Suffers Broken Leg In Accident On Tuesday

Calloway Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, who live three and one-half miles southwest of Portales had his right leg broken between the knee and hip late Tuesday afternoon while helping with the wrecking of a house.

E. C. Fenton and another party wrecking the house, had one end of the house on the ground and had it propped up to make some adjustments. Calloway, who is between 12 and 14, was under the structure working when the prop broke and the structure caught his leg. Nothing could be done his leg. Nothing could be done wreckage and aided him in freeing himself.

However, the attending physician pronounced the break a simple fracture and braced it accordingly. The lad was doing nicely at last report.

Big Celebration at Floyd on July 4

The people of Floyd are planning on one of the largest Fourth of July celebrations that is to be had in this part of the country this year.

O. D. Vickers, one of the Floyd merchants states that he has word from Roswell, Elida, Melrose, and Clovis, as well as towns on the Texas line and many other places that these places will have representation at the big rodeo which is to be held at that place. Some of them are going to furnish large crowds.

Grant Gordon, another member of the Floyd merchants states that Floyd is planning to make it possible for people to have a real good time on the Fourth. It seemed that Arlie Jones and all the rest of Floyd have the real Fourth of July spirit.

Most of the prizes are listed in an advertisement on another page of this issue; however, in addition to the first prize for the best three-day average, which is a pair of boots by Fields and Bonner of this city, there is going to be given a lariet rope for the second and third places.

Another special feature which is being arranged for is a business man's calf roping contest. Mr. Vickers kindly smiled when he mentioned this event.

Arrangements are being perfected with Roscoe Creek, manager of the Portales baseball club for a baseball game. It is almost certain that there will be a game.

It is understood that the business men of Portales are asked to give any demonstration of the merchandise they desire. What these demonstrations will be is not announced at this time. However, things are going to be in such order that the events will come fast as possible. The spectators are asked to be on their toes for the next event.

Mr. and Mrs. Arley Nelson, Harry Taylor and Francis Deldosso attended the show in Clovis Monday night.

Hold Conference On NRA Next Week at College

The weekly conference beginning Monday, July 2, will be on the NRA. Senator Carl Hatch and Judge Sam Bratton have been invited to speak during the week.

Other speakers will be Dr. C. B. Wivel, of the commercial department, Dr. Helen Marshall of the history department and Floyd D. Golden, dean of the college.

Hubert Hopper, pastor of the Presbyterian church will be a speaker also.

GOVERNOR IS TO BE HERE TUESDAY

Governor A. W. Hockenhull will make his first official visit to the Eastern New Mexico Junior college Tuesday. In the afternoon he will visit the college, and in the evening he will speak at the weekly assembly.

Plans are being made for a banquet in honor of the governor at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, at which the present board of regents and their wives and the past board of regents will be guests. All departments of the college will cooperate in the arrangements for the banquet.

In a letter to President MacKay of the Junior College, Governor Hockenhull says: "I am hearing some splendid reports about your work and the school and I am greatly pleased over this."

BALL BROUGHT LARGE CROWD TO PORTALES

Deputy Sheriff Roy Kincaid, who sponsored the Policeman's ball last Saturday evening stated that the crowd was the most orderly and the ball was well conducted.

Parking space anywhere around the square was at a premium. It was probably the biggest crowd that has been in Portales in some time. However, the proceeds of the ball were not near enough to install the radio equipment that is so badly needed for the police force of Portales. Deputy Kincaid said that were the force equipped in formation of a criminal could be obtained in two minutes after the crime was given out, which information is now obtained by the old style in two hours.

Besides increasing the safety of the citizens of the county the radio will save the taxpayers a considerable sum in telephone calls. The radio will unquestionably save considerable time and money. The broadcasting for Roosevelt county would be done from Clovis with the present organization, according to Kincaid.

The radio system of communication is recognized in all big cities as the most effective equipment the police have ever had for rapid and effective communication.

The sheriff's force are not going to stop until all equipment is secured. Kincaid declared that another ball with a floor to dance on would be a good plan for raising the money and give everyone a good time also.

Lloyd Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Davidson, who got his arm broken a few days ago is reported getting along as well as could be expected. On account the nature of the break it is going to take some time for the break to be well again.

Mrs. H. A. McCall, who has been in the Snyder hospital at Glenrose, Texas, is reported as getting along nicely and will probably be home within the next two weeks. Mrs. McCall has been in ill health for some time.

William Doty of Raton was in town Monday making plans to enter the college this fall.

LOCALS TAKE TWO GAMES IN SUNDAY'S STRUGGLE

CCC BOYS AND ENOCH, TEXAS FAIL TO SCORE IN EITHER GAME

EULOGIZE HARP

PORTALES TOSSER ALLOWS ONLY 3 HITS IN NINE INNINGS

The Portales ball club, under the able management of Roscoe Creek, added two more victories to their winning streak Sunday when they met the CCC camp boys in an six inning game, followed by the hard game with Enoch, Texas, aggregation, which no doubt will be slated among the hardest teams of this district to lick.

First Game
With Standford on the mound for the local nine, the CCC boys found it hard to get anywhere. It so happened that Standford allowed only four hits during the six-inning period, while Hodge, tosser for the CCC nine was found easy pickings.

OLTON MEETS PORTALES SUNDAY IN HARD GAME

Olton, Texas baseball club is coming to Portales Sunday afternoon to try the locals on their home field.

Olton defeated the locals to the tune of 8-0 earlier in the season. However, Manager Roscoe Creek seems perfectly calm in discussing the game for next Sunday.

The Portales club is getting in better shape and indications point to a much better game than when they met Olton on their diamond a few weeks ago. The CCC boys will not be able to play this Sunday due to the changes being effected in the personnel of the camp.

For the locals. They got a total of six hits off Hodge. However, the red headed CCC tosser wasn't as bad as you might think. He'll show 'em up yet.

Manager Roscoe Creek was doing quite a bit of substituting in the first game, due to the fact that he had to keep men in reserve for the Enoch nine. Sutton went in for Russell at center, M. Woods went in for Onstott at third, and Burkett and Hyatt went in for Youngblood at left. There were no substitutes for the campers.

Portales made their first score

College Group to Make Field Trip This Week End

Tomorrow a group of 30 from the Eastern New Mexico Junior college will go under the personal direction of President MacKay, to Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Taos, Cimarron Canyon, Raton, back to Las Vegas and home.

Enroute the caravan will visit pueblo ruins, geologic formations will be studied. They will go in private cars with expenses shared. Miss Mary Jo Cowling of the geography department is arranging the trips.

