

New Testimony Revealed

Inquiry Held

By FINIS MOTHERHEAD

AMARILLO (AP)—Witnesses

testified Saturday that Billie Sol

Estes urged them to build up their political influence, and that some lending companies had a chance to make 60 to 70 per cent interest

if Estes' empire had survived.

The testimony came at a third and final day of a Texas court inquiry in which a federal judge is inquiring into the alleged fraudulent practices of the Estes family and their associates.

An Estes associate said that some employees of lending companies which claim they were bilked by Estes knew Estes was telling bogus mortgages.

Estes persuaded one lending company to appoint him as its mortgage agent, requiring two other."

Harold Orr returned for more testimony. Orr, McSpadden and Ruel Alexander pleaded guilty to a federal fraud indictment to which Estes pleaded innocent.

The three Estes associates await sentencing.

Orr said at least some of the lending companies who say they have been bilked of from $22 to $24 million by Estes by purchasing mortgages on which the collateral is non-existent knew the mortgages were fake.

Orr named Richard Crane of

Pacific Finance, Los Angeles, and said Crane "brought up Estes and said he knew about some bogus

(irrigation) pump paper that Associated Investments got stuck with for about $1.5 million."

The witness said Crane knew about this because his company had been talking about a possible merger with Associated Investments.

Orr also said Richard Runberg and Chuck Lloyd of Pioneer

Finance Co. of Dallas were among those who knew some of the mortgages actually had no collateral.

Orr said at one time he discussion interest rates with Jim Turfitt and William King of CIT Corp., a financing firm. He said they told him the discount on the purchase of Estes mortgages was computed at 6 to 8 per cent plus the interest quoted in the mortgages.

"The effect was to make the interest run up to 80 to 70 per cent over the life of the mortgages," said Orr.

King said, Orr testified that he could not find any CIT Corp. contract in Texas under the usury laws.

Orr was asked why CIT stopped buying mortgages involved in Estes operations.

He said, "I've got to start going to Washington. I believe I can do a better job there than Commercial

Solvents has." Commercial

Solvents is a New York firm which supplied Estes with fertilizer for his extensive retail sales.

McSpadden said Estes at one time had difficulty buying fertilizer for sale. He said he contacted

25 or 30 companies without finding a supplier.

Then, said the witness, Estes heard about a plant at Sterling ton, La., which had been closed by Commercial Solvents.

Proposed Tax Cut Affecting Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market returned to the upside last week but on the lightest trading in a year.

Wall Street was preoccupied with whether President Kennedy would recommend an immediate tax cut. Since the President has postponed his decision until some time in August when he will have in hand the economic reports for July, the financial community was left in a kind of limbo.

Toward the end of the week, as a result of a published article which stated flatly that the President has decided on a $7 billion reduction of income taxes, sentiment in the Street began to improve. Even though White House sources denied that Kennedy has made up his mind, the general feeling among the brokerage fraternity was that a tax cut is probable.

This was enough to improve buying somewhat but not enough to cause any general enthusiasm among a public which last spring saw the worst stock crash since 1929.

Volume faded to 13,914,661 shares from 15,962,490 in the previous week and was the lowest for any full trading week since the week ended July 22, 1961, when turnover was 15,552,340 shares.

Because of advances by some of the blue chips represented in the Dow Jones average of 30 in a further result of the President's remark was a strengthening of the dollar in foreign exchange markets.

Car Strikes Plane In Freak Mishap

HENDERSON (AP) — Jimmy Arnold of Henderson discovered a new traffic hazard about midnight Friday.

His car collided with a plane on U.S. 64 two miles west of here.

The pilot, Earl Mahavir Jr., McAllen, had set the plane down on the roadway because of low fuel.

Mahavir and his three passengers were shaken up. Damage to the plane was estimated at $2,000, to the car nothing.

OUR VIEW

The budget hearing for the City of Snyder will be held tomorrow night. The date for the county budget hearing has not been set, but probably will be held about the tenth of September.

Neither proposed budget will be noticeably different from last year. And both, we are happy to say, are designed to be within the incomes expected.

We are particularly glad that our local taxing agencies have not succumbed to the type of thinking that now dominates the federal, and in many cases, state governments.

Money that is spent by the government at one time belongs to somebody else. It is not just unclaimed money found on the sidewalk. And the money to pay the debts incurred today must be taken from somebody someday to do that.

Federal deficits have existed for 25 of the past 31 years. And the debt ceiling imposed by Congress has failed to prevent the national debt from climbing higher and higher. Congress has had to raise this ceiling three times, for a total of $15,000,000,000 in the fiscal year ending June 30. The national debt will approach $308,000,000,000 this year.

Fiscal responsibility has to start somewhere. Apparently it will not work from the top down. If there is to be responsible government spending, perhaps it must start at the bottom. And so for that reason, we are glad to say that our local governments are balancing their income and expenses.

Backstage . . .

Rare is the person who, every now and then, doesn't want to get away from it all. And a new group to be formed in Snyder this week may offer us all that opportunity every now and then. A "Travel Club" is being started at the library. Programs from far-away places will be presented, and at least while the program is in progress, those attending can make believe for a little while. The first program Tuesday will be a film of the orient, made by a Hollywood company for a Japanese air line. We expect a lot of us who only dream of exotic ports to be on hand to pretend that we're in Malaya . . . Tokyo . . . Singapore . . . Hong Kong . . .

HEADED WEST!—Winners of a recent contest for carriers of the Snyder Daily News are pictured just moments before their departure for Carlsbad Caverns yesterday morning. Circulation department head Ken Prather is at right. The boys are Bobby Lemons, John Harkins, Don Laster and Rudy Benitez. Also named a winner but unable to make the trip was Charles Vernon. The group will return to Snyder this afternoon. Over 30 boys competed for the trip.

Closer Watch Being Placed On Experimental Medicines

By L. T. EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Prompted in part by recent disclosure that a new drug is being blamed for birth malformations, the government is seeking ways to reduce hazards from use of experimental medicines.

A Food and Drug Administration official said Saturday that agency for some time has been considering changes in its regulations concerning distribution of experimental drugs, and that reports on the dire effects of thalidomide when used by women during pregnancy has sharpened interest in the matter.

Thalidomide is a German drug blamed for some 3,300 severe birth deformities in West Germany and hundreds elsewhere in Britain and Western Europe.

The drug was kept off the U.S. prescription market when Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey, an FDA physician and pharmacologist insisted for more than a year that proof of its safety was inadequate.

Although her action prevented the drug from being placed on the regular prescription market, there was some distribution of it in the United States through physicians for "investigational use" under limited procedure. It was prescribed for morning sickness.

The W.S. Merrell Co. of Cincinnati, an old and reputable firm, held exclusive U.S. rights to distribute thalidomide. It made samples available to about 1,200 physicians but there is no way of knowing exactly how many doctors gave it to patients.

A point in the law not widely known, is that a drug firm may make arrangements with doctors for the experimental or investigational use of a new drug without FDA approval. The law requires only that the firm keep a record of these shipments and that they are plainly labeled, "new drug limited by federal law to investigational use."

The doctor must sign a statement to the effect that he is qualified to investigate the safety of a drug. The doctor is not required to inform the patient that the drug is experimental, and at his discretion, may or may not charge for the prescription.

An FDA official shied away from the use of the term "human guinea pig" when it was used by a reporter. He hastened to say that no final proof of the safety and efficacy of a drug could be obtained until it had been used on human beings, and that has been the practice in production of new drugs.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said last week the firm which was distributing thalidomide in this country advised doctors to whom it had issued the drug to return all of the material it had on hand and to use no more on either males or females.

Under existing regulations, the courts for authority to undergo abortion legally to avert possible birth of a deformed child. The FDA said that in this instance, the drug had been obtained from abroad.

Britain's ECM Bid Stalled

By NEL SLIS
BRUSSELS, Belgium. (AP)—Britain's bid to join the prosperous European Common Market ran into a roadblock Saturday.

Neutrals Austria and Sweden asked for associate membership but a decision was postponed until fall.

Yet a fourth nation, Denmark, applied for semimembership pending full membership, but the Common Market's ministerial council deferred action until after the British negotiations are settled.

Britain, Austria, Sweden and Denmark are members of the rival European Free Trade Association, also known as the Outer Seven. Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky of Austria said members are morally bound to find a solution that will admit all to the six-nation Common Market. Other Outer Seven members are Switzerland, Portugal and Norway.

The British talks bogged down on Britain's insistence that commonwealth agricultural products be given "reasonable access" to the Common Market nations of Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

Britain also asked that the Common Market nations keep prices on farm commodities low so it can continue to import food and fibers from such commonwealth nations as Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Due to pressure from their own farmers, Common Market nations want to keep prices high for agricultural products. Farmers in France, for example, have staged riotous demonstrations demanding higher prices.

Informants said France led the opposition to concessions to Britain, and one delegate said: "There is no doubt about it that the French are negotiating as if the British are standing with their back against the wall." France is cool toward Britain's entry.

Chairman Eugene Schaus of Luxembourg said the talks with Britain will resume Wednesday and expressed hope of a solution. Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath of Britain said on his return to London the issue is "whether there is going to be room for imports of food from the commonwealth, the United States and the Argentine."

Stressing their neutral status, Austria and Sweden urged they be permitted to trade with the Common Market, which is reducing tariff barriers among member nations while raising a common tariff wall against outsiders. The neutrals would avoid involvement in any moves toward political integration in the Common Market.

Carlo Russe of Italy said that since the applications of the neutrals are interdependent, the council will wait to get an overall picture of the problems after Switzerland submits its application for membership late in September.

Foreign Minister Jens Otto Krag of Denmark asked for trade preference on some agricultural products, such as eggs, until its full membership is approved. The Danes fear the Dutch will take over their West German markets. The council decided, however, to hold up action until the British negotiations are decided.

COOLER WEATHER MOVES INTO STATE

A new cool front pushed into Texas Saturday, bringing frost rains to the Panhandle and far west.

Other showers peppered the Red River Valley, but none compared with the cloudbursts of Friday which flooded spots in North and Central Texas with downpours as high as 15.12 inches at Kaufman.

The floods had subsided in nearly every area that had been distressed earlier in the week such as Dallas, Mineral Wells, Weatherford and some Fort Worth suburbs.

The Trinity River ran out of banks in its upper reaches. The muddy water slowly rose behind Dallas levees to 32.54 feet by noon and still the crest had not come. Carrollton, up the river from Dallas, crested Friday at 7.3 feet.

There was no danger to Dallas, protected behind its dikes. Some low lands below the city faced flooding. The Weather Bureau forecast a crest of near 29 feet at Rosser Monday and about 26 feet Wednesday at Trinidad. Flood stages are 26 feet at Rosser and 28 at Trinidad.

The Weather Bureau said flooding will continue along the lower East Fork and Cedar Creek through Sunday. But no great distress or damage was expected.

As the hard rains ceased, the heat of late July returned. Rather heavy thunderstorms built up in the Panhandle. A tornado funnel cloud swirled harmlessly through the air north of Wheeler in the eastern Panhandle. The Panhandle Weather Bureau warned the Wheeler area to be alert for "possible destructive storms" but none came.

The Panhandle town of Fritch reported 2.35 inches of rain Saturday in 2½ hours to 11:30 a.m. Borger had heavy to moderate rain during the morning.

Amarillo, Dalhart, Lubbock and El Paso had thunderheads nearby. Wichita Falls had afternoon rain. South Texas blisted. By early afternoon the mercury rose to 103 degrees at Cotulla, 102 at Laredo RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Two Britons have been killed while attempting to conquer 25,762-foot-high Khinayang Chhis Mountain in the Karakoram Ranges of the Himalayas, according to a message received by Pakistan army authorities today.

They were members of the joint British-Pakistan Karakoram expedition. They died in a blizzard on July 18, according to the message.

One of the dead, Maj. James E. Mills, 35, of the Royal Army Service Corps, was one of Britain's most experienced mountaineers. The other man was identified as Capt. M.P.M. Jones, 28, of the Royal Fusiliers.

Tornado Seen Near Wheeler

BORGER (AP) — The Weather Bureau said a tornado funnel was spotted during a heavy storm in the eastern part of the Texas Panhandle Saturday.

The funnel, swirling through the air, was first reported at 10:48 a.m. about five miles north of Wheeler.

The Weather Bureau warned Panhandle residents in the Wheeler area to be on the alert for "possible destructive storms."

Questioned Wells Run

AUSTIN (AP) — Six survey crews resume tests Monday on oil wells in the Hawkins and East Texas field suspected of pumping oil from neighboring leases through illegally slanted wellbores.

The crews worked Friday to complete directional surveys on six wells. If the wells are found crooked, it will boost to 78 the number of illegally deviated wells uncovered since testing began June 1.

The Railroad Commission has used the findings to sever pipeline connections of more than 300 wells, and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed more than $24 million in state penalty suits against operators.

Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall said Wednesday he will double his five-man team of investigators in the area next week. Udall said he expects the first prosecutions as a result of his investigation to begin soon.

TV Work Moving Full Steam Ahead

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — These may be dog days in your home town, but this is the time when the television film industry starts working full blast.
The film factories, full of hope and script problems, are launching their new product, which will start reaching the home screens in September. None of the factories is busier than Four Star. I lunched with the crowning tycoon, Dick Powell, for a production report.
Powell was seated alone at the long conference table in Four Star's sumptuous offices. Neither of his partners, Charles Boyer nor David Niven, were there, though the latter's Oscar stood on the table. Both had flitted off to make movies in Europe, leaving Dick to mind the store.
He does that well, aided by his ace executive Tom McDermott. Dick himself had been working in one of the 10 Dick Powell shows he will appear in next season. This one is a blockbuster which will probably open the season.

$300 Million Grant Going To Argentina

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shaky Argentine financial structure is to get a $300-million loan from the U.S. and international aid sources.
In separate announcements Friday the State Department and the International Monetary Fund said the aid is based on assurances Argentina will push ahead with measures to combat inflation and cut operating losses of some of its nationally owned enterprises.
In both cases, the funds had already been held up during the political upheaval in that nation this summer.
Both announcements followed talks this week between Argentine Minister of Economy Alvaro Alsogaray and officials of the State Department, Alliance for Progress, Aid for International Development, and International Monetary Fund.
Alsogaray talked Friday with President Kennedy before leaving for New York to seek private loan commitments.
The State Department aid is expected to total about $200 million, of which about $125 million would be for development projects and $75 million to bolster the Argentine currency and pay for needed imports.
The Monetary Fund said it is making available now the $100 million it had tentatively earmarked for Argentina in June, then withheld.
One provision of the U.S. agreement permits use of some $50 million in Alliance for Progress funds to repay old Argentine debts. This money previously had been tied up in high priority economic development projects.
The State Department also said an Alliance for Progress technical mission will go to Argentina soon to look into financing of development projects previously agreed to in general terms.

Atheism The Soviet Union's Only 'God'

Editor's note: Felix McKnight, executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald, was one of 12 men who spent three weeks in the Soviet Union recently. This story was written on his observations while there.

