BIT GETS OIL AT 2,298 FEET

Would Be Shallowest of Wells in Entire Panhandle

Panhandle oil interest has turned sharply to a test in Carson county, less than two miles west of the Gray county line, where it is believed a new shallow pay of promising potentialities has been picked up.

As the result of a test being made today, the well may be completed at 2,298 feet—the shallowest total depth in the Panhandle.

This well is the Beaudoin et al's No. 1 Barnard in section 23, block 4, H. & G. N. survey, of Carson county. The bit for seventeen feet has been in oil of high gravity. Yesterday the hole was bottomed at 2,298 feet in a sandy lime formation. Whether it will be drilled deeper will depend upon today's scheduled production test.

A light show of oil was encountered from 2,170 to 2,176 feet. A gas pay picked up from 2,251 to 2,264 feet with the heavy show put a small amount in the slush pit, from 2,281 to 2,298 feet. Ten million feet of gas was encountered with the second showing of oil.

The test is being drilled with rotary tools.

This important well is situated 2,600 feet south of the Last Chance Gas company's No. 1 McConnell, formerly known as the Tipton-McConnell test. Drilled to a total depth of 2,270 feet, the Last Chance Gas company's well is making about 30 barrels a day natural through twenty feet of four-inch pipe perforated, and has not been cleaned out in several months.

The new sensation is 2 1-2 miles northwest of Kingsmill and is the same distance southwest of the Southern Petroleum Exploration company's test in section 174, block 3, Gray county which came in three weeks ago for 700 barrels.

County Court Is Upheld by Judge

AUSTIN, Feb. 26. (AP)—Judge George Calhoun held today that the Travis county court had jurisdiction to try the contest case of Gordon Griffin against Judge J. E. Leslie for the office of district judge of Hidalgo county.

Attorneys for Judge Leslie had attacked jurisdiction of the court, when Griffin, who claimed he received more votes than Judge Leslie, obtained a temporary against Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, to prevent her opening and canvassing the returns from Hidalgo county.

While trial of the case will be on the plaintiff's petition for an injunction, it will involve practically all of the contentions of the two victims in Hidalgo county which have been at loggerheads for many months.

Request for Money to Support Her Child Led to Killing of Woman, Says Mother in Amarillo Murder Case Today

AMARILLO, Feb. 26. (AP)—That Mrs. Mary Horton's request from her divorced husband of $5 for the support of their child led to the argument which resulted in her death was testified to here today by Mrs. L. H. Giles, an eye witness of the tragedy and mother of Mrs. Horton.

As H. Troy Horton, the defendant, lay on a stretcher in front of her, Mrs. Giles said that she and Mrs. Horton called at Horton's lunch stand to ask him for $5 toward the support of his youngest son who lived with the grandmothe. The conversation resulted in a quarrel, she said, and later the defendant followed Mrs. Horton to her mother's home. There the quarrel was renewed.

"Another man was brought into the conversation by Horton," Mrs. Giles decfiiared. "Mrs. Horton asserted that she and the man were married, and the defendant shouted 'I'll kill you.'"

Mrs. Horton ran toward the front door and a bullet entered her back. A second hit her forehead as she fell, and a third lodged in her chest.

"The gun was then turned on me, but I fled fro mthe room and almost immediately heard a fourth shot fired," Mrs. Giles testified.

Horton pleaded insanity.

Charles Chaplin Is Ptomaine Victim

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 26. (AP)—Charles Chaplin, motion pictures star, was confined to his bed today recovering from an illness which caused him to faint at his studio.

Shortly after beginning work at the studio yesterday Chaplin complained he was ill and asked for a glass of water. As it was handed to him he swayed and fell to the floor.

Dr. Cecil Reynolds, Chaplin's physician, revived the comedian and ordered him to go home and remain in bed at least four days. The illness was diagnosed as ptomaine poisoning.

George Gill left last night for Wichita Falls. Mrs. Gill has spent the last several weeks there with friends.

TESTIMONY OF STAR WITNESS CALLED FALSE

Dewhurst Had Declared Defendant Knew of Changes

LIFE STORY IS TOLD ON STAND

Bird Hunting Alibi Is Repeated in Case at Austin

AUSTIN, Feb. 26. (AP)—Ten minutes after court opened today, Congressman-elect Augustus J. McCloskey, defendant in a criminal trial in which he is charged with election fraud, mounted the witness stand in his own behalf.

The former Bexar county judge casually folded his arms and testified in a measured, well-balanced tone as he was led through an interrogation by Wayne Davis of his counsel.

The congressman-elect recited the history of his life from his birth in San Antonio, study and work at stenography there, study and practice of law, and elevation to public office. Once he was an alderman by appointment and eight years ago became Bexar county judge. The $1,750,000 Bexar county courthouse and roads and bridges entailing large expenditures were built under his administration, he said, and nothing ever was officially questioned.

He aspired to a seat in congress, he testified, because "I had an ambition to go to congress and it would give me additional educational opportunities for my children."

The defense worked into the allegations made in the testimony of Dave Dewhurst, assistant Bexar county clerk, the state's star witness. Dewhurst said that with McCloskey's knowledge and approval he showed Charles Ramirez how to steal the election, the time being the Saturday afternoon after the November 6 election.

McCloskey testified that at that time he was with a man bird hunting 20 miles from San Antonio.

He denied that he had anything to do with Dewhurst or anybody else in changing election records.

"I didn't know it was done, and don't yet," said McCloskey in denying any connection whatsoever with faking returns.

He proceeded with detailed denials of every allegation by the state.

