Gray County To Form New Court System

On or about Aug. 27 a new court system for Gray County will be established in accordance with a bill passed by the 53rd Legislature.

It is known as the Court of Small Claims and will be presided over by justices of the peace. For Gray County this means there will be four such courts.

They will hear civil suits, with or without juries — for claims where the amount of money does not exceed $50, except in the cases where wages, or salary are involved. In such claims the maximum amount involved may be $100.

According to the law the court will be held in an informal manner with the justice of the peace having next to supreme authority. The judge may interrogate such witnesses as he deems necessary. If jury is requested, the request must be filed with the judge at least one day before the date of the hearing.

Formal petitions are not used. It will be a simple form filled out by the plaintiff.

Either party in a small claim hearing may appeal the decision to the county court where it will be heard as a new trial. However, in appealing, no new pleadings may be added to the original form filled out by the plaintiff. The decision of the county court will be final.

A filing fee of $2 must be paid by the plaintiff when filing his claim form with the Small Claims Court. All other processes, such as serving the citations, shall be done in the same manner used now in justice of the peace court cases.

The law is to go into effect 30 days after May 27, the date the Legislature adjourned.

Highway Job Cost Jumps

Actual cost of the $1,560,000-plus U. S. Highway 66 project will run upwards of $20,000 more than the original bid price, it was learned this morning in the Pampa office of the State Highway Department.

Three freight rate increases during the life of the project and use of more materials than anticipated account for the increased cost highway department engineers said.

Inspectors in the local office were laying out final figures for payment to the contractors this week and expect to have them tabulated early next week.

Only round figures were available this morning, engineers said when they reported the three freight rates allowed, two aggregate material and one on cement would run in the neighborhood of $11,000 and additional material used somewhere near the $10,000 mark.

At the same time engineers reported yesterday's rain narrowly missed delaying completion of the U. S. Highway spur crossing which was completed late in the afternoon. However, traffic will not be allowed to use the freshly concreted crossing near Kingsmill for several days. Bar ditch detours constructed by the contractors will have to be used until the concrete hardens, they added.

OKLAHOMANS GREET RODEO BOOSTERS — Among Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma cities visited Thursday by 20 local cowgirls boosting the Top o' Texas Rodeo was Erick, Okla., where Buck Johnson, city marshal, right, helped Miss Glenda Dudley distribute posters. She was one of four girls making a circuit through 10 Texas and Oklahoma cities. Four cars driven by John Pitts, Dan Gribbons, Newt Secrest and Dude Balthrop made other circuits, covering a total of 50 cities in the area. (News Photo)

MANY SURRENDER

UN's Forces Repel Reds

SEOUL, Korea, July 17 —UP— The Chinese Communists who smashed an estimated eight miles into the central front are being forced back under a combined infantry - tank - artillery- plane attack and are surrendering in big numbers, front dispatches said Friday.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commanding the Eighth Army, said in a special statement that the front is now stabilized and that United Nations forces are pressing forward.

Eighth Army headquarters said that the Reds lost 14,200 men killed and 6,800 wounded in the week ended Tuesday — and their casualty rate has shot upward since then.

Regrouped, reinforced UN troops gained up to 1,000 yards on the left flank Friday after gaining one mile Thursday.

United Press front dispatches described tank - infantry teams knifing into the Chinese lines in nutcracker attacks and said one dominating hill had been recaptured by storm in Friday's advance after an all-day battle.

The dispatches told how hundreds of Allied planes hurled flaming napalm gasoline jelly into the Chinese to burn them to death. Other planes dropped bombs and massed artillery poured hundreds of tons of shells into the enemy lines.

"The Chinese are surrendering all over the place," an American advisory officer on the west flank said.

City Water Use Shows Decrease

Total city water consumption for July may not surpass the monthly total for June, water consumption figures showed this morning in the city engineering office.

For, the city now is 2,070,500 gallons behind last month's accumulated consumption for the first 16 days.

The first 16 days in July, the city pumped a total of 80,158,750 gallons through its mains as compared to 82,229,250 for same period in June.

Cool days and some rain have accounted mostly for the drop as the high day for the month stood at 6,409,000 on July 6 and then hit a low daily consumption of 2,025,250 on July 12.

June's total production was an all-time record high of 162,405,300 gallons.

Drouth Trims County Herds Of Livestock

Most small-scale ranchers and wheat farmers who maintain small herds of livestock in Gray County have already sold all their cattle due to drouth conditions in the area, while most large ranches in the area are culling herds and keeping foundation and choice cattle.

This statement was made today by James Strawn, district soil conservationist, who keeps a close contact with area farmers, as Chicago livestock markets reported a rush of record numbers of cattle sold Thursday causing a recent rise in prices to drop as much as $2.50 a hundred.

Cattle buyers and ranchers from states with available pasturage have come into the area the past

Tax Collections Total $69 Billion

WASHINGTON, July 17 —UP— The federal Treasury collected a record $69,595,916,968.36 in taxes last year.

Personal income tax payments accounted to rthe bulk of the increase, a treasury collection report showed Friday. It covered tax collections on everything from excess profits to playing cards in fiscal 1953, the 12-month period through June.

The total collection was $4,586,831,408.71 — or about 7 per cent — more than in fiscal 1952, but it was not enough to prevent the Treasury from running up a peacetime record deficit of $9,389,000,000.

Individual income tax collections accounted for $36,949,860,969.39 — or more than half the total. This was a $3,471,108,188.40 or 10 per cent, gain over fiscal 1952.

It was also 10 per cent more than former President Truman had anticipated before he left White House in January.

Corporation tax collections increased negligibly, and fell 9 per cent below Mr. Truman's estimates. Corporations anteed up $21,548,315,834.15 — $81,405,815.12 more than in fiscal 1952. In January Mr. Truman had anticipated another $2,200,000,000 from this revenue source.

Present indications point to bigger business tax payments in the current fiscal year because of a better profits situation. However, individual income tax rates are due by law to go down 10 per cent next Jan. 1, simultaneous with expiration of the excess profits tax on corporations.

Complain Retreat 'Chewed Up' ROK

SEOUL, July 17 —UP— South Korean officials dealt two damaging blows to prospects for an early armistice Friday on the eve of a crucial truce conference at Panmunjom.

President Syngman Rhee was reported to have complained to Eighth Army commander Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor over the ROK army retreat from the Chinese before the Allies began their counterattack.

Rhee, according to Korean sources, said the ROKs had been "chewed up" because they had been held back in anticipation of an armistice.

Major Gen. Choi Duk Shin, South Korea's absentee truce delegate, indicated Rhee would never send another representative to the Panmunjom hut.

Choi, who boycotted the talks when the United Nations agreed to the armistice now awaiting signature, said he had "no plans" to return to Panmunjom.

"They (the Communists) don't want peace," Choi said. "They just want a temporary truce to benefit them."

The Communists have been stalling at Panmunjom on the ground that the UN has not given sufficient assurance it can control Rhee and his army following an armistice.

America Is Annoyed By Reds' Tactics

WASHINGTON, July 17 —UP— America's impatience over Red stalling tactics in the Korean truce talks was near the breaking point again Friday.

There was a strong suspicion in official quarters that the Communists were up to some new mischief.

Authorities here regard the new Communist ground offensive as an act of "bad faith." North Korean and Chinese negotiators at Panmunjom were understood to have been told in blunt terms of this American feeling.

The session with the Communist negotiators Friday is expected to show whether current Communist strategy will lead to a truce or more war. Informants said the Allies were fully prepared for either eventuality and that the decision was up to the Reds.

U. S. patience has been particularly strained by repeated Communist demands for "guarantees" that South Korea would abide by a truce once it is signed. This conduct in the face of Allied insistence that the truce will be honored has prompted suspicion of Red motives.

Details of the American - South Korean agreement on post-truce actions was placed under congressional scrutiny Thursday. Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson was quizzed at length during separate appearances before the Senate Foreign Relations committee and the House Foreign Affairs committee.

Congressmen who heard his report were unusually tight-lipped after the two meetings. It was understood this secrecy has been requested by the State Department because of the crucial state of the armistice talks.

Clark Goes to Munsan

Gen. Mark W. Clark, who spent the night at the battlefront, went to Munsan earlier Friday and held a three-hour conference with his chief truce delegate, Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison.

They talked privately from 8:40 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. and then Clark returned to Tokyo by way of Seoul.

He was believed to have given Harrison final instructions on what to do when the truce talks are resumed Saturday following a one-day recess called by the Communists.

Girls Plug Rodeo In 50 Cities

Local girls, dressed in cowgirl regalia, who toured a total of 50 cities throughout the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma Thursday to distribute 1,000 posters advertising the Top o' Texas Rodeo in Pampa Aug. 4-8 include the following:

Joan Cantrell, Judy Nance, Shirley Baird, Vivian Wilkerson, Carolyn Dial, Jiggie Qualls, Alice Seawright, Gail Finkelstein, Wynell Weatherred, Marilyn Fitzgerald, Pat Cargile, Janie Prichard, June Montgomery.

Claudette Matheny, Ramona Meadows, Charlotte Call, Glenda Dudley, Charlotte Hoggett, Carol Foster and Margie Roundtree.

The girls made five different circuits and were escorted by John Pitts, Dan Gribbon, Dude Balthrop, Newt Secrest and Mrs. B. J. Ellison.

Three City Firemen To Attend School

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne and two city firemen will leave Saturday to attend the annual fire school at Texas A&M, College Station.

The school, which lasts one week, includes classes in general basic fire fighting methods, advanced fire fighting methods and fire marshal's training and inspection.

Taking the basic and advanced fire fighting courses from Pampa will be Charles Elliott and Don Hendricks, both one-year firemen. Winborne will enroll in the marshal's and inspection course.

PAMPA AREA COOLED AMID LIGHT SHOWERS

The sunshine was finding its way through cloud-stacked skies over Pampa near noon today, following the third "rainfall" of the week.

A total of .09 of an inch was recorded at the KPDN transmitter before midnight, hiking the week's grand total to .35 of an inch. Sunday there was .10 of an inch; Wednesday and Thursday, .16.

By 11 a.m. today, the mercury had struggled up to 78 degrees, which was the exact high for Thursday. Early morning low today was 62.

Rain over the immediate area was about the same as it was in Pampa. Several miles north of town and 13 miles southwest of Pampa there was .10 of an inch of rain reported by residents. There was also an early morning drizzle in some areas north of town.

Other parts of the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandle saw both less and more of the badly-needed moisture. Dan Gribbon, former Texas Company superintendent here, reported areas around Arnett, Okla., as "beautiful," following a three-inch deluge. Usually, he added, that section is much drier and more desolate-looking than the Texas Panhandle.

Areas in the Texas Panhandle reported that "any is welcome, more is needed."

Forecasts for the entire area called for partly cloudy skies today, little change in temperatures and scattered thundershowers — a prediction that rates higher with Pampans these days now that there HAS been some rainfall.

Highway Committee To Convene Today

Members of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce were to complete plans to wind up the current membership drive for the Texas Branch of the US National Highway 60 Association in Pampa at 2 p.m. today.

W. B. Weatherred, committee chairman, stated only a few more contacts with local merchants interested in promoting tourist trade in the area are to be made to wind up the drive.

