He met with a good response and more than $400 was raised.

This was one of the best meetings of this body, and everyone present enjoyed the evening very much.

Portales Streets Now Marked

This week the work has been completed of numbering the residences of the city and marking the streets.

If there is any residence number which has not been put in place, the owner should notify the city hall, as the order has been misplaced in some way.

The street signs have been placed at one hundred and fifteen intersections, thus covering practically all of the traveled streets of the city.

These street signs are embossed letters on twenty-four gauge steel and placed upon steel posts. The letters are of black on yellow background and the posts are painted aluminum.

Curb signs have been painted upon thirty-three of the intersections of the paved streets of the city. Black letters have been painted upon a white foundation.

This gives full information for directions and location of all business houses and residences can be easily determined.

The city directory is now completed and is being distributed this week. One of these will be left in every residence of Portales, as well as the business houses.

This will prove a great convenience not only to persons desiring to know the location of certain places, but will greatly assist in direction of strangers to different sections of the city.

All of the work of compiling the directory and marking the streets as well as numbering the houses has been done by the Tant Directory and Advertising Agency, of Oklahoma City.

Charles S. Tant has been in Portales for the past three months giving the matter his personal attention.

This work has now finished another of the requirements exacted by the postal department for the establishment of free mail delivery and will be another step towards the realization of that great city convenience.

SENIOR CLASS PROGRAM

The members of the senior class gave their class day program in the high school gymnasium last Friday evening and the same has been declared imposing, impressive and beautiful.

The girls appeared in their pretty evening dresses, of those many new spring shades, while the boys were stalwart and stately appearing in their perfectly tailored suits.

The queen's throne was arranged at one end of the building and was draped in pure white.

The Portales school band members in the white and red costumes were in their places in the balcony and furnished music during the approach of the Queen and her attendants.

Florence Bentley had been chosen, by her classmates, as Queen of May.

The coronation party was preceded into the room by Gordon King Greaves, president of the student body and Guy Wayne Patterson, president of the senior class.

They announced to the friends present that the Queen was approaching, and immediately the girls, spreading the path to the throne with roses, entered. Then came the royal lady followed by her train bearers and other attendants, as also all the members of the senior class.

The lights were extinguished, and the many colored spot ight followed the party from the entriance door to the throne. Two of the attendants had carried the golden crown upon a beautifully arranged pillow. At the appointed time this was borne to the president of the class and, with grave solemnity, Miss Bentley was crowned Queen of May and assisted to her seat upon the throne.

The president of the student body then announced the first number of the program which had been arranged for the evening entertainment.

Ruby Hatch, salutatorian of the senior class, gave the address of welcome, greeting friends most sincerely and expressing great pleasure at the presence of so many adults gathered to enjoy the program.

A male quartett, consisting of Carll and J. Vance Miller, John Bruce and Rhea Crow gave a selection, with Mrs. Helen Sheldon accompanying at the piano.

ROGERS LIKES CARLSBAD CAVE

Carlsbad, N. M., May 11.—Will Rogers, cow-boy humorist, inspected the Carlsbad caverns here Sunday and agreed the world's largest caves were "quite a hole."

Rogers, accompanied by Mrs. Rogers on an automobile trip, is believed to be going to Roswell to inspect the New Mexico Military Institute. There is a possibility he may enter his youngest son, James, in the institution, which attracted his attention after he saw its polo team play.

Rogers rode a bucket down the 700 foot elevator shaft of the caverns.

"It's quite a hole," Rogers said after touring the caves. "It's all it's cracked up to be. Not overrated at all."

PORTALES STUDENT GRADUATES AT UNIVERSITY

One Portales student is included in the graduating class of the University of New Mexico which will receive diplomas on June 8.

Rufus Martin Stinnett is a candidate for the degree of bachelor of science in education.

Four Roosevelt county students are enrolled at the university.

MOVING TO CARLSBAD

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Rowley are making preparations to move to Carlsbad on Saturday of this week and will make the valley city their home in the future.

The Rowley family has been exceedingly popular during the several years the members have made Portales their home and the friends are very sorry to lose them from church, school and social circles, where they have been active and wonderfully helpful.

