

Sue's Views

By Sue Cannon

Well here we are, trying to get another issue of the paper out, when really where I want to be is at Austin!

Can't be at two places at the same time, though.

So, duty calls and we stay at home.

But since we have so many girls in so many events, we decided to try to do the next best thing and at least get pictures for the paper. So I called the Texas Press Association and lined up a photographer for that chore!

So, if all goes well, we'll have some good shots of the events in next week's paper.

Next week, we have a boy going to State in pole vaulting event, and we are hoping for the best for him as well as for the girls this weekend. (And we have a picture taker lined up for him, too!) Can't show favoritism.

I don't know how many of you missed the athletic banquet Tuesday night, but I sure feel like you missed a real treat not getting to hear the speaker. In down to earth, every day language, he told the kids to set a goal and not be satisfied until they had reached it.

Also, there were so many awards passed out to our great bunch of kids. You know, as Coach Miller remarked afterwards, we could have been there all night if we had started telling everything they excelled in this year. They all have had a fantastic year!

May is here and that means Clean Up Month.

And I don't know of any place that needs it more than my little homestead. Yuk! I dread even thinking about it, but won't it be nice when we get everything spic and span around out little town. A suggestion was made to me the other day that flowers be planted around the historical marker and vacant lot next to Thomas Real Estate office and maybe over by White Auto corner. It was also suggested that each merchant try to come up with some type of planter with flowers in front of his store to brighten up the city. What do you think?

BRYAN ALLCORN - STATE QUALIFIER

OHS Thinclad To Compete At State

Bryan Allcorn was runner-up in Class AA Regional pole vault competition last weekend to capture a chance at the State championship this weekend.

Mustang cindermen scored 21½ points in the meet. Missing out on the opportunity to try for State honors but turning in admirable performances were Glen Johnson and Freddie Stockdale who each claimed third place victories. Johnson finished third in the 330 hurdles with a 39.7 while Stockdale's 4:43.0 was third best time in the mile run.

Girls Track Team Seeking State Titles

Defending champions Waco Robinson were the "favorites" this week as state track events got underway in Austin. Running events began at 7:30 Friday night with field events held earlier.

Coach Buddy Ables praised the Fillies as a "very talented team" earlier this week and cautiously added, "We can't afford to make any mistakes" in the fems goal to upset the favored team and bring home the State team victory. OHS was third last year.

Waco Robinson was being represented by three relays and five individuals compared to the Fillies two and four.

"Our girls have been very good for Olton. You could say they've put Olton on the map. They present a good image and are a very nice group of young women. We've heard that everywhere we've traveled."

"Folks down at San Angelo last week," Ables said, "told us they didn't know anything about Olton until the meet last weekend but now they know our girls are good ambassadors."

Expressing his own agreement, Ables said, "They present as good a picture of Olton as you could ask for."

The Fillies nudged out 4A Abilene to take the Bluebonnet Belle championship -- so called qualifiers meet which Ables said was open to "any one who wanted to run." Competing were teams from Class B through Class 4A. Four hundred girls participated.

Donna Hodges won both the long and triple jumps with performances of 17-8½ and 34.

The 880 relay team set a new meet record with a 1:43.5 first place win. Team members were Elaine Rodriguez, Donna Hodges, Marla Faver and Melanie Cowart.

Kay Givens also set a new meet record in the 880 dash with a 2:24 clocking for first place.

Mile relay runners finished second. Their 4:02.6 performance was good enough to set a record but did not count when they failed to finish first. Runners were Misses Rodriguez, Faver, Cowart and Hodges in that order.

Miss Hodges was high point girl of the meet and the Fillies won an admirable honor in bringing home the "Sportmanship Trophy."

Scoring was different in the meet and the Fillies' 47 points was as fine a performance as earlier meets in which they scored many more points.

"Our girls have done an excellent job," Ables says in praise. "They won their eighth consecutive meet and finished the season undefeated."

(Editor note: Our apologies to Marla Faver who was not credited as a member of the regional mile relay team in last week's Enterprise. Kay Givens was instead, named in the story of the Fillies' regional victory.)