IN SHEPPERD REPORT

Drouth In Texas Termed 'Calamity'

AUSTIN, July 17 —UP— Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has urged Gov. Allan Shivers to declare the Texas drouth "a great public calamity" to marshal relief forces.

Shepperd's voluminous report on state drouth measures Thursday also contained a seven-point program if the governor should call a special legislative session.

He said that if a special session were called, legislators could furnish direct aid by cash grants and declare a moratorium on farm debts.

Without Special Session

Without calling a special session, Shepperd's report to the governor said, "for all practical purposes you have the power to move the state government to the drouth area."

The report was requested by the governor shortly after he returned from a meeting with President Eisenhower and other state governors at an emergency drouth meeting in Amarillo.

He asked the attorney general to make a survey of relief measures allowable under Texas law.

Shepperd recommended that William L. McGill, state civil defense co-ordinator, be named as co-ordinator of the drouth program. Under the state's civil protection act, he said, "counties and cities could be called upon to furnish funds" for the drouth-relief plan.

$5 Million Available

He estimated $5 million would be available from all sources and said he believed $500,000 could be raised by public subscription.

His seven point program included:

1. Cash grants.
2. Direct loans to counties or to individuals.
3. Tax relief — "the Legislature may release state and county taxes in any county which has suffered a public calamity.
4. Debt relief. He suggested a moratorium on collection of debts.
5. Price support program.
6. Rain-making projects. He said the Legislature could enact laws to provide financing, and said counties, under the civil protection act, can spend funds on such projects during a disastrous drouth.
7. Creation of water conservation districts, which could issue bonds.

Benson Critics Flay Price Talk

WASHINGTON, July 17 —UP— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson drew a new round of fire Friday from congressional opponents by his latest criticism of current high farm price pegs.

Some of his critics interpreted Benson's speech Thursday in Fresno, Calif., as fresh indication he favors a system of flexible supports as opposed to the rigid props now under six basic crops.

Benson said the "present agriculture program is headed for serious trouble and is in need of major overhauling." He said "some of the best students of agriculture" favor flexible rather than high rigid supports.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) said Benson's speech sounded "like an academic discussion of a theory rather than a down-to-earth approach to a practical reality." Kerr said Benson seemed to be "floundering to the grave detriment of agriculture generally and to cattle producers especially."

The present program under which the secretary is required by law to support wheat, corn, tobacco, cotton, rice and peanut prices at 90 per cent of parity expires next year. Benson said he is not yet ready to "make positive recommendations" for a new program.

"I think that by next year, after having weakened the price support program we have by indifferent operation of it, Benson will probably either come to Congress and ask for its temporary extension or acquiesce in its extension by Congress," Kerr said.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) said Benson is "advocating lower farm prices."

He will find out soon enough it won't work economically or politically," Young said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said it "has been obvious that he believes in lower price supports and I feel he is seeking evidence to support his own conclusion."

FHA Readies Farm Loans

DALLAS, July 17—UP— Emergency Farmers Home Administration loans to farmers in drouth-disaster areas will be ready in about a week or 10 days, FHA Chief Robert McLeaish has declared.

McLeaish met here Thursday with FHA officials from seven states in an effort to get a co-ordinated drouth program started.

He said that special area livestock committees, to be appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, would be named to aid with the project.

Loans are available to livestock producers and feeders, but not commercial feed lots, he said. The 5 per cent loans would be made in amounts of not less than $2,500.

McLeaish and L. J. Cappleman, Texas FHA director, were on a tour of the Texas drouth area Friday. They planned to go to San Angelo by plane, on to Del Rio by car, then to Edinburg, near McLeaish's home at McAllen.

McLeaish credited mere knowledge of the loan program with helping to stop the drop in cattle prices. He said that cattlemen stopped rushing their stock to already-flooded markets when they learned the loan program was available.

Water Safety Exams Slated

Water Safety examinations will be conducted by Harry Kelley, water safety instructor, at the Municipal Swimming Pool on July 25. The tests will climax the American Red Cross Water Safety Program which has been carried on this summer.

Beginner, intermediate swimmer, and swimmer tests will be given, 9 through 10 a.m. Junior and Senior tests will begin at 10 a.m.

Water Safety certificates will be issued through the Red Cross office. Certificates issued last year through this type program numbered 119.

Enrollment for all interested boys or girls will be held in the Red Cross office, City Hall, during next week.

M. E. Searl, who is in charge of the pool, and life guards will be on duty during the exams.

Spraberry Field On 11-Day Basis

AUSTIN, July 17 —UP— West Texas' vast Spraberry oil and gas field was on an 11-day per month production basis Friday.

The order issued by the Railroad Commission Thursday replaced a nine-day limit, established on July 2, after testimony that outlets were taking 153 million cubic feet of casinghead gas from the field.

The nine-day limit was imposed because of pipeline facilities estimated to handle only 125 million.

French, British And Greeks Sign Trade Pact With Reds

MOSCOW, July 17 —UP— The Soviet Union and France have signed a three-year trade agreement providing for exchange of goods and materials totaling $68,370,000, it was announced Friday.

The official government newspaper Izvestia said the agreement was signed in Paris on July 15.

It provides for the Soviet Union to export $34,285,000 worth of corn, coal, chromium, manganese, asbestos, oil and grain. In exchange, France will ship a similar amount of textiles, silks, citrus fruits, lifting and transport equipment, steam boilers and cargo ships up to a capacity of 5,000 tons.

Payments for deliveries are to be made in French francs, according to Izvestia.

The Franco-Soviet negotiations opened in Paris on June 6. The agreement provides for a special commission to supervise completion of the pact. The commission will meet every six months, rotating between Moscow and Paris, the newspaper said.

ATHENS, Greece, July 17—UP—Greek and Russian trade negotiators have agreed tentatively to annual exchanges of $10 million worth of goods, Greek ministry of trade sources said Friday.

The informants said Greek trade negotiations are underway with Communist East Germany and Czechoslovakia.

HONG KONG, July 17—UP—The Communist New China News agency reported Friday that the unofficial British trade delegation signed contracts in Peiping for two-way trade totaling about $73 million.

The majority of the British delegation, which arrived in the capital of Communist China on June 19 and reached agreement with the state-owned import and export corporation on July 6, left Peiping on Tuesday for home, the agency said.

New Hog Disease Brings Quarantine

WASHINGTON, July 17 —UP— Federal quarantine was in effect in two Texas counties Friday because of outbreaks of vesicular exanthema, a hog disease.

The Agriculture Department Thursday quarantined Henderson county and part of Dallas county lying south of State Highway 183 and west of the city of Dallas. Areas in 11 states are now under quarantine because of the disease.

Dance Routine Presented At Lions Meeting

The Pampa Lions Club has uncovered three more "dancers" for next year's Minstrel Show.

For Lions Homer Craig, Bob Quick and Rusty Ward proved that they have what it takes when they "danced" a bunny-hop number two sets of Pampa twins at the weekly club meeting.

Leader of the Pampa Summer Recreation Program, Craig had charge of Thursday's program which featured a number by Jackie and Judy Miller, 10, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Miller, 1317 Terrace, and Jimmie and Virginia Bailey, 13, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bailey, 112 S. Wynne.

It was after the twins had danced that the three Lions "danced" with them—"in a most remarkable exhibition," as one Lion put it.

Real purpose of the get-together, however, was to show Lions what the summer program was all about. Begun three years ago with "Ward as a kingpin," the program now includes an average daily attendance of 200 youngsters, Craig said.

"I want to thank the Lions Club for doing a Lion's share toward furthering the program," the director emphasized. Earlier, in the spring, Lions donated $500 to it. As of now, the program will run through Aug. 7.

Leaders of the individual programs are Mrs. Craig, Bob Peterson and Mrs. Berdena Neef (at Sam Houston); Craig, Miss Clara Darling and Miss Virdie Denton (B. M. Baker); and W. B. Moore (Carver).

Further evidence of Lions' helping hands came from Rufe Jordan who told Lions how $100 of their money had been used to help an underprivileged family. Help includes groceries, shoes, even haircuts.

Under discussion, too, at meeting was the estimated $400 worth of damage done to the Boy Scout House in Lions Club Park by vandals.

Providing the spice in the program was the Lions Club Quartet, "the only one in the Panhandle that doesn't need any music," according to Ed Myatt, presiding in the absence of Boss Lion Ralph Thomas. Each program is divided into "spice" and "education."

On display in the back of the room were exhibits of what those participating in the recreation program have done so far this summer.

Wheeler County Plans 4-H Outing

WHEELER (Special) The Wheeler County 4-H Boys and Girls Encampment will be held on the Bob George Ranch on Cold Creek northwest of Shamrock beginning the afternoon of July 21 and lasting until about noon July 23.

4-H club members from the 19 Wheeler County 4-H clubs will take part in rifle shooting, volley ball, horse shoe pitching, washer pitching, games, songs, ceremonials, and of course, plenty to eat.

The camp will be under the jurisdiction of Home Demonstration Agent Vera Crippen and County Agent Ray D. Siegmund with the assistance of many adult leaders from over the county.

Wheeler Personals

State Auditors R. M. Holstead and R. G. Young arrived in Wheeler and will be here two or three days while auditing records in the Tax-Collector and Assessor's office. They are out of Dallas and are staying at Don's Courts while they are in Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Waters of Lubbock visited in the home of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Waters.

Tony Treadwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Treadwell, is visiting his parents after spending some time in Korea.

Last Rites For Pampan's Mother

Funeral services for Mrs. William M. Hudson, 81, of Childress, mother of Mrs. Nell Kinsey, Pampa, have been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church, Childress.

Mrs. Hudson died at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in her home following a long illness, according to information received here today.

Other survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Calvin Harison, Childress; and two sons, Carl Hudson and Andrew Hudson, both of Childress.

Baptists To Honor Pastor And Family At Sunday Service

Dr. E. Douglas Carver and his family will be honored at a reception following the evening services next Sunday. The occasion will be the eleventh anniversary of his coming as pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city. Prior to 1942 he had served as pastor of churches in McPherson, Kansas, White Deer, Harlingen and Abilene, Texas.

When Dr. Carver came as pastor, the church here had a membership of 1,930 but has since grown to a membership of 3,299. The Sunday School enrollment has increased from 1095 to 2121, the Training Union enrollment from 305 to 775, the W.M.U. enrollment from 198 to 383 and the Brotherhood enrollment from 135 to 250. Likewise the budget of the church has grown from $17,000 to $100,000 during his ministry. A total of 3,108 have joined the church during his eleven years as pastor.

He has served as a Rotary Club president, president of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council, on numerous civic committees that have been formed for the betterment of the community. Recently he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Wayland College, Plainview.

Mrs. Carver has taken her place alongside her husband as a leader in many church and civic activities. They have two daughters, Carolyn and Gwen.

The Carvers will return from a vacation in New Mexico in time for the services Sunday.

Indians Spend Night In Jail

There were nine not so little Indians in city jail overnight—and then there were only four.

At least, that's how many of them had still not paid their $15 fines on intoxication charges by mid-morning, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

Employed by the Santa Fe Railroad, all of them were picked up—"two or three at a time, said Conner"—during Thursday afternoon and night by city police.

