Numex Natural Gas Company Of Roswell Submits Offer To Furnish Gas To Supply City System

To Probe Situation

Lubbock Bus Company Granted Extension Of Services And Franchise Application Of Ed C. Abbott Denied

CITY commissioners yesterday in a session advanced from Thursday empowered Mayor Ross Edwards to name a committee to confer on a new proposal for a municipally operated gas system, granted the Lubbock Bus company permission to extend its transportation services after refusing a franchise to Ed C. Abbott, and authorized extension on request of two-hour parking limits in the business district outside the parking meter zone.

Committee Is Named

Naming a committee on the municipal gas project followed introduction of a letter from George Etz, president of the Numex Natural Gas company, received by Mayor Edwards.

"We have been informed," the letter read, "that the city of Lubbock contemplates within the near future the construction of a natural gas distribution system to be municipally owned and operated.

"We have an available supply of natural gas of excellent quality; if your board contemplates such a project we would be pleased to submit, either to your body or to a committee which you may care to select for consideration of such proposition, a proposal for sale to you of natural gas to meet your needs."

The company is headquartered at Roswell, N. M.

Mayor Edwards said that he and other members of the commission

Barefoot Hike Is Profitable For Huntress

AUSTIN, Nov. 24. (AP) — Miss Elrena Jenkins was $25 richer today—the result of a 12-mile barefoot hike through brushy, rocky country.

A male companion wagered she could not hunt barefooted after she said she believed she would be more comfortable without her heavy boots.

For five hours, with her companion and a guide, she tramped through rough country in search of deer. Her feet were none the worse for the experience, she said, but next time she hunts she will wear boots—unless someone wants to bet she can't hunt barefooted.

Nazis Protest Von Ossietzky Award Insult

German Pacifist Announced As Nobel Prize Winner; Nazis Recently Held Him In Jail Because Of Disfavor

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 2. — The Nazi government termed award of the 1935 Nobel peace prize to Carl von Ossietzky, German pacifist just released from custody, a "challenge and an insult" in an official statement tonight.

The biting expression of Nazi irritation asserted that "with Ossietzky the Nobel peace prize fell for the first time on one who was sentenced by the highest court of his country as a traitor."

The statement promised a further "direct reply" of a nature not revealed.

Called "Notorious Traitor"

It was distributed as a commentary on an Oslo item by the German news agency briefly announcing the award.

"Bestowing the Nobel prize on a notorious traitor," the statement continued, "is an impudent challenge and insult to the new Germany.

"A proper, direct answer will follow."

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler personally concerned himself with the selection.

An official protest of the award, branding it a "misuse of a humanitarian institution for partisan political purposes," informed sources said, was being drafted.

Trains Crash; Six Are Dead, 65 Are Hurt

Steel Constructed Train Of North Shore Road Crashes Three-Car Wooden Train Of Elevated At Station

Panic Is Result

Some Passengers Are Tossed Twenty Feet To Alley Below Elevated Tracks; More Expected To Die

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—A steel constructed train of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee road plowed into the crowded rear wooden car of an elevated express tonight, injuring some 65 passengers and killing at least six.

Physicians said there was little hope for some of the others.

The three-car North Shore train, northbound to suburban Mundelein, overtook the Loyola express as it waited for a traffic signal near the Granville station, on the far North Side.

Drove Into Humanity

It telescoped the wooden car before the motorman could stop it. It drove into the packed humanity, tossing straphangers along the right of way and some over the elevated span to an alley 20 feet below.

Physicians and police identified the known dead as: R. F. Larson, 39; Miss Mary Mullen, 27; Quinn Morrison; Jack Diffendahl, 59; Sam Schwartz, 52; Vera Lefeborne, 35.

Rooms on the six floors of the Edgewater hospital were filled and the 20 doctors there were aided by a special corps sent from the Cook county hospital.

Before it could be stopped, the heavy steel train hurtled into the packed express, shearing through it for approximately three quarters of its length.

Lights blazed blindingly. Then the elevated span was plunged into darkness.

Citizens May Seek Hunters

About 150 Citizens Of Valley County To Seek Permission To Look For Missing Men, Absent A Week

(By The Associated Press)

SAN PERLITA, Nov. 24. — About 150 Willacy county citizens decided at a mass meeting here tonight to visit the King ranch tomorrow whether or not permission is granted in search of two missing hunters.

Spokesmen said George Durham, ranch foreman, and Ranger Capt. William McMurray first would be asked for permission to conduct the hunt for Luther Blanton, 57, and his son, John, 24.

Residents previously had threatened an armed invasion of the ranch holdings if an official investigation failed to reveal any trace of the Blantons by today.

McMurray warned "we would have to protect property" and asked relatives of the missing men to dissuade friends from the expedition.

The Blantons disappeared last Wednesday. Rangers entered the investigation after private hunts failed to locate the men.

Constable C. E. Oakes of Sebastian said he would ask McMurray and Durham to allow a party of 15 mounted men make a separate search on the ranch.

Security Act Forms Given Workers Here

Blanks To Be Filled Out For Compliance In New Law To Provide Social Security For Nation's Labor

The avalanche of social security blanks which left the postoffice here Tuesday was expected to start returning to the office today.

Only a few of the estimated 5,000 blanks, known as form SS-5, distributed to Lubbock workers had been filled out and had been sent back to postal authorities Tuesday night, said Postmaster Amos Howard.

All carriers, rural and city, distributed the forms Tuesday morning. Other blanks were placed in postoffice boxes yesterday afternoon.

Employers have been cooperating in returning form SS-4, sent to companies and individuals employing one or more persons. Form SS-4 may be mailed to the Social Security board, Candler building, 109 Market street, Baltimore, Md.

Each worker will receive a number, assigned him by the government. Retirement pension funds will be placed to his credit through that number.

Nearing Billion

Tuesday's Announcements Put Total Since Late October To $720,000,000; Bonuses To Benefit 100,000

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Another wave of extra dividends and Christmas bonuses rolled out of industrial sources today, topped by a $25,000,000 payment in arrears on preferred stock of the United States Steel corp.

About fifty companies dipped into expanded earnings to disburse nearly $100,000,000 to shareholders, mostly through extra and payment of accumulated dividends on senior issues.

Total Is $720,000,000

It sent total dividends declared by 311 companies since late October to approximately $720,000,000 in a record-breaking march on enlarged distributions to shareholders.

Several million additional dollars were voted for distribution to close to 100,000 workers by a dozen large companies in shoe, food, retail, machinery and other industries.

Others To Join Parade

Many more corporations were expected in financial circles to join the year-end rush, sped by an urge to get tax credits under the federal levy on undistributed profits.

After a lull over the week-end, it was resumed with new announcements from nearly all quarters of industry. Aside from the U. S. Steel payment, J. C. Penney Co., a chain store organization, Shell Union Oil Corp. and Norfolk & Western Railway contributed payments amounting to about $300,000,000.

Distilleries Face Charges

Liquor Price Fixing Charged By Federal Trade Commission; Coercion And Boycott Charges Listed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — Five distilleries today were accused by the Federal Trade commission of fixing liquor prices by unlawful agreements with distributors to "blacklist" and cut off the supplies of price-cutting retailers.

Named with three of the companies were seven trade associations which the commission charged had used coercion and threats of boycott to enforce and maintain the price policies.

Ordering the distilleries and the trade associations to show cause why they should not be compelled to cease their practices, the commission said the effect of them had been to deprive ultimate purchasers of the price advantages of free competition.

The distilleries named in the commission compliments were Seagram-Distillers corporation, New York City, and Seagram Distillers corporation of Massachusetts; Gooderham and Worts, Ltd., Detroit, a wholly owned subsidiary of a Canadian corporation of the same name; Schenley Distillers corporation of New York City, and three affiliated companies; Hiram Walker, inc., Detroit, and National Distillers Products corporation, New York City.

$1,000-A-Month Alimony No Joke

His wife's demand for $2500 a month temporary allmony may be blamed for that startled expression on Movie Comedian Oliver Hardy's face. He was on the witness stand scanning her claim. The Hardys were married May 26, 1934.

U. S. Labor Votes To Fight "Isms"

Dictatorships Termed "Definite Threat To Liberty"

(By The Associated Press)

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 24—The American Federation of Labor today termed communism, Fascism and Nazism "a definite threat to human liberty and to peace," and voted to fight the spread of these doctrines with all its strength.

Drawing to a close after disposing of the John L. Lewis revolt issue, the federation's 56th annual convention declared European dictatorships had wiped out the workingman's liberties and aimed "by force and bloodshed" to subjugate "all those within the nation who may differ".

Lewis Issue Crops Out

The Lewis issue cropped out only once—when W. R. Trotter, of the typographical union, asked President William Green whether the A. F. of L. would order state federations and city central bodies to expel local rebel unions.

Such a move, he said, would be logical after the convention voted to continue indefinitely the suspension of the ten rebel unions Lewis leads.

Green replied that the A. F. of L. still wanted to make peace and that a previous order to central bodies to keep rebel members remained in effect.

Charles P. Howard, the printers' president and secretary of Lewis' rebel committee, said in an interview the federation's leaders were "leading the A. F. of L. to destruction" when they voted for continued suspension.

A bill appropriating $1,500,000 to supplement the almost exhausted state un-employment relief fund until June 30, 1937, was introduced.

The session was only a few minutes old when the senate adopted a resolution by Senator De Roy Burns to investigate fiscal and management affairs of institutions and departments.

No Crashes Reported And Air Ministry Officials At London Express Belief Flier May Have Landed Elsewhere

2:30 A. M. BULLETIN

LONDON, Nov. 25. (Wednesday) Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is "safe," his home at "Seven Oaks," Kent, told Associated Press today.

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, Nov. 25 (Wednesday)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's long absence, on a projected flight from Ireland to England, caused official Irish fears for his safety early today.

Frank Aiken, Irish minister of defense, expressed concern for the safety of the American flier, but at the same time expressing an opinion Linbergh might have landed at an English airport.

(British air ministry officials in London said they thought Lindbergh was safe although they had no information he had landed anywhere.

No Crashes Reported

(They declared no plane crashes had been reported.

(A telephone call to Lindbergh's "Seven Oaks" residence in Kent brought the usual response from a servant: "I cannot give out any information—one way or the other.")

Lindbergh was enroute from Ireland to his country residence in England.

Had Enough Gasoline

Aiken said Lindbergh took off from Dublin this afternoon. The flier told him, Aiken said, he was planning to go straight to Croydon airdrome outside London but that he had enough gasoline to take him farther if necessary.

Lindbergh had been receiving weather reports, Aiken said, before he started.

(A check of airdromes in the London vicinity disclosed Lindbergh had not landed at another field besides Croydon).

