World-Wide Comintern Dissolved by Russians

Japs Left on Attu Split Into Three Small Groups

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Triumphant American troops have split the Japanese remnants on Attu Island into three isolated groups in preparation for the final battle, the navy disclosed today.

Fighter-bombers supporting the ground forces destroyed Attu village, apparently the enemy's supply center, yesterday. A fuel depot went up in flames and other installations took fire. A church and one other structure were the only buildings that rose above the ruins of the little Aleut settlement.

The Japanese evidently had no more intention of surrendering, despite the hopelessness of their position, than they had in other tight spots of the war in New Guinea and Guadalcanal. There was no doubt among authorities here that the fight would go on until the last enemy soldier has been blasted or bayoneted from the last fox-hole.

The Japanese positions were described in a communique as being in:

1. The area around Chichagof harbor, which dents the northeastern tip of the island.

2. Chichagof valley, which cleaves the snow-covered mountains southwest of the harbor.

3. The barren shores on the north side of Lake Nicolas, which lies probably two or three miles southeast of the Chichagof area.

While the communique did not go into detail on American positions it appeared that spearheads had been driven through Japan's communications lines in order to effect the isolation of the enemy's positions. Encirclement of all three positions appeared possible.

The Japanese, however, were still holding some advantageously high ground, at least in the area around Chichagof harbor, and American casualties were expected as the mopping up continues.

Meanwhile army liberator heavy bombers made their first attack in eight days against the big Jap base and heavily defended installations on Kiska, 172 miles southeast of Attu. Results were not observed due to the weather.

Kiska is considered by many authorities to be next on the list after our forces conquer Attu.

Red Stamp 'J' Good During June

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Red Stamp "J" worth 16 points of rationed meats and fats, will be good throughout June instead of expiring May 31.

In announcing this tonight, the office of price administration said it took that action to avoid a rush on retailers on the Saturday preceding Memorial Day.

OPA also announced that four new series of Red Stamps (a total of 64 cents) will be valid at weekly intervals beginning May 30 and will be good for meat-fats purchases through June 30.

The extension of the validity of stamp "J" leaves stamps "B", "C", "D" and "H" expiring May 31. Stamp "J" becomes valid tomorrow.

The schedule of validity dates of the new Red stamps each good for 16 points and all expiring June 30, follows:

K May 30; L June 6; M June 13 and N June 20.

Anti-Fascist Action Taken To Aid Allies

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 22 (AP)—The communist organization which Lenin and his advanced revolutionary followers created in 1919 to mobilize working class parties throughout the world, announced its own dissolution today in order to advance the cause against fascism.

The action, the most far-reaching yet taken in the swing toward full war cooperation between Soviet Russia and her major western allies, was adopted by the communist executive committee which explained that, because of inability to convene congress under present war conditions, it was asking the various national sections to ratify the step.

A resolution adopted by the committee said the communist international had been out-moded and had proved to be a drag, in some countries, on the further strengthening of the National working class parties.

The great lesson of the war, it added, was that "the general national uprising and mobilization of people for the speediest victory over the enemy can be best of all and most fruitfully carried out by the vanguard of the working class movement of each separate country working within the framework of its own country."

The announcement seemed to indicate that dissolution of the communist was no temporary war-time expediency but a final act of abolition.

(A German radio broadcast said it was intended to aid the "kindergarten revolution" in Europe, in support of an American-British invasion.)

(One foreign diplomatic source in London described it as "the most intelligent and adroit political move of the war.")

A resolution, signed by two Germans, two Finns, two Italians, two Russians, two Frenchmen, a Czech, a Bulgarian, a Hungarian and a Spanish woman communist, said that even before the war it became clear that because of increasing complications in internal and international affairs of various countries "any sort of international center would encounter insuperable obstacles in solving the problems" of the communist movement.

The working class parties have three main tasks, it declared. Those in Hitler's bloc must give all help "by sabotage of the Hitlerite military machine from within."

The "sacred duty" of those in the anti-Hitler coalition consists, it said, "by every means the military efforts of the governments of these countries aimed at the speediest defeat of the Hitlerite bloc."

Finally, the basic task in the occupied lands is the promotion of the "armed struggle developing into a national war of liberation," the resolution declared.

As a result, the resolution of the communist party of the United States in withdrawing from the communist in November, it had been approved, the resolution stated.

Be fore closing the records of the third international, however, the resolution lauded the "historic role" of the communist center in helping mobilize the struggle against fascism and the war which the latter was preparing, and for the support of the Soviet union as the chief bulwark against fascism.

Army Arrests Stunting Pilot

A pilot at Pampa Army Air Field, whose name was not disclosed, was under military arrest Saturday for having disregarded orders of Col. Daniel S. Campbell, commanding officer, in flying low and stunting over the city of Pampa, late Friday evening. He was placed under arrest by military police after landing without injury in a field near Miami.

Instructions to all flying personnel at the Pampa Field are to fly at an altitude of not less than 1,000 feet over the city of Pampa, and most training flights are routed entirely away from the city area, Col. Campbell declared.

These precautions are taken as an added safety measure and any flying personnel who disregard this official ruling will face military punishment, Col. Campbell's office announced.

Ration Book 3 Applications Will Be Issued by Mail Here Monday

The postman will ring not twice but several hundred times in Pampa beginning tomorrow and continuing through Wednesday, as the office of price administration uses a new method for getting War Ration Book 3 in the mails.

You won't get your ration book Monday, but you will get your application form. This form will be one form alone for all members of your family. On it you will list all the members for whom a ration book is to be issued.

Here is what to do after you get your application form:

1. Fill it out according to the instructions printed thereon.
2. Tear off the top portion and keep as a receipt until after you receive War Ration Book 3.
3. Put a 3-cent stamp on the card at the designated place. Do not fold the card. Do not mail until June 1. Applications must be mailed between June 1, 1943 and June 10, 1943.
4. If you have your mail delivered by city, rural, or star route carrier, do not come to the postoffice for your card unless you do not receive one by Wednesday night.

5. Carrier will deliver only to residence addresses, not to stores or places of business. Forms will also be placed in postoffice boxes.

6. For patrons who do not have their mail delivered nor receive it through a postoffice, there will be a supply of the application forms at the postoffice windows.

The county rationing board won't have much connection with the "mail-order" ration book delivery, except in tracing lost books, and the like, Roy McKernan, board chairman, said last night.

Veteran Aviation Officer Will Address Cadets Here Tomorrow

Brig. Gen. H. S. Burwell, commanding officer of Amarillo Army Air Field, will be the guest speaker at graduation ceremonies for aviation cadets of class 43-E at Pampa Army Air Field tomorrow.

The general, formerly a colonel in command of the 14th Pursuit Wing at Wheeler Field, Hawaii, was sent to Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., after being recalled from Hawaii to put into practice the aircraft inspection methods he developed as a result of military observations in the Philippines and in Egypt. Subsequently, he was sent to Amarillo Field to succeed Col. Edward P. Kelly as commanding officer of that base.

He describes his maintenance methods as being similar to business management systems taught in leading business schools. They are key-noted with a standardization procedure whereby both mechanical and human failures which might lead to accidents are discovered. They involve the use of continuous charts which show what parts or planes would be inspected at certain intervals and also periodic checkups on pilots.

General Burwell started his army career as a cavalry lieutenant and in 1916 transferred to the air corps. He graduated from Norwich University in Vermont in 1913. He received his wings in 1917 and became a flying instructor at Kelly Field, Tex., later to become commanding officer of Rockwell Field, Calif., where he was associated with General Doolittle and many other men who were to make aviation history.

He then successively was stationed at Love Field, Dallas; commanded the American Air Force in occupied Germany in World War I; served as assistant chief of war planes in the war department; commanded the third attack group at Kelly Field; served with the chief inspector of the air corps; commanded Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., and in the early thirties became professor of military science at the University of California.

He attended the air corps tactical school at Montgomery, Ala., as a student in 1931 when Maj. Gen. J. P. Curry, now commanding general of the AAFPC fourth district in Denver, was the school's commanding officer. Later he attended the command and general staff school at Leavenworth, Kansas.

In 1937 he commanded the 19th bombardment group at March Field, Calif., where he had Capt. Colin Kelly as one of his flying officers. The unit later made military history with its operations in the Philippines, Java and Australia.

At Lowry he inaugurated a system of daily reports from key staff officers in the command, which give a resume of the daily activities of the department, listed future plans and listed the progress or delaying factors encountered in the department's operation.

Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock, former 31st district attorney, now a yeoman first class, was one of the survivors of the Aaron Ward destroyer sunk off Guadalcanal on April 7.

A veteran of World War I, Goodrich was one of the first from Shamrock to enlist after Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Goodrich, who now resides in Tulsa, has received three letters from her husband, dated April 10, 12, and 27, in which he assured her he was well, but he could not, of course, tell her that his ship had been sunk.

First announcement of the sinking of the Aaron Ward was made on Thursday May 13.

AFL Names Group To Study CIO Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—AFL President William Green today appointed a committee to negotiate a basis for reentry of the United Mine Workers into the American Federation of Labor and repeated that all affiliates would be bound by the federation's "no strike" pledge.

The committee consists of Vice Presidents Daniel J. Tobin of the Teamsters, Matthew Wolf of the Photo Engravers, and George Harrison of the allway and Steamship Clerks. Tobin is the chairman.

The current soft coal dispute and strike threat may have little bearing, however, on the prospect of return of John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers to the federation, inasmuch as it is possible that negotiations with Lewis may require several weeks.

Strikes Darken Labor Picture Over Nation

Strikes in Akron Rubber factories and continuance of the extensive walkouts in Michigan's Chrysler plants darkened the nation's labor picture last night.

Several thousand employees failed to report for work at the general, Goodrich and Firestone Rubber plants in Akron, manufacturers of many types of war goods. They were protesting, CIO union rubber workers leaders said, against a labor board decision giving them increases of only 3 cents an hour in basic pay, against the 8 cents the union had asked.

Nearly 24,000 workers were involved as Chrysler plants, and the Chrysler tank assembly line closed for lack of parts. Company spokesmen said about 2,000 of 14,000 on day shifts returned to work yesterday. Union leaders have charged a break-down in collective bargaining at the Chrysler plants; the company denies this. R. J. Thomas, head of the CIO union automobile workers, said he was "going to find out" who was responsible for the strike.

All workers in the bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania, aside from 360 at one mine, had voted to return to their jobs after a flurry of work stoppages.

General Burwell started his army career as a cavalry lieutenant and in 1916 transferred to the air corps. He graduated from Norwich University in Vermont in 1913. He received his wings in 1917 and became a flying instructor at Kelly Field, Tex., later to become commanding officer of Rockwell Field, Calif., where he was associated with General Doolittle and many other men who were to make aviation history.

Yanks, Reds, British Hurl Aerial Blows

(By The Associated Press)

American, Russian and British airmen hurled mighty blows against the Axis partners Friday and Saturday, the U. S. air force destroyed 97 planes in the Mediterranean area, the Reds claiming 65, and the RAF's fast mosquitoes smashing Berlin for the third consecutive night and the sixth time since May 12.

U. S. warplanes, pouring new fire and destruction on Axis military power across the Mediterranean, swept over ports and air fields of Italy, Sicily and Sardinia again Friday, shooting 30 planes out of the sky and destroying 67 on the ground.

These new stabs at Axis air power brought to 286 the number of enemy planes destroyed in three days in that theatre. The Allies have lost 12 planes in the furious three-day offensive.

The Russians, in a communique early Sunday, announced that Red airmen and gunners destroyed 65 German planes out of a large formation that attacked Kursk, a main base supplying Red army troops threatening Axis-held Orel, 80 miles to the north.

The announcement said Russian fighter pilots shot down 56 of the enemy planes Saturday morning on the outskirts of the city, and anti-aircraftmen downed nine others. Ten Russian planes were lost in the action.

Russian dispatches said a "stern silence" generally characterized the huge front where both sides were piling up stores of ammunition, tanks, and men for an approaching summer battle expected to be the most decisive of the war.

While the devastating power of the RAF's home-based heavy bombers still was being withheld ominously in advance of what may be a sustained knockout aerial attack against Europe, British Mosquitoes smashed Berlin Friday night.

At the same time, Whirlwind fighter-bombers sank two vessels in a five-ship enemy convoy off the coast of France and other British planes attacked and destroyed in occupied territory and laid mines in coastal waters.

Allied headquarters in Australia reported Sunday that our bombers struck at four Japanese bases on New Guinea and the British Empire, singling a 500-ton enemy ship off Kaimama, Dutch New Guinea.

Three Japanese bombers again raided Exmouth gulf in west Australia, but the communique reported their bombs dropped "harmlessly." The enemy raiders dropped nine bombs which fell into the sea.

River Crashes Through Dikes

(By The Associated Press)

Crashed though weakened barriers in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri late Saturday inundating one of the nation's largest railroad yards and trapping some 1,000 civilians who appeared to the coast guard for rescue boats.

The flood waters, which already have spilled over 1,356,900 acres and made more than 100,000 homeless in six midwestern states, engulfed the Missouri Pacific railroad's depot, railroad yards, washed out the main line of the gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad and threatened the town of Duplo, whose 2,082 residents were being evacuated.

Coast guardsmen sent out boats immediately when the Mississippi made an unexpected breakthrough in St. Charles county, Mo., isolating about 1,000 civilians.

The Red Cross said there was an "increasingly serious health situation" in the affected areas and that "conservatively" more than 100,000 persons were homeless in the four states and Kansas and Indiana.

Jack W. White, son of Mrs. Wilis White, 1008 Twiford, Pampa, has arrived at Scott Field, Ill., an army air forces technical training command post, where he will receive an intensive course in radio operating and mechanics to fit him for duty as a member of a fighting bomber crew.

Scott field is located 6 miles from Belleville, Ill., in the "Looking Glass" country immortalized by Charles Dickens. Formerly a training ground for aviators in World War I, it is now devoted exclusively to the training of radio operators and mechanics.

CANADIAN—Second Lieut. Robert Norman May visited his mother, Mrs. R. C. May here last week.

Lieut. May was born in Hempfield county, graduated from the Canadian High school in 1934; joined the army in February, 1936 for a three year period which he spent at Fort Warren, Wyo.

He re-enlisted in October, 1939 at March Field, Calif.

He married Kathleen Carpenter in Los Angeles in December, 1940. They lived near Lowry Field, Denver, where May was an instructor.

He has wished from the opening of the war that he might get overseas action.

Some months ago, he was sent to Yale university and has just received his commission at the AAP technical training school there.

Lieut. May expects to be used for short periods at various air fields and still hopes that he will get to fly a bomber over Berlin or Tokio.

Buy A Book, Read 12 Plan Set Up By Shamrock Library

Special To The News—SHAMROCK, May 22—A plan has been made available to the citizens of Shamrock through the local library board, whereby a person may buy one new book and have twelve to read, announced Mrs. W. A. Kessie, librarian.

It is made possible through the organization of a library book club. Through this plan, 12 persons agree to purchase through the library one new book which they themselves have been wanting to read, and after each has finished the book, it is placed on reserve at the library for the other members of the group. The donor will have the privilege to have first choice at reading the 11 other books given by the members of the book club.

After all members of the club have read the book, the books will be placed in the library for general distribution.

Watchman Found Dead At Auxiliary Field

Lester Harvey Wasson, 52, of May, Okla., nightwatchman employed by a contractor at auxiliary landing field 1, 6 miles northwest of Pampa, was found dead in a room at the field early yesterday afternoon.

The body is at a local funeral home. He is survived by his widow, of May, Okla.

Work of the contractor at the field had been suspended for several days due to the rain.

Justice Hughes had not returned a verdict on the case last night, pending a report from the funeral home where Wasson's body was taken.

Who discovered the body at the field is not known as the person who first telephoned failed to make their identity known to Pampa police, by whom the call was first received and who relayed this information to county officers.

Wasson's address in Pampa was 513 S. Ballard.

Communiques

We, too, are bored by most of the official communiques, which seem to be masterpieces of the art of verbal devitalization. No matter how exciting the action, it is likely to be flattened out by the communiques writers into some such statement as:

"Yesterday medium and light bombers and fighter-bombers of the Tactical Air Force, in a day of intensive activity, maintained their heavy attacks on enemy troop concentrations, gun positions, tanks and transports. During the course of the day three enemy aircraft were shot down. From all these operations, two of our own aircraft are missing, but one of the pilots is known to be safe."

Up to now we have done about this serious matter was to ignore the communiques and stick to reportorial news accounts. Now, however, we are prepared to offer a practical suggestion: Let's have the flyers write communiques.

Perhaps you think they couldn't. Perhaps you suppose they would be either verbose or uncommunicative. To set your mind at rest, here is how communiques would read if our suggestion were taken: "Dropped bombs on Tunis. Attacked eight times by enemy flyers; shot down one. Had gun mount shot out by enemy; scared hell out of me." This reporter has downed five Axis planes and has won three medals.

"With one engine shot out after leaving target, 11 enemy fighters attacked our plane. Of course, 11 enemy planes are nothing for one B-17 Flying Fortress. With all expert gunners on the crew, we drove them off and returned safely to our base, and considered it just another everyday occurrence." This sergeant has no medals—yet.

"This may sound like an account of a tennis match, but it's happened. On a mission over Bizerte, we were attacked by 15 enemy flyers and the battle lasted 27 minutes. At one time four P-38 Lightnings cornered a Messerschmitt 109 over our formation. They dove at it and chased the enemy plane into our range. We fired at it and drove it back to the Lightnings. They, in turn, chased it back to us. Curtain for the Messerschmitt." This writer has two decorations.

We could present more evidence along similar lines, but enough is as good as a feast. All in favor of having the flyers write their own communiques will please not write to us. The ayes have it—unanimously.

Something New Added

The Germans are being reassured about the shipping situation with a set of figures that may or may not be accurate, so far as it goes. They are told that the allies had 53,000,000 tons of shipping when the war started, out of which 30,400,000 tons has been sunk and 2,500,000 tons definitely disabled. This would leave 20,900,000 tons available to the United Nations.

But how about the 8,000,000 tons built in the United States last year? How about a few millions built in England, Scotland, Canada, Australia?

Conceding the basic Nazi estimates, if we do, their subs still have at least 50 per cent more allied shipping to handle than Hitler's propagandists care to mention.

FARM LAND WASTE

(Bucyrus (O.) Telegraph-Forum)

The current effort by the government to lease farm land within the Selective Ordnance plant between here and Marion is another exhibition of war time government waste.

When the planners decided upon the Marion site they chose some of the best farming land in the middle west for conversion into an ordnance depot. They took option on 16,500 acres and then actually bought 14,500.

The purchased acreage included many farms on some of which were some of the most modern houses and farm buildings to be found anywhere. Some of these homes were from one to two miles away from the proposed depot buildings.

Farmers who had made their homes on these farms at the extreme outer rim of the 14,500 acres were forced to give up their homes and move to some other location. They witnessed the destruction of their homes.

Now the government has announced its intention to lease some hundreds of acres of this "best farm land in Ohio" to those who qualify for leases. Some of the farmers who were ousted are now returning to till the soil that was previously their lifeline.

