VOL. 33 NO. 161 — SNYDER, TEXAS (79549) FRI., NOV. 13, 1981 — 10 PAGES 20¢

After 54 Hours In Space...

Columbia Called Back

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA said today that Columbia — operating smoothly, 157 miles in orbit with a dead fuel cell — has achieved the most important goals of its mission and the shuttle is being summoned Saturday for an early return to Earth.

The mission was planned to last five days, 83 orbits, but the fuel cell failure convinced mission supervisors to speed up high-priority tasks and make a return after 54 hours — at 1:22 p.m. PST on Rogers Dry Lake in California.

The decision was announced as the astronauts flexed Columbia's remarkable space arm for the first time — completing a key test essential to future shuttle missions and the success of this one.

The craft performed easily on two remaining fuel cells but officials were loathe to chance losing either one of the electricity-producing units.

"Mission management has made a decision to execute the mimimum mission which was preplanned to accomplish the major test — engineering and scientific," said Mission Control spokesman John McLeaish. "Landing is set at Edwards Air Force Base, California, on Saturday after mission elapsed time of two days, six hours and 12 minutes."

A failed fuel cell forced the reduced mission, originally plotted at 124 hours and 83 orbits. The Saturday landing will come after 36 orbits — the same duration as last April's maiden shuttle flight.

Meanwhile, the ship and its crew were soaring smoothly and safely 157 miles above Earth.

It is only the third time in 33 manned space missions that an American flight was shortened after it began.

Astronauts Joe Engle and Richard Truly were intent today on completing a busy flight plan jammed with experiments.

"The arm is out and working great," Truly said after exercising the 50-foot, Canadian-built mechanical crane. "The movement is much smoother than it was in the sims (simulations). There's no jerky movement whatsoever."

The $80-million arm, unable to lift its own weight on Earth, is designed to deploy 60,000-pound satellites in space. Television pictures showed it practically waving down at a blue Earth — an image as fascinating as the moment of launch.

One of Columbia's three fuel cells malfunctioned Thursday, and half-a-day after the ship's second perfect launch, NASA instructed Engle and Truly to pull the plug.

After the astronauts performed a routine purge of the two operating cells this morning, Mission Control reported: "Fuel cells 2 and 3 look okay to us." Truly, above the Atlantic at the time, responded: "Good show."

"With two good fuel cells we could fly ad infinitum in the configuration we're in now," flight director Neil Hutchinson had told reporters earlier. "But at some point in time the risk of exposing yourself to that kind of an anamoly is greater than a decision to continue to fly."

Reagan Advisor Took Gratuity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's national security adviser accepted a $1,000 gratutity from a Japanese journalist for an interview with Nancy Reagan and then put the money in a safe and forgot about it for eight months, the White House said today.

The official, Richard V. Allen, accepted the money — in cash — because he knew "this was customary in Japan" and did not wish to embarrass the Japanese journalists or Mrs. Reagan, said White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes.

Speakes said Allen put the money in the safe "until he could ascertain the proper procedure for turning it over to the government."

The money was intended for Mrs. Reagan, who was interviewed in Washington the day after her husband was inaugurated, but Allen "intercepted it," Speakes said.

Olympics Film Set Here...

Attention Focused On Community Colleges

The opening ceremonies of the 1980 Olympics in Moscow will be seen in a 50-minute color film to be shown Monday night at Western Texas College.

The public is invited to see the film, starting at 7 p. m. in the science lecture hall. Students will be serving as guides to direct visitors to the hall. There will be no admission harge.

"We are pleased to make this film available during Texas Community College Week," Dr. Don Newbury, WTC president, said.

In keeping with the observance of Community College Week, Nov. 15-21, local residents are invited to visit the campus at their convenience. Programs open to the public during the week include a brown bag luncheon in the Scurry County Museum at noon Monday, a basketball game in the college gym at 8 p. m. Tuesday when the Westerners will host Ranger Junior College, the fall production of the theatre department, "Whose Life Is It, Anyway?" running Nov. 20-23.

James W. Greene, a native of Snyder who now resides in San Francisco, will be bringing the film of the Olympics to Snyder. Greene, who is hospitality chairman for the Amateur Athletic Union, played on the first Snyder High School football team. He and his wife will be visiting relatives and friends in Snyder.

The film is the property of the Russian government and is on special loan from the office of the Russian Consul-General in San Francisco. This will the first time for it to be shown in this country outside the San Francisco area and it is the only print now in the United States. The narration is in English.

Snyder Mayor Milton Ham and County Judge Preston Wilson have added local emphasis to Community College Week with the signing of a joint declaration proclaiming the event. Gov. William P. Clements Jr. had signed a state-wide proclamation earlier.

The local proclamation points out that Western Texas College is an integral part of the community, providing citizens with many educational, vocational, avocational, recreational and cultural opportunities. Sensitivity to community needs is reflected in the college's association with the Scurry County and Diamond M Museums and the Senior Citizens Center.

Members of the faculty, administration and staff are proud citizens of the community, participating in the various civic, cultural and social events of the community, the proclamation continues.

"Now, we, therefore, do hereby designate the period of Nov. 15-21 as

Haig Fuels Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. is fueling congressional concerns about U.S. military involvement in Central America with his refusal to rule out possible moves against Nicaragua. "If I were Nicaraguan, I'd be building my bomb shelter," one critic said.

Haig told the House Foreign Affairs Committee on Thursday that the situation is Nicaragua is "very, very disturbing."

Fed by a steady flow of arms from Cuba and the Soviet bloc, Haig said, Nicaragua's army is growing into "a force for aggression and the expansion of Marxist-Leninist policy in the hemisphere."

"I think we cannot delude ourselves as Americans about that and then wonder, perhaps in six months to a year from now, what happened that we have another Cuba in this hemisphere and perhaps the expansion of this disease throughout the hemisphere," he told the House panel.

Lay Offs Reported

BAY CITY, Texas (AP) — Brown & Root will lay off 1,900 workers at the South Texas Nuclear Project by Dec. 10, but a company spokesman says no specific schedule has been worked out.

"We'll just have a gradual wind-down until Dec. 10," said Clark Councill. Brown & Root laid off 600 workers at the site Thursday. Councill said the company has found work for 250 of those employees at other job sites.

The layoff was the first such action since the firm resigned as construction contractor Nov. 5. Councill said the layoff leaves 1,600 Brown & Root workers on the site of the controversial plant.

