MEANY SCOFFS AT VOLUNTARY PRICE CONTROLS

Nixon Creates Anti-Inflation Boards

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon formally created today the Pay Board and Price Commission which will carry out his new economic stabilization program once the current wage-price freeze expires.

The White House made public an executive order in which Nixon spelled out the responsibilities of the powerful new bodies.

In addition it released orders by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, acting as chairman of the Cost of Living Council, delegating specific authority from the council to the commission and the board.

Connally wrote: " ... the Pay Board, acting through its chairman, shall establish criteria, standards, and implementation procedures designed to stabilize wages and salaries within the general economic stabilization goals and coverage determination developed by the council."

Donald Rumsfeld, presidential counselor and director of the Cost of Living Council, told reporters he expected Nixon to appoint members of the Pay Board and Price Commission "in the next several days."

While the Phase 2 machinery moved closer to reality, AFL-CIO president George Meany was already predicting problems in holding prices down. Scoffing at voluntary price controls, he called for an army of housewives to catch cheaters.

Meany, in an appeal to the wives of the AFL-CIO's 13.6 million members, said labor is setting up a price-monitoring system because the Nixon administration has not developed adequate compliance machinery.

"The President is going to depend on the voluntary cooperation of the business community, he says. We feel that is not good enough," said Meany. "We know that unless they are some will either raise prices or some will either riase prices or reduce quality or quantity or all three."

In another economic development Thursday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., urged the Senate Finance Committee to add to Nixon's tax-cut bill a tax-credit plan designed to produce 500,000 additional jobs.

Javits amendment would give an employer whose employes worked more man-hours in the current year than the previous one a tax credit of $4 per man-day. The credit would be subtracted from taxes due, for a total cost, Javits estimated, of $1.8 billion the first year.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., asked the panel to add to the $15.5-billion House-passed tax cut a $3.5-billion program chiefly designed to aid families at or below the poverty level.

Such families would be given federal payments to reimburse them for sales taxes paid on food and for state and local property taxes.

Vote To Raise Minimum Wage To $2-An-Hour

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee has voted to raise the minimum wage of some 35 million workers to $2-an-hour as of Jan. 1, two years earlier than asked by President Nixon.

Voting largely along party lines, the committee also voted Thursday to raise the minimum wage for an additional 10 million workers brought under the federal minimum wage law in 1966 to $1.80 on Jan. 1 and to $2 the following year.

The minimum wage for both groups now is $1.60 an hour.

The committee also tacked on an amendment that would ban the hiring of aliens who have illegally entered the United States, such as those found Oct. 5 in the Los Angeles food processing plant of Romana Banuelos, who has been nominated by Nixon to become treasurer of the United States.

To Lift Tax On Textiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that the United States is lifting the 10 per cent surcharge on noncotton textile imports. It said agreement has been reached with Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong to restrain the flow of textiles sent here.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced that U.S. Ambassador David M. Kennedy signed a memorandum of understanding with Japan today and will sign a similar agreement with South Korea in Seoul tomorrow.

The agreement with Taiwan has already been concluded and the Hong Kong delegation is signing its agreement here later today.

Presidential economic adviser Peter Peterson said that the surcharge is being lifted with regard to noncotton textiles imported from all countries. The four Asian producers are the major providers of textiles in the United States.

All of the agreements go into effect retroactively as of Oct. 1. The agreement with Japan will run for three years with consultations for renewing for an additional two years and the other countries will be under restraints for five years.

It marks the end of a three-year effort by the Nixon administration to curb the flow of synthetic and woolen textiles to the United States.

Intensive efforts have been underway to reach the restraint agreement by today—the deadline set by President Nixon for imposition of quotas on imports if no agreement had been reached.

Textiles are one of the areas in which the United States has run its heaviest trade deficits.

Explosion Shatters Iranian Consulate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An explosion shattered the interior of the Iranian Consulate late Thursday night, sending gas-fed fires through the building, and police said today they believed it was caused by a powerful bomb.

Fire officials said there were no injuries.

They said four young, unidentified persons fled the consulate in night clothes after the blast, which Fire Chief Keith Calden called the "biggest explosion I can remember."

Every window in the three-story, wood frame building was shattered, furniture and other contents were hurled about and walls and floors were tilted out of position, Calden said.

He said fires were touched off when the blast ruptured gas meters and the flames shot up dumbwaiters.

The force of the blast knocked out windows in homes two blocks away.

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1 IN 1938 SAYS:

'I Think He Preferred Death To Going Back To Prison'

DALLAS (AP) — Floyd Hamilton, Public Enemy No. 1 in 1938, told today how he got parole for gangster Ted Walters and brought him back to Texas where he met his death Thursday in a burst of gunfire.

"If I could have looked into the future and seen what would happen, I wouldn't have helped him get out of prison" Hamilton said.

Walters, 58, like Hamilton a survivor of the Bonnie-and-Clyde gangster era, was shot dead by Texas Ranger Tom Arnold Thursday as he held three hostages on Texas 114, northwest of Dallas.

PERSONAL LETTER

Hamilton, now 63, works for a Dallas car dealer and lives in Irving. He said he sent a personal letter to the parole board at Leavenworth Penitentiary last fall seeking Walters' release.

"My wife and I drove up to the prison to pick him up," Hamilton said. "We brought him back to Dallas."

But Walters did not take the job Hamilton had found for him.

"He worked here and there," Hamilton said. "I don't know what he did during the last month or two."

Hamilton said Walters served 32 years in jail and felt he was singled out for undue punishment for the kind of crimes he committed.

RATHER SAD

"I think he preferred death to going back to prison," Hamilton said, adding: "It's all rather sad."

Hamilton and his brother, Raymond, were close friends of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, the duo who made crime history in the 1930s. They all were products of Dallas' West Side. The Hamiltons and the Barrow-Parker duo combined for some bank and payroll robberies.

Floyd Hamilton helped Bonnie and Clyde spring Raymond Hamilton from Eastham Prison Farm in Texas. A guard was killed in the escape.

But Floyd said that Walters, although a part of the Hamilton gang, did not know Bonnie and Clyde and "Clyde wouldn't have anything to do with him."

Raymond Hamilton was executed in the Texas prison in 1935, almost exactly a year after Bonnie and Clyde met their end in a hail of gunfire from lawmen in Louisiana.

Abortions In New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A total of 181,821 women—most of them white, under the age of 25 and residents of another state—obtained abortions in New York during the first year of the state's liberalized abortion law.

Three out of four of these abortions were performed during the woman's first three months of pregnancy.

And it appeared that more unmarried than married women had abortions, although complete data could not be provided, the state Health Department reported Thursday in its "tentative conclusions" about induced abortions between July 1, 1970, and June 30, 1971.

DEEPER INSIGHT INTO ECONOMICS

Prof Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Dr. Simon Kuznets of Harvard University today won the 1971 Nobel Prize in Economics.

The Swedish royal Academy of Sciences cited the 70-year-old native of Kharkov, Russia, "for his empirically founded interpretation of economic growth which has led to new and deepened insight into the economic and social structure and process of development."

Kuznets is the American winner of a 1971 Nobel award, worth $88,000. Dr. Earl Sutherland of Vanderbilt University was named winner of the prize for medicine on Thursday.

The Swedish Academy said Kuznets' work "has brought new and deeper insight into the structure and development of the economic and social system since the middle of the last century and has given fruitful incitements to continued research."

"More than any other scientist, he has illuminated with facts—and explained through analysis—the economic growth over the past 100 years," the citation said.

"Kuznets' scientific work has consistently aimed at giving quantitative precision to economic entities which seem to be relevant for the understanding of processes of economic and social development ... He has worked out methods for the calculation of the size and changes of the national income. He has gathered an enormous statistical material and has handled and analysed it with care, intelligence, acumen and wisdom.

"Kuznets has achieved a valuable—often critical—illumination of abstract generalizing theories in economics and given stimulus to the construction of new, more realistic and more useful models. He includes non-economic elements in these, such as changes in population, technique, industrial structure and marketing forms, to explain the mechanisms of economic growth and changes.

"A coherent interpretation of the phenomena of growth and business cycles is one of his main goals."

THE GREAT CRIPPLERS—IV

MS Strikes Adults In Prime Of Life

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With sociological and geographical selection, multiple sclerosis strikes young adults in the prime of life and often condemns them to a life of tremor, paralysis and physical weakness.

Of the great cripplers-arthritis, cerebral palsy, cerebral stroke, muscular dystrophy-multiple sclerosis appears the most precise in choosing its victims.

MS strikes most often among higher social and economic groups. Persons in temperate latitudes, except in certain Asian nations, are mose vulnerable to the disease than those in warmer climates.

250,000 PERSONS

The most common disease of the nervous system affecting men and women in the prime of life in North American and Northern Europe, multiple sclerosis most often picks its victims from persons between ages 20 and 40.

And for the 250,000 victims in the United States and two million worldwide, there is no known cure, preventive or fully effective treatment for the often crippling disease.

Lately, though, a growing cautious optimism has developed among scientists that something can be done about preventing or controlling MS. The volunteer National Multiple Sclerosis Society says it costs the nation $2 billion annually in medical expenses and wasted human resources.

MORE KNOWLEDGE

"There is considerable hope about multiple sclerosos today," says the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke (NINDS). "More and more knowledge is being gathered as investigators dig deeper into its origins and behavior."

"The multiple sclerosis patient today lives longer than was thought possible years ago," NINDS adds. "Many people with mild or even moderately severe cases can live normal lives and work regularly for years."

Some scientists believe that up to 50 per cent of MS cases are not inexorably progressive, totally crippling nor fatal as once thought.

FATTY SHEATH

The disease is characterized by spotty degeneration of the fatty sheath of a substance called myelin that normally acts as a protective covering for nerve fibers, much as insulation protects telephone wires.

This multiple scarring, or sclerosing, of the nerve pathways can lead to distortion, sometimes even blockage, of nerve messages from the brain and spinal cord that control such functions as seeing, speaking, walking and balance.

The symptoms of MS can include shaking or tremor, extreme weakness, progressive paralysis. Early warning signs are slurred speech, tingling sensations and numbness. But the disease in its early stages often is difficult to diagnose.

As the disease progresses, symptoms can wax and wane. Periods of worsening often are followed by symptom-free periods and sometimes a slight, overall improvement.

GUARDED OPTIMISM

The new guarded optimism for eventually preventing and controlling MS is based on several promising leads and educated hunches that include:

—Relatively recent recognition that periods of remission from the disease's symptoms may last months or even years, possibly opening the way toward uncovering a means of protective treatment during such periods.

—The geographic distribution of the disease, suggesting that an environmental factor may play a role in the disease.

—Growing suggestive evidence that multiple sclerosis may be a so-called auto-immune disease in which the victim becomes alergic to his own tissue, such as nervous system tissue.

—The possibility that such an allergy might be triggered by a still unidentified virus. Prime suspects are latent viruses that might lurk in the body for 20 years, then trigger degenerative disease. Precedents for such a pattern exist among certain animal diseases and at least one human neurological disease.

Lions Organize 'Clean Sweep'

Downtown Lions are organizing for their "clean sweep" or "mop up" of Big Spring Monday and Tuesday.

Joe Horton, chairman of the annual autumn sale of brooms, mops, brushes, ironing board covers, towels, dish cloths, etc., said captains have selected teams for the two-day canvass of the town.

These items are made by skilled blind workers under supervision of the Texas Lighthouse for the Blind, and net proceeds go to the club's sight conservation and blind work.

The merchandise is brought in a Caravan truck from the Lighthouse, and items may be had from the truck at Highland Center parking lot in addition to the salesmen.

"Those who purchase the brooms, mops and other items will be helping in two ways," said Roy Hughes, club president. "Blind workers are paid salaries by the Lighthouses where the goods are manufactured, and then we plow net proceeds back into buying glasses for children and adults who can't afford them, and into helping the blind."

Gains On Exports

LONDON (AP) — Exports of British-made farm machinery for the first six months of 1971 totaled a record $312 million at official parity, the Agricultural Engineers Association reported. That was $19.2 million more than for the same period of 1970.