Names of the nine were a study in American idiom and originality: Askie S. Thompson, Florentine James, Daniel H. Burnside, Hosteen Etsitty, Harry Yazzie, Sammy, John and Joe Tapaha—and Hask Tsehdesgishinie.

Pampa Scout Describes Trip To National Jamboree Ranch

By GARY FRASHIER
Special Correspondent

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. (Special) — Today the Pampa Boy Scout delegation joins with the estimated 50,000 Scouts from over the nation and the world to kick off the third annual National Boy Scout Jamboree.

Situated on 3,000-acres of the 100,000-acre Irvine Ranch, near Santa Ana, the encampment itself covers four square miles. Delegations fro mthe Pampa area have set up their tents in Region 9, Section 34, and have spent most of their time in the Trading Post, one of six in the area.

Pampans who have been in there as much as others are Danie Fitzgerald, son of J. M. Fitzgerald, 912 Christine; Larry Cox, son of Mrs. Dorothy Cox, 509 Davis; and Robert Cobb, son of S. R. Cobb, 1106 N. Russell.

All of us can look back with a lot of pleasure at the trip out to Southern California:

Royal Gorge is one thing we'll remember. Approaching a sharp bend we found ourselves facing a high cliff. As we came nearer, a great gap fell away in front of the cliff and we found ourselves on the brink of a precipice as steep and high as the opposite one. We walked forward and looked down.

The incline of the cliff gradually steepened until finally it was pendicular to the bottom. On the bottom was a narrow winding ribbon; the Arkansas river. Beside it lay two glimmering steel threads; the railroad.

There is a narrow space on either side of the Arkansas river. There the granite walls rise to towering heights. We descended into the bottom by means of the cable-car, which moves at a speed of 2½ miles per hour.

After leaving the Royal Gorge, we traveled for a day and a half and arrived in Salt Lake City. There, we visited the Morman Temple grounds.

Traveling for two days, we reached Yosemite Pass. We were warned not to attempt it, as no bus had ever reportedly made it before. Climbing and twisting on the steep road we soon found it was impossible to ascend the pass. We turned back and the next day, after detouring around Yosemite Park by way of Bishop, Calif. and the end of Death Valley, we arrived at our destination.

DROUTH

few days to buy cattle and offer pasturage for varying fees and percentages of calf crops to drouth-stricken cattlemen.

Meanwhile, some 215 cattlemen are waiting for emergency feed to be brought into the area from surpluses of the national Commodity Credit Corporation as part of the federal drouth relief program.

Administrators of the county Production and Marketing Association are still taking applications for the emergency feed, but have heard nothing official as to when the feed will arrive. The first loads, expected here last weekend, are due to arrive for distribution any time.

Thursday's cattle receipts at Chicago, according to a United Press dispatch, more than doubled the number expected and was the highest for any Thursday since Oct. 17, 1946, two months after wartime price ceilings were lifted.

Price rises Wednesday brought about the rush to market the dispatch continued. Last week the market was about $3 per hundred pounds higher than 10 days ago, and Wednesday's quotations on prime steers went up to $2.75 a hundred to $30.50.

A Department of Agriculture analysis said most of the animals arriving in Chicago were grassfed cattle, and pointed out that a rise in the number of these cattle going to market was usual at this time of year. Many came from herds in the Southwest, where long drouth has turned pastures brown and forced farmers to market.

Pampans Injured As Car Hits Cow

Two Pampans were slightly injured on the Amarillo highway when their car rammed and killed a cow, causing estimated damages of $600-$700 to the vehicle — but not even a dent to the front fender.

Fred M. Ditzian, 22, of 517 N. Faulkner, and Lee Bercutt, 27, of 314 W. Browning, were headed toward Amarillo about 8:40 p.m. Thursday, some 40 miles west of Pampa, when blinding headlights from an oncoming car caused them to run into the 600-pound animal.

Bercutt suffered a sprained right wrist and Ditzian — who was hurled into the rear seat by the impact — a wrenched back. Each gave the other first-aid treatment on the spot before the arrival of highway patrolmen.

Wheeler County Fruit Crop Promises Bountiful Yield

WHEELER (Special) — Wheeler County could well be termed the Fruit Basket of the Panhandle, judging from the amount of fruit that has been produced so far in 1953 and from the excellent prospects for a big peach, apple and pear crop that is and will be coming up in the near future.

The cherry and apricot crop is all harvested at this time with the best apricot crop in years. Peaches are ripening now with the Early Wheeler about all harvested.

During the last weeks of July, the following varieties of peaches will ripen: Golden Jubilee, Halehaven, and Elberta. At the present the fruit of these varieties is in fair to excellent condition with no appreciable worm damage; brown rot damage and light hail damage in some areas of the county.

Peaches will be harvested off approximately 25,000 trees in Wheeler County this year and most of the crop will be sold in the county with people from the surrouding counties the main buyers.

In many cases, the buyer will be able to come into the orchard of his choice and pick the peaches of his choice with the price ranging from $1.50 per bushel and up.

The apple and pear crop will not be ripe until August and September with some early varieties of pears ripening during the last days of July. Pears and apples will be harvested off some 300-400 acres in 1953 and at present have excellent fruit prospects.

Mitchell Rites Saturday At 2

Funeral services will be held for Mrs. Mable May Mitchell at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Church of Christ, Mary Jellen and Harvester. J. P. Crenshaw, pastor of the Plainview Church of Christ, will officiate.

Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Jack Edmondson, Archie Roberts, Miles Morgan, John Plaster, Kenneth Walters and Sam Begert.

News In Balance

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

Good News

1. Some 45,000 South Korean troops, supported by American big guns, tanks and planes, jumped off in a surprise counter - offensive against 80,000 Reds who had driven a three-mile deep bulge in Allied lines on the central front. Fighting was the heaviest in two years, despite continued hopes for a truce. Allied fighters were outnumbered and there was no indication that their counter-attack was designed to do anything except recapture lost ground. It was proof, however, that the Eighth Army had not gone soft and demonstrated its ability to recover quickly from a hard enemy blow and strike one of its own.

2. The mayor of a tiny little borough on the border between East and West Berlin pulled the neatest trick of the week. Mayor Willi Kressman set up mobile stores and sold fresh fruit, milk and potatoes at bargain rates to thousands of hungry East Berliners flocking across the border under the eye of frowning Communist police. The Berliners gave the lie to Communist claims that East Germany has plenty of food.

3. Meantime, the Western world got some picture of the extent to which the fall of Lavrenti Beria was shaking the Soviet "peoples" republic. In Georgia, the Ukraine, Estonia and east ceremony official heads rolled, and most western observers believed the purge was just beginning.

1. One of the incongruities of the Korean war for two years has been the roar of big guns within easy earshot of the Panmunjom conference table where the United Nations and the Reds have been arguing a truce. This week they were still arguing. The Reds accused South Korean President Syngman Rhee of "arroganily" planning to sabotage an armistice and refused to accept Allied assurances that Rhee would "collaborate." The Allies, at the end of their patience, were telling the Reds to 'put up or shut up."

2. More trouble flared in the Middle-East, a perennial trouble spot. In Egypt, the British cut off Ismailia in the Canal Zone from the rest of Egypt and demanded the return of a British airman who they claimed had been kidnaped by an Egyptian hoodlum. Egypt rejected the British "ultimatum" and once more talked of war to oust the British from Suez. In Iran, deputies supporting Premier Mohammed Mossadegh resigned from parliament in an apparent move to hamstring the legislature and allow the dictatorial Mossadegh to rule by decree.

3. Under pressure from France and Britain, the United States finally agreed to a low-level four-power conference with Russia, limiting the subject for discussion to peace treaties for Germany and Austria. What the conference would accomplish was doubtful. But it was certain to give the French one more excuse to stall the long-sought European army plan.

Labor-Management Apprenticeship Meeting Slated

Representatives from the three active Pampa management-labor apprenticeship programs are expected to be on hand for the fifth annual Southern States Apprenticeship Conference, scheduled Sept. 10-12 in Fort Worth.

"It is assumed that each Pampa program will send at least one outstanding apprentice and possibly one member of either management or labor to the conference," according to Vincent J. Southwick, U.S. Department of Labor field representative.

Local programs are the Pampa Foundry Company, in which 11 apprentices learn coremaker and molder trades; Pampa Carpenters Joint Program, which includes three management, three labor and 10 carpenter apprentices; Pampa Painters and Decorators Joint Program, which includes three management, three labor and five painter and decorator apprentices.

Invitations to the conference were out this week to 6,000 labor and management leaders in 10 states, said Southwick, who covers 53 counties in the Panhandle and South Plains areas. Gov. Allan Shivers has also added his invitation.

At the get-together, Southwick continued, work panels will be held for numerous industries and crafts with labor and management leaders in charge of discussions and demonstrations.

Previous conferences were held in New Orleans; Miami, Fla.; Memphis, Tenn.; and Birmingham, Ala. States represented will be Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Break-In Suspect Returned To Jail

Back in jail today was John N. Pettigrew, 47, of Pampa, who had been free on $3,000 bond for complicity in the break-in of Utility Oil and Supply, 501 W. Brown.

This time it was for two other reasons, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

Sheriff J. D. Underwod, Wichita, Kan., wired Conner asking that Pettigrew be picked up and held on a charge of parole violation. And, too, Conner has filed on Pettigrew for complicity in the burglary of Suttle Grocery and Market, 407 N. Cuyler.

The Utility job was reported by police June 30; the Suttle break-in, June 19.

Pettigrew was the principal July 8 in a preliminary hearing in the court of Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry, who acted as magistrate.

The police chief said that Pettigrew would remain in city jail until it is decided whether to go ahead with the Suttle charge or extradite him to Kansas authorities. In the latter case, Pettigrew would have to be willing to go to Kansas.

Sheriff Jordan Speaks At Lefors

LEFORS (Special) — County Sheriff Rufe Jordan spoke to the Lefors Lions Club recently on the subject of "Law and Order."

In his talk, Jordan talked of juvenile delinquency and ways that the Lions could help destroy crime by being alert to report suspicions.

At the beginning of the meeting, directed by President John Carpenter, the group voted to elect the "Lion of the Year," and give him a special award. He will be chosen according to attendance, interest, and work.

Also, J. R. Sparkman was elected to be in charge of a Lion bulletin which will be distributed among Lefors residents. It will contain a list of the churches, clubs, new residents, and Lion news.

The club set August 1 as the date of an ice cream, pie, and cake sale to be held in the Lefors city square.

The next meeting will be held July 27, in the basement of the Lefors Methodist Church at 8:00 p.m.

CONSTRUCTION WORKERS GET "TOP DOLLAR"—If you're wondering about the high cost of housing, one of the answers could be the high hourly pay building trade workers get. Above Newschart shows the average hourly rates earned by union construction workers from 1951 to the present. All seven crafts have increased their pay steadily with plasterers leading the parade at $2.88 an hour. Data from U. S. Department of Labor.

New Church Formed By Lefors Group

LEFORS (Special) — The Bible Baptist Church met and organized in Lefors, recently with Rev. Scotty Alexander of Enid, Okla. as director. Rev. J. A. Lingo of Springfield, Mo., was called to serve as the new pastor. Rev. Lingo gave several articles of faith to the approximately 40 attending. This was followed by a sermon "The Articles of Faith," by Rev. Alexander.