Councill said the company will let all but about 300 employees go by Dec. 10. He said that crew will maintain the site until a new contractor is hired.

Woman Arraigned

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A woman accused of illegally abducting two of her sons by a former marriage has pleaded innocent to two felony counts of first-degree custodial interference.

After the arraignment of Harriet Kavalewitz Thursday, Monroe County Court Judge Culver Barr released the woman, now wife of a Houston investment banker, on $10,000 bail pending further proceedings. No trial date was set.

Mrs. Kavalewitz formerly was married to Dale Berne, the principal of Eastridge High School in suburban Irondequoit. After their divorce, Berne was granted custody of the sons, Scott, now 11, and Mark, now 7, and his ex-wife was given visitation rights.

Planview Man Dies

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) — A 21-year-old Plainview man was killed when his light plane crashed into a cotton field during an aerobatic stunt, authorities say.

Danny Joe Green was the lone occupant of the two-seater Balanca Citabrea, a single-wing, single-engine plane modified for stunt flying, investigators said.

A witness told law officers that Green flew low over the pasture, went into a stunt pattern and crashed after apparently failing to pull out.

The accident took place about 11:10 a.m. Thursday, 10 miles north of Plainview, authorities said.

Escape Serious Injury

SCHERTZ, Texas (AP) — Three Louisiana workmen escaped serious injury as spot welds exploded like firecrackers, sending more than 17 tons of steel crashing to the floor of a water tower under contruction in this San Antonio suburb.

Randy Wall, 20, suffered a fractured heel; Billy Hust, 20, escaped with a fractured elbow, and Michael Meredith, 25, suffered multiple burises and abrasions in the incident.

Worked On Shuttle Tanks...

Snyderite Has Special Interest In Columbia

By Noble Bryant Young

Thursday morning's second launch of the Space Shuttle Columbia marked a special moment for at least one Snyder resident.

Before coming to Snyder, Ed Byington, currently manager of Dollar TV, spent six months in New Orleans where he worked as a quality control inspector for the Martin-Marietta Corp. Martin-Marietta is the prime contractor for the external fuel tanks used to carry the fuel for the launch of the shuttle.

The tanks, which carry the super cold (—467 degrees F) liquid oxygen and hydrogen used to fuel the main rocket engines, are built in the Michoud facility, outside New Orleans. The tanks, 29½ feet in diameter and 150 feet long, are constructed in one building enclosing 38 acres under one roof.

According to Ed, the tanks carry 500,000 gallons of fuel and are so fragile that you cannot walk on them until they are pressurized with the fuel. These tanks are the only part of the shuttle that is not re-usable.

As a quality control inspector at the plant, Ed was responsible for the inspection of everything from the welding and insulation on the tanks to the wiring for the hundreds of heat, vibration, and stress sensors attached to the tanks.

Ed observed that the tanks were quite a phenomenal piece of technology. He cited the fact that when the super cold fuels are being loaded, the whole tank shrinks 7 to 10 inches without springing a leak.

Additionally, he observed that the next tank, to be used on the third launch, will not be painted. Omitting the paint will result in a weight savings of 1400 lbs.

According to Ed, the tanks currently in use take about three and one-half months to build. After the seventh launch, he says they plan to switch to a lighter tank and that production should be increased to about two per month.

When asked why he left the project, he cited incredible hours and his own impatience with union labor as his reasons for leaving. Byington tells of working 12 to 18 hour days and says he once worked 79 straight days without a day off.

He attributes the long hours, necessary to meet production deadlines, at least in part, to the inefficency of workers the union forces the company to hire.

He does admit, however, that the job did have its good points. One good point he mentioned was getting to meet all the astronauts and being able to see all of their private film of their trips.

The astronauts are allowed to carry their own movie and still cameras on the flights and afterwards, they take their pictures around and show them off to the workers of the various contractors. Ed says that their private photos are often more interesting than the offical NASA releases.

Although he admits to a little surge of pride following yesterday's launch, Ed says that the big thrill for him will come if the third launch goes off smoothly. The tank to be used for the third flight is the one he was involved with from start to finish.

Ed is originally from Bristol, Tenn., and before working on the space shuttle, had worked in Iran for Bell Helicopter. He is married and he and his wife Cathy have two children, Randy, aged 1 and Reannon 2.

Ask Us

Q.—When there is a traffic accident, is anyone responsible for cleaning up the glass, or is it just left for the rest of us to cut our tires up?

A.—Law enforcement agencies say it is the wrecker service's duty to clear off debris resulting from an accident.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

It is not unusual for West Texans to step in and help a neighbor who is the victim of misfortune, or down on his luck, but Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter tells about an incident that will rank at the top in our book until someone comes up with a more impressive one.

Winford Taylor, a farmer near Ackerly, had been hospitalized for 44 days in Odessa for cobalt treatments in a fight against cancer. He had a section of cotton to be harvested. No less that 64 strippers and 15 module builders, representing more than $5 million in equipment, showed up and stripped the 640 acres in two hours and 20 minutes. Estimates were that it would gin out nearly 400 bales.

Glenn Rea of the Azle News Advertiser calls attention to the fact that football formations are not the only things in the fall that change with the years. The performance of school bands during half-time at the games is a much bigger attraction now than it used to be.

"The days of marching onto the field and making a couple of designs have passed," Rea noted. "Now the band is involved in choreography, costume changes, drama, humor and, of course, great music during their 7½ minutes between halves."

It has resulted in fewer fans heading for the concession stands during half-time, Rea concluded.

Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News news tells a story about Tom and Jerry, partners in a profitable painting-contracting business: Unfortunately, they weren't entirely honest because they mixed water with their paint. One day, Jerry's conscience began bothering him as they painted a poor widow's house. The next day, Jerry told Tom that he just couldn't be dishonest anymore.

"Don't quit now," Tom begged. "A few more jobs and we can retire."

But Jerry Refused to change his mind.

"Tom," he said, "I just can't do it. Last night an angel stood by my bed and said, 'repaint, you thinner.'"

Mary Kay Goes Without ERA

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Texas entrepeneur who turned $5,000 into a multimillion-dollar cosmetics empire believes women will make their way in the business world with or without the Equal Rights Amendment.

Mary Kay Ash, who heads Mary Kay Cosmetics Inc. and was here Thursday to promote her book, said she has taken no position on the ERA, although she said women in many cases are still paid less than men.

