Christmas Deadline Set As UN Sets Up Tremendous Advance

TWO HANDS—Two hands dangle from the telescoped wreckage of two Long Island railroad trains as rescue workers move to extricate the dead and injured from the wreckage in Kew Gardens on the main line from Manhattan to Jamaica and Long Island, N. Santa Set for Trip to Pampa SANTA CLAUSLAND—(Special)—Here's good news for the children all over the world!

Old Santa Claus, in as good health and in as fine a mood as you ever saw him, is getting ready to leave on the long trip from his home here to Pampa, Texas, where he will participate in the Christmas Parade on the night of Dec. 1, and then continue on his annual inspection trip to see which boys and girls have been good and which have been bad this past year.

Ever since last Christmas his factories have been humming with work, turning out millions of toys of all descriptions for the good little children throughout the world. Most of these toys are already on their way by sleigh, train, boat and airplane to various parts of the world where Santa can pick them up on Christmas Eve.

With Winter's snows extending far down into the United States Santa is going to use his reindeer as far as he can. He has promised to bring them to Pampa, whether we have snow or not. Santa's blacksmith has been putting shoes on the tiny feet of the little animals. The feet of the animals are so small that special shoes and hammers had to be made to work on them. The shoes are necessary because the animals have to paw their way over many slippery roofs throughout the world. They are magic reindeer and only Santa can make them go with such terrific speed through the air.

Santa said he was going to be able to bring only four of his animals to Pampa. The others are to be left at home on this inspection trip to get the shoes put on. The four that he will bring to Pampa will be Donder and Blitzen, Prancer and Dancer. Prancer has been sick for the past two days, but is expected to be ready to go on this trip. Prancer found a sack of candy that fell off of Santa's sleigh and ate so much of it that he became ill. But Santa is sure he will be okay in time to leave for Pampa.

That big Christmas parade will be held in Pampa on the night of Dec. 1, so all you kiddies and grown-ups, too, be sure to mark that night on your calendar as the night to see Santa—and his reindeer.

MacArthur Wings Over Commie Guns

TOKYO —(AP)— United Nations forces attacked today on all wintry fronts in a powerful bid to end the Korean war by Christmas. They advanced as much as eight miles.

The attack began in bitter cold. Like a pair of ice tongs, it was aimed at squeezing the Reds from two widely-separated sides. It cracked unconfirmed peace rumors.

One hundred thousand men were arrayed in the UN surprise offensive on the long-quiet northwest front, 45 to 60 miles south of the Manchurian border.

General MacArthur went to the front to direct the kick-off. Then boldly he flew over Red territory and along the Yalu River border enroute to Tokyo. He announced everything was going "according to schedule."

The UN commander said "new Red armies" had joined the estimated 100,000 Chinese ..and North Korean troops in the mountains of the northwest. But front line dispatches said they put up little fight along the 80 mile northwest front — or none at all.

MacArthur reported "stubborn but failing resistance." Presumably he referred to the snow-mantled northeast front, the right arm of the giant pincers.

The supreme commander said UN losses in the first day of the massive offensive were "extraordinarily light."

The roar of warplanes — flying cover for the advancing troops and blasting Red strongholds — drowned out talk of a negotiated peace which had blossomed Thursday. The planes left two key Red cities in flames. MacArthur flew over both — Sinuiju and Kanggye — as fighters flew protective cover for him from the ground up to 35,000 feet.

Before leaving the front MacArthur told his field generals: "Tell the boys when they reach the Yalu they are going home. I want to make good on my statement that they are going to eat Christmas dinner at home."

He did not elaborate.

(It seemed doubtful that many American troops could be moved back to the U. S. by Christmas even if they started now).

MacArthur said the big push began with the morale of troops high — bolstered by "the justice of our cause and promise of early completion of our mission."

The major attack was along the northwestern front. Troops of three UN corps jumped off at 8 a.m. (5 p.m. CST, Thursday).

Advancing troops found 30 wounded American prisoners, newly released by Chinese Reds. All but three were litter cases. They were members of the U.S. Eighth Cavalry regiment ambushed by the Chinese early in November. These were in addition to 27 released by the Chinese Wednesday.

A tank-led U. S. 24th Division task force drove eight miles west on the road to Sinuiju, entryway for Chinese Communist armies in the extreme northwest. Sinuiju was in flames today, presumably from new allied air attacks.

The 24th Division reached Naechongjong, on the same route it traveled four weeks ago to within 14 miles of the Manchurian border before Chinese Red attacks forced its withdrawal.

On the right flank, two columns of the Republic of Korea (ROK) First Division marched unopposed on Tacheon, major Communist base and key road junction on highways leading to the vital Suiho hydroelectric development. The columns were

Reds Release 30 Americans, All Wounded

NORTHWEST FRONT, Korea — (AP) — Thirty wounded American prisoners from the ambushed U.S. Eighth Cavalry regiment were released today by Chinese Reds.

All but three were litter cases.

The Chinese released 27 others Wednesday.

The 30 included one captain and three lieutenants.

The men were taken to a village near the American lines Thursday night and placed in a Korean house.

A Chinese guard gave two men a letter to be delivered to U. S. lines.

The letter instructed the American commander to send one litter jeep with a large flag on its right fender and with no arms or escort. The letter said the jeep would be permitted to shuttle the men back to the American lines.

Two prisoners took the letter and walked toward the American lines during the night. An American task force met them on the road.

The task force drove on ahead and found the remaining prisoners in the Korean house.

The liberated doughboys were taken to a clearing station. Reporters were forbidden to see them.

One of the prisoners told officers he was with a group surrounded and captured after a three-day fight with the Red Chinese and North Koreans near Unsan.

He said the Reds had kept up persistent attacks day and night.

The Americans set haystacks afire at night with tracer bullets. The burning hay illuminated the attacking Reds and the Americans were able to repulse them.

One night the Americans set Communist trucks ablaze with mortar shells. This light also silhouetted the night raiders.

The following day the Americans got orders to fight their way out the best they could. They tried. The Reds opened up with everything.

One prisoner said he was wounded and tried to swim a river, but turned back because he could not make it.

A North Korean soldier approached him. The American reached for his .45 and cocked

Keep Production Up Declares Anderson

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Anderson (D-NM) declared today that abundant production—rather than price controls—is the best way to keep price in line.

The New Mexico lawmaker said it would be a mistake to impose controls now, and he added:

"Abundant production is the best policeman we have to keep prices right. Rigid controls curtail production. They often result in shortages which are the basic cause of price increases."

Anderson had plenty of experience with price controls, on meat and other food during World War II and the immediate postwar period, when he was secretary of agriculture.

"I don't say we may not have to resort to price controls again," Anderson told a reporter. "But the time has not arrived. The best way to fight high prices now is to encourage greater production."

Prices have been held down somewhat, the Federal Reserve Board said last night, by its restrictions on retail credit. The board also claimed the curbs have had substantial results in cutting down on installment buying.

"Demand for many types of consumer durable goods, which in the summer was far in excess of supply, has declined and can now be satisfied in more competitive markets," the board's November "Bulletin" said.

"Prices of used automobiles, which were very high in the summer, have fallen to levels more nearly normal in relation to list prices of new cars."

The board acknowledged, however, that unofficial reports from trade sources and banks have indicated a continued rise in the total volume of install-

Slavs Maintaining Independent Stand

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia —(AP)— If attack comes to Yugoslavia, Premier Marshal Tito says "our people would know how to defend themselves and would give up their independence only at a dear price."

Firmly, he told the Associated Press in a Thanksgiving Day interview that Russia and her Cominform satellites could not conquer Communist but independent Yugoslavia "except over our dead bodies."

Dressed in a dapper grey flannel suit, and chain smoking from a small pipe holding a domestic cigarette, the premier expressed his appreciation of American aid to his drought-stricken country. He said he hoped more would arrive soon.

Congress will shortly consider a bill proposed by President Truman to provide Yugoslavia with food worth between $80,000,000 and $105,000,000 to tide the country over until the next harvest.

Yugoslavia, which has requested the larger amount, should be able to get through on that "though not easily" Tito declared, by economy drives, reduction of supplies, and similar measures to combat the food shortage.

The famine threat will be critical around February and March, the Marshal said, though "in certain sections even before that."

Tito showed no signs of personal disturbance over the possibility of an imminent assault by the Soviet bloc, with which his regime broke more than two years ago when he charted a policy independent of Moscow.

"We are not seeking arms abroad," he said, "regardless of the fact that we have the moral right to buy those means which we lack. I do not consider this question of prime importance."

But, he added, if the Cominform threat to his nation's independence should intensify, "we will buy arms" from the West.

And it "is understood" that Yugoslavia would invite United Nations intervention in case of

Probe Pressed On Rail Wreck

NEW YORK — (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said today that preliminary evidence indicates "a human failure" was the cause of the Thanksgiving eve Long Island railroad wreck which took 77 lives.

Dewey, who cut short a Florida vacation to lead one of the several investigations of the wreck started today, made his statement after a meeting with the state public service commission.

As the governor spoke there were demands for quick action by national, state and city officials to put an end to the carnage on the Long Island. It was the second major disaster in a year on the railroad.

Dewey said commission findings showed the express which plowed into the rear of a stalled train had passed through one warning signal and one stop signal at full speed of between 60 and 65 miles per hour.

The warning signal was a mile and a half from the scene of the accident.

Stressing that the investigation had "just started," the governor declared:

"Whatever the causes, human or mechanical, the situation on the Long Island railroad is utterly intolerable.

"I propose to take every step necessary and possible to make it a safe railroad at the quickest possible moment."

One hundred and ten people have died in the two wrecks this year.

Chinese Delegation Arrives for Talks

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— A nine-member Chinese Communist delegation arrived at Idlewild International Airport today, enroute to press Red China's charge of American aggression before the United Nations Security Council.

The group, which was met by Soviet UN Delegate Jacob A. Malik and representatives of other Iron Curtain countries, refused to speak to reporters as it alighted from a British Overseas Airways plane.

Later in a statement to the press Wu Hsui-chan, leader of the delegation, said he hoped the UN would give "just treatment" to the Red Chinese charge that the United States has committed "armed aggression" against Formosa.

He said such "just treatment" would "be helpful to peace and security in the Pacific and in Asia."

Wu declared "a profound friendship has always existed between the Chinese people and the American people."

"I wish to avail myself of this opportunity to convey my greetings to peace-loving people in the United States," he said.

The Chinese Reds came with the permission of the United States government — despite the fact that Communist Chinese soldiers are fighting U. S. troops in Korea.

UN officials did not expect an immediate council meeting on the Peiping charges. Instead they looked for several days of private conversations among the Chinese, Russians, British and Indians, and perhaps among other delegations.

These officials thought Yugoslavia's Dr. Ales Bebler, November president of the security council, would call a session next Tuesday.

Red China's premier and foreign minister, Chou En-lai, already has served notice that the delegation will not discuss Gen. Douglas MacArthur's charges that Chinese Communists have intervened in the Korean war.

Chou accepted a council invitation, extended Sept. 29, to send his group here to argue his charges that aggression was committed when President Truman ordered the U.S. Seventh Fleet to protect Formosa.

But diplomats expect that the Street Work Is Postponed

The proposed widening of the 100 blocks east and west Kingsmill has been postponed until after Jan. 1, 1950, City Engineer Ray Evans said this morning.

The postponement was requested by Businessmen in the two-block area asking that the sidewalks be left in tact until after the Christmas rush season. The city saw their point and agreed to withhold tearing up sidewalks preparatory to widening the street.

The two blocks are the first steps in widening Kingsmill by six feet on each side through the mid-town section. The widening is being done to help unsnarl traffic jams caused by the heavy traffic along that sector. When the first two blocks are completed, the city contemplates widening the remainder of W. Kingsmill to conform with the 100 block west and east.

Police Investigate $800 Burglary at Local Package Store

City police are investigating a break-in at Jim's Package Store, 818 S. Cuyler, according to John Wilkinson, chief.

The store was entered early Thursday morning, as far as officers could tell.

Owner Jim Youngblood estimated the loss at about $800. Missing are 15 cases of whiskey and several cartons of cigarettes.

Hoodlums gained entrance into the store by breaking into and forcing the back door.

Apparently the robber or robbers had good taste, as only the better grades of whiskey were taken.

Services Today for Paul H. Schaub, 86

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p.m. today at the Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home for Paul H. Schaub, 86, who died Thursday morning at Highland General Hospital.

Survivors include his wife, Sarah Jane; three daughters, Mrs. Freda Forrest, Pampa, Mrs. Maebell Watts, Wheeler, Mrs. Pauline Wright, Pampa; three sons, Ernest, Shamrock, Clyde and Lonnie, Pampa; one sister, Mrs. Clara Jones, Guymon, Okla.

Mr. Schaub was born Oct. 2, 1864 in St. Louis, Mo. He moved to Wheeler County in 1910. For several years, he was the section hand boss for Rock Island Railways in Shamrock. He moved to Pampa in 1942.

Pallbearers were to be Joe Schaub, Jack Williams, J. W. Henderson, Troy Curlee, Morgan Pride and Carl Henderson.

Burial will be in the Fairview Cemetery.

Dog Poisoners At Work Here

The lives of Pampa children have again been endangered by dog poisoners.

Pampa veterinarians have been called out to treat at least 20 canine victims of the sneak poison attacks within the past two weeks. In many instances, the veterinarians said, they were called in time to save a puppy's life, but still some of the dogs died.

Most of the times, the veterinarians added, the poison was hidden in chunks of meat or bread; the tidbit "planted" on the street, yards, or sidewalks where children could just as easily pick them up and taste them. Strychnine was used in most cases and in several others the lethal and sure fatal "1080" killed off the dogs.

Several of the dogs were thoroughbreds and virtually "part of the family."

As usual, no one has been able to trace the dog poisoners down but both city and county officials fear some child, especially in the toddler to five year-old age group, may also fall victim to the fiendish attacks.

Former Pampan Is Killed in Accident

After Thanksgiving:

A Wonderful Holiday Always Winds Up With Same Ending

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON — (AP) — You wake up feeling as if you'd been smothered in turkey feathers. Your head throbs, your lungs hurt and the cord on your pajamas has cut an ominous red ridge around your midriff.

