When the Punt, Pass and Kick contest for youngsters unfolds on Nov. 10 in Texas Stadium at Dallas, you can bet that Mrs. Opal Nicks, who is on the cafeteria staff at East Elementary school, will have her television on. Her grandson, Ricky Jarvis of Andrews, will be competing in the 11-year-old division. He won his district contest to move into the Nov. 10 contest, which will take place during the half-time intermission at the game between the Dallas Cowboys and San Francisco 49ers.

Ricky is the son of Gay Nell and Wayne Jarvis, formerly of Snyder.

Texas A&M's football team whopped Baylor last Saturday night, making the Aggies the general favorite to capture the Southwest Conference title. However, the only touchdown the A&M offense was able to score came on a strange play—an Aggie ball carrier was jarred apart from the football inside A&M's own 40 yard line. It could have been disasterous for the Aggies, but the free football bounded up the field and popped into the hands of A&M's Carl Roaches, the fastest man on the field who was way behind the Baylor defense. He ambled in for the touchdown.

But A&M Coach Emory Bellard was more than prepared to accept the six points.

"That's a risky play to try in your own end of the field, but we did execute it perfectly," said the Aggie head coach.

Rep. G. William Whitehurst of Virginia says a Congressman received this letter from back home:

"I have a dependent relative staying with me who has very little fiscal responsibility. He is very good natured and means well, but he keeps buying presents for us and charges them to my bank account. Many of these things are not needed by us. Because he doesn't work for a living, money doesn't mean to much to him. He is also quite generous to the poor and needy, but often gives to those he does not know who feed him a soft line. He won't listen to me, but he will listen to you because he respects you. Please use your influence to cut the spending habits of my Uncle Sam."

Clyde Dennis, while visiting in California recently, took a ride on the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system, the billion-dollar plus facility for moving people around the Oakland-San Francisco region. He found it rather sophisticated, and it doesn't tolerate mistakes. If one vehicle malfunctions, all of them in the whole system come to a halt. Also, the tickets are coded so that you cannot exit at the wrong stop. One end of a ticket must be inserted into a device to get on and get off. Your ticket won't fit anywhere except the stop designated on your ticket. Also, the device won't accept the wrong end of a ticket.

Nevertheless, Dennis says says BART gets you from Oakland into San Franciso considerably faster than you can make it by car over the bridge, It goes under the bay.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Oct. 31, the 304th day of 1974. There are 61 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1517, Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses on the chapel door at Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany.

On this date—

In 1674, Dutch forces evacuated New York City.

In 1754, Columbia University had its beginning as a royal charter was granted to King's College in New York City.

In 1864, Nevada became the 26th state.

In 1955, Britain's Princess Margaret said in a radio broadcast: "I would like it to be known that I have decided not to marry Group Captain Peter Townsend."

In 1956, Britain and France bombed Egypt in the Israeli-Egyptian war.

In 1966, President Lyndon Johnson was enthusiastically received on a visit to Seoul, South Korea.

Ten years ago: Communist guerrillas attacked an air base near Saigon, killing four Americans and destroying six B-57 jet bombers.

Five years ago: President Nixon said he would loosen restrictions on U.S. aid to Latin nations, treating all equally, regardless of whether their governments were democratic or dictatorial.

One year ago: The United States ended a worldwide military alert that had been called during hostilities in the Middle East.

Triple Veto Saves S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa is expected to make major changes in its racial policies next year as a result of international pressure, a leading newspaper said today.

The United States, France and Britain, whose vetoes saved the country from expulsion from the United Nations in a Security Council vote Wednesday, will have special influence, the Johannesburg Star said.

The newspaper, quoting informed sources in Cape Town where parliament is now in session, said the vetoes have strengthened the hand of Prime Minister John Vorster to initiate change.

"Britain, France and the United States — which now command some extra leverage on us through their rescue act — will want, firstly, to see more evidence of our disengagement from Rhodesia and South-West Africa," the newspaper said in an editorial.

The Security Council voted 10 to 3 Wednesday in favor of throwing South Africa out of the United Nations. The resolution was defeated only because the three Western powers who voted against it are permanent council members, and their negative votes count as vetoes.

Costa Rica and Austria abstained on the vote.

It was the first vote on the specific question of expelling a member country in the 29-year history of the world organization and the first triple veto.

The Council president for October, Michel Njine of Cameroon, said South Africa "remains a member of this organization only because of the veto power."

The General Assembly for the past several years has rejected the credentials of South Africa's delegation, but it cannot expel a member without a recommendation from the Security Council. On Sept. 30, the assembly voted 98 to 23 to reject the credentials and took the additional step — by a vote of 125 to 1 — of asking the Security Council to take up South Africa's future in the world organization.

WATCH OUT FOR GHOSTS AND GOBLINS—This is the ghost and goblin season and youngsters at the Snyder Child Day Care Center had a spooky time at their Halloween party Wednesday which was arranged by Snyder Jaycee-Ettes. See story on Page 3.

Convicts Captured

By KEN JACOBSON
Associated Press Writer

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Dutch police and marines fired magnesium grenades early today to temporarily blind four convicts holding 15 persons hostage in a prison chapel, then captured the men and rescued the hostages unharmed.

"Several shots were fired in the air by the marines, but there were no casualties," Police Chief Albert Peijster said.

The operation was over in 15 minutes, officials said.

The hostages, who included two women, were taken to police headquarters and then to their homes. They had been captives since Saturday night, but a police spokesman said they were in "surprisingly good condition."

The four convicts were hurried off to cells. One of them was a 23-year-old Palestinian guerrilla, Adnan Ahmad Nuri, serving a five-year sentence for helping to hijack and burn a British airliner last March. The other three were an Algerian and two Dutchmen, all serving terms for armed robbery.

The convicts had demanded a plane to take them to an undisclosed foreign country and also that Nuri's confederate in the March hijacking, Sami Houssin Tamimah, be allowed to join them. Justice Minister Andries van Agt told a news conference the government never intended to grant the demands.

Peijster and van Agt refused to give details of the rescue at Scheveningen prison "because we may have to do it again." But police sources gave this account:

The police waited until 4 a.m. because they thought some of the convicts would be asleep. Then they hurled magnesium grenades through the chapel windows and at the same time cut the lock on the chapel door with acetylene torches.

The latter process took about 10 seconds. Psychiatrists had advised the police that the noise of the exploding grenades and the glaring light of the burning magnesium would confuse, frighten and blind the convicts for at least that long.

Fifteen marines and policemen wearing bulletproof vests rushed through the door. The convicts, who were armed with two pistols and several spring knives, were taken completely by surprise. They did not fire a shot.

The hostages, most of whom were members of a neighborhood choir that performs regularly at the prison, waved to newsmen as they were driven away in a bus.

The four convicts took over the chapel Saturday night during Mass and held 22 persons hostage, including the priest, two prison guards, three women and four children. They released a 73-year-old man, a woman and the four children on Sunday and Monday and another man with heart trouble on Wednesday.

TORNADO HITS SULPHUR SPRINGS
Central Texas Flooded

By The Associated Press

Flooding struck hard at three Central Texas points Wednesday night and Thursday while a tornado hit Sulphur Springs and another did some damage near Clarksville.

As many as 100 homes were damaged at Sulphur Springs. Roofs were ripped off some, carports smashed at others and numerous windows broken by flying debris when the twister hit about 4:30 a.m. Thursday.

Olin Petty, Sulphur Springs city manager, closed off two residential areas as workers sought to clean up the area.

No serious injuries were reported.

The Department of Public Safety said unidentified Sulphur Springs officials asked for state police help in securing damaged homes in the area. An undetermined number of troopers was dispatched to the town, the DPS said.

The tornado danced across the Northeast Texas city, including a portion of the business district in its path.

At Clarksville a little to the northeast of Sulphur Springs, what were described as tornadoes hit Bagwell and an area southeast of town, tearing up barns in each place. Clarksville was without power for about an hour.

Rain measured at 6 inches in about eight hours sent Nolan Creek on a rampage through Killeen and the neighboring communities of Harker Heights and Nolanville during the night and early morning. Police reported one of three soldiers swept off a bridge in a car was still missing hours later.

A helicopter was called in to aid the ground search for the missing lieutenant, identified as Charles May, who was stationed with the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood. Two companions in the same car with May were rescued after clinging to tree sops for an hour.

Muddy waters surged up to five feet deep as the stream invaded two Killeen trailer parks, swept away four mobile homes and damaged a number of others, police reported. Rescuers used boats to rescue about 30 people in Harker Heights and up to 500 were evacuated there and at Nolanville, police dispatcher Robert Brinton estimated.

Four engines and three boxcars of a Missouri-Pacific freight train were derailed south of Denton when flood waters washed out the track embankment.

The train's engineer and brakeman were rescued by a boat manned by Denton County Sheriff's deputies.

A 35-year-old woman was injured when her mobile home flipped over during a heavy thunderstorm near McGregor in Central Texas. She was in satisfactory condition this morning in a Waco hospital.

In the Trading House Creek community south of Waco, high winds destroyed a barn, ripped off the roof of one house and overturned a mobile home. No injuries were reported.

Winds damaged numerous other mobile homes around the Waco area, authorities reported.

A flood warning was issued by the National Weather Service for Aquilla Creek in Central Texas. The creek was expected to crest about five feet over flood stage before falling this afternoon.

Showers Fall In Area Again

Thundershowers erupted over the Snyder and Scurry County area Thursday and Thursday night as a cool front touched off turbulence and heavy rains over much of the state.

Snyder had a total of .36 inch in the official gauge at the city water plant during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, and showers ranging from a quarter of an inch to half an inch or more were general over the area.

West winds cleared the cloud cover from the area early today and the thermometer dipped to 49 degrees.

4% Air Fares Hike Granted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautocs Board today granted a 4 per cent hike in domestic air fares effective Nov. 15 and announced it was making permanent an earlier 6 per cent hike it had approved on a temporary basis.

The 4 per cent hike was the third granted by the board for domestic flights since the fuel shortage began last winter. Air fares as of Nov. 15 will be 15 per cent higher than they were before the fuel shortage.

The 6 per cent hike, approved on a temporary basis last April 16, was due to expire today unless extended.

Accident In Libya Fatal To Snyderite

Word has been received here of the death of Lewis Wells Jr., 28, in an accident in Libya.

Wells, a native and life-long resident of Snyder, had been residing on the island of Malta and working in the oilfields in Libya. He was employed by Intradrill Oil Co. of Houston as a diesel mechanic.

Details of the accident and the time that it happened had not been learned here. His parents were notified by telephone, but a bad connection made it impossible to obtain detailed information.

Wells was born in Snyder on July 28, 1946, and had lived here until going to Malta six months ago. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Surviving are his wife; three sons, Gillie Lewis Wells III, Wesley Gene Wells and Gregory Doyle Wells; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gillie Lewis Wells Sr. of Snyder; a sister, Mrs. Kathy Clayton of Snyder; a brother, Glen Alexander Wells of Snyder; and foster grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Calvert of Shelbyville, Ill.

Absentee Vote Deadline Near

There had been 74 absentee votes cast this morning for the general election to be held Tuesday, Nov. 5, according to a report from Beverly Ainsworth, county clerk.

