Aransas County, Fulton, Rockport Receive Grants

Aransas County, Rockport and Fulton are scheduled to receive more than $450,000 in federal grant money through the Coastal Energy Impact Program.

Awarding of the funds was announced by Governor Bill Clements — who selected the 17 local governments along the Texas coast that will receive funding through the federal grant program.

The Aransas County Navigation District has been awarded $200,000 to provide restroom facilities and beach improvements at Rockport Beach.

Fulton has been awarded $217,500 to construct a 1,000-foot long public fishing pier into Aransas Bay.

And Rockport will receive $40,000 to purchase 5.85 acres of land adjacent to Memorial Park to provide additional recreational area for the city.

The Coastal Energy Impact Program is administered by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for the purpose of reducing "the impacts associated with offshore oil and gas development and other coastal energy activities," Governor Clements said.

'Alligator Man' Still At Large

Bust Nets $2000 Worth Of Pot

By Pat Blair

Warren Lynch, 49, Aransas County's "alligator man", was still being sought Tuesday morning after county officials confiscated some $2,000 in marijuana found growing behind Lynch's house.

Lynch is charged with felony possession of marijuana.

The marijuana was discovered by County Investigator Ricky McLeester who, acting on a tip that "there was something back there," got a helicopter to fly him on an aerial survey behind Lynch's residence.

From the air, McLeester spotted the marijuana Friday morning, November 14.

Officials from the Aransas County Sheriff's office and the Texas Department of Public Safety converged on Lynch's alligator farm, located about midway between Rockport and Aransas Pass.

A unit of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service was also called to the scene to "stand by" in case of anyone getting hurt.

Officials found and confiscated some 12 five to six-foot tall stalks of marijuana growing in a 25-by-30-foot clearing about 25 yards behind Lynch's house.

By Friday afternoon, the marijuana, carrying a street value of about $2,000, was in the possession of the county sheriff's office — although Lynch himself was not.

County Sheriff Bob Hewes said the county had reason to believe the marijuana was being cultivated by Lynch — and was not just growing wild on the property — because of a garden hose found nearby. The garden hose was also taken as evidence.

The sheriff also said that "somebody" shot at McLeester's helicopter on his aerial survey Friday morning. The identity of that "somebody" remains unknown.

Also on the scene Friday was Chief Deputy Carson Wooddell and deputies Dean Smith and Lee Wagoner.

Lynch brought national attention to himself and his alligator farm in February, (See BUST, Page 5)

A Different Vein

By 'Uncle John' Leslie

while working in the AARP Cake Booth. We were just across the street from two or three speakers (and were they loud!). It was pretty stiff competition for the booth. Guess you can't have your cake and eat it too!

All the booths, both free and sales, were good. They drew good crowds and I understand did good business.

Weather was perfect. Just a bit on the hot side. Thank goodness we had no rain.

Food Booths competed with the loud speakers mentioned. Oh what a time they had being heard! Lots of, and all kinds, of good eats were available — not cheap — but tasty.

The Water and Sky Events were spectacular and drew applause of all that saw them.

One thing was present in fine quantity — sand. When you walk in it, as I did, for two solid hours, you learn you are not as young as you used to be.

I have not heard, but feel sure, all booths selling for personal gain, or Community projects, made some good money. Many volunteers served many hours in the booths.

After all, it was a Volunteer Community Project. It draws more people into active service than anything that takes place here per year. That's why it was a success.

I admit I did not see it all — was just too lazy — and the sand too deep. Just walked and hollered for two hours around the Cake Walk booth.

I would have been foolish to try and list all the hard-working men and women who made this a success, and as a concerned citizen, I personally thank you all. — See you in 1981. Bigger and better.

One negative — Dog Owners note — The Sea Fair is no place for a dog. They can't appreciate it and you can't control their relieving habits. This they do wherever they go — and they did.

If you must bring your dog, bring sandbucket and shovel. No need to bring sand — it's everywhere.

My friend John Says — Jumping to conclusions is not half as good exercise as digging for facts.

Mr. Perry Carter, Editor Rockport Pilot 1002 Wharf Rockport, Texas 78382 Dear Mr. Carter,

At the conclusion of the Valdez vs. Lyman-Roberts Hospital Inc. trial this past week I personally, along with all my associates at Lyman-Roberts Hospital, find ourselves with mixed emotions over the outcome of this trial.

Of course we are gratified that we won the lawsuit, but because the death of a young woman took us to the courtroom in the first place it is impossible to be elated over any part of this case.

It is unfortunate but true that we are all too often faced with similar situations where our local citizens fail to seek proper medical attention until it is too late. We have an excellent staff of doctors, nurses and technicians associated with our hospital, but the fact remains we must have the cooperation of any potential patient to see that they receive proper care.

If this young woman had been under the care of a physician this whole tragedy very possibly could have been averted. I pray that each expectant mother who reads this will take note and seek proper prenatal care under the direction of a qualified physician.

Sincerely, s/Ben Pate

Dear Mr. Carter: The Texas Sesquicentennial of 1986, the State's 150th birthday celebration, is on the way, and all Texans are invited to the party.

Preparations for the celebration are beginning with a statewide contest to devise an official logo — an appropriate visual symbol, or "trade-mark," of the Texas Sesquicentennial.

