Texas Senate Will Vote Revenue Bill

(By The Associated Press)

STIN, Jan. 10.—Nineteen members of the Senate, a majority, have informed Rep. Clarence E. Farmer of Fort Worth they would vote revenue bill if Governor W. Lee O'Daniel called a special session legislature. Farmer advised the governor in a letter today.

rmer recently announced he was polling the Senate in an effort to mine the possibility of legislative action on revenue raising to bolster security financing, especially old age assistance and aid to dent children and needy blind.

overnor O'Daniel did not comment on the Farmer letter, but has ublicly he believed a special session would accomplish nothing, be- of sharp differences of opinion among the legislators, and has ted privately he would not call one.

his letter, Farmer reminded the governor of a conference between last December saying he had urged a session and O'Daniel had replied uld do no good, that the members of the legislature would not do ing in that line and that I was of these senators replied to you in October and November, and told you the same thing that they have told me.

Farmer said, among other reasons cited, that a session was needed to help "40,000 hungry, ragged" dependent children who "suffer in the cold."

British Strike At German Air Bases

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Fast new British bombers struck back today at Germany's air and sea strength, raiding German air bases on the North sea island of Sylt and an important Helgoland anchorage in swift reply to the first warning lightning of the vaunted nazi "blitzkrieg."

The crash of anti-aircraft fire, vivid flashes, the dancing pencils of searchlights and the roar of many planes told observers on the nearby Danish coastline and islands of the first battle over Sylt, shortly before dawn.

First Before Dawn

Reports from various sources indicated there were at least three battles over Sylt and one at sea, above Helgoland bight. The Sylt battles were before dawn; at 9 a.m. (2 a.m. CST) and between 3:30 and 6 p.m. (8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. CST). The air fight over the sea was believed to have occurred about 1 p.m. (6 a.m. CST).

The air ministry announced one British plane had been lost in a half hour running fight "far out over the North sea" when an R.A.F. formation met a number of long range German fighters. It said, however, that the German planes were beaten off and that the British formation continued "to the easterly limit of its reconnaissance" and back.

Three Reported Down

This compared with German contentions that three out of nine British Bristol "Blenheim" bombers had been shot down over Helgoland bight by four German planes.

The British communique said one German fighter had ben shot down and forced to land in Denmark.

Still later reports said a second of the 370-mile-an-hour German Messerschmidts fighters had been seen to fall in the sea.

The Helgoland anchorage which also was bombed by the British was not further identified. It was said to be "heavily fortified," however.

Mines Being Sowed

While the Royal Air Force thus carried the aerial war into Germany's domain, British naval vessels closer home were sowing some of the last mines needed to complete Britain's Maginot-line of the sea—a 30,000,000-pound protective shield for eastcoast shipping.

Other British official reports were

Anti-Lynching Bill Is Approved By House

Senate Death For Proposal Is Promised

Measure Branded As Vicious Attack Upon White People Of South During Debate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — The House approved one of its perennial election-year favorites, the anti-lynching bill, today and sent it to the Senate where an unyielding Southern filibuster was set to kill it.

The vote of 252 to 131 followed a discussion in which Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) asserted that the measure was "nothing but the renewal of a vicious attack on the white people of the southern states," coming not from the Republicans, he said, but from the Democrats.

All southern efforts to amend the measure were crushed, under a massive voting combination of Republicans and Democrats from the north and west. The same fate met an effort by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich), inveterate foe of the CIO, to attach provisions intended to restrict picketing.

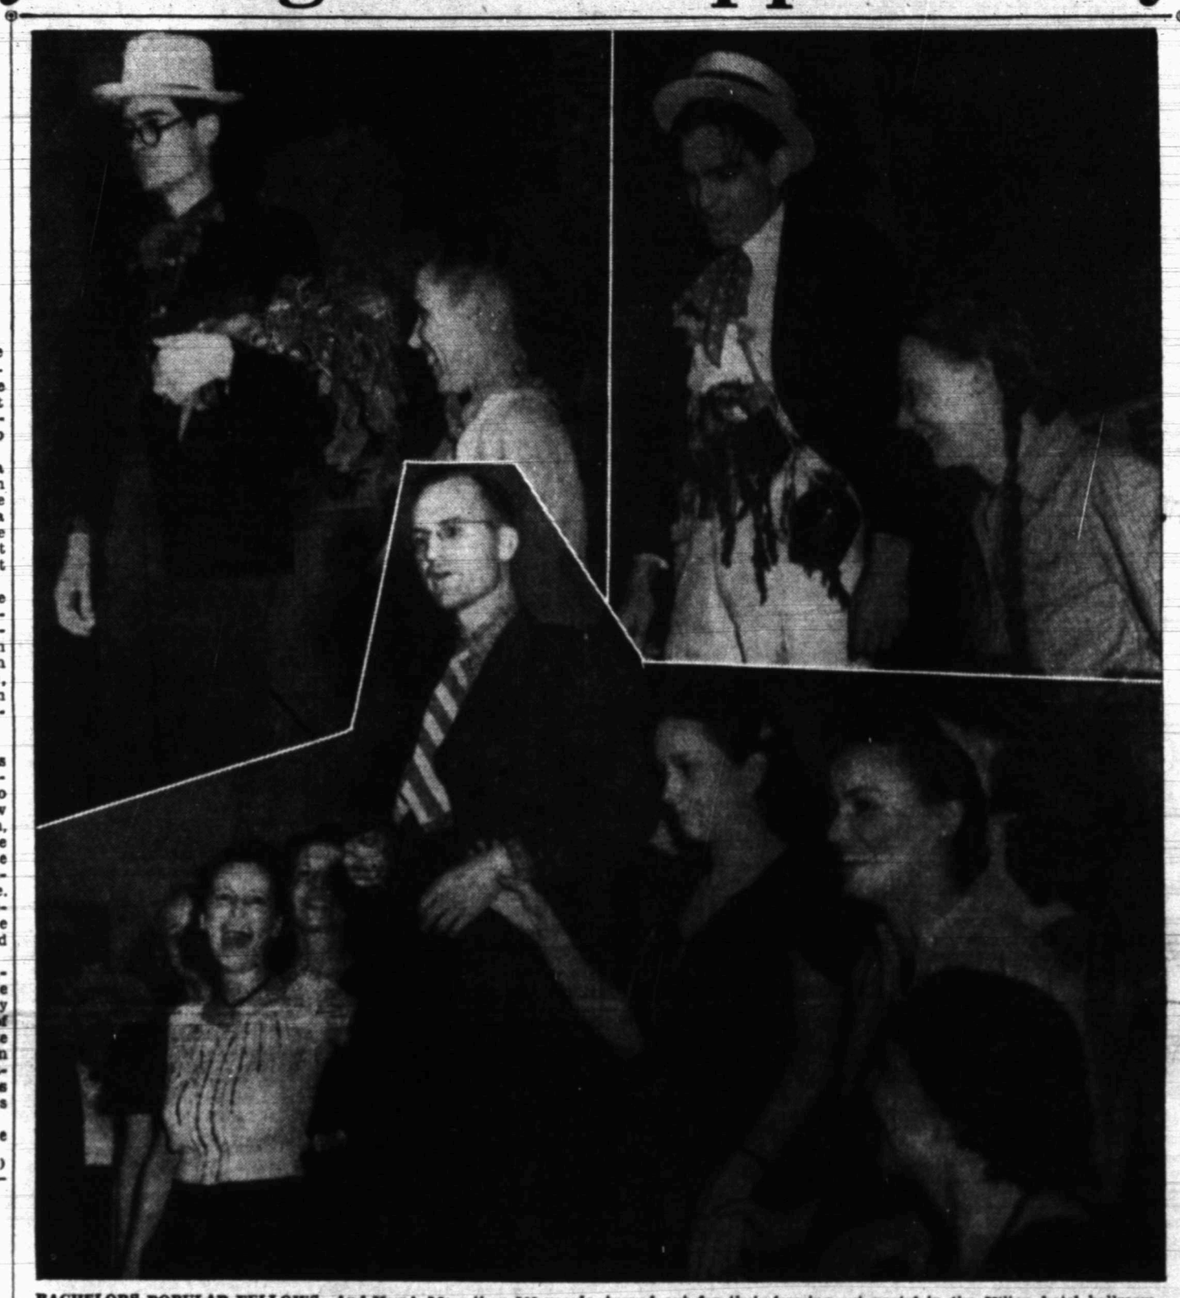

Change Accepted

The single change accepted was offered by the author of the measure, Rep. Gavagan (D-NY), who represents the district of which New York City's teeming negro section, Harlem, is a part. He proposed the elimination of language making the bill inapplicable to any violence resulting from a labor disturbance. Gavagan explained that the provision was unnecessary because the bill could not possibly be interpreted as applying to labor situations.

The bill—denounced by southerners as impractical, unenforceable and uncostitutional and upheld by its supporters in the antonyms of those words—seeks to eliminate lynchings by imposing penalties on peace officers negligent in protecting their prisoners from lynch-mobs and by making the municipalities and counties liable for damages.

Victims Trapped 2 Miles Down In W. Va. Mine

Rescuers Working Frantically To Reach Miners; Three Blasts Rock Coal Mine

(By The Associated Press)

BARTLEY, W. Va., Jan. 10— An explosion, possibly presaging the worst West Virginia mine disaster in more than a decade, killed at least two men and entombed an estimated 86 others two miles underground today.

W. C. Sturgiss, a district mine inspector, said shortly before midnight that the number of men trapped had been revised to 86. Forty-seven men escaped.

Rescue Work Slow

Eight rescue crews from this southwestern West Virginia village and nearby communities dug their way toward three blast-wrecked sections of the mine but progress was slow. Midnight found them still 2,500 feet from the estimated location of the disaster.

Three hundred men stood by above ground, to help when needed.

Sturgiss theorized that a group of 25 miners in the "fourth left" area of the mine had the "best chance" of surviving. He did not speculate on the fate of the others.

Hope Majority Escaped

Company officials headed by Vice President R. E. Salvati of Holden, remained hopeful that a majority of the men had escaped.

Salvati reported that the 47 men in the eastern section of the operation came out unscathed at 4 p. m., unaware there had been a blast.

One of the dead men, whose bodies were found a half-mile from the bottom of the 620-foot shaft, was identified as Charley Moffitt. The other was not identified. Their bodies were left below while the crews pressed on.

Two Killed In Gas Explosion

(By The Associated Press)

WASKOM, Tex., Jan. 10 — Two pipeline workers were killed instantly and a third injured critically this afternoon when a gas pipeline they were repairing exploded with terrific force.

The dead were George Worch, 50, Shreveport, and J. C. Holcombe, 18, Beckville, Tex.

In a Marshall, Tex., hospital with critical injuries was Raymond B. Hamilton, jr., 21, Shreveport.

Were Repairing Line

The explosion occurred while Arkansas-Louisiana Gas company employes were repairing the 16-inch gas line a half mile south of here.

James B. Harris, safety director for the company, said workers about 50 yards from the scene of the blast heard a terrific explosion and looked up to see bodies falling from 100 feet in the air. The two men killed were blown to pieces.

Officials of the company said the men were working over a "bell hole" which blew out. They could give no cause for the explosion. The blast blew out a six-foot section of pipe, ripped it open and flattened it out as though put through a giant roller.

Waskom, on the Louisiana-Texas line, was shaken by the blast and many residents thought at first an earthquake had occurred. The explosion was heard for several miles.

Two Youths Injured In Auto Accident

Two Brownfield youths were injured, neither critically, when the car in which they were riding struck the rear of a pipe truck about midnight three miles southwest of Wolfforth.