DALLAS (AP)—God, and His Word, are being destroyed in the Soviet Union.
It is planned, ruthless destruction by state decree. But there is still flickering faith, held by pitiable hands of the aged.
Religion is now labelled "superstition" by the Soviets and the drive for utter abolition is shocking in its meanness.
"Superstition," says the state, must be ended "from black cats to God."
The mockery is carried to its extreme in Leningrad where the "Museum of History of Religion and Atheism" is housed in the quiet splendor of the old Kazan Cathedral built in 1801.
It was closed, the director explained to me, "by demand of the public in 1932" and converted to a veritable museum of horrors.
On its walls, where once there was sacally, hang vicious, vile exhibits and denunciations. They start from centuries ago, including the 13th Century Inquisition, and come to the present day, including the last of the czarist era, Gagarin and Titov, that say, in effect:
"We explored the Heavens in our flight and we saw no God."
To this Christian the hours spent in that museum were the most painful of my life. But, I have reflected since, I could have been witnessing the eventual undoing of communism.
It was not easy to gain entrance to the museum. Two or three of the 12 American editors on the 23-day trip through the Soviet Union, insisted that we be permitted to visit it. Agreement was reached.
It sets the cold tone of atheism throughout the Soviet Union.
In every place we visited we heard the atheistic line. It came from the young, and it came defiantly with identical, standard lines of ridicule.
Only the aged worship in the Soviet Union and the last traces of Christian churches and synagogues are being erased by attrition. The Soviets sit by and watch the death to finally close their doors.
In Moscow, a city of 3 million, there are 350,000 Jews. On a Friday evening, their Sabbath, we found less than 50 pitifully huddled in the city's synagogues.
The chant of the cantor sounded like a prophetic dirge.
One of our group, a Jew, spoke in despondency:
"I see the death of my church here when these people go."
No, death is not closing the churches," retorted one of our Russian escorts. "It is just that there are fewer fools!"
It created one of the few incidents of the trip. He was told, American style, to keep his mouth shut.
In Leningrad we pressed hard to visit the one Baptist church. We knew there was a Baptist church—or had been. We were shuttled from one to another and one seemed to know just what had happened to the Baptist church. Paul Miller of Rochester and I pushed it to the limit. Finally, we despaired of ever finding it. Maybe it had disappeared—overnight.
But we entered the bus to depart for the airport, one of the local journalists smiled:
"Come back to Leningrad some day—maybe we can find the Baptist church."
We did find in their museum of atheism, a large New Testament opened up in its middle with space cut through its pages to permit a .38 caliber pistol to slip into place. The Weapon was there. It was found, they boasted, in the possession of a Catholic priest, in 1930.
We found a poster on the wall—a crying 12-year-old Pioneer (Girl Scout) being tortured by two witch-like women with crucifixes in their hands.
We found an oil painting of a grandmother, brutally forcing a young, protesting girl into a cathedral door.
We found countless huge oil paintings depicting the burning of heretics; the mass shooting of 26 commissars from Baku by a White Russian Army group with Christ in their hands.
We could find that, and scores of other incredible indictments of God's Word—but we couldn't find the Baptist church.
It started in 1918 with a decree by the Soviet government which is still in effect. It declares freedom of conscience, divorces church from state and establishes "all believers have full right to worship."
"So we went to see those who have 'full right to worship.' Four of us, on Sunday morning, went to the St. Nicholas Orthodox Church—one of 14 Orthodox churches remaining in the vast city of Leningrad.
The church was held surprisingly high at St. Nicholas. We found hundreds worshipping at the first

Demand For Petroleum Products Up

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Demand for petroleum products in 1962 has been a bit stronger than expected. Demand for six months this year is being estimated at four per cent above 1961.
The trend is significant because it could give the industry its first increase since 1955. Total demand in 1961 was only one per cent above 1960.
Mid-year financial reports don't agree on whether the first half increase will continue.
Standard Oil of California believes it will. Continental Oil thinks a downward trend is ahead.
"We expect gains to date will be sufficiently well maintained to result in an increase of about four per cent in demand for the year as a whole," said R.G. Follis, chairman of Standard of California.
Continental president L.F. McCollum, who is chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, said forecasts indicate demand for products during the rest of the year will be about three per cent above 1961.
Continental's mid-year report said optimism resulting from greater demand led to excessive levels of refinery operations.
The seasonal decrease in demand between the first and second quarters was 15 per cent, yet refinery runs declined less than two per cent.
As a result, product inventories did not follow the usual seasonal pattern.
The Socomey Mobil Oil Co. said weak wholesale gasoline prices continued to affect domestic earnings adversely although the company's worldwide operations the first six months included increases in crude production, refinery runs, and products sales.
Gulf Oil Corp. reported record volumes in all its worldwide operations but said continued depressed prices throughout the world led to an 11 per cent decline in net earnings the first half.
Texaco reported first half earnings at an all-time high and said new record levels were set for crude production, refinery runs, and products sales.

Two Killed During Raid

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Nepal government sources said today a group of armed men killed two Nepali constables and seriously wounded a third in a raid across the border from India.
The report that reached this Himalayan valley capital of Nepal said about a dozen men crossed the border Thursday night. They attacked the police checkpoint at Pipra, near Bargun, and killed two constables, and then returned to India, the sources said.
Exile groups in India are seeking to force the king to restore the elected government which he abolished in December 1960.

HOUSTON (AP) — An 18-acre section of a garbage dump area has been set aside for a branch library and a health center by the City of Houston. "It is, of course, a council action, but I will certainly favor finding another tract for the library and health center," said Mayor Louis Guter.

Carol Burnett Wowin' 'Em In Dallas

By MARSHALL COMERER
DALLAS (AP)—Carol Burnett, the little girl from San Antonio with a big smile and a mobile face, is breaking box office records in Dallas.
She has vaulted from the slapstick sketches of the Gary Moore television show to one of the biggest drawing cards of the summer theater circuit.
Her in-person revue, which also features Marty ("Hello Dere") Allen and Steve Rossi, is sold out for the rest of its two-week run here and is assured of new attendance and money records in the 4,120-seat music hall.
The show set box office records in Pittsburgh, where it opened July 2, and in Kansas City. Advance sales are heavy, for upcoming one-week runs in Detroit and Indianapolis before the company moves into the sands at Las Vegas.
Weeks before the show opened in Dallas the State Fair Musicals reported individual ticket sales for the revue were running far ahead of those for the other five shows on its summer schedule.
The word quickly spread that the show was good; Miss Burnett's line talent for pointed satire, sophisticated songs and just plain old-fashioned clowning never better.
The rush for tickets was on. State Fair Musicals officials say the Carol Burnett in Person Revue will play to 32,250 people and gross more than $80,000, both records, when its two week run closes Sunday.
The attendance record of 46,421 was set by "Call Me Madame" with Joan Blondell in 1952.
The 1953 performance of "South Pacific," with Gisel McKenzie and John Brownlee, holds the gross receipts record, $142,083.

Cadena Chunks PL '9' To 2-0 Victory

David Cadena drove home the only run he was to require the first rattle out of the box here Friday, then proceeded to stifle Abilene's Pony All-Stars on four hits for a 2-0 shutout victory for his Snyder All-Stars and give them the jump in the best-of-three series opener between the two clubs.

The second contest was scheduled for Saturday night in Abilene and the third—if needed—back in Snyder on Monday.

Snyder touched things off with a bang in the first, as Cadena took second on the unsuccessful throw to the plate, pilfered third, and tripped home on an overthrow by the Abilene catcher in an attempt to nail him at third.

The visitors peeked away at Cadena early in the game, placing at least one runner on base in every inning until the fifth, but some sharp fielding and clutch pitching combined to preserve his shutout. Cadena got progressively stronger as the contest wore on.

with 12 of his 13 strikeouts being registered during the final four frames.

Loser Bill Gilbreath, a solid southpaw, also chunked commendable ball through the game, giving up only three singles while whiffing 12 and walking seven. Cadena doled out free tickets to only two over the course of the contest, however.

Abilene shortstop Pete Trevino smacked the sole extra-base hit of the game—a double to deep center. He was thrown out at third in an attempt to stretch it into a triple.

The game was reeled off before a capacity crowd that filled the stands and also ringed the entire outer pasture.

Valdez Stars In 1-0 PL Victory

ABILENE — Snyder's Pony League All-Stars took the Abilene Stars to the cleaners for the second night running, winning the best-of-three series title with a narrow 1-0 Saturday night victory.

The Snyder nine won the initial contest Friday in another pitcher's duel, 2-0. With the victory, they advance another notch in the playoffs and will travel to Denver City for their next competition this coming week.

Seven Thirty Winner Of Handicap

STANTON, Del. (AP)—George D. Widener's Seven Thirty overhauled Meadow Stable's Cicada a couple of strides before the finish Saturday and won the Delaware Handicap, the world's richest race for fillies and mares, by a head at Delaware Park. Bramalea was third.

Larry Adams rode the winner, a dark bay 4-year-old daughter of Mr. Music-Time to Dine by Jamestown, who made off with $97,375 from the gross purse of $141,875.

Ramon Valdez was the difference for Snyder. In addition to luring the shutout victory, he also accounted for his team's only run with a sixth-inning homer.

Through five innings and two outs of the sixth, southpaw Kenneth Herrell had faced only the minimum number of batters. Billy West had collected a single and Valdez was picked off first.

The 1 1/4 mile event was a thriller for a crowd of 3,000, which turned out on the closing afternoon of Delaware's 54-day meeting under sunny skies.

All of the leading contenders for the 3-year-old filly title, as well as the older gallions of the distaff side, were in the big handicap.

But the favored entry of Primonetta and Bramalea, from the Darby Dan Farm of John W. Galbreath, couldn't quite pull it off. The pair started at 3-2 odds.

Bramalea, a 3-year-old, got third money, seven big lengths behind the fighting leaders. The 4-year-old Primonetta, start of the stable and a 4-year-old who had won all three of her 1962 starts, was fourth, 1 1/4 lengths behind her stablemate after carrying out the early pace in a bitter duel with Cicada.

The Snyder Stars came close again in the seventh when Fred Wiman led off with a double and Ray Kier was hit by a pitched ball. Herrell bucked down to get the next three hitters, however, and snuff out the near rally.

Valdez experienced trouble in the late innings, but came out of it all unscathed. His first serious brush with fate was in the fourth, when a single and a double put two runners on with only one out. An attempted squeeze play backfired, though, and he struck out the next man up.

In the fifth, he had runners on second and third with one out, but calmed down to whiff the next two men to face him. Also in the sixth he struck out two batters with the potential tying run perched on third.

The seventh inning saw the Abileneans making their final stab when a pinch double was unloaded with two out. He was picked off at third in an attempt to steal the game-ending play, though.

Ankle Sprain Is Suffered By Ol' Diz

NEW YORK (AP)—Dizzy Dean, whose pitching career was shortened by an injury suffered in the 1937 All-Star game, was hurt again Saturday when he suffered a sprained ankle in a re-enactment of the game on its 25th anniversary.

Dean, former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher and Hall of Famer who is now a television broadcaster, fell over first base when he covered the bag after Charlie Gehring, former Detroit second baseman, grounded to Johnny Mize, leading off in the American first inning.

In 1937 it was a line drive off the bat of Earl Averill of Cleveland that felled Dean. When he tried to pitch in regular turn, favoring the injured toe, he hurt his arm. Averill, incidentally, was the next hitter after Gehring in Saturday's lineup.

The game wound up in a 2-2 tie, called after two innings as the feature of the New York Yankees' 16th annual Old Timers' day.

Affectionately Stakes Victor

OCEANPORT, N. J. (AP)—Affectionately, a swift daughter of Swaps, led all the way in registering an easy victory in the $100,440 Sorority Stakes at Monmouth Park Saturday. It was the eighth victory in nine starts for Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' filly.

A heavy favorite with the crowd of 29,323, Affectionately covered the 6 furlongs in Stakes record time of 1:10 and won by five lengths. The old record for the Sorority was 1:10-2/5, set by Marullah in the first running of the test for 3-year-old fillies in 1956.

McKeon Steps Down 'Out Of Loyalty'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—George McKeon, apparently an American Basketball League at heart, says he is quitting as president of the National Basketball Association Cleveland Pipers for at least a year.

McKeon, who operated the San Francisco entry in the ABL last season, said Thursday night he is withdrawing from professional basketball for the coming year "out of loyalty to the other American Basketball League owners."

ABL Commissioner Abe Saperstein said Wednesday the league will function in 1962-63. When McKeon folded his San Francisco team and the Pipers moved from the ABL to the NBA, it had been assumed the infant league was through.

McKeon said: "All the owners in the ABL agreed to merge into a franchise in NBA. Some were to have a part interest in the Cleveland team. If they intend to operate as a six-team league, I feel I owe my loyalty to the ABL and am withdrawing from the Cleveland organization."

OLDEST FIRM IN EAST HIGHWAY business area is the Scurry Butane Co. owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Houston. The firm moved to the East Highway location several years ago, and has found it to be a good choice of a business location.

Savings On Used Parts At Bill's Auto

Service and savings for their customers has made Bill's Auto Salvage, located at the traffic circle on the East Highway, one of Snyder's fastest growing firms.

If the part needed is not available from one of the hundreds of cars on the lot, a free teletype service direct to Ahlens, Lubbock Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Amarillo or Plainview will locate it quickly and easily. This is just another service of Bill's Auto Salvage which is guaranteed to save time and money for their customers.

Although the firm specializes in sale of used parts from late model wrecked or burned cars, it also handles several lines of new and rebuilt parts which would otherwise not be available locally.

Mufflers and tail pipes for any make of car are in stock. Also a selection of more than 400 rebuilt generators for all types of cars is stocked by the firm.

Every type of car part from batteries, starters, complete engines, transmissions, wheels, used tires, body parts, seats, doors, and anything else that came on the automobile is available at the salvage yard.

Bill Baldwin, owner of the firm, said "We invite everyone who needs parts for his car to call on us and compare the savings we can offer him." Parts are removed from the cars as needed, and delivery of any part can usually be made in just a few minutes.

Hall Drug Cares For Customers

The father-son team of C. E. Hall and Larry Hall operate the Hall Drug Co. with one purpose in mind—to be fully stocked and equipped to care for the needs of their customers.

Hall Drug Co. was opened here in 1949 under the name of Crowder-Hall. In 1953 C. E. Hall purchased the interest of his partner and it has since been known as Hall Drug.

A member of the State and Federal Standard Pharmaceutical Associations, Hall's maintains a modern and up-to-date pharmacy department as is to be found in any big city.

A complete veterinary department is also a part of Hall Drug. Other departments too are complete and well-stocked. Several items in the cosmetic department are compounded and packed especially for Hall Drug Co. to their specifications and formula. They have a sun tan lotion which has become a favorite of many people throughout a wide area of West Texas.

The firm is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Strikers Toned Down In Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A strike by government employees appears to have crumbled with only a few diehards holding out against a government crackdown.

Large numbers of armed police and riot squads remained on guard in downtown areas Friday night, although business returned almost to normal. A gang of youths burned a government vehicle and there were sporadic but minor clashes between pro-Castro groups and members of the Social Christian party.

East Europe Food Is Sold Elsewhere

By RICHARD O'REGAN
VIENNA (AP)—In Communist East Europe, food shortages are everywhere. Yet in Western Europe you can buy Bulgarian eggs, Hungarian salami, Polish potatoes and Romanian fruit.

Why are East Europeans kept short of food products while the goods are exported?

