Boy Scouts Leave For Yellowstone Park

Twenty-eight Boy Scouts and H. I. Kiefer, Morning Avalanche staff writer, left Monday morning for Yellowstone National park. They will travel along a route almost 4,000 miles long and be gone until July 17.

Names of the party, seen standing beside a truck which with two automobiles, a bus and trailer will make up traveling equipment, are:

Front row: Earl McClure, Elbert Boullioun, Travis Canon, Bruce Kelly, Russell Winn, J. L. Sanders, Ray Taylor of Spur, Gene Gray, Tom Pirtle, jr., Walter Clark and Kiefer.

Not in the picture is Earl Pollard, Lubbock, who is to join the party in Pueblo, Colo.

Safety Routes Visualized By State Leader

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, June 27.—Safety highways were visualized today by Gibb Gilchrist, dean of engineering at the Texas Agricultural & Mechanical college, as he addressed the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

Future highways for automobiles of high speed are being built now in the minds of engineers, who have become safety conscious since the death rate in highway accidents begin to mount, Gilchrist said.

Three Big Factors

Highway safety, he said, is concerned with three factors: the driver, the manufacturer of automobiles and the highway.

"The accident rate on the highways can be reduced and the road will play an important part in the reduction. Just how much is a matter of conjecture. The manufacturer talks of divided lane highways and dodges the issue when he is asked to fix motor vehicle limits. The driver who causes the accident does not know or care. But there is at this time a great interest on the part of the public. The road builder admits much obsolescence, but still feels that much can be done about law enforcement and the machine.

Have Uniform Policy

"It is considered practically certain that we will have a uniform policy on highway classification in the future. In geometric design there will likely be three types of services: traffic density, character of traffic, and the assumed design speed."

Gilchrist said the adoption of a policy of highway classification would be of importance to the designing engineer, help to administrators in visualizing the improve-

Wife Of Floyd County Tax Assessor Dies

(Special To The Avalanche)

FLOYDADA, June 27. — Mrs. Frank L. Moore, about 38, wife of Floyd county's assessor-collector, died here at 7:30 o'clock tonight after an illness of two years.

Moore is a brother of Louis F. Moore of Lubbock and until recently chief deputy county clerk.

Late tonight funeral arrangements had not been completed, but burial will be here probably Tuesday or Wednesday.

She had been a resident of Floydada all her life.

She is survived by her husband; her mother, Mrs. C. Snodgrass of Floydada; a daughter, Norma Jean, 8; a son, Jo Dick, 13; five brothers, Glad, Roy, Gerald, and Guyle Snodgrass, all of Floydada, and Clarence Snodgrass of Houston; and a sister, Mrs. Ben Hill of Dimmitt.

Heavy Economy Axe Expected

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 27.—Prediction the next legislature would swing a heavy economy axe was made here today by Senator John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the powerful senate finance committee.

Reddit also is chairman of a smaller committee of the senate which has been studying financial requirements of state government departments and will draft major appropriation bills for sub-mission to the legislature in general session next January.

Leaders To Meet

The committee, other members of which are Senators A. M. Aiken, jr., of Paris, Harold Beck of Texarkana, Vernon Lemens of Waxahachie and Morris Roberts of Pettus, probably will meet in about two weeks to exchange ideas and plan further procedure.

Reditt expressed the opinion the new legislature was going to be in about the same mood for economy slashed government expenditures, including salaries.

"I have never seen a campaign in which as many candidates were demanding economy," he said. "It is an indication of the way the wind is blowing.

"I don't look for any cuts in appropriations for eleemosynary institutions or rural school aid. Eleemosynary needs are increasing all the time, and sentiment will be

Low Temperatures Are Seen Over The Lubbock Area

"Unusually cool" weather on the South Plains Monday and the preceding day has made for chilliness with the temperatures ranging from a minimum of 62.7 degrees to a maximum of 77.5 degrees, according to the Lubbock Municipal airport.

At 6:30 o'clock Monday afternoon the mercury had risen to only 73 degrees.

Movement of wheat was delayed by dampness, said dispatchers.

A trace of moisture fell here in the late afternoon and was measured at .01 of an inch at the airport. Several other South Plains towns reported conditions similar to those in Lubbock.

AUTHORITY GRANTED

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27. (AP)—T. E. Braniff, president of Braniff Airways, said tonight the first step in the proposed operation between Houston, Tex., and Memphis, Tenn., via Shreveport, La., had been completed with a notice from the bureau of air commerce granting the company authority to make preparatory trial flights over the proposed route.

Bertrand Snell Will Retire As GOP's Leader

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 27 — Rep. Bertrand H. Snell, Republican leader of the house and hard-hitting critic of the Roosevelt administration, announced his retirement from congress today.

He said his purpose in leaving, after 24 years in the national legislature, was to devote his time to his varied business interests in upper New York state.

Martin Mentioned

The question who his successor would be immediately became a subject of speculation. The first name generally mentioned was that of the comparatively youthful Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, assistant Republican leader. Other possibilities discussed were Rep. Mapes of Michigan, dean of the Republican membership; Rep. Fish, of New York, who has been demanding a liberalization of the Republican party, and Rep. Taber of New York, whose opposition to the Roosevelt administration has been as unremitting as that of Snell.

Snell's service in congress goes back to the middle of the first Woodrow Wilson administration. He was elected in 1915 to fill a vacancy, and has served continuously since that time. Fifteen years after his first appearance in Washington, he was one of the rulers of the house.

When Nicholas Longworth was speaker and Rep. Tilson of Connecticut was Republican leader, Snell filled the important post of chairman of the rules committee, through which must be sifted virtually every bit of legislation to reach the floor of the house. The "triumvirate" became famous.

When Longworth died in 1931, Snell broke with Tilson and, after an intra-party battle still remembered for its bitterness, won the party leadership.

New Threat Of War Is Growing Over Dismal Chaco Sector

BUENOS AIRES, June 27. (AP)—A new threat of war between Bolivia and Paraguay over the dismal Chaco wildness grew tonight, as representatives of six neutral countries struggled to prevent a breakdown in territorial negotiations.

The neutrals are trying to fix a definite boundary to end a century old dispute over the Chaco area.

Huge Program Honors Texas Heroes

Big Memorials To Be Unveiled In Near Future

Program Costing $5,000,000 Well Under Way; Projects Said Nearing Completion

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 27. — It has been two years since Texas officially celebrated the 100th anniversary of of its birth but a $5,000,000 program memorializing its heroes, an important part of the centennial observance, is still in full swing.

In fact, the current year with expenditures approximating $1,000,000 should be one of the most important in the plan because of scheduled completion of major memorial monuments to Texas men and women.

Part Of Program

These are part of the program financed by a $3,000,000 state appropriation and $2,000,000 from various federal agencies and will supplement many other items including restoration of the Alamo in San Antonio, construction of museums and replicas of old forts, erection of numerous historical markers and minor monuments and even transfer of remains of early day heroes to the state cemetery in Austin.

John V. Singleton, chief of the centennial division of the board of control, believes the monuments mark one of the most important phases of the memorial program.

They include the statue of the pioneer woman to be erected at Denton. Incidentally, she'll wear the plain garments of the pioneer period. A sugestion that the statue be nude once stirred a heated statewide controversy.

Young Robber Is Captured

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, June 27. — An alert hotel employe today proved the undoing of a youthful robber who fled with about $911 after threatening to blow up the Merchants and Employes Industrial bank with nitroglycerin.

The robber, about 18, was captured a few blocks from the downtown bank after a taxicab in which he sought to escape was forced to the curb.

Threat Is Made

Mrs. Mary Keister, 28, cashier of the bank, said the man walked up to her window shortly after the bank opened and pushed a blank check through the barred cage. On the back of it was written:

"I have a bottle of nitroglycerin in my hand and I'll blow this place to hell if you don't give me the money."

Mrs. Keister said the man displayed a small bottle filled with a transparent fluid. She said he fled after she handed him a stack of currency.

The quick thinking of George Grant, employe of the Rice hotel, brought about the man's arrest. Grant, in the lobby of the bank at the time of the hold-up, saw the

Six Vets Of Confederacy Leave City For Reunion Planned At Gettysburg

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche Staff Writer

SIX veterans of the Confederacy, five of whom knew what it was to march night and day in flanking maneuvers and who knew death at their elbows, left Lubbock aboard train early Monday afternoon for what possibly may be their last reunion—and what will be the first peacetime gathering of the Blue and the Gray.

Comrades under the same flag in the long-distant past weakly clasped hands and tried through age-dimmed eyes to discern physical features of the others.

All Appear Happy

Some ewer bent, some palsied. Some limped because of old wounds.

But all smiled in anticipation of the honors to be showered on them by the united government Wednesday through July 6. They will be feted and conducted over the Gettysburg battlefield, on the 75th anniversary of that memorable event.

Those who left Lubbock were: George M. D. Garner, 97, of Snyder; Miles J. Estes, 92, of Bledsoe; "Judge" W. D. Crump, 94, of Shallowater; James T. Flowers, 90, of Anton; Charles H. Foote, 89, of Spur; Aaron L. Turner, about 95, of Brownfield.

Those In Attendance

Attending them, with expenses paid as will be the veterans, were: Leon Guinn of Snyder, correspondent of the Scurry County Times; Rankin Ester of Medford, Ore.; Bob Crump of Shallowater; W. H. Tennison of Anton, H. C. Foote of Spur.

The veterans left with a different attitude to that ordinarily believed by the public to mark evaluation of the Gray and the Blue.

"The Union soldiers fought a different kind of fight—but we were all Ameircans," said Estes. "They advanced in line of battle and we just advanced, limited in men as we were, but we were brothers under the skin. The war did much to cure existing evils. It was the medicine the country took to purge itself. It freed slaves, an act Gen. Robert E. Lee and many other Southerners had begun without the demands of war. The Spanish-American war helped cement lingering strain of the war between the states, and the World war completed the welding."

Each of the veterans went through singular experiences. Estes, for instance, stood beside a brother when that soldier was killed at Cold Harbor, Va. When the brother fell Estes

One Killed In Savage Battle

(By The Associated Press)

JOLIET, Ill., June 27.—A mad dash down John Dillinger's old trail culminated today in the slaying of one desperado and the wounding and capture of his brother during a savage gun battle.

The fugitives—accused of shooting an Indiana state trooper, firing upon officers in three clashes, kidnaping four persons and stealing two cars in the course of a wild, 12-hour flight across five Indiana and Illinois counties—were cornered on the farm of Byron Warner near Deselm, Ill., as the vanguard of a force of 100 patrolmen from both states closed in with a raking barrage of pistol, machine gun and rifle fire.

Survivor Identified

Sheriff John Stack of Kankakee, Ill., said the survivor identified himself as Orelle J. Easton, 25, and his dead brother as Clarence Easton, 27, of Valley City, N. D.

The sheriff said Orelle probably would be returned to Indiana for prosecution on charges stemming from the shooting of the state trooper, Ray Dixon, who died this afternoon.

Orelle blamed his brother for shooting Dixon near Laporte, Ind., last night.

The Eastons then abducted Deputy Sheriff's Charles Hahn and Joe Kowalczyk of Laporte, ejected them from the deputies car near Cook, Ind., and sped west along the route taken by Dillinger after his escape

Plane And Munitions Factory In Texas Being Considered

SAN ANTONIO, June 27. (AP)—Possible location of an airplane and munitions factory in San Antonio or in some nearby southwest city was revealed here today by Congressman Joe Starnes of Alabama.

