City Election Set For April 7

Tuesday, April 7, 1964 has been designated as the date when the city voters will go to the polls and vote for candidates to fill three seats on the city council.

Terms ending in April are Aldermen Dan Ward, W. T. Settle and A. E. Myatt. However, Councilmen Ward and Settle seek re-election for a new term while Alderman Myatt will not be a candidate for re-election.

Article 2.02 of the Election Code states that the deadline for filing to get one's name on the ballot in cities and towns shall be thirty (30) days before the date of the election. Since there are 31 days in March, the deadline will fall at midnight March 7th.

BILL DAVIS

Bill Davis In 99th District Judge Race

Bill Davis, former Lubbock County judge, has announced his candidacy for the office of judge of Lubbock's 99th District Court.

Davis is 40 years old and served as county judge for five years before resigning recently to seek the 99th District Court judgeship.

Before moving to Lubbock, Davis was a resident of Callahan County. He graduated from Baird High School in 1941, spent a year at Hardin-Simmons University, then entered the Navy in 1942.

Discharged from the Navy as an enlisted man in 1946, Davis returned to Hardin-Simmons, majored in mathematics and graduated in 1948. He entered Southern Methodist University the same year and received his law degree in 1951.

After working in Dallas for a year as an insurance claims man, Davis moved to Lubbock.

In 1959 Davis took office as county judge after winning the position in the election and has served in that office since. He is a member of the Highland Baptist Church, the Community Planning Council of Lubbock, the South Plains Guidance Council and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce committee on highways, and a member of the Retarded Children. He is married and the couple have two children.

Davis desires to give the people of Lubbock County an opportunity to decide whom their district judge will be. They haven't had such an opportunity in the past 12 years, it was pointed out. "I am grateful for the opportunity of serving as your county judge for the past five years," Davis said.

Davis noted that during his administration as county judge, the county constructed an addition to the county jail costing nearly a quarter-million dollars, paid cash for the expansion and did not have to vote a bond issue to do it, and cut taxes the same year. He added that the county passed a highway bond issue for one and three-fourths million dollars in 1960 and also cut taxes the same year, and that in 1963 — for the first time in 13 years — the county had complete audit by an outside firm and found everything in order and the county operating on sound and economical fiscal policies, and full cooperation between county offices.

Davis is a candidate for the Democratic nomination and will be on the ballot for the May 2 primary.

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Twenty-eight Democratic and 15 Republican candidates banded through the starting gate before the filing deadline in a dramatic beginning to a political year that opened with relative calm.

A ruckus over the would-be U. S. Senate candidacy of McAllen Congressman Joe Kilgore, and Gov. John Connally's last-minute hesitancy about running for reelection, highlighted the filing-deadline spectacular.

Kilgore decided not to run against U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough. Connally, acknowledging that he had considered retirement, went ahead and filed for a second term.

Conservative Democrats boiled over the Kilgore incident, said it might result in a second Republican senator from Texas.

Jack Cox, the GOP's 1962 candidate for governor against Connally, was a surprise entry in the Republican senate contest—at five minutes before deadline.

The Republicans fielded a complete slate for state offices (except judicial) and congressional races.

Connally ended up with opposition from liberal Don Yarborough of Houston, Mrs. Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Brenham and Rev. M. T. Banks of Beaumont, a Negro. Republican candidates for Governor are Jack Crichton of Dallas and Harry Diehl of Houston.

Yarborough is opposed by Democrats John Van Cronkrite and Gordon McLendon, both of Dallas. Cox and George Bush of Houston, and Dr. Milton V. Davis and Robert Morris, both of Dallas, are the GOP senatorial candidates.

Here is the complete lineup for other statewide offices:

Lieutenant Governor — Preston Smith of Lubbock (incumbent) and Albert Fuentes Jr. of San Antonio, Democrats; and Horace Houston of Dallas, Republican.

Congressman-at-large — Incumbent Joe Pool of Dallas, Bill Elkins, of Greenville, Robert W. Baker and Bob Looney, both of Houston, Democrats; and Bill Hayes of Temple, Republican.

Attorney General — Incumbent Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, Democrat; and John Trice, Waco, Republican.

Commissioner of Agriculture — Incumbent John White of Wichita Falls and Millard Shivers, Waco, Democrats; and John B. Armstrong, Kingsville, GOP.

Land Commissioner — Incumbent Jerry Sadler of Grapeland and Fred H. Williams of Dallas, Democrats; and John A. Matthews of Abilene, GOP.

Comptroller — Incumbent Robert S. Calvert of Austin, Democrat; and Dallas Calmes Jr., Houston, GOP.

Treasurer — Incumbent Jesse James Austin, Democrat; and Fred S. Neumann, Beaumont, Republican.

Railroad Commissioner (full term) — Incumbent Ben Ramsey, San Augustine, Democrat.

Railroad Commissioner (unexpired term) — Incumbent Jim C. Langdon of Austin, and Jesse Owens of Vernon, Democrats; and Don Flanagan, Richardson, GOP.

Supreme Court, Place 1 — Sears McGee of Houston and Jack Pope of San Antonio, Democrats; and T. E. Kennerly, Houston, GOP.

Supreme Court, Place 2 — Ruel C. Walker, Cleburne, incumbent, Democrat.

Supreme Court, Place 3 — Incumbent Robert W. Hamilton, Midland, Democrat.

Court of Criminal Appeals — Incumbent K. K. Woodley of Austin, Democrat.

Tax Information

1964 FARMERS TAX GUIDES AVAILABLE

COLLEGE STATION—The 1964 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide is now available, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist, at Texas A&M University.

This handy, easy-to-read guide contains information applicable to every phase of farm income tax reporting, Bates explains. It shows sample returns completely filled out with an explanation of the figures, he says.

Investment credit, one of the newer features of the tax structure, is fully explained in the new guide. It points out that a reduction in taxes paid for 1963 is based on tangible personal property acquired last year. As much as seven percent of the cost of these items is allowed as a deduction but the percentage varies with the useful life of the assets, says Bates.

Another feature of the guide is an explanation of how to sell on installments and examples are given to help clarify the procedure for computing taxable gain. Also an explanation of depreciation methods and the additional first year depreciation is given, says Bates.

Other sections of the guide cover the importance of good records, farm business expenses, farm inventories, casualty losses and thefts, an explanation on completing the return, and many more.