Rev. Lingo is a 1953 graduate of the Baptist Bible College in Springfield, Mo. He and his wife have four children: David, Craig, Janet, and Steven.

There are 11 charter members and the charter membership will be held open until August 1.

The meetings are now taking place in the Pentecostal Holiness Church in Lefors.

Local Church Ends Building Fund Drive

Building fund donations to the Evangelistic Tabernacle, made the latter part of 1952 and the first part of '53, totalled $1105. Approximately half of the money was used as a down payment on Ward's old Cabinet Shop, which has now been remodeled into a church.

The other half was used for labor and materials. Mrs. Gladys Macdonald and Mrs. James Burgess were in charge of the fund riasing drive.

R. F. Miller is pastor of the Tabernacle.

Airman Fined For Speeding

One of six airmen from the Amarillo Air Force Base today is out $100 and costs, a fine imposed by Justice of the Peace J. V. Andrews on charges of speeding and driving on the wrong side of the road.

Rene Petrosky, 18, was the driver of a car which was stopped by sheriff's officers, some two miles west of Pampa on the Amarillo highway, as it was heading toward Pampa.

Andrews imposed the fine on Petrosky who had five other airmen with him in the car. Residents of White Deer had phoned the Pampa sheriff's office, officers reported.

Pick-up was made about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday and the fine imposed shortly afterward.

Real Buddies, Too

SWANSEA, Wales, July 17 —UP— Kenneth Rees, 34, was charged with blackmailing his friend Berwyn Davies for $560 after he discovered Davies committed adultery with his wife.

"Now, Rees," Judge Sir Winfringham Stable said, "that is not the way to handle a problem of this kind."

Stable dismissed the charge when Rees agreed to try to make up with his wife.

Automobile manufacturers say that in 1940 there was one car in use for every five Americans. They estimate that in 1953 there will be a car registered for every thre and a half persons.

U. S. Backs Out

WASHINGTON, July 17 —UP— The President has signed a bill wiping out an old law which allowed servicemen to purchase discharges before their terms of enlistment were up.

The nearly-forgotten law was brought to attention recently by two GI's at Fort Sill, Okla., who hauled out their wallets and announced they were willing customers.

Former Pastor To Speak Here Sunday

Chaplain Henry H. Tyler, Jr., will preach Sunday morning at the First Christian Church. Tyler was pastor of the church for four years before he was recalled to the Naval Chaplaincy last summer.

A basket dinner will be held in Fellowship Hall at the church immediately following the morning services.

The Tylers left Pampa in August, 1952. He is home on leave, having been serving in the Philippines for a number of months.

He will be guest preacher in the absence of Rev. Dick Crews, who is on vacation.

Shamrock Personals

SHAMROCK (Special) — Jack Worley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seibert Worley of Shamrock called home from San Fransisco Tuesday. He had just arrived in the states after 18 months overseas. He expects to be in Shamrock next week.

Gilbert Stribling is leaving Shamrock next week for a month's training at Riverside, Calif. He is in the Air Force R.O.T.C. at Texas A & M. Following the training period he and three classmates will make a tour through the Northwest before returning to Texas. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Stribling, will be a senior student at Texas A & M this fall.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Tindall over the weekend were Mrs. Tindall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Rolater of Seminole, Okla., her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Mathis; and her aunt, Miss Anabel Mathis, both of Mooringsport, La.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell Is Re-Elected Head Of American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary held a covered dish supper Thursday at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. E. E. McNutt, 1340 Christine.

A business meeting was held after the supper. The nominating committee reported the following officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. Frank Shotwell; first vice president, Mrs. Joe Shelton; second vice president; Mrs. Lee Harrah; secretary, Mrs. Charles Glisson; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Lard; chaplain, Mrs. Diamia Wood; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Roy Sewell; assistant sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. J. C. Coston; and historian, Mrs. E. E. McNutt.

Delegates were appointed to the state convention to be held at the Rice Hotel in Houston, July 31 through August 3. They were Mrs. Joe Shelton, Mrs. Frank Shotwell, and Mrs. L. R. Franks, with alternates, Mrs. E. E. McNutt, Mrs. Wayne Washbourne, and Mrs. Roy Harrah.

Following the business meeting, the guests of honor, Misses Gaye Nell Carter and Sue Williams, gave a report on their trip to Austin as Auxiliary and Legion delegates to Girls State.

Miss Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Carter, told what the girls learned. She was elected City Manager of her "city." Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams, told about the fun they had. She reached the finals as Secretary of State but was defeated. She was appointed by the governor, however, to the Texas Department of Public Safety. Girls State is a mock government set up by the girls to study government.

Attending were Mmes. Joe Shelton, Diamia Wood, L. K. Stout, Lee Harrah, T. C. Carter, J. C. Coston, Wayne Washbourne, J. M. Turner, Charles Glisson, Frank Shotwell, Carl Gable, L. R. Franks, Roy Sewell, Roy W. Williams, W. P. Vincent, E. E. McNutt, W. A. Breining; Misses Gaye Nell Carter, Marlene Kolb and Sue Williams.

Mrs. Bewley Kingham Honored At Shower

LEFORS (Special) — Mrs. Bewley Kingham was honored recently with a pink and blue baby shower in the home of Mrs. W. T. Hill.

Hostesses, Mrs. Bill Hill, Mrs. Mertle Hilton, Mrs. Bess Pritchard, Mrs. Melburne Wariner and Miss Eva Mae Rutledge presented Mrs. Kingham with a yellow crib blanket.

Refreshments of pink punch and a white cake decorated with pink and blue were served to the 19 guests. The large bowl of punch centered the table covered with a white lace cloth.

Mrs. Kingham wore a corsage made of yellow, blue, pink and white baby socks.

Those attending were Mmes. A. C. Sanders, Joe Parks, Ruby Smith, A. T. Cobb, Leona Bewley, Blanch Bishop, Ed Wiggans, Margie Kieth, Glena Coughron, Leslie Smith, Walter Kingham; Misses Bobbie Wariner, Margaret Cobb, Fryda Howell and Marilyn Mullins.

Mrs. John Phelps Entertains With Informal Coffee

Mrs. John B. Phelps entertained with the third in a series of informal coffees in her home recently.

A fruit arrangement formed the centerpiece for the table appointed with pottery and wrought iron.

Attending were Mmes. Bob Vail, Clif Whitney, Warren Fatheree, Clyde Fatheree, John Frick, Horton Russell, Roy McKernon, William Jerrell Smith, Charles Brauchle, H. H. Hicks; and Miss Judy Smith.

Women Of Moose Have Initiation

Women of the Moose had initiation ceremonies recently in Moose Hall. Mrs. Joe Marsell, senior regent, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. L. L. Howell was initiated into the club.

Officers of the organization had charge of the program. Tap dances were given by Patricia Frick and Brenda Brown. Miss Marian Osborne gave an accordion solo. Mrs. Howell accompanied the group at the piano.

Refreshments were served after the program which included color slides shown by Henry Gordon.

Present were Mmes. Earl Miller, Bill Morse, Ed Gething, Charlie Webb, Bill Henry, W. C. Brown, Lester Jones, Noel Thompson, Roy Hall, Elvana Brumley, Beuna Cox, Don Alexander, B. A. Derryberry, Dovie Tolar and Frank Arthur.

Clean the clogged-up burners of your gas range with sal soda (washing soda). Have large enough vessel to hold them covered with water. Boil on the stove for a short time in solution of four tablespoons sal soda per gallon of water. When cool, finish the job with a brush.

Miss Arvella Jean Cordell, Former Pampan, Becomes Bride Of Joe Storrs

Miss Arvella Jean Cordell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Cordell of Ulysses, Kan., and formerly of Pampa, became the bride of Joe Fred Storrs, son of Mrs. Virginia Storrs of Lubbock, recently. Rev. Cecil A. Ray read the ceremony in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Mitchell of Lubbock.

The bride wore a dress of blue lace featuring a protrait neckline embroidered with rhinestones. The fitted bodice continued into a bouffant street-length skirt. The dress was complemented with white and rhinestone accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded with white carnations.

Miss Martha Cordell attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a yellow hemstitched cotton dress with white accessories.

Bobby Batten of Lubbock was the best man.

The couple will reside in Lubbock. Mrs. Storrs attended school in Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Clark, 800 E. Gordon, attended the wedding of their granddaughter.

Mrs. John Shelton Is Shower Honoree

Mrs. John Shelton was the honored at an informal layette shower given recently at the home of Mrs. Derrel Hogsett, 417 Magnolia. Mrs. Gene Turner served as co-hostess.

Mrs. Shelton was given a corsage of talisman roses tied with pink ribbons.

Cake, lemonade and coffee were served.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Cliff Searl and Sandra and Danny, Eugene Turner and Burton, Derrel Hogsett and Danny and Cynthia, John Shelton; Mmes. Joan Sweetwood and Nickie Joe and Suzan, Jack Lewis and Barbara, John Carol and Jerry; and Bill Cox and Judy.

Complexion annoyances that may trouble you after 40 include broken capillaries, coarse pores, a yellowish skin tone, and brownish patches.

What to do about those tiny red veins, the bane of the thin-skinned? Avoid their occurrence as much as possible by protecting your skin from extremes of heat and cold. In summer, that means a nondrying sunburn preventive, used as often as necessary.

In cold weather, it means protection from wind or steam heat with a bland lotion or cream. Use only tepid or cold water on your face. Avoid facial massage and stimulating masks. Check up on your intake of citrus fruits and juices to see that you're getting enough Vitamin C.

Coarse pores are usually due to a long-standing over-oily or clogged condition. Too much fat or salt in the diet may be a cause. Failure to get the skin thoroughly clean may be another. Cold water and skin fresheners are good for these areas.

A yellowish skin tone may denote poor health habits, such as lack of sufficient sleep, fresh air and exercise. You may need a medical checkup. If your skin is not also thin and sensitive, try using peppy astringents and facial masks for temporary results.

Powder for the sallow should have no yellow or beige cast. Use a cream or dry rouge not only for your cheeks but on forehead, temples and chin. But make sure to apply it in a strong light and, if you wear glasses ordinarily, wear them while applying rouge.

Use a natural red, not an off-color, and blend it artfully into the rest of your make-up. Rouge must escape detection as rouge.

You can't safely do anything about brownish patches except carefully conceal them with a non-drying make-up base that has good coverage and isn't greasy.

Manners Make Friends

Perhaps the most difficult letter to write is the letter of condolence. What can you say to one who has lost a loved one to help ease the terrible loss? About all you can do is to let the friend know that your thoughts are with him. However you say it, it will be all right.

If you let your heart guide your hand.

Candy Christian Is Party Honoree

A birthday party for Candy Christian, 7, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Christian, 1224 N. Hobart, was held in two places — the Lefors swimming pool and the home of Mrs. Helen Webb, 720 N. Somerville.

Ten youngsters and seven adults were on hand Thursday morning for the affair, the latter part of which took place on Mrs. Webb's front lawn where the honoree opened presents and cut the cake.