Tribute To Scout Troop

Dear Editor:

The study club of which I am proud to be a member, was honored to have several little scout troops present us a good program. This brought back memories of when I was an assistant scout leader of troop 107. When I think of this troop, I think of the "Fun Years of Scouting." Those were rewarding years to me.

Fond memories are brought back of our camping days. The girls had to rough it then, eating what they cooked, rare or burned-there was no second chance.

While at Camp Rio Blanco, I enjoyed being one of the girls. Climbing a tree house with them, crossing a swinging bridge, with all those little girls on board, you had better believe it was a swinging bridge. Crossing those little streams of water, with rocks for stepping stones, I was the one ending up with wet feet.

As the girls grew older, better able to cope with roughing it, they could as last get to sleep in the covered wagons, a long hoped dream. Sure was cold that night, believe me I would have made a poor pioneer.

Camping at a Boy Scout and Girl Scout camp proved to be one of the most exciting times, as we had many experiences that night too. Running from a bull in the wide open spaces the girls stirred up was not my cup of tea. Our drivers will never forget the trip down the steep grade. God must have been with us, a camper full of girls and trouble going down - but we made it - we had good drivers. Next day trouble came for the leaders when the boy scouts arrived.

Girl Scout if you read this letter, think of the exciting things ahead of you - stay in there and be a good scout.

I will never forget those wonderful girls of troop 107 nor I guess they will never forget their leaders either - and may remember us as the most unforgettable characters they ever met.

Time changes everything - today some of our girls are married, some are graduating for high school, some will be going to college and others are already working girls. As they face life, I know our girls can cope with whatever life has in store for them.

The leader of this troop has gone back to nursing - always doing something for other people. I think of her as a noble leader and a good mother of two nice children, Susie and Steve. She was not only a good friend, but a great person to work with, during my years of scouting. She would make a good mother of the year.

Betty Hall, of Olton State Bank, once a leader of troop 107, Sandy Coleman one of our good helping hands, later working with girls at scout camps and Carol Scribner, one our helpers, now working with a troop of her own and a dream come true for her are just some of our faith workers.

Years of working with Dorothy were years well spent. She faithfully stayed with troop 107 to the end.

Helen Locke

'It's Not Nice To Fool Mother Nature'

By Rex Boyles

It was smooth, light, creamy, poly-unsaturated, low-cholesterol oleo margarine; but it tasted like smooth, light, creamy, "real cow-type" butter. It even "fooled" Mother Nature. Mother Nature was really "ticked off", so she blasted the place with a combination blizzard and drought as she muttered, "It's not nice to fool Mother Nature."

That commercial really sold the product, but it also sells us a thought worth thinking. It may not be "nice," but you can "fool" Mother Nature. It's not right, but we can "fool" each other. You can "fool" your little brother or sister into believing that spaghetti grows on trees. (Don't laugh - I used to believe it). You can "fool" a baby with a pacifier. You parents can "fool" a horse into coming to you by holding out an empty hand, pretending to hold sugar. With the "right" look on your face and the "right" story you can fool just about anybody.

But we can't "fool" everybody. We may fool horses, babies, and even Mother Nature, but we cannot "fool" Jesus. You can fool a boy-friend with a dab of make-up or a girl-friend with a half-inch bigger heel, but you can't fool Jesus. Jesus looks inside and searches the heart (Revelation 2:23). Jesus can see what is going on inside us, and the little frills we add don't fool him at all. That means then that when we are speaking "sugar-coated" words about Jesus just to impress, he isn't "fooled." He knows we're lying. When we are "playing church" and all the brethren think we are so fine, Jesus isn't "fooled". He knows we're lying. When we cover-up our sins with perfume or after-shave or alibis, our folks may be "fooled", but Jesus knows we're lying.

Galatians 6:7 states this truth, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." In paraphrase that says, "Don't kid yourself. You can't fool God. You are going to reap what you sow." If we plant onions, we are going to get onions. If we are planting a "play religion", we are going to reap the fruit of hypocrisy, which is damnation (Matthew 23). If we are working for Sin, we are going to earn the full wage of Sin, which is the eternal dying in torment (Romans 6:23).

