NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

Last week "Super Tuesday" was held. Texas, and twenty other states, held primaries.

There was a tremendous amount of political "hoopla" over the whole thing, TV ads, newspaper ads, articles and such.

But there was one group of people across the nation, throughout Texas and right here in our towns, that went virtually unnoticed..yet they are the very people that make the American election system possible.

I'm talking, of course, about the election officials and county officials who spend so many long hours manning the polling places and tallying votes.

It isn't a glorifying job. It starts early, ends late, the pay couldn't be poorer...nothing in most instances.

It requires a knowledge of some rather complex laws, and earries with it a tremendous responsibility.

Yet most of us take for granted the people who steadfastly sit in straight chairs the whole twelve hours and beyond, patiently stamping voter registration cards, keeping careful count on the numbers, and calling in the vote tallies as the day wears on.

The County Clerk's office staff is up until the early morning hours, patiently counting and totaling up the mounting stack of voting boxes as the figures come in.

Without these people, the election system wouldn't be possible. If the number of small voting boxes throughout this nation, state or county is totaled up, it's staggering!

And at each one of these places, there are dedicated people working to make this country's system function..and doing it because they want to, because "somebody had to do it".

It's time they were told "thank you". Since they are our friends and neighbors, it shouldn't be hard to do.

The next time you see one of those friendly faces that spent the day at the polling place, tell them they are appreciated.

And from all of us here at the papers...THANKS SO MUCH...you're part of what this nation's all about.

Cold Snap Damaging Tender Buds

Mother Nature has done it again. After 70 degree days with mild nights, the thermometer is once more plunging into the twenties during bitter, ice crusted nights, and damaging fruit and produce.

For the second year in a row, fruit trees ahd shrubbery, flowers and trees have begun to bud out during a lengthy warm spell, only to be hit with freezing temperatures.

If the weather forecast for the latter part of the week holds correct, the temperatures may well fall even lower, into the "teens", a guarantee of damage to most tender, just blossoming plants. There is even the possibility of some precipitation, which could cause some icing.

Over-eager gardeners, weary of being housebound after a long, cold winter, have been planting diligently. Some of their work will have to be redone.

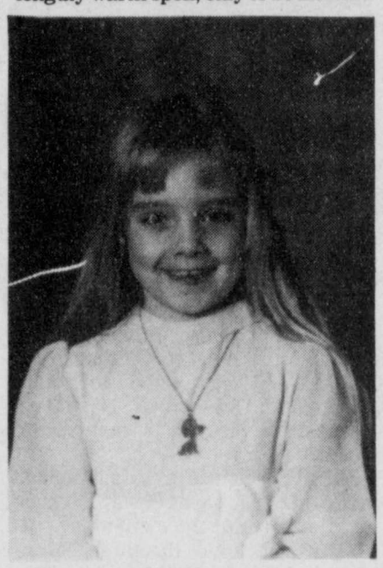

The freeze shouldn't be as bad as the one in the spring of 1987, because oaks and other large trees have not yet begun to leaf out. Perhaps, if the cold trend breaks, damage to pecans and other nut trees can be avoided.

Residents already becoming climitized to warmer temperatures have dragged on heavy coats as a cold wind sent them shivering back to stoves and wood heaters. In spite of the cold, the sun has been deceptively bright, giving the appearance of things being warmer than they really are.

Some ranchers are experiencing a hay shortage, and pasturage is only marginal in providing enough grazing.

Houseplant gardeners, tired of the crowd of potted plants in living rooms, have been rushing onto porches and patios to rescue tender indoor plants from the cold.

It's nothing unusual, just a typical East Texas spring.

Red River General Is "Precious Asset"

"Our hospital, Red River General, is one of our community's most precious assets, says James D. Luft, administrator of the hospital. "It not only takes us in when we need it, but makes it easier to attract doctors and other medical personnel and keep them close at hand. Without a hospital, it would be even harder to attract industries to the county."

Red River General Hospital caters to our personal health directly, and indirectly to our economic health. Even so, well-intentioned national policies are making it hard for rural hospitals such as ours to survive. Rural hospitals are being forced out of business all over the state and the country, and as near as Bonham.

"It's a struggle," says Jim Luft. "We've cut costs to the bone, and we are offering added services, but we still lose money much of the time due to the larger Medicare and Medicaid population."