MacKay Addresses Clovis Civic Body

Donald MacKay, president of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college addressed the Lions club of Clovis Tuesday on the program of the college Harry Taylor of the music department sang two numbers, The Builder and The Strong-box.

MAKE FIELD TRIP LAST WEEKEND

Fourteen students and faculty members went on the geography field tour last week end, leaving here in the afternoon the group made a short stop in Roswell then on to Ruidoso for the night. They were guests in the D. N. Pope cabin with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall hosts for the evening. The evening was spent playing games before a big log fire.

The next stop was Alamogordo for breakfast; then on to the white sands region. Some of the group brought home boxes of the sand to make alabaster plaques. Here the group had experience of the principle in physical geography that white is a good reflector for the atmosphere of the white sands is cooler than that of the adjacent areas.

The group met President and Mrs. MacKay in Las Cruces where the president had gone to make an address at a conference at State College.

From Las Cruces they went to El Paso and Jaures where they visited shops and the market where a variety of souvenirs were shown. They visited the old church and had dinner in Jaurez at the Tivoli. After spending the night in El Paso the group went on to Carlsbad early Sunday morning and went through the famous Carlsbad caverns, returning to Portales Sunday night.

Those making the trip were: President and Mrs. Donald MacKay, Miss Mary Jo Cowling, Mrs. Estelle Hayes, Dr. Elizabeth Schellenger, Francis Deldosso, Harry Taylor, Claire Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy MacKay, Mrs. Gertrude Sears and Misses Callie Ellen Grimmer, Lucille Rowley and Mary Alice Walton.

BEGIN WORK KILLING OFF OF UNFIT CATTLE

CARRY OUT GOVERNMENT PLANS TO PURCHASE LIVESTOCK

RELIEF IS AIM

TWO CLASSES IN PLAN TO AID IN DROUTH AREAS

The county organization for the government purchase of cattle for relief of drouth stricken farmers has been completed and actual work condemning, willing, and purchasing cattle started on Tuesday of this week. This set-up includes the county director of drouth relief, which is the county extension agent and a number of county committeemen appraisers.

This organization works in conjunction with the Bureau of Animal Industry Veterinarians, and also the Federal Emergency Relief administration. The veterinarian of the Bureau of Animal Industry, one of which is assigned at present to Roosevelt county, in company with the local appraisers and the brand inspector, visits the farm or ranch and condemns and appraises the cattle offered.

There are two classes of cattle, condemned, and those accepted for shipment. The condemned cattle are judged unfit for human consumption and are killed. The owner agrees to bury such animal. The cattle accepted for shipment are turned over to the Relief administration and are shipped to a canning or packing plant, the product to be used for relief purposes.

Producers who desire to offer for sale to the government either condemned cattle or shipping cattle should make application to the office of the county extension agent at once. These application forms may be secured either at the office of the county extension agent, the First National Bank at Elida, or some county committeeman. After the application is properly filled out and signed and the lienholder's signature secured to the contract, all should be forwarded or brought to the county extension agent's office. The appraisal party and the veterinarian will absolutely not inspect any cattle or make any visit to a farm or ranch for this purpose until this application is on file in the county office.

Some producers are waiting until purchase of shipping cattle starts before making application. This is a mistake on their part, because when an order for shipping cattle comes in this order will be filled from producers who have applications on file. Application forms and lienholder's signatures must be secured either in ink or indelible pencil. Producers must be careful to get signatures of all lienholders. If necessary, county mortgage records.

The Clovis Booster club and the New Mexico Baptist Orphans will be special guests.

FINISHING OF HIGHWAY 70 IS URGED

Following the luncheon of the members of the Portales Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, the house was called to order by President Lewis A. Little.

E. T. Hensley, Jr., brought up the question the meeting of representatives of the various towns on Highway 70 for the completion of the highway from Clovis to Las Cruces.

G. W. Carr spoke on the importance of the road to Portales.

DELEGATES TO SANTA FE

The business men of Portales dropped their work this week and set out to Santa Fe in the interest of Highway 70, from Clovis to Las Cruces.

One carload started Tuesday noon in order to be in Santa Fe that night and early the following morning. Those in this group were E. T. Hensley, Jr., Ezra Watts, Frank Howard, and E. L. Yoachim. Those who went in the car early Wednesday morning were E. C. Luna, Nolan McCall, Carl Case and Carl Yoachim.

Each town on Highway 70 was allowed one executive committeeman and then one committeeman for each 500 population. Turner Hensley was the executive committeeman from Portales.

With the completion of this road there will be an A-1 road from Chicago to Los Angeles. There are only a few gaps in New Mexico which have to be completed, it is understood.

and Eastern New Mexico. He mentioned the beautiful scenery thru which the road passes in the mountain region southeast of Roswell. He also mentioned that Number 70 is a part of the road to the Carlsbad Caverns.

At the conclusion of Mr. Carr's remarks it was decided to send eight delegates to Santa Fe to work for the completion of the road.

The question of the number of regular meetings to be held during the months of July and August was taken up. It was decided to hold regular meetings only on the second and fourth Tuesdays during those months.

The meeting decided that the plans for the Portales band to play in Clovis on the Fourth of July at the celebration would be acceptable.

Mrs. Garnie Atkinson was stricken with a severe attack acute indigestion Saturday morning. She was reported some better Monday. Mrs. Atkinson is staying at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. M. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bryant and Mrs. John W. Wright left Sunday morning for Oklahoma City where they visited Mrs. Bryant's brother, Mrs. Wright remained in Oklahoma City and Mrs. Bryant went on to Ferrellview, Kansas, to visit Mr. Bryant's sister, Miss Sally.

Mrs. J. Griffin Chapman and children are in Grady this week where Mrs. Chapman is teaching in the school of missions.

ADD BEAUTY TO SCHOOL BUILDINGS GROUNDS

DECORATE INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR OF LOCAL INSTITUTIONS

ON 5-3-4 PLAN

CIVIL WORKS ADMINISTRATION AIDS IN MUCH NEEDED WORK

The Portales school buildings and grounds are being put in extra good shape, considering the means at hand with which to work. Most of this work has been financed by the Federal relief work.

Junior High

If there will be any outstanding improvement in the school equipment for next year, it will be the new addition to the Junior high building. Contractor Charlie Isen is starting the brick laying this week. When it is completed there will be four additional class rooms. These class rooms will be used to relieve the congestion in both the junior and elementary schools, according to plans of Supt. Floyd D. Golden, at present.

As it is so far constructed, the Junior high building contains eight class rooms, a study hall, and the principal's office. The addition is being put on the side that the high school building is on, making the total number of class rooms, 12.

This will make the organization of the school on the 5-3-4 plan; that is, five grades in elementary school, three in junior high school.