Rewards Offered Teachers If Their Pupils Do Better

SAN ANTONIO (AP) Teachers at an elementary school here will be offered rewards of up to $1,200 if their pupils show "greater than anticipated" progress in math and reading this year.

Parents of those pupils also will receive incentive payments — up to $100—under a pilot project approved Thursday by trustees of the San Antonio School District.

San Antonio was one of three school districts in the nation selected for the project by the U.S. Office of Education, school officials said.

The others are Oakland, Calif., and Jacksonville, Fla., a spokesman said. San Antonio will receive a maximum of $107-880.

The spokesman said the project is designed to determine the "change process" that occurs in terms of pupil, teacher, administrator, and parental behavior while working under defined incentives.

The rewards will be presented after the pupils are tested at the end of school next spring, the spokesman said.

He said parents are being offered the stipends to "encourage them to give proper supervision of studies within the home."

The spokesman said the program will work this way;

About 600 pupils at Washington Elementary School will be tested by an independent agency before and after the program.

Pupils at another grade school comparable to Washington in terms of socio-economic and ethnic backgrounds, also will be tested and will serve as the control group.

The progress of the pupils at the two schools will be compared at the end of the year to determine the effect of the incentive program.

Teachers and parents will receive stipends in varying amounts up to $1,200 and $100, respectively, depending on the rate of "accelerated achievement."

Results of the project will be evaluated for possible extension to other schools in the nation, the spokesman said.

Texans Enjoy Fall Weather

By The Associated Press

All of Texas enjoyed pleasant fall weather today.

There were a few showers during the night and early morning scattered through a North Central and Northeast Texas area including Denison, McKinney, Palestine, Corsicana, Tyler, Kilgore and Texarkana, and along the coast from Galveston into Louisiana.

Most of the shower activity dried up before dawn, however, leaving skies partly cloudy to cloudy over the east and central part of the state and clear over the western third.

Occasional ground fog cut visibility below two miles in parts of South Central and East Texas early in the day.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 44 degrees at Dalhart and 53 at Amarillo up to 77 at Galveston, with most readings in the 60s to lower 70s.

Thursday's top marks ran from 72 at Alpine up to 86 at Alice, Lufkin and Wink.

Forecasts called for little change before Sunday, when another batch of cooler air is expected to move into western and northern sections of the state.

Select Seven In Creel Trial

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) — Three women and four men have been selected as jurors in the murder trial of an Air Force sergeant charged in the death of a 10-year-old Abilene girl.

Attorneys today began their fifth day of trying to form a jury for the trial of Sgt. James D. Creel, 32, accused in the strangulation death of Tena Worthington, 10.

The trial was moved from Abilene to Big Spring on a change of venue.

Three men were selected Thursday as jury selection speeded up. Previously, in three days of attempts, attorneys had agreed on only four jorors, three women and a man.

Creel is a 16-year Air Force veteran who was stationed at Dyess Air Force Base when the tiny girl was killed.

EIGHT-COURSE, SIX-WINE BANQUET

Shah Of Iran Entertains

PERSEPOLIS, Iran (AP) — The Shah of Iran entertained his glittering assemblage of guests at an eight-course, six-wine banquet Thursday night.

Royalty and commoners, leaders of Communist and capitalist countries and representatives of traditional foes set aside their differences for the occasion and for the roast peacock, quail and lamb served up in the imperial mess tent amid the ruins of Persia's ancient capital.

FREE FROM FEAR

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, flanked by the vice president of Poland and the crown prince of Sweden, downed 1911 Moet champagne at a head table that included eight kings, 13 presidents and assorted prime ministers, governors-general and sultans.

Welcoming his guests to the banquet celebrating the 2,500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian empire, the shah urged them to harmonize their efforts for a world "free from fear, anxiety and the constant threat of annihilation."

As the 12-piece string orchestra played Mozart and the television lights shown on Empress Farah's fabulous jewels, Italian waiters moved silently through the aisles with the gustatorial masterpieces created by Maxim's of Paris and prepared by 80 Swiss chefs.

REAL TREAT

The real treat of the evening was the array of gowns paraded by such international beauties as the empress, Princess Grace of Monaco, Mrs. Ferdinand Marcos, first lady of the Philippines, and Mrs. Jacques Chaban-Delmas, wife of the French premier.

Princess Anne of Britain was smashing in a silver flecked, high-necked olive dress and upswept hair-do. Britain was represented by her father, Prince Philip.

President Nikolai V. Podgorny of the Soviet Union found himself next to the wife of the president of Romania, two Communist countries on edgy terms of late.

Mrs. Agnew had the grand duke of Luxembourg on her left and President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan of Pakistan on her right. The shah had a queen at each elbow—Ingrid of Denmark and Fabiola of Belgium. Empress Farah sat between Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, whose dynasty claims to be older than Persia's, and King Frederik of Denmark.

NOT INVITED

When the banquet ended, the more than 500 guests from 68 nations went out for a starlit son et lumiere spectacle amid the broken columns and 110-step stone staircase of ancient Persepolis, dramatizing in sound and colored lights the history of Persia since the days of Cyrus the Great.

Israel was not invited to the celebration, and the Jerusalem Post accused the Iranian government of yielding to Arab pressure. "One is unable to reconcile the decision with the spirit of King Cyrus," said the paper, referring to his repatriation of the Jews from Babylon in the 6th century B.C.

Will Name Successor To Dr. Baum

AUSTIN (AP) — State Democratic Party leaders meet in Dallas Wednesday, Oct. 20, to put the final stamp of approval on a new state Democratic chairman.

The Dallas meeting follows a meeting Monday in Austin of the State Democratic Executive Committe's (SDEC) subcommittee on nominations to pick a successor to Dr. Elmer Baum.

Baum, a long time political friend and aide to Gov. Preston Smith, resigned earlier this week saying he wanted to return to his private business as an osteopath.

Mrs. Ralph S. O'Connor, Houston, state vice chairman, called the Dallas meeting of the 62-member State Executive Committee. She said Smith would be a speaker to the group and invited all statewide elected officials to attend.

Those prominently mentioned for the job of new state chairman include Travis Johnson, El Paso attorney; Roy Orr, Mayor of DeSoto, and Bill Williams, Houston, Harris County Democratic chairman.

Volunteers Council Meets

The Volunteer Advisory Council of the Big Spring State Hospital met Thursday for lunch at the hospital.

Tad Corbett, staff psychologist and director of the outreach program at the hospital, announced the latest of a series of ambitious projects being sponsored by the volunteers.

"The volunteers plan to equip the day rooms with bright, modern furnishings," he said. "Right now, many of the rooms are in poor shape. The first room has already been outfitted by the Lamesa circuit riders at a cost of $643.

"We have 11 or 12 day rooms, so the total cost of this will be more than $6,000. When I came here, I would not have believed it possible for them to do it. But since I have been here, they have shown me what they can do with such projects as the Christmas project, the therapy room project, and most of all, the All Faith's Chapel."

Persons attending the meeting were entertained by the hospital's rhythm band.

Talking By Light New Phone System

The next big thing will be to talk by light.

Researchers for the Bell System are pursuing the vast domain of laser beams as a means of shaking off limitations, Tom Wickersham told the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting.

A few years ago microwave offered great promise for expanding capabilities for telephone communications, said Wickersham, a Southwestern Bell representative. Now even the radio channels are threatened with exhaustion.

But laser (light amplification by stimulated emissions radiation) offer the possibility of an almost unlimited number of telephone conversations on a single tiny beam of light.

Like microwave, these will have to avoid line-of-sight obstacles or the curvature of the earth, but unlike microwave, they cannot depend on atmospheric projections. Communication laser beams likely will be funneled through underground cables.

Another type of laser (the pulsating kind which stores up energy for sudden release) may some day be perfected as an atomizing torch. Even now it is used as a surgical knife, cutting and cauterizing, and as a drill for burning holes in diamonds.

Wickerham demonstrated new concepts of dialing which permit easy conference calls, standing by to ring the instant a busy signal is over, bird-dogging a caller wherever he may be so long as he leaves a new calling number.

Osorio Says Indictment 'Was Frankly Amazing'

DALLAS (AP) — John Osorio, former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., declared Thursday that his indictment on embezzling charges "was frankly amazing."

He told newsmen he is innocent and said his activities with the company's retirement fund were legal.

NOTHING WRONG

A federal grand jury indicted him last Friday, accusing Osorio of embezzling NBL Retirement Fund money to buy NBL stock.

There was nothing wrong about the retirement plan, of which he was a trustee, borrowing $641,250 from Dallas Bank & Trust Co. to buy 22,500 shares of stock when the pension plan's assets were $294,000, he said.

"One of the purposes of the retirement plan was to buy the NBL stock," Osorio said.

Securities and Exchange Commission investigators have brought out that the stock originally was purchased by Houston promoter Frank W. Sharp, owner of National Bankers Life, in the names of five astronauts who refused to accept it.

RETIREMENT PLAN

The retirement plan then bought the stock and subsequently sold it to the Jesuit Fathers of Houston at a loss to the pension plan.

Osorio said Joseph Novotny, described by the SEC as Sharp's chief lieutenant, initiated the stock purchase, and the shares were sold to the Jesuits after Osorio and NBL parted company.

Government lawyers have credited Novotny also with initiating the astronauts' stock purchase.

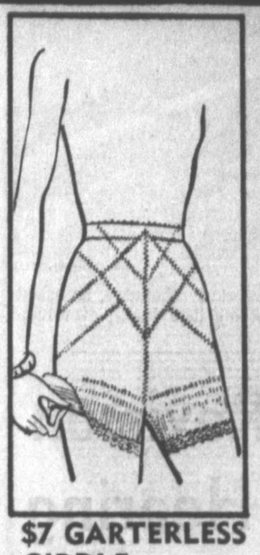

"The transaction that ultimately resulted in the handing down of my indictment was one which was initiated by Joseph Novotny after I had left the employ of National Bankers and no longer had any interest in that company or the pension fund of which I had served as trustee," Osorio said.

ROMANCE BY SIGN — When Bill Burton met Vicki Harris he missed getting her name but learned that she worked on the fourth floor of the office building opposite the Portland, Ore., construction site where he worked. Thursday, he asked for a date and she, saying, "Nothing that daring ever happened to me before," accepted.

Statewide Oil Allowable Cut

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission chipped another seven-tenths of one per cent from the statewide oil allowable today, setting the production factor for November at 62.5 per cent of potential.

It was the seventh consecutive monthly reduction in the allowable. The allowable has been cut 19.6 percentage points since April.

The November allowable will permit maximum production of 3,275,749 barrels a day, compared with 3,305,129 barrels daily this month under a 63.2 per cent factor.

Three of 14 major buyers of Texas crude oil asked for less oil in November than October, 11 wanted the same amount and none requested more oil next month.

Written nominations of all purchasers totaled 3,069,319 barrels daily in November, a decrease of 62,675 barrels daily from this month.

Continental Oil Co., however, reduced its nomination by 10,000 barrels a day at the commission hearing. The U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast of November demand for Texas crude totaled 3,420,000 barrels a day, an increase of 90,000 from October.

LAST OF GIN-MILL EMPIRE TRADES HANDS
G. C. Broughton buys property from Earl Guitar

Big Springer Buys Guitar Gins, Mills

The Guitar Mill and Cotton Company, which has been in the cotton gin and oil mill business in West Texas for approximately 70 years, divested itself of its last holdings Thursday.

Purchaser of the remaining properties of the company was G. C. Broughton Jr., Big Spring, owner-operator of Broughton Truck and Implement Company. A year ago he had brought the Guitar gin property which had been on the same site on Northeast Second since 1906.

In the deal closed here Thursday afternoon, Broughton acquired the Guitar Gins at Stanton, Coahoma, Colorado City and Loraine, in addition to the cotton oil mill at Colorado City. He is preparing for operation of all the facilities this autumn, except probably the oil mill.

