New Red Drive Opens Against East Prussia

Entire German Front In East May Be Split

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press War Writer

MOSCOW, Sept. 5.—Powerful Red army forces drove to within 22 miles of East Prussia's southern frontier today in a full-scale offensive that breached the heavily-fortified Narew river line and threatened to split the entire Nazi front covering both Warsaw and the eastern-most province of Germany.

At the southern end of the long eastern front, Soviet troops stormed and captured Brasov, gateway to the Transylvanian plains leading northward to Hungary, and struck west and southwest of Bucharest to within 124 miles of Yugoslavia.

Col. Gen. Georgi Zakharov's 2nd White Russian army opened the new offensive against East Prussia along a 35-mile front southwest of Lomzha and drove a deep wedge into the German lines.

Heavy Barrage Opens Drive

Attacking behind a thunderous artillery barrage, infantrymen fought through a maze of minefields, barbed-wire and trench barriers and forced a crossing of the Narew in the Ostroleka area, 21 miles southwest of Lomzha and 61 miles north-northeast of Warsaw.

More than 100 towns and villages fell as the drive swept five miles beyond the Narew into Nowa Wies, 22 miles below the East Prussian border.

(Berlin admitted a deep Soviet penetration in the Narew-Bug sector on the approaches to East Prussia, but asserted that the Russians had failed to achieve a major breakthrough.)

Aids Warsaw Offensive

Zakharov's sudden thrust tied in closely with the overall Soviet strategy for the liberation of Warsaw, where Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's 1st White Russian army was at grips with the major part of the German army's northern armored forces.

The threat to East Prussia was

Nazis' Retreat Passes Macon

ROME, Sept. 5. (AP) — French and American troops driving northward up the Saone valley in pursuit of German forces withdrawing from southern France scored gains of as much as 18 miles today.

Sweeping past Macon, a wine center 68 miles by highway north of captured Lyon, French forces reached the vicinity of the village of Le Villars, on the west bank of the Saone near Tournus, by midafternoon. Tournus is a road center 20 miles north of Macon.

American forces also advanced east of Macon on the east side of the Saone.

A new batch of 2,400 prisoners taken by the French in their capture of Villefranche boosted the total since the landings on the Mediterranean beachheads to more than 65,000.

Yanks Pass Through Montrevel

The French also reached Saint Bonnet de Bruyeres, a town west of Macon, while farther east American forces passed through Montrevel.

There was no serious opposition at Montrevel, in contrast to the previous day, when the Germans launched a tank supported counterattack to screen the retreat of the main enemy force northward on highway six toward Chalon and Dijon.

The Nazi counterattack caused some Allied losses in casualties and prisoners.

Meanwhile it was disclosed that the American Seventh infantry regiment was participating in the pursuit of the Germans.

The regiment took part in the North African landing, the Sicilian campaign in South Italy and the fighting at Anzio. It was one of the first infantry units to enter Rome.

General Rains Sluice South Plains Area

Fall Here 2.62 Inches; Feed To Be Benefitted

Rainfall—as much as five inches in some sections—which would have been of great help to farmers had it been received two weeks ago, was welcome in some parts of the Panhandle and South Plains Monday night and today, particularly in sections where fall wheat has been planted. However, it proved a hindrance to the grain harvest which has begun in some sections.

Agricultural authorities pointed out this morning that precipitation came too late to be of material aid to cotton. The rain will have a tendency to delay opening of bolls considerably, they said.

Late Feed To Benefit

Late feed should benefit greatly from the deluge of moisture which began falling in Lubbock Monday night at 11 o'clock and continued throughout this morning. The gauge at the experiment sub-station east of town registered 2.36 inches at 2 o'clock, at Texas Tech 2.62 inches.

Other points in Lubbock county reported from one to three inches of rainfall. It was still raining at noon today in Slaton and three inches had fallen there. Monroe received two inches, Idalou one. Wolfforth reported 2.25 inches. Shallowater received a soaking two-inch downpour.

Trend Is Northeast

Heaviest rainfall seemed to center around the northeastern section of the Plains with Floydada reporting 3.10 inches, north Motley county (near White Flat), 3.25 inches, and Matador, 1.65 inches.

More than two inches was reported at Abernathy, Petersburg, where three inches was reported; Littlefield and Seagraves. A report received at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Ropesville said three inches fell there.

Fall Is General

While only .34 inch fell at Muleshoe, Bailey county, some points in that county reported four and five inches.

Rain was general over the entire South Plains territory and reports

Holiday Traffic Is Heavy; 172 Killed

(By The United Press)

Labor day traffic was reported the heaviest of any holiday since America's entry into the war but reports today indicated that the death toll was less than the 250 the National Safety council had predicted for the three-day period ending last night at midnight.

A United Press survey showed that 172 persons were killed in accidents, 31 were drowned and 47 died in other mishaps.

California led the fatality list with 28 deaths, 20 of them as a result of traffic accidents. New York was second with 16 and North Carolina was third with 15.

Fatalities reported from other states included Indiana, 13; Pennsylvania, 12; Texas and Wisconsin, 11 each; Michigan, 9; Connecticut, 8; Colorado, 6; Missouri, 5; and Mississippi, and West Virginia, 4 each.

As vacationists returned to their homes and other travellers took advantage of the last summer holiday in 1944, railroad companies and bus lines reported business nearly as heavy as on pre-war Labor days.

Defense Subpoenas Thomas Trial Jury

Retrial Motion To Be Heard On 22nd

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 5. (AP) — Members of the jury which convicted Jim Thomas in the slaying of Dr. Roy Hunt were subpoenaed today at the request of the defense as witnesses in Thomas' application for a retrial.

District Judge C. D. Russell set a hearing on the application for Sept. 22.

Thomas, 50, a paroled convict, was convicted Aug. 30 on a charge of murder in the Hunt slaying and given the death penalty. Dr. Hunt and his wife were found slain in their home at Littlefield, Oct. 26, 1943, and Thomas was arrested the next day in Galveston. He was charged only in the death of Dr. Hunt.

Others Subpoenaed

Subpoenaed also was Mart Pool, former manager of a hotel here. The state subpoenaed Porter Humphries of El Paso, whom the defense had subpoenaed as a material witness for the original trial of Thomas and upon whose absence it had asked for a continuance when that trial began.

The jury, which had been charged by the court under the circumstantial evidence laws of Texas, deliberated three hours and 40 minutes before returning its verdict in the Thomas case.

"Dead" Man Recovers In Morgue, Then Dies

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 5 (AP) —Marten Forstrom, 74, collapsed on a downtown street Monday. Police pronounced him dead, took him to the county morgue.

An attendant began his examination. Forstrom stirred, sat up, objected strenuously, then walked out.

A block away he collapsed again. This time police took him to a hospital. A staff physician pronounced him dead upon arrival.

Back-Breaking Job On Holiday Builds A Complete House

KNOXVILLE, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — The toughest sinewed employes of the Chavannes Lumber Co. went to work today with aching muscles after the hardest Labor day's job in their recollection, but every one had a new outlook on life.

Yesterday, in a dawn to dusk operation, they built a house from "ashes to rooftop" for the wife and family of Pvt. C. M. Roberts, a former fellow workman now in the Army overseas. Their home had recently burned to the ground, leaving Mrs. Roberts and her three daughters without a roof overhead.

Dawn found the first cinder block foundation pieces being set, and by nightfall the proud Mrs. Roberts and daughters were sitting on the completed steps of their new house—amazed and sniffling with gratitude.

Carpenters, masons and plumbers worked side by side with executives, Vice President Bob Whitten cheerfully taking orders as a carpenter's helper.

This morning, the occupants were moving what belongings they had been able to save into their now home from a shack they had occupied since the tragedy.

Ploesti's Loss Cuts Axis' Oil 60 Percent

LONDON, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — The capture of the Ploesti oil fields in Romania by the Russians has deprived Axis Europe of about 60 per cent of its refined oil products.

While the wells appear to have been only slightly damaged, the refineries were subject to prolonged and concentrated Allied bombing and the rapidity of their restoration depends to a great degree on the Allied need for them, which at the moment does not appear to be great.

Ploesti had an annual refinery capacity of 10,000,000 tons, which by the end of July had been cut to 2,000,000. The wells themselves, however, had a capacity of 5,500,000 tons yearly.

It was estimated in London today that Germany's total capacity of all refined oil products now total 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 tons yearly — half of it synthetic — which is a mere trickle for requirements of modern warfare.

SALE OF BASES HIT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — Senator Brooks (R-Ill) protested in the Senate today against the recent sale of air bases in Canada and called upon Congress to prohibit further sales of American-built aviation facilities in other lands until American rights to their use have been guaranteed by treaties.

Powerful U. S. Fleets Scuttle 30 Jap Ships

Five-Day Raids Also Take Toll Of 107 Planes

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Thirty Japanese ships and 107 planes were wrecked in a blazing chain of American sea and air bombardments, reported yesterday and today, extending over the 4,500 mile length of the Mikado's empire.

The attacks covered one of the most devastating five day periods of the war—from last Wednesday to Sunday. Previously reported air actions ran Japan's losses for the five days to 158 planes knocked out and 55 ships sunk or badly damaged. Sixty-eight barges, sampans, and other small craft were also crippled.

Bonin-Volcano Groups Hit

The heaviest blow was struck by powerful carrier and naval forces striking within 650 miles of Japan in a three-day bombardment of the Bonin and Volcano islands. Bombs, rockets, and shellfire knocked a dozen Nipponese ships and 85 planes out of action. Land-based Liberators followed up to carry the bombardment into four consecutive days.

Another dozen ship were destroyed or damaged in the southern Philippines. A single Catalina flying boat attacking an eight ship convoy in Davao gulf definitely sank three and probably three others.

A record 140 tons raid on the Celebes, south of the Philippines, wired out between 18 and 22 Japanese planes, three sizeable ships and three coastal craft.

Two Task Forces Busy

A fast naval force shelled and bombed Wake island Sunday, two days after the strike at the Bonin-Volcano group 1,645 miles to the west, without flushing any prey. The simultaneous use of two task forces indicates the power of the fleet operating in the Pacific.

Land-based planes were opposed only by antiaircraft guns in raids on Paramushiro, north of Japan; Palau, Halmahera, Talaud and other islands protecting the Philippines; Truk and Ponape in the Carolines, and other Japanese held islands in the Marshalls, Marianas and Dutch East Indies.

Six United States planes were reported missing in the entire series of raids.

Only encouraging reports for Tokyo came from China. Three Japanese columns advanced to within 40 miles of the U. S. air-

Second Polio Case Is Diagnosed Here

The second case of poliomyelitis diagnosed in Lubbock since Oct. 2, 1943, was reported this morning to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

The patient is Rev. Charles Virden, pastor of the Baptist church at Hobbs, N. M. He was brought Saturday to Lubbock General hospital where his case was diagnosed today as polio. The hospital reported his condition as "satisfactory" early this afternoon.

The first Lubbock polio victim, Barbara Butler, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mutler, 1904 Twenty-seventh, is in Lubbock General hospital where her condition was said to be improved.

Tirpitz Rocked By British Navy Planes

LONDON, Sept. 5. (AP) — British naval planes scored hits on the great 35,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz and damaged at least 16 other enemy vessels in a series of recent attacks on enemy shipping in northern waters, the admiralty announced tonight.

The Tirpitz, previously crippled in a Norwegian fjord by British midget submarines and fleet aerial attacks, has recently been reported repaired and making test runs.

The attacking planes damaged six enemy radio stations, hangars and other installations along the Norwegian coast in the Hammerfest area above the Arctic circle. Near North Cape they shot down nine German planes and damaged a number of others. Eleven British planes were lost.

"During the course of attacks on enemy shipping, an antiaircraft vessel was seen to blow up and a destroyer and tanker were set on fire," the communique said, "damage was inflicted on at least 16 other enemy vessels which included a U-boat, a U-boat depot ship, two armed trawlers and a large supply ship."

New Bulgarian Regime Given Sharp Rebuke

Balkan Nation Is Accused Of Harboring Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 5. — Russia declared war on Bulgaria, the Moscow radio announced tonight.

A foreign office statement announced that the Soviet Union broke relations and declared war against Bulgaria. The Balkan country has been at war with the United States and Britain, but not with Russia.

Earlier in the day an official statement issued by Tass news agency sharply rebuked the new Bulgarian government for insisting on maintaining strict neutrality and accused Bulgaria of harboring German forces.

BULGARIA CUTS LAST TIES WITH GERMANY

BY J. EDWARD MURRAY
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 5 — Bulgaria broke her last ties with Germany today and ordered her peace emissaries in Cairo to conclude an armistice with the United States and Great Britain as quickly as possible.

Bowing to powerful Red armies massed along the Bulgarian-Romanian frontier, Premier Constantin Muraviev broadcast a proclamation to the Bulgarian people announcing that his government had repudiated the Axis tri-partite and anti-comintern pacts and was ready to make peace with the Allies.

Muraviev, a veteran peasant party leader who formed a new cabinet last Saturday night to replace that of ex-premier Ivan Bargianov, proclaimed his country's full neutrality in the Soviet-German war and promised that any German troops attempting to escape into Bulgaria would be disarmed.

Soviets Denounce Stand

Radio Moscow re-broadcast Muraviev's declaration and followed it almost immediately with a semi-official statement from the Soviet Tass news agency denouncing the Bulgarian stand as unsatisfactory.

Bulgaria's only hope, Tass said,

Rhineland And Budapest Hit

LONDON, Sept. 5. (AP)—Up to 1,750 American planes from the west and south struck three major transport and industrial centers in the German Rhineland today in the path of advancing Allied armies and bombed Budapest and rail bridges in Hungary and northern Italy.

Around 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain bombed Stuttgart, Karlsruhe and Ludwigshafen. They were convoyed by about 500 Mustang fighters.

Up to 500 heavy bombs from Italy blasted Budapest, and railroad bridges 20 miles northeast of Szob and ten miles southeast at Szolnok. The Germans threw up flak at the Hungarian capital, but risked no fighter planes. Another flight of Liberators bombed the Ferrara bridge in North Italy for the sixth time in a fortnight.

Lightnings caught a whole fleet of German planes on improvised and virtually undefended landing fields in western German and destroyed 60 on the ground and 15 in the air.

Berlin said other American fleets from Italy were striking in

GOP Governors To Broadcast Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — Governors of New Jersey, Michigan and Washington broadcast tonight over a coast to coast network in support of Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee for president.

Gov. Walter E. Edge will speak from Atlantic City, N. J.; Gov. Harry F. Kelly, from Lansing, Mich., and Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, from Olympia, Wash.

The 15 minute broadcast will be carried over the mutual network at 8:15 p. m. (CWT).

Allies Storming Reich Defenses On Long Front

Unofficial Reports Place Yanks Across German Border In Three Places; British Troops Driving Deeper Into Holland

(By The Associated Press)

The battle for Germany opened full blast today with Allied forces reported to be storming defenses of the Nazi homeland at both ends of the European plain.

Unofficial reports put American motorized forces across Germany's western border at three points on a winding front of more than 100 miles as British troops thrust deeper into Holland and solidified their hold on Belgium.

Official silence still cloaked the whereabouts of the swift American forces which were vicariously reported across the German border.

Supreme headquarters had no confirmation of reports that the German frontier had been crossed.

The fast-moving Third army under Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., presumably had been on the go for three days under a complete security blackout — such as those which marked the American

WORKERS URGED TO DESERT

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP) — A spokesman for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told foreign workers in Germany in a broadcast today to desert their factories at the first opportunity as the first step in a concerted campaign of cooperation with the [illegible] tary offensive against the [illegible] lightning dash across [illegible] tany peninsula, the cutoff dri north from Le Mans to close the Falaise gap and the dash past Paris through Orleans.

