Texas-Okla. Fair
SEPT. 29—OCT. 5
Coming, Aren't You?

VOL. VI, NO. 51. WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1924. FIVE CENTS EVERYWHERE.

WEBSTER, TEXAS, AREA INFECTED

T-O Fair is at the Post Ready in Every Detail For Its Third Exhibit

Kindly Weather Man Remains Sole Judge of Whether or Not Past Records Shall be Broken By Big Exposition.

Acclaimed officially ready and stamped unofficially even now as certain to surpass in every respect both of the two previous expositions, the Texas-Oklahoma fair opens its gates tomorrow for its 1924 run of one week.

A kindly weather man remains the sole necessity for the success of the show; everything else that can be done has been done; and weather prognosticators, notwithstanding the uncertainty attached to Texas climate, are confident that the coming week will be all that can be asked.

Officials Expected.

Fair officials yesterday looked around at the results of the past year's preparation and proclaimed themselves as well satisfied. Careful planning, constant research and exhaustive attention to every detail that might add to an improvement of any angle of the fair has been the order of the day. R. E. Shepherd secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, and on whom the brunt of the work has fallen, has done triple duty the last two weeks but his labors have been merely an intensification of those undergone ever since last year's fair was brought to a successful close. And, in somewhat lesser degree, other association officials, local business men and mere well wishers of the fair have been almost equally as active.

Exhibits Are Many.

More detailed accounts of what may be expected at the spic and span buildings and grounds will be found in other columns of today's Record News. Complete premium and prize lists, biographical data concerning the fair leaders, daily programs and other information bearing on the subject have been incorporated in the several stories.

With exhibits piled high in the fair grounds buildings, the cream of mid-west race horses and auto racers awaiting the barriers, prize stock from the far corners of Texas in their stalls—and more of all on the way, officials had passed the point yesterday where they had any doubts as to the quantity and quality of what they had to offer. With liberal premium lists offered, the best that farmer stockman, rancher, merchant, business man, manufacturer and housewife can produce has been attracted to the exhibition booths. Amusements galore, ranging from stunt airplane flying and mamoth pyrotechnics to nigger baby stands and bulky mules have been contracted for.

Summing up his opinion of the fair, Clint Wood, president of the fair association, said yesterday:

"The Texas-Oklahoma fair will be the greatest regional exposition ever held in southern Oklahoma or northwest Texas. Thousands of exhibits and the best amusements obtainable have been entered and contracted for by the association. The attendance is expected to break last year's record by 50,000."

From R. E. Shepherd.

R. E. Shepherd, secretary, voiced his opinion thusly:

"The fair association this year confidently expects the largest attendance and the most complete and elaborate exposition in its history. More and better exhibits have been entered than in either of the two previous fairs. With pleasant weather an attendance of 200,000 is expected during the seven days. The officials have worked faithfully and have been untiring in their efforts to give southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas a greater regional fair than the 1923 exposition. All exhibits and amusements await visitors Monday."

In a similar vein were the comments of W. E. Norton, treasurer, whose outlook on the financial situation is extremely bright. W. M. Moore, vice president; George D. Keith, former president and present head of the cattle division; Ira D. Brown, head of the poultry division; Mrs. Charles R. Hartsook, head of the women's department; C. H. Verschoyle a director and former secretary; E. S Goodner, director of the better babies show; Guy R. Jones, county farm agent in charge of the various county exhibits from distant localities; Carl Williamson, director of the swine department, and all the others involved one way or the other, have expressed utmost confidence in the appeal that the big exposition is to have.

The various departments under the direction of these leaders are larger and more complete than in 1923; new and novel exhibits have been worked out by each of them; amusement features second to none in the entertainment world have been brought to Wichita Falls, and these plus the enthusiasm that has already been aroused will, it is certain, bear fruit in a bigger and better T-O fair that the entire southwest may acclaim.

Oklahoma Coming.

While the fair, located in Wichita Falls, will naturally draw the bulk of its patronage from this city, work and expense have not been spared in impressing the fact it is no more an exclusive Wichita Falls enterprise than is an October moon. Southern Oklahoma for miles along Red river is to be represented. The Texas panhandle stretching even to New Mexico will have its exhibits and its people here. That rather indefinite area known as northwest Texas, for fair purposes, happens to stretch all over the state and into a few adjoining sister commonwealths.

THIRD MINISTER IN ILLINOIS HAS BEEN EXPELLED

Alleged Embracing Scene In His Church Cause For Elders' Action

By The Associated Press.

CARBONDALE, Ills., Sept. 27.—The third minister to have been expelled from the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church during the annual meeting of the Southern Illinois conference in session here, was stripped of his frock today.

The Rev. Mr. J. O. Richardson of Thompsonville, Illinois, was today expelled from the church, when the conference found him guilty of conduct unbecoming a minister of the gospel.

His name came up with those of two others, Lawrence M. Hight, of Ina, Illinois, confessed poisoner of his wife, and C. M. Latimer, of Fairfield, Ill., the latter on a charge of conduct unbecoming a minister, who were ordered expelled from the church by the unanimous vote of the conference.

The conference found the Rev. Mr. Richardson's name linked with that of a young girl of his congregation after an alleged embracing scene in the Thompsonville church.

DISCUSS SCHOOL FINANCE

"Bootlegging" System Will Be Discouraged, He Says

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—Efforts to discourage what was described as "bootlegging" in school finances are to be made by the state teachers' association, according to Ray Camp of Fort Worth, publicity director of the organization, the executive committee of which met here today. The committee laid plans for the annual convention in San Antonio, ov. 27, 28 and 29.

The chief theme of the state meeting will be school finance, said Mr. Camp. The educational survey report will be studied, with a view to determining how it can be applied to school needs.

"Bootlegging" in school finances was said to be the system or lack of system by which some schools, through vigorous action, are able to get sufficient funds for their needs while others do not get enough to supply them for a full term.

Dr. A. R. Seligman of Columbia university, an expert in finance and economics, is to be one of the principal speakers at the state meeting, it was announced.

Lindsey Blayney, Rice Instructor, Named C.I.A. Head

BOARD MEETS SAT.

Other Matters Taken Up; More Teachers to Be Used This Year

By The Associated Press.

DENTON, Texas, Sept. 27. — Dr. Lindsey Blayney, of Rice Institute, Houston, was elected president of the Texas State College for Women, College of Industrial Arts, to succeed the late Dr. F. M. Bralley, at a meeting of the board of regents of the college this afternoon. The institution is the largest school of its kind in the south and the third largest in the world. It now has over eighteen hundred students enrolled, over one-hundred faculty members and isaffiliated with the American association of colleges.

All Members Present

All members of the board were present at the meeting. They are J. M. Sullivan of Denton, Mrs. Sallie B. Cupps of Fort Worth, Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald of Dallas, J. H. Lowry of Honey Grove, Mrs. E. P. Turner of Waco and Mrs. Lee Josephs, San Antonio.

The man selected to head the college is one of the most distinguished educators in the state. At present he is head of Rice institute department of Germanic languages. During the world war he served with such credit that at the close of hostilities he had attained the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and was decorated for gallantry in action.

He Is Notified.

Following the meeting a telegram was dispatched to Dr. Blayney notifying him of his appointment.

The board approved recommendations of the acting president, F. W White to employe five new instructors as the conditions at the school overcrowd the present classes.

LADKIN BEATS EPINARD.

French Thoroughbred Loses Aqueduc Classic by Nose.

By The Associated Press.

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, New York, Sept. 27.—In one of the most thrilling races of American turf history, Ladkin, Major August Belmont's brilliant three-year-old, by Fair Play-Lading, ridden by Clarence Kummer, today won the second international special at a mile before a crowd of 40,000. The time was 1:36 2-5 and the value to the winner $28,750.

Epinard, continental champion, again finished second, this time by a nose and coming fast a length ahead of Wise Counsellor, Kentucky colt which conquered the French Crack by a narrow margin on Labor Day in the first special at six furlongs.

Lost in the glamour of the contest among the three leaders, was a struggle between Zev and My Own, high lights of last year, but dim today. Two lengths behind Wise Counsellor, Zev finished fourth, only a nose beyond his rival. Little Chief, the only other starter, trailed the field three lengths.

5 FOR ME, BRYAN DECLARES.

Demo Nominee Says Doubtful States Swinging Into Line.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Indications at present point to a democratic victory in at least five western states, with two doubtful, Governor Bryan, democratic candidate for vice-president, told newspaper men on his arrival here today for his first visit to Chicago since he was nominated.

"It is too early," he said, "to make any definite predictions, but my reports from Nebraska and bordering states at present indicate that the democrats will carry Nebraska, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming."

While reports from South Dakota and Iowa were "very encouraging," the vice-presidential nominee said they were not complete enough to make a prediction for those states.

WILSON DENIES NEW TRIAL FOR HERB GRIFFIN

New Evidence Offered By Defense Fails to Get Second Hearing

MOTION OVERRULED

Case Now Goes to Court Of Criminal Appeals For Final Action

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Sept. 27.—A motion for a new trial, argued here today by counsel for Herbert Griffin, was overruled this afternoon by Judge H. R. Wilson of the 30th district court despite the three exceptions set up by the defendant. Griffin, who is under a 25 year sentence for the murder of Hugh Reilly, Jr., last May must now take his fight for freedom to the court of criminal appeals. Notice of appeal was immediately served.

The chief point on which a new trial was asked centered around new testimony concerning the Griffin-Reilly fight near Dundee last spring. The new evidence, it is understood, is in the form of a conversation Reilly had on the morning of the 16th with W. T. (Bill) Drake, formerly a wholesale produce salesman of Wichita Falls.

Drake, it is understood, is prepared to testify that on the morning of the day Reilly was shot he was returning from a trip to the diversion dam, passed the spot where the fight later took place, saw a man he later learned to be Griffin near the place and still later met Hugh Reilly. The latter, Drake's evidence is supposed to show, carried a Winchester rifle which he patted as he remarked that he was "hunting a two-legged coyote, Herbert Griffin."

In addition to this, the defense in its plea for a new trial alleged error in the court's charge to the jury before the verdict against Griffin was returned. It also alleged improper remarks by state's counsel in argument to the jury.

LATE NEWS BRIEFS

COUSHATTA, La.—Mrs. L. Curt Hughes, wife of L. C. Hughes, who is in the Caddo parish jail at Shreveport, charged with having shot and killed W. Buford Buther, a prominent planter and road contractor of Red River parish near here, on September 24, was arrested near here yesterday and charged with being an accessory before the fact to her husband's alleged crime, it became known here today. She was placed in jail at Natchitoches. L. Curt Hughes Jr., a son of W. L. Friend, a negro, also were taken into custody on the same charge.

HOUSTON—The body of an unidentified white man was found today near Goose Creek, near the Goose Creek road. Three bullet wounds were found in the body and what appeared to be blood stains were found on his clothing and nearby on the ground. The ground showed evidence of the body having been dragged to where it was found, about 20 feet from the road.

ST. LOUIS—Harry A. Hoehe Jr. today was found guilty of murder in the second degree for the slaying of his wife, Marie, and sentenced to a term of 20 years in the penitentiary. The jury deliberated 10 hours and 10 minutes. Mrs. Hoehe was beaten to death with a wrench last July 11.

MARION, Ills.—Admitting that he knew Mrs. Ruby Herrington Tate intended to poison her former husband to marry him and that he made no effort to stop here, Robert Tate tonight promised a full confession tomorrow, Sheriff Galligan announced. Mrs. Tate confronted Tate in his cell tonight. She told him she had confessed everything and asked him to do likewise. "Let me go to bed, now," he said, "and I'll tell everything tomorrow."

Second Family In Franks Case To Leave Old Scenes

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The Leopold family is the second of the three families directly involved in the slaying of Bobby Franks to desert its palatial home in the Kenwood district. The family will move to an apartment.

Less than a month ago Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, sold his beautiful home because he and his family, especially his wife, could not endure the scenes in the locality

TEMPERATURE VARIES HERE

32 Degrees Difference Saturday In Local Weather

A temperature variation of 32 points gave Wichita Falls several kinds of weather Saturday.

From an early morning low of 57 degrees, the thermometer mounted early in the afternoon to 89 and then skidded back hourly until at 5 p. m. it was standing at 70. A fresh wind from the north carried a hint of rain and this feeling was heightened by an overcast sky most of the afternoon.

A sharp downpour of rain hit the city about 2 o'clock Saturday morning but this speedily subsided and the skies cleared.

MONTANA TAKES ACTION

By The Associated Press.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 27. — A temporary embargo order on all livestock shipments from Texas to Montana was telegraphed to Governor Pat M. Neff of Texas by W. J. Butler, head of the state livestock sanitary board today. Dr. Butler, as head also of the Western States Livestock Sanitary association, is considering telegraphing livestock sanitary boards in thirteen western states recommending embargoes by these states against Texas livestock.

BENES PROPOSAL ON ARBITRATION GETS LEAGUE OK

Disarmament Commission Adopts His Report On Security Also

JAPS STILL KICK

Will Hold Conference In June if Majority Of States Ratify

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 27—The disarmament commission of the league of nations assembly tonight adopted the Benes report on the draft protocol of arbitration and security.

The commission decided that the world-wide disarmament conference will be held June 15, 1925, if by May a majority of the states represented in the league council and ten others shall have ratified the protocol.

The Japanese objections to the arbitration clauses go over until the Sunday morning session of the judicial committee. There is little hope that Japan's position will be changed, according to the impression conveyed by M. Adachi to the various delegates notably M. Briand, tonight.

Of peculiar importance to the United States and other countries which are not members of the league of nations was the interpretation of security made by Dr. Benes, as official reporter to the assembly, that states which do not sign the protocol and do not belong to the league may be proclaimed aggressor states if they refuse the arbitral proceedings laid down by the protocol and the league covenant, and resort to war.

Should this happen, the signatory states would be obliged to apply sanctions against the non-member states as provided for in the league covenant and emphasized by the protocol under discussion.

MOTHER WINS HER BABY

Bitter Legal Fight For Custody Of Child Ends.

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27.—"No love can equal that of a natural mother and especially as it may relate to a little child in early infancy."

Upon this statement Judge R. G. Tyloe in the forty-fifth district court today passed his decision giving the custody of Doris Mae Holland, aged 3, to her natural mother, Wilda May Holland. Thus ended the bitter legal struggle between Austin R. Holland and his divorced wife for the custody of their child.

To Rev. Bruce Roberts, a preacher, Judge Tayloe awarded the custody of Lois Memory Holland, aged five. Both parties had agreed in open court that Lois Memory, who was placed with her minister-uncle in February this year should remain there.

BURK FAIR IS CLOSED

Community Exposition Proves a Big Success, Officials Report

By The Associated Press.

BURKBURETT, Sept. 27.—The community fair closed Saturday evening with a splendid record of exhibits and visitors. Blue and red ribbons fluttered from hundreds of articles from the primary school, drawings to the monstrous hogs, sows and Shetland ponies in the stalls.

The commercial organization and city officials deserve every credit for the success of the second annual fair of Burkburnett in which the ladies clubs, schools, merchants and stock men gave full co-operation.

FALSE ALARM AGAIN

Firemen were called at 12:45 Saturday noon to Sixth and Austin when some one, evidently wanting to see the trucks run, pulled the alarm box at that corner.

A thorough search of the neighborhood revealed no blaze and the call was chalked up on the irony side of the ledger.

Little Fear Is Expressed In Wichita

With the malady discovered and isolated in one spot, little fear is felt here that the foot and mouth disease, reported as having gained a foothold in Harris county, would spread to this part of Texas.

Dr. L. I. Lucey and Dr. A. H. Douglass, two veterinarians here, stated yesterday that it was probably an accident that the disease had taken root in Harris county.

The disease causes small blisters and an attendant decay of the animal tissue which brings on severe illness but seldom death. Destruction of the infected animals has been found to be the most effective means of stamping out the epidemic.

NEFF AND THE RANGERS LEAVE FOR GERM AREA

Governor Will Supervise Personally State's Fight Against Disease

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Prompt action by federal and state livestock officials has brought the combined forces of the bureau of animal industry and the livestock sanitary commission of Texas into a concentrated drive to eradicate an outbreak of the foot and mouth disease among cattle on a ranch in Harris county, Texas, not far from Houston. Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the federal government's forces here, said conditions in general are favorable for the eradication work.

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON Texas, Sept. 27.—Governor Pat M. Neff of Texas who will arrive in Houston tomorrow for a conference on the foot and mouth disease to determine just what is needed to check the spread has not yet given consideration to the possible need of calling a special session of the state legislature for the purpose of making an appropriation to combat the plague, he stated in a long distance telephone conversation with the Houston Post-Dispatch late today prior to leaving Austin for this city.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—Every government resource at the command of Texas will be enlisted to check any spread of the foot and mouth disease discovered near Houston, Governor Pat M. Neff declared as he departed for Houston tonight. A number of state rangers accompanied the governor. He expects to give personal supervision to plans for controlling the malady.

The governor will go to Imperial State farm near Sugarland, 35 miles from Houston to inaugurate the honor system among the prisoners Monday unless a quarantine causes a change of plans. J. Boog-Scott, chairman of the Texas livestock sanitary commission, advised the governor today the disease had definitely been diagnosed as foot and mouth infection and that 1,100 exposed cattle were to be killed at once. Boog-Scott urged the governor to mobilize state rangers to assist in the work.

400 BRAHMA HEAD HELD.

Disease Found Among Cattle 20 Miles From Houston.

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 27.—Official announcement was made here today that about one-half of a herd of 900 Brahma cattle on a ranch opposite Ellington Field, 20 miles south of here, were infected with the foot and mouth disease. At the same time announcement was made that a quarantine had been inaugurated in Harris and Galveston and parts of Brazoria and Fort Bend counties.

OKLAHOMA QUARANTINES

Texas Cattle Are Barred From State As Result of Reports

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27.—A quarantine in Oklahoma against Texas cattle because of the prevalence of a malady believed to be the foot and mouth disease in Harris county, Texas, was established today by the state board of agriculture and the federal livestock inspector of Oklahoma. It became effective at once, John A. Whitehurst, president of the board of agriculture announced.

JOCK LEADS FIELD IN MISSOURI OPEN GOLF

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27 Jock Hutchison of Chicago, former United States and British open golf champion, was leading the field late today, with a score of 140 in the first 36 holes of the Missouri open golf tournament at the St. Louis country club course.

Hutchison broke the course record in the morning round with a score of 67, four strokes under par, and made the afternoon circuit in 73.

PERRY-M'FADDEN RANCH CATTLE ARE DISEASED

State Enlists Every Available Force to Combat Hoof-Mouth Danger

1,000 MEN NECESSARY

Governor Neff to Scene Of Infected Areas to Personally Supervise Fight

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Sept. 27.—A third outbreak of disease among cattle in Harris county was diagnosed by Dr. W. E. Cotton, government expert, as foot and mouth disease. The latest outbreak is on the ranch of Thomas Dunn, across the road from the Jacobs ranch, where the first infection was discovered. Dunn has about 1,500 cattle on his ranch. Preparations for shooting all of the infected cattle are under way.

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Sept. 27.—A second outbreak of the foot and mouth disease was declared late today to have been found on the Perry-McFadden ranch, near Webster, Texas. This ranch is slightly north of the Jacobs ranch, where the first outbreak occurred and is included in the six thousand acres under guard.

The new outbreak was definitely diagnosed as foot and mouth disease by W. E. Cotton, government expert from Washington.

State Takes Action.

With the definite diagnosis today of the disease affecting 400 head of Brahma cattle on the ranch of Rev. William States Jacobs as the foot and mouth disease plans were put into operation to hold the disease in check. Seventy-five men, guards, inspectors and laborers were thrown into the ranch and before night six thousand acres of land and 1,100 head of beef cattle were under guard. This force was expected to be augmented by Monday with the probability that ultimately 1,000 men might be engaged in the task.

The state sanitary and live stock commission issued an official quarantine today on all of Harris and Galveston counties and all that part of Fort Bend and Brazoria counties east of the Brazos river prohibiting the movement of live stock either within these counties or out of the state. Live stock already in transit on railroads was not affected by the order. The quarantine was extended to dressed carcasses of all ruminants and their hides or wool, as well as to all products of the soil, including hay, grain, biological products manufactured in the quarantined territory, trees, grass, shrubs, bulbs, flowers and green house plants.

Quarantine Modified.

The quarantine first was extended to dairy products, but was modified during the day to permit their shipment after they had been sterilized and placed in containers approved by an inspector attached to the commission.

During the day Governor Pat M. Neff at Austin was notified of the progress being made to check the disease. It was recognized that the struggle would entail the expenditure of a large sum of money and the governor agreed to come to Houston tomorrow for a conference.

Trenches were dug today by a steam shovel for the burial of the infected cattle which are scheduled to be destroyed Monday, according to present plans. Probably one-half of the Jacobs herd will be sacrificed, it was said.

Coming From California.

While these precautions were being taken, Dr. Marion Imes, was summoned from his home in California, which was recently the center of an infection. He will take charge of the bureau of animal industry forces in Texas during the fight to eradicate the disease.

Plans to conserve the Fort Worth live stock, the largest in the state, were made and included permission to ship cattle from outside the infected area if they were unloaded in daylight and properly inspected.

There have been several theories regarding the origin of the disease in this state. The theory that the disease had developed through contact with a number of Brahma bulls imported from Mexico found little support from J. E. Boog-Scott of Fort Worth. It was true, he said, that while they were a part of the infected herd, it was improbable that they were the source of the infection in as much, he asserted, as they had been subjected to blood tests by the federal government before becoming attached to the herd.

Seek Infection Source.

"We are looking for the source of infection in every port in the United States," Boog-Scott said today. He indicated it was possible it might have come through the port of Galveston and been due to the operations of bootleggers. This theory extended to the probability that germs of the foot and mouth disease might easily become attached to the material used in packing liquors from foreign countries and smuggled into Texas. A number of dismantled packing cases which had the appearance of having one time held liquor of a foreign brand have been found in the ranch where the infected cattle are located.

Another theory, which Boog-Scott was careful to say was merely one of the possibilities, was that the germs had come from Japan through the port of Vancouver in seeds shipped to a nursery conducted by Japanese within a few hundred feet of the area where the infection was first found.

Japan's Demand Of Council Still Before League

Assembly Buisly Engaged In Examining Draft Of The Protocol

HAVE TO HURRY

Statesmen Fear it May Not Be Ready When Monday Comes

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—The commission of the League of Nations assembly which is engaged in examining the draft protocol of arbitration and security was in session until the early hours today in an effort to speed up its work.

So many new points are arising at the last minute in the work of revision that some apprehension exists that the document may not be ready for presentation to the assembly by Monday, if the discussion is not finished tonight the delegates will sit on Sunday.

The Japanese attempt to introduce a change in the draft so that disputes arising out of purely internal matters would still come before the council of the league for conciliation continued today to be one of the main topics of discussion.

Article V of the draft protocol provides that in the case of a dispute where one of the contending nations claims the subject matter is solely within its domestic jurisdiction and the world court upholds this claim the court opinion shall be binding. The Japanese, through M. Adachi, introduced an amendment declaring that notwithstanding this provision the league council should continue its endeavors to adjust the dispute in question.

In the face of general disapproval M. Adachi withdrew the amendment and announced that Japan made reservations concerning the entire protocol now being drafted. The Japanese amendment was generally regarded as referring to disputes arising over the question of immigration, although M. Adachi made no reference to the subject.

France came forward today in the role of mediator in an endeavor to save the draft protocal of arbitration and security.

It is understood that at a meeting of the Japanese delegation several of the members expressed the opinion that M. Adachi had gone too far in taking his strong position which all the delegates regarded as an insistence that disputes arising from the immigration question, which the world court would be certain to throw out as not suitable causes for international intervention by the league must nevertheless be examined by the council.

Louis Loucheur of the French delegation today met M. Adachi, Sir Cecil Hurst of Great Britain and Signor Schanzer of Italy and in a private conference suggested the insertion of a clause in the protocol which would merely duplicate the covenant and say that the council of the league should strive to mediate in all conflicts liable to endanger world peace. This would remove the sting of the proposed Japanese amendment.

FERGUSON FIRST LICENSED.

They Got First Auto Plate Ever Issued by State of Texas.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—The democratic nominee for governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, and the republican nominee, Dr. George C. Butte are to give their views on state matters especially good roads, in the next issue of the Highway Bulletin, published by the state highway department, Gibb Gilchrist, engineer of the department, announced today. Both have been invited to contribute articles.

The first automobile license ever issued by the state of Texas was issued to the Fergusons about 10 years ago and the automobile which bore it is still in active use in the Ferguson family, Mr. Gilchrist said.

TAKE $7,000 IN BOX.

Inspectors Seize Woman's Money As Part of Mail Loot.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Postal inspectors have seized $7,000 in currency from a safety deposit box in Kansas City, Mo., on the supposition that it may be part of the $2,000,000 loot of the mail train robbery at Rondout, Ills., last June.

The money was found in a vault held in the name of Miss Helen McNeil, a niece of Herbert Holliday, one of the men held here in connection with the robbery, John Elliott Byrne, assistant United States district attorney, announced here today.

Miss McNeil, Mr. Byrne was informed, next Monday will start an action in Kansas City to recover the money.

Holliday is held along with nearly a dozen others in default of $100,000 bail.

Loved Another; Killed Husband To Satisfy Desire

By The Associated Press.

MARION, Ills., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Ruby Harrington late today confessed the murder of her former husband, Joseph Harrington, in order that she could marry Robert Tate, another miner, according to information received here from West Frankfort, where Mr. and Mrs. Tate were arrested late last night.

Mrs. Tate declared the poison had been purchased at a Johnston City drug store by Robert Tate, a former roomer at the Harrington home, whom she married four days ago.

Under questioning Tate continued to deny there had been any poison conspiracy or that he had any connection with Harrington's death.

Supplementing earlier confessions, Mrs. Ruby Herrington Tate admitted, officers said, that she put one and a half teaspoonfuls of poison in buttermilk which her former husband, Joseph Herrington, drank the night before he died, September 3, last.

HIGHT CASE HELPED PROBE.

Suspicion Added to Gossip Caused Renewal of Investigation.

By The Associated Press.

JOHNSON CITY, Ills., Sept. 27.—Joseph L. Harrington, coal miner died September 3 under circumstances that caused exhumation of the body yesterday for an analysis of the contents of the stomach. Warrants for the arrest of Robert Tate, who married Harrington's widow four days ago were expected to be issued by State's Attorney Deles Duty today.

Hight Case Renewed It.

It was the Hight-Sweetin poison case and subsequent gossip that caused the investigation to be taken up, prosecuting officials intimated yesterday. Residents of this city had seen Tate and Mrs. Harrington together frequently and neighbors spoke of quarrels between Harrington and his wife because of the alleged attentions paid Mrs. Harrington by Tate, a boarder in the Harrington house.

Harrington was known to be a devout member of a church and neighbors said he had been sent to church by his wife to pray for her while she was seen in company with Tate. Harrington had been ill a week, but had declined medical attention because of his religious belief, it was said. A physician who was called on the day before Harrington's death certified his death was due to indigestion.

Was at the Grave.

Mrs. Harrington moved to West Frankfort after her husband's death and took over a rooming house. She was said to have been in the cemetery when her first husband's body was disinterred. Tate was reported to have left the mine where he was employed, Tuesday afternoon and had not returned to work.

Queen Victoria of England was taught in German until she was 12 years old.

Love Prominent At Butte Meeting Held in Dallas

He Contributes $50 Toward Good Government Demo League

SEELECMAN PRESENT

Head of Southern Methodist University Takes Part In Movement

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 27.—The good government democratic league of Texas" was organized here today and Dr. George C. Butte, the republican nominee for governor, was indorsed for that office.

Among those attending the meeting were Thomas B. Love, former democratic national committeeman; Dr. Charles C. Seelecman, president of Southern Methodist university; D. A. Frank, former head of the ex-Student's association of the University of Texas, and Rev. Arthur Jones of Arlington, former president of the anti-Saloon League of Texas.

There was no opposition to the indorsement of Dr. Butte.

John Mc shall of Grayson county, who presided as temporary chairman, was named president of the league; E. J. Mantooth, Lufkin; A. J. Mayhew, Waxahachie, and Mrs. John D. Claybrook, Austin, vice-president; S. A. Fishburn, Dallas, secretary, and R. E. Burt, Dallas, treasurer.

Mr. Love contributed $50 to the league's fund as did M. Little.

An executive committee of 31 members will be chosen.

In the discussion Mr. Love, who collaborated with the late Senator Terrell writing the present election law, declared that the pledge was never intended to bind voters. "In the same law," he said, "it goes on to tell voters how to write in the name of a candidate or how not to vote for the nominee. If the pledge was to have been binding this provision could not have been written."

Mr. Love continued to say that he agreed with John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, that the republicans should be defeated, "but," he added, "I cannot agree with him and vote for Jim Ferguson."

Mrs. John D. Claybrook of Austin president of the Women's Democratic club of Texas, made the address placing Dr. Butte's name before the assembly.

INDIAN SLAYS WOMAN.

Mrs. "Chief" Rogers Meets Death At Hands of John Linscott.

By The Associated Press.

PRYOR, Okla., Sept. 27.—John Linscott, an Indian, today shot and killed Mrs. "Chief" Rogers, widow of a wealthy Indian, and an hour later committed suicide as a posse of officers closed in on him four miles west of this city. Officers could find no motive for the killing. Ed Johnson, who accompanied Linscott was arrested after the slayer had killed himself, but he denied complicity in the affair.

Witnesses said Linscott drove his car alongside the automobile in which Mrs. Rogers was taking her children to school and shot her down when she ignored his command to get into his car. The men then drove away in a car, but abandoned it and were fleeing on foot when the posse surrounded them.

COMPTROLLER IS RELIEVED

Not Responsible In Redemption of Land Sold Individuals.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—The state comptroller was relieved of responsibility in the redemption of land sold to some person other than the state to enforce payment of taxes by an opinion rendered today by the attorney general. Such redemptions do not involve the payment of any taxes and no law enjoins upon the comptroller any duty concerning them, the opinion held.

In another opinion rendered to Hube B. Wells, county attorney at Cooper, the attorney general held that in the assessment of shares of bank stock for state and county taxes there should be deducted from the actual cash value of the stock the assessed value of all lands in county in which the land is situated. Such shares should be assessed in the county in which the bank is located, the opinion said.

LINEMAN'S WIFE

Foot Prints are Found, And Also Blood Stains On Door

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 27. — Mrs. Alice Robinson, 30, was found dead with a bullet wound in the head at her home here today. She was last seen alive by neighbors about 9 o'clock last night and indications were she had been dead about twelve hours. Police found foot prints leading from a back door to a gate at the rear of the house and blood stains on the back screen door. One shot had been fired from a small calibre pistol held close to the woman's head, police said. She was the wife of W. W. Robinson, a lineman.

MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

Washington Tunnels dug by Entomologist Only as Recreation.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The "baffling mystery" of the labyrinth of underground passage ways discovered Wednesday in an exclusive residential section of the capital, a neighborhood of embassies and costly mansions, has been solved. Harrison G. Dyar, a quiet and unassuming individual employed as an entomologist in the Smithsonian Institute, put an end to feverish speculations that ran the gamut from German spies to bootleggers, conspirators and what-not, when he told a newspaper reporter he dug the passage ways for recreation after office hours.

"Digging tunnels after work is my hobby; there's really no mystery about it," Mr. Dyar was quoted as saying when he rather reluctantly told the story to quiet the agitations of the imaginative which have been filling the local press ever since the wheels of a motor truck sang through a crust of earth and revealed the tunnel.

The scientist explained that he found cave digging a helpful form of exercise as well as an entertainment for his young son. The passageways on which he worked for a period of about 10 years were now nearly 10 years old, he said, having been constructed on property he owned in the rear of a house from which he has since moved.

Mr. Dyar had no explanation for the presence in the tunnels of German newspapers which bore dates in 1917 after his disposal of the property and which gave the chief impetus to the German spy theory.

Kerosene Fuel Features Tractors On Exhibit Here

Farm tractors using kerosene as fuel, instead of gasoline, will be featured in the machinery show at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

The high price of gasoline is forcing manufacturers of small farm tractors to perfect machines capable of using cheap fuel. Carboretors burning kerosene, and even distillate, are being installed on tractors. They are proving so successful that the farm engineers predict that these fuels will be used almost entirely in the near future.

No Freaks.

No freak types of tractors will be on exhibit at the coming fair. Many of these were exhibited at fairs a few years ago when the industry was in its infancy. Today, with more than 400,000 small farm tractors in use, the principles of construction have been worked out so thoroughly that only a few standard types of machines are being used.

Inventions intended to make machines of all kinds usable on farms where the tractor supplies motive power will be exhibited at the fair. Among the kinds of machines now driven by tractors are plows, discs, harrows, cultivators, corn and cotton planters, seeders, mowers, binders and rakes.

Efforts are being made by the fair management to induce all exhibitors to keep their exhibits in motion, if possible, so as to make them more interesting to visitors. Moving displays are more instructive, say officials, since they show how the machinery works when in use.

Bankers Gather at Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Investment bankers of the United States will assemble here in Convention Sept. 22 to 24.

Review of the investment business for the past year, and discussions of problems that confront investment bankers, will be the chief feature discussed. Nationally prominent financiers will address the meeting.

The Cleveland committee has worked out an elaborate program of entertainment for visitors and their wives. More than 2000 American investment houses and a number in Canada are to be represented. Membership in the association is confined to executive members of firms.

Up-to-Date Tea Room to Be Used At Coming Fair

An up-to-date tea room having all the requirements of the elite's luxurious surroundings will be one of the features of the Women's building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, according to plans approved by the chairmen of the women's department, which met Thursday in the offices of the fair association in the Kahn building.

At the meeting it was decided to allow entries in the culinary division to be made up to 2 o'clock afternoon of September 29, and to judge the culinary exhibits at 4 o'clock afternoon of the same day.

The women's building is to be open from 9 o'clock each morning until 6 o'clock in the evening each day of the exposition.

Some Fragile Exhibits.

Fragile exhibits and the more dainty culinary displays are to be enclosed in glass cases the committee of chairmen decided. It was agreed that concession space in the building would be let to anyone who would make an attractive demonstration advertising appropriate goods or merchandise.

The meeting was attended by all chairmen of the various divisions of the women's department. They were: Mrs. Chas. R. Hartsook, director; Mrs. B. L. Fain and Mrs. R. E. Shepherd, assistant directors; Mrs. C. B. Wood, antique; Mrs. Newton Maer, old ladies' work; Mrs. C. E. Basham, knitting; Mrs. R. E. Strange, crochet; Mrs. J. Browne Hopkins, plain sewing; Mrs. H. B. Gorsline, fancy sewing; Mrs. J. L. Maxwell, embroidery.

Execution of Four Pirates Made Gala Day by Chinese

By The Associated Press.

TSINGTAO, Shantung, China, Sept. 27.—The execution here a few days ago of four pirates attracted a large crowd estimated at 5,000 persons. It emphasized the callousness which is a recognized trait in Chinese psychology. The day was converted into a festival. Peanut, candy and soft drink vendors along the route to and on the field where the executions occurred did a thriving business. An immense throng formed a sort of triumphal procession behind the doomed men as they trudged to their death, and looked on wide-eyed at the spectacle of the shooting.

The hapless pirates were arrested while trying to carry out a conspiracy to seize the flagship of Admiral Wen.

Fair Week Will Bring Out Fancy Window Displays

The displays in show windows of Wichita Falls during Texas-Oklahoma fair week, September 29-October 5, will be the most expensive and elaborate ever assembled by city merchants, window display men declared Thursday.

Some of the merchants have made special trips east to select merchandise for this event and a number of imported creations will be shown. A number of imported novelties will be featured by one establishment. Another will display silks and rich fabrics that are much in favor with milady at the present time.

Evening Frocks.

A special showing of handsome evening frocks featuring the gold jade green and white will be shown in one window. A department store will have a series of displays featuring women's wear, from novelty accessories, millinery, boots and gloves to evening frocks in the new metal cloths.

Window shopping throngs of the fairer and gentler sex are expected to find the latest in class and style in the windows of Wichita Falls establishments. The men, too, will have every opportunity to see and study the shades that the fashion heads have decreed is "proper and stylish (for men."

KIDDIES DAY MONDAY.

Opening Day of T-O Fair Devoted Especially to Children.

September 29, opening day of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, will be "children's day," and the fair association has 50,000 tickets which will be distributed this week to school teachers in southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas. The teachers will issue each school child a ticket, which will admit the bearer into the grounds, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

Teachers can secure the tickets for their pupils by applying for them at the office of the secretary, room 6, Kahn building. They will be sent to towns and cities if application is made by letter or message.

Parents of school children should have their children ask the teachers for the tickets so that the child can take advantage of the offer of the fair association, which is anxious to be host of the splendid boys and girls of northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma.

Fair Here Will Be One of Best Planned in South

One of the best planned fair exhibits in the south will be thrown open to the public by the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, inclusive. The liberal offer of premiums for educational displays has aroused wide interest in the exhibits, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

A big live stock exhibit is assured. Breeders of purebred animals are turning out in force to make the live-stock show of unusually interest and a successful one. Show officials are cooperating with the livestock men in putting on an educational campaign to stimulate more interest in the raising of farm stock of high type, and heavy sales of breeding stock, especially Jerseys, is expected to result from the showing of herds and the auction sale to be held during the exposition.

Women and children will find much to interest them in the women's and children's departments. Boys and girls enrolled in club work have entered exhibits good enough to winner prizes in many of the open classes, in competition with seasoned exhibitors. Many mothers will have to excell to beat their daughters when judges place the awards.

Four Western College Teams to Have New Football Coaches

By The Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Sept. 27.—Four new football coaches are to direct gridiron activities in the Pacific coast and Pacific Northwest conferences this year.

Both Oregon schools are to have new mel. Joe Maddock, former University of Utah coach, is to succeed C. A. "Shy" Huntington at the University of Oregon, and Paul Schissler of Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill. is to take R. R. "Doc" Rutherford's place at the Oregon Agricultural college. Glenn Warner, former University of Pittsburgh coach, is to take charge at Stanford university, while "Clica" Clark, three years coach at Everett, Washington, high school, has been appointed to handle football at the University of Montana.

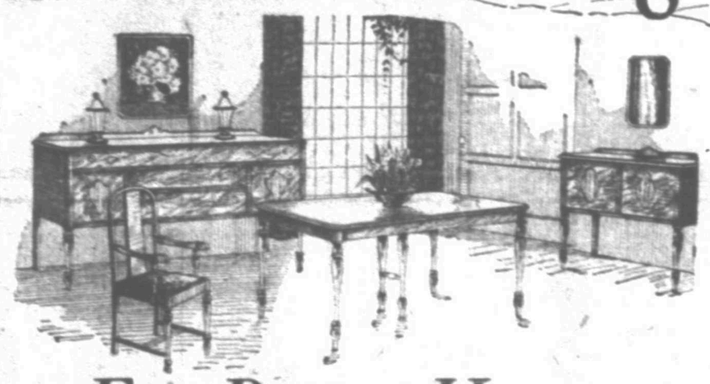

The country is going to become interested in the destinies of Coolidge and La Follette and Davis, all right, but not until after it finds out whether Dazzy Vance and Walter Johnson are going to pitch the world's series.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

THE LAWYER'S QUESTION—Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?

JESUS' ANSWER—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. This do and thou shalt live.—Luke 10:25, 27, 28.

PRAYER—We rejoice, O Lord, to know that this is life eternal to know Thee, the only true God and Jesus Christ Whom Thou has sent.

DAVIS' DEFINITION.

John W. Davis is one of the most dashing campaigners this country has ever known. His invasion of the west and the tremendous crowds that have greeted him has forced Calvin Coolidge to desert the White House and go before the people in defense of the republican party and its policies.

Never in the history of America had a barbecue been given that drew a crowd of seventy thousand until the Nelson barbecue in Missouri in honor of the democratic nominee. This was the greatest political meeting ever held in Missouri and the largest gathering of farmers that ever assembled to hear a speech by the presidential nominee of any party.

Colorado gave the democratic nominee a tremendous western welcome. He addressed an audience of fourteen thousand and six hundred of the representative citizens of Denver, men of all political faiths, gave a dinner in his honor which was a very significant affair.

It was at this dinner that Davis declared in a speech that reverence for constitutional liberty and the rights guaranteed by the constitution is the greatest duty of candidates, political parties and individual citizens. And then the six hundred diners of all political faiths, shouted approval and urged Davs to go on. He did go on and he gave his definition of an American.

"We hear much in this country of Americanism and we hear no little of a hundred percent Americanism, whatever that may mean," declared the democratic nominee. "I wonder sometimes whether we really take to heart that term and define it for ourselves."

He then quoted the preamble of the declaration of independence, declaring life, liberty and the persuit of happiness as inalienable rights. In closing he said:

"In that language the founders of this nation baptised the national child in the name of a Trinity of great ideals human equality, personal liberty and popular sovereignty. The man who believes in these things is an American and no other man is."

John W. Davis is going to fight for the far west, the mountain states, the northwest, the middle west and the states east of the Alleghaney Mountains. He has fighting clothes on, he is a master of the English tongue, he comes of fighting stock and he is going to force the republican presidential nominee to go before the people and defend his cause.

Dawes has subsided to a certain extent. Wheeler is of the Cyclone Davis type of orator and statesman. Bryan is doing the best he can. The big guns are Davis, La Follette and Coolidge and the man who breaks a lance with Davis breaks a lance with a man worthy of his steel.

One thing certain—the democrats found a leader when they picked the West Virginian as the standard bearer of their party after the most memorable convention in American political history.

WOMEN: LOOK OUT MR. WITHEY.

Woman has the ballot. A woman has been nominated by a great party to be governor of Texas. A woman of Georgia held down a seat in the United States senate for several days. Women have held down seats in the lower house of congress. In Ohio a woman is an associate justice of the supreme court.

Many states have women lawmakers. Texas had one two years ago. A deaf man defeated her for re-election—a deaf man but not a dumb man. Mrs. May Nolan of California served a full term in congress. She refused a renomination. A mere man, one Lawrence J. Flarety, has been nominated by the democrats and the republicans to take the timid May.

Now Fred W. Withey, of the National Security company says as a rule women have more regard for honesty than men but he ascribes this regard for the truth principally to an element of fear. The plain English of this is that woman has more regard for honesty than man because she fears exposure, fears arrest, fears punishment.

Man is just as honest, but he will crowd the danger lines, he will shake dice with the penitentiary staring him in the face, he will take a chance and if caught and convicted he will go on the way.

Mr. Withey of the National Surety company is certain to get himself talked about. It will never do for him to become a candidate for office. If he should take a plunge in the political pond what the feminines will do to him will be aplenty.

BIG MONEY MAKERS.

Two Ohio men, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen of Cleveland, are the cocks of the railway walk. They began life as little news merchants in a small Ohio village. They entered the railroad industry in 1916 with two million dollars in cash and no railroad experience. Now they are the masters of a huge rail system and are the men who planned and carried out the Van Sweringen merger. Wall street estimate the paper profits of the brothers at approximately twenty-five million dollars.

They made more than thirteen million dollars on the Lake Erie and Western and first Nickle Plate venture. Wall street is amazed that the Van Sweringens, who began life as news merchants, cleaned up two million dollars in Cleveland real estate ventures and then invaded the railroad world, could have amassed twenty-five million dollars since 1916.

More than this, Wall street is amazed that the two Buckeyes could have taken the money away from the veteran rail sharks of the street.

Potash and Perlmutter

DISCUSS WHAT IS WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE

Particularly With Reference to Presidential And Vice Presidential Candidates.

By MONTAGUE GLASS

"As a class, Mawruss, I always considered farmers very hones, living as they do entirely surrounded by large stretches of vacant lots in the country," Abe Potash observed the other day. "For the same reason, people laying on their backs with appendicitis in hospitals is also honest. They can't get around sufficiently to be otherwise. So therefore, Mawruss, you might even say that honesty is a sickness of the trade with farmers, like housemaid's knee with housemaids and painter's colic with painters, and for that reason, I couldn't see why honesty in a farmer is anything to make a fuss about, as anyhow not anything to make such a big fuss about as honesty in a paying teller or even honesty in a cashier of a moving picture theayter, —and yet, Mawruss, did you ever hear of a candidate for President of the United States who boosted that he begun life as a paying teller, a cashier of a movie picture theayter, or even as a street car conductor where knocking down nickels is practically the rule and not the exception?"

"Furthermore, Mawruss, nowadays you couldn't open a brown illustrated Sunday supplement without coming across a big picture of a candidate for United States president with a hay rake in his hand or driving a farm wagon," Abe continued, "and one way or another, Mawruss, the candidate for President try to give us voters the impression that they are Presidential Candidates on account of an unfortunate combination of circumstances, but really and truly, at heart and by preference, they are just farmers, and always will be."

"But at the same time, Abe," Morris Perlmutter remarked, "you've got to hand it to some of the Presidential candidates that they have pictures printed of themselves running locomotive engines or anyhow shaking hands with locomotive engineers."

"Sure I know," Abe agreed. "But as one garment manufacturer to another, Mawruss, did you ever see so much as a snapshot of a presidential candidate running anything as near connected with the garment industry as a buttonhole machine"

Need For a Presidential Candidate's Guide.

"Well, Abe, a Presidential Candidate has got to be awful careful not to be too different in the running of his campaign," Morris said. "Presidential Candidates have always been shown in the illustrated Sunday supplements as making hay in their off moments, Abe, and if instead of making hay, they was shown making pants or vests, a whole lot of conservative people would refuse to contribute to his campaign expenses. In the same way, Abe, it's seemingly all right for a Presidential Candidate to have his picture taken while shaking hands with the engineer but not while shaking hands with the baggage master or the Pullman conductor. It is even all right for a Presidential Candidate to have his picture taken while running the locomotive engine of the train he is traveling in, but no one would give a nickel for his chances of election if he had a picture printed in the Sunday supplement showing him to be running the combination gill and club car of the train he's traveling in."

"I suppose if he was photographed in the act of running the dining car itself, Mawruss, his campaign manager would resign in a body and probably get an injunction to prevent him from being a Presidential candidate any longer," Abe suggested, "which it seems to me, Mawruss, that there's a big chance for them book publishers who used to print such books as The Bartender's Guide and Drummer's Yarns, to get out a handy manual for Presidential Candidates, telling them just exactly what they can and cannot do till their trouble has run its course and they get defeated as the majority of them will. For instance, Mawruss, it now seems to be all right for a Presidential or anyhow a Vice Presidential Candidate to smoke a pipe, but unless the rules get further amended, Mawruss, it seems to me that it would hardly be safe for a Candidate to chew tobacco in public —anyhow not until it is seen how this public pipe smoking for Presidential Candidates is going to go down with contributors to campaign expenses."

It Depends on The Kind of Ball Game

"Well, I don't know, Abe," Morris said. "The way it looks to me, there's only one way that tobacco could hurt the chances of a Presidential Candidate, and that is in the form of cigarettes. If a Presidential Candidate was to have a photograph of himself circulated showing him to be smoking even a cubeb cigarette for sore throat caught in making campaign speeches, Abe, he might just as well have moving pictures of himself taken while in the act of mixing a Scotch highball and be done with it."

"There is also quite a good deal of close cigarette connected with Presidential Candidates playing games in which a ball is used," Morris continued. "Seemingly it is good campaign publicity for a Presidential Candidate to be photographed while standing with a golluf club in his hand trying to hit a golluf ball. He could also be photographed throwing a baseball into the ball grounds from the grand stand at the beginning of the baseball season, and I don't know as it would harm his chances any if he was to be snapshotted while kicking a football or punching a medicine ball. But if anybody ever printed a flashlight of a Presidential Candidate trying to put the fifteen ball in the corner pocket, Abe, he might as well be discovered by the police,—after they have broken down two iron gates and an ice box door,—leaning over a roulette layout watching to see if the little white ball was going to drop into number twenty eight, which he had just starred with all his available chips, excepting a small stack on the single and double O, y'understand."

"At that, Mawruss, you never can tell what is going to be allowable for Presidential and Vice Presidential Candidates, even including fifteen ball pool, which when you consider that only a few years ago, it would have been impossible to nominate for Vice President a man who played the piano as a man who played the ponies, y'understand, "Abe declared, "and yet today, we have a Vice Presidential Candidate who not only is an expert piano player but also composes music. In fact, Mawruss Mr. Dawes composes such high grade music that I seen by the paper where he is the favorite composer of President Masaryk of the Republic of Czeko-Slovakia, and up to the time he turned in his reparations report was also one of the favorite composers of President Ebert of the Republic of Germany."

"Presidential Candidates Have Always Been Shown Making Hay In Their Moments, Abe, And If Instead Of Making Hay, They Was Shown Making Pants Or Vests, A Whole Lot of Conservative People Would Refuse To Contribute—"

No More Music For the Democrats.

"Well, of course, Abe, there's always a precedent for Presidential pianists in ex-President Paderewski of the Republic of Poland," Morris said, "and while it don't seem likely that Mr. Dawes is going to lose more than a few hundred votes on account of being a piano player, y'understand, I wouldn't care to do any heavy amount of betting on him, if instead of the piano, he had played the saxophone in his spare moments. Which I don't claim to be a political expert or anything, but the way it looks to me, Abe, a Presidential Candidate could have an absolutely perfect record in the way of being raised on a farm, shaking hands with only locomotive engineers and playing no other game with a ball that nine hole golluf, y'understand, and yet if he was teamed up with a Vice-Presidential Candidate who had a saxaphone playing past, y'understand, he would be lucky if he got the vote of the Six Brown Brothers and Paul Whitman."

"I wonder if Governor Bryan plays any instrument," Abe said.

"Maybe he learned to play Swiss Bell Ringing by ear when his brother William was on the Chatauqua platforms," Morris concluded, "but if he did, Abe, the democrats will keep it dark till after the election. They had enough music at their convention as it was.

The Fable of the True Friend

Once there was a hesitating Mortal who would have been up against it on numerous Occasions except for the Fact that he had a dear old Pal who was willing to tell him how to make the next Move.

The undecided Man was named Joe and the Bureau of Advice has been christened Horatio, after which the Name, by general Consent, had been abbreviated to Bill. What Damon was to Pythias, and Gallagher was to Shean, that's what Bill was to Joe.

There have been many famous Partnerships in the History of the World, as, for instance, Turkey and Dressing, Flotsam and Jetsam, McIntyre and Heath, Pig's Knuckles and Sauer Kraut, Fore and Aft, Cream Cheese and Bar le Duc, Nip and Tuck, Doug and Mary, Sherry and Bitters, Put and Take, Baltimore and Ohio, Pork and Beans, Abelard and Heloise, Hell and Maria, Blueberry Pie and Ice Cream, Tom and Jerry, the Smith Brothers and the Siamese Twins, but it is doubtful if any two Careers were ever so interlocked and all mixed up as those of Joe and Bill.

When they were adventurous Urchins together, back in one of those shine Towns which unexpectedly produce our most prominent Citizens, it was Bill who stood out in the Road all set for a Getaway, and directed Joe, up in the Tree, how to steal the Apples. It was a Pleasure for him to plan desperate Forays into the Fields of Adventure and always, when they were out on some illicit expedition, Bill was right there, 30 or 40 feet behind Joe, telling his little Comrade what to do in case the owner of the Melon Patch appeared with a Shot Gun.

Possibly Joe never would have gone up to the wicked City if Bill hadn't come around one Day and ordered him to pack his Telescope and get ready to hit the High Spots. And when they were camping out in a Hall Bed-Room, it was Bill who clipped the Help Wanted Ads out of the Paper and told Joe where he could go and get a job and thereby grab off sufficient Currency to pay the Rent for the Box Stall the two Boys were occupying.

If they went into a Restaurant after a Day of Drudgery, Bill could take a hard look at his beloved Pal die and make up his Mind at once what the two of them wanted to eat. When the Change was brought Joe and he looked at it, evidently wondering if ten per cent of the Check would be enough, Bill would lean over and whisper to him just how much he should tip the Waiter so as to appear generous without seeming to be a Sucker.

These little kindly Acts help to remove the Gravel from Life's Pathway and encourage the Hollyhocks to bloom on either Side. Too often you meet the callous Individual who will deny that he is his Brother's keeper. Bill was not that way at all. He was Joe's Keeper and wore his Uniform day and night.

Joe tried to be grateful. Of course, the sweetest Tune ever warbled, even the one with the novel Title of "I love you," may pall just a teeny, weeny Bit, if it is heard 800 times in Succession, and sometimes Joseph would show a lack of interest when William would tap him on the Knee and say "Now, listen, Old-Timer; you know I'm your Friend."

Sometimes Joe suspected that if he could be left to himself he would struggle along from one Saturday Night to another and keep out of the way of the Cars and possibly enjoy himself in a simple Rube fashion. But every time he turned around, Friend Bill was right there at the Elbow to coach him.

The funny part of it was that Bill was somewhat of a Shell-Fish in the regulation of his own Private Affairs, but he knew just how to manage for someone else. So he used to tell the Victim where to have his Clothes made, and he would pick out his Shirt Patterns for him and tell him how often he needed a Drink, and in other ways relieve him of the Responsibilities which bring on Wrinkles and Gray Hairs.

If the poor Mark wanted to remain in his Room and read something by Tarkington, the Friend would compell him to put on his Low-Front and go out to a Jazz Orgy and meet a bunch of Kloodles who wore No. 6 Hats and talked nothing but Piffle. Bill was always making Engagements for the two of them and then letting Joe know about it later on. In the Early Days in the Far West a lot of Men were hanged for less than that.

Joe laid back and tried to slip out of the Halter when Bill began touting the Grass Widow. The Gal was right out there in the Open, waiting to be grabbed, and Joe couldn't understand why, if she was such a Queen, Bill didn't get busy and secure for himself the Nicest Little Woman in the World. However, Bill explained all that.

"I've got too much Gypsy in me, Kid," said he to Joe, "I'm all the time rarin' to go and I wouldn't be a fit Playmate for any refined Lady of Domestic Tastes. But you're different, Joe, you are. Your Hands just seem naturally made to close around a Lawn Mower and Carpet Slippers wouldn't hurt your Feet the way they would mine. I'll bet if they took an X-Ray of you they'd discover all the concealed Virtues of a Model Husband. Fly to it and I'll share the Flat with you."

You've got to say this for Bill. After Joe took a long Chance with the peroxide Divorcee and found himself in Dutch, it was Bill who employed the lawyer and helped to compromise the Case so that Joe paid only one-half of his Income as Alimony whereas if the Fixer hadn't been on the Job, who knows but Joe would have been giving for three-fourths of it. Once or twice Joe started in to rebuke Bill for getting him into such a Jam with the straw-colored Wild Cat but Bill would always retaliate by saying, while there was a Hurt Look in his Eyes, "Listen, Joe! You went out lookin' for it and you got it. You're your own boss, ain't you?" The answer was "No," but Joe never had the nerve to say it.

If Bill wanted to go on a Trip somewhere he would reserve a Drawing Room in the Pullman and let Joe in on a fifty-fifty basis because he hated to travel alone and didn't want to buy an extra Ticket and, besides he always had a lot of things to say to Joe and by getting him on a Train he could advise him for Hours at a time.

When Joe went out, all unbeknownst to his Protector, and turned a Foxy Trick and got a Hatful of Greenbacks, it was then that old Leave-it-to-me came on a Lope and told him how to invest it so that he would be sure to double his Money in about 18 Months. Bill was willing to sit up late at Night, any time, to count Joe's Money.

After the Oil Stock went so low on the Curb Market that the Newspapers run out of small Type trying to quote it, Bill consoled with Joe.

"You may remember," he said, "that I told you when you made this Buy, that it was just a plain Gamble. If you'd hit it you sure would have been sittin' pretty right now. But as I've often remarked, you never can tell. Sometimes you do and sometimes you don't. One consolation is that you're a Dead Game Sport and with you it's a Case of easy come and easy go."

So that Joe didn't get anything out of the Deal except a large piece of Brushfire.

Once a Policeman found Joe hiding under a Bridge and asked, "Are you a Fugitive from Justice?"

"No," was the Reply. "I am simply an unhappy Wretch who has a deputed Friend who knows what I am going to do next. This Evening he is making a speech at the Annual Dinner of the Chamber of Commerce and my only chance to duck on the awful Affair is to conceal myself until after Dark."

When Joe was dying it was Bill who sat at the Bedside and instructed him.

"Listen, Joe," he said. "When you get up there you'll come to a Pearly Gate and just inside you'll find a Guy with Gray Whiskers with a Book in front of him. He's the Recording Angel and you want to pay some Attention to him because whatever he says, goes. He usually asks a few Questions but you won't have any Trouble at all if you'll remember to mention my Name."

Moral: They never seem to be thankful.

Letters of a Japanese School Boy

To Editor The Record-News who are always shooting smart litterials to ask what we shall do with so many people in the world, and why

Dearest Sir:—

Last Frydy a. m. Mrs. C. W. Quackmire, my owner, come eloping to kitchen with sunstroke expression and holla like a ambulance:

"Togo, hurry & be quick about it! Swiftly get my suitcase and pack him with following articles which you will fetch speedly to 1222 Ypsilanti Avenue, home of my daughter Loola. Following are list of what bring & don't set there starring:

2 prs pajammers (pink)
1 bottel nitrate of ammonia
1 " " Scottish whisky
4 cake soap
1 vacuum cleaner
2 rolls wallpaper
1 Book entitle 200 Cheap Lunch Recipees
1 pocket flashlight
7 cans best Arizona sardines.

"Mrs. Mashum," I pronounce distictually, "I are enabled to see that something horble have happened But what is it?"

"Do I need tell you because of your stupidity?" she did very sour.

"That would help it so muchly," I amputate.

"Some persons needs to be told everything before they unstand!" she snarrel. "From those things I ask you to pack I think you should know that my daughter Loola has a baby."

No Hope

"I know it are a boy from that bottel of whisky," I manoevar. Therefore I go hastily to bedroom & pack up what she say. Then by immediate trolley I folla to 1222 Ypsilanti Ave where reside that Daughter Loola.

Mr. Editor, I no soonly arrive to that address than I notice 201 estrafged things happening. Taxihacks, ambulances, wheelbarrows, & pedestrains was laying all around front yd while doctor carush out of door and stop walking because Hon. Henry K. Dew, who are employed as husband to this Loola, appear with scared hair and holla

"O Doc, Stop up again, if convenient. Kindly to tell me that there are some hope."

"I report again that there is none," dictate Hon. Doc. "As I said before, this boy weigh 14 lbs & have a voice that breaks windows. How then can he help becoming a Congressman?"

"HEN-REE! HEN-REE!!!"

This voice came in syllables from upstairs where it stood.

"Yes, Mrs. C. W. Quackmire, my wife's married mother," he narrate without any more hope.

"Glide rapidly to druggery and buy 6 lbs cast-steel soap, a bathing cap, an alarm clock and a dog hairplus," she declare peevely. "Baby are going to have his first bath."

"Axcuse it, boys," narrate Hon. Henry getting very small & eloping away with messenger boy expression.

While he were away several more flocks of persons come up with congratulations on their hands. Uncle Apricorn Dilk from Minnesota arrive there with his trunk and say he are glad there are a berth in the family, as he always come and stay a month when anybody are in trouble.

Aunt Bellvia Arrives

At lastly Hon. Henry come back, looking very Sandy Claus with bundles all over sheet.

"Boys," he holla to some Elks who are still there trying to look BPO. I think I shall name that infantile affair not, because he already show simptoms of my strength of will. You know what he do this morning? He obtained hold of his nurse's ear, and when she instruct him to let go——"

"HENN-REE! HENN-REE! ! !" This voice from Mrs. Quackmire were more fertile than as if she spoke to me.

"Yes, dolling," snuggest Henry from downstairs where he felt more shrunk.

"I told you this soap should be cast-steel & you brought me a electric flat-iron. Why can't I get any good service out of you when you are excited?"

Therefore he scapper back to Drug Shop and when he return Aunt Bellvia Weevil was there from Arkansas where she heard that Loola had twins which run in the family, and she was glad to be helpful.

Pretty soonly 2 Elks knock Henry on spine for friendship — negotiate laughably that they do not believe he got any baby. If not, where is it?

"I will heft you two bootlegs I have got," snarrel Henry with fatherly rages.

"I will heft you three you ain't got," manipulate 2 Elks with frisk eyewink.

Henry Breaks Thirteen Rules

Hon. Henry elope to stair where he pops up suddenly. Deep breathing by all while he gone. Pretty soonly he jounce down again, and under his arm clothes. Out of that he snatch forth an assortment of arms, legs, pills & he fetch a bundle of very yeller pink color. Maybe it were a baby. I cannot tell because I never have had one.

"If you do not think he are like his Dad (make parent)" snikker Hon. Henry K. Dew, "observe the way he Do not let anybody remove nothing off of yous. You are a great big manchildness Him, Joe Ehe yr Pa, is not?"

"This is an Outrage!" With quick suddenness we turn round and behold Miss McTobby, that Train Nurse, clomping downstairs with her white clothes all in rags.

"Mr. Henry K. Dew," she annarrel like a wicked eagle, "do you not realize that you have slaughtered your child, holding him by the left shin when you should always hold him by the right? Are you not aware that you have labored thirteen (13) rules of Baby Culture in that way you have fetched him rudely into rude conspersy? You shall be reported to Board of Health."

With scientifick skill what Train Nurse, known this Miss McTobby snatch up baby by the seat of its stannick and bounch upstairs.

"I will be darned and stitched!" report Henry K. Dew, tossing himself into a chair. "Who are the father of that Child—me of the Train Nurse?"

"After two (2) drinks maybe you could find out," snuggest one Elk elkishly.

Hon. Henry look around room with wild & rover eyes. Pretty soonly he see me standing there with other furniture.

"Japanese boy," he gone," what you got in that suitcase that look so alcoholish?"

"Following list," I say so:

2 pairs pajammers (pink)
1 bottel nitrate of ammonia
1 " " Scottish whisky——"

"You may stop at the whisky & hand him to me," say Henry with agreement in his voice.

"Oh no! Not to do!" I snagger. "Mrs. Quackmire gave me illustrious instructions about Hon. Whisky. It are for the Baby."

"Yes indeedly," narrate Hon. Henry, snatching bottel from my inflamed thumbs. "It are for this Baby, and be very quick about it. Otherwisely I shall not live to be a father."

So when they had pulled cork and took a very enlarged swuggle they all stood in circles looking slightly burnt.

Hoping you are the same

Yours truly,
HASHIMURA TOGO.

Hon. Henry K. Dew at 4 grease while picking away some of his hair.

"First minute I seen him I know he was not natural. I have always wished to be the father of a sweet, raw baby. & this one come to me completely baked."

Mr. Editor, because you are such a tired man with hard work I hope you must be father of 2 or 19 children. Therefore you are permitted to weep a little from what I observe that day at 1222 Ypsilanti Ave

The Boy Wonder

All sorts of Elks and other maternal brotherhoods come walking in with election day expression & hands full of shakes. They come walk up to Hon. Henry while slapping his spine & corrode very lovely, "Gushes, Hank! You are lucky Guy."

"I are indeedly," he mone while smiling like a broken toad. "To think I got a son & hair in my home fill me with swelled prides."

While speaking thusly Hon. Train Nurse come bouncing past with dishpan and holla:

"There are too much smoking, talking and deep breathing in this room."

Hon. Henry shrink somewhat low & commence again with theatrical whisper.

"Boys, you must see that little Devil. He got too hairs on top of his head just like his gt grandfather, Judge Speer of Lexington Ky. I are sure he shall be a very intellectual man. What you think he do this a. m. when firstly he see me? He elevate his mouth and say, 'Baw!' just plain as I could."

"No," deny 28 Elk friends in unicorn.

"Yeh, to the contrary," negotiate Hon. Henry. "And what you think he can do wit his left toe—"

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

LIBRA

Today's planetary aspects are neutral; neither adverse nor excellent; they do not stimulate or energize, but indicate restfulness and easy contentment. The usual occupations of the Sabbath day can be carried out conscientiously and contentedly. The recreations of the customary character can be indulged in, without any possible unfavorable reaction. It is a day eminently favorable for the family circle, and the signs portend, provided all excitement be avoided, a day well and happily spent.

A child born today will be very vigorous and strong, and will, in addition, possess a lovable character, and affectionate disposition, and a mentality quite above the general average. The child will go through life radiating happiness and peace. It will, conscious of its own physical and mental strength, have a keen sympathy for others deficient in these attributes. It will show a decided preference for work out of doors, and will not succeed in any position that demands great attention to little details, especially when much work means confinement.