The Federal Government wants to save money on health programs. We can all go along with that, but none of us wants to be deprived of good health care just because we live in a rural area. This federal program is closing rural hospitals, and we don't want it to lose ours.

Medicare and Medicaid payments to city hospitals are 37% higher than those made to rural hospitals for the same service, Luft says. Even in the city, however, hospitals lost money on Medicare and Medicaid patients. They are expected to shift these costs and also the cost of indigent care to private patients, especially those with personal or employer's insurance.

"City hospitals can shift costs this way," says Luft, but rural hospitals usually can't. Seventy percent of our patients are Medicare and Medicaid, and others can pay nothing at all. There just aren't enough insured and paying patients to keep our hospital in the black."

What can we do about the situation?

"You can write our Senators, Gramm and Bentsen, and Congressman Jim Chapman and tell them we don't want to lose our hospital, that the payment system should be fair," replies Luft.

Turnout, Rules Make Primary Most Expensive Ever

A large turnout and complicated new election rules made the March 8 Democratic Primary the most expensive ever.

More than $9000 was spent on polling-place personnel and other expenses of holding the election.

In some precincts, vote-counting kept election clerks at work well past midnight.

One result is that little money remains for the run-off election March 12, and many voters will have to leave their home precincts to vote at consolidated boxes.

Clarksville Precinct One and McCoy voters will cast their ballots at the Precinct One box at the Baptist Church on College Street. This is the only Clarksville Box at which ballots will include the Lampard-Pirtle Commissioner's race in addition to the County Attorney contest.

Bogata Box Five will serve voters from Bogata, Fulbright, Rosalie and Johntown. The ballot will include both the County Commissioner contest between Eugene Lampard and Drue Pirtle and the run-off for County Attorney.

Absentee ballots may be cast at the County Clerk's Office at the Courthouse in Clarksville during the week of April 4-8 only.

Worth Hood of Bogata, Red River County Democratic Party Chairman, has informed precinct chairpersons that the Party's County Convention will meet at the Courthouse in Clarksville on Saturday, March 19 at 10:30 a.m.

Delegates to represent Red River County at the State Convention in Houston will be elected. Precinct delegates may also present resolutions to be considered at the State Convention.

Talco, Bogata Firemen Fight Grass Fire

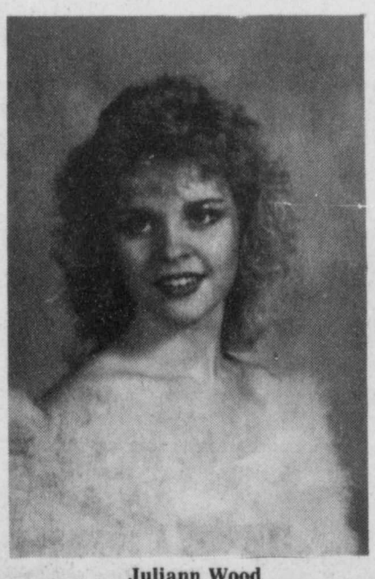

Both Talco and Bogata Volunteer Firemen responded to a grass fire at Rivercrest Trails on Tuesday afternoon, only to find that boggy ground created more of a problem than bargained for.

Both fire trucks were stuck in an in accessible area.

A Talco resident managed to pull the vehicles free of the mud.

Using flappers, the firemen managed to control the fire.

Elaine Morgan Shows Crafts To Ladies Group

Elaine Morgan, owner of The Watermelon Patch, showed several of her wood crafts to the ladies group of the Assembly of God CHurch during their monthly meeting Tuesday night, March 8. Elaine explained the methods and work involved in making the crafts and answered questions from the ladies.

Elaine said that four years ago, she was looking at a magazine and saw a picture of some wooden hearts with decorative paintings. She told herself, "I can do that". She then gathered the necessary materials and began her work. She admitted that the first hearts she made were terrible, but she enrolled in decorative painting classes and kept working until she was able to produce satisfactory work. She still takes lessons to improve her skills and to learn new ideas and techniques. She has recently finished a weeks workshop in Arkansas on wood crafts and decorative painting and is presently taking elssons at Reflections in Paris. Elaine's husband, Vandy, helps on his days off from his job at Texas Utilities. He cuts the crafts from patterns with a band saw and uses a flat sander and a small belt sander to smooth the edges. Their daughter, Kara, age 6, also helps with the family business. She especially enjoys helping her mother show the crafts.