Not being able to "fool" God is also a pretty good deal, for just as certain as sowing ungodliness will reap damnation sowing godliness will reap exaltation. If we sow "unto the Spirit we shall of the Spirit reap eternal life" (Galatians 6:8). If we will do things for Jesus, we'll receive lots of good things from him, and that's a lot better deal than Sin has to offer. Have real faith, serve Jesus honestly, and then just wait on the promises.

You can "fool" just about anybody with the "right" look or story, but you can't "fool" Jesus. I'm glad of that...Rex

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

It isn't at all like the days of the one-room school house! "Blue-back spellers" and syrup can lunch buckets are two items of a long-ago era but education itself has come a long, long way!

In a light-hearted vein I might note that most fellas "over 30" are probably thinking "Yea, the teachers weren't as young and pretty and they didn't wear mini-skirts."

But in all seriousness, school's a whole lot different than it was when I was a kid (contrary to what the younger generation may think, I was once upon a time).

There aren't many days left before this school year is over and if you haven't visited school you have very little opportunity left for a while. Besides, they're mighty busy getting all finished with the year and they don't really have time to show you all the new. SO, take heed of the series we're starting about the special education programs at school. They're fantastic!

If you aren't the parent of an elementary student or even of a junior high then you probably aren't at all familiar with the innovations in education. Did you get to learn at "listening centers" and educational TV? Well, it's really something!

There are exceptions, of course, but teachers are a "special breed." They are the folks who spend nine months guiding, leading, telling and re-telling the same children who drive their parents wild in just one rainy weekend.

Just like a broken record, I'm again singing the praises of "Lucas Tanner," the teacher who's been "fired" by the television Powers That Be. Did you see the segment that was re-run a couple of week ago? The one about "dumb Cecil"?

Cecil wasn't really dumb. He was, in fact, brilliant but somehow he'd made it all the way to the eleventh grade without his teachers learning that he could not read. Not because he was "dumb" or uneducable. He had dyslexia (look it up in your dictionary). Lucas made Cecil believe in himself and proved the young man's abilities to others.

There was a moral to the story, of course. Cecil wasn't dumb, he merely had a problem. That's what our education system is dedicated to today. Discovering a child's problem and then helping the boy or girl, that young man or young woman, to overcome and to achieve and to become worthwhile citizens with contributions to make to society.

Vegetables Makes A Hit

With Cholesterol-Watchers

Vegetables, at times sorely neglected, are indeed becoming more important to today's menu planner. Meat prices are restrictively high. In addition, many nutritionists are recommending that we decrease the amount of meat in our diets, in order to restrict our intake of saturated fat and cholesterol.

Many housewives who are serving less meat to their families are turning to vegetables to add excitement, as well as nourishment, to family meals. Fresh, frozen or canned, they are making their way to the table in greater abundance and in a variety of interesting dishes.

Be creative with vegetables! Give them the special attention they deserve. Try a different variety for a new preparation of an old favorite.

Combining two or more vegetables is a nice way to create a flavorful and nutritious side dish. The Vegetable Combo below blends zucchini, kidney beans and tomatoes for a delicious skillet dish with an Italian accent. Made with Fleischmann's 100% Corn Oil Margarine, high in polyunsaturates, this recipe is ideal for cholesterol-watchers.

HELPFUL TIPS FROM EXPERT DECORATORS

How To Care For Today's Dining Sets

The look of easy elegance can be achieved with smartly styled dining set of comfortable, contemporary vinyl and chrome or bronze based chairs and handsome tables that table the problem of stains and burns. They come in a wide range of styles that help a room look turned out in style.

By Carol Carman
Home Furnishings Consultant
Remember when the dining room table was a dinette in the kitchen? It was probably made from chrome and plastic that eventually cracked or was very uncomfortable because the backs were straight and the seats thinly padded, if at all.

Today's dinette has such a new look, with more sophisticated styling and better materials, manufacturers don't call them dinettes anymore.

A lot has gone into research and development since those early days. Manufacturers have become more concerned about what the consumer wants and will buy.

Howell, the home furnishings division of Interlake, Inc., Chicago, has gone to the ultimate designer for styling suggestions—the consumer.

Periodically, the firm invites a panel of consumers to its offices to get ideas and criticisms on how to make the product better. That's why Howell's dining sets have deep cushioning, rich upholstery on seating pieces that can be cleaned with a damp cloth (even mustard wipes off), backs and seats that curve to the body and tables with warm woodgrain looks.