Starnes, member of the military subcommittee of the house appropriations committee, on a six weeks tour of army centers, said military experts and congressmen recognized the fact most of the nation's munitions and airplane factories are on the east or west coast and prophesied an aggressor "might cut the nation's sources of supply in two."

Wage-Hour Bill Given Approval By President

Act Will Go Into Operation Oct. 24; Salary Boosts To Be Given To Thousands

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 27—President Roosevelt has signed the wage-hour bill, thereby giving the "go-ahead" signal for a vast experiment in putting a "floor" under pay rates and a "ceiling" over hours.

The act will go into operation October 24, when, officials said, some 200,000 persons receiving less than 25 cents an hour are to have their pay increased to 25 cents. Whether any court fight over the act will delay its operation has yet to be determined.

To Name Administrator

The act provides for appointment of a wage-hour administrator, and well-informed officials said they expected the president to fill this post before he starts on his trip to the west July 7.

The act applies to industries in interstate commerce, with some exceptions. They will be required to pay a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour during the first year after October 24.

During the second year and five subsequent years the wage rate minimum will be 30 cents, and at the end of seven years after the act goes into effect, the flat minimum will be 40.

Hours Are Regulated

To place a ceiling over hours the measure provides a maximum work week of 44 hours the first year, 42 hours the second year, and 40 hours thereafter.

The administrator is empowered to set up committees to investigate wage conditions in various industries and to recommend payment of the highest minimum rates as soon

Relief Leader Makes Appeal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—A WPA leader's appeal to organized relief recipients to "get out and work" to keep "liberals" in control of the government stirred critical interest on Capitol Hill tonight.

Senator King (D-Utah) said the speech, which was made by Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, might justify an investigation of WPA by a senatorial committee. There have been frequent charges, in congress and elsewhere, of "politics in relief."

Should Keep Friends

Williams told a delegation of the Workers Alliance, a relief labor organization, that "friends" of the jobless should be maintained in power. The Roosevelt administration, he added, had shown "what the government should do" for the unemployed.

Williams asserted that people who stood for government support of such activities as federal arts projects were those "who are going to win the elections."

He added he believes the government, if liberals remained in power, would continue to make support of such projects "its business."

Williams gave his blessing to the Workers Alliance, saying he hoped it would continue to grow and eventually encompass the unem-

Japan's War On China Shows Signs Of Bogging Down

SHANGHAI, June 27. (AP)— Japan's war on China showed signs tonight of bogging down on all fronts.

The most active front was the Yangtze river valley, about 200 miles from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's provisional capital.

The contest on this front, with Chinese troops, shore batteries and planes stubbornly opposing the upriver drive toward Hankow, was developing into a deadly game of give and take, with the Chinese reporting recapture of strong positions 20 miles below the great boom at Matowchen.

Two More British Ships Are Destroyed By Rebel Planes

VALENCIA, June 27. (AP)— Insurgent airplanes today destroyed two more British ships off the Spanish coast, killing four crewmen and wounding several civilians.

Hits were scored on the freighter Arlon in this port and the freighter Farnham at Alicante. Both vessels carried food cargoes, and began to settle after the bombs started fires.

The Arlon finally was reached tonight at Nazaret, about a mile from Valencia.

The raids made a total of 39 British-registered ships attacked since the war began on July 18, 1936, and a total of 16 this month.

Youth's Well-Aimed Pistol Shots Touched Off World War Just 24 Years Ago Today

(By The Associated Press)

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia, June 27—Someone placed a handful of carnations today on the obscure grave of Gavrilo Prinzip, the youth whose well-aimed pistol shots 24 years ago touched off the World war.

Otherwise, this semi-oriental city drowsed in the heat of a Bosnian summer and took little note that Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary was assassinated here by Prinzip on June 28, 1914.

The authorities didn't know about the carnations and didn't care. Prinzip was largely a forgotten man.

Tourists manifested mild interest in the little bridge over the Miljazka river the heart of the city, near which Franz Ferdinand and his wife, the Princess Sophie, were slain by Prinzip's shots.

A guide today explained that the spot was well-chosen, that young Prinzip reckoned with the fact the crown prince's carriage would have to slow down before making a sharp

WEEPING AT WEDDINGS

JOHN GOULD, who writes a column, "Roughly Speaking," for the Wichita Daily Times, finds himself short on column ideas as does anyone who tries to type one daily. That is the main reason we attribute the space given to a treatise on the question why women cry at weddings in the Sunday paper. Mr. Gould, with his assistants, has done much research on this deep subject and has decided the general reason is women suddenly realize the disillusionment which they have experienced and which, they doubt not, awaits the bride.

HERE ARE QUOTES

QUOTING Mr. Gould: "A wedding with a handsome groom is always a weepy one. The explanation goes back to this question of disillusionment. Each married woman present thinks of her own wedding and of how handsome the groom was, or at any rate how handsome he seemed to be; and then she thinks of how harshly the years have dealt with her husband's looks and physique. Then come the tears copious and free."

Skipping several paragraphs, we come to the sentences: "Disillusionment partakes of two factors. One is the change that is so inexorably wrought by the years. The other is the discovery of defects that had been overlooked in the earlier, more romantic days. Such things as hair and teeth and surplus chins figure in her state of mind. Legs collarbones and Adam's apples may contribute to it."

Honestly we didn't know women cry at weddings. We're always too busy noticing the altar decorations and the bride's dress to see that we described them correctly or too nervous watching the little ring bearer to pay attention to any guests that might be "weeping copiously." The only tears we ever shed were at a wedding several years back when the bridegroom, who had borrowed a five spot from us the day before, appeared to have a puzzled look on his face when he turned to leave the church after the service. We cried because we didn't see how that couple could keep from starving. However, they got along all right.

THEY LIKE 'EM UGLY

WE don't know of any women who have wept at weddings because their husbands didn't measure up to the handsomeness of the young man at the altar. Most of the women realize the same years that the teeth and hair from their husbands and add bay windows flat feet and double chins aren't lending them (the women) shiny hair, fair complexions and little figures. The ugliest men we know have wives who simply adore them.

We suggest a reason for the tears—if such there be—could be caused by the sweet and holy music, the solemn—faced participants and the beautiful and lighted faces of the bridal couple. In a mundane world where most of the time homemakers are worried over trifles such as buying groceries, keeping help and purchasing bargains there is something ethereal about a wedding, especially a church ceremony and if they give vent to their emotions let 'em. What do you say?

EXCUSE US, PLEASE

ONE of our favorite male relatives and Angie readers calls our attention to a little oversight in the matter of the hyacinth quotation from the Koran. He thinks we must have quoted it no less than a dozen times in the past few years. Well, we never file these columns so we couldn't prove it, but anyway it's a good saying. So that's why we had the word "hyacinth" marked in the dictionary.

WELL, SO WHAT?

WE wouldn't be too critical of the John Garners but we wonder if it is necessary that Mrs. Garner constantly remind reporters and the like she has been her husband's secretary, general roustabout and valet for 40 years every time she makes a statement. We believe that is generally known wherever newspapers are sold that Mrs. Garner stays as continually on the job as does her famous bushy eye-browed husband.

Catherine Jameson To Marry July 1

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Catherine Jameson to Kenneth Leftwich is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Jameson, 2625 Nineteenth street. Mr. Leftwich is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Leftwich, 1625 Broadway.

The wedding will take place July 1 at the Jameson home.

Two marriages of the past weekend and announcement of an engagement are feature attractions of the current social picture in Lubbock.

Wooddell-May

Miss Maxine May former employe of the Retail Merchants association, and Bruce L. Wooddell of this city were married at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at the First Presbyterian church in Clovis, N. M., with Rev. Clyde Barton, pastor, officiating with a single ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. May of Clovis, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length white taffeta dress and carried a small white Bible and shower bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Attendants were Miss Aileen Richberg and Paul Sellers of Clovis. Misses Maxine Osborne and Helen Miller served as ushers.

The ceremony was preceded by two vocal solos, "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and "At Dawning" (Cadman), by Mrs. Alez Wilkins of Clovis, with piano accompaniment by Miss Juanita Kollenborn of that city. Miss Kollenborn also played the wedding marches and soft music as the vows were exchanged.

Mrs. Wooddell's traveling ensemble was an ivory knit dress with green accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Wooddell are graduates of Clovis High school where Mr. Wooddell was an outstanding football player in 1930-31.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wooddell of Jacksonville, formerly of Clovis. He is a member of the Texas highway patrol, stationed in Lubbock. The couple is at home at 2104 Main street.

Mrs. Wooddell came to Lubbock 19 months ago to begin her job with the Retail Merchants association, and resigned a month ago.

Snodgrass-Hendrix

Marriage of Miss Myron Hendrix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Hendrix, 2220 Ninth street, to Hugh Snodgrass, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Snodgrass, 2120 Thirteenth street, is being announced by the bride's parents. The vows were exchanged Thursday night in Clovis, N. M.

Accompanying the couple were Miss Anna May Gardner, Miss Vera McBride, Dexter Walthall and Marvin J. Harvey.

Mr. Snodgrass is with the South Plains Automobile association. He coached at New Deal high school last year.

Losing Your Pep? Feel "Run Down"?

Do you belch and bloat after eating? Is your sleep restless? Do you feel tired; are you losing strength and pep? These are very bad symptoms and, if neglected long, may lead to serious organic disease. They mean that your food is not digesting; your blood is becoming weaker and your body robbed of its nourishment.

Perhaps your trouble is functional and all you may need is a bottle of B-L Tonic. It's a splendid appetizer and aid to digestion, used by millions. Every drug store sells it. You may have friends who can tell you what wonderful things "B-L" has done for them.

B-L Tonic is very economical,—only 10c a day if it helps you; price of first bottle refunded if you are not delighted. Don't you think that "B-L" must be a wonderful tonic to justify such a strong guarantee? Why delay? Try B-L Tonic today!—(Adv.)

Britain's Harried Prime Minister Doggedly Pursues His Policy Of Peace

Big Opposition Always Faced

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Writer

NEW YORK, June 27.—Britain's harried Prime Minitser Chamberlain, upon whose self-reliant but slender shoulders rests more responsibility for peace in Europe than burdens any other man, doggedly pursues his policy of trying to achieve tranquility by amicable bargaining rather than by force.

Daily he faces his never-resting opposition in commons, white-faced but unflinching before taunts of cowardice and inefficiency. Not even the devastating wizardry of wartime Premier David Lloyd George's nimble tongue can sting the head of government into using the mailed fist on the dictators, or exacting reprisals against the Spanish insurgents for the sinking of proud British ships.

Always Chamberlain's answer is in the same vein: a gesture of force by Britain now may precipitate another World war.

So he gambles his own and his party's political futures, and (his harshest critics say) stakes the security of the British empire on his apparent judgment that not all is rotten in human nature and that good will among men can achieve peace on earth. He holds in his palm a military and naval might with which he could make Europe tremble—but he won't use it.

Amidst the clamorous roll of the drums of war he is seeing a vision—one which must be coming to many at this moment. For tomorrow is the anniversary of the pistol shot that started the Armageddon which historians call the World war.

Started On June 28

On June 28, twenty-four years ago, this bloody horror was whelped in Sarajevo, Serbia.

As Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, rode through the peaceful streets of this lovely city, a 19-year-old student, Gavrilo Princep, sprang upon the running-board of the car and fired a fatal shot into the royal throat.

Hatred pulled the trigger of the pistol—hatred for an "alien" overlord which ran fiercely in the hot Balkan blood of misguided youth.

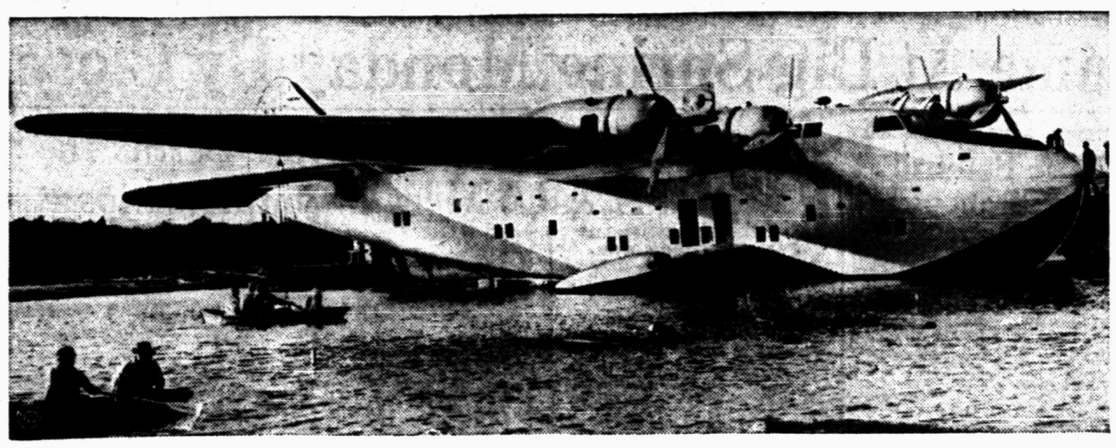

That mad act sent 65,000,000 men into mobilization.

The true peace for which Chamberlain and Roosevelt and other statesmen are striving has evaded us thus far.

There is war in Spain, in Ethiopia, in China. All the great powers and a host of little nations are arming at a rate never before dreamed of for countries not actually fighting.

Whether Chamberlain is right or wrong in his policy, he admittedly is showing a vast amount of courage. It would be easier for him to wield the big stick than to refuse.

Biggest Plane Ready To Span Biggest Oceans

Launched in the Dumawish river at Seattle, the giant Atlantic Clipper dwarfs small boats floating nearby and gives spectators a graphic show of her tremendous size. Built by Boeing for Pan American Airways, the ship may be put into service this summer over either the Atlantic or Pacific and will then then be the largest plane flying on any of the world's air routes. The 72-passenger "flying hotel," built at a cost of more than $1,000,000, will sleep 40. The ship has a height of 28½ feet, wing span of 152 feet and length of 109 feet.

Einstein Theory Of Relativity Is Being Attacked By Scientist As "Pure Bunk"

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

OTTAWA, June 27.—The Einstein theory of relativity—that the outer regions of space among the galaxies of stars is "curved"—was attacked as "pure bunk" today by Dr. W. B. Cartmel, University of Montreal scientist.

After studying a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting here in which Dr. Herbert E. Ives of the Bell Telephone laboratories, New York, offered new experimental confirmation of the Einstein theory, Dr. Cartmel declared that both Dr. Albert Einstein and Dr. Ives had worked from a "false hypothesis" in laying the foundations for their conclusions.

The Canadian physicist, a former United States bureau of standards research worker, declared his experiments and mathematical analysis of the speed and behavior of light show that any two human beings, any two given stars, or any observer and the light source which he studies have a space which is common to them. This space, he said, is non-euclidean, or, in other words, has dimensions in addition to the common ones of width and depth.

Space Degenerates

As the distance between the two humans or two stars increases, however, non-euclidean space "degenerates" until at infinity it becomes euclidean, or three-dimensional space, like the speed of a bullet flying out, the University of Montreal scientist said.

"This is just the opposite from the theory of Dr. Einstein, which holds that space is non-euclidean at infinity and is, therefore, curved," Dr. Cartwell added.

"The reason that Dr. Einstein and Dr. Ives arrived at false conclusions is that they used the old mathematical equasions of Maxwell, which are wrong, when they should have used those of Heaviside," famous English physicist, who was one of the discoverers of radio reflecting layers in the atmosphere.

Women Moves Into Home And Refuses To Be Ejected

IRVINGTON, N. Y., June 27. (AP)—Mrs. Hedi Heusser, 28-year-old mother of two children, refused today to leave the home of Rollo K. Blanchard, wealthy meter manufacturer.

Through her attorney, Mortimer D. O'Brien, she said she would stay in the mansion until Blanchard, 48, a civic worker and sportsman, married her.

The lawyer said his client moved into the home a week ago and Blanchard and his two children, Kimball, 15, and Betty, 17, moved out.

The home was protected by private detectives. Irvington police said they would not take action unless a court order was produced.

Entire Family Is Found Dead

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 27. (AP)—An entire family of four was found dead today in their gas-filled home.

Police investigators identified them as Joseph Krason, 40, bake shop proprietor; his wife, Maria, and their two sons, Stanley, 14, and Joseph, jr., four years old.

Captain of Detectives James H. Bray said the mother apparently had been shot to death, the father died of unknown causes, Stanley had been asphyxiated and Joseph had his throat cut and was strangled.

Mrs. Helen Lucas, a neighbor, who repored smelling gas fumes, said four jets were open on a kitchen stove.

Capt. Bray said there was no gun found on the premises.

Lubbock Gets Opportunity For Wide Industrial Publicity

Lubbock has an opportunity to get nation-wide publicty for its industries, the chamber of commerce has been advised by the Bakersfield, Calif., chamber of commerce.

The Kern County Union High School and Junior College, of that town, is issuing a series of booklets for a visual education course. They are asking information from each state, said Guy Garrard, of the Kern County Chamber of Commerce.

Bill Given At Graduation Goes On Long Journey And Youth Now Has It Again

DURHAM, N. C., June 27. (AP)—Tom Rogers was graduated from high school early this month and his sister gave him a dollar bill inscribed "Good Luck, Anne."

Visiting in Chicago, Rogers stopped for refreshments—and found he had to spend the dollar.

Less than a week later, he stopped at Wilson, N. C., and made a small purchase.

One of the dollar bills he received in change for a $10 bill was inscribed, "Good Luck, Anne."

Sophomore Of Texas Tech To Enter The Naval Academy

Alton Hicks, 19, who completed in June his sophomore work in engineering at Texas Technological college, reported June 22 at the naval academy in Annapolis, friends in Lubbock have been advised.

Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hicks of Medicine Mound, made not only the highest civil service examination marks in this district, but in the entire state, information continued.

He was an excellent student, it was learned here, and was on the honor roll, a member of the Kemas fraternity and a star intre-mural athlete, especially in baseball.

June Building Sets New High

A new building permit record was set Monday for months of 1938 with issuance of nearly $19,000 worth of licenses.

The June total shot to $245,183.75 to exceed the former high for this year of $242,464.47 for March. Other figures for this year's months are: January, $118,041.35; February, $183,070.40; April, $215,429.50; and May, $232,642.11. June has three more days in which to boost its aggregate.

The total for the year was shoved to $1,236,991.57. Specifically, Monday started the week off with $18,740 worth of permits. Seven permits, five for residences, were issued.

Four of the permits for substantial sums were: R. T. Thomas, owner, and R. E. McCurdy, contractor, construction of a one-story frame and brick veneer residence at 2802 Twenty-first street, $7,750; Hugh H. Hines, construction of a one-story frame and siding residence at 2808 Twenty-third street, $3,650; Virgil Williams, owner, and W. L. Cone and son, contractor, construction of a one-story frame and siding residence and garage at 2109 Thirtieth street, $3,400; and J. Q. Warnick, owner, and R. W. Walker, contractor, construction of a one-story frame and siding residence at 2107 Thirtieth street, $3,400.

Educators' Club To Hold Meet Tonight

Problems in public school administration will be discusseed at a meeting of the Educators' club at 7 o'clock tonight in room 220 of the administration building at Texas Technological college. The meeting will be public, according to Joe E. Webb, superintendent of public schools at Slaton and president of the club.

The program includes Introductory Comments by Noah O. Cunningham, high school principle of Quail, club vice-president; "Things Every School Man Should Know About School Buildings" (20 minutes), W. G. Donley, superintendent from Hobbs; "20 Minutes, Off the Record", discussion led by Felix S. Braden, junior college professor of Beaumont; 30 minute talk "What School People Expect of the Texas State Teacher's Association", Dr. L. H. Moore of Texas State College for Women, visiting instructor at Texas Technological college.

Organized Last Week

Following this program will be an open house discussion of special problems in school administration.

The Educators' club, organized at Tech last week with 30 members, purposes to act as a teacher council in solving every day problems of teachers and superintendents. All teachers and school administrators are invited to attend meetings.

Officers elected last week are Webb, president, Cunningham, vice-president; W. Bernice Jones, superintendent at Blanket, secretary-treasurer; and Raymond Wilson, superintendent at Lelia Lake, chairman of the program committee. Meetings will be twice per month from 7 to 9 o'clock at night.

Made Him Kill

Defense lawyers arranged for psychiatrists to examine Jack Livingstone, pictured above at his arraignment for the slaying of Isaiah Leebove, mysterious Michigan political figure in Clare, Mich., after Livingstone declared he killed because Leebove "sent gangsters" around to see him. Leebove and Livingstone were former partners in the oil business.

Dr. Kinchen Will Speak On Tech Recreational Program

"Old English Universities" will be the subject of an address by Dr. O. A. Kinchen, associate professor of history at Texas Technological college, at 8 o'clock tonight on the lawn south of the college administration building.

Dr. Kinchen will sketch the Inns of Court, law schools in England. He will discuss Oxford and Cambridge universities and will describe how United States colleges have developed from the old English universities. Studies, examinations, life and degrees in the English universities will be described.

The address will ba a part of the summer recreational program at the college.

Soil Work Is In New Phase

AMARILLO, June 27. (AP)—Soil conservation work in the wind erosion area of the Texas Panhandle will enter into a new phase July 1, when all demonstration projects change from an operations to a maintenance basis, H. H. Finnell, director of the soil conservation service in this region, said today.

This change is in conformity to the original plan adopted when erosion control demonstration projects were set up throught the United States, Finnell explained. When propects were established, farmers entered into five-year agreements with the soil conservation service to cooperate in setting up a complete conservation program on their farms.

Cooperation Is Given

During the first two years of the life of each project an operations program has been under way with the service cooperating with farmers in building terraces, contour furrowing pastures, setting up proper cropping plans, and otherwise establishing a complete erosion control demonstration.

During the three-year maintenance period an adequate staff will remain on projects until all contracted work has been completed, Finnell said. In some areas six months or more may be required to complete these field operations. However, no new agreements will be entered into with farmers on the project areas after July 1.

All Dormitory Work Will Be Contracted

Contracts covering all work on a men's dormitory for which PWA funds were allocated last week will be awarded and college officials cannot grant applications for work, it was said Monday afternoon at Texas Technological college.

Many persons have applied since announcement that the dormitory would be constructed. Bids will later be received and contracts awarded. Construction cannot open until early fall.

Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, visited in Lubbock Sunday and said work on final plans and specifications was underway in his office. He had received official notification from PWA officials of the allocation of $350,909, including a $157,909 grant and $193,000 loan.