Some quarters expressed belief the American might have secluded himself with friends after fog over the Irish sea balked him in his second attempt in three days to fly the channel.

SERVED HIM RIGHT

THE after dinner speaker had sat through an hour introduction while the toastmaster had painted his glories. Then when the speaker felt that his subject had been well done on both sides he turned with a flourish and said, "The guest of honor will now give us his address."

The guest of honor arose and said, "My address is the Lambs club," and sat down.

REDUCING AND DIETING

ANYONE can reduce if he makes up his mind to it and sticks to a routine. The loss in pounds won't be encouraging the first few weeks; it takes time to silver down but the results are worth the cost. There are those who have to watch their diet constantly if they keep down excess weight. We know because we are included in that list.

Danny McShain the wrestler dropped by the department just after the above was written and we asked him if what we have just written isn't true. He admitted it was unless there was a thyroid or other sort of condition that should place the afflicted one under a doctor's care. "People are fat because they don't want to take the time or make the sacrifice to keep down their weight," he said. "Isn't it awful," he added, "that we demand that our bodies keep plugging away 12 or 15 hours a day and we never give them a break? I know people who won't even spend 20 minutes a day exercising."

BUT WHAT EXERCISES!

DANNY thinks everyone who can spare the time should walk five or six miles daily. Well, we'll be old, Father William, before we devote that much time to exercise and we told him. How about exercises that can be done inside, we queried of the young Irishman. There are many good ones which should be done until they make you perspire. He likes to exercise with an old inner tube wound around his middle. Others he described, bending and stretching, deep knee bend and bicycling are familiar to anyone who has exercised.

After a curved lady has taken corrective exercises she must slow up on fats, sweets and starches. She must live a normal life of regular hours, drink plenty of water and take no cat naps. She can eat vegetables except potatoes, have lean meat and fish, poultry and fruits except figs, dates and bananas.

Danny said he had recently spent several hours at a crippled children's home, playing with the poor little maimed inmates and showing them some of the simple things about wrestling. "I came away from there thanking the Good Man above that I have a normal body," he said.

WE ARE LAZY

THERE is small danger that many of us will be troubled with brain fag, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb pointed out in his sermon Sunday morning. Man doesn't want to think for himself; he lets the press and radio do it for him. He doesn't even dream for himself; letting the motion pictures or romance magazines do the job.

We tune in our radios instead of playing our own musical instruments; we buy canned food to save time in which to loaf some other way.

NO MORE SMELLS

THE smells of Friday's fish have always distressed the home cook. But take hope—there's a new gadget designed to drive the smell out of fish today. It is a small machine which looks a lot like a radio, but it is actually a vaporizer. A small pad in a tray at the rear of the machine is saturated with a special liquid. Then the switch is turned on and the liquid is vaporized and circulated through the room. When the fish odors (or other kitchen odors) have been licked, the electricity is turned off. This gadget can be plugged into any socket, used in any room where fragrance and freshness are lacking. It is safe enough for the youngsters to operate, and does its little vaporizing job in less than 10 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cherry and daughter, Doris Jean, and son, James H., are leaving today to spend Thanksgiving in Austin where they plan to attend the Texas-A. and M. football game. They will return by way of Waco Sunday.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW
NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, you husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.
Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.
For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."
Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and GO "Smiling Through."—Adv.

Now Ease Neuritis Pains Fast

Bayer Tablets Dissolve Almost Instantly

In 2 seconds by stop watch, a genuine BAYER Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work. Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. What happens in this glass . . . happens in your stomach.

For Amazingly Quick Relief Get Genuine Bayer Aspirin

If you suffer from pains of neuritis what you want is quick relief.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets give quick relief, for one reason, because they dissolve or disintegrate almost instantly they touch moisture. (Note illustration above.)

Hence — when you take a real Bayer Aspirin tablet it starts to dissolve almost as quickly as you swallow it. And thus is ready to start working almost instantly . . . headaches, neuralgia and neuritis pains start easing almost at once.

That's why millions never ask for aspirin by the name aspirin alone when they buy, but always say "BAYER ASPIRIN" and see that they get it.

Try it. You'll say it's marvelous.

Questions On Act Answered

Various Details Regarding New Social Security Legislation Are Pointed Out In Replies To Questions

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Morning Avalanche answers below some more of the many questions pouring in from the public about the operation of the Social Security Act).

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP) — Must I report a change of jobs or a move into another state for the record of my wages to be kept by the government.

You may make such reports; but the responsibility under the law belongs to the employers. Their periodic reports must show who has joined or left their employ, giving the workers' "account numbers."

My boss has received a form for taxes on his 1936 payroll. What has that to do with pensions?

Nothing. The pensions taxes don't begin until 1937. The one per cent payroll tax this year, on shops employing 8 or more persons for as much as 20 weeks, is to promote unemployment insurance by the states.

What do you mean, "promote"?

The tax is levied against employers in all states. But in those states which have insurance systems, employers may pay 90 per cent of it into a state fund. In states where there is no law the tax money goes into the treasury's general fund and the state loses all claim to it.

Will the federal government administer the insurance systems?

No. The state funds are to be kept in the treasury here; but each state will administer its own law with cash from those funds as needed.

I understand 15 states have such laws. Are all of those now aiding the unemployed?

No. To build up funds the security act stipulated that a state must not pay benefits until two years after its taxes take effect.

"This Pretty World" Isn't So Pretty, Johnny Walker About To Decide; Faces Difficulty

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP) — The producer of a play called "This Pretty World," which is in rehearsal here, decided today it wasn't so pretty.

His difficulty:—the wife of the backer wanted the leading role, and the producer, Johnny Walker, didn't want to give it to her.

The backer is Julian Louis Reynolds, one of the younger members of the tobacco family. Mrs. Reynolds—who didn't care for the mail role Walker offered her, but said she'd enjoy the lead—is the former Helene Fortescue, who borrowed a butcher's truck on Long Island recently to go home from a party.

She is a sister of the former Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie, central figure of the Hawaiian assault case.

'You, Too, Can Be A Contorionist!'

Here is one of Jigsaw picture puzzle fans to try out as a starter for their winter season. The smile belongs to Eve Evans, but those legs she is holding belong to someone else, proving that it takes more of a contortionist to figure out the trick than it does to illustrate it. The conspiracy was plotted on the stands at Tampa Bay, Fla.

Humorous Skit Is Given At Luncheon

A "purported" conversaton in a local morgue between an "old Monarch" of the Lubbock Lions and a "knife and fork" member entertained members of the local club yesterday noon at the Hotel Hilton in the second of two model programs. The conversation kept the audience on edge on which member was next to be discussed by the "dead".

Ed Allen was the old Monarch and Boone Horn the knife and fork member. They reposed in coffins on the stage of the ballroom at the hotel. Eurnie Phillips was at the controls of a public address system and the information he put out was greeted with applause.

After regaling each other with the low-down on Lions, the two discussed club membership and responsibilities and the more serious work of the club was told, such as the defective eyesight committee, crippled children's council work and the annual Christmas party.

J. W. Jackson, chairman of the program committee, presided over the session. President H. C. Pender had two announcements; Carroll Thompson appealed for rooms for an expected 700 to 800 Boy scouts here Friday and Saturday, to be entertained Friday night in homes; Dr. C. C. Craig announcing the scout circus this week and President Pender the annual drive December 2 and 3.

Maurice Erickson sang two solos, "On the Road to Mandalay," and "Home on the Range". Miss Marian Phillips was his accompanist.

Many Scouts To Come Here

First Scout Circus Here This Week-End To Attract 1,000 Or More Boys; Rooms For Them Are Requested

Plans for providing sleeping quarters and one breakfast for an expected influx of boy scouts are occupying executive and other officials of the South Plains area council as time nears for Friday and Saturday programs of a scout circus to be conducted at Tech gym.

"We expect 1,200 boys from 28 towns of the council to arrive Friday morning for 10 o'clock final rehearsal at the gym." said Earl M. McClure, executive. In addition, there will be numerous scout leaders.

ROOMS REQUESTED

Lubbock persons who conveniently can offer sleeping accommodations Friday night to an area council boy scout and provide him breakfast Saturday morning have been asked to telephone 462, the scout office here, and allow their names to be registered.

Approximately 200 boys had not been "placed," said Earl M. McClure, scout executive, Tuesday night.

Programs for the public will be presented at 8 o'clock the nights of Friday and Saturday.

"Response of the public has narrowed demands from almost 400 to approximately 200 for places where a boy may spend the night Friday and have breakfast Saturday," said McClure. He said in need of lodging were those who live at a distance and will not be enabled to go "back and forth".

Arrangements have been completed for a 4 o'clock parade Friday afternoon and for decoration of the gymnasium, he said.

Edward Not To Be Crowned King? Big Boom Due On Stock Market; Japan To Lose War To Russia; It's All In Stars

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Don't be surprised, Belle Bart said tonight, if King Edward isn't crowned next year, if there's a big stock market boom, the movie industry moves east, and Hitler has a lot of trouble.

The stars indicate those things all are "likely" to happen she said after casting the horoscope for 1937.

A visit by the American fleet to British waters, remarkable progress in surgery, amazing scientific developments in the oil industry, and an auspicious period for President Roosevelt also are indicated by the astral bodies, she says.

Blonde, handsome and dynamic, Miss Bart has records showing accurate predictions for the past year of, among other things, the payment of the bonus, the death of King George, the end of the Ethiopian war, and the Roosevelt landslide.

Other things which 1937 probably has in store for the world, she says her charts indicate, are great popularity for Stalin; complete departure of France from the gold standard; and passage of laws in this country which will "amaze" public utility companies, cause their stock prices to rise, and bring harmony with the administration.

The future for Japan seem unfavorable. Indicated are an attempt at inflation which may have disastrous consequence, and a war with Russia, in which Japan would be defeated.

"The United States of America," Miss Bart says, "will have the planet Mars crossing the central belt. We may look for strikes and agitation among workers in factories and in various industries.

"This is also productive of stormy and cold weather, and Saturn will add its influence during the spring, affecting the northeastern states, still in operation to Neptune, governing the waters, causing floods in these regions, followed very likely by a peculiar epidemic.

"Mars and Uranus, causing inflamatory conditions, are productive of conflagrations affecting some of the larger cities. New York may experience some seismic shocks and unusual weather.

"Mars and Saturn in Aries, in unfavorable aspect of King Edward's horoscope, indicate some very trying periods for this monarch, and since this falls in the nature of a voluntary act on the part of individuals, there is serious question as to whether he will be crowned, and if so the stars point to his early abdication."

Climatic conditions, she thinks, may have a hand in causing some of the larger motion picture companies to move east from California, and there may be a revolutionary development in the industry involving "fourth dimension."

