No Gramm-Rudman ruling issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a broadcast report that it was about to strike down a key provision of the law requiring a balanced budget by 1991, the Supreme Court issued no ruling today on the constitutionality of the deficit-reduction statute.

ABC News reported Sunday that the court would announce in a 7-2 ruling this morning that the legislation violates the constitutional separation-of-powers doctrine.

The court had announced previously it would hand down three decisions today. But it announced only two, neither involving the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law.

Asked for comment after today's decisions were announced, ABC News Washington bureau chief George Watson said the network stood behind its report.

"Tim O'Brien also pointed out in his report last night that the decision had been made, and was scheduled to be made today, and that, in the past, leaks had caused the court to delay the scheduled announcement."

The network had reported that the court was about to announce a decision striking down the law's provision giving important powers to the comptroller general, an officer of Congress.

Such a decision would uphold the Feb. 7 ruling of a special three-judge federal court.

Under the law, passed by Congress last year, the comptroller general is charged with determining budget ceilings that must be implemented if Congress fails to pass a spending plan meeting deficit-reduction goals.

The deficit for this year is estimated at more than $200 billion. The Gramm-Rudman law requires the figure to be no higher than $144 billion for the next fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1.

Tourney again set (maybe)

University Interscholastic League director Dr. Bailey Marshall informed Snyder school officials Monday morning he has ordered the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament be held Friday and Saturday "unless stopped by court action."

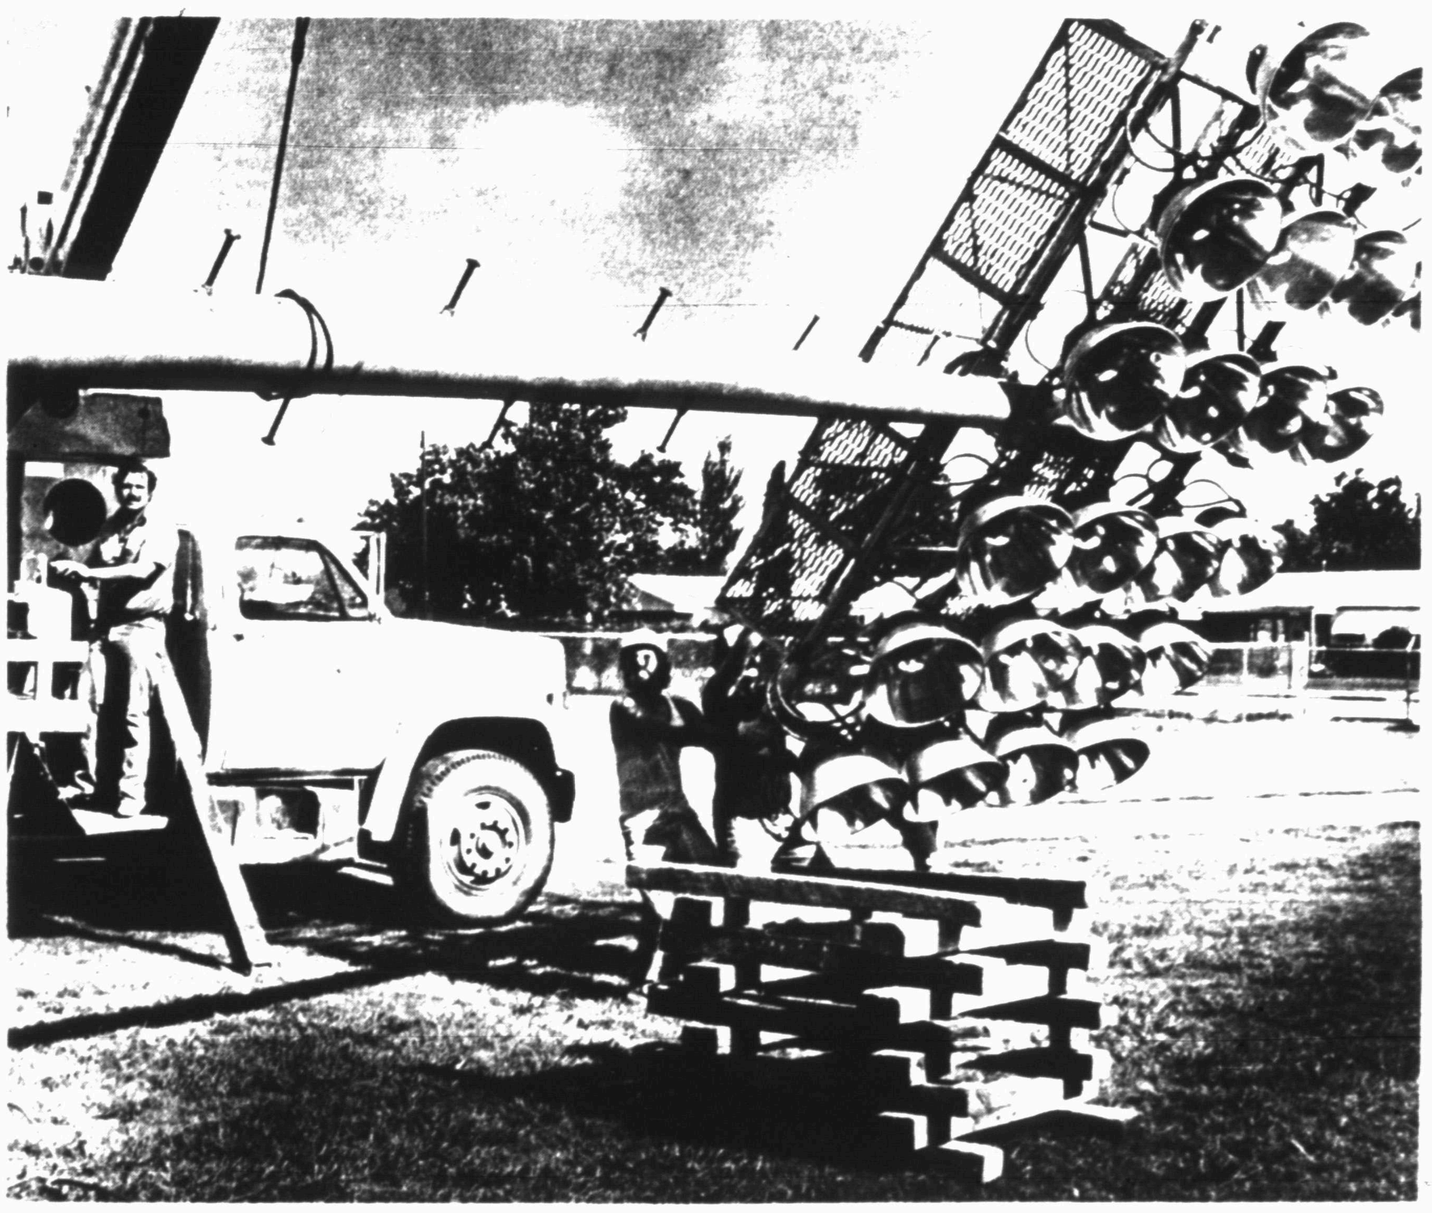

The tournament is being scheduled despite District Judge Bill Logue's temporary restraining order which postponed tournament play pending the completion of a Westlake-Waco Richfield quarterfinal playoff series.

