Tax Office Consolidation Ruled Legal

The City of Big Spring and Howard County can enter into a contract for a consolidated tax collection office, according to state Attorney General Crawford Martin.

In a three and a half page opinion received Wednesday afternoon by W. H. Eyssen, county attorney, Martin said it does not appear necessary to amend the Big Spring city charter to enter into the proposed contract.

The Attorney General also held that the fee to the county commissioners court should not exceed one per cent of the taxes collected.

"It looks like we're going to be able to go with it, although I haven't had a chance to digest the opinion," Eyssen said.

The opinion was asked in early December, following a joint meeting of representatives of the city, county and school district. General acceptance of the idea was indicated by those present, if "the mechanics can be worked out."

"I am gratified that the opinion of the attorney general indicates we can legally combine the tax assessing and collecting of the city and county," Bill Tune, county commissioner, Pct. 4, said this morning. Tune launched the local effort to combine the tax offices when he made the motion, approved by the county commissioners court, to invite the city and school district to begin negotiations for a combined office.

"I feel a combined office would result in substantial savings to the taxpayers, by eliminating duplication of efforts," he said. "Also, a centrally located tax office in the courthouse, could provide more convenience to the taxpayer, who now must go to three different locations to pay city, county and school taxes."

Jimmy Morehead, city commissioner, was also pleased with the decision. He made the motion, approved by the city commissioners, to enter into the consolidation talks.

"I believe savings for all agencies can be realized by a combining of tax office operations, and still give the public comparable, and probably, better service," he said. "I believe that the cooperation among the various agencies is important in many other areas as well, and would like to see it blossom."

He stressed the economy and the convenience of a combined tax office for all agencies.

County Judge Lee Porter and City Manager Larry Crow both refused to comment this morning on the opinion, saying they had not seen it nor heard a report on it.

"I just really don't feel free to discuss it," Crow said. "I would like to wait until I see a copy of the opinion before I comment."

Judge Porter said he would wait until Eyssen gave his opinion on the report before making a public statement. "We've got to decide exactly what Crawford said."

No Signs Of Life In Wreckage

CORRIENTES, Argentina (AP) — A search plane today sighted the wreckage of a twin-engine Argentine airliner that left here Wednesday night with 38 persons aboard on a 90-minute flight to Rosario in northeast Argentina.

There were no signs of life in the wreckage, sighted in a swamp near the west bank of the Parana River in sparsely populated Chaco Province, the search plane reported.

The plane, an Aerolineas Argentinas British-built Avro 748, carried 34 passengers and four crew members. It was reported missing shortly after take off from Corrientes.

Residents of the area reported hearing an explosion and seeing a ball of fire fall from the sky.

U.S. Bombers Attack SAM Missile Sites

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers attacked SAM missile sites and antiaircraft guns in North Vietnam Monday for the second time in less than a week, the U.S. Command announced tonight.

No American aircraft were hit, the command said. In the encounter on Jan. 28, an F105 fighter-bomber and a rescue helicopter were shot down and eight Americans were missing.

TET CEASE-FIRE

The Americans disclosed the air activity over North Vietnam shortly after allied forces halted offensive operations for a 24-hour cease-fire for Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year celebration. The allied truce began 11 hours after a four-day cease-fire proclaimed by the Viet Cong.

The U.S. Command said the circumstances of the attacks on the North Vietnamese batteries Monday were the same as those the previous week: The North Vietnamese fired on American reconnaissance planes over the North.

The attack Monday occurred "over North Vietnam near the Laotian border in the Ban Karai Pass area 30 miles west-southwest of Dong Hoi," the command said. This is about 20 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

WAVES OF JETS

On Wednesday North Vietnam charged that waves of U.S. jet planes repeatedly attacked a number of populated areas on Monday in Quang Binh Province, the same province where the U.S. Command reported the attack on the antiaircraft sites.

Similarly, after the attacks on Jan. 28, the North Vietnamese charged that the U.S. planes had bombed and strafed populated places.

When the United States announced suspension of the bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1, 1968, it said that reconnaissance flights would continue over the North and that fighter-bombers would accompany the photo jets to protect them.

The U.S. Command has said it reports U.S. retaliatory attacks on North Vietnamese territory only when they are considered "significant," and heretofore the only attacks considered significant have been ones in which American planes were lost.

NINE SHOT DOWN

Since the bombing halt over North Vietnam, there have been more than 50 American retaliatory air attacks in North Vietnam, but less than a fourth of these have been made public by the U.S. Command.

Nine U.S. aircraft have been shot down over North Vietnam in the 15 months since former President Lyndon B. Johnson halted the bombing.

There was no immediate explanation why the command made its announcement today since no planes were lost.

'A Goal, A Definite Date,' Stressed By C-C Speaker

An overflow crowd of some 650 people from throughout the area heard former Miss America, Marilyn Van Derbur, stress the importance of hard work, planning and organization in achieving the goals of life, as the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce ushered in the new decade with a "Make Something Happen in '70" banquet Wednesday night in the Big Spring High School Cafeteria.

NEEDS YOU

Miss Van Derbur told the near-record gathering that "America needs you more than ever in history. You must have a definite goal because there are no hands but yours," to work for the goals after the chamber had presented several awards to the city's outstanding residents and formally installed Cosden Oil and Chemical Company president, Paul Meek, as its new president for 1970.

One of the nation's foremost women lecturers, Miss Van Derbur said at one time in her life she believed that the most successful people were endowed with superior natural abilities or "genius," but had since learned that achievement comes from "setting definite goals to be met by a definite date" and hard work. She said when she was asked to address some of the country's outstanding citizens, she was in awe of what she believed to be their natural abilities in a chosen field, but after several years on the lecture circuit, she stated that "I've never met an outstanding leader in his field who didn't know where he was going."

DEFINITE GOAL

"I doubt if one per cent of you here have a definite goal to be met by a definite date," she told the audience. "People should not be discouraged by what they consider a lack of ability in striving toward the things they want from life," she said and quoted the author Thomas Carlyle as saying "Genius is the capacity of taking infinite pains."

Many people are hesitant to risk failure or embarrassment to get things done, she pointed out. Drawing on her own experience as a contestant in the Miss America Pageant, she stressed that at first she did not think she could win, but she went ahead because there was no way out. She said many successful people become too cautious in their success and are hesitant to take the chances they were forced to take when first entering their profession.

"A truly dynamic person continues to accept the challenge," she said.

As an analogy she compared the oyster and the eagle, saying that the oyster is secure in his shell on the ocean floor, but the eagle has only the sky as a limit and builds his nest on the highest mountain ridge.

"The eagle, not the oyster, is the symbol of America," she said. "In your position of achievement tonight, which are you: the eagle or the oyster," she asked.

AGE FACTOR

"How many here have hesitated because you didn't know the outcome" she asked and said that many people stop achieving because they think they are too old to do the things they want. "We have an obsession in America about age," she said. "That may be the reason why some of us do not set goals."

She used the political career of Winston Churchill as an example saying that if he had retired when most men today retire, he would have been a political failure. "He came into power at age 65 when most of our men retire and achieved his renowned mastery of the English language at the same age," she said.

Miss Van Derbur closed her talk with a story about the people of a French village, which was devastated in World War II. She said the people of the village rebuilt their town and reconstructed a statue of Christ in the town square that had been destroyed in the fighting. All the pieces of the statue were found except the hands. Instead of having new hands sculpted, they left them off and had inscribed at the icon's feet the message "I have no hands but yours." She compared America to that statue because "it too has no hands but yours."

NEW PRESIDENT

New chamber president Paul Meek told the group that "our work is cut out for us in 1970" and said when he was first elected to the post, "his first impulse was to contact the "establishment" or "downtown clique" which many seem to believe control the city's destiny. He said he could find no power structure and that the success of chamber programs depended on those present at the banquet and other civic minded people.

He said changes must be made to face the new decade and that "If we keep 1960 attitudes then things won't be better in the 1970's."

Meek also lauded his predecessor, oil and insurance broker M. R. (Frog) Koger, saying "never has a Big Spring Chamber of Commerce president said less and accomplished more than this one."

"Let's all work together and make something happen and rehappen in 1970," he said.

Koger, with chamber manager Tom Eastland, awarded the directors for the year past with plaques in appreciation for their services.

Bob Taylor, president of the Jaycees, presented his organization's distinguished service award to Dr. Harold Smith.

AIRMAN

Col. Harrison Lobdell, wing commander at Webb AFB, awarded M. Sgt. Gordon C. Utz a plaque as Airman of the Year.

The past year's officers and directors were presented plaques in appreciation of their service to the chamber and master of ceremonies, Gene McElroy, recognized three officials of Petrofina — R. I. Galland, Dallas, president and chief executive officer of American Petrofina; Frank L. Durham, senior vice president and treasurer of American Petrofina; and J. E. Buckens, Brussels, Belgium, regional director of the American sector of Petrofina, S.A.

Other visitors were recognized from Abilene, Andrews, Odessa, Sweetwater, Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland, Kermit, Big Lake and Stanton.

Changes in the chamber's bylaws, calling for 15 elective members, eight appointive members and including three vice presidents, were approved.

NEW OFFICERS

The new officers and executive committee for 1970 include Meek, president; John Burgess, Mrs. Harold Davis, Winston Wrinkle, vice presidents; Clyde Hollingsworth, treasurer; and M. R. Koger, past president.

Directors for 1970 will be J. R. Anderson, Jim Baum, Roger Brown, Don Crockett, John Currie, Harold Davis, R. L. Heith, R. E. Hickson, Gene McElroy, Marvin Miller, Ken Perry, Dearl Pittman, A. J. Prager, Jimmy Taylor, John Taylor, Don Womack, Mrs. Edna Womack and Jack Worsham.

Ex-officio members include Col. Harrison Lobdell, Lester Morton, Joe Moss, Robert W. Whipkey, Bob Taylor and George Zachariah.

The Rev. James Puckett gave the invocation, and the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, the benediction.

Dinner music for the affair was presented by the Big Spring High School Dixieland Band, and Larry Stanley, head of the choral department at HCJC, sang the national anthem.

Abilene Loan Exec Sentenced

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Longtime Abilene businessman Claude McAden, 52, was sentenced to one year in federal prison today on conviction of five counts of intent to defraud a savings and loan institution.

McAden's lawyer would not comment on possibility of appeal of the conviction. McAden pleaded innocent.

Judge Leo Brewster ordered McAden to serve the five one-year sentences concurrently at the federal confinement facility at Seagoville.

Maximum penalty could have been a $10,000 fine and five years in prison on each count, said Asst. Dist. Atty. Alex McGlinchey.

McAden was president and chairman of the board of the Western Commercial Savings and Loan Co. from 1966 to 1967, the period for which he was charged with attempt to defraud the firm.

Dr. Smith, Sgt. Utz Receive Special Honors

Dr. Harold Smith received the Jaycees' distinguished service award, and M. Sgt. Gordon Utz was announced as Airman of the Year, during the "Make Something Happen in '70" banquet Wednesday evening. The high school cafeteria was packed for the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Dr. Smith, who recently received the Jaycees' Faith in God award, was introduced by Bob Taylor, Jaycees president. He attended public school in Abilene, then did his advanced work at Hardin-Simmons University, University of Houston, and Southern College of Optometry at Memphis, Tenn.

HERE SINCE '60

He came to Big Spring in 1960. At East Fourth Street Baptist Church, he has served as teacher, Sunday School superintendent, Training Union worker, and is a deacon.

His civic activities include the Gideons, ABClub, Jaycees, and he is president of the board of directors of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and chairman of the Volunteer Council at the Big Spring State Hospital. He is a past president of the West Texas Optometric Society.

He and his wife, Sue, have an eight-year-old daughter.

"Each year, the Jaycees present a special Distinguished Service Award to an individual who has shown great and special qualities," Taylor said, in making the presentation. "These include special service to the community, to the church, to his profession, and to the humanity. This year's recipient is truly outstanding."

LAUDED

Sgt. Utz was lauded by Webb's wing Commander, Col. Harrison Lobdell, for more than 40 suggestions during his 20 year Air Force career "that have saved us (the taxpayers) money." The sergeant is noncommissioned officer in charge of the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron machine shop.

One of his suggestions, concerning the T-38 used at all Air Training Command bases, will save the Air Force $36,000 annually so long as the aircraft remains in the inventory. For this idea, Sgt. Utz was named ATC's outstanding suggester during 1969.

He came to Webb in January, 1968 from Johnston Island, South Pacific, and has also served at Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo., Oxnard, Calif., Randolph AFB, Okinawa and Korea. His military career began in the Army's 56th Cavalry Brigade, and he was discharged six days prior to the day Japan bombed Pearl Harbor, and the start of the U.S. involvement in World War II. He was recalled to duty in March, 1942, serving in Burma and the Philippines as part of Merrill's Marauders. He joined the Air Force in 1956.

He and his wife, Virginia, are natives of Baytown, and they have two children and two grandchildren.

OTHER JOBS

Sgt. Utz also serves as the fabrication branch safety NCO, fire warden for Hangar T-10, a director of the NCO Open Mess, and is active in the Noncommissioned Officers Association. He also repairs toys yearround for distribution to needy children at Christmas.

Directors of the chamber also voted to make two presentations to families of outstanding community leaders who died during the past year. These went to the families of Obie Bristow and R. L. Tollett, and were announced by Paul Meek, incoming president.

Among others recognized during the banquet was Charles Beil, as top salesman of new memberships to the Chamber of Commerce.

Russians Start Arms Airlift

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Soviet Union has begun a new airlift of arms to Egypt to help counter Israeli raids around Cairo and elsewhere in the country the newspaper Le Jour said today.

Quoting East European diplomatic sources in Beirut, the report said the airlift began three days ago and is continuing.

The French-language newspaper said the equipment arriving in Egypt aboard giant Antonov cargo planes is mostly defensive and includes antiaircraft guns, ground-to-air missiles and mobile radar units. The Israelis claim to have knocked out most of Egypt's antiaircraft missile launchers and radar station in the almost daily raids the Israeli air force has been making for many weeks.

The sources were quoted as saying no MIG 23 or Sukhoi 9 jets have been shipped to Egypt. These planes are the latest in the Soviet arsenal and the Egyptians are believed to have requested them urgently.

The newspaper said the airlift was unloading at Alexandria, Almaza military airfield near Cairo and in the Upper Egyptian town of Luxor. The planes are arriving at the rate of one every half hour, the paper said.

The sources reportedly said the new arms deliveries coincide with a rethinking of Egyptian methods of air defense, which so far have been unable to block Israeli raids around the capital.

A "Vietnam style" system will be set up with the new equipment, the sources said, relying on "forests" of heavy machine guns around vital targets to shoot down low-flying planes. The batteries will be manned by the "popular war committees," the home guard force which President Gamal Abdel Nasser has said will be formed soon, according to the report.

As additional protection against Israeli attack, the sources continued, Soviet air squadrons may pay friendly visits to a number of Egyptian airfields. There was a series of similar visits shortly after the 1967 war.

State Department officials said that in his message to President Nixon last weekend, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin suggested that the Soviets intended to supply the Arab states with additional arms if Israel does not halt its military action.

Says Consumer Bill Like Balloon Bread

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bess Myerson Grant, the former Miss America who looks after New York City's consumers, told Congress today an administration bill to allow group consumer court actions is "like balloon bread—substantial at first glance but short on weight."

In short, Mrs. Grant said in testimony prepared for the Senate consumer subcommittee, "the administration bill is a consumer fraud."

Her opposition was aimed at one of three administration bills that would implement the "Buyers Bill of Rights" promised by President Nixon last year.

The bill is intended to strengthen Federal Trade Commission powers and enable consumers to bring class-action lawsuits.

At the same time, however, it would limit these actions to 11 categories and allow them only after the Justice Department or the FTC had successfully sued the violator.

Mrs. Grant said a bill introduced by Democrats Frank E. Moss of Utah, chairman of the subcommittee, and Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland was far better than the administration proposal.

She said the Moss-Tydings measure, which would permit immediate class actions whenever consumer rights were violated, would put the power to seek consumer justice "where it belongs—beyond the reach of campaign contributors, industry lobbyists or Washington lawyers."

Mrs. Grant said that during 1969 the FTC issued only 65 complaints of deceptive practices while her office alone received 65 each day.

Five County Students Get NTSU Degrees

DENTON — Five Howard County residents were among 810 students receiving degrees at North Texas State University's winter commencement Jan. 30. The exercises marked the granting of the 50,000th degree by the university which, as NTS College, awarded its first degree in 1919.

Howard County students receiving degrees were Deats Headlee Beaird, Dee Roby Gartman, Dan W. Ledbetter and Mrs. Penny Carol McKinnis, all of Big Spring; and Carla Jean Newman, Coahoma.

Beaird, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis L. Beaird, 2104 Main, Big Spring, was awarded the bachelor of science degree in secondary education; and Gartman, son of D. R. Gartman, 1022½ Goliad, Big Spring, received the bachelor of science degree in physical education.

Ledbetter was recipient of the bachelor of science degree in industrial arts, and Mrs. McKinnis received the bachelor of science degree in home economics education. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Ledbetter, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. James B. Frazier, now of Arlington.

Miss Newman received the bachelor of arts degree in library service. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas C. Newman of Coahoma.

20 Cent Dividend By Pioneer Gas

AMARILLO — The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, in regular quarterly meeting held Tuesday in Amarillo, declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, payable March 3 to stockholders of record on Feb. 9.

The annual report for the 1969 operations of the company will be mailed to stockholders on or about March 20.

Burton P. Smith, president of Pioneer, announced that A. C. Verner, president of the First National Bank at Lubbock, was elected to the board to fill the unexpired term of George W. Dupree.

Dupree, who has been a Pioneer director since 1952, resigned and was elected director emeritus by the board.

