately following the close of the presentation ceremony.

Ko-Shari sponsors are Mrs. J. W. Wells and Mrs. Jimmy Cochran.

Miss Stacy Taylor and Cagle Davis Marry in Church Ceremony Friday

Two former Wellington residents, Miss Stacy Adair Taylor of Brownfield and Cagle Dean Davis of Lubbock, were married in First Baptist Church here at eight o'clock Friday evening, Aug. 25. The Rev. Claude Stovall of Goodnight, great-uncle of the bride performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Louise Dore of Brownfield and Buel Taylor of Amarillo. Her grandparents live here, Mrs. Bert Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Taylor. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Davis, now of Amarillo.

The altar was centered with a white arch entwined with jade leaves and accented with white wedding bells and white satin streamers. On either side and directly behind the arch were seven branched candelabra with white cathedral tapers. Aisles were marked with candles and white satin bows. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Truman Estes, organist, and Mrs. Rufus Sweat, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin and rose-point lace, styled with a Sabrina neckline patterned with a floral motif. The lace sleeves tapered to points over her wrists and the skirt of pleated satin extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was held by a crown edged with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade of white fujii chrysanthemums centered with a flame gamelia and tied with white satin streamers. The bride's gown was fashioned by her aunt, Mrs. C. C. Taylor Jr., of Coos Bay, Oregon.

The attendants wore apricot street-length sheath dresses of cotton satin, made with scoop necklines, cap sleeves and bouffant silk organza overskirts. Apricot half hats held bouffant short veils. They carried a flame gladiola floriol atop white marine-covered hearts.

The altitude of Wellington is 2,078 feet above sea level, according to the Texas Almanac. Two other county points are listed, Dodson 1800 feet and Dozier, 2,400 feet, a variation of 600 feet in 27 miles as the crow flies.

The altitude of other towns in the area are: Shamrock, 2,310 feet. Wheeler, 2,600 feet. Childress, 1,877 feet. Hedley, 2,661 feet. Clarendon, 2,727 feet.

ball teams and played in the Oil Bowl game at Wichita Falls Aug. 18. Both Mr. and Mrs. Edwards received many other scholastic and extra-curricular honors. She also attended Draughon's Business College in Abilene, and this year they will enroll in Sul Ross College, Alpine.

Lucky Fishermen Recovering Tags Get Free Lures

Rockport — Saltwater anglers who catch tagged fish and return the tag and catch data to the Game and Fish Commission, will be awarded with a jackpot of fishing lures. This has been announced by Terrence Leary, assistant director of the marine fisheries division of the Game and Fish Commission. Four lure manufacturers, Hump Lure Co., Bomber Bait Co., Padre Island Co. Inc., and Doug English Lure Co., will send sample fishing lures for each salt water fish tag returned to the Game and Fish marine laboratory at Rockport.

When a fisherman sends in his tag and catch data, he will receive his four sample lures by mail, one lure from each of the four companies sponsoring the reward program.

The small, numbered metal tag clips usually on the lip of the fish are attached by a biologist of the Commission in an effort to follow the movement and growth of individual fish in their native habitat.

The information needed by the biologists from the fishermen who catch the tagged fish is: length and weight of the fish and where it is caught. This catch information added to other tag returns enables the biologist to map migration routes, plot growth rates and estimate the population size and fishing pressure.

Accidents in the farm home kill more than 2,700 and injure nearly 400,000 farm residents each year.

Life With The Rimples

LUCKY STRIKE DISPLAY

George Scott, co-owner and manager of the Owens and Scott Super Market is shown with a display of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The display was arranged as a tie-in with the Lucky Strike campaign that is being carried in The Wellington Leader. In the background are copies of some of the advertisements and the masthead of The Wellington Leader.

Rural Safety Possible from Nuclear Attack

If nuclear bombs struck several of Texas' larger cities, would people still be safe "down on the farm"?

Answers to this and many other questions will be studied this year by Texas farm and ranch families in special programs on the rural resident's key role in the nation's civil defense.

The CD study will be incorporated into the Extension Service work conducted by the hundreds of county agents over the state.

Need for farm and ranch defense is based on recognition that the answer to the above question is "no". Research on fallout shows that if the country were hit by nuclear bombs, radioactive fallout could drift in death-dealing quantities to even the most isolated areas.

Since all-out war would destroy, contaminate or cut off many normal food supplies, protection of the means of producing more food would be of crucial importance to the nation's recovery.

Programs to be conducted by the county agents in cooperation with county civil defense officials, will give latest information on what the rural resident can do to protect himself, his livestock and his crops.

The State Division of Defense and Disaster Relief and the Texas A & M College Extension Service are joint sponsors of the effort.

Nearly 600 rural civil defense kits have been mailed to the county agents, according to State Defense Coordinator James H. Garner.