"Oof," you say feebly. And with quick sympathy your wife responds:

"Serves you right, that's all I've got to say."

You doubt whether that really is all she has to say, and as you struggle out of bed your doubt is justified.

"Every Thanksgiving Day," your wife says, "it's the same old thing."

"Uh-huh. I always do eat too much turkey."

"Turkey? That's the first time I ever knew turkey came in bottles."

"Oh, that." You head for the bathroom, moving fast. "Well, I didn't want to see your father drink alone."

"My father!" she follows you. "What about the exhibition YOUR father put on?"

You pretend you can't hear above the noise of running water, but she knows better.

"I do think," she calls, "that your sister might have offered to help with the dishes."

"Well," you say, applying shaving cream with unsteady fingers, "Sis doesn't like to interfere in somebody else's home. I wish I could say as much for everybody's sister."

"If you're referring to MY sister—!"

"Farthest thing from my mind," you say hastily. "You know how much I—uh, respect Alice. And those children of hers! Wasn't it cunning of them to set fire to the living room drapes?"

"You were supposed to be watching them! I can't do everything around here. I cook the dinner, set the table, clean the silver — What? What's that you said?"

"I said," you repeat, taking the toothbrush out of your mouth, "that you're perfectly right, dear. Thanksgiving is too much of a strain on you. On all of us. Tell you what: next year we'll have our Thanksgiving dinner in a restaurant. Just the two of us. What say?"

"Oh!" Your wife sounds so stricken that you wheel around in alarm. "Oh, I wouldn't dream of such a thing. Why, Thanksgiving is the only day of the year when the whole family gets together!"

Authorities Say Offensive Drive May Bring Settlement

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Diplomatic authorities said today the UN general offensive in Korea will not hurt and may boost any possible chance for a peaceful border settlement with the Chinese Communists.

The timing of the big push which Gen. Douglas MacArthur called the drive to end the conflict was decided on military rather than diplomatic considerations, according to these fully-informed authorities.

The fact that it was undertaken on the eve of the arrival of a Chinese Communist delegation at United Nations headquarters in New York was described as entirely coincidental.

Nevertheless, predominant opinion among administration leaders appears to be that this show of strength and determination to achieve a complete victory in Korea may hasten any negotiations which the Chinese are willing to undertake on the question of an arrangement to protect their border interests.

As regards the long - standing uncertainty over what China's real intentions are, the next few days or hours are critical.

If the Chinese Reds under Moscow pressure intend to make an all-out fight against UN forces, they can be expected to begin pouring reinforcements across the Yalu River promptly.

On the other hand, if their intentions are less hostile, of they have been making merely a token show of assistance to the Korean Communists or have other limited objectives, they are expected to hold their main forces north of the border while their troops in Korea fall back under UN pressure.

They have insisted all along that their troops are only "volunteers." That may be a device to avoid direct and official involvement.

This insistence on the voluntary nature of the Chinese intervention is one of two main reasons why administration officials have been and remain somewhat hopeful of an early and peaceful settlement in Korea.

The other reason is that during recent weeks the Chinese have not committed the large forces which they had available in Manchuria.

Washington officials told a reporter that in ordering the drive now under way, General MacArthur was acting under his broad orders to smash Communist aggression and restore peace to Korea. The only limiting order which he had, these officials said, was and is to avoid any attacks across the Korean border into Manchuria or Siberia.

That restriction includes aerial bombardment of strategic Manchurian centers.

In addition, it was said, there is a general understanding between Washington and Tokyo that no American troops will drive up to the Korean-Siberian border. That phase of the clean-up campaign — on the eastern sector of the front — is to be left to the South Korean forces. The idea is to eliminate any chance of incidents between Russian and American troops.

As for the Chinese border, President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson in the last two weeks have sought to reassure Peiping that the U.S had no intention whatever of violating it. The British government gave similar pledges in a new bid to the Chinese to stop their intervention disclosed Thursday in its propaganda, the Chinese regime has put these assurances down as 'honeyed words.' Even so, there is some hope here that they may have made an impression.

Officials said, however, that once United Nations forces reach the border in force they will be able to prove in actions that this country and its allies have no thought of driving on into Manchuria.

Rumors circulated in diplomatic circles Thursday that a diplomatic and military arrangement had been reached at the fighting front by which the Chinese would retire from the Korean battle in return for certain unspecified UN concessions.

The Korean took him prisoner. He and other Americans were held by North Koreans for four days. Then Chinese Reds took charge of the group.

They were given good treatment, the best the Chinese could offer, the prisoner said. They also were given some medical care.

One man was operated on by a Chinese doctor who removed shattered pieces of bone from his leg.

The Chinese told the Americans they believed the South Koreans had invaded North Korea and that the Americans intended to cross the Manchurian border.

The prisoners were not given political lectures as were the men in the group of 27.

But it said it was clear that the controls have had some braking effect. The curbs apply to autos, furniture, television sets and about 15 other major appliances.

Senator Anderson, in saying this is not the time for controls, echoed the views of President Truman but lined up against some of his colleagues in Congress who have been demanding that both price and wage curbs be invoked immediately.

seven miles south and southeast of Taechon.

A 25th Division task force of American prisoners of war during a seven mile advance north of Yongbyon. Most of the prisoners were wounded and suffering from frost bite. The rescue was in the general area where Chinese Reds released 27 other American POWS two days ago.

Elements of the U.S. Second Division, attacking after a night-long artillery barrage, pushed more than six miles, moving three miles beyond the rail center of Kujang against small arms and mortar fire.

The ROK Second Corps, on the right flank of that drive, advanced more than a mile. The ROK Seventh Division moved up to positions six miles north of Tokchon.

The ROK Eighth Division advanced to a point seven miles north of Yongwon.

Less than half of the eighth Army's 100,000 men were committed to the initial stages of the offensive. Mobilized behind the spearheads were well - organized and well-supplied reserves, ready to exploit any breakthrough in the deep defenses the Reds have been reported building in the mountains.

The heaviest opposition reported was in north-central Korea.

There the Chinese Reds threw a fresh division — the 89th — against the previously unopposed U.S. Seventh Marine regiment moving up the west side of Changjin reservoir.

The Seventh marines fought through deep snowdrifts and five heavily-defended Chinese roadblocks. They smashed through an estimated 1,000 Reds to a point three miles south of Yudam, western tip of the great reservoir.

The Marine Fifth Regiment moved two to three miles up the east side of the reservoir without a fight. Those leathernecks were about eight air miles north of Hagaru, at the southern tip of the reservoir.

Farther to the northeast the U.S. Seventh Division expanded its hold on the Yalu River border area around Hyesanjin.

Tanks of the 17th Regiment, only UN unit on the border, turned their 90 mm. guns on a Red mortar battery and silenced it in a four mile push southwestward toward Samsu.

a Cominform attack, the premier added.

The interview ranged over virtually every aspect of Yugoslavia's military, political, and economic situation. Marshal Tito listened intently to the questions, put to him without advance notice, and replied frankly and quickly.

He said apart from the United States, England "would also come into consideration" for economic aid to Yugoslavia, and "I have also heard, although unofficially, that the French government has expressed the will to help us."

In order to be effective, the Yugoslav leader continued, aid would have to begin arriving in December and January, especially "fat, flour, and other high caloric foods."

Once ashore, these shipments "will be included in the supply fund immediately. We already have an organization for distribution functioning," Tito asserted.

Nowhere in the interview did Marshal Tito show any sign of retreat from his position that Yugoslavia must be regarded as an "equal partner" in political and economic relations with either East or West.

Banks Urged To Cut Loans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has appealed to the nation's banks to put a checkrein on their lending. Aggregate bank loans have increased at a rate of about $1,000,000,000 a month since the start of the Korean war.

Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe said that banks can make a big contribution to the fight against inflation by holding down borrowing and by limiting loan extension. McCabe's letter went to the 7,000 banks of the federal reserve system.

"Further expansion in bank credit means more dollars competing for limited supplies of labor and materials," he said. "Unless such expansion of credit is checked it is bound to raise prices.

"Defense dollars will soon be added to civilian dollars in competition for available goods. The nation's defense needs must be adequately met without runaway prices."

The appeal was the second the reserve board has made to banks to curb loans in four months. It seemed to indicate that there is no immediate plan for an order which would limit lending capacity by freezing bank reserves.

Are You Getting

ALL THE FUN OUT OF LIFE?

Or losing out due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin!

Tired, run-down, below par, getting up each morning dreading the coming day, due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin? Thousands like Mrs. Clemons, are relieving the real cause of their trouble, due to such deficiencies, with today's great Hadacol.

Mrs. Lealer Clemons, Route 3, Box 169, Williamston, N.C. says: "Before I had taken any Hadacol or had heard of it, no one could have told me that I would be able to work again or take on household duties. I was suffering from aches and pains. I also was unable to attend my church and visit friends because I was always tired and in a run-down condition. But since I have taken several bottles of Hadacol, I can tell you the truth, I am much livelier, my aching has all gone. I can get up early and start on my household duties. Now, I can attend church and feel better. I only wish I had discovered it a year ago. I will certainly pass this on to my friends because I'm proud to be happy again and be a user of Hadacol."

Trial size bottle, $1.25; family or hospital size, $3.50. Only Hadacol gives you that "Wonderful Hadacol Feeling!"

HE CAME TO KILL

AIDED by a benevolent taxi driver and the fact that he was, after all, a Thorne, Jasper arrived home a few minutes after Sondra had been put to bed and left under the watchful—if accusing—eye of Mrs. Carstairs.

"Pay the gennulman," Jasper said thickly, staggering through the doorway under the steadying assistance of the poker-faced young man. "Be a good guy, pay 'im. I'm—" He looked at Leeana, eyes widening, seeing her, apparently, for the first time. "Cousin, you look — Whash — what's the matter?"

Leeana told him, being purposely blunt. It might sober him up to hear that Peter had fled, perhaps to escape arrest for murder.

"You mean good ol' Pete— Oh, no!" He began to laugh wildly. "Don't tell me my wife hitched her wagon to a murderer!"

Bitterness came into his maudlin glee and sobriety seemed a bit nearer. Leeana wondered, fleetingly, how he would feel about that outburst in the morning. If anyone reminded him of it. Now, though, he rocked back on his heels, steadied himself with an effort—and stopped laughing.

Leeana took his arm. "Come, Jasper, let's get some coffee."

She urged him toward the door, but Jasper hung back. He bobbed his head at the taxi driver and said belligerently:

"Go on, sonny. Tell 'im. Tell 'im you picked me up at the Red Ace 'n' not at that crummy Bijou."

Leeana saw alertness come into the sheriff's eyes, where it mingled with suspicion that had been slumbering — until now. Jasper was talking himself right out of an alibi, if— Realizing she was on a mental merry-go-round, back again to her momentary belief that Peter had been murdered, too, Leeana fixed her attention on what the sheriff was saying.

"Then you didn't see the picture?"

"No— Say, what is this?" He stopped, bewildered; then, slowly, "You're not being on the level with me, Purdy. You think something's happened to Pete, don't you? You think I killed him."

JASPER'S voice was cracked; his mouth twisted as though fear, suspicion and selfishness were a bitter mixture indeed; his hands—Jasper's hand were like Peter's, long-fingered, soft, filled with dangerous strength. It might have been Jasper's hands at Leeana's throat that night.

Jasper could have slipped out the side door at the theater. And no one knew how long he had been at the Red Ace bar . . . Leeana clicked off in her own mind the time needed to come to Thorne Hill, kill Peter, and return to town.

Of course he had a motive! Peter gave everyone who knew him the motive for murder—hate, fear, revenge. Everyone at Thorne Hill felt one of those emotions where Peter Thorne was concerned.

But which of them had killed him?

It seemed unlikely to be the meek little man who spent long hours at his typewriter, composing letters that the editor of the Thorne City Gazetter sometimes published merely because of Jasper's persistence. But when Leeana recalled his poorly concealed desperation the night Miss Maggie informed them of the planned changes in her will, she could think of Jasper as the man to do murder.

The sheriff was talking again, explaining to Jasper about the long search that had been climaxed by Sondra's collapse.

"My men are still out," he continued. "They can't find a trace of your brother. Certainly he isn't here at the house and he hasn't gone to town. We got a line on you pretty quick, up to a point—where you can begin to fill in now. Pronto, so I can call in my men."

"Before they find Peter?" Jasper taunted. "Why, sheriff!"

Jittery as he still was, Jasper had sobered enough to see the spot he was in and to attempt to talk his way out of it. Leeana saw his mistake even if he did not, for Purdy's face went hard. He was curt as he dismissed the taxi driver after taking his name.

"Now then," he said, turning again to Jasper. "Answer me this: Where were you at the time Miss Maggie was killed?"

"I told you. In my room."

"That's a lie!" Purdy shot at him so vehemently that Leeana jumped. "You were on the prowl somewhere in this house. You know Peter was not with your wife because you saw him upstairs. And for that reason you know your wife may be lying, too. Right?"

For a long time Jasper didn't speak. Then he muttered hoarsely, "You know it is," and walked away from them.

LEEANA was afraid to look at the sheriff, afraid of the knowledge she would see in his face. So Jasper was upstairs, too. Maybe he had been listening at the door when Peter gave her the lavaliere. . . . How else could he have known about it? The coppery taste of fear was on her tongue as she watched Jasper go up the stairs and disappear.

"It's closing," the sheriff said softly.

So the trap was closing at last. On whom? Leeana asked herself, would it be Jasper, or Peter, or someone else?

Miss Agatha appeared at the head of the stairs, wraith-like in her long flowing gown and faded wrapper.

"You — you'd best come up, Clem." Her voice seemed to be reaching for hysteria; she put a hand to her lips, as though to pull it down. "It's Sondra. She's—gone."

Thailand to Use Souped-up Rice

BANGKOK — (AP) — Thailand, Asia's greatest rice supplier, is to feed its people with enriched rice. Experts from Switzerland are carrying out a survey of the country's total nourishment needs and the extent of undernourishment caused by consumption of polished rice.

