Five More U.S. 'Copters Shot Down In Laos Today

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist gunners today shot down five more U.S. helicopters in fighting in Laos and across the border in South Vietnam, where fighting subsided around the encircled American Fire Support Base Scotch.

American military spokesmen did not give the locations where three helicopter gunships were shot down in Laos but said two crewmen were wounded. Two others were shot up in Quang Tri province across the border but managed to land with two crewmen wounded.

Unofficial figures showed at least 19 American helicopters have been destroyed in support of the South Vietnamese campaign in Laos in the past 11 days. U.S. casualties in the support role were 31 killed, 79 wounded and six missing in action. The casualties do not include GIs wounded in Communist shelling attacks, military spokesmen said.

Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese forces killed 25 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops at dusk Wednesday in Laos and were meeting only sporadic resistance in the drive.

The U.S. command reported the loss of an Air Force F4 Phantom jet in the lower panhandle of Laos Tuesday. It was the 100th U.S. plane lost over Laos since last March 10. Both crewmen were missing.

U.S. spokesmen gave few details of the situation near Fire Base Scotch, 10 miles from the Laotian border, other than to say the fighting had subsided. Reports earlier said more than a company of reinforcements had been rushed to the battleground to the aid of an outnumbered platoon of GIs fighting a reinforced company of Communist troops attacking from all sides.

Weekly Toll: 51 GIs

American spokesmen said today 51 GIs were killed in the war last week, which included the first six days of the Laotian campaign. It was more than double the 24 killed the previous week. Military spokesmen said six more GIs killed in helicopter crashes were yet to be added to last week's toll. Military spokesmen said

South Vietnamese forces operating on Highway 7 more than 60 miles northeast of Phnom Penh killed at least 116 Communist troops today in two major actions. The spokesmen said 1,600 South Vietnamese troops had launched a new operation 75 miles south of Phnom Penh, bringing to 23,000 the number of Saigon government troops in Cambodia.

Wanted Soldiers Sought For Killing 2 Oklahoma Men

EUFAULA, Okla. (UPI)—The Superintendent of Fountainhead State Park and an Oklahoma highway patrolman were shot to death and a park ranger critically wounded Wednesday in a struggle with two soldiers believed wanted by federal authorities.

The Highway Patrol has begun its biggest manhunt in 12 years, a spokesman said.

The bodies of park superintendent Leo Newton and highway patrolman Bill J. Walker, 35, were found near the park's airstrip by Newton's son, Tim, 14. Park ranger W. L. Pickens was sprayed a few feet away.

The highway patrol said more than 500 state, local and federal officers had joined the search for two suspects identified as William B. Franklin, 28, and Edwin Edgar Jones, 24, both of Mineral Wells, Tex. A patrol spokesman said the two were wanted as a deserter from Vietnam and Jones was AWOL from Ft. Hood, Tex.

Tim Newton said he was startled by 10 to 12 gunshots while riding his motorcycle and sped in the direction of the shooting. "When I saw the bodies I jumped off my Honda and ran over," he said. "Then I flagged down a car to get me some help."

The boy said he could tell the trooper and his father, "who looked like he'd been hit in the face with something," were dead. The ranger showed signs of life.

"I picked up his head and asked 'Pick, do you know me?'" the boy said. "He just dropped his head back down."

Pickens underwent surgery at a Tulsa hospital.

Highway patrol chief Bill Mayberry rushed to the scene from his Oklahoma City headquarters. Roadblocks were thrown across every road in the park area within 20 minutes of the shooting and within an hour the borders of Texas and Arkansas were sealed, he said.

Pampa Juvenile Sentenced To State School

A juvenile hearing before Gray County Judge Don Cain early today resulted in a 14-year-old Pampa boy being turned over to the Gatesville State School for Boys.

Juvenile officer Bill Leonard reported this morning that the youth, involved in a pickup theft and accident in December of last year, was formally declared a delinquent Jan. 13 and placed on probation to his father.

Violation of that probation resulted in the hearing today.

Wilkerson Files For City Council

R. D. (Jimmy) Wilkerson, 2324 Christine, a former member of the Pampa School Board, filed his candidacy for Ward 2 city commissioner shortly before noon today.

Wilkerson is seeking to fill the one-year unexpired term of the late Hugh Burdette.

Smith Likely To Ask For Sales Tax Raise

Increase Is Expected To Be Four Per Cent

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Preston Smith was expected to ask for an increase in the sales tax today when he delivers his second set of recommendations on how to raise the money needed to pay for his spending program.

Smith is likely to ask the legislature to raise the sales tax to 4 per cent.

The legislature overwhelmingly rejected Smith's original "spend now, pay later" proposals and the government is expected to stick with straight taxes this time.

Informed sources said the governor will recommend a hefty hike in the state sales tax and a nominal increase in business taxes. An increase in the state sales tax from 3 1/4 per cent to 4 per cent will raise $300 million over the 1972-73 biennium. Extending the sales levy to services will bring the tax even closer to the $450 million needed to balance Smith's budget.

Smith originally recommended the lawmakers issue $450 million worth of "public free school bonds" to raise the needed money to cover educational expenses.

And the governor said at the time of his Jan. 20 budget message lawmakers could either take his plan or come up with their own solutions to the state's financial problems.

But he apparently changed his mind and agreed to come back with an alternative program when the House overwhelmingly rejected the bond issue by a 125-22 vote.

Several key legislators said Smith, already edgy over publicity about his role in a multi-million dollar stock manipulation scandal, is sensitive about criticism of the original budget program.

Smith ordered his aides to begin working on another, less "innovative," financial program after the school bond proposal failed so miserably.

But the controversy over Smith's original suggestion for getting the federal government to pick up the state's welfare tab after 1971 apparently hasn't daunted the governor. Lawmakers still have not acted on that proposal — a move Smith said will save the state $300 million over the next two fiscal years.

Another portion of the governor's original financial program has been approved by the House but awaits action in the Senate. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said Wednesday he planned to meet with a subcommittee that has stalled action on the plan to finance construction at eight new colleges and universities with money from tuition-backed revenue bonds. Barnes said he hoped to speed up consideration of that proposal.

Smith sent a written message Wednesday outlining his legislative program to curb the decay of small towns and at the same time prevent urban blight. Tuesday he suggested steps to meet the state's water problems.

Smith's recommendations Wednesday ranged from housing problems to voter registration laws. But he concentrated on moves he said will help the state avoid urban problems caused by massive migrations from rural areas to metropolitan centers.

The governor urged lawmakers to:

Adopt an official "urban action policy for Texas" to guide state agencies in dealing with impending urban problems.

Create a Texas Department of Community Affairs to work with local governments and coordinate federal housing programs for local agencies.

Establish a state Housing Finance Corporation to provide technical assistance and "seed money" loans to non-profit housing sponsors to encourage construction of low income houses.

On the voter registration issue the governor endorsed proposals to replace the present annual registration system with a semi-permanent set-up where voters could automatically re-register by voting once every four years.

Ruling Expected Ready Monday On Seven-Man Board

The question of whether Pampa Independent School District voters will get to vote on increasing the number of members on the school board from five to seven was still hanging in the balance today.

Seven or eight petitions, reportedly containing 389 signatures, were presented to County Judge Don Cain Tuesday by Bill Harris, 944 Terry Rd.

The petitions requested that the issue of increasing the board membership to seven be placed on the ballot for the April 4 school election.

Judge Cain immediately turned the petitions over to County Atty. John Warner for an opinion as to their legality and a request for the county attorney to outline duties of the county judge in relation to them.

County Atty. Warner said today he would complete his research on the school statutes and advise the county judge of his findings next Monday.

Judge Cain said after he receives the county attorney's interpretation of the law, he would issue a decision on the petitions within a day or two.

March 4 would be the deadline to get the issue on the ballot for a vote of the people at the April 4 school election.