Diplomats blame the Soviet bloc's own common market organization, known as the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance, or Comecon.

Set up in 1949 as a coordinating group, Comecon four years ago reorganized itself to try to build the East bloc into a powerful trading market.

It was to be directed by state planning rather than by the forces of private enterprise and was to try to surpass the West European common market.

But while West Europe is having a boom, Comecon, according to Western economists, has failed miserably. A meeting was held in Moscow recently to try to put new life into it.

Comecon set out in 1958 to integrate the economies of Russia, Hungary, Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

Up to that time, each of the East European countries had tried to become a little Russia. Each had developed heavy industry, regardless of availability of raw materials. Each produced the same or similar goods. All attempted to become self-sufficient and suffered from the same shortages.

Comecon pushed the idea that each country specialize.

Poland was to expand its production of coal, sulphur and other raw materials. Romania was to concentrate on oil and petrochemical industries. Czechoslovakia was to build up medium industry, automobiles and transport. Hungary was to develop light industry.

Huge industrial projects — like a big steel complex on the Danube near Budapest—suddenly became idle or the plans were scrapped. Investment capital went down the drain.

Countries that had been making ing TV sets were told to make radios. "Rich" countries like Czechoslovakia were told to put up money for investments in "poor" countries like Bulgaria.

This process is still going on. The Moscow meeting in June emphasized that more effort would be made to pool scientific and technical research and create joint project and design centers.

But, say the Western economists, the system still isn't working.

Her Highness A Ski-Cat??

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—Following in Jacqueline Kennedy's ski steps, Princess Margaret has taken up water skiing.

But Britain's pretty princess does it differently than America's pretty First Lady.

Photographs last week showed Mrs. Kennedy in a bathing suit. A picture of Queen Elizabeth's sister today, splashed down the front page of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, showed Margaret skiing in a skin-tight rubber suit on a small secluded lake near London.

The difference between Britain's low 70's summer weather and U.S. temperatures probably accounted for the difference in garb.

Margaret also wore a flowered bathing cap. The President's wife apparently prefers a plain cap.

Mrs. Kennedy seemed at ease and smiling as she zipped over the waters.

The princess looked apprehensive, clutching the towing bar and rope as if holding on for dear life.

As her instructor, Princess Margaret has her husband, Lord Snowdon.

Water skiing is the second vigorous, clutching the towing bar and rope as if holding on for dear life.

Earlier this year, she hiked up her skirts and jumped on a motorcycle behind her husband.

Butane Firm Serves Area For 23 Years

Proof that good service makes for satisfied customers is offered by Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Houston, operators of the Scurry Butane Co., 1012 Twenty-fifth Street.

Some of their customers have been "regulars" since the firm was established over 23 years ago, and it is to these long-time customers and to the new ones too, that Mr. Houston says "Thanks!"

"Without our customers there would be no need for us to be here," said Mr. Houston, "so we thank each and every one of them for making our business possible. We hope to be here for another 23 years, and we promise to give the very best service we can," he added.

Scurry Butane is the dealer in Snyder for O'Keefe and Merritt butane ranges, Dearborn butane heaters, Dearborn air conditioners, American Standard water heaters, DX motor oils and a number of small appliances.

The store is open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week.

Employees of the firm, besides the owners, are Jerry Scrivner, Wayne Sturdivant, and Jimmy Fulford.

Bonner Fixes Cars, Mowers

Bonner Garage, located just off the East Highway at Avenue E, is the place to take your car if it needs attention.

Expert work is also offered on power mowers. A balky mower can be a real annoyance when you have finally gotten in the mood to mow that grass. A visit to Bonner Garage for your mower can put it in shape to be ready to mow when you are. Motor work and sharpening are offered for all mowers at the garage.

New Bonner, owner of the business, has been in business for himself for the past six years and has been at the present location for five years.

New Bonner specializes in tune ups, brake work, wheel balancing and general overhaul work. The customer's car always receives the personal attention of the garage owner.

How Long Will Kassem Control?

BAGHDAD (AP)—In sweltering Iraq, diplomats mop their brows and wonder how long strongman Abdel Karim Kassem can defy political gravity and maintain control of this historic land that sweeps up from the Persian Gulf.

With guns or words, Kassem is fighting a Kurdish revolt, imperialism, the Arab League, the Western-owned Iraq Petroleum Co., Kuwait, Egypt's President Nasser and Israel.

Four years ago Kassem overthrew King Faisal and turned street mobs loose to dismember Premier Nuri Es Said. Now his uneven smile gleams from portraits everywhere. A visitor counted 18 in Kassem's own reception room.

He drives through the streets in a bullet-proof sand yellow Cadillac. Increasingly he depends on police state measures at home and abroad. He caters to his army with housing schemes and Moscow weapons.

He has tried to woo the peasants with land reform—but the scheme is only beginning to feel right itself after two years. Actual farm income has dropped and Iraq buys wheat abroad.

It is accepted in Baghdad—despite Kassem's frequent contrary claims—that rebelling Kurds control much of the countryside in the north. No travel permits are issued for that area.

His claims against Kuwait in the South have alienated other Arab states and caused him to ask the recall of U.S. Ambassador John Jernegan after Washington recognized Kuwait's independence. Similar moves threaten to worsen Iraq's world standing. Kassem shows no sign of caring. He points to a glass case holding the uniform he was wearing when he survived an assassin in 1959.

"You see," he explains, "I was spared by Allah to complete my task."

The ancient streets of Baghdad hold few reminders of the fabled days of Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves.

Despite the efforts of a minister of guidance and a controlled press, the citizens show a notable lack of enthusiasm for Kassem. He is apparently aware that the seven million people are not wholly on his side. When he staged a massive parade on the fourth anniversary of his revolution, a mile square section was tightly cordoned to insure his safety.

With afternoon temperatures soaring to 125, the population disappears to sleep fitfully through the afternoon. At dusk people begin to gather along the Tigris to eat roasted fish in one-man restaurants.

Kassem himself used to come in the days when he was a soldier. Now he sticks to a special apartment in the ministry of defense.

He governs largely through four trusted army cronies—the heads of military intelligence, military police, internal security and the army itself. He largely avoids his civilian ministers but work is going ahead on a magnificent new parliament building (started by the old regime). He has promised elections for 1963.

Although the police state regime makes the population restive, economic problems are likely to prove more troublesome in the long run. In concentrating on survival, Kassem has allowed the economy to stagnate, despite a massive income from oil.

Inflation is creeping in and the cost of living is going up.

The Soviet bloc has given him about $230 million in credits for his five-year industrial plan, ending in 1966. It includes factories that will help the economy margin spread committing Kassem to Moscow for spare parts, technicians and further financing.

He must also pay back to Moscow about $400 million in military credits—for which he has received a vast stock of tanks, trucks and artillery plus a jet air force that lacks the MIG-17 Nasser has.

Kassem leans heavily on $250 million he receives annually in oil revenues. This sum also must serve his domestic economy and help pay the $700 million defense budget at home.

This is one reason Kassem is trying to pressure the Iraq Petroleum Co. into raising payments.

and why he also wants the oil-rich kingdom of Kuwait.

The Russians are not above using these ammunition to tighten their grip on Kassem. The Baghdad press is under ironclad instructions to say nothing that might possibly offend Moscow.

Electronics Firm In New Location

Snyder Electronics will be open in a new location on the East Highway Monday. The firm, operated by George T. Burton, had been in the same location in Snyder for seven and one-half years.

Strictly a service business, the firm offers expert repair service on all makes of television, radio, stereos and Hi-Fis. The firm also repairs all types of small appliances.

The office is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week, but repair calls are made at all hours.

Burton, who had lived in Fort Worth most of his life before moving to Snyder, was trained as a resident student in the DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago, which specializes in teaching theory and practical knowledge of all types of electronics. It is a simple work to nuclear electronics.

Burton spent a year working with the Motorola branch, one of the largest repair shops in the country, located in Chicago, a leading television service center in Fort Worth and several years in that line in the Army, in which he was a communications officer.

1. Babysitters must be paid the amount promised. "Some customers have been contracting to pay 75 cents an hour, then have reneged and paid only 50 cents."

2. A minimum one-day notice, except in an emergency. "Some persons call us on an hour's notice."

3. Notify the sitter if the television set is not working. "If we know there's no television we can bring a book."

4. No introduction of additional children. "Some persons recently have told us they have only two children and then before they leave they bring over three children of neighbors."

5. Time-and-a-half for afternoon assignments and for all hours after midnight. "The added charge for day work is because the children are all awake and it takes a lot more work to keep them quiet."

6. Treatment as babysitters and not as servants. "Some customers act as if we were in the pre-Civil War slave era. We are experienced babysitters and expect to be treated as such."

American Books On Soviet Market

By FRANK CARER
Associated Press Science Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet bloc doctors are eagerly ordering American books on cancer at up to $25 a copy, payable in rubles under a special arrangement.

They're doing so while mobbing an American exhibit here, featuring give-away pamphlets and other literature on federal government and voluntary health agency programs in the United States for the war on cancer.

This was reported by officials of the American Cancer Society, a nongovernmental organization which is staging the exhibit at the eighth international cancer congress.

"We're being mobbed by scientists from Russia, Romania and Red China," reported Dr. Michael Ter-Pogossian of Washington University Medical School, St. Louis, Mo., who speaks Russian and is helping out at the society exhibit. He told a reporter the Russians, in particular, are really hungry for some relatively new books costing $7 to $25.

Mrs. Allen said she had made a special arrangement with publishers whereby Russians who wanted the books could order them and pay in rubles.

"All these books," said Dr. Ter-Pogossian, "have been available in some Russian medical libraries, but hitherto it's been difficult for individual doctors to get them because of the money exchange problems. Hitherto, they would have to pay for them in dollars."

Rainbow Mkt. Is Popular Food Center

The Rainbow Market, located at 164 Twenty-fifth Street is one of Snyder's most popular food centers. The store, which has operated in the same location since 1950, was purchased from the J. R. Beadel Super Market Chain by Sigrling Parker in 1959. Parker was a former vice president with the J. R. Beadel Company and has been in the grocery business for over 30 years. He moved to Snyder as manager of the store in 1950.

The spacious store is completely stocked with the finest in groceries and meats. The market has an experienced butcher on duty at all times to give the customer the cut of meat that he desires. Every cut of meat at Rainbow is fully guaranteed to satisfy the customer. The store is open seven days weekly until 10 p.m. and has ample free parking space for the convenience of its customers.

Customers Happy With Lee Conoco

Located at the corner of Avenue I and Twenty-fifth Street, Lee Conoco Service is one of the busier stations of the East Highway business area.

J. B. Lee, owner of the business, has almost 20 years experience in the service station business. In that time he has learned what customers want, and what needs to be done to guarantee a successful service station operation.

One thing most appreciated by the customer is the guaranteed wheel balancing offered by Lee Conoco Service. The Hunter balancing method and equipment are used, which Lee believes to be the finest method available. "Nothing contributes more to driving comfort as well as increased tire mileage than keeping the wheels well balanced," Lee said.

"Wash jobs and lubrications that are just a little bit better, are another specialty," he added. Each car that is washed at the station is completely inspected before it is returned to the customer.

Other employees at the station besides Lee are Ray McCown and Felton Wallace.

Fireflies on the island of Jamaica in the West Indies produce such a brilliant burst of light that it resembles a flash bulb on a camera.

The store is open seven days a week for the shopper's convenience.

Employees of the Bronco Grocery and Market, and the Farm and Ranch Store are Mrs. Bill Stone, Mrs. Stone's mother, Mrs. Mabel Kellogg, and C. A. Sturdivant.

NEWEST BUILDING ON EAST HIGHWAY... This large structure housing the Key Bros. Implement Co. The firm moved to the East Highway location in February.

Downtown 66 O'Rear Is Oldest Furniture Store

Jesse Smallwood has owned and operated the Downtown 66 Service since Jan. 1 of this year. He purchased the station from Steve Birchwell.

When Birchwell announced his intention to leave Snyder, Smallwood, who had been employed there for two and one-half years, jumped at the chance to own and operate the station.

In his opinion, the location of the Downtown 66 is the best in town, conveniently located as it is just one block east of the Snyder square on Twenty-fifth Street.

The location permits shoppers or those employed around the square to leave the car for service, and pick it up at their convenience. Free pickup and delivery, of course, is offered anywhere in town.

Several services not offered by the ordinary service station are to be found at Smallwood's Downtown 66. Motor washing, undercoating, brake repair and adjustment are all featured along with quality washing and lubrications.

Trailers too, may be rented from the Downtown 66. They are local agents for the Nationwide system of trailer rentals. A trailer may be rented here, and returned in almost any city in the United States. Trailers may also be rented for local use at the station.

Another popular item at the station is the Phillips 66 ammonium sulphate fertilizer. A big 80 pound bag of this fine fertilizer is just $2.00 at the Downtown 66, and a spreader is available for those who wish to borrow it.

In addition to Smallwood, other employees at the station are "Nappy" Brasel who has been with the firm 10 years; "Snubey" Thompson, a veteran of 7 years service; and Tommy Fletcher, who worked at the station as a D.E. student and is now employed on a full-time basis.

When Smallwood took over the station, he pledged to continue to give the same fine service for which the station had become famous. And this he has done—just ask any customer of the Downtown 66!

Big Variety Is Found At Sandwich Shop

Very few names of businesses tell more about the operation of the business than does the name of the Sandwich Shop.

Sandwich Shop means exactly what it says. Almost any kind of sandwich is available there. And of course, many other delicious foods are on the menu including shrimp in a basket, hot fish and fries, and chicken in a basket. The Sandwich Shop makes their own barbecue sauce; their own chili sauce; and their own chicken salad. This way, they know its got to be good!

Complete fountain service is offered, including soft ice cream. And anything prepared by the Sandwich Shop can be made up "to go." Their phone number is HI 3-9155. The address is 509 East Highway.

Mrs. Alphonse Wimmer, owner, celebrated her second anniversary at the shop last Friday. In addition to Mrs. Wimmer other employees are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wimmer; Mrs. Frank Schulze; Karen Schulze; Gloria Botts; Billie Gentry; and Jerry Lynn Higgins.

Jack & Jack Has All Types Of Real Estate

One of Snyder's busiest real men got into the business as something of a sideline to augment his current home building projects back in 1950 and found it so bustling that it crowded other phases of his activities entirely out.

The man fitting this unusual description is L. A. McClanahan who is known variously under his own name and under the firm name of Jack & Jack Realty Co.

The Jack and Jack business dates back a year further, being founded by a son-in-law, Jack Smith with Jack LaRue, who operated the firm a year before selling out to McClanahan.

Originally established on the East Highway, the firm moved from there to a downtown location, but several years ago purchased a building and moved back to the East Highway. That address is 611 East Highway.

The firm deals in all types of properties, including rentals, residential, commercial, and farm and ranch property. They also manage income properties and serve as leasing agents for business buildings.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. McClanahan, Mrs. Geneva Williamson is employed in the sales department, and Miss Jolene Sheid is the firm's new secretary.

Shootin' It Up In Space

By The Associated Press
Scientists and engineers are concerned with the cosmic shooting gallery, the earth's atmosphere, and insect enemies.

Shooting Gallery
Space is a great shooting gallery, what with meteors and cosmic debris zipping around at speeds up to 150,000 miles an hour.