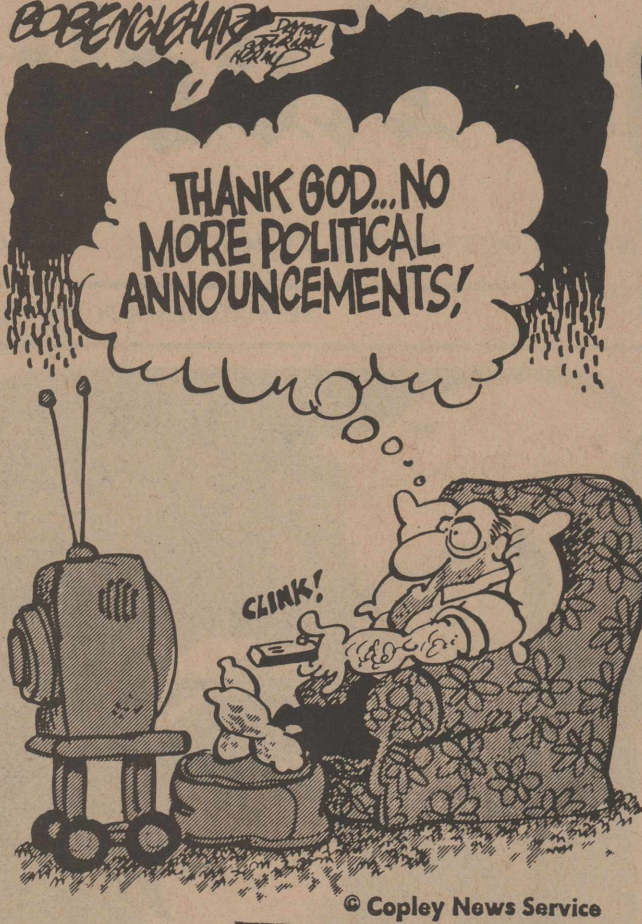

The logo contest is one of the first activities of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission. Created by the 66th Legislature, the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission is charged to "coordinate celebrations of the 150th anniversary of Texas' independence as a republic and progress as a state."

The Sesquicentennial logo contest needs the widest possible participation from all Texans. We hope for entries from public schools, colleges and universities, library associations, historical and cultural societies, professional (and avocational) artists, and the general public.

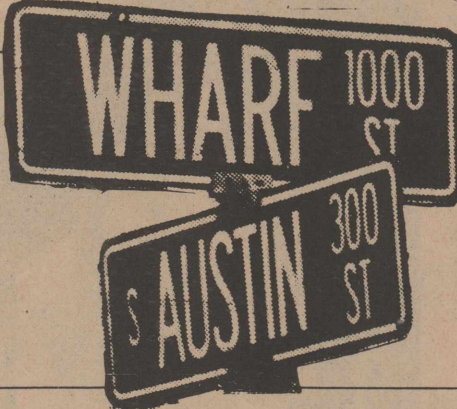

It is vitally important to get word of the logo contest to all Texans, and to that purpose, we are sending this camera-ready copy to every newspaper in the State.

We invite your active support in our effort to make the logo contest a real "grassroots" event — an appropriate kickoff to the Texas Sesquicentennial celebration.

Sincerely, s/Chris Victor Semos Chairman s/Randy M. Lee Director

THE QUESTION HAS BEEN ASKED ON COUNTLESS occasions, in the national press and amongst all of us as individuals. I have faced it dozens of times myself — what will be the relationship between President-elect Ronald Reagan and George Bush? I confess having faced it with some trepidation. No more.

The entire question might be dismissed with the observation that both are genuinely big men, above pettiness, that they are diplomats of the first chop, men who are above all else dedicated to the welfare of the nation.

But those observations are too broad in scope, even too idealistic.

So to the hard facts of the case. His election proves that Reagan overcame what was posed as a problem — his age. Actually age is too silly to discuss. Only in America it arises as a matter for concern. It is a thing that doesn't and never has bothered Europeans.

Face it. How often do we encounter men and women in their thirties and forties who are all but dead, intellectually and even physically? Why, then, in this country, are we so impressed with the octogenarian who is alive and alert? They are no more rare than the living but dead bodies half their age.

Widely circulated, and no doubt embarrassing to Reagan, is the contention that Bush is by long odds one of the best equipped men to seek the Presidency. I stand guilty, if guilty be the word, of having made the contention myself. I stand by it.

Too, Reagan must be well aware that many people, again including myself, voted for Reagan in the confident belief that Bush will be his successor in 1984 — or earlier. I have heard this sentiment expressed in very crude terms. Of all this Reagan must be well aware. Already he has demonstrated his stature as a man by overlooking, ignoring the circumstance.

IT DOESN'T HAPPEN EVERY DAY, BUT ALL OF us have had the experience of meeting people who do not impress us, even impress us adversely. Later we become friends. That is something that has happened between Reagan and Bush since last summer.

Since the days of Dwight Eisenhower it seems to me that vice-presidents have played increasingly important roles, and that, of course, is as it should be.

Gone are the days when Jack Garner could rightfully and however crudely describe the office as "not worth a bucket of spit." Never again will the vice president inherit the office under such hapless circumstances as Harry Truman who took over from a man who seemingly believed that he would live forever.

SO EXPECT THIS OF GEORGE BUSH AS VICE president. Reagan will utilize to the full Bush's experience in foreign affairs. No man alive is better equipped than he to restore confidence and respect for this nation abroad.

At home it is becoming evident that Bush will be used to play a strongly substantive advisory role. This will prove to be most evident as his close relationship with the Congress becomes apparent.

All things considered there is good reason to view the future with bright optimism once the new regime takes office. But we must be cautious. Especially in this presently confused world there are events and circumstances at home and abroad that will forever be beyond the control of any single man or group of men.

My present optimism is based upon a conviction that the majority of the people of the nation have a refreshing confidence in the new leadership. That counts for much. Yet it can also stand to be a disadvantage because as usual in the world people so often expect total change, miracles actually, to happen overnight.

HERE NOW LET ME OFFER THE THING THAT IS my greatest concern for the Reagan-Bush administration. Their election demonstrates that most of us have given up a half-century-old love affair with socialist trends and are ready to return to the principles upon which the nation was founded.

However there are misguided proponents of those concepts. They are the extremists of the far right, the people who destroyed a good, great and intelligent man not so many years ago. These people today feel they have a sort of proprietary claim upon Reagan, a circumstance that at one time was not altogether unfounded.

They are people who are also unabashedly not fond of Bush. You can expect their voices to be loud, not the least among them such blood-shot-eyed individuals as Jerry Falwell's so-called Moral Majority.

A FEW DAYS AGO ROSCOE DRUMMOND IN THE Christian Science Monitor presented the most cogent yet simple answer to Reagan's winning election. Summed up it amounts to this: the American voter has come to think what Reagan has been thinking all the time, something which has been demonstrated in the polls for more than a decade.

For example, during the 1960s and '70s the number of Americans who thought big government was the main cause for inflation increased from 14 to 51 percent.

This year Common Cause, a left of center organization with a national membership said: "Even though you may have known it for some time, more and more Americans are just waking up to this plain and simple truth: The reason the United States government cannot solve the urgent problems that are plaguing our country is because government is the problem."

And isn't that what Reagan has been saying all along? On national defense those who favored increased military spending rose from 11 percent in 1971 to 60 percent in 1979.

