The city is relying on two methods for its survey now being conducted as a part of the work toward a general development plan. Like the census people did it a year ago, some of the survey forms are being distributed by mail, while others are being completed by personal contact.

Finding enough workers, of course, is the problem in the personal contact method. Jaycees are taking care of this type of survey work, having furnished manpower from their own ranks as well as recruited some from outside sources.

When the survey is completed and analyzed, the city hopes that it will provide some useful guidelines in future planning. It also will provide the city with some valuable general information on its citizens and what they expect from their municipal government.

And, according to latest statistics, there are about 400 more of us in Snyder now than there were a year ago when the federal census was taken. This estimate is based on the known guidelines and other factors which were updated in the 1970 census. For example, the city hooked up 20 new water customers in the past month alone, which continued a steady gain in this department.

Neighboring Big Spring is going to celebrate the formal opening of its museum this coming Sunday. The Heritage Museum there will be open between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. that day for the formal opening event.

Like some other communities, the people there have been working on their museum project for a long time. They are using the old Roberts town house, which formerly was used to house the county library there, and both the county and city have cooperated in helping develop the museum. It is located at Sixth and Scurry Streets in Big Spring.

"Six Flags" is a term which has been synonymous with recreation and amusement in the Southwest and it is spreading steadily to other areas.

Word has just been received that "Six Flags Over Mid-America" will open the weekend of May 15-16 in St. Louis. There's already another one in Georgia.

Patterned after the big amusement center at Arlington between Fort Worth and Dallas, the Mid-America version apparently will capitalize on regional history, as do the other such installations. One of the main attractions, the advance billing says, will be "Miss Kitty's Saloon."

Six seems to have been a magic number in the flag department. However, St. Louis stretches it a bit by claiming three at the present time, since part of that city is in Missouri and part is in Illinois, making it possible to list both of those state flags in addition to the U. S. Flag. In earlier days, St. Louis was under the flags of Great Britain, Spain and France.

Economy Advisers Optimistic

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the evidence due later this week, White House economic advisers suddenly are brimming with optimism over the nation's economic performance in the first three months of the year.

"We are not only going to see a strong gain," predicted chief economic adviser Paul W. McCracken, "but there is some evidence the pace of the economy quickened as we moved toward the end of the first quarter.

McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, referred to the upcoming release of gross national product figures, the output of the country's goods and services in January, February and March.

Although other statistical indicators have pointed to a possible weak showing by GNP during the first quarter, McCracken sees the situation differently.

He told newsmen Tuesday auto sales and retail sales, in particular, stepped up sharply during the last part of the three-month period.

"This is usually a harbinger of things to come in the economy," he said. As to the impact on reducing inflation and unemployment, "It'll take a little time. It always does."

GNP, the broadest measure of the pace of the economy, is tentatively scheduled to be released Friday. The council has predicted it will grow by 9 per cent this year and has stuck by the prediction despite lower forecasts by private economists.

The faster growth of the economy, as the council sees it, is supposed to bring down unemployment to 4.5 per cent and reduce the rate of inflation to 3 per cent by mid-1972.

The administration is shooting for a first-quarter growth of about $30 billion in GNP to keep the economy on the track Nixon has laid out. His advisers are hoping a strong rebound in auto production will provide most of the early impetus.

School Board Re-Elects Dan Cotton President

Dan Cotton was re-elected president and Dillard Teal was elected vice president of the Snyder School Board last night as the board reorganized for a new year. Emil D. Flynn, school business manager, was re-elected secretary to the board.

The board was organized for the year following canvass of the votes in the April 3 election. The vote count showed that Cotton led the field with 522 votes to gain re-election along with William J. Schiebel, who received 358 votes. The only new member elected to the board is Bill Eiland, who received 420 votes. Other vote totals showed W. M. Starnes with 333, Kenneth Wilson with 307, Don Spink with 184 and Guy Sullivan with one write-in vote.

The session wound up with a discussion, but no action, on administrative salaries. Discussion of this item at this time stemmed from the recent change in postion of athletic director and high school football coach. The Southern Association of Schools, the regional accrediting agency, requires that no other personnel within a school receive a higher salary than the principal, who in turn must not receive more than administrators above him on administrative ladder.

After considerable discussion, the board decided to tackle this issue during studies which will lead to development of the 1971-72 budget, the first session being set for Thursday night. Supt. Bill J. Hood said he felt that salaries should be kept in proper perspective, considering the importance of each position in the educational system.

Board member Ted Crenwelge said he felt that the board should face up to the problem squarely.

"We succumbed to pressure," said Crenwelge in referring to the athletic director's salary, adding that all members of the board were aware of the salary situation as it related to administrators at the time that action was taken.

Other board members agreed that administrative salaries should be reviewed and indicated that they would be studied at all levels during the budget development meetings.

A board of tax equalization for the school district composed of J. L. Browning, Lee Smyth and Leland Herod was appointed, and the administration was authorized to proceed with an application providing for a contract with Western Texas College for some vocational courses.

In response to a request, the board set tuition for transfers into the special education program at the actual cost of $1,062 per pupil, less the per capital funds the school district receives. The superintendent was authorized to negotiate with the Hermleigh district concerning an arrangement in which Hermleigh could be in-

HOUSE PASSES ETHICS BILL

Senators Learn New Taxes Needed

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)— Texas senators got the bad news first—it will take at least $662.6 million in new taxes to ease the state's current money problems.

Then Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes gave them worse news Tuesday —that public welfare costs may bankrupt the state in two years if something isn't done quickly.

Barnes' assessment of the state spending and taxing picture came as both houses dug into work schedules following their Easter holidays.

The House finally passed its version of a legislative code of ethics after three consecutive days of debate. The 133-6 vote sent the measure to the Senate, which passed its own ethics measure March 22.

Since each house approved a different version, the ethics question is expected to be shifted to a 10-man conference committee that will try to solve all Senate-House differences before the session ends May 31.

Key provisions in the House ethics bill call for full financial disclosure provision but flatly prohibit lawmakers from representing paying clients before government agencies. The Senate bill also provides a commission to make and enforce ethical rules.

Neither the House nor the Senate bill contained a legislators' pay raise provision that will be on the May 18 special election ballot. Under that proposed Constitution change a so-called ethics commission would recommend legislative salary rates and the legislators would vote the money.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, Rockdale, tried a last minute maneuver Tuesday to substitute the contents of the Senate-approved bill for the House bill but failed by a 70-69 vote, when he needed a two-thirds majority.

Rep. Jim Nugent, Kerrville, sponsor of the House bill, pleaded with House members that: "We shouldn't get down on our knees to the Senate... The House has passed ethics bills in four previous sessions only to see them die in the Senate."

In other House action, representatives approved a Senate bill authorizing insurance companies to pool risks of insuring property in areas hard hit by hurricanes, hail and tornadoes. The bill went back to the Senate for approval of House amendments.

Senators approved 21-7 a proposed constitutional change giving the governor, lieutenant governor and other statewide elected officials four instead of two-year terms. The measure needs one more vote in the Senate before going to the House.

CRMWD Expects To Meet Demands

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are keeping one eye on water supplies, another on the calendar, but they are not yet ready to blow the whistle.

Reviewing the water situation at a meeting in Big Spring Tuesday, directors said that unless the situation should deteriorate rapidly and unexpectedly, the district should be able to meet commitments to the cities.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, said he looked on the matter with guarded optimism, adding that "with the continued cooperation of the cities, I believe we can still meet our obligations to keep them in ample water. Everyone knows the severity of the drouth, and we appreciate all the citizens have done to conserve water."

When the Ward County well field supply is made available by June 1, the CRMWD system is so flexible that operation patterns can be adjusted so that needs of cities could be met from ground water alone, he said.

The 24 million gallons a day from Ward County would exceed Odessa's historical needs and leave several million gallons a day to be pumped on to Big Spring. This, together with water from the Martin County well field and the O'Barr field in Glasscock county, would more than take care of Big Spring.

The reserve in Lake Thomas, plus wells, should be enough to supply Snyder's needs, he said, but in event the demand should exceed this, the district is

Five Steps Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today announced five new steps to ease relations with Communist China, including a move toward direct trade between the two countries.

Other steps included:

—The U.S. is prepared to expedite visas for visitors or groups of visitors from the Peoples Republic of China to the United States.

—U.S. dollar currency controls are to be relaxed to permit the use of dollars by the Peoples Republic. Previously the U.S. Treasury Department had to grant a license for the use of dollars.

Restrictions will be ended on American oil companies providing fuel to ships or aircraft traveling to or from China except for Chinese-owned or chartered carriers bound to or from North Vietnam, North Korea or Cuba.

—U.S. vessels or aircraft may now carry Chinese cargoes between non-Chinese ports and U.S.-owned foreign flag carriers may call at Chinese ports.

President Nixon said that he asked for a list of items of non-strategic nature which could be placed under general license for direct export to the Peoples Republic of China.

"Following my review and approval of specific items on this list, direct imports of designated items from China will then also be authorized," the President said.

He said that after consideration is given to the results of these changes in trade and travel restrictions "I will consider what additional steps might be taken."

Fight Rages Near Base

SAIGON (AP) — More fighting raged near Fire Base 6 today, and a U.S. helicopter lifted out four of the five American advisers at the besieged outpost in the central highlands.

Meanwhile, 4,000 South Vietnamese reinforcements poured into the area.

The Americans were not wounded, and no reason was given for bringing them out. But there was speculation that they were exhausted by the two-week-old siege and were being given a rest.

Field reports said that when the helicopter landed at the base, about 40 South Vietnamese soldiers swarmed to it trying to flee from the base.

Eight of them got into the chopper and were flown out with the Americans.

Robber Killed After Wild Chase

Iraan, Tex. (AP) — A San Angelo man was shot dead by a highway patrolman early today after his car had been wrecked in a wild chase following a hold-up at Rankin, 55 miles south of Midland.

Authorities identified the man as Richard W. Hargrove, 23. They said he entered the Tumbleweed Restaurant at Rankin, robbed the night attendant and made off in a car, taking Mary Ellen Reed, 24, of Rankin, as hostage.

Officers said they sighted the vehicle later at Iraan, 18 miles from Rankin, where they said it ran a road block at the intersection of Texas 90 and U.S. 290.

The car turned west on Texas 90, travelling at high speed with patrolmen in pursuit.

After about one and a half miles it went out of control and overturned.

Patrolmen Dean Watson of Iraan and John Harris of Ozona approached the wrecked car. As they did so, they allege Hargrove raised a pistol against them and Harris shot him. Hargrove died at the scene.

