U. S. Steamer Galveston Ordered To Honduran Waters

STEPS TAKEN TO PROTECT LIVES OF AMERICANS

ACTION FOLLOWS REPORT LABOR DISTURBANCES IN REPUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The United States steamer Galveston has been ordered to Ceiba, Honduras, for the protection of American lives.

Announcement of this latest move in the Latin American trouble was made Monday night by the state department following reports of labor disturbances at Ceiba, which, it was feared, might endanger the safety of American citizens.

Department of state officials said that they have no information that the Ceiba disturbances are in connection with the revolution in progress elsewhere in Honduras.

The Galveston, a cruiser commanded by Captain F. R. Kirtz and is now stationed in the Panama canal zone.

FOUR MACHINISTS SURRENDER FOR SENTENCE

EL PASO, Aug. 11.—John F. Doak, James L. Doak, C. C. Hanley and John B. Yocham, railroad machinists, convicted in the "quicksilver" case and sentenced to ten months in the county jail and fined $2,500 each, reported to the United States Marshal Monday and were committed to jail to begin serving their sentences. The case was appealed to the Federal appellate court at New Orleans and affirmed last week.

The men were convicted on a charge of interfering with interstate commerce by placing quicksilver in a locomotive during the strike of the shop craftsmen on the Southern Pacific railroad.

Hanley was chairman of the striking shopmen at Houston and the Doaks were members of the machinists union. Yocham was secretary of the machinists union at Houston.

James L. Doak, federal officials allege, confessed to his part in the affair admitting that he poured quicksilver into the dome of an engine on September 12, 1922 in El Paso.

ARMY PRIVATE WAS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS AT EL PASO MON.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 11.—United States army officials at Fort Bliss and police are making a rigid investigation in an effort to locate the assailant of private Albert Moore, of the Eighth Cavalry whose unconscious form was found lying near the E. P. and S. W. tracks on the outskirts of the city Monday. Moore is in a critical condition at the army hospital and has not regained consciousness. Officers say Moore was beaten by companions on a "party" Sunday night and they are looking for two men and three women.

BABY SUSTAINS SLIGHT INJURY IN LONG FALL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 11.—The fat little stomach of Theodore, 19 months old boy, of Mrs. Fern Watson, probably saved him from serious injuries here Monday after he had plunged 15 feet from an open window to the ground.

A record-breaking run made by an ambulance in answer to a call from the hysterical mother found Theodore on the bed kicking wildly at the air, suffering only minor bruises.

SALIENT POINTS IN DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM TO WHICH DAVIS PLEDGES HIS SUPPORT

By United News.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 11.—John W. Davis, in accepting the democratic nomination here, pledged himself to this program if elected:

Domestic.

1. Further reduction of taxes, on the principles that the rich must bear a proportionately larger share of the burden, revision and reform of the revenue laws.
2. Wiping out of the "exorbitant rates and discriminatory provisions" of the Fordney-McCumber tariff law.
3. Economy in government by supporting the budget law instituted by the republican administration.
4. More pay for government workers.
5. Aid to farmers through repeal of tariff "discriminations," active assistance to co-operative marketing, help from the government in times of distress and depression, "reasonable" railroad rates on agricultural produce, distribution of information on market conditions as well as production creation of foreign markets by aiding in a settlement of Europe's economic difficulties.
6. Aid to the disabled veterans.
7. Conservation of all natural resources.
8. Prevention of child labor and protection of women and children from human greed, and unequal laws.
9. Suppression of illicit traffic in soul destroying drugs.
10. A voice to labor "in all matters of government that directly or peculiarly affects its own rights."

Foreign.

1. Entrance into the world court.
2. Competition with foreign nations in an official capacity with the League of Nations and other agencies, looking toward entrance into the League "when the common judgment of the American people is ready for the step." Support of a referendum on the league, and when time to consider entrance comes, no concern over "terms of our adherence or the language in which those terms might be phrased."
3. A father conference on disarmament "provided it is so general in its membership and so wide in its scope as to be able to deal broadly with so broad a theme."

NEGRO OUSTED AS G. O. P. HEAD

CREDENTIALS-WASHINGTON CO. CHAIRMAN REFUSED BY COMMITTEE

By United News.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 11.—The last major negro republican official in Texas was ousted today.

The State executive committee, meeting here today, refused to recognize the credentials of Chauncey Williamson to be county chairman of Washington county and endorsed those of Paul Fricke, a white man instead.

With this action, every major officer of the republican party in the Lone Star State was a white man.

Williamson last of the negro chairman, had been county chairman of Washington county for the past six years.

Fricke is his contest for the position at which Williamson was chosen was held an hour later than was prescribed by state laws. Williamson admitted the charge, and Fricke was supported.

The committee throughout the session was busy smoothing differences before the opening of the state convention here tomorrow.

WIFE FAMOUS MEAT PACKER SUCCEUMS TO PNEUMONIA

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—The race of John and Gerald Cudaby from Chicago to the bedside of their mother has been lost. Mrs. John Cudaby widow of the late founder of the Cudaby packing company, died Monday afternoon after having been in a state of coma for over 24 hours.

Stricken suddenly with pneumonia and heart trouble, Mrs. Cudaby failed to respond to medical aid. Physicians despaired of saving her Sunday and the end came Monday afternoon. Her two sons, according to last reports, are speeding across Mexico in their dash to the coast. They are expected to arrive here Tuesday.

OKLAHOMA HAS DECREASED THE ROAD SPEED

PAWBUKA, Okla., Aug. 11.—The rural speed limit on paved roads has been reduced by the Osage county commissioners from thirty-five miles to twenty-five miles.

Officers will patrol the road.

FLYERS REFUSE ABANDON TRIP

PLAN HOP-OFF FROM ICELAND SOON AS ICE WILL PERMIT

By United News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—America's world flyers have refused to accept defeat at the hands of the Arctic weather men.

They will hop off from their present Iceland base 750 miles to Frederiksdal, Greenland as soon after August 15 as the ice will permit. The war department announced Monday night following receipt of a wireless from Lt. Lowell Smith, commanding.

Reports current in this country that the flight might have to be abandoned because of ice jams were declared by Smith to be "absolutely false."

"There is every indication that there is better weather and less ice on the east coast of Greenland after August 15. We are all in high spirits, and our only regret is the unavoidable delay," his wireless said.

Frederiksdal is on the southern coast of Greenland, northwest of Cape Farewell, and the flight there will be the longest on the schedule—more than 780 miles. The jump from Attu Island to Paramashiri in the Pacific was 880 miles, but it was broken by a forced landing at the Komandorski Islands.

NEGRO IDENTIFIED AS ATTACKER OF TWO WHITES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 11.—A pair of old shoes worn down at the heels, found in the room of Fred Brantleton, negro, will play an important part in his conviction following his identification Monday, by Mrs. Brumfield Hinman, shot in an attempted hold up on the outskirts of this city. Lawrence Bailey, a companion of Mrs. Hinman, who was also shot, was reported to be in a serious condition, attempted to identify Brantleton.

After the negro, who has been in the hands of police since shortly after the shooting, had firedly denied guilt, he was taken to the bedside of Mrs. Hinman in a hospital Monday. As Mrs. Hinman caught sight of the detectives leading the negro into her room she became semi-dysentrical.

"That's he, that's the man," she cried, throwing her hands over her face.

Brantleton admitted to police that a pair of shoes, minus chunks of leather at the heels, found in his room, belonged to him. The shoes would make tracks similar to those found around the scene according to detectives. Bloodhounds went over the same tracks three times stopping at the home of the negro in each instance.

ATTEMPT TO NAME KREMER ON BOARD STARTS ROW

By United News.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 11.—An echo of the Smith-McAdoo feud in the New York convention reverberated at the meeting of the democratic national committee Monday when an attempt was made to make J. Bruce Kremer of Montana floor manager for McAdoo, one of the committee vice chairmen.

After a two hours fight Kremer's name was withdrawn by Homer S. Cummings, of Connecticut, chairman of the resolutions committee of the New York committee, and a McAdoo supporter, Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, was selected to fill the place Kremer had held.

The fireworks started when a special committee brought in a report re-naming Kremer as the third vice chairman, Hague was substituted and Kremer was given the fourth place.

He pointed out that the convention provided for three vice chairmen, and insisted that a fourth could not be named, since Kremer was the last to be named. Moore demanded that his name be dropped and the other elected. A bitter squabble between the McAdoo and Anti-McAdoo elements in the committee ensued. Senator Walsh, of Montana made a plea for Kremer, a fellow Montanan, George Brennan, democratic boss of Illinois, made a plea of harmony. So did Norman Mack, of New York. But harmony was not in the air.

The anti-McAdoo forces were determined that Bruce Kremer should not be named. Clem L. Shaver, newly elected chairman of the committee, sought to pour oil on the troubled waters. He sustained the point of order after reading minutes of the New York convention.

That merely served to start a new storm of protest from the McAdoo forces, led by Isadore Dockweiler, of California. Shaver banged his gavel for order, but he could not drown the angry voices that came from all sections of the lodge room of the Elks Hall in which the meeting was being held.

The women who had supported McAdoo in the New York convention came to the aid. They made a plea for harmony but it was of no avail. The anti-McAdoo had the best of the parliamentary situation and they were determined to shut out Kremer.

CARLOS ADMITS WILSON MURDER

SAYS SHOT HIM FOLLOWING ATTACK MADE ON HIM IN AUTOMOBILE

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Carlos, whose husband has confessed to murdering Robert O. Wilson, found dead in a ravine near here, was released from county jail on her own recognizance today.

Though murder charges are still pending against her in connection with Wilson's death, she was allowed her freedom on condition that she appear whenever wanted by authorities.

Mrs. Carlos was formerly the common law wife of the slain man. She told authorities she lived with him six years and bore him four children: Robert Don Carlos, the woman's husband is being held while officers investigated his story that he slew Wilson when the latter attacked him in his automobile.