The defense rested at 10:40 a. m., and a brief recess was declared.

Baylor Girls Not Agreed on Lindbergh as Model Husband

TEMPLE, Feb. 26. (AP)—About half of the girls in Baylor college here would "fly" at a chance to marry Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh, but the other half offer many objections.

This was brought out today in a census of the college taken by students of the department of journalism and intended for publication in a students edition of the Temple Telegram.

Some objected to Col. Lindbergh's fame, the athletic type thought that he was "gawkey," and others, believed to have made up their minds already, refused to give their reasons.

Girls contemplating a career said they would rather be known as the woman someone else married than as the girls whom Lindbergh married. The flapper type were certain he would not appeal to them as a husband, but said they would be thrilled to ride with him, because "he seems to like old-fashioned things."

Hundreds of acres of this fruit are under cultivation in the orchards of Coachelle Valley in that state.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION PLANS DAY NURSERY—ANNUAL CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS WILL BE MARCH 8, 9

Directors of the Pampa Welfare association yesterday planned a wider scope of activity for this year and made plans for raising the necessary funds.

President T. D. Hobart appointed the following finance committee: Chairman, Lynn Boyd, Frank Henry, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar and Mrs. C. W. Stowell.

This committee met and fixed the goal for the year at $4,000. The days of the finance drive will be March 8 and 9. Women of the churches and members of the Lions and Rotary clubs will be asked to assist. Membership cards will be placed in each subscribing business, so that solicitors for charity may be referred to the central organization.

The budget includes a day nursery as one of the principal items. According to Mrs. M. P. Downs, welfare nurse, much of the difficulty of administering charity would be eliminated were there a nursery where women who must work might leave their children.

The organization is without funds, and several directors are now raising money to pay this month's bills.

Pampa Gets Snow While Texas Skies Are Reported Clear

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 26. (AP)—Search of the ruins of Duncan, Miss., today revealed the bodies of seven additional victims of yesterday's tornado and increased the storm toll in the states of Mississippi, Arkansas, and Texas to 29.

Clearing skies were predicted for the greater part of Texas today and the epidemic of wind storms which struck East Central Texas yesterday, killing four people and doing great property damage seemed to have passed.

Grand Prairie and Cooper suffered the heaviest in the storms, two being killed at each place. At Cooper, 60 miles from Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Jones were killed when their home collapsed. Alfred Gibson and his wife, negroes were killed at Grand Prairie in the wreckage of their cottage.

Pampa's weather today belied the encouraging prediction of "Tuesday fair" when out of an overcast sky came several hours of snowfall—big fluffy flakes that floated down with scarcely enough wind to indicate the direction from which it came. Tomorrow's forecast of partly cloudy indicated continuation of winter's reluctant stay.

Chicago Election Is Tame Affair

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. (AP)— Heavy police details and 1,700 watchers at the polls seemed to function effectively today in Chicago's aldermanic election, for only minor disagreements and irregularities were reported.

Four precinct captains, involved in disputes outside polling places, were arrested and taken to the election commisssioner's office for questioning. They were dismissed when they explained they were arguing about instructing voters outside the polls.

W. W. Brown Says He Was Blinded by Another Auto

Struck by an automobile while they were walking on South Cuyler street about 11:30 o'clock last night, I. S. Reddick was killed and Mrs. Reddick sustained a leg fracture and severe cuts and bruises about the head.

Mr. Reddick, an employe of the Western Carbon company, was 34 year old. His injuries were so serious that he died enroute to the McKean & Connor hospital in a Malone ambulance. Mrs. Reddick's condition was critical today, but physicians said she had a chance to recover.

The car which struck the couple, a Chrysler coupe, was driven by W. W. Brown, an employe of the Prairie Oil & Gas company in the South Pampa field. He assisted after the accident and reported to officers. He was questioned, but released pending further investigation.

Mr. Brown stated that he was blinded by lights from an approaching car, and did not see Mr. and Mrs. Reddick until an instant before they were struck as they were walking by the Sykes, Merrick, and Boyd Lumber company. He was much affected by the accident.

Coroner C. E. Cary said that he would hold an informal inquest during the day.

"It's Like This—"

SUPT. HESSEY is not asking an unreasonable thing in announcing that applicants for positions as county teachers must present health certificates.

The children should be protected from disease carriers. They should even be protected from teachers whose poor physical condition cause them to be irritable. The gospel of health can be taught by example better than precept.

In asking for a certificate of health, the superintendent is in no way casting doubt upon the ability and fitness of the teacher. Similar requests are being made in other professions and in corporation business. Moreover, to require a person to be examined once each year is really doing him or her a service, and the practice is in keeping with the best trends in disease prevention.

The teacher holds a place of dignified responsibility, and is worthy of her hire. She should be paid in keeping with the importance of her work and the character of skill required. The teaching business is no place for the unfit. It should not be made a haven for those who must find work, whether by reason of misfortune or inability to take other employment available.

Better teaching presumes better pay and greater skill for the benefit of the taught. Requiring health certificates is one step toward achieving that standard.

PENSIONING of ex-presidents is seldom discussed, but the country is interested in knowing that the former chief executives are not reduced in dignity to a point that would embarrass themselves and the nation likewise.

Practically any president, by reason of his real or assumed importance, would be an asset to a big business after he leaves the White House. Mr. Coolidge has been offered jobs ranging from a college presidency to the position of editor-in-chief of the Denver Post.

It is hard to imagine the president as either a great college head or as a good newspaper executive. He would, of course, be only nominally in charge of either work. No doubt his signed articles would be of interest, but their value would gradually decline. The public does not take kindly to articles which are too authoritative in tone unless they come from the White House or some position of equal eminence.