Unconfirmed reports received at the Swiss-French frontier said that Allied forces had captured Aachen, Germany, three miles across the frontier and 25 miles northeast of the Belgian city of Liege, and Saarbrucken, Germany, two miles across the frontier and 70 miles east of Verdun.

Patton Said At Strasbourg

An earlier report quoted reliable information as saying that Patton's mobile offensive had reached Strasbourg, France, on the Rhine frontier 70 miles east of Nancy.

Supreme headquarters explained the blackout on information was in force to keep the Germans baffled over the direction and speed of the American advance.

By past performance, it would be quite possible for the Third army to have driven anywhere up to 75 miles.

The Allied armies apparently were attempting a breakthrough into Germany's west wall without waiting for a cleanup of routed German armies in France and the Low Countries. A British flying column which captured Brussels and Antwerp was reported to have raced through Breda, five miles inside Holland and less than a n hour's airplane flight to Berlin. The sweep into the Netherlands trapped an estimated 100,000 Germans along the robot bomb coast.

Brest Garrison Holds Out

Heavy fighting was reported in the siege of Brest on the Brittany peninsula, where a diehard garrison still was holding out.

It was announced that Third army prisoners of war had mounted to 76,000. Enemy wounded were estimated at 64,000 and enemy dead at 19,500.

Behind the British spearheads operating in Belgium and Holland, Canadians fought their way to within three miles of Boulogne

Patton Reaches Moselle River

Nazis Withdraw Across Stream

BY RICHARD C. RICHARDS
United Press Staff Writer

WITH U. S. THIRD ARMY On Moselle River, Sept. 4 (Delayed) —Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's battle-grimed fighters came to grips tonight with the Germans in the tiny village of Pont-A-Mousson, astride the Moselle 13 miles south of Metz.

(This dispatch was the first word direct from the Third army front in several days).

After scattered fighting between patrols early this morning, the Germans withdrew to the east bank of the river, blowing up the bridges across the 80-foot Moselle behind them.

Yanks Hold Half Of Town

Late tonight the Americans definitely held half of the burning town, while Germans hidden in the high hills across the river were pounding the west bank with machineguns and 88's.

Although patrols previously had stabbed across the vital waterway guarding the last Nazi defenses in northeastern France, this was the only point at which American troops were standing on the Moselle in substantial strength.

We rolled into the village about 4 p. m. when artillery fire ceased. Only the trailing columns of blue smoke rising over the edge of the town near the water's edge betrayed the fact that a battle had taken place.

Most Of Nazis Gone

A sweat-streaked lieutenant said most of the Germans pulled back across the river about 5 a. m., but scattered fighting from house to house continued until 10 a. m.

"They have been shelling the hell out of this part of town all day," he said. "But they are lousy shots, and haven't hit me yet."

French villagers said many Germans were unable to make their way across the river and were hiding on our side waiting for night to try again.

Nazi Artillery Silenced

While we crouched in a plum orchard and trained glasses on the hills across the river, attempting to discern German positions, machinegun fire rattled intermittently on our left.

Two Mustang fighter planes overhead told why the Nazi artillery suddenly ceased. Now near the water's edge the silence some times was broken by a single angry spat of some American carbine.

Villagers squatted or stood by the roadside and watched the American infantrymen walking their steady, plodding gait on both sides of the main highway,

Finland's Borders Due To Stay Intact

LONDON, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—A Moscow dispatch said today that diplomatic observers there expected Russian and Finnish representatives to work out a peace pact leaving Finland's 1941 borders intact and giving the Finns a fair chance for early economic recovery.

The Red army ceased hostilities on the Finnish front today, and there was every sign that the Soviets and Finns would have little trouble in achieving a satisfactory settlement. Helsinki announced yesterday that Finland was giving up the Axis alliance and the fight against Russia.

Truman Sounds Need For FDR's Election

DETROIT, Sept. 5. (AP)—Political seers today weighed the effects of the fourth term campaign's first official visit to Michigan, made by vice presidential candidate Harry S. Truman in a busy Labor day round of speech-making.

The Missouri Senator, in three speeches to labor rallies, pleaded for re-election of President Roosevelt with the arguments, among others, that he was the best hope for the "common man" and that Thomas E. Dewey, his Republican rival, was "inexperienced."

In speeches to a Detroit Cadillac square audience of 25,000 to 30,000, and to a Pontiac group and a second Detroit rally, Senator Truman championed Mr. Roosevelt as the "greatest man" ever to occupy the White House and the representative of a "fair, square deal."

"The absolute salvation of this country lies in the re-election of President Roosevelt," Truman told his Pontiac listeners, and to both Detroit rallies the Senator promised that the Democrats would "put human welfare first and profits second" in their conduct of economic affairs.

"We shall not, for the sake of price and profit, restrict our output of the good things of life," Truman said. "Rather, for the sake of our people, we shall return to the 40-hour week and increase basic wages in terms of actual purchasing power—that is, we will enable labor to buy and use an ever-increasing amount of the good things of life."

Stevenson To Leave Today By Plane For Roosevelt Parley.

AUSTIN, Sept. 5 (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson will make his first airplane trip today and fly to Washington for a conference with President Roosevelt.

Stevenson goes at the President's invitation for talks on a "number of things."

The governor said he had received both a telephonic and a telegraphic invitation to meet the President, who expressed a hope that Stevenson would bring with him data regarding future manufacturing facilities.

The meeting has political potentialities since the governor last week advanced a plan whereby he hoped the state Democratic convention meeting in Dallas Sept. 12 might solve its presidential elector snarl.

Governor Stevenson said his Washington trip had a double purpose in that he had long since agreed to appear tomorrow before the Civil Aeronautics authority in support of an application by the city of Houston for an international port of entry.

"He departed at 1:15 p.m. and is scheduled to arrive in Washington early tomorrow."

The governor will be accompanied on his flight by his executive

Broadcast Rumor Of German Capitulation Wholly Untrue

LONDON, Sept. 5 (U.P.) — The Brussels radio broadcast a wholly unsupported rumor today that Germany had capitulated to the Allies and retracted it less than two hours later, adding that "the fight goes on."

Supreme headquarters said the broadcast rumor of German capitulation was untrue.

The capitulation report, heavily qualified even at the outset, apparently originated from the garbling of a description of the capture of 10,000 Germans near Mons.

The second broadcast on the subject said:

"Dear listeners: We are obliged to tell you to our deep regret that a rumor, according to which Germany was alleged to have capitulated and which was this morning broadcast by a foreign station, has not been confirmed. The fight goes on."

The retraction broadcast was in Flemish, the original message in French and Flemish.

The Brussels station, now Allied controlled, was none too sure of its report and qualified it heavily.

"Ladies and gentlemen," the announcer said, speaking French, "foreign stations have announced

Yanks Are Reported On 'Sacred Soil'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Yankee tanks are reported fighting on Hitler's "sacred soil" — down at Strasbourg on the Rhine in southwest Germany — and at long last the battle of Germany has begun.

Other Allied forces are tearing across western Europe toward the German border.

We aren't having to battle our way forward, save in isolated instances. The Hitlerites are running like rabbits, trying to reach their Siegfried line.

Siegfried Stand Doubted

In short, the hour of Hitler's general withdrawal to his inner fortress, so far as concerns all western Europe, is at hand. Will he be able to salvage enough from the wreckage to make a stand on the Siegfried line?

Probably neither he nor anyone else knows, for it's on the knees of the gods. The Allied airforces are having a field day —pouring death and destruction onto the retreating Germans.

Hard Fighting Ahead

I think we should be wrong to assume that we haven't some hard fighting ahead of us. However, the Germans cannot long hold the Siegfried line, or any other line against the advancing Allies.

The Siegfried line can't keep us out of the heart of Germany. For one thing it probably can be breached, strong as it is, by employment of air power and massed artillery.

But it may not be necessary to smash the Siegfried line. The Allies have a big army of air-borne troops looking for trouble, and it may be that they will be used to knock the line out from the rear.

Committee For Peace Planned

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — A special "peace planning" committee in Congress emerged today as one aim of sponsors of legislation to keep politics out of our foreign affairs.

The resolution itself, introduced jointly by Reps. Hays (D-Ark) and Judd (R-Minn), provides only that:

"All legislation regarding establishment and maintaining peace shall be the joint responsibility of the majority and minority parties."

But the authors disclosed a hope for implementation through a special committee.

Snags Foreseen

They admitted hastily that such a plan probably will strike some snags "because it would emphasize ability rather than seniority and would deal with many matters ordinarily handled by other committees."

The two told a reporter before leaving the city on an extended trip, however, that they had "several alternative plans" if members rejected the idea, and stressed their chief goal was just to have Congress put itself on record in favor of their campaign for non-partisanship.

Final Broadcast By LAAF Is Scheduled

Final broadcast by LAAF band, which is scheduled for overseas duty soon, has been set for Wednesday night from 7:15 to 8 o'clock, post officials announced Monday night. A special program has been arranged.

The band, known in military circles as the 628th Army band, under direction of CWO George P. Attridge, former member of the U. S. Military Academy band, has appeared in many neighboring communities, has played for military parades, various celebrations and recruiting activities. It was organized at Westover Field, Mass., and came to LAAF in 1942. Most of its members are from the East.

Details of the band's new assignment were not announced, but members of the band will get regular furloughs before they finally leave the field.

Dewey Finishes Work On 7 Major Speeches

PAWLING, N. Y., Sept. 5 (U.P.)— Except for last minute revisions Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate, has completed work on the seven campaign speeches he will deliver on his 21-state tour.

He was worked on the manuscripts steadily for the past week. Only major international developments, such as the sudden collapse of Germany, would require him to make complete revisions.

Sgt. James Nelson Missing In Action

Sgt. James W. Nelson, 25, is reported as missing in action over Hungary, his mother, Mrs. W. W. Nelson of 2212 Fifteenth, was notified by the War department Monday. The Lubbock sergeant disappeared after an air raid Aug. 22, according to the notification.

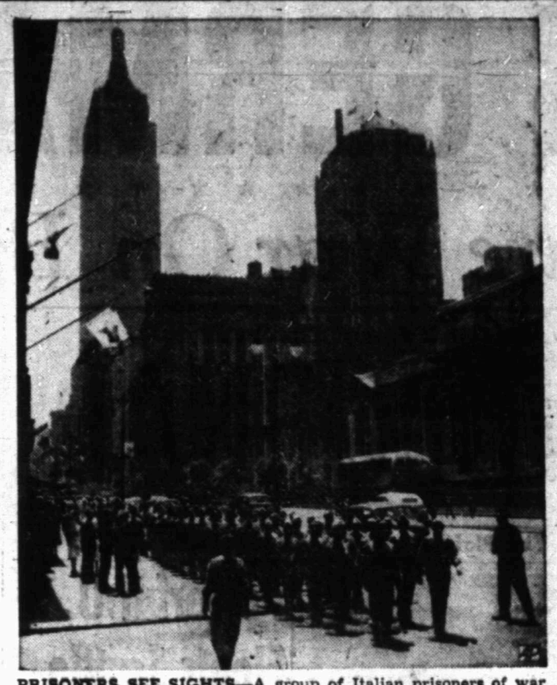

A graduate of Lubbock High school and former employe of Furr Food stores here, Sgt. Nelson has been in the Army about two years, was overseas for a short time before his last flight. His sister is Mrs. George W. Dupree, jr.

Another message concerning a Lubbock service man overseas, Lt. Worthy A. Long, U. S. Army Air forces, reveals he is "well and safe," according to reports from his sister, Mrs. Mable Dunlap of this city. Lt. Long previously was reported as a prisoner of war in Romania.

ODESSA MAN KILLED

ODESSA, Sept. 5. (AP) — Mack Bradley, 43, father of 12 children three of whom are in the armed services, was killed Monday when struck by an automobile. Bradley was employed for the last three months with a construction company. The body was sent to Zephyr, Tex., for burial.

Flying Officers, Flight B Win Playoff Games

The Flying Officers and Flight B opened the Lubbock Army Air field post softball league playoffs with victories Monday afternoon.

The Flying Officers were forced to come from behind twice to nose out the Finance Department club, 5-4, in ten innings. With Hayes pitching steady ball, Flight B had little trouble winning 8 to 1 over Flight A.

The opener was a real thriller with Finance going into the last of the seventh with a 3-2 lead, but Lt. Lowell homered to tie the score. Finance took another lead in their half of the eighth, but McDonald's triple and Ralph Tankersley's single again tied the score. In the tenth J. D. Tankersley singled, stole second and scored on Lt. Cash's double to left.

Areas Of Settlement For Japs Proposed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)— Here is Civente Villamin's plan for persuading the Japanese soldiers to surrender:

"Let the United States and Britain decide to assign some suitable islands among the thousands in the Pacific areas where the Japanese who surrender could live and build new communities after the war. . . .

"This invitation might decide him to give up like a good soldier and survive like any other human being."

Villamin, Filipino lawyer and economist, said in an article on the Los Angeles Times' editorial page that the island communities "should be rendered free from molestation from the Japanese government."

Ceilings Placed On Cold Storage Volume

AUSTIN, Sept. 5 (U.P.) —Ceilings on the amount of frozen fruits, vegetables and packaged fish which may be put in cold storage were announced today by C. B. Hodges, acting district representative of the War Food administration's office of distribution here.

Amounts of the products was limited to that stored on Oct. 1, 1943. The WFA order also prohibits storage of any product in lots smaller than 300 pounds and frozen poultry in barrels and baskets.

Limitations were made, Hodges said, to make space for meat needed by the armed forces.

What has Cake Baking to do with Synthetic Tires?

Six women, starting with the same ingredients, will bake cakes of widely varying quality. Why? Because it takes more than just the ingredients for a really good cake...you've got to have THAT SPECIAL "KNACK"

General has a special "knack," too...in compounding synthetic rubber for Prewar Mileage

More important to you today, than ever, is General's famous "knack" for getting more mileage out of rubber. Because, in synthetic tires, this same "knack" now gives you a General that has proved it is as far ahead in mileage as Generals always have been.

From start to finish, General uses its own special formula to build a tire that is a Top-Quality General, in every way. A tire with the kind of extra mileage for which Generals have always been famous.

There is actually far more difference in tires now than before. Come in—let us show you why.

WHEN YOU BUY... BE SURE OF LONG MILEAGE

LET US SHOW YOU THE RECORDS OF LOCAL GENERAL SYNTHETIC USERS

You must have your present tires recapped, if possible . . . but, when you get a precious new-tire certificate, use it for the tire that has proved that it gives you Top-Quality as only General knows how to build it.

How To Choose Electors Moot

AUSTIN, Sept. 5. (AP) — Texas Democrats still wondered today how electors will be chosen in the November election.

Democratic State Chairman George A. Butler, Houston, after a Labor day visit with Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, said the governor's plan to list both the anti-Roosevelt and pro-Roosevelt sets of electors on the November ballot for people to vote on is "fair."

Butler qualified his comment by saying Stevenson's plan is a "step in the right direction," and that someone may come forth with a better plan. He said the state executive committee might offer a plan.

Nominations Unalterable

In a formal statement Clint C. Small, Austin, floor leader of the majority in the May convention for uninstructed electors, said the Dallas convention Sept. 12 could not set aside the May 23 nominations. Small formerly was a state Senator from Amarillo.

Butler said some plan had to be worked out so that people would not be "disfranchised." If selection of electors is left to the courts, the people will not be pleased, he said, as voters compose the best court.

Butler also said the Sept. 12 convention should decide what should be done about the U. S. supreme court's decision giving negroes a right to vote in Democratic primaries.

Repeal Of Laws Urged

A committee of lawyers appointed several months ago by Butler has recommended that certain primary election laws be repealed by the Legislature and the party regulate itself by by-laws rather than having statutory control.

The executive subcommittee on credentials, that will start hearing delegations' disputes Sept. 9 at Dallas, will be headed by Judge Otis Dunagan, Gilmer, Butler said.