A hearing has been set at 1 p.m. Monday in Logue's court which could change the restraining order into a temporary injunction.

UIL Athletic Director Bill Farney told The Snyder Daily News Monday morning that if the tournament is not held this week, it will probably be cancelled.

The tournament, as directed by Marshall, will proceed under a new time schedule, Farney

Bingo vote set Aug. 9

Voters in Hermleigh will head for the polls on Aug. 9 to determine the fate of local option bingo games in that precinct.

County commissioners Monday called the election after officials in the county clerk's office certified some 70 signatures on a petition submitted by Hermleigh resident Billy Haynes.

Originally brought before court members during their May 27 meeting, the petition requests a called election to legalize "charitable" bingo in JP Pct. 2 — voter Pct. 13 in Hermleigh.

Should residents approve the measure, the games will be legal in that precinct only.

In other action, commissioners accepted a letter from the Texas Justice Court Training Center confirming the attendance of Dan Callaway and R.C. Nixon at a recent training session. As justices of the peace, the men are required to obtain 20 hours of schooling each year.

13 places to avoid when the rains come

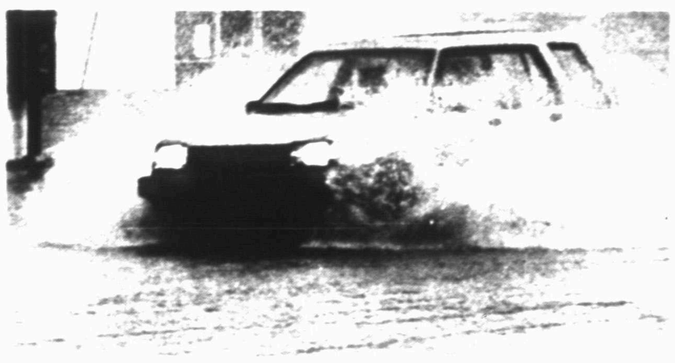

Snyder skies have been generally clear after some nine days of rainfall which ended June 7.

During the rainy days of May and early June, city officials took the time to compile a list of areas best avoided by drivers when heavy rainfall is noted.

These are low areas which normally fill with rain runoff — offering the potential for flooded out vehicles or, in the case of flash flooding, danger to drivers and passengers.

The list was provided by Bobby Kenner, head of the city street department. He noted the following areas are where barricades are most often erected during rain storms. These include:

—Ave. Q between 22nd and 23rd.
—22nd St. between Ave. Q and Ave. R.
—21st St. between Ave. Q and Ave. R.
—Ave Q and 20th St.
—19th St. between RS&P Tracks and Ave. Q.
—Ave. O between 17th St. and 18th St.

—17th St. between Ave. N and Ave. Q.
—Ave. Z between 23rd St. and Lamesa Highway.
—28th St. between Ave. R and Ave. T.
—13th St. between Ave. O and Ave. M.
—Ave. E between 21st St. and 22nd.
—Ennis Creek Road at Santa Fe overpass (behind Wilson Motors.)
—Brick Plant Road and 37th St.

Pearl Harbor vets to meet in Snyder

The West Texas Chapter of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association has scheduled a meeting in Snyder for next Saturday at noon.

Scurry County is home for four men who survived the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941.

Two of these men, John H. Roddy of Snyder and Guy Turner of Fluvanna, were aboard the Navy vessel the U.S.S. Tennessee.

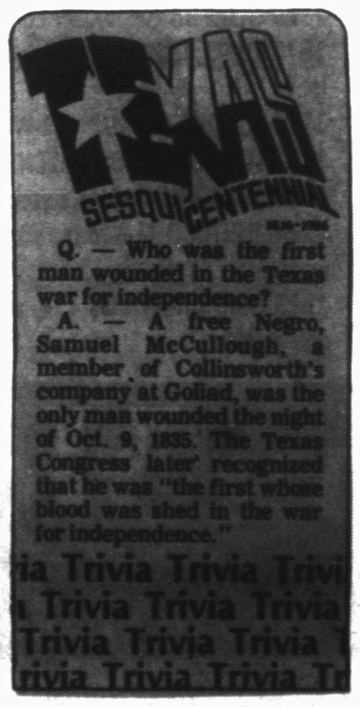

Charles Lebkowsky, who lives at Lake Thomas, was aboard the U.S.S. Tucker, and Alton Barfoot of Hermleigh, also a Navy veteran, was stationed at Bishop's Point.

Also expected to attend the meeting is ex-Snyder man A.B. Sealy, who was in the U.S. Marine Corps at Kaneohe Bay during the attack which officially brought the U.S. into the war.

Snyder was chosen as the meeting site to draw attendance from members in the Sweetwater, Abilene, Big Spring and Midland—Odessa area, Roddy said.

He added he hopes to have 12 or more members in attendance from the 44 or 45 members that are in the West Texas Chapter.

Delbert Downing, the recently elected representative from this area to the Silver Haired Legislator, will be the guest speaker. A short report from the state meeting of the PHSA held last month will also be given.

Teacher appraisal workshop at WTC

A five-day "appraisal training" workshop for area school administrators began Monday on the campus of Western Texas College.

The workshop is being conducted in the Scurry County Museum through the Region 14 Education Service Center based in Abilene.

Administrators will receive training on the "appraisal instrument" to be used statewide for the annual evaluation of classroom teacher performance.

This instrument is seen as a way to make such evaluations consistent throughout Texas. Part of its use will be for career ladder selections.