Verner, a native of South Carolina and a graduate of Clemson College, has been in the banking business in the West Texas area since 1956. He joined the First National Bank at Lubbock in January of 1964 as a director and executive vice president. In June of that year, he was elected president.

Head Start Headed In Right Direction?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Head Start, the federal program designed to increase opportunities for children of the poor, nears the beginning of its fifth year with its top officials wondering whether it's headed in the right direction.

In human terms, Head Start has brought special training in cleanliness, nutrition and health to more than 200,000 pre-school children annually. There have been eye-opening field trips for youngsters who had never been out of squalid neighborhoods. And there have been a myriad of other activities intended to give the disadvantaged children an even break.

To this end, just over one billion dollars has been budgeted since the program began in 1965. Yet it has become increasingly clear that the money and the good will behind Head Start have not been enough. Head Start still is trying to get off the ground.

"There is mounting evidence that Head Start has not proved as effective as had earlier been thought," President Nixon told Congress last year.

"But the program still is experimental," he said. "If there is one clear lesson . . . it is that such intervention is more complicated and difficult than had been expected, and more fraught with frustration."

An evaluation by the Westinghouse Learning Corp. at Ohio University, carried out for the Office of Economic Opportunity, confirmed the President's summation.

The Westinghouse study focused on children who had been out of the program for three years. This was deliberate. The object was to find out if the Head Start experience helped children once they entered school. It didn't help significantly, the report indicated.

The results of the study, together with other evidence that Head Start was not achieving what was hoped for, led the President last April to shift the program to a new Office of Child Development in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). It previously had been administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

"We believe this is going to strengthen the program in the long run," said Head Start Associate Director Richard Orton.

Even so, Orton acknowledges that the chief emphasis in the immediate future is going to be on trying to figure out where the program goes from here.

"We're uncertain about a number of things," he said.

"What, precisely, should Head Start consist of to be most effective? For how long should help be given? What is the best age for it to be given?"

It will take years to get answers to these and other questions, Orton said. "We have some studies in progress now and we plan to start a number of others in the near future to find the answers.

"But, even as it is, Head Start is providing . . . a focus to alert the American people to the importance of these early years in a child's early growth."

One Large Step Aside For Lovell

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — James A. Lovell Jr., whose 24 days in space are the world's record, says he'll hang up his space helmet after he commands the Apollo 13 moon-landing mission in April.

"There are a lot of people standing in line for flights," said the 40-year-old Navy captain who will be making his fourth trip into space. "I've had more than my share. So, I'll step aside after this one."

Lovell made the disclosure at an impromptu news conference Wednesday after he and civilian astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr. completed a three-hour session rehearsing their moon-walking chores.

Haise, a rookie spaceman, said, "I'm looking forward to this mission. I've invested a lot of time and training and I'd like to make more flights."

Riding with Lovell and Haise when they blast off from Cape Kennedy April 11 will be another rookie, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Thomas K. Mattingly II.

Lovell and Haise are to attempt a difficult landing in rugged lunar highlands north of the crater Fra Mauro. Scientists believe there are ancient rocks from deep beneath the surface in this area and that they might reveal much about the early history of the moon.

Lovell previously spent 14 days in space with Frank Borman on Gemini 7, four days with Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. on Gemini 12 and six days with Borman and William A. Anders on the Apollo 8 moon-orbit journey. Apollo 13 is to last 10 days, which would give Lovell a total of more than a month in space.

Flu-Like Illnesses Developing

By The Associated Press

The second outbreak of flu and flu-like illnesses invaded Texas Wednesday, forcing schools to close in Orange Grove in South Texas.

Some absenteeism was reported in Bandera, Fort Worth and other Texas cities.

Schools were closed in Orange Grove by Supt. John Slater after absenteeism reached 35 per cent. Schools will re-open on Monday, he said.

Over 100 students were absent Monday and Tuesday in Bandera schools and Supt. Marvin Schnelle said flu and mumps were responsible. No new attacks of meningitis have been reported in the Bandera schools since the three cases last week.

Dr. W. V. Bradshaw, Fort Worth director of health, said confirmed cases of the flu are not prevalent but there is a "heck of a lot of something going on."

Schools in several East Texas cities were closed in January as a result of a widespread flu epidemic.

'Blitz Bandits' Strike Again

DALLAS (AP) — A squad of heavily armed gunmen police now call the "blitz bandits" struck Wednesday for the fourth time, robbing and terrorizing the employes of Jerry's Super Market.

Store manager Arthur Alardin, 31, said four of the seven men team burst into the store about 9:30 p.m., waving pistols and a sawed-off shotgun at the store's two cashiers.

Three of the bandits remained outside as lookouts, police said. After the lightening-quick strike, which obtained an undetermined amount of cash, all fled east on foot.

Investigators said the men fit descriptions of suspects being sought in the earlier commando-like robberies of Patterson Meat Co., Hunt's Grocery, and the Alamo Drive-in Grocery.

Too Much Care

LONDON (AP) — British motorists spend three million pounds (7.2 million dollars) a year on car polishes and shampoos, and clean their cars twice as often as Americans, according to "Drive," magazine of the British Automobile Association.

And most of it is to very little purpose, says AA chief engineer Marcus Jacobson.

Some cars actually become duller when polish is used, and for most cars a regular washing in clean water is sufficient, he adds.

'Pill' Hazards

NEW YORK (AP) — A Gallup Poll in Newsweek magazine shows that 18 per cent of women surveyed who used oral contraceptives during the last three months have ceased using them.

Another 23 per cent said they were seriously considering giving them up.

Tank Cars Of Chemicals Burn After Derailment

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Roaring flames and a series of small explosions swept through several tank cars filled with chemicals after a Missouri Pacific freight train jumped the track Wednesday night.

Eighteen of the 24 cars in the train left the rails, plowing into an open field just inside the northwest city limits of Corpus Christi near suburban Calallen.

Fire broke out an hour after the derailment. Once, as the dome blew off a burning car, flames leaped 200 feet into the air.

As a precaution against possibly toxic fumes, the small Mt. Tabor convent close by was evacuated for a time. Occupants of some homes also departed briefly.

The conductor aboard the freight, T. J. Horan, said his train apparently hit a closed switch and the pileup occurred as it was shunted onto a siding. He said the switch should have been open.

Railroad employes said alcohol, antifreeze and formaldehyde were among the chemicals in the derailed cars, which burned for hours. Firemen used foam to control the blaze.

Fire chief John Carlisle said the flames started as a chemical called acetalehyde leaded from a ruptured tank, oxidized with iron rust on the rails, came to a boil and then burned.

Died not as a result of hostile action.

Still Critical

LAMESA — Dan W. Sexton, 20, injured in an US 87 highway mishap south of here last Friday, remained in critical condition at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Wednesday. He received head injuries in the crash that took the life of Mrs. Deborah Gail Weddell, 19. Her husband was less seriously injured. Both Sexton and Mrs. Weddell were students at Angelo State University.

One Of 'Chicago Seven' Men Jailed For Court Outbursts

CHICAGO (AP) — David T. Dellinger, one of seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting during the 1968 Democratic National Convention, has been jailed by Judge Julius J. Hoffman for repeated courtroom outbursts and calling a witness a liar.

The judge revoked Dellinger's $10,000 bail for the remainder of the trial at the close of Wednesday's session.

There were scuffles, screams and epithets directed at the diminutive, 74-year-old jurist.

Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, a defendant who often handsprings his way into the court room and gobbles candy and cough syrup, was tossed onto a bench by marshals when he tried to embrace Dellinger.

Hoffman yelled at the judge: "You're a disgrace to the Jews, you runt! You'd have served Hitler better."

Federal marshals scurried from one side of the long defense table to the other, ordering the defendants to be quiet.

Many women, including Hoffman's wife, were dragged from the court room screaming.

Judge Hoffman said Dellinger, 54, had caused repeated interruptions of the trial and that revocation of bail was the only way to put a halt to the vile and obscene language."

The outburst which prompted the judge's action came during testimony by police Capt. James T. Riordan, who was called by the prosecution as the rebuttal witness.

New Evidence Of Inhumane Treatment Reported By U.S.

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam today it has new evidence of inhumane treatment of U.S. war prisoners and demanded that impartial observers be permitted to inspect the camps.

U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Habib raised the charge at the 53rd session of the Vietnam peace talks where Col. Ha Van Lau, represented North Vietnam.

Dwelling on the prisoner of war issue, Habib asserted: "Your consistent refusal to abide by the 1949 Geneva convention on the treatment of prisoners is viewed by American and world opinion with dismay."

He said it was essential that impartial observers inspect enemy prisoner camps since "we have new shocking evidence that prisoners of war whom you hold are subject to inhumane treatment."

"Only recently it was discovered that your forces in South Vietnam had executed two American prisoners captured in 1966 after having put them on public display in several villages," the U.S. delegate said.

"This is a grave breach of the 1949 Geneva Convention and is unacceptable when measured against any standard of civilized behavior."

Habib summarized the Geneva Convention's requirements for prisoner treatment: identification of prisoners, prisoner freedom to correspond freely with their families, impartial observers to pay regular visits to the camps and finally, repatriation of seriously sick and wounded captives.

Before going into the talks Habib told reporters the United States wanted an exchange of sick and wounded captives.

He said the United States is prepared to begin discussions without delay for immediate release of all sick and wounded prisoners, as well as the early release of all prisoners of war held by both sides.

Tanners Due For A Tour

Twelve of the nation's leading tanners will join West Texas businessmen Feb. 11-13 for a tour of packing plants, cattle feeding operations and other points of interest in the Panhandle area.

The 12 presidents will be escorted on tours by staffmen of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, specialists and Chamber of Commerce leaders from throughout West Texas on the three-day auto, bus and plane tour.

Leading the tanners group will be Dr. Irving Glass of New York, president of the Tanners' Council of America. Glass appeared at the 1969 annual convention of the WTCC and stimulated interest in the development of the tanning industry in West Texas. Immediately thereafter plans were initiated to bring the tanners on a tour of the region.

First stop on the tour will be in Amarillo, then Friona, Lubbock, Plainview.

This tour is the first of several planned by the WTCC in its industrial research and development program, according to President J. F. Godfrey.

"Full integration of the beef cattle industry from the range to the feedlot to finished beef is now a reality in West Texas," Godfrey said. "We are now interested in going a few steps further in realizing the greatest economic benefit from the by products of the industry such as tanning, pharmaceuticals, etc."

HE'S RUNNING FOR JUDGE

Amarillo's Mayor May Lose His Office

AMARILLO (AP) — In filing as a candidate for county judge, Mayor J. Ernest Stroud may have unwittingly resigned his mayor's post, Dist. Atty. Curtis said Wednesday.

Stroud filed for the position on Monday. The district attorney asked for an opinion from Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to clarify the issue.

Stroud said he would not resign his post until he hears the outcome of the May Republican primaries even though it appears that the Texas Constitution requires him to do so, Curtis said.

Under constitutional provision, the mayor is required to resign the moment he becomes a candidate for another public office, Curtis said. Citing one article, he said, Stroud could be fined for failure to comply.

In his questionnaire to the attorney general's office, Curtis asked: Did the mayor's announced candidacy for county judge constitute a resignation as mayor?; if so, what was the effective date of the resignation?; if not, is his tenure in office otherwise affected?; and if Stroud has in reality relinquished his post, who will fill the unexpired term.

Stroud has served part of his second term in office to date.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said late Wednesday the request had not been received.

Luboff Choir Here Tonight

The Norman Luboff choir comes here this evening, and many members of the Big Spring Concert Association feel this could prove to be the highlight of the current season. Curtain time at Municipal Auditorium is 8:15 p.m.

Certainly, among the choirs on tour, Luboff's group has no peer, and not a few critics rate it as the best anywhere near comparable size. The famed maestro has assembled some 30 voices, each a virtuoso in its own right, and blended them into a remarkable musical team.

Luboff and his singers maintain an unusual vivacity and freshness, according to critics. This is achieved by an extensive repertoire with generally no set program. Thus, Luboff leads the singers into pathways pleasing to the audience.

It was not untill he was well into his college career that Luboff decided to make music his calling. He did graduate study in orchestration and composition, then taught orchestration and became much in demand as an arranger as well as a pops soloist with his rich baritone.

By 1945 he had attained such skill and feeling in his arrangements, that he was engaged to do many of the hit shows on radio and fledgling television. His fame spread and soon he was arranging music for movies, doing more than 80 of them, including leading box-office successes.

It was during this Hollywood period that his choir was born. Immediately, it was a success. Several albums of records were produced, and each had the distinction of being a best seller. In 1963, Luboff decided to go into "live" concerts with his choir, and in 1965, he put it on tour.

Each season he and the choir fill 100 engagements over a 20-week period and go into all areas of the country.

The pace is exacting, but the renowned composer-conductor seems to draw enthusiasm from the experience.

"It's tremendously exciting and rewarding to perform for an audience," he said. "We often shape the program as it progresses. This way we establish a good rapport with the audience."

No wonder, for the range is from pops to the classics, from the old melodies to modern tunes. And it's all in the style that only Norman Luboff and his singers are able to achieve.

Southern Senators Map Education Bill Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deep South senators zeroed in on a major education bill today, hoping to attach amendments that would blunt the drive for total southern school desegregation.

Led by Mississippi Democrat John Stennis, they prepared riders to the $35 billion education measure to legalize the freedom of choice plans once prevalent in the South, but now in general disfavor with the federal courts.

Stennis said one of his amendments would put into effect for the entire nation a freedom of choice plan he said is now state law in New York.

"If public school students in New York should not be bused to overcome the vestiges of a dual school system, the public school students of the South should not be bused for that purpose, either," he declared.

His second proposal would establish it as national policy to have uniform enforcement of desegregation in all regions of the nation.

Sen. Sam. J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., announced that he, too, would have a freedom of choice amendment that differs from Stennis' proposal.

The courts have tossed out many freedom of choice plans on grounds they failed to end the dual black-white school systems.

Civil rights advocates will oppose the riders, contending there has already been too much delay in school desegregation.

But the sharp controversy is expected to delay final passage of the bill, possibly for as much as two weeks.

Major provisions of the $35 billion measure call for a four year extension of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act and the Impacted Areas program of aid to schools crowded because of nearby federal installations.

The bill goes far beyond the recommendations of President Nixon and offers him a direct challenge on education spending issues.

However, sponsors said as debate opened Wednesday that, with strong bipartisan support, it was certain to be passed with little change.

Longshoremen Nix Proposal

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — British Columbia's 3,200 Longshoremen were ordered to continue working Thursday by union officials, although Longshore workers had just turned down the third contract offer in four months.

Plans to resume picketing were begun Wednesday night after dockworkers turned down a proposal calling for a $1.15 increase over three years on a base rate of $3.88. The vote against was 1,391 to 1,338.

Nixon, Mayors Will Discuss Urban Affairs

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — President Nixon is taking his Urban Affairs Council into the nation's heartland today in an unprecedented step intended to dramatize administration concern for the cities.

The President and council, including nine Cabinet-level members, scheduled an afternoon meeting here with a White House-selected delegation of nine mayors, seven of them Republicans.

Today's focus was on medium-sized cities rather than giants such as New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

The President and his entourage go from here to Chicago for a Friday meeting with four Midwestern governors to discuss environmental problems.

The meeting here marks one of the few times since taking office that President Nixon has met directly with a delegation of mayors. The President's last such meeting was nine months ago.

It is also the first time a session of the Urban Affairs Council has been held outside Washington.

The meeting comes at a time when criticism of the administration's urban policies, particularly from big-city Democratic mayors, is growing increasingly sharp.

Just last week the executive committee of the U.S. Conference of Mayors accused the administration of departing "from the moral commitments of two decades" in cutting back on urban renewal programs.

Such criticisms were unlikely to be sounded here. Only two of the mayors invited are Democrats and urban renewal was not on the agenda, which was geared to the model cities program and President Nixon's anticrime measures.

The setting for the meeting was not accidental.

Indianapolis, the largest city in America with a Republican mayor, is one of a handful of cities experimenting with metropolitan government.

And its mayor, Richard G. Luger, 37, is considered one of the rising stars in the Republican party.

Luger, a former Rhodes scholar and a cello player, championed the legislative move that enabled Indianapolis to burst its traditional boundaries and encompass its suburbs in Marion County.

Oratory Contest Announced By Lone Wolf Co-Op

COLORADO CITY — An expense-paid trip to the nation's capitol city to winners of an oratorical contest was announced this week by Kenneth Rogers, manager, Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, Inc.

This contest is open to any boy or girl at least 16 years of age but not 18 years of age prior to Sept. 1, 1970, Rogers said. Winners will join those of similar contests sponsored by other electric cooperatives across Texas on the sixth Annual Government-In-Action Youth Tour to Washington, D.C., beginning June 12, 1970.

Each entrant will be required to give a five to eight-minute talk on the subject "The New Generation" and answer one or more of the 45 questions asked by the judges.

The oratorical contest will be judged on the basis of knowledge of subject (40 per cent), speaking ability (30 per cent), poise, personality and appearance (10 per cent each).

Interested young people may obtain an official entry blank from their school or the offices of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative. The deadline for submitting entries will be Feb. 20, Rogers said.

News Briefs

Lamesa Brief Due In Integration Suit

LAMESA — Attorneys for the Lamesa Independent School District are due to file a brief next week in answer to a suit brought by several local residents asking immediate intergration of the school system.

The action was filed by Mark Smith, Lubbock attorney, on behalf of residents, mostly of Mexican-American extraction, who took their case to 5th U.S. District Court in Lubbock. They had been seeking immediate action by the school board, and had been led in part by the Rev. Patrick Hoffman, Catholic priest.