Copies of the Farmer's Tax Guide may be obtained without charge from the county Extension offices or those of the Internal Revenue Service. Bates recommends that a copy be kept handy for reference on tax matters concerning the farm.

FILING REQUIREMENTS

A Federal income tax return must be filed by every citizen or resident of the United States, including minor children, who had gross income of $600 or more in 1963, Ellis Campbell, Jr., Director of Internal Revenue for the Dallas District, reminded today.

A taxpayer who is 65 or over is not required to file unless his gross income in 1963 was at least $1,200, Mr. Campbell said.

Document No. 5107 which furnishes more detailed information on this subject is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

REVIEW INCOME TAX RULES SAYS SPECIALIST

COLLEGE STATION — It soon will be time to start to work on your income tax report, says Mrs. Wanda B. Meyer, home management specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

You may want to review some of the rules which may help you save—if they apply in your case. Here's a checklist:

A portion of a dividend payment on stock that is designated as return of investment is not subject to tax, although it reduces the cost basis on which you figure your profit when you later sell the stock.

A mutual fund dividend, the portion that is designated as capital gain, is taxable, in effect, at only one-half of your ordinary rate.

Capital gains allotted to you on mutual-fund shares, but not paid, have to be reported as capital gains on your return. But you can claim a credit of 25 percent of the amount as taxes you have paid, as that's the sum paid by the company.

A child who finished college in June, 1963, can be claimed as an exemption, under the rule for full-time student in 19 years or over, provided you furnished more than one-half of his support for the entire year.

Scholarship payments received by a child in college aren't counted in calculating whether you furnished more than a half of his support.

Social security and other tax-exempt income received by a dependent doesn't count toward the income test that has to be met for an exemption. But any such income spent by the dependent for his own support has to be included in estimating whether you furnished more than half.

Other rules to consider are: A couple married at any time during the year, as late as December 31, can get the benefit of a lower rate for 1963 on a joint return; a dependent who died during the year, even the first week, can be claimed as an exemption if you were furnishing more than half of his support; people who reached age 65 on January 1, 1963, are entitled to an extra exemption and larger medical deduction.

Matron: "Marie, have you given the goldfish fresh water today?"
 Maid: "No, mum, they ain't finished the water I gave them yesterday yet."

MRS. STEPHEN O. PETTY (Vaughdeen Allen)

Miss Allen and Stephen Petty Marry Feb. 1

Miss Vaughndeene Allen became the bride of Stephen Oscar Petty in a double ring ceremony read at 6 o'clock p.m. Saturday, February 1 in the First Baptist Church, Abernathy, Texas. The Rev. Boyce Evans, pastor, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Allen of Route 1, Shallowater, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Petty Jr. of 4934 Milam, Dallas Texas.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess silhouette dress of silk face peade sole with long sleeves and beauteous neckline. Double rows of scalloped alencon lace sparkled with pearls and oriental apalents accented the neckline and skirt. The back flowed into a chapel train from a large fabric rose. Her veil of French illusion fell from a crown of pearls and tear drop crystal. She carried a cascade of red roses and pink carnations. She wore a small cameo necklace belonging to her great-grandmother, a blue garter belonging to her sister, and she wore a penny in her shoe.

Maid of honor was Miss Germaine Poole of Orange, Texas and bridesmaids were Miss Janice Wright, Friona, cousin of the bride. Candlelighter were Donna Sue Petty of Dallas, sister of the groom and Kathrina Allen of Abernathy, niece of the bride. Cynthia Allen, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was escorted by Robert A. Scott of Abernathy, nephew of the bride. Ring bearer was Barton Scott, Abernathy, nephew of the bride.

All of the bride's attendants wore street length dresses of pink embossed satin with scooped necklines. They carried one long stem red rose with streamers of pink carnation. They wore pill box hats of pink satin with pink illusion veils.

Best man was Tommy Merritt of Jasper, Texas, and groomsmen were Jerry Phillips of Abernathy. Ushers were Dorman Allen, brother of the bride, and Robert E. Scott, brother-in-law of the bride, both of Abernathy.

Mrs. L. J. Hager of Abernathy was organist and Mrs. Johnny Skipper, Abernathy, soloist. Song "Because," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

After the couple exchanged marriage vows, a dedication ceremony was held dedicating their home to the ministry. The couple continued to kneel while the Pastor read Ephesians 3:13-14 and "Obedience," a poem by George McDonald. The deacons came forth. Mr. Leland Phillips of First Baptist Church, Abernathy, and Mr. Oscar A. Petty, Jr. of Memorial Church, Dallas, Texas, father of the groom, placing their hands on the heads of the couples, saying a prayer of dedication. The soloist sang, "Wherever He Leads I'll Go."

After the song the couple took the two lighted candles and d the middle candle, blowing out the two candles and with just one candle lit, it signified the sign of two becoming one in the sight of God.

A reception was held in the home of the bride following the wedding. Mrs. Jerry Phillips, Mrs. Dorman Allen, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Robert Scott, sister of the bride, all of Abernathy and Miss Jackie Swink of Irving, Texas were at the reception table. Mrs. Gwen Reed of Dallas, sister of the groom, registered guests.

For traveling the bride wore a white wool three piece suit with bone patent accessories. Part of her bouquet was used as a corsage.

The couple will reside at 613 W. Rusk, Marshall, Texas. The bride is a graduate of Abernathy High School, attended Decatur Baptist College and is attending East Texas Baptist College where she is a music education major. The groom is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Dallas and is attending East Texas Baptist College where he is a History major and studying for the ministry.

TWO MONTHS SUPPLY OF MILK

When you dry your clothes with GAS, you can save $2400 a year on your utility bill! That's enough to buy twenty-five gallons of milk... a two months supply for an average family of four. You get quality performance, too. GAS dries your clothes faster... yet gently... and leaves them as fresh as springtime.

SAVE ON INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE, TOO. A GAS clothes dryer costs less to install and maintenance costs are the lowest of any dryer. A GAS burner, the heart of your dryer, carries a lifetime guarantee.

Speed, drinking and wrong-side driving are three main factors in fatal traffic accidents, Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr. told a traffic courts conference.

When will I get my refund?" is one of the most frequent tax questions according to Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue. He said that the failure to receive a refund—check or savings bond—is usually caused by illegible names or addresses.