If the so-called planners were possessed of planning ability they would have considered long ago that they were taking vast acreages which were not needed. The effort to lease this land is an admission that it was not necessary that so many farmers give up their homes and farms simply because the government had chosen a nearby area for an ordnance plant. The destruction of houses and other buildings on these farms constitutes waste of the first order.

STATES ACROSS THE SEA

(The Chicago Tribune)

Our editorial of last Sunday, "States Across the Sea," has attracted a great deal of attention in this country and abroad. The news services somewhat to our astonishment, asked permission to distribute it to their clients, and, of course, the permission was granted. In consequence, the editorial went by wire to all the newspapers in this country and was carried by many more overseas. Probably no editorial written in recent years has enjoyed so wide a reading as this one with its suggestion that if foreign nations, especially those of the British commonwealth, wish a closer association with the United States, the obvious method of attaining the goal is to apply for membership as states in the United States.

No doubt the leading position that The Tribune occupies among the nation's newspapers had something to do with the interest taken in the editorial, but we venture to say it was the vital nature of the subject more than anything else that found so large an audience. Certainly it was not our purpose to draw attention to ourselves. Writing editorials of interest to our several million readers and to editorial writers of other newspapers whose opinions we respect has been a work that has satisfied our ambition and will continue to do so.

The interest shown in the suggestion derived, we have no doubt, from the fact that all the proposals previously made for a closer association of the nations have been profoundly disturbing. All of these schemes in effect would have destroyed the government of the United States with its

Common Ground

COOL HEADS NEEDED

With various organizations who usually advocate a constitutional government passing resolutions requesting the Administration to continue to keep the American-Japs in concentration camps, we need cool heads.

Many of them argue that since we have put the American-Japs in concentration camps, we must keep them there; that it was a mistake in the beginning to put them in concentration camps but, since we did that, we now cannot reverse ourselves. This is not sound reasoning. If we make a mistake, the sooner we correct it, the better off we will be. Certainly no one can contend that we had any constitutional right to deprive these American citizens of Japanese ancestry of their freedom.

If we are to continue to show this discrimination, we certainly must discard our salute to the flag. If we repeat it, then we will be giving only lip service to it. The flag is supposed to represent a people indivisible, a people that are not divided. It is supposed to give justice to all. Certainly depriving them of their constitutional rights is dividing the country and is not giving them justice.

It is certainly irrational for those organizations to say that those who favor releasing them are ill-informed. If we are keeping them in the camps on the guise that it is for their own good that they might be injured if they were released we are admitting that we cannot maintain order in our own country. If it is ill-advised to release them, then our Constitution was wrong. Then Jesus was wrong when He preached the inherent rights that belonged to every individual. Then the whole Christian philosophy is wrong. Then Jesus was wrong when He said, "He that finds his life shall also lose it." He was wrong when He said, "And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body."

Democracy and Christianity consist in living dangerously. If we are afraid to live dangerously and will not stand for freedom for other individuals who themselves have not been guilty of doing harm to us, we cannot have liberty and freedom. We cannot have a democracy.

Mrs. Roosevelt's statement that the sooner we free these Japs, the better off we will be, is about the only statement she has ever made that I agree with.

I know that the great majority of people feel otherwise but these are times that try men's souls. But, as Spencer said, "It is for each to utter what he sincerely believes to be true and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence and let the results work themselves out." We cannot throw light on these important principles on which our government was formed if we do not honestly and courageously discuss them.

WANT TO BE FINAL ARBITRATORS

New Dealers who are constantly proclaiming that those who have wealth never earned it, of course will not set down any impersonal rule by which to determine how to measure what each man earns.

They know no norm but their own opinion. They would have arrangements made whereby they would be the final dictator, the final arbitrator as to what each individual should receive.

They certainly do not believe in the beatitude "Blessed are the meek." They worship themselves instead of principles.

And this kind of people who spread confusion and accuse the industrialists of having robbed the employees are the public's worst enemies. They are the people who have brought on our present trouble.

They are, in a way, atheists. They say there are no impersonal rules, no order, no law, no natural division of labor, other than their changeable will. And what is the difference between these men and Hitler, Stalin and the Kaiser?

guarantees of liberty to its citizens. Some of the schemes were deliberately contrived to that end. The projected gains were, at best, problematical, but the price to be exacted of us was stupendous. We were to sacrifice the very things that had made this country great and strong. Vice President Wallace wants us, for example, to surrender the Bill of Rights.

All of this, and more, was asked in the name of a better world, as if the independence of the United States and its form of government were not themselves the brightest hope for the world. Some dupes were taken in by the idealistic talk of the internationalists about our duty to mankind, but the majority—the great majority—of the American people asked themselves where else in the world can be found a government comparable to ours in the freedom of its people or the strength and the enduring power achieved in only a little more than a century and a half. There was no satisfactory answer to that question. Americans, at least, knew that such proposals as that of Mr. Wallace would lead not to the creation of a united world but to the destruction of everything that has made the United States a force for good in the world.

"States Across the Sea" sounded the tocsin of the better world that our republic has initiated. The inventive of the Communists and the sneers of the lousy press can only serve to advertise the fact that a better world can be organized within the structure of the federal Constitution and only in that way, because the United States is today the only free government in existence.

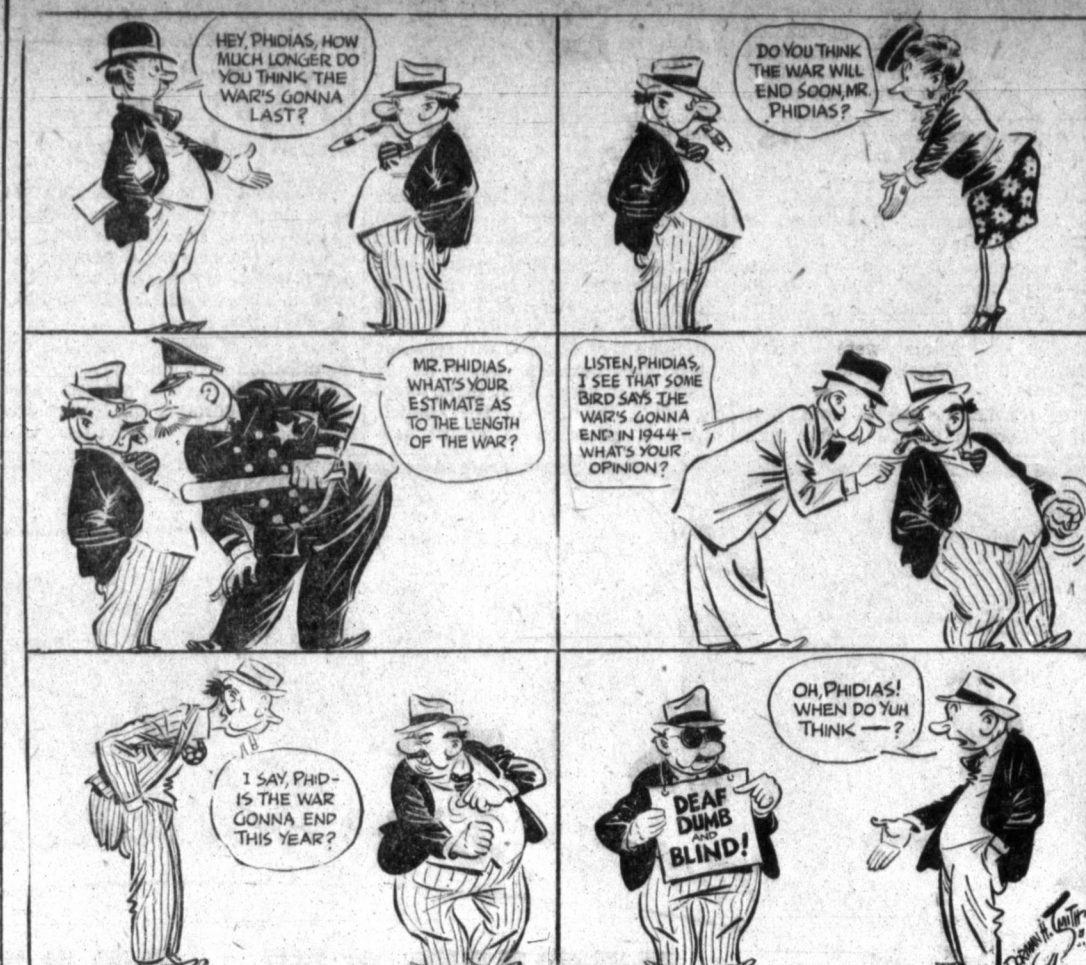

As to the outbursts of a number of foreign newspapers against The Tribune's devotion to the Constitution, it is perhaps sufficient to say that they have provided additional evidence of an attitude toward our institutions that should serve as a warning against closer association on any terms not laid down by this country. It may be well to add for the sake of the record that the editorial was sent to foreign newspapers on this continent and overseas at their request and at their expense, and while they were, of course, free to comment on it, they were scarcely justified in indulging in impudent and ill-bred observations on American institutions. We persist in the belief that these matters are of concern only to Americans.

The temptation exists among those who are blessed with numerical strength, with wealth and power, to expect the minority to submit to the majority in all controversial matters, whether the majority is in the right or in the wrong—Liberty, a magazine of Religious Freedom.

Intolerance always begins with the important perpendicular pronoun "I" which is the source of nearly all the ills we suffer because of the spirit of the big "I." Liberty, a magazine of Religious Freedom.

News Behind The News

WARNED—the recent death of Lieutenant General Frank M. Andrews in a plane crash-up in Iceland has undoubtedly tipped off Hitler to one phase of the strategy for a summer offensive against the European Continent. The incident has aroused deep concern within the War Department.

High officials seek to cloak our designs for an attack by explaining that the leader was paying honor to Bishop Leonard of the Methodist Church in flying from England to the island we have occupied, but it is obvious that Andrews was on a more important mission.

As commander of all our forces in the European theater and himself a first-class airman, he was inspecting the flying fields which we have built in the near-Arctic territory. More than the public generally realizes, we have transformed this area into a Gibraltar.

It was to have been used—and still will be—for a large-scale blow at Hitler-occupied territories on the Scandinavian Peninsula and Finland. Britain is so congested with her own and our aircraft ports that there is no room to house and equip fighters and bombers for assaults on the north countries.

A concentrated campaign against these strongholds will be a vital part of any summer offensive aimed at Europe itself, although it will be waged chiefly by aerial units. The untimely end of General Andrews has apparently warned Berlin of the scheme, for recent reports indicate that Hitler has rushed reinforcements to this region.

OUTRAGEOUS Tokyo's ignorance of American psychology is reflected in the reports of April bond sales for prosecution of the war. If Tojo thought that execution of the Doolittle heroes would frighten Uncle Sam's people, he has nothing to think about. The figures are startling that Treasury officials may make a reckoning.

Private, non-banking investor bought a total of $2,140,000,000 in Federal securities during this month. Only $370,000,000 worth had been disposed of up to the middle of the month, when news of the outrage over treatment of our aviators was announced by the White House. Between that period and May 1st, $1,764,000,000 was gobbled up.

SLIP—General George C. Marshall has established himself as Chief of Staff who will not tolerate mistakes by the humblest subordinate. His attitude may help to explain why comparatively green American troops displayed such discipline in their first experience under German fire on the North African front.

When Lieut. General Lloyd F. Fredendall's intelligence service blundered in earlier Tunisian battle and thereby permitted the Nazis to deliver a humiliating defeat to our soldiers in their first engagement, the general was immediately recalled to this country. The inside story suggests that Fredendall was not wholly at fault, but the chief would accept no explanations.

A few days ago officer in the Press Relations branch committee a minor error. In framing a handout announcing the promotion of several colonels, he inserted a paragraph saying that two in the group had entered the Army as civilians not so long ago.

General Marshall blue-pencil that paragraph, but though a clerical slip it appeared in the release handed to the newspapers. Next day the offending sub-ordinate was taken off the job and given leave of absence pending a decision as to where he should be exiled.

DUPE—The Red Cross is disturbed by ugly rumors that it believe were started by Nazi sympathizers in the U. S. A. Ever since the organization commenced collecting blood plasma for the armed forces from volunteers, whispers have been circulated that certain groups are being paid for their contributions. One week malicious gossip said that British sailors are getting money, the next that Negroes are favored, and so on.

A circumstance that helps make the falsehood easier to spread is that one block from the main Red Cross center in New York City is a commercial firm which processes blood and sells it to private doctors and hospitals, a normal practice in no manner connected with the war. Persons in need of funds often have done business with this concern.

A fifth columnist or dupe—if taken to task—can excuse himself on the grounds that he inadvertently confused the two buildings.

SUBSTITUTE—There is talk in New York clothing circles that soybean fibers have reached a commercial stage which causes worry to sheep herders and the wool trade.

Manufacturers contend that their goods are as warm as the natural commodity. Inability to retain heat has been one of the drawbacks of synthetics. Artificial silk, for example, never could hold body temperatures as effectively as the genuine line threads. But the innovation is said to have kinks which seal them as insulators, causing them to act as heat exchangers.

Henry Ford has long been an enthusiastic advocate of chemistry and had planned to use his new soybean factory for the upholstery of his motor cars and incidentally for the leaves of the plant for cattle feed. Already he has thirty thousand acres of the beans under cultivation and their output is likely to invade the apparel market.

SERIAL STORY

Beth Carter, WAAC

BY LORETTE COOPER

COPYRIGHT, 1943, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Beth Carter, WAAC, is Major Beth Jackson's "one-man" island in the Pacific where his unit of the Coast Artillery Barrage Battalion is based. Information leaks are suspected. Shortly after the mysterious Lita Benton and her companion, Rick Mott, make a forced landing in their seaplane, an important paper is discovered missing. When Beth surprises the duo, they turn into a confession. He is suddenly attacked from behind. Beth is also seized and both are unceremoniously thrown into the spy plane. It takes off.

CHAPTER XII

BETH and Brit's heads were close together.

"You're wonderful," Brit said. "I would just think you were trying to be spiteful about Lita. I did think that, for a few seconds."

He stopped as another bump rolled them apart, then back together. "I should have taken into account the possibility that they'd have someone else with them. It's such an obvious thing—a Japanese who can fly a plane, and who comes along to make certain the international double-crossers don't re-double-cross—that I just didn't think of it."

"What will they do with us?" Beth asked.

"Take us to some Japanese base," Brit replied. "There's probably one within a few hours' flight."

"But this plane . . . it's not Japanese."

"Anything can be Japanese. As a matter of fact, this is an obsolete seaplane, built in America. I don't think it dates back to the first around-the-world flight, but it goes almost that far. The Japs undoubtedly dug it out with the idea in mind that it wouldn't ap-

Air Navigation In A Silo

By PETER EDSON
Pampa News Washington Correspondent

DAVIS-MONTHAN FIELD, Ariz. This war is a war of gadgets, and it is being won by gadgets the most complicated Rubik Goldbergs ever conceived. That fact was registered on this correspondent standing in an air-conditioned silo which is used to train bomber crew officers in navigation bombing communications.

All this inside a silo? Yes, all this and more, right inside a silo. Col. Lowell H. Smith, the same Lowell Smith who as a young-army captain led the first flight of four now obsolete old crates around the world back in aviation pleistocene days of 1924—dod in the silo with a group of visitors, while a high I-Q first lieutenant instructor explained the working. Colonel Smith is now commander of this field and back in the days when he was preparing for his flight around the world there were no such super gadgets as these.

"This is Link celestial navigation trainer," the young instructor explained. In it, without leaving the ground farther than to climb one flight of winding stairs, a young bomber officer can perfect their teamwork in flying on bombing missions in any one of four ways—by direct observation, by radio reckoning over terrain, by radio navigation, or by celestial navigation when flying at night.

NO RADIO NAVIGATION IN '24

When Colonel Smith flew around the world he didn't fly by night at all. Radio navigation was non-existent. All he had to go on was direct observation of the ground, and dead reckoning—not much more knowledge of navigation than it takes to pilot a ship on the ocean or blaze a trail through the woods by compass. Smith prepared for his globe-grinding by a year's planning and study. Six months of it was study of weather, and nearly four months of that was study of the Alaska Aleutians and eastern Siberian hops, where the weather was, and still is, the worst in the world. Today flyers get their weather by radio forecast for any place they want to go.

Smith had to arrange his own supply dumps, getting gasoline, oil, and spare parts spread around at proper one-day intervals. There were no air route maps. Smith had to make his own. All the gadget aids to flying which are now taken as a matter of course Smith had to improvise or pioneer, and he had no Link celestial navigation trainer to teach his plane crews how to become a flying team in a couple weeks without leaving the ground.

For a short course on the Link navigation trainer you climb the stairs, then you climb into a tiny fuselage with space for four men—the pilot, navigator, radio man, and instructor.

SIMULATES FLYING CONDITIONS

The fuselage is made so it will vibrate to simulate the movements of a plane at any speed through any atmospheric conditions. When the crew is seated, lights are put out. The inside walls of the silo are painted dead black, so all is now pitch dark as the inside of the airman's proverbial stomach. But as your eyes become accustomed to the darkness, the instructor throws a switch and the stars come on literally. Overhead set in hemispherical dome of chicken wire are tiny electric lights fixed as the fixed stars are fixed, yet adjustable, so that the heavens over any location any given time can be accurately represented. There is the Big Dipper, the Pole Star, Cassiopeia's Chair, Andromeda, and all the rest of the constellations you pick out on any starry night.

But now look below. Here on a keystone-shaped movie screen, a landscape is unfolding. It's in Technicolor, and you make out the bend of a river, the shape of fields—green fields, plowed fields, a village, roads, a city. "You are now," says the instructor, "flying over the approaches to Bremen."

The instructor throws another switch, and clouds cross the landscape, shutting out part of the view. Light cirrus clouds at first, then heavier nimbus clouds. You're going to be in for some rough weather on this flight, without leaving the silo. But what a pity no one thought to take movies of this kind before Colonel Smith started out 18 years ago.

BUY VICTORY STAMPS

When Little Clara was about to go to her chum's party her father gave her a few hints on how to conduct herself.

Father—"If they ask you to dine with them, you must say, 'No, thank you, I have already dined.'"

When she arrived, however, the first thing her chum's father said to her was:

Chum's Father—"Come, Clara, and have a bite with us."

Clara—"No, thank you. I have already dined."

Beth lowered her voice until it was hardly audible.

"Brit," she said, "can you hear me?"

"Yes, why?" he replied.

"Then start talking to me . . . about anything. I have a plan. Only . . . keep talking."

He was silent a moment. Then he humored her.

"You know, I never wanted to call you Lieutenant from the first moment I saw you, Beth," he said. "I wanted to call you by your first name."

He paused.

"Keep talking," Beth said. "It's nice to take orders from you," Brit said. "You know, I like you . . ."

She rolled deliberately as close as she could. She tried with a superhuman effort to brace herself so that the bumpiness of the ride would not interfere with what she intended to do.

BRIT JACKSON felt a tug on the cord that held his wrist. He almost mentioned it. Then the whole plan registered on his brain, too.

He held as steady as he could, and tried to extend his arms backward. Beth grasped the cord between her teeth, and worked along it until she got to the knot. She could not see, and though her teeth told her in general the conformation of the knot, she found it difficult to find any looped portion of the cord that she could pull free.