Lad Brownfield, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brownfield of Brownfield, suffered a deep laceration of the right leg and a forehead laceration. He was treated at West Texas hospital for the injuries and extreme shock.

C. D. Thomas, 21, remained in Lubbock sanitarium after treatment of lacerations of the scalp and forehead. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Thomas of Brownfield.

The youths had visited Wednesday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey of 1411 Eighteenth street and had left there about 11:15 o'clock, said relatives. Brownfield is a brother of Mrs. Bailey.

Sgt. C. E. Tabor and D. O. Wilkerson of the Texas Highway patrol were investigating the accident. Driver of the truck had not been learned here early today Thomas said he was driving the car.

Robber's Own Nitro Brings Death After Bank Holdup

WILMINGTON, O., Jan. 10. (AP)—His own nitroglycerin brought death to a robber today less than 10 minutes after he seized $330 in a Port William bank.

Brandishing a bottle of the explosive, the robber threatened to blow up the bank unless tellers gave him the money. Something went wrong with his car as he sped out of town, the state highway patrol said. It was blown to bits, the robber's body was mangled. The $330 was found nearby.

Sheriff J. E. Hodson identified the man as Forest Miller, 25, a farm hand who once served a reformatory term.

Cities Exempt In Gas Tax

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 10—In a decision which may have far-reaching effects, the Austin court of civil appeals held today that the state must cease imposing its four-cent gasoline tax on state departments and cities.

The case will be appealed to the supreme court. If that tribunal should uphold the ruling, the state would lose gasoline tax revenues estimated by officials to aggregate around $2,000,000 a year. Collections will continue as at present pending supreme court action.

Reversal Of District Court

The opinion, by Justice M. B. Blair, held that state departments and cities do not have to pay the tax on gasoline used solely for governmental purposes. His decision was a reversal of that by a Travis county district court.

The ruling immediately gave rise to speculation regarding whether counties, local school buses or perhaps rural mail carriers might be exempt from the levy. There also was discussion in capitol circles of the possibility of cities escaping such

Lubbock's "Glammerous L'l Abners" Presented Before 500 Persons Last Night

In a setting based on scenes from the Li'l Abner comic strip appearing in The Morning Avalanche, 18 so-called "glammer" boys (one by proxy) walked, bounced and backed down a ladder in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel Wednesday night to be introduced to an audience of over 500 persons invited to a Sadie Hawkins festival.

Bales of hay were stacked in the balcony and on either side of the orchestra stand over which was placed a huge sign "Mule Barn—Home of Lubbock's Glammer Boys." As Bernie Howell, at the electric organ, played a "theme song" the young "eligible bachelors," who were hosts for the occasion, appeared from a doorway, posed on the balcony for a moment and descended the ladder to the screams, applause and laughter of their guests.

Hugh Dunlap Presides

Presiding at the microphone as master of ceremonies was Hugh Dunlap, former Dallas resident, who has presided at formal "coming out parties" in the Texas metropolis but never at one like that last night! He was assisted by Margaret Turner who announced the "theme song" of the "debutantes" and their "escorts."

Dunlap said the meteoric rise of Lubbock to commercial heights in the last few years has left our social status lacking and this oversight "has been brought forcibly to the attention of the community by the n o n - s a t i r i c a l, mathematical, n o n - o p i n i o n a t e d, society-minded, a d m i n i s t r a t i o n-loving 'Plainsman,' known to his associates as 'the man on the flying trapeze keyboard.' The younger men of the community are quick to remedy this deficiency."

Fourteen Girls Rush Payne

The hosts and their escorts were attired in ridiculous costumes such as are worn by "Sadies," "Li'l Abners," and other residents of "Dogpatch." Sharing the heaviest applause were Jack Payne, cashier of the Citizens National bank, who had admitted to being asked by Miss Edith Henderson, but who was rushed by fourteen young women, and Spencer A. Wells, president of Hemphill-Wells Co., whose costume was a cross between a lighthouse keeper's and a farmer's and who was escorted by Miss Leona Allen.

Payne's theme song was "Pennies from Heaven" and Wells descended

Germans Warned To Reduce Purchases Or Force Will Be Used To Block Spending

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Germans were warned today that they must "voluntarily reduce purchases" of unrationed articles or force would be used to compel them to spend less of their income.

The warning was issued by Das Schwarze Korps, organ of the Hitler elite guards, which added that one plan under consideration to force workers to save is that of paying wages partly in certificates, which would not come due for several years.

Authorities have been seeking a method to halt what is considered to be a wave of excessive buying of unrationed articles so that industries producing these articles may work for direct war purposes. By reducing the amount of money people have to spend, it is reasoned, the government automatically would stop such buying and thus make available more cash to pay for the war.

Das Schwarze Korps said that the nazi state was seeking to re-

Russian Force Is Surrounded

(By The Associated Press)

HELSINKI, Jan. 10 — Finnish troops in central Finland were reported to have surrounded a new soviet division today after hurling the remnants of the routed Red army's 44th and 163rd divisions back into Russia east of Suomussalmi.

This third Russian division was reported trapped at Kukkammo, about 60 miles south of the recent victories at Suomussalmi.

The Finns set up positions along 30 miles of the Russian frontier east of Lake Kianta and Suomussalmi. This covers four points at which Finland has thrown the invaders back on their own soil.

Russians In Flight

A Finnish communique said that a Red army battalion had been dispersed northeast of Lake Ladoga with the enemy leaving "200 dead on the field." The Finns took 40 prisoners.

"At Suomussalmi our troops, advancing in the direction of Raate, have reached the frontier and cleared the area of enemy troops," the communique said.

Associated Press Correspondent Thomas F. Hawkins, with the Finnish army at Raate, reported the Russians in full flight as the Finns drove right up the border in cleaning up operations.

For First Time

It was the first time the Suomussalmi sector had been cleared of Russians since the war started.

Hawkins, recounting the huge war stores left on the battlefield by the fleeing red army, said that evidence on the bodies of the dead Russians indicated the 44th division was one of the red army's crack units engaged in the Polish campaign.

He found the town of Suomus-

Bar Against Increases In Roosevelt's Budget Erected By House Committe

Senate Favors Fiscal Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Led by an embattled economyite, Rep. Woodrum (D-Va), the House appropriations committee was reported today to have erected a bar against increases in the Roosevelt budget, while the Senate voted a sweeping fiscal study.

The House group, it was said, voted to forbid its subcommittees to increase the sum total of any money bill beyond the amount recommended by the White House. This, it was explained, would hamper attempts by legislators to tack on such appropriations as the $225,000,000 for farm parity payments voted last year. Woodrum was understood to have made the motion which led to today's action.

Would Start Retrenchment

The resolution approved by the Senate was offered by Senator Harrison (D-Miss), who said it would help start a retrenchment program which might lead eventually to a balanced budget. Under it, a Senate-House committee of 24 members would study the Roosevelt spending and tax recommendations and make its own recommendations in 60 days.

The resolution passed on a voice vote, without audible dissent, but some expect it to die in the House. In that case, Harrison may suggest that a 12-man fiscal committee be set up in the Senate alone.

Confer With President

At the White House, meanwhile, members of the House Democratic steering committee conferred with President Roosevelt. One of the legislators said the president emphasized that Congress should not exceed his budget estimates, which call for record defense outlays but for reduced expenditures for other activities.

Discussing Mr. Roosevelt's budget in the Senate, Senator Adams (D-Col) told his colleague that thep resident "with a twinkle in his eye, has again outsmarted Congress."

"The budget contains material cuts," Adams continued, waving his arms, "but the figures are such that if Congress raises them it either will have to break through the present $45,000,000,000 debt limit or raise new taxes.

Certain Items Cut

"The president has cut certain items that are very dear to the heart of Congress. For instance, there was a $400,000,000 cut for agriculture, $562,000,000 for relief, $15,000,000 for the National Youth administration, $64,000,000 for the Civilian Conservation corps, $45,000,000 for public roads, $20,000,000 for public buildings, $53,000,000 for military posts throughout the country and $98,000,000 for flood control and rivers and harbors."

Adams said it might be well to cut down the defense estimates and apply the money to domestic uses.

"There is a suggestion that we cut down on relief to farmers and others in order to build battleships," he said. "Battleships to fight who? To fight nobody. We are preparing for a war that is not coming."

Lamesa Postoffice Reports Increase

LAMESA, Jan. 10 (Special)—Postmaster Owen C. Taylor has announced that at the close of business for 1939 Lamesa postal receipts totaled $29,441 or $1,222 above the figures at the close of 1938 business.

According to figures tabulated during past seasons receipts have been gaining at the rate of approximately $1,000 per year, beginning with the year 1937. Receipts jumped from approximately $22,000 in 1936 to approximately $27,000 in 1937, a gain of $6,000 in a year's time.

"As a conservative estimate," said Postmaster Taylor, "we believe our receipts are $10,000 above those of any other second-class office in our district.

A TRAGIC SOUVENIR—In agony of grief Mrs. William Tate, of St. Louis, Mo., clutches the heat-warped toy automobile retrieved from the charred ruins of her home. Her three young children were burned to death. One child was but four months old, the others 2 and 4 years.

Children Sleep Two Nights In Bed With Dead Mother, Thinking She Is Resting

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—Last Sunday afternoon Mrs. Sarah Pizarro suffered a pain in her chest and lay on the bed in her small apartment. She died, perhaps at that time, from a heart attack.

Her husband, a seaman, was on a freighter bound for Manila, P. I. The children, Anthony, 7, and Judith, 5, were at home. They had heard their mother complain of the pain and they decided to let her "sleep."

At supper time, they made their own meal of milk and dried cereal, then climbed into bed beside their mother and slept.

When their mother didn't awaken Monday morning, they made their own breakfast. Anthony played hookey from school. All day he and his sister played quietly in the kitchen, so as not to disturb Mrs. Pizarro.

Paul Stein, building superintendent, came for the $18 rent. Anthony told him his mother was asleep and Stein left without looking in.

From time to time the children tip-toed into the bedroom to see if their mother had awakened, then quietly tip-toed out again.

Monday night both slept beside her in the bed.

Tuesday the children followed the same routine, except that the milk and cereal had given out and they nibbled on two green apples.

Anthony's teacher, curious about his absence from school, called at the Pizarro apartment last night. There was no response to her knock, and she inquired of a neighbor, Mrs. Josephine Krasnik, who could tell her nothing.

Mrs. Krasnik rapped at the Pizarro apartment door again. Anthony opened it and said, "Mama's asleep." Mrs. Krasnik followed the boy inside, found the mother dead and Judith in bed with her.

When the ambulance surgeon told Anthony that his mother was "sick," the boy insisted on going along with her to the hospital.

Then they had to tell him that mother was dead. He cried bitterly and Judith, although she didn't understand what had happened, also wept.

Police took the children to the society for prevention of cruelty to children and sent a telegram to Pizarro.

Doubt Expressed About Effect Of Tax Ruling On Lubbock

Doubt as to whether the gasoline tax ruling handed down by the Austin court of civil appeals would have any local effect was expressed by Lubbock city officials Wednesday.

They added, however, that the opinion will be studied and the progress of the case watched because of the possibility that it might mean the city is exempt from the payment of taxes which now amount to about $50 per month.

Claims Are Put In

At the present time, it was explained, the city pays the four cent tax on all gasoline used, and then, in accordance with established procedure, puts in claims for repayment of all the taxes paid except those for the municipal water and light plants and for certain street department machinery. The repayment to the city has averaged approximately $50 per month, officials said.

However, if the city is entitled to tax exemptions of gasoline used by light and water department and all of that used by the street department, then it would mean a saving of approximately $50 per month more than now is the case.