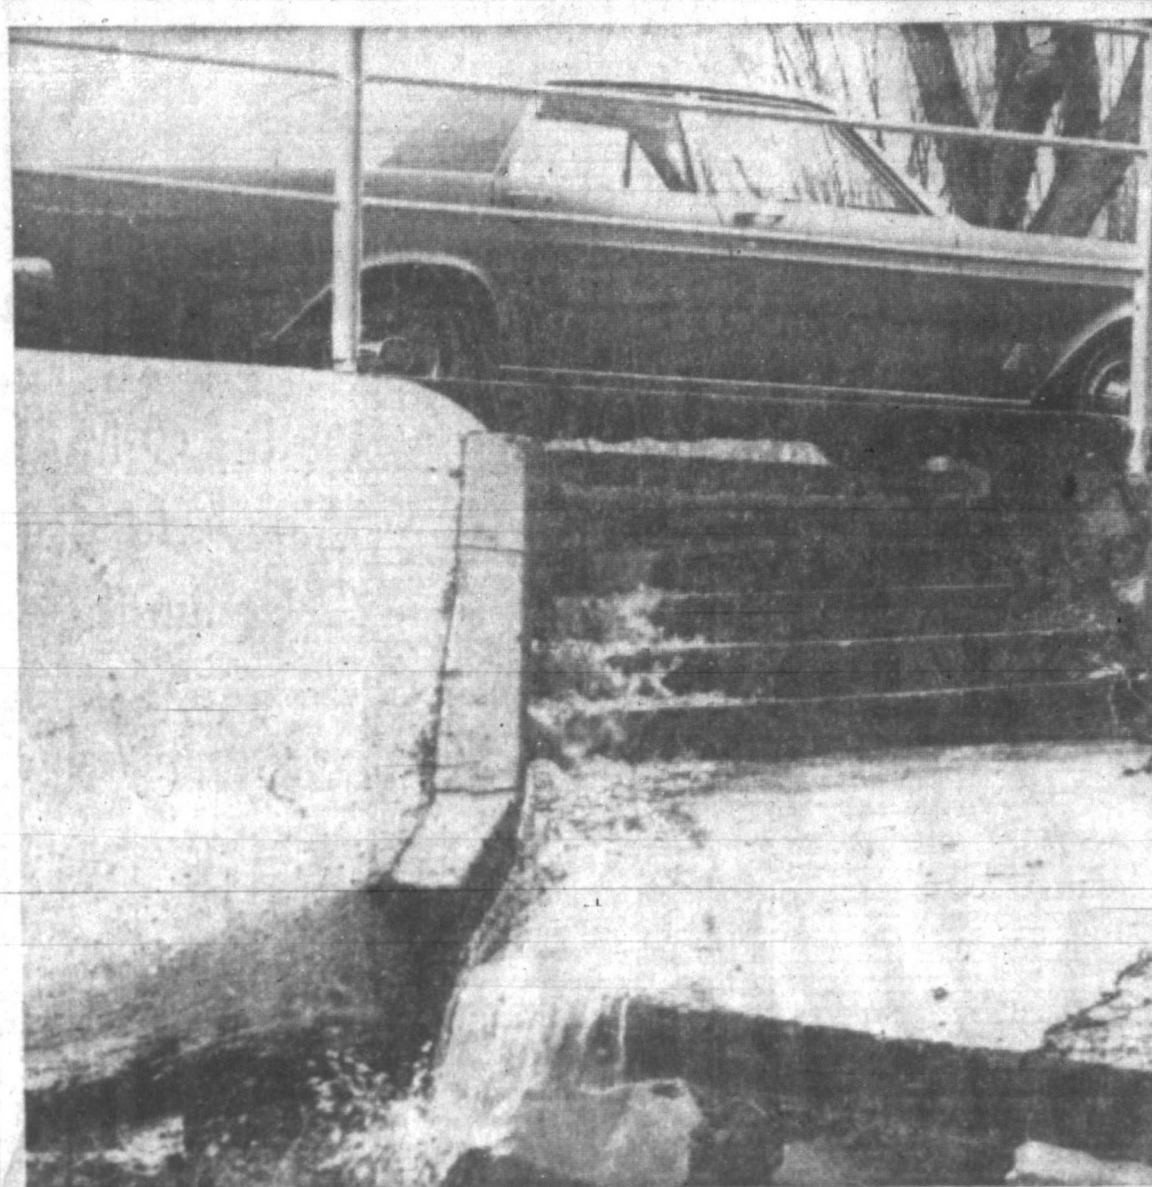

Dallas Man Hired As City Engineer

Pampa will have a new city engineer starting March 8 to fill the City Hall post vacated last September when Mack Wofford was transferred from the job to become acting city manager.

Wofford said today he had hired Gerald B. Harris Jr., 32, currently employed by Ling Temco Vaught in Dallas.

Harris, a native of Corpus Christi, is a graduate of Texas Tech in Lubbock with a B.S. degree in civil engineering and is a registered professional engineer.

He and his wife, Diane, are expected to take up their residence in Pampa before he assumes his duties in March.

.33 INCHES RECORDED

Drought Broken In Pampa Area By This Year's First Heavy Rain

Startled area residents awakened this morning to the unfamiliar sound of rain on roofs, and County Agricultural Agent Foster Whaley said, "Just in a nick of time!"

According to Whaley, wheat crops are no doubt thinned out, but the nearly one-half inch rain which began at about 5 a.m. today "will hold it for a long time." Rangelands are benefiting too by the soaking rain which fell for some three hours today. The subsoil moisture accumulated will provide moisture for grass as the growing season approaches.

Whaley said, "Everybody's happy, wheat farmers and ranchers," he concluded.

Darrell Sehorn, official observer of the United States Weather Bureau in Pampa, stated that, officially .33 inches of rain had fallen in Pampa at 10 a.m. today. However, reports from east of Pampa indicated that one-half inch of rain had fallen in that area.

Sehorn reported that the last measurable moisture, a mixture of snow and rain that did not accumulate, fell Nov. 1, 1970. No rain or snow was recorded in December, and only negligible amounts of snow in January and early February.

Some pea-sized hail was reported by Mickey Black, Soil and Water Conservation Agent near 8 a.m.

Thunder and an electrical display accented day-break, however, a spokesman for Southwestern Public Service stated that no power problems related to the lightning had been reported.

Army's Former Sergeant Major, Seven Others Indicted For Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Army's former highest ranking enlisted man and seven other persons have been indicted for conspiring through bribery and kickbacks to defraud enlisted men's clubs in Vietnam.

A special federal grand jury returned the indictments Wednesday at Los Angeles against Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge, who once held the title of sergeant major of the Army, and the others.

The indictment came as the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee opened hearings in Washington into allegations American businessmen had pled military and civilian post exchange officials in Vietnam with favors to win contracts for furnishing supplies.

The favor, Senate investigators said, included a rent-free Saigon villa and heavy Chinese silks.

In its second day of hearings today, the subcommittee planned to call as a witness Mel Peterson, a vice president of a liquor distilling firm, its

EASY RIDERS

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—An independent audit of the Long Island Railroad shows that an average of 670,000 passengers a month rode without paying during 1970.

A spokesman for the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, which runs the state-owned railroad, said much of the problem was use of counterfeit tickets, and "overcrowded cars which prevent conductors from collecting fares. The railroad lost $24 million last year.

SOVIET ACTIVITY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon says a Soviet nuclear submarine has been sighted in Cuban waters, and a Soviet guided missile carrier is operating off the west coast of Florida.

President Says He Will Not Limit Use Of U.S. Air Power In Indochina

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said Wednesday he will not limit use of U.S. air power in Indochina and refused to rule out the possibility South Vietnam may invade North Vietnam.

The President also said the South Vietnamese continue to shoulder more of the fighting, so successfully in fact that the withdrawal of U.S. soldiers may be accelerated and Hanoi soon may wind up dealing with Saigon, not Washington, in any peace talks.

Nixon's assessment came in an unscheduled 40-minute news conference at the White House. While he talked in optimistic terms about Vietnamization, he warned Hanoi that "as long as the North Vietnamese have any Americans as prisoners of war, there will be Americans in South Vietnam—and enough Americans to give them an incentive to release the prisoners."

Nixon said the limits on use of U.S. ground combat troops outside Vietnam, as he has outlined them before, still hold; but, "I am not going to place any limitation upon the use of air power except, of course, to rule out a rather ridiculous suggestion that is made from time to time that our air power might include the use of tactical nuclear weapons."

Asked whether Saigon might decide to launch an invasion of North Vietnam, he replied,

Manhunt For Rene Guzman Expands Into New Mexico

DALLAS (UPI)—The search for the man police believe executed three deputy sheriffs has expanded into New Mexico with reports someone fitting the fugitive's description kidnapped a West Texas motorist.

Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones said he believed Rene Adolfo Guzman could not cross the Texas border into Mexico because officials had the border "closed up tight." But if Monday's kidnapping did involve Guzman, it means the fugitive may be trying to get to Mexico through New Mexico.

Chief Deputy Allan Sweatt said he hopes Guzman has tried to flee the city.

"He may still be holed up in Dallas and he may have left town," Sweatt said. "We hope he starts running because a running rabbit is easier to catch than one still in his hole."

Guzman and his brother, Moses Zuniga Guzman are charged with three counts of murder in connection with Monday night's execution of three deputies. The bound officers were taken to the Trinity River bottoms where they were shot as they tried to run away from their attackers.

Moses Guzman was taken into custody Monday night for questioning concerning the shootings but was not charged until after he appeared in a police lineup Tuesday.

A heavily armed man fitting Rene Guzman's description kidnapped a motorist in Levelland, Tex., Wednesday and forced him to drive to New Mexico. They stopped for gasoline in Nadine, N.M., where the motorist took the key to the car and fled on foot. The kidnaper also ran away.

Jones said he sent New Mexico authorities a description of Guzman and they said the kidnaper fitted that description.

"I don't know if the kidnaper was Guzman, Lovington, N.M., sheriff Joe Price said. "It's too early to say for sure. We just got all the fellows out there working we can get."

Jones said he has checked out a number of other leads that turned up nothing.

"We've checked out more telephone tips than I can count and none of them has turned up a solid lead for us," Jones said. "But we will continue to pursue any information we receive and, just maybe, one of the tips will lead us to the man we're looking for."

Shortly after noon Wednesday, Fort Worth police arrested a man they said resembled a photograph of Guzman. The man was released when it was learned he was the same man arrested earlier in the day by Dallas authorities who also mistook him for the fugitive.

Another tip came from someone who said an occupant of a house looked a lot like Guzman. Officers descended on the house in full force.

Two of the three deputies killed in the incident were buried Wednesday. William Don Reese, 31, and A. J. Robertson, 59, were buried in separate services. The third deputy, Samuel Garcia Infante, 32, was to be buried today.

They were among five deputies forced to drive from a four-room frame house where they had gone to serve a burglary warrant to the Trinity River bottoms where they were slain. Another deputy was only wounded and the fifth officer escaped unharmed.

Manufacturers, Dealers Disagree Over TMVC Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — The people who make cars and those who sell them are on opposite sides in the controversy over a bill pending before the Texas Legislature to set up a "Texas Motor Vehicle Commission."