Mrs. Marshall has made her home with her daughter during the winter, but she will go to Oklahoma for the summer and visit with her son.

Marshall Rowley will continue his work with the J. N. McCall Grocery and Market, and will remain in Portales during the summer, probably living in the Durwood Wright family.

Mr. Rowley has opened a real estate and insurance office in Carlsbad.

DORA PLAY

Friday evening, Mr. 16, at eight o'clock, Dora will present "Lighthouse Nan." This is a sea-coast drama. Its intense and human story vibrates with startling incidents and heart-gripping situations, only relieved by the cleanest comedy. It tells the story of Nan, the uneducated waif, mistreated and overworked, but full of merriment, kindness of heart, and sturdy good sense. The other parts are equally as good.

The cast is as follows:

Nan (the uneducated waif)—Lu Verba Burrough.

Icabod Buzzer (bibulous and henpecked old lighthouse keeper)—Raymond Meeks.

Moll Buzzer (his shrewish and nagging wife)—Mrs. Owens.

Ned (the hero)—Treece Kirksey.

GIRLS WILL PRESIDE OVER STUDENT BODY

At the election held in the high school on Thursday and Friday of last week, Edith Wheeler was elected president of the Student Council.

This is the first time this honor has been held by a young lady, and the selection of Miss Edith is indeed a compliment to her ability and interest in school administration and activities.

The Student Council serves as a governing body in the school and assists the faculty in the many problems when they arise each year.

The other officers chosen to serve with Miss Wheeler are: Vice-president, Knight Edward Kornegay; secretary, Annie Sue Parrish; girls' athletic manager, Thelma Crow; boys' athletic manager, Owen Disney; yell leader, Green Kerr.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES

The auditorium of the Portales high school was filled Sunday evening when relatives and friends of the seniors gathered for the baccalaureate services.

Rev. C. A. Loris, pastor of the Christian church delivered the sermon, and pointed out to the young men and women who are closing their high school career, two classes of people found in the world: those who live to make a living and those who live to make a life. He also defined to the young people the difference between pleasure and happiness, and urged that they live to make a life of happiness and courage.

Rev. Lorts said he had entered upon his pastorate in Portales the same year these young people entered high school, and since he had appeared before the class many times during the past four years, he had grown to know these young people intimately, and could call by name practically every member of the class.

Rev. Lorts was assisted in portions of the evening services by Rev. R. F. Davis, pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. Joe M. Tyson, pastor of the Nazarene church and Rev. Rolfe Barnard, pastor of the Baptist church.

At the appointed hour of eight o'clock Mrs. Helen Sheldon took her place at the piano and struck the first chords of the music for the processional.

The line was led by the four pastors, who took their places upon the stage. They were followed by the faculty members from the grade, junior high and high schools. These more than forty teachers were led to their positions in the seats at the right front by Supt. F. D. Golden and L. L. Brown, principal of the grades.

Immediately behind the teachers came two members of the junior class, acting as escorts to the seniors. These two young men were J. B. Maxwell, president of the junior class, and Lloyd Vaughn. They were followed by the young men and ladies of the senior class, solemn, stately and serious, wearing their caps and gowns. Guy Wayne Patterson, president of the senior class and Martha Ann Colligan, valedictorian, led their classmates to the section reserved for them at the front of the auditorium.

There are near fifty of these fine young people and the fathers and mothers in the audience were thrilled with pride when they saw their sons and daughters marching towards the goal for which they had striven during these high school years.

After the services the audience remained standing while the seniors passed from the building.

PALACE MANAGER OLD ACQUAINTANCE

The past week developed that Homer Kile, one of the managers of the Palace Theatre, and the News editor were old acquaintances.

Back in the '90's, when the editor was clerking in a general merchandise store at Tioga, Texas, Mr. Kile was a small lad in that town.

They had quite an interesting visit together, recalling many mutual acquaintances and recalling old times.

Mr. Kile comes from a splendid family, who were prominent in that section, and now that he has cast his lot in Portales, he is identifying himself with the interests of the community, and is doing his best to give Portales a theatre second to none in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Kile are living in the Harve Baker apartments on Colorado street.

Mrs. M. Y. Hill has been under the care of the doctor for the past few days. Her friends are hoping she will soon be entirely recovered.