No, Mr. Coolidge probably won't edit the Denver Post, nor is it likely that he will head a college. While a college president must be a politician, he must be more of the type of a ward leader, rather than a president of the United States.

CANDIDATES for city offices are raising a big outcry over the necessity of publishing regular financial statements on public business. To judge by the number of pledges being made over the country, one would be led to believe that the public will soon know how its business is being conducted.

But not so. Most of those who roar the loudest about failure to publish clear-cut statements will ,if elected, be as guilty. The politicians out of power are right in saying that the public should know how its money is being spent, but they know that some of the transactions they would likely make would be open to criticism and that they as office holders would be no better than the general average of "public servants".

Even where the law provides for publication, office holders ignore the mandatory provisions as to delinquent taxes and other similar items. This is true of Gray county and we do not have to go further for an example.

The law is very clear in this matter, and few attempt have been made to change it.

An attempt is being made, we are informed, to pass a law at this session of the legislature to permit forfeiture of a dentist's license if he advertises his business. Just how the state could dictate the activities of a character in no way related to the skill and integrity of a dentist we are unable to say. If the dentists through their association wish to insist upon such a code of "ethics", that is their affair, but it is the right and duty of the state to supervise licensing only as it applies to skillful service to the public. The proposed bill, if passed, would set precedent capable of leading to absurd conclusions.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — The only noteworthy opposition to the anticipated general tariff raid, except that from foreign source, appear to have come from President-elect Hoover himself, in private conversation.

Tariff fights in the past have aroused the country. But this time there isn't any fight. There are two reasons generally given for the lack of opposition. One is that the country is pretty well sold, rightly or wrongly, on the protective tariff. The other is that there is now hardly a member of Congress, so wide has been the expansion of our industrialization, who hasn't some industry in his district which yells for protection.

Concerning the first factor, it may be said in passing that judging from the squeals heard before the House Ways and Means Committee most American manufacturers are on the verge of bankruptcy which can only be averted by higher duties, which might seem to indicate some doubt about prosperity.

* * *

The other is a matter of stern reality for any congressman. It doesn't do for him to ignore the wishes of business men in his district, especially those of powerful manufacturers or other producers. And if he seeks protection for his own home folks he must support similar plea from other members, for tariff bills are always a beautiful and touching example of mutual aid.

Just what sort of a tariff rejiggering Mr. Hoover really wants will soon be apparent. The more intriguing problem concerns what sort of a tariff rejiggering he will have to accept and the question whether or not Mr. Hoover will actually stand up and make a fight against the raid.

At last reports Mr. Hoover favored increases merely on about 15 per cent of the duty list embracing only those things which would help the farmer. It doubtless will be pointed out early in the special session, as no one has bothered to mention lately, that increased tariff rates would hardly help raisers of the six major crops in this country because there is in each one an annual exportable surplus.

These crops are wheat, corn, hogs, cotton, tobacco and rice and no way has yet been approved which would give their producers the benefit of the inoperative protection which they now enjoy. Meanwhile everyone else who would profit by more protection is horning in on what was originally supposed to be the grain belt's own show.

Of course, there are many other crops which would benefit by higher duties. Increases on Cuban sugar and restrictions on Filipino sugar would help our own sugar interests, beet and cane. Wool growers could get still higher prices if there were no foreign competition to keep prices within reason. And producers of such items as fruits, nuts and olives, so many kinds of which are grown in Mr. Hoover's own native state of California, could be helped immediately. But that wouldn't be anything for the grain belt to cheer about. That section wants effective protection for what it sells rather than what it buys.

Meanwhile some embarrassment has been occasioned to long-suffering congressmen whose back-home interests seek protection for themselves and want to deny it to others. Shoe manufacturers, for instance, want prohibitive tariffs on shoes and none on hides. Cattle raisers and tanneries, of course, are demanding a duty on hides. The congressman who has both shoe factories and tanneries in his district as some have, is in a bad way.

His Rheumatism Overcome; Gains Sixteen Pounds

"Since I began taking Sargon my weight has increased from 96 pounds to 112—an actual gain of 16 pounds—but the most wonderful thing of all is the way Sargon overcame my rheumatism."

THOS. B. BELL

"For twelve years I suffered tortures with pains in my knees and hips. At times I couldn't walk without crutches.

"I also suffered with stomach trouble, constipation and biliousness. For months I lived almost entirely on soup and bread. I lost energy and my general condition became dreadfully rundown. I tried nearly every medicine I heard of, but nothing did me any real good.

"Now, I am like a different man. Every ache and pain is gone. I eat anything I want without a sign of trouble. The rheumatism has disappeared and my strength and energy have returned. A friend of mine who had seen me on the street a few months ago, saw me the other day. I was hustling along walking as good as anybody. He could hardly believe his own eyes and asked me 'What in the world have you done' and I told him what Sargon had done for me.

"The Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the finest I ever used and they have entirely rid me of constipation. From now on my faith is pinned to the Sargon Treatment."

The above enthusiastic statement was made by Thos. B. Bell, well known retired farmer, residing at 415 West California St., Oklahoma City.

Sargon may be obtained in Pampa from Fatheree Drug Co., and in McLean from Erwin Drug Co.—(adv.)

Isn't it just too bad the way Willie and Freddie Sparks turned out? Such cute little fellows, they are, in "The Old Family Album."