Carlos says he shot Wilson with a revolver. In addition to bullet wounds in Wilson's head, the skull had been split by a blow with a blunt instrument.

The bullet holes in the skull also were in such position as to throw some doubt as to whether he could have been shot from an automobile. Carlos told authorities he married the woman on July 7, fifteen days after he killed Wilson, because "I felt sorry for the wife and kids poor and helpless and thought that I had to do something for them."

HOUSTON, Aug. 11.—Upon advice of his bride of one month, Robert Don Carlos 22, today admitted slaying Robert O. Wilson, whose headless body was found July 30, in a lonely ravine near here.

Carlos and his wife who admitted having lived with Wilson six years as his common law wife, and bore him four children, were arrested in San Antonio last week. Sheriff Binford brought them back to Houston Friday night.

Early this morning Don Carlos called Assistant District Attorney Peden to his cell in the county jail. Several times he started to speak and pause. Finally he called for his wife, and she was brought to the cell.

BITTERLY ASSAILS REPUBLICANS AND PRESIDENT COOLIDGE FOR SCANDALS IN ADMINISTRATION

By THOMAS L. STOKES.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Charging that the republican party with corruption in office, favoritism in legislation, and division and discord that has let it a "leaderless and incoherent mob" John W. Davis has taken the helm of the democratic party with the campaign appeal that "it is the supreme need of the hour to bring back to the people confidence in their government."

The allied forces of greed and dishonesty, of self-seeking and partnership, of prejudice and ignorance, threaten today as they have rarely done before the perpetuity of our national ideals, traditions and institutions, he declared Monday night to his townspeople, who worked tirelessly for his nomination and to leaders of his party, who gathered here to notify him formally of his choice as standard-bearer.

AGREEMENT ON EVACUATION OF RUHR IS NEAR

MEETING IS DEADLOCKED OVER SPECIFIC TIME FOR EVACUATION

By United News.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Amicable agreement relative to the military evacuation of the Ruhr Valley is about to be reached, throughout Monday the principle delegates of Belgium, France and Germany discussed the problem. The Germans are asking that evacuation be completed within six months. Belgium and France, have parred with a proposal to withdraw their troops at the end of two years. There was no disposition and it generally is believed that the evacuation will take place between nine months and one year from now. Absolute certainty is expressed among observers and delegates not directly concerned in the Ruhr valley that an agreement will be reached. The protocol in which will be incorporated the terms of the allied and international conferences will be signed Friday. It is freely predicted by many well informed persons.

The reparations conference proper has all but accomplished its work. The 14 principle delegates have agreed to the reports of the three committees which have been considering various aspects of the Dawes plan. Now the conference who are directly involved in the Ruhr controversy have stepped aside to permit Belgium, France and Germany to work out a solution of their own.

$10,000 ASKED BY WOMAN IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

By United News.

HOUSTON, Aug. 11.—"Harsh language," may cost the Houston Electric Company $10,000.

Mrs. Floyd Carter says she asked the motorman to let her off at the corner and that he talked back to her in "very harsh language."

So "harsh" was the language that Mrs. Carter says she swooned, falling against a seat and injuring her "back and feelings" to the extent of $10,000.

The above is alleged in a suit for that amount filed against the Houston Electric company by Mrs. Carter and her husband.

PARSONS COLLEGE BEGINS SECOND YEAR SOON

International News Service.

PARSONS, Kans., Aug. 11.—The Parsons Junior College will begin its second year of work September 8. According to present indications the enrollment will reach 150 students. Tuition is given free to one student from each county high school.

"There is a feeling abroad in the too general to be ignored too deep seated for any trifling that men in office can no longer be trusted to keep faith with those who sent them there, and that the powers of government are being exercised in the pursuit of personal gain instead of the common service."

Coolidge is Rapped.

Davis followed his broadside against "corruption in office" as revealed by investigations in congress with another against President Coolidge and republican leaders whose effort it has been to weaken the effect of these exposures by crying out against the guilty but against those who exposed them.

"What shall we say when a statement comes from some who of all men should have been most deeply stirred that the wonder is not that so many have fallen but that so few have been shown untrue?" He asked referring to President Coolidge's address in New York last February.

Declaring that "no taint dishonesty or corruption has ever attached to any man holding public office during that great struggle, or to any man who continued to hold office under the federal government until March 4, 1921" Davis said that "shell shock was late indeed in arriving if it is to be put forward now as the excuse for those gross misdeeds."

Turning to the record of the administration he assailed the Fordney-McCumber tariff, the attempt to force the Mellon tax bill through congress, the failure to effect the world court and an association of nations as promised by President Harding, and the republican party's "division in council and impotence in action."

Party Pledges Recalled.

On his behalf, he pledged the democratic party if placed in power to this domestic plan: Further reduction of taxation; economy in government; aid to the farmers; wiping out of exorbitant rates and discriminatory provisions of the present tariff law.

More pay for government workers; further aid to veterans; laws for protection of women and children; enforcement of the prohibition law; in the field of foreign affairs, Davis pledged himself to the world court, announced his readiness for further conference on disarmament, and declared that "we do not and we cannot accept the dictum unauthorized by any expressions of popular will that the league of nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned."

The nominee expressed a lack of concern about the method of entrance as far as reservations are concerned and expressed approval of a referendum on the league by the people.

Without mentioning the Ku Klux, Davis approved at length the religious freedom plank in the party platform, saying that "no danger that the mind can picture equals in its hideous possibilities the coming in this country of a separation of its citizenship into discordant groups along racial or religious lines."

THOUSANDS HOME TOWN FOLK THROG TO HEAR DAVIS' ACCEPTANCE SPEECH DESPITE HEAVY RAIN; BIG DEMONSTRATION GIVEN

By United News.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 11.—The home town of John W. Davis showed its affection for the Democratic candidate when thousands and thousands of his fellow citizens stood packed like sardines in a downpour or rain to hear his speech of acceptance.

The throng stretched for half a mile down the rolling slopes which led away from Goff's Plaza where the ceremony took place.

The rain started to patter down gently about half way through the speech of notification by Senator Walsh. It became a steady downpour just as Davis was presented but the mammoth throng stayed.

Here and there an umbrella raised by a lucky citizen. Newspapers, beaverboard and other make-shifts were used. A few went up to the speakers stand and tore away the red, white and blue bunting and used it to protect their heads. But not for long. It began to fall and run down their faces and had to be discarded.

The four score newspapermen in the press section fought in teams. One held an umbrella or a piece of beaverboard or a newspaper over his mate to enable him to write on dry paper.

Davis was given a prolonged demonstration when he was introduced to the crowd and finally had to hold up his hand so that he could go ahead with his speech. When the demonstration for Senator Walsh who had preceded Davis had subsided after long and wholehearted ovation, Clem F. Shaver, chairman of the Democratic national committee, stepped to the front smiling. The crowd knew what was coming. There was a hush over the great throng.

"Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Davis," Shaver said, and stepped back. Davis stepped up and the crowd broke loose.

As Davis continued his speech the rain began to come down in torrents. The noise of the rain and of people talking almost drowned his voice but he continued. He was talking to millions over the radio and the crowd stayed.

Arnold white haired fellow in the crowd looked up with a wicked smile, and said:

"I wonder what republican is responsible for this?"

The platform on which Davis stood and the band stand, were the only places of shelter in the immediate vicinity. The rain beat into the little speaker's booth. However, he soaked the Democratic candidate. From time to time Davis mopped his brow with a dripping handkerchief. But he smiled at the crowd; he continued gestulating with a clenched fist as he drove home his points.

The enthusiasm of the crowd was dampened not a whit by the torrential downpour, which soaked their clothes and dripped uncomfortably down their necks.

In the midst of the torrent Davis' speech was interrupted for a moment when a big mountaineer with a bountiful voice began to chant the popular song: "It aint goin' rain no mo." The crowd took up the tune but stopped when the rain started with added force.

They never ceased to applaud despite the downpour. Time after time applause swept through the crowd as Davis attacked the republican administration.

The name of "Woodrow Wilson" brought a great cheer. The rain poured harder. The crowd stayed, laughing and joking about the rain. It was such a storm of the hills as no one could remember under any similar conditions.

As the rain spouted stronger, soaking the already drenched audience Davis stopped and turned to Shaver who sat behind him to ask if he should continue speaking. His answer came from the crowd: "Go on Johnnie go on," came from all portions of the throng.

"We're with you till hell freezes over," shouted an old fellow standing just below the speakers box pulling his coat collar about his neck.

Davis raised his hand and the crowd subsided.

Then a man came out and put an umbrella over Davis, not so much to dry the candidate as to protect his manuscript. The nominee turned up his coat collar. A loud roar came from a group of miners who had come down from the hills to hear the speech when Davis reached the portion of his address assailing the injunctious in labor disputes.

Mrs. Inella Brown, defeated candidate for senator in the Democratic primaries, rushed to the speaker's booth and seized the rain soaked original manuscript of Davis' acceptance speech.

The crowd made a rush for the stands and thousands literally fought to climb the rail and shake hands with Davis.

It's a darn lazy man who, when selecting a lawn-mower, will pick out a sheep.

DAVIS SOUNDS DEMO.

CRATIC BATTLE CRY

dress, Davis linked the rise of the clan without naming it with the prevalent "distrust" into which he said the government had fallen.

"Out of this and because of it," he said in this connection, "there has developed an alarming tendency to take the administration of the law out of the hands of constituted officials and to execute its processes through individuals or through organized societies, but methods little different from those of private revenge."

Coolidge and His Leaders. In his attack on the administration Davis singled out for a vigorous attack the disagreement between President Coolidge and his leaders on congress.

"Whenever before did a party in control of the executive and of a majority in both houses of congress present so pitiable a spectacle of discord and division? An executive who cannot or will not lead a congress that cannot and will not follow—how can good government exist, under such conditions?"

Of the administration foreign policy, the nominee declared, "we must face the humiliating fact that we have a government that does not dare to speak its mind beyond the three mile limit."