Here to complete the transaction was Earl Guitar, Abilene, head of the Guitar Mill and Cotton Company and a son of the founder of a vast empire of gins and mills starting around the turn of the century.

Broughton was reared on a farm north of Big Spring and after his schooling began farming, gradually expanding his interests. He acquired the Fairview Gin from J. R. Dillard, et al, and later sold it, and in 1967 bought a truck and implement business from Mrs. Charlene Driver. This was later expanded to include passenger automobile lines, of which he subsequently disposed.

Broughton is a director of the Security State Bank, a director of the Boys Club and of the Chamber of Commerce, and active in other civic affairs. He is married to the former Sue Wise, and they make their home at 1705 Harvard.

Lamesans Discuss Revision Of City Charter In Hearing

LAMESA — Eight charter amendments being proposed by the city charter commission here were discussed and explained to 35 interested citizens attending the first public hearing on the proposals Thursday night.

The hearing began at 7:30 p.m. in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Building. One new proposal was added to the eight formulated by the commission.

"The other item we added was a change for the length of time a franchise can be granted in the city," said Wendell Strahan, commission chairman. Presently the charter sets out that a franchise can be held 5 years with vote of the council and 30 years with vote of the people.

"This was the first preliminary hearing on the charter amendment proposals. We are now opening our meetings to the public to get its viewpoint of the changes," the chairman said.

One of the first eight items proposed by the commission was unanimously opposed by those attending the meeting Thursday. According to sources here the item of change and additions to the annexation powers of the city will be the most controversial proposal up for adoption of the city commission into the city charter.

"This item was clearly opposed by those present, but personally, I do not believe that their opinion is a parallel to the whole city's point of view," said Strahan, as he explained the 35 attending the meeting would be most affected by abuse of additional annexation powers to the city commission.

No plans for future public hearing was made in the meeting, but the chairman explained the final vote on the charter amendment proposals will not come probably for some time. "The charter revision program is still under study by the city commission," he said.

INSURANCE TUSSLE

Austin Judge Invokes Law He Helped Write

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Charles Mathews has issued an order prohibiting expenditure of $50,000 allegedly transferred from a Sherman-based insurance firm in violation of the 1971 Texas Holding Company Act.

Mathews issued a temporary injunction pending investigation of Family Savings Life Insurance Co.'s problems by State Insurance Commissioner Clay Cotten.

Cotten asked Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to file the injunction suit, which alleges that $50,000 was drained from Family Savings Life's assets and given to Unified Control Systems, Inc.

Unified Control Systems and Family Savings Life are both controlled by UCS Holding Corp. Cotten contended.

Attorney Problem In Assault Case

LAMESA — District Judge George Hansard is faced with the problem of appointing attorneys to represent three adults charged in connection with the beating assault of Denise McSchooler, 14, here in September.

Lawyers from the only three local firms in the city have been appointed to represent the two juveniles involved in the case.

Other attorneys from those firms have been disqualified, with the appointment of their associates, according to Judge Hansard.

"I will have to appoint attorneys from out of town, but I don't know where yet." said Judge Hansard.

The three adults, Jesus Garcia, Christoval Alcorta, and Ernesto Garcia, all of Brownfield, are still in custody in the Dawson County Jail. Bond has been denied on each of the men.

Some preliminary hearings have been held on the juveniles, but no disposition of their cases has been completed, he said.

A hearing was conducted several weeks ago to certify one of the 16-year-old juveniles as an adult to be arraigned in district court, however, County Judge Leslie Pratt, who is also juvenile court judge, overruled the motion.

District Attorney Vernon Adcock said that he was filing a motion in district court asking for the death penalty in the cases of the three adults.

The McSchooler girl was found several weeks ago on a dirt road near Lamesa by a local farmer. She was taken to Lubbock Methodist Hospital intensive care unit and treated for severe head injuries which she allegedly received in the assault.

She was released from the Lubbock hospital Sept. 12, but is reported to still be having trouble with her sight.

Concerned citizens here initiated a medical fund at the First National Bank in her behalf. According to Nelson Hogg, vice president of the bank, $1,500 was accumulated in the fund and will be used for medical expenses.

"I do not know when the men will actually come to trial. I will have to appoint the lawyers, hear the pre-trial and pick a jury before the trial can begin," said Judge Hansard. He predicted that a motion for a change of venue will be submitted in all three cases.

The United Fund goal for this year is $110,000 and the slogan is "If you don't do it, it won't get done. Give the United Way." The money finances 15 local welfare and youth guidance associations.

"We are still short of our goal," said Morris Robertson, campaign chairman. "I urge the citizens of Big Spring and Howard County to give and help support this organization."

AGAINST LAW TO DRINK IN CONTENTS OF 'PLAYBOY'

AUSTIN (AP) — State alcoholic beverage agents have warned several San Antonio establishments that displaying the October issue of Playboy Magazine violates Texas liquor laws.

Don Fischel, enforcement chief of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, said several warning tickets were issued. He was unsure exactly how many.

He said he tought the tickets went to operators of drive-in groceries that sell both beer and Playboy.

An anonymous caller complained to the ABC's San Antonio office about the magazine, Fischel said, and a copy of the magazine was mailed to Austin for a full-scale headquarters review.

Fischel and Joe Darnall, ABC attorney, looked the issue over.

"The October issue has a few pages of pictures that we consider lewd and vulgar within the meaning of the Liquor Control Act," Darnall said.

Defendants Plead Guilty

Two defendants pleaded guilty to felony charges Thursday in 118th District Court.

Joaquin Cantu, 25, Box 88 Coahoma, was sentenced to three years in prison after he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft over $50. Cantu was arrested April 11, 1971 and indicted by the Howard County Grand Jury July 9, 1971.

District Judge R. W. Caton assessed Mrs. Joy Nix, Rt. 3, Box 108, Colorado City, a two-year, probated prison sentence after she pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery by endorsement. Mrs. Nix was also ordered to make restitution on the forged check. She was arrested July 20, 1971, and indicted by the grand jury Sept. 10, 1971.

Look At Health Policies

Congressman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., has raised a sensitive issue about health insurance. The Veterans administration has estimated that insurance companies' refusal to pay for insured coverage (when done by the administration) amounts to about $80 million a year. The VA considers that a loss it ought to be allowed to recover. Teague wants to hear the details.

Insurance companies take the view that health insurance is an indemnity policy. Unless there is a loss, there is no payment. Since the VA doesn't charge its patients, the companies argue, there is no loss. The insurance people claim premiums are based on experience, which shows a predictable number of persons will use VA services.

Policy buyers ought to be made entirely aware of the terms of health-care insurance, where a policy excludes claims against it if another kind of protection is in force is supposed to be cheaper than otherwise. That may be the case in most instances.

Rate structures should be studied, to be sure, because premiums are paid in most cases in the expectation that expense claims will be paid. If a person wants to pay premiums on more than one policy he ought to collect on more than one, if underwriters take his money, all other factors being equal. It may be a foolish course for the man, but underwriters ought not be able to capitalize on his policy.

At Long Last

At long last, Dr. Elmer Baum has resigned as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

The resignation should be a relief to the state Democratic party and to Gov. Preston Smith, who appointed his intimate business, personal and political friend to the post three years ago.

This is the second belated resignation for Dr. Baum this year. He resigned from the State Banking Board in May.

Dr. Baum's troubles stem from being tainted by the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. scandals. Though Baum was never charged or indicted, his political career in effect ended with disclosure that he and Gov. Smith shared a fast $125,000 profot on NBL stock, purchased with a loan from the late Sharpstown State Bank.

It's good, even at this late date, for Baum to discover he no longer has time for the Democratic party. The party's need for his services passed some time ago.

Practical Choice

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — One of the most extraordinary news developments has been the authentic reports that President Nixon is giving thoughtful consideration to the possible selection of Sen. Robert C. Byrd, (D-W.Va.), as a nominee for associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

MANY REPUBLICANS and Democrats in Congress who know Sen. Byrd are expressing themselves in favor of the choice. But the surprising thing is that although he holds a law degree, he has had no legal experience and is not a jurist who is familar with court procedures.

Sen. Byrd, however, obtained his law degree with honors at American University in Washington in 1963. He attended night school while serving in the Senate. He took a deep interest in constitutional law. Sam Ervin Jr., (D-N.C.) who is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights and who had been a justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina before he came to the Senate, says that Sen. Byrd has a very sound "constitutional philosophy" and would make a fine appointment. He adds:

"SINCE HE CAME to the Congress, he has been a very keen student of constitutional law. And I would think that he would welcome an opportunity to serve on the court."

The West Virginia senator is known to his associates as a fair-minded individual. Strangely enough, this particular characteristic has often been subordinated to other factors in Supreme Court nominations, particularly to a background of legal experience, especially an expertness in dealing with constitutional problems.

SEN. BYRD is being described by some of his friends as a "strict constructionist" — namely, as a man who, if chosen for the high court, would adhere closely to the language of the constitution and not try to stretch it, as some justices allegedly have done in the past.

What the country needs today is even-minded men on the highest court of the land — justices who write their opinions without regard to "liberalism" or "conservatism" but with due consideration for the true meaning of the English language and what our forefathers intended when they wrote the provisions of the constitution.

MANY OF THE justices who have ruled on highly controversial questions have relied on past decisions and have been reluctant to change them. This has been one of the traditional doctrines of the courts. But there are other justices who feel that such interpretations of the constitution are not necessarily applicable to all kinds of circumstances that could arise in a country with a population as large as America has today.

Sen. Byrd is known to his friends as a fair-minded individual who is likely to read the constitution with a commonsense approach and come up with interpretations that might or might not fit those of the past but which at least will reveal the desire of a fair mind to make a ruling that is deemed constructive.

MR. BYRD has had considerable experience in public office and knows the problems of a state and its cities. He is familiar with the foreign policies that have been the subject of much debate throughout the land.

If the senator is chosen as a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, he will continue to study constitutional law as he has done in the past with the intention of learning every phase of our basic precepts. And when it comes to writing a decision or commenting on a decision of an associate in the court, he is the kind of man who will be frank about his views and who is not likely to worry about whether he is going to win political applause or disapproval.

ONLY IF EVERYBODY PUSHES!

Who Is The Seller?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — If you know of anyone who would consider buying 2.5 million acres of Florida real estate for $1.625 billion, with only $487 million down, there's a man here who would like to hear from them.

The various parcels involved total more than the size of Delaware and Rhode Island together. At 3,900 square miles, they outmeasure Los Angeles County or Yellowstone National Park.

Peter Hilton, a business consultant who operates Corporate Diversification, Ltd., is trying to find a buyer for the properties, which are to be sold in one block.

Hilton said "The property has vast and varied development possibilities, with existing mineral deposits, forests, water, homesites, recreational facilities, urban and rural tracts."

And while "almost totally unexploited to date," he added, the properties already are "generating several million dollars income annually."

"Who is the seller?" he was asked.

"I won't tell you," he said, "but it involves one family which has been accumulating the estate since 1892." The family strictly forbade identification, he said.

The parcels, he said, are held in various names by about 250 legatees, although the entire deal apparently can be transacted with the senior legatee, who is said to own 60 per cent of the acreage.

The land currently is held in a trust, Hilton said, adding that "because of diverse family interests it is preferable to liquidate in toto in a single sale to one or multiple buyers simultaneously."

Here are some of the details or clues about "The Pandora Project" that Hilton is circulating among the heads of the country's largest corporations, whom he feels are the only ones capable of buying. The words are largely his.

—It is in various parcels in 25 different counties. The smallest is 348 acres and the largest 402,000 acres, or more than 600 square miles.

—There are more than 500 miles of water frontage on lakes, rivers, canals and the continental coast. Ninety-five per cent of the land is stated to be high, dry and fenced. More than 300 miles of paved highways skirt or traverse it.

—One 348-acre tract is bound on one side by a six-mile seawall recently built, and on the other almost entirely by a medium-size city. About 50 per cent of the land is an 18-hole golf course. A copy of the proposed zoning indicates 14,000 apartment suites could be built on the site.