Mr. Campbell said that it is permissible to sign your name at the bottom of the return the way you always sign your name, even if your signature is a hurried scrawl. At the top of the return, however, your name should also be carefully printed or typed along with your social security number. In other words, eliminate any doubt as to who you are and where you live.

Each year thousands of refund checks are returned to Internal Revenue offices because the postman cannot deliver them.

Director Campbell said that if the taxpayer has moved, he should show his new address to promptly receive refunds and other mail from Internal Revenue. If he moves after filing, a forwarding address should be left with the post office.

Pears have become known as a glamor fruit, and the winter varieties of Anjou, Comice and Bose are now on the market. Ripen pears at room temperature until the flesh near the stem end yields slightly to thumb pressure. It may take several days for the fruit to reach eating ripeness. The pears may then be held for several days in the refrigerator. Chilling enhances their melon flavor. Warm, baked pear halves topped with cranberry jelly is an interesting accompaniment for meat.

Boll Weevil Great Threat To High Plains Farmers

LUBBOCK — The dreaded boll weevil is a definite and ominous threat to the entire High Plains cotton industry and a million-dollar "diapause" control program has been recommended to prevent threat from becoming reality.

This conclusion and the recommendation came from some of the foremost experts in the field of entomology November 26 when they met with the 13-member High Plains Boll Weevil Steering Committee in Lubbock under the auspices of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. While it has not yet been determined that weevils hibernates on the High Plains, Technical Advisory Committee member Dr. J. C. Gaines, Head of Entomology Department at Texas A & M, said "The weevil is obviously a threat to the area. He was here in 1963 and will come again."

Dr. Gaines said he felt the "real program to knock the weevil off the High Plains is the diapause program." In further discussions it was generally agreed that such a program would not only set up a barrier to prevent the further westward encroachment of the weevil, but would also effectively deter weevil damage in those areas already infested.

Other Advisory Committee members, all of whom concurred in Dr. Gaines' appraisal of the seriousness of the problem and with the recommendation for a diapause control program are: Dr. J. C. Gaines, Head, Entomology Department at Texas A & M; Dr. James Brazzel, Department of Entomology at State College, Mississippi; Dr. Sloan Jones, Head of the Insects Research Division, Agricultural Research Service; Dr. H. G. Johnson, Entomologist for the National Cotton Council; Dr. Gerald Thomas, Dean of Agriculture at Texas Tech; Dr. R. E. Patterson, Dean of Agriculture at Texas A & M; Welton H. Soil Testing Is Investment For Area Farmers

The value of applying fertilizer according to soil test recommendations has been well established by test results of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and by Extension Service demonstrations in Hale County in recent years. Results of a recent demonstration give further proof of the economic advantages of soil testing, reports Dave Weaver, Associate County Agent.

A demonstration on the Donald Huffaker farm, north of Abernathy, showed that grain sorghum fertilized according to a soil test recommendation of 120-60-0 yielded 1084 pounds per acre more grain than grain sorghum that received 120-0-0 as it had for years. This yield increase of 1084 pounds per acre produced a gross added return of $18.42 per acre more than grain sorghum receiving nitrogen only. Subtracting the cost of the 60 pounds of phosphorus which was $6.10 leaves a net return of $12.32 added income due to the addition of phosphorus.

Weaver points out that now is the time to begin taking soil samples to determine the fertilizer needs of next year's crops. Samples should be sent to the Soil Testing Laboratory at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock. Information sheets which must accompany all samples and soil sample cartons may be picked up in the County Agent's office.

Projections on population trends in Texas indicate the state will have 11.7 million residents by 1970. The state posted a gain of 24 percent in population from 1950-60, but it was not shared by all counties—143 lost population while 111 accounted for the increase. These and other facts regarding Texas population changes and related problems are pointed up by Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, Texas A&M University sociologist in a recently released publication, B-1000. Single copies are available from the Department of Agricultural Information, Texas A&M University, College Station.

10,877 Voters In Hale County

A record 10,877 Hale County voters have qualified themselves for participation in this year's local, state and national elections.

Bill Hollars, county tax assessor-collector, announced the final tally after checking the last shipment of mail for any late applications. Deadline for poll tax payments and securing exemption certificates was midnight, January 31, but applications postmarked on or before that were valid.

The 10,877 figure represents 8,889 poll tax receipts and 1,988 exemption certificates. The total and both individual figures represent new records for the county, according to Hollars.

Previous high was in 1960 when 9,760 voters were qualified. In 1962 the tally was 9,063.

Possession of the poll tax receipt or exemption certificate is required for all city, school board, local option, county or state elections in Texas. Persons who failed to pay their poll tax or get an exemption certificate and wish to participate in federal elections have until March 6 to register at the office of the county tax assessor-collector.

ANIMAL MANAGEMENT MEET SET FEB. 20

Farmers, stockmen and businessmen of Hale County will have the opportunity to hear a well rounded discussion on animal management and breeding on Thursday, February 20, County Agent, Ollie Linder, said today.

This meeting is being called to bring stockmen up to date on latest management practices and artificial breeding. Personnel from the American Breeders Association will be on hand to discuss these topics. Linder stated there has been much interest in artificial insemination in beef cattle the last few years especially after testing of bulls having proven to be an advantage to stockmen.

All persons interested are invited to attend this meeting which will be held in Plainview in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service Company on February 20, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The American Breeders Association will furnish coffee and doughnuts for those in attendance.

WEED CONTROL WORK IN EFFECT IN HALE COUNTY

The Hale County Weed Control District personnel during 1963 treated 861 acres of land with chemicals for weed control.

A total of 14,997 pounds of chemicals were applied, said W. R. Churchwell, supervisor.

Areas treated were farm land and right of way of roads and railways.

Churchwell said contract had been renewed with the Highway Department for application of chemicals during this year and that an agreement had been reached with the Fort Worth and Denver Railway to treat that right of way during 1964.

The district has bought a new spraying unit and has put the present one in good operating condition. Churchwell urged farmers to contact his office for weed control work.

Miss Ellis And Dan Middleton Marry Friday

Middleton at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Double ring vows were read by the Rev. David Griffin.

Mrs. Middleton is the daughter of Mrs. Guy Ellis of 224 Cherry Ave., Lubbock, and the late Mr. Ellis. Middleton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Middleton of Abernathy.