Centennial officials said they believed a chance spark ignited a truckload of the fireworks. Castro suffered a broken leg when the explosion blew him from the truck.

Hearings Will Be Held Today

Three Persons To Appear In 99th District Court For Injunction Hearings; Raids Cause Action

Three persons will appear before Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court at 10 o'clock this morning to show cause why temporary injunctions should not issue against their continued operation of establishments here.

Two are domino parlor operators, one a cafe proprietor.

A third domino parlor operator, Con Caraway, was to appear, but a hearing for him was forestalled through operation of the federal government, which had him taken into custody Tuesday and removed to Fort Worth to answer a charge of probation violation.

To face hearing will be Otis B. Pollard and John Cousineau, operators of domino halls, and Mrs. J. C. (Theressa) Hamby, proprietor of Mother's cafe.

Raids Made Nov. 17

The domino halls were raided Nov. 17 and 52 arrests made for a court in injury. Fifty persons were nabbed when Mother's cafe and a proximate establishmnt were raided Saturday night. A court of inquiry developed from those raids, too. Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, and Bedford F. Carpenter engineered the domino parlor raids, Fort and Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, those Saturday. They were bolstered by officials from the police, sheriff's department, state highway patrol, state liquor board, and the constabulary.

Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner, said Caraway had been tried here two years ago in December on a liquor violation charge, that he had served 30 days in jail and that imposition of any further sentence was suspended two years pending his good behavior.

Witnesses Testify

In the raid on his place and the other domino parlors, witnesses arrested later were sworn and several statements alleged gambling and liquor drinking went on there. Both of those asserted offenses are provided against by city ordinance.

All those to be heard today are to appear again in the regular term of court to show cause why temporary injunctions should not be made permanent, it was provided in the judge's fiat.

Another transfer Tuesday echoed one of the raids. Thomas Reed, held by police as a vagrant and for further investigation, incited suspicion which crystalized in communication with other Texas law enforcement agencies and the filing of car theft charges against him at Marlin. The sheriff from there accepted custody of Reed at the sheriff's office, to which Reed had been transferred.

No Sentence Decided Upon

Bill Lampe, United States marshal of Amarillo, removed Caraway to Fort Worth, after Carpenter and Fort had arrested him at 11 o'clock that morning. Mrs. Fluke said no definite sentence for Caraway had been decided upon, that being up to the federal judge of the northern district.

Another case is set down for hearing at the same hour this morning, a cause brought by the estate of Charlotte Pool Shropshire, deceased. Jack Randal will act for Judge Pitts, who had disqualified himself for that hearing. A jury will be drawn.

McMillan Said To Be Satisfactory

Condition Tuesday night at West Texas hospital of S. E. McMillan, 54, county treasurer remained "serious but satisfactory as could be expected," said a surgeon.

The justice of peace-elect was struck late Monday afternoon by an automobile driven by a Lubbock negro, T. S. Blacknell. Blacknell, charged by complaint immediately after the mishap, remained in custody under a new charge, of assault with a motor vehicle. Penalty in such a charge is the same as for other assault, said Jess C. Levens, county attorney who drew the complaint, providing fine of from $25 to $1,000 and jail sentence of from 30 days to two years.

McMillan suffered a fractured left wrist, brain concussion, and lacerations and contusions of the face and scalp. He had regained consciousness.

Rice Millers File Petition

Federal "Windfall Tax" Attacked In Suit And Injunction On Collection Of Taxes Sought In Court Action

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—Five south Texas rice milling companies filed suit here today attacking the federal "windfall tax" act and sought injunctions to restrain the internal revenue collector from collecting $351,733.85.

Federal Judge Robert J. McMillan ordered Internal Revenue Collector Frank Scofield to appear in San Antonio Dec. 7 to show cause why the injunctions should not be granted.

The suits, first of their nature filed here under the government's 1936 revenue act which levied taxes on "unjust enrichment," were by the Steinhagen Rice Milling company of Beaumont, Beaumont Rice Mills of Beaumont, Gulf Coast Rice Mills and W. M. Loving and R. L. Williams of Houston, El Campo Milling company of El Campo and Tyrrell Rice Milling company of Beaumont.

The petitions asserted the companies filed suits attacking the Agricultural Adjustment act processing taxes and pending final disposition of those cases had placed processing taxes assessed against them in escrow totaling $439,667. The revenue office, under terms of the new "windfall" levy, seeks to collect 80 per cent of that amount.

"Pummies" Burn At Slaton Mill

SLATON, Nov. 24. (Special)—Like a vein of coal, "pummies" from the world's greatest stack have been burning here 10 days.

Known for other fires, the great stack, 350x75x50 feet, has been receiving attention of insurance adjusters, salvage men and salvage crews since it began smoldering on its latest escapade.

Pummies are known as chaff from threshed grain heads. The refuse is piled, ground, mixed with molasses and meal, and fed to cattle, approximately 3,500 of which are being supplied here.

Spontaneous combustion at the Plains Grain Heads Handling company plant here was believed to have caused the fire. There was a slide which opened crevasses in the side of the stack. Water was blown in, causing damaging heat.

As fast as one "vein" is shifted and removed from the stack another catches fire, apparently.

The stack once burned several weeks.

Ford Benham of Lubbock, insurance adjustor, said Earl Douglas of Dallas, representative of his firm, was directing salvage crews.

Negroes Charged In Various Law Infractions Here Tuesday

Two negroes had a scrap. One charged the other with assault. When authorities went to arrest the one charged, Sam McNeil, they determined the other was equally culpable, and so brought him in, too.

A second charge likely will be filed today.

Harrison Irons, negro, was fined $100 and costs for sale of liquor. Judge J. J. Dillard of county court imposed a $10 fine and costs on a Mexican, Santos Gonzales, for possession of non-tax paid whisky.

Bond of $250 was posted by a negro, James Childress, charged with illegal carrying of a pistol.

Federal authorities indicated they would not accept a charge of liquor law violation against a negro man, 31, and a negro woman, 25, arrested the night before by Patrolmen Bill Mabry and Sid Caraway. State charges likely will be filed against the man today. He had been released to state authorities.

A negro was fined $25 and costs by Justice of Peace J. T. Inmon after a plea of guilty entered in a charge of theft of boots.

Citation Is Issued Against Mrs. Zioncheck By Relative

SEATTLE, Nov. 24. (AP) — Mrs. Rubye Nix Zioncheck, widow of Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck, today was cited to present an estate inventory or show cause December 7 why she should not be removed as administratrix of the Seattle congressman who leaped to his death from an office building window here last summer.

The citation was filed by Zioncheck's sister, Mrs. Ann Nadeau, Mrs. Zioncheck, now in Texas, last week was granted a temporary allowance of $50 a week.

Mrs. Nadeau alleged the allowance would reduce her brother's $6,500 estate below the aggregate of creditors' claims, and that Mrs. Zioncheck holds securities claimed by Mrs. Nadeau.

Auditor Sees Higher Deficit

General Fund To Continue To Grow More In Red Unless New Taxes Are Passed, Sheffield Reports

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—State Auditor C. B. Sheffield has estimated in a report to Governor Allred that the state's large general fund deficit would continue to grow unless additional taxes were provided or expenditures reduced.

If expenditures during the 1937-39 biennium were at the same rate as estimated expenditures for the current fiscal year and no new taxes were levied, the deficit would increase approximately $2,000,000 a year, Sheffield estimated. He said the deficit August 31, 1939, would be $18,880,000, within $2,500,000 of the state's revenues for a year.

Increased This Year

The deficit on August 31, 1935, was only $7,435,676.73. But the end of the last fiscal year, it increased to $12,681,279.48, due to the $3,000,000 appropriation for the Texas Centennial and $2,707,21[illegible].25 interest and sinking fund requirements for relief bonds.

The figures disclosed by Sheffield presaged a strong movement in the legislative session opening in January to levy new or increased taxes. Many in the legislature believe a moderate deficit is a good thing for the state because it checks appropriations but they doubt the wisdom of permitting the already large figure to increase.

Two More Students Ranked High In Tech English Test

Two additional students, Margaret Ruth Studhalter of Lubbock and Louise Payne of Slaton, who made scores as high as 190 in the Cooperative English test offered to freshmen students at Texas Technological college recently were announced Tuesday.

Only 67 students in the state made a grade of 190 last year. Eleven at Tech have made scores that high this year. Miss Enna Alberta Barnett made the highest grade, with 236 points, only three less than the highest in the state last year.

The test is prepared by the American Council on Education.

Proper Use Of Resources Of Water Available Is Sentiment

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 24. (AP)—Proper use of available water resources in the drouth areas stood out as the salient recommendation of farming and business leaders from five northwest states as the regional drouth hearing closed here last night.

Three members of the president's drouth area committee conducting the regional hearing planned to taper off the inquiry for public sentiment and ideas with private conferences Tuesday before drafting the final report on recommendations for long term planning against dry conditions.

Recommendations from delegations representing Montana, North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska unanimously were for water and soil conservation measures.

Temple Case In Court Again

City Files Application For Writ Of Error In Case Of School Superintendent And City Commission

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—The City of Temple has filed application for a writ of error with the Supreme court in the case involving validity of the contract of L. C. Procter as superintendent of the Temple schools.

Former Governor Dan Moody and associated attorneys listed 29 reasons why the court should reverse a court of civil appeals judgment upholding the Bell county district court granting Procter an injunction against the city.

Said Tribunal Erred

One assignment said the appeals tribunal erred in ruling invalid a provision of the charter empowering the city to rescind actions of the school board of trustees creating pecuniary liabilities. It was under that provision the city claimed the right to set aside a three-year contract given Procter.

The application will be held in the clerk's office 10 days to give Procter opportunity to reply and then will be turned over to the court, which may grant or refuse the request.

If the application is granted, the matter becomes a "cause" and will be set down for argument, after which a decision will be given.

Civil Appeals Proceedings

AMARILLO, Nov. 24. (AP) — Proceedings in the court of civil appeals for the seventh supreme judicial district:

Affirmed: W. H. Elkins, et ux, vs M. E. Foster, from Harris county; S. G. Bowen vs Callie Shotwell, from Harris county; Mrs. Della Friesen Kelley, et vir, vs Burlington-Rock Island Railroad co., from Harris county.

Reversed and remanded: Dollahite-Levy company vs Mrs. Ida G. Phillips, et vir, from Harris county.

Majority Of Area's Schools To Be Closed This Week-End

Most of the rural schools of the South Plains will be closed for the rest of the week, because of the Thanksgiving holidays, according to G. D. Holbrook, deputy state superintendent of schools.