In addition to the honoree, the youngsters present were Marika Lang, Bobo Lang, Susan Nelson, Gay Lynn Arndt, Glen Murphree, Carol Murphree, Billy Mays, Dell Mays and Pat Mays.

Adults on hand were Mmes. Alice Adams, Ed Murphree, Emmett H. Mays, Helen Webb, Mildred Christian, Carl Lang and Harley Jackson.

Tips For Tasks

A clean stove doesn't smoke, cooks better, lasts longer and looks better. Drip pans, broiler racks and pans, oven shelves, burner grates or reflectors and gas burners should be removed for washing with suds in the sink.

When using eggs in cooking, break them one at a time into a sauce dish and transfer them to another dish. This allows the cook to inspect each egg for freshness.

Our Kind Of Planning

We're for more planning.

People who read our indictment of various planning commissions may have concluded that we're against planning. The fact is, strange as it may seem to the government planners, we're even more in favor of planning than they are.

We plan our business and we're in favor of everyone else having the right to plan their own business or any other honest activity.

It has been suggested that unless the government planning suggestions are accepted without a fight that the men who serve on such commissions will resign and it will be difficult "to find good men to serve on such jobs." This argument is often used to silence criticism of any government board.

We believe that if the members of all government planning commissions would carry out their threats to resign a strange phenomenon would occur.

There would be more planning than before. All private businesses are planned. Those which survive must be extremely well planned. All private individuals make plans. Some people honestly believe that without government planning of private businesses we would be sunk.

Fortunately for our country many businesses were established before planning commissions came into being to grant permission. Who knows whether permission would have been given?

There are hundreds of examples of how the planners have prevented new businesses from coming into existence. Frank Lloyd Wright, recognized as the greatest architect in the world, has frequently been prevented from using new and revolutionary forms of building by building codes.

Costly lawsuits and demonstrations for the benefit of the city planners have proved Wright was right, but the building codes weren't repealed.

We can see some of the results of private planning not only in magnificent business enterprises, but in private parks, zoos, and resorts. Hotels such as the Cavalier in Virginia Beach, and the Greenbrier in White Sulpher Springs have shown that great stretches of forest land and wildlife sanctuaries can be preserved privately at no expense to the taxpayers.

In Broadmoor near Colorado Springs, there are privately owned lakes which are as beautiful as any government lakes, and superior to city-owned Prospect Lake in Colorado Springs. Also in Broadmoor is located one of America's most beautiful zoos, which is finer than any zoo of its size we've ever seen. It was planned privately and is privately owned and operated.

One of the most beautiful lakes in California, Lake Arrowhead, was developed privately by the Lake Arrowhead Corporation. The most beautiful garden in Manhattan for our money is located in the Promenade of Radio City, where the flowers are changed monthly according to whatever kind of flower is in season. Radio City was planned privately and is privately owned and operated. It's also free.

It might be argued that since the great fortunes which planned and established these private parks, zoos, and gardens, are dwindling, the government should step in and take over.

The answer is that if the government cut down substantially on its "services" the great fortunes would not be dwindling; they would be increasing, and once more it would be possible for poor boys to get rich in America. It is to the advantage of the poor to have private planning which makes new and better jobs.

With more poor people getting rich there would be more private planning of all kinds of enterprises. New businesses based on fabulous new inventions, new creations, original ideas would cause a great overflow of private wealth into planned projects for rich and poor, and into parks and zoos such as those in Broadmoor and great gardens such as once flowered before the various political planners began to decide how much money a man could make.

We're for more planning; we think there will be more planning only when private individuals and groups are assumed to have the right to plan for themselves.

Aid Surveyed

One of the most significant documents to come out of official Washington in a long time is the report of a group of U. S. businessmen sent abroad by the Mutual Security Administration to survey the results of U. S. foreign aid. So far, the report has been censored and released only in part. Here are two eye-opening samples of the survey.

Italy, the group reported, is better off than it has been for 2000 years, as a result of three and one-half billion dollars of U. S. aid. But there has been no fundamental improvement in the monopolistic, socialistic Italian economy, and if the aid were stopped tomorrow, there would be little to show for it.

In Germany, the same amount of U. S. aid has boosted production well above prewar levels. Businessmen in West Germany are willing to take risks and the free enterprise system has been given a chance to function. U. S. economic aid to Germany no longer is needed.

Rumors are rife in Washington that the whole report is so unfavorable to the Mutual Security Administration, which sponsored it, that most of the survey is being suppressed. It's a safe bet that the little that has been released will whet the public appetite for more.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Republic or Empire?

In Garet Garrett's book, "The People's Pottage," published by The Caxton Printers, Ltd., he starts out the third portion of his book under the heading "The Ancient Design." I want to quote from this chapter:

"We have crossed the boundary that lies between Republic and Empire. If you ask when, the answer is that you cannot make a single stroke between day and night; the precise moment does not matter. There was no painted sign to say: 'You now are entering Imperium.' Yet it was a very old road and the voice of history was saying: 'Whether you know it or not, the act of crossing may be irreversible.' And now, not far ahead, is a sign that reads: 'No-U-turns.'"

Forms Do Not Save

Then Mr. Garrett goes on to explain that forms or Constitutions do not save a country from becoming an empire. He explains it in this manner:

"There is no comfort in history for those who put their faith in forms; who think there is safeguard in words inscribed on parchment, preserved in a glass case, reproduced in facsimile and hauled to and fro on a Freedom Train.

"Let it be current history. How much does the younger half of this generation reflect upon the fact that in its own time a complete revolution has taken place in the relations between government and people? It may be doubted that one college student in a thousand could even state it clearly.

"The first article of our inherited tradition, implicit in American thought from the beginning until a few years ago was this: 'Government is the responsibility of a self-governing people.'

"That doctrine has been swept away; only the elders remember it. Now, in the name of democracy, it is accepted as a political fact that people are the responsibility of government.

"The forms of republican government survive; the character of the state has changed.

"Formerly the people supported government and set limits to it and minded their own lives.

"Now they pay for unlimited government, whether they want it or not, and the government minds their lives — looking to how they are fed and clothed and housed; how they provided for their old age; how the national income, which is the product of their own labor, shall be divided among them; how they shall buy and sell; how long and how hard and under what conditions they shall work; and how equity shall be maintained between the buyers of food who dwell in the cities and the producers of food who live on the soil. For the last named purpose it resorts to a system of subsidies, penalties and compulsions, and assumes with medieval wisdom to 'fix the just price.'"

In this list of how the forms changed, Garet Garrett overlooked the most important change that has come to the American people. That is that the people come to look to some branch of government to be educated. It might be regarded that he included this when he said the government minded the lives of the people. Of course, it will only be a relatively short time until the federal government or the United Nations will have complete control of the minds of the American people. But it is this local control of the minds of the people that can only teach some form of the welfare state, some form of collectivism, that has greatly caused the American people to believe that they can give up freedom in exchange for security. Of course, when they give up freedom, they will really give up security because the state has nothing to give that it doesn't take from some production.

Properties Of Empire

In the chapter "properties of Empire" Mr. Garrett lists the different requisites of an empire. He lists as No. 1 that "The executive power of government shall be dominant." Then he says:

"It may be dominant originally, as in the days of herditary kingship, or it may come to be dominant by change, as when the Roman republic passed under the rule of Caesars.

"As now we use the word executive it means much more than the Constitution intended."

Then Mr. Garrett points out that the executive branch has largely assumed the powers of the other two departments — Congress and the Supreme Court. The executive branch was not able to get control of the Supreme Court by packing it, but by staying in office so long that many of the judges died, it appointed men to do its will.

Mr. Garrett contends that the second mark by which you may unmistakably distinguish an empire is that its domestic policy becomes subordinate to foreign policy. That happened to Rome and has happened to every empire. The consequences of its having happened to the British Empire are tragically appearing. The fact now to be faced is that it has happened also to us. Mr. Garrett goes on to say:

"It needs hardly to be argued that as we convert the nation into a garrison state to build the most terrible war machine that has ever been imagined on earth, every domestic policy is bound to be conditioned by our foreign policy.

"The voice of government is saying that if our foreign policy fails we are ruined. It is all or nothing. Our survival as a free nation is at hazard."

Matthews Indictment Of Clergy May Cost McCarthy Prestige

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although few experienced politicians or Washington observers have looked seriously on the McCarthy-for-President movement, it is expected to collapse as a result of the Wisconsin Senator's seeming approval of J. B. Matthews' charges of communism against 7,000 Protestant clergymen.

No major party would dare to nominate a man who had been associated even remotely with such an indictment, and McCarthy is too canny to make a forlorn race as an Independent.

As a matter of fact, his earlier attempt to retain Matthews as a committee aide may encourage hitherto frightened GOP-ers in Wisconsin to try to deprive him of a Senate renomination.

IKE UNSYMPATHETIC TO McCARTHY TACTICS — Although President Eisenhower has refused to engage in an open clash with him on the church and book-burning questions. In other ways, Ike has let Republican leaders know that he is out of sympathy with the Senator's tactics.

Democratic resignation from his committee, as will as key minority members' indignation over attack on the Protestant clergy, have tamed McCarthy, at least temporarily.

Previously, the opposition had not been unwilling to abet his activities because of the embarrassment it was causing the administration. But men from the South and the Bible Belt could not approve these more extreme methods.

MATTHEWS BLUNDER MAY HALT McCARTHY — What makes them all the more politically damaging is the fact that the Senator is a member of another faith. Although religious prejudice and sensitivity have abated since the Hoover-Smith contest in 1928, they are still important factors in American politics.

McCarthy can still use his chairmanship to harass the White House and State Department, but he will not carry the weight that he did before the Matthews blunder. He will walk alone on Capitol Hill.

INEPT PUBLICITY JOB ON BOOK-BURNING—Although John Foster Dulles has hired an able Washington reporter as an assistant secretary of State—Carl W. McCardle, formerly with the Philadelphia Inquirer—they have performed an inept publicity job on the book-burning and allied issues. Their hush-hush reaction has prevented them from making a sound, logical and factual defense.

Then Mr. Garrett goes on to show how irrational this kind of argument is.

Then the author says:

"Another brand mark of Empire is: 'Ascendancy of the military mind, to such a point at last that the civilian mind is intimidated.'

"This we shall see.

"The great symbol of the American military mind is the Pentagon in Washington with its seventeen and one half miles of corridor, in which admirals and generals sometimes get lost; its twenty-eight thousand people at desks, eight thousand automobiles parked outside — the largest indoor city in the world. It was built at a cost of seventy million dollars during World War II, not as temporary housing such as was built during World War I, but as a dwelling for Mars. What it represents is a forethought of perpetual war."

Sen. McCarthy insists that about 30,000 volumes in the almost 200 overseas libraries in 65 countries are tainted with Communist propaganda. He suggests that these books were planted there deliberately by Red sympathizers in the State Department under former Secretary Dean Acheson and certain predecessors.

If Dulles or McCardle would take the American people and press into their confidence, they could explain that the International Information Center Service grew up Topsy-like in a hit-or-miss manner.

LIBRARIES ESTABLISHED BY OWI — Most of the libraries reading matter was assembled by the Office of War Information, which supervised the institution until 1946, when it was placed under State Department jurisdiction.