She reminded local voters that the deadline for casting absentee ballots is 5 p.m. tomorrow afternoon. Absentee voting is held in the county clerk's office on the third floor of the Scurry County Courthouse.

REMAINS ON CRITICAL LIST
Nixon's Doctors Suspect Slow Internal Bleeding

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon's doctors said today they are studying Nixon's condition to determine whether he is suffering from slow internal bleeding.

Nixon remained on the critical list, and "the possibility still exists for further complications," the doctors said.

Drs. John C. Lungren and Eldon Hickman said their suspicions were raised that Nixon could be bleeding because of a drop in Nixon's hemoglobin count overnight.

They said this could be "normal hemodilution," but added, "We are keeping in mind that this is a slow oozing of blood into the retroperitonael area. (the lining behind the abdomen).

"It is still premature to offer a prognosis at this time," the doctors said in a written statement read to newsmen.

The doctors noted that Nixon's mental attitude and spirits are excellent" and he is "alert to all that is going on around him."

"Hemodilution" is dilution of the normal oxygen in the blood.

The doctors said Nixon was given one additional unit of "packed red blood cells" on Wednesday. He received three units of blood — a unit is about a pint — on Tuesday after going into shock from internal bleeding that followed blood clot surgery.

The doctors said the hemoglobin was down "one half gram" since Wednesday night "and the significance of this change is being evaluated this morning."

Nixon spent a "more restful night" and vital signs — blood pressure, pulse and heart beat — were stable, the doctors said.

They said his wife and two daughters, Tricia and Julie, were spending most of the day and night in Nixon's hospital suite and were visiting him briefly every hour.

"He remains under intensive observation by physicians and critical care nurses," the doctors said.

Nixon is still off anticoagulant drugs which had been thinning his blood to prevent further clotting. The drugs led to the post-surgical bleeding.

Lungren and Hickman did not appear in person before newsmen.

Durham Rites Pending Here

Blake B. Durham, 81, a long-time resident of Scurry County, died at about 4:30 a.m. today at his home on Roundtop Road south of Snyder.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Durham had lived in Scurry County since 1901.

He is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Eulene Koch of Snyder, Mrs. Kathleen Smyrl of Lubbock and Mrs. Bonnie Sheid of Big Spring; two sons Mark Durham and Billy Durham, both of Snyder; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Ford To Speak

HOUSTON (AP) — President Gerald Ford will speak to the opening session of the 50th annual National League of Cities conference in Houston Dec. 1, according to a report in the Houston Chronicle by columnist Maxine Mesinger.

Cattlemen Disappointed Over Meeting With Ford

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas cattlemen and dairy producers were scheduled to meet with Agriculture Department officials today—just one day after a nearly two-hour White House session with President Ford that one cattlemen said produced "nothing concrete."

James Traweek, a dairyman and president of a Texas beef and dairy producers group referred to the session between President Ford and livestock, dairy, and poultry producers as "kind of a publicity stunt."

Traweek said the group would meet at 10 a.m. today with undersecretary of Agriculture Phil Campbell who met with Texas beef and dairy producers last week in Stephenville.

Traweek expressed disappointment over the fact that the meeting was attended by about 35 different producers representing all segments of the nation's livestock industry.

Ford spent one hour and 25 minutes at the session with the livestock representatives joined by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, Rep. Robert Price, R-Tex. and others.

Traweek recommended to Ford that the government take immediate action to end grain exports, increase milk price supports, and curtail meat imports.

Traweek said the President seemed more understanding than Butz, but did not make any statement on what he could do now.

"I'm sure it had to do with the Nov. 5th election," the diaryman said, "he can't afford to stick his neck out for the farmers right now."

Horace McQueen of Troup, Tex. said "nothing concrete came out of the meeting."

"We got our egos massaged, but my wife can massage my ego," he said. He said he had expected the President to give some hope that the industry would improve.

Glenn Deen of Amarillo, president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association said he wasn't sure how much assistance Ford could offer, but said the primary help will come from controlling inflation.

Lopez Rites Are Set Here Today

Funeral rites were set for 3 p.m. today at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Abraham Lopez, 88, who died early Wednesday.

Fr. Tony Moran was to officiate and burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Male nurse wants to be a woman

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old white male nurse. I love sports and excelled in track. I was saved by the grace of Jesus Christ two years ago. I read my Bible daily and sing in the gospel choir.

Even though I am a born-again Christian, I am miserable. All my life I have wanted to be a woman. I would love to be on the U.S. Women's Olympic Track team. I can cook, sew and type. I have never cared anything about mechanics, engineering or any of the so-called masculine careers. I hate hunting and fishing. I never could kill a living thing.

Abby, this secret desire to be a woman is about to destroy me. I am not a homosexual, but I'd give anything to have a sex change operation. Where is this done? Is is against the law? I will go anywhere. I'd rather be dead than continue living like this.

Abby, if the Lord really loves me, why did He give me a man's body when I feel and think like a woman? I have been this way all my life. Please help me!

SAVED BUT DIFFERENT

DEAR SAVED: The Lord created all of us, and why he made you "different" I do not know. Nature sometimes makes biological blunders, as is the case when one's body does not conform with his (or her) natural feelings. You are not alone. Don't feel guilty. One cannot help what he feels.

I believe that knowledge, skill and talent are divinely inspired, and that those scientists, physicians and surgeons whose combined efforts have made sex-change operations possible do so with God's guidance. For information about sex-reassignment and related problems, write to The Erickson Foundation, 1627 Moreland Ave., Baton Rouge, La. 79808.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing a paper on modern marriage and would appreciate your help.

From the wife's point of view, what is the most common complaint about her husband?

From the husband's point of view, what is the most common complaint about the wife? B.H.

DEAR B.H.: The wife's Number One complaint: "My husband doesn't appreciate me."

The husband's Number One complaint: "She nags me."

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a fraud. About four years ago I made a deal with her. I told her if she would quit smoking I would buy her a pair of diamond earrings she wanted very much.

She agreed to quit, and I bought her the earrings. I should tell you that we had been married for 30 years and I thought I could trust her. Well, a year ago I caught her smoking. She said she really hadn't started to smoke again, but she'd take a cigaret "occasionally" to keep her from eating between meals because she was trying to keep her weight down. At that time she gave me her word that she wouldn't smoke again.

I am almost certain that she is smoking behind my back, but I haven't caught her at it yet. If I can prove that she's smoking should I sell the earrings to teach her a lesson?

UNHAPPY HUSBAND

DEAR UNHAPPY: No. But ask her to hand them over, and put them away as an incentive for her to swear off again.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Four Candidates In Vote-Heavy Dallas

By The Associated Press

Vote-heavy Dallas was the scene of politicking by at least four statewide candidates trying to garner as much support as possible in the final week of the Nov. 5 election campaign.

Democrat Bob Bullock and Republican Nick Rowe, vying for state comptroller, continued their race, Rowe asserted that his opponent was handpicked by labor bosses who want compulsory unionism in Texas.

Rowe said, "Bullock is in debt to the AFL-CIO and (its president Harry) Hubbard could call that debt due at any time."

Bullock said he wanted a new and closer partnership between the state and local government in Texas. He pledged to appoint an executive officer in his administration whose sole responsibility would be caring for the needs of cities.

Bullock also said he wanted an honest accounting of what it costs the state to handle city sales taxes because, "if the current arbitrary two per cent gross fee charged by the state ... is too high, I want it cut."

Also in Dallas Wednesday, Republican candidate for state treasurer Bob Holt claimed that Democratic incumbent Jesse James could cost the state $1 billion over the next four years.

Holt said state funds could have earned at least $300 million instead of $51 million as James reported if the state had received a 5 per cent return on its money.

State Agriculture Commissioner John White predicted in Dallas that U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz will be replaced by the end of the year.

"There have got to be some policy changes in Washington," White said, "or we will have food lines for milk by the end of 1975."

White said that as spokesman for the Texas agriculture industry which is one of the nation's largest, he feels he should address himself to national and international issues.

In Austin, White's Republican opponent, Zack Fisher, claimed that White is not qualified to be agriculture commissioner since he has never been a farmer.

In the gubernatorial race, Gov. Dolph Briscoe remained in Uvalde with his critically ill mother.

Magruder Sticking With Story

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder stuck by his story today that John N. Mitchell had approved a political intelligence plan that led to the Watergate break-in. But he described it as "never an enthusiastic approval."

Plato Cacheris, attorney for Mitchell, the former U.S. attorney general, questioned Magruder closely about the meeting on March 30, 1972, in Key Biscayne, Fla., at which Magruder — former deputy director of Richard M. Nixon's presidential re-election committee — has said Mitchell approved the political intelligence plan.

Under cross-examination by Cacheris, Magruder, the third prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial, said that at first Mitchell asked: "Couldn't we delay the plan?"

Magruder said after he cited increasing interest in the plan from the White House, "I have a recollection of Mr. Mitchell saying to me, not in an enthusiastic way — it was never an enthusiastic approval — something like, go ahead and give them the $250,000 and let's see what they come up with."

The start of today's session was delayed nearly one hour by a conference in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's office attended by prosecution and defense lawyers. None of the participants would say what the meeting concerned.

At the start of his cross-examination of Magruder, Cacheris asked the witness about times he has admitted lying under oath, including when he was a witness at the Watergate break-in trial in January 1973.

Young Kennedy Said Easy Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — The young man accused of mugging John F. Kennedy Jr. and stealing his bicycle described the 13-year-old son of the late president as "an easy hit," a police detective has testified.

Detective Richard Buggy said that Robert Lopez, 20, also told police that he fenced the bike for $20 and used the proceeds to buy two bags of cocaine.

Buggy testified Wednesday at a pretrial hearing for the case in Manhattan State Supreme Court.

He said Lopez walked into the 23rd Precinct station house on July 25 and gave an account of the alleged May 14 mugging of young Kennedy, who was on the way to a tennis lesson at the time.

"I mugged John Kennedy," Buggy quoted Lopez as saying. He added that Lopez did not recognize his alleged victim, but explained that he picked him as "an easy hit."

Lopez, now jailed in lieu of $9,000 bond, also faces charges in the holdup of an off-duty auxiliary policeman robbed of $180 last July.

Ft. Hood Officials Identify Bodies

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Army officials at Ft. Hood have identified the bodies of two military police, a man and his wife, who apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

An Army spokesman identified the couple as Spec. 4 John Robert Gilbert, 24, and his wife, Pvt. E-2 Diane Vickey Gilbert, 19.