The girl was taken to Iraan Hospital for observation and treatment for shock.

Chou Visits With Tennis Team

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told a U.S. table tennis delegation today their visit to mainland China had opened "a new page in relations" between the peoples of China and the United States.

He added he believed their visit would lead to visits soon of more Americans, including newsmen.

Chou, 73, regarded as Red China's leading moderate, spoke at a two-hour reception for table tennis teams from the United States, Britain Canada, Nigeria and Colombia. They were invited to visit Communist China when the world table tennis championships ended in Japan a week ago.

Chou asked the 15-member U.S. delegation—the first American group to visit the People's Republic of China—to extend the regards of the Chinese people to the American people.

"In the past," he said, "exchanges between the peoples of China and the United States have been very numerous. They have been cut off for a long time. Now, with your acceptance of our invitation, you have opened a new page in the relations of the Chinese and American people. I am confident that this beginning again of our friendship will certainly meet with the majority support of our two peoples."

Chou paused, then asked the Americans: "Don't you agree with me?"

The Americans applauded.

Chou, who had recognized me earlier despite my absence of 23 years from mainland China, then turned to me and in a reference to visits by more American newsmen said: "Mr. Roderick, you have opened the door."

I replied that the presence of U.S. correspondents could lead to deeper understanding between our two countries.

Jack Howard of Seattle, Wash., the captain of the American team, told Chou he hoped a Chinese team would come to the United States.

Chou said this was up to Graham Steenhoven, the president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association, and Steenhoven said afterward the Chinese had been invited to the United States.

During the reception in the Great Hall of the Peoples in the heart of the Chinese capital, Chou also engaged in a philosophical discussion of hippies with 19-year-old Glenn Cowan of Santa Monica, Calif., whose long hair and colorful garb have been the talk of the Chinese.

The rest of the time he joked and bantered with the players.

Texas To Get Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon authorized the Office of Emergency Preparedness today to muster full federal assistance for drought stricken areas in Texas.

The disaster agency notified the office of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., that disaster relief is being initiated with the importation of hay and grain for cattle feeding in the most severely hit areas.

The President acted under a provision of the 1970 federal disaster relief act authorizing use of all federal agencies and other sources to avert or lessen the effects of a major disaster determined to be imminent.

The OEP said the authorization of disaster relief is not restricted to the 60 counties in west and south Texas for which Gov. Preston Smith asked a disaster declaration.

The governor's request, OEP reported, was rejected in favor of the broader authorization.

There's no getting out of this one

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Enclosed is a clipping from your column as it appeared in the New Orleans States Item:

"CONFIDENTIAL TO AT WITS' END: It seems inconceivable to me that a registered nurse would be 'ashamed' to take her child to a doctor with recurring pinworms. Quit treating the boy with over-the-counter drugs and get that child to a doctor!"

Abby, shouldn't it be equally inconceivable to you, as it is to me, that a physician should have recurring pinworms?

PHILIP C. SPERIER, EDITOR
DIXIE ROTO MAGAZINE

DEAR MR. SPERIER: I goofed and there is no worming my way out of it! Of the hundreds of editors and proofreaders who saw that item, few caught the error before it went to press, and you are the only editor to have called it to my attention afterward. Only two readers, Mrs. J. L. Harris of Portland, Ore., and Art Moyer of Albany, Ore., wrote to remark on it. Mea culpa.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please settle an argument between me and my husband? Our supervisor at the office tells us that it is rude to ask anyone who has been ill what was wrong with him. She says if the person volunteers the information, fine, but it is in poor taste to inquire. I say it's all right to ask because it shows you are really interested, and if they don't want to answer, they don't have to.

I will admit I have seen a couple of people blush when they were asked what was wrong with them. One was a lady who had had a female operation, and the other was man who had had painful rectal surgery.

My husband says the supervisor is right, and she is probably the supervisor and I am working for her because she knows what to say and what not to say. I'd like your opinion.

WILLING TO LEARN

DEAR WILLING: I vote with your husband.

DEAR ABBY: You advised "Best Friend" to tell her girl friend that cross eyes can be corrected by surgery. You even suggested that the cross-eyed girl may not be "aware" of how she looks.

Abby, in the first place, if she is over three years old she knows how she looks. She will have heard nice older people say time and again, "Such a pretty child. Too bad about her eyes."

And from kindergarten on she'll have heard cruel remarks from other children to remind her that her eyes are "different." And if her eyes are like mine, and do not focus properly, people will keep asking her, "What are you looking at?"

Surgery doesn't always help. I have had two operations on my eyes. Neither one worked.

I used to be handicapped. But I'm not anymore, simply because I refuse to allow my defect to be the most important thing in my life. I do the best I can with what I have. My husband thinks I'm beautiful. And because he does, I am. Sign me,

AWARE

DEAR AWARE: A thousand apologies. Others wrote to tell me that not all crossed eyes can be corrected with surgery. Please forgive me.

DEAR ABBY: Please, keep on telling young girls to never give in to a guy no matter what he says or how hard he begs. A guy who really loves a girl will never leave her, regardless.

I talked a girl out of her virginity. I am ashamed to say that she was only 14. [I was 18.] I caused her a lot of trouble, and now she won't even speak to me. But that's my fault, not hers.

FOR HUMANITARIAN WORK

Frank Sinatra Receives Oscar

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Frank Sinatra receives an Oscar Thursday night for his works as a humanitarian. The choice has puzzled some.

Sinatra a humanitarian?

The 55-year-old singer, who recently announced his retirement after three decades as a performer, has been the subject of thousands of headlines. But relatively few concerned good works.

Yet along with such headlines as "Sinatra Plus Trio Mix Fists with Newsman" newspaper files include the likes of "Crooner Gives Fund for Shriners' Hospital," "Sinatra Sponsors New Scholarship" and "Sinatra Music Grants at UCLA Increased."

Sinatra and aides are not loquacious about his benevolences, but it is apparent that the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has ample documentation for choosing him to receive this year's Jean Hersholt Memorial Award.

The honorary Oscar has since 1956 been given to "an individual in the motion picture industry whose humanitarian efforts have brought credit to the industry." The Oscar will not be Sinatra's first. He was best supporting actor of 1953 for his role as the feisty Pvt. Maggio in "From Here to Eternity."

Hersholt winners have included Bob Hope, Gregory Peck, Martha Raye and George Jessel.

In what is billed as his final professional performance, Sinatra sings next month at a big affair for Motion Picture Relief.

In 1962 he had a nine-country around-the-world tour that raised $1.2 million for handicapped and orphaned children, paying his own and his band's expenses estimated at $300,000 from his own pocket. Last year in Richmond, Ind.; his benefit for the family of Dan Mitrione, U.S. adviser killed in Uruguay, raised $100,000.

He pledged $1 million for a Palm Springs medical education center named for his father. Through benefits, he raised another million for the Father Dismas Clark Fund to help rehabilitate teen-age delinquents in St. Louis.

Associates say his private good deeds are legion, but Sinatra tries to keep them that way—private.

cluded in the Snyder kindergarten program for culturally deprived students for the next school term. Don Tate, president of the Hermleigh School Board, had inquired about the possibility of such an arrangement.

A letter from the high school Student-Faculty Advisory Committee was presented to the board. It suggested renovation of the patio area at the high school, with a student center or garden area as desirable new features.

The board formally approved employment of Mike Honeycutt as a biology teacher-coach, and upon the request of Principal Horrace Bostick approved plans for adding another biology teacher next year. In his letter of request, Bostick said preregistration indicated a need for such a teacher and that it likely would not result in an over-all increase in the high school faculty since it appeared that one less social studies teacher would be required.

Continuing contracts were approved for some 27 teachers who have completed the two-year probationary period in the local system. These include George Adams, Billie Faye Harding, Carol Ann Moore, Betty Price, Edgar Lee Williams and Patsy Williams at the senior high school; Martha Barr and Jimmie Cooper at Central Elementary; Betty Jane Bloch, Bernice Felton, Robert O'Day, Ramelle Parsons, Eleanor Salman and Nelda Taylor at Northeast Elementary; Robert Chapman, Wayne Preston, and Marian Holt at Lamar Junior High; Ann Cross, kindergarten; Janell Erwin, Humble-Smith; Wayne Griffin, Margaret Kennedy, Carolyn Limmer and Herman Parsons at Travis Junior High; Carolyn Martin, Monette O'Day and Merle Roberts at East Elementary; Polly Phillips, remedial reading teacher at West and Stanfield.

Teachers re-employed after one year in the local system include Mary A. Abbott, Anne Adams, Betty Sue Amerson, Elizabeth Beam, Ken Case, Dorthy Coslett, Martha Fagin, James F. prepared to expand well production there. It is even possible to bring in water from the west end to meet the Snyder requirements.

In this progress report to the board, Ivie said he was still confident that the district will be pumping water from the Ward County project by June 1. Only 19 miles of supply line remain to be laid, and 16 miles are in favorable terrain. The final hole of 17 wells was started Tuesday, and only one lateral line in the gathering system, plus the gathering trunk remain to be laid in the well field. Four well pumps are on hand, four are due for delivery this week, and four more are enroute from the factory. The remaining five will be shipped soon. Transmission pumps on the supply line are being given performance tests this week and will be shipped in a few days. Two of the three on-line storage tanks at the pump stations are complete and the third almost so. Pump station construction tempo needs to be stepped up, Ivie added.

Operations of the past few weeks have confirmed the rate of withdrawal from surface supplies. Assuming no additional runoff, Lake Thomas would still have 4,000 acre feet on June 1, but, as the general manager pointed out, April and May offer 4-1 odds of runoff into the lakes. In fact, the historical average for these combined months is 10,000 acre feet.

Ivie reported that Atmospherics, Inc., the weather modification technicians engaged by the district, have moved equipment to the base at the Howard County airport and will be ready to begin operations by the end of the week. They will need some clouds to work on, however.

Johnny Holbrook pleaded guilty to theft by bailee. He received a 2-year prison term. The offense occurred Jan. 11. Holbrook took a car without the owner's permission.

Survivors include her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Sandra Cox of Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. Jim Ikard of Snyder and Mrs. L. O. Cardwell of Sweetwater, three brothers, Homer Lewis of Modesta, Calif. and Walter and Ernest Lewis both of Abilene, and two granddaughters. A sister, Mrs. L. T. Autry, preceded her in death Feb. 15, 1970.

WOMEN

Woman Is Chief Resident At Hospital

By WILLIAM BAPPLER
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Like many young professional women, Dr. Helen Smits thinks the Women's Liberation Movement is a healthy thing. But rather than express her feelings with outbursts of emotion, Dr. Smits has gone her own way and made a small but noteworthy contribution to the feminists.