Car manufacturers criticized it Wednesday because the six-man commission would be made up of mostly auto dealers, and would have the power to license both dealers and manufacturers — plus other authorities.

Spokesmen for General Motors and Chrysler appeared before the Senate State Affairs Committee to protest the bill, calling it "special interest legislation that would give dealers unwarranted police powers."

The bill, sponsored by Sen. William T. Moore, D-Bryan, would set up a commission of four car dealers and two citizens from the general public.

"But John J. Flaherty of General Motors said it would be 'dealer dominated and anti-consumer.'"

The commission could revoke licenses of dealers, distributors and makers for using deceptive ads, renegeing on warranties or forcing unwanted accessories on buyers.

A manufacturers' license could be suspended for forcing dealers to take unwarranted cars, terminating a franchise without "good cause," or failing to compensate a dealer for warranty work.

Plans To Hold Nationwide Moment Of Silence On Friday Announced

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Texas wife of the first U.S. soldier to escape from the Viet Cong announced plans Wednesday to hold a nationwide moment of silence on Good Friday as a "message to the Communist world" to free American prisoners of war.

Mrs. Joan Caroline Rowe, coordinator of the National League of Families of Men Missing in Action or held prisoners of war in Southeast Asia, said the moment of silence would be held at 3:15 p.m. April 9. She said the plans call for "stopping the entire country for one minute, except essential services, in a message to let my people go."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Wednesday endorsed the proposal and proclaimed March 21-27 as a week of concern for POWs and servicemen missing in action.

Mrs. Rowe's husband, Army Maj. James N. Rowe, 33, of McAllen, Tex., escaped from the Viet Cong Dec. 31, 1968, after imprisonment of five years.

Mrs. Rowe said the league also planned to send a delegation to Paris at the end of April with a petition hopefully signed by 2 million persons demanding the immediate end of "brutal, sadistic treatment of our POWs."

"We expect rejection by the (Viet Cong) delegation," she said. "But we will remain indefinitely although we expect a closed door and a refusal."

"We plan to remain in Paris until we get some results."

Mrs. Rowe said the Washington-based league hopes to get a delegate from each state and hopes the states will pay transportation to Paris and living expenses while there. She said she has received commitments from Texas and Alabama.

Convicted Killer May Get New Trial

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Carl J. Hackathorn, condemned to death for murder in 1963 by a Dallas court, might get a new trial or at least have his punishment changed to life in prison, according to a 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling.

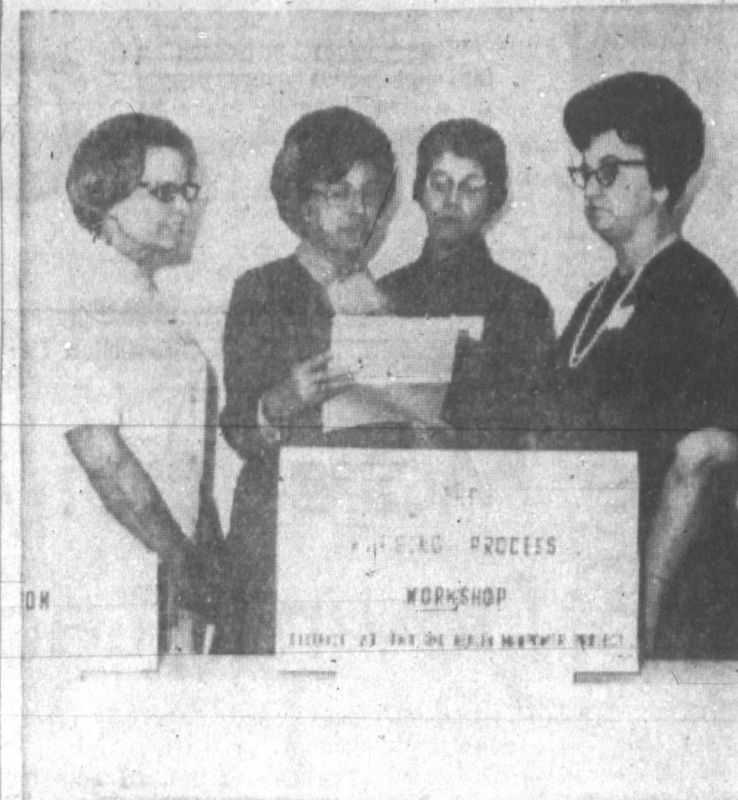

The appeals court held Wednesday that Hackathorn deserved a special hearing to determine if confessions used against him in the 1963 Texas trial were voluntary or not.

If the hearing cannot determine for sure that the confessions were voluntary, the appeals court ruled, Hackathorn must be granted a new trial.

Texas Nurses Association Holds Conference At Highland General

To assist in upgrading the abilities of the Registered Nurse and to render more effective patient care was the objective of a conference attended by 38 area members of the Texas Nurses Association District 23, conducted yesterday at Highland General Hospital.

Mrs. Delores M. Alford, R.N., M.S.N., Coordinator of Health Manpower Project of Texas Nurses Association, was in charge of the course designed to point out the patient need for recognized individuality while carrying out nursing duties.

"Nurses are overloaded with clerical and administrative duties and tend to get away from the person-to-person association to the patient," reported a member of the group.

The conference stressed nurses to share with co-workers ideas and information concerning patient needs and care. The program also assisted nurses in learning to focus activities on the needs of patients rather than tasks to be done.

Another Conference portion was designed to show nurses how to increase skills in observation and evaluation of patient needs, and gave information which would stimulate nurses to build on knowledge and training provided by this course.

Mrs. Alford received her training at Charity Hospital in New Orleans; B.S. N. Ed from Louisiana State University and her M.S.N. from the University of Texas. She has held varied positions in her field including staff nursing, clinical instructor in LVN programs, educational director of diploma school of nursing, assistant professor in baccalaureate program, and nursing consultant on two grants. She is a member of four Greek letter societies including Sigma Theta Tau, the National Honor Society in Nursing.

Among other achievements, Mrs. Alford can list: author of a nursing textbook, and guest editor of the Nursing Clinics of North America, a professional publication. She has written several research studies and short articles as a complement of her career.

Elderly — A bill to allow the elderly, blind and disabled to ride public transportation facilities at reduced rates was introduced by Rep. Frank J. Lombardino, D-San Antonio.

Pension — San Antonio Rep. Frank Lombardino's bill to authorize cities to levy a one-fourth per cent sales tax to benefit firemen and policemen's pension funds was left hanging by a slim thread. For lack of a quorum a tabling motion was lost.

Fuel — Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, asked the House Revenue and Taxation Committee to approve a bill to give Texas cities one cent of the state's five-cent per gallon gasoline tax to be used to build and maintain city streets. But the measure received a cold shoulder and was sent to a subcommittee for burial.

Cars — A bill by Sen. William T. Moore, D-Bryan, was called "special interest legislation" designed to give car dealers "unwarranted police powers" over car manufacturers. The accusations were made by General Motors and Chrysler Corporation representatives.

Defense Admits For First Time That Lt. Calley Shot Vietnamese Civilians At My Lai

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The defense conceded for the first time Wednesday that Lt. William L. Calley Jr. shot Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, but said he did not feel "he was killing humans."

The admission came in a four-page statement summarizing what Calley will say when he takes the stand in his own defense, possibly within the next few days.

Defense attorneys supplied copies of the statement to two psychiatrists who appeared in Calley's behalf. Another copy was turned over to the court.

The statement said in part "Lt. Calley ordered Paul Meadlo, a soldier in his platoon, to shoot and took part himself in shooting some detained Vietnamese on two occasions."

Lt. Calley will testify that he believed he was following order to kill every living thing in the village," the statement said.

After reading a summary of the story Calley will tell, the psychiatrists were asked a set of hypothetical questions aimed at strengthening the case of the defense.

In their answers to the questions, the doctors agreed that Calley suffered a "stress reaction" at My Lai and was unable to analyze the legality of orders to kill civilians.

Their testimony was given with the six-officer court-martial jury absent. The defense is seeking a ruling that the doctors' opinions be aired in open court.

Calley, a 27-year-old Miami, is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968, the day his infantry unit conducted a search-and-destroy mission in the village.

Dr. David G. Crane of Indianapolis testified that he would label Calley's condition during the sweep as "stress reaction."

Witnesses have testified that Capt. Ernest L. Medina, the company commander, gave orders before the sweep that the village was to be wiped out.

Dr. Wilbur A. Hamman of Arlington, Va., testified that Calley, like most U.S. soldiers, had a fear and distrust of the Vietnamese that "turned into hatred."

Under cross examination by Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor, Hamman said that Calley's "anxiety tension state" rendered him incapable of forming an intent to kill.

Britain's Postal Workers Vote To Continue Walkout

LONDON (UPI) — Postal

workers union leaders voted unanimously Wednesday to continue Britain's four-week-old mail and telephone shutdown. Employment Secretary Robert Carr told Parliament "the deadlock continues."

The executive committee of the union representing nearly 200,000 striking postal workers met for three and one-half hours and then announced it had voted unanimously to continue the walkout.

The strike, in support of an original 19 per cent pay increase demand, entered its fifth week Wednesday morning.

The Post Office, which originally offered an eight per cent pay boost, upped it this week to nine per cent if the union would agree to increased productivity.

But Carr told Parliament the union refused to settle for less than 13 per cent without strings.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—ABC-TV's very popular "Movie of the Week" series Tuesday night offered an ambitious teleplay about a runaway girl who returns to her suburban, respectable family after a fling at hippie life.

The film had an attractive title, "Maybe I'll Come Home in the Spring," and starred Sally Field (of "The Flying Nun" series) in a sensitive performance as the girl—a youngster, not overly intellectual, who is trying to set her life in order after failing to find peace of mind with either her family or the hippie existence.