Howard Address Student Body at College Assembly

State Representative Coe Howard made a short address to the Junior college assembly Friday evening. He stated that he had been in every county in the state but one and that he had heard compliments on the new Junior college everywhere he went.

He is working in the interest of the New Mexico exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago. He described briefly some of the exhibits that may be seen there. He mentioned the exhibit of New Mexico wild animals, of the cactus garden, and of the Carlsbad caverns.

The speaker went into considerable details of the New Mexico building at the fair. The building is of the pueblo style of architecture.

Representative Howard will be in Chicago several days in the interest of New Mexico and its exhibit at the World's Fair.

Plan Now For Entries Annual Flower Exhibit

It is time to start planning for your entries in the Annual Flower show which will be held in the fall according to Mrs. W. W. King, chairman of the civic committee of the Woman's club, who will sponsor the show.

The flower show is planned for amateur flower growers. A large variety of flowers are expected from both town and rural communities. A list of awards for different varieties of flowers will be announced later. The date for the show will be arranged at a time when the flowers will be at their best.

Mrs. Lacy Armstrong, a member of the committee, who has had charge of the last two flower shows emphasizes the fact that now is the best time to care for flowers in order to have prize winning blossoms in the fall. They must be watered and cultivated during the summer months.

BETTER SECONDARY ROADS NEEDED

Portales can extend her trade territory by aiding in securing better secondary roads from the rural communities into the city.

The farmer naturally will travel good roads to market, and if the logical market center is not supplied with good roads, then he will go where there are good roads.

Any city that is not served by good roads is at a disadvantage with other trading points.

CCC BOYS DOING VALUABLE WORK

To see the value of the work being done by the CCC boys one needs to make a trip to the mountains where this work has been under way for the last year.

The mountain streams have been dammed and erosion barriers placed. Suitable camping grounds have been cleared and tables and camping conveniences placed at convenient spots for the vacationists.

These boys are doing a wonderful work to make the forests safer, and more attractive to the tourist, and it is a work that will return a revenue to the state.

WORLD-WIDE DROUTH

From reports from over the nation and foreign countries the entire world is suffering from a drouth. Such conditions have never before prevailed.

In Europe and Asia, serious famines have been reported from time to time, and aid has been sent from America to aid humanity. Perhaps the reduction in crops was a wise move, but nature has gone one better and made a reduction never before dreamed of.

Causes for prevailing conditions have not been located. Perhaps it is because the world has strayed away from the narrow path, and is being punished as in the days of the Israelites. Who knows?

KILLING OF CATTLE

This week the committee empowered to appraise and slaughter drouth stricken cattle, began work in this county.

In many sections applications have been made for the slaughter of cattle. While this seems an economic waste, yet there are thousands of cattle that will die for want of pasture and water, and this seems to be the only remedy to save the herds.

Again cattle prices have been so low that the cattlemen have suffered serious financial losses over a period of years, and unless the surplus is reduced, this industry faces extermination.

NO WORK, NO RELIEF!

If the News has it straight, relief work and supplies will be cut off from those who refuse to work when a job is offered them.

The relief work program has created a situation that is becoming serious. The payment of 50 cents per hour has spoiled many, and instead of seeking employment, they are content to remain in idleness waiting for direct relief or government jobs.

Bean picking time will soon be here and the farmers are becoming worried as to whether they will be able to secure pickers. Many of the unemployed have signified that they will not work for less than 50 cents per hour, even though they only get three days work a week. No farmer can pay these wages and have anything left from their crops.

Those who have been offered a job during their idle time will be cut off the relief rolls if they refuse this work.

SANTA FE BATTLES CARNIVALS

From Santa Fe comes an interesting movement, headed by Mayor Barker and supported by the Chamber of Commerce and the civic clubs. It is for the permanent exclusion of the traveling carnival.

This portion of the state is interested because such aggregations come along every once in a while, collect all the loose change and move on. There is little difference in the set-up. Usually they have a lineup to wheedle the town councils into suspension of regular fees and taxes "for the sake of charity." They live upon the sucker.

But, all that considered, we doubt if there is much success in the campaign of the right-minded to fight the carnival. Their popularity is proved by the throngs who spend their dimes and quarters to see the fat woman and the lady with the fan. And, so long as anything is popular, it will continue, no matter what a minority thinks about it.

Prohibition's failure was a shining example.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

In spite of the disparity between the smallest and largest American newspapers, publisher of the small country weekly need not be overawed by the size of his metropolitan rival. The local newspaper has a place in the life of its community which the great dailies can not usurp if the local publisher is alive to his opportunities and makes the most of them.

Organize Field Forces for Land Use Planning

Organization of field forces to assist in formulating and carrying out land use plans which will develop as a result of the activities of the program planning division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has been begun with the announcement by Chester C. Davis, administrator, of the appointment of directors for nine regions and the designation of those regions into which the country has been divided for land use planning.

New Mexico is located in Region 9, which also included California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Arizona. F. V. Cardon, director of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, Logan, Utah, is regional director of the six states and L. H. Hauter, agricultural economist of the New Mexico State college is in immediate charge of the work for New Mexico.

Regional directors are establishing contacts between Federal and state agencies so that the long-time programs of each may be coordinated toward the same objectives. They are starting preliminary investigations as the initial effort toward establishing a definite program of land utilization in each of the nine regions and are aiding state agencies with the problems involved in the utilization of submarginal lands.

Services of the regional directors will be available to the submarginal land committee which is directing the expenditure of 25 million dollars appropriated through the Federal Surplus Relief corporation for government acquisition of submarginal land.

Areas in which land use problems are similar have been grouped together to form the various regions.

HOPE

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

According to Greek mythology, Prometheus stole fire from heaven, and to avenge the theft the gods condemned Pandora, a very beautiful woman, to come to earth holding in her hand a box from which escaped all the human ills, but hope remained.

While fear is the arch enemy of the race, hope is its greatest blessing. To the person in whose heart burns the light of hope, every cloud of discouragement has a silver lining. Hope constructs a future which becomes a sort of goal summoning all one's strength to reach it. Hope knows no present tense. It functions wholly in the future. "Come side along with me, the best of life is yet to be," can only be said by those whose lives are dominated by hope. Hope knows no discouragement, because the latter is a thing of the present moment, and hope is interested in the future.

There is a popular phrase, "As long as there is life there is hope." The opposite is more the truth, as long as there is hope there is life.

"When hope dies within the heart, a common grayness silvers everything" and purpose, ambition and even faith itself are near the end. No more severe fate could befall any person than to be bereft of the light of hope.

Hope calls out all latent energies and makes each adventure in life a "stepping stone to higher things." Hope quickens the mind, sharpens the perspective and stimulates the heart.