Since last June, Dr. Smits has been chief resident in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, where she is in charge of 26 interns, 24 first-year residents and 15 second-year residents—all men.

So far, Dr. Smits—the first women chief resident in medicine in the hospital's 100-year history—has encountered no trouble from the males she oversees.

"Some of them were uncomfortable about the idea at first," she said. "But most people in the field of medicine are mature enough to see that many arguments proposed by the feminist movement are legitimate.

"Big social changes are taking place as far as women are concerned," she added. "The result will be that women will have to make big adjustments. The important thing will be just as much to change women's attitudes about themselves as to change men's attitudes."

It wasn't with the thought of changing attitudes that Dr. Smits entered the male-dominated medical field. Rather, she simply "wanted to do something more practical" than her degrees in English literature from Swarthmore and Yale had enabled her to do.

She rekindled an interest in the natural sciences that she had nurtured through high school, and enrolled in some science courses at Harvard. Then it was back to Yale, this time to medical school, from which she graduated in 1967.

Dr. Smits then interned at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital and a year later became an assistant resident there. Last year was spent as a fellow at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, where she specialized in infectious diseases within the field of internal medicine.

"Infectious diseases," she said, "include anything that's contagious—including the common cold."

But in Dr. Smits's opinion, there are more important goals to conquer than finding a cure for colds.

"Doctors should help keep people from getting sick," she said. "Now, we (society) reward doctors for people getting sick. In the long run," she added, "we should reward them for keeping people well."

Dream Of Life On Tropical Isle Becomes Reality

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Many people have dreamed of settling down on a tropical island to a life of leisure. Wendy Day Veevers-Carter and her family actually did move to such a place, but hardly to a life of leisure.

Making a living from selling copra; fishing; and raising pigs; running a store for the small island labor force; growing their own vegetables; teaching their children; keeping accounts; building; making what they didn't have—there was always too much to do.

"But somehow I tried to find time each day to write and make pencil sketches of island activities," said Mrs. Veevers-Carter, and the result is a book, "Island Home," which chronicles the four years they spent on their remote bit of land.

This tiny paradise was Remire, 62 acres of coral in the western Indian Ocean, one of the outer islands of the British-owned Seychelles. The only means of communication was passing ships; letters took months to arrive; the sole source of news was a battery radio, and there was no electricity or running water.

"You don't think so much about plumbing when you look at the beaches and beautiful scenery," said Mrs. Veevers-Carter, shrugging off such inconveniences. "But it would be hell to anyone who doesn't like that sort of life."

Her simple existence in this primitive and isolated spot was a world apart from the New York City birthplace of Mrs. Veevers-Carter, daughter of "Life With Father" author, the late Clarence Day. The tall, slim blonde, her hair pulled back from her aristocratic-looking face, indeed seems more suited to the midi she was wearing in New York than to the shorts and old shirts that were her usual island attire.

"It would be hard to go to a tropical island straight from here," she admitted on her first trip back to this country in 15 years, "but if you have already lived that kind of life in bits and pieces elsewhere, it isn't difficult."

And the anthropology major at Radcliffe has been living a life of travel and adventure since she met her British husband while she was on a photographic expedition in the Sudan. After they were married she and Mark set up housekeeping in a tent on a small island off the Sudan coast where, as a fisheries officer for the British government, he had established a fishing camp.

"Eventually Mark decided there was no future in the colonial service and we began to look around for an island to lease," she recalled. "At that time we were on Mahe, the main Seychelles island, and we had so much stuff we couldn't afford to go far, so we began thinking of one of the outer islands."

Mrs. Veevers-Carter managed the island herself while her husband was away on frequent fishing trips, and she often had to serve as unofficial judge, doctor and midwife. She delicered five babies to the native women, including one named Wendy after her.

"I took a course at the Seychelles government hospital before we left Mahe," she explained. "They showed me what to do. But if you've read the books you know all the awful things that can go wrong and I just prayed that none would. Fortunately none did."

She herself returned to the main island for the birth of her third child, Digby, now 4. A son, Rory, is 11 and daughter, Ming, 9. While on the island the older children were enrolled in a correspondence school, with their mother acting as teacher. They speak Creole as well as English and Mrs. Veevers-Carter speaks Creole, French, Arabic and Swahili.

"We used to think about what the children were missing and wonder if we were doing the right thing," she said. "But one thing we had on the island was time to talk about things and we read a lot and explained, and they listened."

She even tried to give them an idea about snow by scraping the frost from their kerosene-operated freezer and letting them play with it before it melted. They saw their first real snow this past Christmas in England and their first television in Amsterdam on the way to the United States.

"They'd heard about TV and knew what it was," she related, "and when we got to the hotel they rushed to turn it on. It was all in Dutch but it didn't matter. The kids sat for two hours without moving."

Early in 1968 the family moved to Astove, a larger Seychelles island 430 miles southwest of Remire, where the 1200 acres gave them more space to grow food and for Mark's turtle conservation work.

But a year ago the dream ended abruptly. Mark, in Kenya for dental work, died under anesthetic, a tragedy his wife wasn't aware of until a passing boat brought the news nine days later.

She tried to stick it out until last November, when managing the island by herself became "a question of how thin you can spread yourself." At present three employes are looking after the island, and she is staying on Cape Cod with the children, who go to school there.

"I've given myself a year to sort things out," she said. "I want to see if I can find a good manager to run Astove and find some way of the island making enough money or making enough myself, perhaps by writing, to spend part of each year there.

"It's leased for 99 years and if I can't enjoy it and the kids can't enjoy it, the kids will have grandchildren who can enjoy it," she continued. "I don't intend to give it up. There aren't all that many islands left."

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—We have plastic tiles on the wall around the bathtub. Several tiles were loose. I took them off, but in the process at least a dozen others came off. They are all in good condition. How do I go about putting them back and what kind of adhesive do I use?

A.—First, scrape the old cement from the backs of the tiles and the wall. Use a special adhesive which can be purchased at a dealer who sells plastic wall tiles. Some hardware stores and lumber yards also carry this type of adhesive, but be sure you first read the label on the container to be certain that it specifically mentions plastic wall tiles. Follow the directions on how much adhesive must be used. Keep a damp cloth handy so you can immediately wipe off any adhesive that gets on the face of the tile.

While professionals apply the joint filler immediately, it is better for the amateur to wait a day or two until the tiles are solidly in place. Using a ready-mixed grouting material, purchased where you bought the adhesive, spread it between the joints with your fingertips. Wipe off the excess immediately with a damp cloth. If all the tiles to be replaced are touching each other and there is a fairly large area that requires grouting, time can be saved by doing them all at once. In this case, thin the grout slightly with water. Apply it over the entire section with a clean paint brush. Use a cloth to rub the grout into the joints, then smooth with your fingertips. Quickly wipe all grout from the faces of the tiles.

Q.—A friend of mine says that his grandfather used to stain wood merely by rubbing paint pigment into the pores of the wood. He says that the results were beautiful. Can you tell me how this is done?

A.—Many old-time professional wood finishers did this—and some still do. It involves nothing more than thinning an oil paint with turpentine. Test to be sure you get the shade you want. The more turpentine is used, the lighter the color will be. Another way to control the color is by the time interval between application and wipe-off. Apply with a cloth or brush, then wipe off with another cloth. The quicker you wipe, the lighter the shade; sometimes 10 seconds is enough, sometimes 5 or 6 minutes may be required. In all cases, wipe with the grain.

Non-Profit Newspaper Is Run By Clubwomen

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

LITCHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — There's a new kind of newspaper in this Hillsdale County city. For one thing, it's non-profit. And for another, it's run by the town's business and professional women's club. It's editorial writer is Mrs. Tom Smith, who believes the "PBW Bally" may be the answer "for any small town without a newspaper."

The only other newspaper in this city of 1,200 was the Weekly Gazette, which had been run by Mrs. Smith and her husband for years. It went under in July, 1969. But in October of that year, the women's club began publishing the Bally, a weekly paper.

It is distributed only through local business firms and donations are its only source of revenue. By spring of this year, the formula was working well enough so that the newspaper had earned about $800, and had acquired an imitator in neighboring Branch County. Profits go towards publishing a history of Litchfield.

"The town feels its responsibility," Mrs. Smith says, and local clubs and residents can be relied upon to provide news stories. Another reason for the paper's success, she reports, is its editorship shifts each week. Four club members edit the paper for one week each and their names are listed beneath the masthead of each issue.

Frequent changes of editors means "you get a whole new bunch writing and a whole new concept," Mrs. Smith says. She writes the editorials herself, but sticks to local affairs.

Mrs. George White, the club's vice president, adds that the paper's success is partly because "this is a community where people like to see their name in print." And Mrs. Smith says the paper stresses "the little important things that belong to Litchfield and don't belong to anyone else." She contends it's probably a more complete newspaper than in its days as a paid circulation publication.

Each edition of the offset newspaper contains several small ads from local firms in addition to social notes, sports news, coverage of city government and school events. The ads are intended only to help meet the costs of publication.

The Smiths' Print 'n Post Shop prints 800 copies of the paper each week and its circulation averages about 700 copies.

Financiers Waiting For New Issue Fever Rise

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With public interest rising in the stock market, financial men are waiting to see if the new issue fever rises again as it did in 1968, when new shares offered in the morning at $10, sold for $20 in the afternoon.

So far there is little evidence to suggest that it will. Some of the underwriters who arranged the public debut of these small and medium size companies are out of business. Some of the companies are too. And the public is cool.

Whether that situation continues is anybody's guess. As one financier sees it: "We just have to wait and see. It only takes two or three hot new issues and the public could get interested again."

Meanwhile, "going private" rather than "going public" could become a more important method of financing in 1971.

It means either borrowing instead of selling an interest in the company, or selling shares in limited amounts to institutions, such as insurance companies, pension funds or large investors, the number not to exceed 25.

That's where the money is. "I get several calls a day from institutions wanting information on companies in which to invest," says William Wolfson, senior vice president-corporate finance for Halle & Stieglitz Inc.

The lowering of interest rates and the commitment of the Nixon administration to more expansionary economic policies has had the effect of making money available again at the institutional level, Wolfson explains.

He contends, however, that while private financing of this sort may offer a better opportunity for companies to obtain growth funding, "most executives simply don't know that this capital is available."

And if they do know that the money is there, he continued, they don't know how to go about seeking it. The result is that they seek to go public rather than staying with private financing.