State Prison Guard Faces Life Sentence

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—A live sentence in the penitentiary where prisoners have been under his charge today faced R. H. Hyde, state prison guard, convicted of murder in Cherokee county in connection with the slaying of Charlie Goodson, Rusk barber.

Goodson's death, the court of criminal appeals said in an opinion by Judge Harry N. Graves, was "a killing based upon a drunken carousal with neither justifications nor excuse."

In affirming Hyde's conviction, Judge Graves said Hyde's defense was that he was so drunk he didn't know what happened when Goodson was felled from the guard's weapon. The shooting occurred at a house near Goodson's shop.

The opinion said Goodson was unarmed and had made no attack upon Hyde.

Art Center At Austin Urged

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (U.P.) — Austin business men were urged today by President Homer P. Rainey of the University of Texas to make a major plank in a century plan for Austin, a great public arts program.

Florence, Italy, was given as an example of what art can do for a community. "Florence was on the road to Rome," Dr. Rainey said. "Austin in on the road to Mexico. Florence without natural resources took advantage of the skill, enterprise and integrity of its citizens to develop its services to a degree of perfection unknown in the rest of Europe.

Artist Hired

"I believe the greatest thing Austin could ever do," he added, "would be to support the arts out of the public treasury as Florence did.

"When that city began to grow, they hired a great artist, Arnolfo, and had him make a plan for the development of the city. This was followed with few exceptions for more than two centuries and even into the nineteenth century. Its influence is felt today.

"The building programs that resulted afforded almost unlimited opportunity for the production of art through the work of their craftsmen—goldsmiths, sculptors, painters and so on.

Never Apart

"This work was all done by competition—every job was a competitive one.

"The important thing to remember is that these great works of art by such men as Leonardo di Vinci, Fra Angelico and Michaelangelo were done by men employed by the public.

"Another important thing to remember is that during the time of its highest artistic production, art was never an activity apart from the affairs of ordinary life."

Thirty Schools Are Asked To Tourney

Thirty schools in the vicinity of Lubbock have been invited to take part in the first debate tournament sponsored by the Senior High school debate team Saturday, according to J. W. Reid, head debate coach. The tournament is to begin at 8:30 a. m., and continue throughout the day, with debaters alternating at judging and debating.

Question for debate teams who will enter the Texas Interscholastic league competition this year is: "Resolved, that Texas should adopt a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense." Senior High school debaters will take part in practice debates and sponsor several before the district meet at Texas Technological college in April.

Teams invited to take part in the debating Saturday are: Levelland, Littlefield, Slaton, Crosbyton, Post, Sudan, Plainview, Hale Center, Abernathy, New Deal, Shallowater, Amherst, Anton, Muleshoe, Brownfield, Ropesville, Meadow, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Southland, Dickens, Spur, Ralls, Lorenzo, Idalou, Lamesa, Roosevelt, New Deal, Cooper, and Frenship.

TSN Petitioned From Breaking Contract With Radio Station

FORT WORTH, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—The Voice of Longview, corporation owning radio station KFRO in that city, today asked Judge Frank P. Culver of 17th district court here to prevent the Texas state network from cancelling a contract with its station.

The petition declared that KFRO has a contract to receive 17 hours' entertainment daily from TSN until 1942, and that cancellation now will cause the station damages estimated at $15,000. The Longview corporation asked for a permanent injunction against cancellation of the contract before its expiration date.

Cardenas Plan Is Criticized

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 10 (AP)—Criticism of the recently-enacted socialistic education program for Mexico continued today as parents' organizations in various parts of the country assailed the new plan.

Sponsored by President Lazaro Cardenas, the new law provides that "education is a public function for which the state, exclusively, is responsible."

It puts all private schools under strict governmental supervision, forbids operation of schools backed by foreign diplomatic representatives and forbids religious teaching in any schools, public or private.

Article two of the law provides:

"The object of the various scholastic systems shall be the preparation of a new generation for the advent of a social regime in which the sources and means of production shall belong to the Mexican people and in which economy and the other factors of betterment shall be organized preferentially towards the benefits of general interests."

Critics of the law have charged that whereas it proposes to ... a liberal education for ... youth that actually it in itself ... scribes the fields into which ... ers may go and is therefore ...

Scattered Bits Of Good News Feature Opening Of New Year For Oil Industry

ains In Price elp Outlook

By EDWARD CURTIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 10—Scattered bits of good news featured the first week of the new year for the oil industry.

The good news ranged from price gains in Pennsylvania to new pipe line construction in Western Kansas. With demand continuing good for Mid-Continent oils, Pennsylvania grade crude was upped 25 cents a barrel.

Demand Is Good

Mid-continent oil men continued hopeful the present oil demand might result in higher prices in their territory. Demand for fuel oils was good with some advance in price reported. Gasoline stocks continued to pile up and there were many reports of cuttings in tank wagon prices.

Western Kansas operators were cheered by announcement of Stanolind Pipe Line company of plans to construct a 145-mile line from the Hall-Gurney pool to connect with its east-west trunk line.

Operators in that section said the line would open a much needed outlet for new crude and probably would stimulate further development.

New Line Planned

Sinclair also announced new pipe line construction calling for a 66-mile eight-inch line from its K. M. Ranch station north of Kandahar, Tex., to the Hendrick station near Jacksboro.

The Ohio Oil Co. will put out $14,000,000 during 1940 for construction of refineries, a tank steamer, and development of production.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. announced its Kansas City, Kas., refinery would begin taking an additional 5,000 barrels daily.

In production circles, mid-continent operators watched closely a wildcat test near Queen City in Sullivan county, Mo. The well was planned at 1,100 feet and was reported to be bringing up about a third of oil to a bailer. If the well proves a commercial producer, it would be Missouri's first.

Officers Same

Development in the Tinsley Dome area of Mississippi continued. Ohio Oil's largest gas well in several years in Knox county near Mount Vernon, Ill., was unveiled 12,000,000 cu. ft. initial gauge.

Total Illinois production dropped during the week but three Devonian oil producers were completed in the Salem field for an average 3,093 barrels per well.

Tonkawa Refining Corp. announced official the changing of its name to Tareco Oil company and its financial structure rearranged. Officers and management of the company remains the same.

Mrs. FDR's Voice Teacher Bans "Can't" And "Bawth"

By BETH CAMPBELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Frank D. Roosevelt's voice teacher tossed "can't" and "bawth" out the window today along with New England broad "A's" and said there was no place for them in the American language.

Speaking to a newspaperwoman's audience that included her famous pupil, Mrs. Elizabeth Von Hesse of New York also disposed of a Southern accent of "lovely to listen to, but difficult to understand."

Need No Earmarks

"The most pleasant voice," she said, "is one that has no earmarks of any particular section of the country."

Mrs. Von Hesse was introduced as "the woman who had the temerity to write Mrs. Roosevelt several years ago that something was the matter with the way she talked over the radio and on the lecture platform."

The first lady, instead of resenting the criticism, promptly enrolled as a pupil.

Time To Toss

Quoting a British criticism that Americans are "a nation of mumblers" and a French comment that they are "a nation of squawkers," Mrs. Von Hesse said such American speech faults as high pitch, mumbling, lack of articulation, and dull flat tones can be corrected first of all, by listening.

"We must sing when we talk," she continued. "A speaker holds his audience through melody—an undulating tone with at least seven or eight notes in his range.

"Mumbling is our greatest fault," she said. "It's due to frozen upper lips. The tossing 'T's' are very important, and give the short 'I' its just due. Take time. Vowels must have time to round out. Consonants must have time to toss."

REPORTS MANY SALES

O'DONNELL—H. C. Frost, local rancher and cattleman, reports that during 1939 he sold approximately 1,000 head of cattle. Recent sales he handled included two truck loads to R. M. Cathey from the John F. Sullivan ranch near Coahoma; 70 steers to Joe Ropes of Gail and 20 steers to J. W. Henderson, O'Donnell.

King Henry VIII of England established a law which defined an aviordupois pound as "the weight of 7,000 grains of wheat taken from the middle of the middle of the ear and well dried."

Consumers Purchase Survey Is Discussed With C Of C

Chamber of commerce officials and Dr. F. A. Buechel of Austin discussed tentative plans for a consumers purchase survey in Lubbock Wednesday.

Dr. Buechel is assistant director of the bureau of business research of the University of Texas.

A simiar survey, it was revealed, is planned in numerous cities of Texas in an effort to obtain a statewide cross-section of what the "typical" family purchases.

Dr. Buechel addressed the freshman class in business economics at Texas Technological college before his departure for Austin. Dr. J. O. Elsworth is head of the department.

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

A MAN should never be ashamed to admit he is wrong, which is just a way of saying that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner: In reading your column I noticed you mentioned a welfare library club of Lubbock. Could you tell me how such a club is organized?

I always enjoy your Angle and will appreciate it very much if you will get me this information.

Thanks, Mrs. W. M. Schroeder.
Wellman, Tex.

Dear Mrs. Schroeder: The welfare library to which we referred was an organization in existence here years and years ago before we had our county library, the loan libraries and the fine library at Texas Technological college. We do not know anything about it since it was before our day.

However, we suggest you write to Mrs. Joseph Perkins at Eastland, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, and ask her if any aid could come from that source.

We know of several small libraries that were established through book clubs, the dues being a book instead of cash. The books were placed in a home where there was room for people to come and browse around the volumes and check them out. Several Methodist ministers in this district once established a library, passing the books on to each other from time to time during the year. We don't know who kept the books.

Hope this has answered your question. Thanks for your letter.

ONE of the compensations of being poor is that you get such a thrill out of finding a dime in an old skirt pocket.

WANT COMPANION

OUR efforts to find positions for women has encouraged a reader to seek our help in finding some one who would serve as companion during the day, know how to drive a car and be free from duties at home so she could stay late if the occasion arose. The person would not spend the night. Someone between 20 and 35 years of age is preferred, although an older woman will be accepted.

If you are interested in the position, telephone number 3411-J.

THE STATE APART

WHEN Doctor William Lyon phelps was down in Dallas the other day he pointed out that Texas is the only state bestowing its name upon its sons who go elsewhere.

"You don't call Carolina students 'Carrie' nor Tennessee boys 'Ten'," he told a group of men at a luncheon. "I guess it's because Texas is the biggest state and about the most interesting to most people."

You think about that for a minute. We believe Doctor Billy has something there. And, yet, calling a native "Texas" seems to be reserved for the occasions when he is unfortunate enough to have to reside outside of the state for a time. We know of no "Texas" persons living in our own borders.

NO one has written more beautifully of a new year than Longfellow. Especially that bit that goes:

"Janus am I: oldest of potentates;
Forward I look and backward, and below
I count, as god of avenues and gates,
The years that through my portals come, and
I block the roads, and drift the fields with snow;
I chase the wild fowl from the frozen fen;
My frosts congeal the rivers in their flow,
My fires light up the hearths and hearts of men."

List Of Pensioners Drops In January

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (AP)— Although the number of pensioners dropped slightly from last month, January payments to Texas' needy aged increased 16 cents to an average of $8.91, Public Welfare Director Adam R. Johnson announced today.

Johnson said 121,006 checks, a decrease of 335 from December and totaling $1,078,553, including federal matching money, would be mailed this week.

Since the September cut of $6 per pension, the average payment has risen fractionally.

The public welfare board is repaying old loans from a Dallas bank at the rate of $200,000 a month as authorized by the Legislature. The payments were responsible for the general slash.

Johnson said final approval by the federal social security board of the new public welfare board's operating plan still is pending.

Judgment Found For El Paso

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—The third court of civil appeals here today reversed a Travis county district court and rendered judgment in favor of the city of El Paso in its controversy with the state over tax on gasoline used for municipal purposes.