Butler said the 10 or 12 member committee should be composed of persons of judicial temperament as "hearings before them should be conducted in a more judicial manner than in the past."

As for the Dallas convention's operation, Butler said he would not tolerate any "steamroller tactics." He said roll calls would be held on important issues.

Flying Automobiles Predicted By Flier

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 5 (AP) — Roscoe Turner of Indianapolis, former speed flier, has predicted "flying automobiles" in the post-war future.

When his prediction brought a laugh from the Missouri American Legionnaires he was addressing, Turner said:

"I'm not kidding. These things have already been flown.

"Some day when you go in to buy a car, the salesman will ask whether you want it with or without wings.

"You'll be able to drive to the airport, attach the wings and take off. When you come back, you'll check the wings at the airport and drive back to your garage."

Echols' Oil Holdings Sold For $4,350,000

HOUSTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—George H. Echols, independent oil operator of Houston long identified with oil development along the Louisiana and Gulf coastal belt and in the lower Rio Grande area, has disposed of most of his holdings for around $4,350,00.

This announcement was made today by Frank Dyer of Vinson, Elkins, Weems, and Francis, legal firm representing the parties interested in the deal.

The deal not only included those properties held in Echols' name but also those of the Titanic Oil company, developed by Echols.

The deals included the Jena, La., area opened to production by Echols a year ago. H. L. Hunt, independent of Dallas, and W. O. Woodward, Shreveport independent, were the purchasing, but the sum involved was not disclosed.

A Houston syndicate composed of Louis and Harry Pulaski, Morris Rauch, and Floyd L. Karsten purchased Echols' properties in the League City field. Galveston county, South China field in Jefferson county, Hardin field in Liberty county, and the University field in Louisiana. These properties include 18 oil producers with a daily allowable of 1,000 barrels.

O. R. Mitchell of J. F. Gravis of San Ontonio purchased the Echols holdings in Ascension parish, La., for $3,500,000.

Near Donna in the lower valley a block of acreage went to the Stanolind Oil and Gas company. Acreage in Starr county was sold to W. H. Holland and associates. A number of drilling rigs were also included in the transaction.

Echols retained interests in the Napoleonville, Westwego, and Convent Dome fields in coastal Louisiana.

In 1943 an inscribed strip of bronze, indicating existence of a king of the world 2,500 years ago, was discovered in Palestine.

Boy, 6, Dies After Drinking Whisky

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—A six-year-old boy died Monday as the result, police Lt. L. P. Hale said, of drinking more than a pint of whisky.

Hale said the lad, Rudolfo Fierro, had been left in the family automobile while his mother, Maria, and his uncle, Edward Fierro, entered a cafe. When they returned the boy was unconscious and a quart bottle of whisky left in the car had been opened and more than half emptied. An inhalator squad failed ot revived the boy.

The mother, uncle and a companion were held for questioning.

Mail Service With France Is Resumed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Uncle Sam resumed at least limited postal service to northern French provinces today — after an interruption caused by Nazi occupation.

Postmaster General Walker said that effective immediately non-illustrated post cards in English or French, on personal or family matters, will be accepted for delivery to civilians in these provinces:

Creully, cantons of Douvreszn Bayeaux, Ryes, Tilly, Caen, Balleroy, Trevieres and Isigny-Sur-Mer in the department of Calvados, as well as cantons north of and including St. Oalo-de-la-Lande, St. Sauveur-Iandelin, Coutances, St. Jean-de-Daye, Periers and St. Clair-Sur-L'Elle in the department of Manche.

The cost of the post cards will be three cents, the same as was in effect Dec. 4, 1942, when service was suspended. Only mail originating in continental United States, excluding Alaska, will be delivered under these preliminary arrangements.

One Dead, 22 Injured In Bus-Truck Mishap

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 5. (AP) — One person was fatally injured, one was critically hurt and 22 others, including 13 Camp Howze soldiers, were less seriously injured when a gasoline truck and a Camp Howze bus collided three miles west of here Monday.

Mrs. David Gray, about 55, employed in the Camp Howze station hospital, died in a hospital several hours after the crash.

Bluford W. Richardson, driver of the bus, suffered a shattered leg, head injury and general shock and was reported in a serious condition.

None of the eleven soldiers, who were taken to the Camp Howze station hospital, was seriously hurt.

Nine other women, all employes at Camp Howze, suffered bruises, cuts and shock.

King Mihai Restores Liberal Constitution

BUCHAREST, Sept. 5. (AP) — King Mihai issued a decree today restoring to Romania the liberal constitution abolished in 1938 by his father, former King Carol.

The royal decree will indirectly bring about abolition of racial laws passed during Romania's partnership in the Axis and many other anti-democratic laws.

It is believed this action may wipe out a number of conditions still standing in the way of an armistice with the Allies.

Taste A Better Kind
of Coffee

Not just another brand—Mountain grown
Folger's is a new coffee enjoyment

Naturally, you'd enjoy coffee more, if you could have the very finest coffee that grows.

Well, you can! For Folger's is that kind of coffee—mountain-grown coffee—with a rich, vigorous flavor.

True, the finest coffee is rare. It grows only on high volcanic slopes where soil, sun and air produce a richness of flavor which coffee authorities the world over recognize as world's best. Altogether, such mountain-grown coffees are only a small fraction of the world's supply.

But you can have this rare mountain-grown coffee at its best in Folger's—you can enjoy a flavor that has never been matched by any other coffee.

What is more, Folger's is so rich in vigorous flavor we urge you to use ¼ less when you make it. Thus, you will enjoy the most delicious coffee at no extra cost—if not actually at a saving! To get this better kind of coffee be sure to ask for Folger's.

There's a mountain of flavor in every spoonful of Folger's

Great Dry Dock And Turning Basin Seen

HOUSTON, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — A new 15,000-ton dry dock and a new turning basin will be under construction shortly on the Houston Ship channel, it was announced in Washington yesterday by Cong. Albert Thomas.

The huge dry dock and the new turning basin — construction of which will be started within two weeks—will cost between $4,000,000 and $4,500,000, the Congressman said.

The new channel facilities will accommodate the largest ship capable of moving up the ship channel, Thomas said, adding that the project will be completed within four or five months.

Many Visitors Will Visit Rubber Plant

AUSTIN, Sept. 5. (U.P.)—Rubber tire industry leaders and nationally-known newspaper and radio men will be welcomed to Austin by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson Nov. 14 in connection with opening of a new rubber plant at Waco, it was announced oday.

The group also will visit Corpus Christi, Freeport, Galveston, Houston, Baytown, Dallas and Fort Worth and possibly Abilene and Amarillo.

Albuquerque's Post War Plans Decided

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 5. (U.P.) — Albuquerque's post war plans already were under way today.

The city's plans concern the day on which Germany surrenders. Liquor stores will close for the occasion and the chamber of commerce is asking other stores to follow suit.

Churches will open their doors, and Mayor Clyde Tingley plans street dancing and music.

Resistance Of Nazis In Italy Mounts

ROME, Sept. 5. (AP) — Canadian troops of the Eighth army, supported by British warships standing offshore, drove last night to within six miles of Rimini but Allied headquarters declared today they were meeting increasing resistance as they edged closer to the eastern terminus of the important Po valley highway.

The Nazis reached vigorously to the bridgehead across the Conca river, which the Canadians established after a slashing two-prong drive during the last three days. Bitter fighting raged along the ridge running south from Abissina to Misano.

The Germans hurled heavy tanks and fresh infantry contingents against the Canadians in a determined effort to retake Misano, which they lost Sept. 3, but after a bloody fight the Canadians swept the area clear of the enemy.

When the fighting abated eight Nazi armored cars, six Mark IV tanks and three Hornets littered the battlefield, along with untold enemy dead.

West of Florence, the Fifth army scored gains of almost five miles, reaching the Serchio river and the outskirts of Lucca, a provincial capital of 82,000 and a junction of six important roads.

Services Read For 2 McAllen Victims

McALLEN, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — Services were planned today for the victims of two separate Labor day accidents here.

Miss Viola Marie Miller, 17, died late last night of injuries received when the automobile in which she and three others were riding figursd in a collision with a truck.

The other victim was C. R. McMahan, 78, who died in a hospital from injuries received when he was struck by a train. He was reported have walked into the path of a switching engine at a downtown crossing.

The other passengers in the car with Miss Miller were treated at hospitals for serious injuries. They were Lt. Floyd Derflingern, Miss Betty Ann Beebaur, and Lt. R. J. Dillard of Moore Field, Mission.

FOR MEN ONLY

Scientists have now found that men who are run down, and no longer have the ability to enjoy life as they once did, may be suffering from a deficiency of certain essential vitamins and hormones. Middle-aged men especially may be the victims of this embarrassing condition. Tromone, the new medical discovery, combines the necessary vitamins and hormones that may make it possible for you to get a kick out of life again. If taken in sufficient quantities, to make up your vitamin-hormone deficiency, Tromone may stimulate your vitality, give you the verve and zest of a much younger man. Airline Service For Lubbock Discussed

Lubbock stands a good chance of getting airline service in the near future, A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, said in a talk before members of the Lubbock Lions club today noon in Hilton hotel.

Davis said Essair, Inc., which has a three-year temporary permit, has perfected its organization and expects to start seryice through Lubbock in October.

Davis reviewed the various applications filed for service here and said Braniff airways, which has been granted a permit for a stop here between Wichita Falls and Amarillo, has already filed application for permission to land at South Plains Army Air field, formerly the municipal airport, and for an airway from here to Wichita Falls and from here to Amarillo.

The application of American Airlines for service through Lubbock on a flight from Oklahoma City to El Paso offers the greatest possibilities for transcontinental service, Davis said.

Davis was introduced by G. R. Kennedy, program chairman. Dr. S. S. McKay presided in the absence of Dr. W. A. Pettey, president. Out-of-town visitors at the luncheon were: Dr. Arthur Edwards of Panama City, Panama; Lt. Leland Payne of the U. S. Navy and Harold M. Rider of Ojai, Calif.

News Briefs

New President of Lubbock Bar association is Leo S. Hay. He was elected Tuesday morning. Others elected were Robert H. Bean, vice president; J. Orville Smith, secretary-treasurer, and W. W. Campbell, sergeant-at-arms. Plans for a dinner program Sept. 19, to which women guests will be invited, were referred to a committee.

Last rites for A. M. Becton, widely-known stock farmer who died Sunday night at his residence in Becton, were to be read there at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was 75 years old at the time of his death and had been a resident of Becton community for the last 47 years.

Texas Tech alumni and Ex-student association will hold a business meeting at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Lubbock Hotel ballroom. Plans for an association luncheon will be discussed.

Pvts. Phil K. Ragland, Garland Casey, Tom Pirtle, T. C. Root, jr. and Charles Neefe, all stationed at Amarillo Army Air field, spent the Labor Day holiday with their parents here. They had two guests, Forrest Meadows of Lorraine and Bob Thomas of El Paso.

Members of the Harley Sadler tent theater troupe entertained at the Optimist club luncheon today in Lubbock hotel: Carl Park, violinist; Mrs. Jean Seiler, pianist, and Munday and June, jugglers. They were introduced by Sadler. Jim Holt was program chairman. Mrs. C. H. Scales said the Opti-Mrs., woman's auxiliary, would conduct a dinner program Sept. 12 in Lubbock hotel. Moss Green of Dallas was a guest. M. L. Shepherd is club president.

Manasco Warns Of 90 Billion Dollar Loss In War Supplies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — Legislators trying to figure out how to get rid of perhaps $105,000,000,000 of leftover war supplies estimated today that the government is going to take a $90,000,000,000 loss.

"We'll have $105,000,000,000 worth of surplus property," Rep. Manasco (D-Ala) told reporters, "and we'll do well to realize $15,000,000,000—and that includes war plants.

"Of course, if we want to go and destroy our domestic economy, we might get $30,000,000,000."

Manasco said he thinks other members of a Senate-House committee who are attempting to work out a compromise surplus property disposal bill are fully aware that there is likely to be a $90,000,000,000 loss and that the American people also should be prepared for it.

Gives Specific Instances

Chairman of the House delegation on the conference committee, Manasco said members realize that a tremendous amount of war goods won't be worth dismantling or transporting home when the fighting stops.

"Take a B-24 bomber," he said. "It takes 800 man-hours to dismantle one and it couldn't bring more than $2,500 in scrap. And they aren't any good for commercial airplanes because they are too heavy and burn too much gas."

Or who would want to buy a naval torpedo which originally cost thousands of dollars?

There might be a market for some trainer planes and, among the wealthy, for some two-motored bombers, Manasco surmised.

Most of the excess war materials abroad will be sold abroad, the Alabaman predicted, although "we're going to run into a lot of opposition over there."

"Guess My Age!"

New Kind of Face Powder Makes Her Look Years Younger!

ONCE this lovely girl looked quite a bit older. Some people actually thought she was rapidly approaching middle age . . .

For she was the innocent victim of an unflattering face powder! It was such an unkind powder—treacherous and sly. It showed up every tiny line in her face—accented every little skin fault—even seemed to exaggerate the size of her pores.

But look at her now! Can you guess her age? Would you say she is 20-30-35?

At last she has found a face powder that really flatters her skin—makes it look younger and more enchanting!

Why Lady Esther Face Powder Is So Flattering

Lady Esther Face Powder is extra flattering because it's made differently. It isn't just mixed, just sifted, in the usual way. It's blown by Twin Hurricanes—blended with the speed and power of hurricanes—to look clearer, smoother and more flattering on your skin!

Because of this patented, exclusive method of hurricane blending, the texture of Lady Esther Face Powder is much smoother and finer than ordinary powder. The first touch of your puff spreads a delicate film of beauty on your skin, hiding little lines, little blemishes. And Lady Esther Face Powder clings longer, too—clings four long hours!

But the most exciting difference is in the shades. Lady Esther shades have a subtle new quality—because the color is blown in by hurricanes. Many women say that the Lady Esther shades are so fresh and alive that ordinary powder shades seem dull and drab by comparison.

Living Proof—In Your Own Mirror!

Just try Lady Esther Face Powder! Try it on one side of your face—and on the other, apply your usual make-up. Then compare—for looks, for texture, for shade! Does Lady Esther Face Powder make your skin look smoother, younger? YOU be the judge! No matter what you paid for your present face powder—even if you paid $10.00 or more—you'll find that Lady Esther Face Powder makes you look more beautiful!

Sentiment Mounts In Congress For Postwar Highway Measure

BY ERNEST G. WARREN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — Agitation is growing in Congress for early action on a postwar highway authorization bill for the twin purposes of (1) jobs and (2) adequate transportation.

Rep. Randolph (D-W. Va.) says the legislation would give "returning members of our armed forces and discharged war plant workers the job insurance they have earned." Randolph is the ranking member of the House roads committee.

Rep. Stefan (R-Neb) predicts the postwar period will bring "a tremendous demand for transportation facilities, particularly on the highways."

Would Provide 6,000,000 Jobs

Pending legislation would authorize a $1,500,000,000 highway program. Witnesses who appeared before the House roads committee during a two-month long hearing earlier in the year estimated the program would provide jobs for more than 6,000,000 men directly or indirectly.

Randolph favors highway building as unemployment insurance because he says it "will provide jobs without loss of time and where they are needed."

"As well learned in the last depression," he said in a statement, "highway construction was more quickly gotten under way and it reached peak employment sooner than any other type of construction. We do not know when the first phase of the war will be over, but we do know that we must be prepared to have jobs available, particularly during the reconversion period.

Farm Roads High On List

Stefan would put improvement on farm-to-market roads high on the proposed program. He calls them "our bread-and-butter roads."

Aides of the House roads committee say it is unlikely that the bill can be considered until late September. The House rules committee is to meet September 10 to decide when the measure should be brought up.

The program authorized by the bill would be spread over a three-year period at a rate of $500,000,000 annually in federal funds to be matched in part by state funds. The first $500,000,000 would be apportioned within 30 days of passage of the measure and be made available immediately.

