Three Auto Accidents

Two auto accidents occurred in this area on Tuesday.

State Highway Patrolmen reported a freak accident took place on Highway 35 about 2½ miles south of Rockport. It involved a car driven by John K. Hime of San Antonio and a trailer-truck operated by Richard H. Huble of Houston.

With both vehicles going south, Hime attempted to pass Huble when he saw a car coming from the opposite direction. Hime jammed on his brakes and his car swerved to the right and smashed its way under the trailer-truck which was loaded with pipe.

Miraculously, Hime and three passengers escaped injury even though the car was virtually demolished. Hime was charged with passing with insufficient clearance.

The state highway patrolmen praised county and city police for directing traffic at the scene and preventing additional accidents.

The second accident involved cars driven by Elmer Due of Edgar, Neb., and James S. Bennett of Lubbock and took place on FM 1781 about four miles north of here.

State highway patrolmen said Bennett attempted to make a left turn and Due tried to pass but made slight contact with the other auto. No charges were filed and only minor damage occurred.

In an accident Jan. 25 near Holiday Beach, a car driven by James A. Glasson of Taft was wrecked and Glasson and his wife were injured. Mrs. Glasson was taken to Lyman Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass.

Police said the accident was caused by Cod Walker of Rockport who turned off the highway without giving a signal. Walker was fined $25 for not having a driver's license.

Magazine Lauds Chamber of Commerce

The South Texas Chamber of Commerce magazine had the following to say about the Rockport Chamber of Commerce in the January issue:

"The Rockport Chamber of Commerce made a new year's resolution to 'do everything possible to bring about improvement in the appearance and atmosphere of the downtown business district.'"

"Lockhart citizens recall 1967 as the year Lady Bird came to see their beautification project. Perhaps the ubiquitous first lady will be paying a similar visit to Rockport in 1968."

Questions and Answers On Proposed Water Project

Rockport residents will vote Feb. 13 on whether to authorize the City Council to enter into a contract with the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District for the purchase of treated water to supply the city's requirements. To assist local people in having a better understanding of the proposal, The Rockport Pilot asked the district and city engineers to answer the following questions:

Q. Is it true that City of Rockport in 1967 used 157,000,000 gallons of water and that it is anticipated that they must sell 330,000,000 gallons within the boundary of the system being installed under the terms of the new contract to amortize the debt? What will happen if the City does not sell that amount?

A. In the first place, the actual system will be designed and constructed based on more detailed and accurate water sales than the preliminary 330,000,000 gallon figure. The actual system will be constructed based on more realistic figures. If these more detailed studies show that it is not reasonable to assume that the City of Rockport will sell 330,000,000 gallons of water, then the scope of the proposed water system will be reduced and the construction cost would be reduced accordingly, resulting in lower bond debt service requirements which would enable the city to maintain the same proposed water rate schedule. Additionally, as another safeguard, the minimum rate for the out-of-city limits customer has been rated sufficiently to insure adequate income without the outside-the-city customer being an average or above average user. In essence, this means that a large volume of water will be purchased at rates higher than the normal rates, thereby not requiring the sale of 330,000,000 gallons to meet the debt requirements.

Q. For a large industrial

Mayor Hiller opened the meeting by saying, "We all know of the tremendous drainage problem in this area. The recent city bond issue election probably failed because the public thought a unified effort was lacking on the part of the state, county and city."

Judge Wendell then explained that the county expects to receive $17,000 from the Federal government which is to be spent to improve drainage in Precincts 1 and 2.

Next, Griffith displayed aerial photos taken Nov. 24 and outlined the county's tentative plans. Taylor Ave. is to be opened from Highway 35 to Lamar Street. Ruby Allen Street is to be opened from Lamar Street to 16th Street. Some work also is planned south of West Terrace and Lazy Acres, and in time the county hopes to have adequate ditching to intercept water west of Rockport.

He said the Market Street area and the area just north pose a serious threat to good drainage and that in attempting to correct conditions the county plans open ditches and piped culverts.

In another part of his presentation, Griffith said some thought is being given to feed some water into Tulle ditch. He said the general plan is to intercept the water and take it around by means of a series of open ditches.

Urban said the city intends to develop its plans to tie in with the county plan and pointed out that planning already has been completed for some storm sewers within the city limits.