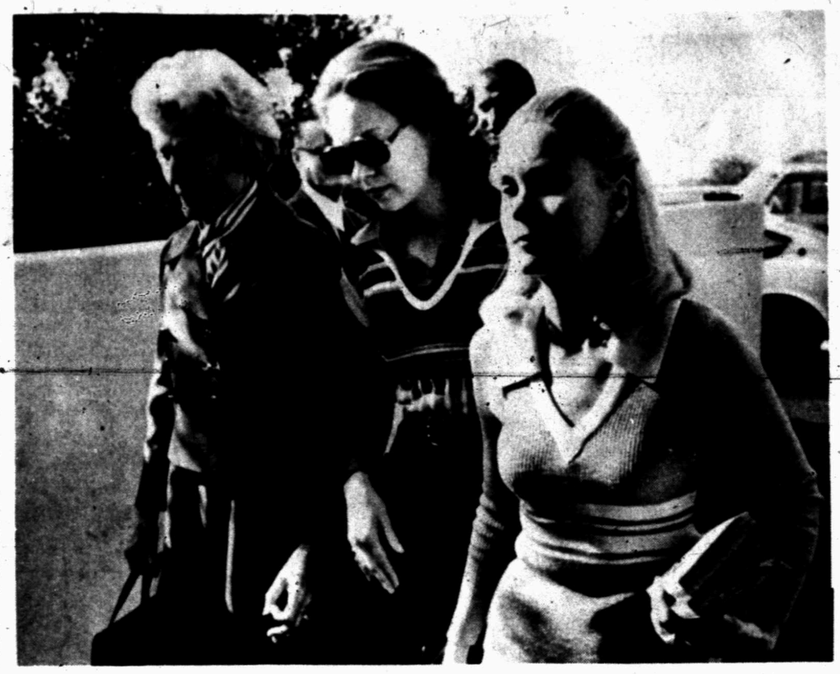

The two were found early Wednesday in a private car on East Range Road at the military base near here.

The Army's Criminal Investigation Division is continuing its probe of the death, the spokesman said.

An autopsy is to be held, but the preliminary cause of death is listed as carbon monoxide poisoning, he said.

The couple was assigned to the 502nd Military Police Battalion of the Second Armored Division.

Fingerprints for identifying persons who signed legal documents were first used by the Chinese.

FAMILY ARRIVES TO SEE NIXON—Pat Nixon and her daughters, Juli Eisenhower and Tricia Cox, right, arrive at Long Beach Memorial Hospital Wednesday to visit former President Richard M. Nixon. Shortly after their arrival Nixon's doctor said he was still on the critical list but that he was showing some improvement and that his internal bleeding apparently had stopped. (AP Wirephoto)

Q. I am a music teacher in the school system, but I'm going to take a new job as music director in my church. The church will give me a rental allowance in addition to my salary. How will this affect my taxes?

A. The rental allowance will be taxable income to you. Your church may commission you as a "minister of the gospel of music," but unless it authorizes you to perform all the ecclesiastical duties of an ordained minister, you are not a member of the clergy. Therefore, you won't be eligible to exclude the rental allowance from your taxable income--a tax benefit available only to members of the clergy.

Q. I just inherited several pieces of gold jewelry from a relative. I may sell them and invest the money. What taxes may be involved as a consequence of this inheritance?

A. Bequests and inheritances you receive are not income to you for Federal tax purposes. But if property you receive in this manner later produces taxable income, such as interest, dividends or rentals, you'll have to pay tax on the income. For example, if you wait and sell the jewelry at a later time for more than its fair market value at the time of the previous owner's death, then you'll have to pay tax of the gain.

Q. I'm recovering from a broken hip and I've employed someone to do house cleaning and cook meals until I'm back on my feet. Can I deduct payments for this service as a medical expense?

A. No. Payments for domestic help aren't tax deductible, even if your doctor has recommended your obtaining help because of your physical inability to perform household duties.

Q. As a result of some debts I haven't paid, my wages have been attached. Since I'm not getting wages until these debts are paid, do I have to pay income tax on the money used for the debts?

A. Yes. If your employer uses your wages to pay your debts, or if your wages are attached or garnisheed, the full amount is construcitvely received by you and must be included in your income for the year in which you would otherwise have actually received it.

A .20 gauge shotgun was taken from the 1971 model Chevrolet pickup truck of Abraham Jones on Wednesday, the police department reported.

Thumbprints have served as signatures of persons who could not write in early English and American history.

PAUL HURT

Hurt Will Be New Deputy

Paul Hurt, patrolman with the Snyder Police Department, will join the Scurry County Sheriff's Department as a deputy sheriff effective Friday, according to an announcement by Sheriff Keith Collier.

Hurt was a member of the Snyder Police Force from January 1970 until January of 1971 and from September of 1973 until the present time.

He has an Associate of Applied Science degree in law enforcement from Central Texas College at Killeen and a Bachelor of Arts degree in criminal justice from Mary Hardin Baylor College in Belton. He also has attended several law enforcement schools.

A native of Austin, Hurt graduated from Killeen High School in 1966. He and his wife, Donna Sue, make their home at 4008 Avenue U. They are parents of two children, Don, 5 and Ruben, 1. The family attends services at the Trinity United Methodist Church.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a two-vehicle collision on the East Highway at Avenue B at 3:36 p.m. Wednesday.

Involved were the 1972 Model Chevrolet pickup of Howard Loveall, 419 Twentieth Street, and the 1969 Model Ford of Thomas Benjamin Brown of Snyder.

Panels Clear Rocky Reports

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen on House and Senate confirmation committees say they have found no major disclosures in new FBI and financial reports that would block Nelson A. Rockefeller's confirmation as vice president.

House Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., told newsmen Wednesday there is something new in a 2,300-page FBI report but refused to indicate what it is.

Other members said after a closed door briefing on the report that it has new details but no major new disclosures.

"There are no new bombshells," said Rep. Henry P. Smith, R-N.Y.

Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., a member of the Senate Rules Committee, at the same time, said a comprehensive congressional report on Rockefeller's finances also has nothing in it that would block his confirmation.

But Rodino said hard questions will be put to Rockefeller about his previously disclosed wealth and some $2 million in gifts and loans to determine that no improper financial influence was used.

Only 11 of the House committee's 38 members returned from campaigns at home for the briefing and they disagreed sharply on whether any disclosures so far will block Rockefeller's confirmation.

"Not yet," said Rep. James R. Mann, D-S.C. "Not based on the information I have, which is sketchy."

But Reps. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., and John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., indicated they would vote against Rockefeller on the information they have so far, partly because of the former New York governor's wealth.

Both Flowers and Conyers said Rockefeller is wealthier than all previous presidents combined and Flowers added: "There is a serious question whether a man like that should be President.

The FBI report consists primarily of 1,300 interviews by 350 FBI agents, with Rockefeller friends and associates.

Rodino said he hopes to begin House confirmation hearings the week Congress returns from its campaign recess Nov. 18 and said he could not estimate how long they will last.

The Senate Rules Committee has already begun its confirmation hearings.

Cuban Traditions Brought To Florida

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Foods, home decoration and even backyards are changing in some areas in Miami where more than a quarter of a million people now speak the Spanish language.

In fact, the rocking chair may even be a symbol of the Cuban settlement. It was the first thing older refugees wanted when they arrived.

"It is an old custom to sit on your porch and rock. When my mother-in-law arrived from Cuba in 1966, she had to have one made. Now they are easy to get and it looks more like Cuba every minute," explained pretty Hortensia Padilla, 37. She has been active with the International Rescue Committee and hospital committees.

She and her husband, Dr. Jose Padilla, a surgeon, now help support some of their Cuban relatives in the area and both mothers live with them, she explained. Havana-born, she was educated in New England and is well known in social circles. Her husband trained in the United States before beginning his practice 16 years ago.

The last freedom flight was made last year and although some relatives still come from Cuba by way of Spain, it isn't easy. To do so, her cousin, before she left, "had to work the land for two years, herded to work each day in an open truck to get to her job."

It is the southwestern part of Miami, known as Little Havana, that reflects the real changes that have come to the city. In restaurants one may eat tasajo, a salted beef served on rice, and tostones — plantain pounded and fried. Yucca, a vegetable root, boiled and served with a dressing of olive oil, lime juice, onion and garlic, is very tasty. Black beans on white rice is popular with pork, and codfish fritters is a favored dish.

Many taste treats — fried banana, Malanga (potato chips), guava jellies and fried boniato, a sort of sweet potato, have found their way into the average household. In fact, some of the best food in Miami may be found in the Cuban area.

In his home, sculptor Manuel Carbonell concocts paella, the Spanish seafood, chicken and rice dish, adding a Cuban touch — chorizo, bits of pork and ham. Some Cubans, like Carbonell, have parlayed their talents into a happy transition from their native land. Arriving with little money, he has made his way back — his sculpture is on permanent exhibit in New York's Schoenman Gallery, and he owns a comfortable rambling home that is shared with two sisters, Josephina and Angela.

Their backyard resembles the one they left in Cuba. There are the little palms growing on slopes, and a Tinajon, the big urn that is traditional for keeping foods cold. And there are the taboretes — the siesta chairs covered with skin — propped against framboyan trees. He has painted a traditional scene on the wall of the terrace side of his house, much like those in Cuban courtyards.

"When we have breakfast here, you could imagine you are in Cuba," he said. "We love it here."

Other successful Cubans have chosen to move on. The intellectual author Carlos Ripoll has become well known as a Latin expert, achieving a PhD summa cum laude at New York University. He has received grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and is teaching at Queens College.

Some are not so lucky. Lawyers, architects and other professional people work as elevator operators, taxi drivers, waiters, store clerks. But some have begun their own businesses in toys, dólls, cigars, furniture, enterprises that were lost in Cuba.

"Older people somehow resist learning English, which restricts them in their professions," Mrs. Padilla observed. "Young girls become bilingual so they can work in many jobs — Americans try to become bilingual by hiring them. Where no language barrier exists, law or pharmacy is pursued and there are a number of Cuban women doctors here."

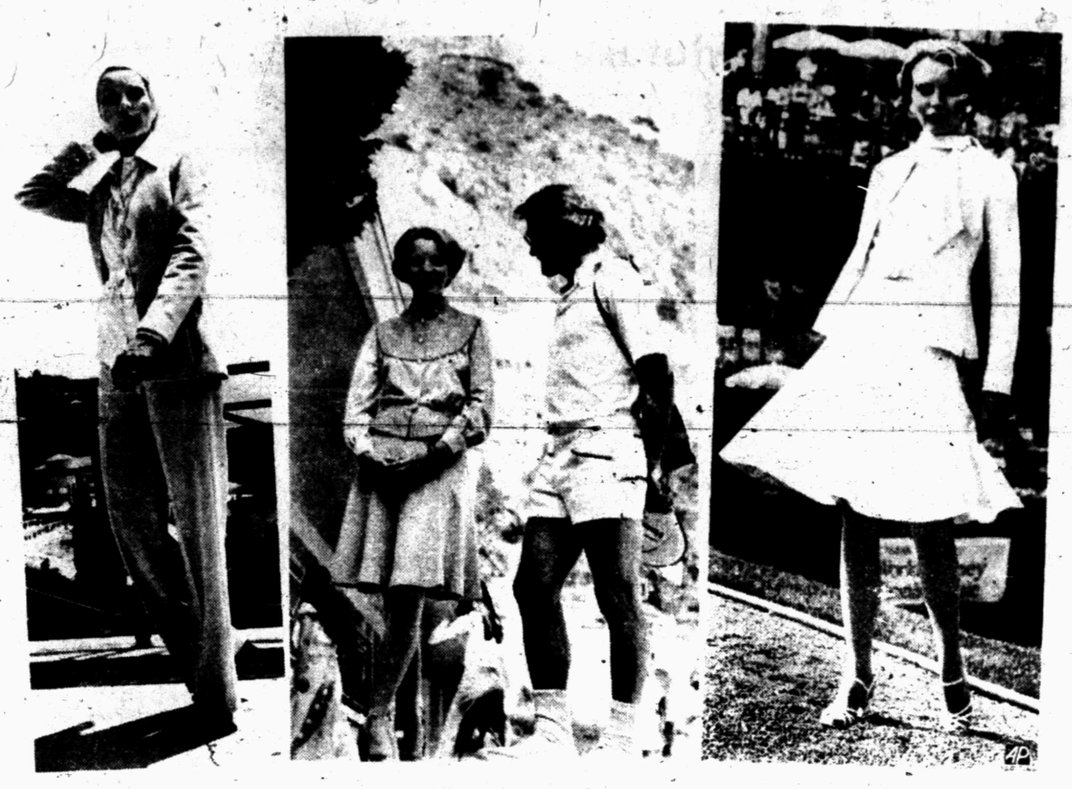

Some families have joined forces. One outstanding tailor, Pepe, has a son, wife and daughter who cut, make buttonholes and help manage his establishment, Mrs. Padilla remarked. Women learn to sew very early in Cuba so many have found jobs in the garment industry, new for Florida.

