"Remember, no vehicle of this type should be on a dirt road or around a farm or ranch after dark. All of you coming home at night will be a big help for any kind of cattle theft, or any if you will be on the alert.

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

If you haven't been up to see some of the basketball games in the Winters school gymnasium, you've missed some fast court action.

The Winters High School cagers are in the middle of district competition, losing to Ballinger last Friday night, and defeating Coleman in a 59-58 thriller Tuesday night.

The game scheduled for Friday night should be a corker, when the Blizzards meet the Eastland Mavericks in the Winters gym. These boys need your support; and you will enjoy an evening of good basketball entertainment if you go up and see the game.

After a quarter century usage, the term "March of Dimes" has become a trade mark of the American scene. So strongly has the term been implanted, the time set aside for the "March of Dimes" has become as a season of the year.

The success realized by the term is a huckster's dream come true, because in the fight against polio it offered the gimmick which was so necessary in the drive to raise funds to carry on the fight. We say gimmick because the idea offered a simple down-to-earth twist to the necessary publicity which swept the country, asking for contributions in the polio battle.

The term was coined back in the thirties, in the middle of the depression, when an appeal for dollars would have gone unheeded. But here was an appeal, not for dollars, but for dimes; a chance for all to take part in the attempt to assist polio patients and to find a cure for the dread disease.

And it worked. The dimes, which grew to dollars, were helpful in the discovery of a vaccine to rid the public of this crippling disease.

The war against polio has been won, although there remain to be fought many battles; aid to those who contacted polio prior to the vaccine, and aid to those who for some unfortunate reason cannot be helped by the vaccine.

With such an accomplishment behind them, the Dimes now are turning to other fields, fighting against other diseases besides polio: virus diseases, arthritis and birth defects.

There is still work for the Dime to do, and we all can have a part in the unending task. We all can "Give to the March of Dimes."

During these biting cold days, it would seem the warmest place could be the refrigerator. Calvin Holloway, the milkman, took some milk out of the refrigerated part of his truck the other day during his rounds, so as to have it handy for delivery. After a few stops, he discovered the milk was frozen—in the open cab of the truck.

In sub-freezing weather, it would seem out of place to discuss fishing. But we have heard of several hardy fishermen who have taken advantage of the few spring-like days to wet a hook. Several have reported good catches of crappie at the new Winters Lake. Come warmer, sunnier weather you can expect the banks to be lined with fishermen, and the water filled with boats. We may even try our luck, if we can get up energy enough to leave the rocking chair.

We don't expect to catch anything—it's late in the game to be changing hope-horses — we just like the fresh air. So we'll try to

"Mystorama" Show To Be Here Monday Night

"Mystorama" a colorful and hilarious stage revue will baffle and bewilder the people of Winters when the amazing Boxley and Marie present their caravan of mysteries at the High School Auditorium Monday night, January 26, at 8 o'clock.

This stupendous galaxy of entertainment is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary and the proceeds will be used for activities of the VFW Auxiliary.

The stars of this great show "Mystorama" are Boxley and Marie, known from coast to coast as the "Miracle Masters" are particularly noted for displaying their numerous mysteries and illusions at a fast and snappy pace. Flash, color and hilarious appeal are the keynotes of their great act of amazement and amusement.

The "Miracle Masters" have mastered their miracles in the leading theatres, hotels and night clubs in America and Alaska. They have also completed many seasonal tours of major fairs throughout the country and appeared on many national television shows.

Among their T. V. achievements as sparkling entertainers are such shows as Ed Sullivan show and appearances on Art Barker's "You Asked For It."

One of the many versatile feats of mystery, Cas Boxley will feature the levitation of "floating princess", a breath-taking presentation wherein he places the beautiful Marie in an apparent state of hypnosis and then floats her in mid-air. It is truly a spectacular and thought provoking creation.

Blizzards Defeat Coleman in 59-58 Thriller; Meet Eastland Friday Night

By Billy Lynn Little

After losing to the Ballinger Bearcats 60-47 Friday night, the Winters Blizzards, with their backs against the wall in the district race, defeated the Coleman Bluecats to a 59-58 victory here Tuesday night.

The Blizzards stretched a 6 point lead mid-way in the fourth period, but Coleman, famous for their come-backs, pulled the score even with about a minute left. As the hands of the big disc moved into the waning moments, Blizzard Center Charles Curry rebounded a Blizzard shot, and dropped 2 points pulling to a 58-56 lead. As the Blizzards retrieved a wide Coleman shot, Coleman's Beck Knox fouled Buddy Mathes. With seventeen seconds remaining, Mathes nailed a free throw, raising the lead to 59-56. Coleman quickly brought the ball down court, and the Blizzards realizing this would be the last shot, and being especially careful not to foul, gave Burt Farmer the last bucket. Curry grabbed the ball after the basket and passed in to Bill Miller as the final buzzer sounded.

Rickey Grissom's jump shot is proving to be almost as deadly as an H-bomb. He dropped 28 points, all from the field, raising his season average to 18 points per game, and totaling 84 points in the three district contests, for an amazing average of 25 points a game.