Meantime, plans by the school district for progressive integration with a target of September, 1971, for completion was turned down by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Supt. Alvin Canady declined comment on the case, observing that he thought it would not be proper at this time.

Lights Broken By Vandals

Guy Lara, 909 N. Gregg, told police Wednesday that someone had broken all but six of the 31 field lights at the Texas Little League Ball park on North Scurry and ransacked the park's storeroom sometime Tuesday night.

License Tag Sale Reaches 2,000

Approximately 2,000 license plates have been sold since they went on sale Monday, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax collector said today.

There were 606 plates sold Wednesday in Howard County, including the three substations. The substations are located in the Forsan City Hall, Webb AFB Credit Union, and Newsom's. Car tags are also on sale in the tax collector's offices on the first floor of the courthouse.

Clerks collected $10,484.56 Wednesday, bringing total receipts to $35,149.74.

Lions Given A CR 7.0 Prevue

The Downtown Lions had their own prevue of CR 7●0, the all-band school extravaganza Wednesday noon at the Settles.

Bill Bradley, director of the band from whence all the talent for the show comes, presented Dory Powell in a song; Robert Margolis and Twinkle Johnson in a musical banter; and the Soul Sisters in "Walk on Through;" and then a sample of the finale, "Which Way America?"

No expense is spared in producing a top-quality, fast-moving show, said Bradley. For instance, one sequence lasting three minutes required $250 in costumes.

Already, he said, more than 3,330 tickets have been sold for the show which kicks off today for a three-evening run.

Fire Causes Heavy Damage

A fire which began in the garage adjoining the R. B. Riner residence, 1210 Pennsylvania, destroyed much of the furniture and other items stored there and caused heavy smoke damage to the interior of the house. Firemen said the fire burned through the door connecting the house and garage before it could be extinguished, but that the blaze was contained to the area where it originated before more extensive damage was done.

No official cause for the fire has been determined, but the owners said a small heater had been left in the garage to heat the area where a dog is kept.

100 Mexican-Americans Protest Housing Plans

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — City councilmen acted quickly today to meet demands of more than 100 Mexican-Americans who marched to City Hall to protest housing projects in the Edgewood School District here.

The council voted to ask the federal government to withhold federal money for multi-family housing in the model cities area of the city, pending development of a comprehensive urban plan.

The model cities area includes the predominantly Mexican-American Edgewood District.

Councilmen also agreed to meet with officials and residents of the school district to discuss objections to multi-family housing in the area.

The marchers—chanting "Projects no! Education yes!"—circled City Hall with picket signs and jammed the front steps for speeches before moving inside to confront the city council.

David Alvarado, 25, an organizer of the march, told the protesters that residents of the crowded school district are "awakening to the fact that we have to take action now."

"We're through asking," shouted another man. "From now on we start demanding." A federal suit for an injunction against the housing projects has been filed.

Alvarado and school district officials claim that more housing in the district will lead to an influx of school children and "could mean the death of our district."

Led by six men carrying a gray coffin with "Edgewood Independent School District" lettered on the sides, the protesters marched peacefully for about four blocks to City Hall.

"Education is the most important product," one sign read. "Keep monster out," said another.

Another sign declared: "Go to hell GGL," a reference to the Good Government League here, which has successfully fielded the majority of City Council candidates for years.

New Safeguard Plans Unfurled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defensive missiles will not be positioned close to major American cities under President Nixon's plans for expanding the Safeguard ABM system, Pentagon officials report.

The only exception to this, eventually, will be Washington, D.C., because strategists want to defend the seat of the command control over U.S. forces.

Defense officials made the point over missile deployment to counter growing congressional criticism that Nixon has gone back to the rationale used by the former Johnson administration to justify a defensive missile program.

Nixon disclosed a week ago the second phase of Safeguard plans would proceed this year to provide the United States with area defense against any potential Red Chinese threat over the next 10 years.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield Wednesday accused Nixon of shifting arguments on Safeguard and opening a credibility gap.

Under the Johnson administration, the antiballistic missile system, then called Sentinel, would have been deployed around big population centers to protect them from a possible Red Chinese attack later in this decade.

The new Safeguard program begun by Nixon centered around U.S. offensive missile sites to protect them from a growing force of Soviet SS9 rockets.

Pentagon officials say the Soviet Union's missile menace toward U.S. retaliatory forces—Minuteman—remains the primary reason for building Safeguard.

But they contend the President was not inconsistent in his recent public statements reporting a decision to add "area defense" against an emerging Red Chinese threat.

In Pentagon jargon, "area defense" refers to the general protection which would be provided by long-range missile interceptors capable of stopping ICBM's hundreds of miles in space.

At this stage, the Pentagon has chosen not to challenge openly the renewed ABM opposition, mainly because officials say precise details on the expanded deployment have not been approved within the administration.

Cancer Drive Plans Mapped

The Cancer Crusade Committee from the Howard County unit of the American Cancer Society Wednesday laid the groundwork for the local campaign.

Mrs. Horace Garrett was named honorary crusade chairman, and special crusade appointments were announced by Mrs. C. B. Marcum, crusade chairman.

The house-to-house campaign will be April 2, between 7 and 8 p.m., under direction of Mrs. Billy Johnson. Other appointments included Mrs. Bill Pollard, vice chairman; Mrs. Clyde Thomas, special gifts; Mrs. Paschal Odom, publicity; Mrs. Ralph Mahoney, headquarters chairman; and Mrs. Wade Choate and Mrs. James Coates, county-wide campaign.

Greg Westerfield, district director from Midland, met with members Wednesday to give information on various jobs in the crusade.

The regular meeting of the local unit will be Wednesday at noon in the Cosden Club.

Prayer Breakfast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today at the 18th annual Presidential Prayer Breakfast that America should set an example of spiritual leadership and idealism for the world.

Before some 3,000 top government leaders, diplomats and representatives of many walks of life, Nixon expressed the importance of the spiritual strength that has guided America from its beginnings.

Nixon said the destiny of America — "a nation under God" — is not to conquer or exploit the world "but to give to other nations of the world an example of spiritual leadership and idealism which no material strength of military power can provide."

Mrs. Nixon joined the President ini attending the 8 a.m. breakfast.

The annual event, sponsored by the Senate and House prayer breakfast groups, was started in 1953 with President Dwight D. Eisenhower attending.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., presiding at the breakfast in the ballroom of the Washington-Hilton Hotel said the aim of the gathering is to foster an "esprit de corps that will move our nation forward spiritually."

Museum Needs Ranch Items

As part of activating the new museum building on the Texas Tech campus about April 1, the Ranch Headquarters office is appealing for several items.

One is a wooden windmill tower that formerly held a wooden windmill. Another is a wooden tank.

"We need a fairly short tower that stands about 15 feet from the ground to platform, and about six feet from the platform to the motor," said Jerry L. Rogers, director of Ranch Headquarters. "If possible, the tower should come from a historic ranch, and we should have information about when it was built and by whom.

"To go with the windmill, we need a small water tank, perhaps three to eight feet in diameter, held together by steel bands and capable of holding water.

"Finally, we need a large old ranch gate such as might be found at the entrance road to a ranch headquarters."

Rogers said that members of the Ranch Headquarters Association can perform a vital service by advising his office of any of these items, and further by obtaining documentation on the history of such items. The association, short on funds, also would be grateful for someone with a truck volunteering to dismantle and haul the items to the museum. Rogers' address is Box 4069, Texas Tech, Lubbock 79409, or telephone (806) 742-2236.

Third Candidate Enters April 7 City Election

Neel G. Barnaby, 804 W. 17th, became the third candidate to file for a place on the ballot in the April 7 city election.

Barnaby, a retired engineer, filed with city Secretary Charles Smith late Wednesday and joins O. T. Brewster, and E. L. Meeks as the only candidates to file thus far.

The seats now held by Mayor Arnold Marshall, and commissioners Jimmy Morehead and Walter Stroup are the places to be decided in the election.

WEBB WILLIAMS (41) ON TARGET
Comstock ace cheers Max Fly

Some insist there's no way to get there but to go down the Mississippi, turn west into the Gulf of Mexico and wade up the Rio Grande after you reach Brownville, but the former Flower Grove mentor, Max Fly, likes the life of coaching as practiced at Comstock.

Actually, the ranching town is situated in Val Verde County about 28 miles up the road from Del Rio — not too far from the waterway that divides the U.S. and Mexico. If Pancho Villa were alive, chances are he'd water his horses there on his forays into Texas. Fabled Langry is nor'-by-nor'west and you can reach Ozona by taking SH 163, if Devil's River isn't out of its banks.

Fly is happy in his work, as is most any coach who is winning. And Comstock is winning big in basketball. The Panthers went all the way to Regional last year before losing to that perennial toughie, Snook.

Friends of the school might have thought it would be hard to improve upon a 16-8 record but Fly guided the team to 21 wins in its first 23 starts this year and, from all indications, isn't through.

One of the big reasons the Panthers are doing so famously is that 6-5 Webb Williams talked his parents into letting him play the game.

Sands High School is no slouch at the endeavor this year but the Mustangs have beaten Comstock only once in three outings this year. Coach James Blake of Sands says Webb is the best his troops have played against this year.

Outside of Sands, only Class AAA Del Rio has succeeded in throwing a roadblock in front of Comstock and the Panthers lifted Del Rio's scalp in another start.

* * * *

Webb has averaged about 24 points a game for the Panthers, even though he rarely plays as much as three quarters in any one start. In one effort against Sands, young Williams rang the bell for 39 points.

Webb also runs the quarter in track and coach Fly reasons he'll be a winner there, too. The boy looks after the needs of 19 cows given to him by his father, when he isn't busy with his school work.

Opponents of Comstock can't expect immediate relief, when they play the Panthers. Webb is only a junior. If all goes well and Rocksprings isn't too tough later on, Comstock may pop up again in regional at San Marcos this year. The Comstock fans are counting on it. There, they could get another shot at Snook.

Young Williams averaged 21 points as a sophomore. When Garden City's Jack Woodley first saw him in action, he told Fly he thought Webb was a college prospect—reasoning that the youth was a senior at the time.

Comstock, with the conference flag already wrapped up, meets Brackettville in its last regular season game Friday night. The son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Williams, Webb is an A-minus student.

Webb had an older brother named Mark who stood 6-7 but who came out for basketball only his senior year for Comstock. Mark later graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene but didn't play the game after leaving high school. Mark once scored 43 points in one game for Comstock. Webb hasn't been able to top that but he'll keep trying.

* * * * *

Having grown up in an era when a halfback was called a halfback and an end an end, I find it hard to get used to football lineups that use codes for positions.

Linebackers are no longer identified as such. They become rovers, monster men, stingers or buckwhackers. An end began to lose his identity when he became a flanker. Now he's known as a wide receiver, provided he's quarantined from the other talent and goes down on passes.

In the dear, dead days prior to World War II, there sometimes were no more than 12 or 13 boys on a squad and they played all day. One of those occasionally would even come out of the dressing room at halftime to march with the band.

There were two, maybe three coaches, and the only pictures they studied were perhaps stills of Red Grange running with the ball or Saturday afternoon Westerns featuring hard-running Ken Maynard or Buck Jones.

The T formation was revolutionary in those days. Many of the teams ran off the Single Wing. And the linemen? They took their stance immediately opposite their opponent, knowing where they were going to be on every play.

These days, you have football analyzed for you by armchair experts who I sometimes think are reading from the Dead Sea Scrolls — and who make about as much sense.

We are all enchanted by professional football, but let's face it: the game would be a flop were it not for the long pass.

Some of the play-by-play announcers and the color men in the TV booths talk as if they wrote the original script, however. It's still a game but the analyzers would have you believe the Battle of Armageddon is eternally being fought down there on the football greensward.

Maybe it was better in the old days.

* * * *

Ted Battles, the Midland scribe, says that, had it not been for the Midland Lee delegation here for the 3-AAAA basketball game the other night, Steer Gym would have taken on the appearances of a haunted house.

Which comes first? The chicken or the egg? A successful team or fan support? Our troops would, no doubt, do better if they could be assured the community would get behind them.

The fans, on the other hand, obviously feel they cannot guarantee their support until there's an upswing in the club fortunes. That's what you call an impasse.

Maravich Counts 52

By The Associated Press

It was a basket barrage, no less, in college basketball.

Pistol Pete Maravich tossed in 52 points, Austin Carr and Ken Durrett each 44, John Roche 34 and Tom Daley and Andy Owens each 33.

Roche scored 30 points of his over-all total in the second half as he rallied South Carolina to a 79-71 victory over Temple Wednesday night, the 15th in a row for the nationally second-ranked Gamecocks.

South Carolina was down 33-28 at halftime before Roche erupted after the intermission to turn the game around.

"Roche went to the basket more," explained Frank McGuire, South Carolina coach, after the contest which featured a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia. "If he had gone to the basket earlier he would have had 30 in the first half, too."

That would have given Roche a 60-point night compared to the 52 Maravich canned in leading Louisiana State to a 97-75 triumph over Florida at Gainesville.

Pistol Pete threw in 20 field goals and 12-of-16 free throws to up his all-time collegiate career scoring record to 3,088 points.

Carr got his 44 points for Notre Dame as he paced the Irish over St. Peters 135-88 at South Bend. Durrett tallied his 44 for LaSalle as the Explorers humbled Lafayette 102-73 in the opener of the Philadelphia twin bill.

Daley collected his 33 for Penn State at University Park, Pa., where the Nitanny Lions beat Syracuse 103-95. Owens got his 33 for Florida in the Gators' losing cause against LSU.

North Carolina State, No. 5 in The Associated Press poll, downed Maryland 64-54 at Raleigh for the Wolfpack's 16th victory against one defeat.

The Providence Friars upset 19th-ranked Villanova 54-44 on the shooting of Jim Larrange. He tied the score at 41-41 then put the Friars ahead to stay with another field goal. Altogether he tallied 18 points in the Friars' home court triumph.

Duquesne came from behind to beat Holy Cross 82-72 at Worcester paced by Mickey Davis' 25 points.

Virginia Tech shaded West Virginia 76-75, Louisville clicked over Memphis State 77-48, Duke beat Clemson 72-68, Georgia tripped Georgia Tech 74-69 and Ohio U. took Toledo 80-67. St. John's of New York defeated Rhode Island 85-67 in the completion of Tuesday night's suspended game.

All-American Calvin Murphy, usually a high scorer, matched his season low of 22 points, as Niagara trounced Buffalo 98-68. Murphy ran into foul trouble and sat out most of the second half.

Among the small colleges Dave Auten broke loose for 43 points in leading Amherst over Springfield 105-98 in double overtime. Greg Hill and Mike White each got 39 for American International as AIC downed Hartford 118-101.

Race's Nominees Climb To 876

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Richard Thompson, president and general manager of Ruidoso Downs, says the 13th annual All American Futurity nominations closed with 876 nominations, 165 more than the 1970 Futurity. This Quarter Horse Futurity at 400 yards for two year olds is scheduled to be run in three dashes as before with an estimated purse of $600,000. Winners share is estimated at $160,000.

Last year's All American winner was Easy Jet, owned by Walter Merrick of Sayre, Okla. Easy Jet's portion of the purse was $159,840 and $24,600, in Breeders Awards and nominations, totaling $814,440.

Thompson states the 1970 race season will get under way May 23 and promises an outstanding opening day card.

Rugged Foes On ACC Card

ABILENE — The addition of Colorado State College and Drake University gives Abilene Christian College one of its toughest football schedules ever. Head Coach Wally Bullington announced the 10-game 1970 slate Tuesday.

"We definitely added tough opposition in these two teams," said Bullington. Colorado State was undefeated with a 10-0 record in 1969 and ranked No. 5 nationally in the final Associated Press poll. Drake posted a 7-3-1 record, including a 29-21 loss to Southland Conference champion Arkansas State in the NCAA Pecan Bowl.

Bullington pointed out that CC plays the 1969 Pecan Bowl teams back-to-back, meeting Arkansas State Oct. 24 and Drake Oct. 31. Drake and Colorado State are both road games.

ACC opens the season Sept. 12 at home against long-time rival Howard Payne. The Wildcats finish with Trinity in San Antonio Nov. 14.

The schedule:
Sept. 12—Howard Payne, Abilene (7:30).
Sept. 19—East Texas, Abilene (7:30).
Sept. 26—Angelo State, San Angelo (7:30).
Oct. 3—Colorado State, Greeley, Colo. (7:30).
Oct. 10—E. New Mexico, Abilene (7:30).
Oct. 17—Lamar Tech, Beaumont (7:30).
Oct. 24—Arkansas State, Abilene (7:30).
Oct. 31—Drake, Des Moines (2:00).
Nov. 7—UT—Arlington, Abilene (2:00).
Nov. 14—Trinity, San Antonio (8:00).

South Plains Is Tied For Lead

LEVELLAND — South Plains College moved into a first place tie in Western Conference basketball standings by defeating Frank Phillips, 105-82, here Tuesday night.

The Texans are deadlocked with Lubbock Christian and Odessa College for the top spot. Each has a 6-2 record. Over-all, the Texans are 17-7.

Bruce Mundy scored 24 points and Albert Moore 21 for South Plains.

BILL RUSSELL

Russell Not Too Surprised As Selection As Top Cager

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — William F. Russell, the biggest Bill of the Boston Celtics, was duly appreciative—but not too amazed — that he had been named Basketball Player of the Decade in a special 1960-69 poll by The Associated Press.

And the key star and 1968-69 coach of a team that dominated the National Basketball Association in the decade just past, added a bit of typical Russell spice to the award.

"There were only two dominating teams during that decade, the Green Bay Packers and the Celtics," he said. For the spice, he added:

TOOK UMBRAGE

"I was offended when one television network named the New York Mets as the team of the decade."