Enrichment machinery will be installed at the farmers co-operative society mills, the biggest in Thailand. Thai helth officials will determine the different vitamins to be used depending on research results. Rice for export to deficit countries will not be enriched.

Loot Causes Trouble For Phony Policeman

WAU, Sudan — (AP) — A Dinka tribesman, impersonating a policeman, arrested a member of the Jur tribe for possessing hashish, a forbidden narcotic. The Jur papid the Dinka $2.80 to let him go, but protested and started a fight when the Dinka demanded the hashish as well. A real policeman came along and arrested both.

Red Skelton New TV Clown

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Red Skelton, one of the few top comedians not yet in television, will take the leap next October. Until lately, Red has been prevented from entering the new medium because of his movie contract. But his deal gives him freedom to chart his own TV future.

When I saw him on the set of "Excuse My Dust," he was brimming over with plans.

"We'll film the programs here in Hollywood on 16mm color film once a month," he said. "We'll have our own theater and use a revolutionary method which I can't talk about yet."

Skelton is giving up regular radio shows for television. Edgar Bergen made a similar statement this week.

"I might do a couple of daytime shows a week," Skelton said. "But nighttime radio will be a thing of the past. No sponsor would be able to afford the $19,000 that my radio show costs."

The comic foresees a revolution in the entertainment industry. The movie workers don't have to worry, he said, but radio will be a shadow (or a whisper) of its former self. He even thinks daytime television will prevail.

Capsule Review: "Cyrano de Bergerac" is one of Hollywood's happiest attempts at a classic. The full romantic flavor of the Rostand play is captured in this well acted film. Although highbrows will cherish it, there is enough action and comedy for casual movie goers, too. Best thing in the film is a full blown protrait of the soldier-poet by Jose Ferrer. It is hard to imagine anyone giving the role as much dash and authority. A film which should last well beyond the current season.

In U. S. publishing history, cook books are second only to the Bible in numbers printed, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Harvesters Win Over Bulldogs, 27 to 12

Guerillas Nip Plainview B Team, 40-0

The Pampa Guerillas closed out their 1950 grid season with a 40-0 triumph over Plainview B team Wednesday afternoon in Harvester Park. Pampa rolled up 294 yards rushing, and the outcome was never in doubt as the Guerillas scored in every quarter.

Ed Dudley, who moved up from the Reapers, put the Pampans out in front with a 15-yard end run in the first 11 minutes of the ball game. Richard Qualls converted to make it 7-0, Pampa.

The Guerillas added another touchdown in the second period when Reggie Mayo circled left end and raced down the sidelines 40 yards to pay dirt. Qualls' kick was good and Pampa led at halftime, 14-0.

Pampa notched four more touchdowns in the second half, two in each quarter. Oscar Sargent scored number three when he knifed through right tackle for 14 yards. Qualls' kick was no good.

Lineman Eugene Bonny got into the scoring picture when he intercepted a Plainview pass on the Plainview 25 and went all the way for a TD. Qualls' kick was good this time to make the score 27-0.

The Guerillas marched 51 yards for their fifth counter. Jimmey Keel climaxed the drive with a five-yard plunge. Glenn Harris passed to Ed Dudley for the extra point, Qualls' kick was good after the TD but the Guerillas were penalized 15 yards to set up Harris' pass to Dudley.

Pampa scored its final marker on a pass interception. Keel pulled in a Plainview pass an scampered 30 yards down the sidelines for the TD. Qualls failed in the extra point try.

McPherson Stands Out in Pampa's Defensive Line

Pampa's undefeated Harvesters kept their victory string intact Thanksgiving Day in Harvester Park when they knocked off a stubborn Plainview Bulldog eleven 27-12, and took over first place in District 1-AA.

The undefeated Harvesters had to battle all the way in notching their ninth straight triumph as Coach Dub Harris' hustling Bulldogs kept the Pampa gridsters and 5,000 chilled, partisan fans "sweating" in zero temperature until late in the fourth quarter on the outcome.

Pampa took a 14-0 halftime lead, but Plainview's Otis Ratliff burst through the middle of the Harvester defense in the thrid quarter and galloped 35 yards to pay dirt. Pampa fans started breathing again when Hayes made it 20-6 with a 27-yard scamper in the fourth quarter, and Cudney's kick was good to make it 21-6 with 7 1-2 minutes left to play. Before the cheering had died down, Plainview crossed the double stripe for the second time. Ratliff passed to end Lee Dye, who got in back of the Harvester defense, on Pampa's 30-yard line. The Plainview end pulled the ball in with an over the shoulder catch and went the rest of the way untouched. Darrel Wilson iced the contest for the Harvesters when he circled right end from the Plainview 9-yard line and went into the end zone standing up.

The Harvester line, led by guard Bill McPherson, outfought the heavier Bulldog forward wall. Pampa's line checked the Bulldog running attack, allowing only 81 yards rushing. McPherson was the fifth man in the Plainview backfield all afternoon, nailing Bulldog runners before they could get to the line of scrimmage. Eddie Scheig, Tommy Martin, Gerald Matthews, Jerry Walker, John Young and Dale Gantz were also hard on Plainview's backfield.

Elmer Wilson and Hayes supplied the offensive punch for Coach Tom Tipps' gridsters. Wilson and Hayes exploded for 254 yards rushing.

Plainview kicked off to Pampa to start the game. After three running plays netted five yards, Hayes punted 14 yards against the wind to Pampa's 42 - yard line. The stiff north wind carried the ball out of bounds. Two running plays netted one-yard for Plainview, but on third down, Ratliff cracked off left tackle for a first and ten on Pampa's 29. Ratliff then passed to Tom Caskey for 18 yards down to the Harvesters' 11-yard marker. Caskey fumbled the ball when De Wey Cudney made a jarring tackle and Scheig recovered for the Harvesters on the 11.

Wilson slipped through left guard for six yards and Hayes blasted through left tackle for 11 to make it first and ten on the 28. Plainview's giant line dug in to hold, and Hayes punted 13 yards to the Buldogs' 49. Quarterback Charles Harris fumbled and Hayes recovered for the Harvesters on Pampa's 43-yard line.

Carl Kennedy bulled his way through left tackle for four, and Wilson split left guard for nine for a first and ten. Cudney threw a short pass to end Roy Pool for three yeards. Hayes picked up one through center, and added 13 more with an off tackle slant to move the ball down to the Bulldog 27.

Kennedy picked up three, and Wilson circled right end for 13, but he fumbled and Plainview recovered. With first and ten, Ratliff attempted to get off a punt but Martin broke through to block the kick. However, a Plainview man recovered on the 12.

The quarter ended and Ratliff had to punt against the wind. Cudney took the punt on the Harvester 35 and returned it to the 26. Hayes clipped off 14 yards around left end down to the Bulldog 12. On first down, Wilson zipped 12 yards around right end for Pampa's first marker. The hipper-dipper halfback spun away from one tackler on the 10 and then dodged two more Bulldogs on the five. Cudney split the uprights to make it 7-0, Pampa.

The Harvesters had one touchdown drive checked when Plainview held on its own 11-yard line. After an exchange of punts, the Harvesters struck through the air for TD number two. Hayes knifed through right tackle for 30 yards but the play was called back and Pampa was penalized 15 yards, and it was first and 25 on Pampa's 25-yard marker. Hayes carried again for 20 yards and Wilson added 12 to move to Plainview's 43. Cudney then passed to Hayes, and the Pampa back raced 40 yards down the east sidelines for six points. Cudney's kick was good and the Harvesters led at halftime, 14-0.

A Pampa fumble paved the way for Plainview's first TD. Caskey recovered a bad pitchout on Plainview's 36. Ratliff picked up two yards and the Harvesters were penalized 15 yards to make it first and ten on Pampa's 47. In two plays, Ratliff carried to the 25-yard line. He then broke through the Pampa line and plowed his way 35 yards for a Plainview counter. The kick was no good.

The Harvester scored their third touchdown when Martin threw Ratliff for a 15-yard loss on Plainview's 40. A bad pass from center forced Ratliff to run with the ball and Martin cut him down when he tried to go around end.

Hayes hit right guard for three and Wilson slipped through right tackle for three more. The Scooter carried to the Plainview 27 for a first and ten. Hayes then burst through right guard and ran right through Plainview's secondary for a touchdown. Cudney's kick was good and Pampa led, 21-6.

Plainview came right back with the kickoff for its second touchdown of the afternoon. With first and ten on their own 38, the Buldogs used the aerial route for a quick TD. Matthews batted down one Ratliff pass, but the Bulldogs used the ariel route for to Dye on his next flip. Dye got in back of the Harvester safety and made a circus catch on the Pampa 30 and went all the way to score. The try for extra point was no good.

Pampa recovered a Plainview fumble late in the fourth quarter to set up its fourth touchdown. Taking over on the Bulldog 27, Hayes racked up five yards through center. Kennedy added two and Hayes shot through left tackle for 11 more to make it first and ten on Plainview's nine. Darrell Wilson then put his name on the touchdown list with a nine yard end run. Cudney didn't get a chance to kick the extra point. Wilson, who was holding, scooped up a low pass from center and raced into the end zone. The point didn't count because his knee was touching the ground.

STOPPING TRAFFIC—Tackles don't always follow the style preferred by coaches. Maryland end Elmer Wingate used a chinlock to stop North Carolina State's Alex Webster. Charley Drazenovich of the professional Washington Redskins pulled down the New York Giants' quarterback, Travis Tidwell, from behind with an armlock. Texas A. and M.'s Gary Anderson went in for the more orthodox approach halting Baylor's Jim Jeffrey. California's Don Robinson threw Oregon State's Bill Sheffold out-of-bounds with wrist and headlock.

Vols Tangle With Kentucky Saturday

NEW YORK — (AP) — Now that the skimpy Thanksgiving Day program is over college football fans are looking forward to tomorrow's big games headed by the Tennessee-Kentucky clash at Knoxville.

The Knoxville classic between the giants of the deep South lost some of its importance when Tennessee jumped the gun and accepted an invitation to play Texas in the Cotton Bowl, but it's still tops.

Unbeaten Kentucky can clinch an appearance either in the Sugar or Orange Bowl by defeating the powerful Vols or holding them to a tight score.

One of the day's fiercest struggles likely will take place at Norman where the Oklahoma Sooners engage the Nebraska Cornhuskers. The Huskers, by winning, could tie the Sooners for the Big Seven title and become prime bowl material — either Sugar or Orange. The solid vote, however, is for Oklahoma, ranked first nationally in the Associated Press poll.

Illinois, which upset Ohio State last week, is favored to close with a victory over Northwestern at Evanston and wrap up the Rose Bowl assignment.

Should the Illini lose, however, thrice - beaten Wisconsin could finish with better Big Ten percentage by trimming Minnesota at Madison. Michigan also retains a slim, outside chance of going to Pasadena as it faces Ohio State at Columbus.

California's all-winning Bears must humble the Stanford Indians at Berkeley to nail down the West Coast crown. In the unlikely event that they fail, and the Washington Huskies down Washington State, it will require a vote of the league membership to select the Rose Bowl host team.

With Texas and the Texas Aggies resting up for their traditional test next week, the top attraction in the Southwest Conference finds Baylor playing SMU at Dallas.

In the East, undefeated Princeton figures to make it a perfect season with a decisive win over Dartmouth. Penn, also unbeaten within the Ivy League, closes against Cornell at Philadelphia. Army, will be idle until it engages Navy next week.

The once-tied Miami Hurricanes play Iowa tonight at Miami. They need to lick the Hawkeyes to make certain of the host job in the Orange Bowl. Other major games Saturday include:

Alabama at Florida, Colgate at Rutgers, Colorado at Colorado A&M, Clemson at Auburn, Davidson at Georgia Tech, Duke at North Carolina, Furman at Georgia, Indiana at Purdue, Kansas State at Oklahoma A&M, North Carolina State at William and Mary, Oregon at Oregon State, Penn State at Pittsburgh, Rice at TCU, Southern Calif. at UCLA, Vanderbilt at Tulane, Wake Forest at South Carolina and Yale at Harvard.

Wyoming, Washington and Lee, Tulsa, Missouri and Columbia featured the Turkey Day activities.

Wyoming, ranked 12th in the AP poll, walloped Denver, 42-12, to take the Skyline Six title.

Washington and Lee won its first Southern Conference championship in 16 years by drubbing Richmond, 67-7. Tulsa, Missouri Valley Conoference kings, whipped Arkansas, 28-13. Missouri upset Kansas, 20-6, while Columbia closed its season with a 33-0 morning rout of Brown.

Virginia Military blasted Virginia Tech, 27-0; Utah swamped Utah State, 46-0; and Trinity drubbed Tufts, 48-6.

Layne Battles Walcoff Tonight

NEW YORK — (AP) —Rex Layne gambles for the whole pot tonight when he takes on tough old Jersey Joe Walcott in a one-shot bid for a crack at Ezzard Charles' heavyweight crown.

It's a giant step for the 22-year-old pride of Utah. If he beats Walcott in their 10 rounder in Madison Sqquare Garden he will by-pass every other contender in the ranks and just about clinch a June title chance with Charles, providing Ez still is the king.

But whipping the cunning, experienced 36-year-old Camden, N. J. Negro is a big order. Old Joe is hoping for a fourth title shot himself.

The oddsmakers, noting growing support for the invader, have whittled the price down to about 4 to 1 in favor of Jersey Joe.

A crowd of about 9,000 may show up. Millions more will watch and hear the scrap via television and radio.

White Deer Clashes With Undefeated Canadian Tonight

Wildcats Favored to Take Game From Underdog Bucks

Canadian's undefeated Wildcats tangle with twice beaten White Deer Bucks at 7:30 tonight in Harvester Park in a Class B North South battle.

Coach Jon Hansard's Cats have measured Coach George Watson's Bucks once this year, 18-7. The Canadians will enter the game as a slight favorite to take the Class B playoff contest.