Curry hit 14, and Miller ripped 12.

The Blizzards were outstanding on rebounds—Curry and Mathes, the main inside men, out-rebounded the visitors greatly.

Miller and Grissom were like pistols on the outside shots, and when they did miss, Curry or Mathes rebounded, and hit.

Winters took the B game by a 29-27 score, as Sammy Albro hit the winning points with only seconds remaining. Albro had ten for Winters, and Gary Onken netted 8.

In the game at Ballinger Friday night, Grissom hit 21 points, and Miller scored 12. Curry, Winters' rebound ace, fouled out early in give enough prior notice of the day we plan to go fishing so other hopefuls will not be disappointed: our lack of luck seems to spread.

the third period, after hitting 6 points in the first half.

Ballinger's Ralph Dankworth hit 29 points.

Ballinger took the B game 48-33, as the Winters club played the last minutes of the game with only four players. Since two B team starters quit to devote more time to FFA, only six members are left on the team. Sammy Albro hit 12 and Lynn Traylor had 11 for the reserves.

The Blizzards play host to the Eastland Mavericks Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Roger Babson Discusses:

"Regulation of Gravity Would Do Much Toward Good Health, Industry"

Everyone knows the force of gravity. The baby learns it when he first falls to the floor; the child learns it when he slides down the stair banister; and so it goes. I got one of my main lessons when I worked for the Adirondack Power Company at Niagara Falls, New York. The greatest illustration in the world is at Kariba Gorge, on the Zambezi River in Africa, where I have been in the past few months.

Harnessing Gravity
 Gravity, like electricity, will some day be harnessed as a source of cheap power. It is true that we now do not know what gravity is or where it comes from. Gravity waves go through buildings just as do radio waves, which we also know little about. We do not know where electricity comes from or how it travels. With all the power it possesses, we cannot see electricity or magnetism.

Gravity is the only known physical force that cannot yet be retarded. We can insulate against heat or cold; we can shut off light by pulling a window shade or closing a blind; but retarding gravity even 10 percent has thus far been impossible. Of course, no one wants to eliminate it 100 percent, as we would rise to the moon without it, whether we wanted to or not!

Anti-Gravity Studies
 It is, however, very important that the downpull of gravity be regulated or partially insulated. Certain airplane companies are now feverishly working on this problem. The U. S. Defense Department is hoping that Russia will not discover the solution before we do. A partial insulation of gravity would revolutionize the making of rockets, missiles, and all "sputniks" or "luniks." Its regulation could also render partial relief to the 10,000,000 U. S. citizens who suffer from arthritis, bursitis, or other rheumatic troubles.

Therefore I am especially interested in the educational work which the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, New Hampshire is doing. Here is a humble organization which is trying to discover a means of preventing people from "getting tired" when working in factories, homes or stores. As air-conditioning adds so much to the well-being of people during the hot weather, a slight retarding of the force of gravity in the factory and home would do much to keep manual workers and mothers from "getting tired" at their jobs.

Getting Overtired is Dangerous
 Most colds and many illnesses are now caused by getting overtired. Every physician will tell you this. We never "catch cold" when we are rested and healthy and have proper sleep and diet. Even shopping is a tiresome chore. Think how the stores where gravity could be retarded would get the patronage! Moreover, the stores would be able to regulate this gravity pull by a thermostat, letting it be "natural" in the morning and decreasing its pull toward the end of the day when everyone feels tired.

I believe that investors should be interested in the studies of the Gravity Research Foundation. The total efficiency of every plant would naturally speed up if the workers did not "get tired" during the latter part of the day. Time studies will prove this. I further believe that "getting tired" is a basic cause of many strikes which are so destructive both to good will and to profits. Regulation of the gravity pull do much for industrial peace. Fatigue is the great enemy of man.

Increasing Sales

Let me conclude by referring to my own experience. It is very hard for any one to sell me anything,—land, stocks, merchandise, or even an idea, when I am tired. If this is true of me, it should be true of 75,000,000 other adults in the U. S. Think how sales of all kinds would increase if, upon going into a store, we would feel refreshed and anxious to buy. Of course, the ability to regulate gravity pull by a thermostat and thus prevent people from getting tired has not yet been achieved. Neither has a cure for cancer and other scourges; but I can assure readers all these are on the way.

Flag Makers In Dither; Eying Possible 50th Star

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Old Glory is going through a bit of "agonizing readjustment" right now. The admission of Alaska called for a 49th star, and President Eisenhower recently announced the design. But the U. S. Code provides the addition of one star to the flag for each new state "shall take effect on the fourth day of July then next succeeding admission." Therefore, by the dawn's early light of next July 4th the Nation officially will have a new flag flying—the 26th in U. S. history.

Flag makers, who have been turning out about seven million flags annually are in a dither about what to do—with it appearing likely that come July 4th still another star will be added with the admission of Hawaii, which would make a 49-star flag out of date.

The last change to the familiar Star Spangled Banner now in use was made in 1912 after the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as the 47th and 48th states, respectively.