"The Washington conference alone, and that of more than doubtful value, what single contribution has the United States of America as an organized nation among nations, made to world peace in the last four years?" Davis asked.

"Not only have the executive recommendations for adherence to the world court, sanctioned as they are by long American tradition and example been flouted and ignored, but no evidence is in sight that the republican party as now constituted can frame and carry to its conclusion any definite and consistent foreign policy."

"Providence does not give the gifts of peace to those who will not labor to achieve them," Davis said, turning to his aims if elected.

"In the name of the Democratic party, therefore, I promise to the country that my entire program will be directed to this end and will lack no approval and cooperation. We favor the world court in sincerity and not merely for campaign purposes or as any avenue of escape from the consideration of larger questions."

"We wish to see America as a nation play her part in that reconstruction of the economic life of Europe which has proven itself so indispensable to our well-being and prosperity. We are ready for any conference of disarmament provided it is so general in its membership and so wide in its scope as to be able to deal broadly with so broad a theme. We do not and we cannot accept the distant unauthorized by any expression of popularity the will of the league of nations is a closed incident so far as we are concerned. We deny the right of any man to thus shut the gates of the future against us and to write the fatal word 'Never' across the face of our foreign policy."

He said until this country enters the league, he regarded it as the duty of the president to cooperate officially in all endeavors whether initiated by league or other sources to lessen the prospect of war.

"If I become president of the United States, America will sit as an equal among equals whenever she sits at all"—Davis continued.

Farmers Problems. Turning to the farmers, Davis said the democrats promise no patronage but such laws and such administration of the laws as will enable them to prosper in their own right. "He characterized the attack on his products as 'the baldest attempt to aid the farmer by a tariff of false pretense.'"

"Believing that no people are truly free who are unjustly taxed, we promise to the people of America not only revision and reform but a further reduction in the taxes that weigh men down and sap vigor if their productive energy," Davis said, in addressing himself to the tax problem.

"The rates of the income tax should be further lowered. Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation no matter on whom the burden falls. I am ready to agree that there is no right in government to tax any man beyond its need solely because he is rich; and yet, I stoutly hold that every distaste of reason and morality supports the rule that those who drive from the common effort of society a greater share of its earning than their fellows must contribute to the support of the state a proportionately larger share of that which they have received."

The nominee declared that the rights of labor "must not be impaired either by injunction or by any other device."

"Democracy in government and democracy in industry alike," he said, demand the free recognition of right of all those who work, in whatever rank or place, to share in all decisions that affect their welfare."

Mr. Chairman and Member of the Committee: You will understand, with little explanation in my part, the feelings which have led me to fix our meeting at this spot in the hills of West Virginia. These are the hills that cradled me and to which as boy and man I lifted up my eyes for help. In this soil rest four generations of my people—artisans, tradesmen, farmers and a sprinkling of the professions, laborers all, who played in simple fashion their appointed parts in the life of this community. Among them now lie those who gave me life, and to whose high precept and example I owe all that I have ever been and all that I can hope to be. These witnesses who surround us are the companions of my youth and manhood. With them most of my days have been spent, and when circumstances have called me elsewhere they have followed me with a regard and affection that has laid on me a debt of gratitude greater than I can repay. Twenty-five years ago they first called me to their service as their representative in the legislature of this state, and since that day, in public office or private life, I have fought with them unceasingly the battle for democratic ideals and democratic principles. Of their own free will and motion they presented my name to the Democratic Convention as one deserving its consideration. Better than all others, they will know whether what I shall say to you today is in keeping with the convictions I have expressed and the action I have taken in the past, and more than any others, they will resent anything I may say or do that shows their confidence misplaced. It is in the presence of these hills, these graves, these witnesses, that I wish to hear your message and give you my reply.

You come to give me official notice that I have been chosen by the Democratic Party as its nominee for the highest office in the gift of the American people. You invite me to take the reins of leadership and marshal its hosts for the coming campaign. No weightier commission could be laid on any man. He must be vain indeed who does not feel his own unaided strength inadequate to such a task, and he must be ambitious beyond reason whom thought of fame or honor tempts to undertake it without the fullest sympathy with his party and its aims. I reflect, however, that you are the representatives of millions of Americans who are dissatisfied with existing conditions, who long for the day when America will set her face to the front again and who are ready to follow whenever the forward march begins. And I have read your platform and its declarations of party principle and find them such as I can heartily approve. For these things I thank God, and take courage.

thing, Robert," she urged, "don't hock back anything."

Don Carlos then told how he had quarreled with Wilson on June 21 while riding in his car on the Galveston road a few miles from Houston.

"Wilson had been drinking and hit me," Carlos said. "Once he hit me and I told him not to do it again. Then he grabbed me around the neck. I stopped the car and he attacked me again. I grabbed my gun out of the pocket of the car and shot him."

"When I saw he was dead I got scared. I dragged his body from the road and threw it into the ditch nearby."

Then I got to thinking about his wife and the children and what they would do. I decided to do the best by them. Finally I hinted to her that I would be willing to marry her if she would leave Wilson.

"We were married July 7 and left for San Antonio where we were arrested," according to the confession.

Carlos and his wife were sought for after neighbors in the tent city where they lived told authorities that he had quarreled with Wilson and told him not to bother Mrs. Wilson anymore.

Wilson was a calendar salesman for a Chicago concern, traveling from town to town in his car. He had been here several weeks. Two of the Wilson children are dead and two are in a Houston institution.

WRECKED FLYER ABOARD SHIP TO GET NEW PLANE

By United News.

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. RAL- EIGH, Aug. 11.—Lt. Leigh Wade, whose flight as one of the American round the world flyers was temporarily discontinued last week when he was forced into the sea just off the Orkneys by engine trouble will pilot his two brother flyers to Greenland. Wade is aboard the Raleigh, which is enroute to Greenland. At the front of the vessel, there is a seaplane which Wade will use in piloting Lt. Lowell Smith and Lt. Eric Nelson to a safe landing on Greenland's ice-bound shores.

The Raleigh's destination is Angmagalik the next scheduled stop of the flyers, who are now in Reykjavik, Iceland.

At Angmagalik the Raleigh expects to get in touch with the Danish steamship Gertrude Rask which was to have been the provision and supply ship for the American flyers.

The Gertrude Rask was near Angmagalik early this week when it was caught in drifting ice fields, and carried about 100 miles away from its destination.

Lt. Wade will also attempt to spot a landing for the two flyers along the icy coast near Angmagalik. The two Americans in Iceland are waiting radio messages from the Raleigh before starting the next leg of their journey home-ward.

A FATAL STORM STRIKES EAST COLORADO

By United Press.

DENVER, Aug. 11.—Two of five who were injured in a tornado that killed nine outright may die, physicians said today following a cyclone that tore through Eastern Colorado late Sunday. The nine killed were seated around a dining table at Thurman and had no chance to flee from the home as it collapsed.

ANN LUTHER THROWN INTO CHASM OF DEJECTION WHEN DEFENSE WITNESS HINTS HE WAS INSTRUCTED AS TO TESTIMONY

LOS ANGELES, August 11.—Ann Luther was in a much more cheerful mood Monday, but toward the close of the day's court sessions in her $100,000 suit against Jack White, her buoyancy gave way to dejection.

Cross-examination of one of her witnesses, Ben Rothwell, motion picture broker, and booker, hinted at an irregularity in which the actress was charged directly with having instructed Rothwell a few moments before the afternoon session opened.

Paul Schenck, attorney for White, asked Rothwell flatly:

"Did you not, 5 or 10 minutes before this session, tell Miss Luther that you would say to the jury, in 1922 that she was under contract and could not accept any other picture work?"

Rothwell denied the charge hotly, and Ann's fluffing head bobbed excitedly as she registered deep indignation at the accusation.

Schenck's query came after Rothwell had been asked, during cross-examination:

"Did you ever make an effort to place Miss Luther through your office?"

And Rothwell had explained that he had made efforts to give her work but that she had told him she could not accept because of a contract which controlled her services.

Schenck's intimation of an attempt by Ann to influence Rothwell's testimony was the first thrill the crowded courtroom had secured Monday.

Miss Luther's attorneys attempted to squish the injection of the charge, but were unsuccessful. The actress, whose reputation and acting ability had been praised earlier in the day, faded noticeably as the startling development came.

Bringing in the name of Charles Jones, former Los Angeles chief of police, Schenck asked Rothwell if he knew him. The witness answered "No."

"But did not you state to Jones that you had tried to employ Miss Luther, but that no studio would have anything to do with her because she had no box-office value?"

Rothwell said he did not know Jones, and could have spoken to him about anything.

"Did not you tell Jones that Miss Luther's picture in New York 'had flopped'?" Schenck demanded ignoring Rothwell's reply.

Again the witness repeated that he did not know Jones.

"Didn't you say that Miss Luther could never stand a case in court because of the unravelling of her reputation, and that the movies would be better off without persons in it like her?"

Rothwell answered: "No."

When asked to compare Miss Luther's acting with other featured players Rothwell said that she was about as popular as Bessie Love, Leatrice Joy and Rose Mary Thoby.

Before Rothwell's testimony a deposition of H. M. Horkelmer, motion picture producer and agent, read as evidence. Horkelmer although professionally known to Ann but slightly declared her "chastity, honesty, truth and integrity" above reproach.

He explained that she rated about fifth in the list of actresses doing serial pictures, but that he had never employed her.

Call Meeting of Music Club

Miss A. E. Hanson, President of the Music Club of Lubbock, announces that there will be a called meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon at four-thirty at the Methodist church.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss and decide upon a study course for the coming year, and to discuss questions concerning music and piano scholarships which are to be awarded by the club. The recital to be given this fall will also be discussed. The Music Club will begin its active work the first of October.

The Junior Missionary Society of the Methodist church rendered the following program at the Orphans Home, Friday evening at eight o'clock:

Song—The Lives on High.
Prayer—Rev. McMillen.
Song—The Knees of the Saints.
Talk—Rev. McMillen.
Reading—Orval Harding.
Story—Margaret Turner.
Song—Blest Be The Tie.