The temptation to go public, of course, it to market newly issued shares at a premium. If the public is in a speculative mood, as it was in 1968, the price per share of once private companies may be pushed to phenomenal levels.

Before the last new issue craze exploded in outright insanity, the public appeared willing to ignore the limited history and slim achievements of a company and bet instead on its future, which often was a promoter's dream or avarice.

Deer Park Short

HOUSTON (AP) — The suburban city of Deer Park is missing $16,017, an audit revealed Monday.

Patrick E. Kronin, 38, former finance director who has been missing since March 27, has been charged with forging the signatures of city administrator Clovis Mann and Mayor Earl E. Dunn to a check for $500.

Mann said the shortage is covered by a bond.

Scholarship Fund Created

AUSTIN (AP) — An endowed scholarship has been created at the University of Texas school of law in memory of the late William O. Taylor of Houston.

The fund, made possible by gifts from friends and associates of Taylor, will insure one and perhaps two lasting scholarships in his name. Because contributions continue to be made, the fund is growing daily, according to Wayne Stratton, secretary-treasurer of the UT Law School Foundation. The foundation administers the funds.

"The final amount in the endowed scholarship fund is impossible to estimate because of the response of Mr. Taylor's friends," says Stratton. "However, it appears certain that there will be enough for two annual scholarships."

The scholarship awards to law students will be based on financial need and academic promise.

Taylor, who died Feb. 3, was a 1930 Phi Beta Kappa graduate of UT Austin and did graduate study in accounting. He was admitted to the bar in 1943. A native of Mount Plesant, he had been a resident of Houston from 1934 until his death.

Pigeons Gone

MOLINE, ILL. (AP) — Pigeon fancier Richard V. Bomelyn no longer has pigeons to fancy.

Bomelyn told police the pigeons disappeared during a burglary which also resulted in the loss of five suitcases of women's and children's clothing.

He said the garage door where the articles and pigeons were kept was found open, but the handle lock to the door was still locked.

Rip Would Need New Dictionary

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — If Rip Van Winkle were to awake today he wouldn't need a haircut, but he would need a dictionary. While his flowing locks and beard would be right in style, his vocabulary would be completely out of date.

Not only would Rip find it hard to rap, but he'd discover that many of the words he knew in his prenap days have taken on a different meaning. And he'd be confronted by new ones that have achieved instant popularity.

Here's a little quiz that will show Rip whether he's with it:

Relevant: (a) father of the bridge; (b) showing religious fervor; (c) "the leg bone's connected to the ankle bone."

Women's lib: (a) a new female religion; (b) an article of ladies' clothing; (c) boycotting the boys.

Midi: (a) youth with sea legs; (b) no legs to see; (c) a bone of contention.

Generation gap: (a) electricity flowing between two ends of a wire; (b) vive le difference!; (c) "but you just don't understand."

Polarization: (a) having opposing vibes; b flying over the Arctic Circle; (c) learning to speak Polish.

Crunch: (a) lunch on a credit card; (b) a new kind of candy bar; (c) an irresistible force meeting an immovable object.

Junior Editors Quiz on WARBLERS

1. Black and White Warbler
2. Yellow Warbler
3. Blackburnian Warbler
4. Black-thoated Blue Warbler

QUESTION: What kind of birds are warblers?

ANSWER: Want a fascinating new hobby? Start studying the warblers, tiny birds which migrate North in the spring. The warblers are very small, 4 to 6 inches. They are nervous and energetic — always on the go as they weave in and out of tree tops, climbing branches, peering at (and often under) each leaf, scrutinizing little cracks in the bark. They are looking for minute insects and grubs, those so small that they have been overlooked by larger birds. It's easy to realize what a service warblers are performing for man as they do this. Without the birds, insects would overwhelm us. If you have an eye for color, the warblers will give you a special reward. Most people don't see them, but the bird student, such as our little friend with her binoculars, finds them everywhere. We illustrate four species, but there are a great many others, flashing with colors and patterns of remarkable, almost tropical richness and beauty. Most are not great singers but their thin buzzing notes will often give you a hint as to where to look for them.

Hogs Lose 7 Seniors

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Fortunately, coach Mervin Johnson is a patient man.

Johnson, offensive line coach at the University of Arkansas nine years, will coordinate the Razorbacks' defense this year. His task is not an easy one. During spring practice, which begins today, he must find replacements for seven seniors who started for the Razorbacks' last fall.

"Because we're young, our offense will enjoy some good days against us," Johnson said. "We'll just have to stick to our convictions."

"We have fewer experienced people than we've had in past springs, said head Coach Frank Broyles. "We're going to try to learn as quickly as we can and we're going to have to keep it very simple so they can be aggressive.

"We feel like we have some good players, but inexperience is our big problem," Broyles said. "Our players with experience—and there aren't many with much valuable playing time—will have to assert themselves and provide leadership. We need this because we have a group of young players we must bring along so they can play for us next fall."

Johnson concedes the offense has an advantage in spring practice because of Joe Ferguson, Jon Richardson, Jim Hodge and four solid performers in the line—Mike Kelson, Tom Mabry, Tom Reed and Glen Lowe.

Ferguson, who was brilliant at times last year while backing up Bill Montgomery at quarterback, is expected to step into the No. 1 spot.

"I don't want to put any pressure on him, but the intangibles of him being on the first team will come to the front," Broyles said. Ferguson, one of the most highly sought youngsters in the country while at Shreveport Woodlawn, possesses an excellent arm.

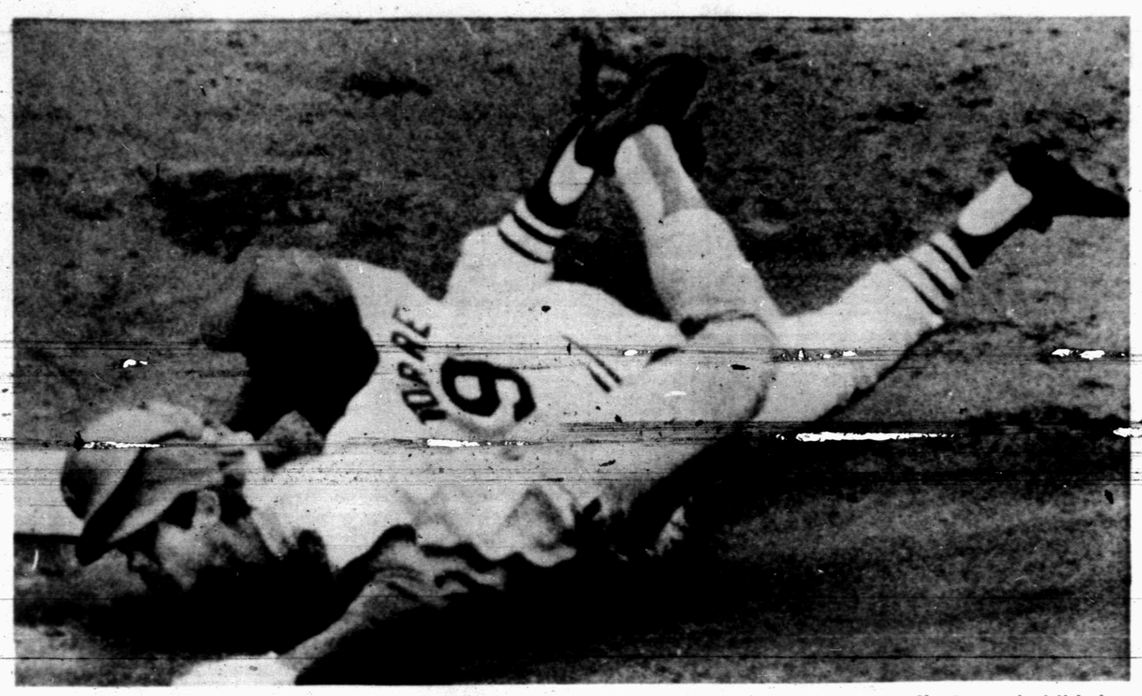

Richardson, an elusive runner, figures to be the tailback. He was more than adequate last year when Bill Burnett was injured.

Hodge, a dangerous wide receiver, also is from Shreveport Woodlawn and is entering his fifth year as Ferguson's pass-catching teammate. He caught 16 passes for 397 yards and two touchdowns as a sophomore.

Frazier Invited To White House

The Rev. Carl W. Haley of Arlington Forest Methodist church in Arlington, Va., will be the guest pastor. He and Nixon were students together at Duke University.

Hernandez, Pittsburgh Rap Philadelphia 9-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Alley is no Easy Rider on the Pittsburgh bench with Jackie Hernandez in the main role.

"I guess I'll just have to sit here, though, until he cools off," says the Pirate shortstop.

Jackie Hernandez. Yes; Jackie Hernandez. You remember, the good-field, no-hit utility fielder, 168 pounds with spikes and glove.

Thing is, he's playing out of character—like clouting .444 with 6 RBI, including a three-run home run Tuesday night that helped Pittsburgh level Philadelphia 9-3.

"I could be playing," says Alley, the Pirates' regular shortstop for years, "but he's doing such a good job, they can't afford to take him out."

Hernandez, an American League castoff with a .209 lifetime batting average in five major league seasons, got his chance with the Pirates when Alley suffered a broken hand in spring training. Now Alley's better, but so is Hernandez' batting average.

Pittsburgh batting coach Bill Virdon worked with Hernandez in Florida, but says the diminuitive Cuban isn't doing anything differently this season.

Cincinnati nudged Atlanta 5-4; Chicago shaded Los Angeles 3-2; Houston outscored St. Louis 8-4 and Montreal mauled the New York Mets 4-1 in Tuesday's other National League games. The San Diego—San Francisco contest was wiped out by rain.

In the American League, it was Kansas City 5, Minnesota 3; Oakland 2, Milwaukee 0; California 3, Chicago 1; Boston 5, Washington 3, and New York Yankees 5, Detroit 2. Rain washed out Baltimore's game at Cleveland.

With Danny Murtaugh shelved by the flu, Virgon was pinch-managing when Hernandez came up in the eighth with two outs and two on. He said he had a hunch Hernandez would come through.

Johnny Bench uncorked his third home run in two nights and keyed a seventh inning rally with a single in the Cincinnati success.

"I'm happy, I can't be swinging much better than I did tonight," said the Reds' most valuable catcher.

In addition to his hits, Bench hit a screamer that was caught at the warning track in left field. He had two homers Monday night and a couple of other long-range blasts that turned into outs at the fence.

