BANK ROBBER SLAIN IN SOONER RAID

RATLIFF RESTS CASE WITHOUT ANY TESTIMONY

JURY IS EXPECTED TO GET CASE LATE TODAY AT EASTLAND

(By Associated Press) EASTLAND, Jan. 25.—The fate of Marshall Ratliff, charged with robbery of the First National Bank of Cisco on December 23, will rest with a jury today without defense testimony. Closing one of the most spectacular trials in the history of ninety first district court, the state today rested its case after half a hundred witnesses who sought to prove that Ratliff garbed as Santa Claus participated in the robbery of the Cisco bank after which G. E. Bedford, Cisco police chief, G. W. Carmichael, police officer and L. E. Davis, a bandit, were mortally wounded in a gun battle just outside the bank.

When the state rested its case at 10:30 o'clock defense attorney J. Lee Cearley asked Judge G. L. Davenport to require the state to furnish the defense with a transcript of the testimony given against Ratliff before the grand jury. W. W. Hair, special prosecutor, said that the law does not require the state to do this and the state in this case did not care to comply with the defense request. At this point Cearley abruptly announced that the defense also rested and Judge Davenport recessed court until 2 o'clock to prepare his charge to the jury.

Arguments in the case probably will consume one day, although the time had not been set. Three witnesses today. Only three witnesses testified Wednesday. Milton P. Connelly, a high school student at Cisco, testified that he saw a Boston hat in a creek bottom two miles from where the bandit car was found on the day of the holdup. Connelly said the bag contained two pairs of rubber gloves, cotton bandages, and other things. Cy Bradford, Eastland county deputy sheriff, testified that Ratliff was arrested at 7:50 a. m. December 27, near Miller Bend. W. M. Miller of the Cisco police department corroborated the testimony of Connelly as to the contents of the hatbag. Taking of testimony in the case began Monday morning, after a week consumed in a struggle between state and defense over venue and the selection of a jury. (Turn to Page 6, Column 7, Please)

State To Protest Oil Company Plans AUSTIN, Jan. 25 (AP)—The state will resist efforts to let the Humble Oil company lay a crude oil loading pipe line along Mustang Island and into gulf waters. Assistant Attorney General Joe Brown was instructed to inform the company today. Brown reminded the company "desist" immediately so that the attorney general "will not be forced to take further action." He declared the company has no right to lay such a line over property which belongs to the state. Game Commissioner Will Tucker first protested the project, declaring "inevitable leaks in such a line would endanger millions of fish. A conference was held between Tucker, Gov. Moody, the attorney general and Humble representatives here recently.

War Vet Drowns In Plunge From Train HOUSTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Relatives of William Chase, 30, shell shocked veteran of the world war who was drowned Tuesday night when he stepped from a moving freight train into a bayou on the outskirts of Houston, were expected to come from Beaumont and claim the body. Chase has a brother and sister in San Antonio, and a brother and mother in Beaumont. Chase and Walter Haering, of New York city were on their way to San Antonio where Chase was to claim government compensation insurance as a wounded veteran. Haering said.

LODGE WOMAN DIES LOUISVILLE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Rosetta Max Levy, 60, Grand Ruth of the national organization of the Eastern Star and wife of Herbert M. Levy, operator of a chain of department stores in Louisiana, died here today.

Four Children Killed When Storm Wrecks Tennessee Mountain School

OTHERS HURT IN SUDDEN COLLAPSE OF FRAME HOUSE

(By Associated Press) NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 25.—The storm which swept in a great semi-circle south of Nashville through a half dozen or more counties yesterday afternoon reached the climax of its destructiveness in DeKalb county, where a rural district school on Holmes Creek was blown over and four children killed and another probably fatally injured. The dead are: Edward Attrip, 8; Harvey Cripps, 5; George W. Smith, 14, and Ruby Hayes, 12. Aubrey Smith, 14, is expected to die from internal injuries. H. Grady Carter, teacher, sustained a broken ankle and numerous cuts and bruises, but his condition is not considered serious. Near Smithville The school is six miles north of Smithville and the storm which wrecked it and snuffed out the lives of the children came almost without warning. First news of the casualties came when Houston Webb, a bus driver arrived late last night from a mountain trip. He said the storm descended suddenly while a class was in session in the little mountain school and that the building was shattered before Grady Carter, the principal, could herd his charges to safety. Carter was pinned beneath the building with a broken ankle. Some of the class escaped uninjured. Webb said, but many were caught under the crashing debris. Story Confirmed Confirmation of the bus driver's story was obtained through a railroad dispatcher who said that a rural mail carrier in the storm swept district told that five or six children had been killed when the school collapsed. Twenty-one children and their teacher barely escaped death or serious injury when a twisted demolished one story frame school house near Lang, Ky., yesterday. The wind struck the building while classes were in session and tore the school house from its foundation, rolling it over on its side. As the building overturned, one side was torn loose and the children, ranging in age from six to 14, and the teacher, Miss Hattie Scott, managed to crawl from the wreckage. An infant daughter of A. Trice, a farmer near Gage, Ky., was crushed beneath the wreckage of a brick chimney when the Trice home was demolished by winds. The storm left ruined homes at Wickliffe, Kevil, Gage, Lamont and Paducah, in western Kentucky river towns, and then swept into Illinois in the direction of Caseyville. Other Big Damage In Franklin, Columbia and Murfreesboro, all in central Tennessee houses were unroofed, a school building at Columbia was destroyed and the walls of several brick buildings were blown down. An umbrella caught by the winds from the hands of a pedestrian in Nashville was carried against high tension wires and caused a short circuit which left a part of the town in darkness for several hours. Minor damage to many buildings was reported. Arthur Van Coteve, a rural mail carrier, was slightly injured when his buggy was carried from the road by the winds. Automobiles were piled against each other by the tornado in several places.

Examinations For Pro Men Not Fixed WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The civil service commission has announced that it is too early to determine when and where new examinations for lower positions in the prohibition service will be held. The commission declined to assume responsibility for a rumor that the new examinations would be made easier than the ones held recently which 75 per cent of the prohibition agents failed to pass.

ATTORNEY DIES NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Donelson Caffery, 37, attorney, and one-time candidate for the United States senate, died suddenly last night while addressing the graduating class of Warren Easton high school.

ILLNESS HELD MURDER CAUSE OF BASS FOUND HOUSTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—An unfounded belief that death was imminent from heart disorder was the suicide of E. T. Quarles, a year old civil engineer who yesterday shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Sally Belle Quarles, nine years his junior, and her fifteen year old son, George O'Donnell. The bodies of the three were found last night by a roofer across the body of Quarles in the hallway, that of the boy a few steps away, while an investigation later revealed the body of Mrs. Quarles sprawled among bits of broken china in the kitchen. Wounded At Round Rock At Round Rock Bass was wounded and Jackson, under fire of Texas rangers put Bass before him on his horse and carried him two miles out of town where the outlaw died. Accounts of the incident say Jackson was killed by a bullet in the chest. (Turn to Page 4, Column 2, Please)

DAN SAYS HE'S 'NOT THE MAN'

AUSTIN, Jan. 25 (AP)—Belief that Governor Moody is still available for the vice presidential democratic nomination, despite his statement of yesterday that he is "not a candidate, has not been, and has no intention of becoming one" was the widespread capitol reaction today. The Governor evaded the question: "Would you accept such a nomination if offered you?" He gave a strong and definite indication however, that he intends to seek re-election this summer.