Two London doctor-scientists succeeded in making smallpox vaccine virus from chicken eggs instead of calf lymph; enough material was obtained from 28 eggs to vaccinate 7,000 persons.

Lubbock Captures Opening Game At Big Spring Monday By Close Count, 5-4

Steve Recovers Injury, Cracks 17th Home Run

(Special To The Avalanche)

BIG SPRING, June 27.—The wavering Big Spring Barons put up a stiff battle against the pace-setting Lubbock Hubbers for eight innings today, but a ninth-inning run gave the vistors a 5-to-4 decision.

Big Pat Stasey hurled good ball for the cellarites and limited Lubbock to eight hits. Marvin Gramly pitched steadily although touched for ten bingles. Stasey struck out ten Hubbers. Gramly whiffed seven.

Steve Wasn't Hurt Much

Mal Stevens pounded out his 17th home run of the current season in the opening stanza with Johnny Taylor aboard. Bobby Decker, the league's leading base thief, added two today to run his total to 32.

The game was a see-saw affair with the Barons knotting the count three times after the leaders had moved ahead. It was Gramly's sixth win of the season against three defeats.

Barons Knot Count

Big Spring got two runs in the fifth to match Stevens' home run tallies. Doug Harkey led off with a single. Decker walked, and Dick Hobson, received a pass to cram the bassocks. Sweet singled Harkey and Decker across.

Successive singles by Stevens, Al Carr, and Watty Watkins in the sixth netted the Hubbers another lead, but after Decker had singled and Hobson had hit into a double play, the Barons pulled even again. Sweet was hit by a pitched ball and Jo-Jo Saparito cracked a triple to score him.

Henderson Poles Homer

In the eighth Lubbock pulled away with a run, but Hank Henderson tied the score in the Baron half with a home run. Johnny Taylor led off the Hubber portion with a single, took second on a passed ball, third on Stevens' infield out, and home on Watkins' single.

The winning run came in the ninth on a walk, Stasey's error, and two sacrifices. Bob Hillin received the pass, and Pete Melito sacrificed. Gramly was safe when the hurler bobbled his grounder. Joe Gedzius bunted Hillin over.

Midland Cops Series Opener From Rabemen Monday Night

MIDLAND, June 27. (Special)—Midland opened the series here tonight, defeating Hobbs, 5 to 2, in a thrilling contest.

Frankie Parks, Card lefthander, shaded Russell Needham, Hobbs mainstay, in a hurling duel. Guinn and Garbe led hitters with two each. Both of Garbe's and one of Guinn's went for two bases.

Wink Comes Back To Life To Rout Clovis Pioneers, 12-3

CLOVIS, June 27. (Special)—Rebounding from their three-ply defeat at Lubbock, the Wink Spudders opened their threegame series here today by slapping the offering of two Clovis pitchers all over the lot for 17 hits and a 12-3 victory.

Dick Dixon and George Jones were the Spudder victims, while Molly Ferguson, ace Wink hurler, tossed seven-hit ball, got three singles and a dougie in five times up, and batted in two runs.

Concrete Courts And Backstops Begun At Texas Tech Monday

Removal of the major handicap to tennis at Texas Technological college is assured with the opening of construction this morning of two re-enforced concrete courts and construction of backstops making avialable a third concrete court.

Construction of the courts will make possible matches with a larger number of visiting teams and will remove the handicap under which Tech varsity racqueteers were playing when they practiced on a dirt court and met other netters on their own cement courts.

W. G. McMillan, Lubbock contractor, has the contract for construction of the courts and enclosing cyclone fence. The courts are expected to be ready for use within a month, said Tennis Coach James G. Allen.

A concrete court which was the 1937 graduating class' gift to the college never had been made ready for use by the erection of backstops.

The construction will involve an investment of $3,000.

The fourth court will be of clay until another concrete court can be obtained. The courts will be located south of the men's dormitory and south of the gymnasium.

PLAY VILLANOVA

VILLANOVA, Pa., June 27. (AP)—Villanova college has scheduled a football game October 28 in Philadelphia with the University of Arkansas. The game will be the first Villanova has played with a Southwest conference team.

Rookie To Start For Nationals

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Now that the American and National league squads have been selected for the sixth all-star game to be played at Cincinnati, July 6, fans have turned their attention to speculating on the players Managers Joe McCarthy and Bill Terry will name for their starting line-ups.

Except that he intends to use Johnny Vander Meer, and Ernie Lombardi both of the Reds as his opening battery, Terry has given no indication of the National league lineup. Neither has McCarthy ventured his opinion.

The squads:

National league: Pitchers—John Vander Meer and Paul Derringer, Cincinnati; Carl Hubbell, New York; Bill Lee, Chicago; Jim Turner, Boston; Mace Brown, Pittsburgh. Catchers—Leo Hartnett, Chicago; Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati; Gordon Phelps, Brooklyn. Infielders—Frank McCormick, Cincinnati; Billy Herman and Stanley Hack, Chicago; Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh; Leo Durocher and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn; Tony Cuccinello, Boston. Outfielders—Joe Medwick, St. Louis; Hershel Martin, Philadelphia; Ival Goodman, Cincinnati; Mel Ott, Joe Moore and Hank Leiber, New York; Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh.

Manager—Bill Terry, New York. Coaches—Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati and Frank Frisch, St. Louis.

American league: Pitchers—Bob Grove, Boston; Charley Ruffing, and Vernon Kennedy, Detroit; Johnny Allen and Bob Feller, Cleveland; Buck Newsom, St. Louis. Catchers—Bill Dickey, New York; Rick Ferrell, Washington; Rudy York; Detroit. Infielders—Jimmy Foxx and Joe Cronin, Boston; Charley Gehringer and Hank Greenberg, Detroit; Red Rolfe and Lou Gehrig, New York; Buddy Lewis and Cecil Travis, Washington. Outfielders—Earl Averill, Cleveland; Joe DiMaggio, New York; Roger Cramer, Boston; Bob Johnson, Philadelphia and Mike Kreevich, Chicago.

Manager — Joe McCarthy, New York. Coaches—Art Fletcher, New York and Del Baker, Detroit.

Midshipmen Outrace Washington Huskies

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 27. (AP)—The United States Naval academy's courageous varsity crew simultaneously broke the Far West's grip on college rowing supremacy and smashed all four mile records today in a dramatic drive to victory that climaxed the college championship regatta on the Hudson river.

While their injured coach, Charles (Buck) Walsh, watched the finish from a hospital window, the Midshipmen withstood the pressure of California's closing challenge to win the big race by barely one-third length.

Washington's famous Huskies, champions for the past two years, trailed the victorious Sailors by fully two lengths.

The huskies, beaten for the first time in any varsity competition since 1935, were hard pressed to whip Columbia's surprise boatload for third place.

SEEDED NETTERS ADVANCE

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—Four seeded players, including Bobby Riggs of Chicago, the defending champion, and Joe Hunt of Los Angles, 1937 runner up, advanced to the semi-finals of the National Clay Courts tennis tournament today.

SOX BEAT BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, June 27. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns slipped further into the American league cellar today, bowing to the seventh-place Chicago White Sox, 9 to 4, in the first of a four-game series.

The Browns continued to be impotent at the plate. Veteran Ted Lyons allowed them only six hits until the eighth inning and then eased up as his mates had built up a comfortable lead.

Slaton Oldster Ties For Lead In Senior Event At Amarillo

AMARILLO, June 27. (AP)—L. T. Garland of Slaton and Sam Orr of Amarillo paced a field of 95 players in the fourth Tri-State Senior Golf association's tournament in the qualifying round here today.

Garland and Orr headed the pack of "young men past 50" with 78's, seven over par for the Amarillo Country club course.

The field is the largest in the history of the senior tournament. The association is limited to players over 50 years old.

E. E. Winn, 74-year-old player of Plainview, won the trophy given the oldest player. He qualified with an even 100 and landed in the next to last flight.

Thirty-two towns and cities of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are represented in the list of qualifiers. Several association members came to Amarillo "just for the fun of the 19th hole activities" and did not qualify in the tournament.

The association, founded in 1935 by O. T. Nicholson, Shamrock, Texas, now has more than 200 paid up members in the three states.

Track Stars To Seek Olympic Berths In National A.A.U. Meet Championships

By JERRY BRONDFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

BUFFALO, June 27.—Cunningham, San Romani, Wolcott, Albritton, Lash—

They, and a couple of hundred others whose names are almost equally well known in trackdom, will ring down the curtain on major cinder events for the season when they gather here for the National A.A.U. championships, July 2-3.

National individual titles are the first objective for the stars who will compete in Buffalo's new municipal stadium, but an added incentive in the form of a trip abroad hovers over the whole picture.

40 Men To Go

Based on results of this, the climax of the 1938 campaign, Dan Ferris, national secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U., will draw up a list of 40 men who will embark on various tours through Europe.

There'll be a few newcomers who must be given serious consideration for the free boat ride, but in most cases the field will be cluttered up with the old standbys.

Perrin Walker, former Georgia flash; Adrian Talley of U.S.C., Ben Johnson of Columbia, and Mack Robinson of Oregon are expected to dominate the 100 nd 200-meter sprints.

Records Threatened

World records may very easily go smash in three events—the hurdles, high jump, and pole vault—where the competition probably will be the sharpest in years.

Defending Champion Alan Tolmich, former Wayne University star, will have his hands full in the high and low hurdles, trying to turn back the challenge of Fred Wolcott, sensational Rice Institute sophomore and national collegiate champion, in both events. Wolcott, who has been timed in 13.9 over the tall sticks, meets Tolmich for the first time in his career.

Dave Albritton, Ohio State's world record holder and national collegiate champ, will have the best of company in his effort to raise the world mark over 6 feet 10 inches. Gil Cruder of Colorado, who tied him at the N.C.A.A. meet in Minneapolis; Ed Burke of Marquette, and Delos Thurber of Southern California will provide plenty of push. All have bettered 6 feet 8.

All West Affair

It'll be an all-west coast affair in the pole vault, with Bill Sefton, and Earl Meadows, former U.S.C. stars who share the world record of 14 feet 11 inches, given the greatest consideration. Loring Day, current Trojan sensation, and George Varoff of Oregon, however, are capable of 14 feet 7 inches, which should be high enough in most any meet you can name.

FRED WOLCOTT

Ray Malott, Stanford quartermiler, will continue his quest for a world record at 400 meters and will be pressed by Charles Belcher of Georgia Tech and Charley Cagle of Oklahoma Baptist.

Pittsburgh's Johnny Woodruff, Olympic and collegiate champion, is favored at 800 meters and is capable of running away from any field he enters.

Kansans Renew Old Feud

The annual classic at 1500 meters—metric equivalent of the mile—will find the two Kansans, Glenn Cunningham and Archie San Romani, continuing their duel of long standing, with Chuck Penske of Wisconsin and Lou Zamperini of Southern Cal., adding additional room for argument.

Don Lash and Joe McCluskey look like the best of the 500-meter mark.

Pete Zagar of Stanford in the discus, Bill ason of Michigan in the shot put, Nick Vukmanic of Penn State in the javelin, and Irving Folwartshny of Rhode Island State in the hommer throw, loomed as the best bets in their respective field events, with Watson considered to have the best chance in the broad jump as well.