Finally she grasped one of the loops. She held onto it tightly, and worked it a fraction of an inch loose. The man who tied that knot was the Japanese, and she had to admit that he knew his cordage.

Now she was making progress. One more tug and the knot would be untied. Just as Beth was about to take another grip on the cord with her teeth and make that tug, she heard the compartment door being opened.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Writer

Determination of the Allied war council in Washington to speed the movement of war materials and other supplies into China is a God-send for that hard-hit and long-suffering country.

This presumably will involve an extension of the American job of transporting staff by air over the dangerous route across the mountains between India and China.

The celestials have been hamstrung for lack of arms and equipment of all categories. They have been waiting to get equipped by the Allies.

But there's a lot more to China's troubles than that. She's been asking for arms and hasn't been saying much about food or raiment.

"The economic position is dependent on the military situation. With the Japs in possession of most of the centers of production and trade, it's not hard to see that the economic structure of unoccupied China must be shot as full of holes as a sieve. Things are bad, and inflation is running through the country."

Chisox Win 7th Victory In 9 Games

CHICAGO, May 22.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated the Washington Senators for the second straight time today, 5 to 2, to score their seventh victory in nine games and take undisputed possession of sixth place.

The Senators grabbed a 2 to 0 lead off Lefty Edgar Smith in the first three innings but the Sox hurled them in check the rest of the way and contributed to the Sox attack which overcame the Washington lead and put the Chicagoans ahead.

Smith drove in the first Chicago run in the fourth and sacrificed in the eighth to help set up the White Sox's fourth run. In all, the Sox blasted rookies Ewald Pyle and Milt Haefner for 10 hits, which included a triple by Wally Moses in the sixth with bases bare.

A'S 2, BROWNS 1

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics moved into fifth place ahead of the St. Louis Browns today on Russ Christopher's well-pitched 2 to 1 victory.

TIGERS 4, RED SOX 0

DETROIT, May 22.—(AP)—Jimmy Bloodworth drove in all the runs today as the Detroit Tigers whipped Boston 4-0 for their second straight victory behind the two-hit pitching of Paul (Dizzy) Trout.

INDIANS 9, YANKEES 2

CLEVELAND, May 22.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians crushed the New York Yankees 9 to 2 tonight, piling up five runs in the first inning to give Jim Bagby an early lead in his fifth victory of the season.

MEXICAN PUNCHER WINS

HOLLYWOOD, May 22.—(AP)—Juan Zurita of Mexico City won a ten-round decision last night from Henry Vasquez, Puerto Rican from New York, but only after the Mexican was floored once and was reeling on the ropes at the final bell. Zurita weighed 135 and Vasquez 133.

Bonds, Stamps To Be Prize Awards

Golf sticks will swing with a Victory tune this summer at the Pampa Country club, when Victory stamps and bonds will be the awards in a series of contests planned for the season.

Top rank golf event of the Top O' Texas, the annual city tournament for men golfers will start the latter part of June, the exact date to be announced later. Victory bonds will be the prizes.

Some special events are being contemplated, including a Fourth of July program. All of the events will center around the effort of winning the war for the United Nations.

First on the golf calendar is the Pampa Men's 4-Ball tourney. Pairings will start today. Players may choose their partners or players may be teamed by Frank Baker, pro at the Pampa club. Matches are due to start the following Sunday, May 30, and it is planned to have a similar tourney once a week thereafter.

There will be a small entry fee. Awards will be Victory stamps. This Wednesday, members of the Ladies Golf association will resume their regular Wednesday play, which was stopped last week on account of rain. Victory stamps will be the award.

On Thursday, May 27, after 5:30 p. m., Scotch foursomes will be the event, and again Victory stamps will be the prizes. Scotch foursomes will be continued on each alternate Thursday.

A weekly event will be "Men's Day," held each Friday, beginning this week. This can be played at anytime on Friday, but it preferred that players compete after 5 p. m. There will be a small entry fee with Victory stamps going to the winners of the 9-hole competition.

In order that handicaps may be established, Baker advises golfers to get in as many scores as possible. With the exception of the matches of the Ladies Golf association, held each Wednesday, open to members only, the other events are open to the public, whether member or non-member, Baker said.

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—It has been said that there's nothing like a good depression to help base ball, so maybe the prosperity of these times is reflected in the experiments this season with starting times for ball games. . . . The "depression" theory is that when men are out of work they have plenty of time to visit the ball park but when they're working hard they can't get away afterwards. . . . Bob Montgomery 135-Lb. Title

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—Bob Montgomery is figuring on showing who's the boss of the 135-pounders from coast to coast.

Having won New York and New Jersey title recognition by bouncing Beau Jack all over the premises for the better part of 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden before 18,343 fans last night, and being virtually assured of Pennsylvania's "blessing" Wednesday, Bobcat Bob is thinking of taking his crown for a quick swing around the circuit from Washington to Portland, Ore., to see if there's anyone who might knock it off.

His little job of work last night was as good as Bob's ever done. After letting the Beau have his fling for five rounds, he came along to take the play through the last nine rounds and grab the title in the wild-swinging Georgian's first defense since he was handed the honors by the New York commission after Sammy Angot abdicated last year.

The 24-year-old Bob becomes the fourth negro to win what is generally regarded as the second-most-prized crown in the book, putting his name on the records along with the great Joe Gans, Hammerin' Henry Armstrong and the Beau.

But there will be several major league scouts here tomorrow when the invitation baseball tournament opens.

The Count Wins Belmont Mile

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—Count Fleet won the 68th running of the Withers mile at Belmont today.

Mrs. John D. Herta, Kentucky Derby and preakness winner led all the way to win by six lengths before a crowd of 22,356. W. E. Boone's Slide Rule was second, ten lengths in front of William Woodward's Tip Toe, the only other horse in this smallest field in Withers' history.

The Count, piloted as usual by Johnny Longden and carrying 126 pounds—as did all three colts in this race—rumped the mile in 1:36 over a track rated only "good." For his victory he picked up a winner's purse of $12,700, boosting his earnings for two years to $214,960.

The Count returned the absolute minimum of $2.10 for each $2 win ticket. There was no place betting on this field which was reduced to three by the earlier withdrawal of three other entrants.

You can't go to work on tires alone!

Save your tires, sure-but
SAVE YOUR WHOLE CAR AS WELL!

NO matter how carefully you nurse your tires along, they won't do you a bit of good if you neglect the car they're mounted on.

Not that we're trying to minimize the importance of proper tire care. We ourselves offer as complete a tire-saving program as you could find anywhere—including not only the usual inflation and inspection services, but also wheel alignment, wheel balancing and scientific brake equalizing.

No, we don't want to talk down the importance of your tires—we want to talk up the importance of your whole automobile. New tires are being manufactured even during the war—a certain number at least. But no new cars are being built at all. That means your present car must last. And that means you need a program of complete, all-round maintenance service. Not just tire inspection. Not just lubrication. But these things plus all the other vital check-ups, adjustments, replacements and repairs that are so necessary to counteract the possible "ill effects" of today's low speeds and limited driving.

We offer just such a complete, up-to-date program. Oldsmobile engineers have developed a "wartime service package" that will meet your every need. See us about it today.

Underwood Funeral Held At Wheeler

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
WHEELER, May 22.—Funeral services for Mrs. W. W. Underwood, 61-year-old Wheeler County resident, were conducted at the Wheeler Baptist Church, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Underwood, resident of the Wheeler community for 31 years, passed away at her home west of Wheeler, Sunday, May 16 at 6 p. m.

Rev. A. C. Wood, assisted by Rev. O. O. Holladay, conducted the rites. Pall bearers were Johnnie Reed, Ever Goad, Jim Hill, Harold Hill, Clarence Hallman and Marj Jaco. Flower attendants were Maris Clark, Adadel Goad, Odella Honey, Jimmie Fay Clark and Sybil Toon.

Miss Mary Melissa Trostle was born August 26, 1875 in Blain, Kansas, and at the age of four years she moved with her parents to Cane Hill, Ark.

She was married to W. W. Underwood there on Nov. 3, 1896. This union were born six children, all of whom are living and are Mrs. Ola Hill, Marvin and Mae Underwood, Wheeler; Isaac of Hedley, Lewis of Camp Campbell, Ky., and Mrs. Nora Taliaferro, Perryton.

At the age of 16 she was converted and joined the Methodist church, but later, she with her husband, joined the Baptist Church at Wheeler, always applying the teachings of Jesus in her life.

Besides the husband and children, other survivors are seventeen grand children, one great grandchild, three brothers and one sister.

Mrs. Underwood has been a resident of Wheeler County since 1912.

Today on the Home Front

BY JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — You may have to spend this year's vacation close to home and do your swimming in the bathtub but the War Production board indicated today you can do it in pretty good wartime style.

The war, nevertheless, has cut in to the summer supplies to which vacationing America in peacetime seldom gave a second thought.

The WPB gives this fairly breezy view of all that remains for Americans seeking a couple of weeks of sun, wind and water:

Sports clothes—plentiful, varieties fewer.

Sports shoes of the play type—need no ration coupon but, to spread the supply, many stores will sell only one pair to a customer. Regular golf oxfords, lacking metal spikes, are rationed like other shoes. Rubber-soled types—tennis shoes, for example—are out.

Bathing suits—most of the familiar types are available but not with rubber. There should be enough for "reasonable demand," says the WPB, while bathing caps are being made with a rubber substitute.

Sunglasses are being made without metal. Tents rejected by the army can be had by civilians.

There will be a reasonable quantity of suntan oils but the supply of anti-sunburn creams is less than normal because phenol, the sun-screen ingredient, is a war product.

Beach bags—seldom zipper-fastened and never rubber-lined.

Waterwings and beach toys—out, where rubber is involved.

Beach umbrellas—gone for the duration because duck and canvas are needed for war.

Paper napkins, cups and plates—being made but in reduced quantities.

Vacuum bottles—out, because of their critical metal, except for a limited number being made for war worker lunchbox needs.

Game equipment—golf clubs were among the first war casualties. Materials for tennis racquets are ample but the super-bounce of tennis balls is reduced to save rubber.

Fishing tackle—runs into metal and flax restrictions but a fair amount of equipment is still available.

Mosquito netting—hard to buy since it is needed by the armed forces.

Ugase—still can be bought but not in pre-war variety, and steel supports are gone.

Hot Springs, Va., May 18.—(AP) — It could happen there:

Any one of the approximately 160 delegates to the international food conference could raise and say when the first of the two weeks' sessions starts tonight.

"The malnutrition which exists in all countries is at once a challenge and an opportunity. A challenge to men's consciences and an opportunity to eradicate a social evil by methods which will increase economy prosperity."

In the intervening six years until now, nothing of world wide nature has been done to grapple the age-old problem of providing the earth's millions of human beings with enough food to keep them from being under or poorly fed.

No the same six years, war has intensified the problem, with millions more starving in countries occupied by the Axis.

But some more years may intervene before the purpose of the conference called here by President Roosevelt can be carried out—If ever.

The best immediate results some observers expect from the conference are these:

1. To start world-wide thinking on nutrition.

2. Perhaps to get world-government machinery grinding in that direction.

Pampa Pastor Will Address Graduates Of Kelton School

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
SHAMROCK, May 22.—Ten seniors will be graduated from the Kelton High school on Wednesday night, May 26. Supt. H. Willoughby announced this week. Rev. Henshaw of Pampa, will deliver the commencement address at the high school auditorium.

The baccalaureate services will be held at the Methodist Church of Kelton, on Sunday night, May 23, with Rev. John A. English, pastor of the First Methodist Church, giving the sermon.

Those who will receive their diplomas are: Carol Killingsworth, president of the class, Imogene Burrell, vice president; Benita Armstrong, secretary; Stella Mae Lister, reporter; Vallie Mae Harris, Mildred Sanders, Floyd Norrid, C. L.

Pampa's Passing Parade

Pampa's new two-way police radio gets the job done quickly. Desk Sergeant Jess Hatcher can prove it. On duty at the police station the other night he got a call from a woman at a small hotel reporting that a man was creating a disturbance. Hatcher immediately put the call on the radio. The radio patrol car happened to be rounding the corner in front of the hotel. The officers jumped out, ran in and took the man in tow as the woman was walking away from the telephone she had just used to call the police station. Within five minutes after the call had been placed the offender was in jail. The woman was quite befuddled about the quick action—so much so, in fact, that she called back to the police station to inquire how it was done.

One of Pampa's oldest all-night garages finally has succumbed to the rigors of war on the home front. The old familiar sign "open all night" has been changed to read: "open until midnight."

The "mystery" of the kind of tree growing in front of the police department basement entrance, on the city hall lawn, has been solved by Mrs. M. W. Jones, 821 N. Gray. She says the tree is a Russian olive tree and that she has some in her front yard. The question on the tree arose when an out-of-state visitor asked Mildred LaFerty, assistant cashier of the Texas Gas Power company, what kind of tree it was.

Reading the newspaper located a missing automobile for the R. B. Moores of White Deer. They were visiting in Pampa, had parked their car, later found in the driveway of J. E. Jones, 214 N. Gray, who notified police. The visitors didn't know their car, a 1942 Oldsmobile was missing. Police Chief Ray Dudley said he supposed the car rolled across the street to the Jones driveway. One of the family knew the car was gone but just thought another had taken it, and it was not until they read Friday's paper that they learned their vehicle had taken a "stroll" on its own hook.

A couple of Pampa men, who swear it was too early to be drinking, claim they saw a young calf chasing a jack-rabbit all over a pasture near the KPDN radio transmitters the other day.

They were unable to report whether the calf caught the bunny, though.

There's nothing to the rumor that the Pampa Army Air Field may be converted into a four-engine base, according to those who know.

The advanced twin-engine trainers from Pampa Field are common enough sights over the city, but virtually all types of army aircraft have soared in the past few days. Included are Mitchell B-25, Douglas A-20, and Martin B-26 medium bombers, Flying Fortresses and Liberators, Mustang P-51 fighters, and the Douglas C-54 four-engine transport of the type President Roosevelt used in Africa.

And, of course, the "grasshoppers" or "puddle jumpers" from the local field are in evidence all the time.

Saturday D'Ola and W. E. James, county treasurer, had a birthday party. D'Ola was one year old, but the county treasurer declined to state his age.

D'Ola is a wooden duck match stand, presented to the county treasurer on May 23, 1942, as a birthday present by Mrs. Volney S. Day, former assistant county auditor, now timekeeper for a gas company, and Ola Gregory, deputy county clerk. Yesterday, D'Ola was given a party. There was a cake about the size of a dollar and a candle in size to match. D'Ola, incidentally, is the name given the duck by the county treasurer, combining the names of Mrs. (Dee) Day and Ola Gregory. After the miniature cake was eaten by the guests attending, the orange-ade slipped from tiny cups, a full-size cake and full cups of grape juice were served.

Dee and Ola of the D'Ola combination presented the county treasurer with a birthday gift of a shaving bowl and lotion set. Attending the party were Charlie Thut, county clerk; R. C. Wilson, county auditor; Lorraine Hodges, Ola Gregory, Doris Nesmith, of the clerk's office; Mrs. P. O. Sanders, Catherine Watts, Gray County Abstract company; Mrs. James, Treasurer James, and E. B. Emerson.

Pitcock, Claude Reavis and Ray Wright.

The program for the baccalaureate services was announced as follows:

Processional, Mrs. L. C. Bledsoe; invocation, Supt. W. H. Willoughby, hymn, Onward Christian Soldiers; prayer, Henry Hink; special number; "Life of Our Heavenly Father"; sermon, Rev. John A. English; benediction, Rev. L. T. Davis; recessional, Mrs. L. C. Bledsoe.

Commencement program: Processional, Mrs. L. C. Bledsoe; hymn, "America"; invocation T. M. Britt, salutatory, Stella Mae Lister; duet, Mary Lois and Paula Bledsoe; valedictory, Carol Killingsworth; address, Edgar Henshaw; presentation of diplomas, Supt. W. H. Willoughby, benediction, Jim Henderson.

The eighth grade play, "The Eighth Grade Presents," and commencement exercises will be held on Thursday night, May 27.

Purnell Funeral Held At Kelton

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
WHEELER, May 22.—Mrs. W. A. Purnell, 63, died early Monday morning at her home east of Wheeler. She had been in ill health a number of years, but her condition had not become serious until the night before her death.

Rose Bell Smith was born in Joplin, Mo., September 19, 1880, and moved to Texas in early childhood with her parents and settled in Denton County. On August 12, 1900, she was united in marriage to W. A. Purnell and to this union, three children were born.

She joined the Methodist church when very young and was a member of the Kelton Methodist church at the time of her death, having been a member since 1927 at which time she and Mr. Purnell moved to Wheeler County to make their home.

Survivors include her husband, two daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Otis Hoffer of Canyon, Texas and Miss Bennie Purnell of the home. The son is Rayford Purnell of the Kelton community.

Also surviving is her mother, Mrs. J. B. Smith of Dallas, two brothers, Joe and Ed Smith, Dallas; two sisters, Mrs. Della Belle of Dallas, Mrs. J. A. Jones of Tyler, Texas, three grandchildren and many other relatives.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church in Kelton Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Rev. John A. English, pastor of the Wheeler Methodist Church officiating, assisted by Rev. L. T. Davis, Baptist minister of the Kelton community.

Burial was in the Wheeler Cemetery.

WEATHER

OCO barracks nearby and went to sleep.

They rose at 9 a. m., piled into three army trucks and drove into Tucumcari and had breakfast at a local restaurant.

Back to the field they came—with still more problems to face. Since the Tucumcari base is an auxiliary field, it is not staffed with a large army personnel or mechanics. In fact, there were only three soldiers there. Without waiting a minute, the cadets gave their ships a "preflight" check, taxied them up to a gasoline pump and gassed the ships. As for oil, the cadets found some five gallon cans, filled them up and shuttled back and forth to the planes until they were oiled according to standards.

Early in the afternoon they took off for Pampa, where the weather had cleared up, and landed at their home port.

That night the moon shone brightly over Pampa. Other members of the class, scheduled for flights that evening, had perfect flying weather and didn't have to duplicate the Tucumcari jaunt.

The test of selfishness is to let the other fellow describe his pain without telling him about your worse one—Detroit Free Press.

A lot of things are going on around the U. S. O. center this week. Work is progressing, and soon the U. S. O. will have a new home. It sounds extra swanky too, if I may say so; they are going to have murals on the walls it seems, all this being done by the men from the base, besides that they will have a snack bar, showers, free shaves, the latest thing to be added to all the comforts, is a mending service. . . . Where soldiers can bring in their shevrons, buttons, etc., and volunteer workers will stitch them on! (Mrs. Pagan, senior hostess, said that this service would be extended only to soldiers whose wives were not in Pampa though!) Tough luck gals.

Also, in cooperation with the Garden club, the U. S. O. will furnish hostesses Sunday mornings at the City club room. They are to have coffee, doughnuts, newspapers, magazines, and stationery there. Cadets are invited to come. Then too, at the city club rooms, along with the U. S. O., the Council of Women's club has arranged to have the rooms open on Tuesday afternoon for Cadet wives. There they may play bridge, or bring along their stitching. . . . Mr. Paul Tabor and Mrs. Harry Schwartz will be there to continue their work with the Cadet's wives club.