If today is your birthday, you are intelligent, persevering and possess many attractive qualities that impel friendships and repel criticism. You however, know and feel that your mental processes are not exactly honest, and that what you are pleased to call your shrewdness is a disguise of intellectual dishonesty. You are quite scrupulous in all money matters, but somewhat unscrupulous in your methods.

Honesty no longer means keeping within the law. The honest man or woman now seeks not merely to avoid criminal or illegal acts, but to be scrupulously fair, upright, fearless in both action and expression.

If you aspire to success, you must first recognize and realize that you must pursue a rigidly honest course, that you cannot do the right thing for someone else by doing the wrong thing for yourself.

Honesty now must be four-square; it must embrace retinitis of the mind as well as the hand; it must not merely measure up to the outward civil law, but to the inward moral law.

Smartness today is at a discount and honesty at a premium.

HOW TO KEEP THE PUBLIC LAUGHING

A wife ago a prominent editor of a new periodical, aptly named Liberty, asked Mr. Perry Hammond to enquire around amidst the comedians and ask them what makes people laugh. Well, Mr. Hammond interviewed Mr. Cantor and Mr. Wynn and Mr. Tinney and Mr. Rogers and etc. and so far as I can see he did not get nowheres.

Nobody has asked me what makes people laugh in America, but I believe I have got the secret. Namely, they will laugh at anybody who is in misery.

Like for inst. suppose a big crowd comes into a cafe in the month of August and they are all friends together and one of them seems to be spending all the money and also seems to be having a good time for a few moments and suddenly he laughs uncering and then somebody at the table asks him what is the matter and he says he has got hay fever and from that point on they all begin laughing at him every time he sneeze. Which means that hay fever is a joke for the spectators. Get it once and see how funny it is.

Now I aint talking personally in these regards because so far I ain't got hay fever, but they's at leave two other things that I have got which seems to be very funny to what I have mentioned the outdoor and one of them is falling hair and the other is falling arches. Both of them gets a big laugh.

And the other day I was over to the race track and it was a terrible hot day and one person in our party was terrible fat. He was what I have mentioned prospering at every pore and was in misery. And my companions kept looking at him and saying, "Look at So-anson. He is prospering at every pore. He is in misery." And then they would laugh.

Like as if the poor guy didn't want to be thin and as comfortable as the rest of us.

A deaf man is another knockout. If they's a person in the party who is deaf why the rest of the party can get a good many laughs. Every time he misunderstands something the rest of the party goes into hysterics.

And then they's a person that wears eye-glasses so as he can see. The both roll him specs and that is a good laugh.

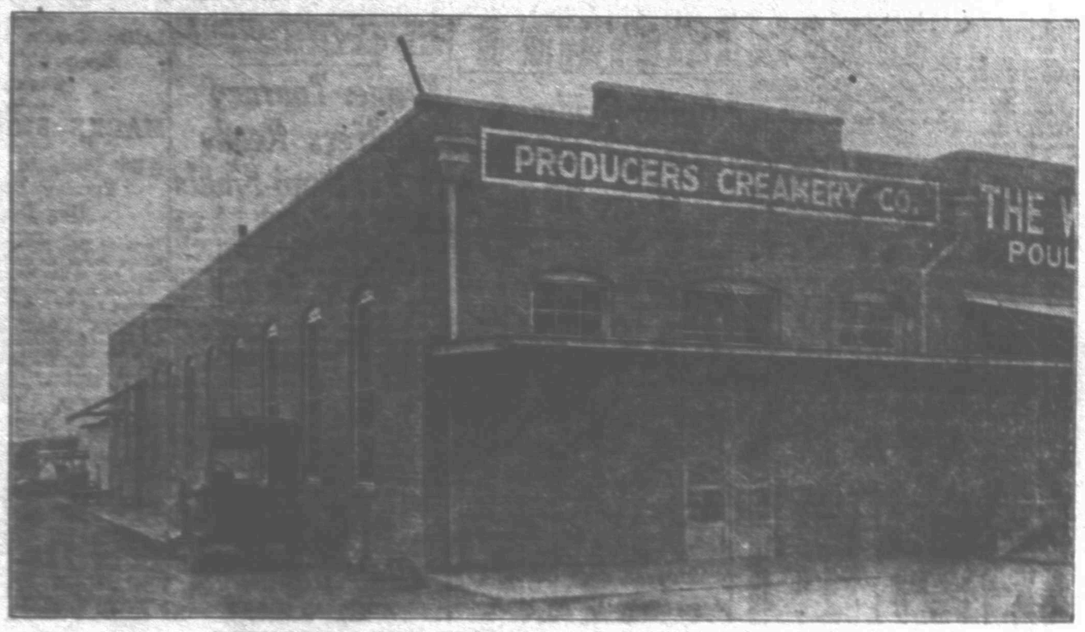

They's other things that gets plenty of good laughs. Like for inst. as follows:

1. A man that has got a lisp in his speech.
2. A man that has got an impediment in his speech.
3. A man that tries to get on a moving train and falls off and gets killed.

All these are laughable matters and they should be kept a list of they as we can keep the rest of the public laughing

PRESENT QUARTERS OF PRODUCERS CREAMERY

MORE THAN JUST A CREAMERY

—An Institution Dedicated To Service

BRINGING THE RICHEST AND PUREST MILK AND CREAM FROM THE FINEST DAIRY HERDS IN THIS SECTION TO YOUR DOORSTEP EVERY MORNING.

Start The Baby Off Right In Life— Give Producers Milk Every Time!

WHAT PRODUCERS SERVICE IS

FEW people have any idea of just what a remarkable service Producers Creamery performs for them—few people have ever stopped to think of the magnitude of our undertaking. Imagine a city the size of Wichita Falls being dependant upon the old "milkman" of yesterday.

The Producers Creamery is not altogether replacing the Milkman of times gone by — but is enabling him to join with other men in giving the city of Wichita Falls a uniform milk supply under all conditions. A milk supply which is constant and one which maintains the high standards of fineness and purity to keep a big city healthy and happy.

Today there are more people drinking Producers Milk and eating Wichita Maid Butter than ever before. So great has been the response to this unusual service that we have already outgrown the present plant and must soon build a larger and better plant to care for the business created.

The Very Finest Butter You Can Buy!

Pasteurization--What This Model Creamery Does For You

You who can look back remember when all milk was not the same—when it differed as much in taste as it did in butter fat, or protein content. Feed and season governed the milk supply in those days. But today it is different. The Producers Creamery, acting as a service station for the finest herds in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma is assured of an adequate supply of the best milk that is produced.

Such milk is taken into our model creamery, pasteurized and delivered to your door—uniform the year round. Expert chemists test all milk for protein content or butter fat—scientific methods and modern machinery protects you and your loved ones from all disease.

To sum it up—ours is a service—a service which grows bigger each day—a service which realizes its own responsibility and is unfailing. Cold weather—wet weather—dry weather—hot weather—nothing can prevent you from getting the milk supply you need.

A fleet of swift delivery trucks is maintained to see that your supply of milk and cream is uninterrupted—365 days in the year.

Making More and Better Dairy Farmers

Dairy Farmers more and more appreciate the advantages offered them. Here is a steady market for their product—here is an organization actively engaged in encouraging production of better milk—of improving herds and introducing newer and better methods on the farms.

Farmers are encouraged to produce more and better milk by the high standards of quality set for Producers Milk—because before milk can be delivered to PRODUCERS customers, it must first live up to all requirements—to a rigid examination and to a constant quality.

Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma is seeing more and better herds of dairy cattle as the result of our service. Pure breds are gradually replacing the scrawny cattle of yesterday.

We are genuinely proud of our service and are deeply grateful for the splendid response given us by our Farmer friends and our customers in Northwest Texas.

If you are not a PRODUCERS CUSTOMER, YOU SHOULD BE. LET US SHOW YOU WHY THOUSANDS OF OTHER FAMILIES IN WICHITA FALLS PREFER PRODUCERS SERVICE!

Panthers Shower Chicks With Base Hits For 11-3 Win

Spitter Wachtel Holds Memphis To Six Safeties

QUINTET OF HOMERS!

King of Circuit Smashers Strikes Out Five Times

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27.—By an avalanche of base hits, including five home runs, the Fort Worth Panthers, three times Dixie champions, celebrated their first appearance on their home lot in the present series by storming their way to a 11 to 3 win over the Memphis Chickasaws, champions of the Southern association.

The victory today reduces the Memphis lead to one game, making the count in game two to one in favor of Memphis. Incidentally, the Fort Worth club established a Dixie series record for home runs in a single game with its total of five.

Wachtel the Hero.

The hero of the day was Paul Wachtel, the spitball artist of the Fort Worth club, who has been barred from using his freak delivery on the Memphis field. He made his vengeance sweet today, allowing the Chicks only six hits and being in trouble in just one inning, the sixth, when the Southern leaguers bunched a single and a double with a walk and error and a sacrifice fly for three runs.

Slim McGrew, the right handed pitching ace of the Memphis team, started the game with two strike-outs in the first inning, but in the second the Panthers found their batting eye and before McGrew could be withdrawn five runs had trickled across the plate, a lead the Memphis team never overcame.

Kelly, the relief pitcher, did not do any better for four of the five home runs were made off his delivery.

Palmer opened the Fort Worth second with a fly-out to first. Edington and Tavener were walked in succession, followed by Bischoff's double into the left field stands, Edington scoring. Wachtel hit a high fly to right center, which caromed off Barber's leg and rolled into the right field stands for a double. Tavener and Bischoff scoring. Calvo, the Cuban center fielder of the Panthers, then registered the first home run of the series with a blow over the right field stands scoring Wachtel.

Chicks Menace in Sixth.

McGrew was withdrawn in favor of Kelly, but Phelan singled and Sears doubled, scoring Phelan. Kraft struck out and Palmer ended the winning inning, with a fly to center, his second out of the inning.

Memphis' one threat came in the sixth when Prothro walked, Carlyle singled and Yarzan doubled, scoring Prothro. Smith, the hero of the Memphis games, went out second to first, but Anderson was safe on Phelan's error, Carlyle scoring and Yarzan going to third. He scored on LaMotte's sacrifice fly to Edington, Kelly ending the rally with an out.

Sears hit two of the five home runs, one in the fourth with none on, and the other in the sixth with one on. Edington hit a homer in the third inning and Palmer hit for the circuit in the sixth, the third run for Fort Worth in the inning.

Kraft, king of home runs in the minors, struck out on each of his five trips to the plate.

Three double plays, one by Fort Worth and one by Memphis, featured the play, and Tavener, wee shortstop for Fort Worth, sparkled in the field. The score:

GOLF PLANS NOT READY.

Committees from Muny and Country Clubs to Confer on All-City Meet.

Announcement of details and date of the proposed all-Wichita Falls golf tournament in which golfers from both the Country and Municipal clubs will compete will be announced later, it was stated Saturday.

T. P. Adams and George Reppy, Country club members of the tournament committee, and Jack Hale and George Mobley of the Municipal club will confer soon, and work out all plans for the running of the tourney.

The First National bank possibly will put up a handsome trophy to be for play annually, and to go to the golfer who wins the first flight three years. There will be four flights probably, and trophies are to be purchased by the competing players for each flight.

Tyrus Greatest Record Breaker Of Diamond Game

Georgian in Charmed Circle 18 Consecutive Years

NOSES KEELER OUT

Cobb Passes Century Mark In Runs Scored Nine Years

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, brilliant leader of the Detroit Tigers, winding up his nineteenth year as a major league star, today stands out as the greatest record breaker in baseball.

The famer Georgia Peach, never out of the select .300 class in hitting with the exception of 1905, when he first joined the Tigers and played only part of the season, is finishing the 1924 race as the only player in major league history who has batted above .300 for eighteen consecutive years. Cobb's average today, with the season darwing to a close is .337. A year ago he finished as runner-up to George Sisler for the 1923 championship with a mark of .401.

When the veteran Hans Wagner passed out of the National league in 1915, he left behind him a record of having batted .300 or better for 17 years.

Another record held by Cobb, which previously was shared with Willie Keeler, that of making 200 hits or more for eight consecutive years, has been broken. Cobb has passed the 200 hit mark again this season, making it his ninth consecutive year in which he has collected 200 hits or more.

Cobb scored 100 or more runs a year for nine consecutive years, and already had passed this mark having registered 107 runs, giving him a new record of nine years of scoring the century or better.

Babe Slumps.

Cobb also holds the record for runs scored and safe hits in a life time. In addition he has re-established the highest individual life time batting average for a major leaguer; the record of the most games played in the league; the most years leading a major league in batting; the most singles; the most triples; the most extra base hits; the most bases on hits; and the highest total of bases.

Babe ruth is 13 homers behind his record of 59, having failed to add to his string of 46 circuit blows. The Bambino, however, is the best in the majors for four bagger honors. He also leads as a run getter, having registered 142 times.

In making 198 hits, up to the time the latest averages were compiled, he collected a total of 287 bases. His hits, besides his four baggers including 37 doubles and 7 triples.

Eddie Collins of the White Sox is the base stealing champion of the league with a total of 42 thefts.

Ruth, the champion batter of the league has an average of .397. Charley Jamieson, of Cleveland, has displaced Falk of Chicago for the honors of runner-up, having a mark of .357 to Falk's .351.

Other leading batters: E. Collins, Chicago .349; Bassler, Detroit, 347; Speaker, Cleveland, .346; Goslin, Washington .343; Miller, Philadelphia, .349; Rice, Washington .338; Cobb, Detroit .337; Heilmann, Detroit .337.

Rogers Carries On.

Rogers Hornsby of St. Louis, repeated as 1924 batting champion of the National league, settled down to a steadier pace in hitting, hovering around the .420 mark, which he hopes to beat before the close of the season, thus setting a new high record for modern baseball. The high mark of .420 is jointly held by Ty Cobb and George Sisler. Hornsby's latest average, including games of Wednesday is .421.

In hitting, Zack Wheat, Brooklyn veteran, established himself as runner-up to Hornsby. Zack is batting .372, fourteen points ahead of Ross Young of the Giants, who passed Hazen Cuyler of the Pirates by the narrowest of margins. Cuyler is fourth in the list with .357.

Jack Fournier of Brooklyn held his place as the National league's home run king with a total of 27—only two more than Hornsby. Carey of the Pirates increased his stolen base record of 46.

The Giants, prospective four time champions of the National league, top the league in hitting with .300. The Gianst also have the prospects of increasing their total runs scored to the neighborhood of 900 at the rate they have been crossing the plate. In fielding, too, the Giants reveal their class, ranking second to Boston.

BAYLOR EXHIBITS ATTRACT.

Many Visit Browning Collection In Summer Months.

WACO, Texas, Sept. 27.—Between 5,000 and 6,000 persons visited the Browning collection in Baylor university during the summer, according to figures supplied by the custodian, Edgar Lester Carney of Byar, Texas, a graduate student in Browning.

Among the notables who signed the register in the Browning room was Charles Hillman Brough, former governor of Arkansas, noted educator, lecturer and scholar, who delivered a series of lectures at the university during the summer institute held here last month.

Recent contributions to the Browning room include three magnificent art glass windows, which show, in art glass, the scenes of some of Browning's work and scenes pictured in his poems.

Boston Splatters Doak's Victory String With 3-2 Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The New York Giants today broke a precedent of 49 years standing and won the National league pennant for the fourth time in succession by defeating Philadelphia here today 5 to 1, while Brooklyn was losing to Boston.

No other National or American league club ever has won four successive pennants. The championship is McGraw's tenth, twice as many as were won by any other National league manager.

Bentley found the Philadelphians easy pickings and held the visitors to four hits. A muff by Jackson gave Philadelphia the only run in the first inning. The Giants bunched hits on Ring and scored their runs one at a time. Ring was driven out of the box in the sixth inning. Holke was spiked by Terry and was obliged to retire.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 27.—The Braves put the Brooklyn Dodgers permanently out of the race for the National league pennant today, winning a close game incidentally the Braves broke Bill Doak's string of consecutive victory, which had run to 10 up to this point.

A vigorous protest arose in this inning when Umpire Klem rules Mitchell's hit to right a foul. Both High and Mitchell had scored on the hit, the latter's run tying the score.

Teachers Pull Surprise and Hold S. M. U. to 7 to 3 Score.

DALLAS, Sept. 27.—The Southern Methodist university Mustangs opened the 1924 football season by defeating the North Texas State Teachers college of Denton 7 to 3. The score was a surprise, as the Mustangs have won from the Eagles by one-sided scores heretofore. The first S. M. U. touchdown came within the first ten minutes of play. The Teachers scored a goal from placement in the second quarter.

Texas League Individual Batting Averages

Club Batting

The hard hitting Houston club led the Texas league in hitting with an even average of .300. Four new records were records were set by clubs. Houston making two in total bases and three base hits, and Fort Worth two in home runs and batted in. Fort Worth displayed remarkable efficiency in scoring runs on far fewer hits than its seven rivals.

Individual Batting

Arthur Weis of Wichita Falls, a left handed hitter, leads the Texas league in batting for 1924 with an average of .377 Matt Donohue of Dallas topped the league most of the year but fell into a disastrous slump and dropped from .408 to .358. He was passed by Weis who had a ferocious hitting streak on his last long home stay and was sold to the Cubs before the final road trip on which most of the north Texas batting contenders fell down. He participated in only 126 games. Bagwell, the slugging Galveston outfielder, led the players who participated in a majority of the games with .567 in 145 battles. Thirty-two players appearing in 10 or more games hit better than .300.

Individual batting honors of the year go to Clarence Kraft, Fort Worth's formidable right hand slugger, who set a new home run record for the Texas and minor leagues with 55 and led the loop's offensive in four other departments in which he set new Texas records—total bases, 414; extra bases, 211; runs scored, 150; and runs batted in 166. Other league leaders for 1924 were: Hits, Donohue, Dallas, 209; two-base hits: Calvo, Fort Worth 52; three-base hits: Hafey, Houston 20; stolen bases: Rabbitt, Beaumont, 52; sacrifice hits: Baumann, Dallas, 36; bases on balls: Phelan, Fort Worth, 100.

Batting records follow for all players participating in all or parts of 10 or more games, pitchers in 5.

Decatur College Grid Machine Noses Out Coyote, 13-0

Experience And Brawn Overcome McCallum Eleven

Wichita Falls Club Puts Up Sterling Defensive Battle

PETTY RUNS 70 YARDS

Plunges and Penalty Brings Baptists Other Score

By BLONDY CROSS.

Brawn and superior experience turned back the slashing attack of Bud McCallum's sturdy little band of fighting Coyote moleskinners Saturday on the Spud park grid. Ox Fullingim's husky Decatur Baptists lugged away the heftier portion of a 13 to 0 tabulation. But to manufacture even this meager victory the junior college shoat-skin hustlers were forced to battle hard and furiously all the way, and time and again were thwarted in their driving, charging attack so stubbornly by the midget Wichita Falls eleven that the visitors were fortunate more or less in gaining more than one touchdown.

Though outweighed apparently 15 pounds to the man, the Coyotes fought their opponents to a standstill in three of the four 15-minute quarters. The crimson and black line was crossed twice in the second period, and possibly had the high school youngsters been a bit more on their toes mentally during this round the final outcome of the embroglio would have produced but a pair of goose eggs for the tally sheet.

Late in the first quarter Wichita Falls punted short from its 20-yard line against the wind. The oval hit the turf and bounded back toward the Coyote goal fully 18 yards through practically the entire Wichita Falls team. Had some enterprising youngster grounded the ball at the moment it started on its return voyage, Decatur would have had many yards more to go in order to cross the goal line. Green tore off an 11-yard buck for first down Decatur. Another plunge failed, and then another. Green then took the pigskin again on a delayed buck and traveled three yards. Fourth down and the quarter was up, with the ball on Wichita Falls' 34-yard line.

Baptists Plunge For Score.

Here Dame Fortune leered disdainfully on McCallum's own. At the start of the second chukker, Sebastian dropped back, placekicked and the ball was blocked, but the Coyotes were offside. Penalty of five yards and first down Decatur with touchdown to make. The scrapping little Coyotes forward fought back furiously but the heavier offensive line got the jump by a split second on each down. Sims hit the line, then Sims again. Green ploughed through for a short gain, and Sims again plunged this time over the right side of the Wichita forward defense the remaining few inches for the goal. Doke broke through and blocked attempted kick for point after touchdown. Score 6 to 0 Decatur. Two mental miscues had aided the collegians in this score, and it was not luck of Coyote fight that allowed the tabulation.

Petty Runs 70 Yards.

Toward the latter portion of the second period after attempting at the line three times futilely Coyotes punted from their own 40-yard line deep into Decatur territory. Petty, safety man, received and when the Coyote right end was sucked in, raced down the sideline through a more or less broken field 70 yards for the second touchdown of the tilt. Sebastian kicked goal from placement. Count 13 to 0 Decatur.

Play during the entire first half was in Wichita Falls territory, but McCallum's proteges came back in the final two periods and fought their heavier opponents on just about even terms.

The Coyotes were not expected to win the game. They were supposedly outclassed, and the closeness of the score should prove pleasing to followers of the Wichita Falls machine.

No Shining Lights.

There was no scintillating play by members of either team. Sims and Jennings were the best ball toters on the visiting eleven as far as yardage gained was concerned, but the work of the Decatur line accounted greatly for these advances. Standing head and shoulders over the battling local youngsters, the Baptist forward defense was the whole show. Blocked and crowded at nearly every turn the Coyote backfield stood little show of getting started.

Bucky Steed late in the contest romped off on a number of end runs, and from appearances with fair interference which he did not have, would have gained nicely on several occasions. On nine plunges out of ten, huge Decatur linemen broke through and swarmed the Wichita backs before they could get good starts. It was surprising that the smaller Coyote forwards managed to hold the battering Decatur attack as well as they did.

Coyotes Miss Chance.

Wichita Falls was held on their best possible chance of counting late in the final period. Shaw, portside wingman, slipped down under a punt and covered the ball on the 12-yard line when the Decatur safety fumbled. Three attempts at the line and a forward pass failed.

Straight football, a smattering of cross and delayed plunges with an occasional tackle brush, constituted greatly the style of play.

The Decatur huskies appeared well-coached by Fullingim, former Baylor grid luminary. The work of Quarterback Petty was nice. This field general went far to keep up the morals of his club, and add to their fighting spirit.

The performance of Powell, Coyote fullback, in backing up the line on defense stood out to an extent.

Howle of Wichita Falls and Hodgkins were put out of the game in the second quarter for fighting.

West Texas Teachers Win.

AMARILLO, Sept. 27.—West Texas State Teachers college of Canyon this morning defeated the Northwestern Teachers college at Alva, Okla., 21 to 6, at the Amarillo Tri-State exposition grounds.

TEXAS LEAGUE TEAM AVERAGES

Jones Captures National Amateur Links Honors

ARDMORE, Penna., Sept. 27. — Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, come to Man's estate, today, acquired the honor he sought in vain for eight years of his youth—the national amateur golf championship. In the final round of the annual tournament he defeated George Von Elm of Los Angeles, by the unprecedented score of 9 and 8 for the concluding match of the week. Triumph came at the Merion cricket club, where in 1916, a boy of 14, who wore short pants even when not playing golf, first attracted atention by his ability at what some scoffers have often termed an old man's game.

Every inch a champion and probably a great factor in championship competition until the years weary him in long thirty six hole match play as they wearied other stars this week, Bobby, as they call him, shot his usual machine like golf today.

His game was a bit inferior to the great heights he reached in his semi-final match with Ouimet, he was better than Von Elm in every branch and was never down after the second of the 28 holes which the 36 hole match consisted of as a result of the decisive victory.

Von Elm attracted attention all week by the lowness of his medal scores and the decisive margins of most of his victories before the final round.

Jones won 12 holes of the match, of which seven were in the morning round of 18 holes. Von Elm took three holes, all in the morning, going to lunch four down. Jones this morning shot a 74, or four over par on the long heavily bunkered course. Von Elm took 79. To the turning in the afternoon Jones had a 37, one over par, while Von Elm had a 44, becoming erratic as the enviable end came near.

Burk Gridmen Beat Henrietta

Special to the Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Sept. 27—Scoring in every quarter and holding their opponents at bay except in the third, Burkburnett high school today opened its 1924 football season by drubbing Henrietta 38 to 7.

The locals forged ahead before the first quarter was half over when McDonald went over for a touchdown after a series of line bucks and end runs had carried the ball from midfield. The work of Buckner, Underwood, Pace, McDonald and Wolf featured for Burkburnett, while Hassell and C. Smith carried the brunt of the Henrietta offensive.

The line-ups:

BAYLOR SHADES SIMMONS.

Cowboys Fight Hard to Lose to Bears 6 to 10.

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 27.—Battling every inch of the way the Simmons college boys were defeated by the Baylor University Bears here today at the West Texas fair. 10 to 6 The score came as a great surprise as the Bears were rated to win easily. The Bears scored a touchdown and a kick in the second period. In the final period Baylor scored a field goal from the 18-yard line. In the last few minutes of play the Cowboys bucked over a touchdown but failed to goal.

Luminaries of 1923 World's Series Games

The general result of the 1923 world's series and some of the high spots are still generally remembered but the scores of the games and the individual heroes may be a bit jumbled.

A review of the six game series is, therefore, not amiss.

The Yankees won the series, 4 games to 2, of course.

The first game went into the ninth inning with a score of 4 to 4. There were two out in the first half—the Giants' time at bat—when Casey Stengel went to bat. He promptly socked one to deep center for a home run—and the run that gave the Giants the game.

Fans had waited two years to see Ruth break up a ball game frolic. Babe had collected one home run in the 1921 series in the fourth game. It failed to effect the outcome of the game.

In 1922 Babe was tied hand and foot by the Giant pitchers. He collected but two hits in 17 trips to the plate. One of those was a double.

Then came the second game last year. Ruth helped drive McQuillan to the showers in the fourth with a home run and in the very next inning socked one of Jack Bentley's shoots for a second four-bagger. The Yanks won 4 to 2.

Having had a day of rest Casey Stengel swung into action in the third game and with a home run in the seventh inning gave the Giants the only score of the game—and the victory.

The fourth game was a batting bee and Whitey Witt's single and two doubles in a row helped lick the Giants 8 to 4.

Bullet Joe sealed the fate of the National leaguers in the fifth game by holding them to three hits. Oddly enough Emil Meusel collected all three and added variety to the collection by making one a single one a double and one a triple. The Giants scored, however. The Yanks won 8 to 1.

The sixth game found Art, Nehf McGraw's last hope, being thrown in to stem the tide of defeat. For eight innings the lefthander hurled courageous ball. Then he weakened. When the smoke cleared away the Yanks had scored five runs and won the game 6 to 4. It was Bob Meusel's hit that won the fray. With the bases loaded Bob smacked a hit to center. Two men scored on the hit and the winning run came over when outfielder Cunningham's throw to Heinie Groh soared merrily over his head.

GRIFF BEGAN AS PITCHER

Volumes of Baseball History Written Since Clark Started Career.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The man who has given Washington its biggest baseball year, Clark Griffith, started his baseball career as a pitcher with the Bloomington, Ill., team. He was then 18 years of age. His work at Bloomington drew attention and Milwaukee bought him. The Chicago White Sox then grabbed him and Griffith pitched and managed that club to two pennants. Then he joined the Comiskey-Johnson forces organizing the American league and went to New York in 1903 to manage the first American league club started there.

The following year he came within a wild pitch of winning the pennant, Jack Chesbro uncorking that one in the deciding game with Boston.

Griff remained with the Yanks until, in the middle of the 1908 season he was let out as pilot in favor of Kid Elberfield.

Griff braved fate, the raising of Cinci fans and the fickleness of the [illegible] and accepted the management of the Cincinnati team in 1909. He held that post until the close of the 1911 campaign.

The next year Ban Johnson asked him to assume the management of the Washington club.

Griffith devoted all his time to the management of the club up to the winter of 1919-20 when he and a Philadelphia business man, William G. Richardson, purchased the controlling interest in the club and Griff became president of it. He then turned over the actual field management to George McBride.

1923 Conference Champs Start '24 Practically Intact

Right Tackle Only Position Not Filled By Veteran

HAS TOUGH SCHEDULE

Mustangs Resume Relations With Longhorns Oct. 18

DALLAS, Sept. 27.—With a schedule said to be the hardest in the southwestern conference arranged, the Southern Methodist university football team this year will make a supreme effort to repeat its feat of 1923 when it was acclaimed southwestern champion.

Following a definite policy laid down by the school authorities the school has arranged for as many games with conference teams as possible, though only four are required. This year the team will play six conference games.

Ten letter men on the 1923 team have returned for this year's play, including several of the brightest stars on the Mustang roster of last year, the team did not lose a game during the entire season including five victories from conference teams.

The eleven is now being put through its practices by Head Coach Ray Morrison and Assistant Coach Freeland, a pair that has made history in inter-collegiate football, both as coaches and in years gone by while members of the Vanderbilt university team.

An unusual feature of the number of old players that have returned is the fact that each of the letter men earned his award playing a separate position. The only position on the team that must be filled with an entirely green player is right tackle, which was played by Johnnie Mac Brooks, who graduated.

Another load was taken off the minds of the Mustang mentors recently when Buddy King, the center mainstay of the 1923 team, decided to return to the school and obtain his degree after first announcing that he would not be back this year.

The team will again be piloted on the field by Logan Stollenwerck, all-southwestern quarterback of 1923. He was elected captain of the team for 1924.

Nine games are on the Mustang schedule which opened September 27 at Dallas with the North Texas State Teachers college team. October 4 the team plays Trinity university at Dallas, followed on October 10 by Austin college. This team, though not a member of the southwestern conference, has managed to defeat the Mustangs almost every year with the exception of last year, and then the Austin college delegation lost in just the last 20 seconds of play.

On October 18, the Mustangs will begin their series of six conference games, opening with the University of Texas at Dallas, one of the stellar attractions of the state fair. The entire conference will turn to this game, for it marks the resumption of playing relations between the two schools after a lapse of several years, and will settle the question that has been most often asked since last year, "Can the Mustangs defeat the Longhorns?" The question was aroused when both teams ended the season without a defeat. Texas only played three conference games in 1923, playing stronger out of state schools for the most part.

The next week S. M. U. meets Texas A. & M. team at Dallas; another stiff battle, for the Mustangs defeated the Aggies last year. The other games are: Nov. 1, T. C. U. at Fort Worth; Nov. 8, University of Arkansas at Fayetteville; Nov. 15, Baylor university at Dallas, and Nov. 27 Oklahoma A. & M. college at Dallas.

"I am looking for every conference team to lose at least one game this year," declared Coach Morrison.

Killifer Declares Art Weis Slated for Brilliant Career

Former Spudder Credits Wichita Falls For Climb

"I Owe Everything to My Days With Wichita," Says Butch

MATTY PRAISES HIM

He Broke in With Crash, And He'll Stay There, Believes Bill

By CHAS. A. APPLEBEE, JR.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Art "Butch" Weis, former Wichita Falls ball player, twice recalled by the Chicago Cubs from the Texas club and who is apparently up to stay this time has come into his own. The young outfielder who started as a twirler but was shifted to the outfield because of his hitting ability is declared to be the most remarkable recruit coming to the Chicago club in a decade.

Bill Killifer, Chicago National manager pays "Butch" the greatest possible tributo and while the leading experts of the east concur in his opinion, no less an authority than the great Christy Mathewson declares young Weis to be a most remarkable addition to the National game.

"Butch" in reviewing his rather unusual career, recalls the days at Wichita Falls and declares without hesitation that he owes his "everything to that club." "All I know about baseball, and that perhaps isn't much, I got with Wichita Falls," stated Weis. "At any rate it put me where I am today and I feel that I owe my everything to my Wichita Falls experience," he added.

Nearly Ruined Grimes.

Manager Killifer declares Weis created a sensation during his first game in the Majors. "There were those who didn't think much of Weis when we started him," stated Killifer this afternoon, "yet today we consider him the most remarkable recruit joining the Cubs in the past decade. Four hits out of four times at bat from the masterly twirling of Burleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn club is quite a feat for a bitter of Roger Hornsby's calibre but when a youngster like Weis performs such a stunt in his first major league game, its something to make you sit up and take notice.

"That's just what Art did in his first game for the Cubs," continued Killifer, "and as a matter of fact it was his hitting which defeated the big spitballer that memorable day. The critics set up the bowl right away that Weis was a flash in the pan, but that's all gone by now and Art is the idol of every Chicago fan. It was a great exhibition of a cool youngster displaying remarkable courage during his baptism, the acid test.

"The very next day Weis followed up with a smashing hit off Vance, which tied the score and brought our second victory over Brooklyn. If Robins runs second in the National race by two or three games, the Giants or Pittsburg can thank Art Weis for their chance at the world series money. That is the very expression 'Dazzy' Vance used to me when we met the Brooklyn club last. Vance gave me his opinion of Weis at that time.

"Art is hitting the ball at better than .350 which is quite some batting in the major leagues, you know," continued Manager Bill. "He has everything to make him a big league star. He can hit and feild with the best of them, is lightning fast, has the right temperament, is cool, sensible and modest. Always eager to learn and listen to advice from the more experienced members of the team. Every man on the club likes Weis and that's something quite unusual in the case of a raw recruit making good in the majors. The day is not far off when he will be recognized as one of the greatest stars in the National circuit. Have patience now, and see how far I come from it," smiled Killifer.

Down On St. Louis.

Weis is a St Louis boy, learning the game on the sand lots of that city. For some reason he fails to make clear he does not like St. Louis. He has an aversion to playing there, even. He was a star pitcher for a fast semi-pro club in St. Louis, one of the strongest outfits of its kind in the middle west. It was while he was going great guns in this organization that he received an opportunity to play with the Springfield club of the Western association. That was three years ago.

He was still a pitcher in those days. It was in the latter part of the season of 1921 that Jack Doyle, the argus-eyed Chicago scout was out to Springfield to look over Phil Klugman, who was considered quite a prospect to say the least. Jack caught young Weis in action and remained in Springfield three days, secretly watching the youngster. Klugman worried himself ill, thinking that he was under observation. Instead of signing Klugman, Jack kept the wires to Chicago burning and finally induced the Cub management to purchase the release of young Weis and Cotter, the Cubs present first baseman.

"Weis made the spring training trip with us the following season," continued Killifer in relating the story to the Wichita Falls Record News correspondent in the dugout at the local National league park. "He remained with us about a month and it was easy to see that he needed seasoning so we sent him along to St. Paul of the American association, with an option on his services. St. Paul failes to use him except as a pinch hitter occasionally and it plain to be seen that he must be worked regularly or be ruined as many a recruit on the bench is. We recalled him to Chicago and then shipped him to Texas, to Wichita Falls.

"At Wichita Falls he was given a regular job in the outfield and showed his value and ability from the very start. He remained there for the entire season hitting for .353, I believe it was. The following spring we took him south again but a dislocated ankle prevented him from realizing his ambition of making a regular berth with us. About a month and a half later we sent him back to Wichita Falls for Wheeler, one of our pitchers.

"It was a question in our minds at the time just what effect this unkind trick of fate would have on him," continued Killifer. "It only served to make him all the more ambitious and when they show that kind of stuff, there is something there.

Art Serves Notice.

"This spring he started with Wichita Falls after serving notice upon us that he intended to make the upgrade to the majors. We watched him all season and when on August 21 we found him batting for .337, he was called to Chicago. This was the second time we had recalled him and he landed in Chicago with 189 baseibts to his credit, a lot of enthusiasm and a vow never to go back to the minors again.

"It was the second trip to Wichita Falls that done it, and I think the kid knows it now," continued Bill. "He found himself there, learned how to play ball and how to act sensible. We have had a lot of hard luck this year, real hard luck, not the alibi kind but next year you'll find Art in a world's series. That's my second prediction today but realy, I was serious about the first."

"Butch" as he is known through the National circuit, pulled some sensational plays on his second day in the majors. It was the New York Giants on this occasion and Christy Mathewson, old time Giant twirler and now president of the Boston Braves was a guest of John McGraw at the Polo Grounds.

Big Six Likes Him.

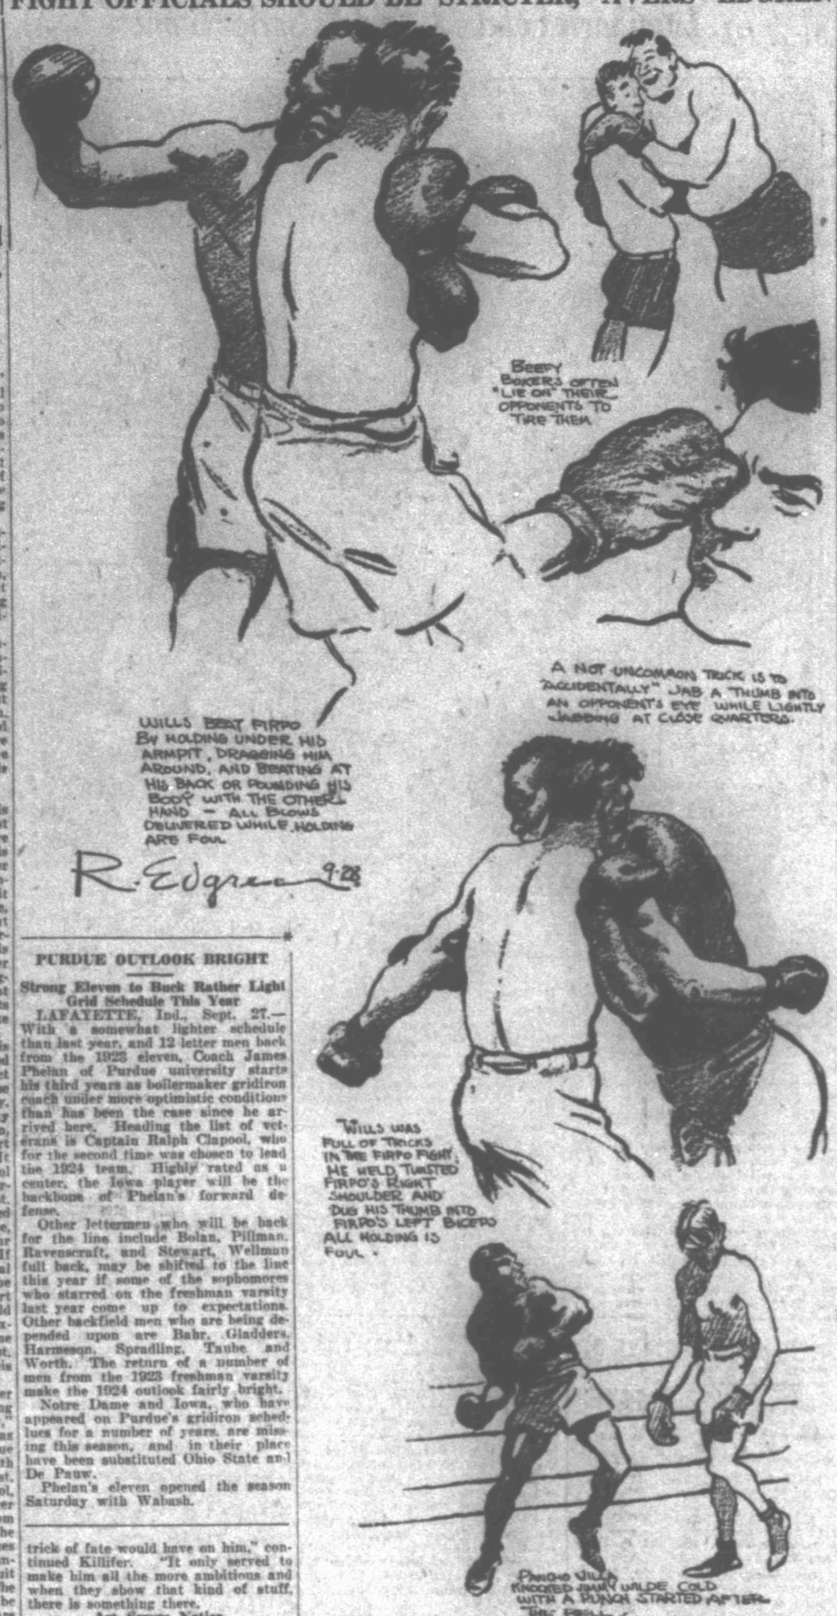

Chicago needed a hit to tie up the score. Weis was called upon and a hush fell over the assembled thousands as the youngster from Texas strode to the plate. His sensational batting against Grimes and Vance across the Brooklyn bridge the two previous days had been played up strong by the New York scribes.

On the first ball pitched, Weis smashed a long hit off the cagey Art Nehf's delivery, which accomplished the dire purpose which Manager Killifer intended it should. Though a visiting recruit, Weis was accorded a demonstraton from the crowded stands, one which he is not likely to forget if he is at all human.

The lowly Boston Braves, with splendid backing financially and otherwise, eager to build up a rela club have twice offered to purchase Weis. Christy Mathewson paid the youngster the greatest compliment when he stated with his usual frankness, "I would rather acquire Weis than any recruit available in either circuit."

If "Butch" is aware of the impression which he has made in a month's time he shows no sign of it. He is there every day, working hard, studying the old timers style, asking questions and at the same time making good in a most remarkable fashion. Box scores and comment have told the baseball world that

FIGHT OFFICIALS SHOULD BE STRICTER, AVERS EDGREN

Professional boxing is not going to last in this country unless referees enforce the rules.

Boxing needs a national commission to pass on the qualifications of referees as well as fighters. Many bouts in the ring are handled by referees who either don't know the rules of boxing or are not game enough to enforce them.

As boxing is conducted now in many states a boxer can be suspended for refusing to meet an opponent selected by a commission, or for refusing to go on with a match already arranged. In some rare cases boxers are disciplined for outrageous infractions of the rules that are supposed to govern all boxing contests, but usually so little is thought of this trifling matter that they are soon reinstated.

Charlie White's Decision

Referees are seldom suspended, if ever, and almost invariably the referee is as much at fault as the offending boxer in cases of fouling.

The referee is in entire control of the bout. There is no possibility of continual fouling if a referee does his duty. Any attempt on the part of a boxer to break the rules and strike unfair blows, hold, wrestle or disable his man by use of a trick barred by the rules should result in instant disqualification. In case of an evidently accidental foul the referee should use his judgment and disqualify the offender if the blow might have any effect on the outcome of the contest. In any case the offending boxer should be disqualified if the offense is repeated.

The last of the old time referees was Charlie White. Lench Cross and One Round Hogan met in a New York ring. White gave his instructions. They were to "break clean" at the order of the referee. Both persistently hugged and pounded away in clinches after being ordered to break. White warned them. Used to referees who talked and did nothing, they paid no attention to White's orders. In the middle of the first round White disqualified them both and left the ring. And there was a near-riot. Cross and Hogan were famous knockout artists. The crowd wanted to see knockdowns and a knockout. It had no interest in the rules or White's old fashioned notion that rules must be enforced. White never refereed another fight. Since his time few referees have the nerve to stop any bout in the early rounds because of fouling.

Wills Fouled Firpo

In my opinion the worst case of persistent fouling I've seen in years was the Wills-Firpo fight in Jersey City. There is a universal rule of boxing against "holding," and no rule of boxing gives a boxer a right to hold with one hand and hit with the other. In every round Wills persistently slipped his left hand under Firpo's right armpit and jerked Firpo in toward him, twisting Firpo's right arm and shoulder to tire him and take the sting out of his right hand punch. While holding Firpo and pulling him forward Wills drove right hand blows into his body. Sometimes he held Firpo and twisted him around, and while holding him pounded at his back and kidneys with the right hand. Occasionally he held him and delivered blows to the head, with right or left. Wills has developed a great deal of skill in this trick of holding and hitting, and has been getting away with it for a long time. In England, where boxing rules are enforced, he'd be disqualified in the first round. He should have been disqualified in the first round at Jersey City. Instead, the referee spoke very politely to Wills. It was "please, Harry—you're holding" all through the fight.

Vills Hit Late.

Pancho Villa wouldn't have become world's flyweight champion if the rules had been strictly enforced. In the first round of his fight with Jimmy Wilde, Villa showed that he outclassed the little Englishman in speed and strength, and that Wilde had little chance to win. However Wilde walked into Villa, refused to retreat, and stood up to a hard beating. His age showed. He seemed unable to start. Or perhaps he was waiting for a sure opening. Just before the end of the second round Villa was hitting Wilde so fast and hard that it was a wonder he stood up, unwavering. The bell rang. Villa had pulled his right hand back to deliver a swinging blow. He seemed to hesitate. Wilde dropped his hands and half turned toward his corner when Villa suddenly let the right go, landing squarely on Wilde's chin. Wilde went down, knocked cold. The blow landed about a second after the bell. Probably Villa didn't hear the bell, Wilde's seconds carried him, unconscious, to his corner and worked over him about half a minute before he woke up.

That blow after the bell settled Wilde's chances. He stood up against a terrific battering for five rounds more before he was knocked out. He shouldn't have been sent out for the third round, and he should have been given the decision on a foul, whether the blow was intentionally delivered after the bell or not.

PURDUE OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Strong Eleven to Buck Rather Light Grid Schedule This Year

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 27.—With a somewhat lighter schedule than last year, and 12 letter men back from the 1923 eleven, Coach James Phelan of Purdue university starts his third years as boilermaker gridiron coach under more optimistic conditions than has been the case since he arrived here. Heading the list of veterans is Captain Ralph Clapool, who for the second time was chosen to lead the 1924 team. Highly rated as a center, the Iowa player will be the backbone of Phelan's forward defense.

Other lettermen who will be back for the line include Bolan, Pillman, Ravenscraft, and Stewart. Wellman full back, may be shifted to the line this year if some of the sophomores who starred on the freshman varsity last year come up to expectations. Other backfield men who are being depended upon are Bahr, Gladders, Harmeson, Spradling, Taube and Worth. The return of a number of men from the 1923 freshman varsity make the 1924 outlook fairly bright.

Notre Dame and Iowa, who have appeared on Purdue's gridiron schedules for a number of years, are missing this season, and in their place have been substituted Ohio State and De Pauw.

Phelan's eleven opened the season Saturday with Wabash.

Longhorns Pick Tough Opponent In Florida Eleven

Alligators Prepare for Most Brilliant Season In History

A. & M. PLAYS SEWANEE

Louisiana State Billed With Southwest Conference Club, Also

When each of the great sections of the Great American football eleven universe, marshalls its forces for an onslaught at the ranks of the enemy the eyes of the southern football fan will turn southward to the Peninsula state. There in the ancient city of St. Augustine, reputed to be the father of all the United States' brilliant cities, the Florida University Alligators, under Coach Van Fleet and Coach Tom Sebring, are toiling away as they prepare for their greatest campaign and what now indications forecast as their most brilliant season.

Still, while the 'Gators will venture far-out of their native swamps, there are several other bold elevens which will do battle with famous foemen on foreign fields. The south will have its share of big inter-sectional games this season but many of the teams which have hitherto sought the enemy in stadiums far removed from home have not included them on this fall's menu and will confine their activities to southern competition. This is particularly true of the Alabama elevens for Auburn has dropped the Army and University has eliminated Syracuse. The longest expedition that either will undertake this season is a trip up on the Atlantic seaboard where Alabama plays Furman at Greenville, S. C., while Auburn will bring Clemson home for their battle."

Vandy Gives Up.

Those colorful invasions which Vanderbilt was wont to make unto the southwest will be carried on by other teams this year. Here again we find the vanguard of the attack—Florida. The 'Gators will follow the footsteps of the Commodores and are meeting the famous Texas Longhorns in Austin on Oct. 25. The trips that produce such battles as thrilled the blood of the fans will be carried on by another and as mighty a foe this season for Florida will have a team which as present is given the edge on practically any football organization in the south.

Florida will not be left alone to bear the brunt of battle in the southwest for the bold little Sewanee Tiger will travel for from its native mountain to meet the renowned Coach Dana X. Bible's Texas Aggies at Dallas, Oct. 11.

Not only in their travels but at home will the comprehensive schedule of the Florida 'Gators bring them into conflict with foes of other sections. The Drake university eleven from the Missouri conference will entrain for Gainesville, Fla., and meet the 'Gaitors there on Nov. 26.

Tech Back on Rockne.

Georgia Tech will once more try her shift on Notre Dame. The pupils of Knute Rockne treated the engineers from Tech with little respect and no courtesy on their last trip there for they walloped them 35 to 7. This year the walls of men that are gone sound loud and long out of Atlanta and if such is true it is probable that the Golden Tornado will simmer down to a gentle breeze, Tech will also battle Penn State at Atlanta.

Another of Dixie's greatest intersectional games will be the Georgia-Yale grid battle. The tenacious Bulldogs, not content with a tough southern schedule will encounter its great eastern brother, the Yale Bulldog, on Oct. 11 at New Haven.

Louisiana State on Move.

Vanderbilt this year will essay no great inter-sectional struggle though the prospects for another of McGugin's great elevens is very bright. Still the Commodores will meet two well-known foes from other climes in the Quantico Marines, who will be in Nashville on Oct. 11, and then the gentlemen from Tennessee will catch the train for Minneapolis ther to meet Minnesota on Nov. 22, the Saturday before they encounter Sewanee in their annual Thanksgiving classic.

Louisiana State university will make a raid on the fields of southwestern football, in addition to Florida and Sewanee, for the eleven coached by Mike Donohue will play Rice at Houston on Oct. 18. Mississippi A. & M. ventures over into Missouri to battle Washington university at St. Louis in their closingout encounter, Nov. 27.

PAIR OF HITTIN' FOOLS!

That's Bib Falk of Texas Now With Sox and Kiki Cuyler of Pirates

During most of last month the two runners-up to Hornsby and Ruth in the National league batting race were "Kiki" Cuyler, of the Pirates and "Bib" Falk of the White Sox. Both of these heavy hitters are right up at the top, and the strange part of it is that both of them started out to be pitchers. Both play left field, too, but heavy-hitting left fielders are the order of the day—see the Meusel brothers, Jameison, Goslin, Wheat and Bressler.

Kiki Cuyler is only twenty-five and this is his first year in the big leagues, yet he is already one of the most valuable players on the Pittsburgh club, and is largely responsible for the Pirate's upward spurt. He has a wonderful throwing arm and is one of the best base stealers in the league. He played with Nashville last year.

The White Sox management tried to make Bib Falk pitch at the beginning of the season, which Bib refused to do. He was a fair southpaw twirler, but much preferred to play outfield regularly where his hitting powers would be more of a help to his club. Finally he got his chance and made good with a bang. When he slumped the White Sox slumped—when his batting eye came back the team did much better. Bib pitched for three years with the University of Texas. This is his fourth year with Comisky's team. He got his chance in 1921, after the "Black Sox" scandal had disposed of Joe Jackson and Felsch.

Wolverine Eleven To Be Powerful, Avers Coach Yost

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 27.—Michigan's 1924 football schedule, now being dubbed the "dedication special," is the hardest ever to face a Wolverine team, in the opinion of Fielding H. Yost, athletic director. Yost has had an intimate knowledge of Michigan schedules for a quarter of a century.

In addition to playing the dedication games for new stadiums against Michigan Agricultural college, Illinois and Minnesota and meeting Ohio state in a return to the stadium they helped to dedicate two years ago, the Wolverines will meet Wisconsin, Northwestern and Iowa at home. Miami in the opening game is the other tilt. The six conference games are on succeeding Saturdays, beginning with Illionis on October 18.

Yost faces this schedule with probably the smallest number of well known men he has in his long career as a coach. Blott and Kipke, all Americans of past years, and Muirhead and Uteritz, near all conference calibre are gone, leaving Captain Steger the only player even remotely mentioned for conference honors and the single Michigan man listed for honors in this year's rule book.

Michigan's team this year, despite this lack of known players will be good, Coach Yost holds.

"How good, the succeeding Saturdays of the season will demonstrate," he stated, in giving his estimate of the 54 men called back for practice at the beginning of the season. Thirteen are letter men and five members of last year's squad.

The western conference schools have grown so large and so many youths are playing games in prep school that the days of weak teams are gone, according to Yost. While Michigan will be strong, none of the games in the conference this year will be what he terms "set-ups."

NO FISTICUFFS THURSDAY

Dick Griffin or Duke Trammel Billed For Next Week

There will be no weekly legion boxing program this week, according to Promoter Wofford, because of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. It is the custom of the legion not to stage any form of entertainment in competition to the fair association, said Wofford.

The card for Thursday a week from next has not been arranged yet, but the promoter has a general idea of whom the principals will be. Wofford expects to bring Duke Trammel up from Fort Worth for a bout with either Pat Corbett, Joe Denton, or Elmer McMullen. Fans have indicated desires of seeing McMullen pitted with Duke. There is a possibility, however of using Dandy Dick Griffin, Fort Worth bantam, in the main event.

Dick Atkins, light heavyweight of Childress, probably will be matched with either George Lee of Heldenville, Okla., or Moke Carpenter of Chino Springs, in the semi-windup.

Gophers Intact From Tackle To Tackle This Year

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—A line intact from tackle to tackle but without the services of experienced ends, as well as star backfield men, including the great Martineau—that briefly is the situation at the University of Minnesota as Coach Bill Spaulding opens his third and final year under his present contract as football mentor.

With the 1923 machine built around Earl Martineau, flashly halfback of All-American fame, the Gopher grid chief is working out an entirely new set of plans for the heavy program of games, the most pretentious of schedules in the recent history of Minnesota.

Fourteen "M" men, 13 of them veterans of the 1923 squad, and the other a 1922 casualty reported when the Big Ten practice began September 15. This in addition to some promising young material from Minnesota high schools.

Eight hard games in a row—one game a week—is the program for the 1924 Minnesota eleven. Six of these, including two scheduled Western conference games, will be played in Minnesota's new $700,000 stadium which has a seating capacity of 55,000 persons.

Minnesota plays away-from-home games with Iowa and Wisconsin, but Michigan and Illinois will visit the new Gopher stadium which will be dedicated at the Illinois game, November 15.

North Dakota comes here October 4 for the first game, and the last game will be with Vanderbilt here November 25. Meanwhile the Gophers will sandwich in contests with Ames and the Haskell Indians.

Malcolm Graham, youthful quarterback, who showed to good advantage last year until injuries at the Michigan games placed him on the hospital list has overcome scholastic difficulties by attending summer school and Minnesota fans expect his playing to go far toward plugging the gap left by the graduation of Martineau.

CARD CASTOFF AID IN ROBINS' PENNANT RUSH

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—Three St. Louis National league "castoffs" have taken a prominent part in pushing the Brooklyn team to the front and making the Dodgers contenders for the 1924 pennant.

The former Cardinals, who have helped Brooklyn press pennant winning New York Giants for this year's honors, are Jacques Fourniar, first baseman, home run specialist, Milton Stock, third baseman, and Bill Doak veteran spitball pitcher.

Ask Dad, He Knows.

Humble Throckmorton Wildcat Makes Flowing Well at 3,190-97 Feet

SAND AT 3,190-97 PRODUCING 75-BARREL FLOW AND LOTS OF GAS; OIL TESTS 39 DEGREES

Additional Storage Is Being Taken to Field.

Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1, Mrs. J. Stubblefield, block 991, Premium survey, north of Woodson, east Throckmorton county, is flowing oil at a rate of 75 barrels a day since late Friday afternoon according to advices from the Cisco Humble offices late yesterday. The flow of oil is accomplished by a large amount of gas.

Sand at 3,190 feet was encountered in this well last week, a gas flow of four million cubic feet or more appearing when it was penetrated. The gas showed dry for a while but gradually turned blue and wet, and early Friday began to trickle a little oil. When the sand was entered to 3,197, the total depth of the hole now, the flow of oil was started, the well making a head, and latest reports state that the well is holding steady to this.

There are two 500-barrel storage tanks on the lease, and another thousand barrels storage has been ordered out. It was not believed yesterday that the sand would be entered any further for a while. No water was showing and the oil tested 39 degrees gravity.

Five-inch casing is set at 3,175 feet in black lime. This is the second time that this well has caused a flurry here, the first being a week or so ago when the well actually swabbed about 150 barrels of oil in 36 hours from a 2,000-foot sand. This was cased off and the deeper pay sought, the probability now pointing to a good well when the sand is entered further.

Further to the south the Panhandle Refining company and Larkin and White swabbed fifteen barrels of oil from their shallow well Friday, and are cleaning out preparatory to pumping. A location for a second test has been made nearby. Miller Brothers have taken over the old Whatley test in block 961, shut down at 350 feet, and will drill to 1,500 feet.

VACUUM HAS FIRST WELL.

New Producer First Delousing to Company 58 Years Old.

The Vacuum Oil company recently brought in its first producing oil well located near Lake Charles, La., its first oil well in 58 years of the existence of the company. This firm, which was founded in 1866, was content to buy its crude from producers making its profit from the manufacture and sale of lubricating oils mainly.

Several months ago the company purchased a lease on a block of 5,800 acres near Lake Charles, and a one-third interest was sold to the Gulf Refining company interests. Development was pursued and the first well was dry. The second completion started off at the rate of 4,200 barrels daily from sand at 3,878 feet.

The new well is near Tidewater and with a little dredging tankers can be docked near the new well and oil from it and the succeeding producers can be shipped to the company's plants on the Atlantic coast at little expense. The Vacuum Oil company specializes in lubricants and the oil from the new well has but very little gasoline and a large amount of valuable lubricants. The company hopes to ship a large part of its daily requirements from its leases around the new producer.

CROMWELL FIELD.

Three Drilling Wells Will "Do Much To Extend or Define Oklahoma Pool.

Special to The Record News.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27.—News from the Cromwell field at this time is greatly in demand by midcontinent oil men, for the future of that area is centered on the three extra-producers now approaching the sands.

Tidal Oil and Tidal Osage Oil companies No. 1, Barney Nunner, in the center of the northeast of the northwest of the northwest of 17-10-8, which was at 5,470 feet late Wednesday, drilled to 5,489 feet Thursday and the work of pulling the big pipe was begun. The 10-inch parted and an effort was being made to screw together before drilling in. The Tidal well is 22 feet lower structurally than the Sinclair-Transcontinental producer in the southeast of the west half of the southwest of 9-10-8, and 25 feet lower than the McMan Oil company No. 1, in the northwest of 16-10-8. On this account the fact that it missed the normal Cromwell depth is offset. Oil men believe that it will come in a good sized well.

Waite Phillips company No. 1 Joe Tiger-Harjo, in the southwest corner of the northeast of the northeast of 13-10-8, drilled on from 5,470 feet where it had nothing showing to 5,500 feet and was fighting cores.

Laurel Oil and Gas company No. 1 Ben Fixico, in the northwest of the west half of the northeast of 4-10-8, most northerly drilling well in the Cromwell field, was drilling below 5,330 feet late Thursday.

Cromwell field production for the week ended Wednesday was 42,101 barrels from 97 wells, a decrease of 2,677 barrels, and a gain of four new wells.

Wewoka field did 6,904 barrels a day Wednesday from 73 wells, a drop of 621 barrels and a gain of one new well in the week.

Wetumka field did 15,450 barrels from 52 wells, a gain of 2,219 barrels from three new wells.

The three fields were doing 64,435 barrels from 222 wells, compared with 64,554 barrels the week ended September 17, from 214 wells.

GLOBE LOCATION.

Will Drill Two Miles South of Harmel Well.

Globe Drilling company has made a location and expects to move on immediately in the southeast corner, 900 feet west and 150 feet north, Mrs. L. R. Wainscott land, block 1,590 TE &LCO survey, abstract 932, about two miles south of the Murchison-Fain, Marland Oil company well on the Harmel land, north Young county.

By The Associated Press.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Sept. 27.—The Prairie Oil & Gas company today announced a cut in the price of crude oil purchased by it at wells in Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas. The new prices:

30 degree oil cut 10 cents to 75 cents a barrel.

33 to 32.9 degree cut 10 cents to 90 cents a barrel.

33 to 35.9 degree (new grade), $1.10.

TONKAWA WELLS

The thirty-one wells in the Tonkawa sand at Tonkawa for the 24-hour period ending yesterday morning at 7 o'clock gauged 53,737 barrels.

Wells-Guiberson Flows Again As Drill More Sand

Wells-Guiberson drilled six feet further in their well, No. 1, A. B. Wharton, south of Vernon, Wilbarger county yesterday, and were still in sand, total depth 2,006 feet. Addition of six feet of pay started the well flowing again, and it made one flow of some duration after drilling was stopped.

It is intended this morning to drill deeper to the Heydrick sand, picked up in his well at a depth of 2,012 feet, the expectation being that the intervening distance will be comprised largely of shale.

Drilling is going forward with a small gasoline engine that has been used for pumping and is a little slower than was expected.

The sand in the well was originally picked up at 1,994 feet, and penetrated to 2,000 feet, from which the well settled down to 135-40 barrels daily production. Three hundred feet to the east Heydrick-Bridwell well is making better than 400 barrels a day from sand encountered at 2,012 feet and drilled to 2,020 feet.

The flow from the well for a little over an hour after the 2,006-foot depth had been reached was a little over 70 barrels. Oil men on the lease yesterday afternoon placed probable production from the well in its present state as 400 barrels or better without further deepening, believing it to be every bit as good as the Heydrick-Bridwell well.

FUEL OIL DEMAND

Runs Being Increased to Meet Demand for Fuel Oil and Distillates

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Sept. 27.—Anticipated demand for fuel oil and distillates this winter is the cause of the 25,000 barrel a day increase in refinery runs throughout the mid-continent states. In the five states every refinery is running more crude to the stills and cutting for the heavier ends. While the production of fuel and gas oil and kerosene and distillates is increasing, gasoline stocks are also piling up at a somewhat disquieting rate.

However, the refiners say that it is the season when they must start to store up gasoline for next spring demand, and the cycle is starting.

Many sales managers are inclined to argue that government figures, as well as those of the American Petroleum Institute, on stocks of gasoline in storage are exaggerated. They say that a survey of the mid-continent shows most refinries fairly well sold up and tanks reasonably empty. However a few plants in the Tulsa territory have excessive stocks, but these are quantities of motor fuel that are the same as off the market, being contracted for.

Salesmanagers are not as pessimistic over the situation, as one would expect them to be, with New Navy selling at 6 3-4 to 6 1-2 cents in north Texas, and thus undermining the Oklahoma structure of 6 1-2 to 7 cents, and making the weaker financed refiner dispose of his products at around 6 1-2 to 6 5-8 and none at 6 7-8 cents. Refiners that maintain their own distribution naturally are obtaining more for their product than those that depend on the spot market for their outlet.

SHERTS STARTS UP.

Long Shut Down Well East of Dundee Ends Today as Start Up Again.

James A. Sherts et al on their No. 1, Albright, Hooper and Wade survey, section 4, abstract 933, intend to start up again today or early tomorrow after being shut down for the last few days.

Depth of the hole is given as 1,320 feet with the bit one foot in a lime below which it is hoped to get a sand.

Major Companies Play Chess With Low-Priced Oil

Important Actions Leave Operators Perplexed as To Real Situation

DISTRICT ACTIVE

Parrish-White Area Sees Most Drilling in North Archer County

By A. HALLMAN
Record News Oil Editor.

Important moves by major crude oil purchasers displaced to some extent interest in field activity in this district during the past week. The Texas company's abandonment of proration and offer to buy all stored oil in their lines and tank farms at posted prices, all storage charges to be absorbed, was taken by operators to be a good indication and to augur well for an early strengthening in crude prices with its resulting increase in drilling.

This hope was scattered yesterday morning with the rescinding of the crude price schedule by the Prairie Oil and Gas company to allow from ten to fifteen cent cuts on lower gravity crude, and raise the top grade to 36 degrees gravity and above, price $1.25. This move was followed by the Gulf and the Texas company during the day, the Humble and Magnolia neither posting changes here.

Revision Unexpected.

While this cut does not affect Wichita-Archer crude to any extent, it all being high gravity, a cut of any sort was entirely unexpected, and is bound to stay revival temporarily at least.

On the other hand, the week was brimful of activity; there was a large increase in new locations made and drill permits taken out from the rail road commission's office. There is more tentative drilling prospective for south Archer county and north Young county than in the whole rest of the district, and every indication that a month will see it under way.

There were several important completions during the week; wildcats were dry for the most part, but completions in proven and semi-proven territory were for the most part nice wells, and satisfying.

ARCHER COUNTY.

As has been the trend for the last month attention in Archer county was centered on the southern fields and outside of the Parrish-White and Nichols districts in the northern part of the county there was little activity there.