The state had sued El Paso for four-cents-a-gallon tax on 70,579 gallons of gasoline imported from New Mexico and used by the city in police cars, fire trucks and other motor vehicles operated exclusively within the city, and used exclusively for municipal purposes.

The statute taxing imported gasoline defines it as an excise tax or occupation tax. The appellate court here held that an occupation tax cannot be levied on a municipality. Presiding Justice M. B. Blair said that it was doubtful if the framers of the state constitution ever intended to establish a policy that the state could impose any taxes on municipal corporations but that it was unnecessary to go that far in deciding the present case. He said: "It must be held that since the tax statute did not in the clearest word include municipal corporations, or impose tax on them, the legislature did not intend to impose the tax on them."

Finland's Delegation Thanks League Of Nations For Her "Practical Aid

Body Is 20 Years Old

GENEVA, Jan. 10 (AP)—The League of Nations, 20 years old today, has won the thanks of Finland which he said "no dead league could give."

"We know it still lives," said the white-haired representative in a statement.

The anniversary of the "family of nations" found fully half the staff of permanent experts engaged in facilitating financial and material aid for the invaded country from nations both in and out of the league.

All but 10 of the 62 nations which have been members still are on the rolls.

Staff Reduced

Founded with high hopes of keeping peace in Europe, the league's budget and staff has been reduced by a series of wars in the last decade.

Only last month, members revived the league's punitive powers by ousting Soviet Russia and rallying world-wide aid for beleaguered Finland.

After praising the United States for "aid which comes to us from outside the league," Holsti declared:

"The next 20 years will be the years when the league comes of age. This last score were the years of bitter experience and growing pains which many thought wrongly were death agonies. We in Finland have practical aid today which no dead league could give. We know it lives."

British Strike

meager, saying merely that bombs had been dropped "near" Sylt during patrol and reconnaissance flights. British "security patrols" of the air are intensifying their flights over the North sea and Frisian islands, it was stated, to keep German bombers and mine-layers at home.

Neutrality Is Infringed

It was indicated from Danish advices, however, that both sides had infringed that country's neutrality in today's battles. One plane, presumably British, dropped three bombs on the Danish island of Roem, near Sylt, doing little damage. The German Messerschmitt fighter which landed near Ballum, Denmark, was reported to have bullet holes in its gasoline tanks. The pilot was interned and the plane confiscated.

An official British statement promised full restitution if it was discovered, on investigation, that the plane which dropped bombs on Danish soil was British.

"Blenheim" bombers, reported used by the R.A.F. in today's raids, are two-motored planes with a top speed, at 20,000 feet, of 277 miles per hour.

The German aerial invasion of British coastal waters was extended, meanwhile, to the southeast Scottish coast.

Steamer Is Attacked

Watchers there said they saw two nazi bombers attack an unidentified steamer with bombs and machine-gun fire.

The steamer zigzagged until British fighters appeared and chased off the attackers.

The toll of Tuesday's mass attacks by German warplanes on British and neutral shipping was increased with the announcement that a second British steamer, the 1,985-ton Oakgrove, had gone down after an assault from the air. The Gowrie, a 689-ton coastal boat, also was sunk yesterday. The Oakgrove's casualties were not determined.

It also was disclosed that the 1,000-ton British ship Upminister was bombed, but not sunk. Three of her crew were killed. Survivors said they were machine-gunned in the lifeboats.

(Germans claimed eight British ships were sunk in Tuesday's raids off the east English coast, in which at least twelve ships were attacked from the air).

British fishing boat operators, who had five vessels raked by nazi machine-gun fire yesterday, discussed defensive arming of fishing trawlers with admiralty and ministry of fishing representatives at Hull today.

State Gas Tax

state levies as the note tax.

State Vs. El Paso

The test case was that of the state against the city of El Paso. The state was endeavoring to collect the four-cent levy on 70,579 gallons of gasoline imported from New Mexico and used by the city of El Paso in police cars, fire trucks and other motor vehicles.

"Municipalities are not included within general tax statutes," Judge Blair said, "unless the legislative intent to that effect is expressed in 'clearest words'."

The jurist quoted "Cooley on taxation" as follows:

"Some things are always presumptively exempted from the operation of general tax laws, because it is reasonable to suppose they were not within the intent of the legislature in adopting them. Such is the case with property belonging to the state and its municipalities, and which is held by them for public purposes. All such property is taxable, if the state shall see fit to tax it; but to levy a tax upon it would render necessary new taxes to meet demand of this tax, and thus the public would be taxing itself in order to raise money to pay over to itself, and no one would be benefited but the officers employed, whose compensation would go to increase the useless levy."

Half of the revenue from the state gasoline tax goes to state highway construction and maintenance, one-fourth to the public schools and one-fourth to the board of county and district road indebtedness.

Hitler Can't Be Pleased With Activity In Balkans

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

There can be little balm for Herr Hitler in the latest Balkan developments—the reported Italo-Hungarian defensive alliance, and the heavy trade-offensive by the Anglo-French Allies to cut Germany off from the vast resources of the Peninsula and thus complement the naval blockade.

These events presumably aren't related by design, but they both have the same tendency. That is to reduce nazi as well as Russian, influence in this Garden of Eden.

Hearts Gladdened

Whatever way you look at it, the further intrusion of Mussolini in what his axis partner has been regarding as his private preserves, is a thing to gladden Allied heart. At the least it provides an additional barrier against Russian or German expansion into the Balkans.

But the alliance may mean more than that—it may be one of the biggest guns of the war, if all reports prove to be true. It is said unofficially that the pact is directed not only against any possible Russian invasion, but is calculated to compel Herr Hitler to choose between his friendship with the soviet and his affiliations with Italy and Hungary. In other words, the alliance might be turned against Germany in event of aggression.

Would Be Good

While Hitler undoubtedly would be glad to see Russia blocked from Balkans adventures, it must irk him to find himself ham hampered by the same instrument which is directed against the communists. Amongst other things this situation provides an illuminating commentary on reports that the Berlin-Rome axis isn't spinning so fast as it used to.

Along with negotiations for the alliance Signor Mussolini is understood to have advised Hungary strongly to postpone her hitherto insistent claim for a return of her formerly transylvanian territory by Rumania. This highly inflammable quarrel has kept the Balkans on edge for years, and tension has increased lately.

Sphere Of Influence

Apparently the fascist chieftain's advice has had effect, for a dispatch from Budapest this morning states that Hungary is seeking a settlement of the differences with her neighbor so to help create a common front in the Balkans.

These operations sum up to this: Mussolini is making the Balkans his sphere of influence. It is a bold move, for he not only is challenging Russian ambitions to dominate southeastern Europe, but is invading his axis partner's bailiwick.

Fitting in perfectly with the rest of the picture is the fact that there appears to be no clash whatever between Mussolini and the Anglo-French Allies, despite their vital interests in the Balkans.

Germans Warned

duce income in the same measure as it is considered necessary to reduce purchasing power. It was made clear that force would be used if discipline failed.

Referring to nazi expenditures for armaments and other purposes to increase German world prestige, the paper said: "Reduction of purchasing power is the entrance price each individual is paying for Germany's entrance into the world constellation of powers."

The rush to buy anything not rationed is attributed partly to a psychological reaction, to shortage fears and to fears of inflation caused by issuance of additional paper bills and small coins in aluminum.

One woman worker who spent her savings for unnecessary articles said "the appearance of the aluminum coins was a signal for me."

Authorities are considering abolishing the bread ration cards. Instead of consumption declining under rationing it actually has increased, for many people who before the war did not eat bread began to eat it as soon as cards were needed to buy it.

GOP Committee Meets Feb. 16

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — Debt-free and hopeful that the 1938 congressional election trend will lead to bigger things this year, the Republican national committee was summoned today to meet in Washington Feb. 16 to fix the place and date of its presidential nominating convention.

Chairman John D. M. Hamilton called the meeting. The Democratic national committee will meet here for the same purpose on Feb. 5. If it is possible to do so, the Republicans hope this year to hold their nominating convention after the majority party has decided the political question of a generation:

Will He Run

"Will President Roosevelt be a third term candidate?"

Republican national committee rules require four months' notice of the convention date so the earliest possible G.O.P. meeting would be June 17. Mr. Roosevelt brought the jockeying for convention dates into the open last November with a suggestion that it would be more economical and to the best interests of the country for presidential campaigns to be shortened. He suggested delaying convention dates considerably beyond the June weeks which usually are devoted to them.

Gains Are Shown

Republicans indignantly repudiated the idea that a Democratic president was entitled to say when the G.O.P. should nominate. But their indignation was mixed liberally with chagrin that the Democrats were thinking of a later date, too. It long has been the custom for Republicans to meet first, their almost uninterrupted majority position in the country making it of relatively little significance when the Democrats gathered and often, whom they chose to head their ticket.

But in five successive elections beginning in 1930 the G.O.P. has been rebuffed at the polls. The fifth of these elections, in 1938, materially increased Republican congressional strength and the number of Republican governors, but still not sufficiently to overcome losses piled up since the party slipped in the election which took place in former President Hoover's mid-term.

Miners Are Trapped

more than two miles underground.

Cause of the blast was not determined immediately.

Salvati fixed the time of the explosion at 2:20 p. m. but said it was more than an hour before it was determined what had occurred. He said it was first believed the accident was a slate fall.

Didn't Hear Blast

The blast-torn area is on the western side of the mine. Officials said the 47 men who came out were in the eastern section and did not know there had been an explosion when they reached the bottom of the shaft about 4 p. m.

Roy Ashworth, a motorman, was almost at the foot of the shaft at the time of the blast. He said he did not hear it because of the noise but that "a big cloud of dust rolled out over me."

A crowd of between 1,000 and 2,000 persons stood outside a roped area 300 feet from the mine, warming themselves at bonfires while they settled down to wait for word from the bottom of the shaft.

Enclosure Roped Off

Another enclosure was roped off about 75 feet from the tipple and into this area gathered more than a hundred wives and relatives of the men caught below.

Hastily strung lights brightened the area Bartley No. 1, the glow reaching to hundreds of cars parked on the highway across Dry Fork.

E. J. Stalling, general manager, joined Salvati in vigil at the telephone while Superintendent W. M. Haslam joined the crews digging in the mine.

Officials said the men known dead apparently had disobeyed orders and were walking out of the mine. The rule is that workers must wait and come out on the regularly scheduled "man trips," hauled by mine motors.

Bartley's only telephone is connected with the mine company's office and it was two hours before news reached Welch, closest city, that "something had happened" at the mine.

Texas State Capitol Will Crumble---In 2,000 Years

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (U.P.)—The Texas state Capitol, seventh largest building in the world when it was constructed in the 1880's, is disintegrating, Geralf M. Stafford, instructor in geology at the University of Texas, said today.

There is no need to worry now about financing a new building, he explained, for the collapse will likely not take place for 2,000 or 3,000 years.

Stafford said the feldspar in the red granite of which the Capitol is built will react with water and air to become clay. When this happens the building will collapse.

Thousands of Russians were reported killed and more than 1,000 captured.

British Declare They Need Minimum Of 10,000 Planes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (U.P.) — British purchasing officials here have informed aviation circles that they will need a minimum of 10,000 more American planes during the next 18 months to assure air supremacy over Germany, it was learned today.

The British estimates were based on a survey of probable production schedules in Great Britain and France in the light of what Germany may be expected to add to its already strong air force.

British and French combined production was estimated in authoritative quarters at about 1,500 planes a month. They have orders in American plants for about 5,000 planes.

The American aircraft industry is now geared to produce between 1,700 and 1,800 planes per month.

HOW TO REMEMBER...

In One Easy Lesson!

The ambition of most individuals to remember well can be realized by practicing one simple rule . . .