"I can't believe that God intended for a woman's brain to be worth fifty cents on the dollar," she said, noting that women earn 59 cents for each $1 men make.

"I think men are realizing tha women do have brains. The first women who were appointed to boards were tokens. They had to be. But then the men found out that, 'Hey, they can do the job,'" said Mrs. Ash, adding that more women in her company earn more than $50,000 a year than in any company in the world.

"I think we're already fidence, she said.

"I wrote the book for the woman with no hope, no profession, no training, who's stuck behind four walls and may be there the rest of her life unless someone rescues her," Mrs. Ash said. "Maybe she didn't have the opportunity to go to college or get training in the field, and she feels she has to take abuse at home, or whatever. ...I would like to get her out of that situation," she said.

Mrs. Ash, whose company had more than $400 million in sales for the third quarter, recruits women and trains them for direct sales.

"Sales pays what you are worth," she said.

Baze Speaks At DAR Meeting

The Martin Prueitt Jr. chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met November 3 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for a noon luncheon with 20 members and two guests attending. Mrs. Louise Thompson, president, presided. Mrs. Clyde Hall, Jr. introduced the speaker, Roy Allen Baze, a retired senior vice-president of Exxon who talked on "Our Lives As Individuals Under the Constitution."

Baze spoke on several forms of government including the United States government. He stated that the governments of today can be placed in three categories: centrally controlled-Communist military, Socialistic, Democratic.

Baze gave Poland as an example of a centrally controlled Communist government. The turmoil today centers around demands for some elementary personal freedoms: right to work only five days a week; right to have labor unions, right to strike, right to vote, right to speak more freely.

Baze said the first on the list of Socialistic governments is Sweden. The government provides all forms of social needs from birth to death including medicine, doctors, hospitals, schools, some transportation and public services. However, taxes are high and there is very little economic freedom left.

Lack of economic freedom restricts personal freedoms. Socialists have also taken over in France following elections this year, and the new government is now moving to take over six basic industries and obtaining control of all big privately owned banks.

As an example of a Democratic government Baze used the United States saying, "I am convinced with all our faults the United States form of government ranks high among the best in the world and that our Constitution and Bill of Rights are masterpieces of prose, of concept and thoroughness, but we should recognize that as individuals our rights and freedoms under the Constitution are diminishing, and already we have lost many of our personal freedoms over the last five decades."

Baze stated that history will record that the U.S. took a decided turn toward socialism in the early 1930's. The country was in dire trouble then and major treatment was called for. The legislation enacted was a turn toward sociliasm. But the U.S. has resilience and if people get interested and have the facts they usually force a reasonably good solution, Baze said.

Mrs. Gene Dulaney reported on the role of national defense. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mesdames H. F. Clark, Bill Line, David Strelecki and Fred Davis.

South was very proud of his bidding when he looked over dummy. This game was duplicate and he figured that the field would be in six or seven diamonds.

There were 13 tricks at either diamonds or no-trump if the diamond queen dropped, but queens don't always drop and South was delighted to be in just six.

He studied the dummy for a while and finally decided to guard against all possible bad diamond breaks. So at trick two he led his deuce of diamonds toward dummy. Any diamond play would guard against four diamonds in the West hand. South's play also guarded against the four that East held.

He could play any diamond from dummy, but selected the jack. East won and led a second club. South entered dummy with a spade; led a diamond and covered after East split. Another diamond lead from dummy took care of East's case.

East was bitter and remarked: "To guard against one chance in 20 you gave up all play for an overtrick. Why?"

South replied: "Easy. I doubt if more than one other pair played six no-trump so the overtrick was unimportant, but my contract was important."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I've prayed about this for months, and the only answer I get is, "Write to Abby." My husband and I are having severe problems with his mother. We have four small children under the age of 6. We think we are doing a good job of raising them, but every time we leave them with "Namaw," she messes things up. She gives our toddlers wine and beer behind our backs even though we've asked her not to. She also sneaks them candy and all kinds of junk food, knowing that we allow them only fresh fruit between meals or for dessert.

Namaw also tells our 5-year-old that he is going to the "wrong" church — the one she goes to is the "right" one. (She's still mad because her son left his church, which is also hers, and joined mine.)

Abby, I want to love her, but her behavior makes it impossible. What should I do? Don't tell me not to leave the children with her because we feel that children need the special love their grandparents can give them.

DISCOURAGED IN OREGON

DEAR DISCOURAGED: This is "special love"? Sneaking toddlers wine, beer, junk food and sweets? Plus undermining their confidence in their church? This kind of "love" your children can do without. Sorry. Something is drastically wrong with "Namaw." I would never leave the children in her care.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old widower with no children. My wife died four years ago, and I am very close to her brother and his wife. We live near each other and get together several times a week.

My problem is in dealing with the sexual advances of their 14-year-old daughter. She is extremely well-developed for her age and could easily pass for 19 or 20. For the past year I wrote it off as just family affection (she was very close to my wife.) However, in the last six months she has been very aggressive, and there is no mistaking what she has in mind. (She even asked me point-blank in very coarse language what I've been doing about my "sex life" since my wife's death!)

Abby, I love my niece, I am not perverted and I am no child molester. I have made no advances toward this child. I date different women and lead a normal, healthy life.

Don't tell me to ignore her. I've tried, but to no avail. I'm at the point now where I don't know whether to grab her and turn her over my knee — or just grab her.

FRUSTRATED IN W. VA.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You've contradicted yourself. The little tease has you on the ropes. Don't "grab" her for any reason. But do tell her like a Dutch uncle that she is playing with fire. And tell her parents to take their daughter in hand before she brings home a heap o' trouble.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am in my 40s. My hair is streaked with gray and I wear it pulled back in a bun. Each year I earn a line or two on my hands and face. I have never been to a beauty parlor and I own no cosmetics. I have always felt that cosmetics were basically unhealthy for the skin, a waste of time and money, and somewhat dishonest.

I have been happily married for 20 years to an exceptional man who makes me feel like the most beautiful women on earth. He is the only person I care to please. If he asked me to alter my appearance through cosmetics and hair coloring, I would do so — and gladly. However, since he seems to love me just the way I am, I will leave the refinements of age to God who is our sculptor, and be satisfied with the results.

PLAIN JANE

DEAR JANE: If you are happy, and your husband is happy, you are living in utopia. Ah, would that we were all so fortunate!