As unanimously approved by the committee, the bill provides for the federal government to bear 60 per cent of construction costs and the states 40 per cent during the first year. In the next two years the costs would be borne 50-50.

BROKEN RAIL BLAMED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—A broken rail caused the accident to a 14-car passenger train of the Atlantic Coastline railroad near Stockton, Ga., on Aug. 4 when 47 persons were killed and 41 injured, the Interstate Commerce commission reported today.

Gas Reprisal Threat Repeated By Allies

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Allies with their air fleets could retaliate a hundred-fold against Germany if the Nazis should resort to gas warfare, military men declared today, but they added they thought it unlikely gas would be used in this war.

If Nazi extremists bent on ruling or ruining should employ gas against civilian populations in a bitter-end resistance, the Allies would be in a position through their air strength to drench German cities, one Briton in a high position observed.

If the Germans should use gas only on a limited scale, such spreading blistering gases to hold up Allied troops, the Allies would be able to turn that into a bad battlefield bargain because of their mechanical and air superiority.

K. Of C. Convention Slated In Amarillo

GALVESTON, Sept. 5 (AP) — Amarillo has been selected as the location for the 1945 state convention of the Knights of Columbus and committee heads for the ensuing year have been named.

Among those chosen as committee heads at yesterday's KC state officers' meeting were J. Lewis Lopez, Galveston, state membership; Herman Becker, Austin, permanent news record; Pat Tyman, Port Neches, special projects; Harry Langman, Denison, returning soldiers projects.

SICILIAN GRAFT NIPPED

ROME, Sept. 5. (AP)—Allied intelligence agents have smashed a huge Sicilian counterfeit ring, recovering nearly $500,000 in "queer" currency which the counterfeiters planned to pour into the larger Italian cities as they are liberated by the Allies, it was announced today.

There are more than 1,000 important uses for cotton.

More Beef Ordered For Armed Services

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — Stating that the armed services have been unable to obtain sufficient supplies, the War Food administration today ordered slaughterers operating under federal inspection to set aside 60 per cent instead of 50 per cent of army style beef for the government.

Civilian supplies of the better grades of beef will be proportionately reduced for the time being. However, with cattle marketings expected to increase sharply during the next several weeks, the government had predicted an abundant supply of lower grades of beef for civilians during the fall and early winter.

LESS SUGAR PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP) — The Agriculture department predicted today that supplies of sugar will be smaller next year. The report held out little hope for elimination of rationing until the war with Japan has been won.

Severe Earth Shock Strikes Northeast

(By The Associated Press)

A severe earth shock, followed several hours later by two minor tremors, shook northeastern United States and several provinces in Canada early today, awakening thousands of sleepers and causing heavy damage in the vicinity of Cornwall, Ont.

The first shock, recorded on Fordham university's seismograph at 11:39 p.m. (CWT), was centered near Malone, N. Y., and Cornwall, the Rev. Joseph Lynch, Fordham seismologist, said, and was felt as far south as Virginia, and as far west as Michigan.

Two additional tremors at 3:29 a.m. and 3:50 a.m. (CWT) were felt in the Cornwall district. The later was described as severe in Canada but Father Lynch expressed belief it was not strong enough to be noticed by individuals outside the immediate Cornwall area.

Only Surface Shock

Although the 11:39 p.m. shock was described by Father Lynch as "tha most severe that I recall in New York state," he said it was only a surface shock and not a major earthquake.

Canadian press said damage in Cornwall, on the banks of the St. Lawrence river, was unofficially estimated to be more than $100,000. Only one person was reported injured, however.

Chimneys toppled from hundreds of Cornwall houses, sections of brick broke loose from a number of buildings and windows cracked in downtown stores. Several families were forced to leave their homes.

More than a thousand persons fled into streets in night clothes. They described the quake as being more than a minute in duration, accompanied by a rumbling sound.

Buildings Rocked

Buildings in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto also were rocked.

Dishes fell from shelves, bottles toppled in taverns and windows rattled throughout New York state. Thousands were awakened by the jolt in Brooklyn, Queens and sections of Nassau county on Long Island.

Portland, Me., Manchester, N. H., Rutland, Vt., New Haven, Conn., Providence, R. I. and other northeastern areas felt the quake, but reported no damage. It also extended to Wilmington and surrounding Delaware areas, with "distinct shocks" at Wheeling, W. Va., and westward through Pennsylvania from Pittsburgh to Erie.

Prof. A. R. Schmitt of Loyola university at Chicago said "a severe shock was felt for 30 seconds" 750 miles northeast of Chicago. The jolt was felt only on the northside at Chicago.

A slight shock was experienced in southeastern Wisconsin.

expected to draw off a considerable part of the German armor from Warsaw and produce important repercussions in the battle.

One of the greatest tank battles of the war has been fought to a standstill on the northeastern approaches to Warsaw during the past few weeks. The Germans massed great armored strength there in a determined effort to hold the city, and losses on both side are described here as "very heavy."

Flank Threat Mounts

Zakharov's new offensive posed a serious flanking threat to the German armies in East Prussia, Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's 3rd White Russian army was massed along the Lithuanian-East Prussian frontier in great force and was believed ready to strike if Zakharov's troops continue to make headway from the south.

On the Romanian front, the 2nd Ukrainian army, supported by strong Romanian units, swept 47 miles north-northwest from their positions above Ploesti to capture the big railway and highway junction of Brazov. Capture of the town put the Soviets at the entrance to the Transylvanian plains extending 230 miles northward into Hungary proper.

Other Russian units striking west of Ploesti and northwest of Bucharest scored substantial gains in converging drives on Pitesti, an important rail junction controlling the lines leading to the Yugoslav and Bulgarian borders.

South Plains Rains

from Plainview said that precipitation was general over the Panhandle as far north as Amarillo and west into New Mexico.

Good rains were reported in all directions from Lubbock. In the extreme southern part of the territory rains did not fall until early this morning but they were heavy.

The following tabulation shows the rainfall in the area:

Idalou, 1 inch; Lorenzo, 1.50; Ralls, 1.00; Crosbyton, 1.00; Dickens, shower; Spur, heavy rain.

secretary Ernest Boyett.

Answering questions at a press conference the governor said the President informed him that there were a number of things he wished to discuss. This was in a telephone conversation. In a telegram the President said: "I hope you will bring data with reference to future manufacturing facilities as this is one of the points I want to talk to you about."

"The President did not mention politics in our conversation," the governor said.

To Discuss Water Rights

He added that the recent Texas visit of Vice President Henry A. Wallace had no connection with the President's invitation.

The governor said that he planned to discuss with the President pending water rights legislation, the proposed treaty with Mexico for division of waters on the Rio Grande and the Colorado and Tijuana rivers, the reconversion program, highway building and livestock.

Stevenson plans to return here Thursday.

It will be his first Washington visit since last fall.

Texarkana Cafe Is Robbed By Two Men

TEXARKANA, Sept. 5 (U.P.) — Two "walking" bandits, armed with pistols, held up a restaurant on the Arkansas side of Texarkana today, ordered the cashier not to move, and took $350 from the cash register.

After the robbery, the men walked nonchantly away. When last seen they were headed in the direction of the Texas state line.

City, county, and state officials have begun a search for the bandits.

Robbers Get $7,000, Flee Pier By Boat

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 5. (U.P.)—Two hijackers looted the safe at Lakeside report's leasure pier early today taking an estimated $7,000 and and fleeing by boat.

They bound the nightwatchman at the pier after the recreation center closed in the early morning hours.

The pier, located on the west shore of Lake Sabine, is accessible only by boat.

Battle Opened For Germany

on the rocket coast of France. Other British forces were closing in on Calais and Dunkirk to wipe out the last hold of the Nazis on the channel ports.

Antwerp, Brussels Fall

To the north a British flying column which captured Brussels and Antwerp in a 48-hour border-to-border sweep across Belgium was reported to have raced through Breda, five miles inside Holland, and to be pushing down the last 28 miles to important port of Rotterdam.

Supreme headquarters announced that in the area of Mons, Belgium, where the U. S. First army has been operating, a large pocket of Germans has been wiped out, 9,000 prisoners have been taken and 40 tanks and 1,500 motor vehicles captured or destroyed.

Frontier Said Crossed

The Siegfried line was under actual or impending assault at both ends. The reports, none of them confirmed, of the three American crossings of the German frontier located the operation at Aachen, 70 miles east of Brussels; Perl at the junction of the German-French-Luxembourg border, and a point somewhere on the northeast frontier of Luxembourg.

In a London broadcast Pierre Dupong, president and prime minister of Luxembourg welcomed Allied troops into the duchy. He said the Germans were fleeing across Luxembourg toward the Reich.

In Belgium there was no official news of any American push closer to Aachen than the area of Charleroi, 75 miles to the southwest. A mop-up was in progress around Beaumont and Florennes, 15 miles south of Charleroi.

Several Cities Freed

Free Belgian broadcasts, however, were recorded from Namur, 15 miles northeast of Charleroi and from the Belgian fortress city of Liege, 25 miles from Aachen, suggesting that the Nazis might have cleared out or been driven out of those cities.

Supreme headquarters announced the liberation of Antwerp and said that its port area is being cleared speedily. Antwerp, the second city of Belgium, has a population of 273,317.

In a broadcast to his countrymen in the Netherlands, Premier Pieter Gerbrandy said that "Allied armies have crossed th Dutch frontier." Aneta, the Dutch news agency, reported that the British had struck to Breda. Supreme headquarters offered no confirmation of the crossing of the Netherlands border, but in recent days the communique has been many hours behind actual battlefront developments.

Opposition Is Slight

Encountering virtually no opposition, the British pushed 18 miles northeast of the Belgian capital of Brussels and took Leuven (Louvain), one of the strong points of the old Belgian defensive triangle of Liege-Leuven-Namur. Leuvn (pop. 37,000) was burned by the Germans in 1914 and was the easternmost point in the British defensive line in 1940.

British troops also spread out to the west taking Aalst (Alost), halfway to Gent. Mechelen, 15 miles north of Brussels also was captured. To the southwest other British units were occupying the French industrial city of Lille.

Trapped German forces ranging from a few hundred to a few thousand were being mopped up by the British in the vicinity of Tournai.

Nazi Divisions Trimmed

The state of some of the defeated Nazi divisions which had fled a few days ago across the now sealed escape gap through Belgium was revealed by captured enemy documents. These showed that one German division was reduced to three officers and 90 men, another to 10 officers and 140 men and another to 800 officers and men from a normal strength of 8,000 to 10,000.

The Germans had enough strength left in the coastal strip, however, to bring the British-Canadian close-in for the battle of the channel ports, to a temporary check in an arc some 70 miles long and 30 miles deep at the widest point.

The British reported no new gains beyond Aire on the road to Calais. Aire was taken more than 24 hours ago. The Canadians who had been speeding up the coast fought their way through toughened resistance up to the Canche river line some 20 miles north of Abbeville and reached Estaples, 13 miles south of Boulogne.

Surrender Ultimatum Rejected

The German garrison at Le Havre rejected an ultimatum to surrender and presumably was being brought under a final assault, although it was difficult to estimate how long it might take to clear the Germans out of there.

A delayed report from the Ninth Air force in France indicated that American units also might have been in the forces which crossed the Dutch frontier.

Supreme headquarters hid the latest operations of the U. S. First and Third armies from the enemy yesterday and a scarcity of field dispatches showed that these armies were enforcing radio silence. It was becoming hourly more probable, however, that the Americans had driven into the Reich.

A German report said that American tanks had driven across the German frontier and reached Aachen, two miles inside the Reich and one of the bastions of the Siegfried line. This report also was carried by the Paris radio.

SWISS INTERN 700

BERN, Sept. 5 (AP) — Aobut 700 German soldiers, attempting to escape from the onrushing Allied armies in France, have crossed the frontier into Switzerland during the last few days and surrendered to Swiss authorities for internment.

moving toward the town.

The sight of them was a relief to the civilian French, who fully expected the Germans to attempt to swarm into their half of the town again tonight.

The proof of what happened yesterday in the nearby villages of Martincourt and Mamey was enough to make them dread a possible return of the Nazis.

Capt. E. Coe Kerr of New York City, with the same outfit moving into Pont-A-Mousson, told what happened there.

"We came through Martincourt at 4 p. m. yesterday," he said, "and found the city completely burned and five civilians machine-gunned.

FFI Fought Nazis

"The villagers told us French Forces of the Interior entered the town a few hours earlier, hunting food, and got into a fight with the Germans who surprised them.

"The Germans machinegunned them, and then half-tracks moved through the village, hurling incendiary grenades and firing 20 mm. incendiaries. We found one old man of 72 who had been picking apples and was hit from the rear. He lay with the apples and his cap beside him, burned to a cinder.

"The Germans had no complaint against any of them, other than that they fed FFI members. They rolled the same half-tracks through the village and burned it entirely to the ground except for one small section.

"They machinegunned nine civilians and severely wounded a young girl who tried to escape through the fields."

Japs Desperate For Oil

Tokyo broadcasts indicated the imperial air and naval forces were literally starving for gasoline and oil. Two big synthetic oil mergers were announced to meet "a crying need." Shipping losses have largely nullified capture of rich oil sources in the Dutch Indies.

Other Tokyo radio reports said Allied bombardments of the northern Celebes, along the fringe of Japan's oil supply line and on the approaches to the Philippines, had been almost continuous since last Saturday.

Adm. Ryozo Nakamura was quoted in Axis broadcast as saying the Japanese fleet wouldn't fight unless it had a chance of winning. This means the fleet won't risk battle, if it can help it, until it is sure of strong support from land-based planes.

Woman Argues With Friends, Suicides

HOUSTON, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — The death of Miss Helen Pace, 19, found shot to death in the bedroom of her landlord and his wife, was ruled suicide in a coroner's verdict today.

Police said the young woman shot herself as the result of an argument with dancing companions last night.

Robert Armbruster, 33, in whose home Miss Pace lived, said the woman entered his room clad in a black nightgown, took his revolver from a dresser drawer and shot herself through the right temple.

Knox City Man Slain And Robbed In Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 5 (U.P.) — Armed with detailed descriptions of their quarry, Dallas officers pressed their search today for a man who beat to death Frederick F. Davis, 57, then robbed him while a witness watched last night.

Davis, a boxing instructor from Knox City, was visiting in Dallas.

Witnesses, one of whom reported a detailed account of the brutal beating which occurred in a vacant lot in the downtown area and the other who described a man seen in Davis' company only a few minutes before he was reported slain, were not identified by Chief of Detectives Will Fritz who interrupted his vacation to take personal charge of the case.

The beating followed an argument, police were told by the man who watched the struggle, and the attacker ran back after Davis fell to the ground and ripped open the victim's pockets. A billfold in which friends said Davis had been carrying at least $15 was missing.

The other witness told officers that he had seen Davis and a tall man standing in front of a cafe near the scene of the slaying and that he heard the taller man mutter, "I'm going to beat that guy to death," and watched him start after Davis. Ten minutes later he heard of the killing and found that the victim was Davis.

Dope Ring In Dallas Broken

DALLAS, Sept. 5. (U.P.) — Three Dallas men stood charged today with selling narcotics after Treasury agents had broken up a ring that robbed 100 first aid kits in Army parachutes to bolster the city's dwindling dope stocks.

Warren A. Heddens, Treasury department narcotics agent, revealed details of the weird story which involved an employee at the Fifth Ferrying comand, Love field, an ex-convict and the rendezvous in a washing machine repair shop.

Charged in complains filed with U. S. Commissioner John Davis were Clarence Edgar Fugitt, operator of the washing machine repair shop; Barney Cantrell, a saw sharpener and ex-convict; and Lonnie O. Glakney, one of the foremen in the Fifth Ferrying command's parachute department. All three signed statements.