A great majority of the several hundred teachers in this section will attend the state meeting of the teachers at Fort Worth, which starts Thursday night.

Lubbock county school boards voted to close for the Thanksgiving day and also Friday. All of the affiliated schools in this district will be closed, Mr. Holbrook said.

Westerners Taper Off For Plainview; Haddock Meets McShain Here Tonight

Gridders Show Better Spirit In Last Drill

Keyed-Up Plainview Team To Seek Repeat Victory Here Tomorrow; Fifteen Lubbock Players In Final Game

Showing considerable pepper and fire in their final hard workout of the season, the Lubbock High Westerners seemed yesterday to be set for a tougher game than statistics indicate when they meet the Plainview Bulldogs in the Gobbler Day contest here.

Two things the Westerners have for which to battle tomorrow—revenge for last year's defeat on the Plainview field, and a cinch on second place in the District 1 schoolboy race.

Bulldogs Ikally To Win

Just when the Westerners appeared to have the game in the bag last Thanksgiving, the Plainview boys started tossing cross-cross laterals and forwards that resulted in a 25 to 20 victory, and Plainview celebrated.

Now that they've learned the Westerners are vulnerable, the Bulldogs are keyed up to try for a repeat performance against Chapman's team. The odds are against such football behavior, but football behavior is an unpredictable thing.

Unless the Westerners put out wholesale efforts, they will not fare so well tomorrow. Plainview's team, depending on courage and speed, is just the type to take advantage of any let down or "break" the game might offer.

Final For Fifteen

Fifteen members of the Lubbock team will be playing their last game in Westerner suits, and they might well be expected to put out their best.

Amarillo, twice state and district champion, winds up its race tomorrow with Pampa. The game is booked for Butler Field, and a Sandie victory is all but in the bag, thus sending the Amarillo lads into the state play-off for the third time in a row.

Independent Cage Teams Seek Games

With football about to bow out of the sports picture for the year, basketball is coming in, and Lubbock's two independent teams are calling all signals and daring all opponents.

Texas Tech and Lubbock High school cage wars will be breaking out soon, official announcements from coaches being expected at any moment now.

Two business firms are sponsoring independent clubs. Sam Rosenthal of the Hub Clothiers has been talked into sponsoring a team to be managed by Earnest Dowell, and the team already is asking for games.

Jimmy William, co-proprietor of the Tip-Top Cafe, whose baseball team went places in the Lubbock tournament last year, now is turning his attention to basketball, and is to sponsor a team of former Lubbock High and Texas Tech players.

Both the independent clubs are seeking games, with any high school, college freshman or independent teams of the area. Communications should be addressed to either of the two sponsoring business men.

TO SELECT SUCCESSOR

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 24. (AP)—The University of Oklahoma athletic council will meet here tomorrow to nominate a successor to Maj. Lawrence "Biff" Jones as head football coach. Jones has been ordered to an officers' course at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., next year.

The name "America" first referred to central Brazil. Mercator, a geographer, first applied it to the whole known western world in 1541.

Carnegie Foundation Is Not Striking Terror By Threat Of Investigation

Pressure Is On Yell Department In Porker Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 24. (AP)—The cheer leader of either Tulsa university or the University of Arkansas will have a cool head after the Thanksgiving Day clash between the football teams of the two schools.

Under the terms of a wager announced by the Razorback yell department the cheer leader representing the losing school will submit to having his head shaved by the winner cheer leader.

College Men Refuse To Be Alarmed At Latest Threat

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—Heard in the huddles this week:

Practical football men do not regard the theoretical "threat" of another Carnegie Foundation investigation of gridiron practices with alarm . . . In the first place there isn't more than one chance out of a dozen that there will be another "bulletin 23" . . . It costs too much and takes too long to do any substantial good . . .

The problems of curbing or controlling the subsidizing and recruiting of college football players, combined with all the high-pressure commercial aspects of the sport in every section of the country, is being dealt with nowadays on a more practical basis than ever before . . . There is a growing cleavage between the so-called "boiler factory" colleges, frankly in the market for the best talent they can get to attract the public, and the universities attempting to steer a middle ground along the commercialistic highway of athletics . . .

Keep In Back Yard

One of the best-informed Eastern graduate managers says: "The outstanding tendencies in college football today are, first, for teams to play in their own class of competition, and, second, to put the subsidizing of players on a commonsense basis whereby the good athlete gets the same fair treatment as a good student . . . The depression wiped out a flock of old prejudices . . . It's up to the colleges, not agitators, to keep things under control and maintain a reasonable balance between profitable, healthy sport and overemphasis . . ."

Big Ten Counts Heaviest Crowds Since 1927 Peak

CHICAGO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Football attendance in the Western conference for the 1936 season was the greatest since 1927, peak year of the sport.

Receipts probably would reach $1,750,000, said Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics, tonight, basing his estimates on incomplete returns. These figures, however, will be about $1,000,000 below those of 1927, when receipts mounted to $2,777,600, all-time high in the "Big Ten."

The leanest year was 1932, when the receipts dropped to $973,389.

The big three of the "Big Ten", in point of attendance—Ohio State, Minnesota and Northwestern—alone drew more than one million spectators. The Buckeyes led with 391,285. Minnesota was next, drawing 324,500 and Northwestern 292,000.

Fox Hunters To Stalk Killer Of Expensive Hunting Hounds

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 24. (AP)—Fox hunters, goaded to action by an unidentified animal that has killed nine hunting dogs near Leary, Tex., in the last three weeks, arranged today a daylight drive to kill the marauder.

Hunters said the dogs' ribs were crushed and their bodies slashed apparently in a terrific struggle. No tracks have been found. They guessed it might be a mountain lion, wolves or a bear which escaped from a circus here seven years ago.

I. D. Nichols, loser of the last dog, a $100 fox hound, planned the drive.

ANNOUNCES BETROTHAL

HOUSTON, Nov. 24. (AP) — Miss Billie Haines, secretary to the commercial manager of Radio Station KTRH, said today that she will marry Wally Moses, outfielder for the Philadelphia Athletics.

"I'm not able to say just when the wedding will be," she said. "I met Wally two years ago when he was playing for Galveston."

IRISH LAY OFF

SOUTHBEND, Ind., Nov. 24. (AP)—Elmer Layden, Notre Dame coach, taking no chances on his team being stale for the Southern California game a week from Saturday, called off football practice today and told his squad to forget about the game until Friday.

FIGHT POSTPONED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Illness of "Sonny" Walker, Phoenix, Ariz., heavyweight, today caused postponement until Dec. 2 of his ten round bout with Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, scheduled for tomorrow night.

When deer shed their antlers, weathering, squirrels and porcupines soon eat them away.

An all-star team selected after the tournament consisted of Norene May of Idalou, Earnest of Jayton and Aikens of New Deal, forwards, and Daniels of Jayton, Grunty of Anton and Ussery of Southland, guards.

Other prize winners were Adams of Spade, May of Idalou, McKinzie of Jayton and Spears of Anton.

Big Bad Bills Of Ring Clash In Main Event

Long-Sought Match Is Reality At Auditorium Tonight; Old Sailor Moran Returns, Will Battle Newcomer

TONIGHT'S BATTING ORDER

Preliminary — Sailor Moran, Little Rock, Ark., vs. George Bennett, Oklahoma City. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Bob Cummings, San Francisco, vs. Buck O'Neil, Chicago. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event Danny McShain, Portland, Ore., vs. Dale Haddock, Detroit. Two out of three falls to a finish, or 2-hour time limit.

Time—Eight o'clock, at the Auditorium.

Danny McShain came back to town yesterday, itching for a fight.

The same will be offered him, beginning somewhere around nine o'clock, at Sled Allen's Auditorium tonight, by another Big D, in the tinear circuit, Dale Haddock of Detroit.

Not Skipping Out

"Don't let anybody tell you," blustered McShain, "that I was trying to run out of this battle. I'll give Haddock the beating of his life, and then some if he's able to stand up. I am booked this week in Hollywood, and had planned to leave last week, which is why I didn't tumble to first bids for a main event with Haddock. But Mr. Allen made the guarantee worth while, and I reconsidered. Me afraid of Haddock? I should say not. Wait until I get him in the ring!"

A Haddock-McShain scrap has been brewing for months, but for one reason or another the two have never gotten together here. Haddock, claiming the circuit leadership after disposing of the other top notchers, asked for a tilt with McShain to make it unanimous. He enlisted Promoter Allen's support and they went after McShain with a guarantee almost as great as any ever offered a wrestler here, including the champion.

Well-Balanced Card

McShain turned down one guarantee, but Allen raised the ante, so we have McShain and Haddock all hotted up at each other and ready to square off in the top go of tonight's billing, which is Promoter Allen's Thanksgiving Eve party for the wrestling bugs.

The supporting card is well balanced and full of possibilities. It features, though not in the feature event, the return of Sailor Moran, the vicious red-head from Arkansas who claws and chews and gouges and chokes his opponents into submission more time than he is overcome. The Sailor's opponent is a new cookie, one George Bennett, who hails from the Sooner State and whose record makes him out something more than a preliminary punk.

Bennett is advertised as fast, clean and scientific—but not afraid to mix it with the rough babies.

Bob Cummings and Buck O'Neil are paired off for the special event.

Longhorn-Aggie Game Features Turkey Day Grid Fests In Southwest Circuit

Favored Aggies Buck Old Jinx In Game On Steer Grid

AUSTIN, Nov. 24. (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns who tied the second ranking team and scored more points than any other against the first team of the nation, tangle with contenders for the Southwest conference crown in A. & M. college's Aggies here Thursday.

The Steers, who have won but one game all season, tied Louisiana State, second in the current national rankings, 6-6, in their season's opener, and while losing 47-19 to Minnesota, managed to chalk up a higher count than any team in three years against the mighty Gophers. They defeated Oklahoma University 6-0, for their lone victory.

Not Since 1922

The Texas Aggies at present in third place in the conference, will have to win the Thanksgiving Day game and depend on Arkansas and Texas Christian to lose their final tilts to annex the championship.

While paper ratings counted for naught in the historic battle, "jinxes" apparently did. Not since 1922 had the invading Farmers whipped the Longhorns on their home field. They were repaid when the Steers defeated them in College Station a year later.

The day before the 43rd game of a series which started in 1894 found both squads at top strength and in excellent condition. Dick Todd, A. & M.'s ball-toting flash who was recently injured, will be in the starting lineup and Texas' Bill Pitzer, most accurate of Steer passers also out of uniform for a while was reported in good shape.

Porkers Leave Today For Game With Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 24. (AP)—Coach Fred Thomsen eliminated scrimmage from the Arkansas Razorbacks' practice today to guard against injuries before the Tulsa university game Thursday.