Styles run the range from modern, with sleek, sculptured chrome bases, to Mediterranean with high-rise backs.

Chrome legs are shiny bright and sculptured, but need little care. A light dusting is the only occasional requirement.

Tops have been designed with easy-care in mind, too. Stain and burn resistant materials are in most of today's styles. Be sure to check with your dealer before you buy.

Some seats feature tilt backs for full relaxation; others swivel. And there's one chair from Howell that stacks several high for easy storage but lots of use.

There's a whole new world of dining furniture from which to choose. There's something to fit every style and need, and it's designed with today's homemaker in mind. Easy to clean and built to last.

To help you with your furniture selections, Howell is offering a simple-to-use home planning kit. It includes room layout sheets, along with peel-off pieces for designing a room, marking yardage, etc. The planner also includes a home decorating idea booklet. It's available for 50 cents from: The Howell Company, St. Charles, Ill. 60174.

To be fond of learning is to be at the gate of knowledge.

Local Fund Drive Starts Monday For American Cancer Society

Monday, May 5 has been designated as Cancer Crusade Drive in Olton according to an announcement made this week by local Crusade chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rape. Lady Clare Phillips of Littlefield is Lamb County Crusade Chairman.

Neighborhood chairmen working with the fund collections next week are Mmes. Larry Garvin, Bob Coen, Elmer Lewis and Tom Seawright. Goal for Olton is $1,600. Last year Oltonites exceeded the 1975 goal of $1,650.

Memorial donations may be made to the Society at any time during the year. Memorials may be left at Olton State Bank and cards are mailed to the family of the person whom the memorial honors. An acknowledgement card of the donation is also sent the donor.

"Research, which is making gains against cancer, will receive about 30 cents of each dollar," Rape notes.

"Informing people about cancer's Seven Warning Signals and urging regular health checkups to discover cancer at its earliest and most curable stage are at the heart of our Public Education Program and received about 18 cents of each dollar."

Patient and community services such as the Reach to Recovery program for women who have had breast surgery or teaching people who've lost their voices after throat cancer surgery how to speak again will receive about 19 cents of each dollar.

Nearly 11 cents of each dollar will be devoted to professional education. These programs provide physicians, dentists, nurses and other medical personnel with the latest information on diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

Fund raising will take 11 cents of each dollar; management of the Society's affairs takes 10 cents.

"Together we can win the war against cancer," declares Mr. and Mrs. Rape. "We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime. Join us by having a periodic health checkup. Then help others with a check or cash."

CHILDREN & LADIES APPAREL

ON THE BALANCE BEAM - learning to walk along the "balance beam" is one of the muscular skill activities enjoyed by boys and girls in the Early Childhood Program but it is also an exercise in the development of their coordination. (Try it yourself!)

Early Childhood Program

'Service To Children'

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles concerning special education programs in H.P. Webb Elementary School.) Eight students are currently enrolled in the Early Childhood Program for four and five year olds in H.P. Webb Elementary School.

Wanda Nafzger is teacher for this program whose students attend classes half-days. They have lunch in the school cafeteria.

Optimum of the program, Mrs. Nafzger explains, is to better prepare the child for the primary grades. This is effected through the use of skills he or she may already have or lack.

The program stresses large and fine muscle skill activities. Physical competencies are developed with such activities as stringing large beads, using brushes and chalk, learning to manipulate crayons and using coordination in puzzles.

The Early Childhood Program also has as objectives the development of visual and auditory skills with youngsters in activities which may involve sorting objects by color, size and shape; matching objects to objects; differentiating between loud and soft sounds; identifying direction of sound and identifying different sounds.

The children become aware of nutrition and their eating habits by study of the different food groups and testing these foods.

Self-help and self-care skills are developed in dressing, using silverware and learning personal cleanliness and the care of face, hands, teeth and hair.

Some time is devoted to the world of work and career education. The students sometimes visit various places where people work.

Boys and girls are also given training in recognizing and accepting authority, adjusting to school rules and regulations, improving manners and basic rules of safety.

Early Childhood Program is designed for the child with some disability whether it be visual, auditory, speech or perhaps a physical or crippling disability. It is not a bi-lingual program such as Head Start.