The story dates back to July, when narcotics agents got word that Cantrell was peddling dope.

Heddens said his agents bought morphine tartrate syrettes from Cantrell and noticed the vendor making numerous trips to Fugitt's repair shop—then coming away with small packages. The agents, Heddens continued, met Fugitt and picked up additional evidence.

At about the same time, Love field officers began missing the morphine syrettes from first aid kits in parachutes.

Eventually Blakney was suspected, Heddens said, and then was seen carrying small packages to the Fugitt rendezvous.

The foreman was arrested Saturday, and he and Cantrell pleaded guilty. Neither was able to make bond. Fugitt, however, pleaded not guilty, and was released on $1,000 bond.

Code Clerk May Be In For More Trouble

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—The State department said today that Tyler Kent, the American embassy code clerk in London who was convicted by British courts in October 1940 of violating the British official secret act, also compromised the whole American diplomatic code system in use at that time by making unauthorized copies of more than 1,500 secret papers.

The department issued a statement on the case because, it said, of "recent inquiries and newspaper reports."

The State department said that American diplomatic immunity for Kent was waived by Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy after Scotland Yard informed the ambassador that Kent was suspected of transmitting to a German agent copies or abstracts of documents useful to the enemy and prejudicial to British interests.

The question of whether the American government will prefer additional charges against Kent for violating diplomatic secrecy will be decided after he has served his seven-year term in British prisons and again comes under the jurisdiction of American courts, the department said.

Two Babies Named For Marine Officer

(By T/Sgt. Irving Schlossenberg, Marine Combat Correspondent Distributed By United Press)

TINIAN MARIANAS Island — (Delayed)—To show their appreciation for the little kindnesses bestowed upon them by Marine Second Lieutenant Ralph A. Baker of Houston, Tex., an officer in the civilian internment area, civilians have named two babies after him.

One, a two weeks old baby girl, was born in a cave during the height of the battle, and brought into the stockade when only a week old. Her parents, after being fed and assured that they would be well treated, decided to name the baby after the lieutenant. They named her Rafaela.

The other was a three-year-old orphan, who was brought into the stockade along with a large group of civilians. One woman offered to take care of the three-year-old boy, and also decided to name him after Lt. Baker. No one knew the little boy's name, and he was too young to know it himself. He is now called Rafael.

Lt. Baker celebrated his 24th birthday, July 10, one day after Saipan was secured. He has been overseas for 31 months, and was at Guadalcanal, Saipan and now Tinian. He was commissioned in the field from corporal in September, 1943.

One Killed, Five Hurt In Royce City Wreck

DALLAS, Sept. 5. (AP) — Mrs. Rosemary J. Thorne of Paris was killed instantly and five soldiers were injured Monday when the car in which they were riding collided with an East Texas motor freight truck one and one-half miles east of Royce City on highway 67.

Three of the soldiers suffered broken legs and two had probable back injuries, a Royce City ambulance driver said.

Mrs. Thorne, wife of Robert S. Thorne, stationed at Camp Maxey, Paris, was reported to have been transporting the five soldiers from a Dallas travel bureau. The five soldiers are in the Majors field hospital, Greenville.

Warrants For French Collaborators Issued

PARIS, Sept. 5 (AP)—Arrest warrants charging collaboration with the German enemy were issued tonight for Marcel Deat, Vichy labor and "national solidarity" minister, Joseph Darnand, Vichy militia head; Jacques Doriot and Marcel Bucard, political leaders, and a number of others prominent during the Nazi occupation, the justice ministry announced.

Among others named were the Paris radio voices, Jean Paquis and Robert Debeauplan, and Alfonse de Chteaubriant, editor of the newspaper Je Suis Partout.

'Overage' Definition Key To Discharges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — Naval personnel who are "overage" soon may be given an opportunity to return to civilian life but it won't be easy to get a discharge.

For one thing, it was learned today, each man seeking voluntary retirement because of age probably will be required to obtain a formal certification that the billet he holds can be abandoned without necessity of replacing him.

One of the biggest factors still undetermined is "when is a man over age?" Both the Army and the Marines say 38 is the maximum age for combat duty and permit requests for retirement after that age is reached.

But, the Navy still is growing and in need of men. It may disagree.

Fleeing Nazis Hold To Butcher Complex

PLOMION, France, Near the Belgian Frontier, Sept. 5.—In a little school house of this village 14 French male civilians murdered by the Germans lie today in a single terrible line.

I have just seen those bodies and they have been grotesquely mutilated. From each the arms and legs had been severed and each head bears axe wounds.

Relatives of those slain—it occurred yesterday afternoon before the German garrison of 200 fled from this town eastward into Belgium—stand before the school and weep.

The town is half in ashes—burned by the Nazis.

Improvements Seen For Postwar Auto

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP) — Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of the board of General Motors corporation, gives this description of the postwar automobile: Lighter, more economical.

Prices, however, may turn upwards, Sloan declared yesterday, adding "It will depend chiefly on labor and material price levels."

He said General Motors was ready to swing into reconversion as soon as the government gives the "go ahead." "After the OK," he said, "it will take our company four months to get production started and in six months we should have production up to our pre-war capacity level."

School Enrollment Ahead Of Last Year

Enrollments in city schools continued today after a total of 6,558 registrations on opening day Monday, school officials announced. The total exceeded last year's first day registrations by 369, Supt. R. W. Matthews said.

Registration by schools, as compared with last year's first day enrollment is as follows:

	1944-45	1943-44

For the first time in almost a year, every place on the Lubbock teaching staff is filled.

Slaton and three Lubbock County rural schools, Roosevelt, Shallowater and Posey, began the fall term Monday morning. Cooper school opens Wednesday.

24 German Trigger Men Are Executed

GENEVA, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—Twenty-four German SS-men and Gestapo agents were executed at Annecy rifle range, where many Frenchmen found death at the hands of Nazi secret agents, the FFI commandant of Haute-Savoie announced today.

Forty other members of the SS and Gestapo were executed Saturday in the village of Habere-Lullin, near Thonon, where the Germans burned a cafe last Christmas eve and caused the death of 25 French youths.

'Beware The Yanks' Is New Battle Cry

Champs Take Over Junior Loop Lead

"Beware the Yanks" was the American league's battle cry again today as Joe McCarthy's champs, smelling World Series cash in the offing, surged from 9½ games back on Aug. 18 to pass the staggering St. Louis Browns by a half game with 21 to play.

New York has won 20 of its last 28 since losing three out of four to the Brownies and being written out of the race. A tough series in Boston loomed ahead before the Yanks and Red Sox hit the road to wind up the season in the west. Detroit had an 8-game set with Cleveland and two more with Chicago, and St. Louis nine tilts with Chicago before they entertain the easterners.

Rookies Boost Yanks

New York has won 20 of its last 28 since losing three out of four to the Brownies and being written out of the race. A tough series in Boston loomed ahead before the Yanks and Red Sox hit the road to wind up the season in the west. Detroit had an 8-game set with Cleveland and two more with Chicago, and St. Louis nine tilts with Chicago before they entertain the easterners.

Rookies Boost Yanks

Two rookies, Walt Dubiel and Mel Queen, helped boost the Yanks up on top yesterday by shutting out Philadelphia, 10-0 and 14-0, respecively, on a pair of five-hitters while the revived New Yorkers climbed on Bobo Newsom, Joe Berry and Luke Hamlin for a total of 32 hits.

St. Louis was knocked off the perch it held since May 31 when Cleveland grabbed a first game 6-4 victory for Mel Harder on Roy Cullenbine's three-run homer. Nels Potter stopped the Tribe in the finale, 5-1, but the Brownies, who had won only five of their last 18, dropped down a slot.

Detroit whoped Chicago, 12-2 behind Stubby Overmire, but bowed to Ed Lopat in the nightcap, 6-3, Boston also split, drubbing Washington 11-7 but succumbing to Mickey Haefner's pitching, 9-2, in the second tilt.

Pirates Gain Half A Game

Pittsburgh picked up a half game on Cincinnati in their scrap for second place in the National by splitting with Chicago, winning 4-3 in the second game after dropping the first, 6-3, at St. Louis thanked the Reds, 3-0, for Teddy Wilks' 15th victory. The Pirates held second by six games and trailed the Cards by 16½.

Brooklyn advanced to within a game of sixth-place Boston by downing the Braves twice, 4-1 and 6-4 and the New York Giants thanked the Phillies, 7-0, behind Harry Feldman, but faded in the finale as the Phils scored 10 times in the 8th for a 14-8 decision.

Ticket Sales Open For Raiders' Games

Ticket sales opened today at Texas Tech with the buying of season ducats in reserved and box seats expected to be brisk during the first week, Morley Jennings, athletic director announced Monday night.

The home schedule this season is a very attractive card with six games scheduled for the home field. The tickets are being placed on sale this year with a very great reduction in cost. Ticket sales will close at the athletic office at the Tech gym at 7 o'clock on Sept. 22, the evening before the opening game of the season with Lubbock Army Air field.

Byron Nelson Wins At Nashville; Jug McSpaden Second

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 5. (AP) — Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., strengthened his claim to the title of kingpin of modern golf Monday by capturing the $10,000 Nashville Individual with a 72-hole score of 269, fifteen under Richland club's par.

After riding a spectacular scoring streak to a comfortable lead during the first two days, the big, blond, ironmaster won the hard way eking out a one-stroke verdict over his old rival, Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Philadelphia.

The Toledo mechanical man added $2,400 in war bonds to his already all-time record collection of $34,267 in bonds.

Nelson's game deteriorated in today's final 36 holes robbing him of a chance to set a new competitive scoring record for 72-hole competition. Craig Wood's 264 set in 1940 is the top mark..

Nelson, who had 131 strokes for the first half play, required 68-70—138 for the windup tours.

Needing par in on the final two holes to win by a stroke, the former Texas caddy birdied No. 17 and lobbed his shot into a trap on the par 3 eighteenth. He blasted from the trap to within eight feet of the cup and missed his putt to barely gain the decision.

McSpaden after a 5 under par 66 in the morning scrambled for a 68 in the afternoon to bring his 72-hole total to 270.

Third place honors went to burly Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., who played with a frozen appendix with 273. Hamilton was stricken last night but reported for his round today under doctor's care.

Westerners Tighten Down In Grid Drills

The Lubbock Westerners began digging their cleats into the sod of Chapman field Monday as they entered the two weeks grind to ready themselves for the season opening.

Coach J. Mule Davis indicated Monday afternoon that he would test the plays this afternoon in a rough and tumble scrimmage session. The Lubbock mentor has only two weeks to whip the Westerners into shape for the game here on the night of Sept. 15 with the Odessa Bronchos, one of the toughest teams in the state.

The Lubbock Cowhand squads were given a big boost in number Monday afternoon as lettermen stars from last year's Cowboy eleven reported ot Coaches Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst and George Philbrick.

Uniforms were being issued Monday afternoon to the four junior high teams that will take the field this season. No report on the number of uniforms issued was announced.

He Takes After Flies In A Jeep

Johnny Price Is New Baseball Comic And Not A Bad Player

By LEW BYRER
NEA Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Johnny Price is giving the American Association something entirely new in this war-harried season.

Price's comedy sequence has observers using superlatives in comparing him with Nick Altrock, Al Schacht, Germany Schaefer, Carl Sawyer, Rube Waddell and other intentional and unintentional baseball clowns.

Price, 29-year-old veteran of the smaller minors and the Army, was a pretty fair ballplayer as a kid on Memphis lots. He had several chances in the Southern Association and other Dixie leagues, but couldn't quite stand the gaff day in and day out.

Thought He Was Through

He figured himself washed up, went to work. His back hurt, his arm creaked, his ankles swelled whenever he ran far or fast. Then a doctor told him he had bad teeth. A dentist went to work.

Price felt better, thought of another whirl in baseball, but got caught in the draft.

At an Army camp at Santa Anita, Calif., Price started pulling some of the routine stunts of every baseball pepper game, found that the GI's got a kick out of it. Encouraged, he added new ones.

Convulses Crowds

Gradually they worked into the routine with which Price convulses American Association crowds.

Price catches and throws while flat on his back, in a wrestling bridge, suspended from the backstop screen backward from ankle straps, hanging backward from a ladder, standing on his head and bent backward, facing the thrower in a football center's position.

He drives in a jeep full tilt with one hand, catches flies and scoops up grounders with the other. A stickler for perfection, he didn't uncork his jeep act until he had it down to where he caught 68 flies in a row.

Formerly Used Snakes

Price formerly allowed pet snakes to escape from the legs and arms of his uniform and wiggle about as he went through warm-up practice. He used to go to bat in practice with a hollow bat with a trap door in the end from which a snake wriggled out.

The snake act has been off the list, however, since Price used part of it in Toledo early in the campaign. One woman fainted. A couple of others went into hysterics. So George M. Trautman, president of the wheel, censored that portion of the show.

Price is a better than average AA player, although he weighs only 145 pounds and you would suspect that a strong wind would blow him away. He's been in 74 games, is hitting .270 and has played third base, shortstop and caught.

Price set some sort of a record and won a sizable chunk of GI money by hiking from a camp in the Mojave desert to Los Angeles —91 miles under full pack in 25½ hours.

Then Price was given a physical disability discharge. He can't understand it, for—

That's as funny as Johnny Price.

Bill Dean's Service Wins Junior Playoff

Bill Dean's Service nosed out the Hemphill-Wells Cats, 2 to 1, Sunday afternoon at Chapman field to win the National League championship in the finale of the year's junior baseball program here.

It was a great pitching duel between two of the outstanding young pitchers of the season, with Jack Vaughn winning the decision over Bob Galey as each pitcher limited the opposition to six hits.

The Cats bunched two hits in the fifth inning to take the lead, Cooper opening the round with a double and scored on Balch's single. Dean's tied the score in the seventh and won the game in the tenth when two errors by Balch allowed the only runs.

It was a heart breaker for Galey to lose. The Cats' ace moundsman threw the third strike past 16 batters, and only one time was he ever in the hole, this the fifth innning with Newsom and Murphy singled in order, then Galey retired the next three in order. Vaughn had just as great a day, and whiffed ten men.

SPAAF Eleven Working Hard

Team Is Facing Tough Schedule

South Plains Army Air field's Winged Commandos are working hard with hopes of defeating the Army, Navy and Marines in the next 90 days of gridiron competition.

When Coach Ray Truitt's charges open their rugged football season Sunday, Sept. 24, against the highly touted Amarillo Army Air field team at Tech stadium, they will be starting a campaign against teams which boast strong lineups of Army, Navy and Marine standouts.

The Amarillo Army Air field team will supply the Army angle. And the very next week, Sept. 30 in Fort Worth, Texas Christian university will supply a few of the Navy gridders in a game against the SPAAF team. And the following week end in Arlington, Oct. 6, the Commandos will tangle with the Marine studded North Texas Agricultural college squad.

Team Probably Outweighed

Probably outweighed and suffering from lack of experience against all three opening teams, Coach Truitt is counting on a light, hard charging line and a backfield with plenty of speed and passing to offset the handicaps.

Stressing a flashy aerial attack, the Commandos will have three good passers.

Paul Campbell, who played at Breckenridge High last season, will probably be among the leaders for a starting berth. Coaches and fans who watched Campbell in action in the Army All-Star lineup against the strong Brooklyn Eagles a week ago in Abilene had praise aplenty for the former schoolboy standout. Campbell tossed the pigskin all over the lot with good results, including one heave for a touchdown.

Also expected to handle a portion of the passing chores is Joe Eager, a veteran of the '43 squad and former Louisiana Tech star, who has been showing up in workouts thus far. Ed Kalfain, who played with San Francisco university and Randolph field, likely will see his share of the passing Fans watching Kalfain in action say he can hit a bullseye at 30 yards.

Coach Truitt has not even indicated what might make up a starting lineup nad may not until a few days before the Amarillo game, he said. Meanwhile, the entire squad is bearing down in preparation for what may be one of the toughest schedules in the state.