Thomsen will take 28 players to Tulsa tomorrow for a final workout. The Porkers brushed up on new plays in their last home drill.

Aggies Wind Up Practice For Game

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 24. (AP)—The Texas Aggies went through both blackboard and field practice today.

The indoor session lasted two hours, after which offensive plays were practiced. The workout was the Aggies' last here before their game in Austin Thanksgiving with the Texas Longhorns.

Coach Homer Norton, breaking a custom of not naming a captain until game time, announced that Charlie Deware, jr., center from Brenham, would captain the Cadets against the Longhorns.

Twelve Loyola Wolves Wind Up Careers In Tech Battle

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24. (AP) — Twelve Loyola university football players, 9 linemen and 3 in the backfield, will close their intercollegiate football careers Thanksgiving Day after the game of Loyola and Texas Tech.

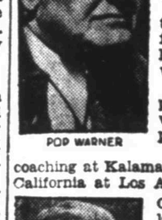

Captain Art Merchant, outstanding pivot player, heads the list.

No Crying Towels For Vet Coaches

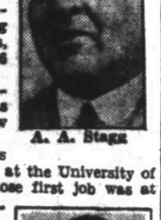

Old Timers Of Football Coaching Profession Doing Quite All Right, Thank You; Will Probably Keep Positions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—Shed no tears for the old timers of the football coaching profession; they've done right well by themselves this season.

A few of the younger generation of mentors have piloted their teams to fine records but, taken as a whole, the veterans have no need for crying towels.

POP WARNER

A. A. Stagg

At the College of the Pacific Amos Alonzo Stagg has a slate showing five wins out of eight starts, a good average in any competition.

Glenn (Pop) Warner, whose tutoring jobs have kept him jumping from coast to coast for 40 years, has directed his Temple club to 6 victories, 2 defeats and a tie.

Gloomy Gil Dobie, who has hopped about as often as Warner, has won 5 lost 1 and tied 2 in his new post at Boston College.

Bill Spaulding, who began his coaching at Kalamazoo in 1907, has won 6 and lost 3 at the University of California at Los Angeles, while Frank Dobson, whose first job was at Georgia in 1909, has led his Maryland team to 5 wins in 9 starts.

BOB ZUPPKE

BILL SPAULDING

Howard Jones, who started 28 years ago, has seen his Southern California outfit win 4, lose 2 and tie 1.

Bob Zuppke, dean of "Big Ten" mentors, who has been at Illinois since 1913, has won 4, lost 3 and tied 1. Dana Bible at Nebraska, has won 6, losing only to Minnesota and Pittsburgh.

Coaching since 1912, Morley Jennings at Baylor has won 5, lost 3 and tied 1, while Ray Morrison, who began in 1916, has won 3, lost 4 and tied 1 at Vanderbilt.

Stagg's Team Is Favorable Toward Sun Bowl Battle

STOCKTON, Calif., Nov. 24. (AP)—The College of the Pacific Tigers, winners of the Far Western conference football championship and coached by Veteran Amos Alonzo Stagg, today tentatively accepted an invitation to play in the annual Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Texas, New Year's Day.

Coach Stagg said approval of the trip depended on "satisfactory travelling expenses."

The opponent will be the winner of the Border Conference title, for which the New Mexico Aggies and Texas Mines are deadlocked.

Lubbock High Paper Devoted To Graduating Grid Players

The issue of "The Westerner World", weekly tabloid newspaper at Senior High, this week is dedicated to the fifteen boys on the football squad who will be playing their last high school football tomorrow when the Westerners meet Plainview at Tech field. The boys are: Ralph Letsinger, H. L. Gantz, Orvil Lee Oden, Bill Wood, Virgle Simmons, Rafe Nabors, Paul Kinard, Sterling Short, Wilburn Piercy, C. H. Tubbs, Harold Ingley, C. L. Storrs, Firman Williamson, Max Rutledge and Isaac White.

Tickets For Rose Bowl Are In Demand Six Weeks Early

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 24. (AP)—The annual national clamor for tickets to the Rose Bowl football game has started in earnest despite the fact the game is six weeks away, and the tickets have not been placed on sale.

For days letters from all parts of the country have trickled into Tournament of Roses headquarters containing checks and applications for tickets. Their volume indicated a capacity crowd of 85,000.

Returning the applications and checks to the senders, tournament officials explained that none is accepted until the West's leading football team has been selected by the Pacific Coast conference.

This year selection hinges on the outcome of the game between the Washington Huskies and the Washington State Cougars Thanksgiving day at Seattle.

Frankie Frisch And Party Rescued When Yacht Fails

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 24. (AP) — Frankie Frisch, veteran manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and his yachting party were breathing more easily today after a harrowing experience at sea.

The motor of his yacht, The Cardinal, balked enroute from New York to Daytona Beach.

"Two or three yachts passed us without giving assistance and then we finally drifted into a tug that towed us 43 miles to Norfolk," he said.

Littlefield Is Preparing For Slaton Attack

Class B Title Of District 5 To Be Determined Thursday At Littlefield; Flomot To Play Paducah At Matador

Class B football teams of the South Plains and lower Panhandle area were buckling on their armor yesterday in all but final preparation for championship games on Thanksgiving Day.

In District 5, hub of which is Lubbock, the Slaton Tigers, defending champions, invade Seely Field at Littlefield tomorrow to play Coach Bill Sanders' Wildcats for the circuit pennant.

Slaton, undefeated and untied, and victor against Littlefield in an early season non-conference game, rules a slight favorite, but Littlefield has girded itself well, improved with each game and is going into the contest determined to prevent a repeat title by the Tigers.

The teams wind up their workouts this afternoon in light drills.

Special Train Runs

A special train is to carry hundreds of Slaton fans to Littlefield, and it's to be a big day in the history of both schools.

Winner will meet the champion of District 6, the loop to the south, in bi-district competition next week. For the loser, the season is over.

Flomot, coached by a former Texas Tech lineman, Bill McWilliams, and Blanard Spearman's Paducah Dragons are to clash tomorrow on the neutral field provided by Matador for the district championship of the fourth division.

Matador won the title last year, but was not able to take a conference contest this year in the southern half of the district. Paducah defeated Matador and Spur, tied with Floydada and won the benefit of the tie for the right to play in the district finale. Flomot defeated Quitaque, Lockney and Silverton and won by forfeit from Turkey to represent the north section.

China's grand canal, 1000 miles in length, is the longest in the world.

Plan For Reorganization Of Corporation Presented Court

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—A plan for reorganization of the capital structure of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp., in receivership since 1933, was presented Monday to Federal Judge Bondy by the Atlas Corp., an investment company, and its associates.

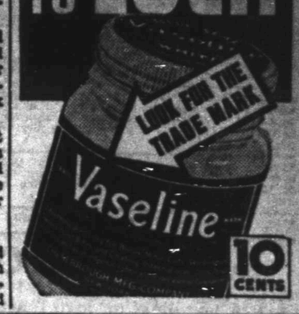

It was said to have been approved informally by important creditors of the big motion picture and theatrical enterprise.

The plan calls for a new capital structure consisting of authorized issuance of $18,000,000 in 5 1-2 per cent convertible debentures, $11,000,000 in convertible preferred stock and 4,000,000 shares of common.

Common stockholders would get one-half share of the new common for each share they hold. Secured and unsecured creditors would be offered debentures and common for their allowed claims.

Robinson's Wise Counsel

AT A combination love feast and victory celebration, Texas Democrats met in Dallas Monday. There was, and in all propriety, a big whoop-te-doo over the triumph of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket on November 3, and over the part played by Texas in the landslide.

Most important part of the gathering, as far as The Morning Avalanche is concerned, was the remark included in his speech by Senator Joseph Robinson, of Arkansas, the New Deal leader in the upper house of Congress.

Said Senator Robinson:

"If our efforts are to end in mere rejoicing, our labors will be in vain", he said. "It will do no lasting good to penalize those Democrats who made the mistake of leaving their party and of allying themselves with its enemies."

Those are wise words coming from a wise man.

Blind party loyalty is rapidly becoming a thing of the past in most of these United States. While loyalty is still stressed in Texas and the Old South, it no longer plays a major role, as the results of the last two presidential elections—and especially the most recent one—prove. More and more Americans are voting for the individual candidate and for the principles upon which he makes his stand. Less and less do we hear the proud but questionable boast: "I'll vote my party ticket if the nominee is a yellow dog".

Senator Robinson is eminently correct in counseling against reprisals being directed against those Democrats who could not vote for the 1936 party ticket. No man should be punished for voting his convictions and staying with his principles.

Further than that, a possible realignment of political parties is threatened by 1940 and if it comes millions of citizens who long have been in opposite political camps will find themselves banding together for what they believe is best for the country.

If such a thing comes to pass, reprisals now might have unpleasant repercussions then!

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATE and CAROLINE MEED live on a farm with their indolent, lovable grandfather, MAJOR SAM MEED, and two old Negro servants, ALTHY and ZEKE. Kate is engaged to MORGAN PRENTISS but breaks the engagement when she finds him on the point of jilting her for EVE ELWELL, wealthy and beautiful.

Major Meed loses the farm to JEFF HOWARD, a bitter young mountaineer. Kate hates Jeff for taking their home and treats him insolently, yet he cannot help loving her. Caroline is asked to sing at a celebration, wearing an heirloom dress. Kate realizes the dress has been left in the attic at Meed Meadows and goes there to get it.

Before she can leave, Jeff discovers her there. Both are angry. A candle is turned over and the attic catches fire. Kate beats out the flames with the heirloom dress. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVIII

Kate took a bus to the city next day and shopped for material for Caroline's dress. She found a dove-colored corded silk which copied an old weave. It was $2 a yard, and, since 10 yards were required the total cost was rather staggering. There was old-fashioned ribbon to be bought too, and thread for sewing.

"Twenty-five dollars out of Brown Boy's hide," Kate reflected. "But it doesn't matter, if only I can make Caroline look right."

The following morning Kate cut out the dress, adapting the tight bodice and straight bouffant skirt of the original model. Success attended her labors. Though the little upstairs bedroom was distressingly hot, enthusiasm kept her at the sewing machine until Caroline forcibly took hmer downstairs to lunch. Afterward they had another fitting. Caroline standing patiently while Kate fashioned the lining to her figure and the dress to the lining.

At 4 o'clock Caroline protested, "I can't try on the thing another time. Fold it and put it away till tomorrow. We're both exhausted. Look! There comes Zeke with the ice. I'll go down and maked iced tea for us."

Presently she called Kate down to the dining room, where she had the tea and tomato sandwiches waiting. "And here's a note Zeke brought from Cynthia. She's decided to entertain informally for Eve and Morgan tonight. A crazy shower. Everybody's supposed to bring 'something discouraging to divorce.' Here. Read the letter yourself."