Oran Howell of Stratford, brother-in-law of the bride, presented her in marriage. Her formal gown of organza and Chantilly lace was designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, sculptured bodice and long petal-point sleeves. The waistline was highlighted by garlands of Chantilly lace terminating into a chapel train. A three-tiered veil of French illusion cascaded from a double crown of lace, pearls and crystals. Mrs. Middleton carried a bouquet of orchids and white carnations on a white Bible.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Oran Howell of Stratford, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Bob Wooten and Mrs. Carroll Teeter. They wore red taffeta dresses styled with princess bodices, elbow-length sleeves and scoop necklines. Flaired skirts were dramatized in the back with hand-made roses with streamers at the waistline. Headpieces were flowers with circular veils. Each attendant carried a white rose encircled with hearts.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, David Middleton of Sundown. Groomsmen were Thomas Pettit and Malcolm Tow, both cousins of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were Bill Fowler and Tommy Matthews, both of Lubbock.

Candles were lighted by Betty Tow, cousin of the bridegroom, and Sandra Ellis of Canyon, cousin of the bride.

Flower girl was the bride's niece, Rhonda Howell of Stratford and ring bearer was Gains Howell of Dimmitt.

Organist Julian Jenkins and soloist, Jerry Joiner and Mrs. Jerry Moorhead, furnished wedding music.

Fellowship Hall of the church was the scene of a reception immediately following the ceremony.

For a wedding trip, the bride chose a red mohair and wool suit

BRIGADIER GENERAL R. C. Dickens, above, of Fort Monroe, Virginia, will report to Fort Riley, Kansas, to be assistant commander of the First Infantry Division. His family will join him in Kansas in June. General Dickens is a son-in-law of Mrs. C. E. Williams of Abernathy.

If the nation's agricultural output of 1962 had been produced by 1939 methods, it would have cost about $17 billion more in land, labor, capital and other resources than the actual '62 cost. This annual dividend is more than twice the cost of all agricultural research done by federal, state and private industry since the nation was founded.

Beautiful homes will lose their bloom if not cared for properly, says Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension Service home management specialist. All floors cannot be treated alike, and a bit of trick is to learn and use materials and methods which are effective for each type of floor.

Charles Jenkins, supervisor of the Child Welfare Unit, submitted a report of the Unit's activities for the last quarter of 1963. He reported that during the three-month period 58 families, representing 73 children were processed by the Unit. Of these 73, 18 were dependent and neglected, 33 were juvenile delinquents, 7 (usually 10 years old or under) had various behavior problems, five were unwed mothers, two were handicapped children, two were district court referrals and two were referred to the Unit for counseling and supervision. One was handled by the Unit for an out-of-town writup requested by another agency.

Jenkins said that during the same period cases involving 60 families with 70 children were closed, among these were 20 dependent and neglected, 39 delinquents and the five unwed mother who were sent to maternity homes. The Unit closed the year with 180 children in 112 families under supervision. A year ago the figure was 160 children in 107 families. Jenkins told the court that during the year the Unit handled approximately 500 children, including some 180 delinquents and 160 dependent and neglected cases.

The court spent some two hours in conference with Clifton Martin, county welfare agent, concerning establishing a payment schedule for medical indigency cases. Martin told the court that the city's hospitals had requested that the county participate further in the costs of caring for medically indigent persons. At the present time the maximum payment by the county is $200 regardless of the expense incurred by such patients. No action was taken on the matter. Martin was instructed to continue discussing the matter with the hospitals.

A sixth grade class taught by Dell Brown at Hillcrest Elementary School provided the court with a break from its usual routine. In view of the election year, seven of the students from the class presented "campaign" speeches built around 20 words from a recent spelling lesson. Giving the speeches were Kay Jones, Kathy Brazier, Shelly Haydon, Carol Raymer, Susan Ross, Pat Bailey and Jessie Dowdell.

The commissioners and Judge Abernethy were invited by Mrs. Mary Wadcock to attend the Thursday meeting of the City-County Health Unit Board which meets at noon at Wayne's. The commissioners court meets the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the commissioners court room at Hale County Courthouse. Meetings are open to the public.

The court appointed 17 persons to serve as election judges in the various voting precincts in the November general elections. They are Miss Winnie Karrh, precinct one; Charles G. Wendt, precinct two; J. J. Hegl, precinct three; J. W. Cox, precinct four; Oscar Allen, precinct five; Clem Yates, precinct six; Raymond Akin, precinct seven; Mrs. Roy Boatright, precinct eight; W. D. Sanders, precinct nine; Mrs. Jack Bristol, precinct 10; S. M. Harrison, precinct 11; W. T. McEachern, precinct 12; T. C. Workman, precinct 14; Mrs. B. M. Hughes, precinct 15; Jack Robertson, precinct 16; G. E. Bonch, precinct 17; and Mrs. Ed Lewis, precinct 18.

County Pay Raises Are Approved

A public hearing was held Feb. 10, concerning a proposed salary increase for 11 county officials. The hearing was in connection with the regular meeting of the Hale County Commissioners Court.

No protests were heard and the pay raises were approved as proposed.

The raises called for increases of $420 annually to the commissioners, county clerk, county treasurer, county tax assessor-collector, sheriff, county attorney and district clerk as well as the auditor, who is appointed. The county judge received a $300 annual raise plus $120 annually for in-county travel expense.

The salary increases boost the pay of the commissioners, clerk, treasurer, sheriff, district clerk and county attorney to $7,102.50, still some $1400 below the maximum allowable. Including the travel expense, the judge now receives $8,602.50, the auditor $7,462.50 and the tax assessor-collector $7,762.50, including $300 travel allowance.

In other action:

Bids were received for a motor grader for precinct one and for a front-end loader for precinct two. A net bid of $14,000 for a new International Model 175 loader was accepted as submitted by Plains Machinery Co. of Lubbock. Only one other bid, a net $16,500 for a new Caterpillar by West Texas Equipment Co. of Lubbock, was received. The county offered a used Allison-Chalmers as a trade-in.

West Texas Equipment Company's net bid of $11,750 for a new D12 Caterpillar motor grader was accepted by Marvin Churchwell, commissioner of precinct one. Two other bids, one for $12,600 for a Galion by Plains Machinery Co., and the other of a composite $10,998 to $11,448 for a Huber motor grader by Caprock Machinery Co., of Amarillo were received.