"In the beginning well-educated people came on the freedom flights," she explained. "Parents left their children, believing they were to follow, but young people were not permitted to come even though they had little in worldy objects."

Relatives have told her that many things in Cuba are now Russian-supervised — the nickel and copper mines, the national bank, the airport.

"And there is a special market place for Russians. Many things are scarce — tires, refrigerator and car parts. A couple must rent wedding clothes, and they have little chance to get furniture. Water and electricity are rationed.

"When my uncle wanted to see a movie, he had to wait in line many times before he could see the ending of the picture. It was always being cut off because of the rationing of electricity."

THE MONTE CARLO SETS—For holiday or fall come the spectator fashions. Carol Brandt wears a pink pant suit, left, rendered in acrylic polyester jersey. It is worn with a polyester satin pearl white blouse for a delicious touch of elegance. Player off the court, Frank Gifford admires Carol, center, wearing graceful spectator fashion in apricot of acrylic jersey. The suede cloth joke and peplum offer fabric contrast. An eyeful, right, Carol wears a costume of sky blue jacquard polyester knit which will give the spectators an idea of the pretty fall fashion trends. Policewomen Fight For True Equality

By MARIE-LOUISE MARCUS

STOCKHOLM (AP) — "Get the women out of the patrol cars," a superintendent of a Stockholm police squad demanded this summer, and he circulated a petition among fellow policemen to ban female police from radio patrol duty.

Fifty signed, and a heated debate flared all summer long in equality-conscious Sweden.

Supt. Goesta Soederstroem's demand caused widespread publicity and brought angry reactions.

"The opinion that women are no good at exercising force says a good deal about the men who signed the list, a great deal more than they are probably aware of," wrote columnist Gudrun Hjelte.

As is so often the case in Sweden the laws and the government's official stand on controversial issues are more radical than present attitudes. This goes for the acceptance of women in the traditionally male police force.

The debate died at the policemen's union congress early September when Attorney General Lennart Geijer firmly stated that "we need more women policemen and we do not wish to exclude women from certain duties such as patrolling."

It used to be that policemen in radio cars were considered the "super cops" of the force. What stirred oldtimer Soederstroem into action was the news that a young policewoman, Lisbeth Gauffin, 25, had been appointed commander of one such car crew.

"Women cannot handle situations when violence occurs; she will be a danger to her colleagues," he argued.

But Lisbeth Gauffin's boss backed her and so did her union branch in Stockholm. Lisbeth made better marks on a special emergency test than did most of her male colleagues, said the head of the Skaerholmen police, where she is employed.

So she bravely went back to work as if nothing had happened. After four years on the force with exactly the same training as male policemen she considered herself as fit for patrol duty as they.

"It's all nonsense," she said. "During all my years I have never been in a situation where I had to use violence. I'll go on working."

Police instructions declare that violence is the last thing a policeman should resort to.

"According to my experience it is rather an advantage to be a woman in this job. My sex has a psychologically dampening effect on people. Men are brought up not to hit women," she said.

This was confirmed by the Stockholm Police School's psychology teacher.

"Most policemen can recount incidents when they found that if they took the time just to listen it calmed people down; violence is unnecessary in the job," he said.

Sweden has had policewomen since 1949 and in the '60s they were allowed to leave their traditional white collar tasks and patrol the streets in uniform.

In 1969 the National Police Board gave in to pressure groups within the force and ordered the women back inside police stations again but this lasted only for two years.

Ulla-Britt Maansson, of Lund in southern Sweden, then wrote an angry letter to the authorities protesting against the "sex discrimination." The government reacted promptly as equality between sexes was a popular and not-so-controversial political issue.

"Now she can walk the streets again," the headlines had it and blonde Ulla-Britt was presented with boxes of chocolate and received fan mail from all over the world.

At present, there are 400 policewomen in the total Swedish force of 15,000. An increasing number of young women apply to the police school.

One of them is last year's Stockholm Lucia, a sort of midwinter beauty queen, Maigret Andersson, 21. She had numerous offers of modeling work.

"But models can't eat what they want, they have to watch their looks all the time. What a bore," said Maigret. "The police job is one better."

Rascos Mark Twenty-fifth

Today marks the Twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L.V. Rasco. On October 31, 1949, they were married in Lovington, N.M. In 1951 they moved to Ira where they lived for 18 years, then moved to Snyder where they now reside.

On Sunday, October 27, their children honored them with a reception at the Ira Community Center. Their children are Kenneth Rasco of Robert Lee, Karolyn Robertson of Durant, Oklahoma, Susie White of Snyder and William Rasco of Athens, Greece. Several relatives and friends were present to help celebrate the occasion. Among those present were a step-brother of Mr. Rasco's from Austin.

Children Celebrate Halloween

The children at the Snyder Child Day Care Center were the object of much Halloween fun and "spooky" activities. The Snyder Jaycee-Ettes honored the youngsters with a Halloween Party Wednesday afternoon. After having Jack-O-Lantern cupcakes and witches brew the group heard a a ghost story told by Mrs. Dick Norris that had a "real live ending".

Two ghosts visited the party, alias Mrs. Kenneth Galbreath and Mrs. Tim Burton, and passed out treats to the wide-eyed children. As the party climaxed, a young lady named Cinnamon, who had originally cried, went up to ghost Burton and said, "When I grow up I'm going to be a ghost just like you!"

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Many gardeners plant geraniums outdoors for long-lasting blooms to brighten their yards. Most of us let nature take its course, which means that frost will kill the geranium plants. Next season we buy new ones at a garden shop or start them from seed, which takes longer unless you start them under lights early.

There are ways to carry geraniums through the winter months. Those methods are bare root, potting the entire plant or through cuttings.

The bare roots method requires removing plants from the garden before the first frost in the autumn. Tie the plants in bundles and store them in a cellar or cool, moist area. The temperature should be 45 degrees or less and the humidity 80 per cent or higher.

In potting the entire plant, remove some of the root system. Cut the plant back to six inches in height and place in a pot only large enough to hold the root system. Keep the pot in a sunny window and water and fertilize as needed.

To propagate by cuttings, remove three or four-inch terminal sections of stems and root them in turface, perlite, peat moss or sand. Water the cuttings as needed and, once they are well-rooted, transplant them to four-inch pots, place them in a sunny window and water and fertilize when necessary.

Powdery Mildew

If your cucurbits — cucumbers, cantaloupe, squash or pumpkins — developed white powdery growth on the plant surfaces, particularly the upper surfaces of leaves, it probably was powdery mildew. Your plants probably were prematurely defoliated, thus exposing fruits to sunlight and heat.

"Once the disease becomes severe, little can be done to control it, according to Dr. Walter R. Stevenson, plant pathologist at Purdue University. He advises chemical control at the first sign of the disease. Always use fungicides according to label instructions.

African violets are a favorite of many indoor gardeners. Why not add one of its cousins, the gloxinia, long a popular potted plant for indoors or outdoors.

You may have been discouraged if your gift plant bloomed but the flowers withered and died. The reason probably was that the atmosphere wasn't moist or humid enough, with partial shade.

The gloxinia is larger and more brilliant than the African violet. There are hybrid gloxinias available in a wide variety of colors and flower forms.

If you want to grow your own, start with tubers in early spring or late winter. Plant each tuber in a five-inch pot, using a light soil mixture, such as sand, peat and soil. Plant the knob side upward.

Set the pot in a 65-degree location and keep the soil moist. Move the pot to a bright location when sprouts appear. Generally one sprout is allowed to grow in each pot.

Using a dilute soluble fertilizer, apply once weekly and keep the plant well-watered to discourage bud blast. Maintain high humidity. Gloxinias do well in artificial light. After it flowers, decrease the water and induce dormancy.

Shortly after killing frost, cut off dahlia tops and on a clear day — which will help the roots dry in the sun — dig up the roots and store them in a cool cellar or garage at 40 to 50 degree temperature. Keep them from drying out during the winter.

Assailant Takes Pie

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia woman told police she was threatened at knifepoint and struck over the head with a flower vase in her own apartment Friday. Adding insult to injury, the assailant took a freshly baked pie that was cooling on a dining room table.

Betty Fox, 81, said she was watching television at home when a small boy opened a kitchen window Friday, walked into the living room and grabbed a purse containing $1.50.

When Mrs. Fox followed the boy outside, she was confronted by a woman who ordered her back into the apartment.

The woman pulled out a knife, picked up a flower vase and struck Mrs. Fox on the head and then grabbed the pie as she left the apartment, Mrs. Fox said.

Romance Reports Irritate Prince

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, the 25-year-old heir to the British throne, says he is "slightly irritated" by the publicity given his reported romances.

He said Tuesday he accepted the situation because he is accustomed to media treatment, but added: "It can make things very difficult" for a girlfriend.

History Of Pilgrims Makes Easy Reading

THE MAYFLOWER. By Kate Caffrey. Stein & Day. 378 pages. $10.

If you're interested in a history of the Mayflower, go elsewhere. But if you're interested in a rather pleasant accounting of the early history of the Pilgrims, "The Mayflower" might be adequate.

The title of this book is misleading if one assumes it is a history of the ship that brought the Pilgrims to Plimoth, Mass. That's how they spelled it then.

To be sure, there is a little history of the ship available, but it's a shame there isn't more here.

A replica of the historic craft is berthed at Plymouth Harbor. It is fascinating and accentuates a visitor's awareness of the hardships endured by the settlers. Even just printing the available information about Mayflower II would have been helpful to the reader wanting to know more about the famous ship.

The Pilgrims were a hardy band and possessed unique traits. The flavor of these traits is captured by the author and her narration of the settlement's adventures is easy to read. It's also nice to have a few myths shot down, such as the schoolbook picture of noble Pilgrims stepping from the ship onto Plymouth Rock. That isn't the way it happened.

LEMON SAUCE

Tangy-sweet and low in cholesterol.

½ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in ¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon corn-oil margarine

Into a small saucepan turn the sugar, lemon juice and water; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil. Add the cornstarch mixture and, stirring constantly, cook over moderate heat until mixture thickens, clears and begins to boil; off heat, stir in the margarine. Makes about 1¾ cups.