ILLNESS HELD MURDER CAUSE OF BASS FOUND (Continued) Quarles, physicians testified at a coroner's inquest last night which returned a verdict of suicide and double murder, was obsessed by a fear that he was in a dying condition from heart trouble. Mystery Slayer In Valley Is Sought BROWNSTOWN, Jan. 25 (AP)—For the second time within a week, local police today were searching for a killer who calls his victims from their homes and shoots them. The latest victim, Avelardo Luna, 39, was slain last night when he went to the window of his home in answer to a soft-voiced call. A week ago, Carlos Gomez, 21, was wounded when he answered a similar call. Gomez may recover. The two victims lived in different sections of the city, and were not acquainted.

ROTARY CLUB AND MANY GUESTS HEAR PRYOR IRWIN, BUSINESS EXPERT, TELL RECIPE FOR COMMUNITY PROSPERITY "The only business insurance a merchant can carry is that of taking an interest in his community affairs," declared Pryor Irwin, nationally known business counselor and investigator, in a talk before the Rotary club today at the Lubbock hotel in his fifth lecture of the Better Business Institute which is being conducted by the Lubbock Retail Merchant association. His subject was "Making Your Community Prosper." More than 100 Rotarians and visitors heard his talk which was marked by a plea for interest in community affairs. LATE BULLETINS

Nicaraguan Fuss WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee discussed the administration's Nicaraguan policy for nearly an hour today, but did not decide whether an investigation should be recommended to the senate. Chairman Borah, who favors a "constructive" inquiry, which he thinks might be helpful in improving relations with the Latin-American republics generally, had expected the committee to report out a resolution for an investigation. The chairman said the matter would be taken up again.

Everhart Talks WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—M. T. Everhart told the senate oil committee today that when Harry F. Sinclair turned over $23,000 in liberty bonds to him and his father-in-law, Albert B. Fall, in exchange for an interest in the Fall-Everhart ranch holdings, the oil man took in return no tangible evidence of his newly acquired interest in the property. Plea Is Refused ALEXANDRIA, La., Jan. 25 (AP)—An application for a writ of habeas corpus for Joe Genna and Molton Brasseaux, who are under sentence to be executed Friday at Decatur for the murder of J. SHERIFF SERIOUSLY HURT AND SECOND BANDIT ESCAPES WHILE POSSE HUNT CASHIER'S SLAYER

(By The Associated Press) MARIETTA, Okla., Jan. 25.—An unidentified bank robber was seriously wounded in a gun battle shortly after noon today, following the robbery of the Love County National bank here. One or two bandits escaped with loot estimated at between $5,000 and $6,000. The outlaw's death was the second fatality today among Oklahoma bank robbers, T. N. Rickard having died at Cordell early this morning from wounds received yesterday in a robbery at Bessie, in which Ben Kiehn, bank cashier, was killed. Four customers and two officials were in the bank when the two robbers entered and ordered them to throw up their hands. One of the robbers, who was masked, then went into the cage, where J. D. Davis, cashier, was working, and scooped up all the money in the till, while the other stood guard near the door. Employees Call Sheriff Employes in a drug store across the street from the bank had seen the two men, both with guns drawn, enter the bank, and called Sheriff Long, who immediately went to the bank when he walked in the door, he ordered the robbers to raise their hands, and the man in the cashier's cage fired at him. Sheriff Long fired back at both robbers several times before he fell to the floor, and the robber who had been standing near the door was fatally shot. The other bandit fled through a side door of the bank, speeding away in an automobile. A group of citizens immediately set out in pursuit.

Youth Held After Robbery Slayings

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Murder charges will probably be filed today against a nineteen year old San Antonio youth, the only survivor of a gun battle last night in which Henry Niemeyer, 35, filling station proprietor and Victor C. Turner, 19, were killed. Turner with the youth now under arrest entered the station just as Niemeyer was transferring the contents of the cash register to his pocket. Turner is said to have ordered Niemeyer to put up his hands, but the latter replied with a 45 automatic. Turner fell with one bullet through his head and one in his heart. Niemeyer was shot in the head and twice in the body. Turner's companion, who denies having participated in the actual battle told police that he fled at the first shot.

Air plane Joins In Search For Slayer

CLINTON, Okla., Jan. 25 (AP)—The roar of an airplane motor echoed over Washita county canyons today as the man hunt continued for Jack Brown, 30, of Oklahoma City, alleged companion of T. N. CITY'S PARKS PLANS OKEHED

IMMEDIATE WORK FOR IMPROVEMENT ASKED IN SESSION TODAY Authorization of plans for improvement on the two park sites owned by the city, the passing of ordinances governing stop signal and street lights, and the establishment of a city owned garbage collection system were the high spots in a meeting of the city commissioners in the city hall this morning at ten o'clock. Commissioners W. S. Posey, J. H. Hankins, A. V. Weaver, Mayor Pink L. Parrish, Manager G. W. McClary and Secretary W. E. Rodgers were present. The commission authorized the drawing of plans for the improvement and landscaping of the city park northeast of the city known as Tumble N pool and the site in block 36 recently donated to the city for park purposes. Approval of completion of storm sewer and paving on Avenue J, of gas fitters, plumbers and electricians' bonds, settlement of small claims, paying of accounts and other matters comprised the remainder of the meeting.

Storm Forces Ford Flivver Ship Down

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 25 (AP)—Forced down here by stormy weather on his attempted nonstop Detroit-Miami flight in the Ford "Flivver" plane, Harry J. Brooks, prepared today to return home, more confident than ever of the tiny craft's ability. He said he would make another attempt to reach the Florida City as soon as weather permits. Brooks planned to break his return trip with an overnight stop in Washington. That arrangement was agreed to by Ford officials over the telephone.

Father To Pay For Son's Bank Shortage

PANA, Ill., Jan. 25 (AP)—Rev. Otto Henkel, aged pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church at Nokomis, has announced he will give his life savings and personal property to reimburse the Farmers' National bank of Nokomis for the $8,000 shortage in the accounts of his son, Enno, who was assistant cashier. "The bank should not lose one penny by my son's misdeeds," Mr. Henkel said, adding that his son is penniless. Enno is in jail in default of $26,000 bond on an embezzlement charge.

Grand Jury Opens Marze Death Probe

ABELINE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Investigation of the death of Joe Marze, aged inmate at the Abilene state hospital for epileptics, was started here today by the grand jury. Court attaches said they expected the investigation to be completed today. J. B. Downing, former attorney at the hospital, is at liberty under $1,000 bond, charged with murder in connection with Marze's death. Assistant Attorney General Gal-lowsay Calhoun and Dr. H. H. Harrington, chairman of the state board of control, are assisting in the investigation.

BAPTIST LADIES MEET
The W. M. S. of the First Baptist church met at the church Monday afternoon, Jan. 23. Suspending the Royal Service program and the social hour, which constitute the usual 4th Monday program, a class of twelve continued the study of that very interesting book, "Only a Missionary." This Society will be entertained next Monday afternoon by the Ladies' organization of the Methodist church.

The brick work on the Ralls Municipal Auditorium has been finished and the Lyck Roofing co. of Lubbock is placing material on the ground to finish the roof. It won't be many days now until the Jack-rabbits will have an indoor court on which to display their well-perfected art.

Crosby County records show an increase both of births and deaths for the past year. There were 309 births in 1926 and 291 in 1927, an increase of 18 births. There were 42 deaths in 1926, and 53 in 1927, an increase of 11 deaths.

Twenty-five births were registered in Crosby county in December.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Williams and children of Florida called at the home of Professor and Mrs. A. B. Sanders Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hinson returned Monday night from a trip to Roswell and Abilene, New Mexico, and left Tuesday morning for a visit to Mr. Hinson's parents at Fletcher, Oklahoma.

Rev. and Mrs. Harder and daughter, Mrs. F. L. Robbins left Monday morning to spend the week in Ft. Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams of Crosby visited in the G. H. Nelson home on Saturday evening.