Long said the state would be glad to dig a new ditch along the north side of FM 881 when conditions permit and if he receives a formal request to do so by the city and county. He agreed to clean out Sparks Colony Road ditches.

The city also agreed to take steps to improve the Concho Street ditch from Highway 35 to Live Oak Street.

Another suggestion by Griffith was for the county to dig a meandering ditch west of Highway 35 and north of FM 881 to direct some of the water into the Concho Street ditch.

All agreed that little work could be done until the standing water is gone.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

GLASGOW SHOCK TREATMENT APPEALS

You can depend upon the thrifty Scots not to become intoxicated with propositions that require a heavy outlay of cash. Take their anti-alcoholism remedy, for example.

Doctors in Glasgow have devised a $2.50 shocking machine that does the trick. A machine in the home of every alcoholic or potential alcoholic does not seem an unreasonable goal.

The machine is concluded to electrodes taped to the alcoholic's arm. Twelve test tubes—nine containing whiskey and the other three holding colored water—are placed before the patient. He sniffs the test tubes. Every time he gets to a whisky tube he gets a 70-volt shock. A quite natural result is that the alcoholic begins to associate whiskey with something unpleasant. He end up hating its taste.

Just think. Here we are talking about building million-dollar rehabilitation centers while the Scots are turning out mobile units for the cost of a few wires and test tubes.

But not only that. There are endless possibilities for such a machine. Think of the man who can't quit smoking. Or the obese fellow who is overly fond of a certain food.

There is one possible complication in the machine's anti-alcohol operation. A particularly difficult patient might be tempted to swallow the contents of the test tube.

What's the point in hitting a fellow with 70-volts when he's feeling no pain?—Charlotte Observer.

THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

Years ago a popular song was "The Good Old Summer Time." Living was easy in the country. Farmers sweated, tilling and threshing. But there were bountiful harvests dinners, fish fries, squirrel-hunting, bee trees in the forests, watermelons and cantelopes in the garden, peaches and apples in the orchard, grapes in the arbor, berries growing wild along fence-rows and in the woodlands.

There was cider at the mill, horse-corn for roasting ears, and iced lemonade in a waterbucket with a dipper as a common drinking cup. And nobody contracted the hoof-and-mouth disease. Many families ate on screened porches and at sunset heard the tinkle of distant cow bells breaking the evening quiet.

In towns neighbors often gathered on front lawns to watch fireflies, stars, and heat lightning. They listened to the town band practicing for the county fair. They talked in hushed tones about portends of the end of time. They lived up the outdoors in summer, as they did spring and autumn. These seasons were preferred to toasted shins and chilled backs near a pot-bellied stove.

A friend confided to another that her neighborhood is lonesome compared to before TV and air conditioning. Most people remain indoors now.

We mass produce food today and buy most vegetables and fruit. A few tomatoes cost a professional man $40 of back trouble. We must fight insects and other pests more with sprays that the population may expand and fight. "The Good Old Summertime" seems outdated by modern standards. — Boonville (Mo.) Cooper County Record.

STILL CONFUSED

The Wall Street Journal, discussing recent heavy sales of cologne for men, says that the "dazzling array of products already has some people confused."

We certainly feel that we must be included among them and feel sure you'll join us after reading the rest of the paragraph:

"Sometimes someone walks by you and you wonder from the smell if it's a man or a woman," says a girl shopping at Macy's. Nevertheless, she bought her fiancé some cologne for "Father's Day." Now how's that again? — Lexington (Ky) Herald.

In our search for the economic panacea, how would it be if we'd devote as much time and energy to the work break as we do to the coffee break and other breaks?—Decorah (Ia.) Public Opinion.

OH, NO! NOT LONG WEEKENDS

The three-day holiday is a torture that would do credit to Torquemada himself. When one of them rolls around, Americans are subjected to the nerve-shattering chaos of packed highways, the agonies of ant bites, poison ivy, aching muscles, sprained joints and what not. Finally tempers frazzled, members of the family finish off the holiday by snarling rabidly at each other.

For all that, almost everyone seems to look forward to the next three-day weekend, which only goes to prove the psychiatrists' contention that there is a streak of insanity in all of us. Obviously, there are definite masochistic tendencies.