Hilton said the price of the land at $710 an acre was developed after a two-year study by land appraisers, timbermen, assayers and bankers.

So far, he said, little progress has been made toward finding a buyer.

WASHINGTON — Every so often, perusing the pages of The New York Times Book Review, I am bemused by the works in hard covers that prestigious organ salutes as meaningful literature. It is mostly junk, with a contempt for the simple declarative sentence, and tediously concerned with what today's critics solemnly intone to be "relevant."

AT SUCH times, I find myself wishing someone would discover a lost manuscript committed by my friend, Bob Ruark, who could tell a story. Ruark died in his beloved London six long years ago, and I always rejected the premise that at 49 his best years were ahead. Ruark lived his best year every year.

I expect Bob would have written another book or two which might even have brought a languid salute from the daisy-chain school of critics who sniped at him as a Philistine. But while he lived, Ruark wrote the kind of books he wanted to write, and the back of his hand to The Times Book Review.

HE WROTE good books, especially when his typewriter was concerned with the Africa he loved, and they never suffered from the disease of mincing delicacy or the headline-seeking practice of scrawling dirty words on a wall so prevalent among today's Significant Set.

I suppose it is true that toward the end, when he was sick, Ruark's newspaper column and his books suffered. I prefer to recall that when Bob was writing with both hands he was a superb essayist in the Swiftian tradition. He persisted in regarding politicians, generals and even newspaper editors as fallible human animals. To Bob Ruark, nobody's name down here was God.

More important than what Ruark wrote was what he did with his life. He took the wherewithal earned by his talent and lived the kind of life he wanted to live. He died young, but he had been around the track.

Ruark was recognizable by bartenders and charwomen and statesmen and comely females in Singapore and Nairobi and Prague. He shot some lions and an errant tiger or two and he caught some fish. Sometimes the things he did were foolish. Sometimes he drank to much. But he touched all the bases.

HE WAS sensitive enough to be hurt by some of the unfavorable reviews of his monumental "something of Value," a long and painstakingly researched novel about the Mau-Mau in Kenya.

The last time I saw Ruark was in a hospital room to which he had been shipped after breaking a hip in a fall from a horse. "They'll kill me one of these days," he said, "but I won't cry. I ain't never been shortchanged by life."

THUS, WHEN I learned Bob was dead in London, no pretty words intruded upon my mourning. Horatio's goodbye was good enough for Hamlet, who was merely a sweet prince. For Bob Ruark I wished only that he would find himself lifting a few with Falstaff.

Boy And His Route

Around The Rim

Brian Peay

Realizing Saturday is national Newspaper Boy Day, and having been a paper carrier at one time, I guess I am partially qualified to sympathize and comment not only on the trials and tribulations, but also the fulfillment of the job, which is many a boy's first.

NOT A LOT of water, but maybe a little of the stream, has gone under the bridge in the 10 years since I carried that daily beacon of truth and light, The Big Spring Herald, to the homes of all its faithful (and not so faithful) followers and readers.

Some elements of the job, which can only be experienced in two other fields of work — postal and door-to-door sales — at first were hard to get used to. Learning the route in approximately one week and building up the muscles to carry that bag of papers that seemed to outweigh me by 20 pounds almost were deterrents to my continuing the job.

ONCE THOSE two problems were overcome, I felt I was on my way to riches and fame, at 12 years of age. Other outcroppings of trouble began to spring up here and there on the route, however.

As usual there were two or three dogs on the route that were not the friendliest creatures I had ever met. These so called "man's best friends" always ended up chasing me a block or two each day.

AFTER THE FIRST few Sunday mornings of getting up at 4 a.m., even that experience began to wear thin. Especially in the winter I soon began to hate the thought of climbing out of that warm bed, walking out the front door and catching that cold blast of winter air right in the face, and now and then it rained, sleeted or snowed.

Also I always had the knack of getting the route that had the hardest people to collect from. There were the young-marrieds who would start the paper, then move away in two weeks before I could collect from them. And the middle-aged folks, that I could never catch at home, or when I did catch them they were either eating supper or did not have the money.

THE HARDEST, however, were the elderly couples who carefully shepherded even a few pennies. Inevitably they always made me produce the little pink receipts, and prove to the penny how much they owed.

"I didn't get my paper last Wednesday or Thursday," was a favorite saying.

THEN THERE were the kicks I received at least once a day. (A kick was a disturbed customer on the route calling the office complaining of the service i.e. "I didn't get my paper." My circulation manager always had a calm, collected way of telling me about the kicks, and it was usually literally in the seat of my pants.

I COULD GO on and on telling of other little problems, but somehow I lived through four years of being a paperboy, and along the way learned many valuable lessons, which are learned by most boys that have the chance to get a route.

The most important lesson I learned was the value of a good day's work and the ability to follow through with something I had started.

OH ..... I almost forgot. Another good thing I developed, too, was a great interest in the newspaper business. I was once carrying them, now I am writing in them.

Beware Of Greeks...

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The rule for vice presidents is to keep moving, and Spiro Agnew is no exception. He is off on another tour, with a last stop certain to have loud political repercussions.

AFTER TURKEY and Iran he will visit Greece, which has long been tops on his priority list. After two days in an official visit with the colonels who have held authoritarian power since they overthrew the elected government of Greece in 1967, the vice president makes a sentimental pilgrimage to the birthplace of his father at Gargalianoi.

If recent precedent for high-ranking American visitors to Greece holds good, Agnew will have at his elbow, Thomas A. Pappas. A Greek-American with residence in Boston, Pappas has large holdings in Greece, including oil refineries — distribution through Esso-Pappas — steel, petrochemicals and Coca Cola. Because of his in with the colonels and his closeness to the Nixon Administration, Pappas has become a controversial figure in the conflict centering on continuing military aid to the dictatorial regime in Athens.

PAPPAS IS credited with being host for the dinner for Greek Deputy Prime Minister Stylianos Pattakos and President Nixon's brother, Donald, when the latter came to Athens to arrange a catering contract between the Marriott corporation and Olympic Airlines, which is owned by Aristotle Onassis.

For 20 years a member of the executive committee of the Republican National Finance Committee, Pappas is said to have been as influential as any single individual in putting Agnew on the ticket in 1968. He raised large sums for the Republicans along with his own generous contributions. A reported contribution by Onassis of $100,000 first appeared in the Jack Anderson column. This was subsequently checked out with a telephone call to the Greek ship owner, who told the inquirer that he had given to both parties in '68.

AGAINST THIS background the President is put on an embarrassing spot by an amendment to the foreign aid bill denying help to Greece unless the President specifically holds that it is in the national interest to do so. On the recommendation of Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal's Foreign Affairs subcommittee the normally conservative House adopted this amendment by a vote of 122 to 57.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has tentatively approved an amendment with identical language. Senators on foreign relations are incensed over the Agnew visit, feling that the vice president in his exuberant fashion will bestow his blessing on the colonels.

THE VICE PRESIDENT on his current tour goes first to Turkey, then to Iran where he will represent President Nixon at the ceremonies marking the 2,500th anniversary of the Iranian Empire.

A fabulous tent city, designed and executed by a leading Paris decorator, has been constructed under the orders of the Shah of Iran at Persepolis, where Darius the Great and a succession of Persian monarchs reigned in splendor. The Agnews will occupy one of the royal tents, which has furnishings and equipment that Darius could never have dreamed of.

El Sullivan Happy At 69

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — What is life to you in one word, Ed Sullivan?

"Life is wonderful," replied Ed, television's personality of the century.

Indeed it has been wonderful to Edward Vincent Sullivan, Harlem-born son of an Irish stableman.

Ed can't dance. Ed can't sing. Ed can't do magic tricks. Ed can't even play a musical saw or imitate the mating call of a rose-breasted grosbeak.

"I have no special talent," he remarks, in genial agreement with most of his fans.

But he does have. He has the special talent of being able to present gifted performers to an audience and then get out of their way while they go through their act.

This seemingly self-effacing skill has enabled Sullivan to rise from a $10 a week cub reporter to a multimillionaire star of the video industry.

Over a 35-year stint in show business Ed has introduced more than 25,000 performers, but retains an instinctive liking for people.

"No, I never get tired of meeting people," he said. "I'm only afraid that they'll get tired of me."

Not long before his 69th birthday, Ed ended his weekly television entertainment show after 23 years, a record for that type of program.

"If anybody breaks that record, I'll break his neck," Ed vowed, smiling.

Ed's career will reach a personal crest this Sunday night, Oct. 17, when he presents "The Sullivan Years," the first of eight 90-minute specials he will put on for the CBS-TV network this year. It will present highlights of his 23-year show and some of the best work of 100 performers.

In his 70th year the past is often in Sullivan's mind and he hums tunelessly to himself at intervals when he talks about it.

"Hm hm, hm hm hm.

"When I was a kid I was on a baseball team that used to play the prison team at Sing Sing. Whenever anyone hit a ball over the wall for a home run, the convict fans would chant, 'Let me go get it, warden. Let me go get it.'

"hm hm, hm hm hm.

"I miss the neighborly kindness people used to have, their willingness to help each other in times of trouble. If we had that habit more today life would be so much better."

"Hm hm, hm hm hm."

Who are the greatest performers of his celebrity-crowded lifetime?

"Al Jolson, Willie Howard, Elvis Presley, Helen Hayes and Charles Laughton," said Ed after some thought.

And the loveliest of all stars?

"Ingrid Bergman," said Ed with no hestitation whatsoever.

My Answer

Billy Graham

My husband is selfish with his income and thoughtless of his family, but is active in church work. Is this true Christianity? M.P.

Of course no Christian should be thoughtless of his family, or selfish with his possessions. The Bible says, "He that provideth not for his family is worse than an infidel." But, not having heard his side of the story, may I ask you if you are jealous of the time he spends in church work, and envious of the money he gives to the Lord's work? Remember, there was a man by the name of Judas who objected to Mary anointing the Master's feet with costly perfume. It was no coincident that Judas was the treasurer of Jesus' band of disciples, and it was also no coincident that in the end his greed caused him to betray his Lord for thirty pieces of silver.

If your husband is thoughtless and selfish, even though he professes to be a Christian, that is wrong. But if you are magnifying these things in your mind, and would rather he would spend the time and money that belongs to the church on you, then you are the one in the wrong. Only you are in a position to judge.

A Devotion For Today...

Cast all your anxieties on him, for he cares about you. —I Peter 5:7 (RSV)

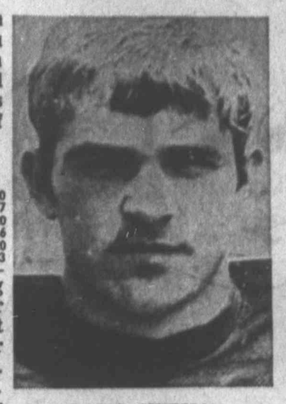

PRAYER: Our Father, in the strife and turmoil of these times, help us to look to You for guidance in all things and to recognize Your guidance. Strengthen faith in Your ability to help us with each problem, and with thankful spirit share our joys with You. These things we ask in the name of the Master, who taught us to pray "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

Unbeaten Permian Is Steer Foe At 8:00

Odessa Permian, the team which can either bludgeon you to your knees or beat you with finesse, moves into Memorial Stadium here tonight seeking its sixth win of the season. Kickoff time is 8 o'clock.

DAVID SHIPMAN

JOE BIZZELL

The Longhorns will be trying to regain their poise after having suffered their most humiliating defeat of the year last week to Midland High. Final score in that one was 42-8.

Permian had its troubles trying to corral Jimmy Reese and the Abilene High Eagles last Saturday night, digging in to hold on its own two-yard line to salvage a 28-20 victory.

The previous week, Permian had turned Midland every way but loose in rolling to a 37-6 victory.

Coach Clovis Hale doesn't know what to make of his Big Spring troops. He thinks the Steers are far better than they showed last week. They'll have to be, to stay on the same field with Permian.

Permian has a wealth of backfield talent. Quarterback of the Permian team is junior David Shipman, who gained over 200 yards carrying the mail against Abilene. He's averaged 8.2 points a pop in 47 carries.