AUSTIN, Feb. 26. (AP)—A 50 per cent reduction in license fees on passenger automobiles and a 19½ per cent cut in registration charges for small privately owned trucks are provided in a bill passed by the house yesterday.

Representative J. C. Duvall of Fort Worth, chairman of the sub-committee which practically rewrote the original bill drafted by Representatives Gilbert, Murphy, and Hubbard, said the cut in pleasure car rates would reduce the estimated income of the highway department from this source from $14,804,097 last year to $6,918,339.

The loss in truck license fees will approximate $300,000, he said, the cut on light trucks having been off-set by an increase in licenses for heavier carriers.

In adopting the lower license fees, the house virtually committed itself to enactment of a law providing for a 4-cent excise tax on gasoline, as proposed by Representative Leonard Tillotson, as an increase from this source will be necessary to make up for the loss in revenue from registration fees. The present gasoline tax is 2 cents per gallon.

Woman Is Burned by Kansas Negro

ATCHISON, Kans., Feb. 26. (AP)—Mrs. C. V. Jacobs, 53, wife of a retired baker, was at the point of death today following an attempt of a negro assailant to burn her alive in the furnace of her home.

Louis Glover, 35, the alleged attacker, arrested shortly after he left the Jacobs home late yesterday, was spirited out of town by officers who feared mob violence.

Mrs. Jacobs was severely burned about the head and shoulders and nearly suffocated, but named Glover as her assailant before she collapsed. Physicians said there was little hope for her recovery.

The negro, who had been employed as a handy man about the house, attacked Mrs. Jacobs and then dragged her down the basement steps, she said. Matches failing to ignite her clothing, she said he thrust her head into the furnace and attempted to shove the rest of her body through the door. He was frightened by the ringing of the doorbell when the woman's husband returned home, and fled. Jacobs found his wife's clothing ablaze.

Glomer denied the attack. Officers said he was once an inmate of an insane asylum.

DAILY LENTEN THOUGHT

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of the Congregationalist.)

A survey of the history of Lent reminds us, among many interesting things, of the way in which customs, and even religious observances, become interwoven with material needs and interests.

We see this in our own time in the immensity of the commercial interests associated with Christmas. In this commercialism many have feared lest the spiritual meaning of Christmas be lost and it becme little more to the mass of men than a time to be exploited for mere pleasure or gain.

Those who have this fear might well consider how the Lenten season has taken on an increasing sense of its holiness, despite the fact that this season also was once widely exploited for material ends. The eating of fish in Lent has not been wholly a matter of religious practice. In earlier times when the fishing industry of England was threatened one means of seeking to stimulate and protect the industry was by the passing of laws that made the substitution of fish for meat during Lent a legal obligation instead of a voluntary religious practice.

Customs are what we make them for ourselves.

FANS AT MIAMI BEACH HAVE MUCH TO WONDER ABOUT

Stribling Said To Have Injuries to Ribs and Hand

By ALAN J. GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26. (AP)—The melodrama of Miami Beach, that strange and mystifying fistic affair left upon the sand dunes here by Tex Rickard, is moving toward it climax in a series of episodes that need only a little soft music, the strumming of a few guitars, to make the fantasy complete.

It is strange, yet also true. in its tropically colorful background and in its astonishing assurance of financial success; but still mystifying, in so far as who shot at Jack Dempsey yesterday just before the dawn and what will happen in the ring when W. L. (Young) Stribling, the heavyweight pride of the south, and Jack Sharkey, the Boston sailor, fight for ten rounds to a referees decision at Flamingo Park tomorrow night.

No heavyweight "elimination" ever has had so fantastic a setting or a succession of such preliminary events as this, not even Tex Rickard, were he alive to see his boon venture near completion, would recognize the almost finished product of promotion and ballyhoo. Tex never would have "seen anything like it."

It was the day before the acutal hositilities begin beneath the palm tree, the calcium lights and possibly the moon, but the boys still are walking around, arguing, and trying to find what it is all about, and why.

There is a whole nest of mysteries to keep up the old college spirit—whether one wants to know who shot at Dempsey, and why—or what significance. if any, may be attached to the acknowledged rib injury, and reported hand injury to Young Stribling in a training mishap just a week before the fight.

How, to ask a few more questions, has it been possible to rescue an apparent financial flop and make it a certain money maker, with a profit of $50,000 to $100,000 assured; why has so much steam been aroused over a bout between rivals who have had several chances before to establish themselves as potential champions—and failed; how has it been possible to make a fight enthusiastic community out of a sophisticated winter resort such as this?

There are plenty of answers, just as there has been plenty to talk and write about outside the actual fight itself But the most conspicuous reasons for it all are unquestionably Jack Dempsey and the ballyhoo—Dempsey, the old mauler, playing successfully at this new role of promoter; and the ballyhoo, with new words and music inspired by the balmy zephyrs of Florida's shores.

This is the South's first heavyweight fight of national interest since the palm days of New Orleans as a fistic center, and few of those in the gathering here can recall that. This is also a major bid for fame by William Lawrence Stribling, 24-year-old Macon youth—the son of an acrobatic father and the father of an acrobatic child, who has helped enliven the training proceedings.

Stribling, because he is to fight before a southern gallery, is the sentimental favorite, the hope of Dixie, but Sharkey is the choice of most of the experts to win. Yet there is a wide divergence of critical opinion, not only because of so many conflicting developments in training but also because of the uncertain evidence in the records of the two fighters.