Kits include information on such down-to-earth questions as these:

1. How should the family be protected?

2. How can the cattle be economically sheltered?

3. Could the farmer leave his own shelter long enough to feed and milk the cows.

4. Would the well water be safe.

5. Would feed stored in a silo be safe?

6. When would the pasturage be safe for grazing again?

Films, information and discussion materials for four meetings plus maps, exhibits and how-to-do-it brochures are included in the kits.

Garner said county civil defense directors over the state had been contacted and alerted to assist county agents in presenting the CD programs to farm and ranch groups.

"We feel most fortunate," said Garner, "in Extension Service Director John E. Hutchison's decision to include rural civil defense in the extension service program this year. The Extension Service has one of the best trained and most extensive staffs of any agency in the state, with an enviable reputation for leadership and service."

"Though Texas has become more urbanized in the last two decades, we have an estimated two and one-half million people living in unincorporated areas. In the event of nuclear attack, they could well become just about the most important people in Texas."

John W. Rogers Jr. and his son, John W. Rogers III stopped here over the week end for a few hours visit with Mrs. John W. Rogers Sr. They were en route from Denver to their home in Dallas.

Texas Cities Growth Spread to All Sizes

Texas metropolitan cities are not monopolizing growth — or opportunity — as Texas enters its most highly urbanized decade.

The Texas Municipal League reports that 75 percent of the people in Texas now live in cities. Half the city dwellers are in eleven cities. Within 9 years, urbanization of Texas population will reach 80 percent.

The TML research experts point out, however, that growth is spread among all brackets of Texas cities. During the past ten years, 74 percent of the cities between 5,000 and 9,999 population increased in size. For cities in the 2,500 to 4,999 bracket, 71 percent grew larger.

Sixty percent of the cities in the 1,000 to 2,499 category increased population. Among the smallest incorporated cities — those with less than 1,000 population — half of them increased in size during the decade.

Steve Matthews, Executive Director of the Texas Municipal League at Austin, believes that cities of all sizes should remember that in Texas "growth can happen anywhere".

Matthews pointed out that during the 1950's thirty-nine Texas cities and towns which began the decade with less than 10,000 population more than doubled by 1960. Four cities in this category increased population 100 percent — virtually doubling in size each year during the decade.

Among such cities, Irving jumped from 249th place in 1950 to rank as the 23rd largest city in Texas by 1960. Mesquite jumped from 335th to 37th. There are many other such examples.

"The growth performance of our largest cities in Texas has caused many to overlook the fact about our smaller communities," Matthews said.

"First, well over a majority of the smaller towns in Texas have been growing steadily and this growth should continue. Secondly, the most spectacular and dramatic growth in the state is not in the larger metropolitan cities but in smaller cities nearby.

"Far from being good advice, it may be very bad advice in Texas to encourage anybody to leave the small towns," Matthews said. "If the patterns of the past twenty years continue, the best thing to do is to stay in the small town and wait for growth to come."

Cities of all sizes must recognize, TML says, that sound planning for the future is the best attraction for growth either through location of new industrial plants or as a result of new agricultural developments in a region.

"If all other things are equal between two small cities," Matthews explains, "new industry will pick the city which has a sound plan for the future every time as the base for its new investment, new payrolls, new jobs and new homes for its employees."

Improved Sampling Methods Aids Brucellosis Test

College Station — The State-USA campaign to eradicate brucellosis has received a substantial boost, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports. Savings of time and labor have been effected through an improvement in the method of pinpointing dairy herds affected with the disease.

This improvement consists of taking the test samples from the milk used in butterfat tests, thus eliminating the need for getting separate samples.

Dr. O. J. Hummon, of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, says that sample collection is greatly simplified by the new procedure because samples drawn from butterfat test bottles can be handled much faster than others. The veterinarian notes that there is a potential saving of an estimated 50 percent in collection and laboratory work time, and that records are more accurate, plant routine is not upset, and more flexible scheduling of tests is possible.

With the incidence of brucellosis declining each year, greater efforts must be made to detect remaining centers of infection. Because of the savings made possible by this new procedure, many states have been able to increase the frequency of tests from two to three times a year. This additional surveillance helps speed up efforts toward brucellosis eradication.

MILK CONFISCATION

Milk entering interstate commerce can be confiscated by Pure Food and Drug administration inspectors if it contains insecticidal residues. Dairymen are urged to use care in the selection and application of chemicals for external parasite control on their dairy herds by Extension Entomologists Garner and Ridgeway. They suggest a visit with the local county agent for details.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

RE-BIRTH OF PATRIOTISM

Back in the depression days of the Thirties a few energetic and obviously dedicated young men and women came down from the North and East to establish a college at Mena, Arkansas. They worked rather quietly in this West Arkansas mountain town getting their facilities in order for the little school. Townspeople were inclined to mind their own business, particularly since their advice wasn't asked nor seemingly required.