Soon, Americans may have the opportunity to punish themselves more, more often. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce says a poll of its members shows overwhelming support for rearranging some holidays so they fall always on Monday; Memorial Day, Thanksgiving, Independence Day, Veterans Day and Washington's Birthday.

If the Chamber of Commerce feels that way, so, too, probably does the AFL-CIO. If labor and management agree, then the idea of more three-day weekends is almost bound to come to pass. With all that support, the proposal is ideal for a consensus-conscious Great Society.

Woe to the country. History may record that the decline and fall of the United States came when the people became lame and disagreeable because they insisted on the 20th century equivalent of the old Roman circus: The three-day weekend. — Phoenix Gazette.

BOTTLE IT POISONOUS

The danger of accidental poisoning in the home night might be reduced if manufacturers co-operated in a system of using distinctive containers.

Would it not be relatively simple for manufacturers to agree that all harmful substances would be sold in a bottle of a certain shape?

The bottle would be easily distinguished in the dark, cutting down the possibility of a tablet being taken from the wrong container by some half-asleep person fumbling through the medicine cabinet at 3 a.m.

It shouldn't take long for everyone to become familiar with the bottle shape that spells danger.—Edmonton (Alta.) Journal.

BAD NEWS FOR SPEEDERS

Indiana state police are using a new device to nab speeding drivers which sounds like something out of Dick Tracy. The device, about the size and shape of a cigar box, can accurately measure the speed of an automobile coming toward in or moving away from it, from distances up to a mile away.

We hope it works, and that its evidence is acceptable in court. Just the threat of having it around could create a good many honest drivers in a hurry.—Minneapolis Star.

Checks or money orders in payment of the tax should be made payable to: "Internal Revenue Service."

DRAFT CALLS FOR 1,165 TEXANS

Austin, Jan. 9.—State draft boards will be called upon to furnish 1,165 men for the armed forces in February, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Tuesday.

This compares with quotas of 1,659 for January, 924 for December, 1,159 for November, 977 for October, and 1,180 for September.

The Texas quota of 1,165 for induction in February is the state's share of a national call for 23,300, all for the army.

The Selective Service boards will forward 4,590 men in February for pre-induction examination, Col. Schwartz said, and they have scheduled 5,455 for this examination in January.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examination in February are scheduled to be mailed from state Selective Service headquarters on or about Jan. 10. January calls for the local boards already have been assigned.

FEDERAL REVENUE QUESTION AND ANSWER COLUMN

(This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q—I was just billed $20 for not paying an estimated tax. Is this something new? It never happened to me before.

A—The requirements for filing estimated tax declarations and paying quarterly installments are not new. However, with the automatic data processing system, IRS can now check all returns to see whether taxpayers have made estimated tax payments when required to do so.

Penalties are imposed when a taxpayer does not make the quarterly payments of estimated tax when you file your return.

Q—Where can I get tax forms?

A—Most banks and post offices have copies of the tax forms and schedules most frequently used. Local offices of IRS also have these in stock or you can send a post card to your district director or asking for the forms you need.

Q—My leg is in a cast and I have to take a cab to work. Is this deductible as a medical expense?

A—No. Transportation expenses to and from work are considered personal expenses and are not deductible. Transportation costs to the hospital or to a doctor for treatment of your leg are deductible as medical expenses, however. Check your Form 1040 instructions on how to handle these expenses.

Q—How can I be sure the person I pick to prepare my tax return is reliable?

A—Here are a few things to look for:

1. Avoid the man who "guarantees" you a refund.
2. Be on guard if he suggests that the refund be sent to his address.
3. Never sign a blank tax form.

4. Don't sign a form that has been prepared in pencil; the figures could be easily changed.

5. Ask the advisor to sign the return he has prepared. However, remember that even though someone helps you prepare your return, you are still legally responsible for every item on it.

Q—I made several payments on my son's mortgage last year. Can I deduct the part which went for interest and taxes?

A—Even if your son qualifies as your dependent, the law does not allow you any deduction for taxes and interest paid for someone else. Only if the mortgage was in your name, will any deduction be allowed. Then you may deduct the portion of the payment representing real estate taxes and interest when you itemize your deductions.

Q—I was out of a job for a month or so last year and collected state unemployment benefits. Do I declare them as income?