Reagan has favored that all along. In 1974 only 40 percent of us favored a more active role for this country in foreign policy. By this fall the number has increased to 61 percent.

Again, something Reagan has favored all along, indicating that he is much closer to the American mainstream than most people realize. —ahab

YOU'RE DOING FINE

Dawn Orlando checks the blood pressure of a homebound patient as one of the many duties and services rendered by the AIM program based in Rockport. The home health agency serves Aransas and San Patricio Counties offering intermittent care for the homebound and is certified by the state.

[Pilot Photo by Johnnie Littleton]

AIM For Better Health -- It Does Just That

"A.I.M. for Better Health" is more than a catchy slogan.

It is the name of the home health agency serving Aransas and San Patricio Counties and is named for founders Mrs. Kathleen Akin, RN, president, Moya Garcia, vice-president and Frances Iles, business manager.

The non-profit organization employs a full-time registered nurse, one part-time registered nurse, a nurse on call, physical and speech therapists and a business manager.

Home health care does not mean having a sitter with the ill or seeing patients in the office.

Mrs. Akin said "We go with the patient from the hospital to the home where the patient's physician and our staff work together in making decisions and planning the continuity of health care for the homebound patient."

All work is done under the direction of the individual's private physician. This applies in each and every case, without exception.

While focus is on the elderly, anyone is able to take advantage of the many services provided. Ninety five percent are Medicare or Medicaid patients and ninety percent are over 65. Since the beginning AIM has provided $7,441 in free services. Since May 22, 1980, the agency has served 41 patients and made 571 home visits.

There is a sliding fee schedule for patients according to income with the fee going to meet expenses of the agency such as salaries and the usual costs of running any business.

AIM has a trained, qualified nurse on call 24 hours each day, seven days a week.

Mrs. Akins said, "We are private and small, and our best advertising is the quality care we give and referrals received through physicians about care given. It travels word of mouth. When a homebound patient returns to independence we feel we have accomplished our goal."

When a patient is allowed to go home, one of the greatest problems is that individual's knowledge of his illness, whether it be stroke, a cardiac problem or surgery. The nurses teach and offer correct and specific assessments of the patient's condition. This leads to a decrease in stress and an increase in the body's ability to return to normal function, according to Mrs. Akin.

The family and patient are also taught about medications. Many people do not understand the interaction and benefits of medication and become alarmed if left on their own. This is where the nurses are invaluable in helping the individual learn from the constant reassurance of the nurses, thereby allaying their tension and fears.

In essence, the program offers patient and family instruction after an illness; co-ordination of all services for receiving home care; development of a plan of care in conjunction with the physician, and reports to the physician.

AIM employs a home health aide who works under the direct supervision of the RN in helping with activities of daily living. A speech therapist designs a plan of treatment to be carried out in the home and provides an assessment with the nurse in a co-ordinated plan, and an experienced social worker provides counseling and therapy for the patient and his family.

To qualify for the services of AIM one must be under the care of a physician and require intermittent nursing care or therapy in the home.

This includes people who are at home either temporarily or permanently for health reasons, cancer patients, handicapped children, high-risk maternity cases and premature babies.

Mrs. Iles said "This community is so very fortunate to have such skilled specialists living here, ready and able to help. We have a team to offer health services never before available in this area."

These professionals live, work and rear their families here, and it's hometown people taking care of their own, in the best possible way."

Mrs. Akin added, "We use the services of the therapists who work within tight guidelines. A goal is set for the patient and if, after a period, we see it is not being accomplished, rather than go on and on, we talk with the patient and family to determine if the program is working. Then a decision is made as to whether to continue or discontinue the program. And the nursing aspect is carried out in the same manner."

The Citizens' Advisory Board consists of John Mitchell, Joyce Hill, Sandra Garrett and Dr. D.L. Ed-wardson.

Rockport, Fulton Sales Up

October sales in Rockport this year showed a healthy increase over sales for the same period last year, according to the sales tax returns from the office of State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock said the city's share of taxes on October sales amounted to $45,903.78 — an increase of more than $4,000 from the $41,027.10 for the comparable period last year.

Fulton is due a sales tax rebate of $3,250.39 for October. Since Fulton only began charging a one percent city sales tax this year, there are no comparable figures for 1979.

Since Fulton began charging sales tax, however, that city has collected $14,428.98. Rockport's collections for the year-to-date, January through October, total $222,245.15 — an increase of six percent over last year's collections of $209,661.02.

Reports from Bullock's office show that Rockport compares favorably with other cities in the area.

Right Of Initiative, Referendum Amendment Pre-Filed In Senate

Senator Walter Mengden, Republican from Harris County, has pre-filed Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 2, a state constitutional amendment to give the people of Texas the right of initiative and referendum.

The Legislature will convene in regular session in January, but legislation may be introduced in advance.

Representative Carlyle Smith, Democrat from Grand Prairie, has pre-filed an identical measure, House Joint Resolution (HJR) 2, in the House of Representatives. Both SJR 2 and HJR 2 were drafted by the legislative staff of Governor Bill Clements, who strongly supports initiative and referendum.

SJR 2 and HJR 2 would permit state laws and constitutional amendments to be passed or repealed through a process of petition and election. A petition must contain the signatures of registered voters equal to 10 percent of the number of people who voted in the preceding gubernatorial election for statutory proposals and 15 percent for constitutional proposals.

These signatures must also be gathered from at least three-fourths of the 254 counties, rather than being concentrated in only a few areas. Citizens would have a time limit of 180 days to gather these signatures.

All proposals which obtain the required number of signatures will be referred to the Legislature for consideration. If the Legislature passes the initiative, it would then become law, if it is statutory, or submitted to a vote of the people if it is constitutional.

However, if the Legislature does not pass an initiative, it would automatically be placed on the ballot for a binding statewide referendum at the next November election.

The Legislature would also have the option of passing an alternative measure for a vote of the people at the same time as the initiative proposal. If both are approved in the subsequent referendum, the one having the highest number of votes prevails.

Other provisions of this proposal include a prohibition from receiving compensation for circulating petitions. Public disclosure would be required of all funds contributed or spent on initiative campaigns.

The secretary of state would prepare an informational pamphlet to be sent to each registered voter containing a brief pro and con argument for each proposition which will be on the ballot. In addition, the Legislature could not repeal or amend any initiative passed by the people except by a 2/3 majority vote of the House and Senate.