Roy I. Carter-Phillips-Mahon Oil and Gas company are drilling on Nos. E-4 and 5, White, offsetting the Magnolia and Kentucky to the north (Parrish wells). Doc Brothers have spudded and are drilling in the southwest corner of lot 11, block 34, Whitland, while Robertson et al are spudding in the northeast corner of lot 1, block 35, White land, and Lane Drilling company is erecting a derrick just north of this.

Kentucky is setting casing on the sand in their C-2, while Tex-O-Kan has a light well in their No. 3 White, 1,000-foot sand.

Muse Extension.

In the southern part of the district, where Muse extended a quarter mile with his No. 1 Parrish, NW corner SE 40, NW quarter section 26 Sinnah is drilling on Nos. 1 and 2 Parrish, offsetting Muse No. 1, producer to the west, and No. 2, drilling, a location further south. Magnolia is rigging up for a diagonal northwest offset, and Kentucky is drilling on C-3, north offset to the well. Three or four of these tests are due for completion this next week and the production in this part of the field should be materially boosted.

Ray-Featherstone No. 7 Nichols, northwest corner of lot 2 section 30, has so far proven disappointing, the well making only a little oil and lots of water. This well threatened for a while to link up the Riner-Bailey and R-F Nichols pools, but does not bode so well now. Riner and Bailey should be on the sand in their north offset, No. 21-B Wilson.

Murchison and Fain are starting up on their No. 2 Wilson, an east offset to their recently completed No. 1, 1,000-foot well in the southwest corner of lot 6 section 28, Sinnah has made location for No. 11-B Wilson.

Parker Dry Hole.

North of the Peterson pool Maxwell, Netherton, Everest et al completed dry and plugged and abandoned their No. 1 Parker, section 1, SPRR survey, abstract 423. Both the Gulf and Cliff Mooers are reported on the sand around 1,000 feet in their Tod Wilson tests, north of Waite Phillips with Waite Phillips drilling on rig near his producer, and Carter-Bolvent nearing the sand to the south of he producer.

In the Pease district both the Humble, Graham No. 1, Griswold G Bond No. 1, and White-Swenson, Andrews No. 1 should be on the sand with the White-Swenson well having by far the best prospects of any of the three. The future of the pool seemingly lies largely with the White-Andrews well.

Southwest of Archer City, W. C. Young has abandoned his No. 1 De Moss, dry at 1,385 feet. This was an important test; none of the various oil bearing sands found to the north and east were encountered with any consistency in the well. Texhoma should start up just to the north and east, S. Wilson land, this week, while Haskell is due to get going still further northeast very soon.

Superior is drilling south of the Major pool.

Evangeline Well.

Mitcham and Logan abandoned an important test, their No. 1 Mrs. Etta Tabor, total depth beyond 1,500 feet, just west of the Comne district. About a mile north of this Daniels and Rufe are drilling and should be nearing the sand.

Evangeline Petroleum company et al completed what looks like a good well in the southeast extension to the Green-Flowers pool, Farmer land, Wm. Baker survey, southeast corner of lot 17. The well is being standardized, sand at 1,265-65½ feet. Sand will probably be drilled into further before placing the well on the pump. Sanders-Taylor are offsetting this well to the south, Carey is drilling still further south and a location has been made to the north about a quarter-mile, Jones et al.

Ray-Featherstone et al will probably offset to the east.

Just west of Megargel Daniels Drilling company have bailed dry and encountered around 1,400 feet. Lester No. 1 TE&LCO block 2451.

WICHITA COUNTY.

There were several good completions in both the Roberts and Hill and Burnett pasture areas of Wichita county during the past week. The Texhoma Oil and Refining company and Callum have good wells in their Nos. 2-A and 3-A Burnett, south of Fawlkes station, 1,800-foot sand.

In the Roberts and Hill district Bass and Dillard completed their No. 7 Peeler for an initial production of about 250 barrels, 1,000-foot sand and made location for No. S. 300 feet southeast.

Roberts and Hill completed their No. 11 Overby for 200-barrel well, 1,000-foot sand.

Clopton and Stone failed to extend the Sirles pool a mile or more with their No. 1 Bankara, abandoned as dry at 2,002 feet.

Several important wildcat locations have been made, one of the most interesting of which is that of Shappell on the Sisk land, block 21, Denton county school lands, rigging up.

CLOSE TO PREVENT ROBBERY.

Mendota, Ills., Banks Not to Keep Open From 12 Noon to 1:15 P. M.

By The Associated Press.

MENDOTA, Ills. Sept. 27.—Beginning next Wednesday Mendota banks will close between the hours of 12 noon and 1:15 p. m. as a preventive against daylight bank robberies.

Two Good Wells Completed Panhandle-Knight-Hines Pool During the Last Week

Special to the Record News.

OLNEY, Sept. 27.—The additions of two good wells in the Panhandle Refining company-Knight-Hines district, one of which proved sensational, the assurance of a 700-foot north extension to the Peter-Kemp field and the completion of the Nine Hundred Oil company in the Benson area proved the feature events of the past week in the Olney district.

Standing out as the climax in this trio of events was the completion of the Consolidated Oil company's and the Panhandle Refining company's No. 2, C. L. Davis. The same operator's No. 2 Bearden, one location is drilling at 510 feet.

The sand in this test was topped at 1,074 feet and late Friday afternoon after the sand had been entered 12 feet the well was put on the swab, showing up to be as good as its eastern offset, the Davis No 1. Late Wednesday night, however the sand was entered 13 feet deeper with the result that the well got beyond control and for several hours ran wild, shooting oil into the slush pit and earthen storage that was hastily provided, at a rate estimated at 35 to 40 barrels an hour. Estimates at this time on probable production vary so widely that nothing like an accurate statement can be made. It is, however, far and away the best well ever brought in in this section of the country. The sand in the No 1 Davis, to the east was entered 26 feet or one foot deeper than the No 2.

The other completion in this pool was that of the Shamrock Oil company which brought in its No. 1 Boren for a 150-barrel well from the sand topped at 1,064 feet. Sand was penetrated 12 feet from 1,064 and the well is being swabbed into storage.

The Shamrock's Boren No. 2, 528 feet south of the No. 1, and 150 feet from the east line, is drilling at 210 feet.

A location to the northeast of the No. 1 Davis, the Swastika Oil syndicate, on the A. P. Neale land, block 10, abstract 673, is drilling at 225 feet.

To the northeast of this latter test and in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of the same survey Burns and Maxson are erecting derrick.

In the southeast corner of B. B. B and C. R. R. survey, block 11, abstract 54, E. Bearden land, Eagle Creek Oil company has derrick up and is moving machinery. In the same block the Sun Oil company has derrick up on the F. G. Green land, in southeast corner of tract.

Grisham, Parks, Shaw and Rathka have made a location for a test in the southwest corner of the west 47 acres of a 147-acre lease owned by Knight and Hines on the C. L. Davis land, block 11, abstract 54, offsetting Sun company to the east.

Knight and Hines and the Panhandle Refining Co.'s No. 1, Annie Bearden is drilling at 725 feet while No. 2, same lease, is drilling at 125. These are in the J. Hopkins survey, abstract 174 and located 150 feet south of the north line of the tract.

To the east of these two tests, Lee Wilson on the 40 acres in the north east corner of this same survey is drilling on his No. 1, Bearden at 720 feet.

The Consolidated Oil company's Ragle No. 3-C, is down 850 feet.

Jeffers and Newby's No. 2 Hausler, abstract 167, is drilling at 750 feet.

To the north of the pool, Harvey and Taylor, Kunkel No. 1, Hardaway survey, abstract 164, are drilling around 800 feet.

On the C. West land, survey 230, Jeffers and Newby are drilling at 625 feet.

About a mile and a half southeast of the pool proper, Litchfield et al in survey 236, R. Campbell land, are rigging up and expect to spud Sunday. This test is southeast of the old Eagle Creek dry hole, Cheeves land.

Harmel District.

In the area around the Marland Murchison, Fain, Golding Harmel well these operators are drilling on their Echols No. 1, in survey 2405, and are coring ahead for the sand around 1,300 feet.

In survey 2400, T. L. Griffin land, Maer and Staniforth are drilling past 600 feet, just southwest of the producer.

P. F. Gwynne is rigging up for his No. 1, J. A. Wood land, survey 2406.

Swastika.

In the Swastika field the Swastika Oil syndicate is on the sand with its No. 4, Richardson, "B" at 1,348 feet. In block 12 Echols land, C. H. Clark is on the sand in his Echols No. 1, at 1,326 feet. These two tests promise important small extensions to the Swastika field.

Graham, Millet and Magee are on the sand in their Goldsmith No. 1.

The Swastika Oil syndicate's Richardson No. 2 is drilling at 1,210 feet.

Lowry and Cavin are drilling at 1,190 feet in their No. 3 Harbison.

Peter Kemp Field.

North of the Peter Kemp field the Olney Production company is moving on a Star machine to drill in their No. 1, Kemp, which is standing a foot and a half in sand encountered at 1,090 feet, with some oil in the hole and no water. The test has every indication of making a producer, completion for which will extend the proven area 700 feet to the north. This is the first test that has been drilled in this district with a rotary machine and its outcome has been watched with interest.

A horde of tentative locations have been made in the country north, west and east of this field and the probability is that the next few months will see intensive development with possibly several new pools discovered. The area just west and north of the Peter Kemp field seems to be attracting a great deal of attention, several tests are known to be about ready to start up there.

SEWING MACHINE BUSY.

Examples of Its Use Cited by Secretary at Y. W. C. A.

The sewing machine at the Young Women's Christian Association has been quite busy the past week, Mrs. Iva E. Austin, secretary of the association, stated Saturday. During the week one woman made garments for her husband who is ill in the General hospital, using the Y. W. machine.

Work was found for a young woman by the secretary, and the position was opened immediately. The young woman needed a uniform to begin her work, and without having time to go home to make the garment she bought material and turned it into the finished piece without losing any time. Mrs. Austin stated that the business girls who had hours off at noontime frequently made use of the sewing machine, while others stayed after work hours and did sewing.

Decision Comes in Candidacy Fo Amarillo Appeals Court.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—Nomination of a candidate for the Amarillo court of civil appeals to succeed Judge Boyce, resigned, would be legal if effected by a district convention, the attorney general advised the secretary of state today. The attorney general told the secretary that he should certify the candidate nominated by a convention arranged by the district executive committee.

LEGION BUILDING PLANNED.

State Board of Control Discusses Addition at Kerrville.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—Plans for a recreation building at the American legion memorial hospital at Kerrville were to be discussed today by Senate Cowell, chairman of the board of control; D. J. J. Duggan, state health officer, and Dr. J. B. McKnight, superintendent of the state tuberculosis sanitarium at Carlsbad. The three officials, who constitute a board to determine plans for new buildings at the legion institution, left for Kerrville today.

SHE WAS 113 YEARS OLD.

Woman Buried at Lawton Thought Oldest White Woman.

By The Associated Press.

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson, 113 years old, believed to have been the oldest white woman in the state, was buried here yesterday.

Mrs. Davidson was born in Scotland and came to the United States with her parents when she was a year old. She lived successively in Wisconsin, Tennessee, Texas and Oklahoma. She moved to Lawton in 1901. She is survived by three sons, 22 grand children, 56 great grandchildren and several great-great grandchildren.

Shelly Well Features Week In Panhandle

Well Flowing at Rate Of About Twenty-Five Barrels an Hour

GULF HAS SAND, NO. 4

Prairie Makes New Location On Shaw Land, Section 27

Skelly Oil corporation's showing in their No. 1 S. B. Burnett, section 93, block 5, I&GNRR, Carson county, provided the feature for Panhandle activity this past week. The well had been producing a small quantity of oil from a sand at 2,927-37 feet the 12-hour period bringing 95 barrels. Oil was standing about 2,000 feet in the hole when the lower sand was encountered at 3,088 feet and penetrated to 3,089 feet. The well commenced flowing and a three-hour actual gauge showed an average of 25 barrels an hour.

Six-inch casing has been set at 2,975 feet with a perforated joint three lengths off bottom in the first sand. A liner is being set to stop the cavings.

The Texas company's No. 4 S. B. Burnett, I&GNRR block 5, section 114, is in a red break at 2,920 feet after getting an oil sand at 2,914 feet.

Gulf Production company's No. 4 S. B. Burnett, I&GNRR survey block 5, section 107, Carson county, is two feet in a sand encountered at 3,037 feet with 1,400 feet of oil standing in the hole, and the casing frozen about 10 feet off bottom. The hole is caving badly and preparations are being made to run a liner.

In section 129 Danciger Brothers are trying to get to the bottom of their hole, No. 1 S. B. Burnett, with a rock bit, total depth of the hole 3,583 feet. Gulf Production company's No. 1 Burnett, block 5 section 91, has a pinched shoe at 2,778 feet and is shut down awaiting material.

The Texas company's No. 1 Marr C. Burnett, block 5 I&GNRR section 90, is running six-inch at 2,932 feet on a seat in what looks like black granite, with blue shale, from 2,900 to 2,932 feet.

Hutchinson County.

In Hutchinson county the Gulf Production company is attempting to plug back to 2,670 feet with a load pump in their No. 1 Whittenburg, after setting about 200 feet of water in the hole in 12 hours from a deep sand at 3,088-90 feet. Well is located in H &GR block X97 section 2.

The Gulf Production company's No. 1 Cockrell, D&SE block B-3, section 10, has reached a total depth of 3,123 feet with an oil show at 2,980 and a ramdy zone showing oil at 3,015-3,050 feet. The hole is standing 600 feet in oil, and the well looks like a 20-barrel producer in its present state.

Prairie Oil and Gas company has made a new location, No. 1 Shaw, survey AB, block Y, section 27, 330 feet each way from the southeast corner of the lease, about 26 miles north of Panhandle. Rig will be moved on immediately.

In Wheeler county Schenck-French have their No. 1 George, H&GNRR block 17, section 85, a 60-quart shot and obtained some water and a few granite rocks at 2,240 feet.

The Pan-Tex Pipeline company is connected with the Plains No. 1 and is running oil there, and is understood to be making connections with one of the Gulf wells.

STATE LAND PERMITS.

Robison Rules on Mineral Rights Of Holders in Texas.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—Holders of permits to drill for oil on state lands who combine their permits into one holding, can not dissolve the combination by their own act, according to a ruling of the attorney general given at the request of J. T. Robison, land commissioner. Two or more persons grouping their permits thereby enter into a new contract with the state to develop any part of the whole area formed by the combination and can not by act of their own dissolve the combination and revert to their individual permits, the opinion said.

KNOX FINLEY DRY

Well on Howell Land, Clay County, Abandoned Finally.

Knox Finley has abandoned as dry the No. 1, Howell, just north of his other small producers, Clay county, east of Wichita Falls, total depth of the well given as 1,262 feet.

The Lone Star Gas company has abandoned their No. 1, N. H. Martin, west of Petrolia, total depth 2,002 feet.

PRAIRIE, GULF, TEXAS CO. REVISE GRADING ON CRUDE OIL PRICE SCHEDULES HERE

Jefferson Co. Gets New Test

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, Sept. 27.—With two structures in Jefferson county surveyed and recommended by the United States Geological survey producing oil and gas, oil men have turned their attention to a third similarly classified. The Willboor Oil corporation of Sapulpa has completed a block of 3,000 acres southwest of Waurika on a structure approved by the geological survey and a test well, to be drilled to 3,000 feet with cable tools, is to be started within a week. The location is near the center of section 17-5s-8w.

This structure, reported on lately by M. M. Bradley of Tulsa, geologist and lease man for the Willboor, was the subject of a report made by the survey of 1914, and it is one of a series lying along Red river in Jefferson county. Two wells have been drilled in that territory. One of them contained oil and the other found granite. The theory of Bradley is that they were improperly located with reference to structural lines.

Negotiations are reported to be pending whereby drilling will be resumed and a well started nearly two years ago a few miles northwest of Waurika. Lack of money is said to have been the cause of abandonment. The location is on another of the series of structures paralleling Red river and is near the abrupt turn of the course that forms the bend on the Texas side in which the Petrolia field is located.

Geologists are working again in the vicinities of Courtney Flat, Petersburg and Ora, an area covered with deep sand that skirts the river valley and in which the geologist heretofore has been unable to find a starting point in seeking structural lines. The territory lies on a range between the Seay field in Jefferson county and the oil pool east of the gas structure in Montague county, Texas.

MIDCONTINENT BANQUET.

Texas Oil Men Asked to Attend Association Banquet at Tulsa.

Oil men here are receiving invitations and reservation cards for the annual banquet of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Midcontinent Oil and Gas association to be held at Tulsa, Hotel Tulsa, 6:30 p. m., October 8. All Texas members of the association and Louisiana and Arkansas members are especially invited to attend, so that the meeting will be made as general as possible.

Mr. Axtell J. Byles, president of the Tidewater Oil company, will make an address on "Education and Industry," papers also being scheduled on "Safety Work in the Oil Fields," by Mr. H. W. Boggs, and on progress of the standardization movement by C. A. Young.

Those intending to attend the banquet are urged to send in their names and make their reservations as soon as possible, plates at the banquet to cost $3.00 each. Applications are to be mailed to 305 Cowden building Tulsa, Okla.

At 2 o'clock on the afternoon of October 8 at the association headquarters the annual meeting of the Kansas-Oklahoma division will be held at which time a new executive committee for that division will be chosen. Nominations are now being received for places on this committee.

NEW SALT CREEK WELL.

Makes Nearly 6,000 Barrels of Oil First 24 Hours.

Special to The Record News.

CASPER, Wyo., Sept. 27.—The bringing in of a 6,000-barrel well in the Lobeta sand at Salt Creek by the Midwest Refining company will result in the addition, according to estimates of those in a position to know, of approximately 50,000,000 barrels more of oil to the total output of this field. This quantity alone will be sufficient to furnish the crude requirements of Casper refineries for a period of three years, running at their present capacity.

The new well is located in 23-40-79 and is known as 34X. It came in flowing September 13, from a total depth of 2,546 feet. The first 24-hour test gauged 5,974 barrels when it began showing some water and it was pinched to 2,000 barrels and has been allowed to flow at that rate since.

MORRIS-CLAY CO.

Test Shut Down on Dry Sand At 1,245 Feet

G. T. Morris et al are shut down on a dry sand on their No. 1, Stephenson, just north of the D'Yarmett producers, Clay county, depth given as 1,245 feet.

"36 Deg. Grav. and Above" High at $1.25

The Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Gulf Production company yesterday revised their crude price schedules in north and north central Texas, making a new gravity basis for payment wherein the grade "36 degrees gravity and above" is made high, bringing $1.25 a barrel, and the old top mark "33 degrees gravity and above" bringing only $1.10, a 15-cent reduction.

The Prairie was the first to post the revised schedule, the Gulf following quickly, but the Texas company maintaining their old grading until early yesterday afternoon when they also posted a new schedule.

The beauty of the new schedule is that while to all appearances it is a cut in prices, so far as Wichita-Archer crude is concerned it is not, practically all crude in these two counties being much higher than 36 degrees gravity. The restoration of the old gravity basis even partially is generally welcomed, and since it does not lower the price offered for this district's crude there was little comment, for or adverse to the cut, yesterday. There was some surprise registered, the Texas company's action in discontinuing proration earlier in the week having led operators to believe that the stage was all set for a raise sometime soon and not to expect a cut. Due to certain flush production in Oklahoma it was not considered at all odd that the Prairie and Sinclair did not follow the Texas company's footsteps then.

The new schedule as posted yesterday follows:

Below 30 degrees gravity	$0.75
30-32.9 degrees gravity	.90
33-35.9 degrees gravity	1.10
36 degrees gravity and above	1.25

ACREAGE DEALS MADE.

South Archer Leases, Royalty, Etc., Figure High in Week's Deals.

South Archer county reeked with acreage deals and the like during the past week. The most important of them all perhaps was that by which the Texhoma Oil and Refining company obtained the E. S. Carey well on the Hausler land, block 16, Thomas McCoy survey, and the 60-acre lease on which it is located. Details of the trade not made public.

George B. Ray purchased an extra farm in fee, 150 acres of the Kunkel land, offsetting the Carey well to the north going to him for a reconsideration of $33,000. All of the land was already leased with the exception of the northwest 30 acres. Ray also purchased leases on tracts on each side of the Carey lease, one 37-acre lease just to the west of the Texhoma's offset acreage, Jewland, and 40 acres in the northeast corner of block 16.

C. H. Featherstone purchased the lease on the G. Vernon land, 150 acres, J. Standerford survey, abstract 394, Knight and Hines purchased the royalty on 205 acres of the Kunkel land, consideration not made known.

In the Harmel pool the Humble Oil and Refining company obtained a nice lease from Burns and Maxon.

These are not by any means all the deals that were made, but only purport to be a few of the more interesting.

DEBATE CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Attorneys Swanson and Somerville Before University Club.

The program for the University club luncheon Tuesday noon will be a joint debate between Attorneys F. G. Swanson and Wayne Somerville, the question being, Resolved that the state of Texas should pass a law abolishing capital punishment for crime in this state. F. G. Swanson will take 15 minutes in which to set forth his argument for the affirmative with three minutes rejoinder, and Wayne Somerville will be allowed 18 minutes in which to reply to Swanson and make his argument for retaining capital punishment in the code of criminal laws.

There will also be a short musical program.

State Engineer Here Inspecting Sewage Disposal

V. M. Ehlers, Sanitary Head, In Wichita Falls For Two-Day Visit

MEETS WITH COLLIER

Seek Some Means of Bettering Sewer Condition Here

V. M. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer, arrived in the city Saturday morning and, together with various local officials, inspected the sewage disposal and water supply systems here. Mr. Ehlers expects to remain over Sunday and devote at least a part of today to a further investgation.

The appearance of Mr. Ehlers was in line with a request recently made by the state sanitary board that the disposal of sewage in Wichita Falls be given attention. A protest was made to the state board by residents in the vicinity of Byers, who contend that emptying of this community's sewage into the Wichita riveris menacing the health of the Byers and other residents below the outlet pipes.

When the protest was made known here, Mayor Collier asked the state department to send an engineer to Wichita Falls to go over the situation and make suggestions as to what was needed.

Mr. Ehlers held a long conference with Mayor Collier yesterday morning and in the afternoon went to the sewage outlet points with Dr. A. H. Douglass, director of the health department here. Other points in the sewer system were also visited.

The engineer will probably review his findings here and later make suggestions as to how the city can alleviate conditions caused by its present sewage disposal method. He was assured by Mayor Collier that Wichita Falls was anxious to do what ever it felt able to remedy the situation.

J. J. Corbett Here This Week In Vaudeville

James J. Corbett, former world's heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, leads the bill at the Wichita theatre for Fair week next Friday and Saturday. Corbett will be remembered as one of the most picturesque fighters that the ring has ever developed, and it is said that his career as a vaudeville star has been no less successful. He is assisted by Jack Norton in a skit entitled "Taking the Air."

Other numbers on the bill are: Doris Duncan in "A dainty delineation of distinctive ditties"; Leon Vavara, "The Evolution of a pianist;" She—Him—Her, "A bit of Rub with Tunes;" Waltzer and Dyer, "Song, dance, laughs"; Carson and Kuns, "Attention."

CLASBY GLEANERS MEET.

Thelma's Party To Start At 6 Monday Evening

Baby Pachyderm to be Host To Kids at One Big Feast

4-TIER CAKE READY

Peanuts and All the Other Trimmings on Hand At T-O Fair Grounds

The Wichita Falls schools will not close until 11:30 a. m. Monday morning and for this reason the "Children's Day" birthday party for Thelma, the baby elephant, has been postponed from 10 o'clock until 6 o'clock Monday evening, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

Little Thelma, like most little children, is looking forward to this event and is fussing as to what to wear. This by the way is the first party that Thelma has had in captivity. Less than a year ago she and her little playmate Sidney were roaming around the jungles of India and strolled away from their mother and were picked up by a hunter and brought to America. They have become accustomed to our ways and seem quite content to travel around and meet all the little children.

A great big four-tier cake has been baked by the Home bakery and donated as their share of making this party a success. If all the children of Wichita are not at the party Thelma will be all upset, as she is looking forward to a happy day and lots of peanuts.

JOBE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

City Fireman's Condition Still Grave At General Hospital.

Reports from the General hospital last night were to the effect that H. D. Jobe, city fireman who was shot and seriously injured last Thursday night, was resting as easily as could be expected. His condition, although still pronounced extremely grave, was said to have shown some improvement during the day yesterday. He was conscious at intervals.

Several pieces of bone were removed from his brain in an operation performed Saturday, necessitated by a shot which creased his forehead.

L. C. Salisbury, a Clay county farmer, is out on bond in connection with the shooting.

Vote on Picture At T-O Fair For College Building

Wichita Falls Citizens To Have the Opportunity Of Selection

VOTES ARE 10 CENTS

Popular Favor Result Is Sought in Scheme To Choose Art

Citizens of Wichita Falls will have an opportunity at the Texas-Oklahoma fair to select the finest work in a group of original paintings by professional artists to be purchased for the junior college building. The paintings which are all suitable for use in the junior college, have been carefully selected by a group of women, Mrs. C. C. Jones, Jr., in charge, who are members of the junior college art committee of which Mrs. W. W. Silk is chairman.

Votes at ten cents each will be sold by committee members in the art building where by permission of the fair association the group of paintings has been hung. At the close of fair week, the winning picture will be determined by the accumulated votes the proceeds of which will pay for the painting.

In this manner, the painting will be the choice of the people at large of Wichita Falls, and their gift to the junior college. The novel plan will prove popular especially in school and club circles where students of art have learned to discriminate and will furnish an interesting idea of what type of painting stands highest in popular favor.

ART LECTURES AT THE FAIR

Mrs. H. B. Van Emden, art Critic On Grounds to Tell of Paintings.

It will be of interest to all students and lovers of painting that Mrs. H. B. van Emden will be in attendance at the art exhibit at the fair, it was announced Saturday. She will give informal talks on art and wants the public to ask her anything they want to know in connection with the paintings. Mrs. van Emden (Frieda van Emden) was formerly connected with the Art World and the International Studio, the former an American publication devoted to fine arts and the latter a monthly magazine with a British and American edition. For several seasons she reported New York galleries, clubs and academic exhibits for these magazines and visited the studios of prominent artists here and abroad in connection with her work.

On Monday Mrs. van Emden will devote her time exclusively to the school children of Wichita Falls. The training in art the children receive in the primary grades has prepared their minds and has made them all potential critics. She will endeavor to give them a condensed history of art through the ages.

Tuesday: Condensed history of art for adults. Wednesday: Various methods and media of painting, allied arts. Thursday: Portrait painting and miniature painting. Friday: The development of landscape, great American landscape artists. Saturday: The historical painting in connection with the "Cavalry Charge" by Raymond Devereaux, on exhibit. Sunday: The religious picture, in connection with "Abraham, Visited by the Angels." Italian painting of the Correggio school.

FOR WORKING PEOPLE

The best of workers get out of sorts when the liver fails to act. They feel languid, half-sick, "blue" and discouraged and think they are getting lazy. Neglect of these symptoms might result in a sick spell, therefore the sensible course is to take a dose or two of Herbine. It is just the medicine needed to purify the system and restore the vim and ambition of health. Price 60c. Sold by all druggists.

Needlework Gets Place In T-O Fair

Needlework will play a big part in the woman's department of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair and exposition, premiums being offered for every type of sewing in which women are interested. Embroidery, tatting, cross stitch work on garments, napkins, towels and table cloths are but few among the numerous classifications for this display.

The finest needlework for many surrounding counties will be on exhibit.

Good Eats, Too.

Hand in hand with the needlework are the appetising displays of the culinary art. Cakes, pies, cookies, and bread will vie with each other in the cooking exhibits of the woman's department. Candy is also included in this display and there will be a long list of premiums for the women who can turn out pastries which would melt in the mouth.

Side by side with the pastry display are the finest examples of preserving under the direction of the committe. Jellies and jams, canned preserves, pickles will be awarded first, second, and third premiums on the basis of clearness of liquid, general appearance, color, uniformity of product and arrangement in jar.

Under the direction of W. P. Kingsworth the fine arts including the hand painted china exhibit will be conducted under the doman's department. Various articles including lamp bases, shades, vases, candle sticks, dishes will be shown and premiums awarded to both amateur and professional groups.

Committee Chairmen.

Committee chairman for the women's department at the fair are as follows: antiques, Mrs. Claude B. Wood; crochet, Mrs. R. E. Strange; knitting, Mrs. C. E. Basham; plain sewing and quilts, Mrs. J. Brown Hopkins; "old ladies'" work, Mrs. Newton Maer; fancy swing, Mrs. E. B. Goesline; culinary, Mrs. Solon Downing; library, Mrs. J. A. Kemp; embroidery, Mrs. J. L. Maxwell; children's department, Mrs. George D. Keith; woman's exchange, Mrs. D. G. Whitney; chairman of building Mrs. J. Jones; tatting department, Mrs. C. W. Stevenson. Miss Sadie Oliver of the rural arts department of C. I. A. will be one of the judges of the exhibits in the woman's department.

TEXAS CONGRESS MOTHERS TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY.

Celebration of the fourteenth birthday of the Texas Congress of Mothers, which comes October 19, will be observed by mothers clubs and parent-teacher associations all over the state, according to an announcement sent out by Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, state president of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations.

A number of clubs have already commenced laying plans for the celebration of the fourteenth anniversary of the organization int Texas, Mrs. Marrs said.

Book week programs are also being prepared by clubs over the state for observance of the fourth annual book week, November 9 to 15, according to the state president of this organization.

"One of the most important events on the fall program," said Mrs. Marrs, "in the state convention at Wichita Falls to be held from November 17 to 22. At this meeting I will complete four years as state president and I am earnestly striving to make the program interesting and of lasting benefit. The general theme of the meeting will be the conservation and development of child life."

The annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet in Austin next May, according to Mrs. Marrs, who has announced that this will be the most important event of the entire school year for the organization which she heads. Delegates from every state in the union and from several foreign nations are expected, she said.

Plans for the national convention in Austin next May were made at a recent meeting of the executive board of the national congress in Denver, upon which Mrs. Marrs attended as a member. The tentative program has already been drafted for the occasion, the state president of the organization stated.

The year's school work has been begun in all communities enthusiastically, Mrs. Marrs said.

"Reports show," she continued, "that a number of parent-teacher associations opened the school terms with receptions for their teachers, and where they have new or remodeled school buildings, with house warmings as the order of the day. A spirit of cooperation is being manifested in these affairs that speaks well for the school work. Many more community leaders have a clearer idea of their work with the schools as a result of parent-teacher courses given in the University of Texas and the eight state normal colleges this summer."

The Season Is Opened

The Wichita Golf and Country club was the scene of one of the most beautiful events of the year at the formal opening of the falls season when Mesdames O. B. Keil and W. L. Parker were joint hostesses honoring Mrs. Q. B. Lee, June bride of Dr. Q. B. Lee, Saturday afternoon. The club was gayly decorated in multi colored flowers, with suggestion of the falling leaves of the fall season carried out in the upstairs suite where the games were played.

The flowers were rivaled in their brightness of color and beauty by the guests who were gowned in brilliant colors of lovely materials.

Downstairs Decorated.

The downstairs suite of the club was decorated in roses, gladioli, dahlias, ferns and fall flowers of many colors. Mrs. Everett Jones received the guests downstairs and presented them to the hostesses and the guest of honor. Mesdames Homer Lee and Lewis, sister-in-law of the bride, and T. R. Boone received the guests in the lounge room of the upstairs suite before ushering them into the rooms for the games.

Scarlet sage in beautiful silver baskets carried out the color scheme of the fall season in the upstairs rooms. In the center of the room the table for the cut glass punch bowl was banked with sage and bows of scarlet tulle. Around the center table the thirty tables were arranged for bridge. Table markers, bridge pads and rallies were also carried out in the scarlet.

Table favors of handpainted laquered flower pots with growing flowers were cut for at each table. The high score prize was a lovely red laquered bon bon box. A red and silver wall pocket was the prize for low. Mrs. Lee was presented with a lovely pair of Madeira pillow cases.

Boys Still Lean to Bass Voice, Girls to Soprano, Musical Director Finds

Despite many changes that are taking place in the course of human events, voices are running true to form among the boys at the high school, according to Miss Winifred Alvis, director of music in the high school and Junior college. Of the high school organizations among the boys Miss Alvis has found that nearly 100 per cent of them are bass. Only one tenor voice has been found among the voices that have been tried out this far, the director stated.

Girls Unchanged.

No difference fro the voices of their mothers and grandmothers are the voices of the high school and Junior college girls of today. Soprana voices lead in the girls' voices this year, it was stated. Only a few alto voices are found.

The organization among the boys will be completed this week. Miss Leota Tucker is president of the Girls' Choral club of the Junior college; Miss Eleanor Spalding secretary-treasurer; Miss Dorothy Stegell chairman of the social committee Lee Irwin is accompanist.

For the high school girls' chorus of which there are forty members, Miss Mary Tancred is president; Miss Mary Beth Martin, secretay-treasurer; Miss Majorie Bright, chairman of the social committee, Shumake Barber is accompanist.

Two Orchestras Now.

Two orchestras have been organized under the direction of Miss Alvis. The junior orchestra is made up of the members who have not had a great deal of training. The senior orchestra is made up of the more advanced musical students. Those of the junior organization are promoted as soon as they have shown themselves efficient in their music.

Violins lead in the orchestras. Four firsts and four second violins are in the senior orchestra. Coronets come second with four in number; there are [illegible] saxophones and two clarinets with the drum and piano. David Clark is president.

BETTER BABIES WILL VISIT EXPOSITION.

The "Better Baby" contest of the Texas-Oklahoma fair which opens tomorrow will be the biggest yet held by the fair association, judging from the number of entries of children which have come to Red Cross headquarters to the nurses who are working in cooperation with the fair officials. E. S. Goodner is director of the Better Baby show, and Mrs. M. H. Glover is superintendent.

A building at the fair ground will be given over to the free clinic for the baby show, and a rest room for mothers and babies will be included. Physical examinations of all the children will be made free by the following doctors:

C. W. Stephenson, R. B. Wolford, James W. Powers, Bailey R. Collins, J. M. Whitworth, J. C. A. Guest, F. R. Collard, T. C. Lynch, W. P. Lowry, Austin F. Lench, A. W. West, Curtis Atkinson, Allen P. Terrell, and J. H. Fletcher.

The nurses are Misses Mary Quinn, Rosa Lee Harkins, and Sonora Ponder, local; and Miss Mary Kennedy, representative of the Red Cross headquarters of St. Louis, Mo.

Gold and silver medals will be given to the babies as first and second prizes, to be awarded to boys or girls from the ages of six months to one year; from one to two years of age; from two to three years of age; and from three to four years of age.

The presentation of awards will be made October 4. Children will continue to be registered through Monday, September 29.

AMERICAN HOUSEWIFE WILL BE AT BEST.

That the modern American housewife has made of her cooking a science and an art will be shown at the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition which begins tomorrow. Cakes, breads, pastries, crisp cookies, fluffy biscuits, luscious candies, jellies and preserves goodies will be seen in the woman's building at the fair.

The official judges in the cookery section have a big responsibility for they are to decide the winners of the prizes for the exhibits. In order to grade the foods properly, the judges must smell the aroma and taste. With the aroma of well-cooked, delicious foods, the culinary department will be one of the most attractive places at the fair.

CATHOLIC COMMUNITY CLUB OPENS FALL ACTIVITIES.

Members of the Catholic Community club were entertained Wednesday evening at the K. of C. hall with a buffet luncheon and dance. Short talks were made during the period and plans made for future activities of the club.

ALL KINDS OF BOBS TO BE SEEN AT FAIR.

And still they bob! The girls and matrons from Oklahoma and from Texas as well will have bobbed hair at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Just watch for them.

As for styles in hair cuts, just watch those that will be shown there. They will be there in the countless styles of bobbingdom. Here they are: Horizontal tapered, a nice smooth, straight bob with the ends slightly tucked under; the shingle bob in all its infinite varieties, short, permanent wave, long; the Dutch cut, French center part and other national clips; the Ina Claire, the center part, the close cut (resembling a ponpadour) the horizontal club, the flapper and the girlish. All of them will be there.

WICHITA FALLS WOMEN ATTEND ELECTRA PARTY.

Eleven Wichita Falls women attended the North Side circle meeting of the First Baptist church of Electra Thursday afternoon when Mrs. F. W. Weaver of that city and Mesdames Gault, McClening, Haund, McGriffin and Whitaker were hostesses at the Weaver home at a "four bit" tea party.

The Wichita Falls delegation had gone to Electra in the interest of the Federated Missionary society. The meeting was not until Friday, but invitations were extended to the women to attend the party.

Those present from Wichita Falls were: Mesdames J. E. Hamby, C. H. Andre, Colligan, C. B. Jetter, Biggs, Hunt, W. W. Murphy, Mears, Hagmann, W. B. Jarrell and Miss Dorothy Burks.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB IS ORGANIZED.

Now that summer is over and plans are being made for a lively winter in society, a group organized the Thursday Bridge club, meeting with Mrs. J. G. Groves, 1212 Fillmore street, Thursday afternoon. The club will meet every Thursday for games it was voted, however, because of the Texas-Oklahoma fair not to meet this week.

Mrs. T. O. Sheppell was elected president, and Mrs. J. G. Quinn, secretary.

In the games, Mrs. Fred Wolsey won high score and was presented with a bottle of perfume; Mrs. I. W. Reynolds cut for low and received a deck of cards.

Those present for the games included Mesdames Quinn, Woolsey, Reynolds, Groves, Sheppell, E. O. Swarn, Frank Quelsger, and W. F. Thompson.

MISS LEON BOLIN LEADS GIRL SCOUT TROOP.

Miss Leon Bolin will serve as Senior Patrol Leader for Troop One of the Wichita Falls Girl Scouts as the result of an election of officers held Thursday evening at the Floral Heights Baptist church.

Miss Jessie Boggs was elected counselors advisor and Misses Clare Bodkin, Dula Knight and Alberta Hancock the three patrol leaders for the troop.

The meeting, which was the first of the fall season, was presided over by Scoutmaster Mrs. Jesse McLarry who presented plans for the reorganization of the patrol and an immediate campaign for new members.

Further plans which took shape at the meeting were those regarding a gymnasium class for Girl Scouts which will be arranged if possible, and a Girl Scout play which is to be presented early in November. Proceeds from the play will go toward the building fund for the new national headquarters for Girl Scouts in New York City to which every troop in the nation is subscribing.

Misses Retta and Ray Davis, a pair of charming twin sisters, were received as new members of Troop One, after which the evening closed with informal stunt songs. Fifteen scouts were present.

Back From Honeymoon in Alaska

Mrs. Q. B. Lee was before her marriage to Dr. Q. B. Lee of this city, Miss Mirian Lewis of Dallas. She and her husband have recently returned from their honeymoon in Alaska. Mrs. Lee was the guest of honor at a brige party given by Mesdames O. B. Kiel and W. L. Parker, at the Golf and Country club Saturday afternoon.

HOME-MAKING WILL BE DEMONSTRATED.

Women visitors to the Texas-Oklahoma fair will find it a veritable storehouse of information. The newest principles of home making will be of interest to the housewife.

Problems of cooking, sewing, baking, canning and home planning will be solved in practical exhibits. Time saving devices will be shown in the various booths, including those for cooking and other kinds of housework. The needle work exhibit will be one of the best of its kind in this section of Texas, according to information from the fair association. Fancy work, laces, and practical sewing and dressmaking will be of interest to everyone.

GROUP EIGHT OF ALATHEANS WILL HOLD BAKE SALE TODAY.

Group eight of the Alathean Sunday school class of the First Baptist church will hold a bake sale in front of P. B. M. department store Saturday morning beginning at 9 o'clock. The proceeds of the sale will go into the funds for the group.

Dr. Joanna Campbell has just returned from Denver, where she spent a very delightful vacation with her friends. Mrs. Lillie McCarty and Miss Clara McCarty. While away Dr. Campbell visited Estes Park. She returned by way of Plainview, where she visited her son.

Mrs. E. O. Ward of Muskogee, Okla., who has been the guest of Mrs. C. E. Naylor for several days, leaves today for her home. Mrs. Ward formerly lived in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bright left Thursday for a two week's visit in Washington, D. C.; Louisville, Ky.; Indianapolis, Ind., and St. Louis, Mo. While in Louisville, Mr. Bright will attend the National Safety Council convention.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Joyce have gone for a two week's vacation in St. Louis, Mo., Louisville, Ky., Washington, D. C., and Indianapolis.

Miss Ruth Ross of Lawton, Oklahoma, is the house guest of Mrs. Jack Wages. Miss Ross, who is doing government work at Fort Sill, has secured a leave of absence which extends through the first week in October, and will remain in the city visiting friends until that time.

Autumn Brings Lovely Wearables to the Garment Section

FALL it seems, is Fashion's favorite season or why does she contribute so very many handsome costumes for wearing then? This year she has brought wraps with a new, intriguing silhouette; frocks that bear tunics or whimsies of the Direc toire period; suits that are stunning composees of frock and coat; furs destined to accentuate one's youthfulness; while for evening hours are frocks in a glorious medley of fuchsia shades with ostrich fluttering from them often. Prepare yourself for pleasant style surprises when you see all these new things.

Wraps of Autumn Green or Golden

Green and golden wraps will flash most prominently in autumn sunlight. Wraps slim and bordered in fur. Wraps full above the waistline and growing narrow toward the hem. Wraps of corded fabrics with warmth assured in plaided linings. These are wraps that will brighten autumn for you. Burnt russet and shutter green are new.

Featured At $39.75 and $49.75

Frocks of Fall Turn to Tunics

Flattering fashion, we welcome you. We admire these tunics that grace almost every Frock, and find it hardto choose our favorite with the circular and slashed, buttoned and flared, come for autumn choosing. Better that each should let fabric be her guide and choose from kasha, satin, twill and alpaca the tunic Frock she shall wear.

Featured At $39.75 and $49.75

The New Style in Fall Suits

'A beautiful day in autumn with something important on the program may find a woman happy if she owns a new ensemble costume, one of these. The leading Suit for fall claims frock and long jacket, and appears in gorgeous shades borrowed from the woodland.

New Gloves Ingenious

Silky smooth suede Gloves promise to be favorites this autumn when women will be wearing frocks, too, of suede-finished fabrics. Their cuffs may be ever so brief, they'll manage somehow to show flippant decoration, and always win approval in these newer shades.

Handbags Favored

Along smart promenades this autumn will be noted Envelope Purses in many sizes and in many colors. The favorite, it is rumored, will be gay in hue and boast a silver monogram quite large. Fancy the effect of a Bag like that upon one's costume.

ZR-3 COMING OCTOBER 5

Big Zeppelin Will Await Opportune Weather at Sea.

FRIEDERICHSHAFEN, Sept. 27. The ZR-3 will start on its trans-Atlantic trip to Lakehurst, N. J., on October 5 or 6, provided the weather over the Atlantic ocean is favorable at that time, Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin company, announced today.

Lieutenant Commander Garland Fulton, American naval officer who has been observing the construction of the giant dirigible by the Zeppelin company for the United States navy, has advised Washington that the airship will start for America within seven or eight days.

The American navy department, it is stated, is sending three vessels to take up stations at different points on the Atlantic for the purpose of keeping Dr. Eckner advised of weather conditions.

The department superintendents elected included the following: Cradle roll, Mrs. A. R. Cotton, beginners Mrs. J. M. Schaefer, primary, Mrs. W. H. Davis, junior, (to be elected in the near future), intermediate, Mrs. J. M. Kelly, young people, W. E. George, adult, Mrs. I. A. Farris and home department, Mrs. W. E. Miller. Mrs. H. Willis, the associate superintendent of the junior department will have charge of this department until the new superintendent is elected. These officers together with the teachers to be elected Sunday night will be formally installed next Sunday, Oct. 5, at the morning services. The pastor will bring a special message for the occasion.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. C. M. Simpson, pastor of the First Methodist church, Tenth and Lamar streets will preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday. At the Sunday school hour the annual promotion of the elementary departments of the schol will take place. Certificates of promotion will be presented to those who pass from one department to another. The building committee has been called to meet at the church at 3 p. m. on Sunday. At 6:30 Rev. Ansil Lynn, the church's missionary to Africa will bring a special message to Epworth League No. One. Brother Lynn, with his family will sail in a few days on their return to Africa, having completed their furlough in America. Epworth League No. Two meets at the same hour in their room. The special music for the church services will be an anthem by the choir, who will sing "More Love to Thee, O Christ" (Speaks), and a solo by Miss Ottie Keeling, who will sing "Consider and Hear Me," (Wooler).

The regular "church night" program will be carried out on Wednesday—luncheon at 6:30, study classes at 7, inspirational half hour led by the pastor at 7:45. The teacher training classes have just been organized, and those not yet enrolled can still come in. It is uged that the teachers not now in enroll on Wednesday night. The choir will practice Thursday night, 8 p. m. Boy scouts meet at the church Friday night, 7:30.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Bible school at 9:30 o'clock. All classes and departments are co-operating in the nation-wide program for the "come to church Sunday," Oct. 5. This school is planning a family reunion on that day at which time a large attendance is expected. In order to reach our goal for this special day it is expected that every enrolled member of each class will be present Sunday.

The pastor will preach morning and evening, 10:45 a. m., 7:30 p. m. Special musical numbers will be given at both services.

"Organization to Get Things Done" will be the topic in both Christian endeavor societies meeting at 6:30 p. m. The young people will make plans at this hour for their part in the special features of Oct. 5.

CATHOLIC CHURCH
(1501 8th St.)

Morning services: Communion mass, with communion of the members of the Catholic Daughters of America, the Mothers and the Ladies of the parish in general, at 8:00 a. m. High mass at 10:00 a. m. The sermon will be on "Jesus in the House of the Pharisee." The lesson today is read from the Epistle of St. Paul to the Ephesians, 3d chapter 13-21. St. Paul was in prison in Rome when he wrote this epistle, and was anxious lest the Ephesians might think that the faith, the proclaimers of which were thus persecuted, was not from God. He therefore exhorts them to remain firm in their belief; assures them that his sufferings would be for their glory; and prays that they may be enlightened to know and love God.

We read the gospel from the Gospel of St. Luke, 14th chapter, 1st to 11th verse. Here we see Christ in the house of a Pharisee, and we behold how the Pharisees closely watch Him, to discover something in Him on account of which they might censure or accuse Him.

Afternoon services: Sunday school for the young folks at 3:00 and Sunday school for everybody together with Sacramental Benediction at 7:30 p. m.

The pastor cordially invites the public to the services especially to high mass and Sunday school.

We wish to announce that a two-weeks mission will be held at our church by two Jesuit Fathers, beginning November 30th, and we now already ask the prayers of the congregation for the success of this mission which will be for Catholics and for non-Catholics alike.

The down town church with the friendly welcome. The Rev. Leslie Miller, minister. Announcing the services for Sunday September 27, 1924, and the week following. At the morning service at 11, we shall celebrate the holy communion. At 8 p. m. the pastor will preach on "The Twin Brothers."

Special music will be offered by the chorus choir, Geo. C. Taylor and the Methodist male quartette. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Classes for everybody. The Baracca class announces that Judge Sam Holliday will be the teacher for the young men's Bible class.

Epworth leagues 7. Both the leagues will offer interesting lessons for the young people of the church. Beginning with next Sunday, October the 5th all evening services will begin at 7:30 and the Epworth league at 6:30. Also Sunday school will convene at 9:30 a. m. instead of 9:45 a. m., and the morning worship will begin at 10:45 instead of 11. This will insure the dismissal of the morning service not later than 12 o'clock, noon.

Week's activities, Tuesday: The pastor desires a full attendance of the entire official board this evening at 8. Special matters of importance are to be considered. This is a call meeting. Please don't any member of the board fail to be present. Wednesday: Church family will dine at the church at 6:30 p. m. with the Rev. Howard Thomison, our district superintendent as guest. After the dinner Dr. Thomison will conduct the fourth quarterly conference. Friday: The regular chorus choir rehearsal at 8 p. m. Saturday: All the children who are in the rally day exercises are urged to be present for rehearsal at 2:30 p. m. Parents take note and see that your children come. Next Sunday, Oct. 5 at 9:30 p. m. will be our rally day exercises.

QUANAH WANTS PAVING

Petition Circulated For Eleven More Blocks of Surface.

QUANAH, Sept. 27. — A petition is being circulated among property owners on West Seventh and Eddy avenue for eleven more blocks of paving. It was thought when the mixer for the surfacing material was moved to Crowell two weeks ago at the completion of Quanah's $165,000 1924 paving program, that no more paving would be done this year. But already contract has been let for two more blocks on King and Fifth streets and work is progressing; and with the additional eleven blocks will not be finished by the new year.

Gimlet Eye Has Caused Discord In Phliadelphia

Head of Enforcement League Sends in His Resignation

OVER COOLIDGE NOTE

Butler's Handling of Quaker City's Vice Causes Big Protest

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—Joseph M. Steel, president of the Law Enforcement league, Philadelphia, today resigned as head of that organization as the result of the telegram sent to President Coolidge by the secretary of the league in which he said he possessed evidence of corruption among federal office holders in Pennsylvania.

"I was amazed that you should have sent such an unwise communication involving not only yourself, but those associated with you in the very unfavorable notoriety and controversy," Steel said in his letter of resignation to William R. Nicholson, Jr., the secretary.

"I am convinced," he added, "that nothing can be gained by the use of threats and particularly upon the chief executive of the United States in whose integrity I have the utmost confidence.

"I have not been in full sympathy and accord for some time past with some of the methods used by the league in the promotion of its plans for securing law enforcement and have so expressed myself to you."

Nicholson's telegram threatened to make public the alleged evidence he had if General Gimlet Eye were removed by Mayor Kendrick as director of public safety. The telegram said the president "alone can save Philadelphia from futher disgrace and humiliation" and asked him if he would "act to avert this calamity."

When Steel's resignation became known Nicholson said that an effort would be made to have General Butler take the presidency of the league in the event he is dismissed from the police department.

Physician Pronounced Him Normal Prior to His Release

By The Associated Press.

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Sept. 27—J. H. Gildwell, 53, was placed in county jail here today charged with having shot and probably fatally wounding his wife, Gertrude, and slightly wounding Mrs. Matilda Dresbach, a neighbor, late last night. He had been confined in the county jail several days ago on an insanity charge, but was released late yesterday after a physician had pronounced him normal.

Officers charged Gildewell obtained a pistol and a shot gun, went to his home, cut the telephone wire with scissors, attacked his wife with the scissors and fired four pistol shots into her back as she ran from the house. After Mrs. Gildewell had reached the Dresbach home, it is charged Gildewell using the shot gun fired through a window at his wife while she lay on a bed. The shot struck Mrs. Dresbach on the arm and about the body.

Gildewell, an insurance agent, has three grown children by a former marriage. He expressed regret today that he had wounded Mrs. Dresbach. Mrs. Gildewell has two children by a former marriage.

HONOREE AT A SHOWER

Miss Ruth Downing of Camp Fire Girls Is Entertained

Miss Ruth Downing, guardian of the Ahiyuha Camp Fire Girls was honoree at a miscellaneous shower given Friday evening at the home of Miss Vallie Fern Lowrey, in the event of her leaving for C. I. A. at Denton where she will attend school.

Following a clever style show presented for the amusement of the guests by Misses Ruth Sloan, Lucile Ballard and Vallie Fern Lowry, the Camp Fire group elected the following officers for the coming year: president, Miss Alva Ruth Walker, vice-president, Miss Vallie Fern Lowry; secretary, and treasurer, Miss Ruth Sloan; reporter, Miss Vallie Fern Lowry. Misses Mary Louise Clark and Grace Downing will control the social service of the Camp Fire group this winter, while the recreation will be under the direction of Misses Lucile Ballard and Josephine Smith.

Fruit punch and cake squares were served to the following Camp Fire Girls: Misses Ruth Sloan, Mary Louise Clark, Lucile Ballard, Alva Ruth Walker, Margaret Gerhardt, Grace Downing, Vallie Fern Lowry, the guardian, Miss Ruth Downing, and Mrs. J. A. Lowry.

COLLECT OLD CLOTHING.

Legion Auxiliary Will Aid Rummage Sale at San Antonio.

A collection of clothing for the rummage sale to be held by the state department of the American legion auxiliary at San Antonio will be taken here, according to the plans discussed at the meeting of the auxiliary of Wichita Falls Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. W. Wilson.

Any member of the auxiliary or others who are interested in this work may leave their articles at the home of Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, president of the local auxiliary at 1100 Austin street by October 10. The funds obtained from the sale are to be used to further the work of the auxiliary in Texas.

REPAINT STREET CARS.

Traction Company Puts On New Dress for Fair Week.

The Wichita Falls Traction company have rebuilt and repainted a number of cars and trailers for use during fair week. Eight large cars each section seating between fifty and sixty people, and six trailers are in readiness for Monday morning, the first day of the fair. The traction company has done much towards making the fair a success by building track out to the fair grounds. This track is never used except during fair week.

In 1919 the traction company started with nine miles of track and eight cars, and now they have fifteen miles of track and fourteen cars on the regular run. For the first four years, until last year, expansion of the street railway system exceeded that of any other town in Texas, according to Mr Albritton, general manager. The short, rough riding old style cars are rapidly being replaced by new and improved cars.

Faith and Hope In Ballot Battle At Floral Heights

Candidates are Announced For Election of Church Class Officers

ELECT IN DECEMBER

Each Side is Working To Build Stronger And Better Classes

Politics are not only found abounding in the state political situations They have invaded the domain of the Wesley Girls class of the Floral Heights Methodist church, and the selection of class officers the last Friday in December, 1924, will determine the winning side. The two parties are the Faith and the Hope.

The Faith party ticket has the following candidates: Mrs. R. E. Ducker, president; Mrs. A. J. Lester, vice president; Mrs. R. L. Dillard, secretary; Mrs. Floyd Billingsly, treasurer; Mrs. S. E. Trevathan, assistant teacher. The platform for the race will be presented soon, and the candidates will make their canvas for the voters concerning their election to office. Mrs. S. L. McDowell is campaign manager for the Faith party.

The Hope party has announced its candidates as follows: Mrs. Fred Sehmon, president; Mrs. W. I. Rhodes, vice-president; Mrs. O. W. Harvey, secretary; Mrs. C. M. Crowell, treasurer; Mrs. C. M. Richardson, assistant teacher; Mrs. Ray Howard is campaign manager for this side.

According to the plans of the Wesley Girls class, the two parties are each working to build a stronger and better class from their members.

The plans were launched at a meeting of the class Friday afternoon at the Floral Heights Methodist church.

The class has planned to have a silver tea to be given at the home of Mrs. Ed Peterson in Indian Heights Friday, October 10.

Refreshments were served to 50 women at the meeting.

From a Single Incubator Hatch To 20,000 Chicks

Bowie, Texas, Boasts One Of Southwest's Big Chicken Ranches

M. JOHNSON OWNER

It contains Some of The Largest Incubators In The World

Progress and steady growth have marked the success of one of the southwest's largest individual chicken ranches at Bowie, Texas, and the rapid rise from an old incubator and a few chicks thirteen years ago to an immense ranch caring for 20,000 birds is due to the courage of a man who fought all difficulties in order to realise his dream.

Moss Johnson, owner and manager of the ranch is one of the pioneer citizens of Bowie, a progressive business man, alert and far-seeing who has put his best into his business for the good of Bowie and Clay county.

Modern in every detail, the long string of buildings along the paved highway where pure bred fowls are hatched and raised, contain the largest incubators in the world. Brooders and feeding systems are the very finest, scientifically. Of the 120 buildings which cover the immense tract, 24 were constructed since last year. Improvements and additions are being made steadily as the business increases and so great is the present volume that Johnson is unable to fill all waiting orders.

30,000 Distributed.

Thirty thousand Johnson chickens have been distributed over the United States during the past year, a large shipment having recently been sent to Massachusetts. The great incubators produced 500,000 perfect chicks last year. The present egg capacity is 31,000 every 21 days, and by the close of 1925, Mr. Johnson plans to double the egg capacity.

Fifty families live and work on the huge ranch, caring for the baby chicks with scientific precision, running the great incubators, and handling with speed and skill the tremendous amount of shipping which is necessary for distribution of the output of chicks. The payroll has increased steadily since the ranch started, the fact that workers have never been laid off speaks for steady success.

This is perhaps due to the fact that Mose Johnson, from the first, worked for many years in the yards and at the incubators with his men teaching them the skill and precision in handling the eggs and chicks under all conditions, coupled with sunny good nature and keen business sense that speaks for pride in achievement and a love of one's job. After years of careful detail work, Johnson now manages and superintends the great plant, personally supervising the installation of improvements and additions from time to time which extend his facilities for keeping pace with a steady growing business.

A Pride of Bowie.

This great industry, beside attracting scientific notice because of the method and system employed by the institution is achieving such vast results, is a source of very great pride to the city of Bowie and to Clay county. Mr. Johnson extends a cordial invitation to tourists and visitors from other cities to inspect the ranch under the supervision of a capable guide, thus gaining a practical glimpse of the inner workings of the chicken industry on its very largest scale.

RAPID GROWTH SHOWN

R. L. Yates Started At Tenth Street Fruitery in 1921

R. L. Yates bought the Tenth Street Fruitery in October 1921. His business grew to such an extent that in 1923 he tore down the wooden building and put up a new one story brick building. In order to meet the demand of a growing business he started to serve sandwiches and Yate's famous chili.

Mr. Yates and his son, G. S. Yates, are now opening a new cafe on the corner of Tenth and Travis. The cafe is equipped with lunch counters and also private dining rooms. Regular meals as well as short orders will be served.

THINK CORREGGIO PAINTED IT

Canvas at T and O Fair Has Been Insured for $10,000.

By far one of the most valuable single exhibits at the fine arts building at the fair this year is a small canvas which authorities credit to the school of Correggio. It is unsigned, but said to be of unquestioned authority.

Correggio was born in Italy in 1491 and died in 1534. This picture is insured for $10,000, it is said.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—The cotton market was very active today for a short Saturday session and prices fluctuated within a wide range. October reached 25.00 at the start of the first time on the present upward movement, but closed at 24.41, the low price of the day, showing a spread of 59 points. December, the most active trading month, after advancing to 25.06, declined to 24.39, a spread of 67 points. That month at the highest was 35 points above the previous close and at the lowest 32 points below. The net decline for the day on other months were 31 to 35 points.

At the start the market was 25 points up owing to favorable Liverpool cables, but prices soon eased off on week-end realizing, losing 50 to 55 points. When the weather map was posted showing more rains in the eastern belt, general cloudiness in the belt as a whole and light to heavy frost in the far northwest, the market rallied and the advance was accelerated for a forecast predicting unsettled weather in the belt over Sunday and frost in the belt over Sunday and frost in the northern part of the western belt. This bulge carried price up 54 to 61 points from the earlier lows. In the last few minutes of trading the market broke badly on heavy liquidation by longs and active short selling and new lows for the day were established right at the close, December trading at 24.39.

Cables reported the firmness in Liverpool as due to short covering on unfavorable weather reports from the south. While the local market made a fair response to the firmness of Liverpool, New York ignored it and showed weakness from the start. Aside from the weather was little market news except that Fall river reported an increasing demand for print cloths and the yarn markets were higher with an urgent demand for goods for immediate delivery.

Beginning Monday the New Orleans, La., market will open at 9 o'clock a. m. and close at 2 p. m.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Pronounced strength of the motors and public utilities and the uniformly strong tone of rails were the chief developments in today's brief but active session of the stock market. United States Steel reached 109 for a net gain of 3-4, but many of the other standard industrials showed a tendency to heaviness.

Nash Motors was the individual feature, scoring eleven points to 161, the highest point since the distribution of a stock dividend two years ago. Other motors improved in sympathy, Packard touching a new high at 14 and Studebaker, Maxwell B, and Spicer Manufacturing, duplicating their previous 1924 peak prices. Reports of car sales formed the basis for the buying of these issues.

Frisco issues continued to discount the expected declaration of a dividend of some sort at next Wednesday's meeting of the board of directors, the common touching 31, and the preferred 66 5-8. Atchison led the advance in high price carriers, moving up more than 2 points to 107 3-4.

American Tobacco, American Sugar, United Fruit, General Electric, and National Lead were among the heavy spots.

Foreign exchanges eased slightly in quiet trading.

Grains Up

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. — Immense export business in wheat together with fear that the corn crop was in immediate danger of big damage by frost whirled grain prices upward today, but lively profit taking wiped out the wheat gains. On the advance, all deliveries of wheat and of rye outdid the season's previous top prices record. Wheat closed easy at 3-4 net decline to 1-8 rise, December 1.38 1-2 to 1.38 5-8 and May 1.44 to 1.44 1-8, with corn 3 1-4 to 4 5-8 cents up, oats showing half to three-quarter cent advance and provisions unchanged to 17 cents higher.

Corn prices were buoyant from start to finish. At times the corn market was even more active than wheat. Nervousness concerning frost was due to general belief that a killing frost at this time would be disastrous to corn not fully matured. Oats sympathized with corn.

Provisions were influenced by both hogs and grain.

Cattle Cleared

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27.—Buyers today made a seasonable clearing of the cattle market in all classes today, making purchases in rate that were in line with Friday's close. Most of the calf supply went to order buyers, and sold at a range of 5.00 to 6.00. The cattle supply was of fair to medium quality for the most part. Receipts were close to 1,000 head of cattle and 500 calves.

Not enough hogs were here to make a market quotable, receipts being limited to 400 head, most of which were in the truck division. One car brought 9.80, a price looked 10 to 15 cents higher. Most of the run went at 9.50 to 9.75. No sheep were here and trade condition from yesterday were unchanged on holdovers.

OHIO SOCIETY WOMAN SLAIN.

Mrs. Francis Rawson Shot; Hunt For Son-in-Law.

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Francis D. Rawson, widow of Warren Rawson, nationally known pork packer and prominent in society was shot and killed in her palatial home here last night. The police immediately started a search for her son-in-law, Vinton Perin, flour miller who ran from the house after the shooting and disappeared. Miss Mina Rawson, daughter of the dead woman was shot twice but not seriously hurt. Her sister, Josephine, escaped by fleeing from the home. Perin is 50 years old.

INDIAN HEIGHTS

In selecting your building site you want to find out whether you have the necessary protection to safeguard your investment, as well as the future desirability of that section in which you are about to select your home site.

Go into any city, with a population of 100,000 or more, and you will find that the growth of the city and business district has forced owners, who built nice residences a reasonable distance from the business district a short while ago, to convert them into apartment houses and move further out to a more desirable section where the invasion of the business house is prohibited, and values protected.

INDIAN HEIGHTS

With a new school building to be erected one block east, offers every advantage in modern convenience and protection, as well as enhancement in value. No more desirable location can be found in the city, nor can such desirable locations be purchased at these prices.

After investigating every available section of the city from the standpoint of future development, home comforts, and pleasant surroundings, nine of the best citizens of this city selected Indian Heights as the one place above all others. There is every indication that this property will double in value within the next twelve or eigheten months. Only a few east front lots left.

Welcome Folks To The T-O FAIR
(I am on My Way)

Just had the ol FORD all "Tuned up" and "She" is rearing to go—

Yep—I turned the car over to SCOTT down at the

"They followed instructions and believe me she runs like a million dollars—hitting on all four!"

"Confidentially people—there is a REASON for such true service and this is it—

To begin with the U-Need-A Service is completely equipped to handle any kind of

Ford Repair Work

It doesn't make any difference whether you want a bolt or a screw tightened or want your car completely overhauled—they are the boys that can do it.

Another thing important to remember is that nothing but GENUINE FORD PARTS are ever used on any job that goes in the shop.

Of course GOOD PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE is the best kind of surety that their work will please.

Now there is an old head in the repair game—been at it for 14 years—and his motto is "THE CUSTOMER MUST BE PLEASED."

O. G. SCOTT
IS THE OWNER

With him are three good Ford Mechanics:

A. L. Ayer with eight years experience; Virgil Chandler who has had several years experience and K. C. Ayer who also has had practical experience working on Fords.

If you want a real sure enough "tip"—Take your Ford down to the U-Need-A Service when it needs attention.

You will be pleased with Satisfactory Work, Prompt Service and Reasonable Prices."

No Trace Found Of Minister Who Eloped With Girl

Charge of Abduction Filed Against the Rev. Joseph E. Yates

TOOK CHOIR SINGER

She Was Only Fourteen And the Couple Has Disappeared

By The Associated Press.