It would be perfectly appropriate to start flying the new flag right now, but it is not really official until July. Indeed it is legal to fly any of our past flags—including the one used by the 13 original states. Once legal a flag is always legal.

Since George Washington dropped in on needlewoman Betsy Ross in Philadelphia in 1776 with a sketch of the Nation's first flag, the symbolism has remained the same though the design has had some helter-skelter changes in the intervening 183 years.

Betsy Ross stitched hers in a neat circle, each star with five points. Later, as the Nation grew and added states, the stars went every which way, sometimes placed in rows, sometimes in the outline of a great star, or an enlarged circle with a large star in the center.

Washington recorded the meaning of the flag in these words:

"We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty".

Dr. James T. Boone Died In Abilene Monday Afternoon

Dr. James T. Boone, 99, pioneer resident and physician of Runnels County, died at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the Sunny Dale Nursing Home in Abilene, where he had been a patient since March, 1958.

A native of Alabama, Dr. Boone was born December 16, 1859, and came to Cass County with his parents at the age of 8. He graduated from medical school in Louisville, Ky., in 1892, and returned to Cass County to practice medicine.

He married the former Nannie I. Dalrymple in 1897, in Gerald, Texas. The couple lived in McLennan County and moved to Wingate in 1904, where he continued his medical practice.

The family moved to Winters in 1925 and in 1942, Dr. Boone received his 50-year medical citation. He retired in 1947.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Masonic Lodge, having received a life membership from the Winters Lodge several years ago.

After his wife's death, June 8, 1937, Dr. Boone lived with his son, Lotus, in Winters until entering the nursing home.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Winters First Baptist Church, with the Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, pastor, officiating. Masons were in charge of graveside rites and served as pallbearers. Burial was in the Northview Cemetery.

Survivors include four sons, Lotus of Winters, R. H. of Abilene, Clyde of San Antonio and Claude of Fort Worth; two daughters, Mrs. Leon Hallman and Mrs. Vera Wallace, both of Abilene; nine grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Let's Talk Livestock:

Livestock Runs Are Reported Lighter At All Major Markets Monday

By TED GOULDY

Major markets across the nation started off with curtailed receipts this week. In a few spots winter storms curtailed movement, but the principal reason seemed to be farmer's resistance to the lower prices that followed last week's deluge of livestock.

At Fort Worth cattle and calves got off to a fully steady start in most cases, with the exception of fat cows and bulls, with fat cows 50 cents to $1 lower and bulls 25 to 50 cents off.

Calves were steady, fed steers and yearlings were stronger and stocker cattle and calves reflected unabated demand at strong prices.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $25 to $27, some around 1,000 pound steers at $27 and a few light yearlings reaching $28. Plain and medium butcher cattle sold from $17 to $25.

Fat cows cleared at $18 to $20, odd head to $21 and canners and cutters drew $12 to $18.50. Bulls drew $18 to $23.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $25 to $29, and medium and plain butchers sold from $22 to $25, with cull and common sorts at $16 to $22.

Medium and good stocker steer calves cleared at $26 to $32.50, a few higher. Stocker steer yearlings cashed at $29 downward.

Lambs Active, Steady To Strong To Packers

At Fort Worth Monday, slaughter classes of sheep and lambs ruled steady to stronger, and stocker and feeder classes were unevenly steady to weak. Good and choice slaughter lambs sold mostly from $16 to $16.50, a few to $17. Cull to medium lambs sold from $12 to $15 and some heavyweight lambs sold in the $15 to $16 range.

Slaughter yearlings and two-year-olds sold for $14 and a few aged wethers sold at $12. Slaughter ewes sold around $8. Some breeding ewes ranged from $10 to $20 per head. A few slaughter goats sold at $8.50. Medium and good feeder lambs cashed at $16 to $17.

Meat Type Hogs Scarce, Heavies and Sows Numerous

Hogs were steady at Fort Worth Monday but sows were again weak. Choice meat type hogs of preferred weights were again very scarce, and a few of these topped at $18. Other good and choice hogs sold at $17 to $17.50. About half of the butcher hogs in the run were heavies scaling upwards of 235 pounds and these ranged largely in the $16 to $17 bracket. Sows were in liberal supply and ranged from $13 to $15 with weights of 450 pounds and higher mostly from $13.50 downward.

Cattle Feeders Will Sell Big Supply in First Quarter

Market observers at Fort Worth this week agreed that only well-spaced marketings of fed steers and yearlings could avert a price break in the January-February-March quarter of this year. This theory was based on an analysis of the report just out from the Crop Reporting Board of USDA. The market men believe a serious price impairment can be averted by selling more cattle on Tuesday and Wednesday and avoiding big runs on Monday.

The USDA report estimated that there were 11 percent more cattle on feed January 1 than a year earlier. Marketing intentions show 13 percent more fat cattle will be sold in the first quarter of the year, than a year ago.

Feeders said they would sell 45 percent of the cattle on feed now in the first three months of 1959. This means 15 percent in January, 16 percent in February and 14 percent in March, according to announced intentions.