Support and financial backing for the small school came chiefly from distant places but it soon appeared that its ideas also came from afar. Its operators were much interested in "new" social thought, the struggle against capital, "progressive" ideas, race relations, labor organizing, worker education, and revolutionary socialistic activities in general. More and more it appeared that their ideas coincided with Marxist views. Too little attention was being paid, they insisted in the fashion of the reformer of that day, to the socialist experiments in Soviet Russia which were sure to be the wave of the future.

Supported by Liberals
Some years passed before this "school" ran into difficulties with the authorities. A combination of circumstances, including World War II caused its closing, but not before many a "liberal" had called for support to keep it going. Undoubtedly it left its mark on our state and nation, for it must have contributed its share to the spreading Red-tinged political beliefs that usually begin action by attacking freedom of enterprise and capitalism and by calling for "liberal" legislation.

(Not every left-winger in Arkansas went to college at Mena, for it is probable that some of them encountered similar teachings at Harvard and other major universities.)

But the lesson of history out of the Mena episode is pertinent today. The citizens of Mena were not then particularly worried about "un-American" ideas at Commonwealth College. The Thirties was not a very vigilant decade. It was, however, a period when Marxism learned how to successfully infiltrate our nation. Politicians saw the glamor of the ideas that looked new and workable. It was not too difficult to persuade people impatient with depression to try unwise remedies.

New Patriotism

Now that we have seen the march of socialism throughout the world, particularly the desperate plunder and slaughter of Communism as it attempts to achieve the socialist paradise of the proletariat, we are convinced more than ever that it can happen here. The people of Latvia, Poland, Hungary, Cuba, did not choose Communism by popular vote, although it is not inconceivable that a nation could so choose. The point is that today they have no choice. While we still have the freedom to make choices, shall we not choose to be vigilant rather than to relax into a false sense of security?

Some old-timers at Mena have reason today to see history with fine balance. They are still unashamed of their patriotism and love of country, but they are a little more anxious to show it than they used to be. This year, on the Fourth of July, the whole town of Mena put on one of the most demonstrative patriotic rallies I have ever seen. I had the feeling that the older citizens of Mena desired most earnestly to impress upon their youngsters the necessity of preserving the American way of life.

Here in this town, where a Communist college is reported to have had its Stalin Hall, Lenin Hall, Free-Love Hall, etc., I told a crowd of several thousand: "No man wants to be a slave of another. Each wants to be free. In America we have achieved freedom of person to the extent that even the President of our nation could not cause the humblest citizen to be jailed and left there indefinitely without a trial and that before a jury selected in his own community."

"We have freedom of travel, freedom of occupation, freedom to own property, freedom to create a business, freedom to choose the vocation of our children, freedom of religion, of speech and of press. These freedoms represent a great treasure that we should indeed hold sacred and pass on to our children."

114 of Langley Family Come Home for Annual Three-Day Reunion

By Mrs. Aubrey Stuckey
The reunion of the family of the late J. E. Langley was held on Aug. 18, 19 and 20. There were 114 members at the Langley reunion grounds located on the new paved farm to market road from Wellington to Quail. The six acre tract was purchased from Mrs. W. W. Neeley last year to make a permanent grounds for the reunion.

The family started gathering on Thursday evening, but moved out to the grounds on Friday morning, and by Friday night most of the crowd had arrived. Mrs. Minnie Jones and Mrs. Verma Ingram did the cooking and dishwashing chores again this year.

In spite of the rain on Friday night and Saturday afternoon, no one had to leave the grounds, as several tents were brought and with the station wagons and cars everyone was in the dry. And a wonderful time was had by all just visiting with each other and playing the many games that were brought out for entertainment.

The song fest and business meeting were held on Saturday night. There were three new additions to the family since last year: Donna Marie Langley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Langley; LeeAnn Marcum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Marcum, and Rickey Lee Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Price.

Dan Langley was elected president for the coming year; Donald Langley, secretary, and treasurer. The same building committee was retained for another year and plans were discussed for the erection of a 30x80 ft. building before the next meeting, which will be held at the same time next year, beginning on Friday before the third Sunday in August.

Those attending this year's meeting were:

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Johnson and Jim Langley of Quail; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis and children and Mrs. Coleman Crow and children of Farmington, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haven and children and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Price of Clarendon;

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Davis and children of Dove Creek, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe of Marietta, Okla.; Mr.

and Mrs. Floyd Lowe and children of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lowe and children of Daingerfield; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lowe and children of Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lowe and children of Midwest City, Okla.; Mrs. Ethel Hester and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lowe of Fort Worth;

Lee Carmen and children of Ardmore, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Langley of Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Nixon and children of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sisk and children of Pine Bluff, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richards and children of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Kathryn Cook and children of Stamford;

J. W. Langley and children of Fritch; Mrs. Dennie Marcum and daughter of San Diego, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. John Barnhart and son of Garland; Mr. and Mrs. George Langley of Seattle, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Langley and children of Wichita, Kan.; Cling Howard of Commerce; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sanders of Mangum; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howard of Willsboro.