Raider Squad Grows As Summer Vacation Ends; Morgan Concentrating On Offensive

The return of the football hopefuls from summer school vacation swelled the roster of the Texas Tech Red Raiders to almost full strength here Monday afternoon, and Coach Dell Morgan began to concentrate on the team's offensive punch.

About 70 boys took the field Monday, with one or two others expected to join the squad today.

With the squad at peak strength, Coaches Morgan and Robison began to work on the offensive and staged a rough dummy scrimmage session Monday after working on new plays and punting during the early part of the workout.

The squad has been handicapped for the lack of headgears for scrimmage sessions, but coaches hope to have the Raiders butting heads before the end of the week.

Among the new additions to the squad Monday was Bobby Hayes, the third letterman of the team. T. M. Cox and Don Dudley, the other two lettermen back this season, were out last week.

Another new addition to the Red Raider squad Monday was Homer Lawson, District 1-AA All-District tackle of last season with the Lubbock Westerners. It was Lawson's first day out, and brought the total of players in the recent Texas All-Star game at Wichita Falls in the Red Raider camp to six men. The others were Billy Joe Snodgrass, Seth Murphy, Cecil Harper, Ed Orr and Don Orr.

REDS STRENGTHEN CLUB

CINCINNATI, Sept. 5. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today announced the purchase of three players from the Birmingham club of the Southern Association.

They are Howard Fox, a pitcher who has won 19 and lost seven so far and will report this weekend; John Orphal, another hurler with a no-hitter for Birmingham to his credit; and Jodie Beeler, an infielder. Beeler reports tomorrow and Orphal next spring.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say—
The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

OFFERS DISSENT

Dear Plainsman: Wishing always to believe in the ultimate good of things, I have hoped and hoped that you, the editor of the only newspaper in Lubbock, would become a builder-upper instead of the tearer-downer you have been since I first began to read your paper. Your recent contemptuous and contemptible article on Dumbarton Oaks conference proves the utter hoplessness of such wishful thinking.

While you are disposing of the secrecy of all diplomatic meetings, why do you not advocate inviting all school patrons to the meetings of the school trustees, the entire population of Lubbock to the City council meetings, the entire membership of churches to their respective board of steward, deacon or what-have-they meetings? Surely all these boards or committees are supported by the people! Show us the difference. Do not these boards or committees handle business and promote movements, etc. then report whatever they choose of the transactions to the groups represented by themselves? You need not answer. We, the taxpayers know the answer. Picture the confusion if it were not so!

You consider it perfectly awful to hold diplomatic meetings in secret. But I have never read in your column any reference to the cigar-chewing, swaggering fellows who run Lubbock . . . and in secret. If we are to attack the diplomats with tall hats and canes, let us also go to work on the fellows in their natty grey suits and natty combinations of brown coats and tan trousers in our midst. Let us wake the people of Lubbock up to the fact that a sound national government is possible only when local governments are of the people, by the people and for the people. A tolerance of dictators does not begin in Washington. It is the result of dictators on school boards, in city councils and churches . . . any form of local government; even in study clubs and P-T A. Democracy must prevail everywhere if it is to survive!

Erlene T. Day,
1917 Thirtieth St.

(Dear Madam: It is the right of yourself and all who read my column to disagree with any or all of what I write. I am quite sure that nothing can be written by anyone, at any time with which all who read will agree. But let's not be ridiculous. I made no suggestion, as you well understand, that all the people of the nations involved be allowed to sit in on the conference at Dumbarton Oaks. What I was criticising was the complete press censorship; the making of trades and agreements for the peoples of the countries involved but without the knowledge of those peoples. As to the local record, let's keep it straight. The facts are: We print at least one, often two, advance notices giving time and place of all meetings of the City and County commissions and the School board. True, the newspapers do not issue blanket invitations to all the people to attend. After we inform them of the meetings, we feel, perhaps peculiarly, that whether they attend, or not, is their own business. However, we have reporters at those public meetings and inform the public of official actions taken immediately following each public meeting. That's the sort of thing I contend for — and for the good of the world's people—at Dumbarton Oaks, as Woodrow Wilson contended for "open covenants, openly arrived at. As to Lubbock Leadership, since I do not wear gray or brown, or combinations of brown and tan; since I neither smoke nor chew cigars, I am sure you do not include me among the secret soverigns — either real or imaginary — of Lubbock. Therefore, without embarrassment and entirely impersonally, I can say that from what I see and hear — as well as from tabulations of votes — the majority of Lubbock citizens seems to be satisfied with the city's leadership and is not depending upon either you, or me, for "awakening." It has been my observation over a good many years that whenever people become dissatisfied with their public officials and civic leaders, they change 'em. Respectfully, The Plainsman.)

Something to think about:

"If in the future we are attacked by a powerful enemy, we may be sure that we will not be given the time to mobilize our industries and to extemporize an army from the untrained youth of the nation." — Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War.

Remember that when, after Victory, well-meaning souls seek to cut down the size of our Army and Navy, and oppose military training for our youngsters.

ONE of the most contentious of subjects is: "Where is the dividing line between the right of the individual American to do as he pleases and the right of the majority of Americans to be protected against the excesses of the few?"

We Americans zealously guard —and correctly so—all the rights and privileges our blood-won freedom accords us.

We demand that we be permitted to do as we please, as long as what we do does not injure, or threaten to injure, the other fellow. Sometimes, we go even further and demand freedom of action which is threatening, or actually injurious, to a neighbor, although those doing the demanding will rarely admit possible serious consequences.

Among the "personal rights" most Americans have insisted upon during the past 30 years is the right to drive a motor vehicle where and when they please.

The motor vehicle, long out of the "luxury" classification, is essential to well rounded business and social life in our land.

Therefore, the great majority of us really need to drive motor vehicles and insist upon being permitted to do so, even though physical, mental, or nervous system shortcomings make us potential killers at any time we're behind the wheel of a moving motor car.

AS far as The Plainsman knows, there isn't anyone who insists that everybody wishing to should be permitted to fly an airplane.

Every one of us realizes that a great many people are not equipped to learn to fly and must never be permitted to do so. There are strict safeguards around airplane flying, as very well there should be.

Yet the fact remains that a motor car, under certain conditions, can be just as lethal in the hands of an incompetent as an airplane, under similar conditions.

But how many people would like to see the right to operate a motor car safeguarded to a completely practical extent?

Not many. A lot of us will agree that such safeguards should be applied to the "other fellow," but to us, never! We "can't get along" without driving, therefore we must drive, no matter the consequences.

A great American insurance company has made the sobering prediction that the first year of peacetime motor travel is likely to produce 50,000 fatalities in this country — or about 15,000 more than the worst year we've ever seen.

The pent-up desire for travel; the many returned fighting men with contempt for danger instilled at war fronts; and over-age cars unfit for use, together will contribute to a veritable wave of tragedy, the survey concludes.

And there's ground for worry there. All who are honest will admit it.

SOME day, when the average of intelligence the nation over has been brought to a higher level, we will be practical about this business of driving automobiles.

A great many people who have been driving for years will be denied the privilege of continuing.

Others, who may drive safely in daylight but whose vision is badly impaired at night, will be permitted to drive only in the light hours. Still others with sufficient co-ordination to drive in a small town, where traffic is light and where streets are not conducive to speed, will be permitted to drive under such conditions, but will be prohibited from making cross-country trips, or from driving in metropolitan centers where operation of a motor vehicle is a very technical thing.

In other words, automobile drivers, like today's airplane pilots, will be graded and their activities will be controlled. Public opinion will insist upon driving statutes being strictly enforced, which they are not now and never have been.

When we reach this advanced stage, the nation will be better off. Therefore, the stage should be reached as quickly as possible.

OVER in the wilds of New Mexico recently, a friend of ours came across a combination grocery and general store, restaurant and bar, and discovered, to his amazement, a sizeable stock of the kind of cigarets which are "shortest" over the country — the kind with the dromedary on the pack.

Our friend asked the store's operator how many packages he would sell to one customer and nearly fainted when the man said "as many as you want." Our friend bought 20 packages.

Sometime later, when he started to break into his first package, he noticed it was covered with cellophane, like cigarets used to be before, and in the early months of, the war.

He checked up, found all 20 of the packages thus covered, then figured they were about two years old!

He's smoking 'em, though, and says they're not bad. Just taste like maybe each cigaret includes a sliver of old gum boot!

Speaking of cigarets reminds us to suggest to local tobacco retailers that now's a good time to quit selling the fags, willy-nilly, to every kid that comes in and asks for 'em.

By refusing to sell to kids that anyone can see are under the legal age of purchase, the tobacconists will be complying with the law and saving their slender stocks for people old enough to smoke cigarets.

It is an open secret here—and, we suppose, everywhere in Texas—that boys and girls not yet dry behind the ears can buy cigarets almost anywhere and any time, despite the law which says no one under the age of 16 may legally purchase them in this state. (Fine, $10 to $100.)

Since public attention has been attracted to cigarets due to the shortage of them, we have heard from many sources that youngsters of the "twerp age"—especially the girls—literally are "eating" cigarets. Some of the 14-year-old kids are alleged to be "chain smokers."

The Plainsman isn't getting moral about the matter since, in his opinion, no morals are involved and smoking too many cigarets is no different, morally, from eating too much beefsteak.

But since there is a cigaret shortage, it appears to us that what fags there are around and about might better go to adults.

CLARK MULLICAN, Bill Campbell and Durward Mahon, all cigar smokers, stopped us the other day along side the completely empty tobacco counter at the Hilton hotel and they were very much incensed.

They say that Lubbock is being mitigated against by the downstate wholesalers of cigars; that we're not getting our share of the popular makes out this way.

These three barristers depose that "you can get plenty of cigars, popular makes at ceiling prices, in various parts of New Mexico and Texas, specifically, in this state, in Fort Worth and Dallas."

They say you're lucky to get any kind here; that a cigar-smoker has to take his choice of an unknown "Stinkarino El Rottenberg," or pay a terrific price for a better and more recognizable brand.

The Plainsman, no cigar smoker, wouldn't know whether the conditions described by Bros. Mahon, Mullican and Campbell are as bad as they are painted, on account of they really were worked up over the situation when they talked with us.

We'd like to know, though, just what other cigar smokers think.

How about a postcard from unhappy cigar smokers, setting out personal experiences with the shortage?

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

A Chicago couple, ready for the divorce courts, have gone back to living together, after agreeing before a judge to live up to two sets of commandments, one set naming what the wife expects of her husband, the other setting down what he expects of her.

MILLETT

Their marriage ought to have a good chance of lasting now — for they both know exactly what is important to the other, and after learning it, have decided it isn't too much to live up to. Wouldn't it be a good idea if all couples, after six months or a year of marriage, would come to such an understanding.

They couldn't do it before marriage—because it is marriage that makes a couple finally see what things are important in a life partner who has to be lived with day in and day out.

But after a little experience with marriage, they should know their own minds, and be able to say "These are the things that are important to me in a wife—or in a husband."

But instead of anything that sensible thousands of wives go on being what they think a good wife should be—instead of finding out what their husbands' ideas of a good wife are.

NEED GUIDANCE

AND thousands of husbands go on thinking they are all their wives ever hoped for, because they have never bothered to find out what their wives want from their marriage partners.

They go on that way until one or the other gets fed up with the other's faults and with marriage and starts talking about divorce.

From then on it is a short step to a final decree and another wrecked marriage is included in divorce statistics.

No business partnership would try to get along with terms as general as "love, honor, and obey." Marriage partnerships should be more explicit, too.

Today's Journal Editorial

TOWARD ERADICATION OF "POLIO"

Those in Lubbock and elsewhere who have vivid recollection of the outbreak of poliomyelitis—more commonly known as infantile paralysis—last year naturally will be disturbed by the report from the U. S. Public Health service the other day that the number of cases throughout the nation is at the highest level since the epidemic of 1916.

Distress inevitably will be increased by the fact, which is frankly acknowledged by the medical profession, that so little is known about the disease. There is no certainty as to how it is spread. It is extremely difficult of assured diagnosis. Not too much is known about effective treatment, although progress in this regard has been considerable, even within the past year.

However, nothing is to be gained from trying to ignore the official report that the disease is spreading now, although this particular area has been fortunate thus far. Another fact to recognize is that this seems to be the season when polio is most prevalent. The most important fact of all to recognize is that, when any person is stricken, nothing is more important than prompt treatthat so little s known about how to have to recognize thata so little is known about how to keep from catching the disease, or about how to recognize polio quickly when anyone is stricken.

Of this, only the very unsatisfactory consolation can be offered that the problem is one on which a considerable part of the medical profession is concentrating its attention. A little headway is being made steadily. Often the progress is more negative than positive—the discovery that polio is not spread in some suspected way, or that some particular method of treatment is not effective. But it does represent some advance.

True, it will not help those who may sicken now to be told that some progress — but not enough to help them—has been made. But for those who can take the longer-range view of it, reassurance can be found in the well-justified confidence that, sooner or later, the polio challenge will be met and overcome. The trend is in that direction.

Part Of OWI To Be Made Permanent Bureau

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—Rumors that the Roosevelt administration will retain the Office of War Information after Victory, to "keep the New Deal in power" are generally regarded as untrue. Actually OWI will not outlast the armistice by more than a few months. However, there is discussion in Washington regarding retention of some parts of OWI.

These are:—the extensive communications system built up to disseminate U. S. information abroad, and the OWI overseas bureaus.

One trouble we faced abroad was the false impression that the U. S. A. was a nation of tourists and gangsters. One OWI job was to show the Allies and neutrals that we are a nation of workers, not Hollywood stars. The State department feels that OWI has made progress, that the job should be carried on.

PEARSON

Another OWI achievement is a system of worldwide communication whereby the United States can put its views before the world in a way never before possible. This has been a military necessity. State department sources now feel that it should also be a peacetime necessity.

Nothing concrete has yet been proposed, but while Elmer Davis and other top-flight officials may scurry back to peacetime jobs, it is probable that the State department will try to salvage the American libraries OWI has established throughout the world, the documentary film libraries and other things designed to make America less of a fable and more of a reality.

ATROCITIES

THE Russians aren't advertising it yet, but they are preparing a large volume of war-guilt evidence against German doctors, beginning with the numerous sterilization operations carried out in Germany long before the war.

German doctors, the Russians will claim at the peace table, have taken part in the branding of war prisoners, the slaughtering of mental patients in occupied territory, have even drained blood from children for transfusions to wounded Nazis. The charge has even been made that German doctors infected several Russian districts with typhus in order to erect an epidemic barrier before the advancing Red army.

Lately, the Russians say, they have recovered an escaped Soviet war prisoner who told of a German doctor picking a dozen of the healthiest-looking Red army men from a prison camp to serve as guinea pigs for German army doctors. The escaped prisoner was operated on, but lived. His companions were killed on the operating table.

X-rays, the Russians say, show that part of his stomach and duodenum are missing, that his small intestine is out of place and that, substituted for the missing organs, is a septic ulcer which causes the patient constant suffering.

PARALLELS

SOMETIMES history repeats, sometimes it doesn't. Anyway, here are some interesting parallels to the last war.

On September 26, 1918, Bulgaria surrendered. In this war, on August 26, 1944, Bulgaria sued for peace.

On October 6, 1918, Turkey, then a belligerent, proposed peace. In this war, Turkey, a neutral, broke with the Axis on August 1, 1944.

On September 29, 1918, the German Supreme command asked the kaiser to propose peace—though the Allies didn't know it at that time. This probably was analagous to the move by German army officers in July to force Hitler to surrender, resulting in their purge.

In the last war, when the kaiser delayed answering the September 29 demand of the German Supreme command, Hindenburg, on October 2, sent an urgent message to the kaiser which read:

"The Supreme command insists on its demand of Sunday, 29th September, that a peace offer to our enemies be offered at once."