In all, they will receive 41 hours of training between now and Friday.

Other area schools with officials here include Ira and Hermleigh in addition to Colorado City, Loraine and

Ask Us

A — It was. The Texas Independence Express was to visit many Texas cities including Snyder. The project has now been cancelled, however, due to insufficient funding from contributors and the cancellation of a liability insurance policy covering the train's trip.

In Brief

Cartel fails

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — OPEC has failed to meet its spring target of voluntary cuts in oil production, and cartel sources and industry analysts say no major cutbacks are expected before summer's end.

The probable result is a continuing oil glut and prices fluctuating around the current $13-$15 a barrel, the analysts say. Some foresee brief dips to $10 a barrel.

After a marathon meeting in April, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries declared that 10 of its 13 members had agreed the group's production should be cut by one million barrels a day, to 16.3 million barrels daily, starting July 1.

In the meantime, they said, the 10 would make voluntary cuts to leave total OPEC output near the 16.3 million level by the end of June. The stated goal was to bring supplies closer in line with demand to drive prices above $20 a barrel.

Stab inmate

MIDWAY, Texas (AP) — Two assailants stabbed a Texas prison inmate 25 times with a piece of wire in the recreational yard of the Ferguson Unit, a spokesman said.

Robert Perez, 23, who was serving 16 years for attempted aggravated murder, was in serious condition late Sunday at a Texas Department of Corrections hospital in Galveston, department spokesman Charles Brown said.

The Madison County Sheriff's Department was investigating the Sunday incident and had two suspects who had not been charged yet, Brown said.

Perez was in the recreational yard when two inmates climbed over a fence and attacked him with a 9-inch-long wire with a cloth handle, the spokesman said.

Marcos advises against overthrow of Aquino regime

HONOLULU (AP) — Deposed Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos is concerned that supporters are "getting out of control" and says he has strongly advised them against any violent effort to overthrow President Corazon Aquino.

In an interview with The Associated Press on Sunday, Marcos called Mrs. Aquino "the most powerful dictator that the world has ever known" but said she is too weak to prevent communists from taking over her government.

"I think the poor girl just isn't strong enough to make her own decisions, and this makes her a dangerous girl," said Marcos, who was interviewed for three hours in the living room of his rented beachfront house.

He also uttered his first words of mild admiration for the woman who replaced him in a popularly backed military revolt, saying she is "in a quiet personal way, courageous" and adding that any other woman would have collapsed under the burden.

Marcos, who rarely gave informal or lengthy interviews during his 20 years as president and was known to go to bed early, sat into the early hours of Sunday, speaking seriously but also joking and laughing about himself.

"I'm not going to sour my life because of all this pettiness that is thrown at me," he said.

Marcos, who fled his country Feb. 25, said as many as a million Filipinos could be killed if a civil war were to erupt over his claim to the presidency.

"Some people think that they should take over and not allow me to intervene and then hand over the reigns of power to me," said Marcos, who said he would return to the Philippines only to fight alongside the country's military against communists.

"We are not going to kill Filipinos just because I want to be president," he said.

"People have been meeting with me because they feel that some of our people are getting out of control in the sense that they want to start something violent," Marcos said.

He said he was advising supporters to continue demonstrations but to apply for permits and to submit to police dispersal.

Marcos repeated denials that he is giving financial support to loyalist demonstrators and that he had agreed to negotiate with the government to return some of his wealth. He said it was a lie that the government was broke when he fled his palace.

He also repeated claims that American officials deceived him into leaving the country, saying he did not ask for a helicopter airlift.

Dear Abby

Widow Eager to Scale Sons' Mountains of Memorabilia

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my mid-50s. I have seven fine sons — the youngest is 21. I raised them in a four-bedroom-and-den dwelling, until one by one they graduated, found suitable employment and moved into their own apartments with my blessings.

Some are artists, some blue-collar technicians, still others are university graduates and professionals.

I am alone now, have a good job and secure future. My problem? Abby, you would be aghast should you enter my home. It is filled with trophies, certificates of merit, and dozens of awards for athletic and academic achievements. There are rooms filled with sporting equipment for baseball, basketball, football, tennis, golf, boxing, hiking, skiing, fishing and hunting. There are books, artists' supplies, a backgammon table, chess sets, dice, poker chips, playing cards, musical instruments and music books. Need I go on?

I have begged them individually and collectively to come and get their stuff. This house has served its purpose, and I'd like to sell or rent it to a large family. Then I'd find myself a small efficiency apartment and live happily ever after. I am appealing to you, Abby. How can I get my sons to act? They all say they will "soon," but soon never comes.

CARMEN IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR CARMEN: I am sure you know what to do, but you need someone to give you a shove. Here it is: Call a meeting of the "seven deadly sinners" and tell them your home is not a warehouse, so on (you set the date) you are having a garage sale, auction, or the Salvation Army is backing up a truck, and all their stuff is going bye-bye. Therefore, if they haven't come over and picked up their property before that date, they will never see it again. Good luck,

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This concerns the case of the prospective buyer of a secondhand car who asked if he could test-drive the car around the block, then drove off, never to return.

An obvious point was overlooked. If the seller gives the keys to a prospective buyer, and that person fails to return the car, the seller's insurance company will not consider the car stolen, and, therefore, will not reimburse the seller for the loss.

BEEN THERE
IN SANTA BARBARA

DEAR BEEN THERE: I consulted Arthur Groman, an outstanding Los Angeles attorney. He said: "I don't believe there is only one conclusion. It depends on the terms of the insurance policy, the intent of the parties and the skill of your lawyer."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are about to buy our first home together. He has boxes of pictures and letters from all his past lovers. I don't want them in our home, but he insists that they are a part of his life and he will not let them go.

I have asked him to store them in the home of one of his relatives so I will not have to run into them anymore.