In last May's Texas Republican Primary, by a vote of 328,407 to 48,699, 87.1 percent of the people voted for initiative and referendum in a non-binding straw vote.

Senator Mengden stated that the legislative process frequently does not accurately reflect public opinion for a number of reasons.

Toys For Kids Project Approaching Deadline

Aransas County's "Toys for Kids" campaign is running out of time.

December 12 is the deadline for getting toys — or the money to pay for same — for Christmas this year.

On December 20, says Frances Iles, the organization's chief toy buyer (or Mrs. Claus, as she laughingly calls herself), the families selected to be this year's beneficiaries of the program will be invited to Sacred Heart Catholic Church to do their "Christmas shopping."

Based on last year's figures, Frances wants to have enough toys for 300 area children.

Sponsored by the Rockport Lions Club, the program is aimed at providing toys for children whose families would otherwise be unable to provide Christmas gifts for their children.

Frances said the organization is still accepting donations of cash and Texas Gold stamps (the "Texas Gold Mailbox," tended by Kenneth and Dorothy Dumas, has been moved to Rockport's First National Bank and will remain there until Christmas).

In addition, boxes have been set up at all area schools for donations of toys. The local Girl Scout troop is assisting with the "toy boxes."

Families participating in the "Toys for Kids" program are selected through the Texas Department of Human Resources.

In December, the DHR office at 1807 Raht Street (Highway 35 next to Whataburger) will have applications available for families who wish to participate.

Frances and Jo Lee McConnell, who is assisting with the project, will review the applications. Families selected for the program will be notified immediately, Frances said.

Manuel Rocha is chairman of the "Toys for Kids" committee.

September 30 this year.

That figure was nearly a million pounds higher than the landings for the same period in 1979.

Things were pretty much the same in ports statewide, with some 75 percent of the total Texas fishing fleet making at least a minimal profit in the shrimp fishery in September.

However, NMF officials cautioned that the increase in landings did not indicate a financial reprieve for the hard-hit shrimping industry.

Statewide, shrimpers in the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton area brought in the largest September catches with the Brownsville-Port Isabel area coming in second with 2,304,300 pounds of shrimp landed for the month.

FOR THE KIDS

John Mitchell at First National Bank holds a check for $100 from First National to the local Toys for Kids program while he, Frances Iles and Manuel Rocha admire the poster that will be on display in the bank lobby through December. Also in the bank lobby will be the "Texas Gold Stamp Mailbox" for those who want to donate Texas Gold Stamps to the project. Frances is the "chief toy buyer" for the program and Rocha is chairman of the project which is sponsored annually by the Rockport Lions Club.

were selected on the basis of individual merit "as well as the intensity of energy development in each segment of the coast," the Governor added.

He emphasized that all 17 projects will result in new opportunities for recreational use of beaches and parklands by coastal residents and visitors and will provide protection for a number of valuable environmental areas.

Other local projects that will receive funding through this grant program include Nueces County which has received $1.25 million to rebuild Bob Hall Fishing Pier which was destroyed by Hurricane Allen.

Portland will receive $200,000 to buy a fishing and wetlands area on the northern shore of Corpus Christi Bay and Gregory has been awarded $50,000 to construct restrooms, picnic areas and playground facilities at Gregory City Park.

Kingsville has received $89,085 to provide capital improvements to eight city parks, and Port Aransas has been awarded $210,000 to construct a new fishing pier near Port Street.

NO MORE!

Gayna Harrell at A Blossom Shop tosses out her cigarettes as she prepares to be the honorary chairman of the Great American Smokeout in Aransas County on Thursday, November 20. Gayna actually gave up smoking more than three weeks ago — after being a steady consumer of up to three packs a day. "I just woke up one morning and said, 'This is stupid!'" Gayna said of her decision to quit. The Great American Smokeout is sponsored by the American Cancer Society in an effort to make people aware of the health hazards of smoking — and then do something about it. Smokers are asked to "take the pledge" and give up smoking for at least that one 24-hour period and non-smokers are urged to help a friend quit smoking.

Bikeathon Scheduled For December 13

The Third Annual Josef Barton Bikeathon will be held Saturday, December 13.

The public service project is sponsored jointly by the local units of the American Cancer Society, The American Heart Association and Explorer Scouts Post No. 49.

Those wishing to take part are asked to obtain an entry blank at local grocery stores, fast food outlets, church or school offices, local trailer park recreation rooms or the Chamber of Commerce, or by calling 729-0385.

Clubs, churches, schools, and trailer parks are asked to join in the competition for raising the largest amount. The over 40 winner for the past two years has raised a sum of $1,400 and challenges anyone to beat her total.

Prizes will be awarded to the person collecting the most money in various age and speed groups. Contestants should pick up entry blanks as soon as possible and solicit sponsors either on a fixed fee basis or on an agreed price for every mile ridden.

The bikeathon will begin at 9 a.m. at the corner of Austin and Market Streets and will end at the same place after a 20 mile course around Live Oak Peninsula.

The local Whataburger outlet will donate a certificate for a free burger to every contestant that enters and collects at least $10.

Bobcat Pelt Tagging Program Enters 3rd Year

AUSTIN — Texas hunters and trappers will be required again this year to have their bobcat pelts tagged prior to sale, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The authorized tagging period is November 15, 1980, through February 15, 1981. Bobcats taken during this period are eligible for tagging and sale. This is the third year of the tagging program and the second year that the Parks and Wildlife Commission has authorized permitted dealers to affix tags to pelts.

A trapper license is not required of persons taking only bobcats in Texas.

The 1980 version of the Aransas County "ambulance ladies" annual Christmas Bazaar was one of the most successful to date, netting more than $8,000 to help keep the ambulance service rolling.

"Each booth did so much better than the previous year," said Publicity Chairman Billie Franklin, commenting on the success of the Bazaar held this past weekend, November 15 and 16, at the Paws & Taws Building.

The event was sponsored by the Women's Committee, Aransas County Medical Services Inc. (ACMSI).

In addition to the 10 booths, the Bazaar also featured a giveaway, with prizes being a floral hook rug donated by Mary Harle and a cubic zirconia ring in 14 kt. gold mounting.

Mary Bailey won the rug and John Mitchell won the ring which was valued at $400.