The last stand of the first English parliamentarians ended in 1266 when the rebels surrendered Kenilworth Castle to King Henry III after a sixmonth siege. Their leader, Simon de Montfort, who called England's first parliament, had been killed in battle. Kenilworth Castle, which still stands today, is believed to be more than 1,000 years old.

NL Well Service Plans To Expand Operations

NL Well Service of Snyder has been quite busy of late, and company personnel contemplates being even busier in the future. Not only is the company planning to expand, according to Bob Jerome, area manager, but for the past three months (approximately) employees have been busy constructing a 300 series rig which this week was transported to the Mineral Wells area where it will be put into service.

The rig features a 96-foot derrick, is made of steel and is completely handmade, Jerome said.

NL Well Service is also in the process of building two shallow drilling rigs which Jerome said they hope to have in service soon.

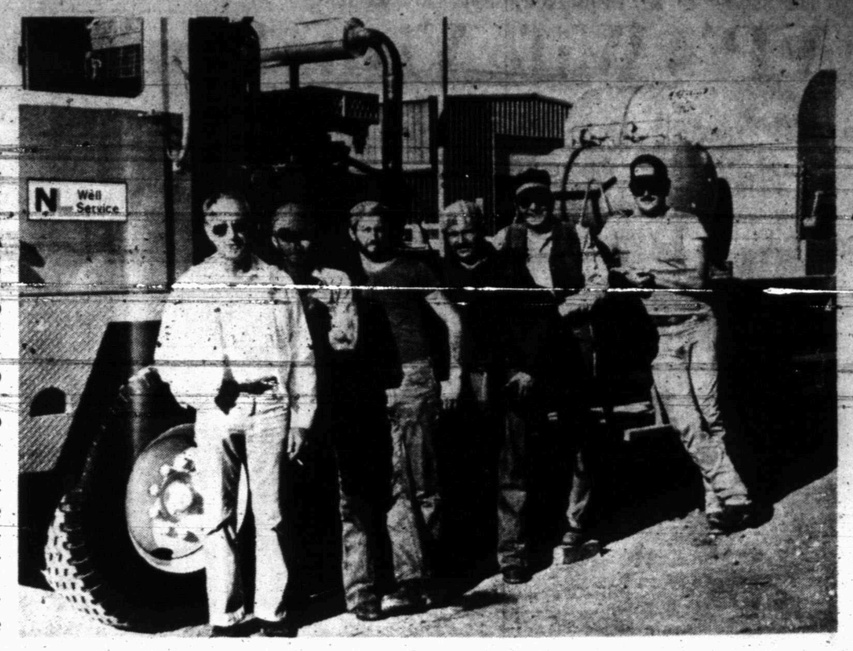
Expanded facilities will mean being able to completely rebuild rigs, Jerome said, adding that in the future they also plan to continue constructing brand new rigs as well.

The company will also be able to handle all maintenance work as well. Once the present shop facilites are expanded, Jerome said they hope to employ as many as 14 additional workers.

Just a few of the improvements will include raising the roof of the present shop facilites and adding overhead cranes.

"We are trying to grow with Snyder," Jerome said.

New Drilling Rig--NL Well Service of Snyder recently completed construction of this brand new 300 series rig which has since been put into operation in the Mineral Wells area. The rig was completely made by hand. Future plans include rebuilding rigs and building more new ones. (SDN Staff Photo)



EXPANSION PLANS--NL Well Service of Snyder is planning to expand local facilities to include rebuilding rigs, constructing new rigs, and all rig related maintenance work. Morgan Earns Certificate

Theresa Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Killgo of Snyder, has recently attained certification as a medical technologist from the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

She has also attained certification as a clinical laboratory scientist. These certifications are obtained through eight hours of written examination held in Dallas.

She then completed an internship for one year at Lubbock General Hospital. Morgan is presently employed as a hematologist in the Medical Center Hospital Laboratory in Odessa.

VP's Wife Visits San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Barbara Bush, wife of Vice President George Bush, visited two schools and attended a reception here to show her support for local educational and employment programs.

Mrs. Bush is a member of the Reading is Fundamental board. She visited Smith Elementary School Thursday and assisted in distributing books to the 715 students participating in the program.

Later, she went to Jay High School to present Northside School District Superintendent Ed Cody with the International Reading Association Literacy Award, the only such award given in Texas this year and only one of two presented in the nation.

Cody was honored for his efforts in emphasizing better reading instruction and in providing opportunities for young people to extend their individual pursuits in reading for information and pleasure.

Mrs. Bush then joined Rita Clements, wife of Texas Gov. Bill Clements, at a cocktail reception honoring Lupe Anguiano, founder of San Antonio Women Employment and Education Inc., a job training and placement program designed to get women off welfare rolls and into good paying jobs.

Abortion Is The Only Solution

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Abortion has become the only solution to unwanted pregancy in the Soviet Union because of a lack of contraceptives, exiled Soviet feminist Tatyana Mamonova said in a speech Tuesday.

She said it's not unusual for a Soviet woman to have as many as 15 abortions, often without anesthetics.

"Women's rights exist only on paper in the Soviet Union. The only right we have is the right to hard work," said the 38-year-old author of three books about oppression of Soviet women.

Henri Christophe, the second black emperor of Haiti, shot himself with a silver bullet, and the country become a republic in 1820.

Youth Indicted In Nun's Death

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Grand jurors have indicted an Amarillo youth on capital murder charges in connection with the slaying of a 76-year-old Roman Catholic nun, who was found in raped and beaten in her convent bedroom.

Johnny Frank Garrett, 17, was indicted Thursday for the Halloween murder of Sister Tadea Benz.

The youth was being held without bond in the Potter County Jail.

Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker said that two officers had analyzed the teen-ager's fingerprints after reports that Garrett argued with a priest at Alamo Catholic High School and vandalized the building.

An argon laser fingerprint device was used by Amarillo police to detect a partial print on a wood-handled knife found in the nun's room.

Investigators first focused on Garrett two or three days after Sister Tedea was found raped, stabbed, beaten and strangled, authorities said.

Garrett's home is located three blocks from the convent, Baker said.

The bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Amarillo said the sisters of St. Francis Convent have been "living in fear" since the Oct. 31 slaying.

"They still would forgive any person who did this," said Bishop L.T. Matthiesen, "but they wouldn't want anybody to go through that again."