Hope is like a lighthouse. Out upon the stormy sea it throws its light. Incorporating the darkness with its beams the ships are guided to safety.

Hope is an innate gift, deeply implanted within the heart. We may kill it or cultivate it, just as we choose. It develops, however, through self-expression. "If we have no hope we are of all men most miserable."

Hope was unknown among the ancients as a virtue to be cultivated. They emphasized courage, physical strength, endurance, but seldom mentioned hope. It is a virtue especially characteristic of a Christian civilization. Hope is named as one of the blessings, which still remain, "Now abideth Faith, Hope and Love."

Radio and Rainfall

Back in September, 1926, when the rainfall throughout this section of Illinois totaled more than 11 inches in 30 days, there came forth the theory that radio broadcasting was so disturbing the atmosphere of the heavens to such an extent that the clouds just didn't get a chance to stop dripping moisture.

The discussion and the argument took on national significance with brain trusters of university training fairly leaping into print with their theories and contentions, some charging the radio with full responsibility, some dodging the issue by declaring for its possibility but improbability, and others ridiculing the thought.

The moisture production melodies of the crooners have doubled and trebled in number since 1926, but the number of rainbows have decreased practically to the vanishing point.

Now comes the theory that this self-same radio broadcasting activity is responsible for the drouth. Certainly many of the programs are exceedingly dry and others are really hot, but not in the manner and method to affect precipitation or the reading of the thermometer.

Nevertheless F. L. Disterdieck, weatherman at Cheyenne, Wyo., persists in laying the blame for the drouth on the radio, and wants the government to suspend all broadcasting for 90 days. Commenting the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says:

The theory that radio broadcasting is a cause drouth bobbed up in the dry season of 1930, but it didn't have the sanction of a federal weather forecaster behind it. This year, however, it has such endorsement from the weather man at Cheyenne.

While ingenious, the theory has its weak points. The loudspeaker and the crooner are comparatively unknown in the Sahara, we dare say, yet that region has considerable, and permanent, aridity. Great broadcasting network centers in New York City, and Des Moines Valley is merely an incident on the route of ether waves, yet there is little dispute about which point has the more precipitation. There were nation-wide drouths in 1890 and 1894-95, a period when there wasn't even a crystal set on the market. The driest month in St. Louis history was September, 1883, when only .01 inch of rainfall was recorded. It couldn't have been much dryer, but who will say radio had a hand in it?

The Cheyenne observer wants the Government to suspend all broadcasting for 90 days. Better than applying the drastic measure of throttling Amos and Andy, he might consult his precipitation chart of the pre-radio era to find out what would happen.—Beardstown, (Illinois) Star.

Federal Government Aids In Rural Schools Building And Remodeling Campaign, Says Hunt

County Superintendent A. E. Hunt stated that the Federal government is furnishing the labor and in some cases part of the materials to repair the buildings and part of the equipment of the rural schools.

Henry Taylor is the county supervisor and Claude Smith is the county foreman for the relief work projects.

Among the things that are included in the relief program for the repair of the buildings are the repair of the roofs, repainting and the correction of improper lighting. The desks are to be repaired and polished.

The schools that have already been reached by the program are Richland, Hiway, Dora, Rogers, Floyd, Benson, Fairfield, Bluff, Midway, Doreno, Pleasant Valley, and Kenna. Work is reported completed at Bluff, Midway, Floyd, Fairfield, Doreno, Benson, and Rogers. Several of the other jobs are reported almost completed.

The men who worked on these jobs are required to be skillful in the work undertaken.

Superintendent Hunt thinks that the school buildings will be in good shape for the opening of school in the fall.

LAS VEGAS, New Mexico.—All the famous writers of New Mexico have been invited to the Second Annual Literary Round Table which is conducted by the Department of English of the Normal University at Las Vegas to discuss literature in the Southwest. This is a special feature of the summer session of the university and is well attended by the literary folk of the state.

Writers from Santa Fe, Albuquerque, and Taos all contribute their part to the discussion. Stanley Vestal, from Oklahoma is the out-of-state speaker this year. Mr. Vestal is on the summer staff of the English department. The gathering will be opened with a special student assembly on Friday morning, July 6, with an address by John Gould Fletcher, noted poet from Arkansas. Friday afternoon and evening is given over to the New Mexico Little Theatre conference with speakers from the University of New Mexico, New Mexico Normal University, the Albuquerque Little Theatre, the Santa Fe Little Theatre and the Carlsbad Little Theatre.

The literary conference proper is held in two sessions on Saturday, July 7 in the Adelphi Memorial Auditorium. The morning session at 10 A. M. will be opened by Dr. Mary Austin, New Mexico's best loved and best known author. Other noted writers will speak or will take part in the discussions of the morning and afternoon sessions. The university will tender the writers a luncheon at noon. As a climax to the day's events, The Koshare, Delightmakers, dramatic organization of the university will present a play by Elizabeth Willis DeHuff, Santa Fe writer at 8 P. M. in the Adelphi auditorium.

Insurance Feature In AAA Contracts

Threat of crop destruction by drouth has placed added importance on income protection features of the commodity adjustment programs which farmers of the country are carrying out under the direction of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. For the first time in the history of American agriculture, crop income insurance is provided on a nation-wide scale.

While designed primarily to permit crop adjustment which would bring production into line with effective demand at a fair price to the producer, the wheat, corn, hog, cotton, and tobacco adjustment programs also guarantee a definite income for those cooperating farmers whose crops have been cut down or even destroyed by drouth or other forces beyond their control.

Because they are based on past production averages, the amounts of the rental or benefit payments are not diminished by current crop failure. In cases of serious drouth damage this year, benefit payments through the adjustment act to farmers signing contracts will represent a substantial part of their total farm income. These assured payments guarantee that a cooperating farmer will have some income, even though his crop fails entirely.

The commodity adjustment programs have been so planned that they are flexible enough to meet such unusual situations as that created by the drouth in many sections. They protect the producer from being crippled, through complete loss of income, in his efforts to renew production when the immediate failure has passed.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

NATIVE DIET

More than one public health nurse has observed that the best nourished among the Spanish-American children of New Mexico are those who subsist on a purely native diet. This is not astonishing. The Spanish speaking people of the southwest have been adapting products of southwestern agriculture to their dietary needs for centuries. They have found out by the trial and error method what is good for them.

A recent news release from the office of information, U. S. department of agriculture, points out that tortillas are made from ground corn which has been soaked in lime water. So is assured a supply of calcium; that food element which is of all foods most frequently deficient in our American diet. Chili peppers are very rich in vitamin A. Corn and frijoles supply proteins and carbohydrate. Fat is used freely in cooking. Peppers when used fresh supply vitamin C as well as vitamin A.