Am I being childish? I love him very much, but this hurts.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Childish? No. Surely there is somewhere to store these old souvenirs where you won't be "running into them." Basement? Attic? Let him find a place. And if he can't, I'm sure you can. Out of sight — out of mind.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

June 17, 1986

In the year ahead, exciting social times are in the offing. You will make new contacts with people from all walks of life. Some will be extremely helpful, but a few could be detrimental to your purpose.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are involved in a joint venture today, it's best that you manage events rather than your counterpart. His moves may be too reckless. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Let your humane and forgiving instincts direct you today, instead of being vindictive. Further complications will ensue if you try to even the score.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not hold back if a close friend is in need of your assistance today. Step into the breach; pull out the stops, and go all the way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be both realistic as well as cautious in your financial affairs today. A profit is possible if you don't take foolish gambles.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This can be a productive day for you, provided you have a sound plan. If you try to operate without a blueprint, chaos could result.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's been said that loose lips can sinks ships. People who have confided in you will be glad they're not sailing over the bounding main today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) All will go smoothly with associates today, as long as something of value is not an issue. When the ante goes up, everyone will start looking out for himself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's probable that you will fulfill an ambitious aim today, but you may offend someone in the process. Weigh your gains against what it costs to win.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The assistance you require from others won't be forthcoming today if you assign tasks to them while doing nothing for yourself. You'd better do your share.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may be called upon today to clear up a mess that is not of your making. You're the only one who can set things straight, so do what you can.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The route to an important objective will be blocked today. But you still can succeed by using an alternative plan. Have one ready.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not think only of yourself today to the detriment of others. Motives of this ilk may profit you now, but they'll catch up with you later.

Reagan sending letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, who has sent a conciliatory letter to Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, is seeking renewed high-level talks at a time of confusing signals in the U.S.-Soviet relationship.

The president's message — described by one aide as "a friendly letter" — comes amid stepped-up efforts to arrange a superpower summit but also increasingly harsh exchanges over Reagan's recent decision to scrap the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty.

Reagan, returning Sunday from a weekend at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md., refused to give details of his proposal that Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze meet in the near future.

"We just correspond — private correspondence," Reagan said as he walked from Marine One on the South Lawn, giving reporters a wave and a smile but no further details.

White House spokesman Albert Brashear said Reagan did not mean to imply by the comment that he had received a response from Gorbachev. Brashear said he did not know if a reply had been received from the Soviets.

Brashear also said he did not know exactly when the letter was sent. He said he did not think it specified a time for Shultz and Shevardnadze to meet.

Brashear described the letter as being conciliatory in tone. "It was a friendly letter," he said.

Library has 'critter day'

June 12 about 50 children brought their Texas critters (pets) to the Scurry County Library for a pet show.

Dr. Charles Church, local veterinarian, was on hand and spoke to the children about pet care and provided a bag of shampoo, pet vitamins, and other samples for each child.

Awards were given in four basic divisions including dogs, cats, wild animals and other domesticated animals. Within each division children were divided into age groups.

In the cat division the judges were Nell Henry and Cindy Terry. Winners were:

—Pre-school and kindergarten age: 1st place, Lori Sanders; 2nd place, Tabitha Johnston; 3rd place. Nichoel Fuentez.

—1st grade group: 1st place, Molly Wilson; 2nd place, Rebecca Bennet; 3rd place, Cara Glasscock.

—4th grade group: 1st place, Angie Davidson; 2nd place (tie), Jamie McFall and Jennifer Smith.

In the dog division the judges were Mandy Henry and Audra Bond, and the winners included:

—Pre-school age: 1st place, Amy Church; 2nd place, Kela Stagner.

—Kindergarten, 1st and 2nd graders: 1st place, Chad Channey; 2nd place, Glenn Lewis; 3rd place, Casey Doyle.

—3rd graders: 1st place, Brad Smith; 2nd place, Haley Grimmett; 3rd place, Zane Neely.

—4th and 5th graders: 1st place, Vicki Green; 2nd place, Carrie West; 3rd place, Rynaldo Batillo.

In other domesticated division the judges were Sharyon Bond and Deanna Myers. Prizes were awarded in this division by type of pet.

—Rabbits: 1st place, Sharon Gulseth.

—Lambs: 1st place, Jenise Judah.

In the wild animal division the judges were Jayson Limmer and Eddie Gutierrez. 1st place went to Kari Ferris for a turtle and 2nd place went to Luke Green for a grasshopper.

PROTECT YOURSELF FROM LIGHTNING

Lightning is deadly and annually kills more Americans than tornadoes and more than hurricanes and floods combined.

However, since lightning usually kills only one person at a time, lightning deaths do not attract as much attention as other weather-related fatalities.

Lightning is particularly common with spring and summer thunderstorms in Texas, so individuals should take certain precautions during stormy weather.

Quick thinking combined with common sense can go a long way in preventing lightning fatalities when thundestorms are on the prowl.

Some "dos" and "don'ts" regarding lightning safety:

OUTSIDE

—Do seek protection immediately. Safe places include a building that's protected from lightning; a large, steel-framed building; an enclosed automobile; and a large, unprotected building.

—Don't touch any metal fences, wires, clotheslines or pipes. In a car, keep your hands off any metal or the radio.

—Do get off your bicycle, golf cart, horse, tractor or motorcycle.

—Don't take cover under lone trees, taller trees in groves or in unprotected shelters such as those on a golf course or camp ground.

—Do head for a low spot--lower than ground level--such as a ravine, gully or ditch, but not one that's filling with water.

—Don't remain near railroad tracks.

—Do get off beaches, piers or docks and get away from pools, oceans and lakes.

—Do seek shelter in a clump of head-high trees or a thicket of small ones if you're stuck in a forested area.

—Don't stand in open spaces, since most lightning fatalities are people who are taller than their surroundings--a golfer in the middle of the fairway, a farmer in a field, a rider in open country.

—Do immediately set down golf clubs, tennis rackets, fishing poles and other metal objects that can act as lightning rods.

INDOOORS

—Do get away from appliances and metal fixtures such as refrigerators, ranges, sinks, bathtubs, air conditioners, washing machines, clothes dryers and televison sets.

—Don't use the telephone except in an emergency.

Here is a deal in which the 4-3 spade fit would have provided a safer game contract than the actual three no-trump. When hearts were led against the no-trump game, declarer was resigned to his fate. On the third and fourth rounds of hearts, he discarded two clubs from dummy, and from his own hand a club and a diamond. He then waited for West to take the setting trick with the fifth heart. And waited. The lights came on as declarer realized that the opponents had botched the defense by blocking the heart suit. East was left with the setting trick, but West was on lead.

West exited with a spade and declarer could take the rest of the tricks as long as he made the effort. In practice, he played A-K of diamonds. When the queen did not drop, he then took a club finesse with the jack, and that was nine tricks.