Police had been concerned that their investigation would be hampered by the nuns, who had at first believed Sister Tadea died a natural death. The nuns had washed her face, wrapped her in blankets and sent her to a funeral home for embalming.

Police were summoned to the convent when the nuns found a broken piece of glass in the convent's community room and thought a burglary might have occurred. Investigating officers found nothing missing, but learned of the nun's death and ordered a halt to the embalming.

The Isle of Youth, less than an hour's flight from Havana, has 54 boarding schools for those of high-school age, and 17 of them are for non-Cubans. African students from seven countries are educated here.

in Region 1 Competition in Lubbock at the Lubbock High Gym, Sat., Nov. 14th at 10:15 a.m. (If they win, they will play again at 3:15 p.m.)

Seniors Hope To Lead Tigers In Win Over Fort Stockton

Twelve players and one trainer will be dressing out in Snyder High School football gear for the final time tonight as the 1981 season concludes another year.

Darryl Boone, Perry Echols, Mark Shaw, Ronnie Lindsey, Steve Gressett, Loyd Sands, Bryan Limmer, Trey Harlin, Darryl Robertson, Israel Ortegon, David Dorff, Raymond Jeffrey and trainer Damon Clawson make up Snyder's small but dedicated group of seniors who will graduate this spring.

They'll attempt to lead SHS to a second victory this season when Fort Stockton runs into Tiger Stadium at 8 o'clock.

Most of the seniors have been with the varsity program for two years, long enough to remember Snyder's only other meeting with the Panthers - a 57-0 fiasco of a year ago.

"I would think last year's game would give us some incentivo for our final ballgame this week," said Coach Byerly last Saturday. Lately he's eased off that approach with a more positive one.

"I don't think what happened last year is as important as how our team has played the last two weeks. We've had over 300 yards on offense both games and I think we're finally beginning to get things together," he said Wednesday. "Hopefully, this will give us some incentive and desire to play well again Friday."

"Also, this is the final game for our seniors. I'm sure they would want to end the season with a good performance."

Neither Snyder nor Fort Stockton has caused great concern for the powers of 2-4A though both have had some close ballgames.

The Panthers are 3-6 for the season and riding a five-game losing streak. Snyder is 1-8. Both have won one district game, each over Lamesa.

Each team has give up its share of big plays at crucial times and is probably better than its record indicates. Their lack of breakaway speed in a district that is known as one of the strongest in the state hasn't helped any.

"When you don't have the big-play threat you're forced to push the ball a long way down the field unless you get a turnover or something," said the coach. "Fort Stockton hasn't turned the ball over that many times this year, but it's difficult to sustain drives when you run three or four yards and a cloud of dust every time."

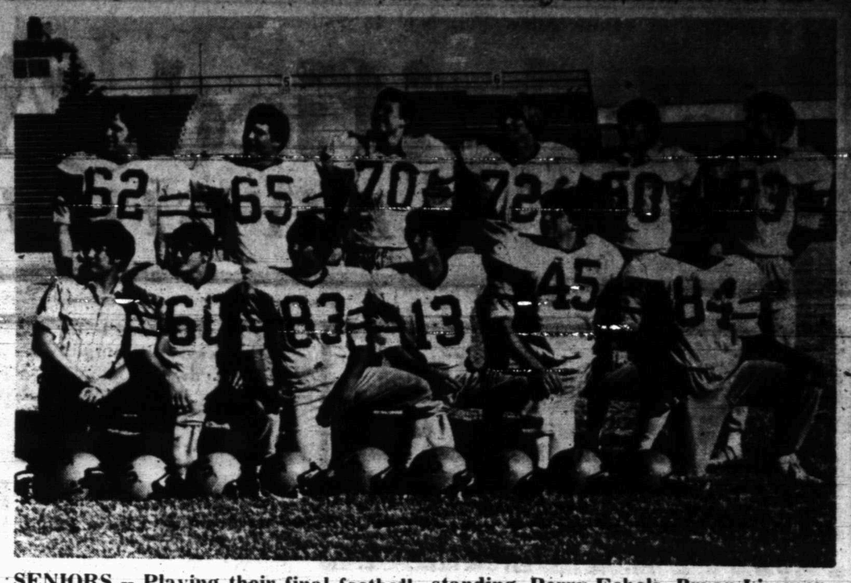
The difference has been in defense, where the Panthers' 206.0 average rates fourth in the conference and has kept its opponents from racking up the points. Snyder, at 296.9, ranks eighth.

Fort Stockton has prefered the ground in past games, rushing for 1,839 yards and passing for only 434. Snyder has been more balanced, rushing for 1,271 and passing for 763.

But Byerly was quick to point out that what the Panthers have done in the past may mean little tonight.

"It's the last game of the season and that changes some things," he said. "I'm sure both teams are going all out to win it. Fort Stockton hasn't passed that much yet, but they may come out throwing every down. You can't ever tell about the last game of the season."



SENIORS -- Playing their final football game for Snyder High School tonight will be these seniors. They are, left to right, kneeling, trainer Damon Clawson, Loyd Sands, Israel Ortegon, Darrell Boone, Mark Shaw and Raymond Jeffrey, and standing, Perry Echols, Bryan Limmer, Trey Harlin, Darrell Robertson, Ronnie Lindsey and Steve Gressett. Judge Rules Teams Can Play For Title

LAMESA (AP) - Two West Texas high school football teams were winners in a Lamesa courtroom when a judge decided they could play for their district championship tonight.

The Thursday ruling by State District Judge George Hansard threw Slaton and Tahoka into a tie for the lead in District 4-AAA, and the district championship now hinges on the outcome of Slaton's game with Post and the Tahoka-Roosevelt clash.

Tahoka and Slaton had been declared ineligible for post-season play by the University Interscholastic League, for allegedly using players who were not academically qualified.

However, attorneys for the two schools won a temporary injunction against the UIL. The court order reinstates the two players and restores the teams' right to compete for playoff berths.

Westerners Fall Short; Lose To Richland, 75-70

DALLAS -- WTC's Westerners were unable to contend on the boards here last night and dropped their second straight cage contest of the season, 75-70 to Richland College.

The Westerners, now 2-2, stay on the road, meeting highly-touted Bethany Nazerene junior varsity Saturday at 5:30 in Oklahoma City. The game had previously been scheduled for 7:30.