Baptists Map Details Of War On World Hunger

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Baptists hammered out details of their war on world hunger and other issues today as they approached the end of their 89th annual meeting.

Messengers to the Baptist General Convention of Texas were expected to approve a resolution calling upon all members to skip a meal a week and donate a dollar weekly to meeting world hunger needs.

"In light of the urgent world need and clear scriptural teaching, we must assume our Christian responsibility," the group's social justice arm said in an appeal to the membership.

"We plead with every Texas Baptist to reexamine critically his own lifestyle. We challenge every citizen to urge congressional representatives and senators to pass responsible legislation immediately.

"We call upon every church to reorder their economic priorities to provide a continuing support system for world hunger relief."

Leaders of the two-million-member organization devoted much of their week-long effort to probing the international food shortage problem, linking American eating habits to hunger for others.

While hunger was a continuing theme, the issues of abortion, women's rights and the charismatic movement emerged as potential areas of debate as the meeting moved to a conclusion.

A Dallas minister, the Rev. Billy Jaroy, introduced a resolution Wednesday urging the voluntary withdrawal of those who "express or imply an attitude of spiritual superiority by their misrepresentation of certain charismatic gifts, such as faith healing and glossolalia (speaking in tongues), thus disrupting the fellowship of our churches."

And a Plano woman, Mrs. Joe Applewhite, offered a proposal calling for the Texas Legislature to review its approval of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

She said she favors equal rights for women but that the amendment is too sweeping and raises the possibility of causing more problems than it solves.

The Baptists put the stamp of approval on a $20.6 million budget for 1975, re-elected the Rev. Ralph Smith of Austin as president and chose Carlos McLeod of Plainview as a first vice president.

They accepted the challenge also to win 100,000 people to Christ next year and, by their silence, indicated approval of a somewhat controversial book, "Pornography: the Sexual Mirage."

The book, mailed to 4,200 Baptist ministers, aroused considerable attention and its author flew to Amarillo earlier in the week to defend his work against an attack that never materialized.

As the meeting neared its end, the group's top administrative officer, Dr. James Landes, urged Baptists to speak out in behalf and in defense of the church.

"The church is the object of constant criticism and the target of merciless abuse," he said. "... A furious war has always been waged against the people of God.

"I know there are those who sneer at the church, slander the church, trample on the church; but the deadliest enemy we have is subversive inactivity inside the church."

Veto-Proof Congress Discounted

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert says warnings from Republicans about the possibility of a Democratic veto-proof Congress "is not a valid issue. There is no such thing as a veto-proof Congress."

Albert, an Oklahoma Democrat, was here to help the campaign of Democratic congressional nominee Bob Krueger. Krueger has a Republican opponent in a race to succeed retiring incumbent U.S. Rep. O.C. Fisher, D-Tex.

Albert said, "The members of Congress can't be herded around like sheep ... We don't have that kind of government."

Albert continued, "with all the talk about a veto-proof Congress, I'm beginning to wonder if what they're beginning to think about is a rubber-stamp Congress. Isn't that what Jerry Ford wants?

Responding to questions at a news conference, Albert said, "Cattle are the No. 1 issue in my district."

He said "There has been a radical turn among cattlemen".

On proposed cuts in defense spending, Albert said, 'It would be a very serious mistake to make a blind stab at this thing ... For if we do err, as far as I'm concerned, I'm in favor of erring in favor of strength in the U.S. military instead of on the side of weakness."

Beverly Sills To Keep Date

SAN FRANCISO (AP) — Soprano Beverly Sills will appear here as scheduled Nov. 20, despite her surgery last week for pelvic cancer, a spokesman for the San Francisco Opera says.

"She feels great," the spokesman said Tuesday. "She's been singing in the hospital and itching to get out."

Rehearsals for "The Daughter of the Regiment" are scheduled to begin next week.

Honduras Is Offered 'Copters

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — El Salvador and Mexico have offered to send helicopters to Honduras to help an estimated 31,000 persons still trapped in flooded areas devastated by Hurricane Fifi.

The United States still had not decided to send helicopters requested by his Central American country.

El Salvador went to war against Honduras in 1969 over population and border problems, a conflict that cost 2,000 dead. The two nations still have not resumed diplomatic relations.

Health officials of Mexico and El Salvador flew over the affected region of 840 square miles in northern Honduras Wednesday aboard Honduran Air Force planes. Honduras has no helicopters.

Honduras appealed last week for helicopters to send emergency supplies to the refugees and pluck them off hills where they are trapped.

Honduras said the refugees faced possible starvation because it was next to impossible to send relief due to washed out roads and destroyed airports.

U.S. Ambassador Philip Sanchez said in an interview Wednesday night he had asked the State Department in Washington to send helicopters but that no decision has yet been made.

Sanchez, however, announced the U.S. Agency for International Development would make a $5-million donation to the Honduran government to rebuild the devastated region.

Meanwhile, a mobile hospital arrived in Tegucigalpa Wednesday from California, the Honduran Emergency Committee said. The hospital will be manned by 15 medics from the California Adventist Congregation, the committee said.

The Honduran government was still trying to fight off charges made earlier this month by a Florida couple that relief supplies were mishandled.

The emergency committee labeled as "a bunch of lies" charges by Dr. Edward Austin of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and his wife that government and Red Cross officials were hoarding relief supplies and that some Red Cross men were using the supplies "to get girls."

The Florida couple had been in Honduras for relief work after hurricane Fifi hit Sept. 19 leaving an estimated 10,000 dead and 300,000 homeless.

Schlesinger On Trip To Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger's trip here was to inspect oil fields and deliver a speech on national defense. It also was for the birds.

After the oil field tour in 30-below zero temperatures, and before his speech here, Schlesinger and two of his eight children went on a bird-watching trek with a group of university students.

State Rep. Clem Tillion pointed out several different kinds of birds that live in Halibut Cove, which is in his home district.

Carl Albert Is Getting Used To Tight Security

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The little man said he'd "been through this before. After the first time, I've sort of gotten use to it."

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., was on a campaign swing for other Democratic congressional candidates. To this city, he brought the Secret Service agents and the security measures for a person who is next in line for the Presidency in times when there is no confirmed Vice President.

At a news conference, security men checked reporters' brief cases and bags. They did not allow television coverage of Alberts airport arrival. In all, a source here said there were about 100 Secret Service and local police involved.

A source said an officer—"a sniper"—was on the hotel roof where the news conference was held. No outdoor appearances by Albert after dark were permitted. Agents opened paths for Albert as he walked through a small crowd.

"It's a little easier than before," said Albert, referring to the previous experience he had with security when Vice President Spiro Agnew resigned and former President Nixon was facing House Judiciary impeachment proceedings. "The first time was a rather traumatic experience."

Albert, 66, expects the security to continue for awhile with the anticipation that confirmation proceedings for vice presidential nominee Nelson Rockefeller will take longer than those for Gerald Ford.

The 25th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, establishing succession, is the reason for the security but Albert said, "I'd rather have another system."

"It's on the books. I was never enthusiastic about the 25th Amendment. But we've got to live with it," he said.

He said the congressmen and the state legislatures which passed the 25th Amendment "I don't think .. contemplated a situation where the President and vice president are removed from office."

Albert appeared on behalf of Democratic congressional candidate Bob Krueger, who faces the Republican Doug Harlan in the 21st Congressional District in Texas to succeed retiring U.S. Rep. O.C. Fisher, D-Tex.

Flanking Albert was U.S. Rep; Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., who was one of a relative handful of congressmen who voted against the 25th Amendment in 1955. Gonzalez has been reminding questioners recently of his opposition, noting Gerald Ford was not elected to the White House.

"I can't think of anything that should have higher priority than repeal of the 25th Amendment," said Gonzales.

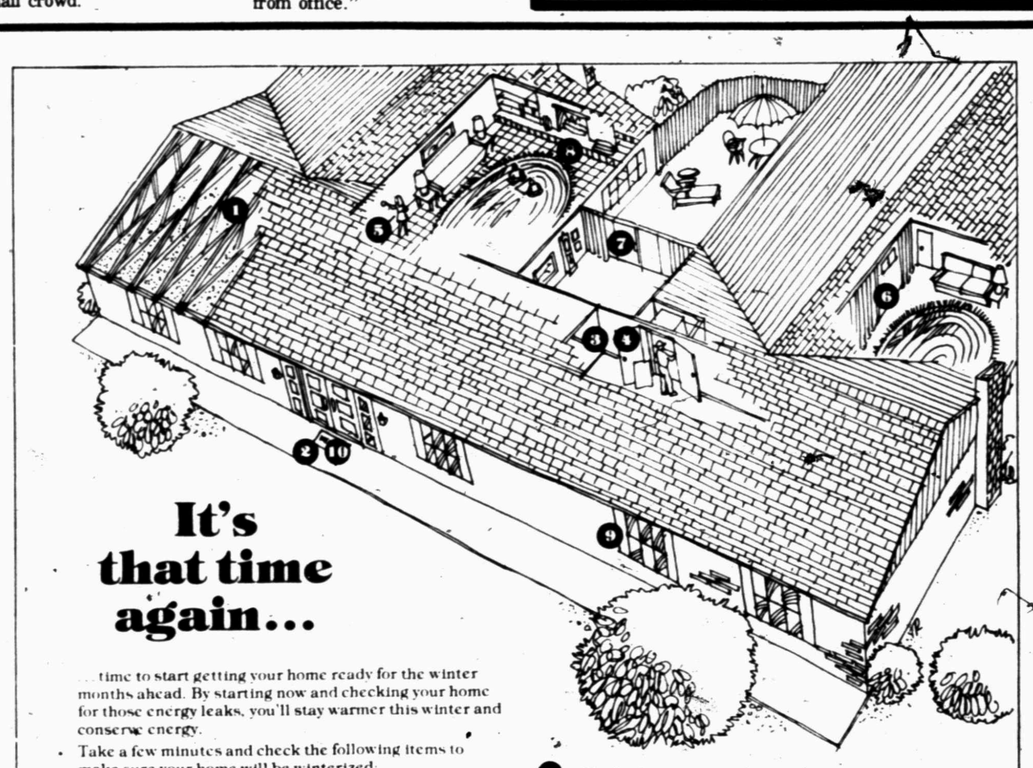

The circumference of the Earth at the Equator has been estimated as 24,894 miles.

It's that time again...
...time to start getting your home ready for the winter months ahead. By starting now and checking your home for those energy leaks, you'll stay warmer this winter and conserve energy.
Take a few minutes and check the following items to make sure your home will be winterized:
1. Insulation is most important... and can pay for itself in energy consumption savings. The usual recommendation is 6 inches of insulation for the attic and 4 inches for outside walls. Check FHA requirements for further information.
2. Weatherstrip doors and windows, and caulk cracks and crevices to prevent drafts and the loss of heated air.
3. Maintain heating equipment for maximum efficiency by having it checked by a competent serviceman.
4. Dirty filters cause heating equipment to work harder and use more fuel. Check your filters every 30 days. If they're the permanent type, clean them according to the manufacturer's directions. If they're the disposable type, replace them at least every 90 days.
5. Don't be a "thermostat jiggler." Turning the thermostat up or down doesn't cause the equipment to heat or cool faster. It simply works longer to satisfy the setting. The national conservation program calls for settings of no more than 68°F. in heating weather. If you are going to be away for several days, lower the temperature to 60°F.
6. Don't place curtains, furniture or other objects in front of heating registers or return air openings. This blocks the flow of warm air.
7. Open blinds and draperies on sunny days to help heat your home during the day, but close them at night to help reduce heat loss.
8. Keep the fireplace damper closed when the fireplace is not in use.
9. Storm doors and windows are not customarily used in this part of the country, but they do reduce heat loss. As a temporary substitute, a sheet of clear plastic stapled or tacked over screen doors or windows works well.
10. Keep the opening and closing of doors to a minimum to reduce the loss of warm air.