Shipman gets lots of help from such operatives as Collins Rice, who has 4.6 rushing average; Ricky Sutherland, Roy Bobbitt and Chuck Fields.

Fifteen different boys have carried the ball for the talent-deep Panthers.

One of Permian's top players is junior end Joe Bizzell, an all-state performer last season. Bizzell has caught 14 passes for gains totaling 216 yards.

Shipman and Mark Groves do most of the passing for the Black Cats. Shipman has made good 21 times in 36 attempts for 336 yards and one touchdown. He's only been intercepted once.

Coach Hale will start Mike Adams at quarterback tonight. If Mike can't get the Steers to rolling, Hale plans to turn to Alan Davis.

Hale has made a few changes in his secondary. He could go with Walter Jordan, the jet-propelled junior, to help take some of the heat off his running backs — Arthur Trevino, Dick Conley and Rick Steen.

If the Steers are to contain the Panthers, they must do something about stopping Permian's power sweep. Shipman will try to see that the Steer terminals cave in by rolling out a lot.

Probable starters:

BIG SPRING

E — Nate Poss 170 and Cal Lowry 175; T — D. W. Powell 200 and Rondel Brock 195; G — Jan Whatley 170 and Joe Pesina 220; C — Mike Williamson 170; QB — Mike Adams 175; RB — Dick conley 205; FB — Arthur Trevino 170; FI — Mike McCormilck 150.

PERMIAN

Jeff Burk 205 and Joe Bizzell 137; T — Robert Little 173 and Steve Trout 178 or Dennis Smeizer 190; G — John Davis 192 and Steve Wever 184; C — Joe White 202; QB Davild Shipman 174; WB — Lindsey Ocker 174; FB — Chuck fields 160; HB — Collins Rice 179.

UT-Austin Can Be Big Order In Big Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles is an authority on Texas' performance in a "big game."

"They have tradition and they know what it is to play in the big ball games," Broyles said. "Who they play is how good they play. Don't look at somebody they can beat with their left hand and think this is a different Texas team."

The national championship was at stake when Texas and Arkansas met in December the past two years. Texas won 15-14 in 1969 and 42-7 last year.

There will be no national championship on the line Saturday when Texas meets Arkansas at Little Rock in a nationally televised contest, but the winner will take a giant step toward the Southwest Conference championship and a Jan. 1 appearance in the Cotton Bowl.

TEXAS HAS EDGE

Ten of the last 12 years, the winner of the Arkansas-Texas game has earned at least a share of the SWC championship. Texas holds an 8-4 edge during the period, including four straight victories over the Razorbacks.

Texas dropped from No. 3 to No. 10 in the ratings after losing to Oklahoma 48-27 last week.

"Everybody tends to think just about last week and not about the first three ball games (UCLA, Texas Tech and Oregon) where Texas looked extremely strong both offensively and defensively," Broyles said.

"I don't see any difference in Texas this year than the last seven or eight years," Broyles said. "They're superbly coached, have great athletes and play great football. And, this is their last big game of the year."

Broyles also said Oklahoma's 21-point margin was deceptive.

"It looked like it was going to be a real battle right down to the wire until Texas got two big penalties—one after making a first down deep in Oklahoma territory and the other for roughing the kicker," Broyles said, "and, 10 of Oklahoma's points came on desperation passes."

Bucs On Threshold Of Championship

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, poised on the threshold of World Series History, have returned to Baltimore, hoping to deliver the knockout blow to the suddenly staggering Orioles as quickly as possible.

The Pirates took command of the series by sweeping three straight games on the artificial tartan turf of Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium. They were set to go for the title in Saturday's sixth game with Bob Moose, another member of the rather non-descript pitching staff that has suddenly stilled the Baltimore bats.

It was Nelson Briles' turn in Thursday's crucial fifth game and the veteran right-hander responded with a brilliant two-hitter that gave the Pirates a 4-0 victory and left them one game away from their first title since 1960.

ABOUT FACE

Suddenly, the Series that seemed a mismatch when Baltimore won the first two games, has turned around and the world champion Orioles are the team in trouble.

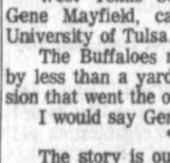

If the Pirates beat the Birds Saturday, they will become the first team in Series history to win four straight after dropping the first two games.

Four other teams have won the title in seven games after dropping the first two. But no team has come back from that deficit to win the classic in six.

"We'll see what kind of club this is on Saturday," said Frank Robinson in the somber Baltimore dressing room. "We can still win if we want to win."

Briles called his dramatic fifth-game victory, "the culmination of everything I've worked for in the last two years. They've been two hard years with a lot of work and not too much success."

Briles was a mainstay of the St. Louis pitching staff with 48 victories in three seasons before slumping to a 6-7 record last year. The Cards swapped him to Pittsburgh in a four-player trade last winter.

Tom Brahaney, the Oklahoma University center who was a stellar performer for Midland High a few years ago, is considered the finest one-on-one blocker the Sooners ever had.

For a city that enjoys no more success than it does in the game, Midland produces some of the outstanding football talent in the country.

Two others who come immediately to mind are Larry Molinaire, the outstanding linebacker for Texas Tech; and LSU's fine passer, Gary Lyons.

The American League need make no apologies for the caliber of baseball it is offering but the National League still has the game's premier hitters in Willie McCovey and Hank Aaron.

McCovey didn't hit much for average but all pitchers fear him. He and Aaron handle every pitch thrown them. Roberto Clemente may be in that class, too. He doesn't hit the long ball with the consistency of McCovey and Aaron but he's poetry in motion at the plate, someone who would cause me to stop in the runway to watch in event I had to leave a game early.

An article worth reading: The Life and Times of Uncle Wilbur, by Jack Gallagher in the Oct. 14 edition of Texas Football news magazine.

It concerns itself with Wilbur Evans, everyone's favorite sports contact man; who as the executive director of the Cotton Bowl did much to lure Notre Dame into the last two New Year's classics. Evans not only promotes and propels the Southwest Conference but gives it a kind of integrity not always found in such positions.

I would say Gene's timetable is right on schedule.

Redskins, Lions, Pokes Likely To Win Again

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Talking about the sweet smell of success. The 1971 National Football League season has been a bed of roses for the Washington Redskins while the Buffalo Bills have been playing in a rock garden.

This weekend the Redskins will smell victory for the fifth time in as many games while the Bills will catch the scent for the first time this season.

That's how it looks from here, where the speciality is raising winning picks with a thumb whose green matches either grass or artificial turf.

Last week, we had a 9-4 record for a two-week mark of 16-9-1.

Washington 27, St. Louis 24—Washington's Curt Knight and Jim Baken should get their kicks, but the Redskins' consistency gives them an edge over the Cardinals who run hot and cold.

BILLS HUNGRY

Buffalo 31, New York Jets 21—The winless Bills have been shut out twice in a row and are hungry for a score. The points should come more easily against a New York defense missing end John Elliott and tackle Gerry Philbin.

Baltimore 27, New York Giants 17—The Giants have been taking advantage of opponents mistakes but making plenty of their own. Baltimore doesn't make many mistakes.

Detroit 17, Houston 7—Shapes up as a good defensive game. Houston scared Kansas City and Washington and might scare the Lions, but the Oilers won't beat them.

Cleveland 17, Cincinnati 10—Paul Brown will have Cincinnati sky high against the team he used to run, but the Browns figure to have too much savy for the Bengals and rookie quarterback Ken Anderson.

Oakland 38, Philadelphia 3—The same old story. The Eagles opponent is solid, the Eagles aren't.

Dallas 35, New Orleans 17—Calvin Hill is out for two weeks with a knee injury, but the way Duane Thomas ran against the Giants Hill shouldn't be missed.

Miami 42, New England 14—Rookie quarterback Jim Plunkett has done wonders for New England, but this time the wonders cease.

Kansas City 23, Pittsburgh 17 — Pittsburgh is improving, but Kansas City is rolling and that's even better.

DEFENSE GLISTENS

Yearlings Nudge Snyder Eleven

Stout defensive play enabled the Big Spring Runnels Yearlings to nudge Snyder Lamar, 14-8, here Thursday evening.

Runnels	STATISTICS	Lamar
10	First Downs	4
143	Yards Rushing	26
0	Yards Passing	71
0 of 0	Passes Completed	2 of 11
1	Passes Interc. By	0
3 for 46	Punts, Ave.	4 for 29
6 for 67	Penalties, Yds.	4 for 40
1	Fumbles Lost	1

The win left Bob Zellars' team with a 2-3-1 record. They return to competition here Thursday against Sweetwater.

Lamar scored first, going 61 yards in the opening period on a halfback pass, which went back to the quarterback. The visitors then ran for two extra points.

Runnels got on the board in the opening round after taking the kickoff back to Snyder's 46. Timmy Cain went off tackle for the last 18 yards on the ninth play of the series. Only 3:50 remained in the period when the Yearlings went across and Runnels failed to convert.

In the second, Jimmy Shanks of Runnels blocked a Snyder punt and Cain fell on it in the end zone for Big Spring's second tally.

Shanks then ran across the conversion try. When the touchdown occurred, there was 6:30 left in the half.

Runnels was inside Snyder's 15 two other times but couldn't go in. On one occasion, the Yearlings drove from their own 20 to Lamar's 13.

Defensive standouts for Big Spring included ends Mike Easley and Jimmy Rodriquez, corner backs Joe Millaway and Benny Anderson, tackles Gary Butler, Raymond Lopez, Danny Sherman and Joey Robles; halfbacks Ulysses Matthews and Cain; linebackers Eric Franks and Shanks and safety Ronnie Mullins.

Blockers Emzie Woodard, Charles McKinney, Mike Rich and Ronnie Wagner excelled on offense for Big Spring.

Snyder threatened late in the game, driving to Big Spring's 20, but Cain intercepted a Lamar pass at the 10 to end the surge.

Goliad Decisioned By Snyder Travis

SNYDER — Snyder Travis, using power thrusts up the middle and off tackle, humbled Big Spring Goliad, 32-0, here Thursday.

The loss was the fourth in six starts for Goliad, which returns to play Thursday in Colorado City.

Jimmy Douglas raced 22 yards for a Goliad touchdown on a pitch in the third but the play was nullified by a penalty.

Later in the round, Goliad moved inside Travis' five-yard line but a fourth down pass fell incomplete.

QB Mark Moore and fullback Douglass excelled on offense for Big Spring while Ray Box stood out on defense, recovering two fumbles, intercepting a pass and stopping two Travis ball carriers from behind when it appeared they were going for touchdowns.

No Fee Asked In Tourney

No entry fee will be exacted from members of the Big Spring Golf Association for their Grand Tournament, scheduled the next two Sundays.

Prizes will be purchased from fees accumulated over the year and BSGA prexy Royce Cox says they will be good ones.

Players can declare in advance for the scratch flight, out of which will emerge the champion. Two handicap divisions will also be organized, if the interest warrants it.

Deadline for entry is 6 p.m. today. Those planning to compete should register at the Muny course clubhouse.

A shotgun start will be used to start the field at 1:30 p.m. each Sunday.

Those working shifts on their games will be allowed to play during the mornings, however, by asking for the privilege in advance.

In order to be eligible for the tournament, A BSGA member must have played in at least four association-sponsored tournaments over the year.

Cox said this is the last big event of the year planned by the association and he was hoping for a record registration.

Jayhawks Tackle Huskers In College Headliner

By The Associated Press

If the Pirates can do it, why can't the Jayhawks? Hardly anyone expected the Pittsburgh Pirates to beat the Baltimore Orioles three straight in baseball's World Series, but they did.

Hardly anyone expects the unranked Kansas Jayhawks to beat unbeaten and top-ranked Nebraska Saturday, but stranger things have happened in college football.

"If the ball bounces right for us we have a chance to win, but we'll have to play a great game," said Kansas Coach Don Fambrough.

One of the reasons Fambrough thinks his Jayhawks have a chance to upset the mighty Cornhuskers at Lincoln, Neb., is David Jaynes, his sophomore quarterback.