Sharkey, especially during the past few days, has appeared to better advantage than Stribling in the daily workouts. The Boston tar's punches have seemed more effective. He is probably ten pounds heavier and appears in better all-around condition. But Stribling, if he feels no ill effects from his rib injury and has nothing the matter with his right hand, has a variety of weapons at his command. Always a skillful defensive boxer, Stribling's punching power seems greater.

The betting, such as there has been of it, ranges from odds of 6 to 5 on Sharkey to even money. If there is any change in wagering sentiment it probably will be in Sharkey favor.

Flamingo Park, the new octangular shaped wooden arena built especially for the fight, will seat nearly 35,000 spectators. It may or may not be filled to capacity but the higher priced tickets $25 each for the "ring side", have been sold. The "gate" probably will be near $350,000. The bout will be broadcast over an extensive network of the National Broadcasting company, starting at 9:30 p. m.. Eastern Standard time. The main bout, to a decision by referee Lou Magnolia, of New York, is scheduled for 10 p. m.

FORDHAM FIVE WINS 14 STRAIGHT; HAS TAKEN 29 OUT OF LAST 30 GAMES

These Fordham regulars haven't started a game all season, yet they have won 14 in a row. Shock troops do duty for the first five minutes. Dougherty and Reardon are guards, Landers and Adams are forwards and Sweetman plays center.

By JAY R. VESSELS
(Feature Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK (AP)—Winning 29 out of 30 basketball games sounds like a pretty hard job. It isn't, though. Ask Fordham university varsity five.

This team up to February 12 had won all of its 14 games this season. Last year it won 15 and lost one.

The Fordham regulars say it is easy. They ought to know, for the five men comprising this year's varsity have made up Fordham's first team for two years, during which only one game has been dropped out of 30 played.

Its a case of letting the other fellow do a sizeable part of the work for these first stringers. Under Coach Ed Kelleher's plan a second team starts the games. And they do a good job of it at Fordham. This year's seconds quit with a lead in all but two games. Then the varsity stepped in and put over the winning margin.

All of the Fordham regulars are seniors. They have been playing for four years. They were the freshman quintet four years ago. The first year they were eligible for varsity play they were the second team and did shock troop duty for the regulars.

Last year the outfit stepped into the role of regulars and, playing a 16 game schedule, whppied every team but oe. Up to February 12 this season the Maroon five, in winning 14 straight, had rolled up 503 points to its opponents 260.

Such teams as Princeton, Yale, Syracus, Columbia, Bucknell and Colgate have fallen before the sweep of the Fordham avalanche.

Coach Kelleher, a former athletic star at Niagara, attributes the success of his squad to "team spirit" and speed. His outfit is built for speed. All but 'Pop"' Sweetman, center, are around five feet nine inches tall, is light for his height and is not so slow himself.

Shreveport Has Few Members of Her 1928 Team

By JOE R. CARTER,
Times Sports Editor.

(Written for the Associated Press.)

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 26. (AP)—Only a shell of the club that carried Shreveport to a first-division berth in 1928 is left to aid in the Sports' 1929 Texas league flag chase.

The Sports infield of last year is intact, but the catching department, pitching staff and outfield have been blasted.

The Sports will have only Dick Cox of last year's outfield trio back when training begins, March 1. Cox recently announced his retirement but reconsidered. Johnny Watwood, was purchased by the Chicago White Sox, and Leslie Phipps has retired. Don Frazee, youngster, who subbed in the outfield, was killed in an airplane accident.

With the exception of Joe Brown, the cream of the pitching staff has departed. Oscar Estrada was drafted by the St. Louis Browns; Bunny Hearn has been returned to the Boston Red Sox, and Leo (Slim) Dickerman has been sold to Minneapolis. That leaves only Brown, the veteran, Ting Osborne, Thompson, another veteran, and Wilkins of last year's staff.

The catching department's big loss is in Raymond Hayworth's sale to Detroit. His departure leaves only Frank Tobin, veteran, as a catcher.

The Sports infield, with Whelan at first base, Kilduff at second, Devivers at shortstop, Holman at third, and Andy Woehrs as utility, is intact.

The club owners have dipped into the smaller leagues for new blood. The greatest worry of the fans is that they have not added one new player with as much as class A experience.

The most likely prospect in the catching department is Bernie Starr, in the New England league last year. Gilly Campbell, who finished the race with Beaumont in 1928, is next in line, while A. Krause of Texarkana, will be looked at. Bill Williamson, a semi-pro player from the Pacific coast, also is being brought in.

Several hurlers who started last year with the Sports and were farmed out will return. They are: Al Williamson, who had a brief trial with the White Sox; Andy Price, lefthander; Francis Karpp, righthander. Jim Grant, a veteran, who won 21 games and lost 5 for Waterloo of the Mississippi Valley league, carries a big recommendation. Three stars of the Texarkana club in the Lone Star league, Sis Hopkins, Grandpa Wood and A. Miller, have been bought. Lane, a lefthander, who won 19 and lost 5 games for Talladega in the Georgia-Alabama league, will be given a trial.

The Sports bosses will give plenty of attention to Jack Shipley, who played in Broken Bow, Okla., last year, and won 26 games and lost 2, turning in 18 shutouts. He is a screwball hurler and has lots of control.

The outfield will be crowded with heavy hitters from class B, C, and D teams, the most likely looking prospects being Kirby from Alexandra, Roy Hutson from the New England league, Cashon from Tampa of the Southeastern loop, and D. Stover, of the Mid-Atlantic loop. Other garden prospects are McClanahan from Palestine, Texas, Biggerstaff of Alevandria, Parson of Texarkana, and Gallagher of Talladega.

The Sports have two highly-touted infielders in Stewart, a second sacker, and Fort, shortstop, who were purchased from Piedmont, N. C.