A hit on a space ship could kill its occupants. So at McGill University in Montreal, scientists are trying to design a wrap-around space shield which wouldn't crack under such impacts, and which also could withstand the hot gases generated if a meteor struck at such force and disintegrated.

They'll work with a special steel vacuum chamber, firing bullets into experimental shields at speeds of 20,000 to 50,000 miles an hour.

Atmospheric Secrets
For the next 10 years, this country's research in the atmospheric sciences should be tripled, says a report submitted by the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council.

It urges a bigger effort to understand atmospheric processes adequately, for therein lies the basis of sounder weather forecasts and potentials for control of weather and man's environment.

The report to the Office of Science and Technology calls for a three-fold increase in scientific manpower and research funds, a five-fold increase in the universities' output of doctorates in the atmospheric sciences, strengthened programs in key universities, and more vigorous research and educational programs by government agencies.

Insect Enemy
The black widow spider has dropped out of the list of the top ten pest public enemies of the insect world, says the National Pest Control Association.

Key Bros. Keep Pace With Trends

Keeping up with the farmers' improving trends of farming bigger and more efficiently is a progress story in itself and the essence of the growth of Key Bros. Implement Co., the John Deere dealer in Snyder.

A new member of the growing business area of the East Highway, the Key Bros. new building was originally established on the East Highway, the firm moved from there to a downtown location, but several years ago purchased a building and moved back to the East Highway. That address is 611 East Highway.

Starlite Is Recreation Center Here

A popular recreation center in Snyder is the Starlite Drive-In Theater on the East Highway.

It is popular not only as a place to see good family type movies the year round, but a place where many mothers find relief from the hot kitchen during the summer time.

The Starlite snack bar is a popular place for an entire meal or light refreshments, and many have found that it is such a good evening entertainment to have their meal at the snack bar while they enjoy a good movie.

The snack bar is equipped with an enclosed theater from which as many as 200 patrons may watch the show in air conditioned or heated comfort if they do not wish to remain in their cars. A patio is also provided where theatergoers may watch the shows and enjoy the cool breezes at the same time.

Diplomat In Moscow Finishes Five Years

By STANLEY JOHNSON
MOSCOW (AP) — Llewellyn E. Thompson is going home after a 5-year mission as U.S. ambassador to Moscow—the longest any top American diplomat has spent in the job since U.S.-Soviet relations started 29 years ago.

It also seems to have been the most successful, at least as far as personal relations with the Kremlin go.

Premier Khrushchev at one stage, in assessing Thompson, exclaimed: "What a fine man!"

He absolved Thompson of any blame for Soviet-American crises like the U-2 incident.

Thompson and his striking, husky-voiced wife Jane, were also with three other important groups—the diplomatic corps, the embassy staff and the press.

Counting dependents and clerical staff, there are about 250 persons at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. Most of them live in a compound on Tchaikovsky Boulevard.

With Russian suspicions of all American diplomats and a completely unrealistic exchange rate, their social life is pretty much restricted to entertaining each other and fellow diplomats.

They but virtually all their food and other requirements at the embassy commissary. They have an embassy doctor, an American priest, garage, other service facilities and an American school.

Thompson is going home in rather a pensive mood, but Mrs. Thompson is delighted.

"There are plenty of ambassadors, but he is the only husband I've got," she said recently. She wants her husband in some less trying job.

But President Kennedy did not want him to leave until things were relatively quiet, especially about Berlin, for fear some allies might interpret the shift as a change in the U.S. position.

Like other top ambassadors here, Thompson reportedly anticipates a relatively quiet period in West-Soviet relations until after Khrushchev has had his August vacation and the Soviet Union has run off its new series of nuclear tests.

As to Soviet developments in general, Thompson is guardedly optimistic.

Private conversations give the impression he feels that Russia has passed the point of no return as far as mass terror is concerned, and will inevitably have to devote more and more of its resources to increasing living standards.

Thompson began his work here in the aftermath of Suez and the Hungarian revolution.

Gradually, the situation improved until Thompson arranged for Khrushchev to tour America—a trip he still thinks was very worthwhile.

Then came the U-2 incident, the explosion of the Paris summit meeting and a series of Berlin crises.

Thompson's success, his colleagues believe, lay in the fact that he managed to keep the channels of communication open.

After a 3-week holiday in the ambassador's native Colorado, the family will settle in a house Thompson bought in Washington.

Thompson is to be succeeded here by Roy D. Kahler, who has served previously in the Moscow embassy and recently has been an assistant secretary of state.

Stanley Johnson has spent several years in the Soviet Union, following Associated Press assignments at the United Nations and in Warsaw. He is a Rhode Islander.

Double Six Barber Shop 2 Years Old

Opened for business just two years ago on June 22, the Double Six Barber shop in the 66 Center offers the most modern barber shop equipment in town.

Jimmy Gardner, manager of the shop, moved to the Double Six from the City Barber Shop where he had been located for five years.

He is a veteran of 16 years of barbering experience.

Also employed full time by the shop is Bill Robertson who has a record of 25 years experience in the barbering business. Robertson was formerly a partner in the Derrick Barber Shop.

Working from 4 to 6 p.m. daily and all day Saturday is S. A. Taylor, Jr. Five years of experience are behind every job done by Taylor.

Alex Andrews, shine boy, offers 11 years experience in the business, and is considered one of the best in his line.

Said Gardner, "We appreciate our many friends and customers who have made the Double Six Barber Shop the success it was from the very day we opened. We will constantly try to merit your continued support by doing the very best work we know how."

Sickness, death and crime all increase during periods of high humidity, day, say the experts, to the weariness and tension that accompany discomfort.

A&C Motel Home Away From Home

Ever since the fall of 1957 when he took over the A & C Motel on the East Highway, A. A. McKimney has had one goal in mind. That goal is to make the A & C Motel truly a "home away from home."

To get that home-away-from-home feeling it takes more than just a good bed and clean, comfortable rooms. It takes a friendly, relaxed, and helpful attitude by the management.

Guests at the A & C find all this and more at the A & C Motel. Just across the East Highway is Ballard's Cafe where A & C guests can obtain food service 24 hours a day. This is another reason for the good repeat business enjoyed by the motel.

Six modern individual efficiency apartments are also on the property of the A & C Motel. Rented by the week, all at present are occupied, but occasionally one becomes available. They are quite popular with people who reside temporarily in Snyder.

Mr. McKimney invites Snyderites to consider one of the rooms at the A & C Motel as their guest room when family or friends are paying a visit in Snyder.

Snyder American Notches 2-0 LL Playoff Triumph

Snyder's Little League American All-Stars collected only one hit here Friday, but it was a big one—a home run blast by Ted Winter which sparked them home to a 2-0 bi-area championship over a classy Stonewall-Kent nine.

Winter's roundtripper, which soared over the far centerfield barrier, came about with one away in the fourth inning, and broke the magic spell that big righthander Paul Cornelius had been weaving up to that time. He had moved the American down the line through the initial three frames before Winter abruptly changed the complexion of things.

It also tended to open the floodgate for another run the same inning. Ronnie Potts, who followed Winter in the batting order, drew a pass to first, and was forced at second when Frankie Grimmer reached base by fielder's choice. Grimmer moved on to second when Terry Holt walked, and they both advanced a base on a wild pitch. Max Moreland next sent a hopper out to the mound which Cornelius failed to field. Grimmer's stamping home on the bobble.

Those two runs were more than enough for righthander Tony Suttle, who pitched beautiful ball throughout the game. He was touched for singles in the third and fourth innings, but that was the sum and substance of it for the visitors. Both of those runners died on first after lacing out their bingles.

Suttle struck out a total of 11 batters during his tour and walked two. Cornelius whiffed five and gave up five tickets to four.

The triumph was earned for the Snyder team the championship of areas 3 and 4. They are to meet the Abilene Dixie-Abilene Northern winner here Monday evening at 7-15. The scheduled battle between those two teams was postponed both Thursday and Friday, but was to have been played Saturday night.

Markers To Aid Boaters

Boaters on nine Texas lakes will soon have navigation markers and buoys to promote safety among the state's ever-increasing boat owners.

A uniform waterway marker system will be installed in the reservoirs by the U.S. Corps of Engineers headquartered at Fort Worth. The Corps will also distribute copies of the various navigation aids to concessionaires and individuals.

Boaters are urged to be alert for a red flag with a diagonal white stripe, which signifies that a skindiver is in the general area. Corps of engineer lakes include Texoma, Lake O' the Pines, Texarkana, Dam B, Benbrook and Garza-Little Elm.

Ray City's 8th annual Sports Fishing Tournament will open Thursday for a four-day contest in offshore, Matagorda and Colorado River classes. A special children's division has been set up this year.

More and more boaters are venturing into the Gulf. The increase is due to the increasing seaworthiness and dependability of outboards and the rapid decline of bay fishing. And once anglers feel the strike of a few kings or ling, they're ready to quit the all-day work it takes to bring in a three or four-pound fish in the bays.

Joe Farthing of Del City, one of Lake Texoma's top black bass fishermen, figures his children are good enough anglers so that he can quit giving them lessons. After calmly landing a 5½ pounder, his six-year-old son took a 3-pounder and his 13-year-old daughter pulled in a six-pounder.

Details of the first annual Texas-Oklahoma Fishing Bowl have been completed. The event is set for Oct. 5-6 on Texoma, and will take on a gridiron theme. Black or spotted bass over one pound will count for extra points. Five-pounders or larger will count as field goals to the 22 fishermen, who will be paired into two teams, one man from each team to a boat.

Gulf Coast fishermen should have continued good luck with kingfish and red snappers. One conversation with one of the league players while visiting relatives in Yakima, a Washington city of some 32,000. Through that grapevine, he learned that one of the teams was to say a doubleheader later in the day, and that they were "hurling" for a pitcher.

He was asked to tend to the pitching chores, and went on to hurl a no-hitter. Two batters reached base off him during the game, one by a walk and the other when hit by a pitched pellet.

According to Sullivan, softball is fairly "young" at Yakima, but has caught the fancy of players and fans alike. Tremendous crowds turn out for the games, and the three leagues operating sport a total of 19 teams.

Nippy weather was the main bugaboo as far as Sullivan was concerned. The nights were chilly (in the high 40s) and the days warm (in the 80s). He commented that it was the first time he had ever seen people turn out to watch softball games in overcoats and scarves.

Being unprepared for softball activity while on vacation, he ended up pitching the game in sports shoes, dress pants and a sports shirt, also a new experience for him.

Mound Corps Sparkle While on the subject of pitching, have you noticed just how silly the American Little League staff has been in the playoffs?

Three different pitchers have gone all the way in each of the three games, and none of them has given up an earned run.

Terry Holt won the first one over Colorado City, 4-0 on three singles. Then Johnny Gaona side-tracked Sweetwater National by 4-0 five singles (Sweetwater's lone run was scored by a boy who had gotten on base by error).

Tom Suttle followed up how by ending up pitching the game in sports shoes, dress pants and a sports shirt, also a new experience for him.

snapper and eight kingfish at Freepoint, and a Port Isabel party of 12 caught over 300 red snapper to five pounds. The black bass forecast is for fair fishing, but some reports indicate good crappie takes. Other reports:

Surfacing sand bass are showing up best at Lake Texoma, where catches are best in heavily populated areas near the dam. One take of 166 on spinners and flies was reported.

Lake Whitney fishing was generally slow except for surfacing sandies and crappie taken mostly at night in 16-to-18 foot water. A haul of 21 channel cats to three pounds drift fishing with shrimp was reported.

Blacks in the four-pound class continue to hit good at Caddo Lake. Bream are biting good and crappie are biting around sunrise. Black bass in the two-pound class hit good at sunrise on topwaters and artificial worms, while crappie are biting best at night in 15-to-20 foot water at Lake O' the Pines.

Crappie and channel cat are biting fair to good and blacks are poor at Possum Kingdom.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

It's an established fact that most folks, following an extended vacation, find it necessary to come back home to the old grind in order to gain some of the rest that they were supposed to have gotten on their vacation.

A vicious cycle, but one that ensnares us all at one time or another.

Guy Sullivan, who recently returned from Seattle and a look-see at the World's Fair, could be one of that vacation-poepped breed. All the elements are there, anyway.

You see, he took time out from vacation chores to pitch a league softball game, and kind of set the opposing hitters up in Yakima on their ears.

It all happened when Guy, a local insurance man, struck up a conversation with one of the league players while visiting relatives in Yakima, a Washington city of some 32,000. Through that grapevine, he learned that one of the teams was to say a doubleheader later in the day, and that they were "hurling" for a pitcher.

He was asked to tend to the pitching chores, and went on to hurl a no-hitter. Two batters reached base off him during the game, one by a walk and the other when hit by a pitched pellet.

SHARPSHOOTERS—Mildred Sparks (standing), with a 572 reading, was declared winner of the recent Canyon Gun Club Auxiliary shoot. Seated with her rifles are Zora Lee McKinney at left, who was second with 605, and Bobbie Krause, third with a mark of 682. The next auxiliary shoot is set for August 5, and will be a "three-in-one" affair offering rifle at 50 yards with peepsight, 25 caliber and down at 100 yards with scope, and 25 caliber and up at 100 yards with scope. Competing members may enter any or all of the three phases.

Colt Leaguers Eye Sectional Tourney

"Off to Lovington" is the word for Snyder's Colt League aggregate, which will taste its first playoff action Monday night in the sectional tournament being staged in that Eastern New Mexico city. Snyder drew the host team for its initial fling in the double elimination tourney. They will get together in the second game of Monday evening beginning at 8 p.m. Prior to that, the other two teams represented in the tournament—Littlefield and El Paso—will kick things off in a 6 p.m. contest.

Included on the Snyder roster are Kenneth Gay, Jay Williamson, Blake Roberts, Leslie Brown, Jim Marcum, Barry Hughes, Bob Wadell, Tony Foreman, Donnie Daniel, Jimmy Heathington, Jimmy Inzer, Jimmy Featherston, Tom Kincaid, Harley Bynum, Jimmy Weaver, and alternates Yogi Gilgeland and Rob Hall.

Brown is the team's leading hitter. He compiled a .421 average for the regular campaign.

Surging National League Rates All-Star Game Nod

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The National League, beaten only once in the last seven summer meetings, will be out to even the over-all series with the American League in the season's second major league All-Star game at Wrigley Field Monday.

A 3-1 winner in the first game, at Washington earlier this month, the National League squad rules a 6 to 5 favorite to sweep this year's two-game set, extend its winning streak to five and square the over-all series at 16 victories apiece.

The National League has trailed the AL ever since the opening game loss, at Chicago's Comiskey Park in 1933, and at one time was behind 12 games apiece.

A crowd of between 35,000 and 40,000 is expected for what may be the last of the two-game All-Star program, begun in 1939. The players favor its continuance, but the American League went on record last year as favoring a return to a single annual event. An official decision is not expected to be made here since no league meetings have been scheduled.

The game, starting at 1 p.m. EST, will be telecast and broadcast nationally by NBC.

Because of the uncertainty of availability due to the heavy weekend schedule, the managers—Ralph Houk of the American and Fred Hutchinson of the National—have decided to hold up the nomination of the opening pitchers until Sunday night when they will also announce the batting orders.