A—No, state unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported as income.

Q—I send my ex-wife $150 a month to support our two children. Can I deduct these payments on my tax return?

A—If the $150 a month is clearly designated as child support, it is not deductible. But, alimony payments would be deductible by you.

Q—I lost the W-2 form I received from my summer job. What should I do?

A—Contact your employer and ask him for another copy.

Q—I had problems getting my refund last year. What should I do to avoid similar trouble this year?

A—File a complete, accurate return. If you do, the time it takes to issue your refund will be about five-six weeks.

Major reasons for refund delays last year were incomplete returns. Over two million returns were received with a missing or an inaccurate social security number. Other common errors were failure to sign and failure to include W-2 statements.

Missing supplementary forms, such as those to claim the sick pay exclusion or a moving deduction, also delayed some refunds.

Benefit Increases — Future Beneficiaries

By H. M. Cleveland
District Manager

In my last article I discussed the increased social security payments that would be coming to persons now on the social security benefit rolls in early March as a result of the amendments signed into law by President Johnson on Jan. 2.

The effect of the new legislation is also to increase the benefits of all future beneficiaries a minimum of 13 per cent. A person whose earnings under social security had averaged $350 a month would, under the old law, get a benefit of $125.20 upon retirement at 65, or $186.30 for himself and his wife if she was also 65 upon his retirement.

Under the new law, based on the same average earnings of $350 a month, his retirement benefit will be $140.40 per month, or $210.60 for the couple—$24.30 more a month.

The future maximum retirement benefit under the old law would have been $168 a month payable to a worker with average earnings of $6,600 a year. The new law schedules possible maximum retirement benefits of $218 a month ($323 a month for man and wife) at age 65, based on average earnings of $7800 a year, for workers who just recently started to work.

For workers earning wages of $6,600 a year or less, the new amendments will mean sizable increases in their future benefit payments, but without comparable increases in the social security tax contributions they were scheduled to pay under the old law.

A worker earning $6,600 a year will pay exactly the same amount of social security taxes in 1968 as he paid in 1967. In 1969 and 1970, he will actually pay less than he would have paid under the old law. In years after that he will pay only slightly more, with his maximum contribution no more than $1.38 more a month than he would have paid under the law as it stood before the enactment of the benefit increases. The contribution rates also include the portion he pays toward his medicare protection for his old age.

Higher social security contributions are scheduled, however, for the one out of four wage earners who earns over $6,600. Beginning with 1968, earnings up to $7,800 a year will be subject to social security contributions and will also count toward social security benefits.

These higher paid workers who will be paying substantially more in social security contributions are, however, the ones who will also get substantially higher benefits, ranging up to 30 per cent higher than under present law.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q — The appeal board to which my appeal was sent in Texas turned down my request for deferment in Class II-A by a vote of 4 to 1. I've been advised that, because these board members did not vote unanimously, I may file an appeal with the President. May I do that?

A—Yes, you have 30 days in which to do it.

Q—Do I have any appeal rights beyond that point?

A—No. The Presidential appeal board's decision is final. Your case could be reviewed later by your local board if you provide new evidence which would warrant reopening and classification anew by your local board.

Q—Upon completion of my second year in college, I entered the Peace Corps and was classified in Class II-A. When my duties with the Peace Corps end next month, will I be eligible for deferment as a student to get my baccalaureate degree before performing my military duty?

A—You will, in all probability, be eligible for II-S. A young man who re-enters a college as an undergraduate student, and has been classified in Class II-A since his last full-time attendance, shall not be considered to have failed to meet the requirements of Selective Service regulations concerning full-time and satisfactory pursuit of his studies; therefore, this interruption of your academic work would not remove your eligibility for a Class II-S student deferment. If you've reached age 24, you wouldn't be eligible.

Prize Winning Poems Displayed

The following prize winning poems are on display this week at First National Bank and will be exhibited next week at Aransas County Library and the following week in the High School Library.

Selected by the Poetry Society of Texas, the first poem, titled "Target: Summer," written by Violette Newton of Beaumont, won the $50 Connie Hagar Award sponsored this year by Chas. T. Picton Lumber Co.

The second poem, titled "Rainbow at Morning, Sailor Take Warning," written by Julia Hurd Strong of Houston, won the $25 Rockport Award sponsored this year by First National Bank.