NOWATA, Okla., Sept. 27.—A charge of abduction was filed today by A. P. Anglin, county attorney against the Rev. Joseph E. Yates, 40 minister at Alluwee, Okla., who is alleged to have eloped with a 14-year old choir girl of his church.

No trace of the couple has been found.

THEIR EFFORTS REDOUBLED.

Think Yates and the Girl Been Married for a Week.

By The Associated Press.

ALLUKEE, Okla., Sept. 27.—With the employment of private detectives, search for Rev. Joseph B. Yates, pastor of an Alluwee church, and a 14-year-old high school girl with whom he is reported to have eloped, was redoubled today. The couple were last seen in Coffeyville, Kan., last Tuesday where they sought to be married, according to Nowata county officials, who are participating in the hunt.

A note delivered to the parents of the girl by the driver of a school bus who said Yates had given it to him, declared that Yates and the girl had been married a week, and that the ceremony was performed by his brother. The note added that the two were on their way to Stella, Mo., from where Yates and received a call to preach.

A Coffeyville minister refused to marry Yates and the girl Tuesday because their license was issued at Independence, Kan., according to Nowata county officials. The couple then drove away and left the license with the minister, who returned it to Independence, the authorities said.

The girl's parents were not aware of any infatuation for the minister on her part, they said today. She was a member of the choir in the church of which Yates was pastor.

HILL HEIRS SUE LOUIS

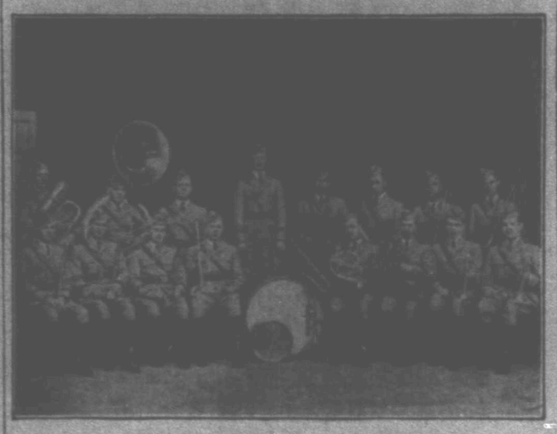

Claim He Obtained Property From Mother Through Fraud

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Three of the nine surviving children of the late James J. Hill, northwest "empire builder," today filed suit against one of their brothers, Louis William Hill, for the return of property which they claim he obtained from their late mother, through "fraud and undue influence."

The Director and His Charges At Fair

AL SWEET'S CHICAGO CADET BAND

EVERETT JOHNSON
Director of Al Sweet's Cadet Band.

It is apparent to anyone who cares to observe that among the thousands that crowd the grand stands at the big state fairs, there is a large percentage of old people. Yet in arranging the entertainment it isn't often that the old folks are taken into account. However, this year Everett Johnson, the young director of the Chicago Cadets, has programed a delightful descriptive number for the special entertainment of those who have reached their "three score years and ten."

It is entitled "An Old Fashioned Sleigh Ride" and brings back to the memory of the older people an old fashioned sleighing party beginning with a jolly winter song to the merry tune of sleigh bells and winding up with a box supper and dance. Judging from the pep the band injects into this number and the amount of fun they and the audience seem to get out of it, the old folks weren't so slow in their day as we supposed and probably had just as good a time as they would have had with a tin lizzie and a country club and a jazz orchestra.

There are other descriptive numbers on the program which catch the crowd's fancy. "A Trip to the Zoo" in which the band imitates the various sounds made by the different birds and animals always makes a big hit with the children. In fact there is such a variety to the program of the Chicago Cadets that there is something for everybody.

RADIO LEAGUE WILL AID.

The Zeppelin to Be Informed Constantly of Weather Conditions.

By The Associated Press.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 27.—The American Radio league, which is making plans to keep navy officials and the public in contact with the dirigible Shenandoah on its flight across the continent and return, was advised today that the airship would leave Lakehurst, N. J., on October 2 for Seattle by way of Fort Worth, Texas, and San Diego, California.

Immediate preparations are being made by the league at the request of the navy department to have amateurs along the route west of Fort Worth on duty for six daily schedules. This will be the first use of the airship's short wave set. Government stations are not equipped to operate on short waves, but amateurs are skilled in their use. The short wave was selected because storage batteries are the Shenandoah's only source of radio power and the short wave has a high efficiency.

São Paulo is the most progressive and richest of all the states of Brazil.

SHOT; DON'T KNOW HOW.

Mystery Surrounds Wounds of 71 Year Old Ft. Worth Man.

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept 27—Henry McGill, 71 years of age, was found in his home this afternoon shot twice in the head. He is in a critical condition and is unable to explain the shooting.

EX-PRESIDENT IS DEAD.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua Sept. 27.—Manuel Estrada Cabrera, former president of Guatemala, died Wednesday at Guatemala City and was buried yesterday at Quezal Tenango, his birthplace, according to information which reached here today from Guatemala.

Morphine injected into a drunken man frequently causes death.

A disturbance at the foot of the gangplank!

Something has gone wrong with one of the shawled women patiently waiting there. Something wrong about her passport. But she, Katerina, stands there SERENE. She has worked her fingers to the bone for this day, but she has lived life bravely and wisely, and if the DREAM IS NOT TO HAPPEN—well, it is not to happen!

KATERINA THE GREAT.

IT is the end of summer. One of those cloud-swept windy days of alternate threat of rain and shine. A tender stands suckling alongside the port of Cherbourg, France; and out a bit at sea, like a FABLED CENTAUR too wild to venture closer to shore, stands a triple-screw ocean-liner waiting for the tender to scurry out to her with passengers for America.

Out there she stands, white against the low and scurrying clouds, waiting for her HUMAN FREIGHT.

Home-going Americans, eager, wind-burned, sun-burned, after a summer abroad. A good-natured crowd with that curious, tired look that comes at the end of a holiday; like children coming home from a picnic with withering flowers in their hands.

There is a huddle of emigrants on the dock, too, being red-taped aboard the tender. They are going to America for the first time. Women out of Czecho-Slovakia, with colored handkerchiefs on their heads and bundles of baby at their breasts. Men in beards and with their baggage in 'kerchiefs, standing distraught while the interpreters work their way in and out among them.

This group stands off by itself at the foot of the gang-plank, while the Americans in their Continental finery and with home-going chatter and patent-leather luggage and attendant nurse-maids, valets and chauffeurs, crowd on board.

There is a disturbance at the foot of the gang-plank and the Americans crowd to the rail to look down.

A wail has gone up from one of the shawled women out of Czecho-Slovakia. A young peasant woman—with fine red, peasant cheeks and strong black hair and thighs that have strained at the plow—has thrown her arms around the neck of an older woman of her kind. A woman still full of sufficient heft to pull the plow, but with a thousand lines crawling over her face and a mouth caved in where the teeth have gone and her strong hair the tired gray of a woman who has toiled all her life with her hands.

Something has GONE WRONG. The Americans crowd closer. Among the easy-going and good-natured crowd, there is immediate talk of making up a purse, nobody quite knowing why.

Something has gone wrong, but NOT EVEN A PURSE WILL HELP.

Through some mishap, or through some intentional ruling, the passport of Katerina Muslova, mother of Olya Muslova, has not the proper visa for embarkation to America.

Katerina Muslova, mother of Olya, is not being permitted to go on board. There she stands, stunned with the import of what the interpreter is explaining to her with the ends of his moustache, the waving of his fingers and the shruggings of his shoulders. There she stands, with the SAVINGS OF NINETEEN YEARS, money literally scraped out of the runty ground, in a wadded red handkerchief hidden down inside her bosom and her useless passport hanging limp in her hand.

"You—devil—pig—cheat!" screams Olya, the daughter, in hysterical Bohemian and starts to claw at the interpreter. How dare you keep my mother off? She has bought and paid for her ticket. She has worked her fingers to the bone for this day. I will kill you if you do not let her go on board."

Up at the rail the Americans twitter. "What is happening? These foreigners, how they jibber! Does she need money? Well, let us make up a purse."

No, it is not money that Katerina needs right now. Slowly, as she stands there with the clutch of her daughter's frantic arms up about her neck, it dawns upon Katerina that THE DREAM IS NOT TO HAPPEN.

Katerina's passport has not been properly vised. For the reason of her seventy-two years, perhaps. For the reason of the red itching that can sometimes happen along her eyelids. For some reason which has somehow not been properly conveyed to them in time. Some slip-up. Katerina is not to go. Katerina, standing there with the wad of her savings in her bosom and the hysterical arms of her daughter about her neck.

"Pig! She will come on board if I have to stamp my heel in your face. There is her passport. See it! How dare you say it is not enough—"

The twittering Americans. "What was it? Poor things. Probably some mental deficient trying to get aboard. Oh dear. Poor things."

And so Katerina stands there, suddenly knowing what it is. She is not to go to America. Calm Katerina, full of years and yet with so much more strength and repose and dignity than her daughter. Calm Katerina . . . so SCHOOLED IN ADVERSITY.

"Olya," she says, and unlocks her daughter's hysterical arms and looks at her with straight, dry eyes, "you must go without me. You must go alone."

"I'll kill myself first. Mama-sha! I cannot bear it. My mama-sha!"

"But if you do not go, then everything has been wasted. Here is the money. Is it not better that only one should stay back than that two should stay back. There is Uncle Serge on the farm to go to, even if ours is sold."

"No, no. He'll put you to the plow. He'll murder you with work. You have toiled for twenty years to get free of it. If you go back, my mama-sha, I go back. Mother of God—where are you? Help us. God. Savior. WHERE ARE YOU?"

"Olya, if you do not go to America and get yourself free from the labor at the low plow, if you do not go on the ship—now—without me—I swear to you before our Savior and Mother of God that with the fruit knife in my bag I will kill myself before a fortnight. I swear to you before Mary Mother of God, and you know that I do not break my vow."

The calm, dry eyes of Katerina. The strong, relentless eyes, SCHOOLED TO ADVERSITY, that Olya knew so well. The great calm, unhysterical Katerina, holding her quivering daughter off at firm arm's length.

"Mama-sha, Mama-sha, I cannot go without you."

"You can. You must. You are young. You have life before you. I am finished. I do not mind. I have not worked in vain, if you are allowed to go to America. That is reward enough. God has been good. I can go back gladly to the plow. I have never known anything else. Oh, my baby," said Katerina, but with her eyes still dry, "it is enough happiness for me that you are to begin a new life in the promised land. Olya, if you love me, go aboard, my Olya. My little Olya. See, I do not mind. I am not afraid. I am full of happiness for you. God is good. Maybe some day later, I can come join you. I will see the commissioner. See, my little Olya, maybe it is not for long."

The dry, sombre eyes of Katerina, knowing well for how long it will be, but so calm and so deep and so CRUELLY WOUNDED.

"Mama-sha. Mama-sha—my mama—my heart will break. I can never be happy again. I shall hate the new world that tore me from my darling mama-sha—oh mama—come after me quick—see the commissioner—oh mama—Mother of God—where are you—"

The hysterical daughter of Katerina being literally dragged aboard, the cries from her like RAPIERS down into the HEART OF KATERINA. The puzzled, the well-meaning, the well-dressed Americans twittering at the rail. The tender moving off toward the proud, waiting ship.

The bleating cries of Olya coming back across the water to Katerina standing there with her dry-looking eyes looking as if they had been stabbed and the little bleats of sobs from Olya floating back—floating back—

The interpreter bringing Katerina a cup of soup finally, and, in a manner strangely kind for him, urging her to sit on one of the waiting room benches until train time. But Katerina, whose throat is too closed for the soup, prefers to remain standing out there on the wind-swept pier and to look, long after the little bleats of Olya have ceased to be heard anywhere except IN HER HEART.

The little bleatings of Olya shut up there in Katerina's heart.

After a while the great white ship moves slowly out to sea.

The shell of Katerina standing there long after the boat is lost into the horizon . . . her eyes like two lights that had been doused.

Too Much G.O.P. Boast Is View From Washington

Think Cocksure Claim Of Victory Has Been Much Overdone

PARTY IS SUFFERING

Illness Comes from Effects Of Overconfidence As Campaign Grows

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The republicans have overdone a bit this "cocksure" stuff about the election. They are beginning to reconsider the part themselves.

They have claimed everything in sight, so often and so long, and derided any possibility of Coolidge not piling up the necessity majority in the electorial college over both Davis and LaFollette, that republicans generally began accepting the September newspaper victory as a November victory in actuality.

Purse Strings are Tight

If there is anything worse in campaigning than lack of confidence, which the democrats have been plagued with since the New York convention, it is overconfidence, and the G. O. P. obviously is suffering the ill effects of that now. The expected contributions haven't rolled in, as our informant. The customary management got its word that Coolidge was a cert winner and refused to get excited or loosen up.

In the same fashion, in not a few states where the republicans ought to win on form, they have been slumbering on the job, taking it for granted Coolidge would pull them through, only to find as the campaign goes down the stretch they have a fight on their hands.

It is no secret that the G. O. P. managers have created much more energy in states like Minnesota, Wisconsin and West Virginia, for instance, organizing them carefully because they had a stiff battle on from the outset, than they have in most others where they are afraid to take no chance like California or Illinois or even New York.

Then Al Rides Up Again

This last state, with its all-important forty-five electoral votes, had been dismissed from the start by the republicans as certain gait once until to find that Al Smith was to run for governor again. New York is still likely will head with, Coolidge, but it will be a fight.

In California they have been talking of a 200,000 or 300,000 majority, but even conservative republicans have had misgivings of the situation. They think Coolidge will not by safely but LaFollette has given them the "scare" of their lives and S. O. S. calls for aid have deluged the wires from the Pacific coast the past few days. They are afraid of a repetition of 1916 in California with Hiram Johnson calling on Coolidge.

With a 3-party line-up the republicans would have ample justification for their confidence. But with LaFollette an uncertain quantity and counted to be certain of slipping off several normally Republican states at the minimum, the G. O. P. management is beginning to discover that the 5 electoral votes required are not picked up the easiest way in the world. The loss of any one state of those which they have been counting on as sure might mean throwing the election into congress. In short, the republican management at this stage of the fight can't produce a table of 266 votes which are copper-riveted down beyond any reasonable doubt.

Have 223 Electoral Votes.

They can muster 223 votes that are fairly sure. To get the remaining thirty-three they have a few more than one hundred votes to go for, in any combination of which they have reasonable chances. In short, whether they get them or not largely depends upon how the tide is going election day.

If it runs to Coolidge, he should have a generous margin; if it doesn't the election certainly will go to congress. A Davis win cannot be figured out by the politicians without New York, and, even with Al Smith running it still looks Coolidge. In fact Chauncey Shaver, the democratic chairman, frankly admitted this week that in his opinion, all things equal, the contest would go to congress for settlement.

The republican culmen, which they regard as sure, is made up as follows:

New England with 44, New York 45, Pennsylvania 38, Ohio 24, New Jersey, 14, Illinois 29, Michigan 15, Kansas 10, Indiana 15. Total, 223.

To pick up the remaining thirty-three they regard California with 13, Oregon with 5, Colorado, 6, and Utah, 4, as considerably more than favorable to Coolidge, with West Virginia with its 8, Maryland, 8; Minnesota, 12; South Dakota, 5; Iowa 13; Nebraska, 8; Missouri, 18; Wyoming, 3; Idaho, 4 and Delaware 3, as approximately "even chance" Coolidge states to furnish the margin. Obviously, it can in sum the answer largely lies in how LaFollette does in the west. It is inconceivable that Kansas should be the lone Coolidge state in the west. On them, he should split even in that territory. A combination of California and Missouri or Iowa would be about sufficient to turn the trick.

All this is premised on the territory claimed as "certain" holding up. As the campaign has developed there are only three states on this list that could be questioned now—Indiana, New Jersey and Rhode Island. The Democrats claim all three states. The republican campaign is not in any real danger in any one of the three, but if the Coolidge strength exists to make the remainder of the east "certain" for him, as the G. O. P. leaders implicitly believe, it should carry him by in these states.

Baylor Freshmen Get Psycho Tests Before Entering

New Idea Among Texas Colleges Inaugurated At Waco Baptist School

THREE HOURS LONG

Will Aid in Determining Classification of Studeht, Say Professors

WACO, Texas, Sept. 27.—Psychological tests to determine the native mental capacity of the 700 freshman students entering Baylor university this fall will be given within the next ten days, according to announcement from the office of Dr. W. S. Allen, dean of the college of arts and sciences of the university.

The questions, which were prepared by Dr. Stephen Colvin, noted psychologist and professor in Brown university, Providence, R. I., are the first of this nature to be given in any southwestern university, and the first to be given in Texas.

While the freshmen of the university are living in a state of nervous expectancy over the nature of the tests, which will require three hours of intensive, written work, the questions are being held under lock and key in the office of the dean, and the secret of the questions is being kept from faculty members and even newspaper men.

While entrance into the university for the first few years of the operation of the psychology tests at least will not be based on satisfactory answers to the examination, the tests, professors say, will serve as a basis for classification of students. After the results of the tests are known, students with either bright, ordinary or abnormal minds will be placed in separate classes, it is planned. The tests, professors also believe, will be of value in determining the adaptability of students for various lines of university study.

Women Fight Rule Forcing Sex to Use Name of Husband

WASHINGTON, Sept. — When J. R McCarl, controller-general of the United States, ruled last month that married women in the government service must sign their husbands' names on the payroll, he probably didn't realize what a hornets' nest (pardon the phrase, ladies) he was stirring up.

The question came up when a nurse at St. Elizabeth's hospital, under the interior department, refused, after marrying, to sign the payroll with her husband's name.

Married women employed by the government were first to be indignant, because a campaign to prevent employment of husband and wife in the department had caused many women to retain maiden names for payroll purposes.

Now Miss Alice Paul and the national woman's party have risen to protest.

Closed? Ha, Ha!

A complaint signed by Miss Paul with a brief prepared by Burnita Shelton Mathers, legal research secretary of the party, supporting the request to have the ruling reversed, was sent to the secretary of the interior.

The assistant secretary replied the matter was closed and could not be reopened.

To which the women replied:

"Closed? We have only begun to fight," or words to that effect.

The party contends that no statue or court decision exists in any state supporting the principle that a woman must take her husband's name; that contracts, decrees, deed, made in the maiden name of a married woman are everywhere valid at law; that the law allows any one, man or woman, to assume the name he or she chooses.

However, the state department has long acted on the same opinion as the interior department, and it has been a sore point with many independent-minded women that they could not get passports to foreign countries in their maiden names. It is said that one noted woman writer recently refused to go abroad because she could not get a passport in her own name.

Something Else Again.

Mr. McCarl, czar of the government's expenditures, has laughed at the wrath of Bureau chiefs and weathered the angry of the cabinet with his power unshaken, but this is a different matter.

Dutch Learn to Talk English From American Tourists

By The Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 27.—American tourists have flocked this season to the quaint island of Marken in the Zuyder Zee. This is one of the few communities in Holland where the native dress has not given way to standardized clothes. Huge balloon trousers for the men, and gay pink, blue and yellow waists, full petticoats and white caps for the women still are worn in Marken.

The little folks dress just as do their elders. The picturesqueness of the place, maintained with an eye to business, have drawn so many American visitors that not a few of the natives speak English without an accent.

The British exhibition at Wembley covered 400 acres.

White Goes Into Battle In Kansas Against the Klan

Real War Between Candidate and Secret Order Is Indicated

HE IS INDEPENDENT

Opening Speech at Cottonwood Falls Answered With Fiery Cross

COTTONWOOD FALLS, Kas., Sept. 27. — William Allen White launched his campaign and got his first baptism of Ku Klux Klan fire here one night this week.

As he finished speaking in the court house yard tonight a fiery cross of the klan was started burning down the street.

"The boys celebrate, I see," said Mr. White.

Mr. White and his new white hat started on a seven weeks' tour of Kansas tonight as the independent candidate for governor. In colorful language, as only "Bill" White uses, and in a most picturesque setting, he launched his campaign. Long before Mr. White, Mrs. White and their son, "Bill, jr.," arrived, the courtroom was jammed to capacity and the streets were lined with persons in buggies and in cars and on foot on their way to the first speech of the campaign. There were nearly one hundred carloads of Emporia persons added to the Chase county crowds.

F. E. Newman, one of the big bankers of this section; Will Wayman formerly a member of the legislature; Warren Finney, head of the Emporia Telephone company, and many others of the business and professional life of Emporia came to see that their fellow townsman had a good send-off. But there were enough Chase county folks to start the White campaign off in good fashion.

The opening of the meeting was delayed while men scurried around finding wires and big lamp globes to light the entrance to the court house. When Mr. White was introduced by M. A. Breese, one of the oldest republicans in Chase county, the front yard of the court house was packed, and many were lined up along the sidewalk.

Had To Be Done

"I never supposed I would be taken from the peaceful walks of writing books and editing a country newspaper to start on a trek like this," Mr. White said. "I would much rather do as I have been doing for thirty years than to start on seven weeks' solid campaigning. But the job had to be done. I could not talk fast enough to talk two or three other men into doing it. So here I am, and we start from here, and right now."

That one sentence amused the listeners, and they stopped the speech while they gave the speaker a good round of applause.

"There is a new Kansas coming," Mr. White continued. "Are we going to live in this new Kansas as those men who made Kansas great would have us live? There was John Brown and the Free Sollers, and the early settlers who took their politics seriously and honestly. I am in this campaign to try to talk reason into the heart aspirations of those who believe in honesty and kindliness in politics.

Ask 2,500, Get 10,000

"We sent out petitions to get 2,500 signers in seven days. We had nearly 10,000 signers, and it is on behalf of those 10,000 and many more 10,000 of good Kansas folks who feel the same way that I am in this campaign and expect to stick through it to the finish, carrying the message to as many thousands more as I can reach.

Just as Mr. White finished his speech, three men dashed down the main street of Cottonwood Falls in a motor car. They stopped one block away from the meeting, set something in the street and lighted a match to it and then drove rapidly as the flames spread. It was the fiery cross of the klan burning in the middle of the street.

As Mr. White drove out of town everybody drove along to see the cross, but there were only jeers and laughter for the efforts of the klan.

Attacks Gag Rule

Mr. White opened his campaign with an assault on gag rule. He declared use of the gag in politics was typical of the ku klux klan and had been applied several times. The most flagrant use of the gag, he said, was at the party council in Topeka last month when Ben S. Paulen, the republican nominee for governor, himself moved the previous question to prevent a discussion of the klan issue on the floor of the council.

Mr. White used some mouth-filling and colorful words in his description of the klan and its activities in Kansas, even coining a word or two so no one would make any mistake as to his meaning.

"The independent ticket for governor and lieutenant governor is filed in Kansas as a protest against gag rule," said Mr. White. And from his first sentence he never let up in his assault on the politics of the klan and the engineering activities of Mr. Paulen in applying the gag.

"The gag rule first came into the republican party last May," Mr. White continued. "A flock of dragons, kleagles, cyclops and furies came up to Wichita from Oklahoma and held a meeting with some Kansas terrors, genii and whang-doodles. They selected Ben Paulen to run as the republican candidate of the ku klux klan for governor in the Kansas primaries.

Willopaws-Wallopuses, Too

"A few weeks later, the cyclops, kleagles, wizards, and willopaws-wallopuses began parading in the Kansas cow pastures, passing the word down to the shirt-tail rangers they were to go into the Kansas primaries and nominate Ben Paulen.

"The klan knows no politics, it knows no religion and it knows no morals. But it gagged the Kansas primaries. In June and July the little cow pasture politicians began passing cards all over Kansas with Paulen's name on them as a candidate of the klan."

Mr. White bitterly assailed Mr. Paulen and the republican leaders for permitting a minority candidate of the party to override the wishes of a large majority of the party relative to the klan.

"They assembled 40,000 klan votes for Paulen," he said. "Paulen received 75,000 votes all told. Take away the gagged vote of the hooded gang from Ben Paulen and he stands with 35,000 republican votes, his honest strength. Against Paulen's 75,000 votes stands 135,000 cast against Paulen for Reed and Stubbs by free loyal Kansas, republicans. When Paulen went to Topeka to attend the party council he could see nothing but wizards, kleagles, pie-biters, cyclops, calithumpians, and furies cavorting around the cow pastures. So he ignored that 135,000 republican primary votes against him, an overwhelming majority, as if they had never been cast.

Griffith Leads Fight

"The fight against the klan in the republican party in Kansas was made by Charles B. Griffith, nominated as attorney general; Frank Ryan, nominated as secretary of state, and Jess Miley, nominated for state superintendent of schools. They wanted to make the fight on the floor of the convention. Then came the ku klux klan gag; the gag that committed Kansas republicans to the ku klux klan. Ben Paulen opposed the resolution denouncing the klan in the committee on resolutions, and it was defeated. The three anti-klan candidates on the state ticket wanted to take the fight to the floor of the convention, but the sinister, powerful hand of the ku klux klan reached for Ben Paulen and gave him resolution to provide for the gag rule, pushed him forward with his prestige and thrust the gag into the republican state convention and defeated even a vote or a debate on the ku klux klan.

"Klan tactics never were used more brazenly than Ben Paulen used them in thrusting the republican convention —shutting off debate, shutting off a vote on the issue when three of his associates on the state ticket had received two and three times as many republican votes as he. Then and there the republican party, the republican platform and the free will of the republican state convention under Paulen's leadership became not the property of the party, but the property of the ku klux klan."

Won't Be Bound Now

Mr. White declared his unaltered support of the Kansas primary system, but when the system was broken down by gag rule, he said, he held it could not bind any friend of good government and must not be used to strangle the voice of the good citizens of the state.

"The primary is a means to an end," he said. "The end, of course, is good government. But when the primary becomes a means to the end of bad government it should bind no one. We appeal to people under the laws of Kansas. The Kansas law makes provision for this emergency. It reclares any citizen, by filing twenty-five hundred names, may protest against gag rule or any other corruption or injustice of the primary. We are here making that protest under the laws of Kansas. We appeal from the invisible rule of the invisible government to the free people of Kansas.

"Carr Taylor and I have filed not merely twenty-five hundred names but nearly ten thousand names in our petitions. The constitution and laws our fathers established are good enough for us. The visible government of Kansas is good enough for us and we stand here demanding the visible government of Kansas shall be maintained and the invisible government, with its gag rule of terror and force, shall pass from this state."

Zeppelin Fought, Civil War

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 27. In connection with the proposed flight to America of the ZR-3, it is recalled here that the late Count Zeppelin, inventor of the dirigible, made his first balloon ascension in he United States.

This was during the Civil War when Count Zeppelin was an officer in the Union army. The count never became an American citizen and returned to his native land in 1886. It was during the Franco-Prussian war that he conceived the idea of the dirigible, inspired by the progress made by the French in aeronautics.

JUST LIKE DUCKS

Mrs. Bobby Dunn and her bathing girls of the Con Kennedy shows, coming to the Texas-Oklahoma Fair.

"Less 'rithmetic and more recreation."

That's the way Miss Bobbie Dunn, famous swimmer and diver of the bathing girl revue one of the many attractions of the Kennedy shows, who are to supply the attractions for the Wood Midway of the Texas-Oklahoma fair next week, sums up the situation and she firmly believes that if this rule were followed out it would develop a finer race of men and women than all the curriculums in the world.

"If the child of today," continues Miss Dunn, "were given systematic physical training along with their schooling they would not degenerate into the tired business man and women of tomorrow. In infancy the child should be taught graceful movements of the arms and legs and gradually the child would develop a natural coordination of the muscles and the natural development of the mind will follow.

One of the most healthful of out of door recreations is swimming. Not only is it one of the best exercises to bring into play all the muscles of the body but brings with it grace and development. Start the children off right with health of body and you have them on the right road to health of mind.

Miss Dunn presents her performance in a tank around which the seats are so arranged as to permit a perfect view of her performance. Associated with Miss Dunn are a company of swimmers and divers direct from Miami Beach, Florida.

NO POSTOFFICES

Itatan And Balsora on Discontinued List For October 16.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Postoffice department announced that the Postoffice at Iatan, Mitchell county, has been discontinued and mail for that point will be sent to Westbrook. The postoffice at Balsora, Wise county, will be discontinued on October 15, and mail for that point will be sent to Boonsville.

Between 1910 and 1920 the south lost 263,916 negro workers.

Education To Be Stressed At T-O Exposition

In the educational department the exhibits of drawing and paintings are expected to eclipse all former records for southwestern expositions. The work of the southwest Oklahoma and northwest Texas amateur artists are as good as one can find at any exposition in any part of the country and the fair association is offering liberal premiums in the educational department.

Passing Years Tell Tale On Sen. LaFollette

Wisconsin Candidate Shows Effect of Life Of Fighting

NO BARNSTORMING

La Follette is Oldest Presidential Candidate By Several Years

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS.
Record News Staff.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—Senator La Follette will conserve his strength and attempt no "barnstorming swing" such as he would have made had he been a presidential candidate a few years ago.

The Wisconsin senator, it is said by friends, felt no ill effects from the two speeches he made in New York in the last week, but his efforts to "get up steam" failed, demonstrating to him that his seventy years have taken their natural toll.

La Follette is far and away the oldest of the presidential candidates. Where Coolidge and Davis are in the prime of life, La Follette has felt the finger of time. But Senator La Follette will make some speeches in the middle west and other parts of the country.

The independent candidate only last winter was seriously ill with pneumonia, an illness from which men of his age seldom recover. It was a protracted affair, but he says it has left no ill effects. But Father Time is making his own demands, and even if he had not been ill the chances are that a long series of speeches, his close friends say, might be fatal.

They point to what happened to former Presidents Wilson and Harding.

Once Sickly Boy.

When a child Senator La Follette was described as a "sickly boy," but later his constitution underwent a change, and although he never has enjoyed rugged health he has been able to endure more fatigue than most men could stand up under. While he was governor of Wisconsin his health broke down and he went through a long period of digestive trouble, during which time he lived on a diet of nuts.

Smoking, once his solace, has been abjured, both as to cigars and cigarets.

In Washington he lives an extremely methodical life. He arises at 8 o'clock, and his breakfast consists of fruit and perhaps a slice of toast. He spends most of his mornings at home and receives political and personal callers. The noon lunch consists wholly of vegetables, spinach, lettuce, string beans, etc., and more fruit and the evening meal is about the same. He eats sparingly but regularly.

About 1 o'clock he usually lies down and takes a brief sleep. The sleep is regularly taken, whether at home or at his office, and during that time no one is allowed to disturb him. Ten o'clock sees him in bed for the night.

While he retires regularly, he does not sleep throughout the night. Whenever he awakens he follows his usual custom of turning on the lights and going to work. Reading, writing speeches or studying out plans of political strategy are his usual occupations on these wakeful occasions. Any one going by at 2 in the morning may see the light turned on and know that the independent candidate for president is hard at it.

On the platform he desires to discuss his question from all possible angles. During these speaking experiences it has been his custom, especially when speaking in the hot southern states, to remain in his room without clothes until just before the lecture. When he emerged before the public he would be clad in the thinnest possible garments and with a rubber collar, the only thing of its kind that would not wilt.

No public speaker is more physically active than the senator when speaking. He walks about, talks with his hands, arms, head and body, and even with each separate finger. When he had concluded one of these speeches, his appearance indicated some one had turned the hose on him. Every part of his wearing apparel would be wet with perspiration.

The fact is there is nothing the senator likes so much as public speaking, and his enjoyment of what is hard labor to most people may enable him to go through the campaign in better condition and work harder than some of his advisers think.

Likes Detective Shows.

The senator finds his diversion in reading detective stories and in the movies. It is characteristic of him that he likes the blood and thunder movie where there is plenty of fighting yarns. And he dearly loves a prize fight.

Men close to the senator say he would have given a good deal to see the Wills-Firpo fight in New York, but has refrained from attending exhibitions of this kind for fear it would set a bad example.

In the movie world William S. Hart is his favorite actor, and when Hart starts in to clean up the frontier saloon and gets his two guns in action, the senator is happy. The popular story magazines also furnish him diversion.

One of the outstanding personal characteristics of Senator La Follette is his hair. The famous blond pompadour hair is as high and militant as of old but is turning white.

Senator La Follette always has given attention to caring for his hair and has been successful, perhaps, because he was a barber at one time in his career.

While a student in college, La Follette resorted to any kind of work to make enough money to pay expenses. One summer he taught school and in the off hours established a barber chair in the rear of the local grocery store.

He is still handy with the razor and shaves himself. On occasions he even trims his own hair. All his life he has used olive oil to liven up the scalp, and this may account for the fact that he is not afflicted with baldness.

Although having the reputation of being one of the best dressed men in the senate the La Follette family sometimes has to steal some of his clothes in order to force him to stop wearing them. He never wears them out, yet always appears to have blossomed out of a tailor shop. He belongs to the association of "save ist" and never throws away any article of wearing apparel.

While the regular order of his living is interrupted somewhat by his campaign, the senator adheres to it as rigidly as possible. When he goes to his office before lunch time, as he rarely does, to confer with his son, Robert Jr., now in charge of the campaign, the two take their lunch at the Union restaurant, near the capital, where spinach and string beans are always on the bill of fare.

Just now he is living, breathing and talking nothing but politics, and his family has a hard time of it keeping him in a spirit of discipline.

ENGLISH HANGMAN USES GUN WHEN HE TRIES TO DIE

John Ellis.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—John Ellis, hangman, wanted to die. He chose a gun instead of a rope. That is why he is living today.

Ellis was found in his home seriously wounded, with a revolver lying beside him. For some time he had been brooding over the fact that he sent to their graves more condemned murderers than any other man who ever held the despised office of official hangman.

He had not been officiating for some time, however. He lost his nerve and gave up his sinister occupation after executing Mrs. Edith Thompson, last woman who suffered the death penalty in Great Britain.

The job is the most unpopular in England. Ellis lived in constant fear of his life and was shunned by all who knew his position.

The salary is small and uncertain, the hangman being paid so much for each execution.

A dog which survives salmon poisoning is thereafter immune.

Wool Growers Get Big Refund From Government

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27—Wool growers have thus far received refunds aggregating $444,574.93 from the excess profits collected by the United States department of agriculture from dealers who handled the 1918 wool clipped under the government regulations which fixed the price of wool and limited the profits that might be made. This work of collecting and distributing excess-wool profits was transferred from the war industrial board to the department of agriculture by executive order dated December 21, 1918. Much of this refund went to Texas.

Total excess profits of $1,484,207.90 have been found to have been made on the 1918 season's wol operations. Of this amount, 0748,828.22 has been collected, the balance of practically and equivalent amount being due from only 58 dealers. Many of these dealers are resisting payment, making suits in federal courts necessary. Ninety per cent of the money awaiting collection is payable by 12 dealers. The efforts of the department are directed particularly at this time toward expediting and assisting in the trials of pending cases. All cases thus far reached for argument or for trail have been decided in favor of the government.

Explorer Says New Glacial Era Beginning

McMillan Believes Polar Ice Cap Is Moving South

MUCH COAL IN NORTH

Expresses Belief that Earth's Axis May Have Changed

By The Associated Press.

WISCASSET, Maine, Sept. 27.—Enormous coal deposits were discovered in Ellesmere Land by Capt. Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer, who arrived here Saturday with his party of six after a 15-months' sojourn in the far north. But it may never be reached by man, since the explorer said his investigations led him to believe another glacial age was beginning.

The coal was found near Eureka Sound in seams at some places 25 feet in thickness. Samples of the coal, which he said was bituminous, were brought back by the explorer for analysis.

The location of the deposits gave little hope that they could be brought in soon to augment the world's supply, for they are only a few hundred miles from the North Pole and 800 miles beyond reach of any transportation system except bob sledges.

Earth's Axis May Have Changed

According to information given the Associated Press by the explorer, the far north once had a climate startlingly different from that it now possesses. This indicates, he said, the angle of the world's axis may have changed in the course of centuries.

Captain MacMillan also asserted that ice caps in the Arctic are increasing in thickness, glaciers are moving southward, and that possibly a new geological period may have set in. He said, too, that the entire Ellesmere Land coast was sinking.

Speaking of the discovery of coal, Dr. MacMillan said:

"This simply prove sthe scientists' claim that this land bad at one time a temperate climate. The bigg hills were at one time covered with vegetation and the climate was like that of Pennsylvania. Seams of coal 25 feet in thickness were found within less than9 degrees of the north pole.

"The exact location of the deposits was 81 degrees 40 minutes north latitude.

Hills Once Under Water

"On the tops of the hills, 1,200 feet above the sea, we found clam shells, showing that at one time the hills were beneath the sea. The land evidently has reached its greatest altitude, for there are positive signs all through the north now of a subsidence. The entire coast is sinking.

"This shows a very different inclination of the earth's axis to the orbit, eons of time ago.

"Just where the north pole was then it is hard to conjecture. Such information, while not of great interest to the layman, is of tremendous interest to the geologist."

Ice Is Increasing

While MacMillan said it was believed unversally that the world was at the end of a great glacial period and that polar ice was decreasing, he asserted that his studies through the last 16 years had proved beyond doubt that all the ice caps and glaciers in the far north were increasing.

Within his own recollection, he said, inland glaciers had reached the sea. These reaching the ocean and breaking off woul cause an increasing number of icebergs, he asserted.

"Just how long this period of advance will continue, no one knows," the explorer said. "It may be temporary, but we do know that they have been advancing for more than 70 years."

HASKELL SOCIETY

The Hiker's club is an organization of Haskell high school girls that has been in existence for three years and at the time of their organization they had eleven members but three have graduated and the membership now with their sponsor, Miss Laura Kilgore, high school teacher, is nine. The Hiker's club has had many delightful outings and hikes all over the country and they intend making this their best year. They met last Thursday and elected officers and the letter K as their key letter and colors and flower as following. Keeper (sponsor), Miss Laura Kilgore; kaptain (captain), Miss Markuerite McCollum; kadet (secretary), Miss Maurine Couch; kollector (treasurer), Miss Mary Sherrill; kutup (clown), Miss Ernie English; (kop (sergeant at arms), Miss Louise Kaigler; kitten (mascot), Miss Frances Grissom; kolors, khaki and kardinal; key, krows the country; flower, kactus; honorary members, Miss Georgia Smith and Katherine Smith.

Mrs. Hill Oates opened her home to members of the Thursday Bridge club last Thursday and a delightful afternoon was spent at this popular diversion. Mrs. Oates served a tuna fish salad, iced tea and jellied apples to Mesdames Clayborn and John P. Payne, Wiley Reid, John Oates, R. R. English, J. E. Bernard, Clyde Grissom and Roy Shook.

Miss Eunice Huckabee, who was the duchess from Haskell to the Abilene fair, had as her escort Mr. Fowler of Abilene and the maid in waiting, Miss Marylee Pinkerton, was accompanied by Mr. Wayne Koonts of Haskell.

To avoid a conflict on the social calendar of the week Mrs. R. R. English entertained the Thursday Bridge club on Tuesday afternoon and added cheer to her living rooms by bowls and basket of beautiful roses. The hostess served a delicious plate to the following congenial members: Mmes. W. H. Harrison, John Oates, J. E. Bernard, Wiley Weld, Hill Oates, Clayborn and John P. Payne and Roy Shook.

Mrs. W. J. Sowell and little granddaughters, Elizabeth and Beverly Gilbert, have returned from a summer in California with her children, Mrs. Willis Buchanan and Yandell Gilbert. They were accompanied home by Miss Virginia Gilbert, who has been in California for nearly two years.

Mrs. George Morrison of the Music studio presented Miss Marjorie Rogers in piano recital Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Magazine club library to an appreciative audience. Miss Rogers is one of Haskell's most talented musicians and gave proof on this occasion that talent and application produces art. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Martha Lou, who played several piano pieces with her and by Mrs. Lela Odell Barnes, the expression teacher of Munday, who delighted the audience with a variety of readings. Little Miss Sylvia Barnes rendered a number of Stevenson's rhymes.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pinkerton, Miss Marylee Pinkerton and Mrs. Roy Shoop and Mr. Wayne Koonts returned from the west Texas fair at Abilene Wednesday.

The following Haskell business men were in Abilene attending the fair when Haskell county was awarded first place on agriculture exhibits and claim much credit is due the county agent, Mr. Price for obtaining the best that the county affords and preparing and presenting it in the most pleasing manner. Messrs. Oscar Oates, J. P. Post, Henry Alexander, E. Segall and Bert Welch.

Mrs. T. A. Williams has returned from a visit to her children in Fort Worth and Dallas. Her son, Mr. Homer Williams, was quite sick while she was there.

Mr. Fred Parish was brought to Haskell from Wichita Falls Thursday very ill and is reported to be no better.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Neal and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Neal and family have returned from a trip on the plains.

Mrs. H. F. Barnes has returned to her home in Munday after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Odell.

Mr. J. J. Bedford of Abilene visited his sister and family, Mrs. J. L. Odell, last week-end.

Mrs. Tom Donohoo and little son Thomas, Jr., are in Vernon for the health of the little fellow, who has not been very well through the summer. Mr. Donohoo was with them for a few days but is now at his place of business.

Rev. Ben Hardy was called to Albany Tuesday to conduct the funeral of Mr. J. H. Sammons of that place.

Mr. Sam Chitwood and Mr. David Perrin are home from Denton, where they went overland Wednesday and took Misses Thelma Pearl and Ila Mae Chitwood and Miss Lela Sprowles to the teachers' training school. They were accompanied as far as Decatur by Dr. J. M. Gose.

Mrs. Ben Hardy and Mrs. O. E. Patterson attended the all day meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church at Knox City last Thursday.

Mr. M. A. Clifton, an old resident and business man of Haskell who has been in the feed and coal business for a number of years, has added groceries to his line and it will be known as the Clifton grocery store.

Work was begun last week on a modern brick business house just north of the Haskell National bank by Mr. Lee Pierson, who now lives in San Diego, Cal. Mr. Pierson lived in Haskell for many years and has a good deal of real estate in the county. He is also remodeling some residences.

New Method Of Reducing Fat

Here's joyful news for every fleshy person who loves good things to eat—especially those who are denying themselves the things they like most because of their desire to keep down their weight or to reduce the fat with which they are already burdened.

The famous Marmola Prescription has been put up in convenient tablet form and is now sold by druggists everywhere at only one dollar per box. To get rid of fat steadily and easily, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or flabbiness will remain to show where the fat came off.

Simply use Marmola Prescription Tablets according to directions. They are pleasant and easy to take. No rules or special regulations—just the regular use of the tablets. Try them for just a few weeks and get results without going through long sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet. Get them at any good drug store. If your druggist should not have them in stock you can secure them direct from the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., by sending one dollar. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way.—Adv.

Baylor Studes Cannot Marry While At School

Edict by Varsity Prexy Does Away With Puppy-Love Matrimony

BAYLOR IS PIONEER

Entire Faculty Said to Be Behind Move to Eliminate Student Marriage

WACO, Texas, Sept. 27.—A ban on marriages among the undergraduate students of Baylor university, on pain of banishment from school for one year, was evoked by the university faculty at a meeting held prior to the formal opening of school Wednesday.

The new regulation, which was carried by unanimous vote of the faculty members, is expected to halt the veritable epidemic if matrimonitis which swept through the ranks of the student body last term, taking in its wake a toll of perhaps 30 or 40 men and women.

President S. P. Brooks himself sponsored the decree, which is designed to give thoughtful pause to such students as find themselves tempted to speak the glib but fateful "I do."

Secret marriage by any student of the university, the resolution also provides, will be penalized on discovery by suspension for an indefinite period.

Faculty members, in short speeches at the meeting which passed the anti-marriage ordinance, supported the university president and viewed the marriage of students in the course of their schooling as an evil not to be tolerated.

So far as is known here, Baylor university becomes a pioneer among schools of the south in dealing with the "student lover" problem. The regulation it was indicated, will not be deemed to govern students in the Baylor university professional schools in Dallas.

BIKE RACES AT FAIR.

Will Take Place Monday Morning; Valuable Prizes Offered.

The bicycle races, Monday morning, "Children's Day" at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair are attracting much attention in juvenile circles. The fair association is co-operating with a sporting goods company in offering prizes and purses for the various bicycle events according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

The opening event as scheduled is a pick out race for match in the Texas and Oklahoma championship. The distance will be one mile. The second event is a stack wheel race and is listed as a half mile sprint. The third race is for boys over 12, free for all, distance one mile.

The fourth event is for boys under 12, and the distance is one-half mile. The fifth and final race is for the Texas-Oklahoma championship. Racing wheels are to be used in this race.

Prizes and purses amount to approximately $100. The chief prize is a bicycle, racing model, given by the Grover Bullington company.

Rubies have been found in North Carolina and Montana.

Natural minerals and rocks have been manufactur d by means of extreme heat and pressure.

Boils Pimples and Blackheads

Why worry and fret—wish and hope? Why be jealous of those with clear, soft skin? It is within reach of all.

A RICH, RUDDY, wholesome complexion is possible. It is not something that is just beyond your reach. Neither is it something that requires years and years of toil to acquire.

But you must have a foundation for a clear and beautiful complexion. You can be sure of this: Nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. So-called skin disorders—pimples — blackheads—boils and kindred disorders are nothing less than billboards announcing that the blood is in a disordered condition. More red-blood-cells! That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Blackheaded pimples are worse! Boils are worse yet! Eczema is not to be trifled with! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer. More cell-power in your blood. The amazing results produced by an increase in red-blood-cells, is one of the A B C's of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure, rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve-power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from the blackheaded pest; pimples, boils; from eczema and from rheumatism impurities, too. From that tired, rundown feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S.S.S. will aid Nature in building them for you! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Begin taking S.S.S. today—possess that clear, soft, velvety skin and bring the youthful glow back into the cheeks. S.S.S. will do it!

S.S.S. is sold at all leading drug stores. It is more economical to buy a large size bottle.

Texas Second In Annual Loss By Lightning Bolts

Illinois Leads in Yearly Damage from Thunder And Wind Storms

12 MILLION A YEAR

Nation Suffers Heavily As Result of Fires And Gales

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22.—Texas stands second among the states in the normal yearly damage due to lightning, the weather bureau of the department of agriculture announced today in urging the use of lightning rods on farm buildings.

For more than 30 years the weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture has been an earnest advocate of the protection of buildings and other property against lightning by suitable rodding. The bureau is frequently called upon to advise inquirers concerning the proper methods and materials to be employed. Occasionally plans are drawn up in detail for the protection of government structures. In 1910 the White House was rodded after plans and specifications prepared by Prof. Marvin.

To determine the relative liability of farm buildings to fire damage by lightning, a study of lightning fire losses was made recently by the weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture. The average annual loss for the whole United States is a little over $12,000,000 which is probably a conservative figure. Illinois has the unenviable first place with an average annual loss over a million dollars, part of which may be attributed to industrial sections. Texas is next in order because of its large area and the presence of highly inflammable oil storage tanks. New York is third, for reasons similar to those affecting Illinois. In the highly developed agricultural states of the north heavy losses are suffered, especially through destructive cyclonic thunderstorms. If the index number showing relative liability of farm buildings to damage is small in one state when compared with another having equally destructive and frequent thunderstorms, it is probable that protection against lightning is more general in the former state. Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa are states where it is estimated that somewhat more than half of the farm buildings are protected by rodding.

T-O Swine Show Better Than Ever Claim Officials

The swine show at the Texas-Oklahoma fair is expected to be much better than during the two previous expositions. Several champions, winners at fairs on the midwest fair circuit, will probably be shown during the local exposition. The swine show is always interesting to farmers and ranchmen. Many fine hogs are bred and raised in southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas.

Wealthy Yachtsman and Wife Die Mysteriously on Lake

The story of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Thayer, wealthy Clevelanders, is sealed up with other unsolved mysteries of Lake Erie. The Thayer yacht was found at anchorage three miles in the lake with no one on board, and the bodies of the owner and his wife were washed ashore 24 hours later. The theory that they were the victims of rum pirates was dispelled when valuables were found on the bodies. The Thayers and the yacht are shown.

FAIR BOXES FOR SALE.

Will be Reserved Throughout Entire Fair Season for Buyers.

Boxes along the first two tiers of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair grandstand, and immediately in front of the judges' stand and race track, and the stage where the feature acts are to be shown, are now on sale by the fair association.

The boxes contain six seats and are to be reserved throughout the fair this year and the purchaser will have exclusive use of the box for himself and party. The boxes will have a covering.

Those who wish to acquire the reserved boxes for the entire week of the exposition should immediately communicate with John K. King, room 6, Kahn building. If purchases are made by mail check for $50 must accompany the application.

FLOWER JUDGING MONDAY.

Entries Will be Accepted Until Hour Of the Judging.

The plants and flowers exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair will be judged at 11 o'clock Monday morning and entries will be accepted until the hour of the judging, according to Mrs. R. E. Shepherd, assistant director of the women's department of the exposition.

Many beautiful plants have already been entered in the department and the different varieties of cut and trimmed flowers are expected to be displayed at the flower show. Pot plants and cut blooms will be artistically arranged, according to E. W. Marrott, superintendent of the plant and flowers department.

Head of College P-T Praises Faculty and Students of School

"It is our policy to profit by the examples of women in their worthy undertakings in Wichita Falls, and we promise our co-operation in word and deed to the faculty of our public schools." Mrs. J. W. Akin, president of the high school and Junior college Parent-Teachers' association, which met Thursday afternoon at the Junior college.

"The Junior college building is a source of pride and pleasure to the citizens, but we have a good student body, and we have the best faculty in the United States," the president enthusiastically declared to the assembly. "We are going to have the very best programs that we can have for the mothers and teachers for the meetings of the association, and we shall have state and national educators here to make addresses to us."

Mentions Legion

Mrs. Akin spoke of reverence to the American flag and mentioned the work that the American Legion commission is trying to do in establishing patriotic instruction in the schools of the country. She also called attention to the work of the W. C. T. U. and to the Health and Efficiency club in trying to raise standards of American living.

Mrs. E. S. Goodner, president of the Civic council of the P. T. A., announced the coming of the Texas Mothers' congress to Wichita Falls in November. She asked the co-operation of the association in entertaining and preparing for the guests who will be here. Mrs. Goodner stated that both state and national speakers would attend the convention.

Mrs. Kay Reports

A report was given by Mrs. John C. Kay, chairman of the finance committee. Cook books with recipes given by the mothers will be sold to raise funds for the furnishing of the house keeping rooms on the third floor of the Junior college.

Mrs. P. A. Welty, director of the cafeteria told of the work of the cafeteria and gave a talk on "Foods, Health and how the Cafeteria is Conducted." Following the close of the meeting, Mrs. Welty invited the members to the cafeteria and served them refreshments.

Programs for the high school and Junior College Parent Teachers' association will be modeled after the national plans for programs. Sections for the mothers whose children are in the sophomore, junior and senior classes will be arranged.

Program Is Given

A short program was carried out with the following numbers: Miss Velma Scott read "The Two Roads." Mrs. T. B. Crouch talked on the education of the child in the home. Miss Margaret Kaye sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Miss Chella Hendricks. Mesdames O. W. Harvey, John C. Kay and M. G. Catter were appointed on a committee to make arrangements for a faculty reception to be held soon.

S. H. Rider, principal of the high school, stated that in his opinion, this meeting was the best initial meeting of a Parent Teachers' association that he had ever attended.

Poppies eaten with honey made a delectable desert for the old Roman families.

Higher Priced Stogies Go To Laboring Class

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 27.—A man isn't to be judged by the price of cigars he smokes if the justices of the supreme court of Texas may be cited as "a case in point." Members of the high judiciary buy the nickel brands, according to one of Austin's oldest retail cigar stores, a druggist who has been here almost as long as the town.

"The judges and most of the higher state officials buy the five-cent brands," he said. "The higher priced cigars in my case are always bought by the man of small means. I've no need."

This druggist knows personally most of his cigar purchasing customers. He smokes a five-cent brand himself and declares, after having smoked them all, that the judges live up to their reputations for wisdom even in selecting smokes.

"My wealthiest customers smoke five-cent brands—men who could afford to smoke 25-cent cigars just as well," he said.

"It is the laboring man as a rule or the college youth or the young married man who buys the higher priced cigar. No laboring man I know ever buys a five-cent cigar. As a rule, this class smokes a 10-cent or two for a quarter brand.

"The young married man generally smokes a 10-cent cigar, much as the laborer. The college student, however, must have the best. The boy here with plenty of his father's money to spend can't see anything cheaper than a 15 or 25-cent cigar."

Another classification made by the observing cigar dealer places his customers into groups according to the strength of the cigar smoked.

Judges, state officials and wealthy men, he says, smoke very mild cigars as a rule. Laboring men smoke brands of medium strength. Very few real strong cigars are being sold today, according to the druggist. Taste, in this respect, is changing, he declares. Formerly, the retired colonel, judge or ex-governor always called for a strong, black brand. Today few smoke cigars of this kind. The stronger cigars have passed gradually with the passing of the "old south" of slavery days, in the belief of this cigar dealer. The milder smoke is merely another phase of modernity, and much better on the system, in his opinion, than the "black stogie" so common among southern aristocracy of a generation back.

The ordinary citizen of the Roman republic ate beef only on great occasions.

Dems Confident Of Full Control In Next Senate

Party Differences in Many States to Bring Gains At G.O.P. Expense

CLAIM HOUSE ALSO

Majority of 220 Votes Is Looked for There By National Leaders

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Record News Staff.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Democrats are confident they will control the sixty-ninth congress. They base their estimates of majorities on reports resulting from a survey of all doubtful states and districts. They see gains enough to run their total in the house to at least 220 and a safe margin in the senate.

Recruits from the LaFollette forces it is asserted, will give the democrats five or six new house members from the industrial centers of Pennsylvania and New York and Indiana, will curtail their republican strength and add five or six democrats.

Blame It On Dawes.

General Charles G. Dawes is said to be responsible for a large influx of LaFollette supporters to the democratic candidates for congress in industrial communities. The vigorous campaign against Senator LaFollette is making thousands of voters for democrats who are running for the house. This is especially true in Pennsylvania, New York and Indiana.

Late reports to democratic headquarters here show serious trouble for the republican candidates for the senate in these states: New Jersey, Delaware, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Colorado, South Dakota, New Mexico, New Hampshire and Wyoming.

The only democratic senator in a tight place is Walsh of Massachusetts. The support of the LaFollette people, which has been pledged by Senator Wheeler and others, may carry him through, for it is estimated that it will amount to between 100,000 and 150,000 in the state.

The facts as reported to the democratic senatorial committee here are:

Du Pont Causes Split.

In Delaware, where T. Coleman du Pont defeated Senator Ball for the republican nomination, the party is divided in du Pont and anti-du Pont voters. Senator Bayard, democrat, defeated Col. du Pont two years ago. J. M. Tunnell is the democratic candidate against him this time. Mr. Bayard has reported to the committee that du Pont is sure of defeat.

A democrat will succeed Senator Colt of Rhode Island, democrats assert. This prediction is based on the fact that they won the state in the 1922 election by 14,000, and conditions are better for them now than they were then.

The democrats feel certain of a democrat in New Jersey to succeed Senator Edge.

A determined fight is being waged against Col. Guy D. Goff, republican candidate for the senate in West Virginia. Democrats charge that he is a resident of Wisconsin and has not been connected with West Virginia for twenty years. Former Senator William E. Chilton, democrat, is making an aggressive campaign.

On account of party rows the republicans of Illinois, democrats show, are not united for Governor Deneen for the senate. They believe that A. A. Sprague will win by the aid of LaFollette and disgruntled republicans.

In Michigan the democrats expect to win with Mortimer E. Cooley, dean of the law school of the Michigan university, a popular man, against Senator Couzens, who has alienated many old guard and LaFollette republicans.

Brookhart in Iowa.

Senator Brookhart, republican, is having a hard fight in Iowa, and the democrats hope to win over him. His support of the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket has alienated regular republicans, who are turning to Daniel F. Stack, the democrat.

The democrats claim an additional senator from Colorado. Their surveys show that Senator Adams will defeat Senator Phipps, and that Morrison Shafroth will win the short term over Rice W. Means.

In South Dakota they have a chance to win the seat now held by Senator Sterling, republican. U. S. G. Cherry is their candidate.

Samuel G. Brattan, democrat, it is predicted, will defeat Senator Bursum, republican, in New Mexico.

Judge Robert R. Rose, democrat, is being supported by many republicans in Wyoming against Senator Warren, and headquarters here expect his election, as the republicans are split into factions.

"We can lose the presidency by 50 electoral votes," said Frank A. Hampton, secretary of the senatorial campaign committee, today, "and still win the senate for the democrats."

NEW YORK POLICE SEEK TO IDENTIFY THIS LITTLE CHAP

Do you know this boy? New York City police are endeavoring to locate his parents. He was found wandering in a street, and it is believed he may be the child of visitors to the city who met with an accident, or was abandoned. He is healthy and of a high order of intelligence, but cannot identify himself.

EASTERN WOMAN SEEN CERTAIN TO SIT IN CONGRESS

Mrs. Mary T. Norton, democratic candidate for congress in the Jersey City district of New Jersey, is regarded as virtually sure of election.

WAURIKA

Frank Hunter now of Duncan, formerly of Waurika, is spending a week here in the interest of business.

Joe G. Cox of Wichita, Kansas, spent a few days this week with his friend, D. E. Akerman.

Mrs. C. A. Holding came home Sunday after spending a few days in Chickasha, called there by the very serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Bennie Holding, who is recovering nicely.

Miss Evelyn Buchan, superintendent of the Weem hospital, is spending a few days with home folks at Cleburne, Texas.

Miss Mary Moore Richardson came home Saturday and is with her old room in the Irving school, much to the delight of her little pupils and their parents.

Miss Ethel Clayton of Comanche, is spending this week in Waurika, taking care of her sister, Mrs. Walt Adams, who is very ill.

Chas. Cox has been confined to his home for the past two weeks, suffering with rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hines spent last Sunday in Henrietta, Texas, guests of Mrs. Hines' sister, Mrs. Jesse Gunningham and family.

Miss Lavelle Harrel, who teaches in the Addington schols spent last Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wilson went to Norman last Thursday evening to visit relatives, also taking in the fair at Oklahoma City Saturday and Sunday. The children were left in charge of the household affair and everything went as smoothly as though both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson had been home.

Miss Myrtle Wilson, who teaches in the Devol schools, the third grade, spent the last week-end in Waurika with home folks.

Mrs. O. P. Phelan went to Ardmore Tuesday to place an agency for the sale of Poly Pop.

Mrs. Joe Dillard is spending this week in Waurika after a trip out over the state organizing women's clubs for the republican party. Mrs. Dillard is a member of the state executive committee, the youngest woman to belong and has established a fine record for efficiency in her work.

Mrs. Mattie Cook returned home Thursday from a visit with relatives in Mississippi. She was accompanied home by her niece, who will spend the winter here and attend school.

Mrs. W. P. Harper has been spending the past week in the Madden Grove community visiting her brother, Louis Brooks and family.

Zack Isabel came home Thursday of last week from Brunswick, Mo., where he has been attending a pharmeceutical school. He is at his old place in the Denny drug store once more.

W. P. Harper and family received a message Monday night telling of the death of Mrs. J. W. Schrock, at the family home in Spanish Fort, Texas, where the Schrocks have resided for the past fifty years. Mr. Harper was unable to attend the funeral on account of being a juror in this term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bevell and little son, of Optima, Okla., spent a few days last week in Waurika, guests at the P. W. Denny home and visiting their son, Birney Bevell. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bevell, Eldon, and Birney were all guests at the J. H. Peeler home in Terral.

Mrs. D. P. Sturgeon came home Tuesday night from a two weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. A. E. Showalters, and family at Caldwell, Kansas. That accounts for the smile D. P. has worn for the past few days. He says that two weeks is too long to be a summer or autumn variety of widower, either one.

Mrs. Fred Pittman went to Kansas City Tuesday afternoon to be at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Josephine Carter, who is very ill at the Research hospital at that place.

Hugh Marshall of Terral spent Tuesday in Waurika.

Kennedy Shows Offering Best Carnival Bill

Latest Riding Devices To be Set Up On Fair Midway

THRILLS ARE PROMISED

Showmen Stay Up Late Trying to Figure Out New Ones

What's a fair without a carnival? Many a boy has expressed his disgust in these words, and the same sentiment is echoed by the older generation, who are eternally young in years.

"When it comes to amusement," says Con T. Kennedy, whose attractions are to be the feature of the midway of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, "people are but grown up children." And it taxes the ingenuity of the modern show to keep pace with the ever changing demands of the public for new and novel sensations in the way of entertainment." This demand on the part of the public has always been about two jumps behind the ability of the showman to obtain thrills and novelties to satisfy the fickle patron. But in the range of entertainment that the Kennedy Shows will bring to the fair, it will not be hard to find amusement that will appeal to each individual taste.

Plenty of Rides

The Kennedy shows make a great feature of their riding devices. A person set in motion can ride up and down, around and zigzag into all the dimensions, which provide enough sensation to satisfy the most exacting.

As a distinct innovation in midway amusements, Mr. Kennedy presents Pipers Juvenile Revue, headed by Baby and Master LaMarr with the Lucille Sisters. J. N. Piper is recognized as the leading producer of Juvenile Revues in this country and since joining the Kennedy shows, these precocious youngsters have literally sung and danced their way into the hearts of hundreds of patrons to their tiny theatre.

Ever Been There.

Then too, there are all manner of trick houses where the unexpected greets the individual who has the courage to venture within. Apparently insecure footholds, sudden inverses, sharp corners with surprises lurking just beyond. Space does not permit of adetailed description of the many attractions carried with the Kennedy shows, but suffice to say that the midway of the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year will be the most complete and elaborate in the history of its amusements.

NEW FILLING STATIONS.

Gas Pumps Lend Buildings in Quanah Activities.

Special to the Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 27.—Judge M. M. Hankins is erecting a drive-in filling station on the corner of Fourth and Mercer. When completed this station will be leased to E. A. Jones.

Crowder & Brooks are planning the erection of a garage and salesroom in connection with their drive-in station on the corner of Third and Mercer.

The Wyhes Chevrolet agency have moved into their spacious quarters in the new Sparks building, recently completed on Mercer and Second. The Kelly service station occupies the corner portion of these lots, with the sales and show rooms just to the west.

Much building has been done since Mercer, Second, Third and Fourth streets have been paved this year.

STREET SIGNS IN QUANAH.

New Markers Put Up On Busy Corners in City.

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Sept. 27.—Four-way reading street signs are being placed at all street intersections. The marking of the streets, which is to be followed by complete system of numbering for all business and residence houses, has been held up on account of the extensive paving program. All business and the principal residence streets are now paved, and these street markers are being installed. The iron posts upon which these are mounted, set in concrete, insure a permanency for the entire system.

75 CATTLE IN SUNDAY.

Big Herd for Fair to Come in From Abilene Exposition.

Approximately 75 show cattle will arrive over the Wichita Falls and Southern railroad Sunday from the All West Texas State fair, Abilene. The herds will be composed of Herefords, Holsteins and Jerseys. A special train will probably run to carry the exhibits from the Abilene fair to the local exposition. The shipment will be much larger than was received after the close of the All West Texas State fair last year.

Jesse MacSewell, Ft. Worth; Jno. M. Gist, Midland and Odessa; Henry M. Hailf, Mineral Wells, and others will have cattle in the shipment, according to George D. Keith, director and superintendent of the cattle department of the exposition.

BETTER BABIES SHOW

Registrations For Shows Confines To Exceed Past Year Marks.

More better babies will probably be examined this year during the Texas-Oklahoma fair than at either of the two previous expositions. Registrations to date have broken the record for southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas, according to E. S. Goodner, director of the Better Baby show of the fair.

Registration for examination of the babies during the exposition can be made at Red Cross headquarters in the court house all day Saturday or at the quarters of the organization at the fair grounds Monday, September 29, opening day of the exposition, Goodner stated.

PLENTY OF EXHIBIT SPACE

The total amount of exhibiting space in the various hangers at the Texas-Oklahoma fair buildings is 1,-433,000 square feet. There are eleven hangers and six other buildings used for various kinds of display of products. Exhibit and display booths have been constructed for, with the exception of five mercantile booths.

The other buildings would bring the total exhibiting and display space above 2,000,000 square feet. The concession and grandstand would add approximately 500,000 square feet to the above figure.

"INDIA" A SPECTACLE OF BEAUTY

Educational and entertaining because it is historical; interesting and appealing because of its entrancing beauty—"India or a Night in the Orient" will be welcomed as the latest spectacular production to be given at the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year as the feature of the night show.