The lesson on defense is simple to remember. North asked whether South had a four-card major suit by bidding two clubs. The response, two diamonds, said, "Sorry, partner — no four-card major." Knowing that South cannot have four hearts makes it easy for West to unblock a heart honor when East plays the king and ace, just in case the hearts have today's distribution pattern.

Planned grazing systems offer ranchers multi-purpose benefits over year-long continuous grazing. These systems help maintain or speed up improvements in plant cover while properly using the forage on all pasture units. They improve efficiency of grazing by uniformly using all parts of each pasture unit and insuring a supply of forage throughout the grazing season.

The ability to manufacture food and sustain a grass plant is directly related to the amount of leaf surface the plant has to intercept sunlight. With rains, healthy plants are able to increase leaf surface rather quickly. This is why deferrments or rest periods are so important during good growing periods.

Deferrments can also be used to develop forage reserves to initiate grazing systems to allow several pastures periodic deferrment throughout the year. The types of grazing systems that are being successfuly used in West Texas are as varied as our weather. They range from two pasture switchbacks, where one pasture is being deferred while another is grazed and then vice-versa, to the more intensified wagon-wheel type grazing system which allows livestock to be rotated every few days. Ranchers who came out of their grazing system during the dry summer should be thinking about going back into the system as soon as their forage is adequate. If you have not been in a grazing system it is likely that you could start on two or more pastures using existing fences and water sources.

The type of system that fits your livestock program and operation is, of course, the one that needs to be used on your ranch. However, one fact applies to all operations, deferrment will make for better forage through the long summer or drought and can reduce that feed bill next winter.

The Soil Conservation Service offers assistance in planing or beginning a grazing system. If you would like more information call us at 573-1268 or come by our office at 3423 Avenue T.

At College National Finals Rodeo...

Doty likes Western's chances

BOZEMAN, Mont. -- Western Texas College has finished as high as second at the College National Finals Rodeo and Coach Bob Doty feels like 1986 could produce another lofty finish.

Slack performances at the rodeo here began at 6 this morning. The rodeo runs through Saturday.

"Maybe it's our turn to win this year," said Doty, who is taking Western Texas to the finals for the sixth straight season. His 1981 team finished second in the nation and his 1984 women's squad was seventh.

"It seems like we've got a good bunch and we're well balanced this year. I'm real optimistic about how we'll do. This team is not better or worse than any other team we've had at the national finals but I think the odds are more with us every year," he said.

Western's men's team is made up of three freshmen and three sophomores and is entered in 13 events. The group includes these students:

- Paul Yorks, freshman from Mt. Morris, N.Y., competing in calf roping and steer wrestling.

- Keith Hudson, freshman from Paradise, Tex., competing in calf roping and steer wrestling.

- Jim Smith, freshman from Del Rio, competing in calf roping, steer wrestling and team roping.

- Mike Carrillo, sophomore from Kingsville, competing in the bareback.

- Bliss Mayhan, sophomore from Kim, Colo., competing in the bull riding, saddle bronc and bareback.

- Tobin Tate, sophomore from Clovis, N.M., competing in the bull riding and calf roping.

Also competing from Western, but not eligible to help the team point-wise, are sophomore bareback rider Tony Hecksher, who hails from Marobara, Queensland, Australia, and team ropers Cody Foster and Chuck Smith.

Hecksher qualified for the CNFR by placing second in the region in the bareback. Foster, from Memphis, Tex., and Chuck Smith, from Townsend, Del., will compete in team roping with Jim Smith and Yorks, respectively.

Competing on the three-member women's team are the following girls:

- Niki Moist, sophomore from Star, Idaho, competing in the goat tying and barrels.

- Shelly Eldridge, freshman from Capitan, N.M., competing in the goat tying, barrels and breakaway.

- Mistri Davis, freshman from Truth or Consequences, N.M., competing in the goat tying barrels and breakaway.

"Goat tying has been the strong event for our girls all season. Hopefully they'll do well in it and in the roping events and maybe they can have a strong finish," said Doty.

"This is what all of these kids have worked for for a long time. It's been one of their goals in life since they've been in rodeo," the coach said. "When they were competing in junior rodeos they couldn't wait to get out and go to college. Now, they can't wait to get out of college and maybe try the professional circuit. This is a big step in all of that."

To place well, said Doty, the Western Texas teams "have got to draw pretty good and use the animals they draw to the best extent of their abilities. If you can get two or three guys really hot at the same time you could win it."

Hearing today could effect 4A state baseball tournament

WACO -- Coaches and players were hoping for some positive outcome today as State District Judge Bill Logue of Waco holds a hearing on a dispute involving the Class 4A baseball tournament.

Logue could make his temporary restraining order into a more powerful temporary injunction. His order, issued Wednesday, calls for the Austin Westlake-Waco Richfield playoff series to continue.

Westlake had defeated Richfield in the first game of a best-of-three series but further play was rained out. The University Interscholastic League, invoking a 27-year-old rule, decided that Westlake should advance to the state tournament. Not happy with the rule, Richfield supporters filed suit to extend the series.

At least seven motions have been filed in four different courts since last Tuesday. On Wednesday afternoon, State District Judge Juan Gallardo in Austin issured a temporary restraining order halting the tournament, ruling that it couldn't go on unless Westlake was one of the teams.

The conflicting rulings have prevented the UIL from acting.

In addition to Logue's hearing today, a hearing is set for Tuesday in Austin on Gallardo's temporary restraining order.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. -- Jamey Morton won first place and Tammy Halkowitz took second at the USTU National Junior Olympic Tae Kwon Do Championships, held here Friday and Saturday at Washington State University.

Morton and Halkowitz were two of four Snyder youths who attended the championships, along with instructors Greg and Donna Gafford.

Of the other two, Kent Sutton lost his opening match to the eventual champion while Rusty Radican was determined ineligible to compete.

Morton won the age 12-14 green belt competition in the 79-and-under weight division. Halkowitz lost in the finals and placed second in the girl's green belt, 10-11 age, 79-and-under weight division.

"They all fought real well. We're very proud of them," said Greg Gafford.

Radican was ruled ineligible to compete due to a mixup in rules from the state to the national level. He won at the state level, thus qualifying for nationals, but found that under a different set of rules, he was ineligible at nationals.

Morton and Halkowitz have qualified for the Multi-Sport Junior Olympic Games, scheduled at Washington State University in August.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) - The leaderboard changed Sunday like the fickle winds around Shinnecock Hills Golf Club. But Ray Floyd didn't.