Economic Indicators Point To Recession

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the hands of a clock at the beginning or ending of Daylight Saving Time, the leading economic indicators sometimes mislead, but seldom totally.

The composite index of these economic indicators fell 2.5 per cent in September, the worst decline in 23 years, pointing to a sharp decline of economic activity the remainder of the year.

The indicators have been wrong before, and some of them cannot now be relied upon too uncritically. Stock prices, for example, are an indicator of future activity, but an unreliable one.

In fact, as the dismal report was being released, the Dow Jones industrial average soared 25.5 points. But the market was looking far into the future — not into next month.

As some stock analysts might observe, the market already had discounted the bad news for the remainder of the year and was looking into the middle of 1975, when economic conditions might be better.

Perhaps more indicative of the immediate future was the 6.4 per cent drop in durable goods orders during September, and the 8.4 per cent decline in building permits.

The level of building activity, for example, follows directly from the number of permits issued several weeks before. It isn't an opinion about the future; it is a factual declaration.

The 9.1 per cent advance in new claims for unemployment insurance, on the other hand, is just as much a statement about past conditions as it is an indication of things to come.

However, a good many economists will interpret another indicator, the 4.2 per cent decline in industrial-material prices as a sign that the fires of inflation are cooling, although another month of declines is needed for confirmation.

The semantic argument about recession or no recession has become a senseless dispute. The facts seem to be accumulating heavily on the side of recession, no matter what some government officials say.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE DIK-DIK

QUESTION: Can you tell me about the animal called dik-dik?

* * *

ANSWER: The dik-dik is the smallest of the antelopes. It lives in thick brush in eastern Africa. There is one species living in southwest Africa.

The tallest dik-dik is 14 or 15 inches high at the shoulder. It usually weighs from 6 to 7 pounds. Females are sometimes larger than the males. Horns are present only in the males. The horns are short, slightly curved, and point backward. The nose is flexible and projects beyond the lips.

Dik-diks are slender animals with tiny hoofs, stubby tails and long hairy muzzles. They are not much larger than jack rabbits and bear a sharp contrast to the elands, African antelopes about the size of oxen. Dik-diks are rarely seen in a zoo. They do not thrive in captivity.

Advanced Advisories On Film

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Shows dealing with what networks call "mature subject matter" often start with brief, vaguely worded advisories which gently urge parents to decide if their impressionable kids should leave the room.

But with "The Godfather," which NBC will air in two parts on Nov. 16 and 18, the network is taking the discreet storm warning several steps further to make certain viewers realize strong fare is pending.

It says in the few days before it shows the film it will:

—Include in both its print and 30-and 60-second broadcast promotions for the film the suggestion that parents consider whether any family member "who might be disturbed by it" should see it at all.

—Put Herminio Traviesas, NBC's broadcast standards chief, on the "Today" show to discuss the film for anyone still unfamiliar with it, explain why it's being shown and perhaps how it's been edited.

NBC also may precede the Part One showing with a taped statement about the Oscar-winning movie by its director, Francis Ford Coppola.

And if NBC, which hasn't yet seen his statement, decides not to use it, the film will be preceded by an audio-visual advisory about its contents, the advisory repeated at the first major break, Traviesas says.

The 1972 movie, for which NBC paid a record $10 million for a single showing, is about the way Mafia families live, work and die. Its gore is realistically graphic and definitely not for the faint-hearted.

But Traviesas, who worked with Coppola in editing the film for TV, says the director told him that while the movie runs about three hours, its violent scenes only total approximately 13 minutes.

He said less than a minute of this has been trimmed with the general aim of "trying to take some of the shock values out of it" without ruining the artistic intent of Coppola & Co.

One such cut, he said, trimmed the famous scene in which a studio boss slowly awakens to the horror of a bloody horse head in his bed. The head and the boss's ensuing screams remained, the slow awakening went.

Despite all the advance precautions, "The Godfather" showing undoubtedly will earn NBC both sky-high ratings and loud gripes from viewers who feel the movie belongs only in theaters.

Millions Of Illegal Aliens

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — There may be as many as 12 million illegal aliens, in this country, U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said Wednesday.

Saxbe, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley to visit the U.S. Border Patrol Academy near Los Fresnos and to make a speech to Valley lawyers, said usual estimates place the number at four to seven million but the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service said it could be as high as 12 million.

Describing the situation "a severe national crisis," Saxbe said the immigration service could open up one million new jobs in the next year with an additional appropriation of $40 million and 1,500 new employes. He said the jobs could be opened by removing aliens holding down an estimated 364,000 jobs in industry, nearly that many in agriculture and about 300,000 in the service trades.

Volcano Ends Its Eruption

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — The 10,000-foot Fuego volcano ended its eruption after killing one person and virtually disrupting the Guatemalan economy, the Guatemalan president says.

The volcano, located about 24 miles west of Guatemala City, stopped spewing lava, hot ash, cinder and burning rocks Tuesday night after 20 days of continuous eruption, President Kjell Eugenio Laugerud Garcia said Wednesday night.

But weather and seismological officials said the eruption could resume. They said the volcano may have stopped erupting only temporarily.

In a news conference Wednesday night, President Laugerud Garcia said the eruption affected a 3,000-square-mile area causing damages to coffee, cotton, apple and sugar crops of more than $35 million.

Tigers Face Another Crucial District Test

Two football teams with powerful offenses and tough defenses will collide in Tiger Stadium Friday night when the Snyder Tigers take on the Lubbock Dunbar Panthers in a battle for the lead in District 3-AAA. Kickoff is on tap for 7:30 p.m.

Both teams are 6-1 for the season and 3-0 in district. The Tigers have scored 135 points compared with 122 by the Panthers. The Tigers have yielded 51 points to its foes while Dunbar has given up 63 points. Snyder's only loss was to Midland Lee, and Dunbar's only loss was to 4-AAAA favorite Lubbock Coronado.

There have been only two common opponents. The Tigers blanked Lamesa 20-0, and the Panthers shut out the same team, 9-0. Snyder beat Lake View 16-0, and Dunbar bested the same team, 7-3.

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges said the Panthers are probably the quickest team the Tigers have played this year. They have an outstanding running attack, and, like the Tigers, employ the Winged-T alignment.

Dunbar has the district's leading ground gainer in halfback Mel High, a 165-pound senior. They also have one of the best quarterbacks in the state in Michael Henderson, a 185-pound senior, who is dangerous on rollout options. Also starting in the backfield for the Panthers are wingback Terry Johnson, a 141-pound senior, also is available for running chores.

Both teams could start all-senior backfields. That is, if Snyder tailback Welton Cobb, a 195-pound senior, is ready to go. He was injured in the Estacado game and missed the next contest at Lake View. The Tigers had an open date last week, so Welton hasn't carried the ball in two weeks.

Cobb is the leading ground gainer on the Tiger team with 669 yards rushing in six games. If he is unable to start, then the tailback slot will be handled by Tim Flynn, a 160-pound junior, who has 162 yards on 34 carries this season. Flynn performed superbly against Lake View in place of the injured Cobb.

Guiding the Tiger attack is Win Bunch, a 160-pound senior, who also is a dangerous runner. He's gained 269 yards on 44 carries. At halfback will be David Mayes, 180-pound senior, who has 171 net yards rushing on 36 carries. Dependable Rickey Howell will be ready at fullback. He's a 160-pound senior, and he has 408 yards on 97 carries. Also ready for fullback duty is Larry Gee, who has 74 paces on 13 carries. Gee saw a lot of action at Lake View and can be depended upon again.

The Tiger-Panther series dates back continuously to 1967, and Dunbar holds a 4-3 edge in the series. Neither team has been able to win more than two years consecutively, and Snyder won the last two times out.

Also of interest will be the play of the linebackers in Friday night's affray. Both teams have outstanding linebackers. Manning the post for Snyder will be Welton Cobb or Bobbie Wall and Roy Lee Carter. Dunbar has two talented linebackers in Mike McGraw, a 165-pound sophomore, and Willi Deshone a 165-pound junior.

Dunbar blitzes about 90 per cent of the time, and they use a variety of defenses. Their basic alignment is the "52." Snyder employes the Oklahoma "5."

Dunbar also has an outstanding defensive tackle in Tommy Williams, 170-pound senior.

Coach Hodges said there would be a couple of changes in the Tiger defensive lineup with David Mayes slated to handle the defensive right end position in place of the injured Jackie Simpson, who has a fractured hand. Mayes' regular cornerback slot on defense will be handled by Chester Cobb and Kenny Thompson, who will alternate at the position.

Cowboys Favored By 3

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

Buffalo and New England, both 6-1 for the season, are causing problems again for the old Pro Pigskin Picker as he looks over Sunday's National Football League games.

There was a two-point difference in Buffalo's favor two weeks ago. This time the oddsmakers favor the Patriots by 3½ points, which means that it would be virtually a "pick-it" game on a neutral field. It's tough to pick against either team, but the initial visceral feeling was Buffalo and we've ignored those too many times. So ... BILLS 32, PATRIOTS 31.

After that timid start, here's a soft whisper that last week's guess produced a miserable 7-6 showing. That left the over-all record at 61-29-1 for .678.

ST. LOUIS (7-0) at DALLAS (3-4): The pigskin picker is either going to sink or swim this week on those initial impulses. So, even though Dallas is favored, let's say ... COWBOYS 24, CARDINALS 21.

OAKLAND (6-1) at DENVER (3-3-1): This could be the year the Raiders get to visit the Super Bowl again ... RAIDERS 30, BRONCOS 24.

PHILADELPHIA (4-3) at PITTSBURGH (5-1-1): Would you believe that Pittsburgh is only favored by eight points? That shows you that Mike McCormack is doing a pretty good job with the Eagles. Anyway ... STEELERS 28, EAGLES 23.

MINNESOTA (5-2) at CHICAGO (3-4): The Vikings have lost two straight. Will the Bears make it three? No ... VIKINGS 21, BEARS 16.

WASHINGTON (4-3) at GREEN BAY (3-4): Either the oddsmakers aren't that impressed with the Redskins, or they are afraid of John Hadl. They made the 'Skins favorites by only 3½ points. But George Allen is NOT — do you hear us, George — going to lose three times in sucesssion ... REDSKINS 19, PACKERS 17.

NEW ORLEANS (3-4) at DETROIT (3-4): A third straight victory by either team could get contagious. The Lions are favored, and this is no place for an argument ... LIONS 24, SAINTS 17.

CINCINNATI (4-3) at BALTIMORE (1-6): Virtually every team in the league except Baltimore has pulled off a genuine upset this year. Is it time for the Colts? Don't bet on it ... BENGALS 34, COLTS 17.