METHODIST LADIES MEET
The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon in a business session in the basement of the Methodist church. Eleven of the members were present. Plans were made for a joint meeting of all the churches next Monday.

Harvey Dunn, captain of the Ralls Jackrabbits Basketball team is very ill with pneumonia. He was taken ill Monday, and it is thought that he will be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

A Rising Democracy Of Lognettes

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

NEA Service Writer

Lognettes are growing demop-

No longer is it possible for the haughty social leader to vanquish her younger conferees completely

by merely training her long-handled glasses on them.

For they, as well as she, are apt to have lognettes. Indeed, this season lognettes are quite the thing for those who see through a glass more clearly.

At the theater, at the opera and when shopping, young women as well as older ones are seen wearing the new type of lognettes that are more an ornament than a badge of usefulness.

Genuinely Complimentary

In line with all things that pertain to the realm of woman's wear these new lognettes with their wide appeal, are genuinely complimentary—so long as they

From the old-fashioned awkward pair of glasses fastened stiffly onto the end of a short shell or gold handle to the modish lognettes of 1928 is a story of the evolution of style.

Jewelers come to the aid of optometrists and lognettes appear as dainty costume jewelry until a spring is pressed to release the glasses for use.

One type of new lognette hangs like a crystal drop from its diagonal jet-incrusted platinum chain. The actual frame of the glasses folds back onto itself leaving a rectangular and slender outline for the lenses that is finely engraved and jeweled.

Other pendant lognettes fold into platinum or gold shells that may have jewels of value embedded in their surfaces. These are so fine in fashioned that it is only when the spring is released the glasses that one suspects the dual role of the beautiful pendants play.

For the woman who does not care for pendants a novel glove lognette appears. This jeweled bit clips into the glove opening and for safety is attached to a wrist cord of silk that matches its wearer's frock.

Still other novelties include the combination magnifying glass and glasses. Some are primly square.

Others bite off the corners making pentagonal and even octagonal shapes. Many-sided glasses are stylish right now. Platinum is used frequently in fashioning these charming necessities, with white gold next in popularity. Delicate hand carving and chased patterns are good, with inlaid work of emerald, jet or jewels.

These beautiful innovations are all a part of this complimentary age. Heavy, noticeable glasses never did to a woman's charm. But these new dainties and eyeglasses of similar construction, make what might be a handicap to a chic woman an excuse for acquiring a genuinely enhancing bit of an accessory.

Lingerie Styles For Spring Shown In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP).—Spring styles in lingerie have been displayed at the Hotel Astor under auspices of the United Women's Wear League of America. Most of the models featured a waist line, a close fitting bodice and a full flaring silhouette.

Fresh pink was the outstanding hue, while there was also a noticeable array of printed silks in underwear and pajamas. The bridal lingerie set comprised four pieces, with ivory satin for the negligee and night gown and cream satin for the slip and combination.

Novelties in the pajama line included raglan trousers and a three piece affair consisting of a seven-eighths length coat of gold lace with shirred peach colored satin sleeves, a surplus, satin bodice and satin trousers.

RICKARD'S BIG DRUM BEATS BALLYHOO FOR HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT

CLAIMANTS OF TUNNEY SCRAP ARE INCENSED

SHARKEY AND DELANEY COUNTER TO EACH OTHER'S CLAIMS

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Tex Rickard's massive bass drum is beating a loud ballyhoo for the next world's heavyweight championship.

It became known yesterday from Boston to Miami and back again and the world's premier barker still ponders over the next "battle of the century."

Sharkey Meets Risko
From Boston, Jess McMahon, match maker for Madison Square Garden and a Rickard lieutenant, announced Jack Sharkey had signed for a match with John Risko at New York, March 12, the winner to meet Tunney for the title.

McMahon made public in Boston a telegram he said was from Rickard in which the promoter agreed to match Sharkey with Tunney if the "hub fighter" decisively whipped Risko.

Such news brought a cloudburst from Joe Jacobs, manager of Jack Delaney, who fights Tom Healey on March 1. Jacobs asserted Delaney was not to be left out in the cold and was sure of fighting Tunney if he knocked out Healey.

Then out of Florida came from Rickard denial of the statement accredited to him in the McMahon telegram. Rickard insisted his elimination tournament stood and counted off Delaney, Healey, Sharkey and Risko as the principals.

Chicago Asks Boat
Meanwhile, Chicago entered the heavyweight argument with an invitation from Governor Len Small of Illinois and the Illinois State Athletic commission to Tunney, urging the champion to defend his title again in the windy city.

Tunney expects to have two fights this year, one against Jack Dempsey and the other against the survivor of Rickard's elimination. One of the bouts has been promised for New York. The metropolis has not had a heavyweight championship affair since Dempsey fought Luis Firpo at the Polo Grounds more than four years ago.

And for the present, Rickard's drum beats on.

SPEAKER GETS RELEASE FROM SENATOR BOSS

BECOMES FREE AGENT FEBRUARY 1 UNDER GRIFFITH EDICT

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 25.—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Americans, today announced the unconditional release of Tris Speaker, centerfielder, effective Feb. 1. The announcement was made after Speaker had failed to comply with Griffith's demand to voluntarily reduce his own salary.

Refuses Comment
Griffith refused to comment on the release other than to say that he was endeavoring to build up a ball club with young material. Speaker had been with the Washington club for one year, but in organized baseball for 26 seasons.

Griffith had told him he must voluntarily reduce his present salary if he expected to receive a contract for this season. Speaker retorted with a statement while en route from his home in Texas to Georgetown, S. C., that it was not his place to approach the club owner with such a proposition, and he is understood to be ready to negotiate with other clubs.

Won't Reveal Salary
Griffith refused to reveal Speaker's present salary, saying that if it were known "some people might think it was excessive." It is understood however, to be between $40,000 and $60,000. He previously had said "I have plenty of young material to take Speaker's place" and that he was sure and today he said there was no unamicable settlement would be amicable.

Walter Johnson's decision to retire from Major League baseball last season led the Washington club officials to decide upon the policy of a younger ball club. Griffith added: "The baseball public of Washington demands a younger club and we are going to provide that."

Mack Could Use Speaker, He Says
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25.—Conn Mack, manager of the Athletics, when he learned of the release of Tris Speaker by the Washington club said he could find use for him in the Philadelphia outfield provided Speaker and he could reach an agreement on salary.

"We need another outfielder and if Speaker's terms are reasonable, I could use him," said Mack.

HARRIS IS ONLY MANAGER WHO PLAYS REGULARLY

BY BILLY EVANS
Is the playing manager a more effective leader than the bench pilot, or vice versa?

Taking the records of 1927 as a basis for comparison, the odds would be 3-1 in favor of the bench performers if you consider the eight clubs that finished in the money in the two major leagues.

In the American League the New York Yankees, managed by Miller Huggins, who didn't even leave the bench for the coaching lines, won about as they pleased from the rest of the field.

In the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates, chaperoned by one Owen Bush, who confined his activities to the coaching lines and as actual participation in the game went, finished in front after a grueling campaign.

The world series provided a struggle between a retiring leader who literally stuck to the bench throughout the season, Miller Huggins, and a fiery, peppery pilot, Owen Bush, who started chattering in the first inning and never once quit, no matter how badly his club was trailing.

The outcome of the world series, which was won by the Yankees, in four straight games, was a signal triumph for the non-talkative manager as typified by Miller Huggins. However that doesn't always hold good.

Of the four clubs that finished inside the money in the American League, those being New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and Washington, only one, the fourth-place club, was led by a playing manager, Stanley Harris being in charge at Washington.

The first four in the National League at the close of the season were Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York and Chicago. Of these, the only team to have a playing leader was the St. Louis Cardinals, presided over by Catcher Bob O'Farrell, who since the close of the season has been demoted in favor of Bill McKechnie, a bench boss.