Three months before celebrating his 44th birthday and one week after blowing a final-round lead in the Westchester Classic, Floyd became the oldest player to win the U.S. Open. Ted Ray was 43 years, four months when he won in 1920.

"It's a phenomenal experience to achieve one of the great desires I've had ever since I was a little guy playing golf," Floyd, who already had won two PGA titles and one Masters championship, said. "The thing that I will appreciate most is that I had to come from behind. I excelled in a group of players who are very good players."

In the end, Floyd was on top, his final-round 66 making him a winner by two strokes with a 1-under-par 279 total. On his way to the $115,000 winner's prize, though, he hardly had an exclusive claim on first place at the par-70, 6,912-yard course of narrow, rolling fairways, heavy rough and small, sloping greens.

Ten different players led at one point or another on Sunday, making it the closest final round in Open history. At one point, nine players shared the lead.

Norman, who led by three strokes after the second round and by one after the third, stumbled to a 75 Sunday to finish tied for 12th with Denis Watson at 285.

Wadkins, who tied with Beck for second at 281 after both shot final-round 65s that tied the course record set earlier in the day, had finished his round and was watching on a clubhouse television set.

Sutton and Trevino, who began the day tied for second at 1-over-par 211, a stroke behind Norman, ended tied for fourth at 2-over 282 as both shot 71. Stewart, with a 70, and Crenshaw, with his third consecutive 69 after an opening-day 76, finished at 283.

Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, foiled in his bid for an unprecedented fifth Open title, Tway, McCumber and Bernhard Langer tied at 284. On Sunday, Nicklaus shot 68, Tway 72, McCumber 71 and Langer 70.

Among the rest of the field, Seve Ballesteros shot 73 and Tom Watson 75 as both finished at 289. British Open champion Sandy Lyle's 72 put him at 293 and defending champion Andy North's 75 left him at 302, 67th in the final field of 70 golfers.

Revelation surprises friends

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bruce Bovee thought there was something strange about Allen and Dianna McGinnis.

Bovee, who delivered newspapers for the man he thought was Allen McGinnis, noticed the woman never vacationed in Texas with McGinnis.

"Now I know why," Bovee said.

His friend was not Allen McGinnis, but Kenneth Leslie Miller, 36, who was atop Fort Worth's list of most-wanted fugitives until his arrest in Las Vegas last week.

There was no question that Miller lived a tattered life under a different name in Las Vegas, Bovee said. Miller was quick-tempered, a heavy drug and alcohol user and had frequent skirmishes with Las Vegas police, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Sunday.

In recent years, his life included a ruined marriage and destitution.

"I knew he had a hard time," said Bovee, 73, one of Miller's few Las Vegas acquaintances. "But I didn't think he would be the kind of guy to commit a crime like they said he did down there."

Fort Worth authorities have sought Miller since his 1975 conviction for shooting Texas Christian University student Janelle Kirby, who was wounded five times in an apparent random attack at her home in June 1974.

Miller left a Tarrant County courtroom while awaiting sentencing for attempted murder, took the name of his roommate, and headed for a life in Las Vegas and points west.

A jury sentenced Miller to 70 years in prison.

Authorities said a recent tip to Fort Worth police indicating Miller was living in Las Vegas ended his charade. After his arrest on a burglary charge last week in Las Vegas, fingerprints, handwriting samples and old photos unraveled the truth.

At first, Miller denied his true identity, but finally admitted he was a fugitive when confronted with the evidence, police said.

Miller's arrest ended a new freedom that, at least in the early years, apparently treated him well.

Shortly after his flight from Tarrant County, Hugh Conway advertised for a mechanic at his Las Vegas tune-up shop. Allen McGinnis, who answered the help-wanted ad, worked for Conway for several months until the shop closed in 1976.

Conway's new employee said he was from Atlanta and had served in Vietnam, but otherwise rarely spoke of his past. Conroy said he found no reason to ask. McGinnis, as Conway and everyone else in Las Vegas knew him, was handy around cars and "seemed like an awful nice kid, you know," Conway said.

Conway said Miller and his girlfriend, Dianna, a former Texas resident, were married a short time after he left the tune-up shop. She obtained a job at a law firm.

Miller then worked for 18 months as a service station mechanic in Flagstaff, Ariz., according to Miller's March 1977 job application at the Las Vegas Review Journal.

Drug testing for cops?

NEW YORK (AP) — In the first half of 1986, the cop on the beat has replaced the ballplayer on the field as the most conspicuous candidate for compulsory drug testing.

This month the FBI, the federal Drug Enforcement Administration and the New York City Police Department all announced immediate plans to test some of their personnel and eventual plans to test all of them.

Richard Koehler, NYPD chief of personnel, outlined the standard rationale: "Police traditionally have waited for a problem to develop and then deal with it. This is one we're not going to wait for."

In fact, there were many indications in the past six months that drug use in the ranks was not a problem for which police leaders would have to wait.

In New York, where a survey of commanders rated police drug use as the department's top corruption hazard, a 24-year-old cop allegedly robbed another man while they were waiting in line to buy cocaine in a South Bronx apartment building.

In Miami, a federal indictment unsealed Friday charged seven suspended or former Miami police officers with using their police jobs to run a drug operation involved in murder, threats and bribery.

The seven former police officers in Miami were charged as part of police and federal investigations that have resulted in criminal or administrative charges against at least 30 of the 1,050-member city police force.

Westbrook.

The administrators will be required to take and pass a test at the end of the week-long session.

There are 20 education service centers throughout the state and staffers from these are expected to train some 15,000 school administrators this summer on implementing the appraisal system.

In Region 13, some 350 administrators are expected to be trained, according to Dr. Tom Lawrence, executive director for Region 13.

Instructors for the local session are Shirley Baber, Scot Edington, Theresa Allen and Ray Simmons.

Bicycle theft reports filed

Police are investigating three bicycle theft reports logged over the weekend.

Andy Gutierrez of 1811 19th St. filed the first of those at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

He told officers that his 20-inch BMX type bike had disappeared from a residence in the 1700 Block of 30th St. where he had left it.

Mark Hogin of 305 35th St. reported his 12-speed bike stolen at 11:49 p.m. Saturday.

He told officers that his bike had been taken while parked at the carnival on the Scurry County Coliseum grounds.