"We had one bright spot," panned a discouraged Coach Larry Dunaway. "We hit 14 of 14 freethrows. That's got to be a school record, because you can't do any better than 100 percent."

But that did little to ease Dunaway's displeasure with the contest.

"It's that same old thing. We couldn't get a rebound. When you only get one shot it's hard to win. It seems like all we're able to do is foul and we can't rebound. We're just not playing well enough to win."

Darren Lee's 19 points led four Westerners in double figures. Dwayne Hunt had 16, Derrick Grow 15 and Jerrold Whitmore 10. Pete Thomas added 6 points and Keary Bolden, Clarence Cephas, Jeffrey Reeced and Robbie Sumlin had 2 apiece.

Richland was led by Stinson and Lomas with 24 and 21 respectively.

Dusters Close Doors On Henderson County

CISCO -- Western Texas' Dusters put in a half-court trapping defense early in the second period here last night to run past last year's Region 5 champion Henderson County College, 71-62 and bag their third win of the season.

The Dusters, 3-1, take on St. Gregory's of Oklahoma at 5:30 tonight while Cisco entertains Henderson County at 7:30. Cisco topped the Oklahoma team 86-64 last evening. Saturday, St. Gregory's and Henderson play at 4, followed by WTC and Cisco at 6.

"I was real proud of the girls," said a happy Joe Cushing. "They bounced back real well from the loss (to Weatherford). We played excellent defense especially."

But that wasn't all. WTC's outside shooting finally emerged for the first time this season.

"I kept waiting for us to shoot the ball like we did last night. Cindy Goltl had a super night. She came out in the second half and hit five in a row that got us going. I'm talking about cannons," he said.

Western Texas hit 33 of 67 shots from the floor for 49 percent, their best of the season so far. Thirty-six points came from the post position and 35 from the guards.

The Dusters fell behind 11-3 early, but rallied back to go ahead by halftime, 29-27. After playing a zone defense the first 20 minutes, the team came out in a half-court trap for the second half and raced out to a 57-43 lead within three minutes.

"I think that was the big difference," Cushing said, noting they had just put the defense into their game plan at workouts last week. "Henderson has a good ballclub. If anything, they are bigger than we are, especially at the guards. They came out in a zone-defense and doubled on Dorcas (Perkins). As a result, she didn't get many points, but that left Vicki (Teal), Valorie (Wells) and some of our others to do the job, and they did."

Goltl's 17 points led the team. Teal had 16, followed by Wells with 12 and Perkins with 8. Four other players scored for WTC. Perkins also added 15 rebounds, 3 steals and 2 blocked shots while Wells had 8 rebounds, 3 steals and a blocked shot. Norma Frazier, 4 points, had 6 rebounds and 4 assists and Goltl added 5 rebounds, 5 assists and 3 steals. Cindy Maddox had 6 points, 7 assists and 3 steals.

Darlene Primeaux led Henderson with 14 points.

WTC 71, HCC 62

WESTERN TEXAS (71) -- Goltl 7-3-17, Maddox 3-0-6, Pieper 1-0-2, Wells 6-0-12, Mulhelbrad 3-0-6, Frazier 2-0-4, Teal 7-2-16, Perkins 4-0-8. Totals 33-5-71

HENDERSON (62) -- Primeaux 14, Reescana 10, Peters 11. Totals 27-8-62

Snyder Will Not Be Satisfied With Less Than State 4A Crown

LUBBOCK -- Snyder's Tigers are looking for one thing and one thing only here Saturday - a berth into the Class 4A State Volleyball Tournament. They'll get that chance, beginning at 10:15 a.m. when they take on Borger in round one of the Region I Tournament at Lubbock High School.

"We know if we lose, that's it," said Joyce Elrod, who has coached teams to the regional level in seven of the past nine seasons. "We're not going to be satisfied with anything less than a state championship. Our girls have been there before and they want it again."

Everman and Graham will battle in the other Class 4A semi-final at 11:30. The winners will advance to the regional championship game at 3:15.

Earlier in the morning, at 9, Colorado City and Seminole vie in Class 3A. The winner meets Perryton in the 3A finals at 2 p.m.

Reaching the regional tournament wasn't easy for the Tigers this year. They were knocked out of second-round district play by No. 5 ranked Monahans and had to win in a playoff with the Loboettes to get here. But, warned Coach Elrod, now that Snyder is here, its biggest problem may be overconfidence.

"That's the thing I worry about most right now," said the coach. "We felt like Monahans was a big hurdle - and it was, but we may run into somebody like that again. We can't afford to sell any team short."

Because Snyder may have to play four different opponents in two weeks, the Tigers won't concentrate a great deal on any one team, but will go over fundamentals and the different styles of playing the game.

"You really don't have any way of knowing what your opponents are capable of. We haven't played or seen Borger, Everman or Graham this year," said Elrod. "So we have to prepare for anything we feel we might come up against. Borger has been at the regional tournament many times in the past. I think they were there in (as recent as) 1978 and 1979 and they've always given every body a pretty good match," she added.

"Usually in the past the teams we've met in the first rounds haven't played strong offense but pick up everything (defensively). So we're working a lot on what we call free-ball transition, which means we concentrate on defense and setting up our shots."

The Tigers have won six straight district championships and have taken state titles in two of the past three years. Coach Elrod's troops want to make that three out of four.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Area Action: Cards Beaten

AREA -- Andrews and Highland look to wrap up respective district championships tonight as Texas state football concludes its regular season and looks to the playoffs.

Andrews has the 2-4A lineup boxed with a 9-0 season record and looks to make it 10-0 tonight as they travel to Sweetwater. Other 2-4A games have Fort Stockton at Snyder, Monahans at Lake View and Odessa Ector at Lamesa. Pecos concluded its season last week.

This week's 2-4A games are all at 8 p.m.

In District 2-A Six Man, Highland, 9-0, needs a win over 8-2 Trent at 7 tonight to wrap up a second straight title. In another game which could have some bearing on the race, Borden Country travels to McCaulley, also at 7. Should Highland lose to Trent and Borden defeat McCaulley, 2-A would end in a three-way tie, enforcing a toss of the coin to determine the champion.

In other Six-Man action, Hermleigh ended its season last night by falling to Grady, 37-32 at Grady.

SWC Roundup

TCU coach F.A. Dry has a renewed promise of job security going into the Horned Frogs' clash with Texas on Saturday, but Texas Aggie Coach Tom Wilson might find his footing a little softer when his team meets Arkansas.