No doubt there are elements in the ordinary Anglo diet which will enrich the native diet of New Mexico. Milk is perhaps the most important of these. But the native diet has values that we do well to study and dishes that we Anglos may add with profit to our menus.

HOW BIG A LUBRICATING JOB CAN A QUART OF OIL DO?

HERE is a record of motor protection and low consumption that conclusively proves how big a lubricating job a quart of oil can do. Six strictly stock cars, with one fill—five quarts only—of six different, nationally advertised motor oils were run to "destruction" at the Indianapolis Speedway under AAA supervision. Under exactly similar conditions the cars were operated until their motors failed. Here is the result: Oil No. 4 went 1713.2 miles; Oil No. 6 went 1764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 finished 1815.9 miles; Oil No. 1 completed 2266.8 miles; Oil No. 3 totalled 3318.3 miles; Oil No. 2, New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, piled up the amazing total of 4729 miles! That was 3000 miles farther than the first oil to go out, and 1400 miles farther than the last oil to fail.

Such demonstrated superior qualities of greater film strength, ability to withstand increased heat, resistance to dilution—such proved performance should guide your future oil purchases. Be safe—look for the Red Triangle Sign.

Discuss Spanish
People, Culture,
College Assembly

The assembly of the Junior college last Friday evening was given over to the discussion of the Spanish people and their culture.

Professor K. J. Brough, head of the Spanish department of the Junior college during the summer term had one of his classes sing some Spanish songs. After the song were sung he made an announcement inviting others to visit the Spanish club, if they were interested.

Dr. L. S. Tireman who is director of the San Jose training school and who has been studying the educational conditions in Europe during the last year, estimated the number of Spanish people in New Mexico to be between one-half and two-thirds all the people of the state.

Dr. Tireman discussed the pride in both Spanish and English. The English boast of their pilgrim fathers; on the other hand, the Spanish are as justified in being proud of their conquering fathers who came with Coronado and Onate.

It is difficult for the Spanish to understand the abruptness of the English as it is for the English to understand the easy-going of the Spanish. "The important thing with the Spanish is to live well today," stated Dr. Tireman. "He is not inclined to mortgage his future."

In discussing the ability of the Spanish children to learn the speaker is convinced that they are not slow to learn. Their handicap is in not knowing the English language from childhood. In some of the Spanish settlements, the teacher is Spanish and the English language is only spoken in the classes out on the playground and elsewhere, Spanish is the language spoken.

It is the duty of the people of the state to help solve the problem of making the two peoples one as it is for the people of any other part of the state. The San Jose school is doing its part declared Dr. Tireman.

Dr. F. M. Kercheville, head of the department of modern languages at the University of New Mexico, made a short talk and

TAKE PLACE
CONTEST

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs was fifth in the number of entries in the $1,000 civic achievement contest of the Ladies' Home Journal, the judges announced on June 18, after meeting in Philadelphia to choose the winner.

About seven per cent of all the entries came from the national federation group. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers led, the General Federation of Women's clubs was second, the American Legion Auxiliaries third, and health associations and hospitals ranked fourth in the number of entries.

Practically every type of woman's organization entered projects. Included in the roster were social agencies, church organizations, community recreation and garden clubs, civic and music groups. The Girl Scouts the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Young Women's Christian association, the League of Women voters and the American Association of University Women all participated.

Projects entered in the contest ranged from the establishment of one-room libraries in rural communities to the sponsorship of welfare campaigns for hundreds of thousands of dollars in large cities. The decision on the award will be made by a board of judges consisting of Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, Mrs. Minnie Bradford, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Ten Counties, 3
States In Student Body at College

Ten counties of New Mexico and three other states furnish students for the new Junior College.

Many people are wondering where the students of the New Mexico Junior college are coming from and what the standing of these students are. The information concerning the distribution of the students was obtained by Miss Mary Jo Cowling.

The following is the names of the counties and the number of students from each county enrolled in the college: McKinley, 1; Lincoln, 1; Otero, 1; DeBaca, 1; Quay, 1; Curry, 3; Roosevelt, 9; Lea, 4; and Chaves, 4. This is a total of 159 New Mexico students.

The following are the names of the other states and the number of students from each state: Texas 5; Mississippi, 1; and Oklahoma, 1. This makes a total of 7 from other states. The whole total of students is 166.

The registration of the students, according to classification is as follows: Freshman, 52; Sophomore, 58; special, 37; and high school pupils, 19.

There are a number of other students in Portales and vicinity who are planning to enroll at the opening of school this fall. They do not feel able to make the summer term and the fall and winter terms, also.

and four in senior high school. Superintendent Golden favors the 6-3-3 plan; however, the equipment is not in such a shape at present to make such an organization possible.

There are several other improvements that have been made for the junior high among which are several hundred feet of concrete walk; concrete curbs for the flower beds; the filling of the basketball courts with dirt.

Senior High.

The windows and wall of the senior high school are being repaired and put in first class condition. Some of the chord in the windows were broken or the windows were otherwise out of working order which conditions prevented the windows from fitting. It was impossible to keep the cold wind and sand out of the class rooms.

The walls of the building have not been gone over and repaired thoroughly since the erection of the building in 1922. The walls are being given a light cream color calcimine and the ceilings are being colored with grey calcimine. Much of the old plaster had to be torn off and the boards resailed and new planter put on before the finishing work could be done.

The wood work of the building has been gone over with paint. While this was being done, the hall screens on the windows were repaired and fastened. There was a considerable amount of new glass required to put the doors and windows in shape.

There has been considerable finishing to the agriculture building. The ceilings and walls have been finished and the work benches have been put in better shape.

Elementary School

The elementary school has not been over looked in any way. The low places in the grounds where the little fellows line up to get into the building has been filled and leveled with caliche. This prevents puddles of water when it rains or snows. Most sidewalks have been put in for the grade school also. The roof of one of the unit buildings has been repaired. Several other repairs and improvements have been made.

Athletic Grounds.

One of the biggest improvements this year in the way of recreational facilities was the construction of the two concrete tennis courts. So far these courts have been used by both school children and town people.

The bermuda grass on the athletic field did not do as well last year as it was expected. To stimulate its growth, several tons of manure were placed on the field last winter. Now the grass has an almost perfect sod.

Pete Briggs who is taking care of the field has watered and mowed the grass until there is an almost perfect sod all over the field. The class of '34 under the leadership of Collins Hilliard with Mrs. C. P. Brown and Marion Sinnott for sponsors, erected two brick gate posts on the southwest side of the field. The school board has had a steel fence put around part of the field and Mr. Golden stated that the fence would be completed soon as funds were available.