Kate read while she sipped her tea. Between the tactful lines she read Cynthia's supposition that they would not want to come. It nettled her. She saw Caroline waching her, anticipating her refusal.

"Let's go, Caroline!" she exclaimed. "I'll take a recipe for that cheese-cake Morgan's so crazy about, if you dare me."

"Let's," Caroline agreed, "and I do dare you. What can I take?"

"A bottle of hand lotion," Kate suggested. She was referring to a compound made at home from an old recipe of their grandmother's. It was scented with rose water and had kept their own hands soft and smooth in spite of housework.

"It's a cute idea," Caroline said. "But are you sure you want to go, Kate? There's no use persecuting yourself."

"I want to go," Kate told her firmly. "If I'm going to spend the rest of my life in the same set with Morgan and Eve, the sooner I get used to them belonging to each other the better."

This sounded reasonable to Caroline, so she did not try to dissuade her. She went to the kitchen to prepare her gift, pouring the lotion into a wide-necked cologne bottle which had some value as a piece of Victorian glassware. Kate wrote out the cheese-cake recipe carefully.

As they drove into town that evening Kate grew more and more animated. Caroline thought in a worried way, "She's wound up like a person with a high fever. I hope she doesn't overdo." She said cautiously, "I think you're sort of keyed up, honey. Try to be more nonchalant."

The party, like all of Cynthia's affairs, went off with a bang. There was a bowl of champagne punch to start things off, and later they opened the gifts. The "discouragements to divorce" were varied and ridiculous, ranging from biscuit cutters to kiss-proof lipstick for Eve, and from bedroom slippers to bottles of bourbon for Morgan. Someone brought a patent can opener, someone else a volume of love poems with the instruction "To be read aloud at breakfast every Monday."

Johnnie Baird gravely presented Morgan with a hairbrush marked, "Not to be used on the head!" Cynthia retaliated for her sex by giving Eve an old leather-bound volume, dug from somebody's attic, titled "The Ways of Savage Men in the Antipodes and Elsewhere."

Kate presented her recipe and managed to do it so gaily, slinging to Johnnie Baird's dependable arm the while, that no one remembered to feel sorry for her. Only Eve looked for malice (and perhaps found it) in the little recipe written on the kitchen card and labeled, "Kate Meed's Cheescake. A Favorite of Morgan's." Her quick glance at Kate was barbed before she lowered her lashes.

When Caroline's bottle of lotion was unwrapped Johnnie Baird insisted on Eve's putting some on at once, after which he kissed her hand with extravagant appreciation, inviting "all my fraternity brothers to do likewise, but no Phi Delts or Dekes!"

Later in the evening Morgan sought out Kate where she was reading palms in the library and insisted on her dancing with him. After a moment's hesitation and much protest from her crowd, Kate went. It was the first time she had danced with him since the breaking of their engagement. The strangeness of being in his arms, yet knowing they were worlds apart, reduced her to thoughtful silence.

She thought, "I used to be thrilled when we danced! I'm not now. It's just like dancing with anybody else. That's lucky for me. He's Eve's—entirely Eve's."

Yet she was frightened. Frightened for fear this old power over her would assert itself. Kate thought tremblingly, "How awful if I'd find myself loving him again! What could I do?"

Morgan said, "Let's go outside, Kate. It's beastly hot here."

She protested weakly, her voice dying in her throat. She could think of no reason for refusing. Other couples were outside—Eve herself, no doubt—for the radio music was hardly good enough for dancing.

They went outdoors. The porch was full, and Morgan said, taking her arm, "My car's parked out by the garage. We'll go sit there."

History was repeating itself. It made Kate feel distinctly queer, but she followed. Was he remembering, too?

In the car Morgan did not light a cigaret as she expected him to do. She noticed that he seemed morosely silent, hardly answering when she talked. Presently he said, "So you've taken up palmistry, have you?"

Kate answered, "My one parlor trick. Don't belittle it."

"Just a way of holding hands," he accused.

"Don't be silly. People don't need an excuse for holding hands. They just do it if they want to."

"Then let's do it. I'd enjoy it."

Again Kate said, "Don't be silly!" She did not know that he was verging on drunkenness, because his quietness was so deceiving. To do him justice, Morgan Prentiss rarely drank as much as the average young man who went to a party. This Kate knew.

"It doesn't seem silly to me," he told her with dignity. "I'm sorry it seems so to you. It would be rather heavenly, as I look at it."

Kate was dismayed. Was Morgan actually making love to her? But no! Things like that simply didn't happen. Morgan was engaged to marry Eve Elwell in October and this was a party in their honor. To return to the impersonal, she said, "Aren't the Chenaults late in going to Michigan this year? They used to go the first of July."

Later than usual," Morgan said. "But what does time matter? What does anything matter any more?"

Kate laughed uncertainly. "Time matters a lot if you live in the country at preserving time. I suppose the Elwells will soon be going to Michigan, too. Of course you'll sped August with them?"

"Why do you ask that question?"

"To make conversation," Kate retorted angrily. "You've certainly contributed very little of your own accord."

"So that's it. I thought maybe my actions interested you."

"Of course your actions interest me," Kate said quickly. "I'll always be interested in you, Morgan. You've shared too much of my young emotional life to seem quite like other men to me, ever."

"The happiest hours I've ever known were with you, Kate."

"But you're going to know happier ones than those," she reminded. "You'll be awfully happy with Eve Morgan."

"I'll not be happy with anybody, Kate, unless I can see you often. Unless I can hold you in my arms as I used to do. Why are you so cold to me, Kate? I'm Morgan. Your Morgan—"

He leaned toward her and gathered her into a close embrace, kissing her surprised lips, caressing her surprised face. "You're not kissing back, Kate! Don't treat me like this, darling. Don't punish me for the way I've treated you. I want you again. Let's go away from this place! Let's start driving now. We can be married in the morning—"

Kate pushed him from her, feel-

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PUBLICATION of unemployment figures has become epidemic—since election. Until then there was an unpublicized conspiracy among the so-called experts to hushhush this subject.

President Roosevelt banned discussion of his unknown economists' estimates until after he was safely returned to the White House. The National Industrial Conference board, which draws financial support from business and industry, has resumed the role of prophet after abdicating it in March. The American Federation of Labor will soon reenter the field after having quit it during the campaign. What it means is that the problem has become economic rather than political, and the nation's leaders are facing it realistically.

Present day estimates of the jobless make recent Republicah Jeremiahs look foolish. Almost all experts agree that the total has slumped to less than 10,000,000—about 9,875,000—as against G.O.P. claims that it was at least 11,000,000. But the administration's handling of the problem was also tinged with politics. It didn't dare to admit the total was almost 10,000,000 until after the votes were counted.

SOLUTION: Inside pressure for a census of the unemployed has become terrific. It seems a certainty now, and the only question to be settled is whether it shall be voluntary or a door-to-door canvass by federal agents. Mr. Roosevelt prefers the former system because it means a saving of possibly $25,000,000.

Pending a count of noses, you can discount all estimates The only specific information is that between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 people have returned to work since March 1933—the peak of unemployment. Estimates of those jobless then range from 16,100,000 to 13,300,000. Nobody knows how many new young employable people have entered the labor market. Nobody knows how many are out of the count because of age, incapacity or continuance in school.

Speculation aside, topnotch economists figure that a 15 per cent spurt in business would virtually solve the unemployment question. It would reduce the roll of idle hands to less than 5,000,000—a manageable total. Few at Washington anticipate a "permanent unemployment problem" except Relief Chief Harry Hopkins. But that's his business.

DILEMMA: The prospect that Secretary Perkins may soon step out of the cabinet has provoked a furious squabble for her job. Three extremely emotional groups—women, the Lewis C.I.O. faction and the Green labor regulars—insist that they be allowed to name her successor.

Professional politicians among the ladies demand that at least one cabinet post be permanently allotted to their sex. They prefer the Secretaryship of Labor, but would be content with head of the Department of Social Welfare if that is created. Mr. Lewis, of course, wants somebody friendly to him in Labor's secretaryship, and President Green would resent it if his suggestions were not accepted at the White House.

As a result of these conflicts the only solution may be to retain Miss Perkins—though the desire for her resignation among both labor and industrial leaders grows day by day. Her assistant, Edward McGrady, would satisfy both the Green and Lewis factions—but not the ladies.

COMEBACK: Meeting secretly since the presidential election, Republican revivalists concede that their party plight is serious. What they worry over most is not the loss of cities, counties, states—political machinery—but the disappearance of historic issues which once distinguished the two major parties.

Such questions as federalism, states' rights, the tariff, prohibition and even money seem to have lost their earlier importance and challenge—at least in the popular mind. Moreover, November 3, if it meant nothing else, apparently registered overwhelming popular approval of President Roosevelt's insistence upon a socially minded government. William Allen White, G.O.P. sage, was the first to read that interpretation into the returns. His more practical associates sadly admit that he was right.

G.O.P.-ers agree that blind opposition to what they term the "Roosevelt system" will get them nowhere. They feel they should accept the social implications of the New Deal philosophy, but promise more efficient, more economic administration—Alf Landon's original idea in the campaign. But there, they realize, is the basic bar to a comeback. It's hard to excite 45,000,000 voters over how administrative levers should be manipulated.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORK isn't nearly as concerned about the O'Mahoney licensing bill as you might expect. This bill, to be introduced in the next Congress, would compel all corporations doing interstate business to be licensed by the federal government, subject to such regulations as to wages, hours, etc., as the government might direct.

From the conservative viewpoint such a law might well constitute much stricter regimentation than was imposed by the ill-fated N.R.A. Organized labor will back it to the limit. Yet despite this dreadful menace industrial and financial leaders decline to get excited.

The main reason for their surprisingly placid attitude is the widespread conviction—based largely on inside reports from Washington contacts—that President Roosevelt will use the O'Mahoney bill as part of a technique he has tried often before, both as governor and President, to get what he wants. This technique consists of persuading people to meet his wishes voluntarily by conveying the threat of a much worse fate if they don't.

PROGRESSIVE: In this case, for instance, the licensing measure might be poised above the skull of big business in order to inspire it to get busy of its own accord on raising wages, shortening hours, increasing employement, etc

New York insiders say that large industry will do these things anyway, as a matter of enlightened self interest (enlightened by the election), and that therefore there will be no reason to bring the big stick crashing down.

Last week Robert Wood Johnson, of Johnson & Johnson, urged business men to co-operate of their own initiative in working out plans to step up employment by shortening the work week. Mr. Johnson is widely known as an unusually progressive business leader. But the point is that what he suggests today, some of the most conservative corporations will be doing tomorrow. It looks as if even the staunchly right wing National Association of Manufacturers might "get religion." Other key groups of business executives have already done so.