Selling livestock around mid-week will cushion the impact of this heavy supply on any one day, and in the past has proven a procedure which permits the trade to absorb heavy numbers without disturbance of prices.

Packers explain this by saying they do not have to carry live cattle for long periods, when the runs are better spaced. They save feed bills and save on shrinkage of the cattle. For this reason they are favorable to spreading supplies over three days instead of one day.

They point out also that the spreading of the supply makes their labor costs smaller by avoiding overtime in all departments.

Health Letter

Almost 12 million meals will be served in 15,000 Texas restaurants this week. If you're average you'll eat at least two of them.

You could go into the vast majority of those restaurants and be assured of getting a wholesome meal—totally oblivious of the fact that you're eating food cooked and served by complete strangers.

How can this be, especially since some 26 different diseases can be spread by improperly handled food? Included in the list are such scourges as trichinosis, the deadly botulism, strep infections, and salmonellosis (food poisoning).

There are many reasons of course, but among the main ones are the four-day short courses in sanitation conducted by the State Department of Health for persons engaged in food preparation and service. In the past five years, according to official records some 30,000 persons have taken the instruction.

The subject matter, presented in a non-technical, easy-to-understand style with films and demonstrations, covers such essential points as basic bacteriology, insect control and personal hygiene.

Two public health instructors from the department's division of public health education, assisted by local health officials, will put on a course anywhere in the State on request. Attendance is open to anyone, but usually those who come to the two-hour daily session are cafe and cafeteria personnel.

In four Texas cities — Abilene, Big Spring, Midland and El Paso — attendance is mandatory for all food service persons by city ordinance. It's a moot question as to which preferable—mandatory or voluntary attendance. When a cafe employee completes the instruction, he is given a certificate of attendance, signed by the state health commissioner and attesting the fact that he has been indoctrinated. And when 80 percent of the workers in a food service establishment completes the course, the restaurant is awarded a placard suitable for framing and display so customers can see the owner has an interest in health protection.

Sideoats Grama To Get Intensive Study

A grant-in-aid from the National Science Foundation to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for $15,000 will be used to finance a three-year intensive study of sideoats grama grass. Dr. Frank W. Gould, Department of Range and Forestry, Texas A & M College, will direct the studies.

Sideoats grama is one of our most widely distributed range grasses and in southwestern United States and northern Mexico one of the most valuable for range forage production, points out Dr. Gould.

"In areas where it is most valuable, it is also most variable," he says. "It is these variables and the regions in which they are most concentrated that we will be investigating primarily." It is thought that much of the variability within sideoats grama has come from hybridizations and crosses, perhaps involving other species of the grama genus.

Dr. Gould will grow a great many of the strains in a nursery at A & M where he will check the plants for variability and try to establish a key for evaluating their many characteristics. A similar nursery is planned for northern Mexico. Graduate assistants in the department and a former student in Mexico will assist Dr. Gould in the research studies.

Because of the wide adaptation of sideoats grama, major attention has been directed toward its use for re-establishing drought depleted range areas. However, much additional information is needed on the basis of its variation and its reproductive characteristics before the grass can be fully utilized for this purpose. Dr. Gould in his studies will attempt to find the answers which could open the door to a widespread breeding program.

People in Texas are very migratory in their fishing habits.

Fishermen from west Texas quite often go into the eastern part of the state to do their fishing. Those from the north, south, east, and west frequently go fishing in the Gulf. Gulf fishermen go to the still-lake area. Those in the eastern portion of Texas try the other sections, for a change of pace.

A check of car tags around Texas' rivers, lakes and streams proves these facts to be true.

Editors of Texas newspapers learned long ago that their readers have varied interests . . . and that the outdoorsman is no exception.

That's why you will find articles on gulf fishing in the Panhandle newspapers, and still-lake fishing stories in the valley and gulf coast press.

All of which accounts for the many boats you see trailing Texas highways in every direction.

That's why this column, which deals with all phases of fishing, hunting and boating, appears in newspapers in all areas of the state. Not in all newspapers, of course, but in more than 200 weeklies and dailies in widely scattered sections of Texas.

It is indicative of great interest in the outdoors—and of the tremendous appeal that fishing, hunting and boating have in this great state of ours.

Light Tackle Grows More Popular

Many fishermen in the past few years have been weaned from the stiff casting rods and conventional reels and have turned to spin-fishing with light tackle.

They are finding much more fun. If you want still more enjoyment, try fishing with a fly rod.

Make up your mind first which you want, pan fish or bass. Of course in fishing for either you will very likely come up with the other. But that is one of the many surprises of fishing.

Our first choice is the popping bug — for bass. These bugs are made by most of the major manufacturers. They are just about the size of your thumb.

A neat little bauble with multi-colored hackle.

Personally we use a 7 foot Montague glass rod and an Ocean City No. 90 reel. Most other fishermen we know use 8 or 8 and one-half foot rods. Some use automatic reels, while others use just plain fly reels.

We use a six foot leader on a shooting head, tapered Cortland line. The idea is to put that popping bug up close to the bank, near a brush pile, or beneath trees where insects or plant life may be falling into the water, or a spot where the flies are working.