Nursed along until it is regarded on a par with the famous Princeton layout as the fastest track in the east, the Buffalo cinder stretch is set for the greatest pounding it has yet received.

The mercurial feet of the nation's best practically guarantee that.

Hornsby Likes New Job; Boss Doesn't Care If He Follows Yen For Playing The Nags

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 27. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, the old "Rajah" of the National league, has a new boss who doesn't care whether he plays the "ponies, dominoes or checkers as long as he produces a winning ball club.

Hornsby, came here today from Baltimore, where he had been coaching the Orioles, to become manager of the Chattanooga Lookout for Joe Engel, showman extraordinary of the Southern association.

He saw his team whip Knoxville Smokies 4 and 2 and announced he was well pleased with his new job, his team and especially his boss.

The Rajah's penchant for betting on the horses kept him in trouble as manager of the St. Louis Browns and during his playing career.

He succeeded youthful Walter Millies as manager after the Lookouts skidded deep into the second division.

Sons Of American Legion To Play Hornets This Afternoon

Sons of the American Legion and the Arnett and Benson addition Hornets meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon on the Texas Tech softball field in a return game.

Batteries for the Hornets probably will be Stanley Young and Frank Smith and for the Legion sons Curtis Wilson and Judson Jones.

Admittance is free to the game. The public is invited.

Horse Racing Is Slated For Fair

Horse racing again will be the afternoon feature of the Panhandle-South Plains fair here Sept. 26 to Oct. 1.

Fair board of directors Monday voted to conduct a six-day program, constituting a minimum of five races each day. Total purses for the campaign will approximate $3,000, the directors decided.

Racing Proves Popular

It is expected that entries will equal or top those of last year. Racing fast has become a popular feature of the fair.

Last year the race program proved highly successful from every angle. Addition stables were built prior to the meeting to accomodate a record number of horses.

Invitations Are Mailed

Officials have mailed invitations to owners throughout Texas and in other states and to fair officials at other points. Owners are expected to send their horses from as far as the Colorado State fair at Pueblo.

Consideration of a rodeo for night performances in front of the grandstand also was taken by directors.

Red-Head Lands In All-England Semi-Finals

By SCOTTY RESTON

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 27. (AP)—Don Budge marched into the semi-finals of the All-England Tennis championships today as Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan joined Helen Wills Moody to battle for the United States in the quarter finals of the women's competition.

Budge thrashed the handsome Czechoslovakian, P. Cejnar, 6-3, 6-0, 7-5.

No Pleasant Task

Ferenc Puncec of Yugoslavia also gained the round of four by defeating Don MacPhail of England, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1, but all he earned for his efforts was a chance to meet Budge—a none too pleasant task the way Don is going now.

England's H. W. (Bunny) Austin and Henner Henkel of Germany filled the other brackets. Austin whipped Max Elimer of Switzerland, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 and Henkel turned back Ladislaus Hecht of Czechoslovakia, 7-5, 6-1, 6-2.

Helen Rebukes Officials

However, it remained for Miss Jacobs to rebuke in public the opinion of the lawn tennis association officials, who decided before the tournament started that the 1936 champion was not good enough to be seeded. She has been in the finals here five out of the last nine times yet they seeded Peggy Scriven of England eighth. Helen personally took care of Peggy 7-5, 6-4.

Completely recovered from the recent collapse Helen outfought Peggy in the first set and outclassed her in the second to gain a position as the real dark horse of the tournament.

Mrs. Fabyan defeated Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Local Poloists Kept Idle By Wet Grounds Sunday

For the second successive week, Lubbock poloists were kept idle Sunday afternoon by wet grounds.

The Lubbocks were to have ridden against El Rojo club at Plainview, but the ground was slippery and dangerous. The practice was in the infield of the fairgrounds at Lubbock.

Lubbock will make up games with El Rojo and with the Lamesa Blacks in late July or early August.

Oiling of the Lubbock field is about ready to begin, sufficient oil having been promised by Lubbock service stations, said Bob Hester, one of the club members.

United States And Sweden Are Tied Together In New Bonds Of Friendship

Memorial Shaft Is Dedicated

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27. (AP)—The United States and Sweden were tied today in new bonds of friendship.

President Roosevelt and Prince Bertil of Sweden, dedicating a monument to America's first Swedish colonists, pledged continuation of the Swedish-American goodwill which has endured for a century and a half.

Shaft Is Presented

"We shall be reminded of the unbroken friendship between Sweden and America by this monument," the prince said as he presented the shaft, raised in honor of the handful of Swedes and Finns who sailed up the Delaware in 1638.

The president welcomed the prince and Crown Princess Louise to the site where those colonists, led by Peter Minuit, landed three centuries ago to establish the first settlement in Deleware.

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, whose place 26-year-old Prince Bertil took, sent "regrets" from the motorship Kungsholm that illness had kept him from the ceremonies.

Bound In Friendship

"The ideals of freedom, of peace, and goodwill to all men . . . will forever bind our two peoples together in friendship and understanding," he said from his sickbed on the ship.

Crown Princes Louise listened attentively as her husband's voice came from a loud speaker.

"You represent a true friendship under which we have lived from the earliest times unmarred by any rift, unbroken by any misunderstanding," the president said in greeting the royal party.

The president accepted, "in behalf of the people of the United States," the monument contributed by the people of Sweden and added:

Typify Close Association

"I am confident that to generations yet unborn in Sweden and in the United States it will typify close association and continued goodwill between our two nations."

A crowd of 3,000 greeted Prince Bertil as he spoke. A steady drizzle fell throughout the ceremonies.

The prince brought a wish from his grandfather, King Gustaf V., that "new bonds of friendship" might come from the celebration.

"I hope when the prince returns to Stockholm he will give King Gustaf the affectionate regards of all the American people." President Roosevelt replied. Immediately after the ceremony he left for his Hyde Park home.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, speaking in the afternoon among rain-soaked bunting in the center of Wilmington, said Sweden and Finland stand out among the nations "just and wise enough to respect the legitimate rights and aspirations of others."

Confederate Vets

put his hand under the brother's head and a bullet dropped into his hand.

He was wounded only once, near Petersburg.

"I told the captain, 'There they come!' He jumped behind a tree and I jumped behind him. I just didn't get my leg in enough, though. That was where they got me."

Two of Estes' brothers were captured, B. F. after he was wounded at Gettysburg when fighting with the 6th Alabama regiment and W. J. at Missionary Ridge.

Greatest Commander

General Lee was the greatest commander in world history, Estes, who fought with the 34th Alabama regiment under Bragg and later with Co. H, 13th Alabama infantry, said—"and Stonewall Jackson was second."

The aged veteran is keenly alert and when he does not cook his own meals in the residence he occupies alone, "I walk to the restaurant for it." He has made several public addresses, one at a Spanish-American war gathering in Oregon. He avoids speaking in public when possible, however.

Foote has been at Spur only since April. He was the last veteran of the Civil War in Abilene, his former home, and probably is the only one in Dickens county now. He enlisted "voluntarily because I knew they would get us, anyway, those of us between 16 and 60," at Chester, S. C., and enjoyed a distinction of never having been in a fight. Sherman had just completed his famous march to the sea and the country was devastated. He was under the command of Gen. Wade Hampton.

He Is Still Vigorous

Four years ago he was in a wreck and his hip and right arm were broken. His tall frame is vigorous, however.

"Judge" Crump is known by almost all. A recent story was carried, explaining he was the last Confederate veteran of Lubbock county. He is 94 and formerly was county judge of Lubbock county.

Turner was in the train and could not be located by newspapermen in time to be interviewed before the train pulled out. He has only one leg and had to assisted in getting into the train. Friends, however, said he saw some of the most heated battles of the war.

James T. Flowers, 90, of Anton, was but 17 when the war closed. He enlisted and served several years under General Joseph E. (Fighting Joe) Wheeler, dashing cavalry commander of the Confederate forces.

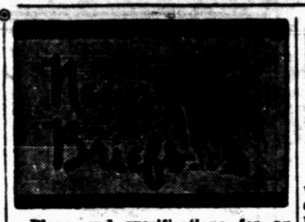

Sought To Enlist

During the Spanish-American war, when Flowers heard that his former commander had been commissioned a major general of U. S. volunteers, he sought to enlist and serve with him. Because of his age he was rejected.

Will H. Tennison, Anton mail carrier, accompanied him on the trip. "Grandpa" as he is known is active for his age.

Oldest man of the South Plains party was George M. D. (Grandpa) Garner, of Snyder, 97, a member of company C, 32nd Tennessee infantry. He was accompanied by Leon Guinn, a staff writer for the Scurry County Times. They left Snyder about noon.

He is the only surviving soldier of the Confederate army in Scurry county. Carrying a cane, he walked rather spryly, considering his age. A Tennesseean by birth, he plans to stop off in that state en route home for a visit with relatives and the two expect to return about July 12. Mr. Garner served during practically all of the war.

Plans and specifications for an $80.000 jail in Hockley county and a $17,000 community center structure in Anton are being drawn by O. R. Walker, Lubbock architect. PWA allotments for these projects were announced last week and are among the first for which funds were allotted under the new federal spending-lending bill.

D. L. Brewer, 62, of Muleshoe, entered Plains hospital Sunday for treatment of an ulcer of the right cornea. A fragment had recently been lodged in the eye.

After a week's vacation in Chicago, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson of Lubbock sanitarium returned home Sunday.

Rev. Roy A. Kemp of Abilene Corinth Baptist church, who is conducting a revival meeting at the Tabernacle Baptist church at Avenue N and Fifteenth street, used as his subject Monday night "Where Does the Soul Go at Death and Will We Know Each Other There?" The night services will continue this week, it was announced.

Regular meeting of the board of trustees for the Lubbock Independent school district will be conducted tonight, according to announcement Monday.

Mother Of Boy In Scouting Party Is Claimed By Death

PUEBLO, Colo., June 27. (Special)—South Plains Boy Scouts bound for Yellowstone National park arrived here late tonight to find a death message awaiting Joe Dick Moore, 13, of Floydada, a member of the party.

A telegram said Mrs. Frank L. Moore, mother of the boy, fell dead of a heart attack, of which she was a chronic sufferer.

Kiwanis Night Is Held Here

Lubbock Kiwanians and their wives last night joined with 1,800 other clubs in observance of All-Kiwanis night, marking the opening of the International Kiwanis convention in San Francisco. The meeting was at the Lubbock hotel.

Vice President W. L. Stangel presided as toastmaster. He read a message from President O. W. English and Vice President Charles Read, who reached the convention city Monday morning.

Music On Program

Music included two solos by Elton Plowman, with Miss Gladys Hall as accompanist and cello numbers by Julien Paul Blitz, with Mrs. Blitz his accompanist. E. L. Klett led in singing. Rev. Carl E. Hereford gave the invocation.

Robert J. Allen welcomed the Kiwanian Queens to the meeting. Mrs. Carl E. Hereford responded.

An "incognito" stunt was presided over by Secretary W. C. Rylander. Mesdames R. C. Mowery, O. J. Sexton, Carl Slaton, Dude Buster, Marion F. Sanford, Knox Thomas and Robert C. Pace were asked to act as a committee to select "the king bee," of the club. T. E. Buckner was selected. Mrs. Mowery was chairman. Mrs. Sexton was given a vase and a dozen carnations by the club.