Also reporting a bike stolen from the vicinity of the carnival Saturday evening was Ricky Puente of the Kingswood Apartments on 37th St.

Puente told investigators that his 10-speed bike had been taken from the carnival area sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and noon Sunday.

In other weekend action, police jailed three suspects for public intoxication, one for driving while intoxicated and one for being intoxicated on a premises licensed to sell alcohol.

The ILP suspect was also charged with one count of misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Early morning car fire noted

Units of the Snyder Fire Department were dispatched to a car fire at 4:20 a.m. Sunday.

According to fire officials, a 1982 Buick driven by Jessica Randall of Colorado City sustained damage from an electrical fire under the dash.

The fire broke out as she was driving in the vicinity of 25th St. and Ave. E.

Blacks are staging nationwide strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Millions of blacks, confronted by the harshest government crackdown ever, today staged a nationwide strike to mark the 10th anniversary of riots in Soweto that galvanized the anti-apartheid struggle.

The government, claiming activists planned a day of violence, banned all gatherings linked to the anniversary and imposed a national state of emergency giving security forces almost unfettered powers.

Since the emergency declaration Thursday, 31 people have died in violence, government spokesman Leon Mellet said today, including three women killed by a car-bombing in Durban which the government suggested was carried out by black African National Congress guerrillas.

Mellet said the remaining 28 were blacks, seven killed by security forces and the rest slain by other blacks.

Early today the government tightened already severe restrictions on the news media.

But despite the government's assertion that today was "a normal working day," millions of blacks stayed away from their jobs.

Downtown Johannesburg was deserted today, and on one typical city block only 10 of 30 shops were open for business. Many businesses that were open hired special security guards — but there were few customers to protect.

Streets of black townships were reported deserted, with most residents staying in their homes. Hundreds of companies and stores closed, both in city centers and black townships.

Mellet said 90 percent of the Johannesburg area work force stayed away, and high absenteeism was reported in other major cities.

Tourney dates announced today

Under the schedule, Austin Westlake would play Mercedes at 6:30 p.m. and Snyder would play Brenham at 8:30 p.m.

Saturday's championship game would have a 7 p.m. start. All three games would be held at Disch-Falk Field.

At least seven motions have been filed in four different courts over the state tournament and the disputed quarterfinal playoff series between Westlake and Richfield. Westlake defeated Richfield in the first game of a best-of-three series. Further play was rained out, however, and the UIL named Westlake the champion under a 27-year-old rule.

Richfield responded by filing suit to extend the playoff series.

Survey: one-third employers have smoking rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one-third of U.S. employers in the past five years have adopted policies restricting smoking on the job, according to a survey published today.

"While the majority of employers in the United States have not yet restricted employee smoking, the growth of workplace smoking policies ... is unmistakable," said the survey conducted by the Bureau of National Affairs and the American Society for Personnel Administration.

Of 662 private employers surveyed, 36 percent said they had established policies on smoking. Another 2 percent said they planned to implement such restrictions before the end of 1986.

An additional 21 percent said smoking policies were being considered by their companies or organizations.

Only 2 percent of the personnel administrators responding to the survey said their organizations had banned smoking entirely on company property, and only 15 percent said they had banned it in open work areas.

Much more prevalent among the 239 companies and organizations with smoking policies were measures such as dividing work areas into smoking and nonsmoking sections, or permitting smoking "unless a problem arises."

The 16-page survey — and an accompanying 140-page report — is believed to be among the first on smoking policies in the private workplace conducted by groups independent of the tobacco industry or smoking control advocates.

The Bureau of National Affairs is a Washington-based private publisher of labor, tax, legal and economic information for business and professional use. The American Society for Personnel Administration is an organization of 35,000 personnel managers.

Their survey of private employers follows new efforts by the government to restrict smoking on the job by federal workers.

The Army, stating its goal was to make "non-smoking the norm," last week announced a policy prohibiting smoking by its 781,000 soldiers and 450,000 civilian employees "except for designated areas."

Last month the General Services Administration proposed banning smoking in shared work areas, corridors, lobbies, restrooms, auditoriums and conference rooms.

How to manage altitude sickness

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I live at an altitude of 4,000 feet and have no trouble up to 8,500 feet. Higher than that, I get headaches, muscle pain, loss of appetite and nosebleeds. Will aspirin help?

DEAR READER — No, aspirin will not help. You are describing some of the symptoms of altitude sickness. If you are going to live or exercise at high altitudes, you will have to allow your body slowly to adapt to the change in environment. For one thing, you need more red blood cells at high altitude, since there is less oxygen in the atmosphere, and it takes several days of gradual acclimatization to produce these.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had a benign lipoma removed from my left leg. Now there is an inflated semi-hard area where it was removed. What should I do about it?

DEAR READER — The hard area on your leg may be temporary because of changes — such as swelling and inflammation due to healing — that commonly occur in tissues after surgery. If the hard place doesn't return to normal within six weeks after the operation, check with your surgeon to make sure that no complications have developed.

DEAR DR. GOTT — There was blood in my stool. A barium enema exam was negative, but a proctoscopy revealed hemorrhoids. Is it still necessary for me to have a colonoscopy?

DEAR READER — Probably not. If, in the opinion of your doctor, the hemorrhoids were the obvious cause of your bleeding, no further investigation may be necessary at this time. The decision about colonoscopy is best left to a qualified specialist. If the hemorrhoids are not actively bleeding or if you continue to show blood in your stool, a colonoscopy would be advisable.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My periodontist and his hygenist use rubber gloves when cleansing or checking my teeth. The gloves are not changed between patients, but they do wash their gloved hands with soap and water. Am I risking infection? Should I insist that they use new gloves?

DEAR READER — I think not. The purpose of the rubber gloves is to prevent the periodontist and hygenist from contracting hepatitis from a patient. If the dental professionals wash carefully between patients, I doubt that you are risking infection. This seems to be the consensus of my consultants; I'd appreciate hearing from professionals who might disagree with this.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In a recent column, you said it was doubtful that a patient could be allergic to the iodine in thyroid pills. I am 74 and have been unable to take any thyroid medicine because it makes me break out in blisters. I even have to avoid iodized salt.