It could well be a renewal of the opening game duel between right-handers Don Drysdale of Los Angeles and Jim Bunning of Detroit. Each hurled three scoreless innings in that first game.

In compliance with the rules, each manager added enough players to increase his squad to 28 players, three more than in the first game. Houk added two batters—Yogi Berra of New York and Pete Runnels of Boston, and two pitchers—Ken McBride of Los Angeles and southpaw Jim Kaat of Minnesota.

At the same time, he dropped right-hander Bill Monbouquette of Boston and retained Milt Pappas, who had replaced Hoyt Wilhelm when his Baltimore teammate sustained a minor injury.

Hutchinson added three long ball hitters—Cincinnati's Frank Robinson, Chicago's Billy Williams and Milwaukee's Ed Matthews—and replaced pitcher Bob Shaw of Milwaukee with right-hander Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia.

A hand injury to Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax, a member of the first game squad, leaves the National with only one southpaw, the veteran Warren Spahn. Spahn himself was an 11th hour first game replacement for Milwaukee outfielder Jerry Aaron, injured on the eve of the first game. Aaron is back on the team for the second game and Spahn remains.

The seven-man National League pitching staff includes right-hander Juan Marichal, San Francisco; Dick Donovan, Cleveland; Jim Kaat (10-9) went 1-0 in the distance for the Twins and limited Cleveland to five hits. He showed no effects from an accident in his last outing when he lost three teeth as a grounder hit him in the mouth. He struck out eight. Minnesota now has won 10 of its last 12 games, while the Indians have dropped 12 of their last 14.

Fire Power drove in Minnesota's first two runs in the fifth inning with a double.

The Indians scored one run in their half of the fifth. Bubba Phillips was hit by a pitch and raced to third on Tito Francona's single. When Green and Bob Allison allowed Jerry Kindall's pop fly to drop between them, Phillips scored.

Cleveland tied the score in the sixth on a single by John Romano, an error by Bernie Allen and Francona's single.

Minnesota 000 020 003—5 19 1 Cleveland 000 011 000—2 5 1 Kaat and Batters: Lefebvre, 1-0; Bell, 1-0; and Romano W. Kaat (10-9), L-Bell (7-9).

Merchants Suffer 1-0 Tournney Loss

ABILENE—White and Everett of this city sent the Snyder Merchants tumbling down to their second 1-0 tournament loss here Friday to eliminate them from the District 11 ASA Softball Tournament.

Abilene Athletic Supply nipped the Snyder nine 1-0 in 10 innings in the Monday opener of the double elimination meet, then Snyder came back Wednesday to whip down Woodmen of the World by 8-0 behind the no-hit mound effort of Lonnie Crosby.

Crosby had a no-hitter working for him in Friday's contest, also until Jerry Epperson led off the sixth with a single. He was left stranded, though, and White and Everett broke the scoreless deadlock in the seventh with the help of an unearned run.

Hub Ingraham reached base by error to set the stage for the winning run in the seventh. He was then sacrificed to second by Joe

Cash Clouts Roundtripper In Tiger Win

DETROIT (AP)—Norm Cash, hitting only .237 in defense of his batting crown, strengthened his bid for the home run title with an other tape measure shot Saturday as the Detroit Tigers trounced Los Angeles 6-1.

The three-run blast, Cash's 29th, landed atop the right field roof at the 370-foot mark in right center.

Cash, whose 1961 average of .361 was the highest in the major leagues, leads the American League home run race by two over the Angels' slumping Leon Wainwright.

The Tiger slugger had eight homers in his last 12 hits. Cash's homer off Dan Osinski during the Tigers' four-run flurry in the sixth enabled Paul Foytack to breeze to his eighth victory. Foytack allowed eight hits and the Angels scored their only run on Lee Thomas' single in the sixth.

Los Angeles 000 001 000—1 6 0 Detroit 020 004 000—6 6 0 Belinsky, Boiz (3), Osinski (5), Fowler (7) and Rodgers, Foytack and Brown. W-Foytack (8-4), L-Belinsky (7-6). Home run—Detroit, Cash (29).

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

OAXACA, Mexico—Twenty minutes by auto from this colonial city of Mercedes Benz agencies puts you in primitive territory. And at the Oaxaca airport, you can charter light planes that will fly you into mountain villages you can't reach by car.

At the ruins of Monte Alban, overlooking the Valley of Oaxaca from atop the high mountain, we watched Zapotec Indians perform a ceremonial dance on a temple patio. They danced in the bright Oaxaca sun, wearing the same costumes their ancestors wore in the same place more than a thousand years ago.

Mr. Burton Glinn took 436 photographs of the whole business for a story Holiday magazine is doing on Mexico.

Personally, I would die if I had to pay for all this film. But Mr. Glinn considers it merely a few hours of work from which the editor will pick the best shot.

Most of the Oaxaca region is Zapotec. Benito Juarez was a Zapotec shepherd boy who became president of Mexico after he succeeded in deporting Mr. Napoleon III's men nearly a hundred years ago.

The Zapotec language is official in most villages hereabouts. It sounds like Italian spoken with a sore throat. Indians speak Spanish with the lyrical Zapotec swing to outsiders. The children go to school in Spanish and eat beans and tortillas in Zapotec at home.

The Zapotecs, like most Indians in Mexico, are natural cutups. Every man Jack seems and every Indian looking like the books say, while Mr. Glinn aimed his cameras. As soon as he stopped to reload, the Zapotecs clowned like school kids during recess.

In the village of Santo Tomas, about 16 miles south of here, an ancient Zapotec lady named Dona Anacleto sat in the shade of a tree weaving multicolored wool belts. A group of Zapotec ladies in waiting stood around assisting on the project and checking the street.

One lady sat near Dona Anacleto, combing wool from a basket. Another rolled the strand into a thread. Others dyed the threads different colors and twisted it into balls of yarn.

It takes a day to make a belt which sells for 64 cents U.S.

Indian gentlemen herded oxen past with a polite "adios" coming from the day's plowing in the fields. They still use hand-made wooden plows and aggravate the oxen with long cane poles.

Santo Tomas is a village of narrow dirt street, green cactus fences and thatched huts. Rich live in adobe houses and have horses, chickens and several oxen. A few houses down the street, two elderly gentlemen sat in a clean swept yard sorting out beans on a woven mat. Three dogs slept in the shade of the thatched house. The oxen stood beneath a thorny tree looking like they had hanged over, while Mr. Glinn took his pictures.

There is no electricity in Santo Tomas and no television. Consequently, the population is not up to date on the Lone Ranger and other Six Pistol Epics.

One of the bean sorting gentlemen had heard about life in the United States. He thought it was very different from life in Santo Tomas. U. S. ladies subject the men to mental household tasks such as doing the dishes, he said. And added that in Santo Tomas, the men run the show.

A Zapotec lady appeared in the door of the thatched house and said to hurry up with the beans. In a very severe voice, the gentleman quickly changed the subject and asked how were things in Oaxaca while he hurried up with the beans.

In my opinion, the female race applies the same technique to the suffering males all over the world. And as effective in Santo Tomas as it is in Philadelphia.

Red Propaganda Blooms In Japan

By CONRAD FINK
TOKYO (AP)—The question before the class was the demand that Russia return islands it seized from Japan before World War II.

"Teacher," the boy asked, "why won't the Soviet Union give the northern islands back to Japan?" "Because," the teacher replied, "the U. S. imperialists would build rocket bases on them."

An expert who has watched Japanese education closely cites this classroom dialogue as an example of Communist propaganda presented to Japanese children.

The pipeline, he says, runs through members of the Japan Teachers' Union. This union often shows more concern with the "class war" and "American imperialism" than with teachers' wages or hours.

The Japanese Education Ministry reports 3,000 to 5,000 union teachers are known to be Communist party members while thousands more sympathize with Moscow or Peking. The union has 57,000 members.

U. S. officials, far from sure about Japan's future course in international affairs, do not conceal worry about pro-Communist teachers. On occasion some of these teachers have turned out for anti-American demonstrations—taking students with them.

The Education Ministry says it is powerless to crush communist elements within the union. It lacks police powers due to fears of a return to pre-war control of education. Before the war a central-

Speedy Troop Deployment To Be Tested

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has announced it is ending three battle groups to Europe for six-month trials beginning Oct. 1 in an expanded trial of its new troop rotation plan.

The program is designed to train units for rapid deployment anywhere in the world in emergencies. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara also has said it could cut by $1,000 to $3,000 per soldier the annual outflow of U. S. gold.

In announcing the expanded test Wednesday, the Army said groups sent overseas under the rotation program will not be permitted to take their dependents.

Two of the three 1,500-man groups to be stationed in Europe for six months will be battle groups from the 2nd Infantry Division at Ft. Benning, Ga. The other group has not yet been designated.

They will replace two battle groups of the 8th Infantry Division in Germany, and a third overseas group not yet selected.

One troop rotation move already has been completed. A battle group of the 4th Infantry Division returned to Ft. Lewis, Wash., and was replaced by a group from the 1st Infantry Division, Ft. Riley, Kan.

Holding Co. Shows Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—Allegheny Corp., a huge holding company controlled by Texans, earned $677,089 in the first six months, compared with a loss last year of nearly $400,000.

The company, headed by the Murdock brothers of Dallas, controls the New York Central Railroad and the Minneapolis Mutual fund complex, Investors Diversified Services.

Allegheny President John Murdock of Dallas said the earnings reflected an increase of 25 cents in the quarterly dividend of 108. He said net assets of Allegheny declined to $111,367,256 on June 30 from $124,338,297 a year earlier because of the stock market slump.

Centennial Celebration Scheduled In Uganda

JINJA, Uganda (AP)—Just 100 years ago today the English explorer John Hanning Speke discovered the Nile, the world's longest river. The centenary was marked by a trade fair and pageant, attended by Nicholas Speke, great-grandnephew of the explorer.

Jinja (pop. 30,000) sits astride the river as it pours from Lake Victoria past Ripon Falls.

Over 4,000 miles to the north, the Nile reaches the Mediterranean.

The source spot Speke reached now is covered with water backed up for a hydroelectric project. Queen Elizabeth II in 1955 opened the Owens Falls Dam project which turned Jinja into an industrial center.

Uganda, a British protectorate, will become an independent nation Oct. 9.

PRADO'S RELEASE ANTICIPATED

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Declaring itself "a democratic government," Peru's military junta redoubled its efforts Saturday to win diplomatic recognition from dobbing American neighbors.

President Manuel Prado, imprisoned by the military in a coup May 18, was expected to be released at any time as one gesture. His six-year term as president ended at midnight.

As 12 million Peruvians began a three-day jubilation of the 141st anniversary of independence from Spain, the junta restored all civil rights suspended at the time of the uprising.

Recognition, the general added: "We want our friends to remain friends. We want their aid. But we want aid with dignity."

The military junta declared the June 10 presidential elections were fraudulent and overthrew Prado when he refused to nullify the results. They threw out the election results and abolished congress.

They feared victim Raul Haya de la Torre, an old foe of the military, would be elected by congress. He led in the voting for Junta members expressed confidence that Washington and other Latin American capitals that followed the U.S. lead in suspending diplomatic relations soon would recognize the regime.

Gen. Ricardo Perez Godey, junta president, set the tone of his remarks at the first of what he said would be many meetings with the common people Friday night.

About 150 men, women and children marched into the presidential palace's beautiful gold salon carrying the Peruvian flag and banners saying "The Junta is the people's government." Some claimed to represent the slum dwellers.

The laborers boasted they had refused to join this week's general strike against the junta. The slum dwellers called for government housing projects. Then Perce Godoy spoke.

Reiterating his pledge that the junta would prepare the nation for elections next June, the general said:

“There will be land, houses, work and food. There will be schools. First we will decrease the cost of living. We can't wait years. These are problems of the day, of the hour.”

"We of the armed forces are threatens her majority in the middle class and like you, we are House of Representatives. of the people, by the people and Finance Minister Felix Dias for the people." Bandaranaiké, the prime minis-

To the cheers of the little gathering, Perez Godoy declared: "We will do all this in 12 months not one day more. Not one day more will the military junta govern Peru. The people will prevail."

Social Security Eligibility Advised Of Rule Changes

BIG SPRING—According to Evelyn L. Fisher, District Manager, Big Spring Social Security Office, more than one million eligible people benefit checks for the year. If earnings are over $1200, the new rules frequently permit the payment of some social security benefits. If both 67 years old, fully ed, and eligible for $1800 a in social security benefits, the husband were working

Under the changed law, the eligible for social security retirement payments that turn up in $1200 a year still receive full benefits. The amount payable depends on how much over $1200 a person receives from other sources. If he or she normally receives from other sources less than $1200 a month, he or she will receive the full $1200 benefit.

For each $2 of earnings between $1200 and $1700 only $1 of benefit payments is withheld. For earnings above the $1700 bracket, $1 of benefits is withheld for each $1 of earnings.

For example, Mr. Fisher would receive a married couple's $1200 benefit plus $1000 in other income.

Despite the solidly entrenched Labor's general strike failed. Opposition moves to have congress convene secretly collapsed. The supreme court ordered conversion set only Friday. Juan Cardinal Landaruri Ricketts, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Peru, said the church would find it necessary to work with the government.

The course, completed July 27, was an advanced study in counseling for certified counselors, and was under the joint sponsorship of Texas Tech and the National Defense Act of 1958.

Of the 400 applications received, only 30 were selected to participate. Those attending the course were from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Illinois.

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—The British liner Canberra sailed for New York today with a record number of passengers on a low-fare voyage that made crossing the Atlantic cheaper per mile than riding a London bus.

The 45,000-ton vessel of the Peninsular and Oriental Line carried 1,700 passengers and a crew of 892. P and O said this was the largest number of tourists ever taken across the Atlantic in one ship.

Minimum tourist class fare is $201.60 for the 6,325 mile round trip. This works out at about three cents a mile, or less per mile than it costs to cross London by a double-decker bus. Passengers will use the ship as their motel while in New York.

Lea County, New Mexico, with 26 rigs making, hole, continues to pace Permian Basin Empire rotary drilling.

Scurry County showed an increase over last week. A total of five rigs were counted against four last week.

Borden County was the same as last week with two; Kent the same with one. Fisher County dropped from nine to five.

Luke 8:45 (read verses 43-48)

Jesus had amazingly "discerning" powers. He could look into a person's life and know exactly what that person was, and what that person needed most. On this occasion, before us, Jesus felt power drain from him when a little woman of devout faith reached out from the pressing crowd and touched him. Out of hundreds who touched him, he singled this one out. Why? Because he felt the tug of human need upon his heart and responded to that tug. Because he, who was of great faith, felt the linking of his soul with one who also had faith, and this is the greatest power in all the universe.

Jesus is always ready to give of himself to those who call upon him with faith in hours of great need.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

THERE WAS A 15-foot sugar maple tree in New York City's skyline recently. The tree was used in ceremonies marking completion of the 50th and top floor of the new Americana Hotel. Hotel officials explained that a tree or branch has long been a symbol for completion of high construction.

In a so-called test-tube forest on the Yacolt Burn of southwestern Washington state, experimenters determined that trees fertilized with nitrogen produced four times as many seed cones last year as untreated ones.