Attending from Wellington were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gray and children, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Stuckey, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Langley and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Sanders and son. About 15 friends were also present.

The American Legion is taking orders for flags for residences. These are the new 50-star flags and come with a holder that can be attached easily. Along with the flag, the Legion is distributing a leaflet on flag etiquette. It is proper and patriotic to display the flag at your home from sunup to sundown on all national, state and local holidays. You can get one in time for the fair by contacting Fred Squyres, Jack Sanford, or any member of the Legion.

Last year our people came in for some harsh but justified criticism at the time of the fair parade. Some out of town visitors were shamed and angered to observe that some men did not remove their hats when the Colors passed. Let's not let that happen again this year. The flag is the symbol of our country and all it stands for and should be treated with respect at all times.

The Chamber of Commerce has prepared a pamphlet for mailing to prospective people and firms who might be interested in making Wellington and Collingsworth county their home. It is a splendid bit of promotion and contains pictures showing our schools, public buildings, churches, and others depicting our resources, businesses, recreation and our way of life in general. It creates a warm appreciation in the reader in setting forth Wellington as a friendly, prosperous county seat town. The photography is by Virginia Robey and the text is by Henry Sullivan.

Did you know that in proportion to its population, Wellington has more paved streets than any town in Texas?

Readers of this paper who buy single copies of the paper won't have to pay a sales tax because it costs less than 25¢, but Bernice Welch and I will have to pay 2¢ on each dollar's worth of papers sold. That is not so bad. It is the thought of the bookkeeping that gets us down. California and Illinois have had a sales tax since 1933 and are still issuing directives on how the tax should be collected and paid.

"Beyond doubt this will be the biggest county fair in the southeast Panhandle this year, and probably one of the largest fairs of the entire Panhandle area," N. M. Higdon, assistant superintendent, reported. While the Collingsworth event has grown and interest in it has increased, several fairs in this section of the state have closed down for this season.

"Of course we can't say how many thousands of people will visit the Fair, but we are certain that a good portion of the population of Collingsworth County, along with hundreds from surrounding counties, will be on hand to marvel at the richness of our resources — crops, livestock and all other divisions as they reflect the soundness of our community," Higdon declared.

First Bale

(Continued from page one) ers are continuing to spray for boll weevils Clifton Hartman of Hartman Spray Service reported a number of out of county planes have been brought in to help with the work.

Some younger cotton remains without weevil, although the owners are keeping daily check for any appearance of grubs or weevils.

A few farmers in the extreme southeast part of the county are preparing to defoliate, feeling that enough cotton is open to warrant this.

Tarter Predicts

Farm Products Division Will Be Twice as Big as Last Year

Thirteen community booths and at least twice the number of individual exhibits are already in prospect for the agricultural and horticultural division of the Collingsworth County Free Fair, Jake Tarter, chairman, told The Wellington Leader this week.

These exhibits will be in the community building, and Tarter has as his assistants Monty Mitchell and Frank Kennedy of Quail and Wood Coleman of Dozier.

V. H. Hefner of Chillicothe, for more than 20 years county agent at Childress, will judge the show, Tarter said. Hefner has judged two of the three past fairs here and he is considered one of the best judges of fair agricultural exhibits in this area.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded on the individual entries, and first place community booth winner will receive a rosette, with second, third and fourth place winners getting ribbons. Money awards will go along with the community booth winners: $30 for first, $25 for second, $20 for third, $15 for fourth and $10 for winners of fifth through tenth places. Money awards for individual entries will be $2.00 for first place, $1.00 for second and 75¢ for third.

Tarter listed again the classes of entries for any who may have missed the earlier announcement.

Head or ear grains, 10 of each: milo hybrids, open heads, hybrid milo, closed heads, milo any other variety, black hull kaffir, yellow corn and white corn.

Grains and seeds, any variety unless otherwise specified: wheat, oats, rye, barley, milo hybrids, milo other variety, Black Hull kaffir, hegari, Spanish peanuts, cream peas, blackeye peas, peas, any variety, pinto beans, lima or butter beans, beans any other variety, common sudan, sweet sorghum, sorghum alnum, alfalfa, millet, guar and clover.

Grass seeds, any grass grown in this area, each sample to be one pound, including weeping love, sand love, sand bluestem, side oats grama, switch, Indian, or other varieties.

Sheaf forage: samples to be 3 to 5 inches in diameter, 18 to 48 inches tall: millet, alfalfa, sweet sorghum, sudan, any silage sorghum, any clover and sorghum alnum.

Church Adds Two Elders

Two additional elders have been appointed for West Avenue Church of Christ and will be installed Sunday, Sept. 3, Min. J. R. Patterson has announced.

They are L. A. Gilmore and L. A. Davis, both of whom have served as deacons for several years. They will continue in that capacity.

Other elders are V. P. Robertson, Frank Thomason, Lewis Green and Buddy Yarbrough.