However, the kaiser did not heed. Like Hitler, he continued in the war.

On October 19, 1918, Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig reported to Lloyd George that "the German Army is capable of retiring to its own frontiers and holding that line against equal or even superior forces. . . . In the coming winter, the enemy will have several months for recuperation. So we must conclude that the enemy will be able to hold the line which he selects for defense for some time after the campaign of 1919 commences."

Instead of the campaign going into 1919, however, it collapsed three weeks after Haig sent the above report to the British Cabinet.

ARMY-NAVY MERGER

NO ONE was more pleased than Josephus Daniels, grand old man of the Wilson administration, when Roosevelt and Truman declared for a post-war merger of the Army and Navy into a single department under unified command.

As far back as July, 1934, Daniels, formerly Secretary of the Navy, wrote a letter to a high Washington official, saying:

"We must be air-minded. I strongly believe we shall not solve the modern need until we abolish the Army and Navy portfolios and combine them under a Secretary of National Defense. It would save much money. They duplicate unnecessarily. In war, they must cooperate. In peace, they should be trained to work together. The water-tight compartment attitude between the departments at Washington has prevented the highest efficiency in the public service in many ways and has made government much more expensive than it should be."

GENERAL McNAIR

THE late Lt. Gen. Lesley, McNair was known throughout the Army as the "doughboys' general," was more considerate of enlisted men than of officers. His death is mourned around the globe wherever U. S. infantrymen march.

One incident, unrevealed till now, shows the sort of man McNair really was. The former chief of Army Ground Forces had a habit of checking personally on doughboy complaints about conditions in their camps. He would arrive at a camp unexpectedly, put on dungarees, march with the men without any display of his three stars.

Shortly before his death, McNair made such a visit to a Southern camp, joined with a company on a 25-mile hike. He started off with no pack, his rank unknown to the youngsters he accompanied. After they had gone about 5 miles, one of the GI Joes started complaining about his pack, griped that it was too heavy for him. Quietly McNair offered to carry it, put it on his back, lugged it for the rest of the hike, marching more than 20 miles, although 61 years old.

The embarrassed doughboy didn't learn McNair's identity until the end of the march, when he profusely apologized. McNair merely smiled, replied: "I don't ask any boy to do anything I wouldn't do myself."

SENATOR LAFOLLETTE, on a recent trip to Wisconsin, visited about 20 counties, reported that never in all his years in office had he observed such a lack of interest in politics . . . Only 5 percent of the soldiers eligible to vote did so in the primaries . . . LaFollette found people primarily interested in one thing: getting the war over, and the boys home fast . . . Those close to the White House are more certain of getting the war over than the boys home if FDR stays in office. Mr. Big's program for combatting the next depression has percolated to the hill, where congressional military affairs committees are going to be asked to legislate it piecemeal. Here's the White House recipe for when the shooting stops: (1) Keep as many of the boys overseas "policing" as possible; (2) Keep as many of them "waiting for transportation" as possible. (This will be easy—the government will claim the British control shipping space and there is a terrible shortage of it on home-runs.) (3) Muster the boys out as slowly as possible, according to a "point" system based on length and character of service, war records, number of children, type of job and degree of skill possessed by the soldier before conscription, certainty of getting back his old job, etc., etc. Only those with plenty of mustering-out points will get home for a year after war is over, so that peace itself will be rationed out to the individual soldier . . . (4) Set up compulsory military training at once, partly for its own sake, partly to siphon the 18-20 yearolds off the labor market . . . In the words of General Hershey. "It is cheaper to keep men in the army than it is to set up an agency to take care of them when they are released . . ." In short, the more men in uniform, the less on WPA . . . And the more men in uniform, the less there will be making trouble for the union bosses and their homefront labor elite . . . Best guess is that this program has also been 'Cleared with Sidney' . . . Two people who pleaded with FDR not to run, were Wife Eleanor and Son Jimmie, who both assured the prexy his health couldn't stand another four years—even if the country's could.

Bernard M. Baruch, who has never accepted an official job from the White House, vows he never will, because the Prexy is constitutionally unable to delegate true authority which alone would make it possible to get the job done . . . Watch the efforts the White House will make to keep Baruch from testifying before a Senate committee on the real causes of the long row in the WPB . . . At the time the Baruch-Hancock report was written, Jimmie Byrnes, Admiral Leahy, Baruch, all recommended verbally that Don Nelson be fired then . . . even his enemies admire Don Nelson's resiliency under attack, claim that part of the rubber shortage was caused by the amount of it that went into the making of "Amiable Don" himself . . . Said a subordinate, "the guy even bites with rubber teeth" . . . Among war surpluses are 650 brass army band tubas, enough skis to last civilian snow-fans 15 years . . . If all the congressmen who dozed on the floor during the Surplus War Properties debate had been laid end to end—they'd have been much more comfortable.

A LADY White House correspondent, irritated at the way the Prexy sucks at his long cigarette holder, with its unlighted cigarette, asked peevishly, "Why does he do that?" Answered a Washington presswit: "Oh, it's a symbol—of long tenure and exhausted resources . . ."

Add to the four freedoms the four fallacies: (1) That government adds to its wisdom when it adds to its bureaucrats; (2) That government adds to its strength when it adds to its debt; (3) That Americans prefer government relief or staying in the Army to steady peacetime work; (4) that representative government can afford to think any man indispensable.

Friends insist that Willkie is a Republican still — very still . . . Other friends claim that if Dewey and Willkie could ever have a meeting of the minds, Dewey would make him secretary of state . . . Still others insist Dewey prefers Stassen for the job . . . Latest Brownell booster: Wendell Willkie! . . . Virginia Blood, Clare Boothe Luce's Connecticut Girl Friday, is now "heeling the news" for one-time Democrat Stanley High, who is authoring some of the best stuff being spouted by GOPoliticians throughout the nation . . . At a recent Washington dinner party, a lady guest began to make fun of Dewey's height, claiming that all "little men" have an inferiority complex, or a Napoleonic ego which causes them in the end to make a hash of all important national problems . . . All veddy veddy Freudian . . . At the end of the dinner, the guest of honor rose: it was Dumbarton Oaks' leading British diplomat, Sir Alexander Cadogan, who is considerably shorter than Dewey . . . The lady is passionately hoping that Sir Alexander did not overhear her "belittling" . . . Since then she may have reflected that Dewey is one inch taller than Churchill, two inches taller than Stalin.

CONGRESSMAN BILL FULBRIGHT, now running for the Senate from Arkansas, was glad to use personal letters of introduction from Congresswoman Luce to London bigwigs when he went abroad recently . . . But today, in his campaign literature and interviews, Fulbright heavily advertises himself as "the man who took Clare Boothe Luce apart on the floor of the House," after her speech on American aviation policy. That was when Bill came out for Henry Wallace's internationalization of all sky space, an idea opposed by Mrs. Luce . . . Since then FDR and the State department have publicly plunked for air sovereignty—Mrs. Luce's policy, renounced Fulbright-Wallace airy mindedness . . . Bill looks like a real comer in New Deal politics . . . He's learning fast how to win votes and lose friendships.

Connecticut Demmies are hustling to get their senatorial candidate, Brien McMahon, a rationing card, now that he has resumed residence in Connecticut after an absence of 12 years . . . Democrat ex-Governor Bob Hurley is going to have some tall explaining to do about that testimony before the House Military Affairs committee on his Narragansett Machine company, which got a V-loan of $1,000,000 from the government at the beginning of the war, and finally produced all of three gun mounts — which couldn't be used before the company passed out of the war picture . . . Producer Brock Pemberton's title for the President's acceptance speech: "The old lady shows her medals" . . . In 1916, two months before election day, Wall Street was betting 3 to 1 that Charles Evans Hughes would lick Woodrow Wilson.

The Master Mind at Work Again

Ernie Pyle Asks Government To Give Heroes Some Recognition

Front Line Medics Deserve Special Insignia

BY ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

IN FRANCE — (By Wireless)— The last time I was with the front-line medics — a battalion detachment in the Fourth division — they showed me a piece in the Stars and Stripes about Congress passing the new $10-a-month pay increase for soldiers holding the combat infantrymen's badge.

This combat infantry badge is a proud thing, a mark of great distinction, a sign on a man's chest to show that he has been through the mill. The medical aidmen were feeling badly because the piece, said they were not eligible for the badge.

ERNIE PYLE

Their captain asked me what I thought, and so did some of the enlisted aidmen. And I could tell them truthfully that my feelings agreed with theirs. They should have it. And I'm sure any combat infantryman would tell you the same thing.

Praise for the medics has been unanimous ever since this war started. And just as proof of what they go through, take this one detachment of battalion medics that I was with.

They were 31 men and two officers. And in one seven-week period of combat in Normandy this summer they lost nine men killed and 10 wounded. A total of 19 out of 33 men — a casualty ratio of nearly 60 per cent in seven weeks!

Ernie Offers Plan

As one aidman said, probably they have been excluded because they are technically noncombatants and don't carry arms. But he suggested that if this was true they could still be given a badge with some distinctive medical marking on it, to set them off from medical aidmen who don't work right in the lines.

So I would like to propose to Congress or the War department or whoever handles such things that the ruling be altered to include medical aidmen in battalion detachments and on forward.

They are the ones who work under fire. Medics attached to regiments and to hospitals farther back do wonderful work too, of course, and are sometimes under shellfire. But they are seldom right out on the battlefield. So I think it would be fair to include only the medics who work from battalion on forward.

I have an idea the original ruling was made merely through a misunderstanding, and that there would be no objection to correcting it.

YOU must hear about my new stove. You may remember that last winter in Italy we mentioned how practical and wonderful the little gasoline stove was for soldiers in the field. Well, that remark had repercussions.

It seems the employes of the Wichita, Kas., stove company, were very pleased. It made them feel that they were doing something worthwhile for the war. So in appreciation they decided to make up a special stove as a gift for me.

We kept hearing about it over here for weeks, and waited for it the way children wait for Christmas. The other correspondents were as excited about it as I was.

At last it came. Boy, you should see it! It is an exact duplicate of the regular stove, except that this one is all hand-made and chromium-plated and has my name engraved on it, like a loving cup.

"Too Pretty To Use"

One of the correspondents said, "You can't light that, it's too pretty."

An Army colonel said, "They should have sent a fireplace and a mantel along for you to exhibit it on."

For days there was a line of soldiers and correspondents at my tent wanting to see the stove. Twice we got ready to light it while photographers took pictures, but at the last minute we couldn't bear to, and put it away. The boys all kidded me and said they bet I never would light it.

NECESSITY finally drove me to it. That was in Paris. I had given my old stove to a friend, thinking I wouldn't need one any more. But the eating situation in Paris was drastic at first, and we had only the rations we brought with us individually.

So at last I had to break down and light my stove in a hotel room in Paris. Some of the boys had joked and said it was so beautiful it probably wouldn't work. But it did. It practically melted the hotel walls down.

So to all of you who had a hand in the stove, my thanks and gratitude. But if this keeps up I'll have to be careful about admiring in print any locomotives or steam-shovels.

Profitable Fun If You Know It . . .

Hobby Of Tech Professor Pays Off; Has More Than 500 Coins

BY GEM BOB CALLEY
Journal Staff Writer

Had the early Greeks and Romans deposited their money in banks instead of burying it for safekeeping, a coin collector like W. F. Helwig, electrical engineering professor at Texas Technological college would not be able to pluck at random from his mass of 500 coins, one struck by the Greeks in the year 600 BC.

This coin, Aegina Pellet type stater (coin unit in Greek city-states) whose weight is twice that of an American quarter, is one of the many Helwig has in a collection that reflects ancient civilization of the Greeks and Romans. However, it was not the history of the design, nor interest in early civilization which prompted him to begin a hobby that has held his interest 25 years. Helwig said his first interest in coins dated back to early childhood when he discovered a penny could be readily exchanged for a licorice bar or similar luxury, but that his desire to spend money was later replaced by an ambition to save coins and study their symbols.

Began At Age Of 15

At 15, Helwig began a collection of modern foreign coins obtained from immigrant friends of his father and purchased from Canadians who visited his home state of Montana. Calling this the embryonic stage of his collection habit, Helwig said his object grew into a deside for accumulation of as large a pile of dissimilar metal disks, mostly copper, as could be transported conveniently "without the aid of a traveling crane."

Helwig in 1928 became ambitious to possess a complete series of some type of coin, to specialize in his hobby. Beginners usually attempt to accumulate a complete set of Indian Head pennies, (minted from 1859 to 1909), but the engineering professor decided on Liberty-Standing quarters (three American quarters minted yearly from 1916 to 1930, with the exception of 1921 when none was made). By 1932 his collection was complete—obtained through dealers and mail auctions for $45. He later sold this series for $55.

Involved In History

Helwig's interest in coin collecting has progressed to an advanced stage that involves a study of Greek and Roman history. His present collection, aside from a few American type sets (colonial pennies and three varieties of Massachusetts schillings (of 3, 6, and 12 pence), includes silver coins struck as early as 500 BC. These are Greek staters and Tetradrachms (similar to the American silver dollar in size and weight) of pure silver and in rather good condition considering their antiquity. He has a specimen of the first coins of Larissa and Thessaly, about the size of a dime, which are rare, only three having been offered for sale in the last 20 years.

One coin of special interest, and valued at $50, is the Rome As, a bronze piece three inches in diameter, which weighs a Roman pound or three-fourths of a United States standard pound. A portrait of the god Janus, who had two faces, is on one side and the prow of a Roman galley on the other. Helwig possesses one of the silver pennies mentioned in the Bible, Rome Denarius 14-37 AD, with Tiberius on the obverse (face) and the goddess Peace seated on the reverse side. He described symbols of the Archaic Tetradrachm of Athens, 550 BC which weighs 17 grams (an American quarter weighs 8.5 grams), as Athena on obverse and an owl in incuse square (symbol sunk below the surface of the coin) on the reverse. Average monthly subsistance allotment for a Roman soldier was two and one-half of these coins, Helwig said.

Many Other Varieties

Other varieties and styles of ancient and medieval periods which Helwig has collected include Corinth stater, obverse Athena with helmet, reverse Pegasus, weight 12 grams (approximately one and one-half times the weight of an American quarter, year 600 BC; Babylonia Tetradrachm, obverse Lion, reverse Zeus seated, weight 16.5 grams (a little heavier than an American quarter), 306-312 BC; Rhodes stater, obverse Helios and the sun god, reverse Rosebud, weight 6.5 grams (lighter than a quarter), 166 BC; Rome Sesteritus, obverse Nero, reverse Victory, weight 15 grams, (weight almost equals that of two American quarters), 54-68 AD; Roman Eastern Empire, silver miliaresion concave John II and Alexis, 1118-43 AD; and the Aquitaine silver penny, Richard the Lion Hearted, 1172 AD.

Helwig's collection also includes several colonial American coins used before the War of Independence. Called Colonial pennies and dated from 1773 to 1778, they are larger than an American quarter. He said the earliest coins used by the Pilgrims were brought over from England, and are very crude silver pieces, a little lighter than the American half-dollar. They are dated 1652 with Number XII representing a shilling and VI a half shilling.

Pays 35c; Gets $35

More desirable varieties of coins now at a premium, Helwig plans to sell a part of his collection and rebuild it after the war. He hopes good fortune will repeat itself as was the case a few years ago when he purchased at an auction several ancient coins, damaged by fire. He paid 35c each for the pieces and sold one of them for $35.

Besides the pleasure Helwig has derived from his hobby, he has learned a great deal more about ancient and medieval history, acquired a smattering of Roman abbreviated political titles, and attained a "nodding acquaintance" with the more important Greek and Roman diety.