Bench jumped on a Pat Jarvis offering and sailed it into the left field seats in the third inning. A walk to Tony Perez, single by Bench and an RBI single by Willie Smith gave the Reds a 5-1 lead and what proved to be their winning run. The Braves scored three times in the eighth before reliever Joe Gibbon nipped the uprising with a double-play pitch.

Don Kessinger's eighth-inning single scored Jose Ortiz with the winning run for Chicago. Ortiz walked to start the rally, was sacrificed to second and roared home on Kessinger's bullet between shortstop and third base.

The loss was the third straight for Dodger ace Bill Singer, who only gave the Cubs two hits in the first six innings.

Joe Morgan's bases-filled single and Norm Miller's three-run homer with two out in the ninth carried Houston over St. Louis. The Astros, who took an early 3-0 lead, fell behind 4-3 when the Cards broke a tie in the eighth, and struck back against Mike Torrez in the last frame.

Montreal's Steve Renko beat New York for the second time this season, scattering eight Met hits. John Bateman's first homer of the season gave Mon-Montreal a 2-0 lead in the 2nd for all the runs the Expos needed.

The term "Spoonerism" resulted after the Rev. W.A. Spooner, a Briton, announced a hymn as "Kinguering congs their titles take."

Dick Motta Best Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — "That's fine," said Dick Motta of the Clicago Bulls when informed he had been selected Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association.

"But you can't eat it," Motta added, "and I'd rather be in the playoffs than win this thing."

The Bulls were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs by the Los Angeles Lakers in seven games but Motta received the award for lifting the Bulls to a 51-31 record when the team did not figure to make the playoffs.

The Bulls record was third best in the entire league behind Milwaukee and New York.

Motta received 30 votes from a panel of three sportswriters in each of the 17 league cities. Larry Costello of Milwaukee finished a distant second with 11. The results were announced Tuesday.

Al Attles of San Francisco landed three votes and New York's Red Holtzman, last year's winner, collected two.

Receiving one vote each were Bob Cousy of Cincinnati, Jack Ramsey of Philadelphia, Lenny Wilkens of Seattle, Joe Mullaney of Los Angeles and Rolland Todd of Portland.

Motta, 39, came to the Bulls three years ago after a successful coaching tenure at Weber State in Utah where his teams won 237 games, lost 34 and captured six Big Sky Conference titles in 12 years.

His first Chicago team had a 33-49 record and his second team was 39-43 and made the playoffs in 1970 before hitting the jackpot this season.

"I have no desire to leave the pro ranks," said Motta. "I miss some things about the college atmosphere but there are a lot of games in pro ball and I have a one track mind anyway—it's on basketball."

"Anyway, I didn't win 51 games," he continued, "the players did it. And the situation was just right for me. I had a bunch of very coachable guys—Walker, Love, Sloan, Boerwinkle, all of 'em."

"In that first training camp three years ago, I told them the day will come when you'll be very proud to be a Chicago Bull.' It was hard to believe at first, but it isn't now."

Lewis Signs Fat Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dana Lewis, 6-foot-10 Tulsa center, has a six-year contract worth a reported $500,000 with the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

According to Lewis' agent, Steve Arnold of Pro Sport of New York, the player collects a good portion of the money even if he doesn't make the team.

Arnold refused to say how much Lewis will draw from the 76ers, but he did describe the contract as the best of any 1971 No. 1 draft choice other than that of Artis Gilmore.

The agent said it took only three meetings with 76ers' general manager Don DeJardin to reach agreement on the pact. He said that what made it easy was the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, who also drafted Lewis.

"That gave us good leverage," observed Arnold.

The 240-pounder from Newark, N.J., answered questions at Tuesday's news conference mostly in one, two and three words. He appeared extremely nervous and cautious.

He did elaborate slightly on why he chose the NBA's 76ers over the ABA's Squires.

Blue Flame Racing Car To Be Sold

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — If you want to buy a car that is capable of traveling 622.407 miles per hour, there's one available for $250,000.

The Blue Flame rocket racer, which hit that speed on the Bonneville Salt Flats in western Utah last Oct. 23 in setting a new land speed mark, was put up for sale Tuesday by the Institute of Gas Technology in Chicago.

The sleek blue car, which was en route Tuesday to Chicago from an auto show in New York, burns liquified natural gas.

It only has 213 miles on the speedometer.

A spokesman for IGT in Chicago said the company wants to devote its efforts and finances toward finding new supplies of natural gas, and could use the money from the sale.

"We gained a good deal of publicity from the Blue Flame," the spokesman said ... "It's highly improbable that the Blue Flame will run this summer. There just isn't as much enthusaasm in the industry for the speed project."

The IGT, a research organization that offers degrees in gas engineering, cooperated with 48 gas companies in spending $500,000 to break the speed mark. At least $250,000 went into development of the car, the spokesman said.

The previous record was 600.601 m.p.h., set in 1965 by Craig Breedlove in Spirit of America, now in a Chicago museum.

Gary Gabelich, 30, Long Beach, Calif., drove the Blue Flame and has announced plans to return to the salt flats next summer to attempt to reach a speed of 1,000 m.p.h.

All America Golf Tournament Set

HOUSTON (AP) — Defending champion Texas leads 26 teams today into the 17th annual All America Intercollegiate Golf Tournament but won't be the only one fighting for the lead.

Last year, the Longhorns took four of the six championships, but pressing them hard this time will be the University of Houston, San Diego State, Oregon, Florida, Olahoma State and Indiana.

"A dog-eats-dog tournament" is the way Houston Coach Dave Williams describes the field that plays 18-holes daily through Saturday over the 6,900-yard, par 71, Atascocita Country club course.

Other competing teams are Arizona, Arizona State, Colorado, California State at Los Angeles, Louisiana State, Memphis State, Missouri, New Mexico, New Mexico State, North Texas State, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Wichita State, Arkansas, Baylor, Texas Christian, Texas A&M, Southern Methodist, Rice, and Alabama.

All Southwest Conference teams originally had entered but Texas Tech was forced to withdraw. A conference rule prohibits a league team from competing in more than two meets outside the league structure.

Tech played in a tournament last week in Las Cruces, N.M., but thought it would not count against the two-meet limit since the school was recessed for the spring holidays.

The tournament's 72 holes of play will determine six championships: individual medal, team medal, overall team, low two-ball, low four-ball and team match.

Last year California State's Bob Clark won the individual medal but he won't be back this time.

Texas' George Machock, who was only a stroke back last year, will return. So will the third, fourth and sixth place finishers, Tom Jenkins of Houston, Jim Whittenberg of LSU and Tom Kite of Texas.

Kansas Relays Begin Today

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Five decathlon events raised the curtain today on the 46th Kansas Relays, a four-day classic to be spiced with appearances of Jim Ryun and other world record holders.

Ryun, the ex-Kansas star who possesses three world marks, will return to his old haunts for the first time in two years. He will run Saturday in the Cunningham open mile.

Others are Curtis Mills, Randy Matson, Al Feverbach, Clifford Brench and Marcus Walker.

Ryun holds the world record of 1:44.9 for the half mile, 3:33.1 for the 1,500 meters and 3:51.1 for the mile.

Mills, the pride of Texas A&M, has the quarter-mile record of 44.7 and runs on the Aggies 880-yard relay team which holds the world mark of 1:21.7. The other members are Mills brother, Marvin; Rockie Woods, and Donnie Rogers.

Matson is the king of the shot putters with a record of 71 feet 5½ inches. Feverbach's 68-11 is the best indoors.

Branch and Walker, University of Colorado stars, will share the spotlight. Branch has tied the indoor 60-yard dash record of 5.9, and Walker's 6.5 has equaled the indoor 60-yard low hurdles mark.

Coleman Looks At Horse Lips

By BILL WINTER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — He's a giant in the eyes of the tattooed clan and their lips are his alone.

Walter K. Coleman wouldn't have it any other way.

"I've checked their lips by the thousands," says the 69-year-old Coleman. "And only seldom," he laughs, "have they given me any trouble."

The opening chapter of a Lurid novel? No, just the unusual livelihood of one of horse racing's nosiest characters.

Coleman tours race tracks in his native Kentucky and other states from February to December, checking the identifying tatoos all racing thoroughbreds carry inside their upper lip.

At Louisville's Churchill Downs, he checks entrants for each race, including the Kentucky Derby.

The indelible combination of numerals and letters tells Coleman if a horse is the one the groom, trainer or program say it is, and only eight horses out of the thousands he's checked have shown the wrong combination.

"In each case," Coleman says, "there simply was a mistake on the part of the trainer. They weren't trying to fool anyone. There isn't a business, a sport, policed like horse racing."

On Derby Day, May 1, Coleman will arrive at Churchill Downs early and head for the paddock.

"The job is simple, but a guy who doesn't know what he's doing can get the life kicked out of him," says Coleman. "You just grab the horse's upper lip, jerk it up and look at the number. It just takes an instant."

If the number is the proper one, the horses can run. If not, he's scratched from the race.

The few horses which haven't been tattooed yet are identified by registered body markings, copies of which Coleman keeps in a card file.

"Identifying is fairly easy for me," says Coleman, "Because I'm large—6-foot-4, 235 pounds—and a Horse's eyes magnify things. To them, I must be a giant."

He notes he'll be checking the world's top horses on Derby Day, and laughs as if telling himself an inside joke.

"I've never been bitten while checking a horse, but I know some guys who have."

When you go straight to the horses' mouth, you just can't be too careful.

O'Brien Inks 3-Year Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim O'Brien is another beneficiary of the drafting war between the National and American basketball associations.

O'Brien signed a three-year contract with the ABA's Pittsburgh Condors Tuesday for $150,000, a $10,000 bonus and a leased car for three years.

"I think a merger would have cost me quite a bit," said the 21-year-old guard from Boston College.

Condors Operations Director Mark Binstein was more direct.

"It's safe to assume," he said, "that between the contract signings of Jimmy to Howard Porter including Levi Wyatt we would have saved anywhere from $100,000 to $250,000 on each signing."

Since Villanova's Porter was the Condors' first draft pick, Wyatt of Alcorn A & M the second and O'Brien the third, it is safe to assume that O'Brien may have gained close to $100,000 because of the lack of merger.

"Next year," Binstein said, "I'll bet a 6-foot-3 player won't command more than a salary of $35,000 to $40,000."

Boston Red Sox Bombard McLain

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny McLain's fast ball came and went—followed closely by McLain himself after a faulty second fling for the Washington Senators.

"The harder I threw it, the harder they hit it," the controversial right-hander lamented Tuesday night following his early departure in the Senators' 5-3 loss to the Boston Red Sox.