"The goal now is to get more deacons," Min. Patterson said.

Lacy Teaches at Guthrie

Don Lacy last week joined the faculty of the Guthrie schools and will coach basketball and football in junior high and teach fifth and sixth grades.

Mr. and Mrs. Lacy and their two small children moved to Guthrie during the week end.

He received his degree from Texas A&M College in 1956 and served two years as a second lieutenant in the Air Force. Since then he has been associated with his father, Drury Lacy, in farming and custom combine work. He also formerly taught in Wellington junior high.

Strongs Attend Florist Meet

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Strong left Saturday to attend the convention of New Mexico and Texas Florist Association, in session this week in Lubbock.

At the close of the convention, they will visit a son, Eddie Strong and family, in Artesia, N.M., and a daughter, Mrs. J. N. Cook and family in Roswell.

They plan to return Sept. 5.

Any Disagreement

Navy Secretary John Connally declared before a Senate committee that "Three quarters of the earth's surface is water and most of it is navigatable only by ships."

Sheaf grasses: specifications as above: weeping love, sand love, Indian, sand bluestem, switch, side oats grama, and any other variety.

Cotton: 20 open bolls or 3 pounds of seed cotton.

Fruits: apples, peaches, plums and pears.

Vegetables: cashaw, okra, onions, green corn, tomatoes, watermelon, cantaloupe, summer squash, cucumbers, pumpkin, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, green cucumber, winter squash, field pumpkins and green beans (1 gal.)

Eggs: one dozen.

LEDGE END—A rocky ledge, projecting toward the Kaieteur Falls in British Guiana, offers one of the most beautiful and breathtaking views in the world. Although it is only 300 feet wide, the falls has a drop of 741 feet.

Couples to Fertilizer Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Singley returned home Sunday night from Ruidoso, N.M., where they had spent several days at the new Park Motel there as guests of the Mathieson Chemical Company.

Mr. Singley won the expense paid trip for being top in sales of Mathieson fertilizer for this district.

Also attending the meeting from Wellington were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Masten, who were there to represent Warrick Feed Store.

Each morning was spent attending business meetings with Mathieson dealers present from western Texas and all of New Mexico.

In the afternoons they were free to sightsee and relax. As guests of Mathieson company they had access to free golf, swimming, bowling and a number of other entertainments.

Mrs. Breeding

(Continued from page one) Mrs. Breeding was born Mattie Louella Shirley in Parker county on June 7, 1879. She moved with her family to Guymon, Okla., in 1904, then after two years came with them to McLean. It was there that she met and was married to Mr. Breeding on Jan. 13, 1907. He preceded her in death March 2, 1955.

Funeral services for Mrs. Breeding were conducted at Dozier Church of Christ Tuesday at 3 p.m. by Minister Van Bonneau of Dodson, a long-time family friend. Friends from all walks of life came to pay her final tribute.

Pall bearers were grandsons and included Billy Mac Sims of Wellington, Spencer Coleman of Fort Worth, Jimmy Breeding, Don Amerson and Rudy Tate of Dozier, Joe Frank Knoll of Shamrock, Buck Williams of McLean and Bill Breeding of Miami.

Burial was in Dozier cemetery under the direction of Richardson Funeral Home of Shamrock.

Surviving Mrs. Breeding are five children: Mrs. John Coleman of Wellington; W. R. Breeding of Abra; J. C. Breeding and Mrs. Carl Amerson of Dozier; and Earl Breeding of Miami.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. W. E. Bentley of Magic City; 11 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren.

FARMS USE STEEL

Farmers annually take 6½ million tons of finished steel in the form of tractors, trucks, cars, building materials, fences, and many other essential items. This represents nearly half as much steel as the total automotive industry uses.

Wheat Growers Approves Quotas 113 to 27

Collingsworth county wheat growers approved marketing quotas 113 to 27 in the vote Thursday, Aug. 24. This is an approximate 80 per cent approval, a little above the state and national percentage, Millard Brown, ASC office manager, reported.

In addition to this total of 140 votes cast, two were challenged, and both of these were cast by farmers living in Childress county who voted in the wrong place.

Wellington wheat growers approved quotas 46 to 13.

Dodson, 21 for, four against and two challenged.

Dozier-Sammorwood, 22 for and 5 against.

Lutie, 24 for and 5 against.

The Texas vote was 13,092 for quotas and 3,507 against, or 78.87 per cent approval.

The national percentage of approval was 77.

Brown explained that since the referendum passed by the necessary two-thirds majority, there will be a complete wheat stabilization program in effect for the 1962 crop. This will include increased price supports, plus payments to producers for diverting wheat acreage to conservation uses. Support price on wheat, under this program will be about $2 per bushel.

Had this program not passed, there would have been no wheat stabilization program for the coming year. Marketing would have been unlimited and the price support would have been 50 per cent of parity or about $1.18 per bushel.