Let it rest there a few seconds, then give it a mighty pop. Retrieve it a foot or two and let it rest again—if it does.

Not many bass, and no pan fish, can stand it.

If you want just pan fish, use smaller flies. Occasionally you'll get a bass, but you really can sack up the bream and sometimes crappie.

Can Fish Hear—See—Smell?

Much has been written about the ability of fish to hear, see and smell. And, the topic is one that provokes considerable discussion among fishermen.

In a very concise statement on the subject, an out-of-state zoologist says that fish are quite capable of detecting noises. Also they spot movement easily. But their eyes don't seem to pick up details readily. However, their sense of smell is acute.

Finally, he says, "Fish not only have taste buds in their mouths, but on much of the exterior of their bodies."

Standing on a dock in Lake Travis one recent afternoon we saw several pound-size black bass surface to feed on food particles that had collected on the oil drums that supported the dock.

We got almost within touching distance of them and still didn't scare them away. Perhaps they were so intent on feeding that our presence didn't matter. Or maybe they just couldn't see us. If they saw us they certainly didn't care. On the other hand a loud noise that vibrated through the water did cause them to dive deep.

Anyway, the zoologist's claim that fish have taste buds on much of the exterior of their bodies is a new one to us. Had you heard that before?

To Keep Minnows Alive

Have trouble keeping your minnows alive until you reach the old fishing hole and can drop your minnow bucket into the water? Well, here's a trick that may help.

Next time you buy your minnows ask the minnow man to give you a tray full of ice from his refrigerator. Drop about five squares of the ice into the minnow bucket. It will keep the water cool and also help preserve the life of your minnows with the oxygen it adds to the water.

Lay the remaining pieces of ice on top of the minnow bucket. As that ice melts it will drip inside and serve to keep the temperature of the water down.

"Home Owned — the Best Place to Shop After All" . . . Parking Lot at the Rear of Our Store!

By VERN SANFORD

Last year's harvest of wildlife resources in Texas was the greatest in the memory of many old-timers.

Thanks to good wildlife management, areas that were "shot out" 25 years ago had top hunting in 1958. The woods were full of deer. Quail were more numerous perhaps than ever before in Texas. And the duck and goose population from Canada was very good.

This all gets back to management. Naturally it had to start with control. Limits had to be put on the bag, and seasons had to be set. All of this, however, would have been to no avail without land management.

We have in Texas a rather paradoxical situation. The game belongs to the people—you and me and everyone else. The land on which it lives, for the most part, belongs to the individual landowner. There is very little public domain in Texas, and it also falls under controls.

Every Texas landowner is interested in having some wildlife resources on his land. Most landowners like to hunt and fish a little. But it doesn't take too much to satisfy them.

HOMEWORK—See what volunteer firemen cooked up for themselves on a defective hot plate in their headquarters at Forestville, Va. No injuries, but several cases of acute embarrassment were suffered.

Hunters must remember that farmers and ranchers have to grow crops or raise cattle to make a living. They build fences to keep their livestock in . . . and to keep people out. Occasionally someone poaches and kills game that belongs to one landowner, but has taken up residence on another man's private property.

As a result the poacher justifies himself confronted with the justice of the peace, who slaps a fine on him, usually amounting to forty some odd dollars.

With population growing it became the problem of those who placed controls on wildlife to find a way for every man to hunt. First the sportsmen got together. They didn't have all the answers, so they began to loog to science. Biologists were brought into the picture.

They looked around and saw that much of the cover was being destroyed from the land. There wasn't ample feed and wildlife was starving to death, or moving to some other place that was more inviting.

Biologists approached the landowners, who asked the normal question of "why should we?" It was then up to the biologists and sportsmen to convince the landowner that wildlife can be harvested the same as any other crop. Some landowners had known this for years. That didn't stop them from overgrazing their land, however. They'd lease a pasture to some unsuspecting deerhunter for $50 a gun and there wouldn't be anything but a few old does around. So the hunter was unhappy.

Unfortunately there is no law covering it, but the man who knowingly takes money for a hunting lease, with full knowledge that there isn't sufficient game on the place to give the hunter a fair shake, is just as criminal as the fence crawlers.

Convincing the landowner that he should put his holdings under a management program wasn't the easiest thing. In the first place there were conflicting ideas by some of the experts.

For instance one group of government officials told the landowner to knock down all the pesky mesquite and cedar on his land. Another group told him to save some for cover for wildlife.

Also there are examples in Texas where some very large and influential landowners have absolutely destroyed wild game habitat without regard for its future. Now they are sorry.

As a result most owners today are finding more answers before they destroy everything on their holdings.

To show what land management can do, the Game & Fish Commission, with funds from hunting and fishing licenses and from excise tax on equipment, bought a number of areas where wildlife restoration programs were put into effect.

A study was made of the carrying capacity of the land, what would grow well and what wildlife would thrive best. As a result some findings have been revealed that will help hunting and fishing through the remainder of time.