Booths and booth chairmen included book stall, Edwina Stranahan; "white elephant," Vi Street; children's nook, Sue Warrick; "The Fashion Corner," Jane Moren; "Trim a Tree," Patty Fishwick; and the "Bake Shoppe," Fran- cey Leggett.

Mary Coudy headed up a new booth this year, the "Surprise Package" booth. Pat Jackson was chairman of the gift boutique and Polly Rogers handled the "Linen Department." Pat Evers and Jean Duggan were in charge of the Corner Tea Room. Joanne Haskell was chairman of the Giveaways.

Mary Casey was chairman of the Bazaar and Thyra Russell was co-chairman. Head of the Women's Committee is Sara Bates.

Money raised in the annual Christmas event is used to help fund the county's Emergency Medical (ambulance) Service.

Patty Fishwick, Ruth Gordon and Dorothy Hrubes, three of the volunteers who "manned" the booths at the Bazaar Saturday and Sunday, take a much-needed break. The Christmas Bazaar is sponsored annually by the Women's Committee of Aransas County Medical Services Inc. (Pilot Photo by Philip Loghry)

Lady Pirates Open With Win

By Bob Crawford
Rockport-Fulton's Lady Pirates opened the season with a win over rival Aransas Pass Saturday night in Rockport — outscoring the Panthers 20-6 in the first quarter to set the pace for the game.

The final score was 36-6.

Feresa Moore took charge of the scoring for the Pirates early in the game, scoring 12 of her 20 points in that first period. By the half, the Pirates had run the score to 32-13. In the second period Kim Foitik took up the scoring for Rockport as she pitched in eight of her 14 total points.

During the second half, the Panthers staged a comeback behind Jackie Brown who sizzled the nets for 25 points for the night.

The Lady Pirates, who opened the game in a pressing defense, grew tired in the second half, and AP surged back with Brown netting 17 second-half points.

For the second half, AP scored Rockport 23-18.

Joining Moore and Foitik in double figures was Kelli Ondrej with 10 points. Also scoring for the Lady Pirates were Genny Mundine (2), Sundi Price (2) and Darlene Dilworth (2).

Coach Dennis Gartman said of the night's action, "I was pleased at the way we attacked during the first half. We shot well and played defense well until we got tired."

In JV action, the Lady Pirates finally got their act together and beat AP 34-25. Michelle Willis picked up 14 points and Diana Herman pitched in 10 points to lead the way to the victory. The Pirates led by an 18-16 margin at the half.

The Freshmen Lady Pirates' dropped a heart-breaker 28-26, letting some chances in the late going slip away. A hot third quarter for Aransas Pass proved to be the undoing for the Lady Pirates.

While the Pirates managed only two points in that eight minutes, the AP team was hitting for 10 points.

Lee Anna Cassel led Rockport in scoring with eight points, despite the fact that she fouled out in the third quarter. Missy Krogsgaard had six points.

The Lady Pirates will be in action Friday night, November 21, at home against Ingleside.

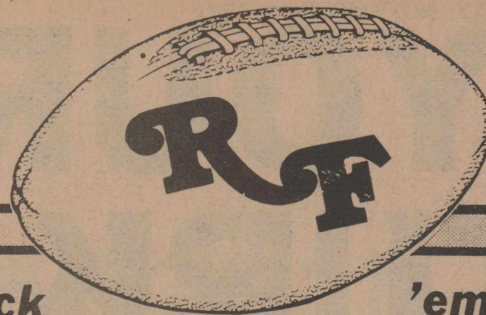

Castro And Booth Run Well At State

Running backroads and pathways paid off Saturday when Raul Castro and Peter Booth represented Rockport-Fulton at the state meet for cross country in Georgetown, north of Austin.

Going as individuals since they placed in the top 10 runners in the regional meet the week before, Castro finished sixth in the state, and Booth crossed the finish line in twelfth position.

Interestingly enough, the two teams that won the regional meet in Rockport-Fulton's region — Falfurrias and Austin Westlake — finished 1-2 in the state meet.

Soccer League Having Good Season

With four games under their belts and two more to go, the 12 teams in Aransas County's Soccer League can report a pretty good fall season.

Some 186 youngsters ranging in age from six years through high school signed up for the fall season, many after having been introduced to the game when the Soccer League first organized this past summer.

Most of the youngsters are in the Pee Wee Division for six- to eight-year-olds, with six teams organized county-wide. Another four teams play in the Junior Division for nine- to 11-year-olds and two teams have been organized in the Senior Division for junior high and high school ages.

Games are played on Saturday mornings at the soccer fields in Rockport's Memorial Park. Five games are played each Saturday, with the first starting at 8:30 a.m. and the last at 12:30 p.m.

Boys Begin Basketball Tuesday

By Bob Crawford
Rockport-Fulton opens the basketball season Tuesday night against Class 5-A Port Lavaca in Rockport.

The JV will play at 6 p.m. before the Varsity.

Bobby Flanagan, the Pirates' main man, will be starting his ninth campaign as head basketball coach. Flanagan will again be faced with molding some young players into a unit before district play opens December 19 against Gregory-Portland.

Returning from last year's 14-15 team are Donnie Frels and Pee Wee Solis, a pair of seniors, each expected to provide leadership for the team.

James Walls, Dennis Hull, and Michael Covarrubias return with some Varsity experience.

As of now, some of last year's JV and Freshmen players will be counted on heavily to put the Pirates in position to challenge in a tough 4-A district.

Zachary Green, Rory Morgan, Ernest Gonzales, and Micheal Simmons will get a chance to play in the season ahead. There are others who just could be Varsity players in the weeks ahead, but it isn't certain at this time.

The Pirates will wait a week after Tuesday's game to get in the heat of the schedule, playing the tough Taft Greyhounds in Rockport on November 25.

They call it "The Overnight Wonder" for constipation.

Are you uncomfortable with your laxative? Then meet the little white pill they call "The Overnight Wonder." Just one pill at bedtime safely, surely stimulates your system's own natural rhythm. Overnight. So in the morning, you're back on the bright side. Comfortably! It's a good feeling.

What is "The Overnight Wonder"?
Ex-Lax[®] Pills. That's right—pills from Ex-Lax. Look for the white box.

Football Round-Up

Pirates End 'Mystery Year'

By Bob Crawford
Rockport-Fulton's Fighting Pirates have closed out another season. This year's team finished the season with a mark of 3 wins and 7 losses.