White Deer and Canadian closed out their practice sessions Thursday morning. Carl McCabe, defensive back for the Bucks, injured a shoulder in Wednesday's drills and is on the doubtful list. However, Canadian also came up with an injury. Randall Lemons received a knee injury in a Canadian scrimmage Tuesday and it will probably sideline him for the season. Bobby Fry, fullback, who has been the main ball carrier for the Wildcats, received a back injury and sprained ankle, and he will probably see limited action tonight.

Coach George Watson stated that he didn't feel that his White Deer squad was dreading the game as much as some of the fans were. He pointed out that for the most part he had some young, but determined, ball players that might be able to give the experienced Wildcats a busy night.

Quarterback Freeman, 137 pounds, will be counted on to guide the Bucks past the Canadians. Freeman does the passing and punting for the Bucks. Two seniors will be playing in the White Deer backfield. They are right half Hussey and fullback Buchanan. The Bucks have only one senior lineman, right end Imel. Imel and Buchanan are co-captains for White Deer.

In the Canadian camp, Coach Hansard is grooming Roy "Butch" Flowers, a freshman, who is out for his first year of football, to replace Randall Lemons.

Kickoff time is 7:30.

Walker Proves That He's Big Enough for Pros

DETROIT — (AP) — Doak Walker, the guy who was "too small" for pro football, is making a runaway of the race for rookie of the year honors in the National Football League.

All the former Southern Methodist star has done this season in the uniform of the Detroit Lions is:

1—Score 91 points to rank second in the pro conference.

2—lead the Lions in ground gaining.

3—handle the team's punting, place-kicking, and kick run-backs.

That's not bad for a 173-pound Texas lad just fresh out of college. Of course the Doaker had 35 games at Southern Methodist to sharpen up his talents before tangling with the giant boys in the pro league, but even so.

Many observers told coach Bo McMillin of the Lions that Walker was too small for pro ball. That was before the Lions signed the slippery five foot, eleven inch halfback.

But Bo gave up Detroit's draft rights to a couple other players to get the handsome speedster.

Now it appears that Walker's emergence to pro stardom may pay off for McMillin in more than one way.

McMillin was under fire in mid-season because of the Lions' losing mark and some observers thought he might be headed out of the organization at the end of the season.

But Doak's success has reflected creditably on the judgement of Bo, who insisted on hiring Walker.

Despite his lack of size, the Doaker has missed only one game because of injuries.

His 91 points are the most ever scored by a Lion. He has tallied eight touchdowns, booted six field goals, and hit on 25 of 28 extra points.

The Chicago Bears are the only team to hold him under six points. He scored only three in that game.

As a runner he has averaged 4.2 yards a try. As a pass receiver he has averaged 17.7 yards on 27 catches.

His 29 punts average just over 40 yards.

All three of those averages are better than the marks he compiled in college football.

Abilene Invited to Refrigerator Bowl

ABILENE — (AP) — Abilene Christian College, the only undefeated, untied college football team in Texas, will decide today whether to appear in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind., Dec. 2.

ACC was extended the invitation yesterday after beating Howard Payne 27-6 to end the season with 10 straight victories.

The Christians would play either St. Norbert of Wisconsin or Gustavus Adolphus of Minnesota in the Refrigerator Bowl.

ONE FOR US!—Canadiens raise sticks triumphantly as a goal is scored by teammate Calum McKay against the Rangers at Madison Square Garden. Bones Raleigh, 7, of the New York team stands over the fallen goalie, Chuck Rayner. Note the puck in the cage. On the ice at the right is Frank King, 20, of the Montreal side. Rayner was hit and injured twice in the third period, but came back to finish.

Tulsa Roars Past Arkansas, 28-13

(By The Associated Press)

Arkansas wound up a weary football campaign yesterday by taking a 28-13 licking from Tulsa but all other Southwest Conference teams still have games to play.

Tomorrow Southern Methodist and Baylor clash at Dallas while Rice and Texas Christian battle at Houston.

Next Thursday Texas and Texas A&M play their annual traditional game at Austin and Dec. 2 Baylor and Rice tangle at Houston and Texas Christian and Southern Methodist at Dallas.

That will leave only the Dec. 9 intersectional clash of conference champion Texas and Louisiana State before the regular season is over. Then will come bowl games for Texas A&M, Texas and probably Southern Methodist, which is being figured for a spot either in the Sugar or Orange Bowls.

Texas meets Tennessee at Dallas Jan. 1 in the Cotton Bowl. Texas A&M plays Georgia at Washington Dec. 9 in the Presidential cup game.

A crowd of 50,000 is due for the Cotton Bowl tomorrow when Baylor and Southern Methodist scrap to see which goes into a tie with Texas A&M for second place. At Houston 25,000 are due to watch Rice and Texas Christian. Rice can make it a three-way tie for second by beating TCU.

ELMER J. MOORE

Moore Combines Education With Shamrock Sports

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock Superintendent of Schools, Elmer J. Moore, has had a long and distinguished career both in education and athletics, and he's mighty proud of his high school's District 2-A Championship and its playoff chance with the Hereford Whitefaces at Pampa Friday.

Moore attended Lubbock high school and Texas Technological College at Lubbock, where he obtained both bachelor's and master's degrees. He was an athlete at both schools, and only week before last was honored as one of the Tech athletes of the first year for Texas Tech, 1925-26. Moore was one of eleven so honored and introduced at the Texas Tech-Tulsa grid game.

He coached at both Levelland and Littlefield, being at the latter when interscholastic competition had to be abandoned in 1942.

"I am naturally proud of Shamrock's achievements in the football world, but I try to use football for the boys instead of the boys for football," Moore asserts. He attends more practices than anyone else in the school system, except the coaches.

Moore continually stresses classroom achievement. His motto is "sportsmanship, than victory," and his athletes are all doing average or above, mostly above, at Shamrock high.

It is his nineteenth year as an educator, his sixth as head of the Shamrock system.

Moore wants full credit given to the excellent Shamrock coaching staff.

"Head Coach Scott McCall, and his assistants — Clarence Morris, B. L. Hill and H. W. Callan —have done an excellent job with our boys," he asserts. "We are proud of their record, and particularly of the sportsmanship they have instilled in our boys.

"We are also grateful to the fans, the newspapers, radio stations and all others who have helped this season.

"We express our appreciation to the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, to Supt. Kinard and to all others who have been so kind in making possible this playoff game."

Moore has the confidence of his staff, his team and his city. At Shamrock they're betting that the school will continue to improve, as it has all during Moore's tenure.

He started out to be a geologist, but became an educator instead. He's never regretted the change, because to him education is one of the greatest callings on earth. He's that kind of a man.

Abilene Trips Payne, 27-6

By The Associated Press

Abilene Christian College has wound up its 1950 schedule with its only un-shared Texas Conference championship in history and its only undefeated, untied season record.

Slated for a low berth in preseason estimates, Garvin Beauchamp's Wildcats completed their schedule in convincing fashion — a 27-6 win over Howard Payne's Yellow Jackets in Abilene yesterday. Wind helped ACC muffle Curtis Davenport's passing, but the Cats, on the throwing arm of quarterback Ted Sitton, managed to gain through the air 165 of their 508 yards.

ACC's defense permitted 77 yards passing and held Payne to a minus 33 rushing. Sitton threw to Pete Ragus and Bailey Woods for touchdowns and scored once himself. Fullback Alton Green's 70-yard scamper gave him 60 points for the season and a tie with McMurry's Brad Rowland for the final scoring leadership. Davenport passed to end Bob Barron for Payne's score.

Texas A&I tightened its final grip on second with an 18-13 victory over winless Austin College in Sherman Wednesday night. Alton Sanders, A&I's one-time defensive fullback, ran over two Javelina tallies.

Howard Payne, McMurry, and Southwestern finished in a tie for third, fourth and fifth. Austin ended in the cellar.

Aircraft Taking Big Bite From Allotment

WASHINGTON — (AP) — More than half of the $8,092,000,000 which the armed forces have obligated for new supplies and equipment in the last four months is going into new aircraft.

This was announced by the Defense Department. Without breaking down the figure between the Navy and the Air Force, it said $4,357,000,000 has been obligated for aircraft.

The four - month period is roughly that in which the nation has been involved in the fighting in Korea.

Wichita Falls Clips Vernon For District Title, 19-6

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Editor

Two of the three defending state champions in Texas schoolboy football are in the battle for 1950 titles.

Thomas Jefferson returned to fight for the City Conference crown yesterday as the Jeffs beat Brackenridge 25-21 for the San Antonio District pennant.

Wichita Falls, which got off the floor to roll in with the District 2 championship, is back in the scrap for the Class AA diadem. The Coyotes whipped Vernon 19-6 yesterday for the district title.

Only Class AA will definitely have a new champion. Littlefield was eliminated in the district race.

The state play-off bracket of the City Conference was completed last night as sunset beat Woodrow Wilson 34-13 for the Dallas District title.

Sunset plays Arlington Heights, Fort Worth District king, at Dallas Dec. 1. Thomas Jefferson meets John Reagan, Houston District champion, at Houston, also Dec. 1. The winners will play the following week for the state championshipp.

Class AA has determined seven district champions—Wichita Falls, Lubbock, San Angelo, Highland Park (Dallas), Texarkana, Conroe, and Baytown.

Lubbock sewed up the District 3 title yesterday by upsetting Odessa 20-7. San Angelo beat Abilene 20-7 for the District 5 title. Highland Park eased over McKinney 32-0 for the District 8 flag. The other champions had been determined previously.

Titles of at least five districts go on the line today and tonight. Breckenridge will be at Cleburne with District 6 in the balance. This also matches two of the five undefeated, untied teams in Class AA. Temple plays at Waco and can win district with a tie or victory. Austin will be at Kerrville to decide the title of District 14. Laredo will play at Alice for the District 15 crown. Harlingen entertains Brownsville and can win the District 16 championship with a tie or victory.

Districts 1, 4, 7 and 11 won't be determined this week. Pampa, which beat Plainview 27-12 yesterday, leads District 1. Bowie (El Paso), Austin (El Paso) and El Paso High are in a virtual tie for the lead in District 4. It will require next week's Austin-El Paso game to decide it. In District 7 there is a huge snarl. Sherman beat Denison 14-7 and Paris nipped Greenville 20-16 yesterday, so Denison and Sherman are tied for the lead and Paris has only to beat Gainesville next week to make it a three-way affair. In District 11 Port Arthur and Port Neches, the leaders, play next week.

Levelland, Coleman, Arlington, Kermit, Athens and La Vega marched into the second round of the Class A state play - off yesterday and last night. Levelland beat Spur 45-21, Coleman downed Ranger 27-0, Athens humbled Mineola 31-0 and La Vega beat Mexia 27-13 in bi-district games.

Today and tonight Hereford plays Shamrock, Albany clashes with Olney, Mt. Vernon plays Atlanta, Jacksonville engages Huntsville, Georgetown tackles Llano. Brenham plays New Braunfels, Alvin takes on French (Beaumont). Wharton plays Karnes City, Sinton meets Donna and South San Antonio plays Pearsall in bi-district games. This will eliminate the title contenders in Class A to 16.

Ohio has more than 10,000 curious mounds built by the ancient moundbuilders.

Taxpayers Burning Up Money

Pampa's taxpayers are just burning their money up.

That's the word from Fire Chief Ernest Winborne. And he should know, because he has been busier than a cat in a mouse factory jumping from one fire to another this month.

Up to Wednesday of this week the fire department has been called to extinguish 22 fires, 21 of them grass fires. The majority of those come on the days when the people don't have to work, such as Sunday. On that day this week there were four grass fires.

Each run that the fire department has to make costs the taxpayers an estimated $5 to $8, according to Chief Winborne.

The main cause of the fires is two-fold. The first is that the people are just plain careless. The second is that they are just plain lazy.

The people are careless in that they don't watch their fires carefully enough when burning grass. If you must burn grass have a water hose handy in case the blaze gets out of control. That may save the fire department and you a lot of trouble.

The people are just plain lazy inasmuch as they burn the grass rather than mow it.

"Although there is no ordinance against burning grass within the city limits," says Winborne, "there is one against burning trash in barrels. About the only law against burning grass is the law of common sense." And many of us fail to heed that important law.

The fire department is a funny department on the city's budget. There is where the greatest saving can be made. If the firemen can be paid for doing nothing, it is fine, because it actually saves money. But when they have to work, fighting fires, it starts costing money, money that could be saved with a little caution and common sense.

Another gripe we have heard against grass and trash fires comes from Mrs. Housewife. The guy next door is continually burning his trash and grass on the day that the head of the house has her washing on the line. A little thinking there might make for more friendly relations between neighbors, too.

Let's quit burning up our tax money. Don't be lazy and don't be careless.

Pampa--- Be Good Hosts

Pampans today have an opportunity to show what good neighbors they can be. Through the efforts of the Sports Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and with the efforts of the Sports Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and with the gracious consent of the schools involved, Pampa has two football games today that could have been played elsewhere.

But the schools of Hereford, Shamrock, White Deer and Canadian consented to play here because they were so cordially invited.

The people of Pampa can live up to the city's motto of "The Friendly City" by turning out a good representation for these games. One is being held this afternoon, the other tonight.

You may not be able to get to the afternoon game now, but try and attend the night game and show these visitors that we appreciate their selecting Pampa over other sites for the games.

Fair Enough-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—There is no more eager sucker in the United States than the author of these sentimental reflections and I find myself wishing that my government, under the general welfare clause, would set up an apparatus through which I could handily make a bet on a horse - race at the nearest P. O. I play roulette and slot-machines at every opportunity and I like to play poker, too, but seldom get a chance because poker is a dying sport, corrupted into an awful mockery by the variations known as seven-toed Pete, up and down the river, baseball and spit in the ocean. The truest remark on the decline of my country was tossed off by Alf Landon at the preliminary drinking just before we went into the Maryland land turtle at one of the rejoicings of the Gridiron Club a couple of years ago. He said the U. S. A. began to go to hell when the people lost their respect for two pair.