Baseball runs in cycles relative to various angles of the game, and the present era appears to be one in which the bench pilots are greatly in the majority.

Next year there will be only one sure-enough playing manager in the American League, Stanley Harris. Two other clubs, Chicago and Cleveland, will be led by veterans, Ray Schalk and Roger Peckinpaugh, who will not appear regularly in the lineup.

The situation in favor of the benchpilot is even more pronounced in the National League, where Dave Bancroft is placed in charge of the Dodgers, it will be without a player-manager.

Two of the new managers who have been appointed since the close of the season, Burt Shotton at Philadelphia and Jack Sharkey at Boston, were former major league stars, but have long been out of active service.

The present lineup makes it look like a tough race for the active player-managers for 1928 in the major leagues. In the American, it's Harris against the field with Bancroft, if he is made leader, in the same role in the National.

Crosbyton Hatchery Is Open For Season
CROSBYTON, Jan. 25.—The Crosby County Hatchery has opened for the season. Crosby county has had wonderful development in the past two years in the poultry industry and indications are just as much advancement along that line will be made during the year 1928.

J. I. Seiber, is owner and manager of the hatchery and is an experienced hatchery and poultry man. His Mammoth Burk Eye Hatchery made an exceptionally good record last year and he is expecting to do a greater business this year.

Abernathy Preacher Speaks About Babies
ABERNATHY, Jan. 25.—The largest congregation that has assembled at the Methodist Church for a time listened with an interest to Reverend Joseph Michael deliver his lecture on "Our Babies" Sunday Evening. The house was crowded and it was doubtful another could have secured room in the building. Rev. Mr. Michael chooses to call it a lecture, rather than a sermon.

Rev. Michael was many months preparing this sermon and presented many facts and figures, which were astounding.

Family Burned To Death In Home Fire
McFADDEN, Wyo., Jan. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. John King and three of their children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed their home here. McFadden is an oil camp northwest of Rock River, Wyo.

King fought his way out of the flames with his four year old daughter, but perished when he returned in an attempt to rescue the other members of the family.

The three children who lost their lives were Herbert, 10 years old, Neal, 9, and Don, 7.

King was a prominent Rock Creek ranchman.

League outfielder, today had received no word from Clark Griffith president of the Washington American league team, and had no comment to make on an announcement that he had been unconditionally released.

Talking over the telephone from a hunting lodge in Georgetown county, Speaker said that he was not at this time considering any other offers.

WESTERNERS TO PLAY CROSBYTON AT HIGH SCHOOL

A basketball game of unusual interest to high school fans will be played on the high school court tonight at 7:30 when the Westerners meet the fast Crosbyton high aggregation, which is coached by Finis Vaughn, a former local boy and graduate of Lubbock high school. The game is a return engagement from last week, the Westerners emerging victors at Crosbyton, 32 to 16 there.

As both teams will be strong contenders for the honors of this district, the game tonight will have much bearing on their chances in the state.

Cochman Vaughn will send in a revised five tonight, according to word from Crosbyton while Coach Del Morgan, of the locals, will depend upon his past combination for the contest.

Chicago Bids For Heavyweight Fight
CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Chicago cast its hat in the ring of bidders for next summer's heavyweight championship match today through an invitation issued by the Illinois State Athletic commission bearing the endorsement of Governor Small and the city officials of Chicago.

The success of the Tunney-Dempsey match at Soldier Field last September, which set a record for attendance and gate receipts, led the boxing commission to promise "everything possible to help bring about the successful promotion of another championship match for Chicago."

STONEHAM TAKES FULL BLAME FOR HORNSBY TRADE
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Evening World today quotes Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, as assuming full responsibility for trading Rogers Hornsby to Boston and explaining that it was necessary to "centralize McGraw as the personality that directed the Giants."

In a statement to the Evening World, Mr. Stoneham made it clear that no personal controversy between himself and the second baseman was involved, as had been generally believed.

The Giants executive, asserting he expected to meet "violent criticism" for his action, explained that he decided to trade Hornsby after getting how he managed the club in McGraw's absence.

"I had noticed that with McGraw away the club had adopted different methods, that the hours were different and that the general method of procedure was different. The change may have been all for the better but I felt it was not the spirit of McGraw. It dawned on me that to remedy this and prevent any possible conflict in authority it would be best to send Hornsby elsewhere."

Bell Buick Found And Four Boys Held
The Buick coupe stolen here Monday night from S. D. Bell was recovered yesterday in Robert Lee, Cooke county, according to word received here last night by the sheriff's department. The four Plainview youths, who were suspected by local officers of stealing the car were in possession of the car when it was recovered.

The youths, Ellis White, Hyle Lavis, Major Shroter and Freeman Norcut, escaped bond for car theft from Plainview. According to information received here the boys stopped in Slaton to fill up with gas and oil and immediately drove off without paying. Several shots were fired at them by the station owner but none took effect.

For advertisements in the last three issues of the London telephone directory, the British Government received $285,000.

TECH LOSES TO WILDCATS HERE IN FIRST GAME

EXTRA TIME IS NEEDED BY VISITORS FOR ONE POINT MARGIN

Trailing by a score of 26 to 13 in the first half, the Abilene Christian college cage crew came from behind last night on the Tech floor to nose out the Matadors, 41 to 40 in a toss-up game which was complete with thrilling sensational playing and the like, giving the local fans their first real basketball game of the season. The game was so close, it was too interesting the count being 30-all at the final gun.

An extra five minute period gave the Wildcats a field goal while Captain Al Jennings lopped a free pitch after the gun.

Jennings in Good Form
To Captain Jennings of the Matadors went the honors for the evening as the big fellow was at his highest form, both offensively and defensively. Ten goals from the floor and three foul pitches ran his total to 23 for the evening.

Featuring his playing was the fact that at the crucial periods when they needed most, his shots took effect. Several times during the latter part of the game was the lead seen-sawed, he registered shots to prolong the Tech chances for victory which proved in vain as the time waned. Several crisp shots by other members of his team failed and the Scarlet crew were forced to take the court.

Cochman Victor Payne's ability as a cage coach was easily apparent during the game, especially during the first half when his machine working with clock-work precision, kept the ball the majority of the time and jumping into the lead easily. The offense was so brilliant during this period that it served as a defense, the Wildcats only getting occasional shots and registering only two from the court. Their other nine points were made on free pitches.

Hemphill Forced Out
Andy Hemphill, elongated Matador pivot man, was taken from the game due to excessive fouls just before the close of the first half rendering the Tech's offense slightly weak from which it never recovered. With Hemphill in the center, the Tech play worked harmoniously but Weaver and Coppage lacked the drive to continue the work.

Clinch and Hill of the Wildcats, displayed accurate goal shooting, chalking up 14 and 13 points, respectively. Captain Theo Powell, of the Wildcats, whose home is in Ralls, failed to come up to his usual scoring form due to excessive guarding by Dope White, Matador guard. He presented an excellent

Hooks and Slides

Matter of Money

BEFORE the baseball boys get going south there will be some space available in the public prints for a little official information about the heavyweight box fighting situation, if there is any.

Tex Rickard, in his well known way, will discover some sort of a situation and he will attend efficiently to the process of getting the aforesaid situation in form for public consumption.

Outside of the Sharkey, Heeney, Dempsey and what have you angles, there is a real situation facing Rickard on Feb. 1 when, by the terms of the contract that Gene Tunney declares has no equity, Rickard must lay $100,000 on the line to assure the champion for the second time that he is not fooling. His first act to prove his sincerity cost him another $100,000.