Guests of the London Bridge club which met with Mrs. Calvin Jones this week, were Mrs. John Stueder and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree. Mrs. C. E. High was hostess to the Queen of Clubs this week.

Looking very trim and pretty was Gladys Robinson drinking her morning coffee, in a bright red linen dress that had big white pearl buttons. . . . very neat, and especially cheerful so early in the morning.

If you receive a portrait of the loved one who is "somewhere" in service, all handsomely framed and matted, and down in the lower right hand corner you see the name "James Montgomery Flagg," or find that Wallace Morgan, Frank Godwin or Joseph Cummings Chase have scribbled their own inimitable signatures—please don't think that the soldier or sailor is trying to put a fast one on you. . . . Every Saturday night soldiers and sailors in and around New York City sit for portraits, chalk, charcoal, or pastel sketches for these distinguished artists; then about 600 wives, mothers, and sweethearts receive without cost these portraits. It is all done through the U. S. O. center there, but a bit of work done by any of these artists is really something to hang on to.

A man may be friendly and fine, yet go through life without ever being rated as anybody's best friend.

It has been going around that Mildred Lafferty has fallen for a dozen soldiers, and all at one time. It seems as though Mildred was in a hurry to get back from her lunch hour one noon, and just as she round the corner, one foot got mixed up with the other, and down she went. The soldiers that had a ring side seat came to her rescue immediately, however, and no serious injuries were sustained.

Gardeners scurried home the other day after the hale storm, to see what had happened to their radishes, not much damage was done though, and now all they have to watch out for is Bugs Bunny. Seriously though, it's nice to see people taking an interest in their Victory gardens.

Gardening is a way of life and an attitude toward it. It's the feel of moist, cool soil in a man's hand and the feel of warm sun on his face. It's the turning of rich, brown loam to the miracle of a new season, and friendly, fat robins hopping over the dark earth.

It's raking and smoothing the plot, getting ready for the planting, with one's feet in soft mellowness. It's pulling the string taut for straight lines and making a drill with the end of the rake.

And now for the mails, and time does allow—with men in the service we are interested to have information concerning air mail, and parcels for the men abroad, so the Pampa Post Office department gives us the official word. . . . The Post Office is not desirous at this time of increasing the volume of air mail, as all postal departments are handling more and more mail every day, but the most important reason is that the planes are now more heavily loaded than at any other previous time, air mail is being sent at the rate of six cents for each one-half ounce. Officials ask that people use a very light weight paper, such as onion skin. The Postmaster General has stated that it may become necessary to ration air mail.

Parcels for the Army abroad must be small and weigh only eight ounces. They may be mailed at the first class postage rate. Parcels weighing more than that, the addressee must have a permit from his commanding officer.

Parcels for the Navy, Marine Corp, and Coast Guards are limited to five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length and 3 inches combined girth and length. No perishable matter may be sent, and only one package a week is allowed.

Mrs. W. Purviance returned from El Paso this week. She has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank A. Wright. Dr. Purviance has returned from Rochester, Minn. where he attended a clinic and visited friends.

Word has been received in Pampa that Meribelle Hazard, daughter of Mrs. E. C. Hazard, was elected President of the Senior class of West Texas State College at Canyon, and of the Gamma Phi sorority. Meribelle has been president of Randall hall and of the Gamma Phi's the past year. She was a former member of the Coeds in Blue of the Pampa High and the Buffaloes of W.T.S.T.C.

Orchids to a Pampa H. S. graduate—Miss Gail Ross! She has received a plaque for being selected the most outstanding student during her college career by the faculty of West Texas State College.

Clothes rationed? We sincerely hope not—Mr. Nelson warns that rationing of clothing and textiles may come, unless all facilities are used to the utmost, and surplus buying is cut down.

Walter Winchell, the chief "publicity" man for the White House, came out with the statement that "Franklin Delano Roosevelt will run for a fourth term and maybe a fifth. . . ."

American airmen report that women gunners were used by the Germans in the Tunisia campaign. One Sergeant said that he saw an enemy plane shot down which was carrying a pretty blonde girl in the tail gunner's position.

Again stealing from W. Winchell—"If I Owned the Paper—The society editor would have to be witty and sardonic. The caperings of the privileged are usually comic and ought to be reported for laughs and jeers. The elegants don't mind. They're like politicians and caters—interested in not what's printed about them, but only in that it is printed. The editor would go easy on the climbers, most of them being engaged in it for meals and drinks, poor morons."

The Old South again scores a fashion hit by spreading its snowy cotton blossoms over a new crop of summer dresses. King cotton has started something in the way of women's clothing. . . . The spring and summer season is dominated by suits new faultlessly tailored cotton suits that are delightfully cool. Suits and two-piece dresses are fashioned of striped, checked and plaid seersucker, cotton linens, pique, gingham and chambray.

Cotton hats for wear with summer are delightful in linens, gingham, dotted swiss, pique and gingham. They are easy to make too if anyone has a flare for stitching.

John L. Lewis's theme song: "As Time And A Half Goes By."

Cupid spent a dozen arrows or else the gremlins had something to do with it. At any rate I hear Mildred Lafferty fell for a dozen soldiers—all at one time. Seems as though she was in a double hurry to get back to work one noon (odd isn't she) and just as she rounded the corner her feet got mixed up with each other and that was where the soldiers' came to her rescue. At least a dozen of them!

The Business and Professional Women have elected Maurine Jones as their president. I think congratulations are in order for the club and Maurine.

Wonder what the prohibitionist call the game "Gin Rummy"—"Lemonade Rummy?"

June Wedding Is Planned For Sparks, Garner

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Nancy Lee Sparks, of Pampa, to Lt. Maurice P. Garner, Chaplain of the Pampa Air base, was made at a dinner given Saturday evening in the home of the bride-elect's parent's, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sparks of Panhandle.

Miss Sparks' chosen colors of gold and white were carried out in the table appointments, the dinner table being decorated with a centerpiece of white sweet peas on a large mirror with white candles burning on either side. Streamers of gold ribbon lead to each guest's place where a corsage of white sweet peas and a "matrimonial bond" was placed. The bond revealed the date as "June 12th."

Dodd, Barnard Vows Read In Amarillo

Miss Gerrie Dodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Dodd, 912 Louisiana, Amarillo, became the bride of First Lt. Duane L. Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barnard of Pueblo, Colo. The couple will make their home in Pampa.

The single "ring ceremony was read in the parlor of the First Baptist church in Amarillo at 6 o'clock May 15, with Dr. Foreman officiating.

Mrs. Clair McCollum played "Because," Lohengrin's "Wedding March," and sang "I Love You Truly."

Ferns, white cornations and candelabra decorated the altar.

Attending Miss Dodd was Miss Doris Kenyon, Amarillo, wearing a cadet blue suit, and white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of red roses.

John B. Barnard, Jr., brother of the bridegroom served Lt. Barnard as best man.

The bride given in marriage by her father, Wiley Dodd wore a white palm beach tailored suit, and white accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

A reception party followed the ceremony. Out of town guests were: Lt. J. J. Kinard, Lt. Ed Galligan, of Pampa air base, and Miss Katherine Huggins, Pampa.

Lt. and Mrs. Barnard will be at home in Pampa, as Lt. Barnard is employed in the legal department at the Pampa air base.

MISS SHARLYN ROSE POCOCK will present a piano recital in the church of the Brethren on N. Frost, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Sharlyn Rose won the Young Artist's Diploma in the National Piano tournament held in Amarillo in May when she played 20 numbers in the contest.

The public is invited to attend the concert.

Womens Council Has Sacrificial Luncheon Wednesday

The Women's Council of the First Christian church met Wednesday afternoon at the church for a Sacrificial Luncheon sponsored by group four, of which Mrs. Emory Noblitt is leader. The tables were decorated with bouquets of cut flowers and candelabra. Tiny individual May baskets bearing rose buds and sweet peas marked each place at the table.

The invocation was given by Mrs. John Beverly. Mrs. C. F. Bastion led the group in singing "Faith of Our Fathers" with Mrs. W. O. Pre-witt at the piano.

"Seeking Living Treasure" was the program theme. Mrs. Charles Maderia gave the devotional on "Seeking." Rev. S. D. McLean spoke on "Living," and Mrs. L. L. Keyes on "Treasure."

The Sacrificial Offering which was taken will be sent to a missionary in Mexico.

Mrs. C. E. Cary presided over the Executive Board meeting which preceded the program. A report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. C. H. Wood, chairman. The new officers will be installed in June with group five in charge. A covered dish luncheon at 12:30 will feature the meeting.

Missionary To Speak Tonight

A missionary who has been in China for 15 years and who was in China when the Japanese first invaded that nation in World War II will be the speaker at 8:30 tonight at the First Baptist church at Skellytown.

She is Miss Blanche Groves of Paradise, Wise county, who is a graduate of the Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth.

Two months ago Miss Groves made a tour of Baptist churches in the Panhandle and the current trip is a sequel to that visit.

Rev. R. H. Nichols, pastor of the Skellytown church, said that the missionary would speak at the one service hour, coming to Skellytown from Phillips, where she delivered a lecture Friday morning.

Smith-Martin Rites Are Solemnized

The marriage of Miss Juanita Smith, daughter of Mrs. R. A. Smith of Pampa, and Bob Martin of White Deer, was solemnized in the home of the bride, 700 S. Hobart, Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock with the Rev. E. Douglas Carver reading the marriage vows.

Maid of honor was the bride's niece, Miss Jerry Smith, who wore a powder blue suit and white accessories. She wore a gardenia in her hair.

Miss Lou Wilkins was bridesmaid, wearing a black dress and white accessories.

Best man was Herbert Rapstein of White Deer.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses centering a gardenia.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, wore a black dress with a corsage of pink carnations and gardenias.

The bride wore a powder blue dress trimmed in white and white accessories with a picture pique hat. She wore an orchid corsage.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Pampa High school with the class of '41. She was a former employee of the Jarekile Manufacturing company and more recently employed at Cabot Shops, Inc.

Mr. Martin attended Riverside Military Academy at Atlanta, Ga.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Smith home. Those present for this impressive ceremony were: Mrs. Hallie Martin of White Deer, Bernice Jackson, Lou Wilkins, Ann Clark, Mrs. Ruby Smith, Joycelyn Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Marriage Of Miss Wilma Crowley And Pvt. Bert W. Fern, Jr., Solemnized

Miss Wilma Crowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Crowley, 611 North West Street, became the bride of Pvt. Bert W. Fern, Jr., of Oklahoma City in a ceremony solemnized May 2 at 2:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church.

The church was decorated with viburnum and white spiras in tall baskets. Palms flanked the tall white tapers in candelabra between which the couple stood for the exchange of vows.

The Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor, read the mutual vows. Mrs. Carver played a group of pre-nuptial selections and accompanied Miss Willadean Ellis, who sang "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony. The candlelighter, Miss Helen Crowley, sister of the bride wore a tan two piece dress with white carnation corsage.

The bride was preceded by her maid of honor, Miss Vera Sackett, of Dallas, Texas, (formerly of Pampa, Texas) who wore a white linen suit with corsage of red roses.

Pfc. Keith Fern of Dallas, Texas, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a powder blue suit with white accessories and carried a white Bible topped with red roses.

Following the ceremony at the church, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Crowley, parents of the bride, entertained with a small reception in their home at 611 N. West Street.

The table was centered with a crystal bowl of white snap dragons and fern and crystal candelabra holding white candles.

Miss Murva Fern, of Oklahoma City, sister of the groom, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. G. L. Craddock served the wedding cake which was topped with miniature bride and groom.

Out of town guest attending the wedding were: Mrs. Josephine A. Fern and Miss Annabell Fern, of Oklahoma City mother and sister of the bride groom, and Mrs. G. L. Craddock, sister of the bride, who will reside at 401 Elm St., Enid, Oklahoma where Pvt. Fern is at present stationed with the Army Air Corp. Mrs. Fern was formerly employed with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company of Pampa, Texas.

Hope Tracks Spies In Latest Comedy

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Bob Hope is a comedian is just about the best in the business. Even off-stage he doesn't take himself seriously, which is a good trait in anyone but the ultra-ultra for actors.

There'll be the usual zany tricks in Hope's new picture, "They Got Me Covered," which deals in amusing farcical situations and an abundance of repartee in Hope's original style.

The picture is showing today, tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday at the LaNora. It's a RKO Radio release, with the basis of the Samuel Goldwyn production described as "a so-called discredited foreign correspondent seeks to become a big shot again by turning up a sensational story of Axis espionage."

Hope is an excellent comedian, as was said in the beginning, but when the movies try to portray a reporter, even one dubbed a "foreign correspondent," and even if it is all "good, clean fun," they strike one pet peeve of all newspapermen.

Getting the news and writing it isn't any gay round like a musical comedy nor does the customary film version of a reporter make reporters feel any too kindly toward the movie industry. Not that reporters are pompous and stuffy; they can "take it" better than anyone; but how low they go for a motion picture that will show the reporter in a true light, not a glorified play-boy "correspondent" or a pen pushing gangster.

Against her better judgment Dorothy Lamour has let Bob Hope persuade her to lend her dress to a story-tipper who is being hounded by Axis agents—and here's Dorothy struggling with the fleeing man's shirtcuffs. It's all a part of the zany doings in "They Got Me Covered," which Samuel Goldwyn produced for RKO Radio release. Hope and Miss Lamour are co-starred in the picture, a tale of Washington, and a run-around spy hunt. Current at the LaNora.

Henry Aldrich wins a movie contest which entitles him to a trip to Hollywood and a date with the sarong-wearing star, Frances Gifford. When Henry returns to Centerville, it is to the waiting arms of every hopeful sorority sister. That's the situation in the latest in the Paramount series, "Henry Aldrich Gets Glamour." Henry (Jimmy Lydon) is shown above blowing a horn. His friends, Dizzy and Phyllis are portrayed by Charles Smith and Diana Lynn. Current at the Rex.

Greer-McDowell Nuptials Taken Here Tuesday

In a single ring ceremony performed May 18, 9 p. m. Miss Maud Lee Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Greer of Gorman, Texas, became the bride of H. B. McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDowell of Lindale, Texas.

The vows were taken in the McCullough Methodist church, with the Rev. Robert L. Gilpin reading the ceremony.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Young and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Rogers, all of Skellytown.

The bride was dressed in a brown suit, with dusty rose accessories. Mrs. McDowell has been assistant Postmaster of Skellytown for the past eight years and was recently appointed acting Postmaster.

Mr. McDowell has recently returned from Columbia, South America where he has been employed by the Tropical Oil Company, and will now be employed by the Northern Natural Gas company in Skellytown.

Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will make their home in Skellytown.

RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS

A Standard First Aid course, open to anyone interested, will start Tuesday night at 7:30 in the City Commission room in the City Hall. H. M. Cone will teach the course. It will be followed by an advanced course.

The new yarn for army sleeveless sweaters, navy turtle-neck sweaters, army helmets and army muffs came in this week. Mrs. W. G. Kliner, knitting chairman, has it ready to issue. Only experienced knitters should take out the most difficult garments, but women who are amateurs may knit the muffs. And if you take out a garment, remember that it must be back in the production room in a month. The government only needs up yarn for garments that it sends and insists that we get them back to them within a month.

"... we have a good Army. If you knew them as I do, you would be as proud of them as I am. Don't weep over them; just work, and hope, and pray... and everything will come straight in the end." (From a letter by a Red Cross worker somewhere in Australia).

Have you been in the production room here lately? You will notice that the women have done some rearranging. The sewing machines are under the windows now and have so much more light. The room really looks like a workshop which is just what it is. When you have an hour or two of time, come in and try out one of the machines. You could sew up ten ditty or property bags in one hour.

Walter S. Gifford, National War Fund Chairman, made this statement concerning the result of the campaign:

"The universally generous response to the needs of the American Red Cross in carrying on and expanding its services to the nation's fighting men is much more than merely gratifying. It is an emphatic demonstration of the will of the American people to do everything possible in support of the soldiers and sailors who are offering their lives to protect the liberties we so dearly cherish and to restore freedom to this tortured world."

"To Red Cross workers everywhere, from volunteers toiling in chapter workrooms at home to personnel in the actual theaters of war, the result will be inspiration to highest endeavor. To all the millions who have helped bring about the splendid achievement are due heartiest thanks."

Mrs. L. L. Davis and Mrs. E. C. Hart, packing and shipping chairmen, have been working hard all this last week sorting and bundling. They are going to ship this coming Wednesday.

Mrs. Davis will be leaving for her farm within the next few weeks again and Mrs. Hart will carry on alone during the summer months.

One Red Cross staff in Libya has been with the same hospital medical unit since it was activated in the United States. They move with the unit, and like the Red Cross nurses serving with the Army, they are fast becoming veterans of the desert, ready at a moment's notice to move when orders to advance are issued.

They have to be able to spend long hours on troops or desert convoys, adept at grabbing gas mask and tin hat if the air-raid alert sounds. A slit trench could be their second home if the emergency arose.

It's no picnic. Miss McKenna explained, "but every member of this unit loves the work, and we of the Red Cross are glad to have a part in helping the men who are doing the fighting."

"Our men here in the Middle East have a grand morale, and the way they bear their hardships lifts our morale, too. It makes you feel as though you never can do enough for them."

Mrs. H. V. Mathews, an officer-of-the-day in the production room for about a year now, is leaving Pampa because of her husband's transfer. Mrs. J. B. Massa, production chairman, says that Mrs. Mathews has been one of the most faithful and dependable workers. All of us who have ever been associated with Mrs. Mathews in any endeavor, will agree with Mrs. Massa. The Red Cross in Pampa is sorry to lose her but we know that wherever she goes she will carry on.

The Altar Society of Holy Souls Catholic Church has been spending much time here lately piecing two tacking quilts. They completed two of them recently in the home of Mrs. Roy McKernan. Mrs. J. F. Schwind and Mrs. J. J. Putnam have really done the most of the work on them but everyone has helped in some way. Mrs. J. W. Gorman took these two quilts home to sew around the edges to make them stronger. They have four more that they will complete soon. Some of the material they got from the production room and some of it members of the society donated. Mrs. Daley, before her death, gave them four blankets for fillers.

FLASH—Bandlins have been discovered in Red Cross surgical dressing workrooms. Bandlins are fourth cousins to Gremlins, and twice as ornery. These Red Cross crosser-uppers are sometimes referred to as "Little Red Nasties," or "Mean Little Kids." They are little fellows with square heads, Red Cross eyes, dog-ears, and a long white gauze cape which makes them practically invisible to surgical dressing workers.

Credit for the discovery goes to two young ladies who fold surgical dressings for the Douglas County, Omaha, Chapter. The co-discoverers tell us that Bandlins are responsible for making "dog ears" in the surgical dressings. They also unravel the edges and keep the ends from meeting. Bandlins sit on the edges of gauze, and it is almost impossible to see them for they themselves are dressed in gauze.

The only time you will ever see the Bandlins is when you treat them well. They might even get up from their perch on the edges and help you make the dressing. If they ever do help, your dressings will be perfect.

Mrs. Lee Harris sewed the convalescent robe sample that you have seen in the production room. The officers' wives who have been doing so much Red Cross sewing thought that it was so beautifully made that they would like to make some robes just like it. And they did make three very lovely ones this past week.