Alf is a fundamentalist and a man of strict integrity and it is a point of pride with me that I out-manned him and took down a $15 pot on Roy Howard's yacht in the river at Philadelphia one night, when the Democrats were Trojan horsing the Republican Party with their man, Wendell Willkie. It is, on the contrary, a matter of shame and regret with me that I cannot say I cried him up in 1936 or voted for him because if Alf had won we would have gone back to steady work and would have kept out of the second world war and, of course, the present Frank D. Roosevelt memorial war.

Well, what's done is done.

I am a hunch-player. Everybody plays 17 in roulette, but I play 14 and 28, although, of course, I scatter them around, especially when I am playing with their money. Quite a long time ago in Chicago a couple of L cars jumped the track and touched off a lot of blue-flame and brought the fire-engines. One L car was No. 14 and the other 56. There isn't any 56 on a roulette layout so I cut it in half and bet two on 28.

One time when I was going to Saratoga a girl asked me to buy her a $5 bet on anything in any fifth race whose name began with "L." Her name is Louise, but she said that wasn't the reason. She wouldn't say what the reason was, nor why she insisted on the fifth and no other. As long as I was there no horse with a name beginning with "L" showed up in the entries for any fifth race, but ever since, when I find myself running over the entries, results and odds I also find myself searching for "L" steeds in fifth races. Then, one day in Washington a few months ago, I found four in tomorrow's entries and would have bet them all if the government had set up mutuels at convenient places around town instead of making it necessary to take a taxi way over to the Department of the Interior, which is the last place that I knew of in Washington where you could get any action. Maybe not even there, now, because the young woman that I knew who worked there as a clerk under Harold Ickes and handled the business of the whole department for one of the big books quit several years ago. She got so much on lose bets and so much on win bets and made as much as Ickes, himself. Nobody ever bothered her. All the best people bet in her book.

One night at a party at Georgie Holmes's house I had a headache and that gave me a hunch for a bet on a horse named Aspirin or something like that and this led to another hunch on some other dashing charger, both long shots, which are my preference. So I gave this young lady $20 and asked her to bet it on Aspirin to win and parlay it on the other one to win. That afternoon I left for New York by train. I got the paper at Wilmington, and what do you know? Both of my horses had won. It was some weeks before I got back to Washington. My friend was terribly embarrassed. She thought I was nuts and saved my $20 for me. I know what you are thinking, but you are mistaken. She is a real nice girl.

Well, three of those "L" horses that I wasn't able to bet that day ran out of the money and I never found out what happened to the fourth one because the track was one of those leaky-roof layouts down in West Virginia and I couldn't find the results.

Just the same, I am going to bet "L" horses in the fifth whenever I find them going and find facilities for doing busines. And I am going to bet 14 and 28 on the wheel and crank the slots. I know it doesn't make sense. Does everything have to make sense? That is what is wrong with the world. Looking for social significance in everything.

I never liked the idea of a government lottery, because they are such long shots that winning is just a miracle. I have bought lottery in Italy, Spain, Cuba, Mexico and, I think, Germany and never even heard who did win. I used to buy $250 tickets on the Irish sweep but quit that because they weren't sending the stubs in. How is that for an example of man's inhumanity to man? Some years ago I had a number in the printers' lottery, an old institution in the newspaper business in New York. I had to wait about a year to get a number and I played it every week for several years. I never got a whiff. Then I moved to another office and later I heard that the fellow who took up my number sloughed the racket for several thousand dollars.

Our prejudice against betting on races is unreasonable. It certainly is inconsistent in states which permit mutuels at the tracks. Mere location can't affect the morality of mutuel betting one way or another and I think if we spotted machines around our towns and the state or federal government ran the business, dragging the usual percentage for the public purse, the first rush of novelty business would soon subside into a healthy, steady trade and the effect would be good. It certainly would knock out the horsewire and hand-book rackets and spare us these periodical hell-raisings in the police departments in our big cities.

The free nations of the world have a great advantage in that truth is on their side.

—President Truman.

YOU ARE IMPORTANT

By DAVID BAXTER

PART 2

Nationalism is defined in most dictionaries as representing a "strong national spirit" and aspirations. That leads, of course, to the corporate state, in which government becomes a corporation in which every citizen is a shareholder. Our American corporation, with all citizens as equal owners of stock in it, conducts its business on the representative principle, that is, the stockholders elect their board of directors and a chairman of the board, or president. Other national states run their business according to their own rules. As non-interventionists we are supposed to recognize their right to do so, for the same reason that, as individualists, we are ethically to concede that the next door neighbor has a right to run his household the way he wants to so long as he doesn't butt into our business. In this way we have a maximum of liberty and independence. Again, "the least-governed people are the best-goverened." Thus, our exact opposite is the collectivist, the internationa one-word government idea, th Communists, who want all-government.

The collectivists at present are definitely in the saddle and increasing their power day by day. Eventually, through the United Nations, they expect to complete their work, making the whole world into one giant, communistic nation. This is the Communist International proposed by Karl Marx, Nicolai Lenin and Josef Stalin. In every nation many citizens react against being forced into such slavery. It is not accidental that F.D. Roosevelt and his henchmen referred to American nationalists as "reactionaries" as well as Fascists. This reaction is the common denominator uniting all rightists against all leftists. The rightist trend is always toward more and more personal freedom which could wind up in almost complete anarchy—that is, total liberty. The leftist trend is toward more and more government, more planning, more bureaucrats to enforce the planning and finally total collective dictatorship—the Red International. Take your choice.

Now, your importance or the importance of what you say or do, in the corporate state, is exactly that of the stockholder in a corporation, owning equal shares with all other stockholders. What you do not think and say is not of consequence. What you do think and say is just as vital to the success or failure of the corporation as what any other member of it says. Every citizen has his life savings in the world tied up in the United States, Inc. To make a business succeed it's owners must take an interest in it. When any citizen says something about the running of our business I listen—because my interests are tied up in the company, too. No self-respecting American should ever get the idea that what he or she thinks, says and does isn't important. The fate of the whole business depends on it, by the grace of God.

I noticed in the papers that at the coming elections only about one-fourth of the eligible voters of our nation will be voting to select a board of directors for the next couple of years. Think of that.. Originally we were willing investors in the business, most of us and our grandfathers and great grandfathers actively helping to build it so that every shareholder could prosper. Today most of us are unwillingly paying heavy assessments forced upon us by our so-called "leadership." And who is responsible for that leadership"? Why those who did vote. Today you and I are investing a lot more in our government business than we invest in all private affairs put together. At the same time, three-fourths of us do not give a tinker's dam how that business is run and show it by letting someone else—owning no more stock than we do—elect our executives, our officers. I might say that some of the people who take the greatest interest in running our business for us—and scuttling it, if they can—are not even stockholders. Some of the big labor union dictators, from Bridges on down, were not American citizens when they were up to their necks in our political affairs and ruining our economy. Yet they were—and some of them are—ordering millions of American working men to vote the way they're told. Is movie man Chaplin, who made his pile in this country but is not a citizen, "representing" us when he gallivants around to Bolshevistic congress in Paris and elsewhere as a "delegate" from the United States,

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Russia has already attained a major objective in her struggle with the West by destroying the Roosevelt-Churchill-Truman dream of forging a united and integrated Federation of Europe. It had been hoped that such a political unification would enable the continent to become a third great power with sufficient economic and military resources to regain its historic place in the world alignment of nations.

Although the transformation of the Marshall Plan for civilian and industrial recovery into a straight-out rearmament program will be gradual, Russia's menacing moves in the Far East, the Balkans and Eastern Germany have forced almost complete abandonment of the original Truman-Acheson-Marshall purpose. That is the unpublicized conclusion of top American and foreign experts.

The ECA organization Paul Hoffman built up here and abroad is taking on, slowly but surely, the proportions of a so-called War Production Board. It will work closely from now on with the military in each of the seventeen countries where it operates.

MANPOWER — Rurope is still too shaky to continue civilian reconstruction while it tries to rebuild itself into a military outpost and bastion.

For one thing, as in the United States, the peoples of Britain and Western Europe lack the manpower to restore ordinary industry, agriculture and transportation to planned levels and, at the same time, mobilize men in uniform and manufacture weapons. Even with our aid, they will not have the materials for both schemes.

The statesmen cannot devote the time or energy to organize the customs, monetary and political compacts that were expected to transform Europe into another United States. Instead of achieving unity, they will remain as rival and alien units. For an armed camp and a common army, created hurriedly to meet a specific menace, is far different from a permanent political federation.

Postwar differences among members of the anti-Axis alliance prove that. So does the record of the instrument which was supposed to inspire and implement any European union — the United Nations.

DIVIDED — Russia's basic reason for refusing to enter into the Marshall Plan arrangements, even though she would have been a beneficiary, was to keep Europe weak, vulnerable and divided. Moscow did not want the continent to grow strong and united, knowing that its interests would generally be associated with ours in any future conflict.

Stalin's secondary aim, of course, is to isolate the United States by breaking the old world into bits and pieces that he could pick up at the proper moment. Like all ambitious conquerors, he prefers to deal with many small nations and frightened diplomats, as Hitler did in pre-war days, than with a solid front. Then he will be ready to challenge us.

It is the same policy which Britain pursued in the years of her world supremacy from 1815 to 1915. London's deliberate game was to keep any single natoin on the continent from becoming too powerful, playing France against Germany and vice-versa.

This short - sighted diplomacy enabled Hitler to arise to power. Indeed, it is no exaggeration to say that it helped to produce the two world wars of this century.

FIASCO — Russia, for instance, has made it impossible to inaugurate the famous Schuman plan for industrial integration of Franco-German steel, iron and coal resources.

Although the Schuman pact pact will be signed sometime this week, economic experts point out that it will not go into operation for at least six years, and they ask whether Russia will remain inactive during that critical period.

Besides strengthening central and western Europe, this scheme was designed to terminate once and for all the age-old enmity between Paris and Berlin. It must now remain a blueprint for an indefinite number of years.

Several agreements for customs and payment unions still are in force, but they are only staggering along. The flow of American dollars for military preparations will make them unnecessary, at least temporarily.

Even Churchill, the proponent of European unity, was discouraged over the recent Strasbourg meetiag of the European Confederation. It was a fiasco, he admits.

In short, Stalin has blocked any real unification, and forced his divided enemies to rely wholly upon the United States, with the prospect that this will weaken us in the long run. And that is his overall purpose.

AT-LARGE — The opportunistic Claude Pepper has engaged in operations that are designed to return this former crony of Henry A. Wallace to Capitol Hill. Defeated in last spring's Florida Senate primary by conservative Representative George W. Smathers, the noisy, oratorical Pepper operates on the theory that a good man should not be kept down.

Florida should gain two additional House seats under new redistricting, based on a population increase. Mr. Pepper, of course, disdains the role of the ordinary congresman. So, he is urging friends in the state legislature at Tallahasee to block anys tate-wide redistricting, and force the election of two at-large members. He aims to fill one of those places in the 1952 election under the new system.

NUISANCE — He is said to stand a good chance of success He has many friends at the Florida capital, which is his home city. Moreover, his enemies may prefer to make a deal with him just to keep him from becoming a political nuisance in future contests.

Characteristically, Mr. Pepper is already cashing in on his "at-large" prerogatives. When his use of Army planes for a "lame duck" flight around the world was recently questioned, an obscure diplomat in the Middle East justified it on the ground that Mr. Pepper would soon be a "congressman-at-large."

Since only a few Florida politicians then knew of Mr. Pepper's ambitions and schemes, it is obvious where the diplomat got the news.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

With apologies to Gertrude Stein (a rose is a rose is a rose,) one might truthfully say: "success is success," and make sense.

In other words, the way to become a "success," as the word is usually understood —recognition, money in the bank, etc., is to learn to do SOMETHING successfully — that is, as well as you can possibly do it. And it doesn't seem to make much difference what it is you learn to do well. It will pay offf if you work it right.

Back during the depression, Jules Leopold passed the time working puzzles,—something most people fiddle around with to kill time. But Leopold figured that if he was going to work puzzles he might as well go all out and become an expert at it. He went at his task in earnest.

He began to make it pay off by winning contests. Then, in 1939, he decided he could make more money selling correct answers to puzzles than he could entering contests himself. He founded the Puzzler's Research Bureau, which is still going strong at 8 West 40th Street, New York. Then he branched out and began to devise puzzles for commercial firms. This lead to puzzle promotions for newspapers. During World War II, his puzzles in "Yank" helped entertain soldiers so much that army recreation officers asked him to write a book of puzzles. He did. (At Ease: Two Hundred Hours of Fun and Entertainment.)

His hobby led him into the advertising, entertainment, promotion fields and he has been successful in each. Why? It is no puzzle to Leopold. He just started doing something, decided he'd learn to do it really successfully—and it made him a "success."

LOOKING SIDEWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

YOU SCUFF SOME of South Carolina's red clay off your heels, you put away young thoughts of the enchanting campus of the University of Virginia, you buy a ticket on the Southern Railway and you go to New York. That's the way it starts. And you find yourself, young as spring chives, standing in the middle of Broadway and telling yourself that in five years you will know every shakable hand on it. Employed or not.

That's the kind of dandelion brained thinking that takes all eager kids out of the country and tosses them into the city. You don't know it at the time, but on tha same Broadway block, a dozen ohers from Iowa or Utah or Georgia or Maine, or whatever, are standing there thinking the same, appalled by the same fears, harnessed in the same shyness.

BUT YOU DO it. In five years you do know every shakable hand on Broadway. You know them and you are even beginning to wave a hand at movie stars. You have even taken one to dinner, the theater and supper later, all in one evening and it cost you nine days' pay and you didn't rue a dime of it. Looking back, you realize that only her consideration, and probably amused but slightly touched concern, saved it from costing you a month's pay. Her name was Barbara La Marr, and she was incredibly beautiful. And she gave you, a daff-headed small town Rube, a chance of a life-time.

She rode with you down Fifth Avenue in the back of a Rolls-Royce town car, mink to her ears and that entrancing face alive with good humor. And the traffic light burst into crimson and that shiny Rolls came to a velvet stop and there, on the corner, big as life with her mouth open like the dollar entrance to Kentucky's Mammoth Cave, was the girl from home who never would give you a date, no matter how often you phoned before realizing you were getting brushed off as only you can be brushed in a small town.