Jaynes came off the bench last week to throw three touchdown passes as the Jayhawks stunned Kansas State 39-13. "He's a fine forward passer," commented coach Bob Devaney of the Cornhuskers who will be after their sixth straight victory and 25th in a row without a defeat.

WOLVES COULD DROP TO AA

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City school superintendent Lloyd McKee has informed his board of trustees that he expects the school to be reclassified from Class AAA to AA after this year.

That will surely come, McKee added, if the University Interscholastic League increases the minimum number of students for a AAA designation from 550 to 600, which it has been rumored it will do.

Colorado City is now in its fourth year as a member of 3-AAA. Colorado City High School now has 518 students. The entire school system has enrolled 1,729, highest in many years for Colorado City.

Queens To Enter Odessa Tourney

ABILENE — HCJC's Jayhawks Queens won their seventh volleyball game in 13 starts by humbling Hardin-Simmons, 15-10, 15-5, here Thursday evening.

The HC team returns to play at home at 7:30 this evening against Texas Tech and enters a tournament at Odessa Saturday.

Henrietta Miller, a spiker from Midland, was named HC's Most Valuable Player against HSU. In the McMurry match, Belinda Gonzales of Big Spring claimed the same honor.

Marla Parker of Fort Worth led the scorers in Thursday night's first game for HC with five points. Juanita Oyerbides, Monahans, and Belinda Gonzales each had four for HC in the second game.

Lamar Humbles Brahmas, 30-18

Snyder Lamar humbled the Big Spring ninth grade Brahmas, 30-18, in a football game played here Thursday evening.

The defeat left David Verner's team with a 3-3 record. They return to competition here Thursday against Sweetwater.

Noe Luevanos, a defensive star at cornerback for the Brahmas, went out with a shoulder separation in the first inning and has been lost for the season.

Lamar led at half time, 16-12. Elbow Smith managed Big spring's first TD on a 90-yard punt return in Round Two. A pass from QB Bobby Bradshaw to Smith, good for 12 yards, produced the Brahmas' second tally shortly before the half.

Smith powered across on a one-yard dive play for Big Spring's final tally in the fourth quarter. That particular drive covered 60 yards.

Defensive standouts for Big Spring included rover Dick Earhart, end Bobby Winters, halfback Albert Alvarez and tackle Mark Hedges.

Earhart and Smith were among the most impressive players on offense for the Brahmas.

Earle Stays Busy In A&I Contest

COMMERCE — Big Spring's Ricky Earle accounted for three tackles and three assists for East Texas State University last Saturday against Texas A&I in Kingsville. Earle also recovered a fumble.

Hyden thus moved into fifth place among the leaders. The end of the season is just three weeks away.

Wendell Maxey, Midland, remains in first place. He camputed the Trophy Dash, Bonus Point Race and the Fast Heat.

Top Industrialists Support Phase 2

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Top industrialists who make up the Business Council have done a turnabout on wage and price control—from near total rejection six months ago to virtually unanimous support of President Nixon's price freeze and Phase 2 plans.

Corporation heads arriving for today's first session of the council's fall meeting here told reporters privately they hope the President's strong economic medicine will cool inflation fever sufficiently to permit an early return to free markets.

PUBLIC PSYCHOLOGY

But some predicted Phase 2 may last 18 months to two years because, as one of them said, the expectation of inflation has become solidly imbedded in public psychology.

At least two major manufacturers told newsmen they expect the guideposts for wage increases—still to be developed by the new Pay Board—may permit annual increases of 5 to 6 per cent. They indicated that industry would not find such a wage cost intolerable.

There were general declarations of agreement and support for Nixon's Phase 2 machinery such as the 15-member labor-industry-public Pay Board and the Price Commission of seven public members.

COST OF LIVING

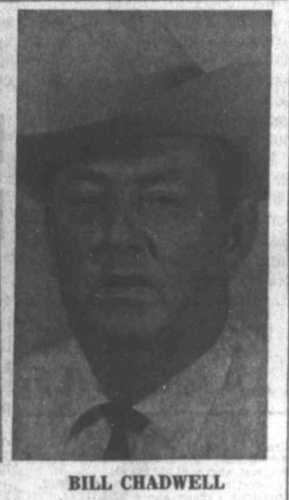

Several council members said the White House assurance to AFL-CIO President George Meany that Pay Board decisions would not be subject to veto by the Cost of Living Council had been planned from the start. One industrialist said the White House had so indicated to management representatives in recent meetings.

Though none of the members would be quoted, all acknowledged they had reversed their views on wage-price control since the council's spring meeting here in May.

Asked to explain the turnabout, one manufacturer said: "I was against wage-price control then and I still am. But I'm in favor of the steps the President has taken. We simply got into such a desperate situation that something had to be done."

New Deputies Hired By Sheriff's Department

Two new deputies, both experienced lawmen, have joined the Howard County Sheriff's Department. The men are residing in Coahoma and Forsan and will be able to assist residents in those areas in any emergency.

Walter Birdsong comes to Big Spring from Alpine, his hometown. Birdsong is a graduate of Sul Ross with a bachelor's degree in sociology. He jokingly adds that he covered all fields by minoring in range animal science and industrial arts.

Birdsong has six years law enforcement experience, having worked with the Alpine police and sheriff's departments and Sul Ross' security force. He holds the intermediate law enforcement certificate.

He resides in Coahoma with his wife, Marie, and daughters Kris, 2½, and Kathy, 1½. Their son Roy, 13, is attending school in Tulsa, Okla.

Residing in Forsan is night deputy Bill Chadwell. Chadwell, a native of Chrane, comes to Big Spring from Fort Stockton with 12 years of law enforcement experience.

Chadwell was assistant police chief of Fort Stockton for four years, and chief for two years. He holds the basic and intermediate law enforcement certificates and has nearly completed requirements for the advanced certificate.

He is married, and he and his wife, Betty, have three children, James, 17, Regina, 15, and Karla, 7.

Used Excessive Force In Arresting Panther?

HOUSTON (AP) — A vice squad sergeant has denied his men used excessive force in arresting Houston Black Panther leader James Aaron and another man.

Aaron, 19, and Rupert Freeman, 21, were arrested Thursday outside the Harris County Criminal Courthouse after Sgt. G. S. McMenemey said he was kicked.

Aaron suffered a bloody nose in a scuffle with a policeman that followed and an officer received a bruised hand.

Aaron was charged with aggravated assault on a police officer. Freeman was cited for interferring with a police officer.

The incident took place as McMenemy and several other officers were going into the courthouse. McMenemy said he was kicked without warning as he walked past Aaron.

"It kind of lifted him up," one officer said of the boot which was aimed at McMenemy's rear.

McMenemy said it appeared Aaron was trying to block his entrance to the courthouse but Aaron denied this.

"I was pushed from the rear," Aaron said. "I wasn't blocking the door. I don't know which one of them hit me."

Vice squad officer C. R. Rees sustained a badly bruised hand.

"There's a possibility he got a little nose bleed," McMenemy said of Aaron. "But, if he had been a better fighter some of us might have got hurt."

Aaron and Freeman had been spectators at the trial of Freeman's brother, Charles Freeman, charged with possession of marijuana.

Same-Sex Marriage Ban Upheld

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today rejected a plea by two homosexual men seeking a marriage license, declaring that marriage is a unique male-female arrangement "as old as the book of Genesis."

The court's unanimous ruling rejected the claims by Richard John Baker and James Michael McConnell, both 29, who argued that nothing in state law prohibited a same-sex marriage.

The pair claims to be married anyway, using a license obtained at Mankato, Minn. Their Supreme Court case involved refusal by the Hennepin County court clerk to issue a license in May, 1970.

Baker is president of the student association at the University of Minnesota. McConnell is a librarian.

In its ruling, the high court said a ban on same-sex marriage does not violate any provision of the U.S. Constitution, as claimed by the two.

"The institution of marriage as a union of man and woman, uniquely involving the procreation and rearing of children within a family is as old as the book of Genesis," the court held.

Chaplain Will Head Boy Scout District

Clayton Hicks, VA Hospital chaplain, will be the next chairman of the Lone Star Boy Scout district.

Chaplain Hicks, who has achieved an outstanding record as chairman of organization and extension during the past two years, was elected at the district committee meeting Thursday. Named as vice chairmen were Col. Malcolm Ryan and Jack Powell, who presently are serving in this capacity, the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, First Baptist pastor, and Robert N. McDaniel, Herald publisher. Jimmy Ray Smith will be the new commissioner, succeding Dean Lagerstrom.

The new officers will be installed at the annual district recognition banquet Dec. 2 at 6:30 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College.

Both Lagerstrom and Monty Stokes, district Scout executive, predicted the district will meet its membership goals by the end of the year. The current membership is 1,290 boys in the program, said Stokes. He lauded the present committeemen for exceptional service.

Plans for one of the biggest district camporees in years is shaping for Nov. 19-20-21 at the Scout Roundup grounds, said Ralph Beckham, chairman of this event. The Lone Buffalo district (Snyder and Colorado City) have been invited to take part.

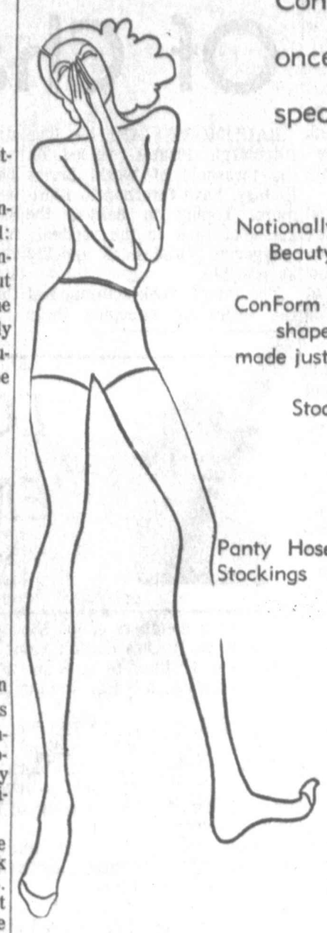

Paul Koshi said information of the SOAR conservation program was being given to Scouters and Cub leaders. Four of the eight Cub training sessions have been held and continue each Monday evening in Room 216 at the VA hospital, Stokes reported. The Scout leader training session kicks off Tuesday in the same place with other sessions Wednesday and Thursday. Don Myers had 10 instructors lined up for this intensive training program. The Together Banquet has been set for Nov. 1 with a goal of possibly four new units. Ray Newton is chairman. Lagerstrom said he was hoping for a good commissioner participation in a one-day training session at Terminal Oct. 23.

That's strictly up to you . . . only after you've heard the full story and both your head and heart say "Go!"

You'll find a group of people there who share your own feelings and doubts. Great time to join in asking that "Crazy Episcopal minister" some crazy questions.

Who knows? He may surprise you with some very sane answers . . . instead of "pie in the sky."

Community Center To Get New Building

The new building which will soon be acquired to house the Westside Community Center was the main topic of discussion when the board members met Tuesday with Peter Stone, board president.

The building, which Webb Air Force Base is transferring to the center, will probably be moved within two weeks according to a report by the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand. Final government approval is expected soon. Plans for moving the building were discussed, and Rev. Hildebrand was instructed to accept the best bid.

Highlighting the meeting was a report of the various programs offered at the center and the number of persons participating. They are: Girls' arts and carfts on Monday and Wednesday, led by Jaycee-Ettes, 25; Boys' arts and crafts on Tuesday, led by the Woman's Forum, 25; Weight Watchers (women), led by Wanda Hayes, 10; Children's Choir, Mrs. Joseph Dawes, 20; Piano lessons, Miss Helen Ewing, 5; Teen social, Janelle Collier, 12; Non-denominational Sunday school class conducted by senior high youth group of Wesley United Methodist Church, 10; and Saturday game night, led by Mrs. Teresa Bauch, 70.

Anything Goes In New Color Ideas

Vivid, lush, brilliant, opulent color. That's the way it is in today's carpet and rug world.