Target: Summer

The helicopter rise and fall of whirling flight beat steady tempos on the autumn air
to unseen roadways arching
into light,
and arrowing past continents
and seas
in faultless aim, beams down
to jungled summer,
where the bright intensity of heart and wing
embroil a radiant air.

And up amorphous ways, the marionetted mind
of man ascends, descends,
flies forward
and flies back, such maps to seek, such secrets
guess, such hopes of summer
clasp,
as earthbound in the dark, he hears
the hummingbirds of August fly away.

"Rainbow at Morning, Sailor Take Warning"

When I was in my trundle bed,
Very, very small,
My grandpa drew a crayoned
scene
And hung it on the wall.

He hung the picture on the wall
Across the room from me,
A picture of a frigate ship
Upon a frigid sea.

The day my grandpa went away
The year that I was four,
He took me in his captain arms
Across the nursery floor.

"Matey," my grandpa said to me,
"There are things you ought to know."
I begged, "Aye, aye, sir, tell me now
Before you have to go."

My grandpa said, "Observe the skies;
Look upward day and night.
A rainbow seen in afterglow
Is a sailor boy's delight."

"But rainbows born at break of dawn
Or even in the morning,
Are things to fear. It's very clear
They are a sailor's warning."

M grandpa let his sea-green gaze
Rest on me for a minute,
And then he pointed to the frame
And to the picture in it . . .

The sun was shining morning
bright;
We saw the heave and dip
Of wave and vessel; then, alas,
A rainbow over it.

I wept . . . I wept . . . I pressed my face
Against his stubbled chin,
And felt the flutter of his heart
Like sea gulls trapped within.

He let two briny tears seep through Their floodgates without shame,
Then coursed the walkway to the dock . . .
And soon the message came.

Highway Department Praises Rockport

The Texas Travel Handbook published by the Texas Highway Department describes Rockport as follows:

Population 3,500. Altitude 20 feet above sea level. General: Rockport was established in 1867 as a shipping point for wool, hides, bones and tallow produced in the area that was then part of Refugio County.

It became the county seat of Aransas County in 1871, and today is an important commercial fishing area. Tourists flock to its 1.5 miles of sandy beach and skiing basin.

Aransas National Wildlife Refuge—famed as the principal wintering ground for the near extinct whooping crane, the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge is located on a broad peninsula about 30 miles northeast of Rockport off of Highway 35.

It is administered by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service as a refuge for the protection and management of the various species of wildlife inhabiting this coastal area.

Some 300 different species of birds—Canada geese, pintail and baldpate ducks, sandhill cranes, etc.—have been recorded here. Other inhabitants include the white-tailed deer, javelina and raccoon.

Fishing—Extensive bay fishing facilities are provided anglers by two former causeway approaches, 6,191 and 2,504 feet long, now under the jurisdiction of the Texas

Highway Department in 1967 after a new causeway was completed.

A public pier and a jetty sheltering the Rockport Yacht Basin are also popular spots for bay fishing where the dawn hours are generally the most productive.

A great many hotels and motels on the bayfront maintain their own fishing piers for the free use of guests.

Party boat fishing may be enjoyed in the bay for as little as $5 per half day. Information and reservations may be obtained at the Yacht Basin and from the Chamber of Merce.

Deep sea fishing charters are also available at the Yacht Basin, and average approximately $100 a day for parties of four to six.

Goose Island State Park—Shaded picnic pavilions and a good sloping beach are part of the attraction of this state park, which is located 10 miles north of Rockport. Among the gnarled and old live oaks is one reported to be the largest of its kind in Texas.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Marine Laboratory—Exhibits of Texas Gulf marine life and fauna are open to the public Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Closed national holidays. This installation is the center for research on marine fisheries and fish.

Mt. Rainier, Washington, once was a volcano with an almost perfect cone appearing 2,000 feet higher than the present summit.

Brief Articles On the Draft Law And Regulations

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of 10 short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

Every man registered with a draft board, after his classification is determined by the board, must have an opportunity to appear in person before the member or members of the board designated for the purpose, provided he files a written request within 30 days after the board has mailed him a notice of classification.

Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state draft director, points to an exception. The registered man cannot request a personal appearance after a classification which is the result of a personal appearance.