Sullivan to Grocers Meet

Luther Sullivan of The City Grocery attended the annual convention of the Texas Grocers Association in San Antonio last week. He said that there were approximately 3,000 grocermen in attendance at the meeting, which lasted through Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Borneo is the third largest island in the world.

SLIGHT PROBLEM

The postman in Rippingdale, England, makes his rounds in a community with no house numbers, no street names, and 20 persons with the same last name.

Dodson Revival Opens Sat.

A gospel meeting will open at the Church of Christ in Dodson Saturday, Sept. 2, and continue through Sunday, Sept. 10, with Frank Duckworth of Fort Worth as the evangelist.

Milton Pullen of Channelview will be the song leader.

Services will be held twice daily, at 10 a.m. and 7:45 p.m.

Nearly Million 4-H Youth in Safety Program

(Special) — VIP in the 4-H roster can be found under the heading of Safety. VIP in this case means "very important project." Spelled backward it could mean "people in vehicles."

Either way, the combination alerts more young people to the importance of safety than does any other 4-H endeavor. Some 900,000 boys and girls are participating in a 4-H safety activity or project in which they help to lessen dangers on highways, farms, in homes and communities, reports the Co-operative Extension Service.

Right now when millions of motorists take to the road for week end outings or long awaited vacations, chances for accidents mount. Motor vehicle accidents top the list, says the National Safety Council. Over the long 4th of July week end, a record number of people died because of accidents.

The death toll among rural people is exceptionally high, according to the safety council. Over the last 10 years, 58,000 rural residents died and two million were injured on the highway. Fatal accidents for the decade increased 26 per cent. Tractor fatalities climbed 50 per cent over the last eight years.

While 4-H Club members represent a small number of the 82 million automobile drivers, they do a commendable job in eliminating driving hazards in their communities the year-round. Members also check for health and recreation hazards, home safety and safe handling of animals, according to the Extension Service which super-

Parade

(Continued from page one) Besides the floats, there will be a number of ponies and cowboys and cowgirls in western dress. A number of merchants, especially automobile and farm equipment dealers, will have commercial floats or will be displaying latest models and new machinery.

Machinery, drowning, fire-arms and falls are the leading causes of death on farmland and around farm buildings.

It's a Fact!

The drops of water we find on them are due to the moisture in the air. In warm weather, this moisture increases, and coming into contact with the cold pipes, condenses into water. "Popular Fallacies" — A. S. E. Ackermann.

Gracie Ruth Hughes, C. L. Fletcher Wed in Home Ceremony in Louisiana

The marriage of Miss Gracie Ruth Hughes and Crawford Lee Fletcher Jr. was solemnized on Saturday, the 12th of August in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Hughes in Vidalia, La. The Rev. Dwight Grantham of Vidalia officiated.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Lee Fletcher of Watson, La. The bride is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Shanks and has been a frequent visitor here.

The floral setting for the wedding was designed by the bride's father.

She wore a gown of white peau de soie and reemboïdered Alençon lace. The bodice featured elbow sleeves of lace and scallops of the lace outlined the scoop neckline. Designs of the lace also trimmed the skirt which fell into a chapel train. Her headpiece, a crown of white flowers with pearlized stamens, held a waist length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. David B. Hughes, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor, and Miss Shirley Bellis of Vidalia was the bridesmaid. They wore orchid crystal dresses, with embroidered panels enhancing the bodices and the bell-shaped skirts. They feathered pill-boxes held circular veils and they carried bouquets of pink, blue and orchid mums. Diane Thornton of Vidalia was the flower girl. Her floor length dress was orchid crystal and she carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Attending the groom as best man was Kay Fletcher of Port Allen, La., a brother of the bridegroom, and David A. Hughes, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hughes wore a dress of wedgewood blue chiffon and lace, while Mrs. Fletcher chose orchid silk. Their corsages were pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were hosts at the reception which followed the ceremony.

After their wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains and other points, the couple will be at home at Ruston, La., where both attend Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

BLUE LAW CONFUSION

Under the new Texas "Blue Law," shopping for certain items on Saturday or Sunday may prove a chore.

The law that started out as a device to hit the discount houses operating on Sunday was changed to include Saturday as an alternate because the lawmakers felt a straight Sunday closing law might appear discriminatory to some religious groups who observe the Sabbath on other days.

Included in the list of items merchants are not allowed to sell on one of the two weekend days are lawn mowers, toys, motor vehicles, clothing, furniture, kitchen utensils, air conditioners, home appliances, jewelry, cameras, radios and television sets.

The law has teeth—a fine of $100 is provided for the first conviction, going up to $500 and six months in jail for subsequent convictions.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roberson have returned home after several days vacation spent at Red River, N.M., and other points of interest in that area. They were accompanied by his daughter, Miss Minnie Mae Roberson of Quitaque, and by a sister, Miss Minnie Roberson of Clarendon.