Tests with Douglas fir to determine the effect of fertilizer on seed cone production disclosed that diameter growth of trees had increased 50 per cent since the project started in 1955. Height growth was increased 40 per cent.

Do limbs of young trees move higher from the ground as the tree grows? Forestry folk say no. The limbs always remain the same distance from the ground. Limbs thicken and lengthen as the tree grows, but the tree gains in height only at its crown.

Trees do most of their year's growing in the spring. A Davey tree expert says trees have had most of the season's twig and branch growth by the time they have burst into full leaf. This is especially true of those that set terminal buds, such as oaks, maples, ash, pine, spruce and fir.

If your tree has grown less than a few inches of new wood, or foliage is sparse or off color, your tree may be signalling trouble.

Enjoy your trees in the summer, but don't subject them to unnecessary dangers.

They should not be exposed to heat from your outdoor grill, or suffer trampling above the roots, or be roped for clotheslines or wires for outdoor lights. Clotheslines and wires may girdle and damage trunks or limbs. Hot lights can burn close foliage.

Trampling packs earth around tree roots, cutting off air in the soil and contributes to run-off of rainfall that should seep into the earth.

If your foundation shrubs are close together, mildew and mold may be caused by poor ventilation. Thin out dense plantings or prune them to keep them apart. Application of fungicides also will help control fungus.

Keep cool. That's the way to store your corn after harvest to prevent loss of quality. Harvest sweet corn in the morning while it is cool. Corn that gets hot after harvest, before being used, loses quality because the sugar changes to starch.

Perhaps you've heard this recipe for preparing corn to get the utmost quality. It has become a stock story for attendants at roadside vegetable stands.

You bring your water to the boiling point, go to the garden, pick the corn, then run—walk—back to the kitchen, shock and drop promptly into the pot.

It's Spoon Lickin' Good!

Small boys may not understand about the laws of sanitation, but they know a good thing when they taste it.

Few things taste better to children than peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. Jam is as good, too, but a trifle better, than jelly with peanut butter. It is also cheaper and more quickly made and easier to spread than jelly.

All berries, allskin grapes, apricots, peaches and plums can be turned into delicious jam. Reliable recipes come with the better known brands of fruit peels. The cooking is quicker and the yield larger when pectin is used. However, if color-plums are fast and you don't want to see pectin here, a good way to make the jam is to use

Use any tart variety of plums or cherries. Add sugar, salt and water. Boil rapidly until mixture thickens. This will be about 9 dg. F., where the boiling point of water rises in your locality. Pour into hot jars into pint or half pint fruit jars. Put down lid on jar; screw band larger when pectin is used. How, light.

NOTE: Jam may stick and you don't want to see pectin here, a good way to make the jam is to use

Driftwood Makes For Conversation

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Every home needs a conversation piece, particularly one that shows off the home owner's creative effort. It doesn't have to be elaborate. A piece of driftwood, for instance, can be ideal, as this home indicates.

"I have collected a good deal of driftwood from various places and have made a number of interesting displays for our summer cottage. We have a driftwood lamp base, driftwood flower arrangements and driftwood in shadow boxes. But my greatest find was a four-foot long seasoned trunk with three gnarled but graceful branches. I don't know what to do with it to get the greatest use out of it. I have thought of putting it on our terrace, but I wonder if you have any suggestions for using it in a more practical way."

If the surface of the trunk can be polished flat on one side it could make a lovely coffee table balanced on wrought-iron end pieces. Scroll or filigree designed bases would be prettier than severe contemporary style end pieces, offering more warmth to the wood. The iron could be left black or it could even be painted in one of the warm tones that harmonizes with your home furnishings. A vibrant blue, mustard, deep wine red, and even a vivid orange would be lovely if one of the colors suits your cottage.

Another idea could be to place the tree outdoors (perhaps in the pot you mentioned) spotlighting it in such a way that an enormous shadow is thrown on one side of the house. If the branches resemble arms you might get a ballerina effect in the shadow; wings could give you bird motif. A person who has had some success with driftwood usually can alter the wood slightly, keeping its basic lines so that the piece can become an unusual design, and in its own way an interesting work of art.

"We have a large living room, 32 x 20 at one end of which is a large sofa, two chairs and a long live-oak coffee table. The other end of the room is a large picture window, a beautiful view of a lake and four chairs. When we have company however, everyone congregates at the sofa end of the room. No one seeks out the chairs at the other end of the room, where we have a lovely view, so that even though we have a large room, it always looks crowded and uncomfortable."

For one thing, the first guest usually seeks out the sofa, others come in and follow suit until comfort space is used up. Then others sit on the floor or stand. You can solve it by leading the first guest to the window, ditto second and third.

But an easier solution would be to move the coffee table away from the sofa. If it is at an angle it will still be useful to hold food, cigarettes and glasses. Or another table could be put at the other end of the room, but in that case you will have two huddles. You could remove the large coffee table from the room and use only small, very low table next to each chair, large enough to hold an ash tray and glass. That way people will push their chairs up a bit and talk across a room. A tall, long table behind the sofa could push the sofa forward and away from the wall to help achieve that end.

Large rooms always seem dreary but their very size often intimidates guests. It should be decorated to make it look smaller and for color effect even though spaciousness is required.

Ham And Peach

Surprise your family with luscious Ham and Peach Souffle Sandwich for supper. This unusual casserole sandwich features a milk and egg mixture poured over open-faced ham and peaches sandwiched before baking. In the oven the bread absorbs the custard mixture to become fluffy and souffle-like in texture. For four servings spread 4 slices enriched bread with butter or margarine and place in bottom of a greased 8-inch square baking dish. Place one slice boiled ham then one fresh, frozen or canned peach half on each bread slice. Brush peaches with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 cup milk to 2-beaten eggs and mix well. Pour egg mixture over sandwiches. Bake in moderate oven (350 dg. F.) about 35 minutes or until bread is puffy yet firm.

Like the flavor of caraway seed? Add a little of it to small-curd cream-style cottage cheese and serve as a spread for bread or crackers.

MORE THAN ONE MILLION homes in all parts of the United States are now heated by electricity. Industry sources say an additional 300,000 will be electrically heated within the next year. By 1970 the total is expected to pass the five million mark, including new construction and home remodeling.

Among the questions that naturally come to the mind of a home-owner considering electric heat are these: How is it installed? How well does it work? Is it expensive?

There are two general types of electric heating. In one the heat is generated by a resistance element, or coil, similar to the wires that heat up an electric toaster. The other, a heat pump, extracts heat from the outside air and pumps it into the house. During the summer, a heat pump cools and dehumidifies.

Resistance heating is of four types—baseboard, wall panel, ceiling cable or panel, and the electric furnace.

Baseboard units send up a uniform curtain of warm air from floor to ceiling. Normally, they are placed along exterior walls to supply heat to a room where it tends to be the coldest.

Wall panels radiate the heat from a thin panel mounted on the surface of, or recessed into, the wall. Some of them have fans to circulate the air.

Ceiling cable is concealed behind the plaster or plasterboard. Because the cable or a radiant heating panel lies above the entire room, there is even distribution of heat at low intensity.

With baseboard, wall, or ceiling heat, each room has its own thermostat. Temperatures can be varied from room to room. Bedrooms, for example, can be kept cooler than children's playrooms or living areas. A bathroom can be kept warm.

One kind of resistance heating, the electric furnace, is a central heating plant. As with a furnace using any type of fuel, warm air is distributed through ducts. The major difference is that an electric resistance element replaces fuel burner and heat exchanger.

remove excess water, just as preshrunk fabrics cost a little more. Basically, that's what kiln-drying is: preshrinking. It is done by placing the lumber in kilns or giant ovens so that moisture is removed through a uniform method. This prevents uneven shrinkage and structural problems later on. When lumber shrinks evenly, as it does when it has been seasoned properly, it becomes stronger. Even more important, joints stay tight, nails and screws hold better, and the wood does not readily reabsorb moisture.

From me to you A DAILY VOW

"I have loved you with an everlasting love; therefore I have continued my faithfulness to you." Jeremiah 31:3

What makes a man continue to be faithful to unworthy, unresponsive, self-loving people? The world's usual standard is: "Love those who love you and curse those who do not love you." Those who do not respond to your love and faithfulness, they're just no good.

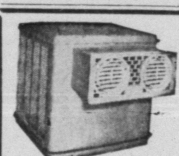

But what would happen to you and me if God were to use this same philosophy on us? There would be no hope for us. We would all be condemned, for we are unworthy, unresponsive, and self-loving.

What makes God continue to be faithful to us? He has loved us with an everlasting love. Everlasting love knows no bounds or limits. He does not have because of the worth of the object, for the response gained, nor for the love returned. He loves because it is of his nature to love—He wants to love.

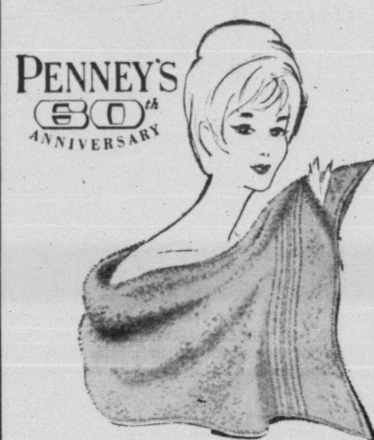

A man will be faithful to all kinds of people only when he loves with an everlasting love.

Camera Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
A photograph is a compelling force which impels countless Americans to grab their cameras, load up with film and head for scenic vistas abroad. That must leave a vacuum and you know how nature abhors a vacuum. To fill that void, the same compelling force recently unloaded a large group of photographers "midst the skyscrapers and canyons of New York City." It was quite a switch, however, to find that this was a group of 80 Scandinavian photographers, members of the Federation of Nordic Photographers, who are promoting travel in the United States through photography. Seeing them darting around on my home territory taught me that the sights and scenes to which I've become accustomed look mighty exciting and dramatic when viewed through a foreigner's viewfinder. I felt even more sheepish when I heard about their sightseeing boat trip around Manhattan. A seasoned group of expert cameramen, many of them professional press photographers in Denmark, they snapped away at the Statue of Liberty with machine-gun rapidity just like any other group of excited tourists. As a typical New Yorker, born and raised, I haven't yet gotten around to visiting this world-famed landmark. Nor have I taken her picture yet. The trouble is that it's too conveniently close. This visit of the Scandinavian photographers is the first click in a program welcomed by photographic and travel agencies. Other groups of amateur and professional photographers throughout the world are being encouraged to travel and record the sights of this country. The pictures they get will be organized into traveling exhibits which will tour the major cities in the world. While in New York, the Danish press photographers have arranged to work in small groups for several days in the city's newspapers, magazines and press associations. In return, members of the New York Press Photographers

Miss Callaway Honored With Gift Tea

An arrangement of bronze dahlia in a brass urn centered the table laid with brown organza over gold taffeta. Miss Beverly Rogers presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. A. C. Floyd, Jr. assisted in serving. The honoree was presented with an electric skillet and toaster from the hostesses. Fifty guests attended. Party fare: hollow out small or medium-sized cooked meats and fill with drained bottled grated horseradish mixed with a little sour cream. Delightful with cold sliced beef.

Straighten Up—And Look Better Now

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Newsfeatures Writer

Treat yourself to a posture pick-up if your swim suit shows an S-curve.

The student's slouch earned by bending over books all year is not easy to hide in summer. Shoulders fall forward and the upper back bumps when large muscles on either side of the spine lose tone. This causes neckaches and backaches.

You can improve your figure tremendously merely by improving your posture. Even the girl who is in a perennial slouch can suddenly appear inches taller, improve the appearance of her bosom, flatten her derriere and her abdomen.

Develop Good Habits
The first lesson is simple: Stand against a wall as tall as you can. Lift your head from shoulders, your shoulders up from your rib cage, your rib cage out of your waist. Push your spine at the waistline into the wall, holding the position for a few minutes.

The swimming stroke can be done at home as well as at the beach at any time through the year. Line up two or three straight-backed chairs and lie down with shoulders up to the rim of the end chair as that arms are free. Swing arms up, downward and backward as you do when in the water, and you have a good exercise for your chest.

Note how it lifts your bosom, flattens your middle as you walk 10 steps away from the wall in that position. You'll feel better and taller if you'll do this posture exercise several times a day and remain conscious of it wherever you are.

When a girl gets in the habit of standing with her abdomen pushed forward, letting her knees sag and throwing her spinal column into reverse, the S-shape may crowd vital organs and throw bones out of alignment. Sitting or reclining in a slouched position becomes a habit, too.

Backstroke Good Exercise
A high bosom can be more than just a good bra or well-fitting garment. Muscles that lie under the breasts can weaken and not offer proper support to tissues. The backstroke in swimming often is recommended by doctors.

Girls who have large bosoms may be helped by a general weight reduction plan, if weight is not lost so fast that tissues in that area sag. A good brassiere that gives support beneath the bathing suit will help.

Tight brassieres won't make you look smaller. Instead, they flatten out the bosom, making it look even larger. A good bra should offer cleavage, roundness and the support that is essential to minimizing a large bustline. Some girls are so shy they try to minimize it by slouching. It doesn't work, it ruins your posture, and, in this day of Jayne Mansfield and Sophia Loren, why try in the first place?

Auction Sales Hit High

NEW YORK (AP)—Old Masters, Chinese art, rare books and manuscripts provided the highlights of the 1961-62 season at Parke-Bernet Galleries, Inc., nation's foremost art auction firm.

The 76 sales brought a gross total of $14,127,516, an all-time high for the galleries.

The total was swelled by the $4,679,250 bid in the space of an hour for the 24 pictures in the Erickson collection, which was more than twice the amount of any previous auction of paintings in the world.

Included in that auction last November was Rembrandt's "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer," which brought $2,300,000, the highest known price ever paid for a painting. It now hangs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art here.

The world auction record also was broken by the $875,000 paid in the same sale for Fragonard's "La Lisette," now in the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

More than $9 million was collected for the nearly 2,000 paintings sold during the season. Although the Rembrandt and other Old Masters led the parade, there was strong support for the moderns. The Javiler collection of 39 paintings and sculptures brought more than $1 million.

Leslie A. Hyam, president of the firm, said that "in other categories, we found collectors' appetites for French 18th Century furniture showed no abatement. English furniture gained in demand and American more than held its preeminence, probably stimulated by the activities of Mrs. Kennedy's Fine Arts Commission."

Back in favor again are Oriental rugs, said Hyam, "and the small amount of Chinese art offered, which continues in scarce supply."

was avidly bid for. Sales of rare books and manuscripts exceeded pre-auction estimates in almost every case; here again, as in Chinese art, demand exceeds supply.

"The number of new collectors, coast to coast, and the increased participation of foreign buyers in major sales was unprecedented."

Major changes in the stock market often affect the willingness of wealthy collectors to bid vigorously. The firm's first major sale after the late May break in the stock exchange was at the Julia A. Berwind estate in Newport, R. I. It brought in $415,292, which was almost $100,000 higher than pre-sale estimates.