College Youths Will Train In 'Prison Camp'

PARIS, TEXAS, May 22.—(P)—Your college son may be in a camp built for prisoners of war as part of the Camp Maxey installations near Paris.

If he is, he's in good hands. You needn't worry. He's there for training which some day may keep him out of similar camps of the enemy.

The camp at present is being used as an army specialized replacement and training center, where enlisted reservists are arriving from colleges for 13 weeks of intensive basic training.

This training is the first phase of the war department college education program and during the period a board of officers will screen the trainees for the purpose of placing them in the proper category to pursue a college course under the specialized training program.

Reporters on a tour of inspection of eighth service command installations slept in this camp built for prisoners and saw the first contingents of the college youths in training. Their morale appeared high. Their quarters were comfortable. The food was good.

Col. A. L. P. Sands, commanding officer of the specialized training center, praised the "high morale and enthusiasm of the college youths," and said they were imbued "with a determination to accomplish every task."

Col. Sands said an effort was being made to bring to the camp officers known to some of the youths— to give them confidence. One officer is Capt. Jack C. Kimbrough, brother of football star John, formerly instructor at Texas A. & M. Another is Captain John Boluch, mess officer, from the Dallas high school R. O. T. C. unit.

Vital Rationing Information

Bring your tire record book with you to the county rationing board office when you make a renewal application for gasoline.

This was the admonition given today by the board in conjunction with mileage deadlines.

Coupon 5 in A gasoline books expire today; coupon 6 is valid for two months beginning tomorrow.

May 31 is the deadline for the second official tire inspection for C book holders. B book holders must have inspection by June 30, A book holders by September 30.

Most C rations and many B rations expire on June 1. Renewal applications should be filed at once with the county board. C book holders are advised to have new tire inspection before filing renewal application. Old B or C books must be presented at the time application is made for renewal.

Other ration deadlines are May 30, last day for using Stamp 23 in War Ration Book 1, good for 1 pound of coffee; May 31, expiration date for Stamp 12, War Ration Book 1, good for 5 pounds of sugar; June 15, last day for use of Stamp 17 in War Ration Book 1, good for one pair of shoes.

Anti-Typhus Fever Campaign Urged

AUSTIN, May 22.—(P)—The state health department today appealed to community health leaders to join it and the United States public health service in a battle against further increase of typhus fever in Texas.

There were currently reported 15 cases, compared with the seven year media of six. Incidence of this disease has shown a spectacular incline on health department graphs in the past two years.

Library Assistants

Check Out Books

Each semester assistants to the library, bookroom, registrar and assistant principal are chosen for each period. One-fourth unit of credit is given to each of these assistants.

In the library, the assistants to Miss Mark Gordon check in and out books to the students, put up newspapers and magazines, keep certain book sections in order, dust shelves, help check material and books for binding, and mend books which have been damaged.

Library Assistants

The first semester those working in the library were the same as those working in it this semester except for Leonard Brummett, Juanita Osborn, and George Reeves. This semester Betty Carlson, Floyd Slaton, Jean Paxson, Anna Mae Darling, Elizabeth Roberts, Maxine Richey, Wanda Webb, Wilma Jean Bryan, Jerry Neil Stinson, Mona Fitzgerald, Audrey Short, Nancy Yoder and Vera Lee Millekan are working as assistants to Miss Gordon.

Collect Absentee Slips

Collecting and marking absentee blanks on room sheets, keeping files and clipping the blanks together are the duties of Mr. Aubrey Steele's office assistants.

Those working in Mr. Herod's office the first semester were Charlotte Cline, Elaine Dawson, L. J. Halter, Nita Rose McCarty, John Tom McCoy, Evelyn Ratcliffe, Colleen O'Grady and LaVerne Roberts. Sara Frances Giddens, Betty Anne Culbertson, Nita Rose McCarty, Charlotte Cline, Colleen O'Grady and Betty Jean Fletcher work in Mr. Steele's office the second semester.

Students who work in the registrar's office answer the telephone, take up absent slips, and run errands for Mrs. Roberts. Working in Mrs. Roberts' office the first semester were Anita Andrews, Dorace Jean Caldwell, Carl Tillstrom, Joyce Wanner, Eugenia Phelps and Neal Holden.

Wanda Jay, Jean Chisholm, Carl Tillstrom, Vivian Lafferty, Anna Barnett and Joanne Holden are Mrs. Roberts' assistants this semester.

Bookroom Helpers

The assistants to Mrs. Tom Clark, bookroom custodian, check in and out books, answer the telephone, run off mimeograph copies for the teachers, deliver supplies and messages to teachers through the book room, keep books clean, issue ink to classes, keep stenils on file, and try to find owners of lost books.

Mrs. Clark's assistants are Evelyn Turner, Ilene Davis, Wilma Jean Bryan, Martha Brummett, Golda Mae Miller and Ava Chesher.

4-H Club Winners Receive Pigs

Sears, Roebuck & Company's "Cow-Hog-Hen" plan went into effect in Gray county Saturday when 4-H club boys received pigs from the company as winners in the essay contest on "The Cow-Hog-Hen Plan of Farming."

The compositions were judged by a committee of farmers on May 11. There were 19 boys entered.

Pigs received by the winners are to be brought back for exhibition in Pampa on October 8. A Jersey calf will be awarded the exhibitor of the best animal while from 50 to 200 chickens will be awarded other winners.

Next year, out of the first litter, a check will be made for the best gilt, of 10 weeks age, and the contest started over again.

Winners in the essay contest, who received pigs yesterday, with name of 4-H club of which they are members:

Vernon Baggerman and James Gray, both of Grandview; Robert Sailor, Johnnie Spearman, Pampa Junior High school; Leon Taylor, Sam Houston (Pampa); David Abbott and Johnnie Joe Hutcheson, McLean; L. M. Watson, Jr., McLean.

All these boys received gilts. They were purchased by Sears from E. S. Ballew, Clarendon Hampshire breeder. Johnnie Baggerman of Grandview received a boar from Ed Cotten of Weatherford, keeping the boar and buying a gilt.

a Message to the GRADUATES of 1943

AS you receive your diploma it will mean that you have completed an important part of your education and it may also mean that the burden of your own future and a part of the burden of the future of all of us will be on your shoulders. May you face it with a courageous heart and the determination to succeed.

Never have times been more challenging to earnest effort, and there is no doubt that you will be the men and women of the future to make this generation, in the long run, one of peace and progress

For years you have looked forward to the day of your graduation . . . and now that it is almost here may it lead to a happy life full of deeds well done.

Mother Of Bob Morris Dies In Mobettie

Mrs. Sam Morris of Mobettie, about 70, mother of Bob Morris of Pampa, died in Mobettie Friday night.

She is survived by her husband; three sons, Walter of California, R. T. of Canadian and Bob of Pampa; five daughters, Mrs. Willie Shultz of California, Mrs. Julia Mayes and Mrs. Attala Chism of Spearman, Mrs. Jane Cunningham of Borger and Mrs. Phenny Stephens of Pecos and several grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the Mobettie Methodist church.

Squadron Commander Welcomed At Party

Members of the newly-named Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, 73rd Two-Engine Flying Training Group, stationed at Pampa Army Air Field, were present last night at a squadron party at the Southern Club, Pampa, to welcome their new commanding officer, Capt. Robert R. Johnston of Albert Lea, Minn. The 73rd is the former 1103rd TEF Group.

Col. Daniel S. Campbell, commanding officer, as well as Lt. Col. Robert C. McBride, Major Jamie Gough, Capt. Theodore Keller and other post officials were also present. Capt. Johnston succeeds Capt. Frank T. Griffin, who has been named air inspector at Pampa field. Speeches were at a minimum, for the party was one "for the boys," but sparkling entertainment, provided by post personnel, made up for the lack of official ceremonies. The post orchestra, featuring Pfc. Barry Schuman as vocalist and master of ceremonies, highlighted the program.

Lt. J. C. Dodman, a flying officer attached to the 73rd group, made the arrangements for the affair. The Southern Club was decorated for the party by members of the squadron personnel.

Operations Are Suspended By Taxi Company

Pampa was shy the operation of one of its three taxicab companies today, following a conference held here between the cab company owner, members of the county rationing board, city officials, and Nettles P. Nelson, Amarillo, district manager of the office of defense transportation.

Idle since Thursday, the day after the conference, have been the five cabs of Five One taxi, 206 N. Cuyler.

Otha L. Hawthorne, who appeared at the conference Wednesday on behalf of Five One, had no specific statement to make today as to the reason for the shut-down, except that his drivers did not wish to continue work due to the friction that had developed with police.

He said it was "only because of circumstances as they are" that his cabs were not operating.

At the county rationing board office Saturday it was revealed that Nelson, ODT manager, had notified the company that until it evidenced a spirit of cooperation its mileage allowance would be cut.

Last week, the county rationing board denied application of Five One for a new tire.

One specific violation of rationing regulations, cited by the ODT manager, was the company's alleged trips to the Pampa air base from Pampa, a distance of 11 miles, or 1 mile over the limit under ODT regulations, for taxicabs.

Alleged friction between drivers and police was attributed by the board's office to the fact that numerous speeding tickets have been given Five One drivers.

In one case, there were three tickets issued in two days, with fines totaling $25.

These tickets were turned in to the board by police and were brought forth when applications for gasoline licenses were made by the taxicab company and considered by the board.

Italian Shoeup Is Reported

LONDON, May 21 (AP)—A new shoeup in Italy's Fascist party was reported today by the Berlin radio, with Carlo Scorza, party secretary and Mussolini's right hand man taking over leadership of the party's "organization of combatants."

DNB said also in a Rome dispatch heard by the Associated Press that Col. Alessandro Scala had been named chief of staff of the Fascist youth organizations, many of whose members have recently been reported in violent opposition to policies of the party leadership.

Deanna Durbin and Edmond O'Brien, above are teamed in Deanna's eleventh picture, "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday," Universal, showing Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, at the LaNora. Deanna shines in a serious role, with songs, as an American girl, masquerading as a widow, who rescues nine children from China. Songs featuring the film include "A Chinese Lullaby," translated by Madame Chang, a Chinese version of "Rock-A-Bye-Baby," and "The Old Refrain" by Fritz Kreisler and Alice Mattulath.

"Once Upon a Honeymoon," RKO Radio, brings Gary Grant and Ginger Rogers together for the first time in a story of an American ex-burglesque dancer rescued from a Quilting husband by American newsmen. (There, another reporter—how we get around!)

The picture is showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the State. Opening a three-day run at the Crown is RKO's Radio's musical "Seven Days' Leave," with band, vaudeville, and military trimmings, with Victor Mature and Lucille Ball starred.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's version of James Hilton's "Random Harvest" has been voted the BOXOFFICE Blue Ribbon award for April by the National Screen Council. Ronald Colman and Greer Garson make a great romantic team in this story of one of the last war's victims of amnesia and a warm-hearted show girl. Mervyn LeRoy, who directed Miss Garson in "Blossoms in the Dust," and Sidney Franklin, producer of "Mrs. Miniver," are the director-producer team for "Random Harvest."

Dinner Late, So Man Kills Wife

DENVER, May 21 (AP)—The yowling of cats and the mysterious disappearance of their mistress inspired a police investigation which resulted in the finding of her body in a shallow basement grave and the arrest of her husband.

Officers found the body of Mrs. Mary Potts, 34, buried in a furnace room under her east Denver home last night. They took in custody her husband, Howard Potts, 40, an electric company warehouseman.

Potts admitted he pushed his wife down the cellar stairs last April 3, during an argument which stemmed from her asserted failure to serve dinner on time, acting detective Capt. O. A. Carter declared.

Award Assembly Honors Students For Attainments

"If we achieve success we must get it the hard way. The hard way is the only permanent way," said the Rev. Robert Boshen in an address to the student body and the new members of the National Honor Society.

Honor Society Initiated

The new members of the society are Helen Alexander, Patricia Livey, Frank Friauf, James Wanner, Carl Tilstrom, Neely Joe Ellis, Mildred McCrate and Faye Morehead, juniors; and Martha Pierson, Willadean Ellis, Leonard Brummett, Delbert Hughes, Gene Lunsford, Charlotte Cline, Colleen O'Grady, Eugenia Phelps, Juanita Osborn, Nita Rose McCarty and Neal Holden, seniors.

The new members were judged on scholarship, leadership, service and character. They were chosen by the faculty. The members chosen last year gave talks on different phases of the society. The program was presided over by Dorothy Stone, president.

John Tom McCoy, president of the Student Council, presented loving cups to the best boy and girl citizens selected by the Student Council. The best citizens were Margaret Burton and Leonard Brummett.

Buck Prejean, coach, presented basketball awards to the 1943 basketball teams. The boys on the first team were Wayne Broyles, Reginald Bridges, Kenneth Lard, Dick Manry, Doyle Lane, Frank Friauf, Gene Robbins and Billy Gise. The boys on the second team were Joe Cree, Warren Fatheree, Johnny Campbell, Eugene Turner, Clayton Noblitt and Eugene Folsom.

The co-editors of the Little Harvester, Helen Alexander and Dorace Jean Caldwell, were presented awards by Miss Margaret Jones, sponsor of the Little Harvester. All members of the staff were recognized.

Mary Jane Davis presented the trophy for the most outstanding girl athlete to Beth Bailey. This award was presented by the physical education department and is based on ability, sportsmanship, attitude and improvement.

Mrs. Russell Holloway recognized June Davis and Juanita Osborn who will receive white sweaters. June won first place in typing at the district meet and Juanita won second in shorthand. Both girls went to the state meet at Austin.

Dr. D. F. Osborne, principal, presented the award of the Business and Professional Woman's club to the best all around commercial student, Juanita Osborn. This award is a plaque which remains in the trophy case.

STUDENTS MISS 27 DAYS

There have been twenty-seven holidays since school opened September 7, 1942. The Thanksgiving holidays were the first, November 26 through November 29. The Christmas holidays were next; they were to have been from December 18 through December 28, but they were extended to include January 4, 1943.

The students were ready for the holiday that came March 18, the day the teachers had their annual conference in Amarillo.

The seniors had a two-day, holiday April 1 and 2. On April 1 they came to school dressed as "kids" and gave an assembly program for the sophomores and the juniors. In the afternoon they were taken to a free show. April 2 they went to Lake McClellan for an all-day picnic.

The Easter holidays included April 23 through April 26.

May 28 is the holiday that is looked forward to most. It will last until early September!

Sponsors Assemblies

"The assemblies this year were better than ever before," said Mr. Aubrey L. Steele, Student Council sponsor.

They were planned weeks ahead of time by two industrious council members, Billy Waters and Evelyn Ratcliff, seniors.

The assemblies have seen such men as Rev. Douglas Carver of the First Baptist church, Lt. Col. Campbell of the Pampa Air Base, Harry C. White of the General Electric laboratories, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, who spoke on charm, the Master Singers, Hugo Stuntz, sponsored by the Rotary club, George De Huzar, Hew Roberts, and Gebbert Seager, also sponsored by the Rotary club; Rev. Boshen, who spoke on the Christmas assembly, and James Glascock, who spoke on his work in Africa.

For musical entertainment the A Cappella Choir, the Glee Club, the Junior High Band, the Senior High Band, the Carver School, Baker school, and the quartet from Macpherson College added their touch.

Other assemblies of the year were four pep rallies during the assembly periods, the Christmas program, two Band assemblies, the Truth or Consequences program given by the Quill and Scroll pledges, the Kid Day assembly, the Easter service, and the Amateur Hour, given by the Student Council.

TO THE NEWS

We, of the Little Harvester staff, wish to thank the Pampa News for publishing our school paper each week. Throughout the entire year they have shown us unfailing courtesy even when our copy was late and we were otherwise a lot of trouble.

We wish especially to thank Lawrence Stalcup for overlooking our lateness. James Glascock for helping with the makeup of this paper, Jack Hanna for his good advice, Tex DeWeese for his encouraging words, and the various linotype operators for "putting up" with our sometimes almost illegible copy.

Again we say thanks a lot, D. J. C.

Annual Banquet For Juniors, Seniors Is Last Formal Affair

The Junior-Senior banquet, an annual affair, was held in the cafeteria Saturday, May 15, at 8 o'clock.

In welcoming the seniors Charles Boyles, the president of the junior class said: "The juniors are happy to welcome you here this evening. We hope that this occasion will bring you much joy, and that long after you seniors have left your high school days behind, the remembrance of this evening will bring many happy thoughts."

The response was given by Imogene Sperry Miller, president of the senior class. "The class of 1943 will leave Pampa High school with many fond memories. To the juniors we say 'Farewell—carry on,'" said Imogene.

The invocation, the "Doxology", was given by a quartet consisting of Willadean Ellis, Patricia Livey, Neely Joe Ellis, and Billy Waters. A piano solo, "Rhapsody No. 15"—Liszt, was given by Martha Pierson. Willadean Ellis sang "The Golden Key" by Bond. An accordeon solo, "Dark Eyes" arranged by Chas. Marnante, was given by Elaine Carlson. Mary Jane Davis gave a reading, "The Three Brave Dreams," by Frazier Hunt. Margaret Burton gave a violin solo, "Ave Maria" by Schubert and "Lullaby" by T. Duncan Stewart.

The menu consisted of creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, green beans, salad, hot rolls, iced tea, sherbert, and cake. Sprintime was the theme carried out in the decorations.

National Honor Society

Nineteen Chosen To Be Honor Society Members

Eleven seniors and eight juniors were chosen to be members of the National Honor Society this year.

Names of those chosen were announced April 9. Members were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service to the school. Five per cent of the junior class and fifteen per cent of the senior class who ranked in the upper one-third of the class were eligible to be members.

Those chosen were Leonard Brummett, Charlotte Cline, Willadean Ellis, Neal Holden, Delbert Hughes, Gene Lunsford, Nita Rose McCarty, Colleen O'Grady, Juanita Osborn, Eugenia Phelps, Martha Pierson, Helen Marie Alexander, Neely Joe Ellis, Frank Friauf, Patricia Lively, Mildred McCrate, Faye Morehead, Carl Tillstrom and James Wanner.

Present officers of the National Honor Society are Dorothy Stone, president; Mary Gurley, vice-president, and Margaret Burton, secretary.

Other members who make up the National Honor Society are Dorace Jean Caldwell, John Tom McCoy, Elizabeth Roberts, Frank Shotwell, Billy Waters, Billie Louise Crawford, Peggy Ann Covey and Mack McCorkle. L. J. Halter, who is now in the Navy, was also a member.

The formal initiation was held in assembly Wednesday, May 12. New members were presented with the colors of the society and the gold membership pins. The speaker was the Rev. Robert Foshen.

Members of the National Honor Society were the guests of the Quill and Scroll at the annual banquet given by the Quill and Scroll organization Friday, April 30, at the High School cafeteria.

The National Honor Society is sponsored by Miss Clarine Brannon, junior English teacher.

Caldwell, Waters Are 'Likely to Succeed'

Diminutive Dorace Jean Caldwell and red-haired Billy Waters were the two seniors chosen "Most Likely to Succeed."