Churchwell explained that he was familiar with the operation and maintenance of the Caterpillar machine and preferred it over the Huber, despite the Caprock company's lower bid.

The court appointed 17 persons to serve as election judges in the various voting precincts in the November general elections.

They are Miss Winnie Karrh, precinct one; Charles G. Wendt, precinct two; J. J. Hegl, precinct three; J. W. THE FFA IN TEXAS CONTINUES TO GROW

(By Clemon Montgomery, Executive Secretary, Texas Association, FFA)

The Future Farmers of America organization is in its 35th year in Texas—and it continues to grow, having over 29,702 members this year. These FFA members are boys who are studying vocational agriculture in approximately 900 high schools in Texas. In their vocational agriculture classes, students are provided an opportunity to secure technical and scientific training in agriculture as well as to receive training in leadership, citizenship, and cooperation.

In 1950 there were 711 FFA chapters in Texas with a membership of 28,643. Today, we have 875 chapters with over 30,000 members. The largest growth has come in the last three years since the membership increased over 3,000. In a recent study it was found that 52.2 per cent of the vocational agriculture graduates last year who were available for employment are now in full-time farming or in an agricultural related occupation. Approximately one-half of this number is in full-time farming.

Agriculture today is more than farming. It involves those who process and distribute many agricultural goods. Many people are employed in agricultural occupations such as engineers, scientists, management personnel, sales and service personnel, and educators. There are 60,000 desirable openings each year for farm operators, farm engineers, and full-time hired farm labor. This group needs a sound education in a continuing education to help keep them abreast of the rapidly changing technical and management aspects of farming.

RESEARCH TO STUDY GRAIN SORGHUM PIGMENTS

Research to identify pigments and related compounds that color or flavor grain sorghum and its products will be conducted by the Indiana University Foundation under contract with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Elbert Harp, President of Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., announced this week.

The research is aimed at providing a basis for future studies on avoiding discoloration of sorghum products such as starch and on avoiding bitterness in sorghum feeds. It is part of a broad effort by USDA's Agricultural Research Service to find new uses for farm products. Harp said, and that Bill Nelson, GSPA's Executive Vice President, had made two trips to the Industrial Utilization Research Center at Peoria, Illinois, in the past to gain attention to grain sorghum in the overall program. This pigmentation problem was one discussed last March at the Association's Biennial Research and Utilization Conference which was attended by Dr. F. R. Senti, Head of USDA's Utilization Research Program.

Under the Indiana contract, Professor Ernest Wenkert will study the isolation from varieties of milo or kafir sorghums. He will also test the response of these pigments to bleaching and other treatments.

Earlier ARS studies by C. W. Blesin, C. H. Van Etten, and Dr. R. J. Dimler, scientists at the Northern Utilization Laboratory, Peoria, Ill., show that sorghum grain contains—in addition to pigments—unidentified colorless compounds that are converted to colored ones by acid. These compounds could discolor sorghum products that are expected to be white; they are also believed to cause bitterness.

Dr. Dimler will be USDA's technical representative on the project.

'64 Grain Sign-Up Is Underway

The sign-up for the 1964 feed grain program now is under way in the ASCS County Office, E. J. Pope, Jr., Chairman, Hale Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced last week. The sign-up period started February 10 and will continue through March 27.

The 1964 program will be more attractive to many producers than the 1963 program but basically the program will be about the same, the Chairman explained. It will be available for the three feed grains corn, barley and grain sorghum, and participation will be entirely voluntary although price support eligibility for the three crops will depend on such grower participation.

Two major improvements in the 1964 feed grain program, as compared with previous programs are: (1) A producer may divert as much as 50 percent of his feed grain base acreage (this was 40 percent in 1963), and those who divert 40 percent or more of their base acreage will receive diversion payments at the Maximum rate for all acres diverted. (The maximum acreage diversion will continue to be 25 acres if this is more than 50 percent of the base.)

Two rates of diversion payment will be offered, but the higher rate should apply to more acres under the 1964 program: The minimum rate is again based upon one-fifth of the county's total price support rate; the maximum or higher rate is based on one-half of the support price. If the operator signs up to divert 40 percent or more of his feed grain base, the higher rate will apply to all the acreage diverted. If less than 40 percent is diverted, the minimum rate will apply to 20 percent of the acreage diverted and the higher rate to the acreage between 20 and 40 percent.

Farmers who take part in the program will be eligible for diversion and price support payments, and for price support loans on their entire 1964 production of the three grains. The price support payment will be made to all participants in the program who plant the feed grains for harvest, and they will be made regardless of the use made of the grain. The producer may sell the grain or feed it if he wishes and still receive the payment.

Applications to take part in the 1964 feed grain program may be filed in the Hale County ASCS Office from Mondays through Fridays at any time between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 12:00 a.m.—1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Cotton Acreage Release Dates
LUBBOCK—Changes in Texas' Release and Reapportionment program for 1964, made by the State ASC Committee, have been announced to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and may result in the High Plains area getting a larger share of released cotton acreage. The 23 counties in Plains Cotton Growers' territory received 91,684 acres of cotton under this program in 1963.

Under this program farmers who do not wish to plant all of their allotted cotton acreage can release the unwanted portion to their County ASC Committee for reapportionment to farmers who request additional acres. After reapportionment within the county, excess acres are turned to the State Committee for distribution within the zone in which the acres were released.

Final date for releasing acreage, and for requesting additional acreage, was set for March 4, 1964 in Zone 2, which covers all of the High Plains area. It is important that area farmers understand that requests for reapportioned acres must be filed with County ASC Committees before that date. Reapportioning of the acres will take place on March 25 in Zone 1, which lies in South and Southeast Texas, are February 4 and February 25.

"When you serve the guests to night," the lady of the house told her maid, "please try not to spill anything."
 "Oh, don't worry about me, ma'am," she answered. "I don't talk too much."

This is the season of the year when iron-rich dried fruits are readily available and can make a fine contribution to the menu, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Cloyd, Extension consumer marketing specialist. Prunes and raisins account for the greater part of dried fruit consumption, although apricots, peaches, dates, figs and apples are available. One pound of dried fruit is equivalent to about four to six pounds of fresh fruit, the specialist stresses.