Mrs. Nafzger invited parents who have an interest to stop by for a visit any day. Parents who recognize that their child may have a need for the Early Childhood Program are urged to check with the school for this "service to children."

CLIMBING THE "BALANCE BEAM" - graduating from floor level, youngsters attempt to walk with balance along a beam that is increasingly elevated both on a level and with one end elevated. Rule of the class is, however, only one child on the climbing beam at one time.

Married to the former Nancy Critchfield and father of a two-year-old son, Justin, the newly appointed extension agent attended South Plains College and received his bachelor's and master's degree from Texas Tech in 1965 and 1974, respectively.

"PLAINVIEW'S OLDEST"

Off The Top Of My Hat

By Murdell Shipley

The Earth Rodeo is over! Like Caesar, we came, we saw, but it takes more practice than our boys have had to conquer.

We did enjoy it though. They have a very nice arena and buildings. I am more firmly convinced than ever, that if a town that size can support an arena so can we! They did real well on gate receipts as well as entries. This is in addition to giving the "young ones" something exciting to do and the "old ones" something to cheer about.

Those from our town in competition were David Leathers, Larry Kirk, Jerry Murrell, Jim Walters, Ronnie Russell, and two of our college kids, Steve Kennedy and Jimmy McCurry.

Everyone needs their car and pickup washed this week. A very pretty group of girls "The Silver Belles" assisted by some "handsome galoots" will do that little chore for you. They will be working at Givens Texaco from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday May 3.

We now have a place to meet and work courtesy of Mr. Garrett Bley.

One of our next projects to raise money for our arena is a gigantic garage sale.

We will begin collecting things for it in the next few weeks.

So all of your ladies that have an overflow of furniture, toys, wheels, please call 285-2180 for pick up. We will be glad to fetch it in, repair it, then sell it back to you for a profit! How about that rodeo fans? Some check has been made about pipe and other materials needed to make the arena. Outside of land, this will be our biggest expense. Labor for the most part will be taken care of by the young people involved.

To make anything fun you need at least two things, good people and good food. You supplied the first and the second was furnished by Mrs. Rose's refreshment committee.

Although we are just into beginning, not even old enough for a name yet, we have already had some help. So I will pass out a few good stars to Russell Strain for materials and Wayne Moore for materials.

Soil Stewardship

Nation To Observe Special Week, May 4-11

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which emphasizes man's responsibility to protect and conserve soil, water, and other natural resources, will be May 4-11 this year, Marvin Bowling, Chairman of the Lamb County Soil and Water Conservation District, announced today.

This year's theme, "Test of Strength," emphasizes "how the many changes now occurring in the nation 'test our strength' and affect our continuing responsibility to be good stewards of the land," said Mrs. Bowling.

Mr. Bowling cited food and energy shortages, environmental pollution, and the growing concern over land use as examples of changes and development affecting the use of America's natural resources.

"We hope," said Mr. Bowling, "that during Soil Stewardship Week, millions of Americans will pause for a moment to consider their responsibilities for the protection and use of the Lord's earth."

Nineteen hundred and seventy-five will be the 21st consecutive year that the Lamb County Soil and Water Conservation District, along with almost 3,000 similar districts throughout the nation, has sponsored Soil Stewardship Week. The custom of setting aside special "Rogation Days" for this purpose began more than 1,500 years ago in France, when French peasants prayed for help after crop failures had brought widespread hunger.

FROM GRUVER

Monday luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts was Mrs. Gene Cottrell of Gruver.

FROM COTTON CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Dyer of Cotton Center were Sunday evening dinner guests of his cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. V.Y. Jeffries.

Olton's Feed Barn, Inc Wins Special Citation

The Feed Barn, Inc. of Olton has won a special citation for industrial expansion during 1974, Governor Briscoe announced.

The citation was one of 14 selected for special mention with the six Governor's Industrial Expansion Award winners for 1974.

Nominations were made by local chambers of commerce or industrial foundations and selected by the Texas Industrial Commission for their civic and economic contributions to their communities.

"Considering the economic situation we are now facing, these awards take on a new meaning," Gov. Briscoe said in announcing the citation winners.