George P. Kuykendall explained briefly the "moment of silent fellowship," after which the club stood for a minute. Rev. J. Hodge Alves read the president's message and Toastmaster Stangel led in the club rededication.

as economically justified. Thus, the 40-cent minimum might be reached in some industries in much less than seven years.

Economic Feasibility

Experts in the labor department, where the newly-created wage and hour division will be established, pointed out that the administration of the act and the recommendations for payment of the highest minimum wage will all revolve on the question of "economic feasibility."

In determining the highest feasible minimum the industry committees, made up of representatives of the public, employers and the employes, will consider competitive conditions affected by transportation and living costs, comparable wages paid under collective agreements, and voluntarily maintained minima.

The measure also prohibits "oppressive child labor," exempts some industries from wage and hour regulation, and provides payment of time and a half for overtime except in season industries, where the work week may run to 56 hours.

Lubbock Legion Is To Send Big Delegation To Session

Approximately 50 members of the Allen Bros. post of the American legion attended a regular semi-monthly meeting in the legion hall Monday night.

Arrangements were made for sending a large delegation to the Fifth Division convention at Big Spring July 9 and 10. The Allen Bros. Post will be allowed to send as many as 18 delegates. The Fifth Division includes five congressional districts.

The legion members passed a resolution favoring strict enforcement of traffic regulations and supporting the activities and work of the Lubbock Safety council.

Two nominating committees were appointed by A. C. Jackson, post commander, to report to the legion at the next meeting. Members of one of the committees were: Glen Hess, chairman, W. L. Bradshaw, and Homer L. Pharr; members of the other were: H. L. Allen, chairman, George A. Meiser, and C. B. Qualia.

ments expected, and it will make it easy to acquaint the general public with the nature of the proposed improvement.

A uniform policy on sight distances is being worked out by engineers, the speaker said.

"We are concerned with two kinds of highway sight distance—non passing and minimum passing. The confusion of having horizontal and vertical sight distance has been eliminated and the standard required distances are those that are measured from the eye of the observer 4.5 feet above the pavement to the top of a four-inch object in the road."

Road builders in the future will pay more attention to factors which will permit a safe high speed, he predicted.

The speaker said highways would be landscaped and that all forms of nuisance advertising would be frowned upon.

Quanah Parker's Son Is Speaker In City

Rev. White Parker, son of Quanah Parker, one of the most famous Indian chiefs of this area, spoke Monday night to approximately 400 persons in the gymnasium of Texas Technological college. The speech followed the weekly concert of the Tech summer school senior band.

Accompanying Parker was Rev. A. T. Butterfield, Methodist minister among the Indians of Oklahoma for nearly 50 years. Mrs. Parker and the Parkers' daughter Cynthia Ann, were present also.

Parker's speech concerned for the most part customs and stories of the old Indians. He spoke of marriage, dances, and songs of the Comanche Indians tribe of which he was a member.

He spoke also of the many curious habits that would seem "very funny" to people today, such as: not whistling or combing one's hair at night and the odd belief that all cousins are brothers, be they first, second, or third.

Parker illustrated his speech with many trinkets that he had brought. Several Indian songs were sung by Cynthia Ann and Rev. White Parker.

Following Parker's speech, J. P. Nystel Abernathy real estate man, addressed the crowd and related the story that his father and Quanah Parker were friends and they once had roamed the territory together around this section.

When Miles Are Swept Away

LITTLE imagination is required in this day of rapid transportation to appreciate that although two comparatively small cities may be widely separated geographically, their interests in certain matters may be as close as if they were near neighbors.

Thus it is of importance to Lubbock and the region around it that a movement which seeks the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river at Greenville, Miss., shall achieve its goal. Such a bridge inevitably would mean an increase in the motor travel through this region in volume impossible at this time to estimate. The number, however, would be large and the revenue from them considerable.

The bridge is the only link absolutely necessary in the evolution of a trans-continental highway which would have much to commend it over any others now existing. For considerably more than half its distance it would follow almost an air line from east to west and—important here—passing through Lubbock. From Lubbock the motorist would have the option of driving westward of either a southern or a northern route, one of them open when others more northerly may be snowbound and the other, even in the hotest summer, providing escape from searing heat.

Since the consummation of the bridge plans is of interest and importance to Lubbock, it is more than appropriate that we should lend support to the project, as the chamber of commerce here already has done. As a matter of fact, the civic organization would be failing in its expected function if the support should not be given.

Back Of The "Fireside Chat"

FEW persons will question the propriety of the President's appeal in his fireless "fire-side chat" a few nights ago for the election of a congress favorable to administration policies.

One of the few who has indicated a doubt of the propriety seems to be the President himself. If he had been sure of his ground it does not seem probable he would have devoted so much time to a defense of the action he was taking.

Everyone knows that any President should be anxious to put over his policies. Everyone knows, in order to do that, he must have the support of congress. Certainly he is within his right, since the facilities for reaching a considerable portion of the citizenship are available, in attempting to persuade the people that his policies are to the best interest of the nation.

However, most citizens will agree there should be sharp limitations on the influence a President should attempt to exert in a congressional contest. He might attempt to advise and persuade. But he should not hint, nor should he permit those accepted by people as his spokesman to hint, that unless a certain candidate is elected, those who have opposed him will suffer. Charges have been made that men high in administration circles have been guilty of practices nothing short of threats of "purge."

The really significant fact of the President's address was that he deemed it advisable to exert an effort on behalf of those who, if elected, would support his policies. It is a tacit admission on his part that he has become alarmed. It is a confession that the administration candidates are in need of all the support which can be won for them.

It admits the very dangerous possibility—from the President's standpoint—that the approaching elections may result in victory for foes of the administration. If the President and the administration did not experience that fear, they would not have placed the biggest of their guns on the firing line so early in the ballot battle.

With Our Contemporaries

"The feet do more work relatively to their size than any other part of the body," Homer Stein points out in the Floyd County Hesperian. "It is hard to visualize the fact that when a man walks a mile he places an aggregate of 250 tons on his feet. Three out of every four adults in this country have some sort of foot trouble."

AN IRISH DEMIGOD

General John Nicholson (1821-1857), who distinguished himself in the Indian Wars in 1848, so impressed the natives with his valor and strength that a brotherhood of fakirs abandoned their religion to devote themselves to the worship of "Nikkul Syn" as their demigod. On meeting General Nicholson, the members of the sect would prostrate themselves at his feet in religious adoration. It was of no avail that Nicholson tried to stamp out this practice by whipping and imprisoning his worshipers. The Nikkul Seyni sect long survived their demigod, who died as a result of a fatal wound during the capture of Delhi in 1857, the time of the Sepoy Mutiny.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JOE MURRAY—liked new places, new jobs, new girls.
HELEN—fell in love—hard—once.
TERRY MALLOW—found love—and kept it!

Yesterday: Facing the crisis of unemployment, Joe decides to leave for work in the shipyards, but only over Terry's tearful portests.

CHAPTER XVI

Joe had made for the door but Terry flew there before him.

"I'll be good," she said in a small choked voice, fighting for control. "I'll stop. Don't leave me alone the last chance I've got with you."

He looked at her. His face was grim, and he was suffering. He looked at her, and then he threw down his hat. He did not say anything; he just stayed there. She did not say anything; she set about preparing their dinner. She regained control, and she ate with him in no appetite but with a quiet, bleakly bland despair.

Late that night she said beside him, into his ear, "Don't be mad at me if I say something. I want to say . . . will you take me with you?"

It was out of the question, he told her. She knew all the reasons.

"Then I won't have you any more?" she said. "No more here close to me? All alone . . . here? Nobody to amuse Terry, tell Terry what to do, make love to Terry."

He did not speak. She crept on his shoulder and cried, very quietly, trying not to arouse him. The sobs died slowly and she was still. Her hands on his shoulder began to clutch him hard; the nails were sharp and cruel. She made a sound, a chaotic, primordial sound of passionate despair, and she kissed him. Taut with the pain of those sharp nails in his flesh he returned the kiss. They were together, in the terrible imminence of parting. . . .

And so Joe Murray took to the road again. Out of one town into another; out of one day into the next. Life had rolled backward, wiping out a wife and a home, wiping out even what he had possessed before either; the certainty of work and the freedom of the nation. When he rode to Port Lansing—riding, by the way, on a diversity of conveyances that chance sent along the national highway between — he no longer below, adrift and lightly; he traveled on a set, grim pilgrimage. He tore up roots and traveled, carrying with him the pain of that.

It was a good job, as jobs go. The shipyard was an immense place. Hundreds worked there, a small regiment; but yet it looked lean and hungry, for not long since they had streamed in of mornings in an army, 10,000 of them. There was a dry dock, and then a wet dock, and acres of great gaunt shops. The dry dock was working, there were two ships in the wet dock, but the ship ways, 10 of them, loomed empty and silent.

There was no building, and Joe was lucky and knew it. How long lucky, he couldn't tell. Men of a dozen trades stood about the gates mornings when he came to work, haunting the closed employment office. He worked and drew good money and sent a large portion of it back to Terry every week. They must save what they could; the future was unknowable.

Now when you go to a new place, far from home, this is what happens: there is at first a lift of spirits, the glamor of adventure and novelty and the excitement of possibilities whose limits are yet unknown. That lasts a while, and that wanes finally, for the possibilities are soon limited plainly, and then comes the rather stark realization that this palce has no nourishment for you, for your roots are not into it, drawing sustenance. There is nothing there for you, and the old places are calling strong, and you are bitte rlonesome. Then in time, if you stay, when the lonesomeness is most bitter, there comes a change; you do not recognize it when it comes, but it arrives. You are drawing nourishment from this place. You are rooted, belonging. And if you go away again, you will remember that place always, and it will call to you among the echoes of all the places and things and people forever calling to you out of the past.

The novelty of Port Lansing was small to Joe, and the possibilities held never any glamor. Women were shut off to him, not only by his simple code but by all his inclination. And a man needs women, especially a man like Joe, because that is the pattern of life, which has beauty and harmony and symmetry only when there is that balance; one and then another one, a man and a woman, complementing and offsetting each other in everything.

Joe was alone; he lived in a boarding house on a mean street, the cheapest could be found, where his fellows were a raffish, uncouth lot who would have made him one of them if they could, but they could not, for Joe in his turn could not meet them in their chosen ground, which was drinking and women and then more drinking, so long as there was money for it. He walked, and he went to motion pictures, and he read, and he sat thinking. And he was alone.

Terry wrote to him often, sometimes day after day. She had one refrain: she missed him, missed him. She worked steadily, and that was nice, but when she came home alone at night, that was terrible. Yet she was careful not to complain. She kept as busy as she could. She called on his family, she went home with the girls from the mill, she even called a few times at her own old home. She had found a city school where adults could attend at night and she was enrolled. She was learning English literature and French. Not, she said, that she had any use for French or expected to become a bookworm or could hope to be wiser than her Joe, but you never could tell, some day maybe when their babies were growing up she could help them . . . had she ever told him, they were going to go to college?

Joe read these things, and his heart was empty, and he wrote matter-of-fact replies about the shipyard and the town and commended her for her industry and suggested things for her to do and told her to stick it out, she'd come right side up. And he wrote down at the end always that he loved her and missed her and they'd make out somehow. Whereupon he put down his pen in a kind of empty bitterness.

Then came a letter from her, full of courage and appalled, in which she told him of the layoff at the mill. She had lost her job! Some of the oldest girls remained, but most of the mill was out. She did not throw herself on him in panic, but discussed immediately her adjustments and plans. She could find something if she looked hard; she didn't need much money, and girls were still hired around becaues they were cheap. In fact a girl could get a job most anywhere. She had listened to them, and she knew.