Dr. and Mrs. Gray of Ennis, Texas, were week end guests of Mrs. Dora Brasell and she motored as far as Roswell when they returned to their home Sunday. Mrs. Gray, who is a sister of Mrs. Brasell, is superintendent of the Municipal Hospital at Ennis and Dr. Gray is eye, ear and nose specialist.

Kennedy Buys Interest in Portales Motor Co.

Floyd T. Kennedy, veteran salesman for the Portales Motor Co., Chevrolet dealers, this week completed a deal whereby he became a stockholder in the company, having bought the interest belonging to the Carl Owenby estate.

Kennedy went into the company shortly after it was organized as beekkeeper, was later made salesman and then sales manager.

Mr. Kennedy had a real record as salesman, having sold more cars during the period of his employment than any other Chevrolet salesman in the state. He will devote a part of his time to the business, but will also retain supervision of the Assessor's office to which he was elected last fall.

The Portales Motor Co. has proven one of the strongest dealerships in the West and is to be congratulated on having Mr. Kennedy with them again.

Tommy Ayers Meets Owens Friday Night

Tomorrow night, at 8:30 o'clock, Tommy Ayers, the hard hitting boy from Amarillo, Texas, will meet Marlin Owens, who has been victor in the past two fights held here.

Ayers outweighs Owens 11 pounds and has a wicked wallop that has stopped many for the count of ten, but what he will do against the Owens is being discussed among the fight fans of Portales.

The semi-windup between Red McGinty and Kid Owens, younger brother of Marlin Owens, is scheduled to be the best 6-rounder held here so far, as the boys have fought four times for the limit, each being called a draw.

There are many other preliminarise which make up the thirty rounds of boxing, including two four-rounds, a three-round bout and a battle royal consisting of ten boys.

Ayers arrived here from his home in Amarillo the first of the week and has been training intensively. Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons he worked out before a small crowd and from his appearance he may win over Owens. There seems to be only one obstacle in the way of his defeating Owens, and that is, leaving his chin uncovered for a split second.

JUNIOR HI GRADUATES TO RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

The Junior Hi graduating class will hold its commencement exercises in the high school auditorium this evening, beginning at seven-thirty o'clock.

There are about one hundred and twelve of these boys and girls, and next year when they appear in the Senior High school as the freshman class they will doubtless make their presence felt, as it will be one of the largest classes ever to enroll in the local high school.

After the pupils have been escorted to their locations in the front of the auditorium, a short progrem will be given, consisting of:

Invocation by W. A. Kercheville.
Song—Mixed Chorus.
Solo—Raymond Reed.
Address—A. F. Jones.
Presentation of Diplomas—F. D. Golden.
Awards of Honor—K. E. Livingston.
Benediction.

This is the first time the Junior Hi exercises have been held in the evening, and efforts are being made to have as many parents present as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Stool are enjoying a few days sight seeing in the interesting sections of New Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. Stool are new residents of the state and wish to inform themselves concerning the many attractions which New Mexico affords.

Portales to Be Well Represented at West Texas Chamber of Commerce

A goodly number of Portales people will motor to Lubbock, Tex., Thursday to attend the various conferences to be staged by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The high school band will go on Thursday and return Friday, and the part of Portales in the pageant and in the My Home contest will give our city a prominent place and will be a source of real advertising.

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, with the board of directors is calling upon every one to go, and reap the benefits from this convention.

More than ten thousand people are expected to attend, and you can see many of your old friends there, so go and have a good time, and it will mean a lot to you, and your community.

GROWING NEED OF E. N. M. NORMAL

The need of the Eastern New Mexico Normal School is growing greater each day.

This summer alone, between $15,000 and $20,000 will go out of Roosevelt county, through teachers having to go to summer schools.

While a portion of this will be spent in New Mexico, the greater portion will be spent in Texas, Colorado and other states.

The new ruling of the state Board of Education requiring teachers in the public schools to attend the summer schools, will work a hardship on many teachers—especially in the rural schools.

The short school term, and low wages, will leave the teachers very little after paying the expenses of the summer school term.

Had the Eastern New Mexico Normal School's need been cared for by the past legislature, this would have saved the teachers of this county alone around $10,000.