"Too often in the past we have taken industry expansion for granted. We shouldn't, considering almost 80 percent of our growth and the majority of new jobs come from existing industries."

Jim Harwell, Executive Director of the Texas Industrial Commission, said the competition for the award and citation winners was especially keen this year.

Selection was made after analyzing company payroll increases, new employees and plant area enlargement as well as local expenditures for goods and services.

Lions View Boating Film

"A Boat Is Not A Car" was the title of an informative and humorous film presentation presented by J.B. Peers of Texas Parks and Wildlife to Olton Lions Club Tuesday.

Important points stressed in the film was that regulations carefully observed for the safety of both the individual and others who might be involved.

Lion Boss Don Loafman commended the club's Sweetheart, Jennie Lynn Gunter, for her good representation of the club in the District 2T2 Queen contest. Fifty-two girls competed.

A letter of appreciation was displayed for the club's blood drive for Ricky Lee.

Civic participation was also considered.

The Feed Barn, Inc. expansions in 1974 helped create 5 new jobs in the Olton area, raising its area employment to 7. Company payroll last year increased 153 percent to $52,000. Total plant area increased from 5,000 square feet in 1973 to 8,450 square feet in 1974.

In addition, the firm spent $510,000 locally on goods and services in 1974; a 491 percent increase over 1973.

Alan Brown Is Specialist

Utilizing education and training for more than one job is one advantage few people have. Such is the case for Specialist Five Alan Douglas Brown. Brown is a finance specialist for the Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion, 142 Infantry of the Texas National Guard and in civilian life he is a vice president and cashier at Olton State Bank.

Specialist Brown recently returned from two weeks annual training at Fort Bliss, just outside El Paso. Brown's unit which trains during the year in Amarillo, is taking part in the joint training exercise "Gallant Shield." A payroll specialist Brown requested this duty when he joined the unit because its necessary skills and training are closely related to his civilian occupation.

He is a 1970 graduate of Texas Tech.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Brown of Vernon, Tx, SP5 Brown lives with his wife, Stacy Lea, in Olton. He is a member of Olton Lions Club and the Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

Gas Hearings To Be Set

Hearings to determine the future of natural gas for irrigation fuel will soon be held in three southwestern U.S. cities, although most observers predict the issue will ultimately be decided by the Supreme Court.

The sessions will be held in Lubbock, Albuquerque, N.M., and Phoenix, Ariz. Dates have not been announced.

A spokesman for the office of Senator John Tower of Texas pointed out that no curtailment of natural gas for irrigation will be made until the hearings are concluded and an initial decision is made by an administrative law judge.

The future of natural gas as a farm fuel has been in question since the Federal Power Commission issued a ruling last December which lowered the use of natural gas for agriculture from second to third priority.

Most observers believe that action will eventually result in curtailment of natural gas as a farm fuel throughout the U.S.

Grain Sorghum Producers Association has worked fulltime since the December ruling to block the curtailment because of its potentially devastating effect on food and fiber production.

The Lubbock-based organization has pointed out the technical and economic impossibility of converting from natural gas to another fuel source. Surveys indicate the annual cost of a 3,000 hour irrigation season on a 150 h.p. engine would jump from $3,570 for natural gas to $15,000 for gasoline and $13,650 for propane.

Mrs. L.D. Smith Jr. and Shawn of Floydada were here Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hysinger and with Shawn's maternal grandmother, Mrs. L.D. Smith.

TEXAS TALK

By Billy Davis

Two major classes of sorghum are grown in the United States. Sweet Sorghum or Sorgo accounts for about 20% of the crop and is grown for forage, silage and sorghum (often called cane) syrup. The vast majority of the crop is grain sorghum. Although grain sorghum is grown predominantly for the grain, it also acts as a dual purpose plant with stalks commonly used as forage or silage. Experts don't always agree on world sorghum production but they generally acknowledge that a least 125 million acres are now used for planting sorghum crops. Use of sorghum as a food grain in China, Africa and India ranks sorghum with corn as a contender for the third most important food grain in the world (behind wheat and rice). All estimates are not yet in for this year's acreage in grain sorghum, but indications are, although local areas may show some increase, the national crop could be reduced as much as 5 percent.