You would think that a contract which would bring in $200,000 months and months before the date set for the fight, or even before the other fighter of the place had been named would have been highly pleasing to the young financier holding the title.

But Tunney complains that the contract has him tied up so that he can't refuse to play ball with Rickard while on the other hand, if Rickard wants to crawl out of the contract permits him to do so and Tunney will have to pay back the advance "dough."

Tunney Really Sore
PERHAPS that contract lacks the equity that civil courts have been known to demand when two parties enter into an agreement. If this is so it may turn out to be too bad that Gene didn't know it or realize it when he signed the contract.

This contract and the arguments over it have caused some pictures to be painted of Tunney and the boss from the big house on Eight avenue making faces at each other. Some of the boys claim this picture to be a phoney drawn for the purpose of that very necessary old ballyhoo.

But we have the best of reasons for saying that Tunney is very serious in his differences with Rickard and if he can get out of that contract he will do it. He doesn't come naturally into the ballyhoo stuff as Kearns and Dempsey did.

Rickard has made a date to play some golf with Tunney.

Some of the boys claim this picture to be a phoney drawn for the purpose of that very necessary old ballyhoo.

To White and Jimmie Kerr, Tech guards, goes the credit for much of the defensive work of the locals. Both men swarmed the Wildcat forwards and often stopped field shots already destined for the baskets.

priced and very competent lawyers and he at least had to get his plans ready to be changed.

Something will be announced soon from Florida and unless we miss our guess the announcement will indicate that Tunney has not backed down much.

SINCLAIR GAVE BONDS TO FALL EVERHARTSAYS

STORY DETAILED FOR SENATE COMMITTEE IN TEAPOT PROBE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—After a lapse of four years in the inquiry, the senate lands committee has learned that the $230,500 in liberty bonds received by Albert B. Fall after he had leased Teapot Dome naval oil reserve to Harry F. Sinclair came from Sinclair.

The disclosure was made by Fall's son-in-law, M. T. Everhart, who gave his story freely yesterday although he had twice before refused to go to court to reveal the source of the bonds.

Apparently relieved by the knowledge that recent legislation had lifted the possibility of his being prosecuted on the basis of his own testimony, Everhart told representatives of the committee that he had no financial deals between Fall and Sinclair.

Division of Ranch
He said also he was concerned with the terms and that they involved a division of interest in Fall's New Mexico ranch. Everhart testified that in addition to the $230,500, Fall received from Sinclair $2,500 in liberty bonds and $26,000 in cash as "loans." He did not know whether the loans were repaid.

Testimony at the original Teapot Dome inquiry, now being resumed, and at subsequent court trials has established that after Fall retired as interior secretary and before he went to Russia as Sinclair's agent in oil negotiations, he received $25,000 in bonus from the oil man, and that he received $100,000 as a loan from Edward L. Doheny after the latter leased the Elk Hills, California, naval oil reserve. Thus the total paid to Fall stands in the records at $394,000.

Felt Impelled To Tell
After he left the stand Everhart said he was not informed whether Fall was aware of his intention to testify, and that he felt impelled to tell what he knew of the transaction. He said that to him it was never more than an ordinary ranch deal and that "if it was anything more I did not know it."

At his El Paso, Texas, home last night Fall told newspaper men that the ranch deal was "open and above board" and that there was nothing to conceal about it. Fall said the transaction grew out of Sinclair's desire to own a southwestern ranch, and Everhart touched on the same theme in his testimony.

Payment For Property
The money paid to Fall by Sinclair through Everhart, the witness said, was in payment for a third interest in Fall's properties. Testimony at the recent Fall-Sinclair trial was that the bonds were a part of the profits of the Continental Trading company of Canada, which contracted to buy oil from the late E. A. Humphreys of Denver, and re-sell it to the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company and the Prairie Oil and Gas company. The contract, it has been testified, was guaranteed by Sinclair, Henry M. Blackmer, former chairman of the board of the Midwest; James E. O'Neil, former president of the Prairie company, and Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Indiana Standard.

Profits of the now extinct Canadian corporation are alleged to have totalled $3,000,000 and the senate committee's new investigation is aimed to determine what became of the remainder of the money. Several former directors of political campaigns may be called to testify whether any of it found its way to their coffers, as has been rumored.

son since has been a fugitive. Mr. Rhodes said that Jackson married, has a large family and now is held in high regard by his neighbors who know him by another name. He does not want to return to Texas, if he must face trial. Mr. Rhodes said, and he and other New Mexicans who knew Jackson are communicating with Texas officials in an effort to obtain immunity for him.

Long Fight Over Case Unsuccessful

GEORGETOWN, Tex., Jan. 25.—Overtures to have dismissed the indictment, now 48 years old, charging Frank Jackson, body guard for Sam Bass, with murder, date back seven or eight years and so far have been without success. Only one witness to the fight in which Bass was wounded fatally and out of which the charges grew now is living. That witness is in Hutto, Texas, so far as records here show.

Says Merely Present
In the plea to have the indictment dismissed so he could return to Texas, Jackson has contended that he merely was present at the fight, that he was a witness only and the shots were fired by others. The man who killed the man Jackson is alleged to have shot was killed in the fight, Jackson contends.

The name Jackson assumed in New Mexico is not known here. A man who claims to have known Jackson as a boy before he joined the Bass gang says that Jackson told him he was offered a salary of $200 a month for body guard service.

While sorting the mail recently, postal employees at Stonehaven, Scotland found a live snake nearly two feet long in one of the mail bags.

Flashes Of Life

(By The Associated Press)

Beats Burglar

NEW YORK—The modern woman hits when she throws. Mrs. Alice Billings Housell in her childhood at Macon, Ga., often hurled stones when playing with her brothers. An intruder in her apartment here was so banged up from two cigar boxes, weighing two pounds each, a Chinese brass ornament and a bronze match holder that he told the police he was glad to be arrested. He held up his hands when Mrs. Housell had a Persian vase weighing ten pounds ready to leave. A man entered Mrs. Sarah Rosenberg's grocery in Brooklyn and ordered two cans of peas. As she was getting them he pointed a pistol and demanded all the cash. Mrs. Rosenberg gave him the peas right in the face and yelled. When the police appeared he was still trying in vain to lodge groceries.

Here's Another

PHILADELPHIA—Maude Royden, who is impressed by the revelation of God contained in modern science, would have the Bible rewritten scientifically. As an example Christ would have said to Adam and Eve: "This tree bears poisonous fruit; if you eat of it you will be sick."

Good Old Chute

LOS ANGELES—This would indicate that a parachute is more reliable than a stop watch. John Trauman dropped out of a plane 7,500 feet up, hoping to break the record for distance covered before the opening of a "chute." He says his watch stuck, preventing calculations. The "chute" functioned.

Costly Storm

PHILADELPHIA—Molasses will quell turbulent seas if there's enough of it. The steamship Dorra ran into a big storm coming from Havana. The waves subsided when deluged with 70,000 gallons of the cargo.

Opinions Differ

NEW YORK—There is no hell, in the belief of the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. Baptist. "How can we imagine God putting men into a hell, a place of endless, meaningless pain, from which no good can ever come?" There is a hell, the Rev. John J. Hickey, Roman Catholic, told his congregation. "He unwillingly commits to eternal abandonment those who willfully depart from His laws and will not repent."

Unique, At Least

NEW YORK—Rosa Ponselle of the Metropolitan Opera all-ways desires that her age be given correctly. Just as little Gloria Caruso was ready to cut a big birthday cake at a surprise party to Rosa, the diva counted the candles. "Why?" she exclaimed, "there are only 38, I am 31." And another candle was added.

Women Impressive

NEW YORK—American women of all ages impress J. J. Stenacker, expert manager for an Amsterdam cheese firm, as undeveloped girls. At home the girls are plump and women of 40 are fair and fat.