"They coulda just as well named the New York Jets. They were an expansion team, too, and they didn't win anything until the last year of the decade."

Russell's credentials are considerable.

The list started at McLymonds High School in Oakland, Calif., and began growing at the University of San Francisco where Russell, an All-American, helped the Dons win 60 straight games, still the all-time collegiate record.

He was also a pivotal player on the undefeated United States basketball team which won the gold medal at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia.

UP IN 1957

The 6-foot-10 center joined the Celtics in 1957 as their No. 1 pick—a selection which would have gone to St. Louis were it not for the fact that the Hawks, fearing he might sign instead with the Harlem Globetrotters, traded their rights to Russell in exchange for Cliff Hagan and Ed Macauley.

"Big Six," a tag he acquired because of his uniform number, promptly led Boston to the NBA championship, the first of 11 during his 13-year pro career which included an unprecedented eight straight titles.

That string was snapped in 1967—Russell's first year as a player-coach—by the Philadelphia 76ers. That began the stories that Boston's "old men" had had it.

Instead, the Celts bounced back to win, squeaking into the playoffs with a fourth-place finish.

The Boston bunch became the "miracle men" of 1969 with another title.

In 963 regular-season games Russell averaged 15.1 points per game, piled up 4,096 assists and hauled in 21,721 rebounds. He added 4,014 rebounds, 770 assists and a 16.2 average in 165 playoff games.

SOFT WAY TO WATCH GOLF TOURNEY — While his wife sips coffee, a man trains binoculars on Lee Trevino from the balcony of his apartment alongside the Indian Wells Country Club course during the opening round Wednesday of the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic. Trevino, here missing a birdie on the 11th green, finished with a 70.

Charles Coody Shares Lead In Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The Bob Hope Classic, with its unique, often confusing format calls for a slightly different approach to golf, Arnold Palmer said.

"Well," Palmer said with a broad grin, "it requires a more liberal approach. If you can't concentrate, you sure shouldn't be playing in this tournament."

Palmer had a 68, four under par and one stroke off the lead Wednesday in the opening round of the only 90-hole event on the pro tour.

Veteran Bob Rosburg, Charles Coody, Labron Harris, Bruce Devlin and Larry Ziegler all had 67s to lead the closely bunched field.

Bobby Greenwood and Rod Funseth matched Palmer's 68. U.S. Open champion Orville Moody and Masters title-holder George Archer were among the dozen at 69. Lee Trevino and Pete Brown, the long-shot winner of last week's Andy Williams-San Diego Open, were in the big bunch at 70.

Defending champion Billy Casper had a 71. Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and British Open champ Tony Jacklin are not competing.

The 136 pros play one round on each of four courses—with a different team of three amateurs each day—for the first four days. Playing in foursomes, with three amateurs, it took almost five hours to play a round the first day.

"If you're playing good, it doesn't bother you at all," the free wheeling Ziegler said. "If you're playing bad, well . . . "

"It may require more concentration, Coody said.

"A lot depends on the amateurs you have to be with," said Devlin.

Palmer agreed.

"Usually the amateurs are pretty good," he said. "But you can get situations. Say you've got an important putt. The amateur is on in eight and is putting for a nine and wants to practice his putt. Well, it can get pretty distracting."

The 40-year-old master had six birdies, missed five other birdie putts of 10 feet or less and had two bogeys, one on the last hole that would have given him a share of the lead. He missed the green on that one, then missed a five-foot putt.

He played at Indian Wells, as did the 43-year-old Rosburg, a former PGA champ who had just returned to the tour on a full-time basis. Rosburg spiced his round with an eagle three, pitching in from 80 feet on the par five eighth.

Devlin, a one-time master plumber from Australia, Ziegler and Harris, a former amateur champ, all played La Quinta, generally considered the toughest of the four courses, and all had strings of three consecutive birdies.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — First-round scores Wednesday in the $125,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament:

Forsan Is Host To Garden City

FORSAN — The battle for the District 11-B girls' basketball championship comes down to a game here this evening between Forsan and Garden City, scheduled for about 7 p.m.

Forsan can win the crown outright with a victory and is slightly favored to prevail. Garden City, which has jelled this year under coach Jack Woodley, can tie for it with a win.

Boys' teams of the two schools square off about 8:20 p.m. Forsan now occupies second place in the standings, behind Bronte. The Buffaloes are fresh off their finest game of the season, a 30-point whacking of Water Valley.

Garden City has won three games in conference play and earlier this week mauled Sterling City.

The two contests may pack the Forsan gymnasium.

Over-all, Forsan's boys are 11-10 while the Forsan girls are 19-8.

Quite likely, coach George White of Forsan will start a boys' team composed of Darrow Cobb, Leon Hobbs, Bobby Davis, Jeff Williams and either Jeff Kuykendall or Jackie Willis.

Coach Bobby Evans of Garden City could counter with a team which includes Steve Hirt, Jerry Livingston, Steve Livingston, Richard Hayden and Richard Shafer.

Forsan's chief basket threats in the girls' games will be Gloria Dodd, Jackie Condron and Kay Walraven.

Bobbie Glenn and Lisa Hirt lead the Garden City fems into action.

Knicks' Win String Ends At 9 Games

By The Associated Press

The accurate bombarding of Lou Hudson and Dave Bing exploded two nine-game winning streaks in the National Basketball Association.

Hudson gunned in 36 points as the Atlanta Hawks trounced Eastern Division-leading New York 111-96 Wednesday night and snapped the Knicks' winning streak. It was the Knicks worst beating of the season.

The victory also moved the Hawks into first place in the West by a half game over the Los Angeles Lakers, who had their victory string snapped, 125-109, by the Detroit Pistons as Bing fired in 40 points.

Milwaukee turned back San Diego 141-123 and Seattle topped Cincinnati 121-115 in other NBA games.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh nipped Miami 110-109, New York whipped Indiana 102-92 and New Orleans outlasted Los Angeles 111-109 in overtime.

Tied 76-76 early in the final quarter, the Hawks broke the game open by racing to a 92-79 lead with 6:20 left.

Hudson scored 10 points and Walt Hazzard got eight of his 27 in the quarter. Willis Reed led New York with 26 points. The loss left New York 6½ games ahead of second-place Milwaukee.

Bing pumped in 16 points in the fourth quarter as Detroit snapped a three-game losing streak. Otto Moore added 23 points for the Pistons. Keith Erickson scored 24 for the Lakers, who played without Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, out with injuries.

Milwaukee whipped San Diego for the sixth straight time this season, breaking the game open in the second period by outscoring the Rockets 36-20.

With Lew Alcindor on the bench in foul trouble with three personals, Bob Dandridge picked up the scoring slack in the stanza, collecting 15 of his 23 points as the Bucks built a 65-49 halftime bulge.

Flynn Robinson topped Milwaukee with 30 points while Elvin Hayes paced San Diego with 20.

Agnew Wins Campus Polls Nine To One

By The Associated Press

By a nine to one ratio, the students who run Texas' college newspapers support Spiro Agnew's criticism of U.S. news media, an Associated Press opinion survey indicates.

Of student editors responding to a questionnaire sent 30 colleges throughout Texas, only one opposed Agnew's blast at network television and certain newspapers' news coverage.

Nine others checked "yes" to the question: "Is Vice President Agnew's criticism of the press justified?"

The lone negative response came from Frank Lewis, editor of The Skiff at Texas Christian University, who said "Agnew has a big mouth and often puts his foot there."

Support for Agnew came from editors at Abilene, Kingsville, Huntsville, Plainview, Brownwood, Commerce, Nacogdoches, Lubbock and El Paso.

Some of the remarks of Agnew's supporters:

"The press feels free to criticize government officials. Others also have the right to criticize or evaluate today's news media. They need it occasionally. It just hadn't come from so high up before,"—Garner Roberts, Abilene Christian College Optimist.

"Too much of the country's most influential industry has played politics and favoritism in its news editing and censoring. An occasional spanking keeps it in line, for the good of the consumer."—Gene Deason, Howard Payne Yellowjacket.

"No matter what a reporter writes, eventually prejudice is going to creep into his stories. Mr. Agnew's charge, I think, was directed to the more overt expressions that leave little room for doubt. Just as no one can seemingly ever get the true facts about what's going on about this issue or that issue in politics, for example, no one ever seems to get the right or at least the same facts from reports from the news media."—Danny Andrews, Wayland Baptist College Trail Blazer.

"TV commentators do not often clearly distinguish between that which they report as fact and that which is purely editorial comment."—Jimmy Snowden, Texas Tech University Daily.

"It (the Agnew criticism) should sure keep us on our toes. Some of his points were justified and we should listen, but not fall to government pressure."—Murray Giles, Sam Houston Houstonian.

"While I do believe the press and electronic media take unfair advantages in criticism of the President, I feel it would be dangerous to try to curtail such criticism since the freedom of speech and of the press might be jeopardized."—Jerry Cowling, East Texas State University East Texan.

Tydings Blocks Carswell Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., blocked a vote today on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell, saying the record is still incomplete and the appointment should not be "steamrollered through."

At a closed committee meeting, Tydings invoked a rule under which any member had the right to force a one-week delay in voting on the nomination of the 50-year-old southern judge.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said that because the Senate will be in recess next week no committee meeting now can be held until Feb. 16 or 17.

Eastland, a supporter of Carswell, predicted anew that Carswell would be confirmed by the Senate.

Tydings told newsmen that he has not yet made up his mind on how he will vote on the nomination, saying that he is going to wait until Carswell submits a statement in rebuttal to testimony critical of his civil rights record.

Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York, announced, meanwhile, that he will vote against the nomination. He was the first Republican senator to do so.

Goodell said he is opposed to Carswell because the judge "has failed to heed and promote the civil rights revolution of the past decade."

"He has demonstrated a basic insensitivity to fundamental civil liberties issues, which are essential to our survival as one, indivisible nation," Goodell said, adding this made Carswell unfit for the Supreme Court regardless of any other qualifications.

Before Goodell only two senators have said publicly they would oppose the southern judge —William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, both Democrats.

Tyding's announcement that he will invoke a rule allowing any committee member to delay a vote by the panel for a week apparently means no action on the confirmation until the Senate is in the midst of a Lincoln Day recess lasting until Feb. 17.

Civil rights leaders have been urging the committee to give them more time to search for ammunition to use in their fight against the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., judge, now on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals.

Carswell, who in repudiating a white supremacy speech he made 22 years ago testified last week that he is no racist, was expected to file a statement during the day in answer to his critics.

The committee closed its public hearings Tuesday but agreed to leave the record open until midnight tonight for Carswell or anyone else who wished to submit a statement.

Meanwhile, there were reports one stumbling block to a committee vote on the nomination had been resolved.

This impasse developed Tuesday when Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., proposed the committee vote Monday on Carswell but at the same time agree to act April 14 on a long-stalled constitutional amendment for the direct popular election of presidents.

This ran into a strong objection from Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a supporter of Carswell but a foe of the direct election amendment. But Bayh informed colleagues Wednesday that Thurmond's protest had been smoothed out, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., reported.

And Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Wednesday he thought Bayh was entitled to have a time fixed for voting on the electoral reform amendment. He also said the committee ought to agree to vote on Carswell's nomination.

Riding Club Projects Set

COLORADO CITY — Plans were made for several projects this spring and summer by the Western Riding Club at the club meeting Monday night in Lone Wolf Electric Medallion Room.

Coming up first Feb. 22 will be one of three playdays scheduled by the Riding Club. The second and third playdays will be held on March 29 and April 26. These playdays will start at 1:30 p.m. at the arena west of Colorado City. Ribbons will be given in each of the events and buckles will be presented to high point winners in each event at the final playday on April 26.

Also the club made plans for its annual quarter horse show to be held May 30 at 10 a.m. in the arena. Leo Thompson and Dolores Wood will be in charge of this year's show.

Plans also were made to have an A.J.R.A.-approved junior rodeo in the early part of the summer. Dates for this show will be May 27, 28, 29 and 30, pending approval of the American Junior Rodeo Association. Red Whatley, well-known rodeo producer from Crosbyton, will be the producer of the stock for the four-day show.

Byron Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Byrne, was elected president of the club for 1970. Dink Rees is the new vice president, and Brenda Conard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conard, will be secretary-treasurer. Bill Hudson and Leo Thompson are the two new directors replacing Choppy Rees and E. G. Banks whose terms expired. Hold-over directors are Jug Rees, Jimmy Moody, Romaine Hammond, R. H. Drennen and Rex McKenney.

Burns, Tollett Attend Hearing

District Attorney Wayne Burns and his special investigator Wayne Tollett are in Brownwood today for a discovery hearing in the Rae Bourbon murder case scheduled to go on trial there Feb. 16.

In a discovery hearing the defense has the right to ask questions concerning the prosecution's evidence. Judge Joe Dibrell, 35th District, is presiding.

Bourbon is accused as an accomplice in the death of A. D. Blount, local pet shop owner, here in December, 1968. Bobby Chrisco, 21, was convicted of the murder here in October and sentenced to life in prison. Bobbie Crain, 22, is awaiting trial in Ector County charged with the murder. Crain and Bourbon were granted changes of venue in the case.

County Clubbers Enter Stock In El Paso Show

Two Howard County youngsters in their last year of 4-H work will enter steers in the Southwestern International Livestock Show Monday in El Paso.

"It looks like we might get a grand champion steer out of the show," County Agent Paul Gross said this morning.

Dolores Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lankford, Big Spring, is entering two steers, and Richie Tubb, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tubb, Garden City Route, will enter one. Both are 18.

"Dolores won reserve grand champion at the El Paso show in 1963, and she could do it again this year," Gross said. "She's got a real good calf."

There are 10 Howard County youngsters entering 22 barrows in competition Tuesday at the show, Gross said. They are Larry Don Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaw, Knott; Dirk and Carla Perry, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Perry, Lomax; Cindy and Summer Shaw, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw, Garden City Route; Johnny and Patty Peugh, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh, Knott; Kelly and Kayla Gaskins, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Knott; and Greg Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gross.

Gross and his assistant Jim Allison will be accompanying the group to El Paso Friday morning. They will return to Big Spring the following Friday after the stock sale. Some of the parents will also be attending the show.

Gross said approximately 700 barrows will be entered for prize money from $3 to $15 through 10 places. Prize money for steers ranges from $10 to $50 through 15 places with approximately 400 steers expected to be entered.

Opening lead: Five of ♠

When East observed that declarer was pursuing a course which could not help but succeed in today's hand, it was merely sound strategy on his part to steer his opponent in another direction. Whether or not South should have been influenced by East's action we will leave to the reader's judgment.

West opened the five of spades against South's three no trump contract, the seven was played from dummy and Easts' eight dislodged declarer's queen. Declarer could count six top tricks in spades, hearts, and clubs. Three more might be obtained in diamonds, if declarer were lucky enough to find East with the ace and one. He could, under the circumstances, lead a diamond from dummy thru East and win the first trick with his king. A diamond return is then ducked in both hands felling the ace and establishing the rest of the suit.

Declarer led a small club to dummy's ten and returned the three of diamonds. East was obliged to play low and South's king won the trick. Declarer was about to play a second diamond when he perceived an alternative prospect. With the diamond in, he now had seven tricks and needed only two more. If East had either a singleton heart honor or the doubleton king-queen, then two additional tricks could be established in that suit.

At no additional risk, South decided to cash the heart ace just to see what happened. East was fully aware of the consequences for his side if South played another diamond and, in an effort to convince his opponent that richer rewards lay elsewhere, he casually dropped the king of hearts under South's ace. The results of this play were far reaching: declarer confidently continued with the eight of hearts permitting it to ride.

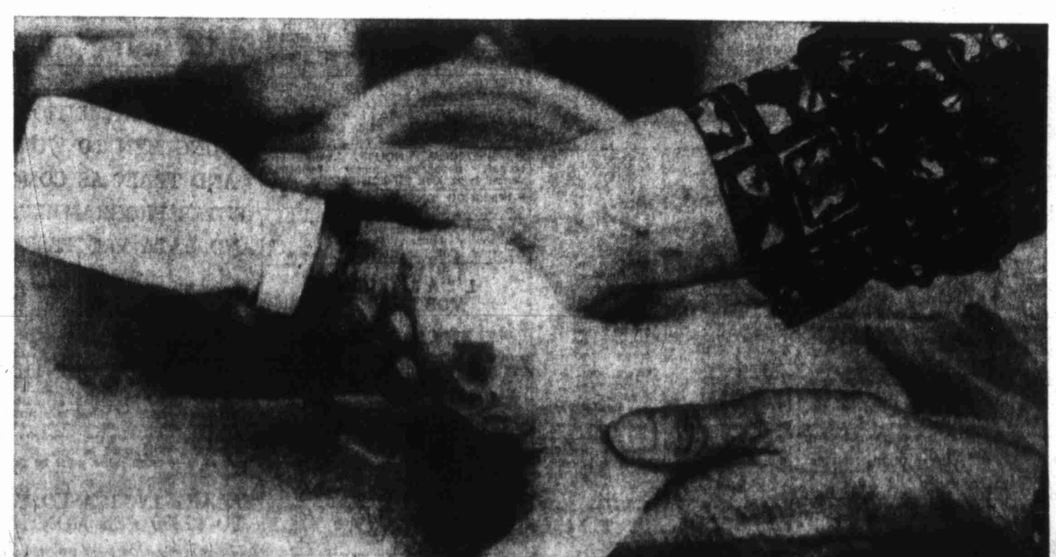

East took the trick with the ten of hearts and the king of spades smothered dummy's jack and cleared South's last stopper. There was no way for declarer to establish his ninth trick in time anymore, and he went down instead to a two trick defeat.

City Hall Cost Estimates Spiral

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Cost estimates for the proposed Dallas City Hall complex have now risen to $57 million.