DEAR READER — To my knowledge, allergy to iodine is so unusual as to be a medical rarity. Nonetheless, your comments are representative of several I have received from readers. Iodine is a basic element that is necessary for mammals and other living creatures. The iodine in thyroid pills is bound to a molecule of hormone called thyronine. Perhaps it is the molecule itself to which you are reacting. I cannot explain your allergy to iodized salt. I would welcome correspondence from allergy specialists who might be able to shed some light on this troublesome problem.

DIVERTICULAR DISEASE is a common problem, and Dr. Gott's new Health Report tells how it can be treated and managed. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

Perkins leaves animal legacy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — R. Marlin Perkins' legacy will be the concern for nature that he inspired in others during a lifetime dedicated to the care and preservation of wild animals, a protege says.

"He wanted everybody to love animals as much as he did," St. Louis Zoo director Charlie Hoessle said Sunday. "He wanted to give a message to people about wild places and their importance."

For two decades, Perkins brought wildlife in all its glory into millions of homes on the "Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom" television series. He died of cancer Saturday at his Clayton home at 81.

"Marlin was always very enthusiastic about animals and learning about animals, and he had a way of instilling that enthusiasm in other people," said Hoessle, who was hired by Perkins as a reptile keeper in 1963 and succeeded him as director of the St. Louis Zoo seven years later. "That's why his show was so successful for so many years."

Perkins, who was born in the small town of Carthage in southwestern Missouri, said he discovered his lifelong vocation while spending part of his boyhood on a farm.

"I'd follow the hired hand when he was plowing and watch the creatures that were uncovered by the plow," he said in an interview last year. "Grubs, earthworms, beetles, a nest of baby mice, thousand leggers and once a toad. Many of them went into my pockets."

Depicting animals in their natural habitat, "Wild Kingdom" earned four Emmy awards and was the first television series ever to be recommended for family viewing by the national Parent Teacher Association.

Panhandle county hopes to cash in on livestock

SILVERTON, Texas (AP) — Briscoe County's got a secret it plans to tell the world about to help boost its hard-hit agricultural economy.

While the livestock and crops that are well-known in the area are suffering from low prices, farmers and ranchers in this Panhandle county are hoping to promote their "hidden livestock" — like mule deer and pheasant.

The Briscoe County Extension Livestock Committee last week agreed to "try to promote our recreation potential and provide some type of additional income to farmers and ranchers," said Jimmy Burson, a farmer-rancher and chairman of the committee.

Ranchers say they have mule deer, pheasant, aoudad sheep, quail, wild turkey and doves aplenty — which they will use to lure hunters.

"We identified low prices as the problem here, but there's not much we could do about that," Burson said.

Instead, they will promote hunting leases. Producers and ranchers have stocked their acreage in the past with wildlife mostly for their own pleasure, Burson said.

Under the new plan, he said, there will be a concerted effort on the part of the county to attract customers to the area.

"We've found a lot of people are looking for the Mayberry RFD type place to come out and relax, and we think we can provide it," said Dirk Aaron, Briscoe County agriculture extension agent.

In addition to Lake McKenzie, Lake Theo and Caprock Canyons State Park, Aaron said there are acres of breaking canyons adjoined by cropland, providing ideal habitat for wildlife, most of which is not native to the area.

Participants at a town meeting recently voted to develop a resource guide book that would include historical information about the area, acreages for lease to hunters, and the names and numbers of people to contact for details, as well as business names and what services they will provide.

"As an organization, we will disseminate information on what's available here in Briscoe County," Aaron said.

The resource book is scheduled to be ready by Aug. 1 and will be advertised in leading newspapers and magazines, he said.

"We're planning a Hunters' Breakfast to kick off pheasant season, and we hope to attract more people to our Birthday Celebration in August," Aaron said.

The purpose is to put the hunter and landowner in contact, he said.

"This hunting provides money directly to the individual," Burson said. "It's something for their own use and it comes at a time when farming income is virtually nil."

McDonald's has Welding Machines and Supplies

McDonald Welding Supply has gained a reputation for service, and for good reason. The staff at McDonald Welding Supply comes early and stays late. This is especially important to the area's busy oil fields, and this is why so many companies have depended on McDonald Welding Supply for their supply needs.

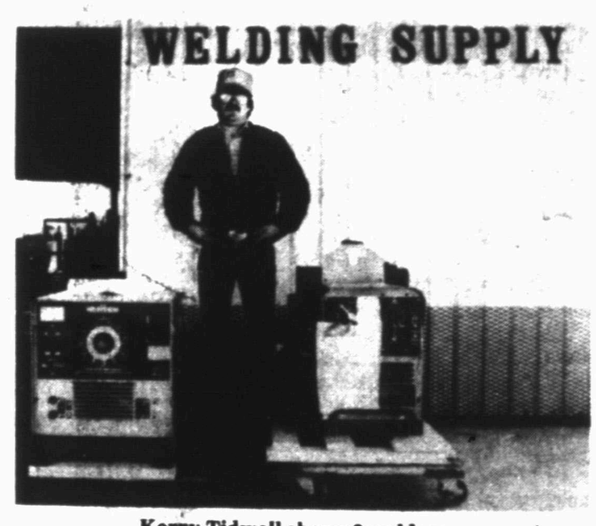

The firm serves an area bounded by Sweetwater to Loraine to Colorado City and Big Spring and back to Snyder. The Company has three 18 foot bobtail trucks for delivery to farms, businesses and well locations.

In stock at McDonald Welding Supply is the Miller and Lincolin Welding equipment line, which includes small engine drives and electric machine for farm and home use. They also have a large stock of smaller welders. They vary in size and can fit in the rear of a foreign truck as well as a two-ton truck. In addition, they carry Victor and Uniweld welding and cutting equipment and Walton vises.

If you need steel for oilfield fabrication, you can find exactly what you need at McDonald Welding Supply. The firm has a complete line of Milwaukee heavy duty electric drills and grinders. They have Williams hammer wrenches and heavy tools.

Safety equipment of all types is stocked including goggles, first aid kits and refills, hard hats, liners and fire extinguishers. This popular business also stocks chains, cable, tubing and chain hoists. They have recently added a complete line of Grade "8" Hard Bolts and Nuts in sizes from 5/16 to 1 ¼. Blocks as well as all types of pulleys may be added to the list.

The available list of supplies is almost endless, just ask for it. Stop by and see Gayle or Jack McDonald and the staff at McDonald Welding Supply, 1110 College Ave.

Kerry Tidwell shows 2 welders.