Interplanting Practice Is Gaining Favor

LUBBOCK—Increased cotton production, improved quality, and a big boost to profits is the enthusiastic story told by Frank Moore of Plainview in describing the results from three years of interplanting grain sorghum with cotton in Hale County.

The six-row interplanting pattern runs two cotton—one blank, two grain sorghum—one blank, across the field. In comparison with yields from solid plantings the system has increased cotton production by 50 percent and grain sorghum production by 40 percent, with a cotton micronaire average of 3.3.

Moore explained, adding that "when wind and sand damage enter the picture production figures can be doubled by interplantings." This is assuming that the two crops are planted at the same time in order to allow cotton to get maximum protection from the faster-growing sorghum. To emphasize the importance of this protection, Moore related that the only April cotton he was able to save under the extreme weather conditions of 1963 was cotton planted in this manner.

Micronaire average on interplanted cotton in 1963 averaged 4.3 as compared to a 3.3 average for cotton from a simple skip-row pattern. The secret to the higher micronaire is in the over-all maturity of the crop induced by higher growing season temperatures and the early season aid to growth furnished by wind and sand protection. To get maximum benefits from the temperature factor, Moore irrigates only between planted rows, leaving blank rows dry. By not applying 58 degree irrigation water to the blank rows they are allowed to absorb and retain more of the heat from full sunlight. This heat is then radiated around plants at night, helping to keep ground level temperature up to the desirable 70 degrees or above. Also, the protection of the grain sorghum helps to keep the wind from dissipating the available heat.

With only one post-planting irrigation, interplanting helped Moore to produce 74.8 bales from 35 acres with only 12 light spot and one full spot bales in the lot. Only two days were required to water the plot with one eight-inch well, constituting a big saving water expense.

The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, credited with developing the interplanting system under the direction of Delbert Langford, is continuing crop climate studies to determine the effects of temperature on growing cotton with the aid of a $5,000 grant from Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. These studies are under the direction of Dr. Arthur Gohlke.

Moore began using the Research Foundation's findings on interplanting in 1961, with only 100 acres involved, and has interplanted 500 acres both in 1962 and 1963 with good results. He plans to plant over 1200 acres to this system in 1964, and believes that widespread use of the system could substantially increase the total High Plains cotton production, perhaps as much as 50 percent.

If the nation's agricultural output of 1962 had been produced by 1939 methods, it would have cost about $17 billion more in land, labor, capital and other resources than the actual '62 cost. This annual dividend is more than twice the cost of all agricultural research done by federal, state and private industry since the nation was founded.

County Pay Raises Are Approved

A public hearing was held Feb. 10, concerning a proposed salary increase for 11 county officials. The hearing was in connection with the regular meeting of the Hale County Commissioners Court.

No protests were heard and the pay raises were approved as proposed.

The raises called for increases of $420 annually to the commissioner, county clerk, county treasurer, county tax assessor, collector, sheriff, county attorney and district clerk as well as the auditor, who is appointed. The county judge received a $300 annual raise plus $120 annually for in-county travel expense.

The salary increases boost the pay of the commissioners, clerk, treasurer, sheriff, district clerk and county attorney to $7,102.50, still some $1400 below the maximum allowable. Including the travel expense, the judge now receives $8,602.50, the auditor $7,482.50 and the tax assessor-collector $7,782.50, including $300 travel allowance.

In other action:
Bids were received for a motor grader for precinct one and for a front-end loader for precinct two. A net bid of $14,000 for a new International Model 175 loader was accepted as submitted by Plains Machinery Co., of Lubbock. Only one other bid, a net $16,500 for a new Caterpillar by West Texas Equipment Co., of Lubbock, was received. The county offered a used Allison-Chalmers as a trade-in.

West Texas Equipment Company's net bid of $11,750 for a new D12 Caterpillar motor grader was accepted by Marvin Churchwell, commissioner of precinct one. Two other bids, one for $12,800 for a Gallion by Plains Machinery Co., and the other of a composite $10,998 to $11,448 for a Huber motor grader by Caprock Machinery Co., of Amarillo were received.

Churchwell explained that he was familiar with the operation and maintenance of the Caterpillar machine and preferred it over the Huber, despite the Caprock company's lower bid.

Election Judges
The court appointed 17 persons to serve as election judges in the various voting precincts in the November general elections.

They are Miss Winnie Karth, precinct one; Charles G. Wendt, precinct two; J. J. Hegl, precinct three; J. W. Cox, precinct four; Oscar Allen, precinct five; Mrs. Glenn Yates, precinct six; Raymond Adin, precinct seven; Mrs. Roy Boatright, precinct eight; W. D. Sanders, precinct nine; Mrs. Jack Bristol, precinct 10; S. M. Harrison, precinct 11; W. T. McEachern, precinct 12; T. C. Workman, precinct 14; Mrs. B. M. Hughes, precinct 15; Jack Robertson, precinct 16; G. E. Bench, precinct 17; and Mrs. Ed Lewis, precinct 18.

Charles Jenkins, supervisor of the Child Welfare Unit, submitted a report of the Unit's activities for the last quarter of 1963.

He reported that during the three-month period 58 families, representing 73 children were processed by the Unit. Of these 73, 18 were dependent and neglected, 33 were juvenile delinquents, 7 (usually 10 years old or under) had various behavior problems, five were unwed mothers, two were handicapped children, two were district court referrals and two were referred to the Unit for counseling and supervision. One was handled by the Unit for an out-of-town writup requested by another agency.

Jenkins said that during the same period cases involving 60 families with 70 children were closed, among these were 20 dependent and neglected, 39 delinquents and the five unwed mother who were sent to maternity homes.

The Unit closed the year with 180 children in 112 families under supervision. A year ago the figure was 160 children in 107 families. Jenkins told the court that during the year the Unit handled approximately 500 children, including some 180 delinquents and 160 dependent and neglected cases.

Welfare Plan Discussed

The court spent some two hours in conference with Clifton Martin, county welfare agent, concerning establishing a payment schedule for medical indigency cases. Martin told the court that the city's hospitals had requested that the county participate further in the costs of caring for medically indigent persons. At the present time the maximum payment by the county is $200 regardless of the expense incurred by such patients. No action was taken on the matter. Martin was instructed to continue discussing the matter with the hospitals.