Only One Fault

ATLANTIC CITY—In the opinion of Lord Rothermere American women are clever and beautiful and the best dressed in the world, but they have too few babies.

Good Luck To Her

LONDON—Miss Mary Landon Baker, of Chicago, who seems to hold some sort of a record for denials that her heart and hand have been captured, is now a London hostess. She has leased a house on Chesterfield street near Princess Mary's.

Good Other Ways

OKLAHOMA CITY—The Smith and Essa families may be great in golf, but consider the Wagners. They can throw a ball as well as hit. Travis Wagner, cousin of the Paul and Lloyd of the big-time baseball, is the greatest scorer in Oklahoma college basketball. And he's going to join his cousins and the Pirates in the spring.

Be Conservative

ORMOND BEACH, Fla.—In the words of John D. Rockefeller, it's better to be a good golfer for six holes than a dub for eight! That's one reason, in addition to his age, why he has reduced his daily link ratings.

Plane Definition

OKLAHOMA CITY—An airplane by judicial interpretation is a self-propelled motor vehicle not running on rails. Hence Federal Judge Cottrell holds there can be prosecution under the Dyer act for transportation of a stolen plane.

Synthetic Gold

NEW YORK—The production of enough synthetic gold in this generation to endanger the gold standard is foreseen as a possibility by Dr. Joseph Schumpeter, German economist and exchange professor at Harvard.

New Federal Bank Rate Hurts Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The unexpected increase in the Chicago federal reserve bank rediscount rate through a flood of selling orders into the stock market today, which carried prices down 2 to 7 points. A subsequent recovery reduced many of the earlier losses and sent a few issues to new high records, but the market weakened again around midday.

BANK ROBBERY

from Kiehn's revolver, Washita county officers began a systematic search of the broken country in northwest Washita and southwest Custer counties.

Aviator Resumes Hunt

San Kaufman, aviator, who covered a large territory yesterday searching for the two men, was to resume the hunt from the air today.

Abandoning Rickard in a dying condition on the banks of a creek seven miles west of Bessie last night, the man believed to be Brown, took to the rough country on foot. He was armed and carried the $1,000 loot from the bank with him, Rickard said. The pair had abandoned the sedan in which they escaped after the robbery.

Rickard Accused Brown

In a dying statement, Rickard accused Brown of firing the shot that killed Kiehn. The bank cashier was struck by a bullet that glanced off the vault door and passed through a two inch crack, left when the bandits failed to close the door entirely. Officers today were inclined to the opinion that Rickard fired the fatal shot, as descriptions of eye witnesses placed Rickard in a position where only a shot from his gun could have entered the opening in the vault door.

Funeral services for Kiehn, a war veteran, were to be arranged today. No arrangements had been made for the funeral of Rickard.

Two Dead, One Hurt In Michigan Fray

ADRIAN, Mich., Jan. 25.—Theodore Blaskie and his wife are dead and Elliott F. McLean is seriously wounded as a result of a shooting early today at the Blaskie home at Springville.

McLean's version of the affair, as given the police, was that he had been out riding with Mrs. Blaskie last night and that when they returned Blaskie appeared, killed his wife with a shotgun, wounded McLean and then ended his own life.

Curtis Favors Pro Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Senator Curtis of Kansas, who is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, declared today for a plank in the next party platform pledging strict enforcement of the prohibition laws.

He also announced his opposition to the states determining what alcoholic content should be permitted and said he was against repeal of either the 18th amendment or the Volstead act.

No Charges Filed In Brownwood Fray

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 25.—No charges have been filed this morning against a man being held here in connection with the shooting last night of Don Lee, 25, of Thrifty, oil town near here.

Lee, attending physicians said, is momentarily expected to die. He was wounded in the breast and has been unable to make a statement.

Hawaii has an area of 6449 square miles.

FOUR MUST DIE

RIBINSK, Russia, Jan. 25.—The district court today sentenced to death four of the most active members of a gang charged with committing armed robberies and attacking the peasantry.

CHILD CHRISTENED

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Jan. 25.—Water from three rivers, the Warmer, Save and Danube, were used today in christening the second child of King Alexander and Queen Marie of Jugoslavia in the presence of high officials of the state and church.

Made by Guadagni, whose instruments were valued at $2,500 each a few years ago, a violin was sold in London recently for only $1,900.

DIDN'T BELIEVE IT

SAN FRANCISCO—This safe unlocked. Contains bank and $5 only. Thus read a sign that hung on a safe in a crematorium. But an itinerant burglar who couldn't read, or didn't believe in signs, happened along. The safe was unlocked, all right, but according to the report given police next morning there had been $200 in it.

CUTS TEETH—AND LINE

LYNN, Mass.—Calls from several persons on a party line here sent the trouble. Tracing the short circuit to one of the houses on the line, they discovered a baby sitting in a corner and busily chewing the receiver cord. Moisture penetrating the insulation had caused the line to go dead.

MARINES HOLD EL CHIPOTE IN REBEL SECTION

TROOPS ENTRENCHED IN FORMER STRONGHOLD OF SANDINO

(By Associated Press) MANAGUA, Nic., Jan. 25.—American marines were installed today on the slope of El Chipote mountain, stronghold which the rebel, Sandino considered impregnable. The Sandino headquarters at Quilali was seized by marines Jan. 15 after a battle in which five marines were killed. Sandino then withdrew to El Chipote and entrenched himself on the mountain. Seeking to verify reports that Sandino had been killed in the encounter marine planes flew over El Chipote last week. They noted no activity there, only signs of death and evacuation being evident. Marine patrols proceeded carefully through the mountainous jungle toward the stronghold.

Marines Established Yesterday, Major Archibald Young, commander of the marines in the affected section, advised headquarters that a column of marines had established itself on the slopes of El Chipote.

Patrols operating in the vicinity have killed between six and ten rebels in the past few days but the region itself has been quiet recently.

Col. Louis Mason Gulick, in command of operations, said it was fairly well established that Sandino was wounded in the raid on Jan. 14. It was not known how seriously. Latest advices were that Sandino had a small group of followers with him. The main body of rebels is understood to have broken up into smaller bands and scattered throughout Eastern Nueva Segovia.

1,000 Go Into Action One thousand marines of the eleventh regiment are to take the field against Sandino intent on stamping out the rebel movement in all towns and villages. They will replace detachments of the fifth regiment, which have been on duty in Nueva Segovia for six months.

The occupation of the towns and villages is intended to force rebels out of the district. It is hoped also to halt the depredations of bands of guerrillas who have been operating independently, taking advantage of unsettled conditions.

More Replacements Further replacements are announced in Washington. A third transport plane will be flown from Anacostia Field, Washington, to Managua, making a stop at Miami enroute. Two officers and 48 men of observation squadron 6, stationed at Quantico, Va., will go to Nicaragua aboard the airplane carrier Saratoga, as an aviation replacement unit. Both the plane and the men are expected to leave Saturday.

out. Place service to others foremost and have visions. He then delved into the various phases of community progress, outlining the heart of each. "The utilization of your natural resources is the paramount thing in community development," he said. "We suffer and prosper as agricultural states and rises and Lubbock, with her possibilities in the industry should at all times keep agriculture and the promotion of her agricultural section paramount."

"There are two kinds of citizens in every community," he explained. "There is the man who is always talking and never giving, who has a business, sends his children to the schools uses the public facilities and improvements who is always knocking the organizations and their work, yet never does anything himself for the betterment of his community's welfare. There is the fellow who forgets self gives to his community, who serves others and thereby prospers himself as they prosper, he is the real citizen of the community as the final test of good citizenship is giving."