The management seemed to appreciate the interest of the young people very much and expressed the hope that they come again.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Worsham, ten miles northwest of the city, Mr. Fred Worsham and Miss Corlie Almon, were united in marriage, Sunday, August 10th, Rev. C. E. Lynn, of Lubbock, officiating. Mr. Worsham has resided in this section of the country for a number of years and is one of the real fine young men of the county.

He is one of our most progressive young farmers and is succeeding as one of the big farmers of the South Plains.

Mr. Worsham numbers his friends and well-wishers by the score. Miss Almon was one of the charming and accomplished young ladies of the Hale Center community and has many friends in that and other communities. Miss Almon carries all the time a charm and winsomeness that wins for her a host of friends wherever she may be.

The wedding was solemnized at high noon. Immediately after the ceremony the company present was seated about a well-laden dining table where a most sumptuous dinner was served, and which was

CONFERENCE FATE LEFT IN HANDS FRENCH GROUP

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Except for the Ruhr question the allied conference practically completed its work today. It was decided to leave this question up to France, Belgium and Germany and this afternoon it was believed that an agreement was near at hand. Another important step was taken when France agreed to grant amnesty to all prisoners taken in the Ruhr and Rhine-land except those connected with murder. France today agreed to evacuate eleven months after the Dawes plan goes into effect but Germany asks six months.

Longevity of the race has been increased an average of two years since 1900, in which period the number of medical graduates has steadily declined. Still, that may not be the only explanation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Typhoid fever, perennial summer scourge, is dying out in the United States.

Twenty years ago the arrival of hot weather inevitably presaged the deaths of many children from Typhoid, the quarantining of many homes, and overtime work for the doctors.

Today, as the result of the work carried on by the United States Public Health Service, the disease has been almost obliterated, according to figures recently given out by the Census Bureau.

In 1900 typhoid caused the death of 31.3 persons out of every 100,000 of population. Today it takes less than three persons out of 100,000. There has been a proportionate falling off in the number of cases.

This triumph over disease germs has been a great economic saving, Census Bureau officials say. And here is the way they calculate it.

Economists, working out the problem mathematically, have estimated the monetary worth of every man to society to be $2,500 at a minimum.

There was an average annual death rate of 240,000 from typhoid, the nation was suffering an economic loss of $20,000,000 from typhoid every 12 months.

GEOLOGISTS OF HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY HAVE HEADQUARTERS IN LUBBOCK

By United Press.

Aug. 11.—Robert B. Campbell, geologist of the Humble Oil & Refining Company, has selected Lubbock for his headquarters in the making a geological survey of the Plains country.

"Mitchell, Reagan and North Plains counties now have oil" stated Mr. Campbell "and so has Aransas New Mexico. Though a survey was made for our company in the Plains country one time before we are now making a more intensive survey and while doing this work I selected Lubbock for my headquarters."

The control of the disease, the Public Health Service believes, has been steady, and due to two factors:

1. Development of anti-typhoid serum.

2. Vast sanitary improvement all over the country and purification of municipal water supplies as the result of a campaign of education waged by the government.

In a few years health officials say, the disease will be unknown in the United States. The origin, of the germ and the manner of its spread is unknown, and rigid measures against it are now in general usage.

FORWARD MARCH.

Every town is always on the go, and it is usually
on the forward stroke, it never reverses or backs up, but is continually pressing forward. This is caused by each individual taking an interest in the town and is anxious to do everything that will advance the growth of the community. The Rotary club has a motto that is necessary in building a town or city and that is "service above self, or he profits most who serves best." This applied to town building is as sure to build a city out of a town as the sun shines, and when a few thousand fellows with that motto written across their faces, and stepping out on a building program together, something is going to happen and that quickly and surely. The growth of a town depends largely upon the way
the individual takes hold of things, and determines to go ahead with it. Leadership is good and is necessary, but without response on the part of the fellows who are following there can be nothing accomplished of great importance.

We like the various clubs of the city, the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and Kiwanis Club, and the various civic and literary clubs because we see in them the development of men and women in the work that is necessary for town building.

As well as a town building spirit let us have a spirit of civic pride and make a clean sweep of the trash and rubbish in the city. We note that the clean-up spirit is gradually working in on the residential section of the city. Many have cleaned up their premises nicely and others are working to that end, and every day we notice new workers in the field, and as a result the town is getting cleaned and looking better. Contrast is a wonderful thing and the contrast between some of the yards with that of the other fellow is very striking. Clean up your place and your neighbor, if he is not the sor-riest fellow in the world, he will clean up also. There are very few people who do not want to do the right thing about cleaning up, if they can only be touched on the right spot.

You lead out, and if your neighbor does not follow you will be surprised, and you will at least show him up which will be worth the effort.

REPUBLICAN RESPONSIBILITY.

It is reported that in his speech of acceptance
John W. Davis will "lay great stress upon honesty in government." This is desirable all together apart from the demands and opportunities of the politics of the hour. The cynical attitude of Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee is distinctly unwholesome morally. It would brush aside
the oil lease scandals, the bribery of Secretary Fall,
the mal-administration of Attorney General Daugherty,
etc., as something merely "ephemeral" which need not and will not affect the campaign. In other words, the people are quick to forget and such corruption is a matter of very slight importance.
Such an attitude is not good for the country and it is impossible to believe that it will be good for the Republican party.

John W. Davis could not have a better opportunity to lay stress on honesty, on strict accountability, in public life, pointing to the indifference and looseness of moral fibre among officials that led to the conditions revealed in the investigations at Washington. A rude shaking up, followed by a quickened sense of moral responsibility in every branch of the public service, is far more important than mere party success at the polls. It may well be doubted whether the party loyalty is a bond strong enough to carry the more conscientious elements of the Republican party with Chairman Butler in his cynical view. The fact that one or two Democrats were more or less remotely involved can not be used to obscure the issue. It was a Republican Administration in which the corruption was found and it is incumbent upon the Republican party to show a readiness to disavow and denounce
the Republicans who so dishonored the government of their country, in sharp contrast with the policy of Chairman Butler who, in belittling, begets suspicion of even a readiness to condone the scandalous conditions.

In this connection, the New York Times speaks to the point and is none too severe when it says:
"What we have to recall and reiterate is not simply an isolated act of bribery; not alone a separate betrayal of trust; nor solely the smirching of one individual reputation or another. The deplorable and demanding thing, the thing that ceilings and stings, is the corrupt atmosphere that surrounded the Republican administration for so many months.
Chairman Butler may forget, but the rest of us will not, the invasion of Washington by a whole band of political harpies and vultures. An astounding number of them descended on the capital from Ohio. But they winged their way also from other States to what they scented as the carcass in Washington. Men unblemished 'on the make!' Some of them wanted office, all of them wanted money.
And they went after it in the spirit of pirates falling upon their prey. The total impression was of a sort never to be forgiven or condoned. Certain charges may not have been true but there was no mistaking the net and undeniable result. The most insidious danger to the republic had been discovered before the eyes of the people—the danger that official action and the course of the government be swayed by corrupt and mercenary motives."

DESIRE FOR MONEY LEADS TO RUIN.

The papers are full of stuff concerning the bad
doings of men and women who have more dollars
than sense.
Bad management always leads to trouble, if not to wreck and ruin. Bad management of matrimonial affairs is no exception to the rule, or, rather, to the law. Bad conditions in any sort of system are sure to crop out. If in the human system bails, and sores, and various physical defects, and imperfections manifest themselves.

Bad condition in homes, or in society, are no less certain to come to the surface, and no amount of whitewash, glossing or veneering, can hide the ugly ulcers. Money will render the mendacious about as long as anything, but it will not suppress the stench.

It is the foolish desire for money that makes anarchists of men who would otherwise be good citizens. The sight of rich-do-nothing men and women cause young men and women to desire money so that they may become do-nothings. Young women sell themselves to worthless men who have money, while young men of many parts sell themselves as slaves to women who sooner or later come to love them less than they do their poodles.

No doubt you may have known fond and foolish parents who once were proud of their bright sons and daughters, but now are ashamed, heartbroken, and in the depths of despair of the blighting curse they put upon their children.

The getting of money for laudable purposes is worthy and commendable, but getting it merely for the sake of possessing it, or for the purpose of gratifying whims and passing desires is one of the worst habits one can fall into.

The present social conditions of the Anglo-Saxon, element in this country is not as promising and hopeful as could be desired.

The size of the native American family is now
less than three, when before the war it was five.
What meaneth these figures, The Goths and Vandals of Europe have been invading this country for years, and with average families of six, how long will it be until they have conquered us as completely as they conquered great Rome?

Isn't it about time that teachers and preachers
should take up these matters and present the folly and the sin of it so that coming generations may avoid the misery of it all?

BRITISH LABOR PARTY WINS CONFIDENCE.

In Great Britain the influence of the trade-unions on the Labor Party of which the unions are the basic part has been decidedly conservative and the whole nation seems to be behind the party's foreign policy. This in large measure explains the confidence which the party has inspired in the nation.
The trade-unions have resisted Communism, and though some Communists have gained admittance to unions, it has been in secret and by the process of buying from within. Such men as Ramsay Macdonald and Philip Snowden are decidedly not Communists.

For these reasons the British Labor Party has ceased to be regarded as dangerous, even by the most bitter of its opponents. The situation really developed of what might be called a two-party government in Great Britain. On the one side are the Conservatives and on the other is Labor backed up and kept in office by the Liberals.

The fact that Labor has been allowed to take the reins of office is of very great importance. It has shown the leaders of the laboring classes that they can use by constitutional means. It has shown them that there is a better means of achieving their ends than by force, by strikes the policy of "direct action." Holding only about a third of actual representation in Parliament, it is as though their radical theories had been diluted there through force of superior numbers. Thus all this the Liberal Party is forced to play a minor role.

BEAUTY AIDS IN GREAT DEMAND.