CO-OPERATION WILL WIN

The succes of the farmers as well as the business interests of our county depends upon the co-operation of every citizen of the county.

Home loyalty in buying and selling will make this a much better county in which to live.

No one can live unto himself, with disregard to the interests of his neighbors.

Every dollar spent in the county will come back to you either in direct or indirect profits.

The dollar sent out of town is forever lost to circulation so far as this county is concerned.

Buying at home enables the merchant to meet his obligations, to pay his taxes, and to support the institutions of the county.

It enables the merchants to assist in getting better markets for the products of the county.

The interests of the farmer are the interests of the business men, and co-operation will mean better times in the future.

LARGE CLASS OF GRADUATES

This week will see a large class of graduates going out from the Portales High School.

These young men and young ladies are the future citizens of Portales and Roosevelt county. They will soon be called upon to take the reins of government of our county and city.

The work that they have done in the past four years in the Portales High School will determine their fitness for the positions that they will occupy in future life.

They are only beginning their life work, and it depends largely upon how they have applied themselves to their studies as to their future success in life.

They can be builders or they can be drones.

The builders are those who seek opportunities to advance the interests of humanity.

The drones are those who sit idly by, waiting for opportunity to seek them out.

The News will watch with interest the future life of this class, and trusts that they will avail themselves of the opportunities that will lead to success.

BUY A POPPY

On Saturday, May 23rd, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary will conduct their annual poppy sale.

The object of this sale is to raise money to assist the disabled veterans.

When these ladies approach you to buy a poppy, open your pocket book and be liberal.

The boys who were disabled on Flanders Field fought to make the world safe for democracy.

They have given of their time and health that you may enjoy the liberty of this nation.

The poppies are made by the disabled veterans in the hospitals over the country, and every penny derived from this source is used for the relief of these worthy men.

Remember that May 23rd is designated as official poppy day, and that you are being given an opportunity to participate in this nation-wide movement.

Buy and wear a poppy in your coat lapel on this day by all means.

OFF TO WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A large delegation left today from Portales for Lubbock, to attend the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has included eastern New Mexico in its activities, and has been instrumental in the securing of more equitable freight rates for this section.

The committees attending from Portales will meet with the development committee, the roads committee, and the feeders and breeders committees.

This is one of the greatest regional organizations in the nation, and not only Wecct Texas, but the entire state of New Mexico is benefitted.

This organization turns thousands of tourists into the play grounds of New Mexico annually, and is working for a closer relationship of New Mexico with Texas.

It is a great organization and deserves the support of the entire state of New Mexico.

CIMMARON

Cimmaron, which is now showing at the Palace Theatre, is one of the best pictures ever produced.

This picture deals with the history of the Osage Nation from 1888 to 1930, and is one that gives thrills and brings tears to the eyes of the public.

The Palace Theatre is now showing the best line of pictures to be found in any theatre of the state, and is deserving of the patronage of the public.

The last showing of Cimmaron is tonight (Thursday), and if you have not seen it, the News recommends that you avail yourself of this opportunity, as it will be the last opportunity you will have to see this super-picture.

With the class of pictures being shown at the local theatre, there is now no excuse for motion picture fans going out of Portales to see the best pictures produced.

SOCIETY and Club

ONE O'CLOCK LUNCHEON

One of the prettiest and largest parties given for several months was enjoyed Thursday when Mrs. C. M. Compton, Jr., Mrs. G. A. Chumbley and Mrs. J. G. Greaves entertained with a luncheon at one o'clock in the Compton home.

Eleven quartett tables were arranged in the living room and dining room.

A color plan of pink and green was used in the decoration and menu. The tables in the dining room were covered with spread of white and pink while those in the living room were of the same design but in colors of white and green. Each table was centered with a crystal basket filled with pink sweet peas and farns.

The first course was served in plates of pink and green. The hostesses were aaisted in serving the three courses of the very delicious meal by Miss Mildred Rowley.

After enjoying the luncheon the tables were arranged for forty-two and bridge, and a very happy contest was enjoyed during the remainder of the hours of the party. At forty-two Mrs. J. C. Compton held high score and Mrs. Ike Hughes the low, while in bridge Mrs. Christoe had high and Mrs. F. D. Golden the low.