Elaine said that soon after she began making and painting the crafts, her house became so full of them that they decided it was time to expand by providing a special shop to display the crafts. The shop is located next to their home on S. Douglas Street in Bogata. They display their crafts at bazaars, arts and crafts shows, and Frontier Day in Bogata each year. Elaine also gives lessons in making the crafts.

Elaine says that she's tried many different craft projects and usually tired of them within a short period of time, however, she's never lost her interest in woodcrafts. By examining the workmanship of her crafts, it's easy to see that Elaine takes great pride in her work and that she has mastered the art of woodcrafting.

Circus In Paris This Weekend

If there's anything as American as apple pie, and even more delightful, it's the circus, and ladies and gentlemen, the biggest tented circus in America will be in the area soon.

History will come to life in Paris on March 19 as the massive Carson and Barnes 5 Ring Big Top is raised with the help of elephant power on circus morning. The size of Carson & Barnes is truly astonishing. The show travels with a staff of 200, including 95 performers as well as various cooks, electricians, mechanics, wardrobe and property people, animal handlers, box office and concession personnel. This in addition to the many animals, exotic and domestic, including 20 elephants.

As America's last big traditinal circus, the big top stretches the length of a football field, holds five rings plus two stages, a hippodrome track and steel arena.

The show's contingent of performers presents a vast array of acrobatic and aerial displays that include wire-walking, bareback riding, juggling, risley, perch pole, Spanish web, head-balancing trapeze, flying trapeze and more.

Carson & Barnes is so big it moves every 24 hours in a herculean attempt to attract sufficient circus-goers to pay its astronomical daily expenses.

Everyone is invited out circus morning to watch the elephants raise the big top and visit the circus' mammoth traveling zoo with lions, tigers, zebras, camels, a giraffe, hippo and rare white rhino, all free circus morning.

It's a spectacle our great grandparents might have seen and it will be in Paris sponsored by the Shriners at the fairgrounds.

Texas Traffic Deaths Drop

Fewer persons died on Texas streets and highways during 1987 than in any year since 1976, according to the Department of Public Safety.

The Texas traffic death total for 1987 was 3,261, a decrease of 8.6 percent from the 3,568 deaths recorded in the state during 1986, according to DPS Director Col. Leo Gossett.,

Another way of measuring traffic safety is to calculate the number of deaths for each 100 million miles traveled. Although the miles driven increased slightly over last year, the rate dropped to 2.2 deaths per 100 million miles traveled, the lowest mileage death rate in Texas history.

The record year for traffic deaths in Texas was 1981, when 4,701 persons were killed.

Gossett said the principal goal of Texas traffic law enforcement is to discourage dangerous driving practices and reduce the probability of fatal crashes occurring.

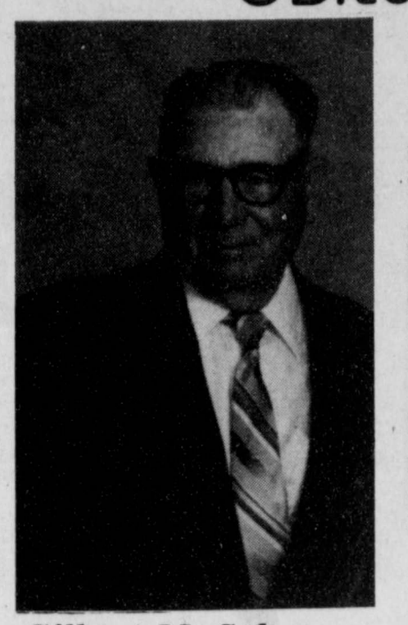

"The efforts of our troopers, along with the other Texas law enforcement agencies, in the enforcement of the DWI, speed and safety belt laws, have contributed to this decline in traffic deaths," Gossett added. "Our challenge is to maintain a high level of seat belt usage as the law grows older."

The DPS director pointed out that fatalities of persons riding in front seats of cars and light trucks decreased by 7.5 percent in 1987 copared to 1986. The decrease is 18.1 percent when comparing 1987 to 1984, the last full year without the seat belt law in Texas, a further indication of the value of the statute.