A thorough investigation of one New York department store shows 1,675 kinds of powder—
face, talcum, loose, compact and liquid—also on sale and 1,396 kinds of perfume, 252 toilet waters, and 204 sachets, 600 beauty creams, cleansing creams, massage creams and reducing creams, freckle
creams, the richest creams and so on, not counting 100 lotions and about as many special skin foods.

Hair preparations are almost as numerous as skin remedies. There are 400 bandolins, brilliantines, dyes, restorers, shampoos and tonics.
There are almost as many combs. Soaps number 452, and bath preparations more than 200.
Lipsticks may be had by 251 names, and eyebrow and eyelash applications in 110 styles.

Nearly all these have been created by designing men as aids to feminine beauty—and many of the manufacturers have grown rich, while beauty
still struggles at the old stand.

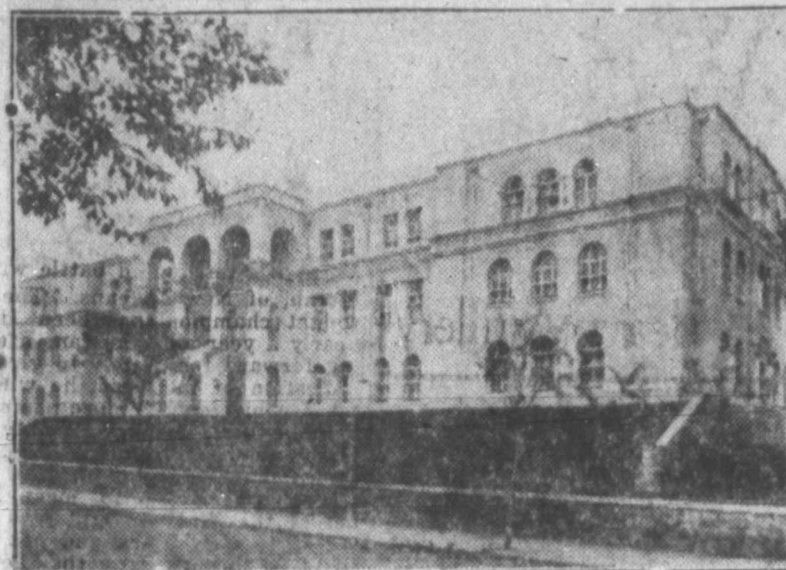

Now the retailers are up in arms and they declare there are too many kinds. They demand stand-ardization permitting a reduction of space, investment, clerk-hire and losses. Here's an opportunity for some progressive promoter to form a gigantic combination with millions of common stock among women, while the bonds may be held by the promoters.

There are in the United States 34,500,000 registered voters. In 1920 only 26,000,000 went to the polls on election day and put an X before the name of the man they wished to have as their president. For everyone who voted there was one who did not, with 2,500,000 more on this side of ledger than on the other. Thus less than 50 per cent of the people were interested enough to perform the "tedious" task of voting.

American athletics have again won first place in the field and track at Colombes in competition with all nations, defeating their nearest competition by nearly 35 per cent in points. Ever since the inauguration of these contests, thirty years ago, the Americans have been victors year after year. It is a wonderful record.

During the first five months of this year more than $8,000,000 worth of goods were exported by parcel post.

"COLLEGIO BAPTIST BRAZILEIRO"

The Brazilian Baptist Woman's College at Sao Paulo, Brazil

Rev. E. M. Ingram, president of the mission school for girls and young women in Brazil, spoke at the Baptist Church Monday afternoon at 8:30 to the Women's Auxiliary and Monday night to the general public. He has just come home after six years of service in the state of Sao Paulo, and is spending the year's furlough visiting about, speaking on his work and experiences in Brazil.

It will be remembered that his city is the seat of the present revolt and he is most interesting information regarding the same and confirmed the fact that the normal population of the city is 500,000 inhabitants and in 1923 held the world's record on building permits.

The state by the same name is the coffee country, exporting almost half of the coffee of the world.
The marvelous growth of the Baptist mission schools and of the evangelistic work in that South American republic, larger than the United States, is an interesting tale that Mr. Ingram has to tell.

Baylor students will remember this returned missionary as "Happy." He took his degree from Baylor, then the seminary and also from Yale, and after four years as pastor in Calvert, went out to take up his work in the above mentioned college at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Today there are men and women, that claim to be religious who deny that the Bible was formulated by inspiration, that is the whole Bible, they accept that part that suits their ideas, and reject that part that don't.

Loyalty and devotion for the God of Heaven, the creator of this universe and man, the father of our Savior who died upon the Cross,
that men and women might be saved
has caused me to write this article.

Why Not A Modern Gehenna For Lubbock?

In a recent issue of the Morning
Avalanche there was suggested some improvement of rather that some improvement was very necessary in the management of the city's waste disposal.

We think the Editor is eminently correct and that dump ground is to say the least no credit to this splendid city.

As stated by the Editor, many carcasses are left to decay that should be by all means burned. After more than 2000 years of waste
we sometime call advance we certainly should be up to the standard of the Jews. That far back in the remote past there was a valley near the city of Jerusalem called the valley of Hinnom or Gehenna into which all garbage and the dead bodies of animals were cast and burned up and under their law

they had to be burned and it is said the fire was kept by burning night and day continually and to that was brimstone added to make sure that all was burned. At that date they did not have the modern sewer systems we now have and they had to use fire to destroy all the garbage of the city. This valley was much lower than the level of the city and the refuse was thrown over the precipice into the fire below, and anything that caught on the crags of the rocks was destroyed by the worms, which with fire below completed the destruction of whatever was to go into the valley or furnace below.

This valley to the Jews represented complete destruction of any thing that was thrown in that place but nothing was permitted to be placed in there alive. Sometimes the bodies of great criminals were thrown in there after death execution as a warning to others.

Now with our pretended progress
we ought to be at least able to do for Lubbock what the Jews did more than 2000 years ago. The writer wishes that dump ground
some months ago and there was dead animals of every description, laying all over almost the entire ground and many wagon loads of feathers and paper boxes and every imaginable thing laying indifferently over the place. The entire tract. These things should all be burned. A place could be scraped out long and deep and all such things as described in the Avalanche thrown in that place and burned up even if we had to add some brimstone like the Jews did in their time. This would save the stenk mentioned in the Avalanche;
would save in all probability some epidemic of slow fever in this city sometime or later and beyond all doubt it would add to the good appearance of Lubbock.

It seems much easier for the Princes of Wall Street to make a rummy.

THE REAL EUROPEAN PROBLEM IS TO GET ENGLAND AND FRANCE TO COOPERATE.

FAVORS NEGRO EQUALITY IN OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—In reply to a letter from Charles Garner, of New York, President Coolidge today declared he would not join any effort to prevent negroes from running for public offices including congress and asserted that he was amazed at anyone attempting to bar the blacks from the privilege of white. He pointed to the war record of negroes and constitutional equality as his argument.

OKLAHOMA COTTON MAN VISITING IN LUBBOCK

B. M. Willingham, of Ardmore, Okla., is spending a few days here with his friends, Mr. Simmons of the Congress and Mr. Hardin, of the Cotton Exchange. Mr. Willingham stated that the crops in Oklahoma are in the best condition that they have been in for many years, and that it is probable that Oklahoma will ship around a million bales the coming season.

Mr. Willingham also stated that the crops in this section from Vernon to Lubbock are in wonderful condition,
and that in a good many sections around Paducah he believes they will make a bale to the acre.

Mr. Willingham is here with a view of locating.

The owner of the wrecked Katy closed his remarks by a pollyanna remark, saying: "Well maybe he just wanted to weight it down
until he was sure I would have it."

Then addressing his chapeau leader-ly he said: "Hat, you was, hat you ain't now."

Well, why shouldn't speech be free? Very little of it is worth anything.

AMARILLO HELD SCORELESS BEYOND FIRST INNING SUNDAY AFTERNOON AND LOCALS COP FAST EXHIBITION 7-3

Undaunted by a three run lead taken by Amarillo here Sunday afternoon, in the first inning, the locals launched a vicious counter attack for one run in each of the first four innings, at the same time putting up a stiff defensive battle, holding the visitors scoreless beyond the first inning, and romped away with final honors against the representatives of the north plains by a count of 7 to 3, in one of the stiffest exhibitions seen here this season.

A single, a bonhead, and three errors on the part of the locals in the initial session, "spotted" the visitors to a nice lead of three runs in this frame, but beyond this things tightened up, and the Gasser, City lads were unable to count. Terry gave up only seven strikes during the nine innings.

Teddy Nicklaus, Golden: Sandstormers ace, was hit hard the entire route, being through with a total of fourteen bingles charged to him, one of which was a homer by DeLong in the second inning. DeLong by the way, had a "bad" day at bat, getting a home run, a double, and a single out of four trips.

Jackson easily proved the sensation of the day by his long running catches in left, which seemingly were impossible, and his perfect control in throws to the plate which cut off at least two runs for the visitors.

One run ahead in the eighth inning, with six visitors having staged an almost fatal comeback in their bid, the locals drove hard and consistently for a sufficient lead to blast all hope of a ninth inning rally, for which the Gasser City is famed. Three runs were chalked up in this half. Sanders, leading off, went to first when hit by pitcher; DeLong doubled; Hunter went out short to first, and Sanders scored; Allen singled, scoring DeLong; Terry went out short to first advancing Allen, who scored on Jackson's single.

ALL SECOND DIVISION CLUBS TROUNCED BY LEADERS

The first division clubs of the National League gave the loiterers in the second division a unanimous slugging in Monday's games of ball which constituted the entire major league program of the day, the American League being idle in all sectors.

The Giants beat the Reds 4 to 2 in New York. Earlier in the day clubs had sat in the Giants dressing rooms and watched a movie of ancient baseball projected by Hal Roach, the producer, who made the old Baltimore Orioles of John McGraw and Hugh Jennings, live again on the screen. McGraw the scrappy infielder of the Orioles known as the man who had a thousand fights and never won one, was well pleased with the drama inasmuch as it showed him a winner in several casual bouts.