Although OWI had its share of pinkos and fellow-travelers, it must be remembered that Russia was an ally during World War II. There was a definite, politico-literary movement to break down suspicion and distrust of Moscow. So, the writings of Earl Browder, William Z. Foster and even Ilya Ehrenberg, Moscow's top propagandist, were included.

HIT-AND-MISS ASSEMBLING — State inherited many books from Army centers, and these were selected for their light, entertainment value. Still others were left by military personnel, who wanted to travel light when they were transferred or sent on active duty on the front.

State's offense, which was committed and condoned before Dulles took office, was not to realize that pro-Russian material bought for its propaganda value before 1945, had become poisonous when Moscow engaged in a cold war against the West.

The Nation's Press

NEW PEARL HARBORS
(The Chicago Daily Tribune)

Maj. Hamilton A. Long, a lawyer and former air force intelligence officer, talked more sense than Washington has heard in a long while when he discussed the nation's foreign policy and the state of its detenses before a senate appropriations subcommittee. Maj. Long said that the effective protection of the United States was wholly neglected in the pursuit of costly fantasies.

The witness said that the principal decision Congress should make is to stop pouring billions into impractical defenses in Europe and spend the money to make the North American continent impregnable against a soviet atomic Pearl Harbor.

He said that it was bunk that the air force has intercontinental bombers capable of delivering atomic bombs from this country against Russia. He asserted soviet interceptor fighters would enjoy a duck shoot against these cumbersome, slow moving crates, particularly since fighter escorts lack the range to travel with and defend them.

Maj. Long further stated that the Russians could overrun western Europe with their huge ground armies at any time they chose, seize the billions of dollars' worth of military equipment we have given away there, and enslave the American divisions in the forces of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

He said that American military leaders know that they cannot land an American army in Europe against Russia's atomic attacks on European ports of debarkation, so that it is possible neither to reinforce existing American divisions there nor to "liberate" Europe after a soviet conquest. Maj. Long added that it was equally impossible for Russia to land any army here against American atomic resistance from the air.

The major stated that any sensible program of defense would be built about the concept of defense in depth across Canada and Alas-

Fair Enough...

Writer Says Matthews Attack Begins Ike-McCarthy Warfare

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Joseph Alsop, the Washington political propagandist of the New York Herald Tribune and nephew of Eleanor Roosevelt, has brashly exposed the fact that the attack on J. B. Matthews, of the so-called McCarthy Committee, was actually directed by Sherman Adams, one of President Eisenhower's White House political directors, as the first blow in an open war by Ike against Senator Joe McCarthy.

Alsop tips the fact that the National Conference of Christians and Jews was roped into the deal for no reason remotely connected with religion, but solely for the political purpose of getting McCarthy. He makes it appear that Eisenhower has no belly for this fight, but is being maneuvered into it and goaded by Adams.

Alsop, for the Herald Tribune and possibly for his own interest as a member of the Roosevelt persuasion, also has been trying to shove Ike into a ring with Joe as though Ike were a reluctant kid in a schoolyard. In a flagrant goad, Alsop recently wrote to the effect that Eisenhower hated McCarthy, flatly imputing to the President a sentiment which he has never expressed either openly or by implication. In his jubilation, Alsop has now made the mistake of boasting that the National Conference of Christians and Jews was nothing but a fall-guy in the artificial commotion over Dr. Matthews' statement in American Mercury that in 17 years the Communist Party had had the support of at least 7,000 Protestant ministers as party members, fellow-travelers, espionage agents, party line adherents and unwilling dupes. The grudge against all Red-hunters goes back to Matthews' work in exposing the associations and activities of Alsop's aunt Eleanor.

Alsop's exposure of the plot to shove Ike into a fight with McCarthy speaks for itself in plain words. With minor onlissions in the interest of clarity, he says, "President Eisenhower has at last opened hostilities against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. . . the real opening of hostilities was the President's incisive statement denouncing the slander of the Protestant clergy by McCarthy's pet investigator. The White House actively created the opportunity to strike his hard blow at the Wisconsin senator. The President's chief of staff, Former Gov. Sherman Adams, of New Hampshire, was the man who finally decided that Matthews offered the long-awaited 'really good issue' on which the President could take his stand against McCarthy. Rather cleverly, the White House took steps to stimulate a telegram denouncing Matthews from three leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths. This was to give the President a reason to speak. Before the planned answer to the invited telegram could be published, the vice president warned that Matthews was about to be dropped by McCarthy. The only White House reaction was to give the press the President's fine statement without further delay. In short, the intention to strike at McCarthy was abundantly clear." Here Alsop accuses Vice President Nixon, presiding officer of the Senate, of helping to instigate a holy war against a Republican senator. This charge probably is true and will make bad blood between the two.

Sherman Adams is the one who was denounced a short time ago by Richard Lloyd-Jones, the Republican editor of the Tulsa Tribune for keeping real Republicans from seeing Ike and surrounding him with Eastern New Deal Democrats. In this letter, Jones said to Adams: "No one can reach the President. He has made you the Iron Curtain behind which he has isolated himself" from the real Republicans. Soon after the publication of Jones' charge that Adams and Ike had betrayed the Republican Party, its platform and Ike's campaign promises, he had received more than 600 letters, all except three of them endorsing Jones' proposal of a new political party. One was "insultingly disapproving," Mr. Jones reports, and two urged him to give Ike "a chance."

"They want to enlist at once in a national convention of plan and purpose to lay the ground-work for a new party," Mr. Jones writes.

"And they (the letters) came from every state in the union. I have been amazed and heartened. Numerically they show California out in front with its eagerness to form a new party. New York comes second and Illinois third." I received about 100 myself, all endorsing Mr. Jones' letter to Adams.

Well knowing that the National Conference of Christians and Jews was a religious pretext for politics with absolutely no religious motive, I telephoned its office and got a man who identified himself as Costello Bishop, its "director of mass communications."

In the absence of the "general director," Dr. Sterling Brown whose honorific represents a degree of doctor of philosophy, Mr. Bishop confirmed a tip that the Ford Foundation was giving the conference financial support. He was unable to tell me how much the conference had received from the Foundation, but indicated his belief that there had been at least two gifts of money. The one of which he was certain was granted to pay for a world tour of four men "to explore what areas of Asia and the Middle East" offered the best opportunities "for the establishment of world brotherhood chapters."

When I asked Mr. Bishop if the purpose of the conference was primarily religious he answered that it was not. He said it was composed of "religiously motivated people working on matters of civic concern."

During the Truman administration the conference ran a big luncheon at the Mayflower in Washington at $10 a plate, which proved to be nothing but a political rally for Truman at which he delivered a trite, familiar plug for the so-called "civil rights program" which was jammed down his throat at the Philadelphia convention in 1948 by the pro-Socialist group known as Americans for Democratic Action. This thing actively cooperates with the British Socialist Party.

Rabbi Benjamin Schultz, of New York, the executive director of the American Jewish League against Communism, wrote the conference in Nov., 1947, proposing an investigation of Communism "in all religious bodies." In reply, Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, formerly president of assar College and general secretary of the conference, said such an inquiry was "not in the field of work of the conference."

LOOKING SIDEWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

I am either the biggest boob alive or else I am riding down the river on a birch bark dream. A man said he wanted to see me the other day, so I went to see him. This is a man with more connections than a 250-phone switchboard. He works out of a Park Avenue office gleaming with polished antiques and the desk in front of him would make as fine an emergency landing field for planes as I ever saw. Maybe, 150 years ago when it was new, they used it as a drill field for troops. It's a day's march across it in any direction.

So I walked in, in a blue linen summer suit, polished shoes and a proper mood and sat down athwart the desk. There was room left on my side to berth an airplane carrier. He took a long look out of the shrouded window and then a long look at me.

"You must be lazy!" he said. This is called the startle gambit, or how to throw a visitor off balance.

"I don't think so," I said. "I turn out a lot of work, first and last. On top of the things I am hired to do six days a week, I get a lot of side work done. Magazines, a book, things like that."

"Then you must have a notable indifference to money," he said.

"Why?"

"Why are you sitting here wasting your time? You could have closed for a $10,000 advance in the time it's taken us to get started talking."

"Look," I said, "one of us is sauntering down the wrong road. What $10,000 advance on what item of work?"

"There are people who run large organizations and corporations who are fascinating Americana," he said. "It's easy to do a book about any one of them and the usual stipend for an author who writes the book is $10,000 in advance. I knew of a case in which the book later became a best-seller and the author took down about $45,000, all told."

"I have never knowingly kicked the teeth out of $10,000 cash in my life," I said. "I am what is known as less than reluctant. Can I have a blueprint?"

He furnished a blueprint, naming four authors who are engaged in this happy dodge of writing about great business managers. Of great corporations. They are not tycoons, nor even magnates, any more. They are business managers. There is no Mr. Studebaker in existence. No Mr. Packard. No Mr. General Foods. Behind those names a man of consequence in American business lurks and he is a story.

"I know some of such people," he said, after putting the blueprint down to cool. "I know of their publishing needs and what a book can be expected to yield to both sides. That is my business. I conduct it soundly, uprightly and with, I hope, some imagination. That's what you lack. You have had a low career metabolism . . ."

"Just a minute..." I began.

"No," he said. "I'm right. You have a low career metabolism. Maybe we can perk it up. Maybe I could put you in the way of one book a year for three years at $10,000 advance on each one. Once you have touched off three of these you can reasonably expect to be asking $20,000 for a touch of your typewriter. This is not ghost-writing, patting on the back, or gaseous but servile ministration. This is doing a hard, straight, honest book about a hard, straight, honest and fascinating American. If he has a few rocks in his head or frailties in his life-chart, they get described. No one would read straight syrup."

He tells you he is going away for a week, but on his return you go to work. You stand up and cast off your mooring lines and slide slowly away from that island of a desk. You drop down to the street in an elevator and walk out onto Park Avenue.

You decide two things: that it all makes sense and that you will wait and see. It all seems too easy and that $10,000 was laid out without a twitch. Most of the people you know twitch frightfully over $10,000.

I'm waiting.

Oilers Sweep Road Series; Host Borger Gassers Tonight

Sad Sam To Seek 18th Win Tonight

Sad Sam Williams will attempt to keep the Pampa Oiler winning streak going tonight when he takes the mound against the Borger Gassers at Oiler Park which will open a 6-day homestand for the Oilers.

The Oilers extended their triumph streak to four straight last night with a well earned 6-4 decision over the Amarillo Gold Sox at Amarillo. Rolando Rodriguez got credit for his second win in three nights, going all the way except the final out. Jake Henson came on with two out in the ninth when the Sox were attempting to overcome the Oilers and faced only one man and got him to end the game.

In tonight's homestand opener, Williams will be after his 18th win of the season. His record is 17-6. Williams was slated to hurl last night's game but Manager Porky Pawelek decided the overworked Negro righthander needed an extra day of rest and elected to gamble with Rodriguez which paid off in big dividends.

Rodriguez had a 2-hitter going until the eighth inning when he weakened. The Sox pushed over two in the eighth and had one run in in the ninth with two on when Henson was summoned to douse the fire.

The Oilers thus swept all four games played on the road trip, two at Borger and two with the Gold Sox.

A special pre-game ceremony will be in the offing tonight for local fans with the appearance of all eight club queens of the West Texas-New Mexico League at Oiler Park.