Irwin Talks To Business College

To learn the first lessons in school and not to wait until after school or until you are out in life, was the advice given the student body of the Lubbock Business college this morning by Pryor Irwin, business methods expert, who is in Lubbock this week conducting the Retail Merchants association Better Business Institute.

Mr. Irwin's address occupied an hour's time and was appreciated by 50 students, faculty members and approximately two dozen business men.

HICKMAN CASE

support the insanity theory, the defense hopes to save the neck of the young criminal by having him declared criminally insane and lodged in a state asylum.

The state, following the new legal forms but never losing sight of the Mosaic recipe "an eye for an eye," expects to send Hickman to his death on the gallows for what it regards as one of the most vicious crimes in the history of California.

Hickman's sanity—defined as the ability to judge between right and wrong—is the sole issue and on this the jury of twelve is required to reach a unanimous verdict. If found sane the young defendant will be sentenced by Superior Judge Carlos Hardy either to life imprisonment or to be hanged. If Hickman were found insane now or to have been insane at the time of the crime some legal authorities have declared he would be sent to a state hospital for a year and then could demand a sanity trial. If then found sane these authorities contend, he would be given his freedom.

The legal battle today was maturity versus youth. Opposed to District Attorney Asa Keyes who is personally leading the prosecution forces made up of men past or near middle age, was Jerome Walsh, 25 year old Kansas City attorney, as chief defense counsel, and Richard Cantillon of Los Angeles, only two or three years his senior.

5,851 AUTOS ARE REGISTERED IN COUNTY TO DATE

A total of 5,851 automobiles had been registered in Lubbock county for 1928 at noon today, the records of County Tax Collector I. F. Holland showed. There are approximately 3,000 more to be registered, officials estimate.

Registration has slowed down again, Mr. Holland reports and only a few car owners are calling for their new licenses at his office. Since the passing of January 20, that day set for beginning of arrests, only several hundred licenses have been sold.

Arrests were to have been made from that day on but the records show that no arrests have been made in the county. John C. Kellar, state highway license inspector for this district, has not been available during the past few days.

A penalty of ten per cent will be charged on all licenses secured after February 1.

RATLIFF CASE

RatliFF pleaded not guilty to the charge of robbing the bank.

In addition to the charge of robbery by firearms of the bank, RatliFF is charged with robbery by firearms of Ellis Harris, whose automobile was seized in Cisco immediately after the holdup when the big blue sedan in which the robbers were fleeing developed a flat tire.

Two Murder Counts. RatliFF is charged with two murder indictments in connection with the killing of G. E. Bedford, Cisco police chief and G. W. Carmichael, police officer, fatally wounded in the gun fight at the bank.

Identical indictments were returned against Henry Helms and Robert Hill, held in the Eastland county jail awaiting trial. Already arraigned on the bank robbery charge, Hill has pleaded guilty.

The state's surprise witness was Marion Herron, 15 daughter of Mrs. Frances Herron who lives near Wichita Falls. She testified that her mother made the Santa Claus suit and that she fitted the suit on RatliFF the night before the bank robbery. She testified that her testimony was given for the state in the hope that her mother might be shown mercy. Her mother is charged with being an accessory after the fact.

Mrs. Leon Harkey, a daughter of Mrs. Sam Fox and a niece by sanguinity of Louis Davis, the dead blond, and by marriage of Henry Helms, told of the visit of the three fugitives at the Fox home on the Lash lease early Christmas morning. Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, is supplying monthly to school children 450,000 hot meals taken in thermos containers to schools by automobile.

HEAD OF HOME FOR VETS FINED IN 9-HOUR LAW

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—A. W. Taber, superintendent of the state Confederate men's home, was found guilty in justice court Wednesday of violation of the state law prohibiting the employment of women more than nine hours a day or 54 hours a week, and was fined $50 and costs. He gave notice of appeal.

Charges that Taber worked nurses at the institution 84 hours a week were filed by Charles McKenry, state labor commissioner in his drive for enforcement of the "9-54" hour law for women.

Walthall is Witness. Testimony of R. B. Walthall, member of the board of control, which recently asked Governor Moody to grant deficiency appropriations totalling about $45,000 that three shifts of women, instead of two, might be employed at each state eleemosynary institution, featured today's hearing.

Walthall said that he unavailingly called the attention of the legislature to the fact that the law was being violated because of inadequacy of appropriations.

The Governor has not acted on the deficiency request and McKenry indicates he would demand prosecution of several similar complaints unless the matter is settled soon.

THE STORY THUS FAR
The story is told in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '20's, when a fight was being waged for the opening of the territory to settlement.

Chief characters are:
TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 13 when his father was shot in a poker game;
PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, teacher, Indian interpreter, showman;
JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;
TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K brand;
RITA, his daughter, with whom Tony later falls in love.

Moore is one of the chief opponents of the movement to open Oklahoma. DAVID PAYNE, leader of the movement, dies suddenly and Tony in his loyalty to Moore is troubled because of his sympathy for Payne's cause. He tries to forget Rita Moore and accompanies Pawnee Bill and BUFFALO BILL on a wild west show tour. After many adventures he returns; but Rita comes back for a visit and he is unable to keep from declaring his love for her. When she admits she is engaged to another, he leaves the ranch and disappears.

When Pawnee Bill organizes his own wild west show, Tony goes with it, but he is unable to keep Bill is persuaded to go to Wichita to lead the "Boomers" into Oklahoma. The fight is on in earnest and Pawnee Bill and Tony encounter enemies.

CHAPTER XL
"I'm addressing my remarks to this man here," the patch-eyed man said roughly and jerked his head toward Pawnee Bill.

"Oh, all right," Tony said easily. "I'll just sit and listen and see if I can drink in any wisdom."

The heavy jawed man glared at him. "Fresh, ain't you?"

"Am I?" said Tony innocently and met the other's stare with a cool stare.

"Come, come," said Pawnee Bill. "You two were going to lead us what would happen if we tried to cross the Strip. Why don't you?"

"You won't get fifty feet," growled the man with the patch.

"No?"

"No. Are you going to be fool enough to try it?"

"Who sent you to find out? Never mind telling me—I know. I can answer your question in one word. It's 'Yes.'"

"Then look out."

"Is that supposed to be a threat?" Pawnee Bill inquired in a mild voice.

"Take it any way you want it. Those sheep back there—with a contemptuous sweep of the arm toward the line of Boomers—won't get hurt if they listen to reason. But the ones responsible for leading them in—He left the sentence unfinished and patted the gun holster at his hip.

The long haired man's eyes snapped. "I'll show you how much I care for your threats." He spurred his horse forward and with a crashing blow swept the other from his saddle and his companion, with a loud oath die. The man bounded to his feet reached for his gun.

"Steady there," advised Tony Harrison. His own gun was leveled and the man on the ground was gasping into the black orifice of Pawnee Bill's.

"Just for that I think I'll have to take those pop guns away from you little," said Pawnee Bill, and calmly disarmed them. "Now move south."

"Who were they?" Tony asked when the men had departed in sullen anger.

"Probably call themselves killers. A coyote is a killer, Tony, when he's after a rabbit or a calf. But you never heard of one killing a man."

"Do I hear my name being called?"

A horseman was coming toward them from the north, riding as fast as his horse could carry him. "Bill!" they heard him call.

The Springer bill's passed the house. He gasped as he threw himself from his horse and thrust a telegram toward Pawnee Bill. "You're advised not to make a move now."

Pawnee Bill read it hurriedly and passed it on to Tony. "Half the battle," he remarked tersely. "We'll lay low now. If we make a bad move its chances in the senate will be jeopardized. Come on; let's spread the word."