EXCEPTION: Many New Yorkers are wondering whether the Supreme court will modify its future decisions in the light of the election returns. There are many guesses, but no one is offering to bet one way or the other with any confidence.

The one exception to the general reticence on this score is the social security act. There is practically unanimous agreement in informed legal circles that this law is headed for the judicial ash can if it reaches the court in its present complicated form.

STRANGEST: E. T. Weir of National Steel—rugged individualist if there ever was one—came out last week against U. S. Steel's new practice of linking wages to the cost of living. He objected that this would prevent future advances in the workers' standard of living.

On this issue, therefore, Mr. Weir climbs into the same bed with John Lewis—and astonished New Yorkers gasp that surely this is the strangest pair of bedfellows on record.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 105

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

While Nkima clung to his shoulder, Tarzan hastened to the small canoe he had hidden. Soon he neared the temple, paddling swiftly. But without warning, the craft struck a submerged log, and the two passengers were hurled into the crocdile-infested stream. . . .

. . . Meanwhile, Old Timer was brought back to the temple, where he was greeted with savage jeers by the remaining Leopard Men who were awakening now from their drunken slumbers. The Leopard God growled, and Lulimi, still dazed, fixed the captive with cruel, bleary eyes.

"Let the white man die at once, so he cannot escape again," cried Sobito the witch-doctor. Lulimi nodded and said: "First his bones will be broken and his skin will be clawed by our sacred talons, for sweet and tender is the flesh of those who die slowly, in pain."

Instantly half a dozen Leopard Men flung the white man to the floor and stretched his arms and legs far apart, then a drum began to boom weirdly. Four priestesses stepped forward and began to dance, flourishing heavy clubs above the prostrate form of their victim.

WHAT IS PUPIL DILATION AND HOW IS IT PRODUCED? Nature provided muscles to regulate the size of the pupil to control the amount of light entering the eye in proportion to the intensity of the light Excessive light is very injurious Reaction of the pupil is to contract, reducing the amount of light entering the eye Light of less than normal intensity necessitates more light entering the eyes to maintain normal or near normal vision. These muscles act involuntarily

Fixed abnormal pupil dilation is produced by a drug instilled into the eyes which paralizes the muscles hence Nature is interferred with preventing the regulation of the size of the pupil as required by light entering In his condition, eyes cannot be used for near work Remember this no drug can refract light or the human eye Our Modern Scentific Optometrical Eye Examinations Are Safe and Free From Pupil Dilation.

Decision to conduct the dinner was made at a meeting of ex-students in San Antonio last year during the Texas State Teachers meeting. Dean Gordon and Miss McCrery were chosen members of the steering committee.

Pederson will leave tonight and will confer with B. C. Shulkey, ex-student who is assistant superintendent of Fort Worth schools, concerning arrangements for the dinner. Other faculty members also will leave tonight.

The dinner will be conducted during the Texas State Teachers association meeting, which will begin Thursday. Ex-students attending the meeting and others are expected to attend the dinner. A good attendance is indicated by the interest being shown, said Dean Gordon.

C. M. Rogers, supt. of Amarillo schools will be toastmaster. Greetings will be offered by Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth mayor; Doctor Knapp, Holmes Webb of Abilene, president of the Alumni and Ex-students association; and Shulkey. Music will be offered.

Cooper School Holds Program

Approximately 1,000 Patrons Of School And Residents Of Five Districts Attend Get-Together Tuesday

Patrons of the Cooper Rural High school district, and their families and friends, numbering approximately 1,000 attended a get-together and barbecue yesterday afternoon and last night at Woodrow, location of the high school. It was the first of what leaders of the five rural districts hope will be an annual affair.

A general spirit of fellowship featured the whole program, which was informal and friendly. During the afternoon the younger generation gathered on the playground for some sports.

Football Game Played

A football game between the first and second teams of Coach Russell Dennison, resulted in a victory for the former, to the tune of 13 to 7. The game was hard fought and pleased the large crowd.

Three basketball games followed, played on the open courts. Barton senior girls defeated the junior girls from that school, 21 to 6; the younger married women went down to defeat before the senior girls, 10 to 21 and the senior boys defeated the former boys, 18 to 11.

Supper Is Served

Women of the community prepared the supper, which was served from about 4:30 to 6 o'clock. Three calves, that dressed out 556 pounds, were barbecued, as well as 100 chickens. Ladies brought fried chicken, dressing, beans, salad, pickles, pies and cakes and prepared the food on plates. Coffee also was served.

Some 20 to 25 women of the communities, assisted in serving. About as many men also aided in the preparation and serving. Miss Jessie Mae Rose, home economics teacher, assisted. Tables were prepared for serving and patrons ate in the school rooms.

Griggs Shows Films

After the meal, County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs gave a showing of five films, in the school auditorium. The room was overcrowded with people. Preceding the showing, while visitors were eating, he gave a concert of phonograph numbers.

Besides Woodrow, Barton, Slide, Union and New Hope communities were represented on the committees and also in attendance. Several hundred cars were parked on the school grounds during the afternoon. Residents of other communities, including a number from Slaton and Lubbock, also attended.

Numerous expressions of appreciation of the objectives of the meeting were given by representative community leaders. Board members and leaders working on committees, said they were well repaid for their work. Superintendent B. M. Hayes of the district and his staff of teachers cooperated in handling the occasion.

City Commission

several months ago had been paid a visit by representatives of the company.

The committee, to be of three Lubbock citizens and as yet not designated by the mayor, will work with City Manager W. H. Rodgers, and City Engineer Marlin R. Smith, with commissioners as ex-officio members, in an investigation of the offer.

The last attempt to launch a municipal gas system here, by the preceding commission group, ended in a 99th district court case which found a gas bonds election result against issuance of revenue bonds for construction of one.

Refusal Technical One

In the bus transportation matter, the commission's refusal to grant Abbott a franchise in competition with the existing company was a technical one. Instead of voting on the new franchise, the commission voted four to one to permit the extension of Lubbock Bus company lines, with reservations.

The commission will confer with R. E. L. and Ray Farmer, owners of the company, on suggestions for improving service; resulting from discussions on the rejected franchise. Members indicated they favored extensions to The Flats, lines over which buses passed back and forth over the same streets instead of circuitous, strict adherence to schedules, expansion of service to outlying areas if warranted, and use of modern equipment as possible.

To Give Full Opportunities

Full opportunity for the present company to meet requirements set by the commission will be given, it was indicated, before a new franchise will be considered. The opposing vote against the extension of the present company routes was cast by Commissioner A. J. Richardson, who favored granting Abbot a franchise.

Final disposition of the bus matters came during an afternoon session called at 1 o'clock after a meeting which began at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, when Clark M. Mullican represented Abbott in the latter's request, was recessed at noon.

Decision on the two hour parking limit also came during the morning session.

Because of a precedent set nearly two weeks ago in establishing a two-hour parking limit on Texas avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, the commission authorized enforcement of the parking time limit by request on blocks covered by ordinance not effective for three years. If necessary, a new ordinance will be passed to include blocks not covered by existing statutes.

A petition requesting two-hour parking limit on the north side of Main from Avenues J to K and on the south side of Main from Avenue J west to the alley was presented. The petition also included Avenue J from Main to Tenth street on both sides, but no ordinance was in effect.

Must Add New Men

Addition of two men to the police force will be necessary if the parking limit is extended where formerly in operation, the city manager said. The commission favored marking off stalls throughout the two-hour parking zone.

Other Business

Other business included the purchase of a chlorinator operated on trial during summer months to remove odors in a main of the sanitary sewage system in south Lubbock, and approval of paving and levy of assessments for work completed on Dixie Drive from Nineteenth to Twenty-first streets, Fourteenth street from Texas avenue to Avenue J, College avenue from Twentieth to Twenty-second streets, and Fifteenth street from Avenue H to Texas and from Avenues M to Q.

City Manager W. H. Rodgers was authorized to make application with the Works Progress administration for WPA assistance in erecting street markers over the city similar to a samp's placed on the northwest corner of the Broadway and Avenue Q intersection.

Security Blanks

unemployment insurance law ran into a cool reception today at the Social Security board.

Chairman John G. Winant announced the board would not recommend postponement of the December 31 deadline.

Winant's statement was made to a press conference, the first he has held in many months. It coincided with delivery during the day of 26,000,000 workers' applications for old-age pension accounts, giving that great army of employes the first direct contact with the law.

He said the Social Security act made it mandatory for both employers and employes to fill out the cards, under tax authority delegated to the treasury, but that the board could take no punitive measure against delinquents without specific acts of congress.

It definitely was not planned at this time to ask congress for any such authority, Winant said.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—Another revival of business hopes overshadowed Wall Street's worries over Europe today and Monday's toppling stock market leaders came back for gains of fractions to 3 or more points.

Among the most stimulating of the day's developments, coming after the close, was the action of U. S. Steel's directors in voting a payment of $7 a share on its preferred dividend averages.

The final upswing brought a net recovery in the Associated Press average of 60 issues of 1 point at 70.2. It was off 1.9 points yesterday. Transfers totaled 1,924,300 shares, against 2,158,620 the day before.

Monday's selling from Europe dried up and was replaced by more buying orders from overseas quarters. Foreign currencies consequently turned downward in terms of the dollar.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24. (AP)—The cotton market took the ordinarily depressing influence of first notice day without faltering and at the close options showed small net advances.

At one time the market was up more than 50 cents a bale, but the usual last hour liquidation cut down these gains and at the finish prices were not unchanged to 6 points higher.

Dec. finished at 11.70, March at 11.87, May at 11.54 and July at 11.47.

At the opening notices totalling 9,300 bales were tendered at New Orleans, mostly coming from large spot houses and the cotton cooperatives. But the notices were not allowed to circulate and being quickly stopped impared firmness to dealings.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—Cotton advanced 7 to 15 points in early trading today on covering and outside buying, but as December notices circulated prices reacted.

March eased from 11.60@11.60 and closed at the low with prices generally ending unchanged to 3 points net higher.

The market opened 4 to 6 points higher and despite the issuance of first December notices against 12,900 bales in the local market, prices ruled steady to firm. December rallied from 11.67@11.80 as trade shorts covered.

Some foreign buying and commission house demand appeared in the forward months with a rally in the stock market, but as buyers of December sold later deliveries, against spot month purchases the tone turned easier. Final prices were at or within a few points of the low for the day.

Exports today 10,752, making a total of 2,203,124 for the season thus far. Port receipts 48,419, U. S. port stocks 2,914,768.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 11.96 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Transformed at the last today from weakness into comparative strength, the Chicago wheat market scored moderate net gains.