No person other than the registered man shall have the RIGHT to appear in person before the local board. But the local board, in its discretion, may permit any person to appear before it with or on behalf of the man except that the man may not be represented ed before the board by anyone acting as attorney or legal counsel.

The registered man may bring an interpreter with him if he does not speak English adequately.

When he appears, the man may discuss his classification, direct attention to other classes in which he thinks he should be placed, point out information in his file which he believes has been overlooked or which he believes has not received serious enough consideration, or any other information.

This information must either be in writing, or oral and summarized in writing. In either case the information is placed in the man's file.

Regulations provide that local board, or member or members hearing the case, may impose such limitations upon the time which the registrant may have for his appearance as they deem necessary.

After a man is heard, the local board may determine to reopen the case or not reopen it, being guided by information received in the appearance.

Some years ago I attended a plastics society meeting in Chicago meeting in Chicago to get material for an article for a plastics magazine.

To me, the most interesting talk was about plastic hinges on toilet seats.

The speaker, an engineer for a large plastics manufacturing concern, said his company had found that the left hinge on many toilet seats had broken whereas the right
hinge seemed to hold up satisfactorily.

The reason? Most people are right-handed, the speaker explained.

Last week I took my annual two-day vacation from my job as Manager of the Chamber of Commerce. I slept a little later than usual each morning, took plenty of time to shave, shower and eat breakfast, played a little golf, napped in the afternoons, and just sort of relaxed. I enjoyed it but actually I found myself looking forward to resuming work at the Pilot and the Chamber of Commerce the following week.

Recently I was given a warning ticket by State Highway Patrolman Ray Brown for not coming to a full stop at a stop sign. I almost stopped but not quite. It sure taught me a lesson. No more

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Confiding in Your Clergyman

"See your spiritual adviser."

That suggestion is often made to the man or woman in trouble. If you do talk things over with your spiritual adviser, is the conversation confidential in the eyes of the law? Could a clergyman be ordered to testify in court as to what you said?

Or is this information "privileged"—that is, protected against public disclosure?

The common law, generally speaking, did not recognize any such privilege. Courts were reluctant to give up access to what could be a valuable source of information. The more facts available to a court, the better it could do justice—both in punishing the guilty and in freeing the innocent.

However, most states have now passed special statutes (called "priest-penitent" laws) to change the rule. These statutes, in varying degree, grant a privilege of privacy to communications confided to a clergyman.

To be sure, there are still limits on the scope of this privilege. For one thing, information given to a clergyman in an ordinary conversation—not as part of a regular church procedure—is usually not protected.

Thus, a court found no privilege in the remarks of a suspected rapist to a minister, voiced during a casual encounter in a railroad station. The judge ruled that the minister, just like any other citizen, would have to tell what he had heard.

Nor does the privilege apply to a clergyman's general observations, unrelated to any specific admission of wrongdoing.

For example, a court saw no reason why a minister should not give his opinion of the mental condition of a woman whose will was being challenged—an opinion based on long years of acquaintance with her.

But in most situations, the person unburdening his failings to his spiritual adviser may count on a legal curtain of privacy. As one court put it:

"The human being does sometimes have need of a place of penitence and confession and spiritual discipline. When any person enters that secret chamber, civil authority turns away its ear."

QUESTIONS, ANSWERS—

user are we proposing to have any sort of special rate?

A. Yes. The common practice in surrounding communities is that an individual rate is negotiated for each large industrial use and this same policy is contemplated for this system.

Q. How can we justify asking people to vote themselves an increase in water rates?

A. The water to be provided in this system is of a higher quality, particularly in regard to salt content. This will mean less corrosion to household plumbing fixtures and appliances which would lower the maintenance and replacement cost on these items such as hot water heaters.

Q. Why not consider desalinization of present water system?

A. This possibility was very carefully considered in a report by the district consultants along with some 10 other sources of supply for Aransas County. Out of all possibilities considered the desalinization of brackish well water was by far the most expensive.

Q. Will the new water system increase our taxes?

A. No. There are no property or any other types of taxes involved.

Q. Will the new source of water take care of the local needs for a long time?

A. The initial system is designed to be adequate until 1980 at which time it will require minor expansion of the pumping and storage system and some lines.