The beautiful afternoon placed all the guests in a party mood and the afternoon passed all too rapidly.

The friends composing this happy gathering included Mesdames J. H. B. Young, H. C. Waltom, N. Stool, Ed J. Neer, Lacy Armstrong, Cline Caperton, T. E. Mears, P. E. Morison, J. E. The score cards also served as place cards and carried designs of summer flowers.

The splendid breakfast was served in three courses and the hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. Lillian Taylor, Mrs. Abe Ribbie and Miss Vada Mae Jackson.

PAINS
QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

TRUCK FARMERS SHOULD WATCH MARKET TRENDS

Truck crop farming is a highly specialized field almost entirely dependent on available markets and requires a more diversified knowledge of production and marketing trends than many of the other crops, according to H. C. Stewart, of the New Mexico Agricultural College. Many of the other crops can be marketed through poultry and livestock, but fresh truck crops because of their perishability, demand an immediate turnover. The markets, therefore, depend upon the inter-relation of production and consumption. A violation of the balance of these two factors may mean disastrous prices.

The outlook for nearly all of the truck crops in New Mexico indicates an acreage no larger than that of last season. This in itself would not seem to indicate lower prices, providing neighboring states do not flood our primary markets. Surveys of hotels and eating houses in many parts of the United States show that due to our changing eating habits, the consumption of fresh vegetables has increased 35 per cent in the past ten years. Despite this substantial increase in consumption, the state and national market and production trends should be used as much as possible in selecting any 1931 crops yet to be planted.

New Mexico on the whole has been a deficit rather than a surplus state insofar as the major truck crops are concerned. There have been a few times when some state markets were over supplied but the glut has lasted for only a short while. Potatoes, one of our major articles of diet, have never been produced within 50 per cent of the state demand. Lettuce, celery and several other crops occupy this same relation to the consuming demand.

There may be some danger of over production in cantaloupes, as the per capita consumption is small, and the grower will have to look for out-of-state markets. Thus the importance of national trends. Cabbage occupies somewhat the same position as canatloupes, and the national intention to plant indicates a somewhat larger acreage than last year.

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENTS ORGANIZE SOCIAL CLUB

Former 4-H club members who are attending the New Mexico Agricultural College on scholarships which have been awarded them for club work, met during the latter part of March and formed an organization known as the Taan-Jo Club.

This club has for its object the promotion of a social bond among all students who are attending college on a 4-H club scholarship and the stimulation of interest in the New Mexico Agricultural College and the 4-H club, among both students and prospective students.

At the organization of the club, a constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected consisting of the following: Austin Brooks of Curry county, president; Orville Harris of Roosevelt county, vice-president; and Lorene Black of Curry county, secretary-treasurer. Club meetings are held twice a month. The name, Taan-Jo, is derived from an Indian word meaning "welcome." Members are divided into three classes, active, honorary and life. The active members, 29 in number, are those students who are at present attending the New Mexico Agricultural College with a scholarship won in 4-H club work. Honorary members consist of all members of the State Extension force. Life members are all former active members.

As the first social function, a picnic was held at Mesilla Dam, April 25. Each club member was allowed to bring a guest and an invitation was extended to all members of the State Extension force. The hours of the picnic were from 4 to 9 p. m. A camp fire was built at which weiners and marshmallows were roasted and a bountiful supper was enjoyed by all.

BEAUTY CONTEST CROOKED

The beauty contest conducted by Dana Johnson of the Santa Fe New Mexican is as crooked as a school election in San Miguel county.

It is not only crooked, but since the News editor entered the contest the jealousy of some of the other candidates has passed all bounds of decency.