Everybody Likes a Fair

Everybody likes a fair and there is a fundamental reason, for fairs are as ancient as our civilization. Once they served a different purpose than the advertisement, display and entertainment that we associate with them today.

In other days fairs were held as a means of people getting together and selling merchandise—cloth, jewels, food, cattle, horses and other livestock. In Britain people brought in their pigs, cows, fowls and sheep to the little county fair and trades people assembled with their merchandise and wandering minstrels provided entertainment in addition to that the people provided for themselves. Fairs served the same purpose in Western Europe and for that matter in all of the world; for the earliest recorded fairs were held in the Orient.

In our country fairs have developed into periodic expositions of agriculture, horticulture, stock raising, manufacturing, science, military, education, religion and of course many varied kinds of amusements.

One of the main benefits of a fair such as ours is in the exercise of a united community effort. It brings people closer together, gives them a sense of accomplishment, a pride in their work and a greater understanding of each other.

Yes, everybody likes a fair; so be here Friday and Saturday.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

A news item says Australian sheep herders strap a little radio signal sender on flock leaders so they can always locate their sheep with a direction finder set.

One smart-cracker says we need to keep these snitching devices away from U.S. wives, but my non-trifling neighbor says it wouldn't bother him, as he can't hardly afford Uncle Sam and one wife, let alone other interests.

But says he will put up an awful fight if the finance companies ever try to hang one of these electronic finders on him.

Social welfare engineer oven in Indonesia a while back was backing a law for that country so a man can't have more than one wife at a time except in case of emergency.

Which seems reasonable enough and different from many laws because it allows a citizen some leeway for special conditions.

But my once-blessed neighbor says if he ever runs into an emergency that he needs two wives to cope with, he is of a mind to just call it cope-less.

I see where a professional wise man says alcoholism is now running second in the U.S. compared to a new type of disease which you might call creditism.

My credit-tuned neighbor says he ails somewhat from this, but is not sick. He just can't get his wants and his money synchronized.

Says, though, we sure need our old credit system brought up to date, so a man can buy whatever he wants and let his grandchildren pay for it, like the government plan.

Big demand these days for "low calorie" foods, and high income taxes await the man who brings out a real no-calorie beefsteak and pecan pie.

My pottish neighbor says the calorie theory is a fraud, though, because some people intake twice as many calories as he does and are still skinny.

Says the fact is, he has just got a special high-efficiency stomach, which can make a pound of blubber out of an ounce of salted peanuts.

Report says U.S. foreign aiders a while back put up $100,000 of tax-squeezings to teach the people of Israel how to run banks and loan companies.

My tightwad neighbor says we ought to just leave the Jews ignorant on how to handle money, at least until we find out how rich people like us keep getting deeper in debt all the time.

Says he guesses we won't go to Liberal Heaven if we don't share all of our super-know-how with others, so likely we will soon be sending out a Thrift Corps, to teach foreigners how to live on what they make.

Doesn't seem like there is any end to what science can think of to do for man's comfort and convenience, and soon now we will be able to buy a self-lighting cigarette.

My filter wit neighbor says with this great step forward, technology has near worked itself out of a job, and about the only room for advancement that is left is to motorize the tricycle.

Says he is reactionary, though, and will stick to the old style cigarette which a man can spend some time lighting up while he is trying to think of an answer.

The Fair is a good barometer of the real condition of Collingsworth County this year.

Welcome, Friends!

Take your first thrilling look at the 1961 Harvest of Collingsworth County, all at one time. You will see the whole of it . . . fluffy cotton, fat maize heads . . . luxuriant grasses and delicious fruits . . . and the work of women's skilled hands. Just a step away is some of the finest livestock this county has ever raised . . . and down the road one of the Panhandle's top horse shows.

We are a productive county indeed, and this bank is proud of the vital part we have played in helping build our agricultural economy.

Only as our farmers and ranchers prosper can this county and this bank remain prosperous.

The many exhibits, the community products, the prize livestock, all will reflect the great progress the county has made, just as it also will reflect our potential for the future.

There is nothing like friendly competition to stimulate improvement, whether it is toward better ideas or better crops.

At the Fair, you'll get ideas from the exhibits, from visiting with friends and from displays that will help you in your own business, on your own farm.

Draw Down Pipe Common in Dam Building

In the past year the phrase "draw down pipe" has appeared in farm publications, news articles and in the language of conservationists.

Just what are draw down pipes, and what purpose do they serve?

A draw down pipe is usually made of asphalt coated corrugated metal. If it could be seen it would look like the letter L lying on its back, with the shorter part or "riser" sticking vertically through the upstream slope of the dam and the longer part or "barrel" sticking horizontally out on the downstream side. The top of the riser is set two or more feet vertically below the level of the earth spillway. The exact vertical distance will vary according to the height, spillway condition, storage capacity, and drainage area of the dam, and the purpose for which the dam is being built.