ATLANTA (2-5) at MIAMI (52): The Dolphins won 20-7 the only other time these two teams met in regular-season play. Why not try for the same score again? Thus ... DOLPHINS 20, FALCONS 7.

NEW YORK GIANTS (1-6) at KANSAS CITY (3-4): Craig Morton should know a little more about the Giants this week and even though the Chiefs are favored by a touchdown, let's make this the Upset Special of the Week and say ... GIANTS 17, CHIEFS 16.

CLEVELAND (2-5) at SAN DIEGO (1-6): The Chargers were supposed to pull off an upset last week. They didn't.

Tigers Are Ranked 6th

By The Associated Press

The Cuero Gobblers, defending state Class 3A champions, emerged as the king pin in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll this week after a full scale shakeup in which all 10 ranked teams changed positions.

Cuero replaced Beaumont South Park at the No. 1 team in 3A after South Park managed only a 6-0 victory over West Orange, 2-6. Cuero defeated Pleasanton 28-0.

Other shakeups in 3A resulted from a Wharton's 13-13 tie with Sweeny and No. 4 Mount Pleasant's 28-14 loss to Texarkana Liberty-Eylau.

Wharton dropped from third to eight and Mount Pleasant hung in as No. 10. Other teams moved up with Donna taking over as No. 3 and Brownwood moving up to fourth.

The rest of the classifications had more settled weekends with Wichita Falls Rider retaining its Class 4A lead, Hamshire-Fannett leading in 2A, Aledo ahead in Class A and Big Sandy continuing to dominate Class B.

Longview improved its standing from fifth to third in Class 4A after whipping Texarkana 17-7. Bryan, 6-0-1, moved back into the top 10 as No,. 9, replacing Texarkana.

Deweyville, ranked fifth last week, and Crowell, 10th, dropped out of the top 10 after losses in Class A. Meridian disappeared from the Class B rankings after its second loss.

Memphis Clinches Tie

By The Associated Press

College football coaches who build winners with ground attacks are fond of saying, "There are three things that can happen when you throw the ball — and none of them are good."

But it was the aerial route Wednesday that the winners in the World Football League took.

Southern California defeated Charlotte 34-25, Birmingham handled Florida 26-18, Philadelphia topped Chicago 37-31 and Memphis clinched a tie for a division title by edging the Hawaiians 33-31.

In tonight's nationally-televised game, Portland travels to Shreveport.

The Charlotte Hornets were No. 1 in the league in defending against the pass. But Southern California has the top passer.

Rookie quarterback Tony Adams riddled the Hornet's defensive secondary with 13 completions out of 24 attempts for 234 yards.

Adams, who has cranked up the arm and thrown 43 times in a game, connected with running back James McAlister in the first period to highlight the Suns' first scoring drive. Then, with 22 seconds left in the opening half, Adams found wide receiver Dave Williams in the end zone on the scoring end of a 22-yard pass.

Adams scored two touchdowns himself, preferring to run it in from the one on both occasions.

At Birmingham, Ala., the Americans's Al Jenkins caught five passes for 168 yards to pace the victory over Florida. With the score knotted at 7-7 in the second period, Jenkins teammed up with quarterback Matthew Reed for an 80-yard bomb.

Birmingham increased its advantage to 23-7 before the Blazers scored their final 11 points.

Jim "King" Corcoran collaborated with Willie Franklin on a 90-yard pass play in the final two minutes to set up Philadelphia's winning score.

Corcoran, never one afraid of putting the ball into the air, completed 20 of 34 passes for 349 yards as the Bell jumped off to an early 15-0 lead. But Chicago went ahead before Corcoran's aerial attack gave the Bell a big boost towards a playoff berth.

Pokes Obtain WFL Punter

DALLAS (AP) — In a mild dose of poetic justice as far as the Dallas Cowboys are concerned, they landed a World Football League punter Wednesday and sent three-year veteran Marv Bateman and his bad case of the shanks packing.

The troubled WFL signed seven Cowboys to various contracts this year.

The National Football League Cowboys signed punter Duane Carrell, who averaged 41.4 yards on 93 punts for the now defunct Jacksonville Sharks of the WFL.

Carrell, a Florida State product, will handle the punting chores Sunday when the Cowboys meet the unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals in Texas Stadium.

US Peace Efforts In Mideast Jolted

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Writer

American peace efforts in the Middle East have been jolted by the Arab summit decisions at Rabat. But while this has revived talk of a new round of war as a distinct possibility, the outlook isn't necessarily all that black.

What can be done to avert the threat? After the Morocco summit, some observers are persuaded to speculate that perhaps the time has come for a put up or shut up challenge to the Soviet Union's policy of detente.

The argument is that there are only two alternatives: a new Arab-Israeli war with the concomitant disaster it could mean to the industrialized world or continued reliance on diplomacy.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger now has some new problems he didn't need and the going is likely to be tough. But it would seem that this was as good a time as any for Moscow to demonstrate its genuine interest in a peaceful world.

Because the Arab leaders unanimously recognized the Palestine Liberation Organization as the only representative of the Palestinians, it's doubtful whether there can be a Geneva conference on a Middle East settlement.

There had been a possibility Israel could make a deal with King Hussein of Jordan to return to his control the West Bank territory his grandfather annexed in 1948 and Hussein lost in the 1967 war.

The Arabs say Jordan can still negotiate, but things are different now. Hussein would be doing so with the PLO, the Syrians and others looking over his shoulder, none of them his friends.

Arab statements give Israel good reason to be convinced that a PLO-ruled state would be just a first step. The Arabs proclaim a minimum goal of a secular state for all of what was Palestine before the 1948 war. That would mean no more Jewish national home.

Israel cannot tolerate the prospect of the West Bank in the hands of an entity pledged to her destruction, so even moderate voices speculate gloomily on a new round of war.

The speculation is quickened by the decision of the Arab oil rulers to lavish $2.5 billion on Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the PLO. The money will go to a war economy chest and the Arabs are likely to be seized with the idea that they cannot lose.

Panel Sets Hearing On Child Care

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, has scheduled a Nov. 12 hearing of the House Human Resources Committee to consider proposals for taking care of children who cannot be cared for at home.

"Some children inhabit the wards of state institutions without having experienced any attempt whatsoever to improve their conditions and with little hope of ever obtaining real hope," said a draft of a report by the committee.

The report is based on a study initiated by Speaker Price Daniel Jr. after a Liberty County grand jury indicted the operator of Artesia Hall, a private child-care facility, for murder in the death of a 17-year-old patient there in June 1973.

"Average Texas citizens" must accept a share of the blame for the child-care "crisis," the report states, "for they did not watch closely enough to see that children and young people were being fairly and humanely treated, and those who did notice deficiencies did not raise any protest strong enough so that it could not be ignored."

Expenditures for child welfare in Texas ranked 53rd out of 53 state and territorial jurisdictions, the report said.

The report, made public Wednesday, recommended prohibiting construction of large child-care institutions by the state and reducing the size of or eliminating existing institutions.

It proposed establishing a new state agency, the Texas Department of Children and Youth Affairs, supported by the power of the governor's office, to replace the Commission on Services to Children and Youth.

Even if the new department is not created, the report said, the commission should be abolished as "Texas tax dollars can be better spent" elsewhere.

Other recommendations included:

—Extending an early health screening program to poor children not covered by federal assistance programs.

—Revamping the licensing law of the 1940s under which the Department of Public Welfare licenses private child-care facilities.

—Increasing state appropriations for care and treatment of children.

—Authorizing care for dependent and neglected children who are not welfare recipients.

—Studying the need for a children's bill of rights.

—Guaranteeing most mentally retarded and mentally disturbed persons the same rights as others.

—Removing the requirement that the state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation be a licensed physician.

Candidates Are Throwing Record Books Wide Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years after the richest, most secretive political campaign in history, candidates are beginning to voluntarily limit the contributions they will accept and throwing their record books wide open.

In 1972 a group of men scurried about the country gathering huge secret donations for Richard M. Nixon's re-election campaign.

In 1974 nearly 20 senators, representatives and a few challengers have told their campaign treasurers to refuse funds from special interest groups or personal contributions beyond specified limits, some as low as $100.

A few are listing every contribution they receive, although federal law requires that only contributions of $100 or more be itemized when contribution totals are reported.

So, for those who care to look, the $2 contribution of Rose Narberg, a Honolulu teacher, is recorded in the campaign records of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., along with thousands of other contributions.

In addition to opening up his records, Mathias is limiting contributions from individuals to $100 or less. However, he accepted contributions of $4,500 from the seafarers union and $5,000 from the marine engineers union. He received a total of $228,513 in campaign contributions as of mid-October.

Campaign officials and other political observers agree that the voluntary limits and open records are a direct result of Watergate.

"I'm certain that everyone knew this was a concern of the public," said Gordon Hawk, Rep. Gilbert Gude's administrative assistant.

Gude, a Maryland Republican, has refused to accept any contributions from beyond the borders of his suburban Montgomery County district or any of more than $100.

Limiting contributions can be a risky business for a nonincumbent, who generally lacks the public recognition and financial resources that go with holding office.

But Ramsey Clark, the Democrat challenging New York's Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits, decided to limit his contributions to $100 and is proving the exception to Wertheimer's rule.

A challenger running against a well-financed incumbent — Javits' current campaign has received more than $20,000 from the Rockefeller family alone — can make political capital by stressing the self-imposed limits, and that is what Clark has done.

Entering the last week of the campaign, Clark had raised $513,000 from 24,000 contributors, an average of approximately $21 from each donor. He received $200,000 within a 10-day period as the race neared its closing days, an aide said.

Javits has raised nearly $700,000 and previous New York campaigns have cost more than $1 million.

"The special interest group contributions have turned so many people off on the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence peddling the American people have indicated they will not tolerate."

Crane is refusing to accept contributions from special interest groups, except official Republican organizations.

Two Astronauts Predict Women In Space By 1980

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Women scientists will fly into space early in the 1980s and by late in that decade will be part of multinational crews on large space stations, two male astronauts predict.

The prediction reflects the views of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Joesph P. Kerwin, the first American physician to fly into space as a member of last year's Skylab I crew, and Dr. Robert Parker, scientist-astronaut for the Skylab program, made the forecast Wednesday at a conference here evaluating Skylab results.

"There's no question but that women will fly in the early 1980s if the space shuttle program remains on schedule," Parker said. The shuttle is a reuseable rocket ship expected to ferry hundreds of researchers from many lands into orbit starting in 1979.

"There was a time when the public was not ready for the thought of men and women going to the moon together," Parker said. "But times have changed. I don't forsee any problem about men and women getting along together on space missions. We're not talking about dizzy blonde secretaries, but reputable women scientists."

Kerwin said the Skylab project, in which men worked in space for up to 84 days, proved that men and women researchers making space trips aboard the shuttle will not have to undergo rigorous physical training that has been required of astronauts.

"Anybody in a reasonable state of health, regardless of age, will be able to fly as an experimenter in the operational shuttle and space station programs," he said.

"We now know people can spend three months in weightless space if they eat and exercise properly.

"As a doctor, I would have no hesitation in recommending space flight for a person for as long as six months. And for short periods of time up to 30 days as contemplated in the shuttle program, there would be no problem at all."