Bill Robinson, last week, dipped his typewriter ribbon in vitriol, and comes out with the following base libel:

One of the tragic features about the editorial beauty contest now being misconducted by the Santa Fe New Mexican is that it is making bad blood between scribes who have for years been drinking out of the same milk bottle, and falling for the same advertising grafters. The latest evidence of this unfortunate result is found in the way in which Paul Dodge of the Tucumcari News, who will win the contest hands down, if public opinion can force any squareness in the count at all, resents the charge brought by Editor Greaves of the Portales News that Dodge and his columnist burglarized his office and stole his cut to keep him out of the contest. This writer didn't mind the charge. He has been accused of doing less humane things than that, and in some cases has been guilty, but Dodge took it to heart, and is saying things:

"The charge is wholly untrue. Ye pastor wouldn't go to Portales even to steal a water-melon, let alone swipe the half-tone picture of Greaves. What in the world would he do with it? Why should he care if he is foolish enough to want to get in the game?

"Physically, Greaves looks like a dried noodle. When he swallows an olive, he looks like a tape worm with one knot tied in it. His forehead recedes like an out-going tide; his nose is not unlike that of an ant-eater; and when he opens his mouth it is impossible to see his face. His Adam's apple is as big as a Portales yam, and while gulping turns over like a mud turtle struggling with the leg of a mud hen. When Greaves' brain pulsates it makes a noise like a model T disturbing a camp meeting.

"And Greaves' neck!

"Folks, if you have never seen Greaves' neck, you haven't lived. Greaves' neck is two feet long and two inches thick, and when bent looks like an old maid's elbow. Yes, that is the kind of a man who dares to charge that Bill Robinson and Ye Pastor stole his cut!

"Intellectually, Greaves is as bright as a cinder that has been out in the alley and under the snow since last fall. He is the man who thinks bathing beauties go into the water. He thinks transmission is a religious rite. As a writer, he should eat more alphabet soup. He is as thrilling as a bean in an army camp. The only merit in his editorials is that they give work to printers. Politically he thinks flounder is a fish instead of a politician. And as a golfer—folks, you should see Greaves in golf togs. In golf things he looks like a Missouri river gar attired in a mother-hubbard.

"Yes, that's the kind of a man who dares to accuse Bill and me. The kind of a man who to this day wears 'barn door' pants, congress shoes and suspenders. The kind of a man who buys bulk gingersnaps when his wife gives a party, and who thinks Clovis is raising hell because Evangelist Fisher said it was."

Now, everyone knows that it was Bill Robinson who inspired Darwin with his theory of evolution.

Then, last week, Shaffer of the State Tribune entered this contest and presented an X-ray picture of himself. It was needless to put his name under the picture, for any one would recognize him without a label.

Shaffer lets his jealous spleen get the upper hand of his better judgment and bribes Dana to print the following:

"The inference that this offering, with its bone-head and solid ivory editorial implication, stands a favorable chance of winning over the pictures of J. G. Greaves, Bill Butler and others heretofore published is one that we leave with all other entries for what it is worth. It has always been our desire to have this competition conducted on a gentlemanly and pleasant basis. However, in view of the utterances of Robinson, Southard and others, probably all chances of having a peaceful and friendly beauty contest have gone glimmering and it is doomed tibia free for all scrimmage.

Then Paul Dodge, seeing his chances to win slipping, publishes the following in his last week's paper:

"And new I comes to that crooked beauty contest Dana Johnson is running.

"See where Greaves, of Sweet 'taterville, has sent in a likeness of himself, taken 30 or 40 years ago, and bill Robinson comments on it as follows:

The state editorial beauty contest misconducted by the Santa Fe New Mexican, and its chief enviest, is progressing to a point where you have to wonder how they get that way. How any sane man could think that the contest would be square with such management passes understanding. How any average editorial countenance could compete with the pure Greek profile of Paul Dodge is something else. And still the suckers keep on coming. The latest is Greaves, of Portales, who has forwarded a photograph of himself to the master criminal and fixer, and it will probably be printed without any mutilation. It doesn't need any. Nature has done that.

Greaves was the original of the story about the meeting on the country road of two men. One cracked down a six-shooter on the other and told him to pray. The amazed second party asked why, and was told that "I have always said that if I ever met an uglier man than myself, I would shoot him." The answer came right back, "Well, if I am uglier than you are, for God's sake shoot!" And now he tries to horn in on a beauty contest in which Paul Dodge is entered and which is conceived and is being carried out by a crook whose attainments in deviosity makes Jimmie Walker, Bath-House John, Nero Johnson and other nationally-known election-fixers seem like Tyros. Oh, well, let the game proceed. Something tells us that the competition is going to get the more interesting, the crookeder it gets.