She has been through a lot when we see her returning home at the start of the film, and she is eager to please her parents to show her best intentions. Unfortunately, she has not come home to paradise. Her younger sister envies her hippie experience and is anxious to emulate her—partly for the same reason that drove Miss Field away: The lack of understanding or communication from her parents.

In addition, the father and mother, portrayed by Jackie Cooper and Eleanor Parker, run a very tense household, and seem to have learned little or nothing from their experience with their runaway daughter. And here we ran into both the drama and the questionable strength of the Tuesday night play. In the first place, one must give credit for the film's attempt at a contemporary story with something to say—a tale directed with a good deal of verve and shrewd use of flashback material to draw the contrasts between suburban and hippie life in the mind of Miss Field as she tried to make peace with herself and her parents.

The girl's role was most effective because it showed the subtle and not-so-subtle pulls of both sides in her mind, and the envious sister also was fleshed out convincingly by Lane Bradbury. Yet the parents once again were those stereotyped, black-and-white suburban villains we see repeatedly in video drama.

Of course there are such people, many of them. And, in television drama, they make for easily explosive confrontations between youth and the middle-aged nemesis of authority. Yet when you go for "types" rather than multidimensional characters, you sacrifice the opportunity to delve into the subtleties that make drama less predictable and thus more revealing and compassionate. If there are indeed such characters as played, there are also others in suburbia (which is really not all that bad) who might have been more flexible, and therefore more worthy as protagonists.

Not too many years ago, when movies were first trying to exploit the youth craze, there were a lot of low budget quickies that obviously employed two rules: Avoid showing any figures that might represent authority to youngsters (especially parents); but if you do use them, make sure they are portrayed as black-and-white one-dimensional idiots.

"Maybe I'll Come Home in the Spring" had much higher ambitions than such nonsense, and succeeded at some of them.

learned out for more credibility, and the story well be good enough for theatrical release. Stereotypes don't help, though. We'll never get anywhere that way, on or off the screen.

UNCONVINCING ROBBER
OLD HARROW, England (UPI)—When the man in the dirty old raincoat pointed a toy gun at her Wednesday and demanded money, bank cashier Teresa Dellar, 22, started to laugh. She kept on laughing. The man turned and walked out, making his getaway on a bicycle.

"I couldn't stop laughing," Mrs. Dellar said. "He looked so pathetic."

Sen. Tower Says His Relationship With Nixon Is As Strong As Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., says despite newspaper columns to the contrary, he has just as strong a relationship with President Nixon as ever.

Tower, who faces re-election in 1972, has been critical of Nixon's policies in recent months. But he denied Tuesday a recent visit to the White House was a Nixon attempt to muzzle him.

Tower has criticized what he called Nixon's attempt to "jaw-bone" or use presidential persuasion, for an increase in petroleum prices.

But Tower, who ranks high on the housing and urban affairs subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, said he favors the revenue sharing idea.

"It has pretty general support among Texans," he said. "State governments and their political subdivisions have just about run out of sources of revenue."

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our mid-forties. I have noticed lately that William has taken to thoroughly looking women over from head to toe. I am a bit jealous, somewhat embarrassed and more than a little annoyed when he does this. Also, he's making a fool of himself. Now that William wears bifocal eyeglasses, all that looking up and down has become conspicuous to everyone. I am all thumbs with words, and anything I would say to him would sound silly, so I have said nothing. Have you any suggestions?

HIS WIFE: DEAR WIFE: Simply say, "William, dear, your ogling has become more conspicuous than ever since you've started wearing bifocals. If you must look, please be more subtle. You're making a fool of yourself."

DEAR ABBY: When I was a girl, my mother always told me I had bad breath. I grew up being terribly self-conscious about this and started chewing sugarless gum at an early age to insure myself against offending anyone.

It gave me confidence, and I learned how to chew gum inconspicuously. Most of the time I hold it in my mouth for hours at a time without chewing.

My husband does not like for me to chew gum at all. He says I look like a teeny-bopper or a gum-cracking suburban housewife without a brain in her head.

He says if I loved him I would give up the gum. I say, I do love him, but if he loved me he would be more tolerant and allow me this one habit. What do you think?

TIGHT JAWS

DEAR TIGHT: Apparently your gum-chewing isn't as inconspicuous as you say it is or your husband wouldn't complain so much. While I have nothing against inconspicuous gum-chewing, there are other breath-fresheners on the market which could provide the same confidence, and eliminate the fuss with your husband. Look around.

DEAR ABBY: About the person who has a friend who is a great talker:

My friend for over 40 years would put her friend to shame. However, I believe the good Lord put everything on earth for a purpose, so I put my talkative friend to good use. Last Thanksgiving I invited him over to entertain my wife's relatives who are not only champion nonstop talkers themselves, but champion freeloaders in the bargain. My friend took on the whole lot of 'em and his raucous voice was the only one that could be heard above any combination of sounds made by the relatives, including the screams of babies. Then to top it off, I asked one of the relatives if he'd be good enough to give my friend a lift some 20 blocks on his way home.

Attract Beaux's Admiration With Hidden Beauty Assets

NEW YORK (NAPS)—Is erect and proud that you will there any better time before Spring to be grateful for your hidden beauty assets—or think about ways to take them out of hiding: Deep down there's a younger, more attractive and more vibrant you—just waiting to see the light of day (or candlelight).

Every man likes an all-around girl, one that is as attractive from the back as she is from the front. To rate a backward glance from him, you'd better give yourself one first! A quick glimpse in your compact mirror as you dab powder on your nose is not enough. Neither is a last-minute glance in the hallway mirror to make sure your slip isn't showing.

Start with the bare facts as you look in a full-length mirror. Stand in your usual not party posture. Take a good look at the barely visible sags and bulges. Be as critical as if you were pointing out the defects in another woman.

Before you get discouraged, grab a pencil and paper and list your assets, as well as your liabilities—the pros on one side and the cons on the other. You may find that you have more pluses than you've been giving yourself credit for. And there's nothing "wrong" with you that can't be made "right" if you make up your mind to it!

Perhaps you think you are too tall. Don't slump and try to look shorter. Don't think you must wear flat shoes to disguise your height. Instead, glory in your tallness. Adopt the daring fashions that only a tall girl can wear successfully. Carry yourself like a queen and let the world look up to you.

If you are short—make a point of being petite. Diet and exercise to keep your figure in proportion to your diminutive stature. Scale your accessories to size. Maintain a carriage so Fashion offers many flattering ways for a woman to conceal a bad figure while she improves it with exercise. Many faults can be improved or eliminated with correct posture. The way you hold yourself reflects your entire mental attitude. Slouching gives you an apologetic, depressed appearance. Standing erect with shoulders back and chin up indicates confidence and capability.

If you are overweight, go on a diet. Not next week or next month—but right now. The only diet that doesn't work is the one you postpone. To keep the scales overbalanced in the assets column, initiate a daily beauty routine. Just one hour a day can make the difference. If you divide it up this way, it will soon be as natural to you as brushing your teeth:

15 minutes in the morning, for make-up, hair and grooming; 15 minutes at your convenience, for planned exercise for face and figure; 15 minutes in the afternoon, for relaxation, to relieve tension and 15 minutes at night, for brushing hair, removing make-up and lubricating face and body.

So make beauty your duty, and the men in your life will regard you as a cutie.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Women's Views Vary On Rug Cleaning

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Mrs. P.K. that I have light gold wool carpet and have cleaned it several times by making a very sudsy solution of detergent and water. I just rub the suds (not the water) into the carpet with my hand, then take old bath towels and rub in this suds, which cleans and dries at the same time. I only do an area about 2-by-2 feet at one time and it really looks beautiful.

—MRS. J.R.B.

DEAR POLLY—Tell Mrs. P.K. to put away her suds and back away from that wool carpet. My husband sells, installs and cleans carpets and has had to replace many because a woman tried to save money and shrank her carpet. Also, some of the spray and foam cleaners have grease bases and attract dirt. Call a professional service. Back away from that carpet quickly and cautiously.

—ELIZABETH

DEAR GIRLS—I have used Mrs. J.R.B.'s method and found it most satisfactory on large rugs. I do not have wall-to-wall carpet. This freshens and brightens the rug but should not be used exclusively as professional cleaning is necessary periodically. Elizabeth's letter should serve as a caution to those who may be inclined to saturate a rug or carpet. Too much "wetness" could cause shrinking. Using the suds only should not even moisten the pad, which must not get wet. Thoroughly vacuum the rug first, then use ONLY the suds and keep whipping them up if they die down. An egg beater is good for this. The rag used for such wiping will soon show how much loose dirt is being removed.

—POLLY

DISCOUNTING ERROR

LUTON, England (UPI)—The jeweler who misread a manufacturer's price list and sold two gold lighters for $38.16 instead of $403.20 each got one of them back Wednesday.

It was returned to Anthony Judkins by Anthony Pearson of Luton how said later: "I felt sorry for him."

Kelton WSCS Honors Member At Baby Shower

WHEELER (Sp)—The WSCS of the First United Methodist Church of Kelton met recently in the home of Mrs. Johnnie Burrell to honor Mrs. Billy Buckingham with a pink and blue shower.

Mrs. Buster Walser, president, presided over the business session as Mrs. Burrell read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The group sang two hymns, "What A Friend We have in Jesus" and "I'm Coming to the Cross." The devotional was given by Mrs. George Davidson.