Simmons Star Is Choice for Honors in Texas Conference

"I am strong for Luckies."

John Gilbert
Celebrated Screen Star

"Motion picture actors are under a great strain—they need the comforting qualities of a good cigarette. That is why most of us smoke Lucky Strike. The marvelous toasted flavor of Luckies brings complete enjoyment and relaxation but does not hurt the throat or wind. I am strong for Luckies—they are the 'stars' of the cigarette picture. I would rather have a Lucky after a meal than rich pastries or desserts."

JOHN GILBERT

John Gilbert
Popular
Motion Picture
Actor

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

Seminole Cut Is Not Large Enough to Lower Nation

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 26. (AP)—Despite a decrease in Oklahoma production caused by proration in the Greater Seminole area the estimated daily average production of light and heavy gravity oil in the United States for the week ending Feb. 23 leaped ahead again to total 2,685,497 barrels, 17,979 barrels in excess of the mark made for the week ending Feb. 16, according to the current issue of the Oil and Gas Journal.

The total for the week, however, was approximately 5.000 barrels short of the highest record for daily production of oil in the country, set during the week ending Feb. 9.

Virtually every other area excepting Oklahoma increased during the week. California, boosted by an 11,000 barrel increase in the Santa Fe Springs area which has been on a steady increase for the past three months, registered a 10,000 barrels total increase in light oil. West Texas increased approximately 8,000 barrels and the Mid-Continent area approximately 4.000 barrels.

Heavy oil in all fields increased approximately 9,574 barrels during the week.

AUSTIN, Feb. 26. (AP)—The senate committee on mining, irrigation and drainage today voted to make the entire body shoulder the burden of passing on the merits of the Hogg house bill preventing the building of oil pipelines into the Gulf of Mexico.

Texas Oil Notes

DALLAS, Feb. 26. (AP)—A 1,500-barrel producer has been added to the list of the Sun Oil company's oil wells by the completion of the C. F. Grote No. 5 in the field north of Brenham. The depth of the hole is 1,150.

Lockhart and company has completed its Wheat No. 1-A well in Loving county, the producer flowing 300 barrels of high gravity oil during the first 24-hour gauge. The well, 4,221 feet deep is in section 3, block 2, W. & N. W. survey, and is the eighth producer to be completed in the field.

Royalty Is Sold By Local Citizens

The first royalty transaction involving land adjoining that on which the Mariand Production company is drilling a wildcat test in section 32, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, Gray county, was recorded yesterday.

The deal was between Mr. and Mrs. Silor Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. O. Cook and the McIlroy Oil company.

For a cash consideration of $7,125, the McIlroy Oil company purchased a one-sixteenth royalty in and under all of section 32, block B-2, and all of section 30, block B-2, containing 570 acres.

These tracts of land are half way between the Bowers-McGee and the LeFors pools. Locations have been made on both tracts.

Mrs. M. A. Leith of Skellytown underwent a minor operation this morning at the Pampa hospital.

Dog Catcher Has Killed 150 Canine

Lee Mullins, dog catcher, reported this morning that he has killed 150 stray dogs since Feb. 1 and that he has 25 more in the pound today. Fifteen owners have visited the pound and paid their dogs "out," and a few have taken a liking to strays and purchased licenses for them.

"I never believed that there were so many stray dogs in Pampa," Mr. Mullins said this morning while feeding his canines at the pound. Yes, Mr. Mullins feeds them, even though they die soon afterward for lack of owners.

The dog catcher and his assistant Gene Tunney, a big white English bulldog, are familiar figures on the streets. He never uses a net but depends on his assistant to capture dogs that are too fast for his grasp.

"If anyone has lost a dog it is more than likely that it is at the pound, and a trip there will probably result in some owner's finding a pet," Mr. Mullins says.

McMann looked from the corpse upon the floor to the window near which it lay, then, squarely facing the window, he stood for a moment, before staggering backward.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

RUTH LESTER, secretary, finds the dead body of her employer, "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies, sprawled on the floor of his office. Ruth is engaged to JACK HAYWARD, whose office is just across the narrow airshaft from Borden's.

Terrified with fear, Ruth recalls that Saturday morning Jack had threatened Borden. Ruth runs to Jack's office and, finding him out, searches for his pistol which he had purchased at the same time he had bought an identical weapon for her to keep in her desk. His gun is gone!

When Jack returns, he accompanies her to Borden's suite, and while he phones for the police Ruth, fearing Jack shot Borden across the airshaft, goes to close Borden's window. It is already closed!

Ruth tells CHIEF OF DETECTIVES McMANN of Borden's two Saturday morning visitors: BETTY DUBOIS, night club dancer, and MRS. BORDEN, his wife and mother of his two children, who called for her monthly alimony check. Mrs. Borden comes in during the questioning. McMann accuses her of the murder, but she stoutly denies it. Ruth tells McMann of the pistol in her desk but when he looks for it, it, too, is gone! McMann finds the tiny footprints of a pigeon in dried blood on the window ledge and on the floor near the body, which indicates the window was open when Borden was shot. Ruth's fear for Jack increases. McMann questions MORAN, the elevator boy, who is afraid Ruth killed her employer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

"SHE come right back up. I heard her tell Mr. Hayward she'd forgot her bank book, and aw, gees, boss, I didn't mean nothing by what I said," Micky Moran protested unhappily. "Honest, she couldn't a-killed him! Why, boss, you only gotta take one look at Miss Ruth to see she wouldn't hurt a fly—"

"Stick to your story, Moran!" McMann barked. "Miss Lester came right back up to her office, you say Mr. Hayward with her?"