Quick Picnics

Spur-of-the-moment picnics are easy as opening the freezer door if you have sandwiches wrapped and ready for packing into picnic bag or basket. Most sandwich fillings freeze well. Some foods to avoid freezing are: cooked egg white, mayonnaise or salad dressing and raw vegetables such as tomatoes, cucumber, lettuce, radishes, green pepper and carrots. Carefully wrapped sandwiches will keep in the freezer up to three weeks. Use plastic wrap or aluminum foil for a good air-tight seal. Keep other picnic foods in the freezer, too—cookies, cupcakes, tarts, hamburger and hot dog buns, preshaped hamburger patties and hot dogs.

The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes in Alaska was discovered only 45 years ago by a National Geographic Society expedition headed by Dr. Robert F. Griggs.

Basic Steps In First Aid Care

Each year, thousands of people die "needlessly" from heavy bleeding, oral poisoning and breath stoppage.

In order to combat these three most common emergency situations, here are the basic steps to follow in each case.

HEAVY BLEEDING:

1. In arterial bleeding, place a thick, preferably sterile gauze pad directly over the wound and apply light pressure.

2. After heavy bleeding has stopped, keep the victim quiet and elevate the wounded portion.

3. Until professional aid arrives, have the victim slowly drink one-half teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of baking soda dissolved in a quart of water. (For infants, use only warm water.)

ORAL POISONING:

1. First, dilute the poison to minimize its effects. Milk or ordinary tap water should be given in large amounts.

2. Next, induce vomiting, except with poisons such as strong acids (carbolic acid, hydrochloric or sulfuric acid), lye products or kerosene.

3. Pause to note specific antidotes on the container and call the nearest physician.

BREATH STOPPAGE:

1. This may occur in cases of drowning, asphyxiation, suffocation and other accidents. First, make sure the breathing passage is open. Place the victim on his back, tilting his head back so that the chin is pointed upward, and then pull or push the jaw into a jutting-out position.

2. If breathing does not resume immediately, begin artificial respiration. Mouth-to-mouth method is the most effective. Open your mouth and place it tightly over the victim's mouth. At the same time, pinch his nostrils shut or make sure the nostrils are covered by your cheek.

3. For an adult, blow vigorously about 12 breaths per minute. For an infant or a small child, blow shallow breaths appropriate to the child's size, probably about 20 breaths per minute.

4. The artificial respiration may have to be carried on for quite a long period, especially in cases of drug poisoning, carbon monoxide poisoning and electric shock. And it should be continued until the victim begins to breathe for himself or until the victim is unquestionably dead.

First-aid is a life saver. Its ability to perform the proper life-saving function is necessarily dependent upon the administrator. Commit these techniques to memory and feel assured that in an emergency, you will be able to administer first-aid, properly and quickly.

Congo Government Heads Somewhat 'Short-Handed'

By PETER GROSE
LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP)—The Congolese Minister of Interior had to take two hours out of his own working day to deliver an envelope to another government office. There were no messengers who knew where the office was.

Government ministers open their own mail — everything from diplomatic notes to electric bills. They cannot rely on secretaries or assistants to sort out important papers for their personal attention.

Individual citizens with grievances think nothing of telephoning a minister. Frequently ministers have to answer their own telephones.

A European political scientist studying the Congo's smaller civil service came up with a conclusion which helps explain the confusion in Congolese politics: 'No Congolese minister can give any order—no matter how important or trivial—and be certain his own staff will carry it out.'

Training of future civil servants is one of the most constructive U. S. efforts in helping the Congo.

Even before June 30, 1960—the day of independence—Patrice Lumumba and other leaders consulted the Ford Foundation about the absence of qualified Congolese administrators.

Only one Congolese had ever been given an important post in the colonial regime — and he, tribal leader Jean Bolikango, was running for president. The problem became acute when anti-Belgian feelings forced the withdrawal of thousands of Belgian administrators who were to have aided the new government over the transition period.

Behind the headlines of chaos and anarchy of those days, negotiations were under way for the start of a training academy for future civil servants.

The first hundred or so graduates will be available for government service in 1964. About 200 students are being admitted on scholarships each year, after finishing secondary schools. Entrance applications exceed available places fourfold.

An extension department has been opened for the unschooled wives of students, to draw them into the world of government and diplomacy they will have to accept as wives of high officials.

Two days a week about 60 gaily robed Congolese ladies, many of them with babies snuggled on their backs, come for lessons in domestic science, hygiene and French. Most Congolese women speak tribal languages.

'The training of civil servants is a national task,' Premier Winter temperatures in Iceland are similar to those of New York City due to the Gulf Stream that warms the waters of the island in the north Atlantic.

Cyrille Adoula has said. 'The government will pursue this with every available means and encouragement.'

So far the government has contributed $250,000 to get the school going, a sum approximately matched by the U. N. and the Ford Foundation. The yearly budget is for $400,000.

Students take basic courses in history, geography and mathematics, then move on to political economics, public and constitutional law and civil administration.

There are special courses in African history and geography, and Congolese tribal law.

Advanced students can study English. Various programs of on-the-job training and foreign travel are being organized. About 30 students were booked for a study tour of the United States this summer.

Starting originally with a handful of teachers from Leopoldville's Roman Catholic Lovanium University, the faculty has grown to 31 professors, from Belgium, the United States, Britain, Canada, Greece, Lebanon, Syria, Nationalist China and Guinea.

'There is a heartening enthusiasm for learning among these students,' says the school's secretary, general, James T. Harris Jr., an American Negro.

'We have made it clear to them that this is no prestige gimmick; that they have to work to get through. If they don't make the grade, they leave.'

Peter Grose is chief AP correspondent in the Congo. He is a native of Evanston, Ill., who went to Yale and Oxford Universities.

For Jittery Nerves, Try Some 'Zen'

By KENNETH ISHII
TOKYO (AP)—If the hectic pace of 20th Century living has you jumpy, edgy, irritable or a plain nervous wreck, a daily session of Zen meditation may be what you need.

This is not a commercial. It is the conclusion of a group of Zen Buddhist experts and scientists. After an exhaustive study, they report that Zen meditation is beneficial as a therapy for mental stresses to which people of advanced, industrialized societies are subjected.

Results of the study have, in fact, led several Japanese firms to send their employees periodically to Zen sessions, and in many cases there have been reports of improved efficiency and more harmonious office relationships. Zen meditation of this type does not require a deep understanding of Buddhist teachings. Neither is it incompatible with Christianity or other religions, say officials of Zen's Soto sect under whose auspices meditation sessions are being encouraged.

According to Osai Minegishi, planning section chief of the Soto sect's Tokyo headquarters, meditation simply requires the ability to concentrate. 'There are other Buddhist sects which hold Buddha and other saints up as objects of worship, and, of course, for Christians it is God. But in the Soto sect, we believe the solutions to one's problems lie in oneself. There is no object or worship as such,' he said.

A meditation session requires that the participant clear his mind of all thoughts.

Minegishi, who supervised the recent study, said three truckloads of scientific equipment were used to test physical reactions of the participants.

Breathing during the session, he reported, was reduced to an average of 17 to 18 inhalations a minute. There was a noticeable acceleration of the pulse rate, and this was found to activate the body organs, increase hunger and build up resistance to cold. An analysis of the carbon dioxide-oxygen ratio of exhaled breath showed energy consumption to be remarkably low. Another phenomenon, he said, was the relatively slow rate of brain activity.

Zen meditation is known in Japanese as 'Za-Zen,' which literally translates as 'Sitting-Zen.' The proper posture is to sit cross-legged on the floor, back erect. The arms hang loosely out, with elbows bent so forearms rest gently on the thighs close to the body and hands meet as shown in Buddhist images.

'For Westerners, the cross-legged position is hard to assume at first,' Minegishi admits. 'Even many Japanese these days are so used to chairs instead of straw mats that they find it difficult.'

The Soto sect hopes eventually to establish meditation centers in quiet locations in Tokyo and Osaka so that an office worker can drop in for a session before the office or after work.

Junior Editors Quiz on KNIGHTS

QUESTION: How did the Knights of the Round Table receive their titles?

ANSWER: The knights of the Round Table were the followers of the legendary King Arthur of Britain, who may or may not have lived 1,500 years ago and led armies against the enemies of Christianity.

Their knighthood by King Arthur who, it is said, tapped each knight on his shoulder with his sword and dubbed him 'Sir Knight.'

According to the legend, the knights of the Round Table were the policemen of their day, riding around the countryside, helping people in distress and fighting dragons and evil men.

The name of Arthur is first mentioned in literature by a Welshman named Nennius writing about the year 500. Since then his exploits have grown into a wide body of legend, much of it pure fancy.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have not already done so, read one of the books telling the story of King Arthur and his knights.

Princess Seen With New Hairdo

LONDON (AP)—A serene and sophisticated Princess Margaret smiled out at royalty-loving Britons from the front pages of their newspapers today.

Her dark brown hair is pulled into an elegant bouffant. Her shoulders are bare.

The new portraits make her look five years younger. And at 31, a wife and mother, she has the sleekness of a fashion model. Margaret's husband, Lord Snowden, took the pictures for their visit to Jamaica next month for independence celebrations. Formerly Antony Armstrong-Jones, he was a professional photographer in his bachelor days.

Several newspapers contrasted the latest pictures with those taken of Princess Margaret in preceding years.

"She's changed," said the Daily Mail. "It is rather agreeable to see the change. Her eyes reveal most. Before she was married, they had a glint of unsophistication."

"A year later they appeared a little wiser."

"Now they are settled. Quite different eyes, lacking the uncertainty which had always shown in them. The eyes, one supposes, of a mother."

Margaret has a 9-month-old son, Viscount Linley. Lord Snowden's former colleagues in the photography world were mostly enthusiastic about the new studies.

Said Tom Hustler: "I don't think any royal photographer before has taken close-up pictures of royalty with bare shoulders, but of course this is quite common in informal portraiture and hair fashion photography."

Said Cornel Lucas: "Here we see Princess Margaret through the eyes of her husband—and the fact that he is also a very talented photographer has not prevented the husband triumphing over the professional cameraman."

"The result has great simplicity and charm for it portrays a wife rather than a princess."

Gushed the Daily Sketch: "What a difference Tony makes!"

Here's one way of making clover rolls. Place balls of yeast dough in muffin-pan cups, with kitchen scissors cut the balls into quarters, almost to the bottom.

MARCEL PROUST, famous novelist, described the little French cakes called madeleines as looking "as though they had been molded in the fluted scallop of a pilgrim's shell."

Want To Master The Art Of Baking? Summer Job: Opportunity Or Trap?

By CECILY ROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

"If at first you don't succeed at fine home baking, try try again," urges Paula Peck, a gentle smiling woman with soft brown eyes and a striking determination under her delightfully feminine ways.

"If you have the slightest desire to fill your house with the delicious aromas of baked goods, please humor it. You'll never be sorry," promises Paula. "There's always been an enormous nostalgia connected with home baking. So many of the memories that people cherish go back to childhood and the breads and cakes and other delectables a mother, an aunt or a grandmother lovingly made."

Paula has every reason to encourage cooks. In the first years of her marriage, before she had learned to cook, she and her husband "ate out." But, when her first child arrived, Paula discovered cooking experiments were fun, and baking a wonderfully satisfying art. Now she's the author of a remarkable cookbook and "consultant" to some of New York's finest restaurants.

Paula's recently published "The Fine Art of Baking," Simon and Schuster, New York, contains recipes for exquisite cakes complete with fillings and frostings; puff paste and strudel; tarts; cookies and petits fours, a few yeast breads and many coffee cakes; pastry appetizers and hors d'oeuvre. Here are generous explanations, accompanied by many line drawings, of every detail a cook needs to know in order to bake Paula's confections with success.

We have tried several recipes for the little French cakes called madeleines—immortalized by Marcel Proust in his novel "Remembrance of Things Past"—but not one so perfect as Paula's. The madeleine pans are available in the household sections of some department stores, or they may be ordered from shops specializing in kitchen equipment or from bakery supply houses. Try our small-quantity adaptation of Paula's recipe.

FRENCH MADELEINES

- 2 eggs
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 cup flour
 - 1/4 cup unsalted butter (clarified)
- In a large mixing bowl stir together the eggs, sugar and lemon rind until just combined—about 1 minute. Place over 1 or 2 inches of hot water that does not touch the bowl or boil and heat, stirring 3 or 4 times, until lukewarm to touch—5 to 10 minutes. Remove from range and water and with electric mixer beat at high speed until triple in bulk. Add vanilla. Fold in the flour, then clarified butter. Fill a pastry bag, fitted with a large plain round tube, with batter. Squirt batter into madeleine molds well-greased with clarified butter, filling them two-thirds full. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven about 10 minutes, or until tops of cakes are golden. Remove from molds immediately. Makes 24 madeleines if molds each hold 2 tablespoons.

Longbootham Reunion Held At Seminole

The descendants of Robert Brough Longbootham of Durham, England, held their second annual reunion at Gaines County Park, Seminole, on July 22. Bernard Longbootham, Sr., Snyder presided at the meeting. New officers were elected for the coming year, including T. V. Longbootham of Monahans, President; Mrs. Walter N. Burrell of Tyler discussed many interesting details of family history. Numerous photographs of personages of the Longbootham relatives in England, some dating back to the 1700's, were on display, along with an early map of Texas showing the Longbootham Land Grant.

Robert Brough Longbootham was born in Durham, England, in 1797. As a young man he took leave of his family and his native soil and sailed for America. He served in the War of 1812, having been captured by the British while serving on a United States vessel, and was pressed into service in the British Navy. After spending several years in South Carolina and Alabama, he came to Texas in 1832 with David G. Burnett. Title to a large grant of land was given him by the Mexican Government in 1835. The town of Wortham was laid out in 1871 near the center of this grant, and Mr. Longbootham made this his home until his death in 1932. He served in the war of 1836 when Texas won its independence from Mexico, and again in the war with the Indians in 1839.

Eight members attended from out of the state, and Mr. John Flam, age 81, Lamesa, was the oldest member present. Attending from Snyder were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Longbootham, Sr. and Mrs. and Mrs. W. B. Longbootham.

Sandwiches Spark Summer Breakfasts

Sunny summer mornings inspire youngsters to be out of doors as early as possible for play 'n' projects. Small-wonder then that it's hard for mothers to corral youngsters long enough to see that they get the hearty breakfasts they need.

Why not star sandwiches for easy to fix breakfasts that small fry can eat quickly. Nutritionally, sandwiches are excellent for the morning meal because they're prepared with enriched bread so generously supplied with three essential B-vitamins and food iron. A choice of fillings can add protein and other minerals and vitamins to make a truly nourishing "breakfast food."

Summertime, as in all seasons, you need the nutritional morning boost that only a good breakfast can provide. Nutritionists advise getting from 1/4 to 1/3 of the day's total nutritional and calorie requirements at breakfast-time. A basic breakfast meal plan should therefore include one serving of enriched or whole grain bread, a serving of fruit and milk or other beverage. Add, if you like, eggs or other protein-rich foods.

From this basic meal plan you'll be able to think of many good breakfast combinations centered around sandwiches. Have baked ham and sliced hard-cooked eggs between slices of whole wheat bread. Or spread a mixture of cream cheese, pineapple jam and chopped, cooked bacon on cracked wheat bread. Youngsters will like their sandwich favorite, peanut butter, topped with sliced bananas on raisin toast.

Or here's yet another way to serve sandwiches for breakfast. Fried breakfast sandwiches combine the best of two favorite foods, sandwiches and French toast. This unique treatment of the sandwich will add a party sparkle to any breakfast.