Adjacent landowners, watching the program, now are beginning to adopt many of these management practices. As a result they are providing food and cover. They are balancing their deer herd sex ration by allowing the taking of does.

Other landowners have done the same thing with small game. They have provided cover for birds, and food for them to eat. Their fence rows have multi-flora roses. They are not cutting all the brush. They are leaving cover at the end of the turn rows. And they are careful, in harvesting their crops, not to destroy nests.

In addition many of them are planting birds. For example, there is a state bird farm at Tyler that produces several thousand quail each year. These are sold to landowners at a fraction of their cost, for restocking purposes.

Naturally if a farmer spends money for a few birds, he's going to provide adequate food and cover for them. As a result he'll have good shooting. He will be entitled to ask a fee from his friends in town to hunt on his property. After all, when he goes to town he must pay for what he gets.

There still are some die-hards. They think they know more about wildlife than the men who study it every day in the year and compare notes.

On the other hand, the experts admit they don't know everything, and there is a lot more to be learned. They are learning fast, however. And thanks to them, we are getting a brand of land management and hunter cooperation that will make and hunting and fishing better each succeeding year.

Farm Wage Report Due January 31

Floyd B. Ellington, District Manager of the Social Security Administration in San Angelo reminds farm operators that the report of wages paid to employees in 1958 must be filed with the Director of Internal Revenue no later than January 31, 1959. If, in 1959, a farm worker was paid $150 cash wages, the employer must send in a report of the wages paid, along with 4 and one-half percent social security tax (2 and one-fourth percent deducted from the worker and 2 and one-fourth paid by the employer).

The same report (and tax) is due regardless of the amount paid to the farm worker if he worked for at least 20 days for cash wages computed on a time basis—that is—so much an hour or so much per day.

Any one wishing further information concerning old-age, survivors, or disability benefits may see the Social Security Representative when he makes his regular trip to Winters, January 28, February 11-25, March 11-25. He will be in the Chamber of Commerce building at 10:00 a.m.

RETURNED HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Mayhew returned home recently from Lamesa where they visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Mayhew. They attended services at the First Methodist Church where Rev. Mayhew is pastor. They also visited in Loraine with their daughter Rev. and Mrs. Merriel Abbott. Ken Abbott accompanied his grandparents to Winters for a week's visit.

Dorcas SS Class Met At Baptist Church Thursday

Mrs. A. T. Davis, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Jarrell, hosted the Dorcas Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church Thursday evening.

A three course dinner was served from a linen laid table and barbecue chicken was the main course of the dinner. Plate favors were colored baskets of nuts and candy.

Mrs. R. D. Collins, president, gave the invocation.

Following dinner, a business session was held with Mrs. Collins presiding. Officers gave their reports and Mrs. Loucille Roberts and Mrs. W. R. Kennedy, gave talks. Monthly donations for the Lottie Moon offering were made by the members.

Mrs. Grover Davis gave the devotional "Missions," taken from Matthew and the meeting was closed with the reading of Mark 14:36.

During the social hour, members cut quilt patterns for lap quilts to be sent to Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Angelo.

Others present were Mesdames Pete Davis, J. D. Sowell, C. C. Benson, A. L. Crockett, W. E. Coley, C. T. Hart and Cynthia Jackson.

State Capitol Highlights:

State Legislature Didn't Have Money To Buy Stamps on First Day of Session

By VERN SANFORD
Some cheered and some wept, none will soon forget the eventful opening day of the 56th Legislature of the State of Texas. Aggoner Carr became the third in recent history to win a second term as Speaker of the House; and Joe Burkett became only one in many years to be elected by so close a vote—79 to 71. Burkett and Carr had been in hard-fought contest for a year and a half. Burkett, from Kerrville in the Hill country, is a staunch conservative. Carr, from Lubbock in the South Plains, had a liberal support.

When the day came, every representative was present, and the galleries were jammed with spectators. Secretary of State Steakley served as temporary presiding officer. An elaborate voting procedure was agreed upon to safeguard secrecy and assure fairness.

Representatives filed to the front of the chamber, one by one, their folded ballots initiated the clerk and then placed them solemnly in the ballot box. Six members, three representing each side, stood by.

The ballot box was opened and results called out, one by one. Only sound in the large chamber was the scratching of the pens of many score keepers, and the occasional fidgeting or gasping as the lead saw-sawed between the candidates.

A cheer went up as Carr received his victory-assuring 76th vote. A round of hand shaking, back slapping and congratulating began. Following the final count, a procession composed of Carr's family and supporters escorted the Lubbock representative to the rostrum to take the oath of office.

On With the Show
After the opening dust had settled, Legislators turned to their everyday concerns.

Most immediate and pressing problem was finding money to operate the Legislature. Since the state's main monetary cupboard, the general revenue fund was bare (worse still, in debt), there wasn't so much as a nickel on hand to pay salaries of the lawmakers and their helpers, nor even for stamps, stationery, phone calls and travel.

A bill was offered to appropriate $2,300,000 that had accumulated in two special funds.