YOU TURNED TO the gorgeous creature beside you in the Rolls—her Rolls, by the way, not yours, although its doors were ornamented with a crisp "B." Well, "B" was your initial, too. And you turned, I say, you said in a clear, but not too loud, tone: "Darling, where would you like to have dinner tonight?" Big City man, all spats and malacca cane and a double-breasted vest and a movie star in a Rolls giving you her ears to talk into. You think that calf-head from the sticks didn't lather it on thick for the girl four feet away who wouldn't give him a date? You try it, some time, bub. It's like champagne in fire hydrant-sized bottles, like becoming king after losing your job at the gas station, it's like every prize you ever thought of winning. It's just plain wonderful. Not four reliable bucks in your pocket, but you are hunkered down in the mohair of a Rolls and speaking casual words with the top movie star of her time. Brother! Incineration, that's all! You incinerated that aloof gangler from Main Street. Dear Heaven, what a deal!

Later, after working for 18 months, you put a few bobs together and went back home to visit in your New York clothes. You were courteous and a little distant (not too much, you know, a touch, is all) and you waited for a telephone call and you got it. In 35 minutes net you got it. Would you drop in for dinner one night?

THATS RIGHT. The one who stood and watched you bandy small talk with beautiful, amazing, complex, bizarre Barbara LaMarr. It didn't matter. And you didn't ever tell it. You let her think anything she liked. So you went for dinner and it was fortune blasting on all six. She wasn't aloof any more. And you played it straight and were a man about town, you know, friend of the stars.

YOU TOLD AMUSING little anecdotes. You must have been insufferable and ought to have had a hit in the nose for it. A pup swollen up on turnip greens.

But you didn't think of that, at the time. You only wanted to finish up the incineration job. And you did. That's where the hit in the nose was due. But people are kind, even very young people, and she was charming about your restrained boasting.

And you never thought about it again for 25 years. Until the other night, when you couldn't sleep, and you went up in the unseasonably hot attic and, flicking through memorabilia, you came across a picture of Miss LaMarr.

And you blessed her across a quarter of a century.

The most common symptoms of inflammation of the urinary bladder, which is known medically as cystitis, are pain, the presence of pus in the urine, and frequent urination.

Patients afflicted with this condition often have chills and fever. They may lose weight and suffer from sleeplessness. Examination of the urine will often show blood in addition to the pus.

Acute cystitis is the kind which begins suddently. It usually starts near the base of the bladder but is likely to spread to the other parts of the lining membrane. The wall of the bladder becomes inflamed and is swollen and bright red in color.

Regardless of whether it is caused by germs or by chemicals, the best treatment for acute cystitis is to try to find the cause and treat or remove it.

Chronic cystitis, a condition in which there is long-lasting inflammation of the wall of the bladder with perhaps pain at intervals and pus either constantly or off and on, is another frequent problem. Of course, this condition can result from acute cystitis also.

In such cases expert study not only of the bladder itself, but of the surrounding tissues, including the kidney, must be carried out. One important study can be made by using an instrument with lights and mirrors called a cystoscope. This can be passed directly into the bladder so that the physician can look at the bladder wall.

SHOULD NOT BE NEGLECTED

By one means or another it is usually possible to identify the cause and in many cases to remove it. As a rule cystitis or inflammation of the bladder must be looked upon as a symptom of something wrong elsewhere rather than as a disease in itself.

When such symptoms as those mentioned appear they should not be neglected, since they frequently mean that some serious condition is present which should be promptly diagnosed and treated. With modern methods and newer treatment, the majority can be brought swiftly under control.

Washington . . . by Peter Edson

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON— (NEA) —World War III—if this is it—is being ushered in just like World War II. Before the last war, there were big assurances that there would be enough aluminum for all defense needs. Instead of which, there was an initial shortage.

Here it is again.

U. S. government agencies are now trying desperately to have aluminum production stepped up by 50 percent or more.

This is one aspect of the National Production Authority's 35 percent cutback order on aluminum use which is not generally understood. What the government is now trying to do is get aluminum supply in such condition that the NPA cutback order can itself be cut back, if not completely repealed.

Present production capacity of the U. S. aluminum industry is around 750,000 tons a year. It is divided (roughly) in this manner: 50 percent Aluminum Co. of America, 30 percent Reynolds Metals, 20 percent Kaiser Aluminum.

Discussions between this big three and U. S. General Services Administrator Jess Larson have been aimed at increased annual production of at least 325,000 tons, for the first bite. More, maybe, later.

One important point on this proposed expansion is that the entire $450 million cost would be borne by private industry. There is still some snarl up on terms. Producers have wanted a guarantee that all metal produced would be bought by the government. They have wanted escalator clauses in the contract, guaranteeing that higher prices would be paid if labor or other costs went up. They have wanted guarantees on profits.

So far, the most the government has been willing to guarantee is the private bank loans to finance the expansion.

ALUMINUM INDUSTRY

Out of these discussions, however, has come an appreciation of the need to get a few more companies into the production of aluminum. While the so - called "monopoly" held by Alcoa before the last war has been broken by court action, there is considerable opinion in government circles that the industry needs still more competition.

This presents tremendous problems. It may require 100 percent government subsidy. No small company can undertake the big investment necessary to get into primary aluminum production on its own. First, supplies of bauxite ore must be arranged Then alumina plants must be built. Then aluminum reduction plants. Vast electric power supplies are required, at low cost. Finally, for integrated production there must be mills to make plates, bars, rods and other shapes needed by the fabricators.

Approaches have been made to companies like Olin Corp., Anaconda Copper and American Smelting and Refining, but there have been no deals closed with them.

Two companies have gone into the business in a modest way. Apex Smelting of Chicago has bought one line of rectifers for a new plant in Arkansas. Harvey Machine Co., of Torrance, Calif., has also bought one line of rectifers for a new plant near Hungry Horse Dam, Mont.

SURPLUS EQUIPMENT IN USE

With these installations, the last of the government - owned aluminum production equipment which was considered surplus at the end of the war will be again in operation. Alcoa is operating the old Messina, N. Y., plant. Kaiser has installed equipment from Burlington, N. J., in a new plant near New Haven, W. Va. This plant will use gas as power to generate electricity.

More production can't be put in the Pacific Northwest for lack of electric power. Any new plants will have to be built near new sources of cheap power as well as cheap water transporation for movement of bauxite and alumina. This limits expansion to such spots as the Gulf Coast area, the navigable Mississippi Valley system, or to regions near coal or natural gas deposits where steam power can be generated at mine site or pipeline terminals.

One other possible source of supply is Japan. Before the war, Japan had aluminum capacity of 100,000 tos. Up to half of that is still left. Some repair would be necessary to get it back in production. But if Japan could supply say 35,000 tons, it would greatly reduce the need for the present cutback order.

European production is all needed for use there. A vast Alaskan project by Alcoa had to be abandoned for security reasons.

The recent Canadian production offer of some 400,000 tons turned out to be something of an exaggeration. Only 20,000 to 35,000 tons could have been available this year. The rest was to come from capacity still to be built, financed by U. S. capital.

Officials here preferred to get the expansion in this country. The present program will give them 80,000 tons this year, the rest within two years.

Rescues Practiced In Africa Deserts

TRIPOLI, Tripolitania — (AP) — British and American service personnel have been cooperating on air-desert rescue exercises in Africa's northern wastes. White panels were laid out in the desert to indicate a crashed plane. Then RAF and USAF planes began a search. Two ground parties were set up, one with eight light vehicles, the other with 10 heavier type vehicles for evacuation of personnel.

Communications were centered at the British-operated Castel Benito Airfield. The U.S. has a military air transport unit at nearby Wheelus Field.

Balloon Aids Cosmic Study

BRISTOL, Eng. — (AP) — Atomic experts here are preparing to send a monster balloon 22 miles high in an attempt to solve the mystery of the cosmic ray, it has been disclosed.

Head of the project is Professor C. F. Powell of Bristol University, who won the 1950 Nobel prize for physics.

The giant balloon, laden with photographic plates, will soar up from the university athletic field next spring. High in the stratosphere the plates will trap thousands of the strange particles from outer space.

The particles themselves are too small to be seen under any microscope. But in the photographic emulsion they will leave tracks much like the vapor trails of high-flying airplanes.

By studying these tracks, Powell and his associates hope to be able to deduce facts about the origin and nature of the rays.

Although the Earth is constantly bombarded by millions of the sub-atomic particles, most of them are shattered by collision with atoms of the Earth's atmosphere. In the thin outer stratosphere 22 miles up such collisions occur only one in 127 times as often as at sea level.

Italian Star Gets Journey to Russia

ROME — (AP) — Lamberto Maggiorani, a modest Italian machinist who won film fame as the star of the prize - winning movie, "The Bicycle Thief," has gone to Moscow as a member of an Italo-USSR cultural pilgrimage, "L'Unita," the Communist newspaper says.

Hard times followed fame for Maggiorani and last January his plight reached newspapper front pages. The Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe (CARE) reported that he was penniless, unemployed and unable to buy a birthday present for his 12-year-old son, Enrico. CARE provided a birthday dinner with a package which had arrived from New York. Later it was reported Maggiorani had obtained a job.

The "Unita" announcement said Maggiorani was a member of a delegation of 20 persons making the trip sponsored by the organization for cultural exchange between Italy and Russia.

Q. and A.

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. My son was recently sent to an Army training camp. Will he receive a furlough before being sent overseas?

A. Probably.

Q. Will National Guard units, now taking a 28-week infantry tactics training course, be sent into combat upon completion of that course?

A. Probably not.

Q. Our son was just about to get out of the Navy when enlistments were frozen. We had a good job all set for him. Is there any way to get him out in order to be able to take that job?

A. The Navy makes no provision for releasing men to take better jobs in civilian life.

Q. I am very sick with TB. But the doctor says I will be all right if I don't worry about anything. However, my husband is in the Air Force and I have begun to worry about his being sent overseas. This is making me worse. Is there anything I can do to get a guarantee that my husband will not be sent overseas so that I can continue to get well?

A. The only chance is for your husband to apply for discharge from the Air Force on grounds of hardship. As long as he is on active duty he is subject to service any place they might want to send him.

Q. Our son was recently drafted. He hadn't finished paying for a new car he bought. Now he can't keep up the payments. What can he do?

A. The Army will help him adjust the matter so that he can make payments which he can afford. Or it might turn out that he shouldn't own a car in the Army.

Q. In 1945 I was relieved of active duty with a Certificate of Service. I was a junior grade warrant officer. Am I eligible to be recalled to active duty?

A. You are eligible but the Army is not recalling men in that group.

Nurse Tells How Hadacol Was So Helpful To Her

Supplied Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin Which Her System Lacked

Mrs. Jennie Lee Adele, 412 N. 27 St., East St. Louis, Ill., a nurse, says she wishes she had found out about HADACOL sooner because since taking HADACOL she feels so good. Mrs. Adele was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Adele's own statement: "I have been a nurse for over 14 years. My food never seemed to agree with me. I heard one day how so many folks were being helped because of HADACOL. I tried it and after 3 bottles I could tell a big improvement. Now I eat anything I want—sleep well and I am full of energy."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results

HADACOL does not bring just symptomatic relief. HADACOL now makes it possible to actually relieve the cause of aches and pains in the shoulders, legs and arms, certain nervous disturbances, and a general run-down weakened condition due to deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron in your system.

HADACOL not only supplies deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin but also helpful amounts of important Calcium and Phosphorus—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

Why These Vitamins and Minerals Come in Liquid Form

There's a very good reason why HADACOL comes in special liquid form. These precious Vitamins and Minerals are more easily and quickly absorbed into the blood stream this way — ready to go right to work. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.

Don't Be a 'Doubting Thomas'

After reading Mrs. Adele's wonderful experience with HADACOL — how can you doubt that this great new nutritional formula will help you if your system lacks Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron, and Niacin?

What HADACOL did for Mrs. Adele, it can do for you if you're troubled with aches and pains in the shoulders, legs, and arms, certain nervous disturbances, insomnia when due to an upset stomach, stomach distress and a general run-down weakened condition due to such deficiencies.

So what are you waiting for? Don't you see that HADACOL is the kind of product you need — the kind you should buy and the kind you should start taking immediately!

Sold On a Strict Money-Back Guarantee

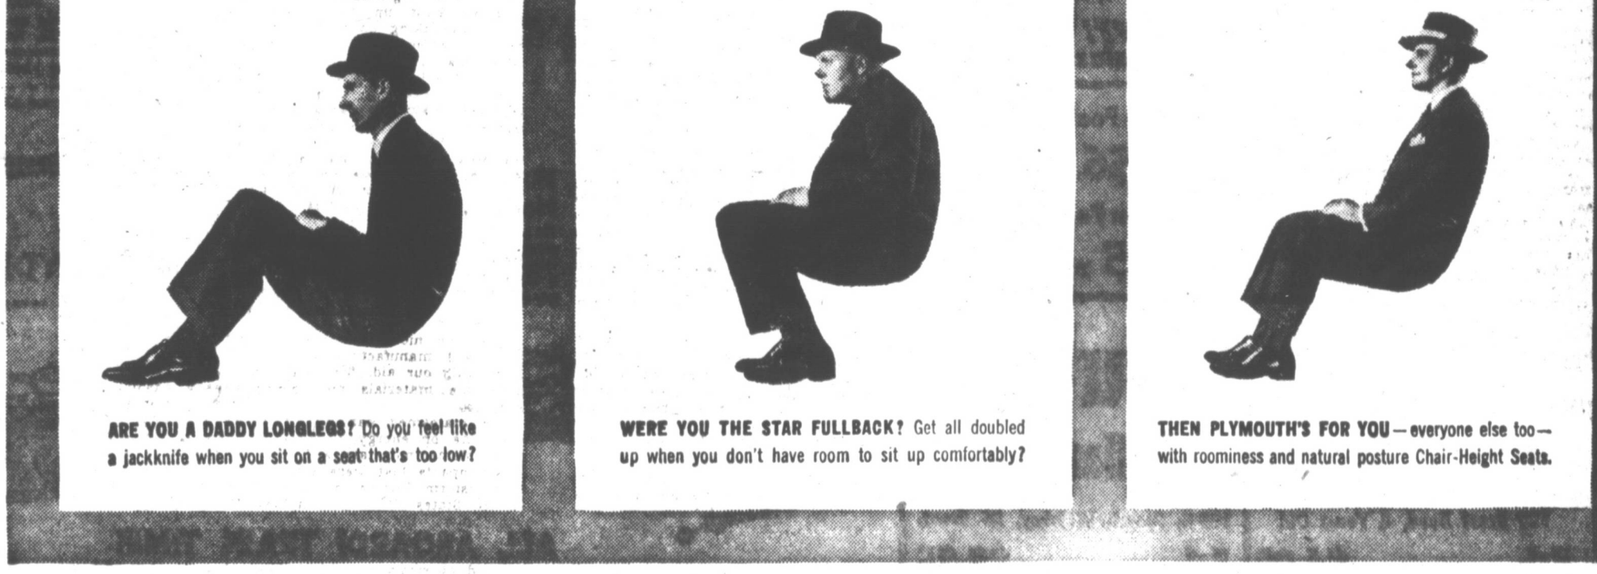

HADACOL even helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to course through your body, carrying these great health-building elements to every body organ. No wonder HADACOL helps you feel wonderful.