Dorace Jean is co-editor of the Little Harvester, past vice-president of the Quill and Scroll, secretary of Student Council and secretary of the Senior Class. She is also a member of the National Honor Society and valedictorian of this year's graduating class. Johnny Campbell headed the active sophomore class this year as president, with Norma Jean Beagle as vice-president and Wanda Jay as secretary.

First Dance in Oct.

Sophomores held the first class dance and party in October. This was followed by another party-dance several months later. The annual sophomore picnic was held on Saunder's ranch Friday, April 30. Students took their lunches, and soda pop was furnished. It had been discussed earlier that the picnic be held at Lake McClellan, but this plan was discarded because the lake was too far away for most students' gasoline.

Dorace Caldwell, Dorothy Stone, John Tom McCoy Have Highest Averages for Four Years of School

The fact that small, petite Dorace Jean Caldwell had an average of 96.78 made her valedictorian of the senior class of 1943. Dorothy Stone was right behind her with an average of 94.73 which entitled her to be salutatorian. John Tom McCoy was highest ranking boy with an average of 92.4.

Dorace Jean, a senior whose activities have been many, has been editor of the Little Harvester one and a half years, and has served as assistant editor for one-half year. She was secretary-treasurer of her class in her junior and senior years, president of Room 217, this year, vice-president of her room when a sophomore and junior vice-president of the Quill and Scroll Society last year, a candidate for the National Honor Society when a junior, secretary of the Student Council this year, a charter member of the Tri-Hi-Y, an active member in dramatics when she received a sweater for the one-act play in which she won second place acting honors, and a first place winner in shuffleboard. Dorace Jean plans to be a journalist. She won first place on one of her news stories at the Panhandle High School Press Association. She was also vice-president of the West Texas Scholastic Press Clinic one year. If her plans are not altered, she wishes to attend the University of Texas. Science is the subject in which Dorace Jean is majoring. Known to many students of PHS as "Shorty" or "Runt," she is 17 years old. In her pastime, Dorace Jean enjoys reading, keeping scrapbooks, swimming and skating. Her favorite food is ice cream.

Dorothy Stone, the second highest ranking student, was a member of the Student Council last year, has been a member of the A Cappella choir for the past two years, ranked third scholastically in Junior High school, was a member of the senior play cast, has been president of the National Honor Society this year, and has received a sweater for debate when she won in the district meet last year.

fun in Mr. Gordon's advanced class to Billie Lou Kitchens.

Frank Yates just leaves.

Frank Shotwell leaves his title as hero of the gridiron and the girls to Bobby Curtis.

Artie Sailor leaves all of his favorite haunts and play tops to Janis Jones.

Margaret Burton leaves all of her nicknames to any girl in the senior class that wants them.

Phyllis Davis leaves her ability to get up good notebooks to Kathryn Graham.

Wanda Giles wills her ability to skip around the halls as if she were having fun to Helen Marlin.

Juanita Osborn leaves her inter-scholastic league record to any girl that has a lieutenant stationed in Austin.

Betty Lee Thomasson leaves her

Harvester Band Plays For Games

The Harvester Band has not been out of Pampa many times this year because of lack of transportation, but its members have participated in almost all events at home.

Band Plays for Football

The band attended all home football games and a few out of town games. At the Burk Burnett game they had a "Dumb Drum Major" stunt on the field; at El Paso High, "Military Drill;" at Plainview, "Crowning of the Football Queen;" at Borger, "U. S. A.;" at Amarillo the Pampa and Amarillo bands combined and made a "U. S. A." They played at the Sunset of Dallas and the Lubbock games but did not go on the field because of rain.

They have played at all high school assemblies and at some junior high assemblies.

Wiley Directs Clinic

D. O. Wiley, director of the Texas Tech band, conducted a two-day band clinic. He has always held a band clinic just before the band goes to the contest; but this year, since there was no contest to attend, a victory concert, which was partially directed by Mr. Wiley, was held.

$3000 In Bonds, Stamps Sold

There has been approximately $3000 in war bonds and stamps sold this year by the band. The Junior High band assisted the High School band in two victory concerts. The assembly band played at the school bond sale April 19, where over $10,000 in war bonds and stamps were sold. Mr. Ray Robbins, director, conducted the first hour of the assembly, and J. D. Williams, solo cornet player, directed the remainder of it.

The Twin Engine Flying school of Pampa invited the Harvester and Reaper bands to play for a concert at the base and furnished them transportation in seven G. I. trucks and two liberty busses. Warrant Officer Ken Carpenter directed the band in a few numbers and Mr. Robbins conducted the remainder of the program.

Banquet Dance Is Held

The annual band banquet and dance was held in the high school cafeteria. Mr. Winston Savage, Junior High Principal, was toastmaster. Mr. Robbins awarded Gene Lunsford, solo cornet player, with the honor of "Most Valuable Player" and Earl O'Brien first trombone player the honor of "Most Improved Player."

Lunsford Is President

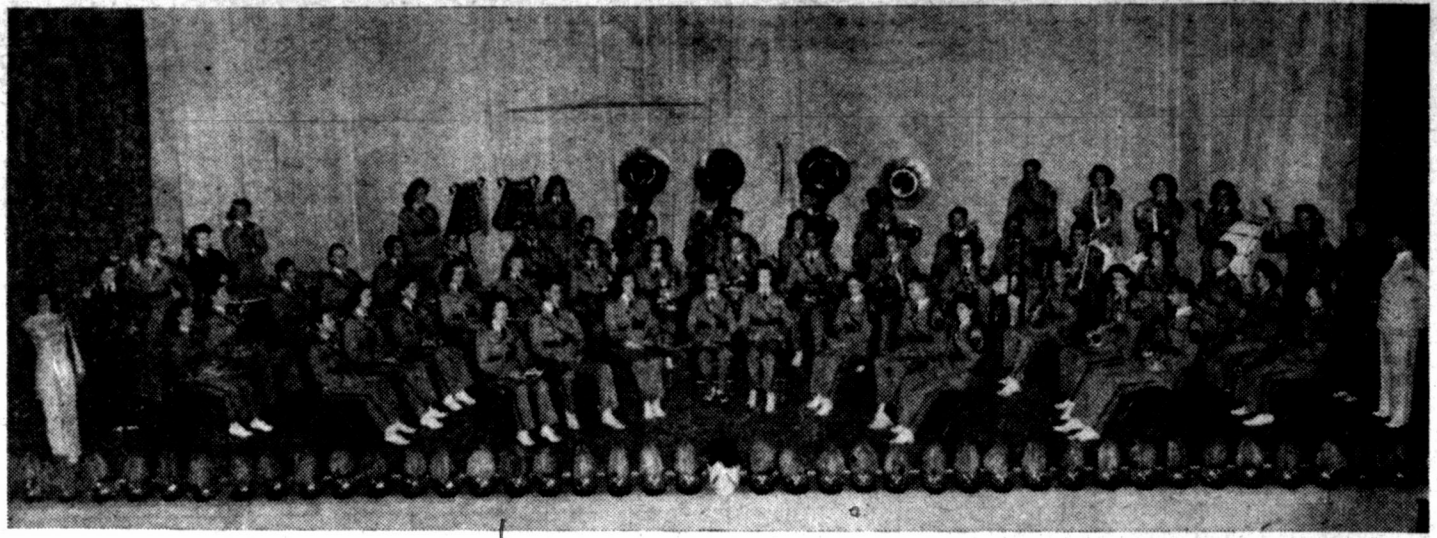

The constitution of the band, which is based on the Constitution of the United States, provides for a band board and officers to assist the director in running the band and keeping order in it. There are nine members of the board: Gene Lunsford, president; Frank Gunsaulus, vice-president; Martha Pierson, secretary and treasurer; and Roy Cone, Norma Jean Beagle, Wilbur Wells, Shirley Sone, Earl O'Brien, and John Robert Lane, reporter.

Miss Marian Riechling, choir director, has selected an orchestra to play at the graduation ceremonies which consists of part of the high school regular band and the junior high string band.

The band played in assembly May 5, without their uniforms. This was its last appearance for this school year. Mr. Robbins announced that next year, since the freshmen of Junior High are being moved to High School, there will be at least a hundred piece band.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

A Cappella Choir Sings For Clubs

Robes of gold and green symbolize one of the high school's most prominent organizations, the A Cappella choir.

After the choir's director, Miss Helen Martin, left to join the WAACS, a new director, Miss Marian Riechling, took her place in directing the choir.

The first performance in which the choir participated was in the city club room at the city hall on February 8, before the 20th Century club. The songs sung were "Listen to the Lamb," "All in the April Evening" and "De Battle of Jericho." On March 11, Horace Mann P. T. A. was the place at which the choir sang. Songs for this occasion were "The Holy City," "All in the April Evening" and "De Battle of Jericho."

The A Cappella's activity for this year was a picnic held in the backyard of John Tom McCoy's home.

Those in the choir are Doris Alexander, Helen Marie Alexander, Anita Andrews, Lela Pearl Baldwin, Margaret Burton, Elaine Carlson, Frances Crocker, Willadean Ellis, Mary Gurley, Molita Kennedy, Mary Nelson, Sara Florence Parker, Martha Pierson, Aileen Vaughn, Bertha Willis, sopranos; Vontell Alexander, Inez Baird, Laverne Covington, Marceline Drake, Sara Giddens, Marjorie Gillis, Billie Kitchens, Patricia Lively, Dorothy Stone, Joyce Turner, Virginia West, Janice Wheatley, altos; Erlan Eller, Neeley Jo Ellis, Anna Lois Heard, John Tom McCoy, Imogene Sperry Miller, tenors; Harold Cobb, Floyd Slaton, Jim Wanner, Eugene Folsom, George Neef, basses, and Betty Ann Culberson, accompanist.

We Are Proud of Your Accomplishments and Offer You Congratulations

You are now going out into the world, a world that anxiously awaits your energetic help in defeating the Axis. There are ways to help besides joining the army . . . factories need help, farmers need help, almost every business needs help and they all could be considered very beneficial toward the war effort. Above all, this world has little respect for mere names but hard work can open up any door you wish opened . . . the world is yours, go to it.

Staff Publishes Paper Each Week

To serve the school and community effectively, to sway student opinion, to salvage for the war effort, and to strengthen national morale—these are the aims of the Little Harvester staff this year as stated in the Victory Issue.

Staff Publishes Paper

Each week since school began, except during holidays, the staff has published a Little Harvester assisted by members of the journalism class. As a new activity this year the staff has broadcast a 15-minute school news program each Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock over Station KPDN. Eugenia Phelps, news editor, is in charge of the program. She is assisted by a different staff member each week.

Because of transportation difficulties the staff attended no conventions and entered no stories in any contests. Returned to the Panhandle High School Press Association this year were three plaques won last year by Audrey Lemmon, feature, Dorace Caldwell, news, and Scott Rafferty, sports.

The staff, composed of students with one semester of journalism, meets each week from 4 to 6 o'clock each Wednesday afternoon entirely as an extracurricular activity. Members edit, headline and proof-read all copy and write much of the copy.

Caldwell Is Editor First

Dorace Caldwell led the Little Harvester for the first semester of this year as editor. Members of the first semester staff were Scott Rafferty, sports editor; Frank Friauf, assistant sports editor; Colleen O'Grady, news editor; Eugenia Phelps, feature editor; Evelyn Kidwell, proofreader; Helen Alexander, headline editor; Jean Chisholm, exchange editor; Janice Wheatley, business manager; Elizabeth Roberts, typist, and Miss Margaret Tomberlin, sponsor.

Alexander Chosen Co-Editor

Helen Alexander and Dorace Jean Caldwell were co-editors the second semester. Staff members are Eugenia Phelps, news editor; Evelyn Kidwell, feature editor; Colleen O'Grady, senior editor; Janice Wheatley, business manager; Shirley Taylor, headline editor; John Robert Lane, cartoon editor; Elizabeth Roberts, staff typist.

Four different teachers have sponsored the Little Harvester this year. Miss Margaret Tomberlin resigned after midterm to join the WAVES as an officer's candidate.

Mrs. Dorothy Firebaugh, who came here to be with her husband, a cadet at the AAFAPS, resigned when he graduated.

Mrs. Jane Bara, society editor of The News, taught for a short time.

Miss Margaret Jones, head of the English department, then took the class for the rest of the year.

Junior Red Cross Succeeds In Quota

Nita Rose McCarty

At the beginning of this school year the Junior Red Cross Council was started under the direction of Miss Pearl Garen, but Mrs. Robert Sanford became the new sponsor when Miss Garen left to join the WAVES. Martha Brummett was chosen president, Judy LaWay, vice president, and Nita McCarty, secretary-treasurer.

Lead Drive

This group led a Red Cross drive and almost had the school 100 per cent in membership. The first two rooms to have 100 per cent membership were 217 and 211. Members of the Council checked out blocks for afghans to the members of their home rooms but 104 was the only home room to complete a whole afghan. Recently they finished their second one. The Council has worked on scrapbooks and have completed two. Mrs. Sanford's home economic classes have done quite a bit of work on these scrapbooks. The shop classes did their bit by making writing boards to be used in hospitals.

Members of the Red Cross Council who have made it a success are Grady Roberts (201) Artemae Long (111), Kathryn Graham (208), Joyce Wanner (106), Joe de Grace (Machine Shop), Beulah Mae Vanderlinden (211), Martha Brummett (109), Ramona Cheely (100) Marguerite Angus (115), Marion Stone (101), Doris Bell (204), Creta Mae Lawrence (206), and Nita McCarty (217).

Quill and Scroll Completes Year Of Activity In Journalistic Work

Organized in 1941, Quill and Scroll, International Honor Society for high school journalists, has completed now its second year during which it has assumed an important place in Pampa High school activities.

Miss Margaret Tomberlin, journalism teacher, organized the society, and she and Miss Margaret Jones, head of the English department, were co-sponsors until Miss Tomberlin left to join the WAVES. Since then Miss Jones has carried on the work alone.

Officers for this year have been Elizabeth Roberts, president; Eugenia Phelps, vice-president, and Colleen O'Grady, secretary-treasurer. Dorace Jean Caldwell, editor of the Little Harvester, and Georgie Reeves were the only other members remaining from last year.

Voted into the organization this year because of their interest and outstanding work in journalism were Evelyn Kidwell, Jean Chisholm, Janice Wheatley, Helen Marie Alexander and Frank Friauf. These new members were initiated during a week of informal activities culminating in a Truth or Consequences assembly program. The formal initiation, an impressive ceremony, followed in the home of Elizabeth Roberts.

As its main project Quill and Scroll brought to the school several outstanding speakers. Among them were Lt. Col. Daniel S. Campbell of the Pampa Air Field who spoke to the whole student body at an assembly hour, Major Wm. Adler, Iso of the local post, who spoke to the boys of the school, Mrs. Raymond Harrah who spoke to the girls and Mr. James Glasscock of the Pampa News, who spoke to the entire student body.

Highlighting the social activities of the year was the Quill and Scroll annual banquet in the high school cafeteria on April 30, honoring members of the National Honor Society. Special guests were Principal and Mrs. Doyle Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Steele, and Miss Clarine Branom. An invitation dance followed the dinner.

Elected to the leadership of the society for next year are Evelyn Kidwell, president; Janice Wheatley, vice-president, and Jean Chisholm, secretary-treasurer. All three of these girls have been members of the journalism class and of the Little Harvester staff. They are leaders in many school activities and the year 1943-44 under their guidance promises to be one of outstanding achievements.

Student Council Ends Successful Year of School

The second week of school the student body narrowed down their nominees for president of Student Council to Jerry Alexander, John Tom McCoy, Neal Holden, Mary Nelson, Leslie Burge, and Dorace Jean Caldwell. In a later election John Tom was elected president, Jerry, vice-president, Dorace Jean, secretary, and Leslie Burge, treasurer. When Leslie joined the navy, Neal Holden filled his position. Aubrey Steele and Miss Anne Louise Jones are faculty sponsors.

Council Meets in Cafeteria

Because six periods filled the school day, the problem of the time for the Council to meet was solved when it was decided to meet each Thursday at noon in the cafeteria. There all the members of the Council would eat lunch and discuss all the problems of the week.

Council Gives Five Dances

The Council gave five dances during the first part of the year. The first dance was given on October 17. On October 31, the Council gave an all-school dance and a party in the gymnasium and cafeteria. January 22, approximately 75 students attended another all-school dance, called an "everybody tag" dance. One of the five dances was postponed and one of them was the Tea Dance which was held after the Lubbock game.

Both bond drives were sponsored by the Student Council. Elly Waters, John Tom McCoy, Bob Clasby, and Joe Cox composed a quartette which won the first prize of $3 in the amateur hour sponsored by Student Council. Two dollars was given to Mary Jane Davis as a second prize, and the third prize was won by Willadean Ellis.

Miller Elected Vice-president

During the last semester Student Council had to elect a new vice-president to fill the vacancy made when Jerry Alexander left. After two meetings Imogene Sperry Miller was elected to fill this position.

John Tom McCoy, a member of room 107, was president of the Council. The following are presidents and vice-presidents of home rooms. Clarice Dixon, president of room 100; Norma Jean Beagle and Dorothy Suttle, room 101; Helen Alexander and Billy Gise, 102; Marjorie Roth, 103; Joyce Taylor and Doyle Rodgers, 104; Joe Cree and Jean Holden, 105; Billy Waters and Colleen O'Grady, Melvin Howe, 107; Betty Jo Dewey and Phyllis Davis, 109; Mary Jane Davis, 112; Jessica Shelton and Anna Lou McCoy, 115; Janice Wheatley and Molita Kennedy, 201; Wanda Jay and Anna Lois Alford, 202; Doris Davis and Ruth Matheny, 203; Francis Deering and Doris Bell, 204; Evelyn Fattcliffe, 205; Martha Pierson and Mary Gurley 206; Betty McDowell and Billy Sheehan 208; Dortha Keller and Mary Helen Hayes, 209; Dorothy Wilgus and Doris Barnett, 211; J. W. Baucum and Coy Riley, 214; Dorace Jean Caldwell and Mack McCorkle, 217; Ina Lee Bidwell and Betty Holt, 111; Neal Holden, Councilor at Large and Imogene Sperry, vice-president of the Council.

CAST OF SENIOR PLAY, "THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16"

The senior play, "On the Night of January 16th," directed by Miss Dorothy Summers, was most unusual in the fact that it had its setting in the district court room, and, as any real trial, the decision was rendered by a jury selected from the audience. The cast included Billy Waters, defense attorney; Mary Jane Davis, Karen Andre; John Tom McCoy, prosecuting attorney; Ray Thompson, Dr. Strickland; Imogene Sperry Miller, Roberta Van Rensselaar; Neal

Holden, clerk; Virginia Lee West, Nancy Faulkner; Virginia Windsor, Magda Swinson; Dorothy Stone, a negro woman; Frances Deering, handwriting expert; Bob Clasby, Jungquist.

Junior Play Clears Approximately $210

"The junior play took in $210 at the one night performance," said Miss Virginia Vaughn, head sponsor of the junior class. Approximately $80.80 was cleared and this money will go into the student activity fund.

There were 13 members of the cast of the play, "I'm In the Army Now," by Ned Albert.

The one night performance was very successful as was the performance at the local army base. Ernest Miller, Jean Chisholm and Katherine Robinson had the leading parts.