A well known principle of the psychology of memory is to associate the fact you wish to remember with something you already know. Take the following as an example:

You wish to remember that the Pilgrims landed in America in the year 1620 . . . now associate this fact with THE BAKER COMPANY telephone number which also is 1620. . . . Presto, the trick is done . . . it's easy to remember . . . telephone 1620.

El Paso Crime School Accused

EL PASO, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—Boys who are taught to steal before they are out of grammar school and an increase in the use of marihuana by petty thieves were blamed today for the steadily rising number of thefts from automobiles in El Paso.

Police Captain W. C. Wolverton said that a large percentage of the small-time thievery of packages and other articles from parked cars was being done "by youngsters who should be in bed by 8 o'clock."

"Modern Fagins" teach the boys to steal, Wolverton said, and then sell the stolen goods, giving the children part of the proceeds. Wolverton said that a dozen youths had been arrested during the past week, suspected of being members of a large theft ring.

"The police department must also block the marihuana traffic in order to stop thefts from autos," he said. "It has created a vicious circle. The thieves need marihuana, so they can steal and sell their loot for what they can get—to buy more of the weed. Then when they are under the influence of it again, they have the courage to steal some more."

Hale Center Lad Would Like To Forget All About It; He's At The Tender Age Of 11

At the tender age of 11 a Hale Center boy would like to "forget it."

Furthermore he doesn't seek correspondence with Emmett Galloway, Lubbock boys counsellor.

Galloway chastened the boy orally for a recent offense and ordered him to write the counsellor periodically, a practice deemed most efficient in handling out of town juveniles.

He wrote:

"Please don't answer this. If we continue to correspond, it (the offense) will be kept fresh on my mind and I want to forget it."

Violations Have Declined

Juvenile delinquency definitely has declined during the past two months, records show. Since Galloway came here Aug. 1 from Amarillo 119 boys and girls have been placed on probation. Another 19 have been sent to reform schools.

Completion of a boys club building is looked forward to as another step toward minimizing juvenile delinquency. Marion Sanford, chairman of a committee backing construction of the building, said the structure would be started soon.

The club will foster recreation, assist in classwork, provide musical instruction and aid boys in scores of other ways.

Lower Cotton Rates Needed

DALLAS, Jan. 10 (AP) — Freight rates on cotton moving from Texas and Oklahoma to the Gulf ports must be lowered if farmers in those states want an even break with other sections, L. D. Estes today told the Texas-Louisiana tariff bureau.

Estes, general traffic manager for the American Cotton Cooperative association, spoke also as representative of the Texas and Oklahoma Cotton Growers associations.

He said railrods should note that almost 650,000 bales, or about 42 per cent of the Texas-Oklahoma movement to Houston, reached that port by motor freight truck this season. Under present rates, he added, freight costs on cotton are higher from a great section of Texas to Texas ports than from points in other states to these same ports.

About 100 shippers, growers and railroad representatives were present.

Jess Neely Accepts Rice Coaching Position

Former Clemson Mentor To Get 5-Year Terms

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Jan. 10. — Jess Neely ended Rice's hunt for a head football coach today by accepting the Institute's offer of a five-year contract at salary terms which were not disclosed.

The Clemson coach spent two days in conference here with Rice authorities, then went home last night for consultations with his family, friends and Clemson officials. Today he notified the Southwest conference school he would accept.

Details Not Revealed

J. T. McCants, chairman of Rice's committee on outdoor sports, would give no features of the pact with Neely, but the coach revealed in a telephone conversation from his South Carolina home that he was given a five year contract and power to name his assistants.

He would not release the salary figures, but the most reasonable guess appeared to be $7,500 annually.

No Contract Signed

Rice officials said no contract had been signed yet and "some details have to be worked out,' but Neely resigned his Clemson post and was ready to report here about February 1.

"I am very happy," Neely said, "and I'm certain everything will work out satisfactorily."

"We are delighted he 'is going," said McCants. "Mr. Neely, is a fine man and we feel he will make us a good coach."

The 42-year old mentor has had fine success the past two years with his gridiron endeavors. The 1939 team shared the Southern conference title with Duke and defeated Boston College 6-3 in the Cotton Bowl.

Neely succeeds Jimmy Kitts, who won Rice's only two Southwest con-

Huge Bowling Tourney Will Get Under Way Here In February

A tournament to equal any staged in this section is planned for Lubbock Bowling club alleys during three week-ends of late February and early March.

The first annual South Plains Open tourney is expected to attract keglers from three states. It opens Saturday, Feb. 24, and continues Saturdays and Sundays through March 10.

Matches will be divided into A, B and C classes and will be sanctioned by the American Bowling congress. Money prizes and medals will be awarded winners in each class.

Several Lubbock teams and those from the entire West Texas area, eastern New Mexico and southwestern Oklahoma will form the entry list, said Jake Hancock, manager.

Picadors Win Fifth Straight, 28 To 22

Texas Tech's fast-stepping Picador cagers hung up their fifth consecutive victory of the current campaign by downing the Beech Nut Gum Co. quintet of Lubbock, 28 to 22, on the Tech court Wednesday night.

The crack freshman five captured No. 4 Tuesday night, eking out a 26-24 verdict from Camp Marion. The greenies managed to stave off a belated Camp Marion rally to grab the decision. Bob Andis, stellar Picador forward, and Center Bill McCulloch paced the frosh in the two-night stand with 47 and 12 points, respectively.

Coaches Dudley Akins and Bill Amo will send their charges to the post again Friday and Saturday nights in preliminary combats prior to the Tech-ACC tussles. On Friday night the Picadors encounter Shallowater High school and will meet an un-named opponent Saturday night. Both games will start at 6:45 o'clock.

Rich Oakland Tourney Starts This Morning

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 10 (AP) — Barring floods or water higher than a man's neck, the $5000 Oakland 72-hole medal play open golf tournament will get underway tomorrow morning, officials announced today.

Almost steady rain soaked fairways of the Sequoyah club course and small lakes appeared on low level greens.

With few exceptions the celebrities of the professional golfing world were on hand for the second tournament of the annual winter swing.

Lawson Little, stretch drive winner of the Los Angeles event, was on hand. So was Dick Metz, the Oak Park, Ill., stylist, who won both the Oakland and San Francisco Opens last year.

Red Raider Cagers Bearing Down For ACC Series

NEW RICE MENTOR—It's no coincidence, loyal Rice Institute Owls boosters argue, that the pigskin wise expert, above, has accepted the widely publicized position at Houston. He is Jess Neely, former coach of Clemson, the Country Gentlemen who thrashed Boston College's Eagles New Year's day in Dallas' Cotton Bowl thriller, 6 to 3. Neely announced his resignation from the South Carolina institution and acceptance of the Rice offer late Wednesday.

Baer-Tony Bout Is Sanctioned

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—The New York State athletic commission gave its blessing and a slap in the face to a Tony Galento-Max Baer charity bout in ten minutes of merry-go-round action today.

First they said they would approve a March 4 Galento-Baer battle here for the joint benefit of the fight infantile paralysis and Finnish relief funds.

Then the fistic fathers turned right around and flatly refused to reinstate Joe Jacobs, Galento's manager, whose license was revoked last fall. Galento, at present, also is without a license to box in this state, but the commissioners said they would grant him a permit to tangle with California Max.

The commission said it would take no action on Joe Jacobs' case at "the present time." To queries as to just when Joe might expect reinstatement, the commissioners pointed out that "there may be a new commission a few years from now."

Jacobs repeated previous statements that Galento would refuse to fight in New York unless Joe was in his corner, and pointed out that since he had been punished with revocation of his license since last fall, he felt the commission could "bury the hatchet" now.

Thus the bout, as far as New York was concerned, was "out," at least temporarily. Promoter Mike Jacobs was optimistic that some way might be worked out to keep it here. There was some talk, however, of holding it in another city, possibly Philadelphia, Miami, Atlantic City or Newark, N. J.

WEARS NEW COLORS

NEW YORK.—Luigi Beccali, who won the Olympic 1500-meters championship for Italy in 1932, will represent the New York Athletic Club this winter.

Conn Wins Debut In Heavy Ranks With Decision

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. — Light-heavy king Billy Conn dazzled the fistic faithful in general and Henry Cooper in particular with his left hand tonight as he made his heavyweight debut in Madison Square Garden with an easy 12 round victory over the young Brooklyn belter. Con weighed 173 1-2; Cooper 190.

For the first five rounds, Billy, who is confident tonight's victory started him on the trail to a fight with Joe Louis and the heavyweight championship, fired hundreds of lefts and all but a very small percentage of them bounced off various parts of the Brooklyn hopeful's anatomy.

Decision In Unanimous

In the late going, Pittsburgh's "fighting harp" tried out his right cross with similar succes, but by this time these amounted only to experiments, for Billy was far ahead and only a knockout could have whipped him.

The decision was unanimous on the part of Referee Arthur Donovan and Judges George Lecron and Bill Healey. The Associated Press score card gave nine rounds to Conn and three to Cooper.

Confident after tonight's success—his only previous heavyweight start resulted in a technical knockout over Gus Dorazio several months ago—Billy plans to do most of his future campaigning among the heavyweights. He probably will make one more defense of his light heavyweight title, against the winner of the February 2 return bout between Fred Apostoli and Mello Bettina.

Eighteen-Year Ruling To Stand Regardless Of Any Referendums

(By The Associated Press)

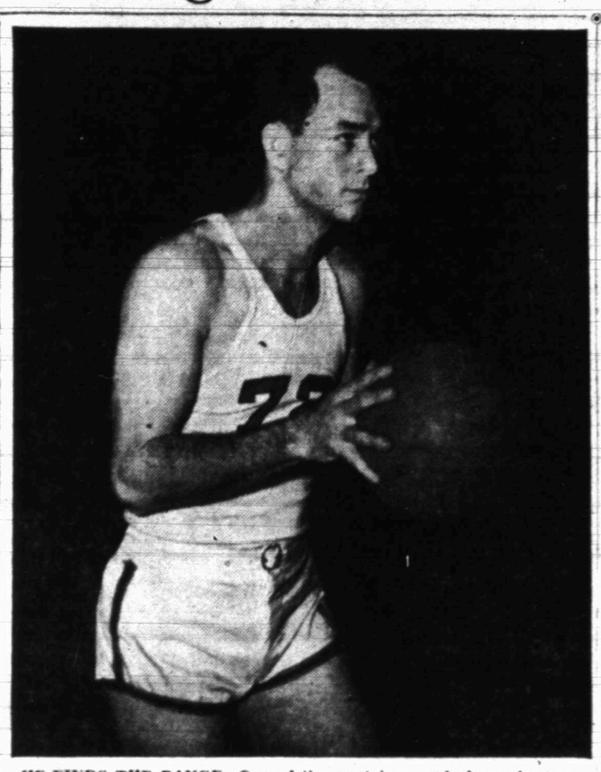

AUSTIN, Jan. 10—The 18-year age rule will be invoked in Texas Interscholastic league football next season regardless of the referendum of the Texas High school football coaches association.

There was no official announcement to this effect but it was learned from an authoritative source today that the rule would be used in 1940 because it had been announced for two years and boys have been making preparation to stay in school another year.

When the new rule goes into effect, replacing the 19-year limit, the eight-semester rule will be abolished, thus making eligible a number of boys who otherwise would not be able to compete another year.

The coaches association has conducted a referendum among coaches and principals and found that there is overwhelming sentiment against the rule.

It was learned that a referendum ballot could not be initiated before the state meet in May if such should be done this year.

HE FINDS THE RANGE—One of the most improved sharp-shooters on the Tech quintet is Robert Percival, above, snappy forward. After an early season lag, he snapped out of it and is now hitting the net with monotonous regularity.