Be fair to yourself! Give yourself a break if you have such deficiencies! Why continue to drag yourself around — a burden to yourself and your family — when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drugstore if you suffer a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron. This great HADACOL is inexpensive, too — costs only a small amount a day. Trial size, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size $3.50. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

you'll find a big difference when you ride on chair-height seats

ARE YOU A DADDY LONGLEGS? Do you feel like a jackknife when you sit on a seat that's too low?

WERE YOU THE STAR FULLBACK? Get all doubled up when you don't have room to sit up comfortably?

THEN PLYMOUTH'S FOR YOU—everyone else too—with roominess and natural posture Chair-Height Seats.

. . . another reason why Plymouth owners are in a class by themselves!

The average Plymouth passenger sits 12% higher than the average passenger in lowest-priced Car A, 16% higher than the average in lowest-priced Car B! This means:

MORE KNEE ROOM! Plymouth seats tuck right up under your knees, keep you at natural sitting level. This full support adds greatly to your comfort.

MORE EYE ROOM! Plymouth seats give all a deeper view of the passing scene, and they give the driver a closer view of the road in front of the car.

MORE LEG ROOM! Rear seat passengers have a full inch more leg room than in Car A, and 3½" more than in Car B. Front seat passengers in a Plymouth have up to 2" more than in Car A, and 1¼" more than in Car B.

MORE FOOT ROOM! Rear seat passengers have almost 2" more vertical foot room under the front seat than in Car A, and a full 3" more than in Car B.

MORE CHEST ROOM! Whether the seat is adjusted forward or backward, the driver of a Plymouth has more chest clearance than he would have in either Car A or Car B.

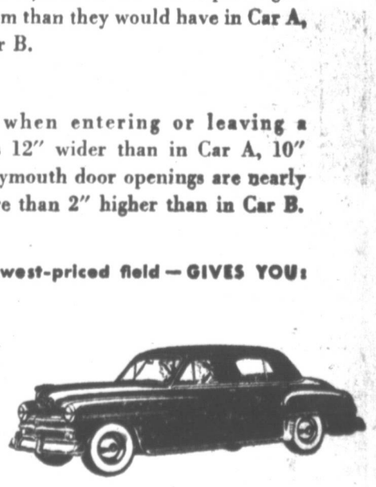

MORE HEAD ROOM! In a Plymouth, driver and passengers enjoy almost 2" more head room than they would have in Car A, half an inch more than in Car B.

MORE SHOULDER ROOM when entering or leaving a Plymouth! Rear door swings 12" wider than in Car A, 10" wider than in Car B. Both Plymouth door openings are nearly 3" higher than in Car A, more than 2" higher than in Car B.

ALSO, ONLY PLYMOUTH — in the lowest-priced field — GIVES YOU:

The matchless comfort of the AIR PILLOW RIDE. The smoothness and quietness of FLOATING POWER engine mountings which, combined with big Super-Cushion Tires and many other Plymouth exclusives, bring smiles to the miles No wonder so many Plymouth owners say: "The next car I own will be a Plymouth, too!"

Plymouth owners are in a class by themselves in SERVICE too. Skilled technicians, enrolled in Plymouth's MASTER TECHNICIANS SERVICE CONFERENCE, are specialists in helping to keep your car running better, longer.

Look up your nearby Plymouth dealer today—he's a good man to know!

Back Lines in Army Push Up

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — There is an old Army saying that soldiers in the rear areas "never had it so good."

It appears likely there are going to be some changes made. Hereafter, there will be fewer soldiers pushing pencils and counting sox in the rear echelons and a lot more up front with the combat units.

America hasn't enouugh fighting divisions, considering the number of men it is training.

The word was passed down from Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of the Army field forces, in a sober estimate of what the United States is going to have to do about fighting manpower.

He said that the American GI — used to the best of everything — is going to have to get along with a lot less service. It has been necessary to detail about four men in the rear echelons to serve one fighting man up forward.

This, Clark says, contrasts with a Russian army ratio of four fighting men and only one man backing him up in the rear areas.

Our manpower situation isn't such that we can afford to give these odds," the general said at a press conference. He is on the coast inspecting Sixth Army installations, particularly troop training at such places as Fort Ord, Camp Cooke, etc.

"We want to live well when we can," said the general, explaining he wasn't criticizing the system that has existed in the Army.

"But we can't live as well any longer. We've got to squeeze out such things as special services, information and education, excessive transporation and the like. But he indicated that major cutbacks so as to get more troops into combat units would require something pretty drastic.

Australia Eyeing Uranium Discovery

DARWIN, Australia — (AP) — The thinly-peopled Northern Territory of Australia may hold vast deposits of uranium ore. Already five radio-active ore deposits have been found — two in the northern part of the territory at Rumjungle and Ferguson River — and three smaller ones in the Alice Springs area.

Government rewards have been paid to the finders of the Rumjungle and Ferguson River deposits. There is one important point about these two discoveries of radioactive deposits. The two places are 150 miles apart, yet rock formations are similar. It could mean that more deposits of high grade radioactive ore are available along this 150 mile stretch of little-known country between Rumjungle and Ferguson River.

Lack of 'Gimmies' Said an Indication Of Psychosomatic

HOUSTON — (AP) — Ever feel like no one wants to give you anything?

Too bad. That's a sign of a psychosomatic.

Psychosomatics, explains Dr. O. Spurgeon English, are persons who have bodily pains, one or more, that are directly caused by emotional disturbances.

The professor of psychiatry says headaches and cardiac disturbances are among the common pains that usually develop from emotional disturbances.

Persons most subject to these diseases, he said, have the following attitudes:

No one wants to give me anything.

Life has not been good to me and I'll be darned if I'll enjoy it.

I wish I felt as good as other people.

Some people, he commented, just don't have any talent for living happily.

Tax Increase Raises Rubber Planters' Ire

KUALA LUMPUR — (AP) — Many rubber planters in Malaya say they'll sell out and leave the country if the federal government carries through a proposed boost in income taxes. That is the report of the magazine "The Planter."

Referring to a falling off of rubber sales to the United States, the publication said:

"America has reopened many of her synthetic plants and, even were the Korean war finished tomorrow, she is unlikely to close them for a long time."

Driver Fined for Striking Twice

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Pedestrian Robert Green says it was bad enough to be hit by an automobile but when the driver got out and punched him in the jaw — that was too much. much.

Green told Magistrate E. David Keiser that's what motorist Frank Alesi did Sunday night when Green asked him "why don't you look where you're going?"

Alesi told the magistrate his car did not strike Green but he admitted striking him "when he cursed at me."

Keiser held Alesi under $400 bail for court on charges of assault and battery.

When asked to prepare a statement concerning the proper use of time, a group of young people came up with these words: "Your time is God's time."

Grown-ups may well heed this truth.

One's time is really not one's own. Even though budgeted to include only such things as business, golf, gardening, travel or what not, it is still God's time.

And when we fail to include in our time budget a few hours for the Church and its constructive program, then the One from whom we get all the time we have is being ignored and we are losing priceless returns.

Time given to the Church and the enterprises for which it stands is an investment that pays dividends for all the other worthwhile things we have to do.

Try it. Take an interest in some Church—in the Bible—in an activity on the high level of service to others—and see how much more productive all of your time will be.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Christian Ownership Is Discussed

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

One of the most remarkable statements in the New Testament is that by St. Paul in the closing verses of I Corinthians 3.

In that chapter he has been rebuking the divisions and the partisan attitudes that had arisen among the disciples in Corinth, some saying, "I am of Paul"; others, "I am of Apollos"; and some even making Christ a partisan leader with the words, "I am of Christ."

Paul gives them wise words concerning the common work of the Gospel, in which they were all engaged, and the tests by which one's work must be tried, with a subtle rebuke, also, of those who were trusting in their own wisdom.

But more magnificent is his conclusion: "Therefore let no man glory in men: for all things are yours; whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours; and ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's."

Just what, and how much, did Paul mean by that strange and sweeping statement? It is in line with much that he wrote elsewhere, as when he referred to these same Corinthian Christians "as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things."

How could Christians be poor, and yet possess all things? We get a glimmering of the truth when we reverse the order of the verses in 1 Corinthians 3, and start with God.

It is evident that all things belong to God. The notion that some things "belong to Caesar," and do not belong to God, is an utterly mistaken notion, due to an entire misinterpretation of that incident in which Jesus asked for a coin, and turned what was intended as an embarrassing question back upon those who sought to trap Him.

Second in Paul's logic is that the things of God belong to Christ. (See Ephesians 1:21-22). The third step is that through Christ these things are ours.

Of course, Paul is speaking in spiritual, and not in materialistic language. Nevertheless the Christian ownership of which he writes is, or can be, very real.

Material money may mean much if one is hungry, and hasn't a cent in his pocket. And foolish people who prate about the blessings of poverty, have no realism about sickness and misfortune, with no money to pay the doctor, or to meet acute needs. The Bible has a great deal to say about the blessings of plenty and abundance.

But, when that is said, there are a thousand evidences that the material ownership of wealth may not be the real ownership. The classic pot who wrote, "Cleon hath a thousand acres, but the landscape I" stressed this fact; and a popular song tells how "the best things of life are free."

It was such things in a larger and Christian sense that Paul had in mind when he wrote of the limitless life and possessions of the Christian who has found "the unsearchable riches of Christ."

Light House Mission Has Two Pastors: Mrs. MacDonald and Miss Ruby Burrows

The Light House Mission, 1124 S. Wilcox, has two pastors; both are women. They are Mrs. Gladys MacDonald and Miss Ruby Burrows.

The first services were held at the New Town Cabins, 1301 S. Barnes, owned by Mrs. J. L. Orr. This was in 1946. Children made up the majority of the attendance the first few months.

Christine Hawthorn, Mrs. Ollie Miller, Mrs. MacDonald and Miss Burrows sponsored this first work. Other workers from the Assembly of God Church and the Church of God assisted in the organization of the mission.

As the work and members grew, there was need for a larger building and in 1948 Bob McCoy donated two lots where the mission now stands. This same year, an army barracks was purchased from the Pampa Air Base. Rod MacDonald financed the building.

Sunday school was first organized in October, 1948. Since that time many adults have become members. The Sunday School record attendance is 103.

Some seats and other furniture were donated by C. E. Cary and E. L. Good. The pulpit was donated by the Church of God.

The Light House Mission is an independent church. It has about the same doctrine as the Assembly of God.

There are six Sunday School classes. Sunday School teachers are Minnie Cole, G. M. Sandel, Rod MacDonald, Mrs. Ralph Blakemore, Mrs. M. M. Stewart and Mrs. Oswald Cook.

Mrs. Sandel is pianist for the church. Her husband is in charge of the Sunday afternoon services held for prisoners at the city jail.

Mrs. Ralph Broadbent is in charge of the Children's Church held each Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Ralph Blakemore is president of the Women's Missionary meeting each Wednesday at 2 p.m.

At the present time, the Light House Mission is holding a revival meeting with J. B. Watts of Daylight, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Watts and family were formerly members of this church. They are now building a church in Daylight.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 26.

The Golden Text is: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong" (I Corinthians 16:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand" (Matthew 12:25).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus cast out evil and healed the sick, not only without drugs, but without hypnotism, which is the reverse of ethical and pathological Truthpower" (page 185).

Holiday Luncheon For Martha Class

A Thanksgiving luncheon at the First Baptist Church at 1 p.m. Tuesday was attended by active members of the Martha Class and members in service.

Table decorations and place cards caried out the Thanksgiving motif. Mrs. R. W. Tucker gave the invocation and Miss Odevern Spencer sang "Thanks Be to God," accompanied by Mrs. R. Virgil Mott. The devotional was presented by Mrs. J. H. Richie.

Chairmen were Mrs. M. L. Epps and Mrs. A. A. McElrath. Others present were Mrs. T. J. Owen, Mrs. W. P. McDonald, Mrs. Hulle Beard, Mrs. H. N. Stokes, Mrs. O. B. Schiffman, Mrs. E. H. Eaton, Mrs. W. W. Estes, Mrs. Clyde Martin, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. R. W. Tucker, Mrs. Willie Roland, Mrs. J. E. Winborne, Mrs. Chester Johnson, Mrs. O. W. Hampton, Mrs. W. R. Dunn, Mrs. J. H. Fuller, Mrs. A. J. Kiser-Hogge Rehearsal Dinner Held Thursday

Miss Helen Kiser and William R. Hogge, Amarillo, were honored at a rehearsal dinner Thursday. The dinner was hosted by Miss Kiser's aunt, Mrs. J. P. Schramm of Leavenworth, Kans., in the R. J. Kiser home, 1309 Christine.

The couple will be married Saturday morning in Holy Souls Church.