The sponsors of the junior class are Mr. A. L. Jones, Miss Clarine Branom, Miss Mary Jo Mathis, Miss Mary Smelser, Mr. A. L. Steele and Miss Virginia Vaughn, head sponsor. The officers are Charles Boyles, president; Janice Wheatley, vice president, and Dora Taylor, secretary. The junior class favorites are Billy Gise and Helen Marie

Alexander. The juniors had one party this year.

Class Looks Back On Eventful Year

Mary Terrell

We can all look back to our Senior Kid day, and think, "gee whiz, that was fun!" And then there was the picnic at Lake McClellan the following day. What I wouldn't give to live that day over again, even if we all did get sunburned noses. These two outings are typical of the numerous activities of this year's senior class, and the students have participated in all of them. We had our first activity on February 26, the theater party. The show was "Seven Days' Leave." Our next one was on Kid day, when all of us appeared in short dresses and pinafores galore, and the boys came with their knee pants and water guns.

The assembly that day was nothing short of a three ring circus, with the "kids" giving their stunts. Mary Jane Davis was in charge of this assembly, and believe us (the senior class) it really was fun.

We had our fun as well as our losses. Our head sponsor, Miss Pearl Garen, left to join the WAVES. She was replaced by Mr. B. G. Gordon. We had another loss too; Leslie Burge, our class president, joined the navy. He was replaced by our vice-president, Imogene Miller.

Other officers of the class are Kenneth Lard, vice-president, and Dorace Jean Caldwell, secretary-treasurer. Our senior sponsors are Mr. B. G. Gordon, Mrs. J. R. Holloway, Miss Margaret Jones, and Mrs. G. H. Alexander.

The total number of graduating students for the spring graduation is 99 78 pre-college and 21 vocational. There are 35 boys, six of whom have gone into the armed forces but who are still receiving their diplomas. There are 67 girls graduating.

The summer school graduates are not to go unnoticed either. There are 7 boys and 10 girls who will graduate from the summer session. The diplomas in this case are equal, 13 pre-college and 13 vocational.

Senior favorites this year are Margaret Burton, senior girl favorite, and Flint Berlin, who is now serving in the armed forces. Boy and girl most likely to succeed were Billy Waters and Dorace Jean Caldwell.

Valedictorian and salutatorian are Dorace Jean Caldwell and Dorothy Stone.

Priestess Reveals Fate of Pampa Seniors of '43

Dear Friends:

I've just had the most remarkable experience! Soon after I donned the uniform of the WAAC I was sent to the mysterious continent of darkest Africa, the land of the voodoo. Last night about 10:30 as I sat in my tent the rumor reached my ears that a real voo-doo priestess was in camp to provide entertainment for us work-weary girls. This struck me as a novel idea, so I hurried over to join the line of eager girls.

Upon entering the tent I was informed I was to ask only one question and naturally my thoughts turned to home. So being "Scotch" and wanting my money's worth, I asked this question, "What will the Seniors of '43 of Pampa High school be doing twenty years from now?"

This was her reply:

The football queen of '43, Mary Gurley, will be a can-can dancer at Sloppy Joe's Tavern located at 43rd and Broadway in New York.

The salutatorian, Dorothy Stone, will be the Chicago zoo's greatest lion tamer.

Betty Anne (Dale Carnegie) Culbertson will write a book on "How to Bag a Cadet and Hold Him."

Esther June Mullinax will be a Powers model.

Flint Berlin will then be an admiral, the first man to rise to that position from an apprentice seaman.

Leonard Brummett will be the greatest soap box orator, orating from Central Park.

Mary Terrell will be elected to her highest position, Pampa's first garbage commissioner.

Imogene Miller will be playing her favorite role of housewife and mother to her 18 little red-faced cherubs.

Leading motion picture stars of that year will be Doris Bell, vocalist, and Alma Jean and Jo Ellen Costiloe, and Laura Ruth McDaris.

Elizabeth Sefcik has attained a high position in the American Red Cross.

Personifying the "Stoop-Droop" successor to the Zoot-Suit will be Floyd Barrett, Harry Dulaney and Marvel Rake.

Members of the famed Rockettes will include that year Lucille Balch, Betty Jo Dewey, Bobbie Jean Ford and Imogene Nabors.

Favorite inmates at Wichita Falls will include such noteworthies as John Tom McCoy, Frank Gunsaulus and Frank Yates.

Residing at the White House will be William Wyatt Waters, who will be known then as Bill, the head White House gardener. Bill will be there so he can be close to his old friend, Erian Eller, chief Flea Picker-Officer of the President's dog, Falla.

Mack McCorkle and Gene Lunsford will be appearing nightly in Master Thomas Sirman's half-ring circus as "humans." Time changes everything!

Vontell Alexander, Lela Pearl

MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL

Petite Wanda Jay, sophomore, was elected Pampa High's most beautiful girl by an overwhelming majority this last fall. Evelyn Ratcliffe, Juanita Osborn and Billy Joe Hopkins were runners-up.

Wanda is one of the youngest members of the sophomore class being only 13 years old. As secretary-treasurer, Wanda is an active member of the sophomore class. She had the leading role in the junior high three act play last year. The first hour she is assistant to Mrs. Lou Roberts.

Wanda's distinguishing features are her deep-set eyes and her turned up nose. She is five feet two inches tall and has dark hair which she wears in the favorite victory bob.

Her likes run along such lines as fried chicken, skirts and sweaters, especially red ones, and sophomore class president, Johnny Campbell.

Baldwin, and Shirley Reigel continuing a life-long friendship, will be Stalin's favorites in the Russian Ballet.

Colleen O'Grady will be the perfect advertising model in advertising Black Jack's All Vegetable Root Black Hair Dye.

Creta Mae Layzence will be a saleswoman of mops.

Virginia Lee West, bearded lady in Edna Brown's spectacular mid-way attraction, will be the hit of Ray Thompson's yearly monkey exposition.

Carolyn Cloud and Irene Davis will work together for the abolition of all Free Public Schools of America.

Joe and Dora Jane Cox will be on the verge of a split-up because Joe's blueprints will have held up Dora

Jane's riveters at the Garland White shipyards.

Holding her own in keen competition, Martha Brummett will be the great sign painter of the day.

Nancy Ruth Yoder, the second Betty Hutton of the year, will be jivin' it nightly at Betty Saunders Hobo Hole.

Beth Bailey, Anita Andrews and Pauline Bednorz will be touring South America showing natives how to use sun tan oil for a good tan.

Anna Lois Heard, Betty Ann Drake and Deane Wilkinson will be going from town to town conducting cooking schools.

Ima Jean Marney Grossman and her 17 little kangaroos will be back in Pampa amusing high school students in assembly programs.

Graduates of the class of 1963 will include Bob Clasby and Archie Miller. Of course Archie will have taken English IV for the past 20 years.

Truant officer that year in New York City will be Jack Lane. He will have a record unequalled for having students in school.

Gracie and John Humphries will be hitting all of New York's hot spots as John will have found oil and four rubber tires in his front yard.

"Miss America" that year will be Artie Sailor. This will be due to the fact that all the women will be so busy that they will not have time to enter the contest.

Selling knitting at the corner of Hollywood and Vine will be Harold Cobb and Charles Clemmons. It will be hand-made, too!

Teaching Britishers how to crook their little finger while drinking tea will be Frank Shotwell, better known as Lord Shot Fairly Well.

Elaine Carlson will be selling ice boxes to the Eskimos. Her assistants will be LeVerne Roberts and Bertha Maye Willis.

Head of the United Service Organizations will be Eugenia Phelps with her offices in Tokio, Japan.

Two popular cigarette girls at Mike's Grub Joint will be Mary Jane Davis and Frances Deering.

Missionaries to the wilds of Borneo will be Elizabeth Roberts and Margaret Ellen Purton.

Eveline and Nina Turner will present a new book for publication that year. It will be entitled, "The

MOST HANDSOME BOY

Tall, dark, and handsome—this description applies to Tommie Joe Adkins, junior, who was chosen the most Handsome Boy in Pampa High school in the first election sponsored by the Little Harvester this year. Richard Casey and Coy Riley were the runners-up.

He is 5 feet 11 inches tall, has black curly hair and green eyes. Tommie is a 16-year-old junior who likes sports. One of his favorites is bowling, in which his highest score is 221. As for baseball, he was a member of the Junior Oilers in 41-42, playing short-stop and left field. At present he is home room coach of room 104.

Theory of Relativity in Relationship to the Viewpoint of the Moon and the Tidal Waves."

Head hasher at Joe's Gip Joint owned by Charlotte Cline will be Joyce Wanner.

Hobo Queen for 1963 will be Martha Frances Pierson. She will attain this title by having traveled the farthest by hobo methods.

Osborn and Russel's wig factory owned by Juanita and Robbie Lee will be doing a booming business that year.

Translating English for the natives of Borneo will be Wilbur Wells and A. L. Patrick.

Teaching home economics at T. S. C. W. will be Kenneth Lard, ably See PRIESTESS, Page 8

Library Obtains 283 New Books For Use

By JEAN PAXSON

Of all the rooms in Pampa High school the room that is perhaps one of the most important and most helpful to us is that one on the third floor—the library.

The last inventory showed that we have 5,040 books in the library. Miss Mary Gordon, librarian said. Of these, 433 are works of general information, 240 are science references, 689 tell of arts and 1485 deal with literature, both American and that of other countries. The largest section is history, with 1502 books. This classification includes social science, biography, travel, and general history books. At present we have 779 fiction books, including many best sellers and some of the best novels of all times.

283 New Books Received

This year Miss Gordon, has received 283 new books, most of them either fiction or the best selling non-fiction books of the year. Next year Miss Gordon promises an even better library for Pampa High school. We will have many new books and 50 of the best periodicals published.

Fines collected this year have totaled about $125. This money will be put to a very good use in buying several magazine subscriptions, some new books, and mending materials.

All lost book funds are used in buying new copies of the originals.

Reader's Guide Issued

Our periodicals both separate and in bound volumes are being used a great deal more than usual through use of the Reader's Guide. This index lists every article in the majority of our magazines, enabling

Congratulations Graduates

As you leave the classrooms to take your place in business, or higher education, you'll find the principles for succeeding remain the same.

Honesty, integrity and fairness are words that will mean much in your future after graduation. Hold these high in your dealings. Just as you have learned their value in your class room, on the athletic field and in your personal associations, let this be magnified in the life you are now entering.

Hi-Y Organization Gives Two Banquets

Two banquets, one as an initiation for new members held last fall, and the other a father-and-son dinner in March, were high-lights of the Hi-Y Club activities this year. Kenneth Lard and Ray Thompson, seniors, were the club presidents the past year, while Aubrey L. Jones served as sponsor.

The club helped organize the Pampa Tri-Hi-Y Club during 1943. Carl Taylor, district Hi-Y head, addressed the club twice during the year.

The club, with the help of the Tri-Hi-Y and the Junior High Club, gave the programs for one meeting of the Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions Clubs one week in March. Grover C. Goode, Hi-Y district advisor, was speaker at the meetings.

Present members of the Hi-Y are Ray Thompson, president, Carl Tillstrom, vice-president, Earl O'Brien, secretary, Jim Wanner,

Myrel Looper Heads Future Farmers Of America Chapter

Myrel Looper headed the Pampa chapter of the Future Farmers of America as the club president this year. Other officers are Jack Sloan, vice-president; W. L. Morris, treasurer; Charles Boyles, reporter, and Merle McCracken, secretary.

Hood Wills Director

The thirty-eight members of this club which was comprised of the agriculture class under the direction of Hood Wills has worked this year on various school projects, including the plowing up of the school yard and the planting of grass. In home projects boys have raised cattle, hogs, chickens, horses and various feeds and grains. Members worked on hog self-feeders and other farm improvements. F. F. A. boys entered their farm animals in both the local livestock show and the livestock show that was held in Amarillo. Many of the boys put the money they received from the sale of their animals into savings or bought more stock.

Sponsor Garden

F. F. A. students sponsored a Victory Garden program and many of the Future Farmers have raised gardens of their own in addition to their other projects.

Quite a number of the students have specialized in the raising of registered sows, such as the Poland China. Large litters of pigs have been raised.

The F. F. A. banquet was held early in March. The Future Farmers attended an area encampment and leadership contests at Lake McClellan.

Newly Organized Tri-Hi-Y Is Companion To Boys' Hi-Y Organization In High School

Tri-Hi-Y Club is the companion organization to the Hi-Y Club. It is a state organization of high school girl girls banded together for the purpose of creating and maintaining throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character.

This new organization grew out of a need for girls similar to that of the Hi-Y for boys.

The Pampa chapter of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y Club was organized in the fall of this year by boys of the Hi-Y. Ten charter members were chosen. These girls chose approximately fifteen new members. The organization met every Monday at 7 o'clock in the agriculture building on the Junior High campus.

Faye Morehead will succeed Helen Marie Alexander as president for next year. Shirley Sene was elected vice-president, succeeding Juanita Osborn. Elizabeth Roberts has served as secretary and Kathryn Homer as treasurer this year. Other members of the club are Janice Wheatley, Joella Shelton, Joyce Wanner, Nita Rose McCarty, Wanda Jay, Dorace Jean Caldwell, Mary Gurley, Louise Baxter, Julia Marie Bell, Margaret Burton and Betty Ann Culberson.

THEY SERVE AT HOME, ABROAD 13 Teachers Leave Pampa High To Join Service of Country

From the halls of Pampa High school have passed 13 teachers this year to join in a war industry, whether it be in the armed service or defense work. Practically every department has been touched by the war's calling the teachers to the colors.

Siler Leaves First

Probably the first to leave was Henry Siler, former language instructor. Having joined the faculty in the fall of 1939, he spent three years here teaching Spanish, Latin and French to Pampa High school students. He has recently been dismissed from a base hospital having recovered from a Jap shrapnel wound in the leg.

Soon after, Mac Best, former assistant coach, left the Harvesters to Buck Prejean and a new coach, George Scott, who later left the team, too. Mr. Best became a physical education director in the army.

Becoming an employee of Pantex Ordnance Plant, Jack Davis business manager of the Harvesters and physical education teacher, left to begin his new job in a different kind of war work from teaching school. Not long after Mr. Davis left, Oscar Hinger, another physical education instructor, also accepted a position at Pantex.

Phillip Gruber, shop and mechanical drawing instructor, left after the first six weeks to join the engineers at the local flying school. Mr. Gruber had taught here for several years. Later W. H. Gallo-way, head of the Diversified Occupation class, became a shop foreman at the flying school that was being built near Pampa. Mr. Gallo-way was a stand-by around school.

Three Join WAVES

Early in February the picture of a Pampa High school teacher appeared on the front page of the Amarillo Daily News. This teacher was Miss Ulane Zeeck, who had won the honor of being the first Panhandle member of the Blue Bonnet WAVES. Miss Zeeck taught history here before becoming a member of this branch of the women's auxiliary forces. Joining her soon were Miss Margaret Tomberlin and Miss Pearl Garen, teachers of English and history, respectively. Miss Tomberlin, also teacher of journalism, joined the faculty the year the new school building was opened, in 1941-42. Miss Tomberlin sponsored the Little Harvester and Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic society. Miss Garen was the head sponsor of the senior class. In addition to teaching history, Miss Garen also had a class in economics.

Miss Dorothy Summers, speech teacher, was the first Pampa High school ma'am to leave her job to become engaged—in war work. She had a drama and a speech class as her main classes. She is now employed at the Amarillo Army Flying school. All four of these teachers—Misses Zeeck, Tomberlin, Garen and Summers—were presented corsages by their students at the last assembly they attended. Soon after hearing of the casualty of losing four teachers at once, Miss Helen Martin, public school music director for Pampa, disclosed to the students that she was soon leaving for training in the WAACs at Ft. Oglethorpe, Georgia. Miss Martin had taught music in Pampa schools for several years. She is now in Ft. Devens, Massachusetts.

The boys in the machine shop suffered a loss when Fred Brownlee, shop instructor, left here for a position as shop foreman at the Pampa Flying school. Mr. Brownlee had taught here for one year and was in the middle of his second. Bill Anderson, former Harvester business manager, took his place in the shop.

The desire for service to the country left no department untouched, not even the administrative offices.

Tom Herod, assistant principal principal who was affectionately known as "Uncle Tom," left the first of April for a place in Uncle Sam's navy as a Lieutenant, Junior Grade. Mr. Herod first began his school teaching in Pampa as a history teacher in Junior High school. Then he was promoted to assistant principal in high school. In his stead, Aubrey Steele, history teacher, is checking attendance and acting as assistant principal.

Osborne Heads Faculty

Although these are serving their country on the fighting and production fronts admirably, the teachers remaining are doing their job on the home front. The faculty now consists of Dr. Doyle F. Osborne, principal; Mrs. Lou Roberts, secretary and registrar; and Aubrey Steele, assistant principal; Misses Margaret Jones, Clarine Branom, Anne Louise Jones, Louise Warren, and Mrs. Winston Savage, English teachers; B. G. Gordon, Dr. Loraine Bruce, Miss Mary Herriage, and Mrs. E. L. Norman, math teachers; Aubrey Jones, and Mesdames G. H. Alexander and J. B. Austin, science teachers; Aubrey Steele, Miss Jessie Bumpass, and Mrs. F. E. Leech, history teachers; Mrs. J. R. Holloway and Miss Mary Jo Matthis, commercial teachers; Mesdames Robert Sanford and Leslie Hart, home economics; Miss Virginia Vaughn, foreign language; Hood Wills, agriculture; Bill Anderson, machine shop; M. L. Helmick, wood shop; Miss Louise Smelser, girls' physical education; Miss Marian Riechling, choir; Rev. R. G. West, Bible, drama and speech; Ray Robbins, band; J. C. Prejean, boys' coach and Harvester coach.

15 Buses Transport 920 Students Daily

In rain or shine, mud or dust storms, sleet or snow, the 15 buses that transport 920 students to and from school each day make their 625 mile-a-day run. Joe Shelton, bus superintendent, released the above figures Monday.

Astounding as it may seem the buses have used approximately 16,000 gallons of gasoline on their 108,550 miles of driving, transporting nearly 200,000 students during the past year. This year the number of gallons used has been less than usual because no out-of-town trips have been made. The 15 drivers have driven the familiar orange and black buses to and from school each day classes have been held.

No damaging collisions or wrecks have taken place this year. Only such things as flats, blow-outs and getting stuck have occurred.

All in all, the students of the Pampa public school system have been efficiently transported to and from school without casualty by Mr. Shelton and his bonded bus drivers.

Berlin, Burton Senior Favorites

Flint Berlin, Margaret Ellen Burton, Billy Gise, Helen Marie Alexander, Norma Jean Beagle and Johnny Campbell were elected class favorites of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes respectively.

Flint is now a member of Uncle Sam's navy, stationed in California. He was the school's funny man while he was in attendance. Outstanding in athletics, he was co-captain of the 1942 Harvester team.

He was also a member of the Student Council and the Harvester Band.

Margaret Ellen is a member of the band, the A Cappella choir, and vice-president of the National Honor Society. She was chosen this year's best citizen by the Student Council. Her dark hair and fair skin make her a distinguished looking person on the campus.