The Valentine season was accentuated at refreshment time. Guests attending were Mrs. Benny Castillo, Mrs. Winfred Buckingham, and Mrs. Bobby Buckingham.

Members present were Mmes. George Harris, Garland Moore, George Davidson, Buster Walser, Mrs. Billy Buckingham and daughter, Lacy.

'Peter Pancakes' Create Tradition

At one time, Shrove Tuesday, the climax to the merrymaking and feasting period prior to Lent, was known as Pancake Day in England. The custom of eating pancakes on this day survived and spread. Eating Peter Pancakes will become a custom in your home not only on Shrove Tuesday but on dozens of days once you introduce them to your family.

Simply add smooth peanut butter, the quality kind like Peter Pan, to regular pancake batter. It doesn't matter whether you make the batter from a packaged mix or from scratch. The cakes with the peanut butter added have great appeal to kids as well as to grown-ups who are fond of the popular spread. The p-nutty flavor is the secret and good nutrition comes as a bonus.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Smoked Shoulder Roll (Butt).

Q. Where does it come from?
How is it identified?
A. It comes from the pork shoulder (butt). The meaty boneless eye of the shoulder is smoked and cured. Fat, rather than covering the roll, is distributed throughout meat. This roll is thicker in diameter than Canadian-style bacon.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting, cooking in liquid, broiling, panbroiling or pan-frying. To roast, place meat on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered. Do not cover or add water. Roast in a slow oven (300°F. to 325°F.) until well done (170°F.). To cook in liquid, cover roll with water. Tightly cover and simmer 1½ to 2 hours or until meat is tender, allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

WASHINGTON—Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, explaining that 10 or 15 senators might skip today's vote on an anti-filibuster measure and prolong their Lincoln-Washington holiday recess: "Senators hate to come back to work."

Eggs Offer Protein Source For Lent

This is the time of year when fresh eggs are rampant. Large, medium and small ones are lower-priced, very fresh and ready to be used in countless kitchen ways. So take advantage of them.

With Lent about to begin, they offer a very fine meatless source of top-quality protein. Alternate some egg dishes with meat dishes in your family meals. But remember this: Egg Yolk are the source of cholesterol, not the whites. As so many heart specialists today are warning against too much cholesterol in the diet, it is good sense to limit the number of egg yolks in your diet. Three a week would be a wise selection.

With egg whites it's a different story. Eat all you want of them. But how?

Recently an excellent cookbook, "The Other Half of the Egg," was written by Helen McCully and Jacques Pepin. It gives 180 ways to use up extra yolks and whites. So let's take a look.

For a meatless main course dish, try this recipe for Spinach Souffle. It uses five whites, no yolk.

SPINACH SOUFFLE
4 tablespoons butter
1 cup packed onion
coarsely chopped spinach
Salt
Freshly ground pepper
Freshly ground nutmeg
1 garlic clove, minced
½ cup sauce Bechamel
5 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
CROUTONS

Prepare a 1-quart souffle mold, coating it with fine bread crumbs and grated cheese. Refrigerate.

Place the butter in a small saucepan and allow it to become foaming and almost black. This is important for flavor. Mix in the spinach with

NEW MADISON, Ohio—Restaurant owner Eugene Simpson, who captured a 15-year-old girl who had robbed a bank and then bargained with her armed boyfriend who agreed to surrender his gun if they would free her:

"We said we would and he gave us the gun. Boy, he was sure surprised. He thought we really would let her go."

wooden spatula, adding a dash each of salt, pepper and nutmeg and the garlic. Cover and simmer over low heat for five minutes. Then stir in the Sauce Bechamel until you have a homogeneous mixture. (Make Sauce Bechamel in these proportions: 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, ½-cup milk. Season with salt and freshly ground black pepper.) Serves six.

French Fried Sardine Dish Provides Change For Lent

Lent begins on Feb. 24. Therefore, you may want some new meatless recipes. Or else, you may want good fish ideas simply because you enjoy eating it.

Experiment with sardines. French-fry them. They make an excellent dinner served with hot, boiled potatoes and sliced cucumbers in sour cream.

In a salad, they provide both protein and a surprisingly welcome taste.

FRENCH-FRIED SARDINES

1 or more tins of sardines, according to number of portions desired.
For dinner portions, allow 1 tin per person.

Dry mustard
Bread crumbs
Drain the oil from sardines and prepare a paste of the oil and dry mustard. Remove sardines from tin and spread the paste evenly over each each sardine. Roll in bread crumbs. Place in a wire basket and French-fry in deep fat until sardines turn golden brown. Drain off the excess fat. Serve hot in a covered casserole.

NORWAY SALAD FOR ONE
This versatile salad is equally appropriate for luncheon. Place 8 or 10 whole sardines on a bed of crisp

WASHINGTON—President Nixon at an impromptu news conference Wednesday: "I do not want to suggest that there are any more concessions coming from our side to North Vietnam. We are not going to make any more concessions. The time is for them next to act on the principles we have laid down."

Sardine salad—a perfect luncheon.

lettuce leaves. Circle the sardines with quarter-sections of hard-boiled eggs and tomatoes. Decorate with 2 or 3 radish rosettes and serve with mayonnaise on the side.

Stamp Rate Hike Seen As Step To Better U.S. Postal System

Postmaster Carl V. English said today proposed new postal rate increases will place the nation's postal system on a sound financial basis and shift more of the costs from taxpayers generally to those who use the mails the most.

He explained that recent Postal Service proposals submitted Feb. 1 to the Postal Rate Commission would yield additional revenues of $1.45 billion during fiscal 1972, starting July 1.

The proposals call for increases in virtually all mail categories except parcel post.

If the Rate Commission does not present to the Governors of the Postal Service a recommended decision on rate changes within 90 days, it is anticipated that a temporary rate (third-class) would be in effect by the Postal Service, the Postmaster said.

He pointed out that higher rates had been sought by the Post Office Department under both the current and previous administrations, but no action was taken.

In addition to the long-standing Postal Service proposal for a 2-cent boost for letters from 6 to 8 cents, advertising mail (regular bulk rate third-class) would be increased to a minimum of 5 cents per piece, plus additional increases for heavier weights.

Substantial increases also are proposed for magazines, newspapers and other categories of second-class mail, English said. These rather steep increases would be phased in over five years to soften the impact on mailers.

Other highlights of the proposal, English said, include Airmail rates would go up a penny, from 10 to 11 cents, and airmail cards, from 8 to 9 cents each.

If temporary rates are placed into effect, post cards will go from 5 to 6 cents although the proposal provides for a full increase to 7 cents each.

Concerning "Priority Mail" — packages weighing more than 12 ounces and receiving first-class treatment — higher rates are proposed only for parcels.

SMUGGLED KISS
WINCHESTER, England (UPI)—There was more to the farewell kiss between a prisoner and his girl friend than love, thought the Winchester prison guard.

So he had the prisoner searched and found two pieces of hashish on him. The drug had been passed mouth-to-mouth to him by Julia Carson, 17, a court was told Wednesday.

Miss Carson pleaded guilty to having the drug in her possession and passing it to her boyfriend. She was fined $48.

For a 5-pound priority mail package sent across the U.S., the rates would remain $4.00, under the proposal. However, for a 1-pound package, an increase of from 80 cents to $1 is proposed.

Regular second-class publications — those mailed for delivery outside the publisher's county, excluding certain categories — will be raised 1.9 to 20.9 cents per pound.

Controlled circulation publications — usually periodicals without subscription fees mailed to specific audiences or markets — face an increase in only their minimum per piece rate to 5 cents from the existing 3.8 cents postage fee.

In third-class, the rates for single pieces — often a circular or small parcel — would rise to 8 cents for the first 2 ounces and the fee for each additional ounce would be raised from 2 to 4 cents under the permanent rate proposal.

Mailers holding bulk third-class permits would find their rates per pound raised from 16 to 22, to 22 and 28 cents per pound, respectively, when the proposal is fully effected, and the minimum-per-piece charge would be raised to 5 cents.

Special delivery and registered mailfees would both be increased. The minimum fee for a special delivery letter would rise from 45 to 60 cents, while the rate for registered mail valued up to $100 would be increased from 80 to 95 cents under the proposal. There would be proportionate hikes in the fees for shipments registered at higher values.

When the proposed domestic changes go into effect, similar increases in letter mail rates to Canada and Mexico are planned.

The total yield under the proposal, when fully effective, is estimated at $2,125.8 million, including all of the rates to be phased over a period of years.

In the first year $670 million of the $2,125.8 million would be provided from appropriations by Congress under the Postal Reorganization Act.

About 80 per cent of the nation's mail volume of nearly 90 billion pieces in fiscal year 1972 will be business-type mail, and the bulk of the increase would be borne by these users.

Governor Calls For Creation Of State Housing Corporation

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith Wednesday called for creation of a state housing corporation and wider authority for cooperation between Texas cities as a means of halting economic decay at smaller populated centers.

In his second major message to the legislature in as many days, the governor also recommended a permanent voter registration system, creation of a new state department of community affairs to work with local communities on their problems, and authorization of financial incentives to encourage local industrial development.

"We can accomplish what is only a dying dream in many other parts of the country," Smith said in his 12-page message. "We can take steps to assure that our great cities are not pulled down in a mire of problems created by great concentrations of people, while smaller towns and cities die on the vine for want of jobs, public facilities, and cultural opportunities.

"I propose we begin today." The governor urged lawmakers to:

—Permit financial institutions to place up to one per cent of their assets in a state development corporation to be used to back job - creating industrial growth where other private capital is not available.

—Elevate the present division of state-local relations in the governor's office to a full scale department of community affairs.