Q. What will be done with the city's water wells?

A. Under the terms of the contract the City of Rockport may hold these wells in reserve for emergency use.

Q. Does a person who has a well have to sign up for the new water system?

A. No.

Q. Why will the rates be higher for people outside Rockport than for those in the city?

A. Because the person out of town will have to help pay for the retail distribution system, whereas residents in Rockport have already paid for the retail distribution. This is normal practice in most all communities.

Q. Will the new water system help attract new industries to Rockport?

A. Yes, for the industries requiring large volumes of high quality water it would be most important to have this available.

Q. Does the city owe anything on its present water system? If it does, how will this be paid off?

A. Yes, it does owe on its system. The rates were established so that they are sufficient to continue to pay off this bonded indebtedness. The existing bonded indebtedness was for the construction of water lines and storage facilities which will be used in this new system.

Q. Will the new water system help attract new industries to Rockport?

A. Yes, for the industries requiring large volumes of high quality water it would be most important to have this available.

Wages of Household Workers Must Be Reported

Some housewives do not properly report the earnings of their household workers for social security purposes. According to H. M. Cleveland, social security district manager in Corpus Christi, there has been marked improvement in recent years, but non-reporting continues to be a problem.

"Occasionally we receive an application for retirement insurance from a maid, gardener, or other household worker who worked for an employer in his private home, but the employer failed to report the wages," he said.

"This creates problems for the employee and the employer. The employee's social security claim is delayed while we establish the correct amount of wages. When the wage information is obtained it is turned over to the Internal Revenue Service for the collection of the social security taxes. The employer is then required to pay the entire amount of the tax—both his part and the worker's part," Cleveland added.

Employers of domestic workers should report the wages of every worker who is paid at least $50 in wages in a calendar quarter.

The quarterly wage report is a simplified self-mailer envelope. The tax rate is 8.8%, half of which may be deducted from the employee's wages by the employer. The report for the last three months of 1967 is due in January.

Household workers or their employers who have questions about social security should get in touch with the Social Security Administration, 1802 South Staples Street, Corpus Christi.

The world was always in a state of crisis. The difference is that years ago the news didn't get around so fast.—Boston Globe.

Citizens Committee Asks Support For Water Plan

Each of the citizens named below is a member of a committee dedicated to the gaining of approval of the water supply contract between the City of Rockport and the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

We support the plan that this contract will implement because:

1. We believe that Rockport must have an adequate and dependable supply of pure and wholesome water.
2. We know that exhaustive studies have been made by competent engineers to determine the best and most economical water supply.
3. We believe that we are fortunate in the offer of the Federal Government to pay almost half the cost, and in the loan offered by the Texas Water Control Board at a low interest rate.
4. We believe that the San Patricio Water Supply District is the best source of the water supply we need.
5. We believe that it is imperative that we make this decision now, and not wait until there is a water crisis.

We urge every citizen to vote for Approval of the water contract.

Information on Water Election

Following is important information on the Feb. 13 election in which Rockport residents will vote on the proposed water supply contract.

Citizens of Rockport will vote Tuesday, February 13, in an election on ratification of a contract between the City of Rockport and the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District under which the District would supply treated water to the City.

WHY ROCKPORT NEEDS A NEW WATER SUPPLY

Engineering studies show that Rockport and Aransas County do not have a dependable, long-range, permanent water supply.

The present supply is from wells with a history of poor production and high cost. There is no underground flow as in some areas. Production depends wholly on seepage of rainfall into the underground strata.

There is danger of shortage if there should be a long period of drought. There is always the danger of contamination by salt water.

Population growth forecasts indicate a definite water shortage in a few years.

HOW THE DISTRICT WILL SUPPLY ROCKPORT AND ARANSAS COUNTY

The Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District was created by the Texas Legislature in 1963 for the express purpose of providing an adequate water supply for Rockport and Aransas County.

The District retained competent engineers to make exhaustive studies of every possible water source.

Those studies have been made and they show clearly that the best and most economical source of good and plentiful water is the San Patricio County Water Supply District.

The San Patricio District is building a water treatment plant to treat water bought from the City of Corpus Christi on a long-term contract.

If the proposed contract is ratified by voters on February 13, a large water supply line will begin in Ingleside and extend along Avenue A to a point at Peninsula Oaks west of Rockport. Water will go into a large storage reservoir and be pumped to Rockport and other Aransas County areas except Lamar Peninsula.