These are the sidelights to another round of Southwest Conference football games vital to the league championship and the Cotton Bowl.

TCU Chancellor William Tucker promised Thursday that Dry will be back next year, so much of the pressure is off to beat the 10th ranked Longhorns in Austin on Dad's Day.

Arkansas and Texas A&M collide on regional television (2:50 p.m.) in a game rated as a tossup.

Texas A&M's new Board of Regents have Wilson under the gun. The Aggies were blown away two weeks ago by SMU. A&M will be well rested for Arkansas which barely survived Baylor 41-39 in a wild game last weekend at Little Rock. A&M was idle.

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

November 14, 1981

Knowledge you've gained academically and from past experience will be put to new and profitable uses this coming year. Success in your chosen field is likely, with advancement occurring before your next birthday.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) As always, honesty is the best policy. Keep this in mind today so that you will tell it like it is rather than like what someone hopes to hear. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There won't be any question in your mind as to what is the correct thing to do, yet where a loved one is concerned you may yield to his or her impractical wishes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let pride stand in the way of your accepting wise counsel from friends who are only too willing to help. Your only enemy could be yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your ideas are so good today that others can't help take note of them. Be wary of one, however, who'd like to enlist you for a selfish cause.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're in a friendly and curious mood today and enjoy mingling with all types of people. It's best to select a companion who doesn't expect your undivided attention.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try to be as charming as you are logical. Your ideas will be received more readily if they are presented with wit and grace.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In commercial dealings your judgment is good, but you may fail to heed your own insights and do something you know you shouldn't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your financial prospects look encouraging today where your earning powers are concerned, but they may not be that promising regarding investments or joint ventures.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone who is smitten with you, but whom you see merely as a friend, could receive false encouragement if you speak without thinking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Necessary little tasks should be attended to as early in the day as possible. Your interest is likely to switch to fun and games as the day wanes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Spend more time fulfilling your ambitions today and less time talking about what you hope to accomplish. Actions speak louder than words.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Success in your endeavors is likely today, but your gains may be measured in inches rather than yards. Be content as long as you're moving forward.

Minor Mishaps Occupy Police

One minor traffic accident and two reported misdemeanor thefts were reported to police on Thursday.

Thursday morning, James Cox, of the I. & I. Service Station on College Ave., reported the theft of about $30 worth of gasoline. Cox told officers that 3 black males in a white Lincoln had left without paying for their gas. The subjects were not apprehended.

Also Thursday morning, Mrs. John D. Wortham of 901 29th St. told officers that someone had removed a battery valued at $70 from a pickup, sometime during the previous night.

Police also investigated a minor traffic accident at 5:07 p.m.. Suburban Chicago, 2 a.m. Husband complains of chest pain, says he can't wait for ambulance; wife drives him to hospital emergency. Gasping and grimacing he is saying "Heart attack."

Minutes later a doctor has confirmed "angina," ordered, "Intensive care quick." The family doctor is summoned.

In six days the patient is stabilized. Then cardiac catherization. A blocked artery bypass is recommended, but there is a month-long wait for that operation.

The family doctor says no.

Who is this GP to challenge the specialist?

Well, he is the family's personal physician; has been for 10 years.

He knows the patient's medical history and personality.

He knows the patient, once home, will resume romping with the dog and calling on customers.

He knows the man's anxiety level; the family's financial problems, the problems they've had with their son— their marriage.

The family doctor says he must not go home. The specialist acquiesces, says he'll do what he can to reduce the waiting time.

Now—the science medicine is being practiced as an "art."

Fifty years ago 80 percent of med scool graduates began what is appropriately called "the practice of medicine," as GP's, family doctors. Only 20 percent specialized.

In the 1960s the ratio reversed. Eighty-five percent entered the more intriguing and more lucrative specialties.

Today there is another turnaround. Twenty-five percent of today's med school graduates are electing "family practice."

The inevitable impersonality of production-line medicine—however clinically efficient—has been helping to defeat the purpose of medicine.

When patients become numbers instead of names...

When doctors become educated automatons instead of dedicated healers...

Then Hippocrates rests restlessly.

AMA Journal Editor, Dr. William Barclay, says, "Technology has supplied us with valuable tools but none more valuable than the skilled physician's eyes and ears and fingers sense of smell. These basic, unglamorous tools of our noble trade are still our best tools."

Dr. Andy Morley of Decatur, Ga., seconds the notion, saying, "A doctor can cure more ills with a kind voice than a bagfull of nostrums." After four years of college and four years of med school a doctor is beginning to learn his art.

Health care has become an enormous benefit, burden or bonanza—depending on your point of view.

Americans are spending $278 billion this year on personal medical care which has become increasngly impersonal.

Is the new crop of med schools students sending word ahead that we "numbers" are about to become "people" again?

Will the designation "doctor" shed some of its mechanics and regain some of its magic?

Hopefully.

Little Katie Beckett Is Going To Go Home

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Little Katie Beckett is going home after President Reagan snipped the red tape that confined her to a hospital and kept the government paying for care that would have been cheaper at home.

Reagan called Julie and Mark Beckett on Thursday night to say he was "very pleased" that Health and Human Services Secretary Richard Schweiker had been able to exempt their partially paralyzed 3½-year-old daughter from a rule cutting off Medicaid payments if she had gone home.

The president "said he had seen Katie on television and he said, 'Katie is a beautiful girl,'" Mrs. Beckett said. "He wanted to make sure we were all right. He said, 'I hope you're holding up under the strain.'"

But a White House spokesman said Thursday that Katie's case was a special one and that he wouldn't advise others caught in similar bureaucratic tangles to go to the president directly.

"I guess you could say things with Katie have always been lucky," Mrs. Beckett said. "She's always been at the right place at the right time."

Katie was left with brain damage, partial paralysis and breathing problems after recovering from viral encaphalitis, a brain infection, and she needs mechanical assistance to breathe.

Although her doctors and her parents said she would be better off at home, and although her treatment at home would have been far cheaper, federal regulations would have cut her Medicaid payments if she had left the hospital.

So she stayed there at a cost of $12,000 to $14,000 a month instead of going home, where her treatment would have cost an estimated $3,400 a month.