The new figures include $46.9 million for the City Hall building, underground parking and civil defense center with an additional $10 million for land purchase.

The increases are $14.5 million above cost estimates when approval was given for the Crossroads bond program in 1967. The cost figures exceed by $8 million estimates made in September, 1968.

Veteran Pilots To Speak At Class 70-05 Ceremonies

Undergraduate pilot training class 70-05 will have two speakers for its dining-in and graduation exercises here Friday and Saturday.

Max Feibelman, a retired Air Force Lieutenant Colonel and former classmate of Col. Harrison Lobdell Jr., wing commander, and Col. Anderson Atkinson, deputy commander for operations, will be the class' dining-in speaker, Friday.

Brig. Gen. Robert Maloy, assistant deputy chief of staff, personnel, for the military personnel center at Randolph AFB, will be the graduation speaker in Withycombe Hall at 10 a.m. Saturday. The class, first to graduate in 1970, has 46 Air Force officers, two members of the National Guard, and four Iranian officers, here on the military assistance program.

Feibelman will speak to the class at 7 p.m. in the Officers Open Mess. He is currently employed with Litten Systems, Inc., a division of Litten Industries Corporation, and will come to Webb from California.

He retired from the Air Force in 1967 as a lieutenant colonel. His early military career, after graduation from West Point, was devoted to fighter aircraft, serving in the 20th and 18th Fighter Groups. After a tour in the Philippines, he attended the first phase of atomic energy training and subsequently entered the armamant and missile career field.

He was engaged from 1950 through 1962 in every major missile program, except 'Titan,' in the Air Force inventory, with assignments at Cape Kennedy, Fla., in Germany, and Vandenberg, Calif. His last tour of duty was in the Pentagon, associated with future space and missile programs.

He became executive officer for the director for strategic and defense requirements of the directorate of requirements and development planning. He holds various awards and decorations, the master missileman badge, and is a command pilot.

BRIG. GEN. ROBERT MALOY

At the guidance and control division of Litten Industries, Feibelman has served as planning director and subsequently assistant to the vice president of advanced programs. He is active in numerous civic and professional organizations, including the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, Air Force Association, American Fighter Pilots Association, Los Angeles Heart Association, and is treasurer of the Los Angeles West Point Society.

Gen. Maloy, a native of Charleston, Ill., began his military career in 1943, shortly after his graduation from Community High School in Granite City, Ill. He received his pilot wings and a commission as second lieutenant at Luke Field, Ariz., in 1944 and then volunteered for, and immediately began, night fighter training in the F-61 Black Widow.

In June, 1945, he arrived in Western China and was assigned to the 426th Night Fighter Squadron. At the end of World War II, he remained in China to train Chinese pilots as a member of the China-Liaison Mission, a forerunner of the Military Assistance Advisory Group to China. In 1946 he became assistant air attache with the United States Embassy in Manking, China.

In August, 1948, Gen. Maloy reported to Eglin AFB, Fla., where he served as a test pilot and squadron operations officer, and in 1949 attended the Air Tactical School at Tyndall AFB, Fla. During 1953, he attended the Royal Air Force Staff College at Bracknell, England, and returned to the United States in January, 1954, for assignment to the directorate of plans, Headquarters United States Air Force.

Following assignments in Europe and the United States, Gen. Maloy was moved to Da Nang AB, Vietnam, in May, 1967, where he commanded the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing. In October of that year he was leading an air strike against targets in North Vietnam when his McDonnell F-4 was hit. He made it to the sea where he and his pilot ejected from their aircraft and were picked up by the crew of a helicopter from the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service.

After recovering from a neck fracture, he was assigned in February, 1968, to his present position.

His military decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with three oak leaf clusters, Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star Medal with "V" device, Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters, Purple Heart, Republic of Vietnam Medal of Honor and Cross of Gallantry with Palm, and the Chinese Air Force Yeng Hi.

LT Meeting

All interested residents are invited to attend the meeting of the Little Theatre of Big Spring membership today, at 7:30 p.m. at 2608 Rebecca. Current business of the organization will be discussed, Mrs. Lida Boland, president said.

Apparent Wave Of Killings At Drive-Ins

DALLAS (AP) — An apparent wave of killings of women in robberies at drive-in groceries and gas stations continued Wednesday when two Fort Worth-Dallas area women were killed.

The latest victims were an Irving attendant at a self-service gas station and a Grand Prairie clerk at a drive-in grocery.

Police said both women were robbed of an undetermined amount of money.

The Grand Prairie victim was identified as Mattie L. Smith about 50. Police said she was shot once in the neck. The shooting occurred at the Mid Cities Cut Rate Drive-In Grocery Wednesday afternoon.

Thirty minutes earlier, a woman gasoline station attendant in Irving was shot to death and apparently robbed, Irvin police said.

Irving police identified the attendant as Mrs. Lottie Waddle, 48, of Grand Prairie. She died en route to Irving Community Hospital.

"The two incidents are too similar to be coincidental, "a police spokesman said. "They very well could be related. The gunman would have had time to pull both jobs."

On Jan. 27, April Tuft, 29, of Dallas, was gunned down at a 7-eleven drive-in she had managed for two years. On Jan. 20, Violet I. Phelps was killed at a self-service gas station robbery near Fort Worth. She and her husband operated the station.

BSP Unit Discusses American Literature

A look at American literature was taken by Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Don Cunningham, Sand Springs.

Mrs. Buddy Owens presented the program, discussing the importance of biographies, types of journalism and modern trends in literature. In summation, she noted that the trend is toward romanticism and science fiction.

The chapter presented a farewell gift and Mizpah disc to Mrs. James Del Vecchio who will be moving to Ohio while her husband serves overseas with the Air Force.

Mrs. Joe Smith, president, reminded the group of the BSP Sweetheart Ball Feb. 14 at Big Spring Country Club. She also announced that the BSP city council will meet this evening in the home of Mrs. Gerald Wooten with Mrs. Gerald Cox and Mrs. Cunningham representing the chapter. Mrs. Morris Fraley, social chairman, announced that a costume party for members and their husbands will be held Feb. 28.

The next regular meeting will be held Feb. 17 in the home of Mrs. Jackie Owens, Sand Springs.

Gardeners Hear Talk Wednesday

The Big Spring Garden Club heard about suitable ground covers for West Texas from Mrs. D. S. Riley, a national judge, Wednesday in the home of Mrs. G. T. Hall. Cohostess was Mrs. Allen Hamilton.

"Ground covers are used for any problem site," Mrs. Riley said. "Ground covers prevent erosion, conserve water and afford easy maintenance on steep banks and shady spots."

Mrs. Riley also read a paper entitled "A Touch of Gray" written by Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, a national judge. Mrs. Bristow wrote that silverleaf maple, Arizona cypress, perennial morning glory and pittosporum provided good background grays. She suggested dusty miller as a foreground gray.

Mrs. Riley listed dicondra, ivy, vinca, agua, lippia, thrift, ganzia and ice plants as adaptable ground covers for West Texas.

Mrs. A. J. Atkins was welcomed as a new member, and convention dates were announced. The district convention will be March 16-17 in Midland, and the state convention will be April 28-30 in San Antonio.

Altar Committee For February

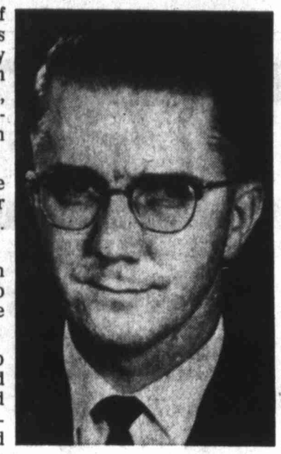

The altar committee for February was named by Mrs. Albert Rutherford when she presided for Tuesday's meeting of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society. Those named were Mrs. George Foster, chairman; Mrs. E. Reinkemeyer and Mrs. Jack Powell.

It was announced that anyone having usable clothing or household items is asked to donate them to the needy by calling Mrs. Riley Ward, 267-6418.

Prayers were led by the Rev. William Meagher and Mrs. Jack Engel. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. L. D. Simpson, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Engel and Mrs. Edward Holland.

R. E. Hickson Named 'Boss Of The Year'

R. E. Hickson, manager of Hemphill-Wells Company, was named "Boss of the Year" by the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at a bosses banquet held Tuesday evening in the Patio Room of Holiday Inn.

R. E. HICKSON

Jim Gillispie, the 1969 title holder, read the winning letter of nomination written by Mrs. Charles Fannin.

Guest speaker was Jim Baum of Radio Station KBYG, who spoke on "Citizenship," the theme for the banquet.

"America has grown too soft," said Baum, "we should have more law enforcement and stand behind our law enforcement officers." Baum noted that from 1960 to 1968, the crime rate rose 99 per cent in comparison to a 11 per cent increase in population. He blamed this in part, on the influences of too much crime or questionable material shown on television and movies which are rated "X."

"In order for people to be able to go out on our streets at night in safety, crime will have to be drastically reduced," continued Baum. He expressed the opinion that the church is losing its influence, suggesting a moral "shot in the arm" by "a return to the church and the Golden Rule."

In conclusion, Baum said every citizen should be familiar with the country's laws and adults should set a better example for young people.

Miss Shirley Lee, president, extended the welcome to members and guests, after which a vocational talk was given by Mrs. Kyle Cauble, an employe of the Hobby Center. Mrs. Cauble described her work, noting that among the things sold by the store are picture frames, painting supplies, knitting needles and thread and decoupage supplies.

Mrs. Lambert Misek presented a brief history of ABWA, and the benediction was by Mrs. Ruby Exline.

The tables were decorated in colors of red, white and blue to carry out a patriotic theme. The head table held an arrangement of daisies, chrysanthemums, irises and gladioli in red, white and blue, and the same colors were repeated in streamers and miniature flags on the other tables.

Urge Use Of Buildings As Community Centers

"New Day for the Community Center" was the topic of a program given by Mrs. David Pohl Monday during a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service at Wesley United Methodist Church.

Assisting Mrs. Pohl with the program were Mrs. J. C. Ray, Mrs. J. E. Peters and Mrs. Alta King. They told of current trends to modernize building and some church facilities to provide working areas, playgrounds and gathering places for residents of all ages. They encouraged making use of idle buildings for the good of the community.

Mrs. Ben Boadle presided, and prayer was led by Mrs. Barry McLean. The Martha Foster Circle was the host group.

WMU Growth In New England

The Baptist Women's Missionary Union in the northeast United States was the program theme of the WMS meeting Tuesday morning at Westside Baptist Church. Mrs. J. O. Murphy, in charge of the program, said the northeast is the fastest growing missionary area in the nation.

Mrs. J. A. Andrews discussed the organization of the WMU in New England in spite of great distances. Then Mrs. E. O. Sanderson told of how problems complicated progress of WMU but "Baptist women wouldn't let distance separate them."

"WMU at Work in the New England Area and It's Great Challenges" was discussed by Mrs. Leroy Minchew. Mrs. C. L. Kirkland said help is needed in the northeast and that these small churches need support and funds.

The birthday calendar was read by Mrs. Minchew. Prayers were given by Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. B. N. Boroughs.

Hyperion Guests Tell Of Native Countries

Special speakers at the 1955 Hyperion Club meeting Tuesday were members of the International Wives Club, Mrs. Robert Bauer of Great Britain and Mrs. Michael Suprenant of Holland, who told of their native lands.

Hostess was Mrs. W. A. Moore, 528 Scott, and cohostesses were Mrs. Charles Beil and Mrs. Jimmy Morehead.

Mrs. Walter Wheat, vice president, introduced the speakers. Mrs. Bauer was born in Ireland and reared in England. She described the closeness of family life, friendliness of the people and beauty of the countryside in her homeland which she plans to visit later this year.

Mrs. Suprenant told of the crowded conditions and great number of people living on small parcels of land in Holland. However, she said the cost of living there is less than in other countries and that food is plentiful, especially fresh fruit and vegetables which are available year round. No one in Holland is poor and all children are given clothing allowances by the government. Few women work outside of the home, and there is little juvenile delinquency, Mrs. Suprenant said.

During club business, members agreed to sponsor a February birthday party for the Big Spring Boys Club.

Mrs. James Owens, president, appointed a nominating committee comprised of Mrs. Morehead, Mrs. John Ritenour and Mrs. Walter Ross.

Members signed a letter to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, expressing their desire for more rigid enforcement of drug laws, especially in the prevention of drug sale to youth.

Guests were Mrs. Wally Cataldo and daughter, Juliann.

Next meeting will be a guest tea March 3 at the home of Mrs. Hank McDaniel, 808 Edwards. Each member plans to bring two guests.

A LOVELIER YOU

Bad Posture Turns Curves Into Bulges

By MARY SUE MILLER
(Fourth in a series of five special columns: "Easy Ways To Lose and Look It.")

The trimmest figure can be destroyed by sleazy carriage. Flawed posture looks awkward, of course. But worse, it eventually causes normal curves to bulge in spite of all efforts at diet and exercise. Aches, pains and fatigue just naturally follow.

Small wonder that no figure program would be complete without a bit of posture work. To judge your grace-ability, check your stance against the ideal: When you stand, stand still and tall. Draw up to your full height and then higher; draw your neck out of your shoulders, your waist out of your hips and your weight out of your feet.

When you can manage all that, raise your chest, relax your shoulders, — drop, don't round them — and pull your stomach IN. What about your legs? They'll look great if you keep them together with the knees flexed and the toes of one foot slightly forward.

To set yourself in motion, you begin with perfect posture. The desirable movement is an easy glide . . . Toes step straight ahead; heels and toes touch the ground almost simultaneously; knees never fully straighten out; the transfer of weight flows evenly from the hip joints; your arms swing close to your body. Not wanted are wiggles, jiggles and sways.

Thus, a lovely carriage awaits. No Cinderella Pumpkin for you.

Tomorrow: Woman, Nobly Planned.

TOPS Club Views Film Of Children

TOPS Sand Springs Slender Benders met at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Tuesday to view a movie showing the determination of children in therapy, rehabilitating themselves. Jim Thompson, director, showed the film to compare the determination of the children with the will power also needed to lose weight.

Mrs. Estil Petty won a bowl of fruit.

The club will meet Tuesday to discuss a fund-raising project to send their leader, Mrs. Petty, to the TOPS Recognition Day meeting in Houston in April.

For Bright Look Use Eye Lotion

No amount of eye make-up can enhance the appearance of dull, red eyes. The only attractive eyes are bright ones!

After a baby arrives, remember that fatigue often makes eyes look dull. You can give eyes a "look-alert look" by using decongestant eye drops that take out the red and restore whiteness in seconds.

Eye drops can be comforting companions for the new father as well as the mother, to restore that special sparkle if the baby has caused parents to lose precious sleep.

But if your eyes look and feel tired and dull chronically, be sure to consult an eye specialist. Remember, your eyes are the only ones you'll ever have, so take care of them.

Car Rolls On Her After Accident

LEAGUE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Linda Garcia, 18, of San Leon was killed shortly before midnight Wednesday when her car ran off Interstate 45 just outside League City.

Officers said the vehicle veered into a ditch, swerved back onto the road and overturned. Miss Garcia was thrown out and the car rolled on her.

A companion, Diane Pound of Dickinson, was taken to a Galveston hospital.

Claims Eagle Losing Money

AUSTIN (AP) — A hearing on Missouri Pacific Railway's application to discontinue the St. Louis Eagle passenger train ended Wednesday, but a decision is not expected from the Texas Railroad Commission until at least April.

The Eagle, one of only three passenger trains that cross Texas, runs from Texarkana to Laredo and back once daily.

The company says it has been losing money on the Eagle.

Among opponents to the discontinuance is the National Association of Railroad Passengers.

Railroad Commission hearings have been held in Laredo, San Antonio, Palestine and Austin.

Each side has 45 days to file briefs, unless one or both asks for a transcript of the hearings, in which case an additional 45 days will be allowed. Another 30 days will be permitted for filing exceptions to the hearing examiners' recommendation to the commission.

Aggie Prexy Reported In Serious Condition

HOUSTON (AP) — Gen. Earl Rudder, president of the Texas A&M University System, remained in serious condition today in Methodist Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Wednesday Rudder, 59, had suffered a stroke (cerebral hemorrhage) and was in the neurological intensive care unit of the hospital.

Rudder, a hero of the D-day invasion of France in World War II, became ill in College Station last Thursday night.

He was first hospitalized in Bryan, then transferred to St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital here. He was moved Monday to the adjacent Methodist Hospital in the Texas Medical Center.

Rudder was first believed to be suffering from a heart ailment but tests at Methodist Hospital revealed the brain condition, a hospital spokesman said. An A&M spokesman said Rudder suffered no heart damage.

Rudder was named vice president of Texas A&M in 1958 and promoted to president in 1959. In 1965 he was named president of the entire Texas A&M System which includes Texas A&M University, Tarlton State College, Prairie View A&M College, the Texas Forestry Service, the Texas Maritime Academy at Galveston and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rudder led a contingent of U. S. Rangers who scaled a high cliff in the face of heavy enemy gunfire during the 1944 D-day landings in Normandy.

He was named land commissioner by Gov. Alan Shivers in 1955 and was elected to the office in 1956. He was named a Brigadier General in the U.S. Army Reserves in 1956 and promoted to major general in 1957. At one time he commanded the 90th Infantry Division in Reserve.

Rudder is the recipient of both the Distinguished Service Cross, the nation's second highest military honor, and the Distinguished Service Medal, its highest peacetime award.

DETECTOR — Alice Chraden shows a knife taped to her leg, which was detected by two poles, during a demonstration of anti-hijacking equipment before the House Judiciary Committee in Washington. Airlines are using this walk-through detector along with an electronic police nightstick, used for closer examination, in their program to deter hijacking.