The Aransas District will be sponsor, builder and owner of the water line. For reasons of economy, and to avoid duplicating expenditures, the City of Rockport will operate the line and sell water at retail in Rockport and other County areas.

HOW THE NEW WATER LINE WILL BE FINANCED

The Department of Housing and Urban Development of the Federal Government has made an outright grant of $950,700 to be used for construction of the new water line.

The Texas Water Development Board has made a definite commitment for a loan to the Aransas District in the amount of $1,220,000 at an annual interest rate of 3.7 percent.

These two sums of money can be used only for supply systems and trunk lines.

Therefore, there will be a revenue bond issue of $280,000 to pay for needed distribution systems in the county. The District's financial agent has guaranteed the marketing of these bonds. The Water District, and not the City of Rockport, will retire these bonds.

WILL THERE BE AN TAX INCREASE IF THIS CONTRACT IS RATIFIED?

No tax increase can result. The $950,700 from the Federal Government is an outright grant that will not be repaid.

The loan from the Texas Water Development Board, and the $280,000 in bonds, will be retired from water revenues.

In years to come, as the population is increased, the increased sale of water may well result in lower water rates.

WHAT ASSURANCE IS THERE THAT THIS IS THE BEST POSSIBLE WATER PLAN?

This plan to provide an adequate supply of good water results from professional and technical recommendations made by competent engineers after studies extending over a five-year period.

Engineers of the Texas Water Development Board have studied and approved the report and recommendations of the engineers.

Engineers of the Department of Housing and Urban Development have studied and approved the recommendations.

PLENTY OF GOOD WATER BY MID-1969

Engineers assure that, if this contract is ratified, detailed design and plan will be started immediately and that final completion of construction of the water supply line will come in the summer of 1969.

OBSERVATIONS

Placing the water supply line in Avenue A means that there will be no right-of-way cost.

Also, it will make possible the serving of new customers between Ingleside and Rockport.

Construction industry reports indicate annual increases of 3 to 5 percent in construction costs. A water line will cost less now than later.

No city or community in the county could, by itself, afford a water program of this size. Together, in the District, they can.

The cost of good water would be substantially greater if Rockport or the District were to build and operate a water treatment plant rather than to buy water from the San Patricio District.

The San Patricio District supplies water to other area cities and towns. Rates to the Aransas District will be in line with charges to them.

CONCLUSION

The proposed contract between the City of Rockport and the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District merits confirmation by Rockport voters because:

1. A dependable supply of water of good quality is essential to the health and welfare of the people and to further economic development of the community.

2. This plan will provide a dependable supply of water of good quality at lower cost than any other plan.

3. The decision should be made now. Months and sometimes years, are required to create water supplies. If the decision is deferred until there is shortage or contamination of present supply, there will be disaster.

COMPELLING REASONS FOR RATIFICATION NOW

The grant of $950,700 from the Federal Government is available NOW. It may not be a year from now, or five years from now. This will pay nearly half of the construction cost and save almost a million dollars to water users or taxpayers.

The loan from the Texas Water Development Board at 3.7 percent annual interest is available now. It may not be a year from now or five years from now at that low rate. From another source the interest rate might be as high as 6 percent.

Obviously, Rockport and Aransas County will continue to grow. A better water supply will have to be provided some time—why not now?

It can be provided NOW at much lower cost.

Reporting Farm Income For Social Security

Self-employed farmers whose earnings are low can use an optional method of reporting their income and thus build up a better social security account, according to H. M. Cleveland, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi.

When gross profit from farming is at least $2400 a year, $1600 may be reported for social security purposes if the net profit is less than $1600. The reports are filed with the Internal Revenue Service with the income tax return.

When the gross is less than $2400, a farmer may report either his actual net profit, or two-thirds of the gross for social security purposes. If the farmer's gross farm income is over $2400 and actual net earnings are over $1600, the actual net earnings must be reported. In many cases, the use of the optional method will result in substantially higher payments at retirement age or in case of the worker's death, Cleveland stated.

Though retail food prices rose an average of five per cent in 1966, the outlay for food per person as a percentage of total disposable income remained close to 18 per cent.