Color is taking its name from nature all the way from Mother Earth to the infinity of the sky. Even the unheard of color for carpet — black — has made its bow from several manufacturers in time for this season.

Whatever color preference one might have, wild or subdued — solid or multi — it is available in every combination, every texture. Start with color on the floor and go on from there to decorate in the life style best suited to your today and tomorrow.

For warmth and coziness shades of gold, green and bronze are still evident but even more so with the added luster of today's yarns.

Consumer's Question-Box

By MARGARET DANA

Q. I have read several times that oranges bought in stores should not be used in recipes calling for the use of orange peel, because of the sprays used on them against pesticides or for coloring. But many recipes do call for orange peel. Is it safe or not to use commercial orange peel?

A. Any spray used on oranges must not leave a residue that the Food and Drug Administration finds hazardous to humans. Color sprays, however, are like food colors, safe as used. Nevertheless, the FDA and the Department of Agriculture recommend that all foods that are bought as grown and shipped from the fields be thoroughly washed before use. This washing would remove any objectionable material picked up in transit as well as any possible excess spray.

Q. I recently purchased a package of cheese and found the price label was pasted over a previous label with a much lower price. As this took place during the price freeze, I feel the consumer is being taken advantage of. Am I right?

A. It depends on several things. Did the price go up before or after Aug. 15, 1971? Sharp Cheddar cheese of the type described on the labels you sent me can be kept for a considerable time in a store without deteriorating, so it may have had its price changed several months ago.

Also, I note the labels have two different names — the supplier's and the store's. The second one may merely correct a mistake made by the supplier. But if you have checked these and still find a price rise since Aug. 15, report this to the store manager.

Q. We have recently purchased a dishwasher and we wish to use the "Sanicycle," which heats the water to 180 degrees. But we are confused as to what type of dishes are "dishwasher-proof." Salesmen at different stores tell us all of our dishes are all right to use with the dishwasher, but on a new set of dishes we bought the label says not to use harsh detergents or water above 150 degrees. How do we tell what to do?

A. Comply with the manufacturer's directions for washing of the dishes he made. For others, if the glaze on them covers the decorations the dishes are generally quite safe for dishwasher cleaning. However, older or more delicate china may be affected by not only the extra-hot water but by the abrasive effect of the spray. Antique or valuable heirlooms are better handwashed.

Q. I have a question I hope you can answer for us. The various supermarkets sell different brands of frozen orange juice concentrate. There is nothing on the labels to indicate what differences there are to explain differences in prices. How is the consumer to know what he is getting for more or for less cost?

A. There are Federal standards which frozen orange juice concentrate must meet, so far as amount of actual orange juice is involved. The orange juice processors have set for their members other standards which assure minimum levels of flavor. But different combinations of orange varieties at the orchard, or a variety of degrees of maturity, or even different climates in different parts of the orange-growing areas, can produce differences in quality of flavor, etc. Price reflects these, as it also reflects the volume of production. In the last analysis it is a matter of individual consumer choice of flavor and texture that decides the choice of price.

Q. In buying bulbs for our electric lamps lately I see that the labels give statements like "7,500 avg. Hours, 712 Avg. Lumens (Light Output)" or, "Avg. Life—750 Hours; Avg. Light Output — 1,190 Lumens." I do not understand this new labeling, especially since both these statements are on the same-size bulb, 75 watts. Can you explain this?

A. This labeling is in accord with the Federal Trade Commission regulation which went into effect last January, 1971. The intention is to make it possible for a consumer buyer to select the bulb that gives the amount of light and the length of life best suited for the place where it is to be used.

"Light output" is measured in the number of lumens it gives. The size—that is, "75 watts" — only refers to the amount of electricity it uses. The number of hours the bulb is rated for must comply with a standard and test method accepted by the FTC.

So a 75-watt bulb giving 1,190 lumens and lasting 750 hours will give more light for less time than a 75-watt bulb rated for 7,500 hours and giving only 712 lumens. Generally, the long-life bulb is useful for sockets hard to reach where strong light is not needed, and the higher lumens are for reading, work, etc.

(Margaret Dana welcomes opinions and questions on buying and will use them in her columns as rapidly as research and space permit. Personal answers are impossible due to large volume of mail from readers. Address Margaret Dana in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Rev. Louis B. Moeller To Replace Rev. Casey

The Rev. Louis B. Moeller has come here from Ozona as pastor of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church in a move growing out of a shift of pastoral assignment from the Oblate Fathers of San Antonio to the San Angelo dioscese.

The Rev. Patrick Casey, who has been serving the church since July 9, (and who had a previous pastorate here at St. Thomas church) has been sent by the oblates to an assignment in Galveston.

From its inception as a mission in 1960, Immaculate Heart of Mary Church had been supplied by the oblates. But there is a serious shortage of personnel which prevents the order from filling all its pastoral committments, hence Rev. Clifford Blackburn, OMI, provincial of the San Antonio oblates, asked Bishop Stephen A. Leven, of the San Angelo diocese to assume this reponsibility.

The Rev. Moeller is a native of Olfen Runnells Co. and was ordained to the preisthood June 2, 1951 in Denver, Colo., after eight years of theological studies at seminaries in San Antonio, Boston and Denver.

He served as assistant pastor at the Cathederal in Amarillo and was associated editor of the Texas Panhandle Register, administrator in Happy, and assistant pastor at St. Joseph's in Rowena, where his widowed mother and married brother still live. His first assignment as pastor was at St. Joseph's in Stanton in January, 1953. He went to Lamesa in 1957, then to Childress in 1960, also serving Pep, Texas, as pastor.

In January 1962, he went to St. Elizabeth's in Snyder as it became part of the newly created San Angelo diocese. Rev. Moeller was pastor at St. Joseph's in Odessa from 1964 until 1967 when he went to Ozona to pastor Our Lady of Perpetual Help congregation. At Ozona he will be succeeded by the Rev. James A. Plagens, who pastored in Odessa and Carlsbad, with Sterling City as a mission.

During his 20 years in the preisthood, the Rev. Moeller has been active in the Rotary Club and other service clubs. His interests also include fishing and hunting when he can take time away from his pastoral duties.

When Immaculate Heart of Mary was established as a mission of the oblates in 1960, the Rev. Francis Beazley was first pastor. The church w as dedicated by Bishop John Morkovsky of Amarillo Jan.24, 1961 and the school and convent were opened in the autumn of that year under direction of the Missionary Sisters of Mary Immaculate.

The Rev. Williams Maegher, OMI, succeeded Rev. Beazley in February, 1969, but was killed in a car mishap Oct. 5, 1970. The Rev. Theo Francis OMI, served as administrator and pastor until Rev. Casey could be assigned here last July.

New Translation Of Job Released

NEW YORK (AP) — The Old Testament book of Job has been translated in today's English version by the American Bible Society. First copies of the 89-page illustrated paperback, "Job for Modern Man," came off the press in August.

The largely poetic book, also entitled "Tried and True," relates the suffering and faithfulness of the man named Job. It was translated by the same group of scholars who prepared "The Psalms for Modern Man."

Baptists Deplore Drink, Dirty Films

Messengers to the Big Spring Baptist Association reaffirmed the denomination's historic position on separation of church and state in the closing session Tuesday at College Baptist.

They also took swipes at pornographic movies and liquor by the drink, dshonesty by some public officials, and called on all brethren to exercise the right to vote.

Reports from the combined letters to the association showed slight declines in new members, resident members and about a seven per cent decline in Sunday school enrollment (although attendance was up by one per cent to 50.8). Baptisms and total giving gained slightly.

The semi-annual session will be held July 16, 1972 at First Baptist Church in Coahoma while the 64th annual session will be Oct. 16 (an all-day session) at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. C. B. Baker, Salem Baptist, will bring the annual mesage, with the Rev. Jessie Allen, Knott, as his alternate.

An association budget of $2,715 was adopted, including as it did for the first time this year, special gifts to Wayland Baptist, Howard Payne and Hardin-Simmons University. Installed as moderator was the Rev. Kenneth Patrick, First Baptist pastor.

Resolutions urged parents to protect their children from smutty movies; deplored dishonesty by some public officials and asked better voting participation by Christians in choosing officials; rigidly opposed liquor by the drink, rejected the principle of federal aid to religious groups including parochial schools, colleges and hospitals.

The combined reports showed these figures for 1970-71 (with 1969-70 figures in parenthesis): Resident members 7,937 (7,997), baptisms 476 (462), other new members 629 (717), Sunday school enrollment 5,898 (6250), training union enrollment 2,448 (2,877), gifts to missions $152,504 ($154,268), and total gifts $899,005 (889,737).

A GHOSTLY CAMPAIGNER — The traffic department made no bones about importance of its driver education campaign by using this bicycle-riding ghostly figure on the streets of Sao Paulo, Brazil, recently.

O'Brien Hails Party Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien hailed Thursday what he described as progress in party reform. He also declared the Democratic party would not tolerate "intimidation or threats" from either the far right or the far left.

In an obvious warning to those who might challenge party processes in 1972, O'Brien said that if unwilling to work for reform within the party they "had better look elsewhere for a political hall, fourth, fifth, or sixth parties notwithstanding."

NO TURNING BACK

At the same time, he told a meeting of the Democratic National Committee, "there will be no turning back" from the party reform effort launched in 1968, which is designed to make next year's Democratic convention more democratic and avoid repetition of the tumultuous 1968 convention.

Patricia Roberts Harris, elected to a key post at the 1972 convention, pledged her dedication to assuring reform rules are carried out and said that to abandon them would risk wrecking the Democratic Party.

In a statement aimed at reassuring reform elements who fought her election, Mrs. Harris rejected the idea the battle was over reform, saying, "This party has set feet firmly on the road to full access for all interested persons to the Democratic party."

RISK

"We can leave that road only at the risk of wrecking this party—a risk we do not intend to take," she said. The 47-year-old black Washington attorney said she fully supports the delegate selection reforms approved earlier this year. "These are the rules," she said. "They must be obeyed."

Mrs. Harris was elected by the Democratic National Committee Wednesday to be acting chairman of the convention's Credentials Committee. She defeated Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, leader of party reform efforts for three years, on a vote of 72 to 31.

Mrs. Harris, a long-time associate of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., is a former ambassador to Luxembourg and former dean of the Howard University Law School.

On the agenda today was an attempt by reformers to undo last February's National Committee action giving a voting delegate's seat at the convention to outgoing committee members. Reform guidelines prohibit ex-officio delegates.

The Credentials Committee is expected to be the battleground next year of numerous delegate challenges resulting from reformed party procedures. These are aimed at making the 1972 convention more democratic and avoiding the controversy that surrounded the turbulent 1968 convention in Chicago.

'INTERNAL SAVAGERY'

Reformers had labeled the fight for the credentials post as a key indication of the party's attitude on reform, despite the fact the National Committee, with two members from each state, is hardly a favorable arena for such a battle.

But the Hughes candidacy provoked stiff opposition from both party leaders and organized labor, who spearheaded what the Iowa senator earlier Wednesday termed a campaign of "internal savagery." One Hughes backer said the reaction couldn't have been stronger if the reform candidate had been one-time Yippie leader Abbie Hoffman.

Hughes picked up endorsements from many prominent blacks and from the party's two declared presidential candidates, Sens. Fred R. Harris and George S. McGovern.

He also got late support from backers of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, generally regarded as the presidential frontrunner, but it turned out to have little impact on the National Committee.

As if following the advice of party leaders, Hughes moved immediately after his defeat to heal the breach. He pledged that, while he plans to keep up his fight for reform, "I intend to see it through—not outside the Democratic party but from within it."

Consumer Bill Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of the consumer-protection bill passed by the House Thursday and sent to the Senate:

Agency—Creates an independent consumer-protection agency inside government as an action unit for advocacy and advancement of consumer interests before other agencies. It would have responsibility for gathering and disseminating information on consumer affairs.

Office—Gives statutory base for the President's Office of Consumer Affairs, which was created through executive order, and would have it serve as advisory unit for the chief executive.