The Oilers, in last night's game, assumed the lead in the fourth inning and held it rest of the way. The score was knotted at 1-1 at the end of three innings before the Pampans pushed across a pair to go ahead for good in the fourth.

Bob White, Amarillo's giant rightfielder, smashed a towering home run in in the second inning to account for the game's first score.

In the Pampa third, Ted Krewall was saved by an error, then stole second base and scored on Ben Felder's slicing single to right to tie the score.

The Oilers went ahead with two runs in the fourth on a base on balls to Quincey Barbee, Deck Woldt's long double to left center and Max Molberg's single to center that scored both Barbee and Woldt.

Three straight singles by Doug Lewis, Manny Temes and Barbee and Manager Pawelek's fly ball to center brought two more Pampa runs across in the fifth.

Barbee's double, followed by Pawelek's single to left field accounted for the final Pampa run in the seventh.

Rodriguez struck out Charlie Neal to open the eighth, then waded headlong into trouble.

Bill Wilhite thumped a single to center and Eddie Locke lined a home run over the centerfield barrier for two runs.

Jim Matthews was out when Molberg, playing shortstop, grabbed his head high line drive then John Bruzga and White rapped consecutive singles and Bobby Farmer was walked to load the bases.

Dub Graves popped out to second base ending the rally.

In the ninth Rodriguez struck out pinchhitter John Gorkis to open the frame then surrendered a single to Neal, Wilhite flied out to center after which Locke and Matthews fired consecutive singles, Neal scoring on the latter's blow.

Jake Henson, who pitched the win over Amarillo Wednesday, replaced Rodriguez at this point and induced Bruzga to pop up to the rightfielder.

WT-NM Queens To Be Here Tonite

The touring West Texas-New Mexico League queen contestants arrived in town today and will appear at Oiler Park tonight where they'll pass in view of the fans.

The queens started their tour at Clovis Monday night and since have appeared at Albuquerque Tuesday, Amarillo Wednesday and Borger last night.

Among the eight league beauties will be Eulaine Ellis who has been chosen Miss Pampa Oiler for '53.

The girls arrived late this morning and were guests of honor at a luncheon at the Country Club at noon today sponsored by the Pampa Oilers.

Accompanying the girls on the tour is league president Hal Sayles of Abilene. The group is travelling by special chartered bus. After tonight, they'll go to Plainview Saturday, to Lubbock Monday and then to Abilene Tuesday to complete the tour.

The girls are being judged at each league park and the winner will be announced at the completion of the tour. Miss Ellis, however, will not be judged here since the hometown girl for each park isn't allowed to receive votes by the local judges.

The eight queens will parade in view of the fans tonight in open-air convertibles. They will be attired in evening dresses. The ceremony will begin at approximately 8 p.m.

Club queens of the other seven clubs are Georgia Fackenthal, Albuquerque; Ann Watkins, Amarillo; Lorene Kuehler, Lubbock; Frances Yvonne Ragle, Plainview; Nanette Weaver, Abilene; Naylene Partin, Borger; Beverly Gulluf, Clovis.

The winner of the WT-NM queen contest will receive an expense paid trip to Atlanta, Ga., in December where the national baseball queens contest will be held in conjunction with the annual winter meeting of the minor league.

Unknowns Top St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 17—UP—Dusky Ted Rhodes, golf teacher to former heavyweight champ Joe Louis, teed off in the second round of the St. Paul Open Friday mindful of a wifely suggestion that he either win or go home and get a job.

But on the basis of a hot start Thursday it appeared that the Chicago golfer may not need that job. Both he and husky Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., blasted six strokes off par on the Keller golf course to turn in a pair of 66's for a deadlocked first-round lead.

Par took a lacing in as 31 professionals and one amateur toured the 18 holes with better than perfect scores.

One stroke behind Clark and Rhodes at 67 was steady Doug Ford Harrison, N. Y., the year's third leading money winner.

Another stroke back were native son favorite Wally Ulrich, Austin, Minn., Freddie Haas, New Orleans; Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., Al Besselink, Grossinger, N. Y., and Les Bolstad, Minneapolis.

Bill Waryan, St. Paul, was the leading amateur in the first 18 holes with a 69.

Rhodes has won only $300 in three tournaments this year and quipped that his wife had ordered him to "win more money or come home and get a job."

Go-Go White Sox Close In On Yanks

NEW YORK, July 17—UP—Those go-go White Sox were "gone gone" guys Friday in the language of the be-boppers, which means they are out of this world and ready to steal first place from the Yankees in what could be one of the really authentic baseball miracles of all time.

In fact, the White Sox, who now are only four games out of the lead, could make the American League race tighter than the National any day. Which is absolutely incredible, because just a little more than three weeks ago on June 21 the Yankees were 11½ games in front of the pack.

The White Sox, rallying like champs all the way, came from behind twice Thursday to top the Senators 6 to 5 in 10 innings and 5 to 4, while the Yankees settled for a split in St. Louis, losing 8 to 6, then winning 7 to 3.

Billy Pierce, the winning pitcher, came through in a relief role after his shining stint in the All-Star game and received credit for his 11th victory in the opener when he drove in the winning run with a single. A home run by Ed Stewart with Sam Mele on base with a double provided the winning margin for Harry Dorish in the second game.

The Browns made five homers, three in succession by Clint Courtney, Dick Kryhoski, and Jim Dyck to tie a major league mark, in the first game. Bob Young and Vic Wertz homered later to enable the Browns to tie another mark with 17 homers in their last five games —equalling the major mark for such a stretch set by the 1940 Yankees.

The third-place Indians, eight games behind, topped the Athletics 5 to 3 and Boston edged Detroit 3 to 2 in other American League games.

In the National, the Dodgers went 2½ games ahead of second - place Milwaukee with a thumping 9 to 2 victory over the Cardinals while the Pirates defeated the Braves 5 to 2. The sizzling Giants defeated the Cubs 10 to 3 and the Phils twice topped Cincinnati 3 to 1 and 3 to 2.

Al Rosen's grand slam homer was the big blow in Cleveland's triumph as Mike Garcia won his 11th game by scattering 10 hits.

Piersall Provides Edge

A two-run homer by Jim Piersall provided the winning edge for Mel Parnell in Boston's victory at Detroit.

Brooklyn made eight extra base hits out of it total of 11 in drubbing the Cards behind the steady eight-hitter for Preacher Roe, who gained his sixth victory against two defeats. Gil Hodges hit a grand slam homer in the first inning, the first this season for Brooklyn, and added his 19th homer later. Duke Snider also hit a Dodger home run.

The Giants scored their ninth victory in the last 10 games and stayed 6½ games from the top even though they still are in fifth place.

The Pirates came out of a 10-run losing streak to top Milwaukee as Bob Friend pitched eight hit ball and Carlos Bernier paced the hitting with a triple and a single and also stole home.

Thursday's Star—Gil Hodges of the Dodgers who hit their first grand slam homer of the year in the first inning, then added another round-tripper, his 19th, later in a 9 to 2 triumph over the Cardinals.

Day Still Favored In Tri-State Golf

AMARILLO, July 17—UP — Defending champion Frank Day, a 58-year-old Plainview attorney, remained the favorite Friday as the 19th annual Tri-State Senior Golf Tournament moved into the quarter-final round.

After a comparatively easy opening round victory Wednesday, Day was extended the full 18 holes before eliminating A. N. Ridings, Chillicothe, 2-up, in the second round Thursday.

Day met Cliff Rogers, Amarillo, who defeated last year's runner-up, Red Covington, San Angelo, 2 and 1, Thursday.

Six other players 50-years-of age or older advanced into the third round with Day and Rogers.

They were Al Couchman, Dallas; Hezzie Carson, San Angelo; Dr. H. C. Johnson, Altus, Okla.; Frank Bailey, Fairview, Okla.; Tom Davis, Petersburg; and D. A. Dowell, Amarillo.

Pairings Friday were Couchman vs Carson; Johnson vs Bailey; and Davis vs Dowell.

Three of the quarter-finalists were extended more than 18 holes. Dr. Johnson edged Jack Robinson, Amarillo, 1-up, in 20 holes; Davis beat Ted Tipps, Lubbock, 1-up in 19 holes; and Couchman edged Ted Franklin, Long Beach, Calif., 1-up in 19 holes.

Oilers, Despite Four-Game Win Streak, Haven't Gained An Inch On 1st Division

WHAT DOES A TEAM have to do to gain ground in this torrid West Texas-New Mexico League race?

The Pampa Oilers are likely asking that question this morning after registering their fourth straight win last night and yet they haven't gained an inch on the first division since the streak started.

When the streak started, the Oilers trailed Plainview by 3 games and that's exactly where they are right now.

In winning those four in a row, though, the Oilers picked up ground on Clovis who is now tied with Plainview for third and fourth place in the standings. Plainview, like the Oilers, are on a winning streak but the Ponies have a bigger streak — seven straight.

There is one thing though in the Oilers' favor of winning the last four. They haven't lost any ground on the teams above them. Had they split those four games on the road which would have been considered good enough, they would be 5 games back of the first division and that deficit would be difficult to overcome.

There will be a lot of big doings at the local ball yard tonight. The league queens, eight in all, will be in town and will be present for the game. One of these eight beauties will win an expense paid trip to Atlanta, Ga., this winter as "Miss West Texas-New Mexico League." The league queen will appear in the National Baseball Queen's contest in December.

Manager Porky Pawelek of the Oilers, who viewed the eight girls in Amarillo Wednesday night, said all eight club queens are mighty pretty and added "I think our queen (Miss Eulaine Ellis) has a good chance of winning."

In addition to this special attraction, the Oilers will be out to run their current winning streak to five and who could be the better man to keep the win streak going than Sad Sam Williams.

Williams, the Oiler workhorse, will handle the mound chores for the Oilers when they take on the Borger Gassers in the first of a two-game series. Williams worked three games in a row, Sunday through Tuesday, going the route in one and relieving in a total of 6 2-3 innings in the other two.

Sad Sam, although he said he was ready to go last night, was allowed an extra day of rest and should be in top form tonight.

Hubs, Ponies Also Triumph

By UNITED PRESS

The Lubbock Hubbers moved two games ahead of second-place Albuquerque in the West Texas-New Mexico League Thursday night by beating Borger 11 to 5.

Plainview's Ponies pulled into a third place tie with Clovis with a 7 to 3 victory over Albuquerque as the Ponies' Ed Arthur pitched an eight-hitter. Pampa beat Amarillo 6 to 4 and the Abilene at Clovis game was postponed because of rain.

The results left Clovis and Plainview 3 1-2 games behind Lubbock, Pampa, in fifth place, was 6 1-2 games back.

Sports Back On Top In TL

By UNITED PRESS

For the third time in as many nights, Shreveport and Dallas switched places Thursday night, the Sports winning 5 to 3 to go one-half game ahead of the Eagles.

While Shreveport and Dallas still left unsettled their fight for first place after a three - game series, Oklahoma City continued to move steadily up the ladder. The Indians swept their three game series with Houston, 10 to 8, in 12 innings in a three hour and 40 minute game that almost exhausted the pitching staffs of each team along with all the available baseballs. Six Indian pitchers and five for Houston were used mostly as cannon-fodder as a half-dozen homers were hit, four by the Indians and two by Houston.