Solons Eye Antihijack Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been given a preview of a new type of police nightstick that can detect a concealed gun, a razor blade or even a narcotics kit.

The device, and still another version of it, a flashlight model, are designed to supplement antihijacking weapons-detectors now in operation at a number of airports.

Congressmen got a look at the instruments during a showing at the House Judiciary Committee chamber this week.

"The equipment promises to make the law enforcement officer's job safer and easier, and will cost the taxpayer less," said Malcolm Schwartz, president of Infinetics, Inc., a Wilmington, Del., producer of electronic magnetic devices.

The equipment was developed and tested by the Federal Aviation Administration as part of its program to deter hijackings.

Eastern Air Lines last October became the first airline to put the system in use. Trans World Airlines adopted it last December, and Pan American World Airways joined the parade last month.

The antihijacking set consists first of two poles or towers which form a gate or entry way at airport ticket counters or boarding points.

When a person carrying a gun or other fairly large metal object passes between the poles, a light flashes an alarm.

The detectors can be on the hidden side of a wall, or concealed in sign-holders, guide fences or even in coat racks or umbrella stands.

A person who triggers an alarm is asked to step aside for a further check. Here an officer can point the sensor-equipped nightstick, cane or flashlight, at him to find the location of the metal object.

H. R. MacPherson, Infinetics project manager, said police departments of Wilmington, Del., Detroit, New York and other cities are evaluating the new device. The detectors were used at the entrance to the courtroom in the recent New Jersey Mafia hearings, he said.

They caught no one with concealed weapons except detectives or other persons authorized to use them, but turned up two persons who were trying to smuggle tape recorders into the room, he said.

Suckling Pig

JOUBERTINA, South Africa (AP) — Farmer's wife Louisa Potgieter couldn't fathom why her cow was giving less milk. The cow's milk supply dwindled to nothing at all until her sister paid an unexpected visit to the cowshed one morning. Standing on its hind trotters with milk foaming around its snout was a pig, lustily sucking away at the cow. Farmer Roelof Potgieter killed the thief.

Shaker Heights Blast Solved?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police speculated today that Martin Berns, 21, a former mental patient, may have bombed the municipal building in suburban Shaker heights and possibly died in the blast.

"We think he worked alone and we don't think he was contemplating suicide," said Shaker Heights Police Chief Carl Longstreet.

Berns has not been seen since an explosion Monday leveled the colonial-style building, which housed the suburb's municipal court and police station, and injured 15 persons.

Bits of hair, bone and flesh were found in the wreckage Wednesday.

An area around Berns' home was sealed off and police removed a large box of explosives, a carbine and several boxes of ammunition and samples of hair taken from a brush.

An M1 rifle, two hand guns, four hand grenades, several fuses and ammunition earlier were removed from a car registered to Berns' mother. It was parked near the municipal building.

Dr. Irving Rosen, 50, a psychiatrist, was shot in front of his home not far from the municipal building shortly before the blast. His wound was not fatal. Rosen had treated Berns.

Jury Selection For Death Trial

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — This was the ninth day of jury selection and four still were needed for the murder trial of Peter Scamardo.

Scamardo, 31, of Hearne, is accused of being an accomplice in the shooting death of his former business partner, Sam Degelia Jr. Degelia was found shot to death July 11, 1968, near McAllen.

A new venire of 250 persons was cut by absentees and exemptions to 21 prospective jurors Wednesday.

'Man Of Year' Denied Drink

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Air Force Col. Daniel "Chappie" James was named "Man of the Year" by the Pensacola Kiwanis Club one night and refused a drink in a bar the next by a man who said he had never served a Negro.

James, who commands Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya, was recently appointed assistant deputy secretary for public affairs in the Defense Department.

"I didn't make a big noise about it at the time," he said Wednesday in Washington.

"I was sensitive to the fact . . . that it may be embarrassing to the very people I didn't want to be embarrassed. I knew how the people who mattered in Pensacola felt about me."

Jack Horne, owner and operator of the lounge, said in an interview that he denied admission to James Friday night, "because it's always been a custom with us" not to serve Negroes.

"We never have, and I couldn't make any exceptions in that particular case. I couldn't do otherwise and be fair to all my customers," Horne said.

Horne's Torch Lounge is near Pensacola's Navy yard but he said its clientele is mostly civilians—"it's a neighborhood group."

Horne, 56, said military police had discussed the incident with him, but he had heard nothing further.

VENDYL M. JONES

Missionary At Grace Baptist Church Tonight

A missionary-journalist from Jerusalem, Israel, will be speaking at 7 p.m. today at Grace Baptist Church on "The Next Crisis in the Middle East War — Israel's Conquest of Amman Jordan."

The Rev. Vendyl M. Jones has been a student of Judaica for 13 years and is now studying in the Hebrew University Yeshivah Chabad and the Kabballah in Jerusalem. He is president of the Judaic Christian Research Foundation which is a duo-group effort in Jewish Christian relations.

He has spoken to 126 colleges and universities in the United States and will speak at the University of Texas in Austin Feb. 16. He will return to Israel in August.

Rev. Jones will appear on local radio stations and will speak to the foreign students at Webb AFB while in Big Spring. He was scheduled to arrive this morning and will leave Friday morning.

Several years ago Rev. Jones wrote a paper on the application of the Kabballah to Jesus teaching of the Second Coming of Christ and indicated there would be a decade of war in the Middle East from 1967-77.

He will conduct a question and answer session after his talk.

Warblers Tee Off Golfers

AUSTIN (AP) — Supporters of a proposed 9-hole golf course in Meridian State Park get their chance today to do battles with the golden cheek warbler.

Two scientists testified Wednesday that the golf course would destroy a rare ecological system, the only kind where the equally rare warbler makes his nest.

Dr. Frederick Gehlbach, a biology professor at Baylor University, and Warren Pulich, of the University of Dallas testified in state district court.

Dist. Judge Herman Jones has not yet ruled on a point conservationists are watching closely: Whether conservationists may sue as "private attorneys general."

Among the plaintiffs are the Texas Committee on Natural Resources and the Travis County Audubon Society.

The defendants, including the Parks and Wildlife Commission say the plaintiffs have no standing in the case because they own no land surrounding the park and cannot show the traditional monetary damage.

Plaintiffs say the parks commission failed to hold a public hearing, as required by law, before granting a lease on 78.8 acres of the park to the Lakeview Recreation Association for the golf course.

They say the commission is permitting the destruction of a virgin cedar brake that Gehlback called "a living museum."

Pulich, called by Gehlbach the world's foremost authority on the golden cheek warbler, said Meridian State Park is the only place the public may go to view the warbler.

Pulich estimates only 15,000 of the birds are left, and that about 12 nest in the park. The other warblers nest in Cedar Brakes on private land in the Edwards Plateau area.

Seeks Office, Loses His Job

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Bernard Crick filed for election as sheriff and promptly lost his job.

Sheriff Bill Ummel, who fired Crick, had already filed for reelection.

"I can't have a man working for me and against me at the same time," said Ummel Wednesday. He said he had been pleased with Crick's work.

MRS. H. H. (TINY) STEPHENS

'Fund Raiser' Is Fine Cook

By RHODA LEMONS

Mrs. H. H. (Tiny) Stephens has been associated with the March of Dimes for 18 years and has served as executive secretary of Caprock Chapter (MOD) for the past five years.

The counties she serves include Howard, Glasscock, Scurry, Borden, Gaines, Martin, Dawson and Mitchell. She is responsible for coordinating the mothers' marches and getting workers for the March of Dimes fund drive. She sends out hundreds of letters and makes personal appearances wherever she is asked to show films or 'just talk' on the program. One of the biggest goals of the MOD now is eliminating birth defects.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, who reside at 1507 Eleventh Place, have two married children, James Howard of Houston, and Mrs. Philip (Susan) Parks, Fort Worth. They have one grandson, James Howard Jr., 2.

Mrs. Stephens is filled with energy and can get 'mountains of work' done while most people are just getting started. She is well-known among her friends for baking delicious cakes and candies.

"I use a recipe, but it really is my own technique," said Mrs. Stephens. "I just want to help people, and I find that serving them delicious food is a help to them."

Now that her children are reared, Mrs. Stephens spends most of her time doing civic or church work. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church and is especially active in the Woman's Society of Christian Service. She is a past president of the Big Spring District of WSCS, and from 1958 to 1963, was secretary of supply work. This entailed supplying clothing and other articles for the needy and promoting projects sponsored by the society. In 1968, Mrs. Stephens was elected Northwest Texas conference secretary which includes editing the annual reports. She is now having a conference bulletin printed for the annual meeting March 3-4.

Mrs. Stephens is a member of the South-Central jurisdiction of Southern states and secretary of the Regional Planning committee. The planning committee meets twice each year, the next meeting being Feb. 27-28 in Dallas.

Mrs. Stephens was listed in "Who's Who in American Women" in 1964, when her category was church work.

She has served in the capacity of virtually every office in the local WSCS, and she is vitally interested in her church work.

"Now that I have the time to do the things I am really interested in, I find life very full indeed," said Mrs. Stephens. "I am not smart, it is just that I am willing to work."

She attends conference meetings held annually in Fayetteville, Ark., where she said there is some of the most beautiful country in the world. She has made trips to northeastern states in her work and enjoys the traveling.

The Stephenses prefer to entertain close friends at home for small dinner parties; however, she has had as many as 200 persons in her home. The reception rooms in the home are planned to form a circle from living room, dining area, kitchen to den. "We were crowded, but we managed," laughed Mrs. Stephens.

Mrs. Stephens was born and reared in Big Spring. She has two sisters, Mrs. A. D. Meador and Mrs. Cecil Nabors, with whom she has "lots of fun."

Her husband is a sports enthusiast. He particularly enjoys football and fishing, and he collects gold fish to use as bait on his trot line.

Mrs. Stephens sews and designs many of her own clothes. She also sews for her many projects, and is now making a red, white and gold religious banner.

GLAZE:

1 cup orange juice
2 cups sugar

1½ cups boiling water
⅓ cup whipped cream
1 small can fruit cocktail
1 cup miniature marshmallows

AVOCADO CONGEALED SALAD

3 oz. box lime gelatin
1½ cups boiling water
⅓ cup whipped cream
2 avocados (ripe enough to mash)
1 small can crushed pineapple
½ cup chopped pecans

HAM RICE WICH

2 medium slices cured ham
1 cup rice
1 cup water
1 can consomme soup
½ cup sliced bell pepper
Mustard

MACARONI SALAD

1½ cups elbow macaroni
3 hard boiled eggs
¾ cup chopped sweet pickles
⅔ cup chopped bell pepper
4 oz. can chopped pimiento
1 cup chopped American cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Mayonnaise

STRAWBERRY CAKE

1 box white cake mix
1 box (3-oz.) strawberry gelatin
¾ cup corn oil
½ cup water
4 eggs

ICING

1 box powdered sugar
⅓ cup corn oil
Remaining strawberries and juice

Blend thoroughly on high speed, then spread between layers and on top of cake. (As each layer is iced, place cake in refrigerator to let icing set before adding next layer. This will keep it from running.)

Vary Meat Loaf With New Recipe

Like a change-of-pace meat loaf? Light in color, mild in seasonings with salt, pepper and ground carrots, this entree is ideal.

When diets call for meals that are low in spicy condiments, a combination of veal and pork with sour cream answers the need in an appetizing manner, says Reba Staggs, meat authority with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

SOUR CREAM VEAL LOAF

1½ lbs. ground veal
½ lb. ground pork
2 tbsps. minced onion
2 carrots, ground
1½ tsps. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
½ cup dairy sour cream
Flour

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pack into a 5x9-inch loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1½ hours. Thicken drippings for gravy, allowing two tablespoons flour for each cup of drippings Makes six to eight servings.

Be 'Saucy' In Good Casserole

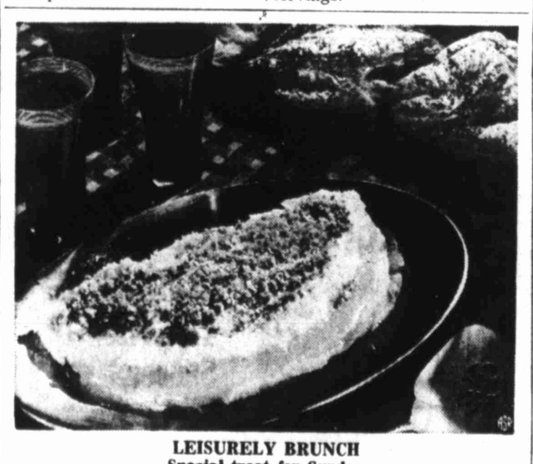

Saucy is defined as being smart and trim. You can be saucy in making a meal by using cans of Vienna-style sausage with a white sauce and frozen vegetable for a speedy, tasty casserole.

These canned sausages are a convenience food. They can be used right from the can as snacks, for sandwiches or a meal in a dish as this one.

VIENNA SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

2 cans (4-oz. each) Vienna-style sausages
1 tbsp. chopped onion
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups milk
¼ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 pkg. (10 ozs) frozen broccoli, cooked
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup bread crumbs

Cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Still in cheese. Cut broccoli in one-inch pieces and place in bottom of a greased, 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle ½ of the chopped eggs over broccoli. Cover with a layer of Vienna-style sausages and then the remaining chopped eggs. Pour cheese sauce over top. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

LEISURELY BRUNCH
Special treat for Sunday

Serve Delicious Omelet For Leisurely Brunch

Here's just the dish for Sunday's leisurely brunches or late supper snacks. It's a French omelet that we've topped with a crisp and crunchy sprinkling of sauteed cracker crumbs, then filled with a nippy pasteurized process cheese spread. The "crunch" atop this omelet makes it unusual enough to suit Sunday best tastes, while the cheese spread adds that important flavor to satisfy and delight all your guests. You might want to serve this rich and nutritious omelet on meat-less days too, for it's filling enough to keep the heartiest of eaters happy.

If brunch is the meal made extra special with this Omelet Crunch, partner it with frosty glasses of juice, tender, flaky puffs of French pastry and steaming cups of coffee. But when it appears at the supper table, serve it with a crisp green salad, stewed tomatoes and hot rolls — and as a finale, dishes of fresh-chilled citrus fruits topped with a colorful scoop of sherbet.

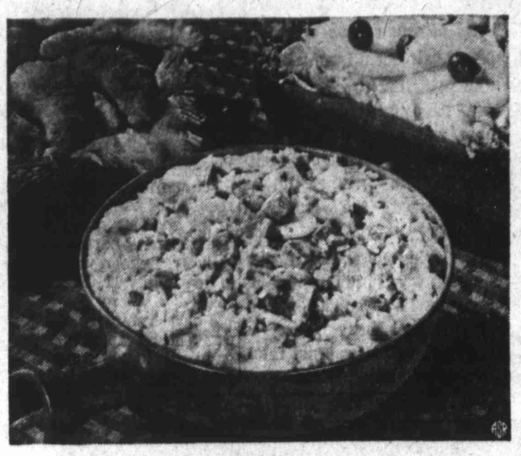

OMELET CRUNCH

4 eggs, beaten
Salt and pepper
Margarine
Round, buttery crackers, coarsely crumbled
Cheeze Whiz

Saute cracker crumbs in margarine. Pour in beaten eggs and cook slowly. When almost set, top with Cheez Whiz, fold and serve immediately.

Kitchen Scissors For Lobster Meat

When you want to remove the lobster meat from cooked lobster tails do it this way. Use kitchen scissors to cut through the thick membrane on the underside of the shell and remove; peel back the hard shell with one hand and pull the meat toward you with the other hand.

HARLEQUIN SAUCE
Make it with leftovers

Tasty Ham Casserole Contains Cooked Rice

Casseroles are a never-ending subject . . . there are so many ways to dress up leftovers with imagination and good taste or to combine inexpensive ingredients so that they are flavorful and attractive. Harlequin Ham Casserole is a striking case in point and an excellent way to use cooked ham.

You start with a simple cream sauce and then stir in velvety-smooth salad dressing. With a whole bouquet of delightful seasonings the salad dressing provides sprightly taste touches. Try it in other sauces and casseroles and see what a flavor lift it gives. This "saucy" base sets off a palate-pleasing mixture of ham, rice, green pepper, crunchy water chestnuts, Parmesan cheese and pimiento. It's a dish for special company and a guaranteed family favorite, too.

HARLEQUIN HAM CASSEROLE

¼ cup margarine
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
½ cup salad dressing
½ tsp. salt
2 cups cubed cooked ham
2 cups cooked rice
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced water chestnuts
¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
2 tbsps. chopped pimiento

Make a cream sauce with margarine, flour and milk; stir in salad dressing and salt. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour into a two-quart casserole; cover and bake at 350 degrees 30 minutes. Makes eight to ten servings.

Penuche Adds To Afternoon Snack

Make a tasty and delicious tea snack.

PENUCHE

3 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
¾ cup milk
1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. light or dark corn syrup
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans

In a heavy medium saucepan over low heat stir together the sugar, milk, butter, corn syrup and salt until sugar dissolves. Over medium heat bring to a boil; continue boiling, stirring occasionally, until mixture reaches 238 degrees on a candy thermometer or a little dropped in very cold water forms a soft ball that flattens on removal from water. Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm (110 degrees). Add vanilla. Beat until mixture holds its shape when dropped from a spoon and loses its gloss — this takes considerable beating. Quickly stir in nuts. Pour at once into a buttered 8 by 8 by 2 inch cake pan; cut when cold.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Add lots of chopped fresh dill to sour cream and serve as a dressing for sliced cucumbers. Great with fish!