McLain, a winner last Friday night in his 1971 debut, was tagged for all five Boston runs before leaving for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning. He gave up seven hits, including homers by Carl Yastrzemski and Duane Josephson.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City downed Minnesota 5-3 in a game marked by seven hit batsmen, Oakland blanked Milwaukee 2-0 behind Vida Blue's two-hitter, California topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1; the Yanks beat Detroit 5-2. The Baltimore-Cleveland game was rained out.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs shaded Los Angeles 3-2, Pittsburgh stomped Philadelphia 9-3, Cincinnati trimmed Atlanta 5-4, Houston bounced St. Louis 8-4 and Montreal turned back the New York Mets 4-1. Rain washed out the San Diego-San Francisco game.

Josephson's home run, after a second inning single by George Scott, started McLain's undoing at Washington. Yastrzemski, who visited President Nixon in the afternoon, unloaded in the third and the Red Sox added runs in the fourth and fifth, offsetting three unearned Washington tallies.

Lou Piniella's two-run single in the seventh was the deciding blow in the Royals' victory over Minnesota. The winners scored three times in the fifth on just one hit—a double by Paul Schaal—plus four walks and a ground out.

Four Twins and three Royals were plunked by stray pitches, tying the American League single-game mark of seven hit batsmen by Washington and Detroit in 1914.

Blue, Oakland's 21-year-old southpaw prodigy, held the Brewers to a pair of singles on the way to his second straight shutout victory after an opening day setback at Washington. Don Mincher delivered both runs with a single and double.

Run-scoring singles by pinch hitter Billy Cowan and Alex Johnson in the 10th carried the Angels past Chicago, pinning the White Sox with the fourth consecutive loss.

Stan Bahnsen weathered 11 Detroit hits and contributed a run-scoring triple to the New York attack as the Yankees took their home opener before a crowd of 34,745—largest for a Yankee Stadium inaugural in five years.

Hogan Will Play Again

HOUSTON (AP) — One of golfing's greats, Ben Hogan, will play in the $125,000 Houston Champions Tournament May 13-16, tournament backers said Tuesday.

It will be Hogan's first start since he was forced to withdraw from the Westchester Classic in New York last summer because of knee troubles.

He will come to Houston a week in advance for the tournament and play virtually every day with old friends Jack Burke and Jimmy Demaret in an effort to [illegible] game.

Hogan did the same thing last year and finished ninth in the tourney, winning $2,600. At the end of 63 holes he was contending for the lead.

Riot Erupts In North Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — For seven hours a thousand British troops battled 2,000 Protestants trying to firebomb a Roman Catholic church Tuesday night in the bloodiest rioting in Northern Ireland in weeks.

Four soldiers were set ablaze by Molotov cocktails at the height of the fight, but other troops doused the flames before they suffered serious injury.

The violence was triggered when a 12-year-old Protestant, Harry Martin, was felled by a burst of automatic fire as a Protestant parade wound up four days of Easter demonstrations that until then had been peaceful.

Martin was either in the parade or watching it when some of the 3,000 young marchers broke through a protective police cordon around a Catholic section. The Protestants waved Union Jacks, the Catholic waved the Irish Republic's tricolor; then the burst of firing came, wounding young Martin and grazing three adults.

A bullet was removed from the child's thigh and he was reported in satisfactory condition. But an angry crowd of Protestants gathered and after an hour attacked St. Matthew's church, which the Protestants charge is a sanctuary and snipers' post for the terrorist Irish Republican Army.

The British troops threw up barriers of barbed wire and armor to keep back the mobs. The Protestants attacked with gasoline bombs, concrete slabs, bottles, rocks and iron.

When the mob was finally put to flight, at least 13 civilians and several soldiers had been injured, and 27 persons had been arrested.

Several missiles hit the church but caused little damage.

A shop was set afire and windows of other stores were smashed and their contents strewn in the roadway. An army water cannon put out the blaze, and the troops fired several rounds of rubber bullets.

It was the first serious encounter between the troops and the Protestants since last October. Recently the trouble has been between the British and IRA extremists fighting to reunite Ireland.

Newsmen Named To Panel

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas Chancellor Charles A. LeMaistre has appointed 14 Texas newsmen to study student publications and journalism in the university system.

He said Tuesday the panel will meet in late April or early May to review the publicans and journalism teaching in Austin as its first job since the Texas student publications charter expires on that campus July 6.

Named to the panel were William B. Bellamy, San Antonio Light; Jack Butler, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Bill Collyns, Midland Reporter-Telegram; Charles K. Devall, Kilgore News Herald; John Harrah, Edna Herald; Ed Harte, Corpus Christi Caller-Times; Fred Hartman, Baytown Sun; George Hawkes, Arlington Citizen-Journal; Harold Hudson, Perryton Herald; Ed Hunter, Houston Post; Felix McKnight, Dallas Times Herald; W. Glynn Morris, Borger News-Herald; Don Nelson, Castro County News; and Rigby Owen Jr., Conroe Courier.

LeMaistre visited with most of the panel members last week and will complete initial discussions this week.

Members of the panel were selected by LeMaistre after conferences with William P. Hobby Jr., president of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and president of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and president and executive editor of the Houston Post, and Ellie Hopkins, president of the Texas Press Association and vice president and editor-in-chief of the Longview News.

Cattle Sales Up In San Antonio

AUSTIN (AP) — Cattle sales are up 100 per cent in San Antonio and almost that high in Houston for the first week of April, Agriculture Commissioner John White says.

White said Tuesday that soaring sales are apparently due to the dry winter and spring, whereby ranchers cannot afford to hand feed their stock.

There has been little change in the Amarillo and Fort Worth stock yards, he said.

Sales would increase as the drought continues, he predicted.

Thomas Turns 79

MIAMI (AP) — World-roving newscaster Lowell Thomas celebrated his 79th birthday with a bash in a blimp and a reunion with a baby rhino which nipped the seat of his trousers.

"Each birthday, I try to find something I haven't done before," Thomas said. "I realized that with all the flying I've done, I missed completely the lighter-than-air adventure."

Thomas planned the two-hour blimp ride over Miami Tuesday with his wife and a few close friends, but his other new birthday experience—the rhino bite—was a surprise.

It happened before the blimp party; when Thomas visited a 1500-pound rhinoceros named Mohan at Crandon Park Zoo.

Thomas offered the rhino a handful of green munchables and turned to say something to zoo director Gordon Hubbell. The rhino kept right on nibbling—at the seat of Thomas' pants.

"I was lucky"' Thomas said. "If he got a hold of me a little more firmly, I could have easily lost my pants."

Thomas starred Mohan in an as yet unscreened documentary rhino hunt in Nepal where the leathery-skinned creature was netted last year. Now Mohan lives in the zoo with an 800-pound cutie named Shanti and zoo officials hope for offspring.

"We hope they will mate," said Thomas. "But we'll have to be careful because rhinos are rather violent lovers. They've been known to kill each other,"

Thomas recently completed a film on Siberia and is staying with his son in Hobe Sound. A head cold forced him to postpone the celebration planned on his birth date, April 6.

"I've been going places since 1914. It's my life. But I find I like cold countries now. The heat takes it out of you," he said.

On his 50th birthday, Thomas recalled, he tackled Mt. Washington on skis.

New Views On Social Workers

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I'd like to know about careers for "people who attend college for 2 or 4 years, and are interested in working in the field of social welfare. -- C.R., Harrisburg, Pa.

Winds change signposts -- an aphorism which applies to social work as well as to technology-oriented careers. Much is changing in social work, and a new 24-page booklet by Patricia Soyka reports the latest thinking.

"Unlocking human resources: a career in social work," is available for 25 cents from the Public Affairs Committee, a nonprofit educational organization, 381 Park Ave. So., New York, N.Y. 10016. Here are excerpts:

"NEW HORIZONS. Until recently it was believed that most social work jobs required the professional or master's degree worker (2 years of graduate work). But because there have been limited numbers of these workers and because jobs differ in demands, many positions are, in fact, being filled by graduates of liberal arts colleges.

"Today, over 200 colleges and universities offer undergraduate programs in social welfare that prepare students for graduate education, OR for direct entrance into social welfare employment and beginning practice. Several hundred more colleges offer academic courses, but not the field practice that is a requirement for membership in the Council on Social Work Education (the standard-setting and accreditation body for social work education, located at 345 E. 46th St., New York, N.Y. 10017). The Council publishes annual lists of undergraduate programs in social welfare meeting its criteria, and of accredited graduate schools.

"IN 1970, the National Association of Social Workers, with 50,000 members with master's degrees, voted to open membership to social workers with baccalaureate degrees who have completed an approved undergraduate program in social work. Studies and experiments now under way may lead to closer coordination between undergraduate and graduate studies in social work, possibly shortening the 2-year graduate program for those who have completed undergraduate work in the field."

[2-year associate degree holders find a variety of jobs on the assistant level, a few examples: child care worker in an institution, homemaker aide to assist when mother is ill, or neighborhood organizer for community groups.]

"MULTIPLE POSSIBILITIES. There are so many kinds of jobs in social work, it is impossible to list more than a sampling of them:

...work with children, in emergency shelters, in foster and adoptive homes, in protective services for neglected, abused or parentless children, on child guidance clinics, in schools, day care centers, hospitals, convalescent homes and clinics.

...work with teenagers and young adults in Y's, community centers, settlement houses, schools, clubs, and on the streets and in storefront meeting places, in juvenile courts and youth councils, in detention homes, in narcotics addiction treatment centers, in reformatories and parole departments.

...work with the aged in recreational centers, in hospitals and clinics, in their own homes, in residences, housing projects, and communities.