There was wild rejoicing all along the border that night, but not many days had passed before the cries of exultation had been replaced by murmurs of anger and defeat. The senate had killed the Springer bill, providing for the opening of Oklahoma and a territorial government with a governor at its head.

"We're not licked yet," Pawnee Bill told them as they thronged about him. "There's some weeks yet before congress adjourns. If they don't do anything, we move in spite of hell. But I've got a notion they'll do something." He looked very mysterious and refused to enlighten them further.

His notion apparently had been more than idle talk. In the dying days of congress they got word that an amendment had been tacked onto an Indian appropriation bill, the amendment providing that the lands ceded by the Creeks and Seminoles be opened for settlement under proclamation of the president.

On March 23 the proclamation was issued, and along the Kansas border there were cheers for President Benjamin Harrison.

Pawnee Bill, a copy of the proclamation in his hand, discussed his plans with a group of newspaper men. "April 22 at noon," he said. "That gives us a month to get ready. Mark my words now, boys. You'll see the doggonedest, wildest race in all history. They'll pour into Oklahoma from all sides, but the biggest rush will be from the north. And now that she's going to be opened, just keep your eyes peeled for the rush to the border."

His remarks were prophetic.

Free land was available—land, land, land! From east and north and west the procession of wagons converged on the Kansas border and the colonies swelled in size. Arkansas City alone suddenly jumped from 10,000 to 20,000, and its old camp of original Boomers became temporary headquarters for a vast army. The chamber of commerce of Caldwell turned over the fairgrounds to them; hotels became crowded to overflowing and still they came—a mighty impouring of humanity lured on by the promise of free homes for all.

A few weeks later even Pawnee Bill looked on in amazement. "There won't be enough land to go around," he told Tony Harrison. "Not near enough. By nightfall of April 22 Oklahoma will be settled to the last quarter-section and thousands will have to turn back. It'll be downright tragic for some of them. Personally, I'm not going to try to claim any land. I'll see this thing through, but next year I'll be right back in the show business again," and he smiled.

"You look kind of tired out," Harrison told him.

"I've had considerable to worry me, but that's all over now and no blood has been shed."

"So far," said Tony sententiously. "When there's more men than quarter-sections there's bound to be some disputes. There'll be plenty of bloodshed."

"I'm afraid you're right. The Sooners will cause a lot of trouble, too, when they start popping up out of the ground. I'm told there's a lot of men who went down to get territory and got jobs as deputy marshals, planning to quit on the stroke of twelve on the opening day and drive their stakes in the choicest claims." He sighed. "Well... You planning to find a claim, Tony?"

"I thought some of riding down to Guthrie."

Two days later, Friday, April 19, camp was broken early in the morning at Arkansas City and a strange procession entered the three trails leading across the Cherokee Strip. Escorted by United States cavalry, the settlers moved in three directions to the borders of the land called Oklahoma. They rode in the white-covered schooner wagons, in ox-carts, in carriages on horseback. Some trudged on foot, hoping, when the shots would be fired at noon, the 22d, to find something that the better-equipped travelers would pass up.

Some of the wagons were new, their canvas covers glistening in the sun; others were old and decrepit, having been on the border since 1890.

Tony Harrison, riding leisurely on Cherokee beside the wagon where Pawnee Bill sat beside a reporter for the New York World, saw many that were literally falling apart, their harness patched up with rope and wire.

Recent rainstorms had swelled the streams. The passage across the Cherokee Strip became a difficult and, in many cases, a perilous journey. The crossing of the river especially added to their hardships. Wagons overturned, sending their precious cargoes of food and cooking utensils to the bottom. Some were never righted but were left, their owners unhooking the horses and riding the remainder of the journey on their backs. Horses drowned and in the confusion children screamed and became separated from their mothers.

At Bull Foot the soldiers stopped them and warned them about crossing the line, which was thickly patrolled by cavalrymen.

"Three days to go, Tony," said Pawnee Bill, climbing down from his wagon seat. He stepped a few feet away to engage a cavalry officer in conversation.

A bugle call a minute before noon, he announced when he came back; "and then the shots that will be heard round the world. They're lining up on all four borders—the south they're coming up from Purcell. Fifty thousand people at the very least—fifty thousand fighting for homes, and not enough to go around."

TWO LADS ARE HELD IN JAIL AT PLAINVIEW

SERIES OF ROBBERIES RESULTS IN ARREST OF YOUTHS

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 25.—Two youths are now sojourning in the county jail here as a result of the arrest of Sheriff Sam Faith and his deputies on Monday night of this week. There had been several robberies of stores and filling stations during the past few weeks and the suspicions of the officers were directed to local operations. The Hagood Filling Station was robbed last week. The Plainview Laundry was robbed and the Lindsey Mercantile company's safe had its knob knocked off on Saturday night. Mrs. Roy Mitchell, who sells tickets at the Plainview Theatre was held up and robbed just as she was about to enter her home after the show last Saturday night. Two young men approached her window just after the show and talked with her a few moments, after which she had a talk with her husband who is owner and operator of the show. They decided that they had better get rid of their money before going home so they placed the same in possession of a near by store for the night. After they had reached their home and she had gotten out of the car while her husband was placating the car in the garage the robbers attacked her demanding that she drop her purse.

After they had pushed her against the door she dropped the purse and they made away with it. Her husband heard her screams but did not get there in time to help her or see the bandits. Another filling station was robbed on Monday night when the two youths, were arrested. They were immediately placed in jail and put through a grilling by the officers, and it is reported that they have admitted the above mentioned robberies and burglaries, but as they are suspected of some other offenses their names are being withheld at this time.

BCD MOVES TO GET ANSWER IN POSTAL PLANS

COMMITTEE NAMED TO SECURE A SITE FOR BUILDING HERE

Initial steps for the resuming of the fight for a definite answer as to when the city would receive a federal building were taken last night by the directors of the Board of City Development with the appointment of a committee to work for a site for the building. It being the opinion of the directors, Postmaster John L. Vaughan and others that if a site was offered, the chances for action on the building here would be hastened, the committee was instructed to do everything possible to have a site for consideration in the near future.

A committee, composed of W. W. Royalty, chairman, Charles A. Guy, J. E. Harrison, Richard L. Douglas and L. C. Ellis, was appointed to work out the details for the annual meeting of the section must be held in the Tech stock judging pavilion here Thursday and Friday. A banquet will be served the visitors on Thursday evening.

Report on Banquet
K. M. Renner, head of the department of dairy products and manufacture at the Tech, made a report on the annual chamber of commerce banquet at Wichita Falls, January 13, where he represented the local organization. Mr. Renner, in speaking of the possibility of a cheese factory here, said that the people of the section must be educated to the importance of the dairy industry so that there will be enough expert dairymen to supply the raw product for a cheese factory.

Women's Shoes To Be Largely Of Kid

DALLAS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Joseph with his coat of many colors will have nothing on the women this year with their goat of many colors. For women are destined to wear shoes again this year, and these shoes will largely be of kid, shoe retailers of Texas and Oklahoma in session here opine. And what they say they will sell, very likely will prove what the women will wear.

White kid will be the most popular, with trim ankles teetering on three inches of heel, although many other colors are expected to be extremely popular.

On the Isle of Marken, the Dutch boys and girls are dressed alike until they are 6 years of age.

Handicraft Topic Of Scout Program

The evolution of handicraft was the study of the third program of the Scout Leadership Training school held in the basement of the First Presbyterian church last night, more than sixty men receiving instructions on leatherwork, woodwork, carving, metal work, and whittling. An exhibit of all sorts of axes from the stone axe to the broad-axe, the froe and adze and all types of hatchets and knives featured.

Dr. Tom Curry delivered an inspirational talk to the school on the work of scouting.

A number of out-of-town men from Ralls, Wolfarth and Brownfield were present for the school.