The year was one of mystery where the Pirates were concerned. Early on, the Pirates seemed as if they would be a team to be reckoned with as the district race moved along — but everyone else in the district improved as well, and the Pirates paid the price as they were on the lower end of some lopsided scores, 35-0, 33-0, 43-7, 62-37 and 33-3.

The Pirates had the speed this year with runners who possessed fine times in the 40 yard dash, and on occasion, the Pirates showed their stuff.

One thing the Pirates could not match-up with the other teams of the district was in size. Usually outweighed by a sizable margin per man, the Pirates were down in the last half of most games.

It is interesting to note that in the games listed above, the half-time scores of two of those games were two touchdowns or less, so the Pirates were out of only three games by the half.

Freshman Dwayne Walls made the Varsity team and then led the team in rushing with 863 yards, followed by junior running back Micheal Simmons with 745 yards.

Ernest Gonzales, a 600 yard gainer as a sophomore, gained only 359 yards as a junior when his role was reduced as a ball carrier, and he spent some time on the injured list.

Dennis Hull, last year's leading receiver with more than 20 catches, was used more sparingly this season, catching only 13 passes, one for a touchdown. Simmons was second with only nine catches.

A year ago, Jim Eaton quarterbacked the Pirates, throwing for better than 50 percent of his passes for completions, but this year was a different story, as he completed only 41 percent of his passes.

Back-up quarterback Adam Harden, who got a lot of playing time when Eaton was out, or when the game was out of reach, completed 52 percent of his passes, throwing for two touchdowns.

Even with the scores as big as they were, the Pirate defense was not always the reason for the big score. Many times over the season, the offense coughed up one of its 27 fumbles, putting the defense in the hole, or one of the eight interceptions would be thrown, or one of the poor punts would be kicked. The defense cannot take all of the blame.

In the tackle race, Eddie Naro edged out Harden by only one tackle, 100-99. Both are juniors this year and will return next year. Senior George Solis was third with 88 tackles, most of them solid hits that fans will remember.

Solis also led the team in interceptions (three) and fumble recoveries (four). Simmons had two interceptions, and two fumble recoveries, playing only a limited time on defense. Harden also had two fumble recoveries.

In scoring, Wall led the team with 48 points, followed by Simmons (36), Gonzales (20) and kicker David Williams with 10 points.

The JV team finished the season with an identical record as their Varsity team at 3-7. All year the Pirate JV had trouble scoring, managing to hit at least 10 in the last game of the season; on four occasions they were shutout.

The Freshmen Pirates finished 5-5, taking two of the victories on forfeits from Aransas Pass and West Oso. Ramond Romero highlighted the freshman season with a 1,000 yard season in rushing.

The accident occurred at the intersection of James and South Bronte when the car Morales was driving was in collision with a vehicle driven by John Travis Ray, 40, of Portland.

He was fined $103.50 on the disorderly conduct charge and $163.50 on the charge of making a terrorist threat.

Someone reportedly threw rocks through the stained glass windows on the east side of the church sometime between Wednesday, November 12, and 7:15 a.m. Friday.

Longer yes, but fuller?

Among mammals the general rule is that females outlive males. But that doesn't necessarily mean they live a fuller life, for a recent study of mice found that virgin females lived longer than spayed females, who in turn outlived sexually active females.

Cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours. Turn several times. To cook, remove steak and onions to broiling pan with rack. Broil 4 inches from heat to desired doneness. Turn once. Brush often with marinade. Turn onions occasionally to prevent burning. To serve, garnish with parsley and tomatoes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

- 1/2 cup cut-up mandarin orange sections
- 2 cups sweetened

whipped cream
Mandarin orange sections

In medium saucepan, combine sugar, gelatin and salt. Add water and cook, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in rum, orange juice, lemon juice and food coloring. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat 2 cups heavy cream to soft peaks. Fold in gelatin mixture, cake, coconut and orange sections. Spoon into lightly oiled 2-1/2-quart mold. Chill until set. To serve, unmold onto serving platter. Frost with sweetened whipped cream. Decorate with orange sections and coconut. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE AFFORDING OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC HEARING

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation conducted a public hearing on June 28, 1973 to discuss the design and revised location of the proposed improvement of State Highway 35 from Gregory to the Copano Bay Causeway. This project is being developed in cooperation with the Federal Highway Administration and Aransas and San Patricio Counties, and has received FHWA approval.

Since preparation of the original schematic, some revisions have been proposed in the area from Airport Road to the Copano Bay Causeway. These changes will modify the roadway alignment to the east of FM 1781 to avoid the Copano Bay area, realignment of the FM 1781 intersection with existing SH 35 for improved traffic flow, addition of an overpass to connect southbound lanes to existing SH 35 and the Rockport business area, and addition of a frontage road under the south end of the causeway which will cause a realignment of the roadway at this location. These revisions will not cause a change in the general route location which has been previously approved.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed changes and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the Resident Engineer's office at 1701 South Padre Island Drive in Corpus Christi, Texas. Maps and drawings showing the proposed changes have been placed on file with Aransas County Judge John D. Wendell.

Information about the State's Relocation Assistance Program, the benefits and services for displacees and information concerning the relocation assistance office as well as information about the tentative schedules for acquisition of right of way and construction can be obtained at the Resident Engineer's office in Corpus Christi.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed changes covered by the limits given in the second paragraph above, by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's office on or before December 22, 1980. The name and address of the Resident Engineer is James B. Opiela, P.O. Box 7708, Corpus Christi, Texas 78415.

In the event that such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be published about the date and location of the hearing.

Christmas Tree Forest To Go On Display

The 21st annual Christmas Tree Forest, "A Victorian Yuletide," will open December 10 in the Art Museum of South Texas in Corpus Christi.

The Forest, sponsored by the Museum Auxiliary, will be on display in the museum's foyer through noon, December 24.

Hours for the Christmas Forest will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday and until 8 p.m. Wednesdays.

The First United Methodist Hand Bell Choir will perform at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, December 10, and the Corpus Christi Choir School will sing at 3 p.m. Sunday, December 14.

Performing on Saturday, December 20, from 7-7:30 p.m. will be the Sweet Adeline Singers. Voluntary contributions of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be accepted.