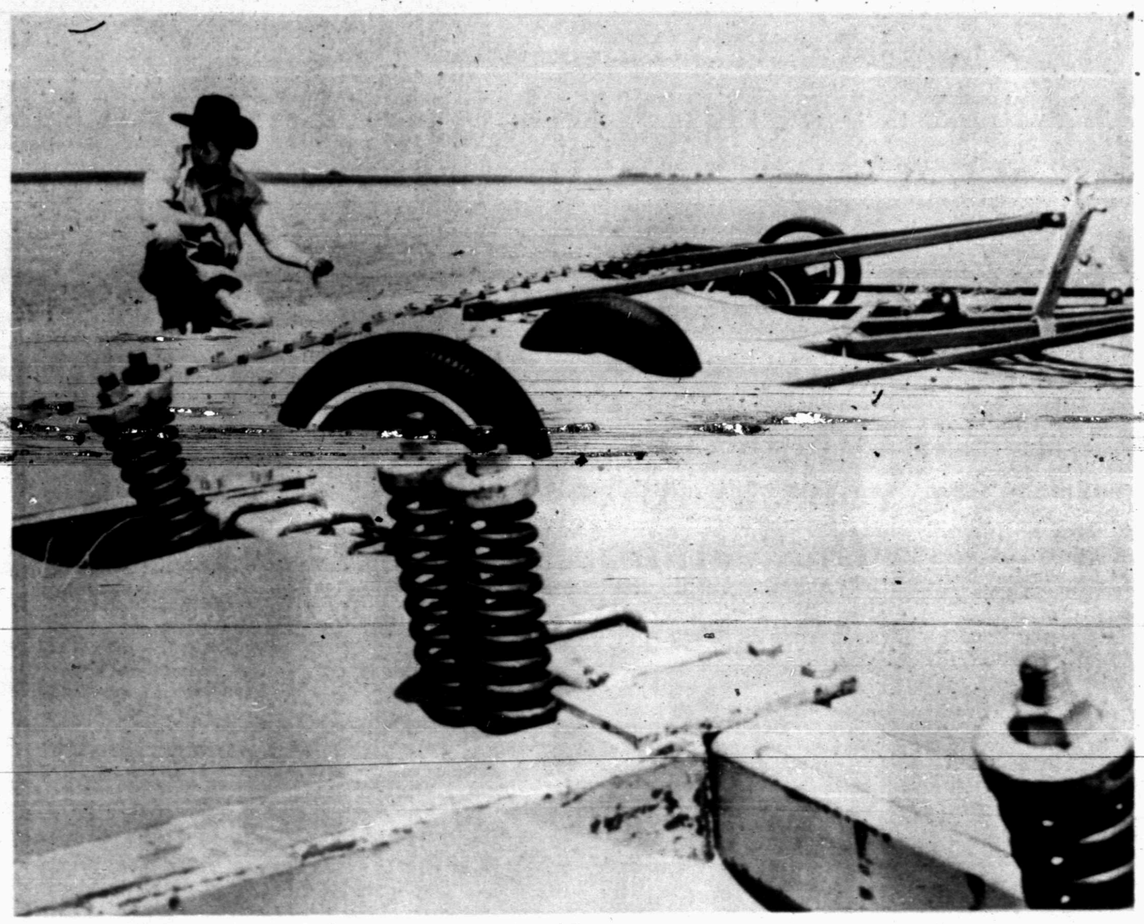

...work with community leaders and groups in community planning councils, on urban renewal teams, Model Cities programs, and community projects to meet health or welfare needs." The list could go on and on -- and does, in this interesting booklet.

Defense Plant Has New Role

By G.C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government today began the first major conversion of its chemical and biological war complex to peaceful uses.

A Defense Department plant at Pine Bluff, Ark., that once developed killer germs will become a center for research into the effects on man of everyday chemicals.

In line with President Nixon's announcement last November ending production of chemicals and germ warfare agents, the Defense Department is presenting to the Food and Drug Administration a "right of entry" letter that begins the new role for a portion of the Pine Bluff arsenal.

Within one year, the FDA and other federal units are scheduled to occupy all 33 buildings at Pine Bluff.

They will constitute the new National Center for Toxicological Research investigating long-term health effects of food additives, industrial and household chemicals, pesticides, cosmetics and drugs.

The purpose, said FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards in remarks prepared for a ceremony at Pine Bluff, is "to extend our knowledge of the chronic, persistent and often insidious effects of an increasing array of chemical substances found in man's environment.

"Through past research we already know many of the short-term effects of high rates of exposure to chemicals. This is the easy part.

"But this center hopefully will enable us to develop a vital new knowledge about cumulative effects and possible connection to mutations, birth defects, cancer, or other diseases and debilities."

Edwards emphasized the center is intended to be not a national testing laboratory but a research complex that will develop test methods for others to employ.

Drought Is Severe

AUSTIN (AP) — Five of Texas' 10 weather regions are under severe drought and four are in a state of moderate drought, the Texas climatologist said Tuesday.

Robert Orton of the National Weather Service said conditions in areas except the Lower Rio Grande Valley deteriorated within the past week.

Orton said he makes the determination through a calculation of temperatures, rainfall and soil moisture values.

Listed as severe are the Low Plains, North Central, Edwards Plateau, South Central and Southern areas of the state.

Moderate drought conditions exist in the High Plains, East Texas, Trans Pecos and Upper Coast.

Here are the indexes for the region; with the April 3 index given first and the April 10 index second:

High Plains 2.3-2.5.
Low Plains 3.5-3.6.
North Central 3.1-3.3.
East Texas 2.7-2.9.
Trans Pecos 1.9-2.0.
Edwards Plateau 3.4-3.5.
South Central 3.3-3.4.
Upper Coast 2.6-2.7.
Southern 3.1-3.2.
Lower Valley 1.8-1.7.

Elderly Couple Perish In Fire

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Two longtime residents of Paris died as fire destroyed their two-story frame home in Paris today.

They were Don R. Benson, 79, retired, and his wife Agnes, in her 70s.

A passing motorist spotted the flames and summoned firemen about 2:30 a.m. Rescuers broke into the house and found both were dead.

Neighbors said Benson was paralyzed on one side and unable to get about well.

California Division Is Forecast

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Can you imagine the most populous state split lengthwise into two states, East California and West California.

West California would be a skinny coastal state some 500 miles long and 50 miles wide with most of the state's current population of 20 million.

East California would run more than 700 miles—from Oregon to Mexico—and would be a mountain, valley and desert state with a relatively small population.

This is the idea of the dean of the state legislature, Sen. Randolph Collier, a Democrat from Yreka near the Oregon border. He would become an East Californian.

For years, Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, a Republican from the San Francisco Peninsula, sponsored bills to divide California into north and south sections at the Tehachapi Mountains.

Dolwig didn't run for re-election but Collier picked up the two-state idea—altering it into a matter of political long division.

Collier, a silver-haired veteran, would put the 13 coastal counties from San Diego to a point north of the Golden Gate into West California. The other 45 counties would go to the East.

It makes political sense to Collier. With reapportionment orders of the courts, the more populous areas of California continue to gain more political control in Sacramento.

Rural areas such as Collier's big northern California district are losing their former strength.

"East California would have the water and the resources," said Collier. "West California would have the people and the industry."

"I think eventually there is going to be a division of the state," he said.

ASNE Chief Chides Editors

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors chided fellow editors today for what he called lazy and superficial reporting, saying they are duped as readily by the Pentagon as by the New Left.

Newbold Noyes Jr., editor of Washington's Evening Star, urged 500 ASNE members at the start of their 1971 convention to try for "a more sophisticated, a more serious perspective on our jobs."

"We cannot keep saying that we are merely spectators of the unfolding scene, charged with transmitting it to the public.

"We are not just spectators. We are the pole who must, whether we like it or not, decide what is worthy of public attention, and who must determine the way it is to be presented," he said.

Noyes suggested newspapers have been "letting the kooks on both sides determine for us what constitutes tomorrow's news—and the kookier their activity, the bigger the news." He asked: "Can we blame our readers for sensing that something is wrong with out performance?"

"No doubt the Pentagon easily makes suckers of the press—but no more easily than the New Left does," he said.

"We are, it seems to me, tragically failing to develop for our readers any meaningful perspective on the activities of such special pleaders.

"Newspaper readers, which means ordinary people, need and deserve the information, the understanding, which will permit them to sort out the forces at work in society and to decide where their true interests lie."

The most frequent criticism of newspapers, he said, seems to be that the press has forsaken objectivity, "that public confidence is being eroded by a wave of activism sweeping through our newsrooms."

Noyes disagreed but said he did find newspapers guilty of being "lazy and superficial in much of our reporting."

He asked why newspapers, including his own, "had to wait for a graduate student writing in the New Yorker magazine" to explode the myth that 28 Black Panthers had been murdered by the police.

The ASNE Freedom of Information Committee urged the society to support a "national shield law" to protect the anonymity of news sources.

Interest Rate Reduced By Land Bank

N. H. Pratt, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado City, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Houston will reduce the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 7½ per cent. "This reduction will be effective on installments maturing on or after June 1, 1971, and affects more than $110 million in variable rate loans to over 3200 Texas farmers and ranchers," Pratt stated.

The variable rate loan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank in July 1969, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. This is the second time since Jan. 1 that the billing rate has been reduced and the third such reduction in the past year. "This action is in line with the Bank's policy in providing farmers and ranchers credit at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound business practices," Pratt stated.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long term real estate loans on farm and ranch lands throughout Texas. The Bank has over $540 million in volume of loans outstanding. The local association makes and services loans in Mitchell, Scurry and Borden Counties. Members of the local board of directors are Martin Murphy, George Dawson, C. C. Thompson, W. H. Narrell, Audry Head, and A. Kenneth Smith.

Air Routes Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board order granting Aeronaves de Mexico five new U.S. routes has been approved by President Nixon.

The routes extend between Mexico City and Toronoto and Montreal by way of Detroit and Cleveland; Monterrey and Juarez and Los Angeles; between Cozumel, Punta Can Cum and Merida and Houston; between Ensenada and Tijuana and Santa Ana, Calif., and between Monterrey and Houston and New York City.

The CAB also modified the airline's existing routes to conform with terms of the recently amended U.S.-Mexico air transport agreement.

Seven Perish In Hotel Fire

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fire raced through the 500-room Pick Carter Hotel in downtown Cleveland Tuesday night. Firemen reported seven persons were killed and eight injured.

Four of the dead were relatives of members of a road company of the musical "Hair," which was playing at a nearby theater when the fire began. Thirteen members of the "Hair" cast were registered at the hotel.

Officials identified the four victims as Mrs. Jonathon Johnson, 18, wife of a cast member, and her daughter, Melissa, 1, both of Renton, Wash., and Mrs. Russell F. Carlson, 23, wife of the stage manager, and her daughter, Carrine, 11 months, of St. Louis.

An estimated 220 guests and about 80 hotel staff members were evacuated from the 10-story structure.

About 150 firemen with 22 pieces of equipment fought the blaze.

The cause of the fire was not determined. It was believed to have started in a kitchen area.

As smoke streamed from windows of all the hotel floors, many of the guests climbed down ladders provided by firemen. Others used stairways and elevators to get out of the building.

Andrew T. Ginnan, general manager of the hotel, said he was in his suite on the eighth floor when he got a call that there was a fire in the basement.

"By the time I got to the lobby it was already ablaze," he said. "We literally had to run through fire to get to the door. All I know is it happened very, very fast."

Ginnan said he could not make a damage estimate, but added the basement, lower lobby, main lobby and mezzanine were destroyed.