The table was covered with an imported linen cloth and decorations were in the Thanksgiving motif. Places were marked with a small picture of the bridal couple and place cards.

Attending were Misses Joan Sawyer, Anne Moseley, Colleen Chisholm, Kay Cummings of Oklahoma City; Marilyn Jilka of Salina, Kans.; and Robert Detten, Rabey Funk, Cyril Neusch, Amarillo; Frank Hutson, Boston, Mass.; Bill Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Braly, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hogge and Jimmy, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kiser, the very Rev. Otto Meyer, the Rev. Anthony Soklich, the hostess and honored guests.

Child's Colds
To relieve miseries without dosing, rub on VICKS VAPORUB

Mrs. Mildred Hill was hostess to a meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild in the First Methodist Church parlor Monday night.

Mrs. Betty Wright was in charge of the program, which was as follows: a song was followed by "Building a Worship Program" by Mrs. Orion Carter; "Christian Symbols" by Mrs. Betty Wright; the devotional, "The Praying Hands," Mrs. Carter.

The room was decorated with candelabra and other symbols, which were discussed. Posters of the various symbols were on display.

The hostess served refreshments to 10 members and two visitors; Mrs. H. W. Clodfelter and Mrs. Carter.

MRS. SMITZER WAS BEATING IT OUT OF THE COUNTRY WITH THIS ATOMIC INFORMATION.
SHE WORKED IN RESEARCH UNTIL WE CAUGHT UP WITH HER.

ONE OF OUR F.B.I. BOYS WAS WITH MRS. SMITZER WHEN YOU TRIED TO RETURN HER BAG.
SHE REFUSED IT BECAUSE IT CONTAINS THE EVIDENCE WE NEED TO CONVICT HER.

YOU'VE DONE A SERVICE TO YOUR COUNTRY ...ALL OF YOU.

Hanford Plutonium Pile Said Safest Spot From Radiation

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

RICHLAND, Wash. — (AP) — On the records, the safest working place in the world is the Hanford Atomic Reactor plants here making plutonium for bombs.

"Unprotected," the records read, "a man could not safely come within a quarter of a mile of such a nuclear chain reaction as takes place in a Hanford pile."

But no Hanford worker ever has been harmed by these radioactive rays.... Only a few have gotten in an entire year as much radioactivity as having your chest x-rayed. X-rays are one form of radioactivity.

Thick concrete walls, furnish most of the protection, but there are jobs in which workers walk right into the rays.

Here is a case, in a plant where fresh plutonium is separated from forty kinds of radioactive substances. Men with periscopes, magnifying lenses and powerful lights detected a piece of apparatus out of order. A remote control crane lifted it over a wall to an area free from rays. But the piece itself was emitting powerful gamma rays.

A crew taped paper on the floor where the piece was to rest, to save the floor from getting radfoactive. The distance the rays would travel from the apparatus was calculated, and a safety fence set up at the limits of danger.

The pice had to be repaired. First a crew trained on an identical piece of apparatus, to save time when they came to the "hot" apparatus. As much as eight hours on a job of repairs has been saved by this foresight. Whether the rays hurt you depends on how long you stay, and how close.

After training, the crewment stripped. Those with cuts or scratches on hands and arms were rejected. The others dresed in two pairs of white coveralls, two pair of gloves, rubber and leather, cloth hats fastened down over hair, and rubbers over shoes. They wore masks furnishing their own oxygen for breathing.

At the fence the men found their tools already laid out at points nearest each tool's probable need. All the tools were long-handled. Part of the crew stepped inside the fence, into the direct rays, wheich then bathed their bodies. New men on this kind of job say they feel the rays pricking their skin. That seems to be nerves, because experienced men never feel anything.

A timekeeper watched them, checking how much of the rays each worker got. Presently he signaled one to come away. That man left the job, because he had received all the rays permissible on one day. One of the reserves took his place. So it went until the job was done.

Bl that time every man's clothes were presumed to be covered with radioactive atoms. The crew went to a room where they stripped these clothes, washed, and had their bare skin tested for radioactivity.

Some had radioactivity on their hands, the parts which had been closest to the "hot" apparatus. These had to scrub several times with special green soaps and other chemicals.

The amount of radioactivity permitted these workers is less than the natural radioactivity which everyone gets from the air at one mile altitude. Dust and air might get radioactive in the Hanford plants, and for this robot monitors detect the contamination long before it is dangerous. The robots blow whistles, ring bells and flash lights in warning.

To make absolutely sure, the United States Atomic Energy Commission requires of the few thousand Hanford workers about two-and-a-half million separate measurements for radioactivity each year.

Fever Running High at Ranch For Christmas

Each of the 132 boys at the famous Boys' Ranch near Amarillo, is eagerly looking forward to the Christmas holidays. To a few of the boys, it means a chance to go home to visit families, relatives and friends.

To the boys who have no home to go to, it means a big Christmas party at the ranch, complete with tree, gifts and turkey dinner. It will also mean a few special privileges for the day.

For many of the boys, it will be their first real Christmas. Never before have they had the chance to enjoy the holidays with a family or to know the fun of opening presents on Christmas morning.

It is planned to give each boy a Christmas box containing two pairs of levis, one pair of dress shoes, two plaid shirts, two pairs of heavy sox, two pairs of dress sox, two suits of underwear, a box of candy, and an appropriate gift. The box also will contain essentials such as a comb, a toothbrush, and tooth paste.

Many of the younger boys plan to ask Santa Claus for roller skates as there is now plenty of space available for skating. The boys themselves have poured over 1000 feet of concrete sidewalks between the ranch buildings which offer good surfaces for roller skating.

Of course, there are other gifts on the list of requests, including the inevitable B. B. guns, bicycles, games, and marbles.

As each week passes, the excitement grows, and the staff and directors are working to see that all the boys at Boys' Ranch have a truly Merry Christmas.

Coal Shipping Aids Soviet Propaganda

VIENNA — (AP) — Sovietized Eastern Europe loses no opportunity to make Communist propaganda in the West—even in its trade agreements. Hundreds of thousands of pieces of coal, just delivered from Poland, bear the imprint of the hammer and sickle. A Vienna newspaper commented: "The Communist coal faces the same fate as Communist newspapers, brochures and leaflets—they will go into the oven."

FIFTEEN PER CENT FOR DEFENSE—The Newschart above gives an example of how the Committee for Economic Development's proposed "defense profit" tax would work, as opposed to an "excess profits tax." The CED believes that its straight 53 per cent tax should run during 1951 only, to be replaced by a sound permanent plan. The flat rate would allow corporations making more than $100,000 to avoid the confiscatory "excess profits" tax rates on their profits over a "normal" figure. The flat rate, CED believes, would prevent the "seriously inflationary features of the excess-profits tax" and would produce $3 billion more in revenue than the present tax, leaving corporation profits at their 1947-49 levels.

Choir Gives Mixed Concert for Rotary

A mixed concert including religious and novelty numbers was presented Wednesday noon by the Pampa Senior High School A Cappella Choir to the Pampa Rotary Club.

Under the direction of Ken Baumgardner the choir sang "Beautiful Saviour," "Prayer of Thanksgiving," "Listen to the Lambs," "Deep River," Lift Up Your Heads," "Cynthia," and "Firefly."

Between numbers the senior girls' sextette sang "There's Something About a Soldier," followed by the boys' quartet singing "Keep to the Middle of the Road," and the junior girl's sextette singing "Calm is the Night."

Prior to the program Rotary President Fred Neslage read a letter of thanks from Boys Ranch for the new policy of the Pampa club in donating $1 per member per month towards support of the ranch.

Ethiopia Planning Repair for Roads

ADDIS ABABA — (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie now plans a major repair program for Ethiopia's highway. Mussolini built more than 2,000 miles of surfaced roads in Ethiopia, at an estimated cost of $300,000,000.

Some of the highways cost as much as $40,000 a mile, because of extremely difficult terrain. More than 60,000 Italian laborers at one time were engaged in the great road program. The prize achievement was a 700 mile road from Addis Ababa to Asmara in then-Italian-held Eritrea. Passing through some of the most formidable parts of Africa, this road ranks among the greatest roadbuilding achievements in the world. It crosses deserts and 10,000 feet high mountains.

Ethiopia has asked the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development for financial help on the road program.

HERE'S GOP '52 CANDIDATE—The gent pictured above was created by taking photographs of the five men most prominently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952 and superimposing them to make this single composite. The men were Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio; Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Sen.-elect James H. Duff of Pennsylvania; Gov. Earl Warren of California and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The result seems to be the portrait of a solid, substantial citizen who might well be the embodiment of Republican conservatism.

BUTTONS AN' BEAUX — SHARON SMITH

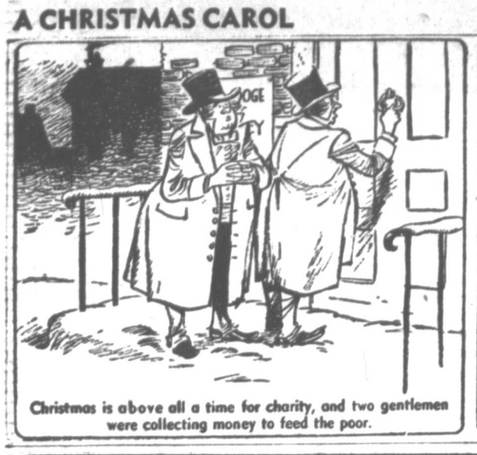

"I wish Jasper would ask for a date just to give me the satisfaction of saying yes"

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

ALL IN A LIFETIME — By FRANK BECK

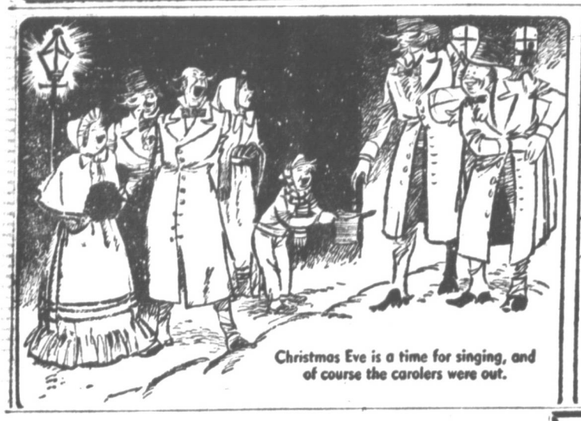

Christmas is above all a time for charity, and two gentlemen were collecting money to feed the poor.

But when they asked Scrooge for a subscription to help the unfortunate, he screamed at them: "Are there no prisons? No workhouses?"

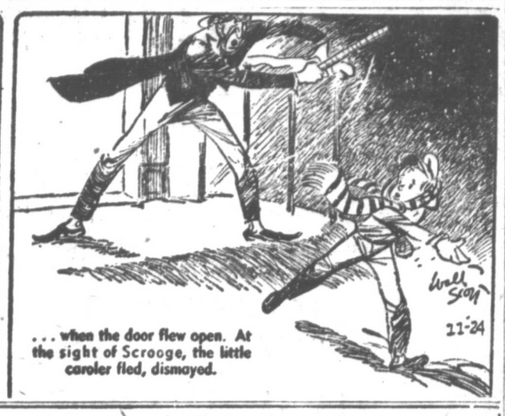

"Many would rather die than go there," protested the gentlemen.
"All the better!" cackled Scrooge. "Let them die and decrease the surplus population!"

Christmas Eve is a time for singing, and of course the carolers were out.

But one very small caroler made a very large mistake. He got as far as "God rest you merry, gentlemen, let nothing you dismay . . ."

. . . when the door flew open. At the sight of Scrooge, the little caroler fled, dismayed.

Synthetic Fuel in Practical Amounts

LOUISIANA Mo. — (AP) — Gasoline is being produced from coal "in practical quantities" at the U.S. Bureau of Mines plant here.

The department has disclosed here that more than 225,000 gallons of gasoline have already been produced at its $25,000,000 coal-to-oil demonstration plant.

Among the allied products which also can be produced from coal are diesel oil, jet fuel and various chemicals for use in such materials as anti-freeze products, paint solvents, wood preservatives and nylon stockings, according to bureau scientists.

The bureau said the purpose of the plant was to determine the feasibility of establishing a synthetic oil industry in this country to be operated by private industry to meet the challenge of dwindling U. S. reserves of natural petroleum.

Carl Schaffrin, 217 Perry St., St. Charles, Mo., says there are some folks in this old world who feel good and there are other folks who feel bad. The folks who feel good he wants to congratulate, but for the folks who feel mighty bad he says he wants them to read what he has to say and then take a word of advice — take HADACOL if you suffer from a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron.

Here is what Mr. Schoffrin has to say about HADACOL since it overcame the effects of such deficiencies in his system: "I have been a shoe cutter for over 32 years—I now work for the Boyd Welsh Shoe Co. in St. Lou. For quite some time now I haven't had any appetite at all — seemed like I didn't have enough energy to do my work. I was tired all the time — and really didn't enjoy doing anything. It affected my work too. Then I heard how other folks who took HADACOL had increased their appetite and seemed to have a limitless amount of energy. I tried HADACOL and it is amazing what a change it has made. Now I feel like eating everything on the table, my disposition is 100% better and my work — in fact, everything I do I now enjoy. For an entirely new outlook on life I recommend HADACOL."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results

HADACOL does not bring symptomatic relief. HADACOL now makes it possible to actually relieve the cause of nagging pains, lack of energy, lack of appetite, and a general run-down weakened condition when these are due to such deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron in your system.

HADACOL not only supplies deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron, and Niacin but also helpful amounts of important Calcium and Phosphorus — elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

Why These Vitamins and Minerals Come in Liquid Form

There's a very good reason why HADACOL comes in special liquid form. These precious Vitamins and Minerals are easily and quickly absorbed into the blood stream this way — ready to go right to work. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.

Now don't keep on wondering if HADACOL will help you. If you have such dificiencies—HADACOL WILL HELP YOU — just as it had thousands of grateful souls who were so troubled. GIVE IT A FAIR TRIAL! Remember HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. And so inexpensive. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.