Golden Gloves Arena Is Arranged To Accommodate 1500 Spectators

Seating arrangements for about 1,300 fans and "standing room" for 200 more will be possible in the Merchants Building at the Fair grounds February 5 and 6 when the fourth annual Lubbock District Golden Gloves show takes the center stage.

These figures were arrived at yesterday when Sled Allen, co-promoter of the amateur fights with the Avalanche-Journal, took his yard-stick out to the building and did a job of measuring.

And if anybody is qualified to measure and lay out a fight arena, calculate correctly the number of chairs and bleachers that will fit in a given space, that person is Allen, who for six years operated wrestling shows at the Auditorium here.

It was a very simple matter for Allen to measure off the space required for the ring, and for ringside and bleacher seats. The building is long, but somewhat narrow, and to fit this condition Allen figured on four rows of ringside chairs on either side of the building, and 14 rows of ringside chairs north and south, with three sections of bleachers at each end. Every seat in the house will be a good one, and late comers who have to stand—provided the customers fill all the seats—will have a clear view of the ring. The four-feet elevation of the boxing platform will make the fighting scene visible to everybody in the house, without benefit of neck-stretching.

Tickets for the ringside chairs will be placed on sale Saturday, and it is a case of first come, first served. Patrons may be assured they will receive their money's worth in boxing entertainment, what with about 20 to 25 fights per night. The number of entries, of course, will determine the length of the program, and judging from the interest demonstrated by fighters, the tournament may run a three-night course instead of the advertised two-night show. In order to guard against the possibility of a boxer appearing more than twice in one night, it may be necessary to stage the district finals on Wednesday night, Feb. 7.

Ticket prices will be 75 cents, general admission, $1.10, ringside, both prices including the ten percent federal tax.

Ticket Sales Booths

The tickets will be on sale at the Hilton Hotel cigar stand, at Hotel Lubbock Drug and at Mark Halsey Drug No. 2, on College Avenue.

In the meantime, all boxers eligible and willing to compete in the District tournament are urged to send in their entries as quickly as possible, and to exert themselves in pre-tournament workouts and exercises. Send the entries to: Golden Gloves Editor, Avalanche-Journal, Lubbock, Texas.

A number of boys are working out at the Texas Tech gymnasium each afternoon after 5 o'clock. Some are working with Heavyweight Champion Fats Mitchell at 2408 16th street, and some at an improvised gymnasium under direction of Ed Bates at 614 30th Street. All boxers who have no place to drill are invited to work out at any of these three places.

WATCH THIS LIST GROW!

Individual entries for the Lubbock District tournament to date are as follows:

James Stotts, welterweight, Slaton.
Curtis Lebow, flyweight, Abernathy.
Bennie Bates, flyweight, Lubbock.
Howell B. Steen, welterweight, Lubbock.
George Youngblood, lightweight, Lubbock.
Waylon Cleckler, light heavyweight, Lubbock.

D. A. Thompson, lightweight, Brownfield, Texas Tech.
James Leonard Randolph, bantamweight, Lubbock.
Jack Romine, middleweight, Lubbock.
Lee Bickerstaff, featherweight, Lubbock.
Junior McLaurin, lightweight, O'Donnell.

In addition, complete teams of eight, or more, will be here from Littlefield CCC camp, Slaton and Tahoka.

Klondike High School Boys Cage Tournament Will Start Tonight

KLONDIKE, Jan. 10. (Special)—Beginning Thursday night and continuing both Friday and Saturday, Klondike High school will play host to boys basketball teams over the area with its annual touranment.

The tournament will be shifted into the afternoon sesison Friday, head into the second round Friday night and continue with the semi-finals and finals Saturday and Saturday night.

Championship contests for both consolation and other winners will be reeled off at 8 and 9 o'clock, respectively, Saturday night.

Eighteen teams from Dawson and surrounding counties will participate. Among those which have indicated they would seek honors are Garden City, Coahoma, Garner, Union, Ackerly, Union of Brownfield, and Lamesa "B".

MAY EXPAND ROSE BOWL

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 10 (AP) — City directors are considering enlarging the Rose Bowl, scene of the annual New Years' football game, from 83,570 seats to 100,000.

Director George L. Shuler told the board hundreds of visitors here during the holiday season were disappointed by inability to attend the game.

Wildcats Finish Series Tonight With Teachers

A light practice scrimmage tonight is expected to leave the Texas Tech basketeers on razor edge for their Friday and Saturday night games here against the Abilene Christian college Wildcats.

Coach Berl Huffman has worked the Red Raiders rather strenuously this week in preparation for a stubborn series against the Abilene sharp-shooters, members of the Texas conference, and the Crimsons' mentor believes his cohorts are set up to avoid any upsets which the Wildcats are capable of springing.

Conclude Series Tonight

Scouting rival grid aggregations is commonplace nowadays, but when the art invades the hardwood game then it can be marked down for the records that the rivals are taking the opposition seriously. Regardless, Coach Huffman plans to join the rapidly growing list of mentors who think that scouting in the cage game is just as important as during the hectic grid campaigns and take a peek at the Wildcats in Canyon.

The Abilene aggregation played the "world's tallest basketball team" in the West Texas State Teachers college gym last night and will conclude the series tonight.

They Can Take It

So, anything that the Scarlet and Black thinly clads toss toward the Wildcats isn't likely to be surprising because the Canyon skyscrapers know a little about handling the oval and putting the iron ring around it themselves.

"After watching the Wildcats in action tonight at Canyon, I may have to make a last-minute shift in my defense," Huffman said, "but I believe we are set for the Abilene loopers. I understand that Coach "Bugs" Morris of the fast Abilene outfit has a starting lineup of five lettermen and plenty of redoubtable reserves. I believe we will bump into a pair of the hardest games we have faced this season, barring the University of Texas series."

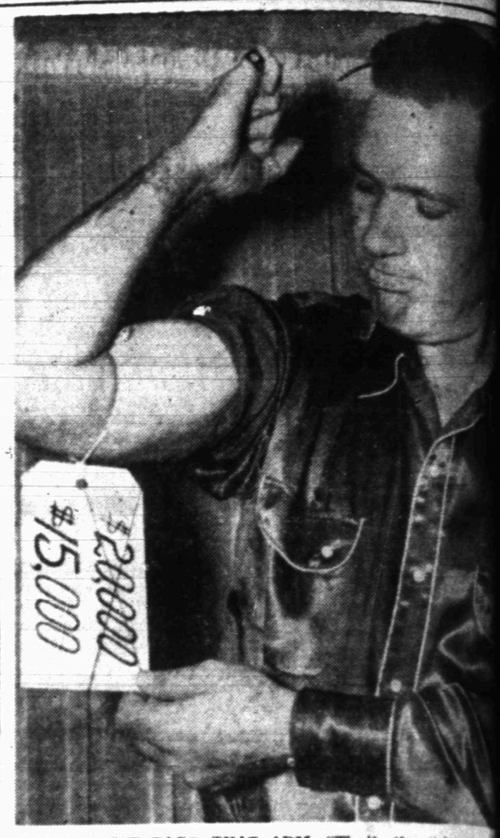

The Raiders will be seeking their twelfth and thirteenth victories of the season in the Abilene series. So far they have won 11 of their 16 games and are listed currently as one of the crack quintets of the country.

Local fans will be interested in the individual scoring match this weekend between Marshall Brown and Bauman Roper the two sterling Tech stars. They are tied for high scoring honors, each with 142 points.

Buffaloes Stifle Rally To Drop 'Cats, 56-35

CANYON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Flashing a tight defense and a potent offense, the West Texas State Teachers Buffaloes whipped the Abilene Christian college Wildcats 56 to 35 here tonight in the first of a two-game series.

Coach Al Baggett's tall lads dominated the battle from start to finish in spite of a late scoring splurge that netted Center Johnson of the Wildcats 13 points for individual scoring honors.

DIZZY PRICE TAGS THAT ARM—"That's the ticket boys." Dizzy Dean, who had been offered $10,000 for the use of his pitching arm by the Chicago Cubs. Dean, at his Dallas home, admits his arm was not up to expectations last year and expected a salary cut of not 50 per cent. Last year he drew $20,000 and is willing to pitch for $15,000 this season. Wednesday, in Dallas, he had a tonsil tractected, which he believed had been retarding recovery of his pitching machinery.

Here It Is! Gashouse Gang Boo... For Pennant Over Cincinnati Re...

(By The Associated Press)

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 10—The St. Louis Cardinals are early season favorites down here to dethrone the Cincinnati Reds in the 1940 National league pennant race.

Don Padgett, who might be a little prejudiced since he's first string catcher for the Gashouse gang, said so today.

"I don't see how we can miss," said the receiver whose 1939 batting average of .399 in 92 games in almost as large as his 218-pound, six-foot, two-inch frame.

"Our outfield is set. Ducky Medwick should go great again—and by the way, the fans in St. Louis would never let Medwick be traded, unless something as good as Medwick is received in return. That won't happen.

"As for the rest of the team, a couple of good pitchers and a keystone man for our infield and we'll be ready to go to town. Remember that it was only the bad fi... that ruined us last se... Reds got off to a 12-game ... 12 games is 12 games in ... league.

Thet Feudin' Is A Startin' Agin In Them Thar Hills

MATEWAN, W. Va., Jan. 10 (AP)—The Hatfields and McCoys have decided to make their (basketball) feud an annual affair with the second encounter between descendants of the two famous mountain clans scheduled Friday night.

The McCoys, holding a decided edge in height, won last year's first engagement, 37-35.

Considerable attention was attracted by the novelty of friendly competition between families which were mortal enemies during the years of the famous Hatfield—McCoy feud in southern West Virginia and nearby Kentucky.

Captain Sam McCoy, six feet two and the shortest member of the McCoy quintet, and Captain Glen of the Hatfields were guests on a national radio program.

Attesting to an apparent change of sentiment with the passing of time, only four personal fouls were called against members of the two quints in the 1939 encounter.

More Federal Encroachment

NO ONE can condone lynchings. They are murderous manifestations of mass cowardice momentarily gone insane. Those who participate in them are guilty under the laws of every state in the Union of the high crime of murder.

The fact that prosecutions have been too few and convictions too few on such charges is aside from the point of this discussion, the purpose of which is to question the necessity and advisability of federal anti-lynching legislation such as that now being considered in Congress.

The fact that prosecutions have been too few in lynching cases under state charges is pertinent only to this degree: What reason is there to expect that either prosecutions or convictions would be substantially more numerous in federal courts than is now the case?

True, the working procedure in federal court generally is considered more favorable to the prosecution than is that of state courts. But in such cases, it still would be true that they would be tried in or near the place of the crime, and the juries to try the case would come from among the same people as would happen if it should be tried in state court. The witnesses would be the same. And juries and witnesses function pretty much alike, regardless of the court in which they serve.

The primary objection to declaring lynching a federal offense is that it would give the federal branch the authority to intrude still further than is now the case into matters of local concern. The original function of federal courts and law enforcement authorities was to deal with those problems of crime which were inter-state in scope, which occurred on federal property, or which dealt with misuse of the United States mail. It was made very properly to apply to kidnaping, in which the criminals might be aided in their escape or at their trials by the fact that state officers had to stop in their pursuit or in their investigation at their state boundaries.

But very, very few lynchings ever have occured which have been "interstate." They are occurrences which are confined to their own locality. True, they are murder in its most cowardly form. But there is no more reason why the federal government should take out of the hands of local and state authorities the investigation and prosecution of this particular type of murder than there is for any other crime.

If we are prepared for a complete surrender of all state rights, including prosecutions, to the federal government, then let's go ahead and make full surrender. But is states are to retain their function as a governmental entity, then let's keep the local function of federal agencies within bounds.