FRIDAY, FEB. 15, 1971
 YOUR BIRTHDAY: FRIDAY. The sun moves from Aquarius to Pisces at 2:28 a.m. EST. Those born before this minute this year are Aquarians; those born after are Pisceans. For the coming year both are peaceful conditions in which normal progress and prosperity can be achieved. Friday's Pisceans are practical; Friday's Aquarians are more inclined to literature and mystical philosophy.
 ARIES (March 21-April 19): Lively company offers better prospects for business, budding friendships. Get out of your rut of personal habits.
 TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Associates are easier to spend money. It isn't going out of style, so hang onto your share. Plenty of debates or even arguments follow.
 GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Line up supplies, equipment, and help before you get entangled in repairs—or leave them alone.
 CANCER (June 21-July 22): Review your methods, look for a more effective approach. You may have to take time to calm friends' excitement. Be brief.
 LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Willingly endure passing inconvenience for the sake of improvements. Diplomatic skill should be in action over this week-end.
 VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Simplicity, cut out unproductive activity. Social contacts are distracting. Some friends ask questions.
 LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): While winding up the work week, put in the first move—to start new ventures if they are different from what you've been doing.
 SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Realizing the worth of a good thing when you hear about it from somebody who doesn't is a rare gift. Avoid tight schedules.
 SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Family situations include surprises, excitement. Changing your mind during the morning complicates matters. Keep comments to the point.
 CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): If you achieve something, let the doing be its own reward. Silly remarks deserve no response.
 AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cooperation is the watchword. Relationships "take" and you leave a friend where before you had an acquaintance.
 PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): If you see something you want, ask for it. You have nothing to lose, and might learn something. Adapt to new conditions.

No. 1, Harvesters Battle Sandies

The Pampa Harvesters after jumping into the first undisputed lead of District 3 AAAA competition for the season will try and maintain their winning streak and extend it to four against the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm tomorrow night at 8 p.m.

The Harvesters defeated the co-champs in Harvester Fieldhouse Tuesday night 56 to 51. Palo Duro losing their bid for title honors leaves Pampa in fairly good shape as far as district competition is concerned.

The Harvesters next two foes are Amarillo and Borger. The Pampa team bombed the Sandies in a home bout Feb. 2 with a score of 100 to 74. The 26 point victory came after the Harvesters ran over the Sandie defensive tactics.

Home court advantage is said to be non-existent but whenever you play Amarillo you seem to give up about an eight point margin every time. The Pampa fans are helping the Harvesters with their support and at most of the out-of-town clashes this season the home crowd has been outshouted and outcheered by Harvester fans.

A win tomorrow will place the Harvesters against the Borger Bulldogs. The Bulldogs will meet Pampa on our home courts and revenge for a 55 to 33 loss in the back of everyone's mind.

Rivalry between the two teams will reach its peak next Tuesday as the Bulldogs can by defeating the Harvesters throw district into playoff tournaments to decide the championship.

The winners of district 3 AAAA will be playing Plainview for the Bi-district title. Pampa is fielding a junior dominated squad but while junior in class the team is senior in playing ability.

Go to the game tomorrow night in Amarillo and see the Harvesters in action. Game time is set for 6 p.m. for the Shockers and 8 p.m. for the Harvesters.

Drags Creeping Up On Football, Baseball

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Old established sports like football and baseball had better watch out.

Ben Christ is creeping up on them. And the king of the hot rod drag strip promoters is aiming for places like the Astrodome.

Christ, literally has "grown up" with the burgeoning sport of drag racing, predicts that within five years, it will equal or surpass in interest such sports as pro football, golf, baseball and hockey.

Since Christ opened the nation's first regulation drag strip at Warren, Ohio, in 1955, he has seen the "drags" grow to one of the biggest spectator sports in the country. His tracks alone, at San Antonio, St. Louis, Cleveland, Fort Worth, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Lake Geneva, Wis., attract an estimated 2 1/2 million fans a year.

He is the largest single drag racing promoter in the country, with some 28 separate companies in related fields.

Christ, who pronounces his name to rhyme with mist, calls the growth of drag racing an "amazing sports phenomenon," especially in light of the bad image it had in the minds of most people when it first began in the late 1940s.

"Just think, we're still in the first generation of drag racers," Christ said. "Just wait until the second generation comes along. They'll be even more car-oriented than their parents and will look to drag racing as their most important form of entertainment."

Christ was in Phoenix this week to receive an award from the American Hot Rod Association as the drag racing "promoter of the decade." The presentation was a prelude to the AHRA's annual winter nationals, opening at Beeline Dragway near Phoenix today.

$10,000 Wins Build Laver's Morale And His Bank Book

NEW YORK (UPI)—When it comes to judging Rod Laver's tennis game, it's difficult to find a better expert than Roy Emerson.

Emerson was more than just another interested spectator Wednesday night when Laver polished off Dennis Ralston 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3 in the $210,000 Tennis Champions Classic. That's 10 straight and $100,000 for Laver in the winner-take-all $10,000 classic matches.

The man who'll try to stop Laver from making it 11 straight and a sweep before the Feb. 22 semifinals is Emerson. Already a straight set loser to Laver on Jan. 16, Emerson will face Laver for the second time in New Haven, Conn., on Friday.

Emerson knows he has a formidable task. "The last two months, he's been playing the best tennis of his career," Emerson said. "He's at the top of his game."

And Emerson knows when Laver is at his best. There was a time when Emerson was considered the best player in tennis. But that changed in 1962 when Laver won his first grand slam, beating Emerson in the finals of three of the four tournaments.

Laver has been the man to beat in tennis ever since—and he hasn't been beaten that often.

Ralston was given a shot at it since he'd beaten Laver in their last two matches in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills and the Pacific Championships.

Ralston started out well, winning the first set as he broke Laver in the sixth game. But he said the turning point came in the second game of the second set when he felt a linesman blew a call. Ralston was obviously upset and it looked like he threw a ball in the linesman's direction but Ralston claimed he didn't.

Concerned Athletes Follow These Simple Rules For Basic Eye Care

(Last of Two Articles.)

By DAVID HENDIN

NEW YORK (NEA)—Everybody participating in athletics or recreational pastimes should be aware of the need for adequate vision. The Society for Visual Care offers these vision tips for athletes:

BASEBALL. Fast and accurate hand-eye coordination and coordination of both eyes (binocular coordination) are necessary in baseball, along with good peripheral or side vision and superior depth perception.

Among those who wear glasses, contact lenses are often the best solution. If regular glasses are worn, the lenses should be large and give a wide field of view. Plastic or impact-resistant glasses are preferred.

BASKETBALL. Highly developed side vision is vitally important in basketball. The ability to focus on an object 20 feet away or farther, and excellent depth perception are also necessary.

If regular glasses are worn, plastic lenses and a strap that attaches to the temples and behind the head should be used.

BOWLING. Whether you are a "pin," "line" or "spot" bowler, the ability to focus clearly on distant objects is a must. Good depth perception and good foot-hand-eye coordination are also essential.

If the bifocal-wearing bowler finds that the bifocal segment of his regular glasses is too high and interferes with his vision, he should have a special pair of lenses without bifocals made for bowling.

FISHING. The ability to focus on near (for baiting) or distant (for accurate casting) objects, along with good depth perception, are required. Fishermen are often faced with the problem of glare, and prescription sunglasses are advisable.

FOOTBALL. Getting the whole picture at a glance is the most important visual skill needed by the football player. A wide field of side vision is also important.

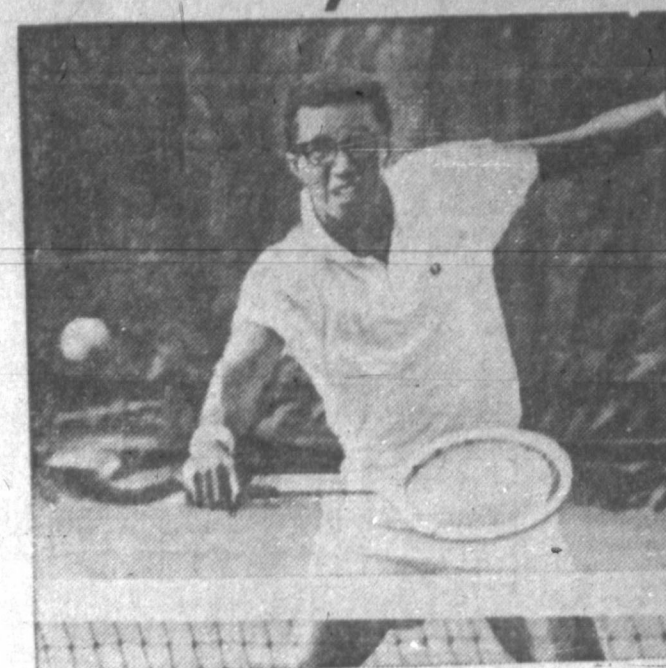

Focusing quickly and accurately on a distant object is more important for backs and ends than for interior linemen. When vision correction is necessary, contact lenses must be used.

TENNIS. Tennis is a sport of triple movement with associated visual judgments—the player, the ball and the opponent.

The tennis player's split-second timing must be based on a foundation of good side vision, good focusing on distant objects, superior depth perception, good coordination of both eyes and good hand-eye coordination.

GOLF. Good depth and distance perception, the ability to focus sharply on distant objects and the ability to predict the effects of turf and slope of green are essential to the golfer.

Ordinary bifocals or trifocals cannot be satisfactorily worn because of the awkward head positioning caused by these corrective lenses when playing golf. Golf glasses with wide lenses and absorptive tint are the best solution.