Included in the spectacle ,which occupies over 550 feet of scenic space will be seen the Durbar at Delhi —an Indian Suttee—pageant of state —the religious ceremonial of Ramzen, all to be terminated with the destruction of Delhi caused by a mutiny.

Live elephants, gorgeously costumed Hindus with hundreds of experienced actors in their fantastic and capricious characters representing a very caste and calling of the Far East will be assembled for this pageant.

It is all unbelievably astonishing in its expansiveness and was produced for the first time last summer and is a real departure from the stereotyped pyrotechnic dramaturgy inasmuch that it all depicts the ancient mythology and latest superstition never wholly eradicated from this old and philosophical race which inhabits India. Immediately following the spectacle there will be a grand and gorgeous display of fireworks embracing many new and novel features never before presented in the southwest.

Vast Crowds Expected Here For T-O Fair

Vast crowds from northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma are expected to attend the third annual Texas-Oklahoma Fair, which opens Monday and continues until midnight Oct. 3. Exhibits are arriving from all parts of the United States and the expectation is expected to surpass the 1923 fair, according to R. E. Shepherd, secretary of the fair association.

The livestock department is expected to have approximately 500 entries in the various classes and divisions. The cattle is from the best herds in the nation. Herefords and Jerseys will probably outnumber the other cattle exhibits.

More than 3,000 birds are entered in the poultry show with entries still coming from various states. The poultry show at the exposition is receiving attention from breeders in all parts of the union.

The art department has received many paintings from distinguished artists. This year's display of oil paintings will probably be the largest ever shown at any southwestern exposition.

The baby show and health conference is receiving much attention from mothers and several hundred entries have been received in this department. The judging will last through the week. Trophies and other prizes and premiums are offered.

Two days of automobile racing with cash purses amounting to more than $4,000 is a feature. There will be four days of running horse racing with purses amounting to $10,000. One day will be devoted to football.

Star vaudeville and hippodrome acts contracted by the fair association are the best the eastern amusement brokers had to offer. A gigantic fireworks spectacle with 250 costumed characters and a herd of elephants will be a feature each night of the exposition. The Gates Flying Circus is billed for each day, and at night aerial writing and pyrotechnical bombs dropped from aeroplanes by daring aeronauts will thrill the visitors.

The fair officials predict that the attendance for the week will be approximately 200,000. The opening day all school children and teachers will be admitted free. A birthday party for Thelma, a baby elephant, will be a juvenile feature.

Agriculture takes a prominent place at the fair. Texas and Oklahoma counties are competing for the first eight cash prizes totaling $1,600. Each county exhibiting at the fair and not in the award one of the first eight will be given $50 to help defray expenses of shipping.

The Texas-Oklahoma Fair association is a stock company having a capitalization of $100,000. The fair grounds in the old aviation camp, Call Field, used as a training course during the war. The property and buildings is conservatively estimated to be worth $400,000. Street car service has been extended to the grounds.

The fair association in 1923 erected a fireproof, structural steel grandstand with seating capacity of approximately 7,000 at a cost of $40,-000, and a race track at $10,000. Other improvements have been made and fair officials state the expense of putting on the fair this year will be more than $60,000.

The largest building on the grounds is the automobile building, 300x65 feet. Other buildings, of which there are about 30, is being utilized by the association for the display of exhibits.

EXPRESS COMPANIES BUSY.

Exhibits Coming In Daily From All Parts of State.

The Western Union, postal and express employes are being kept busy by the influx of exhibits arriving for the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday and continues until midnight October 3. The freight offices are also kept busy handling exhibits which are arriving on all trains. A much larger number of exhibits from the northern and eastern states are entered in the various departments this year.

The exhibits are being hauled to the grounds by touring cars and baggage trucks and by the vehicles of the fair association.

Many of the larger exhibits have been filled to Call Field and are being unloaded within a short distance of the exhibit buildings. Most all the county exhibits have arrived and are being arranged and will be ready for fair visitors on opening day.

BRIDGE TOLL RATES.

All Bridges Across Red River Will Carry Special Rates This Week.

Reduced rates have been secured at all the toll bridges crossing Red river in the Wichita Falls territory for the week of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday morning, according to C. C. Cabiness, Jack Benard and Claude Miller, who composed a committee appointed by the chamber of commerce to secure the reduction.

The Burkburnett bridge, which was partly destroyed by fire several weeks ago, has built a temporary crossing for automobiles, and the company states they will not make charges of any kind for automobiles going to the exposition. The other bridges—Ryers, Decol, Grandfield and Electra—stated that only 50 cents would be charged during the week of the fair.

The business council of the chamber of commerce is to be commended for securing the reduced rates. So far as known this is the first time reduced rates have been secured at bridges connecting the two states.

Peacocks eaten by the Romans sometimes cost $10 apiece.

"India" A Super Spectacle Show Of Pyrotechnics

Huge Fireworks Display To Be Presented For Patrons of Fair

SHOWS BURNING CITY

Vivid Color and Startling Surprises in Line For Those Who See It

"India" the greatest fireworks spectacle of modern times, which will transport one of the wings of fancy to a "Night in the Orient" has been engaged by the directors of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29 to October 5, as a feature attraction of the 1924 exposition. The appearance of "India" is certain to establish a new era in pyrotechnics in northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma, as it is said to be the most magnificent fireworks spectacle ever conceived.

Is Super Spectacle.

Secretary R. E. Shepherd, when he announced the signing of contracts with eastern amusement brokers, stated that "India" was the superspectacle of all times. It dips into the vivid color, the mystic charm, and the wonderous pageantry of the far-off Orient and brings to life, on a scale so magnificent and stupendous that its very magnitude overwhelms the spectator.

This beautiful, inspiring and thrilling spectacle, which will show the glittering pomp of the great Durbar of Delhi, the strange pageantry of the far east, festivals of beauty that will haunt for days, and plenty of action, color and surprises will be unfolded on a mammoth stage over 500 feet long. Two hundred and fifty costumed characters and a herd of trained Indian elephants will participate in the spectacle, while more than 25,000 feet of scenery will be used. The climax will be reached in the burning and destruction of the great city of Delhi, the most vivid and realistic ever produced in America.

In addition to the presentation of "India" there will be a special showing of aerial and scenic fireworks each evening. Many new features never before shown in northwest Texas or southern Oklahoma, will provide the patrons of the 1924 fair with an entirely ne wand different idea of fireworks.

BOOTHS BEING PREPARED

Merchants and Exhibitors In Last Minute Preparations For Fair

Merchants, manufacturers and concessioners have workmen preparing their booths and stands at the grounds of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The eleventh hour rush has started in earnest and will continue unabated until the exposition opens Monday morning, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

Many fine exhibits will be seen at the fair this year. Artistic decorating by skilled artisans will be noticed by the most casual observer.

ORDERS GUNS USED IF FIERY CROSS BLAZES AT CAMP

Officers at Camp Custer, Mich. have orders from the commandant, Brig. Gen. George V. Moseley to use machine guns on any hooded band that attempts to set up another fiery cross on the reservation. Thirty-five men were placed in the guardhouse after one cross blazed at the camp.

ABILENE CATTLE HERE

Best Breeds Shipped From West Texas Fair to Wichita Falls

Several herds of beef cattle will be shipped here from the All West Texas State fair, Abilene to be entered in the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens next Monday morning, according to George D. Keith, director and superintendent of the cattle department of the local exposition, who is now in Abilene attending the exposition.

The cattle division of the Texas-Oklahoma fair will eclipse by far the cattle show held here during the fair last year, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

STREETS NOW DECORATED

Flags and Buntings Put Up For T-O Exhibits.

Decorating of the downtown streets has been completed for welcoming the visitors to the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens next Monday morning. The downtown section will present a gala appearance. Bunting and flags will be floating from many of the buildings.

Hangers and other buildings at the fair grounds are also being decorated and the carnival appearance will prevail throughout the grounds, as various colored lights are to be used across the streets and in the buildings.

KARAKULE SHEEP ENTERED

Eighteen head of sheep have been entered in the livestock department of the Texas-Oklahoma fair by Alex Albright of Dundee. The sheep are the Karakule strain. Other sheep entries from the Midwest fair circuit are expected to bring the total to more than 100 head, according to Carl Williamson.

Karakule sheep from the Albright ranch near Dundee have been shipped to several foreign countries, including China, Japan, Brazil, Australia, New Zealand and several south American republics.

Need for Better Roads Is Held Responsible For Huge Bond Bills

Special to the Record News.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 26.—"Whether or not state, county, city and town bonds will continue to be issued as tax exempt securities, only the future can tell, but unless their rate of issue is curtailed, taxes necessary to pay interest and retire them will bankrupt the farmers of this country," said Roger W. Babson in an exclusive interview today.

"The present increase in taxes which results from the demand for these non-taxable bonds is raising havoc with land values, the cost of farm products and rural conditions in general," says the statistician. "Thus far tax exempt municipal bonds have had the best record of any class of securities; but wise investors are now purposely putting a portion of their funds into taxable corporation bonds. They believe that if this wild issuing of state, county, and municipal securities, tax payers will ultimately revolt and defaults will follow. It's an old proverb 'Trees do not grow to the skies.' For the same reason taxes cannot continue to increase indefinitely without causing trouble.

Auto Real Cause.

"The real cause of this recent increase in such taxes," continued Mr. Babson, "is the great increase in road building; due, of course, to automobiles. Automobile are all right and the industry is here to stay; but we must not go tax crazy. If we do we will kill the goose that is laying the golden eggs. Considering that all roads were rough and muddy only a few years ago, we should be satisfied with a reasonable improvement from year to year. We will have all concrete, asphalt, brick and other hard surfaced roads in due time; but let us have them with moderation. It might be well to 'measure our cloth' before we form too many road districts and blindly sell bond issues which are to be a burden on our children and grandchildren. There is no sense in struggling and economizing to save money for our children with one hand, while we burden them with debt with the other.

First Cost Not Last.

"In deciding whether or not to issue bonds, a community should not be content to consider merely the amount of the bond issue. The first cost of a white linen suit may be less than that of a dark thin worsted; but at the end of a few years, after the laundry bills are paid, it will be found that the 'cheap linen suit' may have cost $100! The same principle applies to the spending of money for public improvements. A county may well afford to spend $10,000 to eliminate a dangerous railroad crossing, which when built is done forever. The same county may, however, not be justified in spending money for surfacing a road if a continual annual expense will be required to maintain this road after it is built. The original cost of a highway is like the $2 which the colored gentleman gave the minister for marrying him! It was only the 'fu'st cost.' I believe in good roads the same as I believe in good churches, good schools and other good things. But there can be too many churches and too many schools. The great need of life is for us to have all things in their proper proportion according to our income and requirements. Moreover, we should use special care when spending borrowed money. Debts can ruin communities as well as individuals.

Use More Care.

"All of this means," concluded Mr. Babson, "that we should more carefully consider our state, country and municipal expenditures. There is only so much money in the country and this can be used either for paying taxes or for building houses and buying clothing for the children. It is well enough to go into debt to a limited amount for certain things; but let us not mortgage our future just to supply rich men with non-taxable bonds. Prosperity comes with a proper distribution of our labor and purchases. Let us begin at once to give less money to the tax collector and give more to the local merchants who are the backbone of American prosperity. Then the Babsonchart should reflect an improvement in general business activity which is now running at 9 per cent below normal."

Camera Shy Prince of Wales Stays On Horse On Long Island

These two photos of the Prince of Wales on Long Island were taken despite his efforts to avoid cameramen. He is shown (inset) in an informal closeup, and securely on horseback while participating in an informal polo game at the country place of William R. Grace at Old Westburg. He turned his head when he saw the camera aimed at him.

Bowling Down the River

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

They told us at the Quebec Automobile Club that we wouldn't have any trouble. "The road down the river is under construction," said the polite girl at the desk, "but only for six miles. After that you can keep right on going."

That was all we needed to know. To take the car by boat to where we were going would cost seventeen dollars, plus four dollars a head for us. Why waste all that money when the car would take us there just as well?

Just to make sure that everything would be all right I went back and asked the girl if people were using the road right along. "Sure," she said, "all the time. They come in here and tell us about it. That's how we are able to recommend it."

So we started. About twenty miles out we found the part that was under construction. Men with spades and picks, whom we know now to be our sincere friends, told us in French that we had better go back to Quebec But we were full of inside information, so we disregarded them.

Presently on a winding road which was in an undue hurry to get to the top of a mountain, we passed a car. It was a discouraged looking car, entirely surrounded by mud, and quite inert. A still more discouraged looking man was standing beside it and regarding it glumly. He told us, also in French that he had been there three days, and expected to die there. He advised us to go back to Quebec while there was yet time.

We might have taken his advice, for we had to tilt back our heads till our necks hurt in order to see the road ahead. But there was no place to turn round, so we bore on.

In perhaps half an hour of first speed, with now and then a pause for breath, we got to the top of a sizable mountain. The view of the river was wonderful. But after we had looked in front of us, we were not interested in scenery.

The road was all below us, and was descending the mountain side in long leaps from crag to crag, which reminded one of a mountain sheep.

Far below in the valley we could see it beckoning to us to come On we came.

I am not just sure how we got to the valley. Part of the way was by air. The rest was a sort of a staccato progress from one granite ledge to another. Granite ledges are not easy going. Under the most favorable circumstances. When you land on them after a jump of four or five feet from a shelf above they are quite jolty. But after we had got started once we had no course but to continue. The brakes were locked, and I think the engine was in reverse. But the attraction of gravitation had its way, and at the end of fifteen minutes of panic we arrived at the edge of a field.

Here to our astonishment the road disappeared. We looked about us eagerly, but could see nothing but a thriving crop of oats. Presently somebody looked across the waving grain, and on the other side lo! was the road once more Obviously the oats had grown over the intervening sector since anybody has passed that way.

Carefully aiming the bow of the car for the place where the road emerged, we set out again. In a little while a parallel line of ruts which was concealed beneath the verdure took charge of the wheels, and obviated the necessity of steering for a time. We zigzagged and wobbled where they led until we got out of the field and into a pasture and out of the pasture into a pig pen.

The pigs, which had apparently never seen a car before—regarded us for a time with amazement, and then emitting shrill screams of terror fled up a hillside and out of sight. This attracted the attention of their owner, who came from a nearby cabin and wanted us to pay him for them. We asked him where the road was, and he declined to answer. Finally, after a Canadian half dollar had mollified him, he pointed to a mountain top near by, and sure enough, there was our road, all neatly improved.

How to get there without an elevator was a problem, but we managed it, by clearing away underbrush and now and then rolling a boulder out of the way.

Another breakneck descent brought us to another valley, out of which we climbed up the new improvement, on which three or four men were engaged. None of them seemed to have seen a car before. They looked at ours, walked around it, and patted it, and spoke to it timidly. Then when the exhaust began to hum they all got behind trees till we passed

This stretch of improvement lasted about a quarter of a mile, terminating in a creek bed winding down a long gully between high hills. A hub-deep stream was flowing in the gully, and it was paved with large round stones, but it was such easy going after the fields and jig pens and decleivities we had passed that it seemed like a boulevard.

Naturally when we finally got to where we were going we thought we had taken the wrong road. But inquiry revealed that we hadn't. A year or two before a car had come that way and got through. That made it a road. Our passage probably made it a highway.

We are going back to Quebec by water, even if it does cost seventeen dollars. When I get there I am going to go to the Automobile Club, and ask the girl at the counter if there is a good road down the river. If she says there is, I am going to try to get her to bet a thousand dollars on it. If I succeed I will let you know.

The Married Life of Helen and Warren

"And you're been up with me all night?" Pushing back her disheveled hair, Mrs. Barclay sat up in bed.

"Not all night," Helen adjusted the pillows. "Mr. Barclay came for me about midnight."

"The doctor? Was he here?"

"Yes, but don't talk about that now. Drink this orange juice."

"No—no," waving the glass away. "Oh, I'm so wretched! What makes me do these desperate things? I don't mean to—but I get reckless and I—"

"It took so long to revive you, I was frightened. The doctor says chloral is so dangerous—some day you'll take too much. Why do you—when you've everything to make you happy?"

A smothered sob from the pillow.

Should she tell her all the doctor had said? Disgusted at being again called out at night on such a case, he had scathingly denounced all neurasthenic women who resort to drugs to frighten their husbands after some foolish quarrel.

"Where's Cliff?" quiveringly. "Tell him I want to see him."

"Drink this," evaded Helen, spooning a seed from the orange juice.

A reluctant sip, and again she demanded her husband.

"Don't ask for him now—he almost broke down. He can't stand it much longer. You don't know what this does to him."

"Oh, I do know! I hate myself! I'm going to promise I never will again."

"You've promised him that so many times," Helen reminded her.

"But I'll keep it this time. Tell Cliff I want him!" Then, excitedly, "What makes you look like that? Where is he? Why doesn't he come to me?"

As further evasions were futile and not knowing how to soften the blow, Helen took a sealed envelope from the bedside table.

"He asked me to give you this—when you were well enough to read it."

Tremblingly tearing it open, as she scanned it even her lips grew white.

Then, thrusting the letter at Helen, she turned her face to the wall.

"Dear Marjorie:

You have broken your promise again. The only thing now is for me to go away. For three months I shall not see you. It will be useless to call up or come to the office. Miss Burke will have her orders—but no one else need know.

I want you to go to New Orleans—your mother will help you. For the last year you have lived on emotional scenes. I cannot stand the strain of constant hysterics. I must have peace. If after three months you feel you can give me that, we will try it again.

Cannot write more now—am all in. Cliff."

Only a loud ticking clock and a flapping window shade stirred the silence.

Sitting by the bed, the letter still in her hand, Helen was tense with the suspense that comes before the final act of an impassioned drama.

The emotion-racking hours since Mr. Barclay's midnight summons to his unconscious wife!

The doctor, arriving soon after, had bluntly requested that next time they call another physician. He had too many patients seriously ill to minister to a pampered, hysterical, self-drugged woman.

But it was Warren's vigorous urging that had persuaded Barclay to the drastic three months' absence.

"He can't leave me like this! He can't!" flinging back the covers, she started up. "I know where he's gone—to his club. He went there once before and I made him come back."

"He's ill! He had to go," Helen tried to hold her. "It's best for you both."

"For three months?" hysterically. "You think I can stand this for three months? I'll kill myself first."

Jerking away, she snatched a robe and started for the telephone.

But Warren, dozing on the library couch after a sleepless night, stopped her before she reached the instrument.

"I want Cliff! He can't leave me like this. He's at the club—I—"

"Won't do you any good to phone the club. Wherever he is, he's given orders you're not to reach him. He's a sick man, Mrs. Barclay. If he's to get well he must have quiet and peace. And he don't get that here!"

"I want to telephone!" shrilly. "You can't keep me from telephoning!"

"Certainly not," Warren stepped aside. "But I've told you what you're up against."

"You mean that I can't reach Cliff?" she faltered. "You fixed it so I—"

"Mrs. Barclay, sit down there and listen to me," sternly. "Dr. Yates revived you last night. He knows what you've done to your husband. Whenever you can't have your own way, you threaten to kill yourself, take that damned dope. Just enough for a bluff, Barclay never knows what fool thing you'll do next. His nerves are all shot to pieces. Can't even attend to his business."

"I don't believe you!" wildly. "You're trying to frighten me."

"Ask Dr. Yates. He said a few more of these scenes and Barclay'd be ready for a sanitarium. You know what this does to his heart. Yet you keep on with these tantrums."

"His heart trouble's no worse now than when we married."

"It isn't? He was passed for life insurance then—last month three companies turned him down. Dr. Yates'll tell you all about this and a lot more I can't. Now what're you going to do about it?"

A sob-weighted silence, then a quivering, surrendering.

"What—what do you think I ought to do?"

"That's more like it! Do what he asks—go to your mother for three months."

"If I do that—will he write me? Will he answer my letters?"

"Now don't try to bargain. Just let me wire your mother you're coming. I've looked up the trains. If you hurry, you can make the eleventen."

"I'll go!" hardly more than a whisper.

"Great! Now you're talking!"

"Just one thing," a pleading hand on his arm. "You'll take a note to Cliff—if I don't ask him to answer? Nothing emotional. Just a few lines saying I'm going to New Orleans. You'll see that he gets it?"

"Yes. I'll do that. Now no more bargaining," curtly. "Just get ready."

It took less than an hour to pack a small trunk. Helen did most of it, while Mrs. Barclay wrote and tore up many notes before she thrust one into an envelope.

"Read it, after I'm gone," when she gave it to Helen. "Have Mr. Curtis take it to Cliff—I want to be sure he gets it."

"Half-past ten!" Warren came to the door. "I've phoned for a taxi. This all that goes?" dragging out the steamer trunk.

The air was tense with leave-taking.

With trembling hands Mrs. Barclay pinned on a heavy veil.

"You needn't worry about the apartment, I'll see that it's closed up and everything's all right," comforted Helen.

"Oh, I'm not thinking of the apartment! But you'll write me," clinging to her. "If Cliff doesn't write—you'll let me know how he is?"

"Yes, I'll do that. I promise. And three months isn't so long."

"Come on now, we'd better get started!" Warren, breaking in on a tearful departure, hurried her out to the elevator.

As the car shot them down, Helen ran back to a front window. She saw them come out, down the steps, and into the cab.

Closing the window, she glanced about the deserted rooms. How still and strangely remote everything seemed. She was glad Mr. Barclay was not there. It was better that he stay at the club.

The note for him that she was to read! She had left it in the drawer of the dressing-table.

In the bedroom the disordered bed and strewn clothes seemed still charged with emotionalism.

A faint perfume from the drawer of gloves and handkerchiefs into which she had dropped the envelope, an exotic odor that suggested Mrs. Barclay's tempestuous personality.

It was a two-page letter. The writing and crossed out words betrayed the stress under which it had been written.

"Dear Cliff:

"I am doing what you ask—I am going to mother's. It will be the longest three months of my life. But perhaps it will do what you hope—give me a saner viewpoint.

"I know I have not been well. I have been too idle and too self-indulgent. Mr. Curtis has told me what the doctor said about you. I have always thought you so strong—that you could not break. And now the only way I can help is to leave you!

"Oh, there is so much I want to say that words won't say! You have lost all faith in my remorse and promises—but you know I love you. Whatever I have done, there never was and never will be anyone else. Marjorie."

A remarkable letter from one who had been so selfish. Helen marveled at her baffling inconsistencies. If she loved her husband, as she undoubtedly did, how could she have taken a perverted pleasure in torturing him?

Brooding over the letter and the outcome of the enforced separation, Helen was still straightening about when Warren breezed in.

"Well I got her off all right! Not a very cheerful job."

"Oh, I'm so glad she didn't weaken. I was afraid she would."

"Didn't give her a chance! In the taxi I handed it to her straight. Made her think she'd darn near lost him. Threw a scare into her that ought to be good for three months."

"Dear, she really loves him! I read the letter she left—she told me to. It's a wonderful letter. In some ways she's very fine."

"Fine? Well I'll say Barclay got a lemon when he picked her! If he makes her stick it out down there—he may pull himself together. But if she comes back and starts her third-act hysterics—something's going to happen. Nice mess they roped us into! Now you all through? Well come on up and get me something to eat. After that measley breakfast I'm about famished. Jove, glad it's Sunday! Here's where we rest up after our all-night session with that Neurotic Nell!"

It Was a Good Idea, Only It Wouldn't Work

Kennedy Shows Find Out That Airplane Had No Place With Them

WRECKED TWO TIMES

Comes to Grief in Cemetery And Then Falls With Town's Financier

When the Con T. Kennedy shows, who are to supply the midway attractions at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, arrive in Wichita Falls today they might be carrying an airplane or two with which to thrill the visitors to the fair, but as things happened way back in 1919 the airplane with its pilot will be missing.

W. X. McCollin, publicity director of the Kenendy shows, relates an amusing experience of Mr. Kennedy with an aircraft. "Mac" has been with the Kennedy shows as press representative for many years and has a fund of amusing anecdotes to relate that have come under his observation. He recalls that in 1919 when the show was playing through the south Mr. Kennedy conceived the idea of purchasing a plane or two to be used in publicity work and incidentally to carry passengers on short trips.

They Got Ready.

The plan was carefully weighed and viewed from all angles and finally one was purchased. The show made a move and the plane was to fly overland to the new stand. As it happened, the airship was scheduled to arrive in the southern town where the show was opening some time during the dark hours of the night. Several employes were delegated to watch for the plane and to lay out a field where it could land. They scouted around and found an ideal place. Then they went back to the hotel where they were stopping, took a nice clean sheet from the bed in one of the rooms and carried it to the landing field and stretched it on the ground so that when Mr. Aviator came along he would see the marking and make a safe landing.

After the sheet was laid out they decided that there was no use in sticking around until the plane arrived, so they returned to the hotel and started a game.

In the meantime the manager of the hotel being a thrifty sort of an individual, had watched the whole proceedings and for the life of him he was unable to figure out why one of his nice new sheets should be used as a covering for Mother Earth, so he picked it up, folded it up nicely and carried it back to the hotel.

Along about midnight the aviator arrived over the town with the new plane. He looked around for the landing place which was supposed to have been marked. He finally spied what he thought was the mark'd landing place. He came down and much to his consternation found that he had landed among the marble monuments of a cemetery. The plane was badly wrecked and it took about $900 of Mr. Kennedy's hard earned money to put it back in shape.

Nobody Hurt.

After the plane had been fixed the show moved to another town. Everything went lovely and the manager was optimistic over the outcome of the plane stunt. On the first trip up, a prominent banker was passenger. The airship circled about the town and then; blooey the plane dropped into an air pocket and plane, pilot and financier tumbled to the earth. Luckily no one was seriously injured.

Mr. Kennedy heard about it. He went to the scene of the wreck, painted another little picture in blue and then left mumbling to himself. As far as known the wrecked machine is still standing on the field near the little southern town.

And that is why the Kennedy shows will not have airplanes as a part of their equipment when they arrive today.

MORE BABY ENTRIES.

Health Conference to Be Much Better Than in 1923.

The better baby show and health conference at the Texas-Oklahoma fair will have a much larger number of entries than the 1923 fair. Mothers have been calling the office of the Red Cross and registering the babies for the past two weeks. Red Cross nurses will have charge of the children's nursery and rest room for mothers. Several local baby specialists will aid in the examinations, while physicians of national repute will do the judging and will make the final awards.

The Red Cross headquarters at the fair grounds, where the babies will be judged, is being decorated and will be clean and sanitary, with plenty of sunshine and well ventilated. Registrations can be made for the baby show and health conference at the Red Cross headquarters at the fair grounds all ady Monday, September 29, according to nurses of the local Red Cross.

CADET BAND IN CITY.

Will Give Concert Tonight at Kemp Library Grounds.

The famous Chicago Cadet Band, the jazzmanises of the musical world, arrived in Wichita Falls Friday night. The organization is headed by Everett Johnson, youthful conductor, who is proclaimed a genius in syncopation. The band will give a free concert on the lawn of the Kemp public library from 5 to 7 o'clock Sunday evening, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

According to leading music masters Johnson has great talent, but they deplore the inroads of "jazz" and "blues" and think the leader of the cadets could do just as well by substituting Wagnerian opera.

Johnson, however, states that a grand stand at a large exposition is not the place for ponderous overtures. He believes there is a time and place for all kinds of music. The lighter, brighter selections will be given by way of variety in his program, but "make it snappy" is his motto.

With the organization are several young chaps with excellent voices, and they sing popular songs. The haunting, wailing, sobbing tones of saxophone blend with the voices.

All instruments in the band are of gold, the uniforms are unique. The organization is typical of youth in all its zest and glory.

Butterfly Slayings Solution Bound Up With $50,000 Gem Theft, Belief

NEW YORK.—Two of the most sensational unsolved crimes in recent months in New York are expected by police to be solved when they arrest (if they do) the criminals who staged the $50,000 Bobe gem robbery.

They believe that the same gang which slew and robbed "Dot" King and Louise Lawson, Broadway butterflies, in their apartments, is the same which held up Edith Bobe, modiste of the King and Lawson girls and many celebrities, as she entered her apartment with Robert L. Hague, Standard Oil company official, and made off with her costly collection of jewelry, furs and other valuables.

Used Same Entrance Ruse.

One of the four men who did the job answered the description of one of the suspects in the Lawson murder mystery. The police also pointed out that the robbers got into Miss Bobe's home by pretending to have a package to deliver, which was the same ruse by which the slayers of "Dot" King gained entrance to her apartment. All three crimes, the police say, were the work of professional criminals who specialize in robbing women they have seen wearing expensive jewels and furs in theatres and restaurants.

Miss Bobe, a statuesque woman of 35 years with blond bobbed hair, lives and runs her modiste's establishment in a four-story brownstone house in a fashionable block.

She is noted for the smart clothes and brilliant jewels she wears and for her stunning appearance in Broadway resorts. Her establishment is known also among Broadway celebrities for the lavish entertainments provided there.

The Loot.

The loot obtained from Miss Bobe included:

Diamond bracelet, set with seven rows of diamonds and sapphires, $10,000; mah-jongg slave bracelet, set with diamonds, $7,500; diamond ring, 8½ karats, $7,500; diamond necklace, containing 42 small stones and seven larger ones, $7,500; baby ermine coat, with white fox collar, lined with silk of pale flesh color, and with a silver band encircling the lining, $5,000 large emerald ring, 15 carat stones.

Also a dozen pairs of ear-rings; diamond wrist watch; emerald and sapphire wrist watch; pearl and jade bracelet; dozen clocks, ranging in value from $10 to $500, most of which were curios from the Orient.

Aerial Artists To Quit Stunts For Contracting

Alfredo Codona and Wife, Here for Fair, to Give Up Circus Life

HE'LL OPEN BUSINESS

Contracting Company In Long Beach His Idea Of Retirement

If you were the world's greatest aerial trapeze artist—

If your "job" consisted of flying, gaily decked in bespangled pink tights through the air of the "big top" or the pure ozone in front of a grand stand at a fair, before the eyes of cheering thousands, turning nonchalant somersaults as you went—

If you had been decorated by half the crowned heads of Europe for the daring of your stunts—,

Would you pride yourself on being a clever carpenter—a handy man around the home—and dream of the days when you will settle down in your home in Long Beach and go into the building and contracting business?

You wouldn't?

Maybe you would, after all.

He'll Do It.

For Alfredo Codona, the trapeze performer, who has thrilled thousands of youngsters and grownups in his career, and who is coming to the Texas-Oklahoma fair, says he is going to retire and go into the contracting business in a few years.

And he and his wife tell with pride of how he "fixed the pantry shelf" and "mended the leg of the dining room table."

In a recent interview with a newspaper man, Codona told of his ambitions while sitting on the steps leading up to the dressing rooms, sewing straps on his shoes. This was preparatory to hanging by the backs of his heels in a stunt that later made his audience hold its breath and gasp with relief when it was over.

Mrs. Codona, who is also a member of her husband's troupe told of their ambitions, about how Alfredo is going to be a contractor, and refused to tell of his decorations until questioned by the interviewer. She also was decorated in Portugal, for being the first woman to jump from the pedestal to the catcher without holding to the bar.

Never Nervous.

The Codonas have traveled in every country but China. Alfredo started gymnastics when he was 4 years old and did trapeze work at the age of 10. They are never nervous about their work.

"If one is nervous he cannot be a trapeze performer," said Alfredo. "Everything is so perfectly timed that a second's hesitation would mean a fall. Besides, you don't have time to be nervous, you are too busy."

He admitted it annoyed him if he missed a trick and had to do it over again, because "it was more work to climb back up the rope ladder than to give the whole performance."

So far, as it is known, he is the only man in the world to let go of the trapeze bar while swinging high in the air, turn a triple somersault, and then be caught by the man swinging on the other bar.

THOROUGHBREDS ON GROUND.

Several Already Here and Others Expected in Today.

Several carloads of running thoroughbreds are due to arrive at the local fair grounds today. The shipments will be from mid-western states and will be composed of two and three-year-olds, according to W. F. Weeks, director of speed of the fair association.

Several horses are already quartered in the stables at the fair grounds. Early morning workouts have been going on for several days. Turfmen who have arrived state the track will be one of the best anywhere when it is dragged a few more times. The course is already as good as can be found in the southwest and is becoming better with seasoning.

Entries for the races are expected to be heavy. For several days preceding the opening day of the races seasoned and well conditioned and trained horses are scheduled to arrive. Practically all of the thoroughbred runnerw racing on the midwestern fair circuit are to be at the local meeting during the fair.

3,000 BIRDS AT FAIR.

Poultry Show to Be One of Best In Entire South.

The poultry building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday, will be crowded with more than 3,000 birds, ranging from the pigeon, smallest of the poultry family, to the Cochins and huge turkeys.

The chickens are from a number of states. Inspector Brown says the poultry show at the fair this year will be one of the largest ever held in the southwest. Barred Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds lead in the chicken entries.

Hundreds of farmers are represented in the main agricultural display and many boys and girls have their best products on display in the dairy department of the livestock show.

The value of all Texas crops this year is estimated at more than $550,000,000 and there will be a little of everything of the very best for fair visitors during the week of the exposition.

ENTRIES STILL POUR IN.

Exhibitors for Fair Swamping Local Express Offices.

Hundreds of entries are arriving for the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday morning. Exhibits are already being placed in the various buildings. This year's exposition will eclipse by far the 1923 fair, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

The exhibits are arriving from all parts of the United States. Some valuable paintings have arrived from distinguished artists in the east. The express office is swamped with incoming exhibits and each incoming passenger train is carrying a large number of displays for the coming exposition.

Special trainloads of exhibits composed of running race horses and live stock exhibits are to arrive from the Amarillo Tri-State fair, the All West Texas fair, Abilene, and the Oklahoma State fair, Oklahoma City. The special trains will arrive in Wichita Falls Sunday morning.

Cox Will Study Europe's Demand For U. S. Cotton

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A study of the European demand for American cotton is to be made by Dr. A. B. Cox, agricultural economist of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture. Dr. Cox will spend a year abroad studying cotton marketing methods, supply, demand, and prices in England, Germany, France and Italy.

A similar study in the United States has just been completed by Dr. Cox, and the results will be published in department bulletins. This work included a study of the historical development of cotton marketing, uses of cotton as a basis for demand, analysis of sources of supply, the various markets through which cotton passes, how prices are made, the relationship between spot cotton and futures, cooperative marketing, and the services performed by the various agencies in cotton marketing. The study deals with all economic phases of cotton marketing from the field to the mill door.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Many Kiddies Buying Tickets For Fair Association's Juvenile Day.

Many school children have called at the down town office of the fair association for tickets to the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday, which will be "children's day." Every school in the city and county will benefit by the use of the tickets to the exposition, according to Hoel Bryant, head of the educational department of the exposition.

A total of 50,000 children's tickets was ordered for "children's day" and of this number more than 40,000 has been distributed to schools in southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas, R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary, stated.

The procedure was used during the 1922 and 1923 expositions, and "children's day" has been very popular with the juveniles.

FLYING CIRCUS HERE

Gates Flying Circus Will Show At Fair Next Week.

The Gates Flying Circus, internationally known as one of the greatest aerial organizations, will be an added attraction at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday morning, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

The flying circus will give four exhibitions each day of the fair. The attraction will consist of wing walking, acrobatic stunts, fancy flying, parachute drops, and changing from plane to plane while flying.

Each night the aeroplane will give an exhibition of sky writing and will drop fireworks bombs from a height of several hundred feet. The organization is recognized as one of the oldest of its kind in America. It was organized in 1911.

Valuable Works Of Art Here For Fair Exhibition

The art show at the Texas-Oklahoma fair will be under the auspices of the Wichita Falls Art association. Paintings of local artists will receive a section of the gallery. State artists have contributed painting s from scenes of natural beauty spots within the commonwealth, while eastern and northern artists have sent various exhibits from their collections, according to a member of the local art association.

Valuable Paintings.

Several valuable paintings will be displayed during the fair. They have been sent here from different parts of the United States to be exhibited at this exposition as a courtesy to the local artists and the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association.

The art gallery will be divided into divisions where the different kinds of paintings will be hung. There will be two classes professional and amateur, and the professional cannot compete in the latter nor the amateur in the professional class.

Six main divisions is included in the art show. They are oil paintings, water color paintings, tapestry paintings, drawings, china painting and basketry.

Liberal Premium Offered.

Liberal premiums and several special prizes are offered by the fair associations and individuals. Ribbons will be given in all of the division.

All exhibits will be placed under the direct charge of the superintendent. All exhibits must be done by the exhibitor. The pictures and paintings must be framed properly and no copies will be accepted. Exhibits can not be removed from the art gallery until the close of the fair, according to a member of the art association.

WOMEN'S BUILDING OPEN

Exhibits May Be Placed Until Monday For Various Shows There

The women's building at the grounds of the Texas-Oklahoma fair will be open today and Sunday afternoon. Exhibits may be placed or entered at the building before Monday, the opening day of the exposition, according to Mrs. Chas. R. Hartsook, director of the women's department.

An unusually large number of entries for the textile department has arrived from various cities of the east and north, Oklahoma towns have sent many exhibits and the local entries, as well as entries from other parts of the state are arriving at the fair grounds.

The children's department will have several hundred entries. Practically all schools will be represented by exhibits. Rural school children are taking much interest in the exposition this year. Children's exhibits will eclipse by far the record set last year, is the opinion of fair officials.

Creates Much Interest.

The annual poultry show of the Texas-Oklahoma fair has created interest in all parts of the United States and many of the best breeders of the country have exhibits entered in the various classes. The fair association has raised the premiums for this years show and has encouraged the breeders to make the Texas-Oklahoma fair the greatest poultry showing exposition in the south.

Liberal premiums and special prizes together with sweepstake ribbons give the exhibitor in the poultry show an opportunity of being awarded trophies that are not offered at many large expositions.

R. L. Norton is superintendent of the poultry show; Mrs. A. F. Deavers is assistant superintendent and Walter Burton is head of the judging of the birds.

SPECIAL.

A silver loving cup will be given by the J. C. Mytinger Milling and Grain company for the best male bird of the entire show.

A silver loving cup will be given by the Morgan Seed and Feed company for the best female bird of the entire show.

A silver loving cup will be given by the Central Feed company for the best old pen of the entire show.

A silver loving cup will be given by the Maricle Feed and Coal company for the best young pen of the entire show.

Sweepstake ribbons will be given by the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association for the best male bird, the best female bird, the best old pen and the best young pen of the entire show.

Fourth and fifth prizes are ribbons in all classes, and in the following classes third prize is also a ribbon: Anconas, Golden Sebright, Silver Sebright, Buff Cochins, Black Cochins, White Cochins, Partridge Cochins, Cuckoo Cochins, Brahmas, Japanese Silky, Black-tailed Japanese, Rose Comb, Red Pyle Games, Black-breasted Red Games, Games, any other variety, Polish cockerel, Hamburg cockerel, Hondan cockerel.

Loeb and Leopold Soil Hands With Toil First Time

Kensington Stone Is Under Fire

EPHRIAM, Wis. — Kensington Rune Stone, one of the oldest documents of American history, over which scientists of two continents debated as to its genuineness more than 20 years ago, now has a permanent home on the farm of H. R. Holand, author, near here.

Several societies and eminent authorities have classed the stone as authentic as to discovery and context, and say it proves to them that there were white people exploring the interior of America as early as 1362.

The Kensington Rune Stone, so-called because of its discovery on the farm of Olaf Ohman, near Kensington, Minnesota, when found was encircled by the roots of a tree, and appeared to be very ancient in character. It carried a date more than eight hundred years in the past. The assumption of scientists is that the stone was inscribed by early Norsemen who landed in America in search of fellow countrymen.

How the stone came to find a resting place in Minnesota has been a matter of conjecture for many years, but the generally accepted theory is that it was carried down in a glacial drift from the region of Hudson Bay.

Mr. Holand has translated the Runic inscription on the stone as follows:

"Eight Goths and twenty-two Norsemen on (an) exploration journey from Vinland through the western regions. We had camp by two skerries one day's journey north from this stone. We were (out) and fished one day. When we came home (we) found ten men red with blood and dead. Ave Maria! Save (us) from evil!

"(We) have ten of our party by the sea to look after (or for) our vessels 14 days' journey from this island. Year 1362."

The ten men mentioned in the text are supposed to have been members of the exploration party left to watch the camp while the rest went fishing, as stated.

Siberia's Crop of Squirrels Destined for Women's Coats

By The Associated Press.

RIGA, Sept. 27. — German fur dealers returning from Russia report that the prospects this season are excellent for a plentiful supply of squirrel skins, especially from Siberia, where there is an exceptionally good crop of nuts. Whenever nuts grow abundantly, aver the furriers, there are always plenty of squirrels.

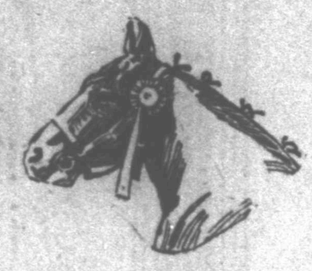

The nut crop throughout Russia is said to be better than in many years. One dealer alone has placed an order for 650,000 squirrel pelts, for winter delivery. Most of these will be made into women's coats in Leipsic, and some will be sold in the United States.

IT'S FAIR TIME AGAIN

AND now comes the feel of fall in the air. October days approaching bring us to the busy time when we gather at the Fair to compare the progress of our farms and fields, to see and hear the newest things in every branch of human endeavor, to laugh, to play, to relax, to mingle with our friends, to mix amusement with edification.

Fair time is a milestone in the community progress. Each annual exposition of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair surprises us with the results of our efforts through the twelve-months that has gone.

The people of our neighboring cities and counties are our guests for this week and we heartily welcome them. We rejoice with them in the onward march of this whole region and we are happy to have Wichita Falls the host city for this annual gathering.

We want the Texas-Oklahoma Fair to be the forum of friendship and the storehouse of the best in the West in agriculture, industry, music, art and everything that makes for a bigger, richer, more wholesome life in the homes of Texas and Oklahoma.

Eagle Gobbles Golf Ball

By The Associated Press.

TALLAHATSEE, Fla., Sept. 27.—A possible eagle on the course of the Tallahassee country club here was made impossible by a real eagle, the big bird swooping down on the eighth green to seize a golf ball as it was trickling in the general direction of the cup. Fred C. Elliott was the victim and gained scant comfort from the assurance that the eagle was "an agency outside the match" and the incident could not be held "a rub of the green."

Better Stay Home, Irish Are Told

By The Associated Press.

DUBLIN.—There are urgent appeals in the Dublin press against the renewal of emigration to America. The Independent says: "We were frequently assured in the past that had Ireland controlled her own affairs emigration would cease. But though the British have departed the country is still being drained of its young men and women."

In the past two months the American consul has received 8,000 applications for emigration visas, and the Free State quota will soon be exhausted. The applicants are mostly from the country districts.

Judge Cohalan of New York, who has lately been in Ireland, has advised young Irish men and women to seek a career in their own country rather than go to the United States or Canada.

Dublin Building Flats

By The Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Sept. 27.—Twenty-two thousand families, numbering almost a third of the city's population, are living in Dublin in one roomed tenements. It is estimated that at least 20,000 new houses are needed.

The municipal commissioners have drafted schemes to provide for 7,000 families. They propose to clear away old tenements and lay out a number of blocks in flats. Temporary structures will be provided to house the people during reconstruction.

Mexico Minus Millions.

MEXICO CITY.—The sum of 22,000,000 pesos appears in red ink on the government's books, says a statement by the treasury department, and is composed of uncollected sums due for customs and other federal duties. The department announces that a program of reforms is being studied, both with the object of collecting what is now overdue and preventing future bad accounts.

FLOWERS TO BE IN ABUNDANCE

Plants Also Have Big Part In Exhibits At T.-O. Fair

Cut flowers and plants will be on exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, and patrons of the exposition will have an opportunity of seeing some of the best cut flowers and house plants in the southwest. Every effort has been made to make the Plants and Flowers show one of the most interesting at the fair grounds. The competition will be open to the world and no rental is being charged for space. E. W. Marrott is superintendent of the department of plants and flowers.

Cops Have Real Nice Time When King Vacations

By The Associated Press.

ABERDEEN, Sept.—Looking after the welfare of the British monarch when he makes his annual visit to Balmoral, his Scottish Highland seat, is the annual efficiency test of the constabulary of the country. The officers are proud of a record which shows that not once during the present reign has the king been annoyed in the royal grounds.

The constabulary are preparing for the visit of the king at the end of the month. A large force has been dispatched to the castle and are keeping an eye out for any signs of coming disturbances or demonstrations which migh interfere with the rest the royal family always themselves at Balmoral. During the reigns of Victoria and Edward XII a few disturbances were created on the castle grounds by cranks, but since then the constabulary have had the upper hand.

American visitors are also a source of annoyance to the guard about the castle, and it requires much diligence to keep these uninvited guests from intruding on the grounds in hopes of getting a peep at the king and queen in their Highland retreat.

The country police check the identity of every stranger in Braemar, Ballater, and Aboyne, the nearest places to Balmoral where visitors are most likely to find accommodation, and if any undesirables have got through the net, they are readily caught and politely asked to return the way they came. Generally an officer sees that they do so.

German Garages Lack Elements of Efficiency

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—It is estimated that 900 out of every 1,000 actors and actresses of the Berlin theatres are without jobs this summer. A great many of the playhouses are closed. The situation in filmdom is also in the doldrums.

Pedestrians Demand Safety

By The Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—The Pedestrian's Protective League has been organized here to protect persons afoot from reckless motorists. The organization pledges its members to try to prevent careless driving. Attorneys will be employed to press claims of members for personal injuries. A medical department also is included.

Century Old Iron Firm Closes Doors

By The Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—One year less than a century ago an iron mill was built on the outskirts of Pittsburgh. It was a small affair, constructed on the banks of the Allegheny river by the firm of Miltenberger and Brown. For 99 years it grew and played an important part in the city's industrial life but now, instead of being on the outskirts of Pittsburgh, it stands within a few blocks of the very heart of the city's shopping and office center.

And this is the cheif reason the oldest independent iron and steel mill in Pittsburgh is being torn down. The firm of Brown and company, Inc., the present owners, is going out of business because there is too much business. The site of the mill occupies about three acres and if it continued operation it would be necessary to expand. And there is no room for expansion. On three sides are tall buildings and on the other is the river. J. Stuart Brown, grandson of the founder, said he did not wish to assume the responsibility of erecting a new plant elsewhere, and he felt he deserved a rest. Consequently the business will be discontinued.

"Wolf of Wall Street" Picks Follies Bride, Broadway Hears

Two views of Edna French, a nd a photo of David Lamar.

NEW YORK.—Broadway is talking about the story that Edna French, known as the "perfect girl," will be the next wife of David Lamar, called by the New York newspapers "the Wolf of Wall Street," because of his methods of operating in the stock market.

The "Wolf" recently returned to the Street after a long absence and is reported to have cleaned up in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 in a couple of months. He is now being sued for a divorce by his first wife, Mrs. Marie Lamar. When that formality has been complied with, Broadway hears, Miss French will become Mrs. Lamar. The grizzled Lamar must represent Miss French's ideal, for contrary to the Follies rule, she could not have money as an object in the marriage. She is the daughter of F. W. Eck, Idaho copper magnate.

A False Marriage Report

This is not the first time she has been the figure in a "first page" romance. In November 1920 she married Frank Gregg, Cornell university student and son of the wealthy president of the Cleveland Worm and Gear Co., after a whirlwind courtship. The wedding was a secret for some time, and when the parents of Gregg did learn of it, through sources that did not emanate from the principals themselves, they began efforts to have the marriage annulled. Gregg returned to college, but came back to New York post-haste when he learned that a boyhood friend, Bill Olcott, son of another wealthy Clevelander, and a Yale student, had been seen in Edna's company a great deal.

Followed scenes in hotel lobbies and the separation of Edna and Frank.

Olcott, suspended from Yale, told his parents that he was married to Miss French. The Olcott family threatened to disown their son, but reconciled themselves to the announcement when they investigated and learned of Miss French's wealthy antecedents.

Then Edna refused to have anything further to do with Olcott, and when Frank's mother, hoping to alleviate his unhappiness, journeyed to Chicago, where the Follies were then playing, to ask Edna to take back her son, she learned to her consternation that they had never been married.

Recalcitrant Son Angers Ex-Kaiser By His Democracy

By The Associated Press.

DOORN, Sept.—Life at the chateau of Doorn has become, particularly during the first few months, extremely animated. Every day, almost, sees the arrival of fine automobiles bringing princes, ex-ambassadors, former ministers and general who had served under the old monarchial regime in Germany. Some of the visitors leave after a day or two, but others prolong their stay, residing for the time being in expensive "pensions" where they make an ostentatious display of their war decorations, and pay almost daily visits in full dress uniform to the ex-Kaiser.

Attract Monarchists.

The former emperor appears to be doing everything possible to entertain and attract to himself the sympathies of all German monarchists and military circles. His consort, Hermine, who burns with the desire and hope of one day becoming empress of Germany, seconds her husband in these efforts in the most active manner, and with all the grace at her command, by holding grand receptions and entertainments.

All these activities have for their principal object, according to what is related in the best informed quarters, to counteract similar ambitions propects entertained by the former crown prince. It is even said that the rivalry between father and son has developed recently into a state of latent warfare, pursued mercilessly on both sides.

Opposes His Son.

The activity displayed since his return to Germany by the former crown prince in political circles, especially among the Nationalists and Monarchists and the younger generation of militarists, rumors of which reach the ex-Kaiser from Berlin, serve to render the latter furious against his son. The prince, on his side, is said to show but little of either respect or admiration for the personages of the old regime and its time-honored traditions.

Argentines Look Forward To Steady Growth in Numbers

By The Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 27.—Countries with a high birth rate have a high death rate, but there is one exception in the world and that is Argentina, according to Alejandro E. Bunge, economist and government statistician.

In 30 years, Mr. Bunge says, Argentina's death rate has dropped from 25 a thousand to 12.6 a thousand, one of the lowest in the world, while a birth rate of 33 a thousand has been maintained. These two facts combined produce a great natural increase in population. The mortality of infants before reaching one year of age is only 10 per cent in Argentina, compared with rates of from 9 to 25 per cent in other countries.

Motor Buses Soon Will Move

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Sept. 27. — Moscow, which from time immemorial has depended upon the horse-drawn carriage and the conventional trolley car for its transportation, will soon have its own motor buses. Eight omnibuses of the London type will make their appearance shortly, and it is the intention of the municipal authorities eventually to secure sufficient additional vehicles to establish connection with suburb districts. This will do much, the officials say, to relieve the fearful congestion on trolley cars and trains, and will also encourage part of the population to move to the suburbs.

Historic Home in Louisiana To Shelter State Societies

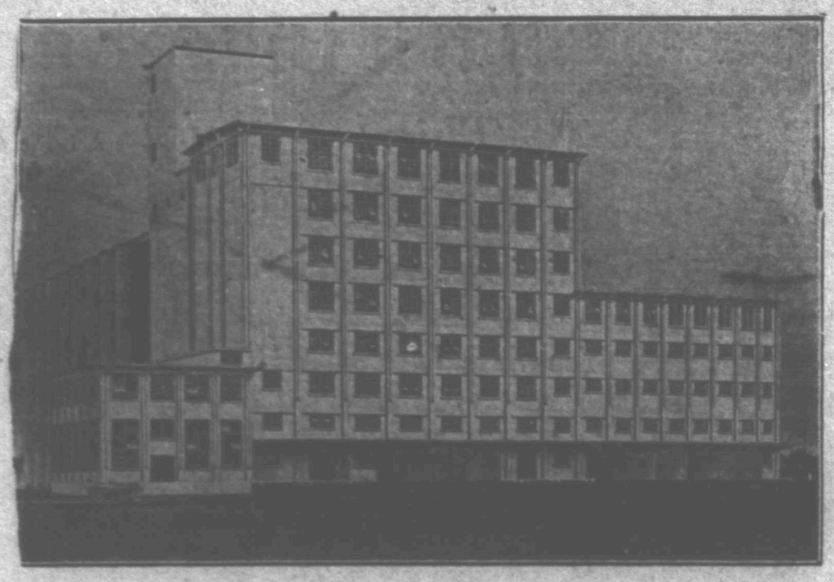

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27. — "Belle Chasse," the plantation home of Judah P. Benjamin, is to be converted into a memorial shrine and headquarters for the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Sons of Confederate Veterans, of Louisiana.

Mr. Benjamin was a United States senator from Louisiana from 1852 until he resigned from congress at the outbreak of the Civil War and cast his fortunes with those of his home state. He became attorney general in the cabinet of Jefferson Davis and subsequently served also as secretary of war and secretary of state. He fled to England with the collapse of the confederacy and died in Paris in 1884.

"Belle Chasse" is only a 20 minutes drive from Gretna, a suburb immediately across the Mississippi river from New Orleans. The property now is held by a land company, but the newly organized Judah P. Benjamin Memorial association has arranged to purchase the old home for $6,500. It is estimated $25,000 will be required to put it into the condition desired.

Second Loeb-Leopold Case Develops In Chicago As the First One Ends

Chicago now has two "Loeb-Leopold cases." Anthony Valanis, 19, (left) and William Lydon, 16, admitted, police say, they strangled Mrs. Bessie Gressien to death last April in an endeavor to obtain her money.

No Welcome For German Teachers

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept.—German educators who have been planning visits to foreign countries, as was the custom prior to the war, were somewhat shocked when reports reached here recently of a debate of a meeting of the Walthamstow Urban council, London, as to whether a German would be welcome to visit the council's schools. It was stated that Dr. Friz Karsen, principal of the chief secondary school in Berlin, had asked permission to inspect the Walthamstow education committee reported that it was agreed that a welcome should be given all distinguished visitors.

Councillor Edwards suggested that in view of the attitude held in England against the Germans on account of the war he would approve deletion of the word "welcome" from the committee's recommendation, and that the word "permission" be inserted instead. He contended that a German should not be welcomed although he did not wish him to be kept out of the schools. Councillor Llewellyn said that in 10 years' time, when history was written with less prejudice, it would be found that Germany was not the only country responsible for the war. Eventually the committee's recommendations were accepted, but Dr. Karsen has not as yet determined whether he will visit Walthamstow, as contemplated, under the circumstances.

Russians Who Fled During Revolution Urged to Return

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN.—Soviet officials have taken steps designed to persuade Russians who fled during the revolution to return to their native land. Newspapers throughout Germany have published a communication of the soviet embassy in Berlin to all former Russian war prisoners and others who did not take an active part in fighting the red army, inviting them to return to Russia. Free transportation is assured.

The Prussian department of the interior declares itself in sympathy with the official soviet summons, asking the German authorities to assist all Russian subjects who wish to return.

England Backs League Blockade

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA.—Ratification of the amendments made to article 16 of the league covenant has been deposed at the league of nations secretariat by the British government, which took the official action for the British empire as a whole, including Canada, Australia, the Union of South Africa, New Zealand and India.

Article 16 of the league, as amended declares that should any members of the league resort to war in disregard of its agreements under previous articles, it shall be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the league, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between persons residing in their territory and persons residing in the territory of the covenant-breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial, or personal intercourse between persons residing in the territory of any other state, whether a member of the league or not.

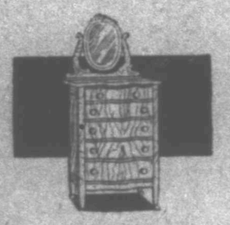

Emperor Tunes in on Radio.

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO.—Radio is supplying the emperor and empress of Japan, spending the summer at the imperial villa at Nikko, with the news of the world. Daily reports are sent to their summer residence by apparatus installed in the imperial palace grounds in Tokio.

Radio communication has been established also between the palace in Toki and Okinajima in Fukushima prefecture, where the prince regent and crown princess are spending the hot season.

Welcome to the Texas-Oklahoma Fair

SOLD WITH A SERVICE

¶ Natural gas is a commodity—but is sold with a service—the gas itself is obtained from nature—without the service it would only be a waste product.

¶ That service requires a huge investment. This investment differs from other services in that it cannot be made a permanent investment. The source of supply is too uncertain for that. Some day it will fail entirely.

¶ But until then, each year compels increasing expense to maintain the service to you—and each year sees more difficulty in obtaining gas.

¶ Hence, we like to have you investigate the natural gas question—to see what natural gas problems really are, then you will work with us in our efforts to maintain the excellent service this community has enjoyed from this company.

We Cordially Invite You to Attend the Greater Texas-Oklahoma Fair, September 29-October 5, Inclusive

German Actors Lack Work

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—An effort is under way to revive the operation of public garages in Germany, and bring into effect some of the efficiency that prevails in this regard in the United States.

Under the German building laws, not more than three automobiles may be stored in one room. To overcome this handicap, garage owners built box stalls for each car, and divided a large room into many small ones. But the time lost in hadling cars in and out of these cells, and the waste of room entailed, are great deterrents, and an effort will be made to amend the law.

Netherland Body Tours Europe

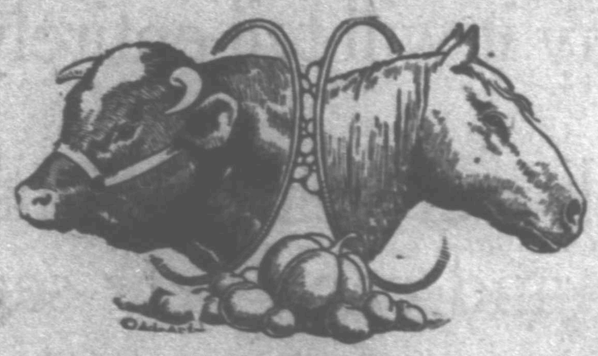

PARIS.—Culminating with the dedication of a memorial tablet in the little town of Avesnes, near the Belgian border, the birthplace of Jesse de Forest, one of the pioneers in the settlement of New York, the members of the Huguenot-Walloon New Netherland commission have just completed an interesting trip through Europe, visiting most of the spots connected with Huguenot history, and in France being received everywhere in Protestant circles. The official party has now broken up, and the members are seeking their respective ways homeward.

Distribute Money.

Wherever the commissioners went, they distributed the new fifty-centimes struck off at the mint to celebrate New York's tercentenary, and the part played in the metropolis foundation by the sturdy Walloon and Dutch. Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, King Albert of Belgium and President Doumergue of France are among the most prominent recipients.

The stay in Paris of the Huguenot Walloon commissin was largely devoted to visiting the historic landmarks of Protestantism, including the home of Admiral de Coligny, the church of St. Germaine l'Auxerrois, form whose belfry pealed out the signal for the massacre of St. Bartholomew, and the buildings of the University of Paris. The Sunday of the official visit was marked by services in the American Protestant church in the Rue de Berri, and at the church of the Oratoire, near the Louvre, the principal edifice of the French Reformed church in the capital. During their stay, the American delegates were piloted by Pastor Andre Monod, one of the leaders of French Protestantism.

Air Cooling Is Best for Motors Engineer Says

Donald W. Douglas, designer and builder of the famed around-the-world flight planes, is an enthusiastic Franklin owner and recently, when asked at the plant of the Douglas Aircraft company in Santa Monica to give his views on air-cooled motors and light weight with strength in motor cars and airplanes, penned the following:

"Given equally effective cooling in two engines, one by air and one by water, there can be no question but that the air-cooled engine is the best. This is primarily so because there is less chance of the air-cooling system becoming damaged or becoming less effective due to damage. Wear and tear is less, and air-cooling will not suffer by any inadvertency on the part of the car operator, such as occurs with water-cooling systems when allowed to run dry. Also, air-cooling requires fewer and simpler parts than water-cooling, which saves weight, and, therefore, power, resulting in greater fuel efficiency.

"Since air is the primary cooling medium, air-cooling of the cylinders rather than air-cooling of water is the most direct and logical method. Air-cooling, as it is effected in the Franklin car is not only perfect under all atmospheric conditions, but is doubly effective when water cooling fails—in the lower gears on long, hard pulls. To make a water-cooled motor function properly under the same circumstances the fan would have to be oversize, which would increase the power loss and lead to overcooling, and consequent loss of economy, under normal operating conditions."

Oakland Plans To District Sales Division in U.S.

In harmony with the expansion program of the Oakland Motor Car company, one of the General Motors group, according to a statement issued by C. W. Matheson, vice-president and director of sales, district offices are to be established in twenty of the most important trade centers throughout the country.

"These district offices are to be divisions of the general sales department at the factory," explained Mr. Matheson. "The manager of each district office will have charge of the selection and supervision of all Oakland dealers in his district.

"While the plan is a distinct departure from the former Oakland sales policy, it is very similar to the system so long and successfully employed by some of the largest motor car companies, notably Dodge Brothers and Chevrolet.

"Under this system there will be twenty veteran assistant general sales managers functioning in the twenty zones under the director of sales at the factory."

All-Year Touring Model Popular

"Every model has it day, and the day of the all-year touring car is here," says W. E. Holler, coincident with the announcement of the new winter enclosure now available on the Flint Six "55" and the Flint Six "40."

"For years it has been the ambition of motor car builders to manufacture touring cars which would be as useful in winter as in summer, to supply the wants of those who wish closed car comfort without the cost. Now, thanks to the Permanent Top, which since the inception of the Flint Six "55," has been a standard feature, it is possible to fit touring cars with winter enclosures which are weather-tight and free from the annoyances formerly associated with enclosures which were fitted to non-rigid tops.

Flint Builds One

"A winter enclosure has been especially designed and built for the Flint Six and is fitted to the touring cars at the Flint plant, thus assuring that each enclosure is entirely satisfactory. The enclosures are strongly built, with leather exterior and handsome fabric interior. The windows permit exceptionally clear vision in all directions, and the "blind spot" is practically eliminated.

"Heretofore, only the 55 has been equipped with the Permanent Top, but to insure the steadiness of the winter enclosure, the Flint Six 40 touring cars shipped from the factory with winter enclosures will also have a rigid permanent top.

"A floor heater will also accompany the enclosure on the 55. This new enclosure equipment with permanent top is considered to be one of the best improvements scheduled by the motor car industry this season."

Star Sales On Big Increase

Star Motors reports an increase in sales throughout the country, and also reports further progress in the development of its dealer organization.

One of the recent announcements made by Colin Campbell, vice-president of Durant Motors, that the company had inaugurated a national advertising campaign, brought in an increasing number of inquiries from dealers everywhere who saw the possibilities of selling Star cars under a progressive plan of merchandising.

Wholesale offices have been established at Atlanta, Ga.; Boston, Mass.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Chicago, Ill.; Dallas, Texas; Denver, Colo.; Elizabeth, N. J.; Kansas City, Mo.; Lansing, Mich.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; St. Louis, Mo.

The wholesale organization will keep in close touch with the dealers and co-operate with them in furthering the progress of Star business.

Star cars are being made in four plants, located at: Elizabeth, N. J.; Toronto, Canada.; Lansing, Mich., and Oakland, Cal.

There are more than 200,000 Star cars in use.

Mr. Randle has handled tires and accessories for seven years and batteries for the last three. Mr. Randle is now president of the Wichita Falls Battery Dealers association.

May Have History Survey Exhibit At T-9 Fair

The natural history survey of the state department of registration and education will probably have an exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5. To the farmers and the city folk, also, it will be one of the most interesting departments on the grounds.

The exhibits as planned will show, by actual specimens the different stages of about 150 of our insects. In most cases there will be specimens showing the injury and the cause. A scientist at the booth will answer questions concerning the methods of insect control. The exhibit will also include a number of beneficial forms, enabling one to know our more common insect friends and what not to "swat" as well as what to "swat."

To Show Insects.

There will be shown the life history and habits of such destructive insects as the white grubs, with parasites that prey upon them; two cases of insects that infest shade trees; one of scale insects, one showing the sensonable developments of the Hessian fly by actual specimens of the insect as it appears each month; one case of fruit insects; one of corn insects, one showing the European corn borer and one its injury; one of household insects; two of garden insects and two beneficial insects.

The farmer, and the city man or woman who raises vegetables, will find this exhibit instructive and worth while. It will show them what is killing their crops, plants and trees and, will enable them to become familiar with the particular insect which kills off those that do no harm.

"Wild West" Opens Up for Motor Cars; Reo Buss Completes Long Test Tour

The successful journey entirely across the United States of a big de luxe motor coach just completed last week in Los Angeles has aroused interest throughout the entire country, not only among street car and stage line operators but the general public as well. Especially in the east and middle west has this been the case, according to J. C. Brandimore of the Reo Motor Car company of Lansing, Mich., who was a passenger in the big bus during its entire trip from Lansing to New York and back again across country to Los Angeles by way of Yellowstone park, Seattle and San Francisco.