But I got a better one than that on Greaves: Some 30 or 35 years ago, when I was an apprentice and Greaves was a journeyman printer, working in Wahlgreen's in Denver, a slake thirsting emporium, corner 16th and Arapaho, was a hang-out for the printers 'cause it served plenty of free lunch and the biggest steins in town.

One of the bar-keepers at this place was noted for his uglines, and he always said that if he ever found a man uglier than he was he would buy the drinks for everyone in the house, when he walked in.

Printers in those ancient days were travelers—one week they'd be working in 'Frisco, or Spokane, or Seattle or Portland, and the next in New York or Jacksonville or Miami, and traveling as they did they had a broad opportunity for seeing not only the beauties of the land, but the other side, too.

Some 20 or 30 of the printers were in the saloon one morning, shortly before the noon hour, when the bartender, noted for his homeliness, again said he'd buy the drinks if ever a man walked in the place who was more homelier.

Some one thot of Greaves, and at the noon hour a delegation went up on Stout street, got Greaves and waltzed him into the saloon, and the moment he walked in the bartender said:

"Holy smoke, I never believed a man could get that homely; come on, gang, the house is yours, for that guy is so dern ugly he's really attractive."

See that Karl Guthman has begun bidding for his vote; always thot that guy was a crooked politician, and now I knows it; he's wanting a bid for his vote, wanting to go back on his promise to vote for the M. A. T.; dern him, he'll find the box locked, if he ever comes down this way again.

The M. A. T.'s not getting cold feet or anything like that, but I'm beginning to believe the reason so many of the eds are refusing to send in their pictures, they know they have no chance of winning against me, and I'm putting it up to Dana, if he thinks my withdrawal will bring in all of 'em he can withdraw me—for the time being, then shoot me in again at the close. What say, Dana?

To be sure this would be a crooked stunt, but the contest being admittedly crooked, can't see how an honest piece of crookery like this will hurt any.

Here's what Guthman printed, and now that he thinks that he sees a chance to get something for his votes he's hedging:

"Editors of the Santa Fe New Mexican, Tucumcari News, Cavern City Chronicle, and other papers of the state are spending a lot of time in an endeavor to determine which of their lot is entitled to a beauty prize for the best looking one of their lot. From the few pictures that it has been my privilege to "cast a beaming optic upon" there is no hesitancy in voting for Paul Dodge of the Tucum News. And this opinion has not been swayed by anything I may have previously heard or seen of one electric refrigerator that it is alleged Paul maintains in his anctum during those torrid days of his summer months."

Now as to that Denver story of Dodge's, we had not intended to mention it at all, but since he has brought it up, we might as well give the facts of the case.

At the time this happened, it is true that we were working at Wahlgreen's, and Dodge was working at Hoheckles'. This was the day before Labor Day, and on Labor Day a big parade was taged in Denver.

Floto's circus was in town and led the parade.

As the parade made the loop at the Capitol grounds, coming out of 18th street and looping back to 17th street, the circus beauty, who was riding the elephant at the head of the parade, dressed as an India princess, looked around just as the parade was halted by a traffic jam, she looked down at the parade, gave a scream and yelled, "The gorilla has escaped!" pointing down at Paul Dodge. The elephants stampeded and all but broke up the parade.

Over in Tucumcari, the mothers frighten their children by telling them if they are not good that Dodge will get them.

We would like to know if McMath is to receive a vote for each of his five papers in the beauty contest.

If Mack, Dodge and Robinson are beauties, then we are a millioraire.

Circulation of the New Mexican is reported picking up since starting the beauty contest.

Copies are being sold by the truck farmers all over the state, to put in their melon patches.

Then Bill Robinson in the Cavern City Chronicle pulls the following wise crack:

The Tucumcari American says that Dana Johnson is kidding a lot of nuts in New Mexico in the beauty contest.

Fact is, if some pictures were sent in and published, the squirrels would come out of the mountains to feed.

SENIOR PROGRAM

Miss Lillian Marr gave a reading, the poem "Sandstorm," which had been composed by Jack Copeland, another member of the graduating class.