The grade school had caliche placed around their swings and other playground equipment. The half-block of playground northeast of the school has been built up with dirt. This ground is used by the little grade boys to play ball on.

The streets along each of the buildings have been caliche. This answers the purpose of paving quite well for the present time.

As for the funds to make this improvement Floyd D. Golden stated "there has been $7,000 spent on the school grounds besides the addition to the junior high school building. Practically all this work was paid for out of funds for the CWA and relief work." The addition to the junior high is to be financed by school funds.

He states further that "all this work was badly needed, and that the school would have been unable to have had the improvement and repairs done had the work not been mostly paid for by the federal government."

Locals Taks

In the last of the first when Onstott got on. Heckendorn also got a taste of the circle, and the locals counted two markers. They made three scores in the fifth to bring the total up to five. The campers failed to mark.

Second Game

The second game started off like the big leagues of the east. Four men of each team batted in the first inning. From then on to the fourth it was three up and three down. However, Portales broke the "you're out" pestilence when Onstott, the old reliable connected with one of Berry's swift ones for a three bagger. Patterson followed Onstott with a single, scoring Onstott. C. Woods got on; Angley sacrificed, bringing in Patterson. Youngblood's single scored C. Woods, and Hyatt and Dickson hit the dust to end the fourth.

The Texas nine came back in the fifth with three up and three down under the terrific blows of Harp. Portales made another in the fifth to bring the total to four. The game ended like that.

This fellow Harp, tosser for the locals, held the much talked-of Enoch team to three singles in their nine times at bat. Only two times was the tosser in great jeopardy. In the sixth Ward reached first on a single. He got on around to third with one man out. However, Segall whiffed out at the plate, and McCormick filed out to the outfield. Again in the eighth the right hander let another one of the Texas lagers slip up on him and reach third. But there were only four men batted during the inning. He, too, like the other, died on the bag at third.

Cottonwood Trees Being Taken Out

A number of the oldest trees in Portales are being taken out on account of dead limbs and other reasons. J. B. Fridy had grubbed one of the oldest trees on his residence property which was planted over 30 years ago this week. The tree was a cottonwood and was so near dead that it was no longer regarded of any value.

This seems to be the fate of many of the cottonwood trees of this part of the country. J. A. Fairly is considering taking out his cottonwood trees. It seems that his kind of a tree has an attraction for worms—several trees have been taken out for this reason. Others do not like the cotton that these trees produce.

The Cottonwood tree was a favorite of the early residents of this part of the country. The next tree which was in favor was the black locust.

Bean Picking Is Getting Under Way

Many of the farmers have their bean crops producing and some have already begun picking. J. D. Whitson had some of the earliest in this area.

H. O. Minick, in investigating his crop this week had the pleasant surprise to discover that his beans were heavier loaded than he had anticipated.

Crops are damaged considerably by the rust. The owners of other crops are complaining that the yield this season does not promise to be as heavy as it was last season. Indications are that this crop will be considerably shorter than last year's crop.

Beans are selling at 5 cents per pound the first of this week. This figures $1.50 per basket.

F. S. Witty, superintendent of schools at San Jon spent the week at the conference on community relationships at the Junior college.

Children are inclined to accept everything which is presented to them, therefore every care should be taken to see that no propaganda enter our school through any source, the speaker stated. "Schools exist for the education of children and not for selling ideas and commodities."

"On the other hand," declared Dr. Nanniga, "there are agencies who have the welfare of the schools at heart and who, if properly used, will be of great benefit."

POTPOURRI

Origin of Barber Pole

The sign of the barber—a white pole with red stripes—dates back to the time when barbers were also surgeons. Not until the reign of Henry VIII were laws passed prohibiting barbers from engaging in surgery. The barber-surgeons used the striped pole which represented a bandage wrapped around a patient.

PULLETS REQUIRE PROTEIN IN FEED

Normal Development Should Be Chief Aim.

Poultrymen cannot make up for a deficiency in breeding by cutting down the protein in the feed to delay early laying, says Prof. L. C. Norris of the New York state college of agriculture. Tests at Cornell show that pullets need from 14 to 15 per cent of protein in their feed during the period from to twenty-four weeks of age. When less protein was fed, laying was delayed for about ten days and the growth of the pullets was retarded.

Poultrymen need an early maturing type of pullet of proper size and vitality which lays as large an egg as that laid by a pullet which starts to lay at a later age. Such a pullet is cheapest to grow, because she uses relatively less food for maintenance and more for growing in the non-productive period than does the slower growing bird. A pullet which reaches a weight of three and three-fourths pounds at five months of age and begins to lay, is cheaper to grow than the pullet that takes six months. Moreover, he says, the early maturing pullets lay more eggs in a year than the slow-growing birds. Size of bird, size of egg, and vigor must be considered in breeding the flock, along with early maturity.

Poultrymen should feed and manage the pullets to keep them developing normally. Do not lower the protein content by feeding more than 50 per cent of scratch grain or by cutting the protein content on the mash. Induce the flock to take exercise, and cull out the small-sized, rapidly maturing pullet that develops a red comb early.

Poultry Classification

as to Use for Table

Broilers are young chickens approximately eight to twelve weeks old, of either sex, of marketable age, but not weighing over two and a half pounds each, and sufficiently soft-meated to be cooked tender by broiling. The lighter weights are sometimes quoted as squab-broilers. Fryers are young chickens, approximately fourteen to twenty weeks old, of either sex, weighing over two and a half pounds each, but not over three and a half pounds, and sufficiently soft-meated to be cooked tender by frying. Roasters are young chickens, approximately five to nine months old, of either sex, weighing over three and a half pounds each, and sufficiently soft-meated to be cooked tender by roasting. Stags are male birds of any weight or age, with flesh slightly darkened and toughened and with comb and spur development showing the bird to be in a state of maturity between roasting chickens and cocks. Stags are less desirable and bring a lower price than do soft-meated chickens. Cocks are mature male birds of any weight with darkened and toughened flesh. Capons are unsexed male birds weighing over four pounds, usually from seven to ten months old and with soft tender flesh. Slips are incompletely caponized male birds weighing over four pounds, with comb, spur and flesh development similar to that of stags.—Los Angeles Times.

Chicken Fox Protection

To protect from chicken pox remove all affected birds from the flock. Put them in a pen as far away from the main flock as possible. See that all stagnant water is taken away, as this breeds mosquitoes, and these pests transmit the chicken pox. The entire flock should then be vaccinated with pox vaccine by pulling five feathers from the leg of the bird and, with a small brush, applying the vaccine to the holes where the feathers were pulled.