Helen Marie is co-editor of the Little Harvester, past president of the Tri-Hi-Y, Councillor-at-Large of next year's Student Council, president of her home room, and a member of the National Honor Society. She has taken an active part in the Student Council, being chairman of the defense committee.

Billy Gise is a former manager of the Harvester football team. He has been active in sports in both senior and junior high.

Norma Jean Beagle is past president of the Junior High Band. A leader of her class, she has been president of her home room this year. She is also a member of the Senior High band for which she plays the saxophone.

The sophomores chose their class president Johnny Campbell, as their favorite boy. Johnny is also a member of the football team and the basketball team. He has been outstanding in athletics this year.

HAYSEED'S BIG MOMENT! SAD CASE—

By HAYSEED

Well, at last, the big moment has come. For 25 long, gre-us-ome years I have worked for this big moment. Twenty-five long years of Readin' 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic, working like a dog just so I can get a piece of paper that will signify that I'm good!

Even after all these years I sorta hate to leave this good old little red school house. I'm goin' to feel awful silly if I cry just 'cause I'm leavin', but I guess that I won't be the only one.

Them ole long gray caps and night-gowns certainly do remind me of a shroud. Aw, you know. One of them things you put on a dead varmint. Well, I guess that is sorta what they is. It will be sorta like dyin' to leave here.

Oh well! Such is the way of life, but what I'd like to know is why life is that way. I can just see myself a-inarchin' up that long aisle with everybody staring at me and my big feet padding along. It ain't know use saying that I won't be scared cause I will be.

I just pity everybody who has ever grejuated or ever will 'cause in spite of the fact that that is what you been workin' for, it sure makes you want to cry to get it.

Faye Morehead Is Coaches' Club Head

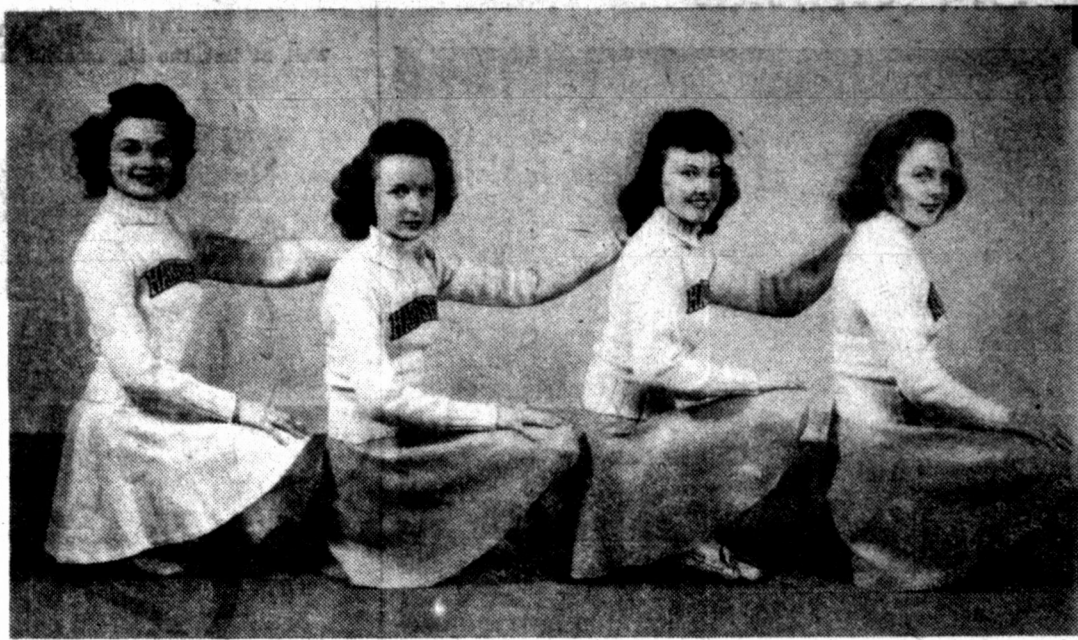

Have you been wondering who is what is responsible for the girls' intramural sports? The intramural contests are supervised by the coaches' club. The officers of this organization are Faye Morehead, president, and Beth Bailey, secretary.

Intramural sports have the advantage over all other sports or contests in school for they give all high school students a chance to participate in school sports. Their aim is "to give every girl, regardless of ability, the opportunity to participate in some type of competitive sport."

The activities of the Coaches Club are to organize all intramural tournaments for girls and to act as referees, score keepers, timekeepers and other officials for intramural games. To keep a record book of all games played, results and statistics referring to intramurals is also done by the club.

The club consists of 20 members. One representative from each home room is required. The members are: Tommy Woodard, Pauline Forman, Shirley Sone, Dorothy Bradford, Kathryn Mosley, Marion Whitten, Faye Morehead, Evelyn Kidwell, Robbie Lee Russell, Beth Bailey, Polly Stevens, Helen Crowley, Margaret Rogers, Julia Marie Bell, Esther Mullinax, Billy Helms, Elaine Spencer, Patsy Walker, Louise Almond and Imogene Nabors. The club members have white jackets which were ordered at the first of the year. Miss Mary Smelser is faculty sponsor.

CHEER LEADERS FOR HARVESTERS

Heading the quartette of lively cheer leaders this year was Mary Jane Davis, Senior. Laneta Beezley and Patricia (Pat) Lively were the junior cheer leaders, and Joella Shelton was the sophomore leader. With many new pep songs and styles of presenting them before the student body, they kept the students cheering throughout each football game.

Black-haired Mary Jane Davis has always had that vivid personality that goes with the popularity she has among the students. Mary Jane has been in many of the plays in high school, as well as in Junior High, and is very talented in dramatics. She was the student director of the junior play, "I'm in the Army Now," and she won second place in the Student Council's Amateur hour with her dramatic reading, "Blood, Tears, and Sweat." Mary Jane is president of her home room and is a member of the Student Council.

Olive complexioned Lanetta Beezley has been pep leader for two years. She is the athletic type, and to lead yells fits her very well for she is full of "vim, vigor, and vitality."

Red-haired Pat Lively follows right in the footsteps of her sister, Jean, who was also one of the cheer leaders when she was in high school. Pat was vice-president of her room last year. She is also a member of the A Cappella choir.

Joella Shelton, the only sophomore cheer leader, was pep leader in Junior High. Joella is a member of the social committee of the Student Council.

Lean Year Suffered By Track, Field Team

Track and field sports suffered a lean year in Pampa High school this year because of transportation difficulties and bad weather. The team worked out for about three weeks, but entered no tournaments or meets. Instead, the 15 boys used calisthenics and practice in their favorite events for fun or as warm-up for spring training in football.

Boys in track suits this year were Bill Gise, Dick Manry, Gene Robbins, Eugene Folsom, Keith Robinson, Warren Fatheree, Joe Cox, John Paul McKinley, Wayne Broyles, Charlie Boyles, Billy Bird, Earl O'Brian, Frank Friauf, Reginald Bridges, and Larry Fuller.

Harvesters Basketball Teamsters Are Looking Forward To Successful Season For Coming Year

Although not placing in district competition, and winning only two out of a ten-game schedule, the 1943 Harvester basketball squad has a most successful season to look forward to next year. Losing only one squad member from the team, the cagers ought to really reach pay dirt next year if basketball continues in school.

Prejean Coach

Coached by J. C. Prejean, who did a remarkable job considering his real game is football, the team entered two tournaments, the Shamrock and the Junior High school. They won one game in each, winning from Canadian and losing to Shamrock in the Shamrock invitation, and defeating the Junior High Reapers before dropping a game to Mack and Paul in the second tournament.

First team to invade Pampa was Mebeetle, who stung the Harvesters 34 to 28. Pampa won from the Junior High Reapers 18 to 7, and lost to Mack and Paul Barbers 34 to 18. They won from Canadian 24-22 and lost to Shamrock 18 to 27 in the Shamrock tournament.

Other losses were as follows: Canadian 21 to 19, Borger 18 to 29, and 34 to 30, and to Amarillo 46 to 22 and 24 to 17.

Boys on the first string squad were Reginald Bridges, Doyle Lane, Wayne Broyles, Dick Manry, Billy Gise, Kenneth Lard, Frank Friauf and Gene Robbins.

Though the Harvesters did not have such a successful season, the sophomore team finished an undefeated season by downing the Reapers of Pampa Junior High school 30 to 9.

The sophs have met and defeated the Reapers four times—19 to 5, 18 to 7, 25 to 10, and 30 to 9. In the first game of the season they dealt a wallopp to the Canadian squad 22 to 10. They defeated Borger twice, 21 to 15 and 26 to 15, and Amarillo 14 to 12 and 26 to 21.

Congratulations Graduates

You have completed your high school training with flying colors and are now ready to tackle the World. Mary Gurley Is Harvester Queen Brown-eyed Mary Gurley, senior, was crowned Harvester Football Queen this year between the halves of the Pampa-Plainview game. Mary was crowned by Bobby Jo Dunham. Her attendant was Charlotte Cline. She was escorted the length of the field by Charles Boyles.

Mary Gurley

Mary is 17 years old and is vice-president of the National Honor Society. She loves to dance preferring jitterbug. Always musically inclined, she played the belle lyre in the band and has sung second soprano in the A Cappella choir for two years.

Mary has lived in Pampa for nine years, having lived in New Mexico the rest of the time.

Freshmen Will Move Out To High School

Approximately 320 more students will be in Pampa high school next year due to the fact that the ninth grade will be moved to high school.

Crowded conditions in Pampa Junior high make it necessary to move the ninth grade to the high school building since there is plenty of available space in the high school. It is thought that the change will help relieve the crowded condition in junior high and still leave high school uncrowded.

Some 220 students will come to high school in the freshman class which will graduate from the ninth grade in junior high. While the ninth grade is in high school, students will graduate from the eighth grade.

Honor students of this year's freshman class have not yet been chosen.

1942 Harvesters Chalk Up Six Victories Out Of Ten In Season

Not blaming any of their losses on the old standby slogan, "It's the war," the 1942 Harvesters were able to mark six of their ten games down in victories, three of them as losses and the other as a scoreless tie with El Paso High, the second in three years with that team.

Opposition Nets 86 Points

Only 86 points were scored by opposing teams in the entire season while Coaches Prejean and Scott's boys were counting 200. Amarillo's Sandies accounted for 39 of the foe's markers, Lubbock 14, Sunset (Dallas) and Bowie (El Paso) 7 each, and Borger and Plainview 6 each.

Probably the best played game of the year on either the winning or losing side was the game with Sunset which the Bisons won 7-2. Sunset beat Amarillo in the state semifinals by a score of 13-0.

The Harvesters got off to a fast start in outclassing the Burkburnett Bulldogs 52-0 here September 18. All Harvesters in uniform saw action in the bout and Bob Dunham was chosen game captain. Play was cut short in the fourth quarter when rain drove the crowd from the stands and soaked the players and officials.

Sunset Best Team

The next contest was with the Sunset Bisons, one of the best teams to come out on the long end of a A last quarter pass tossed by Burch, flashy Sunset back and taken by Welch, fullback, enabled the Bisons to come out on the long end of a 7-6 score. Pampa scored when Bill Arthur, at tailback, made a wide end run to break a tie that had lasted for two quarters.

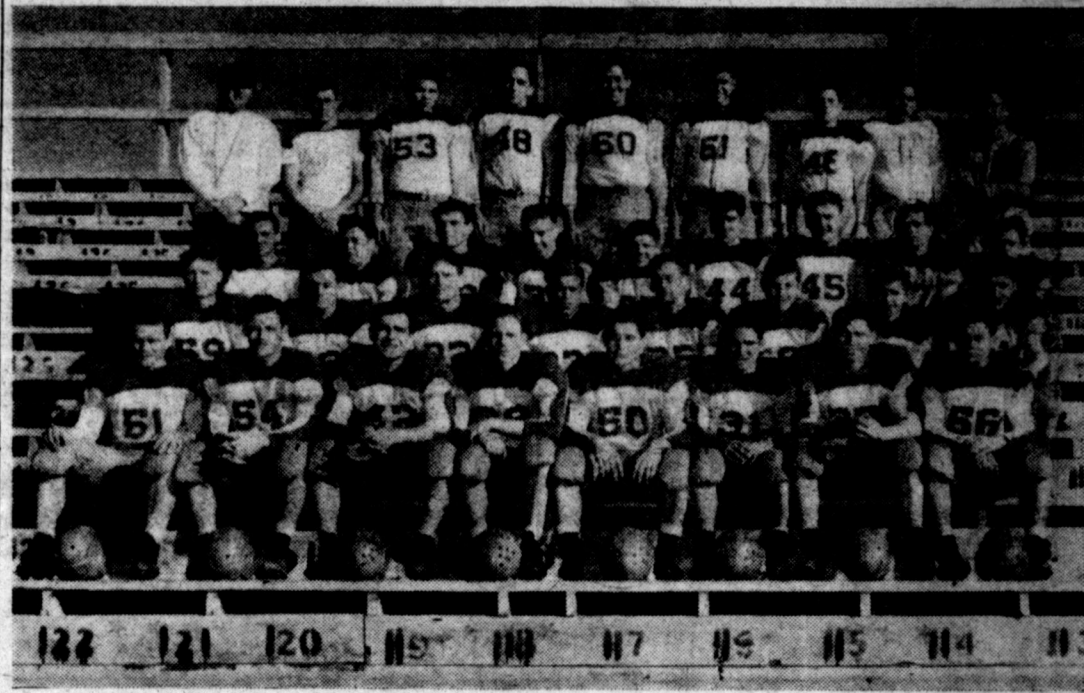

Playing in a heavy rain for the second time this season, the Harvesters out-muddled the air-minded Childress Bobcats 20 to 0 in a half-game on September 27. Big Charlie Boyles accounted for all three of the Harvester touchdowns.

The next victim of the Green and Gold was Bowie of El Paso. The Harvesters combined a fine running and passing attack to defeat them. Bill Arthur and Bob Dunham combined to score three times for Pampa.

A third mud battle for the Harvesters against the El Paso Tigers netted a 0 to 0 tie. Both teams threatened to score but every attack literally bogged down. The only brilliant run of the game was made by Enloe, Pampa back, who found a clear field and ran 45 yards to the El Paso 28.

In the first conference game of the year, the Harvesters met and defeated Brownfield 27 to 9. Until this defeat, Brownfield had been undefeated.

Power and drive made the difference in the second conference game in which Lubbock Westerners defeated the Harvesters 14 to 13. Pampa used a passing attack while the Westerners used ground plays to make their gains.

The Plainview Bulldogs were the Green and Gold's next conference foe, they fell before the onslaught of the Harvesters 20 to 6.

A 34 to 6 victory over the Borger Bulldogs was next. Bobby Joe Dunham accounted for 22 of Pampa's points. Briggs of Borger threatened many times with his accurate passes but the Harvesters stayed on the ground to rip off long gains.

In the last game of the season the Harvesters met their old foe, the Golden Sandstorm of Amarillo and were defeated 7 to 39.

Kerbow Makes District

The Harvesters had one player, Jerry Kerbow, on the mythical all-district team and Charlie Boyles was chosen by the Sunset Bisons on their all-opponent team.

Twenty Get Sweaters

Twenty of the original squad of 34 boys received jackets at a special assembly on Wednesday, April 28. The boys who lettered included Kenneth Lard, end; Frank Shotwell, end; Gene Robbins, end; Glenn Stafford, back; Merle McCracken, back; Marvel Rake, tackle; Bob Glasby, tackle; Billy Bird, end; Jimmy Berry, back; Jerry Kerbow, guard; Bobby Curtiss, guard; John Paul McKinley, guard; Louis Allen, guard; Reginald Bridges, center; Charles Boyles, back; Dick Manry, back; Johnny Campbell, back; and Eugene Folsom, end. The boys in the armed forces who received their jackets were: Flint Berlin, Bobby Edson, and Richard Casey, all in the Navy, and Richard Dodson, who is in the army. Also receiving jackets were Bill Gise and Neely Joe Ellis, managers of the team. The boys were presented the jackets in a special assembly by J. C. Prejean, coach.

The Harvesters for the 1943 season are now going through spring training. Many of the boys in spring training are boys from Junior high.

Following the scrap drive students came across generously by buying over $7,500 worth of bonds and stamps. This was raised in part by a Victory Concert which the band gave in the Junior High auditorium, October 12. The admission was the purchase of a war bond or stamp. The rest of the amount was taken in when a bond rally was held in the High School auditorium. A contest was held between the rooms and Room 301 won. As an award the room was given a half-holiday for their purchase of the largest amount of bonds and stamps on a percentage basis.

Margaret Burton, Leonard Brummett Are Best Citizens

The most secret election of the year was unveiled by Council president, John Tom McCoy, in the last assembly of the year, when he announced that the Student Council had elected Margaret Burton and Leonard Brummett for the best girl and boy citizens of the year. At this time both senior students were presented with gold loving cups.

Leonard James Brummett is sixteen years old. He is one of the youngest boys of the senior class, if not the youngest. He was born in Childress, Texas. Leonard is one of the newer members of the National Honor Society. This is not strange when we consider that he has several hundreds on his report card, in speech and Bible. Leonard is a tall blond and seems to be very quiet. He is the type that carries out any task that might be placed before him. Young Leonard takes Bible and plans to be a missionary. After graduation he plans to attend Phillips University. Speech is an added elective to his activities; he believes that this will further his ambition. He is majoring in history and science. Leonard spends his hobbies with art and nature, although he isn't the agricultural type.

Dark-haired Margaret Ellen Burton was recently voted the most popular girl in the senior class. She is a member of the National Honor Society, secretary of Band in 1940-1941, and secretary of the recently organized Latin club. Margaret was born in Stillwater, Okla., but has attended only Pampa schools. She is majoring in history and her hobby is collecting symphonies. After graduation Margaret plans to attend Texas Tech.

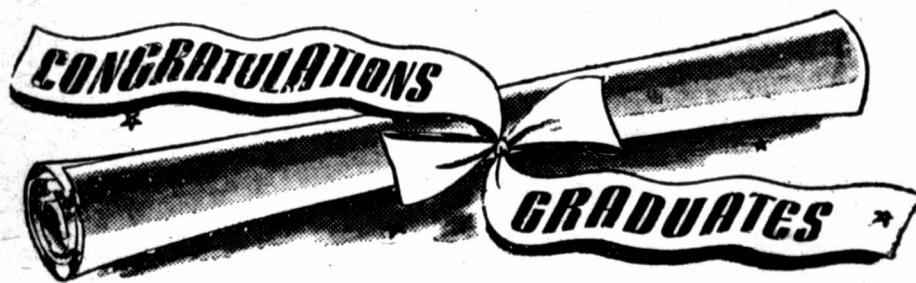

Eight Boys Named Junior Rotarians

Each year the Rotary club asks the Student Council to elect a Junior Rotarian every month to attend their meetings and luncheons.

This year the Council elected eight. They were Flint Berlin for October, Leslie Burge for November, Billy Waters for December, Mack McCorkle for January, Delbert Hughes for February, Kenneth Lard for March, Gene Lunsford for April and Harold Cobb for May.

To be elected Junior Rotarian is one of the coveted honors of the year.

To be eligible the boy must be a graduating senior and worthy of such acclaim in scholarship, character, leadership and service.