The Pirates, occupants of second place, grabbed two games from the Phillies in Philadelphia 7 to 3 and 6 to 4. The Cubs who have slid into third place, checked themselves temporarily by defeating the Braves again in Boston 3 to 2. Branch Rickey's Cards were bowed out by the Dodgers in Brooklyn 2 to 1.

BENNY LEONARD TO DEFEND HIS TITLE

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—Benny Leonard will step from the role of inactive champion here Monday night in a ten round battle with Pal Moran, of New Orleans. The lightweight champion has been idle for nearly a year and the fans are looking forward for Benny to give some indication of the form he will muster for his much more important meeting with Mickey Walker, welterweight champion on August 20, at the Yank stadium in New York.

Leonard signed to meet Moran before the Walker fight was transferred to New York and has decided to go through with the Cleveland engagement in spite of the protests from the New York officials.

Against Moran the Champion will not be required to make the lightweight limit. Despite his long idleness Leonard's skill and manner of living are expected to see him thru in good shape and the earnest work-out which he will get will be of inestimable value to him in his match with Walker, when Benny hopes to lift the welter crown and work no more about lightweight poundage.

JACK DEMPSEY IS OFFERED BOUT WITH GIBBONS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 11.—Jack Dempsey heavyweight champion has been offered a bout with Tommy Gibbons in London in October, according to the statements Sunday of Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager.

Kearns said that he had received a substantial offer from London promoters. "Jack will complete his picture work in ten days," Kearns declared. "He will go into training immediately and we will probably close the London deal at once. When we come back we will look for local game and nobody is barred."

"The London promoters have been asked that their names and details of the offer be kept secret until negotiations are further along. They are big men, however, and seem anxious to get Dempsey over there."

HELEN WILLS DEFEATS FORMER CANADIAN CHAMPION TWO STRAIGHT LOVE SETS IN OPENING WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNAY

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Aug. 11.—Playing a most sparkling game of tennis, Miss Helen Wills, the beautiful young Californian who holds the national and Olympic women's title ran away from Mrs. L. C. Beaulieu, the Canadian star, in the opening round of the 1924 women's national championship Monday. Miss Wills is defending the national honor which she won on the same courts a year ago from Mrs. Mollie Mallory. In just 26 minutes of actual play, Miss Wills defeated the former champion of Quebec, 6-0, 6-0. Mrs. Beaulieu carried two games to deuce but that was the best she could do.

Miss Mary K. Browne, of California, a champion 12 years ago, who is returning from retirement, won from Mrs. H. H. Waring, of New York, 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. Mallory had an easy time disposing of Miss Caroma Winn, of New York, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Eleanor Goss, of New York was not exerted to win from Miss Marguerite Ginn, of Boston, 6-1, 6-2, and Mrs. Z. Jessup of Wilmington, Delaware, a member of the American Olympic team, won from Mrs. Bronson Batchelder of New York, 6-0, 6-4.

Except for the Wills-Beaulieu match, the sport was lifeless and intensely uninteresting. There were only a few hundred spectators and they were lonesome in the huge concrete stadium. Miss Wills was the only one of the stars who was called on to meet an opponent of high calibre, but she was in absolute command from the start. The side line jury agreed that if Miss Wills maintains the strokes, peace, control, and judgment that she displayed Monday, she is certain to win the title again.

The scores:
First set: Miss Wills 444 444-24-6; Mrs. Beaulieu 120 122-8-8. Second set: Miss Wills 444 674-29-6; Mrs. Beaulieu 312 450-15-6.

Other matches: Miss Edith Signourney, Boston defeated Miss Vandy Cape, of Bayhead, N. J. 6-0, 6-2; Miss Martha Bayard, of Short Hills, N. J., defeated Mrs. McMillan, Great Neck, L. I. 6-0, 6-0; Miss Mildred Willard, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Florence Sheldon, New York, 6-3, 6-3; Mrs. F. V. Koeser, New York, defeated Miss Louise Catus, Bay Head, N. J. 6-0, 6-0; Mrs. Helen Faulk, New York, defeated Mrs. Harrison Smith, Philadelphia 6-2, 6-0. Miss Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., defeated Mrs. Naomi Thompson, Pittsburgh, 6-3; 6-3; Miss Leslie Bancroft, Boston, defeated Mrs. Phillip Hawke, New York, 6-1, 6-0; Miss Katherine Gardner Boston defeated Mrs. J. M. Bruns, New York 6-4, 6-0; Miss Margaret Blake, Boston, defeated Miss Jessie Gott, New York, 6-1, 6-0; Mrs. Saunders Taylor, New York, defeated Mrs. Theodore Shasta, New York, 7-5, 6-1; Mrs. Robert Leroy, New York, defeated Miss Elizabeth Hugus, Wheeling, W. Va., 6-1, 6-1.

Simplicity Marks Coolidge's Life; President Keeps His Modest Home In Town Where He Rose to Fame

CALVIN COOLIDGE AND HIS FATHER ON THE VERMONT FARM

Simplicity and reserve are outstanding characteristics of Calvin Coolidge.

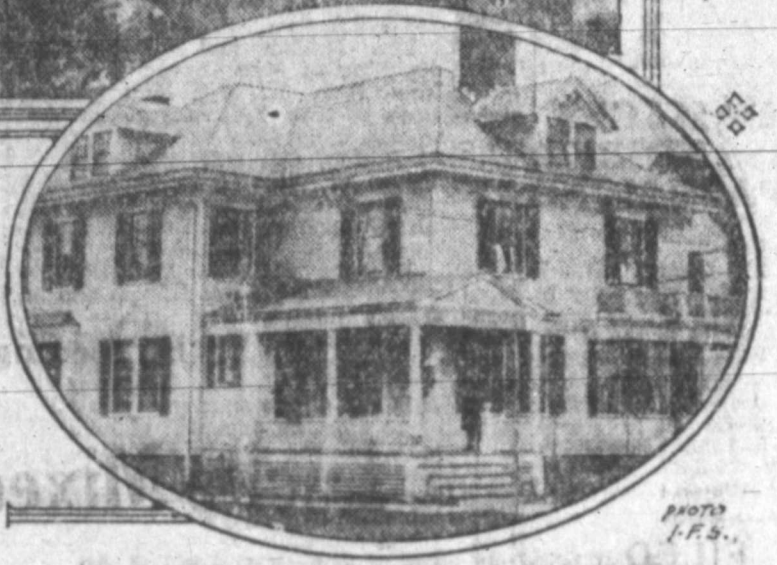

Of humble origin, he has risen to the heights along a self-blazed trail, without evidence of pomp or circumstance. Even after he had attained high public office, it was his desire to live modestly as a "plain American" and as an inspiration to those who bear his name.

Always the farmer boy, the nation's Chief Executive retains his keen affection for Vermont's rolling hills and never is he more content than he is at home among his own people.

"Vermont is my birthright," he has said. "Here one gets close to nature, in the mountains, in the brooks, in the water of which hurry to the sea; in the lakes, shining like silver in their green setting, fields tilled not by machinery, but by the brain and hand of man. My folks are happy and contented. They belong to themselves, live within their income and fear no man."

The modesty of Calvin Coolidge has been manifested throughout his career. When he first went from Northampton, Mass., to Boston as an obscure member of the State Legislature, he sought out an inside room on the upper floor of a hotel. There he found the seclusion he loved and the arrangement satisfied his idea of thrift. After his service in the State Legislature, when the citizenry of Massachusetts selected him as a candidate for governor, those who nominated him in this same unpretentious place.

And after his election the family home in Northampton, half a mile from the White House, remained the modest two-story dwelling, retaining the thirty-dollar a month salary retained. One might have been somewhat surprised by this decision. Northampton. History has recorded the good folk of Northampton who had watched the progress of their adopted son were not. The wooden house was good enough for the Governor and Mrs. Coolidge agreed with him.

Then came the nomination for the Vice-Presidency, and subsequent election to that responsible office. The good folk of Northampton then thought surely they would lose their neighbor. They did not. The Vice-President-elect went to Washington and rented a suite in the Willard Hotel, but the vans never backed up to the steps of the Northampton house. It remained Vice-President Coolidge's home.

When fate ordained that Calvin Coolidge, dressed with the President's White House, the official residence, should be elected President, the modest home in Northampton by the promise to evacuate the Ruhr, and to bring economic peace to Europe by reversing the policies of Premier Poincaré. Now he has succeeded according to his friends, who are confident that the London conference has brought an early happy solution based on the Dawes plan.

Accompanied by Gen. Nollet, his minister of war, who is supposed to have disagreed with him on his Ruhr policy, the premier stepped from his automobile at the railroad station and received a spontaneous ovation from the crowds gathered to see him off.

"Vive Herriot," was the cry as the premier and minister of war, both smiling, entered the train to depart on their ministerial journey.

The electric personality of Herriot was surprisingly demonstrated as men and women pushed and shoved, trying to get a view of him. There were many such cries as: "There's our savior."

TWO MILLIONS IN POWDER IS DESTROYED

NASHVILLE, Aug. 11.—Forty-five million pounds of powder, estimated to have been worth more than $2,000,000, were destroyed by fire Sunday when the old Hickory Powder plant near here burned.

The powder was stored by the U. S. Government as a war reserve, was manufactured at a cost of over $2,500,000; the estimated loss of $2,500,000; the estimated loss of $2,500,000.

The huge conflagration spread over approximately 40 acres of the plants grounds, burning buildings and destroying machinery, besides causing the great powder loss.

Approximately forty buildings used to store the powder, were reported to have been completely destroyed.

Valuable records and inventories were said to have been burned completely but it is believed that duplicate records exist at the war department in Washington.

No explosion attended the fire although the heat was terrific. The only accident occurred when a watchman's neck was blistered by the intense heat, which effectually kept curiosity seekers from the scene for some time.