The display of approximately 40 trees will be decorated by area clubs, organizations, schools and individuals and will recreate a "Victorian" Christmas set in a winter scene.

The focal point of the Forest is a 20-foot, two-story Victorian housefront with an extended front porch styled in gingerbread fashion, with authentic woodwork and stained glass windows.

Other Victorian effects will include a gazebo entrance balloon suspended from the ceiling with a basket attached to it decorated with garlands and birds.

The Children's Area will include Santa's workshop with an animated Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, sugar-plums, a gingerbread house, old-time toys and house miniatures.

In addition to the Christmas Tree Forest, the Art Museum also has on display two prominent exhibits: "Johnson-Burgee Architecture: Photographs by Richard Payne" and "Sculpture in Clay from Puerto Rico" sponsored by Bacardi Imports of Miami, Florida, and Bacardi Corporation of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Accent On Health

When you consider the possibilities for injury, it's surprising how many people come through the hunting season each year in good shape.

The opening day of deer hunting season, last Saturday, hundreds of thousands of hunters became Paul Bunyans and Buffalo Bills in their annual quest for whitetailed deer.

For many, these excursions have been well planned far in advance of the opening date. These are the hunters who may have begun an exercise routine back during the summer, who have fired their rifles, who have all their gear in shape and who have spent a weekend or two in deer camp.

But then, there are others, says the Texas Department of Health. These are the people who start late and are only half prepared when they take to the field.

Of those in the two categories, the latter group can be expected to have the most trouble and get into the most trouble.

Here are some tips to help prepare for the hunt, although it may be too late to tone up your muscles with a crash exercise plan. For those who are out of shape, it will be wise to take it easy. Don't let the exhilaration of the season cause you to exceed your physical potential. You could wind up with strained muscles, a slipped disc or even a heart attack.

Make a list of everything you will need and then systematically go about getting it. This will include plenty of warm clothing.

Check out your deer cabin, if you have one, to make sure it is free of stinging insects which cause more deaths each year than rattlesnake bites, says the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Texas Department of Health. Take a can of wasp and hornet spray with you when you go to your deer stand for the first time to clear out any insects. Keep the insecticide in your camp for future use.

If you have a fireplace, potbellied stove or gas burning fire, make sure that all flues fit tightly, are clear of obstructions and that chimneys aren't covered over with leaves or other debris. Carbon monoxide is a stealthy, silent killer. In the same light, don't go to sleep at night with any fires burning and always allow some ventilation.

For people with travel trailers or campers, these precautions apply just as strongly. These mobile units may close up even more tightly than a cabin and prevent the entrance of fresh air. All burning substances give off carbon monoxide — even the stove on which you cook, unless it's electric. Always allow for fresh air and avoid sleeping with any fire going, even in the most frigid weather.

Jerry Lauderdale, administrator of the Occupational Health Branch of the Texas Department of Health's Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, advises Texans of the carbon monoxide warning signs. "If the heat is on, says Lauderdale, "be alert to such poisoning signs as yawning, headache, nausea, dizziness, ringing in the ears and even abdominal cramps. If you suspect carbon monoxide, move outside and get fresh air immediately."

Firearms are always a threat. Each firearm, although empty, should be treated as if it is loaded at all times. Safety rules apply to all weapons. Shotgunners also have a busy season in search of dove, quail, waterfowl, squirrel and turkey.

Every time you pick up a firearm, check to see if it is loaded. No loaded weapon should be taken into a motor vehicle or a camp house. The safe hunter will load the weapon only after reaching a deer stand, and unload it before moving from the stand. Climbing ladders, trees or over fences with a loaded firearm is asking for trouble.

Before firing, make sure of your target and know what is behind it. High-powered rifles carry a great distance. If you shoot over the crest of a hill, for instance, you may hit someone or something beyond it.

Darrell Holt, with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Hunter Safety Program, says 1979 was the safest hunting year in a quarter-century. Fifty-nine accidents, however, produced nine deaths. He credits hunter safety efforts and blaze orange clothing for a great part of this record.

There's another side of hunting that some people don't consider. That is getting to and from your hunting site. It's a good idea to leave early so you don't have to push your luck on the busy highways. And when you're planning that long trip home, without the excitement and anticipation of the hunt, remember that you're apt to be tired from a long weekend. Try to arrive home before dark. If you've strained your eyes and treated them to too much sunlight, they could play tricks on you.

Fall is one of the greatest times of the year. Think safety, says the Texas Department of Health, and enjoy it to the fullest.

ART SHOW WINNERS

Lee Larimore, left, and Ann Larimore show the certificates they received in the mail Monday for participating in an art contest in which they had to draw a clown. The contest was for the America Needs Aluminum Art Show and the contest was held during the Sea Fair weekend in October. Lee was the recipient of a frisbee, a pencil and certificate, and Ann, one of 15 winners, received a shirt, a pencil and certificate. They are the daughters of Roger and Jerry Larimore of Rockport. State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

In the last 10 years, rheumatology has become a new medical specialty and there is now a specialist in the medical profession known as a rheumatologist.

There is one such specialist in the Coastal Bend, Dr. James Leibfarth, who is working with the South Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation in reaching the public with some of the knowledge that has been gained in intensive research during this decade.

There are now answers to some questions, but to many the answers are still to come. To the more than 20,000 people in the Coastal Bend who suffer from about 150 different forms of arthritis, every answer is crucial.

The doctor says the cause is not yet known. Arthritis may be the abnormal response of the body to a viral infection, but this is still only a possibility.

There is no cure, but almost everyone afflicted can receive relief and frequently damage to joints can be prevented.

The only thing totally predictable about arthritis is its unpredictability. Dr. Leibfarth says if persons stricken by rheumatoid arthritis can avoid damage to the joints, in 50 percent of the cases the disease will disappear within four years.

It can from one day to the next transform itself from a mere inconvenience to a crippling disease or visa versa.

Carter Luckie, president of the South Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, says this is why the illness is such a fertile field for the less than credible resource, the quack. He says today's medicine man is more sophisticated than the one who once sold snake oil but nothing else has changed.

Because spontaneous remission is possible, the person who is following the instructions of the quack at the time the pain disappears is convinced that it did so because he is sitting in a copper mine or rubbing on a compound.

Luckie says that one thing common to arthritis victims is depression and that this is an area of mental health which still needs concentrated study.