A sixth grade class taught by Dell Brown at Hillcrest Elementary School provided the court with a break from its usual routine. In view of the election year, seven of the students from the class presented "campaign" speeches built around 20 words from a recent spelling lesson. Giving the speeches were Kay Jones, Kathy Brazier, Shelly Haydon, Carol Raymer, Susan Ross, Pat Bailey and Jessie Dowdell.

The commissioners and Judge Abernethy were invited by Mrs. Mary Wadzeck to attend the Thursday meeting of the City-County Health Unit Board which meets at noon at Wayne's.

The commissioners court meets the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the commissioners court room at Hale County Courthouse. Meetings are open to the public.

THE FFA IN TEXAS CONTINUES TO GROW

(By Clennon Montgomery, Executive Secretary, Texas Association, FFA)

The Future Farmers of America organization is in its 35th year in Texas—and it continues to grow, having over 39,702 members this year. These FFA members are boys who are studying vocational agriculture in approximately 900 high schools in Texas. In their vocational agriculture classes, students are provided an opportunity to secure technical and scientific training in agriculture as well as to receive training in leadership, citizenship, and cooperation.

In 1959 there were 711 FFA chapters in Texas with a membership of 28,643. Today, we have 875 chapters with over 39,000 members. The largest growth has come in the last three years since the membership increased over 3,000. In a recent study it was found that 52.2 per cent of the vocational agriculture graduates last year who were available for employment are now in full-time farming or in an agricultural related occupation. Approximately one-half of this number is in full-time farming.

Agriculture today is more than farming. It involves those who process and distribute many agricultural goods. Many people are employed in agricultural occupations such as engineers, scientists, management personnel, sales and service personnel, and educators. There are 60,000 desirable openings each year for farm operators, farm engineers, and full-time hired farm labor. This group needs a sound education in a continuing education to help keep them abreast of the rapidly changing technical and management aspects of farming.

RESEARCH TO STUDY GRAIN SORGHUM PIGMENTS

Research to identify pigments and related compounds that color or flavor grain sorghum and its products will be conducted by the Indiana University Foundation under contract with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Elbert Harp, President of Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., announced this week.

The research is aimed at providing a basis for future studies on avoiding discoloration of sorghum products such as starch and on avoiding bitterness in sorghum feeds. It is part of a broad effort by USDA's Agricultural Research Service to find new uses for farm products, Harp said, and that Bill Nelson, GSPA's Executive Vice President, had made two trips to the Industrial Utilization Research Center at Peoria, Illinois, in the past to gain attention to grain sorghum in the overall program. This pigmentation problem was one discussed last March at the Association's Biennial Research and Utilization Conference which was attended by Dr. F. R. Senti, Head of USDA's Utilization Research Program.

Under the Indiana contract, Professor Ernest Wenkert will study the isolation and characterization of pigments from varieties of milo or kafir sorghums. He will also test the response of these pigments to bleaching and other treatments.

Earlier ARS studies by C. W. Blessin, C. H. Van Etten, and Dr. R. J. Dimler, scientists at the Northern Utilization Laboratory, Peoria, Ill., show that sorghum grain contains—in addition to pigments—unidentified colorless compounds that are converted to colored ones by acid. These compounds could discolor sorghum products that are expected to be white; they are also believed to cause bitterness.

Dr. Dimler will be USDA's technical representative on the project.

'64 Grain Sign-Up Is Underway

The sign-up for the 1964 feed grain program now is under way in the ASCS County Office, E. J. Pope, Jr., Chairman, Hale Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced last week. The sign-up period started February 10 and will continue through March 27.

The 1964 program will be more attractive to many producers than the 1963 program, but basically the program will be about the same, the Chairman explained. It will be available for the three feed grains corn, barley and grain sorghum, and participation will be entirely voluntary although price support eligibility for the three crops will depend on such grower participation.

Two major improvements in the 1964 feed grain program, as compared with previous programs are: (1) A producer may divert as much as 50 percent of his feed grain base acreage (this was 40 percent in 1963), and those who divert 40 percent or more of their base acreage will receive diversion payments at the Maximum rate for all acres diverted. (The maximum acreage diversion will continue to be 25 percent if this is more than 50 percent of the base.)

Two rates of diversion payment will be offered, but the higher rate should apply to more acres under the 1964 program: The minimum rate is again based upon one-fifth of the county's total price support rate; the maximum or higher rate is based on one-half of the support price. If the operator signs up to divert 40 percent or more of his feed grain base, the higher rate will apply to all the acreage diverted. If less than 40 percent is diverted, the minimum rate will apply to 20 percent of the acreage diverted and the higher rate to the acreage between 20 and 40 percent.

Farmers who take part in the program will be eligible for diversion and price support payments, and for price support loans on their entire 1964 production of the three grains. The price support payment will be made to all participants in the program who plant the feed grains for harvest, and they will be made regardless of the use made of the grain. The producer may sell the grain or feed it if he wishes and still receive the payment.

Applications to take part in the 1964 feed grain program may be filed in the Hale County ASCS Office from Mondays through Fridays at any time between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 12:00 a.m. — 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Cotton Acreage Release Dates

LUBBOCK Changes in Texas' Release and Reapportionment program for 1964, made by the State ASCS Committee, have been announced to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and may result in the High Plains area getting a larger share of released cotton acreage. The 23 counties in Plains Cotton Growers' territory received 91,684 acres of cotton under this program in 1963.

Under this program farmers who do not wish to plant all of their allotted cotton acreage can release the unwanted portion to their County ASC Committee for reapportionment to farmers who request additional acres. After reapportionment within the county, excess acres are turned to the State Committee for distribution within the zone in which the acres were released.

Final date for releasing acreage, and for requesting additional acreage, was set for March 4, 1964 in Zone 2, which covers all of the High Plains area. It is important that area farmers understand that requests for reapportioned acres must be filed with county ASC Committees before that date. Reapportioning of the acres will take place on March 25 in Zone 2. Corresponding dates for Zone 1, which lies in South and Southeast Texas, are February 4 and February 25.

"When you serve the guests to night," the lady of the house told her maid, "please try not to spill anything."

"Oh, don't worry about me, ma'am," she answered. "I don't talk too much."