"The far west has traveled entirely too fast for people east of the Mississippi," said Brandimore, in talking of his 6,000-mile journey. "They still think back there—many of them at least—that there are Indians everywhere on the plains and in the mountains; that there are cowboys, trappers, gold hunters and 'bad men' galore everywhere west of the Missouri or Mississippi. We have been asked about the 'wildest' experiences on our recent cross-country trip. We didn't have any. The roads were supposed to be 'terrible.' More than half of our journey was on paved highways, and the remainder over roads that were seldom bad and then only for very short stretches.

Only Tame Ones.

"We saw very few Indians and these were palpably very 'tame.' In Yellowstone park we were delayed perhaps half an hour by a family of big bears. Traffic both ways was tied up while we all got out and coaxed the family off the highway. The bears were so accustomed to people that they wouldn't pay any attention to us. In fact, we saw no wild animals other than rabbits, squirrels etc., except in the park where they are protected.

"There are very few stretches along the entire route we followed where we were out of sight of a ranch house, or at least cultivated land. Instead of hunters, trappers, wild buffalo, deer and Indians in the Dakotas, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana, we found cultivated farms. Even the great stock ranches of former days are fast disappearing and the 'cow puncher' of today rides his range in a motor car and carries his branding outfit to the roundup in a speed wagon.

"From a scenic standpoint the people who say 'see America first' know whereof they speak. The valleys of the Missouri, the Platte, the Snake and the Columbia, provide views that would give the artists of the world material for a lifetime of painting. The photographer can snap his lens from morning to night almost anywhere without moving more than a mile or two, and still fill his album with 'scenes' that would grace a London or Paris salon.

Roads Are Better.

"I discussed road conditions with Mr. Don Daly, head of the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, a few days ago, and he told me motorists usually expressed signs of timidity when high elevations were mentioned. We reached our highest elevation for the trip in Yellowstone National park, at 8,700 feet in Dunraven pass, and much of our travel in the park was at high elevations, yet we made the entire circuit of the park in two days, going in by way of Gardiner entrance and visiting Mammoth Hot Springs, the Golden Gate, Norris Geyser Basin, Upper Geyser Basin, Yellowstone Lake Camp, Canyon Hotel on the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, Dunraven Pass, Tower Falls, and then out by the same entrance by which we came in—a total of 237 miles, including stops at all the points of interest.

"The object of the Reo Motor Car company in sending out this big six-cylinder de luxe sedan bus was to obtain data on gasoline and oil consumption, tire mileage, flexibility of control and steering on mountain grades and curves, reliability with respect to maintaining definite schedules and the absence of trouble of all kinds for sustained trips of this sort.

Few Adjustments.

"Messrs. Fussett and Griffith of our engineering department alternated at the wheel during the trip of 6,108 miles from Lansing to New York, and then to Los Angeles, and were called upon on but few occasions to make any adjustments or repairs and then only such as the average touring motorist would be able to make himself without recourse to a garage. The nearest approach to trouble was a minor repair to the gasoline connection at the vacuum tank and changing tires on two occasions when we cut them up badly on sharp rocks and again for two punctures, and the deplacing of a fan belt.

"In spite of our long wheel-base—176 inches—we only had to back up once to get around a curve and that was made necessary by heavy traffic which compelled us to hug the inside of the road. Grades up to 20 per cent were taken easily in spite of the fact that most grades come in high mountain travel where the rarified atmosphere reduces the pulling power of gasoline motor.

"All in all, this trip of ours demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that long distance, sight seeing travel by motor bus is not only feasible but certain to be an established fact within a very short period of time. Such travel on regular schedule permits stopping each night at high class hotels and yet gives the tourist an opportunity of visiting points of interest without stop-overs or transferring from vehicle to vehicle."

Moon Business Showing Gains

Stewart McDonald, president of the Moon Motor Car company of St. Louis, who has been in Detroit several days completing negotiations with the Continental Motors corporation for his company's requirements for 1925 reports a very decided increase in the business of his company during the past few weeks and is of the opinion that the last six months of the present year will exceed that of 1923, which was one of the banner years of the company.

"Our business shows every indication of being much greater next year than this year has been," said Mr. McDonald, "although the last six months of the present year will exceed the same six months of 1923, we have just completed laying out our schedule with the Continental Motors corporation for our motor requirements for 1925. This will be larger by 25 per cent than our 1924 schedule and personally I cannot see anything but extremely good prospects for business during the next 12 months. The western and southern country is in very good financial shape, in fact better than it has been for several years. Our dealers have no surplus stocks on hand and the orders and inquiries we have received from those sections of the country are indeed encouraging."

SEIBERLING CORDS

Welcome To The Fair

ARE AS GOOD AS THEY LOOK ON THE BACK

Any tire looks good on the dealer's display rack. Almost any tire continues to look good for the first few hundred miles of use. But after months and years of wear the truth will surely forth For a tire, the last few thousand miles are the hardest.

It is in the last few thousand miles that the Seiberling Cords show their superiority. The last few miles in a Seiberling Cord Are Beyond the Reach and ability of an ordinary tire. They are extra miles given the user by virtue of the extra quality built into Seiberling Cord Tires.

Putty Returns From General Co. Plant in Akron

"If every car owner could visit a tire factory and see how tires are made and the engineering problems tire men have worked out, there would be almost no misunderstandings about adjustments and service matters between tire dealers and customers."

Cecil Putty of the Dixie Tire Service Co., representatives for General tires in Wichita Falls, declares this emphatically, and he ought to know, for he has just returned from a visit to the General Tire & Rubber Co. factory at Akron, Ohio, where he studied tires from the stage of raw gum from the tropics to the discards on the scrap heap.

"I believe I learned more about tires, new and old, by direct contact than I could have picked up in a lifetime by hearsay," says Mr. Putty.

Can Prevent Trouble

"One of the important things I learned by my visit was how to anticipate and prevent tire troubles, especially in connection with commercial car work. I am solid on the idea that it pays a car or truck owner very well to equip with tires big enough and of the type to do his work—to stand up under the loads and deliver the miles. Such tires may cost more in first price than cheap, passable tires but the time to really figure tire expense is at the end of the second or third 10,000 miles that tires deliver. Uninterrupted service is a mighty important item, and only good tires can give that.

"I was much impressed by the General factory, to which three new additions are now being built to take care of growing demand. That was rather unusual. Most of the Akron tire factories built great additions during the boom and have more space than they know what to do with. General's expansion has been more conservative, however, there have been no wild building sprees—and as a matter of fact the company has found it necessary twice this year to discontinue taking on new dealers, because of a desire to have plenty of stock for accounts already established.

"I am certainly glad to represent a tire like the General, backed by such a factory, here and feel certain that as a result of my visit I will be able to help the owners of cars and trucks in Wichita Falls with their service problems."

MILL EXHIBIT POSSIBLE

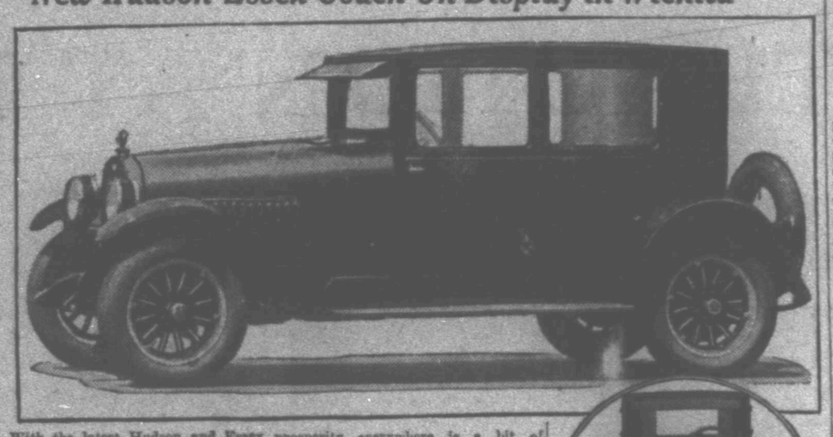

Postex Mills of Texas Seek Date on T-O Fair.

The Postex Mills, Post, Texas, probably the largest textile mill in the state, have written for information concerning the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

The Postex Mills are valued at several million dollars and ship finished products to many parts of the world, their specialty being sheets and pillow cases.

Should the textile mill have a display here of their products it will be of interest to a majority of women. The products of the mill are preshrunk before being put on the market. The mill has one of the largest washing and ironing plants in the south.

New Hudson-Essex Coach On Display in Wichita

With the latest Hudson and Essex models on display, Wichita Hudson-Essex company opens Monday a special fall exhibition of closed cars.

In connection with the show this organization will conduct all next week a special demonstration week, featuring both Hudson and Essex cars, but emphasizing particularly the Essex.

New Styles Appear.

"In the last few weeks or months nearly every important maker of cars has brought out styles which have changed in some respects from all previous types," Mr. Conner said. "The time is, therefore, ripe for the man who is considering a purchase to see and review the offerings which have been placed before him.

"I have frequently stated that the second half of 1924 would be a better business period than the first, and this show is proof of my confidence in that statement. Fall weather is here, and all that is needed for more prosperity everywhere is a bit of enterprise and a show of confidence by our business leaders.

Leading 6 Cars.

"Hudson-Essex this year is the leading line of six-cylinder cars nationally, and so it naturally takes the first step in this promotion of business activity. We feel sure this will commend itself to all motorists and business men.

"We invite all motorists to call in and see our latest cars—to test their performance—to check up on the advances which the industry has made.

"All Hudson-Essex dealers are engaged in this campaign with us. In the week to come we want motorists all over Texas to know our cars thoroughly.

Mr. Conner said that he planned to prove by his exhibits and demonstrations the quick acceleration, ample power and riding qualities of the Essex, as well as its all-weather utility and latest style.

Disc Clutch On Chevrolets Now

A disc clutch for Chevrolets—that is the sum and substance of an announcement from the J. V. Baldwin Motor company, Chevrolet dealers.

The first showing of the special Baldwin models equipped with this new disc clutch, is now being made in their display rooms at Fifteenth and Figueroa. A working model is there for the inspection of interested motorists. Cars are ready to demonstrate its efficiency of operation.

A big attraction, too, is the fact that these special models are offered for immediate delivery — roadsters, touring cars, coupes, sedans and special sport models. All the most desirable accessories are included as regular equipment.

In commenting upon the announcement, Andrew Baldwin, general manager says: "We invite the motoring public of Los Angeles to come to our display rooms to see our special Baldwin models, equipped with this new disc clutch. It makes no difference whether they are Chevrolet owners or not. We want everyone to acquaint themselves with this new feature.

"Special Baldwin models equipped with it are on display and we have cars on hand to take the people riding to demonstrate it. In order to best prove its worth, those who want to, are invited to drive themselves. That's the surest way to register satisfaction."

Parmenter Opens Branch in Vernon

Bill Robertson, sales manager for the Parmenter Motor Co., local distributors for Durant and Star automobiles announces that in the future they will deal directly with the factory. The factory is operating under this new system, eliminating state distributors.

The local agents' territory will include four counties, Wichita, Wilbarger, Archer and Clay. "We have enlarged our parts and service department; adequate equipped to handle all Star and Durant service, more than doubled our stock of parts in order to take care of our increase in business," said Mr. Robertson.

In order to take care of the growing business in Wilbarger county, the Parmenter Motor company have opened a branch house in Vernon with complete sales and service equipment. E. T. Baker will be in charge of this branch house. Mr. Baker was formerly with Dodge Brothers in El Paso and was in the automobile business for several years at Amarillo. He is thoroughly familiar with the automobile business and is well acquainted both in Vernon and Wichita Falls. Frank Ingram will go from our shop to take charge of the service department at the Vernon branch. He is an expert mechanic and particularly so in the handling of Durant products.

"Business Fine" In Southwest, Is Marmon Verdict

Business pessimism is giving way before a general feeling of optimism which prevails in the larger cities of the west and southwest and a period of prosperity lies just ahead, said G. M. Williams, president and general manager of the Nordyke & Marmon company of Indianapolis, upon his return from a three weeks tour of investigation of the principal cities of the west. The object of the tour was to investigate business conditions as they actually are and to meet personally Marmon dealers, distributors and salesmen whom he had not already met.

All Feel Optimistic.

"From Salt Lake City through the entire middle west there is sound prosperity," he said. "There is, generally, an optimistic feeling. In Seattle, where they have been pessimistic for four years they are feeling very much better and believe good business lies ahead. In Texas, the cotton crop is beyond all expectations. There is plenty of money in the banks in the larger cities.

"Discussion of business conditions with our dealers, bankers and prominent men indicates that we can look forward, because of the very sound economic prospect ahead, to very desirable business."

Discussing the general automobile factory outlook, Mr. Williams said that he interprets conditions as indicating a 1925 production on a par with that of 1924 rather than that of 1923.

Now a Necessity.

Mr. Williams said that today the automobile is a transportation necessity just as is the steam locomotive and that the industry can no more afford to allow a faulty car to be turned out than Baldwin can afford to turn out a faulty locomotive.

"It has come to the point where the factory that will not build a real value-giving car cannot expect to survive.

"In the past the industry has known all this. But today factories and dealers are realizing it and acting on it. Both the industry and the buying public will benefit more and more from the realization of these basic facts."

Automobile sales will be at the crest by September, Mr. Williams predicted. Also, he predicted that prices will rise next year because present prices are unprofitable to builders of sound construction.

"I believe that there will be little fundamental change in the construction of motor cars in the next ten years," he said. "Present sizes, power and types of engine are adequate. There will be changes, of course, in design and addition to the motor and riding comfort but aside from that it is doubtful if there will be any great change."

During the trip, Mr. Williams visited Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Spokane, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Champion Plugs Win Everything

Champion spark plugs on Labor Day repeated their sweeping victories attained in every national automobile race this year, when every car that finished the thrilling 250-mile race at Altoona, Pa., was equipped throughout with them, according to telegrams to the Champion Spark Plug company, of Toledo.

Not a single Champion plug was changed during the entire race.

The Labor Day Altoona race made the fifth consecutive major speed contest this year in which Champion equipped cars have captured every prize offered, a record never before approached by any piece of automotive equipment or any one make of motor car, Champion executives say. This startling series of Champion victories began with the Beverly Hills race last February, when every car in the first ten was Champion equipped. This same record has been successfully continued at the world's speed classic—the 500-mile Indianapolis contest—at the June Altoona race, at the July 4 race at Kansas City, and again at Altoona Labor Day.

The late Jimmy Murphy, whose record for the last five years stamps him as the ablest driver of racing cars the world has ever seen, has used nothing but Champions for more than a year in attaining the remarkable string of consecutive victories he had achieved. Milton, Corum, Hartz, Cooper, Fengler and all the other successful drivers similarly insist upon Champions.

PUREBRED JERSEYS CMING

50 Cows To Be Shown Here Are Selected From Fort Worth Herds

Selecting of the 50 pure bred Jerseys from southwestern dairy farms is complete and the animals will be shipped from Fort Worth to the Texas-Oklahoma fair where they will be sold at auction during the exposition, according to D. T. Simons, secretary of the Texas Jersey Cattle club.

Teh auction sale is expected to stimulate interest in Jersey cattle in southwest Oklahoma and northwest Texas. The herd to be shown and auctioned is from the best standard pure bred Jersey cattle in the south. It is believed that the sale will be of much benefit to the fair, as it is in keeping with the educational progress the exposition is maintaining. Farmers of southwest Oklahoma and northwest Texas are expected to be interested in the Jersey sale.

Why You Should Use

AMALIE MOTOR OIL

It is made from "100 percent Pure Pennsylvania," the best known.

Each package so stencilled is sealed at the Factory. It is approved by the engineers designing motors in over two hundred different cars, trucks and tractors. The mechanic who inspects your car, because of his practical experience with all grades of oil, approves the use of AMALIE. Ask him.

Mixing Air With Natural Gas

One of the difficult problems met by every natural gas company, is the repair of main lines without admitting air to the mains. Contrary to an impression many people have, air and gas cannot be mixed in the pipe lines. A pocket of air would put out every fire, with danger of explosions when the gas again came through.

Therefore, when repairs are made on main lines, the line must be plugged or valves turned off, the repairs made, and gas forced through the line until all air is expelled before the line can be opened again. Sometimes this means a great waste of gas.

This entire absence of air from the gas in the pipe lines is made up for at the value of your appliance where combustion requires a mixture of about 9½ times as much air to secure perfect results.

Sometimes we see advertisements of burners where it is urged that they "burn 90 percent air". Rather the truth is that nine times the volume of air is required to furnish the oxygen consumed by one part of gas. Natural gas is a highly concentrated product, clean and rich in heating units, which can only be burned economically and cleanly when the proper mixture of air is made at your burners. This you regulate by the shutters in the mixer and the amount of gas you turn on, remembering that the short blue flame is right for cooking.

If you want a smooth, powerful engine, with an energetic, impetus pick-up waiting for the throttle, you will enjoy the Oakland.

If a sparing use of gasoline seems important, you will find the snap in Oakland performance is not secured from a big, gas-eating engine. Racing engine practice was followed—Swiss watch precision in building adopted. The result—the small displacement. True Blue engine gets more power and more miles out of a gallon.

If it is riding comfort and a feeling of solid road-worthiness under you and over you, glance below at the roll-call of tried-and-true year-proved points of Oakland superiority in these attributes.

If you are particular about the finish on your car—Oakland's standard finish is Duco. It holds its lustre indefinitely—comes up smiling after unbelievable abuse.

REO 1925 MARMON Models ROLLIN

THEY ARE DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHERS

The Reo

The years of owner satisfaction back of the REO are founded on the good qualities which are proving every day all over the world—real economy in low upkeep and infrequent repairs; clock-like reliability; surpassing performance; length of life and high re-sale value—that are decidedly unusual.

They foretell what the new owner can count upon when he buys a REO.

Has been the Gold Standard of Value for years.

Let us show you its many superior qualities during the Fair.

The Marmon

Six cylinders have never meant so much in the way of magnificent power as they are made to mean in the new MARMON.

The truth is that the new MARMON adds so much to the ease and enjoyment which are the outcome of good six-cylinder construction, that it is almost revolutionary.

The steadiness with which it holds the higher speeds will delight you hardly more than the perfect softness and obedience of power that seem to have no limit.

To put it briefly, the new MARMON gives us the right to say that no where in your six-cylinder experience have you encountered its like.

The Rollin

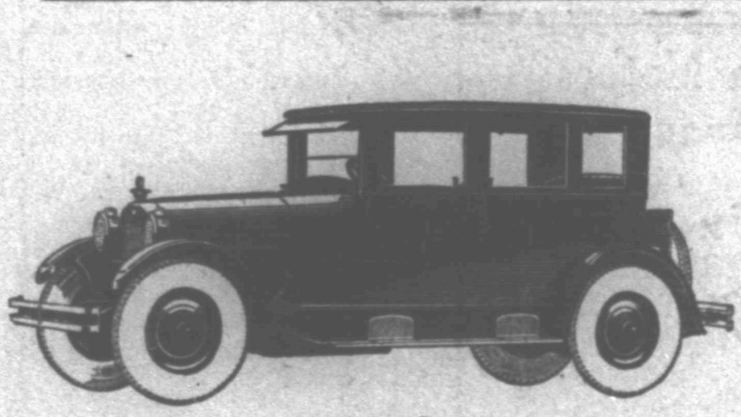

A Car Different From a Million Others

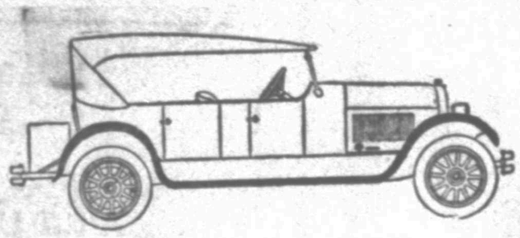

For here is a smart, efficient, spirited, rugged, flexible, good-looking, trim automobile.

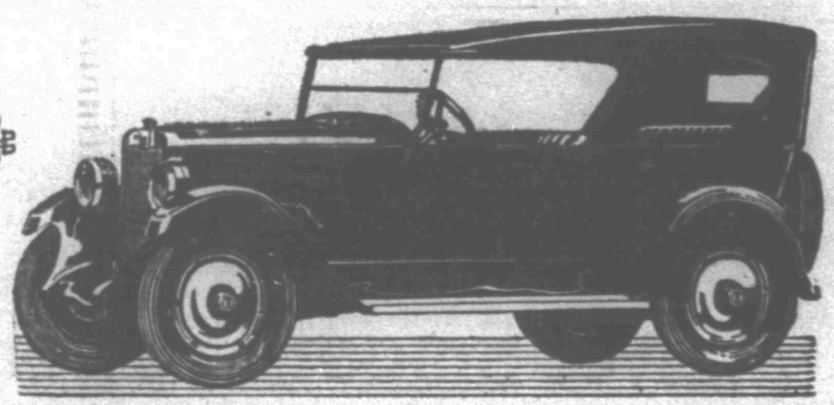

Here is a small-bore, high-compression motored car, —designed along the latest European lines of lightness, compactness and simplicity—

—equipped with 4-wheel brakes and balloon tires as standard equipment—

Super-Excellent—Equipages of Rare Comfort and Beauty

They are possessed of an ability to perform with efficiency and economy which outrivals anything in the automobile line. Before buying a new car take a ride in one of the three.

WELCOME VISITORS TO THE
GREATEST SHOW IN TEXAS
Texas-Oklahoma Fair Sept. 29 to Oct 5.

In presenting these models in the Automobile Show at the fair we are confident that they embody in unusual measure those qualities that set motor cars high in public esteem . Whether they be judged by mechanical excellence, luxurious appointment or outward beauty, the models we are exhibiting prove themselves the work of master hands.

They combine individuality with technical perfection in a manner that makes them the preferred.

A review and an examination of these models will reveal why there attaches to ownership so much of credit for sound judgment and correct taste.

New Nash Models Will Be Seen At T-O Exposition

One of the attractions at the fair is the exhibit of new Nash Advanced Six and Special Six models which have literally swept the country in popular favor since their introduction a few weeks ago. With their full balloon tires, four-wheel brakes, force-feed engine lubrication and new distinctive body styles.

Every provision has been made for the reception of visitors at the Nash booth. Attendants in charge are prepared to explain in detail the new fully counter-weighed crank shaft, balanced almost to the weight of a human hair, the force-feed oiling system and what it means to the smooth operation and long life of the motor; the positive equalizing device with which the four-wheel braking system is equipped and the construction of the bodies, built like 93 per cent of the entire car by Nash Motors in its own shops. In fact, any detail in the construction of these cars in which a visitor may be interested will be clearly explained by those in charge of the exhibit.

The appearance and appointments of all models in the new Nash Advanced Six and Special Six series have inspired outspoken admiration on the part of those who have had an opportunity to view these cars. The low-swung bodies, with bevel bearing, higher and wider, heavily nickeled radiators embossed at name plate are set off by new style massive head and parking lamps of Nash design. The fenders are wider and deeply crowned and the hood louvers are high. Equipment includes rear-view mirror, automatic windshield wiper, flush type cowl ventilator, steering wheel with hand and finger grips and new instrument board illuminated by a concealed light in cowl. The instruments are set in two large frosted silver-faced dials containing speedometer, odometer, clock, ammeter, oil gauge and gas gauge. The carburetor mixture heat control also is on the instrument board so it may be regulated by mere hand pressure from the driver's seat.

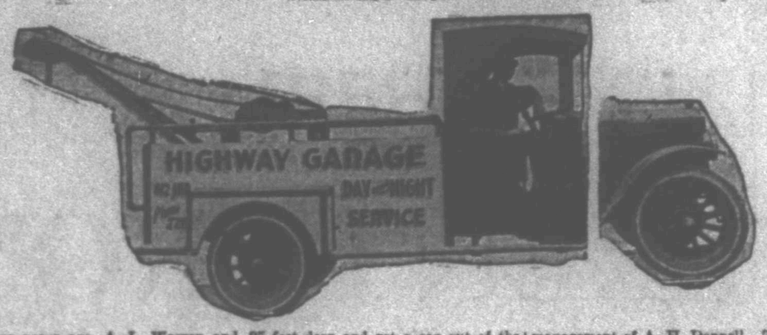

Interest in the new Nash line since its introduction has been divided between admiration of the cars themselves and frank amazement at their low prices.

The Advanced Six line includes a 5-passenger touring model in Kobalt blue, 7-passenger touring in Kobalt blue; full 5-passenger four-door sedan with sky-blue and black body; roadster, finished in green grey deep; four-door coupe on 127-inch wheel base, in green gray deep; and 7- passenger sedan, finished in Nash blue and black.

In the Special Six line are a 5-passenger sed. priced down to a figure that literally leaves it without parallel in value, and 5-passenger touring model.

Demand for these new models has been greater than at any time in the history of the Nash Motors company, says Mr. King of the Nash-King Motor company.

STORY OF THE HIGHWAY GARAGE

Two years ago, A. L. Warren and P. D. King started the Highway Garage at 612 Indiana avenue. Mr. Warren has been in Wichita Falls 12 years, and Mr. King has been here five years.

From a very modest beginning, they have reached the point where they can render service in all lines of automobile work. Their fast road service is greatly facilitated by their powerful Duplex towing car. The one-ton Duplex truck which has been equipped with a powerful crane has never failed to get a car, no matter what difficult situation they may have been in. It is the most complete towing car in town, and according to Mr. Warren, they are able to reach into a ditch 25 feet deep and get a car out of the mud.

A safe weighing one thousand pounds can be picked up and moved from one side of town to the other in 15 minutes time where otherwise it would take a half day to move it.

A special made crane has been mounted on a Duplex chassis. The crane has a number of special features which makes it doubly useful. It has a three foot longer reach, twenty-five feet longer chain than most cranes. The triple power action enables a man to lift three times more by hand than he could with an ordinary crane.

The Highway Garage building is 50x 150 feet and it furnishes storage space for 60 cars.

The repair department is under the management of A. H. Donnell. There are eight experienced mechanics in the shop, and a night and day shift are kept at work. No matter what time of day or night a repair job comes in, it is given immediate attention. The Highway Garage has one of the best equipped shops for general repair work in this part of the country.

Calls for road service are received from a distance of 30 miles in all directions from Wichita Falls. One night after a rain, 15 calls were received in the course of three hours.

"The personal touch, contact and appreciation shown by all branches of our service has made for us a great number of loyal friends and patrons," says Mr. Warren.

All of Cars to Be Shown at Fair

The automotive show at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, inclusive, will have the largest number of completely equipped cars ever shown under one roof in the history of the southwest, according to a member of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers' association.

Popular demand has been a keynote in the show, and most all makes of automobiles will be on display during the exposition. Completely equipped cars will come in for a good deal of attention, for many people want styles and class, while others prefer durability with little of the gloss.

Automobiles are within reach of most people. The price becomes lower year by year and the quality of the car becomes better in every particular.

All the different designs and the new models will be exhibited during the exposition. Cars with the newest class features, designed by the greatest engineers of the country will go through the acid test made by fair visitors. To the average man or woman the automobile show is sure to be a place of interest.

Many Japanese shipping cancerns are turning to the building of motorships.

Some hunters have announced their intention of using bow and arrow, while others favor bowie knives or counties are considering similar leg-boomerangs.

CONVENTION AT FAIR

State Meeting of Rhode Island Reds To Be Held In City.

The state convention of Rhode Island White Poultry breeders will be held in Wichita Falls during the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29- October 5, inclusive, according to J. B. Reighard, acting state representative.

The fair association will give a number of special prizes and premiums in the Rhode Island class, and cash awards amounting to $75, Ira D. Brown, director of the poultry department stated. The Rhode Island White club has a membership of approximately 200 members.

Better Grain Is Plan of Experts

OTTAWA.—The Central experiment farm here has completed distributing among 50 large western grain growers samples of two newly evolved wheat varieties, which promise to revolutionize the crop calendar and frustrate the devastating rust.

Branded "Reward" and "Garnet," both new varieties are of excetionally early maturity and ripen even before the Marquis, the earliest grade now grown commercially throughout the grain provinces.

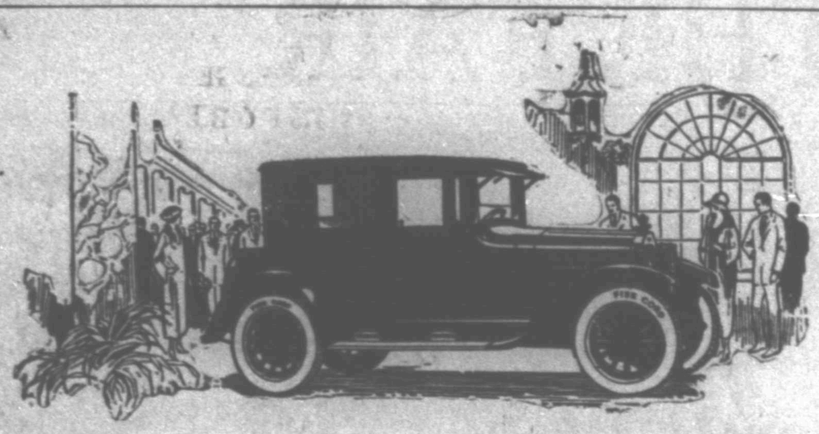

Test plantings of these varieties, at the experimental farm fibened before the rust season set in. Thus although the new varieties are not considered rust-resisting, it is believed that if the promises of the tests materializes in commercial plantings, they will prove the long-sought means of frustrating the blight.

Velvet Smooth Power and an engine that improves with use

Willys-Knight's new Lanchester Balancer prevents vibration at any speed.

The Willys-Knight is a revelation to motorists. It gives them a new conception of riding ease, a velvet smoothness of operation that surprises and delights.

Much was expected of the car. The ten years it has been in production have been years of progressive leadership. Willys-Knight conquered noise with its quiet sleeve-valve engine,—conquered engine deterioration, conquered carbon and valve trouble, conquered the problems of lubrication, clutch, steering and every detail of mechanical construction. It seemed to approach the pinnacle of possibility.

But Willys-Knight still advances. This year it tops its record with another triumph—it solves the universal problem of engine vibration. The Lanchester Balancer, which eliminates vibration, introduces car owners to a new comfort and pleasure in driving.

The Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer awaits your inspection.

Shipley Showing New Jewett Line For Fall Season

The "Proved Jewett," a Paige-built, six-cylinder car, is announced to the public this month in a new dress, better equipped and with balloon tires, carrying the added glamor of having traveled "1,000,000,000 miles beyond experiment," according to J. E. Shipley Auto Co., Paige and Jewett dealers. The new cars are now on display in their local showroom.

Various Colors

The Proved Jewett is finished in various colors and combinations that are believed by officials of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company to be masterpieces of automobile body design. The Proved Jewetts are finished in standard and de luxe lines. Both bear balloon tires as standard equipment.

The standard line has four models, the touring car, three-passenger coupe, five-passenger brougham and five-passenger sedan. Three models, the touring car, five-passenger brougham and sedan, are furnished in the de luxe line.

The touring, coupe and sedan, in the standard line, are furnished in autumn green satin finish. The famous high luster, baked on black enamel finish, is being continued on the Jewett standard brougham.

Has Fancy Lines

The touring car in the de luxe line is finished in lotus blue; the sedan in lotus and harbor blue, and the brougham in autumn green satin finish. Side arms and leathered back provides innovations in the de luxe brougham, giving it the appearance of a landaulet with its aristocratic lines.

They are furnished on the Jewett Six chassis, known for its power and hill-climbing records. The company has just adopted the slogan, "1,000,000,000-Mile" Jewetts. Harry M. Jewett, president, in explaining this to the country, calls attention to the fact that there are over 100,000 Jewett automobiles now in the hands of owners, who have given them a total in excess of 1,000,000,000 miles traveling.

T-O EXHIBITS ARRIVE.

Number of Displays Already Put Up For Big Exposition.

Exhibits are beginning to arrive for the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, September 29-October 5, inclusive. A number of displays have been stored and will be put in place by the opening day of the exposition, according to R. R. Shepherd, fair secretary.

During the coming week exhibits will arrive by freight, express and truck. Out of state exhibits are to arrive in plenty of time to be in readiness for the exposition. The livestock exhibits will begin to arrive Friday, according to George D. Keith, director and superintendent of the department.

Commander of Maccabees to Lead Motor Caravan To Washington Convention in Packard 6 Touring Car

A. W. Frye, supreme commander of the Maccabees, in a Packard Six touring car this month will blaze the trail to Washington for the 1925 Maccabees' international automobile caravan. The accompanying photograph shows the head of the big fraternal organization at the wheel of his pathfinder car.

The big caravan, preparations for which have been under way for many months, will take 100,000 members of the Maccabees to Washington from all over the United States and Canada for the quadrennial convention of the order. Mr. Frye in his Packard Six will leave Detroit to mak out the first official route. He will arrive in time to attend the annual meeting of the National Fraternal congress of America.

Accompanying Mr. Frye will be moving picture men, map makers and others who will lay out the official route for the caravan cars from the Great Lakes district. Later, pathfinder trips will be made from other sections of the country.

It is expected that Mr. Frye will be met by big automobile escorts at every city along the route of the first caravan pathfinder trip. Maccabees in each city between Detroit and Washington are planning gala receptions for their national commander upon his arrival at each town. The caravan trip itself is the culmination of the Maccabees' Americanization program for 1924 and was organized to give the members of the society an opportunity to visit the national capital and the many points of historic interest in and around Washington.

Enthusiastic Over New Peerless Six

The new Peerless six, embracing seven smart body types, shown here last week for the first time in the complete line, has won instant favor with everyone who has called to view the new models, declares Stanley W. Smith, president of the Southern California Peerless distribution, who adds that the new sport roadster has been acclaimed by many visitors to the local Peerless showrooms as the smartest special job ever shown here.

That this reception has been nation-wide is indicated by a wire just received from factory officials by Mr. Smith, which states that the new models in their initial showing have been received enthusiastically by the motor-car public throughout the country.

"With motor of tremendous power, yet surprisingly economical, the Peerless six, offered for the first time last spring in two introductory models, the five-passenger phaeton and sedan, has already won for itself a coterie of enthusiastic owners, who are high in the praise of the performance of their cars," declared Mr. Smith yesterday. "All of our owners have expressed surpeise to experience such a wealth of power in a motor which functions as economically as does the new six engine. Many owners have reported eighteen miles to the gallon of gas, a number as high as twenty miles.

All have commented on how easily the six handles—how low their maintenance costs have been—how pleased they are with balloon tires. To our knowledge, although a number of owners have driven their sixes more than 15,000 miles, an original balloon tire has yet to wear out, and all are standing up wonderfully well."

The new entrants into the Peerless six lines are the two-passenger roadster, the three-passenger special sport roadster, the five-passenger coupe, and the seven-passenger touring phaeton and sedan. The seven-passenger models have a 133-inch wheel base while the other three new types, and the introductory models, are seven inches short of this figure.

Willys Knight No. 100,000 Sent To Sidney, Australia

The 100,000th Willys-Overland car exported—a Willys-Knight—recently cleared from New York en route to Overland-Sydney, Ltd., distributors at Sydney, New South Wales, Australia.

That this car, marking so important a milestone in the history of the John N. Willys Export corporation, should find its ultimate purchaser in Australia, is a happy coincidence. It was at Brisbane, Australia, that E. G. Eager established himself as the first overseas distributor of Willys-Overland products, and here, the first Overland to be exported was taken from its crate and placed in operation.

Mr. Eager died some years ago, but his son, Fred Z. Eager, now occupies the post of Australian sales representative, and the old firm of E. G. Eager and Son still operates at Brisbane as Willys-Over land distributors for Queensland.

In the early days, most Australian purchasers made a practice of discarding the tops and windshields of their cars. Then they would strap a spare tire and a rifle to the bow supports and disappear into the bush. Every car served also as a truck, and the touneau was often loaded to capacity with boxes, casks and rolls of barbed wire. A few weeks of this reduced the upholstery to tatters, and in time no vestige of springs or cushions remained. Aided by the motor car, these pioneers populated a wilderness, and conquered the desert and the bush. Today, they want automobiles which provide the utmost in comfort, convenience and beauty, and Overland and Willys-Knight cars have kept pace with their demands.

During the years that have passed since the first Overland car landed on a foreign shore, the business of the John N. Willys Export corporation has steadily expanded over a world-wide market. Overland cars have penetrated the jungles of Africa and South America; crossed and recrossed the deserts of China and Mongolia; climbed the steep trails of Tasmanian mountains, and are familiar sights on the roads of every tiny island in the seven seas. They have stood in the shadow of temples that were old when the first contract for the pyramids was let, and have left their wheel tracks in many a wilderness that a motor car had never before traversed. They have been discussed and written about in a variety of tongues that ranges from the pigeon English of a Chinaman to Philippine Tagalog and Indian Tamil.

On the basis of current production figures of the Willys-Overland company, which show a total of more than 1,200,000 cars built, the shipment of this 100,000th export car means that one out of every 12 cars found a foreign purchaser.

The expansion of Willys-Overland export business, year by year, is a story of conservative, planful marketing, based on fundamentally sound policies. Recognition of the vital need for specialization in the export field is evidenced by be fact that a separate company, known as the John N. Willys Export corporation, was organized in 1919.

The executives and staff of this company might, on occasion, show a mild interest in a hundred-car driveaway for some domestic distributor, but their enthusiasm is quickly aroused by the sight of a string of flats, loaded with Overland and Willys-Knight cars boxed for export and on their way to the seaboard.

UNDER ONE ROOF

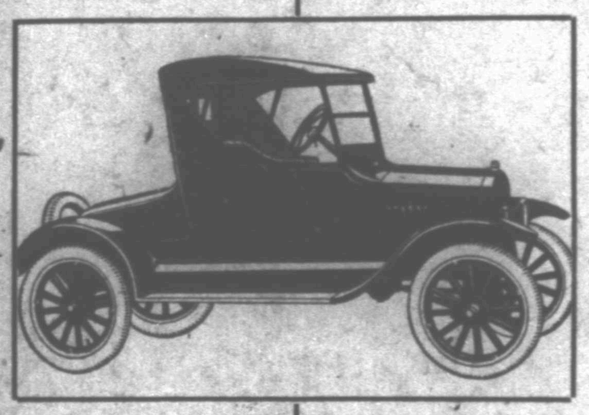

RENDERING A NECESSARY SERVICE TO MEN AND WOMEN IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE

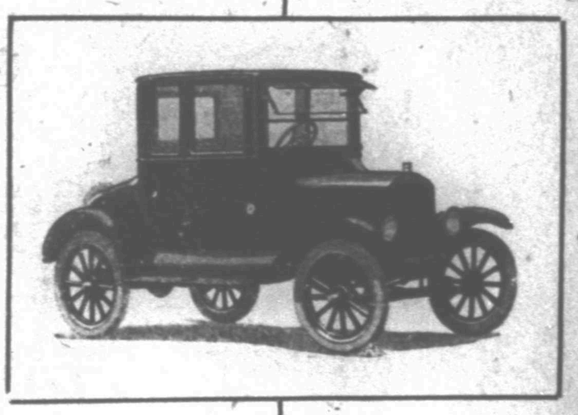

Time was when the automobile dealer was considered as merely a buyer and seller of automobiles—a man who concerned himself only with the actual sale of his product and whose chief worries were getting new cars fast enough to supply the waiting world.

Today that order of things has changed. We of the Langford organization—an inherent part of the gigantic Ford Motor company—realize that as we play our several parts in the business world—that conditions are actually made better—that prosperity is more general and business efficiency greatly improved for the Ford service.

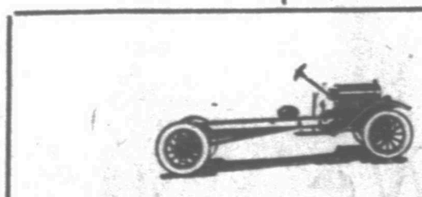

We say in all sincerity, for example, that we are more anxious to see a farmer produce more and better crops, than we are to sell that farmer a Fordson tractor and let it go at that. Our tractor man is an expert farmer, versed in the knowledge of mechanics as applied to the farm and having at his disposal the wealth of information gleaned by Ford experts from all sections of the country. Ford Fertilizer was evolved, not to sell fertilizer—but to make better crops. And it naturally follows that better crops cause better business conditions. When we sell a farmer a Ford Truck we do so in the knowledge that his transportation expense is being reduced and that by bringing him closer to his shipping point or market, we are actually increasing his efficincy and increasing his income.

When a retailer buys a Ford Delivery Unit we know that he is reducing his operating expense. The money he saves goes either into profits or into building a bigger and better business. The salesman who has at his disposal the roadster of the coupe is traveling at the least possible expense and covering more territory at less cost. And so on down the line—Men and women in all walks of life are served by this organization.

We feel it a pleasure and a privilege to render such a service to a community. At this time we invite every visitor to the greater TEXAS-OKLAHOMA Fair to make it a point to step into our exhibit at the Automobile Show—we'll be glad to see you—glad of the opportunity to explain just how Ford Service can help you, as it is actually helping thousands of others.

CITY'S LEADERS DIRECTING FAIR

Business Men Give Much Of Time and Talent To Make It Success

The personnel of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association is composed of a number of the leading business men of Wichita Falls and vicinity. They are men who have faith in the city and surrounding territory. They are men of vision and are of the firm faith that the exposition will grow bigger and better with the years.

Few changes in the officials and officers of the association are noted since the corporation was organized. Practically the same men who conceived the organization and launched the fair in 1922 are today the leading spirits in the exposition.

Officers For This Year.

The 1924 officers are: G. Clint Wood, president; W. M. Moore, vice president; W. E. Norton, treasurer and R. E. Shepherd, secretary.

The executive committee is composed of G. Clint Wood, George D. Keith, C. H. Verschoyle, W. M. Moore, R. E. Shepherd, P. A. Bodgers and W. E. Norton.

G. Clint Wood, independent oil operator, and president of the fair association, is well known in Wichita Falls and northwest Texas. He has lived in the "City That Faith Built" for many years, and in northwest Texas since boyhood. Mr. Woods was vice-president of the Texas-Oklahoma fair in 1923, but in January he succeeded George D. Keith as president of the association.

W. M. Moore, retired attorney, and a successful independent oil operator, is regarded as one of the most progressive citizens in Wichita Falls and is active in civic affairs as well as being one of the dominant factors in the building of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Mr. Moore believes the exposition is destined to become the greatest regional fair of the southwest.

Norton Well Known.

W. E. Norton, director of the First National bank and treasurer of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, is known as one of the most successful independent oil operators in the north Texas district. Much praise is due Mr. Norton in sacrificing the time from his own business to serve the association as its treasurer. The treasurer of the exposition needs must work day and night while the exposition is being held.

R. E. Shepherd, secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, devotes all his time to the organization. "Shep," as he is commonly known, was formerly in the banking business at Burkburnett and was for a number of years cashier of the City National bank of Wichita Falls. Shepherd is the guiding genius of the fair association. It is he who plans and executes the contracts for concessions, buildings, exhibit space, vaudeville and hippodrome acts and the racing. He is kept busy each month of the year and the fair association is fortunate in having a secretary with the exceptional ability of Shepherd.

Keith Ex-President.

George D. Keith, president and general manager of the Wichita Produce company, and a member of the executive committee of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, was president of the corporation in 1922 and 1923. Mr. Keith owns and maintains one of the best Hereford stock farms in the southwest. It is located seven miles east of Wichita Falls just off the Henrietta-Wichita Falls highway. Some of the best standard purebred Hereford cattle in the southwest is owned by Keith, who has won many premiums and prizes at fairs and expositions with the purebreds. He is also superintendent of the livestock division of the 1924 Texas-Oklahoma fair.

P. A. Bodgers, manager of the Wichita Falls Electric company and member of the executive committee of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, was a powerful integer in the success of the previous expositions. Mr. Rogers has always taken an active interest in civic affairs of the city. He predicts the Texas-Oklahoma fair will eventually become one of the greatest expositions south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Verschoyle Has Done Much.

C. H. Verschoyle, successful independent oil operator, was the guiding spirit of the expositions of 1922 and 1923 and as the secretary of the two expositions is given much credit for the wonderful growth of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Mr. Verschoyle's wide experience in amusement and fair work was gained in Dallas and other cities. He was for a time connected with the State Fair of Texas, and the local exposition was modeled from the oldest of southwestern expositions. Mr. Verschoyle has devoted much time to the upbuilding of the Texas-Oklahoma fair and has from the time of its organization been one of the most confident workers of the fair association personnel.

J. L. McMahon.

J. L. McMahon, local manager of the Texas company, has been interested in the Texas-Oklahoma fair since its organization. He is a director of the association and has been active in getting petroleum exhibits for the association. Mr. McMahon is one of the best known oil men of the southwest and is prominent in the activities of the fraternity. It is his contention that the fair is of inestimable benefit to the farmers and ranchmen of north Texas and south-east Oklahoma, and should be supported in every way.

T. R. Noble.

T. R. Noble, insurance and hardware and brooms manufacturer, head of the irrigation project, director in the First National bank and director of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, is a pioneer citizen of Wichita county. The various positions he holds with its institutions bespeak the esteem with which he is held in this community. Mr. Noble considers the fair a wonderful enterprise for the upbuilding of northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma.

Frank Quetsner

Four years experience in the automobile business in Wichita Falls, and additional training of considerable length in Dallas before coming to this city are the qualifications of Frank Quetsner, director of the automobile exhibits of the fair.

Coming here in January, 1921, Mr. Quetsner became connected with the Langford Motor Supply company, local Ford dealers. Later he went to the Fritz Motor company, agents for the Marmon, Reo, Hollin and other cars, and still later acquired an interest in the Overland Motor company, local distributors of the Overland and Willys Knight machines. Prior to moving to this city he was district credit manager in Dallas for the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

In addition to his business interests here, Mr. Quetsner has served as president and later as treasurer of the Wichita Falls Automobile Dealers' association, an organization in which he is still active. He has also been a prominent worker in the local Kiwanis club.

He was named as director of the automobile exhibits for the fair when it was first organized in 1922, dropped out in 1923 and was then appointed again to act in that capacity this year.

A. D. Montgomery

A. D. Montgomery, or "Allie" as he is familiarly known, is serving his first term as a department director of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association. He has been given charge of "Stage," and is responsible for that part of the fair's exhibits.

Mr. Montgomery is one of the youngest of the directors. He is one of Wichita Falls native sons, having been born and reared here, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery. He was educated at the University of Texas and Wisconsin, receiving degrees from both institutions. During the war he was a member of the naval air service. Returning to Wichita Falls he took up the practice of law and has been here for the past five years, practicing as a member of the firm, Carrigan and Montgomery.

J. W. Chatham, Jr.

J. W. Chatham, Jr. is the chairman of the traffic committee of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association.

Mr. Chatham has been a resident of Wichita Falls for the past five years, having been connected with the traffic department of the chamber of commerce for the first two and a half years and auditor of the Wichita irrigation project since that time. Previous to coming to Wichita Falls Mr. Chatham was a citizen of Dallas, although he regards Greenville, Texas, as his home.

He has been connected with the traffic department of the fair association since its organization but is serving his first term as chairman of that committee. He lives at 1307 Kemp boulevard.

Bob Waggoner

The name of Waggoner has been connected with the development of Wichita county since Wichita Falls was a mere village. Although Bob Waggoner has lived in Wichita county for many years he is comparatively a new comer to Wichita Falls. His brother, Jeff Waggoner, has lived in Wichita Falls for over 20 years but Bob Waggoner only came to this city after the boom days.

Before coming to Wichita Falls Mr. Waggoner lived in Burkburnett where he farmed near that place. After the Fowler well was struck Mr. Waggoner's land increased in price by leaps and bounds until he was rated as one of the millionaires of north Texas. He moved to Wichita Falls in 1919 and since that time has taken an active part in the development of this city. He is the owner of one of the modern buildings in Wichita Falls, the Bob Waggoner building, located at Eighth and Scott, and in which he makes his headquarters.

W. F. Weeks

Fred Weeks is known all over the southwest because of his fine string of race horses and the nationally known Weeks' stables located south of Wichita Falls. Mr. Weeks is a member of the Weeks & Weeks law firm. He has always taken an active part in the Texas-Oklahoma fair, especially in the horse races in which he enters a string of his own racers each year.

Mr. Weeks is one of the old residents of Wichita Falls as he was here before the boom and has taken an active part in the promotion of Wichita Falls and the development of this community. Mr. Weeks is head of the horses and racing department at the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year.

W. W. Anderson

W. W. Anderson lived in Wichita Falls for many years and during the time that he was in this city he was connected with the Anderson Dry Goods store. Mr. Anderson always took an important part in any development of civic improvement.

Mr. Anderson moved to Burkburnett several months ago and opened a store in that place. Mr. Anderson has many friends in Wichita Falls and was one of the most logical persons in this county to be appointed as a director.

W. C. Young

W. C. Young is one of the pioneer settlers of Archer county and has lived in or near Archer City for many years. Mr. Young has taken an important part in the development of Archer county from the time that county was merely a barren prairie. Mr. Young has been in the ranching business in Archer county since he came to that place and at the present time owns thousands of acres of ranch land in Archer county.

Mr. Young is known throughout the southwest as a breeder of stand and beef cattle. He owns many registered cattle and each year some of his stock is on exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

R. H. Henry

R. H. Henry, like Mr. Waggoner is one of the pioneer settlers of Burkburnett long before the boom of 1918 and has stayed there ever since. He is one of the largest business men in Burkburnett, being owner of the R. H. Henry & company mercantile store, which is one of the largest stores in Burkburnett.

Mr. Henry has watched the development and advancement of Wichita county and is one of the proudest backers of the Texas-Oklahoma fair which he maintains belongs to Burkburnett as much as it does to Wichita Falls.

A. H. Murchison

A. H. Murchison, although he lives in Vernon, is regarded as one of the citizens of Wichita county because of his large oil holdings in this county. Mr. Murchison is one of the big business men of Wilbarger county and has done much to promote the oil industry in that county.

Due to his large holdings in this county Mr. Murchison is in Wichita Falls nearly as much as he is in Vernon and has many friends in this city. As a director of the Texas-Oklahoma fair Mr. Murchison has taken an active part in the business of the fair and has given both his time and effort to make the fair a success.

T. L. Burnett

Burnett is another name that has been known in this part of the state for many years. T. L. (Tom) Burnett is the son of the man that founded Burkburnett and he lived in Wichita county practically all his life. Mr. Burnett is one of the largest ranch holders in the state and the Burnett ranch is famous all over the southwest.

Mr. Burnett is also well known because of the famous Burnett rodeos that have been given on his ranch near Iowa Park. Mr. Burnett lives in a beautiful home that was recently built near Iowa Park and directs his business from that place.

Burl Bryant

Burl Bryant, director of the educational exhibits, has been identified with the schools of north Texas since 1913. Since 1920 he has been county superintendent of Wichita county schools, and prior to that time had been a teacher in Vernon, at Burkburnett and other points.

Born in Cook county, Mr. Bryant moved to Montague county early in life. He was educated in the schools there and took a B. A. degree at the University of Texas after completing his common school term. Later he attended the University of Chicago and graduated with an M. A. degree.

Teaching in the public schools of Vernon and Burkburnett, with service as superintendent of the latter in 1916 and 1917 was followed by his enlistment in the army during the world war. He was with the 36th division and following his discharge came to Wichita Falls in the fall of 1919, teaching in the local high school during the school term of 1919 and 1920.

In the spring of 1920 he was elected county superintendent and has retained that position since. This is his first year as educational director of the fair.

Klan Konvention In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY. — Five thousand klansmen, representing the various realms, provinces and klantons in the United States, will convene in Kansas City, Sept. 23, 24 and 25 for the second imperial klonvokation of the ku klux klan, according to a statement issued here by George C. McCarron, imperial representative of the knights of the klan.

"There will be no parade or demonstration of any kind staged in connection with the klonvokation," says Mr. McCarron's statement. "It convenes for the sole purpose of handling the official business of the organization."

The klonvokation is the sole legislative body of the order, according to Mr. McCarron, and meets biennially to transact the business of the organization.

He's Converted After Tour In New Flint Six

A pioneer Flint Six Forty touring car has reached the Pacific coast in the first transcontinental run that this new model of the Flint Six line has attempted. H. C. Linder of Bay City, Mich., was recently the purchaser of a new touring car, and in the first flush of ownership pride in a car that gave promise of splendid performance, together with his two sons, he started for San Francisco via the Lincoln highway.

Following his arrival in San Francisco, Linder expressed himself as converted to transcontinental touring with the observation that in the present state of road construction it is no great feat to drive across the country.

No Trouble at All.

Linder's car, the Flint Six Forty, is a slightly smaller companion model to the Flint Six 55, which has been so successful in the quality six class. The Forty motor easily negotiated the grades encountered in crossing the Rockies and balloon tires, which are standard equipment on the Flint Forty, added greatly to the comfort of touring.

Mr. Linder's own words perhaps best describe his trip: "Along certain sections of the route we encountered rough stretches of road," said Linder, "but there should be no trouble for anyone in a trip such as we have just completed. The only trouble we had was a puncture. I picked up a nail on the outskirts of Eurada, Nevada, and had to make a tire change in the hot sun. Otherwise the long trip was just a pleasure jaunt."

After spending a week in Oakland and San Francisco, Linder and his sons intend to drive down the valley to San Diego and back up the coast over the Redwood highway, then crossing over to the Pacific highway, visiting Portland, Oregon, and Seattle and Spokane, Washington. A final trip through Yellowstone park will head the party in the direction of their home in Michigan.

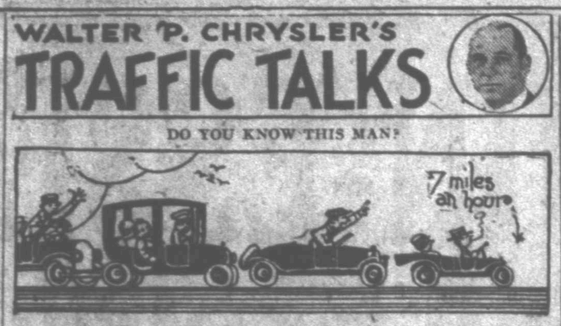

SMITHFIELD ENTERS.

Trimble and Son to Show Purebreds in T-O Fair Exhibition.

Walter L. Trimble and Sons, Smithfield, Texas, are sending several Jersey cattle to the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, inclusive, according to George D. Keith, director and superintendent of the cattle department of the exposition.

The Trimble entry is headed by Eminent's Gold Jelly, Sultana's Prett-

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

DO YOU KNOW THIS MAN?

He is the road mope. He likes to travel along about 7 miles an hour. He is more of a menace sometimes than the speeder.

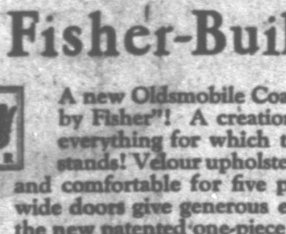

IF FOUND IN COURT

W. Bruce Cobb, associate magistrate, traffic court, New York, offers this advice to the motorist who finds himself in court:

"Don't be afraid to speak up distinctly in court. If you are guilty, say so and briefly state any explanation or excuse. Usually in a simple case, strict attention to what the court says and the aid that the court will give you and your witness will enable you to present your defense without a lawyer.

"If you feel annoyed by the decision, remember that it is not always easy to do exact justice. If you feel especially outraged, don't show your contempt for the court; conceal it. If necessary, appeal. But, most of all, don't let any unfortunate court experience of your own turn you into an enemy of traffic enforcement."

BE THOUGHTFUL

Ever meet this person? He insists upon using the middle of the road whether coming or going. He's a pest. Don't be one!

Such a motorist is not only thoughtless but he is also a menace at times.

ALWAYS BE REASONABLE

In motoring—as in all things—be reasonable.

If you have the right of way be reasonable.

To insist upon the right of way even though it may be yours legally, may result in an accident. The other man may be reckless. Regardless of the right of way rule for your locality:

Give the right of way to a street car between cross streets.

Give the right of way to fire fighting vehicles and to ambulances.

Give the right of way to police and emergency vehicles.

Give the right of way to the pedestrian who has reached your line of intersection.

ty Irene and Eminent's Pretty Edna.

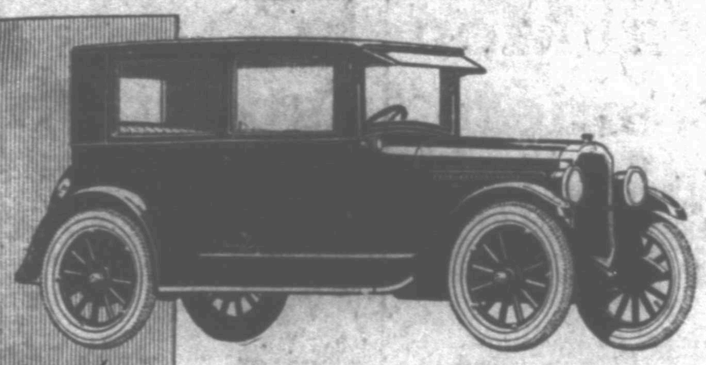

The Jersey division of the cattle department will be the largest ever shown in northwest Texas or southern Oklahoma, Keith stated.

FAIR WEEK, FAIR WEATHER

Weather Man Predicts Clear And Warm for Big Exposition.

The week of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, September 29-October 5, inclusive, will be fair and warm. The days will be pleasant and the nights moderately warm for this time of the year, according to various weather prophets.

Advance weather reports are to the effect that no storm periods are to be expected over the southwest until the third week of October. Local showers are predicted in the Gulf Coast states from October 9 to 11.

Must Have More Protection at Grade Crossings

That 8,582 persons were killed at railroad grade crossings during 1923, an increase of 20 per cent over 1922, is the official announcement of the U. S. bureau of public roads. This finding has led the bureau, under the firm conviction that the ever increasing volume of traffic on American highways must be met with increased protection, to insist upon the elimination of grade crossings on federal aid projects wherever practicable. Many dangerous crossing have already been eliminated with the co-operation of state highway departments through the construction of steel or concrete overhead crossings or underpass and by relocating the highway so as to avoid crossing and recrossing railroad tracks. In some cases as many as eight crossings on a single road have been eliminated.

Removing Planks.

Where crossings cannot be eliminated the railroad engineers are removing the dangerous planks which heretofore have been a feature of railroad and highway intersections and which, by reason of working loose and springing upward, often cause accidents. In many localities the practice now is to replace the wooden crossings with asphaltic concrete paving which is firm, though resilient; which can be readily and cheaply installed without detours and which affords ready access to the subgrade for the replacement of rails and cross ties. The asphalt crossings are laid and repaired by the cold patch method, the materials being mixed either by hand or by machine. The material is affected but slightly by climatic changes. It remains firm and tough and will not push in summer or crack in winter. The work is usually done by the section gangs of the railroads themselves. When completed the crossings afford easy riding over the tracks without jar or unpleasantness of any kind.

Develops New Type.

The state of North Carolina, which is spending $76,000,000 for the development of a state motor road system embracing 6,189 miles, of which 60 per cent must be rebuilt outright, last year completed 223 miles of portland cement concrete roads at cost of $7,400,000 or an average of $33,000 a mile, and 187 miles of asphaltic concrete road at a cost of $6,000,000 or $32,000 a mile. In addition, the highway department constructed 21 miles of sand asphalt, and 39 miles of asphaltic macadam, making 247 miles of asphalt construction, all told 41 miles of water bound macadam at $690,000 or $16,800 a mile were also constructed. Construction this year includes a greater mileage of asphalt roads as in Charlotte county, for instance, where 21 miles of asphalt are being laid. The city of Charlotte, too, is laying 211,000 square yards of asphalt pavement.

More than 200 state projects are now under construction in North Carolina, not to speak of double that many local projects that are being developed for the counties. Thus far the state has used 152,000 carloads of crushed stone, sand and cement and 7,000 tons of structural steel, asphalt, etc. In 1920, when the program was launched road construction averaged $40,000 per mile. Today it costs an average of $28,000 a mile, owing largely to the development within the state of a new type of paving known as sand asphalt, a type, which, according to Frank Page, chairman of the state highway commission, is proving eminently satisfactory and much cheaper to construct. The sand asphalt paving is laid in a double course without a stone foundation.

Divides Traffic.

The California highway commission has adopted the procedure of painting a white line down the center of its great trunk line highways as a safety precaution to motorists. This line splits the pavement into two lines of traffic and goes far toward guilding motorists and preventing traffic blockades and collisions, particularly at night. This white line is very effective in contrast with the black asphalt pavements which make up a considerable portion of California's highways.

A very simple and effective device is used for painting the lines on the pavement. It consists of a paint receptacle carried on a three-wheeled hand truck with a hose leading from the receptacle to a paint brush attached to the front of the device and just back of the front wheel. The brush applies the paint to the surface of the pavement and a second brush attached a few inches back of the front one spreads the paint to the proper width.

A red line is chalked on the pavement ahead of the paint spreader for the purpose of guiding the operator of the painting machine. Then a truck carrying wooden stands follows the painting machine and the stands are placed at intervals of fifteen feet to prevent motorists from driving across the freshly painted lines. The stands are removed after the paint has dried.

Tennessee, one of the most recent southern states to embark upon a program of good roads construction, has a total of 967.98 miles of improved highways completed or under construction, according to J. C. Crevsling, state highway commissioner. In the state system, when completed, there will be 4,176 miles.

Since the first of the year 217.22 miles have been contracted for at a total of $3,439,234. Of the 967.98 already completed or under construction 98.98 miles are of Portland cement concrete, 511.35 miles are of sheet asphalt, asphaltic concrete or asphalt macadam, 22.90 miles are of surface treated macadam, 37.68 are of water bound macadam, 130.42 are gravel and chert, and 140.70 miles are graded and drained. Fifteen and one-half miles consist of base only.

ENTRIES POURING IN.

Every Mail Brings More Shows For Texas-Oklahoma Fair.

Every mail is bringing entries for the Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 28-October 5, inclusive. Exhibitors from many states will have displays at the exposition this year, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

In the art department there will be displays from Illinois, New York, Louisiana and other states. In the cattle department entries have been received from several of the midwestern states. The poultry department is expected to have entries from two-thirds of the states in the union.

A force of workmen are cleaning the buildings in preparation for the seven days and all exhibits will be in place.

Explorer Picks Chrysler Six for 10,000 Mile Tour of United States

When Lowell Thomas, one of the world's greatest explorers, an American whose name is associated with that of Amundsen and Nansen, wanted a motor car in which to make a 3 months' 10,000-mile motor tour of the United States, he looked the field over carefully. Thomas, although but 32, has been around the world four times and has seen nearly every make of automobile under almost every conceivable condition. Upon his return to America recently from two years in India, Tibet, Afghanistan, Baluchistan, Waziristan and Malaya, he at once became interested in the Chrysler six. An engineer with a rival company described this car as being conventional only to the extent that it used gasoline for fuel and had four wheels. In every way, Thomas was told, the car was in advance of anything on the market. Thomas investigated for himself. He subjected a Chrysler six to every possible hardship. And in the end he selected that car to make his epoch-making trip—a journey that might be described as "Seeing America Last," inasmuch as Thomas has been in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, in fact everywhere with the exception of South America.

It was of Thomas that Lord Northcliffe said he say more of the world war than any other one man. He was on all fronts with the exception of the eastern. He was the only American observer with Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, the deliverer of the Holy Land. He was with Colonel Thomas Lawrence during the historic Arabian campaign. He was in Germany during the revolution.

Thomas was born in Ohio, educated in Colorado, Indiana and Illinois, and was a newspaper man in Colorado and Chicago. He was at one time a member of the faculty of Princeton university.

Learning to Drive Easy for Novice

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—No American car buyer need fear for his safety by reason of his motoring inexperience, according to Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association. The twenty-two years of A. A. A. experience, with every phase of motoring is at the tyro's disposal, he says.

This point, a statement by Mr. Henry shows, is being emphasized at this time because of considerable unfair criticism aimed at the new comer. The A. A. A. takes the position that a new driver today is safer than a new driver ten years ago because granting that he is conscientious and willing to be guided accordingly, there is just so much more experience at his disposal.

"With A. A. A. touring service a comparatively 'green' car owner can now undertake extensive journeys via motor in the knowledge that he will be spared nine-tenths of the annoyances of inexperience," Mr. Henry points out. "If he is a member of his local Three A's club he is entitled to service in practically all the important American cities. He is bound to experience a feeling of confidence in his touring as a consequence for the association has done the pathfinding for him.