"Naw, she told him to wait for her in the lobby, and he did."

"How long?"

"Oh, four or five minutes, I guess, maybe six or seven. I dunno," Micky protested miserably. "Honest, I dunno! Mr. Hayward kept draggin' out his watch and lookin' at it, then finally he rushed into my car and told me to shoot up to the seventh floor. We was nearly there when the seventh floor signal flashed on, and there Miss Lester was, breathin' hard, like she'd been runnin' and tears in her eyes—"

"Tears!" McMann interrupted "You're sure of that, Moran?"

"Sure!" the boy affirmed eagerly "She'd banged her head against the door and hurt her lip. She was holdin' her handkerchief up to it and when Mr. Hayward pulled her hand down I could see her lip was swellin' up and gettin' red. Mr. Hayward thought 'Handsome Harry' done it and was raisin' an awful roughhouse, but—"

"Just what did Mr. Hayward say Moran?" McMann interrupted.

"Gees, I dunno! Somepin about killin' Borden for hurtin' her—just like any guy'd say if he thought—"

"Stick to your story, Moran!" Micky stuck out his lower lip sullenly. "Gees, I'm tryin' to, ain't I? Mr. Hayward started toward Borden's office and Miss Ruth swung onto him and held him back. She told him it wasn't 'Handsome Harry' that had hurt her lip, said she'd banged it on the door, like I told you. And she said if Mr. Hayward wouldn't believe her, she'd take back the promise she'd made him."

* * *

McMANN'S pencil tapped an ominous accompaniment to the slow, painful beating of Ruth's heart. Finally she could stand that slow tapping no longer. She stepped toward the desk. "Please Mr McMann! I ask you to believe me when I say that I didn't see Mr. Borden when I returned to my office to look for my savings bank book. The door between the offices was closed, and Mr. Borden was talking over the telephone."

McMann looked up at her from under beetling brows. "And I'm to believe, too, that you spent from four to six minutes looking for your bank book?"

"I did! I had filed it in Mr. Borden's bank folder by mistake, instead of in the folder I use for my personal papers. I looked everywhere before it occurred to me that I had done so. I tell you, I didn't see Mr. Borden, that my lip was bruised against the door when I swung it open. I was in a hurry to rejoin Mr. Hayward—"

"Moran, your car was down at the main floor all the time you were waiting for Miss Lester, wasn't it? You couldn't have heard a shot if one had been fired on the seventh floor? Or did you hear one?"

"I didn't hear no shot!" Micky Moran denied emphatically.

"Aren't you forgetting, McMann that Mrs. Borden has already told of seeing Mr. Borden alive at 20 minutes of two?" Jack Hayward interrupted, his voice quivering with anger.

"I'm not forgetting anything, Hayward—thanks!" McMann grinned crookedly. "If you want to know here are three things I'm not forgetting: First, that you had given Miss Lester a gun to protect herself against Borden's advances, if he ever took a fancy to your girl. Second, that everything points to the conclusion that Miss Lester's changed appearance had just the effect on 'Handsome Harry' Borden you had feared it would. Third, that $500 in cash—the exact amount of Mrs. Borden's separation allowance—is missing from Borden's body. Get my point?"

"I'm afraid I don't!" Jack retorted furiously.

"All right, if I have to spell it out in words of one syllable! Miss Lester comes back for her bank book. Borden is alone, hears her return, comes out, tries to kiss her, does kiss her so hard that her lip is bruised. She struggles with him, manages to reach her desk, gets out her gun, holds him off with it, until he backs into his private office—"

* * *

JACK HAYWARD laughed abruptly, sarcastically. "I was wondering how you were going to get him back in here!"

"Is that so?" McMann almost snarled. "Any man is back up if a gun's leveled at his heart! She gets him in here and thinks she's safe, but he starts for her again, knowing she's afraid of the gun, doesn't think she'll have the nerve to shoot it. He starts after her again and she lets him have it. She sticks the gun in the pocket of her fur coat and tears out of the office, crying and panting for breath. You meet her at the elevator. She forcibly restrains you from pounding on Borden's door, to make him let you in to beat him up—because she knows he's already dead!

"Mrs. Borden didn't report the murder because she was afraid to, afraid she'd be accused of it. The body was still warm, you know. And she needed that $500 she found on him when she was feeling his heart to see if he was really dead. She knew well enough that the check he'd written for her and left on his desk was nothing but a scrap of paper, since he was dead."

"And why did Mrs. Borden close the window, McMann?" Jack asked.

"For the same reason that made her come here this morning," McMann retorted. "Because she loved her husband. No wife who loved her husband would want a January wind blowing in upon him, even if he was dead and unable to feel it. And knowing he was dead, she came here this morning to claim his body. . . . Going, Dr. Nielson?" the detective broke off to inquire, as the medical examiner stepped softly toward the door. "You can tell the chief just how stupid McMann is, and ask him to prepare a warrant for the arrest of Ruth Lester. My only hope is that she gets as able a lawyer as Colby Lester to defend her."

* * *

JACK HAYWARD lunged toward McMann, trying to free himself of Ruth's convulsive embrace, but a mild, diffident voice halted him.

"Before you arrest anyone, especially Miss Lester, my dear Sherlock," Dr. Nielson spoke from the doorway, "I advise you to interview the woman who cleaned these offices Saturday afternoon. She, at least, would have no reason to conceal the murder. The chaps from the morgue will be here any minute now, and I'll phone you a report of my findings after I complete the autopsy. Good day—and step softly, McMann."