Several plans were being talked about to solve the even more vexatious long-term problem of overall budget balancing. To do so will involve finding money to pay off an expected general fund deficit of $65,000,000 plus some $130,000,000 in new money to meet expected expenses for 1960-61. Only alternative would be numerous and painful economies.

Generally, there seem to be two schools of thought developing on taxation: (1) those who hope to avoid a new tax by upping many present levies, such as selective sales taxes, removing several exemptions and re-shuffling funds here and there and (2) those who say the present tax blanket can't be stretched any further and that "pot shot, patch work" taxation should be replaced by an overall plan to distribute the increasing cost of government among more people.

Panorama
Other items for the record of what promises to be an historic Legislature:

SENATOR GEORGE PARKHOUSE of Dallas is new president pro tempore of the Senate, and as such, third in line to the governor. An outdoor advertising executive, Parkhouse is beginning his third Senate term.

NO FREE OVERTIME, resolved Senators in one of their first official acts, a resolution to quit on the dot May 12 when the 120-day pay period runs out. House members cheered the announcement.

A FAMOUS NAME returned to public life as Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin took the oath as senator. Former Congressman Martin Dies Sr., long identified with the Dies Un-American Activities Investigating Committee, came to see his son sworn in.

"BABY OF THE HOUSE" is Rep. Jack Connell Jr. of Wichita Falls, youngest person ever to sit in the House. Connell was 21 years old plus 14 days on general election day.

A FOOTBALL STAR when he's not a lawmaker is Yale Lary, freshman representative from Fort Worth. Lary, a defensive back for the Detroit Lions pro team, was a college star for Texas A&M.

ONE GOVERNOR'S SON succeeded another as W. P. Hobby Jr. was named parliamentarian of the Senate, a post held last session by Dan Moody Jr.

AN EARLY CRISIS was averted when the House sergeant-at-arms rushed a spittoon to the desk of snuff-dipping Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla. Spittoons, once a standard accessory, had gotten lost in the chamber's revamping.

FOLKS WITH MONEY-SPENDING IDEAS had best be armed with money-finding ideas when they come to the Legislature this year. This warning was issued by Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria in an Austin address.

THIRD HOUSE has its own ceremonies this year as, for the first time, lobbyists are required to register under the new law. From the length and variety of the list, there's a lobbyist for practically everything and everybody—teachers, farmers, firemen, policemen, labor unions, industries and even church groups.

Governor's Appointments
Gov. Price Daniel has appointed Secretary of State Zollie Steakley to a second term and promoted two assistants in the governor's office.

George Christian, former press assistant, becomes executive assistant, taking over non-legal duties of Jake Jacobsen. Jacobsen left to enter private law practice.

John Goldsum was promoted to administrative assistant and will take over Jacobsen's legal duties.

Pay For Secretaries Debated
One of the first issues for debate in the 56th Legislature was pay for secretaries of Senate and House members. Generally accepted rate is $14 per day for Senate secretaries and $10 for the House. But a resolution must be passed setting amounts of the salaries, at the beginning of each session. Rep. Obie Jones of Austin said secretaries should receive $12 a day because the $10-a-day figure was embarrassing to House secretaries when they met their Senate counterparts during coffee breaks. Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria pointed out that the state couldn't afford the increase. "Maybe," he said, "we'll have to pay them out of our own pockets," and he pointed out that not all Senate secretaries received $14—that some of them were paid as low as $7 per day.

Twenty-one men crew each blimp, and each is powered by two trigger-mounted engines.

Amusements Coming to Local Theatres

AT THE STATE THEATRE
Friday and Saturday "The Fiend Who Walked the West" and "Attila"
Sunday and Monday "La Parisienne"

"La Parisienne"
The greatest French export of the century will make her debut as a comedienne in "La Parisienne," which will open Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre, and distributed through United Artists. The export is none other than the fabulously endowed Brigitte Bardot.

"La Parisienne" is a comedy such as only the French can make—and, in fact, are famous for. To come right out with it, "La Parisienne" is a boudoir comedy—which is to say it is fast, funny, outrageous, and with its emphasis resting squarely on the battle of the sexes.

Brigitte plays the role of a flirtatious and incendiary young girl who is determined to balance her husband's infidelities by having an affair with a handsome prince. Her co-stars in "La Parisienne" are Charles Boyer, who plays the prince with suavity and a wicked sophistication; Henri Vidal, a tall, rugged, handsome redheaded male counterpart of Brigitte's sex appeal.

"The Fiend Who Walked the West"
The horror trend in popular film entertainment moves west with the introduction of Twentieth Century-Fox's startling action drama, "The Fiend Who Walked the West," Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre. Nonetheless startling is the casting of this top CinemaScope production. TV hero, Hugh O'Brian who has become synonymous with Wyatt Earp, the law and order man, tries his hand on the other side of the law and promptly lands on the other side of the bars where he meets "the fiend" of the plot, portrayed by Robert Evans. It is probably safe to say that as the cell mate of the diabolical schemer and later as the bait to attract the cunning killer, O'Brian has more hair-breadth collisions with danger than a half-dozen of his noted TV scripts.