Local firemen, with the aid of two fire engines rushed from Nashville, fought steadily, until the flames were subdued, many women and girls of the neighborhood doing canteen service for the firemen.

106 NEGROES ARE ARRESTED IN A RAID

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 11.—Eight county and city officials raided a negro resort early Sunday morning, and arrested 106 negroes.

A large quantity of beer was found, as well as a complete bar, brass rail, mirror, sawdust, bar towel and all the trimmings, the officers said.

Fifty weapons of various kinds, mostly knives, were discovered in a padlocked box by the door, where they had been "checked" to prevent trouble later. Each one bore a neatly numbered tag. There was not a single razor in the lot, raiders said.

He has been convicted and fined $10,000 and sentenced to a year imprisonment on a charge of defrauding the government out of income tax, but should be given a stay of sentence. However, Bigelow knocked on the gate of the prison last night and was admitted, declaring he wished to begin serving his sentence immediately and get it over with, according to a message received here this morning.

DENMARK WOULD RENDER ASSISTANCE TO THE U. S. FLYERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Danish Government has offered any assistance that it can give the American Round the World fliers to continue the flight to Greenland, said a dispatch to the State Department here today. They even offer to supply a fleet of ice cutting ships or escorts. They are willing to go the full length.

If those American around-the-world fliers do not make more speed than they have shown so far, they will not even equal Jules Verne's schedule.

FLYERS WILL NOT PROCEED FOR INDEFINITE PERIOD, BUT FLIGHT NOT BE ABANDONED IS ANNOUNCED

REYKJAVIK, Aug. 11.—The next leg of the flight will not be attempted until all possible courses of action have been maturely considered from every viewpoint, but the flight will not be called off.

With this reassuring statement of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder in command of the expedition which has had the American World Flyers in charge since they left the Orkneys, there seems to be no question but that the two remaining airmen will have the chance they covet to complete the circuit of the world by air despite adverse weather conditions.

Admiral Magruder, in a communication announces that the search for a suitable landing place is continuing on the east coast of Greenland. The destroyer Raleigh is exploring the bays and inlets for a suitable, sheltered ice-free nook where the fliers might come down for rest and fuel. "If this ice field is such that no suitable base can be found there are two alternatives," Magruder said. "The first is to attempt to fly to a base on the west coast of Greenland. The second is to refuse at sea, probably off Cape Farewell."

"If the first alternative were adopted, probably the best chance of success would be in a direct flight to Frederiksdal or to Julianehaab. The distances are great and the weather particularly with regard to fogs is very uncertain."

"The second alternative is practicable only in fine weather and even in fine weather, it would be difficult for planes fully laden with fuel to rise from the surface if a sea or swell were running. The fact that the weather may change suddenly after the flight is under way is a factor which possibly may cause failure, but by watching the weather carefully and using our best judgment the chances are that the fliers will succeed in reaching Labrador."

For a time there was some talk that man-long might rival bridge, but now the dangerous dark horse is the radio.

Some of those bobbed-hair bandits ought to be snatched bald-headed.

KANSAS MAY SEND CONGRESSWOMAN TO THE STATE SENATE

TOPEKA, Aug. 11.—If the seventh district sends a woman to the senate and it is not at all unlikely, according to the gossip, she will be the first Kansas congresswoman and better that—she will have long hair.

While she is far too tactful to incur the enmity of her shorter-haired sisters, who it must be remembered, are also casting ballots these days, Miss Nellie Cline, a former state representative and attorney of Laredo, Kansas, wants it quietly broadcast that she isn't going to bob her hair.

"On every side I am asked that eternal question—to bob or not to bob which is followed by: 'To shingle or not to shingle. I want all to know I don't intend to have my tresses shorn' said the woman whom the democrats nominated in the state primaries held Tuesday."

Miss Cline was elected to the legislature in 1920 by the democrats and was re-elected to the place at the expiration of her term. She has the honor of being the first woman to address the state bar association, having been associated with her father, K. Polk Cline, in a law firm here for several years. She is a graduate of Baker college.

Card Of Thanks.

I wish to take this means to thank all of my friends, and the friends of my father, for the many kindnesses, considerations and sympathy shown the family during his recent illness and following his death. All of these we appreciate, and especially did his brother and sister, my brother and others of the family from distant points appreciate the courtesies shown them while they were here during his last illness. The burden of grief is made bearable only through the sympathy of friends and an abiding Faith in God's Eternal Plan for humankind.

FRANCE RETURNS TO THE SEAT OF CONFERENCE

By JOHN O'BRIEN

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Bearing the authority of his cabinet to make what is generally declared the most important decision of France since the treaty of Versailles, Premier Edouard Herriot has returned to the reparations conference at London.

Within the past 24 hours, Herriot has so reinforced his power that he stands as a more important and dominant figure than he has been believed to be when his forces carried the republic in the elections a few short months ago.

Herriot won his present position

Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof of this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of office at office in Lubbock, Texas this 8th day of August, A. D. 1924. Seal HERBERT STUBBS, Clerk County Court, Lubbock County, Texas. 246-4Tues.

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Worsham, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Worsham, all of the Grovesville community, were in Lubbock Monday looking after business interest.

Mrs. George Carter was here Monday from Kopeville.

Mrs. Annie Wall, of Waco, mother of Mrs. J. H. Rea, and Miss Hallie Wall, Mrs. Rea's sister, are in Lubbock this week visiting with Mrs. Rea and family. Miss Rea will probably make Lubbock her home in the future.

R. Shirley, of Estacado, was in Lubbock Monday, with his little son who is ill in a local sanitarium.

J. B. Marsell of this city, went to Post Sunday afternoon in company with his father and brother of Abilene, who have been visiting with J. B. for several days.

Mr. Penley, business man of Oklahoma, was in Lubbock Monday visiting and prospecting.

Mrs. Lee Pool and small daughter, of Clyde, are in Lubbock this week visiting with Mr. Lee Pool, who is employed as bookkeeper at the Nielar Hardware Company.

S. O. Paden, and E. C. Cravens, of Caddo, Okla., were in Lubbock Monday visiting and prospecting.

Mr. Cravens was at one time engaged in business in this city. These gentlemen expect to become citizens of this part of the country.

J. M. Kiker, for the past few months in charge of the Barrier Brothers' store at Loreto, returned to Lubbock Monday, and will probably make this his home again. The Barrier store was sold to Muline and Alley, both of this city, and the new owners assumed charge Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Southworth and son, Grady, all of Rowell, N. M., are in Lubbock this week visiting and are the guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Clifton of this city.

Prof. Showalter, superintendent of schools at Hector, was in Lubbock Monday looking after business interest.

E. T. Taylor, of Tyler, special features writer for the Houston Chronicle, is in the city today, in the interest of the paper that he represents. He will write a story of the growth of Lubbock, and the development of the South Plains for the Chronicle Sunday.

J. B. Rossmore returned from a business trip to Dallas.

R. M. McCallion returned Monday from a business trip to Gainesville.

M. C. Sally, of New Smyrna, Fla., has accepted a position with the Lubbock Cotton Exchange for the coming season. Mr. Sally came from Florida through the states of Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Oklahoma, and says that cotton through these sections is in very good shape.

CALENDER SHOWS 2 BUSY DAYS FOR BUSINESS MEN

The organizations whose purpose and objects are the promotion of the social, civic and economic development of Lubbock and its territory, having a busy day planned for today and tomorrow as indicated by the calendar below.

This morning at nine o'clock the directors of the Senior Chamber of Commerce will meet in the offices of the organization in the Court House. A number of important matters are to come before this body for disposition.

This afternoon at two o'clock the directors of the Retail Merchants Association will meet in the offices of this organization, and matters of direct interest especially to the business interests will be considered, together with matters of importance to the community as a whole.

Then at four o'clock this afternoon the directors of the Fair Association will hold a meeting, provided certain contracts and information is received during the day. If this meeting is not held this afternoon, it will be held without fail some time tomorrow.

This evening at 6:15 the membership of the Retail Merchants Association will hold their regular monthly meeting at a supper at the Busy Bee Cafe, and a number of matters will be decided by the members for themselves, including the matter of a uniform closing agreement.

Tomorrow morning at seven o'clock the Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular semi-monthly breakfast meeting at the Melba Grill.

Members of all these bodies are requested by their various officers to be present promptly on time.

MARKETS

RAILS RUN RAMPANT AS MERGER GOSSIP HITS MARKET

By EDWARD J. GONDON.
By United News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The averages of twenty leading rail stocks compiled from day to day reached a new high for the year for the initial session of the week. And small wonder it was. The market for rail shares fairly boiled at times. The source of the heavy trading was the fast flying rumors of mergers, and one of the proposed combinations sounded quite plausible. The first merger gossip had to do of course, with the greater Nickel Plate system. Directors of Peoria and Rock Island were scheduled to meet this week, are expected to approve of the terms of the Nickel Plate offer as the Erie directors who meet in special session next Monday. The second batch of rumors had to do with the buying of Norfolk and Western by the Pennsylvania. This angle is apparently taken in view of the fact that lease negotiations have fallen through. A still more sweeping view taken of the rail situation was that all railroads with terminals in New York City were merging possibilities. In line with the unusually heavy turnover in Baltimore and Ohio came institutions that the largest piece of railroad financing in recent years may be announced before the week is out. It is understood that the R. & O. intend to take advantage of the easy money rates to refund three bond issues due in 1925, aggregating approximately $75,000,000. This would make the largest bond offering since the Japanese loan in mid-February. Incidentally a $22,000,000 issue of debenture bonds of the Industrial Bank of Japan is being brought out at prices net American investors slightly more than 6-1-4 per cent. A new high for sterling which reached a peak of some four cent rate above Saturday's close came as the result of the reassuring.

News over the week-end and regarding the London conference. Gold prices reached a new high for 1924 in the upturn in the foreign exchange market which sent the principal European rates substantially higher than at the close of last week.