Make sandwiches as usual with your favorite fillings especially appropriate for the breakfast meal. Those fillings that combine fruit or jam and cream cheese or a salad type fillings ham or egg salad would be ideal. After filling the sandwiches, proceed as for French toast, dipping the sandwiches in an egg-milk mixture and frying quickly on both sides 'til golden brown.

Here are two recipe ideas for fried breakfast sandwiches. You'll think of other delicious combinations. Fried Tropical Breakfast Sandwich has a luscious filling of crushed pineapple, banana, chopped pecans and cream cheese spread between slices of enriched white bread. Serve this complete breakfast sandwich with glasses of milk and bacon strips, if desired.

FRIED TROPICAL BREAKFAST SANDWICH
1 1/4 cups well drained crushed pineapple (1-pound 4-ounce can)
1/4 cup mashed ripe banana
12 small bananas

- 1/4 cup softened cream cheese (4 ounces)
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 12 slices enriched white bread
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Butter or margarine for frying
Blend together pineapple, banana, cream cheese and pecans. Spread on 6 slices bread. Cover with remaining slices bread to close sandwiches. Cut each sandwich in half diagonally. Blend together thoroughly eggs, milk and salt in shallow dish. Dip each side of sandwich in egg mixture. Brown quickly on both sides in hot butter or margarine in skillet. Serve hot. Makes 6 sandwiches.

This second French toast sandwich, Deviled Marmalade Sandwich, features deviled ham combined with cream cheese, orange marmalade and orange juice. Ginger adds a bright touch of spice. Complete the menu with halved grapefruit and milk or other beverage.

DEVILED MARMALADE SANDWICH
1/2 cup deviled ham (two 2 1/2-ounce cans)
1/3 cup softened cream cheese (3-ounce package)
2 tablespoons orange marmalade
2 tablespoons orange juice
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
12 slices enriched white bread
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt

Butter or margarine for frying
Mix together deviled ham, cream cheese, orange marmalade, orange juice and ginger. Spread on 6 slices of bread. Close sandwiches with remaining bread. Blend together thoroughly in shallow dish eggs, milk and salt. Dip both sides of each sandwich in egg mixture. Brown both sides in hot butter or margarine in skillet. Serve hot. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Soft Interior
An 18th century English nobleman, John Montague, the fourth Earl of Sandwich, is generally credited with inventing the sandwich when he called for his dinner between two slices of bread while deeply engrossed at the gambling table. Another story reports that the sandwich idea was not new at that time. The Earl really "invented" the sandwich loaf. He had his loaves of bread baked in deeper pans than had been used before so that only the top was crusty. This meant a softer interior, and bread that was easier—and therefore quicker from the Earl's viewpoint—to eat.

For The Record By Bud Evans

SINATRA SINGS — OF LOVE AND THINGS — Frank Sinatra. This is another typical Sinatra success — great, lush backing, the usual classic choice of material and a voice that seems to improve every time out. "The Nearness of You," "Chicago," "I Gotta Right to Sing the Blues" and "I Love Paris" head the standards. Add to these like "Love Looks So Well On You," "Mr. Success," "Something Wonderful Happens in Summer" and you have more than an ample excuse for spending the broad money on this album.

NOW HEAR THIS — The Duke of Dixieland. About the only members left of the group which originally headed North from New Orleans are the Assunto brothers and Lenny. They have filled the other chairs with such names as Jerry Fuller, Gene Schaefer, Jim Allas, Herb Ellis and Charlie Lodice. The result is that they seem to have gotten rid of the "I'll get there before you do" fixation and have settled down to play some interesting two-beat music. The traditional dixieland is represented by "Jazz Me Blues," "St. Louis Blues," "At the Jazz Band Ball" and "Blue Turning Grey Over You."

RE-THINKING — LEE — Peggy Lee. Another in the now-famous Star Line series finds the pouting Miss Lee at her swaying best as she belts her way through a collection of her greatest hits. The legion of Lee lovers (and I'm right there) will want to hear "I Don't Know Enough About You," "Fever," "White Horse Young," "It's a Good Day," "Don't Smoke in Bed," "Golden Earrings," "Don't You Do Right," "Manana," "Them There Eyes," "Alright, O.K.," "You Win," "Hallelujah, I Love Him So" and "My Man."

THE JAN JOHANSSON TRIO. trees. Here is a Swedish trio. Or rather, here are three Swedish musicians who have become a trio only when they are taped with a recording date. Jan Johansson on piano, Gunmar Jart, a properly rodded tree in the guitar. Callmar show who this album was nominated as the best jazz recording made in Sweden. Last year I have no way of knowing how many others were recorded in Sweden, but if this was a loser, I would like to have a winner.

LIVING STRINGS IN A MEL. and even more mellow is the mood, "Let's Fall in Love," "Dearly Beloved," "I'm Confessin' the Song is You," "Let's Get Lost," "I'll Be Seeing You" and "All the Things You Are" are good examples of the fine line between the Living Strings and its sound beautiful.

Good dash of Tabasco sauce. Serves 4.

To Peel: Dip each tomato into boiling water for 1 min.; remove. With knife pull off skin; refrigerate. Or hold tomato on fork over heat until skin wrinkles and splits; then pull off skin; refrigerate.

PEPPER DIP

- 1-3 oz. cream cheese
- 1 c. evaporated milk (chilled)
- 1 c. ground pepperoni
- 2 tps. chopped parsley
- 1 tps. onion salt

Have cheese at room temperature. Cream to light consistency. Whip milk. Mix cheese and milk. Blend in pepperoni, parsley and salt. Let stand at least 1 hour to blend flavors. Serve with potato chips. (Makes about 1 cup.)

CHIP-STUFFED EGG SALAD

- 8 hard cooked eggs
- 6 slices ham (cooked crisp)
- 4 tps. mayonnaise
- 2 tps. horseradish
- 1 c. crushed potato chips
- 1 tps. minced parsley

Parika. 2 sliced tomatoes. Carrot sticks. Endive. Lettuce. Black Olives.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Carefully remove yolks and mash with fork. Crumble ham into small pieces. Combine with rolls, mayonnaise, horseradish, parsley and potato chips. Fill egg whites heaping. Refrigerate. At serving time, prepare platter with lettuce and endive. Sprinkle eggs with paprika and place on lettuce. Garnish with tomatoes, carrot sticks and olives. Serves 8.

A delicious light summertime luncheon. Bake some of those crescent rolls that come in a refrigerated package instead of bread. You might try adding chives jubilee for dessert and serve pitchers of iced coffee or tea to make your guests rave about your culinary skills.

STUFFED OLIVE DIP

- 1 cream cheese (3 oz.)
- 2 tps. cream
- 1 c. chopped stuffed olives
- 1 c. finely chopped celery
- 1 c. chopped walnuts
- 1 tps. salt
- 1 tps. paprika

Whip cheese and cream until light. Combine with other ingredients. Makes about 1 cup. Use potato chips to scoop up.

AVOCADO DIP

- 2 ripe avocados
- 4 chopped pickled onions or min. onion bacon

Lemon juice and Parsley for garnish. Pate avocados. Mash the pulp with a fork. Add other ingredients. Serve with potato chips.

SPICED BEAN SALADE

- 1 lb. green beans (cooked whole)
- 1 tps. oil seed oil
- 1 tps. fresh chili
- 1 c. chopped onion
- 1 c. crushed potato chips

Sharp French Dressing. Cook green beans with dill seed. Cool and mix in chopped onion and dress with Sharp French Dressing. Mix in crushed potato chips. Chill thoroughly and serve on bed of lettuce.

Tall Trees Lure Lightning Bolts; Rods Banish Risk

That tall, old specimen tree—perhaps your favorite arboreal neighbor—may be just the one that lightning will strike this Summer, unless it is protected.

For height, above all else, tags trees as lightning bait, advises Homer L. Jacobs. But despite such folklore as "naked draw bolts," there is no scientific evidence that one kind of tree is more likely to be struck than another. Experience indicates no trees are immune from Nature's protechnics.

Unfortunately, many homeowners still regard lightning protection for their woody pets as something akin to circus showmanship. But when Mr. Jacobs warns that lightning strikes are as common as the weather, he is not exaggerating. Lightning strikes are a real hazard, and the loss of valuable shade and ornamental trees is a sad sight.

In practice the same procedure here as in protecting trees as is employed in protecting homes, buildings and other structures. In Jan Johansson on piano, Gunmar Jart, a properly rodded tree in the right place can protect your home.

Records show that most home-owners fail to give lightning protection to their trees until they have suffered a valuable loss. This follows the old adage of looking the barn door after the horse is stolen. Lightning damage is caused by the searing heat which literally cooks the living cells and ruptures tissues as the trees' moisture suddenly turns to steam. But often the only visible damage may be a black furrow on the bark. As always, lightning strikes are a real hazard, and the loss of valuable shade and ornamental trees is a sad sight.

Which Fruits Float In Gelatin?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Two young friends of ours, 6-year-old Ellen Roberts and her younger brother, Jeffrey, were blowing bubbles and playing marbles.

When Jeffrey complained that the bubbles floated away and the marbles rolled out of reach, Ellen tried to console and persuade him to accept the situation realistically.

"Listen, Jeffrey," she said. "Bubbles and marbles have minds of their own."

We were reminded of this sage comment when a cook complained to us recently that she never remembered which fruits floated and which sank in flavored gelatin desserts.

Well, to paraphrase Ellen Roberts, when fruits meet up with a gelatin mixture, they have minds of their own.

Because cook books differ somewhat on just which fruit does what, we went into the kitchen and tested some of this summer's fruit. We chose peach flavor for the gelatin because it gives a pretty light background color through which the fruits may be seen.

Here's what we found:

The following fresh fruits floated, bananas (cut into thin crosswise slices); blueberries; cantaloupe and honeydew (in 1/2 c. French size round bowl); cut into balls with either end of a teaspoon; size 1/2 round bowl measuring spoons; oranges (cut into membrane-free sections); peaches (peeled and cut into thin lengthwise slices).

Seedless grapes sank. Fresh sweet cherries (pitted and left whole or cut into halves) couldn't make up their minds. So they floated, some sank.

For a pretty two-layer gelatin mold, you may wish to use some of the floating fresh fruits with the sinking grapes, as we do in the following recipe. Here the fruit is added to the gelatin right after it is dissolved in the hot liquid and the required cold liquid is stirred in. If the liquid gelatin mixture is first chilled until slightly thickened, all the fruit—whether it has a natural tendency to float or sink—may then be folded in for even distribution.

JELLIED SUMMER FRUIT

- 1 package (3 ounces) peach-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup seedless grapes
- 1 orange (cut into membrane-free sections)
- 1/2 cup blueberries

1 peach (peeled and sliced) 1/2 cup cantaloupe balls

Stir together the gelatin and boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Stir in the cold water. Pour into a 1-quart mold. Add the grapes, orange, peach, cantaloupe and blueberries. Cover and chill until set. Unmold. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Two cups of prepared fresh fruit may be added, as a rule, to a 3-ounce package of flavored gelatin made with two cups liquid. In the above recipe, the orange and peach called for should each yield about 1 1/2 cups.

Right-Wrong Clash In War Prison Camp

KING RAT. By James Clavell

There is a stark, gripping quality about this novel that shakes the reader.

The scene in a Japanese prison camp called Chang, near Singapore. More than 8,000 miserable, degraded, starved and tormented men live with in its jungle-surrounded fences.

Most of them are British and Australian, but there is a small group of Americans. And the central figure is one of these.

In civilian life he had been a homeless scrounger and in the prison camp he had used his cunning and bawdy nerve to become the boss of the camp's black market. The rest of the prisoners called him the King and most of them hated and despised him, while at the same time fearing him almost as much as the Japanese.

Mostly his racket was in food, but it also included a lucrative traffic in watches, pens and other valuables that the prisoners and hidden away, and finally there came a desperate struggle over a diamond ring to a Chinese smuggler.

Drawn into a strange alliance with this rat is an opposite type—Peter Marlowe, a flight lieutenant who had behind him many generations of gentlemanly service in the King's military forces, a man with an innate and aristocratic habit of doing only the things that were honorable.

As Marlowe's foil there is a pro-marshal, a lower class Englishman named Grey, who is out to get the King because he is a crook and who hates Marlowe because he is a gentleman.

Basically the theme of this story of death or survival is the question of right and wrong. Was it wrong for the King to supply black market food that saved a man's life? Was it wrong for Marlowe to accept the black market drugs that saved his arm?

Antique Pickin's Are Slim Abroad

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

EVERY FOREIGN country is a storehouse of treasures. Most travelers hope to return home with something representative of the country they have visited—ancient artifacts, old Georgian silver, French porcelain, Italian paintings, Spanish furniture, Scandinavian pottery.

But the pickin's in antiques are getting slim and there is a government limit on how much we can bring back in new merchandise.

It's important to make our dollars count.

"Times have changed and few finds can be made by scrounging in little places for treasures that others have overlooked," advises Peter Migone, commercial counselor of Italy. "People who want old things should get a good antique dealer's advice rather than risk being gypped by their own bad judgment."

This is especially true, says Migone, if you are trying to buy the things for which a country is famous.

"The least likely spot to find an overlooked masterpiece is Italy," he points out. "But you can find second-best or third-best paintings or furnishings that are not being sought after. If you are willing to wait, these too become popular."

Many people return from abroad with that unmistakable grin that seems to imply "mission accomplished." It could be a painting looking reproductions of carriage lights or porcelains. Legions of amateur buyers have bragged of first-covered treasures from the flea market in Paris.

A good dealer sells you a reproduction by mistake, few people will detect it, but if you buy with amateur methods your mistakes will be obvious to anyone with a trained eye," Migone points out.

Migone's boyhood was spent in a 300-year-old family home in Genoa filled with antiques and he has great interest in good furniture and good art. He advises travelers:

Reconcile yourself to the fact that you are not going to stumble over a Rembrandt. Your best bet is to buy paintings who have not reached the celebrity stage. French impressionists or moderns such as Van Gogh sell for high prices.

Know the furniture styles in vogue in countries before you visit them. Genoa's like Genoaese furniture the way Americans like Americana. Very little is sold. When you are in an atmosphere like that, you should search for another period or style.

Italians like pieces from the period prior to the French Revolution. Migone says, but there are bargains in Victorian furniture.

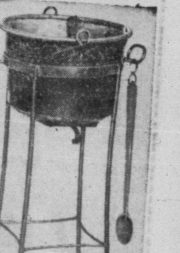

heavy furniture, the old walnut dislikd and discarded. popular again even with high brow types.

Visit local chambers of commerce to determine good buys in the area you are visiting. Grand old factories have been turning out furniture, china and glass for centuries so you needn't leave a country without something to take home that is within your budget.

In Italy, Carrara is good for statuary; Rome for antiques; Florence for antiques and reproductions; rich Spanish baroque may be found south of Florence. Many of the newer articles are so beautifully fashioned that one is likely to cease the quest for antiques, and settle for the newer conversation pieces, Migone says.

NEW USES FOR OLD: An old copper pot (above) becomes a modern ice bucket and an antique copper kettle (right) is transformed into an up-to-date barbecue brazier under the hand of DuPont of Florence, Italy.