* * *

Arrange cooked broccoli spears and sliced cooked chicken or turkey in a shallow baking dish; cover with undiluted condensed cream of chicken soup; sprinkle generously with grated cheese and paprika. Bake in a hot oven for about half an hour.

* * *

For a quick spaghetti sauce, brown half a pound of ground beef and mix with a can (about 1 pound) of tomato-base spaghetti sauce and a little oregano; heat.

* * *

Next time you make potato salad, try adding both French dressing and mayonnaise to the potatoes. Pleasant variation!

* * *

Brush the tops of baking powder biscuits (before baking) with milk or cream and sprinkle with a sugar-cinnamon mixture. Bake as usual.

* * *

You can store baked rolls in your freezer up to 12 months.

* * *

Brush fish fillets with butter (melted) and broil; sprinkle with caraway seeds and serve with lemon wedges.

* * *

If you have the shank end of a leg of lamb boned and split you can broil the meat. Place fat side up on the broiler heat source and broil about 20 minutes; brush with a marinade and turn and broil 15 minutes. Then turn the broiler setting low, or move the broiler rack low, and broil another half hour or until meat is tender, basting with the marinade.

* * *

Cut an angel food cake into three layers and fill with whipped cream and sliced bananas. Cover with more whipped cream and decorate with chocolate sprinkles.

* * *

You can spice your pie dough by adding cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Nice with an apple filling.

* * *

Ever serve broiled bananas with steak? Brush the bananas with melted butter before you put them under the broiler.

* * *

Need a dressing for fruit salad? Just mix French dressing and mayonnaise.

* * *

When you are braising pork chops in a little liquid, try using dry white vermouth as the braising liquid.

* * *

Pork gravy benefits from adding a bit of herb — sage or thyme.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: As I sit here writing "thank you" notes to acknowledge a stack of printed cards advising me that a donation to the "Rink-a-dink Charitable Organization" has been made in memory of a loved one, I feel like a hypocrite.

It is so easy to discharge an obligation to one bereaved by making a contribution to a charity you would have contributed to anyway. You don't even have to write a card. The charity will send a printed one. And there's another plus. It's tax deductible!

The use of money to discharge all obligations is certainly a sign of an affluent society.

How infinitely more thoughtful is the hand written letter, telephone call, or personal visit. This would express true friendship during a very sad and lonely period. LONELY

DEAR LONELY: Sending a condolence message, or making a donation in the name of a loved one is NOT an "obligation." Many simply ignore the death of a friend or acquaintance.

I am not familiar with any "rink-a-dink charitable organizations." If a friend of mine dies of cancer, I feel that an appropriate expression of my sympathy would be a contribtion to the Cancer society. And the same goes for the Heart association. And if knew that the deceased had a special interest in Catholic Charities, or the N.A.A.C.P., or the Mormon Missionary society, I would make a contribution in the name of the deceased.

It is not always possible to make a personal condolence call on the family. I speak from both sides of the fence, and I hope that you will reconsider your attitude concerning donations to charities in memory of loved ones. I repeat, the donor could have ignored the death.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing to you, but this problem is getting me down so bad I don't know where to turn. I turn to God on Sundays, but there are six others days when I need help.

My husband was born tired, but he always has the strength to be a 24-hour-a-day lover man.

Abby, I've always been a virtuous woman, and I've never shirked my duties as a wife, but I worked so hard at picking cotton some days that when nighttime came, I would like to have dropped in my tracks, but there was no rest for me with a man who has just set and rested up all day.

Now the kids are gone and I am all wore out. But my man is still going strong. Worse yet, he will not take a bath but once a month. His teeth are rotten and his breath could kill you dead, but he presents himself for romance like he was a teenager.

Don't tell me to take him to a doctor. You don't take bulls any place. In closing, I remain, Very truly yours, TIRED

DEAR TIRED: Next Sunday, when you turn to God, pray for strength to see you through the rest of the week.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This advice is to mothers who never know what to say to a friend whose daughter is, or was away as an unwed mother.

I never knew the best approach until I had to experience the heartache of taking my daughter away and bringing her home to dead-silent friends.

If you really are a friend who cares, write a note, telephone or visit, and simply say, "I know your heartache, and I am sorry. If ever you need me, call and unload. I'll be there, and I will listen with love." A MOTHER

Playmate Makes Street Scene

CHICAGO (AP) — Playboy magazine's next Playmate of the Month had an unscheduled coming-out party of sorts Tuesday when a truck tipped over in a North Side intersection and spilled thousands of copies of the March centerfold into the street.

She wasn't dressed for the near-zero temperature either. The foldout color photo shows Christine Koren, 22, reclining on a shag rug in front of a fireplace, clutching a not-very-big rag-doll pillow.

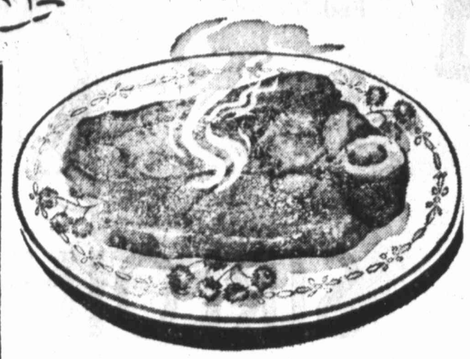

The truck was carrying a quarter million of the photos from a lithographing plant to the plant where the magazine is printed.

Winds near 20 miles an hour picked up many of the photos and scattered them about. Passersby also picked up many.

Check Your Deductions

Planning to deduct your medical expenses? If you are, be sure to read the instructions for handling medical insurance premiums, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said today.

Campbell pointed out that one-half the premium paid for medical insurance, up to a maximum of $150, may be deducted in full as a medical expense without regard to the three per cent limitation.

The remainder of the premium cost for medical insurance should be added to other medical costs and that total reduced by three per cent of income. Life insurance and accident and health insurance covering the loss of earnings are not medical expenses and the premiums paid are not deductible. Medical expenses should be listed on Schedule A along with other deductible items. This schedule, which provides more room to list expenses than was available before, should be attached to the Form 1040.

Many taxpayers overlook the special provision for deducting medical insurance premiums and, as a result, overpay their taxes.

BLONDE TESTS NUDITY LAW

MESSINA, Sicily (AP)—Prof. Themistocles Martines was well into his lecture on constitutional law at the University of Messina Tuesday when into the class walked a curvaceous blonde wearing high leather boots and nothing else.

"Get out of here!" Prof. Martines yelled.

The girl kept walking toward him.

"Somebody, cover her," the professor commanded.

A coat sailed through the air and landed on the blonde's shoulders.

Loud debate erupted among the law students over whether nudity should be allowed in the classroom, and who might have sent the girl in as a test case.

"Only the fascists could organize such an obscenity," shouted one leftist.

As fists began to fly, Martines fled for help. Officials of the university intervened and calmed the students down.

The blonde intruder had disappeared.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning develops a warm and magnetic promise but it soon dissipates. Everyone may be off a little in judgment. Be careful of decisions. Doublecheck whatever ideas come into your consciousness. don't act till tomorrow.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Plan the evening with friends early in the morning so that you can then get down to business and accomplish a good deal. Don't follow that errant hunch. This could get you into trouble.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be very careful what you do or associates and competitors could put you in an embarrassing situation. Handle those business affairs so that you need not worry about them any more. Be wise.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, the whole body shall be full of light. (Matthew 6:22)

PRAYER: O Christ, transform us by Your spirit. Rid our lives of their darkness. Show us the way from prejudice to perfection, from selfishness to service in Your kingdom. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

An Uniting Issue

It now appears that we have come up with another God-home-and-mother issue — that of environmental compatability. All of a sudden, everyone wants to grab the anti-pollution ball and run.

Much can be said about this, because the objective is a worthy one, indeed if not a pressing or even critical one. The ironic thing is that despite the voices crying in the wilderness, we kept on ravishing our natural resources, poisoning our air and polluting our streams. It is as if the moment of truth had dawned on the nation — and the world.

Aside from the dividends that this sudden surge of involvement will yield in perhaps staying or reversing the tide is that the new-found popularity makes it an unifying issue. Even in this, to be sure, there are extremists who pounce upon every smokestack and every drop of effluent as the grounds for a demonstration; yet by and large, people are alert and to the problem and ready to move.

In this setting, we will witness a great deal of jockeying to see who can propose the most or claim to have achieved the most in protecting our air, land and water. Of course, this carries with it the seeds of some discord in the form of a price tag and who will pay it. It is a lot easier to be for this in the abstract but to balk when it comes to paying huge sums for preventative or corrective action. Still, this is all on the plus side for most people agree we need to do something.

Bleak Housing Prospect

President Nixon had some encouraging things to say about the housing industry recession, but these are hardly specific enough on certain lines to satisfy the National Association of Home builders, suppliers, contractors and prospective home owners.

Housing starts dropped from an annual rate of 1.8 million to 1.2 million in Nixon's first year in the White House. That is less than half what is needed to keep up with current population growth, not to mention catching up with previous years' deficiencies and replacing deteriorated dwellings.

The reason is clear enough. Application of fiscal and monetary brakes on the national economy, particularly 'tight money" or high-interest rates, hits the housing industry first, hardest and longest. That is what happened in 1966, when the Federal Reserve clamped down on credit and housing starts dropped below 1.2 million from a previous two-year level of 1.5 million.

President Nixon ascribed the housing-starts decline to inadequate savings and appealed to the "private sector" to postpone avoidable spending and increase savings to make more mortgage money available. But neither business nor consumers are likely to make any such voluntary effort to ease the housing shortage while they themselves are hard pressed for funds, in fact drawing on savings, to cope with the inflation squeeze.

So far economists have devised no way to prevent the housing industry from taking the brunt of governmental efforts to control inflation, except possibly much heavier federal subsidization. Evidently, the President is unprepared to offer that. Accordingly, the realistic prospect is that 1970 may be the roughest year yet for the housing industry.

Presidential Advisors Clash

WASHINGTON — A power struggle that seemed most unlikely a few months ago is now raging on the front which lies between Capitol Hill and the downtown offices of the Executive establishment. From this battle, Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania could emerge as one of the political giants of 1970.

THE STRUGGLE is between Scott and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, one of President Nixon's close friends and most influential advisors. It is a polite war. Scott has never been a tough talker, and Mitchell is contemptuous of emotionalism. But it will be fought to a finish in what one official observer describes as an attempt to "capture the President's mind."

Scott, regarded as a liberal within the Republican Party, is resisting Mitchell's efforts to give the Nixon administration a more conservative image. Although the Pennsylvanian has gone down the line on Mitchell's anti-crime measures, he has tried — with considerable success — to persuade the President to give more attention to liberal domestic causes.

RECENT EVIDENCE shows that Nixon is listening more to Scott than he did a year ago. It was Scott who persuaded the President the other day to release $800 million in anti-pollution funds against the opposition of Mitchell, who wanted more money for his crusade against crime.

Mitchell was disappointed rather than angry with Scott over the Minority Leader's refusal to support Nixon's nomination of Clement Haynsworth for the Supreme Court. The Attorney General saw Scott's stand as indicative of his "undependability" as a Presidential adviser and said as much to Nixon. The President was annoyed, but he accepted Scott's explanation of why he couldn't back Haynsworth and assured him there would be no hard feelings.

AS A MATTER of fact, Scott's relationship with the President has been closer since the Haynsworth affair. Nixon respects strength, even in an adversary, and he has told intimates he had to respect his Senate leader for his courage in opposing a Presidential appointment.

Since then, Scott has met more often with the President, and has been made privy to more inside White House policy. When the senator predicted the other day that Nixon would announce more troop withdrawals from Vietnam "about April," he declined to say who had briefed him. In fact, he had been briefed by the President, who called Scott in especially for that purpose.

MEANWHILE, Scott pressed the White House on the need for a more delicate handling of relations with Congress. He has been especially critical, in private, of Mitchell's heavy-handed approach to the Hill. Scott people now say the senator "can live with Mitchell." If Scott keeps scoring points, the Attorney General may be forced to find a way of living with Hugh Scott.

Billy Graham

Is it just as sinful to think sinful words as to say them aloud? I never swear aloud, but sometimes the words come to mind when I am angry. R.P.

While Jesus emphasized that our thoughts are almost as important as our actions, I believe in the area of profanity and obscenity that expressing these thoughts in words is more sinful than merely thinking them. Satan works through the mind. And he puts evil thoughts into our heads. The sin is not in being tempted, but in yielding to temptation. Profanity and obscenity require practice. If you use a bad word once it's easier to use it again. When I hear a man swearing eloquently, I can't help but think of the hours, days and years of practice it took to make him such a swearer.

But restraint takes practice too. Someone has said:

"Boys flying kites pull in their white-winged birds,
But you can't do that when you're flying words;
Thoughts unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead,
But, God himself can't kill them when they're said."

You are to be congratulated for using control over your language, even though the words come to mind. Pray that the Lord, who has given you this restraint, will remove them from your mind too. "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus."

Marriage For Society

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Apartheid-supporting churchmen here were discomforted when a study commission they appointed told them racially mixed marriages are not sinful.

"Nowhere in Scripture is humanity divided into isolated units on the grounds of biological or natural differences," the commission reported to the Cape province synod of the Nederduitse Gereformeere Kerk, largest of South Africa's three staunchly Calvinist Dutch Reformed Churches and one of the pillars of white Afrikaner segregationism.

Objecting to the report, church actuary Dr. J. D. Vorster, brother of prime minister John Vorster, said the commission had seen marriage too much from an "individualistic viewpoint" and not enough as part of a given society.

The synod decided to refer the report back to the commission and to the general synod for further investigation instead of adopting it as the official viewpoint of the church.

Her Business Is Show Business

NEW YORK (AP) — In her girlhood Edie Adams couldn't decide between a career in music or a career in fashion design.

So, typically, she tossed a coin —and show business won. Now and then she wonders if her life wouldn't be simpler if the coin had made the other decision.

"Show business is really geared more for men than for women," she remarked.

"A working father is one thing —a working mother quite another. There's no one to keep the home fires burning for women."

Edie, the breezy gal in those cigar commercials on television, is one of the busiest performers in the entertainment industry.

She spends about 35 weeks a year singing in the nation's top supper clubs, and also is in steady demand for movies, television specials, and summer stock.

Miss Adams is starred with Don Adams and Don Rickles in "Hooray for Hollywood," a one-hour special on Feb. 26 over the CBS-TV network. In it she gives impressions of some 30 famous movie queens of the past and present, has 47 costume changes—and gets a pie thrown in her face.

She recalled that she hadn't gone through the pie routine since she worked with her late husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs.

She has a daughter, Mia, 10, by Kovacs and a son, Joshua, 17 months, by her present marriage to Marty Mills, a music publisher.

To Edie, life is summed up by the word love.

"It's tough talking to a mirror. Without love you've got nothing. But although I think love I live work.

"I always have to be working hard at something. I suppose it's the Pennsylvania Dutch in me. I'm kind of like the old-time farm women. You know, drop the baby and pick up the plow."

Edie feels her best trait is her sense of humor, her worst trait a failure to follow through on projects.

"I have to write notes to myself all the time," she said.

Traders' Trigger Fingers

NEW YORK (AP) — Some stock market traders today are like deer hunters who, having crouched all day in the woods, anxious, cold and with dusk approaching, fire at any movement.

It is, in other words, a very nervous stock market these days, a market anxious to get something in its sights, to promote some action, not so much to bring home a trophy as to destroy the boredom.

Into this setting, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy on Feb. 3 delivered a statement that really should have settled to earth as silently as a withered leaf falling into new snow.

Instead, it crashed through the brush with a racket that anxious stock traders instinctively interpreted as nothing other than a rampaging bull.

Trigger fingers reflexed and shots went off from every direction and in almost every direction. The Dow Jones industrial average shot up from a minus position to plus 18 before settling back to 11.02.

Kennedy's statement was really vapid. He did tell a savings bond campaign meeting that lower interest rates may be nearer than many people think they are, but from there on he toned down his statement.

When will rates be lowered? "Once the inflationary psychology is broken and the business community and the public in general begin to look forward to greater stability. . ." He declined to name a date.

This is somethinig that everyone in his audience, made up mainly of high-level business executives, had heard for several months. It was stated at least two months before by high-ranking officials. It wasn't new.

The executives, whose companies presumably will fare better when borrowing costs come down, hardly stirred as the statement was delivered. But traders, who bet on the futures of these same companies, went wild—even though they got the news secondhand.

It isn't difficult to reason why. First off, a lot of professional traders have been playing this market short; they have been betting on further price declines in order to make profits.

This is accomplished by borrowing shares of stock, selling them at the current market price and then waiting. If the price continues downward, the short trader can replace the borrowed stock at a lower price, pocketing the difference.

Cousins And Babies

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A young couple, full cousins, came to me to discuss marriage. Are there dangerous genetic consequences afflicting prospective children in such a marriage? The law of Ontario does not forbid it. — Rev. J.W.V.

Yes, there can be genetic consequences.

Laws vary from one state or province to another, but a good many prohibit marriage of first cousins.

As a clergyman, you should, I would think, point out that possible risks exist. Better still, refer the couple to a genetic counselor.

People are mixtures of traits and characteristics. Most are good; some are undesirable or harmful.

Traits also can be divided into dominant ones, which persist from generation to generation, and recessive ones, which tend to die out.

If the same recessive trait is present in both parents, then that trait, instead of disappearing, is propagated.

One example is eyesight. Moderate weakness of the eyes is not an overwhelming handicap. But if the weakness is inherited from both parents, rather than just one, the eyes can become very much impaired.

Cousins, coming from similar family stock, will have a similarity of traits and characteristics. Bad ones can thus be perpetuated — but so can good ones. The family history is important.

That is why I suggest referral to a genetics expert. It may mean going to one of the big universities or other medical centers which have genetic counseling services, but the matter is important enough to warrant it.