Early Experiences.

"The early motorist stood the expense of much experimentation. He lost his way in the wilderness of inadequate and misleading roads. He had more grade crossing to negotiate, and with far less intelligent watchmen service as well. He could be risking great dangers in his driving because there was no one to say 'Don't' and no one to explain why. His taxation was producing no tangible results in the way of road building. He might be honestly endeavoring to drive carefully yet be caught in the many speed traps that existed in the days before the motor clubs cleaned them out.

"It was not easy to become a driver in the days when every motorist had to make his own experience as he went along. Today it is all very different. He goes to his motor club for expert advice, and even if he is not so progressive as to see the need for co-operation with his fellow car owners he is enjoying the advantages of A. A. A. experience at every hand."

Blaze Auto Trail West In Canada

Across mighty snow-capped mountain peaks and yawning precipices, over raging mountain streams and through the heart of deepest canyon hitherto impassable except on sure footed horses, E. S. Evans and A. F. Bement of Detroit have driven by automobile from Winnipeg in Manitoba to Vancouver in British Columbia.

In honor of the fact that theirs was the first motor car ever to complete an all-Canadian run across the Canadian Rockies to Vancouver, Evans and Bement upon their arrival in Victoria, B. C., were presented with a medal by the premier of British Columbia, the honorable John Oliver.

Throughout the journey across the mountains, from the time they left the new Banff-Windemere highway in the province of Alberta to the time they made their exit from the famous Fraser canyon in British Columbia, the intrepid trail blazers encountered many perils. During this section of the run, Evans and Bement were compelled to drive on the tracks of the Canadian National railroad through seventeen tunnels and over twenty-seven trestles.

The men started from Winnipeg on August 21 and reached Victoria on September 8th. The run was made under the joint auspices of the Lincoln and Canadian Highway associations for the purpose of laying an all-Canadian transcontinental route. The car they drove was a Packard.

E. S. Evans, who is one of the founders of the Lincoln Highway association, is best known perhaps as the inventor of automobile loading devices and improved methods of shipment reputed to have saved American motorists $20,000,000 in the last eight years. He is president of the E. S. Evans company of Detroit and vice-president of the Buick Alemite corporation, makers of the Alemite high pressure lubricating system. A. F. Bement is vice-president and secretary of the Lincoln Highway association.

Little Thelma To Have Party

The Texas-Oklahoma Fair has planned a birthday party for little Thelma. There will be a big cake with four candles—but you must bring Thelma a birthday present. You never could guess what Thelma wants for a present so we will have to tell you. Thelma doesn't care for fancy presents, all she wants is—a paper bag of peanuts.

She will be dressed up, too. She will wear a blanket of purple velvet. She will have her toes manicured and hide all rubbed smooth with olive oil.

Last year Thelma had a birthday party at the Iowa State Fair and her keeper stated she was very happy. Unlike most elephants Thelma is fond of children and grown ups, but she doesn't like dogs or cats. Her keeper says she has a good disposition—but not when a dog or cat is around.

And Thelma will be awaiting you at the fair grounds on "Children's Day," and she is going to expect all little boys and girls to attend her party.

New York Buys White Trucks

The city of New York has placed another large order for motor trucks with The White company, bringing the total of the city's White truck fleet up to 705, by far the largest fleet of trucks of one make in municipal service. The contract just awarded by New York calls for 75 White heavy-duty units with power dumping bodies. The trucks will be used by the street cleaning department.

New York has invested heavily in motor equipment within recent years, the present order recalling the purchase of 212 White 5-ton trucks in 1920 and subsequent purchase of Whites in lots ranging from 10 to 135.

Motor trucks have revolutionized municipal service in New York and are recognized by the city's executives as a factor of the highest value in civic progress. The present fleet of 705 Whites serves more than a dozen municipal departments and bureaus. It has grown from one White truck purchased by the New York fire department in 1911. Until 1920 motorization continued slowly and then came a record-breaking snow storm that brought a 12-day traffic tie-up and complete paralysis of street cleaning equipment, which so forcibly pointed to the economic need of motor apparatus that the department of street cleaning purchased 212 White trucks, the largest single purchase of trucks of one make by a municipality. Growth of the White fleet since then has been steady and consistent.

The street cleaning department alone, will have in use 322 Whites with the delivery of the 75 new units. The trucks are used for flushing 1,600 miles of paved streets in the three boroughs served by the department, for disposal of waste material and snow removal. The motor trucks have effected big savings to the city for where 32,000 men formerly were required to cope with a New York snow storm, motor equipment now performs the work with 13,000 to 17,000 men and what is of equal or greater importance, the streets are kept open for traffic, and loss to business averted.

Official records of the city show that White trucks have always given dependable and continuous service.

North Carolina Taking Care of Its Road Work

With the determination to have the best roads that its funds will build and to see that its roads are constructed in strict accordance with its specifications the North Carolina highway department, with the help of its chemist, R. L. Oberholser, has advanced the science of road construction to the point where all guesswork has been eliminated as to uniform density in pavement construction.

Even when the materials are mixed according to specifications and the surface looks good, the mixture which has gone into the road may fail through lack of proper compression. Mr. Oberholser meets this situation by insisting upon daily density tests of the finished pavement.

Get Detailed Reports.

From each road project in the state the chemical laboratory of the state highway department at Raleigh receives daily a piece of the pavement drilled from the day's lay. If the laboratory test reveals that the workmen have been lax and there is insufficient density the work on the project under investigation is stopped immediately. Poor construction cannot continue on any road in the state longer than 24 hours. After the cause of the trouble is ascertained the work proceeds. If necessary the stretch of roadway showing insufficient density is torn up and relaid. The tests sometimes save, it is estimated, as much as $12,000 a mile later in road repairs. As a result of methods such as these North Carolina now has some of the best bituminous motor roads in the world.

No state in the union is showing a better record for low cost of maintenance on its state highway system than Massachusetts. The impressive showing of only 1.17 cents per square yard for maintaining 1,742,166 square yards of asphaltic concrete pavements during 1923 is considered by engineers to be remarkable in view of the fact that the roads have been in service for many years. The rate of 1.17 cents per square yard is equivalent to $124 a mile for an eighteen-foot roadway.

On the asphaltic macadam roads of the state, which are older, even than the state roads that are paved with asphaltic concrete and are of lighter construction, the average cost during 1923 for the maintenance of 3,079,610 square yards was only 2.85 cents per square yard or $302 per mile of eighteen-foot roadway. The state has tried 1.7 miles of tar concrete construction which has shown a cost for maintenance of 4.99 cents per square yard.

The roads constructed in Massachusetts in 1923 included 32 miles of Portland cement concrete pavement, 107 miles of the asphaltic types, one mile of water bound macadam and 39 miles of gravel.

Among the states to embark recently upon extensive road building programs is West Virginia which has about completed 1,926.25 miles of improved motor roads. Of this mileage 982.86 miles are of graded earth, 98.41 miles are of gravel, 71.05 miles are water bound macadam, 131.32 miles are of brick, 311.62 miles are of Portland cement concrete and 407 miles are of asphalt. The new contracts let this spring show a more pronounced trend toward the asphaltic types of construction.

Paige-Jewett In Strong Financial Shape, Head Says

Co-incident with an article published recently in the nation's leading financial newspaper (Wall Street Journal) in which it is pointed out that "the ratio of current assets to current liabilities is more than three to one" referring to the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company's sound financial position, Harry M. Jewett, president calls attention to the sound condition of the company's dealer organization.

Records of stock (new cars) in Paige and Jewett dealers' hands show that on the average there are two and one-half Jewett and three-quarter Paige cars per dealer, according to Mr. Jewett. He also points out that this includes cars on showroom floor and demonstrators, both of which usually are not included in records of this kind.

Seven of Each.

Should every dealer carry a full line of cars he would have on hand seven Jewetts and seven Paiges," says the Paige company head. "Of course, at no time does every member of our big dealer organization keep one of each model on hand.

"The Paige-Detroit Motor Car company has no cars in storage, having only the normal day to day supply to meet shiping requirements. Further, during the month of July stocks in dealers' hands were decreased 2400 new cars, 300 of which were Paige cars and 2100 Jewett cars.

This means that Paige and Jewett dealers sold during the month 2400 more new cars than were shipped from the factory. The present stock of cars per dealer is as low as the company has ever had under normal conditions.

Is Well Equipped.

"With the bringing out of the Proven Jewett, and its record of a billion miles of service behind it, the dealer organization is wonderfully well equipped from a financial standpoint to materially increase its present large volume of business.

"Our records, obtained from dealers reports also show less capital tied up in used cars than at the same period last year. There is every indication that the automobile industry and the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company especially will enjoy a larger volume of business this fall than during the same period of any other past year."

Radiator Care Important for Success of Car

"Every motorist should give special attention to his radiator during the winter months," suggests Bill Robertson, sales manager Parmenter Motor Co., local dealer in Stars and Durants. "Neglect of this vital part of his car will result in much annoyance and expense.

"To prevent damage to both motor and radiator, an anti-freeze solution should be used. However, before employing the anti-freeze, the radiator should be thoroughly washed out with a solution of lye water to remove the scale or mud accumulated from the driving of summer months.

"There are many patented anti-freeze solutions, but we recommend a mixture of alcohol with water. By using such a mixture you will avoid running the risk of rusted radiator or cylinder trouble.

"In deciding the correct mixture for different temperatures, this table may be followed:

Wood Alcohol.

Ten per cent, 18 degrees F. above; 20 per cent, 5 degrees above; 30 per cent, 9 degrees below; 40 per cent, 23 degrees below; 50 per cent, 36 degrees below.

Denatured Alcohol.

Ten per cent, 24 degrees F. above; 20 per cent, 16 degrees above; 30 per cent, 7 degrees above; 40 per cent, 2 degrees below.

"Since alcohol evaporates more quickly than water, it is best to add equal parts when the solution in the radiator is low. A good suggestion is to add a pint of glycerine when filling the radiator for the glycerine will float on top of the solution and prevent rapid evaporation of alcohol.

"During the winter months, the radiator should be protected. A leather cover or a blanket are suitable for this use.

"More attention also should be paid to the battery and generator. In the winter with the shorter days and longer nights, the charge is not kept going like in the summer time so the reliability is not the same.

Mitchell Joins Marmon Staff

Robert K. Mitchell, for nine years with the Maxwell Chrysler corporation, Detroit, Michigan, has joined the Nordyke & Marmon company as production superintendent, according to an announcement made by G. M. Williams, president of the company.

At the time Mr Mitchell resigned to accept the position with the Marmon company he was director of planning of the Maxwell-Chrysler corporations. He has been connected with the automotive industry in various capacities since 1909. He served as assistant tool foreman of the Buick company for one year and for three years was tool superintendent of the Studebaker corporation. For a time he was with the Eureka company, North East, Pa., manufacturers of electrical supplies and was with the McRae & Roberts company of Detroit, brass manufacturers.

An idea of the importance of Mr. Mitchell's duties with the Nordyke & Marmon company may be gained from the recent announcement by Mr. Williams that the program of the company for 1924 contemplates increasing the production of Marmon cars 50 per cent over the volume attained last year. Rearrangement of the factory to conform to the larger production plan is now complete. The new program will require an outlay for materials and labor alone of $9,500,000.

Irish Company to Sell Flint Cars

Announcement has just been made by Wm. E. Holler, vice-president and general manager of the Flint Motor company, that the Flint six line of cars will be merchandised and serviced in Ireland by the Clanwilliam Motors, Ltd., of Dublin.

This company of which James A. Campbell is managing director has had a most remarkable growth, and since acquiring several months ago the old established business of Messrs. Harry Ferguson, Ltd., is recognized as being the largest distributor of motor cars in Ireland.

Following a conference with Wm. E. Holler at the Flint Motor company—at which time he thoroughly inspected the Flint plant and the quality materials and skilled workmanship which go into the car—Mr. Campbell stated that arrangements had been completed whereby Clanwilliam, Ltd., would represent the Flint Motor company, in Ireland.

"For some time," said Mr. Campbell, when interviewed at the Flint plant, "we have merchandised the Durant car in Ireland, and we find that our people are very quick to realize the merits of this motor. Since observing so many Flint cars in England and in numerous continental cities, and after having carefully inspected the design and construction of the Flint car, we predict a splendid reception in our country for this latest Durant achievement."

Salary Amount Gauges Autos

"Should I or should I not buy a car until I can pay cash for the entire cost of it" is a point of discussion wherever the subject of automobiles or traffic conditions com s up, according to the experience that Howard Gwynn, manager of the Gwynn Motor company, had on his vacation.

"I was glad to notice that the affirmative side of the question was the most popular side and that in the end practically everyone admitted the justification of buying on time. It did not make any difference whether the prospective purchaser was in the market for a Chevrolet or a car of a much higher price. The principles that applied to one applied to all—and rightly so. The big point to keep in mind is the ratio between the monthly terms of payment and the monthly income of the particular person. No one should buy a car of a higher price than he can really afford to pay for out of his earnings."

One of the quickest things that happen in this world is the way the promoters of a 100 per cent movement lost interest in saving the country from its perils as soon as the initiation fees began falling off.

Never Had the Public Dreamed of Such Cars

The Chrysler Six — The Good MAXWELL

Pronounced as though spelled Cry-sler

All of the startling and sensational news is not "played up" on the first pages of the newspapers. The Chrysler Six is, next to the invention of the motor itself, perhaps the most remarkable advance in personal transportation.

With the creation of the Chrysler Six there was accomplished an all-important evolution in motor cars no less valuable than the original invention of the automobile.

This is a statement best proved by actual performance. The boldest possible claims are frankly and emphatically made for this new quality light six.

A brute for strength—where strength is vital. As finely built as the finest car—where close measurements are called for.

A car that in all important parts is unsurpassed in any class—a car that is stronger and sturdier in proportion to weight and power than cars costing two and three times its price—that is the good Maxwell, and that is why the Maxwell is so unusually good.

It gives economical, care-free service, with easy riding and easy handling, which cannot be equaled at anywhere near its price. From an investment standpoint you'll discover no financial flaws.

CHURCHES PLAN KIDDIES' WEEK

Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists and Christians Unite In October

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. — Four of the leading evangelical denominations south of the Mason and Dixon line, Southern Presbyterian, Southern Methodist, Southern Baptist and Christian, will co-operate in celebrating children's week some time during October, it is announced by Miss Minnie E. Kennedy, secretary of elementary work of the general Sunday school board of the M. E. church, south.

While no date in October has been set, it is generally undestood the majority of the churches will hold children's week the third week in October. A simultaneous observance of this week has been suggested for all the participating denominations in the large cities.

According to Miss Kennedy, the aim of children's week is to bring together parents, Sunday school officers and teachers, that they may consider needs of the children and determine ways of meeting these needs.

Three features of the week especially stressed are parents' meetings, home visitation and the "forward steps" by which special movements for the general good of the children are emphasized by the various congregations.

Special leaflets giving plans and programs for children's week have been prepared for use by Sunday school workers of the M. E. church, south, and are ready for distribution at the Methodist publishing houses in Nashville, Tenn., Dallas, Texas, Richmond, Va., and San Francisco, Calif.

Doomed Sailors Set Afloat Laconic Words of Farewell

NAGASAKI, Japan. — A grim message of farewell from the Nippon Yusen Kaisha freighter Matsuyama Maru, which foundered and went down with 57 men the night of July 11 about 150 miles southwest of Nagasaki, has been picked up off Kyushu. A lifeboat, almost the only trace of the ill fated vessel picked up by searching ships, was found, bearing the words, "The Matsuyama Maru has gone to her death."

There was only one survivor of the Matsuyama Maru, a stoker named Fukuoka, who was picked up off a raft after eight days with no food and little water.

League's Library Draws Research

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA. — The League of Nations is becoming an important centre of research for American scholars. The library and archives of the league contain a constantly increasing wealth of information, due to the fact that the organization's activities are growing and are taking on ramifications which embrace pertinent modern problems in all parts of the world, civilized and uncivilized. The official registration of all treaties alone constitutes a helpful feature for men and women engaged in serious research.

Among the Americans who have recently conducted research work at the league secretariat is Miss Alanda Comstock, a professor of Mt. Holyoke college, who has specialized in public finance. Professor James Bonbright, of Columbia university, is here studying the economic reconstruction of Europe in general and finds the league library up to date on all questions pertaining to his subject.

Holland Seeks to Remove Mistaken Ideas of Kingdom

By The Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM.—Antiquated ideas about Holland that prevail abroad and often move the present generation of Dutch people to mild resentment, have at last been tracked to their origin.

A learned society which has made a thorough investigation into the current geokraphical text books and manuals used in elementary and secondary schools in all civilized countries of the world, has published a report which discloses that most of them are about 100 years behind the times.

Horse drawn canal bargest, for instances, are still given as the popular mode of locomotion in Holland, and while references to cows and windmills are plentiful, the books are silent on the development of modern Dutch Dairy farming and other industries of the country. In one instance, a text book drew a picture of Dutch conditions as they existed 300 years ago.

The society in question has appointed a committee to remedy this state of things by vigorous efforts abroad to bring knowledge about present-day Holland somewhat more up to date.

ELUSIVE BRIDE HARD TO FIND

Girl Disappears Twice On Eve of Wedding At Harlingen

By The Associated Press.

HARLINGEN, Texas. — Hidalgo county officers have been searching this week for an elusive bride-to-be who has twice disappeared since stealing from her parents home at 4 o'clock in the morning to carry out an elopement agreement with Tomasso Famlugo. The would-be bridegroom is being held behind prison bars in the county jail at Edinburg and gives a pathetic recital of how he lost his bride.

Not having a vehicle to carry them to the justice of the peace, the couple started walking down the road from the senorita's home. After three miles had been covered the girl became tired and they halted at a vacant farm house to rest and decide what to do.

After discussing the situation it was agreed the bride should continue a brief rest while Tomasso went in search of a jitney. A neighbor a half mile distant was prevailed upon to carry the couple to Edinburg, where they could be married, but when the anxious swain returned with the jitney no trace of the girl could be found.

The jitney driver was released from his contract and the disappointed young man went back to his home, but took care to keep out of sight for a day or so fearing the angry parents of the girl.

In the meantime the girl's parents had discovered the elopment and with neighbors were making anxious inquiries, until Tomasso came out of hiding to find out about the trouble. He told about the elopement fiasco and was arrested and brought to jail in Edinburg. The sheriff's office detailed Deputy Dennett to investigate the case and in a short time the officer learned by following the girl's footprints from the vacant house that she had gone across the fields to the home of some friends.

It was learned that she had remained there for the day and gone to McAllen with the family that night. When they parked their car to go to a motion picture show the girl was left in the car to await their return. When they came back to the car she had disappeared and has not since been seen by her friends. Officers in McAllen have been hunting for the girl and Tomasso, in jail, is anxious that she be found and that the wedding may be celebrated.

Black Gold In Training for Oct. 11

LATONIA, Ky.—The Latonia International special, to be run here Oct. 11 over a mile and a quarter, is the jewel the trainers of Black Gold are pointing him for as fitting supplement to the crown of four derbies already won by him. The coal black son of Black Toney and Useeit is quartered at the track here where he will remain until the last of a series of three international races which the famous French race horse Epinard will run, have been staged.

Entrance to the unpretentious stall of the horse is closely guarded by a dog on whose face is unmistakably hung a "not welcome" sign. This dog is Black Gold's close companion and wherever the horse goes the dog usually can be found near at hand.

Moscow Cabarets Dull With Profiteers in Exile

MOSCOW.—The wholesale deportation to Siberia and the north of profiteers and others, has had a bad effect on the Russian restaurants and night-life resorts. Whereas a year ago Moscow was as gay with smart restaurants, cabarets and cafes as the liveliest American city, it is today as dull and depressing as a New England village on a Blue Sunday.

It is not an uncommon sight nowadays to find more waiters in a Moscow restaurant than actual patrons. This is due partly to the disappearance of the profiteers, who were the most regular and liberal frequenters of the restaurants, and partly to a fear on the part of those left behind that they may share a like fate if they give evidence of having sufficient money to patronize the more expensive eating places.

After partaking of expensive repasts at Moscow's best restaurants, Russian business and professional men have undergone the experience of being cros-examined by police officers as to how they came into possession of sufficient money to patronize such extravagant caravanseries.

Ford's Mammoth Plants a Marvel Of Modern Manufacturing Ideas, Says Wichitans Back From Inspection

Claud Red, salesmanager, Langford Motor Co., Ford and Lincoln dealer, returned home last week from a visit to Detroit with the latest Ford story.

"The Ford story, in a word," said Mr. Red, "is one of the vast resources, unmatched by any other industry in my age, applied to the manufacture of cars, trucks and tractors with an efficiency and economy such as no other manufacturing institution has ever attempted.

"My trip to the automobile capital has painted a clearer picture than ever before of just what the Ford Motor company means to everyone who owns, wants to own or should own an automobile.

Detroit a Ford Port.

"Detroit, is, of course, the central, focal point of the picture, where iron from Ford mines and lumber from the Ford timber tracts and saw mills in northern Michigan are fabricated into mankind's most efficient servants, at the Highland Park, River Rouge and Lincoln plants. The ore is carried Ford ships from Ford Iron mines in the northern peninsula of Michigan directly up the River Rouge to the Rouge plant, coal for the operation of these vast activities is brought from the Ford mines in West Virginia and Kentucky.

"The River Rouge plant, which is already the world's largest industrial unit, is located just west of Detroit, covering a plant area of 1,100 acres on the banks of the river for which it is named, and where but half a dozen years ago there was only wind-swept prairie and swamp land.

"Here the blast furnaces, the world's largest foundry, steel furnaces, the Fordson plant, body plants, glass factory, and by-produces plants which are the marvels of the industrial economy.

"An electrical steel furnace having a capacity of 40-60 tons is the latest achievement at the Rouge. Besides it is the foundation for a second one, and close by two similar furnaces of 75 ton capacity. These combined with the giant 600 ton blast furnaces form a foundry unit such as has never been seen before in combination in a single plant.

"The Rouge power plant, even now a marvel, will, when completed, have a total electrical capacity of 240,000 kilowatts generated at 13,200 volts by eight turbo-generators.

Unusual Economies.

"Probably no feature of the Ford industries is more interesting than the unusual economies that are effected at the various plants. At the Rouge plant, for instance, there is a sintering plant at work on the job of converting a mountain of 50,000 tons of blast furnace dust into iron, which later go into motor castings. This dust, half iron, ore and half coke is the collection of three years operations at the Rouge.

"An amazing illustration of industrial economy is afforded in the great coke ovens at the Rouge plant. In addition to a daily production of 4,000 tons of coke, these ovens every day produce 24,000,000 cubic feet of gas, 22,000 gallons of benzol, 55,000 pounds of ammonium sulphate, 17,000 pounds of tar and 6,200 gallons of refined light oil. All these by-products are used in the manufacture of automobiles except ammonium sulphate which is sold as fertilizer.

"A paper mill at the Rouge plant is, for the first time in history of paper making, producing paper pulp from hard wood scrap by the soda process, and a cement plant with a daily capacity of 1,000 barrels of cement from blast furnace slag, effects new and important economy.

"Salvage operations are differentiated from by-product manufacturing are conducted by the most unique department among all the countless departments. The 'general salvage department' is all that the name implies. Its 417 members are salvage themselves, reclaimed from operations about the plants for which they were unfitted by ill-health, or other handicaps. Every month this group of men save the Ford Motor company a million dollars by tackling any and every salvage job from the mending of a broken mop pail to the overhauling of an entire factory building.

Lots of Lumber Saved

"More than 90,000,000 board feet of lumber are saved from the scrap heap by this department annually. As an example of the lengths to which this department goes in its crusade against waste, used developing solutions from the vats of the Ford motion picture laboratories are treated with chemicals and $5,000 worth of silver reclaimed every year from the silve properties left in the photographic processes.

"In the production of automobiles, the Ford Motor company presents two extremes, quantity output of a lowest transportation unit, the Ford, and the manufacture of a motor car of exceptionally high quality, the Lincoln.

"Limits of precision entering into the building of the Lincoln, as you may learn by a visit to the Lincoln plant, are not duplicated anywhere else in the world. Between two and a half and three thousandths of an inch is the thickness of the average human hair and there are in the Lincoln more than 5,000 operations where manufacturing limits are set at one one-thousandth of an inch, more than 1,200 in which the limits are held to one half of a thousandth of an inch, and 300 in which the limits are a quarter of a thousandth. In eight other operations even this fine limit is reduced.

"Machines of the very latest design are used in the manufacture of Lincoln parts and these, for the most part, are now housed in one great machine shop, a new one-story addition to the plant, and large enough, if they were turned into a garage, to accomodate more than 3,000 Lincoln cars.

"Leaving the Lincoln plant, with its slowly progressive manufacturing process, one may travel over to the Highland Park plant and there behold more and different industrial accomplishments.

"The motoring public knows that Ford parts are interchangeable but no one realizes until visiting the Highland plant where these parts are finished, just what interchangeability means, and what it demands from the manufacturer. Over 2 per cent of the Highland Park plant force are inspectors, who see to it that the Ford high quality standards are carried into every single part.

"The manufacturer of more than 7,500 Ford Motors daily presents staggering production figures and calls for the highest degree in each manufacturing operation, a most essential element in quantity output.

"These great machine shops, where rough forgings and castings are transplanted into highly finished products and where everything is continually on the move along extensive conveyer systems, are at first a maze to the visitor. But soon he realizes the orderliness of it all and a full appreciation of how high quality comes automatically in quantity production. He sees each unit or division completing its particular work and sending its product on to the assembly departments.

From Tin to Ford.

"Along the motor assembly line the visitor sees the motor block start at one end and grow, piece by piece, until at the other end it emerges a complete Ford motor.

"These Ford motors undergo the most exacting. No human agency is permitted to pass upon the final fitness of the individual motor.

"Each is operated by electricity and under the supervision of an expert, while in a room separate and apart from this, the delicate dynamoter records the test to the utmost fineness and it is upon the verdict of this instrument that each motor receives the final stamp of approval.

"Of course you know that Motor No. 10,000,000 went off the motor assembly line at the Highland Park Plant on June 4th, 1924. A few days later it was sent to New York, and from there it was driven to San Francisco over the Lincoln highway.

"Motor and car assembly are only a part of the operations at the Highland Park plant. There is an artificial leather plant which daily can produce something like 9,000 square feet of glass a day, used for windshields; the Fodite plant where all steering wheels for Ford cars and truck and Fordson tractors are manufactured, a wire mill producing at present more than 70 miles on insulated wire a day, the electrical division where batteries, generators and other ignition system parts are manufactured, the world's largest forge department, the top and upholstry department and small producing units, all bringing unusual economies and quality into Ford manufacture.

"Providing lunches for the 62,000 workers at the Highland Park plant is a big job but it is accomplished with characteristic Ford system and inspection. Every day the employees at Highland Park consume on an average of 1,650 gallons of soup, 200 gallons of stew, 12,000 box lunches, 8,000 pieces of candy, 7,000 pieces of fruit 7,000 pieces of cake and 7,000 pieces of pie. They drink on an average of 20,000 pints of coffee and 11,500 pints of milk daily.

"Here is another thing, to ship out parts from Highland Park requires approximately 500,000 feet of lumber a day and this shipping has been so standardized that where three years ago the company used shipping cases of 600 different sizes, today 95 per cent of all shipments are made in boxes and crates of 14 sizes, some filling as much as 100 different uses

Plenty of Music For Fair Week

A musical program, which will ring with pep, smash, jazz, click and go, will be one of the many features on the entertainment bill of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, September 29-October 5.

Daily concerts by the famous Chicago Cadet Band, will be found on the musical menu of the fair. Several other bands with good reputations as musical organizations will be on the fair program.

Good band music has been found by fair officials to be one of the most essential parts of the entire program. Many vaudeville acts can not be presented without the aid of music. In a casting act for example, the daring acrobat leaves the trapez for his double somersault on a certain note of music.

Music Necessary.

The band music is just as necessary as the toy balloon, "hot dog" stand, refreshment booth, and the pop corn and peanut vender, in adding gaiety to the program, is the belief of the entertainment committee. It affords many visitors an opportunity to relax and enjoy themselves while listening to the music after they have tramped around from one educational exhibit to another.

The entertainment program this year is far superior to the two previous expositions. The detailed program will be announced shortly.

Out of Their Line.

"'Pears like de only thing women can't do 'bout as well as de men," said Uncle Eben, "is to sing bass in de choir."—Washington Star.

GENERAL TIRES Gives You the Choice of Three Ways

These General Balloons are built for the new small diameter wheel sizes—20", 21", 22". They run with lower air pressure than the Balloons of any other make. They do not cut down power. They show a smaller power consumption than the Balloons of any other make. Tests show a range of 50% on a level road in power consumption between different makes of Balloons. General Balloons consume 30% less power than the average of all other makes tested.

These General Balloons are made to fit present wheels on cars now using tires of these sizes—30 x 3½, 31 x 4, 32 x 4, 32 x 4½, 33 x 4½ and 33 x 5. They enable you to equip your car with Balloon Tires without the expense of changing wheels or rims. They run with approximately the same low air pressure prescribed by other manufacturers for Balloons requiring wheel change—in some cases they run with even less air pressure, but in a few cases slightly more.

You are not forced to use Balloons in order to secure low-pressure advantages. For years all regular size General Cords have been giving mileage that has made the name General famous, running on 30% to 40% less air than is required by other standard tires of the same sizes. These regular low-pressure General Cords run at air pressures within five to fifteen pounds as low as the pressures stipulated for Balloons of other makes.

GENERAL HAS ALWAYS BEEN KNOWN AS THE PERFECTLY BALANCED TIRE

There has never been any piling up of ply splices, and General Tubes, there is perfect distribution of weight.

Come in and let us give you complete information on balloon tires and how you can apply low air pressure to your car in three ways with General cords.

Rainy Weather Is No Help To Auto Batteries

Rainy weather is kind of tough on storage batteries and this is especially true in the autumn when there is a great deal of rain and occasionally a frosty night or two.

The battery, tucked away under the floor boards is in a fine position to get a shower bath of dirty water from road puddles every time the wheels hit one. Eventually the water deposits a film of dirt over the top of the cells which works up between the terminal connections unless they are tight.

Dirt Doesn't Help.

"While no serious damage will result from an accumulation of dirt on top of the battery," says Kindel Panek, Willard dealer here, "the dirt is not doing the battery any good either. Eventually a blue-green and yellow deposit will form around the terminals and cause starting and lighting trouble and may even necessitate replacement of the parts effected unless proper care is taken to keep the connections tight, free from corrosion and properly greased.

"Failure to care for these minor details will not prove expensive as far as repair bills are concerned," claims Mr. Panek, "but it is well to avoid the annoyance of being caught with an inoperative battery, regardless of how simple and inexpensive it is to fix it again."

Chevrolet Adds New Closed Car

The Chevrolet Motor company announces a new model to its line—the Chevrolet Coach, which will be the lowest priced coach on the market.

The Chevrolet Coach, however, differs from most of the coaches on the market in that the rear panels are steel clear to the top, like the other Chevrolet closed models, and is finished in black with gold stripe—the same as the Chevrolet Sedan.

Large Door Provided.

The door on each side is exceptionally large, allowing for easy entrance and exit, while the wide windows, two on each side, afford an extreme range of vision during all seasons and refreshing ventilation in warm weather. The rear quarter windows are the same width as the door windows.

The interior of the Coach is large and roomy, with the driver's seat stationary and a folding seat to the right of the driver. The rear seat across the back has ample room for three.

Triple Upholstering.

The seats, and cushions are upholstered in striped taupe wool cloth, while the sides, doors and head-linings are in a mottled taupe of the same material. There is a floor carpet to match.

Door windows, as well as side windows are raised and lowered by Ternstedt window regulators. There is a dome light in the car. The rear window in the car is wide and deep and is equipped with a satin curtain. A metal sun visor comes as standard equipment.

Largest Rubber Farm Is Found

In manufacturing automobile tires there is a big advantage in growing the rubber that goes into the tires. The manufacturer can thus be sure of the quality of the rubber for he handles it exclusively until it goes from his factory in the form of finished tires. He does not have to use rubber picked up in odd lots from a hundred different sources.

"The United States Rubber company owns and operates in Sumatra the largest single rubber plantation in the world," says Mr. Croft, of the Wichita Garage, dealer in United States tires. "The planted area is as big as the District of Columbia. It is a beautiful orchard covered with stately ranks of trees. This supply of fine quality crude rubber is one of the things that has built up the reputation of the company's tires."

No. Carolina Has Way Of Testing For Perfect Road

With the determination to have the best roads that its funds will build and to see that its roads are constructed in strict accordance with its specifications the North Carolina Highway Department, with the help of its chemist, R. L. Oberholser, has advanced the science of road construction to the point where all guesswork has been eliminated as to the uniform density in pavement construction.

Even when the materials are mixed according to specifications and the surface looks good, the mixture which has gone into the road may fail through lack of proper compression. Mr. Oberholser meets this situation by insisting upon daily density tests of the finished pavement.

From each road project in the state the chemical laboratory of the State Highway Department at Raleigh receives daily a piece of the pavement drilled from the day's lay. If the laboratory test reveals that the workmen have been lax and there is insufficient density the work on the project under investigation is stopped immediately. Poor construction cannot continue on any road in the state longer than twenty-four hours. After the cause of the trouble is ascertained the work proceeds. If necessary the stretch of roadway showing insufficient density is torn up and relaid. The tests sometimes save, it is estimated, as much as $12,000 a mile later in road repairs. As a result of methods such as these North Carolina now has some of the best bituminous motor roads in the world.

How Massachusetts Maintains Roads At Low Cost.

No state in the Union is showing a better record for low cost of maintenance on its state highway system than Massachusetts. The impressive showing of only 1.17 cents per square yard for maintaining 1,742,106 square yards of asphaltic concrete pavement during 1923 is considered by engineers to be remarkable in view of the fact that the roads have been in service for many years. The rate of 1.17 cents per square yard is qulvalent to $124 a mile for an eighteen foot roadway.

On the asphaltic macadam roads of the state, which are older, even, than the state roads that are paved with asphaltic concrete and are of lighter construction, the average cost during 1923 for the maintenance of 3,079,610 square yards was only 2.85 cents per square yard of $301 per mile of eighteen foot road. The state has tried 1.7 miles of tar concrete construction which has shown a cost for maintenance of 4.99 cents per square yard.

The roads constructed in Massachusetts in 1923 included 32 miles of Portland cement concrete pavement, 107 miles of the asphaltic types, 1 mile of waterbound macadam and 39 miles of gravel.

West Virginia Undertakes Big Road Program.

Among the states to embark recently upon extensive road building programs is West Virginia which has about completed 1,926.25 miles of improved motor roads. Of this mileage 912.86 miles are of graded earth, 91.41 miles are of gravel, 71.05 miles are waterbound macadam, 131.32 miles are of brick, 311.62 miles are of Portland cement concrete and 407 miles are of asphalt. The new contracts let this spring show a more pronounced trend toward the asphaltic types of construction.

100 Hours in Air Should Place ZR-3 Over New Jersey Hangar

By The Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 27.—Many of the workmen who assisted in the construction of the ZR-3, the airship which is to fly to America, were employed on the naval Zeppelin L-59, built prior to the war, and still known as the queen of the old time Zeppelin fleet.

The L-59, built for warfare and approximately of the same dimensions as the ZR-3, made a flight in 1917 of 4,200 miles in less than four days, to the German South African colonies, with a load of 15 tons. All told this airship made more than 1,200 flights, and eventually was scrapped.

The distance from here to Lakehurst, New Jersey, the destination of the ZR-3, is estimated at 4,500 miles.

German Aircraft Workers Turn to Making Tractors

By The Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 23.—Zeppelin workmen who built the ZR-3 and who for years have been constructing things which fly, will now be employed in making things which travel on the ground. By the terms of the treaty of Versailles the great hangars of Friedrichshafen must be destroyed.

In addition to manufacturing automobiles, bicycles and various other mechanical affairs the Zeppelin company has already arranged to build caterpillar tractors, and this factory will take over most of the men who for more than two years have been working on the ZR-3.

Cline's College Is Fitting Youth To Meet the World

Cline's Commercial college, engaged in the business of equiping men and women, boys and girls with the proper sort of training that will best assist them in meeting the demands of the business world.

This institution is owned and operated by local interests. Mr. Cline, Mrs. Cline and a trained, efficient staff of assistant instructors are all residents of Wichita Falls.

The college conducts classes in the following subjects: Stenography, bookkeeping, secretarial typewriting, banking and its branches, comptometer and a special combined course. In addition to day classes the school also conducts night classes for ambitious students who work in the daytime.

Realizing the particular stress that future employers will make with regard to spelling, punctuation, etc., the college includes free instruction in commercial law, spelling, English, punctuation with all of the courses given, and penmanship.

Life scholarships and diplomas are awarded to graduates—individual instruction is given to students.

Mrs. E. R. Cline, president of the college, states that 140 students is the total enrollment for the current year.

There have been about 57 graduates of the institution who have been placed in good paying positions through the college since the first of the year.

At present there are about 55 students attending classes regularly,—quite an increase compared with the small group that enrolled with the opening of the college.

Gothenburg Children Revel In Daily Ocean Swimming

By The Associated Press.

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Sept. 4.—No more sweltering in the city streets, but the enjoyment of sea breezes and a swim every day for every youngster, has been the slogan of the child welfare work of the good city of Gothenburg this summer. Every morning about 3,000 children have been seen assembling from all directions and eagerly waiting for the train to take them out to the municipal bathing beach of Askim. There has been no red tape. All the children have had to do was to go to the station and clamber aboard the train. There was no restrictions. Every child was allowed to go every day. Each brought his own luncheon, but to make sure that no child would ever go hungry the city gave each one-third of a quart of fresh pure milk.

Returned Boxer Indemnity May be Used for University

By The Associated Press.

TSINGTAO, Shantung, China.—There is a movement on foot to secure the returned Boxer indemnity for the establishment of a university in Tsingtao. Suitable buildings for the institution have already been made available by the municipal administration. They are the spacous and substantial Bismark Barracks, a monument to the solidity and permanence of German construction.

Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, the American minister at Pegink, on a recent visit to Tsingtao, expressed the opinion that no better use could be made of the money than that which Tsingtao proposes.

Art Show Comes As a Novelty At T-O Exposition

One of the most important divisions in the art show is the exhibits of painting on china by amateur artists. A large number of such displays is listed in the entries received by the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The art show this year is expected to be a feature educational show. It will show the progress being made by southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas artists. Many of the leading artists of the nation are expected to have paintings at the exposition.

Police Called to Quiet Bellicose German Pacifists

By The Associated Press.

GRIEFSWALD, Germany.—A recent pacifist meeting here developed into the noisiest and rougtest event ever held in this town. It was an anti-war meeting, and the chief speaker was Henri Barbusse, one of the best known pacifists of France. Barbusse started to speak in French, to which students of the university of this city objected so violently that a general riot followed. Many heads were cracked during the affray, and Barbusse had to be rescued by the police and guarded until he left town.

Girl, 6, Hikes Cross Country

By The Associated Press.

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Sept. 27.—The youngest cross-country hiker ever seen in this part of the country, Betty Rose, aged 6, arrived here with her mother, Mrs. Blanche Rose, of Pittsburgh, Pa. They are en route to the Pacific coast by the way of Yellowstone park.

Mother and daughter stop at hotels instead of camping at night and accept "lifts" when they are offered.

Geological Survey in Alaska Enters Twenty-Sixth Year

By The Associated Press.

JUNEAU, Alaska.—The twenty-sixth consecutive year of investigating mineral resources in Alaska has been started by the Geological Survey, announced the department of interior.

The Geological Survey has mapped the topography and geography of more than one-third of the territory. It has investigated every productive mining district in a preliminary way and has mapped a few in detail. Since 1905 it has published annually statistics of mineral production. Altogether 280 reports have been published and more than 400 maps issued on Alaska's mineral production.

Comeback For Europe Certain Is Buick View

Granting that the automobile business is a fair barometer of general commercial conditions and certainly we have found it so at home, the comeback of Europe is going to be much quicker than even the most optimistic have dared to hope, says E. T. Strong, general sales manager of the Buick Motor company.

The sales of Buick cars certainly sets at naught the almost uniform predictions that Europe's prosperity was to come well into the future and only after some very carefully planned and well executed economic stimulations.

Two trainloads of Buick cars bound for foreign shores left the Buick factories during the third week of September, one on the 15th and another on the 20th.

While the shipment of trainloads of automobiles for export will undoubtedly be a surprise to many it is rather a common thing with the Buick. During the month of August, for instance, five trainloads of Buicks left the factories for exporting points, and trainload shipments for September will no doubt surpass the month of August.

Aside from Italy and France where unfavorable tariffs practically prohibit the sale of any American made motor cars, there seems to be no one spot in the world where Buick cars are not being purchased: England, Argentine, Brazil, Chili, Peru, Bolivia, Columbia, Venezuela, Cuba Porto Rico, Central America, Mexico, Hawaiian Islands, Philippines, Japan, China, Java, Sumatra, Norway, Sweden Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, Greece, Servia, India, Australia, and South Africa. To all of these points and others, many of them little thought of in our daily life, shipments of Buick cars are constantly on their way. At home, too, Buick sales volume reflects a prosperous condition of business and commerce, another indication that the world is rapidly recovering its business stride. Nations and individuals alike rally quickly, and as they rise, turn to the purchase of necessities. That they buy American motor cars in large quantities is a tribute to American industry.

Better Babies to Be Feature of Fair Baby Show

More better babies!

A whole week of them—at the Texas-Oklahoma fair better baby show.

All of the local Red Cross workers, including volunteers and a number of baby specialists are working on the plans for the baby week, and babies from six months to four years will be registered every day this week and the first day of the fair.

Handsome sterling cups will be presented by the fair association to the best babies of all—the boy or girl who lead the 100 per cent class. When babies are registered the mothers will be told the hour and the day when they are to be examined. Last year there were a number of babies who scored heavily in the examinations, and the judges were at a loss for a time to decide the winners.

A nursery will be run in connection with the Red Cross department of the baby show. There will be little books and toys for the children to play with during the wait for the examination.

Every mother of a baby within the ages of the show is given a cordial invitation to register the baby for the better baby show and health conference.

Kennedy Shows To Have Famous Midway Display

The Con T. Kennedy shows have been booked to present the Wood midway attractions at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. They will bring a most complete and elaborate midway. After careful investigation of months' duration, which included every out of door amusement organization that seemed to be worthy of any consideration, the management of the local exposition selected the Con T. Kennedy shows because of the splendid reputation borne by them during the 20 years of their existence.

The Kennedy shows will come to the local exposition with the highest endorsements from the civic officials in the cities where they have appeared this year as being one of the largest and cleanest amusement companies en route. Its owner is a pioneer in the movement for clean amusements in traveling shows. Con T. Kennedy believes in giving the people what they want to see and also what they ought to see.

Powder Charges Start Airplanes on Flight

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The motive force of explosives may supplant that of compressed air in catapulting airplanes from the deck of naval vessels as a result of recent tests at the Anacostia, D. C. air station.

In the new catapult a pistol shot ignites a powder charge which literally "blows" the carriage on which the plane rests to the rail at the rate of 60 miles an hour. The car is stopped abruptly by hydraulic bumpers, but the plane continues on its way.

Space occupied by the air compressors is saved in the improved type and loss of time, formerly devoted to recharging the tanks for each flight, is averted.

Japan Soon Will Enjoy Ten-Acre Athletic Field

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, Sept. 27.—A national athletic field, designed as headquarters of western athletics in Japan, will be opened this autumn in the outer precincts of the Meiji Shrine.

The field will cover ten acres, will include a stadium of 26 tiers, and will be the largest such establishment in the Far East. It is estimated that all its various athletic grounds, if filled with spectators at one time, would hold 200,000 persons. The stadium will cover baths and dressing rooms, with dining and sleeping rooms for athletes.

It is planned to open the new field with a national track and field meet Nov. 3.

Even the Scotch Won't Pay Taxes

ABERDEEN.—The burden of taxation which has depopulated England of the country squire and the lord who owned large sections of counties is beginning to be felt in the Highlands.

Because their highland estates are largely unproductive and their extent somewhat doubtful, the owners have heretofore not been held strictly to account by the tax collector. Recently, however, the tax surveyors have been busy in the northern Scottish counties and large tax bills have been sent to the lairds, representing to them a dead loss. Now scores of castles and manors with centuries of historic connections and thousands of acres of land are offered for sale.

One of the most famous is the Fingask Castle with 13,827 acres of land, which was built in 1594 and has been connected with all the important events of Highland history, particularly the escapades of Bonnie Prince Charlie.

Jersey Primary Ends Hard Fight

NEWARK, N. J.—New Jersey primaries on September 23 brought to an end the sharp contest between United States Senator Walter E. Edge and National Committeeman Hamilton F. Kean for the republican nomination to the office now held by Senator Edge. The national nonpartisan political campaign committee of the American Federation of Labor and the Anti-Saloon league have opposed Senator Edge.

Upon the outcome of this struggle depended the number of candidates for United States senator in the November elections. The Rev. Dr. James K. Shields, for years superintendent of the state Anti-Saloon league, in resigning recently, announced that he did so with the intention of becoming an independent candidate for senator should Kean be eliminated in the primaries.

Mayor F. W. Donnelly of Trenton was unopposed for the democratic nomination, but in the November elections the name of George L. Record, Jersey City attorney, who is supporting the presidential candidacy of Senator LaFollette, also appeared as the progressive candidate.

The Better Catch.

An Idaho man was fishing in Lake Crescent recently. He caught a big northern pike; the biggest he had ever landed in his long and busy life. He was elated. He was crazed with joy, and he telegraphed his wife: "I've got one; weighs seven pounds and it is a beauty."

The following was the answer he got: "So have I; weighs ten pounds. Not a beauty—looks like you. Come home."—Idaho Yarns.

LATEST TYPE OF PIERCE-ARROW AUTOMOBILE

At the Texas-Oklahoma fair will be displayed the new Pierce-Arrow, series 80 automobiles, the series 80 is a Pierce-Arrow of more modest proportions than the large dual-valve six. It is built along the same distinguished lines as the large Pierce-Arrow, and all the superior Pierce-Arrow quality has been put into it.

Beauty and Comfort.

In the seven-passenger touring car are found beauty, comfort and performance. It is a lighter car than the big Pierce-Arrow. The motor is responsive and the car steers with little effort. It is equipped with permanent top, balloon tires, and Pierce-Arrow four wheel safety brakes.

The sedan is a splendid production with rich upholstering and all the little accessories that go to make up a refined and luxurious motor car.

New Features.

The car has a number of new features such as automatic spark control, the four wheel safety brake, aluminum body, single plate dry clutch, selective type sliding gear transmission, and the Pierce-Arrow specially designed carbureator. The motor and other mechanism are very accessible throughout.

The Bradley Duke Motor company will have a five passenger sedan, and a seven passenger touring on display in their booth at the fair.

Air Cooling Now Favored By Air Flight Voyagers

The third world famous builder of airplanes to be added to the list of Franklin owners is Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Aircraft company of Santa Monica, Calif., designer and builder of the 'Round the world flight planes. Orville Wright of Dayton and Glenn Curtis of Hammondsport, N. Y., have for many years been listed as Franklin owners.

In a recently published interview concerning the air-cooled motor, Mr. Douglas points out the advantages it possesses because there is less wear and tear, less chance for the cooling system to suffer from inadvertancy on the part of the operator saving in weight on account of fewer parts, resulting in saving in power and, therefore, greater fuel efficiency.

Mr. Douglas has applied the same means to judging efficiency to the automobiles as he uses in regard to the airplane, that is, the ratio between useful load and dead load. The greater the amount of useful load an automobile can carry in proportion to its dead load, the greater its efficiency. Mr. Douglas finds that the Franklin which is the lightest, fine car built comes close to his ideas of what an automobile should be.

"The saving in first cost, upkeep and operating cost is much the same in the efficient light weight car as an airplane," says Mr. Douglas, "and the trend in automobile design must be towards lighter structures, consistent, of course, with durability and safety."

Smokes Alone on ZR-3

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 27.—Dr. Hugo Eckner, who will pilot the airship ZR-3 on her trip across the Atlantic, is the man who makes the rule that no one on board the vessel shall smoke a any time, and he is also the only man who breaks the rule.

Smoking on board the airship is exceedingly dangerous. An open flame might at any time ignite the gas. But the doctor, wso is very fond of his pipe, occasionally locks himself in the pilot house and, entirelly alone, takes a short and hurried smoke.

Japanese Interested in ZR-3

By The Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 27. Among the interested spectators of all flights of the ZR-3 in the region of Friedrichshafen has been a comissionor of Japanese naval officers who have been overseeing the construction by a German concern of several airplanes for the Japanese government. The airplane factory is on the edge of Lake Constance, about a mile from the dirigible hangars The commission arrived here five months ago, soon after the Germans began work on the JaJpanese contract.

Use Machines To Detect Flaw In Upholstery Stuff

With motor refinements reaching their apex this season, selection of the finest possible upholstery for Overland and Willys-Knight cars is made possible by a new machine installed at the Willys-Overland plant a few months ago.

Upholstering and top materials are purchased in large rolls from manufacturers. Often pulled threads and small defects in the rolls passed unnoticed by the inspectors, but this machine automatically registers length and breadth of the materials, insuring against shortages, and at the same time detects flaws that would pass the naked eye.

Several large electric bulbs installed under a glass topped table, throw strong rays of light through the fabric as it passes over the table, enabling the operators to catch the slightest bad spots as the roll is unwound. Savings of thousands of dollars to the company and insurance of perfect materials in Willys-Overland products are assured by this method of operation.

Two such machines have been installed with the result that top and upholstery material in Overlands and Willys-Knights are as nearly perfect in quality and proportions as human endeavor can make them.

England's Roofs of Lead Occasionally Need Repair

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The leaden roofs of some of England's old churches, a heritage from mediaeval times, occasionally have to be melted down, rolled over and then replaced. The lead itself is indestructable, but it has been found that at the end of every 200 years the metal should be recast to give the best results as a roofing material.

The lead on the famous dome of St. Paul's, however, has not been melted down since it was placed in position in 1710.

Palestine Long on Holidays

By The Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 27.—Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, the Sabbaths of the three faiths in Palestine, are recognized as official holidays for purposes of presentation of negotiable paper, and no promissory notes or bills may be protested on those days, according to a decision of a conference of merchants with the chief justice. All other official holidays of Moslems, Jews and Christians are similarly recognized in Palestine.

Snow occured in midsummer in 1924 in some of the Italian provinces.

Outsiders Barred From Navy Yards

WASHINGTON. — The United States navy has at last come around to the policy generally observed by European nations of strict secrecy concerning implements of national defense. The custom of a hundred years is being set aside in the case of the new mine laying submarine for which $6,150,000 has been appropriated. Beyond the fact that her plans call for width of beam, speed and cruising radius beyond anything known in that type, details of the new submersible are jealously guarded.

No nation among the signatories to the Washington arms convention permits inspection of its navy yards in which construction is in progress upon vessels not covered by that agreement. Heretofore but slight restraint has been imposed by the United States.

Relationships Complicated By Father and Son Wedding

By The Associated Press.

MUNICH, Sept. 27.—The recent weddings of Karl Braun, 25 years old, and his father have started an endless chain of relationships which has got beyond the reach of genealogists and culminated in Braun becoming his father's father-in-law.

Young Braun married a widow of 45 with grown-up children. Shortly after his father, 50 years of age, married the 24-year-old daughter of his son's wife. Genalogists figure that as a result of the two weddings young Braun became his father's father-in-law and that his wife's daughter became the mother's mother-in-law and the step-mother of her own step-father.

A NEW CAR — A NEW SIZE — A NEW PRICE

We extend to you a cordial invitation to come to our showrooms and see the Pierce-Arrow Series 80.

It is little wonder that this new Pierce-Arrow is creating such unprecedented comment. With the advent of the Series 80 came the realization that the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company had done what the motoring public has long hoped would some day be achieved.

For the first time in automotive history, the incomparable craftsmanship, the unparalleled experience of the Pierce-Arrow orgnization is devoted to a car more moderate in size and in price than the famous Pierce-Arrow Dual-Valve Six. The full significance of this accomplishment can only be realized when you have inspected and driven this new car.

We shall be glad to place a car at your disposal and have you judge the Pierce-Arrow Series 80 at the wheel.

Ajax Car, New Product of Nash Plant, To Be Placed on Market in Short Time

No industrial movement in recent years has been enveloped in so much mystery as has surrounded the recent formation of the Ajax Motors company, as a subsidiary organization entirely owned by the Nash Motors company and with C. W. Nash as its president. This company is housed in the former Mitchell Motors plant at Racine, Wisconsin, which was finally secured by Nash after spirited bidding on the part of other manufacturers. The notable career of Mr. Nash and the exceptional success that has attended his enterprises naturally has inspired widespread comment as to his plans for this new company.

Rumors that have been given extensive circulation in the industry, among bankers and many thousands of automobile owners who have followed Nash's rise to a place of preeminence among American manufacturers, are now partially set at rest by a direct statement from Mr. Nash.

Will Build Auto.

"This subsidiary organization, the Ajax Motors company, will not build merely a motor as gossip has had it but will produce a complete automobile," states C. W. Nash. "At the present time I am not in a position to divulge the exact character of the car but I can say that it will be a complete surprise when announced owing to the nature of the engineering and the mechanical developments now being carried to completion by our staff of engineers. The name Ajax was chosen because of the mythological significance it holds. Homer's Illiad mentions Ajax, the legendary Greek hero many times for his heroic deeds. Particularly was he swift-footed we are told. In fact he was honored as one of Greece's very fleetest runners. Another distinguishing characteristics of Ajax was the power he displayed in hurling the javelin. So in this figure of ancient times we have two of the things the modern car—Ajax—will also possess: speed and power embodied at a price that will make it highly attractive to the great mass of prospective motor car purchasers.

Will Extend Nash.

"Our plans for this new car are in direct accordance with our formulated policy for adding substantially to the ramifications of the Nash Motors company and putting it in even more commanding position among the world's greatest producers of passenger cars. Few people realize just how exceptional our record of advancement has been until they review the history of the automobile industry. The first figures worthy of credence show that in 1899 there were 3,700 passenger cars produced by all makers and their total value in dollars and cents was $4,750,000. This is less than a normal month's production for the Nash Motors company today. By 1910 the annual production for the industry has risen to 181,000 and the dollars and cents volume to $213,000,000. At this point the records show 302 manufacturers in business.

Still Increasing.

"By January, 1911, there were 314 companies engaged in manufacturing cars and the production for that year rose to nearly 200,000 units with a value of $240,770,000. From then on through production and dollars and cents value increased largely year by year the ranks of manufacturers decreased steadily until 1916, in which year in August we entered the field. At this juncture there were about 220 other makers and the production for the year was nearly 1,500,000 cars of which we contributed of course a very few. By January of 1917 we were gaining headway rapidly and the name Nash and the reputation of the car for excellence was making itself felt. Our more recent progress because of its unusual rapidity is a familiar story to a large share of the American public, but it is worth commenting upon the fact that from a standing start in 1916 with 220 older concerns already deeply rooted in the business soil we advanced in eight years to ninth place among the 67 manufacturers now in business including Ford. When the new Ajax takes its place among the cars being marketed we look to see even this high place measurably bettered."

Fastest Horses In Mid-West to Appear at Fair

The fastest horses of the middle western states will compete in the running races, which will feature the sporting program during the coming Texas-Oklahoma fair, September 29-October 5, inclusive, it was announced Saturday night by W. F. Weeks, director of speed of the fair association.

The liberality of the fair board in offering purses totaling $10,000 insures big fields of runners for every event on the card. So many responses have been received from turfmen, accepting the invitation of the fair to compete, that horses valued at thousands of dollars will be seen in action.

Efforts will be made to induce the owners of every thoroughbred running horse in Oklahoma and Texas to participate in the big fair meet. The fair management believes that no event staged on the track offers more thrills than running races. For this reason special emphasis has been placed on this year's racing program, and every effort will be made to obtain a record entry list. Entries will be accepted up to noon on the day of the race in which the horse is to participate.

Bear Races Motor Car

KETCHIKAN, Alaska.—A taxi taking passengers to Peninsula Point, near here recently, caught up with a bear running along the road. The driver speeded up, but the bear, refusing to be passed, accelerated his own gait. For a mile the car and the bear raced. Bruin led. Then, unable to take a curve at high speed, he catapulted down a bank to a beach and disappeared.

Pierce-Arrow Is Well Handled In T. Duke's Hands

Thomas Duke, of the Bradley Duke Motor company, dealers in Pierce-Arrow cars is well known among Pierce owners for his success with rebuilding and repairing Pierce-Arrow cars. His work in this line has given so much satisfaction and inspired such confidence in Pierce-Arrow owners that while he was in Houston, cars were driven down to him for repair work from distances of four hundred and fifty miles.

One of the Pierce-Arrows, which Mr. Duke rebuilt was shipped to Europe, while another toured the White mountains.

When Mr. Duke decided to go into automobile work, he was advised to specialize in one make of car. He looked around for a car which would be worthy of intensive study, and finally decided in favor of the Pierce-Arrow because of its mechanical perfection. For fourteen years, Mr Duke has been making an intensive study of Pierce-Arrow automobiles.

"The Pierce-Arrow after years of service can be rebuilt and made good as a new car because the foundation is there," says Mr. Duke.

New California Lake

By The Associated Press.

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 27.—Although Sequoia National park has been a public playground for more than 30 years, new discoveries still are made. A forest ranger recently returned from a three-day trip in the Mount Silliman region and reported a lake larger than any hitherto known in the park. The find has been tentatively named Crater lake.

Manila Needs Stable Homes

MANILA.—Manila is studying what steps it would be advisable to take to guard against devastating effects from an earthquake such as visited Tokio a year ago. Speaking of the importance of this geologies work. Dr. R. E. Dickerson, a member of the local earthquake board, said recently:

"The recognition of recent earthquake lines of the Philippines is of particular importance in the construction of dwelling houses, business buildings, water supply, cables and power transmission schemes. It is of particularly great importance to recognize these lines in advance of destructive earthquakes along them in order that certain precautions be taken in engineering structures.

Japanese Author Discusses

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO. — "Will there be war between Japan and America?" is the title of a book just published in Tokio by a noted Japanese author Toshio Fujiwara, who, in addition to being a writer, is one of Japan's leading business men. He has lived for several years in the United States where he served the Mitsuit interests.

Among the most interesting chapters are the following: "Roosevelt's Threat Against Japan"; How the Anti-Japanese Movement is Carried on in the United States"; "How America Former Service Men Carry on the Movement Against Japan"; "Japan's Future course with respect to the United States."

The book is having a wide circulation in Japan, and has received favorable comment from many thoughtful critics.

Women Workers Meet in Chicago

CHICAGO.—The annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at the Chicago Temple, Oct. 8-15, with delegates from 96 conferences in attendance.

There will be for the first time, a roll call of the conferences for the presentation by the delegates of suggestions for the betterment of the organization. The findings will be brought to an open forum Oct. 13.

For the first time in the history of the women's societies, fraternal delegates will come with addresses from sister organizations. Mrs. Lute Johnson will represent the Methodist Episcopal church, south, and the Women's society of the parent church is to send Mrs. F. F. Lindsay, Minneapolis, its first vice-president.

PAIGE JEWETT

The Best In the World
See Them at the Fair

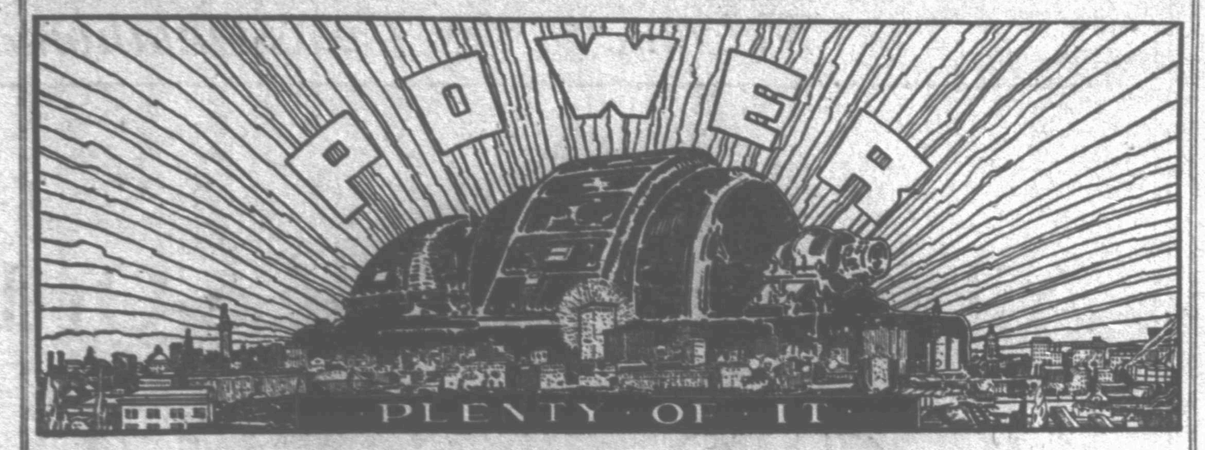

MORE THAN ANY OTHER CARS, WE BELIEVE THAT THIS TRIO HAS DEFINITELY CONVINCED AUTO BUYERS OF SIX CYLINDER SUPERIORITY.

"The new Peerless Six is the best six cylinder automobile in the world regardless of price—This is the unqualified statement of Peerless Six owners. You too, will catch their enthusiasm, once you drive or ride in this six yourself. Let us send a car to your home or office.

Colorful paint, sparkling glass and nickel, rich leather and deep upholstering first catch the eye and fill the thought of the man who looks at a new Paige. Their quality and beauty is undeniable. Sober second thought, however, turns to what is under the hood—motor, frame, transmission and running gear. After all these last, are what give the long miles of untroubled freedom that make up the charm of motoring.

If you want a light six cylinder car you'll appreciate the sturdy and powerful Jewett. The Jewett car is Paige built. Jewett offers exactly what people want—room, comfort for the average number of passengers—a handy car that lightens the drivers' task in traffic—a car of such construction that repair bills are rare—a car whose power gives it satisfying performance—a car that leaves you money in the bank when you buy it—and a six—for sixes do beat fours!

CHINESE WAR NOT A NEW ONE

Revolt Is Great Drama Which May Effect Entire Nation

This new war in China is not just another war. It is a tremendous drama involving the future of the whole empire of 300,000,000 people, and the immediate welfare of the vast territory and populace lying north of the Yangtse river.

Who is fighting who? Why?

As you read the answer to these questions, look at a map of China.

The present troubles at Shanghai, the first act in the drama, traces back to the existence in China of the two main political groups, both headed by militarists. They are known as the Chihli and Manchurian-Anhui parties, taking these names from the nativity of their founders.

The present Chihli leaders are Wu Pei-fu, inspector general of Shantung, Chihli and Honan provinces, Chi Haieh-yuan, inspector general of Kiangsu, Kiangsi and Anhui provinces, and Huiao Yao-nan, inspector general of Hupeh and Honan provinces.

Sun's Sun About to Set.

These eight provinces comprise the valleys of the two great streams, the Yellow and Yangtse rivers, with their ports, and form a compact block extending from the Manchurian and Mongolian borders to South China. President Tsao Kun is the nominal head of the Chihli party, as he is of the recognized de jour government of all China, but Kun is little more than a figurehead.

The leaders of the Manchurian-Anhui party are Dr. Sun Yat Sen of Kwangtung province (Canton); Chang Tso Lin, head of military and civil affairs in the three Manchurian provinces, Kirin, Fengtien and Heilungkiang and Gen. Lu Yung Hsiang, who controls the civil and military affairs of Chekiang province, on the coast just south of Shanghai.

Since Gen. Wu Pei Fu defeated him two years ago, Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord has spent millions upon the reorganization of his army in order to invade China from the north and defeat his old enemy.

A few months is expected to witness the political end of Sun Yat Sen, who despite many reports of his death, is still very much alive.

With Chang Tso Lin, the "war lord," is allied Gen. Lu Yung Hsiang, former follower and righthand man of Tuan Chi Jui, founder of the Tuhui party. Gen Lu is seeking the destruction of Wu Pei Fu because the latter in a war some four years ago crushed Tuan Chi Jui and forced him into intirement.