Council—Establishes a 15-member consumer advisory council, with members serving staggered five-year terms, representing outside consumer, producer and public interests, to bring new ideas and viewpoints to government attention.

Cost Estimate—For first five years, the three-part system is estimated to cost $38.8 million; with $33.4 million of this going to run the agency based on an estimated 200 workers for the first year.

Other Key Objectives—The bill authories programs of consumer education and information, procedures to handle and publicize complaints, a limited amount of product testing and spreading of test results, and studies of household product safety.

Trade Secrets—The bill would bar disclosure of trade secrets and other confidential information.

Subpoena Powers—The agency would have no subpoena power of its own. But it could intervene in another agency's proceeding and then use the host agency's subpoena authority in connection with the case at hand.

Regulatory—The bill does not set up another regulatory body but is designed to let the consumer's voice be heard in proceedings before existing regulatory agencies.

Senate—Similar legislation passed the Senate a year ago but died on a tie vote in the House Rules Committee.

Administration Backing—The White House supports the bill. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan hinted that serious changes in the House-approved version could bring a presidential veto.

Posse Plans Play Day

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse will have its last open play day of the season Saturday at the posse arena on the Andrews Highway.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and the events will begin at 11 a.m. The fee is 50 cents per event for each of the seven events. They are: barrels, poles, keyhole, flags, potato, ribbon race and baton race. There will also be a boot scramble.

Trophies will be awarded the high point boy and girl in each age group. The money goes to the building fund.

Everyone is invited to see the new arena and attend the play day, said T. H. McCann, president.

He's In Trouble

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You told Willie, who had been giving his female bookkeeper "a few kisses" because he couldn't afford to give her a pay raise, that the cheapest solution would be to give her a raise. (Willie's wife had already caught wise.)

You are probably on sound ground, marriage-wise. But are you on sound economic ground?

Because of the wage freeze, Willie cannot give his bookkeeper a money raise until at least Nov. 13.

Isn't Willie, therefore, morally obligated to keep kissing his bookkeeper until he can grant her a pay raise? R.L.L.: CLEVELAND

DEAR R.L.L.: Willie has it made. He can't give her a pay raise or Nixon will nail him. And if his wife catches him kissing his bookkeeper, he'll get it in the assets.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow of 67, but I don't look it. A widower of 52 has been after me to marry him. All my family is married, and so is his. I am a good-looking woman, I'm told.

Do you think I'm too old for this man? OUT EAST

DEAR OUT: No woman is too old for a man she is young enough to get.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a 2 p.m. wedding. We arrived a few minutes late, so we tiptoed in and found two seats in the back pew.

Not 10 seconds after we had sat down, a gentleman tapped my husband on the shoulder and motioned for us to follow him outside. He then told us we were not permitted to stay because we had arrived late. He said he was acting on instruction from the bride's parents. The ceremony had not begun.

We stood outside the church, terribly disappointed, and met another couple who had also been turned away. They were relatives of the groom and had driven 300 miles.

I know people should be on time for weddings, Abby, but what do you think of treating guests like this? GOOD INTENTIONS

DEAR GOOD: I can understand why late-comers would not be allowed to trail in during the wedding ceremony, but to have asked you to leave once you had entered quitely and sat down was ridiculous.

DEAR ABBY: Well I've heard it all — the pastor of a church in Indian Orchard, Mass., gives the wedding couple a $25 cleaning bill to be paid in advance in case rice is thrown at the bride and groom as they leave the church.

If it takes more than a half hour to clean up the rice before a funeral that is to follow, then I suggest more time be allowed between.

I hope at my funeral someone will leave behind a bit of the happiness of a wedding that just took place, and someone in that funeral sees it and smiles at the joy it must have brought. GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Youre beautiful.

Alcohol Problem

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband was a heavy drinker, never a day without it, although he never missed a day's work because of drinking.

Then it happened; he was told he had cirrhosis of the liver. He went from one doctor to another trying to convince himself that each one was wrong, and his stomach is so distended it is horrible.

He was given — pills and told to take one a day. Well, it's three years now and he hasn't drunk a drop, but he takes three to five pills a day. How he gets them I don't know.

He still works, but a sit-down job. At times he is so stupid looking and talks blah! Then other times (when not sleeping) he is normal. Then at times he turns mean.

Is there something I can get or do to get him off this? — Mrs. M.B.

The medication you mentioned is one of the sedatives, and in this case intended to relax your husband in his struggle to stay away from alcohol. It can have undesirable side effects, and that isn't surprising when he is taking three to five times the amount he was told to take.

In the final analysis, pills won't do it all for him. An alcoholic sooner or later has to make up his mind that he is losing the battle of booze, and his only resource is to stay away from it entirely.

Perhaps by now he can give up this medication and still stay off liquor. But anyone, with too much sedation, can be "stupid looking and talk blah."

If he still finds he still can't get along without medication of some sort, he might discuss this with his doctor. There are other medications, the best known being Antabuse, which has the property of making the patient violently ill if he drinks any alcohol.

But if he finds he can't cope with his craving without medication, I hope he will consider joining Alcoholics Anonymous where he will be with others who understand his problem because they've been through it. And they know how to help him.

* * *

Dear Doctor: This is the fourth identical letter I have sent without seeing your answer in the paper, so I am sending this by registered mail hoping you will receive it.

I have noticed lately that the urine flow is somewhat dimished. Is it due to hypertrophy of the prostate gland? Could it be cancerous? Will the flow remain the same indefinitely or will it continue diminishing? I have no pain and am over 70. — F.A.M.

Nobody can answer those questions without examining you. Enlarged prostate is the likeliest cause; maybe cancerous, maybe not; flow will probably continue to diminish. But instead of asking me to make guesses, see your doctor before the trouble gets worse.

* * *

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to him in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (using zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

It took us many years to get the bugs out of the bug.

The first Volkswagens to come to this country had windows so small you could hardly see out of them.

They had no gas gauge at all.

When you make a new kind of car you keep finding things that could use improving. And over the years you improve them.

And that's the advantage to buying a new car that isn't a whole new kind of car.

It's up to you.

You can buy a lot of bugs.

Or you can buy a bug.

Two Attend Houston Meet

Two Big Spring men are attending the annual convention of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas today in Houston.

Jack Worsham is attending a workshop session and the voting session. He is the Howard County representative. George Zachariah is also attending, as a member of the state board. He does not represent Howard County.

The convention theme is the role of the volunteer, to be highlighted by forums and workshops during the meeting.

Remap Board Meets Today

AUSTIN (AP) — The Legislative Redistricting Board meets today to complete half of its reapportionment task, and only eight days remain to finish the other—and more complex—half.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, chairman, called the board together at 4 p.m. today to vote on new state Senate districts.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who presides over the Senate, drew up new Senate districts in consultation with various members of that chamber. It takes three votes from among the five board members to put new districts into law.

There also was a possibility that Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong might seek a public vote from the board on whether the state should be cut into 150 single-member House districts.

Armstrong, a board member, said Thursday he was undecided whether to make the move because so little time remains for so complicated a task.

Speculation about the Senate plan included a report that it would include a large west and central Texas district extending from Waco to Abilene.

Houston reportedly would have five senators, with districts cut so that two or three would be liberal Democrats, one would be a Republican and one or two would be conservative Democrats.

CONSUMER PROTECTION PROMISE

Triple Treat For Everyone

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's consumer aide, pointing to the House seal of approval, is recommending that the Senate buy a consumer-protection plan containing what promoters promise will be a triple treat for the public.

But consumer advocate Ralph Nader's hard-core House loyalists, failing Thursday in their widely advertised attempt to expand the scope of a proposed new consumer-protection agency's activities, urged their Senate sympathizers to inspect the fine print in the legislative product.

LAND MARK

The House's 344-44 passage of the bill essentially in the same form offered by the Government Operations Committee was applauded by Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant for consumer affairs, as "an important victory for all consumers.

"This landmark legislation . . . will provide the consumer effective representation on matters that affect his health, his safety and his pocketbook. The wide margin of support reflects the judgment of the House that the committee bill is a strong measure and refutes the contrary claims of the few remaining critics," Mrs. Knauer said.

But Nader said the House action means no strong bill will be passed by Congress this year. Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., leader of the Nader forces, called the legislation a skillfully designed deception. "Mediocrity and compromise won out over excellence and courage," Rosenthal said. "It was a victory for the Nixon administration and anticonsumer special interests."

TIE VOTE

Committee Chairman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., upheld on all controversial issues in his frequently bitter arguments with those who sought to either strengthen or weaken his panel's bill, insisted the legislation is effective and balanced by safeguards.

The bill is a three-part affair—creating a new consumer-protection agency, giving legal underpinning to the White House's Office of Consumer Affairs, and setting up a 15-member consumer advisory council. The new agency would represent consumers in actions conducted by other federal agencies and in certain circumstances—before the courts.

Similar legislation passed the Senate last year but died on a tie vote in the House Rules Committee.

The bill is "for consumer advocacy. It does not set up another regulatory agency," Holifield said. "The bill is designed to insure that the consumer's voice will be heard and his interests protected, in proceedings before the existing regulatory agencies."

FORMER COMMANDER SAYS:

Col. Henderson Never Reported Massacre

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The prosecution has nearly completed its case against Col. Oran K. Henderson with testimony from the former commander of the Americal Division that Henderson never reported a massacre at My Lai.

The final government witness in the drawn-out court-martial will be called Monday. The jury was excused today while attorneys worked on documents to be submitted as evidence.

Henderson, 51, is charged with concealing the slaying of civilians by U.S. troops at My Lai by failing to report allegations of war crimes, conducting improper investigations and lying to an Army probe.

SWEEP INFANTRY

Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, who was censured and demoted because of My Lai, testified Thursday that Henderson told him on at least two occasions that only 20 civilians died in an infantry sweep through My Lai March 16, 1968, and that those casualties were caused by artillery, gunships and small arms.

"Did Col. Henderson ever tell you that a pilot believed all the bodies he'd seen were civilians and in excess of 100?" Koster was asked by Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor, the prosecutor.

"No," said the general.

"Did Col. Henderson ever tell you that the pilot reported seeing a ditch filled with bodies?"

"No."

"I accepted his report," Koster said. "I thought he had brought all the facts to me. He indicated the casualties were caused by a contested combat operation and, that while he wasn't closing the case as such, he didn't feel further investigation was warranted."

NO LIGHT

In his three hours' of testimony, Koster shed no light on the question that is in the background in the trial: How the story of the bloody operation—with more than 100 American soldiers on the ground and in the air—failed to reach command companies and beyond. The Pentagon did not become aware of the incident until a year later when a GI wrote to congressmen.

Koster was charged, along with 12 other officers, with participating in the alleged coverup, but the charges against all except Henderson were dropped.

The secretary of the Army said Koster was reduced in rank from major general because he did not fully "utilize all the investigative staff resources available to the division either to conduct an investigation or to review the investigations which were conducted."

Keeps Army From Sending Medical Officer To Vietnam

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A federal judge has barred the army from shipping a medical officer to Vietnam, pending a hearing on his efforts to win a discharge based on the "essential nature" of his work in a Los Angeles clinic.

Seeking the discharge is Capt. Jon W. Bell, an anesthesiologist.

U. S. District Court Judge Adrian Spears ordered the Army not to transfer Bell to Vietnam before a Dec. 9 hearing.

Bell told the court he applied for a discharge from the Army Reserves last June but the Army has taken no action.

He said he received orders last May instructing him to report for active duty here at Ft. Sam Houston for later assignment to Vietnam.

Bell, who accepted a commission under a delayed entry program, first sought a compassionate reassignment from Vietnam duty.

Supporting his discharge application was a letter from Dr. J. S. Denson, director of anesthetics at the Los Angeles County-University of California Medical Center.

Denson stated Bell was to be a teaching staff member at the medical center and would be staffing a clinic providing service to the "medically indigent community of Los Angeles."

Denson said there was no other doctor willing and able to substitute for Bell. "The loss of Dr. Bell from his position would impose an extreme hardship on the underprivileged people of Los Angeles," Denson said.