The commodity markets acted in a fashion which left much to be desired. Cotton recorded a slight gain after considerable hesitation over the weather news from the southwest. Grains all advanced even corn failing to hold an early gain. Weakness in Winnipeg and the lack of visible supply sent wheat lower. Most from the start of business. Perhaps the most interesting development of the day, in connection with grain markets was the announcement of an estimate of the Canadian wheat crop by the dominion bureau of statistics. The comparison as of July 31, was figured to show an estimated yield per acre of spring wheat 12.6 bushels against the final estimate of last year, crop of 21 bushels. No evidence of black rust is reported, but drought and cut worms are spoken of.

CHARGE FILED ON LEWIS AFTER STREET AFFAIR

By United News.
SAN DIEGO, Aug. 11.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis is the worlds champion heavyweight wrestler. In four complaints lodged against him in justice court here Monday he is charged with being a bit of a hand-man with his fists as well.

Lewis will be tried August 14 on battery complaints which claim that the wrestler struck Charles Fatherlos and Charles Haines during an altercation in which Lewis is said to have made off-color remarks to Daisy Haines, Fatherlos' companion. The encounter occurred on a road from Tijuana the complaint states.

RUNAWAY MARRIAGE—THREE COUPLES IS SETTLED

By United News.
KANSAS CITY, August 11.—The troubled skies lifted Monday, for the three couples who slipped away to a nearby town and were married, much to the annoyance of their parents.

This was the situation Monday: Cornelius Costello, 19, and his bride, Miss Charlotte Fransens, 19, will return to college, Costello to the University of Missouri to complete his law course and Miss Fransens to the University of Kansas. After they are out of school the marriage will be further solemnized at a church ceremony.

Raymond Quade and his wife will enter Kansas University as man and wife.

D. Barrett Hamilton, 18, probably will be divorced from Miss Doris Cuddy. Both will attend Kansas University and possibly will be remarried when they graduate.

And now that everything is settled, the parents cry out in union, "Never again."

Major McLaren, the British round-the-world flier, is none the less a gallant and plucky aviator because irreparable damage to his machine in Siberia has forced him to abandon an undertaking which should have, but failed to receive government support.

The official indorsement of the La Follette ticket by the American Federation of Labor was a marked departure from that organization's long-established policy of keeping as a body out of politics.

NOTICE.
I want to thank each and every citizen of this county for their support of my candidacy for County Clerk. Amos Howard.

MAUDE ADAMS, AGNES AYRES, HANK GOWDY, EARL SANDE

Earl Sande, America's premier jockey, called by some the best rider of all times, had his leg and hip broken when he fell in a race at Saratoga, N. Y., three horses falling on him. It is doubtful if he can ever ride again. Agnes Ayres, Hollywood, Cal., motion picture star, has announced her engagement to S. Manuel Roach, attaché to the Mexican Consulate in San Francisco. "Hank" Gowdy, catcher for the New York Giants, hero of the Rainbow Division in the Argonne and at St. Mihiel, has received from Major-General R. L. Dillard an engraved memorial, stating that the new baseball field at Camp Benning, Ga., has been named "Gowdy Field." Maude Adams, America's greatest actress, now 42 years old, has returned to New York from London to arrange for her return to the spoken stage.

GLANDS AND DREAMS OF NATHAN LEOPOLD AND RICHARD LOEB ARE DEPENDED UPON TO SAVE THEM

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Glands and dreams of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, are relied upon by the slayers and their counsel to save them from the gallows for the murder of 14-year-old Robert Frank. Clarence Darrow chief defense attorney expects to put his last witnesses on the stand Monday and he probably will rest his case by night. Through one of the most eminent and highly paid staff of alienists ever assembled in any legal proceeding, Darrow has sought to convince Justice John R. Caverly that his two 19-year-old clients should not hang. States Attorney Robert E. Crowe plans to start a rebuttal before nightfall Monday that he believes will shatter the fantasy-glandular defense structure. "It is all a lot of poppycock," Crowe told his assistants during a conference Sunday. "Physicians inform me that all children have fantasies, that some fantasies persist throughout life, but many change from due to physical and mental changes. And so far as the glands are concerned, much of that is pre-hypothesis and never could be established in fact. Gland conditions such as the ones these doctors have described are common to the human race, just as much as scurvy and toothache. All the talk about king and slave and all the misers of these two youths will not satisfactorily explain away the fact that they coolly deliberated and in full and complete possession of their senses kidnapped and killed a young boy for money. The state will insist on the death penalty."

During the closing hours of the session, Saturday Dr. H. S. Hulbert had testified that Loeb's glands were undeveloped and did not function enough. Leopold's glands, he said, worked too hard. They overfunctioned. The gland conditions of the two slayers, the physician testified together with their abnormal mental states, drew them together in an association of crime. He showed x-ray pictures of the two youths, which he said confirmed him in his statements about their glands. Darrow will place no more physicians on the stand, he said Sunday. He expects to have five more witnesses, among them members of the Loeb and Leopold families. These will be used merely to identify certain exhibits, such as photographs and letters which the defense has introduced. The state expects to put at least five physicians on the stand to contradict the testimony of the defense alienists. The state alienists do not believe that either Loeb or Leopold are mentally disordered and some of them will seek to advance a plausible explanation of the gland-dream testimony designed to convince Justice Caverly that the statements of defense alienists constitute no reason why the defendants should not be hanged.

RAILROAD MEET AT LEVELLAND WEDNESDAY

Aug. 11.—The land owners of Hockley and Cochran counties will meet at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Levelland at the call of J. A. Wilson, railroad builder, to discuss the financing of the railroad.

This is the first general meeting that has been held relative to the railroad, and it is proposed to apprise the public at this meeting of what has been done and just what remains to be done before the road can be assured. Those who are handling the raising of the required bonus state that the sentiment for the road is very strong and that no difficulty is being encountered to the raising of the one dollar per acre bonus that is being asked, except in a few instances. It will be one of the purposes of this meeting to, not only set the people of the two counties working as a unit for the railroad but to get a few of the larger investors who are holding off at this time to line up.

It is stated as a fact that only a few of the small homesteaders have signed up as yet. This is due largely to the fact that they have not been approached on the matter, and it is one of the purposes of the meeting to get as many of their signatures as possible and to launch a campaign to work the counties out in the next week or ten days.

FATHER OF E. McELROY DIED HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Francis McElroy, father of E. McElroy, prominent picture show proprietor of this city, died at a local hospital Sunday afternoon, after an illness of possibly two weeks. Mr. McElroy has been making his home here for several years, and was known by a large number of people in this city, and was liked by all who knew him, being a man of pleasing appearance and one who was capable of making friends as he made acquaintances.

Deceased was born in Sabina, in Clinton County, Ohio, October 26, 1852, and died in Lubbock as above stated. He was married to Miss Anna E. Hoover of July 9, 1872 at Aveca, Iowa.

Three sons were born into this union and two daughters, one son having died in infancy. The sons are Francis of Davenport and Edwin of Lubbock. The daughters being Mrs. Ida Ryman, and Miss Katie both of Davenport.

He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Sarah Dawson, of Davenport, Iowa and one brother John T. McElroy of El Paso, Texas.

The remains were accompanied to Welton Junction, Iowa, where interment will be Wednesday, immediately upon arriving there. Mrs. Dawson, John T. McElroy, and wife, and E. McElroy of this city accompanied the remains.

They left on the Morning train and will arrive at their destination Wednesday morning.

It would have been better not to make the announcement that the wealth of this country is now $320,000,000,000. That may make Europe decide that we don't need to collect.

We trust the misunderstanding with Japan won't destroy the cordial relations which exist with that country. You can't use European silk worms to make the Japanese substitute.

HATED HER STEP SON WAS REASON FOR KILLING

By United News.
WATERLOO, Ia., Aug. 11.—"I hated him so that's why I killed him and that's why I did not commit suicide afterwards. I wanted the world to know how I hated him."

This is the explanation Mrs. Marie Maharies furnished in a signed confession of why she threw her six-year-old step-son, Nicholas, into the Cedar river here. The little boy quickly drowned. The woman in held in the county jail on a charge of first degree murder and the prosecutor says he will ask the death penalty for her.

"I want to die. I want to be put to death so that the world will learn about me and see how much I hated that boy," Mrs. Maharies said. Several days ago the woman went to the authorities and told them she had thrown her step-son into the river and killed him. They paid no attention to her story at first, but after her persistent entreaties to dig the river for the body, they placed her in the county jail. She refused to discuss the drowning and appeared to be stolidly indifferent to what was going on around her until the boy's body was found, almost at the exact spot where she said she had pushed him in. Then she became animated and expressed extreme pleasure over the discovery.

"Now they will hang me," she exclaimed. Mrs. Maharies' confession said that she plotted the killing of the boy so that he would be out of her way and her own life would come to an end. She made several trips to the river and finally chose a deep spot for the murder. She told little Nicholas that she would take him out to play and that he could go wading. Joyously the boy accompanied her. When they reached the place she had chosen, she waded into the river, turned the boy by calling to him to come in and then when he had reached a dangerous spot in front of her, she gave him the thrust that pushed him beyond his depth.

Narcotics Found In The Possession of A Houston Man

By United News.
HOUSTON, Aug. 11.—Formal charges will be filed Monday morning before United States Commissioner Winston McMahan, against Arnold Levert, arrested Saturday night for possession of narcotics. Federal narcotic agents J. E. Wells and Chas. Carter, who arrested Levert, and searched his car, found several hundred grains of morphine and cocaine.

Levert signed a full confession admitting theft of the narcotics from two drug stores and declaring he used the drugs himself. Levert also admitted posing as a physician and writing prescriptions, although he has no license to practice and not a graduate of any medical college he said.

Levert said he was married to a Houston girl on Wednesday, but absolved her from any connection of his alleged theft of narcotics. He attended Dallas branch of Baylor University, he said studying medicine. It was while attending that school that he became a drug addict, an illness, which later prevented him from completing his medical course, was treated with narcotics and he began using the drugs during his convalescent period he said.