She could even, couldn't she, get a job in Port Lansing . . . and they could be together?

That was not like her; she would, ordinarily, have incontinently come. But she was afraid of him, of that grimness, of that change.

Joe wrote an immediate reply in which he said no, impossible! Then he tore up that letter and did not write another for two days. But when he wrote he still said no, it couldn't be done, it was too risky, too far from home where there was no least hope to fall back on in extremity. His job was still far too chancy. He missed her, but he couldn't allow it.

She thought he was overfearful, lacking in confidence in her. She thought he was really wrong. She argued, daintily and beguilingly, replying.

But Joe was right. The powers were too strong against her. The week after the shut-down of the mill, the shipyards announced complete suspension. The entire small regiment was turned out, so that the day following, the closed employment office was for the first time in months not haunted by a solitary soul. Joe Murray was turned out with them, and he thanked his old buddy for the lift while it lasted, and went home and sat by his boarding house room window and watched the sun go down, down slowly into darkness in the west.

It looked like a sun that was going down forever.

Five Per Cent Increase For Pullman Rates Is Approved

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The interstate commerce commission granted the Pullman company permission today to increase its rates 5 per cent.

The company had asked a ten per cent increase. The commission said "we find that an increase of ten per cent as proposed would result in unjust and unreasonable rates."

It said, however, an increase of five per cent would "result in a rate adjustment for applicant's services which is just and reasonable."

Men And Nations Who Will Offer Respect Are Needed

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27. (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today the world needs "men and nations . . . just and wise enough to respect the legitimate rights and aspirations of others."

In an address prepared for Delaware's 300th anniversary celebration, he described Sweden and Finland as standing "among those" countries which meet that specification.

COUNTESS IS BURIED

GLAMIS, Scotland, June 27. (AP)—The Countess of Strathmore and Kinghorne, mother of Queen Elizabeth, was buried today in a rhodogendron-lined grave on the estate of Glamis castle, storied home of the Strathmore family.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

WHEN President Roosevelt offered thanks for a "few raindrops" and ventured a forecast of favorable economic showers, he based his optimism on secret analysis shipped to him by his best experts. But the slight business upturn has several strange features he did not reveal.

It bears a striking resemblance, though in reverse, to the downward movements which preceded the depression. Beginning on May 30th, the government bond market showed sharp improvement, then commodity prices and finally stocks. It was in that same order that the 1937 slump struck the nation. Early in March of 1937 the market for federal securities slacked, without public comment. Commodity levels sank in April—another danger signal—but it was not until August that Wall street reacted. Only when the exchange fell off badly did the public wake up to the bad news.

Mr. Roosevelt's advisers draw no conclusions as to the permanence of the improvement, but the orderliness and slowness of the advance cheers them. It wasn't checked even when Secretary Morgenthau disappointed dollar speculators by blackening the prospect for further devaluation. The next month—a period of normal slackening in business activity—may tell whether the 1937-1938 depression has seen its worst days.

TARGET: Grand jury revelations of German espionage in the United States have provoked a curious reaction in the departments most seriously affected—State, War and Navy.

The diplomats faint or fly off when approached on the subject. The surest method of emptying an office is to stand outside the door and cry, "Spies!" The soldiers pooh-pooh the disclosures of an alien ring ferreting out our military secrets. To dignify the discoveries by discouraging them would imply that the War department had fallen down on the job—which they will never admit. But at the Navy department they shake their heads, station extra guards in the corridors and change the code on their vaults. Every stranger falls under suspicion as soon as he crosses the patriotic threshold.

The navy attitude is understandable, however. They represent the more exposed and more accessible sector of our armed forces. Moreover, foreign nations figure that their armies excel ours, but suspect that our fleet will soon be tops. And in case of war we would first hit them with our ships. So that's the spies' chief target.

BARK: President Roosevelt has a private laugh on his conservative enemies that is too good to keep secret. He apparently doesn't want to disturb the temporary truce between business and government by revealing it. But his friends aren't so bashful.

Since the Supreme court battle business men have assured themselves that they much look to the legislative branch to protect them against the White House. They have solemnly prayed Providence to "save the honorable Congress of the United States." They will probably contribute plenty of cash to reelect men supposed to checkmate the New Deal during Mr. Roosevelt's last two years.

But while their saviors sat on Capitol Hill, business lagged, prices stayed down and the stock market hit bottom. Even when the President was suffering his worst rebuffs on the court and reorganization issues, the bulls and bears were selling short—or not selling because there wasn't any takers. But now that Congress has gone home and Franklin D. Roosevelt rules the roost alone, Wall Street wakes up and shines. Another demonstration, perhaps, that the bark is worse than the bite!

PREPARING: President Roosevelt has frequently expressed his distaste for two solutions of the critical railroad problem—nationalization or "letting them go through the wringer." But some of his aides appear to be hopeful that nature will force the former course.

Several major lines now totter on the brink of bankruptcy, and may be forced into receivership within the next few months. They can be saved temporarily only by government loans, which will add to an already large debt to Uncle Sam. That, however, appears to be what some of the more radical New Dealers desire. They want the roads to become so heavily in hock to the government that the only answer will be to take them over. And if bankruptcy results in spite of fresh loans, it will mean that they can be bought at a lower figure.

An inkling of this idea explains why Vice-President Garner and House Leader Rayburn blew up at the suggestion of legislation permitting more advances to distressed lines. It also explains why heads of the few solvent roads remaining are sore at fellow-railroaders who have accepted millions in federal largesse. They, too, realize that heavy borrowing from the government heads toward government ownership and operation.

NEW YORK

THE Ku Klux Klan may be revived as an active issue in American politics this fall. Observers familiar with mid-western political developments report that its ghostly figure is likely to rise from the dead to plague voters in the state of Indiana.

One of the contenders for the Republican senatorial nomination in Indiana is Walter Bossert. He used to be head of the state Klan organization. His Klan affiliation will not be used by his enemies, however. It will be brought up by Bossert himself. There are some 400,000 Ku Kluxers in the state, according to Bossert. Insiders disclose that he will appeal to them for support.

Richard Wills, a Kokomo lawyer, is said to be in the lead at present for the Republican nomination. But if Bossert gets it, he expects to split the Democratic party and the Van Nuys' following wide open on the Klan issue. A lot of Democrats are Klansmen. Bossert expects them to be loyal to the Klan rather than to the party.

JOB: According to confidential sources, the new management of the New York Stock exchange has at last selected its paid president. These sources reveal that 31-year-old William Mc C. Martin, Jr., now chairman of the board of governors, will resign that office, sell his seat on the exchange and assume the presidency.

Here's the story of how the selection came to be made, as the insiders tell it: The stock exchange management had narrowed its list of possibilities down to nine. From among these it made several tentative selections and then discussed terms with the individuals chosen. All of them turned the offer down. They are said to have declared that they didn't want to stick their necks into any noose so liable to tighten.

At this point the S.E.C. stepped in and suggested Martin. He has administration confidence. His youthfulness is said to have worried his fellow-directors. But the inside story is—he got the job.

TEXT: Twenty thousand American teachers are meeting in New York this week for the convention of the National Educational association. The final feature of their program will be an address by the President of the U. S.

Reliable sources disclose that a plan is now in motion to set before the convention two startling resolutions. One will contain a demand that Mr. Roosevelt make a genuine declaration of his attitude toward Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City in regard to civil liberties and academic freedom. The other will propose a censure of Princeton university for conferring an honorary degree upon Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, a close associate and supporter of Mayor Hague.

A minority group of the N.E.A. will recommend to the assembled teachers that a complete expose of the methods employed by Hague to gain his dominance in New Jersey affairs be prepared. They will urge its use as a national classroom text to teach students the technique of political bosses and the dangers of dictatorship.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"Please look, Henry—have I caught something here?"

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, June 27 (AP)—"This man O'Daniel" is creating a stir in Texas politics.

One of his opponents for the governorship has been attorney-general for four years, another is a veteran member of the state Railroad commission and chairman of the Interstate Oil compact commission and a third has been before the people three times in races for governor, but many unprejudiced observers believe W. Lee O'Daniel of Fort Worth will be in the "first division" of the gubernatorial contest.

Remember Jim In 1914?

O'Daniel is reported to be drawing large crowds and the men and women "in the forks of the creek" are discussing him. Crowds and talk don't necessarily mean votes but they are signs he is attracting a lot of attention, which is what every candidate wants at this stage of the race.

The interest in O'Daniel is compared to that which James E. Ferguson aroused in his first campaign for governor in 1914. However, the record shows that Ferguson in that and subsequent campaigns often drew larger crowds than his opponents in sections which he lost.

"The Fire Is Spreading"

TWO Austin newspapermen made a tour of a number of towns near the capital the other day in an effort to see what people in the section thought of the contest for governor.

A Burnet business man who keeps in close touch with politics made the comparison between O'Daniel's and Ferguson's campaign.

"The fire seems to be spreading ust like it did then," this man said, "although it may not go nearly as far."

A former attorney-general of Texas observed waiting in the ante-chamber to Gov. James V. Allred's office was asked:

"What do you think of O'Daniel?"

O'Daniel's appeal, the former attorney-general said, has "an element of morality that politicians long have ignored."

"The pendulum is swinging away from the jazz era and people, especially outside the cities, are interested in a man who is getting back to fundamentals," he said.

GOV ALLRED received a telegram signed "Hilly Billy boys" saying they were sending him a sack of flour.

"We want you to leave some hot biscuits on the table for the next governor," the telegram read.

O'Daniel is a flour broker. Members of an orchestra which plays on O'Daniel broadcast programs and for his platform speeches are called the "Hill Billy boys."

Legislators Are Busy

Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, chairman of the Oil and Gas committee of the House of Representatives, is one of the few representatives seeking more than a second term who has no opposition.

His next term would be his third. He has four counties in his district, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley and Gray.

Rep. Conde Hoskins of Gonzales, chairman of a House committee which has been investigating pollution of public waters in Texas, is a member who does have opposition.

Hoskins is one of the House veterans, having served in four legislatures. He is opposed by John M. Mohrman of Gonzales, a former employe of the adjutant general's department, and A. K. Bell, a farmer and member of the Gonzales city council.

Now They're Organized

BERT FORD, state liquor administrator, has been elected vice-president of the National Conference of State Liquor administrators.

The election was at the annual convention of the conference in St Paul, Minn. Ford had served as a member of the organization's executive committee.

A nationwide campaign to stimulate the use of grapefruit juice, a record amount of which was packed in Texas this year, has been decided upon by grapefruit growers of the lower Rio Grande valley.

One step will be to ask grocery systems to feature grapefruit juice this summer.

Organization of the Texas grapefruit growers stabilization committee was perfected at Weslaco recently with R. W. Lindsay of Mission elected chairman and Glenn C. Whitte of Weslaco secretary.

Speakers said 4,700,000 cases, or more than 100,000,000 cans, was packed this year, compared with 2,200,000 cases last year.

A resolution asking cooperation of Texas stores said the present rate of sale would leave a large carryover of grape fruit juice which would depress the whole market for citrus products.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 44 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As six of the sun worshipers started in pursuit of Doc, his captive cousin yelled out: "They're coming after you! Take to the trees!" Doc needed no further urging, for already he heard the rapid thump of his pursuers' feet on the hard-packed jungle trail.