Something Wrong, Somewhere

AMERICA is entirely too distant from the scene to attempt judgment as to what the effects may be in England of the dismissal of Leslie Hore-Belisha as war minister in the imperial British cabinet. We are distant geographically from the scene. Of more significance, we are even more remote in ability to grasp European psychology in such matters.

But there has been the suspicion for at least a century—a suspicion given color by the accusations of Englishmen—that virtually the only essential to a place of important position in the armed forces has been birth. If a son happened to be born to one of the nobility, an army career was virtually assured. If a male child not born at the right address sought a career in the army, it was virtually impossible for him to rise to place among the ranks of commissioned officers. And when he did achieve this all but impossible feat, he was subject to a social ostracism by his fellow officers which tended to wreck his morale or destroy his efficiency.

Hore-Belisha was credited with having come closer to bringing about a change in this situation than any other man in the history of his country. He was credited with having made progress toward restoring recognition of the fundamental that national interests would be best served by placing the best fitted in the highest command, regardless what their family antecedents might be.

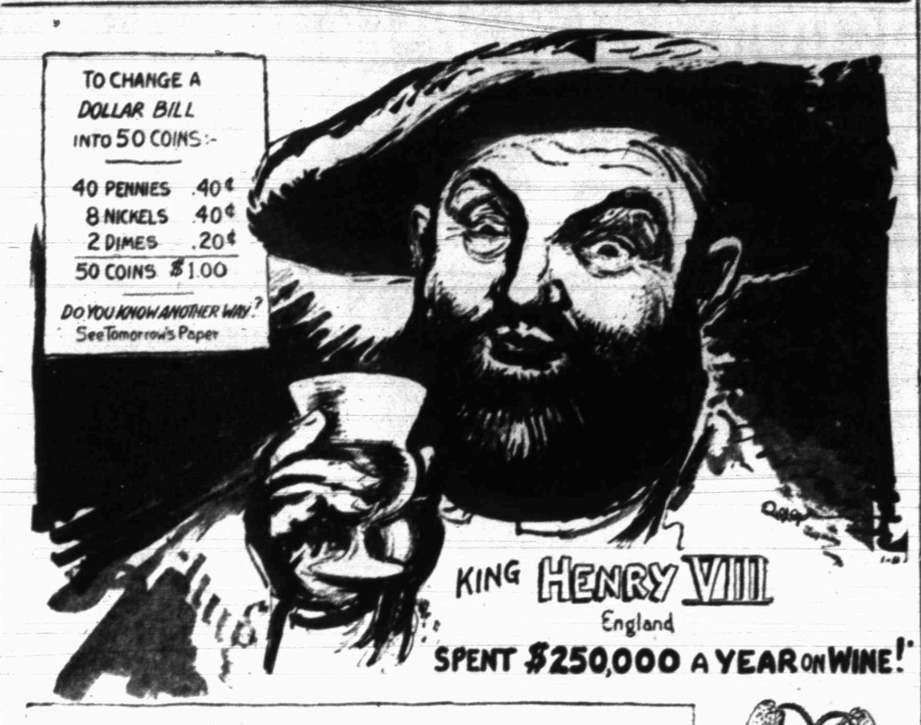

If this change in the British cabinet means a reversal of that policy—if it means that family instead of efficiency will be the determining factor in choosing military commanders, then England has lost more than would be possible on the battlefield.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MARY CARROLL—American fashion expert, in London during wartime.

VINCENT GREGG—soldier of fortune, in love with Mary.

CARLA MARCHETTA a mysterious London socialite.

DR. GILBERT LENOX—surgeon, serving with British army.

YESTERDAY: Mary has little luck in finding a job. Discouraged, but not yet ready to give up, she is surprised when Lenox calls on her. He is leaving for the front. She regrets the loss of her only friend. Then Lennox asks her an amazing question—"Will you marry me?"

CHAPTER XIII

Mary fell back in her chair as she realized the full import of Dr. Lenox's strange offer. He could not be serious. But he was. His eyes, steady upon her, told her his proposal, however strange, was entirely sincere.

"Anna, I'm not expecting this to be a marriage of love. I know you're in love with someone else. I can understand why you've not gone to him only too well.

"What I am suggesting for us is arrangement of friendship only. You are alone, and I am sure if you haven't found a job by now, your money is pretty low. I feel personally responsible for you because when you were so close to death I did what I could to bring you through."

Mary's eyes flashed with something of her old spirit.

"You pity me," she accused.

He tilted her chin with his hand, forcing her eyes to look into his.

"You must believe, at least, I am sincere in wanting to help you."

Mary's excitement lessened under his calm.

"As my wife you will receive my army pay. You can stay on in these rooms without being embarrassed. But here's the best part of all. When Dr. O'Connell, the famous plastic surgeon, returns from the front, it will be easier to have you admitted to the hospital as my wife. Otherwise, it might be difficult, especially since I will be on the other side of the channel."

Tongues of orange flamed from the burning coals. A clock ticked softly. Except for these tiny sounds, there was silence in the room.

At length Mary roused herself. "What you said is true. I am desperate. I have no money. While I'm disfigured like this, I can't bear to face anyone who knew me before . . ." Her voice faltered and he did not expect her to continue.

It was as if she was speaking her thoughts aloud. "But that doesn't mean I haven't any pride," she went on after a pause. "And that doesn't mean my dreams are over for always."

He knocked the ashes out of his pipe and waited for her to continue.

"A chapel wedding, a bridal veil and orange blossoms, organ music and a honeymoon, these are all part of what marriage has meant to me."

"I understand." He spoke quietly. "Naturally my strange offer of marriage has given you a jolt, coming as it did out of a clear sky."

"I appreciate your offer. I know you only spoke to help, as a friend. But you'll have to give me time to think it over. When are you going to France"

"I don't know. Any day, now."

Dr. Lenox stood up. He reached for his coat. "Do think it over. Consider it seriously. I don't want you to do anything you might be sorry for. But on the other hand, if I do come back from the front, I'll give you your freedom whenever you want it."

When he had disappeared into the night, Mary sat motionless by the graying embers, hands cupping her chin. Long after the fire had burned itself out she sat, unmindful of the growing chill.

Here was a way out. That very day had brought her to a new low in her already hopeless existence. But to marry Lenox would be unfair to him. She still loved Vincent Gregg. Even though Dr. Lenox was aware of that, and was willing to marry her on these terms, she could not allow him to make that sacrifice.

How long she had been thinking these thoughts, she had no way to tell. But when the chimes of a hall clock announced midnight, she drew up with a start. Perhaps by daylight she could think this thing out more clearly.

The next day the problems of the night before had solved themselves in no way. If she could only see Vincent without him seeing her! If she could only be sure that he was longing as much for her as she was for him! Then she could wait a lifetime, if necessary, for their reunion. Hunger, poverty, nothing would matter.

Hardly aware of what she did, Mary found herself walking in the direction of Vincent's lodgings.

She walked along Oxford street and turned into Charing Cross road to Trafalgar square. She passed the narrow street with the restaurant where she and Vincent had dined on the night of that horrible air raid. She traced the few steps from the square and stopped in front of it, unmindful of the jostle of people in the noon hour crowd. Covetously she peered in. The restaurant was gay with luncheon guests.

She retraced her steps to Charing Cross road and past the National Gallery, its windows boarded and sandbagged.

She had forgotten she was Anna Winters. She had forgotten that she, Mary Carroll, was supposed to be dead, a victim of the sinking of the Moravia.

It was as if this strange desire to see Vincent was driving her on, without any volition of her own. She had forgotten the twisted cheek, the shabby, ill-fitting clothes. Reflected in her rapt face was the expression of one who awaits a miracle.

Back in the square, she walked to the street where Vincent had had lodgings. She would go down the street, just for a sight of the roomy, gray stone house where he lived.

Before it, courage ebbed. She turned back, to the protection of a doorway of a tobacconist's shop. Perhaps Vincent had long since left this neighborhood. Perhaps he was not even in London.

Something made her turn to the kindly old man in skull cap behind the tobacco counter. Before she knew it, she had spoken.

"Does a young American named Vincent Gregg still live at the lodgings across the street?" she asked.

"You mean that handsome young man with the scar across his forehead?"

Mary nodded eagerly. "Yes—that's the one."

"Why, yes," the proprietor went on, "he buys his cigarets here. Always buys an American brand that I stock specially for him. He was in this morning."

"Thanks very much." Mary stepped outside quickly. Her mind was made up. She was going to see Vincent at any cost. If he loved her, he wouldn't care what happened. How foolish she had been to have hidden away.

Her steps faltered as she started to cross the street, her eyes seeing nothing except the door to Vincent's house.

Then she stopped. The door was opening and emerging from it was Vincent Gregg.

He did not see Mary. The glad cry in her throat died. It was quite plain that he had eyes for no one except the woman by his side.

They were coming closer now. Mary drew back behind the merciful protection of a sandbag barricade. She stared at Vincent and at the tall, dark woman who was smiling down at him . . . Carla Marchetta!

Carla was jesting. "Why, Vincent darling, how foolish of you not to trust me."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ALL political roads at Washington lead to the homely office of John Nance Garner since he reopened his "bureau of education" on Capitol Hill. Four presidential candidates, including Postmaster General Farley and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, huddled with the leading Democratic Presidential prospect within the last few days.

While keeping his own counsel, the V.P. has given the difiant impression that he believes President Roosevelt wants to be drafted for a third term. A great believer in the two-term tradition, Mr. Garner is determined to prevent FDR's renomination, as he virtually warned when he declared himself in the race without the usual "and, ifs and buts". The Texan has also indicated that, if necessary to accomplish this aim, he will throw his strength to any likely winner—except Mr. Roosevelt—as he tossed his California-Texas batch of delegates to the President in 1932.

Therefore he has encouraged Senator Wheeler and National Chairman Farley to enter the race openly, without waiting for word from the White House on the President's 1940 intentions. Mr. Garner regards the men from Montana and New York as helpmates rather than rivals. But so far, principally because they don't care to antagonize the popular Mr. Roosevelt, they have resisted the V. P.'s urgings.

STROKE: In breaking the tradition of secrecy which has surrounded negotiation of trade agreements by publicizing the inside row with Argentina, Cordell Hull served indirect notice on Great Britain that the United States does not appreciate the empire's interference in the western hemisphere's economic affairs. British influence is understood to have motivated the Argentianians' rather checkered role in the last year with Uruguay assisting.

It was the Argentine diplomats who torpedoed the celebrated Lima conference only 12 months ago, preventing the conclave from accomplishing anything worthwhile beyond a statement of Pan American platitudes. When the western republics assembled to discuss punitive action after the Anglo-German naval battle off the coast of Uruguay, the Argentinian representatives proposed that the neutrality patrol use force against the warships of any nation which violated the zone. It was apparently a British suggestion designed to involve the United States in the conflict, for Uncle Sam would have had to do the actual enforcing The idea was summarily rejected by our State department.

Although nobody believes that personal or party politics influenced Mr. Hull in proclaiming the breaking-off of negotiations, it was a smart stroke for him and for his reciprocal trade agreement law. So was his announcement that no concessions will be given Chilean copper in any pact negotiated with that country. Both moves may soften the spirit of hostility against the Hull tariff policies prevalent among delegations from the mineral-producing and cattle-raising West.

LOYAL: President Roosevelt's appointment of Daniel W. Bell as Under Secretary of the Treasury has reinforced the movement for establishment of a system under which career men—experts—shall man the No. 2 posts in every governmental department. Non-political individuals in both parties are planning to fight for adoption of such an anti-spoilsmen plank in each platform.