HUNTING AND TARGET SHOOTING. A hunter must be visually sure of his target before he pulls the trigger. Excellent hand-eye coordination and the ability to focus on near or distant objects are necessary.

Estimates show that 500 hunters are killed and 3,000 injured each year by the guns of fellow hunters. One study showed that 77 per cent of the hunters causing hunting accidents had defective vision, and half of them were not aware of it.

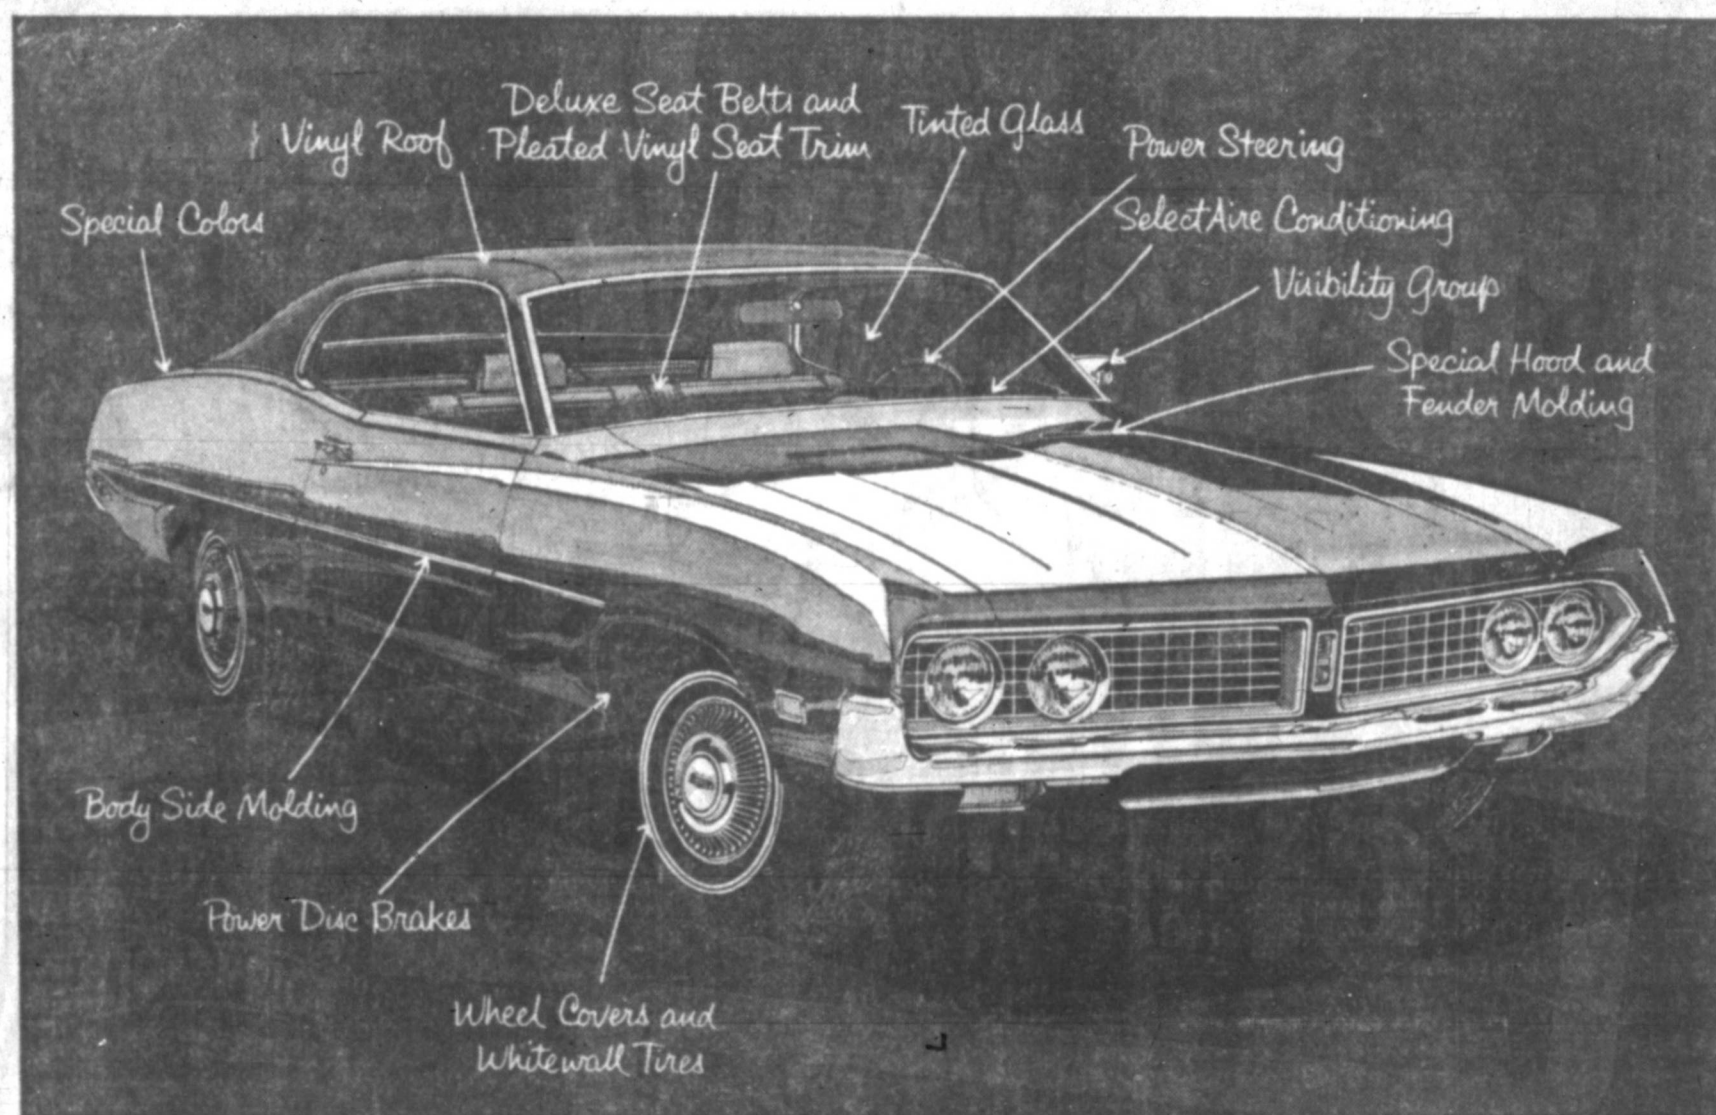

It is estimated that some 8 per cent of the male population of the United States are color blind and have particular trouble distinguishing between red and green. For modern hunting safety it is advisable to wear a bright orange hunting cap and clothing instead of red. (End Series.)

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market surge since May has been one of the greatest rebounds in contemporary history—one which "certainly does not indicate moderation," according to the International Statistical Bureau. The huge volume, it adds, is a "clear indication moderation is not being practiced." While the bureau urges moderation, it also stresses that it is still "optimistic" and is "not emphasizing the possibility of a protracted drastic decline in the stock market."

The Dines Letter regards the current high volume as "exceedingly bullish." The company says the volume is "quite different from the climactic binge found at important market crescendos." Dines describes the current activity as "absorptive," applicable to "people desperately anxious to get out even" after suffering through the 1967 crash.

"The market has been basking in the warmth of sunny pronouncement from Washington—but the forces of doubt and dissent are regrouping," Spear and Staff warns. The company also says future rallies may be tempered since the cash positions of many mutual funds "have been worked down to contingency levels." However, the firm expects more public participation and says the market is "no overvalued."

Tragedy heaped upon tragedy is bringing closer the possible break up of Pakistan.

It is a country that never should have come into being in the first place. One thousand miles of an unfriendly India separate East and West Pakistan, which have no natural bond except their Moslem religion. That is the first tragedy.

A second is an unbridled population growth which makes East Pakistan the most thickly populated place of its size on earth. It has been said that if the United States had a population of equal density, it would have 4.5 billion people.

A third was last fall's cyclone and tidal wave which officially took more than 150,000 lives and may have taken twice that, and led East Pakistanis to charge gross neglect and acclous inattention and utter indifference.

National elections last December named a new national assembly which is to meet early next month with the drafting of a new constitution its most urgent task. When that task has been completed and the new constitution "authenticated" by President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, the country is to return to civilian rule.

But whether such a return is possible or even whether Pakistan can continue to exist in its present form depends upon the outcome of a struggle between two men. Sheik Mujibur Rahman whose Awami League won a landslide victory in East Pakistan and more than half the seats in the 313-man national assembly, and Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, whose letting Pakistan People's party won 86 seats in West Pakistan.

Rep. Price Introduces Bills To Help People To Seek Higher Education

Texas Congressman Bob Price has introduced two bills in the U.S. House of Representatives to encourage more people to seek higher educational opportunities.

Price declared, "Our education system has been a tragic victim of inflation. Operation costs for universities and vocational schools have risen dramatically, as have tuition and living expenses for those in attendance."

According to recent U.S. Office of Education reports: Since the 1961-62 school year tuition costs have risen 57 per cent for public institutions and 49 per cent for private ones. Student housing expenses have increased 55 per cent in public institutions and 52 per cent in private ones.

The first of Price's bills establishes tax credits for higher education and vocational training expenses. This credit operates on a sliding scale and benefits primarily low and middle-income families.