"In spite of the accomplishments shown by the decreases, we are concerned that complacency might create additional non-compliance, which could very well turn around our current downward trend in traffic deaths," Gossett said.

Re-Elect

THOMAS FOWLER

County Attorney

I gratefully thank those of you who voted for me on March 8th. I ask support from you and others on April 12th.

County Attorney is a hard job with time deadlines, decisions and constant pressure. You need an experienced, hard-working, professional prosecutor. You need someone whose background you can know and trust.

I offer you a good record of proven performance, not politician's promises.

Please return to the polls April 12th and vote to keep integrity and leadership in the office of Red River County Attorney.

An important accessory
portable generator owner

Portable generators are convenient during power outages, but they can be dangerous if they're not installed according to standards of the National Electric Code.

Improperly installed generators backfeed into the power lines leading to your house and energize seemingly dead lines. This creates a hazard for linemen trying to restore service and to others who might come into contact with a line lying on the ground.

The generator itself can even be damaged when power is restored if the generator isn't properly installed.

If you have a portable generator, please make sure that it is installed properly. If you have any doubts, don't risk a life by using it.

Hoyle Ladd Was WWII Hero

When Hoyle Ladd was alive, he refused to consider himself a hero. "I had a job to do, I did it and I came home" was his standard statement.

Hoyle did a great deal more than just a job in World War II. he was one of two "Yanks" who witnessed the surrender of a German town.

The surrender of Lubz was incidental to "one of the most fantastic episodes of the war" as a Reader's Digest article written by Captain William A. Knowlton attested.

The article, entitled "Your Mission Is To Contact The Russians" relates how an all but unbelievable bluff through the German lines was perpetrated, only Sergeant Ladd accompanied Knowlton when the surrender was offered. It appeared in the August, 1945, issue.

The rest of the troop had been sent back to seek radio contact outside town when a German major and the Burgomeister of Lubz met the two Americans and surrendered the town.

Ladd was the son of Mrs. Carl Ladd of Deport, and graduated from high school in Deport before entering the Army in 1942.

The story is lengthy, but fascinating. An article also appeared in the Paris News shortly after.

But perhaps the most recent recitation of the story was received from William Kowlton on February 27, 1988 when Ladd's widow received the following letter:

Dear George Rachel,

It was a shock for Peggy and me to learn of Hoyle's death, even though we knew he had not been well for some time. We thank you for letting us know. I shall let the gang from the 7th Armored know as well, and we send you our deepest sympathy.

Hoyle was a great soldier, to whom I owe much. When we were at Fort Benning, and I was in "E" Troop, I was one of a panel convened to look into who the next First Sergeant of "B" Troop should b. We unanimously decided on a very qualified Platoon Sergeant named Hoyle Ladd. Little did I know that I would live to have that decision repaid a hundred fold.

On 31 December, 1944, at midnight, I took over what was left of "B" Troop. The line platoons had been cut off on the hill outside St. Vith. The headquarters platoon would have suffered the same fate in the town had not Hoyle reached back into his platoon sergeant skills and led them out through the German lines in an amazing display of military professionalism. He won a Bronze Star for that effort, which saved so many lives. After the War, Bruce Clarke learned that Hoyle had received only a Bronze Star (I had a little clout as a first lieutenant) and wanted to change it to a Silver Star for gallantry in action, but in a typical, self-deprecating way, Hoyle said that he was pleased to be remembered and not to bother with the Silver Star.

Originally, Hoyle and I and a Tank Company lieutenant named Jim Shelton (who was loaned to me) had to run and rebuild the troop together, until we got some more officers. With little experience in a reconnaissance troop, I relied heavily on Hoyle, and always treated him as another commissioned officer. My successor, who commanded the troop for a few months until he was wounded and I took over again, never understood that relationship. But Hoyle was really my right arm. Our country owes much to him.

Then he did the country another service when he got young Eddy Jones interested in West Point. Eddy was followed by another lad from Newport who, unfortunately, did not last. But Eddy has done very well. So, in a sense, Hoyle's military contribution continues with me and with Eddy. He had a hand in educating us both.

The country has lost a man who contributed much to its security. And we have lost a friend; we grieve with you. But we are grateful that he lived as long as he did and departed among family and those close to him.

Please do not bother to answer this; you will have enough to do. But I did not want to know that your sense of loss will be shared by many others.