Officials said five of the persons hospitalized suffered smoke inhalation. Two were injured in falls and one was treated for burns.

Peking's Welcome May Prove Breakthrough

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Writer

Peking's welcome for the American table tennis team may prove in time to have been a historic breakthrough.

The smiles showered on the visiting Americans are being widely analyzed for what may be behind them, and that could well be a conviction among China's leaders that the time has come to end their country's isolation from the Western world.

It is, of course, possible that the Chinese leaders are interpreting what they hear about the United States in their own Chinese way, measuring events by their own yardsticks, in which case they might expect protest and violence in America to billow into proletarian revolution.

None of the Chinese leaders knows much about the United States. None of them has ever seen it except for Chou En-lai; the able and well traveled premier; none of them has even seen a Western nation.

Whatever their motivation, the Chinese leaders may have decided that a critical moment has arrived for the development of a diplomatic offensive. They could welcome such things as cultural exchange, even commercial exchange, perhaps concentrating on the people-to-people level. On that level there would be steady improvement of relations and a growth of mutual confidence.

Peking, though it has noted official U.S. gestures suggesting better government-to-government relations, has not to any visible extent reduced its daily quota of attacks on the "U.S. imperialists." That means the U.S. government and whoever supports it. Meanwhile, though, Peking has attractive lures to offer the world, including the Americans.

Red China's leaders are aware of the universal yearning for peace in a world which has seen almost uninterrupted strife for decades. People, including Americans, are eager for smiles.

Communist China's 800 million or more people are an enormous potential market. Peking knows how capitalists look upon potential markets. Government after government in the West has recognized Peking, withdrawing recognition from Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime on Formosa.

Peking may consider this to be just the moment to center attention on the United States, just the right time to let down some of the bars, just the time to invite American correspondents in for a look.

All that can create an impression that Red China, having recovered from the three-year upheaval of the Cultural Revolution, is more friendly now, more rational in Western eyes, less isolated and thus less frightening. And China's power counterbalances the Soviet Union's in Asia.

Traditionally Americans have had a spot in their collective heart for China, although historically Americans cannot claim to have been above joining in the international abuse of the Chinese in the last century. There remains an eagerness among Americans for good relations with the Chinese people.

Volunteer Idea Is Under Study

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration appears to have backed off the idea of sending only volunteers to Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday the possibility is still under study, but spoke of enlistment problems and reservation about asking soldiers to volunteer for war duty.

Within a few months, the number of U.S. troops in Vietnam will have reached a level at which Laird had said previously it might be possible to assign only volunteers, as was done before the big American buildup began in 1965.

"The study we have," Laird said in January 1970, "would indicate that you would have to have a force of between 200,000 and 240,000 before you could entertain a new program that would limit your forces in Vietnam to volunteers."

President Nixon announced last week he would withdraw another 100,000 troops by Dec. 1, bringing the U.S. force down to 184,000 men.

But when asked at a Tuesday news conference when it would be possible to send only volunteers to Vietnam, Laird replied this could seriously affect the administration's efforts to raise an army without the draft, a mid-1973 goal.

"There are certain problems if we split the all-volunteer force up and apply it just to South Vietnam and not as a worldwide sort of proposition," he explained.

After personally interviewing enlisted men and officers, Laird said, he found many volunteers are willing to serve in Vietnam. "But it's rather difficult to go home and explain to one's wife and family that they have decided they want to go to Vietnam and serve a year or two years.

"They can go home and explain this very easily if they are actually ordered to serve there," he said. Nevertheless, the defense chief said, it's a matter "we continue to study."

Pentagon sources said the idea of sending only volunteers to Vietnam was an attractive one a year ago, but now officials are leery of it.

Bond Sale Would Insure Program

AUSTIN (AP) — A successful May 17 bond sale of $30 million for the Texas veterans land program will insure its operation through 1972, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said Tuesday.

"This would open up the program to an even greater number of Texas veterans," he said.

For sale are $25 million serial bonds maturing 1979 through 1991 and $5 million term bonds due in 1998. The Texas Constitution sets the average annual interest rate at no more than 4½ per cent.

The veterans land program was reactivated Feb. 1, 1971, after a $25 million bond sale. Since then, 10,666 veterans have requested applications, Armstrong said.

New Control Of Weevils Is Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — A large-scale experiment to control cotton boll weevils without using DDT or other hard-core pesticides is scheduled to begin this summer in Mississippi and adjacent parts of Alabama and Louisiana.

The Agriculture Department, which announced the project Tuesday, described it as "the most comprehensive boll weevil eradication experiment in agricultural history."

Officials said the program will begin in July and August with the use of nonpersistent pesticides on 4,000 acres of cotton within a "quarantine core area" of about a 25-mile radius around Columbia, Miss.

A 50-mile buffer zone will also be treated to prevent reinfestation of the core area from other weevils. There will be periodic applications of the chemicals, identified as a phosphate pesticide, malathion or azinphosmethyl.

The pesticides will be used to kill as many of the weevils as possible before they hibernate for the winter.

In addition, cotton plants will be defoliated before harvest to reduce the weevils' food supply as much as possible.

Traps will be set in the fall to monitor weevil populations, and again the following spring to capture as many as possible.

In May 1972, officials said, millions of sexually sterile boll weevil males will be released to mate with fertile females resulting in unfertilized eggs.

Seaman Tells Of Escape From Sinking Tanker

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP)— A seaman who narrowly escaped death in the sinking tanker Texaco Oklahoma said Tuesday that lifeboats on the vessel had been stripped of supplies only hours before the ship went down.

"There was no safety at all" aboard the ship, pumpman Antonio Perallo told a Coast Guard investigation board.

Perallo was the only witness Tuesday before the four-man board. The hearing continued today. The board also took testimony last week in New York.

The Texaco Oklahoma broke apart and sank while ploughing through heavy seas off the North Carolina coast March 27 in the darkness of early morning. Thirty-one crewmen are missing and presumed dead. Perallo and 12 others survived.

Responding to questions from the board, Perallo said that repair work was being done on the lifeboats at the time of the accident.

"All four lifeboats were stripped—there was nothing inside," he said. "All the provisions and boxes were on the (ship's) deck."

Q: Was the equipment stowed before the casualty?

A: Ah, no.

Q: When did you see it on the deck?

A: The day before. That last day they weren't working on the lifeboats. They were chipping paint. I saw that pile of stuff on the deck.

He said the lifeboat work was being done in preparation for an inspection.

After the ship broke apart, he said, survivors on the aft section discovered that the emergency radio would not work. He said the 31 men on the aft section took turns for 26 hours cranking a generator in the vain hope the radio would transmit a signal.

Perallo said he was in his quarters in the aft section about 3:30 a.m. when he heard and felt "a sharp crack."

He rushed to a porthole and could not see the bow section.

Perallo said he warned other crewmen, donned a lifejacket and looked out again in time to see the bow section coming alongside the still moving aft section.

An engineer on the aft section, he said, put the ship's engines in reverse to avoid contact with the bow section.

Perallo said he later saw a flashlight shine in the bridge of the bow section. Shortly afterward, the bow sank.

"The last time I saw it," he said, "the water was into the windows on the bridge, so I knew everybody was gone. I wanted to see if the guys on the bridge could save their lives."

He said he thought there were 10 members of the 44-man crew in the bow section when the ship broke up.

Bentsen Speaks At Dedication

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., said Tuesday Pan American University can become a leader in the development of bicultural learning.

Speaking at a dedication ceremony for $12 million in campus improvements, Bentsen said education helps clear hurdles and lower barriers.

"I see Pan American University as the front-runner, the leader in all of American higher education in the development of bicultural learning," he said.

The speech was Bentsen's first public appearance in the Lower Rio Grande Valley since he took over as Texas' junior senator in January.

"Together, we in government and education, may yet be able to develop a balance between making a living and learning to live," he said.

Bentsen praised university president Dr. Ralph Schilling, saying he was instrumental in the growth of Pan American.

Favoring the new building complex, Bentsen said that 11 years ago the school had 1,800 students and a "motley assortment of buildings of debatable age."

The school, he said, has now grown to an enrollment of 5,300, gained university status, added a graduate school, and the new $12 million complex of new buildings.

Board of regents chairman Henry Morris Jr. of McAllen made a brief dedication speech.

Bentsen was introduced by regents vice chairman Morris Atlas of McAllen, who drew applause when he made reference to the Pan American University Broncs baseball team. Atlas noted that the university is now something the baseball team "can be proud of."

The team is now 35-4 for the season and is ranked No. 1 in the nation in a collegiate baseball poll.

New Assistant DA Is Girl

AUSTIN (AP) — Phoebe Lester, 26, has become the second woman to hold the title of assistant district attorney in Travis County.

Originally from Tyler, Miss Lester received her bachelor of arts degree from Stephen F. Austin University in 1967. She received her doctor of jurisprudence degree from the University of Texas law school in 1970. Since that time she has worked as a constitutional amendment clerk for the state legislature.

While in law school, she was circulation editor for the law school student newspaper; member of the board of governors and international law society.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Lester of Tyler.

Libraries To Share In Refund

AUSTIN (AP) — A 1968 antitrust suit filed against library book publishers and distributors has enabled the state to recover $675,000 so far, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Monday.

The payment comes from 16 of 30 defendants in the suit, he said, and settlement with the other 14 may come from a May 7 hearing.

Texas school districts and public libraries, which share in the refund, can expect about $500,000 more if the case is settled, he said.

Proposal Not Well Received

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston business and civic leaders showed less than wild enthusiasm Tuesday about seeking the Democratic and Republican national party conventions in 1972.

About 100 of them voted to appoint a committee to see if $1.6 million should be raised as part of the effort.

Mayor Louie Welch said he was told the Democrats have narrowed their choices to Miami, Houston and Louisville and a top-ranking Republican stated the GOP wants to come to Texas.

Spakers for the convention bureau here told the leaders Houston has an excellent chance of getting both conventions.

The proposals drew only polite applause; however; and those present finally voted to appoint a small committee to look further into the matter.

Of the 260 persons invited to the meeting, only about 100 came, Welch said.

Jack O'Connel, vice president of the Astrodomain Corp., which leases the county-owned Astrodome indoor stadium, said that facility could not be used for the conventions because the television networks want 10 weeks of installation time, or access to the convention floor for that time. He said that would be impossible because the Houston Astros would be playing National League baseball games in the stadium during the period.

He said an alternative, acceptable to both parties, is to set up an arena in the adjacent Astrohall exhibition hall, which can seat 15,000 persons.