The Becketts — she is a 32-year-old teacher and he is a 29-year-old lumberyard worker — went to Rep. Tom Tauke, R-Iowa, who last week told Vice President George Bush, who relayed the girl's plight to the president. Reagan, at a Tuesday news conference, said Katie's case was an example of "hide-bound regulations."

By Thursday, after a day of publicity, Schweiker said he was granting an exemption: Katie could go home and take her Medicaid payments with her.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes told reporters that the waiver was granted "because of the president's special interest in this case." He said as far as he knew it was the only planned exception, and when asked if others in a similar bind should write to the president, Speakes replied, "I wouldn't suggest it."

Schweiker set up a departmental task force to review home health care rules and report back in 45 days. Deputy Social Security Commissioner Paul Simmons said in Washington the task force would look at all health and welfare rules that are "biased against home care and for institutionalization."

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I hardly know how to write this but I must. My husband is nearing 50 but for some reason he has lost his sex part of life. What has happened? I'm worried sick. He is so depressed.

Is there anything that can be done? He can get to the point partially, then it's gone. This began to happen around two months ago. I'm at my wits' end and am really worried about him.

DEAR READER — Judging from the huge volume of letters from people with this problem, I must say it is quite common. Probably more common than generally recognized because people are embarrassed to ask about it, just as your husband is. And not understanding the problem can ruin people's lives.

First, let's recognize that impotence is a symptom, not a diagnosis, just like having a fever. Many people do not realize that the penis is just a large specialized blood vessel — not a muscle. An erection depends upon trapping blood in that blood reservoir. That is accomplished through complex nerve reflexes that increase the flow of blood in while controlling the flow of blood out. The reservoir fills to capacity, resulting in an erection.

It becomes obvious from this that both nerve pathways (I don't mean nervousness) and circulation are important. In addition, nervousness and depression can affect how these complex reflexes work, so the mind can and does influence reactions. But you can have damaged nerve fibers, as from diabetes, and have no "nervousness" problems at all as a cause of impotence.

Depression that occurs often in mid-life is a frequent underlying cause of impotence in the male and loss of interest in sex in the female. Impotence then makes the depression even worse. Such depressions can usually be treated, if recognized.

The different factors that contribute to impotence are discussed in The Health Letter number 18-6, Help for Impotence, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It also includes information on implanted cylinders that are the only answer in some cases.

Impotence can be caused by hormone imbalances, too. Usually these are not from lack of testosterone, but somewhat more complex. A good place to start unraveling the problems of impotence is with a urologist if your family doctor doesn't seem interested.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About eight months ago my Pap test was rated number II. My doctor prescribed Premarin hormones. Six weeks later the Pap test was normal, so he said to continue with the hormones.

However, I became concerned from what I heard from doctors on TV. I quit and two weeks later went to the doctor. He took another Pap smear and it was Class I and showed moderate inflammatory changes and low estrogen effects. So he continued the hormone tablets. I've never suffered the slightest symptoms except dryness, which was taken care of with the hormones. Am I in danger?

DEAR READER — Yes. Remember the adage "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing." Estrogens are believed to increase a woman's chances of developing endometrial cancer of the uterus (lining of the body of the uterus), not cervical cancer. A Pap smear is mostly for cervical changes. Evidently your changes were caused by your decreased level of estrogen and corrected when you were properly treated by your doctor. You will do well to rely on his knowledge of your individual case.

Chaplain-On-Call Program Started

The Scurry County Ministerial Alliance in cooperation with Cogdell Memorial Hospital began a new Chaplain-On-Call Program Monday.

There has not been a chaplain program in the hospital for approximately 10 years.

The Chaplain-on-call will be available for emergency room situations, to help any person or family in the surgical waiting room through the auxiliary person there, to visit any patient on request, to accompany the doctor or hospital staff in talking to a patient or family in difficult situations, and for any death occuring in the hospital when no pastor is available.

"It is not our intention," a spokesman said, "to call on every patient in the hospital or to replace or infringe upon the responsibility of the pastor in ministering to his congregation who may be hospitalized. We desire only to extend the fine service already being provided by the Medical Profession of this area and by the administration and staff of Cogdell Memorial Hospital."

Each chaplain, in order to be a part of this program, was required to attend a training seminar held in the conference room of the hospital. Rev. Tom Daugherty, chaplain of Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, conducted the seminar.

Also available through the program will be chaplains who speak Spanish and a black chaplain.

It is the hope of this program that the people of the community will be aware of this new service available to them when hospitalized and that they will feel free to use this service. If a chaplain is desired just inform the doctor or nurse and they will be able to reach them.

Sunday Night At 7...

1st Assembly To Show Film

"Reflections of His Love," a new film highlighting the life and ministry of Joni Eareckson, will be shown Sunday at First Assembly of God Church, 19th St. and College Ave.

The color feature, produced by World Wide Pictures, the film ministry of the Billy Graham Association, will be shown once, beginning at 7 p. m.

Miss Eareckson is the star of a recent theatrical motion picture, "Joni," which relates the story of her diving accident as a young girl, which left her paralyzed from the neck down. It chronicles her struggles to piece together her life and her faith in God, in spite of the devastating circumstances.

In "Reflections of His Love," Miss Eareckson, who is also the author of two best-selling books, "Joni," and "A Step Further," tells of the great transformations that have taken place in her life because of her willingness to accept all of the things that have happened to her.

A remarkably talented young woman, Miss Eareckson is an artist of great merit, as well as an author, actress, and singer. She has learned to draw and paint with a brush held in her mouth. Her works have been displayed in major exhibitions, as well as on a number of network television programs. More recently, her illustrations and paintings have become the basis for a major line of greeting cards, plaques and framed prints.

According to The Rev. James Jackson, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, "Reflections of His Love" introduces the viewer to the real Joni Eareckson.

"We meet her parents, her sisters, and her friends. We gain insight into the thoughts of the actors who played major roles in the movie, 'Joni,' and we learn of her new personal ministry, Joni and Friends."

Rev. Jackson added, "The determination and the depth of trust and faith that this young lady has developed can serve as an inspiration to us all. Although she is a quadriplegic, and does not have the use of her legs or arms, we actually witness her drive a van in this film. It's much more than a great physical and technical feat---it's a credit to her inner spirit."

Rev. Jackson has extended an invitation to the community at large to attend the special screening. There is no admission charge.

"We feel that everyone who attends will be touched by the remarkable life and witness of Joni Eareckson. It's really an unforgettable experience," he concluded.