This is the season of the year when iron-rich dried fruits are readily available and can make a fine contribution to the menu, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. Prunes and raisins account for the greater part of dried fruit consumption, although apricots, peaches, dates, figs and apples are available. One pound of dried fruit is equivalent to about four to six pounds of fresh fruit, the specialist stresses.

Interplanting Practice Is Gaining Favor

LUBBOCK — Increased cotton production, improved quality, and a big boost to profits is the enthusiastic story told by Frank Moore of Plainview in describing the results from three years of interplanting grain sorghum with cotton in Hale County.

The six-row interplanting pattern runs two cotton—one blank, two grain sorghum—one blank, across the field. In comparison with yields from solid plantings the system has increased cotton production by 50 percent and grain sorghum production by 40 percent, with a cotton micronaire average a full point above the either solid or simple skip-row system. "This yield increase for cotton came under conditions where wind and sand damage were not a factor," Moore explains, adding that "when wind and sand damage enter the picture production figures can be doubled by interplantings." This is assuming that the two crops are planted at the same time in order to allow cotton to get maximum protection from the faster-growing sorghum. To emphasize the importance of this protection, Moore related that the only April cotton he was able to save under the extreme weather conditions of 1963 was cotton planted in this manner.

Micronaire average on interplanted cotton in 1963 averaged 4.3 as compared to a 3.3 average for cotton from a simple skip-row pattern. The secret to the higher micronaire is in the over-all maturity of the crop induced by higher growing season temperatures and the early season aid to growth furnished by wind and sand protection. To get maximum benefits from the temperature factor, Moore irrigates only between planted rows, leaving blank rows dry. By not applying 58 degree irrigation water to the blank rows they are more related to the soil and retain more of the heat from full sunlight. This heat is then radiated around plants at night, helping to keep ground level temperature up to the desirable 70 degrees or above. Also, the protection of the grain sorghum helps to keep the wind from dissipating the available heat.

Heritage Meet At Wayland

PLAINVIEW (Spl.)—Civil rights, poverty, and the wheat trade with Russia were among aspects of President Johnson's state of the Union message which were discussed by a panel of five Wayland Baptist College faculty members at the recent Plains American Heritage meeting in Plainview.

From the 11 cities participating, 71 persons attended. "Although there has been a lot of clamor about the public accommodations section of the civil rights bill, the fact that 31 states outside the South have laws against discrimination in accommodations speaks for passing of the bill," predicts Dr. Eugene W. Jones, chairman of the Division of Social Sciences, who believes the bill has a better chance of passing now than it had when Kennedy was President.

Predicting that poverty will become an increasingly controversial subject, Douglas Clark, assistant professor of sociology, noted that some 20-25 million voters fall into Johnson's category of poverty stricken. Perhaps Americans do not notice that as many families live in poverty as actually do, he said.

Trade with Russia in a market where she cannot purchase goods with rubles hurts that country economically, noted Dr. Jerry Dawson, head of the history department. "Food sold to Russia depletes her gold supply, and for this reason, Johnson sees food sales as an aggressive weapon," he explained.

Discussing other aspects of Johnson's program were Charles Ogilvie, history instructor and director of the Heritage program, and Marvin Downing, history instructor.

Cities participating in the program are Abernathy, Dimmitt, Hart, Olton, Hale Center, Cotton Center, Lockney, Kress, Tulia, Petersburg, and Plainview.

Moore began using the Research Foundation's findings on interplanting in 1961, with only 100 acres involved, and has interplanted 500 acres both in 1962 and 1963 with good results. He plans to plant over 1200 acres to this system in 1964, and believes that widespread use of the system could substantially increase the total High Plains cotton production, perhaps as much as 50 percent.

Drivers Face Loss Of License And Vehicle Tags

AUSTIN — The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety minded motorists that more stringent provisions of the state's safety responsibility law—requiring drivers and owners to be able to pay for damage to others in traffic accidents—became effective January 1, 1964.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, emphasized that the law required the Department to suspend the driver licenses and vehicle registrations of drivers and owners who are not in compliance with the law at the time of accident involvement, if the accident comes under the Safety Responsibility Act.

Responsibility Act.
 "The law provides that drivers and owners of vehicles involved in traffic accidents occurring or originating on a public street, highway or thoroughfare resulting in 100 or more property damage, injury or death must file written reports with the Department of Public Safety within 10 days, and its requirements must be met," he explained. "Accidents not involving death or injury but with $25 or more damage involved still must be reported to the Department but will not come under the Safety Responsibility Law."
 "The Department is required to suspend driver licenses and all motor vehicle registration plates of both the operator and owner of vehicles involved in an accident coming under the Safety

Responsibility Law, unless:
 "1. Evidence of liability insurance coverage in the minimum amounts of $10,000 where one person was injured or killed, $20,000 where more than one, and $5,000 for property damage is reported to the Department.
 "2. A release signed by damaged or injured persons is filed with the Department.
 "3. A signed agreement to pay damages in installments is accepted by the damaged or injured persons, and filed with the Department.
 "4. The operator and owner are not to be liable in a civil court of competent jurisdiction, and a copy of such finding is filed with the Department.
 "5. The operator and owner deposit with the Department cash or bond security in an amount sufficient to cover any judgment for damages resulting from the accident that might be obtained by damaged or injured persons, which in no case shall be less than $200."

In addition, the operator and owner must file proof of financial responsibility for the future and must maintain it for five years.
 Garrison noted that under the new law, suspensions of licenses and registrations will be for a period of two years, unless the requirements of the Safety Responsibility Act are met.

Also, he said that when a person's driver license is suspended or revoked under any Texas law because of a conviction on a serious traffic charge, the Department is required to suspend such person's motor vehicle registration, unless he immediately files proof of financial responsibility for the future.
 In addition to other statutory filing fees required, a $10 reinstatement charge has been provided for restoration of suspended license and/or vehicle registration in those cases where proof of financial responsibility for the future must be filed.

Garrison listed these exceptions where the law does not apply:
 1. The law does not apply to the owner of a vehicle if it is involved in an accident while being driven by another person without the owner's consent.
 2. If the operator or owner involved in an accident is the only person damaged or injured.
 3. If the vehicle was legally parked or stopped at a traffic signal at the time of the accident.
 4. If the vehicle involved was being driven by an employee of the United States Government in connection with official duties.