He has built up a library of approximately 20 reference books, periodicals, and an encyclopaedia on rare coins.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS:
To: Chas. F. O'Neall and wife Annie Mae O'Neall, W. A. Whatley and wife Mrs. W. A. Whatley, the heirs and legal representatives, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of each of the four parties just named, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 72nd District Court of Lubbock county at the courthouse thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 2nd day of Oct., A. D., 1944, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 17th day of Aug., A. D., 1944, in this cause, numbered 11857 on the docket of said court and styled A. Carl Stults, Plaintiff vs. Chas. F. O'Neall, et al, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: This action is brought as well to try title as for damages; that on or about Jan. 1, 1944, plaintiff was seized and possessed, and owned, the fee simple title to that certain tract of land in Lubbock county, Texas, being lot 33, in block 11, of the Ellwood Place, an addition to the town of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas; that on or about the date last aforesaid the defendants wrongfully and unlawfully entered upon said premises, ejected plaintiff therefrom, and wrongfully withhold possession of said premises from plaintiff to his damage in the sum of $5,000.00. Wherefore, plaintiff prays that the defendants be cited to appear and answer herein and that on final hearing hereof he have judgment for title and possession of said premises, with damages and cost of court, with writ of restitution and possession and such other relief to which he may be justly entitled as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 18th day of Aug., A. D., 1944.
ATTEST:
ALYENE FURGESON, Clerk, 72nd Dist. Court, Lubbock County, Texas.

News Brief

Mrs. J. C. Plemons, 24, of 1516 Twenty-third, is in West Texas hospital with a comminuted fracture of the pelvis, lacerated scalp and possible internal injuries suffered Monday night when the car which she was driving was involved in a traffic mishap with two other vehicles on the Slaton highway. Two others received bruises and cuts. They were L. G. Carlock and a soldier stationed at South Plains Army Air field. One car was pushing another and the third vehicle rammed the rear end of Carlock's car.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

STOCKS GENERALLY SOFTEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP) — Stocks generally softened and commodities weakened in today's markets as holders continued to adjust their positions in preparation for the collapse of Germany and possibly consequent transition unsettlement on the industrial home front.

The start was slightly mixed on moderate dealings. Trends wavered after midday and near-closing quotations were irregularly lower. Transfers picking up somewhat in the final hour, approximated 800,000 shares.

Laggards, off mostly fractions, included Youngstown Sheet, Santa Fe, Western Union "A", Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Dupont, International Harvester and Union Carbide. Ahead occasionally were General Motors, Anaconda, Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak and Goodrich.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP) — Favorable war news, reaction in grain prices and the improved cotton crop outlook caused nervous liquidation and hedge selling in cotton futures today. Prices at one time sold off as much as 75 cents a bale and rallying tendencies through mill buying and covering were discouraged by continued free offerings.

Futures closed 45 to 75 cents a bale lower.

Production Of Low-Cost Knitwear Due

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—The War Production board today announced its fourth special program for production of low-cost cotton knitwear garments which continue to be one of the most acute civilian shortage problems.

The new order calls for fourth quarter production of infants' hose, sleepers, gowns, shirts, wrappers, baby bands, pants; women's vests, pants; boys' and girls' socks, children waist suits; and men's work socks.

Idaho has 28,308 miles of highways.

Bulgaria Quits Axis

it not neutrality but collaboration with the Allies against Germany.

Tass said bluntly that the new Bulgarian government was incapable of abandoning neutrality and joining the anti-German coalition.

Muraviev, apparently still struggling to avert a declaration of war against the Reich, said only that his government would break diplomatic relations with Germany if the Nazis attempted to prevent the execution of his new measures.

The prompt Russian reaction, however, indicated that Moscow would be satisfied with nothing short of Bulgarian military action against the Nazis. It was recalled that the Bagrianov government fell last week after a series of blunt Russian charges that it was continuing its aid to Germany.

Accused Of Harboring Nazis

Moscow spokesmen accused the Bulgars of harboring and assisting German troops driven from Romania into Bulgaria.

Muraviev asserted that his government is now making every effort to disarm all Germans on Bulgarian soil and that it had given full approval to the peace conferences now under way in Cairo. The Bulgarian emissaries there, he said, have been instructed to speed up their armistice negotiations with the United States and Britain. Bulgaria is at war against Britain and America but she is not at war with Russia.

At the same time, he announced that Bulgarian troops are being withdrawn from foreign territories—presumably Greece and Yugoslavia — and that this evacuation will be completed in the very near future.

Bulgaria also will take measures to restore normal diplomatic relations with "all freedom-loving countries" and will continue its efforts to improve relations with Turkey, Muraviev said.

Rhineland Lashed

Hungary, supporting Russian armies moving through the Transylvanian Alps.

Karlsruhe Attack Significant

Perhaps the most significant of the three-target attack by nearly 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators from Britain was the attack on the railyards and repair shops at Karlsruhe (189,850) just across the French-German border in the Rhineland. Mosquitos dropped many two-ton blockbusters on Karlsruhe last night without loss.

Because of its location and huge transport facilities, Karlsruhe is a logical focal point for supplies and reinforcements which Hitler probably is marshalling for the battle of Germany. One report placed the U. S. Third army within 40 miles of Karlsruhe.

Waves of Allied warplanes darkened the skies above Britain in flights straight toward the invasion-threatened Reich, whose inner fortifications were doomed to increasing aerial bombardment.

Subs, Brenner Pass Hit

The daylight blows today on Hitler's swiftly shrinking holds ended 36 hours in which muggy weather chained air fleets in the west to the ground. Mediterranean air fleets kept busy, however. They bombed German submarines tied up in Italy's leading port of Genoa after escaping southern France. They freshly interdicted the Brenner pass supply and escape route, perhaps the only one left to Germans in the Gothic line.

Despite the vile weather, a few small sweeps were made yesterday against the 100,000 Germans trapped on the channel coast. Total sorties were less than 100, compared to 1,800 from the south.

Quicksand Swallows Up Plane And Pilot

CHEROKEE, Okla., Sept. 5. (UP) —Quicksand of the great salt plains in northwestern Oklahoma today defied for the seventh day the Army's efforts to recover a plane and its pilot swallowed by the bottomless sand bed.

Army authorities reported this morning that the plane was still sinking in the soft sand, and it was believed to be "at least 10 to 20 feet below the surface now."

The plane crashed and exploded in a power dive on the salt plains strafing and bombing range five miles east of here last Wednesday. Lt. B. A. Yearout, public relations officer at the Salt Plains Army Air field, said fragments of the craft had been found a considerable distance from the spot where it fell into the sand.

Officers of Strother Army Air field, Winfield, Kan., where the plane was based, identified the missing pilot as 2nd Lt. Melvin R. Wardyn, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wardyn, Omaha, Neb.

Officer Fires Shot At Thug, Girl Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 5 (UP) — Thirteen-year-old Virginia Willegas was killed last night by a shot from the pistol of Patrolman Joe Gephart when the officer fired at a man he surprised during the attempted holdup of a soldier.

The girl ran directly into the line of fire, police reports said. The holdup suspect later was captured.

DOUBLE FEATURE

CARBONDALE, Ill., Sept. 5. (UP)—John Wright has a double feature fish tale to spin. While he was casting at Crab Orchard Lake his bait became tangled on a twig. When he tried to disconnect it, he noticed a large bass playing nearby. The bass made a lunge at the wiggler and was hooked. Just then another bass became interested and went the way of the first. The story has a happy ending—he landed them both.

TO OFFER RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — Senator Gillette (R-Iowa), one of the sponsors of a constitutional amendment calling for equal rights for women, served notice to the Senate today that the resolution would be called up for action "sometime in the coming week."

House Group Takes Up Demobilization

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (U.P.)—The House military affairs committee turned its attention today to a topic uppermost in the minds of millions of soldiers and their families—the army's plans for beginning demobilization after Germany capitulates.

The committee called into a closed conference on the subject a number of high ranking military authorities, including Brig. Gen. William F. Tompkins, the Army's No. 1 planner of troop demobilization, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey and Col. Francis Keesling, jr., of the selective service system, and a representative of the Navy.

The discussions began as the question of demobilization was thrust sharply to the forefront by the sudden deterioration of Germany's military position under Allied blows from the east, west and south. Some congressional quarters have heard reports that the Army will be able to discharge 2,000,000 men as son as Germany collapses and still have enough for occupation duties and transfer to the Pacific for the war against Japan.

Several Questions Expected

Committee members were expected to ask Tompkins:

Who will be discharged first—men with longest service, best combat records, those having dependants?

What system will be used to keep from breaking up fighting units which usually are made up of men of all ages and postitions?

How soon after Germany falls will the first men be discharged?

How many will be transferred from Europe to the Pacific,

Chairman Andrew J. May, (D., Ky.), declined to comment on why Hershey and Keesling, the two top draft officials, had been asked to the conference, but recent statements by other committee members indicated they would seek to learn how long selective service will continue inductions.

Law Expires In 1945

Rep. James W. Wadsworth, (R., N.Y.), co-author of the draft act, pointed out that the law expires May 15, 1945, and that it would be necessary to extend it if inductions are to continue beyond that period.

Selective Service reported last week that inductions could continue at the present pace for the rest of the year — that is, small groups, 83 per cent of whom are under 26 — unless there are unforeseen developments.

While there have been many rumors, Selective Service has not disclosed whether the Army intends to use newly inducted men for occupation forces, thereby freeing veterans of long service, or to keep the men now in service and discontinue inductions at the earliest possible moment.

CORN BAN CONTINUED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP) — Present prohibitions against the use of corn in production of alcohol for war will be continued during the remainder of the year, the War Production board announced today. The War Food administration asked for continuance of the ban.

BRIDGEWORK STOLEN

WILKES BARRE, Pa. — County commissioners are relying on state police : finish construction of a bridge—thieves stole 12 tons of girders and unless they are recovered the new bridge will be a post-war project.

ARREST—AND RESCUE

LOS ANGELES — Royal Zehner, 44, was glad to see the two policemen even though they did arrest him on suspicion of burglary.

Three women occupants caught him in a house, pulled off his coat, knocked him down and sat on him until the officers arrived.

Gasped Zehner to the police: "It was pretty awful until you came."

YOO HOO, GIRLS!

SHOOTING MATCH

AUSTIN—A typographical error in the club's bulletin failed to lower attendance at the Exchange club's picnic. The bulletin had promised "Gun, fellowship and food."

HOME WORK

SEATTLE — A housewife phoned police to say that she wasn't out of bed yet, and someone was pounding on the basement door, attempting to break in.

The police came sirening out and found—a meter reader, trying to get to the basement meter.

PAPER WEIGHT

SALT LAKE CITY—A doctor called Mrs. John T. Wahlquist, who directs wastepaper salvage, to report he had accidentally tossed four radium needles, valued at $700, into a wastebasket.

Borrowing a radium locator from the University of Utah, the salvagers finally spotted the radium in a railroad box car. Got it back, too, after removing ten tons of paper.

THERE GOES THE FIRE!

RATON, N. M. — A city garbage truck whisked merrily past the fire station belching smoke. Fire Chief W. D. Moore panted after it afoot, gave up, ran back and got the fire truck for pursuit.

Several blocks later the firemen caught up with and put out, the fire.

SPURNED

SPOKANE, Wash. — The soldier said, "No, thanks," after a girl wearing dark glasses asked him if he would like to dance. He felt sort of silly a little later when Manager Al Freyerabend of the Spokane Prels club informed him he had just said no to Movie Actress Kay Francis.

WAR HARDENED POOCH

CHICAGO—An Australian-born cocker spaniel named Flaps—because of her ears reminded Army fliers of air brakes on a plane—had no fear of Jap bombing planes in the South Pacific. She just ducked for a slit trench.

But city living is another thing. Now home with her owner, Sgt. Marshal Kappell, the pup reacts more demonstratively to horses here than she did to the roar of war at fighter bases in New Guinea.

"She goes into a dither when she sees a horse in the street," Kappell said. "She saw plenty of jeeps and planes in the last year but no horses."

Capt. Robert Stone Freed In Romania

Capt. Robert L. Stone, 23-year-old squadron leader who was reported missing in action several weeks ago when bombing the Ploesti, Romania, oil field installations, and who had not been heard from since, bobbed up this morning with a "safe and well" cablegram addressed to his wife, of 1711 Eighteenth.

"Please don't worry," he said to her, formerly Miss Hazel Durham.

Capt. Stone, formerly an instructor at Lubbock Army Air field, also has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, the Air Medal and one Oak Leaf Cluster, Mrs. Stone learned.

She presumed he was one of the more than 1,000 Allied airmen who were liberated from prison when Allied columns freed Romania last week.

Boy, 12, Admits He Strangled Girl, 5

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Detective Sgt. William T. Fitzgibbons said tonight a 12-year-old boy had admitted he was responsible for the strangling today of five-year-old Ella Marie Aubin.

Fitzgibbons said the boy confessed he tied one end of a "jump rope" around the girl's neck and suspended her from a seven-foot fence. The girl's feet apparently were touching an old spring which sagged, causing the rope to tighten around her neck, Fitzgibbons declared.

The girl's body was unclothed and Fitzgibbons quoted the boy as admitting he had committed "immoral acts upon her." No charge has been placed against the boy, who has been sent to a hospital for treatment, Fitzgibbons said.

Peach "Defuzzer" is Planned For Future

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5 (U.P.)—What Rube Goldberg dared only to dream and draw about, a Los Angeles company has blueprinted and produced — a machine to take the fuzz off peaches.

The Food Machinery Corp., which specializes in postwar innovations, today revealed details of the "defuzzer," which, whimsical as it sounds, promises to be a boon to peach growers.

Without whiskers, the peaches will command premium prices in eastern markets.

Bowles Appeals For Price Gauge Change

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Price Administraator Chester Bowles today appealed to Congress to eliminate its ban on the use of so-called government standards in pricing canned fruits and vegetables.

The congressional restriction "makes impossible proper enforcement of price ceilings" on these commodities and makes the American consumer the victim of widespread price increases," he said in a letter to Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee.

OPA announced some time ago that it planned to use the government's A. M. A., Agricultural Marketing administration standards in pricing the 1944 pack of fruits and vegetables. Subsequently, the comptroller general ruled that use of such standards would violate the intent of Congress.

The ruling was based on a rider to the second deficiency appropriation act prohibiting the use of any standards not in general use by the trade. In effect it said that A. M. A. standards were not in general use and obliged OPA to base prices on commercial standards. Some fruit and vegetable prices already have been set on the commercial standard basis.

A. M. A. standards, Bowles said in his letter, define grades much more precisely than commercial standards.

Successor Reported Named To Rommel

WITH BRITISH FORCES, France, Sept. 5 (AP) — Marshal Walter von Model, lately German commander in southern Poland, was reported today to have replaced Marshal Edwin Rommel as commander of Nazi army group D.

Rommel has been missing from dispatches for a month or more, variously reported wounded or killed in a traffic accident during an Allied bombing.

Von Model is reputed to be a tank specialist who takes great risks.

300 Famed Marines Back From Marianas

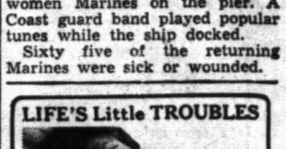

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5. (U.P.)—Three hundred marines of the famed second division—veterans of Saipan, Tarawa and Tinian—arrived from the Marianas today.

They cheered and laughed as their big ship moved into its slip on the waterfront. Some of them tossed battle souvenirs, including Japanese "occupation" currency and coins, to the crowd on the wharf.

A big cheer went up when the Marines caught first sight of a group of navy girl chauffeurs and women Marines on the pier. A Coast guard band played popular tunes while the ship docked.

Sixty five of the returning Marines were sick or wounded.

GOOD NEWS FOR BUSINESS MEN

The post-war world will see a tremendous growth of small business in America. One of the major problems will be credit. The American Bankers Association, of which we are a member, has just established a new Post-War Small Business Credit Commission to mobilize the credit facilities of banks for this purpose. Business men can be sure that American banking will serve them as well in peace as in war.