In other games, Fort Worth came from behind to beat Beaumont 7 to 5, and Tulsa beat San Antonio 6 to 3.

In the Shreveport-Dallas game, home runs accounted for all the scores. Harry Heslet slammed his 31st and 32nd of the year for the Sports and catcher J. W. Jones added two Sport runs with a homer. Wilcy Moore accounted for Dallas' three runs in the ninth inning with a home run.

Twelfth inning doubles by Russ Burn and Joe Frazier, each of whom had hit home runs earlier in the game, scored two Oklahoma City runs for the Tribe's 10 to 8 win over Houston.

Al McNeilance's seven-hit pitching gave Tulsa its 6 to 3 victory over San Antonio. Three homers were hit in that game — by Bob Prentice and Mike Lutz of Tulsa and Charley Kress of San Antonio —making a grand total of 15 home runs in the four games Thursday night.

Abilene Losing Close Contests

ABILENE, Tex., July 17—UP—The Abilene Blue Sox of the Class C West Texas-New Mexico League may be setting some kind of record with one-run losses.

Thursday night's scheduled game against Clovis was rained out, but in the seven games that preceded it on the road, five were lost by only one run—two to Lubbock, two to Albuquerque and one to Clovis.

It made nine one-run losses for the Blue Sox since June 23 and 24 for the season.

Abilene is in last place in the league.

Unusual Squeeze Play Wins Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand would be quite unimportant in a rubber bridge game. At a contract of two spades, South could well afford to draw trumps and give up three clubs, one diamond and one heart.

The hand was actually played in a board-a-match team contest, and both declarers were quite anxious to win nine tricks if possible. The play at both tables was quite similar for the first few tricks, but then there was an important difference.

West opened the four of diamonds. East finessed the ten, and South won with the king. South next returned a low club, hoping to ruff his third club in dummy eventually.

West stepped up with the ten of clubs to lead his remaining diamond, and East won a finesse with the jack of diamonds. East returned the eight of hearts, South played low, and West won with the king. West now returned another heart, and South won with the ace.

Up to this point the play was the same at both tables. At the first table, South continued with his original plan. He led a second club, and West won with the queen. West then led another heart, and East refused. This held declarer to eight tricks.

At the second table the declarer was my friend and associate, Alfred Sheinwold. He could see that he would run into a heart ruff if he led a second club, so he devised an unusual squeeze play to make the extra trick.

After winning the second round of hearts with the ace, he ran all five trumps, discarding dummy's last two diamonds. He saved two hearts and a club in the dummy, with the singleton jack of hearts and two clubs in his own hand.

When West had to reduce to three cards he found that he could not do so safely. If West saved only one heart, Sheinwold could overtake the jack of hearts with dummy's queen, whereupon dummy's low heart would provide the ninth trick. When West actually kept two hearts and only the blank ace of clubs, Sheinwold cashed the jack of hearts and then led a club to West. Now West had to lead his last heart to dummy's queen, thus giving declarer his ninth trick anyway.

DALLAS, July 16 —UP— Joseph J. Morton, 66, Dallas, was injured fatally Thursday when he was struck by a hit-and-run car near his home. Police said skid marks indicated the car was traveling at least 70 miles per hour, and Morton was carried about 128 feet.

Globe Trotter Goes Fishing

DALLAS, July 16—UP— Horace C. Boren, Braniff International Airways publicist who set a record by going around the world in 99 hours and 16 minutes, has gone fishing. But he didn't go as far as on his last trip. He left via Braniff for Panama and Bolivia fishing and a 6,000-mile trip to rest up from his 21,000-mile journey.

Matrimonial Mix-Up

SYRACUSE, Sicily, July 17—UP —A confused matrimonial agent here Friday offered a 16-year-old girl as a bride to her 18-year-old brother.

The brother and sister, using fictitious names, both applied to the same matrimonial agent for a suitable mate.

The agent thought the two applicants were a "natural" until he introduced the couple.

False Alarm

SHOREMAN, England, July 17—UP—A lifeboat raced into the choppy English channel Thursday night to aid a "yacht sending distress flares."

MEMO TO VETERANS:

Do you have your veterans Certificate of Eligibility that enables you to purchase a new home under the G.I. Home Loan Plan? If not, bring your original discharge and service record to our office and we will secure this Certificate for you from the Veterans Administration at no cost or obligation to you.

Home Loan guaranty provisions in the G.I. Bill expires for most World War II veterans July 25, 1957.

Koran vetrans can qualify if the service was after June 27, 1950. All veterans must have 90 days or more of service to qualify for the G.I. Home Loan benefits. If you have lost your Certificate of Eligibility or your original discharge you should ask your local Veterans Service Officer to help you obtain certificates in lieu of the ones lost.

Quadruple Amputee To Double Blood Donation He Received

SAN ANTONIO, July 16—UP—year-old quadruple amputee back from the Korean war, plans to give two pints of blood for every one of the 25 he has received.

Reininger gave a pint of blood Wednesday.

The former Marine was wounded at Yudanmi, Korea, and was treated in Army and Navy hospitals in Japan.

"Every serviceman and ex-serviceman should give blood to the armed forces blood centers," he said Thursday. "It is only a small prick in the arm, but I know what it means to get a pint of blood when you need it."

Reininger said he had made up his mind to give double the 25 pints he had received.

"The blood I received overseas enabled me to come home and get married and in three weeks we expect our first child," he said.

Reininger called and came to the blood donor center several times before being accepted. He was told to wait about two-and-a-half years to allow his system to build up after the quadruple amputation.

Last Christmas, his wife, Jeannette, 22, gave a pint of blood herself when her husband was turned down. Both said they planned to continue giving blood after the birth of the baby.

Hollywood At Last Pictures Newspaper Life In Reality

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, July 17 — UP—Hollywood has made peace with the press. The movies at last have produced a film in which the newspapermen look and act like real ones—because most of them are real.

Ever since "The Front Page," a news reporter on celluloid usually is an inebriated heel who seldom works, wears a press card in his hat and solves all the murders.

But in "Roman Holiday,' one of the top films of this or any year, Director William Wyler saw to it that Gregory Peck and Eddie Albert looked and acted like newsmen. And the last scene, involving 40 newsmen, was authentic because Wyler hired 40 real-life newsmen on the location spot in Rome.

"It took four days to shoot that last scene," a studio spokesman says. "The reporters were away from their offices four days and they were getting hell from their bureau chiefs."

In that scene, a press conference, the reporters respectfully question a princess, played by Audrey Hepburn, and nobody throws a flashbulb in her face or races off shouting, "Hold the press!"

The actors playing reporters, Peck and Albert, work for a wire service in Rome. Peck lives in a slightly shabby rooming house, sleeps through an appointment for a story and works in an office that is small and busy.

In past movies, correspondents behaved in a wondrous fashion. Barbara Stanwyck played a columnist in "To Please A Lady."

She wore custom-tailored suits and had a lavish office like a "Ziegfeld Follies" set. She also boasted Adolph Menjou in homber and white gloves as a leg man.

Patricia Neal portrayed a reporter in "Three Secrets" who, during two days on a plane crash story, never took a note or phoned her office. In "Ace in the Hole" Kirk Douglas wooed the publisher's wife showed up drunk at work and brought about the death of a man in a cave.

Dan Duryea, Dennis O'Keefe and Howard Duff have played reporters involved in blackmail and murder. The crushing blow was in "Valentino" when the death of that immortal profile was attributed to a reporter who punched him in the stomach.

I found only one unreal situation with "Roman Holiday." Peck is smitten with romance and passes up the biggest scoop of the year. In real life, I think, he would have passed up cupid—at least for the run of the story.

Woman Admits Paying In Attempt On Man's Life

FORT WORTH, July 16 —UP—A pudgy 24-year-old prostitute has confessed to police she paid $500 in an attempt to have Howard Bigham Davis murdered because he spurned her love.

But Leona Bess bitterly complained that the gunman bungled the job and that Davis lost his one remaining arm, instead of being slain.

And she said she confessed because she had promised the triggerman on him if he bungled.

Davis was shot Monday night in a Mansfield tavern.

The prostitute said in her statement that she hired Ernest Roberts, 27, a Johnson county carpenter to do the killing. Roberts was charged with assault to murder and lodged in Tarrant county jail. He refused to talk.

But Leona Bess was talkative. She said she was to pay $500 for the slaying. She said she paid $300 in cash and was to serve as a prostitute for Roberts until she could pay off the remaining $200.

She said she and Davis lived together for a time, but he started running around with Billy Norman Portwood, 23, and Dean K. Portwood, 25, and didn't stay with her after that.

She said Davis, whom she called "Big 'Un," just "drove me crazy. I decided if I couldn't have Big 'Un, I'd have him killed."

The woman told officers she had no permanent home, but plied her trade "all over."

"I know 'em all," she said.

She was held in jail under protective custody. She said she wanted to go to the penitentiary, because she feared the man she hired would kill her.

Davis was expected to recover. He lost his first arm eight months ago in a similar shooting.

Kerr Has Praise For Benson Plan

WASHINGTON, July 16—UP—In a rare display of praise of a Republican, Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) Thursday complimented agriculture secretary Ezra Benson for one phase of his cattle program —the plea to eat more beef.

"I have given him my complete personal co-operation in the one program he has emphasized most —that is, to eat our way out of the beef surplus and thereby boost the price of cattle," Kerr said in his weekly column to Oklahoma newspapers.

Kerr added that Benson had pointed out the price collapse was greatest in the cheaper grades suitable for hamburger, chili and stew.

"I must say, this effort is one I enjoy very much. I can eat all the hamburger I want to on my diet. . . in fact, the great majority of the younger generation now definitely prefers hamburgers to the most expensive cuts of beef."

Kerr then launched into his weekly blast at administration policies and said the cattle industry faces bankruptcy unless the government supports prices to producers at 90 per cent of parity.

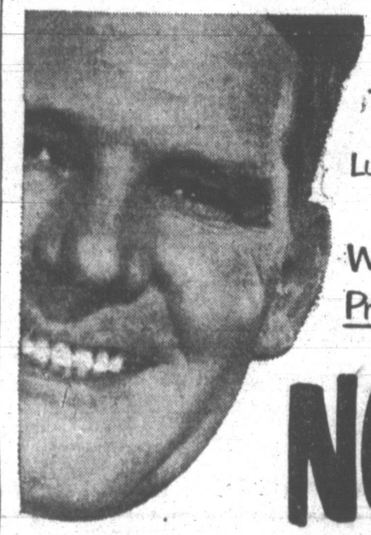

"Now, Mr. Benson," he concluded, "if you will co-operate with me on other ways to help the price of cattle as much as my kids and I are co-operating with you in stepping up the consumption of hamburgers and chili meat, we might get somewhere."

Two Killed in Riot

CALCUTTA, July 16 —UP—Two persons were killed and many others injured Wednesday in violent demonstrations against a one-fourth cent increase in street car fars. The demonstrators attacked trolleys and other vehicles with bombs, acid, bulbs and stones, smashing windows and injuring passengers and transport workers.

It takes 40,000,000 wooden crossties a year to keep U.S. railroads operating.