Chicago wheat futures closed firm at the day's top level, ⅛ to ⅜ above yesterday's finish. Dec. 1.17⅛@1.17⅜; May 1.15⅝@1.15¾. July 1.04⅝@1.05, corn unchanged to ⅛ higher. Dec. 1.03⅛@1.03⅜, May new 99¼@99⅝, July new 96⅛@96⅝, oats unchanged to ⅝ lower, Dec. 44⅞@45, and rye ⅛ to ⅛ up. In provisions, the outcome was unchanged to 5 cents higher.

Corn and rye paralleled the action of wheat. Rural offerings of corn were meager. Rye responded to unfavorable weather conditions northwest, where most of the commercial crop is raised. Oats were neglected.

Provisions reflected firmness of hog values.

Centennial Is Boon To State

Celebrations Aid Prosperity's Return To Southwest, Say Officials; Dallas Show Is In Final Stretch

BY P. D. ELDRED

DALLAS, Nov. 24. (AP) — The Greeks resorted to Olympic games when prosperity lagged.

Nowadays, spectacular world's fairs send the dollars spinning.

And the Texas Centennial exposition, in the final stretch of its 1936 run, was proud to boast today it had done more than its part toward accelerating the return of good times to the Southwest.

The cold figures vie with enthusiasts' words in painting gaudy pictures of what the $25,000,000 Dallas exposition, the Fort Worth Frontier show and scores of lesser celebrations this year in Texas did to circulate money where it would do the most good.

Hit At Right Time

"The Centennial hit the Southwest just when prosperity was beginning to show signs of reviving," said Harry A. Olmsted, director general of the Centennial. "It picked the trend up and carried it right on to the highest peak since 1929."

He cited the fact that the Southwest has led the nation in department store sales since the exposition opened last June 6. The previous year the Dallas Federal Reserve district was third from the bottom in department store sales.

Rail Traffic Is Up

Railway passenger traffic was up from 25 to 35 per cent in the Southwest, according to Frank C. Jensen, general passenger agent for the Texas and Pacific. He said the increase for all western railways was only about 20 per cent.

Airplane passengers through Dallas increased 20 per cent over last year.

Hotel business jumped 35 per cent, bank debits in the Dallas Federal Reserve district were up 25 per cent and tourist travel in general was estimated to have been swelled by at least one million out-of-state visitors.

Total Expected 6,500,000

With the expedition closing set for next Sunday at midnight, it was figured the total number of visitors would approximate 6,500,000, of which number all but one million were Texans.

But the visiting tourists have swelled business revenues throughout the southwest, their numbers helping to relieve the depression in many states. Hot Springs, Ark., was one resort materially benefitted. Mexico's new Pan-American highway welcomed many who wished to extend their trips.

Mineral Wells, the lower Rio Grande valley and many other resorts felt the stimulus of eastern and northern visitors' spending.

Many Jobs Secured

The National Re-Employment service found jobs for nearly three times as many people in Texas during the first nine months of 1936 as it did during the first nine months of last year. Dallas postal receipts were boosted 19 per cent.

"Thanksgiving day should mean more to Texans this year than any recent similar occasion," commented John W. Carpenter, a utilities company official. "Our prosperity has reached a point higher than many of us thought would result from our Centennial celebration."

Frank S. Cunningham, president of Butler brothers, national wholesaling house, declared the Centennial already was worth the $25,000,000 it cost, as shown by the definite trend upward in business of the Southwest.

"Dividends from the Centennial will continue to flow into Texas for many years," another business man said.

Olmsted and other officials have announced the central exposition here will reopen again next June 12, with new attractions, for another six-month showing.

ing only aversion and amazement. She knew now that her love for him was not a thing held in leash, but something dead and extinct, like on old cinder. "Have you taken leave of your senses, Morgan, or are you only drunk?"

"If I'm drunk," he said, "then the real man speaks. Remember that, Kate. From a drunken man you get the truth, like it or not."

"When did you start this drinking?" she asked him.

"Yesterday morning. But what does it matter?"

Kate got out of the car and closed the door. She went quickly to the house and found Cynthia. She said, "Some strong cooffee for Morgan, Cyn! He's in his car, out by the garage. Sober him up before Eve finds him. I'm going home. Headache—"

"Oh," Cynthia said, looking at her swiftly. "Well, good night, darling, and thank you for coming. You'l find Caroline on the porch."

When they were nearing home Carolin- asked, "Sorry you went?"

"No," answered Kate, "Glad. I found I don't envy Eve at all. I've cleaned house."

"That's something," Caroline said understandingly.

REV. GREEN OF LUBBOCK GOT QUICK RELIEF FROM MISERY WITH VAN-TAGE

Rev. Green, Of 6th St., Suffered 10 Years—Recently Thought That He Wouldn't Live Through The Night Due To Gas, Bloat And Kidney Pains —Now Van-Tage Has Relieved Him, He Says: "I Feel Like A Different Person!"

REV. H. H. GREEN, Prominent Retired Local Minister, Had Suffered 10 Years. He Started Taking VAN-TAGE to Ease Suffering and Says: "I Got Relief From the Start!"

Never before in local history, say Leading Druggists, has any medicine created such a sensation in this section as has VAN-TAGE. This is the "Amazing Mixture of Nature's Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents" now being introduced to crowds daily here in Lubbock, by a Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway. All over Lubbock, and throughout Texas, people are praising this Remarkable Compound and are saying, "I never saw anything like VAN-TAGE. It relieved me after other medicines HAD FAILED. It is GREAT! For instance, just a few days ago, the Rev. H. H. Green of 1924 6th St., Lubbock, made the following statement. Rev. Green is a Prominent retired Congressional Methodist Minister who is known and respected throughout this whole section. Read this widely-known man's testimonial. Read it through and through. Find out—for yourself—what Van-Tage CAN DO! Rev. Green says:

Could Hardly Breathe Due To Awful Pains

"I had suffered terribly during the past ten years with an upset stomach, but in the last six months this condition got much worse. For the last five weeks it has caused me Untold Trouble. My stomach and bowels had gotten so bad that when I ate my food it would turn to awful gas and bloat that would crowd up into my chest and around my heart. This caused me such agonizing pain and would be so bad that I WOULD WONDER IF I WOULD SURVIVE THE NIGHT! One night recently I was in such an awful condition that I Could Hardly Get My Breath and I was in doubt of Getting Through Until Morning because I was so very sore.

Van-Tage Brought Him Immediate Relief!

"The morning after this horrible experience, I happened to read about Van-Tage in the local papers and I came down to the drug store to see the Van-Tage Man. I told him of the years of suffering I had gone through and I got a small bottle of this Medicine and a box of Mosby's Tablets. I went home and took this medicine as he told me and I GOT RELIEF FROM THE START! I slept better that night than I had for a long time. Now I have taken Van-Tage for four days and I can truthfully say I Feel Like a Different Person! My kidneys, which were weak, are already feeling better and the soreness has left my stomach organs. I no longer bloat up as I used to. I think Van-Tage is Wonderful and I am telling everyone about it!"

Is Like Taking Several Medicines At Once

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 ingredients. So it is like taking several medicines all at once. Some of its ingredients clear gas and bloat from stomach; others cleanse bowels; still others help sluggish acting liver and kidneys; and others relieve rheumatic and neuritic pain, due to contaminated system from the sluggish action of these organs. Van-Tage acts as a carminative, laxative, cholagogue and diuretic. Weak, miserable people daily write us they soon feel different in general. Another thing — due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. So don't hesitate. Get Van-Tage — TODAY!

A Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from The Van-Tage Laboratories, is now at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway, Lubbock, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this Remarkable Compound.—Adv.

Dodge Opens New Regional Office In Oklahoma City

Improved Market Conditions In Oklahoma and Texas Panhandle Necessitates Expansion; Further Gains in Sales Anticipated

Frank E. Seaman
Manager of new Dodge regional office just opened in Oklahoma City.

Increasing business in this part of the country resulted in the establishment in Oklahoma City this week of a new regional office of the Dodge division of Chrysler Corporation. Manager of this new administrative unit will be Frank E. Seaman, who was until a few days ago assistant manager in the Cincinnati regional office. Territory controlled from the Oklahoma City office will be all of Oklahoma and the Panhandle section of Texas. This was announced here today by Mr. Beasley, head of the Beasley Moter Co., local Dodge dealer.

Assisting Mr. Seaman in the new office will be: H. M. Dodge and D. M. Beal, district sales representatives; S. C. Atterbery and A. J. White, truck sales representatives; W. B. Lowe, merchandise representative, and E. Rutherford, used car representative.

Commenting on this new expansion by Dodge in this part of the country, Mr. Beasley said:

"The improved market conditions in Oklahoma City and the Texas Panhandle have resulted in such a large volume of sales of Dodge passenger cars and trucks that it has been necessary to increase the factory sales organization in order to meet the demands made by the continuous increase in our dealer activities. With the location of this new office in Oklahoma City, the factory service will be brought closer to the dealers, which we believe will be mutually advantageous in handling the increased car and truck sales."—Adv.

Christmas Island Being Eyed By Air-Minded U. S. Officials

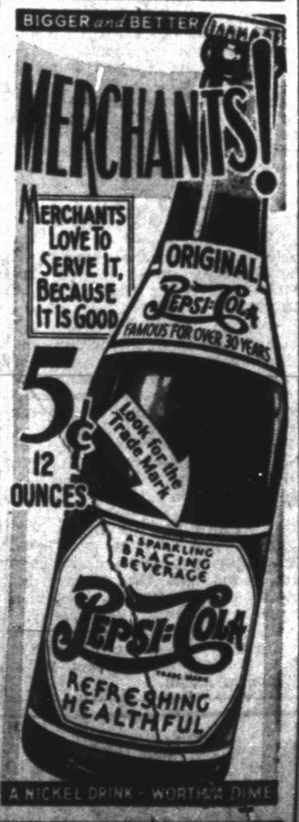

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—Air minded government officials, authoritativ circles said today, are casting eyes at tropical Christmas island in the Pacific, where the British flag has flown for nearly a half century.

Much larger than Howland, Baker and Jarvis, the nearby bits of land for the occupation of which congress appropriated $35,000 last June, Christmas is more nearly than they on the direct air route between the United States and New Zealand and Australia.

Almost astride the American defense line in the western Pacific, it has a big lagoon that might provide a harbor for naval surface ships as well as aircraft.

While some informed quarters professed belief no move was planned for the present, a state department official said flatly "the United States does not recognize British sovereignty there."

Chemists have succeeded in producing, artificially, the cold, blue-green light of fireflies, but one lumen-hour of the light costs $25.