A tax credit of 100 per cent would apply to the first $200 of educational expenses; 25 per cent for expenses from $200 to $500 and 5 per cent from $500 to $1500. Maximum tax credits would be allowable for taxpayers earning up to $18,000 annually. Those with larger incomes would be subject to a tax credit rollback of 1 per cent of taxable income exceeding the $18,000 ceiling.

Price said the loss in federal taxes would be more than offset by economic and revenue growth from increased individual productivity. He cited Commerce Department figures that college graduates earn an average of $213,000 more than do high school graduates, and $371,000 more than persons with 8 years of schooling or less.

His second bill establishes a Student Loan Marketing Association (Sally Mae) to generate funds for federal student loan programs from the private money market.

Price stated, "Federal student loan sources are in grave danger of drying up. Individuals seeking financial help for higher education or vocational training are caught between rapidly dwindling sources of loan funds on the one hand, and rapidly increasing costs of education on the other."

At present, these loans are provided by tax dollars. Under the Price proposal Sally Mae would operate in the private sector as does Fanny Mae, the Federal National Mortgage Association. This he says will make student loans more attractive financial opportunities for private investors.

The student loans would still be guaranteed by the government, but Price says this will only result in a minimal tax cost because over its five years of operation loan defaults have amounted to less than 1 per cent.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — This month's "good thinking" award unquestionably belongs to Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., for his creative cerebration in the field of drug control.

At House hearings on narcotics traffic in the armed forces, White suggested that the government "determine what blight or bugs attack the poppy plant," from whence heroin is derived.

"Every farm crop is susceptible to some bug or blight," he pointed out. "The numerous poppy fields of the Far East might be attacked with some such natural enemy."

Beautiful! Stamping out drug abuse in an ecological manner is truly a worthy concept. Except for one little thing.

The Hooked Hornworm
Plant specialists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture tell me that as far as they know there is no natural enemy of that sort — no insect, such as the opium weevil, or blight, such as the poppy rot.

If no poppy pests currently exist, then perhaps it would be possible to train other insects for that kind of work. One likely candidate might be the tobacco hornworm.

Since it spends its life worming or boring its way into tobacco plants, this insect presumably is hooked on nicotine. (For the reason, it probably should be called a hookworm. But let us not cavil over technicalities.)

Now suppose that the tobacco hornworm were placed in a field of wild hemp, otherwise known as marijuana. In view of its habit patterns, it is reasonable to expect that within a short while the hornworm would be hooked on pot.

Kicking The Habit
You can, I'm sure, already see where this program is leading. For while there is no proof that pot creates a craving for the hard stuff, statistics do show that a goodly percentage of heroin addicts began with marijuana.

If, then, you take a tobacco hornworm that has graduated to marijuana and place it in a poppy field, certain results can be anticipated.

For the first time, in all likelihood, there will emerge a poppy pest with enough destrucentire crop.

It may be that poppy growers will then develop a methadone spray to help the hornworms kick the habit. Should that happen I don't know what the next step would be, but I'm confident Rep. White will think of something.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

The Draft And Freedom

We fear the United States Congress will not have the courage to let the military draft expire this year. There are too many people in government who insist that such a step toward freedom would be too costly and that it would be impossible to enlist volunteers unless there were the threat of the draft to coerce "volunteers."

President Nixon says he is in favor of replacing the conscripted forces with volunteers, but he wants more time. He has asked Congress for a two-year extension of the draft law, and an additional $1.5 billion to raise the pay of enlisted men by 50 per cent. These are designed as first steps toward the all-volunteer military by the middle of 1973.

But it would appear doubtful that he will get his requests. The powerful chairmen of the armed services committees of both the House and Senate are opposed to volunteers, and they no doubt will get their way.

The trouble is that few people in Washington believe in freedom. They believe in coercion.

A presidential study group of some time back recommended that the draft be allowed to expire next June 30 when the present law is ended. But even the most bitter congressional critics of the war in Southeast Asia seem unwilling to take the one step which would tend to hold back further sending of conscripts around the world.

Most of them say they want to "reform" the draft. This usually consists of eliminating occupational or student deferments. Frequently proposals also are that every young man be required to serve a period of time either in the military service or some other government work. This, we submit, is not an improvement—it is worse.

The question of whether the cost would be too high to have better-paid volunteers is one that may not be proved until it is tried. Certainly the present system of expensive training of young men who serve only the required time is hardly economical. Some boosters of voluntary service contend that the cost would be little if any higher than the present system. But, the cost of the draft in loss of freedom is even greater.

We believe that if the military were totally volunteer, the politicians in Washington would not be so ready to embark on military expeditions around the world. This was foreseen by Daniel Webster Dec. 9, 1814. In a speech in Congress, opposing the draft he noted regarding conscripted soldiers: "They may be put on any service, at home or abroad, for defense or for invasion, according to the will and pleasure of government."

Further he asked: "Is this, sir, consistent with the character of a free government? Is this civil liberty? Is this the real character of our Constitution? No, Sir. Indeed it is not. The Constitution is libeled, foully libeled. The people of this country have not established for themselves such a fabric of despotism. They have not purchased at a vast expense of their own treasure and their own blood a Magna Charta to be slaves."

"...A free government with arbitrary means to administer it is a contradiction; a free government without adequate provision for personal security is an absurdity; a free government, with an uncontrolled power of military conscription, is a solecism, at once the most ridiculous and abominable that ever entered into the head of man."

Daniel Webster put it well when he said: "The question is nothing less than whether the most essential rights of personal liberty shall be surrendered, and despotism embraced in its worst form."

And that's the question facing America still today.

It Hasn't Changed Much

We live in a critical culture. From the very beginning we have thrived on criticism. Without it the country never would have sought separation from England or formed a constitution. The world of learning, sports, religion, business, arts and letters all must have comment and constructive criticism or they will overnight.

Underground newspapers flourish in schools around the land. Why? For one reason they are candid about local or national gripes that students feel have been put down or ignored by politicians, school administrators and teachers. Wrote one young lady who was distressed by high school training today:

"Everything that can be tested and marked is tested and marked. We have intelligence tests, aptitude tests, physical fitness tests, regents tests, college boards and a myriad of other examinations. It really does not seem to matter whether a subject is understood or not just so long as the grade is right. All through one science course I was bewildered, but because I received a high mark on the final, many people assumed that I had a thorough understanding of the subject."

A substantial amount of criticism, constructive and otherwise, is coming from the younger generation. They are vocal and visible. But hasn't this always been true? Aristotle is believed to have said in 350 B.C.:

"They (the young) have exalted notions; because they have not yet been humbled by life or learned its necessary limitations; moreover, their hopeful disposition makes them think themselves equal to great things, and that means having exalted notions. They would always rather do noble deeds than useful ones. Their lives are regulated more by moral feeling than by reasoning. All their mistakes are in the direction of doing things excessively and vehemently—they love too much and hate too much—and the same with everything else."

Wordy Tax Law

Sometimes a paragraph tells a great deal. The following is a brief from the Tax Report column of the Wall Street Journal:

"How wordy is the tax law? Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the treasury, gave an indication in discussing a pending piece of legislation. The proposal would substitute the word 'Secretary' wherever the phrase 'the (treasury) Secretary or his delegate' appears in the law. Then in one place 'Secretary' would be defined as including his delegate, too. That one change, Cohen says, would shorten the Internal Revenue Code by about 5,000 words."

For the information of News readers, if this entire page were filled with solid reading material, without heads or illustration, it would have approximately 6,500 words.

Now if you subtract slightly more than one column, you will see what a mass of reading matter could be eliminated from the income tax code, with one slight change. This kind of streamlining does not alter meaning but does save tax dollars in printing costs and also filling space purchased with tax dollars.

WASHINGTON

Why Not Job-Train Oldsters?

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—We talk a great deal about the underprivileged.

Consider the man (or woman) over 45.

According to recent studies, less than 10 per cent of our federal-state job training and retraining is aimed at these oldsters.

Yet they probably provide most of our actual long-term unemployment.

Figures are difficult to come by. Many of these middle-aged and older men and women have given up trying to find work. They are, therefore, not counted in unemployment statistics.

But there are guesses. Add some recent government estimates on this hidden joblessness to the official published figures and you get some startling totals—a real 45-and-over unemployment of 4.4 million, an effective unemployment rate close to 15 per cent.

We are talking about men and women who need work. Many need it desperately. Out of this group we are talking only about those who want to work, and are capable of working full- or part-time, either today, or with suitable training or retraining.

Many of these people saved money all their lives so they would not be a burden on others. They now find their small incomes gnawed to the bone by inflation.

The number of oldsters who want to work is astonishingly large. One example: The current estimate is that between four and five million men and women 55 and older would be interested in working as part-time community service aides.

A number of older men and women have been spectacularly successful in the Peace Corps, and in the "paunch corps" for retired businessmen. It is reported that in a number of pilot projects, variously called Green Thumbs, Green Light and Senior Aides, older men and women have shown proficiency.

This column has reported before on business studies which show that, contrary to popular opinion, selected older men and women have proved themselves highly reliable, and that they take to retraining and to new knowledge as quickly as young men and women many years their junior.

Of course, this isn't the whole story. There are many older men and women so disabled, so old or so beset by illness they cannot work.

Overall, as publicized recently, one out of five men and women over 65 live in poverty—almost five million in all. And nearly eight million 45 and older fall below the poverty line.

We read with horror of those barbaric peoples who left their elderly out in the open so that they would die and not be a burden on the younger population.

But there is something equally barbaric in this half-living, half-dying. Here are men and women. Many want to work. Many have something to contribute. Many have proven their reliability, their integrity and their talents. Most are not asking for charity. What are we telling them except to die (unless they've saved enough money)?