Peggy jons me in our best to you for the future.

In sympathy,
Bill Knowlton

Hoyle Ladd is gone, but it's obvious he truly was a hero, and that many people remember.

New Board president Bill Gant announced that 1988 will be an even more exciting year for the Doug Kershaw Celebrity Tournament. Entertainer Doug Kershaw, known for his unique style of Cajun-fiddle playing, will return to Paris to host the events.

Executive Producer Ronnie Nutt and Jeff Hoog are recruiting nationally known entertainers and athletes. The celebrities will participate in the golf and tennis tournaments and will provide entertainment at the Barbeque and concert. Last year numerous celebrities came such as Gary Morris, Mason-Dixon, Denver Pyle, Bum Phillips, Joanna Kearns and Robert Fuller. Some of the celebrities who have already committed for 1988 are Johnny Lee, Shotgun Red, Danny White, Mason-Dixon and Jennifer Savage.

The Board also announced that the tournament schedule will be expanded to include several new events. Beginning at dawn on Saturday, April 30, the Uncle Jessie's Big Mouth, Big Bass Fishing Tournament will start at Pat Mayse Lake. Denver and Tippi Pyle are the celebrity hosts and are planning this event as a reunion for the cast of the Dukes of Hazard television show. The Lamar County clubs are sponsoring the Big Mouth Bass Tournament which will be managed by Tommy Taylor of the C.A.S.T. Association. The fee is $50 per person. Hampton Hodges is coordinating the tennis tournament and can be reached at 785-9529.

The barbeque dinner hosted by Joann and Jesse Wintermute will take place Sunday evening. The barbeque was such a success last year that tickets for the dinner, informal celebrity entertainment and a celebrity auction will be available at $75.00 per person.

Jay Guest and Lonnie Kennemer are managing the golf tournament scheduled for Monday, May 2. The price for golf and tennis participation will be $250.00 per person. Several player slots have already been purchased. To register contact golf pro Terry Ingram at the Paris Golf and Country Club Pro-Golf Shop at 785-6512.

Glazed Baby Carrots

In a saucepan, put 1 to 1½ lbs. young carrots trimmed, scrubbed, and left whole if young, or quartered and peeled if larger. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons sugar, 2 tablespoons butter and enough water to just barely cover the carrots. Cover and cook just until the carrots are tender. Remove the lid and boil until the water has completely evaporated, leaving a sticky glaze. Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon, mix and serve.

LAND PRODUCTIVITY VALUATION

MAY LOWER THE PROPERTY TAXES ON YOUR FARM, RANCH OR TIMBERLAND

Texas law provides farmers and ranchers with a way to lower their property taxes, known as productivity valuation.

If you qualify, your agricultural land will be taxed on its capacity to produce crops, livestock, or timber, instead of its value on the real estate market. Productivity valuation can lower the taxable value of your land, and lower your property taxes as a result.

If your land has never received productivity valuation, you must apply to the appraisal district by May 2 to get tax benefits for 1988. You can choose from two types of productivity valuation.

If your land already receives open-space or timber (1- d-1) valuation, you don't need to reapply unless the chief appraiser requires you to. But remember, you must apply every year for ag-use (1-d) valuation.

For more information and application forms, contact the appraisal district office at the address shown below:

Reunion News

In 1968 Catherine Lowry Proctor, after many hours of hard work collecting addresses of the 1938 graduating class of Bogata, compiled a list, the group got together for their 30th class reunin with the Bogata Homecoming that year.

There were 42 graduates on May 27, 1938. In 1968, 36 addresses had been obtained. Through the years, with the faithful efforts of many of the classmates, we have been able to keep in contact.

In 1982, Aline Kahl Burnet met with the group for the first time, Gretchen Etheredge Rogers attended in 1984. Lydia Baxter Hawkins received a call Saturday from Lillian Roseman Ryan. Lillian was one of the four graduates that the class has been searching for all these years. She now lives in Topeka, KS and is looking forward to being at the homecoming on April 9. The class still lacks addresses for Lois Faye Honeycutt, Oleta Harvey and Maryhelon Flake.

There are ten known class members deceased, including Donald Roach, Bill Bishop and Bill Forrester, who died in World War II.

The 50th anniversary marks the end of an important era. Hopefully, all class members will make an extra effort to attend.