DA Speaks To Kiwanis

Pete Greene, district attorney, was guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Noon Kiwanis Club, held Wednesday at the American Restaurant.

He spoke on the new check law, saying that it is important for persons who cash checks to secure positive identifications. He said a valid Texas drivers license is about the best identification that can be obtained. He urged that checks from out of state not be cashed. He also said two-party checks are a risk.

Greene was introduced by program chairman Joe Jackson.

The meeting was presided over by Bobby Beard in the absence of Dr. Jim Tulley, the president.

Guests included Glenn Davis, Gaylord Price, Gay Hickman, Henry Hartman and Guy Sullivan of the Sunrisers Club and Ford Spikes.

Rocky Discloses Some Lean Days

NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Rockefeller IV has disclosed he didn't exactly live in the lap of luxury as a university undergraduate.

While studying at the International Christian University in Tokyo from 1957 to 1960, he said, "my food allowance was $11 a month and I paid $2.75 a month rent in a rooming house."

Rockefeller became fluent in Japanese, but admitted his linguistic ability suffered where he lives now.

"There really aren't very many Japanese in West Virginia," he told a gathering of alumni and supporters here Tuesday.

Ex-Marine Rides Bike To Ball

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Somewhere between Pensacola, Fla., and this South Texas city, a retired U.S. Marine Corps major is making his way by bicycle to attend the Marine Military Academy ball and birthday celebration.

Officials at the Marine Military Academy here said retired Maj. Byron G. Genung has long been a supporter of the private academy.

An invitation to the annual ball, which is to be held Nov. 10, was sent to Maj. Genung, but academy officials made the invitation more as a matter of form because of the distance involved. They were surprised to hear from him.

"I am looking forward to seeking all of you and celebrating the Marine Corps birthday with you this year. In fact, I will be making the 1,010 mile trip on my bicycle," the major wrote in accepting the invitation.

Not sure they understood why the major had written, a second letter was sent to him, just to double check. He elaborated, saying that he has used bicycle riding as a hobby and health aid since being medically retired from the corps in 1961 after an operation for throat cancer.

During his military career, the major served in the Pacific, China, Japan, Korea and the Persian Gulf. He was a tank officer and a specialist in Arabic languages.

"Several years ago, I noticed middle age creeping up on me and started jogging. I did this for a few years and in 1970 discovered bicycling and have ridden regularly since," the major told academy officials.

"I have made several long distance trips, the last one being to Hagerstown, in Maryland, a total run of over 1,400 miles from here (Pensacola, Fla.)," the major continued.

Speaking of his long trips, the major said he travels light, adding, "I keep it around 90 miles a day, sometimes more, sometimes less, to allow myself time for occasional rest and repairs, plus sightseeing along the way."

Many To Pay More SS Tax

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of Americans will pay higher Social Security taxes next year, with additional payroll withholding as high as $52.65 for employes earning $14,100 or more.

The increase takes effect automatically under Social Security legislation enacted by Congress in 1972 and 1973.

There will be no change in the present Social Security tax rates of 5.85 per cent each for employe and 7.9 per cent for the self-employed. However, the tax will be levied on the first $14,100 of each wage earner's income, up from the present $13,200.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimated Wednesday that about 19 million workers will be affected by the increase, which will mean an employe's maximum Social Security tax for 1975 will be $824.85, up from $772.20 in 1974. The self-employed will be taxed a maximum additional $71.10 each for a total of $1,113.90, up from this year's 1,042.80.

"In return for the increase in taxes, these affected workers will have greater protection because a larger amount of their earnings will be credited toward benefits than before," HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said in a statement.

"This will mean higher benefits for them and their families in the event of retirement, disability or death, than would have been possible without an increase in the base," he said.

Weinberger noted that Social Security benefits were raised 11 per cent earlier this year. The larger wage base for taxes is expected to bring in an additional $1.8 billion next year.

LIMITING CONTRIBUTIONS

Candidates Are Throwing Record Books Wide Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years after the richest, most secretive political campaign in history, candidates are beginning to voluntarily limit the contributions they will accept and throwing their record books wide open.

In 1972 a group of men scurried about the country gathering huge secret donations for Richard M. Nixon's re-election campaign.

In 1974 nearly 20 senators, representatives and a few challengers have told their campaign treasurers to refuse funds from special interest groups or personal contributions beyond specified limits, some as low as $100.

A few are listing every contribution they receive, although federal law requires that only contributions of $100 or more be itemized when contribution totals are reported.

So, for those who care to look, the $2 contribution of Rose Narberg, a Honolulu teacher, is recorded in the campaign records of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., along with thousands of other contributions.

In addition to opening up his records, Mathias is limiting contributions from individuals to $100 or less. However, he accepted contributions of $4,500 from the seafarers union and $5,000 from the marine engineers union. He received a total of $228,513 in campaign contributions as of mid-October.

Campaign officials and other political observers agree that the voluntary limits and open records are a direct result of Watergate.

"I'm certain that everyone knew this was a concern of the public," said Gordon Hawk, Rep. Gilbert Gude's administrative assistant.

Gude, a Maryland Republican, has refused to accept any contributions from beyond the borders of his suburban Montgomery County district or any of more than $100.

Limiting contributions can be a risky business for a noncumbent, who generally lacks the public recognition and financial resources that go with holding office.

But Ramsey Clark, the Democrat challenging New York's Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits, decided to limit his contributions to $100 and is proving the exception to Wertheimer's rule.

A challenger running against a well-financed incumbent — Javits' current campaign has received more than $20,000 from the Rockefeller family alone — can make political capital by stressing the self-imposed limits, and that is what Clark has done.

Entering the last week of the campaign, Clark had raised $513,000 from 24,000 contributors, an average of approximately $21 from each donor. He received $200,000 within a 10-day period as the race neared its closing days, an aide said.

Javits has raised nearly $700,000 and previous New York campaigns have cost more than $1 million.

"The special interest group contributions have turned so many people off on the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence peddling the American people have indicated they will not tolerate."

Crane is refusing to accept contributions from special interest groups, except official Republican organizations.

Two Astronauts Predict Women In Space By 1980

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Women scientists will fly into space early in the 1980s and by late in that decade will be part of multinational crews on large space stations, two male astronauts predict.

The prediction reflects the views of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Joesph P. Kerwin, the first American physician to fly into space as a member of last year's Skylab I crew, and Dr. Robert Parker, scientist-astronaut for the Skylab program, made the forecast Wednesday at a conference here evaluating Skylab results.

"There's no question but that women will fly in the early 1980s if the space shuttle program remains on schedule," Parker said. The shuttle is a reuseable rocket ship expected to ferry hundreds of researchers from many lands into orbit starting in 1979.

"There was a time when the public was not ready for the thought of men and women going to the moon together," Parker said. "But times have changed. I don't forsee any problem about men and women getting along together on space missions. We're not talking about dizzy blonde secretaries, but reputable women scientists."

Kerwin said the Skylab project, in which men worked in space for up to 84 days, proved that men and women researchers making space trips aboard the shuttle will not have to undergo rigorous physical training that has been required of astronauts.

"Anybody in a reasonable state of health, regardless of age, will be able to fly as an experimenter in the operational shuttle and space station programs," he said.

"We now know people can spend three months in weightless space if they eat and exercise properly.

"As a doctor, I would have no hesitation in recommending space flight for a person for as long as six months. And for short periods of time up to 30 days as contemplated in the shuttle program, there would be no problem at all."

DA Speaks To Kiwanis

Pete Greene, district attorney, was guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Noon Kiwanis Club, held Wednesday at the American Restaurant.

He spoke on the new check law, saying that it is important for persons who cash checks to secure positive identifications. He said a valid Texas drivers license is about the best identification that can be obtained. He urged that checks from out of state not be cashed. He also said two-party checks are a risk.

Greene was introduced by program chairman Joe Jackson.

The meeting was presided over by Bobby Beard in the absence of Dr. Jim Tulley, the president.

Guests included Glenn Davis, Gaylord Price, Gay Hickman, Henry Hartman and Guy Sullivan of the Sunrisers Club and Ford Spikes.

Rocky Discloses Some Lean Days

NEW YORK (AP) — John D. Rockefeller IV has disclosed he didn't exactly live in the lap of luxury as a university undergraduate.

While studying at the International Christian University in Tokyo from 1957 to 1960, he said, "my food allowance was $11 a month and I paid $2.75 a month rent in a rooming house."

Rockefeller became fluent in Japanese, but admitted his linguistic ability suffered where he lives now.

"There really aren't very many Japanese in West Virginia," he told a gathering of alumni and supporters here Tuesday.

Ex-Marine Rides Bike To Ball

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Somewhere between Pensacola, Fla., and this South Texas city, a retired U.S. Marine Corps major is making his way by bicycle to attend the Marine Military Academy ball and birthday celebration.

Officials at the Marine Military Academy here said retired Maj. Byron G. Genung has long been a supporter of the private academy.

An invitation to the annual ball, which is to be held Nov. 10, was sent to Maj. Genung, but academy officials made the invitation more as a matter of form because of the distance involved. They were surprised to hear from him.

"I am looking forward to seeking all of you and celebrating the Marine Corps birthday with you this year. In fact, I will be making the 1,010 mile trip on my bicycle," the major wrote in accepting the invitation.

Not sure they understood why the major had written, a second letter was sent to him, just to double check. He elaborated, saying that he has used bicycle riding as a hobby and health aid since being medically retired from the corps in 1961 after an operation for throat cancer.

During his military career, the major served in the Pacific, China, Japan, Korea and the Persian Gulf. He was a tank officer and a specialist in Arabic languages.

"Several years ago, I noticed middle age creeping up on me and started jogging. I did this for a few years and in 1970 discovered bicycling and have ridden regularly since," the major told academy officials.

"I have made several long distance trips, the last one being to Hagerstown, in Maryland, a total run of over 1,400 miles from here (Pensacola, Fla.)," the major continued.

Speaking of his long trips, the major said he travels light, adding, "I keep it around 90 miles a day, sometimes more, sometimes less, to allow myself time for occasional rest and repairs, plus sightseeing along the way."

Many To Pay More SS Tax

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of Americans will pay higher Social Security taxes next year, with additional payroll withholding as high as $52.65 for employes earning $14,100 or more.

The increase takes effect automatically under Social Security legislation enacted by Congress in 1972 and 1973.

There will be no change in the present Social Security tax rates of 5.85 per cent each for employe and 7.9 per cent for the self-employed. However, the tax will be levied on the first $14,100 of each wage earner's income, up from the present $13,200.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimated Wednesday that about 19 million workers will be affected by the increase, which will mean an employe's maximum Social Security tax for 1975 will be $824.85, up from $772.20 in 1974. The self-employed will be taxed a maximum additional $71.10 each for a total of $1,113.90, up from this year's 1,042.80.

"In return for the increase in taxes, these affected workers will have greater protection because a larger amount of their earnings will be credited toward benefits than before," HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said in a statement.

"This will mean higher benefits for them and their families in the event of retirement, disability or death, than would have been possible without an increase in the base," he said.

Weinberger noted that Social Security benefits were raised 11 per cent earlier this year. The larger wage base for taxes is expected to bring in an additional $1.8 billion next year.