The winding of the May pole was the next feature of the evening entertainment. A pole with streamers in many of the pastel shades was placed in the gymnasium. The young ladies, selected to wind the pole, were escorted to their positions by young men from the class. These escorts stood at attention during this special feature and accompanied the ladies to their chosen chairs in the rear of the building again.

Miss Martha Anne Colligan, valedictorian of the class of 1931, delivered the farewell address, after which the Queen with her party and the class members marched from the room, with the band furnishing the music.

Miss Ruth Bloomer and Mrs. Kenneth McCall are sponsors for the senior class and were in charge of the arrangements for the evening program.

The young ladies composing the Queen's party were Lorena Cutler and Murle Kimmons, flower girls; MacKewn Waltom and Frances Grimes, train bearers; Lois Bankston and Floye Hayes, crown bearers, and Jewel Fullerton and Alene Barton, attendants.

BOY SCOUT PICTURES

At the meeting of the Boy Scouts to be held at the Christian church next Tuesday evening, May 19, pictures will be shown of life in the camp last summer and in these will be seen many of the Portales scouts.

One of the pictures is of the Sunday service being conducted by Rev. Lorts under a large tree, standing more than 150 feet high.

At this meeting will be discussed plans for the camp this summer, and the parents are asked to attend this meeting and assist in the arrangement for this summer outing.

Many parents are not fully aware of the wonderful influence of the Boy Scout lessons upon the life of the boys, and this meeting will be of great instruction to them as well as a thrill to the boys who see in the picture the places and activities which were familiar to them during the past summer.

There will be no charge for these pictures to be shown at the church and the troop leaders are urging all persons interested in the movement to make a special effort and attend this gathering next Tuesday evening. Those fathers who do not have boys belonging to the organization are also invited to attend that they may learn some of the splendid work of the organization.

HOW TO MAKE AMERICAN CHEESE

Littlefield.—A profitable home market for part of the low-price milk on the farm has been demonstrated by Mrs. B. H. Hunt of the Spade Home Demonstration club, Lamb county, in the manufacture of American cheese. Out of 20 gallons of milk worth $1.03 for butterfat, she and her husband have made 20 pounds of cheese worth $7 at store prices, at a cash cost of 15 cents and an expenditure of seven hours of labor. Vauing the milk at market prices and the labor at 25 cents per hour the cheese cost about 17 cents per pound. It makes a nourishing food that varies the diet and profitably disposes of part of the surplus milk, Mrs. Hunt claims.

The method of manuracture, as demonstrated by Miss Ruby Mashburn, home demonstration agent, consists in heating the milk to 86 degrees temperature, adding 1-2 rennet tabet dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of water to 3 1-2 gallons of milk, and then adding 1-4 of a coloring tablet. The mixture is left for 30 minutes for the curd to set and then cut into small cubes and again heated, this time to 100 degrees, after which it is allowed to set until the curd and when separate. The whey is drained off and the curd encased in flour sacking and pressed for 24 hours under 45 pounds pressure in a syrup bucket or similar container, the sides of which have been punched full of holes. The cheese is then dipped in unsalted melted butter, put in a cool place and turned once a day for 10 or 12 days. It is then dipped in melted paraffin and put in a cellar of about 40 degrees temperature to ripen for six weeks to 90 days.

WHEELER REMODELS STORE BUILDING

E. N. Wheeler has finished with some repair work at his store at the corner of Main and Union which makes the building much more convenient for his implement business.

Two double door sections have been placed in the rear wall, thus giving ample space for the removal of any piece of machinery which has been set together within the building. The floor room is sufficient for the display of those pieces of farm machinery for which Mr. Wheeler is agent.

Bishop Johnson, who is chairman of the state board of corrections and charities, said, "I think it would be a good idea to replace the legislature by a board of 20, paid an adequate salary, so they can give their whole time to the work."

"Instead of getting legislators who are interested in principles," Bishop Johnson said, "We have legislators who are interested in localities."

The state, he added, could be managed the same as a corporation.

Bishop Johnson criticised the present system at the state penitentiary as "making the criminals more criminal." He told the forum the asylum was a "disgrace" to the state and said the treatment of insane was "outrageous."