The purpose of a draw down pipe is much the same as that of springs on a car. It forms a flood cushion for the dam and protects the spillway from frequent and prolonged use, just as springs cushion and protect a car from bumps.

In this country a great many stock water dams are in danger because the emergency spillway is washing out. This is an all too frequent occurrence especially in those cases where the flood waters around a spillway return to the draw down a steep and poorly vegetated slope. It is in cases like these that a draw down pipe proves its worth.

By drawing the water level down to the riser elevation it protects the spillway by always maintaining some storage for

In the afternoon business meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Durfey were elected hosts for the reunion next year, which will be held on the third Sunday in August at the Wellington community building.

The remainder of the day was spent visiting and renew-runoff water in case the dam is full when a heavy rain falls. By not being used for small rains the earth spillway is saved for the "chunk-floating" rains that hit this country. By saving the spillway for these rains the draw down pipe will extend the life of the dam by many years.

Three Deer Now Allowed Hunters in 14 Counties

AUSTIN — Texas hunters will be able to kill three deer, the third antlerless deer to be known as bonus deer, in at least 14 Texas counties, in the upcoming season starting November 16. These are counties under regulatory authority where there is an overpopulation of deer, and efforts will be made to bring sex ratio into balance by special permit for a third deer.

These counties include Bandera, Crockett, Edwards, Llano, Mason, Medina and Sutton counties in the Edwards Plateau regulatory district; Comal, Dimmitt and Zavala counties in the South Texas regulatory district; Freestone, Grimes and Robertson counties in the Trinity-Brazos regulatory district; and Bosque county in the Possum Kingdom district.

Check Social Security Record

Is your social security record correct? If you don't know, Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office has some advice on how to find out, and why it is important to do so.

It is really very easy to verify your social security record, Geldon points out. All you need to do is ask your social security office for a free postcard form to obtain a copy of your social security account.

After completing and mailing the form, you will receive a statement in a few weeks telling you what earnings have been posted to your account. If the statement does not agree with your records, contact your social security office.

It is important that your records be correct for two reasons. It is used to determine whether you have worked long enough for you or your survivors to be eligible for social security payments upon your

Cotton Classing Office Debt Paid in Full

The board of directors of the Rolling Plains Cotton Producers, Inc. announced this week that all indebtedness in connection with the construction of the cotton classing office in Memphis, has been paid in full.

classing office, and we have enough surplus money remaining to maintain and operate the office for several years," the directors stated.

Cotton producers in the 12-county area served by this office are to be notified that no further collections will be made by the gins in this area until further official notice from the Rolling Plains Cotton Producers, Inc., is given.

Each individual gin in the 12-county area will be requested to post notices of no further collections in their gin offices, it was announced.

"The directors would like to take this opportunity to thank the gins for acting as their collecting agencies during the past two seasons," V. C. Durrett, president, stated.

"Two years ago the Department of Agriculture conducted a survey in the following counties: Hall, Doney, Childress, Cottle, King, Motley, Wheeler, Briscoe, Carson, Collingsworth, Gray and Armstrong, and found the producers in each county to be overwhelmingly in favor of establishing a classing office in Memphis by voluntary contributions from individual producers," President Durrett said.

All gins in the area were asked by the organization to act as collecting agents, he explained.

"According to our records," Durrett said, "the following is a list of the gins that participated, or did not participate in the collection program:

"The following gins cooperated fully in the collection program both years—Hall county: All Paymaster Gins, West Texas Gin at Turkey, Chickasha-Beaty Gin at Memphis, Farmers Union No. 1 at Memphis, Farmers Union No. 2 at Plaska, Lakeview Coop No. 1, and Memphis Farmers Co-op.

"Donley county: Paymaster at Clarendon, Ashtola and Lelia Lake, West Texas at Hedley.

"In Childress county: West Texas at Childress.

"In Cottle County: Paymaster at Paducah.

"Motley county: Flomot Gin, West Texas at Matador.

"Wheeler county: Shamrock Co-op, and Paymaster at Wheeler.

"Also, Briscoe county: Quitaque Farmers Co-op, Davis Gin, Tomlin & Fleming, Paymaster at Quitaque.

"Carson county: Panhandle Gin.

"Collingsworth county: Davis Gin at Dodson, Farmers Co-op No. 1 at Dodson, Tindall at Quail, Tindall No. 2 at Wellington, Farmers Co-op No. 1 at Wellington, Wellington Gin of Chickasha Cotton Oil.

"Gray county: McLean Gin.

"When the present surplus of funds has been used for maintenance and repair of the classing office, due notice will be given by the organization of a new collecting program," President Durrett said.

There will be an annual membership meeting of the Rolling Plains Cotton Producers, Inc., at Memphis at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 2 at the classing office, it was announced.

Visiting Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Eads were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Stenn and Mrs. Frank Sisk of Spur; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eads and family; Mrs. Orville Housden, Melvin Housden and Paula Adams, all of Clarendon.