McMann had risen and was pacing the office, from the airshaft window to the desk and back to the window again. "By the way," he demanded suddenly, stopping at the raised window and peering out of it, "who has the office directly opposite?"

Ruth had feared that question and its inevitable answer so long that she had no power now to feel more fear as Jack Hayward interrupted, his voice quiet and matter-of-fact:

"That is my office, McMann."

McMann looked from the corpse upon the floor to the window near which it lay, then, squarely facing the window, he stood for a moment, before staggering backward. A choked scream checked his too-realistic pantomime of the falling of a mortally wounded body.

"Stupid, eh?" he gasped, as he righted himself, without a glance at the dead man whose last movements he believed he had imitated. "Moran! At what time did Hayward return to his office?"

"He didn't—so far as I know!" Micky Moran retorted.

McMann was nonplused only for a moment. His pointing finger aimed itself at Otto Pfluger, who had been leaning, silent and sullen, against the wall during the entire time he had been in the room. "Come here, you-head! You ran for nearest Hayward's office, didn't you? What time Saturday afternoon did you bring him up?"

California Man Traps Rodents on Canadian River

CANADIAN, Feb. 26. (AP)—Halted, for a few weeks, by severe cold weather in his search for fossil remains of animals that were supposed to have roamed the hills along the Canadian river 8,000,000 years ago, R. A. Stirton, curator of the museum of palaeontology at the University of California, is busying himself trapping various kinds of rodents.

Unlike the fossils which are to be exhibited at the university museum, the rodents will be used in a special study of this form of life by scientists, at Berkeley, Cal. Large numbers of the rodents have been collected. The pelts are kept intact nd the skins stuffed.

Mastodon bones and rinoceros heads were uncovered here last fall and shipped to the university by C. L. Camp, who started the palaeontology research work along the Canadian river. These fossils are being made ready at the University of California for exhibition in the museum there.

J. W. Knorpp of Groom Appointed By Homer D. Wade to Become Member of Wheat Research Body of Southwest

GROOM, Feb. 26. (Special)—J. W. Knorrp, local banker, has been recommended by Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, to serve as a member of a permanent southwestern wheat research conference.

Mr. Knorrp is very much interested in wheat and has been for a number of years. He will be expected to be present with representatives of other organizations at a future date for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization which it is hoped will function with the agricultural experiment stations, the United States department of agriculture and other research agencies in promoting the development of scientific research regarding the winter wheat industry.

The organization of this body was originally decided upon at a gathering on November 8, of about 150 representatives of farm organizations, agricultural colleges, experiment stations and commercial organizations that are interested in the hard winter wheat industry of the states of Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, and Texas.

The program committee appointed at that time which was composed of 11 representatives from the five Southern great plains states pointed out certain specific recommendations for which the need seems to be clearly defined as objectives for the organization.

It is realized that the rapid development of power farming in the wheat belt and concomitant introduction of new machinery and new methods of tillage have introduced new problems which must be solved experimentally if severe losses are to be avoided.

These experiments will include the production of varieties of wheat which will most successfully resist stinking smut—the most serious wheat disease in the whole area—stem and leaf rusts, and root rot. Improved practices in relation to Hessian fly control and better control methods for false wire worms and other wheat pests are to be more adequately studied.

Earlier maturing varieties for the drier areas and thinner soils and possibly elsewhere, varieties less adicted to lodging and shattering, and varieties of greater winterhardiness and better quality will be improved because of their productivity and economic value since enough is known relative to certain deficiencies and weaknesses in varieties generally grown to justify extraordinary efforts to improve them.

Research to determine the factors which constitute quality and the relation of quality to the method of harvesting will be instigated, as will a study of credit and storage facilities, and the need for them in relation to marketing the wheat crop.

Many problems relating to the production and the marketing of wheat which require for their solution the knowledge and skill of the agricultural engineer, such as the removal of excess water from wheat on or near the farm, the relation of type size and design of bin to heating of damp wheat, and certain mechanical and power requirements in preparing the ground and harvesting will be studied.

Specific problems will be attacked in those areas and at those places where soil and climatic conditions, special equipment, personnel and interest are most favorable for their solution.

Lindbergh and His Fiancee Are Heeded Little by Mexicans

CUERNAVACA, Mexico, Feb. 26. (AP)—"Manana" is the best information obtainable about the plans of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow.

The word means "tomorrow," but it is the Mexican's method of indicating an indefinite time in the future.

"Some time later," Colonel Lindbergh has said, he will reveal when he is to be married, how long he is to remain in Mexico, what his plans for the future are.

Today he and his fiancee were free for walking, talking, riding—just being together, in a land almost dreamlike in verdant beauty.

Residents of the town itself—it has a population of 7,000—hardly were aware a visitor of note was in their midst. There was far more interest in the prospect of next Sunday's band concert in the plaza and the bi-weekly motion picture shows which do not take place when the roads are bad.

Quanah to Acme Road Permit Is Asked by Railroad

CHICAGO BOY KILLS HIS FATHER, WHO BEATS HIM

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. (AP)—Philip N. Coletti spanked his 12-year-old son Charles last night, beat him, choked him and then started after him with a knife. The boy shot him dead.

Charles was held by juvenile authorities today, but the stories of his mother and an older brother who witnessed the shooting led police to believe it was in self-defense.

The witnesses said the father, who had been drinking, punished Charles for coming home late, and that the boy ran to his father's room, snatched up a revolver, and fired four shots after Nicoletti senior had raised a knife against him.