POULTRY NOTES

Pullets lay about 20 per cent more eggs a year than do yearling hens.

North Carolina farm families consumed 8,230,000 chickens in 1932 and sold 5,010,000.

Yeast adds to the cost of a poultry ration, but does not improve the nutritive value of a good ration.

Furnish the hens with nests about a foot wide and two to three feet deep, filled with shavings. The nests should be darkened.

Have units for hens, if you please. They are nothing more nor less than troughs filled with gypsum, placed in front of the door and nests, to keep the hen's feet clean and prevent soiling the eggs.

Fifty pedigreed White Leghorn hens, valued at $1,550, were sent from an Oregon poultry farm to the imperial government of Japan. A special Japanese emissary was sent to select the birds for the government's experimental farms.

Plan Permanent Reduction of Families Receiving Relief Aid

Permanent reduction in the number of families receiving relief is one of the results anticipated from the rural work centers now being developed. The plan for the work centers has been worked out in Texas, according to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas has issued a description of project which the FERA has called to the attention of other states as a possible solution to some of the country's relief problems.

The community in which a work center is desired must first show that not less than ten families from relief rolls will be materially aided by the project. Part or all of these families may already be living in the community. It is also suggested that families that have moved from this community to the city, and have been put on the city relief rolls, be brought back upon application of their former neighbors, and placed in houses made habitable with aid of relief funds. The work center would then afford means of setting up small manufacturing activities, for products to be exchanged or sold locally. This would supplement food and other items which families are expected to produce on the small farms where they are being located.

"Relocating these families is by infiltration, and they must be acceptable wherever they go," says the plan.

The community must first show that it can furnish suitable vacant houses to be made habitable by labor of the occupants in return for rent-free privileges. Relief funds may also be used for labor and a limited amount of material for new houses.

Several acres must be donated by the community for site of the work center, title to be held by the community or, preferably, by a cooperative group. The community is expected to supply half of the material for construction, and half of the equipment, while labor is supplied by the relief administration.

Products of the community house might include mattresses, harness, chaps, quilts, canned goods, cured meats and dozens of other commodities needed in the neighborhood. In addition, repairs and parts could be made there for furniture, farm machinery, and outbuildings.

It is suggested that the work center be used for recreation also, and that the equipment be such as could be converted and shifted easily from utilitarian to recreational purposes. For instance, work tables are suggested with hinged tops, so that they could be convertible into seats.

This community house would be the "visible symbol of the new deal. It merges the possibilities of the already large movement toward the small farm with home manufacture thereby stimulating a significant trend in rural life."

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics recently surveyed 123 factories in 18 Eastern, Southern and Central states, and found that factories in small towns or in the open country are enabling many farm people who live within convenient distances of such establishments, to derive from them five different kinds of income: By selling some of their farm products to the factories; by performing certain steps in the manufacturing processes in their own homes or in small farm shops; by having a claim upon some of the profits of the business through investments in the factory; and by selling food, stuffs and possibly other farm products on local markets that have been expanded because of the presence of the factory.

Farmers Get Special Aid In Drouth Areas

Combined forces of Federal and State governments are at grips with the destruction wrought by drouth over an area that includes parts of more than 20 of the leading agricultural states.

The surplus low-grade cattle removal program of the Adjustment administration is being carried out in the emergency counties with first buying operations under way in the most acute sections of the Dakotas, Minnesota, and other northern states.

Shortage of livestock feed and water in the emergency areas called for immediate aid in many cases where producers could not longer carry their cattle on the farms.

In New Mexico, it will be necessary during the first few days of the campaign to purchase only cattle which are unfit for food and therefore must be condemned and slaughtered. The State FERA, which organization is to receive purchased cattle fit for food, has not yet received instruction regarding acceptance and shipment of such cattle. Purchase of cattle fit for food must therefore be delayed until arrangements have been completed to receive and ship these cattle. Meanwhile in order to afford immediate relief to New Mexico stockmen whose cattle are dying, preference will be given to such cases and only condemned cattle purchased and, of course, slaughtered immediately.

Among the many problems of the drouth which are being met by measures already in effect or planned are: Removal of surplus low-grade cattle; providing emergency feed supplies and seed for emergency forage crops; modification of agricultural adjustment contracts to encourage increased plantings of needed forage crops; furnishing credit facilities to finance foundation herds in order that farmers may rehabilitate themselves as producers; providing direct relief for farm families including "subsistence" cattle needed for the support of the families; safeguarding adequate seed supplies for the 1935 crops; and securing freight rate adjustments to facilitate shipments of feed into the drouth counties and livestock out to grazing areas.

REDUCED PRICES DO NOT MEAN REDUCED VALUE

EVERY FORD V-8 MODEL has a V-8 ENGINE—85 HORSEPOWER—112" WHEELBASE—

NOW $505 and up—
F.O.B. Detroit

The only change in the Ford V-8 is the change in price. Lower price does not mean any change in basic materials or in engineering. For Ford has only one standard.

There is only one Ford V-8 chassis. It gives you a full 112-inch wheelbase. It is a powerful car—developing a generous 85 horsepower. It has the only V-8 engine in a car selling for less than $2500.

Despite its bigness, its roominess and its power, the new Ford V-8 is the most economical car Ford has ever built. You save money on gas and oil every mile you drive.

Examine the new V-8. Look at costly cars. The more high-priced cars you inspect... the more Ford V-8 features you'll see!

Fairway Nest Doubly Protected

An unusual hazard which golfers made sure to avoid was this graybird's nest on the first fairway at Renner golf course, Detroit. The manager found three eggs in the hole almost ready to hatch, and immediately had workmen put up a foot-high screen to protect the little ones from tractors, mowing equipment and golf balls. To add to this formidable protection, Major, a police dog belonging to one of the caddies, took an interest in the proceedings and delegated himself as guardian of the nest. Both the screen and Major were left on guard until the eggs were hatched and the little graybird family was up and about. In the photograph Major is eyeing a couple of golf balls which have landed a bit too close to the nest.

The famous "Windows of Henry Street," that great training center for health and social workers developed on New York's polyglot East Side by Lillian Wald, have looked out on graduate students of many races for people have come from all over the world to study there. But never before have those windows viewed an American Indian girl, going out from the great training center equipped with up-to-date health training to carry back to her own native American people.

This is what happened when Miss Margaret Sangster, young Navajo trained nurse, recently finished her year of public health study at the New York center and started out, under assignment of the Indian Bureau, to spread the white gospel of health to the red men of her own reservation.