* * *

DEAR Dr. Thosteson: What is the chance of third cousins having normal children? There are afflicted children on both sides of the family (not caused by cousins marrying). We cannot help but oppose our daughter's engagement to her third cousin. — Mrs. H.D.

Risk for third cousins is far less than for first cousins because there is more "dilution" of genetic traits.

Less risk does not mean no risk, of course.

See preceding letter and answer, please. But in your case I most decidedly would get the opinion of a genetics counselor. Your mention of "afflicted children on both sides" makes me feel that expert guidance is the only wise course.

The decision would have to rest on such matters as what afflictions are involved, whether they are of a hereditary type, and what characteristics can be identified on each side.

I couldn't begin to answer those questions. A geneticist could, because that's his expertise.

Around The Rim

Not-So-Easy Answers

I'm not real sure what a "little Hoover Commission" might do, but the general idea as requested of the Chamber of Commerce by Mayor Arnold Marshall seems to be a good one. That is, provided a panel of persons can be found who have the time to devote and the expertise to outline and perform the study.

IT IS WELL enough to seek economy of operation, but it is no easy task. During last year's public hearing on the city budget, one of those who spoke mentioned that perhaps the city provides some services that the tax payers do not want, and that these could be eliminated. Perhaps, but which ones?

The city budget, alas, does not yield to willy-nilly clipping of funds, on this, that and the other page. Perhaps some services might be trimmed a bit in the interest of economy, but there is probably none that can be dispensed with that would result in substantial savings, if the police, fire, water, sewer, and garbage departments are considered above such cuts.

THE FACTS ARE, the payroll probably accounts for 75 per cent of the total budget, and this is the only area where savings might be realized in large proportions. Yet, in practically all departments, city employes are hoping for pay increases in the next budget. Many of these departments are already operating on what they feel is the minimum number to accomplish their duties.

This problem of number of employes and what they will be paid might well form the crux for any study of economy. Between now and the time the next budget is put together, the cost of living is predicted to climb still higher. If city employes felt they needed more money last fall, and more now, there is not likely to be a slack in these requests in six more months.

BARRING ANY increase in taxes or rates for water, sewer or garbage collection, not much "new income" is in sight for the city. The sale tax income may be higher, but this is still unknown. Some extra help will probably come from the study to begin billing all who now receive city services, such as sewer and garbage collection.

ALL OF WHICH indicates that economy can present a multi-faceted problem, with no easy or concrete solutions. The city commission at budget time will probably need all the help and insights it can find, and an independent study commission prior to that time may find some of the needed answers.

The Wall Street Genius

WASHINGTON — The Stock Market has not been doing too well these days and quite a few people are suffering because of it. But no one is taking it as hard as Junior Thompson, who was known on the street as the "Boy Wonder of Wall" or "B WOW."

As you recall, 18 months ago when Junior Thompson was 13 years old, he was considered one of the great financial geniuses of the country. With an investment of 25 cents, plus a loan from his sister of 50 cents, Junior Thompson built up a portfolio of $200 million on paper.

JUNIOR THOMPSON'S formula for making money was summed up in an interview he gave to the Wall Street Journal. "I select stocks that go up, and I sell stocks that go down." When asked how he knew which stocks would go up and which stocks would go down he replied. "If you have to ask that question, you shouldn't play the Stock Market."

After the interview, large institutions all over the country fired their investors and asked Junior Thompson to take over their accounts. Insurance companies, foundations, mutual funds, trusts, banks and even the federal government asked, begged and pleaded for Junior to invest for them.

BEFORE LONG, Junior was not only responsible for his own personal fortune but he was investing $20 billion of other people's money. Each month the investments rose by 15 per cent and his clients were delirious. Men who had been in Wall Street all their lives were scorned. Many were retired and pushed out because they kept talking about "earnings," "profits" and "losses": the three things which Junior Thompson said must be ignored when playing the market.

THIS IS HOW he selected his stocks. Every morning, Junior blindfolded his sister and gave her a pin. He then laid out the financial section of the New York Times on the floor and he told her to stick the pin 10 times into the page. Whatever company she stuck the pin in was Junior Thompson's buy for that day. While the market was going up, Junior's sister could do no wrong.

But when it started going down, Wall Street's faith in Junior Thompson began to waiver. Junior tried everything to stem the tide. He changed blindfolds on his sister. He gave her a different pin.

NOTHING HELPED. The market kept losing ground, and Junior Thompson's reputation as a financial wizard began to be questioned. The great institutions started pulling out; the mutual funds took their business away from Junior. In six months, Junior Thompson was handling only the investments of himself and his sister.

Last week, as the market hit its lowest moment in years, Junior Thompson was completely wiped out. A small item on the Dow Jones ticker announced that he was giving up Wall Street and going back to Forest Hills High School. His sister is suing him for the 50 cents she loaned him to get started in the business.

No Move To Control Inflation

WASHINGTON — President Nixon in his last press conference and in his economic report to Congress has expressed the hope that inflation may soon be curbed, but he has omitted any explanation of how the purchasing power of the dollar is to be moved upward more closely to 100 cents. He has avoided the delicate subject of wage-and-price controls.

Yet the realistic facts are that the consumer dollar is worth only 46 cents today as compared to what it was in 1943, and the "federal" dollar of the government is only 40 cents at present when matched against 27 years ago.

WHEN THE federal budget passed the 50-billion-dollar mark during World War II and went up to $17.9 billion, the government stepped in and held wages and prices down. The federal budget crossed the 100-billion mark during the Kennedy administration, when it rose to 106.8 billion in 1962, and then crossed the 150-billion mark, to 158.4 billion, under President Johnson in 1967. Yet nothing was done about mandatory wage-and-price controls in either case during the Vietnam war.

Now the Nixon budget of $200.8 billion for 1971 will have the same purchasing power as if it were approximately $80.3 billion in 1943.

THE FLOW of capital from the federal government into the business world and the possible easing of interest rates which was hinted at by the President in his press conference may result in some business expansion. But an increase in demand for goods will only encourage labor unions to raise their requests for higher wages, with threats of strikes in the background.

THE PURCHASING power of the dollar has gone steadily downward for many years, and unions argue that the cost of living has justified their pressure for more wages. But the problem has become nationwide. Labor unions have obtained control of workers in entire industries. Though local living costs may vary considerably, uniform wage rates are nevertheless imposed. This means that the larger companies, with far more reserves than their competitors, are at an advantage.

THERE ARE laws which provide for some governmental intervention in strikes relating to essential forms of transportation, but there are no government commissions set up which are permitted constantly to supervise or render arbitration decisions in labor-union disputes of national proportions. As long as this problem is bypassed by everybody, including high administration officials, inflation will continue to hover over the national economy.

INFLATION gives every sign of forcing the purchasing power of the dollar downward more and more. Only the political power of the "silent majority" can change things and demand the establishment of a governmental body to deal with wage levels in different industries where competition between management is a vital factor and also where productivity is an important influence on price-making.

Arthur Goldberg, who has served as secretary of labor, Supreme Court justice and ambassador to the United Nations, has just written an article for "The New York Times" in which he aptly states the case as follows:

"We have reached a crisis point which brooks no further delay, and no appropriate measure — including wage, price and profit controls — can be excluded to bring inflation under control."

Gold Coast Slump Hints Recession

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tourists—and their dollars—were noticeably absent from this Florida Gold Coast resort in January. Why?

Ed Dean, executive director of the Southern Florida Hotel and Motel Association, insists the slump reflected a "mild recession" in the country "and our industry is the first to feel it."

Other observers advance reasons ranging from the attraction of legalized gambling in the nearby Bahamas; improved air travel facilities to, from, and within Europe and the Caribbean, and the switch in the site of pro football's Super Bowl from Miami to New Orleans.

Whatever the causes January was a dismal month, although Dean insists the slump is only temporary and takes immediate and vociferous exception to reports that Northern tourists no longer come to Miami Beach.

During the month, receipts from hotels, motels, horse races, night clubs and restaurants were down considerably, even for a period of relative inactivity on the Beach.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president and head of Miami Beach's Tourist Development Authority, blamed the lack of tourists on two things: that January always is a slow month and that the Super Bowl was switched from Miami to New Orleans this year.

Roosevelt and Dean both insist the tourists will be back by mid February and that business will be booming the rest of the winter.

There are those who disagree, claiming Miami Beach would be practically deserted these days except for big conventions and the large number of wealthy retirees who traditionally spend January through March in the hotels.

"The Beach caters to those over 65, principally," says a year-round resident who lives in one of the high-rise apartments that line the bay side of Miami Beach. "They have all kinds of free entertainment and community centers for the elderly, but no really active youth center. The big hotels now have counselors for the kids, but teenagers still are largely neglected, except those around Christmas and Easter, when they have special dances and barbecues."

Irwin Premack, author of a controversial $47,500 tourism survey last summer for the tourist Development Authority, said 40 per cent of the guests interviewed by his people were on Miami Beach for the first time.

Premack, whose report was generally optimistic, warned that if the hotel owners wanted return business, from the first-timers, their employes are going to have to do more to attract them.

"I think Miami Beach is going to have to accept the fact that Miami Beach lacks courtesy," he said. "The tipping demands and rude personnel are unbelievable. Something is going to have to be done."

Pollution Suit Costs $1,500

HOUSTON (AP) — Gulf States Asphalt Co., Inc., of Houston agreed to pay $1,500 in civil penalties Tuesday in an out-of-court settlement of a pollution suit.

They also agreed to install anti-pollution devices in settlement of the suit filed by state and county pollution officials.

The suit had accused the company of violations of the Texas Water and Air Pollution Acts. The $1,500 penalty will be split between the county and state, pollution officials said.

Salting Can Injure Plants

Heavy salting of icy sidewalks and driveways can result in some grass and plant damage not apparent until early summer, according to Paul Gross, county agent.

Runoff from salted areas can injure nearby trees, shrubs, flowers and grass. The effect on trees may be a marginal burn of the leaves or complete browning and death of the leaves and in extreme cases large trees may die, he said.

"If salt is used on icy areas be sure drainage is away from plants or grass and the root zone of trees or shrubs," Gross said. He suggested using ammonium nitrate or sand as alternatives to salt.

Less Cargo

HOUSTON (AP)—The Port of Houston handled less cargo tonnage in 1969 than in 1968, but figures for last December indicate a healthy increase in tonnage over December of 1968.

Total cargo tonnage for 1969 was 54.8 million tons, or 2.6 million tons under the 1968 mark.

A Port of Houston spokesman blamed the tonnage drop on the dock strike during the first quarter of last year.

Pair Change Pleas To Guilty In Kelly Air Base Fraud

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two San Antonio men—one with a top security clearance from the U.S. government — abruptly changed Wednesday their pleas to guilty of defrauding Kelly Air Force Base of nearly $100,000 in the summer of 1968.

L. B. Haley, 34, and Haskill Ray Bain, 43, changed their plea to guilty after 25 witnesses were heard.

U.S. Asst. Dist. Atty. Wayne Spech told the court FBI agents arrested Bain and Haley for a conspiracy which spread to four states and involved fradulent bank accounts, fraudulent post office boxes and two fictitious companies.

Haley is charged with three additional counts of embezzling a total of $98,233 from Kelly AFB.

The government contended that Haley and Bain used bogus Air Force forms and vouchers to "obtain money for fuel that didn't exist, for airplanes that didn't exist, whose pilots didn't exist." A new fact brought out in Wednesday's testimony is that Haley, who was a computer specialist at Kelly, had a top security clearance from the U.S. government.

Checks for the non-existent fuel were made out from the U.S. government to two non-existent firms, the J.R. Adams Flying Service and the Laredo Refining Company.

The government checks were mailed to fraudulent bank accounts in Seguin; Little Rock, Ark.; Tulsa, Okla., and Shreveport, La., and money was mailed to rural post office boxes near Orange Grove, Mathis and Alice.

Anti-Busing Resolution

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A resolution aimed at halting mandatory busing of pupils in the interest of racial integration of schools passed the Senate Wednesday over arguments that it would be ineffective and would further divide the black and white communities.

The resolution, already adopted by the House, was held on Senate calendar by a motion to reconsider by Sen. Bryce Baggett, D-Oklahoma City, but is expected to be released and sent to Congress.

The anti-busing resolution passed the Senate on a standing vote, called to avoid a recorded roll call vote.

After debating the measure, the Senate took a voice vote, which the presiding officer, Sen. Phil Smalley, D-Norman, said apparently was for the resolution.

However, several senators called for a head count. On the advice of President Pro Tempore Finis Smith, D-Tulsa, Smalley ruled the request for a roll call came too late and ordered a standing vote. The resolution was declared adopted after the clerk counted 25 standing votes.

The resolution petitions Congress to call a constitutional convention to propose an amendment to prohibit forced attendance at a designated public school because of race, color, creed or national origin.

FOUND SLAIN — William T. Overton, 41, prominent Dallas businessman, and his wife, Dorothy, shown in this photo taken in May, 1959, were found shot to death in Overton's apartment in Dallas Wednesday.

Financier-Builder, Wife Shot To Death

DALLAS (AP) — Financier-builder W.T. Overton, 41, and his estranged wife, Dorothy, were found shot to death Wednesday in his apartment.

Police said Overton, president and director of the Dallas Texas Corp., was slain by Mrs. Overton, who then took her own life with a .22-caliber derringer.

Dallas Texas Corp. developed One Main Place, a massive office and business complex in downtown Dallas. Overton's father, W.W. Overton Jr., is president of Texas Bank & Trust Co. in Dallas.

Authorities said the shootings apparently occurred Tuesday night.

The bodies were discovered by the apartment manager after Overton failed to keep a business appointment Wednesday morning.

Along with investor John Murchison, Overton formed the Addison Airport Corp. in 1964, largest privately-owned and operated airport in the nation.

Overton was appointed by former Gov. John Connally in 1967 to serve as chairman of the 12-member joint board of park commissioners for Dallas and Tarrant counties.

Extortion Note Caper

BEAUMONT (AP) — Gene Faires, president of the Beaumont State Bank, was the target Wednesday night of an extortion note, he and police reported.

Faires, worked late at the bank, left the building to find the note on the seat of his automobile, he said. The note demanded that an unspecified amount of money be placed in a bag at the rear of the bank.

The note further stated that the president's wife could be killed if the money were not supplied.

Faires immediately called police and then deposited his briefcase with the extortion note in it at the rear of the bank. He drove home and found his wife safe.

Two special police units were dispatched to the bank. Before the units arrived, however, a passerby found the briefcase and took it to Sam Chimeno, restaurant owner in the shopping center where the bank is located, called police and told police about finding the briefcase.

Forecasts Call For Showers

By The Associated Press

All of Texas warmed Wednesday and the latest cold front to invade the state promised to have little effect today.

It was at least partly cloudy in most areas as the weak front crawled southeastward this morning along a line from near Gainesville to around Abilene and Wink.

Temperatures near dawn dipped as low as 20 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle but stood mostly in the 40s to upper 50s in other sections, staying as high as 57 at Galveston and 58 at Brownsville.

Forecasts called for a few showers or a little light rain in most areas of the state tonight or Friday.

Although a little further cooling was expected, official observers looked for the front to become so diffused it would lose its identity by tonight.

3 Junior Miss Pageant Winners

NEW BRUANFELS, Tex. (AP) — Three winners were selected Wednesday in preliminary judging at the Texas Junior Miss Pageant.

The physical fitness contest was won by Miss Rebecca Russell of Wichita Falls.

The junior miss from Atascosa County, Deborah Lynette Reese, took first place in the poise and personal appearance category.

Norma Jean Rodriguez of San Antonio, was top in performing arts.

Finals will be held Saturday.

Firemen Find Body Of Woman

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Firemen battling a smoky blaze found the body of a young woman early today in a North Side motel room.

Authorities identified her from items in a purse as Joan Goodson, 21, of Shreveport. Efforts to revive her failed.

An assistant county medical examiner, Carl Walker, said death resulted from inhaling smoke and the fire presumably started in a bed from a cigarette.

$1.3 Million Windstorm

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Sunday windstorm that extended from Beaumont to Mobile, will cost insurance companies about $1.3 million, the industry said Wednesday.

Damage was caused by wind gusts up to 90 miles per hour. Isolated tornados were reported.

Released From Monterrey Jail

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Robert Frisby of San Antonio, who was held without charge after a companion died in a highway accident, was released Wednesday.

Officers told the American consulate here that Ronald R. Wetz, 20, also of San Antonio, was thrown from the car after Frisby lost control of the vehicle at a curve. They said the car rolled on Wetz.

The accident happened west of China, halfway between Monterrey and Reynosa.

The state patrol said Frisby was held until the father of Wetz sent a notarized statement that he would not file charges. Frisby's father brought the statement.

Died Half Hour After Car Hits

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A car struck Milton C. Goldsmith, 47, on a Corpus Chrsti street Wednesday evening and he died half an hour later.

Police said Goldsmith, from nearby Portland, was starting to cross the roadway after talking with a fellow worker in a parked truck.

Unlicensed Drivers Watch Out

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' estimated 400,000 unlicensed drivers have good reasons to be nervous these days.

The Department of Public Safety announced Wednesday it is starting a campaign against drivers who never bothered to get a license and those who continue to drive after their licenses are suspended.

"We'll have roadblocks at unannounced times and places," a DPS spokesman said.

Any motorist who can't produce a license will be charged with driving without a license.

Another part of the campaign is publicity, including an effort to get employers to encourage all their workers to obtain valid licenses.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, said nearly a tenth of the drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents in the first six months of 1969 were unlicensed.

Opposing him will be Ray Troster, 21, a college student.

The seat, which encompasses seven counties surrounding Amarillo, is being vacated by Malouf Abraham.