Dr. Leibfarth says pharmaceutical companies have developed a large number of drugs in the last few years which are helpful in certain cases. But some of these have significant side effects. Rest, along with the right range-of-motion exercise; applications of heat, and physical therapy are all important. As a last resort, orthopedic surgery can protect or repair.

Rheumatoid arthritis most frequently strikes young adults. No connection has been found with diet, other than reduction of weight where there is too much on an inflamed joint.

There is nothing to show that stress or trauma cause the disease. The doctor says that there may be a relationship in that under stress a person is more susceptible to viral infection. There is no question that stress make it worse when a person is ill with arthritis.

Forms of arthritis strike children. One of the most damaging aspects is inflammation of the eye, one of the most common causes of blindness in young people.

Osteoarthritis is usually a mild form of arthritis, although pain can be great. It is primarily a matter of the mechanical parts of the joint wearing out as a person gets older.

Osteoarthritis is likely to develop in a joint which has taken punishment or abuse, the knee or hip joints of someone overweight, or joints injured or subjected to unusual stresses.

Damage done cannot be undone, but with proper treatment, there is less chance that the damage will be disabling.

Dr. Leibfarth has little hope that a magic drug and "the cure" are around the corner. There is hope that knowledge will be increased by 42 research projects the Foundation now has underway.

Since everyone, if he lives long enough, will probably feel at least a twinge of arthritis, there's reason to appreciate each new fact.

If you've been eating yogurt because you think it's a cheap, nutritious, low-calorie lunch, look again. It contains up to 263 calories a cup and is no more nutritious than an eight-ounce glass of milk.

As for cost, would you be willing to pay up to 72 cents for a glass of protein-fortified skim milk?

No waiting for firemen

The latest available statistics, covering 1977, show that 94.2 percent of workplace fires were put out by employees without help from or notification of public fire departments.

Herbicides Aid Fall Brush Control

COLLEGE STATION — Treating the base of brush plants with liquid herbicides and using pelleted herbicides can be effective during fall and winter months, making brush control a year-round practice.

Kerosene, diesel or a diesel and 2,4,5-T mixture may be poured or sprayed around the base of many brush species on rangeland, says Dr. Tommy Welch, range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

He adds the solution should be applied to the trunk from a height of 12 inches to the soil surface. Apply enough of the herbicide mixture so it runs down the trunk and soaks down around the root crown. This method works best when soil is dry and pulled away from the trunk. Although basal treatment is a time-consuming method of brush control, it gives excellent results, assures Welch. The method is good for use on thin stands of brush, on small acreages adjacent to cropland, on fencerows and on areas where other methods are not feasible.

In recent years, two pelleted herbicides have been registered for use on rangeland and may be used during the fall months. They are the 10 percent picloram pellet (Tordon 10K) and the 10 percent and 20 percent tebuthiuron pellet (Graslan 10P and 20P).

These herbicides are applied to the soil surface. Moisture is needed to move the herbicide into the soil, and plants pick it up through their root system.

Apply Tordon 10K and Graslan just prior to expected rainfall, advises the specialist. Most of the state normally receives sufficient rainfall during the fall months to move these herbicides into the soil.

Tordon 10K pellets are useful for controlling prickly pear, huisache, redberry juniper, macartney rose, hawthorne, sumac, willow baccharis and whitebrush.

The material may be applied to individual plants or broadcast by ground or aerial equipment.

Graslan pellets are currently registered for use on post oak, blackjack oak, winged elm, whitebrush, running liveoak, and sand shinnery oak and have effectively controlled these species.

However, the herbicide is available only for aerial broadcast application through Elanco Products Co. approved aerial applicators.

Pelleted herbicides are safe because of minimum drift, explains Welch. They are ready to apply and require no mixing.

Now would be a good time to apply Tordon 10K and Graslan for control of certain brush species, he says.

Nutrition study lagged

Although the relationship of diet and health has been known ever since Hippocrates, the father of medicine — who died about 370 B.C. — the scientific study of nutrition didn't begin till the 19th century. And the majority of medical schools still don't teach nutrition.

Eyes And Answers

MUST MIX PAINTS
Dear Dr. Pettay: As an interior decorator and painter, I must mix pigments [paints] to create many different subtle shades and tints. With my regular clear glasses, I see those shades and tints a little differently than with my outside colored lenses. Is there one pair of lenses I could use for both outside and inside, and still see the same?

I don't think I could say an outright "yes" to your question. Even though there is a change-color lens many people are now wearing satisfactorily both indoors and outside, the seeing of exact and subtle tints and colors in paints with them is still not easy. These lenses do not entirely clear while indoors, but they do darken a great deal outdoors.

Perhaps this will help: Always mix paints under either incandescent lamps or daylight; use only your clear lenses while mixing; ask your optometrist to find out if your color vision has changed slightly — sometimes it does. Professions such as yours can be very demanding visually.

JUSTIFIED ANXIETY
Dear Dr. Pettay: My two-year-old daughter seems to be turning her head to look at her toys and even up at me when I'm close to her. Do you think an eye examination is in order?

Although some infants go through such a phase of erratic eye-turning and soon recover, I would not like seeing your little one go without proper professional eye examination to determine the true condition. Despite the fact that one so young is somewhat more difficult to examine, a skilled and experienced doctor can find out if it is a specific vision problem needing immediate care or if it is only a stage in the infant's visual development.

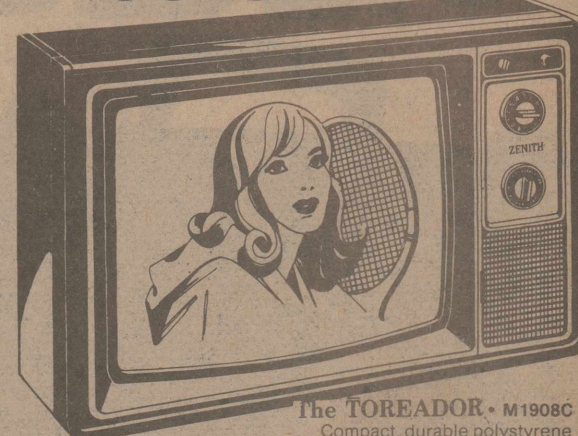

Focusing problems, restricted eye movement of one eye alone or both together, an estimate of hand-eye coordination, and in many cases, the clearness of vision in infants, can be determined.