Struggles Two Years

The Chihli party has struggled for five years to unite China, using force as a necessary means, since there were hundreds of thousands of troops under independent leaders. Today the only opponents retaining any military strength devoted to the overflow and destruction of the present government are Lang Tso Lin, in Manchuria and Lu Lung Hsiang, in Kwantung, Sun Yet no longer being considered a factor in the military situation.

The present war in the neighborhood of Shanghai between Lu Yung Hsiang of Chekiang province and Chi Hsien Yuan of Kiangsu (Nanking) is the evident first move of Chang Tso Lin in his long contemplated attempt to invasion. Chi's troops are stationed for the most part at Pukow, on the opposite bank of the Yangtse river from Nanking and the southern terminus of the eastern of the two north-and-south trunk line railroads, the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

Hsiang's Stategy.

The western trunk line is the Hankow-Peeking railway, and Wu Pei Fu's forces are stretched out along it, many of them in the country which has suffered most heavily from the recent floods. Between Shanghai and Nanking also runs a connecting railroad, the line of which is the scene of the first military clashes reported.

It is obviously Gen. Lu Yung Hsiang's asignment, to keep Chi busy around Shanghai and Nanking so he can give Wu Pei Fu no assistance in case Chang Tso Lin makes a dash from the north for Peking through the two railway gateways in the Great Wall, Shanghaikwan, on the Peking-Mukden railway, and Kalgan, where the road from Mongolia comes down.

PICKED AS MIDDLE WEST'S PRETTIEST

The prettiest girl in the mid-west is Miss Margaret Leigh of Chicago, judges in a national beauty contest at Atlantic City decided.

15 Million Is Needed to Repair American Fleet

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON. — Announcement at the navy department that the battleship Florida would be placed "in reserve", and that the proposed winter cruise to Australia might be abandoned, has again brought to the front in service circles the serious consequences of curtailed funds for upkeep of the ships.

Repairs Limited.

Already working under general orders which limit repairs to 70 per cent of recommended programs, bureau chiefs in Washington recently have held continued conferences in the effort to work out some plan by which vital work on the principal units of the fleet can be accomplished despite the shortage of funds. "Accumulating deterioration" is the nightmare which haunts grey old seadogs who love their ships. In the intimacies of club and office they are making mathematical computations to show that a ship would be only 49 per cent efficient after a second visit to her home yard, and 35 per cent upon the third departure.

Will Cost 15 Million.

Curtained repairs are declared by members of the engineering staff already to be apparent in the operation of the fleet, one estimate being that $15,000,000 would be required to bring that force to its proper rating.

A radio dispatch bearing on the subject was recently sent to all ships and stations. Calling attention to the "inadequacy of funds," the department announced that "no alterations will be undertaken upon any ship until further instructions," unless a bureau had made provisions for them from a special appropriation.

Yankees Enjoy Special Court In Palestine

JERUSALEM. — Citizens of the United States living in Palestine are accorded privileges over and above those of citizens and subjects of states who are members of the League of Nations. This is true now pending American ratification of the British mandate for Palestine, but will probably cease to be the case after the United States government will have signed the convention recognizing the mandate. The convention, it is believed, will secure for Americans in Palestine the same rights as fall to subjects of states who are league members, but no more. The status of Americans in Palestine will then probably be the same as in Syria, to the French mandate for which the United States was reported recently to have agreed.

For the present Americans here enjoy the rights of capitulations which, before the dismemberment of the Turkish empire, all great powers insisted on maintaining for their citizens. America has not renounced its capitulatory rights in Palestine, and the American consul is the only one holding court and trying cases between American residents.

Upper Reaches of Amazon Draw American Explorer

By The Associated Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Sept. 27.—Dr. M. W. Stirling, it has been learned here, is soon to start a trip to South America, where he will spend several months in the unexplored regions of the upper Amazon, taking photographs of the life and customs of the local Indian tribes.

Dr. Stirling, who was formerly attached to the Smithsonian Institution, excavated a number of Indian mounds near St. Petersburg early this year. As a result of these labors he was able to report the discovery of new methods of Indian burial, and various interesting kinds of pottery.

Tax Swindles Drive Poles Across Frontier

By The Associated Press.

WARSAW, Sept. 27.—Its suspicions having been aroused by the abnormally small income returns filed by some important concerns in Polish Upper Silesia, the government sent a special mission to make investigations on the spot.

It was disclosed that two industrial firms had carried duplicate sets of books, one secret and the other public. One concern reported a taxable income of 150,000,000 zlotys, while the hidden books showed it should have reported 600,000,00. The fines to be imposed will reach 5,000,000 zlotys. Some arrests have been made but the directors of the two companies have escaped to Germany.

Oriental Opium Smokers May be Put on Rations

By The Associated Press.

SINGAPORE, Sept. 27.—The use of prepared opium in Malay has diminished in recent years, and its eventual elimination depends on individual control, says the report of a committee appointed to enquire into the matter. It is stated that registration of smokers should be given an exhaustive trial leading up to a rationing system.

The committee expressed gratification "in finding that the disease is not so desperate as to demand desperate remedies," and adds that precipitate suppression affords no solution and would introduce complications in the ultimate eradication of the habit.

Romanoffs Out of Gotha

By The Associated Press.

GOTHAM, Germany, Sept. 27. — The new edition of the Almanac de Gotha carries one line referring to the Romanoffs, the former reigning family of Russia. Six finely printed pages did not suffice for the annals of this family before the war.

TO ACTIVELY cooperate with progressive individuals in all walks of life, with special regard to the financial betterment of each; to coordinate the interests of these men in such a way that each benefits through the cooperation of others. This is the function of the modern bank. With the First National it is more than a function; it is an ideal. Today the Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma Farmers, Business Man and Industrial Workers are turning more and more to the First National for financial service that is nowhere else quite so complete.

The First National Has Something to Offer You

Bank By Mail

You want to make connections with a bank, which because of its men and its strength is in a position to DO things for you. The First National is such a bank.

Not how near—but how strong—our long distance customers didn't ask "how near can we find a bank"—but with an appreciation for the essential things, asked where they could find a strong and resourceful bank giving the service they require. Miles do not count but service does—and the First National makes a specialty of serving customers by mail.

Banks transact their business with other banks by mail. Deposits, drafts, checks, are handled in enormous sums without personal contact. Just this same satisfactory service can be given to you by this bank though you be one or five hundred miles away.

WEBSTER NOTE FOUND BY HEIR

Man Who Completed Dictionary Tells How He Met Reverses

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK.—A letter written in 1823 by Noah Webster, author of the dictionary which is said to have prevented the United States from becoming a nation speaking many dialects, in which the writer refers to his plans to secure a reception for his work in England, has been given out by John Stuart Thomas of Jersey City.

The communication, which is described as hitherto unpublished, was addressed to Charles H. Webster, a cousin of Noah, and was found by Mr. Thomas among the papers of the cousin. It reads as follows:

"New Haven, Sept. 24, 1823

"Dear Sir:

"I expected you to call upon me the morning you left New Haven but you disappointed me and I must write what I had to say to you. You must have heard that I have been many years in compiling a complete dictionary of our languages. My researches have been laborious and extensive, and I think fruitful in discoveries. As I am drawing toward the conclusion of the work, I think of going to England next summer to revise and complete the work and try to obtain a reception of it in that country. But my resources are too scanty for such an undertaking and I want to avail myself of all my extra means. I have on hand a new book of my own publishing, entitled 'Letters to a young gentleman concerning his education,' none of which I think may be sold in Albany. The retail price is $1.75, the work being a thin octavo. The sheet price is 90 cents and for a hundred or more I would say 80 cents. Now, Sir, will not Webster and Skinner assist me, by taking a hundred or two, either bound or in sheets; bound at $1.20 or in sheet at 80 cents? If you will, it will very much oblige me.

"My dictionary has cost me 20 years of labor and about $30,000. If I succeed I shall reimburse myself and be able to compensate all my friends for their advances. If I should not, I shall be left in my old age with small means for subsistance.

"Please to present our kind respects to Mrs. W. and other friends.

"Yours with affection and respect,
'N. WEBSTER."

Every Other Swedish Farm Enjoys Electric Lights

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM.—While the utilization of water power for every purpose has been developing rapidly in Sweden during the last two decades there is a strong tendency at present to convert the turbine power into electric energy for further industrial use. Thus factories are being built hundreds of miles away from the source of their power, and electric current is not only distributed to all parts of Sweden but is exported to neighboring countries as well.

There are now 2,100 large power plants in Sweden, of which about 50 per cent furnish light, heat and power for the country districts. Besides there are several hundred smaller plants using less than 10,000 horsepower each. Forty per cent of the Swedish farms now run their household, dairy, and agricultural machinery by electricity, and 50 per cent of the houses in the country districts are lighted by electricity. This is believed to be a record for the world.

AIRPLANES SOON MAY CONNECT GULF PORTS WITH ISLAND OF CUBA

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS.—Airplane passengers and mail service between New Orleans and Cuba and Mexican ports as a private enterprise is a subject of discussion here, with many predictions that it is likely to become an accomplished fact in the not distant future.

Suggested terminals would be Tampico, Mexico City via Vera Cruz, Merida, Yucatan via Progreso, and Havana. The type of seaplane believed suitable for the lines—air cruisers such as are used between Florida and Cuba and the Bahamas but equipped with at least two motors—could make the hop from New Orleans to Tampico, 710 miles, in about nine hours. The 900 mile jump to Mexico City via Vera Cruz would require about 14 hours. The Yucatan run of 540 miles would consume about eight hours while the 550 miles to Havana could be covered in approximately the same length of time. One of the suggestions in connection with the Tampico and Vera Cruz service involves a relay at Brownsville, Texas, with planes operating between New Orleans and Brownsville and Brownsville and the south.

Postal officials are authority for the statement that approximately 1,500 pounds of first class mail dispatched from New Orleans to Mexican ports each week for which the government pays 82 cents a pound. Incoming mail from much of the territory is transported free of charge by the steamship companies but it is believed the United States and Mexican governments would agree to pay $1.50 a pound for all first class mail handled by the planes should such a service be established. The revenue therefrom, it is estimated, virtually would support a tri-weekly service.

Establishment of regular air service to Mexico recently was the subject of a conference between A. V. Dye, American commercial attache at Mexico City and George E. McLeod, district manager of foreign and domestic commerce. Subsequently Mr. McLeod conferred with A. E. Padillo, foreign trade secretary of the New Orleans association of commerce. While it is understood nothing tangible resulted, it is declared the subject is in abeyance for only a short time and that the plans will be discussed more fully in the near future.

Maybe the souls of people enter animals. Many a calf enters a chicken salad sandwich.

You see, quantity production is necessary because things made that way wear out quicker.

FACTORY WORKERS SHOW HIGH RATE OF ACCIDENTS TO EYES

NEW YORK—The sight of at least 4,456 men, women and children in the United States has been destroyed or seriously impaired by accidents during the past 12 months, according to a report issued by the national committee for the prevention of blindness, of this city.

A year ago the committee began an investigation to discover the nature, causes and relative importance of the accidents which each year add several thousands to the blind population of the country, and the report made public today is an analysis of the first year's findings in this investigation.

The outstanding facts of the report are that 85 per cent of the victims of eye accidents are men and boys, only 604 out of the 4,456 victims being women and girls; that industrial accidents constitute the most serious single group of accidents resulting in eye injuries; that almost 25 per cent of the victims of eye accidents are children, 1,053 boys and girls having been so injured during the last 12 months; that next to children's play accidents, automobile accidents are the most serious non-industrial sources of eye injuries, the eyes of 381 persons having been injured in motor vehicle accidents, principally through the breaking of windshields, during the past year, and that explosives and firearms were responsible for injuries to the eyes of 202 persons.

The committee received reports of 100 persons whose eyes were pierced by metal shot from air rifles; 99 eye accidents were due to the use of chemicals outside of industry; 96 occurred during the chopping of fire wood; 89 were hunting accidents, and 84 persons may lose their sight or have already been blinded as the result of brawls during the past year.

Baseball accidents brought serious injuries to 65 persons; the drinking of wood alcohol destroyed or impaired the sight of 35 persons; 31 women burned their eyes out with hot curling irons while standing before mirrors because of their failure to recognize that in the reflection of the mirror the movements of the hand are reversed.

Boys with sling shots injured the eyes of 27 persons. Bow and arrow accidents may lead to the blindness of 24 persons. Golf ball accidents destroyed or endangered the sight of 17 persons.

New York state reported 608 cases; Pennsylvania 478 cases and Illinois 379 cases. The committee points out however, that this is not unusual because these states rank first, second and third respectively in point of population. Indiana, though ranking eleventh in population, is fourth among the states in number of serious eye injuries reported; Iowa, which is sixteenth in point of population, ranked seventh; Nebraska, though thirty-first in population, ranked tenth; and Washington, thirtieth in point of population, ranked fifteenth. On the other hand, Texas, though fifth in population, stood fourteenth in number of serious eye injuries; Massachusetts, sixth in population, was thirteenth in the severity of its eye accidents; and Michigan, seventh in population, was sixteenth in the list of eye injuries.

In most other states the number of eye accidents followed closely the population of the state.

Wool an Unalaska Product.

UNALASKA, Alaska.—The shipment of seven bags of wool from here to Portland, Oregon, this summer, has brought the residents hope of a new era for the Aleutian Islands, of which Unalaska island is one of the largest.

An attempt to establish sheep on the Aleutians, which in many parts abound in lush grasses, was undertaken last year. In this enterprise two concerns are engaged, the Aleution Livestock company of Los Angeles and the Western Livestock company of Portland. The wool sent to Portland was said to be of prime quality.

Pushing Back the Wall

"The vast territory covered by these lines at once strikes the observer, and some conception may be had of the importance of the long distance telephone in the business world of the east."

This was the contemporary comment of a scientific journal on the long distance telephone service of 1890. The "vast territory" ended with Pittsburg on the west and Washington on the south. Along its frontier stood a wall of silence.

No such barrier now confines the voice of man. To places and to people he has never even seen fly his wire-borne thoughts. Over distances which it would take him days to travel his words speed in an instant.

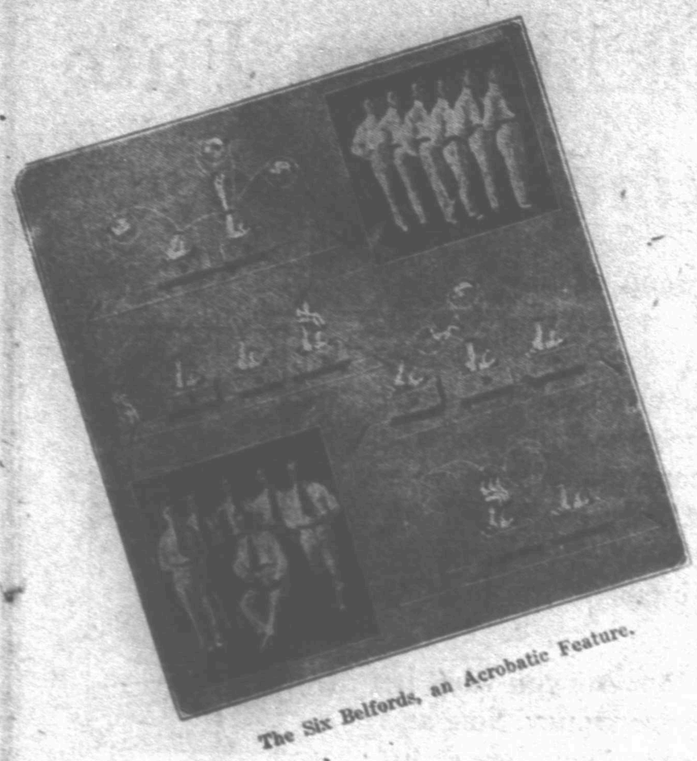

The 90,000 miles of toll wire of 1890 have grown to more than 4,500,000 miles carrying a daily average of more than 1,600,000 long distance conversations.

Thus has the wall of silence been pushed back to the edges of the continent. In its place is a nation-wide telephone service.

Walton Trying to Come Back In Oklahoma by Smashing Klan

Two views of Jack Walton.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 27.—Thirty years ago J. C. "Jack" Walton was smashing baggage at a hotel at Siloam Springs, Ark. Today, after being impeached as governor, he is trying to smash the ku klux klan of Oklahoma and stage a political comeback by being elected United States senator.

Political wiseacres in the state believe Walton may accomplish what he has set out to do. He won the democratic nomination for senator on an anti-klan platform, defeating a klan candidate, and is now stumping the state with a speed hitherto unknown, even to the distinctive state of Oklahoma.

Great ovations greet Walton in many of the towns but there are others where he isn't so welcome. Eggs, some not so new, are being used in an attempt to break up the meetings. Several times ben fruit of uncertain age has found its target, either hitting Walton or members of his campaign party.

In one town Walton was denied a pitcher of water to moisten his parched throat while speaking under a blistering sun. In another town the hotel keeper refused to provide him with a bed.

Walton is 43 years old. He was born on a farm near Indianapolis, and moved several times with his parents to farms near Lincoln, Neb., and Kansas City, Mo., before arriving in Siloam Springs at the age of 12. After being graduated from high school there he spent four years in a Catholic school in St. Louis. Then he became a civil engineer in Mexico. He tired of the mining game, after losing his earnings in profitless ventures, and became a railroader, as an electrician and locomotive engineer. He next went to Kansas City as a salesman for an electrical supply concern, and eventually came to Oklahoma City, and made it his headquarters while selling electrical supplies for the same firm. Then he established his own store.

In 1917 he was elected commissioner of public works. He became mayor of Oklahoma City, and after one term he announced himself candidate for governor, and was elected after making a whirlwind campaign in which he accompanied a jazz band into every county in the state.

At his inauguration he gave a barbecue, attended by nearly half the voters of Oklahoma and costing thousands of dollars.

Then the storm broke. His impeachment followed after about a year in office, and he's out now to stage a comeback unprecedented in Oklahoma.

Monster Plane Is Success On Initial Flight

By The Associated Press.

BROUGH, England.—Great Britain's dreadnaught of the air made its first flight recently from the airdome which was the hopping-off field of the American world fliers when they left England for America by way of Iceland and Greenland.

The monster machine is said to be the most powerful single-engined airplane in the world. From wing-tip to wing-tip it measures 88 feet, stands 19 feet from the ground and from nose to tail is 54 feet. The plane was built to take the new 1,000 horsepower Napier Cub engine, claimed to be the most powerful air motor in existence. It has 16 cylinders, yet weighs only 2,200 pounds. A railway locomotive, developing the same power, weighs over 147,000 pounds.

Foreign air attaches came to Brough to see the trial flight of the "Cubaroo," as the plane is called. For a brief space the engine was run, and then with a great roar the plane taxied across the airdome and was away into the air, with Flight Lieutenant Paul Bulman, one of the most daring pilots of the Royal Air Force, in command. When the flight was ended Lieutenant Bulman said the air levithan had handled as easily as a small plane. The response to the comtol was wonderful, and on landing there was no suggestion of the enormous size of the machine.

Huge Propeller.

Some idea of the proportions of the plane is indicated by the fact that the single propeller is more than one and one-half times the size of a full-sized English billiard table. The tail alone is as large as an ordinary scouting plane. Two staircases from the central cabin lead to separate parts of the machine. One goes to the pilot's cockpit, which has accommodations for two, and the other gives access to a compartment behind the wings which may be used as a machine-gun tower.

Prelate Says Many Stumble Over Miracles in Scriptures

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—"The conflict between science and religion is still far from being reconciled," said Very Rev. W. R. Inge, the "gloomy dean of St. Paul's," in his presidential address at the conference of modern churchmen, Oxford.

"It is an open sore," continued Dean Inge, "that poisons the spiritual life of the civilized world. It is difficult for a man to accept orthodox Christianity, as it is presented by the churches, without treachery to his scientific conscience.

"The injury thus inflicted upon religion can hardly be measured. The result is that intellectual honesty is largely drained out of the church, and public opinion within it does not reflect either the best knowledge or the most candid temper of the community.

"The question of miracles is for many the meaning of the conflict between religion and science."

New York Goes To Dayton To Be Wrecked By Bombs

By The Associated Press.

DAYTON, O.—A slice of lower Manhattan's well known skyline is rising in miniature in this middle western city. Shortly will be seen the towering dignity of the Woolworth building, and the imposing heights of the Equitable, the Singer and the Municipal buildings, plumped right down in the middle of a corn field.

Then, after it's all fixed and made to look like the real thing, along will swoop airplanes and bomb it into splinters.

That will be one of the stunts arranged for the spectators at the International Air races here October 2, 3 and 4. The model city is being erected at Wilbur Wright field, where the races will be held, and will cover an area of 2,000 feet. The buildings, which are being constructed now, will be built in proportion, however. The highest will tower some 100 feet. The idea behind the stunt is to show graphically what would happen if enemy airplanes bombed New York.

The show will have many features of real warfare. But in order that no one run any danger of injury, the structures are going up a mile from the grand stand at Wright field, and no one will be permitted near the "war area."

Americans Honored for Aid To Nippon After Earthquake

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, Sept. 27.—Special honorary membership in the Japan Red Cross and medals of merit have been conferred on Admiral Edwin A. Anderson, U. S. N., and Major-General George W. Read, U. S. A., in recognition of relief services at the time of Japan's great earthquake last September.

At that time Admiral Anderson commanded the United States Asiatic Fleet, which brought the first outside aid to the stricken areas, and General Read was in command of the department of the Philippines, from which the first considerable shipments of relief supplies were sent.

Among other foreigners who received similar recognition is Giacomo de Martino, the Italian ambassador.

Would Make Life Easier For British Pensioners

LONDON, Sept. 27. — Roland Bourne is endeavoring to create communal settlements in South Africa for Englishmen with small incomes who can no longer live in England in accordance with the standards to which they are accustomed. He says that England abounds in retired army and navy officers, and others with practically no capital but with small fixed incomes varying from $1,500 to $4,000 a year.

England has too forbidding a climate for such people, but in South Africa, on holdings of from two to five acres, they could be very happy.

The Neighborhood Grocers of Wichita Falls Bid You Welcome to the Greater Texas-Oklahoma Fair

Eating Your Cake and Having It, Too!

A city is nothing more than a composite group of small communities—or neighborhoods. It stands to reason that as your own particular neighborhood grows and develops, the city grows—that anything that is done to enhance the living conditions in your particular community, also increases the property value. Every dollar you spend in your community with your neighborhood grocer, does more than just "buys groceries." As the neighborhood grocer's business increases—so does his investment in store property—added business makes possible store improvements.

Give the Neighborhood Grocer a chance to show you what he can do. Let him show you how you can save money, time and inconvenience, by patronizing the store nearest your home. Investigate the Neighborhood Grocer.

AUSTIN SICK ALL AT ONCE

Rangers Worried Over Big List of Booze Permts Issued "Patients"

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN—An epidemic of "general disability" has struck Austin according to the state rangers who continue to check the liquor permits that are being issued in Austin.

It was learned yesterday that 18 permits had been issued Tuesday and that eight of them were to women. A number of the names and addresses given with the permits could not be found in the city directory.

"If this disease of general disability continues in Austin," said Captain Frank Hamer, "it may be necessary to place a quarantine on the city, although I feel quite certain that some of the patients are not as ill as they will be when a check is made, and that check will be made despite the fact that some of them give the wrong name and address.

"If this promiscuous buying of liquor keeps up, the names of the doctors and the patients will be posted in a public place as this is all a matter of public record."

ENFORCED DENTISTRY IN NEW YORK SCHOOLS SHOWS FINE RESULTS

NEW YORK.—Because of its deep interest in the subject, the best method to care for the teeth of school children is being sought by the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The association began with 3,000 youngsters in the public school four years ago. At this time 90 per cent of the children examined needed dental work. Today this percentage is only 49. The number of cases requiring extraction has been reduced 63 per cent and the need for fillings has gone down 77 per cent. During the first year 14 children out of every hundred got diplomas for clean mouths; during the last year the diplomas ran 59 to the hundred.

"Communities are only beginning to awaken to their responsibility of providing a complete preventive dental program for school children," Bailey B. Burret, general director of the association, said today in making public the report on the four years of study. "The responsibility for organizing and interpreting this service in oral hygiene has fallen on John C. Gebhart, director of the A. I. 4. P.'s department of social welfare, who has prepared an appraisal of four years' experience with the demonstration."

Mr. Gebhart's report, in part, follows: "When this intensive plan was first undertaken, a very limited dental service was already in operation. The city authorities co-operated in the larger idea, and the School of Oral Hygiene of Columbia university also helped. Each year a corps of undergraduate students, under careful supervision, has given prophylactic cleanings to the school children of the area concerned. To say that in four years these students have given 30,088 cleanings tells only part of the story. They have been crusaders for oral hygiene in this district. By completing an entire class of children each day, they rapidly run through an entire school, and that with a minimum amount of confusion or interruption of school work.

"The increase in those needing no corrective dental work and in those awarded diplomas for having kept their mouth clean has been steady. There has also been a marked reduction (from 85.4 to 46.4 per cent) in children requiring fillings for the most part in first permanent molars. While the proportion needing fillings is slightly greater than last year, the proportion needing extractions has been reduced from 40.3 to 32 per cent. This is again a most encouraging sign, for it means that more children have savable teeth than last year, and for such, fillings rather than extractions are indicated. There is also direct evidence that the fillings required are of a far less extensive nature than when that work first began, for in 1920, 60 per cent of the fillings were urgent, while in 1923 only 37 per cent were urgent.

"Everywhere one sees a marked awakening of all elements in the community to the importance of this work accompanied by a willingness to co-operate in every way to make it a success. The principals and teachers in the schools of the district have made real sacrifices in providing the necessary space. Practical instruction in oral hygiene is made a part of the classroom work by the grade teachers.

"Principals and teachers also cooperated in the sale of tooth brushes to the children at the nominal price of seven cents. As a result of these efforts practically all of the children now purchase tooth brushes in school.

"The demonstration has proved that a dental service which is administered as an integral part of the daily school program produces the most widespread and lasting results. Our experience has shown that, when the dental clinic is in the school building, children can be sent directly from the classroom to the dental clinic with a minimum of waste time, both for pupil and operator, and with a minimum amount of confusion and disruption of classroom work."

Sugar Exports Organize to Improve Production

By The Associated Press.

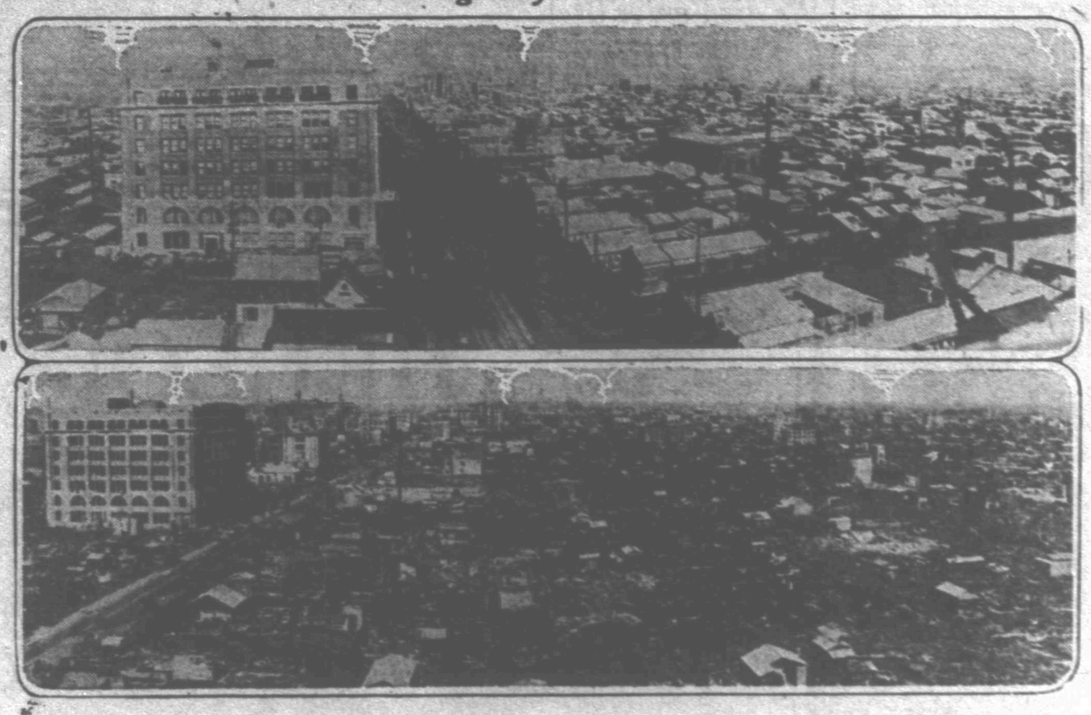

HONOLULU.—The first world's international conference of sugar experts was organized here recently in connection with the Pan-Pacific food conservation conference. H. P. Agee, director of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association experiment station, was chosen chairman; Mario Calvino, vice-chairman, and George Barnett, of the Colonial Sugar Refining company, Australia, secretary.

The organization will be a permanent one and will hold a meeting in some sugar producing country every three years.

Delegates from Cuba, Porto Rico, Mexico, Australia, Fiji, Philippines, Formosa, Java, Louisiana and Hawaii attended the organization meeting. They visited the plant quarantine station of the territorial board of agriculture and forestry and the cane quarantine station of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association.

The business of the organization will be mainly of a technical nature, dealing principally with cane breeding, eradication of cane diseases and methods of increasing production.

RUTHLESS SHOOTING OF MIGRATING BIRDS PERMITTED IN MEXICO

By The Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY.—Mexican sportsmen, in their fight to preserve the country's diminishing flocks of ducks from nothunters, who hundreds of times yearly slaughter as high as 2,000 birds at a single discharge of their "armadas," have again lost. Publication of the 1924 hunting regulations by the fish and game bureau of the department of agriculture shows that the hunting of wild duck by means of "armadas," or great batteries of shotguns, will be permitted from November 1 to February 20. While only two shots a week from each "armada" are permitted, this is considered a minimum restriction as the fowl will not return to the same lake in sufficient numbers to make the firing or more than two armadas a week profitable.

Throughout the valley of Mexico are scores of shallow lakes where every variety of duck that summers in the United States and Canada can be found during the winter. Dotting the shores of these lakes are Indian villages whose inhabitants eke out a precarious existence during the summer by cultivating their patches of corn and beans, but who live easy during the winter by means of their "armadas." By giving from one-third to one-half of their spoils to the owners of the lands in which the lakes are situated they are able to secure permission to make enormous bags. Some of the landowners, it is estimated, receive as much as 50,000 pesos a year as their share.

Sportsmen who have shot over the greater part of the valley declare that not less than 60 of these "armadas," each with an average of 150 barrels, are shot at least twice a week for four months each year and, with hundreds of ducks to an average bag, the total number slaughtered each winter reaches a staggering figure.

In placing their batteries, the Indians throw up a low breastwork of mud and pants at a strategic point in one of the shallow lakes and imbed in the ramparts as high as 200 barrels of all kinds, ranging from those of ancient shotguns to blunderbusses. These are loaded with black powder and all sorts of missiles and their touchholes connected by a train of powder to an old flintlock which is discharged by means of a string from the marksman's hiding place.

When the "armada" is loaded and the ducks begin to feed in the lake, generally about noon, the entire population of the village operating the "armada" begins, with infinite patience and without frightening the game, to drive the ducks within range. When this has been done the "armada" is discharged and the hunt for the victims, hundreds of them only crippled, begins. As many as 2,000 ducks have been shot down in a single discharge of the great "armada" at Penon Viejo, near the capital. After the game is sold the village celebrates with a big carousal and then waits until new victims gather.

Despairing, after repeated attempts, of limiting pothunting through local regulations, Mexican sportsmen are planning to address an appeal to game commissions and gun clubs in the United States and Canada in the hope that, by combined action, it may be possible to halt the annual massacre. They declare that the funds and efforts being expended by Mexico's northern neighbors to protect migratory game in those countries are wasted if, when the birds reach Mexico in the winter, they are bagged almost without restriction. The practice, they declare, is as unsportsmanlike as the trapping of quail, shipments of which totaling as high as 18,000 are so uncommon in northern Mexico, and will send the ducks after the vanishing wild pigeons unless regulated.

Pin tail make up most of the bags, but canvas backs, mallard, widgeon, blue bills, red heads and teal of all kinds are also shot down by hundreds of thousands.

Woman Tennis Champion Wields Clever Pen As Well as Racquet

By The Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 27.—Miss Helen Wills, the youthful national women's tennis champion, who returned to her home recently from a triumphal tour during which she won the Olympic championship and successfully defended her American title, had a pen and ink drawing of a tennis scene in a late issue of Pelican, the campus comic magazine at the University of California.

Miss Willis is majoring in art at the university, where she is a sophomore.

Brewery Timber Used to Build New M. E. Church

DURANGO, Colo.—The old Greek saying "out of bad wood good smoke sometimes comes" was applied here when a "community tabernacle" and its parsonage were built out of timbers and materials taken from a once notorious gambling resort and dance hall from an erstwhile brewery.

Built by Methodists.

The tabernacle, built by the Free Methodist church, was recently dedicated. Its altar rail was made out of part of the bar against which the lumberjacks, miners, cowpunchers, Mexicans and gamblers of 40 years ago used to lean. The bar's foot-rail was converted into the hand-rail of the steps leading into the church. A Bible now rests on the polished walnut where the liquor of the early days was placed, for the top of the bar has become a pulpit. The altar was constructed from other parts of the bar.

The church rests on a foundation of stone, heavy timbers and iron beams taken from both the dance hall and the brewery. The window sills and ledges were made from heavy oak bottoms of huge beer vats.

Replaces Brewery.

The building occupies the site of the former brewery. It is situated at the foot of a bluff and is overlooked by the parsonage of the presiding elder of the district. The parsonage once was the office of the brewery and has been made into a modern cottage. It is planned to terrace the bluff and to build winding stairs from the elder's home to the house of worship, using as a hand-rail a coil formerly utilized in making beer.

The two areas that lead to the entrance of the tabernacle were formed of timbers taken from the dance hall. One of the boards carries a bullet fired from a "45," evidence of one of the many shooting scrapes that enlivened the old resort. The heavy timbers comprising the supporting columns and the roof beams were taken from the dance halls. The church seats 700.

England Still Guarding Two Germans Arrested as Spies

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Stories of the sometimes romantic exploits of spies are recalled by the release from Dartmoor prison of Courtenay Henslet de Rysbach, who in October, 1915, was sentenced to penal servitude for life as a spy in Germany's service.

De Rysbach, a vaudeville actor and the son of a one-time Austrian subject who was naturalized in England, was arrested after the postal censor had stopped two songs mailed by him to an address in Switzerland. One was "The Ladder of Love" and the other was "On the Way to Dublin." When they were chemically treated, an account of conditions in England written in invisible ink appeared. After imprisonment De Rysbach divulged German espionage methods.

At the home office it is stated that only two spies now remain in prison in this country.

Goat Makes Long Journey On Running Board of Auto

By The Associated Press.

GREELEY, Colo., Sept. 27.—Motor tourists no longer give up all the comforts of their homes when they travel through the west.

One party of travelers from North Dakota, which passed through Greeley recently, had a milch goat harnessed to what the animal seemed to regard as a comfortable position on the running board of their car. Members of the party explained they were accustomed to goat's milk, and that they saw no reason for doing without it because they were traveling.

The goat was so tied to the car that it could eat leisurely even with the automobile in motion.

ZR3 Commander Is Oklahoma Boy

By The Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN.—As a boy in Indiana and afterward in Oklahoma, where his father was the first governor, Captain George W. Steele, who is to command the ZR-3 after delivery to the United States navy, at Lakehurst, New Jersey, had a longing some day to become a locomotive engineer.

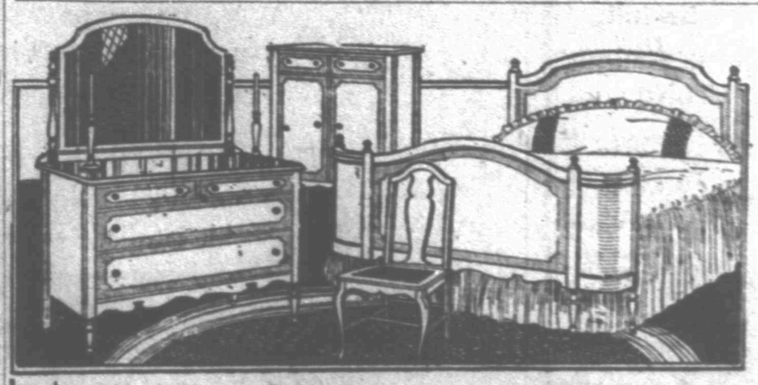

The railroad yards, the round houses and the shops were always a source of much interest to the boy, and he used to regard some of the old engineers who ran in and out of Guthrie, before Oklahoma City became the capital, as just about the greatest men in the world. Young Steele went to Oklahoma when he was 11 years old, and while he never gave any thought to the sea or to aeronautics, even the balloonists with the circuses of those days not appealing to him particularly.

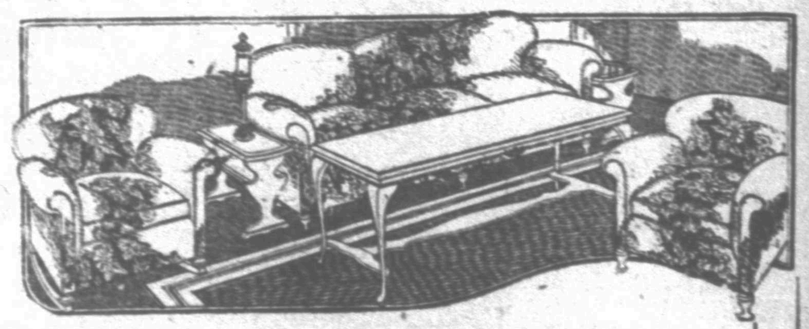

In later years the elder Steele was a representative in congress from Indiana, and in this way the son gained an appointment at Annapolis where his career as a sailor began. "But even to this day a fine, big locomotive has a strange fascination for me," said Capt. Steele just before starting the trans-Atlantic flight, "and I do believe I could run one if I could find an engineer who would trust me."

No Lifeboats Aboard ZR-3

By The Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 27.—The ZR-3 will not carry any life boats or even life preservers on her trans-Atlantic voyage. "They are heavy, take up a lot of space, and besides we will not need them," said Dr. Hugo Eckener, the commander. "Life boats are all right for sea going vessels and sailing ships, but we feel that the ZR-3 is safer than any ship which ever plied the water."

DANCING GHOST HAUNTS THEATRE

Follies Girl Says Spirit Of Dead Star Lives In Dressing Room

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK.—Pretty Doris Lloyd of the Follies has Broadway wondering.

She avows and declares that a ghost is inhabiting the dressing room formerly used by Mary Julian, and that the ghost is that of Mary.

Miss Julian was found dead in the bathtub of her aartment in Pomander Walk from causes that were not determined until some time later, when it was established she died from an overdose of a drug.

Only Doris professes to have actually seen the ghost, but other Follies girls bear witness to the fact that "mysterious things" are happening back of the scenes at the theatre. Powder puffs have moved about while their owners were on the stage, shoes have been disturbed, lipsticks have shifted positions. Girls dancing in the first row in one act say that one night it seemed as if a hidden something was brushing along in front of them.

Perhaps Mary Julian, who loved her work in the Follies is trying to keep step from the spirit world. Superstitious Broadway is willing to believe it.

The death of Mary Julian is another count against the Gay White Way. She had been in "Diamond Gulch" only a few years.

She was demure Julia Warnock when she came from a small town in Missouri.

SPIRITS RESPONSIBLE FOR MacLAREN'S ILL LUCK, SAY ISLANDERS

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO.—Ill fortune, which attended the attempt of A. Stuart MacLaren, British round-the-world aviator, and his companions to fly across the remainder of the glob after leaving Japan, is attributed by the natives of Urup Island, one of the bleak Kuriles, to the airman's own indifference to evil spirits.

When Major MacLaren's big Vickers amphibian hopped off from Toshimoye, Yetorofu Island, one day in July, with Paramushiru Island, at the north of the Kurile chain, as his goal, fogs and wind compelled him to land at Totokan Bay, on the southwest coast or Urup Island. The bay is exposed, and when the wind rose Major MacLaren flew his plane a short distance inland, alighting on a body of brackish water known as Totokan Bog. In so doing, according to the sparse population of Urup Island, he courted the malevolence of the evil spirits.

Totokan Bog is an ill-omened water. The natives say it is bottomless, and that no man has ever entered its waters and come out alive. There is an evil female spirit, the natives believe, who makes a specialty of handsome men, and when such a one comes to the bog he "vanishes like smoke" and his body is seen no more.

Four years ago two sailors attempted to cross the bog by swimming. They were seen to reach the middle of the lake, swimming strongly, and then together went down without a sound.

Major MacLaren rested for four days on the shores of the bog, living at an experimental fox farm maintained on the island by the Japanese department of agriculture and commerce, and then hopped off on a successful flight to Paramushiru.

Spanish Defeat In Morocco Creates European Peril

The final chapter of the Spanish war in Morocco seems imminent, and international complications are threatened, as well as the end of Primo de Rivera's government in Spain. The success of the rebellious Riff tribesmen is undermining the prestige of France, Italy and Great Britain in north Africa. Tangier, international city, is in peril, with native population in sympathy with Abdel Krim and many of them joining his forces. Above are seen a typical group of Riff tribesmen, and a closeup of their leader, Abdel Krim; below, a map showing the trouble, a photo of Primo de Rivera, and a view of Tangier.

Missouri's Fight On Standard Oil Involves All U.S.

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — The entire gasoline trade in America, and even in some foreign countries, is involved in evidence being produced in the gasoline price hearings conducted here by Attorney General Jesse W. Barrett, of Missouri, in the opinion of well informed authorities.

Contracts brought forward at the hearing between the Standard Oil company of Indiana and nearly all the other important companies of the United States, and applying to their foreign trade, are pronounced a violation of the anti-trust laws both by United States Attorney General Stone and Attorney General Barrett.

Sues 48 Companies.

Some weeks ago the United States department of justice filed a suit against 48 oil companies doing interstate business, charging that by a system of licenses on "cracking process" patents, the gasoline trade of the United States was being restricted and monopolized, and asking that the defendants be enjoined from a continuance of the contracts and their effects. The contracts, the existence of which was alleged by the government, were produced at the Missouri hearing by the Standard Oil company and admitted to be in effect at the present time.

Texas Co. Involved.

A form of engagement which was particularly denounced by Attorney General Barrett is illustrated by the contract between the Standard Oil company of Indiana and the Standard Oil company of California. This recites that the Texas company is owner of certain cracking patents; that the Texas company authorizes the Standard Oil company of Indiana to grant licenses under the Texas patents; that the Standard of Indiana thereby licenses the Standard of California under the Texas company's patents on the condition that the Standard of California sells none of the gasoline so produced in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado or Oklahoma or in the Dominion of Canada or the Colony of Newfoundland.

Says U.S. Back On Even Keel

CINCINNATI.—America has regained its equilibrium "and the vociferous radical minority will try in vain to move the nation out of its normal course," President F. E. Watkins told the Grain Dealers National association here.

A settling down tendency reflecting thrift and sobriety, the speaker said, is apparent throughout business. "In striking contrast to the reckless abandon with which uneconomic nostrums were gaining speed a year ago."

"Today Europe's star of hope is rising." Mr. Watkins declared. "Better economic conditions mean an improved foreign market for our products, with a normal export demand for grain. The broadened foreign market for our surplus will benefit the farmer most directly, but the stimulus will be felt also all along the line." He referred to the depression suffered by the grain trade as "a period strewn with the wrecks of long established business," and assailed politicians who had capitalized discontent. Defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill, he said, was to the credit of the grain industry "whose vigorous opposition was in time joined by other industries which recognized that if the grain industry were to be socialized, their lines might be next exploited.

Button Museum Found at Prague

By The Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Sept.—"Button, button, who's got the button?" They know in Prague where buttons are to be found, for there is a button museum in the Czechoslovak capital in which every form and type of button ever manufactured or wrought by hand is on exhibit. The button museum is one of the most unique institutions of its kind in the world.

The museum was founded by a button manufacturer named Henry Walden. Within a few years the institution has so expanded that it fills two floors of a large house in the suburb of Vrschovitz.

A study of the materials used is in itself most worth while. There are buttons of gold, of silver, ivory, bronze, porcelain, of precious stones such as turquois, opal, carneol, etc. Some buttons date back 3,000 years before Christ. The flashiest and the last buttons are those of the eighteenth century, when Europe seemed to enjoy rare luxury.

The most gruesome buttons are the so-called poison buttons, containing a tiny phial of poison and surmounted by a sharp stud. In the days of political assassinations it was an easy thing for a man attending a high society function, such as a ball, to approach his adversary and, in a crowd, to brush by him in such a way that the button scratched his skin. Into this rent in the skin the contents of the button would then flow, with fatal consequences.

Dayton Plans To Be Air Center Of Entire Universe

By The Associated Press.

DAYTON, Ohio.—Twenty years ago Orville and Wilbur Wright, proprietors of a small mechanical shop took a strange looking contraption some nine miles out of town and made their first public airplane flight.

On October 2, 3 and 4, Orville Wright will journey out to that same piece of land, it now is a part of Wilbur Wright field, and watch the invention which he and his brother gave to the world, hurtle through the air at speeds which, if anyone had even dared to think of 20 years ago, would have brought more derision than the crude affair of canvas and wire itself.

Own 5,000 Acres.

McCook Field, the experimental station of the American army air service, is located on the edge of town. Nine miles out is Wilbur Wright field. The government either leases, or owns outright 300 acres at Wright field but the field itself now consists of 5,300 acres, 5,000 of which recently were given to the government by Dayton, the money for the purchase of the land being furnished by citizens.

The land has been accepted by the government, and it is the dream of Dayton some day to see the field the greatest air center in the world. The Dayton plan is eventually to combine the two fields into one vast plant, which would be a memorial to Wilbur Wright.

McCook field will be open to all spectators during the meet, and there will be on exhibition giants and midgets of the air, as well as strange mechanical creatures that fly. The army air service helicopter, one of the most recent developments, will be one of the unusual sights.

The Barling bomber, the world's largest airplane, may be on exhibition, and it is expected that the Shenandoah will be brought out.

Doubtless ancient civilization perished when everybody became a public job holder and died of pique when none were left to meddle with.

NEGRO WOMEN IN U. S. EMPLOY

101 Of That Race in Service of Agricultural Department as Agents.

WASHINGTON, Sept.—There are 101 negro women employed jointly by the federal department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges of southern states as home demonstration agents.

The first negro woman employed in this capacity was Annie P. Hunter, who began work in 1912 in Okfuskee county, Okla. She is still employed in the same service and 100 other negro women have been engaged in the same line of work since she began as a pioneer.

The duties of these women is to extend among negro women living on farms information and advice as to better methods of home making.

They also inform negro women living upon farms with regard to improved practices in food preparation, clothing, sanitation, farm improvement, home industries and community development.

These women, working in Texas and other states report considerable progress in the improvement in the homes which they visit. They are represented as more comfortable, healthful and enjoyable than before they began to minister to those with smaller knowledge of how to make their homes comfortable and attractive.

Chinese Girls Get Education

By The Associated Press.

TECHOW, Shantung—An unprecedented desire for education for girls is being shown throughout the western districts of Shantung. For perhaps the last ten years there have been government girls' schools in a few of the cities of this region, but they have not been popular and the enrollments have not been large.

Of late a distinct change has taken place. The villagers are clamoring for schools, and particularly for schools to impart western learning—geography, arithmetic, drawing, athletics and other branches hitherto not considered desirable for Chinese pupils and especially for girls.

A feature of the movement is a certain social service phase which it has assumed. Many girls who have been in school during the winter go to their homes for the summer and open schools for less fortunate girls. Boys too are working along the same line and in some instances where unable to get enough boy pupils they have admitted girls. Thus co-education is being introduced, an unheard-of mark of progress in these interior places.

Santa Claus Hits Hard Job Breaking in His Reindeer

By The Associated Press.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—The average youngster who pictures Santa Claus having a soft snap skipping his herd of reindeer from roof to roof, would revise his opinion if he saw a reindeer broken to harness, say those who have undertaken the job.

Being a nomad, the work deer cannot be corraled as a calf and gradually domesticated. He must be taken when practically full grown. The battle to break him lasts for many weeks, with the animal alternating between trying to escape and fighting like a Tasmanian devil, declares Tom Pootoglu, an Eskimo herder.

First the reindeer is deprived of his horns. It requires two or three strong men to get the creature harnessed. Then the fun begins. At times the driver seeks refuge under the sled until the deer has cooled down and decided to cease hostilities for a while.

"Driving dogs is all right," commented Pootoglu. "But reindeer—I rather walk. He worse horse, cow, pig, automobile, all together.

TRIER, Germany, Sept. 27.—Road builders in the Altbach river valley have unearthed a stretch of stone paving block dating back to the days of the Romans. These stones, covering a stretch of several hundred yards, are to be numbered, taken up and relaid for exhibition purposes in Trier.

Reparations Agent-General Wins Kentucky Beauty As Bride

Louise Ross Todd and (inset) Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — By the side of Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr., while he works as permanent agent general of the allied reparations commission in execution of the Dawes-Young plan will be one of Kentucky's most beautiful young women.

Gilbert, the former undersecretary of the treasury, who at 32, has been given the most conspicuous financial assignment in the world, will marry Miss Louise Ross Todd in Louisville on October 8.

Miss Todd, daughter of James Ross Todd, Kentucky capitalist, is prominent in southern and Washington society. She was a bridesmaid at the recent wedding of the Hon. John Francis Amherst Cecil, son of Lord William Cecil, to Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt. She is an expert horsewoman and is also an adept in other sports.

The wdeding will attract leaders in the society world and prominent members of the government and diplomatic sets to Louisville and make the affair one of the most notable events of the season in the south.

Modest Yankee Pocketbooks Have Place in Britain

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.—With the American "invasion" of London in full swing, the manager of a big Oxford Street store has estimated that the visitors from over the Atlantic were spending somewhat more than $500,000 a week in the English capital.

London shopkeepers have awakened to the fact that by far the greater number of Americans who come to England these days are people of moderate means, who watch their shillings and pence as carefully as does the frugal Briton. There are still visiting millionaires who amaze the English by the prodigality with which they scatter money about, but there is only one millionaire where there are a thousand people of relatively small income.

Hence Bond Street shop-keepers are finding it to their advantage to mark the prices on their window displays. This has stimulated trade with the visitors. Ten years ago Bond Street shopkeepers thought it beneath their dignity to have price labels in the windows.

Heavy Run of River Salmon Keeps Canada Fishers Busy

By The Associated Press.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 27.—The salmon run in British Columbia rivers is the largest since the record of 1919, according to reports received by Hon. William Sloan, provincial commissioner of fisheries. Canneries along the Fraser, Skeena and Nass rivers are working day and night shifts in an effort to take care of the catch.

The catch of sockeye, Mr. Sloan said, will be the heaviest in years. The marked increase in quantity this year will mean greater prosperity for the salmon industry.

The total value of the fisheries production of Canada was $42,565,545 last year, according to the annual report, or an increase in value of $765,335 over 1922.

The amount of capital represented in fishing vessels, boats, nets, traps, piers, and wharves employed in catching and landing the fish in 1923 was $23,645,316. The number of men employed in these operations were 53,517.

She Plans Hot Fight on Opium

GENEVA.—Mrs. Hamilton Wright of Washington intends actively to continue her endeavors to secure a limitation of the production of opium in those countries which grow the poppy plant, despite the failure of the league of nations opium commission to find any solution of this problem. At a recent meeting of the opium commission Mrs. Wright introduced a resolution asking the council of the league to approach the governments of Persia and Turkey to ascertain whether they are contemplating the substitution of other crops for such opium as is produced over and above the legitimate world requirements, but in view of the objections raised by various European delegates, she withdrew her resolution.

The opium commission seems to feel that there is no practical way of forcing any individual country to curb its poppy planting short of a decision to send an army of enforcement into the affected countries. As nobody thinks seriously of going to this extreme, the experts have framed a project to be submitted to the international opium conference in November which provides for the setting up of an international board of control to handle the whole question of narcotic drugs and, which stipulates that every country shall make an annual estimate of its requirements in opium and narcotic drugs like morphine, heroin and cocaine. Extensive powers are given to the board of control to reject any national estimate which is deemed unreasonable. The experts believe that by this system national consumption will be checked and that quite naturally the producing countries will find extensive opium growing an unpaying proposition.

Parsons Must Acquire Better Pulpit Voices

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The comedy parson, one of the standing jokes on the English variety stage, is threatened with extinction. With the enthusiastic support of the archbishops of Canterbury and York, a scheme is to be launched in October whereby all theological students preparing for Holy Orders in the Church of England will be trained in the right production and management of voice.

Already the sum of $10,000 has been secured to meet expenses of instruction. Teachers will be assigned to train in voice production and elocution to the end that all clergymen be taught to read and preach with "clearness, sympathy and reverence."

English Expert Discredits Gold as Monetary Standard

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Great Britain digs gold in South Africa to pay her war debt to America, and America buries the precious metal again so that it will not interfere with the economic life of the United States, Pethick Lawrence, labor member of parliament, told an audience recently at the independent labor party summer school at Cloughton, near Scarborough.

"It is almost comic," said Mr. Lawrence, "that we employ people to dig gold from under the earth and send it to those who bury it under the earth."

The speaker was is one of the intellectuals of the British labor movement, referred to the annual payment Great Britain makes to the United States in settlement of the enormous debt left over from the war. He said that events of the last decade had destroyed confidence in the gold basis and that a paper basis for currency must be established.

Guard Against ZR-3 Stowaways

By The Associated Press.

FREDERICHSHAFEN, — Every precaution against the possibility of stowaways attempting to get a free ride to America on the ZR-3 will be taken by the Zeppelin officials here prior to the start of the dirigible on her westward trip to Lakehurst, New Jersey.

An incident of a German fond of adventure who "beat" his way to Rome in a reparations ship, is still fresh in the minds of flying officers here. The German, Walter Cron, a Freidrichshafen banker, hid himself inside the LZ-120, which was turned over to Italy in 1919, several hours prior to the start of the flight southward, and was not discovered by the crew until the ship had passed well over Switzerland. Cron was turned over to the Italian police when the dirigible arrived at her destination.

For weeks prior to the hop-off of the ZR-3 for Lakehurst, the great hangar here in which the ship was built and housed has been guarded day and night, and during the hours of darkness numerous arc lights were kept burning outside the shed to prevent any unauthorized persons approaching without being seen. Admission to the hangar itself was by special card only.

LONDON, Sept. 27. — William Winterborne, head of a foundry works at Isleworth, still swings a sledge hammer at his work at the age of 89. He has been married three times, has 18 children living, has been a member of the local Borough council 27 years and is a leading figure in local sports contests.

Russian Detectives Trail Diary of Nikolai Lenine

By The Associated Press.

VIENNA, Sept. 27.—Reports are current that the personal diary of Lenine, smuggled out of Russia, was recently offered for sale in Vienna. These documents are being trailed by Moscow secret service operators, but up to present they have failed to find them. The apartments of several anti-Soviet Russians in Vienna, Berlin, Warsaw and Prague have been searched, but without avail.

Zeppelin Visitor to Bring Heavy Mail to America

By The Associated Press.

FREIDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 27.—German air post stamps for mail to be sent to the United States on the ZR-3 have been going like hot cakes here lately, the government post office department having given notice weeks ago that "it would be wise to go your Zeppelin mailing early."

Stamp collectors were hopeful that special stamps would be issued for the trip, but the department did not do so, advising customers to use the ordinary air post stamps. Letters cost one mark, 24 cents and post cards 12 cents.

SINGLE STAMP WORTH $32,500

Utica, N. Y., Man Has Rare Specimen In Valuable Collection

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK. — A postage stamp worth $32,500 ought to take a whole carload of mail around the earth, but a Utica, N. Y., man owns a postage stamp he values at $32,500 that wouldn't take a postcard to the other side of town.

It is a black impression of a crude wood cut on a small piece of red paper, sold for one cent in British Guiana in 1856. It is the most valuable postage stamp in existence, being worth twice as much as any other, and is owned by Arthur Hind of Utica, N. Y., who also is said to have the greatest collectiop of stamps in the world.

Only One of Kind

The stamp is the only one of its denomination of the thirteen issue of British Guiana. It is about the size of an ordinary two-cent United States stamp, but the design is lengthwise.

Mr. Hind also is the owner of the second most valuable stamp, known as Mauritius No. 2, which was issued in 1847 on the island of Mauritius, a British possession off the coast of Africa.

Not Child's Play

This stamp is a two-pence dark blue on a thick, yellowish paper and is valued at $15,000. Only one stamp of this issue remains and also only one of Mauritius No. 1, a one-penny orange on a bluish white, which is valued at $12,500. The third most valuable issue is that of 1851-1852 of the Hawaiian Islands, a two-cent blue stamp valued at $10,000. Another unique copy, owned by Mr. Hind, is a five-cent dull blue stamp, issued in 1846 by the town of Boscawen, N. H., which is valued at $12,000. This is the most valuable stamp issued in the United States.

To Charge French Cabinet With Abetting Bolshevism

By The Associated Press.

PARIS.—Whether the right of free speech ought to be interpreted liberally enough to permit extremists to preach civil war, is a question that will be debated in parliament when the chamber of deputies convenes after the summer vacation.

The opposition to M. Herriot's government will endeavor, in this discussion, to rally to it a considerable number of deputies now supporting the cabinet, but who are the enemies of subversive agitation. The question will arise on the interpellation of M. Bonnefous of the Seine et Oise department; this deputy will demand of the government an explanation of the action of the minister of public works in placing 15 special trains at the disposal of communists who met recently in the suburb of Garches, where the doctrine of civil war was preached openly by several orators, including a communist member of the German reichstag.

The adversaries of the government will take the view that official tolerance of such manifestations is outright encouragement of Bolshevism.

"Six foot tall, weighs 185 pounds, dark curly hair, swarthy complexion, always roughly dressed. His left wrist is crippled. A growth about the size of a crab apple is located on the outside of the wrist, three middle fingers of his left hand being stiff and useless. There is a tattooed figure of a naked woman on the inside of the right forearm. He is expected to be found working on some farm, as he is known to follow the harvest, never working long in any one place."

His name is Harvey Lee Selhaver, and he is wanted in connection with the murder of pretty little Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, 15, whose brutally mutilated body was found near her father's farmhouse after she had been missing several days. Unless the arrest of Selhaven solves the crime it may become as great a mystery as the celebrated Hall-Mills slaying, the scene of which isn't very far from where Elizabeth died in defense of her honor.

The crime is the New York district's biggest murder story in months.

Selhaver was a secret lover of Elizabeth, it is indicated by a letter found by the girl's little brother. The letter was from Selhaver. It was dated July 3, two days before her fifteenth birthday, and had contained a dollar bill.

"Accept this small gift on your birthday. A dollar is little enough, but it is all that I can afford, but it comes from a true heart.

"YOUR LOVER."

Police all over the country have been asked to look for Selhaver.

That Selhaver may have left the United States is indicated in a letter which his mother, Mrs. M. C. Myers of Spencer, Iowa, wrote to Mrs. Johnson in answer to an inquiry if her (Mrs. Johnson's) daughter was with Selhaver.

EXPORTS FORECAST APPALLING INCREASE IN AUTO DEATH RATE

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—A measure to effect a national reduction in public accident fatalities by the cooperative effort of all national associations whose interests touch up on the street and highway traffic problem, will be proposed at the safety congress to be held here Sept. 29-Oct. 3, the National Safety Council announces.

Among the associations to participate are the United States chamber of coulmerce, the American Automobile association, the United States Automobile chamber of commerce, the American railway association, the International Chief of Police association, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, the American Electric Railway association and the American Mutual Alliance.

"Fifteen thousand lives are lost in automobile accidents each year and fully 75 per cent of these accidents are avoidable," said the announcement. "Since 1910, the death toll has been increasing at the rate of 1,000 each year and, with the increasing registration of automobiles resulting in street and highway traffic problems which cannot be easily solved, it is probable that the annual death rate may be in the neighborhood of 30,000 in 1930.

"The collection of public accident statistics and their analysis is probably the most important phrase of accident prevention work at the present time. Col. James Sinks, director of public safety of Grand Rapids, Michigan, will explain the system under the universal accident report forms adopted by the National Safety council. Mark Greves, New York state tax commissioner, will outline the organization and operation of the New York Motor Vehicle bureau which keeps an accident record for every motor vehicle driver in the state. Many well known leaders of the safety movement will speak."

Summer Fashions Hang Lightly Upon Some Women

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.— London's butterfly women are vieing with each other as to who shall wear the lightest weight clothing. They have discarded sleeves, collars, belts, hooks and eyes, linings trimmings, corsets and in many instances gloves, and wear skirts four inches shorter than last year. One woman scaled her clothing down to the following weights:

LEGION'S TRIUMPHS RECITED BY J. R. QUINN IN YEARLY ADDRESS

ST. PAUL, Sept. 27.—Passage by congress of legislation for the disabled, and the enactment into law of the adjusted compensation bill were "two triumphs for the American Legion which has doubled its prestige and made the organization more cohesive for service to the nation in the years before it," John R. Quinn, retiring commander, said in his address before the national convention here today.

"The American Legion has answered any doubts, fears, hopes or suspicions of the nation," Mr. Quinn asserted. "It begins a career which past accomplishments indicate will be replete with great deeds. The legion is now a proven quantity. Where there was doubt, now reposes confidence. Where there was hope, there is now assurance. Instead of fear, the legion has inspired trust. We are expected for our ideals, admired for our stamina, loved for our unselfish service.

"During the year, two major victories have been won by the legion triumphs which have proved its great influence for good and crystalized it into a majestic force working for the betterment of our country," continued Mr. Quinn. "The greatest was the passage in the last hours of congress of the so-called Reed-Johnson bill. Sweeping in its reforms, generous in its provisions, just in its interpretations, it is in my opinion, the greatest reform legislation for the disabled since the creation of the veterans' bureau.

"The other outstanding achievement was the enactment into law of the adjusted compensation bill. Not so important from our viewpoint as the Reed-Johnson bill, or as vital as other victories we have obtained, the adjusted compensation bill nevertheless, took on added importance in the public eye because of the enemies it made. The opponents of this bill, using it as an open means of attack, had an ulterior object in view. Fearing us, because we were the open spokesman for those who could not speak for themselves, the opposition wished utterly to destroy the legion. They failed. Instead of crushing our organization, our enemies proved our inherent strength. Instead of destroying us, they made us cohesive."

Passing over other work done this year, Mr. Quinn said that if in immigration "we did not achieve total suspension, there has at least been immigration reform following generally the thought of your resolution of 1923."

The legion's Americanism policies have been closely followed, the speaker said, foremost among them being the creation of the Community Service and the Civic Betterment bureau, the essay contest participated in by more than 2,000,000 school children, the conference to combat illiteracy and the creation of a code of flag ethics in many states.

Continuing Mr. Quinn said:

"Within the last half decade we have reached in a business sense the same level as a $1,000,000,000 corporation. Not only is the national commander the leader of a great fraternal organization; he also is, in effect, the president of a business concern which each year has a money turn-over of more than $1,000,000. This year the legion has been in its business aspect successful. I suggest, however, that some plan be devised to place employment in the legion work on a more permanent basis.

"The work for the service man, for Americanism, and for child welfare must go on. They are mandatory. They are the obligations willed to us by virtue of the greatest conflict in history and by your desire to render unselfish service as expressed numerous times in convention assembled.

"I believe that the American Legion should stand manfully in opposition to any force or policy which would tend to partition the public domain, and exploit it for private gain.

"Five years of the legion's life are past. Before it stretch years rich in opportunity to serve our nation. We must not falter in the forward drive. Our disabled comrades who cannot speak or act for themselves look to us for aid and guidance. Let them not look in vain. The war may be over but the legion is still here ready with the willing hand of comradeship. Our country calls to us for aid. Let us pray to God that by His guidance every act of ours will prove that the legion's claim to be an institution of service is no idle boast."

Reindeer Meat in Seattle

By The Associated Press.

SEWARD, Alaska.—The reindeer industry in Alaska has been commercially organized, the interior department announces.

Arrangements have been made to ship reindeer carcasses to Seattle in large numbers. The animals are to be slaughtered at Kokrines, on the Yukon river, and dressed and frozen. The product is to move on barges to Nenana on the Alaska railroad, and go in refrigerator cars toste amships at Seward. The department said this would be the first attempt to place reindeer on the market in large quantities.