One of the beast-men, fleeter than his fellows, caught a glimpse of the boy as he leaped up and swung through the branches of a tree. Then Doc got a stunning, discouraging surprise. With a wild cry, his pursuer leaped up and followed through the trees.

The fugitive boy fled as swiftly as possible, but in the difficult art of tree-traveling he was no match for this forest creature who was somehow akin to the apes. At each backward glance, poor Doc realized that the powerful gorillaman was overhauling him.

It would soon be over. In a few moments the fellow would be upon him, either to strike him down with his murderous cudgel, or to take him back a helpless prisoner. Like a cornered beast, the desperate boy turned, at bay, to make a last, hopeless stand.

CHOICE Dairy Heifers. $8.00. Registered Bulls. Shawnee Dairy Cattle Co., San Antonio, Texas.

Lubbock Auction And Commission Co.
AUCTION SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
It's sudan time in West Texas! Recent rains have increased the demand for good stockers until we are unable to fill the standing orders we now have for stockers. If you have any stockers to sell at this time, it will pay you to get in touch with us before you sell them elsewhere.
Our demand for good butcher cattle far exceeds our supply. We are really in earnest when we solicit your business for we MUST have the cattle to fill our many butcher orders.
Many satisfied customers reflect service and satisfaction received at Lubbock Auction and Commission Company, the DEPENDABLE LIVESTOCK MARKET.
Phone or wire us for trucks. We will get them to you promptly, and at a reasonable price. We are bonded for your protection.

Convention Closed At Local Banquet

Approximately 55 blacksmiths and welders from New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma Monay attended a banquet in the Lubbock hotel to close officially the fifth annual Southern Blacksmiths and Welders association convention.

J. O. Darnell of Gilmer, president of the association, presided at a business session at 3 o'clock that afternoon in the junior ballroom of the hotel. Needed legislation was discussed. Resolutions were adopted relatives to legislation, among which were requirements for registration of blacksmiths and welders.

Total registration showed approximately 75 persons attended the convention.

Lewis Larrymore School of Dance presented a floor show at the Monday night banquet. Lubbock Hardware and Supply company, of which A. E. Miller is manager, was host.

Officers other than Darnell are: J. D. Hatcher of Plainview, first vice-president; E. E. Lemons of Commerce, second vice-president; and R. C. Dyer of Dallas, secretary. G. N. Atkinson and D. N. Lacewell of Lubbock are members of the board of directors.

Dallas was chosen as the convention city for 1939.

Four Senators Will Have No Opposition

AUSTIN, June 27. (AP)—Four members of the senate among those running for re-election do not have opposition, a check by Bob Barker, senate secretary, disclosed today.

They are Claude M. Isbell of Rockwall, R. A. Weinert of Seguin, L. J. Sulak of Lagrange and Clay Cotten of Palestine.

Nine senators have opposition. With the number of opponents, they are: E. M. Davis of Brownwood, two; Joe L. Hill of Henderson, one; Tom J. Holbrook of Galveston, one; Weaver Moore of Houston, two; Jim Neal of Mirando City, two; Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, one; Olan R. Van Zandt of Tioga, one; Claude C. Westerfeld of Dallas, ten; H. Grady Woodruff of Decatur, three.

CRISP RADISHES

To keep radishes crisp and appetizing, clean thoroughly, wrap in a damp cloth or vegetable bag or store in covered container in the refrigerator. Radishes for garnish should be firm, smooth, uniform in shape and bright red.

PROFIT SELLING STARTS

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—The rousing stock market rally ran into profit selling difficulties today and leading issues shed fractions to more than a point.

There were many resistant spots throughout the list, however, including aircrafts and specialties which managed to emerge with sizable advances.

On the whole, brokers thought the list acted exceptionally well. The fact that the associated press average of 60 issues was only off ⅛ of a point at 45 was seen as highly constructive.

Transfers totalled 2,105,840 shares compared with 2,290,540 last Friday.

Wall street sentiment evidently was still buoyed by prospects business would be spurred soon by the huge government spending program.

Aviation issues had the benefit of further signs that output and orders are running at the best levels in the industry's history.

Santa Fe was ahead during the greater part of the session as President Bledsoe of this system said traffic conditions in the west and southwest should improve over the remainder of the year. The stock slipped at the last, ending off ⅛ at 31⅝.

Prominent on the losing side were U. S. Steel at 53, Bethlehem 56⅝, N. Y. Central 14⅝, Great Northern 18¼, Union Carbide 78¼, Westinghouse 92⅝, J. I. Case 89, Chrysler 55½, Anaconda 29⅝, Allied Chemical 165½, and Du Pont 115⅛.

On top at the finish were Douglas Aircraft at 49, United Aircraft 28⅝, North American 21¼, International Harvester 65¼, Dow Chemical 118½, Coco-Cola 139½, J. C. Penney 74⅛, and Monsanto Chemical 90¼.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 27. (AP)—Cotton reacted moderately from an early advance today under profit-taking and liquidation in advance of first notice day for July deliveries tomorrow. The close was steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower.

Toward mid-session buying power lagged and offerings increased. The bulk of selling was encountered towards the close when all months made new lows for the day.

Final prices were at or near the bottom with July contracts at 8.74@8.76, Oct. at 8.81@8.82, Dec. at 8.89, Jan. at 8.91, Mch at 8.94 bid and May at 8.97.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—Morning advances in cotton today were lost under July liquidation and profit taking. October eased from 8.83 to 8.71 and closed at 8.72, with final prices 4 to 8 points net lower.

The market opened steady in partial response to firm Liverpool and Bombay cables and owing to rains in the belt over the week-end. However there was more disposition to take profits as March and May advanced toward the 9-cent level. July liquidation persisted throughout the day in advance of first notice day tomorrow.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP)—Faced by the first increase the United States visible supply has shown since December, Chicago wheat prices late today fell almost two cents a bushel from earlier gains of about a cent. It was followed by fractional rallies.

To a considerable extent, wheat paralleled the course of securities.

A factor assisting the previous transient upturn of prices was buying for mill account believed to be a consequence of United States government purchase of flour. On the other hand, despite heavy additional rains southwest, primary receipts totaled big, reflecting multiplication of arrivals from the harvest fields.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ½ cent lower compared with Saturday's finish, July 76⅞@77, Sept. 59@59⅛, oats unchanged to ¼ down, rye showing ⅝@⅞ drop, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to 3 cents advance.

Lubbock . .

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock. Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company. Following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers. Cotton—Plains Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

Building Work To Be Started

Construction will begin Wednesday on the new face brick merchants building at the fairgrounds.

Contracts totaling $16,356.65 were awarded Monday morning by directors of the South Plains Fair association. The building will allow 18 more exhibit booths than was included in the former 40-booth building.

The general contract was awarded to W. G. McMillan, whose bid of $15,463 was low. Electrical contract was awarded to Jim Pruitt, also low with his bid of $893.65.

Construction is to be completed in 43 working days in time for the building's use in the 1938 fair, Sept. 26 to Oct. 1.

Original plans for the new building provided for only 48 exhibit booths, but the directors, taking into consideration expected continued prosperity, increased the number to 58 and thus increased the length of the structure to 160 feet rather than the 140 provided in original plans. The structure will be approximately 72 by 160 feet.

Alex McDonald, president of the association, presided at the directors' meeting, in the chamber of commerce offices. All nine directors were present.

Directors voted to include horse races in this year's fair. The races will be conducted six days, with a minimum of five races daily. Purses will total approximately $3,000. It authorized the president and manager of the association to consider the advisability of a circus. It voted to offer five-year contracts to exhibitors wishing to build permanent booths in the new building.

Five contractors bid for the general contract. They were: F. O Kelly, $16,073.60; Jess Williams $16,200; Bob Maxey, $15,766; W. S Moss, $16,700; and McMillan.

Bidders for the electrical contract were: Delta Electric company, $1,021.90; Fletcher Electric company, $1,425; and Pruitt.

The structure will be the third permanent building on the fairgrounds, east of Lubbock. There are two large steel livestock buildings on the grounds that are permanent.

Senator Connally Says There Will Be No Special Session

MARLIN, June 27. (AP)—Senator Connally predicted today there would be no special session of congress this fall.

In commenting on the past session, the senator said "congress enacted much constructive legislation and approved the president's program on the whole. I feel that the tax bill has already been helpful to revival of business activity.

"There is unmistakeable evidence that business is showing substantial improvements."

Cross-Complaint In Divorce Case Filed

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 27. (AP)—Phil Plant filed a cross-complaint to the divorce action of his wife, Edna Dunham Plant, in superior court today, in which he charged her with misconduct with Prince Levan Dadiani.

At the same time, the former Broadway playboy who retired several years ago to a Waterford farm to raise exotic poultry formally denied charges of his wife which termed him an "international drunk" and accused him of extra-marital affairs, principally with Marjorie King, showgirl.

Plant, heir to a $20,000,000 fortune, asserted that Prince Dadiani, polo-playing nobleman and once member of a ruling house of the Russian province of George, had paid attentive court to Mrs. Plant since last March.

They were married April 11, 1934.

American Hospital Group In Favor Of Insurance Plans

CHICAGO, June 27. (AP) — The American Hospital association today came out in defense of hospital insurance plans under which at least 1,600,000 Americans are protected.

The insurance system, affording subscribers three weeks annual hospitalization, if needed, has been opposed by the American Medical association and various groups within the profession.

These groups include x-ray men, anesthetists and pathologists who wish to have their services removed as benefits of the hospital plans. They demand the privilege of charging insurance patients a separate fee for their services, on the same basis as other medical or surgical specialists.

Singing in the bathtub is an old Roman custom.

Plant's first wife was Constance Bennett, the film star.

No Action On Grant Taken

Offer of the federal government to give Lubbock county a $9,000 grant for courthouse improvement was considered in regular semi-monthly session of county commissioners Monday morning. No formal action was taken.

Acceptance of the proposal might result in the installation of an elevator, tearing away of old stairs and construction of three offices in waste space now taken by stairs, and the possibility of rewiring the structure, and improving acoustics in both district court rooms.

Present were P. B. Penney, commissioner of precinct 1, Ben Mansker of precinct 2, T. L. Holt of precinct 3 and B. O. McWhorter of precinct 4.

Election Order Entered

The court entered an order declaring a June 11 election at Groveville to consolidate the elementary school there with elementary districts of Caldwell, Center and Monroe, districts of the New Deal school district, failed to pass. Sixty-seven votes of 113 cast rejected consolidation.

Application for a hearing declaring null and void a dedication of Garland Heights addition was passed by the court, since none was present to describe location and other particulars.

Commissioners told Judge J. J. Dillard, presiding, they had anticipated needs for dirt fills where lakes bordering highway and lateral roads had interferred with traffic.

O. A. Walker, architect, appeared before the court to testify concerning courthouse remodeling in terms of the government offer. He urged acceptance of the grant, and said employment thus would be accorded workers on WPA rolls.

Routine approval of accounts and reports composed other business, and Judge Dillard adjourned the body at noon.

Financial Obligations Are To Be Attended By Mexico

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP) — Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles said today the United States had been informed officially the Mexican government intends to honor its past and present financial obligations.

He said he had no word from the Mexican embassy regarding reports the Mexican government had cancelled plans for a bond issue to make the first payment on oil properties expropriated in March.