Oddly enough, it was Vice President Garner who introduced this system—and in such a politically-minded institution as the House of Representatives. When he became speaker, Democratic politicos scrambled to him with candidates for offices usually regarded as the victors' spoils—House parliamentarian, his assistant, the barber, the janitor. The House parliamentarian happened to be the helpful and intelligent "Lou" Deschler, who had been given the post by ex-Speaker Nicholas Longworth

"No," exploded Jack. "Lou was put there by Old Nick, and I know that Nick would want him kept on. So was Bill Roy, Lou's assistant, and the barber and the janitor. I'll keep 'em all on. Lou is the best man for that job, and I want the best man I can get." Mr. Garner then added slyly that he had a majority of only three and he couldn't afford to make any parliamentary "boners". When succeeding Speakrs indicated that they might remove "Lou", Mr. Garner always went to his rescue. That's why the V.P. was the honor guest at Mr. Deschler's party to Majority Leader Rayburn on the latter's 58th birthday a few days ago.

CHANCES: Henry Wallace furnishes human proof that the bite of the Presidential bug is always fatal. Although no practical politico gives him an outside chance for the Democratic Presidential nomination, he still has hopes.

The Secretary of Agriculture is reaching out for more anr more power, doing more favors for more people—especially farmers—every day. He recently persuaded President Roosevelt to hand him full control of the Farm Credit administration, which finances more than 1,000,000 farmers, and he placed it in charge of his personal friend, Dr. A. G. Black. Mr. Wallace has also intervened actively in the affairs of the Rural Electrification administration, although it has heretofore functioned as an independent agency and was supposed to continue that way, despite its recent transfer to Agriculture. Likewise the Secretary is exerting influence to obtain parity payments for his clients, to put through the Hull reciprocal tariff law, to make friends on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Wallace's chief political adviser—Paul Appleby—has no illusions about his boss' chances. But anything may happen in such a politically turbulent year as 1940, and so the Secretary's friends are prepping and pepping him up.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

THE business of blockading Germany has given Great Britain an administrative job of such size as to keep military historians scribbling for years. By itself the bookkeeping operation involved in keeping isolated from the sixty or more nations is probably the biggest piece of organization of the present war. Fact that it is breaking down here and there merely shows up the size of the undertaking.

Present status of the blockade has Britain battling the merchant ships of at least 20 nations that are ready and willing to sell to Germany. American shippers in possession of these facts are consequently able to wade through a lot of propaganda for a number of conclusions:

(1) The Allied blockade after four months has hurt but not crippled Nazi economy.

(2) Somehow Germany is scraping up the necessary foreign exchange with which to pay for imports. Except for three Balkan states all other suppliers are free to insist on exchange payment and to refuse extension of credit. And on these terms fleets of neutral traders are conniving to pierce the blockade and get at the German market.

JOKE: England's complex job is to halt this inter-neutral relay to Germany while still treading lightly on neutral toes for other political reasons. Enter the vast bookkeeping project. An army of statisticians in London's ministry of war economics has to determine in each instance what each of scores of countries import "normally". The excess to be presumed destined for eventual sale to Germany.

The feet of persons coming to live in California are said to grow about a size larger after a few months of residence in the Sunshine state. The Chamber of Commerce is not expected to issue any glowing circulars on the subject.

The idea of the ricksha in Japan is now said to have been conceived by a United States marine. After all, the Japanese can't be blamed for all the horrors of the Orient.

Orchids cultivated by Prime Minister Chamberlain's father were sold at auction recently. The world probably won't remember the Chamberlain family as orchid raisers anyway.

Here And There In Texas

By C. A. PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TEXAS residents of at least five foreign extractions, unwilling to forego the language of their forebears, have recourse to newspapers printed in their native tongues. Twenty-six foreign language newspapers published regular issues during the past year within the boundaries of the Lone Star state, but they are not the offspring of wars or racial animosities.

To show that production of foreign language papers involves no small scale, at least one daily (El Continental of El Paso) has a circulation of 10,719. A weekly (Vestnik, a Czech organ published at West) has 10,000 regular readers. The combined circulation of the 26 is more than 85,000.

Spanish Papers Lead

With a huge number of Mexican residents, chiefly in Texas, Spanish language papers lead the foreign list with a total of 12. Elsewhere in the state are six Czech papers, six German, one Swedish weekly and one printed in Italian. However, the last two lone representatives of their native tongues have large circulations . . . for weeklies. The Texas Posten (Swedish) at Austin goes to 5,200 readers and La Tribuna Italiana (Italian) at Dallas has a subscription list of 7,971.

SIX Texas cities publish two foreign language papers each. Taylor and Giddings each have a German and a Czech; Houston, a Spanish and a Czech; Laredo, two Spanish; West, two Czech; Austin, a Swedish and a German.

Two other cities, however, have three foreign papers: El Paso with three Spanish organs and San Antonio with a German and two Spanish.

The Czech paper, Vestnik, led foreign weeklies in circulation, but close behind was El Paso's Revista Catolica with 8,100 and Dallas' La Tribuna Italiana with 7,971.

Among the dailies, El Continental (Spanish) of El Paso and La Prensa (also Spanish) of San Antonio played Abou Ben Adam and led all the rest. Their circulations were each more than 10,000. Other dailies included the Spanish language editions of the Brownsville Herald and the Laredo Times.

Read 'Em If You Can

The list of regularly-published foreign language papers in Texas for 1939 include: Austin—Texas Posten (Swedish), Das Wochenblatt (German); Brownsville — Heraldo (Spanish); Dallas—La Tribuna (Italian); Del Rio—Noticias (Spanish); El Campo—Svoboda (Czech);

El Paso—El Sol, Revista Catholica and El Continental (Spanish); (German); Beeville—Novj Domov (Czech); Houston—El Telcolote (Spanish), Texas (Czech); San Antonio—Freie Presse Fuer (German), La Prensa (Spanish), El Vacilon (Spanish); San Diego—La Libertad (Spanish); Taylor—Herold (German); Weimar—Posta (Czech); Laredo—Times and South Texas Citizen (Spanish); Weekly editions; Mullen—Diogenes (Spanish); New Braunfels—Zeitung (German); West—Vestnik and Casopis (both Czech).

WHY do these new Americans cling to the language of their fathers?

For one thing, they say, they want their children to remember their gual heritage of their ancestors. other, the parents themselves to brush-up, and in learning the language of their youth conjure memories. Too, they are in closer touch with their relatives.

In the case of the Czechs, perhaps it helps them remember once upon a time they had native land and may again in the future.

Narcotics Ring Members Guilty

GALVESTON, Jan. 10. (U.P.)—Six defendants who previously had been involved in a nation-wide narcotics ring extending from New York to Texas in 1937, pleaded guilty to another indictment today and were sentenced to federal prison.

The men sentenced by Judge James V. Allred were: Biaggio Angelica, eight years, to run concurrently with 10 years assessed in the previous case; August Simoncini, eight years; Mike Sgitovich, seven years; Anthony Virzi, seven years; Alfonse Attardi, eight years, and Joe Massa, three years.

Simoncini, Attardi and Sgitovich had just completed two-year prison terms for conspiracy to sell narcotics. Virzi's sentence was allowed to run concurrently with a six-year term he had received in trials in New York and Waco.

Massa, who pleaded guilty in New York and was a government witness, has his sentence passed there and it was recommended to Judge Allred today that he be allowed to serve his term in the government narcotics hospital at Fort Worth.

The cases disposed of today were entirely separate from the conspiracy charges filed in August, 1937, and the crimes occurred after that time, according to assistant U. S. attorney George John.

High Court Is Excused From Ruling On Tire Theft Case

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—Withdrawal of an appeal excused the state court of criminal appeals today from ruling on a tire theft case appealed from Limestone county which involved a peculiar point.

Willie Thornton, a negro, was indicted for taking four truck tires from Joe Sanders of Coolidge, convicted and sentenced to two years. The indictment described the tires as 16x600. Proof at the trial was that the tires were what is designated by the trade as 16x6.00.

A dealer testified that a 16x600 tire would be 600 inches across. A tire 16x6.00 would be six inches across.

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—A stock market tired of small liquidation turned around in late trading today and enabled leaders to erase early losses and even push ahead for fractional gains in many cases.

There was little pep to the day's transactions and transfers totalled only 590,250 shares against 671,350 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added .1 of a point at 51.3.

Market gainers included Bethlehem, Chrysler, Studebaker, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Public Service of New Jersey, American Smelting, Chesapeake and Ohio, Westinghouse Electric, du Pont, Cluett Peabody, International Mercantile Marine, Crown Cork and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Douglas Aircraft added nearly two points following announcement of a big order from American air lines for transport planes.

Foreign markets turned a bit downward. Bonds and commodities were mixed.

Associated Gas and Electric Co. bonds dropped sharply in the curb following news the SEC had refused the company permission to pay dividends on its caital stock. The 8S of '50, for instance, lost 5½ and 5½s droped 7¾. The preferred and common stock dipped fractions. The company later filed for reorganization under chapter 10 of the bankruptcy law in the Utica, N. Y., federal court.

Others lowered included Niles-Bement-Pond, Electric Bond and Share, Northern States Power "A" and American Cyanamid "B." Niagara Hudson Power and Sentry Safety Control edged forward. Turnover 135,000 shares compared with 148,000 Tuesday.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The cotton futures market appeared out of breath today after the fast sprints of the last few weeks.
The market closed 4 points higher to 2 lower.
Cotton men said the price list seemed to have adjusted itself to the latest news from Washington and abroad affecting the staple. What traders now need for another go at the market, they added, was a fresh incentive.
Wall street interests liquidated their holdings and a spot house continued to place hedges in March and May. A little foreign pressure came in at the start.
On the buying side were trade interests and local professionals. Buying here by a large spot interest was said to be against sales in Liverpool.
Worth street reported only fill-in cloth business. Prices on some of the more popular print cloth construction were said to be shaky as stocks of these goods increase.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was 1 point lower at 11.00 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.70 cents a pound; middling 15ths-inch average was 10.82 cents a pound.

Juveniles Are Held After Footballs Taken From Tech

Five Lubbock juveniles who broke into Tech stadium and stole three footballs didn't do so because they wanted to play ball, said officials.

The boys, 9, 10, 11 and 12 years old, broke into a storage box at Tech stadium and stole three footballs valued at more than $25 wholesale, said Emmett Galloway, counsellor for Downtown Boys club.

But, instead of using the pigskins to make their muscles tougher and bigger, they:

1. Swapped one of them for a 5-cent bar of candy.
2. Sold one for 25 cents.
3. Used the other as security for a small personal cash loan.

Negotiation was strictly among juveniles, said authorities.

All property had been recovered.

No charges resulted—but stiff lecture courses had begun.

Another Trial Said Useless

AUSTIN, Jan. 10 (U.P.)—Three unsuccessful attempts having been made to sustain convictions of Lee Parrish on a charge of killing Lononie Hooper in San Augustine county on Oct. 11, 1934, the state court of criminal appeals today suggested that unless the state can strengthen its case materially another trial would be useless.

Hooper, 16, and his brother, Jewell, both were killed with bullets from a small caliber rifle near the Nacogdoches-Center highway.

Parrish's conviction was upon testimony of a man who said he had been with Parrish and remonstrated but was threatened if he revealed the killing. He was held to be an accessory through aiding Parrish to avoid detection and arrest. An accomplice's testimony must be corroborated. The court held corroboration was lacking..

Judge Tom L. Beachamp, writing the opinion, thought that in fact the direction of the bullets weakened rather than strengthened the testimony. In his last trial Parrish was given a 15-year sentence. He was tried for killing Lonnie Hooper. The uncorroborated testimony was that he shot both.

According to a scientist, lumberjacks are the hardest workers among men doing manuel labor.