Miss Sangster was born on the Navajo reservation. She is a relative of the wealthy and prominent Navajo family, the Dodges, one of whom, Thomas L. Dodge, is chairman of the Navajo council. She was educated in an Indian boarding school and then graduated in nursing from the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles.

For three years, following her graduation, she served as a nurse in the Indian service at the Carson School Hospital in Stewart, Nevada. Her work there convinced her that training in health education was at least as important as hospital nursing to her people, and she decided that she would prepare herself to carry this training to them. She remembered the crowded hogans, the lack of sanitary conveniences, the isolation. She wanted to work for her people and she wanted to take them what was best and most modern. Now she has completed her training and soon she will be at work. She will be assigned to one of the Navajo community centers being developed under the new Indian policy instituted by present Commissioner Collier.

It will be a great change for her, this going from the most completely equipped training school in the world out into the vast isolated desert country of the Navajos. But she has already lived the nomadic life of her people. She has shifted from that through the school and hospital. To return with her new knowledge is what she has most wanted. "I am glad to be going back," said Miss Sangster.

Rev. J. Griffin Chapman will give mission lectures every night next week in the First Baptist church in Clovis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fridley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Taylor for dinner Friday evening.

W. W. King and H. E. Buchanan attended a Ford meeting in Albuquerque Tuesday.

T. E. Meers left Saturday for Salt Lake City.

Blessed Scandal

JAMES GIMBEL was to play opposite Hansen!

Swiftly spread the news through Zenith that the great Swedish star had insisted on having him, and it created a sensation. Nora Hansen and James Gimbel! A magic combine, this, recalling the halcyon days when films were voiceless.

But, with bombshell suddenness, sound came; in the first frenzy, Hollywood and its public alike went heart and soul for the theatrical tones of any ham who had ever spoken lines. With Gimbel's falset talking picture, his voice was found lacking the dulcet purr of the new favorites, and audiences turned away.

Nora Hansen fared better. Surrounded by an aura of glamor and mystery, press agent-women, she remained sacred to her public. Two more silent pictures she made while studying English, and then her first talkie was released. The rest is history.

All this came to every one's mind and lips with word of Gimbel's selection. But there were a few for whom the thing held deeper meaning—who remembered the hints of something beyond professional interest between Hansen and her co-star in the old days.

But now, they asked, wasn't there more than met the eye in the star's demand for Gimbel? To Fiberg, the producer, who had tried discussion, she had said:

"For five years you give me my actors—nine or ten different ones—and I do not like any of them. Now I shall have the man I want. You think he is what you call it—'rough.' Well, I show you he is still the best screen lover of all."

Never in all her career, had Hollywood's eagerest gossips been able to couple Nora Hansen's name with another's. Until recently, Gimbel, too, had been free of entanglements. A year before, however, he had unexpectedly married his new-cast leading lady.

Toward the actor Hansen displayed a rare warmth of manner, while he, in turn, seemed to regain the dash and zest of former years. Then gradually, as the numerous love scenes were rehearsed and shot, a change began to appear in Gimbel's mood.

Suddenly, as the last week of production started, Gimbel went to Fiberg with a surprise request. "I want a two-day leave of absence," he announced; "I'd rather not tell you why, but it's very necessary."

To the producer's ears had come the current rumors, and now he stared quizzically at Gimbel. After a moment's silence, he said: "Maybe you know it, and maybe you don't; but I was against putting you in this picture—and it looks like my hunch was right. They tell me you're costing us plenty for retakes and overtime wages. Now you want to take a vacation?"

The actor frowned with a touch of impatience. "Just allow me these next two days," he repeated, "and I promise you'll have no further cause for complaint."

Fiberg started to voice a sharp refusal, checked himself, and gave a contemptuous snort. "All right," he said disgustedly; "get out—and take Hansen with you!"

Gimbel whirled about, startled anger in his face. Then, slowly, the features relaxed in a broad smile. "A splendid idea!" he exclaimed. "I'll do that!"

A brief notice informed the cast and crew that shooting would be discontinued for two days. Immediately gossip buzzed afresh, and a hundred theories of the cause were offered. All guessing, however, soon ended. At ten that evening, a news broadcast announced that Nora Hansen and James Gimbel were accompanied, had been seen arriving an hour before at Big Buffalo Lake, a mountain resort fifty miles from Los Angeles.

Seated at home, Fiberg heard the item and came close to apoplexy. All too well he knew the public's distinction between spicy rumor and bald scandal. Frantically he phoned to Mile-High Lodge, the lake's one large hotel, and demanded to speak with Gimbel. After a brief wait, the actor's voice spoke in his ear, sounding excited. "Where's Hansen? Fiberg queried at once.

"In my suite," he replied. "You're fired!" he shouted; "fired—do you hear me? And if you don't get her back here in two hours, I'll have you arrested—IT—"

A ringing laugh from the other end cut him off. When it was somewhat under control, Gimbel stammered breathlessly: "Listen, you big stiff—it's a boy—an eight-pound boy!"

For one horrified instant Fiberg sought a memory of Hansen's lovely figure; then the actor was saying: "Been expecting it for two weeks—ever since my wife came up here to dodge the publicity—but we just arrived in time. And listen—Nora says the darned kid looks like me!"

ords will be searched for the purpose of locating liens against cattle offered. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon this point, because the government does not propose to purchase cattle until the title to them is absolutely clear.

After the inspection is made by the appraisal party, a report of the same, together with signed copies of the contract for purchase is submitted to the county office. These documents are checked for correctness and extra copies made for file. The original copies of the contract are then sent to the regional disbursing office at Kansas City and checks will be issued there and sent back to the county office for distribution to the producer and lienholder. The Kansas City office advises that they will be able to handle contracts and issue checks for same within 48 hours after receipt of the contracts.

Following is the list of names of those who have charge of the program in Roosevelt county: County Relief Director, Ralph R. Will; Bureau of Animal Industry representative, Dr. C. E. Moorman; Brand Inspector, Milt Kornegay; F. E. R. A. representative, Mr. Swift; R. A. C. Release Agent, J. A. Fairly; Production Credit Association Release Representative, A. L. French and J. W. Clem.

County Committeemen: George Chumley, D. A. Gordon, O. C. Herbert, George Littlefield, A. L. French, Q. A. Preuit, J. C. Alsworth, John Stroud, J. W. Stone, Jim Caviness, John Young and S. H. Harris.

Again producers are urged to immediately file their applications and to secure signatures of their lienholders. Failure to do so at once will only delay the program. There is only one bureau of animal industry representative for this county, and the work must be organized ahead of him. He will absolutely make no visits for appraisal of cattle until the application is properly on file in the county office. Each day he will call at the county office for the applications on file in order to determine where he will work.