Set in the frontier country of the 1870's, the film has a tense beginning when O'Brian, as a debt-ridden rancher, joins a trio of desperados to rob a bank. He is caught and sent to prison where he takes up with the childishly soft-spoken Evans. On the eve of Evans' release, he tells "Sad Man"—his nickname for O'Brian—that he has quietly and fiendishly rid the prison of a prisoner who has mistreated him. From this moment Evans leaves a trail of blood-chilling murder right up to the rancher's door, paralyzing the small community with a stark tide of terror that only a toughened marshal and now purposely-vengeful O'Brian can stem.

As the human monster, Robert Evans has cut across the stardom path to write his name in the cinematic gore that has illuminated the names of such masters as Lon Chaney, Bela Lugosi and Boris Karloff. There is one difference. His satanic guise is not cluttered with hoary features, bat wings or claw arms, but the intent is the same—to destroy everything and anything that gets in his way. It is a brilliant stroke of luck for this screen newcomer who was last seen as the love-sick bullfighter in "The Sun Also Rises." He had been discovered by film star Norma Shearer who suggested him as perfect casting for the role of her film executive husband, the late Irving Thalberg, in "Man of a Thousand Faces." Now with this starmaking role as a macabre killer, Evans must juggle two promising careers, that of an established sports-wear manufacturer and his new-found film career or choose between them. Odds are it will be the latter.

Whooping Cranes Are On Increase

By VERN SANFORD

From September through March we hear a great deal about the whooping cranes. It is doubtful if any other species of wildlife gets as much publicity during these months as this bird. It is all because it looked like they might become extinct.

Thousands of dollars and many many hours are spent each year watching after this beautiful, wonderful bird that makes Texas its winter home.

This year at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge we have some 35 whoopers, including nine young. This is the largest crop of young birds since 1940-41, when apparently there were a dozen young birds.

Last year Texas sent 26 birds back to the north Country. The previous high count had been 34 birds in the winter of 1949-50. Officials of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, of the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, are happy over this increase, which now brings the total to 41, including those in captivity.

The whooper is a marvelous bird. Winging its way across the marshes of South Texas, from one point to another, it is a giant among other waterfowl and shore birds because of its majestic size and beauty.

It really is a shame that more people do not go to the Aransas Wildlife refuge each year, to see these magnificent whoopers. There is so much to be learned, so much thrill to be had.

This refuge is located near Austwell, south of Victoria and Refugio. It is coastal land, facing on San Antonio Bay and it abounds in all kinds of wildlife. There are visiting hours so that persons may drive through parts of the area in their cars. Wild deer and turkey often are seen, along with all types of water birds.

In fact, the Texas Ornithological Society holds frequent pilgrimages there. On the backside of the refuge there is a lookout tower, something like an oil derrick, where you may climb to the top and watch the wildlife through powerful glasses.

Occasionally you can see the big whoopers and observe them as they move about the marshes, or fly overhead.

No firearms or dogs are allowed in the refuge. There is an agreement with the Game & Fish Commission which permits the state to trap wild deer for transplanting in other areas and you'll see these deer traps scattered widely over the place.

The shore line of the refuge is very interesting, with enticing fishing waters in the bay. Boats will be working in these waters with their nets.

In the evening it is thrilling to see the ducks and geese that have been feeding in the rice and grain fields of the hinterlands begin their daily trip back to the coastal water. Ducks and geese, flying in formation and coming out of the evening sunset will run a chill down the back of any man.

The winter months really are the best for these coastal trips if you just want to see birds. Usually there are plenty of cabins available in such coast towns as Fulton Beach, Rockport, Aransas Pass and along the highways at other points.

It is a nice trip for the family, an opportunity to let all the children enjoy the wonders of nature. It also is a good trip for mother and dad, filled with the thrills of winging waterfowl and shore bird watching.

There's even a state park nearby. It carries the name of Goose Island Park. Camping is permitted in this park, and good fishing is close at hand.

Of course there are other wildlife refuges in Texas. Farther down the coast near the mouth of the Rio Hondo there is the Laguna Atascosa Wildlife Refuge. In the Panhandle there is another refuge near Muleshoe, and in North Texas the Hagerman refuge on Lake Texoma. Any of these refuges are available to the public. They will give a new insight to what is being done to protect wildlife and prevent its extinction.

Visiting one of these refuges can be a dual purpose trip. When you go to the coast, be sure to take your fishing tackle along. There is excellent fishing to be had on coastal waters adjacent to the refuges. The same is true at Lake Texoma. Try it some week-end.

Wildlife always knows where it has protection. The same is true on some of the state parks and most certainly in the Big Bend National Park, west of the Pecos. If you are interested in wildlife photography, you can really have a field day around one of these parks.

Incidentally, wildlife photography offers a very interesting hobby for the entire family, too. Outdoor publications are filled with lovely pictures each month. Some of these pictures are made by hobbyists, who have mastered the use of good cameras.

You can have as much fun with your camera, outdoors in Texas, as you can with your gun, and shooting film is in season the year 'round.
